Oil Shows Logged In Devonian Top At C-N Yoakum Project

Interesting shows of oil have been logged in the top of the Devonian at Continental Oil Company No. 1 M. S. Pierson, Central-North Yoakum County wildcat, 14 miles northwest of Plains.

The prospector is credited with topping the Devonian at 12,184 feet. It encountered good shows of oil in the section in drilling to 12,204 feet.

A drillstem test is to be run on that zone.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 18, block 15, plat survey.

The prospect is two and three-quarter miles west of the multiphase Landon field which is just across the line of Central-South Cochran County.

Potential Gauge Is Scheduled For Martin Discovery

Ryan Consolidated Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willie Peters, Southeast Martin County wildcat, one mile north of Stanton is to take potential test and complete as a small producer and the owner of a new Spraberry sand oil field.

The project is currently shut in while the rotary drilling rig is being moved off. It is expected that the completion test will be run before the end of the present week.

Ryan No. 1 Peters flowed 56 barrels of new oil and no water in 16 hours, through a 9/32nd inch tubing choke from open hole in the top of the Spraberry at 7,038-7,187 feet.

Kick Off After Swabbing

The flow was after the pay section had been swabbed with 1,500 gallons. After opening the well up following the treatment operator pulled the swab two times and it kicked off and started flowing.

The 56-barrel flow in 16 hours resulted. Some sources had reported that the project flowed approximately 50 barrels of oil during the first hour after it kicked off. That report was in error.

The wildcat had developed a little water on one drillstem test of the pay section. That test was before the Hydrafrac treatment. No water showed during the 16 hours of flowing.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block 36, T-1-S, E&P survey.

Sohio Upton Test Assured Spraberry Sand Production

Sohio Petroleum Company is assured of a commercial oil producer and a new discovery from the Spraberry at its No. 1 A. P. Huff, East-Central Upton County wildcat, three miles west of the Pembrock field and 18 miles north and a little east of Rankin.

This prospector flowed 224 barrels of pipe line oil in 12 hours through a 24/64th inch tubing choke from perforated section at 7,045-7,100 feet. There was no water. The pay zone had been Hydrafrac. Operator is continuing to flow to clean out, test and complete.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block K, D&SE survey.

This exploration drilled to a total depth of 12,476 feet in the Ellenburger. There were no possibilities of commercial production between 7,110 feet, the present plugged back depth and 12,476 feet.

Big Potential Flow Is Reported From Martin Discovery

Pan American Production Company, Forest Oil Corporation and Houston Oil Company of Texas No. 1 F. D. Breedlove, Northwest Martin County wildcat has been completed for a 24-hour potential of 2,341 barrels of 41.3 Gravity oil and no water.

The daily initial production figure was calculated for an actual six-hour flow of 586.25 barrels of oil through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

Gas-oil was 20-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 100 pounds. The production is from perforated section at 12,078-118 feet in the Devonian dolomite. That interval had been washed with 600 gallons of mud acid and treated with 600 gallons of Diesel fuel.

After the pressure from the treatments had been released operator swabbed down to 3,000 feet below the surface and the well kicked off and started flowing. The six hour official potential test gauge followed. The well will now be put on production as a major discovery for the area.

Cease-Fire Talks Near Stalemate

Confidence Turns To Fear As Flood Crest Approaches

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Man once again pitted ingenuity and sweat Thursday against the treacherous Mississippi as the highest flood waters in more than a century rushed down the Missouri River toward St. Louis.

Flood workers, with time still on their side, labored under a hot sun to bulwark levees from here to Cape Girardeau, 190 miles to the south, even as the crest hit Jefferson City, the state capital, in Central Missouri.

The waters, which already have left an estimated $750,000,000 loss in their wake in Kansas and Eastern Missouri, submerged some 30 blocks at Jefferson City and hampered electric service to state buildings there. Water inched into the state power plant.

Confidence that St. Louis could stave off major losses turned to fear as the crest of the mighty Missouri moved toward St. Louis and a junction with the Mississippi at 30 miles a day.

The swollen Mississippi—it stood at 38.8 feet Thursday and flood stage is 30 feet—already has damaged St. Louis river front industry.

Volunteers On Duty

Scott Air Force Base had 1,312 volunteers on flood duty from St. Louis to Chester, Ill., about 80 miles south. They have been joined by farmers and city folk in the battle of the levees.

Army Engineers patrolled the levees from nearby Alton, Ill., to Cape Girardeau. They feel confident the major ones will hold but they pointed out that the dikes have been under constant pressure of high water for several weeks.

Galveston Club Raided By Rangers

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas Rangers raided the Kemah Coffee Shop at Kemah, Galveston County, Wednesday night, State Police Director Homer Garrison, Jr., announced Thursday.

Garrison said the Rangers arrested 10 players and three dice dealers and seized $80 on a dice table.

Garrison said the Rangers were working under assignment of Capt. Hardy Purvis of Houston. He said they would confer with the Galveston County attorney concerning the filing of charges.

The state police director said he had no further details of the raid. Meridith "Interested"

Rep. Fred Meridith of Terrell, chairman of the House Crime Investigating Committee, recently said at Dallas that it would be "interesting" to see what would happen if Rangers were to attempt to close a gambling club in Galveston now.

Previously, Meridith said, Rangers have been handcuffed by city and county officials there.

The House Crime Committee has developed considerable testimony bearing on Galveston gambling, and Mayor Herbert Y. Cartwright has commented that the bars, gambling clubs and bordellos still are open despite the crime committee's digging.

The mayor took the position it is better to regulate vice than to try to legislate it out of existence.

"We don't butt into the affairs of our sister cities and we don't want them to butt into our affairs," he was quoted as saying.

IPAA Protests Ban On Installations For Natural Gas Heating

The Independent Petroleum Association of America Thursday took an official stand against proposed federal restrictions on new installations on natural gas heating equipment.

IPAA President J. Ed Warren of Midland wired Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman the following protest:

"Proposed federal control of sale of natural gas could affect adversely future oil and gas production as well as the entire national fuel economy. I question the advisability of such action and request that a meeting of oil and gas producers be called prior to final decision on this matter."

"I suggest the morning of July 25 convenient for such a conference, since representatives of all segments of the oil industry will be in Washington the twenty-fourth for the National Petroleum Council meeting."

IPAA headquarters interprets this sort of control as a step toward eventual regulation of energy resources, allowing the government to tell consumers what type of fuel—oil, gas or coal—they may use.

Texas Swelters In Inferno-Like Heat

By The Associated Press

Throughout the state Wednesday and Wednesday night, Texans sweltered in inferno-like temperatures, with no measurable rainfall to relieve the situation.

Weather Bureau officials said 22 out of 37 stations which report to them gave readings of 100 degrees and above. The rest were in the high 90's.

The coolest spot in the state was Marfa, which reported a maximum of 91 degrees. During the night that Big Bend community pulled up blankets against a mercury drop to 65 degrees.

The hottest spot was Junction, with 106 degrees. Running close second and third were Presidio, 105 degrees, and Bryan, 104. Incidentally, Bryan received the only measurable rainfall—22 inch.

All other state rainfall was in the "sprinkle" category.

Other Texas temperatures included Houston, 100 degrees; San Antonio and Corsicana, 103; Waco, 104; Austin, 104; Dallas 99, and Fort Worth 100.

No relief from high temperatures is in sight, says the Weather Bureau. The prediction is for continued hot weather, little or no rainfall, with fair weather and a few high, scattered clouds.

House Puts Profit Guaranty Provision Into Controls Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—House members, tempers frayed by partisan bitterness, Thursday neared the end of their long battle over wage, price, rent and other economic controls.

Administration leaders were hopeful of getting down to final voting Thursday night on a much-amended bill in which they have won some tentative victories, suffered more defeats.

One of these came Wednesday when the House voted to ban all price controls which would not allow a "reasonable profit." If finally enacted into law, this might cause a review of the thousands of ceiling prices fixed by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), to take into account cost-plus-profit data on all farm and industrial products.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle assailed the action as "the most damaging blow to price controls" thus far taken. He called it a "cost-plus-guaranteed-profit-on-every-item" plan.

Speaking in support of the amendment, Representative Wolcott (R-Mich.) asked the House: "What is wrong with profits? How do you expect to get the production we need to beat inflation without reasonable profits?"

Political Implications

Republicans and Democrats alike were conscious of the political implications contained in their decisions on wages and prices. Party leaders made no bones of their hopes that the record in the controls fight sharply will define the fundamental party differences on which political victory may hinge in 1952.

Johnson Blasts Housing Conditions In Training Areas

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas says the situation on housing and rents for military personnel and their families at training centers "is a disgrace to America."

The Texan is chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which Wednesday painted "a sordid and rotten picture of sub-standard housing and rent gouging," based on spot checks made by its investigators at Camp Breckridge, Ky., Camp Rucker, Ala., and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Mom would throw a mop at the first person who tracked across her freshly-scrubbed kitchen floor.

And Pop would kick his top if Junior came skipping across the back porch before the paint was dry.

Well, the State Highway Department is getting peeved, too, at countless motorists who are using the new Midland-Odessa highway before the surface is ready.

"If they'll just leave us alone," said a spokesman Thursday, "we'll have the new highway ready for use by October 1."

"But countless delays, not to mention additional costs, are being caused by motorists who drive on to the new stretches of paved road before the surface ready."

The new road parallels the old one to give a double highway to the heavy traffic between the two cities.

"From Warfield on into Odessa," said the highway department man, "the new road already is open, but other stretches are barricaded against use."

"Still, people drive around the barricades and zoom on down the new pavement while it's still soft."

"That means we have to go back and patch it before it can be rolled and completed properly."

"If people will just obey the signs and respect the barricades we'll get this highway finished."

President Confirms U. S. Wants Naval, Air Bases In Spain

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Thursday said this country has changed its policy toward Franco Spain to some extent for military reasons.

Truman was asked at his news conference about reports from Madrid that Spain and the United States have reached a basic agreement on American use of Spanish air and naval bases.

The President replied that Secretary of State Acheson covered the matter fully in a statement Wednesday.

Acheson had said the government is seeking to enlist Franco Spain in "the common defense against possible aggression."

Like Acheson, Truman said the Madrid negotiations being carried on by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman are only preliminary.

Change In Policy

Sherman, chief of Naval operations, held talks with Generalissimo Franco earlier this week.

Asked if the negotiations are a change in American policy toward Spain, the President said they are, to some extent.

Truman declined to comment on the progress of the Korean peace talks and also on how W. Averell Harriman, his personal representative, is faring in his attempt to make peace between the British and the Iranians in their oil dispute.

He said he had not heard directly from Harriman.

In general, influential senators approve moves to bring, not only Spain, but Turkey and Greece as well, into closer association with the North Atlantic Defense Alliance.

Reports that Spain has agreed in principle to establishment of U. S. Naval and air bases there won applause from Democrats and Republicans.

Narcotics Agents Find Million-Dollar Patch Of Marijuana

FRANKLIN, LA.—(AP)—Federal narcotics agents were expected here Thursday to view a "million-dollar" marijuana patch and to interrogate the negro tenant farmer who cultivated the narcotic weed.

Officers discovered the contraband crop Wednesday near Baldwin, in South Louisiana. Some of the marijuana stalks were 14 feet tall, officers said.

Chief Deputy Sheriff J. B. Shaw of St. Mary Parish estimated the crop would have yielded more than 1,000,000 cigarettes, which retail in the illicit market at $1 each.

 LATE NEWS FLASHES ***

MADRID—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco late Thursday appointed a new government to tighten relations with the West and once again put a king on Spain's throne.

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA.—The Phillips Refinery, in the flood stricken Fairfax industrial district of Kansas City, will resume full operations in the very near future, Chairman K. S. Adams and President Paul Endacott of Phillips Petroleum Company said here Thursday.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A Canadian flag freighter, the 7,000-ton S.S. Dingwall, Thursday rammed and sank a cargo laden scow moored to a stake boat. Two men were believed drowned.

Reds Refuse To Budge On Agenda Point

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—Korean cease-fire negotiations neared a crisis in a two-hour session Thursday. "No progress" was made, the United Nations said.

Friday's meeting will tell the story, an official spokesman predicted.

"We'll come to an agreement or there will be an air of finality about the disagreement," said Lt. Col. W. J. Preston.

Neither the Communist nor the United Nations delegation would budge from its previous position on the one basic issue under debate, said Preston. He attended the sessions at Kaesong.

The issue is believed to be the Red demand that foreign troops withdraw from Korea, although no one has said so officially.

"Each side was very emphatic in its stand," said Preston. "Never have I heard the same thing stated in so many different ways than today."

"Each statement was just as emphatic—or even more so—than the previous one."

Preston said his remarks had the approval of the United Nations command. Presumably this included Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. The supreme Allied commander flew back to Korea from his Tokyo headquarters in response to a message from his armistice negotiators. One Basic Issue

The acuteness of the crisis was indicated by the official UN communiqué. For the first time since talks started July 10 it reported "no progress."

"There is one basic issue that the North Korean-Chinese delegation is holding out for," Preston said. "It was the subject of debate all day."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il opened Thursday's discussions by asking what the Allies thought of a new cease-fire agenda submitted by the Communists Wednesday.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy replied, the UN communiqué said, by reiterating "the United Nations stand that only matters of a military nature would be discussed."

The Allies consider the question of withdrawing troops from Korea a political one, to be taken up later at a higher level after an armistice has been signed.

Preston said the UN was willing to accept agenda items already agreed upon as a complete agenda, and start actual cease-fire talks immediately.

No New Atomic Bombs In Russia, Says President

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Thursday said there has been no evidence that Russia has achieved another atomic explosion since the one he reported in September, 1949.

A reporter asked Truman at the outset of his news conference Thursday if this country has any such evidence.

The President replied no. On Sept. 23, 1949, Truman issued a statement saying "We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the USSR."

The nature of the explosion never has been announced officially.

U. S. Lifts Ban On Bibles To Red China

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government Thursday relaxed its ban against any exports to Communist China to permit the shipment of Bibles and Testaments, beginning July 24.

Shipment also will be permitted of books, newspapers, periodicals, catalogs, pamphlets, calendars, book and sheet music, and movie films "which do not contain any technical data."

Allies Pound Reds By Air, Sea; Action On Ground Limited

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(AP)—Communist troops stabbed through drizzling rain Thursday in four light, early morning probing attacks.

All were broken off before dawn. Both the Reds and the Allies sent patrol teams roaming across the damp no-man's-land in another quiet day along the Korean war front.

The air war went on without interruption, with Red planes reappearing in Korean skies.

A B-26 bomber reported it attacked and probably shot down a Communist fighter plane over the east coast port of Hamhung.

Two other outdated Russian-type fighter planes made ineffective passes at another night flying B-26 east of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

Fifth Air Force planes flew 108 night missions, striking Red targets by the light of flares or the full moon. It was the third successive night of more than 100 sorties.

Land-based planes flew 300 sorties Thursday before rain and low-hanging clouds settled over all Korea.

Bombers fired the Kyompo supply center, south of Pyongyang, with 500-pound bombs. The place burned two hours with flames visible 20 miles away.

Three UN planes were lost to ground fire Wednesday—a jet, a conventional type fighter and a Marine fighter. Reds claimed they hit seven.

The North Korean radio said "massed artillery fire" at the besieged east coast port of Wonsan sank a destroyer in a three-hour barrage Tuesday. The UN Naval command said none of the four U. S. destroyers involved was hit, although some Red shells came close.

Yvonne de Carlo Reads Riot Act To Her Press Agents

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Yvonne de Carlo slammed shut the book titled, "Romances — Phoney, Real and Semi-Real" and the noise blew several hundred press agents out of town.

"I'm through with that sort of thing," Yvonne told me, raising her scowling eyebrows slowly and dramatically, like the silk curtain at Graduman's Chinese theater. "It has hurt my career."

Yvonne's press agents have had the riot act read to them about breathlessly phoning in the name of the adorer who paid for her flit mignon the night before. They've been ordered not to link her with every Tom, Dick and Al.

"I'm falling in line, too. Even if Yvonne walks into the Mocambo flanked by Greg Baxter, Mickey Rooney, Ernest Hemingway, Gorgeous George and one of Hedy Lamarr's ex-husbands, Johnson will be quiet about it."

Yvonne suffered enough when a producer looked at her and said: "But you're a playgirl, angel, and we need a serious actress for this part."

Serious About It "Look," Yvonne pouted, "I'm a good actress. Anytime Hollywood wants me to prove it, I'm ready. I've never had believable parts, that's all. But I'm believable in my new picture, 'Silver City.' I play a real woman. My producer, Nat Holt, wouldn't touch a playgirl actress with a 10-foot pole."

"You know what?" There are some very important people in Hollywood who are interested in me as an actress. I once did a picture called 'Crisis Cross.' My performance did me more good with people. It showed that I had grown beyond the slave girl roles. Yvonne groaned again about the romance publicity.

"It's made something of me," she said, "that I'm not. A lot of it is my fault. Columnists would ask me, 'Who's your latest?' I thought you were supposed to tell. Then studio publicity men would say that they needed a strong romance angle to publicize my new picture. It was all right with me whatever they did about it. Even if they invented somebody. Now I know that it's harmed me."

Yvonne blushed and said: "There was no poetry. But I can tell you one thing. If it had been a romance, there would have been poetry."

She tossed a length of black hair away from her cheek and said that she hoped Hollywood would understand why she was muttering "Lay off" about dreamed-up romances. "It's all right once in a while," Yvonne said. "Like when I have dinner with a prince."

Rita's Lawyer Hints Actress, Aly May Kiss And Make Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Rita Hayworth's lawyer Wednesday hinted a reconciliation between the actress and her Moslem prince husband, Aly Khan, was possible.

But it was just a hint. There's an "if" to any possible patch-up of the broken marriage, said Rita's lawyer, Bartley Crum.

The "if" hinges around whether Aly meets an undefined "primary condition."

Crums parried all efforts by newsmen to learn the nature of the "condition."

But if the Prince "responded favorably" to it "there would be the possibility of a reconciliation," he said.

Ladies Night At Ball Park Packs Stand

The little girl pushed her way up to the Indian Park press box and curiously informed the occupants: "I don't like the umpires."

She was one of hundreds of new fans attracted to Midland baseball Wednesday night as guests of the baseball club and The Reporter-Telegram. Coupons clipped from the newspaper and presented at the gate for free admission totaled $38. It was Ladies Night.

They saw the Midland Indians trounce the Artesia Drillers, 11-0.

Naturally, hundreds more women were in the stands. Many already had bought season tickets—but a club official estimated scores of girls and women were attending for the first time.

They started arriving early. Before the game was well underway, the stands were packed. Some of the younger girls came in groups and several of these "teeners," attending "baseball parties," were dressed in blue jeans.

Some women wore gay Summer colors. Matronly grandmothers, who dotted the crowd, picked up the spirit of the occasion and some were as fervent in their "razing" of the umpires as the dyed-in-the-wool fans.

House Vets Outline Four Conditions For Armistice In Korea

WASHINGTON—P.—Four conditions for an armistice in Korea were proposed Wednesday by a group of war veterans serving in the House.

Their views were contained in a statement made public by Representatives Armstrong (R-Mo.), Williams (D-Miss.), Van Zandt (R-Pa.), Teague (D-Texas), Potter (R-Mich.) and Dorn (R-Sc.).

Armstrong said an estimated 100 House members who are war veterans agreed that the following provisions should be included in any armistice in Korea.

"1. No retreat from areas won by the sacrifice of those who have fought the aggressors, and no further recognition of the 38th parallel as a division in Korea.

"2. Immediate return of all prisoners of the United States and other Allied nations, with strict accounting for all who have perished since being taken prisoners by the Reds.

"3. Unification of Korea, looking toward elections to establish a free and democratic regime.

"4. Unrestricted inspection by United Nations forces throughout all Korea, to insure there will be no build-up of Red power to threaten peace and security of the area again."

The veterans said they felt it was their duty "to warn our armistice negotiators that they are dealing with unscrupulous agents of a regime branded as an aggressor" and that the Communist negotiators "will be speaking, not in the interests of their own people, but as stooges of Soviet Russia." Their statement added:

"The word of the Reds is worth exactly nothing, for it is based upon no principles of truth and honor. With the record of broken pledges of the Communists since the close of World War II, with the brazen flouting of every agreement they made with those who saved their land from defeat, with their mounting crimes against humanity exemplified by terror, deportation, slavery, degradation and death, for us to place any faith in Communist promises would be a clear betrayal of American interests and security."

Democrats who have announced are District Judge Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls; State Rep. Doug Crouch of Denton; State Senator Wayne Wagonseller, Stoneburg; Walter Jenkins, Wichita Falls, and Edith E. Williams, Vineyard.

Jackson did not use the word "Republican" in his announcement but promised to "fight the Truman Fair Deal" and "the socialized, Democratic, corrupt Pendergast machine." He said, "I do not represent any special group."

Candidates have until August 2 to file for a place on the special election ballot. Candidates will not be listed on the ballot by party. The one who gets the most votes wins.

Rearmament Reasoning

Rearmament as a protection against aggressive Russia is agreed Western policy. But on both sides of the Atlantic there are arguments against it.

Those who hold this view usually envisage two dangers. One is that a rearmament or group of powers may be tempted to use its amassed weapons in war before they become outdated.

Aneurin Bevan, the voluble Welshman who resigned from the British Labor cabinet in April, is the latest to take up this theme. Since he doesn't reflect official British policy and there are doubts about the size of the popular following he commands, it might be easiest to ignore him.

The United States is, of course, the backbone of the Western rearmament program. When Bevan and others talk of rearmament nations being tempted to use their strength, they usually are thinking of the United States.

But anyone who understands American history must realize this country never could yield to such a temptation, even if it felt it. We never have started a war. Our respect for international morality is so great that we never would begin one.

We might strike first if our intelligence convinced us an enemy was about to hit the United States. But this would only be done as a defensive measure. It would not mean we had used our powerful muscles for fear they would grow slack with age.

Except for the record, this point should not need re-statement. For actually the Bevan argument is founded on a gross misinterpretation of fact. The rearmament now planned for the United States and Western Europe is not sufficient to support an offensive war against the Soviet Union.

Who would be foolhardy enough to be "tempted" to reach for weapons which would be insufficient for the offensive?

As for rearmament provoking Russia to war, that kind of argument is a counsel of utter futility.

No one dares to say that an unarmed West is not an invitation to Russia to enlarge upon its aggressive program. How do you oppose strength with weakness? It is the answer to say Russia is not as strong as we may think, since all the facts are not available to us and we must give ourselves the benefit of any doubt.

If weakness is dangerous, then hope for us must lie in strength which roughly matches our enemy's. But the anti-rearmament debaters say that if you become strong, you provoke the enemy to war.

What this really amounts to is a statement that either you must run the risk of losing everything through weakness or you must prod your adversary inevitably into destructive battle. There is no middle course where a peace can be had which preserves freedom and honor.

Only despairing men could accept this counsel. The leaders of the West have not succumbed to this gloomy defeatism. Nor are they likely to so long as a shred of hope exists that war may be averted and liberty maintained.

Old Friend Returns

A wave of nostalgia must have greeted the report that the monster of Loch Ness has been seen again. For the young folk, the monster is an allegedly huge sea serpent sighted several times during the 1930's.

The two men who spotted the monster the other day had forgotten their binoculars and movie camera. But their account indicates the serpent had been modernized since earlier days. He now has a snorkel-type head and does 12 knots.

Keep That Eagle Eye Open Or We'll Lose Our Shirt

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Senatorial courtesy helped Kansas flood; Truman's policy on natural gas undercut by his own cronies; Federal Power Commission puts vetoed Kerr bill into force.

WASHINGTON — Part of the damage suffered by the people of Kansas in the current flood would have been avoided but for the custom of senatorial courtesy.

Thirteen years ago, Congress passed a bill authorizing a 22,000-acre reservoir on Tuttle Creek, north of Manhattan, Kansas. It was proposed by the Army Engineers as a means of controlling the floods which have swept Eastern Kansas periodically.

However, the dam never was built—for the reason that the money never was voted by Congress. Although authorized, it never was voted because one of the late Republican senators from Kansas, Clyde Reed, objected. Every time the appropriations came up for the Tuttle Creek reservoir, Senator Reed turned thumbs down, and under the system of senatorial courtesy he had the final say.

Frank Carlson, now a GOP Senator from Kansas, then was a Congressman and did his best to obtain passage of the appropriation. Later, as governor, Frank Carlson also tried to push the Tuttle Creek reservoir through. But Senator Reed had some friends in that area who owned farming land which would have been taken over by the proposed reservoir. Unfortunately, he put their interest ahead of the interest of the rest of the people of Eastern Kansas.

Now lives have been lost and millions of dollars worth of property ruined in a flood which could have been partly controlled if the Army Engineers' plan had been followed.

Why Truman Can't Win An unpublished incident occurred in the Federal Power Commission recently which illustrates why Harry Truman is almost certain not to be elected President of the United States even if he chooses to run.

The incident involved a poker-playing cronie of the President's, ex-Senator Mon Wallgren, who deliberately cut his chief's throat.

This has become a favorite pattern in Washington. The White House outlines a policy, frequently a fine and courageous policy. Then the President appoints men who throw that policy in the ditch.

That's why the Truman administration is being called the "talk-big-do-little" administration.

This was what he did on one of the most important battles he has waged in the last year. His bill was authored by a friend of his, powerful, popular Senator Bob Kerr of Oklahoma. Truman vetoed it.

Yet, believe it or not, the Federal Power Commission now has secretly overruled the President's policy and completely nullified his veto.

What the Kerr bill said was that the Federal Power Commission did not have jurisdiction to regulate the price of natural gas going into interstate pipelines. The President overruled the Kerr bill, said the power commission did have jurisdiction.

But by a secret 4-to-1 vote, the FPC now has decided not to take jurisdiction over the biggest producer of natural gas, Phillips Petroleum, thus directly reversing the President and giving the oil and gas moguls their greatest victory in years.

Most amazing thing about the Federal Power Commission debate was the way the President's poker-playing cronie, Chairman Mon Wallgren, actually broke into the final arguments of the attorneys defending the public to quote excerpts from the Kerr bill.

"I want to hear something about what Congress thought," Wallgren explained, as he quoted from the bill which his chief in the White House had vetoed.

At one point, Wallgren almost got into a brawl with James H. Lee, Detroit attorney who was arguing for the public. Wallgren shouted accusations across the hearing room, charging that local utility commissions shirked their duties. The argument got so hot that Lee started toward the commission bench, and Wallgren pushed back his chair ready for action. However, aged Commissioner Claude Draper headed Lee off by dashing out from behind the bench and planting himself in front of Lee.

Wallgren also baited William Torkelson, counsel for the Wisconsin Public Service Commission. In fact, the FPC chairman seemed to go out of his way to undercut the man in the White House who appointed him.

One of Wallgren's tactics was to bombard pro-consumer lawyers with so many questions that they didn't have time to sum up their arguments. For example, FPC Attorney Lambert McAllister was limited to two hours to present the public's case. Yet Wallgren hurled so many irrelevant questions at him that McAllister never finished his presentation.

Finally, Commissioner Thomas Buchanan blurted angrily: "Don't you think we might have a little more argument from counsel?"

An Old Man Gets Tired One day, following the oral arguments, Wallgren called a surprise closed-door meeting to decide the Phillips case. Staff members hardly could believe it when the motion to rule in favor of Phillips and reverse the President's policy was offered by Commissioner Draper, the man who had battled tooth-and-nail against the Kerr bill only a year ago.

It may be significant that Draper's confirmation for another term was held up by the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee last month. Now 76 years old, and most of his life a public servant, Draper has no money and little to live on if the Senate had failed to confirm him.

Though Draper flatly denies it, members of his own staff claim that the senators held up his confirmation until he agreed to reverse himself on the Kerr bill. Significantly, he finally was approved for another term on June 21, just one day before his previous term ran out.

Those voting with Draper against the President were Commissioners Nelson Lee Smith, Harrington Wimberly, a friend of Senator Kerr's from Oklahoma, and Chairman Wallgren. Only Buchanan voted for the public.

Note—Here is what President Truman said about the Kerr bill a year ago in his veto message: "This bill would preclude the Federal Power Commission from regulating sales of natural gas to interstate pipeline companies. . . . The continuance of that authority will adequately protect the public interest by permitting the commission to prevent unreasonable and excessive prices which would give large windfall profits to gas producers at the expense of the consumers."

When Charing was comfortably settled, gazing across the breathless moonlit loveliness of her valley, he stretched out beside her, and told his story as if it were printed in the sky with stars for letters. He did not tell her much about himself, but he did describe the life he lived. Tales of trade with the Pueblos to the north and the Navajos to the west, and of trade and fighting with the Apaches on both sides of the border.

It was a life as free as the ranges of the Territory, as untrodden as its mountain meadows, as limitless as its deserts.

Charity looked behind her, to the east. The sun that she had watched disappear behind the mountains the previous evening was peering over the edge of the mesa.

"Will you loan me enough money to get home?" she asked. "I don't loan money to strange women," he told her with mock severity, "but I do sometimes return stolen property. How much did you lose?"

"I only want enough for railroad fare, and it is a loan." "After a short argument they compromised. She agreed that she had $440 she had lost, but the money would be paid back.

"I'll donate it to a home for fallen women," he threatened. Charity grinned. "Considering you've behaved tonight, I'll just consider it an investment."

He handed out $450 from a pocket and with it a pair of dice that he

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

To the average player, bidding is bidding and play is play and never the twain shall meet. To the expert, play is merely a continuation of the bidding.

The effect of the bidding on the play of the cards may be seen in one of the crucial hands of last Winter's international championship at Bermuda. The British team got to three no-trump by the bidding shown in today's hand. That bidding, curiously enough, is what defeated them.

The English declarer won the first trick in his own hand with the queen of clubs. Next he cashed his three top diamonds, getting them out of the way so that he could win a trick with the jack of diamonds whenever he landed in dummy. Then he went back to clubs, leading the king from his hand.

Now look at the hand from the point of view of Schenken, the American expert who held the West cards. It was clear to Schenken that declarer had strong clubs and strong diamonds. Where was the weak spot—in spades or in hearts?

Surely South had strength in spades since he had jumped to two no-trump over North's bid of one heart. Such a jump bid in no-trump guarantees strength in unbid suits.

In short, the bidding made it clear that only in hearts could there be a weak spot. Therefore Schenken took his ace of clubs and promptly returned the queen of hearts.

That was the end of poor South. He could easily win three clubs, four diamonds, and one heart, for a total of eight tricks. Whenever declarer led spades in the attempt to find his ninth trick, East would crash right in with the ace of spades and the rest of the hearts, defeating the contract.

It should be noted that West fails to attack the hearts. South then has time to set up a spade for his ninth trick before the enemy can develop the getting tricks.

Today's QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You

Q—The bidding has been: North 1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass West 2 N.T. Pass

Y. South, hold: Spades K-J-7-5, Hearts 8-4, Diamonds 7-6-4-2, Clubs K-8-7. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. Your hand is no world beater, but there will be some sort of play for game since your partner advertises a very strong hand. It is better to have tried and lost than never to have tried at all.

Is Administration For It? Then Congress Is Agin It

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It's a completely unpredictable, run-away Congress. More so than perhaps ever before. Trying to figure out why the Congress is doing some of the things it has done in extending price control legislation is a completely frustrating experience.

Only one general observation can be made. Anything that President Truman or any of his officials recommends is opposed, by a majority of the congressmen, even if the recommendation obviously is good. Relations between the White House and Capitol Hill are bad. It is a completely chaotic situation.

What is coming out of Congress now seems to be entirely the result of individual lawmakers' own convictions. A healthy majority of them seem to be thinking pretty much alike and viewing the world through the same straw. This majority is composed of almost all the Republicans and the Southern Democrats.

They are riding high. They ride roughshod over Truman administration proposals even when they have the support of such conservative Republicans as Defense Mobilization Chief E. Wilson, former General Electric president, and Eric Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Lacks Real Leadership Veteran observers of congressional high jinks shake their heads and admit they never have seen anything like it. There is no leadership worthy of the name in either house of Congress.

Power of the Republican-Southern Democrat combination is best illustrated in Minnesota. Republican August Andersen's amendment to weak spot—in spades or in hearts? Surely South had strength in spades since he had jumped to two no-trump over North's bid of one heart. Such a jump bid in no-trump guarantees strength in unbid suits.

On its face, this looked like a dairy lobby job. But what was not emphasized is that the Andersen amendment also included bans on imports of rice, peanuts and soybeans. They were put in to get the Southern farm bloc vote. It is old-fashioned legislative log-rolling and mutual back-scratching. Incidentally, it was passed without a recorded vote.

Effects of this amendment will be tremendous. A similar amendment already has passed the Senate. One of the main arguments in its favor was that there was no sense in having the government pay support prices on U. S. fats and oils production if foreign imports were cheaper. This makes sense as far as it goes.

The obvious remedy, however, would be to repeal the whole farm price support program, to save the taxpayers money and reduce prices to consumers. If farmers and farm product processors want free markets, without artificial controls, the place to begin would be to abolish all price supports, which are artificial controls to keep prices up. But nobody mentioned that.

What you have here, therefore, is an artificial, international trade barrier. It is a virtual high tariff written into a price-control law. As a legislative monstrosity, it probably has no equal.

In about the same class is Kansas South, hold: Spades A-J-5, Hearts Q-8, Diamonds 7-6, Clubs K-8-7-4. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

Republican Rep. Cliff Hope's amendment banning livestock slaughtering quotas. This is also a pick-up from the Senate-passed price control measure, so it probably will stick.

Office of Price Stabilization officials say that what this amendment probably will do is guarantee black markets.

Essence of the quota system is the licensing of all slaughterers. In World War II the number of slaughterers rose to 26,000. Half of them were black market. OPA didn't move in to license them till late in the war. This is a principal reason why the black market got out of hand then.

This time, Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle moved in early to license slaughterers and keep out the black marketeers. OPS thus held the number of licensed slaughterers to 12,000 legitimate operators.

What the quota system is intended to do is make it so that available supplies of meat animals are divided equitably among the licensed slaughterers. It would prevent livestock raisers and feeders from selling to the black market slaughter houses.

American Meat Institute, the packers' trade association, said the quota system is necessary, if there are any price controls. DiSalle has said often that price controls could not be effective unless there were quotas and licenses.

Disregarding this pressure from the meat industry and the price administrator, Congress banned the quota system. So what you have is a black market built into the price control law.

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH BY CHARLES JUDAH COPYWRITED 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHARITY STANDISH decided she really was becoming abandoned, fighting, kissing strange men and not a bit repentant either. "I'm sorry I did that just now, or no, I guess I'm not sorry, but it didn't mean anything, at least not much." She stopped confused, Ken grinned.

"I see. Maybe it's the altitude." When Charing was comfortably settled, gazing across the breathless moonlit loveliness of her valley, he stretched out beside her, and told his story as if it were printed in the sky with stars for letters. He did not tell her much about himself, but he did describe the life he lived. Tales of trade with the Pueblos to the north and the Navajos to the west, and of trade and fighting with the Apaches on both sides of the border.

It was a life as free as the ranges of the Territory, as untrodden as its mountain meadows, as limitless as its deserts.

Charity looked behind her, to the east. The sun that she had watched disappear behind the mountains the previous evening was peering over the edge of the mesa.

"Will you loan me enough money to get home?" she asked. "I don't loan money to strange women," he told her with mock severity, "but I do sometimes return stolen property. How much did you lose?"

"I only want enough for railroad fare, and it is a loan." "After a short argument they compromised. She agreed that she had $440 she had lost, but the money would be paid back.

"I'll donate it to a home for fallen women," he threatened. Charity grinned. "Considering you've behaved tonight, I'll just consider it an investment."

He handed out $450 from a pocket and with it a pair of dice that he

"Why doesn't it make sense?" Charity asked wearily. "He's a gambler isn't he?"

"How well do you know Doug?" Charity poked absently at the dice on the ground. "Not very well, I guess."

"I didn't think so. It's this way. Doug's not a gambler. Think he is, but he's not. He's a farmer, who got out West. He ought to settle down and grow things."

CHARITY laughed thoughtlessly. "Are you trying to tell me that Douglas Kent would be happier on a ranch than gambling?"

"Sure he would. He likes animals, has a way with them, too; and you ought to see him as I've seen him, when he comes unexpectedly to a field that's really green with some crop or other. He'll just look at it and then, generally, as if trying to convince himself, he'll curse it; but his eyes say more than his words. Trouble is he won't admit what's in his eyes. Something happened to him when he was a kid in Carolina. He never did tell me, naturally I didn't ask."

"Naturally I did ask and he told me," Charity said softly.

Ken looked at her out of eyes that turned hard and wary. "May-be you're the girl." His voice was not friendly anymore. "As I was saying, Doug's not a real gambler. Win a little, lose a little was his way. But he kept out of debt. Said debt had ruined the South that it wasn't going to ruin him. So how did he lose that $5,000?"

"He was drunk," said Charity firmly.

"Sure. Funny, too, because Doug never drinks much, and not a drop when he gambles. Besides, he knows Duke's crooked."

"He played before at the Four Aces."

"Little stuff, yes. Duke's honest on that. Duke saves his tricks for big games, or strangers, or guests from the Aztec. Doug knew the Four Aces was all right for a small game. Besides, he thought he and Angel were good friends."

"How good?" Charity asked. "Just good, though maybe she'd like it more."

"I guess she can't have him now." (To Be Continued)

Phillips Exempt From Control Under Natural Gas Act

WASHINGTON—(P)—The chairman of the Federal Power Commission (FPC) says his office does not have jurisdiction over the Phillips Petroleum Company as a natural gas company.

Chairman Mon C. Wallgren issued a statement Wednesday saying the commission had reached that decision and would issue a formal opinion and order later.

The only point at issue was whether the commission had power to regulate sales of natural gas by Phillips to five pipe line companies for resale under the 1938 Natural Gas Act.

The commission rejected a request from Wisconsin and other public bodies that it conduct a hearing at the same time on whether Phillips' rates are too high. Phillips had contended it is not a natural gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act and thus could not be regulated by the Power Commission.

Youth Center Chatter

By JUNE HAZLIP

It's that time again and here we are just as usual. It seems most of the Midland Teeners have been staying mighty close to the swimming pools and we are no exception. As a matter of fact we just crawled out of that nice cold water to bring you this week's column. How about that!

This last weekend we saw someone who said to tell you "Hi". That someone was Joyce Howell. Joyce still is working hard at the Mire Peak Girl Scout Camp and she really is becoming the "outdoors type". She insisted on taking us on a quick "tour of the camp" . . . we wonder if she isn't half mountain goat! Call Baker also was back in town over the weekend and said to say "Hi" to everyone for her. Call still is working for the telephone company in Seminole.

Saturday morning saw many Midland Teeners at Pagoda Pool, competing in the JayCees swimming meet which was held there. Enid Little, Emily Hamilton, Janie Davis, Gerry Chastain, Mary Herndon, Joan Turner, John Torbett, Larry Friday, Roy Kinsey, Tommy Johnson, Bill Erskine, Bill Mims, Nick Harrison, Pat Curran, Mary Johnson, Jan Scott, Paxton Howard, Larry Lynn, John Crowley and Joe Turner were a few of the Teeners who brought home ribbons from the meet. We noticed Mrs. Little, Sonya, and Enid were right on hand during the meet. Midland Teeners will remember this "swimming family" as always being along with the swimming team in past years. Although only Enid swam in the events it was good to see them all again. Several teeners commented it certainly was different not having Bill there. He was the only one not present . . . which possibly could be due to Uncle Sam. Bill now is with Navy in San Diego.

Big Dance Stated
Now is the time . . . Gals. Drag out those semi-formals and Boys grab a date! Saturday is the big night and the event is a semi-formal dance to be held in the Youth Center at 8 o'clock. We'll be looking for YOU at the Youth Center Saturday night.

La Vonne Bell, Betty McNulty and Tommy Underwood have returned from their vacation trip to Garner State Park. The gals claim to have had a wonderful time despite blisters, swimming and horseback! We are sorry to hear that Bobby Hudson is indisposed for the remainder of the Summer. Bobby will have to stay in bed recovering from an illness until school starts in September. It isn't contagious and he'd love to have visitors . . . so why don't you teeners drop by and keep him company. We hope you'll be out of bed and hoppin' around real soon, Bobby!

Ann Ashby finally has gotten underway on her trip to Europe. She will stop over in New York to see two musical comedy hits before sailing.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday conditions, such as stress and strain, cause the important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging irritations due to acid or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 12 million kidney tubes and filter flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Thanks, thanks, thanks and thanks again to those Teeners who used our "Tip Box" in the Youth Center to give us the preceding bits of information! Keep up the good work!

ATTENTION BOYS . . . Yes, all you guys from 13 to 17 are needed to take part on the Youth Center track team which will compete in the TAAF Junior Olympics later this Summer. The track team will begin workouts as soon as a place is found to hold them. Also suffering from "no place to go" is the baseball team. It is hoped a place will be found soon for the games. The Youth Center will enter track, ping-pong, and pool teams in the competition.

We can't help but notice the excitement the Midland Indians are causing among the younger "teenage crowd"! Diane Nichols, Penny Jones, Angela and Retta Hazlip are a few who never miss a game . . . come heck or high water! The gals may be found almost any evening in their favorite box at Indian Park, yelling "Come on, Scooter" or "Go get 'em, Billy"! Yes . . . these Teeners really go out for baseball in a big way!

Imagine our surprise when we ran into Busy Bray, Joe Turner, Tommy Vannaman, Bill Aldridge, and Nancy Klinger. This wouldn't be so startling except for the fact we didn't see them in Midland! We ran into these Teeners in Balmorhea last Sunday. The boys were on their way to Boy Scout Camp, while Nancy was headed for Mire Peak. Mere Visitors

Once again we have visitors with us. This week they come from Mississippi, Florida and California. From California we have Donna and Mary Hurst. These sisters will be Juniors in high school next year. Also from California is Ann Newbury who is from Santa Monica. Ann will be a Junior, too. Visiting from Florida is Barbara McMillan. . . . and Barbara is another Junior! The little Southern belle is Angela Hazlip from Greenville, Mississippi. It seems that Angela has acquired a nickname since her arrival here . . . "Honeychile." This couldn't be due to that "deep South accent," could it?

Not only did we get some visitors . . . we also lost a few. Sidney Smith has returned to her home at Fort Sill, Okla. Bev Besant also left West Texas after a month's visit to return to her home in Tyler. We hope you gals will be back to see us again soon. John Torbett, an ex-MHS-er, who was back for a short visit, left Tuesday for his home in Marlin.

Musically Inclined
The outside of the Youth Center seems to be a popular place! We saw Nancy Steadman, Emily (Star) Hamilton and Jane Hurdal playing "ukes" and making "beautiful" (?) music together while parked outside the Youth Center.

Jakie Brady now is on her vacation to Holdenville, Okla., where she is visiting relatives. A newcomer to Midland is Carol Ossa, who recently moved here from Cleveland, Ohio. We're glad to welcome you to Midland, Carol! Well, folks . . . that looks like it for this week, but we'll crawl back this time next week for another visit. Actually we won't be here as we are taking off to join Joyce, but the YCC will be here with a guest "editor" or two! So long 'til then!

From Bloomers To Bikinis

Coney Island in 1900. Does it make you yearn for the good old days? Or would you rather drop dead? You may note a difference between what this comely chorus is wearing and the 1900 costume shown Wednesday. That's because Wednesday's bathing suit was a fashionable creation; the ones these—er, girls—are wearing are the type the average female wore to the average beach. For instance, three of these belles are stockingless. The common people (and boy, are these tootsies common!) dropped stockings long before the fashionable set did. The beauty second from right, the fashion queen of this Coney Island crew, still wears stockings. The gal in the middle hasn't made up her mind—she's got one on and one off. Maybe she got a run in her leg.

Murder Charged Police Who Shoot Accused Car Thief

WEST MEMPHIS, ARK.—(AP)—A preliminary hearing opened Thursday on murder charges against two Tennessee policemen who killed an accused car thief they chased into Arkansas.

Formal charges against M. E. Dixon and C. C. Dobbis were filed Wednesday. Memphis police officials promised all-out support to their defense.

The officers pursued Carl Douglas Yates of Locke, Tenn., across the Mississippi River bridge into Arkansas June 21 and shot him four times in the head. Yates was driving a stolen car.

Under the Arkansas-Tennessee "fresh pursuit" law, there was no question of the officers' authority to cross the state line. Deputy Prosecutor John Fogleman said there was some doubt, however, as to whether it had been necessary to kill Yates, who was unarmed.

House-

(Continued From Page One) ability of as many as a dozen or more rollcall votes on as many amendments—with members required to answer "Yes" or "No." As a result, the House may find itself spending up to 10 hours Friday in a series of rollcalls which will reverse or sustain the tentative unrecorded actions thus far taken.

Still to be decided—probably Thursday—were proposed changes in rent and credit controls. These were the principal remaining controversies in the House consideration of a new controls bill to succeed the Defense Production Act. It expires July 31.

Wednesday's setback for the Administration came when farm state House members led a fight to push through two amendments which would tie the price ceilings to profits on both agricultural and manufactured goods.

Wage Power Sustained But Administration supporters, with the aid of some Republicans, succeeded in turning back a drive to shear the Wage Stabilization Board of its dispute-settlement powers and limit it to advisory policy-making functions.

The price amendments would: 1. Provide that no meat ceilings may be established which do not allow packers and processors a "reasonable margin of profit" on every animal they process. The amendment applies to beef, lambs and hogs.

2. Prohibit ceiling prices on any product, agricultural or manufactured, which do not take into account all costs and also allow for a "reasonable profit." Profit, in this instance, is defined as at least 85 per cent of the average earnings of the best three years during 1946-49 inclusive. Representative Poage (D-Texas) was the author.

Economic Stabilization Director Eric Johnston, in a radio interview Wednesday night called this amendment "back to the consumer."

If enacted into law, it will "raise the cost of living for everyone" and require meat processors to make a profit on every live animal, he said. Johnston termed this "ridiculous" from a business viewpoint.

He urged Congress to junk the amendment on the final vote, and restore meat slaughtering quotas and the two additional beef price rollbacks which the House tentatively had voted to ban.

Oregonian Chides GOP Mates For Partisan Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senator Morse (R-Ore) Thursday said he thinks Republican leaders in the Senate are interested more in the next election than in public welfare.

The Oregon senator, who has been boomed in his state as a favorite son candidate for the 1952 GOP presidential nomination, told a reporter a survey indicates he has voted with the majority of Republicans only 43 per cent of the time in this session of Congress.

"I am surprised the percentage is as high as that in view of the partisan record the Republican leadership in the Senate has made in this session," Morse said.

He did not name individuals but it was obvious he was striking at Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, and Senator Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the conference of all Republican senators.

Phillips President Lauds FPC Decision On Gas Gathering BARTLESVILLE, OKLA. - K. S. Adams, chairman, Phillips Petroleum Company, when asked to comment on the announcement of the ruling of the Federal Power Commission Wednesday, said:

"Needless to say we are gratified with the decision of the Federal Power Commission that Phillips Petroleum Company is not subject to regulation as a natural gas company. The decision means that the commission is satisfied with its previous rulings extending over a period of eleven years that sales by independent producers and gatherers are not subject to regulation."

"This is a signal victory for producers. It is also a victory for the consuming public, though some of their representatives in these proceedings do not seem to realize it. When this decision becomes final, it is hoped that this will be the end of agitation with each change in membership of the commission to reverse previous decisions and subject independent producers and gatherers to regulation."

"An unregulated industry can and will develop far greater supplies of this premium fuel than could ever be expected through regulation. Greater supplies and free competition between gas producers and with other fuels will hold prices at reasonable levels."

FCC Sets Hearing On Three Natural Gas Applications

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission Thursday said it will start a hearing here August 13 on three applications involving natural gas service in the West and Southwest.

The Paso Natural Gas Company, El Paso, Texas, has asked for authority to build facilities costing an estimated $23,250,000 to make an additional 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas available daily to its customers in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

A second El Paso application involves a $1,038,400 construction program to increase capacity to serve the Phoenix, Ariz., area by 67,000,000 cubic feet a day. The commission last November granted El Paso a temporary certificate for this project.

Nevada Natural Gas Pipe Line Company, Las Vegas, proposes to build a $2,331,350 pipe line from near Topock, Ariz., to Las Vegas, to deliver natural gas to distributing companies in Needles, Calif., and Las Vegas and Boulder City, Nev. The company plans to obtain its supply from El Paso.

Flood Crest—

Mo., between the Missouri and the Mississippi, still refused to heed a warning of the Army to get out. The Army gave up trying to save the dikes several days ago as the water crept higher in the St. Charles, Mo., area, only a few miles from where the Missouri pours into the Mississippi.

The Missouri fell slowly at Jefferson City Thursday morning after reaching 34.21 feet Wednesday night, the highest since 1844.

Death Toll Increases

The Mississippi here has been high for two weeks. Three boys drowned Wednesday in backwaters of that river south of East St. Louis, Ill., bringing to 26 the number of dead from floods in the Midwest.

The worst is yet to come here. The Weather Bureau expects a stage of 40.5 Sunday—highest since the unofficial reading of 41.39 on June 27, 1844. The expected crest would top the 40.3 reading set here in 1947, when flooding caused $9,000,000 damage.

At Kansas City and in Kansas, rescue workers and others continued their task of cleaning up the damage left by the floods last week. Water still was standing in many areas.

The Kansas City Municipal Airport was reopened to planes of less than 12,500 pounds. Runways were too spongy for heavier aircraft.

Evacuation of 13,000 animals trapped in the stockyards district was completed Thursday. The work went on around the clock since Monday.

Fire Danger Still Great

A last ditch fight to save a major railroad bridge at Kansas City appeared successful.

But the danger from fire still was great as gasoline and oil floated on the remaining water officials said a tiny spark could set off a major disaster.

Only two large cities stood in the path of the raging current between Jefferson City and St. Louis. They are Hannibal and St. Charles, where Army Engineers and other workers continued to fight to save levees still standing after a preliminary flood two weeks ago.

The major parts of both cities are on bluffs. These bluffs line much of the river's course in Eastern Missouri, thus preventing it from fanning out to the sides and losing some of its punch.

Priest Tells Story Of $200,000 Paid To 'Confidence Man'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A priest testified Thursday he and his colleagues had turned over between $150,000 and $200,000 to a man described as "a professional confidence man with a long criminal record."

The testimony to a Senate Investigations subcommittee came from the Rev. Maxim Markiw, of the Greek Catholic Church. He identified himself as provincial of the Order of St. Basil the Great, with headquarters in New York.

He said he paid the money to Sam D. Mason, termed a professional "con man" with a criminal record by Senators Hoey (D-NC) and McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Mason, under subpoena, waited to testify while Father Markiw and a colleague, the Rev. Peter Hewko, told their story.

Father Hewko testified Mason had said he was in a position to get them bargain leases on "surplus" government buildings in various parts of the country.

No Officials Involved

The witness added that the offer was accepted because the order was in need of a new church and a school, as well as a camp for poor children.

Father Hewko also testified that Mason told him he would use the money received to pay off "Army officers" who would clear the way to obtaining the leases. At the outset of Thursday's session, Hoey, the committee chairman, said there was no evidence that any government officials or military men were involved in Mason's operations.

Before the two priests took the stand, the committee was told:

1. By Joseph E. Bennett, Boston construction contractor, that he paid Mason $22,765 to obtain contracts for him but Mason never produced.
2. By Mr. and Mrs. Bohdan Watawala of Philadelphia that they and relatives and friends paid Mason about $37,000 to obtain leases on government buildings.

Iran Orders Chief British Oil Envoy To Leave Country

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—Iran Thursday took new measures against an Anglo-Iranian Oil Company executive as W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy, paid his third visit to Premier Mohammad Mossadegh.

N. R. Seddon, chief AIOC representative in Tehran, disclosed that the Iranian government revoked his residence permit Thursday. Seddon told reporters, however, he would not leave the country until the British Embassy has made a formal protest against the move to oust him.

A source close to Mossadegh said Seddon would be ordered to leave the country within five days. The informant gave no reason for the expulsion order, but indicated it was in connection with papers seized in a raid on Seddon's house two weeks ago.

Chiang's Regime Resents Exclusion From Jap Treaty

TAIPEH, FORMOSA (AP)—Anti-American sentiment flared Thursday in the Chinese Nationalist Parliament because the Nationalists were not invited to sign the proposed Japanese peace treaty.

Minister, Native Of Latvia, Speaks At Rotary Meeting

—MINISTER 24-3— NNN N N N

Painting a dark picture of what would happen to Midland if the Communists should take over, the Rev. Carlos Gruber of Plainview, a native of Latvia, addressed the Midland Rotary Club at its regular meeting Thursday noon, in Hotel Scharbauer. He was introduced by the Rev. Jim Goins, pastor of the Bellview Baptist Church.

Mr. Gruber, who is in charge of the singing at the evangelistic crusade underway at the Bellview Baptist Church, spoke on the subject, "Midland Under Communism."

Emphasizing the fact that "it can happen here," Mr. Gruber said millions of citizens of countries now behind the Iron Curtain formerly thought the same thing, but "it did happen there."

Step-By-Step Procedure

"Your service clubs and churches would be disbanded, your businesses and properties would be taken over by the state, the secret police would take complete charge of your city, your entire way of living would be changed over night," warned the speaker as he developed step-by-step the procedure the Communists would follow in taking over Midland and other American cities.

Mr. Gruber spoke from first-hand experience, having lived under communism at one time.

"Let's be awake to the fact that America today faces the gravest danger in its history," the speaker said, as he called upon his listeners to be alert to the inroads of communism in America and throughout the world.

Reports from Plainview Wednesday said a portable rig had moved in to the location and started drilling before sunset Wednesday.

Pennsylvanian Lime Opener In Andrews Reports Potential

Cities Service Oil Company and Sinclair Oil & Gas Company have completed their No. 1-B Reed, Central-North Andrews County wildcat as a flowing discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime.

The new field opener reported a 24-hour potential of 483 barrels of 38.4 gravity oil, plus 178 barrels of water. The completion test was flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke. The production is from perforated zone at 9,133.5-9,138.5 feet.

The 24-hour potential was calculated from an actual 13 1/4-hour test where the well flowed 256.99 barrels of oil and 98.29 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was 982-1. The well is now going on regular production.

East of Shafter Lake

It is 1,984 feet from south and 1,981 feet from east lines of section 10, block A-36, pal survey. The producer is three miles east of the multipay Shafter Lake field, and between that producing area and the Means field. It is nine miles northwest of the town of Andrews.

No. 1-B Reed drilled to a bottom of 10,971.5 feet in the Devonian. That formation did not show for any sort of production. A string of 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented on bottom.

When the Devonian field to produce the well was plugged back and the section at 9,133.5-9,138.5 feet was perforated and tested. It was treated with 250 gallons of acid prior to the taking of the completion test.

Y&H Is To Test And Try To Complete Yoakum Discovery

York & Harper, Inc., of Midland, is to make production tests and try to complete its No. 1 J. E. Wright, Northeast Yoakum County wildcat as a commercial producer and the opener of a new oil field from the Gorieta lime of the middle Permian.

This prospector indicated it might make an oil well in a drillstem test at 5,931-6,031 feet. It flowed oil by heads during that investigation. There was no gauge on the flows, but oil fill up in the drill pipe during the time the tool was open was at the rate of 14.86 barrels per hour.

Corrected Depth

It developed salt water, load oil and some new oil in a test of the interval at 6,084 feet. That zone had previously been reported as 6,018-74 feet. An electric log survey corrected depth of the hole to make it ten feet deeper than had previously been reported. Operator is to plug back to 6,010 feet and make the production tests on the pay section above that point.

This possible discovery is 16 miles northeast of Plains, 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 13, block D, John H. Gibson survey, and one and one-half miles northeast of the Cobb field which produces from the Gorieta and from the Clear Fork.

Ray Spots Another SW Yoakum Test

B. A. (Al) Ray of Midland has staked location for one location south of his No. 1 Pillingim, possible producer from the San Andres lime in Southwest Yoakum County.

The new project will be Ray's No. 1-A Pillingim. It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 711, block D, John H. Gibson survey. It is slated to drill to 5,300 feet to test the San Andres.

Ray No. 1 Pillingim, located 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 711, block D, John H. Gibson survey, and two and one-half miles northwest of the nearest producers from the San Andres in the Wasson field, is bottomed at 5,195 feet. It cemented 5 1/2-inch casing at 5,140 feet. Cable tools are to be moved in to drill the plug and drill into the expected pay in the San Andres.

Adair-Wolfcamp In Terry Is Extended

The Adair-Wolfcamp field of Central-South Terry County was extended one location to the north with the completion of Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 2-A Carl Golden.

The new oiler was finished for a daily flowing potential of 594 barrels of oil plus two-tenths per cent water through a three-eighths-inch tubing choke.

Production is from open hole at 8,480-8,575 feet. That section was

Snowden Completes Spraberry Oiler

James H. Snowden and Associates No. 2-9 McClintic, one location northeast of the same operators' No. 1-9 McClintic, recently completed flowing producer between the Tex-Harvey and Germanian field of Midland County, has been completed as a producer.

Operator reported a flow of 215.73 barrels of oil in 12 hours through a one-quarter-inch choke to give the well a 24-hour potential of 431.56 barrels of oil.

Completion was from open hole at 7,162-7,217 feet after 3,000 gallons of Hydracrac were put into that section.

Gas-oil ratio was 696-1. Gravity of the oil is approximately 38 degrees.

Location is 1,980 feet from west and south lines of section 9, J. Lacy survey, T-2-S.

Wildcat Is Spudded At NW Floyd Site

Marlin Petroleum Company of Marlin, Texas, is reported to have spudded at its No. 1 Eugene F. Harri, scheduled deep wildcat in Northwest Floyd County.

The exploration is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 41, block D-6. That puts it four miles southwest of Aiken.

It is reported that the wildcat is due to drill to production, the Ellenburger, or granite, whichever comes first.

Some sources reveal that the lease on the tract on which the project is located was slated to have expired at midnight Wednesday, unless operations had started at the drill-site.

Reports from Plainview Wednesday said a portable rig had moved in to the location and started drilling before sunset Wednesday.

Some Oil Is Being Recovered On Swab In Reagan Wildcat

The Blackwood & Nichols Company is swabbing out acid load from perforations at 10,602-620 feet in casing, opposite the Ellenburger, in its No. 1 D. E. Hughes, possible Ellenburger discovery in West-Central Reagan County.

The perforations were washed with 3,000 gallons of acid in an attempt to make the well flow.

Following a previous 2,000 gallon treatment through the same perforations operator swabbed out acid load out with high-gravity new oil and gas.

No gauge or estimate has been made on the new oil.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 22, W. M. Cleveland survey.

Six Prospectors Set In Tex-Harvey

Den-Tex Oil Company of Dallas spotted location for No. 3 Spraberry tests in the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County.

Three of them are in section 11 and three are in section 23.

All will be drilled as Den-Tex-Floyd projects.

No. 1-11 will be 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

No. 3-11 Den-Tex-Floyd will be dug 660 feet from south and west lines of the same section.

No. 4-11 Den-Tex-Floyd's drillsite is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the same section.

Den-Tex No. 1-23 Den-Tex-Floyd was staked 660 feet from north and east lines of section 23, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

No. 3-23 Den-Tex-Floyd is slated for digging 1,980 feet from north and east lines of the same section.

No. 4-23 Den-Tex-Floyd is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 23, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Well Is Potential

General Crude Oil Company and Percy Jones No. 2-12 Percy Jones is a new producer in the recently opened north extension to the Salt Creek field of Northwest-Central Kent County.

The new oiler was finished for a daily flowing potential of 484.96 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil and no water after open hole from 6,181 to 6,438 feet had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 483-1. Tubing pressure was 580 pounds and pressure on casing was 375 pounds.

Potential was gauged on a one-quarter-inch choke.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 12, block 1, H&GN survey.

Oil, Gas Discovery Fined In Rio Arriba

A flowing oil and gas discovery has been completed in the Rio Arriba County side of the San Juan Basin in Northwest New Mexico at Thomas W. Doswell of Dallas, No. 2 Scott-Federal.

The wildcat was completed for a 24-hour initial production of 720 barrels of 46-gravity oil. The production was flowing naturally through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

Gas volume was reported to have been 460,000 cubic feet per day. The production is from open hole at 6,507-6,692 feet in the Mancos-Cretaceous formation.

Previous reports had given the pay section as being at 6,606-6,700 feet.

Glasscock Slated For Three Testers

Sohio Petroleum Company has staked locations for three more tests in the area around its No. 1-A Davenport, assured discovery from the Spraberry in Southwest Glasscock County.

The firm will drill No. 7-A R. S. Davenport 695 feet from north and 600 feet from east lines of section 14, block 37, T-5-S, T&P survey.

No. 8-A Davenport will be dug 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of the same section. Sohio No. 9-A Davenport will be dug 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of the same section.

The three tests each will be drilled to a possible bottom of 7,100 feet.

The firm's No. 1-A Davenport at last report was treating the Spraberry with Hydracrac in preparation for completion.

Blumenthal Blanks Artesia, 11-0, On Four Hits

Hayden White Gets Fifteenth Homer

A near-capacity "Ladies Night" crowd had plenty to cheer about Wednesday night, as the Midland Indians topped the Artesia Drillers, 11-0, before an appreciative audience.

The Indians supported a fine pitching job by Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal with a nine-hit attack that included a home run off the bat of Hayden White in the seventh inning. The four-run slugger was the outfielder's fifteenth career home run.

Blumenthal posted his seventh win of the season for the Tribe, as he blanked the Drillers, 11-0, in a four-inning performance for a Midland moundman this year. Only in the third inning—when he walked three straight men—was Blumenthal threatened. But he pulled out of it by making Abe Fleitas ground out. The big speed-baller struck out six.

Scouter Hughes scooted home with the first Redskin tally early in the game, scoring on a single by J. B. Gibbs. Hughes reached base on a two-base error.

The third frame was Midland's biggest. Blumenthal drew a walk at the outset of the inning, and hurried around to third on Rudy Escobar's sacrifice. Hughes' hit scored Blumenthal. After Hughes puffed second, Gibbs scored him with a single to right field.

White then lofted his home run over the left field wall to account for runs three and four of the inning. Kenny Jones drew a walk. Zeke Bonura was hit by a pitched ball and Eddie Melillo walked to lead the sacks. Bill Crumley reached base by error. Jones and Bonura scored. Blumenthal, up again, drew his second walk of the evening.

Loser Melvin Miller then was replaced by Ray Riley, who allowed Crumley to score on a wild pitch, after he had gone to third on a passed ball. Then Riley struck the rally.

That was more than enough, but Hayden White lashed a double to highlight the two-run sixth inning, and Gibbs tripled. Escobar, home with the final run in the eighth. Escobar had a good night in center field, making several difficult catches.

The Drillers' four hits were scattered, with one in the first, one in the second and two in the eighth.

Kiner Blasts Homers

By The Associated Press
The Brooklyn Dodgers retain their eight-game lead in the National League in spite of, and not because of, their record during the last week.

The Dodgers have lost six of their last seven starts but the New York Giants have been able to do nothing about it.

Ralph Kiner smashed three home runs—one with the bases loaded—Wednesday, to hand the faltering Dodgers a 13-12 licking. The Giants fell before the Chicago Cubs, 6-3.

In the American League's sweltering race, the New York Yankees smacked the Chicago White Sox, 3-1, to move into a virtual tie with the Sox for second place in the race.

The game was an afternoon affair. In a night contest, the Boston Red Sox, leading Chicago by a slim two points going into the day's play, nipped the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, to take a full game lead over the White Sox and Yankees.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved into second place by one percentage point with 8-6 victory over the Boston Braves in a game played under the arc. Cincinnati and Philadelphia split a doubleheader, the Reds taking the first game, 2-0, and the Phils the second, 1-0 also a night affair.

Philadelphia swamped Detroit, 16-9, in an American League day game. Washington and St. Louis met in a night game which the Senators won, 7-1.

Dallas finally clipped Houston, 5-2, and that clipped the Boston Texas League lead to just nine full games.

But by winning, Dallas stayed tied with Beaumont, 3-1 winner over Tulsa, for second place as San Antonio dropped into fourth on a 5-0 licking at the hands of Fort Worth Wednesday night.

Oklahoma City took Shreveport, 5-1, and that pulled the Indians into a sixth-place tie with Tulsa. Hal Erickson set Houston down with four hits and his Dallas mates exploded for three runs in the ninth after two were out to win.

Erickson started the rally with a single. Doubles by Herb Conyers and Bob Collins kept it going. Johnny Mackinson tossed a five-hitter at Tulsa as the Roughnecks swept the series.

Pete Mondorf won his tenth game and fifth shutout in blanking San Antonio, 10-0. Rudy Parnich stopped Shreveport on five hits.

Western Plastic Takes Lead In Softball Playoff

Jack Dunlap batted in the winning run and was the winning pitcher Thursday night, as Western Plastic Company defeated Standard of Texas, 4-3, in the third game of the City Major Softball playoff.

Dunlap allowed four hits. Loser Chester Campbell gave up five singles. Standard tied the game in the top of the seventh, 3-3, but Plastic won it in the ninth when Simpson singled, took second on a fly ball advanced to third on an error and scored on Dunlap's fly.

The win gave Plastic a 2-1 edge in the playoff series. The fourth game will be played at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Wadley Park. A Plastic win would end the playoff, while Standard could force a game to be untied Friday night by copping the Thursday contest.

Teams Rated Even In All-Star Contest

ROSWELL—East is East and West is West, and they meet in the Longhorn League all-star game at 8 p.m. (9 p.m. CST) here Thursday night.

There is no outstanding favorite. Popular opinion is that the West infield is slightly superior to the East infield, but the East has the outfield edge.

Elsewhere, the two team classed as a toss-up. Pitching is rated about even, with hitting on an even-par. Both teams have players capable of breaking up the ball game with one well-timed blow.

No starting hurlers have been announced. The West pitchers are Eddie Jacone, Midland; Dean Franks, Roswell.

The Longhorn League all-star game will be broadcast at 10 p.m. Thursday over station KCRS, Midland. The broadcast will be a delayed recording from Roswell.

well; Israel Ten, Artesia; Ray Riley, Artesia, and Ray Sims, Odessa.

King's Row
by Larry King
In spite of his "unpopularity" in Midland, we think Al Monchak was a good choice for the West team's all-star manager.

Monchak not only is a top flight infielder and a long ball hitter, he's a shrewd manager. He may not get to exercise his strong forte—improving ball players over the season—but he probably will show the East a thing or two about strategy ere the Thursday night clash at Roswell is over.

A fine competitor, Monchak is at his best when the chips are down. Several times this season he has changed the game in favor of his Rockets with a timely hit—sometimes a home run—late in the game.

The only time we take displeasure with Monchak is when he begins his stalling tactics—and, he'll start to stall every time his team is in hot water. Of course, Monchak isn't doing it because he likes to keep late hours—there's more to it than that. He believes in playing the old cat and mouse game. That's to say he'll wait you out—and lots of times, he'll beat you doing it.

While it gets rather old to the fans, it is effective. And he's paid to win ball games, even if it means working a little over time. Actually most Midland fans feel that Al is a top flight hand—that boozing is just for laughs.

The East could have done worse than pick Vernon's Jittery Joe Berry to mastermind their outfit, too. Foxy Joe always has the smallest squad in the loop, but he's rough and usually has his squad at the top—or near the top—of the heap.

Never flashy, Berry's teams always are hustlers and scrappers, although he himself is one of the most even-tempered managers in the league.

Yes, it oughta be quite a duel, this East vs. West, Monchak vs. Berry affair.

Quartucci, Ogden Leave Midland Team

Ray Quartucci, reserve third baseman for the Midland Indians, has been recalled by the American Georgia club. Manager Zeke Bonura said Thursday. Quartucci batted 161 with the Indians in his stint here. Eddie Melillo has taken over the third sack, with newcomer Bill Crumley replacing Melillo at second base.

Bonura also announced the release of Emil Ogden, Ogden asked to be released, as he would be a veteran player next year if he remained under contract any longer. A converted outfielder who now is a pitcher, Ogden said he would work on his pitching tracks and report to Midland next season. He has been pitching only six weeks. He lost one win none with the Indians this year.

Walcott Explodes For Seventh Round KO Of Ezz Charles

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, an amazing old man of the ring who wouldn't be licked, Thursday held the world's heavyweight championship in an astounding climax to an almost unbelievable saga of the ring.

Thursday plans were in motion for a September return meeting between the brown Cinderella man and the beaten champion, Ezzard Charles, either in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, or New York. Pittsburgh, with a city record turnout of 28,272 for its first heavyweight title show at Forbes Field, looked the likely winner of the fistful plum.

At 37, Jersey Joe Wednesday night became the oldest man ever to win boxing's most prized bauble when he flattened the superbly conditioned Charles in 55 seconds of the seventh round of their 15-round bout. A left hook to the jaw sent Charles to the canvas.

It was the ancient Camden batter's fifth crack at the championship—two more chances than any other challenger ever got at the heavyweight crown.

"I got him with a left hook to the jaw," said Joe with a big grin on his face. Only moments before tears coursed down his cheeks as he realized his glorious moment of triumph.

"Get Hit!"
"I just got hit," said the crestfallen Charles in the stillness of a loser's dressing room.

"Did I hear the count? I heard five—I guess," said Charles, who had a lump under his right eye and a cut on his lower lip that required two stitches.

"I don't know what it was, but he seemed more aggressive than ever. He was taking chances with haymaker punches and leaving himself wide open but I couldn't seem to do anything about it. I guess I was waiting for later when he would tire out."

Only six years ago Walcott was living in Camden, N. J., in a home with a hole in the front door and no window panes.

Now he has the fame and power that goes with wealth. Joe's fortunes changed when he became identified with his manager, Felix Boccochico, early in 1945.

All his life Walcott has kept in condition. Even during his various retirements before 1945 he did daily road work when most of his friends thought it was wasted effort.

His clean living has paid off. As Dr. J. M. Houston, chief physician of the Illinois Athletic Commission, declared two years ago before the first Charles-Walcott bout in Chicago:

"Perfect Specimen"
"I don't know for certain how old Walcott may be, but whatever his age, he is in perfect condition. He is an amazing specimen."
Jersey Joe is not the bragging kind, either. He always has been thankful for his good fortune.

As he said from the ring in Pittsburgh Wednesday night:
"I want to thank God for helping me to win. I always said that if God's on your side you're bound to win sooner or later."

In Joe's case it was later, but he is thankful and humble.
"I want to be a worthy champion and try to help the youth of this country," he said Wednesday night. "I want to visit every church and Sunday School, where they want me to, and tell the young folks what it means to have God on your side."

McCamey Wins Over Crane In Playoff
McCAMEY—McCamey took a one-game lead in the Permian Basin Softball League playoff with Crane Wednesday night, with a 2-1 victory here.

The second game will be played at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in Crane. Red Denham, winner, struck out 10.

Jack Dunlap batted in the winning run and was the winning pitcher Thursday night, as Western Plastic Company defeated Standard of Texas, 4-3, in the third game of the City Major Softball playoff.

Dunlap allowed four hits. Loser Chester Campbell gave up five singles. Standard tied the game in the top of the seventh, 3-3, but Plastic won it in the ninth when Simpson singled, took second on a fly ball advanced to third on an error and scored on Dunlap's fly.

The win gave Plastic a 2-1 edge in the playoff series. The fourth game will be played at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Wadley Park. A Plastic win would end the playoff, while Standard could force a game to be untied Friday night by copping the Thursday contest.

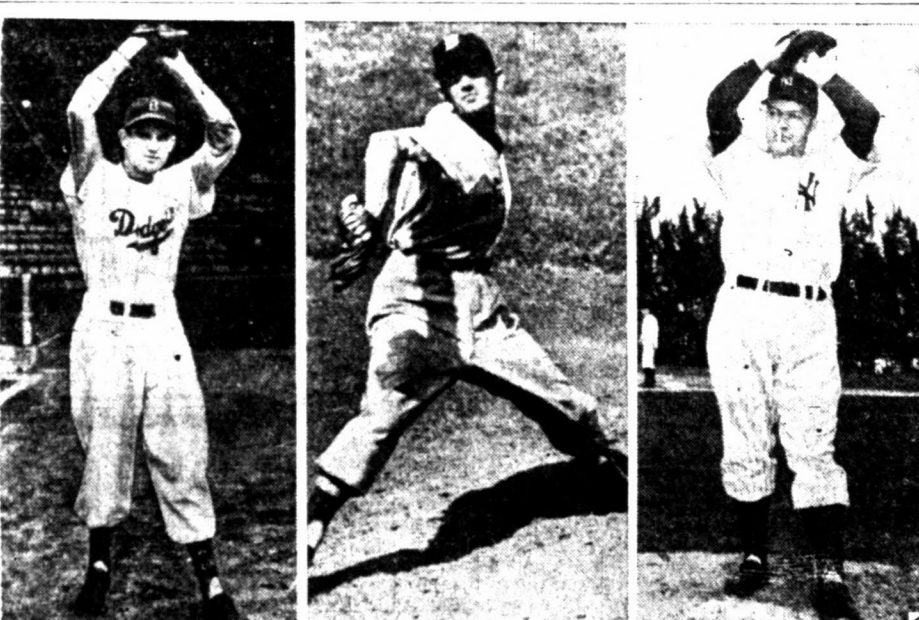

The score: H R E
Standard 090 010 2-4 4 1
Plastic 002 010 1-3 5 3
Campbell and Davis; Dunlap and Wise.

A DREAM HOME!

Ranch Style, 3-Bedroom

IN BEDFORD PLACE — NEAR COUNTRY CLUB

All of the refined features you have wished for are to be found in this beautiful red brick ranch style home, just completed by Edwin Brown at 1203 Princeton. Let us take you on a tour through this lovely home. Entering through the front door you step into an entrance-way with cloak and hat closet; immediately to your left. A few steps to the right and you are in a cozy den with wood burning fireplace, built-in book cases and lots of light streaming in through the windows that line one wall; is of knotty pine throughout that lends an atmosphere of coziness and comfort. A doorway from the den leads into the kitchen that is a domestic's dream, with multiple storage space, tile drains, double sink, hooded space over cook stove that has electrically controlled vent fan, connections for either gas or electric range, electric wall plugs large, large closet for washing machine and another large closet for water softener and water heater. Adjoining the kitchen is a spacious breakfast nook from which a door opens into the large double garage, while another door leads into the dining room.

After entering the front door, a turn to the left leads one down a hallway past two huge clothes closets and the two large tiled bathrooms on the one side and the three spacious bedrooms on the other. One bath is with shower, dressing table, built-in mirror and modern ceramic fixtures. The master bedroom is of pink and gray tile, tub and very modern appointments. Here, too, are to be found two other spacious bedrooms. The bedrooms, all with southern exposures, are decorated in subdued, harmonizing colors. The large living room, which is situated between the bedrooms and the dining room, has a wood burning fireplace, and practically all glass southern exposure. Double louver doors lead into the dining room, while French doors lead from the dining room onto the large back terrace. This home has best grade clear Redwood floors throughout, beautifully finished. Three phone jacks are an added convenience. A system of ducts connect all rooms for air conditioning. The large double garage has 9-ft. overhead doors and an enclosed 5'x20' storage room across the rear. The house and garage is 104 ft. frontage. The builtup double wood shingle roof has 3 1/2 ft. overhang all around. Terraced lot. Frontage is 120 ft., by 140 ft. deep. Is located in one of most desirable residential sections of Midland, near Country Club and flanked by homes of similar proportions. An early appointment is suggested. Shown exclusively by

Funeral Rites Set In Dallas For Duke

Funeral services for Chester Arlington Duke, 43, of Dallas, were to be held either Thursday or Friday in the Weyland Funeral Home, Dallas.

Duke was found dead Wednesday morning in a hotel room here. Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson returned a coroner's verdict of death due to natural causes.

Owner of the Colonial Plumbing Company of Dallas, Duke is survived by his widow, three brothers and his mother, all of Dallas. He came to Midland Monday on business.

HANDS ARE BURNED

N. C. Shelton of Odessa, an employee of Falcon Seaboard Drilling Company, suffered first and second-degree burns of both hands early Thursday when gasoline on his hands ignited. He was released from Midland Memorial Hospital after receiving emergency treatment.

Flooded Valley Is Devil's Playground Of Rack And Ruin

KANSAS CITY, MO.—(AP)—The Kaw River Valley is a devil's playground of wreckage and ruin Thursday.

The physical damage can be repaired, but— Shortly after midnight, a week ago Thursday, the river smashed the dikes in four places above North Topeka and came hissing across the flats toward a small shopping district, surrounded by hundreds of homes. Most of the people, having been warned some 12 hours earlier, already had gone.

When the word came, George White and his wife knew exactly what they would do. There were two other persons in the Whites' little tavern on Kansas Avenue at that hour—Penny Coleman, the waitress, and Otis Stevens, a plumber. Together, the four first put the refrigerator up on blocks. It was brand new, delivered the day before.

Then they went to the Whites' home and began carrying furniture upstairs to the second floor. They stripped the lower two rooms and kitchen bare of everything but the stove. That was too heavy. The Whites came back to North Topeka Wednesday. Very little is left to them. They had worked together, in print shops, 22 years to save enough for a start on the tavern and later the apartments. There is no such thing as flood insurance.

Mrs. White said she thought "somehow they would get started again." "Anyway," she said, "I still have my furniture in the house. We're so much luckier than some people."

About 20,000 persons had to leave the flatlands around North Topeka. The Red Cross is housing, feeding and caring for many of them in the Civic Auditorium, 15 churches, five school buildings, the Masonic Temple and the American Legion building in Topeka.

Nothing But Wet Clothes They sleep on Army cots, and there are games and movies for the children. The doctors and nurses in Topeka are giving their hours each day to guard against infections and take care of the emergency cases, the pregnancies and broken bones and paralytic strokes. In one corner of the auditorium—oblivious to the racket of crying children and scolding mothers—two negroes sit, playing dominoes. Across the room, a Mexican on an accordion plays a sad Latin song.

"Most of them came here with nothing but their wet clothes," Neil Duke, Red Cross regional director said.

Many of them will find nothing, not even the shell of a home, when they go back. They weep for the things that are gone, for a brown Cocker Spaniel named "Sonny," for a new dining room suite, for the car that was all but paid for.

The destruction you can see in the valley is great.

The ruin you can feel is infinitely greater.

Kaesong Cease-Fire Story Real Newsman's Nightmare

MUNSAN, KOREA.—(AP)—The Kaesong cease-fire conference is a newsman's nightmare when it comes to getting out the daily story.

Around the clock, U. S. and other United Nations correspondents covering the Korean war armistice talks struggle to get the news to the outside world.

Quite regularly, hot copy grows cold as Korea's few telephones break down, the teletype circuits go on the blink, jeeps have flat tires, planes are grounded by bad weather.

In the last few days, such communications blackouts have kept some Kaesong stories in Korea more than 12 hours before newsmen succeeded in getting their copy to Tokyo for round-the-world distribution.

The communications troubles are nothing new to allied correspondents in Korea. They have been battling them ever since the war began more than a year ago.

Problem Magnified But here, the problem is magnified. More than 100 UN photographers and writers have converged on this peace camp.

Prior to the armistice negotiations, the daily press output between Seoul and Tokyo was about 30,000 words. Now the average is 150,000 words a day.

Stories written on the special press train, which rests on a siding near the advance camp, are funneled into Seoul where censors scrutinize every line.

The bulk of the press copy is relayed by telephone, teletype or air courier to the Tokyo offices of the wire services, newspapers, magazines, broadcasting companies and other news media.

These offices then handle further relay to the United States, generally by commercial wireless or radio teletype.

Every day, 20 UN photographers and reporters journey by truck to Kaesong. They frequently write stories at the conference site, but must hold their copy until they return here in late afternoon.

Only the military can use the communications facilities at Kaesong.

The newsmen's return signals a wild scramble, especially by the wire services, to get out the copy.

Reporters wait in jeeps at the Imjin River boundary north of the base camp. When the correspondents' truck from Kaesong reaches the Munsan side of the river, the newsmen aboard toss their copy into the waiting hands of colleagues, who dash off in jeeps.

There is only one telephone line to Seoul from the press train. Everything sent over this phone must be "pooled" made available to all news services.

To get exclusive stories to Seoul, correspondents scour the area for Army phones. Invariably they have to go through at least five separate exchanges to reach Seoul, and the chances always are 100 to 1 that one of these will be busy or out of order.

Long Rugged Road The surest but roughest means of getting the stories to Seoul is by jeep. Every day, correspondents race over bumpy, dusty roads, a trip which takes at least 10 hours. Other copy, such as feature stories, usually goes by jeep and helicopter provided by the combined Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force Public Information Office.

When the copy reaches Seoul, the uncertainty of communications still holds on the theory that Tokyo will be unreachable. One night this week, Japan was cut off completely from Korea for hours. All telephone and teletype circuits went out and air flights were grounded. The news finally got to Tokyo after newsmen carried their copy by jeep to Inchon in the middle of the night and transferred it to a Navy communications ship anchored in the harbor of Seoul's port city.

The armed services have labored to keep the news moving. More than 60 per cent of all traffic, including military, sent to Tokyo is for the press.

But the nightmarish conditions remain.

Construction Here Ahead Of Record Pace Of 1950

By TANNER LAINE
Midland is building at the greatest rate in its history! Where have you seen that headline before? Well, you read it around July 1, 1950. It holds good for July 1, 1951—only more so. Construction this year in Midland is ahead of the pace of 1950 when the city posted a record number of building permits. In fact, the 1951 pace almost is double the previous year.

On July 1 last year, Midland had a total in building permits of $4,680,131. The total for that year was $11,735,261.

Now look at 1951: on July 1, the construction total was a whopping $7,831,025.

During the first six months of this year, permits for building have averaged $1,271,837 per month.

Here is the 1951 breakdown by months (all types of building):

Month	Total
January	$1,506,000
February	1,990,550
March	1,818,915
April	1,238,700
May	731,125
June	1,680,335

Midland during the first six months of this year counted $4,516,385 in construction of new one-family residences. New one-family residences built during the period numbered 544. This figure does not include two-family-or-more residences, duplexes or apartment houses.

By months the new one-family residences totaled: January 114,

February 80, March 63, April 56, May 62 and June 107.

New commercial construction for the first six months of 1951 amounted to $1,839,650. Residential repairs and alterations totaled $102,190. Commercial repairs and alterations figured $1,737,300.

By months, the new residential construction from January 1 through June 30 this year ran: January, $904,750; February, $781,850; March, $682,275; April, $610,000; May, $595,375; June, $622,135.

New commercial construction ran: January, $395,400; February, $13,500; March, $1,089,800; April, $99,200; May, $19,800; June, $22,250.

For comparison, here are the building permits by months during the first six months of 1950 (the year construction grants hit an all-time record):

Month	Total
January	$ 780,645
February	449,775
March	729,395
April	1,109,740
May	685,611
June	1,094,965

Here is the breakdown by months during 1951 of all construction: January—Total $1,580,800; new residential $904,750; residential repairs and alterations $10,350; new commercial $395,400; commercial alterations and repairs $70,300.

For salaried employees, it will be 10 per cent of regular monthly pay, times the number of months worked during that period.

C. W. Duncan, vice president, joined in making the announcement, saying: "Free enterprise and reward for individual accomplishment have been the basis of the success of the Duncan Coffee Company."

Motor Takes On Clucking Sound

BEATRICE, NEB.—The engine in Nelson Walker's car seemed to have developed a peculiar sound—more like a cluck than a knock. So the Clatonia, Neb., man pulled up in front of a Beatrice produce house, lifted the hood and discovered—to his surprise—a hot but otherwise unharmed chicken.

The hitch-hiking ride of the biddy ended right there. Walker sold the chicken.

Train Kills Cattle, Owner Refuses Suit

MOBILE, Ala.—W. T. Fulton, Jr., admitted that it was his livestock's own fault for becoming dead and he wouldn't claim otherwise.

Fulton writes the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad: "It seems that two of my cows got out of their confines and tried to force one of your freight trains off its beaten track. My cows were definitely out of order and therefore you may consider the matter unconditionally closed."

General Claims Agent, Fred L. Johnson found Fulton's letter quite "refreshing" and with good reason. He okayed $90,000 in livestock claims last year.

Franks-In-A-Ring Is Refreshing Dish For Hot Weather Supper

FRANKS-IN-A-RING with chilled soft drinks for TV supper.

By GAYNOR MADDON
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Simplicity should be the keynote for a Summer buffet or TV party. For beverages, choose carbonated ones to serve with the meal. Thoroughly chilled to insure maximum carbonation, they always add zest and refreshment.

For the main course, serve "franks in a ring." They can be prepared ahead of time. A tangy accompaniment is something new—Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspic.

Franks In A Ring
(Serves 6-8)

Twelve frankfurters, 1 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains white pepper, 1 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons milk.

Cut frankfurters in half. Sift flour, baking powder and seasonings together. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture has texture of coarse corn meal. Add milk and blend.

Place dough on floured board and roll out to 1/8-inch thickness, cut into 1-inch strips about 3 inches long. Wrap dough around the middle of frankfurters. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

NOTE: If frankfurters are to be prepared for baking in advance, spread butter around dough to prevent drying out. Store in refrigerator until needed.

Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspic
(Serves 6)

One and one-half cups tomato juice, 2 crushed bay leaves, 1 1/2 tablespoons gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 1 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice, 1/2 cup cubed green pepper, 1 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled.

Simmer tomato juice and bay leaf for 5 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add tomato juice and seasonings to gelatin. Cool. Slowly add chilled carbonated beverage and green pepper.

Rinse 6 molds with cold water and fill with aspic. Chill until set. Garnish with green pepper rings and serve on crisp lettuce.

B&B Butane Firm Offers Complete Area-Wide Service

The B&B Butane Service, 321 South Fort Worth Street, provides a complete service, from installation of tanks to servicing equipment, and routing covering all sections of Midland County.

If you are one of those persons who still is using the old methods of cooking and heating, then you should get in contact with B&B right away.

Butane gas is one of the cleanest fuels known. The management can show you that living away from natural gas lines or other convenient fuel sources need not mean you must be denied the conveniences of modern living.

Many butane users proclaim it as clean as electricity for cooking and there is no question of its economy.

Appliances Are Stocked
Morris Snider of Midland and H. S. Blocker of Stanton are co-owners of the B&B Butane Service. The firm has been operating more than a year.

The concern also stocks Prest-O-Lite for plumbers, as well as torches. B&B also handles appliances, including heaters and cooking ranges, hot water heaters and other related items.

Heaters, with or without vents, are available at B&B.

The cook stoves stocked by the concern are equipped to burn either natural gas or butane, and there is nothing extra to buy when switching to either fuel.

The dial telephone number is 3-3451.

Women Are Habit, Says Scribe Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Are women habit-forming?

The evidence is that—in this world—they are to the average man. One way or another, one habit leads to another.

The two most popular habits between men and women in this age and day are marriage and divorce. Some deep students of our society worry because divorces have increased in this century.

Well, so have dogs, people, picnics, marriages and the number of cases of poison ivy. If you will honestly look over your own lives, or those of your parents, you will easily see why. There have been more opportunities to have picnics. Everything else follows.

Marriage is the formative period between adolescence and senility. It is the poor man's device for sharing his loneliness and responsibility and blame for being so pitiful.

Is Best Tribute

The best tribute to marriage is that those who divorce turn again to marriage. Certainly the men I know do. If they get rid of one woman they can't get along with, they immediately turn to the problem of trying to get along with another woman with fresher problems.

An example:

A friend of mine, despite his wife's proven charms—her drooping hair, her dull eyes, her vixen memory, her complaining housewife's voice—threw these tested affections over for the boyish pleasure of being alone.

For a few great days he felt less like a piece of feminine real estate and enjoyed the sensation of being young and irresponsible again.

But what happened? His secretary stubbornly objected it was bad enough for him to pay his ex-wife's alimony demands, and insisted he demand custody of his child. He did. Then, to insure a mother for his child, he gallantly married his secretary and agreed to care for her three children by a previous marriage.

Has To Hire Another

Naturally, of course, he had to hire another secretary.

And, being an ordinary man, this is the problem he says he faces practically every day now.

"I am walking along looking in the windows and I meet my former wife and she says she needs $50 to buy a house dress. I peel off the money and she is gone before I realize I am no longer married to her.

"My present wife then comes along pulling one of her own sons by his left hand. She says she needs $25 to straighten his right dog tooth to make him more acceptable to our neighbors. Well, I give her my last 25 bucks.

"And then what happens? I come back to the office and my new secretary wants to write airmail to her boy friends and complains the stamp account is overdrawn $10, and how did the office ever get in this shape anyway?"

And then he gave his conclusion: "Never marry a girl, never divorce her, never hire her in your office—in fact, better don't meet her at all—and then you'll never have to trade her for another woman as long as you live."

The real moral is this: "Picking up dumb bells in this world is like picking up peanuts. It's hard to stop after the first one."

If you're serving a crowd it's often easiest to use a ladle for vegetables, puddings, and some main dishes. This way all portions of the dish will be the same size.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail and Pretty Penny

Uncle Bunkum had come for a from the zoo, and now he given a pretty penny to Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, at a pretty penny it was! On one of the pretty penny was a picture of the Lincoln Man. On the other side was a picture of two feathers.

"But what if the Featherman saw the picture of the featherman? The Featherman lives in a tree, you know, and all he can think about is feathers, feathers, more feathers. Why, if the Featherman ever saw the pretty penny, bright and shiny with the picture of the feathers on it—trouble, trouble, trouble. Why the Featherman surely would try to snatch the penny away, and run away fast with home to his nest.

"That's what he would do," said

Uncle Bunkum. "Why don't you ask the Featherman please not to grab it away, and while you are wump, because down he had slid to bump right into the Featherman who must have been just walking by. But wait! Was the Featherman just walking by? No sir, he wasn't. There he stood with the pretty penny in his hand, so he must have snatched it away by magic somehow from the place where Mugwump had hidden it in the swing.

"Help!" shouted Mugwump. "Help! I've been robbed! Help! Pretty penny robber has robbed away my pretty penny!"

Ah me, but how ashamed was Mugwump Monkey when Featherman explained what really had happened. Featherman didn't want the pretty penny with the picture of the feathers on it, because the picture was only a picture. No sir, and the Featherman had only picked it up from the place where it had fallen down from the porch. Featherman picked it up to give to Mugwump, and he did, and Mugwump said he was sorry he had done the shuffling, and everyone was happy, except Uncle Bunkum who didn't get his nap, all on a very happy day. Happy day!

Skill At Painting Delays Sentence

By WESLEY DAVIS

ROCKFORD, ILL.—(AP)—A convict won another delay from Circuit Judge William R. Lusker in a habeas corpus petition to serve his sentence in the Winnebago County Jail instead of the Joliet penitentiary, all because he's handy with a paint brush.

His attorney told the court the man was "doing a good job of rehabilitation" in the county jail. "He does good work with a paint brush," the attorney said.

"It's a strange request," Judge Dasher commented. "I'll take it under advisement at least until the painting is done."

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

Beware Of Starchy Foods When You're On A Diet

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The amount of energy used up in a day varies from person to person; a farmer or lumberman will use more than someone who is tied to a desk. Consequently a diet which will enable one person to shed unwanted pounds will be more than enough for another.

Nevertheless it does not do any harm to know what foods supply the most energy (or fat) and how to make a rough calculation of the diet.

The value of most food substances is measured in calories which is an expression of the amount of heat they can produce. But excess calories also can be stored as fat, so for practical purposes if more calories are taken in than are used up, a person will gain weight.

The reverse also is true, but reducing diets should be planned carefully so they will contain enough of the necessary foodstuffs like proteins, minerals, and vitamins.

In general, a reducing diet should be low in fats and in starches or carbohydrates since the latter are converted into fat by the body. Most people recognize fatty foods such as butter, margarine, fat meat and cream.

example, corn, hominy, lima beans, macaroni, rice, bananas, grapes, and plums contain so much starch they are difficult to take at all when one is trying to lose weight.

Non-Fattening
On the other hand asparagus, broccoli, sprouts, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and several others are low in fattening elements.

Proteins such as lean meat, eggs, cottage cheese, and fish are almost always included in a reducing diet as are skimmed milk and a small amount of bread.

Anyone can have devised for himself a diet containing 1,000 calories, 1,200 or whatever number he will need to lose. It usually is necessary to actually weigh the extremely low calorie diets and it often is wise to do the same on the others—at least at first.

The rest of it is up to the person, but there is this to say: if they stick to it they will notice the loss before long and after a while their stomachs will seem to get used to smaller quantities of food.

John Paul Jones' Personal Effects Given To Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An extensive collection of items once owned by John Paul Jones now belongs to the U. S. Naval Academy. The relics have been on loan to the Academy for several years and exhibited in the Jones' crypt beneath the chapel and in the academy museum.

The collection was presented formally to the Academy by Mrs. John L. Senigoy of Lenox, Mass. Her husband, lawyer and cement industry executive, had assembled the scores of relics as a hobby.

The collection includes the original commission of the country's first naval hero signed by John Hancock in 1776 and issued to Jones as "Captain in the Navy of the United States", the commission has been appraised at $50,000. Jones carried it with him when he boarded the captured British frigate Serapis from his sinking ship, the Bon Homme Richard.
