Craig Of Midland To Hunt Clear Fork Pay At NW Andrews Test

E. M. Craig, Jr., of Midland is to start operations soon at his No. 1 S. Addie Bradford, a slated 7,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Andrews County to try for production in the Clear Fork-Permian lime.

It is to be two and one-eighth miles west of the nearest production from the Clear Fork line in the Fullerton field.

It is 15 miles northwest of the town of Andrews and 1,900 feet from south and east lines of section 22, block A-48, psi survey.

Forest, Et Al, Have Finished Discovery In Lea Wolfcamp

Forest Oil Corporation, Houston Oil Company of Texas and Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 H. L. Lowe, wildcat in Northeast Lea County has been completed as a Wolfcamp discovery of the lower Permian for a calculated potential of 385 barrels of 38.2 gravity oil daily.

One and two tenths per cent of the total recovery was basic sediment.

Based On Six-Hour Test

The potential was based on an actual six-hour flow of 96 barrels of oil through a one-half inch choke and perforations from 10.136 to 10.138 feet. The section was treated with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 734-1.

No. 1 Lowe is at the center of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 25-123-37e. That makes it about midway between the Gladolia multipay field to the north and the Denton multipay field to the south.

C-E Lea Wildcat Makes More Oil From Clear Fork

Skelly Oil Company No. 9-0 State, wildcat in Central-East Lea County, flowed oil on a second drillstem test of the basal Clear Fork.

This flow developed in a test from 8,328 feet to 8,298 feet. Tool was open six and one-quarter hours. Gas was at the surface in nine minutes, mud in one hour and 50 minutes and oil in one hour and 55 minutes.

The prospect was cleaned into pits for five minutes and then the flow was turned to tanks. It made 71 barrels of oil in four and one-half hours.

Oil Reversed Out

An estimated 30 barrels of oil was reversed out of the drippipe. Operator is now deepening. The wildcat is projected to 12,500 feet. Earlier, it flowed 32.2-gravity oil on a drillstem test at 8,140-8,320 feet.

Location is six miles southeast of the town of Lovington and 815 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 31-123-37e. That puts it on the northeast side of Lovington field, which produces from the San Andres-Permian from pay above an average total depth of 4,600 feet.

Fullerton Plugs Back To McKee At Lea Wildcat

Fullerton Oil Company No. 1 Elliott-Federal, wildcat exploration in Central-East Lea County is plugging back for tests of the McKee sand, where two drillstem tests developed flowing production.

Operator previously tested through perforations opposite the Connell sand, from 8,247 to 8,268 feet. It flowed 102 barrels of 40.1 gravity oil in 12 hours through a one-quarter-inch choke.

Location of the No. 1 Elliott-Federal is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 1-213-37e. That puts it one mile east of the North Brunson field.

CANDY FOR EVERYBODY—Old Saint Nick was loaded with the high good humor of the Christmas Season and plenty of candy treats for the youngsters at the celebration Tuesday night at the Midland Courthouse. Santa Claus leaped from his parade float and worked his way to the center of the excited crowd that packed the courthouse lawn and the inside of the big building. There he heard the Christmas requests of hundreds of youngsters and supervised the orderly distribution of candy to all who wanted it. Santa is shown almost in the center of this picture, seated in a stuffed chair, but almost smothered by admirers.

Midland Buys Water Rights

Purchase of the water rights on two sections of land in northwest Midland County—an area which engineers estimate will more than double the city's present water supply—was authorized Tuesday night by the City Council.

An additional two sections in the same area will be purchased within the next three months, at the completion of a current program of exploration.

With every member present, the City Council, after questioning engineers concerning their findings in the area, agreed to pay the $100 an acre for the two sections—a total of $128,000.

The action came only three days before the expiration of options taken on the land, owned by Forrest King.

The city still has three months to run on its option to purchase water rights on adjoining land, owned by Midland Farms.

Thanks To WTGS
"We've had a tremendous break on this thing," said Councilman J. W. McMillen, "thanks to the geological society."

It was the West Texas Geological Society which made an extensive study of water possibilities and recommended further exploration work in the selected area.

"If we had had to start out on an exploration program without this information," said McMillen, "it would have cost the city a million dollars. We owe a debt of gratitude to these people."

H. N. Roberts of Lubbock, consulting engineer who correlated the information gained from test-drilling 56 holes in the area, estimated the two sections would be capable of producing 3,000,000 gallons of water daily.

"And the quality," he added, "would be comparable to, if not better than, our present water supply."

The 3,000,000 gallons could be in- (Continued On Page 12)

Two Public Events Scheduled To Close Out Chest Campaign

Two public events this week will mark an all-out effort to close successfully the Midland Community Chest Drive, which now lacks $10,000 in meeting its quota.

Thursday night—from 8 to 9 p.m.—an amateur talent show will be broadcast over KCRS from the Midland High School Auditorium. Entertainers and Chest officials will participate in the program designed as an appeal for funds to carry on the work of seven Chest organizations. Delbert Downing will be master of ceremonies, and the public is invited to attend the performance.

Friday, Red Feather booths will be operated in the lobbies of six downtown buildings and business establishments, where Chest contributors may make their donations with convenience. The booths will be set up in the Petroleum Building, McClintic Building, Midland Tower, Scharbauer Hotel, The Midland National Bank and The First National Bank. J. M. McDonald is in charge of arranging and manning the booths.

"These two events will be opportunities for Midland citizens to help put their Community Chest over the top," said Pat Ruckman, campaign chairman. "The money is needed badly. We just can't let these Chest organizations down."

John E. Reid, who is coordinator of the campaign, said contributors still are reaching Chest headquarters by mail and he urged Midlanders to continue to use this method. Wednesday, the six-week-old drive had netted $45,543, Reid said.

Thousands Greet Santa Claus Here

By TANNER LAINE
Santa Claus has gone modern. He came to Midland Tuesday night in a big red rocket to greet thousands who lined the streets of the business district.

He was the center of attraction in an abbreviated annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Police estimated the crowd at 12,000.

He passed out candy by the bucketful at the courthouse, his official stopping place in Midland.

He waved at the youngsters and they waved back. He took thousands of orders to be filled Christmas Eve.

Whether he was lean or fat this year—he was Santa Claus. It was the only ticket he needed.

The line of march of Santa's parade included these units: Midland High School Band and Half-Timers, Rebekah Lodge, Quincy Belles-Flowers, the 1951 Christmas Express, Beta Sigma Phi, Girl Scout Troop 20, West Texas Gas Company, Girl Scout Troop 32, Optimist Club, Santa himself, clowns, Fire Department, West Side Baptist Church, Murray-Young Motors, a shiny Cadillac and Fraternal Order of Eagles and its Auxiliary.

Willoughby Uses Blunderbuss To Hide Own Blunders In Korea, Declares Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Some Army officers retire gracefully. Others retire like Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, former chief of intelligence for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. They carry their mental wounds back into civil life.

General Willoughby had a grudge. He is mad at a fair segment of the American press for the coverage of the Korean war.

Sheathing his sword and taking up his pen, he attacks six correspondents, including this writer, and three weekly news magazines in an article in the December issue of "Cosmopolitan."

31 Tax Officials Get Axe

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Truman Administration Wednesday booted 31 officials and employes from its scandal-hit tax collecting organization.

Top official to get the axe was James G. Smyth, Internal Revenue collector at San Francisco. He already was under suspension.

Smyth's removal by President Truman was announced at Key West, Fla., where the President is visiting. Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said Smyth was fired "for failure to manage his office properly."

Dunlap Ousts 30
Within half an hour after the Key West action, James B. Dunlap, commissioner of Internal Revenue, announced here the ousting of 30 others as part of his drive to eliminate "unfit" employes.

It was the biggest single shake-up since an investigation by a House Ways and Means subcommittee turned up repeated indications of corruption or inefficiency in many spots in the federal tax collection service.

It brought the total score since the inquiry to these figures:

Three collectors, in charge of regional offices, fired.

Three others resigned while under investigation.

Thirty-eight lesser employes fired, and five resigned.

Dunlap did not announce the specific charges against the 30 employes he dismissed Wednesday but he said complete files on all of the cases were being made available to the House subcommittee headed by Representative King (D-Calif.).

Dunlap said "disciplinary actions" less severe than the 30 cases also have been taken against a number of other employes, but he did not elaborate.

West Agrees To Asian-Arab Plan; Russia Is Silent

PARIS—(AP)—The Western Big Three Wednesday formally accepted the Asian-Arab plan for private disarmament talks, but Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky dodged direct appeals to give the Russian answer.

With Western acceptance, the decision on the closed-door discussions lay squarely up to Russia.

Observers at the United Nations General Assembly felt Vishinsky's refusal to give a straight answer meant the Kremlin has not made up its mind whether it wants to get down to brass tacks about ridding the world of growing arms programs.

School officials Wednesday extended an invitation for area West Texas fans to attend the game here. With temporary bleachers constructed for the tilt, Memorial Stadium will seat a crowd of more than 12,000.

Army Denies Issuance Of Truce Order

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—Field dispatches based on Allied officers' reports said ground fighting in Korea came to a complete stop Wednesday, with only the official announcement lacking to proclaim a cease-fire.

Troops of the United Nations, Tuesday night and early Wednesday, received orders not to fire at the enemy unless he attacked, field dispatches said.

By midafternoon, apparently well aware of the gentlemen's agreement, Chinese soldiers played volley ball in full view of non-shooting American troops.

When darkness fell, the Reds abandoned their 18-month blackout and the twinkling of Communist bonfires and the glow of cigarettes, marked out the silent, 145-mile front.

AP Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the western front that he had seen an order from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters to stop fighting.

Eighth Army headquarters denied it issued the order.

Farneti said the Allies stopped fighting immediately the order was received.

Only a few rounds of Red artillery, possibly from uninformed gunners, broke the unnatural stillness.

Patrols roamed the quiet front under orders to take no offensive action. And in many cases, they made no contact.

Facts Known To Thousands
The Eighth Army issued a warning statement that said "There is as of this date, 28 November, 1951, no cease-fire in Korea."

This statement was directly counter to the facts on the front—facts known to tens of thousands of soldiers and to scores of war correspondents at the front and at headquarters.

The facts were that for the time being, unless the Communists attack, there is a ground truce along the front that amounts to a cessation of hostilities on the ground.

Farneti quoted a U. S. Third Division officer that Allied ground forces have stopped shooting at the (Continued On Page 12)

County's Property Valuations For 1951 Hit $23,587,240

Midland County property valuations climbed to a record-breaking $23,587,240 during 1951, County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed announced Wednesday.

The announcement of the figure, an increase of 44 per cent during the last year, came as Speed completed the 1951 tax rolls and it exceeded an earlier estimate of $21,000,000.

The property valuation figure tripled during the last nine years, with $7,538,250 being reported in 1942.

At the same time, Speed estimated that the county's rapidly-expanding oil industry as well the dizzy building pace in Midland itself would send next year's property valuation figure past the $40,000,000 mark.

In breaking down the 1951 figure, Speed said it included $15,743,420 in real property, $4,617,210 in personal property, and $3,226,610 in intangibles, banks, utilities and railroads.

Actually, Speed said, the $23,000,000 represents a total property value in the county of more than $150,000,000, since the county uses only about one-sixth of the present actual value for tax assessment purposes.

themselves want him to do. His only restriction is this—never to write anything that will threaten the actual combat security of the troops.

My own feeling is that General Willoughby has taken up a blunderbuss against the press to hide his own blunders.

It was—in the opinion of a number of trained war correspondents on the scene—the reporting of General Willoughby himself that gave "aid and comfort to the enemy" and let down General MacArthur.

As top intelligence officer it was his job to give MacArthur an estimate of the enemy's capability under any condition. In the case of (Continued On Page Two)

ECA's Crusade In European Kitchens Is One More Skirmish In The Cold War

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (NEA)—Mena Hogan, on loan to the Economic Cooperation Administration from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is one of the ECA team that is conducting a crusade in Europe's kitchens.

They are working on the theory that the old-fashioned methods and equipment European housewives use are indirectly hurting farm production. Improvement of rural living conditions generally brings an increase in crops, and this is something Europe sorely needs as it struggles to maintain a decent standard of living, rearm and stave off inflation.

The backwardness of the average European kitchen is explained by Miss Hogan, a tall, energetic blonde who grew up on an Arkansas farm.

"If my great-grandfather, Michael O'Hogan, came back to life," she said, after visiting an Irish farm, "he wouldn't know how to run his farm. He'd be able to slop the pigs, that's about all. That's because now there are tractors, reapers, combines, separators, milkers, cultivators and manure spreaders.

Right At Home
"But great-grandma O'Hogan would be right at home in the kitchen. In too many Irish farm homes, there hasn't been a single kitchen improvement in centuries."

In her 11-country, 5,000-mile tour of European farm kitchens, she found most had no refrigerators, washing machines, electric heaters or, in many cases, can openers. An electric mixer demonstration created a sensation.

Improvements, she emphasized, need not wait on kitchen appliances alone. Much can be done merely by instruction. She has been women bent over washbouts on the ground, when merely placing the tubs on stools or platforms would cut down back strain.

In Wales, she saw kitchens without pots and pans—the utensils were all kept in an adjoining scullery, which meant the housewives had to walk unnecessary miles each month.

"You can't just tell a woman she's doing her job all wrong," Miss Hogan says, with a smile. "So I begin by admiring the home I visit, and after a while the housewife will ask me what an American home is like.

"That gives me an opening to tell her how we save time and do even more than she does—much more laundry, baking, canning and preserving. And that, in turn, gives me a chance to tell her, and her husband, how much nicer a way of life all this brings. It gets them wanting better things, makes them dissatisfied with things as they are."

Organize Classes
In cooperation with agricultural officials of the western European countries, Miss Hogan and her co-workers are organizing home economics classes. Extension workers already trained are demonstrating modern ways of child care, sanitation, food preserving, poultry care, and common sense ways of saving time on routine chores.

"I know from experience," Miss Hogan says, "that there is a definite relation between farm productivity and home economics."

The kitchen-crusade is only one aspect of the ECA's technical assistance program for agriculture. The women, like Miss Hogan, know the important part of their work is keyed to increasing farm production as a vital aid to the western democracies fighting the cold war. But they feel there is a secondary contribution they're making. That is helping the European housewife to a little better standard of living. Millions of European women are struggling along as "the best beast on the farm."

Can't Trust Hollywood; Even Cochran's Shave Is Phony

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Movies Without Popcorn:

"The Lion and the Horse"—something tells me this title will have to go—is winding up at Warner's and I watch Steve Cochran, the star, play a scene with Rex Teal and moppet Sherry Jackson. Steve's face is lathered and he draws a razor over his chin as he speaks his line. When the scene is finished, I notice that only one side of Steve's face—the side nearest the camera—is covered with the sudsy stuff.

In Hollywood there's nothing behind the buildings that you see on the screen and you can't even trust a movie shave.

Mitzi Gaynor is before the cameras at Fox in a scene for "The I Don't Care Girl"—the movie biography of Eva Tanguy.

Maybe Mitzi will get down to bare essentials later in the picture, but right now she's wearing a long skirt and a high-necked shirtwaist of the turn-of-the-century period. A player piano tinkles "On the Mississippi" and lively, bouncing Mitzi, as a waitress in a Manhattan delicatessen, dances between the tables. As the sequence ends, Mitzi massages her milks.

"Eva Tanguy always waved her hands around and I'm not used to it," she wails. "I can wave other things around, but not my hands."

Turn About
Producer Stanley Kramer is filming "My Six Convicts" at Columbia and I watch Gilbert Roland and Millard Mitchell, as prisoners, enact a scene with John Beal, who portrays a big house psychologist.

In the background, wearing a baker's uniform, I spot an actor named Donald Keith. Remember him? Something like 26 years ago, Donald Keith was Clara Bow's leading man in a movie titled "The Plastic Age." In that picture were two extras—Clark Gable and Gilbert Roland.

Today Gable and Roland are stars. Keith is now an extra—an extra in a former extra's starring picture.

Three hundred-and-fifty dancers are whirling around a gold-draped crystal-chandeliered ballroom for the waltz scene in MGM's "The Merry Widow."
It's gay, glittery and as sparkling as champagne.

In the spotlight is Lana Turner in a form-fitting, black velvet, low-cut evening gown. Her diamonds and emeralds glitter in the lights. Lana is breathtaking and the excitement is contagious.

It almost sweeps away Director Curtis Bernhardt who stands on an 80-foot parallel, field-generating the entire scene.

Anxious to start a new scene, he is about to signal the camera when he shouts:
"No, no, I can't see Lana for the people."
Huh? I couldn't see the people for Lana?

The scene in "Lovely to Look At" at MGM has a dozen workmen busy remodeling the exterior of a smart French dress shop. In the midst of the painting and hammering, Marge and Gower Champion are supposed to be rehearsing a dance. The rehearsal is distracting to the extras hired as painters and carpenters. They'd rather watch, no matter what the script says.
Director Mervyn LeRoy rehearses the scene but the painters still drop their brushes to watch Marge and Gower. Final LeRoy issues an edict.

"Paint," he shouts. "Paint so I can hear it."
The transformation of Virginia Mayo from a star who occasionally dabbles in musicals into an all-out dancing, prancing, stinging movie queen is taking place in "She's Working Her Way Through College."

Virginia, in the role of a burlesque star, is wearing a scanty costume of gold fringe and her voice booms over the playback machine:

"Oh, babe, what I wouldn't do-o-o-o."

"With pul-lenty of money and you-hoo-hoo."

It's eye-popping and mouth-dropping, with Virginia's gold fringe tossing like wheat in the wind. The male on the set gulp and blink. All except one studio workman.

Maybe Virginia Mayo is a handkerchief-sized costume is just the bait to keep movie houses packed, but he's moaning away blissfully.

Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer are at work in Stanley Kramer's two-character film, "Fourposter," and an intricate camera setup is required to photograph them through a window for a 1918 scene.

The time span goes from 1897 to 1942 for the film, requiring important-scenic changes to denote the passage of time and special make-ups for the stars, who play husband and wife. The title is derived from the four-poster bed around which the action revolves.

The female goshawk is much stronger than the faster-flying male.

The White House records of the Truman-MacArthur conference on Wake Island on Oct. 15, 1950, show MacArthur was asked what the chances were of Chinese or Soviet interference in Korea.

And MacArthur was quoted in reply:

"These Chinese have 300,000 men in Manchuria. Of these, probably not more than 100,000 to 125,000 are distributed along the Yalu River. Only 50,000 to 60,000 could be gotten across the Yalu River. Forty day later the UN launched its "win-the-war" offensive. On that day—November 24—Tokyo headquarters intelligence still put the total Chinese and North Korean enemy in Korea at only 100,000 men.

It was an extremely costly miscalculation. Tremendous numbers of waiting Chinese Reds rose up, split the Allied drive and forced a long withdrawal.

On December 2—eight days after the attack began—MacArthur estimated the enemy at 600,000 men, including 500,000 Chinese and 100,000 North Koreans.

Argument With History
Where did this vast force mushroom from? Why did Allied intelligence have no inkling of it? It should have.

Who really let MacArthur down in the lost battle near the Yalu—a few newspapermen or his own chief of intelligence?
General Willoughby's argument is with history, not with newsmen carrying out their responsibility to the American public. To report the major mistakes of a major general is no criticism of the American Army, as such. An Army is many men, not one.

Even in this odd world, I doubt if Willoughby will be able to prove a man can whitewash himself by daubing the press with a worn tar brush. Surely he must always remember he didn't know what he ought to have known when 100,000 American soldiers marched toward anguish and ambush, hopeful that his wrong intelligence was

The Friendly Host City

Midland Saturday will be host to hundreds of visitors from Breckenridge and other Permian Basin Empire cities—affording Midlanders the opportunity of exhibiting the true spirit of hospitality for which this headquarters city long has been famous.

Every Midlander should consider himself a personal host to the football visitors who will be in our midst, doing everything possible to make the guests feel perfectly at home while in Midland.

A friendly greeting, an offer to be of some little service, a cordial "glad to see you in Midland" spirit will do wonders to impress upon those who visit our city that Midland is the friendliest of West Texas cities.

It is up to the individual—the businessman, the clerk, the cafe waitress, the banker, the ticket taker at the game, the man on the street—to assume his role as a true Midland host this weekend.

The Sports Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is planning a reception such as never has been witnessed at a bi-district championship game in West Texas, and the school system will go all-out in serving the needs and wishes of the visitors from Breckenridge. It is something in which everyone can join wholeheartedly.

Perhaps the main thing to remember, however, is that the football issue involved will be settled on the gridiron at Midland Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The fans, regardless of how enthusiastic, never win a football encounter.

As The Reporter-Telegram sports editor said recently, "very few tackles are made in the press box." He might have included the grandstand, the hotel, the store, the street or the sidewalk.

Surely we should support the MHS Bulldogs to the very limit, but let's be good sports about it, leaving the actual playing of the game to the Bulldogs and the Buckaroos, while devoting our efforts to greeting and entertaining our visitors on bi-district game day.

Welcome, football fans to the friendly headquarters City of Midland.

Regardless of your walk in life, smooth running always gets you there a lot faster.

Even when a quarrel is ripe, don't pick it. Just let it die out.

It's beginning to look as if the man who estimated that a fly lays a million eggs didn't count 'em all.

Who Said He Was Invulnerable?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson
(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Price Boss Disalle clashes with Mobilizer Wilson; Senator McCarran meddles in tax probe from his bed, sends telegram to Congressman King with hidden warning.

WASHINGTON—Although Price Boss Disalle is a genial, fun-loving man, his relations with mobilization boss Charlie Wilson have just about reached the boiling point. The clash is over stimulating production by increased prices which in turn, boost the cost of living.

Wilson has adopted this policy over Disalle's bitter objections. As an incentive to step up production, Wilson has increased the price of machine tools, lead and zinc, and is considering a price boost to relieve the sulphur shortage.

But the result has been an increase in prices all down the line. The price boost for lead and zinc, for instance, caused a corresponding increase in all lead and zinc products, such as automobile batteries.

Disalle has argued this brings cracks in the economy without actually solving the production bottleneck. During the fight over lead and zinc, Disalle sent his right-hand man, Ed Phelps, to have it out with Wilson.

"You guys always think of a price increase as an incentive to production," argued Phelps. "We give you the price increase, and we still don't get the production. Then you think of other reasons for the production. But you never think of the other reasons until you force us to give price increases."

"I don't give a damn what it does to stabilization," snapped Wilson. "Shortly after this argument the cost-of-living index shot up again, automatically giving 1,000,000 CIO auto workers a wage increase, which in turn sharpened the determination of CIO steelworkers and other unions to get a wage boost too."

Senator Pat McCarran is supposed to be a very sick man. He was not too sick, however, to dispatch a strange two-page telegram to Chairman Cecil King of the House committee investigating tax frauds, and to send his own personal investigator to barge into the tax situation.

McCarran is chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which has nothing to do with taxes. Furthermore, his committee is not supposed to overlap the work of another committee. Despite this, McCarran sent his trusted investigator, J. C. Sourwine, to start a counterprobe.

Sourwine first slipped into San Francisco and proceeded to cross-examine Charles O'Gara, the assistant U. S. attorney who pioneered the first tax-fraud probe. Sourwine's line of questioning was not at all friendly. It was not that of a man who wants to see tax frauds cleaned up.

Incidentally, it was another McCarran man, U. S. Judge Edward Murphy, who dismissed the grand jury which was probing tax frauds under O'Gara. Murphy's father and McCarran were old prospecting pals and McCarran blocked the appointment of other judges until the Justice Department finally appointed Murphy to the bench.

Investigating Investigators After butting into the San Francisco tax situation, McCarran's investigator Sourwine slipped down to Los Angeles to investigate Congressman King himself. Sourwine's line of inquiry in Los Angeles indicated he was hunting for evidence that King easily may have read a hidden warning between the lines, had that his San Francisco probe had better not embarrass McCarran.

Furthermore, it was unprecedented for McCarran to telegraph Congressman King, instead of Senator Williams of Delaware, Williams also has been investigating the San Francisco tax scandals for the Senate Finance Committee, but he has not sent an on-the-spot investigator to San Francisco, as did Congressman King.

Also, under Senate rules, a Senate committee is not likely to embarrass a fellow senator. McCarran, however, couldn't be so sure about a House committee.

Finally, it is interesting that of all the tax scandals in the nation, the only scandal McCarran chose to double check were those on his own doorstep. McCarran did not send his investigators to St. Louis, New York City or Boston—only to San Francisco—and, as a side probe, to Los Angeles.

It's beginning to look as if someone now should start investigating the investigators.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Most of the bidding problems in your daily question have been fairly clear cut," writes a Nashville correspondent. "Don't you fellows ever get borderline hands? If so, what do you do with them?"

We certainly do get borderline hands. We do just what everybody else does. We argue about them.

For example, today's hand caused a heap of argument when it came up in the recent team match for the championship of the United States. One team got to a make the vulnerable game, and the other team stopped at two diamonds. The difference, 450 points was half of the winning team's margin of victory.

Johnny Crawford held the North hand in the first room. He decided to risk the underbid of two diamonds rather than the overbid of two clubs. If South had to pass at two diamonds, there might be no game. A second possibility was that West might then reopen the bidding, which would give Crawford a chance to bid again to show his maximum values.

Moreover, if South did bid again, Crawford was in the clear. He had already announced a weak hand with diamond support. If South could still hope for a game, in the face of such an announcement, North could afford to accept any game invitation.

As it happened, B. J. Decker, with the South hand, did bid again. Crawford could then show his clubs and eventually raise diamonds again.

There was nothing much to the play, of course. South could ruff spades twice in the dummy and lead diamonds twice through East. The defenders could win only a spade and the ace of trumps.

In the second room Charles H. Goren held the North hand. He decided in favor of a first response of two clubs. This partner naturally bid two diamonds, whereupon Goren was at the crossroads. If he raised to three diamonds, his partner would almost undoubtedly bid three no-trump. What then?

Goren decided to settle for a sure but small plus score at two diamonds. Incidentally, the experts are still arguing about this hand. While they're arguing Crawford's team holds the championship.

Big Treasure Hunt Gives Midlanders Flair For Numbers

By BOB ADAMS

The season of Yuletide, with all its pageantry and color, was officially ushered into Midland Tuesday night on a numerical note.

With a flair for numbers which would gladden the heart of any professor of arithmetic, Midland residents—young and old—engaged in the art of comparing numbers. Ticket holders have until Saturday at business closing time to find their prizes.

The occasion—the third annual treasure hunt—was sponsored by Midland merchants and the Chamber of Commerce as a prelude to the opening curtain of Christmas season.

The way the treasure hunt worked was simple. For a week preceding Tuesday night's hunt, Midland merchants handed out a total of 120,000 numbered tickets—free for the asking. The treasure, 158 pieces of merchandise suitable for all members of the family, was placed in 52 downtown store windows with a number attached.

If the number of one of the free tickets handed out matched that on the merchandise in the window, the lucky ticketholder won the treasure.

Response to the hunt was evident. Ticket holders started their search early in the afternoon and by 7

High School Band Presents Program

The Midland High School band presented the program at the Tuesday meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium.

It was announced there would be no meeting in December. The open house, originally scheduled for Tuesday night, was postponed because of the Santa Claus parade. Refreshments were served by the home economics department to approximately 75 members and guests.

It was announced the P-TA will meet at 9:30 a. m. December 7 in the home of Mrs. Harvey Conger. Mrs. Ernest Sidwell will lead the program on "School Curriculum."

Little Heck, Great Heck; What Th' Heck?

LITTLE HECK, ENGLAND—(AP)—Officials here have been raising heck hereabouts of late and Heck won't stand for it—by heck.

Two men with paint pots hit "Little Heck" last week and made its single "To Heck" signpost read "To Great Heck."

Heck, which is about a mile from Little Heck and has 192 residents, complained to its members of Parliament about being raised to "Great Heck." Emisaries to post officials heckled: "Where the heck is Heck?"

The post officials just didn't know who sent the painters and why.

Little Heck doesn't much care either way—it has only five houses.

Heart Behind Yule Gift Is What Really Counts

The well-dressed woman in the department store elevator was saying: "I told George this morning I was going to cut down on our Christmas gift list this year. Everything is so expensive—and shopping has gotten to be such a dreadful chore . . ."

And the well-dressed woman sighed as though Christmas giving were an ordeal to endure instead of the joyous experience it should be.

The remark and the sigh called to my mind another woman's attitude toward giving. When a close friend of hers moved into a new home and several friends bought gifts for the new house she wanted to give something, too. But knew she couldn't afford the kind of gift she would have liked to buy.

So she told the friend with the new house who was worrying about all the curtains to be made: "If you get the material I'll make the curtains for your bedroom." She did too. And here was the most appreciated gift of all.

It is that way with giving. It isn't just a matter of how much you spend.

It is a matter of how much thought you put into the gifts you buy or make.

It is far more Christmas-like in spirit to take a friend a jar of homemade jam, a potted plant you have started yourself, a box of candy or cookies from your own kitchen, than to say: "Let's not bother with giving each other gifts this year."

Then, too, with imagination you can always find an inexpensive gift that will give pleasure. The mistake comes in thinking a gift has to cost a certain amount or to be flashy enough to make a "showing." Gifts shouldn't carry price tags. Not even in the giver's eyes. DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Bushel And A Peck

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, lives up in the top of a very tall tree, right in the middle of the Great Forest. Yes, and one fine day, Daddy Ringtail got the fishing poles out of the closet to make them ready to do some fishing.

Daddy Ringtail smiled and answered, "Well now, would you like to go fishing?"

Mugwump said he would indeed like very much to go fishing, and so Daddy Ringtail said for Mugwump to go in the kitchen and tell Mother Ringtail so she would know where they had gone. "Thank you, Mother Ringtail!" cried Mugwump, and he said he loved her a bushel and a peck and a hug around the neck, and he gave her the hug to prove it. Happy day!

me a hug? (Mothers often like for their children to give them a hug, you know, and Dads are that way too, you know.)

But Mugwump said: "No Ma'am. Don't have time for a hug right now. Daddy Ringtail's waiting for me to go."

Having said these words, Mugwump was about to hurry away and out of the kitchen to go away fishing with Daddy Ringtail.

Before he did, however, Mother Ringtail opened the door to the stove. Mugwump stopped to see her.

"Better hurry along," said Mother Ringtail. "Have a good time fishing with Daddy Ringtail."

"Yes'm," said Mugwump, but he did not hurry along. Instead he waited to sniff and smell the something cooking in the stove. Oh, the something was easy to smell all right. The something was scrambled coconut cookies, and the sweet smell now filled the kitchen, and yum, yum.

"Mother Ringtail," said Mugwump. "I sure do love you."

"That's nice," said Mother Ringtail, putting some of the scrambled coconut cookies into a sack and giving them to Mugwump. "Take these fishing with you," she said.

Improper Sanitation Holds Danger Of Typhoid Fever

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There are reports of several cases of typhoid fever in this community. Is there any new treatment for this disease? If cistern water is contaminated, is there any way to purify it? writes Mrs. T. P. It is interesting and disturbing to hear reports of typhoid fever in this day and age. Typhoid is a disease which formerly attacked and killed many people, but which has been largely conquered in the last 40 years in those countries which have good sanitation.

So far as treatment is concerned, there has been much improvement because some of the new antibiotic relatives of penicillin have proved quite effective.

Mrs. P.'s letter implies that the typhoid in her community is caused by contaminated cistern water. This water should not be drunk at all, or if necessary, it should be boiled. The important thing is to find out what is contaminating the water, and probably it will be necessary to dig a new well.

Typhoid is caused by a germ commonly known as the typhoid bacillus. This germ is carried in water which has been contaminated by improper disposal of sewage. It is also spread from an infected person to a healthy one by fingers, food, and flies.

Conquest of the disease has been brought about not by better methods of treatment, but by striking at the source of the infection through improved sanitary measures. Health officials are constantly on the alert to see that sewage is properly carried off and treated and cannot seep into the drinking water supply. Public drinking water is also examined often and treated with chlorine if there is any sign of pollution.

Vaccination Helps
While proper disposal of sewage and care of the water supply is responsible for most of the decrease in this highly fatal and disabling disease, some cases have been prevented by vaccination. Vaccination does not give complete protection, but it helps by increasing resistance.

People who plan to travel to countries in which the sanitary conditions are not satisfactory should always receive the anti-typhoid vaccine. This should not, however, be considered an excuse for being careless about the use of drinking water or food.

As of 1950 there were 227,244 miles of railroad tracks in the United States.

MacArthur Aide Stirs Up Hornet Nest In Criticism Of Korean News Coverage

NEW YORK (AP)—General MacArthur's former chief of intelligence has accused six newspapers of "inaccurate, biased and prejudiced" reporting of the Korean war, and charged their writings gave aid and comfort to the Communists.

The officer is retired Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby. In an article in the December issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine, which carried a foreword of endorsement by General MacArthur, Willoughby named the six individual newspapers and also criticized three news-magazines. He said they "appeared to go out of their way to create defeatist thought patterns, and to belittle the country's armed forces."

Newspaper coverage of the war, Willoughby said, may have been the major factor in President Truman's decision to fire General MacArthur.

"I am convinced the success of defeat created an atmosphere of tension, uneasiness and distrust between Tokyo and Washington. This is believed to have been the major cause of the MacArthur-Truman split."

Immediate Sharp Denials
Sharp denials immediately came from the newspapers whom Willoughby identified by name. They are:

Joseph Alsop, syndicate columnist; Hanson Baldwin, military correspondent of the New York Times; Homer Bigart, war correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune; Hal Boyle, war correspondent and columnist of the Associated Press; Drew Pearson, syndicate columnist; and Christopher Rand, former member of the Herald-Tribune's Korea staff, now resigned.

"During the most difficult days in Korea," Willoughby wrote, "these men were often inaccurate, biased, prejudiced and petulant; they confused an unhappy public. The corrosive effect of their irresponsible reporting was equal to that of calculated defeatism, even if such was not intended. Their reporting furnished aid and comfort to the enemy."

Willoughby also cited Times, Newsweek, and U. S. News and World Report for "indefatigable, if not calculated, deception of the public."

Literary Rhapsodizers
He called the newspapers—"These rhapsodizers of modern literature...careless chroniclers...litterary experts...journalistic bootlickers...the fickle press...the panting eagerness of a sidewalk huckster and the unctuous concern of an undertaker."

Willoughby's accusations centered, mainly, around two points:

1. That the correspondents had "belittled" the Eighth Army, and

2. That they erroneously described last year's withdrawal, under Chinese attack, as a "defeat," magnifying its proportions, criticizing Army intelligence, and exaggerating the casualty figures.

In their replies, the correspondents denied having criticized the Army, as such, or the individual soldiers. They said they had criticized MacArthur, for his overall decisions, and Willoughby for his intelligence reports, on which MacArthur apparently based his strategy in Korea.

As an example of the "belittling" of the Army, Willoughby quoted extensively from an article by Baldwin. It compared American generalship, troops and equipment with those of other countries, and said the Americans were not always the best in the world.

Willoughby described this as a "devastating, surprising and telling editorial attack."

Wildly, Justly Criticized
Baldwin said the article was written before the Korean fighting began. He said it was prepared early in the Spring of 1950, but was not published until after the war started. He added:

"As an intelligence officer, General Willoughby was widely and justly criticized by Pentagon officials, as well as in the papers. His present article is as misleading and inaccurate as were some of his intelligence reports."

Bigart, cabling from Paris, said his criticisms had been directed against MacArthur and Willoughby, not the Army as such. He replied:

"General MacArthur and his tight little circle of advisers have never been able to stomach criticism, whether from a war correspondent or the President of the United States. In an attempt to silence criticism, they have adopted the line that anyone who questions their judgment is 'inaccurate, biased, prejudiced and petulant,' and that any criticism of them involves some sort of slur on the whole Army."

Drew Pearson made the same distinction in a statement which read: "General Willoughby is still smarting from my account of how he immigrated to the U.S. after fleeing a Prussian military school and how he continued to practice Prussian 'wagger' methods in the U.S. Army. He also ignores the fact that it was his faulty intelligence, not the Second Division's, which I criticized in the Yalu River advance. If Willoughby's intelligence had been more accurate, the division never would have got in the position where it was forced to retreat."

Boyle said American intelligence in Korea, for which Willoughby was responsible, was "tragically bad." He said:

"The general's job was to obtain information about the Chinese and to evaluate it. I thought then, and I still think, that our intelligence was tactically bad. General Willoughby, naturally, feels otherwise. In this case, the events give the answer—the troops ran into a complete surprise, and were decisively beaten back. Generalities about 'bias and prejudice' cannot outweigh the hard facts of defeat and the cold statistics of losses. It was not 'bias and prejudice' that rolled the Army back across thousands of square miles of lost ground."

Disasters Swifly
These events took place a year ago at this time. The sequence was this:

By early October, the North Korean Army had been smashed into splinter groups, which were retreating.

In late October, the first Chinese troops were encountered. They were in small numbers, and the Chinese Red government said they were "volunteers." They halted the UN forward movement.

Then there was a lull for three weeks, during which the main force of Chinese disappeared.

On November 20, MacArthur launched the "home-by-Christmas" offensive. It immediately was stopped. Three days later, the Army was in full retreat, with some units totally cut off. It fell back to a line below Seoul before it could regroup.

Newspapers Blame Intelligence
War correspondents on the front, in analyzing the causes of the setback, mainly blamed American intelligence. They said Willoughby had reported only 60,000 to 80,000 Chinese troops in Korea, whereas, actually some 300,000 hit the UN Army.

In a dispatch dated November 30, which the magazine article quotes, Boyle asked:

"Why didn't the American high command know they enemy had massed such a force?"

Willoughby's article replies that his intelligence had furnished precise information on enemy strength.

"The presence of 11 Chinese corps, or 33 divisions, along the Yalu was known and had been reported to Washington."

In summing up his view of the intelligence situation, Willoughby's article said, "Full intelligence was lacking—in Washington, Tokyo and at the front in Korea"—because "Washington had declared the Yalu River was a barrier for any kind of aerial flight." He added: "In other words, it forbade tactical reconnaissance for political reasons. Otherwise normal air observation would have disclosed the density of troop and vehicular movement from the great Manchurian military centers. x x x The entry of Communist China was a piece of political intelligence; it became military only at the point of collision."

Boyle Asks Why
Boyle also asked: "Why was the enemy able unerringly to pick the weak spots in the UN line, while the Allied attackers were unable even to locate with certainty the general areas where the Reds had concentrated their strength?"

Willoughby's reply says enemy agents, filtering through the lines as "refugees," supplied the information. As to UN efforts to obtain behind-the-lines information, he said: "The UN forces used all the conventional tricks—air reconnaissance, secret agents, paratrooper etc. However, one does not improve such services overnight. The Far East Command had not previously been responsible for Korea and Manchuria."

Boyle's November 30 dispatch reported information he obtained from Army officers in Korea and which he felt, from first-hand observation and checking, were accurate. The Associated Press correspondent's story included these items, on which Willoughby's article did not comment:

1. Some of the American commanders were doubtful of the success of the "home-by-Christmas" offensive before it started.

2. An American division commander feared a Chinese trap, and, before the Chinese assault, correctly pin-pointed the spot where it probably would hit.

3. A South Korean general correctly estimated the number of Chinese confronting him, but his report was dismissed by American intelligence as "exaggerated."

Ordered By MacArthur
Bigart's response from Paris Wednesday, covering the same points, said this:

"Willoughby cannot disguise the fact that a little over a year ago, MacArthur ordered the ill-starred offensive that promptly backfired into a major defeat. This offensive was undertaken by MacArthur only three weeks after our troops had been thrown back by the surprise entry of Chinese forces. It was undertaken without first buttoning up our units scattered across Northern Korea."

"A huge gap existed between the corps in Northeast Korea and the corps in the northwest. In view of the known fact that large numbers of Chinese had invaded Korea, this disposition of troops was crazy. There weren't enough troops to fill the holes."

"Having spent considerably more time at the front than Willoughby, who seldom left his ivory tower in Tokyo, this observer met combat officers who were equally skeptical of the grand plan for ending the war by Christmas, 1950."

Conflicting Claims
"After this debacle, Willoughby claimed he knew all along there had been an enormous buildup of Chinese forces in Manchuria during August and September. In an article in Stars and Stripes, Willoughby said he knew, on November 16, that there were 850,000 Chinese troops in Manchuria and Korea. But right up to November 21, correspondents at MacArthur's were told that not more than 80,000 to 90,000 Chinese had crossed the Yalu."

While the UN forces were in full retreat, Willoughby charges that the correspondents and the news magazines exaggerated the size of the defeat and the casualties. He wrote:

"Constant references to tides of wounded and overflowing field hospitals have almost psychopathic significance. With the panting eagerness of a sidewalk huckster and the unctuous concern of an undertaker, the reports (especially those of the weekly digests) dwell perversely on the statistics of death.

Brasen Juggling Of Figures
"This brasen juggling of figures, and the inferential if not calculated deception of the public are easily demonstrable. Newsweek was one of the worst offenders. Time, occasionally more reliable, ran a close second."

Executives of the two news magazines said they had no comment.

Willoughby said Joseph Alsop then "enthusiastically joined the Greek chorus, chanting disaster in lugubrious basso." Alsop had asserted that MacArthur had walked into a trap on the Yalu.

Alsop said:

"In the first place, men like Homer Bigart and Hal Boyle, who were frontline correspondents right through the war, knew a damn sight more of what was going on than General Willoughby, so far as I was able to observe. In the second place, any newspaperman who claims absolute accuracy or invariably correct judgment ought to have his head examined."

"But I don't believe any of the men General Willoughby has seen fit to attack made such a shocking mistake of judgment as the estimate of the situation which caused MacArthur to report to the President, after the Yalu disaster, that he could not hold in Korea without four additional divisions which did not then exist. And this does not even touch upon the original error in the estimate of the situation which was the cause of the Yalu disaster."

It gives you a lot to be thankful for

Let's suppose that this is you. The car you're riding in, as you can see, is a Buick. But what you can't see is the satisfaction which being behind that wheel brings to every day in the year. Take the feel of it—the way it goes into action when you nudge the gas treadle. Quick. Eager. Willing. No effort at all. You just swoop up to the miles per hour you want. That's because there's a high-powered, high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine under the hood that makes every drop of gas do extra duty. And it's because there's a Dynaflo Drive,* feeding that power back to the rear wheels as smoothly as cream flows from a pitcher. Take the way it sits the road. Balanced. Poised. Sure-footed. Snug. That's because of a long list of things that Buick engineers have done to its ride—including a torque-tube keel that keeps rear wheels tracking true—and soft coil springs that individually cushion each wheel. Take the way it steers. Easy. Light. Firm. On a straightaway—or coming out of a curve—it seems to know what you want it to do. That's because of something the engineers call "front-end geometry"—and because 60 steel balls roll in their own little race track to ease each turn of the wheel. Take its room, its comfort, its smart good looks—and its price. Any way you size it up, here's a car to make you thankful for your good judgment in picking it, against the field. All that is needed to complete this picture is you at the wheel of a flesh-and-blood Buick—out on the road for a sample of what we've been talking about. That's easy to arrange. Just give us a call, and we'll do the rest.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

- DYNAFLO DRIVE—saves strain on driver and car
- FIREBALL ENGINE—high-compression, valve-in-head—gets more miles from every tank of fuel
- PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart style and unsurpassed protection
- WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night
- TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—seals the chassis, steadies ride, improves driving control
- 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs
- DUAL VENTILATION—outside air fed separately to right or left of front compartment
- SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times of brake drum
- DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepers on most models
- Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, Step-On parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

Grandfather Gets Life Sentence For Slaying Two Tots

LAKELAND, GA.—(AP)—Convicted for the second time of murdering his two grandchildren, a 47-year-old farmer was sentenced to life in prison Tuesday.

Carthy Royals was sentenced to death at his first trial, but the Georgia Supreme Court ordered a retrial. Tuesday's jury recommended mercy, which made the life sentence mandatory.

Accused of killing the children with blows on their heads and burning the bodies in an attempt to hide the crime, Royals told the jury he had "been framed from start to finish."

He accused the prosecution's chief witness, Sam Phillips, of lying. Phillips, who is serving a life sentence in connection with the slayings, testified that Royals told him he killed four-year-old Cleon Browning and his sister, Martha, two.

The state contended Royals and Phillips tried to collect $500 double indemnity insurance policies on each of the slain children.

California High Schoolers Don't Know How Many Months In Year, Latest Tests Reveal

LOS ANGELES. —(AP)—Some Los Angeles High School juniors can't even tell the time of day.

The city school system, under fire from many quarters, tossed its critics another handful of bullets Tuesday by announcing it had discovered:

- Eighteen per cent of 11,000, A-1 students covered in a questionnaire don't know how many months there are in a year.
- Sixteen per cent aren't sure why the Fourth of July is a national holiday.
- Nine per cent don't know how many three-cent stamps you can buy for 75 cents.
- Five per cent failed to answer correctly the question, "What is one half of 70?"
- Fifty per cent did not know how many U. S. senators are permitted from each state.
- CIO Or Standard Oil?
- Sixty-two per cent — the biggest percentage of failure on any one question—could not tell whether Philip Murray, the CIO leader was associated with unions or the Standard Oil Company.
- And three per cent couldn't tell time.

The test was given to all students with an intelligence quotient of 75 or higher.

Maurice G. Blair, associate superintendent in charge of curriculum, said a number of children deliberately gave wrong answers in a spirit of rebellion against having to take the simplified test.

Numerous parent groups have criticized the school system's use of "progressive" educational methods.

"We thought our methods were clicking fairly well," said Blair. "This test was an eye opener."

Economic Crisis In Three Countries Threatens West Europe Defense Plans

PARIS (NEA)—A grave economic and financial crisis in Britain, France and Italy—the three key countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—threatens to upset West Europe's defense program.

The gravity of the situation is emphasized by the presence in Europe of a galaxy of top U. S. officials, including Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"No crisis has as yet developed in the Allied defense plans," a high-ranking U. S. defense official told this correspondent. "But the situation is alarming."

It is now clear that without additional U. S. aid the NATO countries will be unable to meet their armament schedules.

The situation in France is especially serious. Like Britain, France is facing a drastic dollar shortage. In an 11th-hour measure, the government of Rene Pleven has decided to cut dollar imports at the rate of $500,000,000 annually and introduce for the first time since the war a "stringent austerity policy."

Though designed to fight off inflation, the austerity measure is not likely to meet with much approval on the part of the easy-going and fun-loving French. Already there are outbreaks in the press that the United States is responsible for the economic crisis in France.

The influential and rabidly pro-Communist Le Monde, echoing the Communist line, blames the U. S. monopoly of raw materials for France's plight.

This is all grist to the Cominform's propaganda mill. Anti-American feeling is growing throughout Western Europe. Many middle-of-the-road Europeans are veering towards neutrality in the conflict between the United States and Soviet Russia.

To fan the flames of discontent, the Communist-dominated unions have decided to stage a series of political strikes.

The walk-out of close to 100,000 miners in the Pas de Calais region "is only a prelude to bigger and more violent strikes," according to Henri Lafont, Secretary of the French anti-Communist trade union federation, Force Ouvriere.

Andre Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Minister, can well afford to laugh at the West's predicaments. All he has to do these days is to sit with his arms folded at the United Nations sessions and contemplate the world he and his Kremlin masters have made—increasing economic misery in the West and political turmoil and chaos in the Middle East.

Even in the propaganda field the Russians can well let others carry the ball for them. The atrocity charges leveled by Egypt and Iran against the British and, by implication, against the United States, are more fantastic than anything yet invented by the Cominform.

So a resolution was offered appropriating $9,500 out of the general fund to pay the various water bills assumed by the city.

The amount included $3,215 for the schools, $189 for the fire department, $4,364 for the parks and $630 for municipal buildings.

The resolution was approved by the Council, along with another resolution transferring $9,500 from the water fund to the general fund.

The divorce was released without any charges being filed after Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Mrs. Rowald told officers and reporters she was talking to the divorcee over the telephone when Dickson began kicking on the front door of the woman's house.

"She told me, 'Oh here he is again,'" Mrs. Rowald said. "Then I told her to leave the phone off the hook so I could hear what he had to say."

Mrs. Rowald called police after she heard four shots fired. The divorcee told officers Dickson had cursed and threatened her.

LUKE AIR FORCE BASE, ARIZ.—Second Lt. Walter H. Baxter of Westaco, Texas, landed safely Tuesday after another plane clipped the tail of his F-51 Mustang fighter.

The other plane, also an F-51, crashed about 15 miles south of here, killing its pilot, Second Lt. John Barkley, Jr., of New Orleans.

Warren D. Thames of Odessa has entered Midland Memorial Hospital for minor surgery.

Posse Rescues 19 Elk Hunters From Snow-Bound Camp

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.—A sheriff's party has rescued 19 of approximately 30 elk hunters marooned five days by heavy snows in rugged East-Central Arizona Country.

The rescue party reached two of seven hunters' camps Tuesday night. All 19 hunters were reported in good condition.

The camps are in a mountainous area about 90 miles southeast of Flagstaff.

The rescuers, led by Sheriff J. Perry Francis, set out from Flagstaff Tuesday with a snowplow, other heavy equipment, medical supplies and food. Two other rescue groups also headed for the marooned hunters, one from Globe, Ariz., and another from a lumber camp near Winslow, Ariz.

Sheriff Francis radioed word that he had reached two of the camps to his office here.

The first report of the hunters' plight was brought out by Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Johnston of Tempe, Ariz., who reached Long Valley Monday. Their story was radioed to Flagstaff from the Long Valley Ranger Station, about 55 miles southeast of here.

Doctors Agree Murder Suspect Is Mentally Ill

FORT WORTH (AP)—Four doctors agreed that Mrs. Marjorie Johnston, 34, charged with murder in the shooting of her husband is mentally ill.

The psychiatrists examined Mrs. Johnston at the request of District Attorney Stewart Hellman. She is being held in the Tarrant County jail without bond.

Robert Zenas Johnston, 41, was killed by two .22 caliber pistol bullets in the couple's home early Tuesday. A few minutes after the shooting Mrs. Johnston told a neighbor "I've just shot my husband, call the police."

Three of the physicians told Hellman that Mrs. Johnston's illness was paranoid schizophrenia, or split personality. The fourth doctor, Dr. John M. Church, the family physician, agreed that she is mentally sick, Hellman said.

Playing Santa Teaches Kids How To Give

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Newsfeatures Writer

Children, as well as parents, relatives and friends, are all Santas when they give gifts at Yuletide.

According to Prof. Emma D. Sheehy, specialist in psychology and early education at Columbia Teachers College, playing at being Santa is a very real thing for a child—as real as when he believes himself to be Hopalong Cassidy while playing cowboy.

"A child's imagination is a precious thing and should be cherished and nurtured. Parents should try to make junior see that there is a little of Santa in each of us and act accordingly."

Unfortunately, says Professor Sheehy, the child is more often on the receiving rather than on the giving end. Too often parents fail to teach him how to give so that he can experience that inner satisfaction one gets from giving.

Scarcity of Pins

What the child gives at Christmas, or any other time of the year, says Professor Sheehy, need not be something valuable in terms of money.

"I remember," she says, "when, during the last war, there was a scarcity of safety pins. My little daughter managed to get one and presented it to me Christmas morning all wrapped up in layer after layer of paper, and yards of ribbon. It was something she thought I needed and had gone to great lengths to get me one. It was more precious to me than any object she could have purchased in a store."

One thing to remember, says the professor, is that a child has a very short span of waiting. He can't be expected to buy a gift and hold off presenting it very long. Therefore parents should try to hold off junior's gifts until shortly before Christmas. Otherwise he will lose the "kick" or satisfaction he enjoys in the giving.

When taking junior to buy his gifts, try the neighborhood stores first, warns Professor Sheehy. Avoid the large downtown stores as much as possible. All too often such shopping tours leave mother, as well as junior, nervous and tense.

Junior may not always like the gifts he receives, says Professor Sheehy, and it is up to the parents to prepare the givers for such a reaction. Oftentimes he is too young to appreciate a gift some adult gives him because it was one the donor had never received as a child and which he felt should be given to junior. In this case, the donor should realize that the satisfaction he derives from purchasing and presenting the gift may not always be shared by junior. It is up to the parent to set such gifts aside for future enjoyment and development.

Above all, concludes Professor Sheehy, do not deny junior the opportunity of carrying out gift-giving in his own way. If he is not willing to present the gift, don't push him to do so. In time, as he observes the customs practiced by the family, he will come to do willingly the things approved by the whole group.

WONDERFUL!

When it comes to SERVICE

PLYMOUTH IS THE CAR WITH MORE DEALERS, MORE TRAINED SERVICE-MEN, THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Professor "Tech," film character familiar to Plymouth servicemen, points out the newest and best service procedure. The latest educational aids, along with manuals, demonstrations, and practical "laboratory work" in the shop, are combined in a continuing "postgraduate" course. This unique, specialized training is one of the big reasons why forward-looking servicemen prefer to work for Plymouth dealers.

To many people, the kind of service that's behind a car is important. Before buying, they wisely ask: "Where can I get service if I need it?"

Plymouth Dealers Are Everywhere

It makes no difference where you live, there's an expertly trained Plymouth serviceman near you. With over 10,500 Plymouth dealers — far more than for any other make of car—you'll find a Plymouth dealer in or near every community in the nation.

70,000 Master Technicians

Plymouth owners have available not only the most, but the best, service. Nearly 70,000 Plymouth servicemen are members of the Master Technicians Service Conference, the largest program of its kind in the world. In operation for more than 4 years, this is a continuing "postgraduate" course in the most accurate, surest ways of diagnosing mechanical difficulties... the newest, best service methods.

The Right Service at the Right Time

Plymouth Master Technicians are the kind of servicemen who can diagnose the complaint right off—without costly, time-wasting guesswork and experimenting. Then they work to factory-approved standards, with factory-engineered parts. Result: The job is done properly. The Plymouth car is built to last —to give you fine and dependable transportation at low cost. But when your Plymouth does need a checkup, minor adjustment, or repair, it's good to know that this fine service is always near you. It's part of the satisfaction, the sense of extra value, that you get when you buy a Plymouth.

Displaced Families Reunited In Iowa

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP)—Two German displaced brothers and their families have been reunited on adjoining Iowa farms near McClelland.

The German brothers are Otto and Christfried Nawrocki. They were sponsored by St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church in Council Bluffs.

Christfried Nawrocki, 24, and his family arrived in New York recently from the Schlesweig-Holstein region in the British Zone of Germany. He said he was one of 300 DP's on the ship.

He said things had been "very tough" in Germany. "I was unable to get work for the last three years," he related. "If it had not been for relief organization, I fear what might have happened. We cooked, ate, lived and slept in a room 12 by 12 feet. It was not pleasant."

It's Kermit, Midland And Wink To Win

By LARRY KING
Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor
Favored Breckenridge gets slighted by The Reporter-Telegram Sports Department this weekend, as the Midland High School Bulldogs are picked to upset the Buckaroos for a 20 to 14 victory and advance in the state AAA play-off.

That sets the keynote as all West Texas teams get the nod to win. In Class A, Wink should defeat Albany, 27 to 7, Saturday in Abilene. Kermit gets a slight nod over unbeaten Anson, 14 to 13, Friday in Odessa and Lubbock should rip Ysleta, 33 to 7, Saturday in El Paso.

Elsewhere, in the Class AAA play-off it's Grand Prairie 13, Marshall 7; Temple 26, Conroe 0, and Brownsville 13, Edison (San Antonio) 6.

AAAA could go this way: Arlington Heights (FW) 20, Woodrow Wilson (D) 13; Shamrock 7, Arlington 21; Winters 14, Pittsburg 14; Pleasant Grove 13, Jacksonville 20; Huntsville 6; LaVega 12, Cameron 6; French (B) 21; Lamar (Rosenberg) 7; and Donna 7, Cuero 0.

Class A looks like this: Farmersville 13, Hawkins 7; Abernathy 20, Dimmitt 19; Newcastle 26, Whitney 6; White Oak 14, Cedar Bayou 7; Giddings 6, Franklin 0; Industrial 14, Angleton 7.

Don't expect the calls to be more than 83 per cent correct—that's what they've been in the past with 384 right, 76 wrong.

Final Poll Shows Lubbock As Top Class AAAA Eleven

DALLAS.—P.—Lubbock took over the No. 1 spot in the final Dallas News' statewide poll of sports writers on the outcome of class AAAA schoolboy football.

Lamar of Houston was in the follow-up position. The only changes from last week's ratings were in the last three positions of the top 10.

Fort Worth's champion moved up one notch to eighth place. Waco dropped into ninth, and Woodrow Wilson of Dallas was No. 10.

Austin and Wichita Falls, tied last week for tenth, dropped from the list.

- The final rankings:
- 1-Lubbock.
 - 2-Lamar.
 - 3-Ray (Corpus Christi).
 - 4-Baytown.
 - 5-Pampa.
 - 6-Port Arthur.
 - 7-Odessa.
 - 8-Arlington Heights.
 - 9-Waco.
 - 10-Woodrow Wilson.

MIKAN STILL TOPS

MINNEAPOLIS.—P.—George Mikan, star of the Minneapolis Lakers, is a prolific as ever as a scorer. The former DePaul ace is leading the National Basketball Association as he goes after his fifth consecutive scoring title. In his first eight games this season, Mikan averaged 26 points.

BETTER ALL-AROUND

PHILADELPHIA.—(NEA)—Leo Reordan, Philadelphia sports writer, has seen Princeton's Dick Kazmaier, California's Johnny Oelszowski and William and Mary's Dick Lewis this fall, says the latter's pin-point punting makes him a great triple threat.

Herb Dickenson, rookie with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, is active in the Summer, too. Last Summer he drove trotting horses at the Buffalo, N. Y., Raceway.

That battle here Saturday between Midland and Breckenridge High Schools seems to have boiled down to the "battle of desires."

That sounds like a paper-back pulp novel title, but that's the title stuck on it by MHS coaches Tuesday night at the Bulldog Booster meeting.

Audrey Gill and Red Rutledge, who scouted the Buckies as they slaughtered Brownwood, 40 to 6, last week said the invaders "have the biggest bunch of hearts I've ever seen. They'll pay the price to win."

Tugboat Jones said of his own Bulldogs: "The boys have looked good in practice the last two days. They hit so hard I'm getting a few of them bruised up. We plan on playing our best—and we aren't intending to lose. If we do, it will be because Breckenridge is just the superior team. We're ready."

As to what Breckenridge will bring along besides their big hearts, it will be an excellent pass game and a flock of fleet backs. Their line, though hard hitting, is smaller than Midland's.

The Buckies have combined the good features of the T formation and the double wing formation to come up with a clever, potent and sometimes deadly offense.

The quarterback gets in the regular T position under center, with the fullback immediately behind him.

But there the "T" look ends. Coach Cooper Robbins places his wingbacks out near the ends—one on each side—and thus has a versatile formation from which he may run or pass with equal results.

DOTS AND DASHES: Waco says it will vote against readmitting Texarkana to District 5-AAAA next year because of travel difficulties involved. Texarkana's enrollment won't be large enough to play in the loop without a unanimous vote of other conference members.

One of two Brownsville gridders whose eligibility was questioned has been given a clean bill of health by the Interscholastic League. The other still is getting a hearing on the matter. Tom Baker, the new Youth Center director recently coached a Denison elementary school to an unbeaten season and the Denison city grid title.

Baker has replaced B.J. Glidewell who has been called into the Army. Some Tuesday night basketball scores: Wayland 81, ACC 55, and East Texas 76, McMurry 70. End of The Row for now!

forecasting amazing results. (Editor's Note: Amazing is a mild word and leaves much unsaid. Hoopie's forecasts were horrible!) True, some of my more vociferous adherents waxed acrimonious from time to time, and sent me insulting letters. But Hoopie forgives all, realizing that words uttered in the heat of anger often are not seriously meant.

As a closing gesture, I am giving you one tremendous upset and a few minor unexpected results.

Tech Cagers Enter Tulia Tournament

LUBBOCK.—Texas Tech's basketballing Red Raiders start their season with a rush—meeting top-flight competition in a tournament at Tulia Thursday and Friday nights.

Polk Robison's cagers play Texas Wesleyan, Big State Conference favorite, at 9 p.m. Thursday. Wayland College, a formidable independent, and Hardin-Simmons University, fellow member with Tech of the Border Conference, tangle at 7-15.

Losers of the first night's play meet in Friday's opening game, and Thursday night's winners class for the championship to round out the double-header.

Featuring six-foot-10 Paul Nolen of Alvarado, the Raiders are captained by Jack Alderson and Jim Eddins, guards from Lubbock. Nolen made all-conference center as a sophomore last season.

Tech finished in a tie for second with New Mexico A&M College behind University of Arizona last year.

Games with North Carolina State, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Vanderbilt, Southern Methodist, and Texas Christian will be played on a December trip.

In their first game after the tournament, Tech meets McMurry College of Abilene here December 3.

Texas, TCU, Baylor To Win Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas and Texas A&M, a couple of long-time gridiron foes, meet at College Station Thursday to start the last round in the hairbreadth Southwest Conference football race.

The whole season is wrapped up in three games with the biggest one coming Saturday at Fort Worth, where Texas Christian seeks to shatter its bitter rival, Southern Methodist, and thus take the title.

But Thursday's Texas-A&M tilt and the Baylor-Rice game at Houston Saturday figure strongly in the race.

A loss by TCU and a victory for Baylor would give the latter the championship. Losses by TCU and Baylor could throw the race into a three-way tie for the title.

Other things could happen but those are the most probable.

Texas Christian is favored by seven points to beat Southern Methodist and take its first conference championship in seven years.

The odds-makers also have given Texas seven points over A&M and Baylor the same margin over Rice.

Crowds totaling more than 120,000 are expected for the three games that wind up the season except for the conference champion—or representative—that plays in the Cotton Bowl.

In the event of a tie for the title, a team has to be picked to represent the conference in the Dallas-New Year's day classic against Kentucky.

At College Station, Texas A&M will be winding up one of its most disappointing seasons—but that disappointment could be eased greatly if the Aggies beat Texas. It has been 12 years since they turned the trick. A sell-out crowd of 40,000 will be there to see what happens.

At Fort Worth, another sell-out of 34,000 is anticipated for the TCU-SMU game while Houston looks for 50,000 when Baylor plays Rice.

Your forecaster is abashed and embarrassed and humiliated over last week's "experting." We selected on three and hit only one—Baylor's 14-13 win over SMU. Surely we can do better this week.

Texas-Texas A&M—The Aggies will reach the heights in this one and it would be no surprise if they won it, but we'll vote weakly for Texas.

Texas Christian-Southern Methodist—It could be a wide-open, free-wheeling game with a lot of points on each side; we'll take TCU to score the most.

Baylor-Rice—The Owls won't give up without a terrific struggle but it looks like Baylor from here. Ought to be close.

Browns, Chisox In Eight-Man Player Trade Deal

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Baseball's hot stove league has begun to show signs of life now that the college football season almost is ended.

Those two live wire magnates, Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox and Bill Vecek of the St. Louis Browns, stirred up the fires in the battered stove Tuesday with an eight-man deal.

The White Sox shipped First Baseman Gordon Goldsberry, Outfielder Jim Rivers, Pitcher Dick Littlefield, Catcher Gus Niarhos and Infielder Joe De Maestri to the Browns for Catcher Sherm Lollar, Pitcher Al Widmar and Shortstop Tommy Upton. Later, the White Sox traded Upton to the Washington Senators for Infielder Sam Dente.

Lollar, also sought by the Boston Red Sox, was the man the White Sox wanted most. Lane intimated the hard-hitting Lollar would greatly boost Chicago's chances of improving on its fourth-place finish last season.

The Browns were happy to get Rivers, the Pacific Coast League's most valuable player. Rivers played for Brownie Manager Rogers Hornsby at Seattle last year.

Hornsby said, "He's the only player in all baseball that I'd buy a $2 box seat to watch play."

St. Louis' acquisition of Rivers was not exactly a surprise. During the season it was rumored Rivers was part of a deal that saw the Browns sell Outfielder Ray Colman to Chicago for the waiver price. The Sox had purchased Rivers from Seattle for Spring delivery.

Others figuring in the baseball news Tuesday included Lefty O'Doul, Marty Marion and Fred Saigh. O'Doul, former National League batting champion, was signed to Manager San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. O'Doul, manager of San Francisco for the past 17 seasons, replaces former Detroit Tiger Manager Del Baker at the Padre helm.

Marion, released as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals this week, was considering player-coach offers from the Browns and Boston Braves. The former star shortstop said he expected to make up his mind soon.

Saigh, owner of the Cardinals, said the search for a new manager had narrowed to three men, two of them from outside the Cardinal organization. One of the prospects reportedly is Ed Stanky, second baseman of the New York Giants. The man in the organization is either Card Coach Terry Moore or Johnny Kane, manager of the Red Birds Columbus American Association team.

Purple Getting Plenty Of Rough Stuff In Drills

A rock 'em, sock 'em workout Tuesday carried the Midland High School Bulldogs closer to their AAA play-off game with the Breckenridge Buckaroos here Saturday.

More of the same was due Wednesday and Thursday, with the Purples due to taper off Friday. The contest begins at 2 p.m. Saturday in Midland Stadium.

Tugboat Jones sent his charges through a real scrimmage session, working especially on the defensive against a T team running the Buckaroo plays.

Hard blocking and tackling featured the drills, with several of the boys receiving a goodly amount of bruises. However, Jones said his entire team would be in fine shape physically by game time.

Breckenridge is favored in most quarters, due to comparative scores with San Angelo and Brownwood.

The Buckies have defeated Riverstar (FW) 39-7; Wichita Falls, 12-7; San Angelo, 46-6; Weatherford, 26-0; Stephenville, 33-7; Cleburne, 55-0; Graham, 47-7; North Dallas, 34-0; and Brownwood, 40-6. The only loss was a 19-0 setback at the hands of Abilene.

Midland's wins are over San Angelo, 21-6; Ysleta, 7-0; Crozier Tech (D), 28-9; Lamesa, 34-7; Vernon, 14-13; Big Spring, 46-0; Sweetwater, 39-0; and Plainview, 24-6. The Bulldogs lost to Brownwood, 19-13, and tied Poly (FW) 13 to 13.

O'Neal, SMU Colts To Meet Big Wogs

DALLAS.—Jim O'Neal of Midland is due to play an important role in the SMU Colts' attempt to win their fifth consecutive game of the year when they play the TCU Polliwogs in Dallas Friday, according to Coach Herman Morgan. O'Neal is a tackle.

The game is a benefit event being sponsored by the Variety Club with the proceeds going to their Boys Ranch located between Dallas and Fort Worth and housing 80 underprivileged youths.

In their first four games the Colts have defeated the Rice Owlets 28 to 6, the Texas Shorthorns 28 to 13, the Oklahoma University Boomers 42 to 27, and the Baylor Cubs 38 to 20.

Frank Eidom, all-state halfback from Port Arthur, is the leading ground gainer of the team as he has gained 390 yards in three games, having missed the first game of the year because of an injury. In total offense, Eidom, who has completed three passes for 60 yards, is 51 yards ahead of Duane Nutt all-state quarterback from Corsicana, who has gained 177 yards rushing and 222 on 13 completed passes.

Malcolm Bowers, star signal caller and passer from Highland Park, is third in total offense with 240 yards passing and 30 yards rushing, and Tommie Fields, ace fullback from Wichita Falls, is fourth with 163 yards rushing. Fields also leads in scoring with 30 points.

11 Airmen Die, 13 Leap To Safety When Two Planes Go Down

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF.—(AP)—Two Texans were among crew members of a B-29 who parachuted to safety when the bomber caught fire and crashed near here Tuesday. They were S/Sgt. William S. Modling of Quannah and Sgt. Leon F. Bonura of Beaumont.

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(AP)—A Navy PBM (Martin Mariner) seaplane plunged into the ocean seven miles west of here Tuesday, carrying 11 airmen to their death. It was San Diego's worst military plane disaster in a decade.

In another Southern California plane crash, a B-29 bomber burst into flames near March Air Base, but its 13-man crew parachuted to safety.

An eyewitness to the PBM crash said the plane, a two-engine craft, plunged straight downward, hitting the water with a terrific splash.

The Navy said the plane, attached to Fleet Air Wing 14, on a routine training flight from the San Diego Naval Air Station, broke into pieces when it struck. It did not burn, but soon sank. Cause of the crash was not determined immediately.

Four bodies recovered. Three officers and eight enlisted men were aboard. Their names were withheld by the Navy pending notification of the next of kin.

Four bodies were recovered. Search for additional victims continued Wednesday by Navy and Coast Guard air-sea rescue craft.

Lt. E. J. Sancholtz, the first pilot of the flaming B-29, ordered his crew out of the bomber when a wing blazed up as the plane was heading for a landing at March Air Force Base near Riverside, Calif.

Sancholtz and the second pilot, Lt. E. H. Burgess, the last to leave the big ship, landed near the blazing wreckage. They were only shaken up. The other 11 crew members were picked up by forest rangers and ranchers. None was injured seriously.

U. S. Asks Other Allies For More Troops In Korea

PARIS.—(AP)—The United States was reported Wednesday to be urging other United Nations members to send more troops to Korea so more war-weary GIs can be sent home.

The appeals said to be directed particularly to countries which have not sent soldiers, planes or ships to the war front.

Informed UN sources said details of the reported request are being handled in Washington but there is no mistake that the United States feels there should be more troops from other UN countries in Korea.

Expectations here are that some sort of truce will be reached in Korea and that the troops will become a holding force instead of an actual battle force. In that case, the U. S. would be the equivalent of occupation forces from countries which have argued they lacked troops or their soldiers lacked training.

Britain Hints At Hands-Off Policy On European Army

STRASBOURG, FRANCE.—(AP)—Britain Wednesday indicated she would not take a direct part in the projected European Army, but insisted she had not yet made up her mind finally. A French spokesman said Britain's implied rejection of the European Army would upset plans for creation of the supranational force and threaten West German integration in Western European defenses.

Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe, home minister of Britain's Conservative government, told the European Consultative Assembly here that Prime Minister Churchill will commit Britain at this time to no more than "closest association" with either the European Army or the Schuman coal-steel pool plan.

Later, at a news conference, however, Maxwell-Fyfe said "The door is not yet closed and my statements should not be interpreted as a refusal to cooperate."

Burchett also reported there are many women in the Chinese tank corps.

Stores To Be Open On Thursday Nights After December 1

A recommendation of the Retailers Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce that stores of the city stay open on Thursday nights of the Christmas shopping season will be observed this year but the stores are not expected to start the practice until Thursday night of next week.

At a meeting of the committee in September, it was voted that stores would remain open on four Thursday nights preceding Christmas.

However, a member of the committee said Wednesday that since Thursday night of this week (slated to be the first late opening night of the season) will fall in November and most merchants did not care to start the practice in November.

Therefore, at a more recent called session of the committee, most representatives agreed to stay open but three Thursday nights before Christmas.

Stores of the city normally close at 5:30 p.m. and will remain open until 6:30 p.m. on each Thursday night for three weeks for convenience of persons who may not be able to shop during the day.

And on Christmas Eve, most stores will remain open an hour later.

Coach Theobald Jones was asked to speak. He said: "I see by the downstate papers that Breckenridge has been given its game with us Saturday. We are giving 'em nothing."

The club has received a letter of thanks for its $25 monthly contribution to a day nursery for children of parents who work in Midland, sponsored by a service league.

Four-Alarm Blaze Threatens Vital Area Of Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A four-alarm fire just off Pennsylvania Avenue threatened an important hotel, a department store, and a government section of the capital before it was brought under control early Wednesday.

Firemen battling the flames in below-freezing weather confined damage to two Eleventh Street buildings across the street from the Washington Evening Star, and around the corner from FBI headquarters.

A fireman, Pvt. Andrew Goldsmith, was injured seriously when a air blast from an exploding third-floor window blew him off a 40-foot ladder.

Near Government Buildings One three-story building occupied by a dance hall, a billiard parlor and a pawnbroker exchange was gutted. A second, housing a chain drug store, watch repair shop and a photographer's studio, was damaged.

Actual dollar damage has not been estimated but probably will not be high. The importance of the fire was due to the area in which it occurred.

Nearby are two large hotels—the Raleigh and the Harrington—and several department stores and government buildings. The latter include the Justice Department and Post Office Department.

The Evening Star, one of the city's largest newspapers, is located just across the street. The Associated Press offices are in this building.

A block away is the old Ford Theater, where Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

Ferguson also said he thinks Ebright "got a dirty deal from the Republicans."

Japan Hands Over Signed Peace Treaty In State Ceremony

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—P. F. T. Minister Yoshida Wednesday voiced hope that Japan's World War II peace treaty will ratify the Japanese peace treaty and make his country "an active and useful member of the family of nations."

Yoshida's message was delivered by an envoy, who turned over to the State Department an official copy of the treaty as ratified this month by the Japanese Parliament, and signed by Emperor Hirohito.

Like a second document delivered to the State Department—a Japanese-verified copy of a peacetime security treaty with the U. S.—the peace treaty was bound in velvet and impressed with the imperial crysanthemum of Japan.

Yoshida expressed Japan's appreciation of "the initiative and leadership taken by the U. S. government" in bringing about the peace settlement.

Undersecretary of State James E. Webb received the documents, in a State Department ceremony.

The treaty becomes effective when it is ratified by a majority of 11 countries which took the lead in the Pacific war, including the United States, Britain's House of Commons voted ratification Monday.

The U. S. Senate is expected to start debate on the treaty early next year.

The other key countries are Australia, Canada, Ceylon, France, Indonesia, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Soviet Russia, which refused to sign at San Francisco, was left out. The separate security treaty, which will keep American military forces in Japan, goes into effect after U. S. Senate ratification alone.

Caudle Claims High Officials Urged Him To Drop Tax Cases

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—T. Lamar Caudle testified Wednesday that members of Congress and other influential persons put "tremendous pressures" on him to drop prosecution of tax offenders while he was head of the Justice Department's tax division.

Caudle, recently fired from his post as assistant attorney general by President Truman, told House investigators:

"There were continuous requests for conferences by honorable people—continuously calling you up—continuously contending you made a mistake by ordering prosecutions."

Caudle didn't name any of those who he said sought to influence him. Nor did the House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating the nation-wide income tax scandals ask him to do so.

"The witness said among those who came to his office or who telephoned him about tax cases were senators, congressmen, presidents of organizations and others of similar stature. 'Every time someone walked in that door, they wanted something,' he said. 'They were honorable men and they wanted action.'"

"You just don't know the pressures put on the assistant attorney general in that office—tremendous pressures," Caudle said earnestly.

War Halts—

The officer said an Eighth Army directive told all units on the front not to fire on Reds unless necessary.

Watchful Waiting "We are not shooting at them unless they shoot at us," the officer said. "It will be a period of watchful waiting while we see how serious the Communists are about our 30-day cease-fire proposal."

The provisional cease-fire line is to become the cease-fire line only if negotiators reach a complete armistice by December 27.

The officer said the Eighth Army order instructed all commanders to "maintain combat effectiveness" to be ready for an Allied offensive in case truce talks stumble.

The officer said all frontline units have been warned not to relax and that the war is not over.

"We are not allowed to send out any more than reconnaissance patrols," he said. "Their mission is just to scout, not to attack."

He said the order also prohibited offensive air strikes against Red positions on the front.

Artillery Restricted The order restricted artillery to counter-battery fire.

"Our men in the companies have been told not to expose themselves unnecessarily," the officer said. "But they have orders to defend themselves against any Communist attack."

"We will be honorable about this affair," he said, "and we hope the Communists will act the same way."

The order said the Allies would hold down offensive action on the ground the 80-day period to "clearly demonstrate the willingness to reach an agreement while preparing for offensive action if negotiations are unreasonably delayed."

The order instructed that present main lines "be defended to the maximum." This meant Allies could counterattack to regain any positions lost to the Reds.

There was nothing to indicate any slackening of jet warfare over Northwest Korea.

Santa Claus— (Continued From Page One) for division—Rebekah Lodge, first; Optimist Club, second; Beta Sigma Phi, honorable mention; junior division—Girl Scout Troop 20, first; Girl Scout Troop 32, second.

Many thousands of Santa lovers lined the streets for blocks and blocks. They came early. They held up the babies and toddlers and watched intently themselves.

Twinkling over the parade route were the silver strings of gay Christmas lights, which were turned on for the first time Tuesday night.

Christmas-themed show windows of Midland's stores attracted the Treasure Hunters.

Everyone was in a gay mood. Many a youngster liked the traffic-clearing motorcycle police as much as he did Santa. The band, too, was a favorite.

Not a few snow-suited boys and girls were carried home in the arms of daddies, pointing back to where the parade had moved, saying: "I told Santa Claus I want a trike, I want this and I want that..." trailing off into a babble as their eyes were getting heavy.

The 1951 Christmas season had arrived in Ever-Growing Midland.

Initial Steps Taken Toward Addition To County Courthouse

The first steps toward the construction of an addition to the Midland County Courthouse have been taken by Commissioners Court, County Judge Clifford C. Keith said Wednesday.

Judge Keith said the architect firm of Haynes and Kirby of Lubbock had been retained by the county to begin preliminary work on designs for an addition.

"It will probably be a year or two," said Judge Keith, "before construction can be undertaken but if Midland County continues to grow, we definitely will need more space."

In addition, he said, would provide larger quarters for the county library, which already has outgrown its present space on the first floor of the courthouse.

Other offices, including those of the county clerk and the sheriff, are crowded at the present time.

The addition, said Judge Keith, probably would be a wing on the north side of the present 20-year-old structure.

It would be financed with a bond issue, which would have to be voted by the taxpayers.

Minister Killed When Small Plane Strikes Airliner

OCALA, FLA.—(AP)—A Methodist minister crashed to his death Tuesday when the small plane he was piloting and an Eastern airliner collided near the Ocala Airport.

The minister, 33-year-old John Henry Macy of Anthony, Fla., was sole occupant of the Civil Air Patrol cub plane.

No one among the crew or the 7 passengers aboard the twin-engine airliner was hurt.

The pilot of the airliner, J. E. Bishop of Atlanta, said he did not see the smaller craft until a few seconds before the impact.

"It felt like hitting a small bird," Bishop said.

Macy, an Air Force veteran of World War II, was on a pilot's proficiency flight when his L-4 cub was clipped by the propeller of the passenger ship at an altitude of about 800 feet.

The airliner suffered only slight damage to one of its propellers.

Congressmen Invite Tito To Visit U. S.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA.—(AP)—A group of American congressmen Wednesday unofficially invited Premier Josip Tito to visit the United States.

The marshal said the "press of duties" prevented him from accepting at this time, but that he looks forward to such a trip in the future.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log-

Northwest Dawson County Wildcat
1 1/2 miles northwest of Lamesa, will probably be plugged and abandoned as a failure in the Pennsylvanian lime reef.
That prospector took a one hour and ten minute drillstem test at 8,600-8,750 feet. Recovery was 279 feet of drilling mud, 465 feet of drilling mud cut with salt water and 5,580 feet of salt water.
No Shows of Petroleum
There were no shows of oil and gas. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 540 pounds and 3,070 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 25 minutes was 3,465 pounds.

Top of the Pennsylvanian lime reef was called at 8,600 feet. That gives it a datum of minus 5,399 feet. It correlates to be 252 feet low on the top of the reef to the same point in Star Jarld Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Pool, one and one-half miles to the southwest.
No Other Indications
The Monerief No. 1 Cobden has not logged any shows of possible production in any of the formations above the reef.
Some interested operators are attempting to work up a deal to drill it deeper. They are not very optimistic regarding the possibilities of such an effort being effected.

Ellenburger DST Gets No Shows In Midland Wildcat
Drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger failed to develop shows of oil or gas in The Blackwood & Nichols Company No. 1 Moss Wildcat in Central-North Midland County.
The section from 12,949 to 12,990 feet was tested one hour. There was a slight blow of air during the first 30 minutes the tool was open.
Recovery was 1,825 feet of clear water blanket, 180 feet of muddy water blanket and 30 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or formation water.
The Ellenburger was topped at 12,949 feet, elevation 2,829 feet.
Operator was preparing to core the project deeper.
Drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block X, H. P. Hilliard survey and five miles northwest of the city of Midland.

Pumping Discovery From Spraberry Is Finaled In Midland
Seven miles south of the city of Midland and six and one-quarter miles Southeast of the Warfield-Spraberry field, The Texas Company completed its No. 1-B NCT 2 Clarence Scharbauer as a small pumping discovery from the Spraberry.
It was finaled for a daily potential of 44.17 barrels of 33.6-gravity oil plus 42.2 per cent water. Production was from open hole at 7,688-8,050 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 78-1.
Location is 1,996 feet from north and 666 feet from east lines of section 43, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey. That puts it 13 miles west of production in the Tex-Harvey field.

Barbeck Succeeds Baumel As Chief Engineer Of RRC
AUSTIN—(AP)—Jack Baumel, chief engineer of the Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division, has resigned effective January 1.
He will become technical advisor on oil and gas to the government of Venezuela.
Baumel will be succeeded by A. H. Barbeck, assistant chief engineer. George Singletary will be advanced to Barbeck's post. These changes were announced by Olin Culbertson, chairman of the Commission.

Wilshire Plans Deep Prospector In Upton
The Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., is to start drilling by or before March 1, 1962 on its No. 1 Timmins which is to be a 13,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Northwest Upton County.
It will be one and one-quarter miles southwest of the nearest production in the Pegasus field which produces from the Ellenburger and from the Pennsylvanian—and which has indicated production in several other zones.
The Wilshire No. 1 Timmins will be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block 41, T-5-S, T&P survey.

Runnels Is To Get Four Prospectors
Locations for four wildcats were staked in Runnels County.
Southern Minerals Corporation and La Gloria Corporation No. 1 R. H. Herring Jr., projected 6,000 feet with rotary tools, will be 330 feet from north and 1,700 feet from east lines of section 454, J De La Garza survey.

It is five and one-half miles west and slightly north of Ballinger, Northwest Of Nerton.
Five miles northwest of Nerton, J. W. King of Ballinger No. 1 Mrs. J. Stubbsfield will be 1,230 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of J. F. Wrenn survey No. 275.
Location is three quarters of a mile west and slightly south of Hill & Hill No. 1 Kirkman, a 5,522-foot failure.
Bouchard & Callihan Rotary Company No. 1-A Ben Nitch estate, slated 4,750-foot rotary wildcat one-eighth of a mile northwest of Winters, was spotted 330 feet from south and west lines of the 63-acre lease in the most northern portion of D. Floyd survey No. 518.

Greer Will Drill Outpost To Pool In SW Upton Area
John L. Greer Drilling Company, Inc., No. 1-A Kincaid is to be drilled as a one-half-mile east stepout to production in the Hurdle-White-Horse field of Southwest Upton County.
Site is 330 feet from west and 990 feet from south lines of section 18, block 1, MK&T survey. It will be dug to around 2,500 feet, with cable tool.
Extension To NE Pecos Pool Finaled
La Gloria Corporation of Corpus Christi has completed its No. 1 Clarkson as an extension to the Krasner-Clear Fork field of Northeast Pecos County.
The well flowed 24 hours through an open choke, natural, to make an initial production of 85.3 barrels of 37.5-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. Total fluid recovered was cut with 44 per cent water.
Through Perforations
Production is coming through perforations in seven-inch casing at 3,035-3,040 feet. Oil string is cemented at 3,820 feet. Pay was topped at 3,035 feet.
The project was drilled to a total depth of 4,516 feet in the Ellenburger but did not find any possibilities of production, so it was plugged back to the Clear Fork for completion.
Location is 660 feet from north and 2,970 feet from east lines of section 82, block 11, H&GN survey and five miles southwest of Girvin.

Lion Is To Deepen Failure In Crockett
Lion Oil Company is scheduled to deepen a 7,429-foot failure to 10,500 feet in North-Central Crockett County.
It is the firm's No. 1 Neal, wildcat 16 miles southwest of Big Lake which was plugged at 7,429 in November, 1945.
Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 66, block BE, EL&RR survey.
The project is one location east of the operators No. 2 Neal, recent 5,390-foot failure and three and three-quarter miles east of production in the shallow World field.
