Slightly more than one mile northeast of production in the three-well Prentiss field of North-east York County, York & Harper, Inc., will drill its No. 1, J. E. Bryson as an 8,000-foot project. Location is 690 feet from south and east lines of section 21, block K, pal survey. That puts it seven miles northwest of Tokio. Operations are to start by December 15.

Gulf Is To Complete Ellenburger Opener In C-W Crane Region

Gulf Oil Corporation is preparing to complete its No. 7-E W. A. Estes, Ellenburger discovery in Central-West Crane County. This new well opener in the Sand Hills-Holt field was deepened from 4,900 feet, where it had been a producer in the Holt, middle Permian line.

Pipe On Bottom

It drilled to a total depth of 8,019 feet in the Ellenburger and cemented casing at that point. The pipe was perforated at 7,925-80 feet and at 7,970-95 feet. Those intervals were treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

A Three-Hour Flow

During the next three hours the well flowed 108 barrels of 46-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 1,818-1. The wildcard continued to flow for another four hours through the open two-inch tubing. During that period it made 47 barrels of oil. Gas-oil ratio was 2,682-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 160 pounds.

Will Complete Soon

After the drilling machinery has been removed operator probably will re-acidize the Ellenburger perforations and then complete the wildcard as the opener of new pay for the Sand Hills area.

Cities Service Spots Ellenburger Wildcat In Scurry Region

In the central-south portion of the original Diamond-M Canyon field of Southwest Scurry County, Cities Service Oil Company spotted location for an 8,200-foot Ellenburger wildcard.

Philippines Volcano Spews Death

At Least 141 Known Killed By Eruption

MANILA—(AP)—Hibok Hibok Volcano, in the Central Philippines, erupted Tuesday, killing at least 141 villagers. Rescue workers, clawing frantically in smoking ashes which covered half a dozen settlements, expressed fear the casualty toll would reach several hundred.

The Red Cross reported the toll and said the figure was growing hourly.

Scores of Filipinos burned by red-hot ash or streams of lava were treated at makeshift hospitals set up on Camiguin Island.

The volcano blew its top like an atomic explosion. It spread a layer of thick ash over half a dozen siltos, crossroads clusters of farm houses. It still was smoking late Tuesday.

The Philippines Weather Bureau seismologist said about four square miles on Camiguin Island was covered by red-hot ashes.

The seismologist reported the ashes and noxious fumes limited rescuers to working on the outer fringes of the volcano's destruction.

Appeal For Plasma
Miss Bonifacia Caid, Red Cross representative on Camiguin, appealed for plasma and other medical aid.

A. U. S. Air Force amphibian plane will leave early Wednesday with needed supplies and several doctors. A U. S. Navy seaplane will follow with Red Cross workers and more supplies.

Land planes cannot reach the island directly. The nearest air base is 40 miles away on Mindanao Island.

The city hall at Mambajao, principal city of Camiguin, was transferred into the primary emergency hospital to treat burned victims.

The Weather Bureau seismologist joined the Red Cross in a plea for help.

The seismologist said the overall situation at the volcano apparently had improved but added he had "no confidence" that the eruption was subsiding.

The official, whose name was not disclosed, said the volcano was still erupting.

Cool Front Brings Freeze To Panhandle

By The Associated Press
Freezing weather doctored part of the Texas Panhandle early Tuesday in the wake of a mild cool front.

The norther, which dropped temperatures only a few degrees over the state, also churned up showers in East Texas and along the middle and upper coast.

The heaviest rain the last 24 hours was 1.81 inches at Beaumont. The lowest overnight minimum was 30 degrees at Amarillo.

Monday's maximums ranged from 85 degrees at Corpus Christi to 66 at Dalhart.

Egypt Reverses Decision To Oust AP Bureau Chief

CAIRO, EGYPT—(AP)—The Egyptian government Monday ruled that Associated Press Correspondent Fred Zusy may continue his work in Egypt, revoking its earlier decision to oust him.

Dr. Abel Basit Al Haggagi, director of the Interior Ministry's press department, telephoned the decision to Zusy.

An order to reinstate his residence permit was signed by Interior Minister Fouad Serag El Din Pash.

No official explanation was given in Cairo for the decision to expel him nor the reversal of that decision. The latter action, however, followed a telephone call to Serag El Din from Egypt's ambassador in Washington, Kamal Abdul Rahim Bey.

U.S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery had protested the incident as a "most unfortunate consequence." Cairo press reports had accused Zusy of "bad faith" and of sending pro-British dispatches.

Eight Die In Denver B-29 Crash

DENVER—(AP)—Authorities Tuesday sifted through the charred remains of a B-29 bomber, seeking to determine what caused the giant plane to smash into an exclusive residential area, killing eight crewmen and injuring six. One civilian was injured.

Lowry Air Force Base personnel worked throughout the night cleaning up debris left when the four-engine craft, limping in for a landing Monday, smashed through five homes like a giant plow and exploded with a "big whoosh."

"It was well around here for a while," said Sol L. Gertz, whose home was demolished completely. "Thank God my wife is safe—that's all I'm interested in."

None of the damaged homes was occupied at the time. Mrs. Murphy Thinsley, 58, was hospitalized with face burns, a hip injury and a possible fractured arm.

The big plane, returning to Lowry from a gunnery training mission after the failure of one of its engines, skipped across the top of one home, tearing a gaping hole in the roof, bounced into a second and then smashed full force into a third.

Flaming gas and wreckage was thrown hundreds of feet. It fired two other homes.

"I thought we were going to make it," Flight Engineer Sgt. William A. Zippel, 29, of Baudette, Minn., said from a hospital bed. His condition was described as good.

"I thought we were coming in good shape. I didn't realize we were in danger. The next thing I knew the crash came."

Residents of the damaged homes which included almost a dozen children—were either away from home or escaped from their homes as the debris burst into flames.

General firemen and volunteer rescue workers were burned or overcome by smoke as they searched for possible missing or injured.

The base public information office said the plane was on a gunnery mission.

Post office workers here are wading into the annual deluge of Christmas mail. Postmaster N. G. Oates said Tuesday.

"In another week, we will be swamped," the postmaster added. "We hope Midland citizens will realize how much they can help us, and themselves, by early mailing."

To underscore the importance of the situation, the postmaster noted that during normal periods, post office cancellations here average 27,000 pieces per day. Cancellations now are running about 32,000 per day and at the peak of the Christmas rush will go up to 80,000 pieces per day.

Post office windows are most crowded at lunch time, so Postmaster Oates advises that packages be mailed before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. The lines will be shorter then, he pointed out.

Christmas greeting cards and packages for out-of-state delivery should be posted by December 11. Those for local delivery should be posted at least a week before Christmas Day.

Christmas cards and packages for out-of-state delivery should be posted by December 11. Those for local delivery should be posted at least a week before Christmas Day.

TRUCE WILL COME TOO LATE—A rifle on a snow-covered mound marks the temporary grave of a UN soldier killed in battle in Korea. For him the ceasefire already is in effect, but any truce will come too late. On the road, winding past the spot, a UN convoy moves up to the front.

Two New Polio Cases Listed As Odessans Continue Clean-Up

ODESSA—(AP)—Work-weary citizens kept their anti-polio clean-up drive Tuesday as the polio toll here continued to climb.

Two more cases of the disease were recorded, raising the total for December to 12 and for the year to 64.

Sandra Jean Palmer, 13, and A. W. Beck, Jr., 25, who once were in the polio ward, now were back in. They had not been counted previously.

Also prompting the clean-up was a large number of infant diarrhea cases. Fifty-three cases were recorded last week.

Thousands of residents turned out Monday in a campaign to halt the polio epidemic sweeping through this city and surrounding areas.

More than 1,500 city trucks were gathering loads of leaves and other debris which the local citizenry had raked up. The work was expected to last at least through Wednesday.

McCamey Bans Transfers
Horace Slaughter, president of the McCamey School Board, announced Monday night his board had voted not to accept transfer students from the Odessa Independent School District for 21 days after application or until the epidemic was declared ended by the State Board of Health.

Four Odessa students had enrolled in McCamey schools since the polio outbreak, and McCamey parents were said to be worried. McCamey is in Upton County, southwest of here.

The new cases Monday were: Leta Ann Searcy, 18 months and Mary Jane Harris, two and one-half years, both of Odessa, and Mrs. C. Robertson, 28, Penwell, about 15 miles southwest of Odessa.

Appeal For Nurses To Help In Odessa Brings No Results

FORT WORTH—(AP)—The City-County Hospital Tuesday reported it could spare no experienced nurses to help fight the polio epidemic in Odessa.

The Tarrant County Chapter of the National Polio Foundation is attempting to send such help from here to Odessa County.

A general appeal to trained polio nurses in Fort Worth still has received no response. The chapter here turned to City-County Hospital for possible help after waiting three days for volunteers.

But the hospital reported it could not spare any polio nurses because of the high number of patients in the polio ward here.

Teachers Visit On First B-E Day

More than 300 Midland school teachers, who have been teaching the city's children about the "free enterprise and economy which has made America great," were learning Tuesday just what makes it tick.

In groups of five, 10 and 15 they were learning democracy's lesson by going into stores, offices and industrial plants to see how they are operated.

It all is part of the Business-Education Day sponsored jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the Midland public schools.

"We have heard and talked about America's free enterprise system," said M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker and civic leader who addressed the 300 teachers as they gathered Tuesday morning at the Tower Theater.

"But it has been too much lip service and not enough intelligent thinking."

"But it is something that is all-important to every American citizen."

The world is looking to that principle which made America great for their own salvation and for their own freedom.

"It is important that you teachers, who have the responsibility of teaching our youth, learn first what makes up this great free enterprise and economy which has made America great."

School Supt. Frank Monroe said he was elated with the enthusiasm shown by both the teachers and the businessmen in cooperating in sponsoring the Business-Education Day, the first in Midland.

"It is important," he said, "that the teachers have an appreciation of a system of government that provides more freedom, more opportunities, more luxuries and more everything else than any other system which ever has been devised."

Delbert Downing, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the day was a success.

Midlander Given Jail Term Under Gambling Statutes

WICHITA, KAN.—(AP)—James J. B. Boezeman, 62, Midland, Texas, pleaded guilty Monday to federal charges of violating gambling laws.

He was sentenced to one year's imprisonment on each of five counts of transporting slot machines to Hutchinson, Kan. The sentences run concurrently.

FBI agents identified Boezeman as a federally licensed gambling device repairman.

He was arrested by the FBI in October and indicted by a Kansas City federal grand jury.

No fine was assessed.

Fried Chicken Saves Bankroll

LURBOCK—(AP)—A fried chicken saved C. M. Byrne's bankroll. Monday night, he said, Lyle Johnson drove into their garage after a day's work at the cafe.

A gunman appeared and demanded they get up their hands.

In the darkness, Byrne raised only one arm. Johnson raised both arms and a box dropped to the ground. The handoff grabbed the box and ran.

The box contained fried chicken. A sack under Byrne's unrinsed arm contained $500, the cafe's receipts for the day.

Six Servicemen Die In Florida Crash Of Dallas Naval Plane

PENSACOLA, FLA.—(AP)—A Navy plane crashed beside the scenic highway along the bluffs overlooking Escambia Bay Monday night, and six servicemen were killed.

Only a few minutes earlier the plane apparently was in no trouble and was coming in for a standard instrument landing, a Civil Aeronautics Authority tower operator said.

It smashed into the ground about 30 feet off the highway and just at the edge of a residential area. Both the plane's engines were buried out of sight in the ground and its fuselage dug a pit that became a burning furnace as the plane burst into flames.

The plane had left Miami a few hours earlier bound for Corry Field here. A Navy spokesman at Miami said the plane's home base was Dallas.

Explosion After Crash
A Navy man who did not identify himself said the fact that the wreckage was not scattered indicated the explosion came after the crash.

A Navy spokesman said the dead included the plane's crew of two Marines and four passengers—two Navy enlisted men, one Air Force officer and one Army enlisted man.

The Dallas Naval Air Station identified two of the dead as Lt. Col. Quinton Roy Johns, 33, and Lt. Col. Pat Winslow Densman, 37. Johns, whose home was listed as Miami, Fla., was commanding officer of the Marine Air Detachment at the Dallas air station, and Densman was commander of Marine Air Reserve Fighter Squadron 111 at the station. Densman's address was listed as Grand Prairie, Texas.

Firemen Douse Blaze At Buckingham Palace

LONDON—(AP)—Fire engines raced to Buckingham Palace Tuesday and firemen put out a small blaze in the palace roof started by a workman's blowtorch.

The workmen were repairing lead facing on the roof, and some rafters caught fire.

Reds Offer New Truce Limitations

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—Communist negotiators Tuesday insisted on four limitations to supervision of a truce in Korea. The Allies objected to all four.

The Reds may have other restrictions the Allies don't like. But these four came out in response to lengthy questioning by United Nations delegates in a newly-created subcommittee.

1. The Reds would be free to build air fields during an armistice. So would the UN Command. But the Allies have plenty and the Reds haven't a single usable field in Korea.

2. Neutral inspection would be limited strictly to ports of entry. The Allies want inspection teams free to go anywhere in Korea.

3. A ban on troop rotation. That would mean an end to American veterans coming home after a year of service.

4. No interference with or inspection of any reconstruction in Korea. Communist newsmen at Panmunjom said much construction work in North Korea is underground and the Reds don't want the Allies to know where it is.

The new subcommittee—two men from each side—was created Tuesday in an effort to beat a December 27 deadline. A previous subcommittee drew a cease-fire line across the front to become effective if an armistice is signed by December 27. The first subcommittee took more than three months.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the five-man UN Command negotiating team, tried to get more speed into negotiations. He proposed another subcommittee be created to start work on a clause for exchange.

Thieves Return To Complete Job
C. O. Rich of Odessa stopped shortly after 2 a.m. Tuesday at an all-night cafe on the Rankin Highway south of Midland and went inside for a bite to eat.

When he returned, his suitcase with all his clothes in it, was missing. But the thieves hadn't touched his sleeping bag with two mattresses and sheets.

He went back in the cafe and reported his loss by telephone to police.

When he returned to his car, the sleeping bag was gone, too.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY—(AP)—The United States Tuesday demanded the release of four American airmen forced down in their plane by Soviet fighters in Western Hungary on November 19.

AUSTIN—(AP)—Louis Ferrantello of Dallas, under indictment on gambling charges there, Tuesday was convicted of contempt for refusal to testify before the Legislature's Crime Investigating Committee and assessed the maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and 12-months in jail.

CAIRO, EGYPT—(AP)—Twenty Egyptians were reported killed Tuesday as British troops clashed with Egyptian police and civilians in the second day of bloody fighting in the Suez Canal Zone. Fifty persons were reported killed in similar fighting Monday.

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Two doctors and a pharmacist Tuesday reported they had given 35 cases of poliomyelitis a new Mexican treatment and had cured eight cases. They said most of the others "will be discharged as cured" within a few days.

Two Midlanders Enter Gonzales Polio Foundation

GONZALES—Two Midland children have been admitted to the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children after being stricken with polio while a third has just been discharged.

Admitted during the last week were eight-year-old Loretta Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Graham, 2208 1/2 West Florida Street, and three-year-old Charles David Capps, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Calvin Capps, 807 West Louisiana Street.

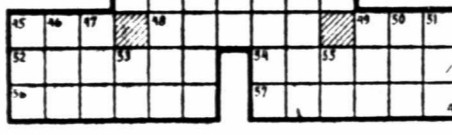

Both children were stricken with polio in October. Ten-year-old Kay Susan King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. King, 1406 South Weatherford Street, has been discharged from the Gonzales treatment center. She was stricken with polio in 1946 and was admitted to the hospital here last August. Although she has been discharged from the hospital, a series of periodic check-backs at the Gonzales Foundation has been scheduled in order that the hospital may check her progress and check the fit and condition of braces and other appliances.

K&F Club Members Will Hear Noted War Correspondent

Midland Knife & Fork Club members Tuesday night will hear an unbiased, eye witness, uncensored report on world conditions by John Morley, noted war correspondent and columnist, at their December dinner-meeting in the high school cafeteria. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

"A Correspondent's Uncensored Report on the World Crisis" will be the subject of Morley's address. Three directors of the club will be elected at a brief business meeting which will precede the lecture, according to Carroll L. Thomas, president.

His latest global assignment took Morley to Korea where he is accredited officially as a war correspondent in that theater. He also covered the oil crisis in Iran and the tensions in other Near East countries. During World War II, Morley was the director of a U.S. Military Intelligence campaign against foreign spies. He is the author of "I Believe" and other best seller books.

Cantor Wants More Money For Life Story Film Rights

By ERKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively yours: Eddie Cantor "hot" again at the movie studios because of his TV click? You bet. And, hold on, he just turned down a biggie—the story of his life!

Warner Brothers were ready with the pen and the dotted line three years ago to film "The Eddie Cantor Story," then begged off because of the movie boxoffice slump. Now they're after him again but Eddie's holding out for more money on the theory: "It's the only life story I've got. A lot of things have happened to me in three years," he told me between rehearsals for his once-a-month TV show. "I'm back on the air and on TV. Several other studios and L. B. Mayer are interested."

The script is ready to go with plans for Eddie to dub 14 hit songs a la "The Jolson Story."

Franchot Tone and Barbara Payton called it a day on the same day Barbara was told her movie contract with William Cagney had been dropped. Coincidental? The fireworks between Shelley Winters and Scott Brady already have started on UI's "Untamed." Maybe they'll bill it Shelley Winters vs. Scott Brady.

Now Rita Hayworth is having two dates a night. She showed up with dance director Hermes Pan at the Mocambo and was huddled with agent Charles Feldman a few hours later at the Encore. Film On Dempsey

Jack Dempsey is admitting that his agents are huddling with 20th Century Fox story editors on a deal to bring his life story to the big screens in 1952. The story line favored by the studio will eliminate Estelle Taylor and Hannah Williams as characters in the screenplay.

Mary Anderson and cameraman Leon Shamroy, once expected to make the altar grade, have called off their romance.

Mario Lanza's new MGM musical, "Because You're Mine," will have 14 songs, including "The Lord's Prayer." Three sets of writers finally came through with a script.

Another science-fiction movie coming up—"Red Planet," a 1950 peek into the world's first contact with a civilization on Mars. Andrea King and Peter Graves are costarred. "The biggest eye-opener about the yarn is that it's based on a Broadway play produced in 1932.

There's no immediate movie sale in sight for "The Producer," Richard Brooks' novel about Hollywood with an honest and understanding approach to the problems of movie-

A Refreshing Effort

Roscoe Drummond, chief of the Christian Science Monitor's Washington bureau, has found a remarkable twist in the capital. Somebody in government is trying to get something done without creating a new agency to do it.

Specifically, the National Security Resources Board is trying to promote the dispersal of new industry in the United States for safety reasons. Says the board: "There is no need of a bureau in Washington or elsewhere in the federal government to do this job."

Like a cool, refreshing wind, isn't it? And apparently the effort is meeting with considerable initial success despite the board's almost heretical views.

If it works out, maybe others will be inclined toward this unorthodoxy and away from the prevailing notion that you're not in business until you've denuded the capital warehouses of every available desk and have hired people to lean on them.

Yet one shouldn't be too hopeful. Back in 1941, Washington got a lesson like this and profited little.

Top government officials were meeting on the Sunday after Pearl Harbor, desperately concerned with our dwindling stocks of natural rubber. With supplies from the Dutch East Indies cut off, rationing at the earliest possible moment was indicated.

An all-day harangue found veteran federal officials insisting it would take six months to create a rationing system. They envisioned training a large field force to be displaced to every corner of the land to operate it.

At this juncture, up spoke a man who was not enamored in the Washington tangle: "I can do it in three weeks."

Nobody believed him, but the matter was so urgent they finally told him to go ahead and see what he could do. The man was Frank Bane, executive director of the Council of State Governments, and a sort of minister without portfolio to the 48 governors. He was banking on help from them, and a lot of local people besides.

He got it. Alerted by wire, the governors sprang into action. Volunteers spread out in every town, ferretting out office space, furniture, willing hands to serve on ration boards. With a big map, a set of pins, a telephone and a small headquarters staff, Bane kept tabs on the tremendous organization effort. Where pressure was needed, it was applied. A few preliminary regional meetings had helped build up steam.

When the Monday morning deadline for the start of rationing arrived, the set-up was ready. In three weeks the foundation had been laid for a system that was to serve—on a greatly expanded basis—throughout World War II.

You would think this sort of showing would make a dent on the bureaucratic mind, but it doesn't seem to. The Red Tape Brigade, drawing upon an inexhaustible arsenal of unintelligible directives, soon regained control. Jealously it has guarded and enlarged its domain ever since.

All the poor citizen can do is hope that, because it is 10 years later, the story will be different this time and the paper legions of Washington officialdom will be forced to retreat to previously confused positions.

Fish Story

There seems to be some question as to just what kind of fish it was that chased President Truman out of the water as he was finishing his swim at "Truman Beach" in Key West. First reports indicated it was a school of ferocious barracuda. This was not substantiated and there was speculation that the finny intruders simply were a couple of friendly mackerel, possibly bent on sight-seeing. Apparently no one present had considered the possibility that the fish were a welcoming committee of red herrings.

Repeat Performance

The current word is that President Truman is going to throw his whole 1948 program at Congress again in January. Plus some recent additions. That means Taft-Hartley repeal, national health insurance, possibly a modified Brannan farm plan, stiffer price controls, higher taxes, perhaps power to expand industry under government auspices.

Stronger controls have a chance to get through, especially if inflation gathers momentum between now and the new year. The Senate approved revised controls this fall, but the House shelved the matter on the ground time for study was too limited.

As for the rest of the program, observers agree it hasn't a chance. Truman's clear purpose is to put his opponents on the defensive at the polls, whether he be a candidate or not. The tactic worked for him in 1948. But history doesn't necessarily repeat itself. The political facts of life are more complex today.

"I Can Make Him Pull More And For Less Oats"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: U. S. production faces serious crisis; Many factories must go on war basis or shut down altogether; Portland newspapers criticize MacArthur for refusing to speak to veterans.

WASHINGTON — Behind Defense Mobilizer Wilson's sudden trip to Key West not only was lagging production but the possibility that most major civilian manufacturing, such as automobiles, may have to close down in 1952.

For the inside fact is that the government might have to go on an all-out war footing, with the manufacture of autos, refrigerators, TV sets, etc., banned entirely.

The choice of planes vs. autos was laid down by Manly Fleischmann, the nation's forthright production chief, at a recent secret meeting of Defense Agency heads.

"If the production of consumer durable goods is reduced more than an additional ten per cent, it will be necessary to convert entirely to defense," he warned bluntly. This would mean "abandonment of the basic concept of maintaining a substantial level of production of consumer durables while at the same time meeting the needs of the defense mobilization program," Fleischmann added.

The production crisis has been caused by shortages and strikes at home, plus stepped up military shipments to Europe. The unfortunate fact is that military production is lagging dangerously behind procurement schedules. For example, the manufacture of jet planes is nine months behind schedule. Yet the Air Force right now has had to revise its earlier schedule drastically upward because of losses over Korea and improvements in Russian planes.

Fleischmann argued that the manufacture of automobile, refrigerators, television sets and other consumer durables, "on the average, have already reduced to 60 per cent of their 1950 rates of production."

"Consumer durables cannot be reduced more than an additional ten per cent and still produce at a profit," he warned mobilization officials at the closed-door meeting.

Note — Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson's plan has been to keep the nation's factories producing civilian goods, and increase defense production by expanding and building new plants. The only trouble has been that this has been too slow to keep up with the Defense Department's needs.

Malibag

E. C. Washington, D. C. — My brief reference to General MacArthur's failure to speak to hospitalized veterans at Portland, Ore., was mild compared to the comments of Portland newspapers and the Portland chairman of the MacArthur Welcoming Committee, Republican.

The Oregonian, a GOP newspaper, commented: "The one speech Gen. MacArthur was expected to make in Portland... left some 500 patients of the Veterans Hospital bewildered and disappointed. Ambulatory patients awaited the event from the doors of the big hospital. Other patients crowded hospital windows expecting to hear a speech from the general's public address system. The hundreds of patients who could not see the dramatic arrival waited patiently with bedside earphones."

The caravan arrived, MacArthur alighted, saw the cheering patients, some in wheel chairs, with nurse attendants. Shook hands. Flash bulbs lighted the scene. Photographers arranged the General, Mrs. MacArthur, Governor Douglas McKay, Mayor Dorothy McCullough and dozens of others into pictorial poses.

Two generals and two colonels who became Japanese prisoners on Bataan held brief reunion with their old commander as shutters snapped.

The big MacArthur party retired. The big hospital buildings, concluded the Oregonian, "where the patients watched behind closed windows and the bedridden neither saw nor heard the 'old soldier' or his voice, were silent."

Later the Portland Journal, an anti-Truman Democratic paper, quoted E. C. Sammons, GOP chairman of the MacArthur Welcoming Committee as having telephoned Gen. Courtney Whitney to deny Whitney's assertion that MacArthur did not know he was supposed to address the hospitalized veterans over the loudspeaker.

"On at least three occasions at the hospital the general had been advised he was expected to speak over the loudspeaker and into the radio microphones which had been set up," the Journal quoted Sammons as saying.

"The original idea of the general to speak at the hospital developed in a telephone conversation between Sammons and Whitney," the Journal stated. "MacArthur had specifically asked that the parade go 'past a veterans hospital if you have one.'"

Sammons (talking to Gen. Whitney over the phone) said: "There was not a single reason why MacArthur should not have spoken. As one old soldier to another, he could have told the boys of his thanks for what they had done."

Jacoby On Bridge

A strong contingent of Canadian players usually attends our national bridge tournaments, and this year the Canadians will undoubtedly turn out in large numbers since the scene of the national championship is Detroit.

The hand shown today was bid and played by two Canadian ex-

Table showing bridge card hands for North, West, East, and South (D). Includes suit and card distributions.

Miss Roncarelli saw the hand-writing on the wall. Her partner said he had no spade strength; and she had none in her own hand. A no-trump contract was clearly a bad gamble. Hence she bid the game in clubs instead.

The defenders might have taken two spade tricks, but West made the somewhat understandable opening of a trump. Now declarer could draw trumps, cash the top diamonds and enter dummy with a trump to discard a spade on the established ten of diamonds. Later on, the success of the heart finesse gave declarer twelve tricks for a well-earned top.

Have a Laugh

By Boyce House

A man was walking along followed by a dog. Another man said, "I'll give you $5 for that dog." The other replied, "No, that dog is my wife's pet and if I were to sell him, she'd cry her eyes out. Tell you what I'll do, though; make it $10 and we'll let 'er cry."

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Once more Alma Conroy, woman jewelry designer for the exclusive House of Trumbull in New York, is in low spirits because her husband Tommy apparently is a failure. An opening in the House of Trumbull is given to someone else because Tommy is "not the caliber" for the position.

ALMA CONROY paused a little before she went on with the bad news—that Tommy wouldn't get the job he wanted at The House.

Tommy had his back to her now and was mixing a drink. "They want a settled man, someone who is loyal to The House," he tried to explain. "And—oh, Tommy, perhaps Mr. Greig knew that you sometimes drink too much and what with having to handle those precious things when you photographed them. . . . I hope not, but I'm afraid that's what he thought. For you are a wonderful photographer—it's such a pity that you always seem to spoil your own chances."

Tommy looked at her over his shoulder and, surprisingly, laughed. "Thanks for the lecture!" he said. "Well, let the old fuddy-duddy keep his confounded photography. I've got something better!"

"Where?" She was startled. "Right at Trumbull's. A big-time job—and you didn't get it for me either, my girl!"

"Tommy! But that's wonderful, dear! What sort of a job?" "I can't tell you."

"Nonsense—why not?" He came over, put down his drink and took her face between his long hands. "Do you know that places in Trumbull's class do a lot of confidential business?"

She nodded. "I suppose so. I never thought of it!" "Well, that's all I can tell you—is that why you were out with Bright Muncie?"

Tommy shot her a quick look from under his heavy brows. He looked angry. "I said, we are not going to discuss details. I don't even want it known that I'm working with Bright. He made that plain. Now will you shut up and believe that your husband is on the big time at last?"

"I want to believe it! Oh, Tommy, how I want to believe it—but you're not to soon before. This time I'd like a little proof."

"Okay! How about this?" He hung his hat aside and thrust the package he had brought home into her hands. They snook a little as she unwrapped it, feeling numbly by the statement he had just made and curiously detached from all reality. Under the tissue paper inside was a stole of gorgeous silver fox. She lifted it out, staring incredulously.

"You must have worked awfully hard for this!" she said uncertainly. Tommy gave a short laugh. "Easiest money I ever made!" he said. "Try it on—it won't bite!" He more, it's all paid for. From me to you with love."

THEN the years of quarreling seemed to fall away from her like a tattered cloak leaving her naked before the old passion which she had sometimes felt was dead. His arms were around her, his lips

Norman Fuson of Lamesa, an employe of a drilling company, suffered a shoulder injury during the weekend when he was struck by a mud jet. He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Kennel Club Gets Certificate For Donation To Lab

The West Texas Kennel Club has received a certificate of participation for its donation to the Cornell Research Laboratory for Diseases of Dogs. George Woodford, president of the club, announced at its monthly meeting held Sunday in Hotel Scharbauer. This new laboratory is devoted to long range research on diseases of dogs. It is supported entirely by gifts from kennel clubs and individuals throughout America.

Four new members were voted into the club at Sunday's meeting. They are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kelley, boxer enthusiasts, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hudson, German short-hair pointer fanciers.

Plans were formulated for a series of clinics on the various breeds. The program will begin with the January meeting, which will be a clinic on the boxer and will be conducted by F. B. Pennycook, who will show and discuss several specimens of the breed. The meeting, open to members and other interested persons, will be held at the kennels of Alan Johnson, January 8.

Britain Won't Change To Decimal System

LONDON.—(AP)—Britain has decided against converting this nation's currency to the decimal system.

The new Conservation Chancellor of the Exchequer, Richard Austin Butler, told the House of Commons that suggestions to divide the shilling into 10 pennies—instead of the present 12—just aren't practical.

"The replacement of the existing bronze coinage by new coins of different value would involve an impossible burden on our present resources of material and labor. The alternative of increasing by 20 per cent the value of the bronze coinage now in circulation is likewise unsatisfactory," he declared.

INJURED AT RIG

Mack Barker, 611 North Colorado Street, received contusions and abrasions of the legs when he was struck by tongs at a rig during the weekend. He was treated at Western Clinic-Hospital.

HOSPITALIZED

C. B. Meade, employe of the Mabco Drilling Company, suffered a back injury Monday when a piece of equipment fell on him at a rig. He was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital.

Monroe Outlines Asbury Circles Polio Prevention Have Business, In City Schools Program Meets

Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland schools, Monday discussed the steps that are being taken by the schools to prevent polio here.

He announced that all the schools would be sprayed by Wednesday afternoon and reminded parents to see that their children washed their hands before eating.

His talk was given at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher City Council in Room 112 of the high school.

Mrs. Thomas A. Hendricks, parliamentary procedure chairman, reported that seven persons had completed the procedure course conducted by Mrs. T. J. Smith, district parliamentarian. Mrs. E. J. Murphy, state convention delegate, gave a report on convention activities. She said special emphasis throughout was placed on good citizenship and the necessity for Americans to exercise their voting privilege. She also reported on a talk, "The People and Their Schools," given by Dr. Willard C. Goslin of Peabody College.

Mrs. Stanley Drake, newly-elected state council chairman, gave a brief talk on the part a city council should play in P-TA work. She stressed that the council must legislate to local units. Mrs. Joe Chastain, council legislative chairman, asked parents to pay their poll taxes.

Guests at the meeting were A. C. Murphy and Lola Tullis, University of Texas consultants, and Myron Cunningham, head of curricular services for the Abilene schools.

Mrs. Everett Is To Organize Writers Club

Mrs. L. M. Everett of Dallas, state president of the National League of American Pen Women, will interview writers and artists in Midland Wednesday in preparation of organizing a branch of the club here.

The League was founded in 1897 for the mutual benefit of its members engaged in creative work with pen, pencil and brush. It also was organized for the stimulation, promotion and protection of literary, artistic and musical productions of high quality.

It brings together the women engaged in similar creative work for purposes of acquaintance and fellowship and for the promotion and protection of freedom of the press.

Interior decorations and workers with crafts are eligible for membership.

Offers Broader Field

"A national organization," Mrs. Everett said, "offers a broader field of achievement than does a local group. Its advantages, in addition to those already named, include sufficient funds to accomplish desired results unattainable to individuals."

"A common magazine or bulletin is designed as a means of keeping members up to date professionally and culturally."

Mrs. Everett may be reached through Mrs. Louis Johnson of Midland.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail and White Icing Man

Winter had come to the Great Forest, and with it had come the snow and ice. The limbs of the trees were bare of their leaves, and they rattled and scraped in the cold nightwind. Even the moon looked cold in the sky.

Mugwump Monkey saw the moon. He saw it through the window from where he lay all snug and warm in his bed. He heard the Nightwind, too. He heard it rattle the window, and shriek through the tree, and then go howling away through the forest. Mugwump pulled the cover up tighter around his neck. He wondered where the Nightwind was going, and whether the snow would be good for making a snowman tomorrow. And then, Mugwump slept, I think.

But sometime later he awoke. He was awake, he was sure, because he could still see the moonlight shining on a snow-covered world. But what had happened to Nightwind? Where on earth had he gone?

"Uh-oh," said Mugwump to himself, because his eye that was out of the cover could see the Nightwind now. Nightwind was peeping through his window, but Nightwind had a cheery face that didn't show any bluster or bluff. Nightwind now was talking. "Mugwump," said Nightwind, "can you hear me?"

"I hear you, Mister Nightwind," said Mugwump.

"Then open the window, my boy. I have a present for you," said Nightwind.

"Really?" asked Mugwump.

"Really indeed," Nightwind answered. "Just open the window and take it, because here it is."

Mugwump saw that the present in the Nightwind's hand was a little white snowman just about the size of your hand. "Oh no," said Nightwind. "It really is a white icing man, made of the kind of icing that goes on a cake that is white."

By WESLEY DAVIS

Mugwump opened the window and took the little white icing man, and ate him all gone, after thanking the kindly Nightwind, of course. Then the Nightwind laughed and howled away through the forest, all to finish his howling for the night.

And did the story really happen? Mugwump wondered about it the next morning, but it really did happen, he decided, because the little white icing man was nowhere to be seen, and so Mugwump must have eaten him. Happy day! (Copyright 1951, General Features Corp.)

MAY SWITCH RAILS

New York railroad magnate Robert R. Young, chairman of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, above, says he may some day take active control of the New York Central system, in which he and an associate, Alan Kirby, own a controlling interest. Interstate Commerce Commission regulations forbid him to be a director of both railroads. Young entered the railroad business in 1937, and has crusaded strenuously against what he called "archaic practices" of his competitors.

Mahon Warns Taxes, Spending Can Wreck Strength Of Nation

STANTON—In spite of the need for building up the nation's military strength, "we are going to have to stop spending more than we're making," Congressman George Mahon said here Monday night at a public meeting in the Stanton High School Auditorium.

The nation, he said, finds itself in a peculiar position.

"While our Congress is economy-minded," he said, "we must go ahead with our military preparations so that if World War III comes, we will be ready."

Mahon said one of the greatest problems facing the government is the lack of adequate personnel and the men with adequate training and background to handle personnel.

"The government," he said, "has grown too large to be run to perfection but we can destroy ourselves by high taxes as easily as we can be destroyed by outside enemies."

The congressman earlier was a guest at the meeting of the Lions Club in the First Methodist Church. He was introduced at the public meeting by Garvis P. Ross, managing editor of The Stanton Reporter.

Nation's Crude Oil Production Increases

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—United States crude oil production for the week ended December 1 averaged 6,162,750 barrels daily, a gain of 8,325 barrels over the previous week. The Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Oklahoma led the gain with a 4,000-barrel jump to 515,700 barrels.

Other top gainers were Colorado and Wyoming, each up 3,500 barrels to 78,300 and 187,100, respectively; Michigan, up 3,400 to 39,700; Kentucky, 2,400 to 35,000; California, 1,100 to 98,200; Montana, 1,100 to 25,300; and Illinois, 900 to 168,900.

Utah increased 300 barrels to 4,100. Louisiana added 200 to 601,325. Alabama gained 100 to 2,900 and Nebraska was up 100 to 7,700.

Biggest loss was in the Eastern fields, which fell 8,500 barrels to 83,500.

Kansas dropped 3,500 barrels to 315,150. Mississippi was down 2,100 to 96,850. Arkansas slumped 150 to 76,300 and Florida declined 25 to 1,600.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,789,000 barrels; New Mexico 159,725; and Indiana, 31,400.

Atomic-Like Blast
All Philippines naval vessels south of Manila were ordered to speed to Camiguin to aid in evacuation. The island has 45,000 population. It is in the Mindanao Sea, just north of the big island of Mindanao.

Hibok Hibok, quiescent since a mild eruption in July, shot a flame-filled tower of smoke and ash into the air at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday. It gave no warning.

The Weather Bureau seismologist on the three-mile-long island said the blast was "atomic-like."

The captain of a ship passing several miles away in the Mindanao Sea compared the cloud rising from the crater to that of an atomic bomb explosion.

The flame-shot cloud could be seen 40 miles.

Gov. Paciencia Ysalina of Eastern Misamis Province on the north coast of Mindanao went to the little island to take charge of evacuation.

Ysalina said the eruption was worse than the big blasts of 1948 and 1950. A blast on Sept. 15, 1950, killed 66 persons. In the September, 1948, eruption, 30,000 island residents were evacuated but only five deaths were recorded.

Some were taken to oil company offices, others to downtown stores and one group even went to Midland Memorial Hospital to see how the institution is operated.

A group of nine was taken by Assistant City Manager Morris Howard to City Hall, where they were greeted by City Manager W. H. Oswalt.

The city manager explained that the city was spending $1,500,000 this year on operating expenses and $2,000,000 on capital improvements.

He pointed out that Midland had a City Council-manager form of government with the elected mayor and councilmen setting the policies.

"We like to think of ourselves," Oswalt said, "as having a small part in the building of a city worth living in—just as you have a part in building good citizens to live in our city."

Luncheon At Noon
They were introduced to the various department heads and through the rest of the morning were taken on a tour of the various city offices, where operations were explained.

And, at noon, they had luncheon with their hosts as did the other groups throughout the day.

Afternoon sessions were devoted to forums in which the teachers asked problems about business methods and general procedure.

Participating in the Business-Education Day program were J. C. Penny Company, F. W. THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

St. Francis of Assisi is considered by many authorities to be the originator of the Christmas carol of familiar type, though not of the hymn carol.

The story goes that St. Francis one Christmas Eve presented a nativity scene in the little church in the town of Greccio, near Assisi. Priests and people viewed the scene. Friars sang new songs, clarifying the meaning of the incarnation.

From this time forth, carol singing found its way into miracle and mystery plays and Nativity celebrations, laying the foundations for our own interest in Christmas carol singing.

ing prisoners. North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il said he would give an answer. But he didn't say when.

No Replacements
The subcommittee for armistice supervision went to work immediately after it was created Tuesday. The Reds' four points came out in the subcommittee session. They were the crux of a nine-point statement. This was a packaged reply to 21 questions Admiral Joy had asked about a surprise Communist proposal Monday to permit limited inspection and to prevent troop reinforcements.

The Red proposal would prevent either side from bringing military forces, weapons or ammunition into Korea during the armistice. This was their answer to the Allied proviso against military buildups.

Under questioning Tuesday, the Reds insisted there should be a ban on all replacements of individual soldiers for any reason.

Peyton reported on progress of construction work at Boys Factory, located at New York Street and Lamesa Road.

Rasmann commended Jim Turner, Charles Spure, Jim Velvin, Jr., and others who assisted in constructing the float which won second place and a $50 prize in the recent Santa Claus parade.

operation of their organizations in a clean-up drive.

The clean-up campaign, Cass said, was more than just ridding the city of trash and debris.

"We are going after every unsanitary condition here," he said. "We are going to get rid of the outdoor privies and we're going to see that everything is connected to a sewer line."

"We are going to expect every restaurant and grocery store in the county to clean up and we are going to intensify our efforts to see that they comply with health regulations."

The clean-up campaign was suggested in view of the serious polio epidemic which is sweeping Odessa, 20 miles away.

Plans were rushed when it was reported Monday that, while the city had suffered no outbreak of polio cases, the number of dysentery cases had increased four-fold during November.

The county and city will join their forces in assisting in the clean-up. County Judge Clifford C. Keith conferred with health leaders and promised the county's cooperation.

Convict, Acquitted After 27 Years, Joins Sister In Plans For 'Happiest Christmas'

DETROIT—(AP)—This Christmas will be "the happiest ever" for a Detroit brother and sister who have lived 27 years under a grim cloud.

For aunt, holding Vance Hardy, it will be the first outside prison walls since a fateful day in 1924 when a bootlegger was slain here.

And for Mrs. Gladys Barrett, the holiday celebration will fulfill a dream kept alive by her firm belief that her brother had nothing to do with the killing.

Monday, the 56-year-old Hardy stepped out of Detroit's Recorder's Court a free man. That was the happy ending to a story full of discouragement and disappointment.

For the beginning, you go back to the day in 1924 when Louis Lambert, operator of a prohibition era speak-easy, was shot to death as he left a bank.

Prayer, Fortune Teller's Map Used In Mountain Search

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—(AP)—Searchers used prayer and a fortune teller's map Tuesday in a forlorn hope of finding a 78-year-old great grandmother missing for two days.

Mrs. Ann Bragg disappeared from her home on rugged Double Oak Mountain Sunday morning. No trace of her has been found despite an intensive hunt by three light planes and ground parties that totaled 350 persons at one time.

The fortune teller's map was brought into use Monday night after all except about 20 of the searchers quit the hunt following heavy rains in the area.

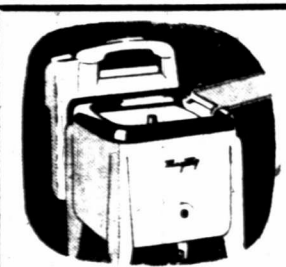

Relatives of the missing woman said they appealed to a fortune teller at Goodwater, Ala., for help. They added that she sat down and sketched a map ending at a sheer cliff, but said she was sure the aged woman had not fallen from it.

Most of the searchers attended a prayer service conducted by the Rev. George Holmes, a Baptist minister, at the home of Mrs. Bragg's son, Ernest.

Hardy swears he never saw Lambert, but a witness identified him as one of four men who allegedly participated in the killing. He was convicted and sentenced to life in prison.

Then his sister, now 53, began her long battle for his freedom. Partly through a magazine story, his case came to the attention of Detroit and state police investigators and Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis. New evidence was found.

Hardy was granted a new trial, and Judge Gillis directed a verdict of acquittal, saying he was convinced of Hardy's innocence.

"I'm very, very happy," the ex-convict said quietly when he learned he was free. "but this comes as no surprise. I'm innocent and always have been."

More exuberant, Mrs. Barrett hugged her brother and cried.

"Oh golly, I get my dreams. Vance, my dreams."

Leaving the courtroom, Hardy looked around at a much-changed Detroit and remarked that he felt "like a native out of a jungle."

No Business Now
Then the brother and sister went home to plan their future.

First there will be a trip through the South to visit the graves of Hardy's father, mother and wife. All died while he was in prison. Then they plan to move to Lansing, Mich., where he will have a job as first aid attendant. He learned the skill in the Southern Michigan Prison Hospital.

There is no bitterness in Hardy's attitude now. He figures he was "just another victim of the rough, tough prohibition time," and adds: "Things have changed now. I've already forgiven and forgotten."

"I must show everyone I wasn't a hoodlum and won't be one now that I'm out. Bars and walls can't change a man who shouldn't have been behind them in the first place."

"Sometime, I've got to repay Gladys for all those years when she was the only one who had hope."

As for Mrs. Barrett, she feels she already had been repaid.

"This will be the happiest Christmas ever," she repeated.

SANTA and the MAGIC MIRROR

by LUCRECE HUDGINS

CHAPTER ONE SANTA AND THE MAGIC MIRROR

ONCE upon a time there was a little girl named Belinda. She had no mother. But she did have a father and her father was Santa Claus.

Of course he wasn't the really truly Santa Claus who lives at the North Pole. No, Poppy (Belinda called her father "Poppy") was a make-believe Santa. You see many make believe Santas around town these days: in the stores, on street corners, at school parties.

Now, Poppy was Santa Claus at a great department store in a great city. It was a job he had for six weeks every year and it was the only job he had. The rest of the time he stayed home and kept house for his little girl, Belinda.

Naturally, when a man works only six weeks a year his family doesn't have a whole lot of money to live on. But Belinda and Poppy managed fine and Belinda thought she was the luckiest girl in the whole world. I guess she was, too. You'd have to travel pretty far to find something nicer than being the child of a Santa Claus!

Then one year, when Belinda was eight years old, something happened.

ONE morning, a little while before Christmas, Poppy and Belinda started out for the great store where Poppy worked. They had plenty of time and it was a bright cheerful morning so they walked instead of taking a bus as they usually did.

It was a lovely walk. There were Christmas wreaths on all the doors they passed. There were candles in the windows or tiny Christmas trees or bright colored balls. The streets were decorated with fir and holly. The people they passed had happy faces.

"Oh, Poppy," said Belinda. "Christmas is the loveliest time! Everyone is happy and good and kind."

Poppy agreed that Christmas was certainly the grandest time in the year. They walked on, Belinda holding poppy's hand and Poppy carrying under his arm his red, fur-trimmed Santa suit wrapped in a brown paper bag.

Presently they came to an enormous stone house. It was five stories high and had marble steps leading to the front door. It was a rich and handsome house. But Belinda stopped right in front of it and cried. "What a sad house!"

"How so?" asked Poppy.

"Why, there's not a wreath anywhere! And the shutters are closed so even the sun can't get in!"

"Well," said Poppy, "this is the house of Jeremiah Lump. He is the richest man in the whole city so I don't expect they are too sad in here."

Well, they walked on and when they reached the store it was already open and gay Christmas shoppers and bright eyed children were crowding in the doors.

"I'll have a busy day," said Poppy, smiling at the children. He kissed Belinda. "Be a good girl and tonight Santa Claus will come to your house."

Belinda laughed. How she loved this joke between them! As she started back home she thought of the decorations she was making for their Christmas tree at home. She was skipping along dreaming of the tree when presently she found herself once again in front of the stone house.

This time there was a little boy sitting on the bottom step of the great marble stairs. He was dressed in a patched, poorly fitting coat and his eyes were large and sad.

Belinda said, "Are you Mr. Lump's little boy?"

The boy nodded. "I am Thomas Lump."

Belinda looked up at the cold, shuttered house. "Why don't you have some decorations on your house?" she asked.

"What for?"

"Why — for Christmas, of course."

Thomas Lump shrugged his thin shoulders. "We don't have Christmas at our house," he said quietly.

Belinda gazed at him in astonishment. "You mean Santa Claus never comes to your house?"

"Never," whispered Thomas Lump. Two large tears were forming in the corners of his eyes. Belinda rushed to him and threw her arms around his shoulders.

She thought wildly of some way to cheer this poor rich boy, who had never had a Christmas. Finally she plucked, "Don't cry, Tommy! I'll take you to Santa!"

(Next: The Mean Mr. Lump)

"You Mean Santa Claus Never Comes to Your House?" Said Belinda in Astonishment.

Nebraska's Senator Butler To Run Again

OMAHA—(AP)—Hugh Butler, currently rounding out 11 years as U. S. senator from Nebraska, Tuesday filed for the Republican nomination to another six-year term.

In a statement, he said it is "almost a certainty" a Republican president will be elected next year. He said he wants a hand in the Republican Party's job of bringing back "peace and prosperity" to the nation.

Butler's filing, although no surprise, laid to rest rumors that he might decide to retire. It set the stage for a ding-dong primary race against Gov. Val Peterson, who filed for the senatorial nomination some time ago.

Longhorns Land Four On All-SWC Football Elevens

DALLAS—(AP)—The 1951 all-Southwest Conference teams honor every member of the league, but Texas came up with the most players—four.

It is an unusual team in many respects—one man made a position on both offensive and defensive platoons and brothers—the Foresters of Southern Methodist—each got a place.

Bill Howton of Rice was the most popular player—he made end on offense and end on defense. But that's how the Rice star played—more than 50 minutes every game.

Unanimous choices were Gib Dawson and Bobby Dillon, Texas halfbacks, and Bill Athey, Baylor guard. However, Howton got the most votes, being picked for either offense or defense on every ballot and being named for both on some. Dawson was picked for offense only and Dillon and Athey for defense.

Dick Hightower, Southern Methodist center, got only one vote fewer than Howton, being named for both platoons but not getting enough votes for offense. Jack Little, Texas A&M tackle, received the full seven votes—the seven Southwest Conference coaches picked the teams—but his ballots were distributed between offense and defense. Bob Griffin of Arkansas was picked for both tackle, center and linebacker, ending up at tackle.

Larry Isbell, Baylor's quarterback, made the offensive team easily but lacked one vote of being unanimous.

In the overall, Texas Christian, the champion; Southern Methodist, Arkansas, Texas A&M and Baylor each landed three men and Rice got two on the teams with one being picked for both, thus it also actually had three places.

14 Seniors
Of the 21 men, 14 were seniors, five juniors and there were two sophomores—Lamar McHan, Arkansas' quarterback, and Ray McKown, Texas Christian's field general.

The offensive team:
Ends—Bill Howton, Rice, and Stan Williams, Baylor; tackles, Jack Little, Texas A&M, and Dave Hanner, Arkansas; guards, Harley Sewell, Texas, and Herschel Forester, Southern Methodist; center, Hugh Meyer, Texas A&M; backs, Larry Isbell, Baylor; Lamar Mc-

Wink Wildcats Get Shot At Another Unbeaten Team

WINK—Playing unbeaten football teams is nothing new to the Wink Wildcats.
And spoiling their opponents' unbeaten skein is nothing new to Coach Glenn Frazier's team, either.
When the Wildcats meet the Abernathy eleven at 2 p.m. Friday in Lubbock, it will be the third time in four weeks the 'Cats have gone against teams with perfect records. Iraan, unbeaten when it met Wink for the 5-A title, was defeated 32 to 14. In the bi-district, Eden brought 10 straight wins to Wink and left with bumps, bruises and a 47 to 6 licking.
Last week, however, a team which had absorbed two lickings—Albany gave the Wildcats a fit before losing 21 to 13. So perhaps the Wildcats had just as soon send such boys as Dale Dodd, Danny Villarreal, Fuzz Herring, Ken Vison, Rusty Wallace, Paul Jette and others against the unbeaten teams—for they seem to hit a peak.

Abernathy Record
Here are the teams Abernathy has defeated this year, and the margin of victory: Morton, 20-4; Tahoka, 24-14; Slaton, 21-7; Seagraves, 39-0; Crosbyton, 45-0; Floydada, 25-12; Kress, 43-7; Lockney, 19-7; Hale Center, 34-6; Denver City, 19-6 and Dimmitt, 20-19.
Wink will be favored to defeat the Abernathy eleven and go on to an eventual Class A crown.

A Jim Thorpe doesn't come along every day. Neither does a Jesse Owens, a Doak Walker, nor a Stan Musial.

But Stanford University will have a starting fullback going against Illinois New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl classic who might, before he's through, surpass them all. And brother, that's saying a mouthful.

Bob Mathias, Stanford's sensational sophomore from Tulare, Calif., is the lad of whom we—and many others—speak.
For young Mathias—20-year-old all-around athlete—sometimes is referred to as an athletic "freak," meant, of course, in no derogatory sense.

A generation is likely to produce one of them; some generations skip one altogether.

Mathias, you will recall, astounded the sports world by going to London for the Olympics in 1948 as a 17-year-old and winning the Olympic decathlon championship over older, more mature and more experienced athletes.

Two years later, he came back to his home town of Tulare to successfully defend the championship—and set a new world's record of 8,942 points to surpass a mark which had stood since 1936.

At the beginning of the year, young Mathias went out for the Stanford varsity grid team, unheralded as a football player.

He hadn't donned football togs since prep school, two years before. Very much the ordinary back was Mathias during the first few Stanford games. He stumbled and bumbled at the line waiting for a hole to open, and when it did he tried to sneak through for short yardage. He wasn't an explosive, all-the-way, hell-on-wheels runner at all.

But that was in the "warm up" games before the Indians started their Pacific Coast conference play.

Always a competitor, Mathias came into his own when the play-for-good games started.

He set his team afire with a 96-yard touchdown run against Southern California early in the second half, and his mates took it from there to win as Mathias scored another.

Against Oregon State, Santa Clara and UCLA—all crucial contests—Mathias tabbed twin touchdowns.

And remember, he's a beginner at the game of collegiate football.

So, in fact, was he a beginner at the pole vault and hurdling events when he won the Olympic title.

Still, he accomplished the events in these times and distances: 100-meter run: 19.9 seconds; broad jump: 23 feet, three and three-eighths inches; shot put: 47 feet, six and one-fourth inches; high jump: six feet, three-fourths inch; 400-meter run: 51 seconds; discus throw: 145 feet, five inches; pole vault: 13 feet, one and three-fourths inches; 1,500-meter run: 5:05.1; javelin throw: 182 feet, four and one-half inches; 110-meter high hurdles: 14.7 seconds.

All of these records, have of course, been bettered by specialists who compete in only one or two events.

But how many athletes could accomplish all this, be a football star on a topflight collegiate team—as a sophomore, get offers as a big league baseball pitcher (and pass it up for a college education) and average 17 points per game as a prep school basketballer?
Thus far, no one else has accomplished it. And we doubt if they ever will.

There's been very few like him before; in this day of "specialized" athletes there probably will be even less in the future.

SWC Basketball Teams Find It Rough

By The Associated Press
Here it is only the second week of the Southwest Conference basketball campaign and only three teams are undefeated and one of those hasn't played yet.

Monday night found five of the seven members in action, three in inter-sectional games, and Texas did all the good.

The Longhorns beat Oklahoma, 48-44, but Baylor was licked by Kansas, 57-46, and Rice took a 68-60 trimming from Louisiana State.

Texas A&M, defending tri-champion, went down in its opening game of the season to North Texas State, 46-43.

Texas Christian, which with Texas is the only undefeated team left, lashed Abilene Christian, 76-43. It is the Christians' second straight win. TCU tied A&M and Texas for the title last season.

Texas controlled the jumps, rebounds and free throws to down Oklahoma, using superior height to advantage. Ted Price, the big Texas center, led the scoring with 13 points.

All-America Clyde Lovellette was tough for Baylor to handle as Kansas downed the Bears in their opening game. Lovellette flipped in 23 points. Norman Mullins got 24 for Baylor but didn't have as much help as Lovellette.

The score was tied twice in the Rice-LSU game but after the first period the Owls never could get ahead. Joe Dean rammed in 22 points in leading the Tiger attack.

North Texas State beat A&M in an overtime game, getting six points in the extra period. The Aggies led for three periods but when All-Conference Center Buddy Davis and Leroy Miksch fouled out, the Eagles took over.

Big George McLeod netted 16 points to pace Texas Christian in its victory over ACC, the team the Frogs beat last week in opening the season.

Baylor goes to Wichita, Kan., Tuesday night to play Wichita while Wednesday night Southern Methodist tackles Oklahoma in Dallas to open the campaign.

IT'S HARA-CAREY

SOUT BEND, IND.—(NEA)—The Fighting Irish don't care if they ever see or hear of Bob Carey again. In three games against Notre Dame, the Michigan State end scored two touchdowns, booted eight extra points and a field goal for 23 points.

Vols Named Top Team; Baylor Is Ninth In AP Poll

NEW YORK—(AP)—The University of Tennessee, picked in a pre-season Associated Press poll as the most likely college football team to succeed, did just that and wound up Tuesday as the nation's No. 1 club for 1951. It was the first time Tennessee won the top rating since the poll was inaugurated in 1936.

In the tenth and final AP poll of the year, Coach Bob Neyland's Volunteers received 139 first-place votes out of 397 cast by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

Tennessee, which meets Maryland in the Sugar Bowl game January 1 at New Orleans, racked up a total of 2,706 points to beat out Michigan State, which was ranked No. 2 with 104 first-place votes and 2,609 points. Michigan State had been tabbed as the No. 2 team in the pre-season poll.

Unbeaten Maryland, which will be Tennessee's Sugar Bowl foe, received only 18 first-place votes, but picked up sufficient seconds and thirds to gain the No. 3 ranking with 2,299 points.

The same teams which were in the top 10 a week ago, when most schools ended their schedules, were there this week with a couple of minor changes. Georgia Tech, sixth last week, moved into fifth, dropping Princeton down a peg. Wisconsin skidded from No. 7 to No. 8, and Stanford moved up a notch to No. 7.

Illinois, which meets Stanford in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena New Year's Day, held on to the No. 4 place. Baylor, Georgia Tech's foe in the Orange Bowl at Miami, January 1, remained No. 9, and Oklahoma retained the No. 10 place, in a close finish with Texas Christian, Southwest Conference champs. T.C.U. No. 11, meets Kentucky, No. 15, in the January 1 Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

During the season just ended, Tennessee was voted No. 1 in six of the 10 weeks in which the poll was conducted.

Big Trade Cooking In Major Leagues

COLUMBUS, OHIO—(AP)—A three-team player trade of giant proportions involving Brooklyn, Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phillies is brewing at the minor league convention and may be consummated during the big league meeting in New York over the weekend. The huge transaction represents more than $750,000 worth of playing talent.

If the deal can be worked out—and only one player stands in the way—here is what will happen. The Phils will get slugger First Baseman Gil Hodges, who is the No. 1 man on their want list, and rookie Shortstop Bobby Morgan of Brooklyn. They will give up Outfielder Del Ennis, Dick Sisler, First Baseman Eddie Waitkus and the choice of Pitcher Bubba Church or Russ Meyer. The Dodgers will send Ennis and Pitcher Ralph Branca to the Reds for Pitcher Herman Wehmer and Outfielder Johnny Wyrostek.

Here is what is holding up the deal: The Phils have offered Catcher Andy Seminick instead of Ennis. The Dodgers insist on Ennis because he is the man the Reds want for one of their star hurlers. The Dodgers, hard-pressed for pitching, are awaiting word from Army doctors on the draft status of Don Newcombe, their right-handed pitching ace. The loss of big Newk would force Brooklyn's board of strategy to make a drastic move.

Minor Business
While the big leaguers were trying to cook up some deals, the minors methodically went about their business drafting players of lower classification. In all, 66 players were selected by the nine triple A, double A and single A leagues at a cost of $224,000. Last year 77 players were drafted. The Class B and C leagues were to wind up the draft Tuesday morning.

The actual opening of the golden jubilee convention follows the close of the draft sessions. Amendments for discussion included the elimination of the 24-hour recall, the high school rule, the wiping out of restrictions on radio and television, and the rebirth of the old bonus law.

Leo Durocher, manager of the Giants, played in two World Series. He played for the Yankees in 1928 and the Cardinals in 1934. He managed Series teams on two other occasions.

Frisco Frowns On Army Policy For Returning Veterans
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's city fathers complain that Army policy prevents returning Korean veterans from visiting San Francisco before starting home.

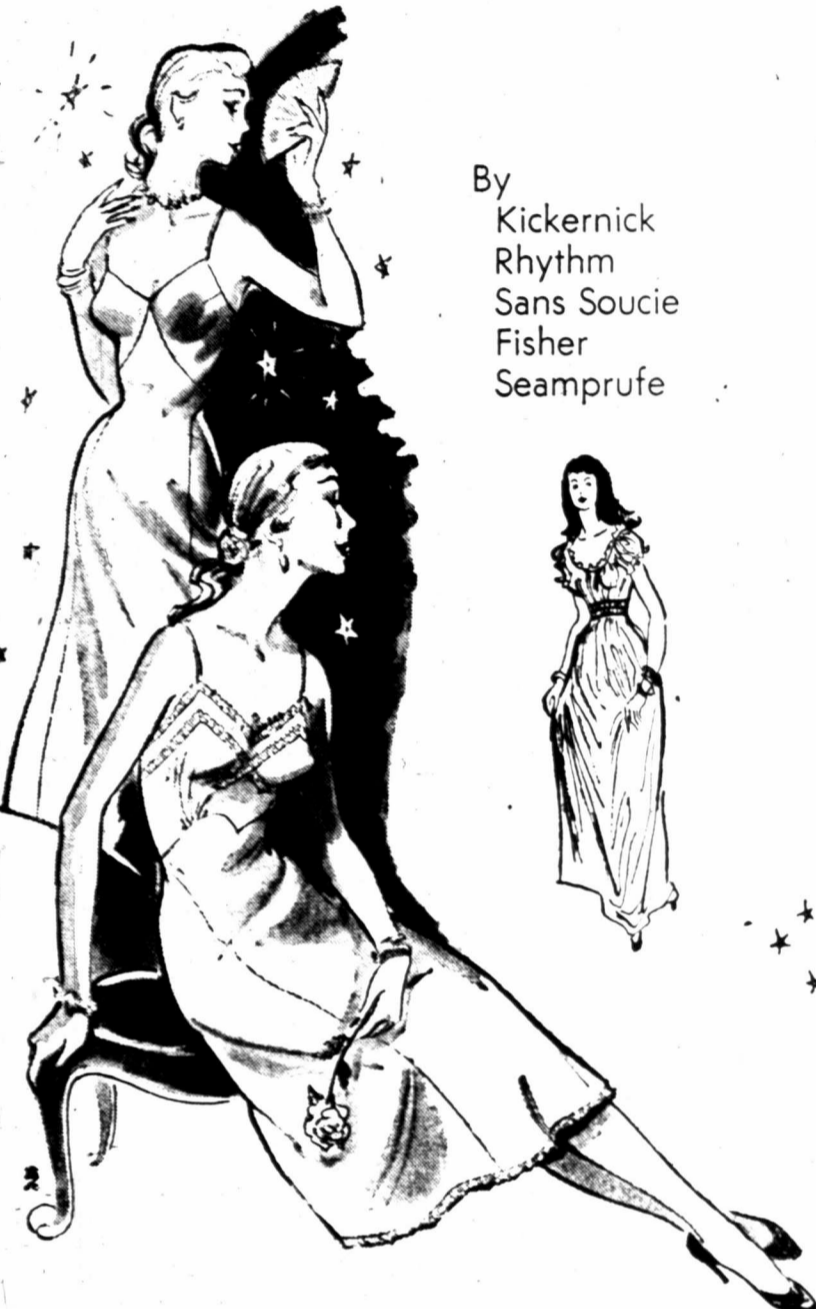

The acting mayor scheduled a meeting Tuesday of businessmen—the Chamber of Commerce, the retail dry goods merchants and other groups—to discuss the situation.

"One of life's ambitions for all young men is to see this city by the Golden Gate, and they should have an opportunity to do so," declared Acting Mayor Dewey Mead. "It is important to them—and to the city, too."

Returns are required to board trains and planes enroute home immediately after processing, Mead said. During World War II, the Army tried the same system in New York but withdrew it under protest, he added.
