James Michael Moore

Elder Len Dalton of Hamilton, assisted by T. H. Harrell of Dublin held funeral services at the Turnbow cemetery Thursday afternoon at three o'clock for Jim Moore, who passed away at his home here Wednesday night, July 25, 1945, after more than a year's illness. James Michael Moore was born August 22, 1871, in Grayson county. At the age of 14 he moved with his parents to Erath county and lived on a farm until a few years ago when he and his wife moved to Carlton from the Palmer community. On Jan. 10, 1897, he was married to Miss Alice Turnbow of Purves. To this union were born six children: John and Richard, Carlton; Mrs. Cecil Jones, Tahoka; Warren, Goose Creek; two children preceded their father in death, Wilburn and Hazel. He is survived by his wife and four children; nine grandchildren, and one brother, Allie Moore of Floydada. Two of the grandchildren are in service, Bobbie and John Allen, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

Harrell funeral directors of Dublin had charge of all arrangements, with burial in the cemetery where funeral services were held. Pallbearers were Will Barnett, Temple Caudle, Rev. Fred V. Parnell, Art Ward, Charley Wilhite, Cyrus King, and W. M. Horsley. Flower girls were Mrs. Jess Reeves, Mrs. Hubert Stuckey, Mrs. Dow Self, and Mrs. Daymond Weaver. Relatives from out of town attending the funeral were Mrs. Emma Lowden and niece, Fort Worth; Sheriff and Mrs. Carl Turnbow, Stephenville; Mr. and Mrs. Buster Fox and two children, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fox and his mother, Mrs. Ann Fox Alexander. Several of the Carlton people remained at the Turnbow cemetery for the funeral of Uncle Bill Palmer, following the Moore funeral.

Miss Mattie McKinney

She became dangerously ill Thursday and was rushed to the Gorman hospital in a Barrow ambulance, and grew worse until the end. Burial was made in the local cemetery Monday afternoon, with Barrow funeral directors of Hico in charge.

Mattie was born near Carlton July 2, 1905 and was converted at the age of 12 years, but didn't unite with any church, but her preference was the Methodist faith. She is survived by her mother, four brothers and three sisters: Jim (Cad), Carlton, Charley and Clyde, Rotan; John, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Annie McGrew and Mrs. Rosie Dyer, a twin of Mattie, both of Rotan, and Emily of Austin. Her father, one sister and three brothers preceded her in death.

Rev. A. J. Helms, Methodist pastor, conducted the funeral services. Pallbearers were: George Driver, Ed Chambers, Will Barnett, Art Ward, Walker Curry, and Charley Wilhite. Flower bearers were Mrs. George Driver, Mrs. Jess Reeves, Mrs. R. L. Hopson, Mrs. Grady Littleton, Mrs. Hubert Stuckey, and Charline Ford.

Too Many Families Wait for Illness To Call the Doctor

Austin Texas, July 30.—According to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, there are too many persons who approach the choice of a family physician casually. Viewing the doctor much as a fireman, whose services are required only in an emergency, such families wait until an illness strikes and then get hold of the first doctor who can respond to the call. While such an attitude is still reasonably assured one of satisfactory medical services, it can handicap the physician somewhat, and in the long run does not permit the supervision and close personal contact which only can exist by having a regular family doctor.

"Knowing his patients enables a physician to give advice on maintaining health and preventing disease, based on his intimate knowledge of the physical and mental make-up of the members of the family," Dr. Cox stated. "The casually summoned physician plainly cannot have this background or opportunity."

"People are far from being alike," he continued. Bodily and mental characteristics markedly differ in members of the same family. Reactions to medicines of various types, the habits of the individual, environmental influences, and personal factors vary widely. Armed with an intelligent appreciation of these facts, as applied to the members of the family, a physician possesses the maximum opportunity to render his best service."

Dr. Cox declared that in such case not only is the physician in a better position to treat occasional illness, but can act as an advisor regarding disease preventions, living habits, and the general health of all those comprising the family group. He thus not only is one who cures a specific illness, but becomes a medical counselor to the family as a whole.

Katy Reduces Mortgage Debt

For railroads as well as for individuals, today is the right and patriotic time to save... to reduce mortgage debts... to protect against the future. It is just as sound and satisfying to the owners of a railroad as it is to a home owner to free himself of burdensome mortgage debt.

The Katy has backed this firm conviction with approximately $40,000,000 of its mortgage bonds purchased, retired and cremated since December 31, 1941—a 43% reduction in mortgage debt within four short years!

Reduction of mortgage debt is interest saved. With the retirement and cancellation of $40,000,000 of bonds the Katy has reduced its mortgage interest charges approximately $1,900,000 annually—the equivalent of lower operating costs.

To effect such savings is to run a railroad more economically and efficiently. Any thrifty property owner who has watched his mortgage diminish will readily understand that sound financing goes hand in hand with sound management.

With its financial house in order, the Katy faces the future with strength and confidence—better able to build for and serve the greater needs of the growing Southwest—and better able to protect the interests of its owners, the stockholders.

By ELLIOTT PINE

There's talk that Bronko Nagurski, the mighty back of college and professional football, will attempt a comeback this season with the Chicago Bears. He is 37. Friends are urging him not to try it. It can't be done at his age, they say, and it would be better for fans to remember him in his great days. . . . It's somewhat different in other sports, like baseball. Tony Cuccinello of the White Sox is 38, but he is now enjoying his best season in his 19 years of playing, batting above .300. Golf stars often keep going well in their later 30s, but not football players. . . . prize-fighters.

Francisco Segura, the tennis marvel from Ecuador, wanted to be a bullfighter when a youth. Steve Roser of the Yankees has been accepted for the army. . . . he is a righthand pitcher. . . . the Yanks used him in only four games this season.

Nick Busulich of Pepperdine college, Los Angeles, who ranks 12th in the nation as a tennis player, is also close to the top as a basketball center. . . . he is 6 feet, 7 inches tall. . . . in a basketball game five years ago he scored 34 points.

Some kind of record was hung up lately by Wendell ("Bill") Davis, Milwaukee Brewer pitcher. . . . he won five straight games in eight days, four as relief man, and the other as starter. Charles Beaudry, Marquette U., won the national A.A.U. decathlon with 5,886 points.

Charles Morgan of New Orleans L.A.S. was second with 5,850. The decathlon demands all-round athletic proficiency. Philadelphia police arrested 14 men on July 8 for gambling in Shibe park during the first half of the Phillies-Cub game. The men took bets on every angle of the game. . . . strikes, hits, errors, as well as runs.

The years 1876 to 1880 were landmarks in sports. . . . in 1876 the first intercollegiate track and field meets were staged. . . . polo was introduced in the fall. Badminton came to the U. S. in 1878, and the first cross-country run was held that year. The first archery tournament was run off in 1879. . . . and in 1880 ice hockey was first played.

Brownwood College To Offer Enlarged Speech Program

By Novalyne Price Roberts

Beginning September 12, 1945, Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, Texas, will offer new opportunities to high school graduates in the field of speech.

Every effort is being made to make the speech courses practical and useful to students. Because of the importance of the radio as an educational tool, special emphasis will be placed on courses in radio speaking and writing.

As Daniel Baker has a regular weekly radio program, students will have an opportunity of appearing on this program often enough to gain valuable experience which will enable them to hold jobs with any small broadcasting station.

Daniel Baker will work toward the development of regional drama. Students with a talent for writing plays will have the opportunity of staging them in the workshop theater.

Fundamental courses in public speaking will stress the importance of clear, distinct speech. The average business man or woman needs training of this kind.

Another feature of the Daniel Baker program is the speech clinic, where students with disorders and defects such as stammering, stuttering, and lisping will be given special training and help.

The aim of the Daniel Baker Speech Department is to train students in their every day speech habits and to prepare them for their chosen profession.

DOING SOMETHING ABOUT IT

SOME months ago the motion picture studios of Hollywood found it was impossible to get 8-penny and 20-penny nails. Nails of this size were used in building sets.

Finally one studio got busy on a device that would straighten nails. I understand it spent three months and $2,000 without straightening a nail by machinery.

Then Twentieth Century-Fox said that the way to get anything done was to assign some one to the job and tell him to stick to it till he had it skinned and its hide hanging on the barn door.

He was told, "All the Hollywood studios have been talking about the need of a nail straightener, but no one has done anything about it. Do something about it."

He began to work with the things he had around him; did not go off the lot for anything; nor buy anything. Just used the tools and parts the other studios had overlooked.

Finally he had it completed. The device weighs almost a ton, and on the floor covers a space of three by six feet. No longer on this studio lot do you see a crew of men sitting around with hammers pecking at nails.

Washington, D. C. (NWNS)—The state department continues to be busy denying peace rumors, but the rumors continue. Most persistent of them is one that Premier Stalin went to the Potsdam conference with the terms which the Japanese were willing to accept.

The Japanese may or may not have launched "peace feelers" but anyone who takes any stock in these unfounded reports should remember the similar rumors about Germany which were rampant during the African phase of the war in 1942.

Military leaders here do not expect the Japanese to surrender until sometime next year—perhaps not until 1947. They feel certain that a full invasion will be necessary to bring the Japs to their knees.

Discoloration In Fruits Discussed By H. D. Agent

Miss Thelma J. Keese, Hamilton County Home Demonstration Agent, has sent the following article for publication in the News Review:

Another means of preventing discoloration of fruits is being given publicity through the releases of the Extension Service of A. & M. College. Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, food preservation specialist, now recommends the use of ascorbic acid, which is vitamin C.

The fruits which we are chiefly concerned with are peaches, apples, pears, and apricots. In canning, tablets of vitamin C can be placed in the jar just before it is sealed. The tablets come in 25, 50, and 100 milligram potency. One and one-fourth tablets of the 100 mg. size are required for one pint jar. The cost is less than two cents per pint in that quantity.

Most discoloration is caused by oxidation of the ascorbic acid in the fruit, and in home canning it is impossible to put up fruit without some air in the jar. Therefore an anti-oxidant is needed. The vitamin C is not a preservative, nor does it affect the taste. The tablets are not harmful in any way; they are not used to avoid proper and careful canning. They are used only to prevent discoloration.

GOOD HEALTH PLANS FOR POST-WAR PERIOD

A good health program in any area will be related to at least two fields: (1) building positive health and preventing illness, (2) making provisions for adequate care for those who become ill because of a lack of, or in spite of, good positive preventive measures.

According to Miss Jennie Camp, specialist in Home Production Planning, the first of these depends on such things as plenty of good food of all kinds; clothing adapted to the person and to the work to be done; comfortable, convenient housing; clean attractive surroundings; a proper balance between work and play; immunization against communicable diseases.

This gives food for thought in connection with the recommendation of the Texas Home Demonstration Association that club women use their influence in securing a health program for each county in the state.

WITH THE COLORS

chickens, I was checking my zero look-box up at Dan Goodgame's to see how my stock of fish and squirrels were holding out. Ellis Hill reminded me, every time he saw me, that he had a big steak he was saving "for the purpose." Arch Evans was saying "let me know and I will meet you down the road" when you go after him. "Course Ruth (my wife) and I were walking in high cotton all this time to say the least.

It's 296 miles to Fort Sam Houston, and we did pretty well until we got to Johnson City, after that my wife tormented me to know "what's the matter with this car; it's just jumping up and down in the same place."

From the entrance to the post to the Personnel Center, we passed hundreds of soldiers, MP's, hospital attendants, WACS, POW's, etc. I thought at least half the folks we saw would know Lynn was coming home, but it seems that they did not know about it, because no one stopped us and congratulated us.

At the Center there were groups of about a hundred men each, and an officer was standing on the steps of various barracks, a bunch of orders in his hands, calling out names, then passing out the individual orders. I had never seen a more pleasant sight or happier men, though to some of them it just meant a thirty-day furlough and then on to the Pacific. One bunch of five fellows got together and yelled: "Watch out Amarillo, here we come."

From 4:00 to 7:00 p. m. we watched every man who came out of a building, entered one; who stepped out of a taxi or bus or walked by with his roll of equipment on his back; every man who came around a corner or passed in a car; literally hundreds of them. Finally I recognized a stride that I knew, a stride that I could not mistake. The old ticker jumped about thirty beats to the minute, and here he was, I won't try to say how his mother felt; they are supposed to feel differently. You cannot say much under those circumstances to a fellow who has been gone so long, and I'm just sort of telling you all this so that you will know that when you get home that your parents can't say much, can't say how glad they are to see you, any more than you can say how glad you are to get back.

Lynn looks just like he did when he left, straighter if possible, brown as an Indian, but just the same. Just like all you boys will look and be regardless of all that has been written and said by these psychosomthin' others. Phooey on them! I said "Phooey on them" and I mean it. Your folks are saying the same thing and expect you to be just the same, except of course, a couple of three years older. Your folks are just the same too, except that they will want to sort of hover over you and find out what you want to eat, to do, and where you want to go, if anywhere.

I'm back on the job, at the office, but have to run down to the house every couple of hours to see how Lynn's getting on; you see he's only 28 years old. He's wearing, when I sort of insist, his campaign ribbons, with five battle stars, the Bronze Star and cluster, and an arrow head which means landing with original invasion forces on one or more occasions. There are more pleasant things to talk about now, so he says he received these "for doing what I was supposed to do."

I'm bragging on my boy? Sure and so what. I've got another one I like to talk about, and they went through, among others, the Battle of Okinawa, and they help win in with you other fellows there, even though that battle was not won in the manner approved by that intellectual and widely quoted news analyst, Mr. David Lawrence. Yeah I'm bragging on my boys because I'm proud of them, but it's just the same with your folks because they feel the same way, the only difference is that I write it down and tell all you fellows about it. I've got a way of letting off my steam; we'd all like to get on a house-top and shout about our kids, our pride and all. But, boys, under all this is an humbleness and humility; a modesty and meekness; and above all, a thankfulness to Almighty God. Or to use the Texas vernacular, we are pretty hot stuff we know it, and we make it stick, but down under our thick hide we know we've got to be on His side the right side, before we can make it stick.

FIVE GRANDSONS IN SERVICE

T/5 Lloyd G. Bullard left Hico Saturday for Las Vegas, Nevada Army Air Field after a 15-day furlough with relatives and friends. He reached the States April 10th after spending 39 months in Australia, New Guinea, and the Philippines. He is the son of Mr. Justin Bullard of Hico. His brother, Pfc. Edgar Bullard has been overseas nine months and has a New York A.P.O. address. Mr. Bullard also has five grandsons in the service: S/Sgt. R. Presley Bullard, Seaman C. Auburn Bullard, Pfc. Cecil F. Loyd, Pfc. James M. Latham Jr., and Pvt. Dalton Bullard.

Cpl. Sam Davis arrived in Hico early Tuesday morning after having spent 28 months overseas. He got his discharge on the point system. He had the Combat Infantryman's Badge, Good Conduct ribbon and medal, American Defense ribbon, European Campaign ribbon with five battle stars and an arrow head, and the Presidential unit citation medal.

MACHINE GUN SERGEANT'S SKILL AND DARING BRINGS HIM A BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Oscar D. Borgan, better known in and around Hico as Pete, has recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in combat, according to his mother, Mrs. Bruce Borgan, who lives on Route 4, Hico. Pete attended school at Hico for a while and finished at Duffau. He was an outstanding athlete, winning three first place and two second place awards at the Erath County track meet in 1938. Following is a copy of his citation, which was signed by Brigadier General J. C. Fry, his commanding officer:

"Oscar D. Borgan, 38232184, Staff Sergeant (then Sergeant), Company "D", 249th Infantry Regiment. For meritorious service in combat from 15 July 1944 to 2 May 1945, in Italy. Sergeant Borgan performed with exceptional merit in fulfilling his duties as machine gun section sergeant. Displaying unusual courage, initiative and resourcefulness, this sergeant took part in repeated attacks against strong German positions and at all times he completed his missions with distinguished results. On the night of 28 February 1945 his section was attached to a rifle company which set out with the mission of raiding German positions with heavy fire. Exposed at great risk to his life this sergeant held his ground until his comrades had reached friendly lines. On 15 April 1945 at Furcoli, Sergeant Borgan assumed the duties of platoon sergeant after all the non-commissioned officers in his platoon had been killed or wounded. Leading his men in the subsequent breakthrough he demonstrated great skill and ability. Until the end of hostilities, Sergeant Borgan continued to serve his company in a most exemplary manner and his actions have reflected the best traditions of the Military Service. He entered military service from Duffau, Texas."

Dearest Mom and Pop:

I regret that I have waited so long to write, and I hope it hasn't caused you to worry. I am still o. k.—only today I haven't felt so well. It is Sunday, so I have slept all day. I may have a touch of flu, but it's nothing to worry about.

Now I might mention some of the things I have been doing. My buddy and I left from Northeast of Turin with a tank on the evening of the 6th. We loaded on a tank retriever and came to Genoa, then drove the tank 70 miles over the mountains, then were picked up by another retriever in La Spezia and came on to Leghorn. It took three days to make this 275-mile trip. We did no travelling at night.

Genoa, La Spezia, and Leghorn are all located on the west coast of Italy. I took a few pictures along the way. After arriving at Leghorn we turned in our tank and went to an overflow battalion for the 27th Replacement Depot. They told us the depot was overcrowded with men waiting for shipment home. We stayed over there in some tents a couple of nights before getting here in the depot. We have been here four days now, and I am dizzy from being processed so much. It is about the same procedure as I went through when inducted into the army—only in reverse. I think

Six-Inch Sermon

BY REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Isaac's Heritage.
Lesson for August 5: Genesis 24:10, 15:20, 24:26, 61-67.

Memory Verse: Psalm 16:6.

The aged Abraham having changed his servant, probably Eliezer, to take a wife for Isaac among his kinsmen in Mesopotamia, the servant began the long journey at once. It was oriental custom for a third party to arrange a marriage; in this case Abraham did not want Isaac to visit and come under the influence of his kinsmen who still clung to some idolatrous practices. The faithful servant was blessed of God even to every token for which he had prayed. Laban was impressed by the show of wealth by Eliezer and as the head of the family readily gave his consent for his sister to go to Canaan. When the decision was left to the maiden herself, she said simply, "I will go."

Did ever young man have sweeter things for meditation than Isaac as he went into the field, as perhaps he had done for days? There were camels coming—their long, swinging stride was bringing his betrothed nearer and nearer.

We cannot fathom the emotions of the several hearts affected by this ancient story of love—that of Abraham seeing the working out of his plans, of the aged Sarah not long before her death, and of the happy pair. Not a line indicates that they were disappointed in the choice made for them. And "all's well that ends well."

We cannot approve oriental custom of arranging marriages, but we can approve bringing about the association of young people suited to each other. In the case of Isaac, God provided for him in his heritage as the successor of Abraham in working out the covenant of God with his people.

Cattle Herds Should Be Culled When Prices Are Good

NUMBER OF CATTLE ON FARMS AND AVERAGE VALUE PER HEAD, U.S., Jan. 1, 1900-1945

The next few months may be one of the most favorable periods cattlemen will experience for some time to cull out and market old cows and other undesirable cattle. The supply of meats will become scarcer during the summer months as the marketings of fed cattle and hogs decline. On the other hand, the demand for meats will continue to be great. The end of the war in Europe will not likely lessen the military needs for meats, and civilians are getting only a small part of what they would like to buy. Prices of the lower grades will likely weaken from their present strong position as marketings increase in the late summer and fall but should continue to be more favorable than can be expected a year hence.

Range surveys were recently completed on the Brooks Early Ranch, located north of Lingleville, and the J. H. Fleming Ranch located in the Pony Creek Conservation Group. The Early Ranch, which has a total acreage of 6069 acres is divided into three pastures with Hairy Grama, Bluestems, spear and Buffalo Grass predominating as the desirable grasses in all pastures. The detail survey after completed showed the average carrying capacity of the range to be 13 acres per animal unit (one cow or five sheep or five goats). Early's plans are to stock the ranch according to the surveys made, and to defer grazing on one of the three pastures every year in a rotational system. Side-oats grama, tall drop seed, bluestems, hairy grama, spear and Buffalo Grass are the main desirable grasses in the grass composition on the Fleming Ranch. The survey made on the range showed the average carrying capacity to be 17 acres per animal unit.

The system of management of the range, as worked out with Fleming, will include a system of deferred grazing on a part of the range every year, stock the range with both cattle and goats according to its present carrying capacity, cedar and mesquite eradication to improve grass cover, and water development in order to encourage a more even distribution of grazing on the entire range. In addition, the complete soil and water conservation plan includes a complete terrace system, and the regular use of soil-improving crops in the cropping system. This fall Fleming is planning to plant 100 acres of vetch and abuzzi rye of which half of the acreage will be used for seed production and the remaining acreage for green manuring.

Range rechecks will be made in the fall of each year on both ranches to determine the amount of forage used during the growing season, and to work out range management plans for the following year.

Diversion terraces that were constructed with a disc-plow and tractor were checked for completion last week on the Nath McClure farm in the Hannibal Conservation Group.

District Cooperator, J. H. Crabtree in the Huckaby Conservation Group, is well pleased with the growth the fish have made in his stock pond since stocking it last fall. Crabtree has regularly applied commercial fertilizer this season which is so essential for proper fish production.

Terrace construction got under way last week on the J. B. Ogle farm in the Lower Duffau Conservation Group.

W. C. Sellman, in the Little Duffau Conservation Group, has a good stand of Hubam Clover in his 36 acre meadow this season. The meadow was seeded to a mixture of Clover and Johnson Grass a year ago last spring.

OLIN H. D. CLUB MEETS

Miss Keese met with the club, and a full program was given. How to clean a sewing machine and the use of different attachments was shown by Miss Keese. Balanced meals for farm families were planned and their values in our diet were given by Miss Keese.

The next meeting will be a club-family picnic, August 16, at Mrs. Ira Johnson's. All members of the club with their families are urged to be present. For any information about the picnic, see Mrs. Johnson.

Fairy

By Mrs. J. O. Richardson

We have threatening weather at this writing (Tuesday); good rains were received in several adjoining communities Saturday afternoon. Two cows were killed by lightning in the Abel pasture. We understand they were stock of Bill and Miss Nora Abel. We would like to have a good rain here, so that the fall gardens could be planted.

Most of the thrasher runs have been completed, with stubble breaking and hay baling being the order of the day.

The Baptist revival closed Sunday night. The Church of Christ will begin a series of meetings this Friday night, August 3, with Rev. Ozra Newton of Pottsville conducting the services. Rev. Stanley Giesecke of Hico will have charge of the song service. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Frank Spencer of Fort Worth a former resident of this place, came in Wednesday of last week for a visit with friends here and at Cranfills Gap. He formerly resided at that place also.

Mrs. W. E. Goynne and daughters, Lynda Lou and Wilma Grace, are in Waco where Mrs. Goynne is attending summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Driver and baby of Dallas came in Sunday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Parks and family here, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Driver of the Agee community. Their little son and daughter, Kenneth and Neida Jo, have been visiting here the past two months.

Carl Mays of near Stamford is here visiting his aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brunson, and son, Nona.

Mrs. J. O. Richardson and daughter, Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, and little daughter, Carolyn Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover, Mrs. Gladys Cox, and Mr. and Mrs. Prentis Newman are guests of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Newman, Sunday afternoon.

Herman Sillis is breaking land on the M. E. Parks farm west of town, where he and his family will reside the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wolfe and little son visited Sunday with her aunt and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tinkle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover are deeply concerned about their son, Darwin, who writes from France that he had been in a hospital for some two weeks for treatment of an arm and also stated that he would remain in the hospital a few weeks longer. This word was received July 8th, and no further word has been received as to his condition or nature of the arm ailment. Darwin had been stationed in London for more than a year with the 96th Machine Records Unit before V-E Day. Before entering the service, he was with the Santa Fe Railroad at Winslow, Arizona.

Pvt. Elzie Lee (Rab) Parks of North Camp Hood spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Parks, and family.

Pvt. Vernon Moore of Camp Fannin and Miss Ruby Massengale stole a march on their friends by getting married last Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gran Columbus at his home here. Rev. Columbus is a former teacher of these young folks in the Fairy school where both attended school, she being a member of the graduating class in May. We wish them the best that life affords, and may war soon end so that they can be reunited never to be parted again by war. Vernon is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore of the Agee community, and Miss Ruby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davey Massengale west of Fairy. Vernon left last week for California for reassignment.

Mrs. Ottilie Dansby and son are breaking land on the former Tinkle Ranch where the Dansby's will reside the coming year. Mr. Dansby is with the thrasher and expects to complete the run Wednesday of this week if not hindered by rain.

Lost Among Friends

Anything can happen in Brooklyn and generally does. Two-year-old Sharon Vedell strolled out of her home in her birthday suit and landed at the police station. An Egg Is An Egg

BUT THERE IS A LOT OF DIFFERENCE IN THEM

The difference in a clean, fresh egg and a heated, filthy one is very noticeable, but the real difference is in the price.

We can get more money for clean, well-cared-for eggs and as a result, can pay you more for them. You make the market for your eggs, directly or indirectly, by the way you care for them. You can help maintain the reputation of Hico eggs by taking care of your eggs and marketing them properly.

We will be very glad indeed to tell you how you can raise the standard of your eggs with very little trouble to you and at the same time assist you in getting more money for them.

We like to talk about eggs. Come in and let's talk it over!

YES, we agree it's a lot more trouble to have to stop and count points . . . but after all, we are inconvenienced very little compared with what our boys are going through with. Just before you start grumbling, think of them.

JUST count up what you ordinarily use and most of us have available more than we've been buying. The main trouble is the Old Free Spirit of always buying what we want when we want it, that hurts most.

LET'S all just take it with a smile and march straight ahead like the boys are doing, and win our battles on the Home Front.

HOUSE HOME

By MARY E. DAGUE

DURING the growing season all plants must be well fed and while flowers are of secondary consideration this year, if you have roses and peonies and various perennials established in your garden, they shouldn't be neglected.

Certain fertilizers are available for flowers and shrubs if you must rely on commercially prepared ones. Liquid manure is excellent for all plants, so if you have either one or the other you can keep your plants and shrubs sturdy and vigorous. Winter killing of rose plants often can be traced to lack of adequate feeding during the growing season.

Peonies need extra feeding after blooming and roses require plenty of water. Instead of fertilizer for peonies, use a handful of wood ashes combined with half as much bone meal to scatter around each clump. Be sure to cut off the faded blossoms. There's a saying that "One seed in pod equals twelve blossoms," so you see how necessary it is to cut the blooms.

This cutting off of blossoms has nothing to do with pruning. A plant is pruned to shape it and guide its growth. It is cut back to conserve plant strength and gain more bloom this season or next. Unless seed is wanted for sowing let no blossom wither on its stem. As soon as the petals begin to curl on their edges the process of seed forming starts to take vitality from the plant.

Annuals, such as calendulas and centaurea, that are allowed to form seed pods will soon stop blooming. Many perennials like delphinium and pyrethrum will bloom again in the fall if the flowers are cut.

The ideal time to pick flowers is early in the morning before the heat of the day has taken the moisture from the stems and leaves. It's a good idea to take a small pail of water to the garden with you and plunge the stems into it as soon as they are cut from the plant. Always make a clean, slanting cut using a sharp knife for hard stalks such as roses and a pair of shears for slender soft stems.

Hard-stemmed flowers should be crushed by pounding the stem ends so that they drink up water more readily. Chrysanthemums, stock and annual asters as well as blossoming shrubs and roses respond to this treatment.

Fleshy leaved types, such as calendulas and snapdragons need at least 12 hours in deep cool water in a dark place before arranging.

Flowers will last longer in the house if the leaves are stripped from the part of the stem that's in water. Keep them out of a draft and the direct rays of the sun.

AMERICAN HEROES

by JULIAN OLLENDORFF

A SILVER STAR for gallantry in action has been awarded to Pfc. Julius Aschenbrenner, Pinckney, Mich. Although a member of a light machine gun section and therefore only armed with a pistol, Aschenbrenner advanced with several riflemen under heavy fire to knock out a machine gun position in New Guinea. He helped still the enemy fire. Men like that must have weapons, food and clothing. The War Bonds you buy and hold will provide them.

It is likely that I will be discharged when I get back to the States. They tell us that we will be here from three weeks to a month. It is good to know that my next trip will take me to America. Some of us have been over here so long until when we refer to going home, we say, "When are you going overseas again?"

I have had no mail in almost a month now. Your last letter was written June 12. I know you have been writing, but this always happens when one is separated from his old organization. Some of my mail might catch up with me here. But as I will be coming home soon, it will be a waste of time for you to write any more. I will continue to write at least once a week as long as I am here.

Hoping that all are well. Tell all the folks hello for me.

RAYMOND

ALL THE HICO WELBORNS ARE MARRIED FOLKS NOW

Cohen Odell Welborn, S. 1/c (HM) now at the Armed Guard Center at Brooklyn, if our records are correct, is now married—if the rest of our information is correct. The wedding occurred at Norfolk July 19, according to his dad, Roy Welborn, who was in Hico the first of the week with his dad, Y. G. Welborn. Mr. and Mrs. Welborn are now living at Cranfill's Gap where Gladys is opening a beauty shop and Roy is making passes at a ranch.

Further details of the wedding are expected later from the hitherto only single child in the Welborn family. His twin brother, Owen, who holds the same rating married first and got out of a lot of duty when he returned from overseas service, since they always called for the one who was not married. Margie, the Welborns' daughter, was recently married to Walter Ramey, first-class seaman, of Hico.

THE LAD'S TOO BIG FOR US TO SPANK, ALYCE L.

Mrs. Alyce Little sends a new address for one of her sons, Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate C. G. Little, who is now at Oakland, California, with the Naval Air Transportation Service. We'll change the address as requested, but we'll have to pass on a further request to help "spank the little pup" for not writing his mother since he left Stephenville on May 27. Dick enjoyed a leave at his old home here and at Stephenville and other points after extensive overseas service.

Another son, Pfc. Richard Little is in the Allied Government in the ETO, so far as his mother knows, who added: "His division was on the list to stay. He writes that he is having fun conveying Nazi bigwigs to concentration camps to stay until they are shot (he hopes). Please remember me to all my old Hico friends."

HOME ON 30-DAY FURLOUGH

Before Cpl. Chas. R. French spends his entire 30-day leave, the editor hopes to meet him somewhere, some time. Charlie, who has been serving with an ordnance outfit on Jamaica Island, in the Atlantic, for the past several months, slipped in home last week end for a visit with Papa Roy and Mama Grace and Grandma Sally and Sisters Jeanette and Daisy and Brother Dub and Niece Ann and... oh, with the kinfolks and many friends that guy's got around here it's no wonder he hasn't got around to seeing everyone. Happy furlough, anyway, Charlie, and if you happen to be a T/4 now we beg your pardon.

Pvt. Eugene Washam of Camp Hood spent the week end here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Washam.

VETERANS' QUESTION BOX

Ed.—This newspaper has arranged with the Washington Bureau of Veterans' Family Service at 621 Union Trust Bldg., Washington 5, D. C., to answer questions pertaining to servicemen and veterans. These questions will be answered in this column if addressed as above. No replies can be made by mail, but this paper will print answers to all questions received.

Q—I still have some back pay coming from the army. How do I get it?

A—Address your inquiry to the finance officer of the camp in the United States from which you were discharged or transferred to the enlisted reserve corps. Be sure to print full name and serial or service number.

Q—Upon my return home, I find bills here for income tax. I thought these taxes were forgiven to members of the armed services.

A—In some cases, federal and state laws provide for deferment or adjustment of tax returns for servicemen or veterans. We suggest you contact your nearest office of the Collector of Internal Revenue for further information.

Q—Does a returned soldier have any protection against civil lawsuits?

A—In general, the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief act protects servicemen and women up to six months after their discharge by making it possible for the courts to suspend enforcement of certain civil liabilities during that time. These include lawsuits for collection of debts, contracts, repossession of property, collection of certain taxes, sale of property for taxes, eviction of dependents for non-payment of rent, insurance premiums, and rights in public land. We suggest you contact your local selective service board about your protection in your individual problem.

Q—Can you tell me the amount of disability pension to which I am entitled?

A—We suggest you apply to your nearest Veterans administration office since amounts vary. The law provides that if you are discharged from the armed forces with a disability due to service you may be entitled to disability benefits including a pension. The amount payable runs from $11.50 a month for 10 per cent disability up to $115 a month for 100 per cent disability. In addition, there are special rates and allowances for specific injuries and more seriously disabling conditions.

Q—Are all veterans entitled to wear the lapel button and where can they be obtained?

A—If you served honorably on or after September 8, 1939, you are entitled to wear the lapel button. If you did not get one when you were mustered out of service, the button may be obtained at most any military or naval installation upon presentation of a discharge certificate or other certificate of service.

Q—How do I keep my service life insurance in force?

A—You do two things. (1) Pay the premium direct, make check or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States and mail it to the Collections subdivision, Veterans administration, Washington 25, D. C. You may arrange to pay your premiums monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually. (2) Your insurance was originally issued on what is called the Five-Year-Level-Premium-Term Plan. At any time after it has been in force a year, and before the end of five years, you may convert it into Ordinary life, 20-payment life or 30-payment life. Your new policy will have regular cash values after the first year from which you can borrow, if necessary. If you wish to change your beneficiary write the Director of Insurance, Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C. If you let this insurance lapse, you will be unable to buy similar protection for yourself and your family at the same cost.

"The Emblem That Nobody Knows"

Just a small gold lapel button yet it identifies the wearer as one who has given service above self in the fight for human freedom. Those who wear it are men and women who have been honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States, but it has already been nicknamed "The Emblem That Nobody Knows."

Despite the return of thousands of veterans to civilian life—to carry on behind the lines—few Americans recognize the Honorable Discharge Button and its meaning. But each day, in business firms, in industry, on campuses, everywhere over America, wearers of the small gold button return to take their places again on the home front.

These veterans who have served are the boys and girls who gave up the comforts and pleasures of home to protect the things they and we believe in and cherish. They gave generously and courageously, and at personal sacrifice.

It is with pride that we salute returning service men and women—and the emblem that they wear.

SGT. LEWIS B. YOUNG JR. GRADUATED FROM DAVIS-MONTHAN BASE, ARIZONA

Special to The News Review:

DAVIS-MONTHAN FIELD, Tucson, Arizona, July 30—Sgt. Lewis B. Young Jr., 26, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Young, RFD 1, Box 1057, La Mesa, Calif., was graduated from this air base recently as a fully qualified radio-operator-gunner on a B-29 Superfortress combat team, and soon he will be winging his way over Japan's devastated empire to further devastate it by aerial bombardment.

Members of the fourth B-29 class to be graduated at Davis-Monthan Field, Sergeant Young and his ten crewmates achieved a high standard of training proficiency here and were instructed by veteran fliers who learned their lessons in enemy skies. The graduating teams were prepared and hardened for battle by long bombing missions flown under simulated combat conditions.

Sergeant Young entered the service in March, 1944, and attended high school in Fort Worth, Texas. Before joining the Air Corps, he was employed as an aircraft mechanic by the Consolidated Vultee Corp., San Diego, Calif.

His wife, Helen, also resides on RFD 1, La Mesa, and his father, Lewis B. Young, lives on RFD 6, Hico, Texas.

Bonds Over America

ST. LOUIS CATHEDRAL

When fire swept the city of New Orleans in 1788, Don Andrea Almonaster, a truly great philanthropist, saw to it that some of the city's finest buildings arose from the ashes of their predecessors—the Cabildo, the Presbytere and the St. Louis Cathedral. Liberty creates and encourages such men. It's the spirit that inspires Americans to buy War Bonds to equip their service men who fight all enemies of individual freedom. America will always have Almonasters to give their fellowmen a lift in dark hours if enough War Bonds are purchased and held to keep those service men in munitions.

TEXANS' SHARE

By DON WELDON

News flashes from a dozen war theaters show Texans everywhere still in the thick of the fight, and still racking up new records:

Lt. T. F. Pierce of Taylor, a graduate of Bartlett High School and of the University of Texas, piloted his Navy Privateer plane over Korea recently to help wreck a gasoline dump, two Jap ships and a Nip bomber factory. Chief Yeoman Robert Carrell of Martindale has been cited by Adm. Halsey for heroism during the Battle of Leyte Gulf. Col. Sam Myers of Marfa, hero of fighting in Europe, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

Pfc. Rex Hiddle of Corpus Christi is now a guard watching the Nazis in Berlin. 1st Lt. Howard (Buddy) Clark, Goliad scrapper, has been awarded his fifth Oak Leaf Cluster for his Air Medal. S/Sgt. Rudolph Perkins of Abilene, veteran of many Pacific battles, helped capture Luzon and is now teaching Filipinos to say "Welcome" in the good old Texas way.

and now the Texas twang is heard on all sides, from native lips incidentally, the hardy people of the Philippines, who never gave up the fight against the Japs, now are receiving clothing, medicine and other relief supplies from Texans, through their gifts to the National War Fund last year. This relief is one of the most important factors in the job of reestablishing the people of these loyal American islands.

Other National War Fund supplies, made possible by annual war chest drives in every county, are going to our own fighting men and their allies all over the world.

Mrs. S. D. Barbee received a card last week end from Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dunn, Route 3, Lubbock, stating that their son, James, was killed May 30 on Okinawa. The Duns are former residents of this territory, and James attended school at Long Point and Carlton.

THIS IS THE WAY PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE SENT THE NEWS TO US—KNOW HIM!
