Tide Water Associated Oil Company is to drill its No. 1 L. C. Hickman as an 8,500-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in extreme North-east Crosby County, 17 miles north-east of Crosbyton.

Location has not been surveyed, but it will be approximately 1,800 feet south of the north and mid-way between the east and west lines of section 2, block 13, C. S. Hickman survey.

Pan American Production Company, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company, Skelly Oil Company, Atlantic Refining Company and C. B. Hamill are contributing to the drilling of the well.

It will be dug to 8,500 feet or the top of the Mississippian.

SE Crane Discovery Reports Completion

Cabot Carbon Company No. 1 J. B. Mayberry has been completed as a producer and new field opener from the Connell sand of the Simpson in Southeast Crane County.

The new oiler, which made only water in the Ellenburger, was finished from the Connell sand for 17.94 barrels of 40-gravity oil.

It was completed on the pump from plugged back total depth of 5,157 feet. The pay was topped at 5,133 feet. The discovery was drilled to a total depth of 5,335 feet in the Ellenburger.

No. 1 Mayberry is 5,933 feet from northeast and 660 feet from south-east lines of section 3, block 31, H&T survey and four miles northwest of Girvin.

Spraberry Shows Logged In Reagan

Interesting shows of possible Spraberry production were logged on a drillstem test in W. Dave Henderson and Associates No. 1 Weddell, deep wildcat in Northwest Reagan County.

No top of the Spraberry was picked.

The drillstem test was taken over the interval from 6,290 to 6,390 feet. The tool was open for four hours. There was a strong blow of air throughout the test. No fluid surfaced while the tester was open. Recovery was 680 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud. It was estimated that the recovery was five per cent oil.

Flowing pressure was 75 pounds and 15 minute shutin pressure was 225 pounds.

The prospector is now drilling below 6,405 feet in the Spraberry. It is contracted to go to 12,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 19, block E, H&T survey and four miles northwest of Stiles.

Germania Field Gets Extension

Cumberland and Weiner No. 1-17 Andrew Paskan has been completed as a one location southeast extension to the Germania - Spraberry field of Northeast Midland County.

The new well was completed for a daily potential of 210.65 barrels of 38.1-gravity oil and no water.

The production was gauged through a 10/16-inch choke and open hole at 7,100-7,184 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 725-1. Tubing pressure was 80 pounds.

The producer is located at the center of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 17, block 36, T&P survey.

N-C Andrews Wildcat Gets Show On DST

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-AK University, wildcat in North-Central Andrews County is drilling below 6,180 feet in the Clear Fork after developing good shows of commercial production on a drillstem test of that formation from 6,105 feet to 6,180.

The tester was open for two hours. Recovery was 143 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud, 30 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud, and 170 feet of heavily gas and slightly oil cut mud.

The prospector is slated to be dug to 12,700 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Drillsite is 651 feet from east and 663 feet from north lines of section 13, block 14, University lands survey.

Cities Service No. 1 Reed, Ellenburger wildcat in Central-North Andrews County, has spudded in and is drilling below 790 feet in redbeds.

The prospector which is being drilled 1,984 feet from south and 1,981 feet from east lines of section 10, block A-36, psi survey, is to go to 13,800 feet.

Bandit Snatches Air Force Payroll

Daring Holdup By Lone Man Nets $33,000

WICHITA FALLS—(AP)—A lone robber held up a squadron paymaster at the sprawling Sheppard Air Force Base here Wednesday and made off with a $33,000 payroll.

First reports said two armed men were involved, but Sheppard Field officers later said only one bandit pulled the daring holdup.

The robbery took place about 7:45 a.m. in front of the finance office near the Base Headquarters Building.

The robber, described as in his early twenties and wearing olive drab fatigue clothes, escaped in a payroll car toward Iowa Park, 12 miles west of here.

Road blocks were set up and planes took off to search the area by air.

The robber stuck up Capt. Ray D. Harwood, paymaster for the 3756th Student Squadron, and the squadron pay clerk, Cpl. John J. Hirsch.

It was payday, and the two had just checked out the payroll from the finance office.

Capt. Harwood said the robber was in the back seat of his car when he and the corporal left the office. The man told them he was sick.

Harwood and the corporal got in the front seat, the payroll between them, and proceeded to drive toward the north gate.

Fires Once At Captain

After driving about a block, Harwood said, the man pulled a gun and told them to hand over the money.

The captain dashed from the car, and the man fired one shot but missed. Then, with the corporal as a hostage, the man drove off out of the north gate.

The corporal managed to leap out of the vehicle when it slowed down at an intersection about three and one-half miles from the base.

Harwood, ordinarily training operations officer for the squadron, is from Wichita Falls. Hirsch is from Del Norte, Colo.

Harwood gave this description of the man:

About five feet, 11 inches tall, weight 180 pounds, black wavy hair, and rounded face. He was wearing olive drab fatigue clothes with no insignia.

The gun used by the bandit was believed to be a .38 caliber pistol.

This additional duty will mean an across-the-board $25 monthly wage increase, but Col. Milan N. Plavick, director of the Department of Public Safety, said the critical need for additional police service was the determining factor in lengthening the hours.

"There has been an increased demand," he said, "for traffic work, accident investigation and other police work in Midland."

Three Oil Men Die In Airplane Crash

ATHENS, TEXAS.—(AP)—Three prominent Houston oil executives were killed Wednesday in a plane crash eight miles north of here.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Register identified the victims as Thomas Price, James L. Newlin and W. A. Dickson.

Register said the bodies of all three were "badly mangled."

In Houston, an official of the Dickson Drilling Company said Wilburne A. Dickson, the company president and two other men left Houston Wednesday by plane on a business trip to Tulsa, Okla.

He said Dickson was the pilot and owner of the plane and that he thought the other two men on the trip were Thomas A. Price, export man for the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company, and James L. Newlin, president of J. L. Newlin, Inc., an oil field hauling company.

Tank-Led GI's Move Up On Central Front

TOKYO—(AP)—Tank-led American forces punched six miles into the battered eastern flank of the Red battle-line Wednesday on the Central Korean warfront.

The armored patrol of the U. S. Seventh Division was within sight of Amidong, 31 miles south of Parallel 38—the northernmost penetration by American forces on the east-central front.

Other division elements pushed westward from the anchor point of Pangnim and linked up with the U. S. Second Division on the vital lateral highway to Hoengsong, 28 miles to the west.

The link-up broadened from eight to 13 miles the American control of the Red supply route.

The Seventh Division patrol, thrusting six miles north of Pangnim, reported the Reds were disorganized and moving in all directions. One officer told AP Correspondent Tom Stone the Reds might be attempting to regroup but "more likely" were moving in "utter confusion."

Reds Getting Bellyful

The officer said the Reds were surrendering in ever-increasing numbers. He added: "They're just getting a bellyful."

Amidong is six miles south of Changdong and some 40 air miles inland from the east coast. Aerial spotters reported Changdong may be an assembly point for the Korean Reds.

South Korean amphibious forces were active on both the east and west coasts. On the western front, (Continued On Page Eight)

The jury returned the verdict shortly after 6 p.m. and fixed the penalty at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Defense Counsel Ed Stitt said Wednesday no decision has been reached concerning a possible appeal.

Although the jury was qualified for the death penalty, neither District Attorney W. O. Shafer nor County Attorney Reagan Legg asked for the extreme penalty in their final arguments.

The defense of the Midland negro, an ex-convict, was based on self defense and he took the stand himself to say he shot his aunt Margaret Woodbery, because he feared for his life.

The jury returned its verdict to Judge Charlie Sullivan only 25 minutes after retiring to deliberate.

One Year Is Enough, Says Clay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lucius D. Clay, former U. S. commander in Germany, Wednesday said sufficient Western European defense forces can be assembled in a year to make Russian aggression "seem unprofitable."

But to do this, the retired general said, the present course of rearming Western Europe and supplying American ground troops to the North Atlantic Defense Force must be pursued "full speed ahead."

Clay appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. He urged that American troops be sent to Europe "without limitations" for the defense force being assembled by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Disputes Hoover Ideas

He sharply disputed testimony of former President Herbert Hoover Tuesday that to send troops before the Europeans themselves were fully prepared would be to invite a massacre.

"I do not subscribe to the theory that the Russians are supermen or super-fighters, or that General Eisenhower, given a reasonable number of men, would be overwhelmed and massacred," he said.

Clay had many face-to-face deals. (Continued On Page Eight)

A 70th District Court jury deliberated less than 30 minutes late Tuesday before convicting 24-year-old James Woodbery, negro, on a charge of murdering his aunt last July.

The jury returned the verdict shortly after 6 p.m. and fixed the penalty at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Defense Counsel Ed Stitt said Wednesday no decision has been reached concerning a possible appeal.

City Asks Bids On Two Fire Stations

Advertising for bids for the construction of two new fire stations in the north and south sections of the city was authorized Tuesday night by the City Council.

One station will be built at Edwards and Golf Course Road and the other at South Baird and East New Jersey Streets.

The advertising was authorized after the north site was accepted formally over the protest of one home-owner in that area who said he and his neighbors "will fight this thing tooth and nail."

City Manager W. H. Oswalt, in presenting the selection of the site, said it is located in a good spot and will cost the city only $2,500. Another site, previously under consideration, was priced at $7,500.

The home-owner, who did not identify himself, said he lived across the street from the proposed site and he and his neighbors feared the location of a fire station would decrease the value of their properties.

Delay Termed Costly

"We bought there in good faith," he said, "that the neighborhood would be restricted to other homes."

Councilman Jack Wilkinson pointed out it was "unfortunate" but that the fire station had to be located somewhere and that "every day we delay this thing is costing us money."

After authorizing purchase of the site, the council also passed a resolution agreeing to maintain the park at the south station site, which was given to the city.

The two stations will be identical in appearance.

Lee Thomas Files For Council Post

Another candidate filed for a City Council post Wednesday as the Saturday filing deadline neared for the April 3 city election.

The latest candidate is Lee C. Thomas, who filed for Place No. 3, a post also being sought by J. W. (Johnny) Starr and Robert R. Currie. Councilman W. F. Hejl has announced he will not seek reelection to that post.

As the deadline at noon Saturday drew closer, the City Council Tuesday night went through the formality of setting April 3 as the date of the election by passing the necessary ordinance.

Midland Scholastic Census To Be Taken Thursday Afternoon

Midland schools will be dismissed Thursday afternoon, and teachers will scatter over the city, taking the annual school census.

Teachers make the rounds yearly, enumerating the children in each family, listing their ages, parents' names, how long they have resided in the school district, and gathering other information which is necessary to the management of the schools.

School officials request that a parent or guardian remain at home Thursday afternoon until the census taker has called. It is impossible for a child to give the census information because the census blank must be signed by a parent or guardian.

The purposes of the census are to help determine the enrollment for the coming school year, and to assist in determining the number of students for whom the schools will receive state apportionment next year.

The teachers will work in pairs. Each school will be responsible for the district surrounding it.

Children to be enumerated are those who will be between the ages of six and 18 September 1. The schools particularly are interested in obtaining the number of six-year-olds who will enter school in September.

Special Showing Of 'Macbeth' Opens At Yucca Theater

Orson Welles' striking screen production of Shakespeare's thrilling drama, "Macbeth," has its Midland premiere Wednesday at the Yucca Theater. The production also will be shown Thursday.

Because the drama's suspense mounts steadily to the overwhelming climax, the management advises that maximum enjoyment will be had by witnessing the production from the beginning.

The outstanding cast of "Macbeth," headed by Orson Welles himself, includes stars with stage, screen and radio background. The script of this screen version was acted out at the University of Utah Centennial Celebration to great audience enthusiasm.

"Macbeth" is a Charles K. Feldman Group-Mercury Production, filmed at Republic studios.

The Midland chapters of Beta Sigma Phi urge a large attendance of Midland and area residents at this sorority-sponsored showing of "Macbeth."

Fred Astaire Will Be Back On Ice Skates In New Film

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: Bud Abbott is boiling over the TV critics' screams of "burlesque-show stuff" that greeted the first live Abbott-Costello show. Grouched Bud.

"Sure, most of our material is from burlesque. But what comedy today isn't from burlesque? No body can write anything new. If Lionel Barrymore had done our material, the critics would have said it was artistic."

It's supposed to be hush-hush, but both Fred Astaire and Vera-Allen will blossom out as an ice-skating dance team in "Belle of New York." Astaire hasn't sailed over the ice since 1920 and is training every day.

Talking about a Hollywood critic, radio writer David Gregory cracked: "She's so fast she doesn't even have time to read Quick."

Janis Carter's crack to a New York writer that Bing Crosby is just a singer, not an actor, has Bing's Oscar blushing. He won the award strictly for acting, not singing, in "Going My Way." . . . It's now a battle between Claudette Colbert and Joan Crawford for the star spot in Warner's "Woman Warden."

Came In Second
James Cagney registered the title, "Allan Quartermaine" but MGM already has a 30-page treatment with the same tag planned as a sequel to "King Solomon's Mines." . . . Pete Rugolo, the musical whiz who's responsible for Betty Hutton's bounce these days, has thrown away his little black book with telephone numbers of movie queens.

"I'm not going out with anybody while Betty's away in Florida," Pete confided at the El Com. "But I telephone Betty every night."

Independent photo lensers claim that her divorce hurt Liz Taylor with the eastern mags that order photo layouts of stars.

Jo Stafford now will warble Gusie Moran's theme song—"The Tennis-ly Waltz."

Katy Hepburn's taking her drama coach, Constance Collier, into darkest Africa with her for her co-starring with H. Bogart, "The African Queen." . . . Jane Wyman and Greg Bautzer, who growled at photographers when they were a what-happened-to-Ginger? two-some, are now cheerfully posing for the lens boys.

Agreed To Disagree
The Ethel Barrymore-MGM contract termination was based on Ethel's decision to limit her film work to starring roles only and to avoid playing second fiddle to blushing young things on the screen.

Frank Fontaine says he overheard a woman in a detective agency say: "I want my husband and this other woman followed day and night and a complete report on what she sees in him."

June Allyson's comeback film is now definite. It will be "Too Young to Kiss," with Van Johnson and Barry Sullivan co-starring. Deal for Charles Chaplin, Jr., to make his film debut in "The Wild Fire" has not jelled, contrary to printed reports. Mama Lita Grey Chaplin, who's collecting 10 per cent from sonny boy as his movie agent, told me: "We have to make sure that this is right for him and that it won't conflict with his father or interfere with his brother Sid's career. Being a junior in Hollywood is not so easy."

DO YOU HATE CHANGE OF LIFE?

Do you suffer from hot flashes, nervous tension, upset emotions—due to functional "change of life" (38 to 52 years)—that period when fertility ebbs away, when symptoms of this nature may often betray your age? CCNY Abandons Sports As Bribery Scandals Spread

NEW YORK—(AP)—City College of New York—the "Cinderella" national champion of last year—has cancelled its remaining basketball games as collegiate sports' greatest scandal snared still another player, the twelfth in five weeks.

The latest cager arrested on charges of taking bribes is Floyd G. Layne, 22-year-old CCNY co-captain.

Layne vowed last week to carry on for his alma mater at three of his team-mates were arrested for "dumping" games.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan added an ironic twist to the scandal Tuesday night when he announced that Layne admitted sharing the "fixes" of three games with his already-accused mates.

Hogan's statement came as the climax of a day of fast developments in the basketball bribery probe. It followed by only a few hours an announcement by CCNY officials that the school would play no more cage contests this season.

The district attorney indicated his investigation is far from over. Ten more detectives were brought into the inquiry, and Hogan promised to dig into the sordid sports

Received in the mail from Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn League:

"Oops! We're sorry! The changes in the Longhorn League schedule mailed to you the other day carried an error we just failed to catch.

"The June 1 and 2 changes should have read: "Midland at San Angelo, and Odessa at Big Spring (not Odessa at Midland)."

"That now means Midland will have no baseball date conflicting with the annual rodeo held here in June.

"According to the previous "correction" Sayles sent out, Midland would play Odessa here during one performance. But now there seems to be smooth sailing ahead with no conflicts.

"We think its remarkable prices haven't gone up in the Longhorn League, especially in the wake of rising prices everywhere else.

"But Longhorn League bosses voted not to change the prices at the meeting held in Big Spring during the month of January.

"It seems a good bet to say the prices will weather the next loop meeting, scheduled March 11, even though class men will be in abundance and thereby send the club payrolls soaring a bit higher.

"The Longhorn date's agree more fans will turn out if the price isn't raised—at least, that's what they said in the aforementioned January conference.

"Don Oliver, Lubbock sports scribe, is getting up an all-district basketball team for District 3-AA by polling coaches and other scribes.

"No "official" team will be named, according to 3-AA officials.

"We hope the same thing doesn't happen here that happened in the football season. We refer to the six all-district teams picked, and all were different—and then the one declared official for the banquet was even different from the six previously picked.

"We'll name Midland's Bob Burks to the all-district team. He's one boy we certainly think deserving of the honor.

"Joe Salzman, Reporter-Telegram oil writer, got into a verbal squabble with yours truly and Jim Lawson last week as to who is Southwest Conference basketball champion.

"Salzman said the A&M Aggies were champions because they "are leading the conference right now."

"But Tuesday night, A&M was defeated by Texas 42-40 and the results left the Aggies, Texas and TCU tied for the championship.

"Joe should have told Texas the Aggies had the crown sacked away and maybe the Longhorns would have been more respectful.

"DOTS AND DASHES: Word from San Angelo is that the Colts have lost promising left-hander Bobby Gregg to the armed forces.

"The hurler is undergoing basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

"L. Zamora, who tolled for Sweetwater last year, will try out his pitching arm with Albuquerque this season.

"Marvin Veal, Lamesa sports scribe, is receiving many letters concerning the report Cuban negroes may perform for the Lamesa Lobo nine.

"Some are "fer it" but most are "agin it," we hear.

"Kylie Rote and the New York Giants are to get together to talk football contract next week.

"Tugboat Jones thinks Billy Medart will be a fine miler for the MHS track team this year.

"He's a real competitor," Jones says. "Add mags to get a bad break on the basketball scandal; Sport mag, which hit the newsstands with an article on LIU and Sherman White just as the scandal broke.

"The 1950 Bulldog seniors (all 18 of 'em) say they are going to beat the '31 gridder in a game that will end Midland Spring training.

"But Audrey Gill says he knows a way to beat the '50 crew. "But he won't say what it is.

"Of the 38 players reporting for Spring workouts with the Chicago White Sox, 17 are rookies.

"Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher who is holding out, received the following telegram Tuesday: "As far as we're concerned, you can hold out all year and we'll be extremely happy.

Texas Edges A&M To End SWC Race In Three-Way Tie

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M's bid for its first clear Southwest Conference basketball championship in 28 years fell two points shy Tuesday night and the Aggies ended in a three-way tie with Texas and Texas Christian.

It was Texas, 42-40 victor over the Aggies in a wild game at Austin, which forced the conference into a playoff to pick its representative for the NCAA regional tournament at Kansas City next month.

Big Walt Davis' field goal as the gun sounded out Texas' winning margin, but a tip-in goal by Don Klein moments earlier had insured a Longhorn victory. And it kept intact Texas' home court, jinx over A&M.

While 7,500 fans turned Gregory Gym into a bedlam of noise, Texas jumped ahead midway in the first half, held a 29-19 lead at the half, then rocked along in the second half with a precarious advantage.

Not since 1934 has A&M beaten Texas on its home court. It was the Steers' twentieth victory in 21 games at Austin against A&M.

Representatives of Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas will meet in Austin Wednesday to make playoff plans.

One of the teams will draw a bye. The other two will meet in a one-game "sudden death" playoff. The bye team and the winner then will play a two-out-of-three-game series for the right to go to the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional tournament.

Southern Methodist closed its conference campaign Tuesday night by thumping Rice 58-46.

The conference's regular season ends Wednesday night when Rice meets Arkansas.

Friday, A&M plays a non-conference game with the University of Houston at College Station.

Texas Christian gained a share of the title Monday night by beating Arkansas.

President Lacy Boggs of Colonial Country Club, where the tournament is held, said the last meeting of the directors spent most of its time on other matters. Boggs said another meeting is slated Monday.

Colonial CC May Skip 1951 Tourney

FORT WORTH—(AP)—There are indications the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament, an outstanding feature for several years, won't be held this summer.

While dates for the 1951 event—May 24-27—have been set, there has been no other action such as appointment of tournament committees and invitations to links starts.

President Lacy Boggs of Colonial Country Club, where the tournament is held, said the last meeting of the directors spent most of its time on other matters. Boggs said another meeting is slated Monday.

Schedule Comes First With Bus Station Attendant

Mrs. A. T. Wheeler respects the schedules of the Greyhound Bus Lines.

Early Tuesday afternoon the wife of the Greyhound station manager here sidestepped a right-cross fired by a big, cursing Alabamian.

Mrs. Wheeler called the police, but when officers arrived the man had boarded a bus which was ready to pull out of the driveway. She didn't have the man taken off the bus.

"I knew that if I had the police take the man off the bus, the driver would have to unload his baggage and waste a lot of time," Mrs. Wheeler said.

"And since there is a tight schedule connection in Abilene, I didn't want to delay the bus."

Difficulties arose between Mrs. Wheeler and the Alabamian when she told him he owed 30 cents storage charge for a tool chest left in the office three days. At first, he refused to pay it, and took a swing at Mrs. Wheeler for her business-like insistence that the charge must be paid before he could have the baggage.

Speaker Declares Alcoholism Disease

Al Badger, Dallas businessman who is in the city for a public address at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the junior high school auditorium, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Midland Lions Club Wednesday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Badger spoke on "Alcoholism Is a Disease." He said alcoholism is a serious illness and disease. He discussed the work of the organization, Alcoholics Anonymous. He said it was a fellowship of men and women who share experiences to solve a common problem. It is non-sectarian.

It was announced at the luncheon that an organizational meeting for the Lions Club for the Southside of Midland would be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the South Elementary School Cafeteria. The Midland Lions Club will help the new unit to get started. J. F. Carson, Jr. is committee chairman of the project. Ed Prichard presided. A nominating committee will report at the luncheon meeting next week. Its suggestions for 1951-52 leaders.

A U. S. patrol entered Seoul and then withdrew on Allied lines south of the Han River.

The major objective of the powerful American punch on the eastern sector of the central front was to kill Reds, the goal since the limited offensive began January 25. The real estate won by the Seventh was vital to the Communist. The Pangnim-Hoengsong road is part of the highway which cuts across the Korean Peninsula from Kangnung on the east coast to Seoul, rubble old Republic capital near the west coast.

Ma, Gen. Claude B. Ferenbaugh, commander of the Seventh Division, said the main defenses of the North Korean Third Corps had been broken. He said the corps' losses "must be pretty close to half of them."

He had to increase our hours in order to furnish adequate protection. "It has been almost impossible to get new men on the force. At the present time there are three vacancies we are unable to fill."

The increased hours and wages affect all members of the police force, with the exception of the three women dispatchers, who will continue working eight-hour shifts. Colonel Plavie pointed out the nine-hour shift will enable an overlapping of shifts during peak hours when demands for police services are the greatest.

than 15 representatives of retail business firms. The merchants also agreed to observe the same holidays in 1951 as observed last year. They are New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day (Monday, November 12), Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day.

Saturday Hours
Saturday night closing hours also came in for considerable discussion. It tentatively was agreed to close at 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays during the summer months, but Grayum said Wednesday he had been advised by numerous firms they could not abide by the early closing recommendation. Grayum said another meeting will be held soon to further discuss the matter. A six o'clock closing hour also was suggested.

The retailers agreed to assist in raising funds, approximately $1,000, for the annual Midland Livestock Show, March 13-15, after John Dublin, Jr., and R. L. Miller had outlined plans for the event. Funds will be solicited early in March. Grayum said business concerns who each year purchase club animals at the auction sale, will not be contacted.

A need for more elaborate Christmas decorations also was discussed and the appointing of a committee to study the matter was authorized. Another committee will be named to study the possibility of arranging and staging a gigantic "Appreciation Day" event here this Spring.

meet the ungodlike ideologies of Joe Stalin and his bunch, who understand nothing but force. We, who love our freedoms, are in the process of preserving them," Warren said.

"In Defense Effort"
"Petroleum is much in the defense effort. Sixty per cent of the entire weight shipped overseas in the last war was petroleum. We must not make the early mistake we did last time and think we have enough oil to see us through," he said.

"Production of oil must continue at a high rate of development and that means drilling. This we did last year when we dug 160,000,000 feet of hole. That's a lot of hole. But we must continue.

Three Problems
"I believe the petroleum drilling industry is healthy. It is faced with three problems in this emergency. These are: 1. manpower; 2. materials; 3. the tax base."

"The driller has been declared critical and will be spared to drill his wells. Government studies are underway to see that manpower is left to produce oil.

"Materials will be allocated but they will be available for the drilling of some 44,000 oil wells in 1951. That is what has been declared necessary. An allotment of pipe has been declared. Depots will be set up over the nation. Applications must be made to get the vital material."

Tax Situation
"As for the tax, the oil industry so vital to defense must not be unjustly taxed. Allowances must be made for depletion and intangibles. The petroleum industry in 1918 produced one million barrels of oil a day in the nation. Now the production is six million barrels. That is expansion. That costs money. The oil industry, as always, will pay its just share of the tax burden. But it should not be over-taxed. That is dangerous."

"And to our sons and our young men, who fight on the battlefields, we owe our best. They must be supplied with the oil they need. After all, that's what this whole thing is all about," Warren declared.

Frank Morris of Odessa spoke on current bills before the legislature (Texas) that would harm the trucking industry if passed.

Four-Point Program
Jack Abernathy of Oklahoma City, chairman of the Educational Committee of the AAODC, said a four-point program is in process in the association at present. The program includes: 1. mud program; 2. employer unit plan; 3. supervisory training program; 4. drafting of a primer of terminology.

Brad Mills of Dallas, an executive vice president of the association, listed the values of being a member of the AAODC. He said that 88 per cent of the oil wells in the United States were drilled by drilling contractors in 1950 and the percentage would be higher in 1951. He predicted the price ceiling on drilling would be lifted and soon.

Fred Bayless was master of ceremonies at the dinner-meeting. More than 250 persons attended including several directors of the AAODC.

lings with the Russian leaders while commander of U. S. forces in Germany and military governor of the U. S. zone—including operation of the Berlin airlift. He now is serving as a top assistant in the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Clay said the Russians will start a war when they feel they are ready, and not before. "If we move rapidly and collectively, they may never be ready under their concept of readiness, with odds so heavily in their favor as to assure success."

By developing forces "which will make aggression seem unprofitable," Clay continued, "then we have every reason to hope for the stability which will bring peace, even if that peace is an armed truce over the years."

Taxi Cab Operators Told To Pay Taxes, Then Ask Rate Hike

Operators of two city cab companies virtually were assured Tuesday night of rate increases—if they will pay the City of Midland their delinquent taxes.

Spokesmen for the Checker Cab Company and the Yellow Cab Company personally presented their appeals for a 10-cent increase in rates when they appeared before the City Council.

"We feel that we are justified in asking for an increase," said Ray Trammell of the Yellow Cab Company. "All of our expenses have gone up but our rate has remained the same."

The operators said they proposed to continue to operate on a zone basis since "meters are not practical in Midland."

Delinquency Cited
City Manager W. H. Oswald pointed out that neither of the two companies was up to date on its gross revenue tax, as provided in its franchises.

One company was delinquent in the amount of $1,200 while the other owed $1,000, he said.

"I think you're probably entitled to a raise," observed Councilman Frank Shriver, "but we also want to see that you are paid up."

Mayor Pro Tem W. F. Hejl, who presided in the absence of Mayor William B. Neely, said action on the requested increase will be delayed pending payment of the delinquent taxes.

Midland Artist Returns To West Texas To Apply Skills

A young Midland artist who studied in Minneapolis has returned to West Texas to apply his artistic skills to Western subjects.

Walter Lane, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sims, recently completed his training at the Minneapolis Art Institute. He and his wife arrived in Midland Monday.

Lane was graduated from Midland High School in 1948, and has attended the Minneapolis Art Institute continually since that time.

Lane specialized in fine arts and commercial illustrations while studying under some of the best artists in the United States. The Minneapolis Art Institute is recognized as a top art school.

The young artist hopes to learn to paint Western scenes expertly and to gain a position as a staff artist with one of the leading national magazines.

"Any real artist is capable of painting a cowboy, a horse or a steer, but he must become thoroughly familiar with his subject to produce the best work," Lane commented. That is his reason for returning to Midland, where he will make his home.

Alexander Brooke, Howard Cook and Gustav Krollman are three of the outstanding artists under whom Lane worked in Minneapolis. Cook is an outstanding mural artist, and Krollman is an internationally famous artist, with paintings hanging in Europe as well as the U. S.

Krollman is one of Lane's favorites. He studied in Vienna ten years, and Lane hopes to go to Vienna later for further study.

Lane said he will have a private showing of his work here in the near future, with about 20 pictures on display. He has one successful showing to his credit. In St. Paul, Minn., he exhibited 15 pieces, including life-size and miniature portraits, miniature landscapes and horse pictures.

Picture On Display
He has one picture hanging in Midland. The picture of mares and colts coming out of a pasture, which hangs in the Ranch House, was painted by Lane a year and a half ago.

Lane uses pen and ink, oils, water colors, pastel, scratchboards and casine in his work, depending upon the type picture on which he is working. In fine arts, he prefers oils for tight work and water colors for a loose effect.

While studying at Minneapolis, he said he spent eight or nine hours a day in the studio. And he expects to continue his efforts here to develop a style "that will go well in either the commercial or fine arts field."

Height Is Handicap In Looking For Job

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — A 20-year-old Pittsburgh High School graduate is finding his six feet, eight inches of height a handicap in landing a job. He has some clerical experience and a background in drafting. The Army doesn't want him because he is more than six feet, six inches tall.

"It's always the same story," he complained. "They say I'm too tall for their desks, filling cabinets or something. Sometimes they say I'm just too tall."

Charles once thought he had a drafting job sewed up. Then he had an interview with the prospective boss. The man said:

"I'll call you if I can find a desk big enough for you."
He never called.

Shark Repellent Helps Fishermen

SAN PEDRO, CALIF. — (AP) — A chemical shark repellent developed to save filers downed at sea is proving a boon to fishermen here. The repellent, which comes in small cakes, has proven effective in chasing the killer fish which destroy thousands of dollars worth of fishing nets by pursuing smaller fish into them.

One skipper of a tuna trawler reports he lowered a net equipped with the repellent in waters infested with sharks. He said he caught 100 tons of fish without being bothered by a single shark. The repellent affects the shark's taste organs and robs the huge fish of the desire to bite.

Proposed Change In Time Causes Ruckus

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND — (AP) — Announcement that this province might abandon her unique time system and join the Atlantic Time Zone has brought a storm of critical comment from Newfoundland organizations and individuals. Latest to join the fight have been the Associated Newfoundland Industries and more than 100 employees of a department store here who sent statements to the government. The move would reduce Canada's time zones from seven to six.

The present zones in Canada from east to west are Newfoundland, Atlantic, Eastern, Central, Mountain, Pacific and Yukon. There is a half-hour difference between Newfoundland and Atlantic time.

NATIONALISTS CONVICTED

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO — (AP) — Eight Nationalist leaders Tuesday were convicted of destroying federal property in Jayuya during the unsuccessful revolt of October 30. A date for sentencing was not fixed.

'Elite Workers Short-Changed

BERLIN — (AP) — East Germany's 120,000 "activists", (the German version of the Russian Stakhanovs), are cursing the day that Adolf Hennecke dug 380 per cent of the required quota in a six-hour shift in a Saxony coal mine. The entire "work harder" movement in the Soviet zone was named after him.

The Communist East German Government decided, after Hennecke's feat, that none of the workers were doing as much as they could, otherwise, how could one miner have set such a record? As a result work quotas were increased, which meant the average worker had to work longer and harder for the same pay. Privately, it's admitted in the East zone that the "activists" are actually the most cheated of all workers.

Atom Bomb Shelters Become Tax Issue

FULLERTON, CALIF. — (AP) — War jitters have city fathers mulling this question: "Is an atom bomb shelter a taxable item?" Councilman Kermit Wood brought the matter up at a meeting, reporting he has been besieged by property owners who want to know if a shelter is classed as a building. If they are classed as something other than buildings the hideways will escape county taxes.

King's Messenger Really Gets Around

SINGAPORE — (AP) — R. Perryman, a King's Messenger, is on his way back to Britain after a six-month tour of duty in Southeast Asia during which he traveled 96,000 miles. Perryman, one of the most traveled men in the world, has covered 1,500,000 miles by air and has delivered Britain's diplomatic mail to practically every country in the world.

Henry Busse And His Band To Play Here Friday Night

Henry Busse, the trumpet-ist stylist whose orchestra will, for the dance sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars 7 night, seems to please all types music lovers.

Busse has been in the business long enough to be remembered by adults whom he thrilled with sweet, muted music, and is precise enough to have in his some of the hottest live artists the field who can please "a fans."

The Henry Busse orchestra has been well received throughout the nation. In San Francisco, his band holds all records at the Ace Hotel. In Chicago, he plays son after season at the Chez P. Garden of Hotel Biltmore in New York.

Friday's dance begins at 9 and concludes at 1 a.m.

The VFW is not accepting reservations for the dance, which is open to the public, according to Commander John Henderson.

Tuberculosis Curbs Are Urged In India

NEW DELHI — (AP) — One in every 190 persons in this metropolis suffers from tuberculosis but there are only 142 beds available for the 10,000 afflicted, a hospital spokesman told newsmen.

A mass survey of the city with mobile X-ray units, an intensive inoculation program, dispersal of refugees and isolation of those struck by the disease have been urged by directors of the hospital. Tuberculosis is, next to malaria, the major cause of death in India, causing about 500,000 deaths annually.

Radio Newspaper Production Taught

ATLANTA, GA. — (AP) — A course in newspaper production by radio, one of the few of its kind in the country, is being offered at Emory University here. A feature of the course is the daily transmission of a facsimile ("fax") newspaper, carrying University news all over the campus.

An instructor in the course says he is convinced that the radio newspaper has a great future, although changes and adaptations will be necessary before it becomes a popular medium of communication.

Officials Predict Meat Price Cuts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The housewife herself may get results soon in the matter of controlling meat prices.
Agriculture Department officials told a reporter Tuesday they expect retail prices of some cuts of meat—particularly beef and veal—to decline possibly five to ten cents a pound by the weekend.
This expectation was based on reports of consumer resistance to current prices.
This resistance, coupled with Lenten season abatement from meat, was said to be causing heavier than normal accumulations of fresh meat by wholesalers.
Officials said that when meat stocks tend to pile up, distributors usually reduce prices.

TO DISCUSS MEAT CRISIS

LONDON—(AP)—A British trade mission left Tuesday for Buenos Aires in a new bid to break the deadlock in Anglo-Argentine meat negotiations. The price squabble between the two countries has out Britain's fresh meat ration to its lowest level.

MARITAL LAW EXTENDED

RANGOON, BURMA—(AP)—Parliament extended Marital law Tuesday for an additional six months in some hinterland areas to facilitate mopping up operations against rebels.

SCURRY HEARING SET

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Railroad Commission has set hearing for April 5 on application of the Standard Oil Company of Texas to initiate a pilot gas injection project and transfer allowances in the Kelly-Snyder Field areas, Scurry County.

RECREATION CENTER—The Plamor Lanes, one of West Texas' finest bowling alleys, has taken a prominent spot as a Midland recreation center. In addition to league bowling, there is open bowling every day. The Coffee Cup, a restaurant, is operated in connection with the Plamor Lanes.

Refrigeration Service Is Specialty At Beauchamp's

A line of Norge appliances now is handled by the Beauchamp Refrigeration Service, 218 North Main Street, including gas and electric ranges, refrigerators and washing machines.
For refrigeration service, which is a specialty of the firm, Beauchamp's has a staff of experts who can provide a quick diagnosis of the trouble and will guarantee repair work. You will be surprised at the moderate cost of repairs.
Beauchamp Refrigeration Service also has a stock of RCA Victor radios, as well as a good variety of other appliances. These include electric mixers, waffle irons, coffee makers and many other items.
The Carrier ice machine, now on display at Beauchamp's, is capable of producing 410 pounds of ice cubes per day and is designed especially for restaurants, hospitals, hotels and other establishments. Convenience Unquestioned
It is estimated the machine will produce ice at a cost of approximately 15 cents per 100 pounds and its convenience is unquestioned.
Also featured at Beauchamp's is the Carrier 50K6 Weather-maker, with new even-flow air distribution and whisper-quiet operation. Con-

No job is too minor for the Mid-West Lumber Company's expert attention, careful attention to detail and thoroughness of construction.
Every attempt is made to keep all items fully stocked in order to assure one-stop service to its customers, thus saving much valuable time. Many persons find the prices at Mid-West are the lowest possible for quality materials.
At one time, wheat was a basic currency in Oregon.

Mid-West Lumber Company Provides One-Stop Service

When in need of building materials, there is no good reason for "shopping around" when you can find everything at a moderate cost at the Mid-West Lumber Company, 1302 West North Front Street. The concern provides one-stop service for all building materials and supplies, including quality paints, builders hardware and numerous other items.
Mid-West will contract to build residential and commercial structures and the firm's experts will give estimates gladly, and with no obligation.
In keeping with its policy of high quality in merchandise and building materials, the Mid-West has accepted the agency for DeWalt saws. This is another move in the firm's policy of stocking the best and the latest in merchandise.

White Says Packaged Meat Is Short Weight

AUSTIN—(AP)—Forty per cent of the pre-packaged meat bought by Texas shoppers is "incorrectly weighed," Agriculture Commissioner John White charged Tuesday.
White based his assertion on an investigation of the scales used by butchers and retail meat departments in 10 Texas cities.
White said no charges will be filed against stores found guilty of irregularities in the survey. But he warned criminal proceedings will be pushed against future violators.

On-Stage Mishaps At Met Plague The Musical Gre

BAZOOKA BARRAGE—Republic of Korea troops line up to fire U. S. Army bazookas, not at the enemy this time, but on a Korean firing range. Many thousands of Korean recruits have been trained by U. S. forces to take their places in the battle line. (Dept. of Defense photo from NEA-Acme.)

NEW YORK (NEA)—When Rise Stevens got a splinter of glass in her eye, the result of an over-enthusiastic performance at the Metropolitan Opera, she was just following a noble tradition. Some of the greatest names in Met history have guided their careers with on-stage mishaps.

The contralto star was singing "Der Rosenkavalier." The script called for Miss Stevens to smash a wine glass to the floor. She did, with gusto. A glass splinter bounced up, struck her in the right eye. She finished the act, and between acts a doctor took the splinter out. Then she went back singing.

Dorothy Kirsten, the blonde soprano, is another Met female star who has been wounded in the line of duty. As "Madame Butterfly" Miss Kirsten decided the part of the Japanese heroine called for walking around in her stocking feet, to better emphasize the sinching steps of Japanese ladies. She minced so enthusiastically that she walked into a knot hole in the floor and broke her toe. She finished out the act. Two months later, she repeated in the part, and broke the same toe, which was still weak. Now she wears ballet slippers.

Enrico Caruso, who weighed in at around 180, was singing with a 230-pound leading lady in "La Boheme." His part called for him to pick up "little" Mimi, dying of tuberculosis, and place her gently on a bed.

Caruso managed to push the plump diva on the bed, which was on wheels. While Caruso stood aghast, the bed rolled into the wings.

During "La Tosca," Geraldine Farrar and Antonio Scotti were singing on a couch, when one leg collapsed. Scotti and Miss Farrar sang on, with the couch listing slightly to starboard.

Lily Pons, the Met's great coloratura soprano, was smack in the middle of a brilliant coloratura passage when the string of her necklace broke. From then on, each note was accompanied by a tinkle, as one by one her beads bit the dust.

One Met accident was so successful it has since been incorporated as standard fare in "Carmen." Garmen is arrested during the opera, and, on this night, Miss Stevens put up such a vicious fight that she snapped a garter. Immediately after the fight, she goes into a long song and dance number. As she sang and danced, she felt her stocking slipping. Finally, she stopped, deliberately put her foot on a chair, pulled up her skirt and fixed the stocking. The audience liked now she does it every time.

Perhaps the classic is the Leo Slezak missed his cue in "Lohengrin." He was poised to be carried onstage the back of a swan, but he was there.

"What time," said Slezak, the next swan leave?"

A Problem For Science: Why Sinkers Misbehave

Doughnut Torture is this machine which measures how strong the little sinker is. Technician James Femister records the amount of force that was needed to rip this doughnut apart.

NEW YORK (NEA)—The trouble with us is we take doughnuts for granted. But the doughnut, like arteriosclerosis and dandruff, still baffles science.

Sometimes, a batch of flour and leavening and sugar and flavoring tossed into some fat will produce nice, normal doughnuts. But sometimes the same ingredients will result in scrawny, anemic-looking sinkers. And science is trying to find out why.

Uniformity in doughnuts is a highly desirable thing. You, the dunking public, naturally want this week's doughnuts to look, taste and dunk the same as next week's. And the bakers want uniformity, too, because skinny doughnuts mean they have to put more in a package. Or else their packages will have wide open spaces, which doesn't help sales.

So the Doughnut Corporation of America, which makes a mix that is sold to bakeries, has established a laboratory devoted to the improvement of the doughnut. It is a very serious joint, conducted in the noble tradition of Pasteur, Curie and Aeneas.

Cheaper And Better

In a spotless, six-story building work chemists in spotless laboratory jackets. They slave over their test tubes and coffee cups to give you "better doughnuts cheaper and cheaper doughnuts better."

The doughnut is a neurotic cookie. Its personality is very unstable. For no reason whatever, it sometimes decides to look more like an oversized wedding ring than the fat and sassy delicacy we expect.

The company's researchers have discovered that one of the chief faults lies in flour. Flour that looks the same may be very different. Some flours are too "strong" and will produce doughnuts that will

Campaign Waged Against Rabbits

SYDNEY (AP)—A disease, encouraged by man and spread by mosquitoes, is killing off thousands of unwanted rabbits in Australia. The rabbit-killing disease is myxomatosis.

Rabbits infected with the virus become blind and die of starvation. Australians are encouraging the disease because rabbits are a big pest here. They roam in millions over the sheep country, devouring enormous quantities of grass that could be used for sheep grazing.

ROYAL LAND FOR PROJECT

ADDIS ABABA (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has donated a plot of royal land to the Indian community here for a public maternity home, meeting hall and an Indian national school. The Indian community plans to finance the projects through voluntary subscriptions from residents of the community.

There are five million billion tons of air around our earth.

Little Mary had the habit of exaggerating very greatly. After repeated warnings, her mother spanked her and locked her in her room. In a little while, Mary called, "Mama, come quick; see the lion running down the street."

Her mother came to the window and it was only a dog. So she whipped the child and told her to ask the Lord for forgiveness. Afterward, the mother asked, "Did you ask the Lord to forgive you?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

The little girl replied, "He said, 'That's all right, Mary; I thought it was a lion myself when I first saw it.'"

Threadbare Old Story

As in former years, some Washington lawmakers are voting no new taxes should be voted until substantial cuts made in President Truman's $71,600,000,000 budget.

There is nothing new in this threadbare old story.
The average congressman or senator shouts for budget cuts until they threaten to become a reality. Thereupon he moves to block them, for fear that his own state district will somehow suffer from the pruning.

There is supposed to be political advantage in going through these foolish motions. But it's a great mystery why there can be any vote-getting value in a transparent performance that has been exposed again and again as completely insincere.

The other day Frederick Lawton, director of the Budget Bureau, discussed this business with the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee. He told the group rankly that he gets much more pressure from lawmakers to increase budget items than to cut them.

In one three-month period, he said, he had received requests from 200 congressmen to put new projects into the budget or boost existing items. That means almost 40 percent of all members of Congress were heard from in his fashion.

A couple of years ago Truman tried to reduce the veterans' hospital program by 16,000 beds, citing authoritative statements that they weren't really necessary at this time. Did Congress welcome this chance to save? On the contrary, it insisted that the added hospitals be built.

When former defense secretary Louis Johnson wielded the axe in his department to slice away 135,000 civilian jobs, the lawmakers were horrified. But their concern was not for the effect this might have on the national security. It was for the fact that many of those jobs were scattered about the nation in their own districts.

Once a federal program is established, it is extremely difficult ever to abolish it. It spells money and jobs, and no one closely tied to those benefits will yield them easily.

So about the only way we can have genuine economy now is for the President and his budget officials to exercise strict restraint in the launching of new programs. If programs are needed, they should not be padded in the expectation that Congress will trim them.

It probably always will be thus until the lawmakers become convinced that they are not cutting their own throats by voting economies which specifically affect their own areas.

Here and there signs have developed which may lead in that direction. Some House members are getting mail from people who urge an end to benefits they now personally receive. But it's hardly a trend yet.

Meantime, the biggest savings for the public might result from Congress resolving not to waste its time and energy debating economy that it doesn't intend to practice.

Comforting Views

Once in a long while some really comforting news comes along. Dr. Paul Williams of Dallas is the source this time.

What he says is that if you want to avoid a pain in your back, assume a slight slump when you sit down and walk bent somewhat forward.

He declares:
"We've all been harped at to throw our shoulders back,
throw out our chests and sit perfectly straight in chairs.
Actually these postural habits have been devastating because they disregard anatomical facts."

We won't go into the details as to why it's better to avoid the ramrod posture. It's enough to hear that it is better.

Is there anything more warming to the spirit than learning that what you always thought was a bad habit is really a very sensible thing? We nominate Dr. Williams as author of the Best Prescription of 1951.

Reds 'Zero In'

Even when it comes to a matter like official wedding gifts, the Russians can't seem to stick to facts. When the shah of Iran took a bride recently, it was reported Stalin gave him a diamond-studded desk set and the bride a $150,000 mink coat.

American furriers promptly spiked that grandiose claim; they said a mink coat couldn't possibly cost more than $15,000.

Since then, Soviet propaganda has scaled the gifts down to two bejeweled flower pots. Nothing said about the cost, but $1,500 for the pair is probably a good outside guess. What are a few extra zeros among such practiced falsifiers?

So It Will Bear More And Better Fruit

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Staff may have to write emergency column in my absence; Newsman have an obligation to the public;
Reporters must act as government-watchdogs.

WASHINGTON — Drew Pearson, to know has taken place in the private lobbies and the smoke-filled rooms. Yet what is hidden from the public usually is what the public is most entitled to know about, and the job of a good newspaperman to report.

Remember that in our system of government by checks and balances, it is your job to help in the checking. Government is so intricate and detailed today that Congress no longer can do all the checking.
Furthermore, congressmen themselves have to be checked. Most congressmen are honest and reasonably conscientious, but it is your job to smoke out the Farnel Thomases, the Andy Mays and the "Doc" Brehms, and report the facts about them—even if it means a tough battle.

However, it also is important to remember that the government is neither all good nor all bad. There are bureaucrats who are woefully inefficient, and bureaucrats who are a credit to mankind. It is your job to discriminate.

Government is only as good as the men in it. And since men are human, they are subject to all the frailties that make up mankind—laziness, inefficiency, greed, graft, temptation.

But they also are subject to great effort, sacrifice, inspiration.
It is your job as a newspaperman to spur the lazy, watch the weak, expose the corrupt. You must be the eyes, ears and nose of the American people. Yes, the nose, too, is important. For no matter how much stench you may be exposed to, never lose your sense of smell.

But likewise remember that there are scores of underpaid government servants dedicated to the cause of good government whom the public never hears about. It is your job to encourage them. It also is your job to let the public know that these men are working for them.

For the public must never lose confidence in its government. Should it ever take seriously the scoldings of some of my competitors and lose confidence in our form of government, then the principle we are fighting for would be no more.

Defend Little Fellow.
Remember also that it's the little fellow who usually is kicked around.
It's the little businessman, the G.I., the guy in the lower-bracket incomes who needs a friend. He has few friends in high places, no big politicians to pull wires, no one to speak for him on inter-locking boards of directors. He has only the American public's strong sense of right and wrong to back him—and it's your job to spell out those rights and wrongs so the public can know what cooks.

This applies to minority groups as well as little people. Sometimes these groups, such as the negroes or a minority religion, need a little more encouragement that the folks who are doing all right anyway.

Finally, remember that though the world moves slowly toward its two great goals—peace and the brotherhood of man—it is your job when possible to help accelerate the pace. Sometimes it is better not to report a delicate diplomatic negotiation. Sometimes the cause of peace is best served by sacrificing a news story until a difficult diplomatic hurdle is over.

But if the diplomats fumble, if they betray their trust, then it is your job to be ruthless in exposing that betrayal. You must be their watchdog. You must let them know what the publicity penalty is—if they fail.
Finally, when you write anything, remember that the fewer words you use, the better.

These are the goals of the Washington Merry-Go-Round which I have not lived up to. Perhaps you can.

Drew Pearson

So They Say

The insistence that the world, in order to survive, must be converted to the political, social and economic practices of the Western world is the analogue of Cain's demand that Abel give up his gardening and take to sheepherding.

—Dr. Edwin McNeill Potat, regional minister of Raleigh, N. C.

We must . . . kick out the entire Yalta crowd; replace all those architects of disaster with good loyal Democrats and Republicans—Democrats and Republicans loyal to America.

—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.)

Streamlining started with airplanes and with scientific principles of aerodynamics behind it. Can you tell me why in the world they streamline orange-juice squeezers?

—Albrecht Goertz, industrial designer.

As a poor dumb meteorologist, I'd like to ask a question. How do you think it ever rained before rainmakers started to work?

—Dr. Harry Wexler, chief of Scientific Service, U. S. Weather Bureau, on claims of rainmakers.

Our ideologies . . . are rapidly becoming the ideologies of the entire world.

—Harold E. Stassen.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I am often asked "What is the best way to play this suit?" Usually I cautiously ask to see the whole hand before I will answer such a question.

This caution sometimes surprises people. "What difference does the hand make?" they ask. There must be a right way to play the suit. The best way to answer such a question is to show how the nature of the whole hand controls the suit. Today's hand illustrates the point. When this hand was actually played, declarer won the opening lead with dummy's ace of clubs, laid down the ace of spades, then finessed the jack of spades. West won with the queen of spades and led another club, forcing South to ruff. South then drew the rest of the trumps.

If the trump suit is considered all by itself, South had handled it best. The finesse was his best chance to avoid the loss of a trump trick. However, once the trump finesse had lost, South was sure to be set.

When South led diamonds, West could take his ace and cash the rest of his clubs. Even if declarer had not drawn all of the trumps, the result would have been the same. After South had ruffed a club, he had only as many trumps as West. Whenever he led diamonds, West would take the ace and return clubs. West could therefore force trump ahead of South.

If South had considered the whole hand instead of merely the trump suit, he would not have taken a finesse in trumps. The right play is to take the ace of spades and follow with the king of spades. South then switches to diamonds.

The best defense is for West to win the ace of diamonds and lead clubs. South ruffs and then ignores the two trumps that are still out. He merely leads diamonds and hearts until West takes his two trump tricks.

The correct line of play loses two trump tricks but makes the contract. The wrong line of play loses only one trump trick but fails to make the contract.

CARD Sense

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Big Coal Men Nudge John L. To Organize Non-Union Mines

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Real force behind John L. Lewis' recently announced drive to unionize the unorganized coal miners comes from the big coal mine operators themselves. The reason for this is that these coal operators who deal with Lewis' United Mine Workers want to get rid of the lower-priced competition from non-union mined coal.

Because the operators of unorganized mines don't have to pay 30 cents a ton royalty to UMW for pensions and welfare fund, they can undersell union-mined coal by this much at least. Also, wage scales in the non-union mines are usually lower. This gives non-union mined coal a further price advantage.

Big coal has been urging Lewis to start an organizing drive in the non-union mines for some time. For reasons of his own, Lewis has bided his time. But now he has two good arguments to use in persuading the unorganized miners to come into his union.

The first is that he has just obtained a contract from the operators giving his union a 20-cent-an-hour increase in pay. This brings basic pay in the UMW mines to $16.35 a day. This is more than $2 an hour and it includes portal-to-portal payments.

Second good talking point for UMW organizers is that last March Lewis obtained another contract which raised royalty payments made by the operators to the union from 20 cents to 30 cents a ton. This money will be used to increase pensions and health and welfare benefits enjoyed by few other unions.

To finance the organizing drive, Lewis has announced an assessment of $20 a member. His announcement said this was to "build up financial bulwarks to ward off onslaughts from our adversaries."

That tells only part of the story. How much of a bulwark this $20 head tax will yield is something of a well-concealed if not deliberately concealed mystery. UMW, in its affidavits filed during the contempt trial of John L. Lewis a couple of years ago, claimed 650,000 members. This broke down into 150,000 in the union's catch-all "District 50," 25,000 in Canada, 75,000 in the anthracite fields and 400,000 in bituminous fields. Twenty dollars from 500,000 miners would yield $10,000,000.

The Bituminous Coal Institute's 1950 handbook, however, says there are only 375,000 men regularly employed in U. S. coal mines. Bureau of Labor Statistics, in its Employment and Payrolls report, estimates 407,000 soft coal miners and 74,000 hard coal miners employed at the end of the year. This total of 481,000 probably is as good an estimate as any, though it is based on a survey of only the larger mines.

Hard To Count
This still gives no estimate of union and non-union coal miners. United Mine Workers headquarters in Washington claims that in normal peace times, the industry is 92 to 94 per cent organized. The rival Progressive Mine Workers Union claims 28,000 members, but may have far fewer.

In boom times, like World Wars I and II and now, a lot of marginal mines open up. Some are family wagon mines, or truck mines with

The Gold Mannequin

"THE STORY" Jean Paul's topless shop, a designer's bankruptcy because Paul Panciera, its manager, is a top at designing. His partner Jean Roland has come to take back her old job of modeling. The story is a love story, a story of a girl who would be a topless model, a story of a girl who would be a topless model.

While I may not have talent for design, I do have an incomparable talent for recognizing genius." Mr. Panciera put the drawing gently down on the table. "You, for example. And our Teresa?"

She was impressed by the intensity of his feeling. "You really believe this one idea may lead to others? Or is this just hope under pressure?"

"It's intuition, I tell you, cold, sound intuition." He became very matter-of-fact. "Intuition, you know, has always some basis in actuality. Let me elaborate. Cedarbrook, New York, is a rural village about two hours out of the Grand Central and about 20 miles from the Hudson. It's so rustic it looks as if it were dreamt up for a picture post card. I made some photographic studies there once and I know. On its biggest day, Labor Day, when they hold the frog-jumping contest and the frontiersmen came in from the bush, it can boast of 3000 heads."

"And this is why you have such faith we shall bear more from this Teresa?" Jean did not follow him.

"Please, precious, hear me out. I am presenting Cedarbrook to you as a community of clouds. Therefore, with the help of my intuition, I know this Teresa to be a peasant, a peasant with the celestial spark but still a peasant. Look." He waved to the design. "The materials are crude, primitive. It is the work of some buxom and bovine matron, unquestionably. She is sure to have the productivity and fertility of a peasant. We'll have a hundred designs, a thousand—"

"We'll open a branch in Paris," Jean smiled ironically.

"I'm terribly serious, sweet. The crisis has passed. My enthusiasm grew. I am sure of it! So sure, we shall celebrate! We'll have lunch together. We'll eat well today! We'll have cocktails. We'll have wine. Champagne! An afternoon of champagne!" He slipped his arm around her slender body. His voice was vibrant. "Beautiful things happen only to beautiful people, sweet! We are beautiful people! Beautiful things are going to happen to us."

MR. PANCIERA'S intuition, oddly enough, turned out to be correct. Beautiful things began to happen to Jean Paul. For a time, at any rate.

Mr. Panciera wrote the Teresa person a careful letter, coolly balancing his enthusiasm with cunning. The sketch showed talent, he wrote, and it might, under the proper care (his care, to be sure), blossom into something worth while.

He suggested the lady come to New York with more of her drawings and, if they revealed as much talent as the first, some arrangement might be made. He enclosed a check for $25.

When Jean exclaimed at the smallness of the check, he replied, "With anything larger, our lady would've probably retired and sketch no more. I know my Cedarbrook. I might also mention it's all we can afford."

Again, Mr. Panciera apparently was right. A week later a batch of new sketches arrived, all as alluring as the first. They came with a brief note which was almost a duplicate of the first. There was no attempt made to answer Mr. Panciera's letter. The sketches came, and a few words, and that was all.

The evidence in support of Mr. Panciera's theory was mounting but still Jean had reservations. Why, for example, hadn't this Teresa rushed down from Cedarbrook, grateful for recognition and eager to sign a contract?

Mr. Panciera was without concern. "She lives out in the woods, precious. With no transportation of any sort, except possibly a horse."

But Jean was still troubled. "I have intuitions, too," she said. "I'd be much happier if it all wasn't so mysterious. Why doesn't he at least acknowledge your requests for her home address?"

What's RIGHT?

You know that your child, among others, is making life hard for a child outside his group.

WRONG: Figure that children are just naturally cruel and do nothing about the matter.

RIGHT: Try to make your child see the situation from the point of view of the child who is being "picked on."

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Salty Sea

Teacher was sick with measles, poor fellow, there in the Great Forest. He said that all the children should have a little vacation while he was busy with his measles.

To have the vacation, Daddy Ringtail promised Mugwump Monkey that they would both have a fishing trip. They would go down the river in the riverboat, all the way to the sea. Yes, but first, Mugwump had to read a story for him to tell at school the very first day he went back. He knew which story he had to read—and of course he must read it, or how could he tell about it in front of the class on the next day of school? Yes, but where was the book with the story in it? Mugwump couldn't find it.

And all the while he was fretting, fuming and fretting that he couldn't go on right then with the fishing trip down the river in the riverboat. Why, the riverboat now was loaded and ready to go with all the fishing things, and Mugwump could see where it was tied to a willow tree that overhung the water of the Whispering River.

Oh, that riverboat seemed to be pulling against the rope to get loose. Why—oh-oh. Mugwump could hardly believe the thing he saw through the window there, but the boat now really loose. Slowly it floated away from the bank, on and out in the current that would take it down to the sea!

"Help! Help!" shouted Mugwump. Away he slid to the ground in a hurry. Daddy Ringtail was right beside him. Together they ran to the water's edge. In they jumped kerplop. Swim, swim, swim. They reached up to the edge of the boat to catch it at last. Up and over the side they went, dripping wet.

They lay there a minute on the bottom of the boat to rest. They could rest a minute, all right. The riverboat motor would take them back all fast enough when they started it. Yes, and now they were ready to start it. But where oh where was the starter rope? It was nowhere to be found, and so our friends were started out now on their fishing trip before our Mugwump was read. He still had to know the story to tell at school, he said, and the story was the one of why the sea is salty. Well, Daddy Ringtail said he knew that story to tell and he will tell it to Mugwump tomorrow while they float on down to the salty sea. Happy day! (Copyright 1951, General Features Corp.)

Large Children's Hospital Has Stroller Parking Lot

Just for children is this new Toronto hospital. Everything for the comfort of youthful patients is included in the structure.

TORONTO—(NEA)—The world's largest hospital just for children—"where no child knocks in vain"—is ready to open the doors of its new $12,500,000 building for its first 400 new patients.

The 14-story building was designed like a Lilliputian city as new headquarters for the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, whose patients have come from all over the world since it began 75 years ago. There is even an indoor parking lot—with attendant—for baby carriages for the younger patients who arrive on wheels. About the only facility not on a junior level are the light switches. They have been deliberately put at a higher than usual level so juvenile hands can't play with them.

The whole ground floor of the building is devoted to clinics, since the hospital has the largest outpatient clientele of any hospital for children. In the crowded old building the new structure replaces, 70,000 out-patients were treated last year.

Designed by Staff
Much of the equipment in the new hospital was designed especially by the staff. A portable ambulance for prematurely born babies contains a compartment for hot water which is warmed up as soon as physicians or nurse phones that the ambulance is needed. The ambulance has a little crib and blankets, a thermometer to tell the heat of the box, and a screened ventilating outlet so the baby can breathe soon as it is placed in the box and the lid has been closed. The hospital has its own bathing pool with a hydraulic elevator to allow paralyzed children to receive therapeutic treatments, and

74-Year-Old Woman Writes Poetry Now

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron Which Her System Lacked

Did you ever feel so good that you wanted to sing about it? Mrs. Della Burrows, Route 1, Ziona, Indiana, feels so good nowadays, that she's writing poetry about it. Mrs. Burrows is feeling that way because she found that HADACOL with its Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron was just what her system needed.

Mrs. Burrows

Mrs. Burrows wanted everyone to know just how highly she thought of HADACOL, and she expressed it in this little poem: "Well, here is my age, if you must know, 74 years young. Hair white as snow. A great many times I've heard people say 'I'm taking HADACOL every day! Just try a bottle and you will find it's what you've been looking for all this time.' So, I got me a bottle and drank it all up and soon felt as spry as a pup. So, now, I'm on my fourth bottle of HADACOL. I feel so much better. I sleep like a baby, eat like a pig, and if anyone should ask me, I could dance a jig." Only HADACOL gives you that "Wonderful HADACOL Feeling"—accept no substitutes. Buy the genuine HADACOL today. another arm-high pool for exercise of paralyzed arms.

In the infant wards and infectious disease wards there are ultra violet ray light barriers to ensure full protection for the children.

There are special soundproof rooms for treatment of the deaf. And there are playrooms for the convalescents. Baths are on pedestals to enable the nurses to better help the young patients, and toilets and washbasins for pre-school age patients are made in Lilliputian size and at the right height for their use. There is even a toy shop.

The hospital has 632 hospital beds, varying from tiny cribs for infants to those for older boys and girls to about 14 years of age. Visitors to children under two years of age will only be able to see the patients from behind glass walls.

Pre-Purchase Scent Trial

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

When a woman goes perfume-buying, she often winds up quite baffled by an elaborate array of bottles and a confusing collection of scents.

As a result, she's likely to ask hurriedly for the same old standby she's been wearing since high school, or else blurt out the name of some new fragrance because she's heard everyone's adopting it.

Such a shopping procedure rarely leads to pleasure in perfume wearing. Since scents are so intimate, it's a good idea to choose them thoughtfully and leisurely.

Wear no fragrance at all when you go perfume-buying. This excludes deodorants with distinctive bouquets as well as toilet waters and colognes.

Decide what general type perfume you prefer, in order to avoid cluttering your senses with obviously inappropriate kinds. If, for instance, your choice is a light floral, it's a waste of time to sniff heavy, exotic fragrances.

In selecting your perfume, avoid smelling the contents of the tester bottles. A better plan is to moisten the tester sopper, hold it a few minutes to dry in the air, and then give it a trial-by-nose.

When you have decided upon a possibility, apply a small dab to your wrist. This will give you an idea how this perfume combines with your own skin.

Don't, however, make an immediate purchase. There's another step. Wear the perfume until you've finished your day's shopping. Again sniff your wrist. If this scent still appeals to you, then by all means make it yours.

Blockade-Runners Switch Their Flags

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Ships carrying Malayan rubber to the Chinese Communist ports of Tientsin and Tsingtao are switching to the Panamanian flag to avoid interception by Chinese Nationalist patrols. Some of the blockade-runners are former Nationalist vessels, according to local shipping sources. The sources named the La Carmela, La Colerada, La Campana, and La Chorrera chartered by the Jebwah Company of Bangkok and the Tai Tong Steamship Company of Hong Kong. All of them are regular on the North China run.

Major Burden Of New Trend In Race Relations Falls On Shoulders Of Nation's Youngsters, Study Shows

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Today's youngsters are being forced to try to take a bigger stride in race relation than any previous generation of American children.

If left alone they probably could make it easily.

Unfortunately they are launched this sociological crusade—which no generation of elders dared attempt—with a back-breakin' load of prejudices and misunderstandings. It is just one of many war and postwar major problems U. S. youth is being forced to face today.

In the last 10 years federal and state court decisions, new laws, and a growing militant liberalism have given America a revolution in race relations. The situation is made more complex and dramatic by the unprecedented mass migrations of the population. Hundreds of thousands of negro and Southern white families have moved above the Mason-Dixon line. There has been a mass migration of Northeastern seaboard families to the south.

The full impact of what it means to the nation's children is revealed for the first time in the most comprehensive study ever made on the problems of American youth.

A study of these reports reveals dramatically that the real burden for making America's new system of race relations work out in actual practice falls squarely on American youth.

Scores of court decisions have now made non-segregation the rule—or inevitable in the near future—in most of the state universities and colleges. Other court decisions, and pressures by special groups, have installed non-segregation on community recreation facilities in hundreds of cities.

The same is true of hundreds of elementary school around the country and in the South. In Atlanta, Ga., for instance, a case is pending which could end segregation in the grammar schools.

Take a school room in a small community in Oregon. There sits a son of a newly arrived Southern white family. It has been drummed into his head at home that negro boys are inferior and to have nothing to do with them. Next to him is a negro boy who was told he was no prejudice, yet he sits beside it every day. Around them are youngsters completely confused by this new friction in their midst. Some take sides. Some stay confused.

Multiply this youthful dilemma by hundreds of class rooms in hundreds of other communities in Oregon, Washington, Kansas, the Dakotas, Iowa and Wisconsin which had no race problems before the war, but which now have them in big packages.

In the alley of a good neighborhood of Washington, D. C. there's a game of cops 'n robbers in progress. A mother pokes her head out the kitchen door, sees her young tyke frolicking with a negro boy. She screams for him to come in this very minute and asks him how many times she has warned him not to play with those "nigger kids" across the alley.

Are Good Pals
A recent Supreme Court decision wiped out Jim Crow covenants barring negroes from certain neighborhoods. The little tyke doesn't know about the Supreme Court yet. All he knows is that his forbidden brown-skinned pals across the alley are good-natured and a lot of fun, and it's lonesome playing alone.

Between some of the extremes is a new situation in many Middle-West states. Except for the bigger cities there wasn't much of a race problem because there weren't many negro families there.

For no sound reason the impression existed that most of these

New Type Harvester Allows Grain To Dry

RALEIGH, N. C.—(AP)—A new type harvester dries grain and allows it to dry before threshing. After drying, the windrowed grain is picked up with a regular storage harvester, chopped and blown into self-unloading wagons which carry the straw to the thrasher.

Agricultural engineers at North Carolina State College here say the main advantage of the new method is that it results in better quality grain because the moisture content is lower.

Puzzle For Today's Children: In hundreds of schoolrooms like this, which had no race problems before the war, youngsters face a dilemma of new laws versus prejudices of their elders.

communities were very liberal and tolerant of negroes. With the mass migration of negro workers to the north, however, brand new race problems of varying degrees have arisen in thousands of these communities. And it is revealed that there wasn't as much tolerance in the North as had been advertised. It's obvious that the mass effect of this situation is on the minds and personalities of the country's youth. They are being forced to solve a problem without help and in many cases with hindrance from their parents, which no previous generation has solved successfully.

Star-Gazing Under Reds Is Hazardous

BERLIN—(AP)—The astrologer's lot is a precarious one in Communist East Germany, where all but official soothsayers are frowned on. Helmut Juengling, until recently a resident of the Soviet sector of Berlin, now an inmate in an East German prison, is an example. The Soviet Army's newspaper in Germany, "Taegliche Rundschau," reports Juengling was imprisoned after his horoscopes were found to contain propaganda against the Soviet administration in East Germany. The paper gloated, "This false prophet will discover, in his two and one-quarter years in jail, that he couldn't even foretell his own fate."
