City Opposes Airpark's Use By Air Force

The City of Midland Tuesday afternoon officially pulled in its welcome mat as far as the United States Air Force is concerned.

The City Council was "definitely against" the use of Midland Airpark by the Air Force and "opposed" to its use of Midland Air Terminal.

The expression came as the council rejected a request by the Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock for temporary use of the Airpark for training bomber pilots.

The rejection, however, was aimed principally at the proposed use of the Airpark as an auxiliary landing field by jet planes based at Big Spring.

"There's enough responsibility to sitting on this council without taking lives in our own hands," said Councilman Jack Wilkinson.

Looks Too Hazardous

City Manager W. H. Oswald said the Airpark is located only two miles north of the city and jet planes taking off from the field would streak at a low altitude over much of the city's residential areas.

"And almost every day," he added, "there have been stories of planes crashing into automobiles or into houses."

"It just looks too hazardous," he admitted the city may not be able to prevent the Air Force from taking over the Airpark.

When the city regained use of the facility after World War II, the government retained the right to take it over at any time for a payment of $1 per year rental.

This was pointed out last week in a meeting here between city officials, Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Construction Of Phillips Spraberry Plant Near Start

Phillips Petroleum Company will start construction at once on its Spraberry Natural Gasoline Plant in Midland County.

The plant initially will process 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, company officials said.

The plant site has been purchased and surveys are partially completed for pipe lines and other field facilities. Considerable equipment already is available and Phillips has received the necessary governmental approval to purchase all other required materials.

The new plant will serve principally the Tex-Harvey, Germania and Driver field areas of Midland and Glasscock Counties.

As field developments continue the plant will be extended proportionately to handle all additional gas discovered. Plans to construct the plant were announced by Phillips' officials a few weeks ago.

Acheson said the Italian appeal for revision of Italy's peace treaty undoubtedly will come up.

Highway Officials Here For Meeting

Members of the Texas Highway Commission were to arrive here by plane Wednesday afternoon from Austin for an overnight visit as guests of the Highway Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

The commissioners, E. H. Thornton, Jr., of Galveston, chairman, R. J. Potts of Harlingen and Fred Wemple of Midland, and State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, were to be met at Midland Air Terminal by Chamber of Commerce officials, including President S. M. Erskine, John P. Butler, Highway Committee chairman, and Manager Delbert Downing. County Judge C. C. Keith also was expected to be on hand to welcome the visitors.

Spence Tells Plans For Development Of Martin Water Supply

The Colorado River Municipal Water District expects to develop a 10,000,000-gallon-per-day water supply in Martin County, General Manager E. V. Spence said here Tuesday night.

Speaking at a meeting of the Permian Basin Sewage and Water Works Association, Colonel Spence said the first wells in Martin County now are being drilled.

"Our pumps will have a maximum capacity of only 750 gallons an hour," he said, "while some of the wells now are being produced for irrigation at the rate of 1,400 gallons an hour."

The underground water supply will be used by the district until its own reservoir on the Colorado River is ready—in about five years.

Barbecue For Visitors

The Martin County water, he said, will continue to be used by Odessa for another five-year period and then on from then on will be used only as needed to supplement the surface water supply in the district's reservoir.

Colonel Spence was the principal speaker at the meeting, held at Cole Park, which also featured a barbecue for visitors and for city employees and their families.

Water and sewage works officials from throughout West Texas were on hand for the meeting and were greeted formally by Mayor Perry Pickett. The response was given by E. L. Killingsworth, Big Spring, former president of the association.

Henry E. Nunn, city sewage and water engineer, was host to the group.

Officers Delay Inquest Verdict In Doswell Death

DALLAS—(AP)—An inquest verdict in the death of Thomas W. Doswell, 56, wealthy oilman, was delayed Wednesday as police continued their investigation of the fatal shooting.

Doswell was shot Monday as he and his wife sat in their car parked in front of a Dallas hotel.

Justice W. E. Richburg said he would not complete the inquest until police finish their investigation.

Police said Mrs. Doswell told them her husband was shot accidentally and killed when she removed a pistol from the glove compartment of their car.

Services for Doswell will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Bad Faith Charged By Allies

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The Allies Wednesday accused the Communists of making "a universal symbol of bad faith" out of Kaesong, site of Korean war truce talks.

The charge was broadcast after a shirt-sleeved subcommittee held its sixth session in Kaesong without breaking the deadlock over an armistice line across Korea.

Armistice negotiations were complicated by a dispute over latest Red charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutrality zone.

Red Charges Ridiculous

The "Voice of the United Nations Command," broadcast from Tokyo to Korea, said the "Communist charges border on the ridiculous."

The broadcast asked: "Why are the United Nations delegates assigned to an armistice mission constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area?"

The broadcast traced the history of incidents within the neutral zone and answered its own question: "It is now quite obvious that Kaesong was picked (by the Communists as a negotiating site) in order to intimidate the UNC (United Nations Command) delegates by a show of force."

"That failing, the conferences could be stalemated with a series of side issues blocking the main discussions."

Both sides were depicted as still holding out for their original demands on where to create a buffer zone. The UN wants it along the battle line; the Reds along the 38th parallel. Most of the front is north of 38.

Navy Announces Contract For First Atomic Submarine

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Navy has let a contract for the first atomic-powered submarine—a craft described by a congressional authority as having "immense military implications."

Announcing Tuesday the award of a contract to the Electric Boat Company of Groton, Conn., the Navy gave no details. Nor would officials elaborate on the 26-word announcement.

But semi-official sources have said an atomic-powered submarine would have a vast underwater range, and speculation as to its possible speed has ranged as high as 50 to 60 knots—more than twice that of conventional undersea craft.

Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, retired officer who commanded U. S. sub forces in the Pacific in World War II, has predicted it would "outrun, outfight and outmaneuver the most advanced snorkel types that Russia is building behind the Iron Curtain or is likely to build."

The best estimate is that the craft may be tested perhaps two years from now, although recent progress reports from the AEC's Reactor Testing Station at Arco, Idaho, were guardedly optimistic.

15 Hurt By Roofs Blown From Houses

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The last telephone line from Tampico went dead at 11:35 a.m. Wednesday. Tampico's airport radio towers apparently were down, also.

TAMPICO, MEXICO—(AP)—A fearfully-awaited hurricane hit Tampico Wednesday morning. Houses were wrecked. Fifteen persons were reported injured by flying roofs.

Electric power was cut off to prevent fallen wires from killing persons in the streets.

Firemen rescued 25 families from the wreckage of their homes. The only casualties reported up to 10:30 a.m. were the 15 hurt by flying roofs.

The terrific storm hit about 8:30 a.m. in the midst of a deluge of rain. The Weather Bureau estimated the winds' force at 95 miles an hour. The greatest force of 130 miles an hour at the hurricane's center passed only about 60 miles east of Tampico.

The storm's fury was such that AP Correspondent Robert Allen, on his way to the city, was unable to drive his car across the Tamed River, on the mainland side of the peninsula on which Tampico stands.

Veteran Tampico newsmen described it as the worst storm to hit the city in 15 years. Many lives were lost and the city badly wrecked in the last big hurricane of 1926.

The power company pulled all switches shortly after Wednesday's hurricane hit. That left Tampico without lights, stopped street cars, silenced radio stations, cut communications.

Mighty Battleship Wisconsin Grounded, Then Dragged Free

NEW YORK—(AP)—The mighty 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin drifted aground in the Hudson River opposite Manhattan Wednesday and then 13 puffing tugboats pulled her free.

A strong downstream tide held her fast on the New Jersey shore for two hours. She was reported free at 7:25 a.m.

The battleship came into harbor Tuesday on a training cruise and was moored fore and aft to floating buoys.

A Navy spokesman said her stern line snapped and her end swung around and touched bottom off the Jersey shore.

The spokesman said the vessel apparently suffered no damage, but that she would proceed to Brooklyn under her own power for an underwater inspection by divers.

Capt. Thomas Burrows of Washington, commanding the battleship, was on bridge directing operations.

Tugboats pressed against her to prevent her grounding again.

The mishap recalled the grounding of the Wisconsin's sister ship, the 45,000-ton Missouri, in Chesapeake Bay Jan. 17, 1950.

The Missouri was held fast two weeks until tugboats finally pulled her off a sandbank. She was not damaged seriously and now is in service.

Area Rains Soak Parched Pastures, Block Highways

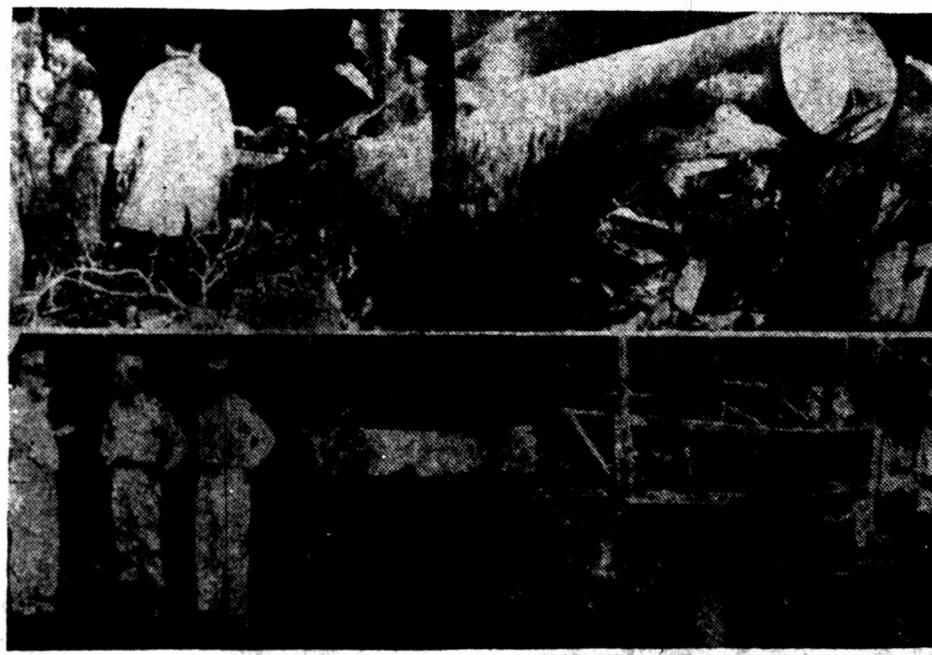

Heavy rains that closed two highways in the Midland area Tuesday night soaked parched pastures and lowered temperatures to the blanket stage.

Heaviest rainfall was reported at Rankin, where the precipitation was estimated to 4.5 to six inches in five hours. McCamey reported off-and-on rains all night which totaled 2.5 inches.

The highways from Midland to Rankin and from Rankin to McCamey were closed due to high water but traffic was moving over them again Wednesday morning.

Fresh rainwater and cool air turned hot-weather gloom to cheerfulness over most of the state. In Midland Wednesday morning the reading at the Civil Aeronautics Administration station at Terminal was 69 degrees. Many Midlanders reported they scrambled for blankets Tuesday night.

Lamesa reported an inch of rain Tuesday. Colorado City more than an inch, and lesser-depth rains were reported east, north and west of Midland.

Rebel Wives Start Battle For Refund

MARSHALL, TEXAS.—(P)—The Marshall wives who abhor deducting taxes from the pay of domestic servants have started a fight to get back money seized from them recently by the Internal Revenue Department.

Twelve women filed a claim Tuesday for a tax refund, covering the unpaid taxes, penalties and interest seized from their bank accounts by Federal tax agents.

If the refund is refused, the women said, a suit will be filed against the government.

Former U. S. Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin, retained by the women as an attorney, said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

The women contend an amendment to the Social Security Law requiring wives to withhold servant's Social Security taxes is unconstitutional.

The claim for the refund was mailed to the Dallas office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Hutton Realizes Ambition; Stars In DeMille Picture

By BETTY HUTTON
(For Erskine Johnson, who is on vacation)

HOLLYWOOD.—(NEA)—I've just spent seven months working for Cecil DeMille. It was my first for the master and anyone who has been through a DeMille production knows it.

DeMille is a player's director. You fear him, respect him, idolize him—in the same breath and at the same moment. But one thing, you can't take him or his plans casually. I'm supposed to be a pretty vibrant thing (I believe my publicity) but what is vibrancy in the DeMille wake? This man was seven steps ahead of everyone in the picture.

You come up bright-eyed with a very critical problem, you rush up to DeMille panting like a 60-year-old half-miler, you unleash this great problem—and what happens? C. B. flashes that fatherly smile, pats you on the head and says the problem was solved yesterday.

The way he works on the sets is an actress' dream. He never tells you how to act. He analyzes the emotion and mood of a scene, its dramatic texture and what it is supposed to convey. Then you're on your own.

DeMille has provided a situation and it's up to you to bring it to life. That's a lot different than some directors who bark through a microphone — "Okay, Betty, get in there and show 'em how!"

Magie Spell

No one can tell me DeMille doesn't exert some kind of magic spell. I don't say he's in league with evil spirits, but the other day I awoke with a horrible shock. I realized something that made me break out into a cold sweat. I had flown through the air! Not once but several times.

"For the first time I asked myself: 'Are you crazy? Why did you do this thing?' Why hadn't I thought to ask these questions BEFORE the picture? I did raise one small objection.

When DeMille first talked to me about the role of Holly in "The Greatest Show on Earth," it sounded wonderful. Then he came to the part about flying through the air. I said, "Goodbye, C. B." They caught up with me near the outskirts of Beverly Hills. I was hiding in a bomb shelter when DeMille came in with seven assistants carrying bear whips from "The Crusades."

Kidding aside, lots of the credit for this act goes to the famous Ringling circus star, Antoinette Concello, who helped me through the final stages.

We worked for weeks and every time I died, I thought the catcher would never catch me. But I had to do it. There was DeMille down there with a shotgun.

Seriously, everyone in Hollywood wants to work for DeMille. But take my advice, shy away from circus pictures. In this one DeMille may make a bum out of Barnum but he's made a wreck out of Hutton.

"Betty, Come Down"

We had quite a time in Sarasota filming the picture under the big top at Winter quarters. One day a discussion arose. Mother was there. She had just arrived in town. She saw me 50 feet up in the air, about to fly, and she came out to the center ring and yelled up:

"Betty, you come down from there this minute!"

"Mother, we're ready to shoot."

"Are you insane? Come down this minute!"

DeMille was standing patiently at the camera, no doubt wondering when he would be able to go on with his movie, which was costing him umpteen thousands every hour.

I tried to tell mother that I had done the flying act many times before and finally DeMille came over and reassured mother that I was up to the occasion. He asked her whether she would feel better if she left the tent, but mother said she preferred to stay and suffer.

Another time I thought I would impress my two daughters, Lindsay and Candy. They never had seen me perform my flying act. So they came in and sat down at the edge of the ring.

When it was done, I rushed over to them.

"Well, did you like mother?" I asked breathlessly.

"Yes, but where are the clowns?"

Sit-Down By Oregon Convicts Nears End

SALEM, ORE.—(P)—Most of the striking convict labor force at the Oregon State Penitentiary was ready to go back to work Wednesday.

Some 400 prisoners in one cell block voted Sunday night to end a week-old sit-down strike. Eight hundred more in other cell blocks were to vote Wednesday. Deputy Warden Eugene Halliday said, "I am sure the rest will follow suit."

The strike was called last Tuesday to protest a guard using a club to break up a fight between two prisoners.

All the men were fed Tuesday night for the first time since Thursday morning, when Warden George Alexander stopped meals as a reprisal for the strike.

The break came Tuesday when James H. Audette, a convict who led the prisoners' grievance committee, assured the warden 90 per cent of the men would be back on the job Wednesday.

The prisoners appear to have won several major concessions with their strike:

1. The guard who they accuse of brutality will be disciplined.
2. They won the promise of an investigation.
3. They were assured that Warden Alexander will be replaced.

Lowered Adult Moral Tone Cited As Principal Reason For Today's Youth Problem

By BELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK.—(P)—The American teen-ager and young adult today is a very different person, in many ways, from his parents when they were his age.

He has grown to awareness in a different world.

For example, his future is eminently uncertain. The shadow of another great war always is on his horizon. Even without an actual war, he may be drafted. He has been assured that the shores of the United States no longer are secure, that "next time" A-bombs can be expected on his own city.

That fear of the future is not the only factor in making him what he is. There are others—parents, a different moral tone, the examples of misconduct in high places and so on.

As a result, the people who know him best today draw this composite picture of his main traits. They say—

1. He is impatient for money and quick success.
2. He feels that the world owes him something, that somebody, somewhere, ought to take care of him.
3. He is better informed about most things—including sex—than his parents were at a comparable age.
4. Consciously or otherwise, he is following a be-merry-for-tomorrow-die philosophy in order to escape his anxieties and tensions.

These are generalizations, of course; they do not apply wholly to every American boy or girl.

But over and over again, with astonishing unanimity, probation officers and college officials, psychiatrists and businessmen, teachers, policemen and clergymen, come up with the same answers.

One of the most prominent men in America in sports (he asked that his name be withheld) recruits high school athletes for his own college, a small school. He said:

"Formerly, the best inducement was to assure a boy of a chance to get started in his own field after he finished college. But that doesn't interest them today. Want Cash On Line?"

"They want cash on the line. Not tuition, or jobs later, or anything else. They want to know exactly how much right now."

Irving W. Halpern, a New York probation officer, has been studying youthful offenders 41 years. He drew some comparisons:

"Crimes of violence and ingenuity used to be committed by older men. Today, kids are in all kinds of crime. The age-scale is going down."

"The reason, as I see it, is a lowered moral tone generally. They're all out to make a quick buck, the quicker the better."

Margaret Spaulding, a department store executive, interviews and trains thousands of college graduates every year. She characterized them as "bright and interested, but terribly restless, impatient for promotion and money."

Army statistics indicate the young men today are more intelligent than their predecessors in the 1940 draft. They tend to score well above "average" in the aptitude and ability tests. But most professional soldiers say:

"The hardest thing for an American kid to take is discipline. They just don't seem to have met any before."

Disturbing Picture

A number of persons noted the somebody-should-take-care-of-me attitude. Max E. Hannum, assistant to the president of Franklin and Marshall College, said it is a major characteristic of young men.

A widely known psychiatrist, Dr. Robert P. Knight, of the Austin Riggs Foundation at Stockbridge, Mass., explained it in these words:

"There has been a shift away from reliance on individual competence and individual strength toward the expectancy of being looked after—in this case by the federal government. It is repeating, in maturity and on a national scale, what happened in childhood at home."

None of the men and women who deal with youngsters blame them, alone.

They paint a disturbing picture of young America, but they say the causes lie more in the world than with the young people.

Truman's Idea On More Controls Gets Chilly Reception

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A chilly reception from two key senators greeted a White House disclosure Tuesday that President Truman may reopen his fight for stronger price control powers.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) said government officials who administer the new economic controls law are criticizing it "even before the ink is dry." He said it is "only fair" to give the present law a fair trial.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) said "some people" evidently favor a Marxist philosophy, a Socialist philosophy, and he told the Senate:

"I challenge the President of the United States to send down his ideas of (any new) legislation. Let's have this thing out, once and for all."

Capehart defended the new price control law as "a good law that will prevent runaway inflation" if properly administered.

Wranglers Club Sets 'Chuckwagon' Breakfast Friday

A "chuckwagon" breakfast for members of the Wranglers Club, membership and guests division of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 7:30 a. m. Friday in the Private Dining Room of Hotel Scharbauer, Stanley M. Erskine, Chamber president, announced Wednesday.

Wrangler participation in the annual C. of C.-sponsored party and program honoring faculty members of the public school system will be discussed at the breakfast, Erskine said. The event is scheduled August 31.

Truman To Receive Philippines Pearl

MANILA.—(P)—President Elpidio Quirino will present President Truman a large pearl from the Sulu Sea when they meet in Washington August 30 to sign the Philippine-U. S. Mutual Defense Pact.

The pearl was brought to Manila by a Moro delegation late Tuesday. They requested that Quirino present it to Truman as a gift from the Philippine people.

Experts described the pearl as beautiful. Its weight was not announced.

Mother Charged With Kidnaping Her Son Refused Bail

CAMEN, FRANCE.—(P)—Mrs. Philomine Kreisler Kirkwood, 57, of New York was returned to prison Tuesday night after a French court refused to release her on bail pending possible extradition on a charge of kidnaping her own son.

Mrs. Kirkwood was ordered held to await a hearing on the extradition request, which American officials in Paris say has been filed by the State of New York. She faces a charge filed by her former husband, George Kreisler, a New York night club entertainer, that she violated a divorce court order by taking their son out of the United States.

Mrs. Kirkwood was jailed as she got off a ship at Cherbourg August 5 with her present husband, Charles Kirkwood. She said she merely wanted to take her eight-year-old son, Tom, to see his grandmother in Berlin.

Welcome, Commissioners

Midland again is proud to have the opportunity of being host to the Texas Highway Commission, and this headquarters city of the Permian Basin Empire extends a warm and typically West Texas welcome to Commissioners E. H. Thornton, Jr., R. J. Potts and Fred Wemple, and to State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer.

The distinguished visitors will spend Wednesday night and Thursday morning in Midland as guests of the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Midland, of course, is the home city of Commissioner Wemple, long one of the Lone Star State's leading advocates of good roads, who joins in welcoming his associates on the Highway Commission to his home city.

Highway commissioners have visited Midland on previous occasions, and always this city and its residents have enjoyed the visits of the state officials. This visit to Midland, however, marks the first for Chairman Thornton, who was named to the commission earlier this year. We sincerely hope it will not be his last.

The Texas Highway Commission is recognized widely as one of the best and most efficient state highway groups in the nation, and the visit of its members to our city affords an excellent opportunity to express our thanks and our appreciation to the commission for the job it is doing in providing and maintaining the fine highways of which Texas and Texans justly are proud.

It is a tremendous and never-ending job, but the commissioners and the personnel of the State Highway Department are meeting the challenge in a very satisfactory manner, as evidenced by the fact that Texas' system of fine highways is the envy of most states.

Congratulations, Highway Commissioners, and welcome to Ever-Growing Midland.

Bus Transportation??

Bus transportation, or rather the lack of bus transportation, in Midland again is expected to be considered by the City Council at its Thursday afternoon meeting.

The matter has been hanging fire for months and it is hoped the council now can see its way clear to grant a franchise to one of the two applicants who propose to inaugurate a bus transportation system here within a matter of weeks.

The transportation problem long since has passed the critical stage and will become even more acute with the opening of school and the start of the Fall shopping season. Bus transportation in this headquarters city is essential, and the councilmen should take action now to assure the return of bus transportation to Midland as promptly as possible.

Unless bus service, missing here since last November, is reinstated promptly, the downtown traffic and parking problems will become increasingly difficult by the day, and goodness knows they are serious enough now.

An opportunity to again obtain the needed service now presents itself, and no time should be lost in determining the best proposal and in granting a franchise to the successful applicant.

The matter has been studied for months by the council, by the Chamber of Commerce and by others, all agreeing that bus service is needed and that it should be provided by private enterprise. Applications have been considered by the council from time to time. Still Midland is without city bus service.

Favorable action may be forthcoming Thursday. We hope so.

Pleven Deserves Break

The West can be gratified that Rene Pleven is the new French premier. He probably is the strongest middle-of-the-road leader in France today.

In his earlier premierships this year, Pleven exhibited more character and drive than any French prime minister has shown since World War II. He made a fine impression during his hasty visit to the United States.

Pleven faces some thorny issues. Rearmament and its impact on the French economy, the revival of a German army as part of the European defense force, the granting and development of air bases for the United States, these top the list.

In any realistic political framework, Pleven would be judged and his regime would stand or fall on how it meets these key issues. But, unluckily, French cabinets in recent years have been collapsing over domestic questions which often bear little or no relation to the critical world scene.

For the sake of Western solidarity in the building of effective defenses against Russia, it is to be hoped that henceforth the French people will gauge their leaders' performance more broadly.

Come Now, Where's That Old Sense Of Fair Play?

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Drew Pearson says: High Commissioner McCloy has no influence with American military in Germany, in handling Russian escapes anxious to help U.S.; Counterintelligence agents alienate them; Many of 300,000 Red army troops in East Germany would desert to West if had chance.

ENROUTE THROUGH EUROPE.—Here are some spot observations gathered in various parts of Germany regarding one of the most important problems we face either in preventing war or winning a war after it gets started.

Frankfort — High Commissioner Jack McCloy, who is performing a remarkably fine job, is supposed to be the top man in Germany. He can give or withhold American money, the life blood of Europe. He can order the American Army to get out of this area or into that.

But when it comes to Russians escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, High Commissioner McCloy has as much influence with the American Army as a Communist youth demonstrator in the E a s t Zone of Germany. The American military flouts his orders and thumbs its nose at McCloy much like the above Communist youth demonstrator at the West German police.

Perhaps because of this, the young socialiste Central Intelligence agents of Gen. Bedell Smith and the amateur detectives in Counter-Intelligence do such a successful job of alienating these Russian escapees that a lot of them decide Soviet Russia is better than the much-vaunted West and return home.

Just outside Frankfurt is a Russian refugee camp. Its name, its exact location, the number of Russians in it are supposed to be top secret. Not even McCloy knows how many Russians are in it. Nor has he ever visited it. If the Army is ordered by McCloy to let anyone into this camp, the Army says no.

In this camp at one time were about 2,000 Russian officers, who, disgusted with the Red Army, had fled to the American zone of Germany, many anxious to help the U. S. A. But for months they simply sat, ate, and were interviewed by young Counterintelligence agents—ajc, sat, and were interviewed; ate, slept, and were interviewed.

Some were flown to the United States amid a flurry of excitement to report on conditions inside Russia to higher-ups in the Pentagon. Some were promised haven in the U. S. A. In the end all were reduced to sitting, waiting, and going to seed—thanks to the sterility, inefficiency and lack of imagination of the Army and Gen. Bedell Smith's amateur Dick Tracy's.

Berlin — Across the invisible Iron Curtain in the East Zone of Germany are about 300,000 members of the Red Army. Living in Germany, a country with which they all too recently fought a bitter war, these troops long had to camp behind barbed wire.

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the West.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the West and with no tight border control between the East and West, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red Army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian Troops also live near the West and temptation is strong to drift over and sample Western glamor.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY. Written for NEA Service. If everybody always bid and played bridge according to the book, you'd find me playing tiddlywinks or a nice snappy round of croquet. Part of the thrill of bridge is getting yourself into the soup—and out of it.

It was a nice thick soup that South plunged into when he bid four spades. He was doomed to lose at least two spades and two clubs. But the hand gave him game and rubber.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South had a chance—if he could guess the way to play the red suits. If West had led from the king of hearts, South could let the first trick ride around to the jack and then repeat the heart finesse.

Bridge hand diagram showing North (D) and West/East/South hands with cards and suits.

This would give him an immediate club discard, after which it would be safe to lead trumps and give up two trumps and one club.

As it happened, however, West was the sort of player who had strong (not necessarily sensible) opinions about opening leads. "Never lead from a king," he had often been heard to say. This was considered the latest word fifty years ago, and that was good enough for West.

For this reason South didn't relish the idea of playing West for the king of hearts. West might have held kings in three of the four suits, but he surely didn't have the king of diamonds and therefore could have led a diamond if he had held the king of hearts.

There was only one other chance, and South played for it. He put up the ace of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, discarding the jack of hearts from his hand. The odds were almost two to one against a 3-3 break in diamonds, but any other play was sheer surrender.

Fortunately for declarer, both defenders had to follow to three rounds of diamonds. Now declarer could lead a fourth diamond from the dummy and discard one of his losing clubs.

It didn't matter which opponent ruffed, for the ruff would come at the expense of a natural trump trick. South would lose only one club and two trumps.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Spade Pass 2 Diamonds Pass 2 Hearts Pass ? You, South, hold: Spade 8, Hearts 7-4, Diamonds K-Q-J-9-8-2, Clubs 8-6-4. What do you do? A—Bid three diamonds. This bid shows a strong suit but denies a good hand. You are not overjoyed to get so high with nothing but your diamonds, but your partner would probably be even less happy at spades or hearts.

MURDER IN QUOTES

THE STORY: Right after I was acquitted of the murder of Charles Berman, a racketeer, his lawyer threatened me, but my wife, Gene Sawyer, said, "Take nothing of it, Jimmer." He took me to his office because he thought he could get me to reveal some property the Bermans stole from me.

I want to talk to you about your lease case," said Gene Sawyer, when we were in his law office across the street from the courthouse. "I know that you've got a battery of lawyers hired to try to get that lease back for you. But they've got nowhere."

My father had pioneered a summer resort at Queen Lake when only a few fishermen had frequented it. Erecting a huge dance pavilion, an 80-room hotel, a boardwalk with a dozen rides, a roller-coaster and a night club, he had attracted vacationers from all over the state. Thousands of cottages and homes had been put up there, and every business man in the area conceded that my father had made the lake the multi-million-dollar property that it was.

All the structures were on state land, obtained from the state on a 15-year lease. The lease had been renewed several times—it was the custom of the conservation department to renew all leases though they carried no option for renewal. When a property was sold, the conservation department, by its chief, automatically approved the assignment—provided the new owner was responsible.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Plan Tremendous Increase In Synthetic Wool Production

By PETER EDSON. NEA Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—New light on the Chinese Nationalist army on Formosa has been provided after a first-hand survey by Robert Fallow, special investigator for Nevada Senator Pat McCarran's Marshall Plan watchdog subcommittee.

Investigator Fallow went to Formosa to get answers to the questions: How many troops do the Nationalists really have? Are they good troops? Are they being held on Formosa against their will? Does the government of Nationalist China on Formosa really need money? Or does it have millions of dollars cached away all over the world?

The size of the army—which has been estimated as high as a million men, eager to invade and reconquer the mainland—was nailed down to 400,000 men, plus 200,000 in the Navy, Air Force or civilian activities supporting the military.

The U. S. Seventh Fleet has been under orders since June, 1950, to prevent a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa.

The Nationalist Chinese on Formosa abhor the thought of remaining a government in exile. They talk incessantly about returning to the mainland. Fallow reports, however, that "the Chinese realize at this time that they are in no position to do any more about returning to the mainland than talk about it."

The troops at the Feng-shan army training center at the south of the island, and at a naval training center nearby, are reported to be in excellent physical condition. They put on a spirited show. But the Chinese do not pretend that these samples are typical of their inventory. They show only potentialities.

Troops Are Being Paid.—The troops are poorly paid by western standards. But they now are being paid. One reform finally put over is the stimulation of "paper armies" which did not exist but for which commanding generals drew pay and subsistence.

The soldiers drew a generous ration of rice, but generally must use their own ingenuity to supplement their diet with other essential foods. "Both officers and men spend much time raising vegetables," Fallow reports.

Even Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has admitted that if the army got all the supplies it needed—arms, training, pay, diet and proper medical care—it would take six months to "start rolling" and even more time than that to make a good defensive force.

For one thing, the army will have to be taken out of politics and completely reorganized. It now is bur- dened by a system of political commissars on which there have been no previous reports.

There are an estimated 25,000 of these political commissars. They occupy posts from general offices down to company levels. They report not through chain of command, but through their political superiors. At the head of this system is Chiang Kai-shek's eldest son.

Justification for the commissar system is given as the need to correct inefficiency and stamp out subversives. Army officers declare, however, that subversives long since have been stamped out and that the commissars democratize command.

"If our (American) military representatives on Formosa decide that political commissars... should be abolished, they will come face to face with the major problem connected with our aid," reports Fallow.

The much smaller Marshall Plan mission under Dr. Raymond T. Moyer, now in Washington, has made important economic reforms. It has reduced tenant rents from 80 to 37 per cent of the crop. Marshall Plan funds for last year totalled $98,000,000 and a similar sum has been asked for the present year.

Aside from the Marshall Plan, Fallow reports, "The United States on the whole is beating around in a wilderness of indecision as to interference in Nationalist Chinese affairs."

Almost 70 per cent of the Nationalist budget goes to support the military forces, but the Chinese government takes in about $80,000,000 to $85,000,000 less than it spends, each year.

While the Fallow report does not say it in so many words, the implication is clear that the only outlook for the United States is to keep on making up the difference for the indefinite future.

Have a Laugh

A man summoned for jury duty said, "Your Honor, I would like to be excused. There is a man that I owe $30 to and he is moving away from our town and I want to get to the depot before the train leaves so I can pay him that money."

The judge said, "You're excused. We don't want anybody on the jury who can't like that."

A farmer hired a worker, who was a stranger in that section, and told him to go over to the nearby creek-water town and haul back a chicken house which was due that morning.

When the hired man got there with the truck, there was the house but nobody was around. He loaded it and just then the station agent ran out of a cafe and yelled, "Hey, where are you goin' with our depot?"

Q—Is English or Irish the preferred language of Eire? A—The Irish language is a required study in all national school. The aim of the Gaelic League is to have Irish made the only official language of Eire after 1970. By that date it is predicted that the civil service would be composed only of those who had a fluent knowledge of the native tongue.

Q—How did the "nutcracker" receive its strange name? A—It grew out of the fact that this bird often hacks at nuts until they are broken open. The nuts are placed in little holes in the trunk of a tree, and the bird hammers them with its bill. The bill serves the same purpose as a little hatchet might serve.

Q—In the event of an emergency can the President of the United States declare war without the consent of Congress? A—According to the Constitution, Congress alone has the power to declare war. However, the President as Commander in Chief may cause hostilities to be started without prior congressional approval.

Q—What is the length of a freight car? A—Freight cars vary in length from 24 to 75 feet, the average length being about 43 feet, outside over-all measurements.

Q—What North American bird has the greatest wingspread? A—The condor.

So They Say

In the dark days of '40 it was you (British) who... by your steadfastness saved Europe. Why don't you go on with your task? Why don't you complete it? Why do you refuse, after being Europe's leader in the war, to go on with it in peace? —Paul-Henri Spaak, president, Consultative Assembly of Council of Europe.

"Far be it from me to be unprofessional—though many a good man has gone bankrupt simply because lawyers sit snugly by and watch some other lawyer wreck him. That's what your lawyers have done to you, Jimmer. They've wrecked you. I don't mean just the fees you've paid them. I mean they've been all wrong from the start. They should have known they never could prove fraud in the way Striker leased your land to Berman."

"They should have known they wouldn't have to. They should have bothered to read some law. If they had, they'd have known that you have a right to a renewal under the law and that Berman's lease was made without a stroke of legality."

GENE SAWYER paused for dramatic effect, and my face got I leaned toward him. My gut felt he have been the color of a sheet. "Are you on the level?"

"I am." The lawyer took his legs off his desk, turned his swivel chair and removed a marked book from the bookcase behind him. "Read it yourself. The state land that you leased was originally canal land. Queen Lake was constructed as a feeder for a canal in 1854. It was abandoned at the turn of the century—as a canal feeder, that is. Fifteen years later the state conservation department took it over, and the whole lake area was declared a public park.

"Since then it has been leased by the conservation director, who has wide discretion and authority in land leases. But this old canal land is an exception. Under the law establishing the canal and feeder lakes, anyone who had a lease had a right to renewal under the same terms that would be offered to anyone else. It happens that your father got his first lease when the land was still canal land, before it was taken over by the conservation department. This book of case reports I just handed you has, on the page I've marked, a test case holding that where the canal land was taken over by the conservation department, the canal law still controlled the leasing. Get the point?"

The MATURE PARENT

Joy In Parents Not Just Important; It's Vital

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Normally, he would have been a handsome boy. This day, however, his face was set with sullen anger. He stood, his jaw rigid, while he listened to his mother ask the court to send him away to some place that could control him.

"He's all I have left," she said. "I lost his brother 18 months ago. He stayed out three nights running last week. I know enough about psychology to know that he's running away from something inside of him. It can't be his home. He's got a bicycle and a television set. I want him to be happy. I lost his sister four years ago."

She talked for three minutes and mentioned her dead children eight times. On her coat sleeve, she wore a wide mourning band.

I looked at her son and I thought, "You're a healthy child. You are quite right to run away from grief that is never over."

Then I was shocked at my thought, because I felt so sorry for the mother who now was losing her last, her only child. But suddenly I remembered another mother I knew. I remembered what she said to me once when I was struggling with sorrow.

She said, "My dear, your grief must lose its anger. If you don't stop resenting loss, you will make a sieve of your life through which all the things you love will sift away."

She had lost her son in the RAF the year before.

I have wanted to write a column on joy for some time. So the other day, I spoke to a distinguished psychiatrist about it.

To Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey, a New York City specialist in human behavior, I said, "Is joy in parents important to children?"

Dr. Lowrey chooses words precisely. "I would call it 'vital' rather than 'important,'" he told me.

Then I asked my 864 question: "Is joy natural to us? Or do we have to acquire it?"

"Oh, we have to acquire it," he said. "In childhood, joy is apt to be natural and spontaneous. But we lose this baby joy as we grow up. When we step off the curb into living, our childish joy is fretted away by disappointments and fears that grow out of them."

"What do we do then?" I asked. "We have to begin to fight for it," he told me. "Consciously. We have to learn to defend and protect it Proceeds from the party will be turned over to the church. A nursery will be provided for the children. Mrs. William Johnson is president of the WSCS.

Study Club Plans Initial Meeting

"American Progress" will be the theme for the Modern Study Club this year.

It has been announced that the first meeting will be an opening coffee September 19 in the home of the president, Mrs. Carl Westlund, 801 North Marientfeld Street.

It will be guest day and a play will be reviewed by Mrs. John McKinley.

consciously. Otherwise, we won't make much headway. We'd fight for it more consciously than we do if we realized that joy is the triumph of the mature human being. It is the reward of the people who educate themselves out of misgiving and anger."

Many of us will be grateful for these comments by Dr. Lowrey.

We may not find it easy at first to defend our sense of joy at the end of a hot Summer day, with the oven heating the kitchen and an angry child in the middle of it, screaming his rage at us.

But if we do close our ears, and put down our mixing spoon for one or two conscious minutes, we will find we can quickly recognize and laugh at this trick anger plays to steal joy from our home.

The fight Dr. Lowrey speaks of is a running fight. It is not made just in the big crises, but in the little ones where anger and discouragement sneak up on us. It's the fight we must wage when we're off guard in the hot kitchen, the crowded store, the steamy bathroom where our six-year-old says, "I hate you. I'll tell daddy on you." I think Dr. Lowrey means these are the real arenas.

Rainmaker Man looked up at the sky. He held out his hand to see if the rain was raining down, but it wasn't. The sun was shining. The day was hot. The ground was dry and dusty. The grass, leaves and trees of the Great Forest were thirsty.

"Rainmaker," said Daddy Ring-tail, "what a fine day it is for Rainmaker business of making the rain fall down."

"Yes sir, and yes indeedy," said the Rainmaker.

"We need some rain, we do," said the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf.

But the Rainmaker said: "Abracadabra, double so! I'll make it rain and I'll show you!"

Said the Huffen: "Hah! If you make it rain, double do, I have a present to give to you."

And so the Rainmaker climbed on top of a big rock. He took off his Rainmaker hat and held it in one of his hands. He pointed with the other hand up to the sky. Said he: "Eena, teen, leather feather drip!"

Yes, and the lightning flashed and thunder boomed in the sky "Eena teen, leather feather drip!"

Lightning flashed and thunder boomed again. Rainmaker had said the magic words to make the rain fall up—where people can not see it. But now the Rainmaker was ready for serious business. Oh yes he waa! And the Huffen held a present behind his back, all to give the Rainmaker, when once the Rainmaker made the rain fall down where people could see it.

Again the Rainmaker raised his hand to point to the sky. He said: "Eena meena, bona stry, let it rain, or I will cry!"

Of a sudden then the clouds were dark. Lightning flashed. Thunder crashed. And the rain came raining and raining down with a trickle.

"Quick, Huffen! The present!" shouted Daddy Ringtail.

And so the Huffen opened up the present in a hurry, because the present was really an umbrella. The Rainmaker got under the umbrella, and so did the Huffen, and so did Daddy Ringtail, and could anyone ever have a liner present than an umbrella on a rainy day? Oh no, because that present was just right, and a just-right present is the best there is, I guess, don't you? Happy day!

"OFFENSIVE" SOVIET MEMORIAL GETS A FENCE—American authorities in Berlin ordered an 18-foot wire fence built around this Soviet war memorial tank erected by the Reds soon after Berlin fell in what later became the American sector. The fence was ordered after East West Berliners tried to burn the monument, resulting in exchange of sharp notes between U. S. and Russian occupation authorities. The Reds rejected a polite suggestion that the offending tank be removed.

Dewey Foe Beaten In Primary Voting

NEW YORK —(AP)—Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy—a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and a friend of Senator Robert A. Taft—was on his way out Wednesday as the Republican chairman in Suffolk County.

Incomplete and unofficial returns from Tuesday's New York state primary election showed Macy's 25-year reign in Eastern Long Island had been ended by a decisive margin for his Dewey-backed opponents.

The bitter Suffolk fight highlighted a lack-luster primary with only one other major contest anywhere in the state—Carmine de Sapio's apparently successful struggle to hold control of Democratic Tammany Hall against the opposition of New York's Mayor Vincent R. Impitteri.

De Sapio's machine held a 13-3 lead in incomplete returns over the City Hall-backed insurgent forces of Robert B. Blaikie. Tammany is the Democratic organization in New York County (Manhattan). Elsewhere in the state, there were only mayoralty contests that attracted little interest from the voters.

Fall Kills Lineman, Injures Pedestrian

DALLAS —(AP)—L. C. Clemons, 32, a lineman, fell 40 feet to his death from a power line pole Tuesday. He fell on a pedestrian, Charles R. Anderson, 53, who was knocked unconscious. Hospital attendants said Anderson's injuries were not serious.

Cap Rock Co-Op Celebrates Rural Electrification Week

STANTON—Rural Electrification Week, as proclaimed by Gov. Allan Shivers, is being observed this week in Texas.

Joining with the 76 other Texas rural electric cooperatives in the observance is Cap Rock Electric Cooperative at Stanton.

This locally-owned business had its beginning in July, 1940, when 172 miles of line first were electrified to serve 325 members. Since that time 1,400 miles of line have been built, and today the co-op is serving 2,512 members.

In this area, it was the rural people who originated the program. They worked many hours, giving of their time and energy until they had signed 325 members. They applied to the Rural Electrification Administration for a loan to build 172 miles of line.

The loan was granted in July, 1940, and work soon was underway on the Cap Rock Electric Co-op.

This same story was repeated 77 times over Texas and more than 1,000 times over the United States, Alaska, and the Virgin Islands. Their facilities today include more than 1,100,000 miles of line serving about 3,500,000 farms and other rural consumers. By May 1, 1951, REA had advanced $1,784,378,022 in loans, and by April 1, 1951, $282,196,238 in principal and interest payments had been paid.

To date, Cap Rock Electric Co-op has borrowed $1,890,000 from the government. A total of $207,573.72 has been repaid in interest and principal.

REA itself operates no rural electric facilities, and its program involves no grants or subsidies. Cap Rock Electric Co-op is a locally owned and operated, tax-paying business.

Hawaiian Quake Creates Critical Shortage Of Water

HONOLULU —(AP)—The heaviest earthquake ever recorded on the volcanic island of Hawaii cost the Kona Coast District most of its treasured water stores—with two months of normal drought ahead.

Property damage was estimated officially at between $750,000 and $1,000,000, but the water loss was the most critical.

The quake jarred the largest of the Hawaiian islands in early morning darkness Tuesday. It wrecked or damaged more than 200 wooden water storage tanks—20 of them on one cattle ranch.

Each of 200 families along a 30-mile stretch of the Kona Coast, on the west slope of Mauna Loa Volcano, had at least one tank for storing drinking and household water.

The Kona Coast is the driest section of the islands.

Second Trial Starts For Accused Slayer Of Patricia Jean Hull

SANTA ANA, CALIF. —(AP)—A jury of 10 men and two women will try Henry Ford McCracken in his second trial on charges of murdering 10-year-old Patricia Jean Hull.

The jury was completed Tuesday and a defense motion for a change of venue denied. McCracken is accused of luring Patricia from a Buena Parker theater May 19, killing her in his motel cabin and burying the body in a canyon.

In his first trial, the jury disagreed on the murder count, acquitted him of kidnapping and convicted him of child stealing. He has not yet been sentenced on the child stealing conviction.

Natural Gas Curbs Become Effective In Eastern States

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Curbs on extension of natural gas service to new large-volume industrial consumers and new central home heating plants took effect Wednesday in much of the Eastern United States.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) sought to ban extension of natural gas for such uses in 15 states and the District of Columbia. Congress barred PAD from doing so in states which exercise similar powers to conserve gas for defense industries.

PAD officials said only three states—Maryland, Ohio and Virginia—have indicated they will do so.

The order applies in Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, and in portions of West Virginia and Kentucky.

It does not apply to manufactured gas, nor does it curb use of natural gas for cooking, heating water, refrigeration or incidental house-heating.

House Agrees To Take Recess While Senate Catches Up

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The House has agreed to take a recess starting Thursday and ending September 12—three weeks away.

It shouted approval of the plan Tuesday. And in the Senate, which is not nearly so far along with its legislative work, Democrats arranged to meet Thursday night to talk over plans for adjournment of Congress by October 1.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, party floor leader, said he called the meeting in an effort to reach an agreement among the Democrats to push pending legislation.

McFarland told his colleagues Tuesday that "we'll be here until Christmas" unless Senate work is speeded. He said senators "waste one day a week" or its equivalent on "useless quorum calls," designed to bring to the floor enough senators to conduct business.

"It's got to stop," he said. Another quorum call—talking about 20 minutes—followed his remarks.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Wayne Bishop, Skyhaven Trailer Courts, suffered knee and abdomen injuries in an automobile accident on the Rankin highway Tuesday. She was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

SELF-SERVICE SPRAYING STALL—Agriculture experts of the University of Illinois rigged up this bovine "beauty parlor" at Dixon Spring, Ill., where fly-tortured cattle can get relief. When Bossie walks through the stall, she trips a bellows mechanism that releases insecticide over her body, killing pesky horseflies.

New Residents Told Of Tax Deadline On Out-Of-State Cars

New Midland County residents have only nine more days in which to register their out-of-state automobiles in Texas without the payment of a special $15 tax ordered by the 52nd Texas Legislature.

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed said Wednesday the newly-amended motor vehicle sales tax law, providing for such a tax, becomes effective September 1.

The $15 tax is one of the provisions of the new statute whose purpose "is to impose a use tax upon motor vehicles brought into this state by new residents of this state."

Speed said also all automobiles owned by residents of Texas must bear Texas license plates, regardless of the length of time they have lived here.

The new tax applies also to firms or corporations domiciled or doing business in this state.

Levy On Exchanges After September 1, a person making application for the initial certificate of title in Texas shall pay the $15 tax.

He is not liable for the tax, however, if the normal 1.1 per cent motor vehicle sales tax already has been paid in Texas on that particular automobile.

The amended law also provides that when automobiles are traded on an even exchange, each party must pay a tax of $5. When a person makes a gift of a motor vehicle, he shall pay a tax of $10.

Where transactions are based on an exchange of vehicles or are transferred as a gift, both parties are required to file a joint affidavit setting forth the complete facts, describing the nature of the transaction.

Gulf, Melben Obtain 800,000-Acre Lease On Mississippi Lands

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—An oil lease second in size only to that held by Humble Oil & Refinery Company on the King Ranch in Texas was obtained Tuesday by two Pittsburgh oil companies.

The lease covers 800,000 acres of state-owned land in Mississippi. It was obtained by Gulf Refining Company and the Melben Oil Company. Humble's lease on the King Ranch covers one million acres.

Officials said exploratory work will begin at once.

Congressman Set To Heckle Russians At San Francisco

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A congressman is paying his own way to the Japanese peace conference for the avowed purpose of heckling the Russians if they make trouble.

Rep. O. K. Armstrong (R-Mo) announced Tuesday he will attend the September 4 San Francisco meeting in an unofficial capacity to "take on x x x Gromyko and company x x x if they start any long-winded propaganda talks."

"It's time to stand up to these disturbers of world peace and tell them where to head in," the former author, newspaperman, world traveler and lecturer said.

Painted Questions

Armstrong said he will be loaded with enough material to talk a solid week if necessary. His material includes seven pointed questions he believes will make the Reds face Red. For example:

"Is it true that your government knew of the impending attack on Pearl Harbor, without letting us know about it, at a time when we were pouring out lend-lease to help Russia? If so, wasn't that a rotten way to treat an ally?"

"You Soviet delegates traveled the whole breadth of our country to get out here, free to see anything or talk to anyone you wanted to, without any secret police following or harassing you. Will you let my wife and me do that when we travel to Russia, as we hope to this fall?"

"You were in the war with Japan less than six days. The U. S. and our true Allies were in the war 1,378 days. My country suffered 301,393 casualties of which 108,708 were killed, at a cost of at least $100,000,000,000. Why should you come to San Francisco and tell us how to write a peace treaty with Japan?"

Court Reverses Perjury Conviction Of U. S. Economist

NEW YORK —(AP)— The U. S. Court of Appeals Wednesday reversed the conviction of William W. Remington, former government economist, on charges of perjury in denying he had ever been a member of the Communist Party.

The decision, written by Chief Judge Thomas W. Swan, was unanimous. The case was returned to the district court for a new trial.

Remington, 33, was found guilty February 7. Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan imposed the maximum sentence of five years and a $2,000 fine.

The reversal was based in large part on technical grounds. Swan agreed with the defense that the definition of membership in the Communist Party, contained in the charge to the jury, was too "vague and indefinite."

Concurring were former Chief Judge Learned Hand and Judge Augustus N. Hand.

Hurricane—

schools and public buildings, where hundreds already had taken refuge. Many "drenched and frightened towns-people crowded into churches to pray as the winds screamed."

Firesmen said they had "unaccountable" reports of houses blown down. They kept a record only of those from which they had to pull families out of the wreckage.

Port authorities feared for the safety of the Mexican tanker Veracruz, which had sheltered behind a point on the coast south of Tampico. Her radio was silent after the storm started. Another tanker, the "18 de Marzo," wirelessless she was riding out fierce winds and high seas in the shelter of Lobos Island, also south of the port.

City trucks drove as far as they could into the flooded districts, bringing out refugees. The heavy rain and rising waters of the Panuco River, which curves on two sides of Tampico already had flooded many low-lying suburbs. The center of the city, on high ground, was safe from the flood but exposed to the full blast of the gale.

Mountainous Waves

The people had spent a tense, sleepless, prayerful night. Hundreds sought shelter in school houses and other buildings stronger than their own homes.

Mountainous waves, 10 feet higher than normal, pounded the coast during the night as the hurricane rushed at the city after whirling around in the gulf for half a day.

Waters from the suddenly swollen Panuco River and two lagoons, the Chairel and Carpintero, overflowed, flooding the lowlands.

Soldiers throughout the night patrolled the streets, many streets with cars caught in the fierce showers.

Ambulances stood ready to pick up those injured when the storm struck.

Dozens of railroad cars were kept in the station for a possible evacuation. The storm struck before they could get away.

Farmers of the area feared for the loss of their 75,000-ton corn crop, the biggest in years.

Two Fishermen Drown

Two members of a fishing trawler crew were drowned Tuesday night in the Gulf of Mexico. East of Brownsville, Texas, when high winds off the hurricane swamped their boat. Brownsville is some 270 miles north of Tampico. They were Willis Trahan, 28, and the trawler's master, Roy Fontenau, both of Brownsville.

Tampico residents, laid in supplies of food and strengthened their houses for the big storm. Oil companies threw up protective barriers in the oil fields around here.

North of the city, on up the coast almost to the border with Texas—some 250 miles—is uninhabited desert land.

Body Washed Ashore

Winds at the core of the hurricane are said to reach 115 to 130 miles an hour. They extend 75 miles in all directions from the center.

Raging seas, lashing Mexico's gulf coast, washed a man's body ashore Tuesday night near Vera Cruz, a port 230 miles southeast of Tampico. Officials said the body probably was that of a crewman off some ship in the gulf. For miles on either side of Vera Cruz, huge waves battered the shore.

Dispatches from Merida, Mexico, said the storm wrought havoc when it swept across Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula Monday. Farmers said the corn crop was ruined.

The hurricane took its heaviest toll in the peninsula's eastern part. Calumul reported 57 homes destroyed. The electric system at Port of Progreso was damaged severely. Movie houses and several homes were wrecked in Tigmilux. Some business houses there were smashed by falling palm trees.

In the United States, big waves beat against the shore as far up the Texas Gulf coast as Galveston.

SOLDIER'S ART—An artistic pattern is blazed across the sky by tracer bullets as a group of recruits goes through a battle indoctrination course at the Signal Corps Replacement Training Center, Camp Gordon, Ga. In foreground, rookies are seen crawling over the "battlefield" while live bullets crack overhead. These courses are part of the Army's program of making rookie training as much like actual battle as possible.

Boys Ranch Founder Is Lions Speaker

"More boys' ranches would cut the population of our penitentiaries," Cal Farley told members of the Midland Lions Club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Farley is founder of the famous Boy's Ranch at Amarillo. He used examples of several West Texas boys who made good at the ranch and who have become useful citizens.

"Perhaps some of these are right here in your city," he stated.

In fact, Farley said only recently two boys from the ranch had gone to work for a company in Midland and were doing well. He plans to visit them here.

"The help of persons like yourselves has made Boy's Ranch possible," Farley said. "It's a great mission."

He described how the ranch rehabilitates boys and how it deals with them—no "holier than thou" attitude is assumed.

Roy Minear was program chairman and introduced Farley. J. P. (Kit) Carson presided.

Jimmie Jeffries, who is appearing here in an Optimist club benefit presentation, was a special guest and spoke briefly on "Americanism." The radio celebrity said the only way for us ever to lose our American way of life would be by the poison of intolerance.

Joan Dobbs, also in the Optimist presentation, gave a speaking skit.

tion authorities and Air Force officers.

The proposal to use the Airpark as an auxiliary by the Big Spring base was brought to the attention of the council more than a month ago.

Ask One-Day Trial

"Since then," said Oswalt, "I have heard indirectly they already are planning to extend the north-south runway 2,000 feet, which would indicate they plan to use jet planes."

Reese Air Force Base authorities, seeking a port for temporary landing practice for B-25 bombers, asked permission to have a one-day trial practice at the Airpark to determine if such use would be too hazardous. If it appeared so, they would move to the Air Terminal, using one of the runways parallel to those used by civilian traffic.

This proposal, too, was rejected by the council.

Members of the council attending the meeting were Wilkinson, Mayor Perry Pickett, J. B. McCoy, R. B. (Bum) Cowden and Johnny Starr. City Aviation Director Clyde Sharrer also was present.

Japanese Believe Russians Will Sign Treaty Next Month

TOKYO —(AP)— There is a growing belief in this country that Russia will do the unexpected and sign the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco next month.

Reliable, if unofficial, Japanese circles express the view that the Russians will sign after putting up a strong fight for inclusion of one major provision.

They say the Reds will agree to keeping an American military establishment in Japan—but will demand a definite date for departure. They are opposed to a unilateral treaty between Japan and the United States.

This view was expressed despite Tuesday night's threats from the Chinese Reds' Peiping radio that Japan's acceptance of a peace treaty not approved by both Red China and Russia would be considered an act of war.

Red China wasn't invited to the peace treaty conference. Soviet Russia accepted after considerable delay.

The feeling around Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway's headquarters had been that the Soviet delegates enroute to San Francisco are carrying brief cases loaded with monkey wrenches.

But Japanese sources predict the Russians will sign the treaty if they can thus prevent a separate treaty between the U. S. and Japan.

Save That Raincoat For 1953 Advises Expert On Weather

AUSTIN —(AP)— You won't need that raincoat much next year either. Keep it handy for 1953.

That's the advice of Abraham Streiff, hydraulic engineer who has studied weather cycles for 30 years for dams he has built over the world.

Streiff has just completed work on the Lower Colorado River Authority's two new dams above Austin, the Granite Shoals and Marble Falls dams.

"In 1953 you'll see those big floods come back to the Colorado," he said. "But don't look for them before then."

Where does he get that idea?

From Texas' weather statistics that for years have followed roughly the same general seven-year cycle, ranging from bad drought-years to peak rainfall years and then back to drought again.

Systematic Sequence

"There's a certain rhythmic recurrence, a certain systematic sequence that makes it possible for us to foretell with reasonable assurance just what to expect in the way of rainfall and runoff for years ahead," he said.

"Of course, conditions may not conform locally to the pattern. You may get rains during a dry year at one place and a dry spell during wet years in another place, but if you study the area as a whole you'll find the cycles."

Texas is just pulling out of the trough of one of those dry periods. Streiff's studies of weather cycles have been published in weather observers' official publications.

To be considered for any of these positions the applicants must be college graduates, the supervisor said. Persons interested in any of the openings should see Greer at the commission's office in the Petroleum Building in Midland.

Salaries for all persons employed by the Railroad Commission, and by most other state organizations are to be increased on September 1 as a result of laws passed during the 1961 session of the legislature.

Pattern Of One Well To 40 Acres Is Set For Spraberry Area

Forty-acre spacing pattern and an allocation formula based on 100 per cent acreage for all future wells drilled in the Spraberry trend of West Texas has been adopted by the Railroad Commission.

The new policy in regard to Spraberry development was revealed in a memorandum to all operators in District 8 and 7-C, which stated that evidence at various hearings had indicated the Spraberry wells in Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Midland, Martin, Reagan, Upton and Howard County probably were producing from a single huge reservoir.

The new policy, which includes a 20-acre tolerance for the last well on a lease, is similar to the field rules now in effect for the Tex-Harvey, Germania, Driver, Weiner-Floyd, Pembroke and North Pembroke Spraberry pools.

The policy will cover all wildcats and extensions in areas which do not presently have field rules.

All applications to drill in the trend must indicate the tests are to be taken to the Spraberry.

Completion was through a one-half-inch tubing choke.

Gas-oil ratio was 542-1 and tubing pressure was 285 pounds.

The pay section was given a 3,000-gallon Hydracrac treatment.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the west half of section 48, block Y, TC survey and 12 miles northeast of Rankin.

The above five completed wells bring the total number of Spraberry producers in the four county area, Midland, Reagan, Glasscock, Upton) to 383.

Indians Bump Broncos Flurry In Eighth Brings 12-6 Victory

By TANNER LAINE

The Midland Indians went on the warpath in the eighth inning Tuesday night, "busting" wide open a game with the Big Spring Broncos with a spray of hits that covered Indian Park like a water sprinkler. The Bonuramen went on to win, 12-6, coming from behind to turn the trick.

In that eighth inning flurry, the Tribe tabbed nine runs on nine hits and one Bronco error. Thirteen men paraded to the plate and out flew an assortment of extra base knocks that had Big Spring pitchers gun-shy and the centerfielder's tongue hanging out.

Here is a run down on the outburst, which came when Midland was trailing 3-6: Hayden White opened with a double. Kenny Jones singled. Julio de la Torre skied out to second base. Gordon Tanner walked. In came big Zeke Bonura to pinch hit for Escobar.

And hit he did, pumping a roaring double that brought in White and Jones. Campbell walked. J. B. (Gipper) Gibbs came in as a pinch hitter for Blumenthal. The Gipper lashed a singing triple that scored Tanner, Bonura and Campbell.

And still it went on. Scooper Hughes singled scoring Gibbs. Stan Wilcox tripled, bringing in Hughes. White got his second rap of the frame, scoring Wilcox. Jones produced his second hit of the frame and was out at the plate stretching a long blow that got away from the centerfielder. Kenny was legging it for an in-park homer. De la Torre walked. Tanner banged a hit but de la Torre was nipped at third.

Opens As Duel
The game got underway as a pitching duel between Bruce Blumenthal of Midland and Manny Fernandez of Big Spring. Both hurlers used only seven pitches in retiring the respective teams in the first frame. Blumenthal used only eight in setting the Broncos out in the second.

But in the fifth stanza, Big Spring broke the ice. Four unearned tallies came across as the Indians had a streak of overthrows. And in the sixth, Felix Gomez opened with a homer for the Broncos.

Midland got one tab in the sixth on a walk by White, single by Jones and some bad throwing by the Broncos. The Tribe noticed two more in the seventh with Hughes hitting in Campbell and Blumenthal. Campbell was on by fielder's choice and Blumenthal had singled.

Big Spring brought in Tony Iglesias to put out the fire in the seventh and he promptly struck out Wilcox. But on that next inning, Iglesias got his, but good, and so did his relief, Arencebia.

The Broncos had tallied one in the top of the eighth on a triple by Ungo and a double by Quintana. Then came the roaring bottom of the eighth. And as if to put a final touch on the evening, a sprinkle of cooling rain fell on the happy Midland fans as they left the ball park.

"Old Timers" Tilt Slated

"Old men," get out your baseball gloves.

In Indian Park the night of September 3, last home game date of the Midland Indians, there will be an "old-timers" three-inning baseball game.

It will precede the Midland-San Angelo Longhorn League clash.

All former baseball players of Midland, 40 and over that is, are invited to play. Participants should register with Zeke Bonura at the ball park.

Fans will enjoy the "game." For the first time in Midland, baseball players will be wearing shorts. Yessir, the "old men" will play in abbreviated bibs.

It's all for fun and will be made an annual affair.

Bonura urged "old men" to get their names in the pot for the game. J. C. Smith, retired Midland merchant, was the first to sign up.

Can't you just see Chester Shepard, John Butler and even Colonel Wright stretching a single into a triple?

Proposed Replay Of Tilt Ruled Out

BATON ROUGE, LA. —(P)—A proposed replay of the title game of the sixth Regional American Legion baseball tournament was ruled out Tuesday night by the national administrator of the Legion baseball program.

The Austin, Texas, Buddies were declared regional winners after Holsum of New Orleans failed to appear here at 2 p.m. Tuesday to complete a protested game.

Cavarretta Signed As Cubs Manager
PHILADELPHIA —(P)—Phil Cavarretta of the Chicago Cubs now knows what people mean when they say "Don't believe everything you hear."

For Tuesday, a month to the day following the stop-gap appointment that placed his dream title "manager of the Cubs" behind Cavarretta's name, the Cub front office changed its mind.

It signed the 35-year-old first baseman-outfielder and 17-year Cub star to manage the club through 1952.

Sweetwater used a five-run first inning to down Vernon, 8-4. Vernon counted all its runs in the fourth.

Midland came from behind with a nine-run eighth inning to dump Big Spring, 12-6. Roswell used a four-run first and a seven-run eighth to shell Artesia, 14-3. Odessa had two three-run innings in downing San Angelo, 8-0.

32 Women Survive St. Paul Match Play

ST. PAUL, Pa.—A hopeful group of 32 women—survivors in the first round of match play Tuesday—moved into the most brutal phase of the Women's National Amateur Golf Tournament Wednesday.

For 24 of the group it meant elimination.

If Tuesday's play gave any hint of what may happen, some well-known names were due for oblivion as far as this year's meet is concerned.

What might be an omen of the future came Tuesday with elimination of Grace Lenczak, Newington, Conn., the 1948 title winner, by Gloria Fecht, Los Angeles, 6-5.

Fans Might Ask For Overtime

By The Associated Press
Texas League clubs are playing extra inning games so regularly the players should ask for overtime.

Tulsa needed 11 innings to shade Beaumont, 2-1. Fort Worth had to go 10 innings to nip San Antonio by the same score.

The Fort Worth victory moved the Cubs within three games of Beaumont and the Dallas Eagles in fourth place. The Eagles were shut out by Houston, 4-0.

Oklahoma City edged Shreveport, 8-7.

Three Loop Games Are Rained Out

By The Associated Press
The West Texas-New Mexico League had three games rained out Tuesday night.

Only Lubbock and Pampa were able to play. Pampa won, 3-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Mack Hyde.

FORMER GRID STAR KILLED

WICHITA FALLS —(P)—Billy Jack Christopher, 20, of Wichita Falls, was killed Tuesday when struck by a truck in the business district here.

He was a former Wichita Falls High School football player and a track man at Midwestern University here.

There's just one thing wrong with baseball—it should be more like football and basketball.

Not that we think defensive players should be allowed to tackle the baserunners, nor do we advocate a "free shot" by the players after an infraction of the rules.

But those infractions of the rules are baseball's problem.

In football, if you argue with the referee, he merely steps off yardage until you hush, or penalizes you as severely as the law allows. Then he tosses you from the game, with a minimum of jaw work.

And, in basketball, if you disagree with the official, the opposing team gets a free toss and possession of the ball and you get an early shower—but quick.

Not so in baseball, where the umpires are supposed to be lord and master of all they survey.

Far too many times—especially in the lower minors such as the Longhorn League—umpires let players get away with murder. They stand and wait while teams stall, managers rant and rave and the fans go crazy.

Of course, we realize the caliber of umpiring in the lower minors normally is enough to make Abner Doubleday turn over in his grave, but the umpire still is supposed to be the big cheese.

In order to eliminate some of this unnecessary squabbling, why not set up a penalty program for baseball?

Suppose a manager comes up to argue on a strike. Tell him to leave. If he doesn't, wave the baserunners on around to the next base. If there is no baserunner on, put the man at bat or, if the situation is reversed, set the runners back a base.

Now, if the manager still insists on disagreeing, wave them around until he sees he's fighting a losing battle.

Then, if he persists, toss him from the game. That would eliminate much of this yack-yacking that goes on in all ball parks.

Of course, if the dispute is over ground rules or technicalities, the umpire should hear the manager out.

But when he reaches his final decision—one way or another—then the manager should have to accept or face the penalty program.

It's unfair to managers, you say, since baseball is more of a "judgment" game than any other?

We disagree. Granted, it's a game of judgment. But we've never seen an umpire reverse his decision yet when a manager beefs about a ball and a strike call. He's just killing time, keeping the spectators up late, and in fact, at times he's making the umpire mad enough to give him the worse of the call later on.

Your next argument is that baseball is a professional game, it's the players' livelihood and there's no room for an "iron hand" in it.

Then how about pro football and basketball? Fellows make their living that way too, but they abide by the officials' rules without taking time out to beef about a decision every three or four plays.

Maybe you think it's just a crackpot idea. And maybe it is. But we'd like to see something done to take the "yack" out of baseball.

We seriously believe it would be a tremendous help to the game.

Bob Feller reached another milestone Tuesday. The Cleveland pitcher returned to the list of 20-game winners after three years. He did it with a 6-0 shutout victory over Washington.

Feller became the first major league pitcher to reach the mark this season. No other has more than 17 wins.

New York held the pace a game back of the Indians. The Yanks took Detroit, 14-4.

St. Louis dumped the Boston Red Sox, 6-4. Chicago beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-5.

Two Midland Golf Entries Qualify In Gotham Tourney

NEW YORK —(P)—Defending champion Sam Urzetta and five former titlists head the record field of 1,426 in the 1951 National Amateur Golf Tournament.

The tournament will be held at Bethlehem, Pa., September 10-15.

These champions are among 11 who will be exempt from sectional qualifying trials August 28 at 32 scattered centers throughout the nation.

In these tests, a total of 1,415 players will compete for 189 places in the bracket. The field will number 200, 10 less than in 1950.

Other past champions in the field are: Charles (Chick) Evans, Richard D. Chapman, Stanley E. (Ted) Bishop, William Turnesa and Charles R. Coe of Oklahoma City.

Chapman won the British Amateur this year. Two other former British champions will be in the field, both exempt from qualifying. They are Robert Sweeney of New York who won in 1937, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, who won in 1948 and 1950.

Of the 42 entries at Dallas, seven qualified. The same number qualified among Houston's 51 entries. Two of 12 entries from Midland, Texas, qualified.

Murphy And Maxim Tangle Wednesday

NEW YORK —(P)—Confident Bob Murphy predicts he will knock out light heavyweight king Joe Maxim and become the new champion about 8:30 p.m. (CST) Wednesday night.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds. And with a left hook to the body," said the husky, hard-hitting San Diego red-head as he awaited the 8 p.m. starting gong for the 15-round title scrap in Madison Square Garden. The bout will be broadcast by CBS.

The bettors lean strongly to Murphy. By fight time, the California southpaw may be favored by 2 to 1 or more.

General Ike Becomes Europe's Symbol Of The Will To Survive

PARIS—(NEA)—A big black limousine tagged with five stars rolls up to a building set in the rolling woods of suburban Marly-le-Roi. Two more cars come to halt just behind the first.

Out of the limousine steps Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization armies. With a faint show of discomfort, he glances for a second at the other cars. They contain U. S. and French Security Service men assigned to him. An unassuming man, he doesn't enjoy being trailed every place he goes.

It's eight in the morning, and the general's jam-packed day is beginning. He walks briskly into the main building of the new NATO group at Marly. His office in Wing A-4 is the real capitol of the European defense system.

Actually, it's more than that. For in the eyes of the great and the ordinary men of Europe, "Ike" is not just a military commander. He's a symbol of the free world's will to survive and live in peace. The Europeans see Eisenhower as a man dedicated intensely to the task of preventing war. They feel he has made their cause his own.

Amazing Progress
And, midway in his first year as NATO commander, the general has already achieved remarkable progress toward the military unification of Europe. His solid accomplishments in building a Western defense army have stirred the greatest confidence Europe has seen since World War II ended.

Because he occupies a special role, men of all walks from all NATO lands beat a path to his door. Thus he bears two burdens. The job of building the NATO armies into a force formidable enough to deter Russian aggression, and the job of explaining and discussing his efforts with an endless stream of visitors.

He may talk labor problems with an Allied general, and defense matters with a labor leader. Not long ago, for instance, he talked with Jacob Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, about the importance of Spanish air and naval bases to general European defense.

Potofsky and Irving Brown, AFL representative in Europe, spent many hours with "Ike." They report

They beat a path to his door: Allied statesmen, generals and other visitors keep Eisenhower busy. There are ceremonies, too, like this one he shared with French President Auriol.

His role is symbolic: Moral and psychological matters affecting Europe's defense, as well as political and military affairs, occupy Eisenhower. Here he has a warm greeting for a French youngster at Omaha Beach on D-Day anniversary.

always the generous host, even though he himself eats frugally.

Two years ago, after a serious illness, he had to give up smoking. Since then he's had to watch his diet. Lunch, for example, consists mostly of fruits and vegetables.

Lately the deluge of visiting firemen has been especially heavy, with platoons of congressmen and other U. S. politicians coming in waves. Most appear hopeful the general will drop a hint about his political plans.

They tell newsmen, however, that when they seem to be warming him up on that topic he always steers them away to harmless generalities.

Occasionally a report crops up that the horde is getting "Ike" down. His aids point out that the steady trek of outsiders to Wing A-4 certainly robs him of time he needs both for work and relaxation.

Likes Golf
The general likes his golf game. It's his big escape. Too often these days he has to give it up, and he finds it hard to keep fit for the 14- and 16-hour days he puts in at his desk.

Nevertheless, the visitor can't detect any sign that Eisenhower's naturally frank and friendly manner has suffered. To the interviewer, he still has all the simplicity and freshness of the Kansas country boy. He is bearing his burdens well.

He behaves like a man who understands his symbolic role and regards it as a great public trust. His pursuit of his goals is tireless. Nothing affecting the defense of Europe—whether military, political, moral or psychological—escapes his attention.

Like the famous German general, von Clausewitz, he sees war as merely the continuation of diplomacy in the field of force. Like von Clausewitz, too, he is said to feel it is the moral forces which are the "noble metal, the sharp and gleaming sword," with material forces only the "wooden scabbard." Thus his book on World War II was titled "Crusade in Europe."

Eisenhower's "Little Pentagon" in Marly forest, once the private shooting preserve of France's president, is the physical proof of the general's efforts to mold the Western nations together in a new crusade for freedom.

SHAPE's international character is plain. The 12 flags of the member nations fly atop the buildings. Men and women from all those lands, speaking their varied tongues, crowd the corridors. Some 225 Allied officers and 450 enlisted personnel make up "Ike's" staff.

They're all working toward a single objective—the preservation of peace and the defense of the free world against Soviet aggression. Many Europeans feel the unity gained there in defense may hasten the day of political unity for Europe.

Irony Seen
Should that happen, future historians may find it ironic that an American general succeeded where far-sighted European statesmen so often failed. For no one questions that it is Eisenhower's magic, his crusading sense of dedication, that have welded these nations into the purposeful combination they represent today.

He has proved the one man capable of restoring postwar Europe to confidence and galvanizing its shaky nations into active resistance against the Kremlin.

Early each evening, as he climbs into his car and heads back to his five-room apartment in Versailles, the general may have a moment again to reflect uncomfortably about those two cars behind him. He never protests. He knows they're one measure of the esteem free men everywhere have for him and the job he is doing.

The Bedford Place

Grace and substantial beauty are embodied in this new three bedroom home of El Paso brick, located just a stone's throw from the Country Club. Now ready for color selection.

The recessed entrance leads through a hallway into the roomy, cheerful living room, complete with wood-burning fireplace. The living room opens into the dining room, which has access in turn to the large patio. The kitchen measures 12x15 feet, and its features include a two-foot ceramic tile drainboard, a super-abundance of stained knotty pine cabinets. It is plumbed for dishwasher and disposal unit, with instantaneous hot water. An electrically-controlled vent is built over the range location. Breakfast room and laundry room are just off the kitchen.

The stained knotty pine den provides a lovely view of the quiet street and the grounds of the Country Club. All three massive bedrooms have large, walk-in closets with sliding doors to facilitate easier furniture arrangement. Three storage closets in the long hall.

The two large, ceramic tile bathrooms include dressing table and glass-doored shower stall, and the best Crane colored fixtures are installed.

Phone jacks have been placed in the den, the kitchen and the master bedroom. Central heating unit has been installed, and ducts to handle air conditioning. Recessed lighting and mahogany doors throughout. The double garage is completely finished inside, and has three enclosed storage closets.

Here is a home for the most discriminating family, one that will be a daily joy for the rest of your life. For appointment to see, at any time, call

Russia May Boost Final Lend-Lease Settlement Offer

WASHINGTON—(P)—Russia has indicated it is willing to go higher than its last offer of $240,000,000 in settlement of its lend-lease account with the U. S.

The Soviet received $11,000,000,000 worth of U. S. goods during the war, but this government has been willing to settle for $800,000,000 or less, on the basis that most of the total amount of goods had no peace-time value.

The State Department, after settlement talks were resumed Tuesday said Moscow's negotiators had agreed to up their previous "final offer" but did not say how much. Talks will resume Friday.

The Russians refused, however, to return 670 small Naval vessels they got from the U. S. during the war. They contend the U. S. wished an agreement to sell the ships, and that anyway, only 498 of them are left. They did agree to return two icebreakers.

Willoughby Likens Red Spying In U. S. To Network In Japan

WASHINGTON—(P)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, former Army intelligence chief in the Far East, Wednesday said he believes the same kind of Communist spying and intrigue disclosed in Japan is going on now in the United States.

Willoughby testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee about the famous "Sorge Ring," a Soviet spy network which reached into high up Japanese circles.

A Senate subcommittee also was digging into subversive activities with Louis Budenz, ex-Communist editor, in the witness chair. Budenz told the senators that when he was in the party he left it six years ago, the Institute of Pacific Relations was "completely under control" and the Communists spoke of it as "the little red school house."

Budenz is a former editor of the "Daily Worker," Communist publication. He broke publicly with the party in 1945 and is now on the faculty of Fordham University.

The one-time Communist leader testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The senators are inquiring into whether there have been subversive influences on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) contends the IPR has influenced official policy.

Budenz told the senators he attended Communist Politburo meetings at which IPR officials received orders from the then Communist leader, Earl Browder.

Within IPR ranks, he said, was "a joint Communist cell with America." Amerasia was a magazine dealing with Asian affairs, but was not connected officially with IPR. It no longer is published.

Budenz said he knew from "official communications within the con-

Plans Complete For Unorthodox Identification Test

HOUSTON—(P)—Sheriff C. V. Kern said Wednesday he has completed arrangements for the unusual identification test to be attempted in the case of helpless Margaret Louise Allison, 13, who can neither talk nor write to indicate what she wants to say.

The sheriff said he plans to parade three or four prisoners and the 45-year-old meat cutter arrested as suspects before the child later Wednesday in the county jail.

Her parents believe they have been with the child, who has been helpless since birth, so long that they can tell from her expression if the suspect is the man who took her from their parked auto Sunday night outside a cafe, where her parents left her while they entered the cafe to get something to eat. The man denies any knowledge of the case.

Kern added that since the child was found unharmed 12 hours later in a ditch five miles from where she disappeared, District Attorney Sam W. ### Congress Extends Oil Compact's Life

WASHINGTON—(P)—A four-year extension of an Interstate Oil Compact in effect since 1935 would be authorized under a resolution on which Congress completed action Tuesday.

Farmers Warned To Fire Wetbacks

WASHINGTON—(P)—American farmers were warned by Secretary of Labor Tobin they must dismiss any illegal Mexican aliens on their payrolls by September 11 if they want to use Mexican farm workers who come into this country legally.

Many Mexican laborers have gained illegal entry to work on farms.

A migratory labor pact was signed August 11. Permission to use legal Mexican help may be denied to any employer who has "wetbacks" working for him 30 days after the agreement was signed.

Tobin said Tuesday the only Mexican nationals whom employers can hire legally will be those regularly contracted for and brought into reception centers in the United States by the American government.

Seeks Water, Strikes Oil, Plugs, Abandons

CORSICANA—(P)—John Bryant got angry because he struck oil in his back yard Monday. He wanted water.

He was trying to dig a water well when oil showed at 35 feet. Three to four barrels daily output was believed possible.

"I can't handle this oil," said the retired laborer who lives in a three-room house here. "It's a dangerous thing."

Fearing a gas pocket and knowing nothing about oil, he filled up the hole.
