

Truce Teams Still In Tight Deadlock

Harsh Words Traded About Buffer Zone

MUNSAN, KOREA —(AP)— Allied and Communist truce teams met one hour and 40 minutes Sunday on the stormy issue of a buffer zone for Korea.

The delegates adjourned at 12:40 p.m. (8:40 p.m. CST, Saturday). Results of the meeting were not disclosed.

Another conference was set for 11 a.m. Monday.

They met in the shadow of harsh words traded Saturday by the chief delegates.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il accused the United Nations team of "deliberately covering up the absurdity and wildness of its proposal."

Peiping radio quoted Nam as saying the UN team was demanding a buffer line "deep in our territory."

U. S. Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy accused the Reds of playing politics in refusing to discuss any other line than Parallel 38.

The meeting Sunday was the twenty-second since talks opened July 10. It was the twelfth given over to the problem of drawing a demilitarized zone across Korea.

Slam Door On Progress

Joy told the Reds they had "slammed the door on every attempt to make progress."

He added: "You did not come here to stop the fighting. You did not come here to negotiate an armistice. You came here to state your price — your political price for which you are willing to sell the people of Korea a temporary respite from pain."

Lt. Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, left the conference house in a huff.

Joy addressed his strong remarks directly at Nam for the Red delegation's stubborn refusal to discuss a compromise on a demilitarized buffer zone.

Nam insists that the military dividing line be Parallel 38 — the old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Midland Gets Light Encore On Rainfall; Terminal Has More

Midland got a small rain encore Friday night, amounting to .17 inch of precipitation by the City Barn gauge and .70 by the CAA gauge at Midland Air Terminal.

The shower fell slowly and soaked into lawns and soil which Thursday had received more than two inches of moisture from a "drouth-breaker" rain.

Rains were heavier to the west of the city Friday. The Gulf Pipe Line gauge east of the city measured .16 inch, as compared with the .70 at Terminal. Odessa reportedly got a heavy downpour.

In one big splash, Midland got 2.02 inches of rain Thursday, almost as much as fell during the first seven months of this year.

This downpour apparently was local because the Gulf gauge recorded 1.75 to the east, and the fall was much lighter to the west at Midland Air Terminal.

Last week's heavy rain was the first moisture of any consequence here since last September. Although precipitation in the city all along was some heavier, only a little more than two inches of rain had been gauged by the CAA station at Terminal since the first of the year, prior to Thursday.

By months, since the first of the year, rainfall measurements at Terminal were:

January, .01; February, .39; March, .60; April, .42; May, .86; June, .06; During July, two traces of rain and a measurement of .05 had been made. However, in the city, rain falls of .24 and .29 were measured on July 2 and July 7, respectively.

Stephen T. Early, 61, Dies Of Heart Ailment

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Stephen T. Early, 61, press secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt all the 12 years of the New Deal, died Saturday of a heart ailment.

Death came to Roosevelt's good friend and close advisor at George Washington University Hospital. It was announced, fittingly through the White House, where he had served until he left a few months after Roosevelt's death in 1945.

Mrs. Early and their three children, Stephen T., Helen Virginia and Thomas Augustus, were present. He had suffered one heart seizure Tuesday and another Saturday, dying a half-hour later.

President Truman, in a statement, paid tribute to Early as "a true patriot" who "was always at the side of President Roosevelt as secretary, friend and sagacious adviser."

Honest, honorable, forthright

The President said Early gave the best years of his life to the public service, and he summed up:

"Honest, honorable, forthright—frank sometimes, but never vindictive, and always just — he had vision as well as courage and a rare faculty of seeing all things in due proportion and through to their logical sequence."

In recent years Early had been vice president of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company.

He had worked hard all his life, and under what he called the "hellish pressure" of his White House job during the crisis years of depression and war, he gave outward appearance of being hard-boiled.

However, his friends — and he had many among leaders of the world as well as working newspapermen — knew him as warm hearted, cooperative, and efficient. He loved to hunt and fish, play poker and golf.

While he came to be on close terms with the great and near-

Cool Front, Rains Snap Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

The back of the historic Texas heat wave, the killing series of 100-plus days which took at least 21 lives in two weeks, may be broken.

Temperatures moderated Saturday, and thunderstorms played fitfully around the western half of the state. A vicious hailstorm leveled 10,000 to 12,000 acres of rich irrigated cotton in the South Plains Friday.

A capricious cool front from the north shimmied slowly during the day, first bulging out southward to bring cooler temperatures to thousands of North Texans, then withdrawing.

Reverses itself

At noon, the front's line ran from south of Shreveport, La., westward 30 miles north of Dallas, through Mineral Wells, south of Abilene and down to San Angelo.

But as nightfall approached the front reversed itself, thus becoming a warm front pushing northward instead. The Weather Bureau said the cool front may be back in Texas Sunday.

The end of the heat wave was no comfort to C. E. Vandiver and dozens of other South Plains cotton farmers.

"Mister, it's just not there anymore," the Lubbock farmer said after surveying his irrigated cotton fields in neighboring Hockley County.

The rich irrigated cotton—10,000 to 12,000 acres of it—was wiped level Friday by hail. Part of it was Vandiver's.

"I've been here since 1924 and I've never seen anything like it," said R. L. Edwards, who lost about 700 acres nine miles west of Lubbock.

"My whole field was completely smashed and scattered."

Two F-80 Jets Crash; Pilots Killed

By The Associated Press

Two F-80 jet planes crashed in plains of New Mexico and West Texas Friday night. Both pilots were killed.

The planes, which had been in separate combat crew training flights from Nellis Air Field Base at Las Vegas, Nev., were found smashed and scattered.

One was located late Saturday on the prairie 15 miles east of the little Eastern New Mexico hamlet of Crossroads. The other was found in an isolated pasture, 31 miles north-east of Big Lake, Texas.

Frank Hines, veteran Hobbs, N. M., pilot, and Jim Rawls, Hobbs News-Sun photographer, found the wreckage near Crossroads. They followed a tip from rancher J. B. Brown, whose wife was frightened by a blinding flash Friday night as they drove along a road three miles from the crash.

Digs 50-Foot Trench

Hines said the plane hit the ground at a 45-degree angle. It mowed down 200 yards of grass and dug a trench in the prairie 50 feet long. Hines and Rawls found bits of plane and the pilot's body scattered for yards.

Nellis Air Force Base identified the pilot as Second Lt. Vernon C. D. Vickers, Jr., 24, whose parents live at Athens, Ohio.

The other F-80 disintegrated during an electrical storm over the West Texas plains.

Goodfellow Air Force Base at San Angelo identified the dead pilot as

Air Force Asks For Temporary Use Of Midland Airpark

Permission for limited use of Midland Airpark for a two-month period by light bomber training crews was requested last week by Air Force authorities.

The permission was sought at a conference Friday between officers of Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, and City Aviation Director Clyde Sharrer.

Sharrer said the request will be presented formally to the City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Representing the Air Force was Col. C. C. McFarland of the Reese Air Force Base.

Sharrer said the use of the Airpark for a five-hour period daily was sought during the rehabilitation of runways at the Lubbock installation. This work, he said, will require about two months.

About 10 members would come here daily for the training period, returning each day to their home base.

Their training would be coordinated with civilian flying activities at the field and the Air Force would maintain its own radio communication system.

Child's Crumpled Body Found In Pit After Long Search

LANSING, MICH.—(AP)— The crumpled body of little Douglas Davis was found late Saturday, deep under a pile of sand in which he was buried Friday.

The body was discovered at 2:30 p.m., ending a search of almost 28 hours in a huge gravel pit near here.

It was at the bottom of a pile of sand that more than 100 volunteer workers had toiled aside in a frantic search for the tawny-haired eight-year-old.

He was trapped by a cave — in there Friday while tunneling with two young companions.

Marvin Hunter of Baird was elected vice president; Bill Colyns of Midland, second vice president, and Mrs. Charles Green of Kermit, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Three West Texas newspapers were called the area's best. The County-Wide News of Littlefield was judged the best weekly in cities of more than 4,000; The Hamilton Herald-News was named tops in cities from 2,000 to 4,000; for cities with a population of less than 2,000, The Matador Tribune received the title.

100,000 Workers

Secretary of Labor Tobin said in Washington efforts would be made to bring in 100,000 Mexican laborers within the next 60 to 75 days to help harvest one of the largest American farm crops in history.

The secretary's statement said the Justice Department's Immigration Service will handle all entry clearances with a sharp eye to bar any Communist or other subversive elements.

Tobin said U. S. recruitment centers would be established near Brownsville, Laredo and El Paso, Texas; Nogales, Arizona, and Calexico, Calif.

FBI Arrests Pair In $48,000 Swindle Of Roswell Widow

NEW YORK —(AP)— The FBI said Saturday it had arrested two confidence men who posed as an oil operator and a sportsman and swindled a wealthy New Mexico widow out of $48,000 after she married one of them.

The arrests came as they were preparing to victimize a multimillionaire and his daughter who were sailing for Argentina, the FBI said.

The men, taken into custody at a hotel here, were identified as Victor Emanuel Pereira, 33, of Columbus, Ohio, and Eugene H. Brading, 36, of Dallas, Texas.

They were held in $50,000 bail each on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy to transport stolen property from Mrs. Gertrude Joyce, 55, of Roswell, N. M.

The FBI told this story:

Pereira and Brading met Mrs. Joyce and her sister at the Del Norte Hotel in El Paso, Texas, last April 19, with Pereira posing as a wealthy sportsman and Brading as an oil land operator.

They began paying court to the women and were invited to Mrs. Joyce's Roswell home. Pereira married Mrs. Joyce in Kansas City May 25. Brading became engaged to the sister, unidentified by the FBI.

Pereira obtained $5,000 from Mrs. Joyce by telling her he needed the money for a business deal and temporarily was without ready funds.

Shortly after the wedding, Mrs. Joyce also gave Pereira a $6,300 convertible.

Later, Pereira and Brading told Mrs. Joyce they had an option to buy the Washington Hotel in

Wife Of Michael Benedum, Greatest Oil Wildcatter, Dies

PITTSBURGH, PA.—(P)—Mrs. Sarah Benedum, 79, wife of the man who had a part in setting off West Texas' fabulous oil play, died unexpectedly Saturday.

Her husband, Michael Benedum, 82, acquired the nickname "greatest wildcatter of them all" during more than 40 years of wildcatting and discovering new oil pools.

As a member of the wildcatting team of Benedum & Trees, he discovered oil on three continents. The team discovered the Ploesti field in Romania and also found oil in Colombia. Joe C. Trees, Benedum's partner, died several years ago.

The pair had a financial hand in the Big Lake pool of Reagan County, which set off the play that resulted in West Texas being declared the nation's largest oil reservoir.

One of Benedum's firms, Melben Oil Company, is a developer in the Tidelands off the Texas coast.

Husband Only Survivor

Mrs. Benedum, although in poor health several months, enjoyed an automobile ride Friday. Her husband is her only survivor, the couple's only son, Claude, having died while in service during World War I.

Mrs. Benedum was a native of Monongalia County, W. Va., and a graduate of Waynesburg (Pa.) College. She was married in 1896 to the man whose multi-million-dollar oil promotions have become widely known throughout the world.

The couple lived in Cameron and Wheeling, W. Va., until 1909, when they moved to Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Benedum, like her husband, lived quietly.

Benedum was reported to have a fortune of $75,000,000 two years ago, when more than 200 government, industrial and civic leaders came here for one of his famed birthday parties.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Benedum will be held in Pittsburgh, probably on Tuesday.

Among the companies which Benedum is associated, still wildcatting in Texas, are Plymouth Oil Company, which opened the Benedum pool of Upton County, and Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company.

Bracero Agreement Becomes Effective In Note Exchange

MEXICO CITY —(P)—Mexico and the United States exchanged notes Saturday putting the new migrant labor (Bracero) agreement into effect.

Consul V. H. Blocker delivered the U. S. note to Alfonso Guerra, chief officer of the Foreign Office. Guerra gave him Mexico's note ratifying the new agreement.

Officials said the four new recruiting centers for Mexicans going to U. S. harvest fields would be opened in about a week. A fifth, Monterrey, already is operating on a provisional basis.

The agreement provides the U. S. government will pay the cost of transporting workers to the U. S. and will guarantee payment of their wages. U. S. farmers will pay $15 toward the cost of transportation of each worker they use and will be primarily responsible for payment of the same wages as those prevailing for other farm labor in the community.

Secretary of Labor Tobin said in Washington efforts would be made to bring in 100,000 Mexican laborers within the next 60 to 75 days to help harvest one of the largest American farm crops in history.

The secretary's statement said the Justice Department's Immigration Service will handle all entry clearances with a sharp eye to bar any Communist or other subversive elements.

Tobin said U. S. recruitment centers would be established near Brownsville, Laredo and El Paso, Texas; Nogales, Arizona, and Calexico, Calif.

The Mexican government will set up migratory labor stations at Monterrey, Chihuahua, Aguascalientes, Irapuato and Guadalajara.

Preliminary plans for the organization of the safety group were worked out Friday at a conference between Wesley Martin, principal of John M. Cowden Junior High School, Police Chief Rube Hemingway and Assistant City Manager Morris Howard.

Martin said Saturday plans for the organization will be completed without the next few days.

That Well-Mannered, Ladylike Noise From Marshall Really Is A Rebel Yell

By MARTHA COLE

MARSHALL, TEXAS —(P)—It's a well-mannered, ladylike rebel yell that's sounding from some well-kept Marshall homes these days.

Nineteen households have refused to collect Social Security taxes from their domestic servants. "Unconstitutional and socialist," they call the federal law that would make them do it.

Washington officials have refused to argue the case publicly with the women.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has replied to a letter from the women, but he declined to release his reply because —

"I can't find anything in Emily Post that would approve of my corresponding with ladies through the newspapers. x x x If they want to make it public, that is their privilege."

The government answered the housewives' defiance last week by serving warrants on bank accounts. By Friday, Treasury agents had collected $58,712 from 12 of the women. They hadn't moved against the

WCTU President Urges World Parley

BOGOTON —(P)—The president of the national Women's Christian Temperance Union Saturday urged a world convention to prepare an international agreement "for the reduction and prevention of alcoholism."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of Evanston, Ill., made the proposal at the annual convention of her organization.

Agents who served the warrants had no comment for publication.

In Tyler, J. D. Langford, Jr., manager of the East Texas Division Office of the Internal Revenue Department, commented that the household tax law was just like any other law and had to be obeyed.

He said the warrants were "just like any other, except the Marshall housewives had given them a lot of publicity."

"We're not prepared to make a statement about what exactly we intend to do next," said Mrs. Carolyn Abney, wife of a Marshall attorney.

"We are not through yet. We understand the next thing to do is sue for the return of our money, and that will lead to a hearing on a test on the constitutionality of the law. But our lawyers are still studying it."

The Treasury position is that the tax was imposed by Congress, and the department's Bureau of Internal Revenue therefore has responsibility of collecting — and will carry it out.

As for the housewives' content-

Critics Don't Bother MGM's Vivacious Kathryn Grayson

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Now I know why Margaret Truman can read a blistering review of last night's recital, utter a lyrical fiddle-de-dee and start in on her ham-and-eggs with gusto.

Not to mention why Margaret waggles a finger at pop when he sings those letters out from the White House.

Kathryn Grayson told me. And I hope it won't get her in the doghouse with the boys who listen to a lark's trills and rush back to their typewriters to praise or berate.

"Some music critics," Kathryn slipped the word to me, "know their business. And some music critics don't. A singer can spot a critic who doesn't know his stuff in a second."

She snapped her fingers and the noise had a Missouri slip.

It would have done Margaret a world of good to hear it!

"Any singer with intelligence," snorted Kathryn, "knows what she does that's right or wrong a lot better than most music critics."

Most vendors of the high C would sooner hit a sour note in Carnegie Hall than get embroiled with Margaret and the journalistic judges of the pure, sustained tone.

But Kathryn doesn't give a hoot. She said that the bellows who go around shouting "Maestro" and singing "Mi, mi, mi, mi" with their fingers pressed to their temples gave her up a long time ago as a hopeless case.

The Grand Manner is something that she hasn't got.

"I know all the sopranos and I'm happy to say that I'm not like any of them," winked MGM's golden-jungled doll. "They go around screaming for sherry, eggs and wine to soothe their throats. Me, I gulp down a cup of coffee. They're always making with the throat-sprayers. I couldn't get away with anything like that. My friends would drop dead. And I wouldn't be able to keep a straight face."

Once, Kathryn remembered, an ex-prima donna took her aside and whispered:

"Dolenz, see best for being seenger to be vreee high-strung, veere excitable. Lose your voice, dolleeng, 'trow teengs. You, as seenger, not nice girl on softball team. Remember dolleeng, be delicate, get beeg lahryngitis. Pipples respect you more!"

Kathryn slapped herself on the midriff.

"Then she expanded her chest. 'Delicate,' she snorted. 'I'm a strong, healthy girl. Who could be stronger? I couldn't have laryngitis if I tried. I've sung with flu and a temperature of 103. I can out-sing any singer on two feet. It's sheer health.'

"Temperament! I haven't got. Temper, yes. I've got a dilly. The juiciest temper around. MGM just canceled my vacation. They said, 'Com on, tell us how you feel about it.' They asked for it and they got it, brother."

She's been singing on MGM sound stages for 12 years—"I was 17 when I made my first test. I had braces on my teeth and I looked like a monster." And lately she's taken to avoiding her own pictures.

If Ethel Barrymore can live without seeing herself on the screen, so can Kathryn. She groaned:

"You die. I haven't had time to die lately, that's all. You hate yourself. You never want to make another picture as long as you live. It's torture. Rushes? They're worse."

I'd never show up for the next day's work if I went to see my rushes." She comes from a musical family, but she's the only one in it to connect up with a movie career. Her sister, Frances, who's blonde and shapely, almost made the grade, though.

Kathryn tells it:

"They ask her to show up at the studio in a bathing suit. Frances put a coat over the bathing suit. They said, 'Take it off.' Frances said, 'Ugh, ugh.' That finished her in pictures. We're a family of pruders."

The telephone rang.

"That's probably Ava," said Kathryn to her maid. "Tell her I'll call back." She giggled and let it drop that her friendship with Ava Gardner started when they were pulling cast in "Show Boat." "I was pulling for Dinah Shore for the Julie role. Then I saw Ava's test. She was fabulously wonderful and I stopped taking it up for Dinah. Ava's good for me. If I start acting like a big star, Ava says, 'Come off it, honey!'"

The rumor that she was hopping mad because Ava's Julie was getting more advance raves than her own Magnolia in "Show Boat?"

Kathryn had heard the buzz. "I'll break a rule and see the picture when it's premiered," she said. "If I don't like what I see, I'll slug Ava."

"Yes," said the player, "and it's my busiest day, too."

The minister said, "Yes, but I'm in the right field."

There are 106 teachers representing 23 states and the Canal Zone registered for this year's institute, planned to help the teacher make mathematics more interesting to student.

Theme of this year's sessions is "Mathematics at Work," emphasizing new ways of presenting mathematics in the classroom.

Delegates will hear 20 guest lecturers speak on mathematics in the world of industry, business, science, and engineering. The 11-day meet also includes a "Mathematics Laboratory" to exhibit materials relating mathematics to various other fields.

Survey Shows Chinese Guerrilla Activities Against Reds Annoying But Not Effective

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG —(AP)— Every day reports come out of Red China that guerrillas are punching the Communists groggy, especially in the south.

In the last 60 days, enough confirmation has come through to establish the truth of many raids. Even the Reds are beginning to admit some of them.

Are the guerrillas really getting strong?

Twenty stories about 20 guerrilla raids can create the impression of a vast anti-Red movement.

When you add them up, however, they come to an average of 100 men each.

Twenty raids therefore might involve no more than 2,000 men scattered over four or five big provinces.

Wishful Thinkers

Look at it that way, and guerrilla activity seems trifling.

Well, which is it, important or trivial?

The answer, so far, is "pretty small."

Wishful thinkers may make such of the rash of outbreaks, but dispassionate evaluation shows the guerrillas, at present, are no more than annoyance to the Reds.

They may become more than that, depending on several factors, including the Korean war, but it is a mistake now to view them as a serious threat, even to Red provincial regimes.

I have talked to a number of persons from Red China, and not one takes the guerrilla movement seriously as yet. Even missionaries coming from remote stations in the hill country say guerrillas thus far have not been able to establish and hold a base.

The buildup of a resistance area by old Nationalist regular troops under Gen. Li Mi in the southwest Province of Yunnan is the only really sizeable operation positively known to exist.

Even this may be more in the wilds of North Burma than on Chinese soil.

Rails Are Yardsick

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists on Formosa put out hopeful reports about establishment of guerrilla control areas.

As time passes and fact is winnowed from fiction, it becomes apparent these so-called guerrilla strongholds either never existed or were speedily wiped out.

A good yardstick for the extent of guerrilla work is the Chinese railroad system. China has poor communications, so a cut railroad is a serious thing.

Guerrillas indeed have blown up a few locomotives and robbed a few munitions cars, but all indications are that the trains in Red China

Diplomats Believe Reds Anxious For Korean Armistice

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Diplomatic authorities Saturday said the United States, its allies and the UN command in Korea are firmly agreed:

1. To stand fast on rejection of the Communist stand for a truce zone along the 38th parallel.
2. To continue the negotiations at Kaesong just as long as the Reds will go to the conference table.

Barring some Communist military trickery, one highly placed informant said Saturday that despite the increasing tensions in the Kaesong sessions, "We will not break off." He added, "Of course we don't know what the other side may do."

Actually, there is not much expectation here that the Reds will destroy the negotiations, though they might break them off temporarily. It is believed communism's Soviet leaders in Moscow would like very much to end the Korean fighting, provided they do not have to pay an excessive price.

Price Of Their Own

Some American officials think Red leaders may seek to set a price of their own in connection with the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco, beginning September 4. There is a feeling the Kremlin would like to wreck that conference and may try to use the Korean situation to that end.

One speculation is that they might arrange for the Korean negotiations to bring a successful armistice agreement just before the conference opens, meanwhile sending a delegation to San Francisco to try to block the signing of the treaty from the inside. Alternatively, there is a somewhat more ominous possibility.

The Russians may try to deliver an ultimatum—there will be no peace in the Far East if the United States and nations allied with it go through with the Japanese treaty.

Every Reasonable Device

Whatever Russia's overall purposes may be, the intention of Washington policy makers is to use every reasonable device to get the Korean war settled on the present battle line, which runs in some places 30 miles north of the 38th parallel.

If and when the Reds begin to yield in their insistence that an armistice buffer zone must center exactly on the parallel, the UN negotiators are expected to assist them in making an about face by adjusting the UN proposals in so far as possible to permit face saving.

Officials here are not dismissing the possibility the Reds may disrupt the Kaesong talks. If the Communists think they cannot yield on the 38th parallel, and if they believe the negotiations ultimately will fail anyway, it is just possible they may want to end them in order to launch an offensive.

In that case, the weather would dictate that such a move be made quickly. The reason is that the rainy season, which impedes the UN Air Force, soon will end and increased air operations would make any Red drive even more doubtful of success.

The Merrimac, first ironclad battleship, was converted into a warship in a stone drydock by the Confederate navy.

McGee's Attorneys Ask Appeal Court For Sanity Hearing

AUSTIN —(AP)— Attorneys for Richard McGee Saturday asked the Court of Criminal Appeals to order a sanity trial for the convicted slayer of Lubbock grocery executive R. L. Alston.

They also asked the execution, scheduled September 1, be halted until the sanity hearing can be obtained.

The action was an appeal from a judgment of Tenth District Court Judge Dan A. Blair, who denied applications for the sanity trial August 8.

E. A. Simpson of Amarillo told the appeals court McGee is "being illegally restrained from the right of trial by jury."

"All we are asking is the right of trial by jury to determine if this boy is now hopelessly insane," he said.

District Attorney Travis Shelton of Lubbock told the court the same psychiatrists who now claim McGee is insane, also claimed he was insane at the trial and at the time of the offense.

"The law requires that a showing be made that insanity has occurred since the trial," he said. "Unless the insanity occurred since the trial, there could never be an end to this case. The same doctors could file the same affidavits of insanity after each sanity hearing."

"The Lubbock slaying occurred three years ago at the back door of the Alston home after an argument over McGee's insistence on marrying Alston's teen-age daughter. The appeal court indicated it would not rule for several days.

Tide Water To Run Completion Test At Martin Discovery

Tide Water Associated Oil Company is starting production tests on the No. 1 E. B. Dickerson, Central-South Martin County flowing discovery from the Ellenburger.

It is expected that a 24-hour Railroad Commission potential test will be taken early in the week and the new field opener will then be put on regular production.

This wildcat flowed an average of 18 barrels of clean pipe line oil per hour for 24 hours during a drill-stem test on perforated section at 12,087-106 feet.

Washed With Acid

That zone had been washed with 800 gallons of mud acid prior to the 24-hour test. No formation water developed during the test.

When operator pulled the tester after the long period of flowing recovery in the drill pipe was 11,608 feet of pipe line oil and 210 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Flowing bottom hole pressure at the start of the test was 1,275 pounds. Final flowing bottom hole pressure was 3,475 pounds.

Expected To Kick Off

After the tester was pulled operator ran tubing in the hole. The perforated section was to be swabbed in an effort to kick the pay off to flowing steadily.

Interested observers expect it to start flowing during Sunday.

The wildcat is nine miles west of Stanton and 12 miles north and slightly east of Midland.

It is 600 feet from north and east lines of section 44, block 37, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Had Water At Bottom

The discovery drilled to a total depth of 12,140 feet. The section between 12,135 feet and 12,140 feet made water and oil.

Operator cemented 5-inch casing at 12,135 feet and plugged off the bottom section of the hole with cement to try to eliminate the water.

The pipe was then perforated at 12,087-106 feet for the testing.

Apparently the bottom water had been shut off.

B & N Start Digging On Deep Wildcat In C-N Midland Site

The Blackwood & Nichols Company No. 1 B. L. Moss, Central-North Midland County wildcat, has spudded to 230 feet where a 13 3/8-inch casing is set. Operator will drill plugs and start drilling ahead in the 13,500 foot destination early in the week.

The wildcat is four miles northwest of the city of Midland and 600 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block X, H. P. Hilliard survey.

The same operator's No. 1 Hofferkamp, is drilling below 7,943 feet in shale.

Stanotex To Drill Offset To Discovery In N-C Schleicher

Standard Oil Company of Texas has filed application for a permit to drill an east offset to Wesley W. West No. 1 Mrs. Christena Mittel, Pennsylvaniaian time strike in North-Central Schleicher County.

Stanotex No. 1-3 Christena Mittel will be 1,800 feet from north and 497 feet from west lines of section 78, block TT, Texas Central Railway Company survey. It is on a 979.36 acre lease 10 miles north of Eldorado.

To Go To 6,400 Feet

The offset will be drilled to 6,400 feet with rotary tools.

Wesley W. West No. 2 Mittel, 1-660 feet from north and 1,560 feet from east lines of section 77, block TT, TC&R survey is another offset. It was reported several days ago.

It is 890 feet from west and 330 feet north of his No. 1 Mittel.

West No. 1 Mittel is reported to be preparing to drill plugs from five and one-half inch casing cemented on bottom at 6,373 feet, preparatory to perforating the pipe near the bottom of a Pennsylvaniaian pay section which is said to be almost 300 feet thick. The pipe was cemented after the wildcat flowed an estimated 75 barrels of fluid hourly, about half oil and half water on a drill-stem test at 6,323-73 feet.

The first plug flowed on a test from

New Oil Boom Seen For Northwestern New Mexico Field

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD
ALBUQUERQUE—(P)—Although many experts still reserve judgment, a recent San Juan Basin strike promises a fresh oil boom in Northwestern New Mexico.

Aside from normal drilling hazards, there are two complications. These are a serious shortage of steel casing and a lack of rigs to drill them.

The new well, Thomas W. Dowell's No. 2 Scott Federal, on official gauge is good for 720 barrels of 47 gravity oil a day.

More important is the fact it found oil in a hitherto lightly regarded pay zone—an 85-foot section of Tocteo sandstone in the Manco shale.

The well drilled by Dowell, a Dallas oil man, is in NW SE Sec. 9-26N-6W, about 50 miles southeast of Farmington in New Mexico's Rio Arriba County. Production is from 6,807-5,992 feet, along with 460,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

Evaluated Cautiously

Trade sources have evaluated it cautiously, mindful of slumping flow from the only other producer in the county. This is Delhi Oil Corporation's No. 1 Ingwersen-Federal, completed two years ago for an initial rating of 140 barrels a day. In SE SE Sec. 30-24N-2W near Lindrieth, N. M., it is 25 to 30 miles southeast of the Dowell strike.

Drillers blame faulty cementing for failure of the Lindrieth well. Recently reworked, it now is flowing at a 65 barrels-a-day rate, thanks to directional drilling which tapped the same sand some 300 feet to one side from the pay zone in the original hole.

Witnesses Upsurge

In common with other producing states, New Mexico oil interest this summer has witnessed an upsurge in wildcatting. The trade, sensitive to international developments, foresees a huge increase in demand for defense purposes in event Iran's output should be lost to the Western democracies.

Focused On Area

This is one reason that greater attention than usual has been focused on the San Juan Basin area, which extends into Colorado, Utah and Arizona. For the most part, however, the basin has been known for its gas potential—the supply on which El Paso Natural Gas Company depends for its almost finished 450-mile pipeline across Northern Arizona to California. The line has started serving major towns in Northern Arizona.

Drilling activity in New Mexico nevertheless still is centered in the southeast, around the Hobbs area where oil first was discovered in 1927.

The latest tabulation on operations shows 134 wells being drilled in Lea County (Hobbs) and 48 in Eddy County (Carlsbad-Artesia). Despite a big jump in activity, Northwestern New Mexico still trails with 79 drilling in San Juan County and 9 in adjoining Rio Arriba County.

Spraberry Opener Indicated In Upton

Sohio Petroleum Company No. 1 Clark, wildcat in Northwest Upton County, has indicated as a Spraberry discovery. It is two and one-half miles northwest of the Permian field and the same distance northeast of Soho No. 1 Hill, a recent Spraberry pool opener.

The project was drilled to 7,191 feet in the Spraberry which was topped at 7,190 feet. It flowed 49.14 barrels of oil, natural, through a 16.64-inch choke during a seven-hour test.

From Three Inches Of Pay

When three inches of pay had been penetrated, gas blew the cable tools from the hole with the well making 104 barrels of oil in 15 hours before control head was installed.

After the well was controlled, it flowed 92 barrels of oil in two hours through a choke of unreported size.

Seven-inch casing has been cemented at 7,138 feet.

At last report, bottomhole surveys were being run.

It is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 11, block N, HE&W survey.

Reagan Gets New Spraberry Oil Well

Sohio Petroleum Company has completed its No. 1 E. P. Williams, wildcat in Northwest Reagan County four miles east of the Werner-Floyd-Spraberry pool of Northeast Upton County.

The well made a calculated daily potential of 604 barrels of 38-gravity oil based on an actual nine-hour flow of 227 barrels of oil. Flow was through a 62/64-inch choke.

Flowing pressure was 190 pounds. No water was present.

Production is coming from pay section between 6,770 feet and 6,850 feet after being treated with 1-500 gallons of Hydracrac. Seven-inch casing was set at 6,747 feet.

The new oiler is 600 feet from south and west lines of section 19, block 38, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Chapman To Speak At 1951 Meeting Of Oil-Gas Association

DALLAS—Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman will participate in second-day activities of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's 32nd annual meeting, which will be held in Beaumont, October 8-9, Charles E. Simont, vice president and general manager, announced Saturday.

Chapman will be the principal speaker October 9 at the dedication of the new Lucas Engineering Building at Lamar State College of Technology. The building was named after the discoverer of the famous Spindletop well.

The dedication ceremonies will highlight the final-day program of the Texas Mid-Continent meeting and will climax the 50th anniversary observance of the Spindletop discovery.

Under the nation's defense program, Chapman is the Petroleum Administrator for Defense. He was named as Interior Secretary in January 1950, following the resignation of former secretary Julius A. Krug.

Magnolia Is To Drill Outside Project In Parks-Penn Field

Magnolia Petroleum Company has filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill a one-location south stepout to its No. 1 Claude Beck which is in process of completing from the Pennsylvaniaian on the east side of the Parks-Pennsylvaniaian field in Central-West Midland County.

It is No. 5 Roy Parks and is located 800 feet from west and 600 feet from north lines of section 11, Charles F. O'Neal survey, A-894. That makes it 11 miles southwest of Midland.

Projected depth is 10,700 feet. Rotary tools will be used to drill, beginning at once.

Pennsylvaniaian Being Tested In SW Kent

Kewanee Oil Company No. 1-F WI, a one and one-quarter mile north outcrop to the north side of the East Polar-Pennsylvaniaian field of Southwest Kent County, is taking a drillstem test at 6,870-97 feet in a soft section of the Pennsylvaniaian line.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 4, block 4, H&GV survey and 15 miles southwest of Clairmont.

It is slated to dig to approximately 7,500 feet.

PAD Asks Domestic Industry Expand Production, Refining

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) has appealed to the domestic oil industry "to take all possible steps to expand production and re-adjust operations" because of the halt in flow of Iran's oil to Western Europe.

Bruce K. Brown, deputy PAD administrator, said loss of the output of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's big refinery in Iran has put a heavy strain on alternative sources of supply, both in this country and abroad.

Even if the Iran refinery is reopened, Brown said, it will be some weeks before the normal flow of its petroleum in world trade can be resumed.

PAD expects to keep state authorities informed of the deficit to free nations and, if and when necessary, to support the request of American oil producers to state agencies for increases in production allowances.

Deficit Still Certain

Steps to boost operations in refineries abroad are under way but there still will be a deficit which probably could be offset only by the U. S. industry, Brown said.

Foreign companies, he disclosed, have arranged to buy in excess of 150,000 barrels daily of refined products in the American market during August—more than one-half of the deficit expected to remain after the step-up in refining operations abroad.

Brown said that because "domestic stocks of most refined products are now at high levels, exports of this magnitude can be supported for a limited time without adversely affecting the domestic supply situation."

He predicted maintenance of this level of exports for an extended period would require an increase in production and refining capacity.

Production From Spraberry Sand Continues To Increase As New Wells Completed

By JOE SALAMAN
Reporter-Telegram Oil Writer

The Spraberry sand reservoirs of West Texas produced approximately 710,000 barrels of crude oil during the month of June.
That was an average of more than 23,700 barrels per day for each of the 30 days of the month.
That production came from 326 oil wells. Informal observers calculate there are now 393 completed producers from the Spraberry pay. New wells are being completed in the Spraberry trend at the rate of about 1.5 per day.

The figures above are on Spraberry producers in Dawson, Midland, Glasscock, Martin, Upton and Reagan Counties.
Dawson, Midland, Martin and Glasscock Counties are in the Midland district (No. 8) of the Railroad Commission of Texas. Upton and Reagan Counties are in the San Angelo, (No. 7) district of the commission.
According to official records in the Midland RRC office there were 264 Spraberry producers in Dawson, Martin and Midland Counties at the end of June. During that month those wells produced a total of 869,901 barrels of oil.

At the end of June there were 62 completed Spraberry oil wells in the San Angelo RRC district. Those wells were in Upton and Reagan Counties.
The best figures available indicate those wells produced approximately 118,486 barrels of oil during the month of June.
Two Testals Added
Adding the total production for district 8 of 589,901 barrels, to the estimated production of 118,486 barrels for district 7-C gives a grand total for the two regions of 708,387 barrels for the month.
The largest producing area—both at the end of June, and at the present time—in size and in the number of barrels of oil, is the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland and Central-West Glasscock Counties.
That field accounted for 396,578 barrels of oil in June from 181 oil wells. In May the field was good for 334,183 barrels for 137 wells.
Seaboard Oil Company, discovery operator of the Spraberry Deep field of Dawson County, was the largest producer of oil in June from the sands. Seaboard's 36 wells in the above field gave up 85,689 barrels to make it the second largest Spraberry producing area.

Northeast Midland County's Germania field produced the third largest number of barrels of oil—70,694. This production was from 28 others.
Tex-Harvey Oil Company, discovery operator of the Tex-Harvey field, produced 52,185 barrels of oil from 20 wells to take second spot behind Seaboard in number of barrels produced from the Spraberry in June.
In third place was Frank and George Frankel with 43,277 barrels from 18 producers.
Production Of Other Fields
June production and number of wells for all other Spraberry sand fields in District 8 are as follows:
Driver-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland and Southwest Glasscock County, 19,368 barrels of oil from 10 wells; Glass-Spraberry field of Southwest Martin County, 1,443 barrels from one oiler; Midkiff-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County, 10,116 barrels from five producers.

RRC Sets Policy On Allowables For New Spraberry Openers

The Railroad Commission has approved a memorandum concerning the Spraberry production in West Texas, regarding allowables for wells in new areas.
At present it recognizes the following fields: Reagan County - Aldwell - Spraberry, Weddell-Spraberry, Flat Rock-Spraberry, Pembroke, Pembroke North-Spraberry, Weiner - Floyd-Spraberry.
Midland - Driver-Spraberry, Germania - Spraberry, Tex-Harvey, Dawson - Smith - Spraberry, Snowden - Spraberry, Spraberry Deep, Martin-Glass-Spraberry.
Policy Explained
Text of the memorandum follows: "It is recommended in order to restrict the number of fields in this area consistent with encouraging step-outs, that the Commission grant a discovery allowable to any wells completed in the Spraberry at a distance of 3 miles or greater from known production in one of the above fields.
"The new discovery well shall then be carried on the proration schedule in the nearest field existing above and will be governed by the existing field rules of the field in which it is carried.
"It is further recommended that the NPX allowable be granted for such a discovery well and subsequently completed wells within a 1 1/2 mile radius of this well until the sixth well is completed or until 18 months has expired, whichever comes first."

Two Wildcats Are To Be Drilled To Permian Lime In W-C Roosevelt Area

HOBBES, N. M.—Locations for two shallow Permian wildcats have been staked in West-Central Roosevelt County.
C.B. Sherman No. 1 Taylor, which will be projected to 3,500 feet, is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 25-25-30e. That puts it 26 miles west of Portales.
The other wildcat is Baker & Taylor Drilling Company No. 1 Best and McCabe. It is scheduled for 3,400 feet, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 25-25-30e.
That puts it one and one-quarter miles south and slightly east of No. 1 Taylor.
The Texas Company No. 1-AU State, wildcat in Northwest Lea County, had a show of gas, and a recovery of 43.2-gravity oil, along with oil and gas cut mud, on a drillstem test of the Wolfcamp.
The test was run from 9,710 to 9,779 feet. Tool was open three hours. Recovery came to the surface in eight minutes at the estimated rate of 200,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 2,630 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud, 1,910 feet of 43.2-gravity oil and 410 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.
Now Taking Surveys
Operator is now running electrical surveys.
Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 29-145-32e and seven miles west of the Saunders field.
The second Wolfcamp prospect for Texas in Northwest Lea County, is its No. 1-AS State, which is scheduled for completion through perforations in 5 1/2-inch casing which is set at 738 feet.
After the casing was set, operator cored to 9,802 feet, a drillstem test was attempted with packer inside casing at 9,724 feet and total depth of 9,802 feet. The packer failed and recovery was 1,620 feet of sulphur water and 240 feet of drilling mud.
Operator plans to plug back to casing point and perforate casing for completion in the section from 9,691 to 9,730 feet, where the venture flowed oil on a drillstem test.
Electrical surveys were being run at last report.
West Of Saunders Field
Texaco No. 1-AS State is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 6-15-32e and eight miles west of the Saunders field.
Oil flowed from the Devonian on a four-hour drillstem test at 11,500-11,580 feet, total depth, at Texaco No. 1-AR State, Northeast Lea County discovery eight miles north of the Gladiola field.
Gas came to the surface in 30 minutes and oil in 35 minutes. The flow was turned to pits to clean for 35 minutes. It was tested to tanks for two hours through a 5/8-inch bottomhole choke. The well flowed 32.24 barrels of 41.4-gravity oil and 18.68 barrels and 38.98 barrels the second hour.

Drill pipe is now being laid down. Electric surveys are to be taken.
On an earlier test from 11,430 to 11,455 feet, the No. 1-AR State unloaded oil and oil and gas cut mud, while a subsequent test at 11,430-11,500 feet recovered oil and gas cut mud, estimated at 80 per cent oil and oil and gas cut salt water.

Plans For Corrosion Tour Of Basin Area Are To Be Discussed

Plans for the 1951 Permian Basin Corrosion Tour will be discussed at a meeting of the Permian Basin Section of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers in Odessa Monday night.
The gathering will start at 7:30 p.m., and be held in the auditorium of the Gulf Building on West Highway 80 in the Ector County city.
Attendance Urged
All officers and members of committees, as well as all other members, are urged to attend.
E. B. Ray is section chairman; E. A. McClendon is first vice chairman; R. L. Elkins is second vice chairman, and Ollie Budrandt is secretary-treasurer.
The 1051 Permian Basin Corrosion Tour will be held October 15 and 16. Ideas will be headquarters for the affair.
Top men from the field of corrosion throughout the nation are expected to attend. Two full-day tours will be taken in air conditioned buses in this most active oil drilling and producing region in the world.
To Give First-Hand Look
This will be the first tour since 1949 when about 200 men from 16 states, the District of Columbia and Canada participated in a three-day inspection.
The tour is designed to give men in the inhibitor and prevention fields a first-hand look at types of corrosion, methods of application of inhibitors and success of a wide variety of coatings and other materials in varying types of installations.
Some of the facilities to be inspected will be bolted steel tanks, heat exchanger bundles, salt water disposal troughs, tank battery dischargers, flow lines, treaters and separators, sucker rods, pumping engines, tubing, line pipe, and others.
The tour, only undertaking of its type in the United States, started from a small auto caravan through a part of the Permian Basin in 1947. More cars joined the group in 1948 and buses were used in 1949.
Value Of Tours
Particular value is gained in the survey since many of the installations have detailed histories indicating dates of installation, type and date of treatments and the condition of such unit and its inhibitors at yearly intervals.
The National Association of Corrosion Engineers has given the project its support. However, planning and promotion is being handled by the Permian Basin section of NACE. John Shelton, National Tank Company, Midland and Odessa, is chairman of the steering committee for the tour.
The fee for both days' trips, evening report sessions, a printed copy of all proceedings and inspections and a closing night barbecue is $15.00.
The dates October 15 and 16 were chosen to precede the Southwest regional meeting of NACE in Corpus Christi October 18-20. One day is allowed for travel time to permit out-of-staters a chance to attend both functions and be away from home offices only one week.

WASHINGTON OIL— American Companies Work To Get Oil To Free World

By JOSEPH B. HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—American oil companies are working hand in hand today to get oil products to the free world, already feeling loss of Iranian output, amid warnings this may bring domestic shortages.

Only a few days ago a plan was unfolded whereby 19 American companies operating overseas would cooperate to get more oil to Western Europe and other areas which had relied upon Iran as a source.

The plan, under which oil companies taking part are promised immunity from the anti-trust laws, calls for the companies to pool their facilities and efforts for the production, refining, storing and transportation of crude oil and products.

A graphic description of what is intended comes from A. P. Frame, assistant deputy director of the Petroleum Administration for Defense. "It's like having one truck deliver milk to all the homes on a block, instead of having two trucks competing for the business, making the deliveries."

A larger export of products from the United States is contemplated under the program, and the early estimates had been in the neighborhood of a maximum of 300,000 barrels daily, an impressive figure.

This figure has now been lifted, however, by 50 per cent in an estimate of the situation given to Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH) by Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, who is also Petroleum Administrator for Defense. To Senator Bridges, who asked if the diversion to make up Iran production would mean fuel oil shortages in America, Secretary Chapman has just written:

"You are assured that everything possible will be done to make full use of all available crude oil and refining capacity in foreign areas before supplies are obtained from the United States to replace Iranian production.

"In spite of the most strenuous efforts to obtain supplies abroad, however, considerable quantities of petroleum from the United States will be required to offset completely the loss of Iranian oil.

"The amount needed from the United States is approximately 375,000 barrels daily, which represents seven per cent of our domestic consumption of petroleum in the second quarter of this year."

The figure, it should be pointed out, is more than the total military demands of our armed forces today, including forces in Korea as well as at training bases, and including ships at sea.

"The Secretary continued: "We are conscious of the fact that by completely solving the problem we may create shortages in various parts of the United States. Therefore, we are taking steps to keep informed as to the increases in exports so that if they reach proportions which we believe are detrimental to the domestic economy we can exercise our influence to stop excessive withdrawals."

"The Iranian crisis is helping the petroleum industry in its fight to obtain adequate steel to do the production, refining and transportation at home, although steel allocations are less than needs.

For the fourth quarter of this year, a total of 1,800,000 tons of steel is being made available to the

Damages To Lease In Ector Is Claimed By Midlanders, Et Al

Damages of $475,000 are asked of Phillips Petroleum Company and The Pure Oil Company in a suit brought by 17 royalty owners of lease lands in Ector County.

The suit, filed last week in Ector County district court, lists as plaintiffs: H. S. Forgeron, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cowden, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Crabb, all of Midland; F. W. Nowlin of Bexar County; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boerne; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City; Eileen G. Greenan, Carmel, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donahue, Palo Alto, Calif.; Kops Oil Company, Sabine Royalty Corporation, and Southland Royalty Company.

Land in Ector County involved was divided into two groups. Group one comprises sections 1, 12, 13, 14, 23, 24, and 25 in block 44, T-1-S, T&P survey. Group two is section 26, block 44, T-1-S, T&P survey. All the land is in Ector County.

The petition states the defendants have been taking oil and gas from the lands under terms of a lease dated Sept. 12, 1928, and entered into by Mr. and Mrs. Elliott F. Cowden and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cowden as lessors.

In the two groups of lands, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cowden are the largest holders, owning a full one-half of the one-eighth royalty in each group.

Allegations in Petitions The petition alleges that from 1942 until the present Phillips "has improperly and wrongfully used its position as operator of the lease on one hand and as owner and operator of the gasoline plant on the other to the serious detriment and injury of the plaintiffs as royalty owners under the oil and gas lease above alleged."

The plant referred to is a gasoline plant in the vicinity of the lease. Damages also are asked on five separate allegations. The plaintiffs also ask a preliminary hearing, an inspection and accounting of the lease and books of the defendant.

TIPRO Executive Protests Inequities In Pipe Allocations

AUSTIN—(AP)—Inequitable distribution of pipe among oil operators under the Petroleum Administration for Defense program is threatening "open revolt" in the industry, a spokesman for the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners claimed Saturday.

Association Executive Vice President E. J. Thompson said many operators are advocating scrapping the entire PAD program.

"Protests from our members are pouring into the association headquarters every day in increasing numbers and vehemence," Thompson wired PAD Deputy Administrator Bruce K. Brown.

"The number of independent operators with critical drilling operations who received little or no allocations of pipe for the third and fourth quarters and are thus being forced to farm out or sell their properties has reached alarming proportions. Many are in open revolt and advocate scrapping the world PAD tomorrow," he said.

Thompson urged immediate revision of the PAD allocation formula "to correct this very critical situation."

McCarran Charges Lax Enforcement Of Security Laws

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator McCarran (D-NeV) Saturday said Communist embassies in Washington "have become a huge funnel channelling spies and saboteurs into this country."

McCarran made the charge in a statement accompanying a report from a unit of the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee which he heads.

This unit was composed of Senators O'Connor (D-Md) as chairman, Jenner (R-Ind) and McCarran. The formal report said the Truman Administration has failed to make full use of its powers to rid the nation of subversive aliens.

McCarran commented: "Apparently the State and Justice Departments are too timid to use the power of the Internal Security Act to drive dangerous elements from this country."

The three senators' report was based on closed-door testimony taken here and in New York City in recent months.

The secret hearings dealt chiefly with the admission to this country of persons with diplomatic or semi-diplomatic status.

The Internal Security Law passed last September over President Truman's veto provided that even aliens with diplomatic status could be denied entry to, or deported from, the United States if their presence here would endanger the public safety.

The subcommittee's report called on the State and Justice Departments to launch a vigorous program for the enforcement of these provisions "forthwith."

It also recommended: 1. That the State Department promptly negotiate an agreement with the United Nations, defining areas in which foreigners accredited to the UN may travel in this country.

2. That President Truman have regulations issued, as provided in the security act, for the exclusion of ambassadors, ministers and consular officers whose admission to this country would endanger the public safety.

The law passed by Congress last year does not bar an alien diplomat from the United States solely because he belongs to the Communist Party, but he may be excluded if he comes here to engage in espionage of subversive activity.

Similarly, he may be deported under the law if he engaged in such activity while in the United States.

Ambassadors and other top diplomats, as distinguished from employees in embassies, are subject to exclusion under the law, however, only in accord with such regulations as the President may deem necessary.

Testimony brought out that Truman has not issued any regulations of this kind.

State Department officials told the committee "adverse information" on 83 diplomats or persons attached to international organizations in this country has been obtained since their arrival in the United States.

They said the information ranged from a chance remark that somebody made to "actual substantial evidence." They referred to them as current cases but said some of the persons have departed voluntarily.

New Rail Freight Rates To Go Into Effect August 28

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Higher railroad freight rates on everything but grain and grain products probably will go into effect August 28.

The ICC three days ago authorized a boost in most rail freight rates of nine per cent east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac, and six per cent in Texas and elsewhere.

The ICC made the six per cent rise effective nationally on grain and grain products. The commission stipulated the public should have 15 days prior notice.

This was amended Friday to require 30 days' notice for the new grain schedule.

The Association of American Railroads said it was told the higher tariffs would be ready for display August 13. That would make the effective dates September 12 for grain products, and August 28 for other shipments.

Beauty Seeks Share Of Harriman Estate

BOSTON—(AP)—A 38-year-old former beauty contest winner brought a $500,000 suit Friday against the estate of the late Henry L. Harriman, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, claiming she "devoted" herself to him 14 years.

The suit was brought by Alice J. Nelson of Boston, who in the early Thirties won a contest "for having the most beautiful legs in New England."

She claims she maintained a home for Harriman from October, 1936, until his death at 77 in July, 1950.

Harriman left the bulk of his estate of more than $1,000,000 to his son, Gordon Harriman of Dallas.

OPS Eyes 10 Millions In Penalties

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Price Enforcement Director Edward P. Morgan said Saturday he is investigating 50 major cases of alleged price ceiling violations that could result in the return of $10,000,000 to the government and consumers.

Representative Curtis (R-Mo) meanwhile accused the Administration of failing to hold the line on prices and wages, and said its predictions of a five to eight per cent rise in living costs was a deliberate encouragement to "scare buying."

Morgan said details on the 50 cases could not be disclosed now, but he said many involve some of the largest business concerns. He said one case "has possible international ramifications and involves about $3,000,000 in illegal profits."

In many cases, Morgan said, the price agency is forcing firms found guilty of violations to make restitution to customers. In others, where there is no clear method for repayment, the money is paid to the U. S. Treasury.

Morgan told a reporter that in July, more than $250,000 was recovered through settlements brought about by Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) agents. Of this amount, he said, $117,294 was paid to the Treasury and the balance was refunded to customers. Settlements were reached in 130 cases.

These actions were taken under the old economics control law, which Congress has now replaced with a new one.

Administration officials Saturday passed the word they plan the "toughest possible" enforcement of the new law.

On the other hand, Representative Curtis said in his statement, "It has been clear for some time" President Truman and his stabilization lieutenants "have no intention of holding the line on prices."

Curtis and other Republicans maintain the new law could curb inflation if the Administration uses it properly.

Curtis suggested that Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnson and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle resign "so that someone who can hold the line on prices and wages can take over."

World War Could Break This Autumn, Says Ex-Diplomat

STOCKBRIDGE, MASS. — (AP) — World War III could break this Autumn with a Russian attack on Yugoslavia, former Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle, Jr., said Saturday.

He said intelligence experts figure the chances of war about 50-50, although he personally thought "the climax will not come for another year."

Berle told the annual forum of the Laurel Hill Association, a community improvement society, that Russia plans a triple drive for world power through Southeast Asia, Iran and the Balkans.

"We are in the shadow of a diplomatic crisis more dangerous than we have been willing to recognize," he declared. "This crisis is moving faster and more violently than the headlines indicate. It could mean World War III this Autumn."

"The Russian satellite countries hunger for freedom," Berle declared. He continued: "The Kremlin empire, seen from within, is not so stable, not so strong, and perhaps, in the final account, not so dangerous as it looks from the outside."

"From practically all of the area between the Russian border and the Iron Curtain comes increasing evidence that the satellite armies, if put in motion, are as likely to march against the Russians as for them—if only America gives them diplomatic reason and military possibility to do so."

"The Russians have at least learned that overt military action will precipitate conflict," he went on. "As of the moment they are apparently not prepared to take that cosmic gamble — which gives America a breathing space in which to work."

The title "admiral" comes from the Arabian words "Amir al Bahr," meaning "Ruler of the Sea."

"MO." CORN THAN IOWA—Missouri, that's where the tall corn grows, too, as Phyllis and Dolores Macy of Gallatin, Mo., demonstrate. The two girls are dwarfed by the tall corn stalks on their father's farm, which has been chosen as the site of the Missouri mechanical-corn-picking contest.

Navy's New Chief Calls On U. S. To Sweat For Liberty

CHARLESTON, W. VA. — (AP) — Adm. William M. Fechteler, new Navy chief, Saturday night called on Americans to work until they sweat to save their liberties from the threat of Communist warfare.

"If rivers of perspiration can save one drop of blood, then it is well worth while," said the chief of Naval operations.

"World communism has shown its hand," Fechteler said in an address prepared for the West Virginia convention of the American Legion. "It is all too obvious now that they (the Communists) seek to rule the world, and that only strength can deter them. Therefore we must be strong and remain strong as long as there is any possibility for the Communists to capitalize on weakness."

"Our armed forces must be brought to adequate strength and kept at that strength as long as Communist military might is capable of threatening any part of the free world."

"Regardless of the outcome in Korea, we cannot afford to drop our guard for one instant, because that instant could well mark the death knell of liberty throughout the world."

"To do this will require considerable sweat on the part of every American. Our factories must produce food for America and for many of our starving friends."

Jets Crash—

Second Lt. Edward T. Thornton, 25, of Wetumpka, Ala. Lt. Thornton's plane disappeared from a formation of four near Cedar Lake, Texas, 70 miles northwest of Big Spring.

The three other jets landed at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Texas. The leader said the plane disappeared after going into erratic maneuvers. Shortly afterwards, he saw a bright flash of light on the ground below the flight.

The planes were flying from Nellis to Kirtland at Albuquerque, N. M., Kelly at San Antonio, Tucker in Oklahoma and back to Nellis. Lt. Thornton graduated from Goodfellow last October.

The Catalina Mountains were so named because of the number of wildcats originally found in that region.

Truce Teams—

The broadcast said Nam criticized the UN truce team for "a rash and irresponsible attitude" on the buffer zone issue.

The Allied delegation wants a zone generally following the present battlefield, most of which is inside North Korea. However, Joy has told the Reds the UN is willing to discuss "possible adjustments."

It was Nam II's refusal to comment on any adjustments that precipitated two hours and 11 minutes of unbroken silence during Friday's meeting.

Thus far, agreement has been reached on only one agenda item—approval of the agenda itself. The buffer zone issue is item two. There are three others: a system of inspection behind rival lines, exchange of prisoners of war, and recommendations for eventual withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

covered with ice. At some places the hail was three feet thick. When the sun came out later the whole field fogged up just like a refrigerator with the door open.

Along with the hail, which caused up to $1,500,000 damage to South Plains cotton, came widespread, though light, rains. They brought heat relief and fanned out beyond the hail area, boosting prospects in fields where cotton has been deteriorating rapidly from the heat.

In Lubbock at the height of the storm it became so dark car and street lights were turned on. Many cars were stalled as the sudden downpour of rain raised water hubcap deep. Thirty miles southwest of Lubbock, wind accompanying hail knocked over an empty cotton warehouse. Pieces were scattered over five acres.

The temperature fell from 85 to 69 in two hours. The rain ranged from 2 1/2 inches at Slaton to traces elsewhere. Reports from the Santa Fe Railroad at Lubbock included: Seagraves, .13 inch; Post 82; Brownfield, Leveland, Littlefield, Shallowater, .50 each; Clovis, .25; Muleshoe, .65; Anson, one inch; Hale Center, .25; Plainview, .75; Canyon, 1.50.

Five Of Six Burned In Airplane Blaze Still In Hospital

HOUSTON — (AP) — The charred ruins of the $100,000 Lockheed Lodestar which burned at the Municipal Airport Friday, sending six persons to hospitals, were probed by CAA inspectors Saturday in an effort to determine the cause of the fire.

Five of the six persons who suffered serious burns in the plane fire remained in the hospital. The pilot and co-pilot, P. Gallord Mahoney, 32, and Thomas Ellis, 41, both of Fort Worth, are in very serious condition.

In fair condition are Richard B. Moncrief, 29, Fort Worth; his wife, Mrs. Mary D. Moncrief, also 29, and Bill Waggoner, 30, of Wichita Falls, a University of Oklahoma student. Webb Walker, Jr., 30 a Fort Worth attorney, was discharged after treatment for his burns.

The plane landed at the Municipal Airport after radiating the control tower that its left engine was afire. The craft was destroyed by fire after landing.

FBI Arrests—

Greenville, Texas, "for a song" and needed $35,286.78 to effect the deal. She gave them the money by check. They cashed it in an El Paso bank in $1,000 bills, then fled.

The FBI said Pereira had been married three times previously and had turned the automobile over to one of his former wives. They said he claimed to have lost the money in a Juarez, Mexico, gambling house.

Both defendants have a criminal record, the FBI said. The FBI said the suspects were arrested shortly after they bade farewell to the millionaire and his daughter, who was receiving the attentions of one of the men.

The millionaire and his daughter were not identified. Neither was it disclosed how the suspects were traced to the hotel.

Known Rail Crash Death Total 11

SIMMESPORT, LA. — (AP) — The death toll of the head-on collision of a Marine troop train and a passenger streamliner rose to 11 known dead Saturday.

Eight victims of Friday's crash, which injured at least 60 persons, had been identified before rescue workers cut through the twisted wreckage Saturday and found three more bodies, one believed to be the body of a Marine.

Salvage crews continued to hunt through the wreckage for the bodies of other possible dead or injured. Officials of the Kansas City Southern Railway, which operated both trains, said they believed all bodies had been recovered.

The bodies found Saturday were charred beyond recognition, Coroner J. C. Robb said. J. K. Cunningham, Paris, Texas, died of a heart ailment following the collision here.

The other seven identified dead all were members of the two train crews.

New Quarterhorse Record Claimed In Denver Event

DENVER — (AP) — What was called a new world record for 440 yards by Quarterhorses was set here Saturday by Bright Eyes, five-year-old mare owned by C. L. Maddon of Albuquerque, N. M.

It finished two lengths ahead of a field of eight in 21.8 seconds. The previous record for Quarterhorses for the distance was 22 seconds by Miss Princess in a match race at Del Rio, Texas, against Barbara B in 1936.

Bright Eyes paid $3, $2.40 and $2.40. Second was Barbara L., paying $2.80 and $2.40. Stardeck P paid $2.40 to show.

The record will not be official until verified by the American Quarterhorse Racing Association at Tucson, Ariz.

The horse is a half-sister of Encantadora, which set a world record for five furlongs at the same track, Centennial Park, on Thursday. Jockey Milo Trevino pushed the mare to lead all the way.

Governor Wright To Support White In Mississippi

JACKSON, MISS. — (AP) — Gov. Fielding L. Wright Saturday threw his full personal support to former Gov. Hugh White in the race for governor of Mississippi.

At the same time White opened his second primary campaign with speeches at Carthage and Philadelphia. In them he accused his opponent, Paul B. Johnson, Jr., of being friendly to President Truman's supporters in the state.

The second primary is August 28. Johnson's headquarters did not break the silence it has maintained since last Tuesday's balloting.

Wright, who defeated Johnson in the first primary in 1947, made it plain he did not intend to take an active part in the White-Johnson battle. He kept out of the first primary war.

In Mississippi, a governor may not succeed himself in office. U. S. Senator James O. Eastland's open support of Johnson is the only such action by any officials on a state-wide basis so far in the campaign. Eastland flew here Friday from Washington to confer with Johnson.

Franks allowed a bases-empty home run to Julio de la Toore in the first inning, a single to Rudy Escobar in the second, then shut the door until Midland got its remaining hits in the seventh frame. Franks struck out nine in registering his twenty-sixth win of the year.

Hoot Evers Sparks Tigers' 7-4 Victory
DETROIT — (P) — Outfielder Hoot Evers smashed in five runs with a home run and a double to spark a 7-4 win for the Detroit Tigers over the St. Louis Browns Saturday.

They're Still Swimming The Bloomin' Channel

DOVER, ENGLAND — (P) — Twenty swimmers who plan a mass attempt to swim the channel Monday sailed for their French coast starting point Saturday.

The hopefuls — seven are women — will compete for $2,800 prizes put up by Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail. In last year's mass swim, 24 started from the French coast and nine prevailed.

Starr Pitches Sens To 7-1 Win Over Sox
BOSTON — (P) — Dick Starr gave up only seven hits Saturday in pitching the Washington Senators to a 7-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

The Senators actually won the game when Eddie Yost belted a three-run homer over the wall in left in the fourth. It was his seventh of the season.

FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS
ATHENS, GA. — (NEA) — Tackle Bobby Anglin of Georgia is the son of H. L. Anglin, heavyweight wrestling champion of the Atlantic Fleet in World War I as a Marine.

U. S. Davis Cup Doubles Team Sews Up Canada Series
MONTREAL — (P) — America's new Davis Cup doubles combination of Tony Trabert and Budge Patty made a slam-bang debut Saturday with a 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 demolition of Canada's Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon that clinched the North American zone title for Uncle Sam.

The victory assured the U. S. team a trip to Australia next winter to try conclusions with Sweden in the inter-zone finals.

For the second day the crowd at the Mount Royal Tennis Club saw its champions hopelessly routed as the two Americans, meshing their powerful games as though they had been playing together for years, ran the score in the series to 3-0 and took all the fun out of Sunday's concluding singles matches.

Capt. Frank Shields' hopefuls didn't lose a set in the two days. Trabert, the individual hero of the rout, crushed Lorne Main in Friday's opener, and Dick Savitt took care of Macken. To this point, in sweeping the boards on this continent, the Americans have won 13 straight matches against Japan, Mexico and Canada.

Pro-Am Tourney Set For Ranchland Hill
More than 120 golfers are expected to tee off at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the one-day Midland Pro-Am Golf Tournament at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

The field is expected to be an attractive one, as most of the golfers in Odeasa's four-day pro-am tournament probably will play in the matches here.

All play will be 18-holes, with pros and amateurs drawing for pairings.

Ranchland Hill officials Saturday urged all Midlanders entering to register either Sunday or Monday, in order to speed up play Tuesday morning.

One of the most stunning upsets in American horse racing occurred when Jim Dandy, a 100 to 1 shot, won the Travers Stakes.

Help Wanted--For Some Midland Kids

Help wanted! Midland's Little Leaguers have earned the right to enter the Regional Little League tournament at Houston Thursday and Friday.

But, to take the boys, it's going to cost, roughly, $850. About $250 of that amount still is needed.

A drive was underway Saturday to raise the money. It needs to be raised in a hurry, as the boys must leave either Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

John J. Redfern, Jr. is chairman of the Little League Championship Fund to raise the money. Firms and individuals have kicked in nicely—but $250 more is needed.

Here are the men who will take your money for the cause: Dave Henderson, Bill Hillin, Everett Smith, Aaron W. Paris, Earl Robinson, Louis Williams, Bob Meyers, Larry King, J. M. McDonald, Ted Thompson, John P. Butler, Delbert Downing and Don Oliver.

Midland will play a team from Central Texas at 5 p.m. Thursday in the meet. The Midland kids now are one of the Nations 32 top Little League teams. More than 100 leagues started the season—or, about 6,400 teams.

If the Midland boys win the Houston meet, they'll leave Friday night for the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

Teams from Louisiana, Mississippi, Central and East Texas, West Texas and New Mexico will compete in the Houston tourney.

Midland would like to be there and win. Won't you lend a helping hand?

Only Two Of Army Varsity Men Return
WEST POINT, N. Y. — (P) — Army's 1951 football team will come from a squad composed of a small part of last year's varsity, 19 from the 1950 plebe outfit, 10 from the "B" squad and perhaps some members of the class that entered the academy this summer.

The 31-man roster released by the academy listed only two members of last year's 45-man "A" squad. They are Ed Weaver and John Hroback, both ends.

The team that was expected to again make Army a gridiron power was torn asunder by the directive approving dismissal of 90 students for violating the academy's honor code.

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, whose quarterbacking son is one of the players lost, doubts if Army can find enough players to make the squad as numerically strong as last fall.

"We'll get what we can to add to the squad," he said. "But I'm pretty sure we won't be able to round up a full complement. But we'll do all we can with what we have."

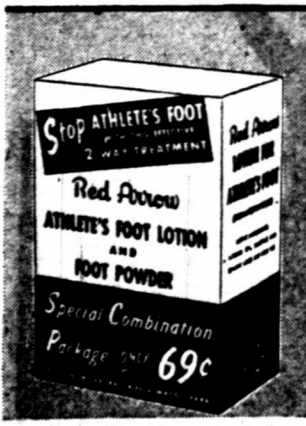

Army can use plebes but Blaik doesn't look for much help in that direction.

"The academic load is too tough for a plebe," he said. "There's a possibility that we can find one or two unusually bright ones who may fit in. I'm fundamentally opposed to playing freshmen but under these conditions, now we may be forced to do so."

"But," he added ruefully, "I guess we can take a losing season."

Cardinals, Lanier Blank Redlegs, 2-0

ST. LOUIS — (P) — Max Lanier pitched one of the best games of his long career by hurling the St. Louis Cardinals to a two-hit, 2-0 shutout over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday night.

A pair of singles by Ted Kluszewski were the only hit off Lanier, who faced only 27 batters — the minimum three per inning.

The Reds had only three base runners.

Joe Adcock was safe on an error by Billy Johnson in the second inning, but Lanier picked him off first.

The first hit off Lanier came in the third when Kluszewski singled to center. The bases were cleared when Willard Ramsdell bounced into a double play.

Kluszewski singled again in the sixth, and went to second when Wally Westlake fumbled the ball for an error. Again Ramsdell hit into a double play.

The score: R H E
Cincinnati 000 000 000—0 2 1
St. Louis 000 002 00x—2 7 2
Ramsdell and Pramesa; Lanier and D. Rice.

The Syracuse Nationals in the National Basketball Association will play in Syracuse's $2,500,000 Onondaga County War Memorial next season.

Yanks Bop Lowly A's In Eleventh

PHILADELPHIA — (P) — The New York Yankees, always tough when the pressure is great, called on another old pro Saturday for a clutch hit and Yogi Berra delivered with a two-run single in the eleventh inning to give the Bronx Bombers a 7 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Manager Casey Stengel's defending champions thus gained a six-hour hold on undisputed possession of first place in the bitter American League pennant race. They pulled half a game ahead of the Cleveland Indians, who deadlocked the race for a third straight day by beating the Chicago White Sox Saturday night, 2-1.

Drawn-Out Contest
It took three hours and 14 minutes for the Yankees to turn back the stubborn seventh-place Athletics in a game of humpback hits and sloppy fielding. When it was over, Left-hander Bob Kuzava, working in relief of Chief Allie Reynolds, had his eighth victory of the season as against five defeats, while seven-time winner Alex Kellner dropped his eleventh of the year, also in a relief chore.

Kellner ran into disaster at the start of the eleventh when Phil Rizzuto hit a Texas League double that Left Fielder Gus Zernial missed a shoestring catch on. Kuzava tried to bunt, but failed and finally struck out.

Gil McDougald walked, and Bobby Brown pumped his fourth single of the game to center.

That brought up Berra, who promptly belted a two-run single to center. A third run scored on the hit when Center Fielder Dave Philley threw wild over Catcher Joe Tipton's head.

The score: R H E
New York 000 021 001 03—7 13 1
Philadelphia 000 200 101 00—4 9 1
Reynolds, Kuzava and Berra; Fowler, Kellner and Tipton.

Midland Little Leaguers Win

Jim Owens Hero Of Midland's Triumph

Diszy Dean, the ol' St. Louis Cardinal hurler, invaded the North with his choice "Deanians" from the flatlands of Texas and the hills of Arkansas, taking along his Southern drawl.

Now, although not in a Major League manner, the North has returned the favor.

For Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal, Midland pitcher and the pride of Flatbush, has invaded Texas in general and Midland in particular with a choice selection of "Brooklynese."

Both of the aforementioned gentlemen chose the same profession to earn their means of livelihood—to wit: throwing a baseball with a certain amount of stuff and speed, designed to goose-egg opposing batters. Although Dean met with a greater amount of success than has Blumenthal to date, their cases are similar in many respects.

While Dis talked at great length about "Me 'n Paul"—with no visible show of modesty—Blumenthal talks about "Me 'n Paw." He's no shrinking violet, either.

Blumenthal's greatest concern when he takes the mound is what "Pa" will think about his performance. "Pa" is Julius Blumenthal who resides, of course, in little of New York.

"He takes the papers wherever I play," says New York's gift to Texas, "and sees both the good and the bad. I can't just send him the clippings I'd like to send."

Both the Indian pitcher and his father have high hopes of Bruce hurling in New York someday—either for or against the Giants or Yankees.

The 22-year-old ex-Columbia University student would like to remain in Midland this winter if he can find a "good job." He says he might marry a Midland girl—but right now, he isn't naming names.

KR

Not averse to publicity, Blumenthal gets a lot of not-so-gentle kidding from his Indian teammates when he thumbs through the papers to read of his mound feats. His former roommate here—Woody Pennington—swore The Reporter-Telegram's circulation jumped 10 per cent when Gabby's press notices were favorable.

Recently when Blumenthal got a good press in the San Angelo paper after hurling a game there against the Colts, he icily informed us: "San Angelo's writer thinks more of me than you do." On another occasion, he displayed with a short story about his baseball career, which appeared in the New York World-Telegram.

Still, you have to give the devil his due.

Gabby can and does pitch some good baseball. He is the first to admit he works better under pressure. Just let the opposition load the sacks with no outs, and Blumenthal will pitch himself out of the hole more times than the opposition likes to remember. One minute he's as wild as an untamed Apache and the next moment he's as cool as the proverbial cucumber.

Dean used to walk batters purposely—or at least he claimed he did—then pitch himself out of trouble.

Gabby denies such shenanigans, but admits he doesn't pitch his heart out when things are going smoothly, preferring to "pace" himself.

"That's the mark of greatness," he'll tell you not too modestly, "I can bear down when I have to."

The big hurler carries on a lot of banter when he's playing. Such tricks as tossing his bat over his head when halfway to first base after hitting the ball, crooning love songs to the opposing catchers and passing the time of day with umpires between pitches is, for him, nothing unusual.

This is his first year as a pitcher. Gabby started as a shortstop at Columbia Prep, located in the heart of New York City. (Actually, Blumenthal is from Manhattan, not Brooklyn, although his talk and manner would have you believe he's a Flatbusher. The difference is a river and a mighty long bridge.)

After entering pro baseball as a catcher in the New York Giants' system and hitting about .300 for a spell, Blumenthal found himself gathering splinters on a bench the larger part of two years because of numerous bad-luck injuries.

"So," says Gabby, "I says to myself: 'Why not pitch, Bruce old boy? The hours are shorter and the pay is as good!'"

He's done well enough to have Manager Zeke Bonura thinking of selling him to a higher league after the current season is over, according to Blumenthal's own account of the matter.

What does the big right-hander think about his own pitching future?

"With the exception of maybe Eddie Jacome, I think I'm as good as any pitcher in the Longhorn League," he told your reporter recently. And from the way he said it, you can see he really thinks so.

Who knows? Perhaps he is.

Midland's Little League All-Stars have earned a trip to Houston and the Regional Little League playoffs.

The classy Midland team defeated Odessa's National League champions, 6-2, Friday afternoon at Wadley Park in a tough ball game to earn the right to greater things.

Jim Owens, Midland's 12-year-old who towers just over six feet tall, was the hero of the Friday triumph.

Owens limited Odessa to three hits, struck out 11 and slammed out a home run and two doubles in three times at bat.

Midland had defeated Abilene, 13-3, Thursday to advance to the finals in the District Four Championship Tournament here. Odessa had an 8-3 verdict over El Paso.

Owens took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, getting two of its three hits.

But Owens remedied the situation in the fourth frame, banging out a towering home run over the left field wall, 185-feet away. It cleared the barrier with feet to spare, and came just after Frank Parks had singled.

In the sixth, Midland scored four runs on singles by Fred Hedges, Arthur Adams, Larry Cooper and a double by Owens. Odessa scored in the last frame on a single by loser Ray Stoker, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.

LITTLE LEAGUE FOOTNOTES—After the Friday win, Midland's youngsters were treated to soft drinks by members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The Eagles also built the fence at Wadley Park for the tournament.

Midland's lumber houses donated the materials.

The Midland youngsters are going to need about $300 to defray expenses to the Houston tournament. . . . And the Junior Baseball Association's funds are inadequate.

Officials probably will call on Midlanders to help carry the load.

Let's help the kids. . . . They've done their part. . . . A couple of the youngsters really glared at the umpires Friday, and jawed at them a bit but everything went off fairly smoothly.

You couldn't blame the boys—both Odessa and Midland—for wanting to get the breaks, and the Houston trip. . . . Congrats to Lewis Williams, Bob Myers, Bob Hillin, John Redfern, Jr., and others who worked hard with the Midland boys this season.

Guerrero Wins Two For Odessa Team

By The Associated Press

A fellow who pitches 15 innings in one night, allows only eight hits and wins two games rightfully can claim the title of iron man.

That's what Juan Guerrero did Friday night as he hurled Odessa into second place in the Longhorn League.

Juan gave up six hits as Odessa won the first game, 4-3, over Sweetwater. In the second Guerrero set Sweetwater down with two hits while Odessa was winning, 3-2.

Roswell, second place in the race, struggled nine innings to an 11-11 tie with Midland in a game called because of the midnight curfew rule. It was halted three times by rain.

Three Roswell players were thumbed out of the game, Al Monchak, Ed Whitney and Tom Sawyer.

Big Spring blasted Artesia, 15-1, with Pancho Perez setting the losers down with seven hits.

The victory pushed Big Spring into a tie with Roswell for the third spot.

San Angelo at Vernon was postponed by rain.

Cupid Eliminates Wood, Trice From Permian Bowl Game

ODESSA—Cupid is taking its toll on the Permian Bowl Football squads, due to meet here Friday night.

Two players will not appear because of recent marriages. Midland's Bob Wood, a 295-pound tackle, will not compete here. He recently was married and announced to officials he will not play with the West squad as scheduled.

San Angelo's Dwight Trice, a back listed for duty with the East team, was to get married Saturday and said he would not play in the game.

Wood will be replaced by Bobby McClain, 200-pound Stanton end who will play tackle. Bob Kosar, an all-district back at Cleburne the last two seasons, will replace Trice.

The two teams report to Odessa Sunday to begin workouts.

The only one hit game pitched during the 1948 American League season was by Frank Shea of the Yankees. The hit was made by opposing hurler, Hal Newhouser of the Tigers.

Midlanders To Play In Odessa Tourney

ODESSA —(P)— With 23 teams in the fold, Odessa $7,500 Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament this weekend shapes up as the strongest in its three-year history.

Such pros as Harry Todd, Dallas; Morris Williams, Jr., Austin and Midland; Iverson Martin, Fort Worth; Dick Turner, Amarillo, and Ray Hill, Houston, will be battling for $1,500 which goes to the pro on the winning team.

Top amateurs Billy Maxwell and Bob French, Odessa; Don January and Dick Martin, Dallas; Buddy Weaver, Houston, and Joe Conrad, San Antonio, already are in the entry list.

The 72-hole best low ball medal play meet opens Thursday and continues through Sunday. Each team will fire an 18-hole round each day.

The entry list includes: Boyd Huff, Vann Ligon, Abe Beckman and Jerry Green, all of Midland.

Benny Friedman, Brandeis University's head football coach, has traveled more than 25,000 miles this year to address fund rallies on behalf of the new university.

Bums Extend Lead In Loop To 13 Games

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their National League lead to 13 games Saturday as they split a doubleheader with the Boston Braves, winning the opener, 8-1, but losing the nightcap, 8-4.

Big Ralph Branca turned in his tenth victory in the opener. Branca allowed only six hits and fanned 10 in besting Warren Spahn. Sid Gordon homered in the second inning for the lone Boston run.

Duke Snider launched the Dodger attack with a two-run homer in the first inning. The Dodgers picked up single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and salted the game away with three runs in the sixth on singles by Gil Hodges, Wayne Tedwilliger, Branca and Carl Furillo.

The nightcap was a tight battle until the ninth when Gordon socked a two-out, three-run homer off relief pitcher Clem Labine.

Brooklyn rallied in the last of the ninth, scoring once and leading the bases with two out, but Max Surkont fanned Gil Hodges to end the game.

Lefty Johnny Schmitz, making his sixth start for Brooklyn again, failed to last. Smith nursed a 3-2 lead until the sixth inning when the Braves scored three runs to take command. Johnny Logan's two-run single was the big blow of the rally.

TO BE FINISHED LATER— Indians, Rocket Team In 11-11 Nine-Inning Game

ROSWELL, N. M.—The Longhorn League baseball game between the Midland Indians and the Roswell Rockets ended in an 11-11 tie here Friday night, after the teams took four hours, 35 minutes to play nine full innings.

The game was stopped by rain on three occasions. All batting and fielding averages will stand for the game, to be finished at a later date. When Midland makes its last trip of the year to Roswell, the game will begin in the top of the tenth inning with the score tied at 11-11. It was called because of the midnight curfew Friday night.

Midland rallied in the ninth for seven runs, only to see Roswell come back with four runs in the bottom of the ninth and tie it up. Jess Grimes doubled as Dean Franks scored the deadlocking run off Dave McKenzie.

Bill Reed started for Midland, but was ushered out early by Roswell's booming bats.

A double by Hayden White, singles by Kenny Jones, Gordon Tanner, Zeke Bonura, Dick Campbell, Scooter Hughes, a walk to Dave McKenzie and a three-run double by Stan (The Man) Wilcox gave Midland seven tallies in the top of the ninth.

At Least It Keeps 'Em From Cribbing

WILLIAMSBURG, VA.—(AP)—R. N. (Rube) McCray resigned abruptly Saturday as head football coach and athletic director at the College of William and Mary.

McCray's resignation followed disclosures that college officials are probing alleged "malpractices" by members of the athletic department in the academic grading of student athletes.

Simultaneously, Barney Wilson, head coach of William and Mary's basketball team, handed in his resignation to President John Pomfret.

News of the school's investigation into the grading of athletes came in a statement from Al Vandeweghe, a former member of McCray's football staff, who made public a letter from William and Mary Dean Nelson Marshall "absolving" Vandeweghe of any complicity in the "malpractices."

Vandeweghe's statement revealed that Dr. Marshall and other administrative officials here had evidence that the records of high school athletes have been altered in some instances to make them academically eligible to enter the college.

The Sugar Bowl record for first downs in one game is 25 set in 1944 by Georgia Tech in a 20-18 victory over Tulsa.

Tribe Wins To Hold On With Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Early Wynn hit a home run in the seventh inning Saturday night for a 2 to 1 victory by the Cleveland Indians over the Chicago White Sox, keeping the Tribe in a first-place tie with the New York Yankees.

It was Wynn's first homer of the season.

Cleveland Third Baseman Al Rosen hit a one-run homer in the second to tie the score after Eddie Robinson leading off in the same inning, had raised a four-bagger over the right field fence.

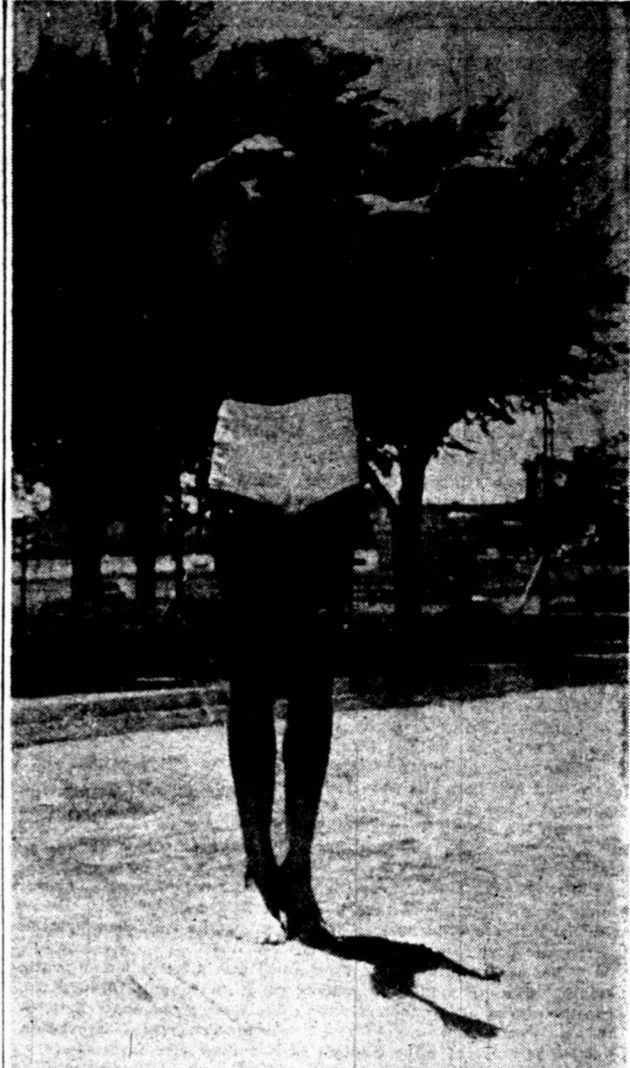

Ninth In Row
It was the Tribe's ninth straight win, and the second in a row over the Sox.

Cleveland had to win this one to stay level with the Yanks, who had squeezed out a 11-inning, 7 to 4 victory Saturday afternoon over the Philadelphia Athletics.

A ladies night crowd of 70,119—paid attendance was 58,040—saw Wynn handout the Sox on four hits. He walked only one batter, as two were out in the ninth, and struck out three.

The mound loser was Joe Dobson, off whom the Indians collected all of their hits in the seven innings he worked. Dobson had beaten the Indians and Wynn twice this season.

LITTLE DIVER—Dennis Burton, 11-year-old star diver of the Midland JayCee swim team, will travel with the team to Houston Sunday. The Midland team will compete in the state TAAF splash meet.

Playing Good Ball, But It's A Long Way To Fourth Slot

For the last 24 games in the Longhorn League, Midland's Indians have been the hottest team in the league. They've won 18 of 24 games, playing at a .750 clip.

But, even with such a percentage, and leading the league during that time in games won and lost, they've gained little on other Longhorn League teams. The Tribe has gained only two and one-half games on the fourth-place Odessa, and three and one-half on fifth place Vernon.

Here's the way the teams have played during Midland's 24-game hot streak:

W L Pct.
Midland.....18 6 .750
San Angelo.....14 10 .583
Roswell.....14 10 .583
Big Spring.....12 12 .500
Vernon.....12 12 .500
Odessa.....11 13 .458
Sweetwater.....10 14 .417
Artesia.....4 20 .167

With 30 games left to go—(All figures exclude last Friday and Saturday night games)—Midland is 12 and one-half games from the first division, and eight and one-half from fifth place.

Thirty games ago, let's take a look at the situation. At that time, Midland was in seventh place, the same distance from fourth it now is. The Indians were 12 games out of fifth and one and one-half away from the spot they now hold—seventh. In the last 30 games, the teams have played like this:

W L Pct.
Midland.....19 11 .633
Roswell.....19 11 .633
San Angelo.....18 12 .600
Odessa.....18 12 .600
Big Spring.....15 15 .500
Vernon.....13 17 .433
Sweetwater.....11 19 .367
Artesia.....6 24 .200

So, it easily can be seen, although the Tribe has played good baseball, won a large number of games and posted a good percentage mark—well, it's just too far to the first division.

Unless Midland can play Artesia for the rest of the season, Midland fans had best be resigned to wait until next year.

Ken Hulen Winner Of Caddie Tourney

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Ken Hulen of San Antonio won the 1951 State Caddie Golf Tournament here Saturday by defeating John Procter of New Braunfels, 2 and 1, in the 36-hole finals.

Procter led Hulen through 26 holes, before Hulen won the twenty-seventh with a birdie.

JayCee Team Loses In Dallas Tourney

DALLAS—Midland's JayCee Short-horn League team was eliminated from state play in the double-elimination state playoff here Friday night. San Angelo beat the Midland nine, 11-5. Midland got but four hits. Roberts got the loss for Midland.

Thursday night, Harrison Fence of Dallas defeated Midland 2-0 in the first game. Midland could get but one hit and committed 14 errors.

The Dallas team Friday night won the tournament by beating San Angelo, 14-0, after San Angelo had bested Midland.

Roberts Blanks Giants, 4 To 0

NEW YORK (AP)—Robin Roberts pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to within 1 1/2 games of second place New York Saturday as he blanked the Giants, 4-0, on seven hits.

The victory was Roberts' sixteenth of the season, his fifth straight and fifth shutout.

Home runs by Andy Seminick and Ralph Caballero accounted for half of the Phil's runs off Jim Hearn and George Spencer.

The score: R H E
Philadelphia.....001 000 102-4 10 0
New York.....000 000 000-0 7 1
Roberts and Seminick; Hearn, Spencer and Noble.

Demaret Whirls To Three-Stroke Lead In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO — (AP) — Pace-setting Jimmy Demaret, rainbow-hued dude of the fairways, Saturday ignored the pressure of matching strokes with U. S. Open Champion Ben Hogan and whirled to a three-stroke lead at the 54-hole mark of the $50,000 "World" title golf meet.

Demaret, who sent a 190-yard, three-iron shot screaming from the rough into the fourth cup for his third eagle in three brilliant rounds, wrought a six-under-par 66 for a three-quarter total of 202, 14 under standard.

The 202 count for 54 holes matched Tam's 54-hole competitive mark set by Byron Nelson in 1945, when Nelson established a course 72-hole record of 200, nineteen under par.

That put the 41-year-old Ojai, Calif., dandy three strokes ahead of dogged Clayton Heafner, the bulking pro from Charlotte, N. C., whose second straight 68 gave him 205.

Hogan Five Strokes Back
Bracketed five strokes behind Demaret in the 64-player scramble for golf's biggest top prize, $12,500, were Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead and South Africa's Bobby Locke, whose 64 was the day's best round.

Demaret, the 36-hole leader at 134 and a co-leader of the first round with 87, was teamed with Hogan in the last two some off the tee.

Instead of wailing, as some suspected he might, playing along with the winner of three of the last four U. S. Open titles, Demaret boldly stroked 32-34 over Tam's par 36-36 — 72, 6,815 rolling acres.

It was Hogan who proved more affected by the pressure of trying to catch the already-finished Heafner. Little Ben shot 36-34—70, his poorest round, after 68-69.

Notched at 208, six strokes behind Demaret, were Pete Cooper, Laxson Little and Bob Hamilton. Huddled at 209 were four players, Jack Burke, Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furyol and Johnny Palmer.

Last year's world winner, Henry Ransom, was far outdistanced with 223, while Fred Hawkins of El Paso had a 216.

Norman Von Nida of Sydney, Australia, who was the halfway leader among the 19 foreign entries at 141, fell four strokes behind the new international pace setter, Locke, with a 76 for 211.

Betsy Holds Lead
In the concurrent $6,000 Women's "World," Betsy Rawls, Austin, Texas, continued to show her heels to Defending Champion Babe Zaharias.

Miss Rawls fired a third-round 76 for a 54-hole aggregate of 223, five under women's par and two strokes ahead of Mrs. Zaharias and Patty Berg, tied at 225. Babe picked up two strokes on Miss Rawls with the best round among the 19-player field, 37-37—74. Miss Berg shot even par 76.

Five strokes behind Miss Rawls, 23-year-old national runner-up last year, was Louise Suggs, who perked with a 75 for 228.

Frank Stranahan, All-American amateur champion from Toledo, Ohio, maintained his spot ahead of the world's ten simon-pures with a 71 for a 54-hole count of 211.

The three-round scores for women included:
Mariene Bauer, Midland Texas, 78-82-75—235.
Alice Bauer, Midland, Texas, 80-82-81—243.
Betty MacKinnon, Dallas, Texas, 83-82-80—245.

Van Buren Again Wins Skeet Title

DALLAS — (AP) — T Sgt. Glenn W. Van Buren of Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Saturday became the first man to win the National Championship Skeet Shoot three times.

Van Buren fired a perfect 250 x 250 in the 14th annual nationals, which ended here Saturday, to regain the crown he held in 1948 and 1949.

At the end of Friday's all bore competition there were four perfect 200 x 200 scores but the others bowed to the long grind, the heat and the pressure.

The former Haven, Kan. shooter has missed only two targets out of a total of 1,000 chances in the four times he has tried for the national crown. He took up the sport in 1947.

Two other world records fell in the final day's shooting.
Mrs. E. H. Hecker of Tucson, Ariz., the former Ann Martin of San Antonio, set a new women's high overall mark of 335 x 550, breaking her own record by five targets.

Losses In Shoot
Angelo Spicola, Jr., of Tampa, Fla., broke the junior high over-all world mark by four targets with a score of 529-550.

Tony Roth of Omaha, Neb., won the collegiate individual championship in a shoot-off with George Glass, Jr., of Midland, after they deadlocked 247 x 250. Roth broke 34 in the extra round, while Glass dropped two targets.

A five-man Texas team won the open team title with 1,236 x 1,250. Members of the team are D. W. Conway of Clint, Herman Ehler and Ned Green of Dallas, J. C. Adams of La Rue and George Glass, Jr., of Midland.

Other results included:
Women's high over-all: third Mrs. Pauline Amburgey, Odessa, 525 x 550.
Parent and child: runners-up, George Glass, Sr., and George Glass, Jr., Midland.
Husband and wife: third, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Amburgey, Odessa, 481 x 500.
Women's championship: runner-up, Mrs. Pauline Amburgey, Odessa, 244 x 250.
Class D: Mrs. Don Maxwell, Odessa, 235 x 250.

Postal clerks, thinking she might be one of Universal-International's newcomers, sent the letters to the studio. The deluge of mail brought a screen test and a long-term contract. Alice, incidentally, is a distant relative of Winston Churchill.

Old pros never die. They just slug away.

Pro Teams Loaded With Texans Attract In Lone Star State

By The Associated Press

Professional football teams are finding Texas a happy hunting ground. They can draw crowds as large in this state for exhibition games as in regular season in the East.

Four games will be played in Texas within six weeks. They are expected to attract more than 150,000 fans. Last year two drew 75,000.

Dallas expects the greatest turnout with possibly 75,000 in the Cotton Bowl August 24 when the Detroit Lions play the New York Giants. It packs a natural attraction—Doak Walker vs. Kyle Rote. These two starred at SMU together. Walker, who drew more fans than any other football player in Southwestern history, played with Detroit last season and was all-professional. Rote was finishing up in glory at SMU. Then he signed a contract with the Giants.

Layne On Team
Walker, Bobby Layne of Texas and Joe Watson of Rice are Texans on the Detroit team. New York has Rote, Joe Mann, Scott of Texas A&M and Tom Landry of Texas.

On August 31 at Amarillo, Detroit plays Washington. These two teams clashed in Dallas last year and brought 50,000 to the Cotton Bowl. Amarillo expects 15,275. Washington has Texans Sam Baugh of TCU, Jim Canady of Texas and Bob Goode of Texas A&M.

The third game will be played October 15 when the Chicago Cardinals meet Detroit at San Antonio with 20,000 expected. Elbert Johnson of Texas Tech, Cliff Patton of TCU, Bill Cross of West Texas State, Walt Schinkman of Texas Tech and Bill Sivoboda of Tulane are Texans with the Cards.

September 21 at Houston, 50,000 are due to watch Detroit battle New York Giants in the Shamrock Charity Bowl. The Yanks have these Texans: Dick Rowan, Texas; Joe Baumgardner, Texas; Joe Golding, Oklahoma; and Bobby Griffin, Baylor.

Four of the 19 men who managed the St. Louis Browns were born in Missouri. They are Harold (Muddy) Ruel, James Burke, George Stovall and John O'Connor.

Two Former El Paso Cops Jailed In Probe Of Mickey Cohen Car

EL PASO — (AP) — Two former El Paso policemen were jailed Saturday in an investigation of Los Angeles mobster Mickey Cohen's car. Robert Fields was charged with armed robbery. The other former policeman, John Hartridge, accused Fields of robbing him of his car—a 1950 Ford sedan.

Hartridge said Fields shoved a pistol in his ribs and sped off. He got the car, Hartridge told police, from Sam Parkas at Cohen's Los Angeles home. Parkas wasn't identified.

Hartridge was fired from the force recently for entertaining the dapper Los Angeles gambler in his home. Fields resigned in 1949 and was arrested in Los Angeles in 1950 on another robbery charge. His sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation.

Takes Car At Gunpoint
Hartridge told this story: He and Fields drove from Los Angeles Friday in the car. Fields took the car from Hartridge at gunpoint about midnight when Hartridge tried to remove the ignition key.

Fields was arrested Saturday morning. Hartridge was apprehended later, and jailed with Fields after questioning about the car's ownership. License plates and a 45 caliber U. S. government pistol found in the car.

The 1951 plates on the car were issued to a non-existent John S. Parker of Tenaha, Texas.

Fields' story went like this: "Hartridge often visited Mickey Cohen. I dropped him off near the Cohen home several times. I didn't want to get mixed up with Cohen as I was afraid my probation would be revoked.

Young Bride Of Soldier Has Her Share Of Trouble

TUCSON, ARIZ. — (AP) — Trouble is one thing a bride of 18 has learned a lot about in the last two days.

Mrs. William Shriver traveled more than 1,000 miles from Spokane to pay her sergeant husband a surprise visit at Fort Huachuca. He wasn't there. He had received a furlough and had left for Spokane to surprise her.

So Mrs. Shriver started back for home. Her meager funds ran out when she got back to Tucson, about 80 miles by bus northwest of the fort. She cried in the bus station here. Then she became ill. Doctors diagnosed her illness as appendicitis.

They operated Friday and removed her appendix. She is recovering nicely, but her one big question is, "Where is Bill?"

Shriver was to arrive in Spokane Saturday.

Building Program For Prison System Given Green Light

AUSTIN — (AP) — The State Legislature Budget Board Saturday approved a $755,000 building program for the Texas Prison System.

The improvement appropriation was made by the last Legislature but required board approval.

The appropriation covered completion of the present 600-cell block unit at Huntsville, a fifth-floor addition to the hospital building at Huntsville, a new power plant at Clemons, a laundry building at Central and general repairs.

General Manager O. B. Ellis also was given authorization for a $63,000 fund transfer to start work on a 200-cell block at Central Farm.

Unclaimed Blessings All Set To Celebrate Second Annual Old Maids Day, August 15

DENTON — (AP) — Wednesday's the day all the career girls, bachelor girls, "unclaimed blessings" — or whatever you call them — have their day in Denton.

August 15 is Old Maids Day. No fancy name for it—let's don't gild the lily," said Miss Dorothy Babb, who dreamed it up.

Letters from 23 states have come to Miss Babb and Denton's Mayor Mark Hannah from the unmarried lassies who want to participate.

There are no limits on who can participate—just any woman who'll admit she's an old maid. Age doesn't matter.

The men have made big plans for Wednesday. A tea, free movie and stage show, coronation, a baseball game—and gifts are ready for the old maids.

The gift idea was what started the whole thing, Miss Babb admits. She got to thinking about all the money she had spent on gifts for weddings, babies, Mothers Day, Father's Day and anniversaries of other people. And—all in fun—she suggested old maids ought to have their day.

"Old maids don't even get birthday gifts; they don't have birthdays," she quipped.

Quips Spread Around
That was last year. Her quips got spread around at North Texas State College in Denton where she is an instructor. They got published, and so on August 15 last year, Old Maids Day was proclaimed by Denton's mayor.

It grew this year. Chamber of Commerce members are receiving daily queries from out-of-state spinners who want to attend the Denton celebration. They're all being answered.

More women have written they can't come but they want to join "the gang."

Miss Daisy E. Davis, 76, of Pears Island, Maine, has been the oldest one to write. She said she thought she was entitled to be a member although she has "brought up" a number of children.

PMA Spokesman Sees 'Pretty Fair' Price For Cotton

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 1951 cotton crop should bring "a pretty fair price" under the government price supporting loan program, an Agriculture Department official said Saturday.

Qua F. Geisler, production and marketing administrator, made the remark while commenting on a proposal that cotton growers play up some of their crop if the government won't guarantee a price of about 40 cents a pound.

Tom Linder, Georgia agriculture commissioner, made the plow-up proposal in a speech.

The cotton support price now is 31 cents. The cotton ginning set by the Office of Price Stabilization is 45 cents. Linder wants a support price of 90 per cent of the OCS ceiling.

"We have a feeling the average cotton price is going to be pretty good," Geisler said.

"The 31-cent support price should not be considered the floor," he continued. "The critical price period will be the three or four months during the harvest."

The government loan program allows growers to hold the crop off the market to wait for higher prices, Geisler added.

The first rodeos on record were held in Greece.

Truman Signs First New Money Measure

WASHINGTON —(AP)—President Truman Saturday signed the first regular departmental appropriation bill for fiscal year that began July 1. It provides $2,927,000,000 for operation of the Treasury and Post Office Departments. The bill contains a provision reducing by an estimated 25 per cent the funds requested for publicity workers in the departments.

Quiet Check of Academy Situation Is Predicted

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Senators said Saturday they expect a quiet check to be made into the situation at West Point after the present furore about moves to oust 90 cadets for cribbing has died down. Senator Ellender (D-La.) told a newsman the check can be made by the official "board of visitors" to the West Point and Annapolis Academies. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, in a separate interview, agreed with Ellender that "this probably is the best way to look into the situation." Some legislators believe the boards of visitors may be what President Truman had in mind last week when

Twin Hungarian Jewish Leaders Die In Suicide Plunge

BUDAPEST —(AP)—Geza and Josef Szucs, 56, twins and prominent leaders in the Hungarian Jewish community, clasped hands and leaped to their deaths at dawn Saturday. Several hours earlier, an 84-year old aunt who was living with them committed suicide by poison. The brothers threw themselves from the third floor of their Budapest apartment into a courtyard. The reason for the three suicides could not be ascertained. Both men had served as attorneys for the Anglo-Hungarian Bank. The Communist regime in Hungary has been reported evicting thousands of alleged "undesirables" from their homes in Budapest, presumably to detention camps elsewhere in the country. Most are from the once influential upper and middle classes. Many were reported Jews.

Court Orders Tests For Sitter Accused Of Torturing Baby

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. —(AP)—A psychological examination was ordered Saturday for a 13-year-old baby sitter, accused of burning a baby 25 times with a two-pronged fork. The order was handed down by Juvenile Court Judge Walter S. Criswell after the two-year-old boy was treated Thursday for 50 burns. Police Sgt. Mittie G. Tipton said the girl told him she became irritated by the baby's whining as she prepared his dinner, that she beat him two of three times and then succumbed to an "irresistible impulse" to burn him.

he told a news conference he was having a checkup made. Others say the President was making an independent probe, with emphasis upon recruiting of athletes. Official "boards of visitors" to the officer training centers have existed for more than 30 years, although Congress spelled out their duties by law three years ago. Visit Each Year They consist of four senators, five House members and nine civilians, usually educators. They pay a formal visit each year to the academies. In addition to this annual visit, the law allows board members to drop in at any time and question officers, instructors and students on almost any topic. Ellender and Russell agreed this board authority should and would be used. Both are members of the West Point board. "It shall be the duty of each board," the law states, "to inquire into the state or morale and discipline, curriculum, instruction, physical equipment, fiscal affairs, academic methods, and other matters relating to the academy x x x." "The boys guilty of cheating ought to be punished," Ellender said. "There probably are some leaders more guilty than others. That usually is true in a thing of this kind." Ellender deplored what he called too much emphasis on football and suggested it might be wise if all congressmen used a standard system for selection of cadets and midshipmen. "It should stress scholarship and leadership rather than football players," he said.

Home Construction Paces Light Week In Texas Building

AUSTIN —(AP)—Residential construction accounted for more than half of last week's building activity in Texas. The Texas Contractor, trade publication, reported construction awards for the week totaled $15,383,664, a slump of $10,063,031 from the previous week. Residential awards amounted to $8,204,798. They included 183 residences costing $1,805,800, apartments providing 810 one-family units and two duplex apartments houses. Non-residential work for the week totaled $6,148,199. Engineering projects amounted to $1,038,576. The new awards boosted the year's total to $736,531,106.

McKnight To Have New Superintendent

AUSTIN —(AP)—Dr. Richard Francis Allison of Columbia, S. C. will become superintendent of McKnight State Sanitarium near San Angelo about September 1, the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools announced Saturday. Dr. Allison formerly was assistant director of the division of tuberculosis control of the Los Angeles City Health Department and a staff physician with the South Carolina Sanitarium.

Eisenhower Goes To Germany For Rest, Tour Of Inspection

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, GERMANY —(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower came to Germany Saturday for a nine-day vacation and inspection of American defense forces facing the East. Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, the Atlantic Pact commander flew first to this big U. S. jet air base, from where Nazi fighter planes once took off to combat Allied bombers. Five hundred members of the U. S. 36th Fighter Bomber Wing and their families cheered the smiling, sunburned general as he stepped from his silver C-54—the "Sunflower II."

Leaders of American Air Forces in Europe including Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, their commander in chief, were also on hand to greet him. No Speech By Ike "The last thing I'm going to do is to spoil such a good show with a speech," Eisenhower said after being introduced by Col. Robert Scott, the Wing Commander. "I have seen American fighting men in all parts of the globe. But I have never seen a base more attractive than this one. I am not young, but if I were I would like to be an airman on this field." Eisenhower toured the field and chatted with several airmen. When Lt. Robert W. Merck of Bishopville, S. C., told the general he had recently been forced to ditch his jet in the Mediterranean, Eisenhower smilingly quipped: "Don't make a practice of that."

The general and Mrs. Eisenhower, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, later motored to Garmisch—the "European playground" for American troops. Officials said they will rest there this weekend. On Monday and Tuesday, Eisenhower is scheduled to inspect various U. S. troop elements stationed in Germany. Further rest will follow. The Eisenhowers plan to return to Paris August 20.

Officer, Back Home From Korea, Says Missing U.S. General May Be Prisoner

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—New hope that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, missing since early in the Korean war, may be alive in a Red prison camp was offered Saturday by one of three top U. S. leaders back from the fighting front. Lt. Gen. Frank W. Milburn, First Corps commander who arrived for reassignment, said "It is very possible Dean is a prisoner. Several Chinese captured recently said they had seen Dean and that he is a prisoner." Dean, 51, commander of the 24th Division, last was seen July 19, 1950, when he set out to round up stragglers as hard-pressed U. S. forces retreated from Taejon, Korea. The next day, as North Korean armored forces pushed U. S. remnants back toward the Pusan beachhead, there were reports Dean had been ambushed by a Red column. Since then, there have been periodic reports he had been slain, others that he was a prisoner. Helmet Lined Found The only tangible evidence to his fate was turned up last March, when a UN graves registration team found a helmet lined believed to be Dean's in the area where he disappeared. The helmet liner, bearing the two stars of a major general and the insignia of the 24th Division, was found four miles south of Taejon. The liner had been broken by a bullet. Last September 30, President Truman awarded members of Dean's family the Medal of Honor. The other two U. S. battle leaders aboard the transport Gen. E. D. Patrick when it docked here were Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, who commanded the Tenth Corps in Korea, and Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward W. Timberlake, former vice commander of the Fifth Air Force. Some 400 troops and dependents from Japan and Korea also were aboard the ship. The three generals agreed that the Korean peace talks now underway are providing the Communists "an excellent opportunity" to build up their forces on the peninsula. "Our planes have been knocking out so many enemy trucks at night, there's just no question what they're up to," Timberlake declared. Milburn is to report to Fort Monroe, Va., for undisclosed reassignment; Almond is to head the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., and Timberlake is to assume command of the Ninth Air Force at Pope Air Base, Fort Bragg, N. C.

SECTION TWO

Midlanders' Pet Methods For Beating The Heat

The so-called "dog days" are here.

This is the time when the unbearably hot weather begins to make front page news. People can talk of little else—somehow or other the heat always enters the conversation.

When the thermometer reaches a sizzling 100 degrees plus, Midlanders, like everyone else, trot out their favorite methods for keeping cool.

Some take to the road, seeking vacation spots with more comfortable temperatures. Others prefer to make the best of conditions at home.

Electric fans, light suppers and tall, cool drinks all have been recommended as hot weather antidotes. Ice cream and watermelons become Summer food stand-bys, and swimming tops the list of vacation sports.

Swimming pools, beaches and the wading pool next door are crowded to capacity. Even the lawn sprinkler turned on full blast makes an excellent playground for the youngsters and a temporary refuge from the heat.

Dress becomes more informal. Men doff coats and ties in favor of the shirt-sleeve parade, and women do their housework in sun dresses or shirts and shorts. Sun suits are popular for the younger crowd, while little or nothing at all is considered appropriate attire for the cradle set.

Club activities are at a minimum. Club women choose the hot season to rest up for their busy schedule of Fall events. Those clubs which continue to brave the heat often change their time of meeting to early morning or night. Some clubs cancel general meetings, but maintain committees to work through the Summer months.

Picnics are a favorite Summer pastime. And no amount of coping with flies, ants and people who leave the salt at home can convince a confirmed picnicker that his isn't the best and coolest activity of all.

Most people freely admit that the "dog days" heat is tough to take—but it's still the good ole Summertime.

A GIRL AND HER PLAYMATE—According to six-year-old Judy McKinley, it's never too hot for a romp with Stardust, her registered Kerry Blue terrier. Judy lives at 308 East Parker Street.

SUMMER REFRESHER—Mrs. Brandon Rea, 1503 North Main Street, cools off with a glass of lemonade while doing a little paper work on a Midland Woman's Club project. With the aid of pictures obtained from pioneer residents, the club is designing a commemorative dinner plate depicting modern and early day Midland. Proceeds will go to the Woman's Club Building Fund.

STRAW HAT PARADE—At least two Midland youngsters have nothing to fear from the sun. Modeling the latest in Summer headgear are Sue Barker, three and one-half, and her brother, Dick, two and one-half, while little sister, Carol, prefers the bareheaded style. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Barker. The children are pictured in the backyard of their home at 1411 West Michigan Street.

COOLING OFF—Jack (left) and Bob Montgomery, two and four-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Montgomery, have discovered ice cream cones and wading pools are an unbeatable combination for outsmarting the heat. Bob is completely sold on both methods, but younger brother, Jack, still is hesitant about the water cure. The Montgomerys live at 2102 West Holloway Street.

'Sand Gets In Our Eyes' Is New Resident's Theme

Arriving on the tail of a sand storm May 18, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Ware, formerly of Weatherford, Okla., got their first glimpses of Midland at its worst.

The sand settled, though, and now the Wares are quite content with their new West Texas home. Ware is employed as a draftsman for Shell Oil Company here.

The third member of the family is their 18-month-old daughter, pretty, curly-headed Marianne. Midland was just too far from Oklahoma for the family's adopted member, a pet dog, named Mickey.

"He was one of those 57 varieties of dogs," Mrs. Ware laughed, "but he and Marianne were inseparable." Favorite Activity

One of the family's favorite activities is keeping up with the Midland Indians baseball team, an activity which comes to them naturally.

Ware, an outstanding athlete himself, participated in basketball, baseball and football in college. In the latter sport he was chosen as a member of the all-conference team the year he was a senior.

"I have to listen to all the baseball games during the daytime," Mrs. Ware said, "so I can report the results at night."

Ware was graduated from Southwestern College in Weatherford. Mrs. Ware attended Southwestern College and later received her M.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma. Her major was English and his was industrial arts.

Following her graduation, Mrs. Ware taught for four years in the high school in Cordell, a small city near Weatherford. And it was here that she met her husband.

After their marriage the Wares settled in Weatherford where they lived before coming to Midland. Their present address is 224 Mitchell Street.

Autumn Nips In Waists Of New Suits

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Appearing shoulder-to-shoulder with the slim-lined suits this fall are those with very full skirts that blossom from a nipped-in-waist. Though the emphasis remains on the arched hipline and the narrow skirt, the full skirt definitely has arrived.

The jacket of the full-skirted suit generally is short. And the skirt itself may have in circular gores and may be lined in taffeta, both to give it weight and to make it whisper and rustle in motion.

Even with this full skirt, the pack of with the arched hipline is used. But this hipline isn't padded in any suit. It's slightly stiffened and gently rounded to stand away from the figure.

Suits appear in brilliant black broadcloth, in jewel-colored tweeds, in bright velvet, in silky gabardine. The length of the suit skirt is sticking at 13 or 14 inches, in conformance with the personal likes of the wearers.

Copper-colored wool, fashioned by Adele Simpson into a slim suit, has the hipline with the easy arching. The waistline is tiny, collar is notched, cuffs flare away from straight sleeves. There is one pleat at center back of the skirt, to allow ease in walking.

This arched hipline shows again in a Seymour Fox suit he calls the "Jubilee" in honor of the 2000th birthday of the city of Paris. Here, a rust velvet jacket is buttoned from a small shawl collar to a small waist. Cuffs are flaring. The skirt is straight, in a jewel-tone muted plaid wool.

This designer also does a wool tunic in birdseye yellow with tailored, notched collar and oblique side front closing. This closing has self-buttons. Cuffs are flared; there is a single, triangular patch pocket.

Crimoline petticoats will be worn under practically all full-skirted dresses this fall. If you want to make your own, it's easy. Use muslin for the skirts, and add a crinoline ruffle at the bottom. This avoids bulkiness around the hips, still makes the hemline stand out.

The padded hipline is gone from fall suits; the gently arched hipline is here in its place. Copper wool (left) by Adele Simpson has this hipline and a narrow skirt with center back pleat. Rust velvet jacket (center) and jewel-tone muted plaid make this suit by Seymour Fox. Birdseye yellow wool is used by this designer to make a suit with oblique side front closing and triangular patch pocket.

The MATURE PARENT

The Answer To Fear
In One Word Is Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day when Pam's aunt came to visit, she brought a story book to her four-year-old niece. The book described the problems of a little boy named Sambo who could never take a walk in the jungle without meeting some tiger who demanded an item of his clothing.

Pam's aunt read her the story while Pam's mother was preparing dinner. As the aunt wanted to hold her audience's attention, she read the story dramatically. She growled and roared in her role of the envious tiger; she made her voice faint and weak in her role of the oppressed Sambo.

She succeeded. She held Pam's attention so well that two nights later, Pam burst into tears when her mother attempted to turn out the light at bedtime. There was, she insisted, a tiger in her bedroom. She did not wish to remain there alone with him.

Pam's mother suggested that this was unreasonable. She opened closets and made Pam look under her crib. She argued that tigers do not frequent bedrooms in country towns of America, but live in far distant countries. She kissed and cuddled. It wasn't any use. So far as Pam was concerned, a tiger had found his way into her bedroom.

Pam had a mother who thought for herself. After some days of wrestling with Pam and her tiger, she arranged for a small basket to be delivered one afternoon. While Pam opened it, she went to the kitchen for a saucer of milk.

When she returned, Pam was kissing her new, small, gray kitten. As they watched it lapping its milk, Pam's mother said, "You must be very gentle with him; he's so small. Did you know that he is a cousin of your tiger?"

Pam's hand stopped stroking for a moment, but her mother pretended not to notice. "Oh, yes," she said, "kittens and tigers belong to the same family. They even look alike. When they're happy, tigers purr just like kittens. Just listen to him."

That night, with the kitten's basket beside her bed, Pam slept with her light out and her door closed for the first time in two weeks.

Replace Terror

We usually can solve the problems of children's irrational fears if we find a way to replace terror of the menacing object with love for it. Though we may find it a strain to discover some appealing trait in the wicked witch or ferocious beast that haunts the bedroom, we can do it if we try hard enough.

If we succeed in presenting the sinister creature as one who has come, not to threaten our little boy or girl, but to seek protection and love, the sinister creature will be deprived of his power to terrify.

Our problem, quite simply is a problem of replacing fear with love. When Pam's mother identified the kitten with the tiger for Pam, Pam's protective love for the kitten reached out to the tiger, too. The love transferred power from the tiger to Pam. She became big, the giver, he became small, the taker. By feeling her love was needed, she lost her fear.

Psychiatrists tell us that children's irrational fears of creatures and things merely symbolize other bigger fears they cannot tell us about. They say the tigers and witches merely indicate a sense of helplessness brought on by some experience we may not be able to identify.

But the answer is still love. It is still convincing the child that his love is needed by all the people, creatures and objects in his world. When he believes that this is true, his sense of his own power to reassure and protect will generally wipe out the fear that have made him think of himself as weak, menaced and powerless.

The answer to fear is love, always.

Mexican Youth Takes Good Neighbor Policy Into His Own Hands

By MAC ROY RASOR

MEXICO CITY—A 19-year-old Mexican youth has taken the "good neighbor" problem into his own hands.

Texas tourists who happen to cross paths with him are learning about a brand of super hospitality that even the Texas good neighbor Commission would hardly dare dream about.

He is Carlos Huesca, citizen of Mexico but football player-graduate of Huntington, Ind., High School. His studies in the United States for the past four years have been by special arrangement of the governments of the two countries. This fall he plans to return to enter college to study international trade.

I first met Carlos at breakfast in the dining room of a small hotel off the beaten tourist path. He was visiting, I learned later, with his brothers and sisters who lived in a nearby apartment. His parents are dead.

With Southern politeness he approached our table and inquired if my wife and I were planning to go to Xochimilco. It was Sunday and all tourists go to Xochimilco on Sunday to ride flower-decked canoes through garden-like lagoons.

Suspicious, like most Americans, we assumed he had an "angle." We told him we thought we would go later in the morning but thought we knew the way and wouldn't need any help.

"You do not understand," he broke in. "I am not a guide. Mexico City is my home but I have been going to school in the United States for the past four years. The people there have been so wonderful to me, I made up my mind that I would help American tourists here whenever I could. I want no payment. It will be my pleasure to be whatever help I can."

Supremely Happy
If such were truly his pleasure, he was undoubtedly supremely happy for the next two days. He showed every sign of being so.

From early in the morning until late at night and even into small morning hours, Carlos wrote our Mexican holiday into capital letters.

He had his own yellow convertible and insisted on using it, chattering us with ease through the belching traffic to the pyramids, to shrines, markets, restaurants, night clubs.

At every turn he made it more impossible ever to pay or repay him. A corsage for my wife, a bright table cloth for our dining table, a shiny flint image souvenir of the pyramids—all were his "pleasure."

He translated for us, bargained in the markets to get our purchases for half the tourist price, steered us to the best of Mexico City and away from the tourist traps. Early one morning he rounded up a troop of "mariachis" to serenade us with familiar Mexican ballads.

"De nada," he would say—"It is nothing."

As we started to leave, he presented us with an autographed print of his high school graduation picture.

"I hope I have helped you a little to have a more enjoyable visit," he told us. "I only wish I could help more tourists."

We could not help but ponder such good neighborliness. It was the sort of thing that has been urged consistently during the ten-year existence of the Texas good neighbor commission—but in reverse!

First Baptist Youth Revival Scheduled To Open Sunday

"Midland for the Master" will be the theme of the First Baptist Church youth revival scheduled to open Sunday night. Services will be held each day at 7 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Jud Prince and Jimmy Hester of Fort Worth will be the revival speakers. Al Cummings of San Benito, Calif., will be the song leader.

Mr. Prince has been holding revivals since the age of 14. The son to take scrambles over rocks and up tree trunks and across scorching city pavements. But they can be bright and attractive to children and the fun to wear.

In picking playtime shoes, mothers should bear in mind the fact that they are just as important as leather-soled shoes for school wear. They should have thick sole cushions and a shock-proof arch cushion to help support young growing feet. The uppers should be in a fabric sufficiently strong to keep its shape.

An air-conditioned sandal (left) in blue has a cross-strap top in sturdy cotton fabric. The rubber sole is thick and lightweight in order to provide maximum comfort and protection against heat and hard surfaces.

A different Summer shoe (right) has a rubber sole that wears a clown's face with giraffes, elephants, lions and seals outlining the edges of the outsoles. Top is bright red cotton fabric; the shoe is completely washable. Thick sole cushions and shockproof arch cushions give proper support.

JULY CONSUMPTION OF WATER IN PECOS SMASHES RECORDS

PECOS—Water consumption here during the month of July smashed all previous records, announced John Oglesby, water superintendent, who issued an appeal to Pecos residents to "try to conserve water."

A total of 69,676,550 gallons were used last month, making an average of over 2 and 1/4 million gallons daily, Oglesby said.

"We probably won't ever have dry faucets here," he continued, "but people everywhere in West Texas should always try to save water."

City water wells closely grouped in an area 12 miles south of Pecos are being worked hard and are thought to be developing what is called a "cone of depression," causing a certain loss of efficiency.

Thursday was the first time the city began the day without its reservoirs being full of water. Mayor Cecil Cothrun disclosed. Every well is being pumped during the current hot weather.

Mayor Cothrun reiterated Oglesby's appeal for conservation.

Southern Union Gas company, meantime, has prepared a report showing that through the first several months of 1961 Pecos has received only 2.85 inches of rainfall. In 1960, 8.77 inches of rain fell here.

THE LINK THAT HAD TO COME

The two main roads to the solution of life's problems, divergent though they may have seemed to be, are the way of Science and the way of Religion.

These two paths converge in Christian Science. Today the rational thinker finds logic, supported by proof, in the religious thinker's deep conviction of a primal cause, or intelligence, called God.

Science and religion can now agree, for through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, the actual Science of Christianity has been revealed.

This great book shows, through reason and revelation, the solution to problems of health, supply, or of any other kind. It may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

1951 Fall Fashions Feature 'The Shape'

"The Shape" will be the newest of all in silhouettes in fashions this Fall.

This means a skirt that bells out, bolstered by myriads of petticoats, not only with dresses, but under skirts as well. This flared treatment is important in bottom, too, where shoulders melt into sleeves in curved lines, or sleeves are set into the shoulder in a point. At the neckline and waist, "The Shape" leaves its mark, emphasizing tiny waists and gently rounded hips, with a definite trend away from the arched, stiffened treatment of the last several seasons.

This is the fashion picture for the coming Fall and Winter season.

Coats Are Looser

The new fitted coats emphasize "The Shape" and are now, narrower or looser coats that round over the hips when short, or taper at the hemline when long.

Sleeves are oval in their inset seams with fuller top tapering narrowly on the arm. This shaping expresses itself in frequent fantasy by way of bloused fullness, dolman cuts, batwing depth and push-up types—and many, many coat sleeves with adjustable cuffs being referred to as "cocktail sleeves."

Fabrics will be bulky with a great variety in textures. These range from poodle cloths to hairy, silky surfaces and nubby tweeds and ribbed stripes of two tones.

Big is the word for jewelry—bigger pins set with bigger stones—bigger earrings in huge button shapes—big contour types that cover the ear or curve up the ear. And there is a new place to wear jeweled pins—at the back of the waistline.

Fall-Skirted Suits

The newest suit for Fall is the full-skirted version, done with gored tapering out towards the hemline.

The modified suit skirt, gored, but not widening at the hemline, will get a great deal of attention because of its walking ease. Flannel is the number-one suit fabric and gray and brown are the best colors.

In silhouette, the slim dress as one-piece or in jacket schemes is the leading shape, with news of exaggeration of curves through design. Full skirts stage a definite increase and include the bell or lampshade type—gathered, pleated, and with gored and godet variations. Whether slim-curved or full-skirted, the dominating plot is a clear-cut sharp silhouette of almost sculptured conciseness.

In type, it is clear that costumes consisting of dress plus jacket, which have been popular the last couple of seasons are extending into more dressy types than ever before. Coat dresses, newest when given a diagonal design treatment, extend from simplest day wools to after-dark dresses, long and short.

Dark Neutrals

The basic spotlight in color is on dark neutrals, specifically yarn-dye oxford gray and banker's brown. There are great quantities of the mauve-amethyst-purple range in wool and dressy dresses. Garnet-ruby reds look like the sure-fire success as bright novelty in date dresses.

Biggest Fall trends in sportswear involve a revival of full skirts with crinolines and petticoats, even under flannels; a big influx of poodle type fabrics; a landslide for brown, an increased emphasis on convertible, flexible clothes in casual dresses as well as separates.

Casual suits are much more shaped and detailed, still in beautiful tweeds and yarn-dye flannels. In casual dresses, semi-bare dresses with bodice jackets in casual fabrics enliven the entire picture. In separates, all the fashion types are there in flexible coordinations which can go together or part freely.

Separates feature short-thick-fitted jackets, or boxy short-jackets, two big all-round types of the year, to go with both slim and full skirts; striped cotton and silk shirts to supplement wool jersey; many more pedal pushers and slacks—always lean and tapered.

Texas Is God's Country' Says English World War I Bride

"Texas Is God's Country."

This statement was made by an English war bride of World War I. She is Mrs. George P. Morrow. Mrs. Morrow left her home in England and came to the United States with her husband in 1928. Since then she has lived in Washington, D. C., where she worked in the Pentagon Building, New York City, Alabama and then—Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Morrow moved to Midland from Monahans.

When asked what she considered the main differences in England and the United States, Mrs. Morrow said: "This country is more democratic. In England you have to watch what you say and do and if the government says anything is black it's black!"

TEEN TALK
By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

You can plan a perfect picnic right in your backyard, Summer or Fall, and even defy the elements. If an unexpected shower comes your way, the crowd can move onto the porch or even into the kitchen, and nobody will be unhappy. It is a much safer plan than making lots of advance preparations for a picnic away from home that must be cancelled or postponed because of threatening weather.

The most important thing about a picnic is food, of course. And if everything can be prepared the day before, even the hostess can enjoy the picnic. An outdoor barbecue of hot dogs, hamburgers and boiled corn is fun but work. A smart girl planning a picnic of that sort will delegate a few of the boys to rustle up the vittles.

A variation of the hamburger idea is the economical pickle hamburger. Combine a pound can of corned beef hash and 1 slightly beaten egg with one-quarter cup of bread crumbs and one third cup of chopped dill pickles. Form into patties. Roll in additional bread crumbs until well coated. Pan fry in small amount of butter or margarine or grill over an open fire until browned. Serve on toasted hamburger rolls.

A tasty, filling luncheon salad can be made with elbow macaroni. Cook 8 ounces of macaroni uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain again. In a large bowl, combine 1 cup diced celery, three-fourths cup chopped green pepper, one-half cup chopped sweet pickles, one cup diced sharp Cheddar cheese, one-half cup cooked drained peas, one-half cup mayonnaise, one-half teaspoon salt and freshly ground pepper. Add cooled macaroni, mix lightly but thoroughly. Chill several hours and serve on crisp salad greens, if you like. This should make six to eight servings.

A simple and easy-to-make sandwich spread is tasty and satisfying and made with peanut butter. Combine one-half cup of peanut butter, 1 tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, one-quarter cup of milk and a dash of salt. Blend with fork until smooth. Spread on buttered bread and top with second slice of bread. This should make four to six sandwiches.

Another tasty sandwich can be made with liverwurst. But do not make this until shortly before the guests arrive, or if you do, wrap it in wax paper. Just mash liverwurst in a bowl with a fork, add onion grated to taste. Spread the mixture on buttered white bread. Trim the crusts off, and flatten the bread down.

Just as important with some young people as the dessert course of the picnic is an outdoor picnic try this tempting dessert: Peel and cut bananas into thick slices. Use a metal skewer or wooden stick and place a slice of banana, a marshmallow, maraschino cherry and pineapple chunk, one after the other on the skewer. Repeat until the skewer is filled. Toast over an open fire. These skewered sweets make a big hit with the men folk.

If you are planning a porch or backyard picnic, it is easier perhaps to serve an ice cream dessert—and if you're really ambitious, you can make the ice cream yourself. For a real treat combine the ice cream with fruit. Blueberries are delicious on strawberry ice cream or raspberry sherbet. Crushed pineapple is good on chocolate ice cream. Strawberries or cherries are extra-special with vanilla ice cream. You can make a sundae just by topping your ice cream fruit dessert with whipped cream, if your budget permits.

The cola type drinks are popular for picnics. Or make a bucket of iced tea, lemonade or limeade. Any one of these thirst quenchers will appeal to your picnickers.

Morrow was that in America the poor as well as the rich can get an education and make something of themselves if they try.

In behalf of her native country, Mrs. Morrow said the countryside and the homes were beautiful and picturesque.

On the amusing side, Mrs. Morrow compared the life of a pig in England with the life of a pig in Alabama. She said in England the pigs have a house of their own complete with living room and bedroom.

When asked about Texas, Mrs. Morrow's face lit up all over. "The people are so free and natural here—and so friendly. They always have time for a friendly greeting when they meet you on the street," she said.

See Western Movie

"Every Saturday night when we were in Washington my husband and I went to a western movie. When he started talking to me about coming to Texas I expected it to be just like the movies—the wild west."

She said when they got to San Angelo and saw the clear sky and stars she immediately thought of the song, "The stars at night are big and bright."

"I think the wide open spaces and clear sky are wonderful," she said. She said Texas should be very proud because everyone that visits Texas comes back and many come back to live.

"I only wish I could talk like a Texan," Mrs. Morrow said. "Every-one accuses me of being from New York."

The Mortons plan to make Midland their permanent home.

Mrs. Morrow has two brothers and many nieces and nephews still in England. Three of her brothers and two of her sons were killed in the war. Her sister is a Captain in the W.A.C.

Summer Mummer's Melodrama Closes

The final curtain came down Saturday night on the Summer Mummer's presentation of the melodrama, "Gold In The Hills."

The play ran for three weeknights with performances given each Friday and Saturday night in the American Legion Hall. Each performance was given before a capacity audience.

The proceeds from the show will go to the Community Theater Building Fund.

"Gold In The Hills" was written by J. Frank Davis as a burlesque of the melodrama of the era 1890-1900. It contains all the absurdities of plot and language of the "thrillers" of the period.

Olle Presented

After the final curtain of each performance an olio was presented, featuring specialty acts of all kinds. The play was produced by W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., and staged by E. J. Elliott, with John Springer at the piano.

The cast included Mrs. R. A. Estes, as Lizzie Jones, a housekeeper; Sonya Little, Barbara Stanley, Nell's younger sister; Hiram Stanley, an honest farmer; Bill Adam; Nell Stanley, his daughter; Mrs. Francis X. Bermingham; John Dalton, a son of the soil, Art Cole. Richard Murgatroyd, a character of nefarious purpose, Norris Creath or Charles Dixon; Sam Slade, his shadow, Robert Short; Jenkins, a constable, Waring Bradley or Lawrence Lee; a derelict, H. Houston Higginbotham; Big Mike Slattery, a dance hall proprietor, Lee Flood or Claude Neely; Pete the Rat, H. Wesley Shaner, Jr.

Cast Listed

Old Kate, Mrs. Lawrence Lee or Jean Lewis; Little Tommy, Thomas Wicker; Chuck Connors, a Bowery guide, Jack Schaffer; Bill the Dip, William Cumberland; One Punch Dugan, Stanley Shaeffer; Reginald Vanderlop, an uptown swell, Charles Dixon; Mrs. Vanderlop, Jean Lewis or Mrs. Lawrence Lee; Edith Vanderlop, Julia Rindsig, and James H. By GAILE DUGAS

Trans-Pecos Cotton Group Begins New Plan For Directors

The Trans-Pecos Cotton Association meeting here last week instituted a three-year rotation system for its board of directors.

Elected for initial terms on the board were W. J. Williams, Paul Armstrong and W. H. McKinney, all of Pecos. They replace Craig Hess, Travis Lattner and John Moore. Holdover directors are J. B. Kirkin, Ralph Burkholder, L. D. McNeil and Garvin Passmore.

In calling the annual meeting to order, President J. B. Kirkin gave what he termed a "resume" of the cotton labor picture this fall. Kirkin referred to the international agreement reached by the U. S. and Mexican governments as "not to our liking, by a whole lot; but we got it."

Every bracer obtained by the association farmers will cost $37, including the $15 they must pay to the U. E. Employment Service, transportation and meals on the road, insurance, photographs, plus the $2.40 per member for administration costs of the association.

Mexican Nationals this year will be paid $2 a hundred for cotton-picking. In addition, farmers must provide sacks, bedding and cooking utensils. Farmers here last year paid $1.75.

Domestic pickers will receive $2.25 per hundred if they weigh and haul the cotton, and $2.50 if they furnish trailers and haul to the gins, Kirkin added.

NEW YORK—The cool, slick fabric called bemberg rayon is particularly adaptable to the summertime of the mature woman. Because it's a rayon yarn made in fine deniers, it drapes beautifully. It's a fabric that does not wrinkle easily. It gives long service, can be washed and it won't fade in the sun, won't lose its lustre in laundering.

Lately, designers have been working youthful lines into clothes for the older woman. This does not mean that they turn up a kittenish version of a junior cotton. It means that the fashion world has come to understand that the mature woman can wear a sheath if it's done especially for her and that she can wear straight, slim lines in some style other than the classic shirtwaist dress.

These new fashions are found in the good fabric that's bemberg. A sheath dress in navy blue linen (left) has wide shoulder straps in place of the spaghetti straps used for the younger age group. There's a cuffed bodice that provides the right cover-up and there is, in addition, a long coat in bemberg navy sheer petal-printed in white. Both the white and the navy of this coat will keep their colors in the tub.

A tailored print (right) in black-and-white bemberg sheer has collar and pockets lines in black taffeta. The bodice buttons asymmetrically; lines of the skirt are slim.

'Bus Andy' Still Drives Occasionally

By HAL BOYLE
HIBBING, MINN. — "Bus Andy" didn't drive the first bus in the United States. But he did pioneer in establishing the modern bus industry in America back in 1914.

Today, at 68, "Bus Andy"—Andrew G. Anderson—still owns his old line and can take his turn in the driver's seat whenever he is needed. "It is nothing now—compared to the old days," said Andy. He loves to recall those days when he and his first motor car struggled over dirt roads together on the first lap of his rise to wealth.

Andy borrowed money from his mother to come here from Sweden on a cattle boat in 1900. He was a farmboy of 18 and couldn't speak English. His only possession was a fine hand-made wooden suitcase. Figuring a boy might want to eat while looking for a job in the new land, he thriftily loaded his suitcase with herring from the ship's food locker.

Herring Spoils
"But it was Spring," he laughed, "and the herring spoiled. The suitcase smelled so bad I had to drop it and the herring overboard before we landed."

Andy labored in the iron mines to earn enough to pay back his mother. Gradually he worked up to a job of machinist. Then in 1914, he and a blasting powder salesman, Charles Wenberg, raised $1,250 and bought a seven-passenger, open-air Hupmobile.

"We got the agency for the car," he said. "But I guess I was a poor salesman, and my partner was, too. We didn't sell any cars." One night his partner's uncle suggested to the kum pair, "why don't you run your automobile like a street car?"

That 10-word sentence made Anderson's fortune. "It hit me like a stroke of lightning," he said. "I started out the very next morning."

Business Grows
He charged 15 cents for a two-and-one-half-mile ride between the towns of Hibbing and Alice. The first day he cleared $7.40 above fuel costs. Soon his seven passenger car was carrying as many as 21 customers a trip.

Fearing the car would break down before it could pay for itself, Wenberg sold out. But "Bus Andy" stayed and gambled. He took in other partners and expanded his line, driving himself from six in the morning until 11 p. m.

A number of Andy's partners and drivers went on to executive posts in the mushrooming Greyhound Bus Company. He sold out most of his own extensive lines to the northland Greyhound system in 1928. But he still operates about 100 public or school buses here and in three other Minnesota and Wisconsin cities.

"If a driver can't show up for some reason," said Andy, "I can still take the bus out myself. I do, too, sometimes."

But Andy now is about the best-paid bus driver in the country.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Elks lock money for MacArthur's Cadillac; Agriculture official offered a million dollars to buy Canadian rye; Texan reminds Churchill of Shakespeare quote.

WASHINGTON — That shiny new Cadillac presented by the Elks Club of Houston to General MacArthur when he visited Texas still isn't paid for. The car cost $5,700 and the Elks, in their enthusiasm, figured the money would be easy to raise. So they presented the car to MacArthur and figured on paying for it later.

When the last appeal for funds was issued, however, MacArthur's popularity seemed to be on the wane, and only $1,286 of the $5,700 was in the Elks' kitty. Here is the letter sent out by Phil Hamburger, chairman of the MacArthur Gift Fund, Houston Lodge No. 151, BOP Elks:

"You doubtless are familiar with the fact that during General MacArthur's visit to Houston he received as a gift from the Elks and friends a black seven-passenger Cadillac sedan.

"The purchase of this car at a cost of $5,700 was undertaken by members of the Elks and friends and at the present time we have only raised $1,286, and since we are in need of more funds the purpose of this letter is to afford you an opportunity to be listed as a contributor to the gift fund.

"The ownership certificate of the car will be forwarded to General MacArthur along with an appropriate scroll bearing the names of all contributors, and the list of names is being closed out when the amount of $5,700 is received."

Rye Speculating
A little more information has leaked out regarding the huge speculation in rye, and the sudden reversal of the Agriculture Department's ban on Canadian rye. An offer of a million dollars was dangled before Ralph Tripp, formerly in charge of all rye purchases, if he would buy Canadian rye. Tripp said no.

However, last Spring, after Tripp got out, his policy was reversed and the U. S. government bought up a large quantity of Canadian rye mixed with U. S. rye.

It now is learned that two senators pressured the Agriculture Department to bring about this change — Young of North Dakota and McCarthy of Wisconsin, both Republicans. Minnesota's two senators — Humphrey, Democrat, and Thye, Republican — sat in on one meeting regarding rye. However, they attended at the urging of McCarthy and did nothing more than put in an appearance.

Senator Young, who comes from a big rye-producing state, wanted to ban rye imports from Canada altogether. Since Canadian rye was already mixed with American rye in Northwest grain elevators, however, Young agreed that the government should buy this Canadian rye in order to reduce the surplus. By getting rid of the surplus and by banning future rye shipments from Canada, Young hoped to create a better market for American rye farmers.

It was McCarthy, however, who constantly telephoned and heckled the Agriculture Department to reverse the ban on buying Canadian rye. He not only called on Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, but was continually in the Agriculture Department's hair until it knuckled under and began buying Canadian rye.

McCarthy's intense interest in Canadian rye is a puzzle. Furthermore, the million dollars dangled before Ralph Tripp and the multi-million-dollar corner on the rye market, cooked up by the big speculators, also remains a mystery.

Note — McCarthy has not speculated in the commodity market under his own name since the 1947 Senate investigation of the commodity market. Previous McCarthy had speculated chiefly in butter.

After the 1947 investigation, however, McCarthy struck up an interesting friendship with Ralph Moore, the speculating partner of former Senator Thomas of Oklahoma. It is significant that Moore has been associated in the rye market with Dan Rice, one of the biggest speculators in Canadian rye.

Texas Entrances London
Claude Carter of Harlingen, Texas, went to Paris and London this Summer to keep a date with Winston Churchill.

Carter lives down near the Mexican border, a long way from there to London, but some years ago when he was president of the Texas Bar Association, he met and entertained Winston Churchill. So the distinguished Britisher told him that if he ever came to London, he should look him up.

Claude Carter never forgot that invitation, and apparently Churchill didn't either. For this Summer, wearing his broad-brimmed Texas hat in London, Carter called up the ex-prime minister and was invited to dine at Churchill's club.

Carter tells how he wandered into the writing room, switched some stationery and wrote his Texas friends from the club of the ex-prime minister.

Later at dinner the guests started discussing which of Churchill's many famous speeches was the greatest. Most agreed that it was the "Blood, Sweat and Tears, Fight 'Em on the Beaches" epic. However, the gentleman from Texas interposed this idea:

"Winston," said Carter, "you made the greatest mistake of your life in that memorable speech. You quoted from many great authorities, including the beloved Kipling. But you missed by a hair's breadth the opportunity to have made the greatest speech in all English history and literature."

"Why?" asked the puzzled Churchill.

"Because you could have quoted from the immortal Shakespeare. You could have used his great line from King John: 'This England never did nor never shall lie at the proud foot of a conqueror!'"

Churchill seemed to like the suggestion, said he wished he had had Carter as his ghost-writer during the war, even indicated that the only people who conceivably might conquer England were Texans.

North Dakota's Champion
For years, the big bull voice of Bill Langer, North Dakota's earthy senator, has been bellowing in the chamber demanding that the State Department name an ambassador from his state.

When a few days ago, Thomas E. Whelan, a North Dakota businessman was nominated to be U. S. ambassador to Nicaragua, the rangy Langer rose to his feet.

Across the aisle, Senator Bill Benton of Connecticut mumbled remarked: "Now that the senator has achieved his victory, I trust he will spare us his daily oration on the ability of North Dakota's citizens. I'm sure we're all familiar with the subject."

With a broad grin, Langer nodded in agreement.

Erskin estimated taxes take from 24 to 28 cent of every automobile dollar and, in the case of gasoline, amount to about one-third of the retail price. If this dangerous trend is carried to excess, he emphasized, the purpose of automotive taxation will be defeated, production crippled, and the automobile returned to its early status as a product only for the wealthy.

The National Automobile Dealers Association has urged the Senate Finance Committee, which has just concluded public hearings on the proposed law, to consider other types of taxation, to curtail needless Federal expenditures, and to close loopholes in the present tax structure rather than discriminate against the motorist who already is overburdened with taxation.

County HD Clubs Have Fun Festival
The Home Demonstration Clubs of Midland County held their annual fun festival Friday in Cole Park.

The program consisted of a craft club sale, recreational planning for home and community, shrub and tree identification and games, including active and mystery games. A picnic lunch was served at noon.

Approximately 30 persons attended.

OIL WORKER INJURED
A A Morgan, a drilling company employe, suffered a lacerated forehead in an oil field accident Friday. A derrick hook struck him in the head. He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

White Rats Make Kids Eat Big Meals
The children watched progress of the rats and kept a daily record of their weight. They saw how the bread and milk diet kept the animals healthy and gaining in size. They obviously were impressed with the importance of three well-balanced meals to growth.

And the teachers who watched were impressed, too. They saw that a lesson like that was bringing results and that the children were eating better as they watched the effect of good food on rats.

Another phase of the Nutrition Workshop, which is aided by General Mills, had the teachers visit a little red brick schoolhouse at nearby Potters Mills. One of the teachers there, Mrs. Gwendolyn Wagner, is an advocate of teaching good nutritional habits to young pupils.

Most of her grade school children live on farms, but few of them were properly nourished. The College has found that rural children often are undernourished because of improper diets.

Mrs. Wagner used more white rats to show the importance of a good breakfast. In a six-week period, a rat that ate a good breakfast gained almost seven times as much as a rat that ate a very poor breakfast.

The children began eating better breakfasts. Parents heard about Mrs. Wagner's program and cooperated. A school lunch project was started, and one corner of the school was converted into a model kitchen. Now the children eat lunch in school, and learn, as they eat, what makes for a properly-balanced diet.

The Workshop students were all examined at the college before they went back to their own home communities to put their new ideas into use. And the tests revealed that many of them were not yet practicing what they were about to preach.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Racial Question Is Behind Argument On Child Labor

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON —(P)— Behind the recent congressional argument over child labor in cotton fields is a racial issue.

Involved is a bill which would permit state and local authorities to use their own judgment whether children under 16 should be permitted to pick cotton during school hours.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin opposes the legislation. West Texas farmers and school officials declare there will be havoc and waste in West Texas cotton fields unless the measure passes.

There is a racial angle because most of the workers involved are migrant Latin American families who come from the Rio Grande valley to work in West Texas cotton fields.

Sam Allen of Lamesa, summing up the views of a group of West Texans who came to urge passage of the legislation, said:

"We certainly are not opposed to the Latin American children getting an education. What we are trying to do now is show government officials we have a serious and practical problem to face.

For Defense Effort
"We need the cotton for the defense effort. We will have the cotton, but we face a serious risk. It won't get picked if they won't relax the present ban against hiring those under 16 during school hours."

"Crew chiefs who bring in this help each year tell us now that they will have difficulty recruiting all the help we will need. Those men won't come up if they can't bring their families, and they can't afford to come with the children unless all of them are working."

"The result is that they, as well as the farmer with the crop to pick, suffer financial hardships."

Tobin told the Texans he felt that enough help would be provided

Whether or not the Latin American Texans migrate with their families in great numbers this year remains to be seen. The effect of large numbers, as occurred last year, was related by another member of the visiting Texans.

"When we have a large influx," said Roy Boyd, superintendent of county schools in Lubbock County, "we simply have to dismiss school."

Don't Have Buses
"We don't have the buses to pick them up, the classrooms to accommodate them nor enough teachers to handle them. That, of course, penalizes our own permanently enrolled children whose parents are taxed to keep the school doors open."

Tom Sutherland of Austin, head of the Texas council on human relations, recently conferred with State Department officials on related problems.

The former head of the Texas good neighbor commission told the State Department Texans are making a genuine effort to give Latin Americans a better deal.

He supplied officials with copies of a booklet issued by the council telling of the efforts of his organization to improve relations between English speaking and Spanish speaking peoples. The publication says that along the South Texas border these two great cultures run up against each other, creating a problem unlike that anywhere else in the western hemisphere.

Among the officials with whom Sutherland talked was Tom Mann,

Formerly of Laredo, now assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs. Mann accepted copies of the booklet to distribute to American embassies in the hemisphere, in the hope it would counter some of the often-heard reports below the border that Texans treat peoples of Latin American blood unfairly.

Around The Capital
A Yankee senator paid unusual tribute on the senate floor to a Texan who has left his capitol position to return to his home state.

Speaking of Cecil H. Tolbert of Sherman, an employe of the senate appropriations and armed services committees for almost 20 years, senator Bridges (R-NH) said:

"He has given so selflessly of his life that his health has been broken by the arduous duties which are so peculiar to the functioning of this particular (appropriations committee)."

Noting that Tolbert retired under physicians' orders, Bridges remarked that senators would be glad to have him come back to work if he feels fit and wants to leave Sherman again.

Someday farmers in South Texas may find they can profitably grow a yam-like plant from which tannin is extracted. That's the liquid used in tanning leather.

Recently Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, was asked by William A. Clifford of Lubbock whether there is a chance that cannaigre could be successfully grown in his part of West Texas.

Poage asked Agriculture Department experts, who came back with this reply:

Apparently the climate in the Lubbock area wouldn't be suitable, but farther south in Texas there may be areas which are sufficiently semi-tropical to grow the plant successfully. Land put into the crop should net about $144 an acre. Studies are underway by the department to determine the feasibility of commercial production of cannaigre, the tannin bearing plant, in this country.

The census bureau, continuing its study of 1950 population data, reports that there are fewer than 10 persons to the square mile in a third of Texas' 254 counties.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcortrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcortrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barcortrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better. Barcortrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcortrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away — almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more pep, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Lost 37 Pounds
"I wish to state that I lost 37 pounds taking Barcortrate," writes Mrs. J. L. McCarty, Danville, Texas.

Lost 14 Pounds
"Without a diet, I have lost 14 pounds taking Barcortrate," says Mrs. E. M. Hensgt, 2300 Werner Ave., Austin, Texas. "I am glad to recommend Barcortrate to anyone."

10 Pounds Lost
"I wish to state that I have had very satisfactory results taking Barcortrate," writes Mrs. Louise Skipper, 427 W. Lost Ave., Kingville, Texas. "I lost 10 pounds and ate anything I wanted."

White Rats Make Kids Eat Big Meals

STATE COLLEGE, PA. —(NEA)
—White rats are doing more to make youngsters here eat than any amount of parental persuasion.

It's all part of a project in the Pennsylvania State College, designed to show grade schools that teaching nutrition at an early age is a good educational program. The project is called the Nutrition Workshop.

Twenty-four teachers, nurses and health education specialists spent three weeks in the Workshop, learning nutritional facts and how to work them into their teaching programs. Part of the plan had them attend a class, taught by Mrs. Gladys Burns, where children were learning basic facts on nutrition.

Each child was assigned the care of one white rat. The rats were divided into three classes — some were fed bread and milk, some bread and candy and the others bread and a soft drink.

The children watched progress of the rats and kept a daily record of their weight. They saw how the bread and milk diet kept the animals healthy and gaining in size. They obviously were impressed with the importance of three well-balanced meals to growth.

And the teachers who watched were impressed, too. They saw that a lesson like that was bringing results and that the children were eating better as they watched the effect of good food on rats.

Because of the increased emphasis on grasses and legumes in farming, the booklet was published as an information service to farmers.

It is a compilation of the latest available information on the practical and profitable use of grass in farm management.

One chapter suggests ways to plan a grassland program depending upon the soil, climate, terrain and size of herd. Charts and pictures show how grass fits into present farm programs to increase yields, lower

Tractor Goes On Plowing While Its Owner Sleeps

Lonesome Louie: A long series of bigger and bigger circles. BROWNFIELD, TEXAS —(NEA)—It's kind of eerie, the folks down here allow, to hear Lonesome Louie chugging along in the middle of the night. Lonesome Louie is a tractor belonging to farmer Curtis Hulise.

What makes the scene even more peculiar is the fact that Lonesome Louie doesn't have a driver. There, in the still, yellow Texas moonlight, is this tractor, going around in circles all by itself.

It's not aimless tractoring, though. Hulise points out. His machine goes around in those larger and larger circles 24 hours a day, absolutely uncontrolled. But there's a definite purpose: the tractor is breaking up the surface of the ground.

It's part of Hulise's soil conservation program. The soil on his 500-acre farm is primarily sandy, with a clay base. The best way to keep the topsoil from blowing away is to break the ground and bring the clay to the surface.

Hulise starts the tractor (a Ferguson System Implement) in the center of a field. It starts to plow in a small circle, turning the soil to the inside. Working with a single bottom moldboard plow, Louie plows as a depth of 12 to 14 inches.

Once set and started, the tractor keeps going. During a 24-hour day, the machine covers about 15 acres. It needs attention only four times during the period—morning, noon, night and midnight. The rest of the time it chugs along in ever-widening circles.

With Louie working at the conservation part of the job, Hulise himself is freed for other work or leisure. During one of those leisure periods, he figured out that the driverless tractor has produced results.

In a very dry period, the acres that Louie had deep-plowed pro-

Speakers, Dates For 1951-52 Season Of K-F Club Announced

Guest speakers and dates for the 1951-52 season of the Midland Knife and Fork Club were announced Saturday by President Carroll L. Thomas. The organization is entering its third year of operation here.

The initial meeting of the season is scheduled October 8, when Michael MacDougall, celebrated international card detective, will speak on the subject, "Gamblers Don't Gamble." Thomas said MacDougall will present a fascinating program of pure escapism, "one which is sure to take your mind off the more weighty things in life."

John Temple Graves, II, billed as America's most widely read Southern newspaper columnist and orator, will address the club November 15. "Socialism Comes Creeping" will be his subject.

The third lecture is slated December 4, when John Morley, noted correspondent, world traveler and author, will speak on the subject, "A Correspondent's Unconcerned Report On the World Crisis."

Felix H. Zaffiro, consulting psychologist, author and lecturer, will be the club's guest speaker January 22. His subject will be "What Makes Us Tick."

"Educational Profit and Loss" will be the subject of an address by Paul Whitney at the February 26 meeting of Midland K&F Club. An outstanding speaker, Mrs. Whitney is a noted clubwoman and an authority on youth work and education.

Dr. Gerald Wendt, America's foremost interpreter of science to the public, will come to Midland for a return engagement March 10. He addressed the K&F Club at its first dinner meeting held soon after its organization in 1949. "What Science Is Doing To Us" will be his subject. Dr. Wendt also spoke before another group here a number of years ago.

The speaker at the final meeting of the 1951-52 season will be Rear Admiral Benton W. Decker (USN Retired), who will use as his subject, "The Story of a Successful Occupation." The meeting will be held April 15.

Sheppard Air Base Is Good Example Of Thrifty Practices

WICHITA FALLS — The word is out to save the taxpayer's money at military installations. Sheppard Air Force Base here is a good example. About fifty million dollars was spent at the base in the fiscal year ending June 30. That's a lot of money.

But the cost would have been greater were it not for a constant campaign to impress upon everyone at the base that the ultimate source of the money is the common purse.

A faucet washer costs only three cents and can be installed in five minutes. But a neglected, leaky faucet must be replaced—and that costs three dollars.

Cement, sand and gravel are purchased in carload lots. Paint is bought in 50-gallon drums. Competitive bidding has resulted in savings, in one instance a dollar a gallon on paint.

The officer of the day checks use of electricity. Where unnecessary lights are found, commanding officers are notified.

Principal Aim Given
There are eight four-man teams of carpenter, electrician, plumber and foreman scattered about the base. Their principal aim is preventive maintenance—making the early repairs which save money.

The taxpayer does not pay for the juke box, nor the electricity which makes it operate in the various clubs. Installations, improvements and utilities costs are assessed against such facilities as the Officers' Club, NCO Clubs, base exchanges, cafeteria, barber and tailor shops, laundry, refreshment stands, etc.

If a plumbing job calls for 17 feet out of a pipe-length of 20 feet, the remaining three feet is threaded, stored and used for connections.

Food is a major item. A typical daily issue: 19,168 pounds of potatoes, 14,728 pounds of whole chickens, 1,195 pounds of lettuce, 7,460 pounds of ground beef, 50,568 eggs, 1,846 pounds of butter, 4,860 pounds of tomatoes, 12,000 quarts of milk, and 2,200 loaves of bread.

Leftovers are used within 24 hours. Bread reappears as toast, or in puddings. Bacon becomes seasoning for beans, spinach, and salads.

Potatoes are machine-peeled, which saves time, manpower—and potatoes. The base has a fat-rendering plant. All grease is used and reused.

Kitchen waste is sold on contract to hog farmers. But chicken entrails and bones are kept separate, for sale to processors at a higher price. Egg cases are resold.

Salvage—sale of garbage, scrap metal, etc.—yielded $4,480 in May, which is about average.

Electric Co-Ops Will Celebrate Special Occasion

STANTON—The Cap Rock Electric Cooperative will join 76 other co-ops over Texas in observing August 19-25 as Rural Electrification Week in Texas.

This was proclaimed by Gov. Allan Shivers.

The governor called upon Texans "to resolve anew that the program shall continue to expand until every farm family in the state shall enjoy the blessings of electric lights and power."

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, which serves 2,514 rural homes in this area with 1,400 miles of lines, was established in 1940. The Rural Electrification Administration was established in 1935 and since that time rural Texas has been 90 per cent electrified.

Wholesome Revolution
"Each of the 77 rural electric cooperatives in Texas," the governor's proclamation continued, "is a free and independent, taxpaying business enterprise, chartered under the laws of the State of Texas and owned and controlled by the farmers and ranchers who receive service along its lines."

"The availability of electricity has brought about a wholesale revolution in farm methods, production and living standards; has enlightened the drudgery of farm tasks and increased farm output and profits; has been instrumental in keeping young people on the land and has promoted the general welfare not only of rural people but of urban residents as well whose property and wellbeing depend upon a sound and prosperous agriculture."

Everybody Winner In Diplomatic Beauty Contest

Maria Teresa Castro: "It's so thrilling..."

Iceland's Margaret Thors: "Are you kidding?"

"organizers" of the event all claimed they knew nothing of it. Finally, however, Mrs. Marie McNair, a society editor who was listed as one of the judges, admitted that she hadn't done any judging but said that Radlovic had the complete story of it.

Monty had all the answers. His headquarters is a one-room paper-littered office in an obscure little building on a side street. A hand-painted sign on the door pronounces it the headquarters of "The Diplomat," which Monty explains is a fortnightly publication giving all the inside dope on the town's diplomatic set.

Monty admits he was a major in the British Army in the last war and claims 16 years with the Reuters news agency. He is a British subject and obviously well-known in the diplomatic set.

He modestly agreed that the contest was a swell promotion idea for the magazine. He said nobody's feelings would ever be hurt because each issue would announce a new winner. He thought everybody in town would be terribly interested in it, and he was dead right.

Whale Of Success
The cocktail party announcing the first winner was a whale of a success. Senor Guilan, a short, dark, enthusiastic young South American diplomat, explained that as judge he had helped select entries "from among those girls whom we all recognized as the most pretty of the diplomatic set."

Also, he adds sagely, there are standards for beauty which are different from those in America. "A beautiful girl in Rhodesia isn't necessarily considered beautiful in Chicago, and we are going to be completely international about this," he explains.

Andrews 1951-52 School Term Set

ANDREWS — After a recent board meeting of the Andrews Independent School, it was announced by Thomas D. Hamilton, superintendent, that the 1951-52 term of school will open September 3 and is scheduled to close May 23, 1952.

Holidays to be observed are Thanksgiving, November 22 and 23; Christmas, December 22 and 23; Easter, April 11 to 14. January 11 will be the last day of the first semester and the district teachers meeting in Odessa is scheduled to be held March 14.

Complete Story
The prominent women listed as

Diana Oreamuno: "I've never been so thrilled..."

Most of the girls nominated as entrants were on hand for the verdict. Madame Raza, a really lovely brunette, wife of the Pakistani Military Attache, said that it didn't mean much to her one way or the other who won.

Miss Margaret Thors, much-publicized daughter of the Minister from Iceland, dashed in, demanding to know where the bar was located. When she was asked whether or not she was disappointed at not winning, she replied in a husky contralto voice, "Are you kidding?"

Only comment of the gal most people thought was the prettiest girl there, Miss Maria Teresa Castro, the teen-age daughter of the ambassador of El Salvador, was, "I don't care who wins, it's so thrilling."

The winner was Senorita Diana Oreamuno, 19-year-old daughter of the Costa Rican ambassador. Bubbling over with her wholesome enthusiasm, she said, "I've never been so thrilled by anything in all my life."

Postal Receipts For First Six Months Of 1951 Total $175,161

A good gauge of the sustained growth of Midland are postal receipts.

For example, total receipts at the Midland Post Office during the first six months of this year were larger than the whole year's receipts of 1947.

Postmaster N. G. Oates reported postal receipts for the first six months of 1951 amounted to $175,161. Receipts for the entire year of 1947 were $172,750.

And the heavy half of the year in postal receipts is coming up, according to Oates: During the Christmas period receipts usually are the largest of the year.

Here are the receipts by months during the first half of this year:

MONTH	TOTAL
January	$31,522
February	26,045
March	29,909
April	28,951
May	28,966
June	28,972

July receipts totaled $30,478. Postal receipts during the first half of 1951 were $31,314 higher than those for the first six months in 1950 (last year). During the first six months of 1950, receipts were $143,847. This is compared with the $175,161 of 1951.

Here is how postal receipts in Midland have jumped since 1940:

YEAR	TOTAL
1940	$ 77,123
1941	88,991
1942	109,329
1943	121,151
1944	159,481
1945	150,818
1946	154,236
1947	172,750
1948	271,625
1949	254,966
1950	310,896

DID YOUR PROPERTY SUFFER STORM DAMAGE?

If it did . . . and if you carry Windstorm or Extended Coverage Insurance, the following friendly suggestions are offered to acquaint you with the proper procedure in handling your claim in the speediest possible manner.

Look For Amount Of The Deductible Clause In Your Own Policy

Most Windstorm and Extended Coverage Policies now contain a deductible clause. This clause explains what portion of the loss is paid by you and what portion of the loss is paid by the company. Check to see if your own policy contains this provision.

If Your Loss Is More Than Amount Of The Deductible Clause . . .

Or If Your Policy Does Not Have A Deductible Clause . . . Notify your agent and he will report the loss to your insurance company and arrange for an adjuster to call upon you.

If Possible, Obtain An Accurate Estimate Of Your Storm Damage . . .

If you find, after making an itemized estimate of the cost of repairs to your property, that your loss is less than the amount of the deductible clause . . . you will have no claim. Such an estimate is for your information in determining whether or not you should file a claim, and for the adjuster.

Protect Property From Further Damage While Waiting For Adjuster . . .

Your Local Agent, the Claim Adjuster, and Insurance Companies are all anxious to give you prompt service and immediate settlement. They are working under emergency conditions, however. Extra adjusters are here and your claim will be settled just as quickly as possible.

Can't Negotiate With Reds

Communist "negotiators" in Korea now tell us the return of armed Red soldiers to the supposedly neutral Kaesong truce area was just a mistake and that it won't happen again.

That it was a mistake is very doubtful. Certainly the Communists are as prone to error as anyone. But it is not likely that armed troops would march into the vital Kaesong sector through accident or carelessness.

The Communists may have wanted time to refer back to Moscow for further instructions, since the two truce teams were deadlocked on the issue of where to establish a buffer zone.

Knowing the reaction the United Nations would have toward a violation of the truce area, the Reds may have resorted to this device as an alternative to further requests for a recess. The Communist team must find it considerably embarrassing to have to make referrals to higher authority for guidance.

Naturally, too, the Reds would not be unmindful of the propaganda advantage inherent in the renewal of a situation suggesting them as victors and the UN as vanquished. Even during the time they have kept Kaesong neutral, they persistently have pounded the theme that Korea represents a "defeat" for the West.

In the end, perhaps it doesn't really matter why they chose to flex their muscles once more. All that counts is that they did it. For that fact contains again sober instruction for the West in dealing with the Communists.

There actually is no such thing as "negotiating" with the Reds. You may sit at the council table with them, but there is no give and take. The technique of compromise so vital to the spirit of true negotiation may not be practiced, since any yielding on any score is exploited rather than reciprocated.

Consequently, dealing with Communists consists of taking a somewhat inflexible position to match the rigid stand on the other side. Only when the Reds modify their position after reference back to higher authority can Western negotiators safely alter their own stand.

If any concrete solution of the Korean problem emerges from Kaesong, it will be because the Communists want above all to end the fighting. It will not be because any miracle of negotiation has been accomplished.

The man who thinks he has no chance these days can thank himself for being correct.

How To Win Friends And Influence People

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Taft and MacArthur forget bitter family feud; Mrs. William Howard Taft's book recalls details; President Taft was exasperated by discourtesy of Gen. Arthur MacArthur.

WASHINGTON — One of the strangest political alliances of modern history is that which the Tafts and the MacArthurs have just about completed—between Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Ever since Senator Taft called on General MacArthur at the Waldorf shortly after his return to the United States, Taft forces have been working on a plan whereby MacArthur would throw his weight behind Taft for the presidency. This alliance is now reported all but signed, sealed and delivered.

What most people don't know, and apparently what Senator Taft doesn't remember, was the bitter feud between his father and MacArthur's father on exactly the same showdown that Truman had with Douglas—willian authority over the military.

The feud was so bitter that when Lt. Douglas MacArthur received his diploma from West Point, he refused to shake hands with William Howard Taft, then secretary of War. Taft had come to West Point to hand out the diplomas. Young MacArthur, now so friendly with Taft's son, accepted the diploma, but spurned congratulatory handshakes of the secretary of War, turned on his heel and strode over to stand beside his father.

Mrs. Taft's Story

Mrs. Taft, mother of the senator, tells most of the story in her book, "Recollections of Full Years." The elder Taft was appointed by President McKinley on a commission to establish civilian government in the Philippines.

"General MacArthur," Mrs. Taft wrote, referring to the father of Douglas (he was then commander in the Philippines), "seemed to resent the advent of the commission and to be determined to place himself in opposition to every step which was taken by them or contemplated."

"Yes," said he, "that would be all right if I hadn't been exercising so much more power than that before you came."

"Whereupon Mr. Taft gently reminded him that he had been exercising that power about three weeks only and said he hoped he had not become, in that time, so habituated to the situation as to prevent his appreciating the rather exalted position in which he would still be left. They afterward exchanged some correspondence as to what powers each did have, but they seemed to have disagreed from the first."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

A hand that was played recently in Philadelphia fits right into our discussion of penalty doubles. It's just as important to know when to keep quiet as to know when to double.

East showed a good hand when he jumped to three hearts. He added to his story when he doubled four spades. (North could have made four spades, but South can hardly be blamed for running out.)

West had the chance to double five clubs, but he failed to do so. West's pass fairly shrieks "Don't count on me for defensive strength. I would double with the smell of a trick, but I don't have even that much."

East cannot be blamed for feeling hopeful, but he should know that he is not going to murder five clubs. The big question is whether five clubs can be beaten at all. A double in such a situation can gain only 50 points if the contract is set one trick.

It loses 150 points if the contract is made; and it loses 350 points if the contract is redoubled and made. It's foolish to gamble 50 points against 350 points when you're far from sure of the 50.

There wasn't the slightest play to beat five clubs. South had to give up two tricks to East's ace, and then he could claim the rest. Of course East could run to five hearts, which might cost only 500 points. But a player who doubles and then runs out when he is redoubled exposes himself to psychic redoubles.

East decided that his double was sound and therefore elected to gamble out. The result is exactly what happens a good part of the time to players who double for a one-trick set.

Tooling Up Is Main Factor Delaying Defense Production

By FETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Not the chief cook and bottle-washer, but the chief bottleneck-breaker of the now year-old defense production business is a hefty, tough-talking gent of not quite 50 named W. Walter Watts. His official title is deputy administrator of the Defense Production Administration. Watts says yes, we've got bottlenecks this time just like the last, only maybe not as bad now as before.

Chief cooks of defense production this time are, of course, C. E. Wilson as Defense Mobilization director and Manly Fleischmann, smart young Buffalo lawyer, who is Defense Production administrator.

Under Fleischmann in DPA, as bottleneck breaker, is Walter Watts. He heads the Office of Procurement and Production. He is a production man in private life, a vice president in charge of engineering production for Radio Corporation of America at Camden, N. J. He has been in Washington about six months but hopes to get out in another six months. Let somebody else have the privilege of beating his brains out on these tough defense production problems.

Chicago-born Watts' first job was as a telegraph operator. He got into radio as an amateur experimenter. Without any formal engineering education, he became a production and sales executive for Zenith, then Montgomery Ward and finally RCA. In World War II he was a colonel in charge of Signal Corps procurement, under General Harrison, who persuaded him to come to Washington.

Deliveries Lag

Mobilization Director C. E. Wilson's second quarterly report was frank in admitting that deliveries of arms still are low. Although defense orders were placed at the rate of more than three billion dollars a month, deliveries are half that. This is double the pre-Korea rate. But deliveries won't be up to the $4,000,000,000-a-month level much before June, 1952.

The reason is principally that it takes this long to tool up for full production. And here is where the bottlenecks are encountered. Walter Watts lists them principally as bottlenecks in materials, in engineering design, in paperwork, in facilities and machine tools.

So far, he says, Army, Navy and Air Force have not had any lack of deliveries because of shortages of materials. This situation may not last, because production still is low.

When jet engine production gets really rolling, the demand for heat-resistant alloys like the 80 per cent nickel turbine blades will rise up. Only reason the tungsten shortage has not had worse effects is that comparatively few armor-piercing shells have been used in Korea.

Under full demand, there won't be enough of these alloys unless they are taken away from the civilian economy 100 per cent. That's one way to break a bottleneck. Cobalt demands have been met that way.

Another method is to develop substitutes for critical materials. Many of the big research laboratories of the country now are trying to develop such substitutes. But they have passed no miracles yet.

Alan's practical sense took over. "Suppose we go and case the joint—I mean, take a quiet look-see."

The pagoda was easy enough to inspect; for every appearance was geared as though the old builders had forecast it as a tourist attraction. It stood in a walled court guarded by belcos, fierce golden dragons, and by cheydeys, shrines of sacred bones and by shaki—uniformed guards whose function was to search outgoing tourists.

Entry immediately showed the need of this precaution. The whole floor was laid with plates of silver that pin-pointed reflected the lights of thousands of candles. Blink away the dazzle, one could see the fabulous Altar-of-the-Five-Tiers.

Finish Your Own Furniture

Home Finishing of Furniture Is Easier With These Items

ELBOW GREASE

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Lots of people are buying unpainted furniture these days for kitchens, game rooms, dining rooms, dens, and even for living rooms when they feel they can do a finishing job that will look as if it belonged.

For simple utilitarian purposes, of course, a couple of coats of good enamel, applied after a careful job of sanding, will do the trick. Paint even will serve for living room or den, for instance, if you take a nicely-designed end table and finish it in solid, glossy black.

There's no reason, however, why you can't make good unpainted furniture look as good as other furniture around the house that was bought already finished. It takes some work—careful work—but it's worth it.

First, pick the color stain you want to use. Water stains are easiest for the amateur to handle and dry faster than oil stains. Before you begin staining, you'll have the wood nice and smooth by rubbing it down with No. 00 steel wool and then No. 00 sandpaper. Dust the wood carefully, then apply the stain quickly with a wide, well-loaded brush to avoid streaking. If it's too light, try a second coat.

Simplest Finish
The simplest finish, after the stain is dry, is to put on two or three coats of varnish or white shellac, rubbing down with No. 00 steel wool or sandpaper lightly between each coat.

for the final polish. Varnishes come in a gloss or dull finish; rubbing carefully with steel wool (for semi-dull) or powdered pumice and oil (for flat) will take the high sheen off shellac.

French polishing will give you the finest job of all—long lasting, with the surface of fine period furniture. After staining (with water stain only) you put on white shellac—thinned to water-like consistency—and applied with a soft lintless cloth in rapid, straight strokes.

When the first coat is dry, sand and put on additional coats until a light glow appears. Now add several drops of oil to the thin shellac—boiled linseed oil or pure olive oil—and shift to a rotary motion. Add a little more oil with each coat until you have a deeply glowing finish.

Dip-And-Rub Version
A simpler version of French polishing is called dip-and-rub. You apply one thin coat of shellac to set the stain and sand it down. Then get a couple of saucers; put pure turpentine in one, white shellac (4-pound cut) in the other. Roll a cloth into a pad, dip it first into the turps, then into the shellac, and rub it into the wood with a rotary motion. About four or five coats of this will give you a rich soft gloss. If you want a still higher polish, wait 18 hours and then rub some more with the cloth dipped in nothing but linseed oil.

None of these is a simple afternoon chore like slapping on a coat of enamel. But you'll have something to be proud of long after your arm stops aching.

Houses Are Better Built Today Than Ever Before

Families buying or building homes today receive greater value for their building dollars than ever before, according to appraisers and mortgage lenders. Houses generally are of better design and construction, have a longer potential life and contain more conveniences, say these experts.

1951 Expected To Be Record Year In Modernization

If present trends continue, 1951 should be a record year for old-house modernization and remodeling.

In a study of building statistics from government sources for the first part of this year, the U. S. Council of America reports new-home construction down 21 per cent from last year, while purchases of old houses are outstripping those of new dwellings by a 15-to-10 ratio. The imposition of regulations requiring down payments on new homes that in many cases are beyond the means of the middle-income family was considered responsible for the changed buying trend.

Modernization Dollars
Kitchens, bathroom and living room are expected to receive the major share of modernization dollars, the study indicates, with durable, easy-to-clean materials such as clay tile among leaders in preference for floors and walls. Because old houses usually are lacking in window area, glass probably will run tie a close second in remodeling expenditures, the report predicts.

It also pointed to a growing trend on the part of home buyers to begin modernization in the kitchen, presumably upon the insistence of the housewife, who spends most of her time in that room. Not only are homemakers insisting on stainproof surfaces for walls, floors and drainboards in the kitchen, but they also are exhibiting an increasing awareness of the importance of step-saving floor plans in kitchen efficiency, according to the council.

Landscaping Adds Comfort Through Climate Control

Homeowners, discovering that climate control depends to a large extent on the surroundings of the house, are learning to landscape their grounds for comfort as well as beauty, says Mary Deputy Lamson, landscape consultant for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

Through scientific planting, she explained, it is possible to minimize the effect of sun, rain, snow and wind on the house. It is possible to moderate temperatures in some cases up to 10 or 15 degrees, which means the difference between comfort and discomfort. At the same time such plantings create a pleasant setting for the picture window or window wall that has become a characteristic feature of the American Style of architecture.

"With the greater trend toward bigger picture windows and window walls in modern homes, I think climate control is a particularly important subject as windows wrongly placed can make the house unbearably cold or unacceptably hot," Mrs. Lamson said. "Correctly landscaped, they can increase the comfort at any season of the year."

Use Of Vines
For example, the judicious use of vines in the form of "plant awnings" over large picture windows will keep off the direct rays of the sun in Summer and admit the solar heat in the Winter when such vines are without leaves.

Climate control also can be effected by use of a high hedge of evergreens and shrubs, extending in an arch from the north side of the property around to the east side, so as to serve as a windbreak in Winter to modify northerly winds. In the Summer, breezes will be funneled between the house and hedge to create a cooling flow of air.

Other similar climate control practices also help keep the home more comfortable. A tree located to shade the wall and roof of the house in the afternoon will keep the interior cooler. Plants and shrubs which shade the walls also help, since plants transpire and the evaporation of moisture from them helps cool the air.

Charlemagne first used the title, Kaiser in 800.

CONVERSATION

A parrot can talk. But he can only say the things he has heard!

Human conversation is not so far removed from parrot-talk as we might like to believe. We too base most of our conversation on the things we have heard. But we digest thoughts that have been given us, consider them, make them our own, and then repeat them in our own words.

And yet, unlike the parrots, we influence others by the gift of speech. Our words can brighten or darken the lives of many people.

The God who has given us the gift of speech has also given us access to Truth. The spiritual knowledge we gain as we worship and study in our churches is the key to what the Bible calls "a holy conversation."

And that doesn't mean using pious phrases! It means using the gift of speech to help, rather than hurt, ourselves and others.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

New Kits For Cops Catch Everything But The Nightstick Is Here To Stay

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If you're toying with the idea of forging a check, don't. Ditto stealing a car, burglarizing a home or killing a neighbor.

Police chiefs have just had a look at a collection of the latest devices for crime detection which should make any would-be law-breaker stop, look and go straight. For $225, any police department can equip itself with a big black valise which opens up into a formidable looking laboratory. It's called the Professional Investigation Kit. It does everything but cross-examine a witness.

Among other things, it can be used to detect narcotics, test for blood stains, examine laundry marks, find forgeries, restore obliterated numbers such as car serial numbers, examine dental work and take and compare finger prints—even post-mortem fingerprints.

Another new piece of police

equipment is a handcuff called the iron claw. It has only one bracelet, which is attached to a big handle. Like a corkscrew handle. The policeman snaps the bracelet over the suspect's wrist.

Then he can turn the handle until the ratchets inside clamp the bracelet tight. Should the criminal act up a little more pressure and he could be forced down on the ground with a badly aching wrist.

In Other Advances

Light weight is the key in other advances in police paraphernalia. There's a brand new lightweight Summer shirt for policemen, made out of a tropical worsted.

The manufacturer feels that officers have a right to feel comfortable in the Summer.

And there are lightweight revolvers, too. One called a "Chief's Special" is a 19-ounce, short revolver that is a .38 caliber. Another is even lighter, only 15 ounces, and is made of aluminum.

There's a new sub machine gun which has been made to look as menacing as possible. The salesman explained that would-be criminals are often deterred by the mere sight of an awesome looking weapon in the hands of the police.

About the only thing that has not changed is the old-fashioned nightstick. That, the policeman says, is just about perfect the way it is.

Italian Composer Receives Honor

ROME—(AP)—Composer Lucio Refice has been appointed vice president of the World Academy of Artists.

Refice is well known in Italy and abroad for his two operas "Cecilia" and "Margherita da Cortona."

The diploma of vice president was handed to Maestro Refice during a ceremony held here in the home of Prince Beranger, president of the World Academy. During the ceremony, Refice told his host that he has nearly finished a new opera the title of which will be "Il Mago" ("The Magician"). The libretto is by Emilio Mucci of Rome.

LETHAL HAILSTORM

VAUXHILL, ALBERTA—(AP)—In a recent hailstorm here the hail was heavy enough to kill chickens, break the legs of lambs and dent tops of motor-cars.

Most volcanoes have their origins in molten rock which leaks out from the earth's interior.

Housewife, Mother Of Six Finds Time For TV Show, Too

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Almost any woman, charged with the job of bringing up six children, would decide she had her hands full if she did nothing else but supervise their health and happiness. Not so Virginia Klose.

Not content with managing a home in Dutchess County, New York, assisting her husband Woody in running a 100-acre farm, serving as chairman of the local Red Cross, and attending P-TA, Garden Club and Historical Club meetings, this energetic young brunette also manages to find time for a five-day-a-week television show.

This is a Mr. and Mrs. program, which she and Woody telecast from WJZ-TV for a half hour beginning at noon Monday through Friday.

Virginia is proud of the fact that she's "actually living the kind of life that I'm supposed to be living on the show," and adds, "I'm so sick of experts—you know, those single women dedicated to telling housewives how to do it."

Actually, Virginia is herself aided by a staff of experts—her own children. Many solutions to family problems worked out by the Kloses and their small fry find their way even usually into the show as program material.

For instance, there was the period in small Victoria's life (she's 14 months now) when she just couldn't make up her mind between the fascination of exploring indoors and the lure of nature outside. In and out, in and out, she went, requiring each time that the door be opened for her by a long-suffering parent, brother or sister.

"I was growling about it," Virginia confesses. "When Kevin came up with the suggestion that we put a handle on the door lower down. So I did that and told about it on the show. Kevin got a box of candy for his bright idea."

Although Taylor, 14, Nicky, 12, Kevin, 10, Christopher, 6, Deborah, 3, and baby Victoria have functioned thus far largely as board of advisors, there are plans afoot to introduce them to the television audience.

The appearance one day of six youngsters should offer no surprise to the Klose audience, since they've already been introduced, on this informal program, to many of the people who are a part of Virginia's

Vatican Reopens Palace Apartments

VATICAN CITY—(AP)—The apartments in the pontifical palace occupied by the late Cardinal Luigi Maglione have been reopened for the first time since his death.

Cardinal Maglione, former Vatican secretary of state, died in 1944. Since then, Pope Pius XII has acted as his own secretary of state, with the aid of two church officers. Cardinal Maglione's former apartments will be used to house a Vatican relief mission.

WELL-INFORMED CANINE

REGENIA—(AP)—When a householder missed delivery of his newspaper six days in a row and couldn't find out who was taking it, he called police. A hidden policeman spotted the thief—a black mongrel dog was carrying the paper away.

AMATEUR PROFESSIONAL

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—Two years ago Theodosia La Barbera, Miami housewife, enrolled in a creative writing class at the YWCA. Within a year she had won a $2,000 prize in a radio play contest; since then she has won $350 on another radio play.

Letters Tell Of Inflation In 1776

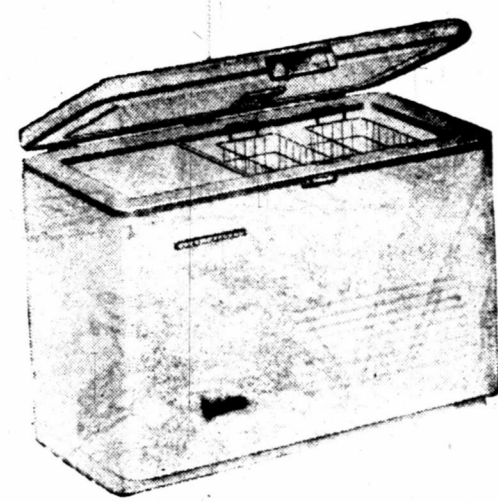

NEW YORK—(AP)—Letters of a merchant and his family, given to the New York Public Library by the estate of Bayard Blackwell Rodman, show the cost of living in 1776. "A green bonnet" made for a lady in those Revolutionary days cost $2. A 16-pound side of lamb cost $3. A 23-pound hind of veal cost $5.50.

Micro-Waving Aids Television Signals

NEW YORK—(AP)—Micro-wave radio links have been found in television network relaying which permit the passage of better signals. TV engineers here say. This is attributed to the fact that present coaxial cables limit the width of the signal, tending to cut down on the transmission. In micro-waving, wider bands are permissible, thereby eliminating such handicaps.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Shady Character

you see here, you—shady character!"

And another radio voice made

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, came rapping and tapping there at the door of the Huffen Puffen's hollow tree house. "Oh, Huffen Puffen!" called out Daddy Ringtail. "Are you at home?"

The Huffen did not call out an answer. Instead, all he did was open the door and say: "Ssshhh!" The Huffen put his fingers to his mouth when he said it. He wanted Daddy Ringtail please to be quite "Ssshhh!"

Daddy Ringtail "shushed." He listened. Yes, and then he heard the something the Huffen was wanting to hear. The something was really a radio program, and what a program it was!

A voice on the radio said: "Now

And then through the radio came the sound of a terrible struggle and fight. "Biff! Bam! Biff! Take that! And That! You shady character!" "Phew!" said the Huffen to hear it, but the Huffen had heard about all he could stand to hear. He reached out a hand to turn the radio off, "click!"

"Uhuh," said the Huffen, "and I think, I do, that both of those fellows were shady characters, except I don't know what a shady character is, I don't."

Daddy Ringtail smiled to hear these words. Well, Daddy Ringtail was thinking maybe the fellows on the radio too didn't know what a shady character was; at least they didn't know the kind of shady character Daddy Ringtail was wanting to be. Ah yes, but Daddy Ringtail took the Huffen with him to see just what kind of shady character it is a lot of fun to be.

Daddy Ringtail sat down beneath the shade of a tree by the Whispering river and began to fish. What fun! Yesir, the Huffen also sat down in the shade and began to fish. They were both shady fisherman characters, and the shade was happy and cool all around. Happy day!

Frankie's 15-Acre Market Is Throwback To 19th Century

LODI, N. J. —(NBA)— You come upon Frankie's Market from the highway, and the first thing you notice is that the traffic is very heavy. A policeman directs you into a tremendous parking lot, full of thousands of cars parked in endless rows.

You leave your car and follow the crowds across an open field toward a clearing ablaze with lights. There's a carnival spirit in the air. Children hold tightly to their parents' hands. Ahead you hear a babble of excited voices.

And then you're inside one of the most amazing places you're likely to see. If you hadn't come in a car, you'd think you were living back in the 19th Century. Frankie's Market is a throwback to the farmers' markets of years gone by, only on a grander scale.

There's a feather-headed Indian hawk hawk patent medicine. "The Bible has it straight," he says, "when it says over and over again—herbs, herbs, herbs. Now smell this, madam—pure herbs."

There are stands where you can eat corn on the cob, or clams, or chow mein, or french fries, or Italian pizza pie. The smells mingle together with the fresh smell of the grass underfoot.

There's one awesome shed, big enough to be a dirigible hangar. It's full of wooden tables, with merchandise piled on top and hanging from the walls. Down one aisle there are men and women selling shoes, china, yard goods, hardware, stockings, roller skates, auto accessories, jewelry, candy, linens, shirts, rugs, guitars, cosmetics, picture frames, baked goods, flowers, aluminum screens, fish, cutlery, pants, meat and magic supplies.

There are huge tents and open trucks with vast mounds of fresh farm produce. You can buy a whole watermelon or just a slice. You can take your corn home or eat it here. You can buy eggs by the half-dozen, or the case.

Scattered among the booths and tents are the pitchmen, demonstrating hair tonic and auto polish and the like.

Off to one side is another big shed with a bright green neon sign that says "Auction Sales." Inside there's a long platform with seven auctioneers selling at once. Standing at the edge of the crowd, you can't figure how the bidders can listen to just one auctioneer, but you push closer and find that it can be done. At one time, the seven were selling, from left to right, a plastic tablecloth, a brace-and-bit, a set of tumblers, an inflated toy, a patent clothes hanger, a saw and a set of beer mugs.

A pair of boudoir lamps was sold for $3.75, but the auctioneer said he was feeling good and would let them go for $3.50. Then he said if anybody else wanted the same set, he'd sell at the same price. He had six other takers.

A block plane brought $2, and the auctioneer said he'd sell one to anybody else for $2, too. Hands shot into the air.

"Sold, sold, sold, sold, sold, sold," he yelled and threw the planes out to the buyers.

"Whatta matter?" asked one disgusted auctioneer. "You folks stingy or broke?"

"We ain't makin' money, but we're sure havin' fun," cried the man who was selling the planes.

"If you think I'm crazy — you're paying," said another.

The happy crowd walked away from all this loaded with packages. There were rich people and poor people and teen-agers who come to the Market because it's more fun

Not a carnival midway, but a market: On Saturday night, 15,000 customers on Frankie's 15 acres come to buy—or just to look, because they find it's more fun than a movie.

Off to one side, in a ram-shackle building marked "Field Office," is Frankie Quarter who runs the show. When you see him, you know you're in the 20th Century, because he's a good-looking, tough-talking, dark-haired youngster of 29, a complete product of this era.

Frankie was born in Jersey City, a poor boy. He quit his schooling after grammar school and peddled landscape work on the road. After a two-year Army hitch during the war, he began peddling again. Going through Pennsylvania, he saw an open-air market still running. And he got the idea that the same thing would work back in New Jersey.

does it rent the space, but only on a day-to-day basis. That lets him retain control of who sells what and keeps out undesirables. All merchandise is checked by his men to see that it meets his standards.

Rules for the peddlers are strict. The place closes at midnight sharp. He insists on a money-back guarantee, and if the merchant won't give the money back, Frankie does.

But they don't usually take a chance on getting Frankie mad. He might bar them from the Market—and with Northern New Jersey peddlers these days, that's almost like being barred from Heaven.

West Germany Likes Free Enterprise

FRANKFURT —(AP)— A survey indicates almost half of the people of West Germany favor the principle of free enterprise. The survey was conducted by the reactions analysis staff of the U. S. High Commissioner for Germany. One-third of the 1,000 persons questioned expressed opposition to the principle (Gewerbfreiheit). Eight percent had never heard of the term.

The U. S. policy in Germany has been to encourage the development of "Gewerbfreiheit," but under a draft law now pending in the German Parliament approval by a council of tradesmen would be required before an individual can enter a trade or a business.

Restrictive licensing is a surviving remnant of the medieval guild system. It was abolished by the Germans during the 19th Century but was revived by the Nazis. It is now prohibited in the U. S. Zone of Germany but is still prevalent in the remainder of West Germany.

Purchases Farm

He bought a 15-acre farm here, set up the buildings and lights himself. He taught the auctioneers how to sell. He rented the space then, as he does now, for anywhere from $3 to $10 a night, depending on size.

Nowadays, he has about 400 merchants in the Market, which is open two nights a week. He says there are 100 more on his waiting list.

On a Saturday night, there'll be 15,000 people who visit the market. A dozen policemen direct traffic. Care often are backed up a half-mile on Route 17. The place is so successful he's opened another in nearby Caldwell.

Frankie has only four employees: three men and a secretary. All he Medicine Man: At Frankie's Market, everything from meat to magic, from corn to china.

GIMMICK REVIVED PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— A construction method once used by builders of Europe's Gothic cathedrals has been resurrected for a huge bakery and grocery warehouse here. It consists of pre-stressing foundation soils by loading them with weights equivalent to those which the building will place upon them. After the soil has settled, the weight is removed and construction goes forward.

New York ranks as the world's largest coffee importing center.

Electrified Dust Gives Protection

EAST LANSING, MICH. —(AP)— Electrified dust is the newest idea for better protection against insects and plant diseases.

Fine dust particles of insecticide are given high electrical charges, of 12,000 to 30,000 volts, as they are blown out of the nozzle of a dusting machine. Plants develop the opposite charge, and attract the charged dust particles like a magnet, even on the underside of leaves.

The charging gives five to 10 times better coverage of plants, and the method will get field tests this summer, said A. W. Furrall, head of Michigan State College agricultural engineering department. The idea originated with Henry D. Bowen, young graduate research assistant, who developed the method working under Prof. Walter M. Carleton. A thin wire in the center of the dusting machine nozzle imparts the charge, at low voltage, so the apparatus is safer than an approved electric fence.

GLAZED BROILERS

Broilers range from 1 to 2½ pounds. Small broilers are often served whole, 1 to a person. Larger ones are usually split or quartered.

BARBECUE SAUCE (for 4 small broilers)
Saute in ½ cup olive oil until lightly browned, 2 medium-sized onions, finely chopped.

ADD—
1 cup tomato paste
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon basil
½ cup steak sauce
½ cup Worcestershire sauce—
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup strained honey

Allow to simmer 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

ADD ½ cup red wine (optional)
Allow sauce to come just to the boiling point. Strain through a fine sieve.

Marinate the broilers in 2 cups of the sauce for an hour. Preheat the gas broiler. Place broilers on the broiling rack, skin side down, so that the bony side is about 3 inches from the flame. Allow the chicken to cook 13 to 20 minutes, turning frequently, and brushing both sides with the barbecue sauce throughout the cooking process.

Enjoy easier broiling . . . more leisure . . . and serve savory, full-flavor foods that will delight the entire family. With controlled flame cooking foods retain their natural flavor. Select a gas range—the choice of smart young moderns. Now is the ideal time to see the display of distinctive, new, fully automatic GAS ranges on display at your dealer's. You're sure to find one that exactly meets your cooking requirements. Every one offers outstanding top-of-range, oven and broiler facilities, plus a host of other advantages.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Amputation Foundation Rebuilds Church To Boost Its Job Of Rebuilding Veterans

Blueprints for amputees: Sylvan R. Gans, National Amputation Foundation Secretary, sits in a pew of old New York church and studies plans to convert the building for the Foundation.

NEW YORK (NEA)—There's more to the rehabilitation of amputees than an artificial limb. And the National Amputation Foundation is giving that "more" to ex-soldiers who have lost an arm or a leg.

Sylvan Gans, the Foundation's secretary, explains how the organization goes a few steps beyond the mere medical phase of amputation.

"The Veterans' Administration does a wonderful job, but it only goes so far. The VA supplies the amputee with the best possible artificial limb and it teaches him how to use it. But it just isn't equipped to go into his personal problems or to help him find a job.

"And believe me, he's got a lot of personal problems. Remember, he's lost an arm or a leg, in a few cases both. What should he do about the girl or wife he left behind? He's changed, not only physically, but mentally, too. Where does he go for a job? He just can't sit home and brood."

Discuss Problems

Gans and the other workers discuss the problems with the men as they come in for help. The staff speaks from experience, because they are amputees, too. Gans lost a leg when a Japanese suicide pilot crashed into his Navy ship off Okinawa.

As an illustration, Gans told the story of a handsome young drama student, who lost both legs above the knee in a German mine field. When he came back, his mother and two sisters waited on him too well. He had breakfast in bed, and never was allowed to do anything for himself.

It was only a matter of time before the boy felt his country and everyone in it owed him a living. Then he came to the National Amputation Foundation offices. They gave him aptitude tests and talked to him, man to man. He quickly got over feeling sorry for himself, took a course in hotel work and is now happy in a job in a hotel.

Get Together

The Foundation dates back to a day just after World War I, when four forgotten and friendless amputees at Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington, D. C., got together. They forgot their troubles in companionship with others who had the same problems.

They reasoned that only an amputee could really understand the emotions of another amputee. After their discharges, they borrowed typewriters and begged office space and set up the Foundation.

One of their earliest dreams was to have a building all their own, for the work they knew was important. That dream is at last coming true, for the Foundation has just obtained a dingy, 100-year-old building that once was a church.

It's run-down and needs repairs, but it's theirs to do with as they wish. They're going to install a swimming pool, as swimming is a favorite exercise for amputees. They plan to have the building completely fireproofed.

All the stairs will be replaced with ramps, which are easier for leg amputees to navigate.

They'll have therapy rooms and a special workshop where the men may experiment with their own ideas for artificial limbs. There will be a kitchen where coffee will always be brewing where the men will be able to get their wives and sweethearts for dancing and parties, away from staring eyes.

In World War II alone, 25,000 American boys lost a limb in combat. With the outbreak of the Korean War, more and more veterans turned to the Foundation for help and counsel.

"Where else can these fellows go?" asks Gans.

The slave trade began in 1503, when the Portuguese landed the first shipment of negroes at Santo Domingo.

Cost Of Rear-End Smash-Ups Is Heavy

NEW YORK (AP)—Traffic congestion in New York City is causing almost 3,000 rear-end collisions per year, 50 deaths, 2,500 injuries and about $1,000,000 in damages.

The figures were compiled by the Greater New York Safety Council, which described the rear-end crash as the "most costly and most easily avoided of traffic accidents."

The council warns motorists that with continued gains in traffic volume a proportionate degree of care should be exercised to maintain safe distances between vehicles.

TALKATIVE CROW

CALGARY (AP)—Peggy, the talking crow at the Calgary zoo, is regrettably fond of slang. She calls out "hullo" to everybody but once in a while will croak "you swine." Favorite phrases are "look what I found updown" and "that's why."
