Movie Layoff May Help Judy Off Those Excess Pounds

NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD — Behind the scenes: The latest word from Judy's board of strategy is that she'll duck movie making for six months and accept a London Palladium singing date as a "tonic."

Snake-Hips Gilda Wows 'Em Again

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Gilda Gray, shaking and rolling her torso as she did 30 years ago, began her comeback Monday night in a side street cafe.

The former queen of the shimmy and ex-Ziegfeld star wore the spangled shimmy costume and warbled the songs that earned her international fame and millions of dollars in the roaring Twenties.

On the same bill were a couple of young strip teasers, but the applause in the jammed cafe was for Gilda.

Miss Gray, thrice married and admitting 49 years, is recovering from four bedridden years in Colorado.

"Milwaukee liked me tonight," she said, "proving I got the legs and the movement that the nation still wants to see."

"Of all Hollywood stars," says Levy, "Mitchum sings the best. Where he learned it, nobody knows. He sings as good jazz as anybody I know."

It shouldn't happen to a shapely gam, but Marie McDonald's shinbone is scarred as a result of a fall she took during rehearsals of her Hollywood stage fling in "Born Yesterday." Marie, who went to the Mayo Clinic when infection set in, told me at the Mocambo:

The Venus, who's battling her good roles still is punching away. "I'm stubborn," she says. "I'll sit it out rather than do something that's not right for me."

If the rent component increase is extended, and if the cost of living index for Jan. 15, 1951, as announced the first week in March, is around 180, UAW will get three cents an hour wage increase. They'll also get four cents automatic basic rate increase, for efficiency. If index goes to 181 they will get four cents, plus another four cents automatic basic rate increase. This would make cumulative gains 31 or 32 cents an hour over the three-year period.

Country Should Love Him Big, tired Cyrus Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, sighed wearily after weeks and weeks of long days and longer nights of conferences and arguments, trying to get agreement on a wage freeze policy. "If I ever get out of this mess," he said with a weary smile, "I'll never love another country."

Of course he didn't mean it. Nobody has worked harder and more persistently to bring industrial peace to the United States than this patient and understanding ex-streetcar man who rose to become head of a dubber company and one of America's greatest experts on labor relations.

He has been criticized by capitalist-baiters among the rowdier elements of the labor unions, as being too old. He is 75 and was born poor on Prince Edward Island. But nobody can be too old or too wise in this relatively new science of industrial relations.

It was in the Spring of 1948. General Marshall was then secretary of State. The Pentagon was urging that U. S. heavy bombers be based in England, to bolster European defenses. Secretary Marshall was then trying to reach agreement with the Russians on Germany, Austria, Greece and other European problems.

"As secretary of State," General Marshall told the Senate committees in their consideration of today's further arms aid to Europe, "I put a delay on the movement of B-29's to England. Politicians' Strategy For Korean War Gives Military Planners Headache

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — British Prime Minister Ernest Bevin's insistence on United Nations approval for re-crossing the 38th parallel in Korea caught Washington by surprise. It was a little bit like Senator Robert A. Taft's insistence that the United States should get out of Korea and his opposition to sending more troops to Europe. Both actions, by politicians, have caused military strategists at the end of trouble in their staff planning.

United Nations representatives in Washington have been kept fully briefed by State Department and Pentagon on Korean developments. Every nation that has sent troops to Korea has been informed how its contingent was being used, and how it fitted in with broader strategy. State Department has met with ambassadors from the Allied countries twice a week.

Pentagon has briefed military strategists at the end of trouble and the combined chiefs of staff representatives in Washington almost daily. Both have agreed on policies and approved moves made by General MacArthur in the field.

Washington thought everything was rolling as smoothly as could be expected. Prime Minister Bevin's talk upset the applecart. It has dumped in General MacArthur's lay a political question he was trying to avoid in the new campaign to destroy the Communist armies first, without reference to defending any cities or holding any lines.

Sale Aide Won't Complete In announcing Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller's latest trip around South America, Secretary of State Dean Acheson mentioned that Secretary Miller, as head of Latin American affairs, would be in Buenos Aires during the Pan American games. They're modeled after the Olympic games, and will be held every four years in a different Western Hemisphere country.

"But," said Secretary Acheson at the end of his formal announcement, "Secretary Miller is not entering the games himself."

Holes In Price Ceiling Department of Defense procurement officers are giving Price Stabilizer Michael Disalle plenty of headaches by constant demands for exemptions from price ceiling regulations. The armed services justify their requests by statements they can't get manufacturers to take contracts under ceiling prices. Flexible, unfrozen prices on raw materials like wool and hides are what make fixed-price contracts hard to negotiate. So Defense officials shoot over to the Office of Price Stabilization requests for exemptions that will permit contracts for uniforms and shoes at above ceiling prices.

Reluctantly, OPS has to agree to the exemptions so that the armed services can get what they say they need when they need it. And with every exemption, there goes into the economy some more government built-in inflation.

That Old Escalator Here's a record of how the General Motors-United Auto Workers cost-of-living escalator clause has worked out. It will be up for readjustment early in March, with every indication UAW will get another wage boost. Escalator clause has been in effect since May, 1948. First it was a two-year contract. The present five-year contract expires in May, 1955, unless set aside in whole or in part by wage stabilization order.

Cost of living change is one cent per hour for 1.14 points on index. If the rent component increase is extended, and if the cost of living index for Jan. 15, 1951, as announced the first week in March, is around 180, UAW will get three cents an hour wage increase. They'll also get four cents automatic basic rate increase, for efficiency. If index goes to 181 they will get four cents, plus another four cents automatic basic rate increase. This would make cumulative gains 31 or 32 cents an hour over the three-year period.

Alice In Wonderland Trades Looking Glass For Television

Alice in Wonderland became a new and very modern little girl Monday night. For her magic looking glass she substituted an up-to-date television set and for her wonderland, a world of the latest Spring fashions.

The event was the second annual style show given by the Women's Auxiliary to the Midland Memorial Hospital. It was presented in the high school auditorium before approximately 1,800 persons.

Ranellie Rhodes took the part of the storybook character, Alice. Things started happening for the sleepy little adventures when she was awakened by the voice of the narrator, Mrs. Milton Loring. After stretching and yawning like any normal, drowsy child, she expressed her excitement with a little toe dance among the over-sized furniture.

Something seemed to be missing, though. She peered around the table leg and tried to stretch up tall enough to look on top of the table. Then she discovered what she was looking for right in the center of the stage. It was, of course, the television set which suddenly came to life with a wonderland far more interesting than anything storybook Alice saw down the rabbit hole.

While colored slides on the giant screen pictured the stores represented, the models emerged from a door in the bottom portion of the set. The narration was done smoothly by Mrs. Loring.

Has Special Features
A special feature of the show was the presentation of the Catalo Queen and her court. Also, on display in the lobby were two Knox hats exhibits, one picturing the steps involved in making a Knox hat and the other depicting styles in masculine head gear from Civil War days up to the present.

Models for the show included Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Dave Harris, Mrs. Hugh Munn, Mrs. Bob White, Mrs. Jim Willis, Mrs. L. A. Miller, Barbara Cowden, Mary Jones, Ann Porterfield, Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. Harvey Herd, Mrs. Joe Travis, Mrs. Wilmont Hunt, Mrs. Murray Fasken.

Mrs. R. D. Madland, Mrs. Jack Davis, Tova Chapple, Nancy Cooper, Sally Hughton, Madelon Schabarum, Sue Francis, Dana Roper, Mary Ann McRae, Helen Snyder, Mrs. Allen Wemple, Mrs. Kent Moore, Mrs. Orin Gray, Mrs. John Younger, Mrs. Jack Wicker, Sue Johnson, Moña Sue Biggs, Dorothy Colbert, Mrs. Lyle Brush, Frances Eubanks, Mrs. Hal Rachal, Mrs. Russell Wright, Clara Coleman, Marjorie Cramer and Peggy Simmons.

The business houses represented included W. W. Virtue, Inc., The Bootery, Hughes Jewelry Company, Charles A. Haynes Company, J. C. Penney Company, Franklin's, The Dunlap Company, Dorjals, Fashion Salon, Wilson Dry Goods Company, Colbert's.

Quincy Belles-Flowers, Teen Haven, Mrs. She's Flowers, Pauline's Style Shop, S&Q Clothiers, Barnes and Company, Kruger Jewelry, Grammer - Murphey, Midland Floral Company, Vosatko's Jewelry, Travel Bureau, Tailorline and Carl's Luggage.

The proceeds from the show will go to the hospital.

Reports revealed that Midland parents can assist children by providing more good, new books in the home and by learning about the books available at the library. It also was reported that the junior high school and high school libraries need more books and equipment, that the elementary schools are in need of a central library and, finally, that the county library is limited in service by lack of space and inaccessibility to children.

Uncertainty Makes For War

It is time for the United States and the West to make up their minds more clearly about what they will do to defend Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Iran from Communist attack.

The loss to the Reds of any of these nations would endanger the military position of all the others, since it would open them to flanking maneuvers.

There is no dispute among military men on these points. The only question is: What shall we do about it?

For weeks and months efforts have been under way to weave Greece and Turkey into the West's defensive system in some fashion.

The Turks themselves are said to favor being made a signatory to the Atlantic Pact.

The British oppose this on the ground that widening the Atlantic Pact means widening the "area of conflict."

Accepting Greece and Turkey into the existing treaty would have several beneficial effects.

If Yugoslavia were not itself Communist, the same arguments could be made for bringing it into the pact.

The West knows it can use that strength, and that it will suffer if Marshal Tito is crushed by Russia and its satellites.

President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson already have said that an attack on Yugoslavia would be a threat to world peace.

Some experts say this would embolden Tito, would give him the power to drag us into war.

Practical military reasons also dictate protection for Iran, rich source of oil itself and gateway to the vast petroleum storehouse in adjacent lands.

Uncertainty makes for war. An aggressive nation which doesn't know another country's attitude makes assumptions about it.

Courage, Men!

To listen to the timid rabbits at Lake Success and the British Foreign Office, you'd think the 38th parallel in Korea was Russia's boundary.

They say they're afraid the war with China will get "bigger."

One of the best ways to make your troubles feel small is to ignore them—especially when talking to other people.

Smart people watch their money so closely they manage to keep all their bills paid.

The successful man makes hay from the grass that grows under some other fellow's feet.

Lots of folk don't know enough to learn as much as they teach their friends to think they know.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

April; Defense mobilizer will crack down on five percenters; John Steelman may defy subpoena.

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic circles now are convinced the long-anticipated big four foreign ministers meeting not only will be held this April but will be held in Washington.

The meeting between Secretary of State Acheson, French Foreign Minister Schuman, British Foreign Minister Bevin and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky generally is looked upon by the diplomatic corps as the world's last opportunity to reach a peaceful settlement between the East and West.

In the delicate touch-and-go atmosphere of high-level diplomacy, Washington analysts have detected what they interpret as "secret" signals from Moscow indicating the Kremlin is willing to talk out, rather than shoot out, the differences between democracy and communism.

The most important clues are contained in dispatches to U. S. papers from Moscow—dispatches that have to get by tough Moscow censors.

Wilson warned against overexpansion of industry. "We have got to strike a balance on the program for increased facilities, particularly in such things as steel and aluminum," he declared.

Wilson advocated trailers instead of temporary housing to house workers in defense areas.

THE STORY: "Jean Paul," sought New York women's gowns, then bankrupt because Paul Panciera is a top designer.

MR. PAUL PANCIERA was not of the conventional mold, either. He had been a dabbler in the arts since college.

On his thirtieth birthday, Mr. Panciera came into a small inheritance from an aunt and a few days afterwards he met Jean Roland.

JEAN was, however, a realistic young lady. Her delicate young face was the mask of a coldly ambitious and enterprising spirit.

She could have married money on many occasions. But marriage had obligations she did not wish to assume.

"Opulence with independence," that's your slogan, my sweet," Mr. Panciera had told her.

JEAN, still in her top coat moist with rain, looked down at the sketch. "It's stunning," she said.

So They Say

Now that controls are imposed, the patriotic citizens who tried to hold the line are penalized and the smart boys who jammed through wage and price rises are sitting pretty.

A combination of . . . considerations is turning us toward the thought they probably couldn't be able to go into the problem of the construction of single purpose (A-bomb) shelters.

Oh, you meet all your friends there (unemployment insurance office). All the best (movie) people are seen there. The money's ours. Why not take it?

It fully mobilized, the American economy is capable of producing enough to meet our defense needs while . . . diverting billions a year to the carrying out of a positive peace offensive.

It will take seven years of study to become a psychiatrist but . . . (I want to) satisfy my curiosity about the guy with the drink in his hand and eyes all over his head.

People . . . especially young people, are in too much of a hurry. People should slow down and do more praying and lovin' instead of hating. They'd feel better.

I fear communism in this country more than in other countries. —Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn).

Far too many people turn to it (religion) only because of what it can do for them. To turn to religion for no other reason than because of the service it can render us is to exploit it.

Daddy Ringtail :: By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Ill Wind

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was running home fast from school. On and on up the Elephant Path he ran until he came to the very tall tree with the monkey house in the top. Uuuuuup to the porch he went in much less time than it takes to tell it.

Daddy Ringtail was sitting out there in the swing with his favorite newspaper in his hand. He was reading a story about you-know-who, but he put the paper down in a hurry to hear the sad, sad news that Mugwump came to tell.

The teacher's name was Toowit Toowoo. Yes, and Toowit Toowoo was the wise old owl who came from China. He had been standing there by the blackboard talking, said Mugwump, and all of the forest children were listening, when suddenly—Tch! Tch! Tch!—suddenly, Toowit Toowoo had felt the measles about to break all over him with red spots of the kind that measles usually make on the someone having the measles. Toowit Toowoo was a mighty sick owl of a sudden, said Mugwump. His head hurt with a headache. Measles bumps were bumping on him. He was about to be sick in bed for ten whole days, he knew. Oh, but no matter how sick Toowit Toowoo, his first thoughts were still of his pupils. He gave them a message to run home fast to tell their folks.

Yes, and Mugwump remembered the message right, all right. The words were those he had run home to tell, and the words were: "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Daddy Ringtail explained what the words meant. They mean that even when something unhappy—like the measles had happened to Toowit Toowoo—the unhappy something will often bring something happy to someone else—like the fishing trip that Mugwump now could go on because he didn't have to go to school. That's the adventure I'll tell you tomorrow, happy day! And don't worry about Toowit Toowoo. Dr. Shoobug is his doctor. Happy day! (Copyright 1951, General Features Corp.)

Elaborate Public Primping Can Kill Beau's Interest

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

One of the surest ways to stifle a man's interest in you is to smother him in clouds of powder while you primp at a restaurant table.

Few things will disgust him more than watching you "put on your face" with the same abandon that you use in your boudoir.

Although strict authorities still consider it poor etiquette to make-up at the table, realists agree it's all right to do a minor repair job, provided you do it quickly and neatly.

Never comb your hair or apply creams and foundations at the table. Limit your re-doing to a quick swipe of lipstick and a hasty pat with your powder puff on your nose and chin.

To accomplish these light dabs without powder clouds or dusty trails on the table linen, observe these simple rules:

First, choose a compact equipped with a leak-proof powder door. This will keep the puff from accumulating excess powder while the compact is closed.

After touching your puff to your powder, it's also helpful to snap this inner door shut and pat off any excess powder upon its surface before applying the puff to your nose.

It's a good idea to fill the powder compartment only a half or a third full. This should be enough to last you until it's puff-washing time again, and an empty compartment will serve as an excellent reminder for this important beauty chore.

Compact etiquette requires that making up in public be inconspicuous and kept to a minimum.

Since the state of a woman's compact is often regarded as a key to her personality, always keep your vanity ready to pass the covert inspection people give it.

Items to check include the cleanliness of your puff, the interior neatness, and the exterior polish of your compact. Protect its gleaming surface with a flannel cover which will guard it against unsightly scratches.

Sales Fill Sails Of Pleasure Boat Industry; Future Unsure

By SUMNER F. AHLBUM
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Under a brisk sales wind whistled up by eager boating enthusiasts, the nation's pleasure boat industry is sailing into a Springtime boom.

The breeze sprang up with unexpected force as the 1951 boat shows got underway. A lot of it probably has been stirred up by mobilization scare-buying, and the boat makers aren't sure what uncharted obstacles lie ahead in the way of shortages and restrictions. Nevertheless, the breeze is ruffling the order pads. Hardly anybody in the boat business is turning away customers as yet, even when they are buying items like outboard motors in unusual quantities, apparently to stash them away for the duration.

Ducking Rumors
By the time the 41st National Motor Boat Show closed in New York, the boat makers were ducking a lot of rumor squalls, but they weren't running for shelter. When the Chicago National Boat Show opens there may be more accurate indications on which to base an industry forecast for the long-range future.

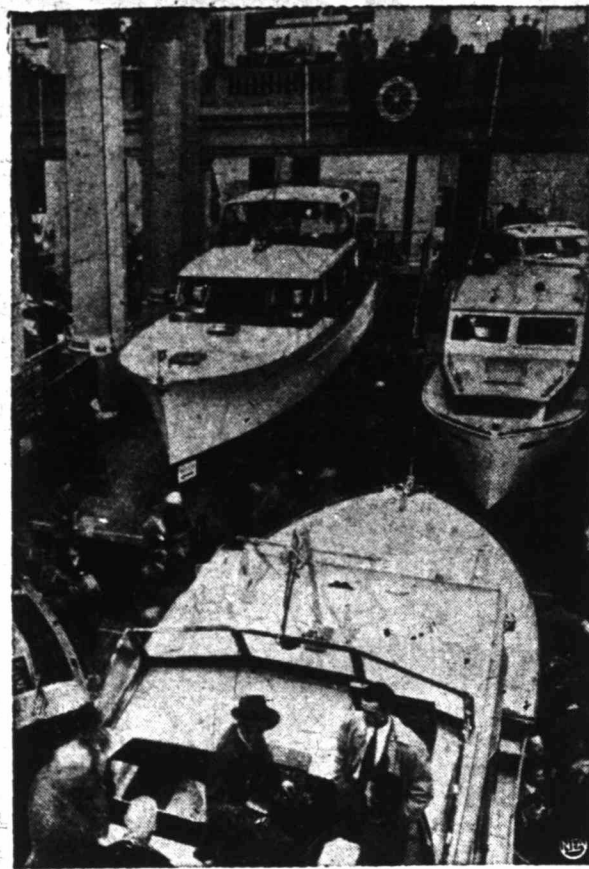

Right now a lot of builders have a good inventory of vital material, such as steel, and since the last war is still fresh in their minds, they are beginning to fabricate it immediately so they won't have to give it back.

One engine manufacturer, for instance, has enough material to make 1,000 engines, which would keep him busy for the next nine months. This material includes the most critical item, shafting, which contains copper.

Signs Dealers
A builder of steel pleasure boats has enough steel on hand for 140 craft, and was busy during the New York show signing up new dealers.

There was some gloom. An aircraft corporation which has been making a highly popular aluminum dinghy has stopped building them because of the aluminum shortage, although some users of that metal think they can still get it from Canada.

One maker of popular cruisers indicated he was going to halt pleasure boat building in a couple of months; another big-name builder, specializing in custom craft, was still happily accepting sales contracts despite the fact he has a defense contract.

All they need is water: Despite rumors of shortages, there were plenty of boats—in all sizes—at the National Motor Boat Show in New York. There were plenty of boating enthusiasts, too, like the ones clustered here, and plenty were buying.

Talk Substitutes
The immediate pinch, apparently, will be in hardware—cleats, deck plates, hull fastenings, and other fittings. Most modern pleasure boats use brass and bronze for those items. But builders already are talking in terms of substitutes, such as wooden cleats and galvanized fastenings.

Some of them are even standing around, during lulls in the flurry of customers, talking nostalgically of the old days of wooden ships, when wind was all the power you needed and the hull was fastened together with trunnels. A trunnel is a nail made of wood, and nobody expects any shortage like that.

Sky Lights Revealed As Super Flash Bombs

MUROK, CALIF. —(AP)— Night flashes high in the sky over this area were disclosed Tuesday to have been photo-flash bombs of as much as a billion candlepower. Spokesmen at Edwards Air Force Base here said the illuminating bombs could be seen as far as 300 miles away under ideal conditions. They are dropped in multiple series at altitudes ranging up to 30,000 feet.

18 Volunteer As Human Guinea Pigs In Hope Of Finding Cure For Now-Fatal Disease

SAN PEDRO, CALIF. — (AP)— Eighteen persons now doomed to die were selected Tuesday as volunteer guinea pigs in a research experiment which may produce a cure for the fatal disease, muscular dystrophy.

The research is being conducted by the B'nai B'rith's Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark. J. A. Robinson, chairman of the Budget and Finance Department of B'nai B'rith, national Jewish welfare organization, said the volunteers were chosen from among 300 applicants from all over the country.

Many Nurses Request HADACOL

HADACOL Helps Folks Suffering Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Registered nurses, in increasing numbers, are showing a keen interest in HADACOL and in the results that are being secured with this great modern formula. Requests have been received from many of these nurses for professional samples of HADACOL and many of them indicated that they recommend the HADACOL formula to their patients. For example, Mrs. Kathleen C. Marquess, a registered nurse who lives at 319 West 2nd St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says this about HADACOL:

"Your HADACOL has already improved my appetite, and I am sure I'll regain my fifteen pounds soon. Those patients to whom I passed on your professional samples are all continuing to take HADACOL and most of them are now trying it in the family size bottle. All have been helped. Some are much, much better from an emotional standpoint. I saw one yesterday sitting on the porch of the next-door neighbor, chatting and smiling. She had only been able to walk around in the house. Just imagine that — after only three bottles of HADACOL!"

Mrs. Marquess and her patients, whom HADACOL has helped, were suffering deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. Copyright 1951, The LeBlanc Corp.

Sale Of Mexican Beef To American Packer Reported

EL PASO — (AP)— A Mexican meat firm says it has sold 1,000,000 pounds of boned Mexican beef to the Cudahy Packing Company.

However, a Cudahy vice president, Charles J. Stewart, said in Omaha, Neb., Monday night no contract had been signed. W. W. Brunson of Empacadora de Casas Grandes, S. A., in Chihuahua, Mexico, announced earlier Monday night that the contract called for the delivery of about $500,000 worth of meat in the next few weeks.

He said the shipment would include 200,000 pounds of corned beef hash, and a similar amount of meat and gravy. He said delivery would be made to Cudahy's processing plant in Omaha.

Brunson said the meat would be processed in the United States because of a shortage of tin cans in Mexico.

Robinson said the formula is completely under the control of B'nai B'rith.

Robinson said the clinical experiments will begin March 3. The 18 volunteers are scheduled to check into the hospital Wednesday.

They include the Cobb brothers—ages seven, nine, and 11—from Newbern, Tenn.; eight-year-old Anita Mayhill from Wichita, Kan.; E. W. Napier, 19, of College Station, Texas, son of an Air Force colonel; Joe Kosiba's two daughters, ages nine and 14, from Leland, Ill.; a Washington, D. C., government worker, and the 14-year-old son of Theron C. Mann, Pocatello, Idaho.

Robinson said other families also are under consideration for the clinical program.

Missing Mdivani Back Home Again

LOS ANGELES — (AP)— Prince David Mdivani, last of the three marrying Mdivani brothers, is back home after being reported missing when he failed to return on schedule from a business trip.

"I guess I should have told her I was not coming home over the weekend," the prince, now 48, said on his return Monday afternoon. His wife, Virginia Sinclair Mdivani, oil heiress, had roused police with a missing person report.

The manager of the La Quinta Hotel at Palm Springs said Mdivani was seen there Saturday and Sunday. Asked about this, the prince shrugged: "Well, perhaps."

Jury selection was completed Monday. Bryant, former Dilley football star, was slain at a tavern in Dilley. Young is a former Dilley constable.

The trial was moved here from Pearsall on a change of venue after attorneys were unable to choose a jury in Pearsall.

Highest Court Rules States Can't Ban Strikes In Utilities

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Supreme Court has ruled that states cannot ban strikes in vital public utilities, even in emergency. The decision, affecting only a Wisconsin act, threw a cloud over similar laws in other states.

By a 6-3 vote, the high court Monday knocked out a Wisconsin law prohibiting utility strikes which interrupt essential public services. The court said Congress has taken over legislation in the field and that the states may not interfere.

Law officials in Massachusetts and New Jersey indicated a belief the court's decision does not necessarily mean their laws banning utility strikes are invalid. In other states, officials withheld comment pending study of the decision.

Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO, hailed the action however as "clearly" extending to similar laws in such states as New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Nebraska.

Varying Laws On Books
Varying laws on the subject also are on the books in Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri and Virginia. But not all of them require compulsory arbitration—as did the Wisconsin act.

The Supreme Court's majority opinion by Chief Justice Vinson said the ultimate right to strike is guaranteed by the 1935 Wagner Act and the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act, despite public inconvenience.

Vinson said these "supreme" federal laws apply to local utilities operating within a single state, because these utilities affect interstate commerce. Thus, said Vinson, the law does not permit state regulation in "the field of peaceful strikes" in utilities.

A dissenting opinion by Justice Frankfurter argued that the federal laws regulate only national strike emergencies, leaving control of purely local emergencies to the states. He was joined by Justices Burton and Minton.

And all rights, contended Frankfurter, must bow to public welfare.

Southwestern Life Reports Record Business In 1950

The Southwestern Life Insurance Company Tuesday reported a record business year in 1950 as it released for publication the company's forty-eighth annual financial statement.

Two new records were announced by President J. Ralph Wood, who said the company's agency force in 1950 produced $115,186,624 of new paid-up business, which resulted in an increase in the company's 1950 insurance force to a total of $829,222,242 at the end of the year.

Both the new paid-up insurance and the insurance in force, $87,578,223, are the greatest for any year in the history of the company. Southwestern Life is represented here by M. R. (Red) Gayle.

The company's financial statement shows 1950 year-end assets in a total amount of $223,090,135.07, an increase during the year of $22,957,213.06. Funds for safeguarding the savings of policyholders were increased by the addition of $1,000,000 to capital, $500,000 to surplus, and $628,098.96 to reserves for contingencies, which raised the total amount of capital, surplus and contingency reserves to $20,952,645.90.

Following long-established policy, the company in 1950 increased its loans on Texas real estate by $17,492,822.

Dallas Husband Is Heavy Handed
DALLAS —(P)— A Dallas man was put under a $50,000 peace bond not to strike his wife any more with a sledge hammer.

The man explained Monday in Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg's court:

"My wife is cranky when the weather is bad. So when the weather looked threatening I hit her with a sledge hammer."

The woman now is in a Dallas hospital with head injuries.

Richburg levied a jail sentence and the peace bond.

"The next time you hit her," the justice warned, "you'll either pay $50,000 or lay it out in jail."

23 Soldiers Hurt By Shell Explosion

CAMP ROBERTS, CALIF. —(P)— Twenty-three soldiers were injured by the accidental explosion of a 60MM mortar shell Monday.

Nineteen required hospitalization. One was reported critically wounded and three hurt seriously.

Lt. Edward F. Stewart, commanding company 'C' of the 1401st Engineers combat battalion, said:

"The company was marching in an extended platoon formation through a training area when one of the men picked up what appeared to be a dud.

"He was warned to put it down and one way or another threw or dropped it.

"As he did so the shell exploded." No names were released.

Ranger Sets Trap, Shoots Hijacker

AUSTIN —(P)— Texas Ranger Doyle Carrington got his man with one shot—in two places.

Several hijackings have taken place recently on lonely Burleson Road near here. Carrington set a trap.

After long, lonesome hours of waiting a man with a handkerchief over his face and a drawn pistol approached the Ranger's parked car and announced: "This is a holdup."

The ranger's bullet hit the barrel of the holdup man's gun and split it.

Nineteen-year-old Charles V. Davis of Austin was hit in the abdomen and chest. Hospital attendants said Monday night his condition was satisfactory.

Grand Jury Indicts Almas For Murder

NACOGDOCHES —(P)— Trial date for Clifford W. Almas, 18, of Ellimore, Mo., charged in the roadside slaying of a Corpus Christi sailor, was to be set Tuesday.

Almas was indicted Monday on a murder charge.

Almas is being held without bond in the Cherokee County jail. Last week he directed officers to the body of William Leo Dauphinals, 25, an aviation machinist's mate, on an embankment near here.

Almas was arrested in Jefferson City, Mo., where he told officers he shot Dauphinals "on impulse" as the sailor lay sleeping in his car, then dragged the body off the road.

Enspak was the first of six UE officers to be tried on the contempt charge.

Senate Approves Free GI Insurance

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Senate passed by voice vote Monday a bill to give $10,000 worth of life insurance free of cost to persons on duty with the armed forces since last June 27.

It now goes to conference with the House, which earlier had approved a somewhat similar bill cutting off the insurance upon discharge from the service. The Senate bill would permit its extension upon payment of premiums, as is now the case with National Service Life Insurance (NSLI).

The 1951 Dependable DODGE
Just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars

All in a Year's Work

HERE'S WHAT WAS DONE IN 1950 TO BUILD A STRONGER, BETTER TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN TEXAS

333,000 Square Feet of Floor Space . . .
Fifty-three new telephone buildings or building additions were either completed or started in Texas during the year—an additional 333,000 square feet of living quarters for a fast-growing telephone system. Inside buildings, enough new dial equipment and main switchboard positions were added to serve almost 148,000 telephones.

46 Times Around the World . . .
During 1950, about 1,164,000 miles of wire were added to Texas' telephone system to carry local and long distance calls—enough to circle the earth more than forty-six times at the equator. Another familiar scene that indicates telephone growth—the placing of a new telephone pole—was repeated almost 131,000 times last year.

Every 37 Seconds . . .
Installers were busy, connecting 537,650 telephones last year . . . an average of one every 37 seconds . . . enough to serve a city the size of Dallas, Houston, and Beaumont combined. During the year, 421,150 Texans discontinued their service, leaving a net gain of 136,500 and bringing total number of telephones in service to 1,520,000.

468 Calls for Each Texan . . .
The growth of telephone service is reflected in the increased number of calls made by telephone users. During 1950, an estimated 3,597 million calls were made—an average of 468 calls for every man, woman, and child in Texas. Such vigorous telephone growth is always a good thing—but today, doubly important as a stockpile of strength for defense.

Growth is Expensive . . .
Materials, wages, and construction costs have gone up tremendously. Gross construction cost in Texas last year was $82,623,000. That's an average of $84.31 for each of the 980,000 people in all walks of life whose help we must have to pay for expansion and improvement of telephone service—the people who have invested their savings in the telephone system.

We Can't Stop Growing Now . . .
The need for telephone growth is far from satisfied. It is imperative that we meet fully the service demands for defense, both military and industrial. Now, as never before, improved telephone company earnings are important—for only adequate earnings can attract new investment money needed to expand the telephone system.
