Potential Is Slated For Dean Opener In NW-C Midland

Ralph Lowe No. 1 J. E. Hill, assured field opener for the Dean sand in Northwest-Central Midland County, was to be put on a 24-hour potential test Monday.

After a hydraulic treatment through perforations at 9,125-9,240 feet, the well kicked off and flowed without swabbing.

It flowed at an average of 10 barrels of clean oil per hour for nine hours.

Operator will put the No. 1 Hill on potential test as soon as bottom-hole-pressure surveys are complete.

A retainer is set at 9,350 feet in the Dean sand. That formation was treated with 2,250 gallons of hydraulic fluid through the above perforations.

The No. 1 Hill also has indicated that it might produce commercially from the Wolfcamp. It was drilled to a total depth of 13,043 feet in the Ellenburger. That zone made only water.

The project is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 30, block 39, T&P survey and five miles southwest of the City of Midland.

Clear Fork Wildcat Spotted In Howard

L. H. Armer of Fort Worth is to start operations at once at his No. 2-B McAdams, which is to be a 4,600-foot wildcat to try to develop production from the Clear Fork line of the Permian in Central-South Borden County, one half of a mile east of the nearest production from the Pennsylvanian line on the east side of the Vealmoor field.

The exploration will be 330 feet from south and west lines of section 26, block 33, T&P survey, T-3-N. That makes it 20 miles north of Big Spring.

There is no production from the Clear Fork pay section anywhere in the vicinity of the new prospector.

Schleicher Discovery Reports Completion

Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Runge, Northwest Schleicher County wildcat discovery, has been completed for a calculated 24-hour potential of 470 barrels of oil and no water from pay in the Pennsylvanian lime.

The pay section had been treated with 1,250 gallons of regular acid and washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Gas-oil ratio during the potential test was 1,800-1. The oil was flowed through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. Casing pressure was 1,550 pounds. Flowing tubing pressure was 1,900 pounds.

This new discovery has seven-inch casing set at 5,624 feet. Total depth is 5,675 feet. The casing is perforated at 5,612-20 feet.

It is presumed that the oil is coming from both the open hole and the perforated section.

The new producer is 12 1/2 miles northeast of Eldorado and two and three-quarter miles northeast of the discovery well in the Huldale-Strawn field.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 66, block M, GH&SA survey.

Waddell Opener Is Finaled In C-S Ector

Sigclair Oil & Gas Company No. 5 W. E. Connell, on the north side of the Jordan-Ellenburger field of Central-South Ector County, has been completed as a producer from the Ellenburger and as a discovery from the Waddell sand.

The dual producer was finalized for a daily potential of 247.85 barrels of 43.8-gravity oil from the Waddell through a 21/64-inch choke and perforations at 8,375-8,415 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 530-1 and casing pressure was 800 pounds. Pressure on tubing was 120 pounds.

The Ellenburger flowed at a daily potential rate of 234.03 barrels of 42.3-gravity oil through a one-eighth-inch choke, and perforations at 8,780-8,910 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 645-1. Casing pressure was 800 and tubing pressure 120 pounds.

Both sections flowed naturally and made no water.

The Waddell was topped at 8,377 feet, elevation 2,966 feet. No top has been released on the Ellenburger.

The new oiler is 660 feet from south and west lines of the north-east quarter of section 10, block 16, pal survey and two miles southwest of Penwell.

Shallow Explorer Staked In Garza

Paul C. Teas of Dallas has spotted his No. 1 J. S. Edwards, a 3,900-foot rotary wildcat in Southeast Garza County.

Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of southwest quarter of section 10, block 2, T&NO survey. (Continued On Page Five)

Truman Asks Doubled, Tripled Excise Rates

Autos, Gasoline, Appliances, Fags Head 'Boost' List

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Truman Administration Monday asked Congress to add four percentage points to federal income tax rates, double the tax on gasoline and sharply boost levies on cigarettes, automobiles, appliances and other items.

The program, which would hit the pocketbooks of millions of taxpayers, would almost triple the excise tax on automobiles and more than double the tax on television and radio sets, refrigerators and other appliances.

Rail Strike May Halt All Auto Output

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Truman Administration Monday asked Congress to add four percentage points to federal income tax rates, double the tax on gasoline and sharply boost levies on cigarettes, automobiles, appliances and other items.

The program, which would hit the pocketbooks of millions of taxpayers, would almost triple the excise tax on automobiles and more than double the tax on television and radio sets, refrigerators and other appliances.

Three cents a pack would be added to the excise tax on cigarettes, making the total 10 cents a pack. The excise on whisky would go up about 60 cents a fifth and the tax on an ordinary bottle of beer would be raised 13 cents.

The proposed excise increases mean a boost from seven to 20 per cent on auto-levies and from 10 to 25 per cent on television and radio sets. The tax would be imposed on the manufacturer's price.

The present $9-a-gallon liquor tax would be hiked to $12, the $8-a-barrel beer tax would jump to $12, the seven-cent-a-pack cigarette tax would go up to 10 cents, and the gasoline tax would be doubled, going from one and one-half cents a gallon to three cents.

Snyder Gives Details

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder outlined these proposals to the House Ways and Means Committee as part of the Administration's first-installment $10,000,000,000 tax boost.

The plan calls for $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, a $3,000,000,000 hike in corporation taxes and a $3,000,000,000 raise in excise (sales) taxes.

President Truman told Congress last Friday the first-round hike will be followed by another request for an increase of about $6,500,000,000 later this year.

Other basic proposals laid before the House committee by Snyder:

1. A boost in the capital gains tax from a flat 25 per cent to 37 1/2 per cent. The present tax applies to profits from sale of property held six months or more. The proposal would require a minimum holding period of one year.

2. Corporation income taxes—an increase of eight percentage points in normal income tax for corporations, adding $8 in tax to each $100 of profit.

This would lift the rate from 25 to 33 per cent on corporations with profits below $25,000, and from 47 to 55 per cent on those with higher profits.

Corporations with profits in the "excess" class would continue to pay and extra 30 per cent on the amount deemed "excess."

Blount, who proposes to double the tax, lost when he called for a vote "to see who's running this House." The House rejected his motion to print the report 70-42.

Allied Tanks Drive Within Five Miles Of Red-Held Seoul

TOKYO—(AP)—The biggest Allied tank force of the Korean war rumbled deep into Red territory Monday in hit-run killer raids on the western front. It then withdrew.

The main punch carried within five miles of devastated Seoul. It was the closest Allied thrust to the old South Korean capital since United Nations forces pulled out January 4.

Four other armored columns cut sharply into Red areas. Behind a thunderous bombardment by warplanes and artillery, the tanks blasted Chinese and Korean Reds out of hillside forts. The fighting raged at times at such close quarters some Reds were ground to death under tank treads.

A division spokesman estimated that the two main columns, striking on the main road to Seoul and on a lateral road six miles farther west, killed 500 Reds and wounded 1,500.

On the central front, Allied forces in a simultaneous attack gained four miles in four hours and were continuing to advance. These troops pushed four miles north of Hoengson, 10 miles north of Wonju.

Red Casualties Mount

New casualty tolls were piled up on the enemy all along the front, adding to the big Sunday bag which the U. S. Eighth Army estimated at 8,633 Red dead and wounded from ground action alone. Of those, 7,947 were on the flaming western front.

Allied warships and far-ranging fighters and bombers added to the toll again Monday, but there was no early total casualty estimate. The warships hit both coasts.

A front-line officer summed up results of the main armored blow south of Seoul with a terse: "We killed a hell of a lot of them."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, watched the assault within a few hundred yards of the front. The tank-infantry task force rumbled through and beyond Anyang, nine miles south of Seoul. It chucked up Red positions in the hills flanking the highway.

Virginia Executes Last Three Men Of 'Martinsville Seven'

RICHMOND, VA.—(AP)—The State of Virginia Monday closed the book on the "Martinsville Seven" with the electrocution of the final three in the state penitentiary here.

A last minute plea to a U. S. Supreme Court Justice was futile and the three negroes walked to their deaths in the basement execution chamber in the space of 45 minutes between 7:30 and 8:15 a.m.

Their four companions in the mass rape of a Martinsville white woman were executed Friday morning.

Just as Friday's executions were carried out, the three Monday were in an atmosphere of dispassionate calm. None of the demonstrations that marked clemency efforts for the seven here, throughout this country and abroad, was in evidence. Thus the state carried out the directive of the Circuit Court of Martinsville, first handed down on May 3, 1949. In the twenty months interim five reprieves were granted while the case was carried through the state and federal courts.

The men were executed in this order Monday:

John Clabon Taylor, 24; James Luther Harrison, 23, and Francis DeSales Grayson, 40.

All seven of the negroes were convicted of raping Mrs. Ruby Stroud Floyd, wife of a Martinsville store manager, on Jan. 8, 1949. In court, they incriminated each other in signed statements and oral testimony.

Senate Committee To Report Lackland Charges Unfounded

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Senate committee probably will report that complaints of unhealthful overcrowding at the Lackland, Texas, Air Base are unfounded.

A Congress member who asked that he not be identified by name told a reporter Monday the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee found there were only two recent deaths at the base. They resulted from an auto accident and cancer, he said.

A report on the committee investigation is expected to be made public by Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas).

Childless Husbands To Hear Draft Calls

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said Monday new regulations are "in the works" for a draft of married men, aged 19 to 26, who have no children.

Hershey said an order has been drafted for the approval of President Truman and defense manpower agencies which would cancel present deferments for men with one dependent.

Hershey told the House Armed Services Committee of the proposed order during hearings on a bill for Universal Military Service and Training.

The bill would make 18-year-olds subject to the draft. Some Congress members have been insisting married men ought to be drafted ahead of 18-year-olds.

No Legislation Needed

Extending the draft to married men in the 19-26 age bracket can be done without legislation. All that is required is an executive order from the President.

Hershey told the committee the proposed order would limit dependency deferment to:

1. Men with one or more children.
2. Men with a wife and children.
3. Men with more than one dependent. This could be, for instance, an aged parent and an invalid sister.

Hershey said he was virtually certain the interested manpower agencies would approve the order. He said he had been working closely with the secretary of Labor and the secretary of Defense. If they endorse it, President Truman presumably will approve it.

Would Draft Guardsmen

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) told Hershey he thought Selective Service should reach draft-eligible men who have been deferred because they are serving in National Guard or active reserve units.

Of 26 National Guard divisions only six have been called into federal service and "hundreds of thousands" (Continued On Page Five)

Dollar Day Crowds Throng Downtown Stores, Streets

Spring-like weather and freeze-thawing specials in practically all lines of merchandise brought out Midland and area shoppers by the hundreds Monday to send Dollar Day interest, enthusiasm and sales volume to near record highs here.

The crowds gathered early and most downtown stores, streets and sidewalks were crowded throughout the morning, reaching congested proportions during the noon hour.

A quick survey disclosed rush business in most stores, with clerks hard-pressed to wait on the customers.

It was Dollar Day in Midland and everyone seemed to be taking full advantage of the occasion.

Mail Ban Is Eased In Texas

By The Associated Press

An embargo on bulky mail addressed to Dallas and Texas points reached by way of Dallas has been lifted on a day-to-day basis.

Postmaster J. Howard Payne lifted the embargo—even though 300 Dallas railroad switchmen who say they're sick stayed off the job.

Payne said he had checked with postmasters at the key distribution points of Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston and Texarkana. He said he found those cities, like Dallas, have been able to keep mail moving inside the state despite the nationwide sickness strike of railroad switchmen.

Mail headed outside the state still is embargoed.

Most switchmen went back to work Saturday in Fort Worth and Houston. But yards at El Paso and Dallas remained tied up Monday.

Postmaster Says Mail To Some Texas Cities Not Banned

The current nation-wide embargo does not affect mail shipments from Midland to some cities in Texas and New Mexico, Postmaster N. G. Oates said Monday.

Mail of all classes may be sent to El Paso, Fort Worth, Lubbock, San Angelo, Amarillo, Wichita Falls and intermediate points, the postmaster said.

The Midland office will accept mail addressed to cities in New Mexico which does not go through El Paso.

Oates said mail will be accepted to as many cities as possible, wherever it is possible to arrange connections.

Dallas, Waco, Austin and San Antonio also may be added to the list of cities where mail from Midland may be sent.

The mail embargo affects first class mail over eight ounces, air parcel post over two pounds, all second class mail except daily newspapers, all third class mail and parcel post.

NPA Freezes Sales, Deliveries Of All Cattle Hides, Kips

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government Monday froze until March 15 all sales and deliveries of cattle hides, calfskins and kids. The step was taken pending establishment of government controls to assure military supplies.

The National Production Authority, which issued the order, said it applies to priority orders for the armed forces as well as other purchases.

But NPA said the action will not curtail current output of shoes, luggage and other goods because of the time lag—usually about two months—required for tanning and processing raw hides for manufacturing purposes.

The government previously had rolled back the prices of hides,

Isn't Easy To Get Princess Rita Back To Punching Time-Clock

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Latest bait on Rita Hayworth back to the screen is John Bromfield's novel, "What Became of Anna Bolton?" If the Princess doesn't make a movie soon, Columbia may have to film "What Became of Rita Hayworth?"

Pinch me again, please!
France, the "talking" mule, had a stunt double for its kicking scenes in "Francis Goes to the Races." The studio's official explanation: "Francis is too valuable to do its own kicking. Might break a leg."

Rhonda Fleming and her ex-agent, Helen Ainsworth, will tell it to a judge. Helen is suing for unpaid commissions. Fox's "Take Care of My Little Girl," an anti-sorority film, will be rushed to movie houses to cash in on a coming meeting of national college presidents. The proxies will ask that the sorority system be abolished.

There now are three different endings, plus a new title, "My Darling," for the Betty Davis starrer, "Story of a Divorcee." Preview audiences will help pick the ending that will be used. Betty, I hear, objects to the "Divorcee" title because she was afraid too many people would confuse it with her own divorce.

A swank night club just closed in Rome. Investors who lost their shirts: Harry Cushing, Doris and Constance Dowling and writer Edgar Wilde. The untold sidelight on Peter Lawford's surprising rough-riding stunts in "Kangaroo" is that the actor has suffered from a bone condition of the left arm since childhood and was catalogued as a non-action star.

There's a lawsuit on the legal horizon between the music company that published "The Thing" and Howard Hawks, who's producing "The Thing" for RKO. Profits from commercial tieups, not the title, will be at stake. Sign of the times note: Screen actors Jerry Paris and Phil Pine have formed a TV film company called Snafu Productions. Their first picture, "My Aching Back."

Lloyd Nolan, no Erlo Pinza during his long movie career, will burst into song in the coming Broadway musical, "Courtin' Time," in which he plays a well-to-do farmer in search of a wife.

"I sing one solo, by heck," Lloyd told me. "But back in 1934, Columbia let me sing in a picture called 'One Way Ticket.' It wasn't the highest budget picture in the world, so they had to get a song in public domain. They handed me 'Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes.' Nobody ever asked me to sing in pictures again."

Nolan has made 71 pictures since he bounced to Hollywood from his Broadway success in "One Sunday Afternoon." For a while, I did nothing but war pictures. It was uniform after uniform. Then I got a picture that wasn't about war. But I played a postman and still had to wear a uniform.

It once was announced that he would walk barefooted through Bob Hope's "The Lemmings Drop Kid" but Lloyd let it out of the bag that the nude dog angle has been eliminated in the added scenes.

"It was based on a real character who, I believe, is called Barefoot Charlie. We had to change it. The studio was afraid of getting sued. All I do now is take off my shoes and groan."

Fashion Note: There's a new "All About Eve" bathing suit on the market. It shows most of Eve.

Betty Hutton showed up in a chic black dress at her divorce hearing. A newsgal asked how much it cost. Betty whispered, "$39.50."

'Productive Power' Show Slated In Odessa Tuesday

"Productive Power" a dramatic presentation of improved industrial techniques will be staged at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Ector County Auditorium, Odessa. Sponsored by the Texas Electric Service Company, the show was arranged by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation and will demonstrate to manufacturers how to use these improved techniques to produce better, faster, and cheaper electrically.

"Productive Power" currently is on a tour of 125 cities which will take it into every state.

Plant improvements, improved joint processes, and methods of joining materials, which are fundamental problems in any manufacturing plant, are demonstrated graphically by three Westinghouse engineers who are accompanying the show.

The show opens with a graphic display of the effects of wire size and circuit protection on factory electrical distribution systems. A wire loaded beyond its capacity causes a sheet of paper folded over it to burst into flames. Loss of productivity, because of inadequate wiring, is demonstrated on lighting, heating, and motor loads. Poor lighting facilities are contrasted with a modern lighting system to show how proper illumination helps increase production and cut accident rates.

Snatched From Air
Smoke and dirt particles as small as 1,250,000 of an inch are snatched from the air in a demonstration with an electrostatic air cleaner. Infra-red radiation proves its superiority over conventional methods as a paint dryer in a speed test conducted by one of the engineers. The infra-red dries the paint in less than five minutes, while air drying and convection drying barely has started.

A machine gun-like resistance welder demonstrates how to obtain up to 600 separate spot welds per minute. High frequency radio waves are used to cook glue for wood bonding in another demonstration. Production time is cut from eight hours to 35 seconds by using the so-called Dielectric heating.

Full color sound motion pictures illustrate the use of electric furnaces for brazing operations and radio frequency induction heating in production lines of actual plants.

Greer Garson Goes Western In Big Way

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — "Howdy, pardner!"

I had to look twice at the lady in the Victorian costume.

"Sure feel outa place in these here duds. I miss m' boots. And I got no pocket for m' Bull Durham."

The second glance ascertained that it was Greer Garson. But she sounded very much unlike Mrs. Miniver. Mrs. Parkington, Madame Curie or Lady Lovely, her current roles. Sounded more like Calamity Jane, in fact.

She explained that her marriage to Texas millionaire Buddy Fogelson has opened a whole new life for her. She slowed about life on their ranch in New Mexico.

"It's a fabulous place," she enthused. "Why, from our veranda we can look down to the Pecos River and see the marks of erosion on the banks, left there by wagon wheels of the pioneers. And Coronado's expedition went right across our ranch. Now that's history!"

Loves That Country
"Do I sound like a guide book? Well, I can't help it. I'm just so much in love with that country."

Miss Garson has another love—her purebred White Scottish Short-horns, which she imported for breeding purposes.

The actress revealed that her ambition is to have an all-white ranch, including the cattle. Her Short-horns, she bragged, are the best looking breed.

The best part of the life is the people, she remarked. "The cattle fraternity is a fine breed," she said. "There is a common bond among them, no matter what part of the world they are in. It seems to me this might be a new basis for international understanding."

I remarked that I hadn't seen her happier and hinted that it might be due to one cattlemen in particular.

"Yes," she confirmed, "I found myself a great guy."

Medical Student Dies After Battling Police 45 Minutes

NEW YORK — A 25-year-old medical student collapsed and died Sunday night after fighting furiously for 45 minutes against 14 policemen who tried to rescue him from his wrecked automobile.

He was Harvey Oldstone Schiff, 25, bride of a year, Nancy, 25, could give no reason for his action.

Nurses in nearby Bellevue Hospital said they saw Schiff's car back off an excavation for a new veterans hospital.

Schiff fought police with such force that almost all his clothing was ripped off.

He finally lost consciousness and was put in an ambulance, but was dead by the time it reached Bellevue.

The cause of death was not determined immediately, and an autopsy was ordered.

Schiff's wife said he was due to graduate in May from New York University-Bellevue Medical Center.

Carrier Sails On Schedule Despite Saboteurs' Work

HALIFAX, N. S. — The 18,000-ton aircraft carrier Magnificent sailed for Bermuda on schedule Monday, even though her engines were sabotaged on the eve of the training cruise, a Canadian Navy spokesman said Sunday night.

The spokesman said the damage—first disclosed Saturday night—was not serious and was confined to the main bearings and pumps associated with them. Unofficial reports said sand and brass filings were found in an oil compartment in the bearings of an engine.

The spokesman said the saboteurs apparently got their idea from similar incidents aboard the British warships Venushon and Thesus at Portsmouth, England, last year.

Tiniest Of Boston's Quadruplets Dies

BOSTON — The little life of Karen Elizabeth, tiniest of the three-day-old Allen quadruplets, ended Sunday night and all Boston was sorry.

The tiny infant—one pound and two ounces—died at 11:45 p.m. (EST) after a day-long attempt by doctors to bring her out of a "cyanotic spell" which left her unable to breathe properly.

The four babies, two boys and two girls, were born last Friday to Mrs. Helen Allen, petite 31-year-old wife of Policeman Robert J. Allen, 41.

"When Karen died, Dad Allen said, 'It was God's will. But they tell me the other three are fine and we're tickled to death for them.'"

He said he planned to tell his wife, who is still in the hospital, Monday, and added: "But I'm positive she won't be disappointed. We had expected three and hoped for three. And one day they'll all be together again in heaven."

Six Weeks Early
A doctor at Children's Hospital said "gross prematurity" robbed Karen of life. The babies arrived about six weeks before they were expected.

Karen's sister, Kathleen and her brothers, Robert, Jr., and Timothy were reported "fine." They had their first feeding Sunday—a whole spoonful of glucose and water.

All Boston sort of stuck out its chest when the foursome arrived, first quadruplets in the city in 24 years.

Heart Disease Present From Birth Treated By Surgery

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service
Heart disease of various kinds is responsible for much invalidism and far too many deaths. The kind discussed in today's column is that which is present at birth—congenital heart disease.

There are even several kinds of congenital heart disease. In some the openings between different chambers of the heart which should close before birth fail to do so; in others, blood vessels which are useful during the pre-birth period remain open or fail to develop normally.

The defect in the heart may be so large that death follows almost immediately after birth. In many others, however, the abnormality is slight or at least not so serious that life cannot be sustained for years. In the moderately severe cases the infant has a purplish color and these children are commonly spoken of as "blue babies."

This coloration is caused by the fact that blood leaving the heart, which has received oxygen from the lungs, is mixed with blood returning to the heart which has lost its oxygen and has the blue color that is seen normally in the veins.

In addition to the blue color most small infants with congenital heart conditions develop, in the course of time, a sort of clubbing appearance at the ends of their fingers and toes. The number of red blood cells increases in these children also.

Today many victims of congenital heart disease can be treated successfully by surgery. Needless to say, the operations used in such cases require great skill and dexterity. Not all of those with birth defects of the heart are good risks even for the marvelous operations possible today.

Nevertheless, surgery again has proved its ability to extend life and health along lines which would have been thought utterly impossible only a few years ago. Sometimes the results seem like miracles.

Defect Detection
Victims of mild types of congenital heart disease may live for many years without showing important symptoms. Indeed, although it is not too difficult for an experienced doctor to make a diagnosis of congenital heart disease, it may be impossible in some cases to tell exactly what defect is present.

Children with congenital heart disease must avoid infections and strain. Their activity must almost always be somewhat curbed so that they will not throw too much of a burden on a heart which cannot stand it.

So They Say

If they were two inches lower, I think the girls would be barefoot.

—State Sen. William J. Kennan of Boston, asking legislature to do something about plunging necklines on TV.

In former days we spoke of victory. Now we speak only of survival.

—Stuart Symington, chairman National Security Resources Board.

We are paying in blood for the errors, the half-baked thinking, the misconceptions, the inaccuracy and half-truths, and in many cases, the arrogant disregard of sound military planning.

—Rep. Paul W. Shafer (R-Mich).

The military maxim that an offensive is the best defense is particularly true of the Air Force. The best way to stop an air attack is to stop it before it is initiated.

—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

What's RIGHT?

While you are a guest in another's home the hostess' child misbehaves and you sense that she is embarrassed by his conduct.

WRONG: Try to put her at ease by commenting that all children seem to "act up" for company.

RIGHT: Reassure that it is often more embarrassing to a hostess to have a guest try to "cover up" for her than for the guest to act completely unconcerned about what is going on.

NEW WONDER ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, ILL. (Special)—A fabulous new electronic ear which miraculously conceals deafness was revealed by an eminent Chicago acoustical scientist. In an exclusive interview with the Business Research Associates, he disclosed that "through the miracle of modern electronics it is now possible for millions of hard of hearing to recapture their loss without a button showing in either ear." In a remarkable demonstration he showed how his tiny revolutionary electronic discovery has rendered old style hearing aids obsolete. Pointing out that his invention gives new hope to those who have heretofore refused to wear a hearing aid with a conspicuous ear button or head-band, he said that "this electronic ear transmits even whispers with startling clarity." To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new wonder discovery which hides deafness, full details will be sent in a plain wrapper without obligation to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 557C Belmont Building, 1460 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.

'Pay-as-We-Go' Problems

President Truman wants Congress to vote $16,000,000,000 in new taxes so we can finance our stepped-up defense program as we go.

The Administration's financial experts have two chief reasons for urging a pay-as-you-go system. First of all, they consider it unwise to add substantially to the already huge public debt, which now exceeds $250,000,000,000.

Secondly, federal budget men believe heavy taxes are vital as an anti-inflation device. They contend that extensive borrowing has exactly the opposite effect; and they marshal plenty of figures to support the argument.

In the five years of World War II, the government borrowed $214,000,000,000, well over half of all the money it spent in that span.

Moreover, banks not only bought government bonds themselves, but lent money to their customers for similar purchases. During the war their loans shot up about $9,000,000,000.

The government specialists declare that this system contributed heavily to the serious inflation which hit the country after the war.

An even more vital index of money flow, the size of bank deposits, climbed from $45,000,000,000 to more than $128,000,000,000 in the war period.

War-time controls on materials and prices kept this money flood dammed up. But when controls were lifted, the combination of plentiful money and scarce goods sent the price level skyrocketing.

Since borrowing has the effect of creating new money while taxation reduces the supply in people's hands, federal fiscal experts see no method but taxes to forestall repetition of the 1946-49 price boom.

The most seasoned tax men on Capitol Hill are sympathetic with this objective. But they are worried also that too high taxation may have a destructive impact on the economy in another way: that it may dampen incentive and discourage enterprise and thus put a halter on our dynamic industrial system.

It seems fairly certain at this moment that Congress will not raise $16,000,000,000 in new taxes merely through more excise levies on goods and higher individual and corporate income taxes.

So, if the pay-as-you-go aim is even to be approached, a premium would seem to be on new ideas in taxation. Unless Washington fiscal imaginations can get perking along these lines, we're more likely to go deeper in debt and pile up more inflationary dangers.

At Barrel's Bottom

Wesley Fesler, who resigned last Fall as coach of Ohio State University, now has been named head coach at the University of Minnesota.

Now if Ohio will just hire Bernie Bierman, who quit Minnesota in 1950, the Big Ten coaching situation will be back in comfortable balance.

The Turks are becoming more insistent that we sign a pact with them to come to their aid in event of a Russian attack.

A good many seasoned observers believe this would be an extremely wise move. Though the Turks sent a relatively small force to Korea, their fighting men have acquitted themselves magnificently.

Furthermore, the Turks have a home-based army of 1,000,000 men. Every expert who has observed the Turkish situation declares this army will fight—and hard.

Obviously the nation needs every ally it can get. We'd better do all we can to hang onto so valuable a supporter as Turkey seems sure to be.

Drew Pearson says: U. S. establishes opium independence; GOP looks ahead to presidential possibilities in '52; Duquesne University orchestra builds good will.

WASHINGTON—It's an official secret but the United States soon will be independent of the rest of the world when it comes to opium.

This independence will be obtained by planting about 30,000 acres of poppies in California and the Far West; second, by using a new substitute for morphine—methadone.

Most people don't realize it, but the hospitals of the United States hardly could function without opium. In addition, opium and its derivatives—morphine and codeine—would be indispensable in an atomic-bomb disaster.

Therefore, having learned a lesson in World War II, when we let the Japanese take over the opium supply of the Dutch East Indies, the National Research Council and the Munitions Board, under Chairman Jack Small, are getting prepared for an eventual opium shortage.

First, a synthetic substitute for morphine, methadone, according to Dr. Isaac Starr of the University of Pennsylvania, can be manufactured from available domestic chemicals.

Second, the Munitions Board has been collecting opium-bearing poppies through several secret research farms in the West, and now has on hand enough poppy seed to supply 30,000 acres. In a few months more, sufficient seed will be available for 70,000 acres and this acreage, yielding two crops a year, will be enough to supply the entire nation.

Note 1—Exact location of the poppy farms is being kept a secret for fear they will become the mecca of dope addicts.

Note 2—Word of the new U. S. opium supply will bring howls of anguish to the international opium monopoly which has been hiking prices to American purchasers.

It is now exactly 17 months before the two great American political parties hold their conventions and select two candidates who will battle it out to become President of the United States. But even 17 months in advance, the backstage wires are being pulled and the groundwork laid for that battle.

In the Republican camp two men definitely are emerging on the presidential horizon—Taft and Eisenhower.

This was admitted by rotund, likable Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, one of Senator Taft's most devoted presidential promoters, who recently discussed Taft's chances of defeating Eisenhower.

"Ike will have to take a stand on 18-year-olds," he explained privately to friends, "and that will get all the mothers sore at him."

Then he's been over in Germany talking to the Nazi generals, Brown continued, "and that isn't going to please the Jewish voters."

And he's taking a stand on sending troops to Europe, which will get a lot of other people sort at him. So, concluded Congressman Brown, "Ike hasn't got a chance against Taft."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please explain a bridge pointer to me in words of one syllable," requests a Knoxville reader. "How should South play the clubs in his hand?"

"I played the hand at three no-trump and managed to go down. West opened the jack of spades, and I played low from dummy, winning in my own hand with the ace. I returned the jack of clubs, remarking that one black jack deserved another."

"West covered with the king of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. The rest of the top clubs were cashed, but the suit failed to break. I next tried the diamonds," but Bridge hand diagram showing North (D) and South hands with cards like Q43, K12, A65, AQ104, etc.

Was you two diamonds since that suit also failed to break. He then went back to spades, and the defenders took two spades and the nine of clubs, thus setting the contract.

"I can see that my way of playing the clubs lost the contract for me, but how was I to know in advance how the clubs were going to break?"

If West has the king and exactly two small clubs, it doesn't matter whether South leads the jack of clubs or a low club for the finesse in that suit.

Suppose West has the king and three or more low clubs. Once again, it doesn't matter how South plays the suit; but this time the reason is that only three tricks can be won. Whenever South leads the jack, West will cover with the king.

Now let's see a case that does matter. Suppose West has the singleton king of clubs. If South begins the suit by leading the jack, West must cover with the king.

If East leads a low club instead of the jack, West must play his singleton king. Then dummy makes three clubs, and South wins the jack for a total of four club tricks.

In the actual hand, South should lead a low club instead of the jack. West plays low, and dummy wins a finesse with the ten. South gets back to his hand with the ace of diamonds and leads his other low club.

"None of these are in my district," says Shelley, "but it will mean jobs for my San Francisco constituents if any of the three yards are reopened. We pay taxes on the West Coast the same as everybody else. We're entitled to some of this $350,000,000 shipbuilding program, and we'll be in their pitching until we get it."

DiSalle Shows How To Win Friends In A Critical Congress

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Price Director Michael DiSalle, in his first appearance before a congressional committee, demonstrated the perfect technique for getting along on Capitol Hill.

He had such sober-minded senators as O'Mahoney, Taft, Flanders, Frear and Benton and Congressman Hart and Buchanan laughing all over their faces and chuckling in their stomachs.

If it's possible to make price controls popular, the jovial ex-mayor of Toledo is the guy to do it.

The main secret of Price Stabilization Director DiSalle's technique seems to be that he always obeys what should be Rule Number One for any public official—Never take yourself too darn seriously.

When DiSalle first appeared before the Joint Congressional Committee on Economics, Chairman O'Mahoney seated him in the television and newscast spotlight, before the microphones. The hint was that DiSalle should say something historic. He didn't. He wouldn't say anything because he didn't have anything to say, then. Reporters almost fell out of their chairs.

Prop a microphone before most politicians and their jaws start yackety-yacking automatically. DiSalle merely observed that Chairman O'Mahoney had been on the stand for an hour, but it wouldn't take him nearly that long to tell what he knew about price control.

Looked For Past Mistakes
Nevertheless he does know something about price controls. He appears to be one of the few officials in Washington who have been studying the 20-volume history of OPA. This massive work was compiled at a cost of several millions of dollars.

Just so there would be a record of what mistakes had been made in the past, and how to avoid them in the future.

DiSalle has even been conferring with the three past price administrators—Leon Henderson, Chester Bowles and Paul Porter. "They offered to elect me a member of their ex-OPA Administrators' Club," DiSalle observed with a big grin.

When DiSalle first came to town and showed himself, there were predictions that he wouldn't last long. These predictions were increased when Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson canceled Di-

DiSalle's first attempted price freeze order. Some of the old-timers in the Economic Stabilization Agency, when they made first appointments for DiSalle, cautioned people, "Don't be too hard on him. He's green. He doesn't know his way around Washington. Treat him easy."

The advice was unnecessary. DiSalle took to Washington like a Maumee River mudhen takes to Toledo Bay. Whether he can take Washington itself still has to be shown. But all signs now point to the fact that he'll be around longer than some of the people who first wrote him off so quickly.

The way in which DiSalle was recruited for services as Price Stabilization director is not without interest. The story goes back to the 1930's, when Toledo was having its worst labor troubles. One of DiSalle's classmates was killed in the Auto Lite strike riots. Later on, after he had become a lawyer and gone into politics, DiSalle started to organize Labor-Management-Citizens committees to deal with industrial relations problems in the area.

Stack With His Idea
At first he couldn't get any public support. But one of the men who worked with him was Edward T. Cheyfitz, an official of the die-casters' union. He was a good labor leader and a good thinker, according to DiSalle. He accepted time studies and other measures for increasing labor productivity when most unions fought shy of them. The two worked closely in setting up the so-called Toledo labor plan.

Later Cheyfitz was hired by Eric Johnston as a labor adviser and brain trust. It was Cheyfitz who suggested to Johnston that DiSalle would make a good price administrator. Johnston relayed the suggestion to Dr. Alan Valentine, former head of the Economic Stabilization Agency. Valentine had a plane flown out to Toledo to bring DiSalle to Washington for an interview and hired him on the spot.

The previous link through Eric Johnston now gives additional indication that DiSalle will stick around, now that Johnston is head of ESA. "But I'm still only five hours from Toledo," says DiSalle.

When Senator Taft started kidding DiSalle about building up an organization of 50,000 or 60,000, he said, no, 30,000 would be all he'd need for price control. "Some congressmen have been very helpful in suggesting people I might hire," DiSalle said with a smile. They got the point.

When somebody assumed that most of them would be Democrats, DiSalle said: "Party qualifications will not be held against any job applicant." Again somebody laughed knowingly.

VISIT DAUGHTER
Mr. and Mrs. Anton Their spent the weekend in Waco visiting their daughter, who is a student in Baylor University.

Advertise or be forgotten.

Angus rubbed his chin, smoothly shaven above his gray garbardin sport shirt, Lisa noticed. He's about 27, she decided. He looks as wonderful to me this morning as he did last night. But of course she had known it would be that way. And then his peculiar embarrassment and the apprehensive undertone of gravity in his voice joined her.

"It's only routine," Angus was saying to her father, "naturally the authorities would want to talk to all the neighbors."

"Who?" she said.
"Sheriff Lane . . . the police," he repeated gently. "I was telling Mr. Farwell the police questioned 'em and me last night. I think they even suspected me," he said grimly. "You see, and he added the last very casually, without meeting her eyes, 'some of the Grenabes saw a man leaving the grounds by way of the ridge about the same time Mrs. Grenable was killed.'"

LISA felt her cheeks burning and her hands grow icy and she just stood there staring at Angus, remembering that she had seen the figure on the ridge, too. But it was Henry Farwell who spoke to her stiffly.

"You see, my dear, Angus is here to warn us that the police think Lavinia's death was not entirely accidental and they plan to question everyone, including me."

"But were you on the . . ." Lisa stopped, unable to finish the word "ridge" and Angus filled in hurriedly.

"The police know it wasn't an accident, Lisa. It's a plain and simple case of murder. The emergency brake on the wheel chair was sawed in two."

Her father's voice was calm again. "Does Sheriff Lane have any ideas?"
"I couldn't say, but the Grenabes are doing their best to give him some," Angus Kent observed wryly.

Lisa had the sensation that he was watching her, trying to learn something from her, and she felt an odd helplessness for the first time in his presence.

Crimson Holiday

By Jane Holsinger
COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Lavinia Grenable, uncompromising and hateful old maid, has ridden to her death in a whirl of white petals on a terrace into a ravine at her home. Prior to the tragedy, Lisa Farwell had disagreed with her father over her engagement to Kent, eldest of Lavinia's two sons.

Most clearly and frighteningly she was now remembering the figure of her father on the ridge and the echo of Lavinia Grenable's scream ringing in her ears and a furtive movement in the shrubbery as she had gone up the back steps into the Grenable house to telephone.

What was there between Elizabeth Stratton, Lavinia Grenable's sister, and her father that they felt compelled to hide? And along with the rush of memories came another and more terrible one, her father's words at the breakfast table yesterday morning when she had told him about her courtship.

"Elizabeth, you've got to keep control of yourself, listen to me and do exactly as I tell you," Henry Farwell was saying. "Don't talk to anyone about what happened yesterday afternoon until I tell my story. And remember, Elizabeth, I left you in the house. You were not outside, you were not near the coach house. You ran out with the others."

There was a moment of silence, and then: "Did the police find her diary? . . . Does anyone else know?"

"If you can get hold of that diary and burn it. . . I'll be over later."

There was the sharp click of a telephone being replaced in its cradle and then silence.

LISA stood motionless on the stairway landing with the steady tick-tock of the mahogany clock beside her as the only sound in the house. She was frozen there with a memory.

Mugwump smiled. Nothing had happened, really. His face and hands were dirty from a hard day's playing in the Great Forest with never a time to do some washing. That's what Mugwump now was on his way home to do, but he stopped quick enough when Daddy Ringtail asked if there had been a fight. Mugwump began to tell about it.

"It was Slippery and Hippy and Pottamus," said Mugwump. "All three of those great big hippopotamus boys?" Daddy Ringtail wanted to know. Mugwump began to tell about how Slippery had said that Paticyake was not as pretty as another monkey girl that Slippery once had seen. "And I said that Paticyake was the prettiest girl that ever was," said Mugwump.

Daddy Ringtail listened with both ears. He wanted to hear everything, and so Mugwump told him. "Oh my yes," said Mugwump. "And so I grabbed hold of Slippery and I flounced him—and I trounced him —with both my hands and feet." And Mugwump kicked up some dust from the Elephant Path to show just how much dust had been in the air when all the flouncing and trouncing was going on.

"Then what happened?" Daddy Ringtail asked. Mugwump told him how Hippy and Pottamus both had jumped in the fight when they saw how Slippery was getting all flounced and trounced. Mugwump said he grabbed hold of them all by the ears and flounced and trounced them all together. Oh, it was a terrible fight indeed, and the dust rose high in the air, and the forest was filled with a sound of the fighting. "Mugwump," Daddy Ringtail said, "did all that really happen?" Mugwump explained that it didn't really happen at all, but that it was fun to tell it, and so Daddy Ringtail let him tell it again. Oh, Mugwump was a very great hero in all that play-like fighting for fun, but I guess all of us like to play-like sometimes about a dangerous adventure. And people aren't hurt with play-like dangers, and so that's the kind that I like best. Happy day!

SWC Cage Teams Face Second Week Of Possible Upsets

Southwest Conference basketball teams face another upsetting week. Texas last week tumbled Texas Christian out of a share of the lead. This left the Longhorns and Texas A&M pacing the championship chase.

The Longhorns had their own perfect conference record spoiled by A&M. Texas beat Texas Christian 53-43, and A&M used Walt Davis' field goal in the last three seconds to grab a share of first place. It beat Arkansas 34-33.

In other games, Southern Methodist downed Tulsa 64-54. Texas Christian knocked off Baylor 60-48, and Rice licked Sam Houston State 60-50.

When A&M spoiled Texas' unbeaten record in conference play and threw the race into a tie, it was the first time an Aggie basketball team had beaten Texas in five years.

Monday night, Texas entertains Oklahoma in a non-conference tilt at Austin, and Rice takes on Arkansas in a conference game at Houston.

Tuesday, Southern Methodist meets Baylor at Dallas, and A&M invades Fort Worth to tackle Texas Christian. This is where Texas Christian may start shaking up the standings.

Friday, Texas meets Rice—a team it narrowly edged a couple of weeks ago, and A&M tackles Baylor.

Saturday, Southern Methodist goes to Arkansas to play the Razorbacks.

Texas, a surprise pace setter, has had rough going in each of its 18 conference games except the one with Texas Christian. Here a semi-sneaky defense kept the Horned Frogs' speedy players from breaking in under the basket. And they couldn't connect from away out.

The title still could go to either of the top three teams—Texas, A&M or Texas Christian.

The race is only slightly more than half over, and each of the three leaders still must vie again.

George McLeod, Texas Christian's big center, holds a fairly commanding lead in individual season scoring with 248 points to 233 for Jack Brown of Southern Methodist and 232 for Joe McDermott of Rice.

In conference scoring, Harvey Fromme of Texas Christian leads with 83 points. Brown and George Scalling of Texas have 82 each and Ralph Johnson of Baylor has 80 points.

Conference standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Texas	5	1	.833
Texas A&M	5	1	.833
Texas Christian	4	2	.667
Southern Methodist	3	3	.500
Rice	1	4	.200
Arkansas	1	4	.200
Baylor	1	5	.167

Midland Mittmen To Pass Up Odessa Fisticuff Tourney

Bill Glidewell, coach of the Midland Youth Center boxing team, said Monday Midland will not enter a team for the bouts being held in Odessa Wednesday night.

"Most of the boys have been busy with other sports," Glidewell said. "They haven't trained in some time and I don't want to have them in the ring unless they are in shape," he continued.

Odessa, Midland and Abilene previously had been scheduled to hold warm-up bouts in the Broncho City Wednesday night in preparation for the state Golden Gloves meet to be held in Fort Worth February 14-19.

Jerry Culp was the only Midland open division fighter to win a trip to the state meet but he has announced he will not compete in the state tourney.

King's Row

By LARRY KING

It was just about deadline time and we didn't have a sports column completed—in fact we didn't even have one started—for the Monday edition of The Reporter-Telegram.

And since that was not in accordance either with the paper's policy or Editor Bill Collyns' orders, we were in quite a stew.

For once, we were ready to agree with Odessa writer Spec Gammon. Gammon had talked long and mournfully last week about the difficulty of putting together a column every day. At the same time we didn't try to offer Gammon much comfort—but Monday we were sorry for same.

Just as we were thinking of picking up the scraps of paper on the floor and searching them for sports poop, along came the Rev. Vernon Yearby. Knowing he is a source of comfort in times of need, we discussed our problem with him.

Mr. Yearby suggested we call Midlander Everette Smith, who is quite a hunter and outdoors man, for a paragraph or two on coon hunting.

So we picked up the phone and rang 3563. It was busy. We rang again while the precious moments slipped by, finally contacted Smith and told him our sad plight.

In return, Smith told us he has lived in Midland for five years, and has averaged one night a week going coon hunting in that time.

Armed only with a shovel, a flashlight, two dogs and a lot of patience, Smith goes in "any direction from Midland" and stays until the wee hours—sometimes as late as 4 a.m.

Smith told us that he averages one or two coons per hunt—which is a pretty good average, we would suspect, even though our knowledge of coon hunting definitely is limited.

We learned Smith has three young sons who go on the chases with him. The boys are 12, 10 and nine years old. Another son—age two weeks—has yet to make his debut as a hunter.

We also found out Mr. Yearby went along on one of the hunts and found it necessary to take a breather quite frequently during the course of the night's events.

Then we got a break. Chris Hines, publicity director of the Midland Flying Sisters basketball team, told us that was mad at us for awhile—called to give us some information on the Sisters' coach, Ruth Woods.

It seems Ruth was an all-state forward with Quinlan High School and had offers to play with some top flight fem pro cage teams.

Some of the teams, said Chris, were the All-American Red Heads of Nashville, Tenn. Jax Beer Company of Little Rock, Ark., and the Hornets Six of Dallas.

And then we noticed an item that was too late for Sunday's paper, stating Stanford University has hired Charles A. (Chuck) Taylor as its football coach.

Taylor, said The Associated Press release, is one of the youngest men ever to take over as head football mentor at a major university. He is 31 years old and for the last year was line coach of the San Francisco 49ers professional team.

Harold Webb, Midland's colorful baseball owner, was out of town attending a baseball meeting in Fort Worth so we couldn't call on him for a few thousand words.

Tugboat Jones told us all the current football dope last week, and nothing new has happened so we discounted "The Boat" as a source of information and help.

Everyone knows the Phillips 66 basketball team will play here February 13 in the MHS gym, so we could see no point in bringing that up in the column.

Midland and Lubbock High Schools play here Tuesday night but we said that in another article in The Reporter-Telegram.

So, just as we wondered what to write, we realized we were out of both time and space. Consequently there was nothing else to worry about.

That's how sport columns sometimes are written.

We made it, didn't we Gammon?

Bud McFadin To Be Feted In Hometown

IRAAN—This small West Texas oil city will pay tribute to its greatest athlete here February 17 with a "Bud McFadin night."

Bud, the All-America guard on the University of Texas football team last Fall, will be the guest of honor at a banquet in the Ohio Recreation Hall.

Iraan Mayor Bill Beckett has proclaimed a "Bud McFadin Week" from February 12 through 17.

Principal speaker for the banquet has not yet been selected. Some 300 tickets—at $1.50 each—will be sold to the public.

PHILLIPS 66 SOONER—Wayne Glasgow, twice named to All-Big Seven honors when playing with University of Oklahoma, now is a member of the famed Phillips 66 five. A former All-State basketball player at Dacula, Okla., Glasgow led the Sooners five in scoring in 1949-50. This is his first season with Phillips, which plays Hardin-Simmons University here February 13.

Kentucky's Cagers Set Amazing Pace

NEW YORK—(AP)—It is no surprise that Kentucky leads the collegiate basketball parade with three-fourths of the season gone. But the way the Wildcats have been clawing away lately—why, it's simply amazing.

Actually, only two missed foul shots have kept Kentucky from an undefeated record. The Wildcats have won 18 games while losing only once, a 43-42 setback to St. Louis in the Sugar Bowl tourney.

And that defeat might have been averted if Captain Walt Hirsch had connected on one or two of his free throws in the final seconds.

Kentucky, nevertheless, is enjoying one of its finest seasons in history. The Wildcats have a vice-like grip on the Southeastern Conference race (10-0) and are rated No. 1 in The Associated Press poll.

Some even are comparing these 1951 Blue Grass hotshots with the great Groza-Jones-Beard combination of a few years ago.

While that still has to be proved, one thing may be said for the new season's Wildcat team: It has tremendous potential, perhaps more than anybody realizes.

Its conceded competition in the Southeastern circuit is comparatively weak. But the way Kentucky has been rolling through the conference has enough to make anyone shudder.

Last week Kentucky played four league games, and none even resembled a mild struggle. In order, the Wildcats demolished Tulane 104-68, Louisiana State 81-59, Mississippi State 80-60, and, last Saturday, Mississippi 86-39. None of the four games was played on Kentucky's home floor.

But Week For Aggies. The Wildcats took it easy this week with only one game, Georgia Tech Saturday at Lexington.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma A&M, the No. 2 team nationally, faces a busy schedule after a week layoff. After playing at Kansas Monday night, the Aggies Thursday play host to Oklahoma, the only team to trip them this year. Oklahoma A&M has the same record as Kentucky, 18-1.

The Aggies play Drake Saturday at Stillwater.

While Kentucky's stock zoomed to a seasonal high last week, Long Island University and North Carolina State suffered setbacks.

Fourth-ranked LIU concluded a disastrous road trip by losing to St. Louis 62-57 Saturday. Long Island dropped four of its five road games, losing to Arizona Monday and Kansas State Wednesday.

NC State, No. 8, lost to Louisville 86-70 Wednesday, then dropped its first Southern Conference game, after 10 straight victories, to William & Mary 86-78.

Warren Drustetter, crack Michigan State distance runner, won 21 of 24 races while touring the Scandinavian countries this summer with an AAU track and field team.

Modern Pitchers Work Too Little, Says Cy Young 'Iron Man' Of Baseball's Early Days

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cy Young, fabled "iron man" of baseball's horse-and-buggy days, thinks there's nothing wrong with modern pitchers that a little more elbow grease wouldn't cure.

"Too many pitchers, that's all; there are just too many pitchers," the snow-haired farmer from Newcomerstown, Ohio, said Monday.

"Ten or 12 on a team. Don't see how any of them get enough work."

"Why, some of these fellows go a week or ten days without getting in a game and then maybe they pitch two innings. Four starting pitchers and one relief man ought to be enough.

"Pitch 'em every three days and you'd find they'd get control and good strong arms. I know. I've seen it done."

Denton Teumseh Young, the only man to ever win more than 500 games, is 83—be 84 next month. His once robust frame has thinned to about 120 pounds. He can't see the outfield any more, he said. But his baseball knowledge and memory are incisive as a butcher knife.

"I worked every other day and it didn't seem to hurt me," the old righthander added. He pitched in 874 games and won 511 between 1890 and 1911 with the Cleveland and St. Louis Nationals and Boston and Cleveland Americans.

Anti-Chandler Bloc Confident Of Votes To Oust Albert B.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The major league anti-Chandler forces have almost twice as many votes as they need to oust Albert B. Chandler from the office of commissioner of baseball, a club owner claimed Monday.

He also said: "Don't be surprised if we have a new commissioner by opening day (April 17)."

The magnate, who declined use of his name, insisted that the seven who voted last December not to renew the commissioner's contract beyond his present term had gained two more allies during the last two months and now outnumber the pro-Chandler group nine to seven.

Chandler needs 12 votes for reelection.

On the other hand, Chandler is certain he has 10 votes. He confided privately to friends Sunday night he has lost one backer from the original nine who voted for him at St. Petersburg, Fla., but he has picked up two others. The former senator from Kentucky is confident he can get the two more votes he needs to win.

The Screening Committee, however, continues to sift the names of candidates for Chandler's job. Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, one of the four club owners on the committee, said Sunday: "About 30 candidates were being considered."

The committee was scheduled to convene again Monday.

"The committee is doing a remarkable job in screening the candidates," the clubowner said. "Despite what you may hear to the contrary, we definitely are on the road to electing a new commissioner long before Chandler's term expires on April 30, 1952."

Asked if it were possible to oust Chandler before the expiration of his term, the owner said: "Yes. The commissioner's job can be declared vacant at any time, if a majority of the owners are opposed to him. x x x"

Auto Driven By Ex-Boxing Champ Jenkins Kills MP

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—(AP)—A car smashed into a highway roadblock Sunday night, killing a military policeman instantly.

Army and state authorities identified the driver as Law Jenkins, 34, former world's lightweight boxing champion. He was examined at a hospital and jailed for questioning.

The victim was Cpl. David L. Dexter, 22, of Colorado Springs. His body was thrown 75 feet, and "virtually every bone broken," Highway Patrolman Russell Proctor said.

The roadblock had been set up four miles south of here to apprehend a car stolen from Camp Carson.

Returning to Camp Jenkins, a sergeant first class stationed here, was driving back to camp. A bus had stopped at the roadblock, Proctor said, when Jenkins' car came around it and struck Dexter. The car skidded to a stop 112 feet away.

The stolen car was stopped going toward Colorado Springs, and its driver arrested a few minutes later.

Jenkins has coached the camp boxing team since shortly after his arrival last August. His wife and son live here.

He won the title from Lou Ambers in May, 1940, and lost it to Sammy Angott in December, 1941.

FOOTPROOF FORMULA—Wisconsin's Don Gehrmann started the indoor season by twice beating Fred Wilt, on outside, by taking the lead after one lap, holding it for three, falling in behind the G-Man to the backstretch of the last, then coming on. Worst Winter Storm In 50 Years Leaves Deep South Stricken

By The Associated Press
 The worst winter storm to hit the Deep South in 50 years has left the area with damage in the millions of dollars.

Some cities isolated and with business paralyzed for as long as four days have just begun to add up their losses. In Florida alone, the driving, near-freezing rain which whipped the state for 18 hours was blamed for the deaths of an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 cattle in nine counties.

Ammon McLellan, editor of the Okeechobee News, said many heads of livestock were weakened and left so helpless by the storm they will die. He estimated the loss in livestock alone at more than $1,000,000.

Most of the citrus fruit crop escaped damage and vegetable growers were believed not hard hit, but freezing temperatures were reported again Monday as far south as Northern Florida. Generally, though, temperatures were above those of the last few days.

Mississippi, hardest hit state, listed 16 deaths from the storm. Louisiana, where the temperature dropped to as low as 12 below zero at Tallulah, Miss., was bestirring itself again for the first time since the storm cut off all outside communications four days ago. No estimate of the damage there has been made.

Nashville, Tenn., also was returning to normal although it was the hardest hit city.

As temperatures climbed back to normal levels throughout the South the Northern Plains' area and Northern Maine again were hit by sub-zero blasts. Readings below zero were reported in parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Northern Maine.
