

Ridgway Breaks Off Truce Parleys

Allied Chief Says Reds Broke Vow

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway broke off Korean truce talks Sunday in a stiff message accusing the Reds of "flagrant violations" of their promise to keep armed Communists out of Kaesong.

Ridgway accused the Reds of welching on their pledge of July 14 to keep the area five miles in radius from the center of Kaesong clear of troops.

He told the Communists the talks would be resumed only if they could give a "satisfactory explanation" of the presence of troops in Kaesong Saturday.

Troops armed with rifles, pistols, grenades, automatic weapons and mortars were seen within 100 yards of the conference house, Ridgway said.

The decision was announced after an extraordinary six-hour conference at Ridgway's headquarters, ending in the pre-dawn hours.

Ridgway's message was broadcast to the Communists by the Armed Services Radio. It was addressed to the Chinese and Red Korean commanders, Gen. Peng Teh-Huai and Gen. Kim Il Sung.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, followed up Ridgway's demand Sunday morning with a radio telephone message to the chief Red delegate, Lt. Gen. Nam Il.

Joy's message called attention to the Ridgway demand and affirmed that UN delegates would remain inside their lines "until further notice."

The message was relayed from the UN advance camp near Munsan to Kaesong, site of the peace talks. The Communists acknowledged it.

Warning To Reds Seen In Suspension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's suspension of the Kaesong truce talks because of the presence of Red troops in the city is regarded here as a stern warning to the Communists that the Allies do not intend to be pushed around.

Ridgway's action was worked out in consultation with Washington. The joint chiefs of staff approved it.

Diplomatic authorities suggested that if the Allied position had not been made clear at once, the company of armed Communist soldiers which marched past UN headquarters during the last truce meeting might have been followed by battalions during the next one.

Officials here expect that the Communist leaders will comply with Ridgway's demand for assurances against any more truce violations. It is felt that the Reds would not like to be very long in the position of causing the disruption of the negotiations.

The basic belief of authorities here continues to be that the Communists really want to get the Korean war ended eventually.

Meantime officials expressed interest in a disclosure at Allied headquarters in Tokyo that the UN delegation has proposed an armistice line in Korea to the north of the present battle line.

Superficially this appeared to be at variance with information previously given out here. This was to the effect that Ridgway was seeking a buffer zone based on the present battle line.

The appearance of a difference between the Washington and the Tokyo versions has been further pointed up by Communist radio claims that the UN negotiators have been demanding a line deep inside North Korea—a which would require a considerable retreat of Communist forces.

JUST A PRANK — Accused of impersonating a WAF lieutenant, Madelo Frances Evans, a 26-year-old show girl, sits in an Austin jail office despite her explanation that it was all just a "prank."

She was arrested after hitchhiking a plane ride from El Paso and given the "courtesies" of Bergstrom Air Base, including quarters in the nurses' barracks.

Actual officials in Washington say that Red radio claims are a complete distortion of what the Allies have proposed. Their proposal is in fact based on the present battle line and calls for centering a truce zone only slightly north of that line.

The Washington Post said it had learned "the actual number" of football players involved—44—from a source closely associated with the academy whose name cannot be used.

Handful For Nucleus — Such a wholesale inroad on the Army football powerhouse would leave only a handful of varsity players to form the nucleus of the squad this fall.

At West Point, the son of Coach Earl H. (Red) Blaik, Bob Blaik, a star back, used the word "we" in referring to ousted cadets.

Students who said they were among the 90 bitterly protested the manner of their dismissal and the severity of the penalty. They said many others were involved who have not been punished.

Seven Dead As Result Of Floods

FORT COLLINS, COLO. (AP)—Flash floods rolling off the canyons of the Rocky Mountain front range spread death and destruction in Northern Colorado Saturday.

Seven persons, four of them members of a Denver family, were drowned. The bodies have been recovered.

Thousands of other persons in towns dotting the rich farming area were driven from their homes when cloudbursts transformed colorful mountain streams into walls of water.

It was expected damage to fields, many in the midst of harvest, would be heavy.

Bursting of a dam, 40 feet high, on Buckhorn Creek sent a wall of water roaring down a mountain canyon.

Thrown From Car — Water hit the car and trailer of the Harold Johnson family of Denver. He was thrown free from the car and escaped, but his wife, Sally, 44; daughter, Beverly, 15, and twins, Mable and Mildred, 14, were swept away.

Beverly's body was found near the scene of the tragedy. Bodies of the mother and Mable were recovered some two miles downstream.

The body of Mildred Jones was found lodged in a tree.

Bodies of two other victims were recovered near the State Fish Hatchery at Bellevue. One was identified as Annabelle Post. Identification was not made immediately of the body of a man.

The other victim was Aden E. Webb, 86, whose home eight miles northwest of Fort Collins was struck by the roaring waters.

NARCOTICS RING BROKEN—Waxy Gordon, left, last of the bootleg barons and former public enemy No. 1, was jailed in $250,000 bail as a big time peddler in a coast to coast "Black Hand" illicit narcotics ring.

Gordon and three other men were arrested on a dimly-lighted street corner in New York carrying two packages of heroin which would retail at more than $150,000.

Leaving the Narcotics Bureau after being questioned are Gordon, Arthur Repola, Sammy Kass and Ben Kass.

Police Kill Gunman, Seize Three Others Terrorizing Family — CHICAGO (AP)—Acting on a tip, police Saturday killed a gunman and seized three others who were terrorizing the family of Mrs. Violet Wolfner, 48, wealthy owner of the Chicago Cardinals Football Club.

Fifteen police squads equipped with machine guns, riot guns and tear gas surrounded, then stormed the Wolfner apartment in the quiet, west side Austin District and seized three of the gunmen.

They recovered $20,000 in jewelry and clothing the robbers had piled up, ready to carry away.

The fourth gunman, hiding in a basement closet, tried to shoot it out with policemen who flushed him out, and was slain.

The holdup men, entering through a back door, surprised Mrs. Wolfner's husband, Walter Wolfner, 52, a retired coffee merchant, in his bedroom.

Robbers Return Shots — He grabbed his pistol and fired a shot and then the gun jammed. The robbers returned his shots but their bullets missed. They then disarmed him.

Ike Mum On Presidential Candidacy

By PRESTON GROVER — PARIS (AP)—Persons close to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believe he will not make up his mind about running for the presidency in 1952 until the very last hour possible.

They believe if he runs at all it will be only under very special circumstances.

Not in a long time has a man been put under such pressure to declare himself. Close friends, important political figures and high level newspapermen have shot the presidential question at him so often that his assistants at supreme headquarters of the Allied Forces in Europe (SHAEP) are becoming fearful of making new appointments for him.

The hard fact is that Eisenhower is saying nothing.

An additional hard fact is that, if Eisenhower were to declare himself a candidate for the presidency at this time, it would rock the 12-nation Atlantic Pact organization to its foundations.

In a very large sense, he is the Atlantic Pact so far as Europeans are concerned. He is the one concrete reality. No European, or American, whom I have talked with ever has been able to point to any person, American or other, who could take his place.

At a news conference last week in Washington, President Truman said the general's duties in Europe would permit him to return to the United States to become a candidate in 1952 if he was in that frame of mind.

Pilot Of Crop Duster Plane Is Killed In Crash Near Pecos

PECOS — Johnson Wright, about 50, was fatally injured early Saturday when his loaded crop duster plane crashed over the Earl Martin farm 13 miles west of here.

Friday was reported to have been his twenty-ninth anniversary as an airman.

Wright was found by Curtis Patterson, an employe of Martin, a few minutes after the crash which occurred about 8:30 a.m.

He lived only one hour at a Pecos hospital, where he died, without regaining consciousness, at 10 a.m. of severe head and internal injuries.

Martin said observers believed Wright's plane stalled at a 50 to 60-foot altitude while making a 180-degree turn. However, the exact cause of the crash had not been determined.

After viewing the wreckage, Martin said the plane, completely demolished, apparently did not roll or slide more than eight inches.

Keane Within 674 Pounds Of His Goal

HARLINGEN (AP)—Ed "Boll Weevil" Keane made his fourth trip to the cotton fields Saturday and picked 141 pounds in six hours and 26 minutes.

This put the Harlingen disc jockey within 674 pounds of his goal. He boasted that he could pick a bale of cotton in a week.

Keane's tour of the cotton patches Saturday brought his three-day total to 776 pounds. He does not plan to pick Sunday, which means he has until Wednesday evening to finish.

If he doesn't make it, he'll miss $2,000 in prize.

Rain stopped him three days, but judges allowed Keane time out and termed the rain an "act of God."

End-O-Season Bargains Feature Of $Dollar Day$

Summer is fading reluctantly away but Monday's $Dollar Day$ will be just as inviting as ever.

Midland's enterprising merchants are offering hundreds of bargains, and thousands of housewives are expected to be on hand for the big bargain event.

There are the season-end bargains and the clearance sales as well as the many inviting back-to-school items that are so popular at this time of year.

Many of these bargain items are listed in Sunday's issue of The Reporter-Telegram. But there will be hundreds of others attractively displayed on the shelves and counters of Midland stores.

So, don't forget, Monday is $Dollar Day$ in Midland.

New Controls Law Brings Hike In Auto And Appliance Sales

By The Associated Press — First effect of the new economic controls law is a boost for automobile and appliance sales in scattered cities, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Easier credit provided under the new law is responsible.

The sales rise is by no means general. More than half the cities show no evidence of an upturn.

One large Chicago used car dealer says "there has been no upsurge in sales yet and you can underscore that."

But from all over the nation come reports that "the public hasn't yet caught on to the better credit terms."

The new terms were announced by the Federal Reserve Board Tuesday as President Truman signed the new controls law. They stretch installment periods to 18 months for automobiles, electrical appliances and furniture, and to 36 months for home repairs and improvements.

Some Of Results — The AP survey covered cities in 17 states and the District of Columbia. Here are some of its results:

Sales of appliances for furniture have climbed in Denver, Dallas, Washington, Kansas City, San Francisco, Charlotte, N. C., and Portland, Maine.

New and used automobiles show sales spurts, in one instance as much as 50 per cent, in Kansas City, New Orleans, Detroit, Atlanta, San Francisco, Denver, New Haven, Conn., and Portland, Maine.

Most retailers think prices will remain stable or rise narrowly. As to trade expectations, they range from "hopeful" to highly enthusiastic.

Some cattlemen see probability of more production and feeding of livestock; packers approve removal of slaughter quotas.

Allied Units Score Three-Mile Gains — U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA (AP)—Allied troops struck into Communist lines in Korea Saturday for the third straight day. They gained up to three miles in the sensitive area west of Yonchon.

Yonchon is north of parallel 38 in Western Korea.

Allied attackers jumped off in the early hours and smashed ahead until mid-morning. Then Chinese Reds with the aid of artillery firmed their lines and slowed the drive.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Kern (R-Mo) announced Saturday he will introduce iron-clad legislation ordering President Truman to cut off all military and economic aid to any nation selling war materials to Communists.

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA (AP)—A Queen Charlotte airlines plane with seven persons aboard was reported missing Saturday night on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA (AP)—A four-day-old strike by several hundred anti-Peron railroad engineers and firemen began to collapse Saturday as the government threw full military pressure against the dissident union members.

Isn't There Enough In Streets To Hit?

Police Saturday at least had a different kind of damage to record after an automobile collision.

This collision was between an automobile and a house.

Clint Wallace, 1500 East Illinois Street, reported an automobile left the street out of control and knocked the porch from his residence and struck the side of the house.

THE BIG DITCH—A portion of the $750,000 Front Street drainage project—a crossing and junction at Fair Grounds Road—is inspected by J. A. Downey, superintendent of the H. B. Zachry Company (left), and B. M. Monteith, resident engineer of the Studdert Engineering Company. Engineers say the project is proceeding on schedule.

Help Wanted!

Destitute victims of the destructive Kansas City flood need help. Midlanders have been called upon by the American Red Cross to raise a small share of the national quota—$800.

The $800 quota for this emergency could be raised quickly, Red Cross volunteer workers said, if donors would mail their contributions to the Red Cross, P. O. Box 1706, or leave them at the headquarters at 619 West Indiana Street.

Duff In Challenge To Opposing GOP's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Duff (R-Pa) Saturday issued an angry challenge to an opposing GOP group to do battle over Pennsylvania's delegation to the 1952 presidential nominating convention.

Duff, plugging for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as a possible Democrat, GOP national committeeman, and former Senator Joseph H. Grundy want a "knock-down and drag-out fight" they can have it.

Duff's statement capped a series of developments showing sharp splits in both major parties as they prepared for the 1952 struggle.

On another GOP front, all but open warfare was declared between Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) on one side and Senators Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) and Hendrickson (R-NJ) on the other, over the Maryland election investigation probe.

On the Democratic side, Senator Douglas (D-Ill) continued a battle against two federal judge nominees of President Truman. Douglas has D. Eisenhower as the nominee, said cratic presidential aspirant.

And Senator Byrd (D-Va), one of the leaders of the Southern anti-Administration wing of the party, tried to force President Truman's hand on an alleged "influence peddling" case involving Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr. Boyle issued a formal statement Saturday, declaring that he had had nothing whatever to do with the RFC loan which figures in the case.

Casualties Korea

Wounded, Marine Corps: Pfc. Norman Callahan, Dallas; Pfc. Martin Rivas, San Antonio; Cpl. Max Schneider, Houston; First Lt. Wilmoth Watkins, Corpus Christi.

Rankin News

RANKIN—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hale and children have left for a visit with relatives in Maryland. They expect to be gone approximately two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Benton and sons, Danny and Jimmy, of Irving are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dan Runyan.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bell and daughters recently visited relatives at Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. David Workman and Cathy Ann of Midland were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Workman.

Don Still, who has been ill for several days, has been taken to a San Angelo hospital for medical treatment.

Reading certificates were awarded to Nina Gayle Pettit and Robert Alvin Bushong at Saturday's Story Hour in the Rankin Library. Mary Anderson entertained the children with "Gregory, The Rat With The Purple Tail," "Whisk and Frisk Find an Adventure," "Molly Lost Her Moo" and "The Little Train and The Big Snowdrifts." Fifteen children attended.

Texas Building Awards Increase

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas construction contracts bounded upward to $35,466,995 last week.

Texas Contractors' building trade journal, reported non-residential contracts totaling $13,588,645; engineering, $10,512,850; and residential, $2,365,500.

The year's accumulative total hit $721,147,444.

Funeral Services Held For Francis

Funeral services for A. C. (Audie) Francis, West Texas rancher and former Midland County sheriff and tax assessor-collector who died Friday, were held Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel, with the Rev. Clyde Lindsey of the First Christian Church officiating.

Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Francis, 67, had been in ill health the last two years. He came to Midland in 1906 and had been in the cattle and ranching business all his life. He once owned what is now the Benge Ranch south of Midland and another ranch near Seminole.

Pallbearers were Marion Flynn, Dunn Reiger, Bill Wyche, Buck Bennett, Jess Slaughter, Dr. L. B. Pemberton, Roder Webb and Holt Jewell.

Survivors include the widow, a daughter, a brother, two sisters, and two grandchildren, all of Midland.

Texas Draft Call Of 742 Announced

AUSTIN—(AP)—A draft call of 742 men for Texas was announced Saturday by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, State Selective Service director.

Local board quotas for October will be mailed about August 8 or 9, Wakefield said.

Governor Accepts Chairmanship Again

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers has accepted for the third year the general chairmanship of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation Committee of Texas.

"Non-profit and non-sectarian, the Gonzales Hospital of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation accepts any Texas child regardless of color, creed or financial condition, who can benefit from the treatment program."

GULF REPORTS EARNINGS

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Gulf Oil Corporation Saturday reported net earnings for the first six months of 1961 at $62,319,000 equal to $2.79 a share, compared to $50,622,000 or $2.23 a share for the same period in 1960.

Wilson Declares 40-Hour Week Is Aid To Production

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson Saturday called for a continuance of the 40-hour week, with premium pay for overtime. He pictured it as an aid to worker morale and to bigger defense production.

The wage-hour law provides time and a half must be paid for work in excess of 40-hours in interstate industries. There have been suggestions defense production would be spurred if the basic 40-hour week were lengthened, without premium pay.

But Wilson issued a statement declaring it is the policy of government agencies to support the principle of overtime pay beyond 40 hours.

"The major consequence of suspending premium pay for overtime in the present defense emergency would be to disrupt the wage stabilization program and industrial relations generally," Wilson said.

'It Isn't So,' Says Evelyn Varden Of Olivia And Hubby

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Gaye and Della: Evelyn Varden, the Broadway actress who replaced Ethel Barrymore in "Pinders Keepers," slipped me the backstage lowdown on Olivia de Havilland and Marcus Goodrich.

Blonde, crisp-spoken Evelyn played the nurse in Olivia's "Romeo and Juliet" and rushed out to Hollywood when the final curtain was lowered. Dangled if she can remember being told to turn her back to the audience by Marcus so that audience could concentrate on looking at Olivia. She wasn't asked to address Olivia as Mrs. Goodrich, either.

"Heavens, no," Evelyn protested. "All those awful things that were said about Mr. Goodrich—all unkind and horrible. He's a very nice man. He's just not used to the theater, that's all."

News Agency Opens Modern New Home, 300 East Indiana

The Johnson News Agency Saturday announced formally the opening of its new home at 300 East Indiana Street.

The $71,000 air conditioned building, of modern architectural design, houses offices and a huge plant for setting and distributing magazines on a wholesale basis.

The steel frame structure with metal deck roofs and brick and hollow tile walls provides 10,000 square feet of floor space on the ground level and 3,000 square feet of space on the balcony.

Six workers handle the firm's clerical and administrative work in offices with varying pastel color schemes while 14 employees are stationed in the adjacent plant.

Almost the entire front and one side of the building have window walls with redwood framing.

Another device bringing out the modern design of the building are the canopies over the first floor and balcony.

A special feature of the Johnson News Agency's new home is a private lunch room where employees may enjoy coffee and snacks.

Construction began on the new building April 1 and was completed about July 6, when employees moved to the firm's new home from the old location at 110 West North Front Street.

J. J. Black of Midland was architect for the new building, and E. D. Porter of the Porter Construction Company was general contractor.

The agency was established in Midland in the Summer of 1946 and currently is operated by Earl A. Johnson and H. J. Sandoval.

The firm provides wholesale distribution of magazines for the Permian Basin, with eight driver-salesmen servicing 32 cities.

Griggers Paroled To Midland County

Arthur Griggers, given a two-year sentence in 1950 for burglary in Ector County, has been granted a conditional pardon to Midland County by Gov. Allan Shivers. The Associated Press reported Saturday.

Acting upon recommendation of the Board of Pardons, Governor Shivers gave Griggers one year and six months credit on his two-year sentence.

Among other clemency actions, the Governor granted Raymond Earl Ridley three years credit on a five-year sentence in 1948 from Scurry and Ector Counties for two cases of burglary and one case of passing and forgery.

Ridley was pardoned to Scurry County.

Midland Building Has Light Week

Building permits issued in Midland during the week ended Saturday were light at $61,325. They brought the 1951 total to $8,326,845.

H&S Builders received permits for five $5,000 frame residences in the 1500 block of South Fort Worth Street. Four of the structures will be built for the Pioneer Housing Company.

L. E. Waynick was issued a permit for a $14,000 brick veneer residence at 1715 Princeton Street.

Other Permits

A permit for an $11,000 brick veneer residence at 2609 Cuthbert Street was issued to Schueke Brothers, builders.

Other permits of the week included: Rhea Paschall for Floyd Hines, $5,500, frame residence at 1801 Bryant Street; R. H. Henderson, for Hollis Tyson, $2,000, add to frame and stucco residence at 1008 West Louisiana Street; W. M. Provence, $2,000, frame residence at 2005 Rhode Island Street.

Perry Collins, $1,000, alter frame residence at 710 South Weatherford Street; Earl Bradford for O. L. Crooks, $375, sheet metal garage at 806 Andrews Highway; E. C. Trice for Sophie Richardson, $300, move frame residence to 507 South Adams Street, and C. A. Douthit for John Shelton, $150, move frame residence to 209 North Jackson Street.

Teacher Workshop Opens Here Monday

A workshop for teachers of the Midland school system and parents will begin Monday. It will last through August 24 with sessions being held at David Crockett Elementary school.

Theme of the in-service workshop is "Developing Learning Experiences for the Boys and Girls of Midland."

Consultants for the activity include Dr. James A. Knight, University of Texas; director, Ralph Duke, University of Texas; A. C. Murphy, University of Maryland; Lola Tullos, University of Texas and Willie Holdsworth, University of Texas.

Seventy-five persons will attend classes.

Only morning sessions will be held, unless meetings are called for afternoons and nights on special subjects.

SEEKS DIXIE-GOP TEAM

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R., S. D.), above, started a political ball rolling by proposing a GOP-Southern Democratic "alliance" to pick a presidential slate in 1952. Mundt says it matters little whether the top candidate selected is a Republican or a rebellious Southern Democrat. Republicans expressed differing views of the proposal, and Southern Democrats have been largely silent about it.

With The Services Midland Man Gets Duty With Gen. Ike

A Midland man is a member of the first Air Force unit ordered to report from the United States to Europe for duty with General Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact forces.

He is Pfc. Duane Hamman, 604 North Pecos Street, a member of the 433rd Troop Carrier Wing of the 18th Air Force which will leave from Donaldson Air Force Base in Greenville, S. C.

Hamman is one of 15 Texas men who are members of the wing.

The 433rd Wing, a direct descendant of the old 433rd Troop Carrier Group which served in seven campaigns in the Pacific Theater during World War II, was recognized in 1949 as a reserve wing. It was called to duty last Fall.

The 433rd has flown training missions from California to Maine, took part in the paratroop exercises with airborne troops at Fort Benning, Ga.; Fort Bragg, N. C., and "Operation Firestep" in Alaska.

Pfc. Frank E. Hejl, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hejl, has returned to duty at Mather Air Force Base, Sacramento, Calif., after visiting for 20 days with his parents. He entered the service last December.

Eugene J. Hogan of Crane has reported to the Convair aircraft plant at Fort Worth as armed forces accountant and auditor.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force upon graduation last Spring from Texas A&M. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hogan.

Mrs. Marguerite Perry of McCamey was visited recently by two sons, Clyde A. Perry, seaman apprentice stationed in San Diego,

More Booting, Less Patting

The fabulous era of the mink coat, five percenters and the deep freeze now has a slogan which can be inscribed, heraldic fashion, above the symbol of an outstretched hand.

"I did nothing that anyone else wouldn't have done," it reads. "Only someone caught me at it."

Those frank words came from Brig. Gen. David J. Crawford. What he was caught at was accepting gifts and hotel entertainment from defense contractors.

Having been caught at it, the general was relieved of his command at the Army's Detroit Tank Arsenal and publicly reprimanded, a penalty just short of court martial.

This prompt action by the secretary of the Army is highly refreshing. It also is somewhat surprising when you consider the current attitude of the Administration in Washington toward similar cases that have come up.

Another general—name of Harry Vaughan—still is at the White House, for instance, his bemedaled chest untarnished by the taint of a couple of remarkable moral lapses regarding frozen food lockers and five per cent influence peddlers.

A fellow fixture at the White House is Donald Dawson, a presidential adviser. He's the one who got free hospitality from a plus Miami hotel which had obtained an RFC loan.

Along with the famous pastel mink coat and the imported Wedgewood chins, all these things have been looked into. And in the atmosphere of an easy-going code of ethics that seems to prevail, they have been shrugged off.

General Crawford, who not only was caught but punished, had been doing an outstanding job at the Detroit arsenal. But it was a job of important public trust, and the crackdown was commendable.

We suspect it would be more than difficult at the moment for a contractor to pass off so much as a cigar on any other Army officers engaged in spending the taxpayers' money.

But it may be too much to hope that the Administration will follow the Army's example and give the nation a change in the loose-moral and ethical atmosphere that is clouding Washington.

If you want to find a happy medium, look for a fortuneteller who guessed right.

Jail is the perfect place for drivers who put the wreck in recreation.

Turnabout

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Publisher-Congressman Brown champions low postal rates; More income tax prosecutions in works; Some bureaucrats are efficient.

WASHINGTON—The question of reduced postal rates for magazines and newspapers, which the Post Office claims is a several million dollar subsidy to Life, Time, and the Saturday Evening Post, etc., caused a rumpus inside the House rules committee recently.

Two of the "fightest" members of Congress, Tom Murray, Tennessee Democrat, and Clarence Brown, Ohio Republican, staged the row over the bill to revise second-class postal rates upward 60 per cent in the next three years.

However, Congressman Brown, himself a publisher, disagreed. He contended it would work a hardship on smaller magazines and newspapers which circulate chiefly through the mails, thereby creating a "monopoly" for big weeklies which truck their editions to newsstands.

"This bill would act as a subsidy for the wrong people," he argued. "You've got nothing to complain about," countered Murray. "As a newspaper publisher in Ohio you've been getting a nice subsidy from the government in second-class mailing privileges."

"It looks like you're being doing all right under the second-class subsidy," snapped the Tennesseean.

"Where did you get those figures?" thundered Brown. "I guess they were supplied you by the Post Office department in an attempt to smear and intimidate me. I wonder if the department also told you about the number of papers I have had to deliver by paid messenger because of the inefficiency of the mails under this administration."

"The figures are typical of weekly newspapers," replied Murray. "Well, it seems mighty strange that you single mine out of all the weeklies in the United States," teased Brown. "Besides, this bill doesn't seriously affect weekly newspapers which would still get free second-class mail privileges."

A passing remark by Rep. Gene Cox of Georgia that the committee was making too much of a fuss over "rimlet" newspapers only added to the hostilities. Weekly publisher Brown took this as a personal affront. Glaring at Cox, he remarked acidly: "Maybe the publishers in your district will be happy to know what you think of them."

Chairman Adolph Sabath of Illinois finally got all the gladiators quieted down. But Murray lost out in his effort to get a "closed" rule for debate on the floor. This means that a Senate amendment providing for a 30 per cent increase in second-class rates instead of 60, over a three-year period, will probably be substituted and approved.

Note—Congressman Brown's newspapers are: The Western Star of Lebanon, Ohio; The Star Republican, Blanchester, O.; The Miami-Burg News, Miami, O.; The Lynchburg News, Lynchburg, O. He is also a stockholder in another weekly, The Franklin Chronicle, Franklin, Ohio.

Joseph B. Keenan, the Japanese war crimes prosecutor, once prosecuted Senator Bill Langer of North Dakota, when Keenan was chief of the Justice Department criminal division. Now, as attorney for the man he once prosecuted, Keenan collected $25,000 in a libel case from Bill Cunningham, Boston Columnist.

Sen. John Sparkman bumped into The Magazine Correspondent Frank McNaughton as he left to take over a 600-acre cattle farm. "I'll bet," quipped the Senator from Alabama, "that I'll soon be getting a telegram from you denouncing beef price rollbacks." "Congressman Clint McKinnon, the livestock Congressman from San Diego, jumped out of his car at the airport the other day in his bare feet. The Congressman could afford shoes, but lost them when his car got stuck in a water ford while he was attending the George Vournas party for Sam Rayburn. . . A flow

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By EDWARD JACOBY

The national tournament in Washington is drawing to its close, and several hundred bridge stars are making their last play as they think of the bids they should have made and the cards they should have led. A few others are trying to look modest as they get the congratulations of their friends and rivals. Whippers and losers alike, however, take home the memory of some of their unusual brilliancies. Some of those hands live in a bridge player's memory for years.

Bridge score table with columns for North (D), West, East, and South. Includes scores for various deals and a note about the opening lead.

national championships, Sam Fry, Jr., held the West cards and had to find an opening lead.

A diamond was out of the question, of course, but each of the other three suits presented a possibility. Since his own hand was worthless it was vital to lead the suit that would be best for his partner's hand.

Fry knew that his partner had a good hand, otherwise he could not have doubled three no-trump. With a good hand and strong holdings in the direct action over the opening bid of three diamonds. Hence Fry reasoned, East must have a good hand with the strength concentrated in the minor suits.

On this reasoning Fry opened the four of clubs. This was the killing lead. The defense speedily rattled off five club tricks and eventually got the ace of diamonds too, settling the contract two tricks.

If Fry had opened a spade or a heart South would have made three no-trump. For example, South wins the opening heart lead and leads diamonds until East takes the ace on the third round. East leads another heart, and South wins and cashes his top spades. He then leads a heart to East, who must eventually return a club, allowing dummy to make the king of clubs and enough diamonds for the contract.

CARD SERVICE

Q—The bidding has been: North 1 Spade, West Pass, North 3 N.T., East Pass.

Y—You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamond Q, Clubs K-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid five spades. You are willing to play for a slam if your partner has a fair share of aces and kings rather than a concentration of queens and jacks. He will know which kind of hand he has, and he will pass with the other.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-7-3, Hearts K-4, Diamonds Q-3, Clubs A-10-5-3. What do you do?

New RFC Management Does Job For The 'Lazy Bankers'

By PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In the almost three months that W. Stuart Symington has been one-man head of Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he has approved almost 800 loans for a total of $80,000,000. Both figures are round numbers.

In this same period, RFC has turned down applications for well more than 800 loans, seeking a total of more than $40,000,000.

This record, provides enough cases on which to make a fair appraisal on the job RFC is doing under new management. Following the disclosures of irregularities by Arkansas Senator J. William Fulbright's investigating committee, there was and still is considerable agitation to have the big government lending-agency abolished.

Among other innovations Administrator Symington has installed is a weekly list of loans granted. As indicated above, the average loan has been for about $100,000. This is a somewhat misleading figure.

The range of loans granted in the last three months has been from $1,000 to $4,500,000. But there have been only half a dozen loans for more than $1,000,000. The vast majority of the loans have been for less than $100,000.

Formerly loans of less than $100,000 could be made by the RFC field offices in 31 U. S. cities, Honolulu, Hawaii, and San Juan, Puerto Rico. Now, all loans have to be referred to the Washington office.

There now are six reviews on every loan application before it reaches Administrator Symington for final decision.

Overruled Lower Levels Symington meets with his personal staff twice a week to pass on loan applications. This includes Peter I. Bukowski, Chicago banker recently named deputy administrator. Also Symington's own counsel, economist and assistants.

Symington came to the conclusion, as a result of the Fulbright investigation, that the only loans on which RFC had trouble were those which the old Board of Directors had approved by overruling the recommendations of lower level examiners and review committees of the RFC staff.

He has therefore made it his rule to overrule the six lower level examinations and recommendations only by a written report, giving his reasons for so doing. Thus far, he has not yet overruled his subordinates.

This is the broad picture on present RFC operations. It immediately raises one leading question. If almost 80 per cent of RFC loans are for less than $100,000, why can't they be handled by local private banks? Why does the government have to do this job?

Examination of a number of RFC loans approved in the last three months reveals one dominant fact. Almost all the loans granted by RFC previously had been turned down by local banks.

This does not mean they were bad loans. It means that the private banking system isn't doing the job of providing long-term capital loans for business expansion. Part of this is due to present credit regulations, to curb inflation.

Part of it is due to state banking laws and bank charters which prohibit capital risk loans. But a

A lawyer who was very successful in winning jury cases said he always concentrated, in his speeches, on the most intelligent looking member of the jury, figuring that he would be chosen foreman and therefore be chosen to deliver the verdict.

In one case, there was a juror with a brow as broad as Daniel Webster's so the attorney concentrated on him in his argument. When the speeches were over, the judge asked, "Is there any member of the jury who would like to ask anything before you begin your deliberations?" The very intellectual looking juror said, "Your Honor, there are two terms that have been used in the case that I would like to have defined?"

The judge inquired, "What are they?" Said the juror, "One is 'plaintiff' and the other is 'defendant'."

THE GILA MURDER

XII SAM COLTON dropped his automatic. The silhouette moved nearer and Johnnie McAdams stood close behind him. "Turn over the will, Sam."

Sam laughed. "There's no will, Johnnie. I knew you'd followed me here, so I talked for your benefit just to get you to show your hand to Paul Baker here—the county prosecutor."

McAdams swore, then lifted his hand and brought the gun to his temple. "Holding down on Sam's head. The man dropped in his tracks and Paul Colton clutched Baker's arm. "McAdams came close to Baker's coupe now, the gun in his hand leveled steadily.

"Sam didn't accomplish much," he said. "But I'm glad I came along to see what he was up to. I never dreamed you'd come here with Paul. I thought you'd have had occasion to reach into the glove compartment by now. Do you know what's in there, Paul? I'll give you one guess. Sure. The man to the Gila Monster that got poor Laura by the hand. I put it there this evening. I also loosened a valve in one of your tires. I thought it would go flat tonight and you'd need the flashlight in your glove box. I figured the odds were the monster would hang on all you were dead, especially if you had the flat in a deserted place."

"You figured optimistically, Johnnie. Why did you think it necessary to eliminate me?" "Because you'd guess my motive for killing Laura as soon as you found out about the new will she meant to sign. I visited your office today to convince you that she would represent Laura's last wishes. You'd never have learned that if you hadn't tricked me with that story about two kids seeing me at Laura's car. I had to tell about the new will, then—it was and lunged against the door. It burst outward, slamming McAdams backward. The gun in his hand went off, but the bullet went high, grazing Baker's head and tearing through the roof. In a continuous movement, Baker went on after the reeling man.

The gun barrel raked his face. He grabbed at it, missed, then concentrated on punches to McAdams' midriff. McAdams wasn't thinking about using the gun then save to ward off the blows. He seemed to realize that an-fighting would do him no good, and he faded back, lifting the gun as he did so. Baker threw himself toward the still inert body of Sam Colton and tried desperately to feel for Sam's gun on the ground. He failed.

"The rear end of Sam's gun blinded and deafened him, but he was rolling, and the bullet went wild. From his hand he found Sam Colton's automatic. His fingers grasped it; he lifted and fired at the spot where the flash had come. He knew he had missed, but the shot had taken the courage out of McAdams. Instead of aiming to his own car, he jumped under the wheel of Baker's coupe. Baker thought of Pat, and he shouted:

"Get out, Pat! Get out!" "He could not see whether she was obeyed or not as the coupe was turned about. Then McAdams tried to run over him as he roared away, but he rolled in time and managed to clear the wheels.

"The horns? Pat's voice called back. He ran to her, found her behind some bushes, where her brother's car was hidden. "Are you all right? You weren't hit?" "No. What about Johnnie?" "He took my car. He must have left his own at the highway. He'll change cars, but he won't get far." Pat shook her head. "He may not even get to his own car. You see, before I leaped out of your coupe I opened the glove box door. The lizard's loose in it with Johnnie."

As she spoke there was a screeching sound of tires and then the crash of metal as if a car were turning over.

So They Say

Peace in the world is indivisible, and that's why I think all of this (Russian-suggested truce talks) is merely a maneuver—that while things quiet down you denounce them by burst out from other places.

It's (job managing) full of headaches. For example, I have to watch her figure constantly.

Social security was a step in the right direction, but it isn't enough. It's been in operation for 15 years and all the old folks get is an average of $60 a month. No one can live decently on that amount.

Don't underestimate us 80,000,000 of the Commonwealth and 180,000,000 of the United States. Bound by deep and comprehensive ties . . . what have we to fear? What danger can come to us? We seek no territory. We seek no advantages.

WRONG: Butter the whole slice at one time.

Thompson Opens Midland Office

L. O. (Luke) Thompson has opened his office at 123 Capitol Building in Midland.

He will work as a consulting geologist and as an independent oil operator and trader and will also engage in other activities in the oil business.

One of those activities will be in the operation of Log-Co, a new well-logging service which has been established by Thompson in partnership with W. H. (Bill) Martin and J. J. (Jimmie) Hill.

Martin is a production man and Hill is an engineer.

Log-Co will offer well-logging service with portable laboratories at the well site.

Thompson has been West Texas representative for Heysler & Heard, independent oil operators of Dallas and Houston until a short time ago.

That concern recently closed its offices in Midland and will handle its business in the future from Dallas.

Prior to joining Heysler & Heard, Thompson was district geologist in the Permian Basin for Slick-Urschel Oil Company for more than a year.

Before going with that concern he was a senior geologist on the staff of Standard Oil Company of Texas division office in this city.

He is a graduate in geology of the University of Minnesota.

Ridgway—

The break-off caught both sides deadlocked for the 10th straight day over where to draw a cease-fire buffer zone.

Buffer Line Demanded
The occupation's civil information and education section said the Allies had demanded a buffer line in North Korea between the present battle line and Manchuria.

Peiping Radio called any demand for a cease-fire line north of parallel 38 "absurd and arrogant."

The official Chinese Red radio, quoting a Shanghai newspaper correspondent at Kaesong, termed the Allied stand "a one-sided argument x x x nothing but the boasting of the 'power' of their naval and air forces."

"They thought x x x the demarcation line should be pushed to the north to 'compensate' for the losses of their 'overwhelming (air and naval) superiority'."

This was an answer to the argument advanced by Joy against the Red demand for a line along the 38th parallel.

On the other hand, the broadcast said, the Communist demand for a cease-fire line along parallel 38 is "in conformity with the military realities and is both just and reasonable. It is essential for the peaceful settlement of the Korean war."

Allied leaders have insisted on a line that can be defended. They say parallel 38—the old boundary between North and South Korea—cannot be defended.

Flowing Delaware Discovery Finaled In SE Eddy Area

HOBBS, N. M. — Southern California Petroleum Company No. 1 Valley Land Company has been completed as a flowing discovery from the Delaware sand in Southeast Eddy County.

It made 30 barrels of oil and no water on a 24-hour potential test using one-half-inch tubing choke. Completion was from open hole at 2,774-2,779 feet.

Gravity of the oil is 42 degrees. Tubing pressure was 200 pounds. The open hole section was given a 750-gallon Hydracrac treatment.

Location for the discovery is 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 7-24e-29e and seven miles southeast of Lovig.

Western Natural Gas Company is to drill its No. 1 State as a 2,500-foot Devonian wildcat in the extreme southeast corner of Lea County.

It will be drilled 600 feet from south and west lines of section 17-24e-30e and three miles northwest of Devonian production in the Delaware field of Southwest Andrews County, Texas.

It also will be three miles north of Skelly Oil Company, Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and J. C. Maxwell, Inc. No. 1-J Mexico, indicated discovery from the Clear Fork, Devonian and Fusselman, No. 1-J Mexico is now being drilled below 9,679 feet in the Simpson.

Twenty miles south of Carlsbad and in Central-South Eddy County, E. N. Brock spotted location for his No. 1 Jennings which is to be drilled as a 2,150-foot Delaware sand wildcat.

Drillsite is 585 feet from south and east lines of section 10-25e-26e. Atlantic Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Jones has been completed as the third Devonian oiler in the North Denton field of Central-East Lea County.

It potentialized for a daily flow of 840 barrels of oil and no water. That potential was based on an actual nine-hour flow through a one-half-inch tubing choke.

Completion was from perforations, opposite the Delaware, from 12,460 to 12,506 feet. Pay was topped at 12,325 feet. The well is at plugged back total depth of 12,531 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 390-1. Gravity of the oil is 46 degrees. Completion was natural.

The oiler is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 35-14e-37e. Amerada Petroleum Corporation completed its No. 4 Caudle as a Pennsylvania producer in the Bagley - Pennsylvania field of Northwest Lea County, and staked location for a Pennsylvania project in the same area.

Amerada No. 4 Caudle was completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 290 barrels of 44-gravity oil through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from perforations.

Drilling Continues To Increase In WT New Mexico Sector

Drilling activity in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico Permian Basin continues to increase.

The semi-monthly survey of Reed Roller Bit Company for August 1, 1961, listed 632 active rotaries in the region on that date.

That was an increase of 37 from the 595 active rotaries in the Permian Basin on July 15 of this year, and a jump of 76 from the 566 rotary rigs which were working in the same territory on August 1, 1960.

Breakdown Later
The breakdown by counties on the August 1, 1961 survey will be available next week and will be reported at that time.

The Reed figures for the Permian Basin cover all working rotaries in the Midland and San Angelo Railroad Commission districts in Texas and in Lea, Eddy, Chaves and Roosevelt Counties in Southeast New Mexico.

opposite the Pennsylvanian at 9,614-9,634 feet.

Pay was topped at 8,554 feet. Total depth is 9,955 feet and, plugged back total depth is 9,450 feet.

The perforations were washed with 500 gallons of acid.

This new oiler is one location west of production in the field and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 3-12e-33e.

The new project will be drilled as Amerada No. 3 Mathers, one location north of the No. 4 Caudle. Excavation is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 3-12e-33e.

It is to be drilled to a possible bottom of 9,500 feet to try for Pennsylvanian production.

Amerada also staked location for its No. 7-SB State which is to be drilled as a Pennsylvanian project in the Saunders field of Central-West Lea County.

Drillsite is 800 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 3-12e-33e. It will go to around 10,000 feet.

Lawton Oil Corporation spotted location for its No. 1-A Kemnitz-State which is to be drilled as a Pennsylvanian project one location southeast of the discovery well of the South Saunders field of Central-West Lea County.

Drillsite is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 32-15e-33e. It will operate under permit to drill to 10,500 feet.

The Texas Company has run five and one-half-inch casing to bottom of two Lea County wildcats, and is now preparing to perforate and complete the projects as discoveries, one from the Pennsylvanian and one from the Devonian.

The Devonian discovery is the firm's No. 1-AR State, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2-11e-37e.

No. 1-AR State unloaded oil when drillpipe was being pulled after a drillstem test from 11,430 to 11,455 feet.

A subsequent test was taken from 11,430 to 11,500 feet. Tool was open three hours and 14 minutes. There was a strong blow of air at the start which diminished to zero at the end of the test.

No gas or fluid surfaced. Recovery was 460 feet of drilling mud, 3,404 feet of gas-cut mud, 3,400 feet of gas and oil-cut mud which was 80 per cent oil, 1,840 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 1,380 feet of oil and gas-cut water.

On the drillstem test from 11,430 to 11,455 feet, tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in two hours and 38 minutes. Recovery was 7,100 feet of clean high-gravity oil and 800 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. No water was made on this test.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2-11e-37e. That puts it 11 miles northeast of Tatum.

Texaco No. 1-AS State, eight miles west of the Saunders field indicated as a prolific flowing discovery on a drillstem test from 9,891 to 9,739 feet.

Most interested observers believe the section tested is Pennsylvanian, the formation which produces in the Saunders field.

On the test, tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in three minutes and oil in nine and one-half minutes. During the remaining 50 1/2 minutes of the drillstem test the wildcat flowed 78 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil and no water.

Cadet Probe—

Learn About Violations
"A lot of men who come in as plebes in a few months learn about the honor code violations and think they have been going on for some time and just think it is natural to fall into it."

Examinations are given in sections. Students who had taken the quiz tipped off others on the questions.

Some parents said they would get legal aid for the dismissed cadets.

"It's a disgraceful situation," Fulbright told a reporter. "Intercollegiate athletics have become so perverted that it's a corrupting influence on all the youngsters in the big universities."

The unexpected house cleaning at the military academy sent demands for a fuller investigation echoing through Congress. Sentiment was hardening in several quarters for a "de-emphasis" off football and possibly other intercollegiate competition at "the Point."

Rep. Potter (R-Mich) said the ousted cadets are victims of a system of athletic commercialism.

"They have been instilled with a philosophy that their main effort should be on the athletic field," he said in a statement.

Senators reported the cheating at West Point began several years ago among football players who found it hard to spend hours on the gridiron and still keep up with their studies.

If Fulbright's suggestion is adopted it would mean the end, at least temporarily, of the colorful Army-Navy football games.

The Arkansas senator, former president of the University of Arkansas, advocated an examination of the whole field of intercollegiate athletics in the country. He said such a study could be made by the special commission on ethics in government which he wants established.

A resolution to set up the commission is being considered by a Senate labor subcommittee.

Chance Is Slim For Requested Tax Hike

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Truman's bid for a $1,700,000,000 tax increase appears to have little or no chance of realization this year.

A check of key members on the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee indicated Saturday the Senate is likely to reduce rather than increase the $7,200,000,000 bill passed by the House.

One veteran member said the committee probably would come out with a total somewhere between $5,000,000,000 and the House figure.

The finance group finished six weeks of open hearings on the bill Friday.

Tentative plans are for the 13 senators to begin writing their version of the bill a week from Monday. This week is to be used by the committee's staff of experts to analyze proposals made by the more than 200 witnesses who testified.

Final plans are to be made after Chairman George (D-Ga) returns to the capital Monday from a three-week rest at home.

Meeting To Attack Hereford Disease

MARFA —(AP)—"Cancer-Eye," which has been attacking Hereford cattle in Texas for years, will be attacked itself at a meeting of cattlemen and medical men here August 24-25.

The lay-professional panel discussion on the disease will be sponsored by the Highland Hereford Breeders Association, President C. Kenneth Smith announced Saturday.

Hereford cattle raisers have for years suffered a serious economic burden because of "cancer-eye." The incidence varies from herd to herd, running as high as 10 per cent.

Boy Drowns While Swimming In Tank

ABILENE —(AP)—James Errol Smith, age, nine, drowned Saturday afternoon while swimming in a tank near the Abilene State Hospital where he was a patient.

Seven other young patients were unable to help the boy from the water.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, live in Amarillo.

Using Wilson as a shield, the police went to the stairway and called on the gunmen in the basement to surrender.

Flee Up Steps
Mrs. Bacher, carrying her baby, fled up the steps. Mrs. Wolfner climbed out a basement window.

Then the gunmen in the basement tossed their pistols onto the stairway and surrendered.

Taken to the station were Wilson, Rene Bergman, 40, an ex-convict, and Michael Spans, 38, an ex-convict.

Police searched the basement for a fourth man and detective Thomas Babington entered a closet on hands and knees.

Babington felt a pair of feet and shouted, "Here he is."

John Piech leaped out, a pistol in each hand, and fired at Babington. A slug grazed the detective's ear.

Detective William Donovan, 47, fired three shots and Piech fell mortally wounded.

Bonura Is Suspended Has Three Days To Cool Off

It cost Midland Indians Manager Zeke Bonura $50 and three days to give vent to his feelings Friday night in San Angelo.

Bonura told The Reporter-Telegram Saturday by telephone that Longhorn League president had telephoned him of his fine and three-day suspension.

The rhu-barb came about when Bonura pushed the plate umpire—Phil Skillin—after Skillin called Bonura out on strikes at the Midland-San Angelo game Friday night.

"I didn't hit him like the San Angelo paper said," Bonura told The Reporter-Telegram. "I just pushed him on the left shoulder. He got his feet tangled in the base I had just dropped, and fell."

The San Angelo story was headlined: "Bonura Knocks Umpire Down."

"Those newsmen," Zeke walked, "they also make a mountain out of a mole hill."

Skillin got up from the ground and left the field, and Bonura went to the Midland dugout, then to the Indians' bus after the incident.

Bonura said Saturday he realized he was wrong in striking the umpire, but added: "That guy called me wrong all night. I tried to call time and talk to him about the calls, but he wouldn't let me. He bounced Blumenthal out of our dugout with no reason, and threatened to put Eddie Melillo out of the dugout. Melillo wasn't bothering anybody."

"I came to bat in the ninth as a pinch hitter, and the San Angelo pitcher threw the first two balls outside, trying to walk me. The third pitch was in the same place, and the umpire called it a strike."

"I asked Skillin to watch the calls. He said 'You bat and I'll umpire.'"

"The next ball came in and he called it a strike too. I told him I didn't mind two calls bad, but to watch the next one."

"It was low and outside. He called it a strike. Everything was just building up in me, and I pushed him without thinking."

President Sayles Saturday said in a telephone conversation from Abilene that he was sorry the incident had happened.

"Zeke is doing a good job at Midland," the loop prexy said, and the whole thing is unfortunate, but we couldn't let him get by with the incident. If we did, things would get out of hand."

"Skillin said the third strike broke over the plate. He said he called a good game. Some San Angelo fans I queried said the same thing."

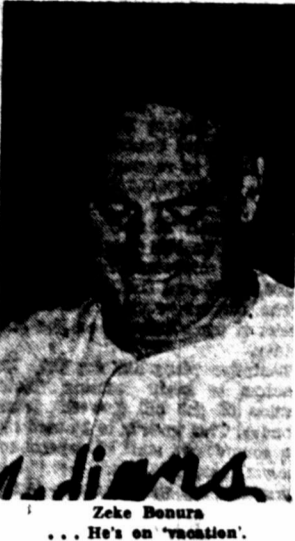

At least four Midland observers who were at the game failed to agree with that observation.

Bonura informed The Reporter-Telegram that Sayles said Skillin might have had a "bad night."

"I told Mr. Sayles Skillin has had a bad night every time he's umpired one of our games," Zeke said.

Bonura stated he would be able to come back Wednesday. Until then he's on "vacation."

The two-year old filly, Selling Day, owned by Lionel De Veaux of Toronto, Canada, was foaled at Jamaica in the West Indies.

Zeke Bonura ... He's on 'vacation'.

FUTURE WITH VEECK
ST. LOUIS —(P)—Frank Saucier of Okmulgee, Okla., refused to report to the St. Louis Browns last Spring. He told Bill DeWitt, then president of the Browns, that "there was no future in baseball and what happens if I break a leg?" Apparently Saucier — pronounced So-Shay — thinks there's a future in baseball under Bill Veeck, new president of the Browns. He recently reported for duty at St. Louis.

Midland Boys First

ODESSA — Midland finished second to Odesa, at the end of the West Texas Junior Olympics here Saturday night.

A big swimming carnival ended the meet, with Odesa scoring a total of 202 points to Midland's 185. Midland copped the boys event, 110 to 96, but lost in the girls' division by 31 points that was the difference.

Total team points for the teams in the sports extravaganza was Odesa 70, Midland 56, Crane 17, Frota 13, Iraan 12, Kermitt 7, San Angelo 6, El Paso 6 and Fort Stockton 6.

Individual Midlanders finished this way Saturday night:

Glenda McNeal, second, 100-yard backstroke, girls 15-18; Buck Herndon, first, 50-yard backstroke, boys 14 and under; Joan Turner, second, Atrill Pace, third and Tommie Underwood, fifth, 50-yard free style, girls 15-18; Pat Curran, first, Mary Herndon, fourth, 50-yard breaststroke, girls medley; Larry Friday, first, John Crowley, second, one meter, dive, boys 15-18; Roy Kimsey, first, Tommy Johnson, second, 100-yard breast stroke, boys 15-18; Larry Friday, first, John Crowley, second, three meter dive, boys 15-18; Bucky Herndon, Jerry Herndon and Don Muir, second, 150-meter relay; Jan Scott, Mary Johnson, Angela Hazlip, Jo Ann Cunningham, 200-yard free style, girls 14 and under; Glenda McNeal, Nell Curran, Atrill Pace, second, 150-meter relay, girls 15-18 and Bill Mims, Roy Kimsey, Bill Erskine, Larry Friday, first, boys 200-yard free style relay.

Friday was first in boys' diving, rating a 94.4 tabbing.

In Friday night action, Midland was outscored by Odesa, 130 to 87.

Midland winners included: Bill Mims, first in 100-yard backstroke, boys 15-18; Paxton Howard, second; Doug Muir, third, in 50-yard free style, boys 14 and under; Jo Ann Cunningham, third; Retta Hazlip, fourth, 50-yard backstroke, girls 14 and under; Jo Ann Turner, first, Nancy Steadman, second and Tommie Underwood, third, 100-yard free stroke, girls 15-18; Joe James and John Crowley, tied for third, 50-yard free style, boys 15-18; Jerry Herndon, third, 50-yard breast stroke, boys 14 and under; Dennis Burton, first, boys and girls diving match; Nell Curran, first, 100-yard breast stroke, girls 15-18; Nancy Steadman, second, 200-yard breast stroke, girls 15-18; Tommy Johnson, first, individual medley, boys 15-18; Pat Curran, second, 100-yard free stroke, girls 14 and under; Clinton Nobles, third, 400-yard free style, boys 15-18.

Doug Muir, Bucky Herndon, Jerry Herndon and Paxton Howard, first, 200-yard free style relay, boys 14 and under; Nell Curran, Atrill Pace, Nancy Steadman and Joan Turner, second, 200-yard free style relay, girls 15-18; Bill Mims, Roy Kimsey, Bill Erskine, first, medley relay, boys 15-18.

The Midland team of Retta Hazlip, Pat Curran and Mary Herndon won first in the medley relay, girls 14 and under, but was disqualified for an illegal touch at the turn.

Giants Overwhelm Cardinals, 10 To 0

ST. LOUIS —(P)—Southpaw Dave Koilo turned in a masterful two-hit performance Saturday night as the New York Giants overwhelmed the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-0, before 17,842. A pop single by Harry Lawry in the second and a single to short right field by Chuck Diering in the ninth were the only hits off Koilo.

The score: R R E

MIDLANDER DOWNED IN RUIDOSO MEET

RUIDOSO, N. M. —(P)—Clyde Blackwell of Roswell, defending champ, meets Dertell Tulley of Dallas in the finals of the annual Cree Meadows Golf Tourney here Sunday.

In quarter-final play Blackwell beat Red Watkins, Midland, Texas, 3 and 2.

NOT VIOLENT—Patty Berg is not breaking her clubs, or about to crack someone on the head. The Minneapolis redhead is merely limbering up with three irons before a round at Sunningdale, Berkshire. She is one of six American women professionals playing a series of benefit matches with British amateurs in England. (NEA)

Odessa Club May Be Bought As San Antonio Farm

SAN ANTONIO —(P)—George Scheppe, former president of the Dallas club, will become head of the San Antonio Missions and other minor league clubs in Texas if a project being considered by 20 wealthy Texans goes through.

The plan, under which Scheppe probably will be vice president and general manager of the Missions, will be finally discussed at a meeting here Monday night.

Scheppe was optimistic Saturday that it would go through.

The group would buy the San Antonio club in the Class AA Texas League, Corpus Christi of the Class B Gulf Coast League and Odessa of the Class C Longhorn League. A Class D club would also be obtained in the chain under a working agreement.

Scheppe's idea is to operate his own farm system for development of ballplayers but to have a limited working agreement with a major league club.

More than $1,000,000 is involved in the deal.

Middlecoff Leads Pack In O'Shanter

CHICAGO —(P)—Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, banking on bullseye approach shots, blasted Tam O'Shanter for 66 Saturday to bounce into the 94-hole lead in the $15,000 All-American Pro Golf Tournament with 206, ten under par.

The 30-year-old former dentist needed only two long putts—of 25 and 45 feet—in decorating his third round card with six birdies.

Middlecoff, bidding strongly for the first prize of $2,250 to be awarded Sunday at the end of the 72-hole grind was never over par Saturday. He booked 34 on the front side, and then came back in 32 to shave six strokes from the 36-36 standard.

Ralph Blomquist of Glendale, Calif., who has never finished better than fifteenth on the 1951 circuit, coupled 34's for a 68 and a 54-hole tally of 211. Skee Reigel, Tulsa, Okla., pro playing with Middlecoff, welded 35's for 70 and a 211. Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., scored 35-39—71 Saturday to bring his total to 211.

Norm Von Nida of Sydney, Australia, headed foreigners with 34-36—70 and 212. Defending Champion Bobby Locke ballooned to a 77 for 220 and was battling to finish in the money.

One of the best rounds of the day, however, was fashioned by Babe Zaharias. She carved a record-breaking last nine of 33 for a 71, five under women's par, to wheel into a 10-stroke margin with 233 in the All-American Women's Open. She was five-under par for the distance.

Her nearest rival was Betsy Rawls, Austin, Texas, with 74 for 238 in the chase for the $1,000 top purse.

Yes, Perhaps 'A Little Bit Less'

AMARILLO —(P)—President D. M. Spector of the Borger Cassers of the West Texas-New Mexico League says he will sell the team for "600,000—maybe a little more, maybe a little less."

Borger currently is second from the bottom in league standings with 36 victories and 68 losses.

Record Entry Due For Skeet Shoot

DALLAS —(P)—Prospect for a record entry list in the National Skeet Shooting Association championships appeared bright Saturday as the vanguard of the nation's top scattergunners began registering. The shoot opens Sunday and continues through next Saturday.

Blumenthal Winner— Indians Nip Colts In 10

SAN ANGELO—A single by Dick Campbell in the top of the tenth inning earned the Midland Indians a 4-3 win over the San Angelo Colts here Saturday night, in an overtime contest.

Campbell's single came after Gordon Tanner had collected his second double of the night.

Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal pitched his heart out in the clutches. He stranded Colts on base in every inning, bearing down when he had to and working himself out of more holes than a well digger. The win was the ninth of the season for Blumenthal. He has lost eight.

Blumenthal also doubled in the sixth to score Tanner from second base. Two more Indian tallies came in during that frame, as Kenny Jones singled Julio de la Torre in with the first Midland tally, and J. B. (Gipper) Gibbs brought Jones around the bases.

Eddie Melillo guided the team in the absence of Manager Zeke Bonura, who is on the suspended list.

Bonura got a large hand from the San Angelo fans when he posted a dollar bill through the screen to San Angelo's Charley Young, when Young hit a round-tripper in the fifth inning. Bonura was at the game as a spectator only.

Midland goes to Odesa Sunday.

Marrero Hurls Second Successive Shutout As Washington Wins

WASHINGTON —(P)—Conrado Marrero pitched his second successive shutout for Washington Saturday night, holding the Chicago White Sox to three hits for his 11th decision, 6-0.

The defeat dropped the fourth place White Sox six and a half games back of league-leading New York.

KEEPING UP WITH MITCHELLS

CLEVELAND —(P)—The three children of Dale Mitchell, outfielder for the Cleveland Indians, were born in three different states. The oldest, Dale, was born in Wichita Falls, Texas. Dudley, the second in the Mitchell line, first saw the light of day in Oklahoma City. The latest member of the Mitchell clan, daughter, June, was born in Cleveland.

SWEDS BOOK SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE —(P)—The Swedish Helmsborg Football Club has accepted a financial guarantee from the Singapore Amateur Football Association to play three games in Singapore in November. The Swedes will receive first class accommodation as part of the contract. They will also play two matches in principal towns of the Federation of Malaya also with a financial guarantee.

Little Loop All-Stars Cop Tourney

SAN ANGELO — Midland's Little League all-star team ran through a pair of San Angelo teams here this weekend, like Sherman ran through Georgia.

An 11-3 win over the North San Angelenos gave Midland the subordinate district tournament, and the right to play in a district tournament at Midland next Thursday and Friday. Teams from Odesa, El Paso and Abilene—winners of subordinate meets in those cities—will compete in Midland.

Larry Cooper hurled a three-pitcher Saturday night as the Midland small-fry won before a crowd of 800 fans. Frank Parks and Dennis Patton each got three hits, while Arthur Adams and Jim Owens got two each.

Owens pitched a brilliant two-hitter as Midland beat South San Angelo, 10-1, Friday night. The six-foot plus, 13-year-old whiffed 13. The game went into extra innings before Midland won with a nine-run outburst in the eighth inning.

Bennie Sanchez led at the plate with three hits, two of them doubles and one a triple.

The scores: R R E

South Shocks North On Hardwood, 60-55

SAN ANTONIO — The South pulled the greatest upset of the Texas Coaching School all-star basketball game Saturday night by whipping the North 60-55 in a contest that produced the highest score in the seven-year history of the series.

The North was an overwhelming favorite to win because of superior height and better all-around ability—so it was apparent before the game.

But the South, led by Kelly Jim Duncan of Cayuga and peppery little Tommy Hill of Lamar (Houston) was behind only twice—in the third period—and at one time led by eight points.

Keith Lane, Borger giant, tied Duncan for high point honors, each with 17, and was voted the outstanding player of the game. The 6-foot-5 Lane was the top man of the North, getting most of his points by capturing rebounds.

Florida State University's football team has won three straight conference titles and is undefeated in three years of conference play.

TEN GETS LOSS—

Tribe Falls To Colts, 4-2; Bonura In Rhubarb

SAN ANGELO—Blood pressures went up and the Midland Indians went down here Friday night, as the San Angelo Colts took a 4-2 Longhorn League baseball verdict. Israel Ten allowed nine hits in taking the loss, his first as against two wins since joining Midland.

The game was enlivened when Midland Manager Zeke Bonura shoved Umpire Skillin after he had called Bonura out on a third-called strike. Skillin earlier had tossed Bruce (Gaggy) Blumenthal out of the Midland dugout, and had words with Bonura on several occasions. Midland scored first in the fourth on a double by Julio de la Torre and a single by Kenny Jones. San Angelo got three in the bottom of the same inning on two triples and a single.

The Indians scored again in the seventh, after they were behind, 4-1. Gordon Tanner singled J. B. Gibbs home with the last Midland tally. Indo Beltran went the distance to gain the win. Franks Preserves Win For Roswell

By The Associated Press

Dean Franks, Roswell moundsman who has turned in 22 wins in Longhorn League play so far, was called on for a relief stint Friday night and came through. The victory moved the Rockies into a tie with Big Spring for second place in the race.

Franks' mates pounded out a 12-3 victory over Sweetwater. Big Spring fell before the five hit pitching of Dan Hauptert to lose to Odessa, 14-2.

The other two games were more closely contested. Vernon scored single runs in the eighth and ninth innings to nip Artesia, 10-8, and San Angelo edged Midland, 4-2, in the best pitched contest of the night.

FOR SURGERY Ric Stewart, six-year-old son of Mrs. Lucy Stewart of 308 West Jax Street, was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Friday for surgery.

Oh shore, shore this generation has Faye Emerson on television, and long dogs, and $1 hamburgers, and plunging neck lines, and the Kefauver committee, and the Korean war, but it doesn't have any fuzzy cheek youths who are willing to die for Dear Ole Siwash.

Time was when the Great American Boy took up bat and ball and other such athletic equipment and sallied forth to give his all for the ole alma mater. Strong men broke down and cried in those days, when the score went against him after he had worked in vain to produce a victory.

But that was when the athlete carried visions of glory for the old school in his head, and a Simon pure attitude in his heart. Now, it seems, the standard equipment is a card showing the latest point spread, and a lust for gold.

Never one to believe a youth should maim himself for life to produce a win—for, after all, it's just a ball game—we were prone to overlook, as much as possible, the basketball scandals that have rocked the nation from coast to coast and caused many an "ideal" young player several sleepless nights.

Now, from West Point, where the "cream of American Youth" are glorified in story and song, comes the saga of many cadets—among them top flight Army gridders—being expelled from the banks of the Hudson for cheating on exams.

Which, in itself, isn't new. We recall from our own experience at an Eastern school—and we're sure it happens in other institutions of higher learning—that the football coach told his gridders to "cooperate" with each other during the exams that meant the difference between staying eligible and being dropped for "scholastic difficulties." Evidently, the coach thought two brains were better than one, and the entire team's mental capacity was superior to that of a few.

Of course, the reason for such shindigs at West Point is easy to see. The gridders work is so hard, if not harder, than football players' at other schools—and their scholastic curriculum certainly is much more difficult. Added, they have less time to pore over their books.

As for the basketball bribes—well, that comes from personal greed brought about by schools who offer boys everything but the president's car to enroll.

And yet, in this day of high-pressure athletics its got to be done to keep a toe-hold in the emphasized sports setups. Frankly, we don't know the solution to the problems. To be sure, there still are fine young men who are entirely above reproach. Besides, we believe in plucking first the moat from our own eyes before solving the problems of others.

But, both at West Point and in collegiate cage circles, things are happening. We don't know if they indicate a trend, prove that with men who know tobacco best its you-know-what two to one, or prove that the last worm is the longest.

Whatever it is, it isn't good.

'Protested' Tribe Win To Stand As Midland Victory

Midland's 2-4 win over Odessa here last Saturday night will stand. Odessa Manager Bob Martin notified umpires he would file a protest, when a runner was waved from first to third in the third inning, after an Odessa outfielder dugout a ball into the Midland dugout on a wild throw.

But President Hal Saylor of Abilene Saturday said no protest had been filed, and the game would stand as a Midland victory.

Cleveland Defeats Athletics, 4 To 2 PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rapid Robert Feller hung up his seventh victory in 21 decisions Saturday as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 2, to take sole possession of second place and remain one-half game behind the league-leading New York Yankees. Detroit defeated Boston, 2 to 1, to drop the Red Sox into third place.

ONE WON, OTHER LOST NEW YORK (AP)—The day Ray Robinson lost "the world's middleweight crown to Randy Turpin in London, Rocky Graziano was scoring a three-round knockout over Cecil Hudson in Kansas City. Ray and Rocky were to have met in September but Robinson's stunning upset ended plans for the meeting.

Abilene-Veteran Pat Stasey, manager of the Big Spring Bronco, has forged to the head of the Longhorn League batting class again with a .379 average, after relinquishing his spot to San Angelo's John Tayoan for two weeks. In hanging up his impressive average, Stasey has clinched 24 doubles to displace Midland's Hayden White as the leader in that department.

Leo Eastham has forged ahead of Warren Sitter in the triples department. The Odessa outfielder has 11. Wayne Wallace of San Angelo leads in home runs—as he has since the outset of the 1951 season—with 24. Della Has Most George Della of Roswell has the most hits, 144. Other leaders include: Stolen bases, Eastham, 28; bases on balls, English, Vernon, 124 and RBIs, Bill Cearley, Roswell, 104.

Big Dean Franks of Roswell has the most wins in the pitcher department. His 22 victories is four more than second-place Eddie Jacome, the Midland hurler, has mustered. Jacome has pitched in the most games, 43, and has hurled the most innings—248. Indo Beltran of San Angelo has the best pitching percentage, winning 14 and losing three for an .824 mark. Marshall of Vernon continues to lead in both strikeouts and bases on balls. He has whiffed 140, walked 131.

South Triumphs Over North, 14-6

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The favorite seldom wins in the annual all-star football game of the Texas Coaching School—but it did Friday night as the South riddled the North 14-6 in one of the most awesome displays of power and finesse ever seen in this schoolboy class.

The Yanks never had a chance before the astonishing South line and the clever T formation as taught by Paul (Bear) Bryant of Kentucky.

One of the biggest lines the series ever saw bounced the North all over the Alamo Stadium turf while Duane Nutt of Corsicana and Eddie Hening of Tyler were connecting with rifle shot passes.

Nutt struck like lightning early in the first period to bring the South its first shocking touchdown. The brilliant Frank Eldom of Port Arthur, who gathered in four passes for 79 yards during the night and twice missed throws that would have meant touchdowns, took a 30-yard punt for 23 yards to send the South to the North 25-yard line. Then Nutt

It was the seventeenth all-star game as sponsored by the Texas High School Coaches Association, and the count in the series now shows the North to have won eight, the South seven and there have been two ties. Mac Taylor was the entire offensive show for the North. He threw 37 yards to Ed Burnet for their only TD.

A crowd of 10,288—one of the largest to turn out for the all-star classic—was in Alamo Stadium to watch the fireworks.

The South ended up with 228 yards rushing and passing while the North got only 127.

Jones Hopes To Live 'Up To Expectations'

Thurmon L. (Tugboat) Jones dropped into Midland for a brief visit Sunday and was making plans to be off again Monday.

The Midland High School football mentor has just attended the Texas Coaching School in San Antonio, and will attend a three-day meeting of the same type in Albuquerque, N. M., through Wednesday.

"I'm trying to find a clinch scoring play," Jones grinned. "The coaches put me on the spot by voting me as district favorite at San Antonio, and we want to live up to their expectations."

Jones said Pat Gerald, the Sweetwater mentor, and other coaches passed the word around to sports writers that Jones "has it" for 1951. "I hope we do," he said.

Grid drills start August 27, with twice-a-day workouts scheduled. Coaches Audrey Gill and Red Rutledge still are in Colorado for the Summer, and will be back about August 15.

Yanks Hold On To Lead In Loop Race

NEW YORK —(AP)— The New York Yankees came to life in the late innings Saturday and humbled the last-place St. Louis Browns, 11-3, to protect their slender lead in the American League pennant race.

Cleveland remained a half game astern of the Yanks. The Indians defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, to break their second-place deadlock with the Boston Red Sox. The Red Sox dropped a 2-1 decision to the Detroit Tigers and tumbled to third place, one and one-half games back of the Yanks.

Army To Continue Playing Football

NEW YORK —(AP)— Army will field a football team this Fall. That much seems certain.

But whether it'll resemble the power houses of recent years is a question Coach Earl Blaik probably can't answer until he surveys what is left of a squad riddled by dismissals for cheating in examinations.

Ninety unidentified cadets were expelled Friday for cribbing. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, said no names would be announced.

Blaik was at the academy Thursday but had "disappeared" Friday when Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., disclosed in Washington that the cadets had broken the sacrosanct honor code of the United States Military Academy.

Col. James Lear, head of the academy's information office, said the Army would play football this Fall. That means a schedule highlighted by Southern California in New York, November 3 and the traditional game with Navy in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, December 1.

Dartmouth, Harvard and the Citadel don't appear too formidable at this stage even for a rebuilt Army eleven. But the remainder of the schedule, in addition to U. S. C. and Navy, includes such gridiron powers as Villanova, Northwestern, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

Even without Friday's setback, Army was to enter its 1951 campaign minus 10 of last year's players—most of whom figured in the Cadets' 28-game winning streak before they were beaten by Navy 14-2 in last Fall's final game.

Blaik again had built his offensive unit around his own son, Bob, as quarterback. With him in the backfield would be Al Pollard, expected to be one of the Army's greatest fullbacks and Gene Filippick and Vic Pollock at half-backs.

Brooklyn Bows To Reds, 7-3

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds hopped on Don Newcombe for seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings Saturday, then coasted to a 7-3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

It was the Reds' second straight triumph over the National League leading Dodgers.

Newcombe had won nine straight before Saturday. The Reds got to Newcombe for four runs in the fourth and three more in the fifth on a total of only seven hits. He bowed out after the fifth frame.

Ellis Blackwell had the Brooklyn well under control until late innings. He fanned seven Dodgers.

Haunting the Dodgers particularly was Hank Edwards, who Cincinnati obtained from Brooklyn only recently. Friday night he scored the winning run against his old mates and Saturday he clubbed out two doubles to help lead the Cincinnati attack.

The plight of the Dodgers in the series here has been just this. In two games Willie Ramo and Ellis Blackwell have piled up 17 strikeouts.

Duke Snider, Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges have collected only a total of four hits in 37 times at bat. The score: R H E Brooklyn 7 000 210-3 8 0 Cincinnati 3 000 430 00-7 10 2 Newcombe, Pothelen and Campanella; Blackwell and Howell.

Others talked of a business man. So far no top flight business executive has been mentioned except James A. Farley, former Postmaster General who now is chairman of the board of Coca Cola.

Three big baseball names came up spontaneously in the discussions—Ford Frick, president of the National League; George Trautman, head of the minor leagues; and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

Blames Skillin I witnessed the Zeke Bonura-Umpire Skillin incident in San Angelo Friday night, and I'd like to put in my two cents worth. While I realize a player is always wrong in a squabble of that nature and should never strike or push an umpire, I don't blame Zeke for losing his temper.

The umpire in question called bad strikes on Midland all night—and most of the time when it hurt most, with men on bases and leading Midland batters such as Hayden White, Stan Wilcox, Julio de la Torre and Bonura at bat. He wouldn't even allow Zeke to call time and discuss the calls with him. Every time Bonura started to call time to protest some of the bad calls, Skillin would take his mask off and start jawing at the Midland manager before he could get to home plate. Personally, I think Midland got the raw deal.

And, to clear things up, Zeke didn't hit Skillin. He pushed him on the left shoulder, and the umpire fell down—COPPER DAUGHERTY.

Will Help Pay Fine Longhorn League umpiring has been worse this year than at any other time. Knowing the conditions managers must contend with, we offer to give $5 toward any fine assessed on Zeke Bonura for his fust with Umpire Skillin in San Angelo Friday night—MR. AND MRS. P. R. (PAT) PATTERSON.

All Time Team Not wishing to hog any of your space, but having received some interesting comments pro and con about my recent all-Indian team, I am submitting my selection of an all-time Longhorn League all-star team:

(First alternates are named because some of them perhaps merit the first line.)

1b—Jim Prince (Mid); Joe Dotlich (SW).

2b—Al Monchak (Od-Ros); Rip Collins (Mid).

SS—Roy McMillan (Bal); Clyde Perry (Mid).

3b—Pascual (BS); Leon Brinkhoff (Od).

Utility infielder—Sam Harshaney (DR-SA).

LF—Bobby Fernandez (BS); Hank Ramsdell (Mid).

CF—George Calois (DR); Arnold Davis (Mid).

RF—Pat Stacey (BS); Bill Cearley (Od-Ros).

Utility outfielder—Lgo Eastham (Od).

All-around utility—Stu Williams (Bal); Bert Baez (BS).

Pinch-hitter—Tom Jordan (Ros).

Pitchers—Joe Cendan (BS), Ernie Nelson (Mid), Julio Ramos (BS), Gerald Fahr (Ver), Eddie Jacobs (Ver-Mid), Leroy Jones (SW), Dean Franks (Ros).

Catcher—Buddy Hancken (Bal); Tony Traspuesto (BS).

Honorable mention goes to such great boys as: Kenny Jones (Mid), Grand Crisman (Mid), Ace Mendez (BS), Bob Crues (SA), Warren Sitter (Mid-SW), Abe Fleitas (Art), Lou Ehlinger (Ver), Lupo Gonzales (Ver), Frank McAlexander (Mid), Wayne Wallace (SA), Rabbit Rigby (Ver), Morris Cowser (Ver), Asplau (BS), Oasie Kolwe (Mid), Orlando Moreno (BS), Jesse Priest (SW), Scooter Hughes (Mid), Stubby Greer (Art), Art Cuitti (SW), Julian Pressley (Mid-Ros-Art-SW), Hixson (Bal), Rex Pearce (Od), Claude Gray (Mid), Felix Gomez (BS), Ed Arthur (Od), and a flock more.

Sincerely, TANNER LAINE

Tony Cuccinello and Ernie Lombardi are the only players in the modern history of Cincinnati Reds to hit safely in six consecutive times at bat in one game.

Five Are Considered For Commissioner Of Baseball Position

NEW YORK —(AP)— A confidential poll of big league club owners made by The Associated Press indicated Saturday there is no outstanding candidate in the field for commissioner of baseball.

In fact, strong opposition was expressed against making a final choice at the meeting to be held here Tuesday.

Instead, the sentiment seems to be to narrow down the list of candidates to three or four, with the final ballot coming some weeks later.

In order to get the right man, said the owner, baseball is ready to boost the salary to $75,000 yearly.

A. B. Chandler, who was refused reelection after serving since 1948, received $65,000.

Several owners mentioned the possibility of a military man. The name most widely discussed in this connection is General Douglas MacArthur.

Others talked of a business man. So far no top flight business executive has been mentioned except James A. Farley, former Postmaster General who now is chairman of the board of Coca Cola.

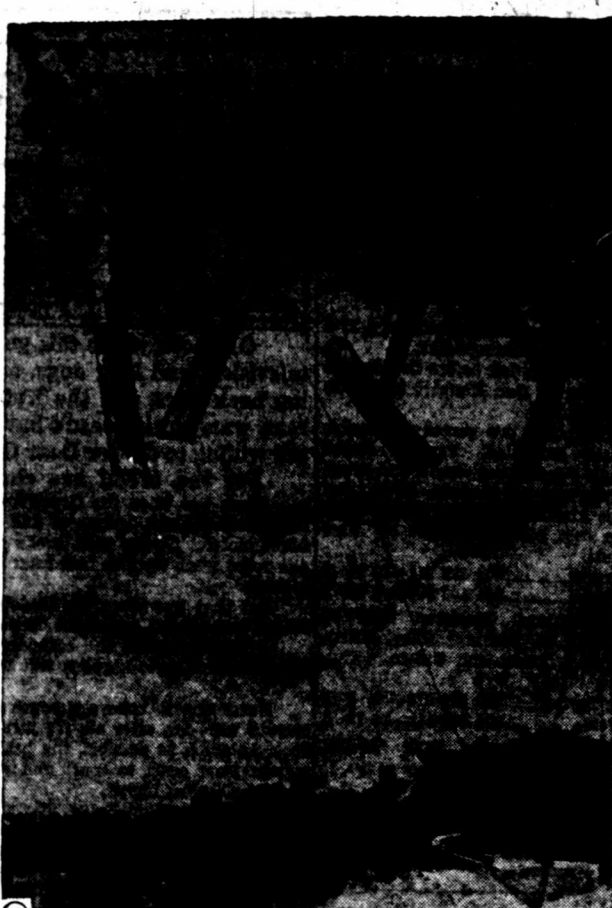

Three big baseball names came up spontaneously in the discussions—Ford Frick, president of the National League; George Trautman, head of the minor leagues; and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

Record Field Expected For Hambletonian

COSHEEN, N. Y. —(AP)— A record field and the richest purse in history of the world famous Hambletonian Stake appeared certain Saturday as the harness horse folk awaited Wednesday's trotting classic.

Failures of any leading candidate to dominate the early turf races has left this Kentucky Derby of the trotters wide open, and a field of 30 or more is indicated.

Only 15 need face the starter and the purse will be worth more than $80,000.

A record purse already is assured, but a score or more of the three-year-olds must go to surpass the field of 19 in Titan Hanover's 1945 Hambletonian. The richest purse in the 25 previous Hambletonians was the $75,200 plum last year.

Homers Sparks Bucs To Win Over Phils

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Home runs by Ralph Kiner and Gus Bell sparked the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

The score: R H E Philadelphia 100 020 00-3 7 0 Pittsburgh 020 120 20x-7 9 1 Johnson and Wilber; Dickson and McCullough.

KINER LIKES BOSTON PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's slugger outfielder, is over 300 this season mainly because his bat takes advantage of the Boston Braves pitchers. In the first nine games against the Braves Kiner hit 47, the result of 16 safeties in 34 efforts. However, he had only one home run against Boston.

West Texas Splash Meet Carded Here

Teams from at least 10 West Texas cities will compete here August 11, in the West Texas Invitational Swimming Meet, sponsored by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The splashing will begin at 8:30 a.m. next Saturday, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars pool.

In addition to the Midland team—coached by Bill Gildewell, Ed Dillon and Bud White—teams from San Angelo, Odessa, Lubbock, Poyte, Fort Stockton, McCamey, Iraan, El Paso and Crane will compete. Certificates and ribbons will go to the winners of the events.

There will be three divisions in the boy's bracket, and three in the girl's bracket. The boys will compete in 14 and under, 15-16 and 17 and over age groups. The girl's division will be operated in a similar manner.

Distances range from 50 to 200 yards, with medley and free style relays planned, as well as diving events.

The meet will be held under AAU rules, with any amateur eligible to enter. Individuals not on a team may enter unattached. An entry fee of 25 cents per person will be paid, with the proceeds going to the Midland JayCees, to help defray expenses.

The Clint Dunagan Memorial Trophy will be up for the winning team. Midland has two legs on permanent position of the trophy. It must be won three times to remain permanently in any city's possession.

Officials said all team coaches and representatives are required to attend a scratch meeting at 8:30 a.m. one hour before the meet begins.

Chicago Outlasts Braves In 11 Innings

CHICAGO —(AP)— Hank Sauer broke out of a batting slump to double home the winning run as the Chicago Cubs outlasted the Boston Braves, 7 to 6, Saturday in 11 innings.

WASHINGTON OIL—Moderate Rise In Crude Oil Prices May Result From New Federal Controls Revision

WASHINGTON—A moderate rise in crude oil and product prices may be in the offing as a result of a new provision of the Defense Production Act.

Crude oil prices were frozen at levels of last December, the same levels as existed in 1947, and there have been substantial wage and material cost increases since then.

In the field of products, more complications enter. The new act permits, in fact directs, price relief for producers of a commodity, if the cost of production has advanced.

Mexico-bound last week, Interior Secretary Oscar L. Chapman, who also is Petroleum Administrator for Defense, will head for Canada later on, probably in September or October.

Predictions Of Shortage Of Natural Gas In Texas Are Challenged By Economist

EDITOR'S NOTE—The article below, written by H. J. Struth, internationally recognized petroleum economist, gives an interesting report on the natural gas situation in Texas. The article originally appeared in the July, 1961, issue of "Petroleum Newsletter," published by Core Laboratories, Inc., as a copyrighted feature. That concern has given permission for its republication.

There is a preponderant weight of evidence against those who advocate keeping Texas natural gas in Texas; imposing punitive taxes on gas exported out of the state; precluding an "impending gas famine" in Texas' industrial future.

One fact that must be recognized in any study of the Texas natural gas situation is that today's annual exports of gas from this state comprise only 1.26 per cent of her proved reserves of gas, while the annual total marketed production comprises only 3.50 per cent of the known reserves.

With 55 per cent of the nation's gas reserves, Texas is able to meet all domestic needs, and also to supply the growing needs of consumers in 27 other states, as well as Mexico.

A summation of official statistics, covering Texas natural gas for the years 1945 through 1950, may assist in allaying the fears of some who think in terms of panic, famine and punitive taxes.

Table with 5 columns: Year, Reserves (12-31), Prod., Marketed, Exports, Net Exports. Data for years 1945-1950.

Another highly important factor in the Texas natural gas picture, which cannot be ignored, is the growing utilization of gas in interstate commerce which was formerly blown into the air.

Prophecies of a gas famine in Texas, predicated upon the growing volume of gas being exported to other consuming states, are decidedly premature.

Continental Awards College Scholarships To High Graduates

HOUSTON—Fourteen 1961 high school graduates in six states have been awarded college scholarships by Continental Oil Company, they were advised by President L. F. McCollum.

The eight boys and six girls awarded Continental scholarships are children of Continental employees who won their scholarships in competition with applicants from all over the country.

The program accomplishes what could have been done under President Truman's plan whereby the government would construct and operate certain industrial facilities.

Employees Of Phillips Make Safety Record

The oil industry in the Permian Basin has developed another record to add to the many others it has already produced.

The employees of Phillips Petroleum Company's Western Production Division, which has its headquarters in Midland made this record.

In addition to the pumps, switches, roustabouts, and mechanics in the three production districts, a well-servicing unit, which operates throughout the division, also took part in the safety accomplishment, making a total of 198 employees.

MIDLAND

NEW ARRIVALS—Mrs. Eula Collins, nurse at Western Clinic-Hospital, holds one of the newest sets of twins in Midland. They are Gus and Russ Carlson, born July 3. They are the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carlson, 500 North Marienfeld Street.

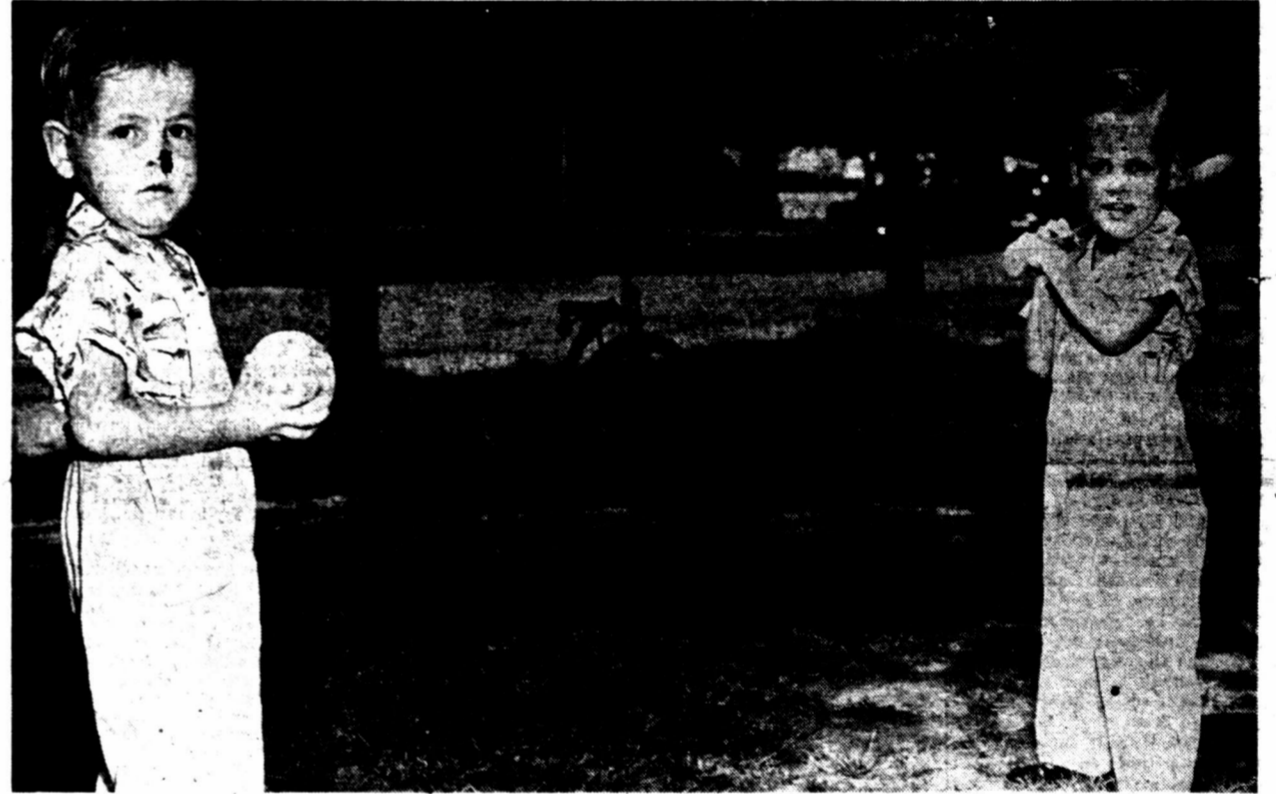

SMITH TWINS—Another one of the many sets of twins in Midland are Margaret Jeanne and Jane Ann, two-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith, 905 North Whitaker Street.

SHARON AND SUSAN—Five-year-old Sharon and Susan look like they are ready to go to a party. They are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. White, 1203 West Washington Street.

RELAXING ON THE LAWN—Another set of Midland twins are enjoying the leisure hours of Summer vacation. These twin girls are Shirley and Sharon Watts, 10-year-old daughters of Mrs. Jean Watts, 909 West Kansas Street.

BATTER UP—A twin comes in handy when you want to play baseball. Ronald, pitching, and Donald, ready to hit a home run, are the three-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Aday, 717 West Louisiana Street.

PLAY TIME—It must be time to play because Janet and Judy Mork are much more interested in their toys than having their picture taken. These young ladies are the two and one-half-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mork, 405 West Jax Street.

JUST ALIKE—Seeing double? No, it's just June and Jean Sauze, 21-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sauze, 607 North Marienfeld Street. Both June and Jean work for Standard Oil Company of Texas.

Midland's Oldest Car Brags Maximum Speed Of 35 MPH

The oldest car in Midland still can exceed the city's speed limit. Its maximum speed is 35 miles an hour.

The 1912 Model T Ford touring sedan, owned by W. F. Pennebaker, recently has been cruising around Midland and Odessa advertising the Summer Mummies production of the melodrama, "Gold in the Hills."

This car was purchased by Pennebaker in the Summer of 1949 in Wilmington, Vt. Pennebaker was cycling through Vermont looking for old cars when he saw an old man polishing this car for a parade. He bought it and drove it at Yale University while attending law school there.

Makes Eight-Day Trip
In September, 1941, he drove the antique car from Boston, Mass., to New Orleans. This trip took eight days, including two used up putting a new crank shaft in the car.

During the war it was stored at New Orleans and last Fall was shipped in a baggage car to Midland. The freight bill was paid by the Kiwanis Club and the Community Theater.

It was first used to advertise "Stop, Laff and Listen," the 1950 Kiwanis-Community Theater Musical Review.

This was one of the first cars to have an all-steel frame. Some of its feature attractions are gas head-lights and kerosene lamps for tail lights and parking lights.

Parts are not easily obtained for this old model car. Some of them can be obtained from mail order houses, however. Tires are no longer made for this car but they can be obtained from a manufacturer on special orders.

Pennebaker said he located three tires for the rear wheels at the Midland Co-Op Oil Company. The rear tires are larger than those in front.

At present, Pennebaker is trying to locate a new radiator for the car. He is hopeful of finding one in the East.

The dashboard in Midland's oldest car has only an ignition switch. It doesn't have a generator or a self-starter but nevertheless "it runs good," according to Pennebaker.

Shoulder Accessories Are Important

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Elsie Tarrance, James Hooper

McCAMEY—In a candlelight ceremony July 27 Elsie Tarrance became the bride of James E. Hooper. The ceremony took place in the Church of Christ with Martin Kamstra, minister, performing the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tarrance of McCamey. Hooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hooper of Vivian, La.

Tall candelabra with lighted tapers formed a background for the ceremony. The candelabra was flanked on either side by baskets of gladiolus and mums.

The bride wore a gray suit with green and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Rankin News
RANKIN—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hines of Fort Worth have been visiting in the H. Wheeler home while on a vacation. Mrs. Hines is the former Norma Jean Wheeler.

Mrs. B. B. Brown has returned from a visit with relatives in Del Rio.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Eades spent last weekend in Jayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schiagal and children are on a two weeks' vacation trip which will include fishing at Possum Kingdom Dam.

Lois Lindsey of Portland, Ore., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Langford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bodine are visiting relatives in Fort Worth and other Texas places while on vacation.

Mrs. Johnnie Ruth Gary and Mrs. Louise Murchison spent the weekend in Ruidoso, N. M., and attended the races.

Mrs. Randolph Moore and children, Duwain and Becky Sue, are spending the weekend with Captain Moore in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Jackson and children of Odessa visited in the A. P. Eades home this week.

SOONER'S LARGEST
Osage County is the largest in Oklahoma. A huge quarterly Indian payroll of headrights is received at Pawhuska, a county seat, where the tribal headquarters are located.

Add a little finely ground tongue, corned beef, or ham to potato puffs; serve with asparagus and broiled tomatoes. To prepare the tomatoes mix mayonnaise with a little prepared mustard and spread on the tomato halves before broiling until lightly browned. This menu makes a delightful Summer luncheon.

Serve snap beans with a cheese sauce if you want to give your family extra nutrients. To make it a party dish turn the beans and sauce into a casserole, top with buttered crumbs and brown under the broiler or in the oven.

Untinted foundation cream makes an excellent protective coating when you're working in your garden. A base film of this cream will help prevent dirt from ingraining, and will make surface soil much easier to remove when clean-up time comes. This product is an aid in warding off callouses, too.

Dirt-removal at the end of each gardening stint will be more thorough if you make a practice of using such scrubbing aids as nail and palm brushes. It's a good idea to use a cold cream soap, for its softening and smoothing benefits.

Follow your wash-up routine with a soothing application of hand lotion or lanolin-rich hand cream, stroked on as if you were donning

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Allen, David Brown was ring bearer and candlelighters were Donna Tarrance and Nancy Walton.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the Park Building. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and bridegroom figurines centered the table surrounded by greenery with lighted candles on either side.

Mrs. L. A. Bridges served the punch and Mrs. Henry Burke served the cake. Dona Tarrance and Nancy Walton presided at the bride's book.

After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to Del Rio. When they return they will be at home in McCamey.

Mrs. Hooper is a 1951 graduate of McCamey High School.

Medical Corps In Korea Praised
NEW YORK—(AP)—"The boys in Korea have been getting wonderful medical care," says Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State's health commissioner.

Dr. Hilleboe spent two weeks in Korea and Japan with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

"Two wonderful things I saw," he said, "were the speed with which the seriously wounded were moved back in helicopters and the rapidity with which they were treated in a mobile, surgical hospital set up in 20 tents."

APT DESCRIPTION
MONTREAL—(AP)—Said a Glasgow psychiatrist after a lengthy session with a Canadian customs official here: "It felt he was examining me the way a savage would an alarm clock."

REALISTIC PAINTER
The ancient Greek painter, Zeuxis, reputedly painted grapes so realistically that they attracted birds, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

HOT WEATHER LEGISLATION
VERDUN—(AP)—Perhaps it was the heat. An alderman opposed to a controversial measure before city council voted for it by mistake. Another opponent of the measure missed the session when he was tied up by a traffic jam. The measure was passed.

Serve snap beans with a cheese sauce if you want to give your family extra nutrients. To make it a party dish turn the beans and sauce into a casserole, top with buttered crumbs and brown under the broiler or in the oven.

Who Said The Dollar Was Dead?

It certainly may seem "cents" to shop during Dollar Day at KRUGER'S Monday, August 6, is the big day. Set your alarm clock so you'll be early and get first pick at the fine merchandise. You're familiar with the quality of the merchandise, so we won't elaborate—but we're just taking you to be sure and get in on the Dollar Day event. You'll be surprised at what a dollar can buy.

Music In Kindergarten
Children attending KIDDIS KOLLEGE KINDERGARTEN, opening September 3, at 506 West Storey, will learn to accept the finer things of life as a part of daily living. Music and dancing will be taught in connection with regular kindergarten activities. Young minds will be trained in the process of thinking and be prepared for grade school. Refreshments will be served during the 10 a.m. rest period. On Fridays, children will take home notebooks containing their work. Dial 4-7939 for information.

Push-Button Cleaning Equipment
The nine different cleaning units of The Kirby Vacuum Cleaner, featured by THE KIRBY COMPANY, 203 South Main, enable you to do all your housecleaning chores with push-button power. With the purchase of your Kirby you receive a 12-month unconditional guarantee. If your Kirby is destroyed by fire during the life-time of ownership, you can replace it for $12.50. Any Kirby can also be rebuilt for this price. The cleaner bears the Good Housekeeping endorsement.

From A Housewife Who Knows
"I used to resign myself to washday's drudgery until I decided to be smart and send it to WALL'S LAUNDRY, 215 South Loraine. Now my clothes come back in a short time looking bright and clean. Meanwhile I relax! You, too, can enjoy warm weather leisure if you trust your laundry to the economical wet wash or rough dry service. Only milder detergents and soft water are used. For speedy pickup, dial 3-3433. Wet wash is 7c per pound and rough dry is 10c per pound."

Avoid Costly Decorating Errors
Let WATSON CARPET COMPANY, 1106 West Washington, help you achieve perfect color harmony with just-right carpets for the background of your decorating scheme. Let Brown's Be Your "Wash Word"
Of course, you want your lovely linens to stay sparkling white—your colored clothes to keep their "bright-as-new" look. But don't slave over your washing chores when BROWN'S LAUNDRY, 908 South Baird, can do it for you—economically and dependably. The wet wash and rough dry service is so convenient and as close as your telephone. Just dial 2-2911 for pickup and delivery service. The help-yourself service is also economical and convenient if you prefer to do your own wash.

Don't Waste Vital Tire Rubber
If your wheels are out of line or out of balance it causes extra wear on your tires. Before you start on that vacation trip, drive in to SKINNY'S ALIGNMENT SHOP, 1910 West North Front Street, for complete wheel alignment service. Albert (Skinny) Norwood has established his own shop after years of operation in Midland. He is equipped with the most modern machinery including a Bear Machine. Dial 2-4191 for more information.

Furniture Refinished
Why buy new furniture for home or office when you old furniture can be refinished to like-new appearance? Skilled craftsmen at HINES-WOOD FURNITURE SHOP, 206 North Marlenfeld, can restore any piece to original beauty. Don't attempt to refinish that suite in your home when it costs so little to have it done by experts. Dial 4-8412 and Rex Donahou, manager of the shop, will give you a free estimate. The shop also does repair and reupholstering and features a helpful selection of upholstery fabrics.

The Finest Seatcover Fabrics
You could dazzle the potentate who rides in state in his Ratha when you have your automobile upholstered with glorious shimmering textured Saran. Saran is the finest seat cover fabric you can buy—the ultimate in riding luxury. It's so comfortable in summer and never clammy in winter. It's unaffected by all ordinary stains—is easily cleaned with a cloth or brush dampened with soapy water. MILLER BROTHERS TRIM SHOP, 1708 West North Front, features Saran in gay plaids, woven checks or stripes in many beautiful color combinations. Dial 4-8461.

Paints And Fix-Up Accessories
To give your home or business interiors or exteriors lasting protection and good looks... see the top-quality selection of Allied Paints... Varalux and fix-up accessories at HOME LUMBER COMPANY, 401-09 South Main. Before You Make That Trip
It's a good idea to plan that trip before you leave. KING'S CONOCO SERVICE, 410 West Wall, will be glad to help by providing you with a copy of "Touraide," a book for vacationers, showing points of interest with maps to chart your course. Start with a tank full of gasoline and fresh oil. King's Conoco Service features the best. Safety lubrication means saved out bearings and sudden car failure. Dial 2-1871 for more information.

There's A Trick To It
If you're planning to redecorate—let REEVES INTERIOR DECORATING SERVICE, 224 North Fort Worth, do the job. Expert decorators can create room magic by making ceilings look higher, narrow rooms look wider and dark corners lighter with properly mixed paints. There will be no wrinkled corners or poorly matched patterns when Reeves Interior Decorating Service hangs your wallpaper. Dial 4-6478 for estimates.

How's Your Car In Traffic?
If you don't have absolute control of your car in first or second gear, better drop by HALL'S GARAGE, 210 South Fort Worth, and let expert mechanics check the clutch system. They will thoroughly check, adjust and lubricate it, refacing where necessary at reasonable cost. These men will recondition your motor, re-adjusting and cleaning all mechanisms throughout and installing new parts where necessary. Dial 4-7281 for more information.

Farmer's Stamp Of Approval
The farmers in these parts know quality when they see it, and that's why so many depend on MINIMAX FEED SUPPLY, 403 East Florida, for wholesome, well-balanced, vitamin-rich feed. You'll produce better livestock with specially compounded feed, mixed and blended by experts for better health for animals—bigger market prices for you. The store also carries a full line of insect sprays and medicines for minor ailments among livestock. Dial 4-5341 for more information.

Fresh Looking Blo uses

By GAIL DUGAS
NEW YORK—In the humid heat of a Summer day, the blouse that will not wilt or wrinkle is a boon to the working girl. Or to any other girl, working or not.

Blouses in crisp dacron polyester fiber look the same coming and going. Coming to work in the morning, that is, and going home at night. Wherever there are pleats, the pleats remain. Ruffles stay crisp, collars keep their smoothness. The entire blouse will recover its fresh appearance quickly if the wearer is caught in a Summer shower. For naturally, these blouses need no ironing, wash easily, dry quickly, wear and wear.

Blind And Legless Veteran At Corsicana Finds Happiness In Cabinet-Making Shop

CORSICANA —(AP)—A blind man usually steers clear of hazardous, sight-demanding work. But not Paul Revere Grant.

This 41-year-old blind and legless veteran has found happiness with the powerful slashing saws in his Corsicana cabinet-making shop.

He can't afford to make a wrong guess—a slip of the wrist.

"If I get hurt, it'll be just pure carelessness," said the ex-platoon sergeant. "I don't take as many chances as sighted persons do."

Grant saw 11 years of Army service, mostly with the combat engineers. He first enlisted back in 1934 at the age of 24.

"I liked the engineers," he recalled. "They're a hard working outfit, and there's no monotony about it."

Grant hates monotony.

"I almost went crazy before setting up my shop," he said. "There's a saying that an idle mind is the devil's workshop, and I've found more truth than poetry in that."

Grant went overseas in World War II with the 270th Combat Engineers, landing in France. Soon afterwards his outfit was clearing mine fields near the Saar River.

"I was platoon sergeant at the time," he related, "and we were sent out to locate any live mines. Troops were to move across the area."

Asked what happened, the veteran replied:

"I don't know. I woke up 42 days later in a French hospital—asking a nurse where I was."

Mine Exploded

Grant explained that a mine obviously exploded, perhaps through a booby-trap, set off by him or one of his men. That was on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, 1945.

The legless, blind sergeant was returned to the U. S. and while at Temple, Texas, he became interested in cabinet making. He took two years training at a hospital in Temple. The Veterans Administration provided the training and furnished the necessary tools.

Corsicana's VA representative, R. C. Reeder, terms Grant "the most rehabilitated man I ever saw."

Nearly a year ago, Grant was presented an achievement award by the Blinded Veterans Association in ceremonies at Indianapolis, Ind.

Grant's cabinet making shop, only recently set up, was built labor-free by the Corsicana Carpenters Union.

A loan on his GI insurance helped finance the project.

Grant works on "pylons" designed by himself. "Pylons" is the medical name for what laymen usually call "stumps" for legless persons.

Grant likes his hobby—he doesn't consider it work—because he's creating something, passing the time, getting good exercise, and because it's interesting.

Scouts To Collect Papers, Hangers

Old newspapers, magazines and coat hangers are being sought by the Boy Scout Explorer Post 152 (Methodist Church).

According to Post Advisor R. S. Evans, the Scouts will pick up these items August 9 from Midland residences. Evans asked that donors prepare them in bundles and place them between sidewalks and curb as a convenience to the Scouts.

McCamey Plans Study Of Housing Monday

MCCAMEY—James A. Rutherford, president of the McCamey Chamber of Commerce, has reminded businessmen and citizens that a meeting on the housing problem here will be held Monday night at the Park Building.

Serve fresh apricots as a salad desert: Halve and pit, then fill the halves with cream cheese mixed with preserved ginger that's been finely cut. Place the filled apricot halves on watercrust and pass the sour cream.

Watches Change With Styles

It takes time to produce these Swiss watch fashions. For daytime wear, there's a watch (left) with faceted case and ends. Band is black cord. The sportsman watch (upper right) with square gold case and ice-cube crystal. Band is brown reptile. A third design (lower right) has four sapphires serving as key hour markers and a blue suede cord band.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Fashions in watches like fashions in clothes, change with the season. There was a time when this wasn't true. Watches were handed down from generation to generation, the only requirement being that they kept accurate time.

Today's watches keep accurate time but they're also fun to wear. If you have a passion for watches, as many people do, you can collect them in an endless number of styles. All it takes is money.

The 1951 Swiss watch fashions lean heavily to yellow gold. Both woven wire and filigree are used in precious metal. Style appeal is gained through oblique-angled contours; through pillowed and faceted crystals; through handsome, changeable cords and wrist bands.

Among the new watch designs is one intended for the sportsman. A square gold case has a dial protected by an ice-cube crystal. There are four key hour markers in gold and a brown reptile band. The effect is streamlined and handsome. The new faceted case and ends appear in a third watch and are typical of current styling trends. In this case, key hour markers are gold and the band is black cord.

The MATURE PARENT

Make That New Bicycle Or Dress A Gift Of Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The help of a wise friend of mine was sought by Mrs. N., who was deeply troubled by the defiance and ingratitude of her 12-year-old daughter.

"Nancy argues over everything she is asked to do," said Mrs. N. "If I insist that she do it, she says, 'Why should I? What right have you to tell me what to do?'"

"What do you say to Nancy?" asked my friend. "That's the trouble," she said. "I don't know what to say. I don't myself know what right I have to tell her what to do."

"You pay for Nancy's shelter, food, clothing, fun and education, don't you?" asked my friend. "Don't you think that your financial support of your child entitles you to some appreciation?"

Mrs. N. visibly was shocked. "Oh, no. What a materialistic idea!" she said. "I don't think we can ever ask children to be grateful for the money we spend on them."

"What is money?" my friend asked. "As Mrs. N. did not answer, my friend answered her question herself. "It's printed paper," she said. "What we have of it represents the time, effort and thought we have given in earning it. It represents our work. You do not support Nancy by printed paper, but by your work. Your work is yourself. By sharing your earnings with your child, you share yourself with her. That is giving love. When you perceive that your financial support of Nancy is a support by love, you will know why you are entitled to appreciation."

A lot of us have defiant and ungrateful children because we are confused about the real meaning of our financial support of them. As we love think that printed paper, not love maintains them, we feel a certain delicacy about mentioning what we give them. So they take the new dresses and bicycles for granted. They show no appreciation.

Outlays Of Love

Forget the printed paper, and perceive that love has provided the new dresses and bicycles—and what happens? We at once lose our false delicacy about what we have been able to give. Instead of feeling reserve about our gifts, we are full of pride and delight in the love that has enabled us to supply the new dress and bicycle.

It's important for us to get straight on the real meaning of our financial support of children. Only by regarding our expenditures of dollars as expenditures of love can we possibly hope to foster gratitude and appreciation.

To talk about the money we have paid for the new dress and bicycle never will bring us appreciation. As Nancy and her little brother have no money to buy things for us in return, our talk of money burdens them with a sense of obligation they can't do anything about. That's hard on their self-respect.

But tell those young ones that their dress and bicycle have been purchased by love—and they are able to discharge their debt to us at once. Tell them: "Love bought you this dress, Nancy. It wasn't just money. They may pay us with their joy, a hug, a careful dusting job or an offer to clean the garage."

Present our financial outlays to children as outlays of love, and the whole atmosphere of our homes changes, with each member free of debt, talking and acting like people who respect their own giving powers. (All Rights Reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Six New Teachers Picked By Trustees Of McCamey Schools

McCAMEY—Six new teachers for the McCamey schools were appointed at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees recently. The board also accepted resignations of two others.

Miss Norma Smith of Dallas was named speech teacher at the high school. A graduate of Sul Ross State College at Alpine, this will be her first year in teaching.

Betty Laura Ellis of Brady, a graduate of Southwest State Teachers College, will teach a second grade class.

Hendricks A. Sneed of Dorchester will be a fourth grade instructor. He taught at Galena Park last year and is a graduate of Texas Technological College.

His wife, Mrs. Louise M. Sneed, will teach the first grade.

Vernie F. Garrison of Albany, Texas, was appointed to a junior high school position. He taught at Pharr last year and is a graduate of Texas Christian University.

New shop and mechanical drawing instructor will be Bert Affleck of Childress. He taught in the Lubbock schools last year and in Seminole from 1946 to 1950. In addition to regular shop work, a trade and industrial course will be offered during the coming term.

The board accepted resignations of Mrs. Robert Slagle, elementary school instructor, and Miss Mickie Newbill, high school speech teacher.

Pecos County Road Survey Underway

McCAMEY—Surveys for right-of-way are being made along the proposed caliche farm road to the irrigated farm area northwest of Iraan, located approximately eight miles from here, according to Ollie Garland, Pecos County commissioner.

Plans are that the road will connect with FM 308 and be about eight and a half miles long, all in Pecos County. Garland said Pecos County commissioners hope eventually to black-top the road.

Greif and Coker, McCamey engineers, have been awarded the contract for the survey.

Drop biscuits, made by adding a little more liquid to standard baking powder biscuit dough, are excellent to use for strawberry shortcake.

In-Bed Beauty For New Mothers

This radiant new mother (above) receiving a bouquet from her proud husband, prepared through in-bed beauty routines to present an attractive appearance to visitors. Clean, well-arranged hair and fresh, glowing skin are the results of a dry shampoo (lower right) and a facial treatment (left) which will give her a head-start on beauty when she takes her baby home.

By ALICIA HEART
NEA Staff Writer

In the flurry of excitement over a new baby, many a young mother forgets that the well-wishers who come to view the baby will be seeing her as well. Her looks are therefore important.

If you've a date with the stork this Summer, you'll find a little advance planning goes a long way toward preparing you to receive your bedside visitors with queenly grace and self-assurance.

When you pack your bag for the hospital, remember to include—in addition to the usual items enumerated by your doctor—a few, well-

This hair-cleansing preparation is a fragrant powder which requires, makers claim, only 10 minutes to convert limp, oily hair into fresh, sweet-smelling tresses.

The shampoo kit contains, in addition to a shaker container of powder, a small brush only slightly larger than a toothbrush. This manageable tool makes it easy to clean each strand separately. Your own hairbrush is used for brushing out the powder when its work is done.

Although this preparation does not ordinarily disturb the wave in your hair, according to the manufacturer, you may nonetheless find your curls in need of assistance, straggling or matting often results from too much pillow-time.

Prepare for this possibility by taking along your bobby pins or other curling aids. For the sake of others who may be sharing your room or ward, as well as for unexpected visitors, it's a good idea to have along a length of pastel net veiling from which to fashion a turban. Wear this to conceal pin-curls or curlers rather than a hair-net.

During the time you were waiting for your baby's birth, you may have noticed physical changes other than figure differences. Sometimes hair and skin are affected. If your complexion is dull or muddy, you'll find you can put your hospital time to good advantage by turning to measures that will help restore its radiance. A cleansing program may be what you need; or perhaps a facial of some kind is your answer.

Avoid waiting until you get home and get the baby settled to start a beauty come-back. You may find your schedule busier than you'd anticipated; you may find yourself wishing you'd taken advantage of your in-bed leisure.

Cotton For Early-Fall Wear

Little girls like to look their best on the first day back to school. Here are autumn plaids in cotton fashions that have a wrinkle-free finish. For the nursery school crowd, there's a red plaid (left) with minute collar and cuffs and tiny tucks on either side of the bodice. Gay green plaids (center) for big and little sister are jumpers styled overall fashion with separate white cotton blouses. Separates (right) are done in blue plaid with scalloped jacket and white blouse.

AUTOMOTIVE HINT

If accelerator connections leading to the carburetor are permitted to become dry or gummed, jerky acceleration may result. For this reason, they should be kept well lubricated.

Before you frost layer cakes (made from your own recipe or from a packaged mix) be sure to brush away any crumbs that may be on the layers. The frosting will go on smoother that way.

20th Century Club Discusses Year's Activities

Members of the Twentieth Century Study Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. Harlan H. well for a called business meeting.

Mrs. J. B. Bain, program chairman for the coming year, gave a brief summary of the course of study the club will follow. "Adventures in Living," the subject chosen for study, will stress the happiness of the individual and dignity of self. Problems of international, national and local interest will be studied and "every day a good day" will be stressed.

During the meeting members will display examples of their hobbies and interesting people will be discussed. Roll calls will range from "my favorite Biblical character" to "my suppressed desire."

A book review, a panel discussion, a travel film, a symposium and guest speaker are planned for the year's meetings. Group discussion will be stressed at each meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Leggett announced the first meeting of the year will be a get-acquainted luncheon to be held September 11. Each member was asked to write a biography of some member of the club to be given at the meeting.

Mrs. Ray Howard was elected publicity chairman.

Other members present at the called meeting were Mrs. J. R. Story, Mrs. Charles L. Snure, Mrs. Carl O. Hyde, Mrs. J. M. Speed, Jr., Mrs. James O. Simmons, Mrs. H. S. Collings, Mrs. Robert Cox, Mrs. W. G. Epley, Mrs. H. H. Redding, Mrs. W. E. Shipp, Jr. and Mrs. J. B. Bain.

Blossom-Blooming Bonnets Please Nose As Well As Eye

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If current fashion has its way, almost every woman will be cultivating her own special garden of artificial flowers this year.

Many of them strikingly realistic, these man-made blossoms add sprightliness at necklines, waistline or wherever a spot of color is called for.

They may be pinned to your purse, attached to the cuff of your gloves, or even fastened to your handkerchief to pick up pattern or hue.

This flower-bedecked spring bonnet smells as sweet as it looks, thanks to light garden fragrance sprayed upon it.

Hats in particular are a-bloom with flowers, in keeping with trends toward the feminine and sweet. Your costume flowers should please the nostrils as well as the eye.

To waft an authentic smell of roses from the American Beauties that adorn your bonnet, try scenting them with a light floral perfume of appropriate odor. If yours is a mixed bouquet, a delicate cologne suggesting Spring gardens is a good bet.

In order to diffuse the fragrance, it's best to spray your flowers rather than touching them with perfumed fingertips.

For long-lastingness, try soaking your felt-covered hatpins in the scent of your choice before you anchor your hat. Or conceal perfume-saturated cotton tufts among the blossoms.

Choose Earring From Garden

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Few things complement the fresh, blooming beauty of a young woman more than newly-cut flowers from a Summer garden, yet it's surprising how few girls take advantage of this home-grown beauty aid.

If you're planning an evening of dining or dancing, try fresh-flower earrings to help you achieve that belle-of-the-ball look. Not only do they set off your charm to good advantage, but they should serve as well as a conversation piece, sparking male admiration and feminine envy.

To create your own individual blossom earrings, choose diminutive flowers such as sweetheart roses, heart's ease, bachelor buttons or tiny zinnias.

There's a trick to keeping these attractive accessories in place: attach them to your ears with cellophane tape.

A breath of summer-garden freshness enhances the charm of this young woman, who attaches tiny sweetheart roses to her ears as floral accent for an important evening.

The procedure is simple. Fasten one end of the tape under your ear lobe, place the stem of the flower in position, then press the other end of the tape to the top of your ear lobe. This anchor will hold your peep securely in place throughout the gaieties of an entire evening.

Net Keeps Hair Sleek, Smooth

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The strays and straggles that escape from a chignon formed by their unskilled hands have caused many women to abandon this coiffure despite their liking for it.

If you have been discouraged in your attempts to master a smooth, sleek version of this hair-do, you may find helpful a net especially designed for keeping unruly chignons in place.

The net, which is so fine as to be almost invisible, works equally well with your own long hair or with extra pin-on tresses. If your chignon is a hair-piece, you may arrange the net either before or after pinning it in place, whichever works out best for you.

You have a choice of an elastic-edged net or a plain one. The one that will best help you solve your chignon problem will depend upon the weight and bulk of your chignon and your individual preference and skill.

BELL COUNTY REUNION

LUBBOCK — Former residents of Bell County who have located in the Plains and West Texas area will hold a reunion here August 12 at MacKenzie State Park. Those planning to attend were asked to bring their own food. Iced water and some refreshments will be served.

If you are redoing your kitchen consider the advantage of having one wooden counter top suitable for cutting. This saves getting out and putting away a separate cutting and chopping board.

Cleanser Combines Virtues Of Creaming, Face-Washing

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Ranking high among beauty disputes are the relative virtues of face-washings and cream-cleansings. Numerous women wish they could

This facial cleanser, smoothed on like ordinary cream, works into a foamy lather when massaged with wet fingertips.

Somehow combine the sleek feeling of cleanliness left by the one with the soft smoothness of the other. This longing has been removed from the realm of wishful thinking by a leading cosmetic firm which offers a water-soluble cream.

This cleanser is of light, frothy consistency which resembles the usual fine-textured cream. It is applied in the time-honored manner, with firm, upward strokes to smooth it generously all over your face and neck.

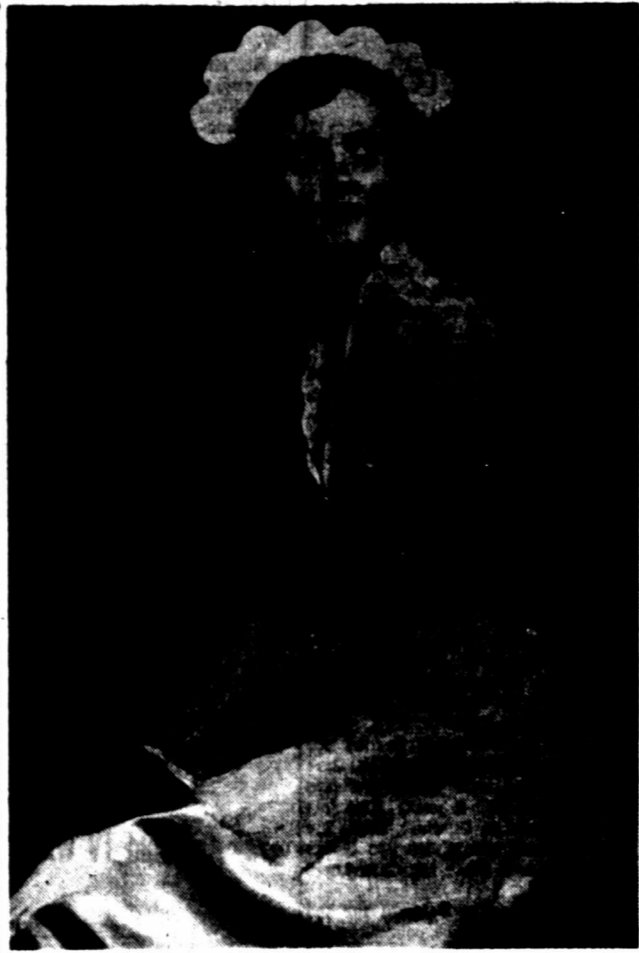

The difference lies in the fact that this cream can be worked into a rich lather, simply by working a bit of water into it with your fingertips.

Once you have worked this sudsy cleanser into your skin—giving special attention to your chin, cheek and nose areas—rinse it off just as you would a soap lather with clear warm water.

A final splashing of cold water will close your pores and leave your complexion tingly and rosy.

Makers recommend that this pinkinted, delicately-scented cleanser be used instead of soap for dry skins, and as a supplement for soap-and-water cleansing for oily skins and for those complexions that are partially oily, partially dry.

A tablespoon of mayonnaise mixed well with a tablespoon of prepared mustard makes a good dressing for a salad of canned tuna and celery. Add a little chopped sweet pickle, too, for zesty flavor.

Mrs. John S. Brown

Webb, Brown Wed In Christian Church

Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks Brown are now at home in Denton after their recent marriage in the First Christian Church. The bride is the former Shirley Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Webb. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown of Odessa.

The Rev. Clyde Lindley, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony before the chancel decorated with candelabras and tall baskets of white gladiolus and greenery. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Marian Alles. As pre-nuptial solos Al Gene Rumbaugh of Odessa sang "I Love You Truly" and "I Love Thee."

Sister Is Maid Of Honor Serving as her sister's maid of honor, Nancy Webb sang "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction. Cousins of the bride, Judith Ann and Carol Lynn Coberly of Gove, Kan., were the bridesmaids and lighted the candles before the ceremony. Sharon Ann Coberly was the flower girl.

Ken Perry, Odessa, served as best man with Max Schaffer, W. C. Brown, Jr., Galveston, Ben Benton and Bob Knepley, Odessa, assisting as ushers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a bridal satin gown with a chapel length train for the ceremony. A tunic of Chantilly lace with a high scalloped neckline was buttoned to the waist with tiny satin buttons. The full circular peplum was cut to follow the line of the train. Satin buttons also fastened the bride's petal point sleeves at the wrist. Her imported silk illusion fingertip veil was held by a halo of satin embroidered with seed pearls. An orchid corsage was set in stephanotis and satin streamers.

Attendants' Dresses Described The bride's attendants wore ballerina length dresses of gold embroidered organza in pastel tints with bonnets and sashes of matching taffeta. The flower girl wore a short hooped version of the same design and carried a basket of carnation petals.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the bridal couple in the church parlor. A three-tiered wedding cake was set on a table centered with white stock and Marconi daisies and flanked with green candles. Receiving Line Assisting in receiving the guests were Mrs. R. S. Coberly, Mrs. H. W. Coberly, aunts of the bride from Gove; Mrs. W. F. Rumbaugh, Mrs. R. C. Marshall and Mrs. T. E. McKissack, all of Odessa.

Presiding over the guest book was Shirley Massey of Odessa. For travel the bride wore a two piece dress of ribbed taffeta with black velvet accessories.

Mrs. Brown attended Texas State College for Women and was graduated from Gradwohl's School of Laboratory Technique of St. Louis, Mo. Brown is a senior in business administration at North Texas State College.

Book Designed For Frustrated Writers

BALTIMORE (AP)—What's the word for the anatomical spot where a woman's skirt is the tightest?

"I've got the word (it's 'callipygian') right on the tip of my tongue but can't recall it."

Like all of us, Dr. J. R. Schmidt has been stuck in this situation. The dictionary is little, if any, help. If you know the word you don't have to look it up except for spelling. Dr. Schmidt got vexed enough to do something about it.

He started a filing system of cards neatly arranged alphabetically—by meaning instead of spelling. For instance: Ape, cry of—gibber; beetle, sound of—drone.

Dr. Schmidt, a physician, has 140,000 such words or meanings and is going to publish them in a book titled "What's the Word" for frustrated writers.

Woman Scorned, Turns On Bookie

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx housewife gave the police an assist in their drive against gamblers by having an alleged bookmaker arrested. Her complaint was that he failed to pay off after she had parlayed $100 in $1,000 betting on horse races.

The woman, a mother of two children, told the court she bet an average of $40 a day on the races without drawing on her bank account or her husband's $85 weekly pay.

Service On Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—The Hotel Edison here reports it received a package recently from a laundry in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In it were six torn towels with the hotel's name on them. The laundry reported a customer sent them into be washed, not noticing their condition, and wanted them replaced. Irwin Kramer, the hotel boss, ordered a half-dozen towels sent to the laundry for its customer.

HEAVY DRINKER

An oyster of average size will drink for about 20 hours a day, consuming 15 gallons and extracting 90 per cent of the minute food particles from the water.

You will need two to three tablespoons of melted butter or margarine to mix with about half a cup of fine soft bread crumbs if you want to use the buttered crumbs for a casserole topping.

Old Homestead Changes Owners

SWEDEN, MO. (AP)—The home Col. Samuel Nevers built here in 1797 has passed for the first time from ownership of direct descendants of the town's original settler.

It has been bought by Mr. and Mrs. George J. Strong of Monclair, N. J., as a permanent home. The last to occupy it were Ethelbert Bennett and his son, Charles. Charles is the great, great grandson of Colonel Nevers.

After the lecture Miss Sprull will give an illustrated demonstration of the technique of pastel painting, a popular medium with contemporary artists. The general public is invited to the meeting.

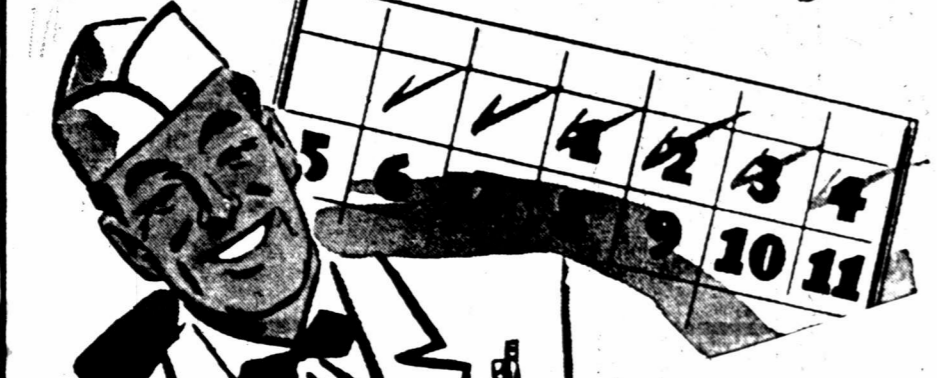

Miss Sprull, a native of West Texas, has established a studio at her home, 1105 East Hamby Street. Visitors are welcomed.

Hankies Make Striking New Accessories

Realizing the importance of fresh accessories in keeping her wardrobe bright and new-looking, this young woman has raided her own and her husband's handkerchief boxes for materials. For evening (upper left) she converts a man's white linen handkerchief into a violet-dotted scarf; and, to top a sheath dress, gathers leaf-patterned handkerchiefs (lower left) onto a velvet ribbon to form a capelet. A silk hanky and a ribbon combine to form a perky neck bow (center left); and a man's white handkerchief, folded and teamed with a red velvet rose, adds importance to a suit. A fancy evening handkerchief is the basis for glamorous apron (upper right); and four bandanas are used to make casual apron (lower right).

New Lotion Gives Fragrance As Well As Sun Protection

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Since the days when women first decided that burned-to-a-crisp look does nothing to enhance vacation loveliness, they have smeared themselves with a wide variety of ointments, lotions and liquids—all dedicated to tanning without tears.

These preparations—both the commercial ones and the home-devised—varied in their efficacy, but one thing they had in common: the odor. Some smelled of the chemistry lab, others of the kitchen, but almost invariably they wafted no fragrance even vaguely suggestive of the boudoir.

At long last, something has been done about including this essential ingredient of femininity in a sun-tan lotion. A well-known beauty

This sun tan lotion, in addition to screening out burning rays, enhances femininity as well, since it leaves upon the skin a pleasant, clinging fragrance.

The firm has introduced a preparation which affords you fragrance as well as protection, they claim.

This lotion has the added virtue, according to the makers, of vanishing after application, leaving no sticky residue to pick up sand.

It offers, too, an even tan, since burning rays are screened out by the lotion, the firm states.

Most children like chilled milk whipped with mashed vanilla ice cream as a cool Summer drink; flavor with a drop of vanilla.

Eating 'Americans' Is Banned By Reds

BERLIN —(AP)—The Communists hate "Americans" so much they won't even eat them.

The "Americans" in question are small, sugar-covered biscuit cakes, which generations of Germans have known and eaten under the name of "Amerikaner." Nobody knows how they ever got that name.

But now the Communist East German authorities have decided that even cake "Americans" cannot be tolerated under their jurisdiction. The state-operated chain stores are now selling them as "Ammon cakes."

Anyhow, in the west they will continue under that name, and so will this popular anti-Red joke: "Two Communists meet on the street."

"Well, comrade," says one. "What have you done today to help preserve peace?"

"Plenty," replies the other. "I ate two 'Americans'."

Singapore Chinese See Funds Slipping

SINGAPORE —(AP)—A large section of the Chinese community in Singapore feels frustrated by terms of the draft Japanese peace treaty—they see no hope in these terms of recovering large funds taken from them by the Japanese as donations during the occupation.

Tay Koh Yat, president of the Chinese war damage claim committee, said, "It is unfortunate that not a word is mentioned in the draft concerning the payment of the money." He remarked that the Singapore government had promised many years ago to forward this claim to authorities concerned.

Germans Made Illegal By Omaha Ordinance

OMAHA —(AP)—Railroad travelers with head colds would have to give Omaha a wide berth if authorities should decide to dust off one musty ordinance on the city's books.

It requires railroad conductors to wire ahead if any passengers show signs of the sniffles or other symptoms of contagious diseases.

Another zany law cited by Dr. Edwin D. Lyman, acting city-county health director, permits arrest of a householder who is unfortunate enough to have a damp basement.

Dr. Lyman says he's not prepared to try to enforce these outdated ordinances.

COURTESY HELPS
WINNIPEG —(AP)—Increased accidents resulting from improper passing have led the Manitoba Automotive Transport Association to join a campaign against this offense. Mayor Garnet Coulter posted the first "I'll Help You Pass" sign on the back of a truck.

SLEEPING REDS DIE
RANGOON —(AP)—A group of Communists operating in Central Burma were caught napping, literally. A government patrol in the jungles south of the rail town of Pynana found the group soundly asleep in their encampment. Five were killed in a futile escape bid.

ON GOOD BEHAVIOR
MONTREAL —(AP)—A reporter claimed that of 50 cars he watched making a right turn at a downtown intersection, only two paused to give pedestrians the right of way. One carried a New York license, the other an Ontario one.

The average motorist uses 600 gallons of gasoline annually.

Caravaner Returns From Flooded Kansas

"I'm mighty glad to get back in dry old Texas," exclaimed a young Midland caravaner who has just returned from the Kansas flood area.

Iyla Kay Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Matthews, spent two months traveling through Southeastern Kansas with the Methodist Youth Caravan.

Her group, consisting of three other girls from Georgia, Louisiana, Illinois and a counselor from Kansas, found their trip out short a week when they were flooded out of one of their churches.

The Methodist Youth Caravans are groups of college students who visit churches over the country working with the young people. Paying their own expenses for their trip, the caravaners stay in the homes of the members of the churches they visit.

After taking a 10-day training course at Simpson College in Indianola, Miss Matthews spent the first week at Baldwin, Kan. Then she and her caravan headed for Kansas City for another week. Here flood waters were rising but had not yet reached a peak. The following week, in Chanute, Kan., the raging river was within two blocks of the church when the Caravaners departed.

It was back to Baldwin for the girls who were to be counselors for the Methodist Institute there for the coming week. But the flood disrupted their schedule and forced them to stay four extra days.

Miss Matthews said she saw city blocks where nothing was left standing. In one city she visited, 40 people were left destitute in one night.

Miss Matthews plans to enter Nursing School at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., in September.

EMERGENCY TREATMENT
J. R. Sowell of Terminal was given emergency treatment during the weekend at Western Clinic-Hospital for head injuries received in an altercation.

SURGICAL PATIENT
Mr. George Kroenlein, 710 West Louisiana Street, is a surgical patient in Western Clinic-Hospital.

Stuff cooked dried prunes with cream cheese and sprinkle with slivers of toasted almonds; serve on watercress with French dressing and let this salad double for dessert.

OBJECT IN EYE

W. F. Terrell, 1611 South Baird Street, employe of a construction company, received emergency treatment during the weekend at Western Clinic-Hospital for removal of a foreign object from his eye.

To prepare an egg sauce for poached salmon just add sliced hard-cooked eggs to a medium white sauce. Stir the flour well before measuring so the sauce won't be too thick. Season well with salt and freshly-ground pepper.

FRACTURED TOE

L. D. Emmer of Eunice, N.M., was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital during the weekend for a fractured toe suffered while he was working for an oil well servicing company.

Custards and puddings made with milk and eggs are particularly good to serve children for dessert because they offer valuable nutrients. In Summer these desserts may be coupled with fruit in season such as strawberries, raspberries, sliced peaches or apricots.

OIL WORKER INJURED

D. I. Thornton, Skyhaven Courts, an employe of B&M Drilling Company, suffered hand lacerations at work during the weekend. He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

A small head of green cabbage may be cut in wedges and cooked in a little milk in a covered heavy saucepan just until tender. Season with salt, freshly-ground pepper, and a little Worcestershire sauce, and serve in sauce dishes with the pan liquid.

Mystery Bullet Found In Cheek

NEW YORK—A policeman's widow, complaining of headaches, was sent to Shore Road Hospital in Brooklyn by her doctor for x-rays. The pictures revealed a bullet lodged under her left cheekbone.

There were no scars on her face but she had lost her right eye in an operation following an injury she said was caused by a fall in her home.

The fall occurred recently, but the bullet apparently had been under her cheekbone for several months. If the bullet did not enter under the eye, the doctors do not know how it got there.

DOUBLE PLAY

RANGOON—A father plucked a knife plunged into his chest by his daughter and stabbed the girl with it. This, police said, happened after the girl tried to stop her father from beating her mother.

MOOSE IN THE TRAFFIC

NEW LISKEARD, ONT.—Two huge moose stood patiently in a field by the highway here for hours. Occupants of a nearby farm said the male and female animals evidently were waiting for a break in the traffic. Finally they got across.

'New Look' Threatens Return For Autumn

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—The fancy names under which Parisian fashion dictators are unveiling their Fall collections is one good indication of what's in store for style this Autumn.
Dior calls it the "Shapely Look." Fath's line is the "Egret." Balmain's is the "Enchanted Flute," and Dessès "The Bluebird."
It would seem, therefore, that smart women this coming Winter (at least those who can afford to keep up with the Mode) will wear granddaddy's rustling petticoats under skirts which are said to be staging a "brutal" return to fullness in many disguises.
"Haughty" collars will command a regal bearing while bird-cage veils will stress the mysterious, alluring, ultra-feminine 1951 belle.

The "New Look" threatens a return offensive. Skirts have than in the Spring. They will focus and command all the interest, while bodices will be demure, simple and form-fitted, achieving a new pigeon-breast look by the help of darts and whalebones.
Sleeves are to be more fancy and there is a definite return to the choker collar.
Besides dropping skirts, Christian Dior, father of the "new" look, is said to have also subjected waists to the same gentle treatment. He has used a great many deep-piled fabrics as well as those with plenty of "body" to them.

Fath launches "magic" petticoats to underline longer and fuller skirts. Fullness will be introduced with pleats, panels, and other devices. Fath also will feature a square-cut armhole which is said to be very new.

Pierre Balmain, on the other hand, shows full overskirts draped back over petticoats of a contrasting shade. His coats will be voluminous both as regards yardage and fabric. The inside or lining is as important with this creator as the outside.

Jean Dessès has completely discarded the straight skirt and proposes to center all the new fullness at the back. He launches the wide-winged skirt over starched petticoats. The Directorate is the period which has most influenced this designer; waistlines are raised and collars sometimes creep up to the ears.

Generally speaking, shoulders will still slope and the raglan and kimono sleeve carry on through another season.

Colors show a preference for "dynamic" reds, followed by "wild" greens, sulphate blues and all the muted "fur" shades. "Fatal" black, of course, still remains the most elegant of all.

It's to the hat designers that one must turn for whimsical notions. So far lines shown have been influenced by all the retrospective history of Paris going back to the Middle Ages. This has caused a blossoming of hennins, "coifs," as well as all sorts of turbans, torsades and topknots.

The Directorate influence can be traced in hats, too, while the hair-dressers are showing hairdos with chignons and twists placed at a new high point at the back of the head. Veils are a "must" on all but the most informal type of Winter "bonnet," and even modern woman cannot deny that it does much to add a touch of piquancy to a gal.

When you make a salad using red-skinned apples, leave the skins on. Cut the apple in small fan-shaped pieces, marinate in a tangy French dressing, and serve on romaine or lettuce or water cress with a dollop of sour cream.

Greek Guerrilla Fighter Knows First-Hand What U. S. Aid Can Do Against Communism

By TANNER LAINE

A Midlander, who can say little more in English than "God Bless America," has seen the seamier side of the Communists and he hates them. On the bright side, he has seen what U. S. aid can do.
He is Theodoros Melonakos, a displaced person from Greece, who is working at the U&I Cafe here. Melonakos wants to be a United States citizen. He came to this country last March.

He wants to be a good citizen, a useful one. He presently is working toward a degree in law. He previously has studied law at the University of Athens.

Miss Winter Attends Sorority Activities

Shirley Winter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Winter, left Thursday for Houston and Austin where she will participate in sorority activities.

Miss Winter is president of her sorority at the University of Texas. She will spend Monday and Tuesday with the D. A. Jordans in Dallas and return to Midland Wednesday. She also visited friends in Timpan.

VACATIONING IN COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sealy and Nancy have spent the last two weeks at the Broadmoor hotel in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Want a new way of serving shrimp for a first course for a company meal? Alternate the shrimp with cucumber slices, garnish with water cress, and accompany with curry mayonnaise.

The team, 21-year-old Greek is a singer and plays the guitar. Last week, he appeared at the luncheon meeting of the Midland Lions Club. Most of his songs were learned while fighting with the Greek guerrillas against communism.

Ted (American version of his name Theodoros) fought the Communists more than three years, living in caves and going hungry many times. The Reds in Greece put a price on his head of $4,000 and they also wanted Ted's father at this price. For Ted's sister, who was a radio technician, the Reds upped the price to $5,000. But the fighting Melonakos were not captured.

Ready To Fight

Working for his American citizenship, Ted Melonakos is ready to fight for this country, if needed, and is registered with the local draft board.

An uncle, Jimmie Melonakos, operates a cafe in Odessa. His mother and father are living in Greece now and so are two brothers and one sister. Another sister arrived in the United States this month.

The father, a veteran of the Balkan War and World War I, was a leader in the Greek resistance against communism. He now is doing rehabilitation work for his country.

The family spent more than three years living in caves and fighting the Communists. And most of the Melonakos' shooting was done with American-made guns and ammunition. Many who fought with them were killed.

Illustrating the hardships that the Greek guerrillas like the Melonakos went through to fight communism, Ted said his family once lived more than a month with little more to eat than "wet sawdust."

Gave New Hope

He said the guerrilla struggle to keep Greece free, Christian and democratic, was 50 times more devastating and caused more suffering than World War II among the Greek people.

Ted said, through an interpreter, that American guns, ammunition, food and clothing gave him faith and new hope in the long fight against the Reds.

He also has faith that Greece will stand firm against communism, although surrounded by satellite countries. The real Greek nation believes and trusts the United States, he said.

The "new" Midlander said there are more than a half-million boys in Greece who feel as he does—freedom is worth fighting for and American supplies go a long way to help in the fight.

Many Midlanders have been helpful to him and he expressed appreciation for that. It is like Americans to help freedom-loving persons, he said.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Shower

McCAMEY — Percy Van Cole, bride-elect of Joe E. Conger, Jr., was honored with a bridal display showered recently in the Park Building.

Hostesses were Mrs. Matt Dillingham, Mrs. Carl Doris, Mrs. Robert Lane Smith and Eleanor Voigt. Those in the receiving line were Miss Cole, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. John Cole and Mrs. Joe Conger.

The refreshments table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of carnations.

If you want whole large lettuce leaves for a salad bowl, cut out the center core at the root end and run a stream of cold water through this opening. You'll find the leaves come apart easily. Line the sides of the bowl with the leaves and turn the salad—chicken, tuna, or potato—into the center.

Mrs. Davis Is Shower Honoree

ANDREWS—Mrs. Dudley Davis, the former Faye Hardaway, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday in the home of Mrs. G. W. Blanchard.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bob Dietrick, Annalou Jones, Joetta Jones, Connie Pruett and Leona Walters. Music was furnished by Winona Blanchard at the piano. Approximately 30 guests attended.

Diced cooked turnip tastes good mixed with cooked peas and carrots; season well with salt and freshly-ground pepper and butter or margarine.

Unique Dog-Training School Graduates Canines Of Charm

At Flag Dog Training School in New York, Dorothy Spalhoff gives her cocker spaniel, "Spats," the sit-stay command. Purpose of training is to teach dog obedience. Owner and dog take entire course together; dog is never trained by stranger.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — The boxer who thinks he's a lap dog and the cocker spaniel who likes to jump all over guests are not really problem dogs. They simply happen to be owned by masters who've never realized that dogs, like children, must be taught to behave.

In a unique charm school for dogs here, just one course is taught: obedience. What makes this school unique is that the dog's owner must take the training with his pet, and must teach him each exercise. The Flag Dog Training School is not a charm school with frills; it does not teach parlor tricks. Its aim is to make each dog who's enrolled into an obedient, well-mannered companion.

If the school has a motto, it's: "Your dog is your best friend; be his best friend." To this end, the owner teaches each exercise to his pet, under the watchful eyes of skilled instructors. Owners are told to stamp their feet. Often, parents enroll a child and his dog for the course. The first thing the child learns is that he must never tease or torment animals.

At the beginning of the 10 weeks' obedience course, the canine student is taught to walk by his master's side without pulling on the leash. Once he's got that, he learns to sit and stand on command, to come instantly when called, to do a high jump and a broad jump, to fetch and carry light bundles, to retrieve and to pick out his master's personal property from a number of different objects through scent discrimination. At the same time, his master is learning to handle him

Our funeral home is arranged to give a family all possible privacy and comfort. Office, repose, rooms and chapel, all are designed with that in view. For the final service, music, flower arrangements and handling of the many details involved are carefully planned. Many have thanked us for our kindness, tact and courtesy. Your confidence is invited on that basis.

Texas Bench Rest Shooters Headed By Midland Citizen

SAN ANGELO — Among new Texas organizations is the Texas Bench Rest Shooters Association. Members aren't people who rest on benches, or even people who shoot people who rest on benches.

It is an organization of super-accurate riflemen. "Bench rest shooting is the most accurate in the world," says John I. Moore, wealthy San Angelo and Midland oilman and sportsman. Moore is president and prime-mover of the bench rest shooters, which was chartered recently and will maintain headquarters here.

Bench rest shooting differs from other shooting competition principally in that the firearm rests on a support—a bench.

Telescopic Sights
"We use heavy, custom-built rifles with hand-loaded ammunition. Most of our matches will be at 100 and 200 yards using telescopic sights. A target pattern of more than 1/2 inch from center to center of the outside bullet holes doesn't stand a chance at a bench rest meet."

The association is starting with about 20 members from Odessa, Midland, El Paso, Wichita Falls, and San Angelo. All the rifles are handmade, and would look strange to the average squirrel or deer hunter.

"Most of our member's rifles are the Improved Zipper, which shoots a .22 caliber slug necked down from a .30-06 case," Moore explains.

"Other guns in our group are the 219 Donatson Wasp; the new 222 Remington; and the Varminter, a 219 slug necked up to a .250-3000 case.

Explains History
"This type shooting is about four or five years old," Moore says, explaining its history.

"The Bench Rest Shooters Association of Johnstown, N. Y., was the first one organized. The Permian Basin and Pistol Club of Midland and Odessa has had a bench rest section for the past three years.

"One of our incorporators, Bill Guse, now of El Paso and formerly of Del Rio, holds the bench rest world's record at 200 yards.

Our association will be affiliated with the national association, and we expect to hold our first meet in San Angelo next Fall.

Sponge Bath For Patent

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Patent leather shines brightly this season among various accessories in fashion's spotlight.

This versatile material — from which everything from shoes to perky little posies is made — is a grain leather permanently varnished to a hard, smooth glossy finish. Conventionally black, this glazed leather is seen this year in an array of style-conscious shades—red, green, orange, blue, brown.

Your touch of patent may be a handbag, belt, or even trimming for your hat. Or perhaps it's paired with other leathers or with fabrics for sleek, dramatic contrast.

Whatever its use, you'll find your patent leather one of the most easily cared for materials in your wardrobe. Soap and water is all you need, according to the Patent Leather Bureau, to keep your patent accessories looking clean and whistling.

Begin by working a sudsy solution into a thick lather. Then using only the suds, whisk your patent free of dust and finger-marks. Take care not to saturate the leather with a caplessly dripping cloth.

Next rinse with a damp — not wet — sponge until every trace of soap is removed. As a final step, polish the patent with a soft, fresh cloth until all surfaces are thoroughly dry. The same procedure may be followed for plastic patent. Crumpled paper stuffed into your shoes or purse will protect the lining from water splashes. It's also advisable, according to the Bureau, to keep tissue in handbags and shoes to maintain their shape.

When patent accessories are not in use, they should be wrapped to protect them from dust, scratches and dents.

Never yield to the old practice of rubbing grease into the leather to prevent cracks. That defeats your purpose. It softens the surface and weakens the patent finish, causing it to break.

Since cracks may also be caused by putting your shoes on while they're cold and stiff, the Bureau recommends a warming-up period. Just rub the leather gently between your hands until it becomes soft and supple, then slip on your shoes and bend your feet to limber the shoes while the leather is still warm.

Christian Church To Have Social

The Men of the Church of the First Christian Church will entertain the women and children Monday with a barbecue chicken dinner on the church lawn.

Softball and other games will be played and moving pictures will be shown.

A special fellowship session with the new members will be held.

Pour a well-flavored cheese sauce over toast and top with tomato slices and crisp bacon strips for an easy-to-make Sunday night supper dish.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newswriter

This may be the most romantic season of the year for some kids. But for others it is a big headache. Here are a couple of letters from puzzled maidens:

"I am 16 years old and have just graduated from high school. I was always a good student and never bothered with boys. Now I am trying to get acquainted and do not know how to act. At the vacation resort I am visiting, there are many boys—but I seem to scare them away. My mother says it is because I am too serious—am I supposed to giggle all the time?"

Alma probably doesn't really scare the boys away—she just talks them into retreating, her mother is right—boys do not like to discuss weighty problems with girls, especially when they've just met. To add to their misery, they can't bear the girl knowing more than they do about anything, whether it is atomic energy or tropical fish.

Why not engage in small talk? Ask him a few questions, and then just be prepared to listen. Whenever you can keep a man talking about himself and the things he is interested in, you've got him hooked for a little while anyway. Boys love the sound of their own voices.

That's why so many of them marry girls who are described as "nice quiet things."

Here's a letter from Mary, who writes of a problem with which lots of girls are familiar:

"Do you think it is necessary to conform to a crowd's idea of fun in order to be popular? The group I am thrown with is considered pretty 'fast' but I have no alternative because if I don't stay in solid with them, I'll have no one else.

"They think you are stuffy and a jerk if you don't drink, smoke and neck. I want to have fun this Summer while home from school—but I am only 17 and my parents will not let me stay up late, drink or smoke. This means that I will be all alone unless I get my parents' permission."

Mary's decision involves more than whether her parents approve of her friends or not. Is she prepared to pay the price she will have to pay ultimately, if she grows up too fast? If one always does the right thing, how can it be wrong? A few lonesome moments do not compare with the anguish of girls who, for fleeting popularity, have condemned themselves to a lifetime of misery.

It isn't one cigarette or one drink or one kiss that is harmful. It is the fact that teen-agers are a naturally curious set, that when they have accomplished one break-down of their morals without serious mishap, they experiment with the next step, and so on. Eventually fingers get burned.

Next time you make gravy try adding a little Worcestershire sauce to it for zesty flavor.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Cars kill a lot of people in my country—they work themselves to death paying for them!"

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcenate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcenate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barcenate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcenate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcenate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates so that water is carried away — almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Lost 37 Pounds
"I wish to state that I lost 37 pounds taking Barcenate," writes Mrs. J. L. McCarty, Des Moines, Iowa.

Lost 14 Pounds
"Without a diet, I have lost 14 pounds taking Barcenate," says Mrs. E. M. Hengst, 2300 Wesser Ave., Austin, Texas. "I am glad to recommend Barcenate to anyone."

10 Pounds Lost
"I wish to state that I have had very satisfactory results taking Barcenate," writes Mrs. Louise Skipper, 477 W. Lost Ave., Kingsville, Texas. "I lost 10 pounds and ate anything I wanted."

Proper Cleaning Aids Problem Skin

RECENTLY MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Holt are at home in Midland after their recent marriage in Durant, Okla. Mrs. Holt is the former Jacqueline Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex H. Wright. Holt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Flynt.

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Many women, beset by the problems of a troubled skin, seem to feel they are fighting a lonely battle. Most cosmetics, they decide, were created for those with near-perfect complexions, rather than for those harassed by blemishes, enlarged pores or excessive oiliness.

These women can take heart. They have an active ally in one beauty firm which has dedicated itself exclusively to problem skin.

The source of a large number of major skin problems, they maintain, is improper cleansing. Many women fail to understand the workings of their particular skin, and, despite extensive beauty care, may unknowingly fail to fill its needs. By following cleaning programs actually designed for normal skins, they sometimes inadvertently make matters worse rather than better.

Among glaringly incorrect beauty practices are over-sealous use of creams or make-up foundations. The use of a penetrating cream that further lubricates a skin that is already too oily, and the coating with heavy make-up foundation of pores already over-clogged—both these mistakes are common ones.

Although this firm uses a light cream for cosmetic removal, it was compounded for just the and not for the deeper functions of thorough cleansing. For cleaning, they prescribe one of several lotion formulas, their choice depending upon the individual needs of your skin.

It's suggested that this lotion be used four or five times a day—upon arising and before retiring, as a prelude to all make-up freshenings, and any time in between when your skin begins to feel oily or soiled.

Directions are to apply the lotion, with fluffs of cotton, until your face is clean. This may necessitate the use of several fluffs, but the application should be continued until the final pad picks up no soil at all. That is, the firm claims, the test of a truly clean skin.

For opening pores and loosening accumulations of soil and oil, an herbal tea steaming is advised. This, like the lotion, is a simple part of your home treatment. No special equipment is needed. Simply bring the tea to a boil in an ordinary sauce pan; remove it from the stove and hold your face over the pan as the steam arises. A towel, draped tent-fashion over your head, helps you to derive full benefit from the steam.

This young woman battles her complexion problem with the aid of Beauty products created especially for troubled skins. Since thorough cleansing is the keynote of her routine, she opens clogged pores with herbal tea steaming (upper left) and cleanses her face several times daily with a special lotion that combats oiliness (lower left). For important occasions, when extra make-up is in order, she uses a liquid foundation (right) compounded especially for her type skin.

These are but two of their special preparations for cleansing. Other items on their product list, such as sulphur masks or cleansing grains, are recommended according to individual needs. Different complexion problems, they state, require different treatments.

The firm has formulated its own make-up, too, using ingredients that are harmonious with the firm's philosophy of corrective beauty. A liquid foundation, for instance, created with troubled skins in mind, offers extra loveliness for special occasions, they claim, without impairing the general program of skin improvement.

First Baptist Youth Week Scheduled To Open Sunday

Youth Week will begin at the First Baptist Church Sunday. The first week will be devoted to preparation and the second week to a Youth Revival.

Young people have been elected to fill all offices in the church. They will take over Sunday night. James Weathered, youth pastor, will preach and George James will conduct the music.

The youth deacons will meet with the active church deacons at a regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Tuesday cottage prayer meetings will be held for the youth revival in the homes of Swan Hagler, Martha Scharbauer, Wesley Hawkins, Joan Montgomery and Lynn Griffith.

Youth officers will attend and serve the monthly Sunday School Workers supper at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. The Brotherhood family night will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in Cole Park.

Plans Prayer Chain
An all night prayer chain will begin at 9 a. m. Saturday and continue until 9 a. m. Sunday.

Other youth officers elected Wednesday were Al Alsop, chairman of the deacons; Glenda Ferri, WMU president; Yates Brown, Brotherhood president; Wesley Hawkins, chairman of ushers; Tony Dunagan, Training Union director; Swan Hagler, Training Union secretary; Doyle Lowrey, Sunday School superintendent; Donald Helm, Sunday School general secretary.

Letter Reports Reds Burn Victims Alive

SINGAPORE —(AP)— Communist terrorists burned alive an Asian chief clerk of a Malayan rubber estate recently, a letter by a North Johore planter to the Straits Times (English-language paper) revealed. The planter wrote that "armed bandits entered the house of the chief clerk of Tangkak Rubber Estate, North Johore, trussed him up, piled furniture on top of him and set fire to the house." He was burned to death.

The planter, complaining that this incident was never announced on the government-controlled radio or published in the local daily papers, remarked: "Maybe this is considered to be a minor incident?"

Band School Will Be Opened Monday At Midland High

Midland High School band students begin a Summer Band School at 8 a.m. Monday.

The school will be concluded the first week of September when the 1961-62 school term opens. Daily sessions will be held.

Students who will be in grades nine, 10, 11 and 12 when school opens are eligible for the school. There is no charge for any phase of the school. It will be conducted by Ralph L. Mills, new band director of MHS.

Classes will start at 8 a.m. daily and will run until noon. Special classes will be held in the afternoon. The program consists of separate brass, woodwind and percussion classes and full scale band rehearsals and marching.

A special feature will be a class for all students who never have played an instrument but who would like to be band members.

The MHS Band will come out in new uniforms this year. A sample uniform will be on display during the band school at the senior high. Uniforms this year will be silver grey trimmed in the school colors of purple and gold. Band members will wear Sam Browne belts (white) and white shoes. The head dress will be West Point styled shakos with seven-inch ostrich fountain plumes.

Young Midlander Goes Into Business With Power Mower

By SUE POWELL

Woman again has invaded man's business world.

Brenda Bottoms, 2006 West Indiana Street, who for pastime builds model airplane, needed more money than her regular allowance. She persuaded her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bottoms, that an easy way to earn this money would be to mow lawns—if she could use a power mower.

Financing the power mower was made possible by her father and every since the "put put" of that gasoline-powered mower has been putting money in Brenda's savings account.

She started out by contracting her parents' yard for the summer. Then neighbors gave her their lawns to mow. Now, on most any morning Brenda may be seen blocks from home guiding her power mowing machine down the sidewalks to some job.

With this mowing project, Brenda is financing her trip to Summer Band School in Abilene. She plays the flute and piccolo in the school band. "If there is any money left,

Karin Kinsey, Rev. Jack Ramsey Plan Wedding

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Luther Kinsey have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karin Lucille, to the Rev. Jack Ramsey of Crane. Rev. Ramsey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ramsey of Laredo.

The wedding will be held August 31.

Miss Kinsey is a graduate of Newman High School and Trinity University in San Antonio. She has been employed at Radio Station KXOX in Sweetwater.

Rev. Ramsey is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Crane. He is a graduate of Davidson College, N. C., Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va., and holds a doctor's degree from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

I will buy a motor for a model airplane," Brenda said.

Brenda takes care of her machine and knows usually what to do if something goes haywire. Once, however, she did the wrong thing. She saw there was little oil in a compartment of the motor and remembering her father had always insisted on plenty of oil in machinery, she filled the compartment with oil. Later, she learned she had put the oil in the filter instead of the crank case.

Her attraction to machinery keeps Brenda at her grass cutting business despite the fact that she is allergic to lawn grass. She manages this by keeping a bottle of medicine handy in her shirt pocket.

When you enter Brenda's room and observe the ceiling covered with all kinds and colors of model airplanes you feel you are invading the private domain of some ingenious boy. But Brenda's true feminine identity shines forth when this young West Texan, dressed in shorts, T-shirt and jockey cap, smilingly introduces you to another corner of her room—a section devoted to a dozen or so dolls.

THE LIGHTS GO ON AGAIN—It's business almost as usual for this street peddler in Seoul, Korea, despite 13 months of war. His wares are crudely-made lamps, fashioned from old beer cans and other salvage materials. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Hideo Egoshi.)

Grate a small carrot and mix it with two eggs that have been chopped; moisten with mayonnaise, fold in a little sweet pickle relish, and season with salt and pepper. Use as a sandwich filling.

When you're preparing mashed or baked potatoes use potatoes of the mealy variety; when you want the potatoes for a Summer salad, or perhaps a creamed potato dish, use the waxy kind.

Construction Of $750,000 Front Street Drainage Project Running On Schedule

Construction work on the new $750,000 Front Street drainage project is running on schedule and engineers now are expecting to make up time lost because of right-of-way negotiations.

The announcement came from W. W. Studdert of the Hunter and Studdert Engineering firm of Midland and Dallas. Studdert, consulting engineer for the project, said construction is about 20 per cent complete.

Work was delayed for more than six weeks because of right-of-way problems, but Studdert says the project is progressing according to a time schedule set up after completion of the right-of-way.

Began at Midland Draw in June, excavations now have reached the intersection of Terrell and Front Streets, Studdert said.

The drainage project—first phase of the overall Front Street improvement program—is expected to be completed by January, 1962.

Involved in the project is the laying of a large storm sewer which will follow generally the route of Front Street with some laterals extending northward.

Plans call for the construction of a covered concrete canal cutting through the city along the north side of the Texas and Pacific Railway tracks.

On the eastern side of the city, the canal cuts south under the tracks and continues to the Midland Draw. The latter portion will be an uncovered ditch.

Upon completion of the drainage project, Front Street will be widened and extended to provide a by-pass route through the city. Front Street is to be extended to join U. S. Highway 80 at a point west of the city near the KORS radio tower.

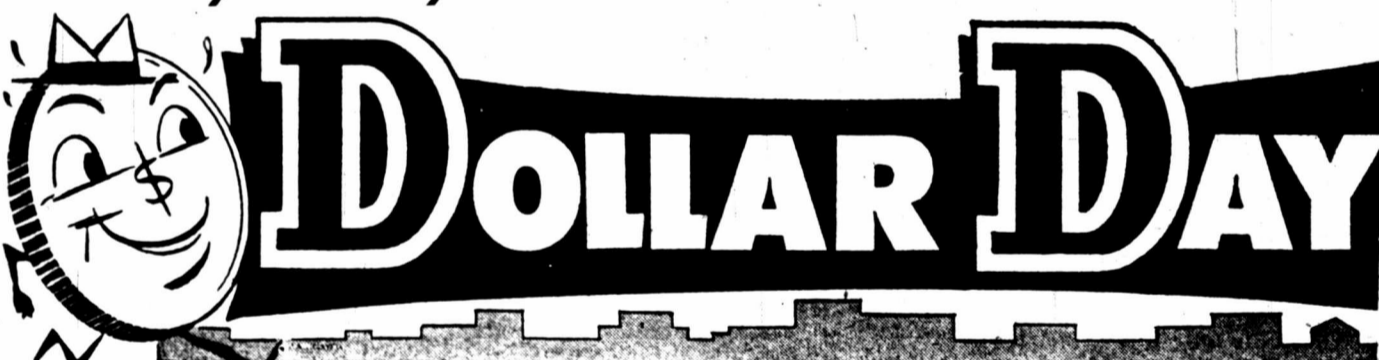

The extension will provide a direct route through the city for

Census Bureau Shows Texas Has Plenty Elbow Room, Including Midland County

Texas has a lot of elbow room left for its growing population, according to the Bureau of the Census. Calculations based on final 1960 census counts indicated almost one-third of Texas' counties have fewer than 10 inhabitants to a square mile.

Of the state's 254 counties, 83 have less than 10 inhabitants to a square mile. Contrastingly, Dallas County has 688 inhabitants for each square mile, Harris County 466, Tarrant County 412, and Bexar County 401.

The average population to a square mile in the state is slightly more than 29 persons.

Midland County's population density was just under the state's average, with 27.5 inhabitants a square mile. With a land area of 938 square miles, Midland County had a population of 25,785.

Loving County is Texas' most sparsely settled county, with only one inhabitant for each three square miles of area. Other counties with a population density below one inhabitant to a square mile are Kennedy, with 4, Culberson, with 5, and Hudspeth, Jeff Davis and King, with 9 each.

It's Back To Texas For Midland Family On Vacation Jaunt

By BILL COLLYNS
Reporter-Telegram Staff
AMARILLO—Back in Texas and wet all the way from Kansas. It was raining when we crossed over into New Mexico from Texas enroute to the mountain country eight days ago, and it was raining when we came back into the Lone Star State from Oklahoma this afternoon. In fact it was raining when we arrived in Amarillo, but it is not as frigid as some of the Winter-time stories we have heard about this headquarters city of the Panhandle country.

This rain has followed us, more or less, all the way on this 1961 vacation tour, but honestly we haven't heard from the rain-making preacher (the Rev. Eddie Clayton), since before leaving Midland. We seriously are beginning to think, maybe it is Collyns. Anyway, it is something, with which we are not too familiar. Nice though.

Rain Continues

But last night, in Garden City, Kan., we thought for awhile we had overdone it. Never had we seen such lightning or heard such thunder. And, sure enough, the rain started about midnight and continued most of the night. And Garden City still was suffering from recent flood damages, but no additional damage done last night. It happened to be one of those Kansas-Oklahoma rains which drenched the country all the way from Garden City through Liberal, Kansas, (Paul McHargue's old stomping ground) through Guymon, Okla., and on into Amarillo. It really was a rain, ranging from one to two inches most of the way.

And the highway between Garden City and Liberal is not paved all the way—despite what the map shows. It has been a long time since I have driven over such slippery, sloshy and downright muddy roads. Just another vacation experience, and a novel one in this day and time.

But the Kansas roads on which we drove yesterday and today do not compare with Texas, New Mexico or Colorado highways. In fact, Texas highways lead the field, and one really can tell the difference when re-entering Texas on the wide, smooth highways which greet the travelers at all ports of entry.

Too Wet To Flow

Never have we seen so much inland water as on the drive today. Really, it is too wet to plow in Kansas today. Fields are under water, ditches and lakes are overflowing, and water laps at the road bed in many places on the Garden City-Liberal-Guymon highway. And to think, only a few years ago this section was the notorious Dust Bowl of the nation. But it is wet today and there is no dust in that area.

A service station operator in Liberal told us that last night's rain "surely was needed since it hadn't rained here in more than a week." Ho-Hum.

But conditions have not been favorable for wheat this year in that section. And in Garden City, Kan., a newsman advised us conditions there will not be too good this Fall because of too much rain, flood conditions, and washed-out crops.

The ranch country north of Amarillo looks mighty green and good, and the cattle are in good condition. It seems it rained up this way two or three weeks ago. A fian in Stratford, Texas, told us there was

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—Tom Connally Is Dramatic In Oratory On Tidelands

By TEX EARLEY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—When the fight for control of off-shore submerged oil lands gets on the Senate floor you can look for Texas' Senator Tom Connally to burst forth oratorically as he hasn't done for years.

In fact, he couldn't wait for Tidelands legislation to reach the floor to sound forth on the subject.

With the measure still tied up in committee on his side of the Capitol, and just before the House went into session, he gave a fine preview of what to expect when that issue comes before the Senate.

It was reminiscent of old times, when the silver-haired Texan led filibusters against anti-lynch law bills. There were only a half dozen colleagues on the floor when he obtained recognition to speak, but that didn't dampen his enthusiasm.

Digressed From Text
He soon digressed from a prepared text to get into the stride that has earned him acclaim as one of the most eloquent members of the Senate. Although he will be 74 on August 19, and his movements aren't quite so fast as they used to be, his tongue is as sharp as ever.

Looking about the chamber as if daring someone to dispute his contention that the federal government is trying to steal Texas' coastal domain, he voiced regret that Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) wasn't there to hear him. The Wyoming senator is author of legislation to give the federal government control of the submerged lands.

Dwelling on Texas' distinctive claim to the area, Connally's voice rang with pride as he recounted the history of his state as an independent republic.

"It won its independence from Mexico with arms, with swords in the hands of its men," he cried, "and with long rifles which the men knew how to shoot. x x x Should Retain Lands."

"Finally Texas joined the Union, and at that time it was specifically provided that it should retain all its public lands. So those lands were still the property of the State of Texas and its people."

Looking up toward the galleries, where he had an attentive audience even if that on the floor was sparse, the senator asked the rhetorical question as to when those lands, went to the federal government.

Then, raising both his arms in an outstretched, grasping motion, he answered himself: "They never went to the federal government until the Supreme Court, with its long, bony fingers, reached out and said (here his voice assumed the role of a villain): 'We will take that land. We will make it federal property by decision of four judges to three.'"

Reverting to tones of a man who has logic on his side, he added: "It was not a decision by a majority of the Supreme Court. Four judges against three held that that property could be appropriated by the federal government and that the state could be deprived thereof. Is that justice? Is that fairness?"

Provokes Comment
Connally's speech provoked considerable comment, particularly in light of the fact that he is up for reelection next year if he is to stay on in the Senate, where he has served since 1929.

An Eastern newspaper correspondent, turning back into the press gallery from the chamber, was overheard making this comment: "Well, that was old Tom's opening campaign speech."

Among the spectators in the galleries was Robert Lee Bobbitt, San Antonio and Laredo attorney, long prominent in Texas politics.

"The old boy's still got some fight in him," Bobbitt observed, and voiced the opinion it would be a real scrap if Connally and any one of two or three other Texans whose names often are mentioned as potential candidates, found themselves foes in the 1962 election campaign.

Should Be Made Lively
But, getting back to the subject of Tidelands, the Senate debate should prove considerably more lively there than in the House.

The proponents for federal control are relatively stronger in both numbers and influence in the Senate than in the House. Also, unhampered by time limitation on debate as are their colleagues in the other Capitol wing, the senators can talk to their heart's content once they gain the floor.

Notwithstanding the strength of the pro-federal ownership faction in the Senate, a state control bill could be expected to pass by a good margin once it reaches a vote in that body.

But, there is this to remember. Most objective observers here still think the chances are very remote that anything at all will come of the whole debate.

President Truman almost certainly will veto any state ownership bill, as he did about four years ago. An effort to override failed then, and recent unofficial counts indicate about the same situation would prevail in the Senate this year.

New Type Seats Speed Learning

PALO ALTO, CALIF.—(AP)—Remember those old folding classroom seats you sat in so many years ago? They may be one reason you're no smarter than you are today.

Dr. Darrell Harmon, who has made a study of posture as it affects learning, says you probably put two-thirds of your energy into the effort to sit up straight. That left little for studies and play.

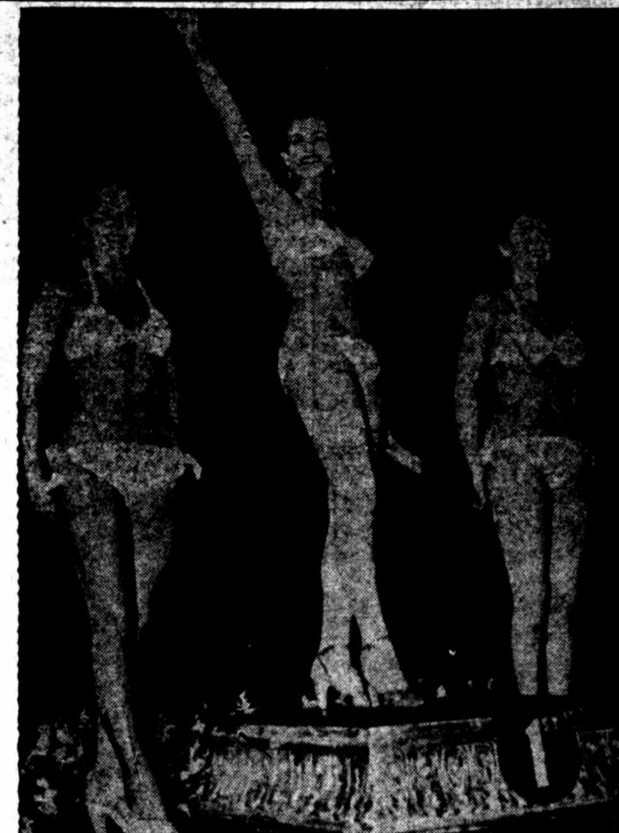

Today's children are getting swivel chairs to avoid spine curvatures and stomach aches. Dr. Harmon is displaying new models at Stanford University's school planning laboratory. He says they improve posture, digestion and the process of education itself. He added:

In experiments at Austin, Texas, children were placed in the usual school seats. While they slouched, X-rays were made showing curving spines and muscular tensions—even internal gas pockets. When they tried to sit up straight the tensions were increased.

They had to boost their energy with candy. (Is that bad?) The new type seats eliminated the extra-energy needs, Harmon said, and increased the speed of learning 60 per cent.

Worker Who Escaped Describes Life Under Rule Of Chinese Communists

MILAN, ITALY —(NEA)— A Chinese worker who fled the Red terror of his native land says the Communist regime kills or imprisons everyone it distrusts and exploits to the limit the people it trusts.

The worker is Wang Chung, who was a delegate to the Milan Convention of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions. His eyewitness account, one of the first ever to emerge from today's Red China, was given to the delegates.

Only a little more than a month ago, Wang was in China. He made his way out by disguising himself as a small-town peddler, contacting hide-outs of the resistance movement and eventually crawling over the Hong Kong border under a barbed wire and Communist guard.

In pre-Communist China, he declares, the working hours were eight to nine a day. The Reds boosted them to 10 and 12. China's entry into the Korean war pushed them even higher, to a maximum of 16 a day. A skilled machinist, Wang describes his life:

Despair's See Family

"I remember that for months on end last Winter I did not even have a chance to speak with my wife and kids. I was off for work at six in the morning when they were still in bed. I finished work at nine at night, and immediately there was a two or three hour session in a group (political) meeting. When I returned at midnight the family was already sound asleep."

Wages were not increased proportionately with hours, he adds. Quite the reverse. In 1947 Wang drew 600 pounds of rice a month for nine hours' work a day. This year, under Red rule, he got 200 pounds for 16 hours. But even this was only the nominal pay. After deducting taxes, duties, and various "voluntary" contributions he took home from 100 to 150 pounds of rice a month.

One hundred pounds of rice, says Wang, is barely enough for two bowls of very thin rice porridge per meal for each of the five in his family for a month.

Poor pay and long hours have induced widespread malnutrition and industrial fatigue which have vastly increased the frequency of industrial accidents. In Wang's machine shop, accidents were almost a daily occurrence.

Reign Of Terror

Wang reports Communist agents long ago wormed their way into every labor union and converted them all into "agencies of the secret police, which has brought to my country a frightful reign of terror."

The chief union aims now are to complete a black list of all anti-Communist elements in a particular factory, and to hold frequent mass meetings at which union leaders strike out names (marking men for death) when the list grows too long.

Wang recalls the Red regulation of Feb. 21, 1951, which gave legal sanction to the widespread purges and massacres that have caught the attention of the outside world. He says they were the Communist response to great popular discontent over China's participation in the Korean war.

He cites instances he knows about personally:

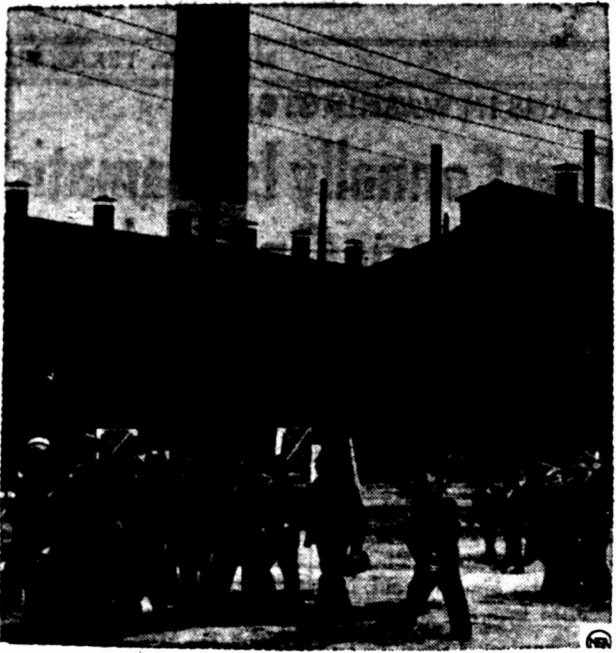

"A next door neighbor in Shanghai came from a village, and possessed about five acres of land. He was branded a landlord, a man-eater in the countryside. . . . He was taken back to his village and buried alive before his family. A fellow worker in my factory was arrested on April 27. He was skinned alive for failing to admit his own guilt."

Wang says the Reds acknowledge having liquidated 1,500,000 anti-Communists, but that the number murdered is actually much greater and includes thousands of innocents. "Anyone found uncooperative in the slightest manner can be arrested and shot at any moment in any locality," he asserts.

U. S. Business Pours Cash Into Canada; American Stake Hits Six Billion Dollars

American money built this copper and gold refinery in Northern Quebec, where these workers are going off shift.

TORONTO —(NEA)— Judging by the record-breaking increases in capital investment by United States interests, American business has a bright future in Canada. More American capital has flowed to Canada in the postwar years than ever before.

Based on various official government figures, it is estimated that early in 1951 U. S. capital had a stake of $6,750,000,000 in Canada, out of a total foreign investment of $8,750,000,000. The bulk of the balance is owned by British and European interests.

While Canada has become an important industrial nation with a living standard second only to that of the United States, it still has a small population and vast undeveloped natural resources.

Not Up-To-Date

Official government figures are not always up-to-date, but latest statistics show that 1997 manufacturing companies were controlled by United States capital in 1948. Of these there were 104 mining developments, 117 utilities, 422 merchandising enterprises and 263 financial institutions. There are more than 2,200 Canadian companies which are controlled in the United States, and of these nearly 40 have an investment value of more than $10,000,000 each.

The variety of recently formed Canadian subsidiary companies of American industries is great.

A large glass manufacturer bought a war surplus factory near Toronto to make oven ware, which never before had been made in Canada. Seven American automobile manufacturers have plants in Canada, in addition to a number of truck trailer and bus manufacturers.

One aircraft factory has been established by Americans in a government aircraft plant built during World War II, and now makes four-engined transports and jet fighters.

New Ones Built

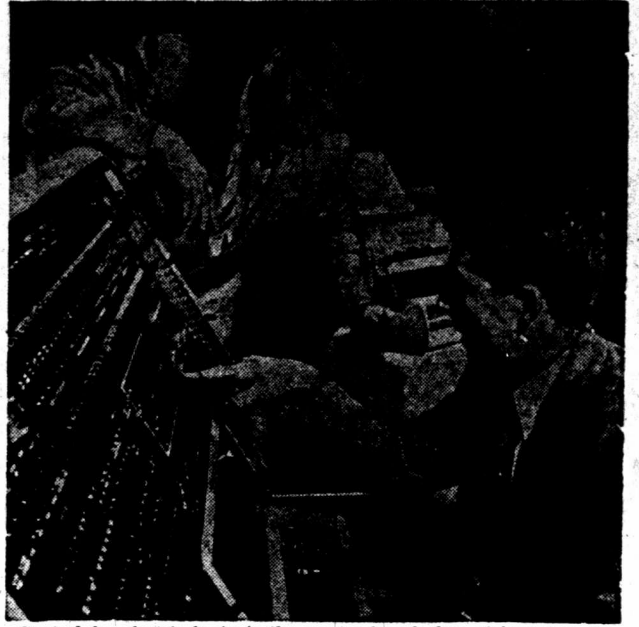

A number of new American-owned pulp and paper companies have built entire new mills and towns since 1945 in Northern Ontario, north of Lake Superior.

There are post-war American-capitalized factories making everything from pens to chemicals, and including such items as canned foods, hats, electric batteries, scientific instruments, photographic materials, diesel-electric locomotives, records, and radio transmitters, and television receivers.

American capital in post-war years has also gone into new mining developments of all kinds, especially base metals of strategic importance, such as the huge Labrador-Quebec iron ore development.

New oil developments in Alberta and Saskatchewan, in the Canadian West, have been largely financed by American oil producers, as have been oil and gas pipe lines now under construction or just completed.

Electric Brain Tabs Noses In Census Job

Control for electric brain is the master board. One of inventors, Dr. John W. Mauchley, is leaning over the panel.

PHILADELPHIA —(NEA)— The greatest electrical brain of them all S. Census Bureau.

Called the Univac — Universal Automatic Computer — it begins to solve problems where all the other electrical computers and counting machines leave off.

It is the first electronic computing equipment designed for statistical and business uses as well as for the solution of complicated mathematical problems. It was constructed to meet specific problems of the Census Bureau in summarizing and computing mass statistics at high rates of speed.

Census officials estimate that it will save thousands of man hours in producing statistics vital to war planning and to the country's business firms. For instance, in a split second it can provide for Selective Service the exact number of men in the U. S. in various age, city, farm and family groups from the last census totals.

For the Pentagon, the Univac could correlate hundreds of supply figures which come in from bases all over the country and give exact answers on how much and what to purchase for immediate needs and for future planning. The machine will be able to provide answers to problems of guided missile, atomic weapon and jet power research.

In addition to solving some of Uncle Sam's complicated problems, economic and business trends can be analyzed and recorded. Accounting and statistical problems can be solved swiftly and accurately from data formerly too complex to be handled by ordinary computing machines.

The machine, which is really a system of machines, contains 5,400 electronic tubes and seven pools of "mercury memory." It includes the "Unityper," which records instructions and data, the "Uniservo," which transfers the instructions and data to magnetic tape, the central Univac, which performs the intricate computations, and the "Uniprinter," which presents the final result of the operation in printed form. There is a master control panel which regulates the whole operation.

It was built for Census under the direction of the National Bureau of Standards by the Eckert-Mauchly Computer Corporation.

MORE STEEL THAN TIN

The cans in which most of our foods are packed are at least 98 1/2 per cent steel, less than 1 1/2 per cent tin. The tin is applied in a thin coating to the inside and outside of the can, and serves to prevent rust and to insulate against air, heat and light.

The can of "tin can" is derived from the English "tin canister."

West Texas To Get Epileptic Center

PLAINVIEW —(AP)— West Texas' first free epileptic clinic will be established here soon.

Anyone who cannot afford medical treatment for the disease can get care at the clinic, the Plainview hospital and clinic foundation announced.

Ross O. Urban, foundation administrator, said epilepsy unfortunately is often hidden or minimized because it is considered "a blot on one's family record." Public education, he said, can change this.

For that reason, public education as well as medical care will be a part of the clinic's program. The clinic also will pursue research into the diagnosis and treatment of epilepsy.

Patients need not be Plainview residents. If surgery is necessary, neurosurgeons will be brought here from Fort Worth.

Auto Lights Help Bring Plane Down

RAVENNA, NEB. —(AP)— When an Air Force pilot faced with a forced landing circled Ravenna he found a brightly lit baseball field but an unlighted airport.

The unidentified pilot quickly found a solution. Flying low over the ball park, he dropped his map case with a note attached. It sent spectators speeding from the ball park to the airport where they parked their cars with headlights lighting the runway. Down came the Air Force plane to a perfect landing.

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Congressmen become poll-parrots in attacking Voice of America; Speeches for 17 congressmen were written by one office; Patriotic organizations take concrete action against Communism.

WASHINGTON — One of the most interesting aspects of Congress is to see what inspires a speech or who influences a vote. Most of the time the public has no idea what backstage factors are responsible. Frequently not even other members of Congress know.

For instance, a rash of speeches broke out in the House of Representatives the other day attacking the Voice of America and State Department propaganda. In fact, 17 speeches were made, one after another, bitterly critical of the Voice of America.

The public, of course, had no idea that these speeches were all mimeographed on the same mimeograph machine or largely written by one man and his staff.

Congressmen are supposed to represent the people of the United States and make duly considered speeches which represent their own conviction—not rattle off the canned opinions of a ghost writer as if they were phonograph records.

However, copies of the canned mimeograph speeches were sent up to the press gallery, sometimes even before the congressman began to make the speech on the house floor below. It was like automobiles coming off an assembly line—17 speeches all attacking the Voice of America or Acheson, all delivered by Republicans, and all done on the same mimeograph machine.

The ghost writer who dished out this flow of words obviously was unfamiliar with the poll-parrots who were to mouth them, for he didn't even know how to spell their names: GOP Congressman William Ayres of Ohio, he misspelled "Ayres," and GOP Congressman Karl Stefan of Nebraska, he misspelled "Steffan."

An Old Grudge
 This backstage business, of course, was known to the congressmen, though not to the public. But what even the congressmen knew was that the man behind all these canned speeches probably would not have had them written had he not been eased out of his job by the man who now heads up the Voice of America.

Assistant Secretary of State Ed Barrett, now in charge of State Department propaganda, was formerly editor of Newsweek magazine.

winded orators. The other day, Senator George Malone of Nevada, who can turn a simple question into a filibuster, was pestering Connally on Trade agreements.

With a sigh that could be heard all over the chamber, Connally answered Malone's question, to which the Nevada replied eagerly: "I am very happy to be informed of that fact."

"I hope," grumbled the gentleman from Texas, "The Senator stays happy."

Washington Pipe Line
 One senator, George of Georgia, didn't show up for a single vote while billions of dollars were being dished out for Post Office, Treasury, and Agriculture Departments. George had the excuse that he was writing the nation's tax bill. However, some senators also think it's important to see how the tax money is being spent. . . . Congressman Furcolo of Massachusetts, Democrat, is planning to run against Senator Cabot Lodge, Republican. Lodge may even have trouble inside the Republican Party from Sinclair Weeks, the national GOP treasurer, who is thinking of running, too. . . . Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who has done such a valuable job of exposing poor military housing, will next crack down on rent gouging around Naval and Marine bases. . . . Price Enforcement Chief Ed Morgan has ordered his price G-men to make a thorough investigation of the high price of baler twine. Black marketeers have been selling baler twine to farmers from trucks at night.

Those are some of the backstage factors the public doesn't always know about when it reads weighty speeches delivered on the floor of Congress or learns of a campaign being waged against the Voice of America.

Making Democracy Work
 Some people talk about Communism, others do something about Communism. In the long run, the doers are a lot more important in preventing Communism than the talkers. Here are some people who have gone out and done things rather than just make Senate speeches.

General Federation of Women's Clubs—Mrs. Hiram Cole Houston, lifetime president, and her colleagues have sent radio sets to Iran to help get the Voice of America heard; have organized five and a half million members in foreign countries, thus cementing closer understanding with the U. S. A.; and are inspiring several thousand friendship letters to women abroad.

Inter-American Congress of Free Trade Unions—This is a group of North American and Latin American unions which are fighting against Communism in Latin America. Francisco Aguirre of Cuba, George Meany of the AFL and Jake Potosky of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers are among its leaders. Most people don't realize it, but Communism has begun to creep in our own front Latin American door, and these labor men are doing a skillful organization job to check it.

ECA's pen pals—A lot of individual Americans wonder what they can do about Communism abroad. Here's one small step. The individual touch sometimes counts more than government contacts, and the ECA in Washington has arranged for letters from individual Americans to be sent to individual Europeans, especially from workmen to workmen. It's among the labor classes that Communism has made greatest inroads, and letters similar to the "Democracy letters to Italy" during the Italian elections, help a great deal. A letter sent to "pen pals, Washington, D. C." will be translated and sent to any country you designate, or you can leave the designation up to ECA.

Texas Long Tom
 Gruff old Senator Tom Connally, the colorful Texan, is not one to conceal his impatience over long-

Anti-Biotics Attack Livestock Parasites

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (AP) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports outstanding gains have been made against livestock and poultry parasites through the use of anti-biotic drugs.

The Department states for example that a program, recommended by the Bureau of Animal Industry, has resulted in control of roundworms in sheep. The bureau advised sheepowners to mix a pound of the chemical, phenothiazine with every nine pounds of salt eaten by the flock. The medicine has proven a safe and effective worm remover and owners have reported sheep treated with the chemical have made satisfactory gains in weight. Similar experiments, including the administration of vitamin B-12 in diets of pigs and chickens have also been conducted with good results, the department says.

BRACELETS

Handcuffs are made of steel—the stuff with which we build bridges and skyscrapers and churches!

But all men have not learned to build. Some have learned to destroy.

Hence, in a land where men treasure freedom, there must be handcuffs for some in order that the rights of all may be safeguarded.

But there is a better way. Religious training is a sure vaccine against the spiritual disease that produces criminals. The Church can provide our children with the God-given moral foundations on which life should be built.

And which is the stronger safeguard of the things we hold dear? A pair of steel "bracelets" . . . or a Church crowded with eager children and conscientious parents?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

To Correct Leaning Garage

Study the diagram carefully and you'll see how simple it is to put a leaning garage back into plumb.

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service
Has your garage got that tired look, kinda leaning over wearily as if it wants to lie down but just doesn't have the energy? Lots of garages do. Sometimes they're comparatively new ones. If they weren't built with diagonally-braced corners, a strong wind is apt to push them out of plumb and they'll stay that way. But most garages that look like the leaning tower of Pisa are old ones.

Straightening up a building probably seems like a colossal job that you've put it off along with other chores that you mean to get done "some day." Actually, it's so simple that a high school youngster could do it provided he has enough strength to hammer a nail and pull the handle of an automobile jack.

Simple Procedure
That's all there is to it. First you get a 2x4 about three-fifths the length of the side of the garage to use as a brace. A few inches from

Safer Floors Advocated To Reduce Home Accident Toll

If 1961 follows the pattern of previous years, almost 17,000 persons will die this year as a result of home accidents. Home injuries and falls are second only by automobiles as the nation's worst accidental killer, says the National Safety Council.

Falls on stairs and slippery floors account for a large percentage of the 5,000,000 fatal and non-fatal home accidents each year. National Bureau of Standards has made extensive tests to determine the safest type of floor. These tests show that a person is less likely to slip on Kentile than on any other flooring material commonly used in homes.

Home Kitchen May Not Meet Federal Sanitation Rules

Could YOUR kitchen pass government sanitation inspection? All homemakers pride themselves on tidy housekeeping practices, but many would be shocked if they knew how far short they fall of rigid U. S. rules for cleanliness where food is prepared and served. A federal handbook on restaurant sanitation gives a few clues to awaken home cooks to the need for improving their kitchens in the cause of better health.

The brochure states that germs thrive in moisture, and that any wet surface with clay develops cracks. It should be banished from the kitchen. Replacement of counter tops and drainboards with moisture-proof material such as clay tile will insure maximum sanitation.

Dish towels, no matter how well laundered and stored, simply are not as sanitary as the use of boiling water plus soap or detergent, with glassware, dishes and utensils being allowed to dry themselves. Boiling water will not harm clay tile used for drainboards.

Well-Ventilated Room
Be sure the kitchen is well ventilated and that walls are so constructed as to be easily washed and can take frequent washings. Finishing splash surfaces around the sink and range with clay tile makes it simple to keep dishwashing and cooking areas immaculate at all times with a daily wiping with a damp cloth.

The government report is emphatic about the necessity for sanitary, chip-proof and hard surfaces for food preparation; everything associated with food or drink "must have a hard, smooth, finish, not easily worn away. It must be free of breaks, cracks, or open seams... and self-draining" in order not to harbor moisture which encourages growth of germ colonies.

Cost-Saving Items Keep Prices Down

TOLEDO—Ingenious builders are taking advantage of cost-saving features in construction in an effort to nail down the price of average American family homes which rose 9.7 per cent last year, says a prominent building authority.

"Today in the face of increased costs of material as well as building industry wages, this is about the only way to hold down prices," said George Schuchman, architectural consultant for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. "Wages advanced 10 per cent in 1948, three per cent in 1949 and seven per cent last year."

He pointed out, for example, that to offset the shrinking size of modern homes, architects are making small houses brighter inside and appear larger by using whole walls of glass. Recent development of panel type windows have made these transparent walls practicable in all parts of the country. In addition to the comfort and feeling of spaciousness that window walls impart, this type of construction can be more economical than conventional types, some builders report.

Pre-cutting of lumber for development type homes also has helped to keep the cost down by eliminating waste, time and labor on the site. Under this arrangement, much of the lumber that goes into the house already is cut at the mill so that it virtually becomes an assembly job at the building site.

Many of the newer homes also are being constructed on foundations of concrete or cinder blocks which

'Squatter' Evicted With Great Caution

RANGOON—(AP)—A "squatter" at the home of Burmese president Sao Shwe Thakhe recently was ejected by strategy and at no small risk to the evictors.

"He" was a deadly krait whose bite is known to kill within a few minutes. The snake established claims to territory beneath the golden throne of Thibaw, last of the Burmese kings, now set up in the main hall of the president's house.

A local newspaper reporting the incident said the snake was "well behaved except that it used to scare away with a loud and menacing hiss" anyone approaching the throne.

PASTOR MOVES 'OUT FRONT'

CENTRALIA, ILL.—(AP)—The Rev. Samuel Simonds has been listening to his own sermons at his Perry, Ill., First Baptist Church. The minister forsook the pulpit for a pew after a heart attack. While unable to preach, he listened with his congregation to his sermons recorded just as he had delivered them many Sundays before.

builders have found to be more economical than solid poured concrete foundations.

"Despite these economies in construction, most modern homes afford greater livability per square foot and are more functional than old style larger houses in which there was much wasted and useless space," the consultant said.

Waxed Floors Have Cool Look

Housewives who give their homes that Summer look by exposing large areas of wood floor should be careful to protect their floor surfaces. To guard against wear and the expense of refinishing, an application of paste or liquid self-polishing wax is suggested.

The housewife can keep cool while doing her waxing, too. Self-polishing wax can be applied easily with a long-handled applicator which saves strain on the knees and back. Paste and liquid-polishing type wax can be buffed with an electric floor polisher which may be rented for a small fee in many hardware and grocery stores.

Make sure the floor is completely dry before applying wax. Liquid and self-polishing wax should be applied evenly and sparingly.

Paper Firm Observes First Anniversary

Midway Paper and Box Company, located at Terminal, is celebrating their first anniversary.

The firm, owned by L. P. Lawrence and Keith Caldwell, specializes in wrapping paper, paper bags, paper towels, both household and industrial, paper boxes, toilet tissue, paper cups and gift paper and ribbons. Orders are delivered on the same day they are received, the owners said.

The two owners were trained in this business in Amarillo.

"We're celebrating a successful year of enjoyable service to Midland, Odessa and the entire Permian Basin," they said in an announcement of the anniversary observance.

Do You Know?

Most mortgage contracts require that the property be kept in good repair and properly painted, while the lender is allowed to inspect the home at reasonable intervals?

Rust-colored hot water can be prevented by keeping water temperature in the storage tank below the boiling point of 212 degrees?

The average-sized existing house can be insulated within three days by blowing mineral wool into the walls and above the top floor ceiling?

Land should represent about 20 per cent of the amount planned to be spent for building a home?

Lack of insulation, weather-stripping and storm windows causes $1,000,000,000 loss in wasted fuel each heating season?

Ideas Developed To Improve, Beautify Old Bathrooms

Until recent years, few bathrooms really were planned for comfort and convenience. New ideas, materials and equipment now make it unnecessary for any bathroom to be outmoded.

An awkward arrangement of fixtures creates a crowded bath. This often can be corrected by relocating lavatory and toilet or installing a compact combination tub and shower.

The bathroom should be colorful, to follow the modern trend. Walls of colored ceramic or plastic tile, harmonizing Kentile floor of distinctive design, and upper walls and ceiling in bright contrasting color help make it modern.

Vanity-Type Lavatory
New for bathrooms is the vanity-type lavatory, a washbowl set into a counter of a color to match the colored fixtures. Excellent storage space can be provided underneath if the unit is built as a cupboard with shelves.

Twin lavatories avoid bathroom congestion. They require no more space than a single washbowl set into the vanity, yet permit two people to use lavatory facilities at the same time.

It is best to choose delicate colors and designs for this room. Because the bathroom is small, bold figures and strong, vivid coloring are to be avoided.

While interior designers recommend simple designs in the flooring, they use wide color range to brighten up the bathroom.

Renovating Old Fixtures

Old fixtures can be improved at small cost. Cover the exposed piping under the lavatory by enclosing the lower part of the fixture in a wooden cabinet containing shelves. To hide the ugly sides and legs of an old-fashioned bathtub, fit a straight-sided wooden frame tight around the rim of the tub. Attach water-resistant building boards or sheets to this frame. Seal the joint where the enclosure meets the tub rim with cement fluorescent lighting unit for the old-fashioned center ceiling fixture, and replace the old medicine cabinet with a larger one.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail and Rabbit Pie

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was playing a game of hickory. A game of hickory is very much like a game of ball that people play with a ball and bat.

"Oh, Mugwump!" Daddy Ringtail was calling, and so Mugwump hurried home to the monkey house, carrying with him the hickory stick that he had used to play the game of hickory.

"Oh, Mugwump," said Daddy Ringtail, "please go find little Rabbit-people. Bring him home to the monkey house for a fine dinner of rabbit pie."

"Sure," said Mugwump, and he watched while Daddy Ringtail hurried back up to the monkey house, all to get ready for the fine dinner of rabbit pie. Mother Ringtail was away for a visit with Grandmother

Ringtail, and so Daddy Ringtail was looking after the house, and Mugwump, and all the cooking. "Humph!" said Mugwump. "Imagine! Poor, poor Rabbit-people, because he is going to be a rabbit pie at our house."

Mugwump was about to hurry away through the forest to look for Rabbit-people, but just then Mugwump heard the click of rabbit teeth behind him. Rabbit-people was eating a carrot. "What's up, Mugwump?" said Rabbit-people.

"You are," said Mugwump, and he grabbed hold of Rabbit-people, and climbed with him fast up high to the monkey house.

"Help!" shouted Rabbit-people. "Help! Save the rabbit! Help! Save the rabbit! Help! The rabbit is who I am."

Rabbit-people wiggled out of Mugwump's arms and then began to run around on the porch of the monkey house. "Stop!" shouted Mugwump. "Stop!" And Mugwump banged and banged away at Rabbit-people with the hickory stick. And it seemed that the hickory stick came banging and banging down on the porch each time in exactly the place where Rabbit-people had just been.

Oh, Mugwump was very careful not to hit little Rabbit-people, because Mugwump didn't want to hurt him. Yes, and Daddy Ringtail came out on the porch just then and asked the boys to stop their foolishness and they did stop. They stopped their playing that Rabbit-people pie was going to be a rabbit pie, and in they hurried to the table all to eat their dinner together. Ah, yes, because Daddy Ringtail had cooked a scrambled coconut pie of just the kind that Rabbit-people liked to eat. That's why it was named a rabbit pie. Happy day! FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

The market was steady and active on most classes at Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Butcher cows were about 30 cents a hundred lower than the week before. Good grade stecker calves were strong. Sales totaled $68 head.

Fat calves and yearlings drew $30 to $34.50, mediums $26 to $30, commons and culls $20 to $26. Fat cows brought $21 to $24, mediums $19 to $21, canners and cutters $16 to $19. Bulls cashed at $23 to $27. Stecker steer calves sold for $32 to $36.50. One group of 23 steer calves which averaged 380 pounds went at $36 cwt. Heifer calves cleared at about the same price.

Midland consignors were G. F. Long, Barron and Estes, Florence Franks, W. S. Hudson, Foster King, Dave Bissell, George Glass, E. F. Jones, C. W. Blalock, J. T. Marchant, Woodie Smith, Hugh West, A. M. White, C. C. Whalley, Mrs. L. C. Proctor, Buster Welch, E. M. Moreland, C. W. Orson, Marshall Hall, Frank Orson, M. L. Patterson, J. E. Franka, O. F. Crawford, M. F. King, J. T. A scrap-iron hunt in the average farm's livestock yards would pay big dividends from the standpoint of animal health, according to reports from County Agent Charles Green's office.

Efforts have been renewed to reduce tetanus losses among farm animals.

Many livestock yards harbor old nails, hinges, scrap metal and other sharp objects on which animals could injure themselves. Tetanus germs live in the soil, and puncture wounds give the germ easy access to the body's blood stream.

Horses are among the most frequent victims. The disease is characterized by early spasms, and finally may result in fatal lockjaw.

Also from Green comes information that if a dairy farmer wants to eradicate mastitis from her herd, he usually can do so.

A five point program has been outlined by veterinary authorities: First, diagnosis by a veterinarian to determine the type of infection. Second, segregation in the milking line of well cows from infected animals. Third, preventive measures, such as proper milking methods, good bedding, housing and sanitation.

Fourth, systematic treatment of diseased animals. And fifth, periodic re-examination of the herd and immediate treatment of animals showing udder trouble.

The annual growers' meeting of the Trans-Pecos Cotton Association is scheduled at the Pecos Community Center at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The meeting is being held to establish the cotton picking price for this fall, to discuss costs of recruiting labor for the cotton harvest, and to elect new officers.

A note from Texas A&M College concerns a r e of cotton dusting equipment through the winter months.

W. L. Ulich, agricultural engineer, says the machine should first be cleaned of all particles of dust and dirt. Then a solution of about 10 parts of kerosene to one part of turpentine should be mixed.

The procedure is to toss some of the solution into the duster fan. The fan will throw oil on moving parts of the duster, and prevent rusting while the machine is not in use.

Care should be taken, Ulich says, not to throw too much oil into the fan, as it will make the coating too heavy and difficult to remove. Oil should be removed from the interior of the fan, distributor, tubes and nozzles before the machine is put back into operation. Ulich suggests this be done by tossing dry sand into the suction side of the fan.

Midland County farmers have their drouth problem, and they're faced with the cotton insect menace, but so far we've heard no reports of their land disappearing into a hole.

Dr. J. O. Shannon, who was reared in northeast Kansas, brought in a newspaper account that five acres of a farm there have fallen into some sort of subterranean cavity.

The entire five-acre track, the report said, has sunk straight down about 10 feet in a period of about 30 days.

Farmer Willard Mullins, who lost the land, said he first saw a line appearing as though a mole run had carved in and he thought very little about it at the time. But the line grew and more land cracked and sank until the sunken area, with big cracks running through it in all directions, now covers about five or six acres.

Farmers will have an opportunity this summer to make suggestions on how services rendered by state and federal agencies to family farms can be improved.

The opportunity will come in a review program in the state, headed by the State Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

Meetings will be held in counties and communities of the State during the next several weeks and through these meetings farmer will be given the chance to express their views and make recommendations for improving existing conditions.

County Agent Charles Green will head the committee for Midland County. Green says he will choose two or three other persons to serve on the committee. Time of the meeting, here will be announced later.

A summary of the recommendations from each county will be sent to the state committee and the county reports will then be consolidated into a state report which will be sent to Washington.

Also from College Station comes the information that the home is not the safest place on the farm. More accidents occur in the home than in any other single place on the farm, and the kitchen ranks as about the most dangerous spot in the house.

Among suggestions for farm home safety precautions are: regular checks of all gas connections and all electrical equipment.

Kerosene should not be used to start fires in wood and coal burning stoves, and faulty steps should be repaired and stairways well lighted.

Texas ranges are native pastures and the grass which finds foothold there has to strive for survival against the uncertainties of moisture and the creeping invasion of brush.

According to range specialists, about 65,000,000 acres of Texas range land are infested with mesquite and other noxious shrubs.

The problems of pasture management and brush controls have been attacked by range specialists principally through demonstrations.

Also, county agents have trained 4,200 4-H Club boys of 127 counties in plant and grass identification during the year.

Sheriff's Sale Scheduled Here Sometime Tuesday

A sheriff's sale on two-and-a-half acres in Grandview Subdivision is scheduled to be held at the door of Midland County Courthouse Tuesday sometime between 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The sale was ordered in a 70th District Court Judgment in favor of J. M. Speed against O. O. Ennes and his wife.

The property was described as the south one-half of Tract 6 in the subdivision.

Nationalization For Burma Hit By Paper

RANGOON —(P)—The "Bama Khit," a leading Burmese language newspaper, editorially has opposed the socialist government's nationalization plans, asserting nationalization is alien to the Burmese.

The paper considered Burma's social, religious and economical environment are factors against nationalization which, it says, is effective presupposes dictatorial methods in its application.

The paper warned that nationalization, if forced upon the country, will bring only misery and dissatisfaction to the people.

HISTORIC RELIC
WINNIPEG —(P)—The congregation of the Russian Orthodox Holy Trinity Church here held a special service of veneration for one of the oldest icons in the world, a painting of the Virgin Mary which is believed to have been done by the Apostle St. Luke.

The Aland Islands are located at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, about 25 miles off the coast of Sweden.

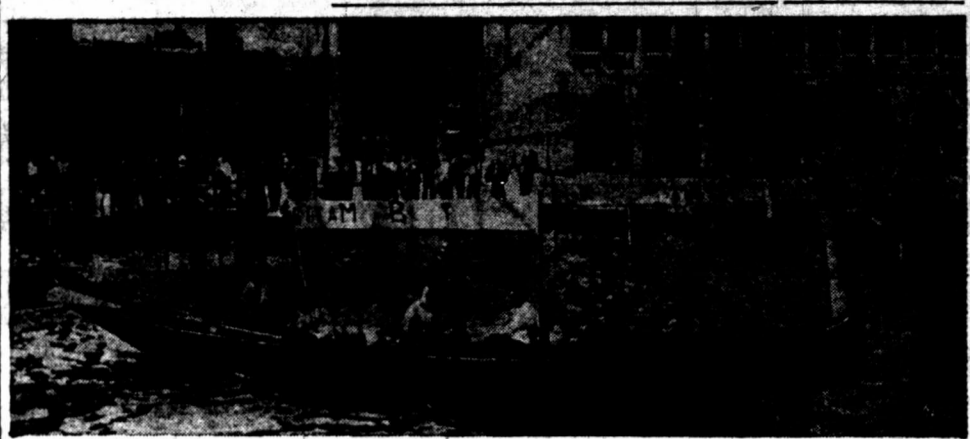

Mattress Burning Is Time Tested

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. —(P)—How long does it take for a cigarette to burn up a mattress?

The Huntington Fire Department, making a series of tests, found that a standard spring mattress will be destroyed in two and one-half hours. It plans to find out about other types of mattresses, too.

The test was made in a frame house erected for the experiment in the department's drill area. A cigarette left on the mattress set a smouldering fire which burned a hole all the way through in one hour and 11 minutes. It took one hour and 45 minutes for the mattress to break into flame. Forty-five minutes later, there was nothing left but ash.

Soap, dropped into a geyser, causes it to erupt.

CONDOLIERS GO GAS—After centuries of hand-propulsion, the famed gondolas of Venice have succumbed to progress, and now have new gasoline engines for power. Here, a souped-up gondola, its oars at rest and its steersman seated comfortably at the motor controls, breezes along the St. Marco waterfront—to the fascination of tourists and citizens of Venice.

2-Piece Sofa Bed Suite

There's just one thing we're sure about in this suite... there's two pieces. The sofa makes into a double bed but you'd probably prefer to sleep in the chair. Covered with some kind of slick material that's fairly nice looking in spite of the dirt. Maybe you can use it... we're tired of looking at it.
