Glorieta Discovery Indicated At Y&H Wildcat In Yoakum

One and three-quarters miles north and slightly east of production in the Cobb-Glorieta field of Northeast Yoakum County, York & Harper, Inc., No. 1 J. S. Wright indicated as a discovery from the Glorieta on a drillstem test from 5,591 to 6,090 feet.

Tool was open six and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in one hour and 45 minutes. Oil was at the top in three hours and 23 minutes. It headed out every 20 or 30 minutes for three hours and seven minutes. No gauge was made on the headers, but pipe fillup was at the rate of 14.88 barrels of oil per hour.

Recovery was 630 feet of oil and gas-cut salty-sulphur water which was 25 per cent oil.

Hole was deepened to 6,074 feet where another drillstem test is being run with packer at 6,030 feet. Drilling samples from that section had good porosity and good oil staining. The pay was topped at 5,940 feet elevation of 3,560 feet. That makes No. 1 Wright 74 feet high on top of the pay to the pay in the closest producer in the Cobb field.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 13, block D, John H. Gibson survey and 16 miles north-east of Plains.

Lario Reports Final For Pennsylvania Opener In SE Borden

Lario Oil & Gas Company No. 1 T. L. Griffin, Southeast Borden County wildcat, five miles north of Vincent, and one and three-quarters of a mile west and three-quarters of a mile south of the nearest completed oil wells in the Retnecke field, has been finished as a new discovery and a commercial producer.

The well reported a 24-hour potential of 220.8 barrels of oil, flowing naturally, and no formation water.

The production is from open hole section at 7,103-10 feet in the top of the Pennsylvania limestone reef. The flow on the completion test was through a 12/64th inch tubing choke.

Flowing tubing pressure was 900 pounds. Shut-in casing pressure was 1,100 pounds.

Reef Top

Top of the reef is at 7,100 feet. Elevation is 2,381 feet. This new discovery is separated from the Retnecke field by several dry holes. The potential gas was calculated from an actual 15-hour flow.

The 5 1/2 inch casing is cemented at 7,103 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 46, block 25, H&C survey.

This prospect is one mile north of the town of Stanton and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey.

It was originally started under a permit from the Railroad Commission of Texas to drill to a possible bottom of 8,000 feet.

It is presumed that in the event the 7,038-7,167 foot horizon fails to make commercial production after being tested, that the prospector will be deepened at least to 8,000 feet—or another show of production at a lesser depth.

Magnolia Schedules 11,000-Foot Wildcat In E-C Crane Area

About six miles west of Ellenburger production in the Block 31 field of East-Central Crane County, Magnolia Petroleum Company spotted location for its No. 18 Katie W. Lea.

Railroad Commission of Texas application to drill calls for an 11,000-foot destination which should take the wildcat into the Ellenburger.

That formation in the Block 31 field produces at average total depth of 10,400 feet.

Drillsite is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 22, block 22, pal survey and 15 miles northwest of the town of Crane.

That puts it one and one-half miles east of production from the McKnight and Tubb in the southeast side of the Sand Hills field.

Work on No. 18 Katie W. Lea is to start immediately.

Permian Explorer Is To Be Drilled In Central Howard

Cosden Petroleum Corporation staked location for a 5,500-foot lower Permian wildcat in Central Howard County.

It will be drilled as No. 1 F. W. White, 1,980 feet from east and 497 feet from south.

Flood Peak Passes Into Missouri

Allies Report Progress On Truce Agenda

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—United Nations negotiators reported they made "some progress" Monday in Korean war cease-fire talks held in a friendly atmosphere with Communist delegates.

It was the first formal announcement of progress. Negotiators are still working on the agenda. It may be "24 hours or 24 days" before the agenda is completed and actual negotiations on armistice terms get underway, a spokesman said.

Two 35-minute sessions were held Monday in neutralized Kaesong. The next meeting was scheduled at 11 a.m. Tuesday (7 p.m. Monday, CST).

There wasn't an armed Communist visible within half a mile of the house where talks were held.

"It is much better now that we are not surrounded by guards," said Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate.

"The Communists have fulfilled their agreement with respect to the neutrality of the conference site," a UN communique said. "In that no armed personnel was observed."

Armed Red military police were in the war-battered city. They were there by agreement reached Sunday. Some smiled at the second group of 20 UN newsmen to go into the city. Others scowled.

The negotiations themselves were conducted in a formal atmosphere across a green-topped table in a secluded conference room.

"But it was not a formality that would prevent an agreement," said Lt. Col. Howard S. Lewis of New York, a UN staff officer who was present.

"Everyone was more friendly today than ever before."

Reds Ready If Talks On Truce Fail

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(AP)—Allied officers Monday said the Reds are prepared to launch a massive attack if cease-fire negotiations break down.

A pooled dispatch from the advance base at Munsan quoted the unidentified officers as saying the Reds could throw 72 divisions at the Allies. A Red division usually is figured at 9,000 to 10,000 men.

They said the Reds could sustain such an attack five to seven days.

Eighth Army plans in case the cease-fire talks fall are, of course, secret. But officers have noted signs of a Chinese-North Korean buildup. They assert the United Nations troops are ready for whatever the Reds try.

There has been little ground action since the cease-fire talks started. Both sides have had time to rest and rebuild.

The Allied air effort has been slowed only by the weather. UN warplanes have pounded incessantly at Red airfields to prevent the Communists' transferring their planes to bases south of the Yalu River boundary with Manchuria.

Allied Naval forces also have paid little heed to end-the-war talk. Cruisers and destroyers have shelled Red rail and highway traffic, and have pounded harbor installations on both the east and west coasts of North Korea.

Charges of murder were filed Monday against Fred Rodriguez in the Saturday night pistol slaying of Pascual Martinez, 31-year-old Midland electrician.

Charged before Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson, Rodriguez was released under $2,000 bond, pending action by the grand jury.

Rodriguez, himself, was stabbed in the shoulder in the knife-and-gun battle which proved fatal to the electrician. He told police he shot Martinez after the latter had attacked him with a knife.

Funeral services for Martinez were held Monday morning in the St. George's Catholic Church with interment in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of the Newline W. Ellis Chapel.

Martinez is survived by his widow, Helen; six children, Toledo, Manuela, Maria, Adia, Pascual and Santiago, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Martinez.

OPS Announces Food Price Surveys

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) Monday announced it will conduct a country-wide survey of wholesale and retail grocery costs and prices during the next two months.

The aim, OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle said in a statement, is "to lay the basis for a program of posted dollar-and-cents 'community prices' in the nation's grocery stores."

DiSalle said his organization wants to learn "whether there is sufficient stability in the prices of a number of standard grocery items to make a 'community pricing' program possible."

The survey of wholesalers will begin Monday, July 30; that of retailers, Thursday, August 2.

Mexico Drafts New Pact On Braceros

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Mexico readied a proposed draft resolution on migrant harvest workers Monday for presentation to U. S. negotiators.

Alfonso Guerra of the Mexican Foreign Ministry declined to make it public until it had been shown to U. S. officials. But press reports said it covered these points:

Mexican and U. S. harvest workers to be guaranteed equal treatment and pay.

Mexico to fix the maximum number of migrant workers (braceros) who may go to the U. S. without causing a labor shortage in Mexico.

Workers already sent to the U. S. this year under a previous agreement to be covered by the new one.

Fresh Word Received Of AP Photographer

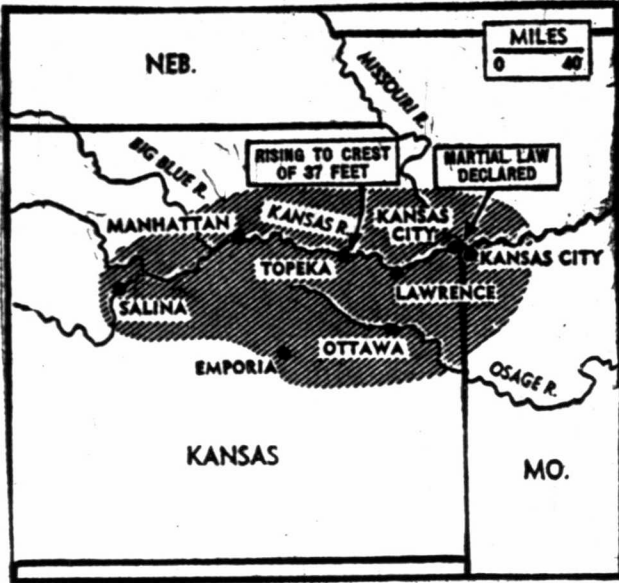

KAESONG, KOREA—(AP)—Fresh word of Frank Noel, captured Associated Press war photographer, came out of Monday's press visit to this cease-fire city.

He was well and healthy two months ago "somewhere in North Korea" when seen by a Chinese correspondent named Pang.

Pang, who speaks English, was one of seven or eight Chinese newsmen who chatted with United Nations newsmen during the truce conference recess Monday.

Noel was captured last winter in Northeast Korea.

MISERY IN KANSAS—The most costly flood in U. S. history has inundated major portions of Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., and brought near-paralysis to the shaded area on the map above. The damage has been estimated between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. The flood Monday passed its peak in The Kansas City area and rolled eastward through Missouri.

One Texan Shot, Two Captured In Arizona Robbery

GRAND CANYON, ARIZ.—One man was shot and two were captured early Monday after they took approximately $8,700 from the pay office of the El Tovar Tourist Hotel here, the Coconino County sheriff's office reported.

Officers made the capture following a run-down between roadblocks in the area and recovered the loot.

Two Known Dead, Five Others Missing In Air Crash At Sea

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA—(AP)—Two persons, including an American Roman Catholic bishop, were reported killed Monday and five others were believed dead in the crash of an Australian plane at sea off the New Guinea coast.

The American killed was Bishop Stephen Applegate of Wichita, Kan., Roman Catholic bishop of Madang, New Guinea.

Father William Bachus of Brooklyn, N. Y., a missionary stationed at Lae, New Guinea, also was aboard the ill-fated craft, which belonged to Qantas Airlines.

The Sydney office of the airlines said the plane came down in the sea on a flight from Wau to Lae. It said there was no sign of life near the craft.

Two Bodies Recovered

The two clergymen had visited Wau to consecrate a new church there.

Press reports from the scene said the plane had been located about 40 feet below the surface, half a mile from the shore, 10 miles south of Lae. They said the bodies of Bishop Applegate and a woman passenger had been found and the other five persons aboard also were believed to have died.

A diver was sent to the wreckage to search for the bodies of four other passengers, including another woman, and the pilot.

The crash occurred during a heavy storm shortly after the pilot had informed the Lae tower he would land in five minutes.

Murder Charged In Fatal Shooting Of Pascual Martinez

Charges of murder were filed Monday against Fred Rodriguez in the Saturday night pistol slaying of Pascual Martinez, 31-year-old Midland electrician.

Charged before Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson, Rodriguez was released under $2,000 bond, pending action by the grand jury.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Rioting In Iran Brings Martial Law

TEHRAN, IRAN—(AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh proclaimed martial law in Tehran Monday and ordered a big roundup of Communists following rioting in which between four and 15 persons were killed and more than 150 injured.

Police arrested more than 200 leftists following Sunday night's rioting, which started with a Communist demonstration protesting the arrival of President Truman's representative, W. Averell Harriman, for talks with Mossadegh on the oil nationalization crisis.

Reports varied on the number of casualties in the fighting between the Reds and Mossadegh's National Fronters. An official police communique said one policeman and three civilians were killed. Earlier, however, the government radio reported two policemen killed, and a high police source said 14 civilians are dead.

Bodies Removed

Several bodies of members of the underground Communist Tudeh Party were reported carried away from the riot scene for Communist-style "martyr funerals."

The police communique said 59 policemen were injured seriously enough to be hospitalized, while 153 others suffered less serious hurts. It said six civilians were injured critically, 55 others hospitalized and "many others" released after treatment for minor injuries.

Harriman Monday laid a wreath on the tomb of the present shah's father, the late Shah Reza Pahlavi, then went to the premier's home for the first meeting with Mossadegh.

The U. S. envoy missed Sunday night's violence. He and his wife were staying at a place 12 miles up in the mountains.

The riot in Parliament Square at dusk Sunday, which was broken up by police rifle fire and Army tanks, gave violent impetus to the tension between the Communist Tudeh and Mossadegh's Nationalists which has existed since the nationalization war was passed in May.

The Mossadegh government, while standing firm on its program to get the AIOC out of Iran, is worried about Tudeh efforts to use the popular oil nationalization issue to

President To Fly Over Flood Area

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman will fly over the Missouri-Kansas flood area Tuesday.

The White House Monday announced Truman will leave in his plane, the Independence, about 10 a.m. and will return Tuesday night.

Mrs. Truman, and their daughter, Margaret, will accompany him and will remain for a while in their hometown of Independence, Mo.

The White House said the President will fly "far enough to see the whole picture," undoubtedly flying as far west over the flood stricken area as Manhattan, Kan.

At a breakfast in the Mayflower Hotel Monday morning, Truman conferred with Missouri Governor Forrest Smith and members of Missouri's congressional delegation on the flood situation.

The breakfast was planned some time ago as a social gathering but it turned into an emergency conference on the flood.

Truman Saturday asked Congress for a $15,000,000 emergency flood relief appropriation.

Negro Air Force Sergeant Dies In Chair For Murder

HUNTSVILLE—(AP)—A former negro Air Force sergeant was electrocuted in the Texas State Prison early Monday for the murder of his 22-year-old negro girl friend.

Y. D. Robinson, 22, was pronounced dead at 12:08 a.m. He was strapped into the electric chair at 12:02 and received the first charge at 12:05.

Robinson proclaimed his innocence until the end. He was convicted of murder in the fatal shooting of Barbara Jean Roberts Thompson on March 9, 1950, in Wichita Falls. He was stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base at the time.

In his last statement, Robinson said, "I am not guilty. It was an accident as I have stated before. I thank the Lord for having mercy upon me. He will save me from my sins for He prepareth a table for me. That's all."

Kansas City Area Starts Digging Out

KANSAS CITY, MO.—(AP)—The nation's costliest flood passed its destructive peak in the Kansas City area Monday and surged on eastward in Missouri.

But this metropolitan area of 900,000 persons and Eastern and Central Kansas still reeled from the impact of high waters.

The twin furies of fire and flood lashed at Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., for the fifth consecutive day.

Four industrial districts were under water. Transportation was crippled. The water supply was curtailed. A seven-block fire burned fiercely and destructively—just as it has since last Friday.

In Eastern and Central Kansas, the swollen Kansas River and its tributaries receded generally, permitting some of the thousands of homeless to return to mud-baked areas.

But many of the towns still lacked power and water facilities.

Eastward in Missouri, the Missouri River crest rolled towards the central part of the state.

Its destructive power still was there, but there were no great industrial cities in its path.

Damage Estimates Climbed

The cities along the river still are digging out of a flood that hit earlier this month. The Missouri runs 900 miles across the state from Kansas City on the west to St. Charles on the east. There it empties into the Mississippi.

All vehicular bridges between Kansas City and St. Charles are closed because of high water.

Seventeen deaths have been caused by the gigantic flood.

Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of the Army Engineers, said Sunday night it appeared the cost will run considerably more than the $500,000,000 he estimated on his arrival from Washington last weekend.

President Truman, who requested Pick to make a personal survey, designated flooded parts of both states as disaster areas.

Train and highway transportation in both states was curtailed (Continued On Page Seven)

Leopold Abdicates Throne Of Belgium

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM—(AP)—King Leopold III gave up his throne here Monday, stepping down in favor of his elder son, Prince Baudouin.

The king signed the abdication document ending his 17-year reign at 12:19 p.m. in the hall of the Brussels Royal Palace.

The abdication act was countersigned by Prince Baudouin as chief of state and by Prime Minister Joseph Pholien and Justice Minister Ludovic Moysesen, the crown notary.

Almost 200 other prominent Belgian government personalities gathered to witness the dramatic ceremony, which came after years of bitter wrangling over the king's marriage to a commoner and his relations with the Germans during World War II.

Before he signed, Leopold called on the nation to rally round his son, who succeeded his father immediately as king of the Belgians.

Leopold spoke first in Flemish, then in French—the country's two national languages.

Baudouin does not receive the royal powers until Tuesday, when he takes the oath to the Constitution before Parliament. In the interim 24 hours, the cabinet will hold the royal powers.

Deadline On Sale Of Matador Ranch Extended 30 Days

LONDON—(AP)—Shareholders of the Matador Land and Cattle Company Monday were given another month to decide whether to accept an American financial syndicate's offer of $18,000,000 for 312,000 acres of Texas Panhandle cattle ranches.

Negotiations for the sale are in an advanced state, Monday was the original deadline on the syndicate's offer, but this now has been extended to August 16.

A spokesman for Leonard Brothers, an international banking firm with an interest in the syndicate, said notice of the extension had been mailed to Matador shareholders.

Wink Band Director Moves To Crane Job

WINK—Wildcat Band Director J. R. Dickason has resigned his position with the school system here to accept a similar place at Crane.

His resignation, along with that of Mrs. Mildred Howard, fourth grade teacher, was accepted at the school board's regular meeting last Thursday.

Dickason has been band director here the last four and one-half years.

The two resignations brings the number of vacancies to be filled to four. Superintendent R. A. Lipscomb said he has several applications for the band director's job and an even greater number of applications for the principal's position vacated recently by Bryan C. Henderson.

The fourth vacancy is that of junior high football coach. The post was vacated when Frank Barton was made assistant high school coach succeeding Bill Oglesby, who was called into the Marine Corps.

Ex-Wife Of Milton Berle Slashes Wrists In Suicide Attempt

NEW YORK —(P)— Actress Joyce Mathews, former wife of comedian Milton Berle, slashed her wrists Sunday in a suicide attempt while with showman Billy Rose in his plush midtown apartment.

The drama brought Berle to the hospital beside of Miss Mathews. Rose summoned his wife, former Olympic swimmer Eleanor Holm, to the apartment located over the Ziegfeld Theater.

Saul Richman, Miss Mathews' special manager, said she had called on Rose to discuss television work and newspaper reports linking her name with Rose's.

Miss Mathews "felt all her work would be jeopardized" because of the reports and that the custody of her daughter, Vicki, six, would be taken away from her, Richman said.

In the hospital, where her condition was described as not serious, Miss Mathews was reported in good spirits. Asked by police to give the motive for her act, she replied:

"I just love razor blades."

Police further quoted her as saying: "There is no romantic tieup between me and Billy Rose. I have no romantic interest in him."

14 Airmen Escape When Pilot Lands 'Boxcar' In Field

EL PASO —(P)— The pilot of a stricken Air Force "Flying Boxcar" chose to crash-land near here Sunday, rather than land on a busy highway.

The pilot eased his two-engine C-119 into a field near the roadway after one engine had failed. Fourteen persons were aboard, but none was injured seriously. All were military personnel.

The cargo plane crash-landed beside U. S. Highway 180, six miles east of here, enroute to Carlsbad, N. M. The pilot was attempting to reach El Paso International Airport for an emergency landing.

Police blocked eastbound traffic on the highway but were unable to block westbound vehicles in time for the pilot to use the surfaced road.

The plane was damaged severely.

Classes will begin July 24 in general musicianship, conducting, marching and twirling, elementary and intermediate theory, in addition to band performance.

14 Airmen Escape When Pilot Lands 'Boxcar' In Field

EL PASO —(P)— The pilot of a stricken Air Force "Flying Boxcar" chose to crash-land near here Sunday, rather than land on a busy highway.

The pilot eased his two-engine C-119 into a field near the roadway after one engine had failed. Fourteen persons were aboard, but none was injured seriously. All were military personnel.

The cargo plane crash-landed beside U. S. Highway 180, six miles east of here, enroute to Carlsbad, N. M. The pilot was attempting to reach El Paso International Airport for an emergency landing.

Police blocked eastbound traffic on the highway but were unable to block westbound vehicles in time for the pilot to use the surfaced road.

The plane was damaged severely.

This story of modern Midland, told in photographs, will be distributed as long as the large supply lasts. It was prepared and published by The Reporter-Telegram as a public service. Envelopes suitable for mailing are available with the brochure.

James A. Hard celebrated his birthday Sunday, by greeting 200 guests at a reception in the nursing home where he lives.

Hard greeted each of the guests with a handshake, but he had to take their greetings sitting down.

The aged veteran was born in nearby Victor and enlisted in the Union forces when he was 19.

Acheson Says Lull Would Be Followed By Blow Elsewhere

WASHINGTON —(P)— Secretary of State Acheson has cautioned that if the country allows itself to be lulled into a letdown by Korean armistice talks "we will be hit within the next six months to a year with a much tougher blow somewhere else."

Acheson also said that "the whole heart and essence" of the policy the Truman Administration has been following is not to force a showdown with the communists in Korea and not to permit the Reds to force one there.

He made the remarks in an off-the-record talk here June 29 to a group of magazine and book publishers. The State Department Sunday night made public a transcript, explaining that it did so at the request of several persons who were present.

Two senators, a Democrat and a Republican, agreed meanwhile that any peace negotiated in Korea must not leave North Korea "a festering sore, a threat to South Korea and a knife in the back of Japan."

The words were those of Senator Bridges (R-NH), Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) who appeared with him on a television program, conducted. O'Mahoney spoke sharply against "any permanent recognition of the 38th parallel as a North-South Korean boundary and urged a united Korea."

Must Use Time Wisely

Bridges said if Korea is to remain half Democratic and half Communist, American troops will have to stay there "indefinitely" because the Communists could "be at the throats" of the South Korean again any time.

In his talk, Acheson said that if it is possible to bring peace to Korea, "it will be because of the efforts which we have already made and the sacrifices of the men in Korea." He added:

"The success of our policy will mean only one thing, and that is that we have held off this conspiracy against us and that we have some time which, if used wisely, will give us the power and give us the union with powerful Allies which can deter World War III.

"If we do not do that, if we allow ourselves to be lulled by Korea, I can assure you that we will be hit within the next six months to a year with a much tougher blow somewhere else.

"If we do not make the efforts now, we will be unprepared for that blow. We may completely deter it if we now all bend together every effort we can to go forward with the program."

The MATURE PARENT

Don't Expect Your Child To Tell You Everything

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Grace Bennett prided herself on being her daughter's "confidant." When her friends commented on the closeness of their relationship, she would say happily, "Oh, yes, Dottie tells me everything she does. We are more like sisters than a mother and daughter."

When Dot was 17, she met a young man in a drugstore and allowed him to buy her a soda. Two days later she went to a movie with him. She did not suggest introducing him to her mother because it would have meant explaining the drugstore episode. It would have meant emotional reproaches from the parent who liked to think she was informed of her child's every thought and act.

So Dot kept her dates with the young man a secret. The more she saw of him, the more impossible it became to tell her mother about him. As she loved her mother, lying to her made Dot feel wicked and guilty. One night, when Mrs. Bennett was boasting to some guests about Dot's devotion to her, Dot knew she couldn't stand lying any more. She left home the next day and wired her mother that she had married the young man.

She got her divorce on her 20th birthday.

It is very foolish indeed for us to boast about "knowing everything" our children do. When they do something that we don't know about, they don't have the courage to disillusion us. So they keep quiet about what they have done.

The mother who announces complacently that she is her son's "best girl" is apt to be the last person to learn that he has acquired a real one.

Over-anxiety for children's confidence makes us too emotional to be entrusted with the news that they have made a mistake or gotten into trouble. In trouble, children want help—not tearful reproaches for failing to tell us they intended to get into it.

Ebbs And Flows

It is very pleasant to be close to the people we love. If we are, we shouldn't feel any need to brag about it. We should feel no need to be informed of everything they think and do.

A wise man who also was a psychiatrist once said to me: "A growing human relationship, like other growing things, is subject to seasons of withdrawal and return. No matter how much we love or are loved, we should always be prepared for ebbs as well as flows of 'closeness' between us and the people we love."

Parents of adolescent children should write that on their blackboards five hundred times.

Remembering it, Dinah's mother will not make a nuisance of herself when her daughter develops a sudden reserve about her affairs. As she knows that roots are busiest in seasons when no leaves are seen, she will not pry and dig at Dinah for information. She waits because she does not want to disturb the roots where growth is in the making.

Then she will get her reward. Quite suddenly one day, Dinah will say, "Mother, you were right about speaking to strange boys. They rush you. They take too much for granted. It's a silly way to get to know anyone. I've tried it. It didn't work."

It's only when we don't demand that they are willing to keep in radio contact, checking their course with the control tower.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Stella Mae King, et al, against Indemnity Insurance Company of North America, an out-of-state firm.

Mrs. King's suit alleges her husband, Paul King, was an employee of Tex-Harvey Oil Company when he received a head injury Nov. 2, 1950.

The accident, her suit claims, caused her husband to suffer a cerebral hemorrhage on Nov. 9, 1950, which resulted in an automobile accident that caused his death.

The suit further asks the court to set aside an award "in excess of $1,000" by the Industrial Accident Board of Texas on June 20.

Mrs. King is suing for compensation of $25 a week for 360 weeks, or a total of $9,000.

Sheath Dress Gets Fall Apron

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—The sheath dress, dominant for daytime this last season, is still with us for Fall. But it's a sheath with a difference. Aprons bell out from the stiletto slimmness of the new sheath; puffs and rounded hips appear; there are many curved-away overskirts and swooping side panels.

The color gray and the fabric jersey are both mounting in daytime dress importance for Autumn. Jersey is no longer quite so casual. It appears in afternoon dresses and even in some short dinner gowns.

Generally, skirts for daytime dresses are wider this Fall and often are lined from waist to hem with taffeta, buckram or organdie. Or, crinoline is used either in the hip area or at the hem only. These linings give skirts the fashionable, thick look and make the wearing of a skirt on a cold day, with a short wool or fur jacket, entirely practicable.

The apron dress, left, as done by Mollie Parris in beige wool has the sheath look. Actually, the basic dress is need-like. The apron, falling in soft pleats from the waistline, gives an impression of front fullness. It's lined in silk to allow its sufficient weight to hang properly. The dress is belted in black calf. A double-breasted front is closed by small, tailored buttons in black. This same designer does heather gray jersey, right, with front-flung fullness. Fullness is gathered into the waistline, cinched by a black calf belt. The bodice is smocked and front closing is accomplished with hooks-and-eyes. Collar is narrow and neat; the sleeves are slim.

Stalin's Daughter Reported Wed In $900,000 Ceremony
LONDON—P—Russia's Prime Minister Stalin reportedly has married off his daughter, Svetlana, to the son of a Politburo member in a $900,000 blaze of splendor.

Reports of the wedding were published in the London Sunday Express and in three Italian publications. The reports were attributed to "Iron Curtain newspapers" and to Russian sources in Geneva.

Mikhail Kaganovich, son of Politburo member Lazar Kaganovich, was named as the bridegroom. Svetlana, 27, has been married before and in 1945 had a child, but the reports of the new marriage made no mention of her first husband.

The Rome newspaper, Momento Sera said, the Russian dictator first opposed the marriage because Kaganovich is Jewish, but that Stalin later relented and ended up as host to a $900,000 wedding. The Sunday Express said Svetlana's wedding dress cost $280,000.

The reports gave this picture of the nuptials:
The wedding took place July 3. Only 160 guests—and no Eastern or Western diplomats attended.

Pink Crimean champagne, sweet Armenian peach brandy and vodka flowed until dawn. Many guests "eventually became the worse for wear and slept off the effects in the palatial anterooms of the Kremlin."

Svetlana and her husband now are honeymooning in the satellite countries of Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Communists there have been ordered to spare no expense in entertaining them.

Polish Resistance Army

Often you hear it said that Russia doesn't want a big war now because she fears her satellites would prove untrustworthy in battle.

The regular Polish army, under command of Russian General Rokossovsky, is shot through with resistance members and sympathizers.

The Polish peasants raised such a furor about certain restrictive, collectivizing proposals affecting their farms that the Kremlin's puppet government had to back down.

Yet with all this acknowledged strength, the Polish underground is playing an extremely cautious hand.

The mood is one of watchful waiting. The men of the underground, remembering Poland's costly premature uprising against the Nazis in World War II, are determined not to repeat that mistake.

When will that be? The Poles have no idea. But they are prepared to wait a long time.

The Poles are not telling the West: "Liberate us now or our resistance will collapse. We cannot be expected to risk our lives indefinitely for a freedom that may never come."

They are not built that way. An unquenchable flame of independence burns in them, and no oppressor, however cruel, can snuff it out.

If it is true the Russians are worried over the loyalty of their satellites in war, they must be troubled most of all by the fierce courage and the infinite patience of their tireless enemies, the Poles.

Statistics show that a lot of the time a checkered career leads to a striped suit.

Drew Pearson says: Chiang brother-in-law tries to corner soybean market; From "ham and eggs" to "oil and gold"; GOP outlines campaign targets for '52.

WASHINGTON — American trade negotiators in Korea have noted with interest that the Chinese Communists are using American Jeeps. The American public also has wondered not only how the Communists were able to obtain American equipment, but why the Nationalist government was driven out of China.

The sub-rosa operations of the Chiang Kai-Shek family may be one of the answers. Another of their operations has just come to light—a move by a Chiang brother-in-law, with other wealthy Chinese, to corner the soybean market at the expense of the American public.

The brother-in-law is T. L. Soong, brother of Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, who formerly handled much of the three and a half billion dollars worth of supplies which the United States sent to China during the war.

One of the strange things about the soybean manipulation was that its operators knew exactly the right time to buy up the world's soybean supply—a few weeks before the Communists invaded Korea.

Recently this column told how Eugene Soong, son of T. L. Soong, together with L. K. King, son of Dr. H. H. King, another brother-in-law, sold a huge quantity of precious tin to the Chinese Communists. As a result, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has barred this group, together with three law partners of ex-Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, from getting export licenses to trade with any country for three years.

It was the father of Eugene Soong, T. L. Soong, who bought up half a million bushels of soybeans before the Korean war in May, 1950. Soybeans are used for cattle and human food, in manufacturing plastics and paints, and are essential for war production. And 56 Chinese bought up the huge quantity of 6,986,000 bushels on the Chicago Board of Trade at $2.34 a bushel.

Shortly thereafter the price began to climb. It soared and soared. Finally, five days after the Communists invaded Korea, the price hit $3.45-3.2 a bushel, and the group sold out.

T. L. Soong is the same man in charge of supplies sent over the Burma Road at a time when a series of warehouse fires and "sabotage" caused the disappearance of large quantities of war material.

Shortly thereafter, Soong left for the United States on a diplomatic passport, and was moved into an even more important spot in Washington—chief procurement officer of Chinese war supplies.

Soong is still here. But instead of handling war supplies he now is speculating in soybeans at the expense of the American public.

Operations like this may be one reason why the disillusioned Chinese people threw out the Soong-Kung dynasty and accepted communism as a lesser evil.

Oil And Gold Ex-Senator Sheridan Downey of California recently met radio correspondent Rudy Block in a Capitol corridor. Downey, who rose to political fame on an old-age pension scheme known as "ham and eggs," now is lobbying at $3,000 a month for "tideland" and "oil and gold."

"Well, Senator," said Block, as they shook hands, "I see it's from ham and eggs to oil and gold."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

When both sides are bidding away like mad you often get the chance to settle for a sure profit. It doesn't pay, of course, to sell out too cheap—but it's even more unprofitable to wind up with a loss simply because you're too greedy.

The best rule is to bid as naturally as possible in these situations. Double when you have good defensive values; keep bidding when you have good offensive values; pass and leave it up to your partner when you have already told your story.

Today's hand is a lesson for the average player rather than for the expert. West doubles four diamonds because he has good offensive values—including four trumps that may produce a trick and that are sure to be troublesome to declare in any case.

Some experts might get away with passing four diamonds. East might bid five clubs—and an expert East would make that contract.

The double of four diamonds yields a far surer profit. What's more, if the East-West cards are well played the double will bring in just about as much revenue as an East-West game at clubs.

West opens the king of clubs against four diamonds, holding the trick. He sees the singleton spade in dummy and acts promptly to eliminate ruffing tricks. That he leads a trump at the second trick.

South wins and leads a spade. West steps up with the jack of spades and leads a second trump. That ends the threat of a spade ruff.

South wins the second trump and leads a second spade, whereupon the defenders win and return a third spade. The defenders merely continue clubs to make declarer ruff a second time.

By this time declarer has only as many trumps as West. He can never bring in a spade trick, but is limited to his six trumps. South is set 700 points, less 100 for honors. That's a perfectly good value for a somewhat doubtful game at clubs. It'll take 600 points every day of the week.

Q—The bidding has been: North 1 Heart, East 1 Spade, West 2 N.T., Pass. You, South, hold: Spades A-J-10-6-3, Hearts 7-5, Diamonds A-Q-J-4-2, Club 9. What do you do?

A—Bid three diamonds. You intend to carry the bidding past game eventually, since a slam at spades or diamonds is a very strong possibility. At this moment there is no need to show you full strength. Make it easy for your partner to show the nature of his hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades Q-J-9-6-4, Heart 8, Diamonds 7-6-4-2, Clubs Q-8-7. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

Eisenhower's Recent Speech Is Mark Of Internationalism

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Fourth of July speech before the English Speaking Union in London is being studied closely in Washington as a declaration of his political principles.

If the Republican Party takes Eisenhower as its presidential candidate in 1952, it will have to take the general's ideas along with the man. For unless the general has a complete change of character from a political bug bite, he will not surrender his principles just for the sake of being agreeable to the ultra-reactionary Republican hierarchy.

General Eisenhower's speech in London was a clear-cut and forceful declaration in favor of international cooperation. The main theme was the need for unification in Europe. This is, of course, not an American political problem. It's up to the Europeans.

But in the course of his remarks, General Eisenhower emphasized that this also is an American and a British problem.

"Could we not help?" he asked. "We, the peoples of the British Commonwealth and of the United States have profited by unity at home. If with our moral and material assistance, the free European nations could attain a similar integration, our friends would be strengthened, our own economies would be improved, and the laborious North Atlantic Treaty machinery of mutual assistance vastly simplified."

As for America's contribution to this effort, General Eisenhower defined it simply. "We must develop promptly the American force that will assure the safety of our friends upon the continent and the security of the free world," he said.

Meet The Challenge "This is the challenge of our times," he continued—"that until satisfactorily met, establishes priorities in all our thoughts, our work, our sacrifices. The hand of the aggressor is stayed by strength—and by strength alone."

Now this is a doctrine of internationalism. It is far removed from the traditional Republican brand of isolationism. The people who advocate that America should "go it alone," those who believe that American foreign aid programs should be cut drastically, and those who even believe that the American defense mobilization should be slowed down will find little comfort in General Eisenhower's views.

The general paid his respects to this type of thinking in no uncertain terms.

"The project of achieving European unity faces the deadly danger of procrastination, timid measures, slow steps and cautious stages," he declared. "Granted that the bars of tradition and habit are numerous and stout, the greatest bars to this, as in any human enterprise, are the prejudices of the past. It is in a marked contrast to the down-turned mouthings of the prophets of gloom. It is good political campaign strategy.

This difference points up the major issue which the Republican convention delegates have to decide in the next 11 months. Are they going to take a Taft foreign policy? Or will they take an Eisenhower foreign policy?

There is a lift in this kind of talk. It is in marked contrast to the down-turned mouthings of the prophets of gloom. It is good political campaign strategy.

Surgeons Remove Six-Inch Blade From Negro's Head

NEW YORK — A team of four surgeons Sunday removed a six-inch knife blade from a man's head in a difficult operation that lasted seven and a half hours.

The patient, Joseph Alexander, 33, a negro shipping clerk, was reported holding his own Monday at the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn.

The knife blade had been driven through the Brooklyn man's head behind the eyes in a street stabbing. A hospital spokesman said the surgeons, headed by Dr. Aaron J. Berman, removed "a good part" of the brain in getting out the knife blade.

The extent of permanent damage by removal of the brain tissue could not be determined immediately, the spokesman said.

The blade entered Alexander's head at the right temple, pierced the skull and almost broke the skin above the left ear.

"But if I lost I couldn't pay." "I'd be willing to wait. That is if you'd stay around here, where I'd know where to find you."

"Don't be a fool," the young man beside her said; and at the same moment Angel laughed. This was too much for Charity. Like most people she was foolish when she lost her temper.

"Thank you, I can care for myself," she told the stranger. The Duke Rogers said: "Give me the dice. One roll for $2500."

"What's your main?" "Seven." The stranger sighed.

"First, just to make it look right, sign this," Duke suggested.

He scribbled on a piece of paper which he showed toward her. It was an acknowledgment of indebtedness for $2500. Rogers knew that in court it was worthless, but the girl might not be so learned in the law, in which case it would be a useful adjunct to his courting.

After a moment's hesitation Charity signed, casting a defiant glance at the impertinent stranger as she did so. She saw that he was grinning, but Angel, who knew him better, disregarded the grin and watched the cold gray eyes.

WITHOUT replying Charity threw. One cube turned up an ace, the other rolled lazily. "Six," Charity prayed. The dice stopped. It was a one. The stranger swore softly. Charity did not hear him. Duke swept away money and dice. She had been foolishly certain that she would win. Reluctantly she turned away from the table.

"You won't quit on account of one bad throw, will you?" Duke asked.

"I have nothing left with which to play."

"I'll trust you."

She hesitated. It was one thing to work as a chamber maid until she saved enough to get home, or at worst until next quarter's income was due; it was another to get into debt. On the other hand, except for the last cast she had been very lucky.

"For how much?" she asked. He shrugged.

"Must have been around $2500 in there; how about letting it ride?"

"I'll bet $1000 I can throw the double ace," he said. "You're crazy."

"Does sound like it, considering what the odds against the double ace are, but I'll bet."

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH

BY CHARLES JUDAH

CHARITY STANDISH falls in love, becomes engaged to a gambler, Douglas Reed, and then is fitted (she thinks) when Doug becomes the partner of Angel, beautiful part owner of the Four Aces. Angel explains that Doug simply was her gambling partner of $2000 and must work it out. She makes fun of Charity, who picks up the gambler, orders straight whiskey and gets to the table. She says she never to play the other fellow's game, so she leads that Duke Rogers, Angel's partner, play the old English game of Hazard.

"Disgusting," Charity told herself, as with obvious distaste, she retrieved the dice. Then, running into a phenomenal streak of good fortune she forgot both her squeamishness over the polluted dice and the stranger. Not once did she ace or the deuce-ace, the dreaded crabs, appear. Only sevens. Emboldened by her luck she increased the stakes. Duke Rogers smiled indulgently, even Angel murmured encouragement. Her $400 grew to more than $1200.

The other patrons abandoned their games to watch. It was exciting but nerve-racking, and to a Standish from Ohio embarrassing. Charity resolved to end the business. She shoved everything to the middle of the table.

Duke picked up the dice and rattled them absently. "You got nerve, ma'am," he said, as he handed them back.

Without replying Charity threw. One cube turned up an ace, the other rolled lazily. "Six," Charity prayed. The dice stopped. It was a one. The stranger swore softly. Charity did not hear him. The Soviet government is an ailing old man, constantly fed pills by underground workers to hasten the day of death. But occasionally, you Westerners give him a pill which helps keep him alive without your realizing it. Potadam and Yalta were medicine which kept the old man going.

feet from south lines of section 36, block 32, T-1-N, T&P survey.
That puts it three and one-half miles northeast of Big Spring and one and one-half miles north of U. S. Highway 80.
It is also one and one-half miles northeast of a dry hole abandoned in the Ellenburger on total depth of 8,330 feet.

Salt Water Found In Martin Wildcat

Prospects for making a commercial oil well and a new discovery from the Spraberry sand zone in Southeast Martin County at Ryan Consolidated Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willie Peters, have been dampened slightly.
Operator has planned to Hydratec the open hole at 7,038-7,167 feet on Saturday. That plan was changed and a 12-hour drillstem test was taken on that zone, which is open hole below the 5 1/2-inch casing, cemented at 7,138 feet, and the total depth at 7,167 feet.
The bottom of the casing had been corrected from 7,040 feet to make that point 7,038 feet.
During the 12-hour drillstem test there was a good blow of air for three hours. Gas surfaced in five hours. No fluid came to the top while the tester was open.
Recovery was 1,020 feet of salt water and 3,440 feet of oil. Some of that oil was new oil and some of it was load oil. There was no breakdown on the make up of the oil.
Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 150 pounds to 1,675 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 1,687 pounds.
Operator is now circulating while waiting on orders. An effort probably will be made to produce the well in spite of the water which has been developed.
The Texas Company No. 1 E. C. Marrs, Northwest Crockett County wildcat, four and one-quarter miles northeast of Iraan, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 8,193 feet in barren Ellenburger.
Top of the Ellenburger was at 7,966 feet. That was on a datum of minus 5,606 feet.
There were no shows of oil or gas in any zone the wildcat drilled through. It made sulphur water on a drillstem test at 8,120-93 feet.

Tom Green Project Reports Strawn Oil

After a 5,000-gallon acid injection through perforations at 4,712-18 feet, 4,720-22 feet and 4,728-4,728 feet in L. E. Scheck No. 1 J. Willis Johnson, indicated Strawn discovery in Northeast Tom Green County, the well flowed at the rate of six and one-half barrels of oil per hour through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke.
The test is now shutin to build additional storage.
Total depth of the project is at 4,742 feet. Seven-inch casing is cemented at that point.
Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the north half of the south half of Washington County survey No. 3.

Extension Try Is To Be Dug In Kent

An attempt to extend the Clairmont-Lower Pennsylvania field of Central Kent County one-half mile to the south will be made at Sun Oil Company No. 1-D Bilby Wallace.
The project will be drilled 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 98, H&TC survey.
It will be projected to a possible bottom of 7,200 feet.
Drillate is one-half mile south and slightly east of Sun No. 1-C Bilby Wallace, recently completed producer from the Pennsylvania.
Midland Germania Gets Another Test
Standard-Fryer Drilling Company will drill No. 1-5 Graham as a 2,200-foot Spraberry test in the Germania field of Northeast Midland County.
It will be dug 660 feet from west and 665 feet from south lines of the southwest quarter of section 5, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

DST Is Slated In Glasscock Wildcat

Slight shows of oil and gas were found on a Spraberry core taken from 6,719 to 6,754 feet in Murphy Corporation and Ashland Oil & Refining Company No. M. L. Couey, Ellenburger wildcat in Southwest Glasscock County.
Recovery was 33 feet of streaks of sandy shale, lime and shaly sand material.
There were some slight shows of gas and some fractures in the core. There was some slight oil stain on some of the fractures.
Operator will set a packer between 6,625 and 6,630 feet and take a drillstem test to total depth of 6,754 feet.
Location is at the center of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 13, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey. That puts it 20 miles southwest of Garden City.

E-C Tom Green Test Abandoned

J. Roy McCoy of Lubbock and others No. 1 Tupper, East-Central Tom Green County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned at 5,005 feet in barren Ellenburger.
That formation was topped at 4,705 feet, 2,918 feet below sea level.
No fluid of any sort was found in the Ellenburger.
Location was 467 feet from north and east lines of section 1646, D Burgdorm survey.

Regan, Three Other Solons Appear On Network's Forum

WASHINGTON—Three Texans and a Californian appeared on a Texas Quality Network forum Sunday, discussing the controls bill now before the House.
Rep. Ken Rowan of Midland, who is outright opposed to the complete controls picture, Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, who wants to amend the present bill considerably and wipe out rollbacks on agricultural products as well as provide a system of automatic controls; and Rep. Clark W. Thompson of Galveston, who thinks the present controls system should be changed so as not to burden small businessmen with too much record keeping, were the forum members from Texas.
The lone Californian was Rep. Clinton McKinnon of San Diego, a former Texan and a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee, who helped write the controls bill and who has been active in fighting for it on the House floor.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★
Smartest Snake Bite Rule: Avoid Being Bitten At All

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
Those who take their vacations—or live—in poisonous snake country should keep this in mind: In parts of the West and Southwest the principle hazard is from rattlesnakes; in a few other places there are other varieties such as the copperhead, but by and large rattlesnakes cause more trouble on this continent than any other variety. In fact, one report from Texas showed that one-third of those who suffered rattlesnake bite died as a result.
The smart thing to do when in snake country is to avoid being bitten at all. In rattlesnake regions high leather boots or leather puttees generally are advisable since most bites are on the lower legs and the snake cannot bite through leather.
In spite of the fact that people have been bitten by poisonous snakes for centuries—and there are reported to be 30,000 deaths a year in the world from this cause—there is no completely satisfactory treatment. Also, there is difference of opinion about the best method of treatment.
It is fairly well agreed that the first step is to try to prevent the spread of the venom or poison injected by the snake. Probably the best way of doing this is to tie a band- or tourniquet around the limb above the bite. The use of ice or cold water also has been suggested and this seems logical since cold will slow the flow of blood.
Suction Method
Some doctors recommend short deep cuts above the fang marks and the application of suction either by a machine or by mouth in order to remove at least some of the venom. Finally there are antivenoms for some kinds of poisonous bites which may neutralize some of the poison.
At best the treatment of poisonous snake bites is not entirely satisfactory and the results uncertain. It certainly is best to take precautions against being bitten.

HOW DRY I AM!
Texas' Annual Summer Wail Lighter This Year

By The Associated Press
That annual Summer wail is echoing from Texas' hills and across its plains:
"Where can a man get a decent drink of water?"
For instance—at Rotan in West Texas, you can get a palatable sip from the tap just about one day out of two.
On that other day, you will be drinking syp water—a liquid with a heavy mineral content that people drink only in desperation.
In hundreds of other Texas cities and towns, lawn sprinkling has been banned, washing cars is forbidden and occasionally taps are dry, even with conservation measures.
The water shortage throughout the state this Summer is not as severe as in previous years, however.
The situation is this:
1. Where water is lacking, usually the cause is insufficient plant capacity to make water suitable for drinking and other uses. Some cities just don't have enough wells—but water can be found when the cities dig for it.
2. Cities and towns in an improved position usually are those which tired of the annual Summer shortage and did something about it. Or, as in the case of the Lower Colorado River area, dams were constructed primarily for reasons other than city water supply, but this water now is available for local consumption.
The Brighter Side
Here is the brighter side of the picture:
Lower Colorado River Authority spokesmen say they know of no water shortages below Buchanan dam, near Austin.
Kilgore's deep wells are producing such a good supply that its city commission Saturday cut rates 50 per cent as an inducement to homeowners to use more water on lawns and gardens.

U. S. Orders Two Hungarians Out In Eye-For-Eye Move

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a new eye-for-an-eye move against a Soviet satellite, the United States has ordered Hungary to withdraw two of its diplomats, including the acting chief of the legation here.
A little more than a week ago, Communist Hungary ordered out Albert W. Sherer, Jr., second secretary of the American Legation at Budapest, and Ruth Tryon, head of the U. S. Information Service there.
In evident retaliation, this government Sunday handed formal notice to Hungary to withdraw Laos Nagy, second secretary and charge d'affaires, and Peter Varkonyi, attaché.
In both instances, the method was the same—a declaration that each of the diplomats was "persona non grata," or unwelcome. Under long diplomatic tradition, that leaves the home country no alternative but to withdraw the person involved.
The State Department gave no details on why the two Hungarians no longer are welcome here, but a spokesman suggested a reporter wouldn't miss badly if he drew his own conclusions about retaliation.
In general, the U. S. for more than a year has been following such a policy of retaliation in its relations with the Iron Curtain countries.
shrubs and flowers, automobile washing and all such usages reducing supply. There is an acute shortage of water in Lake Halbert.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail and Mother Minnybell

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, has a yellow cat whose name is Minnybell. Oh, but one whole year, Minnybell wasn't yellow. She was black all over from hiding inside a bucket where black paint had been. And why was Minnybell hiding in there? She was hiding there because of Striped, Mugwump's striped dog.

By WESLEY DAVIS

Oh, you just can't imagine what an awful bother old Striped was to Minnybell. It seemed that Striped liked nothing better than to tease the poor cat, which he did every chance he had to do it. One day Minnybell was sleeping all stretched out in the swing on the porch, dreaming of whatever it is that a cat dreams a happy dream about. Her eyes were closed, and a smile was on her face. And then the striped dog came slipping up, and slipping up, and "Woof! Bow-wow!" Striped did it just to tease. "Yes" and Minnybell was teased all right, all right. Up she jumped in a great fright with every hair on her body sticking out straight. "Yow!" cried Minnybell, and there she had climbed the tree in a hurry while Striped laughed and laughed a doggy laugh, because a dog is what he was. Well, it seemed that Striped never would learn any manners. His teasing was worse and worse until Min-

At left, above, is what the well-dressed bathing beauty of 1875 wore to the beach. If she got a nice day, she'd get a lovely suntan on her face and hands. Without the bonnet, she'd feel indecently exposed. But things had changed for a few daring girls by 1880, as seen next. This marked the first step in the trend that was to end in the Bikini suits. Note the bare forearms. That was the first step on the road to sunburn. Moving along, we see that when the Gay 90's showed up, the girls were ready to go along with the general gaiety. To conform to the pattern, some of them discarded the ankle-length pantaloons and donned calf-showing, tight, black stockings. But not all of the girls were ready to admit they had legs, however. The demure miss at the end, like the one with the stockings, wears an 1890 bathing suit. She'll have no truck with stockings, however—not yet.

UN's Place In Sun Plenty Hot

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The UN Building soars 38 floors upwards, with its blue-glass sides sparkling in the morning sun that slants across the East River. It looks like some monstrosity, skinny ice cube.

But there's nothing icy about the building inside. The people who work there have other comparisons for it—they say it is as hot as —, adding the name of a tropical nation that is a non-UN-member.

The same sun that glints in the 38-story-high windows, making pretty pictures for the sight-seer, makes life miserable for the UN employes. There is, as yet, no air-conditioning, and the sun is strong enough through the glass walls to give workers sun tans.

"There are two things we await," says a UN worker, "with a great deal of anticipation. One is the coming of peace, and the other is air-conditioning."

Quits At 102
In one room, a man with a thermometer kept checking the temperature as the sun warmed to its work. He quit when he got a 102-degree reading.

"We ought to get a tropical allowance," said a humid lady in the radio section, referring to the extra pay drawn for work in equatorial climates.

"Now there's a little breeze" said a girl in a sun dress. "But sometimes you could just die. The venetian blinds don't reach down to the bottom of the windows, and the sun reflects on the tops of the radiators. It's murder."

But that condition is just temporary. Air conditioning, like manna, is coming. Right now all it does is circulate the hot air, but a cooling plant drawing water from the East River is due to commence operations in three or four weeks.

Has Drawbacks
Most of the UN people like the building, which they call the "Aquamium," but they do say it has its drawbacks, even excluding the temporary problem of excess heat.

"Getting philosophical about it," said one man, "an international organization should not be built on 38 floors. We have some 60 nationalities working here, they must meet and get together to be truly international. The only way we meet each other is by accident in the elevator."

Those employes who were with the UN at Lake Success long for the good old, neighborly days. "At Lake Success," recalled a section head, "you saw everybody you wanted to see almost every day. But here, when I want to talk to someone, it becomes an official task—you must call up and make an appointment first."

Among the other complaints: The cafeteria, which the people who eat in it call the "sandwich-eria," because sandwiches are about all you can get there. The local job points out that the building's clinic is in back of the cafeteria—"it is so handy for acute cases of indigestion."

The rule that prohibits hanging pictures from the walls. Many of the UN people decorated their Lake Success offices tastefully and would like the chance to do the same on the banks of the East River.

Have No Windows
The inner layout, which places the secretaries in a long, hall-like room beside the offices which they serve. The secretaries have no windows and no air, but they do have constant interruptions as their room is a well-travelled corridor.

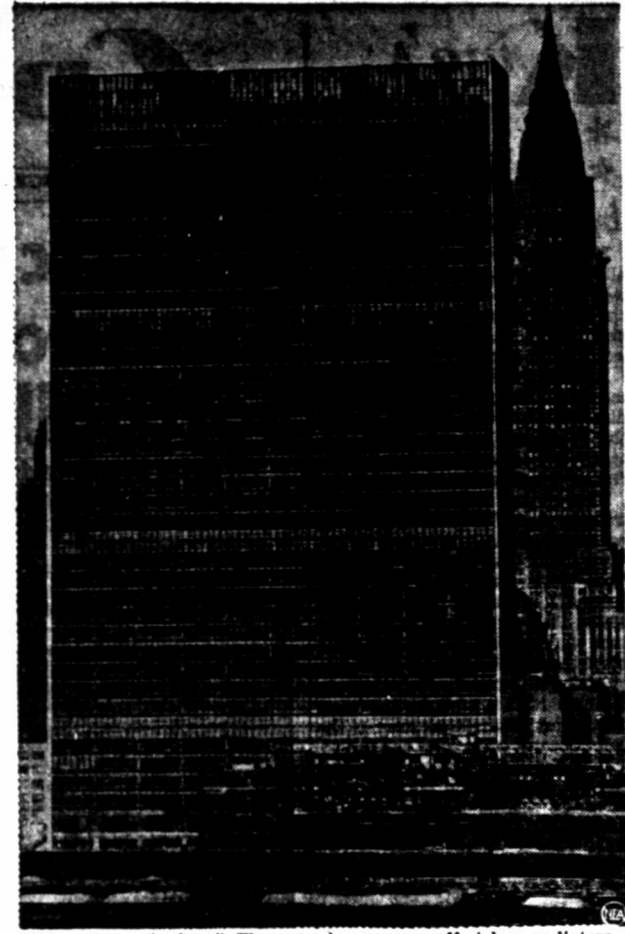

The view from the river side of the building side is lovely, but they wish something could be done about the soft-drink sign across in Long Island City. One UN writer said, however, that anybody who can't write with that view to inspire them should immediately quit the profession.

Structure Is Vast
The vastness of the structure, which means, said one girl, that it takes seven minutes to get from her office to the street. She timed it.

The breeze when the windows are opened, which they are during the current non-air-conditioning period. One girl saw a complete file sucked out the window and the papers flutter into the river.

But, despite the inconveniences, the majority of the employes wouldn't trade their jobs for anything.

"Every morning, when I come to work," said one, "I feel it all over again. It's a thrill to be a part of this."

'Make Life Really Tough For Dope Sellers,' Is Advice Given By Narcotics Commissioner

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— There are approximately 10,000 youngsters in the U. S. caught in the slowly murderous coils of drug addiction. And youthful addiction, which has been mounting steadily since the war, may not have yet reached its peak, says U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger. The number tripled in 1950 and probably will triple again this year, he reveals.

"At the Lexington, Ky., hospital for addicts we find the average age of patients has dropped 10 years, from 36 to 26, in just two years' time," he says.

The big, bald Anslinger attributes this tragic situation to two causes. He says:

"It is a general breakdown in family life, including lack of personal responsibility in the home. Also I have repeatedly warned that this situation was coming as opium supply spots were opening in Turkey, Italy and China."

The way to start locking the situation, according to Anslinger, is to increase the "overhead" cost of illegal dope peddling. He says that the average sentence of 18 months handed out to convicted dope peddlers—further reduced by pardons, paroles and commuted sentences—is considered by the peddlers as a reasonable overhead for an extremely profitable business.

Back In Business
"We spend a long time rounding up a gang in a city, and getting good evidence against them," he complains. "We bring the case to court and they get about 18 months. By the time we get the next gang rounded up and convicted the first gang is out of jail and in business again."

The answer, he believes, is the passage of laws now pending in Congress and in many state legislatures which would make minimum mandatory sentences of two, five and 10 years for first, second and third offenses. He also favors the proposed federal law which would give the death penalty for any peddler convicted of selling dope to a minor.

He proves his point on the need for longer sentences by citing a case in St. Louis as an example. "Federal Judge Roy W. Harper gave a peddler there 18 years and the rest of them are running out of town like scared rats," he says.

Hits Suggestions
Anslinger is against most suggested attempts to lick the youthful addiction problem through education on the horrors of taking dope. "It just makes the ones with the weakest minds more interested in trying it," he says.

He adds that most youthful addicts are not in school and not under the control of their parents and can't be reached by any education.

"Addiction follows delinquency, not the other way around," he claims. Fortunately, Narcotics Bureau reports reveal, youthful addiction has not yet spread to cities much smaller than New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans. If it should mushroom into smaller U. S. communities — and it could, Anslinger says — he gives the following advice:

"Juvenile authorities should now make themselves familiar with the symptoms of addiction. This will permit them to uncover it as soon as it appears in a town. Next, the city should set up its own hospital facilities for curing the addicted and create a special narcotics squad in the police department to work with our agents in catching the peddler."

Anslinger is discouraged by the unwillingness of the cities in which the youthful addiction problem is serious to create hospital facilities for the cure of addicts. The only places where an addict can be cured today, he points out, are the Lexington Hospital, which can handle 1,200 persons, and a hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, which can take care of 300.

drastically. The National Guard, the Red Cross, Army, Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard have thrown men and money into the fight against high waters.

Aid Pours In
Aid has poured in from coast to coast and from Canada.

In Washington, President Truman asked Congress for a $15,000,000 emergency fund to help alleviate hardship in Missouri and Kansas.

A House Appropriations Committee was expected to approve the fund Monday.

In this metropolitan area, muddy waters still swirled over thousands of acres of industrial districts. Waters, ranging from a few feet to 20 feet deep, stretched over railroad yards, livestock industries, grain elevators, oil refineries, and manufacturing plants.

A fire, burning since last Friday, virtually has destroyed 24 buildings and damaged others. At least 14 men suffered injuries battling the billowing flames in a flooded section.

It was fed by more than 1,000,000 gallons of oil.

The fire has engulfed lumber yards and the storage tanks of six oil companies. Intermittently, firemen brought it under control only to have it flare up again.

Violent explosions of fuel tanks and naphtha forced many nearby residents, not in the flooded section, to flee their homes. The fire area is in both Kansas Cities.

New Fire Dangers
An explosive situation also existed in the Fairfax industrial district—the last of three major industrial areas to be flooded.

Water ranging up to 15 feet covered much of the 3,000-acre area. Oil from the Phillips Refinery oozed into the flood waters.

Harry G. Fair, the refinery's superintendent, said he did not know just what damage was done by incoming waters but "We can be sure there was some straining of connections beneath big storage tanks as they were tilted. The strain could be much worse as the water receded."

"We wouldn't have seen anything in Kansas City yet if some spectator unconsciously should light a cigarette."

Workers patrolled many of the plants in the four water-covered industrial areas.

At the Armour meat packing plant, some 30 men labored to save perishables and livestock. More than 300 cattle were being kept alive on a ramp above water.

Similar work was being carried on by other firms.

A dramatic fight on dikes apparently had saved the Kansas City, Kans., Municipal Water and Light Plant.

Traffic Program To Be Launched

The Midland police department is planning to launch a traffic safety program here in the near future. Police Chief Rube Hemingway told members of the Kiwanis Club Monday.

"Experts from the National Safety Council and the State Safety Department," he said, "are coming here to help us set up the program."

"But it will take the help of every man, woman and child in Midland to make it a success."

"We will need the particular help of the Kiwanis Club and other service organizations."

Hemingway, who was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the organization at the Hotel Scharbauer, said the traffic situation was one of the major problems facing the city.

Manpower Short
"But it's going to take time to work out," he continued. "We'll have to make surveys, change signs where needed and educate the public to the value of safe driving."

Hemingway also discussed other problems facing the police department, including the manpower shortage.

He said while there are 29 men on the force, this figure is reduced to 23 by days off, vacations and sick leaves.

With three dispatchers, a meter mechanic, a court clerk and two men in the identification bureau, only 16 are left for the 24-hour job of patrolling the city.

"Somebody told me the other day he thought we ought to have a man on every corner," said the police chief.

Well, there are 4,580 blocks in the city and with a force of 29 men, I haven't figured out a way to do it." seemed to be in good spirits at the afternoon session.

"The Chinese smiled when they came back into the conference room," Levis said. "They nodded to General Craigie." Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie is one of the five UN delegates.

"Maybe," the spokesman suggested, "the Communists have learned we are not the man eaters they were led to believe from their propagandists."

Joy took the entire 55-minute Monday morning session to present further arguments in favor of the agenda proposed by the Allied delegation.

Reds Pose For Picture
They took a two-hour recess at the Reds' request.

Then in the afternoon, cigarette-smoking Gen. Nam II, head of the Red delegation, used another 55 minutes to present his views.

They talked only about agenda items. An Allied announcement said:

"The United Nations command delegation reports that some progress was made to the formation of a mutually agreed-upon agenda."

A press dispatch from the truce city said the five North Korean and Chinese generals were scowling as they left the morning meeting.

But when the afternoon talks ended, they seemed amiable. The five Red generals smiled and posed for UN photographers.

The cameramen were with the second party of 20 Allied press representatives to go to Kaesong under revised negotiating conditions prescribed by the UN commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The photographers were waiting outside the residence where armistice talks are held. The Communist generals readily accepted the photographers' invitation to pose in a patio on the American side of the building.

Durden Is Relected To Highway 80 Post

FORT WORTH—W. H. Durden of Rouston, La., was relected to his second term as president of the U. S. Highway 80 Association at its annual meeting here Sunday.

W. H. Farmer of Delhi, La., was relected secretary-treasurer, and the vice presidents are Max Klinger of Tucson, Ariz., Western Division; Thomas W. Davis of Odessa, Central; and Paul Corwin of Montgomery, Ala., Eastern.

Central Division directors are H. D. Price, Van Horn; J. H. Greene, Big Spring; Joe Cooley, Abilene, and William T. Randolph, Glade-water.

The association reaffirmed a two-year-old resolution to continue the present routing of the major traffic artery. The highway boosters also voted to publish an additional 100,000 illustrated, pocket-sized maps of Highway 80.

Midland was represented at the highway meeting by P. R. Hargrove and Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing. Following the Fort Worth gathering, Downing continued on to Dallas, where he is attending the annual Southwestern Chamber of Commerce Institute in session this week.

Youth Fined For Carrying Pistol

A 19-year-old Midland youth was fined $100 and court costs Monday after pleading guilty in County Court to a charge of carrying a pistol unlawfully.

The youth, Ruben Carrasco of 906 North Terrell Street, was arrested two miles West of Midland on U. S. Highway 80 by Highway Patrolmen Mac Stout and Bob Bigler about 1 a. m. Sunday.

The patrolmen said they stopped Carrasco's automobile for speeding found a .22 caliber pistol in the car. Carrasco was sitting on the pistol, the officers said.

Indians Win In Fourteenth, 10-9

Campbell 5 For 7; McKenzie Winner

Midland and Vernon tangle again at 8:15 p.m. Monday. Jim Ballard will go on the mound for Midland, with Stan Grayson slated to pitch for Vernon.

Dick Campbell was the hero Sunday afternoon as his single in the last of the fourteenth inning earned the Midland Indians a 10-9 victory over the Vernon Dusters in a three-hour and 25-minute ball game.

Campbell—who banged out five hits in seven trips to the plate—delivered his payoff blow against Marshall Epperson, scoring J. B. Gibbs.

Campbell had allowed but one hit in five relief innings until the Tribe came to bat in the final frame. He got Scooter Hughes on a pop-up behind the plate, but gave up singles to Gibbs and Hayden White. Eddie Ogden then fled out to left, and it was up to Campbell.

And, he came through, dumping a bingle over the snorision and in front of the left fielder, as Gibbs scurried home.

McKenzie Wins
Campbell shared the spotlight with Dave McKenzie and Gordon Tanner. McKenzie turned in a brilliant mound performance, coming on at the start of the tenth and holding the Dusters to three hits in five innings. He allowed no runs and struck out three with his fast-breaking offerings.

It was Tanner who gave Midland life in the ninth, after the Indians blew Eddie Jacobs' 7-5 lead. Again with two out, Tanner stepped up to the plate, missed two curve balls by Epperson, took a ball and then lashed a single to right-center field, sporting White and Bruce Blumenthal, who was running for Kenny Jones. Ballew, second Duster pitcher, had walked White and Jones, when Epperson came in and got Campbell out for one of the few times of the day. Eddie Melillo drew a walk, and Zeke Bonura popped up. Then came Tanner's dramatic hit.

It rocked along at 9-9 after that, with regular outfielder Hayden White sparkling at second base in the tight Midland infield. Campbell then blasted in the winning run in the fourteenth.

Dusters Score First
Vernon scored first and had the Tribe down 4-0 in the third, but Midland came back for three in the same frame on doubles by Rudy Escobar and Gibbs, plus singles by Jones and Campbell. A run in the fifth, driven in by Jones on a hit after White doubled, made the score

WT-NM League—

Abilene Loses 7-6 In 16 Inning Game

By The Associated Press
No team may catch Abilene this season, but every once in a while one hits the Blue Sox.
Albuquerque did Sunday, but it took the Dukes 16 innings to nudge the West Texas-New Mexico League race-setter 7-6 with an unearned run.
That cut Abilene's lead over Lamesa and Lubbock to only six games.
In other tilts Sunday, Clovis rallied with six runs in the ninth inning to dump Pampa 13-9; Ray Machado held Borger to five hits as Lubbock won 3-2, and Amarillo pounded out 14 hits and a 12-3 win over Lamesa.

Trout Retains Tri-State Crown

AMARILLO—(AP)—Defending Champion Chick Trout of Lubbock retained his Tri-State senior golf crown Sunday by beating Dr. C. D. Moore, Oklahoma City, 1-up.
Trout, a former professional, stroked a winning birdie four on the 500-yard eighteenth after the pair had battled each other to a standstill, through 17 years.

King's Row

by Larry King

Besides the Longhorn League all-star clash to be played in Rowell Thursday night, some behind-the-scenes maneuvers may be carried out by league officials, sports scribes and official scorers.

Although there's nothing ever mentioned about it, a player is at a disadvantage when on the road in the Longhorn League. That's because the scorers lean toward the "home" team in almost all parks.

That makes those scorers who want to score the game as it should be scored—impartially—have to deviate from that practice and also "lean" toward the home boys some.

Several Midland players have stated that on the road it is a sure shot the opposing players will get a hit if there is the slightest possibility of giving him one. In fact, they say in one park it is a hit for the home team most of the time even if the ball is booted all around the infield.

It is hoped the official tabulators can get together and see if a more impartial scoring method can't be worked out at the meeting.

Plastics Meet Standard For Softball Crown

Western Plastic and Standard of Texas—the teams who finished one-two in the regular season City Major softball season—begin a playoff Monday night to determine the champion.

Both copped their first-round playoff contests. Plastic handled fourth-place Shell easily, winning 12-3 and Standard had more trouble with third-place Rotary Engineering Company, but won the last two by 10-8 and 6-3 counts, after dropping the first game 9-5.

The Plastics finished two full games ahead of Standard over the regular tour.

The team winning three of five games first gets the nod in the playoff series. Games are set to run through Friday if necessary, with all tilts being unreeled at Wadley Park.

CHUCK HERINGER—JayCee athletic director, Monday urged Midlanders to turn out for the contests. "The JayCees appreciate the crowds that have attended the JayCee-sponsored softball games this season, and we hope they come out to the playoffs. If they do, they'll see top flight ball games."

Game time is set for 8:30 p.m., with either Chester Campbell or Milt Montgomery slated to pitch for Standard of Texas. Jack Dunlap is expected to get the call for Western Plastic. A small fee will be charged for admittance.

Furgol Wins Open Title

DAVENPORT, IOWA—(AP)—Marty Furgol, only a three-year follower of the PGA tournament trails, is the new Western Open Golf champion.

He's an excitable fellow, this 34-year-old Navy veteran of World War II. But you would never have known it watching him sink a 3 1/2 foot putt in a pressure-packed finish at Davenport Country Club Sunday.

Marty needed the putt. If it went down, the professional from the Cog-Hill Club, Lemont, Illinois was the Western Open Champ. If he missed, he would still be tied with Cary Middlecoff, who finished one stroke back.

The putt went down on the eighteen green for a birdie 3 and Furgol kicked his legs in glee. He posted a 65 Sunday for a 77-hole total of 270.

Furgol, three strokes back of co-leaders Sneed and George Fazio at the end of 54 holes, finished 10 strokes under par for the 72-hole route. Middlecoff would have bettered that 270 figure if he hadn't fouled up the par-3 15th hole with a 5. Sneed finished with a 71 and a third place 273.

Fazio, up front for three rounds, slumped to a 73 and seventh place at 275.

Debating Senators Have Varying Ideas About Dixiecrats

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two senators Sunday night defined "Dixiecrats," a term they applied to Southern Democrats who bolt the national party stand.

Senator Mundt (R-SD): "Note that Dixiecrat has two I's. I would say a Dixiecrat is a democrat with his eyes open."
Senator Humphrey (D-MINN): "No, I would say a Dixiecrat is a good conservative Republican with a Southern Accent."

The exchange took place during an NBC television debate on Mundt's proposal for a new national political party linking Republicans and many Southern Democrats. "The sooner the better," said Humphrey, a "fair deal" supporter. "The Democratic Party doesn't need them."
Mundt said such a coalition at times has taken almost complete control of Congress and "could elect a mighty strong national administration and Congress."

MOTHER OF INVENTION

—Mrs. Carrie Hilton patented a thumbless boxing glove. The thumb isn't loose to be stuck in an opponent's eye. The glove makes a natural fist. Padding doesn't work down. The graying housewife of New Burlington, Ohio, got the idea when her two sons got hurt settling scraps in the barn.

Mexico's Silver Treasures Are Running Out But She's Still The Leading Producer

MEXICO CITY —P— Mexico's famed silver treasures are running out. The silver in the ores is getting thin. Veins are pinching out. Higher labor costs are making poor ores unworkable.

Mexico still is the world's greatest producer of silver. But her mines are not as rich as they were 150 years ago when Baron von Humboldt, the German explorer and scientist, called her "the treasure house of the world."

Since the Spaniards came more than 400 years ago, Mexico has produced almost 200,000 tons of silver. Silver production still is quoted in long tons. The tourist can buy a handful of sterling silver trinkets for a dollar.

Nowadays, more than half of Mexico's silver is produced as a by-product of other metals. Only about 40 per cent of the silver produced comes from mines primarily worked for silver.

Four Florida Cities Probe Burning K's

MIAMI—(AP)—Authorities in four Florida cities Monday pressed investigations into the burning Saturday night of crosses and K's and the distribution of anti-semitic literature.

Four giant K's were burned in outlying sections of Miami, four in Orlando, and three in Lakeland. Two crosses were burned at Fort Myers.

In Miami, Orlando and Fort Myers, literature was left making insulting remarks about Jews.

Dade (Miami) County Sheriff Jack B. Henderson said his office was investigating and promised "We aren't going to stand for any intimidations of anybody by anybody."

Lee County Sheriff Flanders Thompson said at Fort Myers there was no indication what purpose the cross-burners meant to serve but he was seeking to trace source of the literature.

Campaign literature

Four K's also were burned at Orlando, one on the lawn of the City Hall. Lakeland reported three K's burned.

Campaign literature was left for Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, in Florida, who is a candidate for governor. However, Hendrix denied the KKK had anything to do with the burnings.

Sgt. Q. L. Weaver of the Dade County Road Patrol said four men had been ordered to report to the office of Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff O. D. Henderson for questioning about the Miami burnings. Weaver declined to give their names but said they were "long-time residents of greater Miami."

The K's were made of lumber, wrapped in kerosene-soaked burlap.

There are only six tastes: alkaline, bitter, salt, sour, sweet and metallic. Flavors, however, abound in almost unlimited numbers.
