

Chinese Withdraw Before Seoul

New Assault Expected On Central Front

TOKYO—(P)—Communist troops, preparing for a new attack in Central Korea, Tuesday cut off the water supply for rivers blocking their invasion route.

The Han River dropped so sharply United Nations engineers had to adjust pontoon bridges three times Tuesday.

An Allied spokesman said the Chinese closed the sluice gates to the Hwachon Dam in an effort to dry up the Pukhan and Han Rivers. That would make it easier for Red assaults forces to cross.

Censors prevented correspondents from saying how much the river has fallen. Simultaneously the Reds shifted their forces to the central front after forced Allied artillery, naval guns and record swarms of planes disrupted their plans for a May Day assault on Seoul.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky described the buildup of Red forces along the Chunchon-Hongchun invasion routes as ominous.

United Nations artillery roared out Tuesday night in an effort to break up some of the Red concentrations on this old Central Korean battlefield.

A heavily censored dispatch from Polowetzky said American artillery broke up two small concentrations. One was southeast of Red-held Chunchon. The other was north of Hongchun, to which the U. S. First Marine Division pulled back recently from Hwachon Reservoir.

There were no reports of ground action of any size on May Day, either on the central front or in the west near Seoul, where the Reds had hoped to celebrate their international holiday.

AP Correspondent Stan Carter reported from the western front that Red forces were seen Tuesday there as any time in nine days.

Some officers regarded this as a threatening silence foreboding preparations for a new onslaught on UN lines north of the Han. Others felt it meant the Chinese had shot their wad in an attempt for a May Day victory.

Three Allied tank columns probed north of Seoul Tuesday morning in an unsuccessful hunt for Reds. Only a few bodies remained in one sector where 1,000 dead Chinese were seen Monday. Reds had removed or buried their dead during the night.

A censored dispatch from AP Correspondent George MacArthur said UN commanders estimated the (Continued On Page Six)

Violent Tornado Rips Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—A violent tornado unroofed houses and partially wrecked several business buildings as it ripped through the heart of this city of 240,000 Monday night.

Only one injury was reported, and it was minor. The twister struck at the southwestern part of the city, then whipped across town, landing a parking blow at the northeast outskirts, where Mrs. Russell Krone was cut by flying glass from the shattered picture window in her living room.

Oil derricks were toppled like ten pins near the State Capitol. Power lines hit and the successful hunt for half of the city was witness tonight. The heaviest financial loss was to the Oklahoma Sash and Sewing Company, whose warehouse and office building occupying half a block was wrecked. Shred iron from the structure hung crazily from nearby high lines when the storm had passed.

No damage estimate was made, but it will total hundreds of thousands of dollars. A two-inch rain accompanied the twister.

Vogeler, Family Home From Hungary

NEW YORK—(P)—Robert A. Vogeler came home Tuesday from 17 solitary months in a Red prison cell and said he hoped his case will help "keep us on guard" against attacks on democracy.

"Words can't express how happy I am," the 38-year-old American business man said after his plane landed at New York.

Vogeler, freed last Saturday by Communist Hungary which had held him in solitary confinement as a spy, was escorted into a reception room at the airport after he and his family were cleared through customs.

Sand Storm Brings Dip In Mercury

Not only did March, but April went out like a lion Monday.

Slashing winds, filled with sand, struck the city late Monday afternoon. Wind velocity steadily reached 33 miles an hour and was stronger in gusts, the CAA station at Midland Air Terminal reported.

A sharp drop in temperature accompanied the sand storm. The mercury dipped to 45 degrees as compared with a 76-degree high Monday.

A Midland-Big Spring baseball game scheduled in Indian Park Monday night was called off because of the weather.

If Saturday night's rain laid the dust, then Sunday's and Monday's winds kicked it up again. The Monday sand blew in from the north and howling winds sang a familiar song to Midlanders.

Strong recent winds have harassed but not stopped several construction projects in the city. Especially have the strong winds bothered two tall office building projects.

Freak Winds Mark Movement Of Cool Front Across State

By The Associated Press High winds, thunderstorms and rain let up somewhat in Texas Tuesday. Flash flood waters drained away at Wichita Falls, and West Texas gales subsided to simple "dusters."

The noisy Spring storms marked movement of a cool front across the state. At 10 a.m., the front was about to sweep out into the Gulf. The Weather Bureau said it had passed Brownsville and was just approaching Houston and Texas on a long, meandering north-south line.

The exit of the front from the state was far less spectacular than its trip across Texas Monday night and early Tuesday.

Two small twisters were reported in the South Plains country and West Texas Monday night. Almost three inches of rain pelted Wichita Falls, where some residences and highways were flooded.

Tuesday, all Wichita Falls streets and highways were open after the high water drained off rapidly during the night. Moisture was welcomed for grain and early cotton although many farmers will have to replant.

Some Plains and West Texas points didn't even get a good rain out of the front. There was blowing sand Tuesday at Lubbock and Big Spring, where rainfall was too light to pin soil down. Compared with winds up to 60 miles an hour in gusts Monday night, winds in the West were subsiding Tuesday, though still strong. Lubbock reported a 36-mile-an-hour wind, with gusts of 42, at mid-morning. Childress reported 35, and strong gusts. At mid-morning, with the front sweeping into the Gulf, rain was falling at Bryan, Palacios and Tyler.

Rain, heavy winds and a light twister struck late Monday between Ballinger and Crews in Runnels County. Barns and outhouses were blown down.

Another small twister was reported (Continued On Page Six)

Garland Man Dies In Car-Train Crash

DALLAS—(P)—Edward Clifford Arnold, 27, of nearby Garland, was killed Tuesday when his car and a diesel engine collided at a crossing north of White Rock Lake.

Pieces of Arnold's light sedan were found 75 yards from the intersection. A light rain was falling when the collision occurred.

Midland Woman Takes Over As Manager Of Newly-Born Stanton Chamber Of Commerce

STANTON—Mrs. Hila Euclid Weathers of Midland, well-known in southwestern chamber of commerce circles, Tuesday assumed her duties as manager of the brand-new Stanton Chamber of Commerce, as it opened its doors for community service.

And Chamber officials and civic leaders who gathered to welcome the energetic Mrs. Weathers, better known as "Stormy" Weathers, found out quickly that "action" is the immediate watchword of West Texas newest Chamber of Commerce. Work on initial projects of the organization was started even before all the office furnishings were in place.

Organization of the Stanton Chamber was completed last Friday when the first officers, headed by President R. B. Whitaker, were elected. Other officers are Stanley Wheeler, vice president, and John Pinkston, treasurer. Directors are Whitaker, Wheeler, Joe Stewart, J. H. Jones, S. J. Foreman, Jack Bentley and Cecil Bridges.

A $7,000 budget has been over-subscribed, and everything is geared for community action in this fast-growing Martin County seat city.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY—Mrs. Florence Miller Redelshimer, former national vice commander of the Amvets, has been arrested in Miami, Fla., and charged with bigamy on a warrant from Covington, Ky., sworn out by James T. Benn, who is seeking to gain custody of Mrs. Redelshimer's daughter who, he claims, is his. Here, Mrs. Redelshimer is shown with the daughter, Patricia, and her husband, J. G. Redelshimer, who said "I'm going to stick by her until the very end."

Crime Report Levels Blasts At O'Dwyer

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senate crime investigators Tuesday accused Ambassador William O'Dwyer of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York City, where they said underworld Kingpin Frank Costello is a power in Democratic politics.

O'Dwyer was New York's mayor from 1946 until last Fall, when President Truman appointed him ambassador to Mexico. From 1940 to 1942, O'Dwyer was district attorney of Kings County (Brooklyn).

Referring to O'Dwyer's tenure, both as mayor and district attorney, the Crime Committee had this to say in a lengthy and hard-hitting report on its year-long probe of gangsterism: "Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of some rackets."

The crime probes, headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), also said O'Dwyer had named to high public office friends of Costello and Joe Adonis, another big-time racketeer and gambler.

Influence Still Strong And after a lengthy detailing of Costello's alleged political manipulations, the Senate committee summed up in these words: "It is apparent to the committee that despite Costello's protestations, his sinister influence is still strong in the councils of the Democratic Party organization of New York City."

The senators devoted about 35 pages of the 195-page report to their New York City investigation, where O'Dwyer and Costello were the major witnesses at hearings viewed on television by upwards of 20,000,000 persons.

The report, rushed to completion late Monday night, also asked Congress for a batch of laws aimed at throttling the nation's big crime and gambling syndicates by cutting the profits out from under them.

CHICAGO—(P)—An Army draftee, smuggled from camp by his distraught parents for medical treatment, was reported in serious condition in a Naval hospital Tuesday.

Naval doctors said the soldier, Pvt. Stanley Amborski, is suffering from virus pneumonia in both lungs. They described the 21-year-old soldier as "a very sick young man."

The Army, meanwhile, said the ailing GI was "absent without leave" from his training camp at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The youth's father, John Amborski, 45, said he planned to get a medical discharge for his son.

The elder Amborski said he had written Rep. Richard Vall (R-Ill.) in Washington "and expect to get some action on this matter."

Young Amborski was brought to Chicago Sunday from the Army camp by his father—without Army permission.

Amborski, 45, a printing company inspector, said Stanley had written complaining he was ill and unable to get proper medical treatment at the camp. In one of his letters, the elder Amborski said Stanley wrote: "Get me out, Dad. I'm going to fall dead soon."

Takes Full Responsibility But Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, the camp commander, said young Amborski had been treated five times in dispensaries or the post hospital since his induction on April 2.

The elder Amborski said he is "taking full responsibility for bringing my son back from that camp."

Capt. John R. Weisser, surgeon at the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, said Stanley had acute back and abdominal pains which have not been diagnosed fully. He was removed to the hospital upon the advice of a civilian physician summoned after the 450-mile trip from Fort Leonard Wood.

Doctors at the Naval Hospital said the soldier was "not in any condition to be moved when we received him." They added they doubted the family's well-meaning efforts in bringing the soldier 450 miles in a car had done him any good.

Crime Report Highlights

WASHINGTON—(P)—Here is a capsule summary of some major highlights of Tuesday's report from the Senate Crime Committee:

POLITICS It accused William O'Dwyer, ambassador to Mexico and former New York mayor, of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York City and of impeding promising investigations of underworld rackets.

It said Frank Costello, big-time racketeer and gambler, is a powerful figure in Democratic politics in New York City.

It also aimed some critical shafts at Democratic Governors Fuller Warren of Florida and Forrest Smith of Missouri.

GAMBLING The committee urged new laws to deny bookmakers and other professional gamblers interstate facilities for transmitting information necessary to their operations. It also called for other steps to choke off gamblers' profits and snare them on taxes.

"Gambling profits are the principal support of big-time racketeering and gangsterism," the senators said.

NARCOTICS A sharp upsurge in the narcotics traffic was reported. Stiffer penalties for dope peddlers were recommended.

LOCAL RESPONSIBILITY The committee said crime largely is a local problem. While the federal government can help, it said, crime "must be attacked primarily at the local level."

"It is the responsibility of the voting public to insure that their representative governments at all levels are made up of men who are not open to corruption or persuasion by criminals and racketeers," the crime probes said.

OPS Lists State Ceilings On Beef

By The Associated Press Housewives in Texas, New Mexico and Arkansas Tuesday knew the top prices they would have to pay for retail beef between May 14 and August 1.

Four and a half per cent slashes in the retail beef ceiling prices are due on August 1 and again on October 1. The dollar-and-cents price ceilings were announced in Dallas Monday night by Alfred L. Seelye, Region 10 director of the Office of Price Stabilization.

The retail price pegs followed the announcement earlier that beef-on-the-hoof prices would be rolled back to pre-Korean war levels.

The retail ceilings vary according to types and grades of cuts, with graduated ceilings for small and large retailers.

Choice Porterhouse steaks topped the list with ceilings of $1.23 to $1.30 a pound. Porterhouse steaks of utility grade are listed at 65 to 67 cents.

At the bottom of the list is a ceiling price of six cents a pound for soupbones—no differential for large and small stores.

The current favorite meat dish for many tables—ground beef—has a price ceiling of 64 to 67 cents.

Perk Next On List The OPS said a similar order is being prepared for pork.

Seelye explained the mechanics of fixing the price ceilings for butchered beef this way: The nation was divided into zones for beef pricing purposes. Actual prices at any point in the country were fixed in relation to a price in a base zone in the Midwest. In general, a transportation cost addition was used in figuring ceiling prices in zones other than the base zone. Prices announced by Seelye were for Zone Seven.

The separate price ceilings for small and large retailers were based on cost differentials. Four ceilings (Continued On Page Six)

Top-Secret Report Shows Truman Had Warning On Korea

WASHINGTON—(P)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer advised President Truman almost four years ago that Korea was threatened by a "Soviet-controlled invasion of North Korea forces."

This was disclosed Tuesday with release of the top-secret report which Wedemeyer submitted to Truman Sept. 7, 1947.

The report, with certain parts deleted, was made public by the Senate Armed Services Committee in advance of its inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Hearings on MacArthur's dismissal from the Far Eastern commands are to begin Thursday.

Wedemeyer advised against U. S. removal of its forces from Korea, pointing out that the Russians dominated North Koreans through Communists.

150 Counties Now Reported Free Of One-Armed Bandits

AUSTIN—(P)—Nine more counties apparently are free of slot machines and gaming devices as a result of recent crackdowns throughout the state, Attorney General Price Daniel said Tuesday.

He said county and district attorneys have reported all machines out of operation in Franklin, Hays, Nacogoches, San Patricio, Hockley, Navarro, Parker, Burleson and Karnes Counties.

"This makes a total of 150 counties now apparently clear of these gaming devices," Daniel said.

Ector County officials reported all 41 machines in that county as being stored pending sale or other disposition, Daniel added.

The Ector County attorney said the machines would be seized from storage if the pending anti-slot machine bill is enacted by the Legislature.

BEAUMONT—(P)—The CAA here Tuesday said it has been informed that the wreckage of a small airplane has been found near Stewts Island in Sabine Lake, between Port Arthur and Orange. No other details were available immediately.

AUSTIN—(P)—Long-winded debate aimed at delaying action on anti-slot machine and anti-punch board bills held the Senate at a standstill Tuesday.

AUSTIN—(P)—The House Tuesday voted 77-33 to suspend all rules in order that it might consider immediately a bill giving the Railroad Commission authority to set minimum prices on natural gas in the field in the interest of conservation.

First World War II Series E. Bonds Are Worth Par Tuesday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If you stepped right up and bought some of the first World War II savings bonds—and still have 'em—you can have a little May Day celebration of your own.

Series E bonds bought any time in May, 1941, are 10 years old Tuesday—they mature, as the bankers say. That means you can cash them in for their full face value. Some $12,000,000 first issue Series E bonds were purchased 10 years ago this month.

But the government, in the interests of keeping inflationary spending down, would like you to continue the investment instead of cashing in.

To make it worthwhile, the government has worked out these two deals:

1. Keep the matured bonds—no paper work or reports required—and continue having interest accumulate on them at the rate of 4% and one-half per cent (simple interest) for each additional year up to 7 1/2 years, or 2 1/2 per cent interest (compounded) for a full 10 years.

2. Exchange them for Series G savings bonds. Series G bonds run 12 years and bear simple interest of two and one-half per cent. Treasury checks for the amount of interest due will arrive by mail each six months.

Film Contracts Go To Lasses Who Can't See Sans Glasses

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Gorgeous, near-sighted Marilyn Maxwell showed why Dorothy Parker is all wrong about girls who wear glasses.

Marilyn removed her tinted specs with the oriental slant and blinked. She could see me as a sort of fuzzy outline, Marilyn muttered helplessly, but she'd never be able to call my name correctly. Was I Peter Lawford, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Senator Kefauver or Tommy Manville?

Then Marilyn thrust her face right up to mine, brushed her eyelashes against my nose and said happily:

"Well, if I isn't little old you. I can see you as plain as day now."

Her right-in-the-kisser routine, take it from Marilyn, can work for any girl who looks at the world through ocularist's windows.

And the technique came as natural to her as flashing his profile came to John Barrymore, Jr.

Marilyn confessed that she took up mug-gazing in high school. "A boy had recited that silly twoliner to me about men never making passes at girls who wear glasses. Well, a couple of weeks later, I had forgotten mine and I just couldn't see the boy without them. The poor kid got all flustered. He never knew what had hit him."

Didja Hear This One . . . Had I just heard the story about the near-sighted girl and the big, strapping Four-H Club boy?

Marilyn giggled. She'd tell it, by heck.

She slipped on her glasses again and began:

"The Four-H Club boy was courting the girl, but she, poor thing, was worried about her eye-sight. He was always talking about perfect physical specimens. Bragged about his wonderful eyes, his strong muscles and his perfect teeth. Oh, this boy had great teeth.

"Well, the sad little, girl decided that she'd put one over on him and make him think that her eyes were real sharp. She fumbled around and stuck a pin with a red head into an old oak tree. That night on the porch, the boy started talking about perfect health again. It was a shame, he said, that everybody didn't have 100 per cent vision.

"The girl agreed and told him that her eyes were so good that she could see a pin stuck about half-way down the trunk of that old oak tree yonder. Why, she'd even walk down to the tree and fetch the pin back."

Marilyn shook her head sadly and made a "tee-tee" sound.

Would I like to know what happened to the girl?

"On her way to get that pin," Marilyn whooped, "the girl tripped over a cow."

She doesn't always win friends and influence people with her lenses off, she admitted. After all, a girl can't go rushing up to every fuzzy outline and play the skin-touz game.

Marilyn's been known to walk right past her producer, director and co-star without so much as a feeble nod.

"I've ignored every biggie in Hollywood," groaned Marilyn. "It's just terrible. People come up to me and tell me I've snubbed them. I say, 'No, honey. I just had my glasses off.'"

Eather's Another

"Esther Williams is just about as blind as I am without her glasses. We used to sit in the MGM commissary without seeing each other. When I was under contract there, they told me never to wear glasses. It wasn't glamorous. So I'd stumble around Ciro's and the Mocambo at night without recognizing anybody and I'd mistake the waiter for my escort."

A couple of years ago, Marilyn remembered, some friends urged her to enroll in an eye exercise school. It would strengthen her orbs, they told her, and pretty soon she'd be as keen-visioned as Shelley Winters pouring over a contract.

The first day in class, the instructor suggested that Marilyn toss her glasses away to get into the full spirit of things.

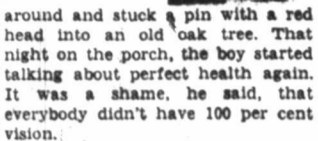

Shuddered La Maxwell: "Right then and there, I said goodby. I have to drive a car. I could see myself killing millions of pedestrians."

These days, with her movie career chugging uphill as Bob Hope's co-star in "The Lemon Drop Kid," Marilyn wears her cheaters with the proud air of Harold Lloyd and doesn't apologize for them.

"Of course, I whip them off fast when the photographers spot me," she grinned.

Is she attracted to men who wear glasses?

"I look for the 20-20 vision boys," she said. "Somebody's got to lead me 'round."

Music Association To Sponsor Concert By Leonard Pennario

Leonard Pennario, young American pianist, will give a concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium. This is the last concert in the series sponsored by the Civic Music Association.

Pennario is on his fifth coast-to-coast tour since he returned to civilian life from the armed forces in 1946. A pupil of Guy Maier, he made his debut as soloist with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra when he was 12, and had played with symphony orchestras in New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Denver, Minneapolis, Los Angeles and San Francisco. He also has given solo recitals throughout the United States and Canada and played on radio broadcasts. In 1943, when Pennario made his debut with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra he was received as a "sensationally brilliant pianist."

Four years later, Pennario received the unstinted praise of critics and audiences alike in his first postwar tour of every major American city. Since that time Pennario has continued to give successful recitals and has appeared as soloist with orchestras in the course of his annual concert tours.

Last season, he was invited back with the New York Philharmonic to play Arthur Bliss' B Flat Piano Concerto under the direction of Dimitri Mitropoulos.

"VIEW NEAR ARUNDEL"
by Henry Jutsum

Henry Jutsum ranks exceptionally high in the landscape art of Nineteenth Century Britain, and the British especially are fond of his paintings. "View Near Arundel" is a splendid example of his artistic vision.

The landscape painter was born in London in 1816, and first exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1836. He became a pupil of James Stark in 1839. In 1843, having turned his attention to watercolor painting, he was elected a member of the new Watercolor Society, but withdrew from it in 1847, from which time he painted almost exclusively in oil. He is noted for the fine quality of his canvases. Jutsum died in London in 1869.

A Dangerous Situation

Basically, it does not matter whether the Senate hearings into the MacArthur controversy and our Far Eastern policy are open to the public.

The very vital question of military security thus cannot be solved simply by closing the committee room doors. Senators enjoy being privy to important secrets; they enjoy even more passing them on to reporters.

In this particular instance, the urge probably is greater than ever. The MacArthur issue has stirred violent emotions on both sides.

The danger in this is plain. It is that military security will suffer, and that American soldiers fighting in Korea will pay with their lives.

Developments in the MacArthur matter thus far do not encourage the hope this peril will be averted without extreme consciousness of the problem.

In an effort to prove General MacArthur's insubordination, it released details of numerous interchanges between Washington and the general during the final months of his command.

The lesson for the enemy is not in any particular detail, or even all the details. It's in disclosing how we think about certain problems, what procedures we follow, how we evaluate information.

By the same token, it was hardly wise to let a New York Times reporter gain access to documentary material about the Truman-MacArthur meeting at Wake Island last Fall.

Both the Administration and the members of the Senate must face the fact that, while a complete inquiry into our Far Eastern policy is desirable, it cannot be conducted at risk of American lives.

A lot of the combatants in this new "great debate" want either to "get" Truman or to "get" MacArthur. It would be a profound tragedy if in their frenzied pursuit of these goals they allowed Communists to "get" several thousand American G.I.s on the battlefield.

Dangerous Apathy

It ought to be significant of something or other that our lawmakers in Washington cannot even agree these days on a dispersal program for the capital.

A plan was drawn up calling for removal of many thousands of government workers to outlying areas, on the theory that a capital so spread out would be a less vulnerable target in case of enemy air attack.

For half a dozen assorted reasons, the program bit the dust in the Senate. Some lawmakers simply didn't like the particular plan, but they didn't offer any real alternatives.

Dispersal of government facilities vital to the continuance of the government in war or other crisis is not somebody's silly pipe dream. What do the senators propose? That the government stay highly concentrated until the bombs begin to fall?

Sporting Of You, Tovaritch

Russia has announced it will take part in the 1952 Olympics in Finland. That is, if the international athletic organization will admit the Russians.

Heretofore the Soviet Union has shied away from any contest of strength and speed with the star athletes of the United States, Britain and other track-conscious countries.

Nobody knows, naturally, what the Russians may have to offer. They may burn up the track. They're a sports-conscious nation and they produce many hardy specimens.

It will be interesting to see what alibis the Kremlin may come up with to explain away inevitable defeats. The Reds have got more than a year in which to concoct their fantasies; they ought to make good fiction.

Too many people spend too much time chasing rainbows—and wind up running into storms.

Get Together, Boys, Get Together

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: General Ridgway promised Truman to hold against Communists; Ridgway deserves credit for improved U.N. forces; Congress dawdles on food for India.

WASHINGTON — Before President Truman made his tough decision to fire General MacArthur, he asked Gen. Matt Ridgway for a confidential opinion as to whether U.N. forces could hold against the expected big Communist offensive.

Truman took this precaution, first because it had been known for some time that the offensive was coming, second because he also knew what a catastrophic torrent of criticism would be heaped on his head if after relieving MacArthur, U.N. forces suffered a staggering defeat.

General Ridgway admitted that his forces could hold. He went further and stated that he could hold against any enemy attack for sixty days—even without reinforcements.

Another Republican, also from Ohio, put up a vigorous battle before the legislation finally was jared loose from its dusty pigeonhole in the House Rules Committee.

There are several important reasons for this confidence, all going to the tremendously improved fighting quality and command of American troops.

Last December a Chinese army only half as big as that facing us today, was thrown against the U.N. It was not one million men as MacArthur announced. Yet that relatively small Chinese force threw the 8th Army for a headlong retreat of more than 120 miles.

A lot of the combatants in this new "great debate" want either to "get" Truman or to "get" MacArthur. It would be a profound tragedy if in their frenzied pursuit of these goals they allowed Communists to "get" several thousand American G.I.s on the battlefield.

Chief change between now and then, however, is in American fighting spirit and strategy, for which Lt. Gen. Matt Ridgway deserves most of the credit. Here is what he has done:

1. Previously, the mechanized American forces were roadbound and easily outflanked by the Chinese, who swarmed through the backwoods and rice paddies, usually keeping off the main highways.

Ridgway now has moved his infantry off the roads, and trained them to fight on the Communists' own ground. Instead of relying on trucks and jeeps, Ridgway has hired South Korean bearers to haul supplies to G. I.s who are dug in off the highways.

Ridgway also has used guerrilla-trained American Rangers to harass the enemy behind their lines.

2. Ridgway has moved cautiously and patrolled every step of the way, instead of racing ahead pell-mell, as Lt. Gen. Edward Almond and the late Gen. Walton Walker did last November to see whose troops could reach the Yalu River first.

3. Ridgway has reorganized his command down to the company level. This got rid of incompetent officers and gave the men new confidence in their commanders.

4. Ridgway also has bolstered the South Korean troops, who fight ferociously against North Koreans but flee in panic from the Chinese.

Ridgway gave the South Koreans a taste of victory over the Chinese by integrating South Korean and American units and throwing them into battle side by side.

5. Ridgway also assigned South Korean soldiers to count the Chinese dead. This has helped, but not overcome the South Koreans' psychological fear of the Chinese. Congressional procrastination. Hours—Even minutes—are vital to a starving people. Yet Congress dawdled months before agreeing to consider legislation to feed the hungry mouths of India.

In Monday's article we discussed the opening bid of one no-trump. Today we will talk about the opening bid of two no-trump.

The opening bid of two no-trump shows a hand that is just slightly better than double an average hand. Remember that an average hand contains one ace, one king, one queen, one jack, and one ten.

In today's hand, for example, South has slightly better than average strength in the black suits. His holding in the red suits is also slightly better than an average hand.

Getcha Press Corps Program Here! It Makes Pikers Out Of D. C. Fathers

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— While waiting for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to wing his way out of the west, members of the Washington press corps dreamed up what they thought would be a much more fitting and hysterical reception program than the one the D. C. Faith arranged.

This is it: 12:30 p.m.—General MacArthur wades ashore from snorkel submarine in the Potomac.

12:40 p.m.—MacArthur, riding GOP elephant with Joe Martin as mahout, leads parade to the Capitol, followed by President Truman drawing ricksha containing several Marines.

12:47 p.m.—Behanding of Gen. Harry Vaughan in Capitol rotunda. 1 p.m.—MacArthur tells all about it.

1:30 p.m.—Burning of the Constitution. 1:45 p.m.—Lynching of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

2 p.m.—Twenty-one atom bomb salute for General MacArthur. 2:30 p.m.—Five hundred D. A. R.'s do a parachute drop from top of Washington Monument.

3:30 p.m. and on—Basket picnic on monument grounds. Remember Pearl Harbor? Big riddle in Washington is what can be accomplished by a full-dress investigation of U. S. foreign policy, stirred up by General MacArthur's return?

Closest parallel in recent years would seem to be the Pearl Harbor investigation at the end of the last war. It took seven months, proved little or nothing that wasn't known before, ended in a divided report on strictly political lines.

Any discussion of foreign policy is a good thing, however, if argued on fact and not on emotional appeal. Principal harm that might be done would be to force revelation of Joint Chiefs of Staff secret plans.

There is considerable concern that Moscow already is told too much about U. S. defense plans, troop dispositions, arms aid to foreign countries and location of U. S. foreign bases. This led to recent crack by General Marshall that he felt he was nothing more than a G-2 (intelligence service) of Stalin.

No Replacement. Greatest tragedy in the death of Senator Arthur A. Vandenberg of Michigan is that there is no one on Republican side of the Senate to replace him. This fact that he had no real successor was fully appreciated by Senator Vandenberg. Michael A. Gorman, editor of the Flint, Mich., Journal, who knew Vandenberg well, recalls this was one factor in Vandenberg's decision not to be an active candidate for President in 1948.

At one point during primary campaign, after Governor Dewey of New York had lost several mid-western state ballots, there was a small boom for a Vandenberg-Dewey ticket. The Michigan senator scooped it. If that ticket had gone through and won, with the Michigan senator in first place, Governor Dewey as the elected vice president would today be President.

GI's General To Formosa. Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, new head of U. S. military advisory mission to Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese army on Formosa, made his reputation as commander of U. S. First Cavalry in the Pacific. It operated brilliantly as an armored division. General Chase was a GI's general, and ate out of the mess lines, wherever he was, in preference to private dining rooms. He gained considerable fame by the signs he had erected as morale boosters for his troopers, reading: "Welcome to Tokyo—Courtesy First Cavalry."

That Stopped Him. Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Anna M. Rosenberg, was on the stand before the Senate Armed Services Committee. Senator Russell of Georgia, the chairman, was questioning her about the young husbands—the ones who get married early and immediately start raising big families so as to escape the draft.

"What do you suggest?" asked Secretary Rosenberg. "A rollback?" Point Four Author. Though there never has been any formal announcement about it, the real author of President Truman's Point Four program of aid for underdeveloped countries is Benjamin H. Hardy, now chief information officer for the project. Hardy, 35, is a Georgian, a graduate and instructor at the state university. He was a newspaperman before the war, and then joined the staff of Nelson Rockefeller, who was coordinator of Inter-American affairs.

Hardy's experience in that office gave him the background for the big idea of organized assistance to backward countries. He wrote a memorandum on it, which was circulated among his superiors. It came to President Truman's attention when he was writing his inaugural address and looking for a big idea to promote. He grabbed the idea and made it his own. Most of Hardy doesn't care that he has had no recognition, gets satisfaction out of watching Point Four grow.

There's Difference, You Know. Paul Hoffman, first head of the Marshall Plan, says he always was puzzled by just what rights and privileges his "cabinet status" was supposed to give him. Then he found out. He seldom used it, but the greatest advantage that cabinet rank gave him, as Economic Cooperation Administrator, was to have a government car and chauffeur available for use, any time of day or night. Lesser government officials can have government cars only in the daytime.

Laying Down The Law. Army lawyers have been having themselves a time arguing over whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur really was guilty of insubordination with respect to President Truman's orders. Or, was the general justified in the course of action he followed? Here's what "Military Law in the United States" has to say on the subject. This is the standard textbook. It was written by Brig. Gen. George H. Davis, a former professor of military law at West Point. On page 386, under "Insubordination," it says:

"To justify from a military point of view a military inferior disobeying the order of a superior, the order must be one requiring something to be done which is palpably a breach of law and a crime or an injury to a third person or is of a serious character (not involving unimportant consequences only) and, if done would not be susceptible of being righted."

Take it away, lawyers.

So They Say

It is my own belief that we are in greater danger of expanded war today than at any time since the close of the war in 1945. —Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Texas).

We now have come to the awful day in America where we have a supreme general staff modeled after Hitler and the Prussians—seeking military control over industry, labor, the economy and the press. —Rep. Thomas H. Werdel (R-Calif.).

A lot of people that should be buying used cars have gone in over their heads to get new ones. They feel that this is the last good car they're going to get for a while. —Al Peterson, Chicago car dealer.

I see nothing inconsistent between the editorials in racing information. Racing information is news in the same sense that people follow prize fights, golf matches, baseball games. —John S. Knight, newspaper publisher.

Q—When was the name "National Guard" first applied to a state militia? A—On August 16, 1824, when the New York units took the title "National Guards" in compliment to Lafayette, who was visiting the United States. Lafayette had commanded the National Guard in Paris in 1789. By 1866 only three states retained the word "militia" in their official designation.

Q—What is the official language of Vatican City? A—The language in common use is Italian, but official acts of the Holy See are drawn up in Latin.

Q—Are there tigers in Africa? A—There are no tigers in Africa except in captivity. Tigers are native only to eastern and southern Asia and the adjacent islands.

Q—Who was Carmen Sylva? A—Carmen Sylva was the pen name of Elizabeth, former queen of Romania.

Nanabarro. If he was going to snatch somebody, where would he hide him? Her brow furrowed. "He has a lodge at Willow Lake." That's all I got out of her except directions after we reached Willow Lake.

"I cut the motor about 50 yards away from the Wee-Ins. Nanabarro's lodge. We parked and I reached over and took Sonya's handbag. The little .25 caliber automatic that had caused all the trouble was there and it was loaded too."

"I never thought I'd go gunning with one of these babies. Come on—you go first."

WE rounded the lodge to the lake side. When I saw Star's sedan parked beside another big car that must have been Nanabarro's, I knew I had guessed right. Nanabarro had picked up Star, all right.

"Walk right in!" I whispered to Sonya. "She did this coolly enough. 'Hello, everybody!'"

I moved in right behind her. Nanabarro's man Friday, Lou, had started toward Sonya.

"Hold it!" I snapped. He held it. I moved on in. It was a big room with a dead fireplace. Two davenport faces each other in front of the fireplace. Nanabarro sat alone on one of them. Star sat on the other, opposite him.

"Okay, Star!" I said. "We're going out of here!" To Nanabarro, I said: "I'll shoot you full of little holes if you try to stop me!"

Nanabarro put down his cigarette and regarded Star with bewilderment.

Star said quietly: "Put away that toy pistol, Jim. What do you think you're doing, anyway?"

I stared. "Isn't Nanabarro holding you here?"

Star chuckled. "Of course not! I couldn't believe he was there voluntarily. Maybe some unseemly gunman had him covered. I looked around the room. There was a stairway to the second floor. Nobody up there. I went to a door. The kitchen was beyond, and it was empty. Another door opened to reveal a vacant bedroom. Sonya was giving me an amused smile.

When I woke up next the cute barmaid said: "Just take it easy, mister, and you'll be all right!"

"The other guys?"

"They're awfully dead, mister!"

A LOCAL M. D. was brought in quick, and he turned out to be a kid with plenty of army experience. A highway patrolman checked in a minute after that.

The first slug, the one fired by the erstwhile truck driver who had come in behind me, had plowed through the floor as I had rolled. He hadn't fired another, for I'd shot him through the nose.

A slug from the phony drunk had creased me, furrowing my scalp. That character had done no more shooting either, for my sense of direction by sound had been good.

"You're lucky to come out of that one alive," added the doc, a concussion?"

"Maybe not even that. There's definitely no fracture. He'll have to stay in bed a couple of weeks, though."

I had too much of a headache to argue. It didn't help the headache to make statements to the trooper and the two deputies that came out from the sheriff's office at River City. They took my gun.

One of the deputies, an old-timer named Charlie Matthews, drove me back to the office. Kitty Coyne didn't know where Star Williams was, but I found Sonya Sareta in her room at the Strand Hotel.

Her eyes widened when she saw my bandaged head, but I wasted no time talking. She had on a robin blue wrap and I got a good grip and shook her hard. She said she didn't know where Star was. "Does Al Nanabarro know?"

"How should I know?"

Little 'Rich' Cities Nab Spotlight From Big 'Uns In Sales

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The little but rich cities of Texas grabbed the spotlight Tuesday from the big cities in a field usually dominated by the big 'uns—retail sales.

The Census Bureau issued an unusual report of per capita retail sales—how much the average person spends in the stores of his home town. The per capita figures are based on the ratio of sales in 1948 to the population in 1950.

The Panhandle cities of Plainview and Pampa, rank first and second on this list. In the usual listing of sales by dollar volume only, Houston (the south's biggest city) and Dallas rank one and two.

Here are the ten ranking Texas cities in per capita retail sales (based on the ratio of 1948 sales to 1950 population):

City	Total Sales	Per Capita
Plainview	$ 28,021,000	$1,998
Pampa	26,834,000	1,624
Lamesa	16,454,000	1,537
Greenville	22,019,000	1,498
Big Spring	25,801,000	1,495
Longview	36,429,000	1,490
Amarillo	109,736,000	1,488
Victoria	23,866,001	1,459
Lubbock	104,130,000	1,459

Ex-Chaplain Urges Midlanders Not To Sell Church Short

A kickoff dinner for all members Monday night launched a budget finance campaign of St. Mark's Methodist Church of Midland.

The church, of which the Rev. James Sharp is pastor, has set a budget of $12,000 for its second year of service. The young Methodist church will be one year old in July.

Inspirational speaker at the dinner held in the church auditorium was Dr. Ray N. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of San Angelo. His message was, "Don't Sell The Church Short."

Dr. Johnson, who termed himself a red-haired, freckle-faced ex-GI chaplain, predicted God would not let the world be blasted to smithereens in war.

"Only God, not Washington, can show us the way."

"The tide is moving in for a better world," the speaker said. "I'm proud of the church for her makeup, her message and her mission."

Bob McDonald, director of musical and Christian education for Dr. Johnson's church, led group singing.

Approximately 100 persons attended the dinner.

Ohio Republican Solon Found Guilty

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republican Rep. Walter E. Brehm of Ohio, a five-term member of Congress, was convicted Monday night of receiving $1,000 in unlawful political contributions.

After deliberating four hours and 18 minutes, a federal court jury of 10 men and two women found the 58-year-old Ohioan guilty on five counts, involving as many $200 contributions from Mrs. Emma S. Craven while she worked for him in 1948.

The maximum sentence that could be imposed is 15 years in prison and a $25,000 fine.

Brehm was convicted of breaking a law that forbids congressmen to accept political gifts from persons on the federal payroll.

Brehm's lawyer, Leo A. Rover, told reporters he will ask for a new trial. Failing that, he said, he will appeal the case to higher courts.

Judge Burnita S. Matthews did not announce when Brehm will be sentenced.

Boyle Writes Open Letter To Joe Stalin

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff

An open letter to Joseph Stalin, care of the Kremlin, Moscow, was sent to him by Joe Stalin.

As one Joe to another, I am just writing to wish you a happy May Day. This is supposed to be an international holiday for the working man, and us fellows in the Third Squad kind of wonder how you are celebrating it.

You guys in the Kremlin knocking off early to watch the big parade? And afterward I'll bet you'll be hip-deep in caviar and vodka. Pretty nice, Joe; you got it made. That's the way for a working man to live. You've become the poor man's rich man in Russia.

Too bad you can't be with us here in Korea. We're having a parade also. But it's a noisy parade, and just means more work for us. That's enough to make a guy see red, and boy are we seeing red? Nothing but red—Red Chinese. They organized this May Day parade, and it's one big bloody mess.

Cheering—At Gun Point

It's in your honor, Joe, and in the villages north of us your propaganda agents are busy again pasting up your picture on every house door. The liberated Koreans are cheering for you—at gun point.

This parade is the third one your boys have organized to throw us out of Korea. It's the bloodiest one so far, but much as we hate to mess up your party, we don't think the parade is going to get all the way down to Pusan.

We'll give you one thing, Joe. Your parades are hard to break up. But your poor Chinese marchers don't have much choice. They have our guns in front of them—and your guns behind them to keep them from turning and running for home.

Being Reds is no fun for those poor peasants. Red is the color of life, Joe, but for them red also is the color of death. We kill so many of them that sometimes we have to pull back because our guns are too hot to fire anymore.

Playing With Puppets

At your age, Joe, you should be ashamed of playing with puppets. Live puppets at that. Why don't you call off your little puppet show, and play at a big game called peace?

The funny thing about your May Day parade is that the working men in Korea don't like it. They don't want it. And most of them aren't staying to watch your festival. They're leaving their homes to fall back with us. Why? Because they don't believe in either your parades or your promises. They don't think you remember what it is to be an honest working man.

Korea is a lovely land right now. Joe. The wild flowers are coming out in the hills, the rice plants are greening in the wet paddies. But your big Red parade is ruining the land.

Why don't you call it off, Joe? Why don't you give the real working men of the world a break instead of just another empty promise?

You're getting up in years, old man. You don't have much time left. Soon you're going to have to start a final solitary parade of your own—to the God you don't believe in.

You don't want to start that last march alone with your hands still wet with the red life shed by working men you always said you wanted to help, do you?

See you at parade rest, Joe. It won't be much longer.

G. I. Joe of the Third Squad, Korea.

OPS Names Two District Chiefs

LUBBOCK — The appointment of Hugh Anderson, Lubbock attorney, as chief enforcement attorney for the Lubbock district of the Office of Price Stabilization, has been announced by Howard R. Gholson, district director. Anderson assumed duties with the district office Monday.

He will head a staff of three attorneys and several investigators assigned to enforce the federal government's price stabilization program in the 66-county West Texas district.

Another key position in the district office has been filled, too, with Gholson's announcement that W. O. (Dan) Daniels has been named chief of the fuel and chemicals branch of the pricing division. Daniels' promotion becomes effective this week.

Every time your oil man delivers a gallon of gasoline or fuel oil to you—he sets in motion a chain of events reaching right to the oil fields. Your purchase is registered through a sensitive system of Co-ordinated Distribution, which balances supply with demand.

Your gallon sets the "chain" in motion

No matter where you live, from Maine to California, your call for any oil product has its echo hundreds or thousands of miles away. The fact that your use is multiplied by millions of other people—in thousands of places—means that the chain of distribution must be kept going 24 hours a day every day.

To deliver the required 290,000,000 gallons of petroleum products "to your door" daily, the petroleum industry has developed its own special system of transportation. Your gallon sets it in motion.

Making oil more useful:
Oil contributes in hundreds of ways to the nation's economy, comfort, protection. It produces more than half of America's power.

Co-ordinated Distribution is another example of how the oil industry gets the maximum usefulness out of our petroleum supply.

And oil companies, to do this, work on 3 fronts: production, refining and distribution.

Joined to serve you best
Production finds new oil fields, gets the most possible oil from existing wells.

Refining gets more and better products from every gallon of crude petroleum.

Distribution anticipates the users' needs, and delivers the product where and when it is needed.

With production, refining, and distribution all joined "under one roof"—reamed to exchange ideas—Shell does its part to assure the most efficient flow of petroleum products to you.

To strengthen America:
Because they have plowed back over 10 billion dollars into new plants and equipment since the end of World War II, America's privately managed oil companies outproduce the world—are better prepared today than ever before to meet both civilian and military needs.

No Shows In Test Of Floyd Project

Houston Oil Company No. 1 John S. Lackey, Northeast Floyd County wildcat, 12 miles north and one mile east of Lockney took a 50-minute drillstem test at 6,632-60 feet in an unidentified shale and sand formation.
Recovery was 100 feet of drilling fluid with no shows of oil, gas or water.
The test was run after operator had encountered a drilling break at 6,632 feet. The zone from there to 6,660 feet drilled at the rate of five minutes per foot.
No Lime Found
The venture is drilling deeper. It has not yet found any solid lime in the Pennsylvania and it has not logged any shows of possible production.
Location is 330 feet from south and 890 feet from east lines of section 11, block D-2, GCKSF survey.
The wildcat is to continue drilling until it reaches 8,000 feet or finds and tests the Mississippian. There is a possibility that it may go on to about 9,000 feet to try to find and test the Ellenburger.

main body of Reds still in the west was staying far enough north to keep out of range of American artillery.
So few targets were left within their range that Allied batteries spent a comparatively silent May Day after Monday's terrific barrage. The Red pullback created a no man's land between the extreme range of UN guns and forward Chinese elements. Small advanced Red pockets were hit by fire bombs.
Greatest Air Effort
It was a different story Monday, when the Chinese masses were threatening to sweep on Seoul.
Allied big guns massed in the Seoul suburbs pumped thousands of shells into the hills to the north, where the Communists were swarming. Warships off Inchon port laid down a heavy curtain of fire northwest of the old South Korean capital.
And Allied planes mounted "the greatest air effort of the Korean war."
Far Eastern Air Forces reported 1,277 sorties, a new air record, smashed a determined large scale Communist supply build up.
Red jet was seen in challenge of Allied war supremacy Tuesday. One probably was shot down and four were damaged.
The battle was fought over North-western Korea between 25 Russian-made MIG-15's and 25 American F-86 Sabre jets. The battle started at 40,000 feet and swirled down to 2,000 feet, where the Reds broke off and streaked back across the Yalu River to Manchuria.
Victorious American pilots said one Red jet was seen plummeting toward the earth at 2,000 feet. Four others were hit. U. S. jets were untouched.
The Allies lost two fighter planes Monday to ground fire.

were listed for each type of grade of cut. The price range varied from a ceiling for stories which sold less than $75,000 worth of meat in 1950 to a ceiling for stores which sold more than $75,000.
The dollar-and-cents ceilings replace the general freeze on beef prices that went into effect January 26.
All stores will be required to have the new price ceilings posted by June 2, although the order is effective May 14.
There was speculation just how much the ceilings would lower meat prices.
In Dallas Monday, choice T-bone steaks sold over the meat counter for $1.20 to $1.23 a pound—from three to seven cents less per pound than the new ceiling.
Livestock Markets Slowed
OPS said the new price orders, including the two percentage cuts set up for August and October, would save the nation's meat consumers about $700,000,000 a year.
The price rollbacks for beef on the hoof, announced during the week-end, sharply affected trade at Texas livestock markets Monday.
Trade at the big Fort Worth stockyards dropped almost to a standstill. Some stockmen found bids so low they refused to sell. There was a prospect that many animals would be taken off the market and returned to the range.
Few animals changed hands as stocker cattle bids ranged $2 to $3 per hundred pounds lower than last week's latest prices.
Buying of stocker cattle came to a near standstill at San Antonio.
Trading at Houston was very slow. Brahman stockers sold at $3 per hundredweight less than last week.

Virginia Turney is serving as advisor to the show committees. She is a former vocalist with the Ted Weems Orchestra and now is a Midland resident. She will meet with the planning committee Wednesday afternoon to outline further plans for the performance.
Among recent performers signed is Jerry Wolf, pianist, Bob Richard, dance director, has five routines featuring female talent lined up, it also was announced.
Tickets will go on sale soon at the Hotel Scharbauer Barber Shop and the U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station.

Giants End String Of Setbacks With Win Over Bums

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The biggest trade of the season and the end of the New York Giants' victory drought put a new complexion to the Major League baseball races Tuesday as Eastern and Western teams came to grips for the first time.

The Giants ended a crushing 11-game losing streak Monday night by beating their arch rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-5 before a capacity crowd of 33,962 at Ebbets Field. It was the only game in the Majors.

There was no hooting or back slapping in the Giant clubhouse after the victory. "It's been a long dry spell," Manager Leo Durocher said with a wry smile.

But the Giants have a long way to go before they can live up to their Winter book rating as pennant contenders. They are in last place with three victories and 12 defeats, nine games off the .500 mark.

Durocher's athletes return Tuesday night to the Polo Grounds, where they open a 10-game stand against the lightly regarded Western clubs, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Monday night, the Giants went to town early, scoring all of their runs in the first two innings against Chris Van Cuyk, Earl Mosser and Joe Hatten.

Maglie Outted
Sam Maglie started for the Giants and lingered until the sixth when Sheldon Jones came on to stamp out a rally. The Dodgers outlasted the Giants, 10-8. Three of the Dodgers' blows were home runs by Gene Hermanski, Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider.

The biggest trade of the year was engineered by Cleveland, Chicago and Philadelphia of the American League and it involved seven players.

Cleveland considerably strengthened its pennant outlook by acquiring Lefthander Lou Brissie from the A's. The Indians have been seeking a starting lefthander for a long time to go along with their big four of Bob Lemon, Bob Feller, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, all righthanders.

The three-cornered deal sent Catcher Ray Murray, Pitcher Sam Zolack and Outfielders Gus Zernial and Dave Philley to the Athletics, Outfielder Paul Lehner and Infielder Outfielder Orestes Milino to Chicago and Brissie to Cleveland.

Brissie, who had a disappointing season last year for the A's after two excellent years, expressed disappointment, declaring: "I know I've been bush so far, but I never thought Jim (Dykes) would do that."

Prendergast Files $150,000 Action Against Baseball
UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Organized baseball and its controversial reserve clause have been hauled into court again—this time by Jim Prendergast, former Syracuse pitcher.

Prendergast is suing baseball officials for $150,000 on the ground that reserve clauses in contracts during his career "continually tended materially to hamper" him in "negotiating for salary and employment."

He contends the reserve clause is monopolistic and a violation of the anti-trust laws.

Prendergast, a 33-year-old lefthander, was transferred by the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League to the Beaumont club of the Texas League on April 25. He refused to report to the New York Yankee farm club and has not signed a 1961 contract.

Longhorn League—

Weatherman Kills Games In Roswell, Midland, Angelo

By The Associated Press
A fickle weatherman had the Longhorn League reeling on the ropes Monday night and all but knocked out for the count. Three of the four games were victims.

Cold, high winds and sandstorms made up the weather served to section with Sweetwater and Vernon being the only two clubs to get their game in the books. For Vernon it was fortunate—the Dusters climbed to a virtual tie for first place with San Angelo as a result.

The two clubs played at Vernon in an afternoon contest that went eleven innings before the Dusters eked out an 8-7 win.

Sweetwater went ahead 7-4 with single runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings but the Dusters rallied for three in the last of the ninth to tie the score then broke the tie for the win in the eleventh.

Jittery Joe Berry, Vernon manager and relief pitcher, singled to open the eleventh. Cal Brasler went in as a pinch runner and scored on three more singles in a row.

Odessa at San Angelo was postponed by a sandstorm; high winds forced the Big Spring at Midland game to be cancelled while cold weather was blamed for the cancellation of the Artesia at Roswell contest.

The score: R H E
Sweetwater . . . 002 101 111 00—7 14 3
Vernon 201 010 003 01—8 13 0

WT-NM League—
Rain, Cold, Sand Give Players Rest

By The Associated Press
West Texas-New Mexico League players got an unscheduled rest Monday night as a variety of weather, none of it suitable for baseball, descended on the circuit.

All games were postponed. Cold weather forced the cancellation of Clovis and Albuquerque at Albuquerque and Borger at Amarillo. A sandstorm blanketed out the game between Abilene and Lamesa at Lamesa, and rain at Pampa washed out the Lubbock-Pampa contest.

Bigtime Basketball Is Ended For CCNY
NEW YORK (AP)—City College of New York, its great Cinderella team shattered by the broad game-fixing scandal, saw the door slam Tuesday on bigtime basketball.

The New York Board of Higher Education ruled that CCNY, along with other municipal colleges, won't be permitted to play in Madison Square Garden or "any other commercially operated establishments."

Jockeys stand in their stirrups to distribute their weight evenly.

NEW ROLE—Ralph Kiner moves from left field to first base for the Pirates in the baseball experiment of the year. The big fellow also threatens to break Babe Ruth's major-league seasonal home-run record of 80. (NEA)

Indians, Broncs Collide Tuesday

High winds and cold weather forced postponement of the scheduled Midland-Big Spring Longhorn League baseball game Monday night at Indian Park.

The two teams will meet at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in a single contest. No double-header will be played Tuesday, officials have announced.

Vernon climbed past Midland by beating Sweetwater Monday night, and the Indians will be out to regain their position in the Tuesday tilt.

Veteran Eddie Jacone—who has posted a 4-0 record for Midland this year—will get the starting assignment against the Broncs Tuesday night. Big Spring Manager Pat Stas-y has announced no starting hurler.

Kenny Jones, Midland catcher of the last two years, has rejoined the team and will make his first appearance here Tuesday.

Kyle Rote Of Grid Fame Burns Up Baseball Circuit

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Kyle Rote, fabulous for his football feats, has taken professional baseball storm.

The Southern Methodist star who was No. 1 choice of the New York Giants, with whom he signed a contract for an estimated $20,000, decided to play baseball while he was waiting for football to start.

He came here and hooked up with Corpus Christi of the Class B Gulf Coast League. He didn't play much for a while, figuring as a pinch-hitter. But all the time Rote was being instructed in the finer points of the game by Corpus Christi Owner George Schepps and Manager John (Red) Davis.

Finally they put Rote in to go the distance. All he did was hit three home runs in three consecutive times at bat in his second full-time appearance.

"They haven't been able to get him out of the lineup since. In 32 times at bat he has rapped 10 hits, four of them homers. This was in seven complete games and three pinch-hitting roles.

And now Schepps predicts a major league career for Rote.

But Kyle won't say if baseball has a chance to replace the gridiron in his scheme for the future.

Rote says he will give both a whirl and if he sees after a few seasons that he has no future in one sport, he will revert to the other. The major factor in his choice, however, is "which sport would offer the greatest security for my family."

King's Row

by LARRY KING

When the Midland Indians and Big Spring Broncs take the field for baseball action Tuesday night at Indian Park, it will be a special occasion for the "old time" Midland fans.

For hustling little Kenny Jones, the pint-sized catcher, will be making his first 1961 appearance before the home folks, after being sent back to Midland from the Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League.

"Sure, I'd like to play with Oklahoma City," he says, "but if they can't use me, I'd like to play for Midland."

Jones has played some good ball for Harold Webb's teams here in the past. He was the Longhorn League's "Rookie Of The Year" in 1949, and turned in a fine job with Midland last year despite the Indians' poor record.

"We think he'll pick up right where he left off.

It would be nice to see a lot of Kenny's old friends on hand at the ball park Tuesday night to give him a real welcome in his initial appearance of the year here.

Another lad we look to for great things during the next few games is Center Fielder Jim Ackers.

Ackers worked out with Pat Stas-y's Big Spring Broncs for awhile this year, but Stas-y turned him away as an unlikely prospect. He came to Midland and opened the season here.

All he's done is bat 364—fourth in "fam" standings—hit a triple, two doubles, steal six bases and bat in 12 runs in 10 games. He could make Stas-y sorry for passing him up with a couple of good performances.

Here's the current batting averages of the entire Midland team, in order of percentage:

AB	H	Pct.
Cowsar, rf	31	13 .419
Mellilo, 2b	43	17 .395
Tanner, c-3b-of	29	11 .379
Ackers, cf	44	16 .364
White, 3b-of	35	12 .343
Prince, 1b	33	8 .242
Webb, utility	13	3 .231
Jones, c	19	4 .211
Jacone, p	10	2 .200
Patton, p	11	2 .182
Potak, ss	30	5 .167
McMellon, p	6	1 .167
Firnback, lf	37	5 .135
Balch, of	1	0 .000
Moody, p	3	0 .000

Longhorn League managers this year are turning pitchers. Artesia's Stubby Greer, Vernon's Joe Berry and the Indian's Harold Webb have chalked up hurling victories.

With most pitching staffs the way they are, all may see additional mound action this year.

But don't look for any of them to win 20 games.

Food Poisoning Victims Reported In Good Condition

ERICKSDAHL (AP)—The victims of a siege of food poisoning at a church convention here are responding to treatment favorably.

A total of 40 persons entered the hospital here after becoming suddenly ill Sunday night during the final session of the twenty-ninth annual convention, Texas Conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. Twenty were dismissed later that night.

Tuesday, only eight remained in the hospital. All of them were reported in favorable condition.

A physician who helped treat the delegates said the food poisoning apparently came from some ham served at a cold supper.

Gilmore, Spinks, Brown Named On North Star Squad

BEAUMONT (AP)—Coach Frank Howard of Clemson has announced the members of the North squad for the annual North-South Football Game at the Texas High School Coaches Association school this Summer.

The North team will oppose a South squad coached by "Bear" Bryant of the University of Kentucky.

The North squad:
Ends: Weldon Dacus, Brady; Kenneth Anglin, Groom; Benny Sinclair, Mincola; Wayne Delaney, Sherman; Ed Bernet, Highland Park (Dallas).

Tackles: Bill Seay, Crozier Tech; Roland MacLin, Carter Riverside (Fort Worth); Jimmy Garrett, Forney; Charles Thompson, Sweetwater; Joe White, Odessa.

Guards: Donald Terral, DeKalb; Sam Walker, Breckenridge; Randel Lemons, Canadian; Eddie Scheig, Pampa; Marvin Tate, Abilene.

Centers: Doyle Nix, Texarkana; Don Kaye Brown, Kermit; Bill Harris, Wichita Falls.

Backs: Tommy Fields, Wichita Falls; Reed Gilmore, Midland; Gene Remfro, Littlefield; Mac Taylor, Lubbock; Dwight Trice, San Angelo; Joe Borina, Sunset (Dallas); Ronald Clink, Odessa; Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); L. M. Watson, McLean; Billy Jack Meredith, Mt. Vernon; Ricks Spinks, Kermit.

Only Fort Worth is living up to expectations and Dallas looks like it might get into the swing.

Monday night, Dallas whipped San Antonio 7-4 with Hal Erickson scattering nine Mission hits, effectively. But San Antonio still leads the race by a game and a half because Oklahoma City also lost.

Beaumont Proves Villian
It was Beaumont that proved the villian in the act. The Roughnecks whipped Oklahoma City 3-1 with Clarence Beers giving the Indians only six hits. Gus Triandos, playing his first game with Beaumont, socked a three-run homer in the third to count all the Roughneck tallies.

A home run, also proved the difference in Fort Worth's 2-1 victory over Houston. Bill Sherman parked the ball for the decision while Bill McCahan, formerly a no-hit pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics, gave the Buffs just five blows and fanned six.

Shreveport's so-called lowly Sports whammed Tulsa 15-5 as Cliff Coggins notched his third straight pitching triumph. Vern Pitt hit a three-run home for the Sports and Grant Dunlap blasted the ball over the fence with one on.

Ben Guintini was the big noise in Dallas' conquest of San Antonio. He got three hits, one a three-run homer. Frank Tornay and Ken Mapes also circled for the Eagles.

Miss Jameson had rounds of 72-78-150. She started the last round two strokes to the good over Mrs. Zaharias, the tournament favorite.

The Babe's efforts were 77-75-152.

Miss Jameson chalked up a one-under-men's-par 25 for the back nine of Monday's second round. It kept alive her chances after she shot a wobbly first-nine 43.

Trailing the first two were Alice Bauer of Midland, Texas, and Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga. These two were tied at 154. Miss Bauer shot the best second round, a two-over-men's-par 74. She did it with a 38-36. Miss Suggs had rounds of 77 for each of the two rounds.

Patty Berg of Minneapolis, was well up with a score of 78-77-155.

JayCee League Softball Tilts Are Postponed

Midland's JayCee Softball League—City Major division—Friday night was no different from organized baseball.

Winds and cold weather killed scheduled games pitting American Legion against Standard of Texas and Rendezvous against Rotary Engineers. The games will be made up at a later date.

Wednesday's schedule calls for Western Plastic to meet Shell Oil in the first game at 7:45 p.m. and Standard to play Rendezvous in the second game.

May 1-7 Designated Correct Posture Week
With the aim of correcting postural defects and thus diminishing the chances of illness later, Midland chiropractors have designated the period of May 1 to 7 as Correct Posture Week.
Observance of the week state-wide is being sponsored by the Chiropractic Public Health Committee of Texas and chiropractors of Midland County are cooperating in the move to make citizens aware of the relationship between good posture and good health.
Dr. J. Dow Scott, chairman of the Midland committee, said it is as important for people to check their body posture periodically as it was to have their teeth checked.
"Nerves, muscles, vital organs—all may suffer impairment of function as a result of incorrect posture," he said.
"If a postural fault is neglected, it may be very difficult to correct later in life and may be the cause that results in illness," Dr. Scott added.

Captain Killed In Crash Was Former Airmen At MAAF

Capt. William Zurvitzka, 29, radar operator who was killed in the air collision and crash of a B-36 bomber and F-51 fighter in Oklahoma last Friday, is remembered here as a former MAAF airman and softball star.

Zurvitzka played with the MAAF team in the Midland Softball League in the Summer of 1946.

He was married to the former Alice Teddlie of Breckenridge while stationed here.

He joined the Air Force in 1940 and flew through the Pacific campaigns without a crash.

Survivors include the widow of 4706 Collinwood Street, Fort Worth; the mother, Mrs. Katherine Zurvitzka of Huntington Woods, Mich.; three brothers, and two sisters.

Zurvitzka was born in Detroit.

Mrs. Zurvitzka heard the first news of the crash on a radio broadcast. Names of the survivors reassured her because they were not her husband's flying mates.

Later, she learned that her husband had been flying with a different crew.

Mother Testifies She Was Dragged From Children And Raped

A 21-year-old Latin American mother told from the witness stand Tuesday of being dragged from her two children during a colorful fiesta celebration and raped "several times" on a nearby dumping ground.

The young mother was the state's star witness in the rape trial of Trannie Godfrey, 30-year-old Midland negro, which opened Monday in 70th District Court before Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton.

She told her story under the questioning of District Attorney W. O. Shafer, explaining that on the night of last September 16 she was sitting with her two children in an automobile outside the fiesta dance hall in Midland.

"I was sitting there in the car with my door open," she said through an interpreter. "When I saw him approaching, I closed the door."

Identifies Godfrey

She identified Godfrey as the man who approached her.

"What happened then?" asked Shafer.

"He told me to get down and I said 'No,'" she replied. "He opened the door and knocked me."

"What did he hit you with?"

"A rock."

She said Godfrey then threw her nine-month-old son in the rear seat and dragged her out of the automobile.

She said that when they reached a spot deep in the dumping area, he hit her again. She said she fainted.

Stays Until 4 A.M.

She said they stayed there from around 11:30 p.m. until 4 a.m.

"How did you finally get away?" asked Shafer.

"He went to sleep and I ran away."

Lt. Dick Hemingway of the Midland police force testified as the trial opened that the woman, accompanied by her husband, had come to the police station after the alleged attack.

He said she was dressed only in a torn slip and when they returned to the dumping ground, he found Godfrey, asleep on the ground, the woman's clothing scattered around him.

The woman's husband also took the stand to tell of the frantic search for his wife when he returned to their automobile and discovered her missing.

Picture Of Month For May Displayed In First National Bank
The First National Bank's "Picture of the Month" for May went on display Tuesday in the banking rooms of the financial institution.
The painting, "View Near Arundel," by Henry Jutsum, is said to be one of the most beautiful and most valuable to be shown in the "Picture of the Month" series.
The artist, born in London in 1816, ranks high in the landscape art of nineteenth century Britain. Jutsum is noted for the fine quality of his canvases. "View Near Arundel" is a splendid example of his artistic vision.
Jutsum first exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1836. A few years later he turned his attention to watercolor painting, but withdrew from it in 1847, from which time he painted almost exclusively in oil. He died in London in 1869.
Residents of Midland and area cities are invited to see and study the painting any day this month during regular banking hours.

DRUNKEN FARMER SHOTS WIFE, SON
LAYTON, UTAH. —(AP)— A 49-year-old farmer, choking with tear gas, surrendered to police early Tuesday after a two-hour gun battle from his farm house barricade.
Sheriff Leroy Day said the farmer, Milton Nelson, had shot and wounded both his wife, Maureen, and son, Lloyd, 13; in a drunken argument that preceded the gun fight with police.
Lloyd suffered only superficial wounds.
Mrs. Nelson was taken to a hospital at Ogden, 18 miles to the north. Her wound was described as serious.
Nelson was jailed at Ogden. Day said charges would be filed later.

Land Is Deeded For Child's Camp Of Lions Clubs

KERRVILLE — Jack Wiech of Brownsville, president of the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, announced Tuesday that the Federal government has issued that organization a deed conveying title to 804 acres of land in Kerr County, near Legion.

This acreage will be used as a site by the Lions for the Melvin Jones Camp for crippled children of Texas. The land is part of a tract on which a veterans hospital is located.

Texas Lions already have contributed more than $100,000 toward establishment of the camp. Construction will start as soon as funds to meet minimum building needs are available. Final plans call for a plant of six bunk houses, swimming pool, auditorium, crafts shop, administration building, playgrounds and roads, at an estimated cost of $250,000.

Butter made from pasteurized sweet cream has the best keeping qualities.

NAVY BAND'S CORNET SOLOISTS—Robert Baird, Richard Myers and Richard Harl are the cornet soloists with the United States Navy Band, which will be presented in afternoon and night concerts Thursday in the Midland High School Auditorium. The "world's finest" band is appearing here under the auspices of the Midland Lions Club.

U. S. Navy Band Expected To Attract Large Crowds Here

The United States Navy Band, internationally known as "the world's finest," is expected to attract overflow crowds Thursday when it is presented in afternoon and night concerts in the Midland High School Auditorium. The band is expected to be in Midland for the two concerts. Lions Club officials termed the band's appearance here a musical treat for West Texans, and invited and urged Permian Basin Empire residents to attend the concerts here.

The matinee concert will be devoted to popular music, jazz classics and novelties which are meant to be sheer fun for the student audience. The latest songs from the current Hit Parade program will be a specialty.

The night program is one which Commander Brendler, the band conductor, has selected with the view of pleasing genuine music lovers of all ages. To make it such a program, he worked and reworked it on a large chart in his office for months before making a final, complete decision.

It has variety, but all the selections for the night program have one description: "Great music, played by a great band."

Reserve seat tickets went on sale Monday at Tailorline, Inc., with an exceptionally fast sale reported. Tickets also may be obtained from Lions Club members or at the Chamber of Commerce. Student tickets are on sale at all schools.

The United States Navy Band is conducted by Lt. Cmdr. Charles Brindler. He conducts the band from memory without musical score. Gib Sandefer, a former West Texas resident, is the tour director.

Special Entertainment
The band members will be entertained while here by the Midland County Sheriff's Posse. The musicians are expected to arrive in special buses about noon Thursday. The band is on its annual nationwide Spring concert tour.

Many out-of-city visitors and several bands from area cities are expected to be in Midland for the two concerts. Lions Club officials termed the band's appearance here a musical treat for West Texans, and invited and urged Permian Basin Empire residents to attend the concerts here.

The matinee concert will be devoted to popular music, jazz classics and novelties which are meant to be sheer fun for the student audience. The latest songs from the current Hit Parade program will be a specialty.

FARMER AT FOURTEEN—Fred Winkhofer, 14, of Parsons, Kan., has leased a parcel of land from the M.K.T. Railroad and is farming it himself. He is the youngest farmer ever to lease land from the railroad. Fred is seen teaching his team of mules, Dave and Grandpa, to pull a plow.

Psychology Mixed With Marine Eggs

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA—The mere mention of dehydrated food seems to have an annoying effect on Marines. But Master Sgt. John H. Riggs mixes a little practical psychology with careful preparation and a dissenting note is rarely sounded about breakfast served to the First Battalion of the 7th Marines.

The solution: When Marines have fresh eggs on the morning menu, Riggs saves the shells. Then, on succeeding days when the dehydrated eggs are served, the cooks merely scatter the real shells in the trash dump. Pronto, the troops leap to the conclusion that they are having fresh scrambled eggs. "Sometimes we sprinkle a few shells into the dehydrated eggs to be really sure of the effect," Riggs admits.

George Washington was born in Virginia, at that time a British colony.

Lieutenant Wants Salute Abolished

PRAGUE—(AP)—Soldiers in the Czechoslovak army should stop bowing to their officers in the old Austro-Hungarian manner, says a letter published in the army newspaper "Obrana Lidu."

The writer, Karel Guldán, is a second lieutenant—a rank known in armies for its insistence, that soldiers salute. He said some enlisted men, reporting for duty, bow like "a member of the Sokol (athletic movement) doing his exercises."

Reds Infiltrate India Dockworkers

NEW DELHI—(AP)—Communist infiltration has been discovered in both the Calcutta Dock Workers Union and the Calcutta Seamen's Union, India's transport minister told a questioner in parliament here.

The labor groups are under socialist leadership at the present time. A third organization, the Calcutta Dockers Union, is affiliated with the government-sponsored Indian National Trade Union Congress.

After 35 Years, Same Old Story

You can say that again, and after 35 years:

"Not a vacant house in Midland." So said the headlines in The Reporter-Telegram in 1916.

The type could come close to being of use in 1951.

Here's what Editor C. C. Watson had to say in 1916:

"Not a vacant house in Midland. Rather a remarkable statement to be made of any town. There is not a vacant residence to be had in all Midland; or if so, the owner don't want it occupied."

"Daily we receive inquiry for rent property. Does it not appeal to you, that here is a good investment? Rent property commands a good price. Hundreds of new homes are needed."

"But here is the secret of the lack: most Midland people own their own homes. Rent income does not appeal to them. Midland people, immensely wealthy as a rule, are looking for larger profits."

"What rent houses there are come by accident, rather than for an intended investment."

HADACOL

HERE'S WHAT THEY ARE SAYING FROM COAST TO COAST

HADACOL Relieves The Cause of Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-Down Conditions, Poor Appetite and Nervousness When Due to a Deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

E. A. Drumwright, 313 Main St., Nashville, Tenn., says this about HADACOL: "I feel I should write you and tell you what HADACOL has done for me. I was run-down and not able to work and had no ambition. All I wanted to do was sleep. I took HADACOL and went to work and am feeling fine and have a good appetite, and sleep good. I can recommend HADACOL to anyone in a run-down condition. I am 68 years old and have taken six bottles."

HADACOL is so economical—only $1.25 for trial size.

Mrs. Letha Fitzpatrick, 401 E. Elm St., Scottsville, Ky.: "I couldn't sleep. I didn't have any appetite and wasn't able to do anything. Then I heard and read about HADACOL and what it had done for others. I decided to give it a trial. I have taken several bottles and I can truthfully say it has really helped me. I feel so much better. I have a lot more strength. I can eat now and I'm gaining weight. I do my work, work in my flowers, also in the garden. Now I'm putting up my fruit and vegetables. I can't thank HADACOL enough for what it's done for me."

Mrs. Joe Bukowski, 921 Sanborn St., Ottumwa, Iowa: "Before I had HADACOL it was nearly impossible for me to do my housework. I was weak, nervous, didn't sleep well, and lacked an appetite. But thanks to regular use of HADACOL, I now do all my housework, sleep well, and have a good appetite. I don't have that tired-out feeling. I'm really 100 per cent better since taking HADACOL."

Mrs. Ardena Longaker, Rt. 5, Meadowbrook Rd., North Kansas City, Mo.: "I am a minister's wife and am 39 years old. Two years ago I had an operation and just had a hard time getting back my energy. I was run-down, lost weight, and had no appetite at all. I'm on my fifth bottle now and am amazed at the results. I want to eat all the time now. Most of all, I'm glad to say, I've gained several pounds. HADACOL is so economical I believe almost anyone can afford it, and I do recommend it to my friends."

Mrs. Thomas Fanning, Francisco, Ala., says about her daughter, Alva: "I just want to say a few words about HADACOL. I can't praise it enough for what it has done for my little seven-year-old girl. She was weak and pale, and did not eat very much. So, I decided to try HADACOL. Now, she eats more and has a better color and has gained weight. My friends and neighbors all are talking about her looking so much better. I can't say enough for it. I recommend it to my friends and neighbors or anybody. I will know from now on what to get when any of my family needs help."

Mrs. Walter Shields, Hornsbyville, Va., says about her young son: "I have a little boy who had stomach distress every time he went riding in a car. Nothing did him any good. I heard about HADACOL and have given him two bottles. He doesn't suffer from his stomach any more."

HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great with the first few bottles you take or your money back.

Frank W. Focke, 531 Apache, Houston, Texas: "I was so run-down and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL."

Mrs. Anne Franks, 434 West Seven St., Newport, Ky.: "As a constant user of HADACOL—and am on my fourth bottle—I would not hesitate to acclaim it the best. I was so run-down I could hardly do my work. And that is important as I do a man's job in a shoe factory. I felt that I did not have enough energy to lift my hands. I felt so let-down everything annoyed me. But since I've taken my first bottle, I've been helped so much that now I'm up and ready and anxious to get my work done and am not tired, but am able to do my housework. I cannot praise HADACOL and its makers enough."

Mrs. Anna M. Dehlendorf, 631 E. Pope St., St. Louis 15, Mo.: "I have been a user of HADACOL for six months, and feel fine again. I was run-down. I am 60 years old, and do housework, laundry by the day for different parties, and I also do baby sitting in the evening. Before I started taking HADACOL, I was underweight—I only weighed 97 pounds. Now my weight is 135 pounds. I eat good, sleep good, and feel good."

Mrs. LaRue Unshee, Sennemin, Illinois: "My son Gary is four years old, and will be five in July. His grandfather, Mr. J. W. Simmons, who lives with us, was taking HADACOL and it helped him. We had been having so much trouble getting Gary to eat. It seemed as if it would take the entire family to coax him to eat. After we started giving him HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He will eat three hearty meals a day, gets up in the morning all set for a big breakfast. HADACOL has certainly helped Gary's appetite."

Mrs. Margaret Gordon, 113 Forest St., Clover, S. Car.: "I didn't have the energy to do anything, and I couldn't sleep at night. I had gas pains all the time. So many friends told me how it had helped them, so I decided to try HADACOL. I have taken three bottles, and am on my fourth bottle. I can't express my gladness for all that it has done for me. Now, I can sleep well at night, and I work. I praise HADACOL very much. I will not do without HADACOL anymore. It has done wonders for me. I can eat anything I wish now, and it doesn't hurt me any more. I am 26 years of age."

HOW TO FILL OUT FORM—This is the new social security tax return blank for reporting wages of household workers. First reports using these special envelope forms are due by... Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa Social Security office, said that every household worker who meets the 24-day—$50 test is covered by the social security law. This test is explained in a booklet "Do You Have a Maid" which may be obtained at any social security office, post office, or office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

New Social Security Legislation Brings New Group Into Setup

Do you have a maid, laundress, cook, chauffeur or gardener? If you have, the new social security law may concern you. The new Federal social security law brings some household workers into the old-age and survivors insurance system. Who are household workers? They are maids, laundresses, housekeepers, cooks, nursemaids, gardeners, furnace men, handymen, valets, footmen, grooms, chauffeurs, practical nurses. (However, people who do household work on a farm are protected under a different provision of the new law.) Is your maid, cook or laundress included? It depends on how often she works for you and how much you pay her. In general, the new law applies only to regularly employed household workers and not to people who work for you now and then.

The Social Security office at Odessa has had many inquiries in the last few weeks about what kind of domestic employees should be reported on the quarterly social security tax return, according to Jack Calvert, manager.

Required To Report

Any domestic employee that works in or around the private home for one home owner any part of 24 days or more during a calendar quarter, and the home owner pays that domestic employee $50 or more in cash wages, is required to be reported by the home owner.

For example, if you had a maid, laundress, cook, chauffeur, gardener, or any other domestic employee, that worked any part of 24 or more days during January, February, and March of this year, and paid that employee $50 or more during that three-month period, then you should report that employ on the special household report form, or on the regular business type quarterly tax return form if you are in business for yourself.

A home owner who would like further information on the coverage of domestic employees, may get in touch with the office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, third floor of the Midland County Courthouse, or get in touch with a representative of the Odessa Social Security office any Thursday morning at the Texas Employment Commission, 200 East Texas Street, or write to the Social Security Administration in Odessa. A free booklet, "Do You Have a Maid?" will be furnished to anyone requesting a copy.

The home owner who had a domestic employee who worked part of 24 or more days during the first three months of this year, and paid them $50 or more in cash wages, and who has not applied for the special household report form, may obtain this form from the local office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Calvert said.

Bronchitis And Asthma Need Swift Treatment

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Several people have written me to say they were much confused about the difference between bronchitis and asthma. This is not at all surprising. Bronchitis is a condition in which the bronchial tubes which carry air to the lungs are inflamed.

The most common cause of this inflammation is infection with germs, but irritating gases or other substances also may produce bronchitis. Cough is the most prominent symptom; the inflammation can be acute or chronic.

Asthma is a condition in which attacks of shortness of breath occur from time to time and there is wheezing in the chest and some cough. Asthma may develop along with a bronchitis as a result of irritation of the bronchial tubes. It also occurs in some people who are highly sensitive to foreign proteins (people who are allergic). It develops likewise in some cases of heart disease.

In most cases of asthma or bronchitis the possible benefits of a change in climate are hard to anticipate. What will help one person may make another worse, and no one can tell in advance what will happen in any particular climate.

There are some, however, who are helped by living in Florida, Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, or Colorado. I have heard of some who got better merely by moving within a few miles of an ocean or lake.

The only way to tell is to try, and since good results cannot be guaranteed in advance it is best to make no permanent plans for change of residence until a trial of at least several weeks indicates that the new climate will bring real improvement.

In both these disorders, which may or may not occur together, the important problem is to try to trace the cause to its source and to use appropriate treatment as promptly as possible. This often is not easy as many unfortunate victims can testify. But there are many, too, who have had bronchitis or asthma and have completely recovered.

Another question that is brought up about both conditions is whether a change of climate will do any good. This is something that has to be decided for each individual.

A person with asthma, for example, who is sensitive to some particular plant pollen, would be expected to benefit by going to some region where this pollen did not exist. This desired result may happen, but sometimes a new sensitivity to some other substance can spoil this effect.

Pole 'N Line Anglers Are Predominant

By BOB BRISTER

ATHENS TEXAS —P— There are a lot of fishermen, from bent pin dabblers to deep sea trawlers—but the biggest group from Maine to Mexico are the pole 'n liners.

The man who turns up his puristic nose at anything but the dainties of dry flies today probably started out with the cane pole and a cob of worms. And he probably caught fish.

Never let it be said that pole fishing, as the expert does it is a lazy man's sport. It is neither crude nor easy, requiring skill and experience just as any other type of successful fishing. And it pays off.

The fresh water "pole" fisherman goes out in quest of practically every fish inhabiting inland waters, but the majority try for bass, bluegill, and catfish—three of the hardest fighting species of all.

If he knows how it's done, he'll bring home meat for the skillet—and a crispy-fried channel cat or bream is fit fare for a king.

Are Many Types

There are about as many types of pole-and-line fishing as there are sections of the country. Different methods are adapted to the different types of water. And the fishermen themselves differ. Some prefer to sit in one spot for hours, waiting on providence. Others, usually the experts of their clan, rove the banks and brushpiles.

The apex of pole fishing can be found in use among the old-timers of Eastern Texas and Louisiana. It's called doodling or "punching" or fifty other local names. But in those sections, by any name, it's considered the common-sense way to catch fish.

With one man paddling and the other fishing, these swamp and marsh fishermen go out in pairs, covering their territory as it should be covered.

The paddler eases his mate along slowly and silently, as a minnow or artificial fly moves restlessly from one cypress knee to the next, seeking the dark spots and dabbling over the holes in the lily beds. There is no noise, no quick movement—and some of the biggest bass on record have fallen to the skill of the man with the pole.

Of course, in recent years, the trend has been away from the pole and line—toward casting, fly-fishing and spinning. "Sport" fishing is taking over, and a man's fishing prowess is often measured by the number of rods and reels he owns.

But never cast remarks about the humble pole fishermen, perched upon a log—until you've seen his stringer.

Drunk Pigeons Easy Prey, He Declares

SYDNEY —(P)— The Supervisor of Parks and Gardens at Newcastle plans to rid the city of pigeons by getting them drunk. All the conventional methods have failed, he says.

The supervisor, M. Sivert, told a reporter: "The pigeons' attacks on poppy and pansy plants in our parks have frustrated our efforts to beautify the city for the jubilee celebrations. Every night I'm going to place dishes of rum-soaked wheat in all the parks.

"A pigeon with a hangover and the staggers should be an easy victim for early morning catchers," he said.

he would run and dive on the feather real quick before the wind should blow it away. What fun it would be to see him do it! Mugwump waited up in the tree. Featherman came closer and closer.

Oh, but who was that coming the other way from up the Elephant Path? Long white whiskers. Long green coat. Tall hat with a feather in it. Why, it must be another Featherman. But Mugwump could see them both right now. They couldn't see each other yet because of the bushes. But there they came. They were going to bump together ker-feather!

Bump ker-feather!

There! They had bumped together all right. And there they stood for a second to look at each other with great surprise. They were two Feathermen who looked exactly alike. Long white whiskers. Long green coats. Tall hats with feathers in them.

"Oh, feathers, feathers!" said Featherman. He started to grab away the feather from the other Featherman's hat.

"Stop! Stop!" said the other Featherman. He said he was really not a Featherman at all. He was a Flowerman, and the feather in his hat was not a feather, but really a very unusual flower. Flowerman was Featherman's brother who had been away a long time. The brothers shook hands and laughed together for joy that they had found each other again, and all was happy as happy could be, all on a very happy day. Happy day!

It's Hard Work—But Pleasant Duty Being Kilgore Rangerette

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
KILGORE—Come Fall, and the Kilgore Rangerettes, whose short skirts, white boots, feminine charms and precision drills have made them nationally famous, will cavort far and wide for the twelfth year.

It's quite different from what Gussie Nell Davis had in mind when she organized the Kilgore College unit in September, 1940.

"We started the Rangerettes as a local proposition—to give color to our football games and to attract girls to Kilgore College," she says.

But the Rangerettes caught on immediately. Came the war and they went into bond selling and other activities. They became known everywhere and in 1946 they paraded in the Rose Bowl. That brought on a lot of travel and a world of publicity for this oil-rich town in deep East Texas.

They Get Around

The Rangerettes have been in the Sugar Bowl, the Cotton Bowl, at big conventions, at rodeos and what have you.

Not a day passes but at least one request comes in for their appearance somewhere. Some days there will be a dozen. They'll go almost anywhere. All they ask is that their expenses be guaranteed.

"We get so much pleasure out of it we wouldn't want to be paid," said Miss Davis.

There are 53 girls in the Rangerettes—24 in the "line" and five officers. The group is not allowed to get any larger although the pressure is awful.

"There's crying and arguing and the girls and even their parents work on the president of the college," Miss Davis explains. "But we have a plan that is absolutely fool proof. The girls get in through ability and good looks only."

Must Be Pretty

Of course, they must be pretty and have well-rounded figures, but they must have intelligence too, to march with the Rangerettes. Each must have a "C" average in her studies and no girl is allowed in the Rangerettes for more than two years.

They go to all athletic contests of the college unless they are so far away the cost is excessive and they can't make the trip in a single day. The college pays expenses of these trips.

Miss Davis, who answers to the name of Gussie, was lured away from Greenville High School in 1939 by B. E. Masters, president of Kilgore College. At Greenville she had won renown with a girls pep squad called the Flaming Flashes. Dr. Masters thought the ratio of six boys to one girl at Kilgore College was too large. He felt that an organization such as the Flaming Flashes would attract more girl students. It certainly did. Now there are four boys to one girl.

For five months Gussie worked on the type uniform that would be used. Earl Ford, Jr., an architect, painted a picture of the model Rangerette. It is still required study for new members.

White Parade Boots

Caunlets and belts came from Wichita Falls, hats from Dallas, blue skirts and red blouses from Fort Worth and from Chicago came especially designed white parade boots.

Gussie Nell got L. N. Crim, an oil man, theater owner and fireworks hobbyist to sponsor the Rangerettes. She borrowed Knox Lamb, Crim Kilgore theater manager, to make a huge fireworks set, and on the night of the first football game in 1940, the Rangerettes marched.

Miss Davis was as nervous as a kitten as the fireworks display came on. It spelled out "Rangerettes" in three colors. Then the field lights were turned on and the girls went through their tricky routine. The way the crowd whooped, Gussie Nell knew Kilgore College had hit the jackpot.

It's a pleasure, but it's tough, too, to be a member of the Rangerettes. For instance, one routine, done with pompoms, call for 40 different steps in flawless unison. The girls are dressed in red, white, and blue; the officers in white.

In bad weather they come out with plastic umbrellas to the music of "I Don't Care if the Sun Don't Shine" and in midfield put on short plastic raincoats, do their dance and wind up in a huddle under a big ball made of their umrellas. The field lights go off and the girls turn on flashlights.

Each year the girls learn about 15 different routines. Their current hit is the Charleston, performed for the first time in the Cotton Bowl last January 1.

There are usually about 150 girls trying for the 20 or 30 vacancies created each year by graduation and marriage. Tryouts are held the second and third nights of registration and are open to the public. Miss Davis wants to find out quickly which girls cannot perform before an unfamiliar audience.

After the "line" is filled, tryouts are held for the five officer positions. The audience selects these and from them Miss Davis makes her own choice—she picks the captain.

This year the captain is Judy Meaden of Dallas. She also was captain last year. She is the only girl ever to hold this position twice. The girls are taught figure control

Keep Your Temper, Advises Expert In Public Relations

Don't use big words. People will only think you're showing off. Don't, under any circumstance, lose your temper.

These are pointers in public relations as taught by S. H. Womack, of the University of Texas.

For instance, he says, if a customer comes into your store and disputes everything you say, look him straight in the eye and put all the enthusiasm you can into your words. But don't lose your temper.

Womack stresses in his classes the importance of distinct speech and cautions against the use of big or unfamiliar words. "Indistinctness of speech," he says, "is caused by the 'immovable jaw,' the 'idle tongue,' or 'lasy lips,' or 'too much speed.'"

Womack is a supervisory training specialist of the Extension Division of the university and has just concluded a 16-hour course here in public relations for the employees of the Midland Hardware and Furniture Company.

More than 38 employees of the store received certificates after completing the course.

and development, posture improvement and there is heavy emphasis on poise.

David Haden is choreographer for the Rangerettes. He has been responsible for their dance routines for the past nine years.

Except for death in the family, there are no excuses for absence from the daily noon rehearsal.

Miss Davis says the Rangerettes are good in the class room. "We have a dozen to twenty Phi Beta Kappas every year," she proudly relates.

Never Any Trouble

And there is never any trouble—no petty jealousies, no back biting. "I just don't put up with it," says Miss Davis.

"The only trouble I have is getting the girls away from the boys for practice. Hand-holding is quite popular. It really isn't trouble though; it makes the girls happy, the boys like it, and a happy girl is a better performer."

In the off season—football season, that is—the girls are busy with programs. The type of entertainment is more of the floor show variety, unless it's a rodeo performance or something where all 53 Rangerettes appear at one time.

"Gentlemen, we're approaching a crisis! We'll soon have more government employes than taxpayers!"

Boom In Contract Awards Continue Despite Shortage

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Twin bugaboos of material shortages and federal restrictions showed some actual construction in Texas as Spring began, but a boom continued in contract awards.

Ernest L. Tutt, director of the Dallas regional office of the National Production Authority, said his office was turning down about half the building applications it processed.

Simultaneously, certificates of necessity were awarded to firms wanting to build millions of dollars worth of plants, geared to the defense industry, in the state. The certificates went to plants and developments or expansions ranging from a $78,365,273 aluminum plant at Corpus Christi to a $25,000 scrap iron job at Houston.

Tutt said his regional NPA office at Dallas processed building applications only for construction costing less than $1,000,000 or involving 50 tons or less of steel. Applications for larger projects are forwarded to Washington.

Meanwhile, Texas building contract awards kept pace with 1950, the state's first billion-dollar construction year. Defense construction zoomed the cumulative total in the third week in April to the $451,991,433 mark.

Contractors thought, however, the pace of building would be much faster if shortages and federal restrictions did not interfere. Amusement projects, for instance, were banned.

Most of the Texas plants in the DPA list were for chemical manufacture and petroleum products, both highly rated defense items.

Restrictions Blamed

Dallas contractors blamed restrictions and shortages when permits there fell below $2,000,000 for the third consecutive week. They said seven of 10 Dallas school projects would be delayed beyond the Fall opening of school due to shortages of steel and tile.

Delays could come in school construction at Orange, Supt. C. O. Chandler said, by "unexpected" shortages. But Chandler added most materials in short supply had been ordered far enough in advance to avoid delays. Building permits in Orange were about 30 per cent under 1950 figures on April 1.

Building permits were about 50 per cent off in Denton, but most building was on schedule with no delays foreseen. The City of Denton, however, was having trouble getting steel plate for a 2,000,000-gallon water storage tank.

North Texas State College had two dormitories and two classroom buildings going up. Texas State College for Women was putting finishing touches on two big buildings, classroom and dormitory.

Plumbing fixtures undelivered slowed work on a $940,000 remodeling job at Mercy Hospital in Brownsville. Steel doors, aluminum window sashes, screens, colored tile and steel lockers slowed work on a
