Where Do We Go From Here

A year ago this month the great American Summer exodus was getting under way. President Truman was spending a sultry Saturday afternoon back home in Missouri. Since the end of World War II, we had been living in an atomic age, and if anybody was thinking about war at the moment, it probably was in terms of push-buttons and swift retaliation by air.

That afternoon-it was just before Sunday dawn in the Far East — a war began on Korea's 38th parallel. Nobody here exactly called it a war. There were no pushbuttons, either, and as it turned out, there was no swift retaliation.

When we got into it, alone at first but almost immediately under the United Nations flag, nobody was quite sure where we were going. The idea seemed to be to push the Communist invaders of South Korea back to the 38th

Six months after the strange war-that-was-not-a-war started, it began to look almost as if we were not going anywhere. We had almost been pushed off the Korean is fairly equally divided, as is often peninsula; we had recovered and moved deep into North the case, each may fear that the Korea, far beyond the arbitrary 38th parallel; and we had been shoved back again while green troops talked about "bugging out."

Now we have recovered again. Over ridges and rice fields littered with dead Chinese Communists, we have forged our way back up the peninsula to a curving line that is mostly north of the 38th. Our troops are no longer green, and morale is high.

We have taken a terrible toll of North Korean Reds and the Chinese Communists who joined them. But we have paid heavily, too; after a year of fighting, our casualties, the number of men, ships and planes in combat, and the cost in dollars is greater than in first year of war against Japan.

But in that war, our policy was clear; there was no doubt where we were going.

In this one, even our immediate victory seems indecisive. We are talking about peace—anxiously, in fact. There are reports that Russia is talking about it, too, but nobody knows how seriously. Meantime, there are plenty more Red Chinese in North Korea, still more across the Yalu River in Manchuria. Apparently they are no less willing to die than the divisions already "clobbered" by important team match. His bid of Senator Lyndon Johnson's preparedthe UN forces.

Meantime, there have been long, drawn-out hearings in Washington. There seems to be less talk about tomorrow than about yesterday, not only in Korea but in the whole For Fortal Par Fortal whole Far East.

Where do we go from here?

After a whole year, we have built up our defenses, taken ships and planes out of mothballs, put new men in uniform—but we have nothing that looks like a policy for ly and could hardly barge out at the level of four. He knew his partner had something or other, but the men behind the

NEW DIAL TELEPHONES are on the job!

MIDLAND's new dial telephones are on the job!

Last Saturday at midnight, fast, accurate dial equipment took over the handling of your telephone calls.

Although the change took only a few seconds, it climaxed many months of work by scores of telephone men and women, here and elsewhere. To bring dial service to Midland, a modern new building was erected to house the new system;

thousands of complex dial switches were manufactured and installed; thousands of feet of wire and cable went into the new system, as well as millions of small connections. As a result, Midland telephone users now have the finest, most modern telephone service available in the world. When you lift your receiver, you have at your command a telephone system which is capable of making, on an instant's notice, any one of more than 48,500,000

We are glad to bring the new system to Midland, and we are sure you will like the speed and convenience of the new service—dialing is fast, easy, dependable.

different connections between the city's telephones.

It is a part of our program to expand and improve the telephone system here, to keep pace with the communications needs of this rapidly growing city.

Mass Voting Of Latin Americans Flayed At Meet

LAREDO -(AP)- The League of United Latin American Citizens has urged U. S. citizens of Latin-American descent to follow the dictates of their conscience in voting.

Members of the league struck at 'mass voting" by Latin Americans in a resolution passed Sunday as their twenty-second annual convention closed. They also called the wetback situation a "national scandal," and views on the hiring of Mexican farm labor for work in the United States. The resolution on more freedom in voting told Latin Americans they should vote for the person they felt was the best candidate. It said they should resist threats, economic pressure, strong arm actions, or other intimidations, when they go to the polls. Mass voting by Latin Americans, said the resolution, has (1) brought shame and embarrassment to all "right thinking" Latin Americans, and (2) created the conception in other sections of the country that Latin Americans are not yet ready to participate fully and freely in governmental affairs.

George J. Garda, a member of the Laredo Junior College faculty, was elected president of the league Corpus Christi was named the 1952 convention city.
