UN Group Flies Back To Kaesong To Resume Talks

MUNSAN, KOREA — (AP) — A United Nations subcommittee flew back to Kaesong Saturday to resume truce talks with Red negotiators whose superiors have shown signs of readiness to break the deadlock.

For the second straight day Saturday the UN and Communist junior teams had met in a friendlier atmosphere than any shown when the full delegations wrestled with the impasse.

They sat around a small Korean tea table and studied military maps in their effort to arrive at a solution of the vexing problem of where to place the cease-fire buffer zone.

(Government sources in Washington said the two sides were trying to figure out which line each Army thinks it can defend in the general area of the 38th parallel. The space between the two lines then would become the buffer zone.)

Laughter Is Heard Muffled words and occasional laughter drifting through the hot, muggy air from the Kaesong conference room indicated the four-man armistice subcommittee had met again in a spirit of friendly informality.

There was no official report on the second session of the buffer zone delegates, whose deliberations are closely guarded secrets. The meeting lasted three hours and 23 minutes.

In Munsan, the UN command released a statement redefining the Allied position on a buffer zone. It was a summary of points raised by Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief of the main five-member UN armistice delegation, at one of the full-dress truce talks.

Rejects Red Demand Joy firmly rejected the Red demand for a military dividing line along parallel 38—the old political boundary—and added:

"International law specifically defines an armistice as a temporary suspension of hostilities, and just as specifically points out that hostilities may be resumed by either side if proper prior notification is given.

"Thus it can be seen that it would definitely be foolhardy, and perhaps disastrous, for either commander to expose his forces along a political demarcation line rather than to place them in a sound militarily defensible position where (Continued on Page 11)

U. S. And Communist Jets Tangle Over Northwest Korea

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA — (AP) — Scores of U.S. and Communist jet fighters tangled in two swirling air battles over Northwest Korea Saturday while the Allies laid down the heaviest one-point artillery barrage in the war on the ground front.

The flashing dogfights involved 111 planes six miles above the Sin-nulju area, near the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria. One "Red" jet was reported probably destroyed, another damaged.

On the eastern front, Allied artillery hurled a barrage of 15,000 shells at one target—a Communist-held hill. UN infantrymen walked to the crest without opposition afterwards.

AP Correspondent George McArthur reported ground action along most of the front continued light, mostly patrol probing. There was fierce local fighting in the eastern and west-central sectors, however.

Met By Sabrejets The Air Force reported the Communists sent 54 Russian-type MIG-15 jets into the two air battles. Fifty-seven F-86 Sabrejets of the U.S. Fifth Air Force met them.

One swept-wing Red jet was damaged in the first swirling battle which was joined when 30 MIG's, gaining altitude behind the safety of the Yalu, jumped 20 Sabrejets south of the river.

Later in the afternoon 34 MIG's challenged 28 Sabrejets in a 10-minute battle. It ranged from an altitude of 15,000 to 25,000 feet.

These were evidently the largest jet air battles in the number of planes involved, since July 21 when 15 U.S. Marine Panther jets met 18 MIG's. No losses were reported in that scrap. A smaller action was reported July 29.

Posse Plans Labor Day Celebration

Midland again this year will be the scene of one of the Southwest's greatest Labor Day celebrations — an afternoon program of entertainment to be presented by the Midland County Sheriff's Posse at Midland Fair Park on East Highway 80.

Captain Jim Tuttle of the Sheriff's Posse said the program, scheduled at 2 p.m., Monday, September 3, will include a jack-pot calf roping, mounted relay races, barrel races for both cowboys and cowgirls, Cutting Horse contest, and a gaited horse exhibition. The contests will be for amateurs only.

An "open to the world" square dance will be held that evening to climax the holiday celebration, which is expected to attract a record attendance. The event will be the top Labor Day attraction of the Permian Basin Empire.

A successful Labor Day show was staged here last year by the Sheriff's Posse.

Chairmen Are Listed Chairmen of the various show committees have been appointed by Captain Tuttle, as follows: John Dublin, Jr., Cutting Horse contest; Sherwood O'Neal, calf roping; Foster King, relay races; Eddie Simms, barrel races; Charles Blalock, square dance; W. Chapple Davis, gaited horse exhibition; Ted Thompson, concessions, and Joe Beakey, publicity.

The holiday attraction will be widely advertised over West Texas and Southeast New Mexico, sponsors said.

The use of Fair Park for the event was approved last week by officers and directors of Midland Fair, Inc.

Odessa Woman, Infant Daughter Killed In Crash

SNYDER — (AP) — A 25-year old Odessa woman and her infant daughter were killed near here Saturday when their auto went out of control and overturned.

Mrs. Gloria Jean Kimbrough, 304 Casa Grande Street, Odessa, was dead on arrival at a Snyder hospital. Her six-month-old daughter, Deborah, died about an hour and a half afterward.

Mrs. Edith Clark, 2100 North Sam Houston Street, Odessa, and Nancy Kimbrough, two, who were passengers in the car, were reported not seriously injured.

Mrs. Clark, who is the dead woman's sister, said the steering mechanism of the automobile apparently went wrong and the car veered to the left of the highway and overturned.

Mrs. Kimbrough and her daughter are survived by Joe Kimbrough of Odessa.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Aldo (Ike) Icardi, accused in Italy of slaying a fellow officer in World War II, said Saturday night he would rejoin the U. S. Army and face a court martial rather than be extradited.

MIAMI, FLA. — (AP) — The hurricane that smashed at Jamaica, taking 50 lives and a heavy property toll, continued to roar Saturday night on its west-northwest course toward the Yucatan Peninsula.

RANGOON, BURMA — (AP) — A communique said Saturday night government troops broke clear of a Communist ambush after killing 17 Reds near the south coast fishing Port of Tavoy.

Large State Area Gets Rain, Wind

By The Associated Press Scattered, cooling rains struck in Texas late Saturday far inland from the coast. High winds accompanying a heavy rain at Waco lashed streets with trees and limbs, ripped off some roofs, and broke many plate glass windows.

A hard rain and wind which caused some damage hit Corsicana, too. A welcome shower drummed against window panes at Dallas. There was rain at Fort Worth, and showers fell again on the upper coast.

It all added up — said a U. S. Weather Bureau observer — to an indication of the tempestuous heat wave plaguing Texas may ease—at least temporarily. It was hot enough before the rains came—all over Texas.

A section of composition roofing 100 feet square blew off the Southern Ice Company Building at Corsicana. It had covered a dry storage room.

There was some hail with the Waco rain. Two persons were injured. The wind caught a 13-year-old negro boy and blew him down a basement stairway. He was treated for head injuries and released. Glass from a broken window pane cut a 15-month-old boy on the arm.

Electric Service Off Electric service went off in downtown Waco for a time, and wasn't restored in some places more than two hours later. Radio Station WACO was knocked off the air.

Reporter Is Anxious For Storm To Head For Lone Star State

MIAMI, FLA. — (AP) — A Texas newspaper telephoned the Miami Weather Bureau Saturday to ask if there was any chance that the hurricane would hit Texas.

"Boy, we could use it, to break this heat wave and give us some rain," the inquiring reporter remarked.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster, who couldn't recall the name of the reporter or his paper, said he told him the hurricane was headed for the Gulf of Mexico and anything could happen.

House Slices Foreign Aid Funds; George To Request Additional Cut In Senate

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator George (D-Ga.) said Saturday he will try to cut about $2,000,000,000 out of President Truman's foreign aid program when the bill reaches the Senate next week.

This is twice the reduction voted by the House. Friday night a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats in the House appropriated $1,001,250,000 from the $8,500,000,000 measure.

As it now stands, the bill would make a $7,498,750,000 contribution in military and economic aid to nations allied with the United States in fighting communism.

George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he wants to end all economic aid for European nations "because we promised to bring the Marshall Plan to a close and we should keep our promise."

Thus his campaign appeared to be directed mainly at the economic aid phase of the program, for which Truman asked $2,200,000,000. The rest of the money would be for military aid in the form of aircraft, tanks, ships and weapons.

"Shouldn't Kid Ourselves" "Western European nations now are up to 144 per cent of their pre-war production," he said. "If they can't carry themselves now, we ought not to kid ourselves that they ever can."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) announced Saturday he will throw his support behind a $1,000,000,000 cut. Truman has told Senate leaders any reduction in the funds requested would seriously interfere with world defenses against Soviet Russia.

Both prospects of the Senate restoring any of the cuts made by the House grew dimmer. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has expressed the belief that sizable reductions are inevitable.

In voting Friday's cuts, the House whacked $890,000,000 off economic aid for Europe. Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) called these reductions "too great" although he said some economies might be made.

Rammed By Auto, Carhop Loses Leg

MIAMI, FLA. — (AP) — A pretty, short-clad carhop lost a leg Saturday when a woman customer's car rammed her through a concrete brick wall and pinned her to the ground.

Physicians reported they had amputated one of Mrs. Billie Beddingfield's legs and feared she might lose the other.

Deputy Sheriff Troy Bishop said he had charged Mrs. Richard D. Morales, 31, driver of the car and wife of a Miami attorney, with driving while drunk, reckless driving and not having a driver's license.

The injured woman is the mother of two small children.

Worker Dies, Another Is Hurt In Blast

An oil field worker was killed and another injured seriously 37 miles southwest of Midland in the Pegasus field Saturday afternoon when an oil storage tank they were welding exploded.

Killed instantly was Bobby Wayne Oliver, 17, a welder's helper. An employe of Midland Contractors, he lived at Odessa.

Seriously injured was J. W. Harrington, also of Odessa, a welder. Harrington was taken to Ector County Hospital. Attendants said he suffered a fractured vertebra. His condition Saturday night was serious.

At 3:30 p.m. the two men were welding on the outside of an empty oil tank, near the bottom, when it exploded. The top of the tank blew off and fell on Oliver. Harrington was blown 20 feet by the explosion.

The tank was located near a rig on a lease of the Sharples Oil Corporation, No. 1E-47, in Upton County.

A representative of Midland Contractors said Oliver had been employed here only a short time. He had moved to Odessa from Cleburne only last Sunday.

Newnie W. Ellis Chapel is in charge of arrangements here. The body will be sent to Cleburne Sunday for funeral services and interment.

Survivors of Oliver include the widow, Mrs. Imogene Oliver, 1529 East Second Street, Odessa; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Oliver, Cleburne; three brothers, W. L. and Phillip, both of Fort Worth, and Travis, Cleburne; four sisters, Mrs. Janie Anderson, Charlotte and Barbara Oliver, all of Cleburne, and Mrs. Edna Cryer, Fort Worth.

Colonel Wins Bendix Trophy By Averaging 555.73 Miles An Hour

DETROIT — (AP) — An Air Force colonel streaked into Detroit from California in less than three and a half hours Saturday to win the famous Bendix Transcontinental Trophy Race and set a new speed record for the national air races event.

Flying a Thundering F-86E Sabre jet with standard equipment, Col. Keith K. Compton, 35, covered the more than 1,900 miles in an unofficial elapsed time of three hours, 26 minutes and 56.4 seconds. This included two quick stops for refueling.

This was an average clip of 555.73 miles an hour, according to unofficial figures. The old record for a Bendix race was 529.61 MPH, set by Major Vernon A. Ford in an F-84 from Rosamond Dry Lake, Calif., to Cleveland two years ago.

The St. Joseph, Mo., colonel, who said he entered the Bendix event "over the extreme objections of my wife," flashed across the finish line at Wayne Major Airport at 11:31:41 p.m. (CST). He had taken off from Edward Air Force Base near Los Angeles at 8:04:45 (CWT).

It was almost a dead heat for second between Col. Emmett (Ed) Davis, 32, of Compton, Calif., and Major Gilbert A. Penderson, 31, of Arcadia, Calif.

Both flew F-84 Thunderjets, combination fighter-bombers which made the long flight non-stop.

Legion Speaker Hits 'Fear, Appeasement'

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Donald R. Wilson Saturday attacked what he termed the present philosophy of "fear and appeasement" in an address before the American Legion State Convention.

Wilson is a candidate for national Legion commander. He said the Legion is in a position "to proclaim effectively that our foreign policy must no longer be based upon the principle of fear."

Wilson called for the removal of Secretary of State Dean Acheson as the first step in providing new leadership for the world.

He also called any settlement on the 38th parallel in Korea as a price "too great for us to pay," adding it would not justify a negotiated peace.

Damage To Property Is $16,800,000

KINGSTON, JAMAICA — (AP) — Fifty or more persons were killed in the West Indies hurricane Friday night and Saturday, and property damage was estimated at 6,000,000 pounds ($16,800,000) in this area.

The strongest blow in Kingston's history lashed the island capital with wind and rain from 9:45 p.m. Friday until 2 a. m. Saturday.

Communication with the interior was cut, and no reports were available early Saturday on damage outside the immediate area of the capital.

Officials See Buffer Zone Compromise

BY JOHN HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON — (AP) — Top government officials spoke optimistically on the chances for early agreement between United Nations and Communist negotiators at Kaesong on the critical truce line issue.

The new approach being taken by the subcommittee of the armistice negotiators accounts somewhat for the brightened prospects as Washington officials now see them. But Communist China's propaganda emphasizes the possibility of "adjustments" in truce line demands is an even more important source of optimism here.

The outlook for agreement on the truce line, however, does not extend yet to the whole question of working out details of an armistice. A new crisis is expected to arise over the question of armistice enforcement. Specifically the U.S.-UN negotiators will demand that international inspection teams have access to all North and South Korea. But the Communists apparently intend to oppose this.

Weeks ago, when the agenda for the Kaesong sessions was being debated the Reds agreed to discuss inspection arrangements. They agreed with such readiness that many persons jumped to the conclusion this would not be a sore point of debate.

However, reports to Washington from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters now indicate the Reds almost certainly will oppose demands for what Americans consider (Continued on Page 11)

Ships taken to anchorages in the lee of the harbor mostly were undamaged, but docks and warehouses were damaged.

The main airport building was destroyed, and planes were battered in the hangars.

The storm raged northward across the island from Kingston at an estimated speed of 120 miles an hour. The sun broke out in midday on a paralyzed city of ruined homes, littered streets strewn with trees, broken fences and ganging power lines.

Out Of Communication Kingston was out of communication with the outside world for 18 hours. The first outgoing reports—telling of 10 known dead—were radioed by the governor to the British colonial office in London.

These and other reports emphasized that the known toll was only for the capital (population 120,000) (Continued on Page 11)

Housewives Ask For Refund Forms

MARSHALL — (AP) — The Marshall housewives, whose bank accounts were attached by Treasury agents to seize Social Security funds they had refused to collect, asked Treasury Secretary Snyder Saturday for refund forms.

They said Mrs. R. B. Levy of Longview had made the first contribution toward financing the housewives' fight to test the constitutionality of the Social Security Act.

The Marshall women claim they cannot be obligated legally to collect taxes on the wages of their domestic servants.

Mrs. Levy, widow of the late Justice R. B. Levy, who for 26 years sat on the bench of the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals in Texarkana, Texas gave the check after ex-Congressman Martin Dies was retained by the Marshall women to fight their case.

Faced With Eviction, Father Offers Seven Kiddies For Adoption COLUMBUS, OHIO — (AP) — A Columbus father of seven children, facing eviction, offered the youngsters for adoption Saturday.

"I've talked it over with my wife; she says it's the only thing we can do unless we find a home," said Richard Davey, 34.

The father made the adoption proposal to the Columbus Dispatch. He said his wife is expecting another baby in several months. The children, three girls and four boys, range in age from nine to one.

Barry's Hep Now: He's Got That 'Hollywood Bounce'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent
Hollywood—We've been all wrong, students, about the Hollywood bounce.

It's a game that a rip-snorting movie queen plays with her leading men.

Barry Sullivan, who's zoomed way up in MOM stratosphere these days, set me straight on the Hollywood bounce.

"These women are all-powerful," Barry explained. "They have a force and drive that gets across to the public. Naturally, they have to have leading men with the same kind of strength. They've got to have enough 'bounce' to offset the man's scene-stealing bounce." Barry said he got wised up to the Hollywood bounce when he worked with Lana Turner in "No Life of Her Own" and with Bette Davis in "Payment on Demand."

"Now he can't wait for another lining. "You mean," I hopped on it, "that Lana and Bette are bounce girls?" "Brother!" said Barry, taking a long, steady pull at his cigar.

"I'd heard about the Greens and Claudettes saying 'No soap' when the casting director brought in a young whipper-snapper as a co-star prospect, hadn't I? Even Barry had been ruled out by a couple of female powerhouses in his early days in Hollywood."

Barry Snickered: "I had a roundish baby face, no bags under my eyes and no receding hairline. And I didn't have very much that a movie queen could bounce her stuff against. It isn't age so much. It's— it's—personality."

"One thing for sure," he chuckled, "a leading man who's afraid of a powerful woman has three strikes against him. "That kills the bounce right from the start," he said. "A movie queen gets one whiff of fear from a man and she will run him down. It's instilled in a woman like that.

"That's why these girls have a right to protect themselves. They're looking if they get a schemer for a leading man. The balance is lost. A big star finds herself worrying about her leading man instead of herself. But when the guy can bounce it right back, then everything's fine. You work with Lana, for instance. The script line is 'Good morning, sweetheart.'"

"But, brother, with a woman like Lana, you're not really saying, 'Good morning, sweetheart.' You're saying, 'Who! Sweet man in the audience knows that. You get that old bounce and you don't need lines. The bounce does the talking."

Barry whistled and fanned himself with his luncheon menu. "It was the same with Bette Davis, he said. "Bounce, bounce and more bounce! "The day that the announcement was made that I'd be her leading man in 'Payment on Demand' my telephone started to ring. People told me that she was a temperamental dame who would eat me up alive. They also told me that she was washed up in pictures.

"That's a pool-room kind of thinking that I hate. The day that Bette is washed up in pictures, I hope I'm still alive. We had 10 days for rehearsals. It turned out we only needed five. Bounce—that's what it was. Bette's got it."

He could have used some of it himself, he said, when he was brought out to Hollywood by Paramount and started off his career with "Lady in the Dark" and "Rainbow Island." He said: "I stank up a lot of Paramount pictures. I didn't know what I was doing. Dorothy Lamour had to hold my hand and calm me down in 'Rainbow Island.'"

"After Paramount it was a matter of hanging on until I learned how to act in pictures. It didn't come easy. Then I sort of caught on to this and it began to show in my pictures. I guess. Now I'm under contract to MGM and the pain is gone. I know the score now."

NEWARK, N. J. —A girl of 10 with raven hair felt pretty fine Saturday after getting a phone call from singer Mario Lanza.

Raphaela Fasano said she's looking forward, too, to Sunday, when Lanza will dedicate his radio show to her.

Raphaela has been in the hospital since July 18. She has Hodgkin's disease, an enlargement of certain glands, accompanied by progressive anemia.

A few weeks ago, Raphaela's mother, Mrs. Louis Fasano, wrote Lanza and asked him to visit her daughter, an avid admirer.

Raphaela was called from her bed to answer the phone Friday night.

Raphaela said Lanza told her he had two little girls "just like you." "I know their names," Raphaela replied. "Colleen and Elisa."

Dallas Pilot, Oil Man Passenger Land In Wrong Spot
OMAHA —(AP)—A Dallas pilot, Hugh B. Williams, thought he was landing at the Omaha City Airport. Instead, he landed at Offutt Air Force Base Thursday night. The base is headquarters of the security-minded Strategic Air Command, where even Air Force pilots can't land without prior clearance.

Williams and his passenger, Cecil C. Cuttingham, were received by three armed guards and a jeepload of Air Force mechanics and were taken to the base operations office. They were sent on their way after satisfying officials it was a mistake, that they were oil men flying to Dallas from Sioux City, Iowa, and were looking for the city airport. The two fields are about 10 miles apart.

Kangaroos, lizards, seals, and snakes are hunted primarily for their skins not for meat.

Oklahoma Physician Blames Difficulties On 'Witch Hunters'

MUSKOGEE, OKLA. — (AP) — Dr. Perry E. Hewitt, Jr., awaiting trial on a manslaughter charge in a patient's death Saturday, accused "witch hunters" of destroying his means of a livelihood.

The prominent brain specialist, free on $5,000 bond until a hearing September 5, said he would suspend his $40,000-a-year practice pending outcome of the case.

Hewitt, is charged by County Attorney Ed Edmondson with treating Mrs. Allene Shuler, 38, of Borger, Texas, for a headache while intoxicated. Mrs. Shuler died August 9, less than 24 hours after treatment with drugs.

The State Board of Medical Examiners said Friday it asked for Hewitt's license to dispense narcotics three years ago after he was accused of violating the Federal Narcotics Act. Hewitt, in a statement Friday night, attributed Mrs. Shuler's death to a stroke.

"Preliminary autopsy reports merely confirmed my own views as to the cause of death," he said.

The husky doctor, who served seven years in the Army, is charged specifically with first degree manslaughter under a state law governing behavior of physicians.

Edmondson said Hewitt told him he "became desperate" and attempted to revive Mrs. Shuler at one time with a dram of gin, much of which spilled on her face.

"In any event," Hewitt went on, "the publicity itself was sufficient to destroy my means of livelihood in a specialized branch of medicine I've spent 18 years attempting to perfect and in which I have reached some degree of success. But the witch hunters toppled that in a day."

Charge Follows Autopsy
The first-degree manslaughter count followed an autopsy by Tulsa pathologists and laboratory tests by the FBI at Washington, Edmondson said.

The complaint reads that Hewitt, "while in a state of intoxication and without a desire to affect death" administered a "certain drug and medicine known as intracaine" by injecting it in the back of Mrs. Shuler's neck.

"While still in a state of intoxication," the complaint added, Hewitt continued "over a period of approximately two hours" to treat Mrs. Shuler with other drugs and medicines.

These, it asserted, included "caffeine, coramine and metrazol" and were given to the woman while she was "unconscious on the floor" of Hewitt's office.

Edmondson and Shuler have quoted Hewitt as saying Mrs. Shuler collapsed in a chair when he injected the drug with a long hypodermic needle.

They said the doctor told her he believed she would recover after the shock of the injection wore off. Investigation developed, Edmondson said, that Hewitt telephoned a relative's home to advise that his patient had "passed out" and that an ambulance should pick her up.

Hewitt, a native of Muskogee who established his practice here after the war, is a member of the Muskogee County and Oklahoma Medical Societies.

Lost Child Shows Cops New Trick With Television

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Jimmy Lucas, seven, lost in a strange city, showed the cops how to use television to get him back to his mother.

Jimmy and his mother arrived here Friday from Toronto to visit relatives. Jimmy went to the movies with Kathy Maskell and Mary Tyler, nine, neighbors of his aunt.

After the show they got separated in the crowd outside the theater. A patrolman found Jimmy on a street corner, unable to remember his aunt's address and with no idea how to get back to her neighborhood.

The patrolman took Jimmy to the District Police Station and everyone sat back to await developments.

No Jimmy.
"Hey," he said, "My aunt's got television. So have the people next door. How about putting me on television? Tell them to come get me."

The cops took Jimmy downtown to WMAR-TV.

Mrs. Charles Maskell sat up with a start when she saw Jimmy on the television screen in her home, next door to Jimmy's aunt. Almost everyone else in the neighborhood was out hunting him.

Rubber Workers Get Hourly Wage Increase

AKRON, OHIO — (AP) — A 13-cent hourly pay hike for 2,600 production employees in General Tire & Rubber Company's Akron and Waco, Texas, plants was announced Saturday by the firm and the CIO United Rubber Workers.

The raise follows the pattern set recently by other large rubber companies. Negotiators signed the accord Friday, retroactive to August 12. Wage talks can be reopened after 30 days.

Wage-Hour Matters In Four Counties Shifted To El Paso

DALLAS—Jurisdiction of the Federal Wage-Hour Law in four West Texas counties—Glasscock, Midland, Ector and Winkler—has been shifted from Fort Worth to El Paso.

William J. Rogers, Regional Director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions in Dallas, said the shift of the four-county area was made to equalize the workload between the Fort Worth and El Paso offices and to provide better service to the area, including the cities of Midland, Odessa, Wink, and Kermit.

Wage-Hour and Public Contracts affairs in the four-county area will be handled by the El Paso office with headquarters at 516 Banner Building. The supervisor of the El Paso office is Eugene V. Kirby.

Enacted by Congress in 1938 and amended in 1949, the Federal Wage-Hour Law restricts the use of child labor, requires a minimum of at least 75 cents an hour and at least time and a half after 40 hours a week for all employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce. It includes those employees whose work is closely related and directly essential to such production.

It has been estimated that there are 13,000,000 domesticated mongrel and pedigree dogs in the United States.

Rita Says Aly Can 'Tell It To Judge'

PARIS — (AP) — Rita Hayworth's lawyer Saturday said she has given up trying to reach a friendly financial settlement with Prince Aly Khan and will let the courts decide how much he must pay for support of baby Princess Yasmina.

Attorney Bartley Crum said Mrs. Hayworth will start her divorce action against the Madras prince "within a week or ten days."

Airman Collapses, Dies After March

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — An Air Force soldier collapsed while on a four-mile night march at Lackland Air Base Friday and died two hours later.

Pvt. Melvin E. Warwick of Felton, Calif., in Texas only three weeks, died just before midnight.

His temperature had reached 107. The six-foot, 220-pound airman complained of feeling dizzy after two hours of marching. He was taken to the hospital, packed in ice, but doctors were unable to lower his temperature.

This is the second death from heat at Lackland this month.

Jury Upholds Will Of Texas Oil Heir

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The will of Texas oil heir Edwin A. McKanna, Jr., leaving most of his $370,000 estate to Boys Town, Neb., has been upheld by a jury.

The jury rejected the suit of McKanna's disinherited sister, Mrs. Eileen Kirk, 32, and ruled McKanna was mentally competent when he signed a 1948 will leaving his money to Boys Town and his common law wife.

The latter, the former Nancy Davis, now Mrs. Nancy Scraftford, 30, established her right last year to a widow's share in the estate. McKanna bequeathed her $10,000, plus $200 a month for life.

Mrs. Kirk sued to reinstate a former testament leaving her the fortune. She charged that Mrs. Scraftford and Estate Executor Joseph A. Sprinkle, Jr., arranged the later will which, she contended, did not represent her brother's true wishes. McKanna died in April, 1950.

Permanent Senate Committee To Probe Crime Is Proposed

"The crusade against crime has only begun; it cannot be allowed to die," Wiley said.

Six More Communist Leaders Rounded Up

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The FBI rounded up six more Communist leaders Friday and charged them with plotting to overthrow the government by force.

The arrests were the fourth round in the big hunt for Communists which began after a Supreme Court decision last June upheld the conviction of 11 top Reds charged with violating the Smith Act.

That law makes it a crime to teach or advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

The arrests brought to 46 the number of Communists accused under the act since the Supreme Court decision. Four of these have not yet been found. And four of the convicted 11 top leaders jumped bail instead of surrendering to begin serving their terms. They are being sought.

Steven Nelson, 47, described by the FBI as schooled in espionage and sabotage in Moscow, was among those seized.

Nelson has been chairman of the Communist Party of Western Pennsylvania since July, 1948.

Russian Complains Of Stomach Ache After Seeing Exhibit

DETROIT—(AP)—Russia's air attaché, Engineer Maj. Leonid Pivnev complained of a stomach ache Saturday after inspecting the United States Air Force exhibit at the National Air Races.

"I think it's appendicitis," he said. "I am going back to Washington right away."

Pivnev said he thought he had been made ill at the air races banquet Friday night. None of the 40 other foreign nations' air attaches, however, had any complaint.

Air Force spokesmen said Russian officers are familiar with all American planes, but not with details of armament and radar equipment. These features are shrouded in canvas.

Wholesale Price Index Declines Again

NEW YORK—(AP)—Wholesale commodity prices declined on average last week for the sixteenth week in a row—to the lowest level since November 6. The Associated Press index showed.

At 191.20, the index compared with 192.07 the previous week and 186.00 a year ago.

The base year of 1926 in this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices equals 100.

Better Care Of Texas' Historical Archives Is Outlined By National Library Authority

AUSTIN—(AP)—Better care of Texas' unique historical archives and valuable modern-day records has been urged by a national library authority.

Texas' records—from the days of the republic to the modern day oil leases—now are kept in scattered places, chiefly in the State Library at Austin, in the basement of the Texas Department Building, and in a barn on the campus of the State Hospital in Austin.

Dr. Philip C. Brooks, Chevy Chase, Md., of the National Archives, president of the Society of American Archivists and a recognized authority in this field, surveyed the Texas records situation last Summer.

He made the survey at the request of the Texas Library and Historical Commission.

His report was released Saturday in Dallas by Mrs. Herbert Gambrell, Dallas, chairman of the commission.

"Proper preservation of state records is a matter of vital importance to every citizen," Mrs. Gambrell said in releasing the report.

"Although passage of adequate legislation is delayed until the next Legislature, it appears that at long last Texas is on the way toward the solution of the records administration problems of the state government."

"Physical facilities for care of records throughout the state government have been generally recognized as inadequate, and some efforts have been made to improve them," Dr. Brooks noted.

"Even more serious," he added, "though not as easy to see clearly, is the lack of an orderly, continuous program for state records."

Dr. Brooks said in his report that state agencies were eager, some desperate, for relief from an ever-increasing flood of records that crowd them out of good working space.

Some, such as the State Land Office and Railroad Commission, were concerned, he said, about keeping records, especially those with legal significance.

In their caution not to throw away anything that might be needed, he said, some have turned to microphotography—or putting their records on film that can be stored more easily.

Brooks said some records that need to be kept only four or five years have been filmed, causing unnecessary expense.

He made two general recommendations: 1. Keep the records administration function legally in the State Library and endeavor to work out a sound, long-range program.

2. Make a serious effort to define the areas that are considered policy, to be acted upon only by the commission, as distinguished from those that are administration, to be conducted by the librarian.

Among the items he recommended for immediate action were: Bring series together, dispose of what can be disposed of now and concentrate the archives in the highway basement.

Resume allowing the different state agencies to evaluate their own records for disposal, subject to the judgment of a panel that includes the archivist, the attorney general and a representative of research interests at the University of Texas.

Proceed cautiously with plans for a central microfilm unit until a records program is well under way.

Americans' Average Income Is $1,436, Department Reports

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Americans averaged an income of $1,436 for each man, woman and child in 1950, the Commerce Department reported Saturday. This was a gain of $118, or nine per cent, over 1949 and was the highest dollar total in history.

The nine per cent rise in average income outstripped the 8.5 per cent advance in the cost of living recorded by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for 1950, but a rise in the tax burden cut down the net gain.

The burden of federal, state and local taxes averaged $380 during the 12 months ended June 30, 1950, latest period for which official data is available. The rate boosts made it heavier for calendar 1950.

Average Reported The Commerce Department said average incomes ranged from $698 in Mississippi to $1,909 in Delaware and $1,988 in the District of Columbia, stronghold of the Federal government.

Near the bottom were Arkansas $825, South Carolina $831, and Alabama $838. Near the top were Nevada $1,875, New York $1,864, and Connecticut $1,798.

The total flow of income to individuals over the nation was a record $217,000,000,000. That was a gain of 11 per cent over 1949. The increase in the average income was less because of the gain in the population.

Taking the aggregate of individual incomes of their residents, the largest increase during 1950 were registered by Montana (23 per cent), Nebraska and South Dakota (18 per cent each), North Dakota and North Carolina (16 per cent each), and Delaware, Florida and Mississippi (15 per cent each).

Match U. S. Average By regions, the largest relative gains were scored by the agricultural Northwest and Southeast, 14 and 12 per cent, respectively. The Central and Far West regions matched the national average with an 11 per cent rise. New England and the Middle East scored a ten per cent gain. The Southwest, top gainer of 1949, had the smallest gain in 1950, eight per cent.

The average income for each state in 1950, besides those previously shown, included New Mexico $1,109, Oklahoma $1,070, Texas $ 281.7, Oklahoma $1,070, Texas $1,278.

Woman With Rope Saves 'Buddy' From Drowning In River

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A West Texas resident was saved from drowning Saturday by a fast-moving Fort Worth woman.

Buddy was sight-seeing in Trinity Park when he fell down a steep bank into the Trinity River.

His Fort Worth hostess, Mrs. W. F. Haworth, can't swim and was unable to rescue him. Buddy can swim but couldn't get a hold on the muddy bank.

He was almost exhausted when a passing motorist, Mrs. R. W. McNeal, was hailed. She had a rope in her car.

Mrs. McNeal looped the rope around a sapling, lowered herself to the river and pulled Buddy to safety.

For valor, she received a bouquet from Mrs. Haworth's sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Diller of Abilene, who is visiting here. Mrs. Diller is Buddy's mistress.

Stock Mart Punches Way Toward 1951 Peak Price Levels

NEW YORK—(AP)—With renewed vigor, the Stock Market last week again started punching its way toward 1951 peak price levels.

The rise was hampered by the railroads. Buyers were reluctant to step forward while railroad officials were expressing their keen disappointment over the smallness of the recent freight rate increase and while freight business itself was falling.

And there was still that Wall Street belief, held by one segment of the financial community, that the bull market is weakened by lack of vigorous support from the rails.

Nevertheless progress was made. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 70 cents on the week and stood at $96 at Friday's close. That is only 90 cents away from the 1951 peak. The industrial component of the average advanced a strong $1.70 and utilities were up 50 cents. But the railroad component moved contrary to the tide and lost 30 cents.

"CHURCH" FOR THE AUTO AGE—The Rev. Dr. Ernest Lyman Mills, pastor of Dorchester Methodist Church, conducts services at Boston's first "drive-in-church." The drive-in-church is an idea taking hold in more and more cities as ministers seek to compete with the Sunday driving urge.

Oil Tax Exemption Won't Be Changed By Committee, Is Connally's Prediction

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas) Saturday predicted the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee will make no changes in present tax exemptions granted the oil, gas and mining industries.

Connally said he had talked to other Finance Committee members, now considering the $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill passed by the House, and he feels "assured that this wise and beneficial provisions of the law will neither be repealed nor reduced."

Existing tax laws allow gas, oil and certain other producers a 27 1/2 per cent "depletion allowance" and the House bill added some other mining groups to this list.

These allowances reduce the amount of income subject to taxes. In general, they are based on the idea that every time an oil producer, for example, takes a barrel of oil out of the ground he lessens by that much the natural resources available to him in the future.

Sponsors of the allowances say they are necessary to encourage the production of oil and other resources.

In U. S. Tax Laws Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) recently urged tax-writing senators to reduce and eventually eliminate depletion allowances, calling them one of the "most glaring loopholes" in federal tax laws.

Humphrey said the oil and mining industries now avoid about $750,000,000 of taxes annually under the allowances.

Last year, President Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder made recommendations similar to Humphrey's.

Both the Senate and House have rejected similar pleas in the past and Connally said the depletion allowances have "general approval of the people."

Stimulate Development He said in a statement that the allowances have "stimulated the development and production of our oil resources in a large degree."

Without mentioning Humphrey by name, Connally referred to the proposal "to repeal or reduce the rates of depletion" and said it would "not be successful."

"We are prepared to fight such proposals or changes in this well-known policy," Connally said. "I have always supported the depletion allowances and shall continue to do so because it is in the public interest and is vital to the economy of Texas and other states similarly situated."

Italian Court To Try Yanks For Slaying Of Major Holohan

ROME—(AP)—A provincial prosecutor decided Saturday an Italian court will try two former American soldiers—either in person or in absentia—for the behind-the-scenes slaying of U. S. Major William V. Holohan in 1944.

Arnoldo Borghese, general prosecutor of the Turin district, changed an earlier decision and said he would ask for extradition of former Lt. Aldo Icardi of Preakness, N. J., and former Sgt. Carl G. Lodolice of Rochester, N. Y., after further investigations.

"The two Americans, if they are not turned over to the Italian magistracy," Borghese said, "will be tried in absentia."

A trial in absentia largely is for the record. A person convicted in such a trial is subject to punishment if he comes to Italy.

In any case, imprisonment is the top penalty. Italy abolished capital punishment for ordinary crimes in 1944 and for political crimes in 1948. Charges Denied

Both Icardi and Lodolice have denied charges of the U. S. Defense Department that they got rid of Holohan, their leader on an OSS arms-dropping mission in partisan territory of North Italy behind the German lines, with the help of two Italian partisans.

Holohan was poisoned, shot and dumped into the icy waters of Lake Orta. The department said Lodolice fired the fatal shots in a plot motivated, in part at least, by Holohan's reservations about arming Communist bands among the guerrilla fighters.

Both military and civil courts of the United States lack jurisdiction because of legal quirks: (1) Icardi and Lodolice have been discharged honorably from military service (2) the killing occurred on foreign soil.

But the United States seems to be leaving the way open for Italy if she wishes to bring them to trial, as she is doing with the two Italians. Former partisans Giuseppe Mannini and Gaetano Tozzini will go on trial soon for murder. Police say they confessed and implicated the Americans. They have been in jail nearly a year.

Slicker Makes Off With Greased Pig

RAVENNA, MICH.—(AP)—Some slicker made off with a greased pig at the Ravenna Fair.

The little porker was to have run down the midway of the fair. The crowd was all lined up Friday night—raring to go, or at least watch the fun. The pig was released.

Then an unidentified man, waiting right by the gate, just reached down and swooped up the young porker and dashed off with him.

Totally Disabled Youth Gets Orders For Draft Physical

SOUTH BEND, IND.—(AP)—Robert A. Nordin, 33, protested when his draft board classified him 1-A last June.

The draft board ordered him to report at Indianapolis August 28 for pre-induction physical examination.

"I'll be glad to go if they send an ambulance," said Nordin.

His father, Albert Nordin, explained that his son is "totally disabled" and is "receiving 100 per cent disability pension from the Veterans' Administration."

Nordin said his son is suffering from tuberculosis of the spine, left hip and leg and "is in a complete body cast."

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The market was stronger than the week before and active on 773 head at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Cattle still were moving to greener pastures from drought stricken West Texas ranges. Stockers made up the bulk of the run.

Stocker cows sold for $18 to $24 ewa, and cow and calf pairs brought $178 to $250. Stocker calves, both steers and heifers, auctioned for $32 to $36. One bunch of 108 mixed calves that averaged 430 pounds, sold to J. C. Sales of Stanton for $34.50. He shipped them, along with a load of heifer yearlings, to Illinois.

Fat calves and yearlings cleared at $30 to $34.50, mediums $26 to $30, commons and culls $19 to $26. A few fat cows drew $21 to $24, good heiferettes up to $27.50, mediums $19 to $21, canners and cutters $18 to $19. Bulls were bid from $23 to $28.

The recent rains apparently came just in time to prevent a complete cotton crop failure on the dry land farms of Midland County, according to County Agent Charles Green. "The moisture revived the whole cotton crop picture and doubtless added a number of bales to the Midland County potential," Green stated.

He said the rainfall covered most of the county, with moisture reports ranging from one to three inches. Some hail damage was recorded in scattered sectors, with some crops being pretty well stripped.

The moisture seemed to be most beneficial in the sandy land areas, the county agent stated.

More Rain Needed
He declared that additional moisture will be needed over most of the county before the end of the month to assure a cotton harvest.

The crop-saving rains likely will bring on boll worm infestation, and farmers are watching the situation closely. Green said some farms east of the city, where earlier showers fell, already are poisoning for boll worms.

While the cotton harvest depends largely on late August moisture, Green says the harvest of feed stuffs in Midland County is certain to be "way below the average." Greatly reduced acreage will result in a very short feed year, he declared.

Buster Cole, popular rancher and Midland Fair, Inc. official, continues his winning ways in showing his fine Quarter Horses in shows over the state.

Last week Cole wound up with two championships at the big Quarterhorse Show at Post. Cole's stallion, Baby Mac, was named grand champion. Another Cole horse, Taylor, was judged champion in the reining division.

The champion mare of the show was Georgia Brown, owned by George Samson of Post.

The first bale of cotton already rolled from a gin in the San Angelo country. Produced by J. S. McComb, Jr., whose irrigated farm is located 10 miles west of Tankersley, the bale of cotton is said to be the first for West Texas in 1951. It was ginned at Wall, and weighed 543 pounds.

Wonder who will have the first Midland County bale this year???

This column has received complimentary tickets to the annual Pre-Madison Square Garden Rodeo to be held in Dublin, Texas, August 29, 30, 31 and September 1. The show is one of West Texas' top rodeo attractions and each year draws record crowds. The event is produced by Everett Colborn, who also produces the famed World Championship Midland Rodeo. Colborn's Lightning C Ranch is located near Dublin.

Immediately following the Dublin show, the cowboys, cowgirls, spe-

Castor Bean Crop In Reeves Is Good

PECOS—Reeves County has between 300 and 350 acres of castor beans that are "looking good" and should be ready to harvest after the first frost. Marjorie Smart, PMA administrative officer, said.

Planted on an experimental basis as soon as seeds were available, between June 1 and June 15, the beans supposedly would have produced better yields had they been planted earlier.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has designated seed produced here this year to be used as planting seed in other areas next year. A government huller is in storage here and loaders and conveyors were expected soon.

"Every effort is being made to get the harvest equipment ready to go when harvest season opens," Miss Smart said.

cial performers and rodeo stock and equipment will board a special train bound for the New York and Boston rodeos.

The sixth annual Fisher County Fair and Rodeo will be held September 13-15 at Roby, according to an announcement issued by directors of the sponsoring organization.

And speaking of rodeos, DSG, barely missed getting to see the 1951 version of the big Cheyenne, Wyo., and Colorado Springs, Colo., rodeos while on a recent swing up that way. The "Daddy of 'Em All" Cheyenne Rodeo ended the day we arrived in Denver, and the Colorado Springs show did not open until a week or 10 days after we were there.

Butler Hurley, however, arrived in Colorado Springs while the rodeo was in progress and managed to see one or more performances. He said it was one of the fastest and smoothest rodeos he ever has seen.

Mrs. Inez Wilson assumed her duties Thursday as secretary in the office of County Agent Charles Green.

She succeeds Mrs. Frances Wilson, who recently resigned to join the office staff here of the Midland Production Credit Association.

Latest figures show that 125 Texas county Agricultural Extension Service agents and headquarters staff members enrolled for college work this Summer. According to Extension Director G. G. Gibson, Extension employees are encouraged to take advantage of study arrangements so they can take additional college work that will help them to better serve the people in the counties where they are employed.

The granting of study leaves is a part of the in-service and professional improvement training programs of the Extension Service. In response to requests made by Extension personnel, four regional Summer schools now offer specialized course work, designed especially to provide training for Extension workers. The southern regional school is the University of Arkansas. In addition, special courses are offered on the campus of Texas A&M College, and others are taught as field courses.

Cretan Romeo, Out Of Prison, To Seek Reunion With Wife

ATHENS—(P)—Crete's modern Romeo, Costa Kephalyoyannis, got his freedom from prison Saturday. An early reunion with his dark-eyed wife, Tassoula, was in prospect.

His release was affected by a decree signed by King Paul, who commuted Costa's two-year sentence to 14 months.

Costa was sentenced last February on charges of illegal possession of weapons.

Costa carried off Tassoula to the rugged Cretan mountains and married her last August.

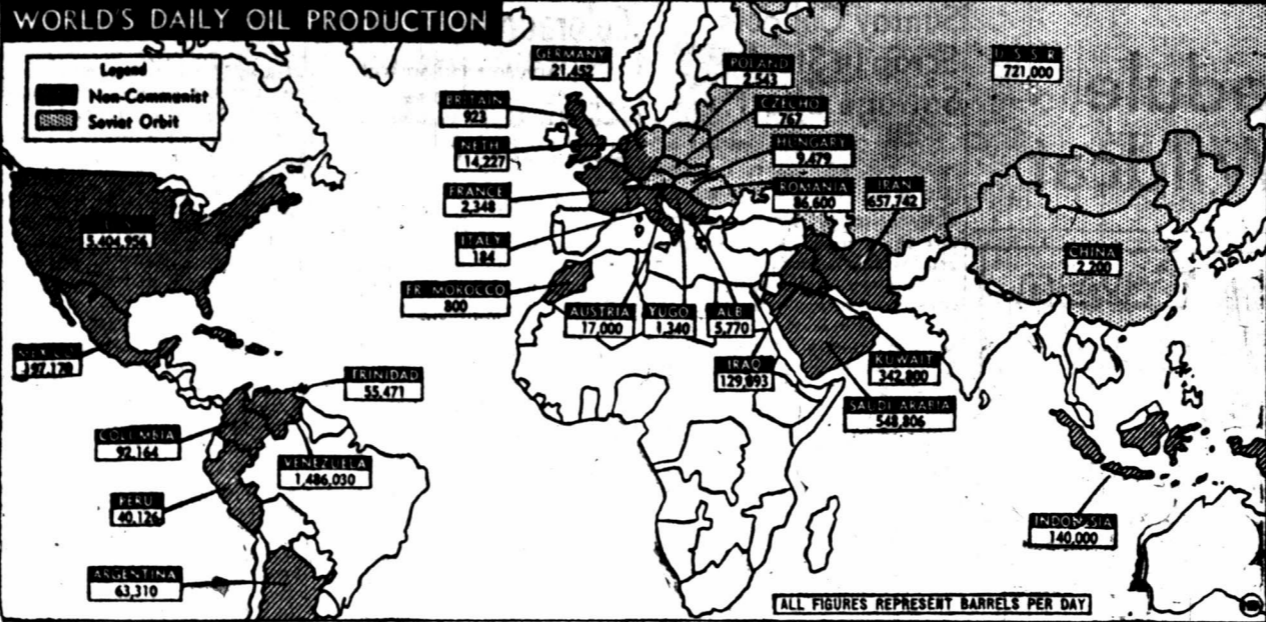

Costa was not accused of kidnaping or stealing the 19-year-old Tassoula from her father, George Petracoageorgi, leader of a rival clan and a member of Parliament.

The court also dropped a charge that Costa formed an armed band to kidnap the girl—for which he might have been sentenced to death.

At the time, Petracoageorgi thought the sentence too low, but Tassoula wept and vowed never to give up her husband. She had a miscarriage last Spring, brought on by worry over Costa, her friends said.

Petracoageorgi said the verdict did not end the case for him. Whether he intends to continue the feud in Crete's legendary mountain playground of the Gods remains to be seen.

Farm Loan Group Slates Annual Meet
STANTON — Directors of the Stanton-Midland National Farm Loan Association have set Saturday, September 15, as the date for the annual membership meeting. Albert V. Heckler, secretary-treasurer, said. A special program is being planned for the occasion. D. O. Lawson is president of the association.

Newsmap above indicates oil-producing countries of the world and the number of barrels they turn out individually. The world output during 1950 was 10,359,104 barrels daily, with the U. S. the leader with 5,404,956. Iran's output, 657,742 barrels daily, is third among the producers. All figures are from U. S. Department of Mines data for 1950. With 9,178,090 barrels daily, the non-Communist nations (striped area) production of oil is approximately nine times greater than Soviet-dominated countries (dotted area).

Texas Building Hits Year's Low

AUSTIN—(P)—Texas construction awards sank to their lowest level of the year last week, totaling only $6,947,900. The decline was in sharp contrast to the July trend, when lettings totaled $28,808,342, the third highest month of the year, The Texas Contractor reported. Residential jobs put under contract last week accounted for $2,307,195. Of this amount, $539,400 was for 82 homes costing less than $7,000 each; $525,500 for 47 houses of more than $7,000; $1,241,295 for apartments providing 179 family units. Non-residential awards totaled $4,517,254, with the following breakdown: schools, $233,251; churches and theaters, $140,188; public buildings, $1,470,477; industrial buildings, $1,500,000; business buildings, $1,173,238. Waterworks and sewers lettings added $123,151 in engineering jobs. The year's cumulative total was $743,478,708. The first year that rayon yarn production was recorded was 1900.

Army Going Nuts On Bolts, Declares Young Engineer

IN KOREA—(P)—The young engineer depot commander held up his hand in resignation and said: "Please do something about the bolts." He had 15,525 bolts Saturday. "More come in on every train from Pusan," he said. "I can't get rid of them." They all are 18-inch steel bolts, three-fourths of an inch thick. About all they are used for, the lieutenant said, is to build timber trestle bridges. He figures he has enough on hand for 300 bridges, each 50 feet long, about the normal length for Korea. "I told another engineer outfit there was a shortage of 18-inch bolts. I got rid of 10 boxes that way. Those guys probably still have those 10 boxes," he said. "It didn't do me much good. I got in 30 boxes from Pusan the next day." "Oh yes," he added, "don't use my name. You know, the Army."

Drillate is to be 600 feet from south and east lines of section 1205, QOC&P survey. That makes it eight miles east of the Benedictum multiphase field. The wildcat will be eight miles north of Texon and 15 miles northwest of Big Lake.

Stakeholdings

The development will be drilled on a spread of 1,280 acres which McKnight assembled. Some of the acreage was contributed to the drilling of the well by Staniland Oil & Gas Company.

Phillips Petroleum Company has agreed to make a cash contribution to the project.

Acreage owned by McKnight and Parker include the northwest and southeast quarters of section 1205 and the east half of section 1206.

This will be the first development operation to be undertaken by McKnight. He is a well-known independent oil operator and trader of Midland.

and 2,000 feet from east lines of section 12, block 37, T-2-S, W. Glendening survey.

One location north of No. 3-12 Hale, Seaboard No. 2-12 Hale also indicated possible production from the Grayburg.

A drillstem test in that venture was made from 3,797 to 3,980 feet. Recovery was 2,730 feet of 32-gravity oil, 180 feet of oil-cut drilling water and 630 feet of salt water.

35 minutes and flowed to tanks for seven hours, making 636 barrels of pipe line oil.

Operators are now coming out of the hole with the test tool.

No. 2 Armes is 23 feet low on the top of the reef pay to the same operators' No. 1 Armes, completed well one location to the east.

Location of the prospect is 694 feet from north and west lines of labor 17, league 5, Wilbarger County School Land survey.

Strawn Discovery In C-N Schleicher Has Been Finished

Wesley W. West of Houston No. 1 Mrs. Christina Mittel, Central-North Schleicher County wildcat, has been completed for 562 barrels of 45-gravity oil daily flowing.

The flow was through a choke of unreported size. The wildcat was drilled "right" to a total depth of 6,379 feet where a 1 1/2-inch casing was cemented.

Completion was through perforations between 6,317 feet and 6,337 feet.

No. 1 Mittel was completed as a Strawn reef lime discovery three miles northwest of the Huldale field.

Location of the new field opener is 1,980 feet from north and 690 feet from east lines of section 77, block TT, TCRR survey.

Crockett Oil Well Fined By Marsh

C. E. Marsh, II, of Midland, has completed the No. 1-A University, wildcat in North Crockett County for a daily pumping potential of 47.33 barrels of 29.6 gravity oil. One-tenth per cent of the recovery was water.

Production was from open hole between 1,729 feet, top of pay and total depth of 1,733 feet. The section was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was negligible. Operator suggested that the discovery be designated as the Block 44-Shallow field.

No. 1-A University is 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of east half of section 7, block 44, University survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to projected depth which is calculated to take the wildcat to the San Andres. Operations will begin immediately. The location is 10 miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

Drillate is on a block of 2,588 acres for which Phillips paid a cash bonus of $100,000 at the June 8 auction of University of Texas leases.

Sunray Collects Scrap In Steel Salvage Effort

Sunray Oil Corporation has collected and returned to the scrap salvage market more than 620 tons of iron, steel and other metal scrap now vitally needed by the country's defense and business industries.

This scrap salvage campaign was conducted throughout the company's oil producing leases in ten states, at three refineries and approximately six field gasoline plants.

Sunray's campaign was inaugurated in cooperation with the National Production Authority's request for users of steel products to help the steel industry secure more scrap. All segments of the petroleum industry have been asked to cooperate in a nationwide campaign.

By September 1, Sunray field departments expect to collect and dispose of an additional 120 tons from all departments and will continue the collection effort as long as the national emergency exists.

On a tonnage basis, the movement of crude oil and petroleum products accounts for about 65 per cent of the nation's ocean shipping and 35 per cent of the traffic on its inland waterways.

Colorado Holds Wide Interest Because Of Possibilities In Oil

By BURTON THOMPSON
DENVER —(AP)—Colorado has made an impression in Rocky Mountain oil development in just a few years.

The state today is not a prime producer of oil but is of wide interest because of its possibilities. Consequently, it led all other Rocky Mountain states in exploratory drilling in the first half of 1951. In that period, there were 48 wildcats totaling 241,150 feet drilled. By comparison, there were 15 with less than 50,000 feet drilled in the first half of 1950.

The Denver-Julesburg Basin in the northwestern quarter of the state accounts for the big share of wildcatting.

And it is one of two areas which carved a special niche of attention among oil and gas circles for the state. In two years, nine oil fields, and 74 producing wells have been developed.

Drilling in the basin is comparatively easy and fast. Wells range from about 4,800 to 5,200 feet and production is from the Dakota formation of the Cretaceous age. Production initials are from 100 to 1,000 barrels per day.

After Seismic Work
Most wells are located after seismic work. Some 24 seismic crews were working in Colorado this summer and the majority were in the Western part of the state.

Successful wells touched off a land leasing boom covering some 10,000,000 acres in that section this year in the hope that wildcatting will extend Denver-Julesburg production to the south and west.

Although heaviest in the basin, there is general oil and gas land leasing throughout the state and currently there is great interest in the San Juan Basin of the Southwestern part of Colorado.

Two factors are important in the future of the Denver-Julesburg. One is marketing outlets and the other is deeper drilling.

Production will be increased and wildcatting even more stimulated with completion of the now-building plate pipe line from Northwestern Wyoming to Wood River, Ill. Denver-Julesburg is scheduled to have outlets to the line.

Test Formations
There has been no very deep drilling in or near the producing parts of the basin. Some is underway and contemplated to test Pennsylvanian formations which have proven productive recently in other Rocky Mountain states.

Also figuring prominently in the Colorado oil picture is the Rangely field in the northwest. It was developed during World War II and the postwar period. Rangely's 60,000 barrels per day are the largest production of any Rocky Mountain field and the major share of Colorado's current 85,000 barrel-a-day output.

Interest focuses, too, on the San Juan Basin, a gas producer, and wildcatting and leasing are active because of plans for a pipeline outlet to the West Coast.

Seen edge-on, the galactic system in which our sun is found, is shaped something like the edge of a watch.

McCade Named Midland Agent For Sivalls Tanks, Inc.

Henry F. McCabe has been appointed sales and service representative of Sivalls Tanks, Inc., in Midland, it was announced Saturday by I. W. (Ike) Lovelady, president of the manufacturing concern, whose plant is located near Odessa.

McCabe, who will make his headquarters in Midland, long has been active in the oil field tank business in Texas and Oklahoma, and has served in supervisory capacities in drilling and production operations in West Texas.

Lovelady said McCabe's appointment is part of a general expansion plan that includes enlargement of the concern's plant for the third time in four years. Sivalls in 1947 began the manufacture of shop welded tanks, oil and gas separators, heaters and emulsion treaters in West Texas.

Completion Rate For Midland Wells Is 1.69 Per Day

Oil wells are being completed in Midland County at the rate of 1.69 per day, according to Railroad Commission of Texas official figures.

As of August 1, 1951, there were 439 producers in the County. January 1, 1951, there were only 85. That shows an increase of 354 others for the past seven-month period.

Brown Is Made New General Counsel For Magnolia Companies

The appointment of Earl A. Brown as general counsel for Magnolia Petroleum Company and Magnolia Pipe Line Company was announced by J. L. Latimer, president of both companies. Brown succeeds the late Wallace Hawkins.

A native Texan, Brown was born in Corsicana but spent most of his early life in Ennis. He was graduated from the law school at the University of Texas in 1914 and after practicing law for three years in Ennis and Waxahachie, he moved to Tulsa, where he practiced until 1920.

From Tulsa, Brown moved to Ardmore and five years later became associated with a firm that represented Magnolia in Southern Oklahoma. In 1926 he joined the company's legal staff at Oklahoma City. After three years there, Brown was transferred to Magnolia's general offices in Dallas as assistant general counsel.

Dowell's Glass Gun For Perforating Now Available In Area

Perforating service employing a new development, the Glass Gun, is now available in the West Texas and New Mexico area, Ralph Smith, district manager for Dowell Incorporated in Midland, announced Saturday.

Dowell Perfo-Jet service has not been available in the Midland district prior to the development of the Glass Gun, "which is a natural for deeper, surer penetration of casing, cement and formation in this area," Smith said.

The new Glass Gun, developed by Dowell, is a self-destructing unit which allows the use of a larger explosive charge than do some other types of guns, Smith said. The new Glass Gun is being used to good effect both in casing perforating and in open hole shooting. It consists of glass-enclosed, shaped charges in an expendable aluminum carrier and can be tailor-made to fit a wide variety of shooting patterns and hole diameters. One of the advantages of the Glass Gun is that it leaves a junk free hole.

The charges are held in the carrier by thin steel bands. A detonating string-explosive, Primacord, is contained in each of the supporting aluminum tubes. Triangular aluminum guides control the gun diameter, provide strength and rigidity, and protect the glass cases while the gun is being run into the well. The Midland district makes seven districts in which Dowell Perfo-Jet Services is available. The others are Illinois, Oklahoma, Kansas, North Texas, Michigan and Canada.

Dowell offices and stations in the Midland district are in Lubbock, Big Spring, Post, Odessa, Snyder, Arzac, N. M., Artesia, Levelland, Hobbs, Kermit and McCamey.

Upton Again Leads West Texas Areas In Rotary Activity

Number of active rotary operations in Upton County topped all other West Texas counties for the third consecutive time.

The semi-monthly Reed Rollar Bit Company survey listed Upton with 84 rigs going on August 15. Upton's top for August 1 was 80.

Midland County held on to second spot with 64 on the latest count; an increase of one during the past 15-day period. Ector County lost three operations during the same period but still holds onto third place with 57 rigs.

Glasscock County slipped by Scurry to land in fourth place with 47 rigs operating. On August 1 Glasscock listed 35 rotaries. The August 15 count for Scurry was 42, just ahead of sixth-place Andrews where 37 rotary rigs are active.

Other counties and their August 15 operations are as follows: Terry, 14; Kent, 12; and Martin, 8. Figures on Howard, Borden and Reagan are not available.

Active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico as of August 15 numbered 638. One year ago there were 561. The 638 shows an increase of six over the August 1 count.

The oil industry produced almost four billion gallons of gasoline in December, 1960—more than it did during the entire year of 1918.

Spraberry Operators Fight Planned Allowable Slash

AUSTIN, (Special)—Operators in the Tex Harvey and Germania fields of Midland and Glasscock Counties opposed a proposed reduction of the most efficient rate of production from 121 to 83 barrels of oil per day on an experimental basis.

Those opposing such proposed action at a Railroad Commission of Texas hearing here indicated a need to retain or increase the current allowable.

The reduction would extend over a six-month experimental period to determine the effect of the lower rate of production upon the efficiency of the reservoir mechanism in the two pools, laying in the vast Spraberry trend.

The unique characteristics of the two pools were outlined by witnesses for Ted Weiner et al of Fort Worth. The witnesses included L. F. Peterson, Midland consulting engineer, and John L. Cox, production and engineering superintendent for Weiner, W. P. Z. German Jr., Midland, was attorney for the witnesses.

The majority of other operators in the two areas concurred with factual evidence placed before the commission. It was brought out by German and his witnesses the upper Spraberry Floyd sand is a unique reservoir in that (1) it has extremely low permeability; (2) the bulk of the oil in the reservoir is in the sand itself, and (3) the sand is highly and irregularly fractured. It further was developed the producing energy is solution gas, with no water drive or gas cap.

Both Cox and Peterson presented factual evidence, supported by graphs showing the low permeability and fracturing of the sandstone. They stated the fractures are the conduits of the oil to the well-bore. Peterson expressed the opinion that without the unique fracturing the wells could not be commercially produced. He estimated that approximately 95 per cent of the flow capacity is in the fracture system, and only five per cent in the sand. While fractures normally are in both directions, they are unique in the Spraberry in that they are vertical. Peterson testified that laboratory experiments had shown that oil recovery increased with higher fluid production and pressure differentials. He considered this applicable to the Spraberry on the theory that maximum oil recovery probably would result if maximum rates of flow are permitted.

He concluded that the evidence presented indicated that by retaining or increasing current allowable the greatest ultimate recovery would be realized.

"To reduce the allowable," said Peterson, "would cause waste." It also was Peterson's opinion that pressure maintenance was not feasible because of channeling in the fractures.

Much of Cox's testimony dealt with reservoir pressures and gas-oil ratios. This showed the irregularity of the bottomhole pressure drops that accurate data was not being obtained from tests taken after short shut-in periods.

He testified that maximum build-up in pressure was not reached in shut-ins extending up to 17 days. Normally, the shut-in period is 72 hours.

Cox stated that while gas-oil ratios will increase as oil is produced and bottomhole pressure declines, there were some wells in the Spraberry where the gas-oil ratio decreased as production increased. It was his opinion that production at current rates is more efficient than at lower levels.

Cox's statistics revealed there were 217 wells on Aug. 6 in the Tex Harvey pool, and 35 in the Germania area. It was his opinion they will join as a common reservoir.

HOBBES, N. M.—Two wildcats to test for production in the Wolfcamp have been staked by Phillips Petroleum Company for immediate drilling in Central-West Lea County.

Shell Hands Now In Service Given Company 'ID' Tabs

More than 600 Shell employees now on active duty with the armed forces have recently been issued identification cards introducing them to Shell offices everywhere in the world, Joe T. Dickerson, the company's vice president in Midland, announced.

The cards are planned primarily to help American employees whose military assignments take them overseas. Since Shell operates in almost every country outside the Iron Curtain, employees sent abroad are usually near installations where they can meet other Shell people who know the country and can help them find their way around.

Each "ID" card bears the employee's name, position, place of service with Shell in the United States, as well as an introduction to managers abroad. First used in World War II, the cards were so popular that they are being re-issued.

State, recently completed Wolfcamp discovery.

Phillips No. 1-B Pello will be drilled 660 feet from south and 661 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter of section 20-14s-32e. That makes it three miles northeast of No. 1-A State.

The Texaco discovery, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 6-15e-32e, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 1-418.46 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil through one-half-inch tubing choke.

Gas-oil ratio was 583-1. Completion was from perforations in casing, opposite the Wolfcamp, at 2,790-5,525 feet. That set had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

The new older is eight miles west of the Saunders-Pennsylvanian field, and about 30 miles west and slightly north of Loving.

The Baugh-Pennsylvanian field of Northeast Lea County was extended one mile to the west with the completion of Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2 Beitenbaugh.

During the 24-hour potential test the well made 411 barrels of oil flowing through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke.

The exploration was drilled as a wildcat to the Ellenburger where it made only water.

It was plugged back to 9,751 feet for completion in the Pennsylvanian. Production is coming from perforations in casing at 9,708-9,732 feet. That set was treated with 1000 gallons of acid.

Location is 660 feet from west and north lines of the northwest quarter of section 14-9s-35e and 20 miles north of Tatum.

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Tyson Field is to be drilled as a 12,500-foot Devonian test at the south edge of the Gladolia field of Northeast Lea County, eight miles east of Tatum.

It will be dug 660 feet from north and west lines of section 25-12s-37e, and 1,960 feet from east of McAlester Fuel Company No. 1-A Simpson which was drilled to the Devonian and then plugged back and completed from the Wolfcamp.

The third Wolfcamp producer for the Gladolia-Multrap pool of Northeast Lea County was added with the completion of Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 John Shultz.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 680 barrels of 40.5-gravity oil through a 20 5/8-inch tubing choke and perforations at 9,555-9,805 feet. That set was treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 1-115-1 and flowing tubing pressure was 1,150 pounds.

C. D. Murphy No. 1 Schmitz is to be drilled as a shallow wildcat in Grant County.

Culberson Will Be Guest Speaker For TIPRO Gathering

AUSTIN—A man who has pioneered natural gas conservation — Olin Culberson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission — will be guest speaker before approximately 200 gas-minded directors of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association in Tyler, Sept. 28.

Occasion is the Association's mid-year directors meeting, theme of which will be the removal of "pipeline company discrimination against independent gas producers and royalty owners."

Culberson, recognized throughout the industry as a champion of the "little fellow," has not always enjoyed the popular public support for his views on gas conservation he does today. Seven years ago when, as he says, "the raid upon this great Texas resource was first begun by pipelines carrying it to the East," Culberson stood virtually alone against "alarming volumes of natural gas being taken from Texas into other areas possessing practically unlimited fuel reserves."

"Gas is irreplaceable," he said then. "Once gone it is gone for good. The faster it is siphoned off to enrich pipeline companies and the industries of other states, the quicker Texas will be deprived of this magnificent natural resource."

Today the picture is changed with the only vocal opposition to some limitation upon gas exports from pipeline companies. Widespread public support for Culberson's views resulted from recent efforts of independents to eliminate gas waste through legislation which frankly contemplated price as a factor in the prevention of waste.

It was then the first time that the general public became aware that most Texas natural gas already has been committed, often for the lifetime of the fields, as a result of the policy of unlimited exports.

Long Commitments Contributing to this condition has been the wholesale licensing of pipeline construction by the Federal Power Commission upon dedication of huge reserves. It has been through such long-term commitments that the Texas government and producers have been denied an opportunity for a better return from this resource as its true value is realized.

Some point out, moreover, that small independents are unable to negotiate on equal terms with pipeline companies and are forced to take whatever offered.

It is this rapid expansion of interstate gas transmission, spurred on by comparatively cheap prices at the wellhead, that led the Petroleum Administration for Defense to propose its pending limitation order for the purpose of preventing so much scarce steel goods from going into this non-defense channel.

Another consequence of too-cheap Texas gas, independents contend, is the growing program for storage in temporary reservoirs in the East. TIPRO presently is supporting a storage-limitation amendment to legislation pending in Congress.

PAD Approves Plans For Gasoline Plant In Tex-Harvey Pool

The Petroleum Administration for Defense has approved the application of Tex-Harvey Gasoline Plant, Inc. for the construction of a new natural gasoline plant in the Tex-Harvey oil field in Central-East Midland County.

The new plant will be a joint venture of Arthur (Tex) Harvey of Midland and Anchor Gasoline Corporation of Tulsa. It is understood at least $5,000,000 will be expended in the erection of the plant.

Site for the plant has been secured and construction is to start soon. Designers and engineers are now working on details of the plant.

Operation By January The plant is slated to start partial operation by or before January 1, 1952 and full completion and operation is scheduled by July 1, 1952.

Initial capacity of the plant is due to be between 30 and 35 million cubic feet per day. The operators plan to expand the capacity until it will ultimately be able to run between 50 and 60 million cubic feet of gas per day.

Initial plans for this plant were announced several months ago by Arthur (Tex) Harvey, owner of the Tex-Harvey Oil Company, the concern which discovered the Tex-Harvey oil field.

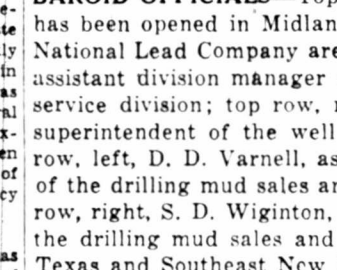

Preliminary work toward the construction of the installation has been underway for more than six months.

Approval of the Petroleum Administration for Defense was necessary before actual construction work on the plant could be started.

It is understood that a large amount of the material and equipment for the plant has already been contracted for—pending the PAD approval for the construction.

Phillips Petroleum Company is preparing to start erecting of a gasoline plant in the Tex-Harvey oil field and Phillips and Humble Oil & Petroleum Company recently announced they will build a third plant for the Spraberry Trend producing area of the Midland Basin.

The Phillips-Humble plant is to be in Northeast Upton County.

Thieves Steal Two Oil Well Reports

AMARILLO —(P)— Confidential reports on two oil wells have been stolen from the Superior Oil Company here. Officials said the reports were invaluable.

Robert Looney, a core drill expert for the company, said he apparently interrupted the thief when he stopped by the office for mail Thursday night. He said he heard footsteps, as if someone fleeing, as he entered the office.

The reports concerned two wells located on the Matador Ranch in Oldham County, and officials said the thief left them with no record of any kind on the wells.

END OF A HAMMY PERFORMANCE—When 35 hogs broke loose at a slaughter house in Philadelphia, it took 10 policemen and a host of packing-plant workers an hour to round them up. Here, the last of the renegade porkers is hauled back to the pen as a cop in background mops his weary brow.

Number Of Draft Delinquents Grows

AUSTIN —(P)— An estimated 2,000 to 2,500 Texas youths have failed to register for the draft since becoming 18. State Draft Director Paul L. Wakefield said Saturday.

The number is increasing. Registration has been declining since the end of March, said the brigadier general.

Maximum penalties are a $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment. "We've been watching this situation closely since late Spring with the hope that the trend would stop," Wakefield said.

"We've asked the local draft Boards to act under a provision of the regulations, whereby a letter will be sent to men in their communities suspected of being delinquent under the law."

Local boards should decide whether they want to turn any man over to federal district attorneys for prosecution.

"If the registration record doesn't improve within the next two or three months, we're going to advise the boards to be a little tougher than in the past," Wakefield said.

"After all the man who doesn't register on time isn't pulling his share of the board. He isn't being fair to the man who does register on time."

He said parents should keep 18-year-olds reminded.

Pressley Hits Home Run

SWEETWATER—It was the same old story of too much Julian Pressley here Saturday night, as the Sweetwater Manager led his team to an 8-7 win over Midland's Indians.

Pressley blasted a three-run homer out of Swatter Park in the seventh inning, and that was the difference. He has beaten Midland three times with home runs in the last five weeks.

Dave McKennie got the loss for Midland. Eddie Jacobs relieved, pitching hitless ball the last two innings.

Jacobs almost became the winner in the ninth, when Midland loaded the sacks with one out. But Pinch Hitter J. B. Gibbs grounded into a double play to kill the rally.

Kenny Jones hit a two-run homer for Midland in the third inning. It was his second of the year, and both have been in Swatter Park.

Scouter Hughes blasted home run number 12 of the season in the sixth with two men on base.

But Pressley's masterful poke nullified Midland's homers and gave Jorge Pilo the pitching victory.

It's a well-known fact that football coaches get out their crying towels sometime before the duck hunting season begins.

And duck hunters already are making their plans to take to the fields and marshes. Too, there's quite a bit of similarity between coaches and duck hunters when you stop to think about it. Both lay in blinds, so to speak, hoping to flush out an unsuspecting covey with decoys.

"Oooh," moans friend coach, acting if he had just taken a dose of Dr. Killemoreum's Old Bitter Liver Tonic. "I don't know how I can field a team."

"My backs," he groans, "think a cross-buck is part deer and part buffalo."

"And my centers—they get dizzy when they bend over. 'Have you seen my guards? They have to be helped onto the field. 'Tackles? They all deserted to the pros. 'My ends,' he'll tell you with a straight face, 'have been offered jobs as circus midgys.'"

"Now," and he spreads his hands in despair, "how does that leave me?"

"You guessed it—it has more holes than a hunk of Swiss cheese."

Now he's really warmed to the task. "But have you seen the schedule?" he'll ask, well-knowing you have it memorized as well as the athletic director—but no matter, he's going to tell you anyway.

"We open with Waybelow Normal—and you know what that means. Then we play P. U. and after that we meet—"

Here, as the tears stream down your cheeks and you wipe them away with your only clean handkerchief, you sob: "But what about your quarterback, isn't he supposed to be great this year?"

"Zounds!" the desperate mentor explodes, "He's about as bright as olive drab."

"But can't he pass?" you offer hopefully.

"Pass? He couldn't hit the scoreboard with a high-power rifle. And I haven't got a halfback who could follow his blocker if he had an elephant in the snow leading the way."

"Fact is," and you climb into your chair to keep your shoes out of the falling salt water, "I haven't got a blocker for him to follow."

So you bid a tearful farewell to said coach, running into him later just as he shuts his eyes and fears the worse in the season's opening game.

So certain of humiliating defeat are you by now, you don't look at the score until the gun signifies the end of the game, keeping your eyes lifted upward in hopeful prayer throughout the game.

Then, suddenly, you see the scoreboard. Why, the poor misfortunate has won, 49 to 0.

You leave the stands to congratulate him, but as you get there the coach is screaming:

"Horrible, lousy, awful! We were lucky. I don't see how we can field a team next week."

"My backs think a cross-buck is a . . ."

Sooners, Texans To Meet In Bowl

WICHITA FALLS—(AP)—Wichita Falls begins filling up with brawny youngsters from two states who will clash Friday night in the fourteenth annual Oil Bowl football game.

The Texas and Oklahoma coaches arrived Saturday.

They are Joe Goding of Wichita Falls and Johnny Kitchen of Austin, opposed by Paul Young of Muskogee and Alton Kelly of Bayre.

As usual, the Texas squad rules a slight favorite, since Oklahoma has never won here. But Young said that the Sooner state has the finest talent ever to come across Red River.

"I think we'll win. We didn't come down here to lose," he said.

Earl Stewart Leads In Sioux City Play

SIoux CITY.—(AP)—Earl Stewart, Jr., a little fellow from Dallas raced into the lead Saturday at the halfway mark of the 72-hole Sioux City Open Golf Tournament with a 133 total.

The 1941 National Collegiate Champion fired a 34-32-66 to go with his first round 67. His torrid pace put him 11 under par for 36 holes on the 6,506-yard Kihwond course.

Stewart's sharp performance put him a stroke in front of veteran Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago.

Mangrum, top money winner along the PGA circuit, shot another 33-34—67 for a one stroke lead over Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans (67-68) and Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del., (68-67).

Fred Hawkins, Jr., of El Paso shot a 69-69—138.

Crane Gulf Oilers To Enter Tourney

The Oilers were awarded a large trophy which is on display at the Gulf office.

BOSTON—(AP)—Preacher Roe, skinny Dodger southpaw, gave up only six hits Saturday night in pitching front running Brooklyn to a 5-3 decision over the Boston Braves.

Jackie Robinson poked his fourteenth homer of the season in the eighth to send the Braves ahead, 3-2, and two runs in the ninth clinched the victory. Sid Gordon banged his twenty-fifth homer of the year for the Braves in the second inning.

Gordon's homer was the only hit off the Preacher until the seventh when the Tribe, aided by a pair of errors, scored their second run.

The Dodgers, also helped by an error, went ahead 2-1 in the fourth. Robinson began it with a double off the left field wall.

After Andy Pafko popped out, Robbie went to third on a wild pitch. Gil Hodges walked and Roy Campanella lined to Roy Hartsfield.

The Boston second baseman threw to first in an attempt to double Hodges. Earl Torgeson let the ball get away and Robinson scored. Hodges going to third. Billy Cox infield out scored Hodges.

The Braves tied it, 2-2, in the second when Sam Jethroe singled

Roe's pickoff attempt sailed into centerfield and Jethroe wheeled to third when he scored as Torgeson was thrown out, Hodges to Roe covering first.

Robinson's homer put the Braves ahead and then the National League leaders put the game out of Boston's reach in the ninth with a pair of runs on singles by Hodges, Campanella and Carl Furillo.

Army Recruiting Program, For Football, Not Heavy

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Violation of the honor code at the United States Military Academy is one thing, its recruiting of football players quite another.

The latter has been over-emphasized to a much greater extent than Army football.

"Stars Lured to Point—Blair," screams a headline.

And what in the world is wrong with that? What do the professional dogooders want West Point to go after—a lot of dullards?

"If you don't interest a good boy to come, you know darn well he's not going to come," says Col. Earl H. Blair.

"No man with a purpose merely interested toward sports for sports' sake alone could stand the idea of arising at 5:50 o'clock each morning."

"Not while taking physics, chemistry, engineering, a prescribed foreign language, calculus, psychology, and military typography? The cadet has no option."

All of 24 youngsters visited the Hudson Highlands this Summer, took a cram course to prepare them for the entrance examination.

Seven passed.

Five matriculated.

In more recent years, from eight to 11 squad members annually have been obtained through a special program.

What proslighting! Why, it's pauper stuff compared to what goes on at nearly all institutions playing major football.

President Truman and other investigators who have vastly more important things to attend to should take a look at Michigan State. East Lansing snared every all-state lad in Michigan this year.

Every big-time coach in the country screens 300 or more high school players, frequently beginning in their sophomore year. How many do you suppose Frank Leahy looked at before the curb at Notre Dame? No coach has a more complete compilation of high school players than North Carolina's Carl Snavely.

Coaches and assistant coaches of schools not confined by state boundaries tour the land between seasons selling their set-up to preparatory pupils. The only reason the character-builders of some Big Ten seats don't do likewise is that it would cause sniping. Ohio State, for example, can do plenty well enough with home-grown.

Recruitment 30 years ago made coaching a year-round job. The coach who doesn't get out there and hustle doesn't stick around long. Competition is keen, and a winning coach simply has to have the horses.

This accounts for the many northern gentlemen at southern schools. Opponents of Miami of Coral Gables already have been warned of a sophomore back named Puc Constantino. In high school in Pennsylvania, this young man was called the Blairville Blitzard.

Take a gander at Pacific Coast Conference rosters. A University of Washington tackle prepped at Malden, Mass., High.

As many as 90 scholarships are not uncommon at many schools, the young warriors qualifying through extra-curricular activities.

The freshmen at many schools far outnumber the Military Academy's entire supply of football players. Ohio State, for instance, suits 200 freshmen each fall. There are several handpicked teams. When Paul Brown took charge at Columbus in 1941, he was quoted as saying that his first 45 freshmen would concentrate on learning his offense alone.

So Army makes page one for merely and legitimately making West Point alluring to a measly five.

TOUCHDOWN—Dean White of Lubbock, a West end, slants across the goal line after accepting a seven-yard aerial from Quarterback Kenneth Henson in the Permian Bowl game in Odessa's Broncho Stadium Friday night. The defender is Jimmy Hicks, Eldorado. The score knotted the game—won by the West—at 6-6.

Midland Small Fry Baseballers Tie For Third

HOUSTON—Austin won the Regional Little League Championship Tournament here Friday night, downing Monroe, La., 7 to 0. The Austin team now will go to Williamsport, Pa., for the Little League World Series. Thursday, Austin defeated Midland, 7-2.

Yankees Trounce A's, 5-1

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-1, Saturday behind the neat four-hit pitching of Vic Raschi to maintain their tie with the Cleveland Indians for the American League leadership. The Indians kept pace by trouncing the Chicago White Sox, 7-0.

Raschi had little trouble in posting his 17th triumph of the season and his 20th in 22 decisions over the A's in his career.

The big right hander yielded the first run of the game in the fourth on Dave Philley's single, a walk and rookie Lou Limmer's two-out double.

After that, however, Raschi blanked the A's on two singles.

A collision at home plate in the third inning cost the Athletics the services of Joe Tipton, first string catcher, for at least 10 days. His left ankle was severely sprained when Jerry Coleman, Yankee shot stop, crashed into him while trying to score.

The score: R H E
Philadelphia 000 100 000-1 4 0
New York 000 030 11x-5 9 0
Kellner, Scheib and Tipton, Astrotro; Raschi and Berra.

Indians, Vernon Will Not Play Game Sunday

VERNON—Midland and Vernon will not meet in their scheduled game here Sunday.

Instead, the two teams will clash at 7:30 p.m. Monday in a double-header.

Vernon recently discontinued Sunday baseball games because of the extreme summer heat.

A's Catcher Injured In Tilt With Yanks

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Tipton, Philadelphia Athletics' catcher, was carried from the field on a stretcher in Saturday's game against the New York Yankees.

Gerry Coleman, Yankees' third baseman, slid into Tipton on a play at th plate in the third inning.

The catcher's leg was injured and he was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

Christian, Henson Pace West Attack

By LARRY KING
BRONCHO STADIUM, ODESSA — The underdog West All-Stars fought off an early East rush that threatened to chase them completely out of Broncho Stadium, then roared back to lick the Easterners, 26-20, in the first annual Permian Bowl football game here Friday night before 12,000 approving fans.

Both teams — the West coached by Jess Neely of Rice, and the East tutored by Texas' Ed Price — were in mid-season form as one of the greatest collections of schoolboy grid talent ever assembled in West Texas flashed speed and power aplenty.

The Bedford Place

Grace and substantial beauty are embodied in this new three bedroom home of El Paso brick, located just a stone's throw from the Country Club.

The recessed entrance leads through a hallway into the roomy, cheerful living room, complete with wood-burning fireplace. The living room opens into the dining room, which has access in turn to the large patio. The kitchen measures 12x15 feet, and its features include a 28-foot ceramic tile dashboard, a super-abundance of stained knotty pine cabinets. It is plumbed for dishwasher and disposal unit, with instantaneous hot water. An electrically-controlled vent is built over the range location. Breakfast room and laundry room are just off the kitchen.

The stained knotty pine den provides a lovely view of the quiet street and the grounds of the Country Club, and may be used as the fourth bedroom. All three massive bedrooms have large, walk-in closets with sliding doors to facilitate easier furniture arrangement. Three storage closets in the long hall.

The two large, ceramic tile bathrooms include dressing table and glass-doored shower stall, and the best Crane colored fixtures are installed.

Phone jacks have been placed in the den, the kitchen and the master bedroom. Central heating unit has been installed, and ducts to handle air conditioning. Recessed lighting and mahogany doors throughout. The double garage is completely finished inside, and has three enclosed storage closets.

Here is a home for the most discriminating family; one that will be a daily joy for the rest of your life. For appointment to see, at any time, call

36th Spearheads Will Converge On Camp Polk Sunday

AUSTIN —(AP)—Spearheads of green-clad National Guardsmen from 66 different towns and cities throughout Texas will converge upon Camp Polk, La., Sunday for the 36th Infantry division annual field training.

It will be the Texans' first training outside their home state since World War II.

Some of the units hit the road Saturday in convoys of GI trucks and broke the trip with overnight bivouacs along the way.

Others were to move by rail or bus.

But wherever they came from, they were assured a hot meal upon arrival, for most personnel of the division already has moved into camp in preparation for their arrival.

The T-patchers will be led by Maj. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, veteran guardsman who landed at Salerno with the first wave of Texans to hit the beaches in the initial assault on the European continent in World War II.

Other top brass includes Brig. Gen. A. B. Crowther, San Antonio, artillery commander.

The Guardsmen will use Sunday and Monday morning in getting settled in camp, the get down to brass tacks at noon Monday. The infantry and armor will move out to the ranges. The artillerymen will practice putting their howitzers in position. Every weapon in the division will be fired during the two-week camp.

The 36th Division, units of which trace their lineage as far back as the Texas Revolution, fought through both world wars. It was reorganized as a guard division upon its return from Europe after World War II. Its first three Summer camps were held at Fort Hood, Texas.

Plans Completed For Visit Of State Highway Officials

Plans were being completed Saturday for the visit here this week of members of the Texas Highway Commission and the state highway engineer.

The commissioners—Chairman E. H. Thornton, Jr. of Galveston, R. J. Potts of Harlingen, and Fred Wemple of Midland—will spend Wednesday night in Midland as guests of the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. D. C. Greer is the state highway engineer.

John P. Butler, chairman of the Chamber's Highway Committee, said the commissioners will confer with city, county and Chamber of Commerce officials late Wednesday. Thursday morning they will be taken on a tour of the Spraberry oil fields near Midland to see first hand the need for paved outlets to serve those oil producing areas.

The Highway Department officials will leave by plane Thursday noon for Lubbock and Amarillo.

A dinner honoring the visitors is scheduled Wednesday night.

Policy Question Causes Split Among India Reds

NEW DELHI —(AP)—India's Communist Party has split on a big policy question.

Should the party lay down arms in an attempt to soften Prime Minister Nehru's attitude toward it, or continue an underground battle with the help of their new Red Chinese neighbors?

The five-man Politburo is deadlocked on the issue. Usually reliable sources say the proposal for giving up guerrilla tactics and presenting a respectable front is based on hopes of inducing Nehru to:

Relax a ban on the party in three states; release 1,600 Communists jailed without trial in other states.

With general elections scheduled for January, some sections of the party insist the Communists must make peace with the government at any cost to gain full privileges and get on the ballot. This view is pushed by Y. D. Sharma, chairman of the New Delhi Election Committee.

"Nehru's reactionary policies in India do not blind us to the fact his foreign policies are sometimes very enlightened," Sharma said.

The rivalry in the politburo—all five members are now underground—plus two leading antagonists, Akh Moderate.

S. A. Dange advocates moderate methods. Rajeshwar Rao boosts the "China way" of forming a people's liberation army.

Rao is a South Indian Red leader who masterminded an armed peasant uprising in Hyderabad State in 1948, following India's "police action" against Hyderabad state forces.

The Communists once held great areas of Hyderabad and still are making attacks, despite a lookout by special militia and police units.

Although the party has been making a comeback recently in some areas, the stern attitude of the Nehru government has kept its strength far below the peak membership of 90,000 reported at the last national convention in Calcutta in 1948.

Sharma estimates the present membership is about 60,000.

Getting ready for the election, the Communists issued a 15-point manifesto in Calcutta Wednesday. It demands that India cut her link to the British Commonwealth, cancel peasant-landlord debts and develop industries "with the aid of private industrialists who would be assured legitimate profits."

"Dry conditions that continue to lessen probable cotton production in West Texas may create this same problem in Northeast Texas," he warned.

Sponsors of the conferences are the Chambers of Commerce of the three cities, the Texas Cotton Growers Association and the WTCC.

Agencies to be presented include the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, the Farm Placement Department of the Texas Employment Commission, and the U. S. Department of Labor.

John A. Woodberry, Jr., four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodberry, 708 North Mineola Street, suffered a lacerated lip in a fall at play Friday. The child was treated at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Quick Thinking By Arkansan Saves Two Airmen's Lives

JONESBORO, ARK. —(AP)—Quick thinking of a Jonesboro resident saved two Air Force men.

As W. H. Gwin, Jr., was driving past the Jonesboro Airport during a storm before dawn Saturday, he heard an airplane circling overhead.

No lights were on at the airport. He drove his automobile up to a locked gate and crashed through it.

Then Gwin notified Roger Scott and Bill Lunsford and asked them to bring their cars to the airport.

The three men turned their headlights on a landing strip and the plane came down safely.

Lt. John Rider, 24, of Bridgeton, N. J., and Lt. John S. Rivers, 23, of Detroit, said they were on their way from Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo, to Detroit for the weekend.

Small Bridge Keeps Hotel From Falling In Excavation

A 31-foot-long steel bridge is keeping a large part of the Hotel Scharbauer from tumbling into a 19-foot-deep hole.

There is no danger, of course, but the little bridge represents a unique bit of engineering that is part of the construction of the hotel's new addition.

Here is the problem the designers faced in planning the construction project.

The basement had to be extended beneath a portion of the hotel which faces Lorraine Street.

The four main support columns were resting on the surface of the ground and the problem was to dig the hole beneath those columns, extend their footings to the level of the basement floor and do it without disturbing the columns.

The steel bridge will be used similarly on each of the other three columns.

"It cost about $2,600 to build," said L. K. Stout, engineer for the Ogborn firm, "but when the excavation work is completed they might as well throw it away. It won't be good for anything else."

The construction project is being handled by the Gene Brewer contracting firm.

The structure weighs more than 11,000 pounds and is the largest single steel fabrication job of its kind performed in Midland.

Designed to support a weight of 300,000 pounds, the structure was transported to the site of the Scharbauer project.

Then the big job began. It was skidded into place alongside one of the columns and then inched beneath the column's footing without disturbing the building's support.

Once in place, the bridge supported the column and permitted workmen to excavate beneath it and place new footings at the bottom of the basement. Then the column was extended to the new footing.

The steel bridge will be used similarly on each of the other three columns.

"It cost about $2,600 to build," said L. K. Stout, engineer for the Ogborn firm, "but when the excavation work is completed they might as well throw it away. It won't be good for anything else."

Students Enjoy Last Days Of Vacation Before School Opens

The doors of 11 schools in Midland will open September 4 to approximately 6,350 students.

During the last days of vacation, before the school bells start ringing, children of all ages are spending their time enjoying their favorite sports or amusements.

Mothers of school children are busy these last few weeks planning the children's school wardrobes and getting everything in readiness for September 4. Downtown stores are filled with a variety of interesting and attractive school supplies and children are beginning to investigate what they have to offer. "Back to School" clothes also are plentiful in Midland stores.

College-bound students are rushing to finish last minute shopping and start packing to go "off to college."

However, the majority of the students in Midland will be attending one of the 11 schools here. Two of the schools, Sam Houston Elementary and DeZavala Elementary, are new this year. All the school campuses have been beautified during the Summer and are ready to welcome the students and teachers back.

This year the schools will have the largest faculty and staff in history—237 persons. The number of new teachers this year is more than the entire faculty in 1947.

The stepped-up curriculum will stress the three R's and the activities of the school will include more athletics, band, pep squad, etc.

Each school in Midland now has a cafeteria except the Terminal school.

The increasing enrollment will be taken care of by the two new schools. The enrollment at the end of the 1950-51 term was 5,165. This year it is expected to reach an all time high of 6,350.

Cowden Junior High School this year. Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donnell and Carolyn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Harp.

SHOPPING — Again the time has come for youngsters to shop for school supplies. Two grade school students stop in a downtown store to see what the market has to offer in the way of school supplies this year. They are Julia Ann Herrell, left, and Suzanne Martin. Julia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Herrell, will be in the third grade at St. Ann's Catholic School this year. Suzanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Martin and will be a fifth year student at the new Sam Houston School.

FRESHMEN AT LAST—These eager high school freshmen take time out from their vacation to review their last year's books. Mary Wynn, right, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner Wynn. Carol Fitting is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fitting.

OFF TO COLLEGE—Modeling outfits from their Fall wardrobes, Jerelen Jowell, left, and Jo Ann Nelson glance through some college pamphlets. Jerelen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Co-Ed Wardrobe Highlights Smartness And Practicability

Smart, but practical, is the keynote of the back-to-school wardrobe picture . . . and school girl's back-to-school purchases will include clothes so basically smart, so classic in design, so practical in use and easy to care for—that they assure the girl a wardrobe adequate for all-occasion wear.

Mothers may think some of daughter's fashion whims a bit "wild" at times, but most "faddism" is only shown for the little things—the accessory gadgets which though not expensive, can be responsible for a girl's popularity.

The jacket suit is, still, the hub of every school girl's wardrobe—and this year sees it a duplicate of the college boy's jacket from notched lapels to longer length and English drape waistline.

In plaid, herringbone or monotone sheelands, covered or other popular men's wear woods, it will travel to school from school and college, go week ending, and fit under a coat for football games and all-around wear.

Good, becoming clothes; careful grooming; healthful posture—these are all the high school and college girl require to rank well dressed in class and campus. It can all be done on the slimmest budget!

Co-Eds Back-To-College Styles Will Be Feminine, Flattering

Autumn, with its promise of football games and after-class Coke dates, is just around the corner. But smart college-bound students aren't waiting for that first crisp tang in the air to do their fall shopping.

They know that the three R's of fashion must be studied early. This year skirts will be circular and worn over underskirts or lined with a fabric such as canvas, just for double insurance against that collapsible look.

The skirts are not only worn with sweaters and blouses, but also may form part of suits or double-breasted dresses.

Fitted coats will be worn with matching skirts and many dresses will sport matching jackets.

In Fabric Spotlight

Grey flannel is destined for a place in the fabric spotlight. Other popular fabrics will include tweed and thick, deep fleeces.

The hectic mix-and-match days are on the wane. Skirts topped with matching coats will become suits. Dresses will add jackets for the same effect.

A wardrobe planned with this fashion note in mind will never hang forgotten in the closet. And the familiar complaint, "I just don't have a thing to wear with it," will become a relic of another age.

The new look has wrought changes in the shoe and hand-bag department, too. Fabric shoes or fabric and leather combinations will be featured and wall-toed shoes will be replaced by the taper-toed variety. Hand bags may be found in two-tone combinations.

In 1951, as in every other year, though, only trends have changed. Within the broad realm of basic styles, a college girl may find just the right clothes to express her individuality. And she can be fashion-right without being a carbon-copy of her classmates.

RETURNS HOME AFTER VISIT

Mrs. E. M. Way of Corsicana recently returned to her home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Glass of Midland. Also visiting Mrs. Glass were Mrs. Fred Brooks and Mrs. W. V. Robertson and daughter, Patricia, of Corsicana.

Rita Myrell Livingston

Couple Schedules September Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Livingston of Midland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rita Myrell, to Virgil W. Krutstinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Krutstinger of Centralia, Ill.

The engagement was announced Saturday with a Coke party in the home of the bride-elect at 207 West Michigan Street. Pink and green, the bride-elect's chosen colors, were carried out in the decorations.

The refreshment table was covered with a dark green cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli and pink Maroon daisies.

Favors were paper matches rolled up in scrolls of pink tissue paper tied with green satin ribbon. Inscribed on the scrolls were the words, "The perfect match," followed by the names of the couple and their wedding date.

Betty Jean Wilson, Miss Livingston's roommate, was a member of the house party. Mrs. Glenn Hyde and Mrs. R. D. Jones, Jr., sisters of the bride, served and Mrs. Guy A. Landrum, also a sister, presided over the guest book.

The honoree wore a dress of red organza with a white aster corsage. Mrs. Livingston, the bride-elect's mother, chose a navy blue dress and a corsage of pink gladioli.

The wedding will take place September 21 in the First Methodist Church in Midland.

Home Building Can Continue Without Interruption Here

Home building can continue in Midland without interruption as a result of recent rulings by defense agencies in Washington, according to Paul McHargue, manager of A & L Housing & Lumber Company and a member of the Public Affairs Committee of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"The new regulations insure a minimum but adequate supply of critical materials for use in new housing, although it will be difficult to build large homes after September 30," McHargue said.

"Builders will be obliged to economize greatly on steel and copper and no aluminum can be used, except for certain fabricated house parts, but quality homes of moderate size can be constructed without difficulty by using lumber and other plentiful materials in place of the critical metals.

"If kitchens and bathrooms are placed near each other in one part of the house, the government's steel and copper allowances should be ample. In addition, the number of electrical outlets will have to be held to a minimum to come within the copper wire restrictions.

Delays Eliminated

"Through a self-certifying procedure, builders and contractors will be permitted to obtain allotments of steel and copper without having to apply for special permits, thus eliminating the delays which would arise if priority applications had to be filed.

"Prior to October 1, homes of any size can be started, regardless of the amount of metals required, but no priority assistance will be available to help get those materials until after September 30, and only minimum amounts can be obtained then through the self-allotment procedure."

Card Party Held In Country Club

McCAMEY—Mrs. R. S. Cope and Mrs. W. J. Campbell, Sr. were hostesses recently to the Ladies of the McCamey Country Club at a bridge and canasta party in the clubhouse.

Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. E. A. Asher and Mrs. A. C. Fleming won the game prizes.

Reeves Valuation Is $13,000,000

PECOS—Reeves County's valuation for 1951-52 was set last week by the county commissioners at $13,000,000, an increase of about $800,000 over the previous year.

County Judge Richard C. Slack attributed the jump to "growth and development, rather than raises in valuation."

The commissioners, in addition, voted to leave in effect the prevailing tax rate of 80 cents per $100 valuation.

The revenue will be spent as follows: general county, 50 cents; jury, 2 cents; roads and bridges, 10 cents; courthouse and jail maintenance, 8 cents; and courthouse and jail bonds, 10 cents.

Estimated expenditures for the next year are $275,000, compared with estimated receipts of $329,000. Expected expenditures represent an increase of about $20,000 over the last year. It is anticipated most of the additional funds will go for county roads and road equipment, Judge Slack explained.

NEWCOMERS
New Mexico-Bound Carters Find Home In Midland Instead

Their new home in Midland came as something of a surprise, to Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Carter, 2709 Delano Street.

The Carters already had purchased New Mexico license plates for an expected transfer to Hobbs when Carter discovered he was Midland-bound instead. That was about four weeks ago. Now, despite the unnecessary bother, they're glad to be here.

Midland isn't entirely new to the Carters. They often came here to visit friends during their three years in Denver City.

Before that their home was in Houston where Mr. and Mrs. Carter met. She attended the University of Houston, while Carter was a student at Rice. Originally, Mrs. Carter came to Texas from Akron, Ohio.

As for activities, the Carter family likes sports, baseball in particular. "We haven't gotten around to attending the Midland Indiana games yet," Mrs. Carter confessed, "but we do want to go sometime."

Other members of the Carter family are a three-year-old David and Bobby, seven months old.

Carter is employed as a mechanical engineer by Shell Oil Company.

The MATURE PARENT

We Can't Just Ignore The Evil Children See

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The Summer that Betsy was nine years old, she and her mother visited relatives who lived in a big city. One afternoon they went to the movies. Their way home took them by a neon-lighted cocktail bar. As they passed it, its door was flung open and a girl was shoved out of it by a big man in a white apron. He pushed her again, shouting a word that Betsy had never heard before.

The girl turned to scream something at the man but he didn't give her a chance to finish what she had to say. He took three fast steps, lifted his arm, and with the flat of his hand, struck the girl across the face.

Betsy put her hands over her ears to shut out the sound of the slaps, staring at the girl as she fell to the pavement, her purse scattering its contents at Betsy's feet.

After a moment, Betsy's mother said, "I'll take care of her, dear; you pick up the compact and the money."

When Betsy gave the girl her purse, she didn't say "Thank you." She snatched it, jerking free of Betsy's mother. Then she turned and stumbled on down the street, holding her hand to her cut lip.

That evening when Betsy's mother came to kiss her goodnight, Betsy said, "He hit me, mother; he hit me. I didn't know that men were allowed to hit ladies."

"They don't do it usually," her mother said. She sat down on her child's bed. "I hit you once, though. Last Christmas Eve when I spanked you. Remember? You weren't nearly so sorry for yourself as you were for that girl today. Why were you so sorry for the girl?"

"The man hated the girl," Betsy said. "I could see he just hated her."

"Then, darling," said Betsy's mother, "it wasn't the slap that has made you unhappy. It was the hate."

How To Cancel Evil
Striking the blond head against her shoulder, Betsy's mother went on: "Now this is what we have to do about what we saw today," she said.

"For the next week or so, we are going to be very polite to everyone we meet. We mustn't impose on anybody, or let anybody impose upon us. We must give everyone we have anything to do with an extra supply of respect and love. That is how we can cancel out the cruelty and hate we saw today. That's what we can do about it. Let's start right now by giving each other a special good-night hug."

It is criminally negligent to us to ignore children's need for help in living with the evil to which their world exposes them. It is cruel of us not to tell them how they can cancel out that evil.

When a child sees brutality attack another human being like himself, he is frightened. The attack suggests that he too can become a victim of brutality. If he is not told what he can personally do about brutality, he begins to hate and fear the world in which human beings are helpless against humiliation and degradation.

His furious feelings carry over into manhood. He is apt to become a person with hostile political opinions, an employee who hates the boss, can't take orders—the kind of man who hates and fears evil so passionately that he is blind and deaf to anything but evil.

When we say, "Oh, forget the ugly thing you saw or heard," we are showing ourselves up as shallow and insensitive parents. The evil a child witnesses is not forgotten. He must be taught to take a positive stand against it, if its power over his mind and heart is to be destroyed.

Fitted Coats Come Back For Fall

The fitted coat is back this autumn but the coat with easy fullness remains. Anthony Biotta's creamy cashmere coat (left) is casual, shawl collar, tuxedo front and great cuffs in black. Twilight gray wool (center) adapts itself to an Anthony Biotta fitted coat with tiered skirt and sparkling buttons. The full wrap coat by Seymour Fox (right) is in "sugar plum," a cyclamen pink. It has shawl collar, tuxedo front and great cuffs in black. Coat fullness is controlled, appearing at sides and back rather than the front.

NEW YORK — The fitted coat has returned to us for Fall. Long shovels to the back of the closet by the pyramid, it looks entirely new for Autumn. Yet, it isn't taking over the entire fashion stage; it shares the spotlight with the full coat.

And even the full coat has changed its ways for Fall. In place of the sweeping lines of the pyramid, there is gentle, controlled fullness. Most often, this means fullness placed at the sides in combination with a straight front and back. The coats that do have fullness at the back do not have the tremendous sweep of a year ago.

The return of the full coat makes good fashion sense. There is a new skirt fullness in daytime dresses this Fall. This means that there must be coats that fit well over such dresses. Biggest surprise about these new coats is that they look so handsome in the hairy, thick, fuzzy fabrics.

Anthony Biotta, whose Fall collection is both brilliant and wearable, does a fitted coat in twilight gray flannel. This coat is so slim that at first glance it appears to be a dress. With notched cuffs, narrow collar and rhinestone buttons to the neatly-belted waist, it has a full, tiered skirt. The lining is a flashing red silk.

This designer also does a casual coat in pale, creamy cashmere that's worn either belted or unbelted. Without the belt, it falls into lines of controlled fullness with a central back pleat. Further fullness is achieved through deep pleats at either side. A wide collar converts to standing or flat position.

The full coat, as represented in the collection of Seymour Fox, is in a shade that this designer calls

"sugar plum." This is a cyclamen pink in a pretty fleece that wraps deeply. It has a shawl collar, tuxedo front and cuffs in black. Black buttons slant down the front, holding the lines of the coat smooth. The shoulder line is natural.

Pay Boost Asked For Pecos Police

PECOS—Police Commissioner Bill Turpin last week asked the city council to grant a $15 blanket raise to monthly salaries of the city police force. Action, however, was deferred until the 1951-52 budget is adopted, probably within 30 days.

Turpin said the police had brought the city a net income of $1,845 in July alone. He said, further, that on a yearly basis the department pays for about half its own costs, a fact which he said is remarkable since Pecos gets police protection at half price.

City Secretary Dub Martin reported total operating expenses of the police department average around $34,000 annually, or about $2,833 per month.

Money for Turpin's proposal would be obtained from part of the salary left open by the recent resignation of Glen Gray, day-time dispatcher. Policemen have been doubling up on the communication system since Gray's departure.

If the raise goes into effect, it will mean an extra $15 monthly to seven policemen, including Police Chief Sam Walding, and $10 to a night dispatcher.

'The Drunkard' To Open In Midland Monday Night

Forrest Matthews, who plays the villain the audience will see in the Boys Ranch of West Texas presentation of "The Drunkard" at the American Legion Hall Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, almost needs no introduction to theater audiences. Many will remember the handsome, six-foot-two Texan as "Duke" Matthews, a nickname he acquired during high school days and the name he frequently used during his 12 years experience as both featured player and star with some of the most outstanding dramatic stock companies and road shows throughout the United States.

Forrest Matthews

After 10 years of being featured as the tall, dark and handsome leading man in more than 250 plays such as "Twin Beds," "Crime and Punishment," "Yellow Jack," "Little Miss Bluebeard," "Clear All Wires," "The Bad Man," "Shepherd of the Hills," etc., Matthews arrived in Hollywood to bid for a career in motion pictures.

Before he had many pictures to his credit, however, World War II was declared. He returned to Texas to enlist in the Seabees shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor and, after three short weeks' training, shipped out to serve in the Pacific theater. He participated in the first invasion of Guadalcanal and ended up in Okinawa, the final invasion of the war.

Returns To Hollywood
 A few months after his discharge from the service in 1946, he returned to Hollywood to do the lead heavy in "Trail to Mexico," with Jimmy Wakely and Lee "Lasses" White. Since then he has worked in 35 pictures. Among these were "Wild Country," with Eddie Dean, "Deadline," "Fighting Mustang," "Sunset Carson Rides Again," and "Fighting Marshall," all opposite Sunset Carson, "Canadian Pacific," with Randolph Scott; "Heaven Only Knows," with Brian Donlevy and Robert Cummings; "I Shot Jesse James," with Preston Foster; "Triggerman," with Johnny Mack Brown; "The Gun Fighter," with Gregory Peck; and "Wyoming Mail," with Alexis Smith and Stephen McNally.

An injury suffered in making a picture halted Matthews' film career indefinitely and he returned to his home in Dallas. He was induced by Jimmie Jefferies, Boys Ranch show coordinator, to join the cast of "The Drunkard."

The Midland presentation of "The Drunkard" is sponsored by the Optimist Club.

Mrs. Frank Joseph Kalinowski, Jr.

Frank Kalinowski, Bride Take Trip

Frances Ruth Elder of Midland and Frank Joseph Kalinowski, Jr., exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony Wednesday in the St. Ann's Catholic Church. The Rev. T. J. Kennedy, O.M.I., officiated.

The bride is the daughter of J. H. Elder of Midland and Mrs. Dona C. Elder of Amarillo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joseph Kalinowski of Clinton, Mass.

Mrs. Albert S. Kelley, organist, played Lohengrin's Wedding March for the professional. Mrs. Frank Thompson, soloist, sang "Ave Maria."

The main altar of the church was decorated with seven-branched candelabra and four matching arrangements of gladioli and marionis. Green palms flanked the altar. Arrangements of gladioli and marionis also were used on the side altars.

The sanctuary, in which the prelude for the bride, bridegroom, maid of honor and best man were placed, was decorated with seven-branched candelabra and matching floor baskets of white gladioli and marionis. A bridal carpet was used for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, J. B. Elder, wore an antique ivory satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice covered with seed pearls. The yoke was of illusion. Buttons extended down the back of the gown and the gored skirt extended into a cathedral length train.

Her tiered shoulder-length veil was caught to a fitted satin hat trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of stephanotis, lily of the valley and maidenhair fern centered with a white orchid. Sabra and matching tie in love knots and lily of the valley completed the bouquet.

Attendants Listed
 Mrs. H. C. Thomas of Ada, Okla., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her pink dress was fashioned with a satin bodice and a skirt of taffeta net. Her satin jacket featured a roll collar. She wore matching mitts and a sweetheart hat tied with tulle. Her styled cascade bouquet was of pink roses with a satin ribbon shower.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. C. H. Elder and Mrs. J. B. Elder of Midland. They wore blue dresses styled identically to that of the matron of honor. Their colonial type bouquets were of pink carnations.

Marilyn and Ann Elder, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore blue taffeta net dresses with sweetheart hats and carried pink satin baskets of flowers.

Walter Golas of Clinton, Mass., was the best man. Jimmy Elder, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and H. C. Thomas of Ada and C. H. Elder of Midland were ushers.

hand-bag and an orange velvet hat. She wore a white orchid corsage. Out-of-city guests included Mrs. Dona C. Elder, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Thomas and Alice, Ada, Okla.; Mrs. Bill Miller, Fort Worth; Mrs. Billy Merle, Goss, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Golas and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kalinowski of Clinton, Mass.

The bride was graduated from the Teachers College at Columbia University where she majored in music education. She received her M. A. degree from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. She is a member of Alpha Chi Honorary Scholastic Fraternity and Mu Phi Epsilon Honorary Music Fraternity.

The bridegroom received his B.A. degree from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and his M.A. degree from the Teachers College at Columbia University. He majored in music.

Mrs. Kalinowski was honored with a surprise shower Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Douglas Nix. The table was centered with a replica of a bride around which were placed the gifts.

Guests were Mrs. Howard Atwater, Mrs. Charles Reeder, Mrs. Marion Culver, Mrs. Frank Branhney, Mrs. Cecil Elder and Mabel Nix.

An inexpensive name-plate for your home can be made from a panel of pressed wood and a length of twisted twine. Simply spell out your sur-name with the twine, securing it, as you arrange in the letter-shapes, with staples. To weather-proof the panel, paint or varnish it before beginning the operation. To make the effect more colorful, dip the twine in paint of a contrasting shade before mounting it; then, when it is in place, coat it with shellac to protect it from the elements.

Midland Lions Club Will Hear Address By Farley Wednesday

The founder and president of Boy's Ranch at Amarillo will speak at the luncheon meeting Wednesday of the Midland Lions Club.

He is Cal Farley, former professional athlete and businessman, who now devotes his full time to the 3,000-acre ranch which is home to 121 boys.

Farley conceived the idea of Boy's Ranch when he noted that little fellows hanging around the ball park and wrestling arena needed attention.

The ranch became a reality in 1939 and started with 10 boys. Including the 121 present residents, the ranch has handled more than 500 boys. It has its own 12-grade school system with seven teachers. In Military Service.

Cal Farley

Some of the ranch graduates attend college, some take jobs and several are in military service. Probably Farley's most impressive remark about juvenile delinquency is, "A boy doesn't have to be a thoroughbred to be a champion."

Boy's Ranch is not sponsored by any club, church or other organization. It is governed by a board of directors of business and professional men interested in helping boys.

The ranch has 3,000 acres of land, 23 buildings, 76 head of registered cattle, 100 beef cattle, a dairy herd of 23 Holsteins and 42 horses for the boys to ride.

The ranch takes boys from seven to 17 years of age. They stay there the year round, going to school, doing chores, farm work in Summer and maintenance work around the ranch. There is a lake where the boys swim and fish and a full sports program with teams in all sports. There is a chapel where each boy can worship at services of his own faith.

Approximately 60 per cent of the boys once were in trouble with the law. Most of the boys become good citizens when given the chance.

The ranch has continued to grow because of public acceptance. It has been financed through voluntary contributions from the public.

"We have had boys from every state in the union," Farley said. "We now have them from 22 states."

"We believe that if a boy needs help, it doesn't make a great deal of difference where he is from or to what church his folks may have belonged," the founder added.

The Food and Drug Administration warns vacationers not to eat mushrooms they've picked themselves unless there is sure proof that they are the edible kind. Mushroom poisoning is too dangerous to take a chance on.

The assembling of suitable wardrobes was one of the twins' most challenging and enjoyable projects. As a first step, in salvaging what they can from clothes on hand, Betsy puts her sweaters into shape for college (above) while Barbara re-trims her last year's Sunday hat (lower right). When shopping time comes, Betsy concentrates upon gay, youthful styles while Barbara searches for costumes a bit more somber and mature.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Converting your high school clothes into a wardrobe suitable for either college or a job takes a bit of planning, the twins discovered when they moved on to their next big problem. Unless the sky's the limit on your budget, it's largely a make-do proposition, except, of course for the minimum purchases that are to serve as a foundation for the wardrobe you hope to acquire eventually.

Barbara concentrated upon rounding up suits and blouses, tailored ones that would look well in a business office. And she wisely refused to try to convert her last year's Sunday clothes into this year's working wardrobe. Fancy fabrics and fussy styles just aren't right for professional wear, she knew.

Texas City Learns How To Play Again

TEXAS CITY —(P)—The city that fell twisted under the gigantic waterfront explosions of April 16, 1947, rebuilt itself first—and then learned to play again.

It took until January, 1950, for a city recreation program to start. Saturday night, with the dedication of a new $200,000 swimming pool, the city took stock of what it has done.

The greatest blast disaster in U. S. history began with the explosion of the French freighter Grandcamp, loaded with an ammonium nitrate fertilizer compound.

This triggered off a chain of ship and waterfront explosions which devastated a 50 acre area and made a two-mile torch of the city's industrial section. Two-thirds of the town was destroyed, 512 persons killed and more than 2,000 injured.

Texas City interred its dead, cleared away the fire-blackened rubble and began the painful work of rebuilding and expansion which is estimated to have cost $150,000,000 to date.

How are things now?
Taken Big Jump
The population has taken a 50 per cent jump, 25,000 compared to 17,000 at the time of the blast. The industrial payroll runs $26,000,000, or $4,000,000 more than in 1947.

There are new wide streets, five new schools, a new police station, new jail and new health clinic. A half-million-dollar sewage disposal plant is in the blueprint stage. Private builders plan hundreds of new homes.

No general recovery ceremony is planned.

"It would bring back too many sad memories," said Mayor Lee Robinson. "There are too many families here who lost their husbands, or fathers, or their children."

The city recreation program offers the best measure of the city's spirit to shake off the disaster and go forward.

Like that new pool. It is laid out on the flats of the Texas Gulf Coast, 15 blocks north and 25 blocks west of the pier where the explosion began.

Shaped like a flattened T, it has a base 75 feet long with the cross part measuring 145 feet. Lanes cross in the center. Nearby is a wading pool for the kids.

It's been in use this Summer already. A daily average of well over 1,000 swimmers has netted the city some $200 a day.

The pool is only one part of the Texas City Recreation Department. The city purchased a 55-acre park to include tennis courts, municipal buildings, softball fields, swings and other recreational facilities.

It converted the old city jail into a modern, colorful recreational administration room.

It made the city hall auditorium a community house.

This Summer the recreation area around the city hall was like a day camp for children. Story telling under the trees, crafts, contests, treasure hunts, badminton, horse-shoes, ping pong and shuffleboard.

At night it was the adults' time to play. Square dancing, social dancing for the whole family, airt-craft, a camera club, a little theater group, and the tournaments—canasta, bridge, chess, checkers, horse-shoes and badminton.

Once a week the city offers free of charge a Spanish-speaking film for Ms Latin American residents. They have flocked to it.

Also there's an athletic program. More than 300 players participated in the four leagues in basketball this Spring. Some 300 more played in the five softball leagues this Summer. Almost 200 played in the three baseball leagues—the Little League, the Teen-Age League and the Latin American groups.

Artist From Tulsa Moves To Midland

And she never had a lesson in her life—
When entering the home of Mrs. E. D. Bates, 2613 Roosevelt Street, a visitor would know immediately it was the home of an artist. But Mrs. Bates claims to be only an amateur and says she has never had a lesson in her life.

The rooms are filled with pastel and oil paintings and ceramic and pottery figurines.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates moved to Midland recently from Tulsa, Okla. Bates is employed by Superior Oil Company. She said they came here to visit and decided to stay.

She is surprised
Mrs. Bates was more surprised than anyone when she became an artist. It happened overnight, she said.

Several years ago Mrs. Bates was hospitalized for a serious illness she picked up a paper and pencil and sketched the head of a dog.

The next day a friend noticed the sketch and insisted she try her hand at pastels.

A chance meeting with a visitor to the hospital led Mrs. Bates to oil paintings.

"I had done several pastels of nursery rhyme characters for my amusement and this gentleman saw them. He wanted to buy them, but I told him I'd rather just give him the pictures—because I didn't want to sell anything until I was sure I was an artist."

Several months later Mrs. Bates received in the mail a large box of oils. The sender had remained anonymous, but she concluded the gifts was sent by the man to whom she had given the pictures.

Since she didn't know anything about oil painting so she rushed down to a store specializing in artist supplies and got the information she wanted. Since then she has made many oil paintings.

Favorite Picture
One of her favorite pictures is the head of Man O' War, the famed race horse. Two other pictures — of Indian subjects—have been unofficially acclaimed as excellent by pastel-medium enthusiasts. Several of her paintings still are on display in Tulsa.

Mrs. Bates has sold several of her paintings but wants to remain in the amateur field until she has an exhibit—one of her main ambitions.

At present Mrs. Bates is taking lessons in ceramics and pottery at Althea's Pottery Shop. She has made a lamp, a set of dishes, salt and pepper shakers and many other colorful and attractive figurines.

However, she has another hobby that runs a close race with her painting—cooking. "I am really happy when I am in the kitchen," said Mrs. Bates.

Because of this hobby and because of fried chicken recipe that has been in the family for over 100 years, Mrs. Bates opened the Clover Club in Tulsa several years ago. The club specialized in fried chicken. When she moved to Midland she leased the club.

Former Midlander Has Dallas Wedding

In a double-ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday, Mary Catherine Graham of Dallas, and formerly of Midland, became the bride of James Harry Clack of Dallas.

Vows were read in Perkins Chapel at Southern Methodist University. The Rev. William M. Elliott of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Graham of Dallas. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Clarence C. Simon of University City, Mo., and the late Harry W. Clack.

The ceremony was performed before a background arrangement of greenery and white candles. Baskets filled with pastel-colored flowers also were used in the church decorations.

Billy Rogan, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and Maymie Duffey, soloist, sang "The Wedding Prayer." Dunlap

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pearl white satin designed with a fitted basque bodice and a miniature satin collar highlighted by a deep capelet of imported princess lace. The long sleeves tapered to a petal point over the bride's wrists and the voluminous skirt, worn over old-fashioned hoops, swept to a formal length train.

She wore her sister's wedding veil of imported illusion. The finger-tip length veil was gathered to a Juliet cap of imported lace circled with a leaf design of pearls. For the traditional something old, she chose a pearl ring which belonged to her maternal grandmother. Her bouquet was of white roses circled by lilies of the valley.

Margaret Ann Enoch of Dallas was the maid of honor. She wore a silk organza dress in Fall water turquoise designed with a strapless bodice and a wide satin cummerbund. Her matching capelet accented the design of the bride's dress. She wore a miniature cap with natural flowers and carried a colonial bouquet of pastel flowers.

Imel Jean Graham of Burbank, Calif., cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. Her dress was identical in color and style to that of the maid of honor. She carried a colonial bouquet which was a replica of the maid of honor's bouquet.

E. A. Horn of Dallas was the best man. Candelighters were Jack E. Cross of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, and James B. Cline of Dallas. Graham Dunlop, Cross and Cline were the ushers.

Reception Held

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The couple was assisted in receiving the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Simon.

Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. McGee Duff and Mrs. E. A. Horn, Dallas; Mrs. A. R. McCutcheon of Drumright, Okla.; Mrs. George Cross of Fort Worth, Mrs. T. C. Graham of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Glenn Graham of Burbank, sister of the bride. Sue Carolyn Dodson of Oklahoma City presided at the guest book.

The refreshment table was covered with a white maderia cloth. The wedding cake and the punch bowls were encircled by white carnations and plumosa. Pot plants and hurricane lamps decorated the patio.

For the wedding trip to Galveston, Mrs. Clack chose a navy blue corded fallie suit styled with a fitted jacket. Her peplum was fashioned in points to match the corded stripe. Her hat was an original design of blue velvet cap circled in braid of self color and accented with a sweeping quill. She wore navy accessories.

After September 1 the couple will be at home in Dallas where Clack is employed by the Brentwood Company.

Mrs. Clack was graduated from Midland High School, Christian College in Columbia, Mo., and Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Clack is a graduate of the University of Missouri, where he was affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reeves and N. B. Herring, Midland; Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Graham, Burbank; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Dodson, Sue Carolyn Dodson and Billy Dodson, Oklahoma City; Mrs. M. C. Graham, San Marino, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. George Cross and Jack Cross, Fort Worth; Clyde Farnely, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Smith, Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rogan and Billy Rogan, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Simon and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Rosemann, University City, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McCutcheon, Cushing, Okla.

Army Grimps Nylons For GI Girl Friends

VIENNA —(P)—The army made it tough Saturday for unmarried GI's to get female finery—like nylons—from post exchanges. The GI's have been buying such articles in mass quantities to make friends and influence Austrian girls. Under the new rule they must get written permission and identify the girl. The Army said the measure was to aid the defense program.

Black Marketing May Bring Slash In GI Java Ration

BONN, GERMANY —(P)—A high German customs official Saturday said American authorities will reduce coffee rations to occupation personnel, beginning October 1, to help curb black marketing.

Wilhelm Borgmann, head of the customs service on the Western border, said the monthly coffee ration would be cut from 11 pounds per person to seven pounds.

There was no immediate confirmation by American officials here or in Frankfurt.

Borgmann said Americans in Germany deprive the German economy of huge tax revenues by selling coffee illegally on the black market.

Germans can buy American coffee on the black market for from eight to 10 marks ($2 to $2.50) but because of high German taxes, the same amount of coffee in a German shop would cost 18 marks ($4.50).

Oldtimer Declares Modern Cowboys 'Bunch Of Sissies'

AUSTIN—(AP)—Modern-day cowboys, with their V-8's and airplanes, are a bunch of sissies.

"The real, tough and rough cowpokes has gone with the winds," says 84-year-old Jefferson Davis Dillingham—as "tough a critter as came along in my day."

Dillingham, who saw the infamous Sam Bass dying of bullet wounds, is a Central Texas pioneer who "grew up" on a horse before turning to railroading as a career. He's retired now and living here.

"In my day roping and tying steers and breaking wild horses was a popular sport.

"You could see a roping contest or horsemanship tournament then almost as often as you can see a movie now," he chuckled.

And Dillingham said the contests were a far cry from present-day rodeos.

"There were no calves involved, just big sturdy longhorn steers that could run like a freight train."

Although he didn't participate, the tough old man—still as hard as nails—attended Austin's first rodeo July 4, 1888.

Another sport Dillingham remembers is the test of cow horses. A 34-foot rope was tied to the horns of each horse's saddle, and on a given signal each horse and rider would depart at full speed in opposite directions.

The steed not thrown by the violent impact would be declared winner.

Dillingham was born in Florence, Texas, in 1866 and moved to Merriam in 1876. In 1899 he went to work for the old Austin and Northwestern railroad as a brakeman. In 1900 he became a conductor for the Houston and Texas Central which later was absorbed by the Southern Pacific railroad. He retired in 1933.

"One day in Round Rock (July 19, 1878) while unloading fodder in a livery stable, I saw the sheriff and one constable approach three men (one of them Sam Bass).

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Poage Urges Overhauling Of Officer Training Plan

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Waco's Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage candidly admits he can't qualify as a military expert. In World War I he was a navy job, and didn't even get to sea before the armistice was signed.

Nevertheless, he says, it's evident something drastic needs to be done to overhaul our officer training program.

He has in mind West Point and Annapolis. He hastens to add that the West Point cheating episode has nothing to do with his views.

The 51-year-old legislator is concerned about the amount of money being poured into the defense program. He agrees it's necessary.

"But," he adds, "that doesn't blind you to the fact that nearly one-third of our national income is going into the development and maintenance of our armed services."

"War and preparation to prevent war involve our factories, our fields, and our national economy just as truly as it involves maneuvers on the battlefields."

As Poage sees it, keen business leadership is part of a successful defense program as well as battlefield leadership. He says a man qualifying for the top in one field might not be a capable leader in the other.

Poage doesn't want to abolish West Point and Annapolis. But, he does think they might very properly become graduate schools for advanced training of men who already are officers in the military forces. He would have the officers come originally from such schools as Texas Shooting followed and I dived into the stable. The next day Bass was brought into Round Rock dying of bullet wounds.

"I saw him on the counter of a tin shop with a doctor attending him. His six-shooter was on the counter nearby. He died the next day."

A&M College or up from the ranks.

"If a boy gets an appointment to West Point or Annapolis under the present system," he adds, "he goes in at 17 or 18 and immediately looks to the government for his food, clothing, shelter and spending money."

"On the other hand, the boy at Baylor or A&M or some other school may be working his way, waiting on tables, cutting lawns or doing any number of odd jobs.

To Follow Regulations

"The boy who is going to make a professional officer is experiencing no problem of personal finance—all he has to do is follow regulations for life. This is not conducive of making sharp businessmen."

He argues the course at Annapolis and West Point are designed to train leaders of men on the field of battle, then adds:

"We find West Point graduates well qualified as combat officers, but when war comes the combat positions are largely filled with men who got their training either in the ranks or in institutions like Texas A&M. The West Point men having been in longer, are by and large pushed up to the desk jobs."

"Thus the country loses much of the combat training it has given these men. They find themselves taking over gigantic administrative tasks for which they are not prepared."

Another Texas congressman has become recognized as a leading authority on military expenditures.

As Chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee handling all money measures for the armed forces, Rep. George Mahon of Colorado City and Lubbock was in charge of House debate on the multi-billion dollar defense bill last week.

He can quote prices on everything from army medical kits and navy diving helmets to tanks, ships and planes.

Yet, somewhat symbolical of the American form of government, the fact is that the West Texas congressman is thoroughly civilian in background and thought.

Tall and on the slender side, young looking for his 50 years, he is a quiet-mannered, quiet-speaking man who has lots of friends. He and his wife attend a Methodist Church, where he teaches a Sunday school class. They have a married daughter.

Employees Needed By Oil Companies

The oil industry in Midland needs employees of various skills, Johnny Bechtol of the Texas Employment Commission announced Saturday.

"And the need is urgent," he added.

Employees can be immediately placed in the following jobs: secretary-bookkeeper, petroleum engineer, pipe line engineer, motor vehicle dispatcher, stenographers, draftsmen (both male and female), accountants, log plotters, bottom hole pressure operator, clerk-typists, production clerk, office messenger, well logging operator-trainee, automobile mechanic, photostat operator, truck drivers and roustabouts.

"And just about anybody who wants to go to work in Midland can find something to do," Bechtol said.

He listed these openings in fields other than the oil industry: department store cashier, accounting clerk, instrument men (survey crew), lumber yard trainee, male office clerk, upholsterer, slip cover maker, loan analyst, janitor, night clerk, painter-helper, sales clerk, waitresses, bus boys, soda dispensers, drug store cashiers, meter repairmen-trainees, chainmen, egg candier, wash and grease man.

LITTLE, BUT DEADLY—Banned from the market in New York and Cleveland is this peanut-sized pistol, made in Japan to sell for about $1.95. The inch-long weapon shoots a 1/16-inch pellet with enough force to penetrate eight pages of heavy bond paper at 15 inches range. It is seen in the hand of a Cleveland, O., detective. Below the pistol are miniature bullets. Burn marks at right show where the pellet entered heavy paper; arrow points to the sharp hole left as it passed through the eighth sheet.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barconrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barconrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barconrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barconrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates so that water is carried away—almost like molting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Cultivate Grace, Says Singing Star

Singing star Patrice Munsel, who learned early in her career that grace and poise are vital to charm, demonstrates some of her techniques for meeting the public with assurance and self-confidence. At last-minute warm-up before concert (left) she practices the sweeping gestures that add meaning to her hands. Other secrets

By PATRICE MUNSEL
Written for NEA Service

A pleasing personality is one of the most valuable possessions of any woman who's set herself a goal in life. Whether your dreams lie in the realm of singing, like mine, whether your ambition is pushing you towards a career of a different sort, or whether your aims are centered around home and family, the right personality can carry you a long way along the path of your desire.

By personality, I don't mean a life-of-the-party sort of thing at all, but rather the more important attributes of graciousness, gracefulness and poise.

I have learned, through training and experience, a number of small tricks for avoiding awkwardness when in the public eye. Since they are based largely upon naturalness and common sense, I have found it easy to follow the same rules in private life. You may find them helpful, too.

When I first began giving public performances, one of the biggest bugaboos I had to face was that long walk from the wings to the center of the stage. It's so easy to freeze into stiff, puppet-like movements when you're being watched, whether the eyes are those of an unknown concert audience or simply those of a group of acquaintances assembled in a room.

One way I avoid that awkward feeling is to make very certain, before putting myself on display, that everything's in place and that I appear well-groomed. Only self-consciousness can result from the knowledge that your nose is shiny, your chignon is straggling down, or your slip is showing.

If, however, you've assured yourself through a last-minute check-up that you're looking your best, you will reflect your positiveness

It's a good idea, too, just before entering a room — or a stage, as the case may be — to lift your torso from your pelvic case. If you're not standing properly, you're likely to have a settled sagging feeling in that ring of bones. Pull yourself erect, fill your lungs with air, and you'll find you have an alert and self-confident posture.

Hands and feet are a problem, too. Most women when they feel they are being observed, I have found, in making gestures, that short, jerky ones tend to make you look awkward. Gestures will have more authority, will appear more graceful and less nervous if the movement comes from your shoulder-blade rather than your elbow. Make sure each motion ends in a rounded, full sweep.

I have learned, through practice, that hands can be taught to hang naturally and gracefully at your sides. If, in the beginning, yours tend to have a limp look, or if they twist and fidget, try holding some small object — such as a handkerchief, or a compact — to keep your fingers still.

Your feet will take care of themselves if you assume a proper stance. Balance yourself equally on the balls of both feet, preferably with one foot slightly in front of the other. When you're seated, you'll appear graceful if you cross your legs at the ankle and keep them tucked close to your chair, rather than sprawling them out into the room.

Another difficulty for many women in both private and public lives is the graceful acceptance of gifts. On birthdays and anniversaries, you often hear stuttering, gushing, overdoing or under-doing of thanks when receipt of presents thrust the limelight upon them.

Avoid such phrases as "you shouldn't have done it," or "I can't possibly accept this." Both lead to awkwardness. Instead, follow a simple thank you with a compliment to the giver on his choice. If his poor taste, or the unsuitability of the offering make this impossible, at least express your sincere gratitude that the donor remembered the occasion.

Back To School

Down through the centuries the tolling of bells has had a profound effect upon the lives of human beings. But it is doubtful if the ringing of bells ever has caused as much commotion as the sound of the bells which call American youngsters back to schools after Summer vacation.

The action, however, starts several weeks prior to the actual ringing of school bells. Perhaps it is the anticipation of the actual peal which brings about much of the commotion. It all starts about the middle of August when alert and progressive merchants launch "Back to School" advertising campaigns.

A general quickening of pace here and elsewhere throughout the state and nation results as students and parents prepare for the coming school term. Last minute vacation trips are planned and made, shopping is in full swing, school talk is in the air, faculty members begin their search for living quarters, and a change from vacation to school hours gradually shifts into effect in many households.

The "Back to School" preparations also serve as a signal for a general awakening of club life, particularly women's club activities, throughout the community. All this adds to the hustle and bustle which precedes the actual sounding of the school bell.

Still the weather is warm and many persons, mostly students, believe the school term begins too early each year. Everyone glances at the calendar and wonders how the vacation period slipped by so quickly, and with so many things yet undone.

But it's here, nevertheless, school officials having announced Midland public schools will open the 1951-52 term Tuesday, September 4. So, we try to get set now, even though we know the big rush will come the day schools open. It is kinda like Christmas shopping, but it is fun anyway.

For the six-year-old enrolling in school for the first session, to the college student and, yes, even to the school teacher, it is a time of particular significance. Some are happy, some are sad, but all are more or less excited. It's "Back to School" time in Midland and elsewhere.

In the Midland public schools, everything will be in ship-shape to receive a record number of students this year. Officials estimate the enrollment will exceed the 6,350 mark, as compared with last year's membership of 5,165 students. The school system personnel, too, will be at a record high—237 persons, an increase of 54 over the 1950-51 term.

It has been a busy Summer for school officials and personnel who had the responsibility of getting things in shape for the record school year ahead. Two new buildings will be ready for occupancy. Other buildings have been renovated, cleaned, polished and readied for the youngsters who will occupy them. Keeping pace with Midland's growth is a tremendous assignment, but our public schools have met and are meeting the challenge.

As Midland students trek to school September 4, they will do so with the realization that Midland schools are the equal of any public school system. Midlanders well may be proud of their schools.

The ringing of the all-important bell Tuesday, September 4, will find Midlanders ready to answer the call. It's "Back to School" time in Midland.

Give Martin 'A' For Effort

The Internal Revenue Code allows tax deductions for property losses not covered by insurance, if caused by "fires, storms, shipwreck or other casualty."

When Martin Rosenberg's house suffered $1,800 worth of termite damage in 1947, he decided the law covered his loss and so deducted the item from his income tax.

The U. S. Tax Court disallowed the claim. It said several cases established that "other casualty" had to be a "sudden casualty." It added: "We cannot find under the evidence here that the damage was done suddenly or even recently."

We are left with the tantalizing thought that if the termites were just a little speedier at their work, Mr. Rosenberg might have made the grade. Anyway, it was a nice try.

Too Critical

From Havana comes word that Dr. Eduardo Chibas, leader of the Cuban People party and a candidate for the presidency, cut himself just after concluding his customary radio broadcast.

This is self-criticism in the extreme. He might at least have waited until he learned what his Hooper rating was.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Eisenhower advised he can't win presidency because he hasn't consecutive double letters in his name; East German youth "No Chinaman"; Mystery attached to apparent immunity of cartels' plants to wartime bombing.

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on another tour of Europe, studying conditions there in this period of world tension and crisis. Herewith is another of his caustic dispatches from Europe.)

ENROUTE THROUGH EUROPE —As far as politicians and newspapermen are concerned, all roads in Europe lead to Paris—and the headquarters of Gen. Ike Eisenhower.

Douzens of Ike's friends have sought him out to urge him to run, ask him whether he will run, or sound him out as to whether he would run as a Democrat or a Republican. Only one man, however, has had the nerve to tell the general that he never would become President — Stanley Arnold, New York advertising man who has made a study of what names mean to history.

Not long before Eisenhower went to Paris, young Arnold called on the general and bluntly asked about his plans to run. Ike was a little flabbergasted at this, but even more flabbergasted when Arnold bluntly announced:

"Well, I can tell you that you're not going to be President."

"Why not?" Ike said, looking both surprised and amused.

"Because you don't have consecutive double letters in your name."

"What's that got to do with it?" pursued the puzzled Eisenhower.

"We haven't elected a President in about sixty years who didn't have consecutive double letters in his name," explained Arnold. "Harry Truman has them—the double R in Harry. FDR had them—the double O in Roosevelt. Woodrow Wilson also had a double O. Harding had a double R in Warren. Coolidge had a double O. McKinley had a double L in William, and so did Taft."

"But his son, Bob Taft, won't be President," continued Arnold, "because he lacks the consecutive double. And Thomas E. Dewey will never be President for the same reason."

"You don't actually believe that, do you?" asked the amused Eisenhower.

"Even dead has not stopped the jinx," replied Arnold. "Three times in this period death has struck the President and the Vice President succeeding him has had the consecutive double in his name—Teddy Roosevelt, Coolidge and Harry Truman."

"You'd make a wonderful President," encourage Arnold, "and I'd like to see you get it, but those are the facts."

Eisenhower was amused, but gave no indication that he wanted to run.

"I'd hate to think," he said, "that the future welfare of the country depended on double letters being in a candidate's name."

Note—According to the above precedent, Stassen of Minnesota, Governor Warren of California and Senator Duff of Pennsylvania could be successful candidates.

MacArthur, Dewey and Taft could not.

Persecuted Refugee An East German youth arrived at the West German Youth Center in Berlin the other day and said: "I want to defect."

Since East Germans can defect or go over to West Germany only because they are being persecuted, the authorities asked this youngster if he was a persecuted refugee.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

We haven't heard from Generous George in quite a long time, but he's still around giving unearned tricks to his opponents. His favorite stunt is "forgetting" to count the trump, and he has convinced all the kippers that he'd be a pretty fair player if he could only count.

In today's hand, ... the ace and then continued with the king of diamonds, thus showing that he had only two cards in the suit. Generous George, playing the South hand, ruffed the second diamond with the two of hearts.

Hoping for the best, George next led the four of hearts to dummy's ace and returned a low trump.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards and a trump lead.

East's jack was a welcome sight. George covered with the queen of hearts, and West won with the king.

West's only chance was to ruff declarer down, so he led the queen of diamonds, and George ruffed with the five of hearts. At this stage George had only one trump left—the ten. West had the nine of trumps, and dummy still had the six of trumps. Somehow or other George forgot to draw West's last trump. The heat sometimes gets him that way.

Instead, George led out the ace, king, and queen of spades. This gave West a chance to ruff with his forgotten nine of hearts. While West was thinking, George discarded a club from dummy.

The trouble was that if West ruffed he would have to lose a trick no matter what he led back. Thus, if he returned a club, South would have two natural club tricks and could ruff his last club in dummy. And if West returned the ten of diamond, South would ruff, cash his last good spade, and then win the last two tricks in dummy with a trump and a good diamond.

West couldn't save himself by refusing to ruff. George could just lead another top spade to discard another club from dummy. If West still held off, George would cash the ace of clubs and ruff a club in dummy, after which the ten of hearts would supply his tenth trick.

In short, the contract couldn't be defeated. Now, just for the fun of it, try to make the contract after drawing the last trump. Your good memory will cost you the contract.

Capehart Amendment Puzzles New Control Law Interpreters

WASHINGTON—There may be a huge joker in the new price and wage control legislation. Stabilization officials in Washington aren't sure yet. Although the act has been on the books several weeks, price and wage officials who have to write the regulations for administration of the new law aren't certain they have uncovered all the gimmicks that even the congressional authors don't know are there.

Prize example is the famous amendment introduced by Senator Homer Capehart of Indiana. It was passed at 3 a.m. when none of the lawmakers could possibly have been quite sure what he was doing. This is the new paragraph 4 of sub-section d of Section 402, Defense Production Act of 1950, if you must have the citation. The language itself is too difficult to follow.

What stabilization officials now think the Capehart amendment means is that the government can't freeze any price on any manufactured item until the manufacturer has added in all increases in costs—wages, materials, taxes, rent, advertising, transportation, etc.—prior to July 26, 1951. Furthermore, every seller must be given his customary mark-up, before the new ceiling price is slapped on.

Now the big joker in this, as it is understood today, is that it will increase the price of practically everything that the farmer buys, without increasing by one cent the prices of the things farmers sell. The reason for this is that agricultural commodities specifically are exempted from the Capehart amendment.

The Big Mystery Why the farm bloc and the livestock state congressmen went for the Capehart amendment in such a big way is still something of a mystery. There is one report that a trade was involved. Livestock raisers wanted to get rid of the August and October roll-backs on meat prices. The reported deal was that the farm bloc would support the Capehart amendment in exchange for support from the industrial district congressmen for the amendment of Rep. Tom Pugh of Virginia, which killed the roll-backs on beef.

If that's the way it was, only the beef boys benefited. Other farm groups will take a beating. It will affect adversely the parity ratio. But in a way, it will be only simple justice for the farm organization leaders who fought so hard against all forms of price and wage controls.

From the standpoint of the government bureaucrats who have to administer and enforce the Capehart amendment, it's almost impossible. For instance, the last sentence of the Capehart amendment provides that manufacturers may include all costs in determining their new price levels, "except such (costs) as the President may determine to be unreasonable and excessive."

There is no definition of what ment. In any case, your bidding shows the nature of your hand and leaves the rest up to your partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered: You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-J-3, Hearts K-Q-3, Diamonds K-4, Clubs K-9-2. What do you do?

Answer Monday

By BOYCE HOUSE

Have a Laugh

Isadore Rosenstein had written a letter to a customer who had been owing a bill for months. He handed the letter over to his wife for her opinion before he mailed it.

She said, "You have written a fine letter, very diplomatic and un-offensive but you spelled 'dirty' with two 't's' and coochook does not begin with a 'k'."

Minnesota, "Land of Ten Thousand Lakes," really has more than 11,000, with 99 named Long Lake and 91 named Mud Lake.

On the shore was a concourse of men waiting. Some of them his Fang-ducs, some wounded and crudely bandaged, some missing. Some were jacked coolies. The Fang-duc men looked like successful hunters. "They were so silly," they said. "When they stopped shooting and we got into the house they were all dead."

Alan beckoned the men to follow him down to the launch. He told the interpreter to explain in simple language.

"Tell 'em that the police will find out about this and they'll come up and investigate and make trouble for everybody. I'll be clear away by then. So these boys had better get away fast. I have for each one a backsheesh of 20 piastres—that's almost two years pay for 'em. Tell 'em to get back into their jungles and change their names and get lost. You too. You get 40. I'll take the launch down and think up a good lie on the way." He laughed as happily as an American.

She let Alan fiercely hug her too. He said, "So then I'll make a deal. If you'll shamelessly desert your patient, I'll let you kiss him goodly instead of me, and I'll get the blazes out of here before they catch us."

"You mean," she said, her nose wrinkling in that kitten way, "you'll let this poor little country fight Communism with just its own army from now on?"

"I'll let my uncle help 'em," Alan grinned.

THE END

Advertisement for The Emerald Crested Hoopoe by Gordon MacCraugh.

AS Alan came up, there was Vroom, monotonously treading water, holding his bundle at shoulder height, as a man might hold a heavy weapon. A bundle of something hard and heavy enough that if a blow had landed it would have crushed a man's skull. A rip in the cloth showed scintillations of green light, washed clean now in the river.

"The emerald hoopoe, eh?" Alan bubbled thickly as he kept out of reach. Vroom, clutching the precious Vroom, tried to gain support on the upturned canoe.

Alan padded closer and kicked Vroom's stomach. Underwater it was not much more than a shove, but it drew a grunt from Vroom. One great arm over the canoe, clutching the knotted cloth to support its weight, Vroom chopped the other fist at Alan. It fell on Alan's shoulder with force enough to warn him that he could risk nothing with this man. Alan padded clear. Vroom was encouraged to shove off after him, thrusting his bundle again.

Alan kicked at whatever he could feel. How great a store of air had there been in the fellow's huge lungs when he bubbled and went under? But then the clawing, clutching hands began to slip away; to slide limply down his chest, hooking momentarily on a button and tearing it loose; gliding coolly reluctantly down the thrashing legs.

Alan came up out of the murk; out of the colder deep; up into warm, winter sunlight. The canoes floated serenely as though nothing had happened more serious than a holiday boating upset. Both paddles remained invisibly near. Alan retrieved one, turned a canoe over, rocked it fore and aft to spill water and rolled in. He sat searching the surface. Nothing else came up. It would do that.

Alan's hand fished out a weapon from under the canoe—a crude long-handled paddle that had lodged in the airspace. Alan slid it with all the force of his arms, along the water's surface at Vroom's face. "Tooth crunches," Vroom bubbled a crushed, red-stained cry, arching his body.

Whom Will The Princess Marry?

Since before she was 16, Princess Margaret has been linked romantically with Europe's young eligibles. British newspapers hint there may be a royal engagement soon. (Tradition says any girl born at Glamis Castle in Scotland—as Margaret was Aug. 21, 1930—will choose a mate before age 21.) Question: Has Margaret chosen?

Fashion plate. A whim of Margaret's can change empire's fashions. Once she told Elizabeth: "You mind your old empire; let me mind my hats."

British royalty was stunned in 1949 when this picture from the Isle of Capri showed Margaret in a scanty bathing suit. Some British editors feared she was nude—but it was only a quirk of lighting effect. Other stories from the tour of Italy told of late and rollicking parties.

Dancing a samba. The Princess' gay night-life is a subject of much comment. Her reported can-can at American embassy party sparked real controversy.

Suitors: Some London newspapers say Princess Margaret will announce her engagement to Billy Wallace, 24-year-old polo-playing British blueblood, with whom she's seen at Ascot racing event. Others think best bet is Lord Dalketh (inset), immensely wealthy heir to the dukedom of Buccleuch.

Generations Come And Go But Women Don't Change

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Women don't really change so much from one generation to the other.
Granddaughter gets the same satisfaction from loading her deep freeze with food for the unexpected guest as Grandma got from filling her basement shelves with jars of canned goods.
The morning chat over the back yard fence that was part of Grandma's day has just been replaced by Granddaughter with morning telephone chat with a friend who lives across town.
Grandma said "feed the brute." Granddaughter doesn't use her expression, but she does give her husband a good dinner before she shows him the new dress she just "couldn't resist."
When Grandma heard that a friend or neighbor had sickness in the family she sent over a cake or pie. Granddaughter tries to be just as helpful. Only she probably telephones to say: "Can I do any chauffeuring for you?"
Still Room For "Company"
Grandma kept the parlor "nice for company" by making the kitchen the family's real living room. Granddaughter laughs at the idea—but all the same as soon as she can afford it she builds a "rumpus room" for family living.

Grandma made sure she got her hands on some of the family income by holding out the "egg money" for her own personal use. Granddaughter has accomplished the same end by means of a joint banking account.
Grandma helped her church raise money by contributing to pie and cake sales and helping serve church suppers. For all her so-called economic independence, granddaughter uses those same fund-raising schemes.
Grandma, who didn't have today's labor saving devices, was fond of saying that a woman's work is never done." Granddaughter, who has had the basic jobs of housework lightened by modern methods, has upped her standards of living and added to her outside activities until she, too, can make the same claim to being overworked.

Bells Ring September 4 For 6,350

By TANNER LAINE

It's back to school September 4 for 6,350 Midland students—a record enrollment.

Youngsters of the city will report to 11 installations of the fast-growing public school system. These are Midland High School, John M. Cowden Junior High, North Elementary, South Elementary, West Elementary, David Crockett Elementary, Sam Houston Elementary, Terminal Elementary, DeZavala School, Carver High School and Carver Elementary.

Two new buildings will receive students. These are Sam Houston Elementary in the northwest sector of the city and DeZavala Elementary, Latin American school.

The largest faculty-staff in Midland history is waiting for students. Teachers and other staff members total 237, compared with 183 last year.

Students will report to their respective school buildings at the regular classroom time September 4. All Have Cafeterias

All schools, except Terminal, have cafeterias. Three cafeterias are new at Carver, DeZavala and Sam Houston Elementary schools.

Two new bus routes for the 1951-52 term have been added, making a total of 11. Bus riding students will be distributed at various schools to the system to balance the student load.

Students for the new Sam Houston Elementary school will be drawn from a zone which carves into the zones of West and North Elementary. It also will draw students from a rapidly-growing new northwest sector.

High school students started registration last week. Monday, registration will be resumed and continue through Thursday.

August 27, registration of first graders and students new to the Midland system will begin at all elementary schools except the new Sam Houston. Also junior high registration of students new to the system begins on that date.

Already many teachers and staff members are at work. Teachers are attending an In-Service School. This school has 59 enrolled, including five parents.

New To System

New to the school setup for the 1951-52 school year will be the staff work of a director of curricula services and a director of special services. The positions are filled by Charles Mathews and Wesley Martin, respectively. Mathews formerly was high school principal and Martin was principal at junior high.

A new school nurse has been employed for the year, bringing the total to two nurses.

Also new is the position of director of instrumental music. This position will be filled by Ralph Mills, high school band director who will also supervise the junior high and Carver bands. Those bands have individual directors who work under Mills.

Beautiful campuses at all schools will be noted by the students and (Continued On Page Three)

Half-Timers To Pep MHS Football Games As New Drill Unit

Whew-w-w-w! In a great long whistle—the Half-Timers are coming.

Midland High School is going in for sparkling half-time entertainment at football games this fall, second to none in the state. And furnishing this entertainment will be the Half-Timers, 45 pretty and high-stepping coeds of MHS, who are replacing the Gold Jackets as a pep legion.

They will be dressed in purple jerseys, white skirts, white berets and saddle oxfords—snappy from head to toe. In chilly weather, the girls will wear white coat sweaters.

Getting away from the strictly military marching style of entertainment, the Half-Timers will whirl in a variety of feature dance routines.

Although her Half-Timers may not reach the perfection in precision of the famous Rangerettes and Apaches, Mrs. Eugenia Wilson, director, is aiming in that direction.

Start Monday

Mrs. Wilson, who directed the Blue Brigade at Tyler High School, has a headful of plans for the Midland girls and she also is up on the latest maneuvers of precision units such as the Rangerettes and Apaches.

The Half-Timers, all volunteers, will report at 9 a.m. Monday at the high school. When they begin sharp drill in preparation for the first football game.

Majorettes include Barbara Whitson, Emily Hamilton, Barbara Ware, Barbara Long and Jean Waddill. They will take turns leading the group.

The Half-Timers will work in close cooperation with the Midland High School Band in the presentation of half-time entertainment.

BAND TO BE WELL-DRESSED—One of the best-dressed bands in all West Texas in 1951-52 will be the Midland High School Band. Shown right, modeling one of the new uniforms which 100 band students will wear, is Alan Harris, drum major and captain. At left is new band director Ralph Mills. The new uniforms are grey, trimmed in purple and gold, the school colors. West Point type headpieces will be worn. Shoes, cap peak, Sam Browne belts and shirts will be white.

TEACHERS, PARENTS GO TO SCHOOL—An in-service school for Midland teachers and some parents now is in progress. Daily sessions are being conducted at the David Crockett Elementary school. Shown is a group of the school attendants at a coffee-coke morning break. The problems of classroom teaching in Midland are being studied at the school. Attendants receive college credit. Visiting instructors are from outstanding colleges and universities.

MOUNT VERNON, ILL. —(P)—Brakes of Mount Vernon's 12-ton firetruck failed on a fast run. But the chief and two firemen got off with only a "pretty funny feeling." TWO NEW SCHOOL PLANTS—Contractors have assured Midland school board members that two new school plants for the city system will be ready to receive students September 4. Shown at top is the new Sam Houston Elementary school located in northwest Midland. Shown at bottom is the new DeZavala school located in the Latin American sector.

Rankin Schools Will Open September 3

RANKIN—Classes in Rankin's schools will resume on September 3, according to an announcement by Superintendent Hamilton Still.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, August 21 and 22, registration and enrollment will take place, beginning at 9 a.m. each day. Students who will be in the first six grades will register in the new elementary building and all others in the high school building.

Beginners should bring their birth certificate with them when they register and all children whose sixth birthday falls on or before October 31, 1951, are eligible to enter school.

It was planned to add to the school system this year a full time nurse and librarian.

Three other new teachers joining the faculty this year are Mary Katherine Hurn of San Angelo who received her degree at Sul Ross College last Spring and will teach the fifth grade. Miss Hurn replaces Mrs. Virginia Ivy, who resigned.

Ray L. Showalter, Jr., comes to Rankin as band director, the school board having accepted the resignation of Louise Nelson, who had directed the school band the last two years. Showalter has directed the Shamrock school band the last two years.

Mrs. Showalter will teach the second grade to replace Mrs. Alla Pool, who also has resigned.

Rankin is looking forward to having another winning football team this year and has the field ready for the boys. It has been re-sodded and is covered with grass. In addition, a new fence has been built around the grounds.

Midland Students To Practice And Preach Safety

Midland's students this Fall will be preaching and practicing safety. Plans for complete reorganization of the school safety patrol are being drawn by school officials. Each Midland public school will have a company of patrolmen with their own officers.

Throughout the school system, officials said, the student patrols will be uniformed alike and abide by the same rules.

Eligibility requirements for the coveted posts will be high—with each student patrolman a "first citizen." Special privileges will be granted members of the patrol.

In announcing formation of safety patrols for each of the city's schools, officials urged drivers and parents, especially, to assist in promoting traffic safety in the school areas.

These suggestions were paramount:

1. Discharge and pick up student passengers at curb nearest the schools. This avoids subjecting students to the dangers of crossing the streets.

2. Drive in school areas with utmost caution.

Students will not be permitted to cross streets adjacent to the schools except at intersections and must abide by signals from the safety patrolmen.

Road Plans Get Severe Setback

McCAMEY—Hopes for an early completion on the farm road from McCamey into the Peecos County farming area eight miles south of here received a severe jolt last week when D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, notified County Judge G. H. Fisher, "there is not a very good prospect for the development of a road from McCamey to Bakersfield in the reasonable near future."

The Upton County Commissioners Court, headed by Judge Fisher, made application to the State Highway Commission three months ago for use of Upton County farm-to-market funds to pave the road. No word had been received concerning the application until last week.

Just exactly what steps would next be taken by the commissioners court had not been decided, but all expressed deep concern over the ruling, and indicated that further steps would be taken to bring the road to a reality at the earliest possible time.

Compromise Ruling Made In Cab Fight

PECOS—City councilmen last week handed down a compromise decision in the legal skirmish between the two taxicab companies here, Chamos Taxi and the Pecos Cab company.

The council granted Susano S. Lara, owner of Chamos Taxi, one additional taxi permit and at the same time made permanent the temporary permits he now holds for two cabs, making a total of three vehicles he may keep in operation on a permanent basis.

Lara had petitioned the city for two additional permits on the ground that his Latin-American trade warranted expansion. The application was contested by J. H. Arthur, owner of Pecos Cab company, who argued that there is no need for any additional taxicabs here, since he is able to keep only seven of his 10 authorized cabs in operation.

City officials present were Mayor Cecil Cothrun, City Attorney Dick Starley, Water Supt. John Oglesby, Secretary Dub Martin, and Councilmen James McCain, Bill Bingham, Bill Turpin and Joe Hagar.

Schools To Have Record Enrollment—

So fast is the city growing, students were expected to fill existing buildings early in the school year. Board of Education members have looked ahead and August 25 the board will open bids for two new plants and an enlargement program.

Citizens already have voted $1,500,000 in bonds for a new junior high building, a new elementary school and the addition of several classrooms to South Elementary.

In North Sector
To be located in the north sector of the city, the new junior high plant will cost $1,000,000. The new elementary school will be located in the sector adjacent to the baseball park, which rapidly is filling up with residences.

"Better classroom instruction, a getting back to reading, writing and arithmetic and calling them by these names, will be stressed during the 1951-52 term, and from now on," Supt. Frank Monroe said. Monroe is charged with administration of the entire city system, responsible to the Board of Education of the Midland Independent School District.

Three Ordered To Report For Induction

MCCAMEY—Three men have been ordered to report for induction in the Army by Local Board 121.

Harold Lowery of Crane and Norris O. Perryman of Big Lake left from the local board in McCamey, while Jimmy L. Lightfoot, a transfer from Big Lake, was to report to the station from Sonora. Local Board 121 serves Upton, Crane and Reagan counties.

Better and stepped-up programs of extracurricular activities have been planned for all installations. A second vocational agriculture instructor has been added. Instructors in various schools have been transferred to new schools for the best interest of the system as a whole. The best in band and athletic leadership has been provided. Teaching instructors are the best since the war, Monroe said.

"We have prepared for 6,350 students," the superintendent added. "If we get more than that we will keep them."

HEAVY DUTIES

The medical examiner's office of New York City, which is concerned with the investigation of deaths caused by violence, handles an average of 16,000 cases a year.

COME AND GET IT, BULLDOGS—Back to school means back to football for husky Midland High boys. Ready with equipment for the Bulldogs of the 1951 season are, left to right, varsity coaches Thurmon (Tugboat) Jones, Fermon (Red) Rutledge and Audrey Gill. Up to 100 lads, comprising the varsity, "B" and "C" squads will be reporting for equipment in a few days.

Getting Children Ready For School Is No Small Task

With the Fall term opening, wise parents will begin to ready their youngsters before the first day of school.

Early shopping tours for school wardrobes will provide parents with a greater selection of new merchandise at economical prices.

It is advisable to take the children along for major purchases. Children should be encouraged to volunteer their opinions as to likes and dislikes. This gives them a greater, more personal interest in their belongings.

Another pre-school must, is a thorough examination of the youngster's physical condition. This should encompass his general health, eyes, teeth and hearing.

A complete physical check-up will determine as to whether the child's weight and height, lungs and heart are sound and normal.

Children's vision—highly important—to learning patterns—should be checked thoroughly before the school term begins. Glasses should be fitted whenever they are prescribed.

Pre-school dental care will send the youngsters back to school with clean teeth, cavities filled and other work where needed.

These are safety measures that parents can provide for their children. A sound body, a sound mind, are the primary entrance requirements for every student, six to sixteen!

Rocks of nearly all geological ages can be found in the southwest.

Primary Building Ready At McCamey

MCCAMEY — Announcement was made last week by J. M. Henry, new elementary school principal, that the new primary building would be ready for use September 4.

He said the new building would add eight additional rooms to the elementary system, but still the big problem in the elementary grades this year would be rooms and space.

Last year, the McCamey schools permitted pre-age school children to enroll the opening day of school, but this year a new policy will go into effect. This year, only children who will be six years of age on or before September 1, 1951, may enroll on the opening day of school.

De Pauw University, at Greencastle, Ind., is named after Washington C. De Pauw, a pioneer glass manufacturer.

Pecos Schools To Open September 4

PECOS—Classes will begin in the Pecos Public School System September 4, Superintendent Ray Whitely has announced.

The school leader said he has added two new faculty members at the high school and six new instructors at Junior High school.

Meantime, Wesley McCree, school board president, announced base pay of teachers here has been raised $300 above the state scale.

This makes a new base salary of $2,700 a year for beginning instructors. A $54 yearly increase is granted for each year of teaching experience.

The raise was effected because with Pecos' relatively remote location "we just couldn't get teachers here for the state scale," McCree said.

Both McCree and Whitely emphasized the local scale still is considerably lower than that offered by surrounding school districts.

Great Britain's Kenya Colony, Africa, produces 13,000,000 pounds of tea annually.

New Shop Work Program Planned

MCCAMEY—A new program in shop work will be inaugurated at McCamey High School with the opening of schools, F. W. Pauling, principal, announced.

The following classes have been planned with Bert Affleck, new shop instructor:

Woodwork for beginners, Power tools and advanced woodwork; mechanical drawing and general metals.

Affleck will be in the shop for personal conferences beginning this week.

THE DAYS OF OUR YOUTH

These are the days of innocent childhood, when the world is beautiful and the future is bright; when the morning stars sing together and Nature is attuned to the music of the spheres.

It is a time when boys and girls should heed the counsel of Solomon, who said: "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, when the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh when thou shalt say, 'I have no pleasure in them.'"

It is a time when parents and teachers and friends should endeavor to fortify youth against the pitfalls of the most dangerous period of human life: when a slip or more serious mistake may take the brightness from the skies and leave only gloom and disillusionment.

Youth needs God—needs a deep sense of the Infinite and Eternal in human life. The churches of this community are endeavoring to meet this need.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church and nation. (4) For the sake of his community. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

STRIKE UP THE BAND—The Midland High School Band which is aiming at 100 members in brand new uniforms for the 1951-52 term already is in practice. Shown are the students of a Summer Band School with new director, Ralph Mills, up front. Several new instruments have been added to the band for the school year, which opens September 4. In the pre-school band instruction, the students march as well as practice in the band hall.

Newly-Uniformed 100-Member High School Band All Set For Opening Football Game

A 100-piece, snappily-dressed, well-drilled Midland High School Band will come out playing September 14 at the first home football game.

The first-class musicians of MHS will be wearing brand new uniforms, silver gray military style, trimmed in purple and gold.

The West Point-type shakos (head pieces) are mother of pearl plastic with white visors and chin strap. The plume is purple.

Bandmen will wear white belts and white shoes.

Directing the band will be Ralph Mills, who is instrumental music supervisor for all Midland Schools and is the new director of the MHS Band. He will supervise the John M. Cowden Junior High Band and the new Carver High Band, working closely with their directors. George Gates will be back at the helm of the junior high band.

A year from now, another junior high band is in the making and someday, elementary schools may have bands.

Already getting in their practice ticks at playing and marching are 66 high school band students enrolled in a Summer Band School. Mills is instructor and the school will last until September 4.

Harris To Captain

According to Mills, several new instruments have been obtained for the band this year, including bass horns, baritone, French horns and entire drum equipment for marching and bass clarinets.

Alan Harris is band captain and drum major.

Band is becoming a major high school activity here. The students have one of the best band halls in the state. Equipment is the best. The band is an organization of the school and as a unit has its student officers, who assist the director.

"I have enough halftime routines for 10 years but of course we won't use them all this year," Mills said. He already has plunged into daily work with his future band members at the school and on the drill field.

"The Midland High School Band is going to put its best foot forward this year," the new director added.

Supporting the high school band is an organization of friends and parents called the Band Aides Club. The Lions Club annually makes an award to the outstanding band student of a school year. A banquet, similar to the annual football fest, is held each year. Band students also may win sweater and jacket awards for excellent work in their organization.

Educator Lists Five Characteristics Teachers Like Parents To Possess

By IRVIN C. POLEY
(Reprinted by special permission from a publication of the Child Study Association of America.)

In 30 years of being a school teacher and administrative officer I have known, well, many parents as parents, and talked intimately with them. So I wonder if it might not be diverting to list five characteristics of what seems to me to be the kind of parents teachers like.

First of all, a good parent from a school's point of view is objective. If something goes wrong with one of his youngsters, he hears what has happened objectively, suspending judgment till he has heard the school's side too. An objective parent senses when to be casually sympathetic and when to be merely casual.

A good parent in a teacher's eyes is also frank; his friendly criticism of school procedures is often valuable even though it is not professional. One mother told me once that her son thought I was never satisfied with what he did. The truth was that he had appealed to me so especially that I was afraid of showing partiality, and had apparently stressed the "good, but could have been better" note. In the next two classes I had with him, I carefully omitted any suggestion of even finer work.

The kind of parent teachers like also has respect for his child's individual capacities.

To Be Cultured

We teachers want parents to be cultured, not in the sense of collecting beautiful little things and putting them out of general circulation, but cultured in the larger sense of having appreciation of spiritual and intellectual values. Such a parent wants to know his teachers as people, not as purists in grammar and conduct. The kind of parental attitude which is resented by teachers who respect their profession, was betrayed rather amusingly some years ago by a mother who was discussing with me her son's mental gifts and his unwillingness to use them.

I finally said, "I wonder if you know how he is likely to turn out if he doesn't change soon." Her answer was one of rueful desperation: "Of course, I know how he'll turn out. He's bright and he's lazy; he'll be a teacher."

Such attitudes are much less common than they used to be. Increasing public regard for education is helping to make more parents find it natural to respect their children's teachers as defenders of things of the mind and of the spirit.

The fifth characteristic which teachers appreciate in a parent is the ability to keep a sense of balance. Such mothers and fathers are persons as well as parents.

The list of characteristics may seem rather formidable—being objective, being frank, wanting a child to develop his own potentialities, being cultured and keeping a sense of balance. Surprising as it may sound, however, the kind of parent we teachers like is the kind we meet in annually increasing numbers.

Members of the Midland High School football team go "back to school" while the remainder of the teen-age youngsters here are enjoying the last lingering days of their summer vacations.

Coaches Thurmon L. (Tugboat) Jones, Audrey Gill and Red Rutledge will welcome a large but inexperienced football squad to work out August 27. The team probably will run through twice-a-day workouts, in the morning and afternoon, until school officially begins.

Member of the 'B' squad and 'C' team—all future Bulldogs—will begin their workouts under the direction of Coaches John Higdon, Keith Bobo and Bernard (Pat) Pattison. They will play seven or eight game schedules, to be released within a few days.

In New District

Midland this year is in the newly created District 1-AAA. Conference foes include Lamesa, Sweetwater, Plainview, Vernon and Big Spring. Non-conference games are set with San Angelo, Dallas (El Paso), Crozier Tech (Dallas) Poly (Fort Worth) and Brownwood.

Three starters return to Jones' 1951 team. They are Ralph Brooks, back; Stan (Two Ton) Coker, tackle, and Dalton Byerley, guard. Other boys who saw some action last year, and who are being counted on this year to fill the gaps left by 19 graduating seniors include: Larry Friday, back; Jimmy Lineberger, end; Roy Kinsey, back; Robert Kelsing, end; Loren Roberts, center; John Kennedy, back, and Harold Hensley, back.

Boys up from the 'B' squad expected to help out are Red Cast, guard; Bill Leonard, center, who may be switched to guard, and M. A. Rose, back. Darrall Spivey, back, and Bill Mims, end, will come up from the 'C' team for seasoning.

San Angelo will oppose Midland here, September 14, in the first game of the year.

The complete 1951 schedule: Sept. 14—San Angelo, here. Sept. 21—Yaleta, there. Sept. 28—Crozier Tech, here. Oct. 5—Brownwood, here. Oct. 13—Poly (Fort Worth) there. Oct. 19—Open date. Oct. 26—Lamesa, here. Nov. 2—Vernon, there. Nov. 9—Big Spring, there. Nov. 16—Sweetwater, here. Nov. 22—Plainview, there.

All games will begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of the Plainview game. It is to be played at 2:30 p.m. The last five games on the schedule are conference tilts. Thus far, Coach Jones hasn't been able to see the powerful club that sportscasters and coaches have forecast for him this year.

But he hopes it's in the making.

Religious Education Director Is Named

PECOS—Edward Lee Wittner of Waco has been named director of music and religious education at the First Baptist Church here, according to the Rev. W. M. Turner, pastor. Wittner's wife was appointed church secretary.

Wittner will assume his duties here September 1. He was graduated from Baylor University last Spring.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Dilemma

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was standing on the sands by the Whispering River, talking with the friendly stranger. Yes, and standing there close was the horse whose name was Janus. Ah me, and what a problem Janus was. Janus really was a horse with a head at the front and back. Yes, and the head and legs at the front of Janus were wanting to run on ahead and away, but the head and legs at the back of Janus were wanting to run on back where Janus had been.

Mugwump said he just had to have old Janus to be his own, and the man was wishing he didn't have

Janus at all, and so—well, the man said he would give the horse to Mugwump, except the horse was too much of a trouble-maker to give to a nice boy like Mugwump. "Maybe if I sort of got into mischief," said Mugwump, "then I wouldn't be so nice, and they you could give me old Mr. Janus Trouble-maker."

But the man answered that he never gave presents to boys who got into mischief, and so it wouldn't help at all for Mugwump Monkey to get into mischief now.

Mugwump wondered what he should do, and Janus, all the while, was neighing shrilly with both of his heads, and trying to run in different directions. Why, Janus was about to pull himself in two, and he might have done it, except the man was really a famous magician, and now he said a magic word which changed the horse into a big dilemma. What long horns the dilemma had, and he ran right straight at Mugwump.

"Poof!" said Mugwump, because he knew he should never be afraid of magic, and then of a sudden the dilemma had melted away into nothing, and the magician had melted away with him, and Mugwump Monkey was left alone.

Mugwump at first was quite unhappy that he would never be having the horse named Janus, and then: "Poof!" said Mugwump. "If I can't have what I had to have to make me happy, then I shall be happy with what I have." And Mugwump was happy to have a stomach that was hungry, and away he hurried home to supper. Happy day! Australia Rolls Out Carpet For Migrants

SYDNEY—(AP)—Since World War II ended, about 500,000 migrants have been packed into Australia. More than 25,000 of them are Italians.

The Italians are proving good "New Australians"—as the "Old" Australians call the newcomers. Australia and Italy last December agreed on an immigration scheme under which the two governments will assist about 15,000 Italians to migrate to Australia each year for the next five years.

Sir John Storey, Australian industrialist and chairman of the Commonwealth Immigration Planning Council, recently reported on his return from a European tour: "There is in Italy a rich gold mine available to Australia of hard-working and capable people, with abilities covering a range of activities, which Australia needs in large numbers."

Ingenious Designing Helps Small Homes Gain In Usefulness

Although houses have grown steadily smaller, careful design of rooms and facilities makes them greater conveniences and useful.

This is accomplished largely by open planning of rooms, eliminating partitions between rooms, as between living and dining room. Bedroom windows are placed shoulder-high to provide abundant wall space. Picture windows help bring the outdoors inside to create an effect of spaciousness. Other windows are placed at irregular intervals, rather than with geometric precision, to create maximum wall area against which furniture can be grouped without sacrificing space.

Pastel colors on walls and light colors of flooring, often arranged in floor patterns to make rooms seem wider or longer, also play a part in modern small house design.

Built-In Favored
Partitions are fewer and thinner. Low storage walls often are used as room dividers. These provide valuable storage space and separate areas but do not give the closed-in feeling often engendered in separate cubicles.

Built-in furniture is favored for space- and money-saving. In bedrooms, built-ins substitute for dresser and closets, while built-in beds and desks add more trimness and eliminate the clutter of free-standing furniture which eats up space.

Sliding door closets save space. Coving to greater efficiency of heating systems, steam and hot water coils or warm air ducts embedded in concrete slab floors. Warm air registers are placed flush with the walls, replacing space-wasting floor installation.

Medical Research Helps To Develop Modern Kitchen

Now you can plan a new or re-modeled kitchen around, of all things, medical research.

Kitchen designs developed after extensive consultation between heart specialists and engineers stress reduction of physical effort in both using a kitchen and keeping it clean. The formula for such "heart" kitchens can be just as applicable to the easily tiring, but healthy, homemaker as to the invalid.

Here are several suggestions proposed by the save-the-heart experts:

Construct work surfaces of easy-to-clean material in a continuous sequence which makes it unnecessary for the kitchen to take extra steps and employ superfluous arm motions.

Arrange appliances in a scientific manner to avoid needless walking and reaching. Ideally, the refrigerator should be located centrally between range and sink, because foods prepared at both places first must be removed from the refrigerator.

Storage Cabinets
Locate storage cabinets so that utensils, equipment and materials always are at point of first use. Install adjustable storage shelves of different distances apart, to save stretching and lifting. Build the work surfaces at proper height, after first deciding whether you will sit down to most tasks or stand for them. The average height is 36 inches, but it's the homemaker's stature, as well as her work habits, which should be the guide.

Keep clean-up operations at a minimum through use of easily washed clay tile as splash areas at both sink and range. This durable material resists both staining and corrosion from acid substances.

Finally, if at all possible, leave room in the floor plan for a work chair on casters, easily moved from one work area to another during meal preparation.

Awards Offered In National Community Development Contest

Sparkling new sub-divisions over the country, which show the best in modern home planning, are in line for "Oscar" awards.

Following its aim of improving building standards throughout the nation, the National Association of Home Builders is sponsoring the fourth annual "Neighborhood Development Contest."

The contest, which has attracted nationwide attention in past years, awards recognition to the best community developments and housing projects constructed by members of the NAHB's 180 local affiliated associations.

Past winners have set the pattern for the neighborhoods of the future. Entries in the 1961 contest may include economy and higher priced single family homes, garden apartments, shopping centers and complete neighborhood developments.

Turn Useless Doorways Into Handy Shelves

BY MR. FIX
Distributed By NEA Service

Conversion is a fine challenge for the handy husband around the home, whether he starts out with an old-fashioned house or a re-made apartment.

The challenge lies in what to do with left-overs. For some reason, people seemed to need a lot more doors in the old days than they do now, and when you take over for modern living you're bound to find a lot of potential space eaten up by doorways that are either gaping frames or paneled-over monstrosities.

'National Home Week' Is Scheduled September 9-16

WASHINGTON — The world's greatest "Home Show" opens across the nation September 9-16.

It's National Home Week, the period in which the American home building industry demonstrates its wares to the public. Marked by civic celebrations, displays, exhibits, parades, speaking programs, school events and general festivities, it is the time when Mr. and Mrs. America turn out in long lines to inspect the products of the greatest home building wave in history.

Originally sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders, the week this year has two additional sponsors, the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association and the American Gas Association.

Special celebrations are being planned in upwards of 100 cities in all parts of the country, in addition to the national observance. Several million people are expected to see the new homes on display. In addition, projects under construction in many areas will set up special accommodations so that sidewalk superintendents and their families can get a good look at modern methods used today in home building.

Cancer Chemistry Results Announced

NEW YORK —(P)—Some kinds of cancer cells can't carry out a simple chemical reaction to protect themselves from cell poisons, Dr. John A. Jacques of Sloan-Kettering Institute reports.

He exposed cancer cells and normal mouse cells, in test tubes, to a poison that damaged both. When a second chemical was added, the normal cell was protected from the poison, by performing a reaction between the two. But the cancer cell didn't have this mechanism, and was damaged. Cancer tissue showed less ability to make this chemical step than normal tissues, he found, and some types of cancer couldn't do it at all. The study may offer a step toward better chemical control of cancer.

Deterioration Loss Runs Into Billions

WASHINGTON —(P)—We could re-arm on the twelve billion dollars annual loss from deterioration of things we use, if we could stop the deterioration.

The twelve billion figure is from the Prevention of Deterioration Center of the National Academy of Sciences. The deterioration includes everything from a hundred million dollars that moths eat to five billions that rust takes.

Extra Room May Be Provided By Enclosing Porch

An additional room often can be provided economically by enclosing a front or rear porch.

Roof, foundation and floor already exist; therefore the only construction needed is a few wall studs, exterior siding, interior finish of gypsum board or lath and plaster, windows, a door and an inexpensive durable flooring installed over the existing concrete or board floor of the old porch. A room created from a front porch should be given the same decorative treatment as the living room, to avoid a tacked-on appearance.

A back porch opening off the kitchen can be converted into a breakfast room, utility room or other adjunct to kitchen, activity by enclosing the porch, flooring it to match the kitchen floor, and finishing it as a complete room. If the porch is enclosed with glass sashes that can be replaced with screens of the same size in Summer, it will serve admirably as a dining terrace. With the screens, provide awnings or weatherproof shades to protect the interior from the elements.

Drill a screw hole at each center mark you've made. Now the panel goes up, you screw it into place—and put a screw through each of the center holes, good and tight. This eliminates the possibility of any crack between shelves and panel—and also gives the shelves a center support, as well as support on the sides.

Famous Old Texas Ranch In New Hands

AF Newsfeatures
MATADOR, TEXAS. The famous Matador ranch, epitomizing the old west, has finally passed to American ownership from Scottish hands.

The chuck wagon still follows the range boss along rough roads and through sapling-sized mesquite. And the range boss is still boss wherever he goes.

Cowboys still shoot beef on the range for the chuckwagon. But now part of it may go into the deep freeze.

If someone has brought in ice from Matador or nearby Ballard Springs, the cowboys may drink iced tea instead of coffee. And how a sweaty, tired cowpoke can drink iced tea!

The 813,268-acre Matador and its younger sister, the Alamocitos ranch, were brought by a Scottish syndicate in 1882 from Henry H. Campbell, who had set the ranch up in 1879. The Scots, with some British stockholders, bossed the 812,000-acre spread until they sold it this summer to a group of newly-formed American cattle companies. Watches Sourdough.

At the chuck wagon that night, Cook Sam Cates was watching the sourdough turn that just-right brown when a dozen cowboys came riding in. They unsaddled and turned their sweating horses over to the wrangler, then came (stubb, stubb, stubbing in their cowboys boots) to the wagon.

"Do you fellows want coffee or iced tea to drink?" asked Cates. This question that would have floored a cowboy on the old days didn't phase the cowboys. They knew it meant someone, luckily, had got into town to get some ice. And most of them had iced tea.

Near the wagon this time was the remains of a beef. The men needed meat, and they followed the age-old custom of range slaughter. But there was a modern twist. Head the beef was loaded in a pick-up truck and hauled to a deep freeze in Matador. The other half was cooked so that it would keep.

The men stationed at the camps ride close to 30,000 acres, caring for the stock, and doing chores. Most of the men are married, and get about $100 a month, quarters and food. They are furnished a horse, but most provide their own saddles.

The Matador usually has more than 45,000 head of cattle. The calf crop amounts to about 10,000 a year. Some of the calves are marked with the famed Matador V by the time they are a day old. Calves also are branded with the year of their birth.

The only thing the Scots retained in selling the Matador was half the oil and gas rights—a sizeable thing. All of the land is under oil or gas leases.

Waiting To See
The Matador's boss, Johnny Stevens, is waiting to see what the new owners will do. Meanwhile he runs the ranch from the old headquarters, a big stone house near Ballard Springs.

The comfortable mansion, sometimes called the White House, was built to accommodate directors when they visited from Scotland. It sits on a hillside and is surrounded by a pretty lawn. Stevens, a soft-spoken, heavy-set man, spends much of his time in the house.

From the house, telephone lines run to the various camps scattered throughout the 812,000 acres.

The camp men boss their areas—until the range boss with the chuck wagon and cowboys, moves in.

When Lewis Nordyke and J. Howard Miller of the Amarillo Globe-News visited the Matador in company with Stevens, a tall cowboy came riding up to the car.

"You know that hoss wrangler," said the cowboy, "well, he wants to do some cow-punching. Well, we were talking, and thought maybe we might swap jobs for a spell."

Stevens' answer came fast: "You'll have to see Bill Hemphill about that."

The 812,000 acre ranch is too big for one man to run alone. Stevens has to give authority to his range boss, Hemphill.
