Energas Requests Rate Increase Locally

Energas Company has filed a notice with 67 cities requesting $9.8 million in additional revenues from its West Texas customers. The Friona City Council voted to suspend the proposed effective date of the rate request for an additional 90 days. In its letter to the cities, Energas said "This is the first request for a rate adjustment by Energas in more than three years. Energas has invested more than $64 million in the West Texas division since 1996 to ensure the safety and reliability of the gas delivery system, enhance customer service and to expand its system for new residential and industrial customer growth." If the request is approved, the average customer will see an increase of about 8.8 percent, or $3.64, in their monthly gas bill. When annualized over the past three years, the current request reflects a 2.8-percent increase per customer, per year. "Our rates will continue to be among the lowest in the state and indeed among the lowest in the nation," said Earl Fischer, President of Energas. ## Friona Woman Reported Missing Since August 9

At press time, Friona Police and Amarillo Police were trying to unravel the disappearance of Sonia Mejia, 36, of Friona. According to reports, she was last seen in an Amarillo motel parking lot early in the morning of August 9. After a disagreement on who would drive back to Friona, she got out of their vehicle. After her husband, Joe Mejia, drove around the block and returned, he could not find her. While there has been no indication of foul play, a spokesman for the Amarillo Police Department said, the department is aiding Friona Police. "We're investigating it as best we can on a two-week-old case", a spokesman told the Amarillo Globe News. She is described in police reports as 5 feet 5 inches tall with brown eyes and light brown hair. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing a dark dress, wedding ring, and a necklace with an angel on it. She did not have her purse, identification or money. Anyone with information about Mrs. Mejia's disappearance is asked to contact the Friona Police Department at 806-250-2711.

RECENTLY, YE ED and spouse changed companies on our health insurance, and if you've been through that, you know that this procedure can cause you to completely reshuffle your HMO situation, while losing your mind.

- The Good Old Girl who lives with me on Maple Street handed me a list that kinda-sorta describes what we have been going through. She found this on the internet, and it is entitled:
- The Top Ten Signs You Have Joined A Cheap HMO
1. Your annual breast examination is conducted at Hooters.
  2. Directions to your doctor's office include: "take a left when you enter the trailer park."
  3. Tongue depressors taste faintly of fudgesicle
  4. "Patient responsible for 200% of out-of-network charges" is not a typographical error.
  5. Only item listed under the "Preventive Care" feature of the coverage is "an apple a day."
  6. Your "primary care physician" is wearing the pants you gave to Goodwill last month.
  7. The only proctologist in the plan is Gus from Roto-Rooter.
  8. The only expense that is covered 100% is embalming.
  9. With your last HMO, your Viagra pills didn't come in different colors with little "M"s on them.
  10. You have to call your banker and get a loan before you can even make your co-pay.

Now, this list does NOT apply to our local doctors (remember, it was found on the internet). It is entitled: "Doctors: What They Say Versus What They Mean." When they say: "What have we here?" They mean: He hasn't the foggiest notion of what it is, and hopes you'll give him a clue. They say: "Let me check your medical history." They mean: "I want to see if you've paid your last bill before spending more time with you." They say: "We have some good news and some bad news." They mean: "The good news is he's going to buy that new BMW, and the bad news is you're going to pay for it." They say: "Let me schedule you for some tests." They mean: "I have a 40% interest in the lab." They say: "We'll see." They mean: "First I need to check my malpractice insurance about this."

A MAN WALKED INTO a cowboy bar and ordered a beer just as president Clinton came on TV. The man mumbled "He's the biggest horse's ass I've ever seen." A customer at the end of the bar got up, walked over and decked him and left. A few minutes later, Hillary Clinton appeared on the TV. "She's a horse's ass too," he exclaimed. Another customer came over and knocked him off his stool. "Dadgum! the man said, this must be Clinton country." "Nope," the bartender replied, "It's horse country." (This, on the other hand, really might have happened around here!)

AND THEN FOR our "You've gotta be kidding" feature of the week. The PETA group, animal rights activists, have contacted McDonalds to see if the company would make sure that none of the cattle used for making Big Macs suffered unduly when they were slaughtered.

"Keeping The Barn Doors Closed"

Burglar alarm companies say they sell a lot of alarm systems to people after they have been burglarized. After a crook steals valuables out of our vehicle, we start locking the car doors. Tough guys that get along pretty well without praying or going to church, eventually find themselves in a sudden terrible or tragic mess where promises to God seem the only answer.

Anyone who has grown up west of the Mississippi knows the horse and barn door example. When the horse gets out of the barn because you left the barn door open you decide closing the barn door is a good idea except the horse has already gotten out....!

"That's kinda' like shuttin' the barn door after the horse is gone, isn't it?" People get a kick out of saying that.

Everybody you know has been in that pickle at least once in their life. The lesson is, and always will be, that we have to consider the consequences of our own actions.

That is why we have laws to help us determine acceptable and unacceptable behavior. That is why every time a tragedy occurs, such as the Columbine high school killings, the government rushes to pass more laws to "keep it from happening again." If we can just get enough laws on the books then America will be a better place to live. NOT!

Time and time again it has been acknowledged that in America now there are in the neighborhood of 20,000 gun laws. To a crazy, mean, lowlife, hateful, self-centered, demented human being, 20,000 gun laws are nothing.

It means about the same as 20,001 gun laws would mean. They simply do not care about the consequences. If they did, they wouldn't take the action.

The self-anointed king of America, Billy Jeff Clinton, has done his part in shredding the difference between right and wrong.

His reckless abuse of power and disregard for the justice system has no doubt influenced countless Americans in a negative way.

He blames Hollywood, and gun manufacturers, and video games for the unraveling of American ideals, yet takes no responsibility for his own damaging example to American youth. (The sooner America is rid of Billy Jeff and Hill Rod Clinton, the sooner it will be a better America.)

I thought about the horse and the barn door last Monday morning while watching the CNN live coverage of the first day of school at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado.

I do not know how I would have felt if I was a parent or student at Columbine. The horror of the shootings was unspeakable to those of us who could only watch TV. It must have been overwhelming for those who were there, especially the youngsters trapped and terrified inside the school building.

It must have been difficult at best for parents to deal with the reluctance of their kids to re-enter the school building. Some, I'm sure, simply enrolled at other schools. For many the Columbine memories were too overwhelming to deal with.

The Columbine principal is a man named Frank DeAngelis. High school principals tend to not like the spotlight and they certainly don't welcome controversy.

During the aftermath of the tragedy when the media converged on Littleton, I remember Mr. DeAngelis telling the national TV audience that he was never aware of any Columbine students wearing trenchcoats at the school. In fact he made the statement more than once.

But every student that was interviewed knew about the students in their trenchcoats. They even knew that the group of students were called the "Trenchcoat Mafia."

Granted there are 2,000 students at Columbine, but it seems to me that the principal should have known about the trenchcoats. Maybe he lied.

On Monday, Mr. DeAngelis led a pep rally before the first day of school. The theme was "Take Back Our School."

It seemed to have come as a surprise to Mr. DeAngelis that some of his students were bullying and picking on other students. It seemed to come as a surprise that problems could even exist at Columbine.

So now, after the horse has bolted from the barn, the new Columbine is equipped with 16 video cameras. There is a tip box in the school office for students to leave anonymous information about potential problems.

He explained the school's new zero tolerance policy against harassment, bullying, profanity, joking and kidding about violence, and a list of other prohibited actions in school.

He exhorted the students to feel empathy for each other. To help each other and look after each other. He told them that an assistant principal had designed a signal they could give to each other to show that they care about each other.

The signal is "touch your left ear to help somebody." If a student knows that a fellow student is having a bad day, they can brighten their day as they pass in the hall by touching their left ear.

My guess is that by the end of the first six weeks, ear tugging will be a passing fad.

Finally, Mr. DeAngelis quoted an FBI agent who wanted students everywhere to remember that "Snitching May Save A Life." That was his quote.

He urged every student to tell a teacher if they suspect that there is trouble brewing.

Wouldn't it have been great if Mr. DeAngelis and his staff had had this pep rally a few years ago?

Wouldn't it have been nice if they had tried to combat the bullying and harassment and profanity in the past instead of the future?

Wouldn't lives be different today if he had kept closer tabs on the barn door?

Red Cross Update

A very special thanks to the students of Dimmitt High School and their fund raising efforts toward the Oklahoma tornado victims. We received an additional $2,682.00 from a student sponsored cookout. Keep up the good work. We appreciate you all.

The winners of the Tri-County Red Cross drawing, held at Hereford's Town & Country Jubilee, were John Griffin, Bernice Orel and Mrs. J.E. McCabe. Each received first aid kits. We hope you visited our booth in the park. We enjoyed the excellent turnout. A special thanks to McCracken Loader Service for the ice donation. Many people were extremely grateful for the ice water.

Also, to Roger Fields and Lois Norwood from Friona and Genevieve Miller from Dawn, many thanks for helping out Saturday.

No clothing or articles can be accepted at this time. Our garage is over-flowing. All previous donations have been appreciated and the public will be notified when items can be accepted once again. The storage area is being organized and helpers are unable to do so because of the quantity of items. Thank you for not dumping articles outside our building either.

The Red Cross is currently trying to get enough people together for a first aid class. If you are interested please call (806) 364-3761. CPR instructors will visit your work place, fitting your schedule.

The American Red Cross is dedicated to helping make families and communities safer at home and around the world. The Red Cross is a volunteer-led humanitarian service organization and annually provides almost one-half the nation's blood supply, certifies more than 8.5 million people in life-saving skills, mobilizes relief to victims in more than 68,000 disasters nationwide, provides direct health services to 2.8 million people, assist international disaster and conflict victims in more than 40 countries, and transmits more than 14 million emergency messages to members of Arm Forces and their families. For more information you can call the local office.

All American Red Cross disaster assistance is free, made possible by voluntary donations of time and money from the American people. To help the victims of this and other disasters, contributions can be made to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund by calling 1-800-HELP NOW or 1-800-257-7575 (Spanish).

The Tri-County Chapter is a United Way Agency.

1999 Property Tax Rates In PARMER COUNTY HOSPITAL

This notice concerns 1999 property tax rates for PARMER COUNTY HOSPITAL. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating rates	$477,388.00
Last year's debt taxes	-0-
Last year's total taxes	$477,388.00
Last year's tax base	$282,478,107
Last year's total tax rate	$.1690/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property) / This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$476,919.00
= This year's effective tax rate	$.1709/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function) / This year's adjusted tax base	$476,734.00
= This year's effective operating rate	$.1709/$100
x $1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.1845/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0- /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$.1845/$100

Schedule A Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance

Schedule B 1999 Debt Service

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Total required for 1999 debt service	$ -0-
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A	$ -0-
- Amount (if any) paid from other resources	$ -0-
- Excess collections last year	$ -0-
= Total to be paid from taxes in 1999	$ -0-
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 95.00% of its taxes in 1999	$ -0-
= Total debt levy	$ -0-

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rates' calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at PARMER CAD, 305 3rd ST. BOVINA, TX. 79009.

Co. Law Officials/EOD Defuse Potential Bomb

It turned out to be a hoax but for about three hours in the blistering afternoon sun last Tuesday, it was a serious threat.

At about 12:50 p.m. last Tuesday, a Farwell resident called law enforcement officials about an object that appeared to be a pipe bomb.

It was spotted laying in the dirt road intersection of Railroad Road and County Road X about 1/2 mile east of Farwell.

The object was two pipes taped together with a watch timer and wires attached. Texico police officers and Parmer County Sheriff's deputies arrived at the scene and called the Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) unit from Cannon Air Force Base.

Deputies also notified BNSF Railroad who closed the tracks to train traffic for several hours. The object was adjacent to the tracks.

The EOD team used a remote-controlled robot named Bomber to check out the object and move it further up the dirt road where it was subsequently detonated.

EOD personnel reported that the device was a hoax and there was no explosive material inside the object.

Parmer County Chief Deputy Gary Blair was quoted as saying, "While fortunately this device was a hoax, we appreciate the rapid response of the EOD team from Cannon Air Force Base. This allowed us to safely handle a potentially dangerous situation."

Officials were unsure whether the device was placed intentionally or fell out of a vehicle. In either event, the trick tied up three Sheriff's deputies, two Texico officers, a colonel and two airmen from Cannon Air Force Base and countless BNSF personnel and stopped train traffic for three hours.

The Sheriff's office has no leads at press time on how the device was placed at the scene or who placed it.

Sabra Lee Todd, Toby Dale Smith Are United In Church Ceremony

Sabra Lee Todd of Calhoun, Georgia and Toby Dale Smith of Friona exchanged wedding vows Saturday, June 5 at 4 p.m. The ceremony was conducted in the Trietsch Memorial United Methodist Church, Flower Mound, Texas, by Rev. Joe Shaffer.

Parents of the couple are Douglas and Virginia Todd of Calhoun, Georgia and Jere Hand of Dallas and the late Dale Smith.

Michael Smith presented musical selections including "Canon in D," "Air," "Wedding March," and "Wedding Prayer."

The church was decorated with arched candelabras, a unity candle stand and two large flower arrangements using off white and red roses and other flowers. The unity candle stand held ivory candles with roses molded on the sides.

As the bride was presented in marriage by her father, she was attired in a formal length wedding gown of candlelight crepe material. The gown featured an empire waistline with open back, a free flowing skirt and train attached at the base of the back with three roses. The bodice featured a halter neckline ornamented with flowers and pearls and capped off-the-shoulder sleeves.

Her candlelight headpiece featured three silk roses and dangling pearls. The veil was edged with ribbon.

She carried a hand clutch of ivory and red roses. Her jewelry included diamond earrings given to her by the groom on the morning of the wedding, a necklace belonging to the mother of the groom, a gift on her wedding day by the groom's father, and a silver chain with bell featuring a diamond clapper.

Following bridal tradition, she carried a sixpence in her shoe which was given to her by her mother. The sixpence had been given to her mother by an aunt and will be passed on to the next bride in the family.

Erika Todd of Athens, Georgia served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Amber Smith of Dallas, sister of the groom, and Susan Stumme of Bellport, New York, cousin of the bride.

The feminine attendants wore empire waisted dresses featuring twisted tank style black velvet bodices and free flowing pewter skirts with matching wraps. They carried four long stemmed red roses with greenery.

Bart Blackburn of Mansfield, Texas was best man. Jeff Brown of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma and William Miertchin of Dallas, brother-in-law of the groom, served as groomsmen.

Guests were seated by John Aguirre of Arlington, Texas, Mendan Dixon of Stephenville, Texas and Guy Wilkins of Canyon.

Liana Stumme, cousin of the bride, registered wedding guests.

A reception was held at Bridlewood Country Club.

The four tiered white wedding cake was decorated with ivory and red rose accents. The groom's German Chocolate cake was made by his mother and was decorated with silver hearts and chocolate dipped strawberries.

Serving tables were accented with centerpieces designed and made by the bride and mother of the groom. The woven baskets were painted ivory with bows of ivory and silver and were centered with red roses. Each basket contained rolled scrolls with a poem written by the bride. Wedding bubbles were provided for the couple's departure.

Out-of-town guests attended from Texas, Georgia, New York, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Florida and New Mexico.

Following a trip to Park City, Utah, the couple is making their home in Flower Mound, Texas.

The bride was born in Arkville, New York, but was raised in Calhoun, Georgia. She is a graduate of Gordon Central High School and Georgia Southwestern College and is currently employed by Delta Air Lines as a flight attendant.

Smith was born and raised in Friona. He is a graduate of Friona High School and Angelo State University and is employed as an airline pilot for Delta Air Lines.

Consider Some Smart Savings Strategies For College

For some time now, we've enjoyed low inflation. But it hasn't disappeared from the scene — especially on college campuses. With annual price increases of 5 percent or more for the past several years, the cost of a college education has shot way up — and it's still climbing.

In fact, if college costs continue to climb at their recent pace, in 18 years you can expect to pay approximately $72,000 for four years at a public school, and $185,000 for a private school.

How can you meet these costs? Here are some suggestions:

Set realistic goals. Try to estimate how much money you'll need for college. Then, calculate the annual rate of return you'll need to achieve on your savings and investments in order to reach your goal. But don't overestimate your expenses — you don't have to come up with the entire amount required for college. Generally speaking, if you can save at least one-third of the total college costs, you and your child should be able to make up the rest through loans or campus jobs.

Save early and save often. Consider starting a disciplined investment plan when your child is still a baby. By giving yourself 18 years to save, you can put away relatively small sums each month and still meet your objectives.

Save in your own name. You may be tempted to put college savings in your children's names to take advantage of their lower tax rates. But these tax benefits could be overshadowed by the potential loss of financial aid. In calculating financial aid packages, colleges usually expect children to spend one-third of their own savings for college costs each year. However, most schools require parents to contribute only about 6 percent of their savings.

Invest for growth. Far too many families save for college by investing entirely in short-term interest-bearing accounts, such as savings accounts, CDs and money-market funds. Although these investments might seem safe, they will likely lose ground to inflation over time. If you really want your money to grow, build a well-diversified portfolio that includes long-term and zero coupon bonds as well as individual stocks and stock mutual funds. Long-term and zero coupon bonds pay better rates than short-term savings and guarantee your principal if held to maturity. Stocks historically have shown a much higher rate of return than any other investment.

Explore government-backed savings programs. Recent tax law changes have opened up some new avenues for college savings. You can now contribute to an education IRA, which allows you to make tax-free withdrawals for college. Other government programs include the Hope Scholarship, which offers tax credits of up to $1,500 a year for the first two years of college, and the Lifetime Learning Credit, which can amount to $1,000 a year. (You can't claim both the Hope Scholarship and the Lifetime Credit in the same year.)

Be prepared. College costs can be daunting. But by taking the proper steps, you will be financially prepared for the "big day" — when those first bills come due.

YOUR EYES

Glasses Slipping Down Your Nose?

If you've worn your glasses for a while, chances are the frame and earpieces have stretched from wear or mishandling, and your glasses are slipping down your nose. Yes, it's annoying but—worse than that—this slipping can affect vision.

Glasses that do not sit properly on the bridge of your nose actually change what you see through the lenses. For those who are farsighted, slippage increases the power of the lenses and the size of the image. If you're nearsighted, slippage decreases the power of the lenses and makes images smaller.

Even normal wear can cause misalignment of the frames and the ear pieces. Other problems include glasses that leave marks on the face, become uneven or hurt behind the ears. Don't attempt to make eyeglass repairs or adjustments yourself. Count on your optometrist to make your glasses like new again, often as a no-charge public relations gesture.
