Ellenburger Is High In Gulf 2-E-B Glass, SW Martin Prospector

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 2-E-B George W. Glass, Southwest Martin County wildcat, 13 miles north of Midland and 18 miles west of Stanton topped the Ellenburger at 12,610 feet. That makes it have a datum of minus 9,737 feet.

The No. 2-E-B Glass is 148 feet high on the top of the Ellenburger to the same concern's No. 1-E-B Glass, one-half of a mile south and one-eighth of a mile west.

No. 2-E-B Glass drilled to 12,861 feet and took a one hour and 30 minute drillstem test at 12,000-12,861 feet. No gas or fluid came to the surface while the tool was open.

Falling Test Tool
Operator was pulling the drillstem test tool at last report.

Location is 662 feet from south and 670 feet from east lines of section 12, block 39, T-1-N, R-8-E survey.

Gulf No. 1-E-B Glass drilled into the Ellenburger. It had slight shows of oil in that formation, but also made water. It was plugged back and completed as a discovery from the Spraberry sand to open the Glass field.

No. 2-E-B Glass has also shown for possible production in the Spraberry and it has flowed oil from the Pennsylvanian lime to assure a discovery from that formation.

Downpours Hit Panhandle, Plains

Senate Probe Cut Short By Hot Argument

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Senate inquiry into Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal was broken off Wednesday by a hot argument over whether Gen. Omar Bradley should tell about his private talks with President Truman.

Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Tuesday refused to tell what he and Truman said to each other prior to the firing of the Far Eastern commander. Wednesday, the White House said Truman does not want Bradley to do so.

Nevertheless, some Republicans on the inquiry panel—made up of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees—were insistent Bradley should tell.

While Bradley sat silently in the witness chair more than two hours Wednesday, the senators argued heatedly. Charges, implied and direct, of trying to play politics figured in the debate.

In the upshot:

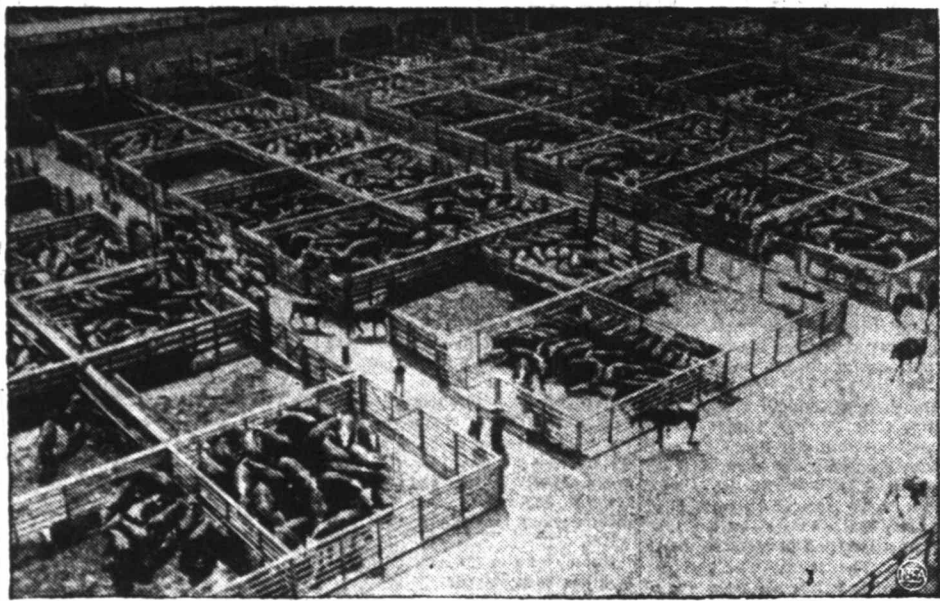

- Bradley was dismissed as a witness until Monday.
- The senators agreed to vote at 11 a.m. Thursday on whether they should insist that the five-star general tell them about his conference with the President.

Fear GOP 'Sabotage'
This left the course of the inquiry up in the air for the immediate future, but stymied it for the day at least.

Atop the charges hurled in the committee room itself, Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) told reporters on leaving that he fears Republicans are "trying to sabotage" the whole inquiry into MacArthur's ouster.

Fulbright told reporters: "Apparently things are not quite going the way they (Republicans) like. I think the inference can be drawn that because of this they are making unfair and untrue charges about 'pulling down the iron curtain.'"

This was a reference to a contention (Continued On Page 13)

EARLY TO MARKET—Cattle pens at the Union Stock Yards in Chicago are almost filled as 17,000 head, the heaviest run in several months, arrive. Many farmers marketed their beef early to beat OPS ceilings.

Amarillo Has 6.83 Inches; More Falling

Downpours ranging up to all-time record proportions continued to flood much of Texas Wednesday.

Amarillo had 6.83 inches of rain up to noon for the heaviest 24-hour total in the 59-year history of the Panhandle city's Weather Bureau. Even larger amounts were recorded in the city itself—and rain still was falling.

The heavy Spring rains caused some damage over the state, but their benefit to the drought-stricken croplands far exceeded the loss.

About 1,000 telephones were knocked out by the rain in Amarillo, and some damage was reported to culverts and bridge approaches on the North Plains, where creeks ran bank full.

Near Amherst in the South Plains, 30,000 acres of freshly planted cotton were washed out for a loss placed at $80,000.

Great torrents of rain also struck southwest of San Antonio toward Uvalde Tuesday. Probably the heaviest rain was a 10-inch cloudburst in Medina County, not far from San Antonio.

The soggiest spot in the Panhandle was Happy, in Swisher County, where a soaking seven-inch rain fell. Water backed up into stores and had to be pumped out of a pit at a grain elevator.

H. C. Winburn, meteorologist at the Amarillo Weather Station, said the last rain even to approach the present ground water was 3.23 inches on May 6, 1949. The heaviest previous rain over a 24-hour period was 4.38 inches on May 24-25, 1936.

Acheson has been under heavy fire from Republican Congress members and there have been persistent reports that he is quitting. President Truman told his news conference last week there was no foundation in fact for the reports.

The subject came up at Acheson's news conference when a reporter asked what his intentions about resigning were. He led off by saying that question was an old friend, then went on to state his position.

Acheson Says He'll Keep Job

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said Wednesday he has "no intention" of resigning and intends to stay in the Administration "as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson was asked about his attitude toward his job at a news conference and made this comment which he later authorized for direct quotation: "I have no intention of resigning."

"The matter has been talked about many times and my position has been stated many times. I enlisted for the duration and am prepared to stay as long as the President wants me to stay."

Acheson has been under heavy fire from Republican Congress members and there have been persistent reports that he is quitting. President Truman told his news conference last week there was no foundation in fact for the reports.

Chinese May Start Big Offensive Under Monday's Full Moon

AN ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(P)—The Chinese Reds may launch their next big offensive under Monday's full moon—if they don't strike earlier.

One report from Red prisoners says the next big blow was charted in Moscow and Peiping... timed to strike in three waves. The third and final phase would throw more than 1,000,000 Reds in an all-out smash to drive the Allies into the sea at the big southeastern port of Pusan.

The goal: to clear Korea of the Allies by the June 25 first anniversary of the Communist invasion.

Three times in their last four offensives the Chinese have hit under the light of a full or almost full moon. The exception was February's Chipyong-Wonju smash, a failure.

Most Allied officers predict the new offensive will come between Thursday and Monday. A few say the Reds will hold off until early June.

But all agree the Chinese are loaded and cocked and can explode southward any time they choose.

Striking Force Massed
A Red striking force of 390,000 troops is massed between Kaesong in the west and Chunchon on the central front. At least half are fresh troops.

They are supported in the east and west by about 100,000 Red Koreans.

The main mass of the enemy striking force is aimed down the Sukhan valley, leading toward the old capital, Seoul.

Army Seizes Bolivia Government, Cites 'Immediate Danger'

LA PAZ, BOLIVIA—(P)—The Army seized the government of this tin-rich nation Wednesday, claiming it was in "real and immediate danger."

Maj. Gen. Ovidio Quiroga, Army chief of staff, named a military junta headed by Gen. Hugo Ballivian as president and defense minister, after President Mamerto Urriolagoitia resigned and left the country.

The coup came in an atmosphere of tension following the May 6 elections in which Victor Paz Estenssoro, exiled leader of the nation's tin miners, won the most votes but not enough for the clear majority which would entitle him automatically to the presidency without an act of Congress.

Paz Estenssoro issued a statement in Buenos Aires saying the coup was an attempt to prevent him from returning to take the presidency. He said he was awaiting more details, but his first impression was that the president's resignation and flight from the country was "part of a deal with the Army" to keep the Nationalist Revolutionary Movement, which Paz Estenssoro heads, out of power.

The military junta issued a manifesto saying the new government would control mineral resources in the country and use them "for the benefit of the public and in projection of the progress and development of the nation."

County Judge Says Bond Issue Will Not Create Tax Burden

A proposed $1,250,000 bond issue, on which an election will be held Saturday to help finance the Front Street improvement program and other highway projects, will not place a financial strain on Midland County, County Judge Clifford C. Keith said Wednesday.

The additional bond issue was asked after bids on the drainage project—first stage of the overall program—exceeded estimates by some 50 per cent.

"I can't state flatly that there will be no increase in the tax rate," said Judge Keith, "but all indications are that it will be slight."

"The bonds, for instance, will not be sold for six or eight months and we won't have to levy to pay for them until the following year."

"In the meantime the assessed valuation figure for Midland County is growing. This year it is expected to be almost double that of last year and other increases are probably in the years to follow."

The current figure is $16,000,000 and County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed estimates the figure will climb to more than $25,000,000 this year.

Judge Keith pointed out, too, that a 10-cent levy for the courthouse and jail bonds will be eliminated from next year's tax bill.

"There are some $37,000 or $38,000 in these bonds still outstanding," he said.

"These bonds can be recalled. I think next April and we have enough in the sinking fund now to pay them off."

Meanwhile, a work order on the $720,000 project is expected to be issued within a few days.

This project calls for the construction of a cross-town storm sewer along the route of the Front Street improvement program.

When it is completed, Judge Keith said, the state is ready to swing into the job of widening Front Street to provide Midland with a badly-needed traffic artery for cross-city travel.

Water Problem To Hold Top Billing At Special Council Meet

Midland's water situation will hold top billing at a special meeting Thursday afternoon of the City Council.

Mayor Perry Pickett Wednesday termed it "our No. 1 problem," and City Manager W. H. Oswald said a discussion of the problem will be the major item at the council meeting.

The meeting Thursday, beginning at 4 p.m., is the first of a series of weekly meetings of the group. The councilmen decided to hold weekly meetings, in addition to the regular semi-monthly meetings, "until we have caught up on our work."

Oswald said the water situation would be discussed thoroughly at the meeting and all available background material will be presented, particularly for the benefit of the new mayor and the three new councilmen.

The assigning of top priority to the water situation came after the Commissioners Court of Martin County Monday afternoon directed the creation of a water conservation district.

The directors of the district will have the power to regulate the drilling of water wells and the production of water.

Joe W. Sheehy Is Named To Texas Federal Judgeship

WASHINGTON—(P)—Joe Warren Sheehy was nominated Wednesday by President Truman as federal judge for the Eastern District of Texas.

Sheehy was named to succeed the late Randolph Bryant.

His election climaxed weeks of speculation over the appointment.

Sheehy has been an attorney at Tyler, Texas, since 1935. He is a native Texan, and a member of the Texas Supreme Court Advisory Commission on Rules of Civil Procedure.

He was born at Saratoga in Hardin County and was reared at Floresville, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sheehy, reside. He attended Baylor University and the law school of the University of Texas and served 42 months in the Army Air Forces in World War II at AAF Headquarters in Washington, attaining the rank of major.

Sheehy is a law associate of Callo-way Calhoun of Tyler, who had been mentioned prominently as a possible choice for the judgeship.

Ceiling Prices On Service Industries Now Are Effective

LUBBOCK—The government regulation placing ceiling prices on commercial and personal services went into effect Wednesday.

The regulation covers barbers and beauticians, auto, radio and household appliance repairs, parking lots, filling stations, laundry and dry cleaning and tailor shops, shoe repairs, checking accounts, bowling alleys, skating rinks, golf fees and admissions to amusement parks, and additional services.

C. J. Taylor, price executive of the West Texas district, said the new order will benefit the public by making prices clearly visible in every retail service place.

Substantial changes from the price ceilings under the general freeze order are not expected, he said, as a result of the new regulation. However, if the price of any service has been raised unjustifiably since the January 26 freeze, it must be rolled back under the new order.

TESTIFIES—Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, testifies before the congressional committee hearing in Washington on the MacArthur firing.

Police Grab 13 In Boxcar Party

Midland police staged a railroad boxcar party Tuesday night.

Sweeping through the empty boxcars on the railroad sidings here, they arrested 13 men and booked them on vagrancy charges.

Brought into City Corporation Court Wednesday morning, they were given suspended sentences by Judge J. M. DeArmond along with orders to go to work or leave the city.

Maybank Fears DPA Rejection

WASHINGTON—(P)—The chairman of the Senate Banking Committee says the Defense Production Act (DPA) and the wage-price control act authorizes are in danger of rejection by Congress.

"I want to warn the Administration," Senator Maybank (D-NC) told Price Director Michael V. Di-Salle, that "I do not know if there is going to be any extension."

The present law expires June 30. Maybank's committee is holding hearings on President Truman's request that DPA be extended, broadened and strengthened.

Airman Dies, Two Hurt In Auto Crash

WICHITA FALLS—(P)—One airman was killed and two others injured critically in a head-on automobile collision south of Randlett, Okla., early Wednesday.

The fatality was Sgt. Everett Brumley, 28, Tulsa, Okla.

Injured are Cpl. Francis J. West, 18, of Woodlyn, Pa., and S/Sgt. James M. Murphy, 37, Lawton, Okla.

All three were stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base here.

Straight Loan Basis For India Grain Voted

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Senate voted Wednesday 63 to 32 to put the proposed shipping of 2,000,000 tons of grain to famine-threatened India on a straight loan basis.

The provision was written into a Senate bill which calls for supplying half the grain as a loan and half as a gift.

Acceptance of the amendment apparently cleared away any obstacle to final passage of the bill later in the day.

Jebb Vows Britain To Stick With U.S. In Fight On Reds

NEW YORK—(P)—Sir Gladwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to the United Nations, pledged Britain will stand "wholeheartedly with the United States in the general struggle against Communist-inspired aggression."

Jebb defended Britain's record in the Korean war and her trade policy toward Red China in a speech before the New York City Bar Association.

Great Britain, he declared, "is wholeheartedly with the United States in the general struggle against Communist-inspired aggression. x x x Everything we can do, short of fatally weakening our main position, to assist the general effort, we shall do, even if that results, as it may well result, in some lowering of the standard of living in Great Britain itself, which has been so laboriously built up since the war."

He said Britain early in the war halted exports of strategic materials to Communist China, particularly petroleum products, but not rubber. Now, he said, rubber shipments also are embargoed.

Baptists Vote On Church Site

More than 200 members of the First Baptist Church have marked absentee ballots on the propositions to be voted on Wednesday night concerning a new building program.

A meeting of the church membership of more than 1,700 resident members will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to decide two propositions: Moving of the church to a new site on property donated to the church by the family of the late E. P. Cowden, and sale of the present property after the start of construction of a new church plant.

The church has raised more than $700,000 in its building fund.

Members not able to attend the Wednesday night meeting have been given the privilege of voting by absentee ballot.

Peggy Lee Divorces Guitar-Playing Hubby

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. —(AP)—Shapely Peggy Lee sang "He didn't love me any more," to a superior court judge and thus shed the husband who arranged most of her song successes.

The 30-year-old blonde said guitar playing Dave Barbour told her he wanted his freedom. That caused her to lose weight and become emotionally upset.

She was divorced yesterday on grounds of cruelty and was given custody of their seven-year-old daughter, Niki Lee Barbour, and awarded $100 a month for the child's support. Miss Lee asked no alimony.

The musicians, who have composed many hit songs together, married March 8, 1943. The marriage hit its sour note last April 28 when they separated.

No Comment From Margaret Truman On Hollywood Role

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — The word is out that Margaret Truman's name will blaze from theater marquees before the year is over.

Movietown crystal-ball-gazers are predicting almost everything but "The Life of Jeanette MacDonald" for Margaret now that she's cut her acting teeth in NBC's radio version of "Jackpot" opposite Jimmy Stewart.

Negotiations are on, but the President's daughter wouldn't give me one teeny-weeny hint as to the title of her first movie.

I took a wild guess.

Would Margaret be melting into Marie Lanza's strong arms as a warbling movie queen? Hummm! Margaret did a double-take and said:

"Where did that one come from? Let's field it right back."

She was downright sorry about it, the White House thrush apologized, but she couldn't honestly say that Deanna Durbin's movies influenced her.

"I saw most of them and I loved them," she smiled, "but I had decided quite a while before that that I wanted to be a singer."

Romance for Margaret? Would she be having any Hollywood dates? Would she be sweeping into a Hollywood night club with the town's most eligible bachelor, Gregg Bautzer, during her stay? Margaret's eyes widened.

"Who," she asked, "is Gregg Bautzer? I don't know him."

No Credits, Please

Friends of Joan Bennett and Producer Walter Wanger are pooh-poohing the whispers of sour notes in their marriage. The glue's still holding fast. Marie Wilson and actor Bob Fallon have set September as the month for their Las Vegas wedding. Mrs. Gary Cooper and Peter Lawford may be just good pals, but they ought to know that the tongue-waggers are having a field day.

A meeting of the all-male Amateur Chef Society brought Dennis Morgan to the floor to talk about some new recipes. With current Hollywood headlines, his subject, no doubt, was "How to Cook a Red Herring."

Hollywoodites who know Shelley Winters best are betting 10 to 1 she never marries Farley Granger. She's already denying their engagement and press agents are blushing. Just a publicity gas?

Red-haired Kenneth Tobey's easy acting style in "The Thing" — his smoothness will give Spencer Tracy competition — may be seen next in Howard Hawks' "The Big Sky." Grims Tobey through his freckles: "The deal isn't set yet, but I'm hoping, I waited 10 years for that role in 'The Thing.' The part in 'Big Sky' is a role an actor waits for all his life."

"What's the matter?" asked Dottie.

"I gotta empty the popcorn out," explained Ridge.

SENSELESS SENSE
The sense of smell in birds is not very acute, although their organs are well developed. It is doubtful whether this sense is of much use to them.

STYMIES REDS—A New York City longshoreman emits a lurchy "Bronx cheer" as he surveys crates intended for shipment to Moscow. Fifteen home-bound members of the Soviets' UN delegation and the embassy staff liked the products of capitalism well enough to go on a last-minute shopping spree. They ended up with 18 crates of washing machines, refrigerators, television sets and other capitalistic gadgets. But the stuff remained on the pier when the liner America shoved off because longshoremen refused to handle it.

Gen. Taylor Is GFWC Defense Forum Speaker

HOUSTON—The end of the war in Korea is not in sight, the general said.

And he added: "But when the end does come, it will come when that country is on as a good basis as it was before war started."

Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, assistant chief of staff of the National Defense Forum Tuesday night at the sixtieth annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The American Army in Korea will match the best we had in the last war," he said.

"It's a feeling of 'bring 'em on—we can take what you've got.'"

"And remember—you talk about unlimited Chinese manpower—but a trained, armed Chinese manpower is not unlimited."

"It's like a prize fight. We don't know what round we're in. But this I can say—the enemy has been on the floor twice. He's getting up again, but he's getting up very slowly."

Two thousand delegates from 14,500 women's clubs in the United States and Alaska listened intently to General Taylor, to Nelson A. Rockefeller, chairman of the international development advisory board; and to Millard P. Caldwell, Jr., federal civil defense administrator.

They applauded when Rockefeller declared: "We can't live in a world community unless we make up our minds whether we're in it or out of it."

He named as threats in the world Soviet imperialism, hunger, poverty, illiteracy—and even if we didn't have Soviet imperialism, we'd have the rest."

The Aims Of War

Where the MacArthur hearings revolve around questions of fact, it obviously is impossible to comment fairly on developments until both sides have been heard. But certain matters of principle or general approach may be proper game for discussion at any stage. One such issue concerns the aims of war.

War is not fought for its own sake. It is not merely a grim kind of sport in which the sole object is to bomb and burn and kill the enemy until he is totally crushed.

War is an extension of politics into the realm of force. It is fought for political objectives. If this fact is lost sight of and it is treated virtually as a football contest—to be won or lost—then it may prove to have been fought in vain.

Certainly we do not wish to lose any war which we have undertaken, since we then would be unlikely to achieve our political aims. But neither do we want simply to win.

The important thing is to accomplish the objectives for which we entered the war. It is wholly conceivable that these goals could be attained without winning—in the sense of crushing the enemy. We might realize them just by preventing the enemy from winning.

This is an idea not too easy for Americans to digest. They like clear-cut decisions, easily-labeled results, signposts that stand out. Thus the late President Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" hurled at the Nazis was a popular war slogan. But political experts agree today that it is one of the root causes of our present difficulties in Europe. "Unconditional surrender" pre-supposed a completely beaten Germany with no shred of its former power left intact. To free peoples outraged at Nazi tyranny, this afforded a fine emotional escape valve. But it ignored the political realities.

Germany's great strength was one of the prime balancing factors in Europe. To destroy that power without thought of the political aftermath meant to create a vacuum toward which other strong nations would flow.

Germany is just such a vacuum today. Its value as a balance is gone. It has become simply an economic and political prize up for grabs between the two great postwar giants, Russia and the United States. It is the potential battleground of those countries, a doormat instead of the bulwark it might have become under wiser political guidance.

Some of the Americans who soundly criticized this shortsightedness in World War II now are unfortunately turning about to advocate that we make the same error in the Far East.

We entered Korea to choke off aggression in its earliest phase, to show that it would not pay. We hoped also to unify Korea under a free government. A failure to stand there, it was felt, would open the gates of Asia to the Communist flood and allow it to flow across Indo-China, Malaya, Siam, Burma, India, Indonesia.

That still is our goal—to prevent the communizing of Asia. If in the end we must fight Red China and even Russia all-out, we probably will. But if we can achieve our ends without that terrible conflict, we should. What matters now is not that we deal crushing defeat to the Communist Chinese in their homeland, but that we do what we set out to do when the first American soldier set foot on Korean soil last Summer.

Germany is just such a vacuum today. Its value as a balance is gone. It has become simply an economic and political prize up for grabs between the two great postwar giants, Russia and the United States. It is the potential battleground of those countries, a doormat instead of the bulwark it might have become under wiser political guidance.

Rotation Boosts Morale

When 1,500 Korea veterans arrived home in America the other day, it marked formal start of the Army's long-awaited rotation plan.

Under this program, GI's who have served extensively in Korean combat can look forward to relief. They are not on an endless muddy treadmill any more. They may earnestly entertain hopes of seeing home and family after doing their grim duty for an allotted time.

The plan reflects bitter Army experience in World War II. In that conflict the burden of combat duty fell too heavily on a relatively limited number of veteran divisions. Over and over they churned their way forward, sustaining frequently heavy losses and finding little relief. This was damaging to Army morale and perhaps even a real handicap to military strategy as well.

The rotation principle represents an honest effort to meet the problem. Every American concerned with his country's security and the future of its youth must wish for its complete success.

What some people don't know about good judgment is what keeps them in trouble a lot of the time.

There is not a great deal of difference between a sugar daddy and a plain sap.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
 Drew Pearson says: Fabulous Greeks control large part of world shipping; Marshall Plan shipments paid for Liberty ships; Rollcall of operators reveals vast shipping empire.

WASHINGTON—While the United States has poured several billion dollars into Greece to prevent that country from going communist, a little group of Greek shipping men have put across the type of high finance that helps inspire communism.

Paying almost no taxes in their own country, and not carrying Marshall Plan goods to Greece free, as did the government-owned vessels of France, England, Italy, etc., these Greek shipping men bought surplus American Liberty ships at bargain rates and, using Greek government finances to guarantee their deals, now control a large part of the world's shipping.

Meanwhile the American public has been paying heavy taxes to support Greece. Meanwhile also the average Greek citizen living in Greece is only a few steps removed from poverty, while the Greek shipping magnates live in luxury in New York and London.

What they did was to buy 98 surplus Liberty ships with Greek government credit. Immediately thereafter, shipping rates went up, thanks to the shipment of Marshall Plan goods abroad, and in two or three trips the Greek magnates were able to pay for the purchase price of the Liberty ships.

Then they turned around and used the huge profits to buy American oil tankers, and more recently to order construction of some of the biggest tankers in the oil industry. As a result they will almost dominate the long-term oil transport business.

Here is the continued rollcall of the fabulous Greeks and the shipping empire they have amassed—largely at the expense of Uncle Sam:

Aristotle S. Onassis, who operates a great tanker fleet through a Panamanian corporation, the Olympic Oil Line, has just ordered two 40,000-ton tankers to be built at Hamburg, plus three 21,000-ton tankers. Furthermore he has the cash to pay for them. Onassis also has a fleet of dry cargo vessels under the Panamanian flag, another fleet under the Honduran flag and at least one or two ships under the Norwegian flag. Formerly an Argentine resident, he owns homes in Athens, Greece, and Montevideo, Uruguay; is represented in this country by Simpson, Spence and Young of New York City.

Another fabulous Greek shipping czar is the Callimanopoulos family, owners of the Hellenic Lines, Ltd., and purchasers of two of the original, bargain-rate Liberty ships; also owners of at least one Panamanian shipping company, the General Shipping Corporation, which has been buying American ships and transferring them to the Panamanian flag. Callimanopoulos also owns an interest in the Fenton Steamship Company, Ltd.

Plenty Of Cash
 On March 28, 1946, Callimanopoulos reported the following assets to the Maritime Commission: $79,840.94 in cash at the National City Bank of New York; $260,000 in 2-1/4 per cent U. S. bonds; $58,000 in U. S. certificates of indebtedness. He also reported a joint account with his wife of $35,466.80 in cash in the National City Bank and 1,500 shares of the American Export Line. In February, he had $847,500 in 2-1/4 per cent U. S. bonds and $155,000 in U. S. certificates of indebtedness.

Another Greek magnate, John M. Carras has been buying American ships and transferring them to Panamanian registry under his own name, listing Santa Monica, Calif., as his address. He also owns Cia de Navegacion Las Cruces, S. A., a Panamanian corporation, together with a 25 per cent interest in the Atlantic Maritime Corporation, a Panamanian company controlled by the Livianos Brothers. Carras also has holdings in London, has been vice president and general manager of the Standard Shipbuilding Corporation of San Pedro, Calif.

A. G. Pappadakis owns the Panamanian Corporation, Cia Lama de Vapores, which has been buying American vessels for Panamanian registry. Pappadakis also bought one of the original Liberty ships in his own name. On March 30, 1947, he reported to the Maritime Commission that he had $775,000 in American banks.

C. G. Gratsos bought two of the original Liberty ships as C. G. Gratsos and Brothers, and another one as Constantine G. Gratsos. He now owns several vessels, flying both the Panamanian and Honduran flag. On Aug. 1, 1946, Gratsos reported to the Maritime Commission he had $85,000 in cash in New York banks and large holdings in Dracouli, Ltd., of London.

George N. Montasos and Sophocles E. Venetisios, now premier of Greece, bought an original Liberty ship, and now are listed as the owners of the Compania Maritima Isthmenia, a Panamanian corporation.

M. C. and J. C. Hadjipateras bought one Liberty ship each, are reported to be big operators in the Greek maritime circle. In 1947, M. C. Hadjipateras informed the Maritime Commission he had $160,000 in New York banks and 15,000 pounds in London banks. J. C. Hadjipateras reported he had $210,000 in New York banks and 25,000 pounds in London banks.

John S. Comantarios is another fabulous Greek shipper who has huge holdings in Nomikos, Ltd., of London; J. Comantarios, Ltd., of Buenos Aires; and considerable real estate and shipping interests in Greece, itself. The record of the 98 Liberty ships shows that one was sold to John S. Comantarios and one sold to Panos S. Comantarios. John S. also told the Maritime Commission he had $170,000 in deposit in the National City Bank of New York and other deposits in British and South American banks.

Other Greeks with big shipping interests include Dimitrios J. Chandris; George Contsouvelis; S. G. Marris A. and Michael A. Embricos; Leonard, Basil, Nicholas and Michael Gouladrias; Constantine Konialdis; Panaghis C. Lemos; Dimitrios Patgias; Nicholas Rethymnis; G. Alexandros and Nomicos Sigalas; Evangelos Nomikos, George Vergottis and D. J. Negroponte. Of these, Constantine Konialdis lists himself as a citizen of Uruguay, but has bought several American ships

In both rooms the opening lead was the ten of clubs, won in the South hand. Each declarer drew three rounds of trumps, finessed the queen of diamonds, and laid down the ace of diamonds. Then there was a big difference.

In the first room West played the five of diamonds on the first round of that suit and dropped the jack when dummy led the ace of diamonds. Declarer decided to ruff a diamond in the hope that West had only the king left. If that plan failed he could later stake success on a heart finesse.

Since the diamonds actually fell favorably, the first declarer made all 13 tricks.

In the second room West dropped the king of diamonds when dummy led the ace. This persuaded the declarer at that table that the two remaining diamonds were held by East. In that case it could do no good to ruff a diamond. A better plan, he thought, was to take a heart finesse and to use the ace of clubs for a second heart finesse.

Hence he abandoned the diamonds and finessed the ten of hearts. West 4-3 rather than 3-2. It should be noted, of course, that it costs nothing to drop the king when you also have the jack.

If South and West are both experts, there is no such thing as a "correct" play. It is merely a guessing game.

Since there are very few all-expert games, it's not a bad idea to remember West's little stratagem for future use.

In the average bridge game, West should drop the king in this situation when he wants declarer to abandon the suit. Most declarers will assume that the suit is split 4-3 rather than 3-2. It should be noted, of course, that it costs nothing to drop the king when you also have the jack.

UN Policies Get A Going Over As M'Arthur Debate Rolls On

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Questions about the United Nations—its possible strength and its apparent weaknesses—are emerging as principal side issues to controversy over the MacArthur firing.

General MacArthur's main complaint seems to be that his operations in Korea were hampered by United Nations policies, relayed to him through directives from the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

At one point in his testimony, General MacArthur recommended that the United States "go it alone," if necessary, in a more aggressive war against the North Korean and Chinese Communists. By this he meant carrying on the war without United Nations help.

Secretary of Defense George Marshall in his opening testimony revealed how the United Nations had blocked certain U. S. proposals for carrying on the Korean war in a more aggressive manner. Apparently they felt it would only enlarge the war, bringing the Red Chinese and Russian air forces into the war in greater strength.

"So," said General Marshall, "we had to drop that."

Criticism Of War Grows
 Faced with growing casualty lists and increased costs and inconveniences from the Korean war, there is growing tendency in the United States to blame the United Nations for getting us into this mess. There also is a growing tendency to blame the United Nations for not doing more to get us out of said mess, or preventing the United States from bringing it to a speedier conclusion.

Many instances can be cited: allowing Red China's delegates to come to Lake Success and testify against what they called "U. S. aggression in Korea," the bitter determined opposition to declaring Red China an aggressor; recent disclosures on shipment of war materials to Red China by British Commonwealth countries; reluctance to impose blockade and economic sanctions against Red China.

All these things contribute to the low esteem in which the United Nations now is held by many Americans.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio voiced this sentiment in his speech to the recent U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington, and got applauded for it.

"The United Nations was a weak reed on which to rely," said Senator Taft. "He went on to say that he would be in favor of continuing the United Nations as a diplomatic body to discuss questions and perhaps work out peace."

So They Say

We are losing face everywhere because our manpower question has not been answered, and consequently how can we ask other countries to settle their manpower questions?

—Eric Coker, Jr., American Legion national commander.

What we are trying to do is to hurry the day when our dollar bill can look 100 cents worth of merchandise squarely in the eye as one equal to another.

—Eric Johnston, economic stabilizer.

Questions and Answers

Q—Who was the youngest man ever appointed to the U. S. Supreme Court?
 A—Justice Story, who served from 1811 to 1845, was appointed just after his thirty-second birthday.

Q—Is it a good practice to plant a new forest tree for every one cut?
 A—No. The use of a method of cutting that will assure renewal of the woods by natural reproduction is generally more economical and satisfactory. Nature usually plants many times as many trees as man cuts, if man helps nature by providing proper conditions on the cut-over areas.

Q—How did the "funny bone" get its name?
 A—It is a humorous allusion to the humerus bone against which the lunar nerve presses when the back of the elbow is struck, producing a tingling sensation. It also is called the "crazy bone."

Q—Is Mexico included in Central America?
 A—No, geographically it is part of North America.

Q—Do snakes charm birds?
 A—Snakes do not "charm" birds in the usual sense of the word. The instinctive fear that a small bird or animal has for a snake paralyzes the victim's muscles and prevents its escape.

The FORM DIVINE by HILDEGARDE DOLSON

THE STORY: Lucille Webb, pushing 40, hears from an erstwhile friend about remarkable transformations wrought by the Beautiful-You School for beauty culture. She visits the place and finds the fee for the course is $200.

Lucille, rubbing her tub— "I thought, 'I ought to get out those bath salts Jolie gave me for Christmas,' and then forgot, as she always did. When she dressed, she omitted rouge, and thought self-pityingly, 'I look tired.' Then she put her face so close to the mirror she had to squint cross-eyed, and told herself, 'My skin's a lot better than Clarice's to start with. The name of Miss Wilit, and Registration Desk, bobbed to the surface, but this was too definite, and the memory of the blue-satin panty-waist was too overpowering. Her mind dove for cover. . . . Haven't read the last New Yorker."

Lucille dislodged the New Yorker carefully, then sprawled on the couch looking listlessly at cartoons. Suddenly the Beautiful-You advertisement hit her eyes with the impact of a flash bulb. This time, she had turned on the inner fountain of youth for a Mrs. Chittidock, and washed half of her away. In the after her torge was as strenuous as a blackmake, her profile was eagerly chin-up, and she carried a fur cape over one arm, as if she'd dashed to the photographer's between a cocktail and dinner date. One could almost feel the after giving off waves of a joie de vivre. Lucille, absentely stroking Sniffie's up-thrust head, thought, 'I'd look nice in a fur cape. The whimsically cheek-boned man appeared, to say fondly, to a vivacious, laughing, fur-caped Lucille: "You never seem to get tired."

her self the witty conversationalist of the family, although most of it took place in her own head. Face to face with new acquaintances, she was too prone, unknowingly, to divide people into two groups: rather dull, and worthy only of items about children and dogs, or sophisticated and therefore so critical it was nerve-racking to wonder what to say or how they'd react, which seemed to matter even if she disliked them. Arthur had never come under either category.

THEY had met three years after she came from Rillings, Pa., (population 13,000) to New York. Her older brother Lyle was working in the export division of Rub-dub, and had got the 22-year-old Lucille a job doing research reports. It consisted of going through trade papers and medical journals and writing synopses of pertinent articles for Rub-dub executives. Lucille, so recently an English major that flecks of purple passages still clung to her hair, was frustrated by the fact that she couldn't use adjectives in synopses. However, she was conscientious enough to do what she was hired for, and young enough to feel that living on one's own salary of $22.50 was to dabble one's feet in success and romance. Unfortunately, during the third month at work, she met Rodney Mool, and the effect was as painful as going in the water too soon after lunch.

Rodney was an intense young man who wore dark shirts with dark ties. He sweated out slogans for Rub-dub because, as he immediately taught Lucille, publishers were small-souled, gross-stomached, capitalist morons who would never dare publish masterpieces of truth. She read Rodney's novel in manuscript with the unfocused, new-born eyes of love, and convinced herself it was a powerful, searing job. Rodney also kindly taught her words like lumpen proletariat and several misquotations from Veblen on the theory of conspicuous waste. When she tried to assert herself, groping for a kind of balance, he would push her back violently. The truth is that balance made Rodney's ego teeter wildly.

Spriling Speaks On 'World Affairs, At B&PW Banquet

The critical condition of world affairs was emphasized by Robert E. Stripling, former chief investigator of the House Un-American Activities Committee, in an address to members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Midland at their annual boss' banquet Tuesday evening in Hotel Scharbauer's Crystal Ballroom.

"It is time men and women became conscious of their responsibilities," Stripling, now a Midland oil operator, declared. "The world is in the midst of a great conflict. It concerns all of us.

"Decency and civilization must survive. That is our responsibility as Christians and Americans. Communism and democracy are incompatible. We seek to build a world of freedom for the individual. We must recognize the dangers which we face.

"We must be conscious that we are citizens, and as citizens we have a responsibility to our government and to the future of mankind."

Discusses MacArthur
Discussing the recent removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Far Eastern command, Stripling declared MacArthur "aroused an apathetic people to their responsibilities."

"We have been betraying our great heritage, the freedom to vote," Stripling discussed the importance of the atomic bomb and the great advances made by America with this weapon, and asserted only the people can determine when and where it will be used.

"The Soviet Union is not sapping its strength by fighting us. It is using its satellites.

"It is time for the American people to make the decisions. Write your senator and your congressmen and let them know how you stand on the important questions and what you are thinking."

Criticizes 'Limited War'
He criticized the proposals for "limited war" and appeasement of the Truman Administration, declaring the "Soviets intend to take over this world."

"Any compromise will be our downfall. The world will be either free or slave. There is no half-way mark. If the Communists succeed, we will lose everything we have. It is time for decision. It is time for each of us to become a citizen and to tell the world we are proud to be Americans."

Stripling was introduced by Ruth Donnell, vice president of the B&PW Club. Theima Gardner, president, presided and welcomed the guests. She also outlined the history of the organization and listed its many accomplishments.

The Midland Club was organized in 1926, and two charter members, Fannie Bess Taylor and Susie Graves Noble, were introduced. The Midland Club now has 85 members. Vera McLeRoy asked the invocation.

Daddy Ringtail :: By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Walk The Plank

It happened in the Great Forest. The apple polisher man had sold a can of apple polish to Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy. That isn't all!

The apple polisher man had sold a can of soft soap to the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf. The Huffen was supposed to use the soft soap to keep himself as handsome as he really was. That's what the apple polisher man had said. Oh, but everyone knew that the Huffen was really not a handsome fellow at all, and so the apple polisher man was in trouble about it.

Everyone in the Great Forest was very unhappy with the apple polisher man. They had taken him to a far corner of the Great Forest, by a creek. Yes, and now the forest folk had put a plank of wood across the creek for the apple polisher man to walk it. They were going to send him away forever. That's what everyone said.

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was standing by to watch. A little smile was on his face. He knew what was going to happen, he thought, and so he wasn't worried at all. Well now, do you think the apple polisher man was really about to walk the plank away? Daddy Ringtail did not think he would. But now the apple polisher man was shaking hands and saying goodbye to everyone. He was shaking hands to say goodbye. The last person he shook hands with was the Huffen Puffen. "Goodbye, Huffen Puffen, you handsome fellow," said the apple polisher man. He stepped up on the plank to walk across it—never, never to come back. "Goodbye, Handsome Huffen!" called back the apple polisher man in his booming, cheerful voice.

"Wait!" shouted the Huffen. And so the apple polisher man stood still to wait while the Huffen asked him please not to go away. Why, the apple polisher man was the only man in the world who had ever said the Huffen was handsome, and so would the apple polisher man please stay and say it some more? It was fun to hear him, and the words did not hurt anyone, and so everyone let the apple polisher man stay and say them, all on a very fine day. Happy day!

No Matter What Color, Lies Still Are Lies

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Whatever the color of your dress, it is a dress. Whatever the color of the lies we tell our children, they are lies.

Lies are bad things to tell people, including children.
To the 10-year-old who has brought home a "D" in arithmetic, Mr. Jones says: "Son, don't fiddle with the television set tonight. It's out of order. Better get at your homework, hadn't you?"

The television set is in perfect order, still capable of distracting Jimmy's attention from his fractions.

A thoroughly commendable end—Mr. Jones' intention to guard Jimmy against school failure. A bad means to it—Mr. Jones' lie to his child.

If ever a moral axiom applied to anything, the one about good ends never justifying bad means applies to training children.
Mr. Jones' lie looks innocent white. It looks thoughtful. It looks protective. It is not innocent, not thoughtful and not protective. It is merely a selfish device for avoiding the chore of dealing with a son's resistance.

If Mr. Jones weren't evading the bore of dealing with his son's indignation and resentment, he forthrightly would announce a blackout

GAINESVILLE LADY LOST 48 POUNDS

"I highly recommend Barcontrate to take off fat and not harm you," writes Mrs. Beate Slesley, Route 1, Box 20, Gainesville, Texas. "Before taking Barcontrate, I weighed 225 pounds. The first bottle made me feel better and I lost 6 pounds the first week. I now weigh 180 pounds and want to get down to 150 pounds. I have now taken 6 bottles. I am 41 years of age and wouldn't be without Barcontrate, for it is a laxative as well as to reduce and no pains or griping after taking as so many laxatives I have taken do. I just say no use to carry that extra fat when Barcontrate will take it off so easy and no ill effects."
"When I get to the weight I want, I intend to still take it at its regularity makes me feel so much better every morning; no tired feeling. I have recommended Barcontrate to my friends."

When you buy Barcontrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a diet list. Barcontrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcontrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.
Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcontrate. Add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take just 2 tablespoonsful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky, unightly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Former Paratrooper Falls Six Stories, Suffers Minor Hurts

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA —(AP)—Falling through the air is no novelty to ex-paratrooper Richard Beckman.

But Beckman had no parachute when he tumbled six stories from an apartment building project, landed on a concrete sidewalk—and lived to talk about it.

Beckman, 25, suffered only bruises and a possible small fracture of one rib, said an astonished physician, Dr. J. L. Weston.
"A strong shoulder and lots of luck," were credited by Dr. Weston with what he called a "miraculous escape from death."

"He apparently landed on his shoulder, and his outflung arm cushioned his head from the cement," the doctor said. "But I don't see how he could escape almost uninjured."

No Bad Sensation
Meanwhile Beckman told of his sensations when the ropes gave way on the scaffolding on which he was working six stories up and plummeted him downward. Resting in a hospital bed Wednesday, he said:
"Falling from a building must be the easiest death on earth."
"I saw the ropes give and I realized in a flash that I would probably be killed. But on that six-story drop I never had any fear nor any bad sensation."

"I just fell and then I hit. I wasn't knocked unconscious."
The sidewalk around the building on which Beckman landed is concrete five inches thick.

"It wasn't my first drop but it was my fastest," Beckman said.

He served with the 101st Airborne Division during World War II. He lists Seattle as his hometown.

Radioman's Death Is Ruled Accidental

OSLO, NORWAY —(AP)—Police have closed the case of Lyford Moore, Berlin news manager of the American Broadcasting Company, whose body was found in Oslo Fjord Sunday after he had been missing five months. Criminal Police Chief Franz Kaltenborn said experts had testified Moore's death was accidental.
The ABC correspondent, who had come to Oslo with a group of U. S. Air Force men, disappeared last December 10.

Spring, Women Jar Briton's World

LONDON —(AP)—The faint stirrings of Spring and a few women shook up this Englishman's world Wednesday.

A horrified Bond Street optician opened a letter from a lady client and found a pair of blue panties inside. The lady said she wanted her new spectacle frames to match the color of her panties.

Lords, the exclusive stretch of lawn where the Empire's men—but no women—have played cricket since 1814, was taken over for practice sessions by a visiting team of 16 Australian women. London newspapers called it an unbridled scarlage in man's last stronghold.

But there were reassuring signs there'll always be an England. The British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) cut Comedian Tommy Trinder's program—one of the BBC's most popular attractions—off the air Tuesday night because he referred to nude women.

Jury Decides Against Widow In Damage Suit
 PECOS—A United States district court jury ruled against Mrs. Marilyn Cagle here Monday in her suit for $350,000 damages in the death of her husband.
 The jury was out only 35 minutes before returning to Judge R. Ewing Thomason a verdict in favor of Gulf Oil Corporation, McQueen and Stout, drilling contractors, and Lee C. Moore Corporation, defendants in the action.
 It was believed to be the largest personal injury damage suit ever filed in West Texas.
 Mrs. Cagle had sought the damages in the death of her husband, Ray Cagle, who was killed in a drilling rig accident in Crane County in June, 1949.
 She asked $225,000 from Gulf and the Lee C. Moore Corporation, and $125,000 from the drilling contractors.
 Mrs. Cagle previously had been awarded death benefits by the State Industrial Accident Board under the workmen's compensation act.
 She was represented by John J. Watts and Warren Burnett of Odessa. Attorneys for the defense included William L. Kerr of Midland, representing the drilling contractor.

Train Schedules Disrupted By Baby
 HOUSTON—(AP)—Tiny Sandra Pauline Reed was doing fine Wednesday and not at all concerned about her debut Tuesday disrupting Southern Pacific Railroad schedules.
 Sandra Pauline—named in honor of the railway—was born at 11:23 A. M. Tuesday in a chair car lounge of the Southern Pacific's east bound Argonaut.
 The birth—about a month ahead of Mrs. Billy Jack Reed's expectations—look place near Cline, a small town about 100 miles west of here.
 A Navy doctor and an Air Force doctor, passengers on the train, presided. Passengers and porters hurriedly improvised clothing for the babe from bed linens.
 Train conductor John E. Buckman ordered the train engineer to skip stops at a couple of towns between Cline and Uvalde. He telegraphed ahead for an ambulance.
 Mother and child were transferred to the Uvalde Hospital and both were reported in good condition. Sandra Pauline weighed 6 1/4 pounds.
 Mrs. Reed was enroute from Klamath Falls, Ore., to join her husband in Houston. The father hitchhiked to Houston six weeks ago to take a shipyard job. He drove to Uvalde Tuesday night for a glimpse at his new daughter—the couple's fourth child.

Plymouth's New "Safety-Flow Ride" Takes Bounce Out of Bumps

MOTION PICTURES made by our engineers show how little the new Plymouth goes up and down when passing over a bump, compared to cars that do not have the new "Safety-Flow Ride." New Oriflow shock absorbers, along with balanced weight distribution, synchronized springing, and other engineering features, hold the car closer to a level plane. They give Plymouth the riding qualities of a car weighing a thousand pounds more, in the opinion of Tom McCahill, automotive expert, writing in Mechanix Illustrated.

OUR TEST DRIVERS repeatedly drove the new Plymouth across ditches and deep holes. Instead of the terrific pitching and tossing you'd expect, the car absorbed the impact and stayed under easy control.
 "SAFETY-FLOW RIDE" IS SO STEADY, even on rough roads, that you don't worry about giving rear seat passengers a toss or thump. This means peace of mind as well as bodily comfort. It's relaxed and restful—a completely new experience in riding comfort.

HEADS UP! With "Safety-Flow Ride" you can forget about the condition of the road immediately in front of the car and give your entire attention to oncoming traffic, pedestrians, and intersections ahead.

Phenomena Of Hurt Is Discussion Topic Of Philosopher Hal

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—If you stub your toe, does it hurt you less than it does a Russian if he stubs his toe?

Does a gink in Minak suffer less from an appendectomy in Pinsk than a Chicago Irishman does in New York? can he bear up under it better?

These and other questions concerning the phenomena in the world of hurt have been raised by a London specialist in squirming nerves. He raised them inadvertently in an address to the California Medical Association.

Dr. McDonald Critchley told of seeing major operations performed in Russia without the use of an anesthetic, including hypnosis. A Russian surgeon told him this was a common practice and added: "We Russians are better able to stand pain than other races."

Commenting on this stoicism under the knife, Dr. Critchley remarked: "It's possible their part-Oriental blood had something to do with the phenomenon."

Now pinch your arms and legs and see if either of those statements make sense to you. Do they? They don't to me. I am just a poor man's philosopher who gathers what he knows about life as he goes through life.

No Evidence Found But I have seen nothing in this world that would convince me Russians can stand pain better than Bavarians or Armenians or Shetland ponies. Nor has travel in 54 countries given me any evidence, possibly that any race with "part-Oriental blood" has any more basic fortitude, under stress than a race with part-Oriental blood, meaning you and me.

The whole theory smacks of propaganda, a little bit about science. But I know a big lot about pain. It's an old sight in many climates and at many levels—spiritual pain, mental pain, physical pain.

My experience has been that pain of any kind hurts all human flesh equally, so far as race, color or creed are concerned. Is a pimple on a Chinese nose less tender than a pimple on a Brazilian nose?

Is a Siberian mother hurt less by the death of her baby than a Nebraska mother is hurt by the loss of her child?

Garner, Flournoy Win; Ezell Upset By Mrs. G. E. Shows

Midland Country Club's Fourth Annual Invitation Golf Tournament was assured of a new champion Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. G. E. Shows of Odessa upset defending champion Gloria Ezell of Midland, 4 and 3.

The second-seeded Midland woman never could find the game that has made her one of the top amateur golfers of West Texas, as Mrs. Shows came through with a marvelous exhibition of driving and putting, despite a high wind.

Another Midlander—Tournament favorite Pat Garner—had no trouble in outclassing Mrs. Spearl Ellison of El Paso 6 and 4. Miss Garner's most serious threat now seems to be Sybil Flournoy, who Tuesday blasted Mrs. Frank J. Herb—four times champion of Houston's Brae-Burn Country Club—4 and 2—Sybil is the tournament's runner-up, having lost to Mrs. Ezell last year in the championship final. Now Mrs. Shows also is a favorite.

Other Results

In other championship flight play, Mrs. E. G. Phister of Houston ousted Billie Dillon, Big Spring 3 and 2; Mrs. E. A. Dietz, Fort Worth, took Hazel Brown, Corpus Christi, 3 and 2; Mrs. Gene Harding, El Paso, defeated Mrs. Wright Cowden, Midland, 5 and 3; Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Midland, defeated Mrs. Wayne Rives, Houston, 2-up, and Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth, won from Rachel Hornbeck, Midland, 4 and 3. Consolation play in all flights began Wednesday. All finals will be held Friday.

Longhorn League—
It's The Same Old Story: San Angelo Wins Again

By The Associated Press

If any club in organized baseball has a better winning record than San Angelo it must be a dilly.

The Colts Tuesday night shut out Sweetwater 2-0 for the seventeenth straight victory in the Longhorn League. They have lost only three games and it's difficult to remember them doing that.

Bunching four of their seven hits in the fourth inning, the Colts trimmed Sweetwater in a well played game. But they failed to gain ground in the pennant race as the Vernon Dusters beat Odessa 13-9 to remain six games behind.

Roswell edged Big Spring 4-3, Midland and Artesia split a doubleheader, Midland winning the opener 2-1, but dropping the second 2-1.

Wayne Wallace singled with the bases loaded to drive in the two runs that brought San Angelo victory. The hit gave Bob Garza the edge over Jesse Torres in a pitchers' duel.

Marshall Epperson pitched no-hit baseball for eight and two-thirds innings as Vernon whipped Odessa. With one out in the ninth, Odessa got four hits and five runs. Wildness kept Epperson in trouble all the way as he walked 11 men.

Dean Franks bested Luis Gonzalez in another neat mound duel as Roswell beat Big Spring. Each club got eight hits but one of the Roswell blocks was a three-run homer by Manager Al Monchak.

Hayden White got a grand-slam homer in his big second inning as Midland won the first game of the twin bill. Ray Riley pitched two hit balls to win the second for Artesia.

Crane Gulf Oilers Beat Monahans 8-5

Junior Brown was the loser. He was touched for 11 bingles. The Crane team scored three runs in the first and second innings to go in front 9-0, before a rally by Monahans scored five runs in the fourth inning.

The Oilers added a pair of insurance runs in the seventh inning. Crane went into second place in loop standings by virtue of the win. Friday night the two teams will play in Monahans.

No Rhumba For Kead Until After Bout With Bratton

SUMMIT, N. J. —(AP)—No rhumba for Kid Gaviland until he wins the welterweight title Friday night in his fight with Johnny Bratton. The Kead is making the supreme sacrifice.

Word leaked back to his training camp that Bratton dismisses him as "just another rhumba dancer." Gaviland was a little indignant.

"Look Fran," he said, "I have fight. No rhumba. My legs have balance because I dance mucho. But no rhumba until after fight."

Did the sleek Cuban expect to whip Bratton?

"I think so."

King's Row

by LARRY KING

We have it from a pretty good source that Midland High School likely will furnish four boys for the Permian Bowl football game in Odessa August 17. The clash involves West Texas high school seniors.

Our information source says Tackle Bob Wood, Center Jimmy O'Neil, Back Reed Gilmore and End Duane Bush are practically certain to be named to the squad.

Thirty boys will be picked. Coaches and sports scribes of West Texas are naming the all-star teams. Midland's boys will compete with the West eleven.

—KR—

It is our humble opinion that Houston schoolboy and Baylor U. were given a raw deal last week in that ruling by Southwest Conference bigwigs. You will recall the Houston youngster was given a trip to a professional football game in Dallas by a Baylor alumnus and therefore was barred from playing football at Baylor by a "purity" committee.

It's a well-known fact—and the "purity" group knew it—Texas high school athletes are catered to rather lavishly if they happen to possess more than a little football ability. Schools openly recruit players and most of the time the youngsters go to the highest bidder.

Whether we like it or not, this is a fact.

Such rulings as handed down in the Houston case will only cause schools to deal 'em from the bottom, so to speak, and will keep the colleges from playing fair.

Personally, we had rather see the recruiting out in the open. It will do more damage if done under cover.

Harold Webb informs us he still is making plans for the "reopening" of the season when the Indians return from their road trip Friday.

Roswell will oppose the Midland team here Friday night, and Webb reports his Indians will be ready to start over.

"If the fans will come out to our reopening," the Midland manager said, "I'm sure they won't regret it. We are going to play better ball than we have been—and we'll win more."

Let's hope so.

Indians, Drillers Split Doubleheader

ARTESIA, N. M.—The Midland Indians used up all their hits and runs in the first game of a doubleheader here Tuesday night, slamming the Artesia Drillers 16-6. But they couldn't stand the pace and lost a 2-1 decision to the Drillers in the second contest as Ray Riley limited the Indian nine to two hits.

Rookie Hayden White, center fielder, sparked an eight-run Midland second inning in the opening game with a grand slam home run to help Veteran Eddie Jacome to his sixth win of the season. The Indians slammed out 18 base hits. Midland was almost helpless against the offerings of Riley in the second contest. The lone Indian

WT-NM League—Dukes Nip Blue Sox To Gain Ground

By The Associated Press

It's a big night when the West Texas-New Mexico League can get in half its schedule.

If any circuit in the country has more trouble with the weather than this one, the boys might as well quit and go home.

Tuesday night, the league got in only two games but one of them was between leading Abilene and second-place Albuquerque and it cut the margin between the two clubs.

Abilene whittled it to one game by beating the Blue Sox 11-6. Clovis whipped Lamesa twice, winning the opener of a twin-bill 3-2, and the second 7-8. Pampa at Borger was postponed because of rain. Cold weather forced the postponement of the Lubbock-Amarillo game in Amarillo.

Al Maul paced Albuquerque to its victory over Abilene. The big first baseman had two home runs and two singles to drive in seven of the 11 runs.

Clovis had to fight off last inning rallies to win each of the games with Lamesa. The Lobos scored their two runs in the first game in the final inning and had the tying run on base. In the second game they got one run but fell two shy.

Paul Richards Baffles Red Sox With Strategy

By JOE REICHLER

Ted Williams has cracked his 300th home run. Only nine others have accomplished this feat.

Ewell Blackwell and Vern Bickford hooked up in a brilliant pitching duel that produced only three hits in the Cincinnati-Boston game. Blackwell allowed one hit to win 1-0. Only twice before in the last 50 years have there been games in which fewer hits were made.

WHY GENERAL MARSHALL FEARED War—Map illustrates some of the factors described by General Marshall which, he said, moved him and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to take every precaution to avoid "incidents" that might bring Russia openly into the Korean conflict and touch off World War III. The alternative course proposed by General MacArthur (bombing Manchuria, blockading China, use of Nationalist troops in combat) might bring into the conflict Soviet forces already poised in striking distance of Korea, the Defense secretary told the Senate Committee investigating General MacArthur's dismissal. Official information is that Russia has 500,000 men within striking distance of Korea.

Texas League— Tulsa Hops On Shreveport Sports For Fourth Straight

By The Associated Press

If Tulsa could play Shreveport all the time the Oilers might be living up to expectations in the Texas League.

Before the season started, Tulsa was a top-heavy choice to lead the circuit over the full-season route. The Oilers haven't come close to it and are in the cellar.

But the last four nights they've had Shreveport as the opposition and have won four games. Another Tulsa victory plus another Shreveport loss would put the Oilers in seventh place and the Sports last.

Trouble is, Tulsa opens a series with Beaumont Wednesday night while Shreveport goes to Oklahoma City.

Tuesday night, Tulsa won 3-2, scoring the winning run in the ninth when Bob Belford, trying for a doubleplay, threw the ball into the outfield. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall set Shreveport down with six hits. Eagles Back To Second

The only changes in the standings saw Dallas go back into second place without hitting a ball and Houston fall to third while Fort Worth moved over for a tie for fifth place with Beaumont to take over the spot unopposed.

Leading San Antonio and Dallas were held by rain. Fort Worth nosed out Houston 2-1 and Oklahoma City whipped Beaumont 9-4.

Fort Worth also triumphed in the ninth inning as Norman Postoles and Lyle Olsen singled to drive in the tying and winning runs. It snapped a Fort Worth losing streak at four games.

Lefty Al Gerheuser notched his sixth pitching victory of the year as Oklahoma City whipped Beaumont. Johnny Mackinson gave up seven walks and the Indians used eight hits along with them to take the decision. Gerheuser was touched for 12 hits but the Roughnecks couldn't bunch them properly.

NEW YORK—P—Here are the 10 major league baseball players who have hit 300 or more home runs:

1. Babe Ruth 714.
2. Jimmy Foxx 534.
3. Mel Ott 511.
4. Lou Gehrig 494.
5. Joe DiMaggio 351.
6. Johnny Mike 341.
7. Hank Greenberg 331.
8. Rogers Hornsby 302.
9. Chuck Klein 300.
10. Ted Williams 300.

SURGICAL PATIENT

Mrs. Frances Keel, Terminal, was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Tuesday for surgery.

Richards benched Third Baseman Orestes Minoso and moved Pitcher Dorish there. Pierce got Williams on a high pop fly to the shortstop behind second. Richards then returned Dorish to the mound. Pierce back to the bench and sent Floyd Baker to third.

The Red Sox got their tying run anyway, but the White Sox won in the eleventh when Nelson Fox poked a two-run homer for a 9-7 triumph. Williams' 300th homer and seventh of the season came in the fourth.

Babe Ruth once left the mound for right field for one batter, then returned. He was pitching for the Red Sox.

Richards himself, once started a game for Muskogee in the Western Association as a shortstop, but eventually went to the mound in relief. The first batter he faced was left-handed. Richards pitched left-handed to him. The next hitter was right-handed. So Paul put his glove on the other hand and pitched right-handed.

Blackwell Wins

Blackwell threw a one-hitter in one of the tightest pitching battles ever waged. Bickford, the loser, allowed only two hits. The two right-handers, shooting for their second Big League no-hitters, went into the fifth before Bob Elliott doubled off Blackwell for the first hit of the game.

Bickford surrendered his first hit in the sixth—a double by Connie Ryan. Cincinnati's second hit won the game. It was a home run by Catcher John Pramesa.

Blackwell pitched a pair of one-hitters last year.

The major league record for the fewest hits made by both teams in one game is two.

The victory moved the Reds out of the cellar into sixth place. Back again into the basement fell the New York Giants, who dropped a 7-3 decision to Bill Werie and the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn strengthened its first-place hold with an 8-4 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Two homers by Gil Hodges, a grand slammer by Duke Snider and another round tripper by Jackie Robinson, accounted for all but one of Brooklyn's runs.

A pinch single by Bill Nicholson with the bases loaded in the ninth gave the Philadelphia Phils two runs and a 5-4 victory over the Cards in St. Louis. The win moved the Phils into a third-place tie with Pittsburgh.

Detroit handed Sandy Consuegra his first loss as the Tigers pounded out 14 hits for a 12-4 victory over Washington. Hal Newhouser spaced nine hits for his third win.

The St. Louis Browns won a free-swinging battle from the Athletics in Philadelphia 11-8. Gus Zernial hit two homers for the Athletics for the second straight game. Ned Garver was the winner. He has won five of the seven St. Louis victories.

Eastern Freshmen To Play Varsity Sports In '51-52

NEW YORK—(P)—With the exception of the Ivy League, freshmen in the Eastern College Athletic Conference may compete in varsity sports during the 1951-52 school year.

The ECAC action, made possible by a mail vote of its 91 members, was announced Tuesday. It will apply until June, 1952.

Members Of Ousted Panama Cabinet Are Object Of Roundup

PANAMA, PANAMA—(P)—Police Wednesday carried out a new roundup of members of ousted President Arnulfo Arias' cabinet, as the death toll from last week's bloody rioting mounted to 17.

Arias himself is in jail and will stand trial May 25, charged with abusing his constitutional powers.

Ex-officials picked up early Wednesday on government warrants were Foreign Minister Carlos N. Brinn, Finance Minister Rodolfo Herbruger, Public Works Minister Celso Carbonnel, Education Minister Cristobal Adan Urriola and Jose Ehrman, presidential secretary.

District Attorney Dario Sandoval said he had ordered the ministers' arrests because they were co-signers with Arias of the decree on scrapping the 1946 constitution—the act which touched off the violence and brought the president's downfall.

Three other former ministers have been in jail since last Thursday's gun battle between national police and Arias supporters. They are Government Minister Jose Clemente Obaldia, Labor Minister Maria de Miranda and Commerce Minister Roberto Zurita.

The National Assembly impeached Arias last week after his attempt to scrap the 1946 constitution. It named Vice President Alcibiades Arosemena to replace him.

An investigating committee named by the assembly will question Arias in his cell Wednesday.

Tank-Saving Trick Costly But Effective

WESTERN FRONT, KOREA—(P)—Big tanks cost the taxpayers a lot of money—more than $100,000 apiece. Salvaging one from behind Communist lines is expensive, too. Sometimes it costs lives.

The Chinese know that tanks are easy to repair and they usually try to burn them or blow them up during the darkness. Recently American artillerymen have a pretty good remedy for this. Every few minutes—roughly 12 times an hour—they drop a single round of 165 millimeter shell over the tank, triggered by a fuse that detonates the shell as it nears the ground. The effect is to splash the tank and the area around it with hot steel every few minutes, discouraging any Chinese from getting near it.

Next morning the returning tanks may find the tank's paint scratched a little bit but it usually is otherwise unharmed. The shells cost $100 each. The total cost of an all-night "shoot is about $15,000 but it's still good insurance—it's roughly one-tenth the cost of a new tank and new tanks are hard to get these days.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

Pick A Good Spot To Weather The Peak Hay Fever Months

Victims of ragweed hay fever who like to plan their vacations so they can get away from the source of their difficulty might be more comfortable if they started thinking now about where they want to go. In order to get complete relief it usually is necessary to go a long way from where ragweed grows since the pollen is carried for many miles by a strong wind.

There is practically no spot in the middle of the North American continent which is free of ragweed or which cannot be reached by the pollen when the wind is wrong. However, the amount of ragweed on the ground, and of pollen in the air, is not high in many parts of Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota, the northern peninsula of Michigan and corresponding areas of Canada. Many hay fever sufferers get at least partial relief from places in these regions or on islands in the Great Lakes.

The Pacific shore from Alaska on down is apt to be pleasant since there is little or no ragweed growing there. Most parts of Arizona and New Mexico and Eastern and Southern Florida are considered good spots. The northern and western part of Maine also is claimed to be free from ragweed and some parts of New Hampshire likewise. These areas should be satisfactory except when pollen is brought in by the wind from somewhere else.

Many of the national parks are good places to get away from hay fever.

Away From It All
Going still farther afield, one may mention the European continent and the British Isles which are free of ragweed and where complete relief is the rule.

Mexico City is another foreign spot which is highly favorable for the hay fever sufferer. With all these places to select and with the time to go, anyone who wants to can get away from his misery pretty successfully.

No Politics Yet, Says Happy Chandler

VERSAILLES, KY. —(P)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler settled a big political question for Kentucky Democrats Tuesday night.

He announced he would not enter the governor's race in Kentucky this year and said he would support Gov. Lawrence Wetherby for the party's nomination.

Chandler told about 300 guests at a barbecue in the back yard of his home here that it was with "deep regret that I can not arrange to become a candidate for public office this year."

Then he added: "In the not-too-distant future, maybe I can again be available for public service, if that continues to be the wish of the people."
