Devonian Prospects Improve For Conoco In Yoakum Wildcat

Good possibilities for the development of commercial oil and gas production from the Devonian continue to be shown at Continental Oil Company No. 1 W. L. Rodgers, Northwest Yoakum County wildcat, 13 miles northwest of the town of Plains.

This prospector ran a two hour drillstem test in the Devonian at 12,075-178 feet. A 3,000-foot water blanket was used.

Recovery was 40 feet of clean oil, 270 feet of heavily oil and gas cut water blanket, 2,730 feet of oil cut water blanket and 480 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud. There were no signs of formation water.

Is Making Hole

The project is now making hole below 12,300 feet in Devonian lime. Top of the Devonian is at 12,075 feet. That is on a datum of minus 8,206 feet.

Location is 1,390 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 106, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Previous drillstem tests at 12,070-100 feet and at 12,065-130 feet, had both developed some shows of oil and gas cut mud, but neither of those investigations had found any free oil.

Andrews Discovery Flows 590 Barrels Of Oil In 24 Hours

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Tom Peay, Central-North Andrews County discovery from the Wolfcamp lime of the lower Permian flowed 590 barrels of pipe line oil in 24 hours through a 34/64th inch tubing choke.

The production came from perforated section at 9,227-50 feet which had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid. There were no signs of formation water.

Gas-oil ratio was 228-1. Gravity was 27.3 degrees.

May Perforate Lower

Operator is pulling tubing and may perforate and test at 9,273-9,300 feet, a little lower in the Wolfcamp.

Decision to test the lower interval had not been definitely made and operator may elect to complete the discovery from the 9,227-50 foot section.

Location is 12 miles north of the town of Andrews and 1,736 feet from east and 597 feet from south lines of section 6, block 314, Gaines County School Land survey.

Spraberry Wildcat Staked By Sinclair In Glasscock Area

In Southwest Glasscock County, two and one-half miles east of Spraberry production in the Driver field, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Calvery will be drilled as a 7,500-foot wildcat.

Drillsite has been set 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 31, block 36, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Operations are to start at once.

New Oil Swabbed From Spraberry In Midland Test

Swabbing 24 hours on open hole section in the Spraberry from 7,812 to 8,157 feet. The Texas Company recovered 57 barrels of new oil at its No. 1 Fletcher Curry, Spraberry wildcat in Central-West Midland County.

This possible discovery well was hydraulically using dual packers, from 7,855 to 7,995 feet and from 8,040 to 8,080 feet.

Operator is continuing to swab for production tests.

Location is one mile south of the Warfield multipay field and about two and one-half miles south of the Warfield switch on the Texas & Pacific Railway.

Exact location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 29, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Lion Is To Hunt For Oil In Spraberry In Crockett Wildcat

Lion Oil Company No. 2 Mrs. Maggie S. Neal is to be a 5,200-foot wildcat in Central-North Crockett County.

Location is 660 feet from south and 460 feet from west lines of section 68, block BB, TCRB survey. That makes it 16 miles southwest of Big Lake.

Near A Dry Hole

The prospector will be three and one-half miles east of production in the shallow Wolf field and one-

Tampico Digs Out In Wake Of Hurricane

TAMPICO, MEXICO—(AP)—The killer hurricane that raged over tropical seas all week, taking more than 150 lives and causing millions of dollars in damage, was blowing itself out Thursday in the mountains of Mexico.

The storm—described as the worst recorded in Mexico—spent its final fury over the oil port of Tampico Wednesday. At least one person was killed here and the damage was expected to run far above $1,000,000.

Officials estimated 4,000 families in Tampico were homeless, their houses destroyed, damaged or flooded.

At midnight, electric power still was off. Officials said because of the number of posts blown down, restoring service would take "a long time."

Ordinary telephone and telegraph service with the rest of Mexico also was interrupted.

There was no news of how the country inland in the path of the storm had fared.

Twenty-seven persons officially were reported injured here. Unverified reports placed the casualties as high as 300.

Hit Double Blow

Twice the fierce winds hit Tampico with destructive blows—first when the hurricane's front roared over, then when its back force followed up the mid-day calm of its central "eye."

Higher Beef Price Ceilings Promised In New OPS Plans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Beef price ceilings may go up a cent or two a pound on many cuts instead of being reduced a dime, as the government had planned.

Meat industry officials got word of the contemplated price boosts from aides of Price Control Boss Michael V. DiSalle and expected to get further details Thursday at a meeting with DiSalle himself.

Housewives probably will have to pay the penny or two extra a pound for beef round cuts. But ceilings on hamburger are likely to remain unchanged and some few price cuts on loin and rib cuts are expected.

But Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials made it clear to industry leaders at a meeting Wednesday that there will be a general boost in beef prices. They said the higher prices are required under the new Defense Production Act to compensate the industry for lagging cattle-by-product yields.

To Preserve Profits

The new law, under which mobilization officials have said living costs may go up five to eight per cent, requires ceilings to be fixed so normal profit margins are preserved.

Officials said prices for cattle hides now are about 25 per cent below ceilings and tallow prices about 33 per cent under ceilings, so greater profits from beef are needed to preserve the industry's profit position.

Earlier this year, DiSalle launched a beef price-cutting program, involving a series of rollbacks, designed to lower beef prices by a dime a pound this Autumn. The meat industry argued that this program would discourage beef production, and a Congress barred further beef price cuts.

Deere a month ago. The two met on a street.

Deere said Thomas accused him of selling it or having it hidden somewhere.

Thomas, officers said, told Deere, "I'll give you just two hours to get it, or I'll beat hell out of you."

Deere had said he had taken the drill to Midland, Texas, and turned it over to a Thomas associate.

Thomas went to Deere's home later, forced his way into the house and struck Deere. Then, officers said, Deere got his shotgun and blasted the Texas twit.

County Attorney R. H. Mills said Thomas and Deere had quarreled downtown over the drill and also over the sale of a truck by Deere to Thomas for $1,260. Deere said Thomas complained the truck battery was bad and that mud chains were missing.

Deere was charged with murder. He pleaded innocent at his arraignment.

Thomas' death came on the same day the Tarrant County special grand jury at Fort Worth adjourned after an investigation prompted by a nitro bomb assassination there last year. Thomas was a suspect.

Killed in the blast were Nelson Harris, gambler, and his pregnant wife. He also was a suspect in the gangland slayings at Fort Worth of Lon Holley and Que Miller. Both were shot in the head after being "taken for rides."

Thomas was questioned in the recent explosion death of Herbert Noble, Dallas gambler.

Rains, Winds Bring Cooler Weather To Many Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Many Texans enjoyed cool weather Thursday after drought-breaking rains. Others suffered while the thermometers soared above 100 degrees.

Heavy rains seeped into the thirsty soil in the South Plains. North Texas got some rain too. The Lower Rio Grande Valley got rain that lowered the temperatures but brought damage to field cotton, especially in the Brownsville area.

A hurricane blew into Mexico, 240 miles south of Brownsville, and made itself felt on the Texas coast in tides almost two to four feet above normal.

Plains Cotton Helped

Soaking rains in the South Plains guaranteed an expected cotton yield of 1,400,000 to 1,500,000 bales, said K. N. Clapp, veteran buyer for Anderson Clayton Company. Twenty counties around Lubbock got from an inch to two inches of rain.

Heavy rains fell at Brownsville but other valley points had lighter precipitation, few with more than a half-inch.

There was 1.35 inches of rain at Dallas. Thundershowers hit at Beaumont.

Some 100-plus temperatures prevailed in College Station, Cotulla and Presidio. Waco, Del Rio and Victoria had 100.

Kilgore had 224 inches of rain Wednesday night, accompanied by lightning. One home near Kilgore was struck by lightning and burned. Some highway signs were blown over by the winds.

Little Elm, in North Texas, had 2.25 inches, Tyler had .57 inch, and Dimmitt recorded .76 inch.

State Road System Breaking Up, Says Highway Chairman

If the next session of the Legislature does not guarantee a sound program for highway development and maintenance, Texas will become known as the state that once had a great highway system. E. H. Thornton, Jr., of Galveston, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, warned here Wednesday night.

The commission chairman, a prominent Galveston attorney, addressed a group of good roads enthusiasts from Midland, Martin, Crane and Glasscock Counties at a dinner-meeting held at the Midland Country Club.

The event, given by the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, honored Chairman Thornton and his Highway Commission associates—Commissioners R. J. Potts of Harlingen and Fred Wemple of Midland, and State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer of Austin.

Oil Fields Toured

The state officials arrived here by plane late Wednesday afternoon, and departed shortly before noon Thursday for Lubbock and Amarillo, after having been taken on a whirlwind tour of oil fields in the fast-developing Spraberry trend area of Midland and adjacent counties.

Commissioner and Mrs. Wemple were hosts to the dignitaries at a breakfast in their home here Thursday.

George Promises Lighter Tax Blow On Married Groups

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee Thursday said the final version of the group's personal income tax hike plan will ease the blow on middle income married groups.

George told newsmen that in no case would any taxpayer have to pay more under the Senate formula than he would under the bill the House has passed.

He said, however, no final decisions were reached Thursday morning and the committee would get together again on the matter in the afternoon.

Cool Weather Comes To Great Lakes Area

By The Associated Press

Cool weather, with temperatures down almost to freezing in some cases, overspread the Great Lakes region and the Northeastern States Thursday.

Cadillac, Mich., reported an early morning temperature of 32. Grand Marais, in Upper Michigan, had 34.

Action May End Parleys At Kaesong

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The Communists abruptly broke off the Korean armistice talks Thursday on neutrality violation charges which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway rejected as a frameup planned in advance.

Whether the long-staledated negotiations ever would resume was an open question, obscured by an outpouring of Red propaganda tirades and exchanges of strong language on both sides.

Communists made the break after a succession of charges building up to the climax at 1:45 a.m. Thursday.

First they charged Allied troops killed a Chinese patrol leader in an ambush near the conference site of Kaesong Sunday.

While the United Nations command was rejecting this as the work of civilian guerrillas, the Reds made a new charge that a Communist jeep with a white flag had been bombed, also Sunday.

Overlapping the UN reply that prior notice of vehicle movement was required, the Communists then roused Allied liaison officers from bed at Munsan early Thursday.

The Reds alleged an Allied plane had bombed Kaesong. An Allied investigation showed no UN planes were in the area.

The Communist liaison officer then told the Americans the conference was off.

A subcommittee meeting had been scheduled Thursday to discuss anew the disagreement on where to draw a truce buffer zone.

Acheson Plans New Big Three Meeting In Washington Soon

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson is making tentative plans to meet here with the British and French foreign ministers September 10 to review German problems and other key cold war issues.

Acheson has suggested, it was learned Thursday, that the American-British-French high commissioners plan separate conversations with the French and British foreign policy chiefs to discuss specific problems they have in conjunction with the U. S.

Officials said the number one item on the agenda probably will be a three-power agreement on Western Germany's manpower contribution to the proposed Atlantic Pact Army, led by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The U. S. and Britain are reported to back the idea of full German divisions to be integrated in this army, as demanded by the West German government. France is reported reluctant to accept this and is clinging to the idea of German combat brigades of 5,000 to 7,000 men with strict safeguards against a revival of the German general staff.

Acheson is hoping to get a common stand agreed upon in time to report to the 12 Atlantic Pact foreign ministers, who are to meet in Ottawa September 15 to discuss Western Germany's role in European defense, among other things.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

LONDON—(AP)—Britain late Thursday officially announced its determination to remain in Abadan until Iran permits oil production to resume, and warned it will take "the necessary measures" to insure safety of British personnel there if the Iranian government fails to do so.

ABADAN, IRAN—(AP)—Alec Mason, Anglo-Iranian Oil Company representative here, said Thursday he had ordered the entire British oil field staff of 268 to be moved out immediately and sent home to Britain.

NAPLES—(AP)—The Canadian vessel Campione Montrose docked here Thursday with 1,500 tons of Canadian arms and equipment for Italy, the first shipment in the arms aid program to come from any nation except the United States.

Army Cracks Down On Ordnance Chiefs After House Inquiry

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Army has relieved the commanding officer of an ordnance depot at Toledo, Ohio, where House investigators last week reported they had found evidence of "highly irregular conduct."

It announced last Wednesday that Col. S. W. McIlwain has been relieved of command of the Rosford Ordnance Depot, but gave no reasons. Chairman Hardy (D-Va.) of a House Expenditures subcommittee said last week the group had found evidence of "improper dealings" with contract-holding firms by procurement officials he did not name.

The Army also said that overseas orders of Brig. Gen. David J. Crawford, recently suspended as commanding officer of the Detroit Automotive Ordnance Center, have been held up.

Crawford had been assigned to go to Heidelberg, Germany, early in September, but the Army said he would remain on temporary duty in Detroit. It said an investigation ordered recently by Secretary of the Army Pace is continuing.

Pace ordered the inquiry after a congressional committee accused Crawford of accepting hotel hospitality from holders of government contracts and of using a government truck to move trees to his home in Maryland.

Crawford said he had done nothing wrong.

As for the suspension of McIlwain from his Toledo post, the Army said it was based on a preliminary inquiry by the inspector general's office. It added that "continuing action is being taken."

A statement by Representative Welch (R-Ohio) recently said the Rosford Depot, which McIlwain commanded, had paid as much as $3,800 each for repairs to Army motor vehicles although it had parts and equipment to do the work itself.

Free Youth Group To Work In Africa, Southeastern Asia

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—The non-Communist World Assembly of Youth will go into Africa and Southeastern Asia to set up educational programs designed to win young people away from the influence of Moscow.

An experimental center for mass education planned to reduce illiteracy in Africa. A leadership training institute will be established in Southeast Asia.

Sites for the projects will be chosen after consultation with youth groups and governments in the two areas.

The executive committee of the assembly announced the two-point program Wednesday. It carries out plans drafted by the governing council, which ended a six-day meeting Tuesday.

The council session was preceded by a 10-day general assembly that drew 500 young people from 22 non-member nations as well as from the 42 affiliated with the youth organization.

Young specialists and technicians from member countries are to set up the mass education center in Africa. They will use mobile units to travel into undeveloped areas where illiteracy is common.

Movie Business Is Made To Order For Couch Doctor

By EVELYN KEYES
(For Erskine Johnson, who is on vacation)

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—The way I've got it figured out, I'd rather pay money to a travel agency than to a psychiatrist.

Not that I've anything against psychiatrists. Some of my best friends support them. And need them. But when Hollywood's green hills and golden sunshine jangle my nerves I hop on a train or a plane instead of a confessional couch.

This has taken me to Europe, the Bahamas, Cuba, South America, and Mexico. It's expensive therapy but it works. And I'm a happier, better adjusted lass for it. For all this I give frequent thanks to a director-friend's story.

"When I get the Hollywood mumbo-jumbo," he said, "I walk out of the studio and get on the nearest street car or bus going to Los Angeles. I walk the streets and talk to people—just PEOPLE! Then I come back to work knowing a world exists outside of Hollywood."

That makes complete sense to me. My home and my career are in Hollywood and I appreciate the happiness and financial freedom I've gained here. But let's face it, the movie business is made to order for the couch doctor.

There are good reasons for this. Hollywood by its very nature is a place that manufactures dreams. Dreams aren't the easiest thing to conjure on film, either. Actors and actresses are supposed to breathe reality into the fiction that makes the saleable dream. After awhile you lose your sense of reality and real people, and become a dream world creature yourself.

Outside world people think so.

Moscow Renews Prediction Tito's Regime Must Fall

MOSCOW—(AP)—Marshall Klement Y. Voroshilov, a Soviet deputy premier and member of the Politburo, Thursday renewed Soviet predictions that the regime of Yugoslavia's Premier Marshal Tito "cannot long continue."

His words, spoken in Bucharest at the seventh anniversary celebration of Romania's liberation from the Nazis, echoed those of Deputy Premier Vyacheslav M. Molotov in Warsaw a month ago.

Voroshilov's remarks were published in all Moscow newspapers Thursday.

"The peoples of Yugoslavia," said the marshal, "will find the way and means for liquidating Tito's Fascist regime—the way and means of liberating their long suffering nation."

Mrs. Bogardus Visits England

Mrs. R. S. Bogardus of Midland returned recently from a four-month trip to England where she visited her family.

Highlights of the trip included the "Festival of Britain," the dog derby at White City and several plays and musicals. Although most of her vacation was spent in London, she also visited the seashore with her sister, Bettina Earl, and her sister's five-year-old twin sons.

For the trip to England, Mrs. Bogardus flew to New York where she embarked on the Queen Elizabeth. Her return trip was made on the Mauretania.

Mrs. H. L. Swords reviewed a chapter from the book, "Writing Magazine Fiction," Wednesday night at a meeting of the Midland Writers Group. Mary Lou Royer was the hostess.

Following her talk she read a story to illustrate the points which she had covered.

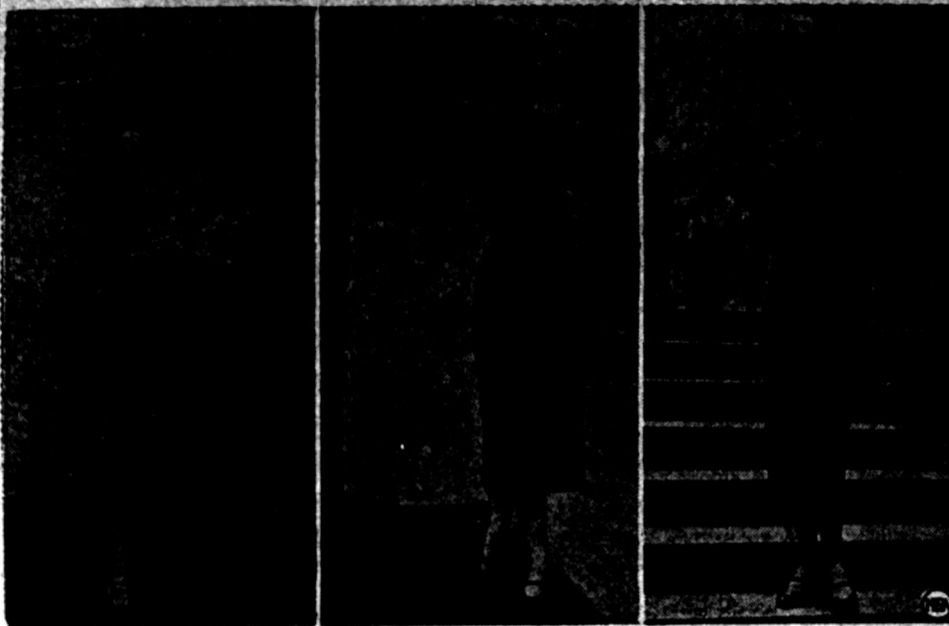

Others attending were Mrs. Ernest Stowell, Mrs. John S. Powell, Billy Abbott, K. J. Elliott, Mrs. F. B. Pennycook and Patsie Abbott.

Fall Offers Two Silhouettes

Feminine curves have come back to the campus. The boyish look has vanished. Coordinated separates (left) are brown-and-red checked skirt and stole worn with short-sleeved slip-on sweater in heather tan. Worned jersey dress (center) has simple, uncluttered lines. Suit (right) in gun club check has bloused, belted jacket and straight skirt. Checks are red-and-black.

NEW YORK — Almost every college girl wants to achieve, this Autumn, a casual yet well-groomed look. She'll find help in the new clothes designed for campus wear. In them, there are two distinct silhouettes: the one full-skirted, the other built around the over-bustle top and the straight skirt.

The sweater look is here again, this time in shaped-and-trimmed casual types, many with a turtle neck. The twin sweater plan is back in the form of styled cardigans to pair with sleeveless or halter tops.

The very full, new skirts are worn with shot-roped jackets that have bulk. But where the new over-bustle appears, and it's seen often.

We Should Allow Children To Criticize Our Faults

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
A Mother writes this question to me: Should we ever allow children to criticize our faults? Allow? We should encourage it. What's more, when they have pointed out a fault in us, we should suggest that they check our progress in overcoming it. I am afraid that I'm not as objective as I should be about this question. I have read too many case records of children driven into crime and penal institutions because of their belief that their parents are flawless human beings, condemned to suffer by bad wicked children. I knew one such child. He bit his nails so viciously that they sometimes bled. It was one of his ways of punishing himself for having failed a noble, long-suffering mother.

She was not noble and he was a deluded child. If the treatment he is receiving succeeds, he will lose his delusion and begin to see the confused, discouraged, fear-ridden human being his mother really is. Then he may begin to feel love for her. He will recognize his human kinship with her. He will feel the compassion that he was unable to feel for the paragon who was always good, always unselfish, never wanted to hit back.

Perhaps a wiser person than I knows how to persuade a child to admit his wrong to someone who believes he is never wrong. How can we ask a young human being to correct his wrong if he doesn't see older ones struggling to correct theirs? Well, I gave up figuring that one long ago.

Admit Shortcomings
Any father or mother who have got to first base in their child's affection have made a point of admitting they have shortcomings. Not apologizing for them, not being emotional, but saying, "Yes, I think that's true about me."

Take the lies we tell. We have just told a neighbor whom we don't like that we can't come to her bridge party because we have a dental appointment.

As we hang up the phone, our 13-year-old Mary says, "But you saw the dentist this morning, mother."

All right, we have two alternatives. We can say, "Mind your own affairs—children don't understand these things... don't you dare to be rude to your elders."

Or we can be honest. We can say, "Yes, I told her a lie and it makes me uncomfortable. It was stupid of me. I let myself be bullied by Mrs. Jones' tactless manner. Next time, I'll be on my toes. I will remember that we don't have to offer everyone explanations for what we do."

Which course of action do we think is calculated to inspire respect for a leader, and the truth whose virtue she preaches?

We don't train children to enhance the prestige of things such as truth. When we are discovered in untruthfulness, in impatience, in nagging and complaining, we should rejoice that our child feels free to rebuke us.

We should welcome our child's criticism and show him we mean what we say about good and bad people by going to work on the fault he has criticized. But if we get up on our high horse, and get mixed up with our personal dignity, we're licked before we start.

It's truth that has the dignity. How much we improve if it disciplines our own dignity.

Crusade For Freedom

The Crusade for Freedom is an organization fighting communism in highly imaginative and resourceful fashion. Its recent dispatch of 2,000 propaganda balloons toward Czechoslovakia is another proof.

Radio Free Europe had more latitude. At Munich, Germany, a 185,000-watt radio station went on the air this Spring, beamed to Czechoslovakia in direct competition with Russian-controlled Radio Prague.

As usual, the Reds tried every trick they knew to hamper these broadcasts. They jammed the transmitter, they exhausted their repertoire of interference devices.

Finally the Czech government formally appealed to the United States to shut the station down. This was the complete tribute to its effectiveness. Naturally, we said no, and Radio Free Europe today is blaring away at the vulnerable Czechs.

But with Gen. Lucius D. Clay at the helm and other enterprising Americans and Europeans lending heavy assistance, the Crusade for Freedom is not resting on its laurels. Two more powerful transmitters are planned for Germany, one to be beamed toward Poland, the other toward Hungary.

Later on the Crusade hopes to set up a similar station somewhere in Asia, to combat the spread of communism there.

In the meantime, Crusade leaders decided the spoken word wasn't enough to do the job they wanted to perform. So the idea of propaganda balloons, wafted behind the Iron Curtain on the prevailing westerly winds, was born.

Scientific weather studies and research into possible balloon materials followed. Eventually the plan was declared practical, and two kinds of plastic balloons were prepared. One resembles U. S. weather balloons, the other is so shaped that it is called a "plastic pillow."

The weather balloon bursts on reaching maximum altitude, scattering its contents far and wide. The pillow slowly settles to earth with its burden. The two balloons allow a range of from 100 to 700 miles, depending on their load and weather conditions.

No one can be sure so early in the experiment whether the balloons will do the job they're designed to do. But they nevertheless are a symbol of the Crusade's bold attack on the problem of getting the truth over, under, and through the Iron Curtain.

The Crusade soon will open a drive for more members and more money. It has earned the right to grow.

Timely Lesson For Iran

While Britain and Iran are sparring away over the bitter Iranian oil dispute, it should be noted that neighboring Iraq quietly has come to a satisfactory agreement with foreign firms over its own oil.

Under terms of the new pact, Iraq will get 50 per cent of the profits from oil taken from its soil. Three companies representing American, French and Dutch interests share jointly in exploitation of Iraq's oil resources.

Credit should go to the men who concluded this agreement in an atmosphere of great tension. There was fear that Iraq would follow Iran's lead, or at least delay action until final settlement of the Iranian problem, in the hope of perhaps getting a better deal.

This was genuine economic statesmanship. It has for a time at least, wiped out the prospect of a new trouble spot developing in the Middle East.

Moscow Planned It

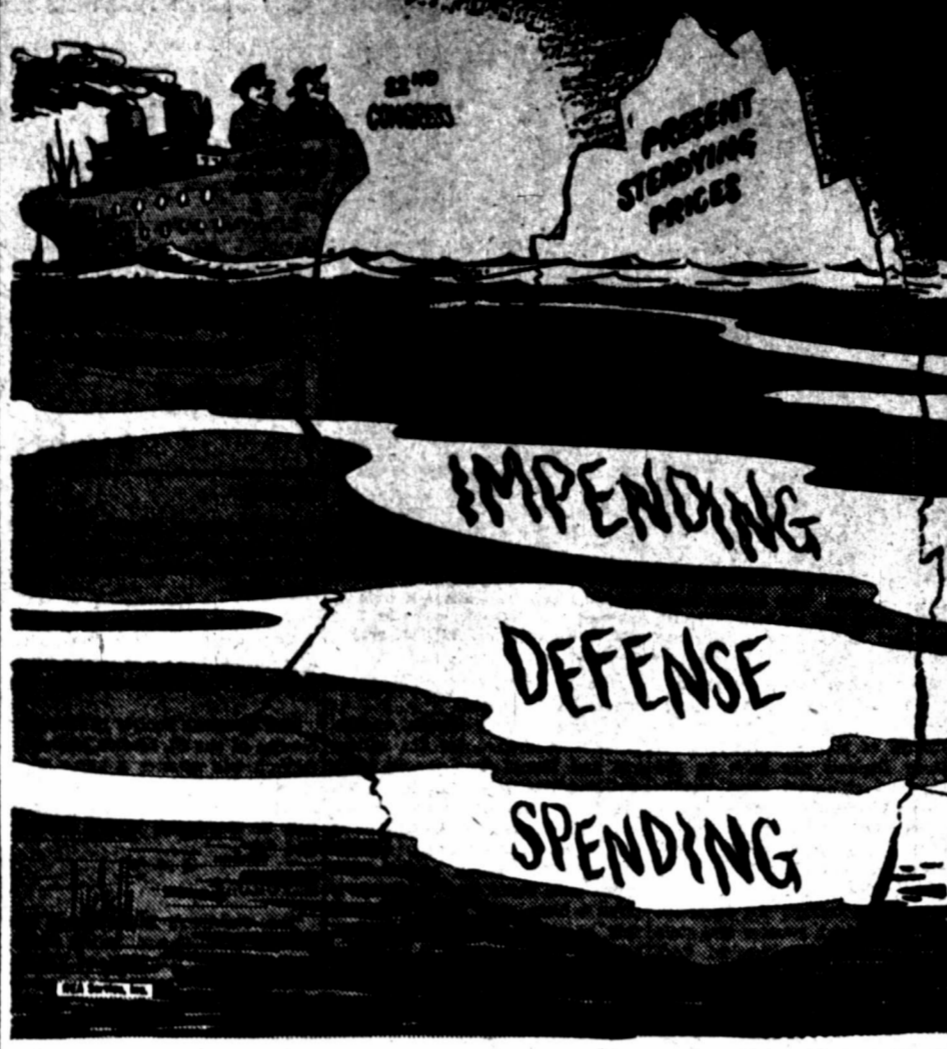

The day Korean truce talks resumed after a five-day break, General Nam Il of North Korea sat for two hours and 11 minutes in stony silence. In the Communist world, this is known as negotiating.

Wonder what a Communist thinks about at a time like that. He probably worries about what would happen to him back home if he opened his mouth before the planned period of strategic silence was up.

A judge advises, "Get all the enjoyment out of your home that you possibly can." And don't miss the fun in it! Too much planning and too little skimming is what makes a lot of unhappy homes.

'Doesn't Look Bad At All'

DRREW PEARSON ON 'The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND' Have a Laugh. (Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Russia's propaganda is planned cleverly; U.S. senators quibble over propaganda funds; Hungry East German line up for soup and noodles in West Berlin.

ENROUTE THROUGH EUROPE—Europe today is a study in contrasts—contrasts between East and West, contrasts between the continent and the U. S. A. Here are some scenes which, although I have left them, remain vividly etched on my mind. Scene I—East Berlin: As you walk behind the Iron-Curtain through the bomb-riddled city of East Berlin you are struck with the way Moscow has played up the thing that appeals most to men's hearts. Flags are everywhere. And between every German, Chinese, Czech, Korean, Hungarian flag is the blue and white flag of peace. Atop every pillar also squats the dove of peace—a plump, dumpy dove, a little too smug and self-satisfied to sit surveying the stark remnants of what once was Berlin, but nevertheless a constant reminder that the Soviet Union supposedly craves peace.

And at the base of every pillar are featured the international words for peace—"Pas-Mir-Paix-Beke-Peace." Over and over again are repeated these words, the words every soldier loves, the words every national can read and understand.—Peace. In telling contrast are featured the words of President Truman, Secretary Marshall, Dean Acheson, warning of the danger of war, warning that we must prepare for war. It was international propaganda at its most effective, most deceptive best. And despite the State Department's valiant although limited counterpropaganda, hundreds of thousands of the 2,000,000 youngsters who attended the Berlin Youth Rally must have gone home with the impression that the U. S. A. was the big bad ogre of the world today, with the U. S. S. R. their only hope for peace.

Scene II—The U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C.—Senator McKellar of Tennessee, aged 88, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, is listening sleepily to State Department testimony regarding its budget. George Perkins, aged 56, son of a J. P. Morgan partner, chief of European affairs, and not exactly the Communist-type McCarthy claims to run the State Department, is testifying regarding the need for more funds to run the U. S. Embassy in Communist-Poland. The senators want to know why it will cost more next year than last. Perkins explains that the battle against communism has become more intense, also that the embassy lost money last year through the depreciation of the Polish Zloty. "Young man," glowered Senator McKellar of Tennessee, "will you tell me under what article of the U. S. Constitution or by what law of Congress you have the right to go out and tamper with another nation's currency?"

It is this same Senator McKellar, using his deep insight into international affairs, who influences how much money the State Department can have to combat communism. Scene III—Also the U. S. Senate: Senator McCarran of Nevada, aged 74, is listening to Assistant Secretary of State Barrett testify regarding the Voice of America and the importance of selling the United States to the rest of the world. McCarran keeps wider awake than his colleague from Tennessee. He even admits that Barrett puts up a plausible argument. Finally, however, he concludes: "I would hate to answer for the spending of all this money to prevent war, when I feel sure war is inevitable." Scene IV—Back in Berlin: The studio of radio station RIAS operated by the State Department in the Western sector. A group of East German youngsters have crowded into the RIAS studio. Supposedly Communists, and attending the Communist Youth Rally, they want to see the radio station they have been listening to across the Iron Curtain in East Germany. Before the microphone come various RIAS radio performers—first a singer. She gets a terrific round of applause. Then comes a political commentator who every night takes gibes at Soviet operations in East Germany. He too is gleefully recognized by the youthful audience. They know their RIAS radio performers as an American audience knows its Jack Benny or Milton Berle. It's a recognition that can come only from listening. These youngsters are the future generation of Germany—the kids who really will decide whether communism stays or goes; who will fight or fraternize with American boys in the war that Senator McCarran says is inevitable. Yet Senator McCarran, an old man of 74, who won't have to fight, and Senator McKellar, now 88, say the State Department's radio program is wasted money, poured out on empty ether. Soviet Russia today spends $2,000,000,000 a year on propaganda. It even has 1,200 jamming stations to drown out the Voice of America—the voice which the old men of the Senate say is a waste of money. It appears so important to the Kremlin, however, that the Kremlin spends more than the cost of the Voice in order to drown it out. This year the State Department asked for a little more money to carry on the war of ideas, but the old men of the Senate Appropriations Committee voted a cut. Here is their secret vote to hamstringing their country in the battle of ideas: McCarran, McKellar, McClellan of Arkansas, Bridges of New Hampshire, Ferguson of Michigan, Wherry of Nebraska and Hickenlooper of Iowa. Scene V—A West German Youth Center in West Berlin: Inside is a line of East German youngsters waiting for soup and noodles. The Communist food system has broken down in the East and they have come over to West Berlin. They know where to come because the State Department published a pocket-size guidebook in advance telling the Communist kids where to find the West Berlin youth centers. Around the walls of the youth center sit another group of East German youngsters, bent over, their noses buried in magazines and pamphlets. As our party came in they did not look up. Dressed as Westerners, we usually attracted attention. But they did not look up. They were reading, believe it or not, anti-Communist literature—cartoons depicting Stalin for what he really is, a warmonger; an illustrated story of Korea; pamphlets telling the genuine peace aims of the United States. It was State Department literature, carefully printed in German, illustrated by German cartoonists, telling the true facts about the United States. Obviously it was a story which these East German youngsters never had heard before, and it must have been a fascinating story, for they drank it in like a dime novel.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Writer for NEA Service. "Please tell me who the criminal was," requests a Rapid City (South Dakota) fan. "North and South certainly were overlords of South-Strang. And what happened to South-Strang's happen to a dog."

West led the jack of spades, dummy played the king, and West won with the ace. West shifted to the jack of diamonds, whereupon the defenders ran off five diamonds and four spades while South was still trying to catch his breath. In a little while South caught more than his breath, since North was not exactly pleased with the result.

Table with columns for NOBLES, WEST, EAST, SOUTH (D), and North-South vul. listing various card game scores and results.

"Is this sort of thing supposed to happen every once in a while, or did somebody rock the boat? If the latter, who was guilty?" Evidently South went for an 1,100-point ride. This sort of thing is not supposed to happen.

The hand and water 'dist is for South. It's all right to open the bidding with a three-card club suit to provide yourself with a convenient rebid. Remember, however, that the rebid is necessary only if your partner bids a new suit. You're allowed to pass if your partner bids one no-trump or if he raises to two clubs.

What does North show when he raises to two clubs? Certainly less than an average hand in high cards. What's more, North indicates that he has no biddable suit and probably not even a four-card length of any description in diamonds, hearts, or spades. However, North guarantees four-card support for clubs; and the chances are that North has at least five clubs.

If North has that kind of hand, what should South hold to hope for game? South should have the sort of hand that was not quite good enough for an opening bid of two no-trump but that was too good for an opening bid of one no-trump. His message is, "I know you have a weak hand, but we can still make a game if your hand has small claim to merit."

Obviously South didn't have that kind of hand. He should have passed at two clubs on the theory that it was as good a spot as any to play the hand. A player who is advanced enough to open with what is called the "short club" should be advanced enough to pass a simple raise to two clubs.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 1 Spade Pass 2 Diamonds Pass 2 Hearts Pass ? You, South, hold: Spades 8-3, Hearts 4, Diamonds K-Q-J-6-3, Clubs A-J-4. What do you do? A—Bid two no-trump. You have better than average strength so should make a second bid. The fact that you have a fine holding in the unbid suit leads you to make your second response in no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 8-3, Hearts 7-4, Diamonds K-Q-J-6-3, Clubs A-K-10-8. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

MURDER IN QUOTES

THE STORY: My name is Julius (James) Malloy and I've been acquitted of the murder of Charlie Berman, who, incidentally, stands an amendment part from my own Charlie's brother. Berman has charged me, but Gene Sawyer, Gene Sawyer thinks he knows how to get my property back, because he's been licensed from the state. Charlie got my lease through bribery, which can't be proved, but an old law places the lead out of jurisdiction of the corrupt officials who otherwise had no right to refuse to renew my lease.

I was so stunned that I couldn't even nod my head. I avidly read the case marked in the book. Though I was not a lawyer, the language was so clear that I could grasp the basic ideas. Under the law, I still had a right to my resort lands at Queen Lake! "Now the thing to do," said Gene Sawyer, "is to file a suit to quiet title right here in this county. Also a suit for ejectment. Berman took possession of your property; his brother Berman's been running it ever since his murder. You can get it back—maybe not before this season ends, but you can collect an awful lot of damages for Berman's unlawful use. I've already drawn a petition. Sign it; I'll file it yet today." From a drawer, he produced a stapled document. I hastily read it, then affixed my signature. Gene smiled with satisfaction, added carefully: "You can fire your lawyers at the state capital. Tell them that I've been very unethical, but that I'll get your land back and won't charge you a cent of fees until I do. As for my fee for defending you for Charlie Berman's murder, I'll wait for that, too. You can keep your convertible." I shook my head. "You over-whelm me. I don't know what to say."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

It's Sometimes Better To Fight Washington Battles In Paris

By FREDERICK BROWN, NEA Washington Correspondent. WASHINGTON.—To get a proper perspective on some of the battles of Washington, it is sometimes useful to look at issues in Paris. For instance: Consider the so-called Tidelands oil legislation now before Congress. It is intended to give the states, instead of the federal government, control over all submerged mineral rights. Consider this proposition for a moment in its relation to new demands for additional federal aid for flood-prevention work in the heart-hilt Missouri and tributary river valley systems.

Consider both these propositions against the background of the arguments of states' rights against federal government, of socialism versus the free enterprise system, of the demand for higher federal taxes against the demand for reduction of government spending. This is purely a mental exercise that won't lead you anywhere except into deeper confusion. But in none of these comparisons will you find any theory or policy of government that makes complete sense.

It long has been the policy, wholeheartedly approved by Congress, that the federal government should foot the bill for all navigable river and harbor improvements. This stemmed originally from the determination that the U. S. War Department should have control over navigable streams.

River and harbor appropriations have grown into the biggest "pork barrel" in Congress. The aim of every law-maker is to get as much as he can for public works in his state and district. This has been extended into flood prevention work. Taxpayers Foot Bill It now is national policy that the taxpayers of the country as a whole must foot the bill for river, harbor and flood control work which is primarily of benefit to local communities. In that all these improvements contribute to promotion of commerce and general welfare of the whole nation, this is a defensible doctrine.

What happens, though, when the question of control over Tidelands oil rights comes up? This issue now has been broadened to cover all submerged mineral rights. By this legislation, states not on tidewater have been brought in to demand ownership and control over oil and other mineral rights under lakes and fresh water streams.

Do you find the states coming to the federal government and saying in effect, "Look, Uncle Sam! Since you foot the bill for flood control work, it's only fair that you should also have first right on whatever royalties may be collected from submerged mineral rights!" Not on your life you don't. Yet why isn't that logical? If the federal government must pay the cost of all river and harbor improvements

Why not let private enterprise do all this? Let the cities and towns, the farmers and factory-owners whose lands would be directly benefited by such improvements pay all the costs. If less government in business is desired, let's get it out completely. Such an idea of course is an absurdity. The direct beneficiaries of such projects couldn't afford such outlays in the first place. And it is not socialism for the federal government to finance such projects promoting the general welfare of the people. This whole discussion of course contributes no constructive thought towards solution of the Tidelands and flood control problems. Yet it may serve to show how ridiculous are some of the arguments foisted on the people by politicians with such dead-pan seriousness.

So They Say

We must not extend brotherhood only to those with the point of view we like, but to all. We must understand even hardened criminals. —Martin Niemoller, famous German Protestant pastor.

One of the acutely felt dissatisfactions amongst Asian members of the UN is... inadequate representation... irrespective of population, size or geographic importance... a carry-over of the Western nations discriminatory attitude toward the Asian nations. —Sridar Jagjit Singh, president, India League of America.

I had known it was going to happen, but not so quickly as it did. A trip to Queen City to buy a couple of shirts had been my last ride before going to jail.

A street that seemed almost in my ear brought me out of my reverie. A highway patrol car had pulled up alongside mine. I glanced at my speedometer. I was doing 65.

I slowed and stopped on the berm. The patrol car stopped behind me. A six-foot patrolman got out of the car and came up to mine. "What do you think this is, Dayton Beach?" "I'm thinking of something Andre Malraux wrote. By a queer mimicry," wrote Malraux, "we become what people think of us."

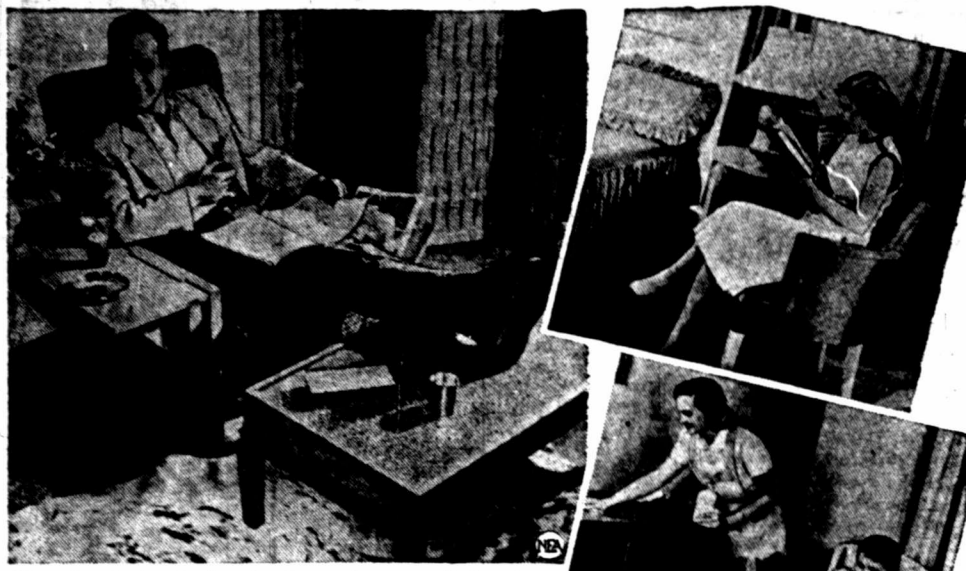

I thought it over. I had been able to think clearly about a philosophical quip. "Just what are you driving at, Gene? Are you saying that I may become a murderer simply because everybody thinks I am?" "That's it, Gene. Just what it's worth," said Gene. "I've seen Malraux's theory proven time and again. If a man has a criminal face he may become a criminal because people think him one. If he has a stocky physique, a broad, tough face like Berman's, he may become a tough guy. If he looks like a scholar he is apt to become one. People spend their lives trying to live up to the roles other people have assigned to them."

"And they have assigned to me the role of a murderer," I said. Gene looked at me and said nothing. Nothing had ever seemed more wonderful than the clean truth of it.

Gene looked at me and said nothing. Nothing had ever seemed more wonderful than the clean truth of it.

Happy Homemaking Is Here

New developments for the house have resulted not only in a happier homemaker but also a happier household. Dad relaxes in his favorite chair (above) with no worries about soiling the upholstery, scarring the coffee table, or making rings on the wood finishes. Daughter (upper right) feels free to behave with teenage nonchalance in her fluffy-feminine, but completely practical, bedroom. Mother (lower right), moisture-proofing her sideboard with a new silicone polish, need not worry about the baby's spilling food on draperies, tablecloth or high chair—they can all be quickly cleaned with a damp cloth.

NEW YORK—It's a streamlined age we're living in, yet the fundamentals of housekeeping have been, until quite recently, strictly a horse-and-buggy affair. A homemaker, whether she was wearing the hoop skirts of yesteryear or today's brief shirt and shorts, had to wrestle with the same routines of drapery laundering, furniture polishing and floor waxing.

Now, things are changing. Industrial chemists, home designers, and textile experts have all put their heads together in an effort to make homemaking happier.

With new improvements, it's easy for Mom to smile and murmur "forget it" when Junior puts his feet on the bedspread, when the baby joyfully flings spinach into the dining room curtains, when father sets his wet glass on the living room table and when sister leaves an apple core on the boudoir chair.

In a living room setting that was derived from the progressive pen of designer Russel Wright, a man can relax in peace without his wife's hovering about making noises.

McCarthy Charges Gag Rule Silences Federal Employees

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman has been accused by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of forbidding federal employees to "give Congress the truth about Communists who are in our government."

The senator also charged Wednesday night that Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup formerly was editorial director of a Communist front publication which he said received "thousands of dollars of Communist money."

Jessup, who has denied he had any Communist connection, declined comment on the latest McCarthy attack.

Broadcasting over the ABC network, McCarthy said an "incredibly fantastic order" barring federal employees from testifying on loyalty matters to Congress went into effect Aug. 21, 1948—"just 17 days after the Hiss case broke."

This was a reference to Alger Hiss, former State Department official, who was convicted of perjury for denying he ever passed government secrets to a Communist spy ring.

McCarthy said that when the order went out, "President Truman had just made his famous statement that the Hiss case was a 'red herring' and that those who uncovered Hiss were seeking publicity and 'endangering unity'."

In his latest blast at Jessup, McCarthy declared Jessup was chairman of the Pacific Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations, now under investigation by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, and that among 23 persons on Jessup's staff, 10 have been "named under oath as Communists," three as "espionage agents" and three as "probable Communists."

McCarthy did not name any of these individuals.

McCarthy challenged Jessup to sue him for libel if what he said was untrue.

Canadian Lad Set To Start Life Anew After Brain Surgery

PASADENA, CALIF.—(AP)—Four-year-old Donny Marton, operated upon for a rare disease of the brain, has left the hospital for the home of a woman educator who will teach him to talk and walk again.

The little Canadian boy was brought here from Archerwill, Sask., 10 weeks ago after specialists there said there was no hope for him.

The woman educator, who has remained anonymous, brought the lad to the attention of Dr. William T. Grant, who performed three operations.

Donny weighed only 20 pounds when he arrived here. He has gained seven. Five months' training is expected to restore his speech and his use of muscles which he lost during his two-year illness.

Partisans In Iraq Criticize Oil Pact

CAIRO—(AP)—Iraq's Independence Party was reported Thursday to have attacked the new oil agreement that country made with the British-run Iraq Petroleum Company and to have repeated demands that the oil industry be nationalized.

A party statement criticized the "economic and political influence of oil companies in Iraq."

The oil company recently signed a new agreement with Iraq whereby that country will get 50 per cent of the net profits. Iraqi officials have said the agreement would benefit the people.

But the Independence Party statement said Iraq would only get a fourth of the oil profits—not 50 per cent—after production costs were deducted.

Peron, Wife Hailed As Running Mates In Presidential Voting

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—President Juan D. Peron and his dynamic blonde wife, Eva, were hailed Thursday as running mates in the November 11 presidential elections. Their followers demanded Wednesday that they "lead Argentina forever."

Formal acceptance by Peron and his wife of the draft call by the Peronista Party and leaders of the government-controlled General Confederation of Labor is considered a certainty. They told wildly cheering throngs Wednesday they would "abide by the will of the people."

The powerful husband-and-wife team which has ruled this country since 1946 was nominated Wednesday night by the president's Peronista Party Superior Council in a closed session.

The nomination came after the mammoth demonstration in which some quarter of a million supporters gathered in the capital for the express purpose of demanding that the two run on a "Peron-Peron" ticket—Peron for reelection as president and Eva as the first woman vice president in the western hemisphere. The election is for the 1952-58 term.

The semi-official newspaper Democracia—a staunch supporter of the Perons—said the couple already had accepted the candidacy but the independent La Nacion said they were only proclaimed candidates by the party and the workers and that they had not yet formally accepted.

"PEACE-LOVING" SOVIET GIRLS FOR WAR

Russia talks peace, but prepares herself and her satellites for war. Iron Curtain countries are steadily strengthening their armed forces and putting internal affairs in order for what could be a battlefield showdown with the West. Soviet Deputy Premier Molotov warned in Warsaw recently that Marshal Tito's Red, but anti-Soviet, government cannot last much longer. Russia's greatest living soldier, Marshal Zhukov, hero of Stalingrad and conqueror of Berlin, is called out of retirement. Marshal Tito saves the period from now through 1952 is the "great hour of danger" for a new world war. Newsmap highlights other straws in the wind revealing Soviet intentions.

Released Soviet prisoners report Russia's war factories operating full blast, say Soviet is "on ready for war as Germany was in 1939."

Gen. Eisenhower says Russia has poised 175 divisions totaling 4,000,000 men, backed by 20,000 war planes. Also, Moscow is reported aiming at forging huge new, integrated Eastern European Army among its satellites.

Poland and Romania follow other satellites in purging their armed forces and governments of suspected "deviationists."

ZONES OF ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS OUTLINED—Shown is an outline map of the various zones for six Midland elementary schools. Students within the boundaries indicated will attend the school of that zone. Some zone changes were necessary with the completion of the new Sam Houston Elementary School in the northwest sector of the city. Where zones are not completely surrounded by boundary lines, the city limits are understood as boundaries. All negro students attend Carver Elementary School, which is in the area not labeled in the lower right corner of the map.

Saudi-Arabia Fears Total War Would Destroy Production

Saudi-Arabia, like Midland, depends on oil.

But, according to one citizen of that country, Saudi-Arabia has more to worry about—if total war comes.

Abdulla H. Tariki, 38, who came to know many Midlanders as a Texas Company trainee here in 1947-48, has been visiting in Midland and touring the vast Permian Basin Empire again.

He is head of the supervision office of the Ministry of Finance of his country and is touring the United States and Venezuela as an observer of oil operations. His American wife and young son are visiting her mother in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

In the clearly understandable English he learned as a University of Texas post-graduate student and on visits to this country, Tariki spoke of what oil means to Saudi-Arabia. It means $100,000,000 in royalty a year to his government.

It means primary schools in every city and town, many new high schools, railroads, roads and ports.

It means the country no longer has to depend upon the Moslem pilgrimages to Mecca for income.

It also means fear: Should the United States and Russia go to war, the oil fields would be destroyed by the United States, Tariki believes.

Marathon Hiccupper Heads For Arizona

LOS ANGELES —(P)—Hiccup victim Jack O'Leary, 25, is going to Arizona and a possible cure for his malady.

O'Leary, who has been hiccupping once a second the last three years, was told by doctors in Oregon he must try to gain weight for an operation on the phrenic nerve, which controls the diaphragm.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, said Wednesday that during a stay in Arizona last year, Jack's hiccupping stopped and his health improved. She and Darlene, 12, a daughter, are accompanying the hiccup victim to Phoenix.

O'Leary has been suffering from the hiccup since peritonitis followed an appendix operation in 1948.

Diagnosis Is Important In Treating Water-On-The-Brain

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Water-on-the-brain, hydrocephalus is its medical name, is luckily a rather rare condition. Nevertheless Mrs. K. asks about it and says she thinks her four-year-old son has it. At any rate, his head is rather large. What Mrs. K. wants to know is whether it is likely to get worse (there are apparently no symptoms now except the size of the head) and what the chances are that the boy may become mentally ill.

Now these questions are not too easy to answer. Before it can be done, one would need to know whether the enlargement of the head really is caused by accumulation of excessive fluid in the brain spaces, what caused the accumulation, whether it is getting worse, and if there are any symptoms such as headache, disturbances of vision, or mental impairment.

Sometimes, for example, the hydrocephalus simply is the result of failure of the fluid to be drained off properly. At times such a condition can be relieved by drawing off some of the fluid with a needle after which the situation takes care of itself.

As far as the outlook is concerned, a lot depends on the cause, what can be done and whether the hydrocephalus has developed slowly or rapidly. The intelligence may be affected but this is by no means always true.

One man has been reported who had an enormously stretched skull from hydrocephalus but who lived for many years and had excellent mental faculties. In milder cases, complete recovery frequently takes place, leaving a slightly enlarged skull as the only trace.

Should Be Studied

The thing to remember about this unusual condition is that if signs of it should appear, studies should be made as early as possible to determine the cause if possible and what line of treatment is best to follow.

Even though medicine does not yet know how to prevent hydrocephalus, much can be done for it and the investigations or neurologists and neurosurgeons are supplying more information and increasingly successful methods of treatment.

Drug Experiment Deaths Classed As 'Honest Mistake'

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—"It appears like an honest mistake and it doesn't look right now if any action will be taken."

This was the statement of State's Attorney Martin Weeks, Jr., after conferring Wednesday with Attorney General Ralph A. Dunham about the deaths of two persons August 15. They died after injection of the wrong drug during an experiment with sedatives at the University of South Dakota.

Weeks pointed out that an inquest is in recess, pending results of analysis of body tissues of the two victims—Mrs. Ardys Pearson and Jack Clifford.

"But right now we have no facts showing any intent to kill and no intent due to any reckless activity which would give rise to criminal action," Weeks reported.

Dr. Louis F. Michalek, university researcher, told a coroner's jury last week he picked up a wrong vial and injected methadone instead of demerol during the test for pain-killing reactions of the drugs.

Competitive System Protection Urged

MONAHANS — Wick Fowler, managing editor of The Midland Reporter-Telegram addressed the Monahans Rotary Club Wednesday noon at its regular meeting in the Lotus Cafe.

The speaker urged business men to give unselfish protection to a competitive, free enterprise system and to interest themselves in local governmental affairs.

Former Red Links Currie With Soviet Propaganda Drive

WASHINGTON—(P)—Louis Budenz testified Thursday a 1942 Communist article, which he called the opening gun of an attack on State Department figures unfriendly to Russia, was prepared "through arrangement" with Lauchlin Currie, then a White House aide.

The article was published in the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper. Budenz was on the paper's staff at that time. He since has renounced communism and is on the faculty of Fordham University.

Budenz spoke before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The group is looking into the question of whether there have been subversive influences on U. S. foreign policy.

Publication of the article, Budenz said, led to a meeting between Communist Leader Earl Browder and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

Tampico—

There were unconfirmed reports of dead and injured at Soto La Marina, 120 miles up the gulf coast. The hurricane, which began its murderous rampage over Jamaica last weekend, killing some 150 persons there, hit Tampico full force. Its velocity measured up to 160 miles an hour.

High winds buffeted the flooded city all night as the storm trailed gales behind it.

The Weather Bureau said the storm center was breaking up Thursday west of Ciudad Victoria, 300 miles north of Mexico City. The bureau said it could not say exactly where the storm was because communications were broken.

Air traffic with gale-battered Tampico was restored Thursday. The plane from Brownsville was on schedule, making its halt at Tampico enroute to Mexico City. Pan-American Airways reported a 30-mile an hour wind blowing at Tampico. The road from the airport to the city, three miles away, was reported open.

James Wisdom, 423 West Wall Street, received emergency treatment Wednesday at Western Clinic Hospital for hand lacerations suffered when struck by a hammer.

Armistice—

Later, Red broadcasts gave all shades of meaning to the question. They confused the issue thoroughly whether the breakdown was intended to be permanent or temporary.

Ridgway capped a series of Allied replies and statements at midnight Thursday (8 a.m. CST) with a sharp statement declaring the Allies made no such bombing as charged.

He said the timing and abruptness of the Red break-off notice showed that the Communist high command had decided in advance to end the talks, even before they made their latest complaint.

The UN commander's statement called it "a frame-up staged from first to last."

Allied statements said no UN Air Force or Naval plane was in the area, no Allied artillery fired into the area, and the Reds presented no evidence that there even was a bombing.

An investigating American officer said the evidence he was shown in the early morning darkness was "ridiculous."

A Red liaison officer, pulling prepared notes from his pocket, promptly announced truce talks were "off from this time."

The Reds made this announcement at 1:45 a.m. Thursday, only two hours after the alleged bombing incident, Ridgway said.

Planned in Advance Since this obviously was a high-level command decision, the UN commander noted, it was evident the break-off was planned in advance.

Red communications are such that they normally take many hours or days to arrive at such decisions. Despite the appearance of finality, high-ranking Allied officers Thursday night had expressed belief the breakdown was "by no means permanent."

Red broadcasts displayed some confusion. Communist China's official Peiping radio said that only Thursday's subcommittee meeting was cancelled. Later it quoted a Kaesong dispatch as saying "further meetings at Kaesong have been suspended."

This dispatch predicted "a further formal protest," presumably from a higher level, would be lodged with the UN command.

The Red Korean radio added further uncertainty by saying the Communists would consider the UN. Did not want to continue talks unless the Reds received a satisfactory answer to their long series of complaints.

All these complaints now have been answered. The UN command said all the alleged incidents either

Traffic Fatalities Decrease In Texas

AUSTIN—(P)—A drop in reported July traffic deaths in Texas temporarily brightened the Texas Department of Public Safety's statistics.

Reported traffic deaths for July totalled 187, compared to 213 for a year ago. It brought the year's total to 1,268, trailing last year's total by 14.

Largest U. S. Mill Hikes Newsprint Price

NEW YORK—(P)—Great Northern Paper Company, largest U. S. newsprint producer, has raised newsprint prices $10 a ton, effective September 1.

This brings Great Northern's price into line with other large producers. The big Canadian newsprint makers raised their price July 1.

best positions they ever have held in Korea.

They are in positions where the UN command wanted them to remain during a truce. The Reds wanted them to retreat below the 38th parallel. Armistice negotiations had been snagged on this point for a month. A subcommittee was trying to solve it.

State Road—

Thornton, in discussing problems of the Highway Commission, said the Texas highway system is deteriorating due to inadequate funds to meet the challenge of highway obsolescence and to increased traffic and heavier loads.

"Approximately $74,000,000 of highway user taxes now are being diverted to purposes other than highway uses," the commission chairman declared. "If we don't start gaining ground now, by the next session of the Legislature will be too late."

"We need $200,000,000 a year for five years to bring our highway system up to the standard it should be for present day traffic."

He lashed out at pressure groups who would divert additional funds from highway user taxes, and at those who would harm the relations between Commissioners Courts and the Highway Commission.

"Future Is In West Texas." "I wish we had the cooperation of all county judges and Commissioners Courts that we have in West Texas," he stated.

Digressing from highway problems for a few minutes, the speaker said the future of the great State of Texas is in West Texas.

"But first the water problem must be settled if West Texas is to continue to prosper and, yes, even to survive."

"Water is your most acute problem and it will take the sound thinking and action of all of Texas to work out the problem. It is a problem which affects the economy of the entire state."

The importance of continued highway development and improvement to keep pace with the fast-growing economy of the state was stressed by Chairman Thornton. The safety aspect of the program also was discussed.

"More than 1,000 miles of Texas highway should be widened into four-lane thoroughfares," he said. "We now have some 300 miles of four-lane highways."

The rapid growth and expansion of Texas' highway system in recent years was described.

Declaring that the highway system belongs to the citizens of Texas, Thornton urged Texans to let the commission know what they expect in the way of highway development.

"It is your program," he stated. "We are merely the administrators

New Suspect Sought In Child's Abduction

HOUSTON—(P)—Officers sought another suspect Thursday in the abduction Sunday of a paralytic, Margaret Louise Allison, 13.

One suspect—a 48-year-old butcher—was held Wednesday, when he was released because the girl indicated she did not recognize him.

The second suspect has not yet been located, Sheriff C. V. Kern said.

The girl, unable to speak or walk, was found in a ditch 12 hours after she was taken from her parent's car at a roadside cafe.

of your program. It is our job to get out and talk to the people to determine what they want, and that is why we are making this trip.

"Free From Politics." "Your Texas Highway Commission always has been free from politics and we will see that it continues to stay that way."

Thornton said he was happy to be in Commissioner Fred Wemple's home city and section, and declared that West Texas has not fared badly in highway construction.

"Since Fred Wemple went on the commission about four years ago, the Highway Commission has expended on the highways of the state $450,000,000, of which $152,000,000 has been spent in West Texas."

He lauded the Midland man for having done an outstanding job for the entire state as a member of the commission.

Among the out-of-city guests attending the function were Leslie Cabiness of Pecos, district highway engineer; Judge James McMorris and F. O. Rhodes, Stanton; C. C. Swift, C. A. Townsend and George Ashburn of Crane, and Judge David L. Smith and John F. Priddy of Garden City.

Members of the Midland Chamber's Highway Committee and city and county officials also were present.

Fans Must Take Their Tennis Straight, Says Edict Against Lace Panties, Low Necklines, Half-Skirts, Net Cheesecake

NEW YORK —(AP)—No more Folsie Bergere on the tennis courts. Patrons attending the national championships Saturday at Forest Hills will have to take their tennis straight.

That was the edict handed down Thursday by the sedate fathers of the ancient sport, who are horrified by the growing trend toward lace panties, low necklines and other fashions that accent feminine charms.

"A few innocent kids have been falling for daring tennis costumes designed purely for commercial reasons," said Russell B. Kingman, president of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

"It's time this was stopped. What we want, and now insist upon, is more good taste, with emphasis on competition instead of questionable fashion displays."

The girls, Kingman said in effect, must impress the customers with drop-skirts and half-volleys instead of dropped necklines and half-skirts. No more emphasis on the well-turned feminine calf.

The "lace panty" era was ushered in by Gertrude (Gorgeous Gussy) Moran, who showed up at Wimbledon three years ago with a lacy fringe peeking out from under a ballerina skirt.

The curvaceous lass then proceeded to parlay a good forehead and a scanty shimmering wardrobe into some $30,000 on the professional circuit.

This year Beverly Baker, 21, and attractive, brought gasps from the Wimbledon crowds with equally daring attire.

"It was enough to convince me that it was time to return to more convention apparel," Kingman said.

Cats Gain Half Game On Dallas

By The Associated Press

The Fort Worth Cats waited an hour Wednesday night for the rain to stop and then gained a half game on idle Dallas in a Texas League playoff spot.

The Cats shaded San Antonio, 2-1. Dallas now has a two-and-a-half game lead in fourth place.

Beaumont broke a tie for third. The Roughnecks beat Tulsa, 6-1. Oklahoma City blanked Shreveport, 6-0.

The Roughnecks now lead Dallas by a half game and Fort Worth by three games. Houston at Dallas was rained out.

Saturday night, they will return to Midland to meet the Odessa Oilers.

Old Timers' In Training

"Old Timer" baseball players of Midland have begun to sign up for their game scheduled here the night of September 3.

Already on the dotted line and "in training" are John P. Butler, Chester Shepard, Delbert Downing, Bob Scruggs, Eddie (Jontey) Jones, J. C. Smith and Marion Flynn.

All "fat or 40" players of the city are invited to play. The game will be a three-inning affair, preceding the Midland-San Angelo Longhorn League game.

Teams will be the Reds and Whites. Players will wear shorts.

Colonel Wright has volunteered to umpire or coach the bases.

A. T. Davis sought out Zeke Bonura and signed up after getting the fever at Wednesday night's Midland-Big Spring tilt.

Entries may be left with Horace Busby at The Reporter-Telegram when Bonura is on the road.

Apprentice Jockeys Steal The Spotlight

AP Newsmasters

NEW YORK — A couple of young apprentice jockeys have stolen the spotlight in the racing world.

As of July 25, Ralph Borgemkenke with 146 winners and Charlie Burr with 145 were leading the pack. And many veteran riders were trailing in their dust.

Borgemkenke, from Cincinnati, rode his first winner at Beulah Park, Ohio, Sept. 18, 1930. He arrived first in the last race of the day with a 59-1 shot, Vicky Step.

Burr, who hails from Kansas City, won his first race on Thomas at Fairmount Park on Sept. 9, 1950. Then he jumped aboard Ginny Beaver and won the very next race.

Trailing the youngsters are such veterans as Steve Brooks, Johnny Longden, Willie Shoemaker, Howard Craig, Eddie Arcaro and Ted Atkinson.

Tin-Pan Alley Having Tune-Type Troubles As Rustic Music Sweeps Even Biggest Cities

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Pull up a guitar and listen to the plaintive lament entitled "The City Slioked What Was Done Wrong By the Hill-Billy, or Those Tin-Pan Alley Blues."

This ballad tells the story of the sophisticated songwriters who used to turn out hit tunes about Love and Moon and Love and Kisses.

Nowadays they are either (a) starving to death or (b) writing about little girls in calico and little boys in Levis and the wind whistling across the plains and such-like.

The last five years or so have found the hillbilly songs (now dignified with the name "country songs") growing increasingly popular. Even along the dusty trails of New York, you'll find the buckaroos singing "On Top of Old Smoky" and "Tennessee Waltz" as they herd their taxi-cabs through the macadam meadows.

Three Types

Actually, there are three types of country music. There is authentic folk music, like "Old Smoky," which are ballads that have been sung in the mountains for generations.

Then there are the songs turned out by country composers, like "Tennessee Waltz," written by Pee Wee King and Redd Stewart. Most of these are popularized over the grand paddy of country-music shows, Nashville's "Grand Ol' Opry."

Last and newest entrant in the country music field are the tunes written by Tin-Pan Alley composers who have gone back to the soil for warm inspiration and cold cash. Typical is "My Truly, Truly Fair" written by Bob Merrill.

But Tin-Pan Alley is having its troubles. The folksy music requires a knack, like anything else. And many of the successful city songwriters just don't have it. Their big flaw, apparently, is that they're too smart for themselves.

Their creations are all slick, the phrases neatly turned, the music fits the mood and everything sticks together like flies to a mule. But, to a real country music fan, it lacks the simplicity and storytelling qualities that make a homespun hit.

And a country music hit is a big thing these days.

Just the thought of what such songs as "Good Night, Irene" and "Tennessee Waltz" have done financially sets any New York publisher to drooling into his hominy grits and yogurt. "Tennessee Waltz," for example, is rolling along faster than "White Christmas," the all-time record champion.

What accounts for the sudden nation-wide love of country music? Nobody knows for sure, but there are plenty of theories.

Most authorities feel that the war had a lot to do with it. During the war years, small towners came to big towns for work in defense industries. They craved some of their favorite music on the radio, and big town disc jockeys obliged. This spread the craze into the cities, by a process of nasal osmosis.

Others say the city music lovers were getting fed up with the endless variation on the Love theme dished out by Tin-Pan Alley. They welcomed country music as a long-needed relief.

Another group, more practical, feels that it came about because of the decline of dance bands in popularity. Since the war, the big recording names have all been vocalists. They needed many songs to sing, and searched around for ballads and novelty tunes with catchy lyrics. Their search led them to the country songs.

Whatever the reason, country music's popularity gives evidence of being permanent—at least for a while. From Grand Ol' Opry's stars like Red Foley and Ernest Tubbs to New York night-club favorites like the Weavers and Josh White, it's country music, 2 to 0.

And even Ezia Pinza has just recorded a ditty entitled "L'il Ol' State of Texas." Next year, the Met may present "Tristan Und Daisy June."

Anti-Cussing Club Raises $200 Kitty At Dime Per Damn

RICHMOND, IND. — (AP) — The Anti-Cussing Club of Connie Marker's East Side Cafe and Bar will throw a picnic Sunday. Members will spend a $200 kitty collected on 10-cent fines for 2,000 "damns" and stronger words.

Marker, who says swearing annoys him, thought up the fine and club idea last March. Anybody fined automatically becomes a club member.

"The fines actually have cut down cussing," Marker said. "Most men don't enjoy it—it's just a habit."

"About a dime a night is as much as we usually get from a member," he added. "Although, sometimes, a fellow will have a couple of beers and rip off a dollar's worth."

Texas, Michigan Chambers Indulge In 'Air' Exchange

MARQUETTE, MICH. — (AP) — The Chamber of Commerce of Marquette, where it's almost always cool, gave a sample Thursday to heat-ridden Texas.

If jest was evident, it was well meant.

Marquette's C. of C. sent to Fort Worth's Chamber of Commerce by air express a cylinder containing "clean, pure, cool, washed Lake Superior air."

"Please use it freely," said an accompanying message. "For relief of your hellish temperatures."

In return, Fort Worth was invited to send some of its hot Texas air here "for blending purposes."

The apparent thought was that it could be used against Marquette's severe winters.

Youth Aims At Ice Cream-Eating Mark

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — If seven-year-old Charles Gibson keeps up his fast start, he should eat 15 gallons of ice cream in a month.

Charles and his family get all the ice cream they can eat—free—for a month.

"I'd say I've eaten about a gallon or more since Monday," Charles said Wednesday.

It started when the boy found a sack with $250 in it. An employee of the ice cream firm had lost it. Charles and his father returned the money. In addition to ice cream, Charles got a $25 government savings bond.

W. H. Volkmar, manager of the ice cream firm, estimated the family has been taking home about a gallon a day. Charles is eating about half of it.

Dope Peddler Accused Of Using Hospital's Waiting Room As Narcotics Sales Office

NEW YORK — (AP) — An alleged dope peddler was accused Thursday of using big Bellevue Hospital's main waiting room as a sales office to operate a $500,000-a-year narcotics business.

Police said the peddler cached his drug stock in the hospital's underground engine room and kept daily "office hours" at the institution. He was not employed there.

Three narcotics squad detectives, two men and a woman, cracked the case Wednesday night with the arrest of 42-year-old Mariano Rubino, a resident of Manhattan's lower East Side.

The officers, with the cooperation of hospital authorities, worked three months in the sprawling hospital. They posed as everything from doctors and nurses to attendants and porters.

Rubino was arrested on the city-operated hospital grounds as he allegedly passed a packet of heroin to a man identified as Arthur Ricciardi, 28, of Manhattan.

Regular Office Hours

For the last year, police said, Rubino operated in this manner: At about 10:30 every morning, accompanied by a black Spitz dog, he parked his big car near the hospital. He remained at the institution until 7 p.m. each day.

He met his clients, who numbered from seven to nine daily, in the main waiting room. The drug customers, posing as patients or relatives of patients, mingled with others.

After contacting a client, Rubino went to the hospital's engine room, climbed a ladder to a wooden platform atop a generator and got the drugs — concealed in a ceiling crevice.

The detectives said they found an ounce of uncut heroin in the ceiling cache, having a retail value of about $5,000.

The exchange of drug packets was made on the hospital grounds outside the waiting room, where the client always minded Rubino's dog while he made the trip to the engine room.

Police said Rubino was arrested after carrying out this routine and in the act of turning over a package of heroin to Ricciardi.

Both men were booked on charges of illegal possession and sale of narcotics.

Judge Warns Against Dumping Trash Along Roads And Highways

A warning against dumping of trash and other debris along roads and highways outside the city limits was issued Thursday by County Judge Clifford C. Kohn.

"We have had a number of complaints about people dumping all kinds of trash along these roads," he said.

"In the first place, it makes an unsightly appearance.

"And, second, it is against the law. I think the law exists for fines up to $100 for dumping such trash along public roads and highways."

Complaints received

Sherrill Ed Darvall said his office had received numerous similar complaints.

"In one case on the Cloverdale Road," he said, "we ran across two men who had just gotten through emptying a trailer load of trash along the road.

"We made them load it right back and take it to the city dump.

"It turned out they only lived two blocks from the city dump, in the first place."

J. M. Orman, the city's director of public works, said any citizen could bring trash or building debris to the city dump, located just east of Midland, north of U. S. Highway 59.

"It's just as easy to bring it there," he said, "as it is to dump it along some road, and we will be glad to handle it."

District Governor Speaks To Midland Rotarians Thursday

International understanding is possible, and Rotary International continually is working to improve relations between all nations, Percy Bridgewater, district governor of District 183, Rotary International, told members of his home club at their meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

The district governor, paying his official visit to the Midland club, was presented by Dr. J. O. Shannon, president, Mrs. Bridgewater was introduced by F. H. Pratt.

The governor met with club officers, directors and committee chairmen, at an assembly held Wednesday night at the home of Dr. Shannon.

The speaker discussed the four objectives of Rotary, terming them the grass roots of the worldwide service organization. The four objectives, he said, are the answer to the question, "Where do we as Rotarians intend to go?"

Objectives Listed

The objectives are: (1) To develop acquaintance with an opportunity of service; (2) promotion of high ethical standards in business and the professions; (3) personal service; (4) advancement of international understanding.

He urged the application of the ideals of Rotary in everyday life, and said individual service on the part of Rotarians largely is responsible for the success of Rotary.

"Rotary depends on the individual service of its members," he declared.

"The success of the organization is in its membership and in its leaders."

The two large, ceramic tile bathrooms include dressing table and glass-doored shower stall, and the best Crane colored fixtures are installed.

'Low' Flanker To Midland Park Pool Finds Flowing Oil

In spite of being 348 feet low to a producer one location to the east Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 A. B. Harrington, west stepout to the Parks-Pennsylvanian field in Northwest-Central Midland County appears to have proven for a flowing oil well from the Pennsylvanian lime.
Located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 6, J. S. Daugherty survey No. A-887, the No. 1 Harrington flowed 14 barrels of pipe line oil in one hour from the section at 10,539-560 feet in the top of the Pennsylvanian.
Small Choke
The flow was through a 5/8th inch bottom hole choke and one inch top opening. The tool was open three hours and 12 minutes.
Gas surfaced in seven minutes. Mud and oil started flowing at the top in one hour and 56 minutes. The section flowed 14 barrels of 44.3-gravity clean oil during the last one hour of the test. Gas-oil ratio was 2,014-1.
To Drill Deeper
Shakeout was one-tenth of one per cent basic sediment. There was no water. The project is to drill on to the lower Pennsylvanian lime.
The Magnolia No. 1 Harrington is 348 feet low on the top of the Pennsylvanian to the same marker in the same concern's No. 1 C. B. Haley, a producer from the Pennsylvanian one quarter of a mile to the east.
Informed sources say that the No. 1 Harrington has cut a fault line.

STILL STILLED IN BROOKLYN—An illicit still capable of turning out 500 gallons of "high-test" alcohol a day was discovered by Brooklyn, N. Y., police in the hold of a rotting barge at Greenend Bay. Patrolman Henry Hersh looks over the deactivated still which is reportedly worth some $50,000. At left are five-gallon cans used to hold the liquor.

Youth Center Chatter

By June Hasty & Joyce Howell

Well, well, GOOD afternoon, folks! Here it is only 11 days until school starts and we still manage to be cheerful about it! And since we're on the subject of schools, how about a run down on who's going where? That is, we'll pass on to you every thing we've been able to get.

These teens have chosen their schools. Duane Abell, University of New Mexico; Gloria Anguish, David Laverty, Ann and Bob Wood, Austin College; Bob Burks, Bill Franklin, Richard Hull and Bob Peters, Texas A&M; Toys Chapple, Stanford; Peggy Charlton, Sue Johnson, Mary Cramer, Carolyn Cook, Susie Young and Reed Gilmore, Texas University; Glenda Hambleton and Jean Ferguson, Guilford; Shirley Harrison, Isabela Terry, Jo Ann Nelson, Marijann Forrest and Ann Wells, Texas Tech; Patsy Hammon, Bill Medart and W. H. Black, Texas Western; Jim O'Neal, Beverly Kelaling and Jerlene Jowell, SMU; Nancy McKinley, Mary Nell, Nancy Webb and Orsham, Mackey, TCU; Daphne Taber and Wanda Burnside, Baylor. We are very proud of Fred Underwood and we wish him the very best of luck when he reports to Annapolis this Fall. Congratulations, Fred!

"Going Back"

Among the teens returning to school as sophomores are Ann Borling, Bill Burnside, Rosalynn Leggett and JoAnn Regan, SMU; Margie Carter, John Steinberger, Camden Chancellor, Nick Harrison and Bet Studdert, Texas University; Harrie Smith and Jack Mobley, A&M; Helen Cartwright, Katherine Lewis, Don Johnson and Marilyn Wheelless, Texas Tech; Wayne Rich, North Texas State, and David Weaver, Tulsa.

Now it's not unusual for some very odd things to happen during that first excitement of going to college and pledging a fraternity or sorority, but we think this is just about the best! Bet Studdert not only received instructions for registering in a man's dorm at Texas... she also received a rush notice from Phi Kappa Tau fraternity! As far as we know Bet is not planning to take advantage of her "invitations". But Bet isn't the only one. Lois Thompson received a rush notice from Kappa-Sigma, a girls' social club at Tech.

Everyone has heard of the rivalry between Texas U. and A&M... that is, we thought they had! Reed Gilmore, who will attend Texas U. and Jack Mobley, an "Aggie" of soph standing, were seen arm in arm at the show! And what's more... Reed was wearing an "Aggie" t-shirt! What's the world coming to??

Teeners Pictured

These teens, they just can't keep out of the public eye! Have you been watching the pictures which have appeared recently on The Reporter-Telegram society page? If so you may have recognized teens Dick Porch, Lou Grounds and Margaret and Mary Ann Finch posed around the swimming pool, week before last. Jerlene Jowell and JoAnn Nelson made their appearance this week, modeling part of their Winter wardrobe. Just off hand, we'd be willing to bet the gals were roasting... with the temperature around 105 that afternoon! On the same page were Mary Wynn and Carol Fitting, reviewing last year's books.

As we look back at this column, we'd say it rather looks like a "back-to-school" issue.

Donna and Mary Hurst, who will attend Lovett Academy in El Paso this Fall, have become real golfers. They often may be spotted trudging around the golf course.

Arnold Drake and Leon Cline were spotted at a drive-in last weekend doing a lot of "carhopping" to catch up on their visiting. Arnold is attending Sul Ross in Alpine and hasn't been around very much this Summer. When asked what he was doing home, Arnold replied he had finals this week and was home on the weekend to "rest up his brain."

Seems that someone's car was stalled on the corner of A and Illinois Streets Saturday night of last week. At first glance we would have sworn it was Shirley Harrison... on second glance, Gloria Anguish! Actually it was a case of one pushing the other! The gals seem to be having quite a time! Besides Shirley and Gloria there were Mary Nell, Susie Young, Martha Stone, and Marijann Forrest who claimed to be giving moral support!

Visitors And More Visitors

Visitors, visitors, and more visitors. Yes, this week we really did out ourselves in meeting newcomers.

Seth Millington, Bob Coker and Tass Linn, all of Edmond, Okla., have come and gone already. Tass, who will be a senior in high school this Fall, was in Midland most of the Summer, while Seth and Bob just "dropped in" to pick him up. The boys left Saturday to go to Galveston where they will stay a few days before returning home.

Ronald Farquhar of Big Spring also was a visitor to our Center. He, too will be a senior in high school this Fall and at present is working in the Tex-Harvey oil field.

PRE-SHRUNK FASHIONS—Hoping that the designers of the dress she is wearing had enough foresight to allow for shrinkage, model Evelyn Averill receives helping hands from three other models as she emerges from the pool of the SS Mauretania in New York City. The girls were modeling the latest fashions in a ship-board style show when Evelyn took one step too many and plunged into the pool.

Oldtime Trots Took Their Time

CHICAGO — (NBA) — Maybe you've heard people talk that ball games and other sports events consume too much time these days. You should have been around when sulky races were decided by the best three of five heats.

In 1891, a race at Independence, Iowa, consumed two days and 12 heats. Officials called a room after three horses won two successive heats. The next day three different horses won the seventh, eighth and ninth heats. A seventh horse won the next three and top money.

In 1893, the World's Fair Free-for-All Trot was held at old Washington Park, Chicago, for a $15,000 purse. Nine heats were needed, three a day.

TAYLOR GETS AROUND

ST. LOUIS — (P) — Ben Taylor, left-handed hitting first baseman with the Browns, is playing in his fourth league in two years. He came from Fort Worth early in July. Last year he hit .278 for Mobile in the Southern Association and .222 for Springfield, Mass., in the International League.

week. Athletes from Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Mississippi and Alabama participated. The Midland boys managed to rack up 31 points in their events. Roy Kinsey, Jess Hatfield, Robert Kelding and Johnny Kennedy won first in the mile relay for Midland's only first place. The others who placed were Robert Kelding, fifth in the 120-yard low hurdles; Harold Hensley, fourth in the 200-yard low hurdle; Johnny Kennedy, fourth in 100-yard dash; Jess Hatfield, fifth, 800-yard run. In the 14-15 age group, Joe Ewing, Jerry Greene, Dale Jobe and Bill Mims were third in the 440-yard relay, and Joe Ewing placed fifth in the 100-yard dash and third in the broad jump. We'd say Mr. Ewing had a busy day! Midland is proud of these fellows who made such a fine showing in Houston.

Life-Savers

By the time this column reaches you, several Midland teens are going to be very happy or very UNhappy! The reason is the Senior life-saving course being held at Midland Country Club... the final in this course will be given Thursday night and teens Joan and Joe Turner, Nell and Patty Curran and Waldo Leggett really have been studying those little gray books and practicing on unsuspecting friends! We hope they all pass... (For more reasons than one!)

That's about the dope for this week, so we'll just say "Goover" til next Thursday!

Maine Sardines Have Protein

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
For a low-cost source of protein, Maine sardines are an outstanding value. The pack is tremendous. A few special recipes will turn these low-cost sardines into family "tourists" main dishes. These were prepared by noted Maine cooks exclusively for this column:

THE Short Cut TO PERFECT CRUST

JUST ADD WATER

AT ALL FOOD STORES

spoons salad oil, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes, drained, 1 3/4 cups chopped ripe olives, 1 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 cup prepared biscuit mix, 1 3/4 cup milk.

Saute onion and garlic in oil until golden brown. Add peppers, tomatoes, olives, salt and sugar and cook over low heat for 15 minutes. Add milk to prepared biscuit mix. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead 10 times. Place on greased baking sheet and pat out to large oval, 1 1/2 inch thick. Place sardines on top. Spoon tomato mixture over. Bake 20 minutes in hot (400° degrees F.) oven.

Maine Sardine and Corn Fritters (Makes 12 fritters)
One can Maine sardines, coarsely broken, 1 cup whole kernel corn, 3 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add sardines, corn, salt, pepper and flour. Blend well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot butter in frying pan. Cook until golden brown on both sides.

Maine Sardine and Potato Patties (Makes 4 patties)
One can Maine sardines, coarsely broken, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 to 3 tablespoons butter.

Combine sardines, potatoes, onion, parsley and salt. Form into patties and dust lightly with flour. Fry in butter in frying pan until golden brown on each side.

Broken Home Described As Greatest Single Factor In Background Of Youth Crime

By IRVING MORIN
NEW YORK—(AP)—The broken home, where it involves children or young adults, has become a national disaster.

It is the largest single factor today in the background of youthful crime, dope addiction, sex aberrations and all the thousand and one different instances of exotic behavior by young persons that crowd police files.

Twenty or 25 years ago criminologists and juvenile court officers listed "bad companions" and the major cause in cases of youthful crime or delinquency. It still is one of the leading factors.

But today, the notation "broken home" has far surpassed all other elements. It appears over and over again opposite the names of young offenders.

In the New York area in 1949, for example, 58.4 per cent of these offenders came from homes split by divorce or the death of a parent. The figure was 53.8 for the previous year. Israel Gervier, statistician and professor of criminology at Brooklyn College, said it has risen about 10 per cent since 1933.

21 Is Dangerous Age
No accurate estimate of the cost to the nation in health and property loss, or for the maintenance of law enforcement officers to cope with the problem, was available.

However, these facts may give some approximation:
FBI statistics show that, on a national scale, 21 is the dangerous age. The five largest categories of persons arrested for felonies are 20 to 24. These figures have remained static over a long period.

In the New York area, the 17-year-old leads the list. The five largest age brackets are, from 16 to 21.

Persons under 25 constitute more than half of the total arrested in New York City and its environs. Elsewhere in the nation, the figure ranges from 35 to 45 per cent for the same group.

Psychiatric Assistance
Apart from statistics on crime, it also appears to be a fact that young adults compose the largest single group of people receiving mental and psychiatric assistance in America today.

At the Austin Riggs Foundation in Massachusetts, a private institution, an official said "the majority" there are between 20 and 29 years of age.

In New York's Morisania Hospital, the same 20-to-29 bracket is the biggest today and has been for several years.

A fairly high percentage of teenagers are in the hands of psychiatrists in both institutions.

Parents Are Basic Trouble
Parents themselves frequently bring their children to the probation officer because they "can't handle them." Frequently, the officers say, they discover the base of the trouble in the parents.

Irving W. Halpern, a New York officer, listed a series of causes for the troubles of young people, among them bad housing, lurid news reporting, lurid movies, comic books, etc. He also made this point:

"The neighbors can be an important deterrent to crime. If a youngster cares what his neighbors think he is less likely to get into trouble. But a parent himself must first have the respect of the people who know him and live near him."

In Lancaster County, Pa., Edgar R. Barner, a veteran of 21 years in probation work, said:
"Most of these youngsters are basically all right. They will take discipline if they get it."
"There is still an awful lot of child psychology in the end of a razor strap held by a strong father or mother."

Muleshoe To Hold Will Rogers Roundup
MULESHOE—(AP)—Citizens of Muleshoe and Bailey County, in the South Plains, will honor Will Rogers at a celebration August 30-31.

Governors of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have been invited to the Will Rogers Memorial Roundup.

The cowboy humorist and philosopher spent much of his time on ranches around Muleshoe.

The celebration will include two street parades, two rodeo performances and two dances.

Bunny Fur Goes To College As Over-Blouse, Trousers

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK—The fashions that girl folds into her suitcase when she's college-bound in Autumn are cut for youth and a slim budget. College girls with mink coats and sleek convertibles are most readily seen in movies. In real life, the college girl must get the most for her money.

She gets it when she buys budget furs. She gets the high fashion she wants without need to consider her purchase a long-time investment. She pays for her furs with pin-money and has fun wearing them.

New over-blouse designs appear this year in many versions, many fabrics and in fur. An over-blouse (left) that's worn belted-in over a slim tweed skirt has the right look. It's honey-beige rabbit fur in a design by Betse Cann. It may be worn unbelted over slacks. Here, it's shown with a white turtle-neck sleeveless sweater and white string shorts.

Tapered trousers, too, are going to college this fall and there's a red rabbit fur version (right) by Greta Platry. They're for fun, the way many campus fashions are, and for after-ski warmth, too. They're worn here with a black, turtle-neck jersey and a wide, black fob-belt.

Hopi Indians Rattle Snakes And Get Rattling Good Rain

WINSLOW, ARIZ.—(NEA)—Hopi snake dances pay off.

One of the most spectacular religious rites in the world, the dances on the mesas of the Hopi Indian Reservation in Northern Arizona are a primitive supplication for rain — and that's usually what follows.

White men are stumped for an answer to why it rains after the dances in which the Indians take live, deadly rattlesnakes in their mouths. But the snake priests say it is because the ceremony has been performed in a manner pleasing to the gods.

Rain is an especial blessing on the dry, sun-baked reservation, where sometime between August 20 and 30 this year dances will be held at Walpi and Mishongvovi.

Hopi snake priests will emerge from their kivas after constant study of the sun, clouds, and sky and decree the exact dates a week or so before the dances begin.

On completion of the dances by the Hopi in painted leather kilts and ornamented rattles, swift runners take the wriggling reptiles from the villages to the bottom of the mesas. The "little brothers" carry the prayers of the tribe to the gods.

The snakes made quick connections in 1947 because no sooner had spectators started back over the 60 miles of reservation roads than a devastating cloudburst cut loose.

In 1949 a storm hit all of north-east Arizona 36 hours after the dances, and last year there was also rain, although not in such great amount.

But the results aren't always good. In 1948, for example, the generations-old ceremonies backfired. There had been rain somewhere on the reservation on each of the 30 days preceding the dances. Then the dances were staged and the rains stopped.

Some dancers are bitten by the snakes, but they apparently are not affected by the venom. Many say that before the dance the snakes are teased with feathers and sticks at which they constantly strike, thereby using so much venom they are harmless during the dance. Others contend the Hopi can make himself immune to the poison of the rattlesnakes in a way known only to the tribe.

Although the dances are a sacred ceremonial, they are public and visitors may attend. However, cameras have been banned since 1913. All spectators are searched for hidden cameras to prevent the "spirit in the box" from stealing the Hopi souls.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was written by Francis Bellamy in 1892.

Use Frigerator Bag On Picnics

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

We had tanged bottled soft drinks in a box cold on a picnic last week. We kept them chilled in one of those big insulated frigerator bags (about 22 1/4 by 14 1/4 inches) you can get in super markets. They are good for taking home frozen foods, too, and can be re-used many times. A slip-on metal handle makes it easy to seal and carry them.

For the Labor Day picnic, try these seaside buns. Also the mountain picnic salad. Chill and carry in one of the practical frigerator bags.

Seaside Buns
(6-8 sandwiches)
One-quarter cup mayonnaise, 1 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 eggs.

Avoid These Little Habits That Tip Off Lack Of Poise

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

If you want others to think of you as poised and self-confident: Don't make unnecessary apologies, especially those really intended to bring on a flood of protests.

Learn to make quick decisions. The woman who can never make up her mind about even the smallest thing debating the question out loud or deciding she will have to "think it over" never gives the impression of having self-confident poise.

Don't look for slight—in fact go to the other extreme and overlook them.

Try to allow yourself enough time for whatever you have to do, to avoid last-minute rushing around. This is especially important if you are getting ready to go out to a social gathering or getting ready for guests in your own home.

Don't assume you can't do a thing simply because you never have tried it. Be willing to attempt the difficult now and then.

Give Yourself A Break

Don't run yourself down, or point out the flaws you know you have. Others may overlook them unless you call attention to them.

German Illegitimate Births On Increase

FRANKFURT, GERMANY. — Almost half a million illegitimate children have been born in the western zones of Germany since 1945, and a Munich picture magazine claims 280,000 of these were fathered by Allied troops.

The magazine cites no official source for its assertions, but the West German Government reports 449,494 children born out of wedlock in the Allied zones since 1945. Government officials declined to estimate how many were children of occupation soldiers and their report does not include a detailed breakdown. Post-war figures show a far higher rate than before the Allied occupation.

Indian women of New Mexico bake their bread in outdoor ovens that are built of sun-baked clay and have the appearance of large beehives.

Don't take a subservient attitude toward anyone, for any reason, such as the other's wealth, social position, or whatever.

Don't brag. That is a dead giveaway that you feel the necessity of "selling" yourself.

Go out of your way to be friendly, kind, and considerate in all of your dealings with others.

Don't be afraid to speak up when you have something to say or to keep quiet when you don't. The woman who is quiet as a mouse and the woman who chatters constantly both display a lack of poise.

14,000,000 Checks Are Written Daily

NEW YORK (AP)—Almost 14,000,000 checks are written and cashed every day in the United States, covering approximately 90 per cent of all the exchange money.

Once you cash or deposit a check to your account, machines take over, sorting, listing, endorsing or canceling in one operation. The International Business Machine Corporation, builders of commercial electronic "brains," reports that one operator at a check proof machine averages 1,461 checks per hour.

In one New York bank alone, an average of more than 302,000 checks are handled daily over the entire year.

In 1839, Horace Mann, who has been called the father of the American public system, established the first public normal school in the United States, at Lexington, Mass.

ATHLETES WANTED ABROAD

NEW YORK (AP)—Invitations have been received by the AAU from Ireland and Turkey to be represented in international sporting events in those countries. Ireland is inviting US wrestlers to compete in the Irish Open Wrestling Championship at National Stadium, Dublin on November 24. Turkey would like to have one of our outstanding basketball teams compete in an international tourney at Istanbul, September 14-24. The AAU wrestling and basketball committees are now considering these invitations and will make their decisions shortly.

HISSING BIRD

The wryneck, a European bird, is so called because when the female is disturbed on its nest it whistles and hisses like a snake, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Shells Are Menace To Rome Children

ROME (AP)—War, six years after its end, still takes a deadly toll of children in Italy.

The average number killed annually picking up or playing with hand grenades, bombs and mines is 1,400—three or four every day. An intensive campaign has been started by the National Organization for Accident Prevention to cut or eliminate this slaughter. The organization has distributed thousands of posters showing a boy about to touch a half-buried shell. A frantic mother in the background shouts: "No, death is there."

Good Luck Charm Fails To Pay Off

BANGKOK (AP)—Soothsayer Nai Lek Danasa collapsed and was rushed to a hospital when a charm he was demonstrating failed to "protect" him after he had stabbed himself.

Nai Lek had offered the tallman to Nai Charan Saengsuwan, claiming it would guard him against all harm.

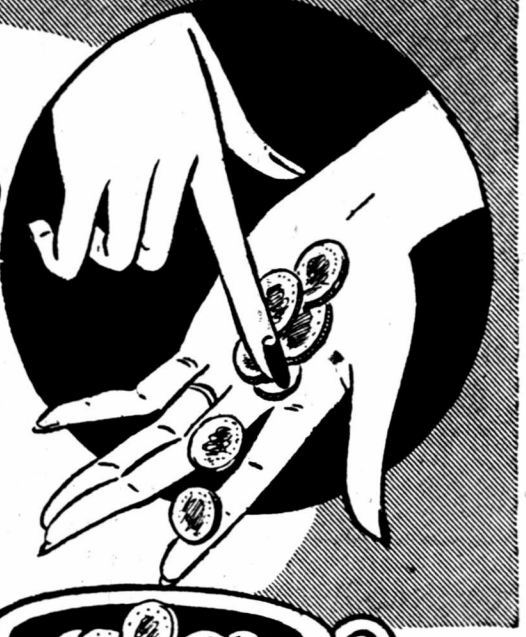

Nai Charan was doubtful. So Nai Lek picked up a knife and stabbed himself three times. As blood flowed from his wounds, Nai Lek fainted. Nai Charan rushed him to the hospital.

Short Style Story For Autumn

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—The dinner-to-dancing dress is notably short in most of the Fall collections. There are long evening gowns for really fancy occasions but many of these are done in a mood of slinky elegance that's a flashback to the sinuous Thirties.

The taffeta, the satin, the nylon net, the ottoman that make up these short evening frocks are cut, for the most part, with very full skirts and cuffed tops or wide necklines. The skirts sometimes are stiffened by means of a lining; sometimes given crinoline petticoats. The effect is bell-like, the skirts swish and sway as the wearer walks.

Colors are pale for these short gowns. Designer Hannah Troy calls them "water pastels." These are the new pale pinks, ice blues and champagne-color parr-dye dresses, done in dull satin. Nylon nets, in gray or taupe, appear in this designer's collection. They are given glittering touches in smocking, in skirt or hip decorations, by means of bugle beads, iridescent sequins, rhinestones and pearls.

Gray nylon net, cut by Hannah Troy into a short evening frock (left), has a very full, stiffened skirt. Bodice has the uncollared look with a high neckline that ties in a bow of self-cording. A jeweled effect, worked over the bodice, is done with gray braid embroidered in pearls, rhinestones, bugle beads and sequins. The jeweling is eased off on the skirt by means of a raved design.

Another after-five dress from this same collection is periwinkle blue taffeta (right) with a crisp cuff framing the face in portrait effect. The cuff, lightly draped about the shoulders, swerves down through the bodice into a full, stiffened wraparound skirt that buttons.

According to the American Museum of Natural History, the least depth at which fish are designated "deep-sea fish" is 100 fathoms.

Statues Come Clean In This Contest As Soap Gets In The Eyes Of Judges

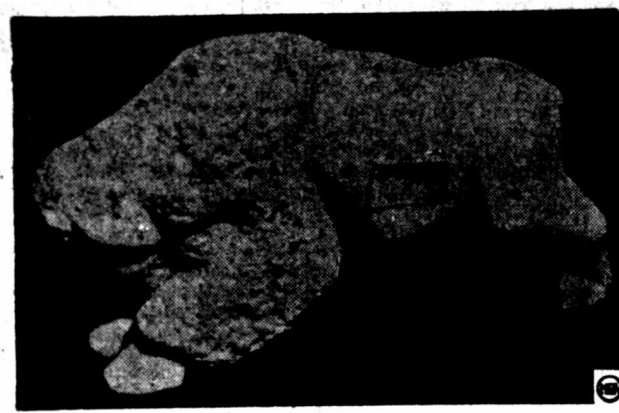

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Eavesdropping on a jury at work is an instructive and educational pastime. Even if the jury is only jurying about soap sculpture.

This was a collection of sculptors, artists and art teachers judging the 24th annual National Soap Sculpture Contest. They were an arty group—shirt-sleeved, pipe-smoking, mustached. Except the women jurors, of course.

On five double-tiered tables were the entries, resting in all their chiseled glory against a pale orange backdrop. It's amazing what can be done to a cake of soap. Animals, houses, groups of people, portraits, abstractions, flowers and something that looked like Dagmar but turned out to be "Basket Weavers In Repose" were among the creations.

The jurors swept down the aisles, picking out the entries they liked for the final judging.

Loose Ideas
One juror picked up an egg-like sculpture. He turned it around and held it up to the light.

"It had an idea, but lost it somewhere," he said.

Another one picked up the same thing.

"Very rhythmic," she said.

They explained that the entries could be carved out of more than one cake of soap, but most soap-sculptors preferred to use just one.

Soap is a fine medium for a beginning sculptor, they pointed out, because if they lounge up a work they can always use it around the house.

"More and more laundry is being done with used statues," said a juror.

Another juror had discovered an interesting thing on one of the tables. It was sort of a stylized paper clip.

"I like the back better than the front," he said, turning it around.

"Well," said another, "backs are always better."

They moved on to a group of dachshunds.

"That's rather amusing," a juror said. "There's not enough humor in sculpture anyway."

Another juror went back to the paper clip and studied it thoughtfully for a few moments.

"It's a little too non-representative for me," he said and put it back.

A few of them grouped around a thing that looked like a cheese omelet with the hives.

"Study it carefully," one urged.

"It's very conservative."

"A little overdone, isn't it?" said another.

"I must confess I don't get anything from that," said a third, turning back to the dachshunds.

Two others were studying a pair of statuettes, representing Adam and Eve. Eve looked fetching in her 99 44 100 per cent pure nudity.

"I wish Adam didn't look so dependent," one of them said.

"He had a right to look dependent," the other answered, with a philosophical chuckle.

When all the picking, debating and voting was over, the winner of the senior class turned out to be something called "Boys Fighting, Peace Fighting," by Edward Anthony, of Detroit, Mich.

"Don't tell anybody," one of them whispered to another, but isn't that chipped a little?"

It was, but nobody seemed to mind.

Nose Shine Can Vanish With Use Of New Powder

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Most of grandmother's beauty preparations, such as beet-juice stain for the lips and rice powder for the nose, have gone the way of the hobble skirt and the ostrich-plume hat.

One of her favorite make-up aids, however, has quietly held its own for the past fifty years and is this

Disposable sheets of powder-coated paper, mounted in tiny book, provide handy means for removing grease and soil, and for smoothing on a pearly layer of powder to enhance complexion.

This re-emerging as beauty news. It is an English product, a small packet of powder-coated sheets of paper which are detached and used much like a powder puff.

These coated-sheets remove grease, surface grime and perspiration with a single stroke and leave, instead of an unpleasant shine on nose and cheeks, a delicate "dull-finish" look.

The powder pages, which are assembled in a tiny book about the size of a compact, are disposable, which eliminates for all time the bugaboo of a soiled compact puff.

The product is available in three shades—white, rose natural and rachel—all of which enhance your complexion with a transparent, feminine look.

There are 20,000 known diseases, causing losses totaling millions of dollars annually, of useful plants in the United States.

Rail Board Slates Two Area Hearings

AUSTIN —(P)—The Railroad Commission Wednesday scheduled these public hearings:

September 20—British American Oil Producing Company, to water-flood and utilize the Payton field, Ward and Pecos Counties.

September 25—Tide Water Associated Oil Company, for discovery allowable rights and a new field designation for the producing reservoir of its Dickerson well No. 1, Martin County.

The distance that radio waves travel under water depends upon their frequency. Long wave lengths, (low frequency signals), go farther in salt water than do short waves, (high frequency signals).
