Superior Is To Drill Ellenburger Wildcat At C-S Midland Site

The Superior Oil Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill its No. 4-16 J. D. Windham, as a 14,000-foot wildcat in Central-South Midland County.

It is 18 miles southwest of the city of Midland and 600 feet from north and west lines of section 18, block 40, T&P survey, T-4-S. Operations are to start immediately. The deep wildcat is about one mile northeast of Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 3 June Tippett, recently completed Ellenburger discovery.

Fullerton Wildcat In Lea Gets Flowing Oil From McKee Sand

Fullerton Oil Company No. 1 Elliott-Federal wildcat exploration in Central-East Lea County, New Mexico, and one mile east of the North Branson field, which produces from the Ellenburger, has found flowing oil in the McKee sand of the Simpson, which is above the Ellenburger. This discovery is in section 1-21-37e, and 600 feet from south and west lines of the section.

Flows Oil Four Hours
A drillstem test was run at 7,965-92 feet. The tool was open five hours. Gas surfaced in eight minutes and oil flowed at the top in 20 minutes. It was flowed to pits for 40 minutes to clean and was then turned to tanks.

During the first hour it flowed 9.8 barrels of oil and in the second hour it also flowed 9.8 barrels of oil. In the third hour the flow was 11 barrels of oil and it again flowed 11 barrels of oil in the fourth hour.

The flow was through a 5 8th-inch bottom hole choke. There was no water. Gravity of the oil was 46 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 946-1. Made Another Flow

The wildcat then deepened to 8,030 feet and it took a 90-minute drillstem test with the packer at 7,964 feet.

Gas surfaced in six minutes and oil flowed out at the top in 20 minutes. It flowed for one hour and ten minutes at the estimated rate of 17 barrels of oil per hour. There was no water.

The project is now making more hole.

No. 1 Elliott-Federal topped the McKee at 7,942 feet. The elevation has not been reported.

Had Free Oil In Top
The first drillstem test in the McKee sand on this wildcat was at 7,942-67 feet. The tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in 26 minutes. No fluid came to the top while the tool was open.

Recovery was 180 feet of free oil and 390 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Churchill To Visit America

KEY WEST—(P)—President Truman and Prime Minister Winston Churchill are going to meet in Washington in January.

The meeting was announced at a news conference Sunday by Presidential Secretary Joseph Short in a casual manner.

Short was telling reporters at a news conference of how the President got up early Sunday and walked outside the Naval Submarine Station where he has his quarters, and of how he swam and sunbathed at the Naval Submarine Station.

Suddenly, a reporter asked about a story by John M. Hightower of The Associated Press, that Churchill is expected to visit Washington early in January for talks with the President.

Short said:

"Quite probably, the prime minister will be in Washington some time in January," Short said.

There was no indication whatsoever that the conference, which is being delayed until after Truman has submitted his "State of the Union," budget and economic messages to Congress, will involve either the French or the Russians.

Ever since the British election campaigns that sent Churchill back into control of the British government, it has been a generally known fact that Churchill would renew his old acquaintance with Truman if returned to power.

No matter what the two discuss, nothing will exceed in importance British need for financial aid.

Churchill, Short said, has had an exchange of messages with the President.

He added that he knew of no plans to include Russian Premier Stalin or French Prime Minister Rene Pleven in the discussions.

There was speculation that Churchill might address a joint session of Congress.

Barnhart Completes Reagan Discovery; Glasscock Stepout

Paul F. Barnhart of Houston has completed a wildcat discovery from the lower Spraberry pay section in North-Central Reagan County.

The same operator has also finished a flowing oil well in Southwest Glasscock County, as a one-half of a mile west extension to another discovery which was recently completed in that region at Flaco Oil Company No. 1 Howard.

On Patterson Lease
The North-Central Reagan County discovery is Barnhart's No. 1-13 G. T. Patterson, it is located 600 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 13, block C, L&SV survey.

That puts it five and one-half miles south and slightly west of Sohio Petroleum Company No. 1 Leonard Proctor, the nearest completed oil well from the lower Spraberry.

The Barnhart, No. 1-13 Patterson is eight miles north of the Weddell-Lower Spraberry field. It is two and one-half miles east and slightly south of Barnhart's wildcat which was completed several weeks ago to open the Wimberly-Spraberry field.

Full 24-Hour Test
The No. 1-13 Patterson reported a full 24-hour flowing potential of 335 barrels of 39-gravity oil, flowing through 18 3/4-inch tubing choke. No water was produced with the oil.

Flowing tubing pressure during the completion test was 515 pounds. The production came from open hole in the lower Spraberry at 7,524-77 feet.

That interval had been hydraulically fractured with 4,500 gallons.

The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 6,551 feet. The top of the lower Spraberry is at 7,212 feet. Elevation is 2,975 feet.

On six-hour test, after the packer—(Continued On Page Five)

Nation Offers Armistice Day Peace Prayers

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman says the United States, disappointed in the hope that the first Armistice Day would bring lasting peace, is now "determined to work for it, hard and actively, with all our resources."

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up enough strength and economic power so we and all the peaceful nations can be secure against the threats of new aggression in the world today," the Chief Executive said.

He spoke in a broadcast Sunday. It was recorded here before he went to Key West, Fla., for a vacation.

Similar expressions were voiced by other officials in Armistice Day observances throughout the nation and abroad Sunday. Still other ceremonies of tribute to the dead of World War I, and of other wars, were being held Monday, the legal holiday.

Business As Usual
But for the United Nations forces fighting in Korea there was no formal observance. "Our policy on this Armistice Day is business as usual," said Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander.

The supreme commander of the Far East, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, broadcast an appeal throughout the U. S. for blood donations. He said the men fighting in Korea "cannot long pause to note either the day or its significance—they are otherwise occupied."

At traditional ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, Secretary of Defense Lovett said "Once more we renew our vows to our heroic dead never to give up in the struggle in which they gave their lives."

Lovett, substituting for Truman, added:

"The cause is the same, the issue—(Continued On Page Five)

Eden Offers Olive Branch To Russians

PARIS—(P)—Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called on the Russians Monday to put aside major world issues temporarily and seek a step-by-step solution to the cold war.

"Let us grasp the definite and limited problems, and work for their practical solution," Eden said in a conciliatory speech before the United Nations General Assembly.

"That is the real road to peace. That is the way to make a fresh start," he declared.

Eden's speech, his first in the UN since the founding conference at San Francisco in 1945, was notable for its mild tone and lack of attacks on the Russians.

Small Issues First
He urged all UN members—including the Soviet Union—to work from the small issues to the great "with real good will."

Backing up U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's policy statement last week on every point, Eden cited the British-French-American disarmament proposals as one example of how the East-West disputants could work from the small issues to the large.

"We suggest," he declared, that disarmament "should begin with the less important categories of armed forces and armaments, then move on to those that are more important and secret, and therefore more difficult to handle. x x x

"The sooner we can agree on the simpler categories, the sooner we shall have confidence to tackle more complex tasks."

Eden appealed to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to reconsider his scornful rejection of the Western proposals.

"He implied that the time was not yet ripe for a conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill, Marshal Stalin and French Premier Rene Pleven, as French President Vincent Auriol suggested last week.

Allied Troops Grab Two Hill Positions From Red Defenders

EIGHTH ARMY, KOREA—(P)—Allied troops Monday seized two hill positions southwest of Kumsong in an attack which pushed the Reds back three-quarters of a mile.

The Eighth Army said the attack began at dawn, and both hills were secured by 1 p.m. The Allied infantrymen ran into light to moderate fire from a Communist platoon on each peak.

Kumsong is an old Red supply base, 30 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Patrols clashed sharply southwest and southeast of Kumsong Sunday. An Allied fighter thrust northeast of the shell-torn central front town was driven back by heavy mortar and artillery fire.

Low overcast hampered aerial strikes.

United Nations artillery pounded hills near the Panmunjom area shortly before truce negotiators met in another effort to resolve the knotty problem of a buffer zone across the peninsula.

The Reds staged a series of sharp assaults on the eastern front Sunday. In the rugged region north-west of the Punchbowl, the Communists attacked six times, twice in more than company strength.

The Eighth Army reported all the assaults were repulsed, the last one after nightfall.

Burma Surgeon Wins Acquittal

RANGOON, BURMA—(P)—A special Burmese court Monday acquitted "Burma Surgeon" Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave of aiding a rebel leader, and set aside his conviction by a high court.

An earlier appeal court already had freed him from jail by commuting his sentence to the seven months he served while awaiting trial. Seagrave sought reversal of the treason conviction so that he could return to his hospital work among the tribesmen of North Burma.

'Slightly Cooler' Is Texas Forecast

By The Associated Press
Clear skies, brisk winds and slightly lower temperatures made up the weather outlook for Texas Monday night.

Early morning clouds were being dispersed by a stiff wind that reached 30 miles per hour in North Central Texas.

The forecast for "a general cooling off" in the state by nightfall meant temperatures five to 10 degrees lower than Sunday, weather officials said.

High maximum temperature Sunday was 84 at Cotulla. The low maximum was 65 at El Paso. The low minimum Sunday night was 35 at Dalhart. High minimum was 72 at Brownsville.

Traces of rain fell during the night at El Paso, Corsicana, Tyler, Longview, Midland, Wink, Salt Flat, San Angelo, College Station and Big Spring.

Three Persons Hurt In Fire At Stanton

STANTON—Three persons, including a 69-year-old heroine, remained in a critical condition here Monday with burns received Saturday night when a fire destroyed their home near Stanton.

Mrs. Emma Looney, the grandmother who was credited with saving the lives of three children, was suffering from third degree burns on her arms, face and head.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McKibbin of Midland, who were passing by the home and saw the fire, assisted in bringing Mrs. Looney to safety after she had carried the children from the burning house.

"It was the grandmother who saved their lives," reported McKibbin.

Two of the children still are in critical condition. They are 10-month-old Gary Wayne Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin, and 11-year-old Cherry Looney, who was visiting in the Martin home.

Reported in a satisfactory condition was six-year-old Robert Earl Martin.

Sheriff Kyle Shoemaker said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

Looking For Oil, Not Belly Dancer, Declares McCarthy

CAIRO, EGYPT—(P)—Millionaire oil man Glenn McCarthy Monday said Samia Gamal, torso-tossing Egyptian dancer, will "never be booked" at his swank Shamrock Hotel in Houston.

"I came out here to see if we could buy up some land and drill for oil, not to sign up any dancers," McCarthy told a reporter.

Samia, now in Cairo, is engaged to marry Texas Sheppard (Abdullah) King, who became a Moslem and got a Mexican divorce from his American wife for love of the Egyptian night club entertainer.

King recently was quoted as saying in El Paso that he was sure fellow Texan McCarthy would be "happy to sign her up if he gets a chance."

Asked about this, McCarthy commented:

"Let's not embarrass anybody, but she would never be booked at the Shamrock."

McCarthy, accompanied by Johnny Meyer, former publicity man for Howard Hughes, came here Saturday to look into Egyptian oil prospects.

Claim Enemy Seeks Space For Stalling

MUNSAN, KOREA—(P)—Allied truce negotiators in strong words Monday accused the Communists of insisting on a phony cease-fire line merely to stall the armistice talks.

After the subcommittees had wrangled four hours and 15 minutes, an Allied spokesman said they were no closer to an agreement on the thorny buffer zone issue. They will meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Tuesday (8 p.m. CST Monday)—their twentieth session.

Atom Expert Said Jailed By Soviets

ROME—(P)—Two Rome newspapers have come up with a surprise angle to the mystery of Bruno Pontecorvo. They claim the Russians have jailed the missing British atom scientist in the belief he may have been spiriting Soviet atomic secrets to President Truman.

The papers, Il Tempo and Momento Sera, quoted unidentified Russian sources in Stockholm. The Italian-born Pontecorvo disappeared—presumably behind the Iron Curtain—in October, 1950, while vacationing in Europe with his family.

The papers said the Russians, fearing the United States had a spy among their top atom scientists, had nabbed Pontecorvo in the belief he may have been the source of information on which President Truman based his announcements of atomic explosions in the Soviet Union.

Vanished In Finland
The White House has reported three atomic blasts in Russia. The President made the first announcement on Sept. 23, 1949, almost a year before Pontecorvo vanished. The other two announcements were made last October 3 and October 22.

Police and officials in Helsinki, Finland, where Pontecorvo last was traced before the trail grew cold, said they had heard no rumors of his arrest from Russia or any other source.

An official of the Supply Ministry in London, which employed Pontecorvo at its chief atomic research center at Harwell, commented:

"It is intriguing that such news—if it were true—should have percolated through the Iron Curtain."

Pontecorvo left Italy for France in 1936—apparently because of his anti-Fascist leanings—and fled to the United States in 1940. In 1943, he became a member of the joint British-Canadian atomic research team at Chalk River in Canada. In 1949, he was sent to Harwell.

He was said to have been a close friend of Klaus Fuchs, German-born British scientist now serving a 14-year prison sentence in England for passing atomic secrets to Russia.

Juan D. Peron Wins Sweeping Majority In Argentine Voting

BUENOS AIRES—(P)—A sweeping majority apparently returned President Juan D. Peron to power as Argentina's ruler for another six years in an orderly, record-breaking election Sunday.

Leaders of the radical party—main opposition—said Peron's victory was assured on the basis of government figures and on the unofficial partial vote count.

With about one-third of the votes counted, the Interior Ministry announced early Monday that Peron had a total of 1,803,161 votes to 719,253 for Dr. Ricardo Balbin, Radical Party candidate.

The pro-government press hailed Peron's victory as a vote of confidence by the people. It said his final majority will be bigger than in his first election in 1946, when he polled 55 per cent.

Radical leaders declared women, voting for the first time in an Argentine general election, were the main instrument in the Peron victory.

Princess, Philip Say Last Farewells To North America

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND—(P)—Princess Elizabeth and the duke of Edinburgh Monday said farewell to North America, taking home what Britain's future queen described as "new strength and inspiration."

Winding up their five-week tour which crossed 15,000 miles in Canada and the United States, Elizabeth in her nation-wide radio goodby Sunday night said Canada "has become a second home in every sense."

Her husband, in an earlier farewell address at Halifax, had said he was returning to Britain with the message that "Canada is a good investment."

A fleet of little fishing boats was readied to escort the couple from this old port of the Empire of Scotland, on which they sail Monday afternoon for home.

WEATHER

Clear and slightly colder Monday night and Tuesday. Maximum temperature Sunday 70 degrees, minimum Monday 55 degrees.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

No story of the Pilgrims would be complete without mentioning the courtship of Miles Standish, an American legend.

As Longfellow tells it, Standish turned to his friend, John Alden, and said: "Go to the damsel Priscilla, the loveliest maiden of Plymouth, say that a blunt old Captain, a man not of words but of actions, offers his hand and his heart..."

"So through the Plymouth woods John Alden went on his errand..."

Can't 'Bull' Buddy Baer; He Knows Fellow Actor On Sight

HOLLYWOOD — Behind the Screen: It happened in Rome, where Buddy Baer played the role of Ursus, the fellow who kills a bull barehanded in "Quo Vadis."

Day after the fight was filmed, the picture's unit manager, Henry Henigson, sent a steak to Buddy's hotel room with a note:

"This is from the bull you killed." Buddy returned the steak with a note:

"Sorry, I refuse to eat a fellow actor."

Paramount's new entry in the wolf-whistle league—blonde Carolyn Jones who plays a crime-syndicate queen in "This is Dynamite"—will have the home folks in Amarillo, Texas, gasping when the picture is released.

Three years ago Carolyn had a Teen Talk program on an Amarillo radio station.

Carolyn couldn't get a movie job until she switched agents and had her nose bobbed, despite starring roles in several local little theaters.

"I had a nose just like an Indian," she tells it.

Cruiser Crew Plans Happy Future For Some Helena Child

HELENA, MONT. —(AP)—A happy future for an underprivileged child may be wrapped up in an air-mail packet on its way to the USS Helena, a Navy cruiser in Korean waters.

The packet holds pictures and case histories of six children living here in Montana's capital city.

The cruiser's crew will pick one of the six for a gift—a "substantial sum of money."

The ship's company wants to celebrate its return from Korean waters by "helping a youngster deprived of a proper start in life."

It all started when the Helena's skipper, Capt. L. H. Martin, wrote Helena's Chamber of Commerce manager, Ashley Roberts, that the ship's crew was setting up a fund to help some unfortunate child.

Screening Project
"Although the Helena's crew has been engaged in the preservation of the American way of life, they realize there are others even in our own country who are hindered in their access to a full enjoyment of that way of life," Martin wrote.

He went on, "Whatever it is, if it can be overcome by outside help, men of the Helena would like to be the ones to provide that help to some particularly deserving individual."

After a screening project, Roberts picked out six children to be recommended for the award. Their names and histories are being forwarded to the ship from the Fleet Post Office at San Francisco. The precious packet left here yesterday.

The Helena is expected to dock in Long Beach "about mid-December," and the lucky child picked for the gift will be sent there with a chaparrone to meet the ship and crew, Roberts said.

Judy Garland Collapses After Stage Performance

NEW YORK —(AP)—Actress Judy Garland, on a successful comeback trial, collapsed backstage at the Palace Theater Sunday night after disregarding her doctor's orders not to perform.

"The show must go on," the 29-year-old singer insisted, according to her physician, Dr. Udall J. Salmon.

He had her taken from the theater in an ambulance to a private sanitarium for "a few days." The doctor said she was suffering from "nervous exhaustion."

Miss Garland collapsed shortly after becoming ill in front of her evening audience. She had played a matinee despite Dr. Salmon's earlier plea that she take the day off.

The survey indicated a woman might shrug off the doldrums if she wore a yellow dress. Bright red also was listed as a pepper-upper.

The MATURE PARENT

One Way To Beat Our Fear Of Handling Our Children

Five-year-old Kathy lives a life that is packed tight with what her mother calls her "activities."

Mornings, Kathy goes to kindergarten. Afternoons, she is conducted to a play center. Saturday mornings, she goes on educational tours with a "project" group with whom she visits anything from dairy farms to newspaper plants.

Were Kathy ever given any free time to digest the crowding impressions forced in on her, her "activities" might mean something. Unfortunately, Kathy's mother regards idle time as dangerous. Kathy might use it to present a problem.

Since her mother is only comfortable when Kathy is in the charge of people who have majored in college child psychology courses, she wants to avoid any situation which she feels she has neither the competence nor understanding to solve.

Kathy's mother is a victim of conflicting theories on the treatment of children's problems, and prefers to delegate her child's training to people who have been educated to make sense of the theories. We should be deeply grateful that the best minds in the field of child guidance have become aware of the dilemma of thousands of parents like Kathy's mother. These experts are doing all they can to rectify the harm that has been done by bad interpretation of our role in children's development.

Now that it has been recognized that to give Kathy security, her mother has to have a little herself, we may expect less scolding and more encouragement, and more equal interest in human rights, whether the humans be young ones or older ones.

We should be grateful that some of the more intelligent people in the field of child guidance are trying to reverse the trend toward the complete subjection of parents to children.

If they were not doing something about it, family life as we know it might have gone the way of the dodo and the Model-T Ford. We might have ended up with a social order like the ants who breed and educate a special type of their species to nurse, guard and train the young.

Child training experts like Adele Franklin and the late Agnes Benedict represent the new thinking that champions our right, as well as that of children, to dignity and self-respect.

In their fine, sensible book, "Your Best Friends Are Your Children," they ask and answer the questions we've been wondering about for a long time: "Why should parents trust authorities when so few agree—and so many have turned out to be false prophets? Why should parents not be on the defensive when they are afraid?"

It is no step further, like the children's court judge who said to me: "Parents have been made so afraid of administering the wrong kind of discipline that they've given up and decided not to administer any discipline at all."

When we have reclaimed our rights in our homes, we won't feel a need to remove children from those homes because they occasionally challenge our claims.

As we lovingly and firmly teach them to acknowledge our rights, their presence will become a joy, instead of a strain and an agony of repression of thoughts and feelings.

As we overcome our own fears of free speech and action, we will become alert, understanding and compassionate toward the young ones' needs to overcome those same fears.

It has been fear in us that makes us regard living with children the same way the London housewife used to regard living with an undetonated bomb in her backyard.

But our children aren't bombs. We don't have to call in the skilled technicians to handle them. As mature parents, we can do it ourselves. (All Rights Reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Body Of Drowned Sportsman Recovered

CASABLANCA, MOROCCO —(AP)—The body of a safe society sportsman Freddy McEvoy, 43, who drowned last Tuesday trying to save his third wife, was found Saturday by fishermen in Qualidia Lagoon, near the spot where his storm-driven yacht foundered.

Three other bodies—two of them women—also were found in the lagoon. The women were identified tentatively as McEvoy's wife, Claude, 30, and her maid, Cecile Brunet, 22. The third was believed to be one of three sailors who died when McEvoy's yacht "Kangaroo" was driven on the rocks by a howling Mediterranean storm.

Grand Jury To Probe Prisoner Shootings

EUSTIS, FLA. —(AP)— Sheriff Willis V. McCall's shooting of two negro prisoners who had been deprived from death sentences by the U. S. Supreme Court definitely will be placed before the grand jury, says State Attorney J. W. Hunter.

Although the grand jury was due to meet Monday, Hunter said Sunday he will ask that the shooting investigation be postponed a week. Sheriff McCall was absolved of blame for the death of one of the prisoners, Samuel Shepherd, by a corner's jury Saturday night.

Mrs. Donald Dawson To Leave RFC Post

WASHINGTON —(AP)—W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Sunday night said Mrs. Alva Dawson, wife of White House Aide Donald Dawson, is leaving the agency "of her own volition" next month.

Dawson was named by a Senate subcommittee last Spring as being one of a group which it said tried to influence RFC loan policies.

C. L. Sonnichsen Speaks On 'Folklore' At AAUW Meeting

"This is the richest area in the world for folklore," C. L. Sonnichsen, head of the department of English at Texas Western College in El Paso, told the American Association of University Women Saturday.

In speaking on "Lore and Legend of the Southwest," Sonnichsen discussed the following three types: Indian, Spanish and Anglo. To help make people aware of their heritage of folklore, he displayed a number of Southern books.

The luncheon meeting was held in the Ranchland Hill Country Club with Mrs. Thomas Hendricks, vice president and chairman of branch meetings, presiding.

The table was centered with an arrangement of driftwood, chrysanthemums, pine and pomegranate brought by Mrs. P. M. Slay.

It was announced that the AAUW Bridge Group would sponsor a benefit bridge to aid the association's scholarship fund. Each year the AAUW awards two scholarships to a student at Midland High School and one to a student at Carver High School.

Announcement also was made that the three child study groups would be hostesses at an open meeting for all AAUW members and their guests November 20. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Nurses' Home. Dr. Dorothy Wyvell will speak.

Mrs. R. M. Minton, legislative chairman, discussed the recent election and urged all AAUW members to vote in the two elections which are scheduled for this week.

The members wore their plastic name tags for the first time. The division bulletins were distributed. Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

PLANS PARK IMPROVEMENT—Mayor Perry Pickett looks over plans presented by Mrs. J. W. Benn of the Welcome Wagon Garden Club for the club's improvement of Henry Half's park on South Main Street. The landscaping plans were drawn up by Mrs. C. F. Blake.

People Relax In Different Ways, So Be Open-Minded

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

News item with a Dallas, Texas, date line: "A husband's plea that his wife be rationed to one comic book daily because they interfered with her household duties has been denied by Peace Justice Bill Richards."

Reading further in the story, you find the wife's reply to the husband's charge: That she needed to read comic books to relax.

Her reply may sound absurd to women who find their relaxation in more intellectual or worthwhile pursuits.

But who is to say how anybody else should get relaxation—even a husband or a judge?

Plenty of women fall to understand how their husband's get relaxation from sitting in a boat in the broiling sun hour after hour while the fish refuse to bite, or crouching in a blind hoping to get a shot at few ducks, or trudging after a golf ball when it's too hot to mow the lawn.

And plenty of men can't figure out why a woman likes to get away from it all by spending a day shopping, or an afternoon at a beauty salon or at a bridge table, or by going to meetings.

Couples Too Critical

But that doesn't mean those pursuits aren't relaxing to the ones who choose them.

So if the wife finds comic books relaxing, that is her business.

Husbands and wives tend to be far too critical of each other when it comes to how the other likes to spend leisure time.

The best rule for husbands and wives is to let each choose his or her own means of relaxation and to regard the choice with a tolerant eye.

What sounds like a stupid waste of time to one spouse may be perfect relaxation for the other. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Oil And Gas Log-

 tention was run, the No. 1-13 Patterned through a one-half inch tubing choke, and produced at the rate of 800 barrels of oil per day. Flowing tubing pressure during that six hours averaged 325 pounds. The discovery is now on regular production.
 Barnhart No. 1-25 M. L. Couey, in Southwest Glasscock County, 18 miles southwest of Garden City, and one-half of a mile west of Piacid Oil Company No. 1 Howard, a flowing discovery from the Spraberry, has been completed for a calculated 24-hour potential of 290.4 barrels of 36.3-gravity oil and no water.
After Extended Flow
 That figure was based on an actual 31 1/2-hour flow of 290.38 barrels of oil. The potential test was run after the well had been flowed steadily for 48 hours. The flow on the completion test was through a
 2 3/4-inch tubing choke.
 Flowing tubing pressure was 170 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 520-1.
 The production was from open hole in the top of the Spraberry at 6,524-6,732 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 6,438 feet.
Spraberry Top Given
 Top of the Spraberry is at 6,523 feet. Elevation is 2,695 feet.
 The pay section of the new producer is 860 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 25, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey.
 The new oil well is five miles southeast of Barnhart's No. 1-10
 Bigby, another Spraberry discovery which was completed several weeks ago.

ARCHER—Robert F. Kelly holds the antlers of a 120-pound deer shot with a bow and arrow at Nason Creek Reserve in eastern Washington. The Seattle hunter used a 35-pound composite bow to down the buck at a range of 100 yards. Most deer shot by archers are within 50 yards. (NEA)

Sunflower Wildcat Fined In Mitchell

Ulysses S. Thompson of Midland No. 1 Ulysses S. Thompson, wildcat in the Sunflower Sand area of Mitchell County, has been completed for a daily pumping potential of four barrels of 52 gravity oil.
One Foot Of Pay
 Production was from open hole between 41 and 42 feet. It was completed naturally. The wildcat was tested into an oil drum. There was no gas-oil ratio.
 Location is 39 feet from south and 75 feet from east lines of lease in lots 42, 43 and 44, block 1, West Colorado City survey.

Boon Hardin, 59, Retired Ranchman, Dies Early Monday

Boon Hardin, 59, well known retired ranchman of Lovington, N. M., died there early Monday following an illness of several months. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Carl S. Reeves, 2200 Holloway Street, Midland, and the late Harley Meeks. Hardin had resided in Lovington most of his life and retired from active ranching operations about nine years ago.
 Other survivors include a son, John R. Hardin of Wichita Falls, Texas; two brothers, Olin and Waggoner, and a sister, Mrs. Tom Ross, all of Lovington.
 Funeral services will be held in Lovington at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Traffic, Other Violence Take 23 Lives In Texas

By The Associated Press
 At least 23 persons died violently in Texas over the weekend. Thirteen of those were killed in traffic mishaps. The toll was due to rise Monday as many Texans observed Armistice Day.
 James Patterson, 22, was stabbed fatally in Dallas Sunday night. Officers arrested a 21-year-old woman, Mrs. Lorraine Bates Nipp, 28, of Garden Valley, Texas, and her mother, Mrs. Addie Bates, 62, Waco, were killed Saturday when the car in which they were riding hit a tree and bounced into a ditch.
 The body of Lynn Owens, 65, of Brownwood, was found floating in a stock tank of his nephew's farm near Brownwood Sunday. An inquest has been ordered in the death.
 Mrs. Ruby White, 48, and her son Dene, 12, of Fort Worth were burned to death Sunday after an auto collision at Haltom City. Her husband, F. E. White, 43, a Con-vair employe, and another son,

 Gene, a twin of the dead boy, suffered first and second degree burns.
Three Near Colorado City
 Three separate accidents took the lives of three persons in the Colorado City area. Mabeline Atkins, 34, of Rosenberg was injured fatally when a car overturned Sunday. Johnny Lawhon, about 30, was injured. Mike Limones, 20, of Rosenberg was killed Saturday in the wreck of a car at a curve near Lorraine. Julian Reyes was injured. Marvin E. Burrow, 28 of Colorado City, drowned in Lake Colorado City Saturday.
 Aubrey (Tate) Burleson, 53, was axed to death at Uvalde Sunday. Sheriff Fred Yearly jailed Tom Bybee, 55, on a murder charge.
 An auto accident near Big Spring killed Mrs. Joseph Ellis, 44, of Saguin. Her daughter, Jo Ann Ellis, and Mrs. A. J. Springs, also of Saguin, were injured.
 A refinery worker, Willie O. Hale, 26, of San Antonio died in a hospital Sunday of burns suffered Friday night in the explosion of a kerosene tank at the Phoenix Refining Company of San Antonio.
 James Edward Jackson, 12, and J. T. Jackson, 10, brothers, burned to death Friday night when fire swept their three-room frame house in Houston.
 The body of Charlie Short, 59, former steel contractor, was found face down in the shallow waters of Marine Creek in Fort Worth Saturday. An inquest verdict was withheld pending further investigation.
Fatal Shootings
 Ben Tovar, 24, was shot to death in San Antonio Saturday night by a police officer who was investigating a tavern argument.
 Leonico Garcia, 22, was shot fatally outside another San Antonio tavern Saturday night. Police recovered a foreign make pistol and ordered the arrest of a suspect.
 Three persons were killed in a highway accident early Saturday, eight miles west of Groveton. Killed were Barbara Sims, 20, and Lois Pourniquet, 23, both of Crockett, and B. C. Cliburn, 29, Ekhardt automobile dealer. The trio was returning from the Jasper-Crockett football game when the automobile crashed through a bridge railing and plunged into a deep ditch.
 Carl Dillman, 17, Ingleside, was injured fatally in the collision of two trucks west of Corpus Christi Saturday afternoon.
 Second Lt. Charles E. McDonough of Port Washington, N. Y., was killed Saturday when his car overturned about four miles west of Hondo.
 W. A. Fowler, 51, San Antonio truck driver, burned to death Friday night after a crash on the Beaumont highway at the San Jacinto River Bridge near Houston. Sam McMurry, Dallas truck driver, was charged with murder by auto.

 The Aldrich party will visit San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Austin, in addition to San Angelo and Midland.
Guests of Governor
 Gov. Allan Shivers will be the host at a reception and luncheon for Aldrich and his associates at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin Thursday.
 Aldrich was in the Southwest 10 days last February, visiting Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas, Texas, and Tulsa, Oklahoma. He was so greatly impressed with the dynamic growth he witnessed on that trip that he decided to return to Texas for another visit this Fall. Mansfield and Irvine also were with Aldrich on his previous trip.
 Other business institutions and organizations with which Aldrich is associated are: director American Telephone & Telegraph Company, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and International Paper Company. He is a trustee of Barnard College and of Tuskegee Normal & Industrial School; a member of the executive committee of the Welfare Council of the City of New York, director of the American Cancer Society and the General Educational Board of the Rockefeller Foundation.

They also have agreed that a special committee should determine the exact location of the buffer zone, based on the line of battle contact, and that the full five-man truce delegation should move on to the next agenda item in the meantime.
Timing is Moot Point
 The only point unsettled is the matter of timing—should the cease-fire line be set first, as the Communists propose, or established after the armistice is reached?
 The Communist Peiping radio Monday accused the Allies of trying to scrap the agenda adopted last July at Kaesong and "get by blackmail what is favorable to them alone."
 An earlier broadcast charged that the Allies were "deliberately twisting" the Red buffer zone proposal offered during a subcommittee session Saturday. This plan would fix the cease-fire line roughly along the present battle line.
 Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN negotiator, made it clear in a statement Sunday that the Allies will accept no proposal which would make it impossible to maintain military pressure on Communist troops while the armistice talks continue.
 Joy also indicated the UN Command will insist on iron-clad arrangements to prevent a Red troop buildup after the armistice goes into effect.
 The question of troop strength, including inspection behind the battle lines, will come up if and when the buffer zone issue is settled. Other items on the agenda include the exchange of prisoners, the withdrawal of troops from Korea.

Area West Texas Schoolboy Teams In Title Contests

This is the payoff week in Texas schoolboy football. No less than four West Texas teams meet in important battles which definitely will determine district championships, and elsewhere around the state the schedule is hardly less impressive.

Of most local interest is the battle in Memorial Stadium Friday night between the Midland Bulldogs and the Sweetwater Mustangs.

Midland must win one of its remaining games to be assured a berth in the state AAA playoff. A win Friday night would put the Purple in a sweep over both Sweetwater and Plainview—scheduled opponent for November 22—would give Midland undisputed possession of the loop crown.

Kickoff time for this contest is 8 p.m.

Several hours before the Bulldogs and Mustangs do battle, the eyes of Texas will be upon Odessa's Broncho Stadium, where the Broncos meet Lubbock's powerful Westerner's in a do-or-die battle for the 1-AAAA crown.

Lubbock has swept over everything in sight, Odessa has suffered a lone district loss. Should the Broncos defeat the favored Westerners, it would throw the district into a three-way deadlock between Pampa, Lubbock and Odessa.

Pampa still must get by Borger and San Angelo. The Harvesters will be favored in both games, but should either team defeat them it would eliminate the Harvesters from the race.

By winning or even tying at Odessa, Lubbock can start making plays for the state playoff.

Over in District 8-AA, it's another of those desperate, back-to-the-wall fights with Kermit on the spot. Seminole closes out its district season with the Yellow Jackets, and a tie would give the nod to Kermit in the playoff. Should Kermit beat Seminole, then the two teams would be knotted with Peecos for the title—unless Peecos, Monahans upsets Peecos, in which case Kermit then would be the title-holder.

The fourth West Texas championship battle is at Iraan, where the Braves tangle with Wink's powerful Wildcats in what would be the best tilt of all. Both teams are unbeaten for the season, with nine straight wins each.

This one is due to be a corker. By way of comparative scores against common district foes, it lines up this way: Wink defeated Crane, 42-20 while Iraan won 35-7; The Wildcats ripped Marfa, 48-7; Iraan made

Wacky SWC Teams Going At It Again

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
The Southwest Conference football race can be thrown into a tie and a half this week. And this wacky circuit is just the one to do it, too.

A tie and a half? Well, it's like this: Texas Christian leads the race with three victories and no defeats. But should TCU lose to Texas at Austin next Saturday while Rice was beating Texas A&M at Houston, then TCU and Rice would be tied for the lead with 3-1 records each.

Baylor doesn't play a conference game this week. It has won two, lost one and tied one. So Baylor would be a half-game behind Texas Christian and Rice.

Baylor showed a philanthropic attitude last week in beating Texas 18-6. That's what Texas Christian was hoping for since Texas was breathing on its neck in the conference race. Baylor's philanthropy came from the fact that it was TCU that administered the only beating of the season for the Golden Bears just the week before.

Rice moved into second place by licking Arkansas, 6-0, and Texas, with a 2-2 record, is just barely hanging on.

While this was going on, Southern Methodist and Texas A&M were eliminating each other by playing to a 14-14 tie.

Texas, Arkansas, A&M and SMU have only a mathematical chance left of getting in on the title. Texas has to win this week or that's all, brother. Arkansas, A&M and SMU aren't making any plans to play in the Cotton Bowl January 1. They're probably thinking about basketball more these days.

The Texas-Texas Christian game will headline Saturday's schedule but the Rice-A&M duel should sell out the stadium at Houston. Arkansas and Southern Methodist clash at Dallas. There's nothing of particular interest in this game except to see some of the finest sophomores in the conference perform, notably Lamar McHan of Arkansas and Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist.

Baylor seeks to enhance the conference's inter-sectional prestige by taking on Wake Forest at Waco. Wake Forest beat Duke 19-13 last week and appears to have the team that can give Baylor a good test.

The conference has a record of 14 victories against seven losses in inter-sectional play this season.

Gib Dawson of Texas didn't score last week but he still tops the conference with 48 points. Glenn Lippman of A&M moved into second place with 36.

THORPE FELLE BY CANCER—Jim Thorpe, 63, one of the greatest athletes of all time, has his pulse checked by nurse Ruth Yorty after undergoing a delicate operation for lip cancer in a Philadelphia hospital. Thorpe's wife said "a great surgeon" did the operation without charge because her husband is destitute. The legendary Carlisle Indian, who won fame as a football, track and baseball star, is expected to be out of the hospital within a week.

A cartoonist started it with the creation of a female fullback who wrecked the hopes of Waybelow Normal, Terrible Teachers and other such power-house teams.

A girl went out for the high school team last year at a Class B, Texas school, and it took a ruling of the Inter-scholastic League to terminate her athletic career.

And now, a society reporter of The Reporter-Telegram has crowded into the sports scene by covering area grid games.

It looked bad when the women started wrestling. Actually, though, about all the talent required for that sport is hair-pulling and the ability to follow a script. So we weren't too upset.

In golf, bless 'em, the women are fine. Hurrah for em. Yes, let them play softball and even basketball.

But please, deliver us from the evil of women becoming involved in football and baseball—and the sports writing profession.

The sad part of the society reporter's venture into the sports field is this: She knew what she was doing.

In spite of her Sunday story which hinted she didn't know the left halfback from the band leader's mother, (and believe us, some day the left halfback may be the band leader's mother if the present trend continues), she turned in another true and reliable report which was all too accurate.

Which is to the credit of Patsie Abbott, the soc writer who reported the game, but it could set a dangerous pattern.

Suppose, now, Smith or Vassar should start a women's sports writing course.

What chance would a husky, struggling male sports writer have to land a job once the managing editors had been approached for a sports scribbling job by limpid eyes of brown and a well-turned ankle?

You guessed it, chum—we'd have to find honest work. But even that—as serious as it is—isn't the most dangerous part.

Can't you just see Babe Zaharias playing at shortstop for the New York Giants during the Summer and switching to halfback for the Detroit Tigers in the Fall?

Where, oh where, would Alvin Dark and Doak Walker then be? The Babe would get on these teams, of course, along with other fem athletes, on the tub-thumping of their sports writing sisters.

That, too, could become complicated. The whole thing could boil down to a contest between the male scribes trying to describe the physical advantages of the female participants and the fem scribes striving to outdoom them in raving about the male players' curly locks.

The scores of such contests would be strictly secondary. It might even lead to SMU and Notre Dame meeting before 50,000 fans in an annual beauty contest with Frank Leahy and Rusty Russell in charge of hair styles.

The only saving grace in the entire situation is the victorious, after-game kissing in the clubhouse.

With both male and female players that oughta be much more interesting. But except for that, why, oh why, Patsie Abbott didn't you stay at home?

DOTS AND DASHES: Bill Werley, the Vernon writer, is going to have to figure another angle if he expects the Lions to win the undisputed 1-AAA crown now that Plainview has tied the Lions, 6-6. . . . Even though his team is weak this year, Stanton's Scooter Poik has played some good football. . . . Coming attractions: Betty MacKinnon and Marlene Bauer in an exhibition golf match at Midland Country Club Wednesday, and Gorgeous George wrestling an unnamed opponent November 28 at the VFW Hall. . . . To say nothing of the Midland-Sweetwater game here Friday night. . . . It's homecoming week at Midland High School, too. . . . Dick Spencer and Jesse Hatfield were impressive with the Midland reserves in the 46-0 rout of Big Spring Friday night. . . . Our choice in the big Texas-TCU game this weekend: Text 21, TCU 14. . . . Films of the Texas-SMU battle will be screened at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the Magnolia Building for Longhorn Club members and ex-students of the U of T. . . . Tugboat Jones watched his alma mater, ACC, whip Austin College, 50 to 33, Saturday. . . . Audrey Gill watched his old school too, but Texas lost to Baylor, 18 to 6. . . . Here's a tip, Gill. Coach Red Rutledge was at the Midland-Kermit B clash Saturday with a portable radio tuned to the battle and he cheered for Baylor! . . . Bob Adams of The Reporter-Telegram is the papa of a new fullback, Phillip. . . . The youngster weighed in at nine pounds, two ounces. . . . That's a good start toward a tackle or fullback. . . . Notice the winning team in Midland's football system this year? . . . The varsity has dropped but one of eight. . . . The B boys have won four of six. . . . The seventh grade team of Cowden Junior High has eight straight wins. . . . The eighth grade team is over the 500 mark. . . . And the C team has split even in six contests. . . . That spells good teams in the future. . . . Of course, the Sam Houston Elementary team is okay too, having won five straight. . . . West Elementary has one loss, four wins. . . . End of The Row for now!

BULLDOGS IN GOOD SHAPE—Purple Prepares For Battle With Sweetwater Team

Coach Tugboat Jones was to assemble his Midland High School Bulldogs at 2 p.m. Monday for a lengthy skull session and workout.

Films of Midland's 46-0 victory over Big Spring were to be screened at the skull session if the films arrived from Dallas in time.

Following that, the Purple was to work both on offensive and defensive formations for the Sweetwater game to be played Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

"Sweetwater will be relaxed and ready to shoot the works now that they've lost two conference games," Jones said, "and we expect them to be very rugged."

A Midland win would clinch a spot in the AAA schoolboy grid playoff.

Pete English, guard, who bruised a leg in the Big Spring tilt, expects to be ready to go by Friday night. Barring further injuries, the Bulldogs will be in top-flight shape for the Mustang brawl.

Jones Monday lauded Keys Curry for his defensive play against Big Spring and said he "shows promise."

Reserves also got praise from the Midland head mentor for their play in the tilt. He said he hoped his boys could look "as good against Sweetwater as they did against Big Spring."

The Mustangs have been disappointing from a won-lost schedule this year but have played a rough schedule outside of the conference.

The Mustangs have three wins, five losses.

The team's records: Midland 21, San Angelo 6, Midland 7, Ysleta 0, Midland 28, Crozier Tech (D) 9, Midland 13, Brownwood 19, Midland 13, Poly (FW) 13 (tie), Midland 34, Lamesa 7, Midland 14, Vernon 13, Midland 46, Big Spring 0.

Sweetwater 12, Pampa 40, Sweetwater 6, Abilene 32, Sweetwater 15, Lubbock 39, Sweetwater 33, San Angelo 6, Sweetwater 20, Childress 6, Sweetwater 7, Vernon 14, Sweetwater 27, Plainview 6, Sweetwater 13, Lamesa 26.

Police Open Final Week of Course

The last week of the Police Training School for Midland police officers opened Monday morning.

The final week will feature handling of firearms, with the class being taught by John Hay, El Paso, firearms expert with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

A barbecue will be held Friday night when the men attending the school will receive their certificates.

Isbell Gains Now Total 999 Yards

DALLAS—(P)—All Larry Isbell Baylor's quarterback, needs to do this week is fall forward for a yard. Then he'll have become the first, Southwest Conference football player to gain 1,000 yards this season.

Isbell leads the conference in total offense with 999 yards on 183 plays. He has gained 940 yards in the air by completing 73 of 154 throws and that also gives him the leadership in passing.

Larry is close up in punting, too. He has kicked 44 times for an average of 39.1. Ray McKown of Texas Christian leads in punting with 39.8 on 17 booms.

Fred Benners of Southern Methodist is second in punting, having completed 78 of 148 throws for 863 yards.

Lamar McHan, the Arkansas sophomore, is second in total offense and not too far away from Isbell. McHan has gained 906 yards on 205 plays.

Glenn Lippman continues to top the ball-carriers. He has gained 569 yards on 88 tries. Gib Dawson of Texas has pushed into second place. He has made 487 yards on 71 carries.

Val Joe Leads Val Joe Walker of Southern Methodist still leads the punt returners. He has averaged 27 yards on five carries. Yale Lary of Texas A&M continues in second place with an average of 18.4 on 18 returns.

Bill Howton of Rice is back in first place in pass-receiving. Howton has taken 18 throws for 482 yards and five touchdowns. Stan Williams of Baylor has caught 25 but for only 453 yards.

Texas A&M leads in team offense with 3482 yards per game while Baylor is second with 3146. Defensively, Arkansas is first, having allowed 217.9 yards per game. Texas is second with 220.3.

Hiskey Paces U. S. Team To Win Over Mexican Golfers

LAREDO—(P)—Marion Hiskey of Dallas shot a 73 Sunday in leading a U. S. team to victory over a Mexican team in the International Golf Cup matches.

Hiskey won the International Amateur Golf Tournament Saturday with a 72-hole score of 297.

The U. S. team won three of the Scotch foursomes and split three of the cup matches.

Only Gene Sarazen and Bobby Jones ever won the U. S. and British Open championships the same year. Jones did it twice.

PUP FORMATION—Goalkeeper Bob Flack of the Fulham soccer-football team takes the dog by the tail and drags him out of the line of fire during a match against Arsenal at London. Like American football, a game in England isn't complete without at least one dog getting into the act. (NEA)

Youth Hurt When Scooter Overtakes

Billie Harmon, 12, of 306 East New York Street, suffered abrasions of the abdomen and arms and bruises during the weekend when his motor scooter overturned. He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

'No Comment' On John Bright-Smith Play

KANSAS CITY—(P)—A fact-finding committee, discussed Oklahoma A&M's reply in the Johnny Bright case Sunday, but made no public comment. Drake University has charged that Wilbanks Smith, an Oklahoma Aggie tackle, deliberately struck Bright several times during a football game October 20. Bright, Drake's star negro back, suffered a broken jaw in the game. Neither school attended Sunday's hearing, an unannounced "secret" session. The Missouri Valley Conference fact-finding committee heard Drake's charges at a special meeting October 28. Dr. George Small of Tulsa University, committee chairman, said his group's report would be turned over to the Missouri Valley Conference Faculty Committee "without recommendations."

Inflation Hits Santa Claus' Toy Ideas

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Santa Claus, in collaboration with toy designers and manufacturers, is getting ready a whole batch of new and different toys for Christmas. It's enough to make any parent turn gray just thinking about it.

In his sack this year are items that will (a) give kids grown-up ideas; (b) make lots of new noises; and (c) create revolutionary types of mess around the house. All this is not calculated to build peace at home and good-will toward Santa.

There is, for example, a new game. It is pegged on the idea of inflation. Included is a generous supply of toy money with bills up to and including $100,000. After an afternoon playing with those, a child is apt to sneer at his allowance.

There are two interesting new dolls. One has hair that can be dyed any color, then washed out under the bathroom faucet, the very thing for an impressionable little girl. Another doll has a knob on her head. You twist it and she can put on three facial expressions, just like a Hollywood actress.

Mother's little helpers may start looking for little helpers of their own when they get this toy kitchen set, which has kiddie-sized dish drainer, soap, mop, and scouring powder.

To wheel the doll around in there's a new carriage upholstered in fake leopard skin. Reminds daughter of the fancy car daddy hasn't got.

About the noisiest thing on Santa's list this season is a new set for boys who are fascinated by the radio. It's a sound effects kit, and can make all kinds of nice, loud noises.

There are also dozens of musical instruments—even a toy zither—and a new child-sized tape recorder. Now the kids can make a racket—and play it back an hour later.

(Convertible cowboy suit) becomes an Indian outfit when it's turned inside out, giving junior a quick-change fact.

Realism, in toys for girls, has reached new heights. There is a toy stove, complete with pots and pans that actually cooks with a tiny heating element. To go with it is a baking set. It has everything needed to turn out different kinds of cakes and cookies. But it is very modern—it's all done with cake mixers.

After she bakes the cake, the young cook can clean up with another new toy. It has all the equipment for tidy housekeeping—dish drainer, soap, mop, garbage pail, scouring powder—and all scaled down to size.

There's a new mechanical toy kit for boys which can build complicated machinery. The box says it contains "the component mechanical parts for building working models of basic mechanisms and machines." Try that on your five-year-old on Christmas morning.

Another delightfully messy number is a make-up kit which transforms any boy into a clown. It has fake noses and hair and glass—and lots of greasy make-up colors that will go well on your wall.

In the same frightening mold is a shoe-shine kit with real polish.

For economy's sake, the toy men have come up with some double-duty toys. There's one rubber doll that conceals a big rubber ball. And there's a western costume outfit. On one side, it's a cowboy suit. Turn the pants and the jacket inside out and put on another headpiece and it's an Indian outfit. Or just turn one part inside out and the kid can be a half-breed.

The trends in toys this season are still in two directions—the western trend, which has swept over into playthings for girls, and the trend toward modern things. In that category, almost all doll houses are ranch-type and the old-fashioned game of jack straws has come inside out and put on another headpiece and it's an Indian outfit. Or just turn one part inside out and the kid can be a half-breed.

Shoes And Spaghetti Pose Problems In Harmony For European Defense

ROUQUENCOURT, FRANCE — (NEA) — Building an international army, as the planners of the European Defense Force are doing here at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters, is a job that requires tact.

There will be men from France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, the U. S., Great Britain, Canada, Norway and Denmark in the European Army. What language will be spoken? What food will be eaten? What uniform will be worn? How long will the men serve? How much will they be paid?

Taking up the problems one by one, here's the way the EDF's architects now feel about them.

It has already been decided that English, French and German will be the three key languages used in the field. During recent maneuvers in Germany, that arrangement was used satisfactorily. There were a few minor technical hitches, but virtually no serious confusion.

Work In Harmony
That men of ten different nationalities can understand each other and work in harmony has been proved at Eisenhower's headquarters here: Of a staff numbering around 250 officers, less than half are Americans. The feeling is that the same harmony can exist on a larger scale in a 3,000,000-man combat force.

Food is another problem. Although the combat units will be confined to men of one nationality, the service units — signal men, engineers, medical corpsmen and the like — will be mixed. Hence, food will have to be standardized.

Exactly how the menu will be controlled so that Belgians don't get spaghetti and Frenchmen don't get hamburgers, hasn't been worked out yet. The authorities hope to come up with a common gastronomic denominator.

Evolutionary Process
The uniform of the EDF will probably come about by an evolutionary process. No one uniform is being planned. For one thing, certain nationalities have decided preferences in some articles of clothing. A German soldier is uncomfortable without boots, but others prefer low shoes and would be miserable in boots.

Nevertheless, some uniform clothing is already happening. As clothing supplies in France, for example, are running short, leaders have ordered American uniforms

The Eisenhower combat jacket is particularly appealing. Nowadays, only his usunaria differentiates the French pointu from the American soldier.

Battle uniforms may therefore soon become standard in the co-operating nations. But there will probably be no attempt made to create one dress uniform for the EDF, because these are part of the individual nation's military traditions.

Length of service should be the same in each country, the planners feel, to eliminate gripes and grumblings about favoritism. Just how long such service will be, is still speculative, but the feeling here is that it will have to be lengthened in most countries.

The pay rate is a ticklish subject. Any attempt to work out an average would be tough on the American boys, who make far more than any other nation's soldiers. But if it is left up to the individual participants, there are liable to be envious glances cast at the Americans' fatter pay envelopes.

Nevertheless, the latter course seems to be the only practical solution. Military budgets vary drastically from nation to nation, and it would be a hardship on some to dictate salary terms. For the present, pay scales will be left to the various nations.

Could Be Tragic
One thing that definitely will be standardized is arms. If each national combat unit used different weapons, errors in ammunition supply could easily be tragic.

Mystery Of Bodyless Head And Strangled Widow Is Double-Barreled Police Puzzler
NORFOLK, VA. — (AP) — Police Tuesday redoubled their efforts toward solving one of the strangest cases in their memory—that of the bodyless head and the beaten and strangled widow.
Should the head turn out to be as police believe it will—that of Walter Barr, 34-year-old carpenter missing since October 3, officers are sure they have a double-barreled puzzler on their hands.
The severed head was found Saturday by a small negro boy in a patch of honeysuckle in adjacent Princess Anne County. An all-day search Sunday failed to turn up any body or parts of a human torso.
It was only about a mile away that fishermen on October 6 discovered the beaten and strangled body of Mrs. Mamie Smithwick, 57-year-old widow of Worley Smithwick, for many years superintendent of a Methodist orphanage in Raleigh, N. C.
When Mrs. Smithwick's body was found floating in a lake, police immediately launched a hunt for Barr, last seen three days earlier. He and the widow were headed for a drive-in movie at the time.

Police learned Barr and Mrs. Smithwick had lived at the same boarding house here and went to the movies together frequently. They had been planning a trip to a church function October 6 in Washington, N. C., where Barr's wife works in a laundry.
On October 10, police found Barr's car parked in Norfolk. Blood was smeared on both seats, a bullet hole was found in the roof and there were fragments of human teeth on the floor.
But nothing was heard of Barr until the youth made his grisly discovery Saturday.
Police still are not certain the head is that of Barr. Absence of photographic records prevented positive identification Sunday by a dentist who had filled some teeth for Barr.
The head was on its way to the state chief medical examiner's office in Richmond Monday for further checks while police resumed their search for the missing boy.

Farm Laborer Held In Lamesa Stabbings
LAMESA — A 21-year-old farm laborer Monday was being held in the county jail here in the stabbing of three city police officers Saturday night. Officers are looking for his 18-year-old brother.
No charges have been filed.

YOU ALWAYS FIND BETTER VALUES AT THE MIDLAND REALTERIA

1600 Harvard Drive Austin Stone
Here is a very charming home in one of the most desirable locations in Midland. It wouldn't be fair to deny your family and yourself the pleasure of owning this darling. There are two spacious bedrooms with extra large wardrobe closets; lovely living room with dining area; cozy den; and two baths. The gracious kitchen is the answer to any woman's dream. She'll have oodles of cabinet space and the arrangement is such as to make every day a happy day for the little lady. And, too, you will find a good size rumpus room for the kiddies. The large single car attached garage has plenty of room for extra storage. A feature that dad will like is the work shop that has been included. Wall-to-wall carpeting has been laid throughout. If you want comfort and beauty you will want to own this home. A pretty green lawn with shrubs and trees surrounds this dream. And a sturdy tile fence has been built. It is being sold (furnished or unfurnished) by the owner, Dave Bauer. As you probably have heard, the Bauers, Midland's great golf duet, have accepted a position in Sarasota, Florida, and the family want to remain together, hence this home is being sold. Why not drive out with the family and inspect this wonderful home.

Girl Emcee, Back From Korea, Recalls Show When Lookouts Were Looking In

NEW YORK (NEA)—USO Camp Shows Overseas Unit No. 1 was performing in a Korean valley. There were about 7,000 men watching the show, and the lookouts on the surrounding hills were cautioned to keep a sharp watch for any Communist attack.

Show must go on in Korea, despite torrential rains or choking dust. Here soldiers held ponchos over a performer. That's Dorothy Wenzel at left in raincoat and hood.

But, as Dorothy Wenzel took off her outer skirt and began dancing in a sheer net affair, she noticed something very strange up there on the rugged hills. All the binoculars were pointing at her. The Communists, for the moment, were forgotten.

It was that way throughout the entire 21-day tour in Korea, the first made by a USO Camp Show unit. Now Dorothy Wenzel and the others in the troupe are back in the U. S., getting ready for a trip to Alaska.

"Nobody can have any idea of what Korea is really like," she says, "until he's seen it. I was with many overseas units in the last war, but I've never seen anything like this. I think our show did a lot more good than any of the World War II shows."

Emcee Of Show
Miss Wenzel was the mistress of ceremonies of the show. She's a raven-haired, blue-eyed trick who sings, dances, tells jokes and just looks beautiful. The combination was irresistible to the boys in Korea.

"After all," she says with a grin, "they want to see a girl looking like a girl. So we made a point of looking feminine, even though it was tough."

She had 10 gowns with her, most of them the strapless variety. In each 1 1/2-hour show, she made four costume changes. After one show, a fresh-faced GI came up to her.

Miss Wenzel said: "I just want to tell you that you're the loveliest thing I've seen in months."

"Thank you," she said. "But, tell me, how long has it been since you've seen an American girl?"

"Ten months," he answered.

blushing a little, "but you're still the loveliest thing I've seen."

Most of the boys who got close enough to notice were enthralled by her perfume.

"Gee, you smell good," was the usual comment. Some of them closed their eyes and sniffed rapturously. She made a point of applying the perfume liberally.

They played 45 shows in 21 days they were in Korea, and 16 others in Okinawa and Guam. Once they did seven shows in one day. They played for audiences as small as 40 men. Sometimes, the show was cut short when it was thought best to move them to the rear. But all 45 Korean shows were presented north of Seoul, and most were above the 38th Parallel.

"We had to chase the Army," Miss Wenzel says. "When we were there, they were advancing, and we'd have a date to do a show and find the outfit had moved north. So we had to chase them to put it on."

All the men attempted to show their appreciation. One company gave a banquet, complete with flowers and candles and a printed menu. Another rigged up a "Ladies' Powder Room" out of ponchos. One outfit provided a string orchestra.

What the boys want, says Dorothy Wenzel, is to see a girl looking like a girl. Here she is in one of 10 gowns she had in Korea.

"What is the best strategy when you pick up a hand that contains three or four wild cards?" asks an Allentown correspondent. "If you go out for the discard pile, those wild cards are useful in reaching the count, but they don't leave much room in your hand for pairs. It is wise to discard them, thus freezing the pack, in the hope of winning the discard pile and thus getting them back with interest!"

No. It is a poor idea to discard wild cards at the beginning of the hand when you cannot tell which side is more likely to win the discard pile. It is true that you have a few safe discards—the wild cards themselves. But you have no way of knowing how desperate your partner may be, nor what your own hand will look like when you come to the end of your wild cards.

The correct strategy with this type of hand is to meld as soon as possible. Use as many natural cards as possible with your meld, of course, but don't be afraid of using one or two, or even three wild cards in the meld.

The reason is that you don't have enough pairs to fight for the discard pile. The opponents will probably win the pile, so you must try to meld out quickly as a counter strategy. Your wild cards give you great flexibility for this purpose. Make your meld, and give your partner a chance to add natural cards and thus create a base. Once that has been done your wild cards will lead very quickly to a canasta, and you will soon be able to meld out.

Q—I understand that you do not meld a large number of cards from your hand for the initial meld—unless you have a fine play for out. Does this principle apply even after the opponents have won the first sizable discard pile?

A—No. The reason you refrain from melding to begin with is that you want to fight for the discard pile. Once the opponents win the first sizable discard pile, you should assume that they are going to keep control of the pile. It is foolish to fight for it any more in that hand. Meld at once, provided that you can do so in denominations that have not been already melded by the enemy.

Cerebral Palsy Clinic Scheduled

LUBBOCK—A clinic for the examination of cerebral palsied children will be held Monday, November 26, at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 3502 Avenue N, Lubbock.

Orthopedic specialists from Midland, Plainview, and Lubbock, a neuropsychiatrist, pediatrician, eye specialist, and a dentist will be present to examine children.

Cerebral palsy is sometimes referred to as spastic paralysis or birth injury and may be evidenced by the child's inability to sit alone, stand alone, walk or hold objects at the age these things are accomplished by the average child. Research has shown that treatment is most effective if started within the first few months of the child's life although children respond to treatment begun at a much later age.

Parents planning to bring children to the clinic are requested to register the children at the Center prior to the date of the clinic. Information regarding the clinic may be obtained by writing Dr. Esther Snell, Director.

Constitutional Amendments

Midland voters again will go to the polls Tuesday, for the second time in four days, this time to cast their ballots along with other Texans on five proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

It is an important matter—this proposed changing of the Constitution—and should be of voting interest to every citizen of the Lone Star State.

Yet, despite its importance and despite pro and con arguments on several of the proposals by interested groups, there seems to be little general interest in the election on the part of the citizenry. That is the thing which worries those who have a sincere interest in state affairs.

Gov. Allan Shivers, urging citizens not to let a minority dictate the provisions of the state's fundamental law—the Constitution—appeals to all voters to go to the polls Tuesday in order that the constitutional amendment proposals will be decided by a representative vote.

The Midland League of Women Voters is distributing a voters' guide to better acquaint citizens with the issues involved in the election, while urging a large and representative vote Tuesday.

But after all is said and done, the matter of doing one's duty by going to the polls is up to the individual. First, however, the individual should be prepared to vote intelligently on the issues involved.

One of the proposed amendments, H. J. R. No. 6, would eliminate all requirements as to citizenship and as to residence in Texas for eligibility to receive old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children; and authorizing expenditure of an additional $7,000,000 per year for these public assistance programs.

Another, H. J. R. No. 2, would increase the amount of bonds authorized for the Veterans' Land Fund from $25,000,000 to $75,000,000; making Texas veterans of service in the armed forces after 1945 eligible for benefits; and making clear the authority of the Legislature to pay interest and maturing bonds out of the state's general revenue fund.

The third proposed amendment, H. J. R. No. 37, would provide for investment of the Permanent University Fund in securities other than bonds issued or those guaranteed by government units and agencies.

Still another proposal, H. J. R. No. 22, would authorize the Legislature to provide a statewide system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of the counties.

The fifth proposed amendment, H. J. R. No. 8, would increase tax authority from three cents per $100 valuation to 50 cents for creating rural fire districts.

Each of the proposed amendments have their good and bad points, but after studying the issues involved, The Reporter-Telegram favors the approval of only two of the proposals—increasing the amount of bonds authorized for the Veterans' Land Fund; and providing for the investment of the Permanent University Land Fund in securities other than bonds issued or guaranteed by government units or agencies.

The Taxation and Legislation Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has taken a similar position on the five proposals.

Citizens yet have time to study the amendment proposals and to make up their minds accordingly, but the important thing is to VOTE in Tuesday's election.

It is hoped Midland County will lead the way percentage wise in the important state election.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.
Drew Pearson says: Anaconda Company to get cheap government water power in Montana despite President's objections; Navy refuses to yield its Harvee case; Harvey, after resisting lopsided partnership, to be absorbed by Anaconda.

WASHINGTON—Despite President Truman's 1948 whistle-stop campaign based on protecting the nation from big business, his administrators now have decided to put one of the biggest metal companies in the world in the already tightly held aluminum business.

They are awarding the cheap government water power from Hungry Horse Dam in Montana to the Anaconda Copper Company, despite vigorous objections by Truman's own Justice Department that the contract violates the principle of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

They also are closing their eyes to the criminal record of Anaconda, whose Anaconda Wire and Cable Company was twice convicted of fraud during World War II for selling defective wire to the armed forces—wire which, if not detected, might have caused the loss of American troops in battle.

Ironic fact is that a small business firm, the Harvee Machine Company of Los Angeles, was about to receive an RPC loan to help put it in the aluminum business in Montana. But when Harvee's wartime record in producing Navy shells was questioned, the loan was held up.

It was right and proper that Harvee's record should have been scrutinized, although for unexplained reasons Secretary of the Navy Kimball flatly has refused to give the Navy files on this case either to his own colleague, the Secretary of the Interior, or to the House investigating committee. However, this columnist, who has seen the files, can report that Harvee's record was tantamount to Anaconda's.

Anaconda was convicted at Fort Wayne, Ind., on June 12, 1943, for defrauding the government in connection with the sale of defective wire, was fined $31,000, and three of its men were given suspended prison sentences.

Again in Pawtucket, R. I., Anaconda was convicted Jan. 12, 1944, on a war-fraud charge, with four of its people given 18 months to one year in jail and a fifth placed on parole for two years.

Remarked the judge: "The company...

Other cases of the Anaconda aluminum deal also are interesting. When little businessman Harvey rang government doorbells and sat in government ante-rooms trying to get support for his aluminum plan, he was advised "Why don't you get a wealthy partner?"

Meanwhile Anaconda made various overtures to him, proposed a lopsided partnership. Harvey resisted. Finally the government served notice that the priorities he had received on materials, together with his power contract at Hungry Horse, would be taken away. Throwing in the sponge, he agreed to become Anaconda's junior partner.

This means Harvey will be swallowed up by Anaconda like a boy eating an ice-cream cone.

Interesting Fact No. 2—The man who made the final decision for Anaconda was Manly Fleischmann, head of Defense Production, an official of Anaconda Wire and Cable, the same company twice convicted of defrauding Uncle Sam during the war. Mulally is a 61-year-old man, continues to draw salary from Anaconda. He declined to tell this columnist how much Anaconda paid him, claimed he had nothing to do with Fleischmann's decision in favor of Anaconda, but is one of Fleischmann's assistants.

Interesting Fact No. 3—Fleischmann and other Defense Production officials do not bother to consult the Justice Department either in...

"How should the diamonds be played in this hand?" asks a Chicago reader. "You need only four tricks in the suit to make the contract, so it looks very easy at the start. In our club we had three different methods, each with its advocates. How would the experts play this combination?"

The problem is not only to win four diamond tricks, but also to make sure that East doesn't win a diamond trick in the process. If East won a diamond trick, he would...

return the queen of spades, and the defenders would then rattle off four spade tricks to set the contract. That would entitle South to sit in the corner with a nice high ducal's cap on his head.

This danger rules out a simple finesse of the jack of diamonds. If South begins by doing that, East must win a diamond trick with his remaining king-ten.

Two possibilities remain. After winning the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts, declarer may return a low diamond from dummy and finesse the nine from his own hand. The other way is to lead the queen of diamonds from the dummy as the first play in that suit.

Either method will bring in all five diamonds as the cards lie. Moreover, either method assures the contract of three no-trump no matter how the diamonds are placed. At worst, West will win one diamond trick, and then South cannot be prevented from taking nine tricks.

The difference is very slight. If West happens to have the blank ten of diamonds, he will win a trick when the nine of diamonds is finessed. West will not get a trick, however, if the queen of diamonds is led from dummy.

and it will seldom occur. Nevertheless, an expert is the sort of fellow who doesn't throw 20 points down the drain when it can be scored without the slightest risk.

So my answer is that the expert way to play the diamonds is to lead the queen from dummy to start the suit. If East plays low, you let the queen ride for a finesse. If East covers, you win the ace and proceed in whichever way is indicated by the way the cards drop.

less lips was barely a whisper. "Ollie!"

"No, not Ollie. He's quite all right. None of your grandchildren." Color flooded back to the cameo-cut features.

"Who then?" "Courtney Benson." "Courtney? What happens to him?"

"First, I want you to take a sedative. I don't want you lying awake thinking about it."

SHE gave her patient the capsule with water, saw that she swallowed it. Then Elizabeth reached her seat on the edge of the bed.

"Mr. Benson apparently slipped on the stepping stones that cross White Water Creek. They found him lying below the dam with a fatal head injury. They've gone to bring him back."

"Courtney dead?" "I'm afraid there's almost no doubt."

"Poor boy, I can't believe it!" Emily Steinhart stared beyond Elizabeth at the wall, visualizing Courtney Benson as she remembered him years before. "And I didn't even see him! I don't know why he came or what he wanted to tell me. He must have thought it very important to have come so far."

Elizabeth ran her fingers over her forehead. Courtney Benson had wanted to see Mrs. Steinhart that evening and she, Elizabeth had denied him permission. Had it not been for the best, perhaps? She must make herself believe so.

A sound in the doorway made her turn sharply. For an instant her muscles tensed with surprise, then she smiled at her own nerves. To be sure, a frightening apparition stood there, but a harmless one. Mrs. Murphy, the cook, came in to elaborate curl papers and a chin strap for her sagging throat muscles, eyed them both with grim disapproval.

"That Mr. Devanter is below, Miss. He wants to see you at once. Says as how it's most urgent. I'll sit with the Missus for a spell!" Two young people, for an instant around her tone implied, and a nice gentleman lying out in the woods stiff and stark in death!

WASHINGTON COLUMN

See 'Last Resort' U. S. Loan As Only Way Out For Britain

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

LONDON—A visit to Washington by Prime Minister Winston Churchill before the end of the year is considered inevitable by London's financial city. Main purpose of the visit will be to seek means for strengthening the British fiscal position—now realized to be even worse than had been anticipated by the outgoing Labor government.

Total financial assistance in the nature of $6,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 may be sought.

It is expected that the new Chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, will accompany Churchill, or even head the mission if the prime minister should find it impossible to leave home. "Bats" Butler will be a new figure to U. S. Treasury officials. He does not come from banking or industrial circles.

He comes from a distinguished family of British civil servants, but the new chancellor himself is best known as a Cambridge University educator and the author of Britain's present education law.

Essence of the problem is Britain's dwindling gold reserve. The drain has been caused by an increasingly unfavorable balance of trade. While British production has increased some 70 per cent above prewar levels, since Korea, the price of British imports has increased tremendously. And the volume of British exports has not been increased sufficiently to close the gap.

A British request for another big loan from the United States now is considered only as a last, desperate resort by financial experts here. The political difficulty, if not impossibility, of selling the American Congress on authorizing another multi-billion loan to Britain is fully realized.

Will Pay Interest In fact, desperate as Britain's position is today, there is strong support for the idea that the $100,000,000 interest due this December on Britain's first big loan from the United States should be paid in full.

World Bank and British fiscal experts have determined that there is ample justification for asking that the interest payment be waived, as provided for in the terms of the loan agreement. But a waiver would have such bad psychological effect on American congressional and general public opinion that it no longer is given serious consideration.

The big question therefore is on what other sources can be tapped to meet Britain's gold and dollar shortage. It now is held doubtful that the deficit can be made up from any one source. A variety of measures is being considered.

One of the first is internal reform of Britain's fiscal policies. The British people may be asked to make further sacrifices. One of the very first acts of the new Conservative government was to reduce the al-spade trick in the hope that your partner can gain the lead in time to lead another spade. It would be all right to begin with the king of spades if you had a sure entry in a side suit. Lacking side entries, your first lead must be a low spade.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding has been:

If You Can't Back Up You'll Flunk Out At College For Hopeful Truck Drivers

RALEIGH, N. C. (NEA)—Did you hear the one about the college boy who flunked out because he couldn't back up? It's no joke—18 per cent of the students at North Carolina State College's school for truck drivers are dropped, many for inability to maneuver the big trucks.

But those who finish the rugged six-week course find a job with a trucking firm waiting. The school gives its students, most of whom have never been inside a truck before, such a thorough training that trucking firms send representatives to Raleigh to snap up the graduates.

It takes a serious-minded man to pass, because the school won't tolerate bad driving practices. The faculty, all ex-truck jockeys, looks askance at new students who roll up on motorcycles. Their experience has proven that a motorcycle driver has a tendency to become a reckless truck driver, and recklessness automatically brings expulsion.

The school, the joint branch of the College and the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association, opened in 1949. It takes 40 students for each six-week session, which combines classroom work with behind-the-wheel practice.

Many Things
In class, the curriculum includes such things as driver qualifications, accident prevention, accident investigation and reporting, laws of evidence, insurance, maintenance, freight handling and customer relations. There's even an hour devoted to "History of the Traffic Problem."

But the bulk of the 266 hours of carefully-scheduled training is turned over to field work. On a large concrete plaza that has been marked off with white lines denoting roads and loading platforms, the men take turns in maneuvering the giant rigs.

Lecture: Teacher R. N. Haynes, Jr. uses toy models for classroom work in North Carolina school for truck drivers.

They practice turns, signals backing straight, backing zig-zag, parallel and angle parking, backing into an alley dock, starting and stopping and backing on hills.

Much time is spent on estimating overhead clearances. The students drive up to an overhead bar, set atop one of the driving lanes. They must estimate if they can get under it easily. If they figure wrong, it comes clattering down and another lesson is learned.

On the road, a bad guess at overhead clearance can be an expensive mistake.

Return To School
After graduation, the college-trained truck drivers often return to the school as unscheduled visiting professors. It's a common occurrence for a tractor-trailer rig to pull up to the campus and an alumnus hop out. He'll tell the current crop of students just what life on the road is like.

The school teaches other things besides pure mechanical operation and theory. Personal habits play a big part; many long-haul trucks require two-man teams and one man with a tendency toward dizziness can make the other very uncomfortable. The students are also required to be clean-shaven, which is novel among long-distance truckers.

Safety is the most important item stressed at the school. Fast driving or "tail-gating"—following too close to the vehicle in front—are two of the best ways of getting expelled. It's paid off. The school has found that its graduates have a safety record far better than that for the industry as a whole.

The California sea lion uses its own nose for bait. It floats beneath the water with only the tip of its nose showing. When a sea gull swoops down to catch a "fish," the bird plunges into the sea lion's open mouth.

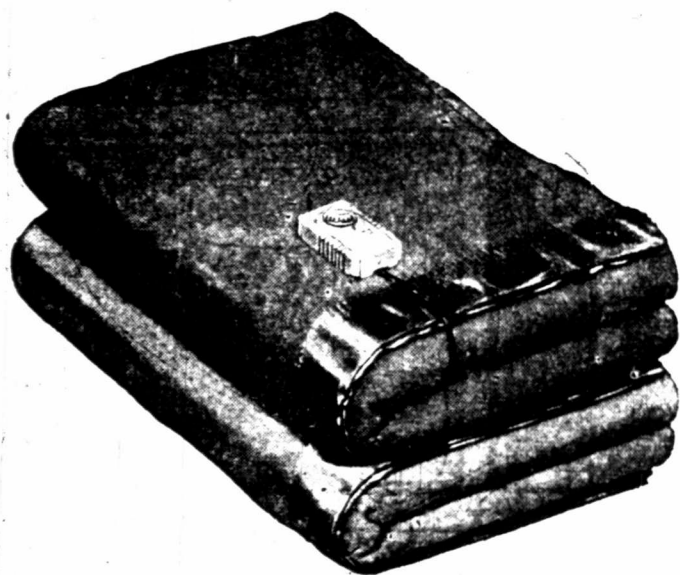

Road test: Student drivers must be able to negotiate "serpentine" course by weaving in and out of obstacles like flag pole and oil can, right, at North Carolina State College.

Daddy Ringtail And Guess What!

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, was there at home at his hollow tree house. He was sitting at a table with Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend.

"Daddy Ringtail," said the Huffen, "guess what!"

"Oh, I don't know," said Daddy Ringtail.

"I know you don't know, I do," said the Huffen, "but I asked you, I did, to guess what."

"A mouse?" asked Daddy Ringtail, guessing what.

"Oh no!" said the Huffen with a happy chuckle. And he said it wasn't a mouse at all.

"An elephant?" asked Daddy Ringtail, guessing what again.

"Oh, no, no, no!" chuckled the Huffen as though the something were very different from an elephant.

"Maybe a bird?" asked Daddy Ringtail.

"No sir, and no indeed," said the Huffen. "It doesn't fly at all, it doesn't."

And so Daddy Ringtail thought for a whole minute, almost. "Is it a sandwich?" asked Daddy Ringtail.

But again the Huffen shook his head and laughed and chuckled and shook his head some more. No, it wasn't a sandwich, and it wasn't a bird, and it wasn't an elephant, and it wasn't a mouse.

"And it isn't a fish, it isn't," said the Huffen, "because it is really a—"

"Don't tell me now!" said Daddy Ringtail. "Don't tell me!"

And so the Huffen said he wouldn't tell him, if only Daddy Ringtail please would try to "guess what" just once more.

"Now let me see," said Daddy Ringtail, pretending to think very hard. "Now what on what could it be?"

"To spell it you start with a 'B,'" said the Huffen.

By WESLEY DAVIS

"Maybe a ball!" asked Daddy Ringtail.

"No sir," said the Huffen, "because it is really a something to ride in on the water?"

"I know! I know!" said Daddy Ringtail. "It's a boat!"

"That it is, it is!" chuckled the Huffen, and now that the game of "guessing what" was finished, the Huffen hurried around to the back of the house to show the boat to Daddy Ringtail. The Huffen had built the boat, he had, and the name of the boat was "MY GENIE-VIEVE," and I'll tell you a story about it tomorrow. Happy day!

Cpl. Robert Sharpe Meets An Old Friend

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The little excursion boat "Liberty" nudged the dock at Bedloe's Island and the crowd of sight-seers began to debar. There was one soldier in the crowd, and he held the hand of a pretty, brown-haired girl in a red-checked dress.

As they stood at the top of the ganplank, Cpl. Robert L. Sharpe, of High Point, N. C., stopped a second. He stared up at the big green Statue of Liberty and then smiled a greeting. He was paying his respects to an old friend, for though Bob Sharpe had never seen the Statue before, he knows what liberty means better than most.

It wasn't so long ago that he was captured by the Chinese Communists in Korea. He was on a train that stopped near a tunnel, and the Reds made the American prisoners get off. Then the Communists massacred the GI's, shooting and bludgeoning and bayoneting them.

Bob Sharpe fell to the ground with a bullet in his leg and a hole through his arm where another had hit. Another boy fell on top of him, and that saved his life. He lay in the field for a day, with his fingers pushed in the holes in his arm to keep from bleeding to death.

"But I didn't feel too bad. There were no Chinese guards around to bother me. Even a little bit of freedom felt good."

Why They Went

That's why Bob Sharpe and his bride of a week, Jean, went out to see the Statue of Liberty. It's the symbol of that freedom that Bob can appreciate more than the average person.

"I sort of wish I was a foreigner," whispered Jean. "It must be quite a thrill to see this when it means hope and a new life."

"It's nice to see it, any time," said Bob.

They walked up to the crown, a 12-story climb. Bob's leg, the one that was wounded in Korea, ached some, and Jean had trouble on the narrow, curving stairs with her high heels. They were very impressed with the size of the Statue—"You never realize just how big it is until you see it."

Bob and Jean came down and sat on a bench on the island, waiting for the boat to take them back to the city. They ate a hot dog and drank a soda and he talked about his experiences.

"I was a prisoner for three months," he said. "I used to think about home and all the things I'd done. But you know what I thought about most?"

He held up the paper cup full of Coke.

"This," he said. "I never thought a fellow could dream about a Coca-Cola."

Austin, a ghostlike mining town near Baker, Ore., once had a population of 5,000 after gold was discovered there in the 1860's.

Freedom was in sight for Cpl. Robert Sharpe as he walked aboard evacuation plane in Korea after surviving Communist death march. He says he looked so haggard because he was out of breath when the photographer took this picture.

Miss Liberty was in sight as Cpl. Sharpe visited the famed Statue in New York harbor with his bride.

He's a serious boy, a blond, blue-eyed youngster who talks with a soft North Carolina drawl.

"Everybody thinks he's changed," says Jean. "I suppose he has. He's older. He's not but 19, yet I know boys who are much older than he is—boys who are 21 or 22—and Robert seems older than they are."

"He's more serious now, I suppose. He worries. Times when he's quiet and everyone thinks he's thinking, but he's worrying. But he's certainly a good deal easier in the mind than when he first came home."

Bob talked a lot about baseball. He's a rabid fan. He likes to remember how he hit pretty well against Billy Joe Davidson, the North Carolina southpaw signed by the Cleveland Indians for $120,000.

"I always hit him easy," Bob grins. "I wanted to play ball professionally. Once I had a chance to sign a contract, but I couldn't leave home just then. Now, this arm—"

Rolls Up Sleeve

He rolled up his right sleeve and there was an ugly scar about the size of a quarter on his biceps. He said how it hurts him to throw hard since he was wounded.

With baseball out, the Sharpes are going to see how the Army would be as a career. He has another year to go, which he'll serve at Fort Bragg, near his home in North Carolina. If that doesn't work, Bob doesn't figure he'll have much trouble landing a job.

But the two have taken quite a fancy to the North.

"I never could understand why the Northern boys gripped about the South," says Bob. "Now I know."

There's so much more to do up here. We might try to come up this way, although I've got some mighty good friends in the south I'd hate to leave."

The boat came to take them back. Bob turned and took a last picture of the Statue with Jean in the foreground. On the boat he bought a souvenir ash tray with a picture of Miss Liberty on it.

"You can always use an ash tray," he said.

Acceptance of nylon was immediate and enthusiastic. In fields like stockings, for example, it replaced silk quickly, and did a better job. Its great strength and elasticity lend themselves to many uses, but sometimes only after a lot of research and experimentation.

In the case of nylon for upholstery, our own company spent almost three million dollars in the development of Nylon Candelon fabrics for automobile seats and furniture, and its acceptance, likewise, was almost immediate.

In fact, the pendulum today is swinging the other way. The magic name of nylon has tempted many manufacturers to offer the new fibers in items without sufficient research to determine if they offer improvement over accepted fibers, or if they also present hindrances

Bustle's Rustle Due To Be Heard Again, Says Fashion Expert

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—It is the bustle coming back to America?

"Well, there's a rustle in that direction—only the girls themselves don't realize it," says a movie fashion expert.

Charles LeMaire says the present wild feminine rush toward fuller cocktail skirts and evening gowns might force a comeback for the bustle against the wishes of women themselves.

LeMaire, who has helped dress and undress a lot of stars as wardrobe director for Twentieth-Century-Fox, is historical rather than hysterical about the situation. He approves of the trend toward spreading gowns—but insists they are getting out of hand.

"That led to the bustle before—and it may again," he said.

Perhaps you are not aware of the dimensions of the problem, but women after dark now are wearing fluffed out things that make them look like the middle tent in a three-ring circus.

"I started in Europe last Spring—it was a gay social season—and spread here," said LeMaire. Rear-Uprising False

"Women used to brag about who designed their dress. Now they are content to boast, 'It has 25 to 40 yards of material in it.'"

"I like the style—it is soft and feminine. It is a return to the 1860's. But the women then gradually let their skirts get so wide they couldn't get into carriages or pass through doors. So they started pushing their skirts back and they ended with—the bustle."

LeMaire says he hates the idea of a bustle because it creates an unnatural body line—like a rear-uprising false.

"The only use I see for a bustle in the modern world is for someone to park a package on it," he said.

So that your perfume will have not the slightest hint of staleness, cleanse your atomizer thoroughly between refills. Simply wash both spray cap and bottle with warm soapy water, then rinse and dry.

Synthetic Fabrics Loom Big In Future

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It is 40 years since the first man-made fibre was introduced to the public, and it has taken almost all of that time to have synthetic fibres become accepted.

It has taken almost that long, too, for the public to realize the important job synthetics have to help and strengthen natural fibres, to serve as a balance wheel in the supply-and-demand picture, and to realize that synthetic fibres are not substitutes, but specially-created fibres to fulfill needs no natural fibre can possibly meet.

It has taken a lot of teaching, a lot of actual experience on the part of the consumer, but that goal has been reached.

Back in 1911, when rayon, the first synthetic fibre was introduced, the consumer had for generations been used to just four materials: wool and cotton for most uses; for a few special uses, silk and linen.

Compared To Heresy

Introducing anything else was almost like heresy, and inevitably rayon came to be considered a "substitute," rather than accepted on its own standard.

It took years to overcome that prejudice on the part of the consumer, but it was overcome, and rayon today is accepted in preference to other fibres in a multitude of uses. We now use it in varying mixtures with almost all of our upholstery.

Viscose rayon has proved a boon to tire manufacturers, giving tires strength which natural fibres could not give. Acetate rayons are especially good for women's wear, men's wear, draperies, and other textiles where a soft, warm feel is important.

The need for strength found in animal fibres—wool, silk, and mohair—spurred research work toward a synthetic fibre with all those qualities and some special ones—and nylon was the result.

Acceptance of nylon was immediate and enthusiastic. In fields like stockings, for example, it replaced silk quickly, and did a better job. Its great strength and elasticity lend themselves to many uses, but sometimes only after a lot of research and experimentation.

In the case of nylon for upholstery, our own company spent almost three million dollars in the development of Nylon Candelon fabrics for automobile seats and furniture, and its acceptance, likewise, was almost immediate.

In fact, the pendulum today is swinging the other way. The magic name of nylon has tempted many manufacturers to offer the new fibers in items without sufficient research to determine if they offer improvement over accepted fibers, or if they also present hindrances which in some cases outweigh the advantages.

The danger today, then, is to be sure the public does not come to look upon manufactured fibres as magic ones which can do anything and everything.

In Worry Cases

They cannot, and aren't intended to perform miracles; but they can do things, in many cases, which natural fibres could not do. And, most important, the prospect of blending synthetic and natural fibres, gain the best from each, is what holds a bright future.

More and more synthetic fibres are being introduced today, and production is increasing tremendously. In 1951, rayon had a million pounds production. Today it has a quarter billion.

Dynel is another new synthetic fibre that promises much, especially for clothing, pile fabrics, and such uses.

Dacron, stronger even than nylon, may prove the ideal fibre for men's wear.

Saran is a heavy duty fibre good for industrial fabrics.

Viscra, soft and as warm as wool, with special blending qualities, may fit in many places.

Are On Way

Many more are on their way from laboratories all over the country. Most of them will have special qualities of their own, perhaps complete enough for a wide range of uses in themselves.

The general feeling, however, is that no matter what particular qualities each synthetic has, its best use is bound to come in a blending with that the best qualities of all of them can be utilized.

The upholstery industry is also aware of another advantage which synthetics offer them—and that is a stabilizing influence on runaway costs of raw material.

Within the past year the rug industry, by using synthetics, has found this to be true, and public acceptance has been much better than was expected.

In fact, synthetics, whenever they are introduced, have a habit of gaining in popularity, provided the public is apprised of their true qualities.

COLLECTIONS DROP

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA — Federal and state revenue collections are declining since the ban on the export of rubber to Red China and restrictions on shipments to Red-dominated countries. Receipts from customs duties in September amounted to $14,000,000 or $2,400,000 less than in August.

Polo is the oldest game involving

"BUT, HONEST, OFFICER . . ."—Motorists' alibis that they "didn't know there was a red light on that corner" may become more common if this idea spreads. It's a mobile (or disappearing) traffic light being wheeled into position at a school crossing by Police Chief Douglas Bowman of New Hartford, N. Y. The light, operated by storage battery, is rolled out for use about three hours each day.

This pickup pinches pennies!

There are two simple reasons why you save money when you buy an International pickup truck.

First, you get lower operating and maintenance cost. You get a pickup truck that is engineered throughout to do more work for less money.

Second, you get longer truck life. Even the smallest International pickup truck has the traditional stamina that has kept Internationals first in heavy-duty truck sales for 19 straight years.

You get these all-truck savings right along with features that no other pickup truck gives you. For example—the COMFO-VISION CAB is "the roomiest, most comfortable cab on the road." The Silver Diamond engine is an outstanding development of the world's largest exclusive truck engine plant. Super-steering gives you the maneuverability and ease of handling that make driving a pleasure.

But get all the facts for yourself. Come in and learn why International pickup trucks are the best truck value in pickups today.
