HISTORY IN THE MAKING—Billy Yeatts, district manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Midland and Mrs. Ruth Baker, chief operator, look on as operator Juanita Pratt prepares to press keys that will send a long distance telephone call over the new toll dialing system which was initiated in Midland shortly after midnight Saturday.

Midland Telephone Exchange Cut Into Toll Dialing System

One of the most amazing developments in the history of the telephone—operator long distance dialing—went into service here shortly after midnight Saturday, and Midland operators now are able to dial direct 15,000,000 telephones from coast to coast.

"This complex telephone system enables long distance operators here to dial telephone numbers direct in more than 1,000 cities throughout the nation without the assistance of intermediate operators."

Its effect on long distance service is to reduce time in placing a long distance call to these cities from about two minutes to an average of 45 seconds.

"The result is speedier and more efficient service for telephone users," Yeatts said. Joined to the nationwide telephone network, the equipment here enables any Midland long distance operator to dial any of 15,000,000 telephone numbers in distant cities merely by punching a set of 10 keys located on the switchboard before her.

As the long distance operator here punches these keys, which look like those on an adding machine, intricate telephonic equipment is set in motion which can connect and ring a telephone thousands of miles away with unerring speed and accuracy.

Christmas Seal Sales Still $1,080 Below Drive Goal

Midland's annual Christmas Seal sale had $1,080 to go Saturday to reach a quota of $7,500. Returns amounting to $6,520 were reported.

A previous announcement that returns were $6,970 was incorrect. The figure should have read $6,970.

Seal sales increased $450 since the $5,970 report of last Wednesday.

Campaign leaders still were optimistic Saturday that Midland would come through with its fine record of never having failed to meet a seal sale quota.

The sale of seals officially opened in November and continues to Christmas. Midlanders were urged Saturday to pay for seals mailed to them early in the drive so it could wind up as soon as possible.

Truman's Big Clean-Up Still Lies Dormant

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Truman held a long, "highly profitable" talk Saturday with U. S. Judge Thomas F. Murphy, his reputed choice to run an Administration clean-up, but delayed any announcement of plans at least until Monday.

Murphy himself would only say that "matters of interest to the country" were discussed and that he may see the President again.

But the jurist's answers to side-issue questions left open broad inferences that he is in on the planning, at least, of a house-cleaning. He said he and Charles Murphy (no relation), White House counsel, discussed a "plan." And he said the answer on whether he would have to resign from the bench if he took a house-cleaning job would have to wait on any White House announcement.

Generally, the towering, moustached judge, who climbed to the federal bench in New York by way of the prosecution of Alger Hiss and a racket clean-up in the New York City Police Department, was just about as non-committal as the White House.

By the delay over the weekend, Truman missed his own deadline for "drastic" action to sweep "wrongdoers" out of government.

On Thursday, the President had told reporters to look for developments by the end of the week.

Widely accepted reports had it that a major feature of his plan was to set up a commission, somewhat along the lines of the War Investigating Committee which the President headed in the Senate, to root out officials who might use their posts for private ends.

That commission was the phase of the clean-up task which Truman reportedly had in mind for Murphy.

The President himself indicated that he had other measures in mind, some for his own action and some for legislation.

The tax scandal hearings on Capitol Hill which set off the White House moves were in recess for a month at the minimum, shut down Friday night on the same note.

The mercury slid to 25 below zero in Miles City, Mont., and Dickinson, N. D. Chicago, buried under a 11-inch snow blanket, had a low of minus 2 and expected an overnight low of minus 10.

The weather bureau in Washington forecast in a special bulletin overnight temperatures as much as 10 below in Northern New York and zero in parts of West Virginia and Ohio.

Twenty below-zero temperatures were recorded from Northern Minnesota westward to Central Montana, Duluth, Minn., and Sibley, Iowa, had a low reading of minus 17.

The weather deaths were caused by the widespread snowstorm Friday that disrupted transportation and communications in scores of large cities, including Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, New York, Newark, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Indianapolis and Milwaukee.

Even Santa Claus was snowbound in Plattsburgh, N. Y. He had to postpone until December 21 a transport plane flight to deliver toys to update New York orphanages.

The death toll: Ohio 15; Indiana 12; New Jersey and Illinois, nine each; Massachusetts, seven; Maryland, five; Wisconsin and Kansas, four each; New York, Missouri and Nebraska, three each; Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Colorado, Michigan and Iowa, two each; and Maine and Delaware, one each.

How about the supply of Christmas merchandise? It seems to be available in abundant supply.

"I still have a large supply of Christmas items in the basement and in my garage out at the house," was one merchant's answer to the merchandise supply question.

One thing is for sure, there is less merchandise in the stores now than there was Saturday morning.

CHURCH WITHIN A CHURCH—Built under the arches and against a wall of the bomb-blasted Lutherkirche in the U. S. sector of Berlin, this new church offers a place of worship for a small congregation. Lacking funds to repair the larger building, the parish built the smaller, heatable one underneath the organ of the original church. About 200 people visit the little church within a church every Sunday.

Geologist Seeks Half-Million From Former Employer

A judgment of almost a half-million dollars was asked Saturday by a Midland geologist in his suit against the oil company he formerly served as West Texas exploration superintendent.

The damages of $480,000 were asked in an amended petition filed by Gail H. Stoddard, the geologist, and his wife against the Standard Oil Company of Texas and five of its officials.

The amended petition was filed in his original action in 70th District Court asking for a bill of discovery, based on allegations that the oil company and the officials had conspired to destroy his reputation.

Stoddard resigned his position with Standard in November, 1950, and subsequently was charged in a district court suit with using company information to his own benefit.

Stoddard denied this and in his petition, asserted that he had considered his resignation more than a year but continued at his job at the request of company officials "who praised his abilities as a geologist and as an exploration executive."

Stoddard said he "had a high and unimpeachable reputation for honesty and integrity and devotion to his responsibilities and duties and was eminently and widely regarded as a capable geologist and director of exploration."

He asserted in his petition that after his resignation, the five officials of Standard entered "into a fraudulent, malicious and illegal conspiracy to destroy" his reputation.

Canadian Air Mass Brings Real Winter Weather To Texas

The south edge of a cold Canadian air mass chilled Texas Saturday and tumbled temperatures below freezing over most of the state. It breezed through Texas Friday at 40 miles an hour, scattering snow in the Panhandle and light showers ahead of the cold front.

Two persons were killed in automobile accidents in South Texas Saturday during showery weather. Mrs. Lorraine Montgomery, 31, was killed near Port Isabel when her car skidded and overturned during a rain. Mrs. Russell B. Shaw, 37, was killed near Brownsville. Her car skidded sideways on wet pavement and collided with an oncoming auto.

The first appearance of Santa Claus at Archer City, Texas, was postponed because the weather was too cold. Temperatures hovered in the low 20s. Santa will appear next Saturday—weather permitting.

Citrus orchards in the lower Rio Grande Valley were considered safe, but sub-freezing temperatures were forecast Saturday night.

Names, Place Held Called Truce 'Musts'

MUNSAN, KOREA—(P)—Allied armistice negotiators are refusing any more bargaining offers until the Reds come up with information on prisoners and a better truce supervision proposal.

The United Nations is standing pat on a demand for a list of Allied prisoners and where they are held.

"We want all of the men back," said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN Command spokesman. "We don't want some of them to wind up in slave labor camps in China or Korea or anywhere else."

Nuckols added that there can be no progress on armistice supervision discussions until the Communists offer "a new proposal, better than the one they came up with yesterday."

He said the only thing the truce negotiators agreed upon at Saturday's Panmunjom meetings was to meet again at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The Communists want agreement now on their proposal for an all-for-all exchange of prisoners. They insist that such things as lists and locations of prisoners are secondary "technical detail."

The Reds also have refused to permit International Red Cross inspection of prison camps.

More than 100,000 Allied soldiers (the bulk of them South Koreans) are missing or captured—the great majority of them believed captured.

Clean-Up Campaign Rids Midland Of 500 Truckloads Of Trash

Midland's pre-Christmas clean-up campaign was termed a success Saturday by its leaders after more than 500 truckloads of trash and debris were hauled away during a three-day period.

A score of trucks, manned by drivers and helpers, finished the trash pick-up job Friday after Midland residents for more than a week had worked at the job of cleaning up their premises.

"I feel that we have it worked down to the point where the city's regular trash trucks can take care of it," said Delbert Downing, who directed the operations of the trucks and crews.

"Midland business firms deserve our thanks for their generous contributions of trucks and manpower to make this drive a success."

A. E. Cass, senior sanitarian for the City-County Health Unit and director of the campaign, said he felt a "great deal" has been accomplished during the last week's "Job Just Begun."

"Midland has cooperated in this effort to clean up the city," he said. "But for Cass, the job has just begun."

He and his staff of sanitarians now will move into the second phase of the campaign to remove unsanitary conditions within the city and in the surrounding areas.

Armed with newly-adopted city health ordinances, he will center his efforts to eliminating outdoor privies and other unsanitary toilet facilities.

Timed with this effort was the announcement Saturday by J. M. Orman, the city's director of public works, that bids will be received Wednesday on the construction of three and one-half miles of sewer lines.

These lines, he said, will be constructed in the negro and Latin American sections of the city and work will begin on the project within a few days after the bids are received.

At Least 88 Die As Cold Grips Nation

By The Associated Press

A double drubbing from the season's worst snow and cold had much of the eastern half of the nation weather groggy Saturday.

The storm caused at least 88 deaths. A blast of sub-zero cold—hitting on the heels of a fast-moving snow storm—whistled across the Midwest on its way to the North Atlantic Coast.

Overnight sub-zero readings were in prospect from Eastern Wyoming and Colorado to Northern New York.

The twin weather blow caused misery and inconvenience to millions from the Great Plains to the Middle Atlantic States. The cold rolled deep into the South, dropping temperatures below freezing in Southern Mississippi and Texas.

Mrs. A. C. Hefner, Former Midlander, Dies At Fort Worth

Mrs. A. C. Hefner, a former Midland resident, died at 7:20 p.m. Saturday at her home in Fort Worth, according to information received here.

She had been in ill health the last six months, but it was not until Saturday noon that her condition suddenly became critical.

She is survived by her husband, A. C. Hefner, executive assistant manager of the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth. He was manager of Midland's Hotel Scharbauer several years before resigning to move to Fort Worth about three years ago. He is a former commander of the Woods W. Lynch Post of the American Legion here.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hefner were pending late Saturday night.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SEOUL —(AP)—A falling mercury, which plunged Western Korean front temperatures to 12 above zero, and snowfalls on the eastern front were the most significant movements in Korea early Sunday. Both sides tried to keep warm.

MANILA —(AP)—A typhoon which ripped a path of death and destruction through the Central Philippines last Monday whipped itself into a furious storm again as it headed back for the islands Saturday night, after apparently losing its violence in the China Sea.

NEW YORK —(AP)—Ground and flight personnel of Pan American World Airways went out on strike early Sunday at Idlewild and La Guardia Airports—jumping the gun on a Monday strike threat by 24 hours.

TEHRAN, IRAN —(AP)—Thirty opposition deputies and newsmen on a sitdown in the Iranian Parliament Building Saturday night announced they will stay there until doomsday unless Premier Mohammed Mossadegh accepts their four-point ultimatum.

15-Degree Low Expected Sunday

Midlanders were to be greeted by the coldest weather of the Fall Sunday morning with the mercury expected to drop to 15 degrees.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Big Spring made the forecast of 15 degrees for both Big Spring and Midland.

Uruguay Ballots On New Government

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY—(AP)—Uruguay votes Sunday on whether to abolish the presidency and set up a Swiss-type council of nine men in its place.

Opponents of the proposed constitutional amendment, after stumping the interior, said their only hope of defeating it rested on a big turnout of voters in Montevideo. They admitted the other 18 departments, which have more than half the voters, were overwhelmingly in favor of the change.

The result is expected to be known a few hours after the polls close at 6 p.m.

Three quarters of U. S. imports of Cobalt come from the Belgian Congo.

Eight-Year-Old Midland Girl, Doomed By Cancer, Is Special Guest At Santa Parade

By TANNER LAINE
This is the first time we ever put our head down on our typewriter and prayed before writing a story.

We prayed that a little girl might make it to Christmas. The little girl is eight-year-old Sylvia Stafford of Midland. She has cancer. Doctors say she probably won't live to see Christmas Day.

She is in a cancer treatment center at Houston. Little Sylvia did get to see the Foley's Christmas Parade the other day.

As three hundred thousand persons screamed themselves hoarse at the parade of over-sized, inflated reproductions of fairy tale characters, Sylvia smiled wanly from a parked automobile.

The healthy, sturdy-limbed youngsters poured over the restraining ropes and in their excitement yelled at the car with the little girl in it. Move the car. Move the car.

They didn't know that this probably was the last parade the little girl ever will see.

A Houston newspaper reporter found her. And he wrote.

"One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

As she intently watched the parade, Sylvia Stafford was clad in a white linen hood and cape. She clutched a hot water bag to her stomach to ease the pain. Sylvia saw the colorful procession from across Main Street at Foley's.

It was a good parade and all that any youngster could wish. Through-out it, most of the others yelled acclaim. Brown-eyed Sylvia managed that weak, wan smile.

Her mother, Mrs. Thelston Stafford, and a nurse attended her, adjusting the pile of pillows so she might see better.

A policeman brought her five balloons. Sylvia simply said: "Thank you."

Then Sylvia's face broke into a wider and big smile. You guessed it—Santa Claus had arrived.

"There he is!" Sylvia cried. "Oh, there he is!" Sylvia cried. Then with the other children she joined in singing "Jingle Bells."

Then Sylvia went back to her hospital bed. The parade was over. The little Midland girl has been at the treatment center three or four months—where a great fight to save her has been made. The last few days she has been in an oxygen tent.

Their address in Houston is 2307 Bagby Street.

Think about little Sylvia, will you—when Santa comes around this year and our sturdy, healthy youngsters are singing "Jingle Bells."

Hot-Ziggedy Charm On Way For Hollywood Glamor Stars

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—It's bad news today for ostriches.

Jane Greer slipped me the word that Hollywood movie queens are about to turn the fashion clock back to the days of Norma Tal-madge, Blanche Sweet and Nita Naldi.

They'll wear ostrich feathers trailing from their bustles and they'll carry fans made out of the tail plumage of the long-necked, gorge-eyed birds.

Really, it's enough to frighten Sally Rand.

Jane explained her fashion-flash.

It's a last-ditch effort, she said, to regain some of the glamor that caused the peasants to nudge each other as they came out of the movie house playing "Birth of a Nation" and say:

"Hey, that's a movie star, by heck."

Jane flipped the yellowed, frayed pages of a movie magazine published in 1924 and pointed to Pola Negri wrapped in a tiger skin cape and clenching a foot-long cigar holder between her teeth.

"Snappy, huh?" said Jane. I agreed.

"That's what we've lost in Hollywood," Jane sighed. "You can't tell a movie queen from Dagmar on TV, or somebody's secretary. It's awful. We've got to get back to what the girls in the silent era had."

They dressed the part. They wore everything but the kitchen stove, but they looked like movie stars.

Plenty Warm
There was a picture of Mae Murray sporting a skirt of peacock feathers on the next page.

"Nobody else in the world dressed that way," she said. "Stars snapped their fingers at what other women were wearing. They knew that the minute they started looking like Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Smith, they were dead and movies were dead along with them. People called the stars 'over-dressed.' They accused them of having vulgar tastes."

"But they packed the theaters to see them. They trampled over each other to get a peek at a star wearing a dress made out of pearls or dragging a train made out of fox skins."

"It was fabulous. The stars and their designers were out to poll the public. A star would wear anything that would create a sensation."

Jane skipped to photographs of Viola Dana, Corinne Griffith and Alice Terry, all peering out from under hats that hit them just above the eyebrows, and swathed in feathers, furs and yards of beaded stuff.

"Something happened," said Jane, clucking her tongue.

What happened?
"Stars forgot that they had to be different," Jane wailed. "They decided to crash high society and they began to tone themselves down. Then they got an urge to be just like everybody else. Homey and folksy, you know. Hollywood became crowded with Just Plain Bills and Just Plain Jills. And then . . ."

And then?
But comfortable
"The sloppy era hit with a bang. Women who were selling glamor on the screen started wearing slacks and blue jeans. They began to show up at night clubs with their hair uncombed."

Mexican Composer Of Song Hits Dies
NEW YORK—(AP)—Maria Grever, 57, noted Mexican composer of popular songs, died at Polyclinic Hospital here Saturday after a long illness.

Among her best known songs are "Besame," "Jurame," "Tipitin," "Munquita Linda," "Magic is the Moonlight," and "What a Difference a Day Made."

BUSINESS PERMIT GRANTED
Cleveland Tankers, Inc., a Delaware concern, with home offices in Ashland, Ky., and its Texas office in Midland, has been granted a 10-year permit to do business in Texas, the Secretary of State's office announced Saturday. The company's offices were listed at 1201 McClintic Building.

Naval Cadet Killed In Fighter Crash
CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—Naval Cadet David A. Dobson, Jr., 24, Lawrence, Mass., was killed in the crash of his fighter plane near Cadmus Field Friday.

The crash followed a collision with another P-51 Hellcat fighter flown by Lt. Perry Briley of Joplin, Mo., who was uninjured and landed his plane safely.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL
John F. Riley of Odessa was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Saturday as a medical patient.

Secretary Types Letter To Santa For David Wright

David Allen Wright, almost three years old, has a secretary. She dutifully typed his letter to Santa Claus, which was received Friday at The Reporter-Telegram.

Here is what Master Wright signed at the end of a neatly-typed letter:

And here's the payoff. In the lower left-hand corner where secretaries usually initial the writer and themselves, was this:

"DAW mom."
Here's David's letter:
Dear Santa:

"My name is David and I am nearly three years old so I am really all out for Christmas this year. Please bring me a big, red tricycle with a wagon on the back, a scooter, a wheelbarrow with a shovel, a blackboard with chalk and an eraser, and an escalator like the one at Anthony's store.

Anti-Freeze Supply Ample In Face Of Latest Cold Wave

Demand was brisk but the supply plentiful as frigid weekend weather sent Midlanders rushing to service station for automobile anti-freeze.

A survey made by The Reporter-Telegram Saturday showed Midland service stations had ample stocks on hand for an increasing demand.

Seven stations were polled. Each had anti-freeze in stock. Some of the stations reported "a run on it."

Typical station reports were: "Good supply and good demand. We got an order in just the other day and it will see us through. Plenty. Normal supply with good demand. We have it. Have plenty. Plenty."

"My name is David and I am nearly three years old so I am really all out for Christmas this year. Please bring me a big, red tricycle with a wagon on the back, a scooter, a wheelbarrow with a shovel, a blackboard with chalk and an eraser, and an escalator like the one at Anthony's store.

I AM an ad. I'm one of hundreds in this paper. And I'd like to take you by the hand and show you what's behind these ads.

Obviously their job is to sell goods or services. That's why you look at these ads or listen to radio advertising. You're looking for something that you want to buy.

But advertising affects you and your family far more deeply. Buying and selling goods and services is what, in the last analysis, creates all the jobs, all the pay checks in America. And ads that you read and hear are the fastest, most powerful, most economical way yet devised of selling.

More and better advertising means more sales. More sales mean more jobs and better jobs. Less advertising means less sales, less business activity.

So whenever you see or hear advertising, be thankful for it. Be glad that people like to hear and read it. For advertising, by selling more goods to more people, makes your job—everybody's job—more secure.

OTHER WAYS ADVERTISING HELPS YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

- 1 Brings you better goods for less money.
- 2 Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
- 3 Gears consumer demand to production, to create prosperity.

Christmas Cards For Midland GI's

COMMANDS GUN CREW—Set to give the firing command to his gun crew in Korea is Sgt. Corbett D. Estep of Midland. The shell fired marked the 200,000th round Estep's unit, the 48th Field Artillery Battalion, had punched out since the beginning of the fighting.

At least of score of Midland servicemen, who will spend Christmas overseas or in a hospital, will receive Christmas greetings from persons in Midland.

Two weeks ago, a Midland woman asked The Reporter-Telegram to assist her in getting names of such servicemen so she could send them Christmas cards.

Other persons subsequently said they also wanted to send cards. Here are the names and addresses received thus far:

'Inevitable War' Philosophy: During and immediately after World War II, hardly a handful of the West's responsible statesmen gave a hint by word or deed that they understood the real aims and character of the Soviet Union.

But unfortunately signs have appeared that some of our statesmen may have learned their lesson too well. From foolishly accepting the Russian Communists as good-hearted friends, they have turned to viewing them as such implacable enemies that they must in time be crushed by weight of American and Western arms.

They are, then, in danger of committing a new mistake of a magnitude to dwarf their original miscalculation of the Communist motive. In their quite honorable zeal to thwart the would-be conquerors in Moscow, in their justifiable horror at the spectacle of Red tyranny, these officials have led themselves to an extreme which hardly can serve the cause of men who would avoid the unutterable destruction of another great war.

We are not proposing here that Russia be given one inch in the struggle to keep men free. But our whole policy today is built upon the thesis that we can stand off the Soviet Union—and still avert war—by creating on the side of free nations a strength too great for the Reds to match.

The trouble is not with that goal. The trouble is with men who pay it lip service but do not believe it attainable. These policy-makers feel in their hearts that the defenses we now are creating, the arms we are casting, will not dissuade the Russians from their aim of conquest. They are convinced those arms will have to be used.

No one can be sure they will not have to be. But the future of this country and its Western friends is not secure in the hands of men who work from the conviction of war's inevitability. The helm belongs to those who recognize the peril but decline to accept that there is no escape. It belongs to men whose faith in freedom AND peace is indestructible.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Cabinet press conferences vanish from Washington; Mrs. Hugo Black's example should have been followed by the mink coat enthusiasts; Senator Duff can't deliver Pennsylvania delegates to Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON—Newsmen raised Cain about President Truman's secretary order on classified documents. But they haven't let up a peep on a possibly greater infringement of the press—the almost complete abandonment of press conferences by the Truman Administration.

Today, the only two men who hold regular press conferences are the President himself and Secretary of State Acheson. Truman's press conferences have been cut from two a week under Roosevelt to one a week; while Acheson's conferences have been cut from five a week under Henry L. Stimson to one a week.

This cut, however, is not bad as the total blackout on press conferences by other cabinet members. Howard McGrath, for instance, has not held one single press conference during his entire regime as attorney general. Regardless of the furor that has raged around his head, McGrath has not submitted himself to press questioning—as in the days of Homer Cummings, Frank Murphy, Robert Jackson, Francis Biddle and other attorney general Secretaries of the Interior.

McCarthy didn't know it, but Brewster telephoned the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to ask if there was any official trip going abroad early in December that he might join.

Gov. John S. Fure, the man Duff put in power, and Senator Ed Martin of Pennsylvania have agreed privately to plump for an unstructured delegation to the Chicago convention.

This decision also is a severe blow to Senator Taft, whose managers in Pennsylvania, ex-National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and National Committeeman Mason Owlett, had considered the conservative Senator Martin in the corner. However, Martin, although personally agreeing with Taft in the Senate, says this does not mean he would support him at the convention. Martin's only comment on General Eisenhower

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Written for NEA Service

South played today's hand on the theory that East had to be kept out of the lead. He had the right idea, since East would have been delighted to win a trick and return the queen of clubs through South's king.

West won with the queen of spades and returned his last spade to allow East to ruff out dummy's ten. South over-ruffed and entered dummy with the ten of hearts to lead the jack of spades. When East played low, South discarded his remaining diamond.

East put up the king of diamonds hopefully, but South ruffed. Declarer then entered dummy with the queen of hearts to discard a club on the jack of diamonds. At this point the contract was assured, since South had lost only one trick and was sure of losing no more than two club tricks.

South play of the hand was not only an example of keeping the dangerous opponent (East) out of the lead, but also showed careful management of trump entries. If South had drawn even one round of trumps before beginning the spades, he would have been set.

For example, suppose South takes one round of trumps at the second trick, and then cashes the ace and king of spades. He must then enter dummy with the ten of hearts to lead the jack of spades. West wins the queen of spades, as before, and returns a spade to allow East to ruff.

UMT Poses Tough Problem For Coming Congressional Session

WASHINGTON—Battle lines now are being drawn for the showdown which is coming up early in the second session of the 82nd Congress on universal military training.

Proponents of the measure feel the time never has been more ripe to get a UMT plan on the books. Most people, they reason, now believe that if the U. S. had had such a program after World War II the effects of Korea would not have been nearly so severe a jolt and that the country would have been far more ready for it.

Proponents feel that much of the organized resistance to it from church, educational and pacifist groups, labor unions and women's clubs have crumbled in view of the long outlook for tension with Soviet Russia.

In spite of this outlook, however, UMT is far from being a dead cinch for passage. First, it's going to be a presidential election year. And a tremendous block of voters, mostly among the nation's mothers, are against any universal training programs. This will make many congressmen think twice before voting for it.

And the traditional opposition against it is not as disorganized as is thought. A questionnaire sent out by the American Legion several months after the start of the Korean fighting to all of the groups who had opposed universal military training bills before Congress before Korea shows only a small change of sentiment.

Such strong labor organizations as the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the International Association of Machinists voiced their continued objections to UMT.

So did some of the more outspoken women's groups, such as the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, The Friends Committee, the Quaker group, reaffirmed their stand against it.

All of these organizations, politically powerful organizations when taken all together, will make their voices heard again. And congressmen will continue to listen.

The biggest break in the ranks of the opposition is among educational organizations. Even before Korea the important National Education Association gave up its traditional stand against UMT in a resolution saying that the organization thought it was up to Congress to decide whether or not the country needed it.

Many individual leading educators have not only reversed themselves on universal training but now are actively supporting it.

In fact, one of the authors of the plan which Congress will have to consider is a leading educator, Dr. Karl T. Compton, chairman of the board of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

By and large UMT proponents have taken heart from current favorable conditions for its passage and plan to redouble efforts to sell it to the people.

If North has three small cards in the suit; or in hearts, if your partner has any four hearts; otherwise in no-trump.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

By Nina Wilcox Putnam, Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, designer for an exclusive firm, The House of Trumbull, is afraid her husband Tommy, who recently asked for a promotion at The House, is going to fall for her again. Tommy and Alma had quarreled and he had been drinking again. The woman on the eve when the flooring is removed in the workroom of The House, and noticed to salvage items who remove gold and silver ornaments. But the next day Alma hears the apartment say there has been a third "inside" robbery at the House, and while these have been brushed off as far by Mr. Muncie, the president, this time something must be done or all will be suspected.

It was true, Alma Conroy thought. White Marie's apartment, where gems were displayed, and the storage room for repairs adjoined and both opened off the same little corridor into which there was no approach except through the reception-counter door.

In both rooms row upon row of cabinets containing shallow, partitioned drawers stood elevated upon a short round of steps caused by a slight difference in the street level, and it would take an agile thief indeed to reach these cabinets and make a getaway, and of more especially so as the two departments often worked together and an intruder would have been sure to encounter either White Marie, Mrs. Denton, or one of two trusted secretaries.

What on earth had happened, Alma wondered? White Marie was soon pouring out the story to Old Victor Blanchard.

It seemed that some few days ago a woman, a rather ordinary-looking housewife, had brought in an old-fashioned brooch to be repaired. She said it had been her mother's.

"I looked at it once only," said Marie, "when I knew that the design was familiar. The stones were not important, but I knew the

Eight Texas Solons Give Answers To 50 Questions

PORT WORTH —(AP)—Texans pondered the views of eight of their congressmen Saturday after the legislators conducted a mass interview revealing their attitudes on domestic and foreign policy.

In a session that gave outright answers to some 50 questions put by members of "the public," the representatives hit hard at America's domestic policies and were a little kinder to the country's handling of foreign affairs.

The eight were members of the first Texas Congressional Forum and expressed their views before more than 500 persons Friday.

Success of the event, the first of its kind in Texas, was indicated by active participation in the questioning and by the frank answers given by the congressmen.

"Expediency" was blamed by Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson for "government wastefulness" in defense spending.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco denounced the Brannon farm plan, which he said "is socialistic in nature."

Burleson was called upon at one point to "explain our foreign policy." He said he advocated a "flexible policy" capable of being "changed or reversed" quickly in order to deal with Russia.

But he added: "If we're going to have a flexible policy, we've got to have leadership that can handle it."

The forum's panel included Congressmen Ken Regan of Midland, Walter Rogers of Pampa, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, Olin E. Teague of College Station, Wingate H. Lucas of Grapevine, Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls, Poage and Burleson.

About Public Spending

Universal military training stood out as the subject of the majority of questions. It received warm support by the panel.

About public spending, Regan said the congressmen are urged to ask for money by their constituents. "We either get it or we don't get it," he added. "When you quit asking, we'll have less spending."

Lucas, member of the House Education Committee, was asked for his opinion on progressive education. He stated that "some portions are beneficial, although I can not say I am in full accord."

Regan predicted that, in the case of the Tideland issue, Texas will have "all 48 states on our side" if the government continues to assert paramount rights to water reserves. The Tideland was the only "Texas issue" discussed.

The sponsors ruled only national issues could be considered.

The forum was sponsored by the West Texas, East Texas and Fort Worth Chambers of Commerce.

Former Congressman Ed Gossett, now a Bell Telephone Company lawyer, keyed the forum with an address in which he called for the public to take a more active interest in government.

"The American people, he said have to depend upon themselves and themselves alone" to guarantee a "successful test" of democracy.

Texas, Five Other States Sign Pact Of Mutual Defense

AUSTIN —(AP)—Texas and five other states have signed a mutual interstate civil defense and disaster compact, Gov. Allan Shivers' disaster division reported Saturday.

Other states which have joined in the compact are New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Arizona.

In each case, the compacts have been signed by the governors of the respective states with the signing of the Kansas document still subject to the approval of the Kansas Legislature.

The compact is to provide mutual aid among the states in meeting emergencies or disasters from enemy action or other causes.

The last Texas Legislature authorized Texas participation in the compact.

Three-year-old Sally Rodriguez was burned seriously enough for hospitalization Friday when her dress caught fire as she stood by a heater.

She suffered burns of the thigh and a large area of the abdomen.

She was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital, but the burns were not declared "critical."

Midland's Polio Center Now Is In Full Operation

Midland has a polio treatment center.

It was approved November 12 by the American College of Surgeons and the Texas Crippled Children's Division of the State Health Department. It now is in full operation.

It is located at Midland Memorial Hospital. Already there are three polio patients. The center serves Midland and its area.

New equipment is arriving daily. The center has two iron lungs. There are ample hot pack equipment and facilities. Stainless steel pools and Hubbard tanks arrived Saturday.

The center can handle 14 acute cases at once.

Rehabilitation is the main purpose of the center. The Hospital now has a full-time physical therapist on duty. He is Thomas B. King.

The center receives aid from the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis.

A skilled pediatrician is available for duty at any time needed. Three registered nurses with more than two years each experience in the treatment of polio are on duty.

Dr. Edward T. Driscoll of Midland is director.

Not only are polio patients treated, the center is available to all crippled children. Much of the physical therapy equipment is for their rehabilitation.

Treats Crippled Children

Eleven or more crippled children and others are being treated and receiving therapy.

It is regretted that the center was not quite ready to accept patients in wholesale numbers when the Odessa polio epidemic broke.

Francis Odessa parents, when they appealed to the treatment center at Abilene recently, were told to "go to Midland."

This was a premature statement because the Midland center had not begun full-scale operations. It now has.

The Abilene center was under the impression the Midland treatment center was operating full-scale at that time. It was not.

Polio-inflicted or crippled children pay for treatment if they can. Many will have polio insurance and will be able to pay. Others will not. The treatment center is open to all—black or white, rich or poor.

Its purpose is to serve. It has the necessary equipment to do just that. Staff personnel is adequate as well.

Men!

Give your wife for Christmas something every good housekeeper secretly wishes for. Something she will remember you for every time it is used, every day in the year. In bathing, washing dishes, washing clothes, shampooing hair. No more red chapped hands. Keep your wife beautiful. Don't let her get old before her time, and water takes all from the skin, leaves it dry and easy to acquire wrinkles. This condition in time gives that undesirable dried prune appearance that is so easy to acquire in a dry climate that is otherwise healthy.

These and many other things she will be grateful to you for each time she uses wonderful soft water. Just like rainwater on both hot and cold water out of every tap in your home.

Can be bought for cash or terms low as 13.32 per month for 90,000 grain unit completely installed, then it turns around and pays for itself in savings of that much and more. Because don't forget you are paying for soft water even though you don't have it. In high priced heavy loss of soap, scouring powders, compounds, high rate of clothing loss, wasted foods, coffee, sugar, etc., plumbing repairs and water heaters, ask some of your friends who have soft water. Give the wife a break, give her soft water for Christmas. Your giving her hours of freedom from housework to spend with those wonderful children.

Either a Rheem Automatic or Texas Rainder Single Tank.

Posse Searches For Missing Youngster

BLACKSTONE, MASS. —(AP)—A posse of 250 searched Saturday for three-year-old Michael Walsh III, who vanished Friday after showing a neighbor his paper Santa Claus.

The hunt—halted Friday night by a heavy snowstorm—centered around a pond near his home. Little Michael kissed his mother, Mrs. Yvete Walsh, 27, goodbye and toddled to the home of a neighbor to show his Santa. It was only 9:30 a.m. when he left the neighbor's house and disappeared.

Regal Gifts Of Silver

Silverplated gravy boat and tray make gift that will last for years. Servers are in same design to make completely coordinated set.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

Silver is a coveted gift at any time. It's attractive to look at, it's durable, it brightens any table, any room. And it is somehow especially pretty and shiny when it's lifted from gay wrappings and ribbon on Christmas morning.

Silver, though lovely, needn't be costly. If it's a fine sterling-inlaid silverplate, it will look well, and wear well, for many years.

A versatile gravy boat and tray with matching servers, for instance, makes a silver gift that's smartly coordinated and yet budget-priced. The gravy boat can hold sauce as well as gravy.

For another gift that will make a dazzling appearance for a party, you might try trying a dozen after-dinner coffee spoons to the branches of a miniature spruce tree with bits of red ribbon.

This, by the way, makes a gift that's good for the career girl, the young married couple, or the older married couple.

In fact, it's a gift ideal for practically anyone but a small child. And children have their own silver gifts. One set is made up of a tiny fork and spoon set into slots in the

"Please leave me alone," she said. "I'm not in pictures any more."

Almost any household would welcome a pair of tall, slim table lighters in period styling. Useful any place in the house, they're particularly right on the dining-room table. It doesn't matter if no one in the house smokes since undoubtedly there are guests who do.

While you're Christmas shopping for silver gifts, bear in mind the fact that there is no federal tax on any silverplated flatware. That, in itself, is a help in clipping the corners on a budget.

One Dies, Two Hurt In Auto-Bus Crash

GOLDTHWAITE—A civilian was killed and two soldiers painfully but not critically injured Saturday night in a head-on collision of a passenger car and a bus loaded with soldiers.

Killed was John Aubrey Formby, San Antonio.

Cpl. John Tune, Norfolk, Va., suffered a broken leg.

The left side of the bus was sheared from front to back. Formby's automobile was demolished.

The 29 soldiers in the chartered Arrowways bus were being transferred from Fort Bliss, El Paso, to Fort Hood, Killeen.

Bus Driver John W. Nance, Abilene, was not injured. Formby was driving alone.

Who Said It Gets Too Cold For Beer?

KLAMATH FALLS, ORE.—Police were surprised to run across four 19-year-old boys sitting on a curbstone here Friday night. The mercury at the time read 10 degrees above zero.

What's more, the boys were calmly passing a length of garden hose from one mouth to the other. That's what led police to arrest them.

The other end of the hose was in a stolen keg of beer.

Ex-Convict Sought After Robbery Of Grocery In Abilene

ABILENE—The search for Ernest George Bland, escaped convict, centered in this area Saturday after witnesses to the armed robbery of a Safeway store identified him by pictures as the gunman.

Bland had been convicted of robbing several Safeway grocery stores in Fort Worth.

The man who robbed the Abilene grocery Friday was armed with a snub-nosed .38 caliber pistol. He forced Horace Justice, store manager, to fill a sack with bills from three cash registers and the safe.

The gunman backed out of the door and disappeared. Justice refused to say how much was taken.

Justice identified Bland as the gunman after he examined pictures from the police file. City detective C. Z. Hallmark said three other witnesses had identified Bland by his pictures.

Bland, serving a life sentence as a habitual criminal, escaped from the state penitentiary in July, 1950. He was recaptured last January and taken to Kaufman as a suspect in a criminal case. He has been at large since escaping from the Kaufman County jail.

A North Texas search for Bland was staged after he was reported seen in Irving, Tarrant and Dallas County set up road blocks and checked trunks.

FORT WORTH—An Abilene Safeway store manager, robbed Friday night of $500, identified pictures of Ernest George Bland, escaped ex-convict, as the gunman. Fort Worth police were notified by telephone Saturday.

Bland, who faces more than 100 years in prison on felony convictions, was last reported in Saginaw Thursday night, police said.

Horace Justice, the store manager, said the armed man took the money from three cash registers and the store safe.

Bland, who robbed a number of Safeway stores here, has testified that he hates Safeway stores because the manager of one reported him to his mother for stealing candy when he was a boy.

Britain Will Pay To Bolster Plea For More U. S. Aid

LONDON—Hard-up Britain Saturday announced she will pay both interest and capital installments, totalling 176 million dollars, due December 31 on her postwar loans from the United States and Canada.

She might have claimed a waiver on the interest.

Prime Minister Churchill's new government also gave the British pound sterling a small measure of freedom to demonstrate its real value in foreign money markets.

Subject to some continuing limitations the bank of England authorized private individuals to trade British pounds for foreign money for the first time in 12 years.

Both moves clearly were intended to restore world confidence in Britain's wobbly economy and weakened currency and to bolster the British case for more military and economic help from the United States.

A highly placed informant said the government will have to sell gold from the British-banked sterling area's waning gold and dollar reserves to pay the United States and Canada.

However, Britain has asked for 600 million dollars in economic help alone from the U. S. Mutual Security Agency for the next six months and the United States expects to be able to hand over perhaps half that.

Houston Watchman Plunges To Death

HOUSTON—Justice of Peace W. C. Ragan and detectives Saturday were investigating the death of James Lee McAllister, 67-year-old night watchman whose body was found at the bottom of an elevator shaft.

McAllister apparently had fallen five floors in the freight elevator shaft of the City National Bank Building. His body was found Saturday after a three-hour search by other employees of the bank building.

Detectives said he had apparently plunged down an 18-inch opening between the rear of the freight elevator and the fifth floor level, where the elevator was found.

Electrical Gifts Are Practical

By GAILE DUGAS

Electrical gifts are high on the nation's shopping list every Christmas. It isn't just the initial pleasure they give; it's the knowledge that for many Christmases after, they'll be making life easier and more pleasant.

New for shoppers this Christmas is an electric sheet that's both practical and pretty. Made of mercerized broadcloth in decorator colors, it has single or dual controls.

It's washable and compact enough to pack easily in an overnight bag. The control case goes either on a night table or in a special metal hanger that clips to the headboard of the bed.

A brand new waffle baker, one with 81 square inches of griddle area, will bake four king-size waffles at a cooking. Any waffle lover will be won over by the grids, which require no greasing or breaking-in.

Further, there's a built-in batter rim to catch the overflow and prevent it from dripping onto the table top. The baker also has five automatically controlled settings that offer a choice of browning texture from light and tender to crispy and dark.

Midland To Dedicate Christmas Tree Sunday Despite 'Meanest Person' Act

Midland was to have dedicated its first permanent community Christmas tree Sunday night, but a "meanest person" has interfered with the original plans as projected by a group of interested citizens.

A temporary tree, however, is taking the place of the permanent one, and at 6:30 p.m. Sunday it will be dedicated to the youth of the community in a ceremony to be held in the city park immediately east of the Midland Country Club, near the intersection of Club Drive, A and Nobles Streets.

The loss of the permanent Christmas tree came as a terrific shock

All Girl Scouts of Midland are requested by Scout Association officials to be present at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the park immediately east of the Midland Country Club to join in the singing of carols at the program dedicating this city's community Christmas tree.

and a tremendous disappointment to those who had worked so long and so hard to bring the difficult project to a successful conclusion. Tears were shed Saturday morning when news of the tragedy reached Midland.

It is quite a story—one which should touch the hearts of everyone at this particular season. It is impossible to say what it will do to the heart of the "meanest person" who took some of the joy out of Christmas for Midland youngsters by "snapping out" a six-foot section of the 18-foot Christmas tree. But let's start from the beginning.

Tall, Stately, Magnificent

The Christmas tree, in the first place, was a tall, stately and magnificent Blue Spruce, 18 feet in height. Picture, if you will, this beautiful and shapely tree growing undisturbed in its canyon home, 9,000 feet above sea level, in the Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico, 25 miles from Cloudcroft.

The most beautiful tree in the entire mountain range was the manner in which it was described by persons viewing it in its natural surroundings.

Admirers for years had offered to purchase the tree at almost any price, but it was not for sale. The owner of the land on which the tree was located thought almost as much of the tree as he did of his ranch property. That man is Delma Ray Bizzell, a native Midlander, who acquired the New Mexico property a number of years ago.

The tree always was to grace the mountainside, Bizzell insisted.

But that was before it was spotted by a group of Midlanders, searching for a suitable tree which could be transplanted in Midland to serve as a permanent Christmas tree for the enjoyment of all children of the community.

They offered to buy the tree at that time, but Bizzell refused to trade. The Midlanders, however, did not give up, begging and pleading with the owner to part with his favorite Christmas tree.

Owner Capitulates

Finally, last month, Bizzell agreed to part with the spruce since it was to be transplanted to his native city and since it was to be dedicated for the enjoyment of all Midland youngsters at Christmas time.

Elated at the good news, the interested Midlanders immediately made plans to bring the tree here. A group set out from Midland about two weeks ago to get the tree. They reached Bizzell's ranch headquarters all right, but that night a heavy snow blanketed the mountains and they were forced to return home empty handed. Last week the tree movers went back to the Sacramento Mountains. There still was considerable snow on the mountainsides, but the Midlanders were able to get to the location of their tree. The excavating job started immediately, and after hours and hours of tireless effort the spruce was ready for the trip down the rough, winding mountain road.

It was a tremendous task—the digging-up, baling, and loading the huge tree—but the job was accomplished late Friday. The tree and the truck on which it had been loaded were ready to head for Midland early Saturday. Those who had worked on the job all day Friday retired for the night, well pleased with the results of their efforts. Sleep came quickly for the tired crew of laborers.

'Meanest Person' Appears

It was then—in the dead of night—that the "meanest person" appeared on the scene. He, too, apparently wanted a Christmas tree—a six-footer for his home, perhaps.

He doubtless had witnessed the digging-up and loading of the beautiful spruce, and at the opportune moment, when others were sleeping soundly, this "meanest person" topped-out the six-foot section and carried it off to an unknown destination. It should be a beautiful little Christmas tree—this top of the once-proud spruce.

Early Saturday, the Midland crew discovered the tragedy. An alarm immediately was sounded and a search for the culprit was launched. But the damage had been done.

The tree movers determined immediately that Midland youngsters would have a community Christmas tree, although not a permanent one.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN—This beautiful, towering Blue Spruce was intended as Midland's first permanent community Christmas tree, but a "meanest person" interfered and it didn't turn out that way. The Blue Spruce is pictured in its native surroundings, high in the snow-covered Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico, before it figured prominently in Midland's Christmas Tree Story.

They located another large and beautiful tree, chopped it down and loaded it on the truck. Saturday afternoon it was rolling toward Midland. It was to be erected in the park immediately upon arrival here. Electricians and others were ready to decorate the tree in all the splendor of Christmas. Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer, will be the principal character in the extensive and colorful decorations.

A container will be located conveniently to receive gifts of toys and canned goods to be distributed by Santa's helpers.

Dedication Program—The colorful lights nestling in the foliage of the tree will be turned on promptly at 6:30 p.m. Sunday to climax the Midland Christmas tree story. A formal dedication program is scheduled, with Mayor Perry Pickett doing the honors.

Girl Scouts, several hundred strong, will be on hand to sing Christmas carols. Church choirs are invited to participate. Everyone is invited.

The project is community-wide in scope, with friends and neighbors taking the lead in the effort. The program has been rather expensive, but the project has been financed entirely through voluntary donations.

Midland Jay-Cees are assisting in the arrangements as a part of their Christmas activities program.

Midland children this year will enjoy a Christmas tree all their own, although it is not a permanent one. The story has a Merry Christmas ending after all.

U. S. Red Tape Proves Too Much For Greek Student

LANSING, MICH.—(AP)—The Lansing State Journal couldn't tell its readers how much snow fell in Lansing Saturday.

Here's why: Phed Vosniacos, a Greek foreign student at Michigan State College and the newspaper's copyboy, conscientiously set out to measure the snow depth.

Armed with government form W. B. 1009 entitled—"Instructions for a Record of Climatological Observations," he went up on the roof of the newspaper.

The instructions said the fall of snow caught in a small metal pail should be mixed with one pint of warm water, the combination weighed and then by applying a complicated mathematical formula, the exact snowfall could be figured.

Said Phed: "I take warm water to the roof. The editor say 'where's that copyboy?' I go back and run copy."

"I go back to the roof, the water's frozen. I say the heck with it. Too much red tape here in America. In Greece we just stick a ruler in the snow to see how deep it is."

Five Texans Named In Indictment Of St. Louis Gambler

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Five Texans were listed as receiving payments in bets from James J. Carroll, nationally known St. Louis gambler, in his indictment Friday charging failure to make tax reports.

Tax laws require that all persons making payment of "fixed and determinable income" to other persons of more than $600 report the payments to the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Texans listed in Carroll's indictment and amounts listed as paid to them were:

Philip L. Joseph, Austin, $25,909 and $29,121; Ralph Lowe, Midland, $40,301 and $9,450; C. J. McElroy, Lufkin, $1,345; W. E. Simmons, Big Spring, $693; and R. G. Wales, Wichita Falls, $973.

The alleged payments covered 1948, 1949 and 1950.

The MATURE PARENT

To Remember His Past When A Little Boy Needs

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Joe's big brother Steve is very fond of him. But since he entered the first grade this Fall, Steve's manner has become noticeably patronizing.

One rainy day, to Joe's horror, Steve does not come home from school to play down in the cellar on their broken crate project. Instead he demands permission to go off with a schoolmate to play in his house.

Joe is not invited.

His mother notes the look on Joe's face as he watches Steve and his friend run down the porch steps. She pulls her wooden darning egg from the sock she is mending and says to Joe:

"Look, the marks of your teeth are still on this old darning egg of mine! You loved it so much when you were little that Daddy and I decided one day you should have a colored egg of your own. We all went to the toy store with you. It was the first time you'd ever been in one and when . . ."

Joe's mother is filling a little boy's need for a story about his unremembered past.

There are times in Joe's life when he needs comfort as well as entertainment, when he needs stories a little different from those about kindly trains that carry letters or enterprising farm tractors that go off on adventures.

These are tales that Joe enjoys when he feels interested in the world around him. When he is just interested in himself and has a suspicion that a four-and-a-half-year-old person has no secure place in the scheme of things, he likes stories that convince him his place is so secure that it can be historically established.

No matter how hard we try, we cannot protect children against experiences that make them feel suddenly lost and disconnected from their familiar pattern of acceptance.

The story of Joe's first visit to a toy shop does far more than merely distract or entertain him. It reweaves broken threads of his dignity back into a sense of himself as an important family personality.

He plays the star role in the story that suggests that his every experience, every response has been of such interest to his mother that she has stored memories of them carefully away.

While we do not want to limit our reassurance of Joe to tales of his heroic past, the account of his toy shop exploits serves a good emergency purpose.

Tomorrow, his mother should take steps to rearrange her younger child's social life so he is not so dependent on his big brother's companionship. But today we can use his past to reassure his present.

After we use such a story to comfort him, however, we also should explain how big brothers often like to play with big boys. And we should make a mental note to invite that little red-headed boy in Joe's nursery school over for lunch.

Comforting though they are, tales of Joe's past should not be used as substitutes for dealing realistically with his present problem of companionship.

We want Joe to find satisfaction in his present as well as in his past. That little friend from nursery school certainly should be around on the next rainy day if we want to prove to Joe that today can be just as triumphant as yesterday.

SEC Goes Slow On Grid De-Emphasis

NEW ORLEANS —(P)—The Southeastern Conference Saturday de-emphasized football de-emphasis.

During the final session of the SEC's annual meeting, voting college presidents, taking guidance from head coaches and athletic directors, changed their minds and ruled freshmen can remain on varsities until Sept. 1, 1953.

The ruling is a complete reversal of action taken 18 hours previously. During Friday's session, freshmen were ruled off varsities, effective Sept. 1, 1952.

Still Bowl League

The final chance for the SEC to modify its pro-bowl stand and align itself with other conferences and groups opposed to post-season games passed Saturday morning.

No change was made and none was anticipated. The SEC still is a bowl league and apparently its 12 members will accept any invitation to any bowl anywhere.

The conference executive committee was ordered to study athletic scholarships during the next year and to prepare recommendations about the various kinds of scholarships.

Only in minor matters did the SEC go into de-emphasis during the two-day meeting. And then the SEC didn't go very far.

Possibly the most de-emphasis came when presidents reduced Spring training from six weeks to 20 working sessions. Another move, which has members so confused several say they aren't sure just what it means, is a limitation of 30 football scholarships permissible annually.

Kilgore's Rangers Win 27-14 Victory In Texas Rose Bowl

TYLER, TEXAS —(P)—Kilgore Junior College's Rangers unleashed a punishing ground game Saturday to sweep past Northeastern (Okla.) A&M, 27-14, in the fifth annual Texas Rose Bowl game.

Seven fine running backs had a share in the Kilgore victory. The greatest of them all was Ralph Reynolds, 160-pound scatback.

Reynolds scored two touchdowns and made 188 yards in 16 carries for an 11.7 average.

Boyd Ray Collins scored the other two Ranger touchdowns.

Reynolds scored on runs of five and 13 yards. Collins' scoring runs were three and 27 yards. Don Gregory kicked three out of four conversion attempts.

Cold Hampers Passing
Kilgore enjoyed a 14-0 lead at the half and built it to 20-0 before Northeastern scored early in the fourth quarter.

Northeastern could not use its favorite aerial game to an advantage because the severe cold kept receivers from holding onto passes.

They first scored after turning to a ground game in the fourth quarter.

Bennie Lee, halfback, ran 29 and 27 yards to set up the first touchdown. He scored from the one.

A pass interference penalty on an 18-yard pass from Jack Chilton, intended for Bob Kaufman, put the ball on the Kilgore two. Lee plunged over.

Jim Rusher kicked both of the Northeastern points.

Newcastle Upsets Mighty Wink With 33 To 26 Pounding

WINK — Newcastle's gritty, underdog Bobcats scratched and clawed the Wink Wildcats into defeat here this cold Saturday afternoon, tumbling the Wink grid empire with a smashing 33 to 26 victory.

Newcastle now will meet Giddings — who Friday night defeated Industrial of Vanderbilt—for the Class A crown.

The heavily favored Wildcats found themselves behind, 14-6, at the end of the first quarter, battled back for a 20-14 halftime lead and were deadlocked with Newcastle at the end of three quarters, 20-20.

Wink even went ahead, 26-20, with six minutes to go—but Newcastle, with slippery Charles Blanton and sharp-shooting Jackie Stringer, took the damage—roared back to tally the 13 game-winning points in that final flurry and Wink's hopes for a state championship went begging.

Wink's ace fullback, Kenneth Scott, the West Texans couldn't dent the rock-ribbed defensive wall erected by the Colts until deep in the second period after Arlington already had gained a three-touchdown advantage.

The Colts, making their second straight appearance in the semifinals, launched their opening touchdown drive with a merciless attack the first time they got the ball.

With Fullback Rusty Gann running amuck, the Colts whipped downfield 65 yards to score, with Quarterback Ray Glasgow flipping a 14-yard pass into the arms of Fred Cook in the end zone for the initial counter.

Gann started the benumbed Anson partisans early in the second period with a 35-yard burst through left tackle for Arlington's second marker. Then Glasgow put the Colts out of reach after the Tigers had stalled on two running plays and an incomplete pass.

Taking over on his own 30, Glasgow drove the Ponies 70 yards in seven plays, then threw to Leon Duffey on the goal line for the final eight yards.

Anson scored its only touchdown after the following kickoff, with Willie Goas climaxing a 64-yard march with a one-yard slice over right guard.

Arlington's final scoring gesture was a 23-yard aerial from Glasgow to Duffey, who leaped up to spear the toss over defender Don Hollum's head.

Ed badly, Wallace missed the point and Wink stayed behind, 7-6.

Newcastle returned the scoring favor, going 71 yards to pay dirt as soon as Wink could kickoff. The big punch in the uprising was a 23-yard pass from Stringer to End Frank Foster, which carried to the Wildcat 18.

Blanton bucked for nine, Gibbs got four for a first down and two plays later Billy Dean Hulse drove across on a cross-buck. Gibbs' kick made it 14-6.

Thoroughly aroused, Wink pointed back to tally the 13 game-winning points in that final flurry and Wink's hopes for a state championship went begging.

Arlington Rips Anson

FORT WORTH —(P)—Arlington ripped Anson's vaunted line to shreds before 5,000 freezing fans in TCU's Amon Carter Stadium Saturday afternoon to post a 26-6 victory and gain a passport into the finals of the Class AA football race.

Playing without the services of their ace fullback, Kenneth Scott, the West Texans couldn't dent the rock-ribbed defensive wall erected by the Colts until deep in the second period after Arlington already had gained a three-touchdown advantage.

ABILENE —(P)—Underdog Breckenridge smashed mighty Temple, 20-14, in 31-degree weather Saturday to capture the first Class AAA championship in Texas schoolboy football history.

Temple, boasting the fine passing of Doyle Traylor, was supposed to breeze to its first title after failing in the final round twice in past years. But the Breckenridge Buckaroos were unimpressed by advance billings which had made the Wildcats as much as 40-point favorites in some quarters.

did Taylor in the heralded duel with Temple.

Breckenridge spotted Temple seven points, then knotted the count in the first quarter, surged ahead 14-7 in the third period on a blocked punt, and clinched its second state title with a 77-yard drive in the final quarter.

The Buckaroos' other state title came in 1929, when they shared the crown with Port Arthur.

Bucks Lead All The Way
The game was not as close as the score indicated, for Temple did not get its second touchdown until the last 28 seconds of the game. That was on a one-yard plunge by substitute Back Hill Cooper after Temple End Allen Ernest blocked a Breckenridge punt on the five.

After Traylor hit End Roy Chapman for nine yards and a touchdown climaxing a 76-yard drive, Ford got Breckenridge back in the game with a 25-yard counter to End Bobby Robbins.

Robbins, a whale of a ball player, blocked a punt by Temple's Lee Odus Sorenson in the third period and End Bobby Williamson fell on the ball in the end zone. Bobby Keith converted for the second time.

Ford's Passing Pays
It was the passing of Ford, great all-round play by Robbins, and the vicious running of Fullback Ted Vickers that carried the Buckaroos to the upset victory.

Vickers smashed over for the winning touchdown late in the final quarter. He made it from the two, but he had been responsible for 41 of the 77 yards covered in that final drive.

DALLAS —(P)—Daring, dashing Lubbock skimmed over Baytown, 14-12, Saturday for its second Texas schoolboy football championship in history.

Tremendous touchdown runs by muscular, battering James Sides and the accurate toe of Don Jones brought the boys from the South Plains the Class AAAA title in the Cotton Bowl.

Sides slashed 63 and 37 yards for scores and Jones kicked both extra points true—and that was the game on this bitter day with football to match.

The Westerners and Ganders threw most everything at each other and Lubbock triumphed because it took more chances. The marvelous piloting job of Charley Brewer—and his passing—spurred the Westerners on to heights.

It was 28 degrees and the crowd of 15,312 suffered, but the football teams didn't seem to mind. There were few fumbles and there were some great pass receptions.

Baytown Line Tough
Baytown's line was tough for Lubbock to handle, but the Westerners did well on end sweeps. It was on one of those that Sides raked up the first Lubbock touchdown in the second period. He sped down the left sideline 67 yards without a hand being laid on him. However, Fred Ernest, the Baytown safety man, would have gotten him had it not been for a terrific block the irrepressible Sides laid on the last Gander defender.

Jones was catching passes making great blocks and tackles and doing everything you could expect of a football player all afternoon.

Baytown drew within a point of Lubbock early in the fourth quarter when, on fourth down, the passback from center went far over the head of Buddy Hill, who was back to kick for Lubbock, and he covered the ball on his 21. Kevin Lounsbury took the ball for a smash into the line, saw he was trapped and lateraled to Jim Walmaley, who raced down the life sideline for a touchdown.

Here Baytown also had center trouble. The passback on the try for extra point was high. Bill Bradbury, who was to hold the ball, leaped up and caught it but as he came down he touched his knee to the ground. So, despite the fact that he passed the ball back to Gerald Orton, the latter couldn't run since it was ruled dead. However, Orton was swarmed by Lubbock players anyway and probably couldn't have made it.

Westerners Get Nod
The Baytown touchdown just made the Westerners mad. They pulled a short kick on the kickoff with Jim Middleton covering the ball on the Baytown 48. A 15-yard holding penalty slowed Lubbock down only temporarily. Brewer passed to Mike Brady for 16 but Baytown held and Hill kicked out on the Gander 13. Baytown had to kick following a penalty and Lubbock got the ball on the Baytown 37. Brewer handed off to Sides, who slammed over left tackle for a touchdown.

When Sides made his touchdown run he brought his total yardage for the day to 110 yards on 15 carries. He was not the ground-gaining leader of the game, however. Lounsbury rolled up 116 on 16 carries for Baytown.

The Ganders swarmed 57 yards for their second touchdown as time was running out. It was scored by Lounsbury on a six-yard smash over left tackle. Orton missed the extra point.

A, AA Grid Races Near Last Round

Lubbock and Breckenridge won the championships of Classes AAAA and AAA respectively while Arlington and LaVega rolled into the finals of Class AA and Newcastle and Giddings in Class A in Texas schoolboy football Saturday.

There were upsets all along the line but the biggest one was the defeat of mighty Wink by Newcastle.

Newcastle beat the terrors of the West, 33-26, to push into the finals undefeated and untied in 14 games. Giddings, which won its way to the finals Friday night by beating Industrial of Vanderbilt, 22-13, also is undefeated and untied in 14 games.

In Class AA, Arlington strapped hitherto unbeaten, untied Anson, 26-6, while LaVega smashed Donna, 38-7. LaVega is the only undefeated, untied team left in this class.

This week, Arlington plays LaVega and Newcastle meets Giddings to wind up the schoolboy football season.

Arlington and LaVega officials will meet at Milford at 9 a. m. Sunday to determine the site and date of their game. Coach Mayfield Workman of Arlington said the game would be played at Waco, Fort Worth or Dallas.

LaVega favored the Baylor University Stadium in Waco and Arlington wanted either Fort Worth or Dallas and that they would flip a coin on that basis.

Arlington and LaVega officials will meet at Milford at 9 a. m. Sunday to determine the site and date of their game. Coach Mayfield Workman of Arlington said the game would be played at Waco, Fort Worth or Dallas.

LaVega favored the Baylor University Stadium in Waco and Arlington wanted either Fort Worth or Dallas and that they would flip a coin on that basis.

Lubbock and Breckenridge won the championships of Classes AAAA and AAA respectively while Arlington and LaVega rolled into the finals of Class AA and Newcastle and Giddings in Class A in Texas schoolboy football Saturday.

There were upsets all along the line but the biggest one was the defeat of mighty Wink by Newcastle.

Newcastle beat the terrors of the West, 33-26, to push into the finals undefeated and untied in 14 games. Giddings, which won its way to the finals Friday night by beating Industrial of Vanderbilt, 22-13, also is undefeated and untied in 14 games.

In Class AA, Arlington strapped hitherto unbeaten, untied Anson, 26-6, while LaVega smashed Donna, 38-7. LaVega is the only undefeated, untied team left in this class.

Midland Cage Teams Drop Pair To Odessa

By BOB ADAMS

The Midland High School Bulldog basketball team lost their second straight contest of the year here Friday night, bowing 37 to 24 before the Odessa Bronchos. The Midland B team also lost its game to the Odessa B team by a 34 to 21 score.

The Midland team threatened to make a game of it with the more experienced Bronchos, pulling to within four points in the final quarter, but a plague of foulitis and the superior height of the Bronchos spelled the difference.

Midland lost four men via the foul route in the fourth quarter including Ralph Brooks, who was a surprise starter; Jesse Hatfield, Bill Mims and Bob Johnson. Billy Joe Harville fouled out of Odessa.

Faced by the superb ball handling and hustling of little Jesse Hatfield, the Bulldogs fought tooth and nail with the Bronchos the first three quarters, always staying in range in the scoring column.

But despite little Jesse's fiery hustle, he was cold as an ice-berg with his shots. Twice he blew beautiful lay-up shots after breaking away from Broncho defenders and fared little better on set shots.

Midland spent a frustrating night attempting to work the ball in through a tightly knit Broncho defense and failed to connect on the long range scores when they were needed.

But what hurt probably most of all was an inability to control the backboards. Using their superior height to good advantage, the

Musial, Rizzuto Win Singer Awards

NEW YORK—P—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees won the Jack Singer awards for sportsmanship Saturday. Each received a trophy and a $1,000 war bond.

The awards are made annually to the player voted as having shown the best sportsmanship during the preceding major league season. The award honors the memory of the late Jack Singer, INS sports writer and war correspondent killed during World War II.

Gavilan Gets TKO Over Wall Cartier

NEW YORK—P—Cuban Kid Gavilan plans to follow up Friday night's stunning technical knockout win over Walter Cartier with a Miami defense of his welter title against Bobby Dykes.

"Dykes and Gavilan are already signed," said Al Weill, International Boxing Club matchmaker. "Jim Norris (IBC president) is going down there to complete arrangements."

The tentative date of the Miami match is late January or the first week in February.

Some 6,253 fans braved snow and rain, paying $23.67 to see the non-title match between Gavilan and Cartier, a heavy punching middleweight from New York's Greenwich Village.

Trailing on the cards of two officials, Gavilan staged a blazing rally to win on a technical knockout over blood-spattered Cartier in 1:31 of the tenth round at Madison Square Garden.

Freshmen football teams in the Southwest Conference are limited to five games a season.

Murray Warmath To Mississippi State As Mentor

STARKVILLE, MISS.—P—The man who gave Mississippi State's football team stalwart forward lines in 1939, 1940 and 1941—Murray Warmath—is the college's new head coach.

Selection of the assistant Army coach to succeed Arthur (Slick) Morton, who resigned last week, was announced Saturday. Warmath came here as line coach under Allyn McKeen in 1939 after graduating from the University of Tennessee where he learned his football under Gen. Bob Neyland.

During the three seasons he coached the Maroon line, Mississippi State won eight and lost two in 1939, won nine and tied one in 1940 and in 1941 won the mythical Southeastern Conference Championship, winning eight, losing one and tying one.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, place-kicking star for the Cleveland Browns, won 10 letters as an all-around athlete at Martins Ferry High School in Ohio.

Clemson Protests Ruling Against Maryland, Tigers For Accepting Bowl Bids

RICHMOND, VA.—(AP)—Clemson College officials Saturday said the school "got a raw deal" and that the Southern Conference was "unfriendly" in punishing it for accepting a football bowl invitation without permission.

The conference Friday night placed Clemson and the University of Maryland on probation for one year.

beginning January 1, and slapped a virtual schedule boycott against them in football.

Denied permission to play, Maryland and Clemson indicated they would keep their New Year's Day Bowl engagements. Maryland plays Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl. Clemson faces Miami of Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville Fla.

"The punitive action was not just and fair," said Dr. Robert Franklin Poole, Clemson president. "The conference was unfriendly."

Only football and affected by the schedule boycott. Under the action, Maryland and Clemson can play only league football games required by state law and each other.

Dr. Lee W. Milford, faculty chairman of athletics at Clemson said, "We were penalized for being honest. We got a raw deal."

R. H. Fike, of Moultrie, Ga., member of the Clemson Athletic Council for 25 years, told a reporter he was "for getting out of the Southern Conference."

Dr. Poole said he planned to present the entire matter to Clemson's Athletic Council and the Board of Trustees.

TO RETURN—Paul Hahn, who amazed Midlanders with his trick golfing here last year at Ranchland Hill Country Club, is to be back again Wednesday. Hahn will appear at Midland Country Club this time, giving his famed trick exhibition at 2 p.m. and his golf clinic at 4 p.m. There is no charge for the performances, and the public is invited. In the above photo Hahn demonstrates his two-club shot.

Jal Wins Tourney By Taking Lobos In 32-29 Contest

MONAHANS—The Jal High School Panthers of Jal, N. M., rallied in the last quarter to oust the Monahans High School Lobos, 32 to 29, and cap the Monahans Invitational Cage Tournament here Saturday night. Alpine blasted McCamey, 57 to 17, for the consolation crown.

Monahans, with Jimmie Jenkins showing the way with 16 points, led Jal 27-26 in the fourth quarter but Billy Brinestool rallied with a brace of points to give Jal the win. He scored 13 for the night.

Duane Smith scored 28 points in the smashing Alpine win over McCamey. Smith was high point man for the tournament with 62 points. Jal advanced to the finals by defeating Crane, 39-22, and Andrews, 38-31. Monahans had clipped Fort Stockton, 46-23, and Kermit, 36-26.

The all-tournament team consisted of: Jenkins and Sleepy Hughes, Monahans; Brinestool and L. B. Davis, Jal; John Frierson, McCamey; Smith, Alpine; Marion Robinson, Alpine; Ronnie Huckabee and Tom Singleton, Andrews, and Jack Krodel, Kermit. ### Kentucky Solon Found Dead In Office

RUSSELLVILLE, KY.—Rep. John A. Winkler, 50, (D-Ky.) was found dead in his law office here late Saturday. Whitaker, who had been in ill health, became Second Kentucky District representative after Earle C. Clements, now United States Senator, was elected Kentucky governor in 1947 while serving in Congress.

Golfdom's amazing wizard, Paul Hahn, returns to Midland Wednesday.

Hahn is the trick-shot specialist who last year exhibited his zany antics and ample talent to Midlanders in a two-day stand at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

"The Clown Prince of Golf Trickery," as Paul likes to be known, this time comes to Midland Country Club. He will put on his exhibition at 2 p.m. and conduct a brief clinic at 4 p.m. There's no charge this time, and the public is invited.

This boy Hahn sports a series of unique and difficult shots, both with regulation golf clubs and with his tricky sticks, which have broom straws for heads, rubber hose shafts, etc.

His "William Tell" shot perhaps is the most difficult. Paul puts the ball on the chin of a most shapely blonde and proceeds to smack the ball a country mile without disturbing the young woman's dental fixtures.

As a matter of fact, Hahn disturbs little other than the humor-box of his delighted spectators. You've gotta see it to believe it.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are going to start a move to get a new swimming pool in Midland, according to Rocky Ford. Ford said the present pool, located at Pagoda Park, has been termed unsatisfactory and unsanitary by health officials the last two years. According to Ford, the only reason the pool was allowed to operate is because it's the only one in the city. Too, the terms were that the pool would be drained once a week. That's the only way the place could stay open, said Ford.

Midland definitely needs a new and modern splash palace for its youngsters. The JayCees have turned out good swimming teams here in the past and we think, personally, the kids deserve better than they are getting.

Never thought it would happen, but we saw Wink take a good, country licking Saturday. Newcastle it was who rammed the Wildcats, 33-26. We had predicted it 40 to 14, Wink. When it was 20-14 Wink at the half and Wink had overcome a 14-6 Newcastle lead, we thought the Wildcats were on the way. But that by Charles Blanton and the nice passing of Quarterback Stringer brought Newcastle back to victory.

Stringer, by the way, is the brother of Don Stringer, who coached at North Elementary here last year. Don now is with the UN forces in Korea, engaged in a pretty grim "game."

Anyway, we were one of few to pick Breckenridge to lick Temple, and we also called the Lubbock win over Baytown.

Now that Don Grove, ex-Texas Tech and Phillips Oiler cager has joined the Phillips team in the Midland Independent Basketball League, the Phillips team definitely is a threat to Rotary Engineering Company and Western Plastic.

Play in the loop is good, and fans will do well to turn out. The next card is at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the John M. Cowden Junior High gym.

Three Sophs On Texas Relay Team

AUSTIN.—Three sophomores and a senior will make up the 400-meter relay team of the University of Texas for the Sugar Bowl track meet in New Orleans December 30.

The sprinters who qualified for the team are Dean Smith of Graham, Carl Maves of Pampa, Jim Brownhill of Houston and Charles Thomas of Postoria.

Willie Valis of Laredo will serve as an alternate and will represent Texas in the 110-meter hurdles.

Thomas and Smith are also entered in the 100-meter race.

Dick Graham, younger brother of the great Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns, has enrolled at Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, Ohio.

Newcastle—

took over. Little Villarreal raced out to the left side, picked up a key block from Wallace and moved on down to the promised land. He evaded the last two defenders at the Newcastle 40-yard line and had clear sailing the rest of the way. Wallace converted, to make it 20-14, Wink, and it was that way at the half.

Shortly after the second half began, Newcastle served notice it still was in the ball game with a 57-yard advance to the end zone. Blanton—with a deceptive swing to his hips—thundered for gains of eight, 10 and 17 yards in the drive for a first down at the five-yard line. It took Newcastle four downs to tally, as Wallace rose up to make three straight stops, but Blanton burst over from the two. Gibbs missed the point, and it was a new ball game at 20-20.

Early in the fourth quarter, Defensive Halfback Pete McDonald wrestled the ball away from a Newcastle pass-catcher at the Bobcat 32-yard line to send Wink on the way to the tie-breaking touchdown.

Villarreal got two, Tommy Dewitt four and Villarreal one. It was fourth and three at the 26-yard line when Vinson air mailed a strike to Jette at the Newcastle 11-yard line. On fourth down, Villarreal battered over. Wallace's kick was no good, 26-20, Wink.

Only six minutes remained, but the 19-man Newcastle squad battled back to cop the contest.

61 yards they blazed after taking the Wink kickoff, Stringer hurling to Blanton for 22 yards, then scooting 15-yards off tackle to the Wink 24-yard line after faking a pass. Blanton got four, Stringer ripped seven to the 13-yard line and Blanton edged for a single step.

Then Stringer took the snap from center, ran parallel to the line of scrimmage after faking a handoff, worked himself outside the Wink right end and ripped 12 yards for the payoff.

More than 5,000 fans stood in silence as Gibbs coolly stepped back, kicked, and sent Newcastle in front, 27-26, with but two and one-half minutes remaining.

Linebacker Lee Clayborn sewed up the game for Newcastle then by intercepting Wink's next toss from scrimmage, Vinson on the tossing end, at the Wildcat 42.

Getting hot, Stringer reeled off 32 yards to the Wink 10, Blanton drove for nine yards and then dived over from the one. That made it 33-26.

Wink still had a chance to win. By scoring and converting, the Wildcats could have won by a lone penetration.

The Wildcats almost made it, at that. From the Wink 44, Vinson tossed complete to W. C. Herrick for 10 yards. He then hurled one to Jette for 18 steps and a first down at the 28-yard line. A long one fell incomplete, then as the fans screamed themselves hoarse Vinson hit Villarreal for nine steps to the 19-yard line but the gun stopped the Wildcats right there.

The University of Alabama and the University of Tennessee have played 33 football games. Alabama has won 17, Tennessee 12, and four have ended in ties.

Rickey, Approaching 70 Mark, Still Wants Winner

PITTSBURGH.—(P)—Fabulous baseball wizard Branch Rickey approached his 70th birthday Sunday with a wish that he will give the pennant-hungry Pittsburgh Pirates a championship club before too long.

Rickey, one of baseball's most progressive figures as well as its master maker of pennant teams, celebrates his 70th birthday next Thursday.

Ty Cobb, Wealthy And Happy, To Be 65, Tuesday

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO.—(P)—Tyus Raymond Cobb, one of baseball's grand men, will celebrate his 65th birthday Tuesday.

Cobb, who has become a millionaire since his active baseball days, is no longer officially associated with the game. But he has kept close to it in recent weeks by advising Twin Falls residents who purchased a franchise in the Class C Pioneer League as a community enterprise.

Cobb was one of the men they turned to for advice. Through his efforts Twin Falls solved its player shortage.

Representatives of the club, armed with letters and advance spadework by Cobb, came back from the baseball meeting in Columbus, Ohio, with a full working agreement with the San Francisco Seals and partial working agreements with the Detroit Tigers, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox.

From his winter home in Atherton, Calif., Cobb has screened several candidates for the Twin Falls managership, and it is expected he will be a guiding light behind the new club in its first season.

Now Wealthy Man

Cobb maintains three residences—at Atherton, near Lake Tahoe in Nevada and a third in Twin Falls.

While not paid the fantastic salaries of modern-day baseball men, Cobb wisely invested money in two struggling young companies. One, the Coca-Cola Company of his native state, Georgia, has made him a wealthy man. He is today also one of the largest stockholders in the general Motors Corporation.

It is not an uncommon sight to see Cobb on one of the local baseball diamonds working with "knot-hole gang" teams of teen-agers or with Pioneer League baseball players.

It has been 21 years since Cobb played his last professional baseball game. That was with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1930. But it was in the "glorious days" of 1904-26 when he was with the Detroit Tigers the famed "Georgia Peach" made baseball history with his fat batting averages and slashing spikes on the base paths.

day. His teams—the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers—have won eight pennants, tied for another and copped four world championships.

"We're in a cycle now," commented Rickey of his wallowing Pittsburgh club which has spent the last two seasons deep in the National League standings.

"There are too many men going into the army. But when the procession ends and the cycle is completed—well it will be a year after that time.

"The Pittsburgh fans are marvelous. I've never seen anybody like them in my life. It's unexplainable how loyal they are to the players and the club. It's accelerating. And that's wonderful."

47 Years In Game

In addition to celebrating his birthday, the man of bewildering contradictions also will observe his 47th year in baseball.

"You know I wanted to be a lawyer," reminisced Mahatma—sports writers gave him that name—"but when I got into baseball I just couldn't leave it. You might call me a moral coward."

There are a lot of thrills that stand out in the big time executive's baseball career. One of them is hiring of the first negro player in the majors. That was in October of 1945 when he signed Jackie Robinson for Brooklyn's Montreal affiliate.

"I was severely criticized by some for hiring Jackie," said Rickey. "But he made good and soon several other major league clubs followed suit. That to me is a thrill."

St. Joseph Downs Texas Tech, 62-58

PHILADELPHIA.—(P)—St. Joseph's College scored its sixth straight basketball victory of the season Saturday night by beating previously undefeated Texas Tech, 62-58, in the first game of the opening Convention Hall doubleheader.

Johnny Hughes' 19 points paced the unbeaten Hawks.

222 Texans Will Die Violently In Year-End Holidays

AUSTIN—(AP)—Want a coffin under your Christmas tree?

That will be the only gift needed by 222 Texans who will die violently during the Christmas holidays unless more care is taken, warns the Texas Department of Public Safety.

N. K. Woerner, chief of the department's statistical division, predicts this tabulation between midnight December 21 and midnight January 1:

- One hundred and fifteen traffic deaths.
- Forty-two homicide victims.
- Sixty-five victims of other accidents such as fires, drowning and the like.

Department Director Homer Garrison recalled that Woerner's predictions consistently have hit close to the mark.

He urged Texans to prove the expert wrong this year.

It can be done, he said, by a strict observance of the traffic laws and by the exercise of the utmost caution with fires, with firearms, during boating excursions and the like.

Geologist—

- Several acts of defamation by the officials.
- Institution of suit in U. S. District Court for money and property the company claimed belong to it.
- Instructed Standard employees not to associate with Stoddard "in any way" under penalty of dismissal.
- Instigated an investigation by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue by making false and fraudulent representations to the bureau concerning his income tax liability.

Specific Damages

- As damages, the Stoddard suit asks:
- $10,000 in attorneys fees in the suit in federal court;
- $250,000 for damage to his reputation;
- $25,000 for mental pain, suffering and anguish;
- $5,000 for expenses to Stoddard because of the alleged conspiracy; and
- $200,000 as punitive and exemplary damages.

Named as co-defendants with the oil company are: R. G. McIntyre, Houston, president; V. G. Lund, Piedmont, Calif., chairman of the board; J. P. Fox, Houston, vice president in charge of exploration; H. H. Kuester, Houston, manager of the land and lease department; and Jack Gill, Midland, division land man.

The suit was filed by Kelly Bell of the Midland law firm of Perkins, German, Mims and Bell.

Truman—

conflict that has been maintained for weeks.

But sources within the House Ways and Means subcommittee headed by Representative King (D-Calif.) made it emphatic that the group still intends to get answers to these three big questions, among others:

1. Was there really a tax fix "clique" of high Washington officials?
2. Who has been lying?
3. That one has been referred to a District of Columbia grand jury. It has received the transcript of conflicting testimony by Chicago lawyer Abraham Tetelbaum, who said he was the victim in a $500,000 shakedown attempt, and by the men named in Tetelbaum's account, all of them denying everything. The investigators hope for answers in the form of perjury indictments.
4. Just who is Henry "The Dutchman" Grunwald and what is his influence, if any, in high officialdom?

"The Dutchman" emerged as the mystery figure of the whole inquiry. He was mentioned by a half-dozen witnesses as a man on the fringes of many activities but never related to anything specific except that he was told by his friend, Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, about Tetelbaum's tax trouble.

Dutchman in Hospital

Still in a hospital here under treatment for the "nervous tension" which his doctor said made him unable to testify before the committee quit, Grunwald is held under subpoena. Adrian DeWald, committee counsel, Saturday told lawmakers he definitely will be questioned when the inquiry starts up again in Washington.

Just when that is unclear, but it certainly is weeks away.

The next congressional development is due in San Francisco, where a committee has a January 15 date to go into scandals which have troubled the Internal Revenue Bureau office and produced reverberations in the office of the U. S. attorney.

The west coast inquiry will cover the dismissal of James G. Smyth and five aides on charges ranging from failure to prevent violations to improper dealings with taxpayers. It also will go into the row between U. S. Attorney Chauncey Tramatolo and his assistant, Charles O'Gara. The assistant, who once told congressional investigators here that corruption in the local tax office "turns my stomach," launched a grand jury tax investigation that was cut off by court order. Tramatolo has recommended that he be fired.

New Sabres Replace Shooting Star Jets In Korean Air War

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—Another red-nosed MIG was blasted from the Korean skies and six were damaged Saturday as the Allies announced doubling their Sabre jet forces to meet the growing Communist MIG buildup.

The new F-86 Sabres—rushed to Korea aboard two aircraft carriers—went to the 51st Fighter Wing of the U. S. Fifth Air Force to replace obsolescent F-80 Shooting Star jets. The switch was made December 1.

Thus the 51st joins the veteran Fourth Fighter Interceptor Wing as the second all-Sabre jet outfit in Korea. The MIG-killing Fourth Sunday completes a year of combat against the swept-wing, Russian-built MIG-15s.

The Air Force announced that thus far the Fourth had destroyed 129 MIGs, eight TU-2 twin-engine bombers, and three LA-9 fighters. Also listed were 26 MIGs probably destroyed, 143 damaged and three TU-2 bombers damaged. The Air Force said 14 Sabre jets were lost in dogfights.

Thunderjets Get One

U. S. F-84 Thunderjets shot down one MIG and damaged five in a separate, low-level dogfight near Yangdok, in North-Central Korea. Twenty-four Thunderjets were jumped by 14 MIGs after making a napalm fire bomb raid on warehouses and rolling stock in and near the Communist city.

The Fifth Air Force said all the Thunderjets returned to base unscathed.

A loss of 13 planes last week was announced—the largest number for a seven-day period. The Air Force said 11 planes were shot down by Communist ground fire and two jets were missing on fighter sweeps.

The Korean Red communique broadcast from Pyongyang, claimed eight Allied planes were shot down Saturday—three in dogfights and five by ground fire.

Freezing weather limited ground action Saturday.

Midland Father Held On Charge Of Raping Daughter

A 37-year-old Midland truck driver was being held Saturday on a charge that he had raped his 13-year-old daughter.

Arrested late Friday, the man was questioned at length by District Attorney W. O. Shafer and sheriff's deputies.

Shafer said the man denied the charge, based on a statement made by the child, who told officers her father had had intimate relations with her over a period of three years.

No bond had been set late Saturday by Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson.

Negro Given Life Term For Stabbing Houston Bus Driver

HOUSTON—(AP)—Johnny Lee Morris, 25-year-old negro longshoreman, was found guilty Saturday of murder in the slaying of Florian A. Nowak and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Nowak, a bus driver, died of stab wounds in the neck and chest after a scuffle on a Mann Street bus as it was halted to load passengers on October 11.

Witnesses testified that Morris had stabbed the bus driver, Truman, a close friend of President Truman.

"It is true that Oliphant hitchhiked a ride with me, to and from the Kentucky Derby. He was not a guest of mine. I have been generous with the use of my plane to various people, government officials, servicemen, and others."

"I would like to make another thing perfectly clear. I know of before him or any other agency, other than the normal routine involving an individual of my financial interests. I have never discussed a tax matter with Mr. Oliphant. And I have no intention of doing so."

FBI Arrests Pair Wanted In Lamesa For Armed Robbery

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—(AP)—A man and a woman who fled an armed robbery charge in Texas almost three months ago were arrested by FBI agents in a Jacksonville hotel Saturday.

FBI Agent R. W. Wall Jr. identified them as Oscar William Green, 29, of Gulfport, Miss., and Thelma Green, 24, originally of Georgetown, S. C.

Wall said they were arrested June 13 in Lamesa, Tex., on charges of robbing a man of $8. The wife was released under bond. Green cut his way out of the jail September 22 and fled with his wife.

Since then the pair had been wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Wall said they will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner Monday for extradition to Texas.

Prosecutor Gets Silent Treatment In Wanger Affair

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.—(AP)—The district attorney got the silent treatment Saturday and threatened to go to the grand jury to make people talk in the Walter Wanger triangle shooting.

He tried unsuccessfully to question the victim, Jennings Lang, and then Mrs. Lang. Finally, obviously exasperated after two hours, he announced:

"Certain people apparently are persisting in defying the duly constituted agencies which are attempting to procure evidence. If this persistence on this part continues, the county grand jury will be requested to subpoena every person who refuses to cooperate."

Lang, 39, was shot down in a parking lot Thursday night as he talked with Wanger's wife, raven-haired Joan Bennett, 41, actress and thrice-married grandmother. Wanger, 57, declared to police:

"I shot him because he tried to break up my home."

This Miss Bennett and Lang, her agent, denied, the latter in a statement issued Friday through his wife. Both said their relations were purely business, and expressed the hope that the matter would be dropped.

But S. Ernest Roll, the district attorney, said flatly: "a felony charge will be filed against Wanger."

For the first time Saturday Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson disclosed that when Wanger was arrested, he was carrying a hunting knife. He fired two shots at Lang, one hitting the agent in the groin. After delicate surgery and two blood transfusions, Lang's condition Saturday was described as "generally good."

Prisoners—

Of these, some 11,000 are Americans.

Nuckols said it is impossible to negotiate on the prisoner exchange issue "until we know what we are talking about," but added:

"I hasten to make it very clear that I am not saying the UN Command has issued, or is issuing, an ultimatum."

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, head of the Allied subcommittee working on a program of armistice supervision, rejected flatly the Reds' six-point Saturday.

"You seek to gain through negotiation what you could not win through fighting," he told them.

"We are not talking as a victor over the vanquished. We are talking military realities on which this armistice must be based."

The Reds had proposed that troop rotation be limited to 5,000 monthly.

Turner observed that the Communists lack "the military capabilities" to prevent unlimited rotation of troops in Korea after any armistice.

"On the other hand," Turner told the Reds, "we do limit the extent to which you can replenish your forces."

Air Policeman's Body Found Under Dry Creek Bridge

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The body of a 32-year-old air policeman was found Saturday afternoon by two youths in a dry creek bed under the Cibola creek bridge near Schertz, Texas.

Deputy Sheriff Tony Watt said Tony Perez, 15, and Hector Martinez, 15, both of Schertz, were strolling across the bridge when they saw the khaki-clad body of a man lying in the creek bed below.

The man was identified as Pfc. George G. Webb, 32, of the 3510th Air Police Squadron at Randolph AFB.

An autopsy revealed that Webb died of a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a fractured skull.

Justice of the Peace Arthur Boens said he would withhold a verdict concerning the death until a more complete investigation could be made.

Licenses Of Dallas Attorneys Suspended

DALLAS—(AP)—The State Bar of Texas Saturday announced the suspension of the law licenses of two Dallas attorneys for operating a "quack" California-Texas divorce mill.

A third man was ordered by a district judge never to practice law in the state "unless or until" he gets a license.

E. Taylor Armstrong of the Bar Association declined to name the attorneys.

Jimmie McNicol, assistant district attorney, said the divorce racket flourished 10 years and hundreds of residents of California were sold fraudulent divorces from Dallas and Fort Worth.

McNicol's office had been unable to gather enough evidence to file criminal charges against the attorneys.

Midlanders File For Oil Leases In Utah, Nevada

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Records of the Federal Land Office showed Saturday several Texas oil men have filed for oil leases on a big area in Western Utah and Eastern Nevada.

The men have filed on 57,902 acres of land west of Tooele in Utah and approximately 600,000 acres of land in Nevada, land office records here and in Reno showed.

Heading the group are C. A. Hitt of Midland, J. T. Dennison Lubbock and C. W. Turner of Midland.

Pauley Denies All Dealings With Charles Oliphant

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Ed Pauley, wealthy oil man, returned from Mexico City Saturday night to learn his name had been brought into the Washington Internal Revenue hearing by Charles Oliphant, resigned counsel for the bureau.

Oliphant mentioned that, among various trips he had taken, was one to the Kentucky Derby with Pauley, a close friend of President Truman.

"It is true that Oliphant hitchhiked a ride with me, to and from the Kentucky Derby. He was not a guest of mine. I have been generous with the use of my plane to various people, government officials, servicemen, and others."

"I would like to make another thing perfectly clear. I know of before him or any other agency, other than the normal routine involving an individual of my financial interests. I have never discussed a tax matter with Mr. Oliphant. And I have no intention of doing so."

Man Found Beaten Fatally At Orange

ORANGES—(AP)—The badly beaten body of G. O. (Joe) Malone, a 45-year-old former Houstonian, was found in the front seat of a panel truck parked in the rear of a grocery store in downtown Orange Saturday night.

Assistant Police Chief Henry Stanfield said he believed Malone had been beaten to death with a blunt instrument.

He estimated Malone had been dead between 14 and 16 hours.

ODESSA WOMAN ILL

Mrs. Johnny Scarborough of Odessa Saturday entered Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

MEDICAL PATIENT

J. W. Gamel, 610 South Lamesa Road, Saturday was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

CHRISTMAS IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe and children left Saturday for Florida, where they will spend the Christmas holidays with relatives.

APPOINTED—Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr., former chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, has been named Washington attorney for the Pioneer Air Lines, effective January 1, according to an announcement by Gen. Robert J. Smith, president.

Parents Blame Polio Epidemic For Death Of Youths On Lake

DENISON, TEXAS—(AP)—An Odessa couple, whose son was one of four drowned in Lake Texoma December 8, Saturday blamed the Odessa polio epidemic for the deaths.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reed said the quartet of teen-agers never would have made the trip had it not been for the epidemic.

"School was at a virtual standstill and they told us they would miss nothing by going (duck hunting)," the Reeds said.

The Reeds, as well as parents of three other drowned youths, are keeping vigil here as searchers probe the lake searching for the bodies.

The drowned boys whose bodies have not been found are Robert Reed and Jerry Harrod of Odessa and Harry Kirkin, Abilene. The body of Shirley Thomas, Odessa, was found two days after the accident.

Going on the lake in a small boat while waves were high, the youths were thrown into the water when the boat overturned. Robert Davenport, Odessa, clung to the overturned craft until it was washed onto a small island. He was rescued 30 hours after the accident.

Dillon, Howard Win Annual Key Awards

Ed Dillon and Raymond Howard were presented awards as Key Men of the Year at the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas party at Ranchland Hill Country Club Friday night.

Dillon's award was made for his outstanding work in the field of sports, as JayCee athletic director. Howard received his award for "willingness to work without thought to personal gain" in any JayCee project.

Both received watch chain tokens with their names and "Key Man" inscribed on them. H. D. Bushnell made the presentations.

Dillon is employed as a geologist with Shell Oil Company. He has been in Midland and has been a JayCee since 1949. He is a University of Illinois graduate.

Howard is employed by Atlantic Refining Company and has been a Midland resident three years. He is a graduate of the University of Texas.

Mrs. Ray Gwyn was presented a gift by JayCee President Frank Hawk for printing and distributing the weekly JayCee program cards to the members.

Approximately 50 couples attended a dinner which was followed by a dance in the Ranchland Hill Ballroom.

Exchange Of Oil Ideas Urged By Russell B. Brown

ABILENE—(AP)—Exchange of ideas on oil development among Western hemisphere nations was urged Saturday night by Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

He said it would result in a better understanding of industry problems of the individual nation, with the over-all result that "the fields of each country might be developed in such manner as to get the fullest possible expansion without injury to any country through thoughtless ambitions of another."

Brown made his recommendations in a speech prepared for delivery at the banquet meeting of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association.

A study of the oil industry of Western hemisphere nations, he said, should include difference of mineral rights ownership in the various nations, the displacement of the Western hemisphere market by Middle Eastern oil, the rapid expansion of potential oil producing capacity in Canada and the maintenance of reserve producing capacity.

200 Searchers Fail To Find Trace Of Missing Biologist

PALESTINE—(AP)—Almost two hundred men failed Saturday to find a clue in the deepening mystery of what became of Gus Engeling, State Game Department biologist who dropped from sight Thursday in the state's 9,000-acre game reservation 20 miles north of here.

Airplanes dived slowly in circles over the heavily wooded bottomland, where Engeling left a pipe line crew Thursday morning to investigate a shot he heard in a marsh only yards away.

Below the planes, men waded through the shallow water of the marsh for the third straight day, seeking some sign of Engeling. Others used boats to grapple in the deeper water of a slough and Catfish Creek.

Twenty-degree temperature in the watery bottomland early Saturday, and a chill wind that continued through the day added to the misery of men wading in the swamp.

Engeling was with a pipe line crew, repairing a break in the line through the refuge when the shot was fired. That was at about 10:25 a.m., Dudley Jackson, foreman of the pipe line crew, said.

Engeling left without a word, and walked into the brush toward the sound of the shot.

About ten minutes later a second shot was fired. Neither shot, Jackson estimated, was more than two hundred yards away.

"The first shot scared up a flock of ducks," Jackson said. "But we didn't see any ducks after the second."

Engeling was unarmed, Jackson said.

15,000 Texans Say They'll Support Ike

DENISON—(AP)—Robert Duss, chairman of the Texas for Eisenhower movement started here Saturday said some 15,000 pledges of support for General Eisenhower for president had been received.

"And we are now averaging about 500 cards or letters daily," said the young Denison attorney.

The movement was launched Thanksgiving Day with a broadcast from Denison, where Eisenhower was born.

Spraberry Is Now Proven For Almost 488,000 Acres

ABILENE — The vast Spraberry Trend of the Midland Basin can be calculated to have 488,000 proven productive areas. Walter M. Wilkinson, district geologist for Sohio Petroleum Company, told the opening technical session of the West-Central Texas Oil & Gas Association here.

All of the Spraberry Trend with all of its possibilities could have a calculated 800,000 acres of proven production, he added.

"It should be realized," Wilkinson said, "that the Spraberry production, particularly the production being obtained, and to be obtained from the Four Corners area, will have a terrific impact on the oil industry."

Costs $93,000

"The drilling of a Spraberry well takes an average of 31 days to reach casing point above the Spraberry pay. Statistics show that the average cost for a completed well is $93,000."

On December 1, there were 746 wells on production in the trend, 378 completed by independents and 368 by major companies, he said.

C. S. Noland, district geologist for Sibley Oil Company, told the meeting that during the past 18 months, "Stonewall County advanced from an operator's graveyard to one of the better producing oil counties of West-Central Texas."

Eighteen of Stonewall's 21 producing pools were opened between June 1950 and December 1951, he said.

Major Area

Baring shortages in tubular goods for the coming year I would predict by the close of 1952 Stonewall County will have increased its production to such an extent that it will be classed as one of the major producing counties of West-Central Texas," Noland said.

A study of the oil industry in Western Hemisphere nations and the exchange of ideas obtained from such a study should encourage the full development of petroleum resources by each Western Hemisphere country without injury to the welfare of any nation.

This view was expressed by Russell B. Brown, general counsel, Independent Petroleum Association of America, in an address at the meeting.

The Western Hemisphere oil study committee of IPAA is the result of the need felt by the Association for such a study, added Brown.

"A strong domestic industry provides the first line of defense against any aggression that threatens our country and supplies an immediate source of available petroleum products for such countries as may be allied with us in the defense of ideals essential to world peace," pointed out Brown.

Domestic Industry

"It is, therefore, essential that we maintain our strength and be constantly alert as to the needs of our own welfare."

Our second line of defense, we have been told, said Brown, "is provided through the ability of other countries of the Western Hemisphere to maintain their own use and available to us, supplemental petroleum supplies that may be used not only for their own armed forces, but be available to supplement our own supply when needed."

Brown supported this by referring to the testimony of Rear Admiral Burton B. Biggs, executive secretary of the Munitions Board Petroleum Committee, before the House Small Business Committee.

Oil Study

Brown foresaw the study of the oil industry of Western Hemisphere nations as resulting in a better understanding of the individual problems of the individual nation, with the overall result that "the fields of each country might be developed in such manner as to get the fullest possible expansion without injury to any country through thoughtless ambitions of another."

The technical session closed with a banquet Saturday night. Almost 300 members attended the meeting—breaking all previous registration records.

A large number of Midlanders attended the meeting.

Brooks Joins Rinehart

R. P. Brooks, Jr., has joined the staff of Rinehart Oil News Company at its headquarters in Dallas. He is a former oil editor of the Dallas Times Herald and of the Shreveport Journal.

SW Headquarters For Graham-Paige Opened In Midland

Headquarters for the southwestern operations of Graham-Paige Corporation and of its wholly-owned subsidiary, The R. Olsen Oil Company have been established in Midland.

James Goodwin Hall, vice president of both corporations, formerly of New York and Fort Worth, will be in charge of their activities in the region to be handled by the Midland office.

Archie C. McColl, Jr., will head the geological department of R. Olsen Oil Company and he will work out of the Midland office.

He recently moved to Midland from Jal, N. M., where he had been stationed for several years while in charge of the geological and field work departments of the Olsen organization.

Fraser Visits

Decision to open the branch offices for Graham-Paige and Olsen in Midland were made during a recent visit to this city by Joseph W. Fraser, chairman and president; John J. Bergen, chairman of the executive committee; Irving M. Felt, chairman of the finance committee of Graham-Paige Corporation, formerly an automobile manufacturing company, is now an investment company which holds investments in several industries.

In May, 1951, the corporation completed purchase of the R. Olsen Oil Company, which company is continuing its drilling program on

PB A&M Dance Slated In Odessa At Lincoln Hotel

AIME Group Is To Meet On Monday

The Permian Basin section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers will have a double-barrel program Monday night at 6:30 in the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa.

Announcement will be made of the results of a mail ballot to select a chairman for the organization for 1952 and William G. James, an official of Eastman Oil Well Supply Company, will address the gathering on the subject of "Recent Developments in Lateral Drilling."

Candidates for the 1952 chairman are: Joe Chastain, Bethlehem Supply Company; Ray Howard, The Atlantic Refining Company and Curtis McCarty, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company.

James is vice president and Central manager of Eastman and has been associated with the company for over 18 years.

His career with the company has been dotted with such spectacular credits as drilling of a relief well for the Humble Oil & Refining Company at Corpus Christi.

From 1945 to 1950, James was Gulf Coast division manager for the company at Houston and in February, 1950, he was transferred to Denver in his present position.

J. M. Moore is chairman, Joe Chastain is vice-chairman and R. S. Ousterhout is secretary-treasurer of the Permian Basin chapter of AIME.

Four New 'Veeps' Elected By Texaco At Board Meeting

The Texas Company today announced the election of four new vice presidents at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on Friday, December 7.

Oscar John Dorwin, General Counsel, has been made vice president and general counsel. A. N. Lilley, general manager, foreign operations, Eastern Hemisphere, becomes vice president in charge of that department.

James H. Pipkin has been promoted from general manager of industrial and public relations to vice president in charge of that department. A. M. Oxtun, assistant to the president, was elected a vice president and will head the newly created supply and distribution department.

Buchanan Is Now Back In Midland After Long Illness

T. J. (Buck) Buchanan, employee of Oil Center Tool Company, Midland, is back in this city after a year's absence, during which time he was in a Temple hospital.

Buchanan, associated with the sales department of OCT, is now doing business from his home by telephone. He has lived in Midland since 1938, and has been in the firm's sales department five years.

Five Industrial Housing Projects Are To Be Built In Midland Field Areas

SOHIO HOMES—Partial view of the Glasscock County camp for Sohio Petroleum Company approximately 30 miles southeast of the City of Midland, being built by Whitmor Homebuilders, Inc.

Contracts totaling more than $1,000,000 for five industrial housing projects in the fast-growing Midland oil field area have been awarded to Whitmor Homebuilders, Inc., of Tulsa, it is announced by Burl Johnson, vice president of sales.

"Completion of these projects by March, 1952, should help relieve the continuing need for good housing in the Midland area, touched off by the major Spraberry Trend oil discoveries there," Johnson declared.

Whitmor is utilizing for the Midland work the same trained, traveling crews of workmen it has employed in similar major projects in other areas. As was true in those instances all those employed on the Midland projects (250 workmen under four superintendents, with a general superintendent in charge) have been transferred as a unit from Tulsa.

To coordinate and direct the work, Whitmor has established headquarters here under H. E. Wicker, general superintendent.

22 In Midland

Largest of the projects is the construction of 54 houses for the Sohio Petroleum Company. Twenty-two of these houses will be in Midland and 24 at the company's Glasscock County camp, 30 miles southeast of Midland.

In Glasscock County the Whitmor concern will be responsible for constructing an entire community, complete with houses, streets, water and gas lines, a water tower, recreation building and tennis courts. In addition, the isolated houses for pumpers will be built at various field locations.

Thirteen homes are under construction at the Stanton camp of the Humble Oil & Refining Company, and 11 more for the Magnolia Petroleum Company at the latter's Pegasus natural gasoline camp, 30 miles southwest of Midland.

Tex-Harvey

At the Tex-Harvey gasoline plant camp site, Whitmor is at work on 10 houses for field men and their families.

All 90 houses involved in the four projects are complete, conventional, fully-built six-room homes, each with attached garage, bath, asbestos siding, and select oak floors. All are fully insulated. The houses for Humble and Magnolia are being built to specifications and plans of those companies, while the Sohio and Tex-Harvey project houses have been designed by the builders.

Stanolind Changes Job Assignments Of Several Executives

FORT WORTH—The board of directors of Stanolind Oil and Gas Company elected two new members to the board effective January 1, 1952, according to announcement by E. F. Bullard, company president.

New board members are John R. Evans, manager of Stanolind's North Texas-New Mexico Division with offices in Fort Worth, and Leslie A. Thompson, general counsel, Tulsa general office.

At the same time, Bullard announced a number of important personnel changes in Stanolind's Tulsa general office, and in the Central and Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast Division offices.

Clarke Gets New Job

Six men were included in the list of promotions which are also effective January 1, 1952. George W. Clarke, now director of exploration and a board member, will be manager of the Central Division in Oklahoma City, replacing J. H. Forrester, who was recently appointed manager of research for Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

All operations in the Central Division, consisting of Kansas, Oklahoma, Eastern Nebraska, Northern Louisiana and Mississippi, are under the jurisdiction of the Central Division office at Oklahoma City. F. J. Schemp, who is now manager of the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast Division at Houston, will succeed Clarke in Tulsa as director of exploration.

Yost Succeeds Schemp

The new division manager at Houston will be F. R. Yost, now manager of the producing department and a board member. The Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast Division is comprised of Southern Louisiana and the southern half of Texas bordering on the Gulf of Mexico.

Reagan Seven D Extension Is Seen At Devonian Test

Possibilities of extending the Reagan production of the Seven D field of Northeast Reagan County two miles to the west have been indicated at The Devonian Company No. 1 Suck.

That prospector is 680 feet from north and east lines of section 182, block 2, T&P-survey and 12 miles northeast of Stiles.

Casing Was Set

It topped the Spraberry at 5,630 feet. Drilling continued to 5,641 feet and 7-inch casing was cemented there.

The interval at 5,632-40 feet logged shows oil in samples.

However that zone was cased off when the pipe was run. After the plug on the casing was drilled out the project depend to 5,666 feet.

An eight-hour drillstem test was run at 5,641-66 feet—covering the open hole section.

Hole Had Load

There was some drilling oil and some load oil in the hole when that test was run.

During the time the tester was open five barrels of oil was flowed out at the top.

Recovery from the drill pipe, when that string was pulled, was 3,255 feet of fluid. Of that 2,855 feet was oil and the other 400 feet was salt water.

Operator representatives were unable to determine how much of the oil which was recovered during the drillstem test was new oil and how much of it was load oil and drilling oil.

Will Plug Back

Since it is rather certain that the water which came in the test was bottom hole fluid, operator is to set a cement plug at 5,633-61 feet to try to eliminate that water.

When the plug cures a drillstem test will be run at 5,641-53 feet.

After the producing ability of that interval is determined the casing will be perforated at 5,632-40 feet and a drillstem test will be taken on that section.

Producer Expected

Informed and interested observers think the wildcat will be completed as a commercial producer and an extender to the Seven D field's Spraberry reservoir.

That field also has production in one well from the Wolfcamp of the lower Permian.

Texaco Wildcat In Midland Is Flowing To Test, Complete

The Texas Company is in process of completing its No. 1-1 G. C. Fraser (TXL), West-Central Midland County exploration which has already proven for commercial production from the Wolfcamp section of the lower Permian.

It is one and one-half miles south of the lone producer from the Wolfcamp in the Hi-Lonesome field and it is two miles west of the nearest completed oil well in the Parks-Pennsylvanian field.

Had Flowed Oil

It had flowed 17 barrels of clear oil in 30 minutes naturally in a drillstem test at 9,660-9,763 feet.

That flow came during a six and one-half-hour test. Gas surfaced in five minutes, mud came to the top in three hours and 30 minutes and the oil began to flow in three hours and 35 minutes. Gravity of the oil was 38.9 degrees.

Recovery when the drill pipe was pulled was 220 feet of oil and gas cut mud. There were no signs of formation water.

Operator then cemented casing on bottom. The cement was drilled out to 9,735 feet and the pipe was perforated at 9,684-9,735 feet.

That interval was treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

At last report the project was swabbing and flowing to clean out, test and complete. It was recovering oil at the rate of 19 barrels per hour.

Part of that oil was from the load and part of it was new oil.

In the first seven hours of the current swabbing and flowing the project recovered a total of 139 barrels of the load oil.

There was still some of that fluid to get out at the end of the seven hours.

Operator representatives think the extender will be cleaned out and producing new oil in a steady flow in a short time.

Location is eight miles southwest of the city of Midland and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 31, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Mid-Continent Sets 5,500-Foot Wildcat In SE Cochran Area

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation is to start operations soon at its No. 1-3 Smith Ranch, which is to be a 5,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Cochran County to explore the San Andres-Permian lime.

Location will be at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 15, block W, psi survey.

That puts it two miles southwest of the nearest producers from the San Andres. That production is in two small wells owned by Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and The Atlantic Refining Company on the Masten leases. Those wells are carried in the Levelland field.

The Mid-Continent prospector is 10 miles south and slightly east of the town of Bledsoe.

Phillips To Begin Drilling At Once On Lea Wildcats

Phillips Petroleum Company has staked two new locations for immediate drilling in Lea County. Both prospects are to be wildcats.

Three miles southeast of the Crossroads-multipay field in Northeast Lea, the firm will drill No. 1 Cross.

It is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 6-10S-36E.

In Northwest Lea

The other new location is No. 1 Chem-State in Northwest Lea County. Drill site is 785 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4-15S-32E.

It is scheduled to be drilled to 12,500 feet with rotary tools.

Location is two miles east of The Texas Company No. 1-AS State, a recent lower Wolfcamp discovery and one and one-half miles, northwest of Phillips No. 1-A Pello, active wildcat which flowed oil on a drillstem test of the upper Wolfcamp at 9,504-9,532 feet.

Correct Potential Reported For C-S Terry Exploration

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has completed its No. 2 Elmer Miller, new producer in the Adair-Wolfcamp field of Central-South Terry County, for a calculated 24-hour potential of 492 barrels of 44.7-gravity oil plus two-tenths of one per cent water.

Recovery was 5,100 feet of clean oil. Most of that oil was unloaded from the drill pipe while it was being pulled.

There was no signs of formation water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,820 pounds. Shut in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 3,070 pounds.

The project was then deepened to 8,371 feet and a one hour and 20-

Officers For 1952 Of Crude Oil Group Have Been Elected

The Permian Basin Crude Oil Scouts Association has elected officers for the 1952 term.

Sid W. Binlon with The Atlantic Refining Company is president and vice president is G. L. Shoemaker with Stanolind Oil Purchasing Company.

Guy Willis, Pan American Production Company, is secretary-editor. He collects material for National Oil Scouts yearbook in addition to his regular duties as secretary.

Jim Winton with Gulf Oil Corporation is treasurer and W. S. Maxwell, Stanolind Oil Purchasing Company, is to serve on the board of directors to National Oil Scouts & Landmen's Association representing the PBCOSA.

More Pay Sought Saturday In Lime At Terry Wildcat

Coroco Drilling Company No. 1, 8,351-71 feet.

There was a weak flow of air for five minutes. It then died. Recovery was 20 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or formation water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 50 pounds and the shut in bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was still 50 pounds.

The hole was then drilled another 20 feet to 8,371 feet, and the test which was being run at last report was started.

Ideas Are Mixed

The shows of oil and gas in this project are from a lime in the Permian. Most geologists who have checked the samples say it is of Spraberry age.

Top of the Spraberry has been called at 7,770 feet, which is on a datum of minus 4,317 feet. Top of the Clear Fork has been picked to be at 8,302 feet, which is on a datum of minus 4,849 feet.

Some observers say that the pay which has been found in Coroco No. 1 Atlas Life is comparable to the Clear Fork pay in the Wasson field to the southwest.

WASHINGTON OIL— World-Wide Expansion Of Petroleum Industry Is Forecast For 1952

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A thumping expansion of petroleum operations in the free world outside the United States has been approved for 1952 by the Petroleum Administration for Defense. The petroleum agency supervises allocations of steel to the oil industry.

Here are some highlights of the foreign expansion program:

1. A total of 5,400 new wells are to be sunk, about 50 per cent more than in 1951.

2. Crude production is to advance to about 5,000,000 barrels daily, close to nine per cent above the 1951 level.

3. Crude runs to stills in existing refineries are to be hiked by 480,000 barrels daily, to a total of 4,500,000 barrels daily.

4. New refining capacity of 340,000 barrels daily is to be installed and put into use; the major areas are England, elsewhere in Europe, South America and Canada.

5. A total of 14 crude oil pipe lines, are to be completed during the year, seven in the Middle East and five in Venezuela; they will cover 1,200 miles and add 2,500,000 barrels daily to capacity, and be able to carry half the world's crude oil production outside the United States.

The most spectacular increase is seen in the foreign oil well drilling activity. The Canadian program approved by the PAD, for instance, calls for 2,000 new wells, a 66 per cent increase. In tabular form, here's the story:

	1951	1952	Increase
Canada	1,200	2,000	800
Foreign Except Canada	2,435	3,443	1,008
Totals	3,635	5,443	1,808

The petroleum agency says the foreign well goal has been set "high in an effort to take care of an expected rise in foreign demand as well as a probable increase in United States imports." An increased production of 400,000 barrels daily from foreign fields is "contemplated by the petroleum agency."

The striking size of the next year program is indicated by a comparison with 1950 drilling, the last year for which figures are available. Here are a few comparisons on foreign well drilling:

Canada	1,345	2,000
Venezuela	393	1,424
Mexico	217	482

The 1950 total of oil wells outside the United States and Russian-controlled areas was 3,452; the estimate for 1952 is 5,443. The 1952 figure breaks down to 4,891 for the Western Hemisphere and 552 elsewhere.

Crude oil production is expected to climb almost 10 per cent as an average for the year, over the 1951 year-long average, says the petroleum agency. The figures are from 4,600,000 barrels daily to 5,015,000 barrels daily.

Here are a few of the areas, and the increase they are expected to show:

	1951 Av.	1952 Av.	Increase
Crude Oil Output	4,600,000	5,015,000	415,000
Canada	145,000	200,000	55,000
Venezuela	1,747,000	1,960,000	213,000
Mexico	210,000	482,000	272,000
Colombia	120,000	10,000	-110,000
Rest of Western Hemisphere	178,000	2,000	-176,000
Total Western Hemisphere	2,395,000	2,492,000	97,000
Middle East	2,240,000	247,000	-1,993,000
Iraq		80,000	80,000

Geological Report On Raton Region Has Been Issued

Southern Colorado and Northern New Mexico, now being eyed for possible oil development, are subjects for a detailed geological report published by the Colorado School of Mines.

"Late Cenozoic Erosional History of the Raton Mesa Region" contains 31 photographs and illustrations and 16 large contour and cross-section maps.

He spent several Summers in the mesa region working on the report. His main purpose was to present a working hypothesis concerning the age and mode of origin of the Cenozoic surfaces.

Subjects covered include: previous geologic studies, geology, geologic settings, stratigraphy, structure, geomorphology and conclusions.

Levis points out that the Raton Mesa region is of interest mainly because "the remnants of a high-level, widespread graded surface elsewhere destroyed by deep erosion, here have been preserved by protective sheets of basalt."

The quarterly sells for $2.50 and may be purchased from the publications department of the Colorado School of Mines, Golden.

Texas Completes 217 New Oil Wells

AUSTIN—Texas added another 217 new oil wells to its growing petroleum empire last week. It boosted the year's total oil completions to 10,434, leading last year's total at this point by 173, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The week's completions were 51 fewer than the previous week's production but still were well ahead of the 140 completions of two weeks ago.

Gas well completions jumped from nine to 41 last week; building the year's total to 861. That is 144 more than had been brought in during the comparable period a year ago. Dry holes totaled 120, building this year's total to 5,718 compared to last year's considerably fewer 4,429.

Wildcat operations brought in eight oil wells, one gas well, and 73 dry holes. It wasn't enough oil wells, however, to overcome the lead of last year's 538 over this year's 530. This year's 118 gas wildcats, however, still held a good edge over last year's 76. Wildcat dry holes for the year have totaled 3,227, way ahead of last year's 2,254 to date.

Plugging included 167 wells, boosting the year's total to 8,416 compared to 6,689 a year ago.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable Saturday was 2,982,005 barrels, up 13,629 barrels from a week ago.

The state had 132,167 oil wells as of Saturday, a net increase of 178 from the previous week.

TM-CO&GA Will Hold 1952 Meet In Fort Worth

DALLAS—Texas oil and gas operators next year will gather in Fort Worth, October 13-15, for the 33rd annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, Charles E. Simons, executive vice president, announced.

Headquarters for the 1952 meeting will be the Hotel Texas.

Fort Worth was the site of the association's 1948 meeting. This year the event was held in Beaumont.

Magnolia Finals Lime Discovery In C-E Lea Section

HOBSB, N. M.—Magnolia Petroleum Company has completed its No. 1 J. D. Black, Central-East Lea County wildcat as a pumping producer and the opener of a new oil field from the Pennsylvanian lime.

Tucker Announces Name Change For Drilling Concern

LUBBOCK—R. C. Tucker, president of George P. Livermore, Inc., has announced a change in the name of that concern. The new name will be Great Western Drilling Company and the change is now in effect.

Great Western Drilling Company operates 20 rotary drilling rigs in West Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas and also has oil production in most of those areas.

The change in firm name will in no way affect operation or company policy, Tucker stated. The change merely one in name and the current officers and personnel will continue in their present capacities.

Headquarters will remain in Lubbock with branch offices in Midland, Denver, and Farmington, N.M. Tucker came with George P. Livermore, Inc. and the Great Western Producers, Inc. in January 1945 as vice president. He was elevated to the presidency in July 1951. He has 32 years experience in the oil industry with the past 19 years in the West Texas area.

In announcing the new company name, Tucker stated that operations of the Great Western Producers, Inc. incorporated in 1936 and a wholly owned subsidiary of Great Western Drilling Company with considerable production in West Texas and New Mexico, will continue without change in name or policy of operation.

More Pay Found At Long Outpost In North Dakota

The M. B. Rudman-American Viking-Toga Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Math Iverson, Williams County, North Dakota, has cored and tested the top of another oil pay, according to the information just released by the operators.

First pay encountered in the Williston Basin test was at 8,267 to 8,500 feet in Madison lime, 130 effective pay flowing 40 barrels an hour of 45-gravity paraffin base oil on a three-hour test.

On second pay, the well was cored from 9,873 feet to 9,922 feet with the testing tool set 9,873, open one hour and 45 minutes. The test resulted in 850 feet of oil and gas cut mud and some free oil.

Test was run 500 feet above the Devonian pay of the No. 1 Clarence Iverson discovery well which is one and a half miles north of the Math Iverson. The operators believe there will be possibly 600 feet or more of Devonian section in the Math Iverson and they plan to core an additional 50 feet and run another drillstem test. The discovery well, in addition to an upper Devonian, had a lower Devonian pay which flowed 55-gravity oil at 11,630-11,860 feet.

Newman Is New WT Scout For Midstates Oil

Justin P. Newman is the new West Texas scout for Midstates Oil Corporation. He resigned a job as oil and gas inspector and scout for the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission to take the job with Midstates.

He worked for the New Mexico commission four years and was stationed at Artesia while on that assignment. Had Been Scout Chief He had been president of the New Mexico Oil Scouts Association until he came to Midland. He was succeeded in that position by Arnold Brown of Midland, a New Mexico scout for Shell Oil Company. Newman is a past president of the Artesia Kiwanis Club. C. R. Vandervoort of Midland is district manager for Midstates in the West Texas-New Mexico Permian Basin.

Blake Is Named SGC Manager In Rocky Mountains

Elmer F. Blake, who has been in the Midland office of Southern Geophysical Company for the past two years, has been named manager of the Rocky Mountain Division of the company with offices in Denver, according to an announcement released Saturday by Dr. Sidon Harris, president.

Southern Geophysical Company now has several crews operating in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and surrounding states. According to Dr. Harris, the Korean situation and the cessation of Iranian production have caused geophysical exploration in the northwestern hemisphere to reach an all-time high. Seismograph activities in the United States have increased 20 per cent in the past year.

Recent encouragement in northeastern Montana has given further impetus to future seismic campaigns in the state and North Dakota which, coupled with increased activity in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Western Nebraska, make the Rocky Mountain area an unusually active oil exploration section.

Southern Geophysical Company is keeping step with the tremendous effort to locate substantial additional potential oil in the continental United States which are so essential to national defense and the welfare of the country. The company's 16 well seismograph field units are actively engaged at the present time in the Southwest and Rocky Mountain areas.

In moving from the Midland office to Southern Geophysical Company to establish the Rocky Mountain Division, Blake is returning to familiar territory since he has been in geophysical work for the past 18 years having served with Western Geophysical Company and National Geophysical Company before joining Southern early in 1949.

Blake received his B. S. degree from North Texas State College in 1925, majoring in physics and chemistry. His geophysical experience has been in the Rocky Mountains, West Texas, South and East Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Kansas, Louisiana and Arkansas. He is a member of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists and the Permian Basin Geophysical Society.

Good Record Through half a century of service in diversified fields of American industry and in practically all foreign countries, Sterling engines have established an outstanding record of satisfactory dependable performance. They are providing economical power for railroad locomotives, U. S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard boats, and private yachts, fishing boats, ferries, lift bridges, electric power plants, pumping stations, airports, public buildings, cranes, bulldozers and power for numerous other purposes.

During World War II, Sterling Engine Company developed a line of diesel engines known as the Viking, to meet Army, Navy and Coast Guard requirements. The Viking line of diesel engines is manufactured in six and eight cylinder, super-charged and super-boosted, and ranges from 600 to 1,200 horsepower. The Sterling Viking diesel engines combine modern design and many advanced features of production developments.

Graham-Page Corporation activities in Texas will be conducted through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Graham-Page Company of Texas.

IOCC Termed Result Of Shotgun Wedding Of Oil Forces For Conservation

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—(AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission meets here this week, and two of the program highlights will be (a) problems connected with underground storage of gas and (b) attendance by representatives of the Venezuelan government.

Dates for the annual winter meeting of the organization are December 11-12.

The commission is made up and controlled by oil-producing states. Its purpose is to prevent waste of a natural resource—crude petroleum—through cooperative measures. The IOCC has no police powers; it simply recommends action to be followed by the individual states.

It is financed solely by contributions from member states. Not a cent comes from oil companies. The IOCC is the product of what might be called a shotgun wedding of forces desiring conservation of oil and others more interested in warding off possible federal control of the industry.

Rocky Courtship The marriage came off in 1935, after a rocky courtship. Although the need for cooperative action in exercising some control over oil and gas production was proposed back in 1924, it was seven years before something began to crystallize.

Back in the twenties, it was an open season on drilling and production. By 1931, the depression was moving in and a flood of oil from the East Texas and Oklahoma City fields was threatening to demoralize the industry. The governors of Texas and Oklahoma issued shutdown orders and, without laws to resort to calling out the militia to enforce the orders.

Governors of those two states and two others, Kansas and New Mexico, met in Fort Worth to draft a uniform statute governing conservation.

Before anything came of this endeavor, the New Deal took over in Washington. Passage of the National Industrial Recovery Act and adoption of the code of fair competition for the petroleum industry were temporary aids.

Conflict At Outset In 1934, it was suggested in Congress that states form an oil compact commission, and after elections that year, governors began another attempt to develop a uniform conservation program.

There was conflict at the outset between the governors of Oklahoma and Texas; between those who wanted conservation and those who feared price-fixing and production quotas to gain the objective.

After several sessions, a compromise was reached and, as one writer put it, an organization—the Interstate Oil Compact Commission—was born of necessity. The compact was determined at a Dallas meeting, Feb. 1, 1935 and the organization perfected at Oklahoma City, Sept. 12, 1935. The late Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma was the first president.

Six Member States At the beginning, there were six member states—Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Illinois and New Mexico. In the years that followed, other states have joined after their legislatures ratified the compact agreement. Now there are 20 full members and two associates.

Following the original six were Michigan, Arkansas, Louisiana, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio, Montana, West Virginia, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Indiana and Mississippi. Georgia and Arizona are associated members.

Two states—Utah and North Dakota—scenes of recent discoveries, don't belong. The retiring president is Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas. New officers are to be named at the two-day, public-invited sessions this week.

In addition to Shivers and the host governor, Sid McMath of Arkansas, four other governors are expected—John Murray of Oklahoma, Edward F. Arn of Kansas, Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi and Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico.

Brady Made New Seaboard District Engineer In Midland

H. J. Brady is the new district engineer in the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware Midland production department.

He takes the place formerly held by Cecil Matthews, who was recently moved to Seaboard's division headquarters at Dallas and made chief engineer in that office.

Brady came to Midland from the Vealmoor area office in Howard County, where he had been field engineer. "Doc" Loop is superintendent of Seaboard's production and drilling department in the Midland district.

Evans Is Veteran John R. Evans, new board member and manager of the North Texas-New Mexico Division, is a graduate of the Colorado School of Mines. He joined the Midwest Refining Company, a predecessor of Stanolind, in 1925.

From 1925 to 1948, he advanced from scout and petroleum engineer to division engineer in the Rocky Mountains Division, and chief production engineer in Tulsa.

He has been division manager since January, 1948. The North Texas-New Mexico Division takes in East, North-Central and West Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and the southern one-third of Colorado.

Near Completion Within the next few months, Stanolind will complete a program of decentralization begun early in 1951.

When the program is finished, each of the company's four divisions in this country will be a completely integrated operation insofar as staff functions are concerned.

Auto Designer Sees Car Of The Future As More Efficient And Easier To Drive

Harley Earl's Le Sabre: "No matter how fantastic, it may inspire an important improvement."

By HARLEY J. EARL
Vice President, General Motors Corp.

DETROIT (NEA)—I have been told that Le Sabre probably is the best known automobile in the United States today. Certainly the public response is beyond anything we anticipated, both in the United States and Europe.

At its Paris and Antwerp showings, Le Sabre attracted more interested spectators than any automobile display I've seen, and for the last 25 years I've made it my business to attend European shows. It has never been our intention to imply that Le Sabre as such is "the car of the future." It is a laboratory on wheels, and as such its value is not in the car itself but in what we will learn from it.

We knew even before we built it that parts of it would be impractical for general use, but we knew that even there we could learn things that would help us build better cars in the future.

Too Expensive

We know from experience that no matter how fantastic an idea may appear to be, it may very well inspire an important improvement in future automobile design. I can remember, for instance, when Le Sabre's predecessor was exhibited in 1938, quite a few people actuated convertible top and door windows would be too expensive, require too bulky machinery to be practical for stock cars.

You have only to check the cars in the street to see how wrong they were. Similar doubts were raised about push-button door latches, fender extensions over the doors and tail lamps recessed in rear fenders. Those "startling" innovations of 1938 design, are a conventional part of today's automobile.

Our reasoning for building the 1938 car and new Le Sabre was very simple. The automobile more than anything else reflects the contemporary feeling of American people; it illustrates our urge to keep moving ahead, to have next year's model this year. The use of our experimental Le Sabre is one of the ways we keep ahead of the public demand.

Thinking ahead, plotting future designs on the drawing board is not enough. Some ideas that appear practicable on paper are not practicable in metal. Some ideas that seem desirable but impractical on paper can be worked out in the actual building.

We know, for example, that because of the expense and scarcity, magnesium and aluminum are not practical to the extent we have used them in Le Sabre. But as the result of our experiment we may be able to make increasing use of them as they become available.

Similarly, it would be just as rash to say what in Le Sabre will not eventually be adaptable to stock cars as for us to predict what will. A few of the things you see in Le Sabre, and certainly adaptations of many, will be in General Motors cars within your buying experience.

People ask, "Isn't your exaggerated design just for effect?" The answer is definitely no. Typically, the twin fins on Le Sabre serve the functional purpose of carrying aircraft-type 20-gallon rubberized fuel cells.

Car Of Future

This much certainly can be predicted: The car of the future will be more efficient, easier to handle, more comfortable and easier to maintain. The reason for saying that is indicated by just a few items in Le Sabre, such as a lighting system that gives maximum visibility and also outlines the car to drivers approaching and following.

In addition to a warm air circulating system, thermostatically controlled electric seat warmers, similar in principle to the electrically heated flying suit, Le Sabre has electrically motivated hydraulic jacks attached to the frame, which can be controlled by electrical control. A convertible top raises automatically at the first drop of rain.

How many of these items you will see in the car of the future, how soon, no one can say. But over the years you will see cars which bear a family resemblance to Le Sabre.

Besides his years of experience as a newspaper man, Callahan has done public relations work on a national scale in New York City and has written two books.

His column appears in numerous newspapers over the nation including several in Texas. It is a different kind of New York column—down-to-earth, about human-interest things and people in the biggest city in the world, but with an out-of-towner's viewpoint, much as if he were visiting there from Midland.

"I have visited Midland," writes Callahan, "and am familiar with its fine newspaper and its friendly people. It will be a genuine pleasure to write a piece from New York each week for them."

Alabama Tightens Voter Qualification

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP)—A new voter qualification amendment which negates fear white supremacy advocates could use against them apparently has won approval in Alabama.

With only 70 boxes unreported in one of the closest state elections in years, the vote was 58,917 for the amendment and 56,773 against.

The amendment was one of 24, seven with state-wide application, on which Alabama electors voted Tuesday.

The new law would give county boards of registrars broad judicial powers in deciding whether a new applicant was qualified for registration as a voter.

The new law would require prospective new voters to be of good character and embrace the duties of citizenship.

HOW ADVERTISING AFFECTS YOUR JOB

Raises, Cuts, Promotions, Layoffs Often Depend on How Much the Firm Sells

NEXT time you hear or read advertising, just stop and analyze how it affects you.

Its purpose is to sell goods or services. More sales mean more work to be done. That means more jobs in the firm that advertises... and more jobs in the hundred and one firms with which it does business. It's a never-ending chain.

Now when more jobs open up, that means more security for everyone. It means promotion to many, with wage increases. It means opportunity—particularly for friends and sons and daughters of present employees.

Whether or not you work for a firm that advertises, remember that this modern method of mass personal selling affects your company's business and its future. Hence it affects your job and your future.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts businesses humming, makes them bigger. That's how advertising affects your job. For tomorrow, it creates opportunity... for today, it makes your job more secure.

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

MECHANIC—I like advertising. It sells goods. And when sales go up, our shop is plenty busy. My wife and I can then have real peace of mind.

WAITRESS—Advertising my boss does means more tips in my pocket. Advertising other firms do means more business, steadier jobs for my customers and bigger tips in my pocket. So I'm all for plenty of advertising.

***

BOOKKEEPER—I know what a difference advertising made in my firm... made our volume four times as big in five years. Now instead of just being a clerk, I have seven people working for me.

Advertising... BY SELLING MORE GOODS TO MORE PEOPLE

Valuable Manuscripts Brought To Israel

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL — Valuable Hebrew manuscripts recently have been brought by immigrants from Arab and other Oriental countries to Israel, according to a spokesman for the Oriental Communities Research Institute here. Some of them will soon be published in book form, he said.

In addition, the institute has arranged for thousands of important Hebrew manuscripts to be micro-filmed in library archives in Cambridge, Oxford, Istanbul and New York.

Closer cooperation between Israel and American libraries was agreed upon during the recent visit of Dr. Lawrence Marwick, chief of the Hebrew section of the Washington Library of Congress, which contains 150,000 books on Semitic and Jewish subjects, over 40,000 publications in Hebrew and some 10,000 in Yiddish.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Surely thought Santa Claus was on the job early when the rain started falling on two or three occasions here Thursday, but sure enough only scattered showers were recorded. It was cloudy enough for a general fair anyway.

DSQ, however, still is a firm believer in Santa Claus, which strengthens our conviction that the beloved old gentleman from the North Pole will fulfill the desires of the good West Texas farmers and ranchers by bringing general gentle rains or snow to the Midland area as a Christmas gift to everyone (written Friday). Wait and see. Santa Claus is coming to town.

The market was steady to stronger on most classes of cattle at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Receipts were 669 head.

A group of 30 heifers, seven of Miles and Harwell of Midland $235 a head. Stocker steer calves cleared at $34 to $37.50 and one small lot went to $37.75. A lot of 34 heifer calves were bid to $36.50 and others were from $32.

Fat calves and yearlings sold for $29 to $33.50, mediums $24 to $29, commons $18 to $24. Medium grade butcher cows cashed at $20 to $23, canners and cutters $13 to $20. Bulls, no fat ones offered, auctioned for $23 to $26.50.

The attorney general has ruled that Texas ranchers using the brands "T" or "B" on the left jaw of cattle must discontinue the practice since it conflicts with the law on identifying animals suffering from tuberculosis or Bangs disease.

It is reported that as many as 15 West Texas cattle owners have the left jaw "T" brand recorded with county clerks.

The letters can be used on other portions of the body but not on the left jaw, the attorney general ruled.

Those who attended the annual meeting of the Texas Section of the American Society of Range Management in San Antonio recently say it was a most interesting and highly worthwhile session. Range management, soil conservation, range cattle breeds, supplementary feeding, water spreading and brush control were among the topics of discussion.

The purpose of the Range Management Society is to promote range improvement and increased livestock production.

From way down McAllen way, Chamber of Commerce Manager Paul T. Vickers, formerly of Midland, writes that cattlemen who visit McAllen are astounded when they go to Reynosa, Mexico, 15-minutes south of McAllen, and buy a beef-steak as big as a saddle blanket, "for a Shetland pony, that is," for only 80 cents. And just who wouldn't be astounded, Paul? Even Midland oil men might be just a bit startled. Certainly, DSQ would be dismayed since he likely wouldn't have an extra 80 cents to purchase a second steak.

But that isn't all, according to Paul, who says a filet mignon, plus any other meat, including wild turkey, wild duck, venison, white wing, chicken, frog legs and cabrito, is only $1.50. Ho-Hum.

Paul's wordy but appetizing dispatch from the Rio Grande Valley continues:

"Besides these two meats all diners get the following to boot: jalapenos, huamacle salad, pickles, olives, celery, lettuce, tomatoes, radishes, green onions, Spanish rice, French fried onions, potatoes, fried trijoles, French rolls and toasted tortillas.

Good Midland Story

"McAllen Chamber of Commerce officials decided to tell Midland cattlemen about the beefsteak dinner for 80 cents when a Midland woman wrote a McAllen friend that her husband had sold 300 head of cattle and had 200 more to sell, but when she suggested he slaughter one of their own steers to place in the deep freeze, he told her 'beef is too expensive to eat.'

"The McAllen Chamber again this year will operate the 'Plaza de Toros,' a club of cattle breeders and feeders of the Middle West and Rocky Mountain states who spend their winters in the Valley. The club has no dues nor by-laws. The cattlemen meet to chew the fat, cuss the government and loaf in the sunshine. They are guests of McAllen ranchers at a barbecue, luncheon and ranch trips."

DSQ extends congratulations to Marion Flynn upon his election as president of Midland Fair, Inc. for 1952, and comments Clarence Scharbauer, Jr. upon the excellent job he has done in guiding the destinies of the fair association during the last two years.

Congratulations also go to John Dublin, Jr., the new vice president, and to Louis A. Bartha, who was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Honorary Vice Presidents

J. Homer Epley, who served Midland Fair as secretary-treasurer for many years, and J. E. (Bob) Hill, veteran director, were added to the part of the directors. Both have served long and diligently as officials of the association and are deserving of the honors bestowed upon them. Other honorary vice presidents include Foy and Leonard Proctor, Roy Parks, George W. Glass and Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., all past presidents.

Flynn already is planning for the 1952 World Championship Midland Rodeo, which is destined the biggest and best in the history of Midland Fair.

The Big Spring man, J. E. Dillard, was elected president of the Texas Horse Breeders Association which was organized last week in San Antonio. Dillard is chairman of the Big Spring Futurity.

E. H. Lane of Odem was named vice president.

Ralph Lowe of Midland is a director of the new organization. Other directors from this section include Tom Roden of Odessa, R. L. Tollett of Big Spring, Herbert Cope of Sterling City, and Frank Austin of Abilene.

The association will sponsor a 1952 Texas Futurity with $1,000 to be added to three divisions. The site has not been selected.

There is a possibility the futurity may be held at Midland Fair Park here since the Big Spring race plant has been demolished to make room for the Air Force base there. The Big Spring Futurity, by the way, has been Texas' biggest horse race the last three years.

Headquarters of the association will be maintained in Big Spring.

Promoters for El Paso's Southwestern Livestock Show and Championship Rodeo have shifted into high gear and the format for the coming cowboy festival has rounded into near final shape.

Dates for the livestock show have been set at February 10-16. The rodeo will be held February 13-17. Myriad special acts for the rodeo already have been signed. These include a slack-wire act featuring Pat and Willa Levolo, Louis Gabral and his Roman horse and Brahman jump team; clowns Zeke Bowery and Wiley McCray with Marie, the cavorting chimpanzee, and Jay Sisler and his trick dogs.

The stock show this year again will be limited to junior competition. The young stockmen will show animals in swine, sheep and calf divisions.

The Rodeo will offer six fields of competition instead of the usual five. The new feature will be a wild horse race. Other events will be bareback bronc riding, saddle-bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, and calf roping.

Circular 130, a new publication, released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, entitled "Field Crop Statistics for Texas" gives information on field crops grown in Texas from 1880 to 1950, inclusive.

This publication, prepared by C. A. Bonnen and L. P. Gabbard, of the agricultural economics and sociology department is the third of a series of four circulars which will replace Circular 80, "Statistics of Texas Agriculture," published by the experiment station in 1937.

Circular 117, the first of the series, dealt with the production of cotton. The statistics of livestock and poultry and their products were covered in the second, Circular 120. A later publication will bring the information on fruit and vegetables up to date.

The center of attraction in most homes from now until after Christmas will be the family Christmas tree. Most families, says C. W. Simmons, Extension farm forester of Texas A&M College, fail to realize that this tree actually is a fire hazard in the home. Every effort should be made, he adds, to cut down on the possibilities of a fire starting from the tree.

First try to buy a tree that is in good condition. Simmons points out that this means one with fresh leaves or needles.

When the tree is moved into the house the trunk should be placed in a container of water. There is less danger from fire when the leaves or needles contain moisture.

Next he warns against decorating the tree with flammable material. Check the electric light cords that connect the tree lights and be sure that all poor connections are repaired. If cotton is used around the base of the tree, get that which has been treated for fire control.

JAKARTA, INDONESIA — Indonesia is going ahead full-speed with her "Battle Against Illiteracy" and education officials are satisfied with results shown so far. Illiteracy has decreased by 10 per cent to 8 per cent since the Dutch period, the government says. Literacy campaigns are organized on a district-basis, often with material assistance of UNESCO.

Telephones... COAST TO COAST!

MIDLAND long distance operators now are dialing telephones direct in more than 1,200 cities from coast to coast without the help of other operators—and the calls are going through in a matter of seconds.

This faster, more accurate long distance telephoning puts more than 15,000,000 telephones at the fingertips of operators here... makes calls to distant cities almost as easy to complete as a call across town.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

Suppose you want to call New York, HANover 3-4112. The operator at her switchboard here, using a set of 10 keys that look like adding machine keys, punches the number 212—New York City's own special telephone number—and then HA-3-4112. The electronic switches go into action, search out the fastest, most direct route to New York, and ring the telephone you are calling, all in less time than it takes to tell about it.

Years of research and large sums of money have been spent in developing this new system to bring you faster, more efficient telephone service—to make your telephone ever more valuable to you.

SAVE TIME... call by number
With this new method of handling calls it is more important than ever to have a list of out-of-town numbers you're likely to call. Then you can give the operator the number you want and she can ring it for you without the delay of a call to information in the distant city.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Hale And Hardy

"Help yourself to some more of the scrambled coconut, Doctor Shoobug," said Mother Ringtail.

"Uh, yes," said Doctor Shoobug, and the good doctor helped himself to some more of the scrambled coconut.

"Don't fret yourself that the rest of us have finished eating, Doctor Shoobug," said Daddy Ringtail.

"Uh, no," said Doctor Shoobug. "I'll finish my dinner all right."

And so the rest of the folks—Daddy Ringtail and Mother Ringtail and little Mugwump Monkey—waited for Doctor Shoobug to finish the fine dinner of scrambled coconut. Doctor Shoobug has a very fine appetite, you know, because he is a very fine doctor. He has to eat a lot so he will be strong to run fast to see the sick folks when they need him.

"No more, thank you," said Doctor Shoobug at last. "I've had plenty, thank you." And because he had time to rest a minute before he hurried away to see about any doctor business, Doctor Shoobug began to tell a story about two friends he once had known. One of the friends was Mr. Hale; the other, Mr. Hardy.

Well sir, Mr. Hale was very skinny, and Mr. Hardy was very fat. They were so thin and skinny that the wind one day almost blew them away. In fact, if they hadn't held on to each other, while both of them held tight to a tree, the wind would have blown them away.

"Mr. Hardy," said Mr. Hale, "we shall have to do something about this."

"Mr. Hale," said Mr. Hardy, "we shall have to do something about this indeed."

And then and there, the two friends, Mr. Hale and Mr. Hardy, decided to begin to eat all the good food they could eat, and to drink all the good milk they could drink. And they did. They ate and drank. I mean. And they grew, and they grew, and they were fatter and fatter, and stronger and stronger—until they were fatter and stronger than anyone else in the land.

And to this very day—whenever we want to say that someone is extra special healthy and strong—we say they are Hale and Hardy, like the two fine friends, Mr. Hale and Mr. Hardy. Happy day!

Santa Puts Emphasis On Quiet Play

Toys this Christmas, designed for quiet, self-sufficient play, are good news for parents as well as youngsters. Outstanding among many do-things dolls is glossy-tressed one with own hair-tinting kit (upper left) and a cuddly three-faced infant leaning against elaborate canopy bed. A piano which produces a tune when banged in proper rhythm, a book with real zippers and shoe strings to instruct small-rtm in self-dressing, a stereoscope with nursery-tale is finished off with a wheel and axle that actually moves. There are things in Santa's bag this year for parents as well as small-ry. Mostly they're intangibles—such as peace-and-quiet and elimination of messy clean-up jobs. They are the result of the careful forethought and improved design that have gone into this year's toys. Although there are still plenty of rip-roaring items like cowboy guns and atomic rockets, there is a new emphasis on toys for quiet, self-sufficient play. A three-dimensional, toy-like effect is gained when a treasure-chest puzzle contains an unhook for hiding make-believe golden coins; or when a fire engine puzzle cards, and a boxcar toy chest (upper right) are other eye-catchers among this season's offerings. A telephone switchboard (lower extreme left), a car which shows the workings of plastic pistons through its transparent hood (lower left), luminous stuffed animals which glow reassuringly in the dark (lower right), and snap-on plastic blocks (lower right) are also news in the toy world. These sturdily-designed toys are a boon for the hard-to-interest child, who none-the-less like to play papa, with eyes that refuse to punch in no matter how hard an exploring finger punches, and a three-faced doll that turns a smiling, sleeping or crying visage to the world with the simple twisting of a knob on the top of her head. Not-in-use eyes are concealed inside cuddly hoods. As beds for these fabulous creations you may choose from old-fashioned elegance—a four-poster complete with canopy, dust ruffle and chenille spread—or modern distinction—a Hollywood bed with upholstered headboard. Parents should welcome a non-banging piano. No matter what keys

By ANNE LARSEN

Singapore Airport Held By Squatters

SINGAPORE—The Singapore government is confronted with the problem of ousting squatters from the land where it plans to construct a new municipal airport.

The Singapore branch of the Malay Chinese Association has been asked by the squatters to aid in their protest against the new civil airfield. Housing is so difficult a problem in Singapore that thousands have squatted on government as well as private property and thrown up ramshackle huts for shelter.

TIM-BER!

PRINCE ALBERT, SASKATCHEWAN—More than 500 men in Northern Saskatchewan have signed contracts to spend the winter working in the timber in Northwestern Ontario.

are pressed, or how many simultaneously, a music-roll sort of device insured a tuneful result—provided the youngsters can be coaxed to bang in the rhythm of one of four familiar nursery melodies.

Among toys that contribute to knowledge, skill or career-interests is an ingenious little car that shows, through its clear plastic hood, the workings of four vari-colored plastic pistons. The opaque rear end of the car may be removed to instruct fledgling mechanics in the mysteries of gears as well. Another car, operated by remote control, teaches youngsters the principles of steering and gauging distances.

Also in this category is a telephone switchboard which buzzes in a satisfactorily realistic manner when plugs are properly inserted.

New blocks are particularly attractive. Snap blocks, which fasten together with grippers similar to those used on children's clothes, offer a new principle of building as well as bright unusual colors in ahiny plastic.

Then there are snow blocks, reminiscent of Victorian paper weights. A bit of gently shaking stirs up a wintry, swirling storm. These are a delight to parents who are accustomed to the crunch of toys beneath heedless young feet; these particular blocks are strong enough to withstand the weight of a man.

A box-car toy chest, which rolls noiselessly about the house on rubber wheels makes a game of pick-up time.

Imagination Makes A Banquet

By ANNE LARSEN

For those who begin early enough to put a bit of time and thought into their efforts, indoor Christmas decorations can be among the most pleasant of holiday chores.

An elastic imagination can stretch your budget this year, since a lively eye can spot decoration supplies everywhere from the cellar workshop and the coal bin to the sink cupboard.

The cleanser you use to clean the sink and the bathtub makes an excellent art material when it is worked with water into a paste to make, requiring only a dash of spirit, a new coat scuff and several gray shades of paint. Peter Hunt, who is known throughout the country for his artistry with peasant designs, suggests a modified design that suggests Christmas but is still sufficiently general that the scuff may be used for various household purposes throughout the year.

John Drill, who is noted for his versatile designs in unexpected materials, turns to copper screening as the basis of an attractive cornucopia for dining room sideboard or hall table. To make one for your home, begin with a rectangle of copper screening 10 by 11 inches, shaping it into a cone diagonally and securing it with staples or sewing it into place with wire.

Imagination, a paint brush and paste made from cleansing powder and water were all that were needed to create this light-hearted Christmas Eve scene on mirror above living room mantel.

Stretch the mouth of the cone until it yawns invitingly to receive to its base. Low candle-holders are particularly effective when these adornments are paired with the cornucopia.

If base metal is available in your neighborhood, an attractive candle sconce can be made from 12 cones of this material mounted upon a circle of cardboard. The candles are held in spirals of heavy brass wire which is attached to the back of the sunburst, and silver stars with Christmas-ball centers are used to adorn the whole.

A new electric paint peeler is a chisel-like device with its handle raised at an angle to permit easy holding when the blade is flat on the painted surface. Heating elements within the blade develop enough heat to soften the old paint so that it can be pushed off with the scraper edge.

ments have been thrust. Slip the entire arrangement down a candle to its base. Low candle-holders are particularly effective when these adornments are paired with the cornucopia.

To this spiral, attach three ornaments made of metallic paper fringe or Christmas tree bulb reflectors through which stem orna-

Marion Sevier And Corky Moss Named 'Most Representative'

Marion Sevier and Corky Moss were elected "most representative girl and boy" in an all-school election last week. They were chosen by their classmates as the girl and boy most representative of the student body.

Marion, nicknamed "Cue Ball" by her friends, is an attractive, brown-haired, brown-eyed senior who also is vice president of the student body, an attendant in the Catoico queen's court, and was her junior class' choice for representative to Girls' State.

Marion especially likes Mexican food, the color green, and doing the can-can, while "Night and Day" is her favorite song. She says eating is her favorite pastime, but dancing is a close second. Her ambition at the moment is to finish high school and attend Southern Methodist University.

Standing five feet, two inches tall, Marion is an energetic sports fan and has played on the tennis team for three years. Her school subjects, English, dramatics, tennis, second year algebra, and journalism (she writes "Rambling Rows"), occupy most of her time. Marion says she has an embarrassing habit of saying the wrong words at the right time, and her pet peeve is insincere people. Marion has a swell sense of humor and personality plus.

Horace Voit Moss, Corky to you, has been popular all through his high school years. President and class favorite of his freshman class, Corky also has been president of the Future Teachers Club, Science Club and Vocal Music Club. A nice-looking, six-foot, three-inch senior, Corky has black hair and brown eyes. He has been a cheerleader for two years and this year he is head cheerleader.

When asked his favorite food, Corky replied, "Just food."

This is Corky's third year on the Student Council; also his third year on the basketball team—he is a two-year member of the M Club. His pet peeve is bad sportsmanship and sorry school spirit.

He says his favorite pastime is predicting football games that do not work out the way he predicted them.

Corky plans to attend SMU after he graduates. At present his schedule consists of A Cappella, dramatics, plane geometry, English, journalism and basketball.

Corky's chief traits are friendliness, school interests, and a cheerful attitude at all times.

Clublicity

By TOMMY VANNAMAN

The Midland Bulldogs basketball squad lost their initial game to the San Angelo Bobcats by a 51 to 33 score last Tuesday night in the Midland High School Gym. The loss, however, did see some good play by the Canine cagers, and several prospects in particular looked good. Also, the San Angelo team had a string of several games under its belt while it was the first time on the hardwood for Midland.

To be sure, Midland will have a better season than last year, and won't be just a "breather" on any schedule.

One thing that Midland seems to lack that thing is the spirit to support the team during football season, when our team was good, everyone claimed and supported them.

Do we have school spirit, or don't we? Can we get it or can't we? Each individual will have to answer that question himself.

The B Bulldogs also suffered a defeat from the San Angelo B Bobcats last Tuesday. With a final score of 33 to 22 against them, some good material showed up and the future for both the B and the A looks bright. They, too, deserve the support of the MHS student body.

The next games will be played December 18, with San Angelo, there, and the Monahans Lobos, there, on December 21.

Do we have school spirit, or don't we? Can we get it or can't we? Each individual will have to answer that question himself.

The Future Teachers were called to order by Pete English, and the Secretary, Ann Kenimer, called the roll. Betty Sivalls, program chairman, then called on certain of the members who have taught at various times at elementary schools to tell of some of their experiences.

The Junior Red Cross was called to order by its President, Jane Umberger. Martha Frick and Ruth Kuykendall told of the founding of the Red Cross and its history up to the present. The program was enjoyed by the whole class.

The Spanish Club met December 10. The meeting was called to order by the president, Barbara Munson and the minutes were read by the secretary-treasurer, Sandra Swanson. After the minutes were read the students played a game called "Loteria."

The Future Business Leaders met on December 10. The President, Betty Campbell read the booklet "Job Horizons" to the group. Each member selected an occupation and is going to write and try to secure more information about the different occupations.

The Spanish Club met December 10. The meeting was called to order by the president, Barbara Munson and the minutes were read by the secretary-treasurer, Sandra Swanson. After the minutes were read the students played a game called "Loteria."

A Safe Christmas

(An Editorial)

The Christmas holidays are coming up and many of us will be taking trips to visit friends and relatives. Each year a shadow is cast on the joy of the Christmas season when one reads of the number of accidents which occur during the holidays. Instead of setting a new high in the record of traffic accidents, let's set a record for safe driving. Many cars will be on the road and everyone will have to be more careful than ever to avoid accidents.

Holiday accidents are not limited to driving. Many fires are caused because of trees being decorated with candles and careless use of fireworks. Let's have a safe and merry Christmas!

The Editor Speaks

By GAIL BAKER

Last Wednesday the city of Midland observed an intensive clean-up campaign. The main idea was to have our town clean—in appearance and atmosphere.

The Midland officials want our fair city to be healthy for all those whose homes are in Midland—or visitors to the city.

Many trucks were used all day Wednesday to gather up the trash and papers out of alleys and streets.

People were asked to aid the workers by cleaning out their yards and alleys, and do their best to keep papers off the streets—just a general "clean-up."

This campaign actually was not just for one day—we want to keep our home clean all the time to prevent diseases here. There is no excuse for the slum areas in some towns—they can be kept clean!

Question Box

If there was one thing in this world you would like to get rid of, what would it be?

Ma-tha Stone—The files in Coach Mashburn's office.

Jackie Ewald—Second year algebra.

Maidie Pail—The journalism and Catoico staff bothering us six periods. (Just a joke—we love it!).

Coach Mashburn—War.

Jan Scott—J. A. C.

Jo Ann Cunningham—School.

Helen Golladay—Homework.

Don Mitchell—Worry.

Diane Anderson—Calories.

Bobbie Moss—Algebra.

Janet Hooper—Sand in West Texas.

Lena Price—Math.

Memory Lee Shoffstall—J. C. Spikes.

Norma Jean Sisco—Civics.

Shirley Robertson—West Texas and sand!

Joan Lipscomb—My history notebook.

Virginia Wilkinson—All my homework assignments plus one teacher.

Georgia Stump—The bubble in the stream.

Joy Havins—Coach Creville.

Spinner Record—Charles Worthen.

Gail Baker—"Do Rights!"

Albert A. Albert—"Do Wrongs!"

Jane Beakey

Jane Beakey Subject Of Featurette

Dear Sally:

I am enclosing a picture of one of my friends whom I would like you to meet very much. You can tell by the picture what a charming personality she has, and why everyone likes her so well.

Sally, I want to introduce to you Jane Beakey, who is better known as Jane. Jane is about five feet nine inches tall, and seems to be just bubbling over with enthusiasm for everything. You would love her just like everyone else does, and you would be captivated by her quick smile and sweet disposition. She has pretty blonde hair, and a pair of the gayest blue eyes I have ever seen. Jane loves to take part in anything around school, especially things around the art department. She can be seen around the art room a good deal out of each day, and Miss Parker, the art teacher, is her favorite teacher. Other than art, she is kept busy with a Cappella, typing, algebra, and English.

Wonderful Spirit

One of the reasons I chose this girl to write to you about is because of the wonderful spirit she shows. Just recently she won a prize for the best decorated car in the parade just before the Bulldogs played a bi-district game. You should have seen that car. Across the hood little yard lines were marked off in purple and gold crepe paper, and the cutest little miniature football player was kicking an imaginary football over the goal posts in the back seat. All over the whole car purple and gold streamers were flying, and it certainly made a colorful picture.

One of Jane's proudest days was when her dad gave her the little chartruse convertible she drives all the time. You should hear her talk about it! The seat covers and upholstery are in black and chartruse, and on the chartruse dash board is written in silver letters the name "Jane." She likes to take kids riding in it, and it seems to always be filled to capacity with riders.

Born Nov. 23, 1934, in Lafayette, La., Jane has reached the ripe old age of 17 years. Her favorite color is sky blue, and she really does like to listen to hillbilly music.

Well, Sally, I must get on to my classes, so I will close. I know you are delighted to have become acquainted with Jane.

Jerry Ball

Jerry Ball Is Popular Soph

A well-liked sophomore boy with a friendly smile, a crew hair cut, and who can be seen almost any time—when school is out—driving a red Plymouth convertible, is Jerry Ball. Jerry is 15, and was in Chickasha, Okla. He played tackle on the B squad football team during the 1951 season.

Jerry has lived in Midland eight years, having moved here from Los Angeles, Calif. His schedule includes English, biology, speech, algebra and football. He recently was elected president of the Science Club.

"ANGEL" IN THE WINGS—Taking time out from her role as an angel in a production of "Christmas Through the Ages," little Loretta Young, 4, gets in a few licks as a stage hand. The all-girl show, featuring four-and-five-year olds, is being produced by a Children's Aid Society center in New York City.

Choir Presents Its Third Program

The A Cappella Choir presented its third program of the year Tuesday. They presented a group of Christmas Carols at the annual Christmas program of the Civic Music Club in the North Elementary Auditorium.

Numbers sung by the choir were "The Angel Gabriel," "Ho Jeanette, Made Haste Isabella," and "Welcome That Star." The choir closed the program by singing "Silent Night" and "The Blessing of St. Francis."

Replacing Worn Threshold

By MR. FIX
 Distributed by NEA Service

Worn thresholds are not only unsightly but dangerous. Replacement is simple, since ready-made thresholds are obtainable which only require fitting. You can get them from your lumberman or building material dealer. The first step is to remove the old wood which can be split away with a cold chisel and pried out with a bar. Be careful not to scar the finish of the adjoining floor.

After the old threshold has been removed, clean out the corners, remove the old nails and make sure the floor under the new one will be smooth. Thresholds are made from either maple or oak and are beveled to form shoulders on each side but are not fitted to the opening of the door. If you have power tools, you can make this item yourself from the dimensions of the worn piece which you are replacing. Fitting the new threshold can be done by first making a paper pattern which fits and then transferring it to the wood. Or you can lay the wood alongside the opening of the door and, with a pencil extend the lines of the opening across. Care Is Necessary

Be careful in fitting so the new wood won't be too small and form pockets for dirt to settle in. And don't make it so large that it has to be driven into place. This might change the shape of the door opening and cause the door itself to stick.

Use a fine-tooth saw for cutting this hard wood to minimize rough edges and try for a smooth, snug fit. Keep all cuts straight and at right angles to the wood to eliminate pockets.

It is well to drill for nails in hard wood to avoid splitting the wood and bending the nails. Use eight penny nails and if you don't drill for them, soap the nails and confine them to the shoulder of the threshold to avoid splitting across the center. After the new piece is in place and nailed down, use a nail-set to drive the nails below the surface and fill the holes with a plastic wood filler. Then apply clear varnish.

Outdoor Christmas Displays Are Easy To Make At Home

Many of the outdoor Christmas displays that excite comment and admiration are created from a versatile building panel known as tempered Presdwood, according to material supply dealers. Church groups and home owners have, in increasing numbers, followed the lead of retail stores in utilizing these thin, smooth panels for displays which may be used year after year. Dealers give several reasons for tempered Presdwood's popularity for displays:

Amateur, as well as professional, craftsmen like its easy handling. It comes in panels that are four feet wide and in lengths to 12 feet. It can be sawed readily into life-size or smaller figures for traditional Christmas scenes such as the shepherds with their flock of sheep and the principals in the Nativity. No Splintering Or Cracking

Tempered Presdwood takes lots of abuse, and it won't splinter or crack. Since it is moisture-resistant, the scenes and figures made from this material can be used again and again.

By using colorful paints, craftsman can convert the panels into festive, gay creations which express the Christmas story of happiness and good will. The material holds paint well, as it has no grain to rise and cause checks.

Here are some suggestions for using the material during the Christmas season:

For Christmas scenes on the lawn, porch or indoors. Outline the figures on the smooth side of the panel and cut them out with a coping or band saw. Nail them to L or Z-shaped pieces of lumber so they will stand. Prime and apply a top coat of exterior quality paint. As a variation, make smaller figures for a diorama in the window. Indirect lighting will silhouette them for passersby.

Santas For Shade Pulls
 For festive shade pulls, fashion some tiny Santas, about three inches tall, paint traditionally, and use them throughout the house fastening the cords through small holes drilled in the tops of the figures.

Life-size Santa. Brightly painted, the figure may be used beside the Christmas tree or outside.

Dasher, Dancer, Prancer — and the rest — with St. Nick and his sleigh can be sawed out, painted, and nailed to a wooden framework. Fit the ensemble on the rooftop against the chimney, the ridge, or one of the slopes. This favorite group is frequently seen also on the lawn.

Decorative tall candles, painted bright red and decorated with ribbons, will give a festive appearance to the home if placed at either side of the entrance.

Fresh Paint Can Give Old House Brand New Personality

By applying modern techniques of color and paint usage, a householder inexpensively can give an existing house new personality and style; at the same time bringing it more in line with today's tastes in home design and construction.

Color used lavishly inside and outside the house is an unexcelled aid toward giving a poorly designed or out-of-date house a complete facelift by accentuating good lines and minimizing bad.

A poorly proportioned house can be given new modern lines and added distinction by styling with paint.

To choose harmonious colors, and to achieve subtle shadings of a key color, the householder too often is confused. The old-fashioned method of mixing paints to match a color sample often "just misses" and the result is less happy than it promised to be. From a wide range of colors, the homeowner can satisfy his most exacting color requirements.

All this enables the amateur painter to turn out a professional job; saves time and money; and permits the homeowner to give his house a fresh look and an air of good taste.

Modernize Exterior
 A tall, square house with out-of-date lines and awkward proportions can be given the illusion of today's longer, lower-slung horizontal lines, with a clever paint job. Tall roof and dormers generally will appear to "hug" the ground if painted a dark shade.

To streamline a tall structure, which is often of Victorian or French design, an effective color plan might include dark charcoal gray or black for the roof, in contrast to a light wall color such as pale gray or green. The "white elephant" of 40 years ago acquires a newer look if roof, dormers, tall chimneys, and still-life base structures are painted dark blue-black, charcoal black or ebony black. Walls might be dove gray, and all

Parasite Control Is Making Progress

LOS ANGELES—The University of California reports "very promising" progress in attempts to control the trichinella and rat tapeworm parasites.

Efforts are being concentrated on finding a way in which the parasites energy-building activities differ from those of the host. At this point the parasite could be attacked and destroyed.

The trichinella, which causes a muscular disease known as trichinosis is said to be giving discomfort to some 21 million Americans. Rat tapeworm is sometimes found in man but more often in the intestinal tract of rats.

Common Errors In Bathroom Design Cited In Report

Even though the bath is the smallest room in the house, you still can crowd into it at least eight major mistakes in planning.

The bath's fixtures, once they are badly located, can't be re-arranged at will, for even simple alterations in that room usually mean expensive plumbing work, points out a Title Council of America building report. Here are some of the planning errors that spell inconvenience, danger or later expense:

1. Bad location. No one wants to traipse through another room to reach the bath. It should open from a hall, so it can be reached conveniently from all rooms.
2. Lack of space. A tiny bathroom is awkward for children and invalids, and has too little space for storage. Space is needed between fixtures for ease of cleaning.
3. Easily damaged materials. Finishes affected by steam and water deteriorate rapidly in the bath and so are expensive at any price. Waterproof materials such as clay tile last the life of the building. Tile never needs painting or redecorating.

Provide Shower
 4. No shower. Maybe a family does not want a shower for its own use, but it is a modern feature that gives a home added re-sale value.

5. Inadequate storage space. A bathroom with no space for towels, toiletries and cleaning materials means added work for the housewife.

6. Poor lighting. Too many men have to shave with a light shining in the mirror instead of on both sides of the face. A large bath needs both an overhead light and one at the mirror.

7. No grab bar over tub. Slips and falls in the bathtub can be dangerous and painful. A grab bar is a necessity, especially with a shower-bathtub combination.

SANTA and the MAGIC MIRROR

by LUCRECE HUDGINS

SYNOPSIS: Belinda and Tommy t out to visit the horrible Hoblins. Santa lends them a sled and whispers two magic words their ears: one to make the sled swiftly to the Hoblins' castle; the other to get them swiftly up chimney. Away they go, and on the hideous castle of the horrible Hoblins stands before em.

CHAPTER 11 THE STRANGE ROOM

"EVER had the children seen a building so dark and gloomy as the giants' castle at the foot of the hill.

"I can't help being afraid," whispered Tommy as he stared down at the place.

"I feel the same," said Belinda. But it must be all right or Santa could not have let us come."

"Anyway it's too late to turn back now," sighed Tommy.

He was right for the sled was coming down straight to the door of the castle. When they stopped they were instantly surrounded by seven giants. They were twice as large as ordinary men and, that was even more fearful, ten times as ugly as the ugliest of creatures.

The children trembled and clung to one another not daring to speak. For a long moment there was not a sound. Then one of the giants opened his mouth and uttered:

"Cook my goose! What extraordinary visitors!"

"Hush your loud mouth, Walter!" ordered a second giant. "You're frightening the little things."

"It was just so glad to see them," protested Walter. He turned his face down as soft and low as he was able and said, "Oh, I just love visitors!"

"So do we all," said the other giants. "Do come in and visit with us."

The giants led the children into the great castle. It was as cold and gloomy inside the castle as outside but the giants themselves were cheerful and pleasant.

All the giants were, in fact, so kind and so eager to please that Belinda and Tommy soon forgot their fears. In a little while they no longer noticed the giants' ugly faces. All that mattered was their kindness.

"Oh, you are good!" Belinda suddenly burst out.

"It's fun to be good," agreed the giants.

"But, Santa says you were not always like this," said Tommy shyly. "He says you used to be mean—and not so long ago either."

They Peeped Out from Behind the Draperies and Saw One of the Giants Striding Towards Them.

"Oh, my!" groaned Walter. "I can't bear to think of how mean we used to be!"

Belinda leaned forward. "Do please tell us," she begged. "What caused you to change your ways?"

"You see," put in Tommy, "if you tell us your secret we will tell it to my father and then perhaps he will become kind and have Belinda's father freed from jail."

"Maybe they won't like us wandering around by ourselves," whispered Tommy. "Let's hide!"

Quickly the children scrambled behind some wall draperies. They peeped out and saw one of the giants striding towards them.

He was scowling. He went into the closed room. In a few moments he came out and now the scowl was gone. He hummed softly to himself as he walked away.

"How strange!" said Tommy. Belinda clasped his hand in sudden excitement. "I'll bet the secret we want is in that room!" she cried. "Come! Let's see."

They tiptoed from their hiding place and crept to the door. Belinda's heart pounded and Tommy's knees shook as they softly turned the knob and entered the room.

"That is all the giants would say. And now they're tired from their heavy dinner. They lay down on the floor before the fire and began to doze. The children were left to entertain themselves."

"I am thirsty," said Tommy. "Let us look for water," said Belinda.

They left the fireside and wandered off looking for the kitchen. But though they looked in room after room they could not find the kitchen.

Presently they came to a closed door. Belinda started to open it but at this moment they heard someone coming down the corridor.

THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

It was many years before the lovely carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night," came into its own. Roving choral groups carried it to other parts of Austria. Not until 1842, twenty-four years after its birth, was it printed.

In 1854 the full choir of the Imperial Church of Berlin sang it before Emperor Frederick William IV. He immediately ordered it to be placed first in all religious Christmas programs.

"Silent Night" is sung all over the world. It has been immortalized by the unmusical and by the great voice of Madam Schumann-Heink. And in the little Alpine town of Oberndorf a statue honors Father Mohr and Franz Gruber for their great gift to Christendom.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1961, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Truman got favorable report on Korean truce at joint chiefs meeting; U. S. troops could stay in Korea until "Hell freezes over." Top executives deserting Truman.

WASHINGTON—Most of the world was intrigued over President Truman's much-publicized meeting with the joint chiefs of staff following his return from Key West. However, it turned out to be pretty much routine after all. Highlight of the meeting was an optimistic assurance from Gen. Omar Bradley that cease-fire could be worked out in Korea.

The nation's highest diplomatic and military chiefs were waiting in the cabinet room when President Truman strode in. He was grinning broadly. Shaking hands with everyone around the conference table, he reported that it was "good to be back," and asked how they like his tan.

After that, he left the joint chiefs staff to most of the talking, and there is a brief, chronological account of what happened at the meeting which caused so much world speculation:

The President sat back, listened gently and called for everyone's views. Occasionally, he bounced his legs together reflectively, in a sack, impulsive gesture, and made comments as: "That's a tough one."

General Bradley led off with a summary of the Korean situation. He reported the Communists seemed ready to come to terms, that cease-fire agreement could be worked out if both sides made concessions.

However, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, chief of staff, opposed making major concessions. He was particularly adamant against allowing the Communists the right to build airfields during the cease-fire.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the Army chief of staff, vigorously opposed going in to the Communists on any proposition. The Chinese have rotated a freeze on all troops entering Korea, thus blocking replacements for combat veterans who have been promised the chance to go home on rotation. This would be a blow to morale," Collins warned.

President Truman's only comment was that every effort should be made to reach a cease-fire, but no pared the other night while playing the game of "If I Were President." For special prosecutor—Wiley, dramatic Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, once one of the Senate's greatest prosecutors.

Assistant attorney general for the tax division—Adrian De Wind, able chief counsel of the King committee.

Alien Property Custodian—Gen. Telford Taylor, the Small-Business administrator, or Joseph Borkin, the ex-Justice Department trustbuster. Both are intimately familiar with the giant Nazi business enterprises now being administered by the custodian.

Secretary of the Treasury—Randolph Paul, the brilliant former chief counsel of the Treasury.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue—Maury Maverick or Leon Henderson, both two-fisted crusaders with years of Washington know-how.

Chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue—Bruno Schachner, assistant counsel of the King committee.

To create further confidence in the White House, Truman might substitute Paul Porter for Secretary Matt Connolly, who has no love for the graft probes.

MIAMI FLA.—P—Alfred F. Dreyer, captain of the ship while flying trans-oceanic planes, is just a back seat rider in the family airplane.

His 17-year-old son, John is a licensed pilot, while his 12-year-old son, Tommy, too young for a license, serves expertly as co-pilot.

Captain Dreyer is so confident of his boys' ability that he permitted them to make an unaccompanied 2,000-mile cross-country tour.

They flew the family's Cessna 140, a neat little single-engine aircraft that can nestle beneath the wing of the big four-engine DC-48 flown by their father over Pan American Airways' Latin American routes.

John used money intended for a summer at a boys camp to learn to fly. He soloed on his 17th birthday and now has 390 hours' flying time. His dad has 17,000 flight hours.

Captain Dreyer learned to fly with the Navy in World War I. He became a barnstormer after the war, worked in a garage, found other odd jobs, then joined Pan American in 1931.

All-Civic Yule Luncheon To Be Held Next Friday

Midland's Annual All-Civic Christmas luncheon will be held next Friday at noon in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

The affair is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce whose internationally-known member will be principal speaker. He is John Ben Shepperd, secretary of state, of Gladewater and Austin.

around the world in 1948. For five years he was named an outstanding citizen of his hometown, Gladewater. He was chosen three times as one of the five outstanding young men of Texas and recently was selected as one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men by Future Magazine.

He is the originator of the Gladewater Plan which was widely publicized as "Democracy Beats Communism Week." The plan was adopted in communities throughout the nation. Last June, Shepperd was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by North Texas State College in Denton.

+ Crane News +

CRANE—The homes of Bob Hutton, G. L. Lovelace and Dr. Jack Ramsey were judged winners, in that order, in the recent Christmas decoration of homes contest here. The Lovelace home is in the Gulf Camp.

A lamb show is scheduled here in January with 4-H Club boys and girls exhibiting their animals. Entries have been received from 17 club members.

A Christmas Treasure Hunt event which started December 10 is in full swing. Crane merchants and businessmen are cooperating. The event ends December 22.

The Friendship '42 Club met recently in the home of Mrs. James Smith, Jr. Mrs. A. B. Earp had high score. Mrs. P. O. Vines had low score. Mrs. W. D. Gooch was presented a traveling prize.

Roy Bush, engineer of the Gulf Pump Station, recently underwent medical examination in a hospital here.

Crane men who attended a recent meeting of the Grand Lodge in Waco included R. L. Fletcher, D. M. Holcomb, E. E. Wasson, Bruce Ashburn, Vernon Russell and C. O. Walling.

Even Yule Cards Go Red In Hungary

BUDAPEST —(AP)— Things have changed in recent years in Communist-dominated Hungary — even to the Christmas cards.

The Hungarian citizen will have to do a lot of rummaging around in a few privately owned stationary shops to find any typically Anglo-Saxon greeting cards.

However, in the big state-owned stationary shops there is a great variety of Christmas cards, none of which contain even a hint of Christmas as a religious holiday.

The up-to-date cards show such things as a tractor bringing presents and a tree. The Communist Christmas card "line" is carried out with a factory showing the Red Star in the background.

Most of the postcards are dull, multi-colored things. Some show the happy faces of children wishing pleasant holidays, a distinctly neutral form of greeting. This card could suffice for any holiday.

The New Year's cards are propaganda pieces too. On one, the traditional New Year's piglet with the traditional four-leaf clover in its mouth wishes everyone a fruitful New Year in front of the steadily ascending production curve. The only old timer who still is persona grata here is Santa Claus. And even he has been persuaded to wear the Red Star on his cap.

Miss Higgins Named Woman Of The Year By Newswomen

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
American newspaperwomen have chosen one of their own as "Woman of the Year" for 1951.

She is Marguerite Higgins, plucky and pretty young foreign correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, whose coverage of the Korean war brought her both national headlines and a Pulitzer Prize.

More recently the pert, blonde maggie has traveled around the world writing a series, "Around Russia's Curtain," authored a book, "War in Korea" and covered the United States on a lecture tour.

The only newspaperwoman on the Korean battlefield, Maggie won international attention when, ordered to the rear for safety, she stood her ground with the announcement, "I'm here as a reporter, not as a woman."

It is interesting to note that in the poll of women's editors of Associated Press newspapers, runner-up for the title of outstanding woman of the year was Princess Elizabeth, whose recent American tour made miles of headlines.

Other new names show up among the 10 women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1951, from the standpoint of news value.

Tops in the field of sports is Maureen Connolly, 16-year-old winner of the National Women's Tennis Championship, a teen-ager who has provided the nation's sports writers with a fresh and inspiring new personality to brighten up their pages.

In literature, the vote goes to Rachel Carson, author of the best-selling "The Sea Around Us."

Judy Garland tops the list in the theater, for her sensational success in bringing vaudeville back to Broadway.

In the field of science, the editors have chosen Dr. Florence Cabin, one of three women doctors who were winners of the American Public Health Association's 1951 Lasker Awards. She is now director of Health for Denver.

Public affairs: Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of Defense.
Radio: Tabullah Bankhead, star of NBC's ambitious "Big Show."
Music: Dorothy Kirsten, opera and concert star.
Movies: Judy Holiday, Academy Award winner for her performance in "Born Yesterday."
Education: Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College.
Business: Tillie Lewis, West Coast Tomato Canning Queen.

Colorado Governor Sets Tech Address

LUBBOCK — Dan K. Thornton, governor of Colorado and an ex-student of Texas Tech, will give the college's commencement address May 26.

President D. M. Wiggins announced Monday that Gov. Thornton had accepted the invitation to address the graduating class.

A native Texan, Governor Thornton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thornton of Slaton, Texas. He attended Slaton High School three years before entering Lubbock High School.

He attended Texas Tech from 1929 to 1931, studying in the agriculture division. He went to California to continue his education.

A successful rancher in Colorado, I. J. (Dan K.) Thornton, was elected governor in 1950 in his second political venture.

West Texas Shoppers Go On Annual Holiday Buying Spree

CHRISTMAS TREE—The observance of Christmas wouldn't be complete without the traditional holiday tree. And Paddy and Randy Brown, aided by their mother, Mrs. Jack Brown, intend to see that their tree is a pretty one. Waiting for the family's decision is Mrs. Banks McLauren, Jr., JayCee-ette member. Selling the trees is a project of the JayCees and JayCee-ettes.

CHRISTMAS DISPLAYS — Mrs. Ludie Lynn and daughter, Suzie, pause in their rounds of Christmas shopping to watch Santa's helpers at work in a Midland store window. The Lynns live in The Texas Company Camp.

I WANT THAT, SANTA

—Billy R. Jones, Midland clerk, doesn't need to give sales talk on the merits of the electric train. It's plain to see that young Kenny is planning to tell Santa all about it. Kenny was particularly "taken" with the honest-to-goodness smoke which poured out of the tiny smokestack. He is pictured with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Francis, who live on the Andrews Highway. The Francis'es are but one of the families who believe in the advantages of early Christmas shopping. Not even the recent sandstorms have cut down the crowds which seem to grow thicker each day. The early mailing date for packages to be shipped overseas has had some effect in bringing out the early shoppers. Now, with only seven shopping days left, even the habitual last-minute shoppers are joining the throngs.

PARTY TIME—The Christmas season means that holiday parties are in the offing and parties, of course, call for something new to wear. Mrs. J. R. Sharp of Midland is admiring an Edith Small original ball gown in the new short length. The dress is being shown by Jeanette Blatherwick.

YULE DECORATIONS

—Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Walter of Midland look over the array of Christmas decorations offered by one of Midland's stores. Like other Midlanders, they plan to mark the holiday season with all the appropriate trimmings. And they find a variety of material to choose from. There are Santas, Christmas candles, sleighs and reindeer, greenery, Christmas trees, strings of colored lights, tree ornaments, imitation snow and icicles, bells and even miniature replicas of Rudolph, the reindeer with the famous red nose. Reproductions of the nativity scene also are available. Many of the Midlanders have fashioned their own decorations but the average shopper, short on time, still relies on stores to furnish at least the raw material. The Christmas shopping season in Midland began officially a few days after Thanksgiving when the annual Santa Claus parade wound through the streets.

Midland Churches Usher In Yule Season With Programs

With the coming of the Yuletide season various Christmas programs are being planned by Midland churches. Programs will include cantatas, nativity pageants, special services, musical programs by the choirs and special parties and Christmas trees for the children. The First Christian Church will present a pageant, "What Is This Thing Called Christmas?" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The pageant is under the direction of Charles Dixon. The Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Marian Alles, will sing "The Birthday of a King," "O Holy Night," "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence," "The Lame Shepherd," "Christmas Caravan," "God So Loved the World," and "God Is a Spirit." By Junior Choir. Carols to be sung by the Junior Choir include "Good Christian Men Rejoice," "Deck the Halls," "O Christmas Tree" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Soloists will be Mrs. Jack Judd, soprano, and E. A. Jordan, tenor. Mrs. John Koenig is the organist. Those participating in the pageant will be the Rev. Clyde Lindsley, Mrs. E. N. Gideon, Mrs. C. R. Webb, Calva Ann Frizell, Nardina Strouse, Eleanor Penn, Linda Jackson, Anita Frizell, Dr. J. O. Shannon, Judy Lindsley, Dick Campbell, Dickie Dixon, E. A. Jordan, Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mary Jane Potter.

Olivia Rayburn, Tommie Campbell, Mrs. J. B. Pierce, E. D. Riddle, Hank Wienold, Nelson Williamson, J. B. Pierce, T. D. Jones, Tom Campbell and Guy Breneman.

The Young People of the Trinity Baptist Church will present a play, "No Room in the Inn," at 7:30 p.m. Friday. There will be a Christmas tree for the children after the program.

The Assembly of God Church will have a Christmas program at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Directors will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roope and Mrs. Roy Rotan.

A play and several skits will be presented at the Christmas program at the Church of God Wednesday night. Skits will be presented by all departments of the church.

The First Presbyterian Church will present a pageant, "The Holy Nativity," at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

It will be performed in Midland as it was in Saint Bartholomew's Church in New York City. Mrs. Forbes Pennycook will be in charge of the production. Mrs. Frank Miller is in charge of music and Art Cole will be the narrator.

Included in the cast are John Baldwin, annunciation angel; Thalia Atkinson, angel of the shepherds; Mrs. Thornton Hardie, Mary; Newbie W. Ellis, Jr., Joseph; Mrs. Donald Johnson and Mrs. George Van Huse, stage angels; Mrs. Sol Bunnell, Mrs. Jack Matthews, Mrs. Murray Fasken, Mrs. R. G. Patterson, Mrs. D. A. Ross, Mrs. E. S. Hitchcock, flower angels. Edwin Stitt, Bill Aldrich, Danny Page, Larry Ledebur, Bobby Porter, Andy Fasken, shepherds; George McIntire, George A. Haun, Gilbert Tompson, kings; Judy Matthews, Susan Pennycook, Jimmy Crenshaw, Andy Crenshaw, Molly Baldwin, Suzanne Hall, Mary Frances Glasscock and Charles Leeper, angels and cherubs.

This will be the third annual Christmas pageant presented at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Trinity Episcopal Church will have a Christmas eve service at 10:40 p.m. Carols will be sung by the choir and communion will be held.

A service will be held at 10 a.m. Christmas day. The church school program will be at 7 p.m. December 23.

A Christmas program and play will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Bible Baptist Church. Recitations will be given and there will be a Christmas tree for the children.

A variety of Christmas programs will be held at the Grace Lutheran Church. At 7 p.m. Thursday the Junior Choir will go caroling.

The Senior Choir will present a Christmas cantata, "Tidings of Joy," by L. E. Sta'rs, at 7:30 p.m. December 23. Mrs. Elizabeth Row- week is the choir director and organist is Mrs. Elizabeth Bodenman.

The Children's Christmas Eve service will be held at 7:30 p.m. December 24. The children of the Sunday School will present a pantomime. The Junior and Senior Choirs will participate.

A Christmas morning service will be held at 10:30 a.m. The pastor will speak on the topic, "Christmas Glory That Centers in Bethlehem." The Senior Choir will sing a medley of Christmas carols.

The First Methodist Church will hold its second annual Christmas Candelight Service at 5 p.m. Sunday in the church. All five choirs, as well as the congregation, will participate in this musical worship program. No regular evening service will be held on this date.

A musical Christmas program will be held Friday in the Four-square Gospel Church. Following the program, a Christmas tree party will be given for the children.

The Children's Department of the Asbury Methodist Church will sponsor a Christmas program and tree Friday in the church.

The Belview Baptist Church will present a Christmas program at 8 p.m. Friday in the church. The Sunday School departments will be in charge.

The First Baptist Church began its observance of the Christmas season with a presentation of "The Messiah" December 9 in the church. The program was given by the church choirs under the direction of the Rev. J. Q. Woodard.

Plans also have been made for a musical Christmas carol service to be held Sunday night with four choirs participating. They are the Chancel Choir and the Chapel Choir under the direction of Mr. Woodard, the Cherub Choir directed by Mrs. Gene Shelburne, and the Carol Choir led by Mrs. W. E. Brown.

Mrs. Woodard, Mrs. Norman Taylor and Annette Smith will be the choirs' accompanists. As a special number, the combined choirs will sing "O Holy Night." Monday the Cherub and Carol Choirs will go Christmas caroling.

Also in observance of Christmas, the Chapel Choir will present the cantata, "Tidings of Great Joy," at the evening service December 23. During the regular Sunday morning service this week the Chancel Choir will present two new Christmas anthems, "Near the Town of Bethlehem" and "Come and Gather Little Children." Both were written by the Latvian composer, Austris Witol.

The St. Mark's Methodist Church will have a "carols and candlelight" Christmas party at 7 p.m. Thursday in the church. One feature of the evening will be a visit from Santa Claus. A manger scene will be set up on the church lawn.

Plans for the Calvary Baptist Church's Christmas observance still are in a formative stage. A musical program has been scheduled tentatively.

Music, plays and songs will be featured at the Christmas Eve program to be given by the Mexican Baptist Mission. The program is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the church.

The St. Ann's Catholic Church will have its annual midnight mass Christmas eve in the church. Special services also will be held on Christmas Day at 7:30, 9 and 11 a.m.

A Christmas tree party and Yuletide program will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the First Free-will Baptist Church. In addition to carols and recitations, a play, "The Message of the Angels," will be presented.

The St. George's Catholic Church will observe the Christmas season with a midnight mass on Christmas Eve and a service at 9 a.m. Christmas Day.

Midlanders Slate Lubbock Ceremony

Gwyndola Stinnett and Donald Edward Caussey will exchange vows at 3 p.m. Sunday in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Lubbock. Dr. J. Ralph Grant of Lubbock will perform the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Stinnett of Tell, Texas. Caussey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Caussey of Knox City.

The ceremony will be read before an altar festooned with greenery. Baskets of white giant astors and candelabra holding white candles will complete the decorations.

Imogene Webster, organist, will play a program of nuptial music, including "Claire de Lune," "I Love You Truly," "Through the Years" and "Always." Mrs. Rex Webster, soloist, will sing "Because" and "The Love of God."

Bridal Gown Described

The bride, to be given in marriage by her brother, J. B. Stinnett, will wear a gown of ice blue satin fashioned with a lace yoke edged with seed pearls. Long sleeves taper to petal points at the bride's wrists and the skirt extends into a cathedral length train. Her bridal veil of ice blue illusion falls from a cloche of ice blue satin trimmed with seed pearls.

She will carry a cascade bouquet of white orchids, roses and stephanotis. For the traditional "something old" she will carry an elbow length glove which was worn by her mother when she was married. A string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, will be her "something new." For "something borrowed" she has a lucky coin and for "something blue," a garter.

Mrs. J. C. Smith of Tell, sister of the bride, will be the matron of honor. She will wear an off-the-shoulder pink dress of net over taffeta with a full skirt and designed with a shirred bodice complemented by a pink net stole. She will carry a cascade bouquet of pink astors and stephanotis tied with pink satin streamers.

Bridesmaids will be Mrs. S. B. Campbell, Jr. of Igbock and Barbara Hazlewood of Midland. Mrs. Campbell will wear a blue green dress fashioned like the dress of the matron of honor. She will carry a cascade bouquet of astors and stephanotis, tinted the color of her dress, and tied with matching satin streamers.

Mrs. Hazlewood will wear a yellow dress, also styled like the dress of the matron of honor, and will carry a cascade bouquet of yellow astors and stephanotis tied with matching satin ribbon.

William Roy Baker of Knox City will be the best man. Candlelighters will be Robert Emmett Hazlewood of Lubbock and Gene Layton Stinnett of Tell, brother of the bride. Ushers will be Jay W. Barnes of Odessa, Thomas Andrew Stinnett of Fort Worth, brother of the bride; Herman Jones of Oklahoma City and Midland and J. C. Smith of Tell, brother-in-law of the bride.

Reception Held

Following the wedding a reception will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Campbell, Jr. The couple will be assisted in receiving its guests by the parents of the bride and the matron of honor.

Others in the houseparty will be Neil Adair, who will serve the cake; Grace McCulloch, who will serve the punch and Mrs. C. E. Hildreth, who will preside over the guest book. Mrs. J. B. Stinnett, Jr., also will assist at the reception.

The table will be covered with a white linen cloth centered with a white rose and stephanotis arrangement. Topping the three-tiered wedding cake will be miniature figures of a bride and bridegroom. White candles and a crystal punch set will complete the decorations.

For a wedding trip to Dallas and Oklahoma City the bride chose a brown suit dress with brown accessories and an oxidized-orange top coat.

The couple will live in Midland after January 1. Mrs. Caussey was graduated from Carly High School as the valedictorian of her class. She received her BA and MA degrees in mathematics and physics at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, where she was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Alpha Chi and Kappa Mu Epsilon. She now is employed as a geophysical computer for Shell Oil Company.

Caussey attended Hardin-Simmons University and was graduated from the University of Texas. He is a member of Acacia Fraternity, Sigma Gamma Epsilon and the Southwestern Geological Society. At present he is employed as a geologist for the Honolulu Oil Company.

The rehearsal party was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Hazlewood. Brocade jewelry boxes were given by the bride to her attendants. The bridegroom's gifts to his attendants were leather address books with the owner's name inscribed in gold.

A thin coat of fresh, white shellac applied to cleaned brass should keep it from tarnishing. A second thin coat of shellac will give long life to the finish. The shellac always can be removed with denatured alcohol. Tea tastes best when it's made in a china or earthenware teapot. Other rules are to heat the teapot by rinsing it out with boiling water and to allow the tea to steep for four to five minutes.

The Boys' Choir will present "How Bright Appears the Morning Star," Philipp Nicolai, and the Girls' Choir will sing "See the Infant Softly Sleeping," a Christmas lullaby by Alexander Gretchaninoff, and "Sing Noel," Geoffrey O'Hara.

"Go Tell It on the Mountain," a Christmas spiritual arranged by George Lynn, and "In the Lonely Midnight," George Blake, will be sung by the Vesper Choir, made up of teen-agers.

The Chancel Choir will present the following numbers: "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silent," an old French melody arranged by Gustav Holst; "Break Forth, O Beautiful Heavenly Light," a choral from "The Christmas Oratorio," J. S. Bach; "All Hail the Virgin's Sons," Clarence Dickinson; "While By Our Sleeping Flock We Lay," a German melody of the 17th century arranged by Hugo Jungst; "Carol of the Bells," a Ukrainian carol by M. Leontovich, arranged by Peter J. Wilhousky, and "O Holy Night," Adam.

The Choral Union will present "The Christmas Story" by W. A. Goldsborough and an arrangement for violin, harp and piano of "Ave Maria," Schubert, will be played. The organ music for the service will include "Puer Natus Est," Everett Titcomb, and "In Dulci Jubilo," J. S. Bach.

NAMED VICE PRESIDENT

Peggy McCourt recently was named vice president of the Business and Professional Women's Club to replace Lucille Johnson who resigned. The announcement was made by Flossie Vaughn, president.

1842 Greeting Still A Favorite

By GAILE DUGAS

If, during the holidays, you should open an envelope to find that it contained a Christmas card decorated with seaweed or luggage labels, you might not be amused. Back in the Victorian era, you would have gotten something like that or else a card trimmed with bits of blanket, real corks or dried flowers.

The Christmas card custom that we accept as an integral part of the holidays is a relatively new one. It really got its start in the Victorian England of the 1840's.

Victoria and Albert had just introduced the Christmas tree to their subjects and a writer named Charles Dickens had penned a book that all of England wept over and loved.

This elaborate Victorian Christmas card, puffed and fringed in white silk, was typical of the cards of its day.

It was called "A Christmas Carol." In a collection of prints and drawings in the British Museum, there's a card that is believed to be the world's first Christmas card. It bears the date 1842 and the 16-year-old artist who created it signed himself, "W. M. Egley Junr."

But the Christmas card custom as we know it really caught on during the 1860's. The first commercial cards appeared in England in 1862, the year of the second Great International Exhibition.

These cards were designed by an artist named C. F. Bennett, who had done a good deal of work for the old Punch magazine. His designs were staggeringly unoriginal. His humor was crude and the color used in the cards was poor but nevertheless, the idea gained favor.

In America, Louis Prang is generally regarded as the father of the American Christmas card. The first of the prize competitions he held for designs took place in June, 1880, and got the popularity of the custom well under way in this country.

A decade earlier Prang had tried some cards on a small scale. He even thought up an enterprising idea: three large cards and a smaller one intended for decorating the home.

This is the way the first known Christmas card looked. It was printed in England in 1842; was designed by a 16-year-old artist and sent as a greeting to his friends.

Frosting, jeweling and lace paper trim were all familiar to Victorians. But ribbon was not. It came into general use much later.

The greeting that W. M. Egley composed for that first, momentous card of his is still the greeting that Americans like best today: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You."

McAfee, Morgan Exchange Vows

ANDREWS — Lou Ollie McAfee became the bride of A. V. Morgan, Jr., recently in Tatum, N. M.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McAfee. Mr. and Mrs. Bates Carnes and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Glaze accompanied the couple.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will be at home in Andrews.

NATIVE SON

REGINA, SASK. — Gordon Grant is not only the 50th mayor in Regina's history, he is the first native of Saskatchewan capital to become its chief magistrate.

Broiled bananas taste good served with curried shrimp. Other good accompaniments are finely chopped crisp bacon, finely chopped salted peanuts, and preserved ginger.

Why Not Own One

LABORATORY TESTS prove that the ordinary water that runs through your taps costs you up to $200 a year.

You can add up for yourself the cost of excess soap, of new pairs of expensive stockings, of wear and tear on the laundry and of repairs to clogged pipes and plumbing. If you are using hard water in your home you may be paying more each year than a Rheem Soft Water Appliance would cost you completely installed.

FREE! See for yourself. Ask us today for a FREE analysis of your household water—and a week's demonstration in your own home. Small down payment—3 years to pay.

Selling Film Shown To Insurance Group

A sound-film dramatization of a book on selling was shown the Permian Basin Association of Life Underwriters at their monthly meeting Friday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

The program presentation was by J. P. (Kit) Carson, sales manager of The Borden Company, and the book the film depicted was "How I Raised Myself from Failure to Success in Selling" by Frank Bettger, George Yarnaman, club president, presided.

Odessa members of the group announced formation of their own chapter with 18 charter members and will be known as The Oil Center Association of Life - Underwriters. President J. Cecil Moore of the Odessa group talked briefly at the Midland meeting.

Guests included Jack Ridley, George Cook, Ed Costello, Charlie King, Hank Avery and Eddie Fenstermaker.

Dear Santa Claus—

Dear Santa:

"I am a little girl six years old. I have been good, so please bring me a baby doll, set of dishes, white zipper Bible, table and chairs, doll suitcase full of doll clothes, but I won't be home Christmas, but will you bring my toys to Raymondville, or to Corpus Christi. Airtel leave them at David's, Katy's and Evene's house. Please bring them lots of toys and candy, fruit and nuts."

I love you,
Joy Arnold

P.S. Please bring Gene a bible belt with his name on it and some corduroy shirts, B-B gun with a scope on it.

Dear Santa Claus:

"I am a little girl three years old and have a little brother who is a year and a half old, so we are asking our mother to write this letter to you."

"I want a doll trunk, dinette set and a saddle to ride my Shetland ponies, Tar Baby and Toby."

"My little brother wants a Teddy bear, animal truck and hammer set. Both of us need a toy chest to keep our toys in together. Thank you, Santa."

Betty Jean and Robert Calcutt,
Rankin, Texas

Dear Santa Claus:

"I want a Bonnie Braids doll, some new tubes for my bicycle and a cash register. My little sister, Janelda, wants a doll and buggy and umbrella. My two brothers, Larry and Kenny, want some guns and holsters and a police car and a little tie."

"We will leave you a lunch and please come in the front door because we haven't a chimney. Love,"
Sandra, Larry, Janelda and Kenny Jourdan

Dear Santa:

"I am a little girl four and one-half years old, please bring me a Toni doll, dishes and a blackboard. Please bring my little sister, Sheryl, a sleepy doll, dishes and an ironing board and rocky-horse. She is three."

We love you,
Kathleen Farmer.

Dear Santa:

"I have been a very good boy. I want a train, truck, tricycle, book and tool set for Christmas. I love you."

—George (Snuffy) Tom, III

Dear Santa:

"I will be seven years old on December 27. I want a jumping rope, skates, dishes and records. My little brother, Danny, is one year old. He wants a wagon and telephone."

—Sylvia and Danny Endaly

Dear Santa Claus:

"I am a little boy seven years old and my sister is four years old. Please bring her a doll, buggy, and set of dishes. I would like a football, electric train and a basketball set. If you have any extra toys we will be happy with them. We love you very much."

—Bruce and Paulette Thurman

Dear Santa:

"I am a boy six years old. I want a wind up train, some boots and don't forget my cousins, Benton and Jimmy."

—William Cunniss

Dear Santa:

"I want a cowboy suit, tool box, some guns, house coat, house shoes, football and Chinese checkers. Love"

—Clayton Carpenter

Dear Santa:

"I am a little girl four years old and have just moved to Midland. I thought I'd better write you so you will not miss me and my big brother, who is 11 years old. His name is Tommy."

"I think I have been good this year and if you can spare one, will you please bring me a big doll, also a little refrigerator, stove and washing machine. Tommy wants an electric baseball game and some other games. Love"

—Judith Cathy

Dear Santa:

"I would like for you to bring me a doll, doll house, pair of roller skates, a hat like yours, some doll clothes, and please don't forget to bring doll shoes."

"Also, my brother would like some pearl snap western shirts, electric football game and some monogram models of aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers, and anything else you might want to bring."

—Bill and Sylvia Collins

Dear Santa Claus:

"My name is Billy Michael Roush, and I am four years old. For Christmas, I would like to have a trike, wagon, scooter, cowboy suit with two guns and scabbard."

"My sister wants a record player, new pair of boots and set of luggage. I have been pretty good this year so mommy says you will bring me what I want if you can. I also have something for you, Christmas Eve I am going to put some cookies and milk and you and your elves can play with some of my toys."

"A Merry, Merry Christmas to you, dear Santa."

—Mike

Dear Santa:

"I am a little boy four years old. My name is Mike. I've just recently moved to Texas from Oklahoma—so don't forget me."

"For Christmas, would you please bring me a football, a football helmet, a baseball and a glove."

"Thanks a million, Santa."

—Your pal,
Mike Lawrence

Dear Santa Claus:

"Soon I will be two years old. For Christmas, I would like a horse, a choo-choo train on track and a tractor."

"We have a Christmas tree all ready for you."

"I'd like a great big Hershey, if it's okay."

Love to Santa,
Tamara Allison Lane

Dear Santa:

"I'm a little boy three years. I've tried to be good this year. I would like for you to bring me a farm set, Crazy Ike and a telephone."

"Don't forget my pal, Poss Howard, bring him something nice."

Your little boy,
Ronald Ray Pearson

Dear Santa:

"We are two little girls, ages eight and three, and we have been good little girls—we think. We would like for you to bring us a doll, some dishes, and a doctor set. Thank you."

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—A one-legged man with a beard but with cheerful face, stood in the post office at Grand Central trying to get the attention of those who passed. At first I thought he was a beggar, but something about him denied this, so I spoke to Dr. Soloway who is in charge of the post office, and he went over and talked to the cripple. Soon he called one of his assistants, and I could hear the bearded one speaking in a foreign tongue. As the assistant led the man away, Soloway explained to me that the cripple was a Polish emigrant just arrived in this country. He was trying to get a bus ticket to Chicago, and being accustomed to European post offices, which also are ticket offices, etc., had come here, but could make no one understand him, until the Polish-speaking post assistant was called. Now he was on his way to the bus station.

A friend who has just returned from Bermuda is full of praise for that sunny vacation Isle which is only hours away by plane. He was rather surprised, though, at how English the atmosphere was, the people being much more British than he expected to find in a place so near the United States and so frequented by Americans. For some reason, he reports, most of the houses are of pink stone, and when he inquired about the famous Bermuda onions, he was told that all of these now come from Texas.

After taking my watch to two jewelers, neither of whom seemed able to fix it, I took it, upon recommendation of a friend, to a repairman by the name of Peter Kalaydzian at 160 East 28th Street. He took one sharp look at it through one of those little telescope-like things, grabbed a small screw-driver, turned something and handed it back to me. There was no charge. However, this Oriental artist of the tiny mechanisms usually gets good prices for his work—for he guarantees it, he said. A pleasant intense man with hair combed down slick, he is a bachelor and tells his working hours accordingly. He says he makes enough money, does not care to labor long at a time. So if you want to see him, his business hours are from 12 noon to 2 p.m. and from 4 to 7 p.m.

The wind as it blew around the street corner brought icy rain which whipped into the drawn face of the little old lady selling pencils. Then came the downpour and as the lights came on, they were reflected in the drops of water from her greying hair. She shivered and drew her old shawl more tightly about her as she held out the few pencils to the well-dressed man who paused for the traffic light. He snarled and turned his head away from force of habit. Then he looked at her again. The light had changed but he did not move on. Maybe he saw something in that sad little old face that reminded him of some one—perhaps his own mother. He swallowed hard, dug into his pocket and laid a dollar in her hand, taking no pencils but getting a fervent "God bless you" instead.

With all its people, New York probably is the loneliest place in the world. That is why so many people go to shows, to parks or just wander up and down the streets. Many of the solitary ones live in one-room apartments, have a dog, a handful of china and a radio that seems never to be turned off. The bed folds into a sofa, the stove is part of the refrigerator, the ironing board folds up, and the horizontal clothes closet often is under the lounge. Some of these lone individuals live so much to themselves that when they die, it is often many days before anyone else knows about it.

A chaplain told me that of the 3 1/2 million men and women in the armed forces who are under 25 years of age, only a third belong to any church—which is a powerful slam on our religious bodies. In order that these young people may not go into combat zones unprepared to meet their Maker, the National Council of Churches is doing something about it, something which it is hoped will prove effective. As part of its efforts to bring religion closer to the service personnel, the organization has devised an emblem which will be

American Planning New Aircoach Rates

American Airlines Saturday announced plans to double its high-speed transcontinental aircoach service and lower the coast-to-coast fare from $110 to $69.

The company said that in addition to doubling the service by March 23 it is planning even more aircoach flights as well as extending low cost service to other cities yet to be designated.

The DC-36 Blue Ribbon service will operate between New York and Chicago and Los Angeles. The first will be a round trip schedule between Chicago and Los Angeles starting March 2. This will be extended to a complete transcontinental round trip schedule between New York, Chicago and Los Angeles on June 1.

Meanwhile, another complete coast to coast round trip schedule will be started March 23.

The new low fare which American plans to put into effect on January 10 is subject to approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board. However, the airline's plan is in accord with the CAB's recent recommendations calling for more coach operations and reduction of coach fares below the current general level of 4.5 cents a mile.

American now has four aircoach flights daily between New York and Los Angeles, one in each direction by way of Chicago and one in each direction by way of Dallas.

If you want to test candy for the soft ball stage and you haven't a candy thermometer, drop a half teaspoon of the boiling syrup into a cup of cold water; if it's ready you'll be able to pick up the soft ball although it will flatten out.

Wash fresh broccoli by plunging the heads up and down in cold water; then soak in cold water to which a little salt has been added for about half an hour. Drain and peel off the woody outside covering of the stalks before cooking.

Mary Virginia Schneider

PLANS DECEMBER VOWS—Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Schneider, Cloverdale Road, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Virginia, to James Douglas Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Fulton of Brownwood. The double-ring ceremony will be read at 7:30 p.m. December 29 in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. J. Q. Woodard, assistant pastor, officiating.

Mary Gould And Lt. Gerald Wed

Mary Virginia Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gould of Dayton Ohio, and second Lt. Rex Ervin Gerald were married recently in the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Thompson of Sterling, Colo., and formerly of Midland.

Dr. Charles Lyon Seaholes, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony, Mrs. Achille Di Russo, violinist, and Lawson Jones, pianist, presented traditional wedding music.

Marian Elizabeth Wood was the maid of honor and Roberta Ellen Gould was the junior bridesmaid. James Richard Gould was the best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of imported chantilly lace over satin fashioned with a mold-bodice and a jewel neckline. The sleeves were pointed over the hands and satin binding gave a long torso effect to the full skirt. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion fell from a cap of Chantilly lace appliqued with bugle beads and seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies and magnolia leaves.

Crescent Bouquet

The maid of honor wore a gown of forest green velvet and nylon tulle with mits of nylon net. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gardenias. The junior bridesmaid was dressed like the maid of honor.

After the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

For traveling the bride chose a three-piece suit of navy blue tweed with matching accessories. Her corsage was a green orchid. Lieutenant and Mrs. Gerald will make their home in Colonial Heights, Va.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Colorado. Gerald is a graduate of Midland High School and the University of Arizona. He is stationed at Fort Lee, Va.

Lt. and Mrs. Rex Gerald

Altrusa Club Has Annual Christmas Party

The Altrusa Club held its Christmas party Thursday in the home of Mrs. Annie Ford.

The Christmas theme was used in the decorations. Greenery and holly were sent from Texarkana to be used in the decorations. Poinsettias and wreaths decorated the sun room.

Christmas stories were read by Grace Wallace and Dick Loobey. Maurine Mims, president, poured punch.

During the business meeting the club voted to aid the Latin American schools and a gift was sent to Lelia Chola of Manila who is a student at Texas University and is sponsored by the 7th District.

Games were played with the money from fines going to a scholarship fund for Billy Yang of Korea. The fund was set up by Willie Walker, past governor of Altrusa. The money will be used for his education in the United States.

Balloons, with numbers inside, were popped for the exchange of gifts. Grace Wallace introduced guests of the club including five members of the Odessa club.

Jerry Williams Bizzell, daughter of Kay Williams, was given a cook book of recipes compiled by the members for the nice things she has done for the club.

Birthday songs were sung to Janette Beatherwick and Agnes Park. Forty-two members and guests attended.

For Christmas Belles

By ANNE LARSEN
Many women, feeling that the Christmas season calls for something special in the way of personal adornment, are discouraged when a trek through the shops produces nothing more exciting than some colored pine cones or a cluster of holly berries. The answer is to make your own.

Patricia Easterbrook Roberts, well-known New York floral designer, offers these suggestions for those who wish to add a sparkle both to their appearance and to party prattle.

A decided conversation piece is a bubble crown which bestows regality upon its wearer at pin money cost. All that's needed to create

Green metallic and white chenille ones are twined together to form a circle to fit the head, and to serve as cross bars from ear to ear and from front to back. Little white straw flowers, tacked on around the circle and at the peak of the cap, give a translucent delicacy to the design. Aqua glitter, sprinkled onto their centers to which you've dropped a bit of glue, adds a final touch of seasonal sparkle.

Straw flowers are used again to make an arresting wristlet to wear on formal occasions. Fresh ivy leaves, bordered with silver glitter, which has been applied to an edging of glue, form effective, glossy-glistening magnificence is a handful of Christmas tree balls—the kind with self-stems and a half-dozen pipe cleaners.

Silver pipe cleaners, which catch the eye with a tinsy glitter, are available at your florist. Twist these into a circle to fit the crown of your head, then loop on additional cleaners to form prongs for the silver balls. Attach the ornaments, and then you're all set to be the most brilliant Christmas belle at the ball.

To peek coyly from beneath the hem of a swishing formal, here's another idea involving pipe cleaners. They're of red chenille this time, paired with red metallic thread which is available at needlework counters.

To make a holiday-happy butterfly to perch upon each shoe, begin by looping the metallic thread in figure-eight fashion around the thumb and little finger of your left hand. Continue winding until there's enough thickness for fluffy wings.

The body and the feelers of the gossamer insect are made of red pipe cleaners which are looped under at the bottom to form little hooks for securing the butterflies to your slippers.

A Juliet cap is an accessory that's sure to create a stir of admiration at teen-age holiday festivities. Pipe cleaners are again the heroes of the tale.

Perfume That Clings
Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its saccharine base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.88 plus tax at Cameron's Pharmacy, Crawford Hotel Bldg., or Camworth Drugs, 1405 N. Big Spring.—ADV

'Accidental' Death Ruled For Terrorist
KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA—An Indian Communist terrorist was shot to death by his own rifle which he was swinging in a brutal beating of a fellow communist in their jungle hideout. The story came to light in a letter found when security forces found the body of another Indian terrorist.

The tough guy was striking the other communist with the rifle which he was holding by the barrel. He forgot the safety catch was not applied and the trigger mechanism was jerked loose.

Wise Ways On Gifts For Gals

These Christmas gifts for her look glamorous, are practical from a woman's point of view. Robe (left) is budget-priced bemberg quilted crepe. Tidy evening purse (upper center) in bemberg brocade has own matching compact and lipstick and a small price. Maltese cross (upper center) is studded with colorful cabochons, is worn at the hipline. Necklace and bracelet (lower center) are in Far-Eastern mood of design. Black velvet lounging pajamas (upper right) have pink brocade coolie coat. Unique timepiece (lower right) folds like an envelope, can be used as watch for night-table. Every gift here will be useful long after the holidays.

Even during the Christmas season, there are rules about shopping. But it's the women who know them, not the men.

Men are abashed about shopping for women. They take the first large, economy size bottle of French perfume or the first black lace lingerie the salesgirl shoves at them. They know there must be something around in the stores that women like. But what they can't imagine, they need help. They need to know how to pick things that women won't exchange on December 25 and they need to consider their wallets when they shop.

Costume jewelry is a good place to start. A handsome Maltese cross, for instance, looks expensive pinned at the hipline of a suit. But it costs little.

The same thing can be said for necklace, earrings and bracelet in twisted gold, tipped with Oriental spikes. And it holds true for a watch that flips shut like an envelope, slips readily into a handbag, it can double as a watch on a bedside table because it can stand upright.

Brunch coats and lounging pajamas are popular as Christmas gifts and with good reason. They're priced as reasonably as you like and they're the kind of gift any woman loves but hesitates to buy for herself.

Lounging pajamas in black velvet topped by a pink brocade coolie coat with tremendous sleeves are pretty and inexpensive. Mandarin collar, sleeves and jacket bottom are edged in velvet.

A brunch coat would look equally nice in a big white box under the tree on Christmas morning. Pick one that washable, in a pale yellow quilted bemberg crepe. Lovely at breakfast on Christmas Day and for many days thereafter.

One of the many small gifts that looks luxurious and is priced for pennies is a tiny evening purse in rich pastel bemberg brocade. It comes equipped with matching compact and lipstick.

The French purse in metallic bemberg brocade is a wonderful and deceptive gift: deceptive because it looks so trim and flat and actually holds so much. Inexpensive, too, though it has a costly look.

These are just starters. There are also checkbook covers in twisted gold yarns or in velvet studded with rhinestone crowns. There are glasses and comb cases in beaded velvets. Or satin belts alight with iridescent bugle beads.

For the older woman, try a spray of red velvet rosebuds on navy satin stems or black velvet roses with rhinestone dewdrops shining on the petals. Or she might like an engagement book or shopping list case in lovely silk brocade. All of these are gifts any woman would love to own and none of them are costly.

Winter Fur Designs Are Sumptuous And Creative

These furs, designed by Maximilian, are the ultimate in luxury. Slim suit in broadtail (left) has wing-cuffed jacket fitted at the waist, straight skirt. Elegant shoulder-wrap (center) is in breath-

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Furs that are handled so that they have the fluidity of fabric are high fashion this Winter. The fitted coat in fur is back, with sleek bodice and flared skirt to point up a tiny waist.

Pale furs and blonde furs are shown throughout the collection of Maximilian, who designs some of the world's most luxurious fur fashions. Where dark furs are shown, this designer highlights them with linings of gold lame.

For a frosty white nutria coat, he uses contrasting deep claret-color velvet and for Somali leopard, a lining of green velvet.

Probably the very last word in elegance is his white ermine cardigan dress topped by a cloak of midnight blue broadtail. But there's another conversation piece in a slim broadtail suit that's a specialty of the house.

Each design is cut in the fur indigenous to it. One coat has a fitted bodice of leopard and winged skirt of black Alaska seal. A slim, wrapped and tapered coat is done in blonde otter and cashmere to best display both fur and fabric. The mandarin silhouette appears in a coat of blue otter.

Small furs are shown at this house, too. There are little boleros of white mink, blonde cape stoles, muffs of honey-toned fox, tiny shoulder wraps in breath-of-spring royal pastel mink. It can be worn with dressy daytime clothes or used as an evening wrap. Full-length coat (right), has sleeves with generous cut, deep collar, is worn wrapped.

I have told my little friends here in Spur that the Midland paper is nice for sending letters to Santa Claus for us." —Priscilla Wood Spur, Texas

Dear Santa Claus: "I have been good and I am six years old. I would like to have a B-B gun and I would especially like to have an electric train. I will leave you a cup of coffee under the tree." Love, John S. Grief. P.S. I have a little sister who wants a doll.

Dear Santa: "My uncle works on the Midland paper so I am sending a letter by him." "I want a Toni doll, buckskin jacket and a conakin cap, an Indian suit with fringe on it, bow and arrows. I have told my little friends here in Spur that the Midland paper is nice for sending letters to Santa Claus for us." —Priscilla Wood Spur, Texas

A woman of 55 tells me she is unhappy and bored and wants to know what she ought to do.

That is much too big a question for another person to even attempt to answer.

But whenever a person gets to feeling bored and unhappy it is time to ask a few searching questions. Answering those below may give a hint as to why life isn't offering the person more.

How many times during the last six months have I gone out of my way to do a small but helpful kindness to another person?

How long has it been since I begun some new project with enthusiasm and genuine interest—something creative just to please myself?

How many new friends have I made in the past year?

Look For Good in People
Do I ever stop to count my many blessings?

Do I look for good in those who touch my life in some way, instead of searching and probing to find out their faults?

Do I get real pleasure from a beautiful day?

Am I still interested in learning new things?

How often do I invite friends to share the hospitality of my home?

Do I keep up with friends separated from me by distance?

Do friends ever turn to me for help when they are in trouble?

I can't tell you how to put more meaning into everyday living. But by answering those questions honestly, you may be able to figure out how you are missing opportunities to make life seem rich and full of meaning.

Imagination Brings Yuletide Indoors

A contrast in region as well as in mood is offered by these two table settings. The warm Christmases of the South are suggested by quietly-elegant arrangement of camellias and holly which repeat the green-and-white color scheme set by two-tone china, monogrammed napkins and net-over-felt table covering. The stark beauty of glittering icicles on bare black limbs, complemented by clean-lined modern china, silver and glassware (left) is suitable for Yule season in the snowy North.

ANNE LARSEN
Christmas dinners in many homes this year will no doubt feel the sharp edge of the high cost of living, with lavish touches of yesteryear lopped off the traditional menu as unnecessary trifles.

There's no need however, for the air of festivity to be lacking from your table simply because stuffed pork chops must be substituted for your usual suckling pig. Imaginative table decorations can make of any meal a feast.

Converting your dinner table into a banquet board need not strain your already over-stretched budget. Highly effective arrangements can be concocted from what you find discarded in the attic of the garage, tucked away in your Christmas-decoration box, or growing in your own back yard.

If you've an old table in decrepit condition, you can salvage enough raw materials to create one of the most ingenious arrangements ever praised by family or friends. Simply saw the legs into appropriate lengths, and convert them into candle holders.

The felt is allowed to hang to the floor, giving the table an air of Victorian opulence that harmonizes well with the rich design of the sterling flatware. The net, which overhangs the table edge by about ten inches, is scalloped around its border. A small plate is an excellent aid in creating this scalloped design.

Bright peasant art adds a touch of holiday gaiety to these candle-holders, which were fashioned from sections of old, discarded table legs.

ness is carried out in the china, which is bordered with a jade-colored band, in the handsome water goblets, and in the mono-grammed napkins of linen damask.

The icy breath of the North wind is suggested in a table setting appropriate for a hearty Yankee dinner. The bare branch of a tree, treated with molten plastic to simulate very realistically, icicles is thrust upright in a bank of living ivy which has been touched here and there with silver paint. A cluster of silver Christmas balls further highlights this simple centerpiece.

Plain white china, including a service plate banded in platinum, harmonizes well with the mood of joy brilliance set by the table decoration. With this simple modern china is used clean-lined but handsome flatware in a morning star pattern and water goblets of stark, uncluttered beauty.

Girl Scouts Plan Christmas Parties, Make Yuletide Gifts
