Humble Completes Fusselman Opener In S-C Crane Area

Humble Oil & Refining Company reported 24-hour pumping potential for its No. 3 Jax Cowden, Fusselman discovery in South-Central Crane County.

The new oiler finished for 62 barrels of 42-gravity oil from perforations, opposite the Fusselman, at 7,388-7,425 feet. That interval had been treated with several injections of acid.

No. 3 Cowden is four miles south of the Block 31 field and nine miles west of the town of Crane.

The well was drilled to total depth of 8,284 feet in the Ellenburger. That section, and all others back up to 7,425 feet, failed to develop possibilities of commercial production.

Location is 690 feet from south and west lines of section 47, block X, CCSD&RONG survey.

Reef Top Is Called In Dawson Wildcat; DST Is Being Run

El Tee Oil Company No. 1-96 Briley and others, wildcat in Central-West Dawson County, 15 miles northwest of Lamesa, is at total depth of 8,640 feet in the Pennsylvanian reef, and operator is taking a drillstem test to total depth.

The reef was topped at 8,200 feet, datum point minus 5,529 feet. Drillstem for this project is 660 feet from north and 860 feet from east lines of section 96, block M, ELARR survey and three miles east of the Gaines County line.

Sun Spots Site In Kent For Explorer

One-half mile southwest of production in the Clairmont, Lower Pennsylvanian field of Central Kent County, Sun Oil Company spotted location for its No. 1-A H. W. Davis.

The project, contracted to 9,000 feet, will be drilled 885 feet from west and 680 feet from south lines of section 9, block 98, H&TC survey and one and one-half miles south of the town of Clairmont.

Ellenburger Entered In NE Scurry; Top Has No Oil Shows

Lion Oil Company No. 1 C. O. Helms, Northeast Scurry County wildcat, eight miles north of Hobbs, and 24 miles northwest of Snyder, has entered the Ellenburger and is drilling ahead.

The top of the Ellenburger was called from samples at 7,194 feet. That is on a datum of minus 5,062 feet.

DST Is Taken

A drillstem test was run at 7,189-7,223 feet. The total was open 45 minutes. There was a weak blow of air throughout the period.

Recovery was 20 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 690 feet from east lines of section 63, block 97, H&TC survey. This wildcat has no logged any shows of petroleum in any section. It has drilled through down to now.

Packer Fails On DST In Midland

Greenbrier Oil Company and associates No. 1 O. H. McAllister, Northeast Midland County wildcat, two miles southeast of Germania, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 40, block 37, T-1-B; T&P survey, took a drillstem test in the Spraberry at 7,410-52 feet. The packer failed after two hours.

There was a very weak blow of air for seven minutes and it then died. Recovery was 600 feet of very slightly gas cut drilling mud. There was no shows of oil or of formation water.

Found Only Gas

Since entering the Spraberry at 7,332 feet, on a datum of minus 4,610 feet this wildcat has logged only slight shows of gas. It has not reported having encountered any shows of oil.

It is projected to 12,000 feet to explore into the Devonian.

SE Midland Driver Extender Finished

James H. Snowden and Associates have completed their No. 1-15 J. W. Driver as a one-half mile east extension to the north end of the Driver-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County.

The project was completed for a daily flowing potential of 370.25 barrels of 37.9-gravity oil and no water. Completion was from open hole section at 7,068-7,130 feet after 3,000 (Continued On Page Twelve)

Bootleggers' War Is Threat In Texas, Says Crime Hunter

HOUSTON—(P)—State Rep. Charles Murphy says Texas has been divided up "in a business-like manner" by bootleggers operating under a system which threatens an outbreak of gang warfare such as America knew during prohibition days.

Murphy, a member of the House Investigative Committee, said "a bad, typical gangland fight over gambling rights is going on in and around Waco."

"National organized and syndicated crime has been using Dallas as the focal point for its attempt to move into Texas," he said in an interview.

The legislator said there isn't much gambling going on here now. The committee is to resume hearings shortly after a recess of several weeks.

"It's my understanding that Houston has for a long time been more or less a way station for narcotics and especially for marihuana coming in from foreign countries," Murphy said.

Potentially Dangerous
"That potentially is a very dangerous situation. If the bootleggers get to fighting over a division of territory, Texas may have an outbreak of gang warfare like other places had during the prohibition era."

"These bootleggers are not moonshiners who make their own liquor. They just bootleg it into dry areas (Continued On Page Five)

Recreation Cited As Midland Need

The need for a comprehensive recreation program in Midland—with adequate playground facilities was stressed Monday by John Redfern, president of the Little League baseball organization.

"Midland for too long has concentrated too much on its material wealth," Redfern told members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Scharbauer.

"Now we need to devote more attention to that which is the strength of this community and this country—our youth."

Redfern outlined the activities which have been carried on here this summer in the way of juvenile recreation.

There were two teams for the older boys, four teams in the Shorthorn League and six teams in the Little League.

"Next year, the Little League will be doubled in size, with 12 teams participating," he said.

He added that the planning and zoning commission, of which he is a member, has recommended to the city council a comprehensive program, including the establishment of 10 recreation areas in the city.

Midland Soldier Recovering From Battle Wounds

Private John L. Rice, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rice, Sr., of 1104 North Big Spring Street, Midland, is recovering in a Tokyo, Japan, hospital from wounds received in battle in Korea.

Mrs. Rice, the soldier's mother said Monday a letter from her son indicated recovery would be a "slow process." Young Rice, in combat five months as a bazooka man, was wounded by shrapnel in the back and neck.

A brother, Bert Rice, who is with a Navy fighter group in Japan, has visited him in the hospital. The wounded man joined the Army last September and was assigned overseas to the First Cavalry Division.

County Adopts $531,530 Budget

A $531,530 budget for Midland County for 1952 was adopted within a few minutes Monday by the Commissioners Court.

A public hearing had been called on the budget but no one appeared to question any of its items.

At the same time, the county commissioners officially set the tax rate at $1.00 per $100 valuation.

Latest War Games May Outmode Mass Paratroop Jumping

FORT BRAGG, N. C.—(P)—The Carolina war games ended Monday in complete victory by U. S. forces.

Umpires said the 43rd and 28th Divisions, aided by 6,000 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division who jumped over the weekend, "knocked out" the enemy aggressor.

The infantrymen and the paratroopers linked up for the final push that overwhelmed the enemy as the two-week Exercise Southern Pine closed. The maneuver, biggest field training exercise since World War II, involved 110,000 soldiers and airmen.

The director, Lt. Gen. John Hodge, said the maneuvers were worth five times their cost, and the 43rd and 28th Divisions, which will join General Eisenhower's European Defense Army this fall, received "valuable field training."

Generals predicted mass paratroop jumps by airborne infantry soon may be outmoded by big assault landing aircraft.

They were impressed by the first tests of the C-122 as a fast carrier of heavy equipment in the war games. And they see no reason why infantrymen couldn't be landed with the same efficiency.

Spectacular, But Costly
The mass jumps and dropping of heavy equipment by parachutes are daring and spectacular—but sometimes they are costly in both men and equipment, even under ideal conditions.

Body Of Kidnaped Hotel Clerk Found; Ex-Boy Friend Held

MIAMI, FLA.—(P)—The body of Lewant Newman, 23, kidnaped by bandits five days ago, was found in a wooded area Monday.

Mrs. Newman, mother of a child of six, was abducted from the Gould Hotel, north of Miami Beach, Wednesday night. Also missing was $225 from the hotel cash drawer.

O. D. Henderson, chief deputy, believe his disappearance was a kidnaping.

Henderson reported a man is under arrest. He said he was a former friend of Mrs. Newman, who is separated from her husband.

Bloodstains, a shoe, a broken belt buckle and one earring were found outside the hotel when the girl disappeared.

Government Payroll Continues Increasing

WASHINGTON—(P)—Total federal civilian employment passed the two and one-half-million mark last month.

An increase of 18,900 persons in this country and overseas between July 1 and August 1 brought the total to 2,508,400, the Civil Service Commission reported Monday.

However, the commission said, the rate of hiring by executive agencies in the Washington area declined. The defense agencies continued to expand "but at a slower rate than in recent months."

U.S. Copper Flow Halted By Walkouts

By The Associated Press

America's strategic copper industry closed down Monday. Union leaders asked President Truman to take it over when last-minute negotiations failed to avert a strike.

As a 7 a.m. deadline moved across the nation, members of the Independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers went off the job.

Hit first were the smelters on the East coast, then those in the Midwest. Picket lines were set up. No violence was reported.

'Big Four' Hit Hard
Officers of the independent union telegraphed their seizure request to President Truman early Monday.

They announced the appeal a few minutes after the mediation talks in Washington, D. C., broke up after more than 12 hours of negotiation.

The strike hit the "big four" of American copper hard. They are Kennecott, Anaconda Copper Mining Company, American Smelting and Refining Company and Phelps-Dodge Copper Corporation. Also included are the Coeur d'Alene and Miami, Ariz., areas and American Brass Company plants in New York and Connecticut.

The strike call includes operations in Montana, Idaho, California, Arizona, Utah, Connecticut, New York, Washington, New Jersey, Nebraska, Texas, Maryland, New Mexico and Nevada.

Permanent 'Peace Force' Is Growing, Austin Tells VFW

NEW YORK—(P)—Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative to the United Nations, Monday said organization of a permanent UN "peace force" to resist aggression is underway "at this very hour."

He said it is up to the Kremlin to decide whether "a coalition against aggression and a coalition against the Soviet Union shall be one and the same thing."

Austin addressed the 52nd national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, here for a week-long convention.

The convention, which opened Sunday, already has before it a resolution urging President Truman to act in the case of William Oatis, Associated Press correspondent imprisoned in Communist Czechoslovakia on spy charges. A vote is scheduled Tuesday with overwhelming passage predicted.

Austin said in his prepared address that the General Assembly of UN has asked member states to maintain specially-trained units within their armed forces for quick service "as United Nations forces."

He said 23 nations have supported the move "and others are certain to join."

UN Spokesman Says Reds Reverse Field

MUNSA, KOREA—(P)—A spokesman for the United Nations Command Monday said Red armistice delegates at Kaesong are indicating willingness to discuss a "militarily realistic" cease-fire zone along a line other than the 38th parallel.

But, said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuccio, "overnight" the Reds reverted to their adamant stand for the old political boundary as the Korean war cease-fire line. He said the Red negotiators apparently received "new instructions from higher up."

Some British newspapers reported from Washington the United States is ready—if Britain agrees—to offer an American oil official to run the great Abadan Refinery and so help settle the immediate issue holding up the Anglo-Iranian negotiations.

President Truman's envoy, who helped bring British and Iranian negotiators around a table at Teheran, called at Prime Minister Attlee's office to talk to him and his colleagues about the stalemate in Iran.

Harriman is Washington-bound. He had lunch with Richard Stokes, Britain's lord privy seal, who returned from Teheran last week after unsuccessful talks with Iranian leaders.

Mixed Allied Team Snatches Russian Jet Plane From Behind Enemy Lines

LONDON—(P)—The story of how a mixed team of Americans, Britons and South Koreans snatched a Russian jet plane from the water 100 miles inside the Communist lines in Korea was told Monday.

The plane, an MIG-15, is under study at the Wright-Patterson Air Terminal Base in Dayton, Ohio. There U. S. experts will dig out the secrets of construction and design which have made the Russian fighter in some respects superior to any Western plane now flying.

The British Admiralty said the MIG-15, shot down in a dogfight with U. S. fighters, was ditched by its pilot in shallow water off the west coast of Korea.

Planes from the British light fleet carrier Glory were sent to fix its exact position and photograph it. Then a U. S. Navy helicopter took off from the Glory and dropped a buoy to mark the position for the daring salvage attempt.

The task of grabbing the plane deep in enemy territory was assigned to Capt. W. L. M. Brown and the 1,600-ton Royal Navy frigate Cardigan Bay.

He enlisted a U. S. Navy shallow-draft landing craft equipped with a lifting crane and crew with U. S. Air Force and Army technicians. A South Korean motor launch also

Radio Blast Fails To Slam Door On Renewal Of Talks

TOKYO—(P)—The Communist high command early Tuesday bitterly rejected the Allied reply on an alleged Kaesong neutrality violation but left the door open to a possible resumption of the Korean armistice talks.

The Reds broke off the stalemate talks August 23, alleging that an Allied plane had attempted to "murder" the Communist delegation at the Kaesong conference site.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme United Nations commander, told them Saturday their charges were "malicious lies" but that he was willing to resume the armistice effort.

In a reply broadcast early Tuesday by the Peiping radio, North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-Huai said Ridgway's statement was "entirely unsatisfactory."

They accused him of manufacturing incidents to break up the truce talks and of "slandering" the Communists.

Following a wordy complaint that reiterated all the old Red charges, they then stated:

"We hereby once more propose to you that this grave action of provocation should be dealt with by your side with an attitude of serious responsibility. Then the continuation of the negotiations for a just and reasonable armistice agreement can be guaranteed."

Ask Re-Investigation
"At the same time we demand that your liaison officers proceed to Kaesong to carry out a re-investigation jointly with our liaison officers of the incident that occurred on August 23, when your military aircraft bombed and strafed the vicinity of the residence of our delegation, in order once again to prove the full validity of our protests."

The Reds, after a long weekend of vitriolic propaganda against the United States and the United Nations, thus passed the buck back to General Ridgway.

On the basis of the previous exchanges, it appeared unlikely he would consider their response satisfactory.

However, the Red invitation to renew the investigation at Kaesong and to seek a settlement indicated clearly they were not yet prepared to cancel the deadlocked truce talks once and for all.

The official Red reply reiterated their original charges, accused Ridgway of "slandering" the Communists, and told him:

"Your attitude regarding the affair is such a distortion of the fact, such a self-contradiction that it is confusion of right and wrong, and such a self-contradiction that it is very hard to make people believe that your aim is not one of manufacturing incidents and undermining the negotiations."

Evans Has Good Reason To Avoid Fancy Clothes

By GENE EVANS (For Ersaline Johnson, who is on vacation)
HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— People see me on the street sometimes and look at me curiously. I dress informally. Almost sloppily some times.
They point at me any way, "Is that Gene Evans, the guy who was in 'The Steel Helmet'?" They don't seem to figure a movie actor could look like me.
It's got a long history.
I knocked around for a long time and don't feel comfortable in fancy clothes. I like it free and easy; I've always had trouble with clothes.
Three years ago, when I was taking any job I could get my hands on (as usual) to keep acting, I landed what I thought was the greatest opportunity of all time.
This was it, I thought. It was a chance to play four parts at once in an English farce called "Tons of Money."
I played a minister, a young English nobleman, a Mexican and an American insurance broker all in the same play. I was sure movie jobs would fall on me like rain.
I needed clothes.
This was in Pasadena. I went to a merchant I knew there and talked him out of a gray suit and a blue suit—cuffs. The play went on. Needless to say I was a smash hit. Ravas. But offers of new jobs? NOT ONE!
I started avoiding that suit man. After a long time I couldn't avoid him any more. He was very nice about it, so I asked if I could work it off. I worked putting tags on suits for about 40 hours straight.
When the sale came off the poor guy must have lost hundreds of dollars. Every customer who asked about a suit was met by a frantic salesman who took the suit off his back and into the back room before I could get to it.

cause the price was wrong.
Three years later—three and a half weeks ago in fact—I paid the man what I owed him. Plus an extra $100 to keep his friendship.
Another story.
But that's only one story...
Later, as the old career began to bubble a little, I had to dress up real pretty for a premiere of "Assigned to Danger." I had earned some dough by then and invested in a '29 Model A Ford. I loved that Ford, but I knew I'd have to hide it in the parking lot.
Wouldn't look right, especially with a starlet riding in it with me. I got there early, and hid the car in the parking lot.
After the show, the car wouldn't start. I had to get my date behind the wheel. I stood in front of the radiator and pushed hard to get it rolling backwards, shouting explanations to the girl.
Three studio heads walked out and there we were, making a lovely picture. Me pushing. The girl steering and working the brake.
I turned so red they didn't recognize me. Along with my ego, the clothes were ruined.
Bouncer Bounced.
In 1946 I was working as a bouncer in a waiter's uniform in a bar in Altadena. I'd made one or two cowboy pictures by then and was praying nobody would know me.
One night, two huge truck drivers got into an argument and I started to stop it, but wasn't doing too good. The boss, a big bruiser, came over to help me out, and grabbed them both in arm locks around their necks and started to drag them out, one bruiser under each arm like a man carrying two big sacks.
One of the men started to get wise, so the boss released one of them and swung under to hit the other one, who ducked. I was leaning over like a big goof, and the punch caught me on the jaw. I went out, staggering back against the wall.
When I came to, some big hick was standing over me screaming, "I knowed I knowed him. I knowed I knowed him when I seen him. It was that waiter's rig that fooled me." The minute he went out I knowed I knowed him from them cowboy pictures.
It's been rough.
You can see now why I don't dress like Beau Brummel.

Cotton Farmers, Hopping Mad About Prices, Claim Government 'Sell-Out'

ATLANTA —(AP)— Thousands of the nation's cotton farmers are hopping mad as they set about gathering and selling one of the biggest crops in all history.
Some of them complain bitterly that the government has played a mean trick on them. Based on a belt-wide sampling of comment, their reasoning goes something like this:
The Department of Agriculture, with a great beating of publicity tom-toms, called for a 16,000,000 bale crop to make up for last year's very short turn-out, meet defense needs and provide reserves. The call went out when cotton was selling around 45 cents.
Just at planting time, the outlook for even higher prices became so rosy the OPS felt moved to put on a 45.75 ceiling. Farmer spokesmen objected. They wanted no bar on the mounting price.
The farmers, moved by appeals to their patriotism, also by a desire to reap a rich dollar harvest, went all out. They produced not 16,000,000 bales, but what the government has calculated as 17,266,000 bales.
And the present price is not 45 cents, nor even 40, for which the bulk of last year's 10,012,000 bales sold. It is down to 34 or 33 cents and some fear that, in the end, the government loan support of around 32 cents is about all to expect.
One of the sharpest outcries came from Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, who charged that the farmer, unaccustomed to "the wiles of Washington," had been taken for a ride. Some of the growers are almost as critical.
Christopher Keller of Tallulah, La., with 3,500 acres planted, declared the government's responsibility for a reasonable price "a moral, if not legal." Neil McHenry of Monroe, La., 1,800 acres, foresaw "a terrific beating" ahead.
"The farmers," observed, "were led to believe that they were going to get 45 cents a pound when they planted the crop."
Farmer spokesmen demanded as early as March that the support price be set at 90 per cent of the ceiling, which would be above 40 cents. With prices breaking sharply, they renewed the demand this month, only to be turned down by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.
Linder called on the farmers to plow up every third row to cut the supply and raise the price. This throw-back from the desperate 30s, however, brought only scattered amens from the farmers.
Stockpiling Urged
Government buying and stockpiling 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bales then was proposed. Government authorities took this idea under advisement and at the same time promised to push exports to the utmost as a price stabilization measure.
Some thought as much as 6,000,000 bales might be sold abroad through Export-Import Bank loans.
Over the cotton belt, well-grounded movements developed to put millions of bales into the government loan to cut the salable supply and jack up prices through orderly marketing. The goal generally was half the crop, which could add a terrific 8,500,000 bales to the government holdings.
The government loan program allows the farmer to reclaim his cotton and sell it himself if the price goes up. The movement in the loan direction is in line with an official Washington view that the crop should bring a pretty decent price if it all is not dumped on the market at once.
High Production Costs
An economist might argue that the growers won't be bad off to take the loan price of 32 cents. The basis should give them some $2,750,000,000 for their staple, $750,000,000 more than the approximately $2,000,000,000 they got last year, an increase of more than 33 1/3 per cent.
The farmer reply is that this year's costs will run them. Some report, for instance, that picking labor started out at $3.50 a hundred pounds and will reach $5 in parts of the belt. Since it takes around 1,400 pounds of seed cotton to make a 500-pound bale, the picking cost at $5 would be $70 a bale, almost half the selling price at 32 cents.
Also to be figured is the cost of fertilizer, planting, cultivating, poisoning, insects, hauling, ginning, bagging and ties.
Promising Young Film Starlet Once Was Polio Victim
By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Mari Blanchard, recently New York's top model of bathing suits and now a promising movie starlet, was evoking whistles from admiring males.
"You'd never suspect," remarked a bystander, "that she once was crippled by polio."
Mari, a vivacious, shapely girl has all the physical assets for Hollywood stardom, told me her story.
"I was nine when polio struck," she related, "in my right arm and the right side of my face. My Mother—thank God—was a physical therapist and she had been working for years on the treatment of polio along the same lines as Sister Kenny. She wouldn't let the doctors put me in a cast. Instead, she started me exercising.
"In a couple of years, I had recovered enough to start learning to walk again. First I had two crutches, then one, then I walked unaided. My mother told me: 'You have two legs, use them!' In three years I was back in school.
"Mari did a great deal of swimming as part of her therapy and the results paid off when she later tried a modeling career.

USGS CAUTIOUSLY AGREES—Farmers Say Oil Hunter Crews Are Causing Them To Lose Precious Water

AUSTIN —(AP)— The chief of the U. S. Geological Survey's Texas Ground Water Survey cautiously agreed Saturday with West Texas farmers who think oil exploration is causing them to lose water.
The drought-stricken farmers' theory is that seismograph crews searching for oil may be allowing water to escape when they drill exploratory holes through two water strata.
But the water engineer for the USGA, William L. Broadhurst, doubted that test holes drilled in preliminary oil investigation are causing serious water losses in many instances.
If they are, he believed the farmers have a legal remedy to prevent such damage to their underground water supplies.
A group of West Texas farmers recently told Dean Chenoweth, editor of the San Angelo Standard-Times, their wells were going dry.
They said seismograph crews have drilled holes in the area through one water stratum to a deeper water stratum, then have left these holes without plugging them.
Top Stratum Drained
As a result, the farmers claimed, the top water stratum is being drained into a lower underground river and is running off.
"Yes, it's true that where a hole is drilled through two sands, the water might drain from one sand to the other," Broadhurst said. "In fact, we've seen evidence of that in water well drilling in the Houston area, and we've heard hearsay reports that seismograph crews have caused the same thing."
"Both this underground river talk is a little bit on the story side, rather than fact," he continued.
He said there is little evidence of underground rivers in Texas. Some deep caverns, maybe—but no underground rivers that he knows of.
The biggest problem of drainage from one water sand to another, Broadhurst believed, would be the expense to the farmer of drilling his water well deeper to recover the precious liquid.
"East of San Angelo in the Lipan Flat, water in the Alluvium, or surface, sand and gravel stands higher than in the underlying limestone. They say they actually can hear the water draining to the limestone," he related.
"That just means the water is in a different table and can still be recovered—but they have to go deeper."
"The legal remedy to prevent seismograph crews from causing a water 'leak' is to require the oil explorer to use casing or to plug back the test hole above the lower water level, Broadhurst advised.
"Those crews have to get a permit from the county if they drill on public land, or a permit from the land owner if they're on private property. The permit shouldn't be issued unless they agree to plug back," he declared.
Any action to protect the water level is up to the individual citizen, Broadhurst indicated. He said neither the Railroad Commission—which regulates most oil matters—nor the State Board of Water Engineers has found anything in the law which they think gives them authority over the seismograph crews.

Control Of Hearst Stocks By Former Actress Is Denied

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— A paper supposedly giving former actress Marion Davies voting control of Publisher William Randolph Hearst's enterprises "has no more effect than if it never existed," special administrators of his estate contend.
Reports have been published here that Miss Davies and Hearst signed an agreement Nov. 5, 1950, under which they were to be the only two trustees in a voting trust for the stock of the Hearst Corporation, holding company for the publisher's vast enterprises.
Under the agreement, Hearst and Miss Davies supposedly pooled their stock for voting purposes and in the event of the death of either, the other should vote the entire stock for his or her lifetime.
Henry S. Mackay, Jr., and Randolph Hearst, special administrators of the publisher's estate, which was scheduled for probate hearing Monday issued a statement late Sunday saying they have known about what they term "the so-called agreement" of Nov. 5, 1950.
They said that although published reports have the paper making Miss Davies sole voting trustee in control of all the Hearst property, "this so-called agreement was never executed and for this and many other reasons has no more effect than if it never existed."

Five Probes Seek Cause Of Air Crash

OAKLAND, CALIF. —(AP)— Five investigations were aimed Monday at determining the cause of the United Air Lines crash Friday which killed 50 persons.
The probes were pressed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, Douglas Aircraft Company (maker of the plane), Pratt-Whitney (maker of the plane's engines), the FBI and the Alameda County sheriff's office.
A DC-6B, United's newest and fastest four-engine transport, ended a cross-country flight when it rammed into a hill only a few minutes flight from Oakland Airport.
United announced Saturday night that the last body had been recovered and identified. The victims included 44 passengers and a crew of six.

Home And Children Are About Best 'Projects' For Mother

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A mother of three young children was explaining why she dropped out of an organization whose membership included most of the young social leaders of the town.

"It wasn't that the organization didn't have some high aims or that its members didn't work hard on their charitable projects," she said. "It was just that membership required so much time I found I was having to turn over my main job—care of my children—to a succession of 'poor help' in order to do the worthwhile jobs the organization expected me to do. Somehow that just didn't make sense to me. It doesn't make sense for mothers whose children are young enough to need their care or old enough to need their guidance to get so busy on even the most 'worthwhile' outside project that the children are neglected.

Yet it happens in the best of families—and often seems to happen most frequently in families where the mother is well-educated and should possess the qualities that would make her a good and understanding mother.

The trouble is, these women sometimes get the idea that in order to "do good" they have to look for projects outside the home. They figure they aren't using their education and their brains or making the most of their opportunities if they put home and children first. Then they are being "just housewives" which they regard as a little beneath them.

But the truth of the matter is, nothing should cut in on a woman's duty to her family during the years when she is needed at home.

The country is full of middle-aged women whose children are grown and whose home responsibilities take little of their time. They are the ones who should carry the load of worthwhile outside projects.

Young women who have heavy home responsibilities, shouldn't push them aside or onto somebody far less capable of handling them just to be do-gooders. (All rights reserved. NEA Service, Inc.)

Fading Victory In Berlin

A little more than two years ago the West was flush with its air-lift triumph over the Berlin blockade imposed by the Russians. The Kremlin had backed down and called off its effort to stifle freedom in the city.

Western statesmen understandably were pleased that the air-lift plus the economic boycott of Soviet Germany had produced a "situation of strength" which the Russians felt compelled to accept.

But a look at Berlin today suggests that the triumph was something less than complete. Marguerite Higgins, competent correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, revisited the city recently and observed many disquieting signs.

A "baby blockade" against the export of West Berlin's goods has been in progress some time. We are meeting it with a "little air-lift" of more than a dozen flights a day.

Miss Higgins found the Berlin press crowded with stories of Soviet attempts to cripple the city's business. Kidnapings of West Berlin's officials and citizens by East zone police go on as before.

It is easy to recall, too, that many interruptions of the city's economic life have occurred in the months since the big blockade was lifted. What Miss Higgins saw were merely the August, 1951, variations on a constant Soviet theme.

And as she pointed out, Berlin faces continual harassments of this sort in the future. She added: "The West cannot yet claim victory in Berlin. It is clear that the Soviet Union seeks now to do by degrees what it was unable to do by one dramatic blow."

Testimony is general that the 1948-49 Allied boycott of Russian Germany really was damaging. And the air-lift's success was seriously embarrassing to Moscow's prestige. Yet it seems clear now that we did not wisely press our advantage.

We were so overjoyed at the fact the Russians were willing to back down at all, that we failed to make them backtrack enough. Perhaps we were too busy congratulating ourselves at the success of our tactics. We forgot that the Russians are tireless bargainers, who try to snatch partial victory even from acknowledged defeat.

Mayor Ernst Reuter of Berlin believes we should have maintained the air-lift and boycott a few months longer to heighten our bargaining power with the Kremlin. Others feel that our great error was in not getting advance guarantees of free road and rail access to Berlin before lifting our counter-blockade measures.

At any rate, the results are clear beyond dispute. We did not gain the whole victory. Berlin today is the constant victim of small sieges. The city's predicament is a cue to our persistent failure to understand the Soviet Communist mind.

Probably it's too late to repair the damage in Berlin. But what has happened there since 1949 should be a sharp lesson to the Americans sitting across from the Communists at Kaesong.

Once again, ours is the basic advantage. We have won whatever victory can be claimed. That the Reds are negotiating at all is proof of that. But they will salvage from their defeat everything they can squeeze out of us. We simply must not allow ourselves to be squeezed. "Situations of strength" will avail us little if we do not exert the strength when we have it.

Good Time Was Had By All

If future East German Youth Festival could be counted on to work out like this year's, the Western powers might be persuaded to finance them. For there's good reason to believe we got more propaganda advantage out of the affair than the Russians did.

Western authorities estimate that some 300,000 Communist-directed youngsters defied their masters and sneaked across Berlin's zonal boundaries into West Berlin. They sampled Western food, window-shopped, and saw all the other signs and sights of life in the free world.

Only the most elaborate Red roadblocks finally reduced this curious flow to a trickle. The whole spectacle must have been pretty dismaying to the Kremlin.

And unless the Reds resort to extremes to isolate the youths who strayed into forbidden territory, the kids back home are going to get a real earful.

Ambition is a longing some folks have for a good comfortable place in which to do nothing.

Tomorrow is the day that arrives just after you have finished figuring out today's problems.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Harry J. Anslinger says: Children are destroyed by the narcotic peddler; Narcotic traffic is intricate and skillful; Bureau of Narcotics is a model agency.

(Editorial Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists. Today's being by Harry J. Anslinger, the Treasury Department's commissioner of narcotics and the U. S. representative on the United Nations Narcotics Commission. In international circles Anslinger is regarded as the greatest living authority on the world narcotics traffic. On June 30, 1951, in the U. S. House of Representatives, Congressman Gordon Cantfield said: "The nations of the world regard him as the world's No. 1 authority on the subject.")

WASHINGTON—The narcotic peddler does not kidnap your children, he destroys them. In extreme distress, parents brought their 16-year-old boy to my office. The lad quivered like the leaves of the aspen. He was suffering the dreaded withdrawal syndrome of drug addiction. He was one of those who use bravado to gain admission to the delinquent gang. "Tell me where you get heroin," I said. "I will send you to the hospital for a cure."

We used an undercover agent to buy from the "pusher" who led us to the wholesale peddler. Then by progressive steps we graduated to the big traffickers who control the drug business. I have been working for at every international conference. I have attended since 1931. Such an achievement so far attained toward suppressing the abuse of narcotic drugs throughout the world.

Present sources of our illicit narcotics are Italy, Iran, Turkey, India, Greece, Communist China and Mexico. Mexico is doing good work with airplanes and troops to suppress illicit opium cultivation. Other source countries please take note.

Q—How much do city school systems spend annually to educate each child?
A—On the average, $246.71 a year of 90.4 per cent more than was spent 10 years ago.

Q—Will the abdicated King Leopold III of Belgium retain his title?
A—He will retain the title of King, but the phrase "of Belgium" is dropped and in effect it now is an honorary title.

Q—What metal has the highest melting point?
A—Tungsten, with a melting point of 6,068 F.

Q—Was any particular person the inspiration for James Hilton's famous "Mr. Chips"?
A—William H. Bakkarne was the inspiration. He was a senior classical master at the Leys School, Cambridge, where Mr. Hilton was one of his pupils.

Q—What is the smallest book in the world ever printed from movable type?
A—"Lincoln's Addresses," printed in 1929 by a student at a vocational school in Kingsport, Tenn. It measures 7.8 by 5.8 inch. It's in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. D.

MANY TONGUED DEFENSE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Civil defense in New York is an international affair. More than 30 foreign language groups have been scheduled to participate in defense rallies at a downtown theater.

Reports of large-scale drug addiction throughout the world reflect a post-war phenomenon, and a jittery world.

About 1947 we had the traffic under control. Prison wardens reported an absence of addicted criminals. The population of our Lexington Narcotic Hospital had fallen to such an extent that a move was under way to abolish the hospital. I urged all to stand by and to prepare. We could feel it coming here and abroad. Warmings went unheeded. In the past two years it rolled in like an engulfing surf.

Finally in dealing with the international traffic must be reached. Its continued existence and ever-green activity is a sad reflection on the world's lack of joint determination to be done with these plague carriers who god is auri sacra famulae (the accursed thirst for gold.)

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"How would you play this hand?" asked my friend Bill Root, the young Miami expert.

"Disguised as somebody else," I replied. The bidding is so fantastic that it's hard to believe that it really took place and that all the players were really experts. South's best response is two diamonds instead of one spade. Then it would take wild horses to stop North from bidding six diamonds—which is easily made.

I pointed this out to Root with great gusto while I studied the hand to see how it should be played at four spades. So when he insisted on an answer I had one ready. Can you find the best way to play the hand at the ridiculous contract of four spades? Decide for yourself before you read any further. Dummy wins the first trick with the ace of hearts. So far, I'm sure that everybody agrees with my line of play. Then declarer draws two rounds of trumps with the ace and the queen. South thereupon switches to diamonds, and continues that suit until somebody ruffs.

As the cards are shown, West has the long trumps. If he leads a trump, dummy wins and continues diamonds. If he leads a heart, South ruffs and leads a trump to dummy's king. These are very weak defenses.

If West leads the ace of clubs, dummy discards a heart. Now South is ready to win a club continuation in his own hand. If West slyly underleads his ace of clubs, declarer still discards a heart from dummy to let the trick ride around to his king.

The contract is made even if East has the long trumps. Suppose that East can then lead clubs. South can finesse the ten if a low club is led. The defenders can take two club tricks (dummy will discard two hearts) but no more. If East ruffs and leads the queen of clubs, South covers with the king. Even then the defenders can take only two club tricks, since South's ten will then stop the suit.

If South begins by drawing three rounds of trumps he will soon find himself in hot water. West ruffs the third round of diamonds, after which the dummy is dead. Declarer is then lucky to win as many as eight tricks.

Q—The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 Spade Pass 2 Diamonds Pass
2 Hearts Pass ?
You, South, hold: Spades Q-J-6-3-2, Hearts J-4, Diamonds K-Q-J-6-3, Clubs K-5. What do you do?
A—Bid three spades. You have more than a mere preference for

Q—The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-6-4-3-2, Hearts J-4, Diamonds A-Q-J-6-3, Club 5. What do you do?

U. S. Can't Afford To Relax 'Get Tough With Russia' Policy

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Climax of the "Get Tough With Russia" policy should come soon. On half a dozen fronts, relations between the United States and Soviet Russia seem headed for a showdown and a new perspective.

Japanese peace treaty signing at San Francisco and cease-fire negotiations at Kaesong head the list.

In a secondary role are American notifications on termination of "most favored nation" trade and tariff concessions to Iron Curtain countries. This relationship already has been ended with Romania. It will take effect against Soviet Russia December 23, Poland January 5 and Hungary the following July 5.

Severance of trade relations with Czechoslovakia will be taken up in an international conference at Geneva, Switzerland, in September.

Soviet Russia declares this is an act directed toward a further deterioration of American-Russian relations. The Soviet government tries to put full blame for this on the United States.

President Truman says he will send another message to Nicolai Shvernik, Russia's titular president, trying to force its publication before the Iron Curtain. This will be a follow-up on the first success of forcing Russian distribution of the congressional resolution which reaffirmed friendship of the American people for the Russian people.

Negotiations over the settlement of Russia's long delinquent Lend Lease account are resumed at Russia's surprising request. This and the publication in Russia of a new English edition Moscow News, filled with words of peaceful intent, are belied by the bitter outpourings of anti-American hatred at the Soviet zone youth rally in Berlin.

Cold War Will Continue
Anyone trying to make sense out of all these contradictions is confronted again by the old Russian enigma wrapped in mystery. A world grown weary and wiser by repeated Russian double crosses doubts that these developments mean Russia wants peace.

They could mean that Russia is muddying up the record in preparation for some new aggression. Playing it safe, they probably mean that the cold war is to continue unabated.

If this is the prospect, then the course of the United States should be clear. It is to continue the tough policy. This is no time to ease up in response to some faint hope that the Communists have peaceful intentions. If the get-tough policy has brought Russia to this point, more of the same should move that point farther along.

Here enters the picture of an American contradiction. On the one side is a group of eight Republican senators issuing a report on the firing of General MacArthur.

spades; you have a real raise. This shows a hand that was good enough for a double raise (from one spade to three spades directly) in the first place. The diamonds were bid to describe the hand more exactly.

RIGHT: Don't insist. A guest should be able to refuse a drink with a simple "no thank you" and not have to keep saying it.

What's RIGHT? Your guest takes one drink, but refuses when you offer him a second. WRONG: Insist on his having another drink.

after her and Tussig moved behind Berman. Tussig's sports shirt was soaked from his bleeding neck. An engine raced outside and tires spun in gravel, and they were gone.

I went back and tried the phone again, wanting to tell Gene Sawyer what had happened. It was a point with me to convince my own lawyer that I wasn't guilty of Charlie Berman's murder. But the phone service was definitely cut off.

I thought of driving back to the jail and picking up my stuff. Besides, it was in order to go back and accept congratulations from my fellow inmates and to go goodby. But of the five men in the jail, four were out of town characters who meant nothing to me. Only Hal Hoyer had been an acquaintance, and he was all set to be released a minute after midnight.

I gave up the idea of driving back to the jail. The sleepless nights were beginning to tell on me, and I dropped onto a davenport.

It was nearly 8 when I woke up. I DRESSED and went outside. The air was warm but pleasant, and the water was a liquid mirror. Already the neon lights were on at the resort on Queen Point. My father had been proud of those neon lights. I claimed there was a mile of tubing and I imagined that it was a great exaggeration, but there was a lot of tubing, and I had hired a neon man just to keep it in repair.

I hadn't been on the premises since the Bermans had taken over. Now that Gene Sawyer told me I was going to get the place back, I felt an urge to look it over and see what Charlie and Earnie Berman had done with it. I walked back to the house, passing the sand trap that had almost sent me to the electric chair. Those tell-tale slugs that had matched the bullets taken from Charlie Berman's body had been dug from that sand trap.

They cashed a check at the filling station where I'd always bought my gas, and I parked adjacent to the resort property.

The prosecuting attorney said to the defendant on the witness stand, "You say you just shoved the complainant a little bit; would you mind stepping down and using me to show the jury just how hard you pushed or struck him?"

The defendant said, "I'll be glad to"—and he proceeded to slap the lawyer, kick him on the shin and then pick him up and slam him to the floor.

Then he returned to the witness chair and said, "I treated him about one-fifth that rough?"

Murder in Quotes

By Julius Long

THE STORY: After my (Jimmy Malloy's) acquittal of the Charlie Berman murder, I have visitors at my home. The first is Charlie's friend, Cleo (Cunningham) who says he knows I didn't kill him. Then Charlie's brother Karate, who has certain regrets, and a thug named Babe J. appear.

EARNIE BERMAN did not stop until he had reached Cleo Cansino. He yanked her from the chair, slapped her so hard she flew out of his grasp. He had held her by her blouse, and nearly the whole front of it tore off in his hand as she fell. She whimpered, looked appealingly up at me, then self-consciously drew her skirt down to her knees.

Berman turned to me, grinning in anticipation. I thought of telling him what Cleo had told me, that she knew I hadn't killed his brother. I didn't think it would make any difference. Earnie probably knew I hadn't. He was here with a muscle man to bent me up and mark me up so that everybody would know he had avenged his brother's murder.

Continuing to grin, he moved toward me, and Babe Tussig moved in at the same time. I took a couple of quick steps back to the edge of the bar, but the bourbon bottle and crashed the neck off on the edge of the bar. I swung the bottle around, spraying whiskey. I missed Tussig but I got Berman in the eyes. He swore. Momentum carried Tussig into me as I used the broken neck of the bottle.

In the army they had given me a smidge of judo, but I'd taken a post-graduate course in rough-house fighting, growing up in the resort business. When you had a drunken bum to attend to you didn't give him a chance to start a free-for-all. You got him the quickest way you could, and if you rained him, it was too bad.

Berman stirred. He got up on an elbow. His breathing was troubling him. He dragged himself to his feet, seeing me out of the corner of his eye but not looking at me.

"Come on, Cleo. Get going!" Cleo gave me a look that said she could take care of herself but was still worried about me. She went out. Berman followed.

Youth Saved From Death In Mountain Of Crushed Slate

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—A Latin American youth was rescued dramatically from suffocation Sunday after he accidentally fell into a quicksand-like pile of finely crushed shale.

Manuel Torres, 17, of Kirby was suspended by a rope around his chest and under his arms while rescuers dug shale from around him. Forty men worked at full speed two and one half hours before he was free.

Torres, a worker at the shale pit, tumbled 88 feet off the rim into a conical pile of crushed rock. Harry Perkins, 18, called for help.

Bexar County Fire Chief C. F. Holcomb directed the rescue efforts to free Torres, who had sunk up to his neck in the shale. Ambulance crews administered oxygen to the lad while workmen struggled to free him.

Torres was in pretty good condition Monday.

Reds Again Are Active In 'Triangle'

EIGHTH ARMY HEAD-QUARTERS, KOREA —(AP)

—An Allied patrol clashed with Red troops Monday in a three-hour skirmish in the old Iron Triangle in North Korea.

The fight came as the UN troops probed the former Red assembly area almost to its northernmost tip at Pyongsang.

Three other sharp actions broke off before dawn on the east-central front.

Along the rest of the front, only minor engagements were reported. Rain and low-hanging clouds cut visibility to a few hundred yards in some areas.

Enemy Traffic Heavy

The weather reduced the air attacks on Communist convoys. Allied infantrymen were in slight of Pyongyang when they ran into a company of Reds. Communist machine guns and mortars pinned the Allies down on the slope of a hill. The patrol stormed and captured the hill. It was driven off by counter-attacking Reds with mortar support.

The patrol broke off the engagement late in the afternoon. Poor visibility almost eliminated observation of Red movements on the east-central front. Hundreds of troops were seen heading south in the last few days.

The Eighth Army reported Red traffic has been unusually heavy since the Kaesong armistice talks were suspended by the Reds last Thursday.

Fifth Air Force pilots reported they destroyed or damaged almost 1,200 Red vehicles in the last three days.

Asked if officers are doing anything about the bootlegging, he replied:

"A great number of arrests are being made by most of the law enforcement officers, both local and state. But the present presumption is that some officials are arresting some bootleggers and giving others exclusive bootleg rights. Therein lies the main danger of the situation."

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Valley Of The Giants

Away and across the Whispering River, up high in the mountains, a valley of the giants lies hidden from all the world.

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend and the other folks in the Great Forest know about the valley of the giants. Why, it was the Hufen Puffen, the friendly wolf, who first discovered the valley. He had climbed down in it, and was half way across when what should he see but a hundred giants. Oh, the Hufen ran back as fast as he could, and was happy to escape with his life. The giants tried to climb up the side of their valley to catch the Hufen, but they couldn't. They were much too big and clumsy to do the climbing.

Well, the Hufen told everyone what had happened, and all the folks met together to talk about it. After much talk, they all decided there was no danger, because the giants couldn't get out of the valley, and of course no one would ever go in where the giants were.

And so everything really would have been quite happy except the Hufen just happened to wonder what he would have been if he had walked on to the other end of the valley of the giants. And the other folks in the Great Forest heard the Hufen do his wondering. They too began to wonder what the Hufen would have seen if he had walked on to the other end of the giants' valley. And everyone wondered and fretted and fumed about it until no one had any peace, but only worry, worry, and worry.

"Now, now, now," said Daddy Ringtail, "because it doesn't really matter, you know, what the Hufen would have seen at the other end of the valley."

But everyone said it did matter, because they just had to know, and everyone fretted and fumed about it, until—at last—there would be an end to the fretting and fuming. Daddy Ringtail said he would go down in the valley of the giants and see what was at the other end.

Oh, all the folks now began to be sorry they had fretted and fumed. They asked Daddy Ringtail please not to go down in the valley, for the giants surely would do him harm, and everyone now began to fret and fume again for fear of what might happen. I am sorry to say, and ashamed of them too. Happy day! And I'll tell you the rest of the story tomorrow.

Air Conditioning, Injections, Drugs Aid Hay Fever Victims

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

August is the traditional month for the start of fall hay fever. Actually, symptoms of this miserable affliction may begin earlier or later, depending on the particular region and the sensitivity of the victim. This kind of hay fever, which is the most widespread and probably the most unpleasant, comes principally from ragweed and at the time when this plant starts to pollinate.

The wisest victims of ragweed hay fever have taken shots or injections and should get some relief if they have. Others have planned their vacations for this time of the year and may escape a lot of trouble by being in areas where there is little or no ragweed. Both of these measures have been discussed earlier this year.

But there remain many who for one reason or another have to stick it out in some place where ragweed pollen does the atmosphere. What can they do to get at least some relief from their sneezing, stuffy noses and irritated eyes?

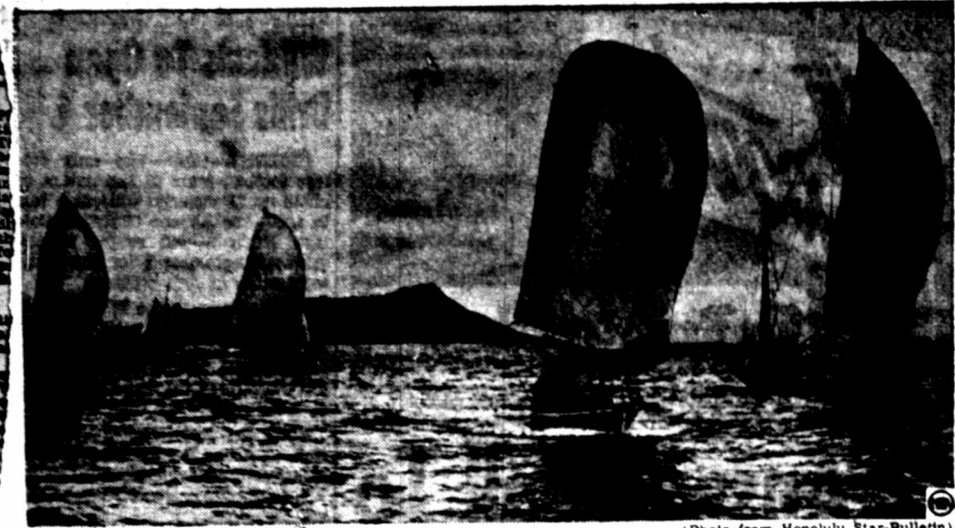

Actually there is a good deal. Air conditioning often is quite helpful. In many air conditioned public buildings, the air going in is washed as well as cooled so that all or most of the pollen is removed. Even for the private home something can be done. Several small conditioning units are on the market which can be used to filter out the pollen for individual rooms. I know people who use them who never venture outside their rooms during the "season" unless they have to!

Then there are drugs both new and old. The ones which have the most dramatic effects are the anti-histamines which now have been available for several years. These are taken by mouth and while they do not in any sense constitute a permanent cure they often bring striking relief of symptoms.

But the use of these drugs is a little complicated. It is hard to choose which one to use since there are so many. Actually some seem to work better for some people and others for others.

It isn't entirely safe to take these anti-histamines without direction. Unpleasant side effects have been found; some people are made sleepy by some of the preparations and this can be dangerous in driving a car or a locomotive. Nevertheless a great many people are tremendously helped by drugs and air conditioning and the hay fever season is not as feared as it used to be.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says a balanced diet can include as little as 39 pounds of meat per year.

Respirator Dropped Over Pacific Saves Life Of Stricken GI

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—The bomb bay doors of a B-17 opened above a troopship—and death was thwarted by what fell out.

Monday, a Brooklyn, N. Y., corporal, homeland bound from Korea, gasped for life in the respirator parachuted 870 miles out in the Pacific by the canary-colored bomber.

Sunday, the Alken Victory ship's doctor radioed that Cpl. James A. Williams, 22, could not live long enough for the troopship to arrive at San Francisco Wednesday unless he was placed in a respirator. He has either polio or meningitis.

The Coast Guard went into action. A 125-pound respirator was taken apart and placed in two kapok-packed packages.

Lt. Robert L. Lawlis, Coast Guard pilot, and a crew of eight took off from San Francisco airport at 1:30 a.m. Flying through fog the last 50 miles on the Alken Victory's radio signals, the plane arrived over the troopship about dawn.

The plane made a trial pass over the ship. Then it circled back for the first drop. The bomb bay doors opened and Ordnanceman Johan H. Johnson dropped the first package.

It splashed into eight-foot swells. Troopship crewmen pushed in life boats to the precious package.

The B-17 dropped the other package, then flew over the Alken Victory 45 minutes until assured the respirator had been assembled and was working.

Blacksnake Fails To Halt Services

ISTACHATTA, FLA. —(AP)—A four-foot blacksnake slowly wriggled down the aisle of the Baptist Church during the sermon at a recent service.

As it reached the foot of the pulpit, the Rev. Fletcher Weston threw a hymn book but didn't stop the snake.

Several women raised their feet off the floor. One left. But she came back with a good sized rock and handed it to the minister. He killed the snake and resumed the sermon.

Some Students Already Tardy

Students who have not registered to attend Midland High School during the 1961-62 term, should do so immediately, school officials announced Monday.

Approximately 750 senior high students already have registered but approximately 250 to 300 students, however, have not. Don Mitchell, high school principal, said.

The pre-school registration schedule for high school students of all classifications—freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior—officially ended Monday. But students still may register, the principal said.

Registration should be completed before school opens, he added.

Final Rites Held For OSS Officer Murdered In Italy

NEW YORK —(AP)—Funeral services were held Monday for Maj. William V. Holohan, almost seven years after he was slain behind enemy lines in Italy and his body dumped into a lake.

Holohan's body was retrieved from the lake last year and returned here about a week ago.

The defense department has said Holohan was slain in late 1944 while on a mission for the Office of Strategic Services. Two American members of his group have been named in connection with his death.

Holohan was slain by his two American aides, according to the Defense Department and two Italian partisans. The Italians soon will go on trial in Italy as accomplices.

The two Americans, former Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, and former Sgt. Carlo G. LoDolice of Rochester, N. Y., have denied the account. LoDolice has repudiated a confession attributed to him.

Smyrna Still Has Two-Bit Haircuts

SMYRNA, N. Y. —(AP)—A barber in this central New York village has been cutting hair 50 years—at 25 cents a head. And, he says he sees "no reason to change."

Widger works 15 1/2 hours a day. He takes only a half hour for lunch and a nap.

American Opera Singer Is Injured By Thief's Attack

EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND —(AP)—Genevieve Warner, 38-year-old Metropolitan Opera soprano from Amsterdam, N. Y., suffered a fracture of the jaw Sunday night when attacked by a thief near her hotel.

The injury knocked Miss Warner out of a chance for a major role, that of Zerlina in Mozart's "Don Giovanni," opening at the annual Edinburgh Festival of Music and drama Monday night.

Miss Warner arrived a week ago from Salzburg, Austria, where she had been studying the last year on a scholarship, to join the Glyndebourne Opera Company.

She was beaten badly by the thief when she resisted his attempt to snatch her purse. Miss Warner's face was swollen, one eye was blackened and her lips were bruised.

She told police the attack took place in a poorly lighted street and that she could furnish no description of the man except that he was young.

Matador Ranch Manager Resigns

DENVER —(AP)—General Manager John MacKenzie of the Matador Land and Cattle Company in Texas has resigned.

He had been general manager of the vast Matador Empire more than 40 years. MacKenzie said his reason is "Just age, I guess." He added that he was "plenty old."

MacKenzie said he "had no idea" who would succeed him.

His son, John, Jr., is assistant manager.

The company recently was sold for $18,900,000 to an American group. It had been owned since 1882 by Scottish investors.

Next to the sprawling 950,000-acre King Ranch in South Texas, the Matador's 800,000-acre spread over three counties is the largest land holdings in the United States.

OPS Allows Hike In Ginning Rates

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Changes in price regulations for ginning, wrapping and baling cotton during the current season were announced Sunday by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

The regulations, beginning September 1, will allow a flat six per cent increase over rates charged in 1960.

The agency said that while ginning costs have risen about 10 per cent since the 1950 season, ginners probably will benefit from the volume ginning operations expected because of the large size of the incoming cotton crop.

Floridian Survives High Temperature; Doctors Puzzled

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. —(AP)—Bernhard Seiden, 54, was "feeling just fine" Monday after battling a 109-degree temperature that probably made him the hottest man in the world last week.

Physicians at Mt. Sinai Hospital were mystified over what caused the high temperature and how Seiden survived it with no apparent harmful effects.

A temperature of 107 to 108 usually is fatal, except in some cases of sun or heat stroke.

Seiden entered the hospital for an operation to remove kidney stones. Routinely, a nurse took his temperature, got 109 and called for a new thermometer.

She took his temperature and called for a third thermometer. Then she called for a doctor. Four more thermometers were used, and three doctors and five nurses witnessed the readings, all 109.

Ice bags, oxygen, alcohol spongings and injections of penicillin, streptomycin, terramycin and sulfa were used and after a half-hour, the doctors got Seiden's temperature down to 107.

It remained there three hours, then began to drop some more, in 17 hours, it was back to normal.

The doctors didn't discover the cause of the high temperature, but their examination showed Seiden didn't need the kidney stone operation.

Armed Posse Hunts Fugitive Slayer

FITZGERALD, GA. —(AP)—A heavily armed posse searched a swampy, nine-square-mile lowland Monday for a man wanted for killing an aged jailer and wounding the sheriff.

As a result of Sunday's shooting, Ben Hill County Jailer J. H. Smith, 70, was dead with a bullet through his heart and Sheriff J. V. Griner had four slugs in his shoulder.

Griner reported from a hospital that he and Smith stopped Allen Spires, a 50-year-old maker of axe handles, to check his car for illegal whisky.

Spires, the sheriff said, rammed his car, opened fire and then sped off.

The station wagon, believed to be Spires', was found abandoned near the lowlands, and he was thought to be on foot in a heavily wooded area.

MARFA —(AP)—A 31-year-old painting contractor was found mysteriously shot to death Saturday in his moving automobile.

Wade found Harvey with a rifle wound in his right temple. A 22-caliber rifle was found in the dead man's car.

Witnesses said Harvey stepped into his parked automobile and started to drive off. Then the car began to circle.

Sheriff Ernest Barnett said there was no evidence of foul play. Justice Martin Knight ordered inquest Monday.

The Halls announced the engagement Sunday and said the couple will be wed September 9 at the First Baptist Church in Joliet. A reception will follow at the Cantigny Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Joliet.

The young infantryman said Miss Hall wrote him while he was being treated at Valley Forge State Hospital at Phoenixville, Pa., last March. On returning to his Joliet home, he said, he looked her up and the romance blossomed.

Reeves was in combat less than a month. His limbs were frozen when he was captured and left for dead during a Chinese Red break-through last winter. He lost parts of all four limbs.

FORDOMATIC OUTGOES THEM ALL!

THE FORDOMATIC FORD GIVES YOU AN ENTIRELY NEW KIND OF DRIVING!

Combines best features of previous drives! Fordomatic gives you two automatic drives in one — a torque converter for smoothness — and automatic gears for get-up-and-go and gas savings. You get just the power you need, when you need it!

Practically drives itself. Fordomatic thinks for you. It automatically provides a countless number of ratios through which engine power is fed to the rear wheels — automatically adjusts the ratio as needed to give you a new kind of performance, new smoothness.

You're boss every second! Fordomatic obeys your every wish. Step down on the accelerator and you get an extra spurt of power for hill climbing and passing. Going downhill you can shift to low at any speed for extra engine braking.

Easier rocking! It's even easier to "rock" out of sand, snow, or mud with Fordomatic than with Conventional drive. All you do is flick the drive selector between Low (L) and Reverse (R). Fordomatic's safer, too, because like conventional drives, forward and reverse positions are separated by neutral.

It's a gas-saving powerhouse! Fordomatic's lower rear axle ratio gives the fewest engine revolutions per mile of any car in its field with an automatic transmission. Fordomatic's automatic intermediate gear provides smooth, fast economical "getaway" without wasteful engine racing.

Indians Swamp Odessa Oilers, 15 To 2, With 19-Hit Barrage

The unpredictable Midland Indians, laying down a terrific 19-hit barrage behind the airtight pitching of right-hander Dave McKenzie, overwhelmed the Odessa Oilers here Sunday afternoon by a 15-2 score.

The big McKenzie, pitching shut-out ball for eight innings with four scattered hits, had the game under complete control until the ninth when the Oilers combined a single, a walk and a two-base hit to score their only runs.

Meanwhile the Indians chased two Oiler hurlers and battered a third with Hayden White and Julio de la Torre coming through with long home runs over the left field fence. It took the first inning for McKenzie to settle down. He loaded the bases with Oilers on a single and two walks and then proceeded to strike out the next two men.

Works Out Of Trouble For the next four innings, he faced only 12 Odessa batters, including a couple of walks again in the sixth inning. But he worked out of trouble in the sixth, seventh and eighth until the two-hit spree in the nine.

Meanwhile the Indian sluggers had gone to work.

Opening the third inning, McKenzie himself slapped a two-bagger into the right field and then scored on Stan Wilcox's single over second base. In the next frame, de la Torre tripled into left field and breezed home as Rudy Escobar picked up the first of four hits with a single into right.

In the fifth, McKenzie was safe at first on an error and scooted to second when Wilcox was safe at first on a fielder's choice. White lifted a high one over the left field fence to drive in three runs.

The hitting barrage was intensified in the sixth with Escobar, Dick Campbell, McKenzie, Hughes, Wilcox and White hitting in succession to score five runs.

De la Torre Homers De la Torre started off the seventh with his home run with none on base. Gordon Tanner followed with a triple, Campbell and McKenzie singled and Hughes came through with another two-base hit. From then on the Indians had only to coast.

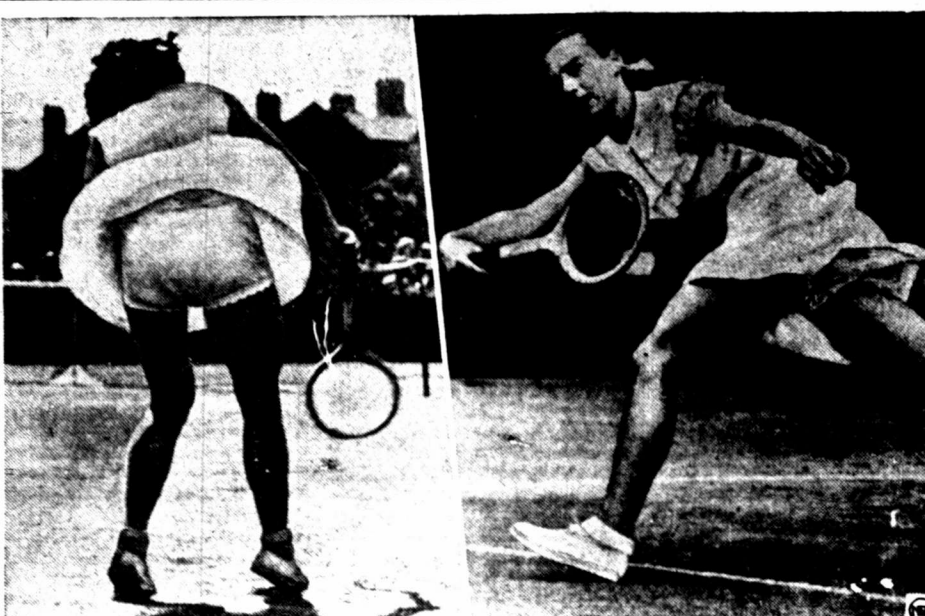

Opening the ninth, Ulio Ortego singled for the Oilers and Elois Barrera drew a base on balls. Barney Batoon came through with a two-bagger to drive in two runs.

The Indians will return to Midland Wednesday night to open a two-game series with Sweetwater.

Lemon's Shirt Tail Is Secret Weapon

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — Joe Paparella had a novel reason for calling time out the last time the Indians played at Fenway Park.

"What's the matter?" asked Cleveland pitcher Bob Lemon as the arbiter made strange signs at him. "Tuck in your shirt," yelled Umpire Paparella. "It might bother the Red Sox batters."

Ysleta Picked To Win Grid Crown; 11 Lettermen Back

By DAVID DICKINSON
El Paso Times

EL PASO—Two backs who were unanimous all-district selections last year and a new head coach will lead the Ysleta Indians through 1951's nine-game schedule.

Succeeding Gene Jordan, who has been recalled to the Air Force, Roger McAdams finds himself in the enviable position of having the district championship favorites in his first season as head man.

Eleven returning lettermen—six of them starters—are expected to garner the 2-AAAA title for the Maroon and White. The Indians meet the invading Midland Bulldogs, September 21.

Two returnees are three-year lettermen Jesse Whittenton, a 165-pound tailback, and Fullback Enrique Mata, the 175-pound plunger who scored all the Indian points in Midland's 14-7 victory in 1950.

Whittenton serves as play-caller and is the squad's chief running and passing threat off the single wing. Six feet tall, he is a candidate for all-state honors.

Wingsback Henry Dutchover, a late-season starter who scales 140 pounds, blossomed as a sensational pass receiver. Other veteran backs are: 157-pound Richard Holmes, the punter and kick-off expert, and Sabino Sierra, 145.

Returning to bulwark the line are four veteran tackles, Jim Marshall, 195, and Wesley Martin, 178, were regulars last year but may be pushed by 170-pound Sam Paxon and Bill Wafer, 165. Martin served as game captain for the Midland tilt last season.

Ysleta claims the best end in the area is their own Louis De La Cruz, 172-pound defensive star who also can catch a pass. He is joined by Rudy Rosezard, 150.

The lone hold-over guard is 165-pound Ray McCormick.

McAdams plans two-day workouts until school starts, with approximately 40 boys taking part. Little help is expected from green sophomores. Last year's squadmen and "B" squadders will furnish reserve strength.

Some Of Ex-Stars In 'Secret Training' For Old-Timer Tilt

Midland's "Old Timer" baseball players are going to play a game as an appreciation night feature for the 1951 Indians.

A collection will be taken after the "Old-Timer" Game September 3 at Indian Park and the proceeds will be equally divided among the 1951 players.

The game, a three-inning stint, will precede the Midland-San Angelo Longhorn League game of September 3. The event will be made an annual affair.

Already, former baseball "stars" are signing up for the game. Some even are in "secret training."

Recent additions to the roster include Roy Lee, Stanley Erskine, H. B. Hardwick, W. B. Kidwell, J. B. McCoy and the Rev. C. B. Hedges.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby is a "holdout" but may sign before game time.

Sides called the Reds and Whites will be chosen from one roster. Captains are John P. Butler of the Reds and Chester Shepard of the Whites.

The players will wear shorts in the game.

Plenty of fun and laughs for all in Indian Park the night of the game are promised.

Rendezvous Splits Softball Twin Bill

Rendezvous Cafe's vastly improved, softball team split a double-header with the Coahoma All-Stars, champions of the Colorado City JayCee Softball League, at Wadley Park Sunday.

Coahoma took the first game, 2-1. Rendezvous slugged out a 15-7 win in the second game, with Jack Smith winning. Joe King and Jack Dunlap homered for the winners.

Sweetwater's Grid Squad Is Green But Full Of Zip

SWEETWATER—Youth must be served if the green but very eager Sweetwater Mustangs are to be a factor in the District I-AAA football race against Midland, Big Spring, Lamesa, Vernon and Plainview.

This Fall's Mustang squad will be dominated by junior classmen—with six of the 11 returning letter holders in the second-year class.

Of the 46 players expected to don Mustang uniforms, there are 20 juniors, 17 sophomores and nine seniors.

Despite this green hue, Coach Pat Gerald is not taking on a sordid view of things to come. Instead, Coach Gerald believes the "interest and stamina of this group is as intense as any group I have ever coached," despite their limited experience.

Proof of that was the annual "ex" game last Spring when the future Mustangs defeated a strong band of ex-Sweetwater gridders, 12-6.

Only two of last year's first stringers will be around in 1951—Center Lloyd Ware and Back Charles Willson, both seniors.

Reserve letter returnees are Seniors Ira Hill, Derrle Rudd and Preston Dill, and Juniors Clifford Smith, Joe Feagan, Mark Bishop, Billy Stone, James Butler and Bobby Thompson.

There will be 18 boys up from the "B" team and 17 from junior high.

The Mustangs' starting backfield will see Feagan at quarterback; Butler and B-teamer William Allen at halfbacks; and Bishop in the fullback spot. Feagan tips the scales at 180, Butler is a 130-pounder. Allen weighs 165, while Bishop is a 185-pounder.

Probable first string linemen will be:

Ends Rudd (170) and Hal Byrd (165); tackles Stone (190) and Hill (165); guards Dill (160) and Smith (160); and center Ware (175).

Rudd and Ware are the co-captains.

The Mustangs operate from a split-T formation—with the guards and tackles "spreading out" more than on the standard T.

Assisting Head Coach Gerald are Ken Newton and Mel Origg.

Yanks, Tribe Split

By The Associated Press

The tight American League was unchanged and the National League race got tighter Sunday.

Cleveland's Indians split a doubleheader with Boston. The second place New York Yankees split with Chicago.

Boston took the first game, 5-0. Leo Kelly stopped the Tribe with two hits in the second game but they were home runs by Luke Easter and Sam Chapman to give the Indians and Bob Lemon a 2-1 decision.

New York lost to the White Sox, 3-2, in the opener but took the second, 9-6, to stay one game back of the Indians.

Washington swept a pair from the St. Louis Browns, 9-3 and 9-1. Detroit shut out Washington, 6-0.

Brooklyn split with Pittsburgh of the National League but lost another game of its lead as the New York Giants took two from Chicago, 5-4 and 5-1. The Dodgers were outscored, 12-11, in the first game but took the second, 4-3.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia split, the Reds winning the opener, 4-2, but losing, 2-0, in the nightcap. St. Louis won its opener, 12-10, and Boston the second, 9-1.

Mad Scramble On For Top Positions In Texas League

By The Associated Press

Houston is breezing along with nothing to worry about in the Texas League, but not so the rest of the first division clubs.

There is a merry mixup for the other three spots.

Fort Worth fought Shreveport 11 innings Sunday to take a 5-4 decision and move within two games of fourth-place Dallas. Beaumont is a game and a half ahead of the Eagles, and San Antonio is a game ahead of Beaumont.

Dallas had storybook finish in the second game of its doubleheader with Beaumont to split the pair.

Beaumont won the opener, 2-1, and then lost, 4-3, on Bob Cullin's ninth inning home run.

San Antonio beat Oklahoma City, 14-8, and Houston won over Tulsa, 8-2.

Uncertainty shrouds hunting prospects as Texans prepare to open the northern zone mourning dove season at noon, September 1.

Big question, of course, is the extent of supply—and the supply may be short because of the record-breaking drought which has covered the north zone.

As a result, the bag limit has been cut to 10 per day and 10 in possession for all hunters in the North Zone. Too, the hours are shorter—noon to sunset, and not sunrise to sunset this year.

Football booklets coming into the sports desks from the various colleges and universities now are among the best we've seen. It seems all schools are going all out for a good 1951 grid year.

Midland has one college game scheduled. The ACC Wildcats—unbeaten last year—and the Texas Western eleven meet in Memorial Stadium, October 6, in an Optimist-sponsored contest.

Jim Ferrier Wins Fort Wayne Open

FORT WAYNE, IND. — (AP) — Jim Ferrier added $2,400 to his tournament bankroll Monday—top prize of the Fort Wayne Open Golf Tournament.

Ferrier shot a final 71 for a 72-hole total of 268-16 under par—to take the championship Sunday by a one-stroke margin over Cary Middeoff, who won $1,800.

Al Zimmerman was the star of the final day, shooting a 63 which equalled the course record set Thursday by Glenn Teal. Zimmerman's 274 total won him $470, the same as the defending champion, Lloyd Mangrum, who had also carded a 274. Teal won $400 for his 278.

A four-way tie for third place at 271 gave $1,100 each to Clayton Heafner, Chick Harbert, Bob Toakli, Northampton, Mass., and Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas.

Forty-two candidates answered the call of Coaches Tugboat Jones, Red Rutledge and Audrey Gill as the Midland High School Bulldogs began their initial Fall workouts Monday morning. Lettermen include: Stan Coker, tackle; Jimmy Linebarger, end; Dan Black, Ralph Brooks and Larry Friday, backs, and Dalton Byerley, guard.

The gridders hit the field at 8 a.m., toiling two hours in the morning session. An afternoon drill was scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Drills will be held twice daily until school begins.

The boys had it "easy" Monday morning, donning light workout clothing—but pads and a full-scale program of rough stuff were scheduled for Monday afternoon, calisthenics, sprints and a rugged mile run occupied the morning period. Linebarger, Robert Keisinger, A. W. Booth, Byerley and Keys Currey topped the milers in the workouts.

The opening game with San Angelo is only 17 days away—September 14.

First action, however, comes Saturday. The Bulldogs and the Monahan High School varsity will scrimmage at Memorial Stadium at 4 p.m.

The Midland B squad, working under the direction of John Higdon and Keith Bobo, were to start workouts Monday afternoon, meeting once daily.

Coach Bernard (Pat) Pattison and Jimmie Williams, promoted from Crockett Elementary, will handle the C team. The C bunch starts working next Monday.

Home games will be October 11, Carswell Air Base, Fort Worth; October 20, McMurtry, and November 10, Austin College (ACC homecoming).

In addition to the 21 lettermen and three squadmen returning, ACC anticipates gaining the services of several transfer gridders and 10 good prospective freshmen.

Among returning lettermen is E. J. (Tiny) Moore of Snyder, 2601 pound guard.

Dressen Says Late Surge Of Giants Isn't Noteworthy

BROOKLYN — (AP) — Don't get excited about this late surge of the New York Giants, Brooklyn Manager Charley Dressen admonished Monday—his Dodgers aren't.

There are no jitters on my ball club," the chief of the Brooklyn brains department said. "The spirit is fine, and we're going to win the pennant."

There was room for mild doubts after the red-hot Giants, extending their winning streak to 14 games, chipped another chunk Sunday off the Dodgers' once imposing lead.

Just six games separate the two clubs at the top of the National League.

Brooklyn has 32 games left to play, the Giants 30.

Vern Stephens May Be Out For Season

BOSTON — (AP) — Red Sox Third Baseman Vern Stephens may be out for the rest of the season because of a pulled tendon suffered Sunday in Cleveland. And there was talk the injury may even mean the end of his career.

Stephens singled home a run in the first inning of the first game and doubled home another in the fourth. Running out this second hit pulled the tendon and Stephens hobbled into second base.

Abilene Christian's Wildcats To Open Drills September 1

ABILENE—(Sp)—The only college football team in the nation to chalk up 11 victories without a loss in 1950—the Abilene Christian College Wildcats—will return to the gridiron September 1 for the opening session of Fall practice.

No one suspects the Wildcats will be as strong as last year's unbeaten outfit, but neither is anyone relegating them to the position of an also-ran—not with 21 of last year's 34 lettermen.

With the loss, through graduation, of Alton Green, hard-running all-conference fullback, and Bailey Woods, speedy halfback, Coach Garvin Beauchamp says he doesn't see how the Wildcats can match their superlative 1950 record of 11 triumphs without a setback. Last Fall also brought ACC its first undisputed Texas Conference football championship in history and, to top it off, a 13-to-7 Refrigerator Bowl game victory at Evansville, Ind., over Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter, Minn. All of this came during Beauchamp's first season as head football coach of ACC, his alma mater.

ACC will have only two weeks of drills before opening season play on September 14. On that night they will toe the mark against Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa.

The Wildcats will have six more road trips after that—to Commerce September 22, East Texas State College; to Chattanooga, Tenn., September 29; University of Chattanooga; to Midland October 6, Texas Western; to Wichita Falls, Okla., and to Brownwood, November 22, Howard Payne.

Home games will be October 11, Carswell Air Base, Fort Worth; October 20, McMurtry, and November 10, Austin College (ACC homecoming).

In addition to the 21 lettermen and three squadmen returning, ACC anticipates gaining the services of several transfer gridders and 10 good prospective freshmen.

Among returning lettermen is E. J. (Tiny) Moore of Snyder, 2601 pound guard.

Went Into Pennsylvanian

has "tremendous possibilities" for transporting both men and equipment into battle.
"We should do all we can to develop the assault landing craft," he said.

Air Force Maj. Gen. W. R. Wolfenbarger, deputy maneuvers commander, said the assault craft have "great possibilities in eliminating the mass paratroop jumps."
"And we should work toward this end," he added.

One 'Combat' Death
The big ships were used to land jeeps, howitzers, and other heavy equipment during the drops of 6,000 paratroopers and their equipment in the last two days. All the ships landed safely on a makeshift landing strip and the airborne infantrymen quickly got the equipment into action.

In the parachute drop of equipment, some was smashed badly. One paratrooper was killed and 26 others hospitalized with serious injuries during the mass jumps.

Hundreds of onlookers watched in horror while 20-year-old Pfc. Salvador J. Camarena plunged 1,200 feet to his death. His parachute failed to open. Camarena struggled to open his emergency chute, but it did not open in time.

Camarena was the lone "combat" casualty among the 110,000 men who took part in the two-weeks exercise. Thirteen other deaths during the games were attributed by the Army to non-combat causes.

Hurricane's Death Toll Climbs To 210

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The mayor of El Mante, on the Pan-American Highway, Monday reported water from hurricane-borne rains drowned nine persons in that area.

The hurricane hit Tampico, on Mexico's eastern coast, Wednesday. Patricio Reina, reporting to President Miguel Aleman, said soldiers had found the nine bodies and were seeking more. He said 3,000 farmers from flooded lowlands had taken refuge in a big sugar mill at El Mante.

The report from El Mante brought the number of deaths in last week's hurricane to 210. The British island of Jamaica reported 156 killed. In Mexico, a bursting dam killed 42; there was one death each in Tampico and Tuxpan, on the coast, and a truck driver was drowned outside Mante.

Red Reply—

followed a massive outpouring of propaganda attacks on the United States and the Allies, which had been in full flow ever since the Communists broke off the Kaesong talks at 1:45 a.m. Thursday.

The burden of these semi-official and unofficial Red broadcasts was that, even after the break-off, the United States had made two new land and air raids on the Kaesong area and also had sent warplanes scouting over Shanghai, Tsingtao and other Chinese coastal cities.

Near the end of the day Monday, the Peiping radio said the Communists still were expecting Allied liaison officers and correspondents to return to Kaesong to investigate the original charge of a bombing the night of August 22.

New Violation Charged
Peiping Monday night said the UN plane made three passes at Kaesong.

The alleged new violations of Kaesong's neutral zone and the China coast, Peiping said, were designed to "menace the national security of China" and "put an end to the peace negotiations, with war."

In detail the Reds listed these new charges: —
1—American warplanes flew over China's coastal cities Thursday and Saturday.

2—American and South Korean "planelothesmen" violated the Kaesong neutral zone "again" Saturday.

3—Seven American planes "invaded" the Kaesong area Saturday.
