Barnhart's Wildcat In NE Upton Flows Oil From Spraberry

Paul Barnhart of Houston No. 1 V. F. Tippet, Northeast Upton County wildcat 30 miles northeast of Rankin, flowed 73.04 barrels of clean oil in four hours through open two-inch tubing after hydratracing the open hole section with 2,500 gallons.

Operator then reduced the choke to a one-half-inch opening and flowed 25 barrels of oil in one hour.

Will Complete

Flowing tubing pressure was 125 pounds. There was no water. The well is now shut in to make permanent connections to tanks and will then complete as a discovery from the Spraberry.

Top of the Spraberry sand is at 1,189 feet. Elevation is 2,740 feet. Seven-inch casing is cemented at 7,090 feet and total depth is 7,333 feet.

This prospective new field opener is five miles northeast of the nearest completed oil wells from the Spraberry pay in the Pembroke field.

Location is 668.3 feet from east and 668.3 feet from north lines of section 46, block 38, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Core Bleeding Oil Is Pulled From Midland Spraberry Prospect

Twenty-three feet of fractured shale and 21 feet of fractured sand which was bleeding oil and gas were recovered on a core from 8,197 to 8,241 feet in the lower Spraberry in Los Nietos Company of Midland No. 1 Joe Youngblood, wildcat in South-Central Midland County.

Operator likely will run a drill-stem test after a core now being cut is pulled out.

Interested observers think the section now being penetrated offers the best possibilities of production of any so far cut in this field.

A core in the top of the Spraberry had good shows of oil, but when the section was drilled and tested water developed.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 46, block 29, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Hall Of Midland Is To Drill Deep Yoakum Wildcat

G. E. Hall of Midland has staked location for No. 1 Catherine O. H. Jenkins as a new wildcat in Northwest Yoakum County.

The prospect is to be 660 feet from south and west lines of section 44, block D, John H. Gibson survey and 15 miles northwest of Plains.

Rotary tools will be used in drilling to 12,500 feet to test the Devonian. Operations will begin immediately.

Phillips To Explore Spraberry Zone At E-C Martin Project

Phillips Petroleum Company has spotted a wildcat in East-Central Martin County as its No. 1-A Clinton.

The wildcat will be 664 feet from south and 662 feet from west lines of southeast quarter of section 10, block 25, T-1-S, T&P survey and five miles northeast of Stanton.

Contract depth will be 8,000 feet to test the Spraberry sand pay with rotary tools.

Glasscock Extender To Tex-Harvey Field Finishes As Pumper

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Bertie Boone, wildcat in Northeast Glasscock County was completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 108 barrels of 35.8-gravity oil, plus four per cent water. Production is from the section at 6,990 to 7,160 feet, plugged back depth. That zone was hydratraced.

The 24-hour potential figure was calculated from a 20-hour test which made 90 barrels of oil plus four per cent water, on the pump. The production is from the Spraberry sand.

The wildcat is one and one-quarter miles east of the north side of the Tex-Harvey field and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 45, block 36, T&P survey, T-5-S.

Mobs Riot In Panama City Streets

PANAMA, PANAMA—(AP)—Shooting and mob attacks broke out in this capital Wednesday during a general strike against the president which paralyzed the whole tense city.

The radio station which has been supporting President Arnulfo Arias was attacked by a mob. Eye-witnesses said equipment was destroyed.

The attack, the witness said, was made under fire from the radio station in which some persons were wounded. Police went into action to round up persons carrying firearms, and at the same time trucks loaded with supporters of Arias began arriving in the city from outlying areas. They rode government trucks.

Show Windows Smashed

The general strike followed the president's switching of constituencies in a move to give himself broad powers against what he called the threat of Communist subversion in this country, a vital link in the Western world's defense system because of the location here of the Panama Canal.

President Arias and the police army which put him in power appeared on the verge of an open break, although both factions expressed hope of averting bloodshed.

The general strike was 100 per cent effective.

Before daybreak the show windows of seven Central Avenue business establishments were smashed. Early in the day buses which attempted to make their runs were overturned by crowds demonstrating against the president.

There were reports of a shooting incident at Santa Ana Plaza, without casualties.

Three McCamey City Employees Resign Positions

MCCAMEY—Tuesday was "all-resignation" night at the regular meeting of the McCamey City Council.

The council accepted the resignation of Bob Davis, city secretary; Jim Faircloth, bookkeeper, and Malcolm Reimers, gas and electrical inspector for the city.

Davis, who had been city secretary since Oct. 15, 1950, told the council he had accepted a "better paying" position with the Columbia Securities Company, a bonding firm, and will open regional offices for the firm in Wichita Falls. His resignation will be effective June 15.

Davis came to McCamey from Pecos, where he served as city secretary.

Faircloth, whose resignation will take effect June 15, did not divulge his reason for resigning or his future plans.

Reimers said he was resigning because of the press of other work. The council immediately set in motion steps to obtain replacements at the earliest possible time.

North Enders Ask Facts On Paving Status

Why did contractors refuse to bid last month on a 122-block city paving project? Did one of the contractors who handled the last major project "take the cream and leave the skimmed milk" in refusing to bid? Is city engineering responsible for the reluctance of the contractors to submit bids? These questions were asked Tuesday night of the City Council.

And, for more than an hour, City Manager W. H. Oswalt tried to answer them to the satisfaction of a delegation of home owners in the North section of the city.

"When we were asked to vote a bond issue last fall," said John Fletcher, 1403 North Loraine Street, spokesman for the group, "we got letters from Mr. Oswalt saying if we voted the bonds we could get paving right away."

"Now, you've advertised for bids and no bids have been received. We think we ought to know why. Surely the contractors have a legitimate reason. Why didn't we get bids?"

Oswalt patiently began reviewing the paving situation in Midland, beginning with a 900-block project for which bonds were voted in 1947. He explained that engineering by a private concern took two years and the first paving went down in 1949.

Last November, additional bonds were voted, and the city began doing its own engineering work on the paving projects.

He explained the method used in financing the paving here. Under this method, the home owner pays 90 per cent of the cost on an assessment basis but the "paper" has to be handled by the contractor himself or arranged by him to be handled by a bank or insurance company.

How Near Is 'The Veige?' 60 Days, Says City Manager

Home owners in the Gardens Addition of Midland are "on the verge" of getting water and sewer lines.

Pat Fletcher, one of the home owners, appeared before City Council Tuesday night to find out when such services would be extended to him.

"We've been in the city a year and five months," he said, "and we've seen sewer additions get their water and sewers and we still don't have them."

"We just can't understand why," Oswalt, explaining the technical aspects of extending the lines, said the area was "on the verge" of getting the services.

"What we want to know is," replied Fletcher, "how near the verge are we?"

Oswalt said the lines would be available to them, probably within two months.

Architects Chosen For New Buildings; Teachers' Pay Hiked

The Board of Education of the Midland Independent School District Tuesday night selected architectural firms for two new school structures and an addition to another.

It chose the firm of Wilson and Patterson of Fort Worth for the new junior high building and selected the firm of Avery, Pierce and Norris of Midland for a new elementary school building. Architects for the addition to South Elementary will be the firm of Black and Neuhardt of Midland.

The architectural firms will be asked to proceed immediately with plans for the building so construction can be started as soon as possible.

The new construction recently was sanctioned by Midland voters in a called bond election. Bonds voted amounted to $1,500,000.

Also at the Tuesday night meeting, the board announced bids will be accepted until 5 p.m. June 1 for construction of an addition to the Carver School. Wyatt C. Wanted To See Wheels Go 'Round

A gray-haired woman sat through four hours of the City Council meeting Tuesday night without saying a word.

"Do you have some business to bring before this Council," Mayor Perry Pickett finally asked in his most polite voice.

"No, indeed," she answered, sweetly. "I just want to see the people operate whom I voted for."

MUCH ADO ABOUT ROVER—SPCA Asks City Council For Dog Law Revisions

The city was asked Tuesday night to prohibit specifically the destruction of any stray dogs "unless declared by a veterinarian to be incurably sick or incurably vicious."

That was one of the main revisions suggested to the City Council by a delegation from the Midland Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Other proposed changes included: Enforcement of the ordinance by the postmaster; "under the supervision of the SPCA"; "Make it unlawful, with a maximum fine of $200, for any person

Relaxation Called Public Enemy No. 1

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Wednesday declared the country's worst enemy is neither foreign aggression nor inflation at home—"it is relaxation."

Addressing 600 businessmen members of the Interior Department's Defense Advisory Council, Truman said price and wage controls will be needed "for the next two or three years at least."

Departing from his prepared text in an urgent appeal to industry against any letup in the defense effort, the President went on:

Allies Stage Biggest Air Raid Of War

TOKYO—(AP)—More than 300 Allied planes smashed a Red airfield on the Korea-Manchuria border Wednesday to prevent an expected Communist aerial offensive.

It was the biggest raid of the war. But first official reports didn't look like much. The Fifth Air Force said two Red planes were damaged in the air, two were destroyed and one was damaged on the ground.

Results of the thundering raid were screened by flames and smoke. Returning pilots said 10 square miles were blanketed by smoke and flames.

The target was Sinuiju Airfield, where 70 to 100 Red planes had been spotted on the ground.

Blasting, Burning

The attack was made by 312 jets and fighter-bombers. They came from every United Nations airfield in Korea. For half an hour Wednesday afternoon, they blasted and burned the airfield in Northwestern Korea.

Eighty Russian-type jet fighters were parked on an airfield at Antung, Manchuria, across the Yalu River from Sinuiju.

Fifty rose. But Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said only 13 crossed the Yalu. A few flights flared.

However, Lt. Robert Dixon, Newton, Iowa, said the Red jets were out in strength.

Pint-Size Cool Front Stirrs Panhandle Dust

By The Associated Press

Texas' weather was another picture of contrast Wednesday—damp and muggy in the eastern half, mostly clear with some blowing dust in the west.

A junior-sized cool front moved through the Panhandle. Although it didn't affect temperatures much, it was expected to stir up a few light showers.

Early morning fog covered the upper coast, extending as far inland as Lufkin. In North-Central Texas, some light rain and drizzle fell. Brownsville, in deep South Texas, had bright sunshine.

Brisk northerly winds accompanied the cool front as it pushed into the Panhandle. Dillard had a blowing dust. There also was a brown haze in scattered sections below the front as southerly winds reached as high as 35 miles per hour.

Temperatures dropped down into the 60's in the Panhandle during the night. Dillard had a low of 52 and Amarillo 55. The highest minimum was 71 at Galveston.

Louis Bartha Is New Secretary Of Midland Fair, Inc.

Louis A. Bartha, Midland accountant, has been named secretary-treasurer of Midland Fair, Inc., sponsor of the World Championship Midland Rodeo, President Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., announced Wednesday.

Bartha succeeds J. Homer Epley, veteran secretary-treasurer of the fair association, who resigned recently because of ill health. Epley had held the position since 1936, the year after the association was organized. He is one of the best-known rodeo officials in West Texas.

A Midland resident for several years, Bartha is associated with C. V. (Cap) Lyman, oil operator, and maintains offices in Room 424, Hotel Scharbauer. He first came to Midland in January, 1942, as a bombardier cadet at the Midland Army Air Field, graduating with the bombardier school's first class. After serving overseas, Bartha returned to Midland and has been here ever since.

He now is engaged in arranging details for staging the 17th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, May 30-June 3.

CAB Orders End Of Angelo-Dallas Flight By Pioneer

The Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered Pioneer Air Lines to suspend service on its San Angelo-Fort Worth-Dallas flight (Route 64) within 30 days, according to information received Wednesday by Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing.

The order denied applications filed by the airline and Texas cities, including Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Dallas and Fort Worth, that the case be reconsidered.

The Midland Chamber of Commerce had asked the CAB to reconsider the order since suspension of the San Angelo-Fort Worth-Dallas flight may affect Pioneer's Midland-Houston flight.

Committee Gives Ancient Queen Of Nile A Black Eye

NOTTINGHAM, ENGLAND.—(AP)—Cleopatra, whose swaying hips and roving eyes excited a lot of men and lured a lot of women way back in 33 B. C., still was at it Wednesday.

The slow-eyed queen of the Nile, said a joint standing conference of women's organizations, was definitely not a good woman.

The former Egyptian queen, who charmed Julius Caesar and Mark Antony, among others, had been scheduled to quiver her way through a festival pageant—"Women Through the Ages"—which Nottingham will present this summer.

But Miss Emily Roseblade, chairman of the Nottingham women's group, said her organization didn't want Cleopatra parading alongside such heroines of history as Florence Nightingale.

"It might cause a controversy," Miss Roseblade announced. "Only good women should go in."

On the other hand, Nellie Smith, 48-year-old author and producer of the pageant, said the show should include bad women as well as good ones.

"I think we should show both sides," declared Miss Smith. "Cleopatra stays or I resign as writer and producer."

Miss Roseblade said she would take the matter up with her committee next week.

Will Elizabeth Scott Hold Martin & Lewis Spellbound?

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—A new comedy Cy Howard is grinding out for Hal Wallis is, according to the whispers, an out-and-out lampoon on David O. Selznick's "Spellbound." Elizabeth Scott is the woman psychiatrist and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are her patients. Liz, meanwhile, is denying that the tough-grained doll she's playing in "The Racket" has any relation to Virginia Hill. She told me:

"I've played a lot of husky damsels in my life and this one's quite a babe. But she's not Virginia Hill."

Elizabeth Taylor's pals are beginning to worry about her health. Pills, pills, pills.

They're squeezing all they can out of Lime, the character Orson Welles played in "The Third Man." Now it's a sequel, "The Return of Harry Lime."

Television is writing a "Mama Was a Movie Star" routine in the Dennis O'Keefe household. Before her retirement, Mrs. O'Keefe was Steffi Duna. Several of her old films are playing the video circuit and Dennis is beaming:

"It's changed everything. The grocery clerks are saying, 'How do you do, MRS. O'KEEFE' and our kids are bringing friends home to get HER autograph."

Aside to Sally Rand: "It's a Sally Rand" is a stock phrase with Hollywood auto salesmen. It means a bare automobile without any accessories.

Frank Fontaine's definition of anatomy: "What everyone has but looks better on Jane Russell. Hew's That, Lt.?"

Note from Lt. George P. Kelly in San Francisco: "Last January the officers of Fighter Squadron 783, Air Group 102, sent Marilyn Monroe a letter advising her that she had won our Queen Contest, and the girl we would most like to share the cockpit of our P4U Corsair fighter plane. We had planned a big party. After waiting 30 days we sent another letter. We are still waiting for a reply. No answer yet."

"Are the glamour girls just too busy these days to break down and accept such honors? We are leaving soon for Korea and are still in the market for a queen. Do you have any suggestions?"

I'm happy to inform Lieutenant Kelly that another Marilyn—Marylyn Maxwell—has accepted their queen title. The pin-up pictures are on their way.

The wartime GI entertainment block-busters, Bob Hope and Frances Langford, are due for a film reunion in Frances' Columbia movie, "The Purple Heart Diary."

The MATURE PARENT

Concentrate On Being Human To Be Good Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
The way to make ourselves good parents is to concentrate on making ourselves into good human beings.

There seems to have been too much emphasis on the importance of our relationships to our children. And it has tended to make us regard children as belonging to some special category of their own, different and separate from other members of the human race.

The attitudes that make a loved and trusted wife or husband, friend, or neighbor, are the identical attitudes that make us a loved and trusted parent.

Mrs. B. did not know that she concentrated on being a good mother to her 15-year-old daughter. But Alice didn't react the way she should. She was disrespectful and ungrateful.

Mrs. B. shortening the hem on Alice's skirt would say, "I wish I could afford to buy you a new one. Never mind. You'll be self-supporting some day. Then you can buy pretty things. There's nothing so good for a woman as to be self-supporting. If I had been trained to earn my own living, I wouldn't put up with your father's tempers for a minute."

Or Mrs. B. whipping up Alice's favorite cake, would say, "When your grandmother comes next week, there'll be no coconut cake. It isn't enough that your room has to be given up to her; I have to rearrange all the meals because of her diet."

Mrs. B. scrimped, sacrificed, worked and planned for Alice. Nothing she did won Alice's regard or appreciation. Concentration on being a good mother had distracted Mrs. B.'s attention from being a good human being. All she did was stir up discontent.

Love Where They Trust
Love is a strangely wonderful thing. It will not allow itself to be partitioned to one person and denied to another. When we attempt to divide it so that we can serve the largest slice to our child, he is apt to refuse to accept any of it.

An intense desire for our children's love is often an indication that we are poor in others' love.

Children love where they trust. They are young and their instincts are sure. They will not trust where they feel hate and bitterness exist.

Try this experiment for yourself: Some day when your child is in the presence of an adult who is tearing someone else to pieces, take a look at him. First, he will look uncomfortable; then, as the destruction continues, you will see a sudden hardening of decision in your child's face. He is thinking, "I do not like this person."

Then finish the experiment. Pick up the pieces of the person who has been destroyed, and put him together again. When you have established his wholeness for him, take another look at your child's face. His pride and love for you will shine from it like a light.

Old Timers Premiere Dips Into Past To Salute Film Stars Of Bygone Silent Era

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—The film capital dipped into the past Tuesday night with a movie premiere to salute the stars of the silent era.

Hollywood, which is noted for its bad memory, did an about face by honoring the faded film personalities "for the pleasure you have brought to millions the world over."

The event, backed by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, had all the trappings of a glamor premiere.

Some of today's stars were there too—such as Joel McCrea, Richard Conte, Nancy Guild, Chill Willis, Mona Freeman and Alexis Smith.

But the guests causing the most commotion were the magic personalities of another era. Francis X. Bushman, heartiest of the silent era and now a radio actor, looked dashing as he escorted starlet Piper Laurie. His onetime co-star, Betty Blythe, also in radio now, looked younger than her years.

Screen's First Tarzan Elmo Lincoln, present day bit player, was as strapping as the days he played the screen's first Tarzan. Julia Faye, longtime Cecil B. DeMille star, and still a player in films, ran down the aisle for her citation.

Comics Hank Mann and Chester and Heine Conklin also sped for their awards. Their on-time boss Mack Bennett, also was one of the honored guests.

Among the other old timers, William Farnum, Pauline Garon, Helen Gibson, Eddie Polo and Herbert Rawlinson also more or less are actors in motion pictures.

Each was presented with a citation from the Chamber of Commerce for his or her help "in making Hollywood the film capital of the world." They were handed out by Jack Benny, who still admitted to being only 39.

The premiere was for a new film ("Hollywood Story") which closely resembles the story of William Desmond Taylor. The silent film director was the victim of an unsolved murder and a resulting scandal rocked Hollywood in the Twenties.

The old timers, wearing their best finery, arrived at the Academy Award Theater in studio limousines and were photographed profusely and interviewed. They all seemed to enjoy their big night. As one of them, Heine Conklin, said:

"If only we could get a reception like this from the casting office."

The Central and South American giant hummingbird is eight and one-half inches long.

GAINESVILLE LADY LOST 48 POUNDS

"I highly recommend Barcontrate to take off fat and not harm you," writes Mrs. Bessie Beasley, Route 1, Box 20, Gainesville, Texas. "Before taking Barcontrate, I weighed 225 pounds. The first bottle made me feel better and I lost 2 pounds the first week. I now weigh 180 pounds and want to get down to 140 pounds. I have now taken 8 bottles. I am 41 years of age and wouldn't be without as to reduce and no pains or griping after taking as so many laxatives I have taken do. I just say no use to carry that excess fat when Barcontrate will take it off so easy and no ill effects. I intend to still take it as its regularity makes me feel so much better every morning; no tired feeling. I have recommended Barcontrate to my friends."

"When you buy Barcontrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a diet list. Barcontrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcontrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better."

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of Liquid Barcontrate. Add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take just 1 tablespoonful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky, unsightly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

GOP-Dixie Alliance

Senator Karl Mundt, South Dakota Republican, and a handful of his party colleagues are trying to promote a new political alignment.

The main ideas behind this move are these: 1. On most domestic issues and even on some foreign ones, the Republicans and Southern Democrats are kindred conservative spirits.

2. The promoters of a more formal tie-up believe that without it the election of a Republican as President will continue to be extremely difficult, if not impossible.

Mundt and his friends have stirred up a complex question. It's as important to the Democrats as it is to the Republicans.

Yet the existence of the deep division between the Southerners and the Northern or Truman Democrats prevents the victorious party from carrying out the programs of the Administration.

At all other times, the Democrats break into two distinct segments. And the Administration wing of the party is, practically speaking, a minority which can get programs enacted only at the sufferance of its opposition.

It's an accepted fact that the Republicans and the Southern Democrats rule Congress. They have the votes to block anything they wish, or to put across any legislation.

Thus for the most part the conservatives are in the saddle, and yet they do not govern. That is, they do not control the White House.

A political realignment which would draw battle lines more clearly might seem highly desirable if it promised to end this virtual impasse in government.

Whatever comes of Mundt's coalition plan, the ordinary citizen has a right to hope for two things in the campaign of 1952.

He ought to be given a clear choice between two reasonable alternatives in policy. And he should be able to feel that the winning party has the strength in Congress to enact into law the programs it offers the people.

What it amounts to is that the Democratic Party functions as a real unit only in campaign periods. In 1948, of course, even that wasn't true, for the Dixiecrat revolt brought considerable defection from the regular party ranks.

Okay, Boys, Have Fun!

halm in Gilead. Declarer abandoned trump to tackle the clubs, and West ruffed on the third round. West then returned a diamond to make dummy ruff.

The play saw-sawed in this way for a while, and South wound up with only nine tricks, for a loss of 500 points. Maybe he could have saved a trick by some weird maneuver, but I doubt it. The trouble lay in the bidding rather than in the play.

North and East were innocent enough, but South and West really outdid themselves in inventing horrible bids. I will leave it to the reader to choose the chief criminal.

South was justified in bidding one spade, and probably also in passing five diamonds. When North then bid five spades, South should have considered a run-out to six clubs. Obviously East had a big red two-suiter, and just as obviously North had a big black two-suiter. The spades were almost surely 4-4, and a bad trump break would be fatal.

When West doubled, South's worst fears should have been confirmed. He should have run to six clubs with a grateful bow to West for the warning.

Do you think, therefore, that South was the criminal for failing to bid six clubs? If so, what do you think of West's double?

West had the enemy lashed to the mast at five spades. He had no defense against six clubs. Even my good aunt doesn't double in a spot like that.

Q—The bidding has been: East South West North 1 Heart Double 2 Hearts Pass Pass You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-7-4, Heart 2, Diamonds A-Q-6-3, Clubs K-9-8-5. What do you do?

A—Double again. This is still a takeout double. Some reasonable trump suit must be available, and you should not sell out so cheap despite your partner's pass.

Q—Has the composition of Greek fire been established? A—It remains a mystery. The chemical nature of the highly inflammable liquid is not definitely known. Modern chemists believe the mixture contained sulphur, pitch, petroleum, and some other substance such as lime which, reacting to water, would cause the mixture to burst into flame. At any rate, the stuff burned on water, and the flames could only be extinguished by vinegar, wine, or sand.

Q—What is the lightest weight classification in boxing? A—Flyweight — a boxer whose weight does not exceed 112 pounds.

Q—How many materials are used in making a pair of shoes? A—Modern shoemaking, from green hide to the finished footwear, uses some 300 materials in addition to the leather. These items come from all parts of the world.

Q—There's a service entrance to the place! A—That's correct. Looked at night. Try again, Marshall!

Q—Well, that's the way Al Nanabarro and his lieutenant got in! Ask Sonya. Ask them! A—Will, I've already sent for Nanabarro and Lou Brisso.

Q—I knew they weren't the type to admit even assault and battery. Sonya's testimony and mine would sound sour in view of the fact that nobody had seen the night club manager and his lieutenant enter the Brentwood Arms. A—Mind telling me who found Sonya? I asked.

Q—Not at all. Your friend Smiley Wettauffer found him. Does that answer your question? A—Not quite. I saw Wettauffer and a girl enter La Jolla Club earlier in the evening. The girl was Clara Maybew, receptionist at the Prater offices.

Q—Sure. She was with Smiley when he decided to call on Larry Stone. They were pals. He and the girl are in the next room signing statements now.

Q—The general level of well being in England is higher than ever before. There are some classes . . . worse off, but the majority . . . better off. —Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Q—About 30,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel are reclaimed annually, most of which is remelted to make steel ingots.

Q—What's right? A—While shopping you see a newcomer to your town that you have met at a party who does not give any sign of recognizing you.

Q—WRONG: Ignore the person. A—RIGHT: Speak to the person. If you stop to chat for a moment, though, be sure to introduce yourself so as not to embarrass the newcomer, who may not remember your name.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

Nobody has ever accused my Aunt Tillie of being a good bridge player, but sometimes I think she has been underrated. The other night I saw a hand that brought my aunt very clearly to mind.

The play was a long, bitter struggle. West, opened the jack of hearts, dummy played low, and East took his ace. He returned a heart, and South won with the queen.

South led a trump hopefully, but East showed out and there was no

WASHINGTON COLUMN

GOP Uses Truman Tactics In MacArthur Charge Probe

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Republican strategy at the present time seems to have taken a leaf from the same political handbook used by Harry S. Truman in his campaign for the presidency in 1948. It is to attack, attack, attack—relentlessly and repetitiously.

This strategy worked pretty well for the Democrats three years ago. It is working pretty well for the GOP today.

President Truman's target was the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. The GOP targets are the White House and State Department, Defense Secretary George C. Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff are added starters since the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far Eastern command.

The Republican idea is to throw everything at 'em, including the book itself. When the Democrats answer on one point, start talking about something else. But always attack, never defend.

That was the technique used by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy in his charges of communism in the State Department last year. It was the technique that defeated Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland in his fight for reelection. His opposition built up the suspicion that Senator Tydings, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating the McCarthy charges, had done a whitewash job. And that got him.

Exactly the same kind of build-up has been started against Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia. He is chairman of the Senate Joint Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committee investigating the MacArthur charges. Because these committees voted on straight party lines in favor of closed hearings, the heat is being turned on Senator Russell.

Already Republican Senator William E. Jenner, of Indiana, has charged that a "whitewash" is in the works.

If nothing much comes of the investigation, watch for the whitewash charge to be brought forward again.

Senator Russell is in a little better position than Senator Tydings was. Senator Russell doesn't have to run for reelection till 1964. He doesn't have any Republican opposition in Georgia; he might get into a hot primary fight for re-nomination if some ambitious opponent wants to make an issue of his apparent support of the Administration's Far Eastern policies.

The strategy of political attack also involves hitting the opposition where they ain't. The Truman Administration is doing everything that can be done in Europe. Republicans therefore charge that it is too much. But the Truman Administration has got down everything that might be done in Asia. So the GOP tack here is that it isn't enough.

To all outward appearances the Republican attack plus the charges in General MacArthur's speech to Congress have resulted in some changes in the Truman-Acheson policies with respect to the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Copyright, 1951. By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Drew Pearson says: Princess Rita relaxes at rustic retreat; Pearson farm loses face when water fails; Crisis settles family well-digging argument.

WASHINGTON While the most glamorous man in the U. S. A. was in Washington testifying before the Senate, the most glamorous gal in the U. S. A. also was near Washington, though she kept a long way from the Senate.

Although newspaper headlines played up reports that Rita Hayworth was in Reno preparing to shed her title of princess, actually she was spending a few days on the Pearson farm in Maryland where she seemed more interested in the queens of the dairy barn, a couple of prize Holstein bulls, "Harry S. Truman" and "Prediction No. 1" than in the near-by MacArthur show in the Senate.

After trying to cover the latter shows, I got out to the farm late one afternoon to find a much more difficult problem staring me stark in the face.

Up until that point, things apparently had gone well. The farm hands had taken the presence of the visiting royalty and Hollywood glamour in their stride. The dairyman's children did not even ask Miss Hayworth for an autograph, nor did our conscientious negro helper, Harry Clipper, a plate-passing deacon at the Seneca Baptist Church, ask for a contribution. Nobody was thrown by the horses. "Harry Truman" did not break down the fence as he usually does on the slightest excuse; while the dogwood, the tulips, and the iris put on a glamor show rivaling anything in Hollywood.

No Bath For Rita However, I could see the minute I got out of my car and greeted Mrs. P. that all was not well. Mrs. P. had that steely glint in her eye which I had not seen for a long, long time—in fact, not since the hogs got loose and made mincemeat out of her deck tennis court.

"The water," said Mrs. P., "is off. Just how is Rita going to take a bath?"

"Have you called Leon Lowery?" I asked, referring to our neighbor who can fix anything from my grandson's nursing bottle to the twin-knocker on a new Holland pickup hay-baler.

"Leon is busy and won't come," replied the little woman.

"I'm sure if you told him that Rita Hayworth needed a bath he'd come in a minute," I suggested.

"It isn't only a bath," reminded Mrs. P., who had been faced with the drouth all day. "How do we wash the dishes? And what do we drink?"

"Well, we could try gin." But the crack didn't go over at all big.

"Maybe your cows would like gin, too!" shot back Mrs. P., aiming at a weak spot. "If you're not worried about baths for Rita and the Jackson Lighters and all the dirty dishes, at least I know you'll worry about your cows."

This, I confess, made me think twice. Because when cows get no water to drink, they give less milk, and when they give less milk my score goes down; and I have been aiming for a milk score that would beat Carroll Morgan's, who taunts me with his high score every time we meet.

Finally, I got Leon Lowery on the telephone. He had ordered an extra part for the pump a month ago, but Jake Snyder of Farmers Supply had forgotten to order it. So the pump couldn't get fixed that night, Rita couldn't get a bath, the dishes couldn't get washed, I could not shave in the morning, and my cows would get a lower score than Carroll Morgan's.

"Maybe Rita could do without a bath," I suggested hopefully. "I'll bet when she was a kid back in Brooklyn she even argued with her mother that she didn't want to bathe at all!"

"Furthermore," I argued, "I confess a little desperately, 'look at New York City and all the trouble they had about water. We're not the only one who has problems. Or take Los Angeles. Mayor Bowron out there is always making my daughter quit wearing her lawn.'" "Furthermore," say I, "I would like to quote an issue of a noted column—The Washington Merry-Go-Round—which recently said, 'A calamity worse than the atom bomb is being studied by scientists—the increasing shortage of water in the United States.'"

"You and Rita will just have to get ready for the ultimate future," I concluded, "and the fact that our pump broke down is just good practice for the days that lie ahead."

However, it didn't do any good. By this time I had a strong suspicion where the argument was heading. There long has been a difference of opinion inside the Pearson family about the relative merits of water from a spring and water from a well. Miss Hayworth, so far as I could see, was not really perturbed about her bath. I imagine there were a good many days traveling through Africa with Prince Ali Khan that she never got a bath at all, and I gathered this was not the grounds for their impending divorce. So I had sort of an inkling of what was coming.

"Don't you think," said Mrs. P., changing to her most dulcet tones, "that what we really need is a well all our own—a well that we don't have to share with your 47 thirsty cows and the farm families? After all, a well would be so much better than a spring, with all those lizards always crawling into the pipe. I think you should call up a well-digger and get started tomorrow. After all, you're always building some silo or other that doesn't do any good except stick up in the air and spoil the scenery."

"But how is Jackson Lighter going to reduce if he doesn't help me fill the silo?" say I, referring to my well-padded radio agent, who, with Mrs. Lighter, has been traveling with Rita.

However, I saw it was no use. Rita Hayworth is a charming gal and a well sport. She didn't mind the water shortage at all. But she has done me a great disfavor. Thanks to her, I have been euchred into drilling a well.

However, though Mrs. P. doesn't know it yet, I am going to connect the well to the cow barn. I just can't afford to let my milk score drop.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

Ike and Moe were walking along on a cold morning. Ike was talking but he quit. Moe said, "Go ahead and talk." Ike said, "Freeze your own hands a while."

The same two were playing golf. After the first hole, Ike said, "I made it in nine." His friend said, "Mine score was eight." They played the second hole and Ike said, "Seven." Moe said, "I beat you again; mine score was six." They played the third hole. Moe asked, "How much for this run?" Ike said, "You tell first die time."

South was justified in bidding one spade, and probably also in passing five diamonds. When North then bid five spades, South should have considered a run-out to six clubs. Obviously East had a big red two-suiter, and just as obviously North had a big black two-suiter. The spades were almost surely 4-4, and a bad trump break would be fatal.

When West doubled, South's worst fears should have been confirmed. He should have run to six clubs with a grateful bow to West for the warning.

Do you think, therefore, that South was the criminal for failing to bid six clubs? If so, what do you think of West's double?

West had the enemy lashed to the mast at five spades. He had no defense against six clubs. Even my good aunt doesn't double in a spot like that.

Q—The bidding has been: East South West North 1 Heart Double 2 Hearts Pass Pass You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-7-4, Heart 2, Diamonds A-Q-6-3, Clubs K-9-8-5. What do you do?

A—Double again. This is still a takeout double. Some reasonable trump suit must be available, and you should not sell out so cheap despite your partner's pass.

Q—Has the composition of Greek fire been established? A—It remains a mystery. The chemical nature of the highly inflammable liquid is not definitely known. Modern chemists believe the mixture contained sulphur, pitch, petroleum, and some other substance such as lime which, reacting to water, would cause the mixture to burst into flame. At any rate, the stuff burned on water, and the flames could only be extinguished by vinegar, wine, or sand.

Q—What is the lightest weight classification in boxing? A—Flyweight — a boxer whose weight does not exceed 112 pounds.

Q—How many materials are used in making a pair of shoes? A—Modern shoemaking, from green hide to the finished footwear, uses some 300 materials in addition to the leather. These items come from all parts of the world.

Q—There's a service entrance to the place! A—That's correct. Looked at night. Try again, Marshall!

Q—Well, that's the way Al Nanabarro and his lieutenant got in! Ask Sonya. Ask them! A—Will, I've already sent for Nanabarro and Lou Brisso.

Q—I knew they weren't the type to admit even assault and battery. Sonya's testimony and mine would sound sour in view of the fact that nobody had seen the night club manager and his lieutenant enter the Brentwood Arms. A—Mind telling me who found Sonya? I asked.

Toastmasters Plan Package Programs

Harassed program chairmen of Midland civic clubs may be able to obtain a package deal program for their organizations if the Toastmasters Club adopts the proposals outlined by Malcolm Brenneman at the club's regular Tuesday meeting.

Brenneman urged the formation of flying squads of speakers, ready to present a complete readymade program for any occasion. "We have men who can talk about anything," Brenneman said, "from church suppers to stag smokers and from civic problems to fund-raising drives. Our purpose is to make better speakers and better speeches."

Other speakers at the meeting were John F. Younger, who discussed the value of the High School athletic program, and D. R. Conoley, who spoke on vacations. The dinner topic was a discussion of the poll tax. Guests included Austin Six, Joe Kaiser and M. A. Murphy.

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was walking along by the Whispering River with the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf.

had stepped when he came down to the river to drink. Yes, and what a tremendous tiger track it was. Very large.

"Steady yourself, Huffen," said Daddy Ringtail. The Huffen steadied himself, and then they looked at the track more closely. Oh, it was a tiger track, all right. It was a place where a tiger

"I am going to measure it, I am," said the Huffen. "Run over to my house, Huffen," said Daddy Ringtail, "and get the measuring stick." And so the Huffen hurried away, while Daddy Ringtail waited for him.

And of course it was the tiger. When tiger tracks are on the ground, a tiger just has to be somewhere near. Daddy Ringtail shook hands with the tiger-people, and tomorrow I'll tell you the strange, strange story that the tiger told of his adventures. Happy day!

Asks a woman reader: "Don't you think a service man needs to feel that the home he has left behind is free of bickering, hatreds and unpleasantness of any kind?"

"Don't you think a man away from home can sense the harmony or lack of it among those he loves?"

"I believe he can, either through what is said in letters, hinted at, or left unsaid."

"It seems to me any man could be a better soldier and do a better job anywhere if he knew his people were getting along together in his absence, not making any unnecessary drastic changes, but leading busy lives and trying to keep home the way he remembered it—or even improved in peace and understanding and harmony."

Of course, this reader is right. An officer in World War II says he never knew how much discord there was among families until it became his job to censor letters.

There's a reason. The new uniform—dark blue cap, light blue shirt and dark blue pants—is like that worn by dog catchers here.

Average Male Pays $34,700 In Taxes In Working Span

CHICAGO —(AP)—If you are a 29-year-old average male, a private tax and business law organization estimated Wednesday, you can look forward to paying a minimum of $34,700 in taxes by the time you are 65.

Commerce Clearing House, an organization that reports on tax and business law, identified the average 29-year-old male as follows:

He has an annual income of $4,300, a car, a mortgaged home, two children, smokes a pack of cigarettes a day and drinks a quart of whiskey a month. He will buy his wife two fur coats in the next 36 years and an average number of taxed household appliances. He will pay telephone taxes and travel taxes on his vacations.

This is his supposed tax bill: Federal income $19,584, real property $7,200, social security $3,873, personal property $720, gasoline $843, licenses $738, excise $715, lubricants $28, sales or state income $2,035, cigarette $1,117, liquor $972, luxury $342, telephone $287, transportation $246, admissions $187 and home appliances $75.

It amounts to 22 per cent of Mr. Average American's 36 years of future earnings.

U. S. Jury Finds O'Dwyer Buddy Guilty Of Perjury

NEW YORK —(AP)—James J. Moran—holder of a lifetime $15,000-a-year city job just a few weeks ago—Wednesday faced the possibility of five years in a federal prison as a Kefauver Committee perjurer.

Moran, a buddy of ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer for many years, was under conviction for lying about his relations with Brooklyn numbers racketeer Louis Weber.

Sentence will be imposed Friday by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey. The maximum possible penalty for the perjury conviction is five years and a $2,000 fine.

The 49-year-old politician is the first U. S. Senate Crime Committee witness to be brought to trial here.

The guilty verdict was reported late Tuesday by a jury of seven women and five men after a trial lasting less than four court days. The jury deliberated only one hour and 35 minutes.

Moran remained free in $25,000 bail pending sentencing.

Woman Convicted In John E. Owen Slaying Released From Prison

LOS ANGELES —(AP)—Convicted of manslaughter in 1949 in the death of John E. Owen, 68-year-old president of the National Apartment House Owners' Association, Mrs. Agnes Garnier has been released from prison.

Mrs. Garnier, 56, has served less than two years of an indeterminate term of one to 10 years in the Women's Prison at Tehachapi.

The state charged Mrs. Garnier, described by her lawyer as the secretary and "unwed wife" of Owen, killed him during a quarrel over his friendship with actress Irene Rich.

The shooting occurred at Owen's Riverside County ranch.

Mrs. Garnier claimed Owen was drunk and threatened to kill her, and that he was shot as they wrestled for possession of a pistol.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"I don't believe in luck," writes an Austin, Texas, correspondent, "especially when that luck continues for a very long time. My next-door neighbor and his wife keep winning, so I know they must be better than we are. But I can't discover the secret of their success. 'Here's what happens in about one deal out of every three. My wife and I get the first discard pile and get down with a few nice-looking melds. I look at them and we ought to make at least one canasta very quickly and perhaps run up a really big score. 'Suddenly the hand collapses. One of our friendly enemies puts down a meld, and in one or two more plays the hand is over. Their hands always seem to match, and one of them is able to meld out before we can pile up a decent score. 'This doesn't happen when they get the first discard pile. My wife and I often have to sit through a long drawn-out hand without being able to meld out. Meanwhile the neighbors score a bushful. 'What's the answer? How do they do it?' 'My correspondent is the one card player in a thousand who doesn't complain about luck when he is being outplayed. The secret is fairly simple, and even an average player can make use of it. 'There are only eleven possible ranks that your side can meld in—from the aces down to the fours. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank melded by the enemy. You are not likely to make a canasta in any rank that your partner discards (unless you have control of the discard pile.) 'At the beginning of a hand, you check off the ranks that are improbable. Your partner discards jacks, nines, and sevens, let us say. You have a very bad hand and cannot put up any serious fight for the discard pile. All right—give up. Discard exactly what your partner has thrown. This will often give up the pile. 'You and your partner will still have twenty-two cards between you—and neither one of you has any jacks, nines, or sevens. Perhaps you also discard another rank. Do you see what is bound to happen. 'The partnership hands must accumulate more and more cards in the same few ranks. As soon as one player makes a meld, the partner can match it to complete a canasta. The whole hand can usually be ended in one or two more plays."

Gunmen Who Held Up Bank At Poteet Apparently Vanish

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Three gunmen who held up the First State Bank at Poteet Tuesday in a daring daylight robbery apparently had vanished Wednesday. The bandits fled to San Antonio after taking $1,648 from the bank. Two of them narrowly averted capture by eluding police on an hour-long, cross-country chase inside the city limits. The third had disappeared before the robbers' speeding car was sighted by officers south of the city. Detective Capt. C. A. Bartram said fingerprints were being taken from the two stolen cars abandoned by the bandits after the holdup. The first abandoned car was found north of Poteet. It was the one in which the bandits drove to and away from the bank. The other abandoned car, which apparently was waiting at the site where the first car was found, was left by the robbers on Mission Road when they fled on foot. Telephone Confidante

Two Ships Collide Near Philadelphia

CHESTER, PA.—(AP)—Two ships collided early Wednesday in the Delaware River and eight hours later tugs sought to push one vessel, badly damaged, toward shallower water near the New Jersey shore. There were no casualties. The collision of the freighters Antinous and Transamerican occurred eight miles south of Philadelphia. The bow of the Transamerican smashed 30 feet into the port side of the Antinous at midship. Water poured through the huge hole in the side of the 6,065-ton Antinous, and the captain of the Transamerican, which apparently was not damaged seriously, maneuvered to keep the bow of his ship wedged into the hole while crewmen lashed the two vessels together.

Iceland Air Bases Almost Useless For Modern Planes

WASHINGTON — Strategic Iceland's airfields will be almost useless for modern American heavy bombers and jet fighters until and unless they can be rebuilt.

None of the runways of the four fields constructed during World War II are long enough for handling fully-loaded warplanes like the B-36 or the swift jet fighters, a check Wednesday indicated.

But Iceland—where United States Army, Navy and Air Force have landed under an agreement with Denmark (owner of Iceland) to help defend the island under the North Atlantic Treaty provisions—has two other major functions in guarding against possible Soviet attack across the Arctic:

1. As location for radar air raid warning stations.

2. As a base for submarines and surface craft patrolling the high Arctic latitudes on watch for airborne attackers.

Fuel Storage Dumps
Extensive harbor facilities, including fuel storage dumps and unloading piers, were built by the United States during World War II and presumably are still usable after some repair and rehabilitation work.

Iceland, like its big neighbor, Greenland, could have another valuable use in the future—as a launching base for long-range guided missiles. However, in addition to the question of whether Denmark would want her territories used for offensive warfare, there is the fact that really long-range guided missiles so far are only experimental gadgets and not actual weapons.

The longest runways on Iceland are at the Keflavik Airport—four strips of about 6,000 feet. Jet fighters and heavy bombers, taking off with anything except a light load of fuel and few or no bombs, need from 8,000 to 10,000 feet of runway.

Three other fields were built in Iceland during the war—Kassoo, Patterson and Reykjavik. Some of those strips were only 2,500 feet long and the longest was 5,200.

Greenland Naval Project
Greenland, the subject of a recent agreement similar to that for Iceland, had three fields—all of them on the southern or western coasts. The longest strip there (and the only one now used by the U. S.) is the 6,500-foot runway at Narsarsuaq, near the south tip of Greenland.

In that same general area, the Navy started in 1947 to construct at Gronadal a small navy operating base. Little was disclosed at that time about the project—and less has been said since. Such a base, however, obviously would be useful in fueling and providing light service for submarines and other scout craft.

The initial 200-man force that has landed in Iceland is only a tiny fraction of the approximate 50,000 there at one time in World War II. Of that total peak strength, about 32,000 were Army personnel.

Funeral Rites Held In San Angelo For Mrs. Lynn Metcalfe

Funeral services for Mrs. J. Lynn Metcalfe, 40, who died late Monday in a Midland hospital from an accidental gunshot wound, were to be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in San Angelo.

The Rev. James P. Leavelle, pastor of San Angelo's First Baptist Church, was to officiate. Interment was to follow in a San Angelo cemetery.

Mrs. Metcalfe was active in Girl Scout and P-TA affairs here. She was vice president of the Midland Girl Scout Association, president of the Brownie leaders club, and leader of Brownie Troop 34.

All Girl Scout activities scheduled here Wednesday were cancelled out of respect for Mrs. Metcalfe.

Pallbearers at the services were to be William Broadbuss and Jack Chase of Midland; C. D. Branham of Ballinger; and D. V. Yarbro, Claude Collins, Jr., and Penrose Metcalfe, all of San Angelo.

Survivors Listed
Mrs. Metcalfe is survived by her husband and a nine-year-old daughter, Mary Helen, of Midland; the mother, Mrs. C. D. Harris of Ballinger; a brother, Milton Harris, and a sister, Mrs. E. P. Branham, Jr., both of Ballinger.

She was born Dec. 28, 1910, in Concho County. She was graduated from Ballinger High School and attended McMurry College, Abilene, and North Texas State College, Denton. She taught school for a time in Runnels County. The Metcalfes resided in San Angelo before moving to Midland in 1948.

Mrs. Metcalfe was shot about 6 p.m. as she was struggling to take a .38 caliber revolver from her husband, a Midland real estate man and building contractor. The incident occurred on N Street near its intersection with Wall Street.

Struggle For Gun
Investigating officers said the scuffle followed a traffic argument between Metcalfe and three teenage boys. Police said Metcalfe took the gun from the glove compartment of his car after the three boys, whose car he had waved down, declined to accompany him to the police station.

Mrs. Metcalfe, police related, asked her husband not to shoot at the boys, who were driving away, and in the struggle which followed, the gun discharged accidentally, the bullet striking Mrs. Metcalfe in the right chest. She was rushed to a nearby hospital by her husband, dying a few minutes after arrival there.

Peace Justice L. C. Stephenson as acting coroner, returned a verdict of "death by accidental means." A technical charge of murder was filed against Metcalfe in connection with the shooting. He was released Monday night on a $2,000 bond set by Stephenson.

Steel Expansion Aids Chemical Industry

By GEN. BREHON SOMERVILLE, Chairman and President, Koppers Company, Inc.

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Behind the unprecedented expansion of the nation's steel industry lie benefits to Americans other than those evident in the greater production of steel.

Chemicals which are derived from steel plants' chemical-recovery coke ovens are rapidly growing in importance. Some of them, in fact, are now so great, that demand for supply, other than coke ovens, are being developed.

Today, however, the chemical-recovery coke oven still is the major supplier of raw material for many such chemicals, most important of which are benzene and naphthalene. Present increases in coke-oven capacity at steel mills are helping to meet the increased demand.

Twenty years ago, benzene was principally a motor fuel. Naphthalene, known to the layman chiefly as raw material for moth balls and moth flakes, was just about to experience a large expansion in chemical utilization. It's a different story today. Only two gallons of benzene come from each ton of coal carbonized, yet, in 1950, approximately 200,000,000 gallons of this chemical were used by America's chemical industry—virtually none of it as a motor fuel.

Industry Affected
Where did it go? Principally into the making of synthetic rubber, plastics, the DDT-type insecticides and into nylon. And by the end of 1950, so much of it was being demanded for the synthetic rubber program that the plastic industry, which grew swiftly after World War II, has been drastically affected.

Naphthalene still goes into moth balls and flakes, but it now has vastly more important uses in the chemical industry. Millions of pounds of it go into the making of phthalic anhydride which is widely used in paints and plasticizers; some into the making of dyes and many other things.

Other chemicals which come from coal also go into such well-known items as aspirin, sulfa drugs, vitamins, weed killers, fertilizers and explosives. But from a quantity viewpoint, benzene and naphthalene remain the coal-derived chemicals most needed today and with prospects of being needed most in the future.

Now to go back to the major source of these coal chemicals—the steel plants' chemical-recovery coke ovens.

Koppers is a major designer and constructor of chemical-recovery coke ovens. In 1950, the company built 458 new ovens. A total of 790 ovens are projected for completion in 1951, and 420 for completion in 1952, based on orders received up to April 1, 1951. Not all of these will provide new capacity—some will replace obsolete ovens—but the increase is indicative of the expansion that is being carried on not only in steel, but in coal chemical production.

Hard To Estimate
It is difficult to estimate exactly what percentage of increases in coal chemical production will arise from the increased coke-oven capacity of the nation. Exact figures for 1950 are not yet in, but estimates are that benzene production was raised by 3,500,000 gallons. In view of the projected coke-oven building program, it might be expected that by 1952 another 10,000,000 gallons will be added from coke-oven sources.

But even this will not be sufficient to fill all the needs of the chemical industry. The oil industry has methods of making benzene from petroleum and a considerable amount of money has been allocated for petroleum benzene plants.

The upsurge in demand for benzene can easily be understood when it is realized that it not only is used in the synthetic rubber program but also is used in making polystyrene, the most popular of all plastics. In 1945 usage of polystyrene amounted to 22,000,000 pounds. In 1950, use had increased to 258,000,000 pounds.

This increased usage resulted from the plastic industry's continuing ability to produce a better product. But it also was fostered by a carefully planned educational program of the industry, designed to insure the proper use of plastics and the right type of plastic for each specific application.

Has Many Uses
Polystyrene now has hundreds of uses. Parts molded from it can be found in cars, in airplanes, in the home and in industry. Some novelties are made from it, but more important are such things as lighter, more rugged cases for jet airplane batteries. No longer is polystyrene a "gadget" material. In fact, perhaps 10 per cent of present production is going into defense materials.

It seems certain that growth in use of this plastic will continue if the raw material, benzene, can be produced in greater quantities.

Similarly, the chemical-recovery coke oven also is the mainstay of another branch of the plastics industry. The many phenolic plastics depend on phenol and cresols which the coke ovens wrest from coal.

Toluene, another coke-oven chemical, becomes of vastly greater importance in a war or preparedness economy, since it is a major ingredient of the explosive TNT. Detergents, mostly made from coke-oven benzene, are estimated to have a market in 1951 of 1,000,000,000 pounds which will require 13,000,000 gallons of benzene. Superior adhesives are produced from resorcinol, made from coal chemicals.

Derived From Coal
Literally hundreds of other chemicals are derived from coal—none of which could be obtained until the advent of the chemical-recovery coke oven only a half century ago. Many of these are now also used as intermediates in making synthetics.

From this program, the United States can expect a continued growth in its coal chemical industry. With similar expansion in the petro-chemical field, the nation will retain a commanding position in world chemical production.

Tobacco-Chewing South Carolinian, New House Panel Chairman, Is Middle-Roader

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A tobacco-chewing South Carolina Democrat, James Prioleau Richardson, is taking over as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"I reckon you'd call me a fellow who'd like to stay out of world responsibilities but realizes the United States can't stay out of it if it wants to," he drawled Wednesday.

"I'm certainly not an isolationist although I've differed with the Administration from time to time on some foreign policies. I don't think I'm an interventionist."

Richardson has been acting as head of the committee much of this year because of the illness of Representative Kee (D-W. Va.), the chairman, who died Tuesday.

MacArthur Had To Go
Asked in an interview how he feels about President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Richardson replied: "In view of the clash between MacArthur and the President and joint chiefs of staff, the firing of MacArthur was inevitable. But I hated to see him go because he proved a great general and a successful administrator."

"So far as my views in regard to the Pacific are concerned, I felt all along we made many mistakes but the fact remains that the Pacific is not the principal area of conflict with communism."

"The center of communism is still Moscow, not Peking. The most important valley continues to be the Ruhr, not the Yangtze."

"If conflicts come with forces of communism, the world over, we've got to defeat it at the source of its power. That's Europe."

Richardson said he has no "illusions about ever trying to get along with communism and the Russians unless we are strong. We made the mistake of thinking we could get along with Communists." ## Commies Kidnap Chinese Recruits

KUALA LUMPUR—(AP)— Communist terrorists now are kidnaping youthful Chinese to serve in their war of murder and sabotage against the British in Malaya.

A British Army spokesman said that in some parts of Malaya the Communists could not enlist replacements to fill the gaps of those killed and wounded in clashes with British security forces. He added the Communists have resorted to kidnaping young Chinese, spiriting them off to the dense jungle, and forcing them to fight against the British.

Quake Toll Rises To 1,200 Or More Dead, 4,000 Hurt

SAN SALVADOR, EL SALVADOR—(P)—The death toll from El Salvador's weekend earthquake rose to 1,200 persons Wednesday as new reports filtered slowly into the capital from isolated regions in the disaster zone. The injured were reckoned at 4,000 or more. With many villages in the quake area still cut off, casualty figures were incomplete. The government earlier had estimated that "more than 1,000" persons died in the upheaval in the eastern part of the country. President Oscar Coarix Tuesday night ordered martial law in the devastated region. Aid was being rushed to the injured and homeless. The Army continued a hurried evacuation of survivors from the region—a 60-square-mile zone in the country's rich coffee plantation belt, close to the Pacific Coast. Renewed but slight local earth shocks were reported again Tuesday, but there were as yet no reports of new casualties or damage.

USDA Report Sees Steady Food Prices, Rising Again In Fall

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday predicted that currently high food prices will remain stable from now at least until early Summer. This forecast was based upon the assumption there will be no change in the international situation which might encourage scare buying by consumers. Supplies of most foods were said to be adequate to maintain civilian consumption at least as large as a year earlier. Retail food prices for the first quarter of this year were said to have averaged almost 15 per cent higher than a year earlier. Largest increases were reported for meats, eggs, fats and oils, and processed fruits and vegetables.

Stronger Upward Pressure
The department said it is likely food prices will tend to increase more in the latter part of the year. It said the military and export demand will be stronger then and contribute to the upward price pressure started by the Korean war. The department added, however, that price and wage controls, credit restrictions and proposed higher income taxes would tend to limit price rises that might occur. The department said the civilian supply of meat this year is expected to average 148 pounds, carcass weight, for each individual, compared with 144.5 last year, 126 before the war and a recent peak of 153.4 in 1946.

Four Persons Hurt In Auto Accident
Four persons were injured Tuesday afternoon in an automobile accident 15 miles southeast of Midland on State Highway 158, near the Tex-Harvey oil field intersecting road. None of the injured were believed in a serious condition. The four injured persons were members of the S. F. Burkett family of Odessa. Mrs. Burkett suffered forehead and facial lacerations. A 10-month-old child, Darryl Burkett, received a bruised chest. They were given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital. The father and another child received minor injuries but were not treated here. A truck and the Burkett automobile reportedly collided.

Truman—

danger of Soviet aggression," Truman said the U. S. must:
1. Build up enough military strength "to convince the Kremlin it ought not to start a world war."
2. Prepare to mobilize quickly for war "in case the Kremlin is reckless enough, in spite of everything, to plunge the world into a general conflict."
To do these things, Truman added, the nation's military and civilian defense experts have prepared a concrete plan providing for bigger armed forces and laying the foundation for "complete mobilization, if that should become necessary."
Victory By Hard Work
"We must carry out that plan as rapidly as we possibly can," he asserted, and he added:
"We want to reach our goal just as fast as the men can be trained, the plants built, and the equipment and supplies turned out."
The President said he is sure the U. S. with other free nations, can achieve victory in the struggle with Soviet communism, but it will take hard work by all, and the kind of patriotism that puts "the national interest ahead of selfish interest."
He said the "inflationary gap" in the next year or two, as expanding military production creates civilian goods shortages, is "going to get worse before it gets better."
To combat this, he asserted, inflation must be hit hard by these measures:
1. Extending controls on prices, wages, credit and rents without "special exemptions for special groups."
2. Maintaining price and wage controls for the next two or three years at least.
3. Levying heavier taxes.

own feelings that to act otherwise in those limitations under the general conditions would possibly result in a very much larger casualty list.
4. No Japanese have been allowed to serve with United Nations troops in Korea, largely because a Chinese-Russian defense pact is aimed at Japan. His implication here was that there was concern the Russians might come into the war if Japanese were used, even as "volunteers."
Senators on the inquiry committee questioned the witnesses by turn. There were many still waiting their chance to fire questions as the forenoon session ended. It appeared Marshall might be in the witness chair several days yet.

The issue of whether the Allies brought about MacArthur's removal was explored in a long series of exchanges with Senator Wiley (R-Wis.). Marshall said the Allies did not dictate the general's ouster nor even express themselves on the question. Answers Questions
He added, however, that the "importance" of U. S. relations with other members of the United Nations had a direct bearing on the ouster. Wiley asked:
"Then you mean that the pressure by the Allies was so severe because MacArthur had dared to say what he did say—and I want a bill of particulars—what he did say irritated the Allies, that if we had not listened, it would have jeopardized our relationship. You mean they would have pulled out?"
"That would remain to be seen," Marshall replied.

Earlier, however, Marshall had said the Allies had grown so uneasy that the United States was threatened with a situation of having to go it alone.
That same phrase came into the testimony of MacArthur, who was before the committees last week. MacArthur argued that the Communists must be met and defeated in Korea, or the free world was "doomed."
On that premise, MacArthur said the United States should go ahead with whatever steps were necessary to defeat the Chinese Communists, even if it did mean this country must "go it alone."

Wholesale Beef Ceilings In Effect

CHICAGO—(P)—Price ceilings on beef sold at wholesale became effective Wednesday amid indications cattlemen were withholding stock shipments in protest against government rollbacks. Dollar and cents retail ceilings will be clamped down next Monday. Butcher shops must post retail ceiling price charts, by grade and cut, by June 4. The OPS order, which aroused the ire of cattlemen and livestock feeders, however, appears to be the 10 per cent cut in prices which slaughtermen may pay the farmer for cattle. This order goes into effect May 20. A third OPS directive provides that cattle prices to be reduced an additional four and one-half per cent on August 1 and by the same amount on October 1. Cattle receipts in 12 markets Monday totaled 44,200, as compared to 73,225 at the same markets a week ago Monday.

Selection of equalization board members was discussed Tuesday night but appointments were not announced pending contact of persons who will be asked to serve. This board probably will contain three or four citizens, who will hear property owners regarding school tax matters. The board Tuesday night studied selection of names for new school structures but reached no decision. More study was asked before the naming of the new junior high and new elementary school. Present at the meeting were Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, John Cornwell, Robert Payne, Cooper Hyde, R. U. Pitting, Jr., R. W. Hamilton and Holt Jowell, board members, also Frank Monroe and T. One of the home owners in the area, who did not give his name, said he had talked to the contractor's representative and had been given a different reason for refusing to bid on the paving job. "Engineering changes made on the last project," he said, "made it undesirable to bid again." He added that these engineering changes had been made after the original plans had been drawn and distributed to prospective bidders. Another Bond Issue? Oswald said this was true but that the bidders had been notified of the changes before the bids were prepared and opened. He added that the city's own engineering staff was able to do the work and get the projects in shape quicker than had been done under arrangements with a private engineering firm. The city manager said that if no satisfactory bids are received on May 21, the city will have two alternatives:
1. Revise the percentage of the city's participation in the projects.
2. Set up a revolving fund so the city can handle the financing "paper" on the projects. In the latter event, additional funds will probably have to be arranged through a bond issue, he said. The famous glass industry of Venice was founded about 420 A.D.

Price ceilings on beef sold at wholesale became effective Wednesday amid indications cattlemen were withholding stock shipments in protest against government rollbacks. Dollar and cents retail ceilings will be clamped down next Monday. Butcher shops must post retail ceiling price charts, by grade and cut, by June 4. The OPS order, which aroused the ire of cattlemen and livestock feeders, however, appears to be the 10 per cent cut in prices which slaughtermen may pay the farmer for cattle. This order goes into effect May 20. A third OPS directive provides that cattle prices to be reduced an additional four and one-half per cent on August 1 and by the same amount on October 1. Cattle receipts in 12 markets Monday totaled 44,200, as compared to 73,225 at the same markets a week ago Monday.

job, he said, "has invested $1,000,000—maybe more—in Midland in taking paper on this work. Brown and Root, he added, had asked for plans on the latest project but did not submit a bid. Oswald said it was his impression, after talking to the firm's representatives, that they "lacked confidence in the mortgages" in the area largely included in the proposed project. "I'm not quoting him," said Oswald, "but here's the impression I got."
"That so many of the homes were bought with small down payments that the owners' equities were too small to justify the risk."
"Are we letting these contractors come in here," asked Fletcher, "and take the jobs in certain parts of town and leave the rest?"
Fletcher then asked why many new subdivisions had been paved "while we have waited two years and still don't have any paving."
North Grafaland
Oswald answered that those projects were planned in 1947, before he became city manager. "Mr. Oswald," replied Fletcher, "do you mean to tell me that pasture land in North Grafaland was planned in 1947?"
The city manager answered that, with a few exceptions, that was the case. Mayor Perry Pickett observed, that "it looks to me like someone is trying to take the cream and leave the skimmed milk."
Oswald then explained that the city had "re-advertised for bids, which will be opened on May 21. He said at least one of the contractors had assured him he would submit a bid."
One of the home owners in the area, who did not give his name, said he had talked to the contractor's representative and had been given a different reason for refusing to bid on the paving job. "Engineering changes made on the last project," he said, "made it undesirable to bid again." He added that these engineering changes had been made after the original plans had been drawn and distributed to prospective bidders. Another Bond Issue? Oswald said this was true but that the bidders had been notified of the changes before the bids were prepared and opened. He added that the city's own engineering staff was able to do the work and get the projects in shape quicker than had been done under arrangements with a private engineering firm. The city manager said that if no satisfactory bids are received on May 21, the city will have two alternatives:
1. Revise the percentage of the city's participation in the projects.
2. Set up a revolving fund so the city can handle the financing "paper" on the projects. In the latter event, additional funds will probably have to be arranged through a bond issue, he said. The famous glass industry of Venice was founded about 420 A.D.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log

 splanian shale after a drillstem test in the upper Strawn sand.
 The test was taken from 6,865 feet to 6,907 feet. Tool was open two hours.
 Recovery was 190 feet of very heavy oil and gas cut drilling mud with no shows of water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was zero and shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 150 pounds.

Interested observers are expecting the wildcat to encounter another sand zone in the Strawn soon.
Near Discovery
 It is 19 miles east of the town of Snyder and 600 feet from south and west lines of section 52, block 3, T-3-S, T&P survey. That makes it 4,000 feet northwest of the discovery well of the Hermleigh-Ellenburger pool.

That project was R. W. Baxter No. 1 Fieldman, completed early in 1950 for a daily pumping production of 121 barrels of oil from pay in the Ellenburger at 7,309-35 feet. It was recently plugged after the oil production declined to practically nothing.
 The Olsen development is the first outpost to the Baxter discovery.

Midland Tex-Harvey Gets Oiler, Drillsites

Barnett & Rector and Ashland Oil & Refining Company each spotted one location in the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County, and Jay H. Floyd reported the completion of a new oiler in the field.
 Ashland No. 2 Corbin Ross will be 800 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 13, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

 The Barnett & Rector test, No. 1-10 Floyd Estate, will be dug 661 feet from south and 668 feet from east lines of section 10, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.
 The new oiler is Floyd No. 1-11 J. H. and L. B. Floyd, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S.

It was finished for a daily flowing potential of 153 barrels of 31.6-gravity oil plus four-tenths per cent water from open hole at 7,026-94 feet. It was treated with 3,750 gallons of acid. The potential was gauged through a one-half-inch choke.
 Gas-oil ratio was 585-1. Flowing tubing pressure ranged from 420 to 80 pounds.

Glasscock Side Gets Two New Locations

In the extreme southeast side of the Tex-Harvey-Spraberry field of Central-West Glasscock County, Ashland Oil & Refining Company staked location for its No. 1 and No. 2 Wraga-Hendrickson.
 No. 1 will be dug 664 feet from south and 671 feet from west lines of section 32, block 36, T&P survey, T-3-S.
 No. 2 is slated for drilling 664 feet from south and 2,015 feet from west lines of section 32, same block, survey and township.

Conoco Gets New And Deeper Oil Pay In Wyoming

HOUSTON—Continental Oil Company has opened a fifth and deeper oil producing zone in its 13,000-acre Sussex block in North-Central Wyoming with its Sussex A-59, which registered a strong flow of oil on drillstem test.
 Tested from 9,115 feet, at the top of the saturation, to 9,129 feet in the Tensleep sand, the well showed gas in 45 minutes and flowed oil in 50 minutes.
 The tester was pulled and 9,100 feet of black 32-gravity sweet oil was recovered, marking first Tensleep production in the field or vi-

Completion Set For NW Reagan Oiler

Completion attempts will be made at Ted Weiner, et al. No. 1-6i. Proctor as soon as pumping equipment is installed.
 The Northwest Reagan County indicated Spraberry discovery reported a swabbing gauge of from 40 to 80 barrels of oil per day, plus 20 per cent water after open hole had been shot with nitroglycerin.
 Casing is cemented in the well at 6,890 feet. Total depth is 7,190 feet. Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 40, block 37, T-5-S, T&P survey and about 330 feet east of the east line of Upton County.

Shallow Tester Staked In Pecos

E. C. Ward No. 1 Allison Ranch is a new 2,800-foot cable tool wildcat in South Pecos County.
 Drillsite is 30 miles south of Fort Stockton and 900 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 6, block 2, TORR survey.

Driver Field Gets Two New Locations

The Sohio Oil Company filed applications with the Railroad Commission requesting permission to start drilling immediately on two Spraberry tests in the Driver field of Southeast Midland County.
 The firm's No. 4-A TKL will be drilled 600 feet from south and west lines of section 38, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey. That puts it three locations southeast of James H. Snowden No. 1-34 Schrock, which was recently completed as a three mile southeast extension to the field.
 The operator's No. 3-A TKL will be 1,980 feet from north and 690 feet from west lines of section 35, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey and one location southeast of the No. 1-34 Schrock.

SW Borden Tester Gets Sulphur Water

A two-hour drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian reef developed only 455 feet of gas-cut drilling mud and 4,468 feet of sulphur water in Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1-A Good, wildcat in Southwest Borden County.
 The test was made in the top of the reef at 8,216-90 feet. The formation was topped at 8,174 feet, on a datum point of minus 8,672 feet. Present plans are to plug the wildcat back to approximately 3,330 feet and test the section at 3,250-3,330 feet in the San Andres where it had some good shows of possible production.
 Location is 760 feet from north and 2,090 feet from west lines of section 3, block 32, T-3-N, T&P survey and four and three-quarters miles northeast of Vasmour.

NE Midland Test Has No Dean Shows

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Fasken, Northwest Midland County wildcat, one mile west of the city limits of Midland, is making hole below 9,439 feet in lime and shale, in the Dean section of the lower Permian.
 The prospector ran a four-hour drillstem test in the Dean sand at 9,203-9,261 feet.
 Recovery was 86 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The prospector is due to continue to a possible bottom of 13,500 feet to explore the Ellenburger.
Only Slight Shows
 It had only slight shows of oil and gas in the Spraberry section of the Permian.
 Location is 660 feet from north-west and northeast lines of section 6, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey.
 No. 1 Fasken is reported to be approximately 75 feet low, geologically, to Lowe No. 1 Hill, a flowing discovery from the Wolfcamp sand of the lower Permian about four miles to the south.

SE Nolan Area To Get New Wildcat

The Hanley Company has spotted a 2,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Nolan County as its No. 1 Annie Lee Jagers.
 Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 304, block 64, H&TC survey and four miles east of Blackwell.
 Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin immediately.

Second Well Finals In Schleicher Field

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 250.8 barrels of 46.5 gravity oil for G. W. Strake No. 1 J. Forrest Runge, second well in the Huldade, North-Lower Canyon field in Central-North Schleicher County.
 The potential was based on a nine-hour gauge of 307.8 barrels through a 24 64-inch tubing choke. Production is from perforations at 5,611-26 and from open hole at 5,622-5,633 feet.
 Flowing pressure was 525 pounds on tubing and 480 pounds on casing. Gas-oil ratio was 636-1.
 The well is 1,650 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 66, block M, GH&SA survey. That puts it 900 feet north and 330 feet east of Hiawatha No. 1 Runge, the discovery well and only other producer in the field.

Race Riot Among Soldiers Reported By German Police

KARLSRUHE, GERMANY—(AP)—Almost 100 white and negro U. S. soldiers fought a wild battle in a German cafe here Tuesday night. Forty of them were taken to hospital, German police reported.
 The police refused to give details, other than to say no German patrons in the almost-ruined cafe were injured.
 A crowd of some 400 Germans returning from a nearby movie crowded the sidewalks in front of the cafe to watch the fight.
 U. S. Army authorities declined to make any statement on the fracas until their investigation is completed.

Indians Steal 10 Bases In Swatting Swatters 15 To 7

Midland and Sweetwater will conclude their two-game series at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Indian Park. Limited Service Pitcher Glenn Jones—who recently came to the Indians from Abilene—is slated to hurl for Midland. No Swatter hurler has been announced. The Indians begin an eight-day road trip Thursday.

The Midland Indians literally stole a game from the Sweetwater Swatters here Tuesday night, pilfering a total of 10 bases and out-running the visiting nine 15-7.

A 12-hit Midland attack—including First Baseman Jim Prince's third home run of the year—helped Veteran Eddie Jacome to his fifth win. Jacome also gave up 12 hits, but was able to beat down in the tight spots. Three Midland double plays helped him no little.

After the Swatters took a 1-0 lead in the initial frame, Midland tied it up in the same inning when Eddie Melillo stroled home from third after losing-pitcher Louis Saum had balked. In the second another tally was added on consecutive hits by Gordon Tanner and Kenny Jones and a long ball by Dick Potak, scoring Tanner. Then in the third Prince blasted a Saum pitch out of the park to put Midland into a tie at 4-4. Sweetwater had scored three runs in the third off hits by McGaha, Sitter, Graham and Funk.

Leading 5-4, going into the fifth inning, the Indians exploded for eight runs off six hits, three walks and a pair of Swatters errors. Prince started by walking. Cowar reached first on a hit and took second on a Swatter error, Tanner blasted a triple, Jones walked, Potak singled, Jacome singled and went to third on an error. Shortstop Dick Campbell singled, Melillo walked and Cowar collected his second hit of the inning as the Midland rally ended. Jesus Zabala went to the mound for Sweetwater mid-way of the rally but could not halt it.

After that the Indians steadily added to their lead until the ninth inning, when the Swatters collected three runs to cut the Midland victory margin to 15-7.

Shortstop Dick Campbell joined the Indians for the game, coming from Lubbock. He normally is a third baseman. Scooter Hughes, former Indian shortstop now with Oklahoma City, did not arrive here Tuesday as scheduled.

First Baptist And Lutherans Whack Methodist Teams

The Methodists took it on the chin Tuesday night in Church League softball play as First Baptist and Lutheran hammered First Methodist 22-0 in the opening game and Lutheran hammered First Methodist 22-0 in the second contest.

B. R. Howard limited St. Mark's to two hits. Loser Jimmie Kennedy was touched for nine hits. Two home runs by Right Fielder Scott paved the way for the Baptists' win. Scott smacked a four-bagger with one on in the third and hacked a grand slammer in the fifth frame.

Hugh Reynolds elbowed Lutheran to its one-sided win as he let the losers down on three hits and helped his own cause with a home run in the fifth inning. Durio, Lutheran catcher, hit a pair of round-trippers and Becker, center fielder, got another. Lutheran pounded 15 hits off Methodist hurlers Mnotleth and Bliss, running up a 10-0 lead in the first inning.

Church League standings:

First Baptist	2 0
Lutheran	1 1
First Methodist	1 1

Longhorns Make History By Losing To Frog Nine 3-4

By The Associated Press
The Texas Longhorns, perennial champs of the Southwest Conference, made baseball history Tuesday by losing a game.

The Steers lost 3-4, to Texas Christian. All the Frogs' runs were unearned.

Pitcher Knobby Graves throttled the Longhorns after a rally in the ninth to upset the loop-leading, chagrined Texas nine.

In the other conference game of the day, Buddy Parker paced Baylor to a 6-5 victory over Southern Methodist at Waco.

It was Parker's third double of the day plus singles by Charlie Price and Harry Davis that gave the Bears their 10-inning win.

Texas League—Missions Cop Top Spot, Leave Rest To Challengers

By The Associated Press
If the battle for second place in the Texas League were any closer all the boys would be behind each other.

Pive clubs are fighting for that spot and there's just one game separating them. Most anything that happens can make a whole of a difference now.

Just to show you how narrow is the margin—second-place Oklahoma City is only 37 percentage points to the good over sixth-place Dallas.

Tuesday night, front-running San Antonio picked up a game over Oklahoma City by blasting Tulsa 15-4. It was a sorry homecoming for the Oilers, who haven't been able to win enough games even to hold a decent spot in the cellar on their road trip.

Oklahoma City, meanwhile, was taking a 6-4 trimming from Houston while Beaumont clipped Port Worth 3-0 and Dallas best Shreveport 3-1.

Four Tulsa pitchers were hammered for 19 hits as the Missions broke in front and led all the way, pushing over six runs in the seventh. John O'Donnell not only limited Tulsa to nine hits but he got himself three and batted in four runs.

WT-NM League—Blue Sox, Dukes Continue To Squeak Through Contests

By The Associated Press
If any league played them closer than the West Texas-New Mexico they'd have to have tie games.

Tuesday night was a good example. Three of the four games were decided by one run, the other by two.

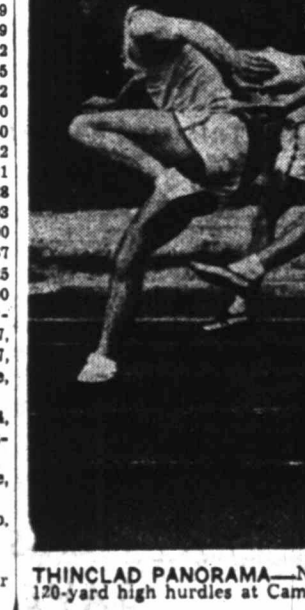

Leading Albuquerque edged Pampa 11-10 and second-place Abilene licked Clovis 9-7.

Albuquerque got its runs early then sat back and watched Pampa try to catch up. The latter fell to fourth place while Lamesa moved into third by nosing Borger 4-3.

Ed Arthur scattered nine singles better than Earl Butler could ten hits as Lamesa posted its win over Borger.

Abilene spiked the pan for five runs in the eighth to whip Clovis. Lubbock edged out over Amarillo 9-8 in 10 innings, an error with the bases loaded proving the payoff.

Amarillo led 8-7 going into the ninth when H. C. Sargent tied the score with a home run.

Longhorn League—Colts Increase Loop Margin By Trouncing Rockets

By The Associated Press
The San Angelo club of the Longhorn League may be nicknamed the Colts but it is taking the league like Count Turf took the Kentucky Derby—going away.

Tuesday night the Colts defeated Roswell 10-4 for their tenth straight victory. The win kept them four full games ahead of the field in the current campaign.

Vernon, second-place club, held the pace with a 17-12 win over Odessa. Midland defeated Sweetwater 15-7, and Big Spring had a field day in beating Artesia 18-1.

San Angelo rallied for seven runs in the sixth inning to build up its margin over Roswell. Manager Dutch Funderuck hammered a three-run home run in the big inning to set the spark to the explosion.

Cotton Russell pitched and batted Vernon to the victory over Odessa. The right-hander went the distance in the wild scoring contest and also collected three hits in five trips, including a home run.

Midland had a big eight-run fifth inning for its margin over Sweetwater. Wildness on the part of Swatter pitchers contributed to the score.

Big Spring pounded 17 hits off four Artesia pitchers with Gus Ungo leading the way. Ungo had six hits in six trips to the plate. Frank Perez limited Artesia to only four safeties.

The scores:

King's Row

by LARRY KING

The Reds took over Tuesday afternoon at Memorial Stadium, and by that statement we don't mean to say the Commies are over-running Midland.

But the Reds did have too much for the Whites as Tugboat Jones' red-shirted team defeated the White Shirts 14-6 in a lengthy scrimmage session at the Memorial workout field.

Only a Spring scrimmage game it was, but to see Jones and aides Red Rutledge and Audrey Gill, you'd have supposed it was the final workout before a state playoff game. They had the MHS hopefuls doing more than a little blocking and tackling.

Despite the White's loss, they furnished the best linemen of the scrimmage in Stan Coker, the 220-pound tackle who last year was named all-district.

"Stan has more fire and chatter than the rest of the team put together," Jones said Tuesday.

As large and aggressive as Coker is now, he should be a holy terror by Fall.

On the Red side of the scrimmage line, big Ralph Brooks looked good in the backfield as did Larry Friday. Both are lettermen of the 1950 outfit. Dick Spencer, up from the "B" team, was a fine looking back also. Spencer and another ex-B player—M. A. Rose—looked good in following their interference and driving for extra yards. Big Harold Hensley was impressive running, and Roy Kinsey has turned into quite a tackler—as has Brooks.

The line had few standouts, as neither team could stop the other with any degree of success. The 14-6 score was that low only because the ball was brought upfield after each touchdown and the opposing team then had to drive 100 yards to touchdown land.

We thought the team looked fair, but Jones wasn't especially happy with the workouts.

"Too bagged," he commented, then went into a lengthy discussion on the team's weak points.

Which is typical of a coach and perhaps it should be taken with a grain of salt, although the Bulldogs indeed could be a smoother team than they now are.

Perhaps the game with the 19 graduating seniors—set for May 22—will provide some answers to questionable spots in the present lineup.

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the nation's golf queen, teamed with Alice Bauer Tuesday to defeat Patty Berg and Marlene Bauer 2-up in an exhibition match at the California Golf Club.

Mrs. Zaharias and Miss Berg will play off their 905 tie in the third lap of the 144-hole Weathervane at Indianopolis next week. Alice and Marlene rank fifth and seventh, respectively, in the Weathervane standings.

Unknown Rookies Coming Through For Cubs, Detroit

By The Associated Press
The Mantles and the McDougals may get the publicity but two other rookies are fast showing that they have the stuff from which stars are made.

Bob Schultz and Ray Herbert, a pair of rookie pitchers, have demonstrated that they have the ability to stick in the majors. And they have done it without fanfare.

Schultz, a 27-year-old left-hander, pitched the Chicago Cubs to a gritty 2-1, nine-hit victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in a National League tilt Tuesday.

Herbert, a 21-year-old right-hander, notched his fourth victory of the season without a loss in relief roles as Detroit edged New York, 6-5 in 11 innings in the American League. Herbert has accounted for half of Detroit's eight wins this season.

Only one other game was scheduled in American League. Philadelphia beat Chicago 9-4 in a daylight affair.

In the National League, New York beat St. Louis 6-2; Boston nipped Cincinnati 2-1, and Pittsburgh clipped Philadelphia 9-3. All games were under the lights except the Chicago-Brooklyn contest.

Leo Diegel, 52, Former Golf Great, Is Cancer Victim

NORTH HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—Leo Diegel, 52, who won many of golf's top honors, died at his home Tuesday night after a lingering illness. He was stricken with cancer of the throat and lungs four years ago.

Diegel, who used an unorthodox, arms-akimbo putting stance, was PGA champ in 1928 and 1929. He represented the United States on the Ryder Cup team from 1927 through 1933, finished second in the British Open in 1920 and third in 1929 and was third in the U. S. Open in 1931.

Theory Gives Hope To 'Forgotten Quarter Million' Mental Patients, Once Thought Beyond Treatment

Kansas Rites Set For Orville Moore

Funeral services will be held Thursday in Valley Center, Kan., for Orville D. Moore, who was electrocuted late Monday while working in the Tex-Harvey oil field. Moore was killed instantly when the gin pole on a truck, used in installing a water pump, came in contact with a high voltage line. He was superintendent of shops and waterworks for the Tex-Harvey Oil Company. Virgil Fikes, 27, Big Spring, was reported recovering Wednesday in Midland Memorial Hospital from burns received in the same accident. Moore, who had been a resident of Midland the last 18 months, is survived by his widow and two sons.

SAN FRANCISCO —(NEA)—The fate of some 250,000 Americans may be determined by the outcome of a bold experiment underway at California's Stockton State Hospital.

Should the experiment succeed, the "forgotten quarter million" — or many of them — may literally be "recalled to life" as Twentieth Century Rip Van Winkles. This mass of humanity, enough to populate a good-sized city, are the "chronic and deteriorated cases" who exist in the back wards of the nation's mental hospitals. Most of them have known no other world but the locked wards for from five to 50 years.

While psychiatrists have striven to cure or improve the other half million patients in American mental hospitals, this group has been uniformly neglected, receiving only "custodial care." The theory has been advanced that it would be sheer waste to lavish attention and limited treatment facilities on them, when the same resources applied to milder patients would produce more immediate results.

The theory was challenged — if not rejected — by Dr. Frank F. Tallman, director of the California state hospital system, who formerly held similar posts in Ohio and Michigan.

...new hope for them is the aim of a bold experiment at California's Stockton State Hospital. Hitherto, patients with advanced mental maladies have been neglected, except for "custodial care."

Among the previously neglected patients, all of whom had languished in the hospital for up to 20 years each, 56 per cent showed "marked improvement" in the half-year period.

Show Recovery
 About 20 of them displayed such remarkable discovery that they were released to the care of relatives and friends, prepared to resume normal living in "the outside world."

Of the 200 patients receiving no special attention, only 10 per cent registered any degree of improvement — about the same number of the other group who were virtually cured.

Significance of the experiment, both in human terms and dollar signs, is summed up by the case of Patient G.

Patient G became deranged two decades ago. He was committed to a state hospital, and stayed in the Stockton institution until the total push treatment experiment suddenly lifted him from the shelf of wasted lives. Now he is going back to catch up with a world where jet propulsion, atomic energy and television were only fantastic dreams when he first became an innocent victim of mental illness.

It cost the taxpayers of California an estimated $30,000 to provide custodial care for Patient G during the 20 years of his neglected illness.

Would it have been cheaper in the long run, and also more humane, to provide total push treatment aimed at obtaining the earliest possible cure when he was first admitted to the institution? Such treatment is admittedly far more expensive for the short haul than merely attempting to keep the patient alive.

When the final results of the Stockton experiment are tallied, Dr. Tallman and Dr. Gallioni hope to have a conclusive answer.

"I don't think any case is completely hopeless," he said. "I'd like to see if we can do anything for these people besides keeping them alive in institutions."

Dr. Tallman, a white-haired enthusiast, sold his idea to the California legislature. The lawmakers voted the funds for the Stockton experiment which may reverse present mental hospital procedures.

Four hundred male patients, all previously regarded as "purely custodial cases" for whom curative treatment was impractical, are human guinea pigs in the crucial test. From Back Wards

Half of the group were moved from the back wards to special quarters on the hospital ranch. A staff of doctors, nurses, therapists, social workers and attendants was assigned to give them intensive, total push treatment.

The other 200 patients, the so-called "control group," were scattered about the other hospital wards, receiving only the usual level of institutional care for their type of case. This "usual level" amounts to feeding them and attending to any physical ailments, but making no determined effort to cure the mental illness which resulted in their commitment.

First six months of the experiment have already convinced Dr. Elmer F. Gallioni, director of the pilot study, this his final report may result in liberation for the "forgotten 250,000."

Schools Plan Music Programs

Midland schools will observe National Music Week with programs open to the public Wednesday and Friday.

The city school music festival, with all the choirs in the school, approximately 555 voices, will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in the high school auditorium.

It will be the second year for this event, which last year attracted a large attendance of parents and others interested in music.

Appearing on the stage will be various separate and multiple choirs of young singers. It will be the last musical appearance here of the senior members of the choirs before they graduate at the end of this month.

Teach Children How To Avoid Accidents Or Court Disaster

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
Some judges require traffic violators in their courts to go through the accident wards of the nearest hospital. It is an experience not easy to forget, and the reckless driver generally becomes a great deal more cautious afterwards. Not long ago I saw a boy with one arm in a sling and badly burned on the face as a result of firecrackers exploding in his pocket.

Automobile accidents and those from fireworks are only a few of the many injuries which help to fill our hospitals and morgues. They seem particularly tragic because they almost always could have been prevented by a little care and thoughtfulness for others.

As was pointed out recently, too, accidents kill more children than any single disease and actually are responsible for one-third as many deaths in children as all diseases combined. Add to this the maimed, both children and grown-ups, and we have a problem more important than polio or almost any other disease.

Adults are the ones who have the greatest responsibility not only in avoiding accidents to themselves but in lessening the danger for children. Careful driving of motor vehicles is of course one.

Parents who willingly allow their youngsters to use dangerous firecrackers are "playing with fire." During the first 20 months or so of life, the child is almost completely under the responsibility of the parents and the parents are to blame if the child gets burned, poisoned, or drowned.

Growing youngsters cannot be kept in cotton wool all the time, but neither should they be permitted to do risky things until they show some ability to take care of themselves.

For example, youngsters need to know something about crossing streets safely, about not getting out of the wrong side of cars, and about how to test branches when they climb trees. Certainly many tragic accidents could be avoided by attention to matters of this kind in which parents lead children toward responsibility on their own accounts.
