

Malik Asks For Cease-Fire Conference

Midland Is Just One Big Dialing Buzz-z-z-z

Midland Manager Al Case put through the first test call while District Manager B. G. Yeatts looked on.

By COPE ROUTH

Midland's new $2,000,000 dial telephone system went into operation Sunday morning.

At exactly 12:01 a.m., the change-over from the old manually-operated system was completed.

In a dramatic operation, in which the scene shifted quickly from the old exchange to the new, the change was made and a few seconds later hundreds of calls were clicking through the new system.

"Midland now has its dial telephones," said Al Case, manager of the Midland telephone office, as he picked up the telephone to put through the first test call to Mayor Perry Pickett.

He quickly spun the dial. Call Goes Through

"Well, Perry," said Case, grinning. "Here it is."

"Congratulations, Al," came the mayor's voice over the phone. "We're all mighty proud and happy."

The historic call marked the end of the old-fashioned manual system which featured time-wasting delays as operators battled the steady flood of calls from a growing Midland.

And it meant the beginning of service for 1,200 residents who had been denied service because the old system had been stretched to its capacity.

Their phones already had been installed but did not go into operation until the change-over Sunday morning.

The change-over itself was carried out with precision as the staff of technicians followed a pre-arranged schedule in detail.

While Case and District Manager

The intricate mechanism at the new telephone exchange went into action as Billy Perry, frame man, watched carefully.

B. G. Yeatts stood by the men began filing into the two exchanges shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday.

By 11:45, all men were at their posts as Dispatcher R. L. Cline, stationed at the new telephone office at South Marienfeld and West Missouri, checked every point, assisted by District Plant Superintendent Howard Redding.

Earl Ridge, district traffic superintendent, stood by at the old exchange a block away to supervise operations there.

At 11:50 p.m., Cline asked Ridge for clearance to proceed.

Ridge, keeping an eye on the old switchboard, picked a moment when telephone traffic had subsided and gave the signal.

Signal Flashed

Cline flashed the word to C. W. Davis, the co-dispatcher, at the old exchange and a few seconds later M. E. Thomas began pulling out the heat coils which put the telephones out of service.

It took Thomas' men only a few minutes to complete the job. Word was flashed back to Cline.

Ted Stuart, receiving the go-ahead, started in with his crew at the job of pulling out the tiny picks to set the relays in the new dial switchroom in operation.

Pulling ropes that ripped the picks out in rows at a time, the men quickly completed the job.

At the old exchange, the switchroom, which had been buzzing with conversation, suddenly grew silent as the operators pulled off their headsets and slipped from their chairs for the last time.

At the moment the city's telephones were cut into the dial system, residents began testing their dialing fingers on the police department number and calling friends and neighbors to ring in the new. It was a sort of holiday spirit—with ringing of bells.

Dial telephones had come to Midland.

And Mayor Perry Pickett, joining other Midlanders in a sigh of relief, answered the first dial telephone call.

U. S. Ready To Play Part For Peace

WASHINGTON — (P) — The State Department declared Saturday night the United States is ready to play its part in ending the fighting in Korea if the cease-fire suggestion by Russia's Jacob Malik "is more than propaganda."

Malik, the Soviet representative at the United Nations, proposed Saturday afternoon that talks be started between the belligerents for a cease fire and an armistice with "mutual withdrawal of forces from the 38th parallel."

A State Department statement issued after several hours of consultation that indirectly included President Truman and high Defense Department authorities, frankly was skeptical of Malik's sincerity. It declared the tenor of his remarks "again raises the question as to whether this is more than propaganda."

Capitol Hill reaction to the Malik proposal showed a strong tinge of skepticism in view of Russia's past actions, but several Congress members indicated they felt the proposal should have attentive consideration.

In effect, the State Department statement challenged Malik and the Soviet government to come forward with specific ideas of arranging a cease fire, being assured of cooperation of the United States in any demonstrably sincere peace effort. Referring to what Malik said, the State Department bluntly declared: "If it is more than propaganda, adequate means for discussing an end to the conflict are available."

Press Officer Lincoln White who issued the statement said this could be taken as an obvious reference to the presence in New York of Ambassador Warren Austin and other UN government representatives who could receive peace suggestions.

UN Leaders Begin Quick Study Of Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (P) — Jacob Malik, Russia's chief delegate to the UN, called Saturday for a Korean cease-fire conference.

In his first public Korean peace bid that was not hedged with conditions favorable to Red China, he said the belligerents on both sides should take part in discussions for an armistice and withdrawal of troops of both sides from the 38th parallel.

Malik did not specify who he thought the belligerents were. UN spokesmen said they assumed he meant the Chinese and North Korean Communists on one side and the UN forces on the other.

Malik's high policy statement was contained in a broadcast of 14 minutes and 25 seconds recorded for a UN weekly program "Price of Peace."

UN delegation heads in New York began a quick study of the English version which Malik read.

Devoted To Attacks

Malik devoted much of his speech to attacks on the Western powers, the North Atlantic treaty, American military bases abroad, the armaments race and U. S. policy in Germany and Japan.

He insisted that the Soviet Union and its people were devoted to peace and still believed in the peaceful co-existence of Socialist and Capitalist systems.

But after summing up his attacks and what he called the "profoundly vicious" policy of the West, he said the Soviet people felt the

HST Asks Stronger Controls

WASHINGTON — (P) — President Truman, opening a last-ditch fight to save his economic controls program, warned Congress Saturday that "a relaxed, soft attitude is an invitation to disaster."

The President sent an urgent letter to Capitol Hill leaders as Congress prepared to open debate this week on controls bills which deny the President many of the powers he says are imperative to fight inflation.

The bills prepared by the Senate and House Banking Committees would take away much of Price Administrator Michael V. DeSalle's authority to roll back the price of meat and other articles.

A Senate Banking Committee majority issued a report Saturday declaring the threat of rollbacks was discouraging production and hence inflationary.

The Defense Production Act, under which present price-wage controls and other restrictions are applied, expires June 30.

Endless Report

The President enclosed an accompanying report by the President's National Advisory Board on Mobilization Policy, stressing the dangers of inflation.

"I have been considerably distressed," the President said, "by some provisions in the defense production bills reported by the Senate

Wreckage Of Plane Is Located

MONROVIA, LIBERIA — (P) — The wreckage of the Pan American Constellation, Great Republic, was located in the sodden jungle 50 miles from Monrovia Saturday, more than 24 hours after it was due here with 40 passengers and crewmen.

(A Pan American spokesman in New York said the plane was "completely disintegrated and there are no survivors.") He said it hit near the top of a 1,500-foot hill near the village of Sanoghe.

(Earlier reports from Dakar, French West Africa, said rescue pilots saw what they believed were signs of life and dropped food and medical supplies.

(The wreckage was located by a Pan-American DC-4 and two other search planes.)

The missing plane crashed at Totota, 13 miles from a Lutheran mission and about 50 miles north-east of here.

Doctors and nurses in ambulances and jeeps were dispatched at once but it was expected they would take four hours to reach the location.

It was understood a parachute

Allies Rout Reds In Attempt To Block Expected Drive

TOKYO — (P) — Bayonet wielding Allied infantrymen Saturday attacked and routed enemy troops on the central front in an attempt to upset an expected third Communist offensive expected at any hour.

In bitter and bloody fighting, Allied troops cleared an area south of Pyongyang, 29 miles north of parallel 38. Pyongyang stands at the tip of the old Red "Iron Triangle" missing area.

One hill changed hands five times before Communist screening forces were driven northward.

The Allies dug in after clearing all Reds from the approaches to Pyongyang, from which Communist forces might strike southward.

The Communists massed troops along the 100-mile Korean front.

In the air, 30 U. S. F-86 Sabre jets battled 12 to 18 Russian-made MIG-15 jets near the Manchurian border—the sixth day of such air battles in one week.

One MIG was damaged. It raised the score for the week to 11 Red planes destroyed, one probably destroyed and 22 damaged. In the same period, two Allied planes were destroyed and two missing.

Point To Offensive

All signs still pointed to an imminent Communist offensive, possibly on June 25, first anniversary of the war.

The U. S. Eighth Army commander, in a pre-anniversary statement, said confidently "we shall not be defeated in Korea."

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet reviewed a year of war which saw to Korea's southwest tip, to its northern borders, and back to the

Defendants 'Confess' In Red Court

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY — (P) — The nine defendants in the conspiracy trial of Archbishop Jozsef Groesz completed their eager confessions in a Communist court Saturday with admissions that included sex transgressions, murder, black market dealings and crime.

Istvan Cserrlar, 40-year-old general of the Roman Catholic Paulician Order, perhaps out-did all others in his detailed self-blame, although Ferenc Vecer, a Paulician prior, was a close second.

"We had mistresses and homosexuality was common among the monks," Cserrlar volunteered.

Vecer told how he himself killed a Russian soldier who came to his monastery in December, 1944.

"I knocked him down, took away his pistol and shot him in the head," he confessed calmly. "Then I took lunch."

Archbishop Groesz and his eight co-defendants went on trial Friday on charges of plotting to overthrow the Communist government. They face possible death sentences.

New Organization Is Formed To Sponsor Livestock Shows Here

Discontinuance of the annual Midland Livestock Show, a seven-county vent, and the organization of a Midland County Livestock Association to sponsor and stage Midland County livestock shows, were decided upon at a meeting of interested persons held Friday afternoon in Hotel Scharbauer.

John Dublin, Jr., chairman of the Agriculture and Livestock Division of the Chamber of Commerce, and A. G. Bohannan, president of the Midland Livestock Show, were in charge of the meeting.

The annual district show, officials said, is being discontinued because of limited facilities in which to show livestock here, and because of the increased interest in Midland County 4-H and FFA club members in raising and showing stock. The committee members were of the opinion the area show and sale should be discontinued until such time as better show facilities are available.

Expanded Show Planned

An expanded Midland County show, to be held in the Spring, will supplant the seven-county event, which has been held each year since before World War II. Counties included in the old district show were Midland, Martin, Glasscock, Upton, Crane, Andrews and Ector.

The Midland County Livestock Association, now in the process of organization, was announced Saturday.

Taft Blasts Demos' Lack Of Planning

INDIANAPOLIS — (P) — U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) Saturday night accused the Administration of "the same complete lack of planning in foreign policy as in domestic policy."

Senator Taft was the principal speaker at a $100-a-plate fund-raising "freedom dinner" sponsored by the Indiana Republican organization.

The Ohio lawmaker, likely contender for the GOP presidential nomination in 1952, hit the Administration on both foreign and domestic issues in a speech.

"We have plunged into the European Army project without adequately considering the capacity of

House Puts Approval On Big Tax Increase

WASHINGTON — (P) — Senate leaders said Saturday they hope to speed the impact of a whopping $7,200,000,000 tax boost approved Friday by the House. But they were cautious about predicting any sizable cuts.

The tax bill, largest single revenue measure ever laid before Congress, would:

1. Add 12 1/2 per cent to the income taxes of individuals, to raise an additional $2,847,000,000 a year.
2. Place an additional $1,252,000,000 in excise taxes on gasoline, automobiles, cigarettes, liquor, beer and other items.
3. Add $2,855,000,000 a year to corporation income and excess profits taxes.
4. Raise $245,000,000 a year through a variety of changes in the tax law structure.

Midland To Begin Drilling For More Water On Sunday

Midland will start drilling for more water Sunday.

City Manager W. H. Oswalt said Saturday it will be started Sunday in the Rosedale water well field and exploration work probably will start by Wednesday at the Airport property.

Woody Adams, Midland driller, will sink the Rosedale well which probably will be completed in three weeks, barring complications, Oswalt said. Under the present program of drilling and exploration activities, the city manager estimated that Midland's water supply would be increased 3,000,000 gallons daily.

"This should be more than enough to take care of our water needs with ease this year," Oswalt said.

Layne-Texas Company will do the exploration work.

A Proclamation

"WHEREAS, there is a recognized need for the control of tuberculosis of the lungs, and

"WHEREAS, the Midland City-County Health Unit and the Midland County Tuberculosis Association have caused to be brought to the City of Midland a State Department of Health X-ray unit for the purpose of conducting a mass X-ray survey of Midland County, and

"WHEREAS, each and every citizen of the City of Midland of the age of 15 years or older will have the opportunity to have a chest X-ray made at said unit;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Perry Pickett, Mayor of the City of Midland, do hereby proclaim the days Monday, June 25 through Thursday, July 5, inclusive, to be Chest X-ray Days in the City of Midland, and I urge that all citizens observe these days by having chest X-rays made."

Mayor, City of Midland.

Lamesa Boy Drowns In Knee-Deep Pool

SAN ANTONIO — (P) — Eddie, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Niemeyer of Lamesa drowned Saturday in a knee-deep children's wading pool.

Dick Urban Martin, seven, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Martin, also of Lamesa, was in a hospital in critical condition from shock and submersion effects.

Sheriff's deputies said the two boys were wading in a shallow pool when one slipped suddenly and apparently pulled the other down. It was believed both boys struck their heads on the bottom of the pool.

George Calls For Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON — (P) — Senator George (D-Ga) called Saturday for a $6,000,000,000 slash in government spending before Congress votes any new taxes.

George told a reporter the Senate Finance Committee, which he heads, will not rush action on the House-approved $7,200,000,000 tax bill.

"We are going to take the necessary time to go through this tax bill thoroughly and to investigate the country's economic prospects before acting," the Georgia senator said.

One Of 10 Most Wanted Criminals Seized In Oregon

WASHINGTON — (P) — The FBI announced Saturday night it had captured Thomas James Holden, one time train robber sought for the killing of his wife and her two brothers. He was taken into custody near Beaverton, Ore.

Holden was on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list of the 10 most wanted criminals.

The capture was announced by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

Hoover said FBI agents have been seeking Holden since late in 1949 on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the three murders in Chicago. Holden was released from Leavenworth Federal Prison in 1947.

Hoover said an alert citizen spotted Holden's picture as part of a feature story appearing in the Portland Oregonian.

The citizen recognized Holden as a plasterer at Beaverton, who used the name John Roger McCullough.

Midland Registers Below-100 Reading

Midland was downright chilly Saturday, compared with the previous six days of temperatures above 100 degrees.

Saturday's high was recorded at 3:30 p.m., when the thermometer indicated a mere 99 degrees. The day's low was 78.

Other readings during the last week: Monday, 107; Tuesday, 107; Wednesday, 106; Thursday, 106; and Friday, 107.

Brownsville Gets Manganese Plant

WASHINGTON — (P) — Plans for construction of a manganese concentration plant in Brownsville, Texas, were announced Saturday by the Texas International Manganese Corporation.

In a prepared statement, Allan H. Hand, the firm's capital representative, said construction would begin within 90 days if necessary approvals are obtained from government agencies. No estimate of the plant cost was disclosed.

The Brownsville site was selected because of its shipping facilities and proximity to Mexico's low grade manganese deposits which will be the source of the plant's ore.

The city has been without bus service since last November.

Governor Dewey To Visit Trouble Spots In Far East

ALBANY, N. Y. — (P) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey will visit the Korean war front and other Far Eastern trouble spots next month with the approval of President Truman.

Dewey announced the tour Saturday and, despite his assertion that no domestic politics were involved, there was immediate speculation he might be trying to project himself into the 1952 presidential picture.

The twice-defeated Republican nominee for President said he would visit Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Chinese Nationalist government, in Formosa, and military and political leaders of other non-Communist nations in the Pacific area. Dewey has been a leading advocate of strong U. S. support for Chiang's government.

Weekend Party 'Dignified,' But Scotsmen Were Reeling

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, NEA Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: Yvonne De Carlo still is screaming about her "play-girl" headlines—the result of a weekend in the country—while she was in England starting in "Hotel Sahara." The gal has a legitimate wall. She told me: "I got back to Hollywood and heard stories about me waking up in bed with 65 other people. Ridiculous. I've never seen such distorting of distortions. It was a dignified hunt ball. The only thing wild about it was a few Scottish reels that reminded me of barn dancing."

George Raft may have signed up for a radio series as "Rocky Jordan" but he isn't leaping into a TV version of the same until video can guarantee him the same production qualities of Hollywood movies. He told me: "It has to be just right before I agree to any TV and it has to be on film."

Raft will sidestep radio's trick of having the hero narrate the lead into the scenes. A secondary character will do the narration and Raft will do the scenes. He winced: "I never could take those private eyes on the air who boast about themselves in the narration and then play a scene in which somebody slugs 'em in the stomach and then they start narrating again without missing a breath."

Negro Coachman Who Drove Grant Is Dead
GOSHEN, N. Y. —P— Walter A. "Gus" Baltimore, a negro coachman who once drove Gen. U. S. Grant, died Saturday in the county home. He was reputed to be more than 100 years old. Baltimore was coachman for Charles Backman, famous horse breeder, and drove the coach in which Grant toured Stony Ford Farm, Backman's stud farm, in 1885. Local historians say that on this occasion Grant, who was enroute to Mt. McGregor where he later died, smoked his last cigar. The former President died of cancer of the throat.

Lyndon Johnson Hits Talk Of 'Half-War' At Tyler Luncheon

TYLER —(P)— Senator Lyndon Johnson criticized Saturday talk of a "compromising, half-war" when "we know in our hearts we should be ready for a whole war."
"We are trying, with all our talks and debates and investigations, to prove that we should only be ready for half-a-war, when we know in our hearts that we should be ready for a whole war," Johnson said.

The senator spoke at a luncheon honoring Joe W. Sheehy of Tyler, newly-appointed federal judge for the Eastern District of Texas. Sheehy officially took office Saturday.

"Our talk, our debating, is vain and futile if we try to convince ourselves that half-strength is enough," Johnson said in his prepared address.

"We need men, many more men than we have under arms now. We need material, artillery, guns, ammunition, supplies in much greater abundance than we now have."

"We need production, all out production, not the compromising half war, half peace production we are talking about now."

"We have seen, and I have seen it first hand, many once great nations of the West gouging the United States unmercifully on prices of strategic goods, such as tin and rubber and nickel and other such materials. These goods are being bought by us, not for a commercial venture, but to shape them into the strength with which we would help defend the West."

John S. Doud, Ike's Father-in-Law, Dies

DENVER —(P)— John S. Doud, 80, father-in-law of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, died at his home Saturday after suffering a brain hemorrhage Friday.

His wife is in Paris visiting her daughter and son-in-law, supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces. Friends of the family said Mrs. Doud and Mrs. Eisenhower are expected to come to Denver as soon as possible, but not the general.

Funeral services have been set tentatively for Tuesday.

Doud was born in Rome, N. Y., and had lived in Denver since 1909.

Eisenhower met Mamie Doud in San Antonio, Texas, where the Douds were spending a winter vacation and they were married in Denver in 1915.

With Most Of Its Original Men Gone, First Marine Division Still Is In Korea

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA—(P)—The old faces are gone in Korea—dead, wounded, frostbitten and rotated. But the United States First Marine Division still is here, and here to stay—ask any Leatherneck, close on the anniversary of the Korean war's beginning.

Since the Fifth Marine Regiment went ashore inside the Pusan perimeter last August 2, some 10,000 Marines have fallen.

In their foxholes on the line east of Hwachon Reservoir, Marines huddled beneath rain-soaked ponchos ready and experienced. They know all the Korean war's hardships.

Infantrymen of the Fifth Regiment split little when the line stood before Pusan. They pushed from front to front, wherever the enemy hit, to stand and die, holding the precious perimeter. It was the Marine Division that landed at Inchon, retook Seoul and broke the back of North Korean resistance.

When the United Nations troops launched deep into North Korea, the Marines landed at Wonsan, were trapped at the Changjin Reservoir and staged an epic fight in bitter cold to reach the evacuation port of Hungnam.

When the first Marine to die in Korea fell August 7, eight years to the day after the Guadalcanal landing, the Marines were just a beefed-up brigade commanded by popular Brig. Gen. Edward A. Craig, veteran of bloody Bougainville.

For a full month the brigade moved almost nightly plugging holes in the Pusan dike. It was hot, heartbreaking fighting. The enemy seemed to hold all the cards.

Pulled Off Line
On September 6 the Marines were pulled off the line. The secret Inchon landings were being prepared. The division gathered from posts all over the world. The First Regiment, coming from the Mediterranean, arrived September 21, after the landing was completed.

On the sunny morning of September 15 the Marines lay off Inchon. Maj. Gen. Oliver Prince Smith, a slender, scholarly tactician, was in command, with Craig now his assistant.

At morning high tide, Marines stormed Wilm, the island guarding Inchon's inner harbor. Late that afternoon two battalions of Col. Ray Murray's Fifth Marine Regiment smashed over the port's seawall.

In two days the Marines captured

The fighting withdrawal cost the Marines almost 4,000 men, killed, wounded, frostbitten or missing. Estimates of the Chinese facing the division ranged from 80,000 to 100,000. Their casualties were horrible.

Month Of Rest
When the Marines entered the perimeter at Hungnam, they brought with them 1,400 vehicles—everything that would roll. After the bitter evacuation, the division had a month of rest and another month fighting Communist Korean guerrillas around Taegu.

General Craig was promoted to major general and returned to the United States. Colorful, peppery Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller, who had led the First Marine Regiment, was promoted to brigadier general and took over as assistant division commander. The Marines were re-committed to the line February 20. They still are on the line. Twice they have crossed the 38th parallel. The fighting is no longer spectacular, but it is just as deadly. Under Maj. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas the Marines have battled back north of the parallel after blunting the Reds' Spring offensive.

Kimpo Air Field, then Korea's best. In five days they were in the edges of Seoul, facing across the Han River. In 12 days Seoul was secure and the Communist forces in South Korea were in full flight. The Marine loss was heavy. The dead alone numbered 450. Among the dead was Lt. Balduino Lopez of Orlando, Fla., the first Marine in Korea to be recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Lopez was killed on D-Day at Inchon as he led his platoon inland. Hit by a machine gun volley Lopez was too weak to throw back a Communist grenade. He rolled over and smothered it with his body to save his comrades.

Raises American Flag
On September 27, a company of the Fifth Marine Regiment led by Capt. Sam Jaskilda of Greenwich, Conn., raised the American flag over Seoul's capital buildings. Marines then thought the war was almost over. They loaded out again to land at Wonsan on the east coast and be in at the cleanup. South Korean troops sped up the east coast so fast they took Wonsan, and the Leathernecks landed dry shod.

They jumped off quickly towards the Yalu River boundary. Chinese Red troops hit the Marines November 2 below Sudong, but were beaten back.

Col. Homer L. Litsenberg of Washington, D. C., pushed his Seventh Regiment north. On November 28, the Chinese hit the Marines in almost overwhelming strength. The main Marine force was congregated south and east of the Changjin Reservoir. Smaller forces were strung in a thin line along the twisting, frozen road to Hungnam.

The 12-day fight to the sea that followed was a Marine epic. They fell under continuous fire. The cold was bitter. Frostbite felled hundreds. Wounded men died quickly in the snow. Heroism became commonplace. Wounded Capt. William E. Barr, whose company was surrounded four days while holding a vital pass, messaged a relief force. "Do you want us to send out a patrol to bring you in?"

Member Of Pioneer Texas Family Dies

HOUSTON —(P)— Mrs. Ella Payne Dunlop, 88, member of a pioneer Texas family, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Walter Peters in Alvin Saturday.

Born in Huntsville, she was the daughter of Mahala Oliphant and John M. Payne, both of whom came to Texas as children in the days of the republic.

She married George Dunlop in Palestine in 1884. Dunlop was a newspaper man and ran the Texas Coaster, a weekly newspaper, in Richmond. In the early days of the Houston Post he was city editor.

Mrs. Dunlop was a member of the Daughters of the Texas Republic and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Survivors are her three daughters, Mrs. C. T. Hockmeyer of Houston, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong of Houston, and Mrs. H. W. Peters of Alvin, and a son, Francis E. Dunlop of Odessa.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in Alvin and interment will be in Richmond.

Things Aren't Hopeless

What can I do about it? With a resigned air, many of us ask that question when we're confronted by a problem that seems too big and broad to feel the impact of a single individual's efforts.

Some may say it about crime in their local communities, some about war, others about signs of moral decay all the way from the family level to the national government.

When you look at it closely, this attitude really is out of place in a democracy like ours. It appears to assume that history is made only by the great, or at least, the powerful men.

But in truth this nation and its achievements are the sum of the individual efforts of everyone of us. Take away one man of character and ability and you have subtracted from the total on the credit side.

In this view of history and national life, no man's energies are lost. What he does affects not merely his own welfare; it either advances or slows the progress of the nation.

Knowing this to be so, no man who has lived to the fullest of his capacities need feel he has lived in vain simply because he has not achieved fame, or even success as the world marks it.

To those who ask: "What can I do about it?" the answer is clear. It's this: plenty.

Maybe you're not the kind who organizes or joins committees bent on "getting something done." What of it? Your influence for good still will be felt if you live a personal life that does not contribute in any way to magnifying the problems you see about you.

You're distressed about crime? All right, then don't do anything that will put a single penny in the pockets of the gangsters you'd like to be rid of.

You don't like some of the politicians who hold office? Well, get out and vote for better men. Don't say the "machine" can't be beaten.

You're upset at the evidence of moral decline? Okay, make sure first that you yourself are living by principles of fairness and honor in all your dealings.

We live in a troubled world that often gets us down. But things aren't hopeless, and never were. Any single one of us can make them better tomorrow, by adding substance to our own character and using the abilities we have.

WASHINGTON — Though not published by the Senate Crime Committee, the liquor industry has refused to cut off the sale of liquor to firms dealing with the underworld.

The liquor barons are also against tightening federal laws regulating liquor dealers. Federal laws are known for their strictness while many state laws are notoriously lax.

Wedemeyer vs. Marshall. To evaluate witnesses before senate committees the public has to know something about their background. Take, for instance, the recent testimony of Lieut. Gen. Al Wedemeyer in the MacArthur hearings.

Most people, reading Wedemeyer's brilliant testimony against his old chief, Gen. George Marshall, did not know that this was not the first time he had bucked Marshall.

The other notable time was at the Casablanca conference between Churchill and Roosevelt when Wedemeyer, then head of the war plans division, opposed the "soft underbelly of the axis" operation into Italy.

Nevertheless, the most the liquor industry offered to do about cleaning up its skirts of underworld infiltration was "report to the appropriate law-enforcement authorities for investigation and action reports."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Writer for NEA Service

"You had a lot of nerve bidding six spades," North said to East after today's hand had been played and the smoke had cleared away.

The reason was very simple. The bidding of South and North made it perfectly plain that they were determined to play the hand at hearts.

Bridge score table showing North, South, West, and East hands with various symbols and scores.

South knew that he couldn't lose much as seven hearts. If North had a high diamond or two, besides the high hearts already indicated, the sacrifice might turn out to be very cheap.

Was South foolish for bidding seven hearts against a slam that couldn't actually be made? He felt a bit sorry when the hand was over, but he didn't feel foolish.

Food Famine For U.S.A. A terse warning that the population of the United States is outgrowing its food supplies has been handed to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

"Throughout the Department of Agriculture," this confidential study points out that "we would have to discover another state like Iowa" in order to keep food production up with the demand—unless drastic action is taken to increase the crop yields.

"This year we are short on meat. We are short on cotton. We are not going to produce enough wheat. Even with a normal crop we will not harvest enough feed grains, and it looks now as though we will be lucky to harvest a normal crop.

"We not only have to build up our farm production, but we have to provide for an increase in population of two million people per year," the confidential study continues.

"In the decade of the 1950's we will increase 20 million people, and it may run to 24 million people—which is by comparison two-thirds of the total population in the United States in 1950.

U. S. Steps Forward With New Middle East Foreign Policy

By PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — A new American foreign policy with respect to the Middle East now is taking shape. It involves not only continued, but increased military and economic aid to Greece, Turkey and Iran.

If approved by Congress, the whole program will cost the United States in the neighborhood of $1,000,000,000 for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Military assistance for the Middle East is estimated at $418,000,000. No country-by-country breakdown of this arms aid has been made public.

But an estimated 10 per cent or more than $40,000,000 is to be earmarked for the Arab area.

This military assistance program is the highlight of the new U. S. Middle East policy. The arms aid is to be given only under certain conditions. It must be used only to develop the security of the Arab area against external aggression.

The new Middle East policy has been developed by the Council of Foreign Ministers' meeting in London in May, 1950. At that time the United States, Britain and France agreed on a resolution authorizing the Arab nations and Israel to procure arms for internal security and area defense.

There was no Korean war at that time. Plenty of arms were available for purchase. Today, under worldwide rearmament, there are shortages. The three-power policy therefore has been changed.

Gradually, the United States has become more and more involved. The steps have been traced easily. First it was through World War II supply lines to Russia.

The U. S. also has backed creation of the new state of Israel. It furnished most of the money for relief of Arab refugees. The United States has used its influence to try to bring peace between the Arabs and Israelis.

The U. S. has tried to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil nationalization dispute. The United States has had policy and military training missions in Iran.

Point Four technical assistance agreements have been made with most of the countries in the Middle East.

THE peace conference was held that night. There were a great many things to talk over, some of them unpleasant, but neither he nor Lucilla considered, abridged, or censored (much) the topics under consideration.

Lucilla said again, even more contently, that she'd had no business lying to him about Beautiful-You. Then, in one of those dangerous bursts of candor that occasionally overtakes even reticent women, she said, "If I could have talked you into letting me take the course anyway."

Arthur said comfortably, "Don't be too sure of that." His brief silence, then, was tacit admission that Beautiful-You wasn't quite as badly as he'd thought. "But I still say the Y. W. C. A. gym is a better bet," he remarked suddenly.

Lucilla said, "Mmmm, maybe." She didn't contradict her husband when he went on to say what a kind-hearted, unaffected and beautiful girl Paris was. In fact, Lucilla said nice things too, and meant them; perhaps it was just a coincidence that right after this she spoke at some length on the theme of "Honest monogamy is the best policy."

Arthur said, in a tone of muted contentment, "You don't really need those false things."

COMBAT REPORTING—NOW AND THEN—World War II went down in history as the best reported of all wars and the Korean war maintains the pace it set in story and picture. These U. S. Army photos show the vast difference between the world's first actual combat photography—that of Matthew Brady in the Civil War—and how we get the picture story of our fighting men today. Upper photo shows a pair of Signal Corps combat photographers and a native volunteer at a field laboratory processing films behind the lines in Korea. Modern cameras, films and chemicals make their work infinitely simpler and faster than Matthew Brady's operation. He followed the troops with the clumsy horse-drawn dark-room-on-wheels seen in lower photo. He used the tedious wet plate process, requiring negatives on heavy glass plates. His developing chemicals were primitive compared with today's, but nevertheless scores of Brady pictures can scarcely be surpassed in quality by modern photographers.

Angelo's Manager Accuses Solon Of Double-Cross

SAN ANGELO —(P)— City Manager Garland P. Franks Saturday accused Rep. Doyle Willis of Port Worth of a "double-cross" in connection with the Franks and Police Men's Minimum Wages and Hours Act passed by the last Legislature.

Willis denied it.

Franks was a member of a committee of the League of Texas Municipalities which appeared before legislators to oppose the bill.

In an interview, Franks said Willis promised on the floor of the House to amend the bill to provide that cities could, by local option elections, decide whether to implement the measure.

Later, in the last minute legislative rush for adjournment, Willis amended the bill a second time to exclude all cities above 40,000 population from exercising the local option feature, Franks charged.

He said the bill, recently signed by Gov. Allan Shivers, sets up minimum wages and hours standards based on city population brackets.

Willis said at Galveston Saturday that Franks was wrong.

"There actually were two bills," said Willis, an attorney who has handled legal matters for the AFL-Affiliated Firefighters Association. "One, House Bill 148, badly emasculated in the committee, dealt only with hours, giving firemen and policemen the same hours and holidays other city employees had.

"The other, House Bill 178, was the pay bill. It originally proposed a straight $30 a month across the board wage increase for firemen and policemen."

Hospital Head Signs Affidavit Declaring Felix Adair Is Sane

TERRELL —(P)— The superintendent of the Terrell State Hospital Saturday signed an affidavit declaring Fred Felix Adair of Dallas sane. Assistant District Attorney Gene Bailey of Dallas said.

Adair was convicted and given the death sentence for the rape of a Dallas housewife in November, 1949, before he was found insane at another trial.

A hearing on his sanity, as certified by Dr. A. B. Patillo, superintendent of the Terrell Hospital, will be held at Kaufman July 9.

"The affidavit which I prepared and which Dr. Patillo signed alleges that Fred Felix Adair is now of sound mind, and Dr. Patillo requests that he be removed from the hospital," Bailey said.

Committed April 26.

Adair was committed to the hospital last April 26 after a jury at his insanity trial had found him sane at the time of his offense but insane at the time of his insanity trial.

Should the sanity hearing July 9 find Adair sane, Bailey said the death sentence given in the trial court would stand. It has been appealed and confirmed. Bailey said of course other pleas could be made as an appeal to the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Should the hearing find Adair still insane, he would remain at the Terrell hospital, Bailey said.

Bailey said Kaufman County Attorney Robert K. Ramsey would assist at the July 9 hearing.

Joe Hughes, Boom Figure, Is Dead

HOUSTON —(P)— Joe D. Hughes, who figured for years of every oil boom town of this and adjoining states and in many of the big horse shows and race tracks, died Saturday.

He had been ill for several months. Born in Kentucky in 1876, Hughes followed the traditions of his state. He owned and loved fine horses. With his big 10-gallon stetson and his cowboy boots, he was well known throughout the Southwest.

Hughes inherited his teaming and trucking business from his father, the late Rowland E. Hughes, with whom he started working as a boy.

Hughes' body will be shipped to Corsicana for funeral services at 4 p.m. Sunday.

'Jingle Jotters' Exchange Hints In Dallas Conclave

DALLAS —(P)— The jingle jotters left their boxtops at home and came to Dallas to swap hints in 25 words or less at the National Contesters Convention Saturday.

Is there a trick to winning contests? rhetorically asked Mrs. Pauline Bruer of Omaha, Neb., last year's president of the association.

"It's a trick to stick through a non-winning period.

"Other than that -- we have no tricks up our sleeves, because we usually roll up our sleeves and go to work."

Mrs. Matilda Rose McLaren of Springfield, Ill., said the only trick was first of all to enter. "And work hard -- we know that winners aren't pulled from a barrel by a blind-folded Boy Scout."

Mrs. McLaren said she got started on contests back in 1938 "when I had a baby on New Year's Day and won the stork derby jackpot.

Wins Gas Furnace

"Then I started entering contests. My family thought I was just doodling away good time until I won a gas furnace -- of course the gas main stopped 100 feet away from our house."

She teaches a class on contesting in the adult education program at Springfield and wheels a contest club.

"We believe in helping, in sharing hints. These people that go solo because they're afraid we'll lift something -- drop them. Faith, hope and charity is our slogan."

Mrs. William White of Tulsa, Okla., national vice president, presided at the two day sessions that began Friday. National President Forrest Banning of Miami, Fla., couldn't be present.

"The contesters Association has nearly a thousand members in the country," she said. "About 250 are here." They compete in all kinds of contests -- radio quizzes, slogans, jingles, and word statements.

DIVORCE ACCEPTABLE

LOS ANGELES —(P)— The Texas divorce of Mrs. Milla M. Boos is acceptable in California. Superior Court Friday approved a settlement recognizing the decree she got in Dallas last May. Mrs. Boos, 35, a Dallas oil heiress, retains custody of their two children.

Well Completions Show Slight Drop

AUSTIN —(P)— Oil well completions slackened slightly last week, totaling 155.

The Railroad Commission reported the year's completions totaled 5,105 compared with 5,034 a year ago.

Indictments Returned Against Two Firms On 'Hot Oil' Charges

SANTA FE, N. M. — (AP)— A federal grand jury Saturday indicted two oil companies and three of their employes for conspiring to transport "hot oil" from New Mexico to Texas. Two other persons were indicted on charges they received the oil. The firms, both operating at Hobbs, N. M., are Humble Oil & Refining Company and Humble Pipeline Company. Names of the five men were withheld pending their arrest. The companies and individuals are accused of conspiring to transport more than 21,000 barrels of oil produced illegally in and around Lea County, in Southeastern New Mexico. The violations are alleged to have occurred between Nov. 1, 1945, and May 31, 1950. Charges are based on the Connally "Hot Oil" Act, which forbids interstate transportation of oil not produced in accordance with state regulations. In this case it is alleged production exceeded the legal maximum per well and fraudulent records were forwarded to the Federal Petroleum Board office at Kilgore, Texas. On Federal Land Much of the oil in question was produced on federal land, the indictments state, but records were distorted not to show this and thereby deprive the government of royalty payments. Grand jurors acted after hearing testimony from members of the Federal Petroleum Board and R. R. Spurrier, secretary of the State Oil Conservation Commission. The U. S. marshals office said warrants probably will not be served until Monday. U. S. District Judge Carl Hatch ordered the defendants, including two responsible executives of the companies, arraigned June 29.

Speakers Ask State, Church Separation

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)— A plea for complete separation of church and state was voiced Saturday by two speakers at the final business session of the Southern Baptist Convention here. Dr. W. R. White of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, told the 8,000 delegates from 22 states that "the union of church and state brings in a measure of force." "Pure religion and force," he said, "are as incompatible as all forms of totalitarianism and freedom. The soul can no more come to its own image within the framework of legal restraints than an eagle can soar in a cage." The same theme was followed by Dr. Walter Pope Binns, president of William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., in a report of the committee on public affairs. In Saturday night's session, Howard Butt of Texas told the session that God alone could offset the difficulties of the times. The convention ends a Sunday night.

It's Curtains For 'Bed Check Charlie'

SEOUL — (AP)— "Bed Check Charlie" is dead. He was knocked out of a moonlit Korean sky Friday night by Capt. Richard M. Heyman, of Stillwater, Okla., the Air Force announced Saturday night. "Bed Check Charlie" got his name from an old Army custom and World War II in the Pacific. The Army, especially in hospitals, makes a bed check of barracks to see that all personnel is present. The tag and the name comes from World War II when the Japanese would send a single plane over Allied lines on nuisance raids. He was known as "Washing Machine Charlie" because of the peculiar whine of his engine. In a laconic release, the Air Force said: "Returning from a night interdiction mission, Captain Heyman was vectored (guided) into the Russian-built PO-2 by ground-controlled radar about 25 miles northeast of Seoul at 1:15 a.m." "Captain Heyman reported that his caliber .50 bullets raked the enemy aircraft from tail to engine before it disintegrated in midair. The entire action took place at 500 feet."

Suspicious Two Men Wanted In Snyder

Two men, who aroused the suspicion of police Friday night as they sat in a car outside a Midland night club, were being held Saturday for investigation. Officers Bill Miller and Lawrence Bartlett saw the two men sitting in the car at the west side of the city and stopped to question them. The men said they had rented their automobile a month ago from a firm in Wisconsin. Further investigation revealed they were wanted in Snyder on charges of issuing worthless checks. They were turned over to Snyder authorities Saturday afternoon.

(Continued From Page One) problem of the armed conflict in Korea could be settled. "This would require the readiness of the parties to enter on the path of a peaceful settlement of the Korean question," he said. Mutual Withdrawal The Soviet peoples believe that, as a first step, discussions should be started between the belligerents for a cease-fire and an armistice providing for the mutual withdrawal of forces from the 38th parallel. "Can such a step be taken?" "I think it can, provided there is a sincere desire to put an end to the bloody fighting in Korea. "I think that, surely, is not too great a price to pay in order to achieve peace in Korea. In past proposals in the UN for settling the Korean conflict, Russia and the Soviet bloc countries always have made Red Chinese membership in the UN turning Formosa over to Red China and withdrawal of UN forces from Korea conditions for a halt to the war.

Chest X-Ray Drive Opens Again Monday

Midland County's third mass X-ray survey got off to a successful start Saturday, when 223 persons had chest X-rays taken in the battle against tuberculosis. Ira French, 19, was the first to be X-rayed. He was waiting on the first floor of the Midland County Courthouse at 8:55 a.m. to have his "picture" taken. Peter Eaba of Austin, State Department of Health technician who operates the unit, said an ideal pace of one X-ray a minute was maintained most of the morning. He hopes to average 100 X-rays an hour each day next week. Free Transportation The unit will remain in Midland through July 5 and will be in operation daily, except Sunday and July 4, from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Free transportation to and from the courthouse may be had by dialing 2-3211. Transportation is being furnished by the Midland Jaycees. Volunteer workers who did clerical work at the unit Saturday were Mrs. Dave Watson, Nancy Garrett, Mrs. W. E. Nance, Elizabeth Bodenman, Jo Ann Russell, Betty McWhorter and Alma Head of Beta Sigma Phi; Mrs. Maurine Mims and Mrs. Kay Williams of the Altruus Club and Mrs. Lennie H. A heat created by a temperature inversion hung across most of the state. It extended from Brownsville, near the southern tip of Texas, to Southern Kansas and eastward to the Mississippi Valley. Sweltering temperatures ranged downward from the high of 111 to a cool 88 degrees at breeze-swept Galveston Island. Wink and Salt Flats in West Texas, had 104; Big Spring and Lubbock reported 102. More sultry weather was forecast for Texas Sunday with little chance of showers.

Allies Rout—

Red resistance stiffened across 100 miles of front as screening forces strove to keep the Allies from penetrating outposts of the new Communist line. North of 38 The line is roughly 20 miles north of parallel 38 from the east coast to the old Red "iron triangle" in central Korea. Then it curves southwest to the 38th parallel north of Seoul. Inside the triangle, Allied troops fought one of the bloodiest engagements in weeks—They twice won and twice lost a 500-foot hill before a third charge won them the crest just south of the triangle's apex town of Pyongyang. They had to yield another hill nearby and called on artillery to blast it. In the west, Allied patrols were rebuffed by two Red regiments. These Chinese were believed to be screening an even larger Communist force north of Seoul. In east-central Korea, allied artillery pounded Reds observed massing on ridges northeast of Yanggu.

Defendants—

(Continued From Page One) trial was "persecution" in a familiar Communist pattern. The archbishop, who succeeded Cardinal Mindszenty as head of the church in Hungary when the cardinal was sentenced to life imprisonment on treason charges in February, 1949, confessed he aimed to overthrow the government with arms and American aid. Three other defendants made confessions Friday. Five of the defendants are Roman Catholic churchmen. In Saturday's parade of confessions, six more Americans, including U. S. Minister Nathaniel P. Davis, were involved. They are: Louis Revey, former press and cultural attache at the Embassy, who left Hungary two years ago; Ruth Tryon, present head of the U. S. Information Service in Budapest; Mary Eich, her secretary; Malcolm Toon, legation secretary, who left for Washington last year, and U. S. Air Attache Maj. Donald Griffith. Two Americans, former Legation Secretary Chris Petrov, and the present secretary, Albert Sherer, Jr., were mentioned Friday as contacts with the alleged revolutionary organization.

Business memberships in the new association will be $10 each, while individual memberships will be $5 each. Sponsors said the memberships will eliminate the collection method of financing stock shows here. Bohannon, R. L. Miller and Delbert Downing were named to a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the association. Larger Cash Prizes Officials said larger cash prizes will be awarded winners of the Midland County Livestock Show, and that the show winners will be sent to compete in larger shows over the state. Previously, a county show was held the day before the district show, with winners competing in the district event. Those attending the Friday afternoon meeting were Bohannon, Dublin, Miller, Downing, Bob Coffey, L. T. Bledsoe, Jr., Lester Floyd, J. R. Cuffman, Charles Green, Perry Collins and Raymond McCarter.

Korean Fight Nears First Year Mark As New Outbreaks Loom

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The war in Korea is a year old Monday and American leaders are concerned over where U. S. troops may have to be deployed next to counter some Moscow thrust. Iran and Yugoslavia are danger spots causing special concern today—the one because of its oil crisis and the other because it is at last openly arming against the Soviet threat. But grave trouble could start in a number of other places, notably Germany. The risk of more general war between East and West is probably greater now than at any time since the Korean conflict began. Responsible officials say they believe this heightened danger is a relatively short range matter. They say that if the world can survive what Secretary of State Acheson has called the period of maximum peril without a big war then the chances for peace will be greatly improved. See Several Reasons There are several reasons for the present danger, in the opinion of top authorities here. Basic to all of them is the fact that while the Western nations have declared their intention to remain and have been spurred by the Korean war to act with greater speed, they still are far from ready for a showdown with Russia. The general military weakness in the West will not be overcome for possibly two years: not until Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has largely organized 70 or more divisions of the Atlantic Pact Army in Europe. The United States is presumed to have a great edge in atomic weapons. The accepted official belief here is that "the bomb" stands like a defense wall against the aggressive aims of the Kremlin. But how long this will be true is a grave question.

Taft Blasts—

(Continued From Page One) our Allies to contribute their share of a European army, although everyone agrees that they must contribute the bulk of the army," said Taft. Charges No Plan Asserting testimony at the MacArthur hearings "shows there was no plan to deal with the Korean crisis," Taft asked: "Is there any program today to deal with a Communist attack in Indo-China or India or Iran or Yugoslavia?" President Truman, said the Ohio lawmaker, "started the Korean war on his own responsibility" taking "a chance of war with China and war with Russia." "Even if he makes an appeasement peace," went on Taft, he can hardly claim credit for ending without result the war which he began." Declaring a mobilization program is necessary, the GOP Senate leader added: "That fact that it (mobilization) is so eagerly embraced, however, by the President, by all the Fair Dealers and all the Socialists, should at least warn us that we should closely watch its actual carrying out with some justified, critical suspicion." "All-out war and all-out mobilization are an easy method of socializing a country, and that socializing can easily be made permanent," he warned. Taft said "no country in time of peace can maintain the military establishment required in actual war without wrecking itself."

WTCC Panel Plans Sales Campaign In North, East

SAN ANGELO — A West Texas Chamber of Commerce-sponsored special train, designed to sell the potentialities of West Texas as an industrial and manufacturing area to businessmen of the North and East, was planned at the initial meeting of the WTCC's Industrial Committee here Friday afternoon. Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president and general manager of the regional organization, proposed the special train idea, which was approved unanimously by the 38 persons attending the session. The train, bearing area resource exhibits, would visit key cities, including New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Washington, Kansas City and St. Louis. West Texas businessmen would call on prospects at each of the stops, inviting executives to visit the train displays to see what West Texas has to offer. Individual cities in this area then would have the opportunity of following up on the leads obtained in an effort to land new industries and enterprises of all kinds. Committee Named A special committee will be named to plan the trip and to classify industrial prospects. Railroads and other utilities will be asked to assist in preparing the exhibits, which Husbands explained, will be "adequate but limited, with a unified theme throughout." E. L. Buelow of San Angelo, committee chairman, presided at the gathering, which attracted representatives from Midland, Levelland, Coleman, Del Rio, Kerrville, Haskell, Big Lake, Waco, Abilene, Sweetwater, Fort Worth, San Angelo and other area cities. In discussing industrial possibilities, Husbands said thousands of dollars have been spent on research of the area's industrial potentialities. He lauded the research work which has been done, but declared it now is high time that West Texas quit appraising its possibilities and start selling somebody on

Ellenburger Top Is Called In NW Martin Prospector

Pan American Production Company, Forest Oil Corporation and Houston Oil Company of Texas No. 1 F. D. Bredlove, Northwest Martin County wildcat, 13 miles northwest of Taran entered the Ellenburger at 12,717 feet. Elevation is 2,865 feet. That gives it a datum of minus 9,852 feet on that marker.

The Ellenburger top was found in a core cut from 12,712-760 feet. Recovery was 46 1/2 feet of Simpson sand and shale and Ellenburger dolomite.

No Shows In Simpson

This prospector topped the Simpson at 12,676 feet. That formation had no shows of oil, gas or water. There were no indications of petroleum in the Ellenburger zone between 12,717 feet and 12,760 feet. Operators are to core deeper.

The exploration, located 660 feet from south and 4,620 feet from east lines of league 258, Briscoe County School Lands, flowed at the rate of approximately 45 barrels of oil per hour naturally from the Devonian section at 12,070-148 feet.

If the Ellenburger fails to produce the project will plug back and complete from the Devonian pay. Should the Ellenburger make oil and gas in commercial quantities operators might elect to attempt a dual completion.

Completion Set For Spartan Opener In NW Howard Area

Spartan Drilling Company No. 1 Roy Phillips, prospective discovery from the Clear Fork lime of the lower Permian in Northwest Howard County is preparing to make production tests and try to complete as a commercial oil well and the opener of a new field.

This project had flowed oil at the estimated rate of 15 barrels per hour, and showed no water in a drillstem test of the section at 4,654-4,721 feet.

Operator deepened to 5,050 feet. The section at 4,843-94 developed 450 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud on a test. The section between 4,894 feet and 5,050 feet failed to log any additional signs of petroleum.

Casing Perforated

The project cemented a string of casing near the total depth and then drilled out to 4,743 feet. The section of pipe at 4,668-4,700 feet has been perforated.

Operator was building tanks at last report. When they are completed the perforated zone will be tested naturally, and it will then probably be acidized and tested further.

Interested observers expect the wildcat to complete as a fair producer from the Clear Fork pay.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 19, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey. That makes it three miles west of the opener of the Bond-Canyon field, and 10 miles west of Luther.

Pipe Is Cemented In Ellenburger At SE-C Crane Test

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 3 Jax Cowden, Southeast-Central Crane County wildcat, nine miles west of the town of Crane, is bottomed at 8,984 feet in the Ellenburger.

It has cemented a string of 5 1/2 inch casing at 8,918 feet. After the plug test operator will drill out and test the upper section of the Ellenburger through perforations in the pipe.

This project has logged shows of possible production in several zones between 7,779 feet and 8,918 feet.

No Information Released

Operator has not released any geological information on this development. No formation tops have been reported.

It is expected that all intervals which have shown signs of oil and gas while the development has been drilling will be tested through perforations.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 47, block X, CC&D&RGNG survey. It is four miles south of the multipay Block 31 field, and four miles northwest of a discovery from the Devonian completed several months ago by Humble on the Day land.

Magnolia Project In Midland Calls Top On Wolfcamp

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 3 Roy Parks, one location south of a producer from the Pennsylvania line on the east side of the Parks-Pennsylvanian field in Central-West Midland County had reached 9,817 feet in Wolfcamp lime.

Top of the Wolfcamp is at 9,225 feet. No tests have been run since that zone was entered. It is to go to 10,600 feet to test the Pennsylvanian pay.

The project is 11 miles south and west of the city of Midland, and 660 feet from north and 900 feet from east lines of section 10, Matt Daugherty survey, A-885.

N-C Reagan Test Making More Hole In Pennsylvanian

The Blackwood & Nichols Company No. 1 Hughes, North-Central

Reagan County wildcat, four miles east of Stiles topped the Pennsylvanian lime at 9,246 feet, on an elevation of 2,822 feet.

It is now making hole below 9,706 feet in the Pennsylvanian. No shows of possible production have been logged since the lime formation was entered.

The prospector is started to drill on until it finds and tests the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 22, W. M. Cleveland survey.

Cisco Prospectors Staked In Scurry

Standard Oil Company of Texas has staked location for two more Cisco wildcats in the Kelley-Snyder field area of North-Central Scurry County.

The firm's No. 2-S-9 Mrs. Jessie W. Brown will be drilled 580 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 449, block 97, H&T survey.

No. 1-S-2 Mrs. Jessie W. Brown will be dug 580 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 440, block 97, H&T survey.

Both tests will be drilled as twins to Canyon reef producers.

Pumper Drillsite Given Midland Pool

A small pumping producer and a new location have been added to the Midkiff-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County.

The new well is Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 Lillie Midkiff, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 46, block 38, T&P survey. That puts it two locations east of the discovery well of the field.

It was completed on the pump for a potential of 59.34 barrels of 36.1-gravity oil plus six per cent water per day.

Gas-oil ratio was 730-1. Pay was topped at 7,254 feet and five and one-half-inch oil string was cemented at that point.

Total depth is 7,335 feet. The open hole section had been given a Hydrafrac treatment.

The new location is Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 T. O. Midkiff, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 47, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey. That puts it two locations north of a recently completed two-mile southeast extension to the field.

Germania-Spraberry Gets North Offset

Phillips Petroleum Company will try for Spraberry production in a new project one location north of the closest completed oil well in the Germania-Spraberry field of Northeast Midland County.

The venture will be the concern of No. 1 Mashburn and will be dug 690 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 6, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Operations are to start immediately.

More Locations Are Set In Tex-Harvey

Four more applications requesting permission to drill in the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland and Central-West Glasscock Counties have been filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation will drill two of the tests in the Midland County side of the field. They are No. 3 Aliene O'Brien and No. 8 K. S. Boone.

No. 3 O'Brien will be drilled 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 43, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

No. 8 Boone will be dug 660 feet from south and west lines of section 18, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

On Flared Land

Barnett & Rector will drill No. 1-21 Floyd Estate 1,980 feet from west and south lines of section 21, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey and in the Midland County side of the field.

In the Glasscock side, Phillips Petroleum Company spotted location for No. 4 Juddkins, 660 feet from north and east lines of the lease in section 43, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

feet received a Hydrafrac treatment. Gas-oil ratio was 630-1 and tubing pressure was 75 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 12, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

429 BOPD

York & Harper, Inc., No. 2-8 Annie S. Boone was finished for a daily potential of 429.81 barrels of oil flowing through a one-half-inch choke.

No water was made with the oil. Gravity is 39.1 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 435-1. Pay was topped at 6,973 feet and seven-inch oil string was cemented at 6,950 feet. Total depth is 7,190 feet. Open hole was given a 4,500-gallon Hydrafrac treatment.

This oiler is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from north lines of the lease in section 6, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

The third of the new producers is Frank and George Frankel No. 1 4-E Floyd Estate, 659 feet from east and 2,000 feet from north lines of the lease in section 13, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

A daily potential of 234.41 barrels of oil and no water was reported for the test which was completed on a 24 1/4-inch choke. Tubing pressure was 175 pounds and gas-oil ratio was 412-1. Gravity of the petroleum is 38.1 degrees.

Completion was from open hole at 6,877-7,036 feet. That section was Hydrafrac with 4,500 gallons.

SW Martin Tester Swabbing Spraberry

Ashland Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Tant Lindsey, Southwest Martin County wildcat, 12 miles west of Stanton and the same distance northeast of Midland is swabbing on the Spraberry section above the total depth of 8,390 feet.

Recovery during the last 24 hours was 99.16 barrels of load oil and 32.50 barrels of water.

Operator representatives reveal that they still have 40 barrels of load oil used in connection with the latest Hydrafrac treatment, to recover.

Net Much New Oil

Up to now the project has not developed any appreciable signs of new oil. After the remaining 40 barrels of load oil is swabbed out it will be possible to determine whether or not the wildcat has any chance of making a producer from the Spraberry.

Swabbing will continue until that question is settled.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 17, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Channel Cemented In Martin Explorer

Operator is drilling out cement after a squeeze job at The Blackwood & Nichols Company No. 1 Stimmon & Burley, wildcat in Southwest Martin County, seven miles north of the city of Midland.

Operator swabbed heavily gas-cut mud through perforations, opposite the upper Spraberry, at 7,860-7,889 feet.

The cement was put behind the casing to close up a channel.

Operator will re-perforate casing opposite the upper Spraberry and continue to test.

Location is 660 feet from west and south lines of section 36, block 39, T-1-N, T&P survey.

The wildcat will be projected to 4,200 feet with rotary tools beginning at once.

Continental Oil Company No. 1-A J. M. Shannon, wildcat in North-east Crockett County is taking a drillstem test at 7,181 feet.

To Plug Back
Sharples Oil Corporation of Midland and Denver No. 1 Beth Alston, North-Central Lea County wildcat, is at total depth of 14,400 feet in the Devonian running electric log surveys after sulphur water was recovered on a drillstem test.
The Devonian was topped at 14,350 feet. The test was made in the interval from 14,358 feet to 14,440 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 1,170 feet of drilling mud and 10,800 feet of sulphur water with a salty taste.
Operator probably will plug the project back for a test in the Pennsylvanian where it had good shows of gas and some shows of oil.
No. 1 Alston is eight and one-half miles southeast of the Bagley-Devonian field and 12 miles southwest of the Gladiola field. Exact location is at the center of the southwest quarter of section 17-13a-35E.

Continental Oil Company is running electric log surveys at its No. 1 W. P. Thurman-Federal, wildcat in Central-North Eddy County.

Book On Geology Of Permian Basin Being Distributed

"Introduction to the Petroleum Geology of the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico," has been released by the West Texas Geological Society. W. Dave Henderson, president of WTGS said.
The book is designed primarily for the use of the layman who has no geologic training, but who desires to gain some knowledge of the petroleum geology of the West Texas-New Mexico area.
The bound volume will be of special use to operating personnel wishing to arrive at a better understanding of sub-surface conditions bearing on the production of oil and gas. Oil operators new to the Permian Basin may also find it a means of quickly gaining a brief knowledge of the general geology of the region.
In order to provide some geologic background, three chapters dealing with general geology and geologic principles are included.
The publication is available through J. H. (Jerry) Bartley, publications chairman for WTGS, 206 East Wall, Midland, at a cost of $2.50 per copy.
It was prepared by a committee under the chairmanship of Roy M. Huffington. Those on the committee were Jackson M. Barton, Ronald DeFord, Robert L. Dickey, George R. Gibson, S. C. Glessey, John M. Hills, Cooper Hyde, E. Russell Lloyd and F. H. McQuigan.

CONOCO REFINERY TO TRIPLE OUTPUT—Increased military and civilian demands for petroleum products have prompted Continental Oil Company to launch a $24,000,000 expansion program at its Lake Charles, La., refinery. Above is an artist's conception of the refinery after expansion has been completed late in 1952. Enlargement of the plant, which is under way, will increase capacity from 12,000 to 40,000 barrels of crude oil daily, and provide for production of more fighter grade aviation gasoline and other products made at the refinery. Most of the facilities to be added are shown at the left of the picture. At extreme upper left is an artist's conception of the carbon black plant now being constructed by Continental Oil Black Company, a corporation recently formed by Continental Oil Company and Continental Carbon Company.

TIPRO Committee Will Urge Pipelines To Correct Price Discrimination, Inequities

AUSTIN—Gas pipe line companies will be urged to correct specific instances of price discrimination and inequities in their dealings with independent producers and royalty owners.
In naming a special committee to do the job, the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association stated its intention to continue TIPRO policy of pressing for "the removal of present inequities and limitations." The 35-man board, meeting in Austin this week, reminded gas purchasers that unless the problem can be settled within the industry TIPRO will renew its fight for a minimum price in order to prevent gas waste.
Named to the committee were Bryan W. Payne of Tyler, chairman, Bert Fields and Jack Woodward of Dallas, Arch H. Rowan of Fort Worth, and A. E. Herrmann of Amarillo. Elton M. Hyer, Jr., of Fort Worth will serve as special counsel.
Immediate objectives of the committee include:
(a) Inviting the more than 5,000 TIPRO members to supply the committee with specific cases of discrimination in order that the information may be called first to the attention of purchasing companies, with a view to voluntary renegotiation of those contracts which were dictated on terms not wholly fair to producers and royalty owners;
(b) Urging the Railroad Commission of Texas to require that copies of gas purchasing contracts be filed with the commission and opened to public inspection;
(c) Encouraging ratable taking of natural gas and, wherever practical, posted field prices, as is done in the oil industry.
"We believe firmly that great strides have been made toward removing the unhealthy domination of the gas industry by a few pipe line companies," declared President R. L. Fore. "We note particularly that the Legislature saw fit to place some of the new tax burden on gas pipe line companies rather than, as in the past, heaping any necessary new gas taxes on the producers and royalty owners."
The executive committee also issued a strong condemnation of a bill pending before the U. S. Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. The bill would broaden the right of interstate natural gas pipe lines, upon Federal Power Commission authorization, to exercise eminent domain to condemn geological strata for the underground storage of gas.
"We opposed the bill as a matter of principle," declared Fore. "The only possible grounds for such federal legislation is pipe line company dissatisfaction with the delay of some states in giving them the right to take over lands through condemnation proceedings.
Already much Texas gas is being taken from its natural reservoirs and stored in eastern reservoirs at considerable waste. Moreover, such practices enable some interstate pipe lines to buy Texas gas at present inordinately low prices and store it in areas where it can be sold for whatever the traffic will bear."

Williams Moves Up In LOC Production

R. I. Williams has been named assistant general superintendent of crude oil production for Lion Oil Company. J. E. Howell, vice president, has announced.
Williams, who is completing his thirtieth year in Lion Oil's production department, moves up from the post of superintendent of the southern division.
A. W. Wood, recently with the production department of Phillips Petroleum Company, has been employed to fill the post vacated by Williams, Howell said. In this capacity he will supervise the company's oil and gas production operations in Louisiana, Mississippi, South and East Texas, and South Arkansas.

MIDLANDERS GREET MACARTHURS—Lorraine Collyns of Midland was snapped by a Dallas News photographer as she experienced the "thrill of a lifetime"—shaking hands with General MacArthur at a Texas Press Association breakfast in Dallas last week. And Lorraine's dad, Bill Collyns, editor of The Reporter-Telegram, seemed to be enjoying himself, too, as he shook hands with Arthur after greeting Mrs. MacArthur, who volunteered the information, "I know where Midland is." The general and his family shook hands with more than 400 Texas newsmen and their families attending the breakfast session.

Oil And Gas Rationing Feared By Nation's Defense Planners Unless Steel Supplies Loosen

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A new wave of oil and gas rationing talk is breaking out.

Top defense planners are warning of it, and the Office of Price Stabilization is renewing its six-week-old request for a "stand-by" plan.

Iran adds emphasis to the matter.

Officially and publicly,

Bruce K. Brown deputy head of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, and his deputy, A. P. Frame, say rationing can be avoided if sufficient materials—chiefly steel—are made available.

This is true, they say, even if most

Iranian oil is lost to the Western world.

The question then, comes down to steel. And the outlook is not so good.

In fact, Interior Secretary Oscar

Chapman, who privately would like to see coal move into heating markets

now served by oil and gas, was prompted this week to write the Defense Production Administration

a seven-page letter asking more steel for oil and gas.

Shift To Coal

The letter warned it appears folly to suppose that we can avoid rationing of petroleum products in the months to come unless the DPA is willing and able to make much larger allotments of steel for oil and gas use than were made in the initial program determinations for the third quarter.

Will the allotments be forthcoming for the third quarter—the big construction quarter for the oil and gas industry? The prospect is no

although minor adjustments are likely, DPA says the steel just is not there.

The Chapman memorandum saw certain distress for consumers in the failure of DPA to recognize that oil and gas are essential. The report made this forecast:

Natural gas supplies will be short,

unless much more steel is made available right away, because gas lines won't be completed.

Some industries will shift to coal, but many can not. A shortage of gas will create a demand for fuel oil which may not be fully met, and certainly won't be met without special allocations to different industries.

In addition, the refinery expansion program, is being held to a level that hardly keeps up with normal increase of demand.

Figures on third quarter steel supplies for oil and gas, not made publically generally, indicate the extent of the shortage ahead.

Odessa Project Low

In only one branch, production, are the supplies close to PAD estimates of need. There, the steel supply being made available, at least on paper, is about 98 per cent of what PAD asked. This refers to oil country tubular goods.

For oil pipe lines, the pre-Korea use was 294,277 tons a quarter, but the DPA allocation for the third quarter of this year comes to 200,

000 tons, about 68 per cent of former use; for oil gas transportation and distribution, the third quarter allocation comes to 535,000 tons, about

85 per cent of pre-Korea use; for refinery expansion, the allocation is

$2,000 tons, 87 per cent of pre-

Korea; for liquefied petroleum gases, 25,000 tons, about 23 per cent of pre-Korea; for marketing segments, 8,000 tons, about 12 per cent of pre-Korea; for oil field equipment manufacturers, 180,000 tons, about 76 per cent of pre-Korea.

Overall, segments of the oil and gas industry other than production are to obtain a total of 963,000 tons of steel compared with PAD requests for 1,400,000 tons, a cut of more than one-third.

While PAD fights for more steel,

it also is determining which projects in oil and gas are of most importance, and should obtain the steel.

Texas: The petroleum industry makes out nicely under the tax bill for this year which has just been approved by the House Ways and Means Committee and sent to the House floor. The depletion allowance is left at 27.5 per cent, despite the Truman Administration's second attempt to roll it back to 15 per cent. A proposed tax on the transportation of natural gas was turned back. A gasoline tax increase from 1.5 cents a gallon to two was voted, but this is well below the three cents asked by the Treasury. The two-cent tax was recommended for diesel fuels used on highways, a plan which will bring problems in collection.

Shorts: Justice Department says antitrust action against petroleum companies remains its number one target. . . . A court of appeals decision says coal cannot block natural gas pipe lines merely because it would lose markets. . . . El Paso

Natural Gas Company's appeal from common carrier rulings of Interior Department is delayed by death of Judge Goldsborough a few days ago, who had heard the case

. . . . George Wilson, Interstate Oil

Pipe Line Company, is to be new head of PAD'S transportation division.

Galvestonians Get Chance To Tell About Gambling This Week

AUSTIN —(P)—Galveston gamblers, officials and private citizens get a chance to tell the public what they think about Galveston gambling Monday and Tuesday.

Subjected to the greatest pressure they have felt in more than two decades, Galveston gambling houses closed their doors a week ago.

The shutdown followed private questioning of the Maceo syndicate by the House Crime Investigating Committee and an injunction suit by Attorney General Price Daniel.

Members of Maceo and Company will testify publicly Monday before the House Crime Committee. They are expected to give more details on various gambling operations which grossed nearly $4,000,000 last year.

Ten prominent Galvestonians, including five public officials, are under orders to appear Tuesday. At least two other witnesses are expected to talk voluntarily.

The second day of the hearings may produce the greatest fireworks. "Politics" already has been charged, the accusation being hurled at Attorney General Daniel, who strongly denied it.

Mayor Fires Blast

Mayor Herbert Y. Cartright, Jr., one of the subpoenaed officials, has fired a blast, declaring Galveston is being made the "scapegoat." He threatened to say some things that would embarrass certain state officials.

Rep. Fred V. Meridith of Terrell, committee chairman, and the attorney general both have expressed the view that Galveston should not enjoy an exception to the laws against gambling.

Managing Editor C. E. McClelland of the Galveston News and Tribune, another of the subpoenaed witnesses, agreed with that view in a front-page story Friday.

He said Galvestonians now have been forced to reach a decision.

"The decision was forced by the great State of Texas through its duly elected representatives—and rightfully," he wrote. "Even if some of the state's duly elected representatives did enjoy Galveston as it used to be, still there can be no argument about a law being a law."

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. S. Holliday and C. C. President Thomas McCarthy will give their views Tuesday.

The "politics" cry was made public by a Catholic priest, who disclaimed it as his personal opinion but said others had told him Attorney General Daniel wants to run for governor "on a record as the man who cleaned up Galveston."

Enough milk to fill a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide, and three feet deep is produced in the United States annually.

Comptroller Figures Gas Tax Will Bring $14,000,000 In Year

AUSTIN —(P)—Housewives 2,000 miles away will help fatten Texas' State Treasury every time they turn on their gas stoves next Fall.

Each time they use pipe lined natural gas from Texas they will contribute indirectly a little tax to the Lone Star State.

The 52nd Texas Legislature adjourned this month after a bitter fight over the imposition of a "gathering" tax on natural gas.

Maybe you'd better not write home and tell Aunt Minnie the Midland Indians have won the pennant, but you might ask if she wants reservations to the playoff games.

That's a coy way of saying the Indians just might cause a heap of eyebrow raising before the Longhorn League season is over.

To be sure, four wins over two second division ball clubs isn't much about which to get unduly excited, but the entire setup in Midland baseball isn't nearly so anemic as it was two short weeks ago. If you haven't noticed the change in the Indians' playing and attitude, you are about as observing as some umpire.

For one thing, the Indians are playing smart ball now. Manager Zeks Bonura has the Tribe running wild on the base paths. They've swiped about five or six bases per game since Bonura's arrival—and that's about the equivalent of the same number of hits.

Too, Bonura plays the percentages. He's been in baseball, both minor and major leagues, long enough to know the percentages in just about any sort of situation. First he analyzes the opposition and his own team, figuring the capabilities of both squads. He estimates just what he can get away with, then turns on the juice. In both the second Artesia and Sweetwater games, victory came easier. That's because Zeks spotted the weakness and strength of the opposing players the first night, and capitalized on it the second go around.

Bonura is taking the Midland lads in hand and teaching them how to improve themselves.

And the players love it. That's why it's very possible the Indians still can go higher in the standings. Bonura said Friday night after Midland had pulled from eighth to six place in four days: "We'd sure like to go higher."

Why not? Odessa did. We look for Midland to be up there.

Thanks to the Midlanders who contributed gifts to the Eddie Jacome night Friday.

Delbert Downing presented Jacome with the gifts, and we'd like to think him for handling the verbal end of the night. Jacome thanked Midland fans after he received his gifts, saying: "Thanks to all the fans and friends. I'll do my best to deserve this honor."

Here's what Jacome received: Collection from Midland fans, $86.23; Reporter-Telegram $10; Fay Coll $10; Mrs. C. J. Jensen, $5; W. E. King, Hi-D-Ho Drive Inn $5; Larry King $7.50; A Midland fan $5; George Grayum, J. C. Penny Company $10; Tanner Lane $2; Neville Alfrey, Service Club $5; Dr. Homer B. Johnson $5; A Midland fan $10; Louis Williams and A. C. Robinson $5; Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., $10; and Sodie Harrell $10. The total was $185.73.

In addition, Jacome received a Gruen watch from Kruger's Jewelry, a hat from Johnson's Hat Shop, a $10 gift certificate from Grammer Murphy, two sport shirts from Dunlap, $10 in dry cleaning from Excel-Sure cleaners, a baseball glove from Tex Carleton, home canned preserves and foodstuffs from Mr. and Mrs. Felix Stonehocker, and an evening on the house for Jacome and wife at Donohoo's Supper Club. Harold Webb, former owner of the club, also has pledged $50 to the Jacome night.

Again thanks to all.

Indians To Be At Home For Extended Period

Midland baseball fans will get a chance to see the red-hot Midland Indians play several games at home during the next week.

Returning home Monday from the Brones, the Tribe will meet Big Spring Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights before journeying to Big Spring for a single game with the Brones Thursday night. Friday night Odessa will come in for a two-game stand. San Angelo then will be here for a pair before the Indians again leave.

ABILENE — San Angelo's John Tayoan has gone to the head of the Longhorn League batting class. The classy third-sacker has posted an official .393 through games of June 19. He also leads in total hits with 94 and his 135 total bases is tops for that department.

Pat Stacey of Big Spring tops the loop in doubles with 20, while Sweetwater's Warren Sitter, has eight triples for that department's high. Wayne Wallace, the San Angelo slugging first baseman, leads in home runs. He has posted 16.

Vernon's speedy Leon English has stolen the most bases—20. He also has drawn 75 bases on balls to earn more gratis passes than any other player, while his teammate, John Reimold, leads in RBI's with 66. Jacome Tops Hurlers Eddie Jacome, Midland's Indian rubber-arm man, is the leading pitcher in games won with 13. FOR FIFTH STRAIGHT— Tribe Nips Vernon 8-6

VERNON—The Midland Indians rallied for four runs in the ninth inning here Saturday night to overcome a Duster lead and win a Longhorn League baseball game 8-6. The win was Midland's fifth straight.

Dick Campbell reached base by an infield error in the ninth frame, taking second when Gordon Tanner singled as a pinch-hitter. Flem Flott then was safe on an error by Duster pitcher Russell, who threw wild to third base, and two runs came in. That tied it at 6-6.

Manager Zeke Bonura then made his first appearance of the year as a player, singling a run in and going to second on a sacrifice with Scooter Hughes at the plate. Eddie Mellio walked and Hayden White reached base by error. Woody Pennington then flied out to score Bonura. That was the ball game.

Emil Ogden started for Midland but was wild and replaced by Haggard, a new pitcher who joined the Midland team only Saturday. Eddie Jacobs worked the last inning on the mound to preserve Haggard's win.

The same two teams play here again Sunday.

Dodgers Run Over Pirates For 13-1 Win

PITTSBURGH —(P)— Ralph Kiner's first inning single and wildness deprived Don Newcombe of a no-hit, no-run game Saturday as the big righthander pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 13-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Kiner singled with two out in the first inning for the lone Pirate hit. Newcombe walked four batters in the ninth to force over the only Pirate run. Newcombe walked seven and fanned five in posting his ninth victory.

The Dodgers supported Newcombe's classy pitching with a 16-hit barrage that included home runs by Carl Furillo and Rocky Bridges. Jackie Robinson didn't join the fun, going hitless in four tries and his batting average dropped from .374 to .367.

Jumps On Werle
Brooklyn jumped on Bill Werle who went down to his first defeat for four runs in the first inning. Furillo sent three of the markers home with his eighth homer.

Werle held the Dodgers hitless after the first until the fifth when rookie Dick Williams doubled and scored on a single by Pee-wee Reese. Bridges made it 7-0 with a two-run homer in the sixth, his first of the season.

The Dodgers added single runs in the seventh and eighth innings and cut loose for four more in the ninth with Oil Hodges driving in two with a single.

The score: R H E

Play Tight In Inverness Matches
TOLEDO —(P)— A couple of former National Open Champions, Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff, turned the 14th Inverness Four-Ball Golf Matches into a tight contest Saturday as they upset both the leading teams in 18-hole matches.

Clayton Heafner and Johnny Palmer, both of North Carolina, were still leading the pack with a plus 5 count after five of seven matches. But four other teams were within shooting distance.

Mangrum and Middlecoff handed the leaders a 5-down defeat Saturday as they toured the par-71 Inverness layout in 61 strokes, knocking the southerners off the top spot momentarily.

Henry Ransom and Roberto Devicenzo, who moved into the lead with plus 5 as Heafner and Palmer fell, were defeated one down by Mangrum-Middlecoff late Saturday.

Tommy Byrne's Debut Spoiled By Athletics
PHILADELPHIA —(P)— The Philadelphia Athletics spoiled Tommy Byrne's debut with the St. Louis Browns by beating the former New York Yankee southpaw 4 to 1 Saturday before a Ladies' Day crowd of only 2,413 in the battle to keep out of the American League cellar.

The score: R H E

FASHION NOTE—Following the trend toward more imaginative and abbreviated tennis garb, American girls struck a fashion note in the Kent Grass Court Championships at Beckenham, Eng. Gloria Butler wears a cotton eyelid ensemble with knotted bodice drawn up to bare the midriff. Boston Nips White Sox In 11th Inning

BOSTON —(P)— Slugger Vern Stephens continued his personal war against the Chicago White Sox' pennant hopes Saturday by poling out an eleventh inning two-bagger that pulled out an 8-7 victory for the Boston Red Sox.

The setback cut the Chisox first place lead to a game and a half over the New York Yankees.

Friday night, Stephens' three-run homer shaved another game off the Chisox lead. It was the deciding blow as the Red Sox topped the White Sox 6-5 in the opener of a four-game series.

Stephens' latest game winning smash, which scored Ted Williams, was against Billy Pierce, the little southpaw, who replaced starter Howie Judson in the seventh inning.

The game is to be played in Roswell on the night of July 19. For the second year in a row places on the two teams will be picked by popular vote.

While the fans may have a heroes this year, the East's team could have a dozen baseballers who took part in last summer's class at San Angelo. Besides Stasey, it list includes Jimmy McClure, D. Wood Cox, Wayne Wallace, T. Guerrero, Steve Follett and K. Kowalk of the league leading St. Angelo Colts; Cotton Russell, Richardson, Art Herring and L. Ehlinger, Vernon Dusters, and W. Ren Sliiter, Sweetwater.

The West's incumbents are Ken Jones and Scooter Hughes, Midland; Al Monchak, Ray Drake and J. Cearely, Roswell.

Last year's all-star managers were Tom Jordan of Roswell for the East and Joe Berry of Vernon for the West. Berry is still at the helm of the Dusters.

The West team will be made of players from Odessa, Midland, Roswell, and Artesia. The East squad will come from San Angelo, Vernon, Big Spring and Sweetwater.

Fans are to vote only for players in the division in which they reside and may select only from a single team, exclusive of non-playing manager.

Each team shall consist of manager, voted separately, five pitchers, two catchers, five fielders and four outfielders.

The votes must be cast by midnight, July 4, and may be sent newspapers or radio stations member cities or to the Longhorn League office, Box 474, Abilene.

A right hander, the former Yankee was making his debut with the Senators. He was credited with the victory.

Mrs. James C. Wilson, Jr.

Couple Reads Vows In Pecos Church

PECOS—In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, Marianne Shipton of Pecos, formerly of Fresno, Calif., and James C. Wilson, Jr. of Pecos, exchanged wedding vows in the First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. McCormick of Pecos and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson, also of Pecos.

The couple repeated vows before an altar banked with greenery and fern. Baskets of pale pink roses and carnations and cathedral candelabra holding white tapers formed the background. The pews were marked with sweetheart roses and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbon, replicas of the attendants' bouquets.

The Rev. W. M. Turner officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Bride Wears Satin Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a gown of magnolia satin and chantilly lace.

The deep oval yoke of nylon tulle was outlined with a deep band of shirred lace that extended to form cap sleeves. Her lace gauntlets fastened with small lace-covered buttons. The bodice was princess-styled and extended in unpressed pleats at the hip line to a full skirt, forming a long train. Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of chantilly lace.

She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and lilies of the valley, centered with a pink gardenia and tied with pale pink satin ribbon. Dagne Nordholm of Fresno, Calif., was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. John M. Moore of Balmoretha and Mrs. H. R. Hudson, Jr., of Pecos.

Attendants' Dresses Described The bride's attendants wore identical dresses of white organdy with fitted bodices and short sleeves. The bouffant skirts were fashioned with unpressed pleats and the belts were of pink satin. They wore picture hats of pink organdy; sweetheart roses, agapanthus and pink satin ribbon made up their bouquets.

The bridegroom's father was best man and Joseph Fugit of El Paso was the groomsmen. John M. Moore and H. R. Hudson, Jr., were the ushers. The ring bearer was Monty Moore.

Mrs. McCormick chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of pink lace and nylon net with a matching off-the-face hat. She wore a pink orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of blue chiffon with a lace bodice. Her matching halo hat of maline was decorated with rhinestones and her corsage was an orchid.

Reception Is Held Mary Rogers, organist, played selections of pre-nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied James Buchanan who sang "At Dawning," "Be My Love" and "Devotion."

After the wedding, a reception was held in the Pecos Valley Country Club.

A pink four-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. The cake was topped with two white sugar love birds and lilies of the valley. A white satin cloth and arrangements of pink gardenias and lilies of the valley decorated the table, which also held the punch bowl and pink tapers in crystal candelabra.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Clay Slack of Presidio, Mrs. Clarence Harper of El Paso, Mrs. Charles Jones of Big Spring and Mrs. Harold Lindley, Mrs. Ernest Epley and Mrs. W. H. Hibbits, all of Pecos.

For the wedding trip, Mrs. Wilson wore a navy blue and white silk tweed suit with navy blue accessories.

After the wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Pecos.

Approximately 20 out-of-city wedding guests attended.

Household Items Work Magic For Young Artistic Housewife

By JUDY RANDOLPH With a magical touch, a walnut shell is turned into Cinderella's pumpkin or a Christmas decoration bell is changed into a cornucopia. That's only part of a day's work for Mrs. David C. Smith, III.

Mrs. Smith, with an artistic flare for the unusual, makes placecards to fit the theme of the party. Ever since Thanksgiving she has worked with Mrs. Quincy Belle Snow of Quincy Belles Flowers, designing special cards to carry out the centerpiece decorations at many Midland parties.

Most of Mrs. Smith's nameplates are miniature versions of the centerpiece or a part of it. At one bridal party, the center of the table featured a large scroll of white parchment paper announcing the wedding. Little scrolls, complete with charred edges and a red seal, were used as placecards.

Cake Decorations Used At a Christmas party large white candles and silver balls served as the main decorations. Mrs. Smith placed tiny candles on a green background. For silver balls she used cake decorations.

Mrs. Smith began her unusual occupation in November when Mrs. Snow asked her to help with the table arrangements for a Thanksgiving party. Mrs. Smith needed some sort of pumpkin for her design. She thought of marshmallows, tubing and all sorts of household goods—but nothing would work. Finally, she glanced at a bowl of walnuts and the placecards were made.

Right now she is not working on. Mrs. Smith took a half of the nut and painted it with orange fuzz to make the pumpkin. Then she stuck it on the card and painted Cinderella's coachman and horses to complete the picture. Her career was started.

Once for another bridal shower, Mrs. Smith created a card which had the traditional engagement ring and wedding ring standing out from it. The dime store was her market for materials used in this work. She bought the "diamond" ring there and also the pierced earrings which she used for the gold wedding ring. These were tied with ribbon and stuck through the card.

How to make a cornucopia was a big problem for Mrs. Smith. She finally hit upon the idea of cutting off the end of a little bell and shaping the end of the horn out of wire and floral tape. The result was a perfect miniature horn of plenty with white flowers flowing out the end.

Mrs. Smith, who has studied art at Abbot Art School in Washington, D. C., always uses some hand painting on her cards. But the outstanding feature is the unusual twist on some miniature reproduction by which she accents the main theme of the party decorations.

A graduate in Art from Texas Christian University, Mrs. Smith worked for the Navy Department during the war as an airplane illustrator and designer of posters. She has also designed ads for Washington and Fort Worth department stores.

Right now she is not working on. Mrs. Smith took a half of the nut and painted it with orange fuzz to make the pumpkin. Then she stuck it on the card and painted Cinderella's coachman and horses to complete the picture. Her career was started.

Once for another bridal shower, Mrs. Smith created a card which had the traditional engagement ring and wedding ring standing out from it. The dime store was her market for materials used in this work. She bought the "diamond" ring there and also the pierced earrings which she used for the gold wedding ring. These were tied with ribbon and stuck through the card.

How to make a cornucopia was a big problem for Mrs. Smith. She finally hit upon the idea of cutting off the end of a little bell and shaping the end of the horn out of wire and floral tape. The result was a perfect miniature horn of plenty with white flowers flowing out the end.

Daughters-In-Law Can Use This Tip On Mothers-In-Law

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"Why don't you ever present the mother-in-law's side of the 'in-law situation'?" a mother-in-law asks me.

Well, this isn't exactly what she asked for. It's just an observation that might be an eye-opener to daughters-in-law.

A young wife will say with fond pride, "I never hope to be as good a cook as my mother" or "Mother can work circles around me. If I only had her efficiency" or "Mother is so wonderful with the children. I wish I could be as calm and patient with them as she is."

You hear young wives make remarks like that all the time. They seem to take satisfaction in the fact that their own mothers can out-shine them at this or that.

But it is rare to hear a wife boast her mother-in-law with such comparisons. Why is that? Why must a wife feel she has to be just as accomplished as her more experienced mother-in-law in every phase of home-making and child care? If she can admit her own mother is her superior in some things, why can't she be just as unself-consciously admiring in her attitude toward her husband's mother?

If she could and would, chances are she would get the mother-in-law - daughter-in-law relationship off to a happy start.

For if she openly admitted that she couldn't do this or that as well as her mother-in-law, the mother-in-law wouldn't be tempted to try and show her up, or to find fault with the way she did things. Instead she would start looking around for some skill of the daughter-in-law's to admire.

That is just a simple rule of human nature. Find something admirable about another person and he'll look for something to admire about you.

But it's a rule a lot of women forget in their mother-in-law relationships.

Flying Incubator Reaches Back Across

VANCOUVER — (AP) — Seventeen months ago, St. Paul's hospital here instituted a "flying incubator" service to carry on for sick babies with a faulty time sense. Until that time, babies born prematurely in remote regions of the province had little chance of survival. Incubators, oxygen supplies, skilled hospital personnel were all at least 24 hours away.

Since then, a total of 40 babies have been rushed in the incubator by ambulance or airplane from points in the interior to the ultra-modern clinic at St. Paul's. Teams of special nurses are available day and night to go to the aid of the babies and bring them back to the clinic.

Modern Travelers Learn Tricks Of Pick-And-Pack

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Time was, when a woman went journeying, she made an expedition of it. A safari of friends and relatives was required to convey assembled bags and boxes to her send-off spot. She took along everything she owned — just in case. But in those days, there was a red-cap for every traveler, and a guest-room in every home.

Today, the woman who sets out on a trip laden with luggage is more likely to be considered inefficient than foresighted. The modern miss picks and packs with purpose, realizing she travels farthest who travels lightest. And after all, summer is a time for going places.

This year, try a planned vacation, deciding in advance not only the sort of fun you're seeking, but also the clothes and beauty aids you'll need. Work out a few suitcase short-cuts, too, to make your trip a happier one.

Choose your inanimate traveling companions as carefully as you do your human ones. These might include non-crushable linen suits, rollable hats that can be jammed into a suitcase, then emerge unwrinkled and ready to go; a toothbrush with a handle that becomes its cover while its traveling; a folding umbrella to see you through those inevitable rainy days; and nylon lingerie of the quick-drying, no-ironing variety.

Also a friend in need is a new plastic pack which features a ribbon-tied cover designed for double-duty use as a shower cap. Inside are plastic envelopes, one of which serves as a case for fold-flat plastic slipper-scuffs. The others are empty, to hold your tissues, soap, bobby pins or whatever.

This young woman, embarking upon a planned vacation this summer, has worked out small tricks that will help her go places easily and efficiently. Into her luggage go travel aids. Plastic travel pack contains unbreakable jars and bottles for such vacation requisites.

Also included in the kit are plastic jars and bottles which are handy for liquids, creams and powders that can cause travelers so much anxiety when they're transported in breakable glass containers. A good bet for one of the bottles is multi-purpose baking soda, which added to your bath, is a deodorizing aid after such strenuous work-outs as golf, tennis, or horseback riding. You'll find it an excellent emulsifier, too, for cutting grease and grime at shampoo time.

When filling your large traveling case, you may find these packing tips helpful. Fill your shoes with such small items as rolled belts, to take advantage of their inside space. Another shoe tip is to slip your footwears inside your tennis socks. Heavy socks packed in this way will require less suitcase area, and they'll also protect your clothes from shoe soot.

Midlanders To Attend Naturopathic Meet

Four Midlanders, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Schlichting and Dr. and Mrs. Norman J. Maberry, will represent this city at the national convention of Naturopathic Physicians, June 28 - July 3, in Miami, Fla. Dr. Schlichting is the retiring president of the association.

Dr. and Mrs. Schlichting left Saturday and Dr. and Mrs. Maberry plan to leave early this week for the convention city. Dr. Schlichting said his clinic here will be operated during his absence by Dr. L. H. Little. The Midlanders plan to return home July 8.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL
E. G. Gordon of Odessa was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

Your vacuum cleaner bag is an invitation to moths if left to stand unused for a long time. To protect it, brush it thoroughly before putting it away, then mothproof it with a liquid anti-moth spray.

As creams, lotions and baking soda. Kit cover doubles as shower cap (left). To prevent suitcase crowding and scrambling, she packs shoes in tennis socks (center). Camera carried in handbag makes possible complete leavetaking-to-homecoming record of trip (right).

In case tennis socks are not a part of your non-athletic wardrobe, use a pair of old hose or your husband's socks.

There's no need this year to shove your clothes around to make room for your old box camera. New midsize cameras, small enough to slip into your purse, will save you valuable packing space. With this bantam in your handbag, you'll find it easier to make a picture-record of your trip than you ever imagined in the old days when an urge to click the shutter necessitated first a mad scramble among your personal effects.

Rankin Library Has Story Hour

RANKIN — Nola Boyd, Nancy Gary and Ruth McGill were in charge of the recent Story Hour in the Rankin Library.

The girls told the following stories: "Rumpelstiltskin," Sari; "So Dear To My Heart," Helen Palmer; "Mary Had A Little Lamb," "The Tale of Peter Rabbit," "My Father's Dragon," "Jack and Jill" and "Three Silly Kittens."

If you're going on a long trip, it's usually safer and more economical to turn off your electric refrigerator before you go. Clean it thoroughly and leave the door open wide enough to allow circulation of air. However, if your trip is for no more than three weeks, it may be more convenient to leave the refrigerator on.

Cotton Swabs Can Ease Job Of Applying Eye Make-Up

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Good eye make-up is a minor work of art. Your own face is the canvas upon which color is blended to produce an effect of beauty.

Unfortunately, after achieving this facial charm, many women look as if they had actually been at work.

Cotton swabs aid this young woman in applying eye make-up evenly, keep her fingers free from smudges.

By applying your make-up with swabs, you not only avoid the unsanitary practice of touching fingers to your eye areas, but you are also able to achieve a smooth and even application of make-up, since excess eye shadow adheres to the swabs.

FORT WORTH LADY LOSES 20 POUNDS

"I like Baracerta very much. It has done wonders for me," writes Mrs. I. V. Pace, Route 5, Box 160, Fort Worth, Texas. "When I commenced to take Baracerta, I weighed 145. I had high blood pressure, and lost 20 pounds, do not have high blood pressure, sleep and feel fine. It is a wonderful medicine."

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Baracerta. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it if the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and keep your slender, more graceful curves. If you lose pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear, almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 12 POUNDS
"I have taken 2 bottles of Baracerta and lost 12 pounds," says W. C. McEwen, 1923 5th St., Lubbock, Texas. "I feel lots better."

Legs Flattered By Fancy Stockings

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Putting on a pair of stockings can be fun. When stockings are something special when they really do flatter a pretty leg, when they make a woman more attractive, then stockings are fun. Such stockings are very much a part of fashion.

Willys of Hollywood, a former boxer turned hosiery designer, believes that stockings should flatter women of all ages. He also thinks they should contribute to the harmony of a woman's costume. Contribute something more than that, than a shade that blends well with black, brown or navy.

The sparkling butterflies, the star flowers, forget-me-nots and violets that flutter and twine on hosiery of Willys' design are all strategically placed to accomplish the most in ankle and leg flattery. For the woman who's 50 or more and who has a weight problem, there are stockings designed to slendelize. The stocking with a dark heel and seam does the best job of slimming down a plump leg and ankle.

Jeweled decorations and fancy motifs are meant for wear with late-day and evening dresses. For daytime, the dark heel and seam, done in many variations, are fashion-right.

The homemaker who's a charming forty likes a smart but simple (right center) clock design in star flower pattern. The woman who's achieved the age of fifty (right) chooses a flattering dark seam and slenderizing dark heel with Swiss dots in white. The designs are permanently applied to the outside of stockings.

A cotton swab is an excellent aid in erasing smears or wavering strokes. One ready-made type, with cotton smoothly tumbled at each end, offers a compact tip for delicate correction work.

These swabs also are helpful for blotting. Excess lipstick may be removed with a quick swipe. The cotton swabs are small enough to offer security against re-smearing, and the swab sticks are of sufficient length to provide control and manageability.

Continental Passenger Revenue at Record High

Reaching an all time high in May of this year, Continental Air Lines passenger revenue was $469,192.54, an increase of 44.6 per cent over the same period last year, Jim Carlson, Continental station agent here, said. There were 22,662 passengers carried over Continental routes during May, showing a substantial increase of 29.4 per cent over May of last year.

Revenue passenger miles for this record month were 7,952,416, an increase of 33.7 per cent over last year. Mail ton miles and express ton miles were 25,459 and 12,100, respectively, an increase of 46.2 per cent and 11.3 per cent over May of 1950.

Swab Is Now Beauty Aid

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

There's more to lovely lips than a creamy lipstick and a mouth formed lasciviously by artistry to nature.

No matter how carefully you choose your color, no matter how artfully you work out proportions of upper lip to lower lip, it's your labor lost unless your lip line is a smooth and perfect one.

Since few of us possess the up-lifting hand of an artist, it's a good idea to devise a foolproof method for correcting our mistakes.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Jump!

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, was wanting to be a tamer of lions to make them jump over a box. Why, the jumping would be a trick. It would, and so now the Huffen had put the box on the ground, and he was trying to awaken a great yellow lion who lay on the grass, sleeping all curled up like a cat.

he would wake up the lion, and he did it by saying "Pst!" with a gentle voice. "Pst!" was such a different noise that the lion woke up right then and there.

"Look me in the eye!" cried the Huffen looked the lion in the eye. Yes sir, the Huffen was going to look the lion in the eye to show the lion that the Huffen was boss, but the lion's look at the Huffen was a strong, strong look, just about as strong as the Huffen's look.

"The lion has a strong, strong look," whispered Daddy Ringtail to Mugwump.

"Sure," said Mugwump, "but the Huffen's look is awfully strong."

Who oh who was going to be the tamer of whom? Who oh who was going to make someone jump over the box? Would the Huffen make the lion jump over? Or would the lion make the Huffen jump over? Who oh who would be the boss? The lion looked at the Huffen. The Huffen looked at the lion. Each of them looked with strong, strong looks, but nobody's look was strong enough to make the other jump over.

Oh, I don't know what might have happened next, but suddenly a single word was shouted. Mugwump Monkey did the shouting. He shouted "Jump!" as loud as he could, and can you guess what happened? Why, the lion jumped over the box and the Huffen jumped over it, too, and Mugwump Monkey was the boss of them both. I guess, don't you? Happy day!

TENNIS RACKET NAMES ARE AXED BY PAPER

BUDAPEST (AP)—Tennis rackets manufactured in Hungary will not bear "cosmopolitan" names in the future, the paper Nepsport reported with satisfaction.

It criticized the quality of rackets on the one hand, and "aristocratic" names like "Lady," "Lord," "Admiral," "Oxford," on the other hand, which mean a certain cosmopolitan tendency in tennis," the paper declared. The state-owned factories manufacturing sporting equipment promised to use more up-to-date names in the future, it added.

+ Jacoby On Canasta +

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

We recently had a question about the first discard that a player should make. Should you discard from strength (three or four of a kind) or from weakness (no more cards to match the discard)?

We already have seen that it is very poor policy to stick unflinchingly to one practice. You have to have a change of pace to keep the enemy guessing. However, you may have a leaning toward one method or toward the other, even though you are careful to mix a slow ball with your fast ball every once in a while.

Which tendency should you adopt? The answer should depend on your hand, if all players in the game are equally good. However, the answer may depend more on your partner than on the hand you happen to hold.

There are some partners who always fight for the discard pile no matter how hopeless the battle may be. If you meld cards from your hand, such partners fight on gallantly but foolishly, even though it may be obvious that you are trying to meld out.

With such a partner you cannot try for a fast out. You must do what you can to help him fight for the pack. Hence you tend to discard from strength a trifle more often than your cards would really warrant.

There is another kind of partner—the man who always plays for a fast out no matter what his hand looks like. He always puts a meld down on the table at the first chance to do so. If you fight for the pack, he gets himself down to two or three cards and promptly gives the pack away to the enemy.

With such a partner you cannot hope to win the pack. You must play for a fast out whether you like it or not. Hence you tend to discard from weakness at your first turn, saving your melds and your pairs.

Q—In a two-handed Canasta game I have in my hand numerous cards that I could meld. My wife has four cards in her hand, and it is her play. She draws the last card of the stock pile, melds three cards, and discards a black three. She still has one card in her hand. Am I then allowed to lay down my melds before counting the score?

A—No. When your opponent discards the black three the hand ends immediately. You are stuck with all the cards that are still in your hand. This is one of the risks you take when you keep meldable cards in your hand instead of putting them down on the table.

Homemaking Classes Have Final Session

Final class meetings of the Summer Homemaking Project were held Thursday in the Homemaking Center at Midland High School. Mrs. Faye Massey and Clyde Parmelly, high school home economics teachers, were the directors.

The work covered by the course included sewing, experimental cookery, home improvement, gardening and crafts. One group supervised a play school for children between three and five years of age. Eleven children were enrolled in the school which lasted three weeks.

The class was open to high school girls who had taken one year of homemaking. One-half school credit was given to those who satisfactorily completed the course. The teachers visited in the home of each girl to help her plan and coordinate her home and school projects.

Those participating were Kitty Anderson, Joyce Bailey, Shirley Brown, Ardith, Campbell, Glenda Crays, Barbara De Lay, Shirley Evans, Wanda Fain, Priscilla Fields, Jerry Gentry, Carolyn Gray, Lynn Griffith, Patsy Johnson, Frances Moreno, Carolyn Ramsey, Sybil Reeves, Rosmond Turner, Nelma Underwood, Betty Walls, Willa Mae Webster and Frances Whigham.

H-SU Band Books Cowboy Reunion Event

ABILENE—Hardin-Simmons University's well-known Cowboy Band will furnish the music for the annual Stamford Cowboy Reunion June 30-July 4, Marion McClellure, director of the band, said Saturday. The Cowboy musicians will lead the opening day parade and play for the rodeo performances each night. Other rodeo engagements are now being worked out, according to McClellure, who has been with the band as a student and director since 1929. Sheriff Will Watson, sponsor of the organization, will accompany the group and ride one of the six white horses. Well known in rodeo circles as well as a concert band, the collegiate musicians have appeared at 300 top rodeos and played 2,000 separate rodeo performances—the equivalent of one show a day for five years. Last year alone, the band traveled 15,000 miles, gave 145 public performances, and was heard by more than a million people. The band was recently televised on a national scale.

Polio Virus Is Invisible; Size Guess

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON—(P)—The question of which polio treatment is best is a tough one—but so are the questions surrounding the mysterious polio bug itself. It never has been seen, even by the most powerful microscopes. There is only indirect evidence as to its size. It's estimated that 25,000 germs could fit on the head of a pin. The onset of a severe polio attack... is only about one case in every 100,000... even during extensive... people... in a... and this... with... laboratory... human... a few... issue... of... produced... and mon... puts it... that the jump... is too great to... safety." One line of research is directed at finding a polio virus which would build up his resistance to the disease. There is evidence that certain drugs can kill polio virus—but they would also destroy the body cells in which the virus lurks. For lack of chemical or other weapons to fight the virus directly, doctors generally attack what they term the "symptoms" rather than the disease itself. Disciples of the Kenny concept of polio believe, however, that treatments primarily designed to combat effects of the virus may also have some effect on fighting the virus itself. Sister Elizabeth Kenny contends the virus can directly attack muscles and other parts of the body. The general medical concept is that the virus attacks only the central nervous system and that muscular effects are secondary. Adherents of this latter view say it is more than a "concept." They say it is a fact based on scientific evidence. What can you do if the disease should strike your community? 1. Avoid becoming panicky. Experts say there is no reason to cross the street to avoid passing a patient's home, that such elaborate precautions are of no avail and only add to any hysteria that might exist. Avoid Contact 2. Observe the precautions you would observe against any communicable disease. Avoid all unnecessary contact with persons with any illness suspicious of polio. Avoid contact with new groups of people as far as possible. This latter point is pertinent to why some authorities caution against using swimming pools during an epidemic. It is not, they say, that water has been incriminated as a lurking place for polio virus, but that a pool offers a place of possible contact among groups of people from different areas. 3. Avoid over-fatigue. 4. Observe personal cleanliness. 5. Avoid sudden chilling.

Casualties

WASHINGTON—The Department of Defense Friday listed the following Texans as casualties in the Korean area: Killed in action, Army: Cpl. Johnnie Lee William, Waco. Killed in action, Marine Corps: Sgt. Ted Bomes, Amarillo; Pfc. James Robert McNettly, Greenback. Died of wounds, Army: Pfc. Richard VanCleave, Lubbock; Pvt. R. C. Wilkerson, Dallas. Wounded, Army: Pfc. James Armer, Dallas; Second Lt. Albert Barnett, Jr., Dallas; Pfc. James Chenault, Kerrville; Pfc. Loyd Easterling, Jr., Beville; Capt. Sam Holliday, Houston; Sgt. Archie Holloway, Rosebud; Pfc. Ervin Jones, Mabank; Cpl. Leroy McCarthy, Houston; Pvt. Gene McLaughlin, Rails; Cpl. Reber Pledger, Lubbock; Pfc. Roy Moreland, Houston; Pvt. Luther Skeels, Fort Bliss; Pfc. Kerry Troclair, Fort Arthur. Wounded, Marine Corps: Pfc. David Alonzo, San Antonio; Pfc. Marcus Bosquez, Taft; Pfc. J. C. Brockman, Willis Point; Pfc. Clark Callahan, Jr., Houston; Pfc. Heron Farias, Kingsville; Pfc. Reginald Johnson, Floresville; Pfc. Kenneth Meier, Fort Worth; Pfc. Russell Smith, Austin; Pfc. Arthur Tobias, Corpus Christi. Injured, Army: Pfc. Bobby Whitten, Dallas. Missing in action, Army: Pvt. Edwin King, Fort Worth; Cpl. John McMillan, Sweetwater. Missing in action, Air Force: First Lt. Willis Thatcher, Pleasanton. Returned to duty, Army: Pfc. Lynwood Martin, Beaumont; Pvt. Willie Nichols, Fort Worth; Cpl. Willie Pittard, Marshall; Sgt. Charles Thompson, Fort Worth. Prisoners of war: Pvt. Simon Bynum, Overton; Pvt. Reuben Kimball, Jr., Baytown.

No known drug—not even any of the so-called "wonder drugs" like penicillin—can directly attack the virus itself. No vaccine has yet proved sufficiently satisfactory to warrant more than limited research use as a possible preventive. So-called "convalescent serum" from the blood of persons who have recovered from polio has been used, but results are inconclusive. The search of drugs and vaccines is complicated by these facts: There are at least three different "strains" of the virus, one of them the fancy name "brunhilde." And in recent years a virus called "edmonstone" has been discovered which causes symptoms identical with polio but is not fatal. So it was until recently that it was thought that the virus of polio could be transmitted from a human being to another human being. But it is now known that the virus is not transmitted in this way. It is now known that the virus is not transmitted in this way. It is now known that the virus is not transmitted in this way.

6. If possible avoid tonsils and adenoids operations during an epidemic. 7. Watch your children for symptoms of headache, moderate fever, stiff neck, muscle weakness and listlessness. Call your doctor immediately if you have any suspicions at all.

Blind Youngster Cycles By Sound

GORE BAY, ONT.—(P)—A 20-year-old Indian youth, blind since the age of three, frequently amazes visitors to this resort town by buzzing along on a bicycle at speeds up to 15 miles an hour. Danny Megwan has been totally blind since he had double pneumonia and measles, but in his mind he carries a phenomenally accurate map of this area on which is charted every road, path, house, fence, bridge, and almost every stick and stone. Danny's eyes stand at attention when he is cycling in case an automobile comes along. If he hears one he gets off the bike and waits at the side of the road for the car to pass. He never rides on the town streets during the Summer months. There are too many tourists' cars.

ABORIGINES REFUSE RETURN OF COUNTRY
DARWIN—(P)—Australian aborigines declare emphatically they don't want the country back in its present state. They were commenting on a statement by Melbourne's Lord Mayor, Sir James Dinsay, that Australia be given back to the aborigines if the city were not selected as a site for the 1956 Olympic Games. Tribesmen of the Northern Territory said "No good! Might be if that boss make Australia like she was first time before, might be then we take him back." The tilt of the Leaning Tower of Pisa has increased by a little more than a quarter-inch in the last 15 years.

Black Market Buying Approved By Mayor
TEL AVIV—(P)—Can buying on the black market be justified? This crucial question is frequently discussed in Israel since Mayor I. Rokach of Tel Aviv openly admitted that he had authorized black market purchases of building material for a hospital after exhausting all other possibilities. Some disapproved of Mayor Rokach's action because, they said, government laws must be followed at any cost. One opponent went so far as to declare in a newspaper letter that, in order to express his indignation, he was leaving the political party to which Mr. Rokach belongs. Others heartily approved the action.

It has a service ceiling of 21,500 feet, a speed over 200 knots, wing span of 118 feet, length of 79 feet ten inches. Quality Surface In Kitchen And Baths Adds Value To Home

In building, buying or selling a home, profit returns are high for one strategically invested in quality floor and wall coverings. Two rooms that require special consideration when selecting floor and wall coverings are kitchens and bathrooms. There are two good reasons for this, according to a Titlepencil of America report on home inspection: First, these rooms are expected as closely by house-hunting homemakers as any other room in a home; Second, an attractive floor scheme in kitchen and bathroom is a luring selling point when buying a home.

Adherence to the following simple rules will help assure life-long utility and beauty in bathroom and kitchen and prevent offending probable buyers and decoration tastes when time comes to sell the home:

1. Select floor and wall coverings for durability, ease of maintenance and color. Many homes are bought and sold because a classified real estate advertisement stresses an all-day tile kitchen and bathroom.
2. Before buying material, seek advice from experts on color combinations. All floor and wall covering manufacturers have charts or other devices which enable the builder, buyer or seller to select proper color schemes.
3. When floor and wall materials are being installed, make sure manufacturer's directions are followed. This way the installation will be long-lasting and profitable.
4. Purchasing inferior materials

Israel Turning To Houses Of Earth

HAIFA — (AP) — To combat a housing shortage which grows worse with every new shipload of immigrants, Israel is studying the possibility of building thousands of houses out of earth.

The young nation needs 100,000 dwelling units immediately to shelter the latest influx of immigrants, most of whom now live in huts or tents. If the present immigration rate of 15,000 a month continues, the country will need hundreds of thousands more homes.

Since cement and other orthodox materials are expensive in Israel, the Hebrew Institute of Technology is conducting extensive tests to find the right mixture of earth, sand, water and a minimum of cement for construction in this climate.

A one-story model house already has been erected in Nirim, in southern Israel. Only a negligible amount of timber and steel was used. The basic material was earth. Time will be required to study the effects of sun, wind and rain on this type of construction.

Because they are low in price is not saving money. They probably will wear out shortly and replacement is costly.

Floor and wall coverings for kitchens and bathrooms should be chosen not only for decorative purposes, but for utilitarian reasons as well. These two rooms are "water stations" of the home, and in one metropolitan area as much as 60 gallons of water a day per person is consumed. Therefore a waterproof material such as clay tile in these rooms provides a surface that is easily maintained, colorful and lasts the life of the home.

Lumber Dealer Today Is Man Of Many Parts

Whether you want to build a house, finish an attic or just make a shelf, you can get many kinds of valuable aid from the businessman widely known as a "lumber dealer."

Nowadays the term "lumber yard" does not really begin to describe the nature of his place of business or the services he is prepared to give.

For one thing, while lumber remains an important commodity and doubtless will continue to be, the materials dealer today handles an extensive line of other building products, developed by modern technology. These products include a variety of fabricated building boards, which have their own merits.

Often the various products for building or improving a home will be found in an attractive setting not until progressive retail stores dealing in other types of goods, with a number of open self-service shelves and interesting, informative displays.

Expert Information
The materials dealer can supply expert information on the qualities of the building materials. For example, he can explain to the home owner the utility of a multiple-duty insulating board product, which at one cost builds, insulates, decorates and quiets sound.

Product data available from the materials dealer includes recommended way of handling and application. If the job requires skilled workmen, the dealer may be able to take care of that, too, either by his own arrangement with qualified contractors or by referral.

Ideas Advanced
Home owners who are modernizing sometimes need ideas as to designs or construction to assure the success of their projects. Here again, the materials dealer may be of assistance. Some dealers even offer a selection of modern plans for new homes, complete with architects' sketches and blueprints.

Financing is still another area where the materials dealer can help. He may extend installment credit for materials, or he may suggest appropriate lending agencies for financing to cover both materials and labor.

Thus it can be said that from the beginning to the end of almost any building project, the materials dealer can aid in many ways. He maintains a center not only for materials but also for services.

Remodel To Suit Needs

This cozy dining-living room, designed by W. H. Schumacher, Oklahoma City, Okla., architect, gains much of its warmth and charm from plywood and hardwood veneer wall paneling and built-in cabinets. Schumacher specifies hardwood plywood, equally adaptable to remodeling and new construction, for its stability, permanence, beauty and ease of maintenance.

In planning a home remodeling project, careful thought should be given to the interior. Improvements made inside the house are the most beneficial to its occupants, providing greater comfort, convenience and enjoyment for every member of the household.

The new interior should be planned with the family's particular living habits and needs in mind. In the kitchen, for example, adequate cabinet and counter space and proper arrangement of equipment will save steps and simplify the preparation of meals.

Housekeeping will be made lighter by the provision of ample storage facilities where needed in the home, particularly spacious closets in the bedrooms. These and other such details not only contribute to ease of maintenance, but add appreciably to the home's attractiveness.

Well-Suited Material
Well-suited for use in modernization is hardwood plywood, widely recommended by contractors and architects because of its strength, permanence, lightweight and other advantages. The cross-grained construction of plywood makes it resistant to cracking, splitting or warping. Many architects specify dry-wall construction both in remodeling and new construction, due to its stability and economy of application.

Plywood wall paneling, faced with rich, handsome-grained hardwood veneer, will give warmth and charm to any room. Paneling can be selected in a variety of either light or dark woods to blend with furnishings in a living room, dining room or library. Hardwood veneer surfaces do not mar easily and require little care. Periodic waxing and occasional wiping with a dust cloth is sufficient.

Other improvements might include installation of plywood flush doors throughout the house and easy-to-maintain cabinets and counters of hardwood plywood in the kitchen.

Beauty, Distinction
A storage wall of hardwood plywood will give beauty and distinction to the remodeled bedroom while providing abundant space for clothing, footwear, bedding and the like. This type of construction offers several advantages over the old-fashioned corner closet, notably in space economy. With the closet space distributed along the full width of the room, the storage wall need not be as deep as the conventional closet. This leaves more floor area for the furnishings which can be arranged to best advantage with no jutting closets to interfere. Sliding doors of plywood also will conserve space.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—How should new window screening be applied to the frame to make it snug and prevent bulges?

A—Begin by tacking down the top edge. Pull the screening down evenly and tightly to the bottom and check to see that the sides are even with the frame. Nail down the bottom and then the sides, tacking the molding with wire brads.

Q—What is a flush door?

A—Resembling a desk top in appearance, flush doors are flat and smooth and have no dirt-catching moldings. Flush doors of hardwood plywood are faced on both sides with attractively-grained veneers. Their use steadily increasing in homes and commercial structures, plywood flush doors resist sagging, warping and buckling because of plywood's cross-band construction with the grain of one layer of wood at right angles to the grain of adjacent layers.

Q—I plan to build a concrete garden pool, and would like to know how thick to make the concrete.

A—The concrete should be about six inches thick for the ordinary garden pool, with a cinder bed of about the same depth underneath. Take particular care that the proportions are right when mixing waterproof concrete.

Roof Damage May Be Avoided Easily

When a house is situated in an exposed location and high winds are frequent, manufacturers recommend that asphalt strip shingles be cemented down by applying a dab of quick-setting cement under each shingle tab.

If the tabs were not cemented down at the time the roofing material was applied, home owners in high wind areas are advised to have this done as a precaution against avoidable roof damage. The job involves little time and expense.

Volume Tells Life Story Of Borden

NORMAN — (AP) — The life story of Gail Borden has been published by the University of Oklahoma Press. Entitled "Gail Borden: Dairyman to a Nation," the book was written by Joe B. Prantz of the University of Texas faculty.

Although the nation knows Borden principally as the name of one brand of condensed milk, the book brings out the man's part in the history of Texas. Prantz tells how Borden became a leading citizen of Mexican-held Texas, helped write the first Texas constitution, founded the state's first permanent newspaper, and helped plan the city of Houston.

The state of Washington ranked seventh in production of 1949 stake-winning thoroughbreds.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: President Truman briefed Margaret on European gigolos; Kuomintang has political party inside U.S.A.; Chinatowns work for all-out U.S.-China war.

WASHINGTON — The President jokingly admitted the other day that he had given daughter Margaret a fatherly briefing about European gigolos before she left the country. The admission was made in a chat with Harold Russell, national commander of Amvets, when Russell was commenting on the good-will aspects of Margaret's trip.

"She's a better ambassador than anyone we've got over there," the Amvets boss told Margaret's proud papa.

"I swell up like a pizened pup whenever I hear that," Truman beamed. "It's hard for me to realize that she's grown up. I still think of her as so high."

The President held out his hand about even with the top of his desk. "In fact, I still call her 'baby' sometimes, but I warned her before she left that I didn't want any of those two-legged—" Truman paused; decided against a stronger word. "—guys over there calling her by that name."

contributed a secretary from his senate payroll. Actually, however, it is the taxpayers who pay all the bills, so that Colorado companies can get favored treatment. For the taxpayers pay the salaries of this office and also pay for the office space—all to help Colorado. If every senator did this for his state, the senate building would be swamped. Meanwhile, Senator Douglas of Illinois can't find office space on Capitol Hill for his committee investigating ethics in government.

Mac's intelligence chief — The recent statement by Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby, MacArthur's former intelligence chief in Korea, that he had warned Washington in advance of outbreak in Korea, is a far cry from what Willoughby told a congressional committee in Tokyo. In September of 1949, General Willoughby boasted to a group of visiting congressmen, led by M. G. Burnside of West Virginia and Charles Deane of North Carolina, that he didn't expect any war in Korea for at least two years. The attack by North Koreans came nine months later.

Does congress know? — Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson took a sly dig at congress the other day. In his opinion on the "fair trade" decision that led to the department-store price war, Jackson threw in this crack at the lawmakers: "To select casual statements from (congressional) floor debates—not always distinguished for candor or accuracy—as a basis for making up our minds what law congress intended to enact is to substitute ourselves for the congress. The constitution, in requiring three readings of an act in each House before final enactment, intended, I take it, to make sure that congress knew what it was passing and passed what it wanted."

Who's Who in Kuomintang — Kuomintang headquarters is located at 844 Stockton Street in San Francisco's Chinatown. Its directors include Pei Chi Liu, ex-official of the Nationalist ministry of education; Fong Chee, former counselor to the Nationalist Kwantung provincial government, which would correspond to a state government in this country; and Yong Chang Yu, former specialist for the legislative Yuan, one of five controlling Yuans of the Nationalist government.

The most influential director up until his death recently was Kwong Ping Shun, who actually belonged to the Nationalist legislature and attended sessions in China, while at the same time directing the Kuomintang in this country and maintaining an official residence in San Francisco.

Other Kuomintang directors in this country are importers, whose chief trade is with Formosa and whose business depends upon the Nationalist government. They include Hoo Shuck, Fong W. Doon, Fong Yue and Chin Dook Jow. Another director, Hung Jee Wong, is assistant manager of "The Young China," a pro-Kuomintang, Chinese-language newspaper published in San Francisco.

The Kuomintang in this country is also organized into five regions under the leadership of Chan Jack San, San Francisco; Louie Mon Ben, San Antonio, Texas; Ng Shi Jam, Portland, Ore.; Yee Jani Tong, New York City; and Show Kwok Jing, Chicago.

To help finance its activities, the Kuomintang owns several apartment houses and operates the Chien-Kuo (Chinese) language school in San Francisco.

Taxpayers pay again — The two Colorado senators — Johnson, a Democrat, and Millikin, a Republican — have set up a special office on Capitol Hill to solicit war contracts for Colorado firms. The office is run by Ed Keating, who was put on Johnson's payroll, while Millikin

WATER PROJECT PLANNED FOR MECCA PILGRIMS

CAIRO — (P) — The Saudi Arabian government has earmarked $1,578,400 to improve roads and water supply for Mecca, the Arab News Agency reports. This is the biggest allocation in the history of Islam's holy city, ANA added in a dispatch from Mecca. Tens of thousands of pilgrims from all over the Moslem world every year swell Mecca's population. Water supply is one of the main problems of this city, built in the desert.

Rubber Boom Bounces Money Into Pockets

RANGOON — (AP) — A rubber boom in the sleepy southern fishing center, Tavoy has bounced citizens right into the money. Money there comes so easily Rangoon folk sky-ride down for a weekend's fast profit-making, a government agent said.

He said it is difficult to meet a Tavoyan who is not rich. A world demand for rubber has brought about this happy state on the south coast. It sent prices to five times their normal but buyers easily recover their outlay.

Most south coast plantations are located in Communist-occupied territory. This, helps towards making illegal trading safe. Nonetheless he said buying in the badiands is a chancey business because the rebels are known to murder customers to retrieve stocks for another sale. The Communists, who are not averse to earning a fast buck also make customers pay for the privilege of trading in their territory which houses the richest plantations.

Construction plans for this sprayer may be obtained by requesting Plan No. 379 from Green.

The staff of Fort Worth's 1952 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show has been announced by President-Manager W. R. Watt, as follows:

W. A. (Bill) Kirk, assistant manager; Douglas B. Mitchell, assistant manager; Boyce House, publicity director; Grada Lee Johnson, secretary to the president-manager; and Mrs. E. Lackey, livestock department secretary.

The staff is the same as last year except the press of personal business caused Col. D. G. Talbot to resign as assistant manager. Talbot, who has been connected with the show every year since 1928 (except while serving in World War II) will serve as an official during the '52 exposition.

King became livestock superintendent five years ago, a position he held till 1951 when he was named assistant manager of the show. King is also agriculture and livestock department manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

Veteran Officials

Mitchell, secretary-treasurer of the National Cutting Horse Association, was horse show superintendent five years until he was made assistant manager of the exposition a year ago.

House is entering this third year as publicity director.

Miss Johnson has served in her present position five years. She is state president of Delta Rho Delta, an organization of business women.

Mrs. Lackey joined the show staff a year ago. Previously she was connected with the Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas.

Dates for the Fort Worth exposition are January 25 through February 3.

Carrying capacity of range land will be increased by approximately 2,200 head of cattle and add about $200,000 income annually for five years as a result of mesquite eradication in Clay, Archer and Wichita Counties, it is reported in the June issue of "West Texas Today," the West Texas Chamber of Commerce magazine.

Ranchers of the three counties are cooperating in a million-dollar spraying program.

Spraying is being done by smaller trainer type airplanes flying at low altitude and covering mesquite with approximately five gallons of four to one pounds of active ingredients per acre, according to Max Carpenter, Wichita County agent, and B. O. Crocker, PMA secretary for Wichita County.

The powerful hormone killer, 2-4-5-T, is being used.

Seventy-five thousand acres will be sprayed with the powerful hormone killer, 2-4-5-T, at a cost of $3.50 to $5 per acre.

The spray practices are based on work done at the Spur Farm Experiment Station by Supt. C. E. Fisher, his associates and others.

Jim Steen of Goldthwaite is the new assistant agricultural agent of Howard County, according to reports from over Big Spring way. Durward Lewter is the Howard County agent.

Who will get your cotton in 1951—the soldier on the battlefield in Korea or the boll weevil in your cotton field? That's something for cotton farmers to think about.

The government is calling for production of 16 million bales of cotton in 1951—fiber that is vitally needed by the armed forces and to supply civilian demand.

The Department of Agriculture reports a 19 per cent reduction from full yield of cotton in Texas in 1950 due to insect damage.

Basing its figures on the USDA report, the National Cotton Council points out that this amounted to 948,712 bales of cotton. This is an average of 55 bales per Texas cotton farm.

A fight is shaping up for the 1951 season—the farmer seeking to produce more bales and the boll weevil and other cotton bandits conspiring to sabotage his effort.

West Texas may harvest a pecan crop about 50 per cent of normal, says J. L. Rainey, San Angelo nurseryman and pecan authority. According to an Associated Press report, Rainey says the native trees along the Concho Rivers converging at San Angelo, will produce half a crop "if everything goes well."

Extremely dry weather has hurt native pecan timber but recent rains and those which may come between now and harvesting time in November will give producers a fair year.

Rainey says prices are to continue good. Native nuts have been bringing around 25 cents per pound and he says that is an incentive to the grower.

He says there have been a few spots of bad insect infestation around San Angelo. The worst pest has been the case-bearer which eats into the nut. Spraying of the trees, however, during recent days has eliminated much of the case-bearer danger.

NEW LIVESTOCK PAVILION—This new $125,000 livestock judging pavilion will be the setting for the greatest array of livestock shows in the history of the State Fair of Texas. In a fitting inauguration, the first show to be presented will be the Pan-American National Hereford Show, October 6-11. The new pavilion will seat 3,200 spectators around an arena 90 feet wide and 180 feet long.

Exhibits Planned Of Military Goods

An excellent opportunity for small manufacturers of Texas to learn how to obtain subcontracts of the Air Force, Navy and Army will be at a material exhibit in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum in Fort Worth, June 25-30, according to information received here by Johnny Bechtol of the Texas Employment Commission.

The exhibit is sponsored jointly by the Air Force, Navy and Army and the Texas Employment Commission has been invited to participate. Some 80 prime contractors for defense production will exhibit their products to show the small businessmen how subcontracts are placed.

Small business firms interested in the exhibit are invited to communicate with the Project Officer, Armed Forces Small Business Exhibit, P. O. Box 9038, Fort Worth.

YESTERDAY'S TELEPHONE NUMBERS ARE WRONG TODAY!

Look 'em up before you call

Every telephone number in Midland—5,500 of them—changed at midnight last night when the city's new dial system was placed in service.

Numbers you called yesterday... numbers you have jotted down... numbers you have been calling from memory... are WRONG numbers now!

The correct numbers are listed in your new GREEN telephone directory. Be sure you are right—look up the number in the new directory before you call.

If you do not have a copy of the new GREEN directory, just call the telephone business office—we'll be glad to send you one.

How to Telephone

Suppose you want to call 2-6199:

1. Place the receiver to your ear and listen for the steady hum of the dial tone.
2. Place your finger in the dial opening where you see the figure "2." Pull the dial around clockwise until your finger strikes the finger stop.
3. Remove your finger and let the dial spin back freely.
4. Now do the same with the other figures—6-1-9-9.

When you have finished dialing, you should hear a burr-rr-ring sound as the other telephone rings. If the line is busy, you will hear a fast buzz-buzz. In that case, hang up for a few minutes, then dial the number again.

Entomologists Describe Destruction By Beetles Of Pine Tracks In Texas

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Devastation of large tracts of East Texas pine by a large beetle is described in a new report by Agriculture Department entomologists.

In the Spring of 1950 small outbreaks of the Southern pine beetle, known scientifically as "dendroctonus frontalis," appeared near the Louisiana line. Soon the infestation had spread over portions of Hardin, Liberty and Polk Counties. Surveys showed three separate areas totaling 180,000 acres were spotted with killed trees.

Private land owners, the Texas Forest Service and the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine joined in a drive which is helping check the spread of the insect and leading to the salvage of large amounts of timber.

By November 100,000,000 board feet of timber were estimated to be dead or dying on the stump. An estimated 20,000,000 board feet which otherwise probably would have been wasted were sawed up into timber by January 1.

From an overhead view an area of trees killed by the beetle is easily identified by the red tinge of the tree tops—caused by the needles turning that color. Individual trees infested with the insect can be in diameter and larger, and will kill them in four to six weeks.

Another report recently received from Texas by the Agriculture Department tells of a serious spread in pink bollworm infestation of cotton fields.

R. W. White of San Antonio, acting chief of the pink bollworm division of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, sent in an account of the infestation.

"It is already apparent," he remarked, "that we are faced with a heavy and general infestation of the pink bollworm in the early fields, and considering the unusually large amount of very late cotton, the possibility of a heavy build-up of pink bollworm population late in the season is very obvious."

The pink bollworm, which came into Texas originally from Mexico, is considered one of the most destructive of all insects which attacks the staple. Many southern congressmen are joining with Texas legislators in efforts to keep it from spreading. So far the infestation is limited primarily to southern and south central parts of Texas.

Around The Capital
A Texas congressional staff worker has graduated from the Georgetown University Foreign Service School at the top of his class—with the highest grades made in the school during the last four years.

He is James Flannery, an aide to Rep. Olin E. Teague of College Station.

It was his scholastic ability that brought the 31-year-old Texan to the attention of local newspapers, but they found his family equally interesting. His wife, Herta, is Czechoslovakian. They have two children, Jim, Jr., three, and Heidi, nine months.

"I first met Herta when we occupied Konisberg, Czechoslovakia, in August, 1945," recalls Flannery. "I was a captain with the 79th Division and she sometimes cleaned the office."

"I got my discharge in Germany, took a job with UNRRA there and came back to visit her. I arrived in Konisberg on Saturday and found that the Czechs had ordered all the young unmarried girls to work camps in the Russian zone and they had to report Monday."

Has Extra Uniform
"Herta wore an extra uniform I had with me, put her hair up in braids underneath a helmet, and we drove across the border in my jeep Sunday night. The guards didn't even give us a second look."

"We got married in the Fall of 1946, when she was 17, and came to the United States early the next year."

Mrs. Flannery has had trouble getting her citizenship, but they hope it won't be long now until everything is settled. When she entered the U. S. they found the McCarran Act prohibited her from becoming a citizen, because she had once belonged to a totalitarian-sponsored organization.

When the Nazis annexed her part of Czechoslovakia in 1938 she was

FARMERS SLAY MICE PLAY

RED DEER, ALTA.—(AP)—Farmers east of here are wondering which is worse, coyotes or mice.

Last year the farmers declared war on the wily coyote, they vowed they'd wipe him out. They fairly well succeeded. Too much so, perhaps, because now they are becoming increasingly aware of a new threat—mice, millions of them.

As experienced hunters, trappers and farmers know, the coyote is the mouse's greatest enemy. The coyote as a mouser makes a cat look like an amateur.

Said one farmer: "We should pen our hens and small stock safely. Then let the coyotes run loose. It's by far the lesser of two evils."

Amp Rehabilitation Team Helps Out On Low Days

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Bob Smith was having one of his low days. He lay in his bed in Ward 34 at Walter Reed hospital and you could see he didn't care particularly what happened any more. The stumps where both his arms and legs were amputated had healed, but his morale was very low.

Two men walked into the ward. They were in civilian clothes, kept their hands in their pockets, and looked like ordinary hospital visitors. Smith didn't look up; neither did the other amputees in the ward.

"Hi, ya, soldier," said one of the visitors. "How's it going?"

Bob Smith just nodded in answer.

The other visitor walked around to the side where Bob's head faced, and took his hands out of his pockets. Only they weren't hands; they were hooks. He twitched his shoulders, to set the hook in operation, and deftly removed a single sheet of tissue from a box on the table. He carefully wiped his lips and tossed the used sheet in the waste basket.

Cigarette Technique
Then he twitched his shoulders again, and the hook darted into an inside pocket and came out with a cigarette. Another movement and he had a book of matches. He tore one off, struck it, lit the cigarette, shook the match out and put it in an ashtray.

Smith and his buddies were all eyes by this time. But the show wasn't over.

The other visitors began dancing around to the rhythm of music from a bedside radio. When he finished he pulled up his trouser legs, giving them all a long look at his two artificial legs.

That broke the ice. The two men, legless Herman Pheffer and armless Lonnie Carberry, are American Legion's "amp rehabilitation team."

They tour veterans' hospitals to show the wounded service men that amputation is not the end of the world. They show the newly-amputated that you can get around pretty well on artificial legs and take care of yourself fine with artificial arms. And they help the boys through the low days.

Regular Sales Pitch
Pheffer and Carberry had their low days, too. Both lost their limbs in World War II. Pheffer in Italy and Carberry in France. Smith, who lost all four of his limbs, was wounded in Korea.

After they've demonstrated their skill with their artificial limbs, the two morale-boosters go into a regular sales pitch. They try—and usually succeed—to convince the men that they shouldn't be downhearted. Carberry tells them how he operates his cotton farm near Waco, Texas, drives a tractor, shaves, and get along easily with his two hooks.

Pheffer, a Brooklyn, N. Y., native, shows how an artificial leg isn't a bar to dancing or running or turning. Both answer any questions the other amputees can ask.

They also visit the physical training sections, where the amputees learn to use their new limbs. They discuss the different types of artificial hands, legs and knee actions.

And there is nothing as good for an amputee's low day as to see a living example of how the handicap can be overcome.

HELPFUL WASPS

Although wasps sometimes damage fruit, they are very helpful to man, destroying large numbers of caterpillars and other harmful insects, thus doing far more good than harm.
