Weekend Death Toll Mounts In Texas

Allies Charge Reds' Stalling Is Deliberate

TOKYO—(AP)—Three United Nations armistice negotiators flew from Korea to Tokyo Monday as Allied headquarters said Reds "may be deliberately" delaying Korean war truce talks "to blackmail the rest of the world" at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior UN representative, and two other members of the five-man Allied ceasefire team—Lt. Gen. L. C. Craigie and Rear Adm. Arthur G. Burks—arrived at 7:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. CST).

Presumably they will confer with the United Nations commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, on the stalled negotiations at Kaesong, Korea.

A source close to Joy said the admiral went immediately to his home here.

The source added: "Usually Joy goes right into conference with Ridgway but he didn't do it tonight. He went straight home."

It was the second time Joy has come to Tokyo since the Reds suspended the talks August 23. On his previous visit, he conferred at length with Ridgway.

The source close to the top Allied negotiator said he didn't know how long the admiral would be in Tokyo "and I doubt that he knows himself."

Never Complete Break
Suspended armistice negotiations sank closer to a complete break under an outbreak of Red charges that grew like a festering sore.

Full-scale fighting in the 14-month-old war was ready to flare at any moment if cease-fire talks collapse completely.

A see-saw battle, biased for the fourth day along the east-central front. UN troops smashed out bloody gains through savage counterattacks by massing Red forces.

Odessa Man Dies Of Injuries Suffered In Highway Crash

Donald A. Sloan, 23, of Odessa died Sunday in a Midland hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident Saturday six miles south of Midland on the Rankin highway.

Not seriously injured in the accident was James R. Martin, 24, also of Odessa. He was given emergency treatment at a Midland hospital.

Highway Patrolman Mac Stout, who investigated the crash, said an automobile driven by Sloan collided head-on with a panel truck driven by Martin.

Sloan was a field representative of the National Supply Company. Martin is an inspector for the Brown Well Servicing Company.

Funeral services for Sloan were to be held at 5 p.m. Monday in the Methodist Church at Plains, Texas, with the Rev. Ray Patterson, officiating. Arrangements were under direction of Newvie W. Ellis Chapel of Midland.

Texas Tech Graduate
Sloan, who resided at 1413 North Sam Houston Street, in Odessa, was a graduate of Texas Tech in mechanical engineering. He was active in student activities and was listed in Who's Who of American Colleges and Universities. He was president of a men's social club, Soci, at Tech.

He had been married only three months at the time the fatal accident occurred.

Survivors include the widow of Odessa; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sloan of Plains; two brothers, J. C. Sloan of Plains and Glenn, U. S. Navy.

Red Planes Carry War To UN Units

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(AP)—Communist fighter planes made six bombing and strafing attacks Monday on United Nations ground forces on the east central fighting front.

One plane was a Russian-type YAK-9 fighter.

The Red planes made their hit-and-run attacks through clouds between 6 and 6:40 a.m. They fled north immediately after the attacks.

Some dropped single bombs. The one identified as a YAK-9 fired a rocket at Allied ground troops.

There was no report of results. The attacks were made between Kumhwa and Hwachon, north of the 38th parallel.

One attack was against a front line unit near Kumhwa. The others were directed at Allied troops just to the rear of the front line.

At Eighth Army Headquarters, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United Nations ground commander in Korea, said the Reds have built up a striking force of about 800,000 men, some of them Caucasian, since the start of the now-stalled cease-fire talks at Kaesong July 10.

On the east central front, attacking Allied troops swarmed up two heights north of Inje Monday and routed Reds from their last stronghold on the line north of the Punchbowl, scene of bitter fighting before the armistice talks began.

The Reds apparently were pulling back to set up another defense line a short distance north.

West of the Punchbowl, the Reds stubbornly counterattacked and defended their dug-in hill positions against hard-driving Allied troops.

Allied troops, attacking on a 30-mile front, carved out bloody gains earlier in see-saw action from Kumhwa north to Inje.

Goodnight Kiss By Kelly Airman Sets Off Reaction

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—It was just an innocent goodnight kiss, the Kelly Air Force Base man thought. But it had these repercussions:

As he kissed the girl outside her home about 2:30 a.m. Monday, a man rushed out of the house.

"That's my husband," the girl yelled, as she leaped out of the airman's car and ran.

The airman leaped out also, and pursued by the husband, fled, not stopping until he reached police headquarters.

Policeman M. G. Tijerina returned him to the house, where he found all four tires on his auto punctured, the wiring ripped loose, and the keys thrown away.

One of the keys, it developed, was to an ammunition depot at Kelly.

THEIR COMMON OBJECTIVE: PEACE—On Labor Day, 1951, in a world unsettled and fearful of global war, men who labor and men who fight for America are united in a single purpose. That purpose is peace—but peace with freedom, and peace with justice for all men. Once more, the giant wheels of industry are turning out the sinews of military strength. Whether or not millions more of the world's finest youth must die on far-flung battlefields hinges on our success in making that strength—America's great strength—count for freedom.

Police Announce Creation Of School Safety Trophy Here

Creation of a School Safety Trophy, to be awarded each month to the school with the most outstanding safety performance, was announced Monday by the Midland Police Department.

The suitably-inscribed trophy will be awarded on the basis of a selection made by a committee of three businessmen.

"We hope the program will benefit not only the children in the school but their parents as well," said Sgt. Jack Truman, head of the department traffic detail and in charge of the program.

The parents can play a big part in teaching their children how to observe safety rules in crossing streets, getting out of the cars at school and by obeying traffic signals.

The program will be explained to each school by a police officer.

Points to be used in judging the various schools include: Using cross walks, observing traffic lights, obeying the Schoolboy Patrol, riding bicycles properly, driving motor vehicles properly and proper unloading of children from automobiles near schools.

The trophy, donated by the Carleton-Brumbow Sporting Goods Company, will remain in the possession of the winning school for one month.

Grand Jury Meets Tuesday Morning

A Midland County grand jury will convene here Tuesday morning in 70th District Court.

Twenty men have been summoned to report at 10 a.m. to Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton for possible service on the investigating body.

A petit jury will convene Wednesday morning for the regular September session of the court.

Midland Has Full Holiday Schedule

Labor Day got off to a fairly quiet and peaceful start here Monday morning, but the tempo was expected to increase rapidly during the afternoon and evening with the unfolding of a busy entertainment schedule.

The initial event of Midland's three-phase Labor Day celebration is scheduled at 2 p.m., when the Sheriff's Posse presents its second annual Western-type program at Midland Fair Park on East Highway 80.

Thrilling entertainment events, designed to please both young and old, include a jack-pot calf roping, mounted relay races, barrel races for both cowboys and cowgirls, Cutting Horse contest, and a galloping exhibition. It will be a three-hour show, with contest entries limited to Midland County residents.

Another major entertainment feature will be the "Appreciation Night" program at Indian Baseball Park here. An "Old Timer" baseball exhibition is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., to be followed by a Longhorn League game between the Midland Indians and the San Angelo Colts at 8:15 p.m. A record attendance for the 1951 season is expected.

Then at 8:30 p.m. an "open to the world" square dance is scheduled in the open-air patio at the Mackey Motor Company at the corner of Missouri and Lorraine Streets in downtown Midland. It also is sponsored by the Sheriff's Posse, with Charles Bialock in charge of arrangements. The popular Lyles Square Dance Band of Crane will furnish the music.

Special entertainment also will be furnished by the Sheriff's Posse.

Part of American Team
President Truman, flying to the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco, issued a statement saying labor is part of the American team, along with management and government, working out the nation's destiny.

Secretary of Defense Marshall said American labor "has consistently stressed its stake in the free way of life and has made great contributions to the preservation of that life."

Manly Fleischmann, defense production administrator, said "labor is meeting the challenge" of the mobilization program.

APL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray sent messages to foreign workers, through the State Department's "Voice of America" overseas broadcasts.

Truman Enroute To Frisco

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman left Monday for the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco.

He took off in his personal plane, the Independence, at 6:28 a.m. CST on the non-stop, 10-hour, 2,450-mile flight.

The President will address the opening of the historic conference in San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House at 8:30 p.m. (CST) Tuesday.

He is expected to warn against allowing any Communist obstructionist tactics to delay signing the treaty.

Lt. Col. Francis T. Williams, pilot of the President's plane, anticipated a landing at 3:40 p.m. (CST) at the Coast Guard Section of the San Francisco Airport.

To Open Bond Drive
Aides said the President is determined that a Russian delegation headed by Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister, will not be permitted to "throw a monkey wrench" into the proceedings. U. S. delegates also were concerned over an expected Russian propaganda drive to discourage prospective signers, especially among Asiatic nations.

Truman's first engagement is a five-minute radio talk to the nation at 8:35 p.m. (CST) Monday, opening a new Treasury bond-selling drive to provide additional funds for the ever-increasing defense mobilization program.

Two engagements Tuesday will precede his major address Tuesday night in the War Memorial Opera House. He will meet with a group from the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows immediately before luncheon with California and other West Coast Democrats.

Both events will be held in the Fairmont Hotel, where Truman will make his headquarters. He plans to leave San Francisco at 8 a.m. Wednesday for Kansas City, where the "Independence" will land at 1 p.m.

Truman expects to spend the remainder of the week there, and in his home town of Independence, Mo.

18 Persons Still Missing In Boat Tragedy Killing 37

MONTAUK, N. Y.—(AP)—The Coast Guard and State Police held little hope Monday of finding many of the 18 persons still missing and presumed dead after their party fishing boat capsized Saturday with a loss of 37 lives.

Searchers continued, however, to scan the Long Island beaches and the Atlantic in their hunt for the missing. The Coast Guard was using planes, cutters and small patrol boats. State Police combed the shores on foot.

While this grim search went on, both the Coast Guard and the Suffolk County district attorney pushed separate investigations into one of the worst sea disasters in this area.

The fishing boat, the Pelican, keeled over in the stormy Atlantic about 500 yards off the eastern tip of Long Island, 125 miles from New York City. A bolling rip tide caught the 48-foot craft with one of its two engines dead.

Fifty-four amateur fishermen and a crew of two had put out gally for a day of deep-sea fishing Saturday morning, using the Labor Day weekend for one last summer outing. Each fisherman paid $4.50 passage.

47 Fatalities Recorded, 30 On Highways

By The Associated Press
Seven members of a negro family died in a single accident Sunday night as Texas' Labor Day violent death toll soared to 47.

Thirty died in traffic accidents, and five planes crashed.

Killed when their automobile and a truck collided south of Fort Worth were John L. Price, 37, his sons, Allen, seven, and Edwin Earl Price, one; Margaret Jean Price, four; Charles Ray Price, three; Alexander Columbus Price, 11, and an unidentified woman.

Thousands on the beach at Galveston watched a single-engine BT-13 World War II training plane crash into the gulf at dusk. Killed were the pilot, Maurice Pateman, 38, a department head at the Galveston Sears store; Blake Miller, 26, a Galveston Tribune reporter; and Officer Candidate Weldon Miller, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio. The Millers were brothers.

W. G. Miller of San Antonio, father of the two victims, saw the crash. He jumped into a boat and sped to the spot. The only thing he could find was a cap that belonged to Weldon.

Hundreds drove their cars to the water's edge and turned on their lights to aid the Coast Guard in recovering the bodies.

George Sears Carter, 38, Houston, was killed at Amarillo Sunday night when his motorcycle and a pickup truck collided.

Stabbings, Shootings
Other violent deaths came from stabbing, shooting, drowning, falls, electrocution and the like.

Fort Worth killed three youths—Thomas Marshall Cole, 12, Bobby James McConnell, 14, and Jimmy Dale Yarborough, 17.

W. A. Woolsey, 50, of Houston, killed Saturday when he fell from a horse near Boerne.

Douglas Westbrook, 35, stabbed to death, and Luther Nash, shot to death, in a Saturday night brawl in Dallas.

Fourth Hurricane Of Season Builds Up In Caribbean

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—A growing hurricane, the fourth of the season, was heading westward from the Caribbean sea Monday.

The San Juan, Puerto Rico, Weather Bureau reported the storm, which formed Saturday in the same general area that spawned the hurricane which killed almost 200 persons last month, was located early Monday about 225 miles south of Cabo Rojo, Puerto Rico.

Winds near the center of the tropical twister were estimated at 100 miles an hour, while gale winds extended about 100 miles to the north.

The Weather Bureau predicted the storm would continue to move westward at a speed of about 18 miles an hour and that it would increase in size and intensity during the next 12 hours.

No land areas were in immediate danger, and Chief Storm Forecaster Grady Norton of the Miami Weather Bureau said: "Unless there is a radical change of direction, it will be a long time before any land area is endangered."

Ships in the path of the hurricane were advised to avoid it.

Child Injured In Traffic Crash Dies
Thomas Hart, Jr., aged five, died Sunday in a Midland hospital.

The child had been injured seriously in an automobile accident, August 5, in which his mother was killed and his father injured.

In the automobile crash, he received severe burns and other injuries. His mother, Mrs. Thomas Hart, Sr., was killed instantly and the father suffered head injuries. One other person was injured. He is Roy Maxey, 36, of Tarran, who was in the other automobile which was in a collision with the Harts, one-half mile north of the Midland city limits.

Funeral services had not been set Monday. Newvie W. Ellis Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

That Stuff Isn't Newsprint, Brother; It's Toweling, With Wrinkles Removed

Perhaps you too have wondered about the unusual newsprint The Reporter-Telegram has been using the last week or 10 days.

"What in the world is that stuff you are printing on?" is the way one reader put it in a telephone query.

You may be surprised to learn the grayish, coarse newsprint actually is toweling with the crepe removed.

It is a de-sized and re-washed paper, made from scrap, and processed by what is known as a "cold water method" at a mill located in the Catskill Mountains in New York State. The mill, by the way, was established in 1833.

Another surprising thing is that the selling price on the toweling is higher than on regular newsprint. And the freight rate is higher, too. This is believed to be the first time such paper has been used as newsprint.

It does serve the purpose, however, and its use as newsprint is the only way The Reporter-Telegram could keep operating without rationing advertising or limiting circulation.

Yes, there definitely is a newsprint shortage—in fact the shortage is more critical than at any time during World War II. Actually, the newsprint supply never has caught up with greatly increased demands since the war.

There is a mad scramble for newsprint, even at its "highest-in-history" prices, in every nation of the world. Legitimate newsprint prices have quadrupled in the last 10 or 12 years and still the supply cannot meet the all-time record demand.

Newsprint is the big problem in practically every newspaper plant, large or small, in the world today.

In a determined effort to continue to serve its readers and advertisers without curtailment, The Reporter-Telegram located, purchased, received and is using a limited supply of the toweling newsprint.

The newspaper hopes within another month to have its newsprint problem solved, at least for the rest of this year. Reporter-Telegram readers have been both kind and sympathetic in their public comments concerning the toweling.

The next unusual newsprint The Reporter-Telegram will use is a high quality mechanical writing paper, which will be slightly off-white in color. It is a better grade paper than standard newsprint—and it costs more, too—but it is available and The Reporter-Telegram has purchased some of it to assure continued full-scale service to its Midland and Permian Basin Empire readers and advertisers.

Air Support Squabble Lacks Ferocity Of Old B-36 Battle

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The real story of the supposed row between Air Force and Navy-Marine air, over tactical air support for ground troops at the Fort Bragg, N. C., maneuvers, now can be cleared up. This row has been played up in some circles as another great rift in the unification program.

Facts in the case indicate it isn't quite the magnitude of the B-36 and super-carrier split of a couple of years ago, although a fundamental principle of tactical air support is involved.

General Clark, however, after his Korean visit, wanted the two systems tried out and compared. The big maneuver now known as "Exercise Southern Pines" even then was being planned for this summer.

and it was followed throughout the war. It still is Air Force doctrine.

General Clark, however, after his Korean visit, wanted the two systems tried out and compared. The big maneuver now known as "Exercise Southern Pines" even then was being planned for this summer.

Shortly after Adm. William M. Fechteler became commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, with headquarters at Norfolk, Va., he paid a courtesy call on General Clark at his Fort Monroe headquarters, across Hampton Roads.

General Clark outlined his plan. He wanted Navy air to take part in the maneuvers and do its stuff for one phase of the maneuvers. Then Air Force would show its system. Ground troop commanders then would be the judge of which system was best.

This exercise was tremendously important because the two infantry divisions in this maneuver, the 28th and the 43rd, will go to Germany this fall.

Admiral Fechteler assured General Clark of Navy cooperation for joint service maneuvers and went back to his headquarters to put his staff to work on plans. Then things began to happen.

Schedules Conflict

"Exercise Southern Pines" had been planned originally for June. It was postponed to August. That happened to come right at a time when the Atlantic Fleet was sending new carrier groups to the Mediterranean, to relieve ships now in those waters. The overlap wouldn't give the Atlantic Fleet much strength for the maneuvers.

But such Navy air strength as was available was ordered to the Fort Bragg area. Here it ran into a new obstacle. Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon, commander of the Tactical Air Force and air commander of the maneuvers, informed the Navy its planes could come into the area and take part in the war games, but that they would have to be under Air Force command.

It made sense that there could be only one commander in the field. But to Admiral Fechteler it seemed that General Clark's original purpose would be defeated if Navy air couldn't operate in its own way. Combining this with the fact that he didn't have much air strength to spare, Admiral Fechteler informed General Clark that Navy would withdraw from the Southern Pines war games.

Having now become chief of Naval Operations in Washington, succeeding Adm. Forrest Sherman, Admiral Fechteler finds this whole incident his first major headache as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Experts Study Jet Wreckage In Which Four Persons Died

WICHITA, KAN.—(P)—Technical experts Monday studied the wreckage of two B-47s that crashed in an effort to learn what caused them to collide and crash in flames.

Four test pilots—two in each of the swept-wing planes—died in the crash Saturday night.

The air force joined the Boeing Airplane Company, makers of the planes, in the investigation. The planes cost $3,000,000 each and have a speed of more than 600 miles per hour.

The collision occurred five miles northeast of Wichita while the planes were on a test flight. Boeing tests the B-47s before turning them over to the Air Force.

The dead included Douglas C. Heimberger, 31, Springfield, Mo., Boeing's chief test pilot; Chester A. Coltharp, Jr., 36, Newport, Ark.; Eric R. Oppenheimer, 32, Westport, Conn.; and Steve Gatti, 37, Renton, Wash.

Boeing said all were excellent pilots with long civilian and military experience.

Henry Dittmer, an eyewitness, said one plane was flying below the other.

"As they got directly overhead, the lower plane fell behind suddenly and nosed up. Its wing struck the tail assembly of the upper plane, demolishing it," Dittmer said. "The stricken plane went into a vertical dive to the ground."

"The other plane made a wide spiral to the right, and nosed straight into the ground also, its engines roaring, as if at full power."

Martha Merchant Weds K. M. McClain

Martha Leigh Merchant of Carlsbad, N. M., became the bride of Kenneth Myatt McClain of Midland in a ceremony Saturday in the Grace Episcopal Church in Carlsbad. The Rev. Ralph Shannon officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buford Merchant of Carlsbad. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin L. McClain of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Tom J. Pearson was the organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory chantilly lace over taffeta. Tiny, lace-covered buttons extended down the back of the bodice. The dress was fashioned with an oval yoke of nylon tulle defined at the waist with a satin cord. Iridescent sequins traced the pattern of lace and long sleeves tapered to petal points at the hands. The skirt, which was worn over hoops, formed a circular train. Her finger-tip length veil of French illusion fell from a tulle of Alencon lace. She carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid. Laura Merchant of Carlsbad, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Soap To Chase Dirt, Germs

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Mothers of young children have a particular busy each day when clean-up time rolls around. Thanks to multi-ples and playground grime, the amount of dirt that must be scrubbed from juvenile hands, faces and knees is rather formidable. Still, because young skin is tender and delicate, a mild cleanser must be used. One solution to this difficulty is offered by a well-known soap company. A new product not only offers extra effectiveness in disposing of surface dirt, but it tackles the germs as well. According to makers, tests conducted with a group of medical students indicated that hands washed with this soap showed—only 1.38 as many germs as are normally present after an ordinary hand washing. Despite this germicidal power, this soap is sufficiently mild even for a baby's bath, the firm states. Other virtues include a creamy richness contributed by its lanolin content, and a delicate odor that denies its antiseptic function. Commercial sturgeon fishing has died out in North America because over-fishing depleted the supply.

Him that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations.—Romans 14:1.

Labor's Big Opportunity

The leaders of organized American labor face an opportunity. They can—if they will—contribute mightily at this hour to the well-being, the security and the morale of their country.

They can seize this chance in this way: First of all, they can urge upon their rank and file a mood and spirit of service to the American people.

Union leaders might ask: "Why single labor out for Samaritan sacrifice when so many others are busy grabbing theirs?"

The answer is simple. Organized labor professes to be forward-looking, to concern itself with the interests of the whole people as well as its own membership.

The battered consumer almost certainly is in for another inflationary twirl as defense spending rises to new heights, unless prices and wages somehow can be held down by a variety of controlling pressures.

Some of these lie within the province of government, but labor itself can play a large role by holding new wage demands to the absolute minimum commensurate with reasonable living standards.

It would be refreshing if labor leaders were to announce this as their goal. Thus far, since World War II wound up, we have had no break in the endless cycle of grabbing by all major segments of our society.

But a new mood of service would mean something besides less insistence on getting more. It also would mean a determination to give more.

Anyone who buys an American mass-produced product today, or tries to get one fixed once he's bought it, is sadly aware that pride of workmanship is largely a dream of the past.

The modern machine is a cold, impersonal thing. It discourages interest in a well-turned product. But in some fashion labor, along with management, must meet this challenge.

It's bad enough when it's your car or your stove. But when it's a tank or a plane or an Army truck, lives can be lost through unthinking neglect.

Your newspapers tell you daily that in many quarters American ideals of honor and earnest service are not being observed. Labor is not exempt from the moral decline that has afflicted us.

Are its leaders big enough to recognize labor's shortcomings and to start the nation on a fresh trail back toward the ideals which it was founded to serve?

Hard luck is what other people bore you talking about.

New shoes always hurt the worst when you have to buy them for about five kids at the same time.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Written for NEA Service

When the national bridge championship began in Washington, D. C. late in July, several hundred residents of the capital city dropped in to take part in the one-session events.

In the hand shown today, the two congressmen earned a fine score by bidding and making a grand slam. There was nothing to the play, since there were at least 13 tricks in top cards, but only one other pair was ambitious enough to bid for all the tricks.

As a bridge player, I must point out that the congressional bidding was not exactly in the classic tradition.

Hard luck is what other people bore you talking about.

So They Say

Disobedience is something that animals and human beings learn early and use always.

I get older just like other people, but since I changed my diet two years ago, I feel remarkably well.

No one will be able to explain to me why some people find it impossible to identify a Communist unless he is beyond the three-mile limit.

We don't come here to be pampered. I ask no quarter in legislative battles and I give none.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By MAURICE J. TOBIN, Secretary of Labor

When the national bridge championship began in Washington, D. C. late in July, several hundred residents of the capital city dropped in to take part in the one-session events.

Most people have learned to read of killings and robberies in the newspapers with the realization that these things are the exceptions and not the rule in American life.

It cannot be pointed out too often that most of the workers and most of the employers settle their problems most of the time in a peaceful way.

What matters is not the exception, but the rule.

And the rule is the peaceful settlement of disputes rather than strikes: the rule is cooperation rather than conflict.

Disobedience is something that animals and human beings learn early and use always.

I get older just like other people, but since I changed my diet two years ago, I feel remarkably well.

MEN prefer GIRLS by Florence Kerigan. Illustration of a man and a woman.

THE banana boat mariposa was slowly coming into the Central American port of Las Palmas.

As she stood there, her mind went back to the day Miss Reynolds, head of the Reynolds Business College, had told her that Steve Tracey, the author, wanted a secretary.

Holly had been told that a girl from a small town school needed a refresher course if she expected to get a good job in the big city.

Steve Tracey was the handsomest man she had ever seen. Tall and dark with wide gray eyes, he looked very much embarrassed and ill at ease as he autographed one book after another.

"I've worked with men before," said Holly stiffly. "It's always been strictly business, I assure you."

"Wait—" she stopped him as he was stowing them into the back of his car.

"You should have thought of conventions before!" he barked.

"Yes," said Holly, in a small, scared voice. "Maybe—maybe I'd better go back."

HE stood looking down at her, and for the first time he smiled.

He was devastating when he smiled. "I'm staying with a friend who has a banana plantation in the hills," he said. "Ray's married."

For the first time, it struck her what a crazy thing she had done! Why he might have been living in a shack alone somewhere in the jungle!

The car climbed the road to the crest of a ridge overlooking the harbor. The ship was already heading slowly out to open sea again, Holly sighed. The last link between her and home was severed. There was nothing for her to do but stay at least until a ship stopped en route to New York two weeks later.

HOLLY DUNSTON stole a quick glance at Steve Tracey's grim profile. She didn't relish the prospect of working for an even longer two weeks. She'd as soon be kicked by the Great Stone Face, she decided. Strictly business, he had said, and she had agreed, and meant him! No romantic notions, about him! He had just a little less appeal than the statue of General Whozzywhat on his bronze horse in the park.

Then Holly forgot her resentment as she looked about her with increasing delight. They were passing through cultivated land, acres upon acres of marching plants with long drooping leaves like an army with tattered banners.

"Bananas," he pointed out briefly. "This is the north end of Ray Porter's plantation." (To Be Continued)

Most Troops Must Be From Kansas

FRANKFURT, GERMANY —(AP)—You'd think half of the GIs in the European Command are from Kansas when General Eisenhower makes a troop inspection.

When inspecting the line, Kansas-born Ike stops here and there to chat with the soldiers. Invariably, or so it seems, every time he asks a soldier where he's from, the reply is: "Kansas, sir." And the General smiles broadly and says "I'm from Kansas, too."

It's not always an accident that the soldier happens to be from Kansas. When some commanding officers get the word that the General is on his way for an inspection the personnel files are hastily scanned for the names of Kansans. Then the natives of the "sunflower" state are placed in "strategic" positions along the line and, odds then are, that when Eisenhower stops to talk with a soldier the soldier is a Kansan.

General Eisenhower probably isn't fooled by it all, but he enjoys it.

Experts Can't Agree On Method To Push For Synthetic Oil

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The nation's top experts on synthetic liquid fuels are asking "Where do we go from here?" So far they haven't been able to come up with an answer agreeable to all.

The whole problem was hashed over at a conference here of 25 top technicians of the Bureau of Mines. The men came from the bureau's synthetic fuels establishments at Bruceton, Pa., Morgantown, W. Va., Louisiana, Mo., Rifle, Colo., Laramie, Wyo., and from headquarters here.

They agreed unanimously about the need of getting on with the program, of going as soon as possible from the demonstration-plant phase of today into the first commercial-scale type of production.

One group, headed by Dr. Wilburn C. Schroeder, chief of the bureau's synthetic liquid fuels branch, wants to push on immediately and to adopt the "coal hydrogenation" process for the initial venture.

Secretary of the Interior Chapman favors this approach and is seeking a Midwestern site for a plant.

Other experts, among them Dr. James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, contend further studies are required.

Since the bureau inaugurated its synthetic fuels research program in 1945 it has spent $60,000,000 on the work. An additional $27,000,000 has been authorized to continue research for three more years.

"We don't want to go into commercial-scale production until we are sure we can build a plant that works," one official said.

"We don't want to make a serious mistake that might damn the whole project."

This group would prefer to wait for:

1. A report from the national petroleum council, due about October 1, on its $275,000 study of the comparative costs of making oil from coal-hydrogenation and gasification.

2. A report, due from the army corps of engineers in about two months, on the synthetic fuel possibilities of U. S. coal fields.

This report will detail the availability of coal, water, manpower and other factors.

This group at one time recommended an independent study be made by a technical committee from the non-political national academy of science. This proposal reportedly has been dropped in view of Chapman's support of the immediate-action school of thought.

Chapman emphasized his stand recently by removing Boyd as head of the defense minerals administration and appointing Schroeder, of Boyd had held the job, on leave from the mines bureau, since last December.

Even more significantly, Chapman promoted Schroeder to assistant bureau director, for programs. This post places Schroeder in a much stronger position to advance his views on synthetic fuels.

There have been denials all around that Boyd may be ousted as bureau director. However, the differences between him and Chapman apparently are even stronger than those between Chapman and Newton Drury, which led earlier this year to Drury's removal as director of the national park service.

Schroeder has emphasized that the site of the proposed $400,000,000 coal-hydrogenation plant has not yet been selected and that coals from several states are being tested.

He says a 15,000-barrel-a-day plant would need a 300 to 500 acre site and at least a square mile of coal.

The bureau has operated a 300-barrel-a-day hydrogenation project on a demonstration scale at Louisiana, Mo. It also plans to operate a 75-barrel-a-day gasification plant there soon.

Converting coal to gas and then re-forming it to a liquid is cheaper than the other process, which involves introducing hydrogen under pressure into a paste made of finely-ground coal and tar.

However, the hydrogen process produces a high proportion of chemicals which would more than offset the additional cost if current markets for the chemicals remained strong.

The primary products of both processes are oil and its refined products, including gasoline.

Synthetic rubber in liquid form is applied to steel, wood and concrete surfaces by brush or spray and dries rapidly under ordinary atmospheric conditions to provide a thin protective coating. This elastic, non-cracking neoprene coating is resistant to weather, oil, grease and chemicals.

Indians Wreck Colts, 11-0

Ten Gets Two-Hit Game As Hughes, White Hit Homers

By LARRY KING

The booming bats of the Midland Indians rang out a stern warning to 1952 opponents here Sunday, as the Indians used just three pitches by San Angelo's Bob Garza in getting away to a 3-0 lead and riding to an 11-0 blanking of the Colts.

Little Israel Ten hurled a masterful shutout, allowing but two hits—both of them bloopers to right field in the sixth. One was a single by Juan Guerrero, shortstop, and the other was turned into a two-base hit by Center Fielder Ken Kowalik's running. Ten had perfect control, issuing no bases on balls and striking out five. Only a week ago, he blanked Sweetwater on one hit.

Scorer: Hughes, Tribe shortstop, got things off to a merry start by blasting Garza's first pitch over the left field wall. It was Hughes' sixteenth home run of the year.

Garza delivered the third pitch of the ball game.

Boom! White drove it over the left wall for his nineteenth home run and a 3-0 Midland lead.

Three pitches later, Kenny Jones singled and Julio de la Torre sent him to third with a hit. But here Garza was relieved and Tinkler put out the fire.

Midland got to Tinkler in the second, Ten leading off with a blooper double to right field, scoring on a single by Hughes, who had four hits in five trips for the day.

In the fourth, Hughes singled, took third when Wilcox hit and scored on a long fly-out by White.

The Tribe added two more in the sixth, with a double by Stan Wilcox, a walk to Jones and a single and two-base error with Julio de la Torre at the plate instrumental in the scoring.

Ahead 7-0 in the seventh frame, two more runs crossed the plate in the seventh on doubles by Campbell and the red-hot Hughes plus a two-base error which put Wilcox on base.

Just for insurance, the Indians added a pair in the final inning. Jones walked, de la Torre sent him to third with a single, Tanner rolled out, Campbell was hit with a pitched ball to lead the sacks and Rudy Escobar then singled Jones and de la Torre home.

San Angelo has now gone 31 scoreless innings against Midland pitching. The Colts have been blanked three straight games by the Tribe mound staff, and also were scoreless the last four innings of a previous contest.

Only five men reached base against Ten. Two hit, and three got on by error.

Mueller Hits Two More, Giants Beat Bums Again, 11-2

By JOE REICHLER

Maybe the Brooklyn Dodgers aren't panicky. Maybe they're not even a teeny bit worried, as some of them would have you believe. But the spectacular surge of the New York Giants is wearing their tempers thin.

Smarting under another lacing by the Giants, the cranky Dodgers carried on like naughty brats Sunday as they bowed, 11-2, and watched their once tremendous 13 1/2-game bulge shrink to five games over their bitter interborough rivals.

Unable to cope with the swift shoots of big Jim Hearn, the Dodgers turned their tempers on Umpire Al Barlick in their frustration.

As a result, the plate arbiter evicted five Dodgers. The rest of the Dodger bench was cleared by Manager Charlie Dressen. All were ordered to the dressing room, located in deep center field.

Elsewhere, Cleveland's Indians took advantage of the Yankees' washout, whipping the St. Louis Browns, 5-1, and cutting New York's first-place margin in the American League to a half game. Rain wiped out the scheduled doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics as well as the Yankees-Washington contest.

Virgil Trucks won a brilliant hurling duel from Billy Pierce as Detroit blanked the Chicago White Sox, 1-0.

Kenny Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, hurled a one-hitter—an infield single by Eddie Miksis—as the Reds and Chicago Cubs swapped shutouts.

Raffensberger won the opener, 7-0. Bob Ruess pitched a 4-0 feather-bitter for the Cubs in the nightcap.

Stan Musial hammered his thirty-first homer and two singles to lead the St. Louis Cards to a 6-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Philadelphia's Phillies got five unearned runs to whip the Boston Braves, 5-3, in a game cut to six innings by rain.

Everyone and everything except the Midland fans will be against Eddie Jacome when he goes against the San Angelo Colts Monday night in Indian Park.

The percentages and the San Angelo Colts are very much against him.

First off, Jacome has won 12 straight—he's going after "unlucky" number 13 straight and his twenty-eighth verdict of the year.

If that isn't enough, look at the consecutive scoreless innings the Colts have been swinging without success at Indian pitching—they are "way over-due to explode after 31 scoreless at bats."

Too, the Midland hitters have been bouncing the ball off the fence with some degree of regularity lately and they're due to cool off. This could be the night.

In addition, the Colts need but one more victory to sew up first place in the league. After three successful attempts to get it, they are over-due to do so.

And, to top that off, a man who has "jinxed" the Indians all year will be in the stands.

Ben Crites, a Reporter-Telegram employe, has been to Indian Park several times this year—and every time, the Indians have been defeated. He's going again Monday night.

If Jacome ever comes all those odds to win, there's no doubt about it—he's really got it.

But the Midland fans will be behind Eddie all the way. Without a doubt one of the best pitchers in the minors, Jacome has that crowd-pleasing personality which insures success with the baseball fans.

He can do no wrong. The fans will cheer his feats and excuse his mistakes.

If anyone can turn the difficult trick Monday night, Tucson Eddie is just the lad to do it.

Ernie Nelson, the Midland pitcher, has tossed $90 in the Appreciation Fund for his Indian teammates.

Nelson, who started late this season and never reached his good form, is laying off until next season. He had an $80 check coming for his last few days' work and turned it over to Zeke Bonura with instructions to put it in the pot.

That gets the Indians off to a good start—here's hoping the fans continue the pace Monday night and really show their appreciation to Zeke Bonura and the Midland Indians.

Grid Drills To Go On One-A-Day Set Up Here Tuesday

Whipping through their last two-a-day workouts Monday, the Midland High School Bulldogs turned an eye toward regular one-a-day drills which begin Tuesday.

Cosch Tugboat Jones said his team is coming along "fairly well." Derrill Spivey, guard, is the only player on the injured list. He is out with a sprained ankle, but is expected back Tuesday.

The B team continues its workouts Monday and the C team will draw equipment Tuesday afternoon and begin workouts. Both teams will play regular schedules of eight or nine games.

Midland's varsity Bulldogs open with the San Angelo High School Bobcats, September 14, in Memorial Stadium.

'Old Timers,' Indians Set For Clashes

The thud of the ball and the smack of the bat will be no more in Indian Park during the 1951 season, after Monday night.

Zeke Bonura's Midland Indians and the San Angelo Colts get together on the Midland home grounds in the final appearance of the year for the Indians here.

Bonura has nominated Veteran Eddie Jacome to hurl the wind-up contest against the Colts. Jacome, ace of the Midland mound corps, has a 27-19 won-lost record.

But before the official contest, fun is in store for Midlanders who will arrive at the park to watch a 7:30 p.m. contest pitting the 'Reds' against the 'Whites' in a three-inning ball game. Old timers over 40 will play in the game.

Chester Shepard and John P. Butler will captain the two teams. Both worked out during hitting practice with the Indians Sunday.

New names added to the rosters Monday were J. Dowell Scott, Sammy Timmons, Riley Parr and Ken Johnson. More than 50 old timers have indicated they will take part in the three-inning game.

It will be "payoff night" for the Indians. Fans will contribute to an "Indian Appreciation" pot with the money being divided evenly among the Midland players.

Officers Say Payoff Slot Machines To Be Thing Of Past Soon

AUSTIN —(AP)— Take a good last look at those payoff slot machines and marble tables.

Next Friday, just about all of them will have gone the way of stage coach bandits and cattle rustlers, law enforcement officers predict.

Their death knell was sounded by the 52nd Legislature in a statewide crackdown on organized crime and gambling. Final rites were set for September 7, effective date of the law.

The lawmakers made sure nobody would think they were just kidding this time. They called for a two-to-four year penitentiary sentence on mere possession of a mechanical gaming device involving a payoff-off. They exempted no one—bar, drug store, hotel, country club or private home.

Officers think fear of that prison sentence will make the law near 100 per cent effective.

"We don't think there'll be very many machines on September 7," said Department of Public Safety Assistant Director Joe Fletcher. "Most of them are gone already and the rest are fast disappearing."

Destroyed Openly
One sheriff reported he had been getting volunteer contributions of machines for weeks. Others, he said, were being openly destroyed by their owners.

Many law officers think a reported scheme to beat the law by taking payoff devices off machines and substituting an across-the-counter payoff will not be very wide spread. Somebody still is likely to be the "fall guy" who runs the risk of going to prison to test such an arrangement in court. Besides, there are still anti-gambling laws, they note.

Punchboards are also included in the September 7 funeral plans. Possession of them was made punishable by fines ranging from $100 to $1,000 or 30 days to a year in jail or both.

"Also, you better get rid of any goof balls you've got stashed away. Beginning Friday, you can be fined up to $1,000 or sent to jail for as long as two years or both for illegally manufacturing, selling or even possessing the little dope pills that induce emotional jags. Technically, the new law is aimed at unwise, indiscriminate use of barbiturates or similar drugs.

Bombs Outlawed, Too
You can get in more than a little trouble with bombs, too. All it takes is just to have one, beginning Friday. For that you can get as much as 25 years in the penitentiary and/or up to $10,000 fine.

Group Demonstrates How To Control Fires Without Levying Tax

BRADY —(AP)— How to control rural fires without levying a tax is demonstrated by McCulloch County farmers. They have a volunteer system.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce cited the McCulloch County group in a discussion of a proposed amendment to the Texas Constitution which will be voted on November 13. The amendment would permit creation of rural fire prevention districts supported by a tax of up to 50 cents per $100 valuation.

McCulloch County's efficient rural fire-fighting organization will make it unnecessary for this county to have such a tax-supported system, WTCC said.

This is how the county's plan operates:
When a fire is discovered anywhere in the county, the Chamber of Commerce is notified. Ogden carries in his billfold a list of the names and telephone numbers of 21 ranchers living in all parts of the county who own cattle spraying machines.

Is First Move
The first move is to send one of the two pieces of firefighting equipment, which the McCulloch County Commissioners Court maintains for rural use, one being kept in Brady, the other in Melvin, and one or more of the spraying machines which are located nearest the fire.

Next radio station KNEL is notified and it, in turn, begins broadcasting the location of the fire. Then one of the REA mobile radio units is dispatched to the fire to furnish direct communications. Ogden determines the number of men and equipment and other supplies that are needed to control the fire.

Better straighten up. Bud it's getting harder and harder to make a crooked dollar.

Violent Tornado Rips Martinique

PARIS —(AP)— The semi-official French News Agency Monday said the French Caribbean island of Martinique has been struck by the most violent tornado to hit the area in 20 years.

A wind of 110 miles an hour, accompanied by heavy rains, struck the island Sunday. Roofs were ripped away. Trees were uprooted in the capital, Fort de France, and throughout the southern part of the island. Roads and power lines were cut in many places, and communications were disrupted. Banana plantations sustained heavy damage.

Boyle Writes To A Traffic Victim-Elect

NEW YORK —(AP)— An open letter to a prospective holiday traffic fatality:
Dear sir:
You probably are going to die needlessly Monday.

You are one of the hundreds who always are ticketed for death during the carnival of carnage that takes place on American highways during a holiday weekend.

Too bad. You're a nice guy. People like you. Your wife and kids are going to miss you terribly. They will, that is, unless you kill them, too, in the same accident that takes your own life.

It is pure carelessness that is going to kill you.
I wonder how it will happen to you? Trying to pass another car on a hill? Speeding around a curve too fast on worn tires? Or will it be faulty brakes? In any case it will be something you could have avoided by using common sense.

'Dead On Arrival'
Will they find you impaled on your own steering wheel, or hurled limp and lifeless and bleeding into a roadside ditch? You'll be lucky either way. For death will have erased your stupidity as quickly and painlessly as death can. At the hospital they'll simply tie a DOA tag on your body—"dead on arrival"—and haul you to a morgue.

But death often isn't that kind to careless people. You may suffer horribly in your shattered car before they get an ambulance to you. And some doctor may work two or three hours on the operating table trying vainly to keep alive the bloody pulp of torn flesh and broken bones that yesterday was you.

And nobody will have the courage to put the epitaph on your tombstone that you deserve:
"Killed by his own damn foolishness."

Sincerely
Hal Boyle.
P.S. Think it over, mister. You've still got time.

Young Boxer Dies After Ring Injury

NEW YORK —(AP)— Boxer George Flores lost his greatest fight early Monday.

The 20-year-old Brooklyn heavyweight died at 12:20 a.m. (EST) of a brain injury.

He had been in a coma since Wednesday night, when Roger Donoghue knocked him out in the eighth and final round of their bout in Madison Square Garden.

Flores' 18-year-old wife, Elaine, mother of a month-old son, was at his side when he died. She collapsed after Dr. Peter Gerald announced Flores was dead.

A dozen of Flores' friends including his manager, Louis Breitbart, were in the waiting room of the hospital when his death was announced.

According to Ring Magazine, boxing's unofficial bible, Flores' death was the eleventh in the boxing world this year. Six of these deaths have occurred in American rings.

Flores walked from the garden ring Wednesday night, apparently unhurt, but collapsed in his dressing room. He never regained consciousness.

The stocky, 151-pound fighter was rushed to St. Clare's hospital, and an emergency brain operation to remove a blood clot was performed a few hours later. Another operation was performed on his throat late Saturday afternoon in an effort to aid his breathing, but he failed to rally.

Dr. Gerald said that an autopsy had been ordered by the New York medical examiner, who is investigating the death.

Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., has missed only one U. S. Amateur Golf championship since 1906. He was the first to enter the 1951 tourney.

Stanky Proving Worth With Giants
NEW YORK —(AP)— Eddie Stanky demonstrated his value to the New York Giants in the weekend series with the Brooklyn Dodgers although he failed to hit safely in the two Giant victories.

The little second baseman drew three bases on balls Saturday and twice scored ahead of homers by Don Mueller. Stanky coaxed four walks Sunday and tallied three times. The seven free passes raised his season total to an even 100.

Mueller—
Dodgers began heckling Barlick. The umpire finally ordered Ralph Branca and Dick Williams off the bench.

After getting the side out in the sixth Newcombe went back to the bench and tossed a catcher's mask out on the field. Earlier he had questioned several calls on pitches to Eddie Stanky. He was banished by Barlick. When Jackie Robinson and Clem Labine, a rookie pitcher, took up Newcombe's cause, they, too, got the thumb.

In a gesture of disgust, Dressen then cleared the remainder of his bench and ordered the players into the clubhouse.

Newcombe, trying for his eighteenth win, was charged with his eighth loss. It was the Giants' fifth straight victory over Brooklyn and their nineteenth in the last 21 games.

Cleveland emerged from its hitting slump, belting three homers in a row in the third inning to hand Ned Garver his tenth defeat. Mike Garcia had a shutout until the ninth and racked up his eighteenth victory against 10 defeats. Harry Simpson, Al Rosen and Luke Easter hit the successive homers.

DADDY RINGTAIL

WANT A REFRESHING LITTLE LIFT? CHEW WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT ON YOUR SHIFT!

Daddy Ringtail And Visit To The Zoo

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, hurried away to the zoo for a visit with Uncle Bunkum in his cage. Daddy Ringtail slipped inside the zoo as quietly as he could. On past the lion's cage where the lion was asleep. On past the elephants who were busy eating hay.

Daddy Ringtail slipped along as quietly as he could, so that the Monkey Catcher wouldn't see him. Oh, that Monkey Catcher is always wanting to catch a monkey, you know, and keep it there at his zoo. Shhh! Daddy Ringtail tiptoed and totterped, closer and closer to Uncle Bunkum's cage. "Knock! Knock! Knock!" "Uncle Bunkum, are you asleep?" called out Daddy Ringtail from close beside the cage. "Asleep?" asked Uncle Bunkum from the other side of the bars to live at his zoo in the monkey cage with Uncle Bunkum. "Now where did you come from?" asked the Monkey Catcher, because he was quite, quiet sure that he was about key-catcher cap on his head. He stopped when he saw Daddy Ringtail. "Uh-oh," said Uncle Bunkum, because he was sure, almost, that Daddy Ringtail was about to be caught. "Uh-oh," said Daddy Ringtail, because he thought very much he was almost in trouble. And the Monkey Catcher was sure—quite sure—that now he had an silly smile on his face and a mon-to catch Daddy Ringtail.

"I came from that way," said Daddy Ringtail, pointing, "and Monkey Catcher, if you hurry back the way I came, maybe you will catch me." "Thank you," said the Monkey Catcher, and away he ran as fast as he could, back the way Daddy Ringtail had come, and so the stupid fellow did not catch him a monkey that fine day, oh no Happy day! his cage. "Of course I'm not asleep, because I'm awake." But Uncle Bunkum had been asleep, and now he was just waking up, and he talked in such a very loud voice that the lion in the lion's cage woke up now and began to roar. "Quiet! Quiet! Quiet!" shouted Uncle Bunkum, but he did the shouting much too late. Up came the Monkey Catcher a-running with

Innocent Cough Sets Off Chain Of Events

NELSON, ENGLAND—(AP)—An innocent cough caused Harry Ongham to lose his false teeth, stop a train, and fork up 2 lb. 11 shillings ($7.14) in court costs. Vacating Harry told a judge Saturday the cough was "innocent" but so violent he had to lean out the train window and gasp for air. His teeth fell out. He pulled an emergency cord and stopped the train. He recovered his teeth from the tracks, but a railway policeman arrested him. A sympathetic magistrate dismissed the charge of unlawfully pulling an emergency cord, told Harry he could continue on his vacation, but ordered him to pay the court costs.

Texans Contribute To Strengthening Of NATO Forces

THE HAGUE, HOLLAND—(AP)—With the World War II aerial slaughter of Rotterdam vividly in mind, the Dutch have turned the corner in the creation of a hard-hitting jet air force, and four Texans have contributed to this strengthening of Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower's European forces.

The Texans, all members of the Military Assistance Advisory Group to The Netherlands, are: Col. E. H. (Gene) Callahan of San Antonio, Lt. Col. Robert (Tex) Holmes of Silsbee, Maj. William Van Marter of New Braunfels, and M/Sgt. S. C. (Sambo) Lee of Taylor.

"Now after two years of work, we are really getting somewhere," Colonel Callahan, Air Force chief of MAAG in Holland, said recently as the first F-84E "Thunderjet" was formally turned over to the Dutch Air Force in the presence of General Eisenhower at Ypenburg Airfield, The Hague.

"Up to this point," he asserted, "we have been concerned chiefly with the training of Dutch pilots, mechanics and technicians. Now, first-line, combat-proven American jets are being flown by Dutch pilots who can use them effectively in combat."

Under Mutual Program The Netherlands is obtaining American jets under the mutual defense assistance program along with other European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Dutch are flying two types of jets at present, the American "Thunderjet" fighter-bomber and the British Gloster Meteor, an interceptor. The Dutch got off to a slow start on rearmament, but they are moving fast now. They are determined to have a modern jet air force. Most of it will be at the disposal of General Eisenhower in carrying out his NATO mission.

To a large extent, the Dutch are patterning their Air Force after the U. S. Air Force. They are using American organization, American maintenance and training procedures, and American pilot training. The advisory group headed by Colonel Callahan has been highly instrumental in this swing over to U. S. methods.

The MAAG unit here has an unusual job. Its work is as much diplomatic as it is military. It is a job of convincing the Dutch of the benefits of adopting USAF methods and tactics. There hasn't been a hitch yet, and before long Dutch jet fighter squadrons will be able to operate uniformly alongside American jet units.

Morale Increases The morale of the Dutch Air Force has increased steadily since the advent of NATO. Core is using MIAF. The firm stand taken by the U. S. in Korea gave rise to confidence among Dutch military men that their efforts will be supported by the might of the U. S. The Dutch returning from pilot and technical training in America are bringing back an infectious enthusiasm for tackling their jobs with American know-how, and this is spreading throughout the Dutch Air Force.

"The Dutch are a very valuable asset to General Eisenhower," Colonel Callahan asserts. "Their efforts are producing a relatively small, but highly effective, modern air force. The famed Dutch Airline KLM would be placed in military service in the advent of war, and that would be a vast contribution toward the NATO effort. The Dutch are also very efficient at the manufacture of radar equipment—a much needed item in building up the defenses of Western Europe. We in MAAG are very pleased with the way that the Netherlands is going about the rearmament program," he says.

When Colonel Callahan met General Eisenhower at the Ypenburg Airfield at which the "Thunderjet" was formally presented to the Dutch, he mused: "The war was born in Texas and claims Kansas as a home state—I was born in Kansas and claim Texas as my home state."

All four of the Texans were at the Ypenburg ceremonies. An estimated 100,000 Dutchmen converged on Ypenburg, and the stands were packed when General Eisenhower and Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, C-in-C of Allied Air Forces in Central Europe, flew in from Paris. There were three or four times as many people outside of the field than were in the stands.

As the generals drove up to the speaking stand from their plane, the vast throng was a sea of fluttering handkerchiefs—the Dutch expression of approval—and a roar of welcome went up.

The Dutch minister of war, Ir. C. Staf and the head of the Dutch Air Force, Lt. Gen. I. A. Aler, greeted the American generals.

The "Thunderjet" being turned over to the Dutch was directly behind the speaker's stand, and beside it stood U. S.-trained Dutch pilots who recently returned from America. Behind them waved the flags of the nations participating in the Ypenburg airshow.

General Eisenhower personally inspected these pilots, talking with each individually.

As the crowd applauded Eisenhower, an American-piloted "Thunderjet" flashed in low over the field, pulled up sharply into a vertical climb and roared almost out of sight straight up within seconds. General Eisenhower and the crowd were surprised by this uncheduled demonstration of the "Thunderjet's" might.

The general grinned broadly and waved his cap as a group of Meteor jets whipped across the field in an "E" formation—"E" for Eisenhower. He departed for Paris shortly thereafter.

Injunction May Be Required To End Copper Strike

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A government injunction may be required to end three strikes which Monday continued to slow the flow of copper to the nation's expanding defense program.

Government negotiators were hopeful that one or more of the three struck producers might decide during the day to accept a settlement like that reached Friday by Kennecott Copper Corporation.

Kennecott employees began returning to work Sunday night but a union spokesman hinted they might not stay on the job unless workers of the other three big producers got the same wage increase they agreed to.

The probability that a back-to-work injunction may be asked this week increased Sunday when the three companies — Phelps-Dodge, American Smelting and Refining, and Anaconda Copper—refused to go along with the Kennecott settlement.

Former Paratroop Chaplain Takes Up Cudgel In Battle Against Louisiana Newsmen

LAKE CHARLES, LA. —(P)—A former paratroop chaplain said he would challenge the Calcasieu Parish district attorney Monday to indict him for defamation along with a crusading newspaper editor.

The Rev. William O. Boyd, a Methodist minister and parachute-jumping chaplain of World War II, said he and two other ministers would ask to be indicted in an open letter to District Attorney Griffin Hawkins. The letter will be released to the press Monday night.

Ken Dixon, managing editor of the Lake Charles American Press, and four others on the paper recently were indicted on charges of defaming 18 parish officials and three admitted gamblers.

District Attorney Hawkins was one of the officials allegedly defamed in the newspaper's anti-gambling campaign.

"If Ken Dixon is guilty of defaming the district attorney's character, so are we," the stocky preacher said. "Dixon just echoed in his newspaper what we told the Parish Police Jury (the county governing body)."

Casualties in Korea

WASHINGTON—Six Texans are named in Korean casualty list No. 389, released Sunday night by the Defense Department. All are Army personnel.

Killed in action: Cpl. Arturo Menchaca, San Antonio; Capt. Merlin M. Mulcahy, San Antonio; Pfc. Bennie E. Tabb, Kemp.

Wounded: Cpl. Florencio Lopez, San Antonio.

Missing in action: Cpl. Juan M. Longoria, Crystal City.

Returned to duty: Cpl. John E. Collins, Mount Pleasant (previously wounded).

Officials Look For Cause Of Phillips Plant Explosions

BORGER —(P)—Officials Monday looked for the cause of 12 explosions Saturday in a butadiene plant. Eleven persons were injured. Officials still are trying to estimate the monetary damage.

None of the eleven was seriously hurt. The blasts ripped the Plains Butadiene Plant at Bunavista, near here. The explosions followed a fire that broke out at the plant shortly before daylight.

Engineers and officers of the Phillips Chemical Company, which leases the plant, said it may be several days before damage can be estimated.

The plant may be back in operation within a few days. The fire was confined to a small area.

Hundreds living near the plant area fled their homes in a housing project when the first alarm sounded.

Five of the injured were released after emergency hospital treatment. Six others are being treated for burns in Pantex Hospital at Phillips.

Legal Double-Talk

Mr. Boyd did not identify the other two ministers but said their names would be on the letter.

District Attorney Hawkins said Dixon was indicted on charges of defaming him (Hawkins) for using the phrase "legal double-talk" in describing a statement made by one of Hawkins' assistants.

Asked if he really thought the phrase—used in reference to an assistant's statement—defamed him, Hawkins burst out: "You damn right I think I was defamed."

Hawkins couldn't be reached early Monday for comment on the ministers' plans to write him the open letter.

Boyd said whereas Dixon called the statement "legal double-talk," he said the ministers referred to it as "fiddle-faddle," the other as "widdie-dee-dee," and Boyd said it sounded like some preaching he'd heard—"all words and no meaning."

The indictments drew more fire from Washington Sunday. Senator Hill (D-La.) said the charges against the newsmen were "so flagrantly unjust they will alert the people to the need for a grass roots uprising against crime and corruption."

New Crime Probe?

Hill said the indictments may set off new Senate crime investigations.

It was Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), former Senate Crime Committee chairman, who touched off Dixon's white-hot campaign against gambling. Kefauver called Louisiana's attention to gambling and racketeering in a New Orleans hearing last January.

Mr. Boyd's congregation Sunday found the doors of his church chained and padlocked when they arrived for the 8:30 a.m. service.

After a crowd gathered at the church entrance, the doors were unlocked and the congregation was seated.

From a pulpit draped with chains and an altar cloaked in Nazi swastikas, Boyd explained his point: "A padlocked pulpit always follows a persecuted preacher."

Boyd, a balding red-haired man of 34, knew Dixon as an Associated Press war correspondent in World War II. They met in "the frozen hell" of the Belgian bulge. Boyd said.

Famed Proponent Of Monkey Glands Dies In Switzerland

LAUSANNE, SWITZERLAND —(P)—The body of Dr. Serge Voronoff, famed proponent of rejuvenation for humans through monkey glands, was taken to Italy Monday for interment. Dr. Voronoff, who was 85, died here Saturday after a short illness.

Extreme efforts were made by Voronoff's family and the hotel where he had been staying to avoid announcement of his death. It was confirmed by police and officials of the city morgue.

Voronoff was married in 1934, when he was 70, to Gertrude Schwartz, 20. His third wife, she was a cousin of Elena Lucescu, now the wife of former King Carol of Romania.

Started With Goats

Voronoff gained international fame shortly after World War I as the "monkey gland man." Feature stories, popular songs and even a novel—"Black Oxen" by Gertrude Atherton—were inspired by his theories.

These maintained that the endocrine glands kept the human body going and their decline caused loss of vigor and other signs of old age.

He started experiments with goats, grafting the sex glands of young goats to one which had passed the normal life span. Many were rejuvenated completely by this treatment.

Voronoff then turned to the higher apes and concluded that the glands of a chimpanzee could be grafted into the body of a man. He reported his first operation, performed on a man of 74, restored him to the appearance and general health of a man of 50.

Medical authorities at first rejected his theories, but later developments confirmed some of his ideas.

Private Is Army's Top Letter Writer

CYPRESS, CALIF. —(P)—Until somebody better comes along, Pvt. Arthur J. Marquez will have to do as the champion letter writer in the U. S. Army.

Marquez, in training with the 40th Division in Japan, was acclaimed by the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes as the champion letter receiver when he displayed 515 letters from his girl friend.

Sunday, the girl, 19-year-old Joan Saylor of Cypress, vested him with the new title. As proof, she showed 676 long love letters which she had received from Marquez in less than five months.

"It figures out to more than four letters a day," said she. "I can't begin to keep up with him."

Prowlers Get Cash In Midland Homes

Police reported Sunday that a prowler had entered a home in the 300 block of East Estes Street Saturday night and looted it of purses and billfolds containing $30 or $35.

Mrs. Stanley Cleburne, 304 East Estes Street, told police that she and other members of the family were in the rear of the home while it was being ransacked.

It was the second robbery of an occupied house in so many nights.

Miss Dick Looby, 803 North D Street, reported a prowler entered her home Friday night and took two billfolds and a purse containing $5 in cash.

The prowler fled, she said, when she surprised him in the living room.

Seven Members Of Family Drown In Traffic Accident

AITKIN, MINN. —(P)—A car carrying seven members of a family to Sunday dinner at a relative's home plunged into a water-filled ditch. All seven drowned.

The eighth member of the family had gone to a baseball game instead.

Sheriff Hjalmar Hulin attributed the accident to mechanical failure of the car. He said the steering apparatus apparently went out of order. The car skidded 40 feet and tipped over in eight feet of water. Nearby farmers towed the car from the ditch, but too late to save the seven.

The victims were Cyril Kingsley, 40; his wife, Martha, 36; and five of their children, Alvin, 10; Ardis, nine; Cecil, six; David, three; and Ardelle, 14 months.

Stephen, 14, had gone to the ball game.

WASHINGTON —(P)—Rep. Mahon (D-Texas) Sunday said the United States plans to spend $1,000,000,000 before next July on guided missiles, some of which he said "will carry the atomic warhead."

In the broadcast, Mahon said "We are moving toward the use of atomic artillery," but he cautioned against any belief that such weapons are now ready for use.

JAPAN: Rebirth of a Nation

Production facilities crippled by allied air and sea attacks, stockpiles largely exhausted; foreign trade lines severed; an exhausted and demoralized economy—that is a size-up of the conditions confronting Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, in 1945. Grim was the fact that Japan could not earn her way into a peaceful world.

While U. S. know-how tackled the task of putting Japan's war-shattered industry back on its feet, General MacArthur's finance experts outlawed monopolies, and smashed the Zaibatsu, the powerful handful of families controlling the major part of Japan's industry. Their stocks and bonds were seized and sold to the public. Business was reorganized and controls administered.

Seeking to establish Japan on a self-supporting basis through foreign trade, SCAP, Supreme Command of the Allied Powers, next turned its attention to Japan's skeletonized merchant fleet, reduced by Allied bombs and torpedoes from 4.7 million gross tons in 1941 to about 1.6 million gross tons at the end of the war. Only half of the ships surviving the war were proclaimed serviceable.

SCAP lost no time in launching a construction, repair and salvage program that has added more than a thousand vessels to Japan's merchant fleet. Japan's passenger fleet, reduced to one liner by the war, has also been bolstered and the island kingdom may once again rank third among the shipping nations of the world.

Japan's oldest enemy is starvation. Although the Japanese are skillful farmers of their perfectly small fields and rice paddies, less than 19 per cent of the country's 91,000,000 acres can be cultivated. In 1945, food shortages and the ravages of war had left the Japanese farmer face to face with his age-old foe.

With plant insects and diseases reducing Japan's crops by at least 12 per cent annually, one of SCAP's first jobs was to promote the widespread use of insecticide dusts and aerosols. The timely importation of fertilizers and the development of a seed improvement program have also paid big production dividends.

Until SCAP stepped into the farm picture, spoilage ranked high on the empire's list of Public Enemies. Lacking refrigeration facilities, whole carloads of potatoes often rotted in transit. SCAP licked the problem by modernizing ancient methods of drying, pickling and salting vegetables, and constructing rodent-proof, air-cooled storage facilities.

But best news for the farmer was the new government's purchase of 4.6 million acres from feudal landlords. When the land was sold at lowered interest rates, some 3,000,000 long-exploited tenant farmers became land owners for the first time in their lives. Farmer-controlled cooperatives and democratically-elected land commissions dealt a final death blow to the old tenancy system.
