Chinese Launch Attacks On Allies

Big Guns Of Allies Repel First Thrusts

TOKYO—(P)—American big guns Friday stalled the first Chinese Red counterthrust in six weeks along the Western Korean battlefield.

Doughboys spotted the Chinese moving along a mountain trail north of Uijongbu. U. S. artillery pounded the mountain and by dusk the Reds still had not pushed through the curtain of fire.

Bitter, close-range fighting flared all day throughout the area. The Americans won a commanding hill with a hand-grenade attack that rocked the Reds back on their heels.

Rains Flood Lowlands In Deep South

By The Associated Press

Two days of tremendous rains have sent floodwaters swirling over thousands of acres in the Deep South and have brought huge damage to highways, farms and homes.

Alabama was hit hardest. Two persons drowned in Mississippi, North Georgia braced for the impact of rampant rivers. Louisiana was soaked.

In West Alabama two rivers with big-shot names—the Tombigbee and the Warrior—sent lowlanders scurrying to high ground. Much livestock was reported drowned. Far reaches of rich farmland were lapped by muddy waters, and farmers counted among their losses the certain delay in spring planting.

Guardians on Duty

In Northeast Alabama, the Cahaba and Coosa Rivers overlapped their banks and fanned out. National Guardsmen were on duty at Childersburg, where the Coosa partly covered about 200 homes. Between 800 and 1,000 persons were homeless.

The Coosa was expected to rise four feet past flood stage of 20 feet Friday.

Downstream at Montgomery, Alabama's capital waited uneasily for the upstate overflow to send its torrents into the Alabama River. A crest of 49 feet Saturday was expected to inundate sections of North Montgomery. Flood stage there is 35 feet.

At Northport, Ala., on the Warrior, most of the business section was under water. The river rose 42 feet overnight, and 50 families splashed out of riverside homes. Among the refugees of this town of 3,000 was Mayor B. L. Anders.

The Warrior neared a predicted crest of 68 feet, only six inches short of the record set more than a half-century ago.

American troops on the east-central front moved closer to the border than they ever have been on this front.

They had an opportunity to establish a foothold in the distance. Field dispatches said Allied forces made fighting pullbacks in a few areas of the western and central fronts.

The Reds poured heavy artillery fire into Allied lines on the central front. Patrol clashes flared all along the battline.

The new Red arrivals were bunched along Parallel 38 on a 60-mile line centered north of Chunchon. Chunchon is eight miles south of the border.

They could be the jump-off force of the expected Communist Spring offensive.

The U. S. Eighth Army command says the Reds at any moment can throw nine rested or fresh army corps—some 270,000 men—into a drive.

If they do, it would be their greatest smash of the war.

17 More Vessels Join U. S. Fleet In Mediterranean

GIBRALTAR—(P)—A powerful U. S. fleet unit of 17 ships arrived at Gibraltar from the United States Friday, building to peak postwar strength American Navy forces operating in the Mediterranean.

With the expected arrival Saturday of the giant aircraft carrier Coral Sea, the U. S. Sixth Fleet cruising the 1,000,000-square-mile Mediterranean area will include, at least temporarily, two of the world's three largest carriers and two of its three largest cruisers.

The other 45,000-ton carrier is the Franklin D. Roosevelt, which already is on duty in this area. The cruisers are the 17,000-ton Newport News and Salem. All four of these giant fighting ships have been commissioned since 1945.

Postman Makes Last Call On Little Bobby Hittline

DETROIT—(P)—The postman paid his last call Friday on six-year-old Bobby Hittline.

Only last week Bobby was made a member of the Midland County (Texas) Sheriff's posse and received a special-made badge sent by the Midland organization. It designated him a deputy sheriff.

The big-eyed cancer victim, who attracted nationwide attention through his mother's plea for aid, died Friday in a Detroit hospital. He had been in an oxygen tent for the last 24 hours.

Post-Hole Digger Oil Well Sends Rail Board To Rule Book

Production of oil with a post-hole digger has sent the Railroad Commission supervisor for District 8, said he witnessed the operation near Colorado City.

The producer spudded in with an ordinary post-hole digger and in 30 minutes he struck oil—a barrel an hour of better than 50 gravity.

Greer watched the new well being pumped for an hour.

The production is adjacent to the Colorado River, a half-mile west of Colorado City, Greer said.

"There's been some evidence of oil escaping into the river," he said. "We were interested in possible pollution."

"The folks on a tract bordering the river were interested in salvaging oil. They wanted to know the legal procedure to follow."

Spacing rules wouldn't cover the situation but the official suggested that the operator obtain a permit in order to market the oil.

Greer returned to Midland with a sample of the oil. He said the operator told him it was 50 gravity or better.

"I suggested that he file an application to drill," Greer said. "He told me he wasn't going to drill but was going to dig."

France Asks Voice In Mediterranean Talks

WASHINGTON—(P)—France complained officially to the United States Friday against being left out of British-American defense meetings in the Mediterranean.

French Foreign Minister Schuman, who is here with President Auriol, personally lodged the protest during a 70-minute talk at the State Department with Secretary Acheson.

MEET THE CANDIDATES—

Three Men Seek Place 3 On City Council

(Third of a Series)

An unsuccessful candidate in last year's city election and two political newcomers are seeking Place No. 3 on the Midland City Council.

In this race, voters in Tuesday's city election will have their choice of:

Lee C. Thomas, a 39-year-old furniture store operator, who was elected in last year's City Council election.

J. W. (Johnny) Starr, a 44-year-old operator of a butane gas service.

Robert R. Currie, a 35-year-old airplane pilot and real estate salesman.

If he wins, it will not be Thomas' first connection with the city government.

A native of Stephenville, he moved as a child to a farm near Sweetwater and finished high school there. Twenty-four years ago, he

New County Bond Issue Looms

Rising Costs Affect Front Street Plans

An additional $1,000,000 bond issue proposal to finance the Front Street improvement project loomed Friday as county commissioners awarded a $752,000 contract for the construction of a drainage program.

The low bid on the drainage project, which must be constructed before the entire Front Street program can be carried out, was approximately 50 per cent higher than the anticipated cost.

"It looks like we'll have to get another $1,000,000," County Judge Clifford C. Keith told the Commissioners Court.

Estimated Costs

He submitted a list of estimated costs for the entire project, based on the increase in the bid over the estimated cost of the drainage program.

This list, in addition to the drainage program cost, includes $345,000 for right-of-way still to be acquired; $400,000 for the county's share of the Big Spring Street grade separation project; $38,000 for engineering fees; $25,000 for extra expense on drainage program.

Midland County taxpayers last year approved a $1,000,000 bond issue for the project.

Judge Keith said $170,000 already has been spent to purchase Front Street right-of-way. From the original bond issue, the county still has $350,000 in unsold bonds and $480,000 in uncommitted funds from bond sales, or a total of $830,000.

Total Cost $1,560,000

On the basis of the figures submitted Friday, the project will cost a total of $1,560,000, which is $729,000 more than the county now has available.

The lowest bid on the extensive drainage program was submitted by the H. B. Zachry Company of San Antonio. The other six bids ranged as high as $1,255,000.

Judge Keith said the increase was due to rising construction costs and that the county had little choice other than going ahead with the drainage program.

The drainage program is the first step in the entire Front Street improvement program, which will give Midland a cross-town artery for traffic.

Extender Completed To Tex-Harvey Pool

Fred M. Allison Production Company of Corsicana, and associates have completed their No. 2 Judkins-Walton as a two-mile south extension on the southeast side of the Tex-Harvey field in Central-East Glasscock County.

This important new producer is 30 miles southeast of Midland and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 43, block 36, T-2-S, 7-R-E survey.

It reported a 24-hour potential of 803 barrels of 38-plus gravity oil and no water, flowing through a one-half-inch tubing choke.

The daily tubing was based on an actual flow of 134 barrels of oil in four hours. Gas-oil ratio was 720-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 575 pounds. Shut-in casing pressure was 300 pounds.

Top of the Sprberry pay is at 6,818 feet. The 7-inch oil zoned is estimated at 6,890 feet. Total depth 7,275 feet.

The open hole section had been hydraulically fractured with 2,500 gallons.

Lomax Brothers of Midland were the rotary drilling contractors on this development. That concern is reported to have an interest in the well. The Lomax organization not only drilled the project but also directed its testing and completion.

Drilling To Start On Hale Prospector

Materials are being moved in at Honolulu Oil Corporation and Sinclair Oil & Gas Company's location in Northeast Hale County for a 2,900-foot Pennsylvania wildcat.

The prospect will be drilled 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 19, block D-7, EL&R survey.

That puts drillsite six miles south of Plainview.

Water wells are now being dug for the venture, which will be drilled as the concerns' No. 1 Charles Clements.

Two Wildcats Set In Pecos Sectors

Penlex Oil Corporation, George L. Machris, John Kelsey and Richard Cochran, all of Midland, are to start drilling at once on a 4,800-foot cable tool wildcat in Central Pecos County.

The exploration will be 660 feet from south and west lines of section 1, block 117, OC&SF survey and one mile west and two miles south of the town of Fort Stockton.

Maner Graham No. 1 R. M. Thompson is to be a 2,900-foot rotary wildcat in Northeast Pecos County, eight miles northeast of Owega.

Drillsite has been made 330 feet from west and south lines of section 1, block 11, H&GN survey.

NW Upton Discovery Gets Two Stepouts

The Wilshire Oil Company has staked two more locations as stepouts to Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 McElroy Ranch, assured producer from the Ellenburger in Northwest Upton County.

The Wilshire No. 13-118 R. S. Windham will be two location northeast of No. 1 McElroy and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 118, block D, OC&DR&NG survey.

Wilshire No. 14-118 R. S. Windham will be a two-location east outpost, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 16, block D, OC&DR&NG survey.

No. 1 McElroy is a total depth of 12,490 feet in the Ellenburger and preparing to take a drillstem test after a core from 12,373 to total depth developed four feet of very vuggy, porous dolomite with good

Liberal System Of Draft Deferments For Students Soon

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senate sources Friday forecast a liberal system on draft deferments for college boys during the next school year.

A new deferment directive which President Truman told his news conference Thursday was being prepared, may permit next year's student deferments to equal the 670,000 granted this year, it was believed.

Some lawmakers said they expect the new policy to defer almost all freshmen who have entered college this fall; all sophomores who ranked scholastically in the upper half their first year; all juniors who were in the upper two-thirds their second year; and all seniors who were in the upper three-fourths their third year.

These would be in addition to de-

City To Receive New Fire Station Bids On April 6

Bids for the construction of two new fire stations for Midland on a fixed fee basis will be received on April 6, City Manager W. H. Oswald said Friday.

The new bids were called for by the City Council Thursday after bids on a standard construction contract exceeded estimates by 60 per cent.

"With some structural changes in the plans," said Oswald, "and on a fixed fee contract, we felt that two stations can be constructed for much less."

The lowest bid received last week was $78,000.

Oswald said that bidders on the fixed fee arrangement will be required to submit an estimate of the total cost of the job.

He added that the city would furnish some of the materials such as salvaged timber now available at the Municipal Air Terminal.

Shows Forecast In Western Texas

By The Associated Press

Showers are in store for parts of Texas Saturday, the Weather Bureau forecast, as the state warmed up from the chill of the last two days.

Most points reported minimum temperatures in the 30's Friday morning. Dalhart was low for the state with 24 degrees and Galveston high with 51.

The state generally was clear Friday, but clouds are expected to form Friday night, with showers predicted for West Texas Saturday.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

AUSTIN—(P)—Mayor Taylor Glass Friday said he would demand that a grand jury convening Monday subpoena Laredo Publisher William Prescott Allen and "make him tell what he knows" about Austin being a shame and a disgrace to the whole nation.

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Friday accepted a rail management proposal that President Truman name an arbitrator in a long-standing dispute over rules changes.

NEW YORK—(P)—Mrs. Elizabeth Moos, former mother-in-law of convicted perjurer William W. Remington, was taken into custody Friday on arriving here by plane from France. She is accused of failing to register as foreign agent.

Negro Faces Two Murder Charges In Cook Slayings

RIVERSIDE, CALIF.—(P)—Double murder charges, plus five other felony counts, faced Air Force Sgt. Lawrence J. Walker Friday as steps were taken both against him and in his possible defense.

The 20-year-old negro from Newark, N. J., was arraigned on charges of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook, both 18, on the desert and hustled back to his cell Thursday. Fearing a possible suicide attempt, officers removed Walker's belt and shoe laces.

With Friday, April 13, set for preliminary hearing, Walker's fiancée, Charlene Simpson, said she had retained Attorney Sam Houston Allen to defend him. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had a representative at the arraignment. Two association lawyers were scheduled to confer with Allen and Walker Friday.

A group of Walker's friends began raising a defense fund for the sergeant, described by his commanding officer at March Air Force Base as "one of the nicest boys in the outfit."

Increased Evidence Of Sabotage Found In Globemaster Loss

LONDON—(P)—Increasing evidence that a plane with 53 U. S. airmen aboard either blew up or plunged into the Atlantic Ocean in flames was reported by search vessels Friday.

The U. S. destroyer Benner said by radio it had picked up 105 splintered pieces of debris—30 per cent of them charred—over a 10-mile-wide area 600 miles southwest of Ireland.

The Daily Express said all signs "point to sabotage." The Air Force refused to discuss this theory officially.

U. S. Third Air Division Headquarters here said a Navy reserve officer aboard the Benner "has positively identified one piece of plywood as Douglas floorboard material."

The huge transport plane vanished one week ago on a flight from Limestone, Maine, to the American Air Base at Mildenhall, England.

The debris reported by the Benner lay within a five-mile radius of the spot where searchers on Wednesday found a piece of crating identified positively as part of the Globemaster's cargo.

"Only a violent explosion could have so torn to shreds a huge plane capable of carrying 150 men or many tons of cargo," said the Express in discussing its sabotage theory.

"And unless the U. S. authorities find some inherent fault in the Globemaster planes, there is only one plausible conclusion: the explosion was planned."

Six Children Die When Home Burns

SOUTH KINGSTON, R. I.—(P)—Six children—ranging in age from one to 12 years—died early Friday in a fire which destroyed their two-room home.

The bodies were recovered in the ruins by firemen.

Police said she was too hysterical to question.

Doctors Still Are Repairing 'That Beautiful Hunk Of Man'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: Vic Mature still is under doctor's care for that leg injury suffered months ago and has to do daily exercises to knit bone and muscle together. . . . Subject matter of "The Dictator," Errol Flynn's next independent picture, is explosive. Religious bigotry.

Sylvano Mangano, the Italian rice-cake, is just the girl Ella Kazan wants to co-star with Marlon Brando in "Zapata." Fox is trying to lure her to the U. S. . . . Close pals of Ida Lupino, cast she's on the verge of retiring as an actress. It will be Ida Lupino, director-producer, after her next emoting chore in "Day Without End," in which she'll co-star with Arthur Kennedy.

News item: "Walt Disney will inject sex into his new cartoons." I can see it now: Billboards showing Minnie Mouse with a plunging neckline. At least one Duck-duck shot with Donald striped to the waist is Alan Ladd.

Double-take quote from Roberto Rossellini in the British-published "Sight and Sound" magazine: "Although born and bred in Rome, I seem in some respects to have a Sicilian mentality. I simply hate to think that my wife (Ingrid Bergman) should work and so take from me the privilege of providing for my family."

Into His Own
 Chill Wills of the cracking, saggy-bushed voice and the folksy humor, ducked the Will Rogers film biography at Warners—"trying on his shoes is going to be a hard thing"—but he's not ducking talk at UI about letting him create his own homespun character. He told me: "Playing Wills could be murder. You gotta be yourself in this town."

To date Chill has been everything else but himself. "When I first arrived in Hollywood I called me a young Walter Brennan." Then for nine years at MGM I was a stand-by for Wallace Beery.

"I never could rip off any yardage there. I think they kept me in cold storage in case Wally got out of line. If he got temperamental and refused to do a role, they'd saddle me up with wardrobe and then Wally would cool down and agree to do the picture."

"Then they said I was ready for a big starring role. The 'big' role was one line of dialog: 'They got me, Martha!' Then they put me in 'Billy, The Kid' with Robert Taylor and they had to spray the theater with insecticide after it left. But at least I stayed alive in it. 'But when they put me behind a grocery store counter and a girl walked in and I weighed her out some gumdrops and said, 'That'll be 15 cents,' I quit."

Now it's Chill as the unblinded voice of Francis the talking mule. But it was Chill's voice dubbing job for Francis, oddly enough, that generated the spark in the UI front office that his talent belongs back on the screen instead of on a sound track.

The inside on Sidney Greenstreet's long absence from flickers is not ill health, as generally believed, but a sit-it-out strike against any more lecherous, black-hearted film characters.

If they can't find another blubber-padded heavy, Sidney lets it drop, then Hollywood had better start fattening up the thin scoundrels.

He's through, he says, with leering at blondes and making life tough for Humphrey Bogart. He told me:

"I was a character comedian on the Broadway stage for 28 years, but not one single comedy role has come my way in Hollywood." The portly Sidney, who's on the side of light and goodness in radio's "Meet Nero Wolfe" added:

"So I'll keep turning down the sinister parts and take it easy until something worthwhile comes along. But it will have to be good."

Now it can be told: "Father Does a Strip," to star Clifton Webb, isn't about a male Gypsy Rose Lee. It's all about a newspaper cartoonist.

Judy Holliday, Jose Ferrer Head Roster Of 'Oscar' Winners

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Judy Holliday, the junk dealer's squeaky-voiced babe in "Born Yesterday," won the Academy Award Thursday night from two mature actresses, Gloria Swanson and Bette Davis. Jose Ferrer was given the top male Oscar for his swagging performance as the bulbous "Cyrano de Bergerac." For the first time in Motion Picture history, neither winner was present. Both Miss Holliday and Ferrer are in New York. Statuettes for the best supporting roles in 1950 were bestowed on Josephine Hull, the flitting sister in "Harvey," and George Sanders, acid-tongued critic of "All About Eve."

"All About Eve" captured honors for the best film of 1950, winning five other awards as well. Starring Victory.

It was a stunning victory for Miss Holliday. In her second important picture, the shapely New Yorker captured the honors away from the highly touted performances of Miss Swanson in "Sunset Boulevard" and Miss Davis in "All About Eve."

Other important awards: Motion picture story, "Panic in the Streets" by Edna and Edward Anhalt; story and screenplay (by same writers)—"Sunset Boulevard," Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder and D. M. Marshman, Jr.; Irving Thalberg Memorial for high-quality production, Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox; best musical score, "Sunset Boulevard," Frank Waxman; best song, "Mona Lisa," by Mack David, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston, from "Captain Carey, USA."

AP Poll Forecasts Top Oscars Correctly

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— An Associated Press poll accurately foretold the top "Oscar" awards two and one-half months ago. The AP polled 100 leading Hollywood correspondents on the best movie and acting of 1950. Judy Holliday of "Born Yesterday," with 32 votes, won best actress honors by a narrow margin. Bette Davis (All About Eve) received 31 1/2 votes, and Gloria Swanson (Sunset Boulevard) 30 1/2.

Others who won both the writers' poll and Thursday night's Academy Awards: Best picture: "All About Eve"; best actor, Jose Ferrer, "Cyrano de Bergerac," supporting actress, Josephine Hull, "Harvey," supporting actor, George Sanders, "All About Eve."

NEW YORK —(AP)— Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations Palestine mediator and winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize, has been selected to receive the 1951 Four Freedoms Award. Bunche will be presented with the award at a dinner April 11 by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who won it last year.

came on to Midland with his parents and went to work in the City Water Department.

Later he was employed by the Upham Furniture Company and a dozen years ago went into business for himself with the City Furniture and Mattress Company.

For the last 14 years he has been a volunteer fireman.

Starr, a native of Oklahoma, moved to Texas with his parents at an early age and was graduated from Eagle Lake High School.

He went on to Houston Junior College two years and then was employed by the Reed Roller Bit Company in Houston.

It was with Reed that he came to West Texas and after climbing to the position of district manager in six years, he resigned to go into business for himself.

He established the Starr Gas Company in Lubbock in 1941 and moved to Midland in 1945.

The third candidate, Currie, literally flew into Midland.

Born and reared in Ozona, he attended Abilene Christian College one year and New Mexico A&M for another. He then became an airplane mechanic and learned to fly.

Three years ago he came to Midland and joined the West Texas Flying Service and for two years flew pipe line patrol for the West Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company.

Since last year, however, he has been a Midland real estate salesman.

The three candidates have stated their platform to the Midland League of Women Voters as follows:

Thomas—Fair, honest, impartial government, courtesy and fairness to all. I'll do the best I can.

Starr—I favor a practical, conservative, business-like administration of our city government, free of any prejudice.

Currie—To improve the service of the city to the people more efficiently. To improve sanitation facilities. To act in developing Front Street. To act in improving the traffic and parking problem. To improve playground facilities. To build a bigger and better Midland.

Senate's Vocal 'Generals'

A sizable number of quite vocal senators believes that Congress should have a great deal to say about where we send troops, how many we send, and when.

Some of these lawmakers want to put definite limits not only on the size of any overseas forces but on the total of the entire Army. They want to say how troops should be disposed on foreign soil, and to specify what conditions other nations must meet before we dispatch our soldiers.

It has been well recognized that the substance of these choices is essentially military. In proposing that Congress shall make these decisions, the legislators in question are in fact urging that they be constituted as a sort of supra-military authority.

No sensible man would argue that our military leaders should be above criticism or free of the normal checks that all public officials must endure. We know from mountainous evidence that they're often wrong, usually wasteful of men and materiel, and frequently high-handed in dealing with critics.

But, for better or for worse, they are the only military experts we have. They make a lifetime study of military problems. Their whole waking existence is devoted to devising ways and means of protecting this nation against any possible enemy.

Moreover, by the nature of their organization they are equipped to put into almost instant effect the plans they so carefully have conceived for our safety.

Does anyone seriously believe that we should transfer any significant share of this responsibility to Congress, or that Congress is qualified to bear it?

If anyone thinks so, let him examine the record of the Senate on the troops-for-Europe question still pending there. It has been three months since Senator Wherry, Republican Senate leader, first offered his resolution suggesting that Congress' approval ought to be had for any troop movements to Europe.

Almost two months have passed since the Senate Foreign Relations Committee opened hearings on the issue. And with debate at full tilt on the Senate floor, what happened? Some of the men most insistent upon Congress having a voice in this vital matter decided that the more important thing at the moment was their Easter vacation.

So they trekked off home, shrugging off the question with an "it can wait" attitude. Meanwhile, General Eisenhower, commander of the European defense army, cools his heels.

With painstaking care and delicacy, Eisenhower has engineered a rebirth of hope and confidence among the Europeans who must certainly furnish the largest proportion of any defense force based on the continent. It is that force the free world counts upon to hold off the insistent Russian flood.

But Eisenhower knows, as we all do now, that the biggest lift to European confidence, the best underscoring of our intent that we could offer, would be the early dispatch of more American ground troops to Europe. It isn't the number that matters so much. It's the speed with which they're sent.

This general situation was understood widely long before the troops-for-Europe debate began. Yet senators still see no urgency in the issue, still feel free to knock off for a pleasant Easter holiday, still devote themselves to endless haggling over the words of a resolution when the need is for clear, unmistakable action.

Is this the way to run an army? Must we have two or three months' argument before we can send a mere four divisions overseas? Russian generals could be readying the placement of their cannon while our Capitol Hill "generals" are worrying over the placement of their commas.

This is not to suggest that war is imminent. It is to suggest that the senators who want to make military decisions are out of their element. They prove it every day they stand up and talk on the Senate floor.

Red, White And Blue

Not long ahead Congress will start hearing again how necessary to the nation are a whole host of flood control projects. The story won't be quite the same this time. Whatever justification offered for them in the past, this year they'll all be "absolutely essential to the national defense." Just you wait and see.

Double suggestion: make your money first, and then try and make it last.

Just stop paying the installments on your car if you want to get back on your feet.

Stay out all night and sleep all day if you want to have a hard time finding your place in the sun.

Maybe the weak still inherit the earth, but right now would you want it?

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service

"What are you going to teach people at your Charn School?" I asked my friend Sam Fry the other day. "It's not a charrn school," he replied, with dignity. "It's a Card School, and we're going to teach all card games. Nationally known experts will do the teaching. If you're a good boy, we might even ask you to do some of the teaching."

I managed to duck that invitation, but agreed to serve on the board of directors. So far as I know, this is the first card school that has ever made use of champions to do the teaching. Today's hand shows the sort of lesson they teach to experienced bridge players.

If South is the average good player, he will draw trumps fairly early. If he misguesses the location of the queen of trumps, he will be set (since he will almost surely lose one trick in each of the other suits).

The expert plan, as Sam Fry points out to his pupils, is not to draw trumps until the last possible moment. As you go along, you may have to guess the queen of hearts, but it is quite possible that the opponents will do the guessing for you.

At the first trick the queen of clubs is finessed, losing to East's king. East returns the queen of diamonds, whereupon South takes the ace of diamonds and all the top cards in the side suits; the ace of clubs, the ace of spades, and the king of spades. South then gives up a spade trick and lets the opponents carry the ball for a while.

They can take their third defensive trick, a diamond, but then must hand control back to declarer. One way or another, South ruffs a diamond in dummy and a club in his own hand. In the process, he should find out that East's hand length in both diamonds and clubs. It is therefore clear that East is quite short in trumps, and South can take the trump finesse through West on the basis of knowledge rather than guess-work.

As a matter of fact, when this type of hand is actually played, the opponents will often lead trumps in the hope of stopping a non-existent cross-ruff. Experts are very lazy people, according to Sam Fry, and they enjoy making the opponents do all the work.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
 Drew Pearson says: Slot-machine lobby operated through "reliable" congressmen; Enforcement of slot-machine law now up to Justice Department; Many senators never did want original Kefauver resolution to pass.

WASHINGTON — Most people don't know it, but the slot-machine boys put on a terrific lobbying drive right under the noses of Capitol Hill solons to defeat the Preston Bill regulating slot machines. The lobby even listed certain members of Congress to be contacted.

Operation of the slot-machine lobby gives a slight indication of the pressures exerted to kill the Kefauver crime probe. In the case of the slot-machine bill, representatives of seven leading slot-machine manufacturers met secretly in the Chicago offices of the O. D. Jennings Company, in order to plan their wire-pulling campaign.

"Contacting congressmen — This ought to be continued, but with caution. In other words, members of the House subcommittee ought to be approached, but only if the contact made with the congressman is extremely reliable. Congressman Beckworth of Texas (Democrat) and Congressman Ellsworth of Oregon (Republican) will be handled by Jones. The other industry committee members ought to contact the House Interstate Commerce committee members assigned to them. Also, each industry member should speak to the congressman of the district in which his place of business is located.

"The Senator Kefauver investigation and public relations — The industry can't take the attitude that it is opposed to the Kefauver investigation. To do so would line it up with the hoodlums. However, some of the attacks to which the industry is presently being subjected could be prevented with the use of an intelligent public-relations program. . . . Members of the industry have consistently lied by maintaining to the public that the industry does not manufacture gambling equipment. This, of course, is not true. There ought to be an honest admission of the fact that the industry does manufacture gambling equipment."

"The representative of the Bell-O-Matic Corporation, Vice Shay, suggested that the industry 'ought not to rest on its oars but ought, to conceive a plan of operation. The committee ought to consider the possibility of employing a professional representative in Washington, D. C., who would coordinate the activities of the entire industry in doing whatever had to be done to defeat the passage of the (slot-machine control) bill."

"1. Industry committee members should see congressmen on the House Transportation subcommittee, providing their contacts with these congressmen are reliable and beyond question. They should also contact the congressmen of the district in which their plants are located.

"2. They should submit their arguments against the Preston bill and similar legislation in writing.

"3. Committee members should send letters to club customers, asking for information on the amount of slot-machine funds distributed to charities and charitable enterprises. The information gained from letters which clubs return will be used in preparing statistics for the committees in Congress."

Note — Although a watered-down slot-machine control bill passed Congress anyhow, its enforcement still is held up by the Justice Department.

California Crime Error
 Looking over back Merry-Go-Round columns on the Kefauver probe, I ran across an error and also an indication of how difficult it was to pass the Kefauver resolution in the first place.

An April 8, 1950, this column reported: "There's more than meets the eye behind the mysterious maneuvering to block the Kefauver resolution for an investigation of organized crime in the U. S. A. It is now April. The Kefauver investigation first was proposed in January. It hasn't yet passed the Senate. . . . Powerful forces are at work which don't want any investigation at all. Senator Kefauver has had all sorts of personal pressure brought by friends he never dreamed were close to the gamblers asking him to sidetrack his probe."

The April 8 column, while perhaps helping to spur passage of the crime probe, erred in further comment regarding one phase of the California crime situation, when I reported that George Rochester of Los Angeles had "whitewashed" the Guaranty Finance Company, later found to be a front for gamblers. This reference to Mr. Rochester I now find to have been an error and I want to take this opportunity to rectify any injustice that may have been done Mr. Rochester.

Those famous 800 letters now on President Truman's desk, which congressmen wrote to the RFC asking for loans, are only a small drop in the bucket. The president has been informed that Senators and representatives have written more than 6,000 appeals to the RFC on behalf of their friends. . . . A reactionary radio commentator has sent one of his assistants to Bill Boyle's home town in Missouri to see if he can dig up any dirt on the Democratic national chairman. . . . Plug for the Air Force — The House Armed Services Committee inspected Chanute Field, Ill., last week looking for abuses. Hearings were even held behind closed doors, so witnesses wouldn't be afraid to talk. However, the committee didn't uncover a single complaint; on the contrary, it took down several pages of favorable testimony.

Amarillo Attorney Convicted Of Inducing Perjured Testimony

DALLAS — (P) — A federal jury Thursday found William A. Culwell, Amarillo attorney, guilty on two counts of subornation of perjury after almost 24 hours of deliberation.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson sentenced Culwell to serve two years on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

Culwell was accused of inducing two witnesses in a Mann Act case here last December to swear falsely. He denied the charge. The witnesses were Ruby Booth and Wallace Edgerton (Buck) Britt, wealthy Clayton, N. M., rancher.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

President Has Bigger 'Family' Than Most People Think

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — When President Truman at Key West said his house was clean and always had been, he was covering quite a lot of official family. The President made this remark in reply to a crack by Senator William Knowland of California. The senator had said in a speech that the President ought to come home and clean house. The President came home a little early, all right, but he says it wasn't for that.

Senator Knowland was complaining about the Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the Donald Dawsons, the E. Merl Youngs and the RFC directors whose antics have been the subject of so much Senate investigation. Nevertheless, few people realize how big the President's official White House family has become, and who all is in it.

There are more than 1,500 people in what's known as "the Executive Office of the President." This includes White House guards, gardeners, domestic servants, clerks and secretaries—with and without milk coats. It includes more than 500 people in Bureau of the Budget, another 500 in the new defense set-up. The Executive Office organization also includes Central Intelligence Agency, but no information ever has been given out on how many people work for CIA.

In the White House staff proper there were 324 employees as of January 1. Many of them don't work in the White House. Some are in the east wing of the Executive Mansion, where "the" assistant to the President, Dr. John R. Steelman, hangs out. Most have slipped over into what used to be the old State Department building but is now the Executive Office building, across the street from the west wing of the White House, where the President has his office.

But only 25 rate of the White House staff, there are perhaps 25 people who rate as important: With only a few exceptions, they are all government career men who have come up from the ranks. None was particularly distinguished before coming to Washington.

The exceptions are chiefly these: C. E. Wilson, director of Defense Mobilization; W. Averell Harriman, coordinator of foreign policy; Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith, director of Central Intelligence; W. Stuart Symington, head of National Security Resources Board (NSRB). But Symington's job has been chopped down since Wilson came to town.

President Truman has no "brain trust" in the sense that President Roosevelt had one. There is no board of super-strategy that meets like a politburo to decide what shall be done.

Closest thing to it is the National Security Council. By law it consists of the President, Vice President (Barkley), Chairman of NSRB (Symington), Secretaries of State (Acheson) and Defense (Marshall). Its executive secretary now is James S. Lay, Jr.

Adm. Sydney W. Souers, a Missouri crony of the President's, formerly had this job and before that he was director of Central Intelligence. The President still consults him. The President also consults Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, former presidential chief of staff, though he is officially retired.

Some Daily, Others Weekly
 The President sees C. E. Wilson practically every day they are both in town. Secretaries Acheson and Marshall, Chairman Symington of NSRB and Chairman William J. Boyle of Democratic National Committee have standing weekly appointments with the President, see him often on special appointment. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff or Lieutenant General Smith of CIA brief the President almost daily, though not on a regularly fixed schedule. The National Security Council meets once a week, congressional Democratic leaders meet with the President once a week. The Cabinet meets twice a week. Incidentally, every cabinet office has changed two or three times since Truman became President.

Cabinet members are urged to bring matters of national interest; they are seldom polled and never vote on an issue to determine policy. The President makes the decisions. But he can sometimes be talked out of a decision he is about to make.

The "palace guard" at the White House consists entirely of the President's personal staff of assistants. These are the men who meet with the President almost every morning at 10.

W. Averell Harriman, who serves without pay, and the two 50,000-a-year men, Dr. Steelman and Charles S. Murphy, presidential counsel. Then the three $18,000 secretaries: Matthew J. Connelly (appointments), William D. Hassett (correspondence) and Joseph H. Short (information). The President's chief clerk is William J. Hopkins.

Six $15,000 special assistants are authorized, but only four have been appointed: David H. Stowe, George M. Eisey, Donald S. Dawson and David K. Niles. Dawson handles personnel and is the man wanted for testimony by Senator Fulbright's RPC investigation.

Dewey Creates New York Crime Panel
 ALBANY, N. Y. — (P) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey Thursday created a five-member State Crime Commission to "investigate generally the relationship between organized crime and any unit of government anywhere in the state."

The unprecedented action followed Dewey's ordering of a special grand jury investigation. Dewey designated Joseph M. Proskauer of New York City, a former State Supreme Court justice and a Democrat, as commission chairman.

KILLER'S PACE BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

I HUNG up the phone with emphasis, slapping the receiver into its holder. I opened the telephone booth door and stepped outside. It had got very hot in there in the last 20 minutes. My watch said I had been there only that long, though it had seemed an hour. It was now 9:23. I could picture Criminal Court No. 7. I could even picture the scene in Judge Wanamaker's chambers. I shuddered. I wondered if this was to be Star Williams' last case.

The phone rang. I stepped back into the booth and did not close the door as I answered. It was Kitty Coyle. She sounded hysterical.

"Jim, you've got to do something! Quick! Judge Wanamaker's just sent out a message that if Star doesn't appear by 9:30 he'll let the case go to the jury without further argument."

Wanamaker was within his rights. He had insisted that Star make his defense argument the previous afternoon, immediately after the state's opening argument, but Star had held out for an adjournment, though it was only 4 o'clock. Fuming, Wanamaker had granted an adjournment till 9 this morning. And now Star hadn't shown up.

"What can I do? Nobody's seen him after midnight last night. He was out at La Jolla Club watching the floor show there. He left in a taxi, and I haven't been able to trace the taxi. I even got Al Nannabarro out of bed, but he knows nothing more than that Star was at his club."

"Imagine Star wasting his time at a night club floor show at a time like this!" I yelled Kitty.

She hung up. I left the booth again. It was in the rear of the Court Bar, a scant block from the courthouse. It was deserted save for myself and Pete Crummit, the solitary bartender. The usual barflies and hangers-on were doubtless crowding Criminal Court No. 7. Star had always rated a big gallery. Only this time there was no Star.

It was the first time that Star had ever failed to put in a courtroom appearance. Since I had started working for him a couple years before he had given me a few bad moments, but always he had been able to put on a show. But this time Andy Tanner, the D.A., wouldn't even have an opponent to contend with.

"Why don't you give up?" Pete Crummit asked. He was smugly mopping the bar with a rag that looked as if it might have been a door mat to a coal mine. I had never liked Pete. He had tended bar here since repeal and, as he trade was almost exclusively made up by the legal profession, he had picked up enough superficial legal knowledge to affect airs.

"Not that it would make any difference," Pete went on, "whether you found Star or not. This time he's licked, and he knows it. For my money, he's deliberately hiding out in that hotel." "What hotel?" I screamed it. Pete went nonchalantly on with his bar mopping. "Would you like to know?" "What do you think I've been battling my brains out for since 8 this morning? Say! When I asked if you knew where Star was, all you gave me was the deadpan! What are you trying to give me, a rib?"

She held a little black automatic pistol. She pointed it at my middle and lifted delicately thin brows.

"Nix," said Pete, throwing down his rag. "I kept my trap shut at first because I wanted you to convince yourself that you'd never find Star without me. Convinced?"

I was convinced, all right. I selected a sawbuck from my wallet and tossed it on the bar. Pete pretended not to see it.

"It's worth a century," he vouchsafed. "Not a dime less."

I recovered and said calmly: "Aside from the fact that I'm not wearing that kind of money, you're all out of fine!"

Pete betrayed no interest in the second ten spot that I placed beside the first.

"You'll pay me a century and like it! I don't know what kind of a corny alibi Star's got-worked out, but if he don't show for this Bidault case, he's through. Nobody'd ever trust Star again. A lawyer that walks out on you for the pay-off plea! Noooy!"

HE was right. The situation was desperate. I emptied my pocket and threw the entire contents on the bar.

"There's about seventy bucks. That's all I've got on me now!" "Then I'll take a check for the balance," said Pete. I saw that he meant it. I always carry a spare check, and I scribbled a check for thirty. I was sure I'd thrown more than $70 on the bar, but this was no time to quibble.

"All right, Pete, where is he? And this had better be right!" "Strand Hotel. He's with a dame named Madam Sareeta."

I ignored Star's appalling gall. He was in better shape than I had expected to find him. He was neatly dressed though he wore the same suit he had worn the day before. He was cold sober despite the evidence of the highball glass in his hand.

"Who is this man?" asked Madam Sareeta, still pointing the pistol at my middle.

"I've told you about Jim Marshall. Star tossed off the rest of the contents of his glass. Madam Sareeta laid her little automatic pistol on a stand. "Jim, this is Sopya Sareeta, the famous lady magician." Star approached her affectionately, and though she was merely a medium-sized girl, she dwarfed him.

A drillstem test was taken at 9,985-10,360 feet. Length of the test was not reported. Recovery was 180 feet of drilling mud cut water and 900 feet of salty, sulphur water.
There were no shows of oil or gas in the Ellenburger or in any section between it and 4,375 feet.
The project has plugged back to 4,375 feet and will make a production test on a zone in the San Andres line above that point. Some slight shows of oil and gas were logged in that formation.

El Capitán Oil Company made location for its No. 2 P. K. Jones, 1,980 feet from east and south lines of section 31, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.
All four will be drilled to test the Spraberry, regular producing horizon of the Tex-Harvey field.

Tex-Harvey Sector Gets Two More Oilers

Two more Spraberry oilers have been added to the Tex-Harvey field: one in the Midland County side and one in Glasscock County.
El Tee Oil Company No. 1-16 Moyd Estate, 661.6 feet from north and 664.2 feet from west lines of section 16, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey and in Midland County, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 180.69 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil and no water.
The oil is coming from open hole section at 7,113-7,200 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 523-1. Tubing pressure was 100 pounds. The 24-hour potential was gauged through an 8/16-inch choke.
The Glasscock producer, Hubbard S. Russell and others No. 4-A Wragg Hendrickson, was finished for a potential of 301.4 barrels of 39.4-gravity oil per day flowing.
Open hole from 6,918 to 6,975 feet was hydraulically fractured with 1,500 gallons.
Gas-oil ratio was 725-1. Pressure on tubing was 180 pounds. The potential test was made through a 2 1/4-inch tubing choke.
Location is 660 feet from south

Magnolia Spots Two Projects In Pegasus

Magnolia Petroleum Company has staked two more drillates in the Pegasus field of Northwest Upton and Southeast Midland County.
The firm will drill No. 2-1 TXL 660 feet from south and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 41, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.
That puts it at the northeast edge of the field.
Magnolia No. 3 John Windham, also in the northeast edge of the field, will be drilled 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 32, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.
Operations are to start immediately on the two prospectors, which are projected to 13,000 feet to explore the regular Ellenburger pay of the field.

Six Wildcats Set For NE Crockett

Gulf Stream Oil Company of San Angelo has filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas for permit to drill six 2,500-foot wildcats in Northeast Crockett County, six miles southwest of Barnhart.

After failing in the deep zone the project plugged back to 1,200 feet and attempted to test the San Andres. No satisfactory results were obtained from those efforts and operator ordered the wildcat plugged.

Reagan Test Swabbing Load Oil, Salt Water

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-N University, Southwest Reagan County wildcat, four miles northwest of the Big Lake field and the same distance southeast of the Benedum field, is swabbing load oil and salt water from the Spraberry.
That section had been hydraulically fractured at 7,235-7,343 feet. Operator is now swabbing to clean out and test. No new oil has yet been recovered from the zone under test.
Drillstem test run in this project before the hydraulic fracturing developed some good indications of possible production.
Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 28, block 2, University survey.

NE Crockett Area Reports Dry Hole

Joe T. Davidson and Son No. 2 George Bean, Northeast Crockett County wildcat, one and one-half miles north of the shallow Betty field has been plugged and abandoned at total depth of 1,480 feet in upper Permian lime. It made salt water at that point.
There were no shows of possible production in any section penetrated by the prospector. It was in section 26, block UV, GC&SF survey.

An American Story

The American Story never grows tiresome with its telling because it is a story that could be told only in America. It is the story of Abe Lincoln, who went from the log cabin to the White House. It is the story of other thousands to whom an obstacle was just a challenge. This is another such American story — the story of Perry Pickett...

On a summer morning 28 years ago a slender, dark-haired seven-year-old youngster, accompanied by two brothers and two sisters, walked into the Masonic Home in Fort Worth. Death had just claimed their father and the burden was too great for the mother to carry alone.
Like any other boy, he struggled through his homework, played baseball during recess, went out for the school's football team in the afternoon and when his class was finally graduated from high school, he stood at the top, not only scholastically but in athletics.

PERRY PICKETT Candidate for Mayor

The year previous his football team had won the Texas high school championship, and Perry had played halfback. In his senior year his classmates named him their president.

In 1934, Perry Pickett left the home, carrying with him the title, "Best Citizen of 1934."

Enrolling at the University of Texas, he worked in the textbook library of J. L. Henderson; head of the department of education, and, for his meals, he washed dishes in the boarding house.

He still found time for sports. During his freshman year he went out for football—but all he had to show for it was a broken ankle that ended his gridiron career. He turned to baseball and tennis, and in 1937 was the university's intramural singles champion.

In 1938 Perry Pickett was graduated from the University of Texas with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

The next two years brought him to Midland for the first time. He went to work for the Mid-Continent Supply company, leaving that firm in 1940 to join the Army Air Corps. Two years later, he was in England as the pilot of a Mitchell B-25 Bomber of the 310th Bomb Group.

As the Allies moved into North Africa, Pickett's group landed there on November 8, 1942, one of the first air groups to land in enemy territory.

From its North Africa base, Major Pickett flew 26 successful missions. His string ran out on his 27th, though, for an anti-aircraft shell caught his plane during a bombing run on a convoy.

Major Pickett, his hip torn open by a piece of shrapnel, brought the plane down on the waters of the Mediterranean. The crew managed to crawl out, to be picked up by a German flying boat 30 hours later. Major Pickett was taken to a prisoner-of-war camp at Chietta on the shores of the Adriatic.

In October, 1943, as Chietta prepared to capitulate to the Allies, he was loaded with 600 other men on freight cars, which headed north.

"That night," he related later, "I managed to pull myself up to a window, crawl through it and jump down to the ground."

High in the Apennines, in the cloud-shrouded little village of Chiavano, he found sanctuary and for almost a year played hide-and-seek with enemy patrols before he was caught. He was taken to Meuseberg, Germany, where he remained until liberated by the British in July, 1945.

After a few months in the hospital, Perry Pickett left the service and returned to the University of Texas to enter law school, from which he was graduated in July 1949.

During his law school days, he met and married Valerie Froese of Austin and they now have a son, Perry Denny Pickett, Jr.

Leaving law school, Perry Pickett began looking for a place to hang his shingle. He remembered Midland, the city in which he had worked after first leaving the university.

So when he returned, the 35-year-old attorney did more than fit into the city's life. He quickly emerged as one of its leaders and one of its hardest civic workers.

He has served actively in the campaigns of the Red Cross, the March of Dimes, the Community Chest, the Heart Association and other such endeavors. He presently is serving as a director of the Kiwanis Club and teaches a Sunday School class of adults at Trinity Episcopal Church.

No more fitting tribute could have been paid him than the honor bestowed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in selecting him as "Midland's Outstanding Young Man of 1950."

Yes, that is the American story. That is the background of the young and energetic man who is seeking the honor and the responsibility that goes with the job of Mayor of Midland. Perry Pickett has successfully met life's varied challenges and they have tempered him for the job of leading Midland on its bright road which lies ahead.

Daddy Ringtail And Old Mr. Hungry

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, had started a terrible habit of leaving a part of his food on his plate. Tch! Tch! Tch! What a terrible habit to have. "Why," said Daddy Ringtail. "Old Mr. Hungry will have to come to see the boy, I guess."

Mugwump laughed to hear the words, and that night at supper,

Mugwump left a part of his scrambled coconut on his plate before he went to bed and to sleep. Sometime during the night, Mugwump woke up. Yes, and there on the foot of his bed sat a man as thin as a broomstick. The man had a hungry face, and hungry eyes, and yes—the man was Old Mr. Hungry.

Mugwump wasn't afraid to see him sitting there on the bed. Mugwump knew that something dangerous can never happen to anyone while they are safe in their own bed. But what oh what did Old Mr. Hungry want? Why, he wanted something to eat, of course, and so Mugwump took him to the kitchen. "Help yourself," said Mugwump, after he had opened the door to the refrigerator.

Old Mr. Hungry helped himself. He ate a bite of this, and a bite of that, and more bites of this and that and that and this, until—there! Old Mr. Hungry had eaten all there was to eat. "Had enough?" asked Mugwump. "Nope," said Old Mr. Hungry. "I'm Hungry," he said, because Hungry was his name.

Mugwump then began to open some cans of many good things to eat. He opened cans, and he opened cans, and he cooked and he cooked as fast as he could. He rushed, rushed, rushed to put food, food, and more food there on the table. But always—no matter how fast Mugwump worked—Old Mr. Hungry ate the food even faster than Mugwump could put it on the table.

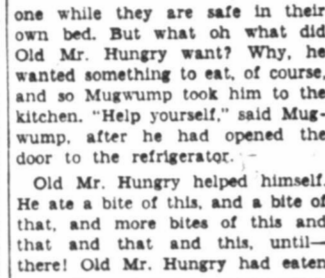

"I'm Hungry," said Old Mr. Hungry. "Can't you ever get enough to eat?" asked Mugwump. "Are you always Hungry?"

"Yes," said Old Mr. Hungry. "My name is 'Always Hungry.' Isn't it terrible?"

Mugwump thought it was terrible indeed to be Always Hungry. Yes, and so then and there Mugwump decided to eat all his food next time and ever after. Happy day!

Draft—

ferments included in a Senate-passed extension of the present draft act.

Delays in Induction

The Senate bill to lower the induction age from 19 to 18 years and authorize a universal military training program would allow high school and college students to delay induction until they had completed a current school year or reached 19.

The House will begin debate on a similar draft extension and training bill next week.

Both bills would allow the President wide authority to authorize student deferments by local draft boards. And the Senate bill would defer 75,000 young men in each of the next three years—after taking four months basic training—to go to college.

This was designed to assure a continuing supply of doctors, dentists, scientists and technicians. The military service of the deferred students would be suspended until they graduated, or failed to keep up in their studies.

The Senate bill also would permit Reserve Officers Training Corps students to continue in college.

Newsman Charges Cohen Incident Is Crime Smoke Screen

AUSTIN — (P) — The Laredo Times, in an advertisement reprint of an editorial, charged Friday that crime in Austin "is a shame and a disgrace to the whole nation" and advocated moving the University of Texas to the southern part of the state.

The editorial appeared on the front page of The Times Thursday. It was reprinted Friday in the Austin American as a paid advertisement.

William Prescott Allen, publisher of The Times, was in Austin Thursday. He telephoned the editorial to his newspaper. The Austin advertisement was signed with his name.

"Mickey Cohen's coming to Texas, as he stated, was a publicity screen by cover up conditions in the larger cities for dope peddling, gambling and prostitution which are shielded by the politicians," the editorial claimed.

Disgrace To Nation

"Austin is a shame and a disgrace to the whole nation. When one can stand on Congress Avenue and see children throwing their lunch money into one-armed bandits (slot machines) it proves that the people of Austin and the people of the State of Texas are hitting a very low moral ebb."

The Austin newspaper's version of the editorial substituted "marble tables" for "one-armed bandits."

The editorial added: "The University of Texas should be moved to Webb County (Laredo)—or some other county south of San Antonio—so that students wouldn't rub elbows with political corruption, gambling, prostitution and other allies of the degenerate type of politicians, who are in the minority in Austin yet swing the dominating weight and influence."

OPS Eases Farm Slaughter Rules

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) Friday made it clear that resident operators of farms who shipped less than 6,000 pounds of meat in 1960 do not have to register under the livestock slaughter regulation of February 9.

The regulation as originally written required them to register unless all the livestock was slaughtered on their own farms. But the OPS said this was not the "intent" of the regulation, and a clarifying amendment was issued Friday.

Farmers who can meet the poundage limitation will not have to register, even though part or all of their slaughtering is done off the farm.

However, such a farmer must furnish the person doing the slaughtering with a statement specifying that the slaughter will not exceed his 6,000-pound limit.

No News Is Good News For Kelly

WINGHAM, ONTARIO — (P) — William Kelly's horse is loaded. Kelly, who has a farm near this Western Ontario city, brought home a box of 23 caliber rifle cartridges Wednesday and put them on a window sill in the barn. The horse promptly munched about a dozen.

So far, no report.

JayCees Hear Story About Fingerprints

"No two fingerprints are alike unless made of the same finger of the same hand of the same person," Lt. Bob Branson told members of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon meeting Wednesday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Branson is identification officer of the Midland police department. He was introduced by Col. Milan Flavic, director of public safety for the City of Midland.

"Fingerprints once were associated with crime only," Branson said. "Now they are used in the military and industry as means of identification with no association to crime. Fingerprints never change in pattern from birth to death. They may be larger but never different in pattern."

Plans For Softball

Emil Fassman presided at the luncheon. Church Harringer and Hugh Reynolds spoke on plans for a softball team in the City League.

A board of directors meeting was held following the luncheon. JayCee officers for 1961-62 will be elected at the luncheon meeting of the club next week.

Goodrich Hejl spoke on money-making matters of the JayCees. Jack Huff was program chairman. Irvy Dyer made awards earned in a recent membership drive contest.

Fort Worth Hot Rod Group Ponders Mickey Cohen Offer

FORT WORTH — (P) — Directors of the Texas Stock Car Racing Association were to decide Friday if Mickey Cohen and his armored sedan are worth $12,500 as a lure for racing fans.

The Los Angeles gambler was offered $5,000 Thursday night for his bullet-proof Cadillac which California won't let take out of his garage. Tied to the offer was a $500 bonus if Cohen wheeled the steel-plated vehicle around a Fort Worth race track in a personal appearance.

Mickey — who told a Texas crime commission he was too short of ready cash to finance a trip to Texas — said they would have to up the ante. He said the car is worth $12,000 and placed his drawing value at $1,500.

"The car might be worth $12,000 for display at races," Bill Jenkins, manager of the Riverside Drive Speedway here, said. "We also might raise our offer for Mickey's appearance."

Jenkins, a Fort Worth tavern operator, said a meeting of the association directors was scheduled to consider Cohen's offer.

Must Increase Ante

"They'll have to up the ante," Cohen said in Los Angeles. "I've been offered $14,000 for that car and I've got $17,100 tied up in it. If the racing association there wants to make it, say $12,000 for the car and $1,500 for myself, it's a deal."

The armored sedan has been in Cohen's garage a year. After having it custom built, Cohen learned the California Highway Patrol would not give him a permit to use it.

Earlier this week Cohen notified the Texas House Committee investigating crime conditions that he had raised some cash on the car and could afford to travel to Texas to appear before the group.

Cohen was subpoenaed to appear last Tuesday. When he did not show up, the committee cited him for contempt. A Texas grand jury will consider the report Monday.

Cohen said Thursday night he couldn't tell the crime probe anything.

"What could they ask me? How I like Texas? 'I'd tell 'em Texas stinks' and that would be the end," he said.

The Texans are Cpl. Sam J. Hewlett, 30, of Houston; Pfc. Robert T. Everett, 21, of Houston; Pfc. George A. Thomas, 19, of Lubbock; Pfc. Andrew D. De Malade, 23, of Fort Worth; Sgt. Forrest V. Brannon, 21, of Dallas and Johnnie R. Weathers, 22, Cuero.

Daniel Calls For Local Crackdowns On Texas Gambling

AUSTIN — (P) — Attorney General Price Daniel Friday urged Texas prosecutors and law enforcement officers in conference here to serve notice on existing gambling interests that it is time to close shop in Texas.

He also called on them to make it plain by their actions at the conference and at home that there also is no place for outside hoodlums in Texas.

Daniel called the conference to map an all-out campaign against organized crime. The meeting came just one day after the Legislature's crime onslaught was doubled in force by addition of a Senate investigating committee.

The prosecutors were told by the state's chief attorney that the Kefauver Committee's work has brought attention to the fact that although federal laws can be enacted to help, the final and most important action toward driving gambling rackets out of business rests with state and local officials and the general public.

NPA May Increase April Allotment Of Civilian Rubber

WASHINGTON — (P) — The government was reliably reported Saturday to be considering a 5,000-ton increase in its April allotment of natural rubber for civilian use.

The report that this move is under study comes amid charges by small rubber manufacturers that present rubber allocations favor the big tire makers and threaten to drive them to the wall.

NPA announced last week that it would require manufacturers to cut deliveries of tires and tubes for new passenger cars 25 per cent, effective April 1. Since then, automobile makers have announced they will deliver cars without spare tires. Apparently, car buyers will be free to buy new spare tires from dealers.

NPA blames the forthcoming cut in tire deliveries for new cars on the loss of 4,000 tons in expected synthetic production during April, plus an increase of about 5,500 tons in defense demands for rubber.

As the hearing began, the pretty, 30-year-old brunette testified that she had criticized "the political actions of the chief of a foreign state." She denied charges that in a speech at Ortona-a-Mare on June 13, 1948, she had said "The pope's hands are dripping with blood."

Mother Of Two Praises Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Deficient Systems With Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Mrs. Elmer Hiseil, 3225 2nd Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa, is a good mother, and like all good mothers she keeps a careful watch for the welfare of her two young children. And when little four-year-old Lucille Hiseil wasn't feeling as her mother knew she should, she decided to do something about it.

Mrs. Hiseil gave Lucille HADACOL because she had heard how much it was helping children who had poor appetites and stomach distress caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. It helped her so much that now Mrs. Hiseil gives HADACOL to both of her children.

Here is what Mrs. Hiseil says: "My daughter has taken two bottles of HADACOL and she has been eating more than before and also sleeps better. I think HADACOL is the best thing for children who do not have an appetite. My daughter is four years old. Before taking HADACOL my daughter complained of her stomach hurting her, and I got her a bottle of HADACOL, and she says her stomach doesn't bother her any more. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I am also giving HADACOL to my three-year-old daughter."

HADACOL Is So Effective

An important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of the blood (when iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

LABORATORY TESTED

Almost everything you buy today has been tested in the laboratory. Its worth has been proven. But what about the pattern by which you live? Is it a concoction of your own mind, or a new formula for success, or is it a Religion?

If you are a Christian, your creed has been tested in the laboratory of life. For almost two thousand years men have believed, served, worshipped, lived and died—many of them heroically—in the Faith that is yours.

The Christian churches of this community do not offer any new remedy for all life's problems. But they preach and teach for our own time the Way of Life that Jesus taught.

And now, as then, men find peace and happiness in that Way. Through twenty centuries that has been proven by faithful Christians.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Lucky Midlanders Have Sites At New Fishermen's Paradise

COLORADO CITY—Louis Hale, owner of the new Colorado Lake located five miles west of Colorado City, has good news for Midland fishermen.

Hale announced Friday the lake will be open to sportsmen May 1. "Most of the sites at the lake are leased by Midland citizens," he said.

The lucky Midlanders probably will be in a hurry to get to the new fishing resort when they hear Hale's next words:

"In tests made by game wardens, bass, crappie, channel cat and other fish were caught on the average of one every three minutes."

The lake has been stocked by the government and by fish taken from an old lake near Colorado City.

The Colorado lake is 13 miles long and in some places is one-mile wide, according to Hale.

Yale Grabs Early Lead In Swim Meet

AUSTIN—Yale was out in front Friday and favored to stay there in the NCAA championship swim meet, thanks to the record performance of its sophomore flash, John Marshall.

Marshall Thursday night bettered the world's freestyle record for 1,500 meters and set a new intercollegiate mark with a time of 18 minutes, 18.8 seconds.

He finished two laps ahead of second-place Bert McLachlan of Michigan State in the longest race in amateur swimming.

His feat won't be recognized as a world's record, though, because it was not set in a 50-meter pool.

The world's record of 18:19 was set by a Japanese, Hironobu Furuhashi, in 1949.

Marshall, whose home is Australia, made it look easy when he lapped the field. He used a powerful crawl stroke.

It was the only event on the opening night of the three-day meet. Friday, preliminaries and finals were scheduled in six events, and seven more will be reeled off Saturday.

Advertise or be forgotten.

Amateurs Give Pros Golf Lesson In MCC Tourney

The amateurs showed the pros how the cow eats the cabbage Thursday at Midland Country Club, taking most of the honors in Midland Country Club's Pro-Amateur Invitational Tournament.

The first eight in the low-ball foursomes were amateurs.

Two groups of the amateurs tied for the low-ball crown, both posting 10-under-par 62's.

One group consisted of Red Roden, Odessa; James E. Lyles, Snyder; H. L. Winkler, Ranchland Hill, Midland; and Charles Bailey, Hobbs, N. M.

The other was made up of Roy Peden, Kermit; H. L. Bray, Midland Country Club; Mrs. Lena Freeman, Big Spring; and David Cole, Ranchland Hill Club.

The amateurs each received a split of $21.60 in merchandise as first money.

Boyd Huff, assistant pro at Midland Country Club led the team that copped second money. Others on the team, which came in only one stroke back of the winners, were E. M. Dunn, Midland Country Club; Don Woodward, Midland Country Club; and J. E. Babb, Lubbock.

This group was tied with three other foursomes but won second money on the flip of a coin.

The other teams posting 63 scores were: Group One: Scott Edwards, Odessa pro; E. H. Glass, Lubbock; J. D. Marlowe, Hobbs, N. M.; and Billy Dillion, Big Spring. Second group: E. C. Nix, Hobbs, N. M.; Jimmy Cole, Lubbock; Jack Trambill, Lubbock; and Luke Thompson, Big Spring. Group three: Morgan Hampton, Abilene pro; Bobby Wright, Odessa; Weldon Bryant, Hobbs, N. M.; and C. W. Nance, Lubbock.

Hampton and Walter Thompson of Ranchland Hill club tied for low pro scores, shooting par 72's. Each received $15.

Other pros finished in this order: J. C. Hardwick, Midland Country Club, 73; Gene Towry, Lamesa, 73; Gene Mitchell, Lubbock, 73; Boyd Huff, Midland Country Club, 74; and Scott Edwards, Odessa, 76.

Fifteen pro golfers and 93 amateurs entered the one-day meet.

Bauers Arrive Here For 10-Day Stay

Midland's famed golfing sisters—Alice and Marlene Bauer—arrived here late Thursday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bauer, from Pinehurst, N. C.

The Bauers will be here approximately 10 days before going to Dallas for the opening round—first 36 holes—of the Weatheravene tournament. Dallas' Lakewood Country Club gets the first round of the Weatheravene.

The sisters plans after the Dallas engagement call for performances in California, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Georgia and a tour of Europe. The girls are booked for tournaments through mid-September.

They said they probably will play "an exhibition or two" at Midland Country Club during their 10-day stay. Further announcements will follow concerning their play here.

ATTENDS WTCC MEET
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collins and daughter, Lorraine, left Friday for Abilene where he will attend a meeting of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Following the meeting, the Collins' will go to San Angelo for a weekend visit with his mother, Mrs. A. E. Collins.

In four football games, Stanford and Army have two wins apiece.

King's Row

Webb still is enthusiastic about the Indian prospects and waxes a bit stronger along the "we'll-win-this-year" theme each time we talk to him.

It's about reached the point where we believe he really is serious. "I've got it in my heart to win this year," says the roly-poly man.

"My arm is in good shape, I'm down to 200 pounds, and if it comes right down to it, I'll be able to play full time—if that's necessary for us to win."

Kenny Jones may stick with Oklahoma City, as we've reported. "He's looking very good and Oklahoma City may want to keep him. Of course, we would miss Kenny—but it wouldn't be fair to hold him back if he can make the grade in AA ball," Webb summed up.

If Jones does fall to stick, he'll be back with Midland. Personally, we hope Kenny makes the grade in the Texas League. True, Midland would miss him, but he deserves the chance to go higher than the Class C circuits.

Glenn Patton, pitcher, was named by Oklahoma City Manager Tommy Tatum to go along for additional look with the Texas League team.

This may come as a surprise to some Midland fans, but we've been told all along Patton has the stuff when he wants to dig down and get it.

Two other rookies are being considered by Webb. Infielder Richard Potak, a Chicago boy, was picked up by Webb at Rogers Hornsby's baseball school.

The other youngster is Elden Wiersag, outfielder from Oklahoma City. They are due to be with the Indians when they come home. Let's hope they stick.

We've been told baseball is a game of confusion. There are times when we'd just about agree. And this is one of those times.

After the announcement that the Midland Indians would be here from their Spring training camp April 5, we were told it would be Thursday.

Thursday came but the Indians didn't. Friday Harold Webb called us from La. to say the team will be here April 2—which is next Monday—and he'll be in April 5.

"But right now," Webb continued, "we seem to be pretty well set for the season—I have most of the boys who will play definitely in mind."

Webb has picked up rookie outfielder Hayden White, a 19-year-old Fort Worth youngster whom Webb feels will make the grade.

He's also high on George Cox, the rookie second-sacker who has looked exceptionally good in Spring workouts.

West Texas Relays Underway In Odessa

ODESSA—The West Texas Relays carnival of sports started here Friday, with high school, university, college and junior college teams in action.

Tennis play started at 9 a.m. Friday, as did golf play. High school teams started their preliminary rounds in track at 1 p.m. Friday.

Final events in the track and field meet are to be held Saturday. Midland High School entered teams in track, golf and tennis.

Final Little League Tryouts This Weekend

Final tryouts—positively the last—will be held for Little League baseball hopefuls Saturday, officials have announced.

At 8:30 a.m., all boys who have registered from the Latin American Elementary School will work out at Oddfellow Field. At the same site, all boys from South Elementary who have registered and have not had an earlier tryout, will work. This is slated at 10 a.m.

Borden Field will be the tryout site for West Elementary, St. Ann's School and Junior High School youngsters who have not had previous trials, at 1 p.m.

Any boy who has been registered but has not been able to make any other tryouts will get a last chance at 2:30 p.m. Saturday on Borden Field.

Army gridded Ed Tixier also is captain-elect of the Cadet basketball team.

Senate Crime Probe Extended 30 Days

WASHINGTON — (P) — Senate crime probe, given an additional 30 days to finish their work, made plain Friday they expect to recommend some kind of continuing investigation of the underworld.

A resolution extending the committee's life through April 30 was approved unanimously in the Senate late Thursday.

Although the resolution left the committee free to operate as it has in the past, Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and other members said no further hearings or investigations are planned in the month ahead.

Instead, after a strenuous schedule of televised public hearings watched by millions of persons, the committee is going to catch its breath and then try to hammer out recommendations for new laws.

One of the problems promised careful consideration is what should be done in the future to keep a searchlight on organized crime. Still to be decided is the best method.

Other Developments
The 30-day extension of the committee, made at the unanimous request of Kefauver and the other four members, came amid these developments:

1. President Truman gave the committee "great credit for focusing public attention on the need for ever greater efforts to stamp out crime."

2. The committee voted to ask the Senate to cite Frank Costello, New York racketeer and gambler, for contempt of Congress because of his refusal to disclose his net worth.

3. The committee canceled previous plans for giving five balking witnesses a last chance to escape possible contempt charges.

4. Truman told his news conference he does not contemplate any change in the status of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. At the crime committee's recent hearings in New York, a witness testified he had given O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, $10,000. O'Dwyer denied it.

Saturday Deadline For Filing Old Age Insurance Claims

There still are some workers, 65 or more years of age, who did not work during September, 1950, and who have not filed their claims for old age insurance benefits, according to Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa Social Security office.

Calvert Friday said his office, located at 113 West Ninth Street, Odessa, would remain open all day Saturday to help these workers to file their claims before April 1 so they will not lose their benefit payments for September, 1950. If an application is not filed before the end of March, they will not be able to receive a benefit payment for September, Calvert said.

136 Texas Field Grade Officers To Hear Army Call

AUSTIN — (P) — The Army between May 21 and June 29 will call to active duty 136 Texans holding commissions above the rank of captain, Col. C. M. Culp, chief of the Texas Military District, announced Thursday.

The move is part of the Defense Department's new program to bring field officers to extended duty. Officers may be ordered to duty without their consent, Culp said. But he emphasized the Army is anxious to fill the quota with volunteers. Length of service will be 21 months, or such time as is authorized by law.

Gas, Oil Ceilings, Slaughter Quotas In Works For April

DALLAS — (P) — Service stations will get new price ceiling rules for gasoline, lubricating oils and other petroleum products next week.

Slaughterers were warned to have registration numbers by April 15 or stop slaughtering.

These were the latest announcements from the Regional Office of Price Stabilization.
W. Victor Womack, OPS director, said slaughterers can kill no more cattle during April than they killed last year. Quotas for next month on calves, sheep, lambs, and swine have not been set.

Cadet, Instructor Die In Trainer Crash

SAN ANGELO — (P) — An Air Force cadet and a flight instructor were killed Thursday when their training plane crashed near here.
Dead were Second Lt. Francis E. Gore, Jr., of Dyersburg, Tenn., and Cadet William J. Jaquish, Tunkhannock, Pa.

Missing Plane Found, Two Aboard Dead

BENSON, ARIZ. — (P) — The wreckage of a missing private plane was found in the Dragon Mountains with the two occupants dead.
The plane had been the object of a search since a motorist reported seeing it spin out of a cloud and crash Monday.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration had reported the plane was piloted by Don Stansell and his passenger was Al Tuttle, both of Medford, Ore.
The plane disappeared on a flight from Tucson, Ariz., to El Paso, Texas.
