NW Howard Wildcat Is To Be Completed In Clear Fork Lime

Operator was to start potential test Tuesday in Spartan Drilling Company of Dallas No. 1 Roy Phillips, flowing Clear Fork discovery in Northwest Howard County.

The project has been shut in for several days while operator and contributors were deciding whether to complete in the Clear Fork, or continue drilling for a test in the Pennsylvanian reef.

The prospect will be completed in the interval from 4,655 to 4,731 feet. That section flowed oil at the calculated rate of 15 barrels per hour when it was drilled.

Hole was made to 5,695 feet. Electric log surveys were made down to that point. Operator was to set a bridging plug just below 4,894 feet.

A drillstem test from 4,843 to 4,894 feet developed 450 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. Drilling samples below 4,894 feet did not have sufficient shows to warrant a drillstem test.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 19, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey and three miles west and slightly north of the Bond-Canyon field.

No. 1 Phillips was started out to drill to around 9,500 feet.

Formation In Mitchell Wildcat Now Is Being Called Mississippian

After running electric log surveys in S. F. Hurlbut of Corpus Christi No. 1-A Elwood Estate, wildcat in C-S Mitchell County, operator is now calling the formation which yielded oil on a drillstem test from 7,316 to 7,345 feet Mississippian instead of Ellenburger.

Operator has not attempted to call a top on the Mississippian.

A drillstem test was taken from 7,318 to 7,360 feet. Tool was open 80 minutes. No fluid or gas surfaced while tool was open. Recovery was 3,780 feet of sulphur water.

On a one hour drillstem test from 7,316 to 7,345 feet developed 100 feet of free oil, 200 feet of muddy oil and 10 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. No water was made on this test.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block 16, SP survey and 20 miles south of Colorado City.

Devonian Is Topped In Andrews Wildcat

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Tom Peay, wildcat in Central Andrews County, is at total depth of 12,478 feet and is preparing to take a drillstem test in the Devonian lime.

The test will be taken from 12,460 feet to the bottom.

Top of the Devonian is at 12,454 feet. Elevation is 3,160 feet.

No. 1 Peay has already indicated that it might produce from two sections in the lower Pennsylvanian.

Drillsite is 1,736 feet from east and 579 feet from south lines of section 6, block 314, Gaines County School Land survey.

Contract depth is 14,000 feet.

Lake Trammel Pool In N-C Nolan Area May Be Extended

Extension of the three-well Lake Trammel-Canyon sand field of North-Central Nolan County is in prospect at Union Oil Company of California No. 1 Bob Campbell.

The prospector, one location south of the closest completed well, is at total depth of 5,331 feet in lime with five and one-half-inch casing cemented at 5,322 feet. Operator is preparing to make production tests through perforations at 5,284-5,308 feet.

The last drillstem test, before casing was run, was from 5,288 to 5,331 feet. Recovery was 840 feet of free oil, 240 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 240 feet of fresh water.

Operator drilled out cement to bottom of casing at 5,322 feet. It is thought that the water was from the section from casing point to total depth.

Location is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 14, block X, T&P survey.

Central Runnels Is Site For Explorer

Clark & Cowden Drilling Corporation and others of Abilene have staked location for a wildcat in Central Runnels County one and one-half miles north of Ballinger.

No. 1 E. A. Routh will be 330 feet from north and west lines of ETRR survey No. 175.

It will be projected to 4,500 feet with rotary tools.

Rain, Hail, Winds Again Blast Texas

Brownwood, in Central Texas, was practically under water Tuesday as a howling, snorting weather front—diffused and stationary—made gigantic efforts to remain active.

The city had 3.65 inches of rain in the five-hour period between 2 a. m. and 7 a. m. Scores of families in the lowland area in West and North-west Brownwood were evacuated when Adams Branch moved out of its banks.

Rain from the front made wide, erratic slaps, wetting points from Amarillo to Tyler and Lufkin. Winds were vicious and lightning flicked throughout the storm's perimeter.

Early Tuesday, 60-mile-per-hour winds damaged homes, business houses and automobiles in Fort Worth. A brick chimney fell through the roof of a bedroom, narrowly missing the occupants.

Hill Pounds Canyon
Damage to property mounted Canyon, Quitaque and Turkey checked the ravages of heavy hail storms that swept that area Monday. Canyon had roofs, windows and auto glass smashed. Streets were flooded and some telephone lines put out of order. Crops were beaten into the ground over a six-mile area in the Quitaque-Briscoe section.

Levelland had flooded streets. Windows were broken and cars damaged by a heavy hailstorm at Paducah.

San Saba, in South-Central Texas, was struck by a heavy rain and most of the telephone lines in that city were out of order. Lometa, 20 miles away, had heavy hail. The

Small Twister Hits Edge of Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, LA.—(AP)—A small twister swept out of the Southwest early Tuesday and left a trail of damaged houses and snapped trees as it skipped the southern edge of Shreveport.

Two persons were injured, neither seriously.

A dozen or more homes were damaged in the new Sunset Acres subdivision on the southwestern edge of the city. At least three cars were torn from houses, and one of them was thrown into the middle of the street, blocking traffic.

The roof of an unoccupied house was lifted into the air, twisted around, then dropped again on top of the house's wall framework.

Injured were Mrs. Viola Davis, 45, and Marion Campbell, 22. Campbell was standing beside a window when a stiff gust of wind shattered it and blew the broken glass into his face, arms and body. A vein in his left arm was severed.

The main force of the wind, which reached a velocity of more than 60 miles an hour, skipped over most of the southern portion of the city, hopped across the Red River and struck again at Barksdale Air Force Base, where slight damage was reported.

Maj. Salvatore Pelle, public information officer at the base, said four aircraft—two B-29's and two B-47's—received superficial damage.

Torrential rains accompanied the storm.

City Assures Provision For Baseball Park

It seems professional baseball is virtually certain to remain in Midland.

Mayor Perry Pickett and members of the City Council Monday night assured a group of baseball enthusiasts Indian Park will be available for their use "until such time as another park as good or better than the present one may be erected."

A committee of approximately 20 citizens met with Councilmen J. B. McCoy, R. B. (Bum) Cowden, J. W. McMillen and Mayor Pickett to urge the city either to assure them the present park will be at their disposal, or that another will be built in the event Pagoda Park and Indian Park should be sold.

The decision, apparently favorable to all concerned, followed a two-hour discussion. The City Council will determine the sum to be spent on the construction of a new ball park when and if the present facilities are sold.

"The present park may not be sold for four or five years," Pickett told the fans.

"Money from the sale of the park would be used to improve the recreational facilities of Midland, and since government restrictions will not warrant the construction of Midlanders pledging stock purchases in the Midland baseball club will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Hotel Scharbauer's Crystal Ballroom for an organizational meeting.

Club business will be taken up at the session and all interested persons are asked to be present.

Such a project at this time, it is likely Pagoda Park and Indian Park will not be sold until the restrictions have eased.

"Of course," Pickett speculated, "if the restrictions were to be eased, the property might be sold after the current baseball season."

When such a sale is made, according to the agreement reached Monday night, the City Council members in office at the time of the sale would determine the amount of money to be spent in the construction of a new park.

AUSTIN—(AP)—State Selective Service will call 14 Texas physicians into service in July.

Brig. Gen. Paul Wakefield, state director, said the call will be limited to first priority physicians born in 1923 through 1928.

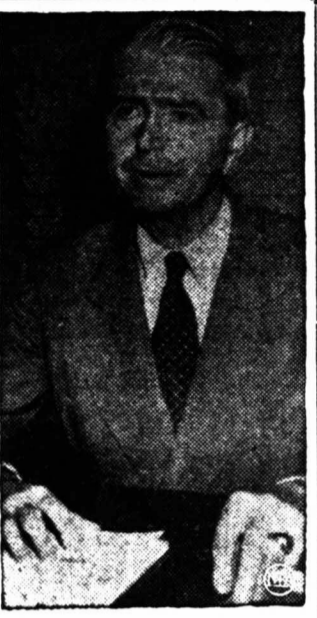

This was the first call since enactment of the medical draft law last September.

Midlander Injured In Oil Field Mishap

BIG LAKE—Jimmy Abie, 17, an employee of Standard-Fryer Drilling Company of Midland, suffered serious injuries in an oil field accident near here Monday.

Abie, a Midland man, was taken to a San Angelo hospital, where he was treated for a broken leg and groin lacerations. His condition Tuesday morning was described as "good."

A piece of drill pipe fell about four feet, striking the oil field worker.

SOUNDS OFF—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, author of the controversial 1947 report on China and Korea, testifies before the Senate MacArthur investigation in Washington.

Everything Wrong, Says Wedemeyer

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said the United States should have helped the Chinese Nationalists fight communism the same way the Greeks were helped—with aid and military advice "right down to the battalion level."

The former U. S. commander in China also told senators he was concerned as the war with Japan ended, about what Russia might do in Manchuria and asked for seven American divisions to safeguard that area, but Gen. Douglas MacArthur turned him down.

And he declared he believes the war in Korea might have been averted if a United Nations trusteeship over Manchuria had been established, as he proposed in 1947.

Second Day On Stand
Testifying for the second day at the Senate inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal, Wedemeyer said he wanted to employ the American troops in Manchuria "to preclude unilateral action on the part of the Soviet in that area until the situation stabilized."

He said another purpose he had in mind was to secure the arms of the Japanese troops in Manchuria for the Chinese Nationalist forces and so keep them out of the hands of the Communists.

His request for the seven U. S. divisions was referred to MacArthur as the Far East commander. Wedemeyer said MacArthur was uncertain about how the Japanese would react to the occupation of

Hedy Lamarr Weds Night Club Operator

WEST LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Hedy Lamarr and night club operator Ernest (Ted) Stauffer, pulling a surprise on Hollywood, were married late Monday night at the home of Superior Judge Stanley Mosk, who performed the ceremony.

It was the fourth marriage for the Austrian-born actress and the second for Stauffer, one-time band-leader. Both were divorced in 1947, she from actor John Loder and he from actress Faith Domergue.

The couple had obtained a marriage license earlier in the evening at the Santa Monica branch of the county clerk's office. Stauffer, a Swiss who now operates the La Perla Club in Acapulco, Mexico, gave her age as 35.

The actress told a reporter before leaving for a honeymoon at Carmel, Calif.:

"I am going to devote my life to him," pointing to the tall, blond Stauffer.

May Quit Films
She indicated she is thinking about retiring from the films.

"I may make a picture," she said. "If I do, and it isn't decided yet, it will be my last one."

Miss Lamarr met Stauffer in Mexico City seven years ago when he was a bandleader. The friendship was renewed a few months ago in Acapulco, and developed into courtship.

Miss Lamarr's first two husbands were Austrian munitions maker Fritz Mandl and Hollywood film producer Gene Markey. She has three children, two by Loder and the other adopted.

Pilot Killed In Crash Of Crop Duster

DES MOINES, N. M.—A Midland, Texas, pilot, Walter F. Chambers, 38, was killed Monday in the crash of a crop-dusting airplane two miles south of here.

He was flying for the Penn Chemical Company of Amarillo, spraying loco weeds on the Tom Amos Ranch.

Jack Ream of Oklahoma City, flying another plane, said Chambers' plane crashed from about 20 feet off the ground as they were making a spraying run. The two planes had been in the air only about three or four minutes when the accident occurred. Ream said Chambers' aircraft peeled off to the left and crashed.

Funeral Wednesday
Funeral services are scheduled at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel at Midland with the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Was Wartime Pilot
Survivors include the widow, Mrs. W. F. Chambers of Midland; a daughter, Marian, 15, and a son, Walter, Jr., 14, of Midland; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Chambers of Forsan, Texas; two brothers, H. A. Chambers of Forsan and Edgar Chambers of Port Neches, and a sister, Mrs. Virginia South of Carnegie, Okla.

Chambers resided at 2602 Franklin Street in Midland.

He was born Oct. 27, 1913, and attended high school at Forsan. He was a pilot in World War II and previously had owned and operated the Cherokee, Okla., airport. Last year he established a flying spray service of his own before joining the Penn company.

Mrs. Chambers is a native of Midland. The family had resided in Midland since March of this year.

Inflation May Hit Hot Dogs, Bologna

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Hot dogs may go up one to two cents a pound under a price order issued Tuesday by the government.

A new Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) regulation permits makers of sausage containing beef-frankfurters, bologna, salami and the like—to adjust their prices upward to allow for increases in the cost of beef since January. The order is effective at once.

Sausage prices have been frozen at the highest level in the base period covered by a general price freeze—last December 19 through January 25.

Bait-Stealing Coon Gets Hooked, Cooked

HOUSTON—(AP)—Lawrence Strough and Buddy McBride of Highlands set a trilline out in front of their camp near Clark Place on Trinity Bayou and caught a coon.

The coon had been stealing their bait. Somehow his nibs got a wee bit careless and he got hooked, then cooked.

The gain in receipts is the first over the previous week since June 4—the date the 10 per cent price rollback on beef cattle became effective for most packing companies.

Cattle Shipments To Major Markets Increase Sharply

CHICAGO—(AP)—Shipments of cattle increased in the nation's major livestock markets Tuesday for the first time since the government rolled back beef prices.

Cattle raisers and feeders shipped 36,800 animals to the 13 biggest markets compared with 26,512 a week ago and 37,599 a year ago.

A one-day pickup in receipts will do little to relieve the beef shortage threatening in many cities throughout the country. However, a definite trend toward increased marketings could nip the immediate scarcity.

The gain in receipts is the first over the previous week since June 4—the date the 10 per cent price rollback on beef cattle became effective for most packing companies.

Police Foil Store Robbery, Release Culprits, Then Wonder Wha' Hoppen

Police foiled an attempted grocery store burglary Monday night, only to discover that safecrackers had been busy in another section of the city.

They reported that someone broke into Fashion Cleaners No. 2 at 510 South Main Street but found only a few bent coins which were left in the safe.

Police Captain Jim Wilkerson said police were studying the possibility of a connection between the safe-cracking and the attempted break-in at the Collins Food Service store at 1403 North Big Spring.

Shortly before midnight, he said, police received a report that a man was climbing to the roof of the grocery store.

Investigating, police found two Odessa men, one 21 years of age and the other 20, crouched on the roof of the store.

Bad News Comes Later
"They said they were planning to break into the store," Captain Wilkerson said.

"They had no tools with them and there were none in the car. Odessa police said they had no record of them, so all we could do was turn them loose."

Later, police received a report of the Fashion Cleaners robbery.

Thieves gained entrance by breaking a glass panel in a rear door.

They knocked the knob off the safe and pried the door open.

Captain Wilkerson said he planned to go to Odessa later in the day to talk to the youths found at the grocery store concerning the safe robbery.

OPS Adviser Sees Meat Rationing Within Few Weeks

LOS ANGELES (P)—Full scale meat rationing seems likely within a few weeks, says Charles Bauer, president of the National Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers...

Bauer, a member of the retail advisory committee of the OPS, says that if this does come to pass, price controls will be to blame...

The nation's livestock population dropped alarmingly between 1940 and 1950, Bauer said Monday, and the contributing cause was the price ceiling and rationing system of World War II...

Praying Indians Report Good Signs Of Coming Peace

STURGIS, S. D. (P)—After fasting and praying four days atop Bear Butte, four Cheyenne Indian braves report "favorable dreams for peace in Korea..."

The ochre-painted quartet, situated only in joint cloths, Monday related the visions to Chief Whistling Elk.

Charles White Dirt, whose son is fighting in Korea, said he had a vision of blue flame above a blue cloud hovering over a peaceful valley. Whistling Elk, coordinator of the reports, said that was very favorable. The chief said the visions of Albert Tall Bull, Bert Two Moons and Medicine Bull also augured well for the world.

Negro Sergeant Goes On Trial In Desert Slayings

RIVERSIDE, CALIF. (P)—Attorneys Tuesday began selection of a jury in the murder trial of Air Force Sgt. Lawrence J. Walker, 20-year-old negro.

Twenty-eight jurors out of a hastily-summoned panel of 80 were excused Monday for reasons of health, work or scruples against the death penalty. Two of those excused are negroes.

The new panel was called after Superior Court excused the regular panel last week on a defense contention that it did not represent a true racial cross-section. Four negroes and three Latin Americans were on the new panel.

The Newark, N. J., sergeant, is accused of the March 26 desert slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook, 19-year-old couple. He steadfastly denied the slayings, although admitting his car side-swiped the Cooks' car that day.

Search Continues For Girl Missing In Mountain Park

GATLINBURG, TENN. (AP)—Weary park rangers and volunteers pressed their search Tuesday for an Ohio girl lost in the almost impenetrable wilds of the Smoky Mountains.

The object of the hunt—the largest in the history of the great Smoky Mountains National Park—is Evangeline Lorimer, a student nurse from Cincinnati, Ohio. Monday was her twenty-first birthday.

The young hiking enthusiast last was seen Friday walking alone in the rugged, bear-infested terrain near Cades Cove, in a remote section of the huge park.

She came to the mountain on a camping trip with her father, W. M. Lorimer of Seattle, Wash. Lorimer said his daughter left their campsite Friday afternoon to "take a little walk."

Bloodhounds Brought In Already the girl is longer overdue than any other person previously lost in the area.

The searching party, which must work entirely on foot in the wilderness, is made up of about 60 rangers and volunteer searchers.

Bloodhounds were brought into the hunt Monday after the girl's coat was found hanging on a small tree about five miles from her camp.

Rangers said the hounds followed a "hot trail" for a short distance, then led searchers over Hannah Mountain to a point near Highway 129.

Although it was thought possible the girl might have found her way to the highway and been picked up, Assistant Chief Ranger Harold Edwards said he did not place too much faith in the work of the dogs because the scent was more than a day old.

Testimony Starts Tuesday In Trial Of Marvin Johnson

BROWNWOOD (P)—Testimony started Tuesday in the trial of Marvin Johnson, hillbilly musician from California who is charged with killing Johnny Sides, rookie Dallas policeman.

The jury, to try Johnson, accused along with three other musicians, in the fatal shooting of the officer last June 22, was completed Monday night. The case was brought here on change of venue from Dallas.

Dallas District Attorney Henry Wade said W. S. Brogden, assistant chief of police of Dallas, would be the first witness. He also indicated that Maxfield (Bill) Pomeroy, one of the three involved with Johnson in the shooting, would be the second state witness.

To Ask Death Penalty Testimony may be completed Tuesday and the case placed in the hands of the jury by Wednesday. Wade indicated he would ask the death penalty.

The quartet were captured at Hardy, Ark., January 24. Pomeroy made a statement in which he placed the blame on Marvin, J. W. and Robert Johnson for shooting Sides and another officer, Harold L. Dawson. Robert Johnson, 29, already has been tried and sentenced to death.

The shooting occurred when the officers stopped the four men for running a red light. Dawson recovered from his wounds. Before he died, Sides pointed to Marvin Johnson as the man who fired the shots at him. Robert Johnson was identified as the man who shot Dawson. Marvin and J. W. Johnson are brothers; Robert Johnson is their uncle.

FAIRMONT, W. VA. (P)—A police desk sergeant asked a woman, who came in to report an accident, the routine question, "Did you get the other car's license number?"

"Here it is," she added, tossing a battered license plate on the sergeant's desk. The woman said she tore it loose after the man knocked her to the pavement.

Embargo On Soviet Trade

Remember the good old days when simple black and white solutions to our problems were possible? Seldom if ever is that true any more, especially in foreign affairs.

When you're actually in a shooting war, the choice is, of course, almost inescapable. This country made it with respect to Red China, and Britain belatedly has followed suit.

But the "cold war" with Russia poses the problem differently. Though we know the Kremlin is our implacable enemy and would crush us tomorrow if it could, our struggle still lacks the urgency, the final element of compulsion, that goes with shooting war.

That being so, it is hard to impose an embargo on all trade with the Soviet Union, or even all materials that might find their way into arms manufacture.

The United States can do this with less concern, since it never has relied on Russia for much except manganese in return. But other nations are more closely linked with Russian trade.

For example, Britain and others now get coal, timber, grain, chrome, manganese, iron and steel items and asbestos from Russia. All these things are important to the European economy.

Russia and its satellites in return draw textiles, fibers, machinery and equipment, foods and raw materials. No question that some of this feeds the Russian war machine.

The real point is: Who would suffer most from a cutting off of this trade?

Britain and others would have to find needed coal, timber, grain and metals elsewhere. Maybe this could be done. But it could not be done overnight, and for some materials it might prove impossible.

We might as well face it: the burden would be on the U. S. and Canada to make up most of the deficiencies, if this could be achieved. And that heavier drain might, force sharp reductions in the civilian economic level on this continent.

Thus it's a serious question whether, from the free world's standpoint, a tight embargo on Soviet trade might not hurt the West more than it would Russia. In any event, it seems sensible to reduce that trade gradually, as new sources of materials are found for the free nations.

The amendment of Senator Kem, attached to a general appropriation bill, is an attempt to meet the problem with a black and white solution. It bars U. S. aid to any government shipping strategic materials to Communist countries.

These days it's hard to define what is strategic material, since the demands of a modern war economy are so sweeping. Therefore the effect of the Kem amendment might be to block U. S. help to any country sending almost anything behind the Iron Curtain.

In the light of this, and the evident desperate need of European nations to obtain the materials the Reds have to offer, the Kem proposal looks unwise, impractical, and perhaps even dangerous.

President Truman reluctantly accepted it to get the appropriation he needed. But Congress should give speedy attention to his advice that this rider be quickly repealed.

"Sit Tight—I'll See What I Can Do"

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Louis Johnson bears no grudges against administration; Missouri friendship may appoint new ICC commissioner; Congressman Boykin holds paper-lobby luncheon under the Capital dome.

WASHINGTON — Big, balding Louey Johnson has taken his demise as secretary of Defense with far better grace than most men who are bounced from the cabinet. Another who served in that post cracked up. Others have sulked or turned against the President.

Johnson, however, has not. In fact, he recently had a friendly talk with the man who fired him, Harry S. Truman—partly as a result of a radio broadcast.

For a time, the Republicans were confident they had Louey Johnson in their corner. They were especially jubilant when the MacArthur hearings started, for they counted on Johnson as a star witness against the administration. Supposedly it was all set for him to testify regarding his talks with MacArthur in Tokyo.

But when word to this effect was forecast on the air by this newspaper, Brig. Gen. Louis Renfrow who heard the broadcast and who was Johnson's assistant in the Defense Department, telephoned him.

"I just heard what Drew Pearson said, Louey," urged Renfrow, "and I don't want you to do anything until we can talk it over."

Next day they had lunch together. "I've been your good friend and stuck by you," Renfrow said, "but we'll have to say good-bye if you start hitting the administration on this MacArthur issue. You stay out of it. You never had a real quarrel with Dean Acheson. It was only with some of his subordinates."

Johnson agreed. "Will you phone Drew and tell him that?" Renfrow asked. Johnson agreed to call and do so.

Renfrow then went to the President, told him of the conversation and the President immediately telephoned Johnson to thank him. They had a pleasant talk, the first since Louey left the cabinet.

Friendships Don't Fade. Ex-members of the cabinet are up in arms over the proposed appointment of a new Interstate Commerce Commissioner from Missouri. Since the IOC has the important power of regulating the nation's railroads, a group of senators have introduced a resolution requiring ICC commissioners to be appointed regionally. This is aimed to prevent the Missouri appointment and to obtain the appointment of Robert R. Hendon of Maryland, not Missouri.

The Missourian whom President Truman proposes to appoint is Ray Karst, ex-congressman from St. Louis.

What the protesting senators don't know is the inside reason why he happens to be one of the first political leaders in St. Louis to come out for Truman in 1934 when he was elected to the Senate. Some years later, when Karst was in Congress, he brought this 75-year-old mother in to see the President.

"If it hadn't been for you and a few other loyal supporters in St. Louis," Truman told Mrs. Karst, "I wouldn't be where I am today."

And he gave the congressman's children, Mary Jane, nine, and Ronnie, seven, each a shiny new ballpoint pencil with the admonition: "Don't let any FBI men see you with the pencils. They might put you in jail." The saucer-eyed youngsters quickly hid the pencils. They were inscribed: "I swiped this from Harry S. Truman."

Last year, Congressman Karst was defeated for reelection. And the other day, hearing that someone else was to be appointed to the

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

"Hard luck," said South. Everybody nodded sympathetically, so I kept quiet. I've discovered that nobody thanks me for pointing out his errors.

West opened the ten of clubs, and South won with the ace. He drew two rounds of trumps and then overtook the queen of clubs with the dummy's king in order to discard a diamond on the jack of clubs.

Declarer then entered his hand with the ace of diamonds to lead.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East hands with cards like Q1073, KJ6, etc.

a heart towards a dummy. When West played low, declarer hopefully finessed dummy's ten.

East quickly took the jack of hearts, cashed the king of hearts, and then began on the diamonds. South could ruff the third round of diamonds but still had to lose a third heart trick. Hence he sighted about his luck as he entered 100 points on the enemy's side of the score pad.

Have you spotted South's error? You should be able to prove that hard luck was not responsible for South's defeat.

Declarer was on the right track in winning the first trick, drawing trumps, and running the clubs to discard a diamond. He was still all right when he led to the ace of diamonds. But he plunged off the deep end when he then led a heart.

Correct play is to lead a second diamond at once. There is time later on to lead the hearts.

If diamonds are led again, East must win and continue the suit. South ruffs the third diamond and then is the time for the heart lead.

Declarer neither gains nor loses if the finesse of the heart ten succeeds. If that finesse loses to the jack however, South has an extra chance that East may have ace-duck or king-jack alone.

This actually is the case. East can take two heart tricks but must then return a diamond or a club. In either case dummy ruffs while South discards his last losing heart.

There, members of the Fisheries and Wildlife Committee met eight gentlemen who were hot congressmen at all, but representatives of the paper industry—St. Regis, Kraft, Union Bag and other companies.

Under lunch the paper executives took out some charts and started to lobby against CNR or "Controlled Materials Regulation" of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Some of the congressmen present were flabbergasted at this attempt to influence their vote at a luncheon in the dining room of the ex-speaker of the House of Representatives. They would have been even more flabbergasted, however, had they known that their genial colleague from Alabama and his four children have a large chunk of stock in the Mobile Paper Company and that they had acquired this stock after Boykin's office had been used to get a $750,000 loan from the RFC.

Discovery of the unusual loan transaction by new RFC director Stuart Symington caused him to demand the resignation of Congressman Boykin's cousin, Frank Prince, the RFC official who handled the Mobile Paper Company loan.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

MacArthur Hearings Have Impeded Work Of Some Important Committees

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — MacArthur hearings have all Washington tied in knots. It isn't just that 36 senators—one more than a fourth of the members—have spent most of their time since May 3 on these hearings. They tie up all Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee work. The thing spreads.

For instance, Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, chairman of the MacArthur investigation, is also chairman of Appropriations subcommittee on Agriculture. Agriculture funds were out $103,000,000 by the House. Farm groups want some of the cuts restored. But not a wheel turns till the MacArthur hearings are over. Nobody has any idea when that will be.

Measures Worked On. The slow-down shows in record of the two branches of Congress. Up to June 1, House had completed action on 331 measures of all types—public and private bills and resolutions. House had completed action in 477.

On public laws, only 43 have been passed by both Houses and signed by the President. This includes nine laws passed in April and 18 in May. Many of these were legislative acts and dogs.

Among the May measures passed were transfer of Vermont Agricultural College lands, transfer of Tuskegee Institute lands, transfer of certain Louisiana lands to the police jury of Rapides parish for holding of agricultural fairs. Also, authorization for sale of RFD route maps, authorization for the Navy Band to play at Confederate veterans' convention in Norfolk, authorization for appointment of District of Columbia police and fire departments to civilian defense posts. And so on.

High Officials Tied Up. Concentration on the MacArthur case also ties up State and Defense Departments. Top brains in both organizations have been spending much of their time preparing statements for Secretaries Acheson and Marshall and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Bureaus with many pressing problems needing prompt decision have met with many delays. Testimony has to be carefully studied down town to prepare for possible cross-examination in case witnesses are called back for second or third appearances on Capitol Hill.

Equality Under Law. Pretty little Mrs. Ethel Murrell of Miami, Fla., new president of the National Women's Party, says that as a lawyer she never will take a case to defend a woman just because she is a woman. "It isn't equality between men and women that we're working for," she says. "It's equality under the law. I want to end the condition under which women who marry become legal nonentities."

Copyspeaking Important. Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk apparently got himself in trouble over his China policy speech by failing to follow one of the first rules of the newspaper business. This is to have some copy editor always read everything that goes into the paper. No matter how good a writer is, he can't catch all his own mistakes.

Secretary Rusk, as officer in charge of Far Eastern Affairs, himself has been doing all the copy reading on China area speeches written by others. He has been a tough editor. He has made a lot of people sore by insisting on changes in copy to make speeches conform to policy. When it came to writing his own speech, he thought he could edit it too. That's where he slipped.

Help For Iran. Iran, which got the first technical assistance under the Point Four program, just now is beginning to benefit from this aid to underdeveloped countries. There are six American technicians in Iran now. Three are agricultural advisers, two public health workers and one a social security adviser. Present plans call for building up the staff to 20 or 30 by the end of the year. In addition, State Department has made a contract with Near East Foundation for village improvement. It now is working in some 75 rural communities.

Biggest batch of Point Four aid has been flown over to fight malaria and grasshoppers. Twenty tons of DDT have been sent over to kill mosquitoes in Caspian Sea malaria areas inhabited by two and a half million people. For grasshopper control, a contract was made with U. S. Overseas Airlines to spray several thousand square miles with Aldrin, a new poison. Two ounces, diluted, kills all grasshoppers in an acre.

So They Say

We've got to hold in one place (Europe) and fight in the other (Asia) because we are not ready to conduct a global war.

—Sen. Wayne Morse (R. Ore.)

Peace without appeasement. That is the victory we seek.

—Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to UN.

Many people were (once) horrified at the thought of spending $500 million a year to build up the (Chinese) Nationalists. Now we're spending $500 million a month in Korea to try to save us from the Communists who replaced the Nationalists.

—Rep. Walter Judd (R. Minn.)

I don't think that any nation backing UN action in Korea could insure that no allied soldier in Korea should be the target of a bullet manufactured in the free world.

—Ernest A. Gross, U. S. delegate to UN, on embargo of Red China.

The essence of liberty is the rule of law.

Have a Laugh

arm from its socket. Miss Willit pushed a set of hollow wooden steps to the center of the room. Each student was to mount the nine steps up, pause, smile as if at an audience and then descend the nine steps on the other side. She became as gliding as a model. So Mrs. Webb had a terrific example to live up to, and I think even Miss Tompkins would be thrilled to see Mrs. Webb today."

She broke off and goggled toward the doorway. The students, who had never before seen a Glamour Guide goggle, turned to discover the cause.

What made her entrance notable was her left eye, which was black with not too cool undertones of lavender, cerise and green. The effect, under the red hair, was as savagely colorful as a sunset at sea.

Lucilla, who had expected to see mink, felt a relieved surge of humanitarian impulses. Both she and Mrs. Coips half rose, to be sure Paris said them, and pushed their stools together to make room for her in the middle.

The Form Divine by HILDEGARDE DOLSON

MISS MEADOWS announced that Beautiful-You welcomed husbands, sweethearts and families at the graduation exercises. "to see you in a moment of triumph." Mrs. Varsney led the way by announcing that hers was coming. This gave her classmates a stick to wield at home: "If Mrs. Varsney's husband is coming, why can't you come too?" One by one the married contingent reported success.

Miss Thumbold had invited the captain of her college hockey team and an aunt. About the reception for which her New You was to have been delivered ahead of schedule, she was oddly reticent, even after it was over. But Mrs. Coips had found Miss Thumbold crying in the Dileptory Room. "It was the wedding reception for the brother of the captain of her hockey team." Paris and Mrs. Coips figured out that Miss Thumbold had been in love with the brother. "That's why she wanted to be thin for his wedding."

Lucilla, who had made a note of it as a tidbit to feed Derek, said: "What did she expect him to do—jilt the bride and run off with her instead?"

She was annoyed when Mrs. Coips said seriously, "No, all she wanted was to look as nice as she could. I kind of admire her for trying so hard."

Lucilla shrugged. "But it's so idiotic." Paris said, "What if you had legs like that? You gotta give the poor kid credit. If Harry was getting married, you wouldn't catch me takin' a back seat at the church. I'd get drunk and shoot the both of them."

This fascinated Mrs. Coips. "But you'd go to jail." "All right, so I'd go to jail, but it's better than letting that mug pull a fast one."

"But where would you get the gun?" Mrs. Coips asked. "I'd use Harry's."

After receiving the demerit badge for two successive weeks, Paris had been ordered on a Double Day of Atonement diet. This was the first day and she was as snappish as a hungry sea-lion. Her two friends watched tensely as she sat between them at the Eat-Beauty Bar, gulping her mineral oil and shuddering. Her unnatural disposition was a little frightening and they were relieved when Paris suddenly looked surprised and cheerful. "You want to know what I was thinking of? I was thinking I'd look good in a mink stole."

Lucilla didn't begrudge this thought until she discovered it was based on a germ of possibility. "Harry told me he'd already shelled out 250 bucks for this course and that could be my birthday present, but I told him it was a heck of a thing to give a girl—spanky-wanky. He still owes me one."

MRS. COIPS was uneasy when Paris didn't turn up for Foies and Body Molding the next morning. Lucilla said she was probably shopping.

"I don't think Harry would let her skip school," Mrs. Coips remarked. "Besides, I doubt if he'd have said yes right away about the mink stole."

Foies that morning was so absorbing Lucilla didn't have time to think about it. Miss Willit was showing them how to leave a social gathering without turning one's back. The trick, Miss Willit demonstrated, using Miss Thumbold for the hctress, was to pivot on the right heel and go out sideways. Lucilla managed it on the second try, but Mrs. Coips fared badly. She forgot to let go of the hostess's hand as she pivoted, and nearly wrenched the poor girl's

Air Force Talks Of Reaching For Draftees As Flow Of Volunteers Dwindles To Trickle

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Air Force says it will be unable to meet its June 30 manpower goal of 850,000, and a lack of volunteers soon may cause it to reach for draftees. Previously, only the Army has taken draftees. The Air Force, like the Navy and Marines, has filled its quotas with volunteers. The Air Force enlisted 56,000 volunteers in January, but the May figure was only 11,000. Army figures for the same months were 29,000 and 9,000. Navy and Marine volunteering has also slackened.

Volunteering now apparently is increasing, but an Air Force spokesman told a reporter Tuesday:

New Treatment For Burns May Save Girl's Life

GALVESTON —(AP)—A new "open air" treatment for burns may save the life of D'Arlene Claus, 14, burned on 90 per cent of her body. The girl was burned Friday in the collision of an automobile and a truck carrying manufactured gas near Santa Rosa. She was brought here for treatment by Dr. Truman G. Blocker, professor of plastic surgery at the University of Texas Medical School. Dr. Blocker explained the "open air" treatment like this: The burned skin is exposed to the air so scar tissue can form. This keeps body fluid within the body—one of the great problems in treating burn victims. The girl was reported in a satisfactory condition Tuesday after treatment with the new method. Usually, death results if as much as two-thirds of the body suffers burns.

Biggest Manhunt Since World War II Keeps British Busy

LONDON —(AP)—The biggest international manhunt since the closing of Nazi war criminals at the end of World War II kept British officials busy Tuesday chasing possible clues to the whereabouts of two Foreign Office employes.

The quest extended into the rugged crags of the Pyrenees Mountains between France and Spain and to ships at sea in the Mediterranean.

The diplomats - brilliant, high-strung Donald D. MacLean, 38, head of the American Department at the Foreign Office, and handsome, pleasure-loving Guy Burgess, 40, former secretary at the Washington Embassy - vanished May 25. They last were seen in France, heading for Paris.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the house of commons yesterday there was no evidence that the men had taken any documents with them. He urged that judgment be withheld on the question of whether they might have deserted to the side of Russia.

A suggestion that Burgess, at least, might be at sea aboard a small Mediterranean steamer came Monday night from his step-father, Lt. Col. J. R. Bassett, who discounted reports the missing pair may have gone through the Iron Curtain to the Kremlin.

'Middle-Of-Roadish'
"Remember he is a sick man," Bassett said of his stepson. "He was treated by doctors in America for severe sinus trouble and suspected diabetes. His blackouts were very bad."

"Normally he would not have been so impetuous, but his mother and I believe he is now on a tramp or small ship in the Mediterranean that is not connected with the shore by radio."

"We think that the telegram we had from Rome referring to a long holiday and apologizing for sending no word was genuine. It was phrased the way Guy would have phrased it."

"All this talk about going over to the Russians is ridiculous. His politics were sound - middle-of-the-roadish."

Friends of Burgess earlier said he probably held leftist views during student days 20 years ago. As part of his diplomatic duties, he was a close student of Marxist theory and Russian practice.

A hotel employe in Foix, in Southern France, reported Monday night that photographs of the diplomats resembled two men who inquired of him last Thursday if roads leading to Andorra were open. Andorra is a tiny mountain republic between France and Spain.

The hotel worker said the two men, riding in a British car, left in that direction.

F. Allen, president of the Texas Employers Insurance Association of Dallas and a director of the council.

Texas Woman Slain In Louisiana Bar

SHREVEPORT, LA. —(AP)—A 36-year-old Kilgore, Texas, woman was shot to death early Tuesday at the Hurricane Bar, at the foot of the new traffic bridge in Bossier City.

Bossier Chief of Police E. E. McCranie identified the woman as Edna Matthews.

John W. Tarlton, 35, also of Kilgore, was questioned in connection with the shooting, McCranie said. Tarlton was quoted as saying the weapon was discharged accidentally.

The bullet struck Miss Matthews high in the chest. She was taken to North Louisiana Sanitarium, where she died at 1:40 a.m. Chief McCranie said no charges had been filed, pending the outcome of an investigation.

Teach History As A Story, Says Best-Seller Novelist

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—History, as offered to children in public schools today, is dull and heavy fare. In the belief of F. Van Wyck Mason, historical novelist, it's enough to make any student feel sleepy at the mere mention of George Washington.

"Children have history crammed into them. It's heavily interlarded with names, dates and places which must be learned by heart. It's small wonder that they learn in a history classroom to hate history heartily."

As husband, father and noted historical writer, Mason is an authority in the eyes of many. His newest

F. Van Wyck Mason: "History, as it's taught in schools today, is bound to strike children as being a crashing bore."

book, the recently-published "Proud New Flagg," is the first of a four-volume series dealing with the Navy of both sides during the Civil War. His books on the American Revolutionary period were highly successful, possibly because Mason is meticulous, painstakingly accurate and detailed in his writing. It's the result of laborious research that has earned him a reputation for historical novels on a high level.

If he had his way, school children would get their history as a story. An accurate story, to be sure, but one in which the people breathe, feel and are, without exception, entirely human.

"It isn't a matter of sugar-coating the pill," Mason says. "There is no pill. History is fascinating. The picture of Anne Boleyn ascending the scaffold in 1536 is not dull. It's brutal, it's arresting, it's tragic."

"But what does it get in history books? A dull paragraph that says simply that in such-and-such a year, Anne Boleyn was beheaded. This paragraph conjures up no picture; we do not see the living, pathetic Anne. Rather, we see a sawdust-stuffed doll having its head chopped off."

English Diarist's Letters Bring $546

LONDON — (AP) — Unpublished letters by the English diarist Samuel Pepys, throwing light on why he disinherited his nephew, brought $546 in a London sale room recently.

London bookseller E. U. Maggs, who bid that top price, carried off the old manuscript letter-book, containing 86 letters, all written between 1690 and 1702.

Samuel Jackson, the nephew, was due to inherit the bulk of Pepys' estate under an original will, but in 1703—a few months before his own death—Pepys made a new will reducing the bequest to 40 pounds a year. His complaint: "Samuel Jackson has thought fit to dispose himself in marriage against my positive advice and injunctions and to his own irreparable prejudice and dishonor."

But Mason holds no brief for the so-called historical novels, those books that are hastily and poorly researched, quickly written and shunted onto the public. The only valid reason for writing an historical novel at all, he feels, is to give readers the facts, all of the accurate, carefully-checked facts, clothed in fiction.

"That way," he explains, "you get a great many people to like history, people who would never bother with it in textbook form. And I can't say that I blame them."

Mason chose the Navy in the Civil War Period as the focusing point for his new series because almost nothing has been written about either the Confederate or the Union Navy, despite the enormous quantity of Civil War fiction.

"If Jefferson Davis had leaned more toward his Navy," Mason says, "we might have written a different history of the Civil War. The fact that he ignored his Navy had much to do, I think, with the Confederate Cause becoming a Lost Cause."

SMU Prof Says Eyes Need Vacation, Too

DALLAS — (AP) — School children's eyes as well as their minds need a vacation from the daily classroom routine, says a prominent Texas educator and school lighting authority.

"Vacation time offers a respite from the indoor-shackles of near-vision and the poor daylighting found in many outmoded classrooms," explains Prof. R. L. Biesele, Jr., head of Southern Methodist University's department of electrical engineering. "Nature equipped man with eyes that are accustomed to the daylighting of open spaces."

Professor Biesele, now engaged in research for the Libbey-Owens-Ford Company, has just set up at SMU an elaborate laboratory-classroom for the study of the effects of daylighting. The room has movable walls which make it possible to admit varying degrees of natural light from different directions.

POET TURNS SIGN PAINTER

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Robert P. Tristram Coffin, the Pulitzer Prize-winning poet, has turned his talents to sign designing to help the University of Cincinnati pay tribute to the memory of Stephen Foster.

Dr. Coffin has designed and made a sign to designate the Stephen Collins Foster room in the university library. The room contains the second largest collection of memorabilia to Foster, the poet and song-writer who lived in Cincinnati a century ago.

REDS SUSPECT CHARITY, TOO

HONG KONG — (AP) — You can find "imperialist plots" anywhere in Communist China these days.

A Communist news agency says the New York Society for Aid to China's Blind offered $24,000 to the school for blind in Shanghai. The offer was turned down, the agency adds, because members of the Chinese society had "seen through this imperialist plot."

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures

There is no reason why any little girl should be lonely, be without playmates, a place to play or things to play with. Not when the Girl Scouts have so much to offer. The trouble is lots of girls never get to know about Girl Scouts and scouting, particularly if they live in a neighborhood where there aren't many youngsters.

Now the Girl Scouts have decided to do something about appraising girls of the advantages of being a Girl Scout. The first step in that direction is a charming little movie called "The Growing Years," narrated by Henry Fonda. It is the story of Janet, who moves to a new neighborhood and is lonely and unhappy until some Scouts take her under their wings.

After she becomes a member of the organization, there is never a dull moment. Janet learns that teamwork is important because one can profit by mistakes and learn by trial and error. She learns to share her play and engage in community activity. Most of all she learns how to bolster the morale and offer encouragement to girls who find themselves friendless as she herself was once.

Especially during these times when so many girls find themselves mixed up and confused for lack of guidance by their elders, this movie is sorely needed.

Girls often find themselves in bad company only because that is the only group available to them or sympathetic to them at the moment. Loneliness does strange things to people and if we are not taught the difference between good and evil, then evil can seem good when it fills a necessary place in our lives.

The Girl Scouts hope to show their 20-minute movie throughout the land—to school, civic, church and club groups to interest little Janets everywhere—in their fine purposes.

America is a wonderful place and sometimes young moderns need to be reminded by visitors to their land that nowhere in the world is opportunity so great.

Germany Like America
Take the story of Helga Kramer and Peter Neuhof, 18, who attend classes at Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School. Helga and Peter are Germans enjoying school in this country under a scholarship program. After the school year, both will go back to their country. But they have learned to love and appreciate America. Says Helga: "Life in America is so comfortable and easy and happy. Most people here don't know any other way and take all these things for granted. They seem to think nothing can happen to them, but it can..."

"Americans have never had to do without things (food, clothes, heat or fun) in wartime. If so they would understand."

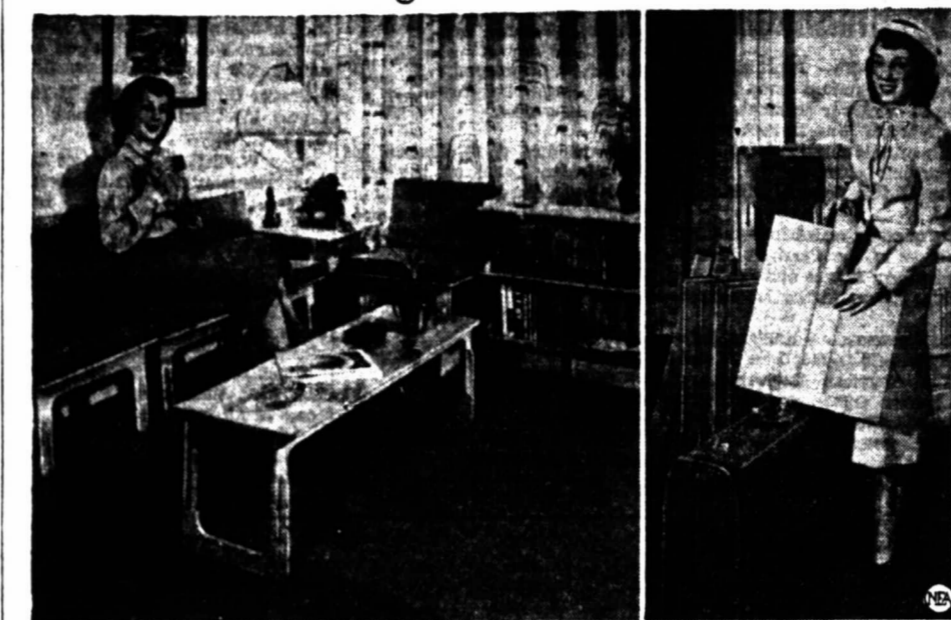

Peter shares Helga's sentiments and adds:
"This has been the happiest year of my life. Everything is so easy and wonderful. Americans should be more aware of all these things and be ready to keep anything from happening to them."

So there it is. You have everything on your doorstep. Take advantage of all America's freedoms; it is only by understanding them, recognizing them and practicing them that you will care enough to protect them.

New Pack-And-Carry Furniture A Boon To Home-Low-Budget Service Wives

Young service wife (left), relaxes in apartment she has made attractive with inexpensive plywood furniture. When husband's orders call for a transfer, she takes pieces apart, packs them into compact cartons for journey in car along with luggage (right).

By ANNE LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Because of one man who took a long realistic look at the furniture situation, outlook for servicemen's wives who trek from base to base is brighter.

They can take a bit of home with them to add cheer to this dreary room or to fill space in that empty apartment.

It was several years ago that Philip C. Curtis, Arizona artist, recognized the home furnishings plight of those with limited bank accounts. Those who were not yet permanently settled, he observed, fared no better. Either they did without possessions of their own, or else they saddled themselves with cumbersome furniture too expensive to move around.

After considerable experimentation, he came up with one solution.

bench type, a square one, and a free-form one in the modern style.

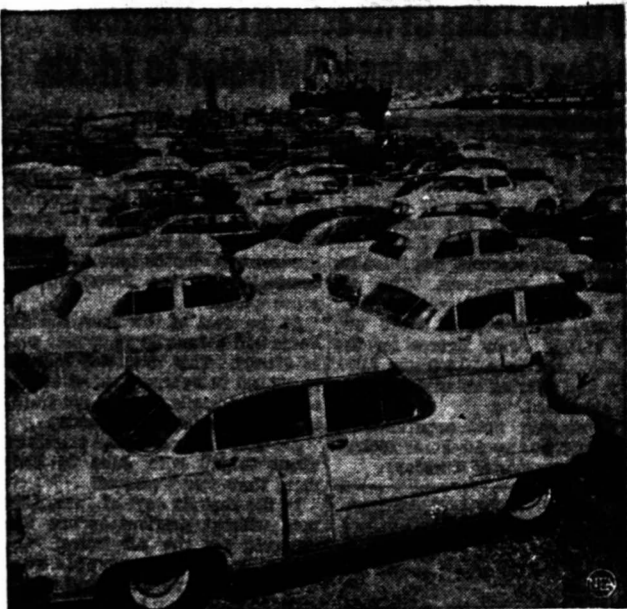

Among incidental pieces are fire-side stools and — for the small fry — chairs, benches and tables. Nothing costs more than $16.95.

The furniture is made of hard plywood which has been treated with a prime coat that acts as a sealer. It may be used as is, in its natural blond finish, or it may be waxed for a heightened sheen. If you prefer a more colorful effect, the pieces take readily to paint or lacquer.

Once transferred to new quarters, a wife need not wait for her husband to come home to get up the furniture again. Each piece which is designed with an interlocking device, can be put together or taken apart in about 60 seconds. There are no nails or screws or glue to contend with.

Trained observers can identify from airplanes forest oaks infested with oak wilt. The damaging disease usually shows up first in discolored branches near the top.

NO SHORTAGE HERE—This dockside scene in San Juan, Puerto Rico, reflects an unprecedented car-buying spree there. The island is enjoying the most prosperous times in its 400-year-old history and Puerto Ricans are buying cars as fast as they can be delivered. This despite the fact that prices are about $800 more per car (freight and a 26.4 per cent excise tax) than on the U. S. mainland.

Action, And Lack Of It, On Redistricting Means Extra Handshaking In 1952 Races

AUSTIN—(P)—Incumbent legislators will have to do a lot of new handshaking for reelection next year and candidates for a new congressional seat will have to stomp the entire State of Texas.

Such results stem from what the 52nd Legislature did and didn't do about redistricting.

The first legislative redistricting plan in 30 years adds new counties and subtracts old ones from a big majority of the present House and Senate districts. Only one Senate multi-county district was left entirely undisturbed.

A few incumbents will have to fight it out in the same district. It all forecasts a merry scramble for reelection.

Perhaps most significant among the results of legislative redistricting is the swinging of the House voting majority from rural to urban control. The shift comes from the gradual movement of population from farms to cities since 1920.

The control, however, is not likely to be decisive. Only a two-vote margin would separate the two blocs, 78-to-74, and neither bloc likely would be able to hold every vote on any highly controversial issue.

The rural bloc had about a two-thirds voting majority this session.

The statewide race to determine a congressman-at-large is expected to flush some high-powered political names. The race could set the stage for a later United States senatorial race by bringing considerable prestige to the winner.

Such names as former Congressman Martin Dies of Lufkin and Matury Maverick, Sr., of San Antonio already have been mentioned.

The statewide race was forced when a Senate filibuster stalled all redistricting plans for regrouping the state's 21 congressional districts to add a new 22nd district entitled the state under the increased population count of the 1950 federal census.

Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston talked 17 hours against a pending plan near the session's end because he couldn't muster enough votes to get the 22nd congressman assigned to Harris County's bulging 801,000 population.

The blocking action left the redistricting plan open for decision of the next Legislature, where Harris County might have a better chance, Bracewell said.

Another long neglected redistricting duty again was shunted aside by this Legislature. Judicial redistricting never got so far as even commanding committee attention.

Roy McKee and Alva McKee, who attended the state convention, also reported on the program.

President Roy McKee announced there would be no meeting in July of the Midland board. The August meeting will be a picnic at Cloverdale Park, and Clarence Nelson and Ray Upham were appointed to arrangements committee for the affair.

Larry Burnside and Cecil Boles were appointed program committee members for the September and October meetings.

Sabotage Ruled Out In Jet Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force Tuesday ruled out sabotage and said icing of engine inlet screens caused the crash of eight jet fighters over Indiana last Friday. The investigation was conducted by the Air Force, the FBI, and airplane manufacturers. The eight planes were among 34 F-84 Thunderjets flying from Austin, Texas, to Selfridge Field, Mich. The eight crashed a few minutes after taking off after a refueling stop at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio. Three pilots were killed.

Marshall Returns From Eastern Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall returned Tuesday from a swift, seven-day trip to the Korean war front. He said he found "a very successful operation" of the United Nations forces in the field. Marshall's plane landed at 9:35 a.m. after a 3,500-mile non-stop flight from Elmendorf Air Base in Alaska. He was met at the airport by Deputy Secretary Robert Lovett, with whom he talked privately for a few minutes as he stepped from the plane.

Ball Club—

(Continued From Page One) mittes which appeared before the officials, reported $23,000 of the funds needed to purchase the ball club from Harold Webb has been raised. "We have until noon Friday to complete our transaction with Mr. Webb," Smith said, "and we feel certain we will take over the baseball club." The committee is attempting to raise $30,000, of which $20,000 would go to Webb.

John Redfern, Jr., a member of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission, was the first speaker Monday night, terming the recreational facilities here "very terrible and inadequate." Redfern urged that the present baseball park and swimming pool located at Pagoda Park be retained by the City of Midland until "others may be available."

Bill Glidewell, Youth Center director, also urged the park be available to youngsters in the Lone Star, Shorthorn and American Legion baseball leagues when the professional Midland Indians are out of town.

Several members of the citizen's committee urged a new park be built on the old Midland College campus in West Midland. Pickett said the city would donate the ground for such a purpose, but could not build new facilities there at this time.

In discussing moving of the present park to the new proposed site, John P. Butler estimated it would take "at least $75,000" to complete such a move and get the plant in workable order.

"Hate To Lose Club" Pickett and members of the council were told professional baseball is good for Midland for many reasons, and Pickett said the city officials agreed. "Personally, we'd surely hate to lose the ball club," he said.

After further discussion, it was agreed Indian Park would be available to the group, with the council to set aside an amount yet undetermined for construction of a new ball park when the present plant is sold.

Tex Carleton, general manager of the new baseball organization here, said the new owners "would be glad to improve the present park some this year." He indicated the stands would be painted and that various other repairs might be arranged.

Iranian Premier Pledges Moderation In Oil Controversy

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh has assured President Truman Iran's plans to nationalize her oil industry will not jeopardize the world's oil supply, nor imperil international harmony.

The wrinkled little statesman, who has been sequestered in two rooms of his country's Parliament Building, sent these assurances in a lengthy letter transmitted to Washington Monday through the U. S. Embassy.

The contents of Mossadegh's letter were disclosed as top officials of Britain's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company planned courtesy calls on government heads here prior to the opening of talks on the nationalization of Iran's oil industry operated by the company.

Mossadegh's letter was in reply to President Truman's recent appeal to Iran and Britain for moderation and reasonable negotiations on the explosive oil issue.

Holy Land Trip Reviewed Here

A trip to the Holy Land was described by Dr. P. W. Malone, prominent Big Spring physician, at the luncheon meeting Tuesday of the Midland Optimist Club.

Dr. Malone, who made the trip with his pastor, the Rev. Dick O'Brien of Big Spring, discussed their impressions of the trip, which also included much of Europe.

The journey was made between February 24 and April 1 of this year and most of the travel was by air.

Dr. C. S. Britt introduced the speaker. George Vannaman was program chairman and Emil Rasmussen presided.

Jimmy Velvin reported on the workshop project and Cliff Torgesen and Gene Purvis were commended for a recent money-raising project. Felix Weinaker was accepted as a new member of the club, as a transfer from Austin.

It was announced next Tuesday's luncheon would not be held and instead a barbecue family night event will be conducted at the Optimist Boy's Workshop.

WRITERS GROUP TO MEET

Wedemeyer—

Wedemeyer's first day of testimony—embracing backing for some of MacArthur's views while also advocating withdrawal of U. S. ground forces from Korea and a break in diplomatic relations with Russia—brought some dispute among the senators as to whether the general was consistent.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) told reporters he thought there was a "major inconsistency" but Senator Cain (R-Wash) said he saw "no conflict at all."

"Get Out of Korea" McMahon, a strong Administration supporter in the controversy over MacArthur and Far East policy, said Wedemeyer was inconsistent when he:

1. Backed vigorously the steps MacArthur has advocated—bombing of Chinese Communist supply bases, a naval and economic blockade of the Red China coast, and removal of restrictions on use of Formosa-based Chinese Nationalist troops; and:

2. Then, later in the day, called for withdrawal of American troops from Korea and a simultaneous breaking of diplomatic relations with Russia and her satellites.

Cain, an outspoken MacArthur supporter, said there was no inconsistency in this.

Later, Wedemeyer declared his proposal to pull out of Korea: "Our military experts say—and they are much more knowledgeable than I am—that we are buying time. If that's the consensus of opinion of our military experts, I yield humbly to their view, to continue the struggle in Korea."

Graduates To See Guard Equipment

Midland's National Guard unit is holding open house Tuesday night for high school graduates in this area.

Sgt. J. E. Sides said the graduates, along with their parents, had been invited to visit the armory at Air Park and inspect the equipment.

The open house will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

T&P ASKS APPROVAL OF TRUST CERTIFICATES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas & Pacific Railway Company Tuesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $3,500,000 of equipment trust certificates.

The proceeds will be used to buy new equipment, principally additional diesel locomotives.

Rain, Hail—

In Central, Texas, high winds blew down a drive-in theater at Hillsboro and there was rain of more than two inches. Hackberry Creek near Hillsboro flooded the highway.

The Barrett Implement Company in Brownwood burned to the ground during the night. The blaze was reported caused by lightning.

Traffic Circle Flooded Boats were used to haul families out of the lowlands around the Central Texas city. Lake Brownwood, nine miles to the northwest, was gushing water three feet deep over the spillway. It was the highest the lake had been since the 1945 flood in the area.

At mid-morning it still was raining in Brownwood. The traffic circle in Northwest Brownwood was completely under water.

Traffic to the west was rerouted by Brady. Two inches of rain had fallen in Corsicana during the last two days. Monday night, .60 inch fell, accompanied by high winds. Bonham had 1.55 inches during the night, bringing the three-day total to 3.30.

Other rainfall during the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday included Amarillo 2.07, Dallas .84, Waco .23, Fort Worth .18, Palestine .22, Texarkana .90, San Angelo .23, Lufkin .05, Mineral Wells .45, Tyler .35, Dalhart .09 and Rockwall .86. At mid-morning it still was raining around Big Spring and Abilene in West Texas and around Longview in East Texas. Skies were mostly cloudy everywhere.

Weather officials said the stormy weather would cease in West Texas by nightfall, but it probably would last through Tuesday night in Northeast Texas and along the Texas coast.

Jet Pilot Missing In Louisiana Or Mississippi Area

JACKSON, MISS. (AP)—Search for a missing jet pilot has shifted to the Jackson area.

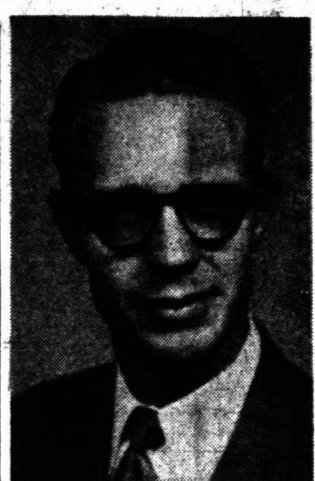

The pilot, Capt. Jack Woods of Cherry Point, N. C., disappeared somewhere over Louisiana or Mississippi Monday during stormy conditions.

Reports from Barksdale Field, La., said the pilot of the Marine Dodson. A sawmill worker in that area said he saw a parachute just over the treetops of the piney woods. Searchers thus far have failed to find the missing man.

The only clue to where he may have come down was a radio message from the pilot that he was in the vicinity of a lake and a small industrial town.

Six members of the Vicksburg, Miss., Air Force Patrol joined in the search in the Jackson area Monday. They flew low in an effort to find some trace of the pilot or his craft.

The United States has almost 6,000,000 farms.

Indians Drop Wild 5-4 Tilt To Artesia

ARTESIA—The Midland Indians spotted Artesia's Drillers a four-run lead here Monday night, roared back to tie the game, then lost it 5-4 in the eleventh inning.

knocked out in the fourth inning and was replaced by Dave McKenzie, who was the eventual loser. Midland first scored in the fifth on singles by McKenzie and Escobar. Both advanced on a passed ball and scored on Scooter Hughes' single. The third run crossed the plate in the seventh when McKenzie again singled, went to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. The tying run came in the ninth when Escobar reached base by fielders' choice, stole second, took third on another bad throw and scored on Pennington's single.

ENGAGED—Pittsburgh slugger Ralph Kiner gets a love-bird pat from tennis glamour girl Nancy Chaffee at a party in New York at which Kiner announced their engagement. They said they plan to be married in the fall.

But Artesia got its final winning tally in the eleventh frame with no outs when Chuck Neal, pinch hitter, slapped a single to reach first safely and took second on a wild throw when McKenzie tried to pick him off. Pitcher Israel Ten laid down a bunt, McKenzie rushed it, picked it up and tried to throw to third base—but the ball went into left field and Neal scored on an error. Julio de la Torre homered with the bases empty in the second inning.

Major Leagues— Chisox Invade East

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers, leaders in their respective major league races, begin another swing through foreign territory Tuesday night nursing various minor aches and pains. They hope no serious complications develop.

Manager Paul Richards parades his White Sox, their American League lead trimmed to two and a half games by the New York Yankees, into Washington for a night game against the Senators. Brooklyn, sporting a five and one-half game National League edge, opens its second western tour of the season against the Cardinals Tuesday night in St. Louis.

The Chicago Cubs, who skidded from third to sixth place in the East when they dropped seven to 10 games, open at home against the champion Philadelphia Phillies. Boston's Braves, after losing seven of 11 games at home, move into Pittsburgh to oppose the cellar-dwelling Pirates.

The New York Yankees, who won three of four from Chicago to get out of the West with a 6-5 edge, are home for 13 games. St. Louis opposes the Yanks first.

At Boston, the Red Sox hope to get back on the winning track in a three-game series with Detroit. The Red Sox have 17 home games before they take the road again.

Cleveland moves into Philadelphia for three arduous games. All clubs were idle Monday.

Big Spring Team May Go On Block, Owner Alton Says

BIG SPRING—It appears that if the Ballinger-Winters delegates who tried without success to land the Midland baseball franchise still are interested in a ball club, they might acquire the Big Spring franchise. Al Alton, president of the Big Spring team, Tuesday said the team is on the rocks financially and got that way because attendance isn't adequate to pay expenses.

"Unless the fans step in and lend some help," Alton said, "it appears the club either will be turned back to the league or transferred to another city."

Alton, who attended the meeting in Midland Sunday, was impressed with the way Midland fans rallied to buy the club from Harold Webb. "It appears there is more interest when fans own the club," he said.

Alton said he and his partner, Pat Stacey, would be willing to talk of selling part or all of their holdings to fans.

MAJOR LEAGUE BATTING— Musial Pushing Jackie; Fox Leads In American Loop

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stan Musial is treading on the heels of Jackie Robinson in another sizzling National League batting race. The St. Louis slugger is only four points behind Robinson.

Robinson lost 33 points in the week ended Sunday. His average fell from .403 to .370.

Musial is a close-up second at .366. Red Schoendienst, a Cardinal teammate, bounced up 20 points from ninth to third at .350.

Roy Campanella, Brooklyn catcher, moved from tenth to fourth on a 16-point advance to .343.

Richie Ashburn of the Phillies is fifth at .341. Bob Elliott of Boston has slid to .339, and sixth place, just a step ahead of Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner at .337.

Dick Sisler of the Phils is eighth at .326. Frank Baumholtz of Chicago next at .325. Al Dark of New York and Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn are tied for tenth at .322.

Baseball's bantam, 150-pound Nellie Fox of the White Sox Tuesday led American League batters with .364, one percentage point over erstwhile leader, Ferris Fain of Philadelphia.

While the Athletics' first baseman skidded to .363 during the week, the White Sox second sacker climbed two points.

Ray Coleman of St. Louis scored 24 points from eighth to third with .355.

Other leaders are Orestes Minoles, .354; Dom Dimaggio, Boston, .345; Dick Kryhoski, Detroit, .342; Luke Easter, Cleveland, making his first top 10 appearance, .337; Eddie Robinson, Chicago, .329; Vern Stephens, Boston, .325; and Jim Busby, Chicago, .322.

WT-NM League— Dukes Just Can't Catch Em; Blue Sox Win Again

By The Associated Press
Rain washed out the Texas half of the West Texas-New Mexico League schedule Tuesday night but it failed to help the second-place Albuquerque Dukes in their fight to overtake the flying Abilene Blue Sox.

Nothing interfered with the Abilene-Albuquerque game played in the Duke's park and Abilene capitalized on the opportunity to add another game to its margin.

The Blue Sox blasted 18 hits off three Duke pitchers to win 11-6. The victory gave them a three-game edge on the Dukes.

Big Walt Sessi personally directed the Blue Sox to their win, blasting a home run, two singles and a double to drive in seven of the runs.

Clovis played host to Lamesa in the other New Mexico game and proved to be gracious to the extreme. The Pioneers committed three errors in the ninth inning to hand Lamesa a 9-6 victory. The Lobos scored three runs to break a 6-4 tie with the aid of the miscues.

Enlis Rossion relieved for Lamesa in the second and was tight in the clutches. He was credited with the win.

Pampa at Borger and Lubbock at Amarillo were rained out.

Matajek, Price Pitch Wins In Softball Action

League-leading Shell Oil was dumped 5-1 by Rotary Engineers Monday night in City Major Softball Stadium. Shortstop Chico Carrasquel, center of the White Sox is run down by Southpaw Hal Newhouser, bottom, and George Kell. Latter made tag. (NEA)

Losers Lefty Martin surrendered seven hits. The most damaging blow was a second inning single by Matajek, which drove in two runs.

Rendezvous outscored American Legion 12-10 in a wild game for the loop cellar. American Legion now is sole owner of the last-place spot.

Roy Price allowed eight hits in pitching the win. Loser Jack Smith also surrendered eight bingles.

Holland, Rendezvous center fielder, singled in the winning run with the bases loaded in the sixth to break a 10-10 tie.

Tuesday night, Church League teams see action and Wednesday will find Shell playing Standard in the first game while Rotary meets Legion in the second contest.

Texas Amateur Golf Tourney Tune-Ups Start

CORSICANA—P—The elite of Texas amateur golf were moving into Corsicana Tuesday for tune-up rounds before making their bid for the state championship.

The Texas Amateur Tournament opens Wednesday at Corsicana Country Club with its first 71. Qualifying rounds will be played Wednesday.

There will be two rounds of match play Thursday, two Friday and the 36-hole finals Saturday.

L. M. Crannell, Jr., the North Texas State star from Dallas who won the trans-Mississippi last weekend; Julian Arnold of Corsicana, holder of the course record of 66, and Capt. Fred Moseley of San Antonio, the Air Force champion, are among those rating highest in championship speculations.

Lions Rally To Defeat Yanks 13-4

An eleven-run outburst in the sixth inning gave the Lions a 13-4 win over the Yankees in Little League action Monday afternoon.

Trailing 3-2 going into the final inning, the Lions started their parade of runs when Graham Tyler and Gary Sanford got successive triples. Tyler also hit a four-bagger in the fourth with the bases empty.

S. L. Vann relieved Lupe Hernandez to get credit for the win. Vann allowed but four hits in his three-inning stint. Manuel Munos was the loser.

The score:
LIONS 100 10 11-13 7 3
YANKS 002 011-4 6 7

Hernandez, Vann and Stout; B Sanchez, Munos, Faris and Rodriguez.

Isolated Swimmer Wants Best Service

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—When John Graham, 50, needs to be rescued, he wants the job done by professionals.

Graham fell asleep on a rock in the ocean. When he awoke the tide had risen and he was cut off from shore. A bather, George Marvin, spotted Graham waving, swam out and offered to tow him in. Graham gave him the cold shoulder.

"Go back and call me a lifeguard," he said.

Marvin did. A few minutes later lifeguards came out and rescued the stranded Graham professional style.

King's Row

by LARRY KING

It's all over but the shooting and the winning a spot in the first division.

The city officials' decision to assure the Midland Indians of a playing field after this season virtually guarantees Midland a professional baseball club for years to come barring unforeseen incidents.

Naturally, the new owners are going to want to produce a winner. Being fans and supporters of the club, they'll be a sure shot to be shooting for the playoffs every year.

Whether or not Midland will make it this year, of course, remains to be seen.

The club is 20 games out of first place and eight games out of first division. The season is young, and with help in the right spots, and the backing of the fans, they might make it. But the Indians face no path of roses in their attempt to zoom higher in the Longhorn League standings.

First and foremost is the pitching situation. Eddie Jacome and Dave McKenzie are doing all right. They, we think, certainly will be retained. Lefty Bill Reed has pitched some good ball and could turn into a good hurler.

But even more of a problem than the pitching is the lack of hitting power of the club.

In the last four games, Midland left a total of 41 runners stranded on base. Half that number brought in would have won all four games by comfortable margins.

Bill Hornsby, Hayden White, Rudy Escobar and Kenny Jones all seemed capable of hitting the long ball earlier in the season, but all have been in an extended slump recently.

Of course, some of the blows now being turned into outs eventually will be turned into hits. White is tagging the ball on the nose and sooner or later they'll start spraying in for base hits.

When that happens—and when some more players are obtained—Midland's stock will rise.

The club is ours now. Let's all back it.

Anti-Red Coalition Gains Majorities In Major Italian Cities

ROME —(AP)—Anti-Communists Tuesday won control of historic Florence but the Reds held stubbornly to their last great Italian port stronghold, Taranto. These were the latest significant results as returns mounted from the third round of Italian local elections. Premier Alcide de Gasperi's anti-Communist forces polled 113,181 votes in Florence to 107,398 for the Communists, who since the end of the war had administered the city. Incomplete returns showed anti-Communists also leading in Northern Turin, Italy's automobile center. There the Communists has won almost two to one over the Christian Democrats in the 1946 municipal elections. The vote stood Tuesday at 178,596 for the anti-Reds and 131,097 for the Communist bloc, in 620 of the city's 814 sections. Almost complete returns showed the Communists still gripping the southern port city of Taranto—the last major Italian port still in Red hands politically. Christian Democrat forces stripped Communists of control in Genoa, Venice and Ancona in the May 27 elections. Election returns issued by the Interior Ministry also gave de Gasperi's forces an eight-to-six advantage in the vote for provincial councils. It appeared, however, that the Communist bloc had polled a heavy vote in 2,161 municipalities in the 30 provinces which balloted Sunday and Monday. The election was Italy's third in three weeks. On May 27 provincial and municipal councils were picked in 2,735 cities and 28 provinces. On June 3 Sicily elected a new regional assembly. The Christian Democrats and their Republican, Liberal and anti-Communist Socialist allies ousted the Reds from almost 1,000 communities on May 27. In Sicily they upped their assembly seats from 20 to 30. But in both elections the Communists increased their total vote as compared with 1948, while the Christian Democrats showed a loss. 'HE SHOULD RESTYLE MUSTACHE'—Republican criticism of Dean Acheson, always abundant, took a new tack when Senator Ralph Flanders (R-Vt) suggested the secretary of State ought to restyle his mustache. "It might," said the crusty Vermont, "change his whole personality." The senator thought Acheson might try the "more informal style" such as he himself prefers. Senator Flanders' remarks set our own enterprising artist to work restyling Acheson's mustache, with the results below. Beginning with the Flanders (or toothbrush type), he proceeded to the Gay Nineties "walrus" type, thence to a "French" sliver and finally to a smooth-lip (or none at all) type.

Sailor Gets Wound, But No Purple Heart

LONG BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—Sailor Tom Trantham, 23, just back from Korean war duty, has his first wound Tuesday—but no Purple Heart. A crewman aboard the Navy cruiser St. Paul, Trantham came home without a scratch. Monday, as he strolled through an amusement zone, a .32 caliber rifle fell from a shooting gallery counter. Doctors treated him for a leg flesh wound.

Nation's Crude Oil Production Drops

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—Domestic crude oil production for the week ended June 9 dropped 2,175 barrels daily, averaging 6,101,550 barrels a day. The Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday. California had the greatest increase, gaining 3,700 barrels to 968,500. Other major gains were in Michigan, up 2,800 barrels to 43,100; Louisiana, up 2,425 to 615,250, and Texas, 2,350 to 2,754,175.

Hunt For Missing Jets Is Abandoned

FRANKFURT, GERMANY —(AP)—The U. S. Air Force Monday night abandoned its three-day search for two U. S. jet fighters feared to have crashed somewhere in Communist Europe. The hunt was called off after long-range planes and helicopters had combed Western Germany along the Iron Curtain border in a vain quest for the two F-84 thunderjets which vanished Friday. An Air Force spokesman said if the jets had gone down in the Western zones, the Air Force undoubtedly would have received word by now. He added the disappearance has been reported to the Soviet air controller in Berlin. The missing planes were attached to the 86th Fighter-Bomber Wing at Giebelstadt. Names of the missing men were not disclosed.

Two men pleaded guilty to charges of drunk driving in County Judge Clifford C. Keith's court Monday. A 29-year-old Midland man was fined $100 and costs and a 32-year-old man from Clovis, N. M., received a $150 fine and costs. Judge Keith suspended both men's driver's licenses for six months. Advertise or be forgotten.

TEXAN DIES IN BELGIUM

DALLAS —(AP)—Patrick B. Gibbons, Jr., Dallas cotton man, is dead in Antwerp, Belgium, where he had gone on a business trip. Gibbons was a native of Paris, Texas. The highest clouds are found about six miles above the surface of the earth.

American oil companies have some 156,000 miles of pipelines to move crude oil and finished products. Movement by pipeline is the cheapest form of land transportation. Many tons of sugar are used in the manufacture of dynamite. Mixed with the glycerine before nitrating, sugar yields a nitroglycerine less likely to freeze.

Discovery Of Red Arms Cache Reveals Uprising In Italian Communist Party

ROME—(NEA)—The discovery by the Italian police of large Communist caches of arms throws new light on the operation of the Cominform's secret military shock troops.

Italy's Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba has long been aware of the widespread underground activities of the Red underground troops in northern Italy and southern France. Since 1947 he has been on the lookout for their hidden arms dumps.

The fact that most of the caches now are being discovered backs up reports that the pro-nationalist revolt in the Italian Communist Party is spreading to the Cominform's secret military organization.

Scelba recently reported to the Italian Chamber of Deputies that between January, 1947, and June, 1950, police had seized the following material:

Sixty-six pieces of field artillery; 344 mortars; 1,543 heavy machine guns; 2,302 light machine guns, 6,444 tommy guns; more than 42,000 rifles; more than 102,000 hand grenades; 244 tons of high explosives; 237 radio transmitting stations, and more than 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

More Uncovered

The Italian police recently found two more Communist arms dumps. A squad of mine detectors uncovered one in two walled-up rooms of a Uncovered Arms: Police check through a 14-ton arsenal of Communist arms found in the Ansaldo shipyards near Genoa.

Cucchi, chieftains of the highly industrialized and traditionally Red Emilia region, is growing. Despite Cominform charges, the revolt seems to be inspired less by "Titolsm" than by good, old-fashioned nationalism and love of the country. It also indicates a profound change in the program—if not the structure—of the Cominform.

As in France and elsewhere in Western Europe, a bitter struggle is now going on inside the Italian Communist Party between a military-minded "direct action" group and a "moderate" group of parliamentarians.

Led By Longo

The "direct action" group is led by Moscow-trained Luigi Longo, said to be a Soviet citizen. The "moderate" group is represented, among others, by Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cucchi.

Though the Red revolt seems to be confined for the present to Communist intellectuals and former anti-fascist partisans, Moscow is obviously worried.

Italy's Red boss, Palmiro Togliatti, just interpreted a "rest-cure" vacation in the Soviet Union to rush to Rome. At the same time, Communist "vigilance committees" are swinging into action throughout Italy to nip the "nationalist contagion" in the bud. But according to the novelist Ignazio Silone, leader of the anti-Communist Unitarian Socialist Party, approximately 10,000 Communists have quit the Party since the recent resignation of Magnani and Cucchi.

Private Flying Is Big Business Activity For Midland and Fun For The Many Pilots

Give many Midlanders an airplane—and they can fly it.

True, Midland is an airlines center of the Permian Basin and oil companies use planes commercially—but these are just the men and women who fly for fun.

It is estimated there are close to 100 of them here. All don't own planes and there is, of course, some borrowing, swapping and renting of planes.

Three plane and hangar service installations serve Midland. Globler Aviation Company and Southwest Rangers are located at Midland Air Terminal. The West Texas Flying Service is at Midland Airport.

Bill Globler is boss man at his firm and is a Beechcraft dealer. The firm offers service and storage. About 25 private planes are kept in the three hangars of the company on a rental basis. It is estimated these planes are worth a half-million dollars. Globler averages about 80 transients monthly. Some of the planes kept there belong to Odessans, but most of them belong to Midlanders.

Has Flying 'Parson'

West Texas Flying Service features charter service to oil companies and others but also it offers storage and service to private fliers. Norman Hoffman is the owner and a Cessna dealer.

Joe Mueller, one of four flying brothers, is head man at Southwest Rangers. John Molton at this service installation is an experienced aviation expert and nobody seems to know just how many thousands of hours he has logged in the air.

And Midland also has a "flying parson." He is the Rev. Vernon Yearby, who, a couple of years ago, went out and earned his license. He flies over the country on "the Lord's business."

Stanley Erskine, one of Midland's top aviation enthusiasts, tossed the preacher the keys to his private plane and said, "use it to learn to fly."

Norman Hoffman taught him to fly and now a Midland oilman lends him a plane when he needs it.

Circling over Midland and the Permian Basin, one is apt to "run into" these Midlanders up there, because they love to fly. Felix Cox, Robert Curry, Doc Brady, Ben Crites, Floyd Pace, Rowe Plunk, Leon York, the Wilson brothers, and others.

C. L. Cunningham may be flying on business because he uses a plane to look after his contracting. Ish McKnight, independent oil operator, also uses a plane in his business. Many of the oil companies have one or more airplanes. Superior uses two. Plymouth has a plane that is piloted by Bill Soper. Other companies with planes include Hiawatha, the Western Company, Carl B. King Drilling Company, and several of the major oil companies.

Formerly Military Fliers

Ralph Lowe, Watson LaForce and several others have planes to use in the oil business. George Glass is a "flying rancher."

J. P. (Bum) Gibbins and R. B. (Bum) Cowden have planes.

Tommy Wilson, who used to fly 'em for Uncle Sam, puts in more than his four hours a month as a private flier. He and his brother have a "partnership."

Don Oliver is an aviation-minded oilman.

Co-Ed Flier
A pretty Stephens College co-ed, home for the Summer, can fly and does.

Union Oil leases a plane and pilot when it has urgent business to transact. So do several other oil companies.

But what about the private fliers, and how do they get a license?

First, they must take a physical exam and do ground study. Then they must have eight to 10 hours of dual flying and instruction before they must solo. Then comes 27 hours of solo time and finally a check and examination by a CAA-approved instructor. And then they are given the "coveted" private license.

With a private license, they can fly to their heart's content and can even take up passengers—if the passengers want to go. But no paid fares may be accepted.

Cost Is Low
One private flier said it cost him only $7.88 to fly to Dallas. Gasoline for the smaller type planes used by most private fliers costs about 33 cents a gallon. Most use 80-octane gasoline.

Midlanders buy good planes. One flying service reported all its Beechcrafts for 1951 already were sold. Other orders could be filled if it could just get the airplanes.

Midland is located on a main east-west skyway across the nation that is used by private fliers. When there is bad weather—and this is unusual—there is time for "hangar talk" at Midland's airports and talk a good flight.

For the longer trips by air, the private fliers make flight plans and CAA gives the weather data and keeps tab on them while they're on the trip.

Most Texas cities, as well as those in other states, have landing and service facilities for private planes. It's a big business and Midland is keeping up with the pace.

Soviet Zone Voices Beefs On Leather

BERLIN—(AP)—East Germany is complaining sharply about the cracks in its leather industry. The Soviet zone is especially strapped for good shoes. The Communist form of "self criticism" has given the East Germans the courage to flood the controlled press with daily beefs about the quality of leather, once Germany's pride. West German leather is first class. The official Red Army newspaper "Taegliche Rundschau" acknowledged the mounting complaints by saying editorially: "The quality has not been improved but on the contrary has deteriorated." This is a pretty serious charge to level at the "Five-Year Plan."

+ Jacoby On Canasta +

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Everybody knows the old legend about the clown whose great ambition is to play Hamlet. Some Canasta players are just like that; they can't seem to figure out which part they are cast for.

The confusion usually arises just after somebody has won the first substantial discard pile. For the sake of clarity, let's suppose that the South player has taken the pile. At that moment the East is complete and each player should know exactly what part he is to play.

South's role is, of course, very easy. He should melt sparingly so as to keep a large number of cards in his hand. If he can keep about twenty cards in his hand the opponents will not dare freeze the pack. He is Simon Legree, and the cards in his hand represent his whip. If he melts too many cards, his whip is gone.

North's role is equally clear cut. He must attempt to win the second substantial discard pile. Then he will have his own whip, and the two partners have a chance to cut the opponents to ribbons.

It sounds cruel, but it's just a game after all. It may be healthful to play really cruelly in this way. You work off your savageness at the card table and can be a model citizen everywhere else.

The two defenders, East and West, must recognize their parts instantly. Otherwise they will be the lambs that get led to slaughter.

Since South has taken the first substantial pile the offensive has passed to North and South. This means that East and West must take the defensive at once. They must not freeze the pack, they must not fight for the discard pile; they must play to meld out as quickly as possible.

West is the first defender to act after South has taken the pile. He must meld at once if he can do so with cards that have some reasonable chance of developing a canasta. His only melds are in ranks already melded by the enemy (or known to be in an opponent's hand), he should refrain from melding in the hope that his partner can meld more conveniently.

There is no longer any fear of too many cards from the hand. That caution is necessary when you are fighting for the discard pile. It is no longer necessary when the pile has been taken by the enemy.

Chigger Detector Is Simple Device

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When chiggers cause that itching sensation after you come in from a jaunt around your neighborhood, you may wonder where you picked them up.

Entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest a simple detecting device for such emergencies. To locate a chigger-infested spot they advise placing a piece of black cardboard edgewise on the ground where chiggers are suspected. If you can see small yellowish or pinkish mites moving over the cardboard and accumulating on the upper edge, you've hit home.

Three new insecticides have proven better than sulphur for controlling the pests. They are chlordane, toxaphene and lindane, the department says.

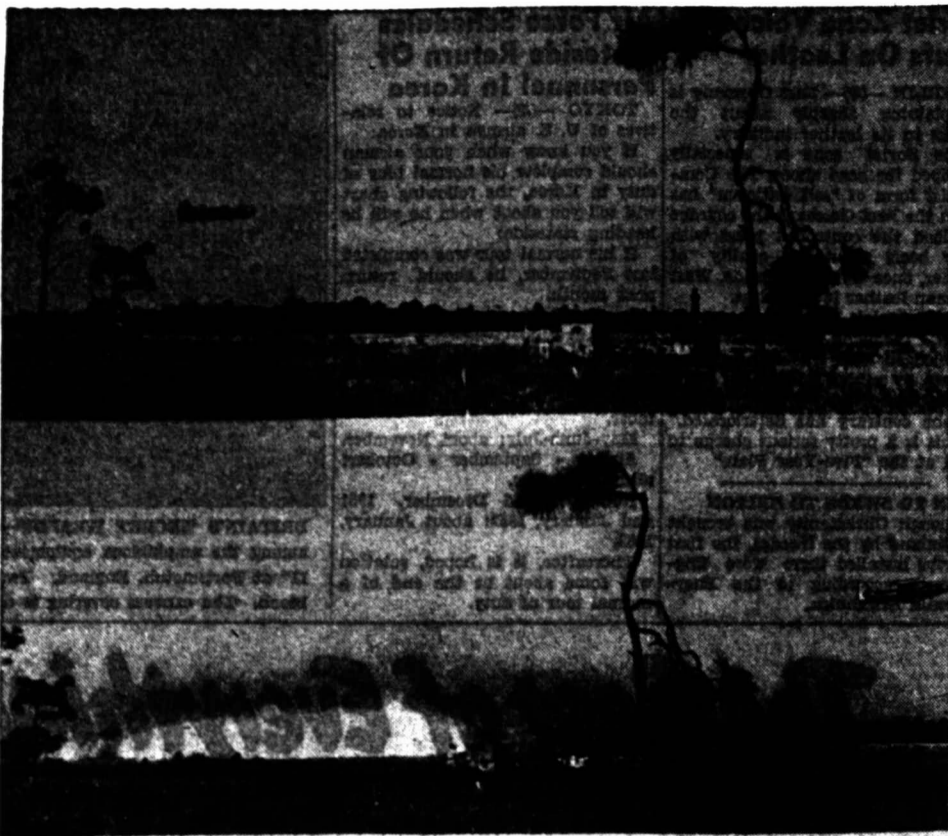

Nightly Blackouts Held In Singapore

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Just about every night in Singapore, there are electric power blackouts—but nobody gets any advance warning.

The municipal electrical engineer announced he couldn't tell people what areas were going to be affected "for security reasons."

In other words, Communist terrorists might step up their activities if they knew in advance what sections of Singapore were going to be without lighting at any specified time.

LESSON IN FIRE BOMBING—A Republic F-84E Thunderjet at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla., gives a demonstration of napalm (jellied gasoline) bombing—a technique which has proved highly successful in Korea. At top, the jet releases the bomb. Center, the jellied gasoline strikes its target, splashing in all directions to destroy everything in its reach. Below, the inferno roars into a boiling mass of orange flame and smoke. The devastating napalm bomb is said to be the one weapon most feared by the Reds in Korea.

24 Children Aren't Enough Work For Mrs. Clarke, The One-Woman USO

THURMONT, MD. — (NEA)—To Mrs. Charles Clarke, 10 bushels of wash is an average family laundry day. That's because she's the mother of 24 children.

But raising two dozen youngsters isn't enough for the woman hundreds of servicemen know as "Mother Clarke." The Clarks run a sprawling restaurant and grocery here, which has come to be an unofficial servicemen's club. She's the guiding spirit.

At 56, Mrs. Clarke still does a big day's work. She starts packing school lunch pails for her half-dozen school-age offspring at 4:30 a.m. Then comes an assembly-line breakfast, that day's installment of washing and ironing, a few chores around the farm and a stint at the restaurant. All this, of course, surrounded by children of all ages.

GI Money No Good
It was at the roadside stand—part of the establishment—that Mrs. Clarke began her career as a one-woman USO. Hundreds of soldiers on maneuvers or bound for the Indiantown Gap, Pa., Port of Embarkation were warmed by her hospitality. A soldier's money was no good at her stand.

She took sandwiches and coffee to GI's doing patrol duty at the highway crossroads. She wrote letters to boys overseas who had written to thank her for her kindness.

Besides all those chores and pleasures, Mrs. Clarke is a regular and devoted blood donor. Every two months, she offers her blood at a Red Cross blood center. She's given 28 pints.

She was her county's first blood donor during World War II and her neighborhood's champion. When the blood center at Frederick, Md., was closed at the end of the war, she began twice-monthly 78-mile pilgrimages to a Baltimore hospital to make her contributions.

Now she has a personal reason for maintaining her record. One of her sons is serving on the USS Mobile in Korean waters, another is in training at a Texas air base, and two more are 1-A on the draft list.

Reward for "Mother Clarke": Cpl Jack MacDonald, 18, of Seneca, S. C., a double amputee, pins a three-gallon emblem on Mrs. Charles Clarke of Thurmont, Md., at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, after her 28th blood donation. Mrs. Clarke, 56, is the mother of 24 children. In background is Mrs. Molly Jones, Red Cross volunteer staff aide.

The MATURE PARENT

Welcome Child Back Home When Punishment's Over

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

There was no doubt about it: eight-year-old Harry Brown could not learn from punishment.

His mother had tried them all—the dignified silence treatment, the chair-sitting sessions, bed-without-supper routines, the dessert denials. Harry would say, "Yes, I'm sorry I was a bad boy,"—and then go out and be bad again three days later.

One afternoon, Mrs. Brown crossed the American parents' 38th Parallel. After Harry had defied his father's orders not to touch his new tool box and smashed its lock, his mother administered a good, old-fashioned spanking.

It was a shattering experience. She was still trembling when she placed the roast on the table before her husband and called her child to dinner.

As Harry sat down, Mrs. Brown said: "Before your father cuts your meat, tell him you are sorry you were disobedient."

When Harry had said it, Mrs. Brown began: "What do you think, Harold, of a child who deliberately defies a good mother and father? To hurt the people who love you—that's what I can never understand. What is going to happen to a boy who won't obey his parents? Suffering, that's what. When I think of the millions of little children in this world who do not have good homes . . ."

And so on. We have said it ourselves a thousand times: possibly Harry could not learn from punishment. He was kept too busy defending himself against his mother's post-mortems on the last one.

Feelings Are His Affair
When a child has been punished, punishment should be over.

Let me repeat. When your child has paid his penalty for doing wrong, he should be restored to his place in your affections. Right away.

If he is sorry he has done wrong,

Dad's Day Tribute—Make It Special

For his day, father may get a frivolous gift he'll regard as extravagant but nice or something practical that he really needs. Both types are shown here. A sport jacket (far left) is practical, is maroon-and-gray tweed with unusual tab closing on collar for cold or windy days. Tool kit (upper left) is practical, has zippered case, small tools that do a real job. Glass pipe (lower left) is luxury, holds perfume for men in masculine scent. Cigarette case and lighter (upper right) are in one unit, make luxury gift holding king-size cigarettes. Budget gift (lower right) is flexible vinylite tobacco pouch with five chambers in the flap to hold pipe cleaners. Gabardine sports shirt (far right) is another practical, budget gift. It's completely washable, comes in 32 colors, and is fade-proof.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Even though Dad may, after June 17, have to pay the bills for his gifts, it's still his day.

It's the day on which he may get the gift that he's really wanted. It might be some small luxury he'd never dream of buying for himself. Or, it may be something practical a purchase he's deferred in favor of the needs of other members of the family. If the aim is to pamper papa and yet to give him a gift that's practical, a tweed sports jacket will turn the trick. It might be a casual jacket for country wear; checked in maroon-and-gray, given large patch pockets and a tab closing at the collar. This closing allows for complete chest protection in bad weather.

In the realm of the very practical, there's a small tool kit that comes in a flat, zippered leather case. It holds 14 tools, from hammer to screwdriver, all of them highly efficient. The kit comes with one additional, interchangeable handle that can be used to lengthen any of the tools.

She's Only Girl In France With Bells At Her Fingers

PARIS—(NEA)—For 32-year-old Jacqueline Goguet, there is nothing to equal the satisfaction of producing a peal of bells. Mile Goguet has her satisfaction, too, because she is France's only woman, carillon-ringer.

Every other Sunday she climbs 355 steps up the belltower of Sainte Odile, one of the most modern churches in Paris. It was completed in 1945 and is one of two in the city with a carillon.

Seated at her simple keyboard with only an upturned wooden box for a seat, Jacqueline Goguet sets her bronze bells ringing. She is oblivious to all discomforts as she creates the rich music.

There are 20 bells, weighing close to three tons, and she has to pound on her keyboard with both fists. Each session lasts about 45 minutes, and to protect her hands she wears half-gloves, which she cuts out of any old pair she finds lying around.

"I never feel tired at the end of it," she says. "I love the time I spend with my bells. Up there I lose all sense of time and space, forget the pressures of the everyday world and the necessity to earn a living."

Her life is music. She hasn't the slightest interest in clothes or housekeeping. Although she is an experienced and talented musician, she's been at bell-ringing barely a year.

Before bells occupied her, Mile Goguet had composed music. She has produced two masses, "A cappella," a symphony for the organ and another work in music and verse, "The Rosary," for choir organ and harp. Lately, she's written pieces for the carillon. And the versatile miss has also published several slim volumes of poetry.

Fame Spreads
Now, though, she's concentrating on the carillon. Already her fame has spread through Northern France and Belgium. There the instrument is more frequent and popular than in the rest of the country.

From Easter to Whitsun, she travels from church to church to set her bells ringing on Sundays and feast days. Now she has two ambitions. She wants to ring the 38 bells that comprise the largest carillon in France at the church of Chalon-sur-Marne.

And she wants to visit the U.S. and play the carillon there. In preparation for the trip, she's practicing her English.

NEA Appoints Gaile Dugas Women's Editor

Gaile Dugas, former St. Louis newspaperwoman, has been named women's editor of NEA Service where she has been a member of the women's staff since 1949.

A native of Little Falls, Minn., and a graduate of the University of Minnesota, Miss Dugas began newspaper work in Cairo, Ill.

One of her first jobs was to cover the St. Louis Cardinals when travel restrictions kept teams from traveling far from their home cities for Spring training. Miss Dugas was the first woman reporter to cover a major league training camp assignment.

Later she was a reporter and feature writer on St. Louis newspapers. She worked for Women's Wear Daily and for a time edited Creative Footwear, a trade magazine for the shoe industry. Before joining NEA, she wrote extensively for national magazines.

Earth Goes On Feeding Us Despite Experts' Prophecies

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There's always something that comes along to confound the experts. In fact it is a lot of fun to prove that the experts are wrong; witness the popularity of some radio shows. Of course experts are more often right than wrong, but when they do make a mistake it is likely to be a honey.

About 140 years ago there lived a scholarly Englishman named Malthus, who predicted that before so very long the number of people on the face of the globe would be so enormous that the land could not feed them. In that comparatively short period of time the world's population has multiplied more than fourfold and starvation is probably no more widespread than it was then.

What has happened to prove Malthus wrong—at least so far—is that the earth has been made more productive. New areas have been explored and opened up to cultivation, and the yield of food substances per acre of land has been enormously increased by a multitude of methods, such as fertilization, irrigation, new tools, and better seeds.

It isn't fair to throw the book at Malthus alone. About 20 years ago when the United States was in the great depression, the birth rate fell off and stayed that way for several years. The experts quite properly got out pencil and paper and figured that the United States was going to reach its peak population in a few years and then there would not be quite enough babies born to replace the old folk who passed away.

Experts Fooled
Well, the depression finally ended and war loomed on the horizon. Anyway, the birth rate started to go up by leaps and bounds and all estimates had to be completely revised.

Perhaps it would be best to say that the experts weren't wrong but the people didn't behave as the experts thought they were going to.

It stands to reason that in time the population of the world will reach a point where the good earth can feed no more. There have been many learned discussions of where this point lies. As long as new things keep cropping up—like artificially produced rain, for example—any prophecy in this regard will be a pretty hazardous proposition.

U. S. experts show the value of snow in high country for irrigation by pointing out that about 20 per cent of Utah is above 7,000 feet high, but this 20 per cent of the state contributes 80 per cent of the runoff used for irrigation.

Opera Tickets Sell On Easy-Payment Plan

MIAMI, FLA.—P—Now it's opera tickets on the installment plan. Arturo di Filippi, director of the Miami Opera Guild, has come up with what he calls the "accumulative membership plan of the Opera Guild of Greater Miami."

Under the plan, those who've found it difficult to pay out $1250 for two pairs of opera tickets in mid-season may pay $2 monthly. "The main reason opera is not so popular as it should be in this country is because of the cost," di Filippi says. "With my plan, everyone can go to the opera."

Daddy Ringtail :: By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Mister Pumpernickle

Do you know who was coming to visit the Huffen for a little vacation? Mister Pumpernickle was coming. Mister Pumpernickle was a maker of moving pictures of the kind you see at the picture show. He was a famous man indeed.

"I know how he talks. I do, said the Huffen. "Daddy Ringtail, you don't need to tell me not to hurt his feelings about it. I know how he talks, I do."

The Huffen knew that Mister Pumpernickle could not talk very well. He said "yeth" when he meant to say "yes."

But just then—with a great noise of a night wind—Mister Pumpernickle flew down to the ground in a little airplane of a size for one man only, with his legs sticking out the bottom.

"Thure, my man," thaid Mister Pumpernickle to he Huffen, "are you the Huffen?"

"Thure and yeth this," said the Huffen with words like Mister Pumpernickle. "The Huffen ith who I am."

The Huffen hoped Mister Pumpernickle would be happy to hear him talk this way, but he wasn't. He thought the Huffen was teasing, and he swung his cane with a great "ker-bong" against the Huffen's head.

"Perhaps he knows your cousin so well he thinks he knows you also." Again the Huffen laughed and chuckled. The famous Mister Pumpernickle was going to visit him. Oh, but Daddy Ringtail had something to tell the Huffen. Daddy Ringtail once had met and talked with Mister Pumpernickle. Daddy Ringtail wanted to tell the Huffen something about the way Mister Pumpernickle talked.

Bombing Red China Bases Means More Than Airfields

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON —(P)—What Chinese Communist bases might be bombed if the ban against attacks on targets beyond the North Korean boundary should be removed? The question is posed by the assertion Monday by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer that the ban is an "unfair restriction" and "unrealistic."

President Truman opposes bombing Manchuria and China because he says it involves the risk of starting a general war. But he also said in his April 11 speech that it may well be the Communists themselves who may spread the war. This has been interpreted as referring to a notification to the United Nations that if mass attacks are made by the Red air force, American bombers will strike across the Yalu River boundary.

In much of the testimony before the two Senate committees investigating the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and in debate elsewhere, the reference usually has been to bombing "bases." But bases, in the literal military sense, probably would be only one type of target. Wedemeyer's choice of words to the inquiry group points to that. He spoke of hitting places "where the enemy was gathering together his strength."

Tactical Operations
An enemy gathers his strength in two ways: by assembling and organizing troops at points from which they are moved to the battle front; by producing and transporting munitions for use at the front. The destruction of an enemy's means to wage war is strategic warfare, sustained attack by bomber forces. But it usually involves, also, tactical operations strikes against forward airfields and similar bases.

Published information and available maps make reasonably evident some of the types of targets and places that would be hit should the Reds ignore the warning and launch air attacks on UN ground forces.

Airfields would be high on the priority list. Fighter bases, like the strips near Antung, just across the Yalu River in Manchuria, would have to be "taken out" first. They base the MIG 15 jets, which would be used as interceptors to prevent strategic bombing attacks on transportation and production targets deeper in the Chinese mainland. Farther back, at such places as Anshan, are Red air force bomber fields where, presumably, medium bombers and perhaps four-engine planes are based.

Production, Supply Routes
Of equal importance to the destruction of airfields and planes is the blasting of the sources of production and the routes over which fuel is moved for planes and for motor convoys. China has no big oil production source, but some petroleum is produced from shale in Southern Manchuria. It must be assumed, however, that the bulk of petroleum used by the enemy in the Korean war comes from sources outside either Red China or North Korea.

The supplies and at least part of the masses of troops which Red China funnels into the Korean war move over rail and highway lines within easy bombing reach. Indeed, the main rail line linking South China with Manchuria and Korea at some points is within range of naval gunfire. Rail lines coming down from Siberia, supply source of Russian-produced munitions, would be well within reach of B-29's operating out of bases in Japan or Okinawa.

Mukden Is Key Point
The big Manchurian city of Mukden would stand high on the target list. In the Mukden area are three or four airfields. But Mukden also is a major production town, turning out small arms and some artillery as well as being a center for heavy industry.

Seaports always are logical targets for strategic bombing. But targets in this category would have to be selected with care—unless the U. S. decided to ignore entirely the possibility of Soviet intervention.

Baby Can Now Breathe But Still Can't Cry

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF.—(AP)—Scott Leiby, nine-month-old son of Garold and Betty Leiby, seemed to be a normal child until he was two months of age. Then his parents noticed that he was having trouble breathing. He stopped crying, too. Doctors discovered Scott had a birthmark inside his trachea, or windpipe, which was slowly choking off his breath. He didn't cry because it was too hard. Surgeons inserted a tiny silver tube into the windpipe. Scott breathes through that now. But although the breath comes easily for him—he still can't cry. The tube is below his larynx, or voice box, which gets no wind to operate the vocal cords. Scott is used to the tube now and is a happy, smiling baby. Doctors hope that as he grows older his condition will improve and he will be able to breathe normally.

'A WOMAN SCORNE'

Nowhere in the world's literature has scorn and hatred of women reached such a peak as in the fabliaux, comic French rhymes of the Middle Ages, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FORT MADISON, IOWA—(AP)—You can put it in your stomach, but not in your fountain pen. Ethiopian English Has Swedish Accent

ADDIS ABABA—(AP)—English is Ethiopia's second language and is being taught in all the country's schools, but foreign teachers of English here are not uniform in their use of the English language. Besides, some schools use English textbooks from England and others textbooks from America.

There are school teachers from England, the United States, Canada and India. Britishers are inclined to teach and use the King's English. Americans, of course, teach and use American speech and usage. The Canadians, while their speech is closer to American than British, tend to use British spelling and usage. The Indians, with rare exceptions, have an unmistakable foreign accent. Their spelling and usage are wholly British. One of the largest schools here was for many years staffed by Swedes, and many of the students speak English with a Swedish accent.
