

Wage-Price Freeze Due For Fast Thaw

Officials Get Busy Writing Amendments

WASHINGTON—(P)—Harassed officials Saturday began working for a fast thaw of their rigid new price-wage freeze to fit it to the economy. But they also hinted that some price rollbacks will be in the cards later.

First amendments were due Monday or Tuesday easing up on the all-embracing no-wage-raise order. These were expected to deal with John L. Lewis' new 20-cent-an-hour coal pay boost, among others. It was negotiated before the freeze but isn't effective yet. Coal people feel sure he'll get it.

Too Little, Too Late, Is Texas' View

By The Associated Press

Too little and too late. That was what many Texans said Saturday of the government's wage-price freeze announced early Friday night.

But the men who handle livestock and beef on the road to the grocery store were cautious about the new controls.

They were divided, too, on whether control would bring black markets.

But none apparently saw an immediate black market arising out of the price freeze as Ray Willoughby, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, predicted Friday.

"It is pretty easy to tell the ultimate effects though," stated H. P. Jones, Fort Worth general manager for Swift & Company, "for it is eventually the curtailment of livestock receipts."

W. L. Pier, manager of the Fort Worth Stockyards said the beef price freeze still was in an "uncertain situation." That is because federal officials have not made clear the final full control plan.

"But I can't believe it will keep prices down," Pier said. "Supply and demand works on that product."

Supply and demand is the key to the entire problem, according to (Continued On Page Five)

On the price side of the picture, stabilizers pitched in on a series of general new control orders to be issued during the next few weeks. They predicted these also would cure many hardship cases. This refers to instances where the broad scale freeze dealt unfairly with dealers.

Price Chief Michael V. Disalle mentioned possible rollbacks. He said this is a problem for the future and would be tackled on an individual commodity basis.

Authorities tried Friday night to "stop the onrushing price advance in its tracks" by declaring an instant halt on most prices and all wages. Adjustments and a flexible new policy were promised as fast as they could be worked out.

Enforcement Chief Quis said there were big holes in the order—a list of basic foods and other prices which officials can't touch because Congress gave them special treatment in writing the control law.

As the controls program took effect, the price-wage enforcement chief, Vice Adm. John E. Hoover, resigned with a cry of "politics."

Hoover declared in a statement Saturday night, "Politics has no place in an organization affecting every American home." He would not elaborate on this.

The story said the Democratic National Committee passes on candidates for every job paying $4,000 or more a year.

Reds Slow Allied Drive On Seoul

Tanks Move Up To Blast Out Chinese

TOKYO—(P)—Stiffening Red resistance against the center of the Allies' Seoul-aimed offensive slowed the advance early Sunday, but United Nations patrols on the left fanned out within 11 miles of the old South Korean capital.

Enemy pressure north of Kumyangjang and Inchon forced the Allied infantry to halt while tanks trundled out ahead to blast the Chinese Communists from snowy dugouts.

"They are running into resistance in the center and may not make such good time now," Associated Press correspondent William J. Waugh reported from Eighth Army headquarters.

Five Miles A Day Few details were available, but northwest of Kumyangjang an American tank led a spearhead that drove the enemy off a hill 11 air miles south of Seoul.

The Eighth Army's limited offensive, which began Thursday, has averaged five miles a day for three days. Major Chinese Red resistance has been mysteriously missing.

Coupled with the Allied drive, South Korean sailors Saturday morning staged a four-hour commando-type raid on Inchon, the port for Seoul, 22 miles southwest of the capital.

An American column on the east-central front blasted the town of Pongchang to rubble with tank fire and artillery shells, thus extending the front of the U. S. Eighth Army's general northward advance (Continued On Page Five)

OUT FOR VENGEANCE—Vowing to kill 180 Koreans to avenge the death of his brother, Roy Shadrick, right, of Skin Fork, W. Va., is sworn into the Army by Capt. Robert Cashman in the Cincinnati Ohio, recruiting office. The brother was Pvt. Kenneth Shadrick, 18, first U. S. soldier to be killed in Korea. Five-foot, two-inch Roy, 26, was turned down by the Army as underweight. He went on a week's eating spree and finally made the grade. He aims to kill 10 Koreans for every year of his late brother's age.

Slow-Moving Cold Wave Chills North, West Texas Areas

By The Associated Press A mass of frigid air bulged deep into Texas Saturday night. Forecasts promised a hard freeze by Monday morning as far down the Texas coast as Houston.

The Arctic cold dropped temperatures swiftly as it flowed from the Northwest into the state. For Saturday night, said the U. S. Weather Bureau, its greatest punch was pointed at most of West Texas and north and west central parts of East Texas.

Low temperatures of near zero to 12 degrees in the Panhandle and South Plains; 12 to 25 degrees east of the Pecos Valley, and 20 to 30 degrees west of the Pecos Valley were forecast for West Texas before Sunday morning. A few snow flurries in the Panhandle were in prospect.

For East Texas the forecast was five to 10 degrees in the upper Red River Valley; and a range of 10 to 32 degrees from the northwest to the northeast and west central portions.

A few scattered showers were expected on the coast during the night. Amarillo Is Coldest

The U. S. Weather Bureau's general forecast late Saturday night indicated the front might be slowing as it moved toward South Texas—that a shift to northerly (Continued On Page Five)

Plug Draft Loopholes, Says Vinson

WASHINGTON—(P)—Claiming that nine out of 10 draft-age men are escaping induction through "loopholes," Representative Vinson (D-Oa) Saturday called on the Defense Department to help plug up the gaps.

Vinson, as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, wants the department's views on these subjects:

1. The possibility of lowering present physical and mental standards by which 799,000 men have been deferred as 4-F's.

2. The possibility of inducting some of the 2,862,000 World War II veterans now exempt by law from induction.

3. The possibility of inducting men now deferred by reason of dependents, particularly those who were married since the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

No Personal Views He wants the information for consideration of the committee Monday when it resumes its questioning of Assistant Defense Secretary Anna Rosenberg. The committee is holding hearings on legislation to extend the draft law indefinitely beyond next July 9, to lower the induction age from 19 to 18 and extend the induction period from 21 to 27 months.

Vinson said he has no personal views at this time on what loopholes should be plugged and what groups of men now being deferred should be put in uniform.

"But something must be done," he said, "and we are going to do it. The draft law as it stands now is more of an 'anti-draft' law or a 'pro-deferment' law."

Voters Approve Snyder Annexation By Water District

SNYDER—(P)—Voters Saturday approved annexation of Snyder by the Colorado River Municipal Water District and approved a $600,000 tax bond issue for construction of a city water filtration plant.

Only 428 persons voted. The vote was: For annexation, 402, against 25; for contract between city and water district for sale of water, 401, against 24; for bond issue, 401, against 27.

Annexation makes Snyder a partner with Big Spring and Odessa in a water project to be developed from the Colorado River in Southwestern Scurry County.

March Of Dimes Drive Is $5,000 Short Of Quota

Midland County's 1951 March of Dimes drive Saturday was $5,000 short of its $12,500 quota, according to Chairman Ray Lynch, who reported returns totaling $7,500.

He said the report does not include some funds obtained by the office building solicitors or from the public schools. The chairman asked all solicitors to make final reports at the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon.

The fact that no further solicitation will be made was stressed by Lynch, who urged individuals, firms and organizations to mail their contributions direct to March of Dimes, Midland, Texas.

More than 5,000 lift reminder notices were mailed Saturday, Lynch said.

The campaign chairman stressed the fact the drive definitely will end Wednesday and said he has hopes the quota will be reached by that time.

"It can be reached if all Midlanders will give generously and promptly," Lynch stated. "Many already have given, but many others have neglected to send in their checks. The funds go for a most worthwhile cause and everyone is asked to participate in the fight against dreaded polio."

"The success or failure of the campaign is up to the citizens of Midland County," Lynch declared.

OPS Lists District Offices, Directors

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Office of Price Stabilization Saturday announced names of directors of district offices which will enforce price control regulations.

The directors all were named on a temporary basis, although most of them probably will become permanent district price chiefs.

The temporary directors, and locations of district offices which will open January 29, include: Region 10, Dallas, Texas—Houston, Texas, Charles L. Winick, Jr.; Oklahoma City, Frank Martin; Little Rock, Ark., James J. Holloway.

13 Persons Killed In Italian Air Crash

ROME—(P)—An Ala Italia airplane, enroute from Paris to Rome, crashed Saturday near Tarquinia, north of Rome, killing 13 and injuring four.

Hospital attendants at the Tarquinia Hospital, to which the injured were taken, said the plane crashed on land, between the sea and the railroad tracks.

There were 17 passengers and crewmen aboard.

HERO DIES—Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf von Manerheim, 83, Finland's national hero and former president, died Saturday night in a Lausanne, Switzerland, hospital following an operation by one of Europe's foremost surgeons for intestinal obstruction.

F. A. Bird, Midland Ranchman, Dies; Services Sunday

Freeman A. (Fess) Bird, 57, widely-known Midland ranchman, died at 3:30 a.m. Saturday in a Midland hospital. He had been in ill health several months. The family residence is at 1100 West Kentucky Street.

Bird was born March 13, 1893, at Dickens, Texas, and had been in the cattle business practically all of his life. His 7-Bar brand was well-known in cattle circles of the Southwest.

He moved to the Midland country from Clayton, N. M., in 1928 to establish and operate the Bird ranch about 30 miles north of Midland in Andrews and Martin Counties. He had made Midland his headquarters since that time. The family moved into Midland about eight years ago. Bird also had extensive ranch holdings in Upton and Dickens Counties.

Midland Fair Director He was a director of Midland Fair, Inc., and was a member of the Rotary Club here.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Survivors include the widow and a son, Charles of Midland; the father, C. D. Bird of Matador, and four brothers, Carl and Gus of Matador, Cliff of Spur and Glenn of Weatherford.

Funeralbearers will be Arnold Scharbauer, Ellis Conner, Murray Fackel, Cecil Roberts, Ben Kelton, R. M. Barron, Ralph Day and J. Homer Epley.

Man's Body Found In Abandoned Big Spring Gravel Pit

BIG SPRING—(P)—The body of an unidentified man, beaten and apparently shot, was found Saturday in an abandoned gravel pit near here.

Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard entered no formal verdict but said the man undoubtedly had been murdered.

Sheriff Jake Bruton said the man had been beaten around the head. A hole believed to have been made by a small caliber bullet was in the back of the head.

Bruton said the body had the words "Mom and Pop" crossed in a tattoo on the upper left arm and "Laura" on the lower arm. The upper right arm was tattooed "Bussy," and the right hand bore the letter "S."

McCoy Announces As City Council, Place 1, Candidate

City politics warmed up considerably Saturday as J. B. McCoy, 47-year-old drug store owner, announced as a candidate for Place 1 on the City Council, in the April 3 city election.

Place 1 now is held by Frank N. Shriver, oil company tax commissioner, who last week filed for reelection to a second term as a councilman.

McCoy has resided in Midland since 1943, during which time he has been active in civic and fraternal affairs. He is the owner-operator of the Palace Drug, 108 South Main Street. He resides at 1405 West Illinois Street.

Statement Issued He said in announcing he is not against anything in particular, but is interested in "serving the City of Midland in an unbiased manner."

The terms of Mayor William B. Neely and Councilmen H. E. Chiles, Jr., Place 2, and W. F. Hejl, Place 3, also expire in April. The mayor indicated at a council meeting last week he will not seek reelection.

J. W. McMillen and Jack Wilkinson are holdover members of the City Council.

Residents of the South Side are scheduled to meet Monday night to select a slate of candidates for the seats to be vacated on the council.

Eisenhower Returns From European Trip

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned Saturday from a flying, first-hand survey of the European military potential which he has been named to organize, train and command.

He will report to the government and the nation next week.

A light snow fell as the general's plane landed here.

He smiled, waved his hat, and seemed in high spirits as he was greeted by members of his family and by high Army and Air Force officers.

Eisenhower posed for photographers, but declined to talk to newsmen.

Turpin Nominated For Bar President

McALLEN—(P)—Officers and directors of the State Bar Association of Texas nominated new officers at a quarterly meeting here Saturday.

Nominated for president were W. Dewey Lawrence, Tyler; Robert M. Turpin, Midland, and Cecil E. Burney, Corpus Christi. For vice president the group nominated Homer S. Hill of Fort Worth and John Kilgore, Sr., of Dallas.

Balloting will be by mail. Results will be announced June 5. Galveston was chosen as site of the next meeting.

Probers Check On Lackland Air Base

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—Investigators hunted Saturday for unhealthful conditions at Lackland Air Base, and the Senate and Air Force started others on the way here. The base commander said the inspectors wouldn't find anything wrong.

Maj. Gen. Charles W. Lawrence said he can't prove fifth columnists started talk about Lackland, the first place recruits are sent—but he said it's a possibility.

The latest investigator to head this way represents the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. Senator Lyndon Johnson, Texas Democrat and subcommittee chairman, announced late Saturday a special investigator had been dispatched but didn't identify him.

The investigation team here now is headed by Maj. Gen. E. L. Burbanks, Air Force deputy inspector general. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg ordered it to come here at the demand of the Senate Armed Services Committee. The committee had heard recruits weren't being cared for, properly and some had died of pneumonia. The Air Force says that isn't so.

No Serious Illness The Air Force announced in Washington Saturday that Air Secretary Finletter has directed Assistant Secretary Zuckert to come to Lackland and "inquire into living conditions."

General Lawrence Saturday said there is no one seriously ill at the base, nor has there been in the last month.

"Only slightly more than one and one-tenth per cent of base personnel are hospitalized at present," the general said. "This is one of the finest health records in Lackland's history."

"There are some pneumonia cases, none of which is serious. The cases represent only one-tenth of one (Continued On Page Five)

Last-Minute Rush To Pay Poll Taxes Gets Underway Here

The final rush has begun for payment of 1950 poll taxes. Heavy crowds started jamming the county tax collector's office Saturday and hundreds more were expected to pay their tax before the deadline Wednesday night.

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed reported more than 2,900 citizens had paid their poll taxes by noon Saturday. An additional 425 persons have obtained exemption certificates.

Citizens must pay the 1950 poll tax to be eligible for participation in 1951 elections.

These elections are of particular interest to Midlanders since a mayor and three city councilmen will be named April 3, and two trustees of the Midland Independent School District will be selected April 7.

There is a possibility, too, that special bond elections may be called during the year.

Speed said Saturday his office will remain open during the noon hour Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to permit downtown workers to pay their tax without having their work interrupted.

Durbin Chums Say She'll Be Back Again For Second Try

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: Deanna Durbin film comeback rumors are making the rounds again. Her Hollywood pals say she's due back in Hollywood following her honeymoon in France and that MGM Producer Joe Pasternak, who discovered her, will oversee her second picture try.

The huddles between Judy Garland and Jerry Wald are leading straight to the starring role for Judy in "Stars and Stripes Forever," story of USO entertainers originally written for Al Jolson. Jerry claims that Clifford Odets' "Clash by Night," a flop on Broadway, will be a Hollywood smash as a Joan Crawford-Bob Ryan costar.

"On Broadway" wailed Jerry. "they call Tallulah Bankhead in it. Imagine Tallulah as a sweaty Staten Island housewife."

Hi-mmmmm! Imagine Joan.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Which would you rather be in this hand," a friend asked me the other day, "declarer or defender?"

Since this particular friend is a rather tricky person, I took a second look before I answered. Maybe my readers would also enjoy taking a first and a second look at the hand.

The average player's first thought is that dummy plays low at the first trick, and East wins with the king of spades. He returns a spade to dummy's ace, and dummy then leads a heart.

East can take the ace of hearts, if he likes, to return his last spade. But South wins with the queen of spades and gives up a club trick. East gets his king of clubs for the third defensive trick, but then declarer wins the rest.

The average player's second thought is that dummy plays low at the first trick, and East wins with the king of spades. He returns a spade to dummy's ace, and dummy then leads a heart.

There's an answer to this choice. Let the average player take the South hand. He plays a low spade

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Acts 8:26-39; John 15:5, 16; Dan. 12:3; Ps. 51:12-13

A LADDER TO A CONTAGIOUS LIFE

To have the qualities of Jesus branded into our beings will not be enough unless we have the quality of contagion. For contagion makes these qualities outgoing; and places them at the disposal of others. "No virtue is safe that is not enthusiastic; no heart is pure that is not passionate; no life is Christian that is not Christianizing." If there is no outflow, the inflow automatically stops.

We must deliberately set ourselves to be spiritually creative. Perhaps these seven steps will help you toward a contagious life.

1. I am made in the inner structure of my being to be creative. If I am not spiritually creative I shall fall to fulfill the destiny of my being. I shall live against myself.
2. To win others to a new life is the highest form of creative activity. I have a chance to be creative where it counts most. Physical creativity is denied many; spiritual creativity is denied none, except those who deny it to themselves.
3. Nothing is really mine until I share it with others. All expression deepens impression. Again, it is a law of the mind that that which is not expressed dies. I want this life to be mine, for it is life's dearest treasure.
4. I shall have the will to evangelize. Hitherto the desire to evangelize has been in my mind and emotion; now it gets into my will. I have decided to share with others what has been shared with me.
5. If I am afraid of being snubbed, I shall remind myself that I have a secret ally in every heart. There is something within the hearts of others that will take sides with me, for the heart is made for this.
6. If I fail I shall fail in doing what I should do. But perhaps the greatest failure is the failure to do anything.
7. I may be unworthy, but God can use my very sins. It may be that my past sins, and my victory over them, will inspire others to feel they also can be victorious. Far from thinking of myself as being on a pedestal, I shall consider myself a humble pedestrian asking others to try the way I am trying.

O God, I bring to Thee this non-creative life of mine for Thee to touch into creative life. If my ef-

Farmers in Iowa Spurn Retirement

DES MOINES —(AP)—Hugo Wilken, of Davenport, an auctioneer who has conducted sales in Iowa for almost 50 years, is cancelling some 20 sales for farmers who were planning to retire. The farmers have turned their backs on a life of ease and decided to stay on the job producing food in the current crisis, Wilken reports.

Wilken says prices for farm machinery have shown a marked increase lately. There has been an increase in bidders, particularly for good, late-model equipment. Used tractors, for example, are going for as high as $2,000, he states.

TODAY'S QUESTION

As dealer, with both sides vulnerable, you hold: Spades A-Q-8-6-3, Hearts A-K-5, Diamonds K-7, Clubs 4-6-4. You bid one spade and your partner bids two diamonds. The opponents pass throughout. What do you do next?

A—Bid three no-trump. This bid rightly describes your strength and your distribution. If your partner has four spades, he will probably take you back to that suit. If he has fewer than four spades, the hand should play at 1st as well as no-trump as at spades.

Answer tomorrow.

Firemen Control Cattle Pen Blaze

DALHART — Firemen from three communities Saturday brought a stubborn fire under control at the cattle feed pens at Texline, 36 miles northwest of here.

A dust explosion was blamed for the blaze which destroyed a large building in which cottonseed oil cake and other feed was stored. Many stacks of bundle feed were destroyed.

About 1,800 cattle on feed in the Texline Commercial Feed Lot were unharmed and the pens themselves were saved.

The fire was spotted Friday night by an unscheduled airliner crew as it flew over Texline, Dalhart, Texline, and Clayton, N. M. fire departments fought the fire.

AP Commodity Index Climbs Still Higher

NEW YORK — Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by The Associated Press index, advanced this week for the fifteenth week in a row.

At 212.18, the index compared with 209.99 last week and with 160.01 a year ago. The base year of this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices is 1926, which equals 100.

Four of the six commodity groups represented climbed to new 1950-51 peaks—industrials, livestock, textiles and nonferrous metals.

Grains and cotton also were higher, while foods posted a small decline from a week ago.

Army And Air Force Team Up To Wipe Out Two Korean Villages

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
WONJU, KOREA — The U. S. Army and Air Force teamed up Thursday to wipe out two Korean villages in a spectacular demonstration of fire power.

An estimated 170 Red troops were killed and countless others fled in terror to mountain hideouts when the towns of Sogol and Sagchogu were destroyed. The villages are about five miles northeast of Wonju.

Here is the story: "The patrol is stalled four miles northeast of here, sir," the lieutenant at Wonju Airstrip said. "They have a report the village on their left is full of enemy troops. They want an air strike on the village."

"We will give them an air strike and artillery, too, if they need." Lt. Col. John E. Londahl, of Eugene, Ore., commander of Allied forces at Wonju, replied. "Get the ball rolling."

"Right away, sir," Lt. Ray F. Skaggs of Indianola, Okla., artillery liaison officer, said. Skaggs strode over to a radio jeep and asked for a strike on the village by Fifth Air Force planes.

Four F-51 fighters, manned by Australians who were prowling the battle front, were called. Capt. Robert W. Smithson, of Whittier, Calif., in charge of artillery at the field, said, "That is the way to live. That really beats standing here with your feet freezing."

Londahl ordered artillery to fire a smoke shell to locate the village for the fighter planes and the artillery liaison plane over the patrol. Now let's fly up over the village with Capt. Thomas Ryan of Portland, Ore., to watch the fireworks.

There was no sign of life in Sogol as the fighter planes bored in. Flames Leap High. They power - dived down and flames leaped high as they dropped their napalm firebombs.

But soon the patrol leader reported the nearby town of Sangchogu also was suspected of harboring enemy troops.

It was the artillery's turn. The big guns centered on the target and then came to the terrific barrage as the artillery really let go.

Some of the men at Wonju Airstrip Saturday included Lt. George A. Keller, native of Wellington, Texas, and former resident of Dallas and Lt. Charles Morrow, formerly of Waco, Amarillo, and Wichita Falls, Texas, and now of Oswego, N. Y.

Southwestern Bell, Telephone Co-Ops Slate Peace Talks

By The Associated Press
Specific division of rural territory which two telephone cooperatives and Southwestern Bell will serve in West Texas may be worked out at conferences in Lubbock February 2 and in Hereford February 6.

A spokesman for Southwestern Bell said in Dallas Saturday he understood his firm had decided to surrender certain territories it had planned to serve.

The decision, he said, was the outgrowth of conferences in Washington the last week. Attending were representatives of the Rural Electrification Administration, the private firm and the co-ops.

The spokesman said he understood details of territories to be served may be worked out at the West Texas meetings.

The co-ops have accused Southwestern Bell of jumping into the rural telephone territory the co-ops planned to serve.

The dispute centers in Hale, Lubbock, Lynn, Hockley and several other West Texas counties.

Grand Jury Reduces Murder Bill Against Fort Bliss Soldier

EL PASO — Cpl. Michael Miklosky of Waymart, Pa., was indicted Friday on a charge of aggravated assault in the death of Mrs. Marie Fernandez, 67.

Miklosky originally had been charged with murder. The grand jury reduced the charge.

Mrs. Fernandez was found dead in her home here January 1 following an evening of drinking with the young Fort Bliss soldier. He told officers they returned to her apartment and he went to sleep. Miklosky said he awakened to find her searching his clothes. Miklosky said he thought he must have hit her.

Death was caused by strangulation from Mrs. Fernandez' own blood seeping from a small wound inside her mouth.

Dog Tags For 1951 Go On Sale Monday

Not even the poor little dogs can escape taxes. They'll have to start putting the money on the line Monday.

Col. Milan N. Plavsic, director of the city's department of public safety, announced Saturday the 1951 dog tags have been received and will go on sale Monday.

The tags, costing $1 each, may be purchased at police headquarters in the City Hall.

Col. Plavsic said dog owners have until March 1 to obtain the tags.

Lions Club Sponsors McCamey Scout Drive

MCCAMEY — The Lions Club will sponsor the 1951 Boy Scout fundraising drive for McCamey's part in the Concho Valley Council's annual budget of $56,252.

City Secretary Bob Davis has been elected general chairman of the campaign, and will be assisted by Oliver Jacobsen, Jesse Russell, George Ramer and O. R. Sharp.

A kick-off breakfast for the drive is scheduled February 22.

Tank Truck Blast Shatters Windows

AUSTIN — A truck loaded with oxygen and acetylene tanks exploded and burned spectacularly two miles south of here Friday night. No one was injured.

The blast was heard for miles and the exploding tanks threw up clouds of smoke and flame.

Windows in a house 200 yards away were smashed.

James Garcia, driver of the truck owned by the Austin Oxygen Company, said a rear flat tire ignited and set fire to the tanks of gas on the truck bed.

McCamey Purchases City Street Sweeper

MCCAMEY — At a special meeting of the McCamey City Council recently, the councilmen approved the purchase of a street sweeper for the City of McCamey.

The unit was purchased from Sargent & Sowell Company of Grand Prairie, and was delivered for $1,635.

The sweeper will be operated early each morning over the downtown area, and will be used periodically in the residential sections to clean off excess rock and gravel from the paved streets.

Public Gets Chance To Speak Its Mind On Pending Legislation At Hearings This Week

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN — Citizens will speak their minds this week on dozens of bills pending in the Legislature.

Public hearings will be held on potentially explosive measures that would reach into virtually every home.

They include bills providing for Communist registration, tightening of marriage license requirements, prohibiting a state income tax, regulation of practical nurses, and further controls on loan sharks.

It is in these hearings citizens give their testimony. Usually it is their first and last chance to get in a direct word.

The Legislature kept on its strictly-business timetable during its third week. It is getting down to consideration of bills in committee ahead of the usual schedule.

Wets and dries began their usual battle with a sharp word skirmish. Dries are threatening to push a statewide prohibition amendment. The liquor people announced they are ready to fight.

The Senate Finance Committee began hearings on major appropriations bills that would slash by 10 million dollars expenses during the next two years. State schools are expected to voice protests at some of the cuts affecting them before a finance subcommittee. If the economies are made final, the Legislature still will have to find 100 million dollars in new money.

The Senate Redistricting Committee directed a subcommittee to rough draft a senatorial bill by the end of next week.

Introduction of bills continued at a fast clip. Among the new ones were several tax measures including new or increased levies on such natural resources as natural gas and sulphur.

The Communist control bill will be heard at 7:30 p.m. Monday before the House State Affairs Committee. At 2 p.m. Monday the House Education Committee will study a measure to require teaching of citizenship, American and Texas history in junior and senior high schools.

The practical nurse bill will be heard by the House Committee on public health at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. The marriage license bill goes before the House Judiciary Committee at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

In other action Saturday, the regents:

1. Authorized the University School of Dentistry in Houston to offer a teaching program to practicing dentists.

2. Set March 6 as the date for opening bids on approximately $1,000,000 worth of furniture and equipment for the new John Sealy Hospital at Galveston.

3. Authorized a university professor, Dr. G. W. Watt, to join the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company staff to help develop the hydrogen bomb.

Headquarters for the San Angelo Postgraduate School of Medicine will be at the Shannon West Texas Memorial Hospital. The hospital will bear the expense until state funds are available.

Pay Your Poll Tax!

If you haven't paid your poll tax—it is later than you think.

Yes, if you are among the several thousand Midland citizens who have neglected to pay their 1950 poll tax it might be well to consider you have only three days—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—in which to pay the tax which will qualify you to vote in the 1951 elections.

It is much better to consider that fact now, and to do something about it, than to realize suddenly somewhere down the line that you are not eligible to state your preference at the polls because you failed before Jan. 31, 1951, to qualify as a Texas voter.

It is just that important. Don't be among those who are caught short at voting time simply because you do not have a poll tax receipt.

Certificates also should be obtained from the county tax assessor-collector by those 21-year-old persons who are voting for the first time and by those who are 60 years of age and older. Previously, a certificate was not necessary in order to vote. But it is now.

It requires only a minimum amount of time and trouble to visit the tax assessor-collector's office in the courthouse to obtain the all-important receipt or certificate.

Regardless of whether you favor the poll tax, it still is a requirement for voting in Texas. And voting actually is the important thing.

And again we would remind citizens that poll tax statements are not included in your property tax statements. Be sure that your poll tax is paid.

At least two important elections are scheduled and others likely will be called during the year. The City of Midland and the Midland Independent School District will elect City Council members and school trustees in April. A county bond election is being talked. Other elections for this and that may be held.

You, as a citizen, should be in a position to state your preference for candidates or issues at election time. You can if you have a poll tax. Otherwise you will be on the outside looking in as your friends and neighbors cast their ballots.

Two prominent speakers—Eugene McElvaney and Robert Kazmayer—in addressing Midland gatherings last week, both emphasized the importance of individual participation in governmental affairs on local, state and national levels, particularly in troubled times such as these.

McElvaney said the forthright qualities of American citizenship, and the responsibilities and duties which that entails, will be the determining strength of this nation.

Kazmayer charged that Americans are too lazy to take the time and trouble to defend their very rights and freedoms.

Let us right here in Midland, Texas, not be too lazy to qualify ourselves as voters and then to cast our ballots as we see fit in the various elections held during 1951.

It is the American way. It is the right way.

The League of Women Voters, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other groups are doing grand jobs in urging persons to pay their poll tax. Let's all cooperate to the fullest extent in establishing a record in poll tax payments in Midland County this year.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX BEFORE THE WEDNESDAY NIGHT DEADLINE!

Indian Sign—On Indians

For more than two and a half months the Chinese Communists have been in Korea, killing Americans, British, French, Dutch, Turks and a lot of others. In plain language, they have been making war on the United Nations.

But the Indians and some others who favor the fearful, negative approach to every issue involving Communists don't want to take account of this painful fact. They would like to pretend it isn't happening, that the Chinese Reds are just a bunch of misguided fellows who have been a little rash in protecting their own property.

What India seems to be saying to us is that, if we don't watch out, these Chinese (who are making war on us) will start making war on us.

Certainly neither we nor anybody else want a full scale land war against Red China. But that doesn't mean we have to knuckle under to the aggression they're now pressing in Korea. You don't combat aggression by ignoring it. You face up to it—one way or another. That's what we're trying to do.

The Indians don't seem to understand the need for this. Apparently this world is just too tough for them. They may not have many more years in which to harden their very soft muscles.

What you overhear always sounds much more interesting than what you just hear.

"We Goin' SomeWhere, Boss?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Water shortage in U. S. is critical problem for scientists; Army can recall World War II officers; U. S. faces manganese shortage.

WASHINGTON — A calamity more devastating than the atomic bomb is being studied by U. S. scientists. It is not nerve gas or bacteriological warfare, but the increasing shortage of water in the United States.

Most people consider the water problem peculiar to the Far West. But New York's recent water shortage has focused attention upon the fact that the industrial and highly populated East also faces a grave water danger.

Reason for this is that the per capita consumption of water has jumped from a few gallons a day 100 years ago up to 1,300 gallons today.

Industry, for instance uses 5,000,000 gallons of ground water daily. A ton of synthetic rubber requires 600 gallons of water; a ton of viscose rayon requires 200,000 gallons; a ton of smokeless powder, 50,000 gallons.

As a result of the increasing water shortage, Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman has ordered a special study under the direction of C. G. Paulsen, his chief water expert.

Paulsen is not a pessimist. Nevertheless he predicts that it may be necessary to decentralize the population and industries of the United States because of our dwindling supply of water.

"In a few places irrigation eventually may have to cease," warns Paulsen, "or be seriously curtailed. And industries may also have to close down."

The two areas demanding the Interior Department's chief attention are the Northeast, where a deficient flow of streams is the cause of the water shortage; and an area south-west of Fort Worth and Oklahoma City, where the shortage is due to low rainfall.

Texas Plains
The upper Texas plains now are drawing out so much water for irrigation, Dr. Paulsen explains, that "ultimately the withdrawals will have to be curtailed to a fraction of the present, while industrial development will be limited."

Two ways of cutting down excess water use are recommended by Paulsen:

1. Recharge the ground water supply after it is used, by pumping it back into wells. This is done on Long Island, where water used for cooling is returned to the ground through recharge wells. Even water which has been used in the manufacture of steel can be used again if pumped back into sandy or gravelly soil, which acts as a purifier.

2. Western acreage which now grows worthless vegetation can be curtailed. The Western plains now grow varieties of willow, cottonwood, and salt cedar, which use up 25,000,000 acre feet of water each year.

The destruction of these water-absorbing plants would save water for other useful vegetation in other areas, though their destruction also would increase erosion and might change certain parts of the West into complete deserts.

Note — Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman has instructed his scientists to work on a plan for distilling fresh water from sea water. At present this is done on all United States warships and many passenger ships. However, it is expensive and, so far, not practical for wide-scale industrial or agricultural use.

Officers Can Be Recalled
They don't know it, but 400,000 World War II officers, who dropped out of the Army and Air Force Reserves, still are subject to recall.

This is the opinion of Maj. Gen. Edward Whittell, Army adjutant general, who backed it up with two pages of legal arguments, which he sent in a private memo last week to assistant secretary of the Army Archibald Alexander. Whittell's arguments were so technical that they had to be referred to other Army lawyers to interpret. However, the final opinion was that the Army still has legal strings to ex-World War II officers, even though they didn't sign up in the Reserves and thought they were getting out of the Army.

This opinion is based on a judge advocate general's ruling, quoted by Whittell, that "At this time and during the existence of the current war and for six months after its termination . . . a non-component officer of the Army of the United States . . . may legally be ordered to active federal duty for more than 15 days in one calendar year without his consent."

Army personnel officers insist there is no plan to call these ex-officers back to active duty now. In case the Army changes its mind, however, it would affect more than 250,000 Army and 146,000 Air Force officers who were separated after World War II and did not remain on the Reserve rolls.

Wire-Tap Whitewash
This is another strange chapter in the Senate investigation of wire tapping.

Three Republican senators who signed the minority whitewash report, Robert Hendrickson of N. J., its author, Margaret Smith of Maine, and John Williams of Delaware, now have talked seriously of recalling it.

This moment of disillusionment came after Senator Owen Brewster, personally implicated in the wire-tapping, and Senator Joe McCarthy both pressured Hendrickson to write the whitewash.

Hendrickson was so sour on his own report that he said: "I'll sign the report, but I won't take it around."

Mrs. Smith was persuaded by her Maine colleague, Senator Brewster, to sign the report on his representation that Hendrickson wanted her to sign it and that speed was imperative. When the lovely Maine woman discovered this was not the fact, she cooled off.

The three senators talked informally of requesting the minority resolution be recalled and rewritten, but finally decided against it on the ground such a move would bring into the open the operations of GOP Leader Brewster.

Perhaps the most precious metal in the U. S. A. today is manganese. Why? Because the American steel industry would collapse overnight. Should manganese supplies be cut off, not a wisp of smoke would come out of the blast furnaces of Pittsburgh.

Despite the scarcity of this precious metal, however, the government has diverted one shipload of manganese away from the national stockpile to the Bethlehem Steel Company. This might not be the subject for criticism if Bethlehem were working completely on war orders. But the real fact is that Bethlehem still is turning out steel for refrigerators, stoves, automobiles and other civilian goods, when the armed services are clamoring for guns and tanks.

The fact that something was wrong about the transfer of manganese to Bethlehem was obvious from the surreptitious way it was engineered. The law requires a presidential directive to remove vital materials from the national stockpile for civilian use. And the White House would have given no such directive. Therefore, the papers of the ship carrying the manganese were juggled before the ship arrived within the three-mile limit, transferring title to Bethlehem.

Meanwhile, our manganese stockpile is so short that there is little more than a year's supply on hand—certainly not enough to spare any for civilian goods. Furthermore, future manganese supplies will be extremely hazardous, due to the fact that our chief supply hitherto came from Russia.

Despite this, Production Administrator William Harrison ordered 26,000 tons of manganese, destined for the strategic stockpile, diverted to Bethlehem.

Meanwhile, not only Bethlehem but other steel companies are operating from hand-to-mouth and may be forced to curtail production. Unfortunately, there is no substitute for manganese, yet the United States produces only 130,000 tons per year, while consuming 12 times that amount.

The real scandal is that the Munitions Board has been stockpiling manganese for more than four years, but has failed to store enough to keep our blast furnaces running 18 months if our supplies are cut off. This is less than one-fourth of the stockpile that the Munitions Board was supposed to build up in five years.

Note 1—There are 2,000 low-grade manganese deposits lying dormant in this country. They are expensive to operate, but this may become necessary. Most of 131 manganese mines, actually were operating in this country during World War II, but haven't even as yet been reopened.

Note 2—Two years ago, far-sighted Senator Hunt of Wyoming begged the steel industry to curtail non-essential production long enough for the government to stockpile manganese for an emergency. The steel industry, however, refused.

Questions and Answers
Q—How thick are coal seams?
A—What is believed to be the world's largest seam, 400 feet thick, exists in China. Two seams in Wyoming are 90 or more feet thick. The average thickness of the seams from which bituminous coal comes in our country is 5.4 feet.

Q—What is the origin of the expression "over the bounding main"?
A—The expression originally referred to the Spanish Main, another name for the Caribbean Sea.

Q—In what year did the first Christmas seals appear?
A—Einer Holboell, a Danish postal clerk, conceived the idea of a special stamp of modest price to raise money to aid people ill with tuberculosis. He took his plan to the king, who approved of it and in 1904 the first Christmas seals appeared.

Q—In what form is The Divine Comedy written?
A—Dante's Divine Comedy is in the form of epic poetry—a long narrative poem.

Q—Who appoints the Chief Justice of the United States?
A—He is appointed for life by the President of the United States.

Stock Guide Issued For Newspapermen
DENVER — Officials of the National Western Stock show recently minimized chances of journalistic comedy by issuing this directive to newsmen: "For those of you who are toering animal husbandry news for the first time, here are a few things you really should know: "Genders (of cattle) are: male—bull; female—heifer, cow; steer—sexed male, beef. And with the horses: male—stallion, stud; female, mare; gelding—sexed male."

Budget Increases Dwarf Total Indicated Savings

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The ups and downs of President Truman's new $71,000,000,000 budget offer a chance for endless argument.

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, one of the leading spokesmen for economizing, says this budget can be cut by $7,000,000,000. What's more, he promises to show 'em how before very many days' pass.

President Truman has had the Budget Bureau prepare an eight-page tabulation on some 130 items in which his requests for next year are below the appropriations for this year. This is where he's given little attention because of its length. But it does indicate that the President, or somebody, took a hack at about 40 per cent of the budget items for indicated savings of almost $6,000,000,000. These are the "downs" in the budget.

They are dwarfed, however, by the "ups" in the budget. These are the other 60 per cent of the items for which the President requests more money than was appropriated by the last Congress. This is where he's given little attention because of its length. Three Attractions Feature Second Day Of Fat Stock Show

FORT WORTH—(P)—The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show was a three-ring attraction Saturday.

For railroaders, observing railroad day, presentation of a Texas & Pacific locomotive to the stock show was an event. To the Future Farmers, Future Homemakers and 4-H Club members, who swarmed all over the grounds, everything was attractive. To the youthful exhibitors the name of a champion in the boys' steer show was the high spot of the day.

Champion Angus was a steer bred by Luther McClung of Fort Worth and shown by Billy McAnelly of Tulsa. Champion Shorthorn was shown by Joe Ben Koonce of Desdemona.

Grand Champ Stallion In Horse Judging

In horse judging, Bill Cook, shown by Darrel E. Sprout of Kilgus, was named grand champion Quarter Horse stallion and Monsieur Joe, shown by W. G. Brown of Little Rock, Ark., was named reserve champion.

Rodeo results Saturday afternoon: Bareback bronc riding — Buster Ivory, Modesto, Cal., on Rocket, first; Tommy Likes, Emporia, Kan., on Sweetwater, second; Harry Tompkins, Dublin, on Onky, third.

Calf roping — Buck Sorrells, Newhall, Cal., 18.7 seconds; Jimmy Cooper, Hobbs, N. M., 19.8; Lee Sneed, Jr., Oklahoma City, 21.7; Lex Sowell, Benson, Ariz., 22.9; Dick Fox, Ranger, Okla., 23.9; Clay Mann Smith, Colorado City, 28.9; Bob Bowen, Fort Worth, 34.2; Dell Haverly, Benson, Ariz., 42.3 (including 10-second fine); Leon Brannon, Waco, 44.9.

Saddle Bronc Riding — Manuel Enos, Fort Worth, on Davis Mountain, first; Bill Linderman of Red Lodge, Mont., on He-Coon, second; Guy Weeks, Abilene, on Billy Bob, third.

Cole Horse Shows

Wild horse race — No qualified riders.

Steer wrestling — Al Bynum, Waxahachie, 57 seconds; Steve Heacock, Phoenix, Ariz., 7.6; Lee Roberts, Roswell, N. M., 10.7; Whit Kenney, Stephenville, 13.6; Jack Faver, Fort Worth, 13.7; Pat Scudder, Bartlesville, Okla., 18.9; Ken Boen, Fort Smith, Ark., 22.2.

Cold Wave—

At 8 p.m. the front was on a line running from just northwest of Texarkana south of Waco, back toward Midland, northward toward back into Central New Mexico.

The coldest air seemed to be coming out of the Panhandle down the Red River Valley. Amarillo had 27 degrees at 8:30 p.m.; Wichita Falls 29, and Dallas 38. But Lubbock, in the South Plains, had 44.

The western up-curve of the northern passed San Angelo at 3:52 p.m., began dropping temperatures fast toward a Sunday morning forecast of 16 degrees.

No freeze in Valley

Brownsville readings were expected to drop to a minimum of 39 or 40. Temperatures as low as 34 were in prospect for the Mission, McAllen and Edinburg area. A fleeting drizzle was in the forecast — not enough to benefit the valley's drought-ridden croplands.

By 4 a.m. Sunday, said the Weather Bureau, the cold front should be on a Santa Fe, N. M. Salt Flat-Residio-Laredo-Victoria-Eldorado, Ark., line.

The Shreveport Weather Bureau said a high pressure area to the southeast might keep the Shreveport-Marshall area on the northern edge. But it warned if the high pressure area moved, a severe freeze could be expected, and moisture may turn to snow.

A low around 20 degrees was a forecast for the Dallas-Fort Worth section. Wichita Falls, looking for five to 10 degrees, also had a possibility of a few snowflakes.

Too Little—

"You can't control anything," he said. "We didn't before. Supply and demand will control it regardless."

Charles Daggett, also in the livestock commission business, declared scarcity was the one factor that creates a black market.

"This new freeze actually won't change anything immediately," Daggett predicted. "It is just the first step and until it goes further there is no indication for a change . . . except where a rollback in price of hides lowers the cattle price."

Postmaster At Victoria Seeks Practical Plan For Carriers To Use Motor Scooters

VICTORIA —(P)—The foot-sore city mail carrier has an advocate in Victoria Postmaster Leopold Morris. He's trying to work out a practical system for use of motor scooters.

Policemen got the feet when they policed pavements. Now they're puzzled. Why can't the postman have a vehicle also?

The Post Office Department thinks so much of the plan it has authorized Morris to experiment with it here.

The scooter idea is not new. In Ponca City, Okla., for example, carriers are allowed to buy, maintain and use them if they wish. That's been going on for 10 years.

And in Miami, Fla., the Post Office Department itself is conducting experiments with 15 scooters in suburban areas where residences are widespread.

House-to-house deliveries in crowded areas on scooters haven't been practical. There are too many starts and stops and dismountings.

Denver Attorney To Direct OPS Work In Four Western States

DENVER —(P)—The Denver Post said Saturday it was informed George F. Rock will serve as regional director for the Office of Price Stabilization for Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico.

The Post said Rock, a wealthy Denver attorney, will return to the Rocky Mountain area from Washington to confer with three newly-appointed state directors.

The director who will administer price controls in New Mexico is Roy Walker of Clovis, who will take over offices at Albuquerque.

Foot, Mouth Disease Outbreak Is Battled

WASHINGTON —(P)—The U. S. Agriculture Department said every possible step is being taken to combat a recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease among cattle in Colombia.

"Colombia is seriously imperiled by the disease," says the department.

Colombian cattle are estimated at 14 1/2 million head, more 1,200,000 and sheep at more than one million. The disease affects only cloven-hoofed animals.

Atomic Blast At Nevada Test Range Felt In Four States

LAS VEGAS, NEV. —(P)—A brilliant "sunburst-like" blast from the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada testing range was seen, felt and heard by hundreds in four states Saturday.

But the blast, which could have originated from 40 to 100 miles away, brought no apparent fear to Las Vegas residents and visitors.

The AEC announced in Washington that "one of the periodic tests" of atomic explosions had taken place. The commission said January 11 such tests would be held.

Then the government announced it is getting ready "to tickle" the Nevada desert. That is what atomic physicists call their trick of producing low-order nuclear fission bursts without provoking the atomic blast into a full-scale, death-dealing A-bomb explosion.

A "dry run" test was held the night of January 24. The second test came with dawn Saturday. It was quite a tickle.

It was heard and felt in Cedar City, Utah, 175 airline miles north-east of the testing area.

Sheriff Roy Orr of Lincoln County said he felt the vibrations and saw "a flash" in Ploche, which is 100 air miles northeast of the area.

In Indian Springs, a crossroads hamlet near the area, Orr said the concussion blew out some windows.

Services Are Held For Wink Resident

WINK —Mrs. Dee Widmer Wright, 51, long-time Wink resident, died in a hospital here Wednesday following a lengthy illness.

She was born May 24, 1899, in Mammoth Springs, Ark.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist Church here.

Survivors include the husband; a son, Robert F. Edwards, and grandson, Robert F. Edwards, Jr., of J. L. N. M., three brothers and two sisters.

Four More Priests Imprisoned By Czechs

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA —(P)—Four Roman Catholic priests are among seven persons sent to prison upon conviction here last week of treason and espionage, it was announced Saturday.

This increased to 27 the number of Catholic clergymen convicted on such charges in the courts of Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia in the last 10 months. Four of the 27 were sentenced to life terms.

Last Rites Performed For Mrs. Atchinson

Funeral services for Mrs. John T. Atchinson were held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

J. Woodie Holden, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated.

Mrs. Atchinson died in a Midland hospital early Friday.

The Atchinsons came to Midland County 10 years ago from Wink.

Survivors include the husband, a son, two daughters, the parents, a sister and a brother.

Malay Places Orders In Britain For Guns

KUALA LUMPUR —(P)—Malaya has placed orders in Britain for large amounts of shot guns to be used by its "conscripts" in the war against Communist terrorism.

The government has announced a decision to call up civilian manpower to reinforce police and military squads in battling the bandits. But drafting of young men would be carried out as and when required.

Michigan Warrant Issued For Arrest Of Frank Grandstaff

FORT WAYNE, IND. —(P)—If Frank Grandstaff, the convict-composer, writes any more music here'll be no lyric about wanting to be back again in Michigan.

The Michigan Department of Corrections has issued a warrant for his arrest as a parole violator.

Grandstaff was pardoned last December from the Tennessee State Prison, where he was serving a life sentence as an habitual criminal. He came to Fort Wayne and married a childhood sweetheart.

Grandstaff was bitter Saturday about Michigan's attempt to get him back on a charge that he violated a parole in 1931 from a sentence for receiving stolen property.

"I don't want to go back to Michigan and I don't want any part of Michigan," he told a reporter.

"I just want to be a good citizen and a good husband and live a normal, happy life. I can't do it while Michigan tries to persecute me."

Telephone Governor

Grandstaff said he had telephoned Gov. G. Mennen Williams at Lansing, Mich., "to find out what this is all about."

The governor referred him to Ernest Brooks of Holland, director of the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Brooks later said Grandstaff could make arrangements with Indiana parole officials to report to them and thus meet the conditions of his parole without returning to Michigan.

"It is quite apparent," Brooks said, "that he is on the road to re-establish himself. There is no need to be vindictive at this late date. We don't care to bring him back."

The three top ESA men are Eric Johnston, its administrator, a Republican; Price Director DiSalle, a Democrat; and Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, a Republican.

The freeze brought immediate and strong protests from labor and farm groups.

Stocks spurred upward. Several commodity markets closed down for the day to await clarification. Businessmen generally pledged support of the order.

Metal Controls Tightened

While DiSalle's short-staffed Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) looked to other government agencies for enforcement help in making the freeze order work, there were these other developments on the control front:

1. The National Production Authority prohibited use of tin in most coffee and paint cans and reduced its use in many other directions in an effort to conserve the vital, imported metal. A ten per cent cut in tin for beer cans was ordered temporarily. Tin in cans for perishable foods is not limited.

2. Controls were tightened over molasses, a metal used in high alloy steel products, to conserve it for highly essential production.

3. At Albany, N. Y., it was reported the federal government may freeze totally steel for non-defense construction, except high priority projects, as of June 1 for a period of 30 days. Thereafter, it was said, the order might be subject to change from month to month.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was said to have been told informally by the Defense Mobilization Board the drastic step virtually would halt work for 18 months after June 1 on most highways, college buildings, schools and such facilities. Hospitals probably would be exempt. No General Reduction

DiSalle's rollback plans contained no hint of any attempt to attain a general price cut all along the line. What he said, in a statement, was this:

"The fact that prices are now frozen at current levels does not mean that there will be no downward adjustments in the future."

On the contrary, he said, "the unresolved question is whether and to what extent the (stabilization) act requires, at least for some commodities, a lower level of prices x x x."

"The further consideration which the agency will proceed to give to the prices of commodities will determine the extent, if any, to which ceiling prices may need to be reduced in order to effectuate the purposes of this act."

The price freeze set the ceiling at the highest level prices attained between December 19 and January 25. This meant present prices in virtually all cases.

The wage order holds earnings at their level of last Thursday, January 25, without exception. Appeals are allowed. Meantime, the Wage Stabilization Board will put on pressure to fashion a flexible formula to replace the freeze.

Inflation Pressure Perilous

The Economic Stabilization Agency emphasized, in a statement, that inflation pressure had become perilous to the national economy.

If prices had continued to skyrocket at the rate of the past few weeks, the increases would have run to 30 to 50 per cent a year—and "this path leads only to disaster and collapse," it said.

Congressmen generally welcomed the control order while commenting it was too long in coming. But Senator Bridges (R-NH) called attention to the "loopholes left in the order by the specific exemptions of food prices."

Bridges' statement did not mention the device Congress wrote into the law which says farm prices cannot be brought under ceilings unless they go above parity. Parity is a formula intended to provide the farmer a fair return in relation to the things he buys.

Stabilization officials said "this provision required exemption of many food items from the freeze. Farm Prices Exempt

The freeze order does not apply to prices at the farm for agricultural commodities and live animals.

But it bars increases, at least for the time being, on beef, veal, lamb and other foods which are above parity. This is, the processor, the wholesaler, and the retailer must keep the price as it is. The farmer can charge what the traffic will bear.

On most foods, prices can rise, right on up to the consumer, if necessary to reflect a rise in the farmer's price. These include bread, eggs, poultry, fresh vegetables, peanuts and oranges.

The law specifically exempted many items from price controls. These include professional fees, insurance rates, freight and passenger rates, utility rates, advertising rates of newspapers and broadcasters, prices of theaters, newspapers and other publications.

Rents also are exempt but a partial federal rent control law still is in force.

When Wall Street opened for business, stocks climbed merrily on the heels of the order. One broker explained:

"What more could you ask? With prices frozen at their highest point that means more profits for everyone."

But uncertainty over the order, and a need for close study of it, caused suspension in trading for the day on the New York, New Orleans and Chicago Cotton Exchanges. Some other commodity trading also was suspended, but many of the markets on which strategic defense materials are traded were closed as usual on Saturday.

Attacks on the wage freeze came from AFL and CIO officials.

Eighth Army headquarters said the enemy had suffered 1,152 casualties on Friday, second day of the continuing Allied drive northward toward Seoul.

North Koreans Desert

Tom Stone reported from Eastern Korea that a force of three North Korean Red divisions—an estimated 30,000 men—which once threatened the Eighth Army's right flank, had been reduced by 50 per cent in recent fighting.

Heald counterattacks took a heavy toll of this flanking force, but many were killed by their own officers as they tried to desert. Stone said. Some had discarded their uniforms and joined refugees trudging southward.

The main striking force of two U. S. corps—the First and Ninth, which include British, Turkish and South Korean units—drove four and one-half miles north of Suwon Saturday.

This put the column 14 road miles and less than 13 air miles from the South Korean capital of Seoul.

Bayonet-wielding Turks were prominent in the drive, designed to hunt out all Chinese and North Korean Reds south of the Han River bend below Seoul.

Turks Get Revenge

The Turks, seeking revenge for an ambush they suffered at the hands of the Chinese last November in North Korea, had killed almost 500 Reds and captured 100 more.

Allied intelligence officers said the Red pullbacks could mean:

1. The Chinese were preparing for a surprise offensive.

2. To regroup because of Allied pounding from the air.

3. Were withdrawing for political reasons.

They said there was a remote possibility the enemy might be hiding in areas overrun by the Allies.

The South Korean sailors who made a raid on Inchon, 22 miles southwest of Seoul, killed 40 Red Koreans and captured two in their four-hour stay ashore. They found no Chinese troops and suffered no casualties.

The sailors rode up to the Inchon dock in an 80-foot boat under the covering fire of five-inch guns on the U. S. destroyer Hank and the 4.7s of the Canadian destroyer Cayuga. The U. S. cruiser St. Paul stood by.

AP Correspondent Bill Shinn reported the Allied warships destroyed ten Red vessels in the attack on Inchon.

Wink-Kermit Cut-Off Road Is Approved

WINK — A project calling for construction of a new road which will cut two miles off the driving distance from Wink to Kermit was reported approved Saturday by the Winkler County Commissioners Court.

Commissioner J. A. Scogins said the court also had agreed to the construction of a new county road to Loving County.

When Wall Street opened for business, stocks climbed merrily on the heels of the order. One broker explained:

Funeral Rites Held For Starriff Infant

Funeral services were held in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel at 2 p.m. Saturday for Marion Lynn Starriff, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Starriff, 1509 East Highway 80.

Interment followed in Resthaven Memorial Park. The Rev. J. M. Hall officiated.

Survivors include the parents and three brothers.

The three-month-old infant died in a Midland hospital Thursday night.

Boykin Reelected Captain Of Midland Sheriff's Posse

Cal Boykin was reelected captain of the Midland County Sheriff's Posse at a meeting Saturday afternoon in the clubroom at Midland Fair Park.

Herb Franklin was reelected adjutant, and other officers chosen include: J. A. Tuttle, lieutenant; Doyle Walker and Robert K. (Bob) White, drill sergeants; Jack Wallace, keeper, and Sherwood O'Neal, corral boss.

The posse also unanimously went to El Paso for the Southwestern Livestock Show February 14. The Midland posse will attend a breakfast, given by the El Paso Sheriff's Posse, at 7 a.m. February 14, and will appear in the big annual parade at 5 p.m.

Mounted Drill

Following the business session Saturday afternoon, the posse held a mounted drill in the arena. Most of the members were sporting their new bright-colored chaps and their horses were adorned with the color-matching breast harnesses.

The chaps and harnesses are willow gold and maroon in color, matching the posse's emblem colors and similar to the colors of Midland High School.

Boykin said the posse will hold several drills before departing for El Paso. He said the weather will be a determining factor in calling the drills.

U. S. Turns Down Arab-Asian Plan For Korean Peace

LAKE SUCCESS —(P)—American Delegate Warren R. Austin Saturday rejected Arab-Asian proposals for a conference with Red China on the Far East and Korea. He demanded an immediate United Nations verdict that Red China has engaged in aggression and in effect gave assurances this would not mean American bombing of Chinese territory.

In a speech to the UN Political Committee, Austin answered objections to the United States resolution which says Communist China engaged in aggression in Korea and proposes the UN study what to do about it. The committee adjourned until Monday for further debate.

Austin said it is "not true" that the U. S. resolution slams the door on any further attempts at peaceful settlement. Instead, he contended, it opens the way for it and permits the regular procedure of the UN to go to work.

He said the time has come for the free nations of the world to cement their unity before the world and before the aggressor.

Austin spoke after reports were circulated that the Arab-Asian group of 12 countries would change their peace formula once more to include the Canadian suggestion for a cease-fire conference here or at New Delhi, India, within a week. The group also was said to favor including the 48-hour deadline set by Canada for Red China's reaction to such a suggestion.

$100,000,000 Metal Plant To Be Built Near Corpus Christi

HOUSTON —(P)—The Houston Chapter of the Associated General Contractors Saturday reported that Reynolds Metal Company will build a $100,000,000 aluminum plant in San Patricio County, near Corpus Christi.

Loy Duddleston, editor of the copyrighted AGC News Service, authorized The Associated Press to reprint the following story published in Friday night's edition of the chapter's newspaper:

"The Reynolds Metal Company will build an aluminum plant costing approximately $100,000,000 on a waterfront site in San Patricio County, 230 miles south of Houston.

"The company has taken options on approximately 2,700 acres of land which lie in the vicinity of Gregory, Ingleside and Portland on Corpus Christi Bay.

"Preliminary site work on the project has been completed and design work is under way.

Confirmed By Telephone

"The AGC News Service confirmed these reports in a telephone conversation Friday with Reynolds Company officials in Richmond, Va.

"The H. K. Ferguson Company has done the preliminary site work. It consisted primarily of test borings and short elevations.

"According to Reynolds officials, the design work for the plant now is under way. Company engineers are collaborating with various design firms, one of which is the H. K. Ferguson Company, x x x.

"The plant must be in operation by Jan. 1, 1952, and, as a consequence, plans are being developed for the installation of diesel engines instead of hydro-electric power.

"The main portion of the plant will consist of four pot buildings, each of which will be approximately 1,500 feet in length."

Another Trip And All Four Wheels Will Be Missing

N. R. Griffin, who lives at the rear of 807 West Illinois Street, figures he's going to lose the remaining wheel off his automobile.

And he doesn't like it a bit.

Griffin woke up Thursday morning, went outside and discovered a wheel missing from his car.

Friday morning, he looked outside and, sure enough, another wheel was gone.

Saturday morning—ditto.

"There's still one left for them," he reported to police, "and they'll probably try to take it, too."

Police promised to keep an eye on the neighborhood.

Gunmen Bind Deputy, Motel Attendants; Flee With Car, $74

CORSICANA —(P)—Two gunmen raided a tourist court here early Saturday, taking $74 after tying up two attendants and disarming a deputy sheriff.

Sheriff Rufus Perrehouse said the two men tied up Morris Badley, about 50, operator of the motel, and a negro porter, Booker T. Everheart, 17. They made Mrs. Badley stay in the bed where she was sleeping in the office.

Deputy Sheriff Dick Salter answered a disturbance call to the motel and was disarmed by the gunmen when he walked up.

The two escaped in two cars, one of which belonged to Salter.

Many troublesome noises in an automobile can be eliminated by general tightening of body bolts, spring shakies, and engine bolts.

Legion Membership Passes 1,000 Mark

The membership of the Woods W. Lynch Post 19 of the American Legion Saturday zoomed past the 1,000 mark for 1951.

Last year the Midland post gained its 1,000th member in June, and wound up with a membership of 1,111 for 1950, which was eighth highest in the state.

Floyd Rhoden, Legion adjutant, said 13 new members were added Saturday, bringing the total to 1,008. According to the last report from state headquarters, the Midland post ranked fifth in the state.

NEW GUINEA VOLCANO AGAIN BELCHES LAVA

Eight new eruptions occurred Saturday at Mt. Lamington, East New Guinea volcano, whose blasts killed an estimated 4,000 persons last week.

Reports from New Guinea said all natives had been removed from within a 16-mile radius of the belching mountain.

Devonian Oiler Is Finaled In Denton Area Of C-E Lea

HOBBS, N. M.—Ohio Oil Company No. 3 Denton, one location north of the discovery well of the Denton field of Central-East Lea County has been completed as a prolific producer from the Devonian at total depth of 12,117 feet.

The new oiler was potentiated for a calculated natural flow of 843 barrels of oil per day through a one-half-inch choke.

Operator set a packer at 11,574 feet and completed the well through perforations at 11,916-978 feet and at 11,986-12,044 feet.

The potential was based on an actual eight-hour flow of 281.5 barrels of 46.4-gravity oil. Tubing pressure was 175 pounds.

The No. 3 Denton first found Devonian production on a drillstem test at 11,275-11,405 feet.

Cored To TD

The project was cored to total depth and proved for 322 feet of pay.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 11-154-376.

The Texas Company No. 1-AN State, wildcat two miles north of production in the Saunders field of Central-West Lea County, has five and one-half-inch casing cemented on bottom at 9,905 feet in the Pennsylvanian.

Operator is to drill out cement, perforate casing and complete as a producer.

The No. 1-AN State found flowing oil in the Pennsylvanian on a drillstem test at 9,771-9,800 feet.

On the two-hour and 14-minute test, the 2,000-foot water blanket was to the surface in 35 minutes, mud in 42, gas in 45 and oil in 50 minutes. It was flowed to tanks for one hour and made 89 barrels of 42-gravity oil plus 30 per cent salt and sulphur water.

The gas was at the surface at the estimated rate of 2,900,000 cubic feet per day. Flowing pressure ranged from 3,400 to 3,275 pounds. Shutin pressure after 20 minutes was 3,550 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 22-144-336 and 18 miles northwest of Lovington.

Potential Slated

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 2 Caudle, assured one-mile west extension to the Bagley-Hightower multipay field, is at total depth of 11,068 feet in the Devonian and shutin to take potential test.

The expected Devonian producer also developed flowing production from the Pennsylvanian when that formation was drilled.

The last production test at the No. 2 Caudle was after perforations at 11,012-11,045 feet were washed with 3,000 gallons of acid.

The well kicked off and flowed without swabbing and made 43.47 barrels of oil in four hours through a one-half-inch choke. It was then swabbed for 19.32 barrels of oil in two hours.

Gravity of the oil recovered was 44.3 degrees.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 3-123-336 and 13 miles west of Tatum.

Sharples Oil Corporation of Midland and Denver No. 1 Seth Alston, wildcat in North-Central Lea County, is drilling below 9,990 feet in Hueco limestone.

Hueco DST

The latest drillstem test in the exploration was from 9,579-9,581 feet in the Hueco. Tool was open one and one-half hours. Recovery was 49 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water. Flowing pressure was zero. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 300 pounds.

The No. 1 Alston is correlated 391 feet high to the Hueco, which was topped at 9,500 feet to the same formation in Humble Oil & Refining.

Company No. 1-X State, a dry hole to the north.

Location of the No. 1 Alston is at the center of the southwest quarter of section 17-132-356 and 11 miles northwest of the Denton multipay field.

Twelve miles north and slightly west of the Chisum field of South-Central Chaves County, Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 McConkey estate, is drilling below 5,914 feet in the Pennsylvanian after failing to find production on a drillstem test of that formation at 5,888-5,914 feet.

The tester was open for two hours. Recovery was 1,000 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Flowing pressure ranged from 2,100 to 1,700 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was zero. Another drillstem test was made from 5,840-5,914 feet. Tool was open one hour and 45 minutes.

No Shows

The recovery was 140 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Location of the 6,500-foot wildcat is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10-96-266.

Franklin, Aston & Fair No. 1 Orchard Park, nine miles south of Roswell and in South-Central Chaves County, is drilling below 5,488 feet in a shale and granite.

The prospector was slated to be drilled to 8,500 feet or granite. No shows of production have been reported from the exploration.

Exact location is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 22-125-256.

Chapman Is Named Manager Of Sun Land Department

George W. Chapman has been named manager of the land department for Sun Oil Company's Southwest division with headquarters in Dallas.

He succeeds Sam M. Gladney, who has been both manager of the land department and assistant manager of the division. Gladney is now devoting full time to the post of assistant manager.

Chapman is a native of St. Johns, Mich., and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He has been with Sun Oil for 21 years.

Before joining Sun Oil, Chapman worked for Shell Oil Company, Oil Well Supply Company and Barnsdall Oil Company.

He was assistant manager of the land department in charge of East and South Texas for Sun Oil for six years.

Dallas Firm Seeks Pipe Line Permit

SALT LAKE CITY.—P.—A Dallas, Texas, firm Friday filed with the Utah Public Service Commission for permission to construct and operate a 22,000,000 natural gas line from Aztec, N. M., to Salt Lake City.

The firm, Utah Pipe Line Company, proposes to serve natural gas to industrial consumers in the Salt Lake City area. Gas also would be piped off the main 392-mile line to small Utah and Colorado communities.

Fuel for the project would be obtained from the Angel's Peak, Blanco, Large and Glade areas in San Juan County, N. M. The firm estimates one trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves would be available.

Davis Is Moved To Edmonton District

R. C. Davis, former manager of the Hobbs district office of Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation, has been transferred to Edmonton, Canada, to be placed in charge of that district.

Possible Discovery From Spraberry Is Indicated In Howard

Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 1 S. D. Buchanan Northeast Howard County wildcat, indicated as a possible discovery from a Spraberry line on a drillstem test from 5,350-5,470 feet.

Recovery on the one hour and 20-minute test was 670 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 800 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud.

The Spraberry sand was topped at 5,010 feet, elevation 2,474 feet. No official top is available on the line section.

The exploration was drilled to 9,280 feet in the Ellenburger. That formation developed salt water. Operator had plugged the wildcat back to about 5,200 feet. The plug was drilled out to 5,740 feet and the above test made.

Operator will drill plug out to 5,600 feet and set casing and test the Spraberry further through perforations.

Location is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 25, block 31, T-1-N, T&P survey and two and one-half miles north of Coahoma.

Official Report Sets 8,300-Footer Explor In C-N Howard Area

It has been officially reported that R. E. Herrell will drill an 8,300-foot Pennsylvanian reef lime wildcat on a farmout from Standard Oil Company of Texas in Central-North Howard County.

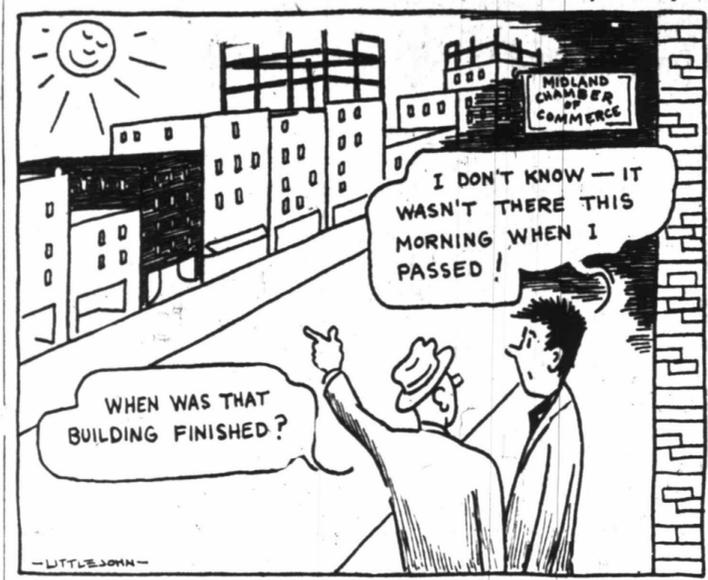

The prospector will be drilled two and one-half miles east of production in the East Vealmoor-Pennsylvanian field and three-quarters of one mile southeast of a dry hole abandoned in the Strawl at 8,323 feet.

The Herrell wildcat will be drilled as the No. 1 T. L. Griffin. The contractor destination will take the venture into the Strawl lime if production is not found in the reef.

Probable location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 35, block 25, H&C survey.

Operations will start at the drill-site within 30 days.

Kewanee To Dig Two Deep Wildcats In Kent Sectors

Kewanee Oil Company of Midland Tulsa will drill two deep wildcats in Kent County, one to explore the Pennsylvanian and the other to test the Ellenburger.

The Pennsylvanian exploration will be dug two miles north of the Salt Creek field, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11, block 1, H&ON survey and 12 miles northwest of Claiborne. It will be drilled as the No. 1 Oliver.

Projected depth is 7,800 feet.

Kewanee staked location for the Ellenburger wildcat, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 9, block 5, H&ON survey and 16 miles southwest of Claiborne. It is to be dug as the operator's No. 1-E Wild.

The 8,000-foot prospector is three-quarters of a mile south and one mile west of the nearest production in the East Polar-Pennsylvanian field in Southwest Kent County, and three-quarters of a mile northeast of the nearest production in the Connell-Say Andrews field.

Work is to start immediately on the two explorations.

Good Shows Of Oil Found In Spraberry Core At Upton Test

Ted Weiner, et al No. 1 Walter Braden, Spraberry wildcat in North-East Upton County, recovered five feet of sand and lime showing oil stains and some slight bleeding oil on a core taken from 7,000 to 7,005 feet.

Operator was preparing to set five-inch liner at the top of the Spraberry pay at 7,000 feet and then core ahead into the formation.

The Spraberry was topped at 6,980 feet, which is a datum of minus 4-265 feet. Some observers correlate it to be 264 feet high on the top of the Spraberry to the same marker in Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Lillie Midkiff, the discovery well of the Midkiff field six miles northwest of the No. 1 Braden.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of section 17, block 37, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Ellenburger Plugged Off In Midland Well; Finished From Lime

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2 Roy Parks, discovery well of the Parks-Ellenburger field in Central-West Midland County 11 1/2 miles southeast of the city of Midland, has plugged off the Ellenburger section and has been completed as a flowing producer from the Pennsylvanian lime.

An official Railroad Commission potential test gauge of 351.7 barrels of 44.3 gravity oil, and no water, was reported for this well from the Pennsylvanian pay. That zone is being produced through perforations in the casing at 10,395-445 feet.

That interval had been treated with 2,000 gallons of acid.

There was no water. Gas-oil ratio was 1,804-1.

On Production

The well has now been put on regular production from the Pennsylvanian pay.

Location is 660 feet from north and 2,180 feet from west lines of section 10, M. Daugherty survey.

This well was completed in early July 1950 as a flowing discovery from the Ellenburger in open hole at 12,944-970 feet.

It reported a 24-hour potential of 786 barrels of 54-gravity oil, flowing through a small choke. There was no water with the oil produced on the completion test.

The well had tested for 262.4 barrels of oil in three hours, flowing through a three-quarter inch tubing choke, prior to the potential test in the Ellenburger.

However, soon after the well was put on regular production it started making some water, and during recent months it is reported to have shown an increase in the water yield.

After Magnolia drilled its No. 1 H. S. Collins, the north offset to the No. 2 Parks, and found water along with oil in the top of the Ellenburger, executives of that concern concluded that the Parks and Collins wells were apparently on the edge of the Ellenburger structure in that region.

The Collins well was plugged back and completed as a good producer from the Pennsylvanian and then the operator decided to follow suit with No. 2 Parks.

Ellenburger Pay

Evidence developed by the No. 2 Parks, No. 1 Collins, and by Magnolia No. 1 Timmerman, about two and three quarter miles to the southeast, and by Ralph Lowe No. 1 Hill, about six miles northeast of the Parks discovery, seem to indicate that there is an Ellenburger pay section somewhere in that region.

It appears that all the wells in that area which have gone to the Ellenburger have apparently been on or near the edge of the Ellenburger reservoir.

It is likely that future drilling

The Herrell wildcat will be drilled as the No. 1 T. L. Griffin. The contractor destination will take the venture into the Strawl lime if production is not found in the reef.

Probable location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 35, block 25, H&C survey.

Operations will start at the drill-site within 30 days.

NE-C Dawson Test Shows Oil On DST

James H. Snowden No. 1-30 Carrie S. Dean, Northeast - Central Dawson County wildcat, developed 90 feet of free oil and 705 feet of oily, muddy salt water on a drillstem test of the Spraberry at 7,376-7,414 feet.

Operator drilled the prospector to 7,437 feet after the above four-hour and five-minute test, and is now taking a drillstem test over the interval at 7,415-7,437 feet.

Previously the wildcat had been tested at 7,275-7,322 feet. Recovery was 5,700 feet of fluid, of which 300 feet was oil-cut mud, 750 feet of salt water and 4,650 feet of free oil.

The No. 1-30 Dean is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 30, block 1, J. Poltevant survey. Contract destination is 10,000 feet.

The same operators No. 1-32 Carrie S. Dean, two miles southeast of the No. 1-30 Dean, is at total depth of 8,590 feet in Pennsylvanian line preparing to take a drillstem test with packer set at 8,390 feet.

The top of the lime is at 8,392 feet, or a minus datum point of 5,661 feet.

The No. 1-32 Dean has already shown for a possible producer from the Spraberry at 7,273-7,313 feet. Its location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 32, block 1, J. Poltevant survey.

Red Wash Wildcat Marks Discovery Of Fourth Utah Field

VERNAL, UTAH.—The California Company said Saturday its Red Wash wildcat oil well has flowed on test at the rate of 275 barrels per day.

This apparently gives the firm a producing well, and marks discovery of Utah's fourth commercial oil field. Others are at Ashley Valley, Uintah County; Roosevelt Uintah and Duchesne Counties, and Boundary Buttes in Ben Juan County.

The Red Wash well, located some 35 miles southeast of here, is at a depth of 5,770 feet.

Two Spraberry Discoveries Finaled In Midland

Well Log Specialist To Address AIME Meet On Monday

A large attendance is expected at the January dinner meeting of the Permian Basin section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers to be held in Midland Monday night.

Hubert Guyod, Houston consulting engineer will be the speaker. His subject will be, "Electrical Log Interpretations of Limestone Reservoirs."

He has an international reputation, is internationally experienced and is recognized as an outstanding authority on the subject he will discuss.

Geologists Invited

All members of the West Texas Geological Society, and other geologists and geophysicists of the Permian Basin territory have been invited by officers of the AIME organization to attend the Monday night meeting.

Guyod is a graduate of the St. Etienne School of Mines in France. He was associated with Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation for 13 years. During that service he worked in France, Germany, Rumania, North Africa and in the United States.

Kewanee To Dig Two—

Central-South Martin County wildcat.

Casing, which is set at 7,525 feet in the Spraberry, is perforated at 7,460-70, 7,502-07 and at 7,519-25 feet.

The possible Spraberry opener was hydraulized through the latter two sets of perforations.

The prospector had been swabbed through the perforations at 7,502-07 feet and at 7,519-25 feet and at 7,460-70 feet after the hydraulic treatment.

The well made 17 barrels of new oil in three and one-half hours through the last set of perforations.

Location is 960 feet from north and east lines of section 44, block 37, T&P survey and nine miles west of Stanton.

Shallow Wildcat Is Staked In Crockett

Gar-Ter Drilling Corporation of Fort Worth has set location for a 2,500-foot wildcat in Northwest-Crockett Crockett County, 20 miles northwest of Ozona.

The concern's No. 1 University will be 330 feet from south and east lines of section 27, block 45, University survey.

Work will start on the shallow prospector as soon as location is cleared and rig is up.

Schleicher Discovery To Cut 20-Foot Core

Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Forest Runge, North-Central Schleicher County discovery, two and three-quarters miles from the opener of the Huldale-Strawn field, was preparing to core 20 feet deeper at last report.

The present bottom of the explorer is 5,624 feet in the Strawn. The possible discovery flowed from three to four barrels of new oil per hour natural, from perforated section in the lime at 5,614-22 feet.

The flow was through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio was 1,000 to 1.

Exact location is 960 feet from south and west lines of section 66, block M, GHASA survey.

C-SE Hale Test Is Drilling Ahead

Ray A. Albaugh of Midland has sprayed and is drilling below 3,363 feet in lime and anhydrite on his No. 1 C. A. Robertson estate, location in Central-Southeast Hale County.

The project is located 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 3, block R, EL&RR survey.

Operator is drilling it under a permit from the Railroad Commission of Texas to go to 6,150 feet, which is calculated to take it into the Wolfcamp lime of the lower Permian.

The prospector is 12 miles southeast of Plainview and is 960 feet south of Albaugh's No. 1 Hornell, "mystery" wildcat on which no official information is available.

That project is reported to be shut down for orders. Current depth of the No. 1 Hornell has not been reported. Unofficial sources have rumored that it had developed some shows of possible production in the Wolfcamp and also in the Pennsylvanian lime.

Albaugh will neither confirm nor deny any of the rumors.

Pay Is Missed In Stonewall Offset

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Sparks, one location east of the discovery for Pennsylvania lime production at the same concern's No. 1 Edwards, which recently opened the Double Mountain field in Southwest Stonewall County

He left Schlumberger in 1940 and was employed by Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company for five years.

He resigned from that concern in 1946 and since then has been practicing as an independent consultant on well logging.

The Monday night session will start at 6:30 p.m. with a 30-minute get-together on the mesannine floor of Hotel Scharbauer.

Dinner will be served in the Crystal Ballroom of the hotel at 7 p.m. The Guyod address is slated to start at 7:45 p.m.

Reservations for the dinner should be made in advance.

Jack M. Moore, with Dowell, Inc., in Midland is the new chairman of the organization and will preside at the meeting.

Joe Chastain of Bethlehem Supply Company in Midland is vice chairman and will be in charge of the program. Ray Ousterhout, of Odessa, also with Dowell, Inc., is secretary-treasurer.

Midlanders may make advance reservation at $2.50 per person, with either Moore or Chastain.

Spraberry Projects In Midland Sectors Swabbing To Test

James H. Snowden and associates of Fort Worth No. 1-58 C. A. McClintic, possible Spraberry sand discovery in Northeast-Central Midland County, deepened from 7,249 feet to 7,259 feet and hydraulized from 7,239 to 7,256 feet.

Operator is now swabbing the prospect to test.

The last gauge before the above hydraulic treatment was two barrels of oil per hour on the swab.

The No. 1-58 McClintic had previously been hydraulized in open hole from 7,212 to 7,249 feet.

Location is 990 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 58, block 37, T&P survey, T-2-S, and about midway between the Germania and Tex-Harvey Spraberry fields.

NE Midland
W. W. Cumberland and Ted Weiner, No. 1-4 Powell, Northeast Midland County wildcat, 13 miles east and slightly north of the City of Midland and two miles northeast of the discovery well of the Germania field, is plugged back to total depth of 7,940 feet in the Spraberry swabbing to clean out and test.

Casing is perforated at 7,400-30, 7,600-30 and 7,900-40 feet.

The prospector was drilled to a total depth of 11,850 feet of that formation from 11,745 to 11,850 feet developed 7,200 feet of salt water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 11,740 feet. Elevation is 2,665 feet.

Location of the No. 1-4 Powell is at the center of the southwest quarter of section 4, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Oil Industry Gets Early Start For Another Year Of Setting New Records

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON—(AP)—The oil industry is off to an early start for another record-smashing year.

National crude and distillate production last week passed the 6,000,000 barrels per day mark for the first time in history. Crude processed at refineries exceeded 6,500,000 barrels a day for the first time.

A new Texas record placed its crude flow only 1,200 barrels short of 2,700,000 a day.

New records within the production and refinery phases of the industry all but became monotonous last year, although crude output was slightly below 1948 levels.

There is indication these record levels will continue to climb at least through February, or until the end of the winter oil heating fuels season.

After that, continuation of the upward trend probably will be controlled by national defense program requirements.

The annual review and forecast issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, trade publication, last week included numerous predictions of new full-year records to be established in 1961.

It estimates a 1961 production demand of 6,864,000 barrels a day, six per cent above 1960. Its crude output forecast is 5,770,000 barrels a day, as compared with 1948 record average of 5,514,000.

The magazine also said a survey among the nation's oil companies, large and small, indicates a belief sufficient steel goods will be available this year to permit drilling 43,843 new wells. The industry drilled a record 43,279 last year.

National crude production last week averaged 6,661,350 barrels a day, exceeding the previous high set in September by 113,050 barrels. Output the same week last year averaged only 4,962,300 a day.

Crude sent to refinery stills soared 5. Cunniffing in the Cogdell field of Central-North Scurry County.

It is located 2,041 feet from west and 487 feet from south lines of section 61, block 97, H&TC survey and eight miles north of Snyder.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 7,300 feet beginning immediately.

In the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of Southwest Scurry County, The Devonian Company will begin immediate operations on its No. 1 Canning.

Drillite is 330 feet from south and east lines of section 125, block 25, H&TC survey and 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

Projected depth is 6,800 feet with rotary tools.

Jack M. Moore

Joe Chastain

Ray Ousterhout

AIME OFFICERS—Jack M. Moore is the chairman of the Permian Basin Section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers for 1951. Joe Chastain is vice chairman, and Ray Ousterhout is secretary-treasurer. They will have charge of the meeting of the organization to be held in Midland Monday night.

Washington Oil-Railroad Commissioner Sees No Shortage Of Domestic Crude Oil

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
WASHINGTON—Texas officials see no shortage of domestic crude oil. Olin Culberson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, told this reporter in Washington:

"We can boost production 600,000 barrels daily more in Texas alone before reaching the most efficient rate of production. We can boost it even higher before we get to the maximum efficient rate."

The statement is significant because some in Washington have been crying crude oil shortage. In fact, Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman has the National Petroleum Council hard at work on a study of just how much more crude oil America could produce.

And the Petroleum Administration for Defense, in a recent report to the National Production Authority, said the gap between production and MER for the country as a whole is only 250,000 barrels daily.

The "crying need" according to Commissioner Culberson "is for additional, pipe line outlets for the crude oil production of West Texas. I want to say that and keep saying it. We have too much shut-in capacity there."

New Lines Planned
Gulf and four other oil companies plan a large diameter line from West Texas to the Gulf Coast, and Culberson said "that's going to be built." Whether defense needs might call for another line to the West Coast, for which two applications are pending with the government, Culberson could not say.

Culberson came to Washington for a meeting with government officials recently on methods by which crude producers and state regulatory agencies could aid the mobilization effort.

The problem, it was explained to officials of all the producing states who were on hand, is to make a pound of steel produce the most oil possible this year. This was the explanation of Richard Lawton, director of the production division of the PAD.

"If the states take steps to carry out this type of effort, there may be no need for the federal government to do so. If they don't, the federal government may have to issue certain directives."

Gen. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, who attended, hailed the meeting as a genuine effort to achieve cooperation and highly successful.

Lawton, an independent oil producer from Magnolia, Ark., came to Washington about a month ago. Steel For Wildcaters

Recently, it was announced that the PAD and National Production Authority officials had agreed that enough steel to drill 44,000 oil wells this year, an all-time record, would be made available to oil producers.

Under any such program, according to Culberson, "we must take care of the wildcat. He was caught short of steel during the last war. I don't want that to happen again. I urged at this meeting that we set aside at least five per cent of tubular goods and casing for the wildcat."

A utilization program for oil fields over the country is a prime method of getting the most oil for the steel used, according to Lawton.

"In Scurry County this is particularly true," he said. "Where else can you accomplish so much in the way of getting more oil for a pound of steel, and higher ultimate recovery of oil by utilization than in Scurry County."

Barnhart Resigns As GM For Frankels To Go On His Own In Oil

Paul F. Barnhart, Houston oil man who is well known in the Permian Basin has gone into business for himself as a consulting engineer and independent operator.

He has opened offices in the Commerce Building in Houston.

Since February 1, 1942 Barnhart had been associated with Frank and George Frankel, independent oil operators as general manager of their operations.

Was With Frankels
During that almost eight years Barnhart is credited with having assisted the Frankels in developing substantial oil producing properties, and in acquiring other large tracts of leases in possible oil producing areas.

He will continue to act as a consultant for the Frankel operations. Barnhart graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1937 as a petroleum engineer. He was employed by Barnhart Oil Company from the time of his graduation until he joined the Frankels in 1942.

Wide Experience
During his work in the oil business he has had direct experience in supervision of the acquiring, drilling and production operations, as well as administration of many properties developed in Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

At present he is operating in West Texas and Northeast Colorado in the Denver-Julesburg Basin, besides having other interests in the Gulf Coast of Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Barnhart is vice president and director of the Independent Petroleum Association of America for the Southeast Texas Area and is a member of the A.I.M.E., A.P.I., and other professional societies. Director Of Economy Commission To Take Over On February 1

AUSTIN—(AP)—Dr. Stuart MacCorkle, director of the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs, will take over as executive director of the Texas Economy Commission on February 1.

The University of Texas Board of Regents Saturday paved the way for Dr. MacCorkle's job change by granting his leave of absence from the faculty. He is a professor in government.

The Economy Commission was appointed last year by Governor Shivers to shape a program for achieving efficient and economical state government.

Both New Oilers Completed As Flowing Wells

Official completions have been reported for two new wildcat discoveries in East Midland County. Both new field openers are getting their petroleum from the Spraberry section of the Permian.

The new oilers are about eight miles apart. One of them—Ted Weiner and associates, No. 1-16 Driver is 22 miles southeast of the city of Midland and approximately seven miles south of the Tex-Harvey field.

The other—Barnett, Hanson & Sweeney of Roswell, N. M., (formerly General American Oil Company) No. 1-A Winkelman is 12 miles southeast of the city of Midland and one and one-quarter miles west of the closest producing oil wells in the Tex-Harvey pool.

That Tex-Harvey area also produces from the Spraberry pay. 303.62 BOPD

Ted Weiner and associates No. 1-16 Driver, located at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 16, block 37, T&P survey, T-4-S, reported an official Railroad Commission potential test gauge of 303.62 barrels of 37.1-gravity oil, flowing through an 8/16-inch tubing choke.

The production from that discovery came from open hole at 7,110-7,325 feet. That section had been hydraulized and had also been shot with 512 quarts of nitroglycerin.

The 303.62 barrels of oil produced by Weiner's No. 1-16 Driver on the completion test in 24 hours was cut with three per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 615-1.

The well is now on regular production.

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1-E TXL, one-half of a mile due west of the Weiner No. 1-16 Driver, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 17, block 37, T&P survey, T-4-S, had spudded to 237 feet in red beds and shale, and has cemented 13/8-inch surface casing at that point.

The plug will be drilled out and operator will start making new hole early in the week. Tri-Service Drilling Company has the rotary contract on this stepout. 59 BOPD

Barnett, Hanson & Sweeney of Roswell, N. M., (formerly carried as General American Oil Company), No. 1-A Winkelman, one and one-quarter miles west of the Tex-Harvey field, and 662 feet from north and 664 feet from east lines of the southeast quarter of section 18, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S, reported an official Railroad Commission potential test gauge of 59 barrels of 42-gravity oil, flowing through a 15/64-inch tubing choke, with a shakeout of eight-tenths of one per cent water.

Gas-oil ratio was 900-1. The potential test was a full 24-hour gauge. The production came from open hole between the bottom of the 1 1/2-inch casing cemented at 7,931 feet and the plugged back total depth of 8,077 feet. Top of the pay is at 7,952 feet in the Spraberry. The pay had been shot with 301 quarts of nitroglycerin. This exploration drilled to a bottom of 8,691 feet in the lower Permian.

After finding no shows for possible commercial production in the lower zone it was plugged back to the present bottom of 8,077 feet for the completion effort.

Directors Of PPC To Propose Split

NEW YORK—(AP)—Directors of Phillips Petroleum Corporation will propose to the annual stockholders' meeting April 24 for a 2-for-1 split of the common stock.

The proposal provides for increasing the number of authorized common shares to 15,000,000 from the present 10,000,000.

The board authorized calling for redemption $15,000,000 principal amount of the company's $75,000,000 original issue of 2 3/8 per cent debentures due 1974, of which $1,268,600 principal amount already have been converted into common stock.

K. S. Adams, president, in a statement estimated that the company in 1960 earned approximately $2,000,000, equal to $8.50 a share. This compared with $4,514,000, or $7.36 a share, in 1949.

All the company's facilities now are producing at capacity, Adams said.

Rhodes Is New Gulf Executive

Ralph O. Rhodes has been appointed to the newly created post of executive assistant to the vice president of the production department of Gulf Oil Corporation of Pittsburgh, Pa.

B. F. Hake was appointed chief of the land and exploration department.

Gulf also announced that John Shaw had been elected as assistant treasurer in the Pittsburgh office.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Mama George

Minnibell was the name of Daddy Ringtail's yellow cat. All of Minnybell's kittens had gone out in the Great Forest to seek their fortune, except one of the kittens had not gone away. That was the kitten who was black all over with a long black tail and long black whiskers. Yes, and the kitten had grown up at last to be a cat.

For a long, long time, Mugwump Monkey had called the kitten by the name of George. Mugwump gave the kitten the name of George to be an honor for George who was a duck with white George feathers. The kitten was black, you know, and the duck was white, and so it was an extra special honor for George.

the duck; to have a black kitten who had the same name.

George, the duck, did a lot of quacking about it. Yes, he was just about the proudest duck that you ever saw. It isn't every duck, of course, who has a kitten who has his name.

By WESLEY DAVIS

When Mugwump went out to call the cats to get their milk, Mugwump would call out loud: "Here Minnybell! Here Minnybell!" But Mugwump called the loudest of all when he was calling the kitten whose name was George. "Here, George! Here, George!" Mugwump would call. And the kitten would come, and George, the duck, would be very proud.

Oh, but one day—George the kitten who was now a cat came home with three little kittens behind him. They were walking straight in a line one right after the other, and each of them held a long black tail up high in the air, trying to be like George, the cat who was their mother.

Oh-oh. Whoever heard of a mother, even a cat, who had the name of George? Nobody had ever heard about it, and so it seemed that George, the cat, would have to have a different name. Yes, but what would George, the duck, have to say about that? Mugwump didn't want to hurt his feelings.

Well, Mugwump decided that George, the cat, could have a new name of Mama George. That would make it all right for her to have the kittens, and she still would have a name of George to make the duck whose name was George quite happy. Yes, and George, the duck, was very happy. He felt like a grandfather, almost. Happy day!

Southwest Cage Leaders Collide In Crucial Tilts

The leaders fight it out this week in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Texas A&M and Texas Christian, tied for second place, gang up on pace-setting Texas.

The Longhorns, unbeaten in conference play, take on Texas A&M at College Station Wednesday night and tackle Texas Christian at Austin Saturday night.

A&M and TCU each has a 3-1 record, Texas 4-0.

Two more conference games also are on the schedule and it could be a triple tie for the lead will result from the week's fireworks.

Tuesday night, Texas Christian plays Baylor at Waco and Saturday night, Arkansas engages Texas A&M at College Station.

Intersectional Tests
A couple of intersectional tests occupy Arkansas and Southern Methodist. Arkansas plays Tulane at Little Rock Thursday night and Southern Methodist engages Tulsa at Dallas Saturday night.

Texas Christian plays Howard Payne of the Texas Conference at Fort Worth Monday night. Rice meets Sam Houston State of the Lone Star Conference at Houston Thursday night.

There was little action in the conference last week with only two games being played, neither counting in the championship race. Texas Christian made its season record 10-5 by licking Lackland Air Force Base 54-44, and Baylor lost to Oklahoma City University 52-48 in an overtime game.

The conference standings:

	W	L	Pct
Texas	4	0	1.000
Texas A&M	3	1	.750
Texas Christian	3	1	.750
Southern Methodist	3	3	.500
Arkansas	3	3	.500

Webb Due To Arrive Here Sunday; Boxes Go On Sale Monday

Harold Webb, co-owner with H. W. Donohoo of the Midland Indians baseball club, was scheduled to arrive here Sunday from Fort Worth to lay plans for the 1951 baseball season.

The Midland baseball owners will start sale of box seats at 9 a.m. Monday at Indian Park, West Highway 80.

Midland fans this year will be asked to buy 30 general admission tickets with four-chair boxes and 50 of the general admission ducats with six-chair boxes. The owners gave the rising cost of operation as the reason for this.

Webb is expected to announce the plans for the 1951 Indians roster soon after arriving here. Pitcher Eddie Jacome, a righthanded veteran, was purchased recently from Longview. Jacome, a 22-game winner with Vernon in 1949, is the first player signed for the 1951 season.

Westerners Pace 3-AA Cage Teams

Lubbock on top; Midland at the bottom; Lamesa, Big Spring and Odessa sandwiched in between.

That's the way the 3-AA basketball race is stacking up. The Westerners are unbeaten in four district contests. Lamesa dropped one of five-to league-leading Lubbock.

In games last week, Lamesa added a pair of victories by taking Odessa 27-22 and defeating Midland 48-47. Odessa also dropped to Big Spring, falling 37-35. Lubbock was idle.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct
Lubbock	4	0	1.000
Lamesa	4	1	.800
Big Spring	3	2	.600
Odessa	1	4	.200

Midland To Face Andrews In Tourney; 22 Teams To Enter

ODESSA—Twenty-two West Texas High School basketball teams are expected to enter the Odessa High School Invitational Cage Tournament which starts here Thursday morning. Play will continue Friday and Saturday, with the finals Saturday night.

First-round losers will open play in a consolation bracket. The consolation games will be played in the old Odessa High School gym. The championship tilts will be played in the new Odessa gym.

Midland and Andrews play the first game of the tournament, opening up at 8:30 a.m. Thursday. Denver City and Odessa clash at 9:50 a.m. Lubbock and Kermit tangle at 11:10 a.m. with San Angelo and Wink getting together at 12:30 p.m.

The Fran-Abernathy tilt starts the afternoon's play at 1:50 p.m. Brownwood test Odessa at 3:10 and Stanton and Big Spring vie at 4:30. Seminole plays Marfa at 6:10 p.m., then the winner of the Odessa-Denver City game takes Brownfield at 8:50 p.m. to end the first day's play. The winner of the Lubbock-Kermit clash will tangle with Leveland at 7:30 p.m. in the next-to-last game of the opening day action.

Teams other than Brownfield and Leveland drawing first round byes are Crane, Monahans, Fort Stockton, Pecos, Lamesa and McCamey.

Stanton Buffs Whack Coahoma Five 48-39

STANTON—Coach Leo Field's Stanton Buffs swept to their thirteenth straight basketball victory here Friday night, defeating the visiting Coahoma Bulldogs 48-39. The win gave Stanton a record of nine wins without defeat in conference competition.

Coached by Gerald Koonce who scored 14 points, and Kenneth Henson who tabbed 11 markers, Stanton went in front 17-8 at the quarter and held a 35-22 margin at halftime. The Buffs ran it up to 43-31 at the three-quarter mark and coasted in to win.

Joe Golding Given Five-Year Contract At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — Joe Golding, who has coached the Wichita Falls High School football team to the Class AA championship for two straight years, had a five-year contract Saturday.

His contract — which had two years to run — Friday night was extended three more years and he was given a "substantial" salary increase. Under his old contract he received approximately $6,500 per year.

School authorities gave six assistant coaches new one-year contracts.

Crockett Teams Win Two Tilts Saturday

Crockett Elementary grabbed the spotlight in the Midland Elementary Basketball League Saturday morning, taking decision in both sixth and fifth grade games.

The Crockett fifth grade team defeated South fifth 18-10. Gary Samford scored eight points for the winners. Frank Parkse also tallied eight and Larry Parks tabbed two. Barton Jones led the South cagers, scoring four points. Wayne Kaiser, John Williams and Billie Farris scored two points each.

Fred Springer's four points led the losers, with James Tom and Jack Wilkinson scoring three points each.

Not to be outdone, the Crockett sixth also won by an 18-10 count, bumping North Elementary. Big Jim Owen scored eight points to pace the Crockett attack. Five boys scored two points each for Coach Jimmy Williams' five. They were: Tommy Freeman, Gaylon Howard, David Cunningham, James York and Keith Crabtree.

Fred Springer's four points led the losers, with James Tom and Jack Wilkinson scoring three points each.

Latin American defeated the North Elementary fifth grade 10-2. L. O. Carmish scored the lone goal for the losers. Francisco Hernandez and Bennie Sanchez tallied four points each, with Lupe Hernandez scoring two points.

Bennie Rutherford's John M. Cowden Junior High sixth graders defeated the South Elementary 24-8, piling up a 9-0 halftime lead. Abundio Reyes tallied 10 points to be high for the week in Elementary circles. Don Henderson scored five, Arthur Adams five, Jack Crockett two and Gregory Smith two for the little Bulldogs.

S. L. Vann scored four, Jimmy Padgett two, Keith Jeffcoat two for South. Also playing for South were Dean Sole, Dennis Patton, Cecil Bradford, Autrey Decker, Ken Puett, Paul Cole and Jim O'Neal.

Lamesa Slips Up On Bulldogs 48-47

LAMESA—The Midland Bulldogs came within a swish of the net of winning their first 3-AA Conference basketball game in five starts here Friday night, but a desperation field goal by the Lamesa five nipped the Midland team 48-47.

It was a dilly of a ball game. The teams were even with 11 points each after the first quarter, Lamesa forged ahead 24-22 at halftime, led 34-32 at the end of the three-quarter mark, then came from behind 47-46 to win in the final second of play.

The tally was tied at 46-46 with but three seconds to play when Midland's Bob Burks stepped to the free throw line for a shot after being fouled, chucked it in and Midland was in front 47-46. But the Lamesa team tossed the ball up court, passed it to Jerry Millsaps and he arched a long looper toward the net.

Swish!

The scorekeeper said the gun had sounded. The timekeeper said the bucket was made first.

And so it was ruled, Lamesa 48, Midland 47.

Bob Burks, moved into the pivot slot for the first time this year, scored 17 points as did the Bulldog's Buddy Johnson. Dale Stice played a nice floor game for the Bulldogs, getting in some good passes to Burks at the pivot post. Prather paced the Lamesa team with 16 tallies.

Midland outscored the winners 16 to 15 in the field goal department, but fell at the free toss line. The Tornados scored 18 of 23 free shots while Midland could cash in but 15 of 27 gratis meshes. There never was more than four points difference in the score throughout the ball game.

The Shorthorn League was organized last year for boys from 12 to 15 years of age, with eight teams playing a 56-game schedule. Teams entered in the loop last year were the Comanches, Travelers, Bronchos, Roughnecks, Eagles, Bluejays, Westerns and Rebels. The Travelers won the championship in a playoff with the Roughnecks.

Ray Protzman, one of the founders of the Shorthorn League, is attending a junior baseball meeting in Dallas over the weekend, helping to organize boys' baseball over the state. He will make a report to the Midland group Monday night.

Shorthorn Loop Sets Monday Meet

Persons interested in boys baseball in Midland are urged to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Latin American Youth Center to formulate plans for the 1951 Shorthorn League.

Midland 'B' Bumps Lamesa Team 46-36

LAMESA—The Midland 'B' team easily defeated the Lamesa Bees here Friday night 46 to 36. The little Bulldogs never were behind in the contest.

Johnny Kennedy waxed hot at the free throw line to mesh points, and poked in four field goals for a total of 15 points. Bobby Culpepper tallied 13 for Midland. The Bulldog 'B' led with a 13-6 first-quarter bulge and were in front 22-18 at halftime. They increased it all the way to take the win.

Kid Gavilan Beats Paddy Young, Eyes Sugar Ray's Crown

NEW YORK — (AP) — Kid Gavilan look dead aim at the welterweight title with his Cuban bolo punch Saturday after his Friday night victory over middleweight Paddy Young of New York's Greenwich Village.

"If Ray Robinson steps down," said Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager, "we'll claim the title."

That's the big "if" in the Cuban Keed's future. Robinson beat him twice, once with the title at stake. There is little reason to believe Gavilan ever could reverse the score.

But Robinson must vacate the 147-pound throne if he wins Jake LaMotta's middleweight crown at Chicago February 14. Sugar Ray will be a big favorite to do just that.

There was a great variance in the scorecards of the officials for Gavilan's 10-rounder with Young at Madison Square Garden. Referee Mark Conn had it 4-4 with two even and six points for each. He voted draw. Judge Joe Agnello saw it 6-4 for Gavilan. Judge Arthur Suskind found for Gavilan by a lopsided 9-1 score. The AP card had it 5-4-1 for Gavilan and 8-4 in points.

HOMES FOR THE DISCRIMINATING BUYER IN ANY BRACKET

Within walking distance to elementary and high school. This newly-painted white frame home is going to be vacant very shortly. It has two bedrooms and a den, with lots of storage room via hidden stairway to attic. Summer will be here soon, and you'll enjoy the trees in the back yard. Shown by appointment only.

$18,500
This beautifully landscaped corner location is being paved on one side now, and will be paved on the other street in the near future. You will appreciate the living quarters in the garage should you have overnight guests. Back yard is fully fenced. The two bedrooms are spacious. Wall-to-wall carpeting in both living room and dining room. The kitchen is the best arranged one you have seen in a long time, and has a breakfast nook in one end. The automatic garbage disposal and dishwasher will allow you to spend more time in your favorite chair, enjoying the large living room. Shown by appointment only.

$42,000
If you have decided not to build, and want a comfortable home in a desirable location, phone for complete information about this one. All the features you would want in a 3-bedroom, 2-bath floor plan. The den is so spacious and comfortable, and the fireplace so inviting, that once you enter the room, somehow you hate to leave it. Shown by appointment only.

$11,800
Paving is in progress now, and already paid for. This two bedroom home, which was built less than three years ago, has had only one occupant, who has kept the interior immaculate. Carpeting in living and dining room combination. The bathroom contains built-in facilities for automatic washing machine. This home is ideal for the small family. Shown by appointment only.

Distinctive, Modern Design Highlights The Homes In

Crestview Heights Addition

Any way you look at them, the 69 two and three bedroom homes now being built in Crestview Heights are outstanding. From the outside, the distinctive modern styling places them in a class of their own. And viewed from the inside, the features include central heat, spun glass blanket insulation, tiled showers, tub bath, colored stucco interiors, cove ceilings, hardwood floors, rubber tile in kitchen and bath, all-steel enameled Murray cabinets, aluminum windows, venetian blinds, and many more excellent features. The homes are located on the highest ground in Midland, providing perfect drainage.

Some of these homes will be ready for occupancy within two weeks, with many others being finished in the very near future. All streets are being paved, concrete sidewalks, curbs and gutters are being installed. If you would like to purchase a home of exceptional value, we urge you to look over the advantages of Crestview Heights. It would be advisable to make your selection now, in order to be able to choose your own interior colors and decorative details. Payments on these lovely homes are considerably lower than rent. Regulation "X" does not apply to the sale of most of these homes, and all are approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS ON 2-BEDROOM HOMES AVERAGE

Including taxes, insurance, principal and interest.

To visit our field office, located in the edge of Crestview Heights, turn right as you pass the Ranch House restaurant on West Highway 80. Drive out today—we'll be glad to show you around! Telephone 3847 for further information.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS ON 3-BEDROOM HOMES AVERAGE

19 F.H.A. HOMES

Not Under Regulation "X"

If you are considering the purchase of a home, don't let this opportunity pass you by! Commitments to build these homes were issued by the Federal Housing Administration months ago, and as a result they are priced several hundred dollars under today's price for homes as nice as these. In fairness to yourself, we ask you to do this — drive out to our field office, let our sales representative show you plans, building sites and completed homes, and then COMPARE with any other homes in this price range. We firmly believe COMPARISON will "sell you on" a Cunningham home in Loma Linda! Make your selection now — and let us complete your new home while your F.H.A. loan is being processed.

Here Are Some Of The Many Reasons Why So Many Families Choose A CUNNINGHAM HOME IN LOMA LINDA:

- ★ Quality Materials Throughout
- ★ Slab Doors
- ★ Tile Bath and Kitchen
- ★ Venetian Blinds
- ★ Good Workmanship
- ★ Hardwood Floors
- ★ Choice of 2 or 3 Bedrooms
- ★ Central Heat
- ★ Casement Windows
- ★ Color Selection

Our Field Office Is Open Today

A sales representative will be on hand at our field office from 10:00 a.m. until dark daily, including Sunday, to show you around, discuss plans and explain how easy it is to own a new F.H.A. home. Just drive North on Big Spring to the "Loma Linda" sign, turn right on Oak Drive, then East two blocks to our field office, on the corner of Oak Drive and North Edwards Street.

YOUNG ARTISTS—A duet seems to be the order of the day, as the officers of the Young Artists Music Club gather round to witness the performance. At the keyboard are Wanda Burnside, secretary, and Martha Mast, reporter. Onlookers are Tommy Miller, the group's president, and Janice Hill, treasurer. The informal piano session is being held in the home of the club's sponsor, Mrs. G. J. Sevier. Now in its third year, the club has approximately 25 members.

Young Club Members

Club activity in Midland isn't limited to adult participation. Among the active organizations, junior style, are the Moment Musical, Bach, Young Artists' and Grand Staff Music Clubs, and the Young Sprouters and Little Diggers Garden Clubs.

Oldest of these junior groups is the Moment Musical, successor to the Robyn Club. Ned and Lydie Watson, who have been teaching in Midland 50 years, are the counselors for the organization which includes more than 60 members. The group meets at 11 a.m. each Saturday in the Watson Studio for business and a program. Former students of the school now are teaching in El Paso, Dallas and Abilene.

The Bach Club is the baby of the junior music groups. Organized in October, 1950, the group holds its weekly meetings on Monday. The members study composers, play musical selections, and once a month they present a program for their parents. The club has approximately 20 members and is a member of the National Federation of Junior Music Clubs.

Another federated music group is the Grand Staff Club, now in its sixth year of activity. The members present programs and study the lives of composers at their monthly meetings. Many will enter the federated music festivals in the Spring. The club has approximately 20 members.

This is an especially busy week for the members of the Young Artists Music Club. Their sponsor, Mrs. G. J. Sevier, will present her pupils in a recital at 4 p.m. Sunday in the educational building of the First Methodist Church. Co-sponsors of the organization are Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. W. N. Little.

Nature lore is no stranger to the members of the Young Sprouters Garden Club. A project of the Yucca Garden Club, the group has learned to identify birds, trees and many varieties of flowers. They also competed and received awards in both the junior and the adult divisions of the annual Fall Flower Show.

Like the Young Sprouters, the Little Diggers gave the adults some pretty serious competition in the recent flower show. The club has monthly meetings to discuss gardening and related subjects. The Little Diggers can put two candles on their birthday cake in February.

LITTLE DIGGERS—Marie Spiars, president of the Little Diggers Junior Garden Club, seems to be taking an interest in botany. Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Spiars, 1208 West Kansas Street. The object of her study is located in the yard of the club's sponsor, Mrs. Frank Stubbeman, 1502 West Texas Street. The club, which will celebrate its second birthday in February, meets at 4 p.m. on the third Thursday of each month. Officers not pictured are Vickie Hiltbold, secretary, and Clay Carson, reporter. There also are a number of appointive offices. The group, sponsored by the Midland Garden Club, has approximately 14 active members. During the meetings, members present programs and have open discussions. They plant their own gardens and in the Spring, pilgrimages are made to look at the gardens of other members. Several of the members won prizes in the flower show held last Fall.

Mrs. Charles Alfred Black, Jr.

Frances Puett Weds Charles Black, Jr.

In a single ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church Saturday night, Frances Puett became the bride of Charles Alfred Black, Jr. Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Puett, 612 West Storey Street. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Black of Wichita, Kansas.

Wallace Wimberly, organist, played a program of pre-nuptial music including "Serenade," Schubert; "I Love Thee," Orie; "Romance," Rubenstein, and "Calm as the Night," Bohm. He accompanied Allan W. Johnson who sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert; "Because," D'Hardelot, and "The Lord's Prayer," Albert Hay Molloy, and played "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn. "Clair de Lune" by Debussy was played during the ceremony.

The altar and choir rails were decorated with white gladioli and white maroon daisies. The vows were read before a background arrangement of flowers, ferns and candelabra. Candelabra and ribbons marked the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of ivory satin with a fitted bodice and long sleeves tapering to a point at the hands. The bertha collar, fastened to a yoke of illusion, was trimmed with a brocade and pearl design. The full gored skirt which extended into a cathedral train also was trimmed with brocade satin and seed pearls. Her veil fell to fingertip length from a calot fashioned of satin.

She carried a spray of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and centered with a horseshoe of Scotch heather.

Mariette Cowden was the bride's maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Shirley Cooper, Alma Faye Cowden, Jean McMillan and Jessica Turpin.

They were identically attired in dresses of mint green marquisette fashioned with short sleeves and shallow scooped necklines. Accenting the snugly-fitted bodice were bands of piping, extending down into the skirt which was bouffantly gathered. They carried sprays of pink carnations with caladium leaves.

Best man for his brother was Bard C. Black of Wichita. Ushers were George Johnston of Wichita; Tom Black of Wichita, brother of the bridegroom; Arvin D. Dillard, Jr., of Wichita Falls, and Roane Puett, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Puett, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a square necked dress of grey net over apricot taffeta. Her tulle hat was in matching tones of grey over apricot.

Reception in Crystal Ballroom
Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

A three-tiered wedding cake was placed on the table which was decorated with candelabra and arrangements of pink carnations and caladium leaves.

After February 15 the couple will be at home at 814 North Loraine Street.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School, Gulf Park College in Long Beach, Miss., and the University of Texas.

Black was graduated from Wichita High School East and the University of Texas where he was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He served as a lieutenant during World War II.

Out-of-city guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Black, Bard Black and Tom Black of Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. William H. Taylor and Bill Taylor of Fortress, Mr. and Mrs. David Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McClesney, Mrs. Russell McClesney, Carolyn McClesney and Russell Harwood of Brownsville, Nelson Puett, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Taylor and Wallace Harwood of Austin, and A. R. Harwood and Roane Harwood of San Antonio.

The Winter Art School of the Palette Club Art Center will be continued indefinitely with R. E. Cronyn as instructor. Cronyn is the new director and instructor of the Palette Club Art School.

Classes are held in the morning, afternoon and night six days a week.

R. E. Cronyn

Since some of the classes have become overcrowded the club has decided to expand.

A special class for boys and girls 10 years old or over will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. every Saturday. Students may work in any medium they desire.

The Art School is open to all residents of Midland.

Mrs. N. A. Lancaster will hold a meeting in her home Tuesday night to discuss Midland and its cultural trend relating to art. It is hoped a definite program can be mapped out relating to a new art museum for Midland and other art activities.

The club is making plans for a new sculpture class and the participation of Midland artists in a national traveling exhibition.

Hey, Fellows! Look What The Gals Think Of You

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

If some of these self-elected critics, who are always sounding off on what is wrong with America's women would take a long, close look at the American men they could really do a bang-up piece.

The number one fault, they'd have to admit, is that American men are so critical of American women. A woman may get annoyed or disgusted or critical of one man in particular—but in general American women really like men and find few faults with them as a group. But American men rarely have anything but criticism for women as a group.

Number two fault of American men is their insatiable appetite for flattery. It's gotten so bad that their spokesmen keep telling us: "Tell us we're wonderful all the time—or we'll find some other woman who will."

One-Who Street
Number three fault is their refusal to accept a fifty-fifty responsibility for making a marriage happy and successful. They rush a girl off her feet, marry her and then sit back and dare her to try and hold them. Whether the marriage flourishes or flounders is entirely her responsibility.

Then there is that little matter of dullness. All too often the American husband is a good fellow away from home, a genial host if there are guests, but a mighty dull companion when there is no one around but the little woman.

Alone with his loving spouse he can't even be bothered to make conversation, and his home manners are a sorry sight compared with his office and social manners. Any man who doesn't believe these are fairly typical faults of the American husband ought to see the letters that come to me from wives.

Midlander Attends Gemological School In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—It is only within a jeweler's window that the great majority of the American public ever gets a view of the world's hardest known substance—the diamond. Thus a visit through the Southern California Diamond Works, where the rough grayish crystal finally emerges as a fully faceted, brilliant mirror of fire, was a recent thrilling experience of Frank Hawk, of Hughes Jewelry Company, Midland, Texas.

Hawk for the last three weeks has been attending a resident class at the International Headquarters of the Gemological Institute of America, Los Angeles, where he is enrolled under the GI Bill of Rights in a course covering the science of gemology.

Minerals and Gemstones While in Southern California, he also has had the opportunity to examine the institute's fine collection of minerals and gemstones, typical of those found in the average jewelry store, and to compare them with the numerous imitations and substitutes which easily are confused with the genuine by the unformed.

The courses which Hawk is studying not only are the most comprehensive courses on gems, but also the only courses in which the diamond is intensively studied. The institute is unique in the nation, and in the world, with its own laboratories and exclusive teaching and operating staff. Men in 17 countries are enrolled in, or have completed the courses. These include jewelers, mineralogists, and gem hobbyists, some of whom first had obtained all the available instruction offered in Europe.

Pioneer Reports Big Increases in 1950

DALLAS—Business increases in all categories in 1950 over 1949, ranging from 17 to 74 per cent, have been reported for Pioneer Air Lines by Harding L. Lawrence, vice president of traffic and sales.

A grand total of 132,159 passengers were transported by Pioneer during 1950, which represents a 27 per cent increase over the 104,112 transported in 1949 and a 44 per cent increase over the 93,855 carried in 1948.

Passenger-miles, (passengers times miles carried) leaped from 28,295,833 in 1949 to 37,927,797 in 1950, for a gain of more than 34 per cent, Lawrence said.

Air mail, air express and air freight ton-miles increased 17 per cent, 48 per cent and 74 per cent, respectively, in 1950 over 1949, the official pointed out.

Air mail ton-miles in 1949 amounted to 85,148 while in 1950, 99,388 ton-miles were transported.

Cecil Cothrun

He has been named a member of the State Affairs Committee of the Texas organization and a member of the National Lumbermen's Association.

There are 16 members on the state committee, with five of them being ex-presidents of the state association. Of the ten members on the national committee, only two are from Texas. Cothrun also is on the Executive Committee of the national organization. The Pecos lumberman has been in the lumber business only a year and a half. However, he has been in the contracting business several years.

REGISTRATION AT TEXAS WESTERN

EL PASO—Registration for the Spring semester at Texas Western College begins at 1 p.m. Monday and total enrollment is expected to exceed 2,000 students. Although a definite drop in enrollment over the Fall semester is forecast for colleges over the nation because of world conditions, President W. H. Elkins expressed the belief Texas Western's drop this Spring will be small.

Pulitzer Prize Winning Comedy Will Open Here Wednesday

"Harvey," the Pulitzer prize winning comedy written by Mary Chase, will open Wednesday night in the City-County Auditorium. It will be presented by the Community Theater through Saturday.

A special performance will be given Tuesday night for negroes.

This is a play about an imaginary rabbit, and his constant companion, an ingratiating tippler.

Thirst For Bar Rooms
Elwood P. Dowd, played by Norris Creath, is a gentle bachelor with a thirst for bar-rooms and people. He traded the reality of the world for the illusion of a rabbit with no regrets.

Norris Creath previously has been seen in "Ladies In Retirement," "Kiss And Tell," "State of the Union," "Junior Miss," "On Borrowed Time" and others.

Veta Louise, played by Mary Margaret Corbett, is Elwood's bewildered sister who isn't so unlike Elwood that she hasn't seen a glimpse or two of Harvey herself, however she does not appreciate making up a bed and setting a place at the table for him.

Embarrassed Young Woman
Myrtle Mae, played by Betty Gaines, is an eligible young lady who finds it embarrassing to have Uncle Elwood presenting Harvey to her tea party guests.

Others in the play are Wally Jackson as Dr. William Chumley; Walter Beardsley, Dr. Sanderson; Betty Simpson, Ruth Kelly; Claude Neely, Marvin Wilson; Myrl Thompson, Judge Omar Gafney; Mrs. M. O. Gibson, Mrs. Ethel Chauvenet; Virginia Bedeaux, Betty Chumley and Bob Goff, E. J. Lofgren.

Stanley Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arch M. Stanley of Midland recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Stanley.

The table was covered with a hand-crocheted table cloth over a gold spread. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with golden bells was the centerpiece. The table was lighted by white candles spiraled with gold feathering and surrounded with gold giddiols.

Mrs. Stanley was presented a corsage of yellow roses. Members of the house party wore yellow carnation corsages.

Approximately 90 persons attended.

After the open house a family reunion dinner was held. Dinner was served to 89 relatives including nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Stanley. The Stanleys have 20 grandchildren, the twentieth one being born on their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley were married in 1901 in Itasca. They came to Midland in November of 1925. Before coming to Midland they lived in Childress and Winters.

Employment Agency Opened At Kermit

KERMIT—Service Officer Lyndon F. Webb of Winkler County, who has confined his labors to helping solve veterans' problems, now will help anyone find a job.

Lyndon was placed in charge of a county-sponsored employment agency. It was announced last week by County Judge W. E. Cook.

"We believe it will be a service to both employers and those who need work," said Judge Cook.

"Any employer needing personnel is requested to file his needs with Webb and every effort will be made to locate someone for the job."

There are more than 6,000 different items usually on display at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

NPA Restrictions Will Be Explained

K. E. McFarland, superintendent of inspections for the City of Midland, will attend meetings Monday in Odessa in which the latest information on U. S. restrictions on commercial construction will be given.

McFarland said he was informed there will be two sessions, in the Elliott Hotel, at 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

In charge of the meetings will be T. U. Purcell, manager of the district's National Production Administration office at El Paso.

The meetings will be open to all persons, an NPA representative said here Friday.

Solemnity Marks Supreme Court's Weekly Sessions

AUSTIN—(AP)—The most dignified—almost hallowed—spot in the state capitol is up on the third floor where the State Supreme Court sits in solemn deliberation.

All may be bedlam down below in the House and Senate on the second floor.

But at the stroke of nine on each Wednesday morning, the nine members of the Supreme Court gather in their consultation room, march around the rotunda in the middle of the Capitol and file into the courtroom in the north wing.

"Oyez, oyez, the honorable Supreme Court of the State of Texas is now in session, pursuant to adjournment," cries the clerk at the door.

The court has been sitting in session in Austin since Jan. 13, 1840, in the days of the Republic of Texas.

"There's been no break in continuity," said Chief Justice John E. Hickman. "New judges—they filter in, but the court goes right on. There's been no change in policy, and our policy is just trying to find out what the law is."

Each Monday Morning

The chief justice and eight associate justices meet each Monday morning for consultation on applications for cases to be heard before their court. In a year's time they handle five to six hundred of these applications, known as writs of error, on appeal from a court of civil appeals. The court must decide whether it will grant a writ of error and hear the case.

Each Tuesday morning the court meets again to discuss opinions. Each case is assigned to a judge; he studies the case, sometimes for months, and then writes an opinion. This opinion is passed around to the other judges. If five of the nine members agree with the opinion, it is then ordered by the court.

Each Wednesday morning the court assembles in its courtroom and announces its decisions. After that, it listens to oral arguments from lawyers on cases. Just lawyers—no witnesses—appear before the court.

The rest of the week is left for research and study.

"Here we have opinions that have been delivered on every question in the English-speaking world. They have been the balance rules of equity and justice through the years.

"Sometimes a ruling works a hardship. But laws must be universal."

Goes To Highest Court

Once a case has been decided by the State Supreme Court there is no appeal except in a case where a man believes his rights of freedom under the federal Constitution have been deprived. Then he goes to the U. S. Supreme Court.

"Very rarely has the United States Supreme Court reversed the State Supreme Court," Justice Hickman said. "I recall once in the past 15 years in the case of a labor organizer who did not have a certificate of permit under the state law."

The Court of Criminal Appeals handles all criminal cases such as murder, rape and assault. The Supreme Court handles all else—personal injury workman's compensation, land title, oil litigation, condemnation, and breach of contracts.

"A kaleidoscopic view of the whole of human living comes before us every week," Justice Hickman said.

"Instead of being very dull, it is very exciting."

Justice Hickman went on the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland in 1927. In 1935 he became a member of the Commission of Appeals, which worked with the State Supreme Court, then composed of only three members. In 1945 the State Supreme Court was enlarged to nine members and Hickman was named to the court. He was named chief justice in 1948.

Other members are John H. Sharp, Graham Best Smiley, Few Brewster, Will Wilson, Robert H. Calvert, Clyde E. Smith, W. St. John Garwood and Meade Griffin.

The Latin words inscribed in gold on the front of their bench, translated into English words, mean: "As to our fathers, may God be to us."

Services For Former Rankin Resident Are Held In Big Lake

RANKIN—Funeral services for V. F. (Arky) Gildewell, former Rankin resident, were held in Big Lake Wednesday, the body being sent to Fynewick, Ark., for interment Friday. The Rev. A. B. Nealey and the Rev. A. B. Lightfoot officiated.

Gildewell, 68, died Tuesday in a Big Lake hospital. He was a trucking contractor.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. C. M. Jenkins of Odem; three sons, John Aubrey, Douglas Benton and Francis O., all of Big Lake, and a granddaughter. He also is survived by his father, four brothers and a sister.

+Rankin News+

RANKIN—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wheeler, Mrs. R. O. White, Bill Moore, Mrs. R. C. Schlagal, Mrs. Harold Snell and Mrs. Bud Hurst attended funeral services for V. F. Gildewell in Big Lake Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyson Midkiff are in Fort Worth on business and pleasure this weekend.

Clay Taylor and Mrs. M. J. Edwards went to San Angelo Thursday and were to bring Mr. Edwards home to Rankin. Edwards has been ill the last three weeks.

Reporter Discovers City Directory Is 'Lots Of Fun'

MEMO TO THE EDITOR:

As per your instructions I have perused the contents of the new 1950-51 Midland City Directory and I report herein a few of the choice items I found worthy of comment.

If you're interested in the statistics of the thing, I'll get around to them before I finish.

But the human element of the two-inch-thick volume is much more interesting.

As a matter of fact, I found the city directory more fun than listening in on a four-party telephone line and I learned more about some of my friends than I'd learned in three months of playing dominoes, swapping jokes or matching nickels for a cup of coffee.

There is no end of fun you can have with the directory—and apparently no limit to the information it contains.

Just as a test, I decided to do a little snooping on Jim Watson, our erudite oil editor, who keeps looking over my shoulder to see who is listed in the new directory.

Locates Watsons

Turning to the alphabetical section of the directory, I run my fingers through the pages until I come to the Watsons.

Let's see now . . . Watson, Jack . . . Watson, Jas . . . Watson, Jas. A. . . ah, here it is . . . Watson

I learn here that Watson is the operator of the Permian Basin Oil News Service, which, of course, I already knew.

The directory also informs me that his wife's name is Lena Ross, which I didn't know, and that he lives at 704 West Nobles Street.

Now my search begins.

Turning back to the pink section, which is the directory of householders and street guide, I look up Nobles Street.

There it is on page 418 . . . 704 West Nobles.

This entry informs me that Watson owns his own home and his telephone number is 2408.

The page also lists the names of all the others on the block and, from that list, it looks like he lives in a pretty good neighborhood.

Next Door Neighbor

His next door neighbor, I find, is John H. Beatty, who, incidentally, owns his own home. Checking back to the alphabetical section, I learn that Beatty is a salesman for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and has a wife named Johnnie.

On the other side of Watson lives a man named Ernest L. Berg. Checking back on him, I find that Berg is a consulting geologist and has a wife named Ruby.

So on through the neighborhood. I can find out all about Watson's neighbors.

But that's not the only way the directory comes in handy.

Suppose you should come in and find a telephone number on your desk, but no name. In this case, you just turn to the blue section and in a few seconds you can tell who's been trying to get hold of you and whether it's worth returning the call.

Or, suppose you're right on press time and you get a flash from police there's an accident at the corner of North Marientfeld and Ohio Streets. You don't have time to run out there but you want to know what's going on.

Just turn to the pink section, run down Marientfeld until you come to Ohio.

Well, you see John Butler lives on the northwest corner and his phone number's 650.

Valuable Information

You call that number and right away, if anybody's home, you can at least learn whether the accident is just a bumped fender or something serious enough to hold the press.

Then, there's another section called the Classified Business Directory in which are listed Midland businesses under various classifications.

It's bigger than last year's, too, with 242 pages of names in its main section, compared to only 218 in last year's.

I hope this information will be helpful.

THREE DAYS

If you have not paid your poll tax you have until January 31 (3 days) to do so.

A state of National emergency has been declared and every citizen has been alerted. Our Democracy has never faced more deadly peril. Our fighting men are now engaged in a war to stop Communism from sweeping over the entire world, but an enemy far more powerful than any military aggressor is threatening our Country.

The thousands of men and women in the United States who fail to protect their right to vote make up the army that will eventually destroy our Democracy, because Democracy is the only form of Government whose success depends entirely upon the active participation of its citizens.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE is one of the planks in the foundation of our government. You let your choice be known by your VOTE. Unless you pay your poll tax you cannot vote.

The enemies of our AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE start from the bottom and work up. It is just as important that you elect the right officials and support the right measures in your city as it is in your State and Nation.

To date in Midland — Population over 25,000 — only 3,206 have paid their poll tax.

STOP AND THINK

Protect it with your VOTE. Pay your poll tax NOW.*

HOW To Become A Qualified Voter

1. Citizens of the United States having reached 21 years of age and having resided in the State of Texas one year preceding an election and six months within the city or county and having paid their poll tax between October 1 and January 31. Poll tax to be purchased from County Tax assessor-collector's office, first floor of Court House. Cost $1.75.

2. NEW RESIDENTS FROM OUT OF STATE: If a person will have lived in the State of Texas one year at the time of election and wishes to vote, he (she) may receive a certificate of exemption by going to the County Tax Assessor-Collector between October 1 and January 31.

3. Resident New in the County but not new in Texas: who have purchased their poll tax elsewhere in the State of Texas may vote in an election in the precinct of his (her) new residence where he (she) has lived six months, by presenting his (her) exemption certificate or Poll Tax receipt from County of old residence, to the County Tax Assessor-Collector not less than 4 days prior to date of such election.

The only election where it is necessary for you to be a tax payer on real or personal property is a bond election.

MIDLANDERS AT CAMP CHAFFEE—Members of the Midland Organized Reserve Unit, recalled to active duty in October, met recently in the Officer's Club at Camp Chaffee, Ark., for an informal party. Shown are Maj. and Mrs. R. M. (Shorty) Parker, Mrs. John W. Young and Captain Young, Mrs. Walter Parr and Captain Parr. All are assigned to the 5th Armored Division for duty. Attending the party for the reserve group were 58 officers and their ladies.

WITH THE SERVICES—

Air Force Needs Second Lieutenant Reserves

A voluntary call of second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserves has gone out from the Air Force headquarters, offering extended active duty.

A number of Midland men, who held second lieutenant commissions in the reserve forces, will be interested in some of the duties offered.

One call is for second lieutenants who are ROTC graduates or who hold commissions in the Air Reserve. If they can qualify, they will be ordered to active duty immediately with the stipulation they will be entered into future flying training classes, either for pilots or navigators.

Also sought are second lieutenants who are qualified for entry into technical training. The Air Training Command needs 200 such officers every two weeks.

Reserve officers interested in active duty can get other information by contacting Sgt. Patrick Cratty at telephone No. 281.

With a shortage of engineers in industry, the Midland draft board indicated last week it will go easy on calling students in the "engi-

Such advice was received in a bulletin from Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state director of selective service.

He also urged that graduates in these fields be given a period of not more than 60 days in which to engage in a critical occupation of his profession in the armed force or in an essential civilian activity.

Capt. Wylie F. Dameron of 507 North Baird Street, former employe of the Pure Oil Company here and now a Signal Corps officer in the Fifth Armored Division, will enroll February 1 for the three-month associate basic course at the Army Signal School in Fort Monmouth, N. J.

When he completes that course, Captain Dameron will return to Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he is assigned to one of the division's infantry battalions.

A graduate of Texas Christian University, he is a veteran of World War II and participated in the campaigns of North Europe, Central Europe, Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Germany.

Leland Brashears, 22-year-old former employe of the R. M. Metcalf Company here, was inducted into the Marine Corps last week at San Antonio and is on his way to boot camp near San Diego, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Brashears of Midland.

Joel R. Sims, Jr., son of the Standard Oil and Gas Company oil scout, recently passed a special examination for entrance into the Navy. The 19-year-old Midland youth is a Midland High School graduate and had spent two years at McMurry College, prior to his enlistment.

Marine and Navy casualties of the Korean war who are in hospitals back in the States now can get special leave to go home if they've recovered enough so they no longer require constant treatment. Applications for leaves up to 30 days now can be granted directly by the commanding officers of hospitals without having to be processed through Washington.

Seaman Maurice Tindle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tindle of the Texas Company's Mabey lease, recently finished basic training at San Diego Naval Training Center and now is attached to the engineering division aboard the battleship USS Indiana at Bremerton, Wash.

Royce N. Riggs, radioman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Riggs, 905 South Marienfield Street, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Taussig, which has been in Far Eastern waters since May 1, and has participated in every landing made in Korea.

Ensign John W. O'Brien, USN, 206 East New York Street, "knows how it feels to climb from sea level to 40,000 feet in a matter of minutes without having left the ground. He recently completed a refresher course in high altitude flying at the Naval Air Station, San Diego, Calif.

During the course he went "up" in simulated flight in one of the Navy's massive low-pressure chambers which produces atmospheric conditions and pressures which are found at 70,000-foot altitudes.

Ensign O'Brien is a member of one of the aircraft squadrons attached to the Pacific Fleet.

Randall Gene Garnett, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Garnett, 1108 West Dakota Street, left Friday as the city's 18th volunteer of the month for the Army.

He will go to Fort Sill, Okla., for processing and to Camp Chaffee, Ark., for basic training. He volunteered for a three-year period.

No more reserve commissions in the Air Force are being granted to applicants who receive notice from Selective Service boards to appear for pre-induction physical examinations.

That advice came last week from Reuben E. Busby, assistant to the chief of military training at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

He said only those who have not yet been called up will be considered for commissions.

AP Survey Finds Texas Opinions Vary Widely On Proposed 18-Year-Old Draft

By The Associated Press

"My heart drops out," says Mrs. Luther Merritt of Waco, "everytime I read about the draft of 18-year-olds in the newspaper."

"My Bill will be 18 in October and from a mother's standpoint I don't like it."

But listen to L. C. O'Bannon, commander of the Plainview VFW Post and World War II veteran, who thinks 18-year-olds should be drafted:

"They need training in modern weapons for self preservation and the general program of the armed forces will better fit them for life."

And hear the sober view of the Rev. George Bejo, president of Concordia College at Austin:

"If our national defense demands it, I would reluctantly agree to such a draft."

A Texas-wide sampling of opinion by Associated Press newspapers showed citizens are doing some thoughtful soul-searching on the question: Should 18-year-olds be drafted?

Mothers Say 'No'

There is much indecision but questioning news reporters from the Panhandle to South Texas, and from the South Plains to the Piney Woods in the east, found out:

1. A majority feels 18-year-olds should not be drafted until (if then) they have finished high school.

2. Most mothers are against the 18-year-old draft.

3. Most World War II veterans are for it, many on grounds the youngsters need the training. Many say several months' training should precede combat.

4. The 18-year-olds themselves are split. Some say they are ready to go. Many say, "Let us finish high school."

Plainview: W. H. Avinger, schools superintendent: "Not if they are in public schools. Even a year or two would mature them so they would be embarrassed to return to high school classes." Ray D. Blair, druggist and city councilman: "No. They are too young and impressionable." Jack Bristol, newspaper circulation manager, one of his sons went to war at 18 in World War II, another is about to be 18: "No. It's different when you have to watch them go."

What About Boy Friends?

Glenna Campbell, 18: "No, what will we do for boy friends?" Harry McCain, Hale County veterans service officer: "Yes. If they don't we may not have a country to defend. Besides, they need the training." Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland College: "Since we are in a national emergency, it is better to draft 18-year-olds than veterans of the last war or to take fathers away from their children."

Austin: Horace H. Shelton, past Texas VFW commander: "I believe 100 per cent in universal military service. I favor drafting boys of 18, but such draftees should have at least six months training in the U. S. before being sent overseas."

San Antonio: The San Antonio News interviewed six parents of boys 18 or about to become 18. They were almost unanimously against.

The San Antonio Express then interviewed the 18-year-olds. Most of them opposed the draft.

'Yes,' Says Guardsman

At Pampa, in the Panhandle, these answers: Capt. William Ragsdale, National Guard: "Some of the finest soldiers have been 18-year olds. Young men give the drive needed to follow up the conservative thinking and leadership of older men." But an unidentified 18-year-old said, "We shouldn't go before veterans." A mother said: "Eighteen-year-olds are not mature enough to evade the rotten influences of Army life. Drafting of these boys also would deplete the country of its supply of well-educated men because there would be no time to train minds as they should be trained." The Rev. Henry Tyler: "Training of our Army should begin now and 18-year-olds should be included."

The people of Waco in Central Texas: Jack Buckler, Air Force reserve: "Not a damn thing wrong with drafting 18-year-olds. The mothers don't like it, but they wouldn't like an atom bomb, either." But James Wood, now 17, plans to enter the University of Texas and says: "I think they ought to let a boy get at least a couple of years of college. Goah, when a guy gets out of the Army, he's too old to go to school for four years to get a degree." Baylor University's Dean Monroe S. Carroll: "It is most unfortunate that the country feels it necessary to draft 18-year-olds, since they are still adolescents."

Good Training

From Sherman, in Northeast Texas, these representative but anonymous views: "A business man: "Yes, it will be good training for anything, either for college or business." A veteran: "Yes, somebody has to go and they are the best. I went when I was 17. But I do think the boys should be allowed to complete high school." High school principal: "It is a necessary thing, provided boys are allowed to complete high school." Parents: A solid "No."

At Abilene, in the Plains Country: Jack Lester, 18, high school student with married brother: "Eighteen-year-olds should go before young married veterans." Dr. R. N. Richardson, president of Hardin-Simmons University, says situation not desperate enough to warrant it, should comb men now of draft age more closely and use some on limited duty. Says women—single, mature women—should be led to volunteer for some work now being performed by service men. S. P. Kenner, China-Burma-India Air Corps veteran and VFW commander: "Yes, to give them adequate training." Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Johnson, parents of an 18-year-old, said wait until they're 19 so they will "get a little sense."

Veterans Approve

The Wichita Falls Times found a high school administrator opposed the draft of "just kids." Said a mother with three sons, 17, 19 and 22, "I know someone has to go but let me keep my baby at home a little longer." But one mother said "I'd rather he (her son) go at 18 and be trained to be a good soldier and take care of himself than to go at 19 and be sent to the battlefield with only a few weeks' training." Veterans agreed 18-year-olds "make good fighting men" and should go. From one 18-year-old these words: "I'm ready if I'm needed. But I don't want to go."

The Odessa American found these West Texas viewpoints: Keith Richardson, 18, high school student: "As far as I am concerned, of course, I say no. As for the country's defense, I guess it should be done. And if they keep deferring college men and veterans it will have to be done." John Mitchell, 55, bank president: "I am for it. It is my opinion it is best for the boys to go while young, instead of being required to leave college or a home they have established." W. A. Miller, superintendent of schools: "I feel 18-year-olds can accomplish more toward service to their country by remaining in school until they have secured at least minimum educational preparation."

Fly Voices Opposition

Claude Milburn, 44, attorney: "Boys of that age are too young. I believe they would be better soldiers if allowed an opportunity for more maturity." Charles Perry, bank president, father of an 18-year-old: "Yes. If it is a choice between fathers and the younger men, I think the latter should be taken." Murry Fly, college president: "I am opposed. I don't like the idea of 18-year-olds fighting a war, especially when the war wasn't created by them. And these boys aren't mature enough for inductions."

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal found Plains people at odds but the "Nos" outnumbering the "Yess." Mrs. R. L. McAllister, a P-TA officer, says they're "just too young, x too immature." Homer D. Grant, businessman, is "unalterably opposed" and has told Senator Johnson and Representative Mahon so. Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, wants students to get military training while continuing in classes. He believes in U.M.T. E. F. St. Clair, Jr., World War II Air Force veteran: "Yes, if it did not take them out of high schools. I don't think I could favor sending 18-year-olds into a combat zone, but they could serve in other fields."

Midland Opinions

The Midland Reporter-Telegram found veterans and 18-year-olds had little objection. "An 18-year-old youth," said Perry Pickett, 34, attorney, "has the physical stamina and mental alertness required of a soldier." Pickett, a World War II Air Force veteran, added that 18-year-olds are mature enough "and I think our manpower situation makes it imperative that we draft men of that age." Leon Cline, 18, high school senior, says yes, "if the situation gets any worse." Col. Milan N. Plavsic, Midland Department of Public Safety director, says military training—"outside of actually having to go to war"—is good for youngsters 17 and 18.

In East Texas, the Marshall News Messenger found a majority opposed. Dr. H. D. Bruce, president of East Texas Baptist College: "I am not in favor of any universal military training law. No nation that ever had universal military training ever won a major war." Melvis L. Lumpkin, 26, veteran of World War II: "Yes, we need 18-year-olds. It is all a man with a family can do these days to provide for them. It would hurt the home front worse to call fathers, leaving their families uncared for."

JOINS NAVY—Jack D. Hightower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hightower, 1010 South Terrell Street, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and is at the naval training center in San Diego, Calif. A graduate of Midland High School, he was attending Texas Tech when he enlisted.

Buster Cole's Horse Wins At Stock Show

PORT WORTH — Baby Mac C. owned by Buster Cole of Midland, gained a first place tie at Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum Friday afternoon with Poco Bueno, owned by E. Paul Waggoner of Fort Worth, in the cutting horse performance division for registered animals at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

The two animals scored 225 points each in performance class for stallions, mares or gelding foaled in 1946 or earlier.

Headquarters For Ranching, Farming And Dairying

Ranching, farming and dairying, along with their affiliated interests, are among the basic industries of Midland and of West Texas — accounting for millions of dollars in income to this headquarters city annually.

Each is Big Business in its own right, and grouped together they form an industry of major proportions. Midland long has been Permian Basin Empire headquarters for this important trio. Processing plants handling the produce of the three industries also are thriving businesses, which add to Midland's ever-expanding economy.

Long the center of a vast ranching territory comprising the greater part of 12 counties in West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico, many of the area's leading ranchmen make their headquarters in Midland. Farming has developed steadily through the years, and dairying within recent years has come into its own in Midland and Midland County. Packing plants and creameries located in Midland serve a wide West Texas area, as does a livestock auction company.

Midland is proud of its ranching, farming and dairying interests.

HOW BURT JOINED THE MARCH—Burt Lancaster, the screen's tough battler, has a very personal reason for joining the fight against polio—the March of Dimes. Burt, Jr., age three, was stricken by the disease last summer, and the screen star took a course in physical therapy to help his son in the comeback battle.

Chinese, Latin-American Lads Provide International Air To Senate Page List

AUSTIN —(P)— A Chinese lad and a Latin-American youth give an international air to the row of senate pages this year. The 30 pages are clean and scrubbed-looking, all with coats on, most with ties.

"We don't stand for inspection, but the sergeant-at-arms sure tells you if you don't look nice," Mitchell Wong explained.

It's the first year as a page for 11 year old Mitchell, whose grandparents came to this country from China.

"I wanted to meet such people as senators," Mitchell said, "and listen to them argue."

The senators give a discreet little clap-clap with their hands when they walk a page.

Frog Means Hop
"But you know they also say 'frog' to you," Mitchell said and grinned, showing the braces on his teeth. "That means 'hop'."

Mitchell is an A student in the sixth grade.

"My teacher gives me weekly assignments and I work them at night to keep up my school work," he explained. He's a small lad in stature, but was all dressed up in a tan plaid sport coat, brown trousers and a tie. And his black hair was combed as neatly as a cowlick would allow. His parents own three grocery stores in Austin and operate one.

There's one senator who knows exactly what a job the pages have. He is Senator Joe Russell from Royce City, who was a Senate page when he was in junior high school in 1937.

"That gave me the incentive to become a senator," Senator Russell said.

There's another senator who knows exactly what a job the pages have. He is Senator Joe Russell from Royce City, who was a Senate page when he was in junior high school in 1937.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The cattle market was steady at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Most of the 653 head sold were in small consignments.

Fat calves and yearlings sold for $30 to $34.50, mediums $26 to $30, and commons and culls $23 to $26. No choice butcher cows were offered. Good cows drew $20 to $23.50, mediums $21 to $22.50, canners and cutters $18.50 to $21. Bulls cashed for $24 to $27.50.

Stocker steer calves auctioned for $33.80 to $37.50 and heifer calves were bid in at the same prices. Yearling steers cleared at $30.50 to $33.50 and aged steers went to $28.50 to $30.50. Cows ranged from $20 to $24 and cow and calf pairs brought $200 to $325.

David Workman of Rankin is a new employe of the Midland Production Credit Association here. He has been associated with the Ranchers Wool & Mohair Association at Rankin.

If you miss some of the regulars around the hotel lobbies and coffee shops during the next few days, chances are they are attending the annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth, which opened Friday.

The boys and girls from Midland and other area cities started heading East several days ago. Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., president of Midland Fair, Inc., headed for Cowtown several days ago.

The 1951 show is reported to be one of the best in the long history of Fort Worth stock shows and rodeos.

Dallas really is going all out in its plans to entertain the annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association March 12-14. It is said the Big-D boys are determined to out do anything Fort Worth ever has done for the cattlemen.

Texas' Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives, will address the seventy-fourth annual convention, according to President Ray Willoughby of San Angelo. It is the first time in 31 years the association has met in Dallas. Should be quite a show.

George W. Glass, Midland rancher and skeet shoot enthusiast, left Friday on a quail hunting trip in the Fort Smith, Ark., area.

Reeves County may put as many as 90,000 acres in cotton this year, according to the prediction of B. A. Toliver, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office at Pecos and a former mayor of that city.

That figure would be more than double the 1950 cotton acreage, which totaled around 44,000 acres. Cotton is big business in Reeves County.

And wool has hit the $1.50 per pound mark. DSG marveled when prices went to 85 cents, $1 and then $1.25 per pound. "We still marvel and then marvel some more at the buck and half sale price."

Louis J. Ivey has resigned as executive general manager of the El Paso Valley Cotton Association at El Paso to return to active farming at Pecos. He has been succeeded at El Paso by W. R. (Bob) Dendy.

Everything now is all set for the staging of the 1951 World Championship Midland Rodeo, which officials say will be the biggest and best ever. The May 30, 31 and June 1, 2 and 3 dates have been approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, which also approved the purses for the various events.

Forty-six head of yearling bulls, purchased last Fall as yearlings in the Midland country, have been sold by Clarence Leon and Hubert Chance of Rotan to Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico ranchers, according to Abilene's Harry Holt. The bulls have been on feed at Rotan.

Fifteen of the bulls went to Jack Montgomery of Bartlesville, Okla.; 17 to George Ross of Carlsbad, N. M.; six to P. Jameson of Rotan and eight to a Henrietta buyer. The price was $326 per head.

Livestock entries in the 1951 San Angelo Fat Stock Show, scheduled March 1-3, are being received by the hundreds at the stock show office there. Deadline for entries is February 1.

This announcement was made by H. E. McCulloch, general chairman, who is predicting one of the best shows since the San Angelo show began 18 years ago.

Sixty-eight hundred and twenty-six dollars is being offered in premiums in the various show divisions. Premiums offered in the Boys' Show Division include: Boys' Steer Show, $600; Boys' Breeding Sheep Show, $244; Boys' Fat Lamb Show, $1,013;

Boys' Fat Pig Show, $177; and Boys' Neatness Awards, $48.

In the men's division, the following premiums will be given: Breeding Sheep, $1,469; Hereford Cattle, $1,464; Aberdeen-Angus Cattle, $628; Brahman Cattle, $66; and Swine Show, $100.

As an added feature of show, a livestock judging contest will be held for junior colleges. Deadline for entering judging teams in this contest is February 15.

Burriss G. Jackson, Hillsboro, has announced that the twelfth annual Cotton Research Congress sponsored by the Statewide Cotton Committee of Texas will be held July 26, 27, 28 at Texas A&M College, College Station.

The committee accepted an invitation presented by Dean C. N. Shephardson on behalf of Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist and President M. T. Harrington of Texas A&M, which is celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary this year.

The highly-industrialized Gulf Coast city of Houston rapidly is taking on a Western atmosphere as final preparations are made for the grand opening Wednesday of the nineteenth annual Houston Fat Stock Show.

Last week the first of more than 10,000 prize livestock entries began moving into Sam Houston Coliseum and at 10 a.m. Wednesday a three-mile-long parade will start its procession down Houston's Main Street, heralding the opening of the show and world championship rodeo.

In drought-ridden Texas areas where a barrel of water often is described as being worth a barrel of crude oil, a book-length work by novelist Kenneth Roberts is likely to strike up more than passing interest, according to an Associated Press release.

In his new book, "Henry Gross and His Drowning Rod" (Doubleday), Roberts gives page after page of evidence where underground water has been discovered by the use of forked sticks from a willow or peach tree. Roberts not only believes strongly in this unusual talent of dowling, or water-witching if you prefer, but declares skeptics are in the same class as those of 50 years ago who scorned the idea of radio, television or jet planes.

Favored Pastime
Henry Gross, is the hero of Roberts' book. Gross is a game warden in Maine and his dowsing is something of a pastime. Gross locates underground veins of clear spring-water and makes no charges for it; often pays for his own gasoline to make the trips. And in this connection, says Roberts, ingratitude is one of the crosses that the dowser must bear.

Scores of wells in Maine have been dug after Henry used his rod and declared cool, clear water was 10 feet to a hundred down. Some times, says the writer, there were seeming failures, but in every instance it was found out that heavy drilling tools or dynamite had crushed and sealed off the flowing veins of water. If the farmer on whose land the drilling took place only listened to Henry, said Roberts, those veins could be opened and a well of water would follow.

Burma Schedules Forest Projects
RANGOON —(P)— The famous Burmese teak may soon find itself in competition with other Burmese hardwoods if plans by Austrian-born Dr. F. A. V. Monroy materialize.

Monroy, a forestry expert with the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, has come here to help the Burmese establish an integrated forest industry. He says the Burmese have neglected several species because of the bias in favor of teak. Some of these are well suited for conversion into firewood, plywood and pulpwood.

Other species can be used for carpentry and house building. He proposes picking favorable locations in the country and going to work on what is available. The projects will be financed by the Burmese government and will include the making of plastics, an industry entirely new to this country, Monroy said.

Extroverts Aren't Always So Stable
BERKELEY —(P)— The expansive traits of the extrovert, usually thought to be the mark of a well-adjusted personality, often are associated with personality difficulties, according to Dr. Harold E. Jones, a psychologist at the University of California.

With increasing age, Dr. Jones states, an individual usually changes to more internalized emotional responses. When this development fails to take place, a marked extrovert pattern persists, which may indicate poor social adjustments and personality problems.

SEEKS U. S. PLANES
BANGKOK —(P)— There is a ready market in Thailand for Sky-master four-engine airliners developed during the war and no longer in production. The Siamese Airways Company and the Pacific Overseas Airlines (Siam), granted $880,000 respectively by the Thai government, have been scouring the world for second-hand DC-4 aircraft without success.

Federal, State, and local governments of the U. S. spent $43.5 billion dollars in 1949, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

ECONOMY IS WATCHWORD—Dr. Stuart A. MacCorkle, left, head of the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs, is congratulated by Gov. Allan Shivers on his selection as executive director of the Texas Economy Commission. Dr. MacCorkle has been granted a leave of absence to direct the commission's research into the Texas state government and present a reform program of efficiency and economy.

Kelly Katies Swarm Back To Air Base

SAN ANTONIO —(P)— The gals they call Kelly Katies are swarming back to defense jobs at Kelly Air Force Base—the nation's greatest depot of World War II.

In some instances it means a double job for them—keeping house as usual with extra hours spent with drills, hammers and welding torches.

For instance, Mrs. Lydia Perkins has seven children she must care for. Her sister watches them during the day while Mrs. Perkins works in the sheet metal manufacturing department.

In the last war there were 10,000 women who kept planes and materials rolling through the depot. Today, with a new conflict underway, the Air Force is welcoming the women back. Many are returning to former jobs.

"It's nice to get back when you know what you're doing," says Mrs. Pauline Olson.

Farmed Between Wars
She is a veteran of two years of building up magnetoes and making contact plugs and battery cables. Between wars she stayed home and farmed.

She explained: "I had a nice bunch of cattle, too, and some chickens. But my family has grown up and married. I decided if they needed me here, I'd be glad to come back."

Mrs. Lois Rowland worked at Kelly almost four years during the last war. She drills, cuts and smooths airplane parts with a milling machine and she figures "it's more fun than washing dishes."

"Before the last war I was a housewife," she said. "I didn't figure I had time for an outside job, too. I found I could manage both."

Pemmican On Shelf But It'll Stay There

STONEY PLAIN, ALBERTA —(P)— There's some extra food on the shelf at the farm instructor's home in this northern Alberta Indian Reserve, but nobody feels like eating it.

The mixture, now a hardened mass of buffalo meat, fat Saskatoon berries, is known to the Indians as pemmican. It was unearthed recently near a farmer's home. Historians say the last major Indian encampment here was in 1885, and that the pemmican must be at least 65 years old. Indians claim it may still be edible, but none has volunteered to find out.

"Besides, my children grew up and married during the war, so after I left here in 1945 I got another job in an auto trim shop."

Mrs. Gertrude Threadgill spent her time between wars being a housewife and becoming a mother. Her two and four year old children are being cared for during the day by Mrs. Threadgill's mother.

She makes patterns for sheet metal work and is the only woman in that department. She held the same job for three and a half years during World War II.

Mrs. Jean Davis is a riveter. She is in the sheet metal repair department. Before the last war she was a beauty operator and returned to that job after VJ Day.

Said Mrs. Davis: "I like the work over. My husband was in the last war. My husband was in the last war and I hope he won't have to go back, but he might."

Hundreds of women are applying for jobs. About 500 already are at work.

But they aren't the wide-eyed confused women they were in 1940. They know the difference between a Stillson and a Stetson between a ball bearing and a baby's bonnet.

Palette Club Has Exhibit Of Pepper Brown's Paintings

An exhibit of Pepper Brown's paintings are on display at the Palette Club Studio, 604 North Colorado Street. They will remain on display through Monday.

The collection includes watercolors and combinations of various media. Brown's subject matter is taken from the Western scenes around Alpine and scenes along the east coast around Cape Cod.

He has studied under Xavier Guzales who has been quoted as saying "Pepper Brown shows constant advancement in his versatile style. We cannot help but anticipate finding him among the foremost ranks of American painters of the future."

Some of his paintings on display are "The Giant," "Ranch Gates No. 1," "Cedar Corral," "Overture in the Eddy," "Drilling Abstract," "The Mill—West Texas," "Limpia Canyon," "Bulldogging No. 7," "Reflections of an Afternoon," "Ranch Gates No. 2," "Wagon Camp," "Fosse on the Rio Grande," "Lowtide," "Hope and Despair," "Mountain Ranch," "Heads Up," "Rock Harbor No. 2," and "Fall Shipment."

Kermit State Bank Awards Contract For New Building

KERMIT—Award of a contract for the construction of a new building at Oak and Austin Streets was announced Saturday by the Kermit State Bank.

Vice President John P. Gammill said the contract had gone to E. E. Hixson, who submitted a low bid of $78,200.

The Reynolds Electric Company of Monahans was awarded the heating and air-conditioning contract on its bid of $9,601.

The proposed one-story brick structure, designed by Architect J. J. Black of Midland, will feature a redwood and glass banking room. Concrete Vault

An 18-inch reinforced concrete vault will be located in the front part of the building. Ceilings will be treated to reduce noise and there will be an increased number of safety deposit boxes.

A night depository and night safe will be provided. Construction will begin as soon as final approval is received from the El Paso office of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

MHS Future Teachers' Attracts 73

The Midland Chapter of the Future Teacher's Club now boasts seventy-three members for the 1950-51 school term.

The Future Teacher's Club is a new organization offered to the students of MHS. Josephine Parr organized this club in 1948. The club consists of fifty-four charter members.
The main objective of the organization is to instruct students in the principles of the teaching profession.
The Future Teachers' Club also helps students to decide if they want to follow the teaching profession. It helps them to learn the problems the teacher has to face and it acquaints them with the joys of teaching.
There are seventy-three members in the organizations this year, all of which will go to the several elementary schools of Midland at least once during the school year and teach for one-half day.

Helen Rucker is the sponsor for the Future Teachers' this year and also sponsored the organization last year.
Officers for this year include: Corky Moss, president; Junior Cox, vice president; Martha Schaubauer, secretary; Jim Ervin, treasurer; Diana Daugherty, reporter; and James Wallace, sergeant-at-arms.

Play Is Presented During Assembly

A corner drug store after school was the setting for the play given during assembly Wednesday January 24, 1951 by the dramatics class.
Martha Stone and Ruth Bleyberg sang "Five Foot Two" accompanied by Martha on the uke.
Deephane Tabor entered with a bang and pantomimed to a Spike Jones record.
Jimmy Lock staggered in very disturbed, by "The Thing." The cast joined him in singing "The Thing."
Emily Hamilton and Lynn Griffith did a tap routine.

The much anticipated new boy, played by James Johnson, vocalized to "Baby Face."
Other members of the cast included Ray Legget, as the soda jerk; Clint Dunagan, as "Pop," the owner of the drugstore; Mary Jo Hehl, Maxine Hill, Beverly Keisling, John Petty, and Emily Studdert, as teen agers.

DOE VS. ROE

The name "John Doe" came into legal use in early English common law and was substituted for the name of fictitious or unknown plaintiff. Richard Roe was used in the same capacity as defendant.

Do You Appreciate What You Have?

Our school library is just that—OURS! And since it is ours it is our responsibility to take care of everything in it. We should no more think of destroying the collection of books, magazines, and papers in the library than we would of destroying one of our own treasured possessions.

We all realize that it is wrong to mutilate the magazines in our library, and yet we think nothing of tearing out little articles, jokes, or advertisements to show to a friend.

But, remember, there are others who will get enjoyment out of those articles. So leave them where they are!

Do you like to start reading something interesting, and then find that the last page, paragraph, or climaxing sentence is missing? Well, no one else does either, so let's take it easy. Copy what you want to show your friends, but don't tear out part of the book.

The library is for your use, so show your appreciation by taking good care of what is in it. And make others take care of it, too. It is up to you, the student, to protect our library, and you can start best with yourself.

Midland Students Attend Odessa Meeting

Wanda Burnside In DAR Contest

Wanda Burnside has been elected as the Midland High School candidate for the Texas Good Citizenship award given by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
Toya Chapple and Gloria Angus were runners-up for the award.
Wanda was selected by the senior class and the faculty by direct vote for her dependability, service, leadership, patriotism and scholarship, as the contest rules direct.

Wanda will receive a Good Citizenship Certificate of Award from the National Society and her name will be entered in the contest for the state award which is a $100.00 United States Savings Bond.
The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution has been giving these awards for fifteen years. The organization fosters this work to

'The Bulldog Barks' Cagers To Play Odessa Tuesday

This week the Bulldog Basketeers are host to the invading Odessa Bronchos in a conference clash on Tuesday, January 30.

The B game is set to go at 6:30 p.m., while the varsity scramble begins at 8 p.m.

Odessa holds victories over both the A and B teams in a previous meeting in Odessa.

On Friday, February 2, the Bulldog cagers travel to Big Spring for a tilt with the Big Spring Steers. The Steers hold an earlier 31-29 decision at Midland. Midland's hustling B team joined the Big Spring B, though!

The Midland Freshmen added two more victories to their record last week by pasting Lamesa and Bowie Junior High of Odessa. The Frosh now have taken five out of eight tilts.
Next week, the Frosh take on the Andrews ninth graders.

The Bulldog "A" squad proudly displayed bright new warmups before the San Angelo game last week. The warmups are bright gold satin with "Midland" in purple letters on the back.

The volleyball tournament, held by the girls' PE classes, was won by Donna Howard's fourth period team. They won over Dorothy Mooney's third period team 41 to 32. The girls who played on Donna Howard's team were Stormy Coleman, Dorothy Allen, Barbara King, Nona Lynn, Mary Echols, Betty O'Neal, Carol O'Donnell, and Marilyn Dunagan. Those playing on Dorothy Mooney's team were Leila Norwood, Bertha Phillips, Jean Ray, Louis Burrow, Delores Pirtle, Carolyn Hardaway, and Eddie Mae Hamlin.

This week the girls will windup the ladder tournaments in shuffle board. The top teams in the second hour PE class are Betty Chapman and Fay Brown in first place, and Bonney Mason and Dorothy Johnston in second place. In the third hour Carolyn Hardaway and Delores Pirtle are first, and Eddie Mae Hamlin and Jo Ann Johnson are second. Le Glenn and Eloise O'Donnell are in first place in the fourth hour Billingslea are in second place.

On Tuesday, the second-period Ag class took a field trip to Bud Booth's home. They discussed the handling and care of diseased hogs. The boys are also cleaning up livestock pens and getting ready for the Fat Stock Show to be held in March.

The FFA sweetheart committee announced Tuesday, that nominations for sweetheart will run from January 23 through February 12.

Speech, Journalism Students Take Part In League Session

Thirty speech and journalism students of Midland High School attended a West Texas Student Activities Conference held in Odessa on Saturday, January 27. It was sponsored by Odessa High School and the Interscholastic League.
The conference began at 9:30 a.m. with a general assembly followed by a demonstration debate. Midland took the negative and Lubbock the affirmative on the topic: "Resolved: Social Welfare Benefits to the People Should be Extended by the Federal Government."
Debating for Midland was Joe Barnett and Leon Cline. Bruce Roach, of the University of Interscholastic League, was the consultant for the debate.

Odessa and Berger presented one-act plays for the demonstration drama from 9:30 until noon.
The declamation and extemporaneous speaking divisions were held in the afternoon.

Those attending from Verna Harris' speech classes were Shirley Brown, Carolyn Davis, Martha Forrest, Waldo Leggett, Virginia Kroenlein, Dana Smith, Roberta Stewart, Eddy Tanner, James Johnson, Deephane Tabor, Phyllis Burkin, Raymond Leggett, Edwin Percy, Ann Fitz Gerald, Nancy Cooper, Royce Measures, Joan Fitz Gerald, Helen Golladay, Helen Heidelberg, Evelyn Hehl, Sue Talkington, Leon Cline, Joe Barnett, Clifford Wilcox, and Jean Ferguson.

The members of Elma Rowland's Journalism class who went were Shirley Wenter, Patricia Grover, Gail Baker, Nancy McKinley, and Sue Ann Francis.

Chorus Group Of Junior High To Present Program

The Cowden Junior High School chorus, directed by Mary Rao, will present an assembly for the Midland High School students Wednesday, January 31. This group of singers will open the program with "Italian Street Song" and "Because You're You," both by Victor Herbert. They will also sing "The Sleigh."

The boys' quintet, made up of Spencer Renfro, Charles Douglas, Wayne Cooper, James Claiborne, and Turner Tabor, will sing "Now the Day is Over."

The chorus consists of the following junior high students: Inez Beauchamp, Larry Ann Burnside, Alma Byerly, Martha Calhoun, Virginia Cuthbert, Donna Burris, Ruth Ann Dickinson, Patsy Edgman, Carol Fitting, Lurline Floyd, Ruby Fave Griffith, Nancy Guyton, Nova Inez Halle, Paula Hancock, Patricia Harrell, Retta Hazel, Nancy Herring, Janet Hopper, Lynette Howell, Lillie Mae Mayfield, Margie Miller, Margie Nell, Mabel Nix, Carrie Phillips, Ivy Rose Phillips, Joyce Pirtle, Shirley Roberson, Audrey Reppermund, Coralyne Roth, Jo Ann Sells, Patricia Settles, Dottie Snead, Joyce Sutton, Carol Walder, Huline Willis, Burnside Yochum, Helen Zant, Pat Anderson, Walter Bincham, Kenneth Driver, Don Hanks, Holt Jewell, Lee McCollum, Allen McCree, Jimmy Nelson, Bob Ratcliff, Spencer Renfro, Turner Tabor, Addison Young, James Claiborne, Elroy Taylor, and Wayne Cooper.

Fred Underwood Is Who's Who

Fred Shurlock Underwood wins first place in "Who's Who" at Midland High School this week.
He is a senior, five feet, eleven inches tall, and weighs 180 pounds. He is best known for his athletic feats, playing defensive guard on the "A" team. He claims his biggest thrill came when he received his football jacket. Needless to say, football is his favorite sport, and Coach Jones is his favorite person.

Fred came to Midland from Mexia; however Tulsa, Oklahoma was his birthplace.
Like all football players, who seldom count their calories, fried chicken is tops on his menu.

His hobbies are varied, and include stamp collecting, model airplanes, and last, but not least, "girls," especially brunettes about five feet, six inches tall.
His school schedule indicates he has a methodical mind. Physics, trigonometry, English, mechanical drawing, and PE fill his school hours, and require much time for preparation.

Fred Underwood

Fred relates his most embarrassing moment came, when on his first date, the girl insisted on paying for the tickets. Maybe she thought it was twirp season!

'Humphrey Haunts' MHS Is Proud Of Golden Glovers

Greetings friends! Here is Humphrey again, so settle back and take a look at the latest.

The important talk of the week centered around the Golden Gloves tournament held in Odessa on January 17, 18, and 19.

Midland High School is very proud of Jerry Culp, Bill Medart, and Ralph Brooks, who finished as champions in their respective classes.

Ralph captured the Novice Heavyweight title. Jerry took the Novice Light Heavyweight honors, and Bill boxed his way into the Novice Middleweight championship.
On Friday night, January 19, a large group of Midland High School students were seen at the fights and they seemed to be having a wonderful time. Pete English, Jean Congratulations go to Sue King and Don Miller who became Mr. and Mrs. on Saturday, January 20, and to Vi Jean Fuglaar and Charles Wheat who were married on Saturday, January 27.

A hearty welcome is extended to Jerry Gentry and Gail Baker, two former MHS'ers who recently moved back to Midland. Jerry is classified as a sophomore and moved from Colorado City, while Gail attended high school in Blackwell, Oklahoma, and is a Junior this year.

Four parties were given for Faye Massey, home economics teacher, on Thursday, January 18. No, it wasn't her birthday! She teaches a semester course and her students gave the parties as a formal "goodbye."

Fashion News of the Week: Dianne Anderson captured the spotlight when she appeared at MHS on Wednesday, January 24, wearing a pair of bright red socks embroidered with two little woolen men. She could start a new fad!

MHS bid "goodbye" to three students on Friday, January 19. Sue King, Troy Etheridge, and Lynn Nicholson were the only Midland High School students to graduate at mid-term. Best of luck in the future to these swell kids.

Sandra Klem, MHS student, holds a very pleasant job as well as an educational one. Enrolled in a shorthand course when she recently moved from Denver, Colorado, Sandra discovered that she is a year ahead of the other students. In order to keep in practice, she now serves as Coach Thurman Jones' private secretary and is able to try out her shorthand every day.

That is all for now, see you next week.

Program At MHS Given By Lamesa

Lamesa High School presented an assembly Tuesday afternoon in the Midland High School auditorium.

Jimmy Howell, president of the LHS student body, introduced the program, "Banner Bluebonnet Bubble Gum's Radio Quiz." The curtain opened with warm-up before the radio quiz went on the air. The announcer, "Mr. Talkfast," was Jimmy Rose, and the master of ceremonies, "Dr. Hyde Smart," was played by Pat Beckham.

Ann Barr and Norma Burris opened the show with the song, "Harbor Lights," followed by humorous imitations of two songs, "Man In The Little White Coat" and "Molasses," by Laneal Tankersley.

The Lamesa Stage Band, led by Charles Hoffman, played "Bamboo," "On The Air"

"Kay Wiggins sang "Nevertheless," accompanied by the band. This completed the warm-up and the radio quiz began with the theme song, "Johnson Rag," by the band.

Jimmy O'Neal, the first contestant was asked, "Why does a model 'T' remind you of a school room?" He paid the consequences for not answering the question. The answer was, "The model 'T' is full of loose nuts with an old crank in front."

The consequence of the next contestant, Nancy Webb, was to sing "The Thing" with Martin Burkhead.

Next, Kay Wiggins and Martin Burkhead sang a duet of "Simple Melody," "Blow, Blow, Blow Your Gum," by Nancy Stewart, Gini Holder, and Phyllis Emery.

Jo Ann Nelson successfully answered her question; and was presented with a cigar.

Stan Coker, for his failure to answer his question, had to run up and down an aisle of the auditorium with an egg balanced on a spoon.

This was followed by a singing commercial, "Blow, Blow, Blow Your Gum," by Nancy Stewart, Gini Holder, and Phyllis Emery.

Doug Atwell's consequence for not knowing, "What kind of salad newswyeds like?" was to Charles with two girls, Pat Holly and Phyllis Emery.

Norma Kay Morris followed with a solo of "Out of an Orange Colored Sky."

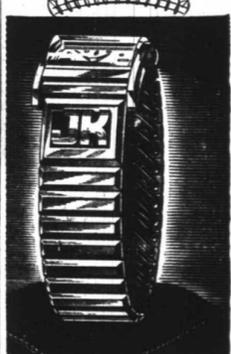

Guy Vanderpool was the last contestant, his consequence was to blow bubbles with Banner Bluebonnet Bubble Gum.

The last number on the program, "Casey at the Bat," a song and poem by Shirley Moore and Shirley Peer.

The curtain closed after a repetition of the singing commercial, "Blow, Blow, Blow, Your Gum."

Sheltered Entrances Gain In Popularity

"Sheltered entrances are becoming increasingly more popular for homes, while the trend is away from vestibules," according to American Builder, leading magazine in the home building industry.

The influence of the ranch type dwelling largely is responsible for this, says American Builder. Hallways literally have become a part of living rooms, in most so-called ranch style houses, with entrances almost directly into this room rather than into a vestibule or well defined hallway.

A sheltered entrance, which usually is an overhang or extension of the roof, then is necessary to provide protection from the elements to anyone standing at the entrance. In two-story dwellings, sheltered entrances usually are provided by recessing the entrance area. In many cases, according to the periodical, "the entrance is a part of a deep recess extending more than half way across the front, with the front wall extending upward from the extreme projection."

American Homebuilding Industry Meets Challenge

FORT WORTH — American homes have increased in number by 25 per cent during the decade just ended, according to Joe Driskell of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Association of Home Builders.

"This period marks ten years of production and progress in home building never before equaled," Driskell stated, in releasing a study of population and housing based on 1950 census figures.

In 1949, for the first time in history, the homebuilders put up more than a million homes in a single year, Driskell said, and they topped that figure in 1950, adding almost nine million homes during the decade.

At the time of completion of the 1950 census, the study showed a whopping total of 46,151,000 dwelling units available for the estimated 43,468,000 households. The census, Driskell pointed out, includes only a small portion of the estimated 1,300,000 homes built during 1950.

While the population was growing 14.3 per cent, from 131,869,000 to 150,558,000, the number of homes grew 23.6 per cent during the same ten years. Starting with 37,323,000 homes in 1940, the homebuilders completed more than 8,826,000 during the following decade.

just completed, Driskell said, with some estimates of new homes in the state running close to a quarter million during 1950.

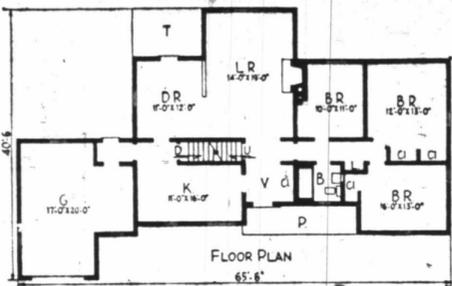

Midland Sets Pace
In Midland, for instance, building permits were issued for 1,275 new dwellings during 1950.

A year-by-year record of how the homebuilding industry has met the challenge of America's population growth shows:

Year	New Homes Built
1940	602,890
1941	706,100
1942	356,000
1943	191,000
1944	141,800
1945	200,300
1946	870,500
1947	849,000
1948	931,000
1949	1,025,000
1950	1,300,000

This outstanding building record, the study pointed out, was made during the 1940-50 decade despite the greatest war in history which brought homebuilding down to a minimum for several years.

The report indicates that the government-set target of from 800,000 to 850,000 new homes during 1950 would fall far short of meeting the still-unsatisfied demand for domestic housing.

Some metals, such as iron, steel, and nickel, are called paramagnetic by scientists, meaning that they are attracted by magnets; others are diamagnetic, which means having weak magnetic properties.

CORNER LOT PLAN—Containing six rooms with an attached garage, this house is well-adapted for a corner lot site. The plan features excellent circulation with all rooms accessible from the front entrance hall. Service rooms, such as the kitchen and garage, face the street front, with the living room and dining room toward the rear, separating the living room and dining space is a free-standing bookcase and china cabinet four feet high. Overall dimensions of the house are 56 feet six inches by 40 feet six inches, including the garage.

Colorful Bathroom Lends Personality To Modern Homes

Ever since "Saturday night baths in the kitchen" and Mom's laborious task of mopping up the floor after Junior's frolics in the round tub, the modern bathroom has progressed to the point where it is not only an efficient, well-planned sanitary utility, but a beauty spot as well.

Thirty years ago white glazed tile was dominant in the bathroom. Today, modern bathrooms use colors that take this busy room out of the ordinary and add glamour to the home. Such colors as blue, pink, peach and green are most popular to homemakers, according to a recent report by the Tile Council of America.

Interior Coverings
Choice of interior coverings is an important factor in planning modern bathrooms not only for decorative purposes, but for utilitarian reasons as well. Steam-created moisture for constant use of bathtub or shower makes selection of such water-proof materials as clay tile for floors and walls necessary.

Decorative treatment should be planned from the floor up, and when clay tile finishes are used, the color possibilities are unlimited. Clay tile for bathrooms is manufactured today in 200 or more shades of basic colors.

Floor and wall coverings should be selected for durability, color and ease of maintenance. The color trend is away from standard white and is toward the subtle shades. Of course colors should be of uniform qualities and brilliance. It is possible for the homemaker to select any desirable shade to coincide with her favorite color scheme.

Top Award In House Glass Competition Won By New Yorker

CHICAGO — Top award of $2,500 for the best use of glass in the house design competition sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders and Architectural Forum was won by a 36-year-old New York architect.

The prize winning entry of Seymour R. Joseph, a partner of the New York firm of Joseph & Valdeck, was a rectangular, shed roof type, one family house which embodies flexibility of design, privacy and compactness as well as a widespread use of glass inside and out. In addition to Joseph, other prize winners in the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company sponsored glass use division are: Kazumi Adachi, Dike Nagano and Robert W. Blachnk, all of Los Angeles; Hugh Stubbins, Jr., Legation, Mass.; and Mark T. Jaroszewicz, Bloomfield Hills, Mass.

Summer Workshop In Child Study Program Planned

A Summer workshop in the Child Study program will be held in the Midland schools this year, Supt. Frank Monroe announced Saturday. Dr. James Knight, dean of the Child Study program at the University of Texas, will conduct the workshop, with the assistance of Dr. Carroll Cumbee of the University of Florida.

The last workshop held here was in 1949, when six university consultants came to Midland to conduct the study groups. More than 80 teachers and parents attended the sessions.

The Summer study groups will be open to both parents and teachers, and three hours graduate or undergraduate credit will be given for attending the workshop. It will be held in August.

The purpose of the Child Study program, which was begun in Midland four years ago under University of Texas sponsorship, is to help the teacher and the parent understand the child emotionally, physically, mentally and spiritually.

This Summer's workshop will be open to teachers from other schools in this area, Monroe said.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Washington took bets on Pearson-Howser libel case; Howser's attorneys urged him to sue; Backstage coincidences had direct bearing on the suit.

WASHINGTON — The benches in Washington's U. S. District Court are hard and cushionless. Their backs are straight and dig into your spine. After a week your bones ache—a week of sitting in court listening to testimony, argument, rebuttal, testimony that you are a "cut-throat exuding inky filth over every pore" . . . The jury goes out. You wait, wondering. A juror opens the door. No, he only wants a pack of cigarettes. . . . At the swank dinner parties in Northwest Washington they take odds for and against Pearson. "This will fold him up," gloats one dowager, "he'll have to sell his house, his car, and everything else to pay Fred Howser that $350,000." . . . "Yeah, he'll have to go back to milking cows." . . . Pearson's never lost a libel suit, but this time he's cooked. . . . So ran the dinner-table conversation during the libel suit of Pearson vs. the former attorney general of California.

Toughest Case
Toughest case I ever battled out was a libel suit brought by Congressman Martin Sweeney of Cleveland whom I described as the "congressional spokesman of Father Coughlin." He sued in 70 different jurisdictions—the biggest chain libel suit in the history of American journalism. After losing 35 cases Sweeney got tired and quit. Somebody else, incidentally, was financing his operations as a means of putting this column out of business.

There were also some interesting backstage manipulators behind the recent libel suit of Attorney General Fred Howser vs. Pearson.

Judicial Criticism
Chapter I probably goes back 15 years to a book written by Bob Allen and me called the "Nine Old Men." That book described how whims of fate on the Supreme Court sometimes influenced American history.

One such whim of fate delayed the minimum wage act from becoming constitutional in the United States for two decades. In 1921 the U. S. Court of Appeals had upheld the minimum wage act for the District of Columbia as constitutional only because Justice Charles E. Hughes had fallen from his horse and was not sitting.

Later Justice Robb recovered, demanded a rehearing, and thus delayed action on the Minimum Wage Act for two years—during which time three liberal justices resigned from the Supreme Court. As a result of Justice Robb's rehearing maneuver, therefore, the Supreme Court held the Minimum Wage Act unconstitutional, and the United States was without this important legislation for two more decades.

Grandchildren Cause Trouble
Chapter II probably results from the fact that my granddaughter moved to California and presented me with grandchildren, the oldest named for me. Naturally I visited California as often as possible.

In California any observer could see that its new, war-won population had made it the happy hunting ground for hoodlums and the big gamblers. It also was obvious that those in charge of law enforcement were lax; and in reporting on this situation in a series of columns and broadcasts in 1948 I stated that the chief law-enforcement officer, Attorney General Howser, when a candidate for that office in 1946 had accepted twelve one-hundred dollar bills in protection money passed on to him from a well-known Long Beach gambler.

Chapter III came several months later, when Fred Howser sued. But before he did so several things happened. One was that he came in for serious criticism by the California Crime Commission whose alert counsel, Warren Olney, pointed the finger at various cases where the attorney general's office was apparently close to the gamblers.

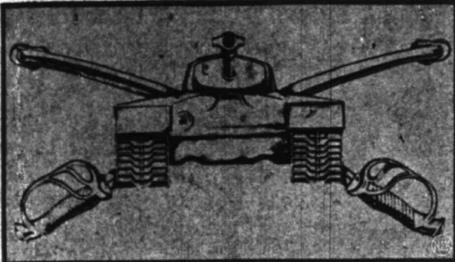

In addition, one of Howser's assistants, Wiley Cadell, tried to bribe Sheriff Beverly Broadus of Mendocino County in an attempt to set up slot-machine protection with pay-offs allegedly to the attorney general's office. Sheriff Broadus arrested Cadell, and he now is in San Quentin.

About this time Howser got a letter from his Washington attorneys suggesting that the statute of limitations was about to run out on Pearson's broadcast, and he had better make up his mind about suing Pearson. He replied that one of his assistants had got into trouble with the gamblers and indicated that this raised a question mark about bringing suit. The attorneys wrote back that this wouldn't make any difference.

So Howser sued. Significantly the attorney who to the Rockies. Rogers finished his law studies at Denver University and immediately started going places in Colorado politics. In 1933 he was elected the youngest speaker in the history of the State Legislature, served a hitch as Assistant U. S. district attorney, and then became attorney general of the state.

One of Rogers' strongest convictions, that the American system of free enterprise must continue, has been passed on to his 13-year-old son, Byron, Jr. When the young man was interviewed by a radio commentator late election night and asked how he felt about his father's victory, Byron, Jr. replied: "I feel fine, but I'll have to be going home to bed. I have a newspaper route in the morning."

Midlanders Invited To Defense Contract Clinic At Odessa

An invitation for Midlanders to attend the "How To Get a Defense Contract Clinic" scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Elliott Hotel at Odessa, has been extended through the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Manager Delbert Downing said Saturday.

Department of Commerce executives and Texas Manufacturers Association representatives are co-operating to discuss rules and regulations governing the obtaining of emergency defense contracts, Downing said.
