

Humble And Atlantic Complete Flowing Discoveries In Irion

Two wildcat prospectors in Irion County have completed a flowing oil discovery.

One of them is an Humble Oil & Refining Company development in the southeast part of the county and the other is an Atlantic Refining Company operation in Southwest Irion County.

Humble No. 7 Pearl Williams, 14 miles southeast of Mertzon, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 1197, TTRR survey, made 311 barrels of clean, 45-gravity pipe line oil in a 24-hour potential test.

The flow was through a 9 6/16 inch tubing choke. There was no water. Gas-oil ratio was 176-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 410 pounds. There was no casing pressure as there was a packer on the casing.

The production came from perforated section at 7,230-46 feet in the Strawn lime. That interval had been washed with 300 gallons of mu. acid.

The new producer is four and one-quarter miles southeast of the Tankersly-Strawn field.

Top of the Strawn is at 7,230 feet. That is on a datum of minus 4,750 feet.

Had Made Larger Flows

The discovery had flowed larger amounts of oil on preliminary tests than it did on the official potential gauge.

However, those flows were on large openings off of the tubing.

The Atlantic Refining Company, formerly Moore Exploration Company, No. 1-B Noelle, Southwest Irion County exploration, 13 miles southwest of Mertzon, reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 2171 barrels of 40-gravity oil and 1/2 water from perforated section at 7,413-66 feet in a Wolfcamp sand in the lower Permian.

The flow was through a one-half inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio was 5,800-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 30 pounds.

Had Been Treated

The zone making the oil and gas had been fractured and had been acidized.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 1, GC&SF survey A-148, certificate 3273.

This project was drilled by Moore Exploration Company into the Ellenburger. That formation made only water. It was originally carried as Moore No. 1-P Noelle.

Atlantic had contributed to the drilling of the project. That concern owns leases on several thousand acres of land in the area adjacent to the wildcat.

Atlantic Took Over

It took the wildcat over after it failed in the Ellenburger and set casing to test the section in the Wolfcamp sand which had developed some free oil on a drillstem test while the prospect was being dug.

The completion reported here has resulted. That sand pay was first thought to be in the top of the Pennsylvanian. Information which has been recently developed has caused geologists to decide that the sand pay is in the Wolfcamp of the Permian.

McKnight Opener Is Completed In SW Crane Region

A small flowing discovery from the McKnight of the San Andres has been completed by Tide Water Associated Oil Company in Southwest Crane County.

It is No. 2 M. L. Barnsley, 1,390 feet from west and 440 feet from north lines of the lease in section 42, block 32, J. F. Cross survey No. 2.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 26 barrels of 33-6-gravity oil through a one-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 2,798-2,963 feet after the section had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 4,308-1.

No. 2 Barnsley is located in the South Sand Hills field which produces from the Tubbs sand. It was taken to that formation but found no permeability and could not be completed.

The closest other McKnight production is in the Sand Hills field four and one-half miles to the northwest.

More Producers, Explorers Added To Trend Sectors

Locations for 11 projects and three more producers have been added to the Spraberry trend.

Flying Enterprise Sinks In Atlantic

Skipper And British Mate Are Rescued

LONDON—(AP)—The gallant American freighter Flying Enterprise sank in the stormy Atlantic Thursday after a mighty, two-week duel with the sea. Heroic Capt. Kurt Carlsen and First Mate Kenneth Dancy of the tow tug Turmoil were snatched from the churning waters to safety.

Carlsen and Dancy leaped overboard when it became evident the 6,711-ton freighter was going down under the crashing waves. The stand-by rescue fleet closed in. The tug Turmoil threw over a rope ladder and the two men clambered to safety. They were in the water about four minutes.

Carlsen refused to give up until the stricken freighter obviously was heaving her last. He had battled since the Christmas Day hurricanes to save his ship. His solitary duel with the Atlantic began December 28 after he ordered all hands to abandon the ship, which carried a crew of 40 and 10 passengers. Dancy joined him last Saturday.

The big freighter thrashed about in its final agony for 40 minutes and then disappeared. Aboard the British salvage tug Turmoil, Carlsen and Dancy, bearded and exhausted, climbed into dry clothing as the tug turned hurriedly in the direction of Falmouth, about 40 miles away.

Associated Press reporters at the scene depicted the last hour of the Enterprise.

For more than 24 hours the vessel virtually had been on its side. The wind was blowing fiercely, pitching the rescue tugs about like chips of wood.

Water poured into the funnel of the dying Enterprise.

The two men leaped overboard, even as the Enterprise gave a heave to port and slowly began to keel over on her side.

It was a gallant death. In the last few minutes the tugs sounded their sirens. Only the bow of the Enterprise was visible. At 4:09 p.m., flames on the surface of the water near the ship were lighted, casting a weird light over the area as the Enterprise took her final plunge. One minute later the Enterprise was below the sea.

Truman Says He'll Keep Ike On NATO Job

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said Thursday he will keep General Eisenhower on the job as supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe.

The President described Eisenhower as a grand man, and repeated at a news conference his past praise for him.

Truman said he had the utmost confidence in the general and had showed it by naming him to one of the most important posts in this country, now that he has made it plain he would accept a nomination from the Republican Party for the presidency, if it should be offered to him.

In response to questions, Truman conceded that the general would have to resign if he were nominated for president.

But he said he never will relieve General Eisenhower of his post except at the general's request.

Eisenhower has said he would not ask to be relieved.

Mum On Own Plans

There were several attempts to get some word from the President as to whether he will run for reelection. He said weeks ago that he had made up his mind but was not ready to make any announcement.

In response to Thursday's questions, the President:

1. Said he will announce what he intends to do before the Republican convention selects its nominee in July.

2. Made it clear that despite his fondness for Eisenhower he would not hesitate to run against the general if he thought that was the thing to do.

3. Said he had approved a move to make Senator Humphrey the "favorite son" candidate of Minnesota for the Democratic nomination but declared that had no significance—a statement indicating he did not regard it as precluding him from announcing for reelection himself.

February Crude Demand Estimated Up 20,000 Barrels

AUSTIN—(AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines Thursday forecast the market demand for Texas crude oil in February would be 2,830,000 barrels daily.

While this was an increase of 20,000 barrels daily over the bureau's forecast for January, it was under current allowable production levels.

Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Cullerson reported the current average daily allowable in Texas is 2,930,337 barrels of crude, plus an estimated production of 381,043 barrels of condensates.

The state-wide hearing to set the February oil allowable will be held next Wednesday.

French MacArthur Reported Near Death

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, 61, French high commissioner and military commander in Indochina, was reported in a dying condition in a Paris clinic Thursday.

De Lattre, often called "the French MacArthur," recently underwent an operation for a tumor of the prostate gland.

Persons Exempt From Poll Tax Must Obtain New Certificate, Explains County Official

The conditions under which a person can be exempted from payment of poll taxes were explained Thursday by J. M. Speed, Midland County tax assessor-collector.

"There are certain conditions under which the voters will not have to pay the poll tax," said Speed, "but they will have to apply for an exemption certificate which will be issued at my office."

Persons who can obtain such exemption certificates include:

Those who were 60 years of age or older on Jan. 1, 1951.

Those who have observed their twenty-first birthday since Jan. 1, 1951.

Lawsuit Challenges Validity Of Safety Inspection Statute

By The Associated Press

Gov. Allan Shivers Wednesday expressed confidence a way out of the auto inspection law muddle will be found.

But a Fort Worth legislator, unwilling to wait, filed suit challenging constitutionality of the act. State Rep. H. A. Hull asked 48th District Court to order Homer Garrison, Jr., public safety director, to show cause why he should not be enjoined from enforcing the act.

Shivers returned Wednesday night from Chicago to find the new law tangled in the hair of officialdom, motorists and jammed testing stations.

"I am confident the attorney general and the director of the Department of Public Safety can work out a satisfactory solution," the governor said in a statement.

Some legislators have asked Shivers to call a special session to modify the law. The governor squelched this by saying, "The matter is now before the attorney general for an opinion and until that opinion is rendered I do not feel that I should take any action."

Shivers referred to the fact Garrison Wednesday asked Attorney General Price Daniel to rule if it would be legal to extend the safety-check deadline. Garrison said completion of the testing job by the April 1 deadline is impossible.

Hull, who as a member of the last Legislature voted for the law, was joined by Guy T. Buell as attorney for the two plaintiffs named, Roy Lytle, a Fort Worth accountant, and Al Wooten, president of the (Continued On Page 12)

Lamesa Man Asks $40,750 Damages In Action Against City

A 34-year-old Lamesa man had filed suit against the City of Midland Thursday for $40,750 for injuries suffered in the November 8 automobile accident which claimed the lives of two persons.

The suit was filed in 70th District Court by Ralph Garza, a passenger in the automobile which plunged from Lee Street into a 12-foot drainage ditch running along Mulberry Lane.

Garza asserted the city was "guilty of negligence," in failing to provide adequate signals or barricades across the end of Lee Street.

He said he was totally and permanently disabled in the accident and asked $40,000 for loss of earning capacity. In addition, he asked $750 for past and future medical bills.

Draft Board 137 Will Send 32 Men For Physical Exams

Thirty-two men will be sent to Abilene Friday for physical examinations. Selective Service Board 137 announced Thursday.

The men have been notified to be at the draft board office promptly at 3:30 a.m. Friday. The bus will depart from that location.

Of the 32 men to be sent, 20 are registrants with the board here and 12 are transfers.

Six men will be sent for induction January 24 and 25 men will be sent for physical examinations January 29.

Next month's call for induction will include eight men February 25.

10 Sites Designated For Use In Summer Baseball Program

Ten scattered sites for Midland's Summer baseball program were designated Wednesday night by the city's Park Commission.

With the practice sessions scheduled to begin within two weeks, city officials Thursday began making plans for developing these sites in time for their use.

Assistant City Manager Morris Howard, who met with the Park Commission, said the city would begin working on this development, grading the areas where needed and constructing adequate backstops for the baseball games.

Under the program recommended by the Park Commission, two diamonds will be located at Wadley Park, two on the old college site, two at the new Southwest Park behind Hughes Tool Company, and one each on the areas near the Borden plant, the Sam Houston school playground, the David Crockett school playground and Block 35 in the Latin American section of the city.

Members of the Park Commission attending the meeting include Mrs. A. P. Shirey, chairman; Mrs. Robert Payne, Mrs. B. P. Haslip, W. M. Collier, Mrs. Bob Clarke, H. E. Bahr and W. M. Osborn.

President Tosses Clean-Up Job Onto McGrath's Shoulders

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Thursday placed full responsibility for the government clean-up job on Attorney General J. Howard McGrath. He also announced McGrath will continue in his cabinet post.

The President told his weekly news conference, in response to questions, that the attorney general will carry out the job that is necessary in connection with the investigation of reports of scandals within the government.

The President himself confirmed for the first time in recent weeks that McGrath is not stepping out of the cabinet, when he was asked about McGrath's statement the other day that no change in McGrath's status is contemplated.

He's correct, the President said, adding that there will be no change. No Special Commission

In reply to other questions Thursday, the President said he had dropped any idea of a special commission such as the one to which he tried to appoint Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York.

Murphy once accepted, then turned down, the assignment.

Truman said there will be no special commission and McGrath will carry out whatever is necessary. He said he thinks the law enforcement officer of the government is the man who should conduct the clean-up.

He said he had given the matter a great deal of thought and came to the conclusion the job rightfully was one for the Justice Department.

Bill R. Brown Seeks Commissioner Post

Bill R. Brown, 22-year-old Midland County cowboy, Thursday announced his candidacy for the post of county commissioner from Precinct 3, subject to the July 26 Democratic Primary.

A resident of Midland County the last 16 years, Brown lives on the Sam Preston Ranch, 27 miles southeast of Midland. He is married and has two sons.

"I feel that I am qualified to serve at this post and earnestly solicit the support of all my friends in this campaign," he said, in making his announcement.

Wife Of Freighter's Captain Overcome At News Of Rescue

WOODBRIDGE, N. J. — (AP) — "I'm very happy my husband has been rescued," Mrs. Agnes Carlsen said Thursday and then was unable to talk further as she was overcome by tearful emotion.

The wife of Capt. Kurt Carlsen got first news of her husband's rescue from the sinking Flying Enterprise from the family minister, who read an Associated Press bulletin to her over the telephone.

Mrs. Carlsen is in strict seclusion. She has been ill several days over the plight of her husband on the floundering freighter.

Rev. Kirkegaard Jensen, pastor of St. Stephen's Danish Lutheran Church in neighboring Perth Amboy, said after he told Mrs. Carlsen the news, she broke down in tears.

He said she was not equal to facing an interview at present.

Earlier in the day Carlsen sent a message to his wife saying, "Longing to hear from you. I am okay. Love to the children, Kurt."

Mr. Jensen said Mrs. Carlsen had received the message and had answered it.

Another Sequel To 'Father Of The Bride' Is Planned

By ESKINE JOHNSON
 NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: Lana Turner is flashing the green light that will make her the ex-Mrs. Bob Topping. The divorce action will be filed in a vacation before she leaves for a vacation in Europe.

Another sequel to "Father of the Bride" is in the works at MGM, with rumors that Jean Bennett's role will be eliminated from the script. A line of dialog will explain that she's on "vacation."

It still will be titled, "The Jazz Singer," but Danny Thomas, in the Al Johnson role for the Warners' remake, will play an entertainer more like himself that a jazz singer. The original plot was about a father wanting his son to follow in his footsteps as a great singer, but Danny told me.

"We don't want to expose the public to my uncultured voice so I'll just be an entertainer."

Dorothy Lamour, the Iron Jaw girl of the circus in "The Greatest Show on Earth," is blushing. Her highly publicized scenes dangling by her teeth from the end of a rope were left on the cutting-room floor.

Academy Awards brass hats reconsidered their original nixing of televising the Oscar festivities in March but again came up with an "inadvisable" reason for the video blackout. Several big industry leaders are howling mad about the whole thing.

Hollywood Bound
 The Broadway hit, "Paint Your Wagon," by Alan Lerner and Frederick Lowe, is headed for MGM with a $200,000 price tag. Penciled in for the leads are Spencer Tracy, Kathryn Grayson and Fernando Lamas.

Variety reports from Cincinnati that if and when Senator Robert Taft moves into the White House, Louis B. Meyer will move into the cabinet job of Secretary of Commerce.

Kirk Douglas stepped off a plane in New York into the arms of Betty Threat, who worked with him in "The Big Sky." At 7 a.m. yet.

Pat O'Brien's off on another supper club tour. Pat's telling about his 17-year-old Mavourneen getting ready for a blind date. "I'd like to get a look at this guy," said Pat. Replied Mavourneen: "Daddy, maybe he'd like to take a good look at YOU."

Bob Preston, mixing New York TV work with movies, is in town for "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky." About his rumored shaky marriage, he said: "We've been separated only by 1,000 miles while I was in New York."
 Bob says that N. Y. television executives are convinced now that TV is moving west to Hollywood and on film.
 "Live shows," he told me, "are just too limited and the boys know it. They all asked me to mention their names in Hollywood."
 MGM vetoed a $12,000 Las Vegas night-club engagement for Jane Powell with the curt words: "We don't want you hanging around saloons."
 Fay Wray has her eyes on a movie comeback. Her last film was in '42.
 Mona Freeman says she spotted a billboard in Tia Juana, Mexico, reading: "THE BEAR that made Milwaukee JEALOUS."

Don't Lose Your Personality In A Maze Of Possessions

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

It somehow seems that the more interested a married couple becomes in acquiring possessions the less interested they become as friends.

Take the Smiths for an example. When they were first married and had a hard time living from one pay check to another, they were the best of company.

They were interested in everything. An evening with the Smiths was never dull. Their hospitality wasn't lavish, but guests were always welcome.

In 10 years the Smiths have acquired a lot in the way of worldly goods. They have a home of their own they are proud of.

In their home they have many of the things they want, and in their minds an even larger list of things they still want.

Possessed By Possessions

But as company they have become dull. Their conversation is at least eighty per cent "what we have," and "what we want." Plus all the complications involved in taking care of the one and getting the other.

The talk is all of rugs and draperies, and of the extra room that is going to "be there" some day, and how hard it is to keep up this and look after that.

They are teased down with the weight of their possessions.

It doesn't have to be that way.

And in some cases it isn't.

A husband and wife can work hard toward acquiring the material things to make their lives more comfortable without letting possessions and the acquiring of possessions become their main interest in life.

Haven't you watched couples you know change as the Smiths have changed, to become less and less interesting as persons as material things become more and more important to them?

Of course you have. And it is always a little sad, isn't it, to lose an interesting friend to a house and yard and a bunch of furniture?

Crane Study Club Discusses 'Home'

CRANE—"Home and Family" was the general program topic at a meeting of the Crane Study Club Monday in the home of Mrs. Inez K. Elmore.

Mrs. E. P. Thompson, in a talk on "Each Home of Today—A Workshop of Tomorrow" stressed that the parents of today are the builders of tomorrow's citizenship. Four points on which citizenship depends, she said, are obedience to the law, social behavior taught in the home, responsibilities to duty and home spiritual training.

Mrs. H. H. Everett spoke on "Family Living Today." A report on the progress of the Crane County Library was given by Mrs. Elmore. Mrs. J. O. Coffey reported on the talk given in Midland by Mrs. Hiram C. Houghson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. I. H. Haskins, reporter and historian, reviewed the club press book.

Others attending were Mrs. Tom Coffield, Mrs. Curtis Cook, Mrs. Harry Cowden, Mrs. Jerry Cowden, Mrs. H. H. Currie, Mrs. Richard Fielden, Mrs. I. Leaman, Evelyn Riden, Mrs. O. E. Stevenson, Mrs. Steve Thomas, Mrs. R. V. Wilson, Mrs. R. V. Wilson, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Wimberley and Mrs. Herb Wade.

Facts, Not Oratory Wanted

Even in the best of political times, it never has been easy to assure the American public an intelligent discussion of major policies and proposals on their merits.

They fill the air with labels and epithets and slogans and hope it won't be noticed that the real factual matters are lost in the shuffle.

But the citizen can take only so much of this. There are times when he really wants to know the facts, not just a political version of the facts.

A prominent midwestern governor recently characterized the situation succinctly when he declared that there is "too much considering of the source."

In other words, when a statement is made, a policy announced or a proposal offered, the first question is not: "What are its merits?" The question is rather: "Who said it?"

If the author is a political complotist, the utterance is lauded lavishly. The acclaim often has the automatic, artificial quality of applause from the paid clique in the concert hall.

But if the sponsor is a political enemy, then whatever was said or proposed inevitably is bad. Frequently before the critics have even troubled to read thoroughly what they wish to assail, they leap in with sweeping charges.

"Smokescreen," "foolhardy scheme," "unworkable plan," are typical comments at such moments.

"If he said it, then it must be bad," seems to be the watchword in these cases. And it runs the reverse when the author is a political friend.

Now isn't this a pretty silly way to try to conduct the affairs of the world's most powerful nation at so critical a time?

Of course a handful of lawmakers and other public figures always endeavor to give people both a full factual account of policies and programs and an intelligent interpretation of them.

But they are too few and often are drowned out in the din of the emotional shouting from the rest.

The citizen would like to feel that more than a frail minority of his representatives have the will and the capacity to think earnestly about the country's problems and come up with answers bearing some relation to the merits.

As it is, most of them behave as if they were nothing more than walking emotional networks operated by push-button. A speech by a political friend snaps on Button A and the network produces soft, purring sounds of praise.

A declaration by an opponent flicks on Button B, inflames the whole system and leads to a tirade of criticism.

No matter which button is on, the performance soon begins to sound like a playback of an old office dictaphone recording.

Everybody but the politicians seems to be aware how tiresome and barren these push-button reactions have become.

Come next November, perhaps the voters will push a few buttons themselves, and send some of our specialists in emotion back home where they will have nothing to react to but the weather.

Last Stronghold

The lawmakers don't talk much about it when they're back home, but there's one front where they have done a bang-up job in halting inflation. That's in their own restaurants on Capitol Hill.

Through all the flurry of rising prices in the hectic postwar years, the legislators have guarded their five-cent cup of coffee as if it were the Holy Grail. They have behaved as if any assault on it were an attack on the sanctity of government itself.

And, in only slightly less degree, they have felt the same about the rest of their capitol menu.

Well, whatever else congressional immunity means, it no longer means protection for the lawmaker's cheap lunch. Starting now, the sacred cup of coffee costs a dime. And other staple items are up accordingly.

Yes, the congressman can mark it down at last on his calendar: Inflation began in 1952!

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Hard Luck Joe goes to all the tournaments, but he never wins anything, naturally, because his luck is so terrible. It would really kill anybody else, but he's used to it, so his bad fortunes doesn't bother him so much.

Here's a hand he encountered at the national tournament held in Detroit last month. It was just one of a hundred unlucky hands he managed to find.

West's bidding was more surprising than sound, but it wasn't particularly abnormal. Tournament players know Joe very well, and they have a particular fondness for bidding their heads off against him.

West opened the three hearts. East put up the jack, and Hard Luck Joe, playing the South hand, won with the ace. He led the king of spades and was permitted to hold the trick.

His next step was to lead the ten of clubs. West played low, and Joe put up dummy's king to win the trick.

He returned a low heart from dummy to his king and ruffed a heart with dummy's seven of trumps.

He then tried to get out of dummy with a club, but East was able to win the trick; and East promptly laid down the ace of trumps and another trump.

This maneuver took all the trumps out of dummy. South had a losing heart in his hand, and no way to get rid of it. He had to give up a trick in each suit, losing the contract.

Joe thought that this was a very unlucky result, since everybody else managed to make four spades with the South hand.

As you've probably noticed, Joe dug his own grave. If you didn't notice, think about it for a moment or two before you read on. Where did South make the fatal error?

Joe made his mistake at the second trump. Correct play is to leave the trumps alone.

South should cash the king of hearts and ruff a heart in dummy with the six of spades. The seven of spades is returned from dummy, and East cannot draw three rounds of trumps at this stage.

South is sure to get to his hand with a trump to ruff his last heart with dummy's ten of spades. The rest, of course, is easy.

Probe Of Alien Property Office Covers I. G. Faben's U. S. Ties

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Wisconsin Senator Alexander Wiley's surprise gunning for the Department of Justice Alien Property Office under Harold I. Baynton now is aimed at bigger game.

The original target was to take potshots at Democratic Administration favorites who got big fees as executive and lawyers for government-held alien properties seized during the war. This is bound to be good clay pigeon shooting for the Republicans, if it scores any hits.

But now Senator Wiley's field of fire is broadening into a complete analysis of the extent to which I. G. Faben, the big German chemical trust, still is tied up with its former American subsidiaries.

They include General Aniline and Film, General Dyestuff and the Schering corporations.

Assets of these three companies are worth about $150,000,000. Their U. S. properties were seized by the Alien Property Custodian in 1942 and the government still holds them.

Reports recently received by Senator Wiley's office indicate that General Aniline, through its sales agent General Dyestuff, has let contracts for a number of foreign distributors. Key figures in these foreign sales agencies have been identified as former officials of the I. G. Faben chemical trust.

Was It Pure Coincidence? This may be pure coincidence. But it has led Senator Wiley's staff to inquire into the extent to which the U. S. government has broken up the German trust's hold over its former American subsidiaries.

Main reason why General Aniline properties in the U. S. have not been sold by the Alien Property Office is that this has been blocked by a lawsuit. Plaintiff in the case is a Swiss holding company known for short as Interhandel Corporation.

At the start of the war Interhandel claims it owned majority stock control of General Aniline and its affiliated companies. General Aniline was organized as an American corporation, however, and its principal officers were Germans who had become naturalized American citizens.

It is the contention of the U. S. government that Interhandel was in reality a dummy corporation which was in turn owned by I. G. Faben. The Swiss holding company, it is claimed, was set up to conceal German ownership and so prevent seizure of I. G. Faben properties in the U. S. under the alien property laws.

If Swiss ownership can be proved in court, then the American government's vesting of General Aniline, as much strength as a sound opening bid in your own right, and two or more sure stoppers in the opponent's suit.

It is an unusual response, since a jump bid in a suit will usually be available when you have so much high-card strength. It is a dangerous response to make with a partner whose takeout doubles are unreliable, but it is a very good bid to make with a sound partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-6-3, Heart 5, Diamonds K-J-8-3-2, Clubs Q-J-6-2. What do you do?

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

THE STORY: Jennet Logan meets Peter Surinow at a party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Pelletier. There she is awakened to the realization that her own life is being ruined by a man who has himself and in ill health, has been empty. On the way home, she tells her husband that she is going to take a volunteer nurse's job at Angel's hospital, where she will be doing research in atomic medicine. The next day she goes to the hospital, and since Dr. Logan is ill, she calls on Dr. Pelletier to deliver some papers from her husband. There she meets Peter Surinow, who tells her that he is doing research in atomic medicine.

THE room to which he showed her was anything but the jungle of rigged glass and flame and darkly bubbling liquid that she had imagined. It was a simple little study lab no bigger than a gallery and not nearly as shipshape. Two long counters ran the length of it and on them stood a few pieces of apparatus, 50 or more little bottles, and instruments not of torture but of measurement. Metal stools fitted under the counters as did two large galvanized trash cans which were marked up with red crayon and an enamelled garbage-can. A pile of laundry had been hung in a corner. The linoleum floor was stained, and a cozy pair of window-dressers' slippers lay on the window sill.

Peter Surinow spoke. "It's not as messy as it looks. You see, we have to be very careful about disposing of things, and when you have a small space to work in and you can't throw anything away, you get a little crowded after a while. Those gowns there in the corner have to sit for about two weeks. Then I check them again, and if they're nice and quiet they can go to the laundry. These trash-cans are marked with the date they were sealed. In two months I'll take another reading with the Geiger counter to see if they're safe for the dump."

One portion of the table counter was blocked off by a chemistry hood. In front of it were several stacked bricks.

"That's where we unpack the shipment, behind that screen," Surinow explained. "Ever seen lead bricks before? And these walls are lead-lined too. There's an exhaust fan above; don't lean in there, you can see it from here. It's supposed to carry off the radioactive vapors, but I don't use it much because I think it spreads as much as it sucks off." He moved down the counter where there was another fence of bricks, and a mirror behind it, and a long-armed pincer device that held one of the little bottles by the neck. "Here's where I prepare the doses. See how that mirror helps out?"

"What's that?" Jennet asked, pointing to the pincers. "It looks like one of the crane things in a candy machine—the kind that picks out a prize if you steer it right."

"Same principle exactly," he said, pleased, as if she had said something bright. "And you know how you feel like breaking the window and going in with your hands? That's the way I feel with this thing. It's a remote pipette. I don't use it very much. It's supposed to be safer because it keeps the radioactive solution at arm's length. I prefer the syringe. I'm used to it, I guess." He picked up a stray syringe from the opposite counter. It was empty, but he went through the motions of pumping the rubber bulb to show her how exact one could be in controlling its uptake.

"SHE drew her hand away as from a fire. 'Well, you picked up the syringe!'"

"From the other side. That's clean. I haven't checked this side yet for spillage."

"But when you're working, you have to touch things to fix the doses or whatever you fix."

"I wear gloves." His foot depressed the pedal of the garbage can and she saw that it was full of rubber gloves. "That's where they go when I'm through with the job, and they stay there till they're ready for the trash can—I keep myself entirely covered in case of spilling. You can't get the stuff off your skin, you know. See here? He opened a cabinet in which were several pairs of surgical gowns and caps and fannel shoe covers. "And this, too." He slipped a cellophane shield over her head. She grimaced through it, pulled it off, ran her hands over her hair. But she felt considerably humbled. He no longer seemed an untidy schoolboy, nor yet a wizard but an unassuming hero.

WIVES cause trouble for congressmen on Latin American trip

WASHINGTON — Wives sometimes cause a lot of trouble—even wives of congressmen. That is the conclusion of certain bachelor congressmen and married diplomats who watched the tumultuous trip of the House Banking and Currency subcommittee through Latin America.

It was a good committee, but members let the wives spoil part of the trip.

What happened was that the congressmen tried to conceal their wives, took them as official stow-aways aboard a government plane.

Reason for the concealment was that hardhearted Defense Secretary Bob Lovett had refused to let the wives ride in a Navy plane. The congressmen, he ruled, were going for business, not pleasure. So members of the Banking and Currency subcommittee rode in a government plane as far as Panama in solitary male splendor, their wives trailing in a commercial plane—not at the taxpayers' expense.

At Panama, however, congressmen telephoned Navy Secretary Dan Kimball. It was his personal plane they were using, and by that time Secretary Lovett had gone to Paris. There was plenty of room in the government plane, they argued—ten members of the crew, six congressmen and four assistants. Kimball weakened. Finally agreed.

So when the special Navy plane got to Guayaquil, first stop after Panama, the congressmen alighted alone. Gingly they stepped out of the plane like small boys concealing something, had their pictures taken with the U. S. ambassador, shook hands with the Ecuadorian officials.

With the ceremonies finished and the congressional husbands gone on a tour of the city, congressional wives were tipped off they could come out of hiding.

Next stop was Lima, Peru. There each wife of the American Embassy had been assigned to chaperone the wife of a congressman. But as the plane landed and the congressmen filed out, no women were to be seen.

"Where are the wives?"

Truman-Churchill Talks Raise Major Problem Of U. S. Position In Far East

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—The question of whether the United States should underwrite the security of Southeast Asia—perhaps by sending in troops if necessary—confronted the Administration Thursday in the wake of the Truman-Churchill conference.

The issue of what the Western powers and particularly the United States should do about possible Communist aggression in that area is high on the list of problems under discussion between Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Eden. It was learned Friday, it also will be taken up by military chiefs of the United States, Britain and France in a three-power conference opening at the Pentagon.

A communique issued by the President and prime minister Wednesday, about the time Churchill left on a trip to New York and Ottawa, reported that a "broad harmony of view" had developed on the "many grave problems affecting our two countries in the Far East."

This was applied specifically to Communist China with the statement, "We recognize that the overriding need to counter the Communist threat in that area transcends such divergences as there are in our policies toward China."

Britain recognizes the Communist regime while the United States continues relations with the Nationalist government on Formosa.

Specific Problems

After declaring support for the fight against the Reds in Korea, the President and prime minister welcomed the forthcoming military talks on Southeast Asia and said their purpose will be "to consider specific measures to strengthen the security" of that area.

There have been persistent reports recently that the Chinese Reds are building up strength near Indochina for a major intervention in the long struggle there between Communist forces and French and native anti-Communist troops. In Malaya, the British for several years have been involved in a fight against Reds which British officials concede is not going too well.

Both conflicts are said to have placed heavy strains on British and French resources and the reported feeling of those governments is that if additional measures are to be taken, and particularly if the Chinese Reds strike to the south, the problem of greatly increased resistance will be almost entirely up to the United States.

Both American and British diplomats privately asserted that the "broad harmony of view" on Far Eastern policy was one of the more important accomplishments of the four days of conferences here. Britain's recognition of Communist China, during the recent Labor government administration, has been a source of considerable difficulty in Anglo-American cooperation. Authorities said that while there is no immediate prospect of a change in the British policy under Churchill's Conservative government, differences between the two governments over Far Eastern policy now have been, for all practical purposes, eliminated.

The communique reported agreement or identity of views on many of the global problems facing the United States and Britain.

Major points of agreement included:

A settlement with Russia—the President and prime minister declared their willingness "at any time to explore all reasonable means of resolving the issues" which now threaten the peace of the world.

Atomic bases—They confirmed and formally stated in the communique a long-standing agreement that the use of U. S. atomic bomber bases in Britain would be "in an emergency" a matter for joint decision by the British and American governments.

Atomic energy—The communique made no direct mention of Churchill's reported desire for a greater sharing of atomic secrets with the United States and Canada, but it was learned the subject was discussed and that Churchill reportedly found the discussion satisfactory.

European Army—The President and prime minister declared they will "lend all assistance in their power" to bring to completion negotiations among France, Germany, Italy and the low countries for formation of a unified Western European military force.

Middle East—The government chiefs declared a "complete identity of aims" in desiring to promote "the stability, peaceful development and prosperity" of the countries in this area. They endorsed the project for formation of a Middle East Command.

Raw Materials—They reached agreement on the basic plans for providing additional supplies of American steel to Britain and making available to the United States new quantities of aluminum, tin and other materials. Details may be announced shortly.

North Atlantic Alliance—It was agreed that the alliance machinery—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—should be strengthened and streamlined.

Eden remained behind for an additional day of conferences with Acheson. Their talks, in addition to the Southeast Asia problems, are concerned with the general Far East situation and with the Iranian and Egyptian difficulties in the Middle East.

Judge S. M. Halley To Be Honored At Banquet In Kermit

KERMIT—The annual banquet of the Kermit Chamber of Commerce, honoring Judge S. M. Halley as the city's "All-Time First Citizen," will be held Thursday night in the Community Center.

S. M. Halley

An interesting program of entertainment has been arranged and new officers and directors of the organization will be introduced.

Music will be furnished by John Carrico and his band from Texas Western College, and a specialty act will be presented by Gladys Love and Bob Fleming of Kermit.

The banquet meal will be prepared by the members of the Eastern Star and served by the homemaking class of Kermit schools.

A dance will follow the banquet.

Monahans Postal Receipts Increase

MONAHANS — Monahans postal receipts climbed more than $5,000 during 1951. Postmaster Bill Shelton said the $57,536.75 chalked up an all-time high for the city, exclusive of the war years and the gain was the largest in any normal 12-month period, with the exception of 1949, when delivery service was instituted and postage rates were hiked.

The 1951 figure compares with $43,822 for 1948, $50,658 for 1949 and $52,439 for 1950.

Writers Group Hears Hughes Talk On 'Radio'

Radio is badly in need of script writers, John Hughes, former radio announcer, writer and producer, told the Midland Writers Group Wednesday night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John S. Powell.

Hughes, now employed by Shell Oil Company, worked with the Texas Network during its organizational days. A number of his scripts have been presented on the "First Nighter" program.

"My entrance into the writing field came one Saturday night," he said, "when I discovered that a show to be presented the next day had not yet been written. I wrote it."

Hughes told the stories of several of his scripts and discussed the proper methods of preparing radio copy.

Following his talk an informal discussion was held. Those attending were Mrs. Terry Tidwell, Mrs. Norman Sax, Mrs. Forbes Pennycook, Mrs. Walter Mork, Bill Abbott and Mrs. Fred Wright.

Mrs. Rothrock Discusses Brazil At Club Meeting

Mrs. H. E. Rothrock talked to the Fine Arts Club Wednesday on "Brazil."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Henry Murphy, with Mrs. Foy Proctor, president, presiding. Through her talk, Mrs. Rothrock helped clarify Brazil's turbulent position in world problems of the past and present. She used a map to illustrate her talk.

Mrs. Harvey Sloan, program chairman, introduced the speaker. The following four committees were appointed: Nominating committee—Mrs. Roy Parks, chairman, Mrs. Selman Lones and Mrs. B. R. Schabarum; safety committee—Mrs. J. G. Carner, chairman; special committee to plan a memorial to Mrs. L. G. Byerley—Mrs. E. H. Barron and Mrs. Tom Bobo, and a committee to cooperate with the office of Defense Mobilization and the American Bar Association by presenting the facts about defense mobilization for women to the club, Mrs. Paul Crandall.

Mrs. J. V. Stokes was voted to membership in the club. Letters of appreciation for packages and money sent to Girlstown, U. S. A., were read. The letters were sent by Amelia Anthony, Girlstown director.

Mrs. Nelson Puett reported that only a few of the 100 Midland historical plates, to be sold by the club, were left.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at 1:30 p.m. January 23 in the Midland Country Club, with Mrs. Carner as hostess.

Girl Scout Troops Elect Officers

Officer elections highlighted the Tuesday and Wednesday meetings of Girl Scout Troops.

Intermediate Troop 60 of St. Ann's School elected Diane Louise Dorsey as president, Sharon Stalter, vice president, and Beverly Burleson, secretary-treasurer.

Loismarie Johnson is the leader of the troop.

Mrs. M. B. Arick's Seniof troop discussed plans for the future.

Intermediate Troop 15, under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Grimm, elected new officers.

Mona Leigh is president; Helen Short, vice president; Nannette Hays, secretary; Cheryl Grimm, reporter, and Gloria Hicks and Sandra Cooper, honor guards.

Mrs. Hal Peck's Brownie Troop planned an outdoor observation hike. "Alice in Wonderland" was practiced, with marionettes and stage effects.

New officers of Brownie Troop 39 are Betsy Monroe, chairman, Judy Hawkins, vice chairman; Nancy Cooper, treasurer; Ann Brazzil, reporter, and Clara Lou Butcher and Mackie Gibbs, clean-up crew.

Reading Trends Is Club Topic

"American Trends in Reading" was the general topic Wednesday when the Modern Study Club met in the home of Mrs. K. C. Slough.

Mrs. John Daly spoke on "What America Reads." "In my opinion, the quality of American writing is looking up," he said.

Among the books which she discussed and read excerpts from were "Wait for the Wagon," "A Breath of Air," "Quiet Corner," "Kon-Tiki and I," "Diving to Adventure" and "My Life and Hard Times." Mrs. C. C. Keith introduced the speaker.

Members responded to roll call with "The Last Book I Have Read." Mrs. J. T. Gist was unanimously elected to membership. The next meeting will be held January 23 with Mrs. Richard Harrell as hostess. Dr. Lex B. Smith will present the program.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Bryan Denson. Others attending were Mrs. Douglas Edman, Mrs. Harrell, Mrs. Earl A. Johnson, Mrs. C. C. Keith, Mrs. Ed Shakely, Mrs. C. H. Shepard, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. W. B. Ahders, Mrs. John Tice and Mrs. Brandon E. Rea.

Mrs. McCarty Is HD President

Mrs. T. A. McCarty was elected the new president of the Garden Addition Home Demonstration Club at the Wednesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Carl Neithercutt. Mrs. E. O. Messersmith, hostess, was presented with a gift as the retiring president.

During the business meeting Mrs. Sam Montgomery was elected council delegate.

Pauline McWilliams, county home demonstration agent, demonstrated several food dishes, which she had prepared.

Others attending were Mrs. W. E. Hollis, Mrs. H. L. Preat, Mrs. Ed Galley, Mrs. C. H. Pearson and Mrs. V. A. Cain.

World Trade In U. S. Is Discussed At Study Club Meeting

Mrs. R. W. Stewart was in charge of the program at a meeting of the Progressive Study Club Wednesday. Her topic was "World Trade in the United States."

Mrs. H. C. Jones was the hostess. The club constitution was read by Mrs. H. A. Wienold.

Those present were Mrs. Sol Bunnell, Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. J. Wilmont Hunt, Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. A. A. Johnson, Mrs. H. C. Jones, Mrs. W. C. Kimball, Mrs. Perry Pickett, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Pete Tyler, Mrs. Haden Upchurch and Mrs. Wienold.

WHICH ONE HAS "THAT LOOK"?

Monthly "Nerves" Are Easy To See

You, too, may not be able to hide that tired, nervous, jittery look each month no matter how much "make-up" you use. Keep your secret safe during "those" days — don't be the one girl in three who shows the strain from tail-tale nerves and cramps — has "that look!"

Take Cardui, a special medicine trusted by thousands of women, girls to help insure against "nerves" and other signs of monthly misery. A little Cardui each day helps build strength so resistance may be greater each month, nervousness and suffering less and less. Look more natural — feel and sleep better. Ask your dealer for Cardui.

*Many scientists estimate that at some time during life 1 out of every 2 women suffer from monthly distress/nerve.

The Regans told the ambassador they were proud of the reports on the successful functioning of the mission to Mexico.

Bride Will Keep First Of Two Soldier Husbands

ATLANTA—(P)—A pretty, 22-year-old bride has decided to keep the first of two soldier husbands given her by a strange turn of fate in the fortunes of war.

In the name of Mrs. Agnes Dixon, she petitioned Superior Court to annul her marriage to William S. Sasser. She asked that the marriage be declared null and void on grounds that she is the legal wife of Walter B. Nixon, once reported killed in Korea but later listed among war captives alive in Communist prison camps.

She and Sasser were directed by Judge E. E. Andrews, to appear in court for a hearing January 28. Sasser agreed in a signed affidavit to abide by the court's declaratory judgment.

The petition recounted that she was married to Dixon at Conley, Ga., on April 5, 1950, and was notified by the Defense Department in June, 1951, that he had been killed in action.

Last September, she married Sasser in the belief that she was a widow, the petition related.

She found Dixon's name on the rolls of prisoners of war published just before Christmas. Remembering his Army serial number, she discovered it was the same as the number published with his name.

After a holiday vacation with Sasser's parents at LaGrange, N. C., she and Sasser returned here recently. Sasser is a soldier stationed at Fort McPherson, on the edge of Atlanta, and she is employed at the fort as a civilian clerk.

Official records showed Dixon failed to report to the Army that he was married. The Army listed his next of kin as a sister, Mrs. Lorena G. Storey of Skiston, Mo.

J. S. Laster of Cullman, Ala., father of Mrs. Dixon-Sasser, said Dixon's $10,000 service insurance was paid to Mrs. Storey, but that he understood she had turned it over to his wife.

Republicans Answer Truman's Call For Tightened Controls

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman's call for a stronger anti-inflation law brought an "Enforce the one you've got" retort from Republicans Thursday.

But Senator Moody (D-Mich.) termed the present measure "entirely inadequate." Moody told a reporter Truman was "absolutely correct" in saying in his State of the Union message Wednesday that "our stabilization was shot full of holes" by Congress at the last session.

Moody and other members of the Senate Banking Committee arranged to talk the situation over Thursday, but Republicans in the group said in advance of the session that they see no need for any major changes in the law.

Senator Capehart of Indiana, senior Republican on the committee, said:

"As for the President's contention that we need a stronger controls law, I would say to him: 'Enforce the one you've got and you'll find it provides full and complete power to curb inflation.'"

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio), another member of the committee, also declared the President has all the authority needed to control prices and wages "if he only would use to the full extent the good law congress gave him."

Representative Wolcott (R-Mich.), Capehart and Bricker all predicted Congress would take no speedy action on extension of the Defense Production Act, which includes wage, price and rent control authority. The present measure expires June 30.

"We'll want to wait and see what the situation is along in the Spring," Capehart said.

Texas To Collect Tideland Defense Fund In February

AUSTIN—(P)—An intensive campaign for publicity and money to fight Texas' Tideland battle is planned for February.

Guy C. Jackson of Anahuac, chairman of the Statewide Tideland Committee, said newspaper advertisements and stories, radio broadcasts, magazines and other means will be used to publicize the issue during the month designated as "Tideland Defense Month."

Funds will also be sought to carry on a national campaign for congressional action quit-claiming the Tidelands to the states.

Wives Learn Only Half Hubby's Story

MEXICO CITY—(P)—Chatting at the market, two Mexican wives compared notes on their husbands and found they were married to the same man. They complained to police.

The police found the wives had learned only half the story. The husband, Rafael Estrada Huerta, was charged Wednesday with taking four wives in 11 months.

He hasn't got a job either.

Kiwanis President Appoints Committee Chairmen For 1952

Chairmen of important committees of the Midland Kiwanis Club to serve during 1952 were announced Thursday by President Herschel Ezell.

U. S., Mexican Farm Groups Agree On Bracero Pact

MEXICO CITY—(P)—Accord has been reached between U. S. and Mexican farmers for a new migrant labor (bracero) agreement between the two governments.

The recommendations were signed Wednesday by delegates of the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Mexican National Farmers Association and the National Federation of Farm producers.

The conference noted Mexican farmers, in principle, are opposed to the movement of workers to the United States but conceded a world food shortage made such migration essential.

The joint proposals, which emerged from two days of conference, condemned the hiring of illegal immigrants (wetbacks).

"It is our common objective," a statement said, "to replace this illegal migration by a practical, orderly program x x x."

The statement said the two governments should eliminate delay and congestion at recruiting centers and said recruiting should be limited to Mexican areas which have surplus farm labor.

The farmers favored a long-term accord so it will be known well in advance whether workers will be available.

Also recommended was a clause in any agreement made holding both workers and employers responsible if a work contract is broken. The present agreement, which expires February 11, provided penalties for an employer but left the worker free to break a contract without penalty.

Veterans To Get NSLI Dividend, Starting In March

WASHINGTON—(P)—Payments averaging about $60 will go out this year to holders of National Service Life Insurance policies.

The Veterans Administration announced Wednesday it will start dividing a 200 million dollar dividend in March. This will be the first regular dividend for veterans and servicemen, the VA having paid two special dividends in the last four years.

The VA said it is mailing out a special form which will give a policy holder the choice of receiving cash or put the dividend up as a deposit at three per cent interest. The deposit would be insurance against possible lapse of a policy or as advance payment on premiums.

The VA emphasized that the return forms should include the full name and address of the policyholder along with his policy number.

Payments will be made after the anniversary date of each policy, covering the previous 12 months. The VA said payment, in most instances, will be based on the 1951 rate of $0 cents for each $1,000 of insurance for each month the insurance was in force.

Eligibility will be based on paid premiums on a policy for any three or more months between the 1951 and 1952 dates.

TRUCK KILLS CHILD

Thrombosis Calls For Prompt Attention And Long Bed Rest

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A clot or obstruction in one of the blood vessels supplying the heart muscle is called a coronary thrombosis or coronary occlusion.

An attack of coronary thrombosis can cause sudden death quite unexpectedly as in the case of Mrs. D.'s brother, who was found in the morning in his room.

Mrs. D. said "his room was only a few yards from mine, but I did not hear a sound. He had not known he had a bad heart, nor did we. He was 55 years old, and had been active up to that time."

Tragic occurrences of this kind happen all too often but there are an enormous number of people who have suffered a coronary thrombosis and who have recovered to a remarkable degree.

Any living tissue which is deprived of its blood supply will die. Consequently, that portion of the heart which is supplied by a blood vessel which is shut off by a clot will perish.

If the area involved is a large one, therefore, the heart cannot continue and this is why sudden deaths occur.

If the area is small and the heart is allowed to rest, two things begin to happen. The heart muscle which has been killed is replaced gradually by strong scar-like tissue. Also, other blood vessels begin to take over some of the functions of the closed-off coronary artery so that a new blood supply becomes established.

A long period of rest in bed must be faced by the victim of a coronary thrombosis. For best results this period of rest must be followed by slowly increasing activity—also for a long time.

If the other portions of the coronary arteries are in reasonably good condition, the heart can make a good recovery from the damage which it has suffered.

This, of course, is true particularly in those who have suffered a coronary thrombosis comparatively early in life.

Of course, carelessness about health or unrestrained activity is not justified, but it should be remembered that many victims make remarkably good recoveries.

There are probably some who have suffered an attack of coronary thrombosis who have not even known that they have had such an attack.

But, the symptoms usually are severe enough, consisting of pain, paleness of the skin and weakness so that medical help is obtained promptly.

Expert advice is extremely important as the pain may disappear in a short time even without treatment and give a false sense of security.

Former Paris Bank Official Assessed $6,000 In Fines

PARIS, TEXAS—(P)—Morris Fleming, former vice president of the First National Bank of Paris, has been fined a total of $6,000 and given suspended prison sentences totaling six years for misapplication of funds.

Fleming was fined $1,000 and given a one-year term in each of three courts Tuesday by Federal Judge Joe W. Sheehy.

Fleming and three other employees were charged in 1949 with misapplication of $75,000. The others were acquitted last January after Fleming told the court that if a federal law had been violated he was responsible.

About $50,000 of the funds, U. S. District Attorney Warren G. Moore said, had been recovered by the bank.

Judge Sheehy said he suspended the prison sentence because of Fleming's ill health.

Mabee Foundation Sets Up Loan Fund

ABILENE—The J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla., has established a $10,000 loan fund for students of Abilene Christian College, President Don H. Morris announced.

It is designed expressly for students who do not have sufficient funds to provide themselves with a college education. Eligible students may apply for loans immediately.

In granting the loan fund, the trustees of the foundation said: "We want to help worthy students who otherwise might not be able to obtain a college education. And we feel an investment in the students at Abilene Christian College is an especially good one from the standpoint of training good citizens."

SE Mitchell Tester Shows Clean Oil In Pennsylvanian Sand

Richardson & Bass No. 1-8 J. H. Nail estate, extreme Southeast

Mitchell County exploration, had a show of gas and recovered clean oil on a drillstem test of the Pennsylvanian sand.
 The test was taken from 6,038 to 6,075 feet. Tool was open three hours. Gas came to the surface in 21 minutes, with a good blow during the last hour the tool was open.
 Recovery was 40 feet of gas cut mud and 1,900 feet of clean oil. Flowing pressure was from 175 to 675 pounds and shut-in pressure was 2,050 pounds in 15 minutes.
New Running Logs
 Electrical logs are now being run. No. 1-8 Nail is one-quarter of a mile north of the same operators No. 1 J. F. McCabe, recently completed discovery from a sand in the Pennsylvanian.
 This well opened the McCabe-Pennsylvanian field.
 Location of 1-8 Nail is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 8, block 12, H&TC survey and 20 miles southeast of Colorado City.

Herring Finishes East Extender To SW Scurry Field

S. C. Herring of Abilene has extended the Sharon Ridge-1700 field in Southwest Scurry County three quarters of a mile east by completion of his No. 1 H. D. Beakley for a daily pumping potential of 54 barrels of 36-gravity oil.
 No water was made on the final test. Gas-oil ratio was 100-1.
 Production was from open hole between 1,750 feet, where five and one-half inch casing was set and 1,772 feet, the total depth. Top of pay was picked at 1,715 feet.
 The section was acidized with 8,000 gallons.
 Location for the Herring No. 1 Beakley is 330 feet from south and west lines of lease in section 143, block 3, H&GN survey.

Tom Green Gets Two New Tests

Two shallow wildcats have been staked for immediate drilling in Tom Green County.
 Marian J. Scott and Russell Hays of San Angelo have spotted a 600-foot cable tool test in Southwest Tom Green two miles north of Knickerbocker.
 It is No. 1 Bob H. Sharpe and is located 1,690 feet from north and 2,150 feet from west lines of block 2, E. A. Tweedy survey.
 The Ohio Oil Company will drill the other project as its No. 2-A J. W. Turner and others.
 To 1,190 Feet
 Projected depth is 1,100 feet with cable tools.
 Drillsite is 628 feet from south and 662 feet from east lines of section 1135, TCRR survey, A-9150.

The operation is five and one-half miles southwest of Carlsbad in Northwest Tom Green County and on a 4,280-acre lease. It is a twin to Ohio No. 1-A Turner, a 7,300-foot Ellenburger dry hole.
Tom Green Wildcat Is Testing On Pump
 The Texas Company is pumping to test on its No. 1 Mrs. Irene Sparks, wildcat in Southwest Tom Green County.

Phillips Thunders By Rotary, 53-47; Plastics Also Win

The Phillips 66 cagers tumbled Rotary Engineering Company's basketball empire Wednesday night, hanging a 53-47 lopping on the Engineers before one of Midland's largest basketball crowds in the John M. Cowden Junior High School Gym.

The large, enthusiastic crowd was treated to top-flight basketball as ex-collegiate stars and former AAU cagers tangled in the clash which saw Rotary lose its first city league game in history.

With the win went the undisputed lead of the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League. Phillips now has four wins and no losses. Rotary and Western Plastic are deadlocked with three wins and one loss each.

Phillips went ahead, 1-0, in the opening seconds and never was behind, although the talented Engineers did threaten on several occasions.

It was 15-10 at the quarter, 29-13 at halftime, 43-33 at the three-quarter mark and 53-47 at the end, all in favor of Phillips.

But in between, Phillips had some uneasy moments. With slightly more than two minutes to go, Rotary scored eight straight points to cut the lead to 49-45, but Phillips rallied to salt away the win.

Two former players for the famous Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Okla.—Kenny Jastro of Denver and Gerald Tucker of Oklahoma U.—led the Phillips scoring. Jastro flipped in 13 points; Tucker contributed 12 tallies.

They had ample help from Everett Thrall who hit set shots for 10 points, and from Don Grove, ex-Texas Tech hardwoodman, who scored six points and got more than his share of the rebounds.

J. B. Collins and Slim Whitus scored 14 points each for Rotary, with slim Bennie Tucker adding 10 points to the total and Leland Huffman getting seven.

Rotary went six minutes without getting a field goal before Rutherford hit a nice hook shot. By this time, the Engineers had fallen behind, 7-1. It was tough and go the remainder of the first quarter, but Phillips started to pull away in the second frame on nice hitting by Jastro and Thrall.

Rotary scored nine straight points in the third quarter—Huffman and Collins leading the way—to pull from a 35-22 disadvantage to within 35-31. But again, Phillips came back and with Thrall and Tucker hitting the hoop opened up a 10-point margin.

Late in the game—with Phillips holding a 49-37 margin—Rotary scored eight straight points on buckets by Huffman, Collins (two) and Rutherford, but Tucker came back to pour a couple of last-minute buckets through and Rotary had tasted defeat.

In the second game, tall Western Plastic pulled away in the second half to give the JayCees a 46-22 pounding. Clarence Robinson kept the JayCees in the game the first half, scoring 14 points as the JayCees stayed within range 17-16. But in the second half, Dyess and Patton combined to pull away. Dyess canned 18 points; Patton got 13. The loss was the fourth straight for the winless JayCees, who fell into a tie with Shell Oil for the cellar position.

Bulldogs Get Ysleta In Pecos Meet

Cast in an unfamiliar role—that of pre-tourney favorite—the Midland High School Bulldogs depart Friday for Pecos to play in the Pecos Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Actually, Midland doesn't rule as a prohibitive favorite—but due to their surprising play last weekend in copping consolation honors in the Odessa tournament, the Bulldogs will rate as one of the stronger teams in the meet.

Ysleta—Midland's first round foe—is rated as a contender, as is Monahans, a team which defeated Midland by two points early in the season and which has compiled a fine record.

Coach F. D. (Red) Rutledge will have Bob Johnson, Jesse Hatfield, John Van Buskirk, Robert Keising and Roy Kinsey available as a possible starting five, with Owen Orlinham and Bill Mims on call for duty also.

Play Friday
The Bulldogs play Ysleta at 3 p.m. Friday. The meet continues through Saturday and Saturday night, with a consolation bracket due for first-round losers.

Bowie of El Paso drew a first round bye. Pairings for the first game find Van Horn playing Pecos; Monahans going against Pyote; Midland playing Ysleta; El Paso High getting Alpine and Kermit jousting with Grandfalls.

Musial, Denied Raise, Meets With Salary Officials

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The salary stabilization board, after a personal appearance by baseball's best hitter last year, Stan Musial, gets to work Thursday on a new player salary formula.

Musial flew into town Wednesday for a few words with board officials about his salary predicament. He signed a contract with the St. Louis cards last year which would have brought him a reported $65,000—if regulations had allowed it.

But they didn't. Despite his .355 average, best in either league, Stan had to be content with his 1950 salary of about $50,000—highest salary for any Cardinal paid that year.

That's the base year. The salary board ruled that no player may be raised to a point higher than the highest paid man on the club in 1950.

The rule was an inflation curb—the same way the wage board has made rules governing wage increases during the mobilization period.

Salary board officials said flatly the new rule now being worked out would be an industry-wide, all-club rule. The 16 clubs would have one effective ceiling rather than 16 separate ones.

At this stage no one would predict how the new ceiling or formula might work.

Crosby's Golf Meet Will Start Friday

PEBBLE BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—Bing Crosby's personal golfing party, with $10,000 National Pro-Amateur tournament he sponsors for charity every year, gets under way Friday.

Proceeds go to polio research, veterans hospitals, youth centers, and other institutions.

The 54-hole links derby, which stacks up with any show of its kind anywhere, will see a galaxy of stars footing it over three courses in as many days.

BRAGAN NAMED OUTSTANDING MAN
FORT WORTH—(AP)—The Fort Worth Cat skipper, Bobby Bragan, has been named Fort Worth's "Outstanding Young Man of 1951" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Presentation of the award and title was made Wednesday night at the annual Jaycee awards dinner.

IT'S COLD INSIDE—Iceicles glistening in his mustache, Neville Price, Oklahoma's sprinting broad-jumper, reaches for the baton. He's from South Africa. Coach John Jacobs puts on everything he can find to keep from freezing at Pneumonia Downs, the Sooners' open-air indoor layout under the east stadium at Norman. (NEA)

Rotary Engineering Company finally came to the end of the road in Midland City League basketball play, losing its first game in four years in the loop.

But, losing to the powerful Phillips team with a group of ex-Phillips 66ers was far from a disgrace.

The Engineers are no less potent than they were before the loss, and they have another game coming with the Phillips bunch in second-half play.

Rotary and Western Plastic Company are to be admired for allowing the Phillips stars to perform in games against them, after a rule technically and votes by loop managers declared the stars ineligible.

A packed house saw the game at John M. Cowden Junior High School Gym, and the fans really enjoyed it. Too, the league made money for the first time this year. We hope other teams will see fit to allow the Phillips players to participate in loop games.

Midland Country Club has been bothered by a bunch of "Bugs-Bunnish" characters lately.

Ole Brer Rabbit has been running amuck on the Country Club greens, so a gigantic rabbit drive is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday.

All Midlanders more than 16 years of age are invited to take part. Shot guns only will be used in the drive, with number six or smaller shot used. Tex Carleton of Carleton-Brumbeul Sporting Goods and Midland Hardware will furnish shells.

Interested parties are asked to meet at the east entrance to the Country Club. Four sections will be covered and about 200 hunters are needed.

Vernon has signed Chet Fowler as its new manager in the Longhorn League for 1952.

Fowler has been in baseball for 31 years, and evidently is a good man. He'd better be to replace "Jittery" Joe Berry, the ex-Duster pilot who gave way to Homer Matney before the 1951 season was over.

In our mind, it will take a lot of doing to replace Berry. We don't think Matney did it last year after he took over. Berry, never blessed with many top players because the club was financially unstable, always got the best out of his players, and we think Vernon made a mistake by letting him go last season.

Don't worry, Mama and Papa, about your boy in the Golden Glove matches in San Angelo Friday night, and in Odessa January 24, 25 and 26. Amateur boxing is just that. If boys are hurt, the bouts are stopped. There have been very few injuries in Golden Glove boxing: It's a far-cry from the professional game.

Golden Glove boxing stresses sportsmanship and the manly art of self defense. And it's a great sport.

More boys will compete in Little League play in Midland this year than ever before. Last year, one six-team league operated. This year, three four-team leagues will operate, with 12 boys on each of the 12 teams.

Lewis A. Williams, A. C. Elliott and John Redfern, Jr., will be presidents of the leagues, although Redfern wants to retire in favor of someone else as he is tied up with Shorthorn League duties.

The additional teams will allow more boys to compete, and since the teams are to be divided into geographical districts, allow the boys to be nearer to the playgrounds.

A meeting with parents is scheduled soon, to explain the workings of the Little League. Actual workouts begin in about six weeks.

Nine New Mittmen On Squad

Nine new boys have joined the Midland Golden Gloves team, Coach Nolan McKean announced Thursday.

The new punch-tossers and their weight divisions are: Lightweight Eldon Kinikin and Rip Shelby; Middleweights Dean Moore and Billy Leonard; Flyweights E. P. Birkhead and Don Davis; Light Heavyweight Bobby (Red) Cast; Welterweight Terry Pugaar and Heavyweight Stan Coker, 250-pounder who played tackle for MHA the last three seasons.

McKean will take his mittmen to San Angelo for bouts with Brownwood and San Angelo fighters Friday night. Some of the new boys on the team will not see action this time, but will wait until the Odessa Regional Golden Glove matches January 24, 25 and 26.

Several reshuffling in the pairings for Friday night have been announced. The revised list stands this way:

Paperweight: LeRoy Reeves, Midland, vs. Joe Font, San Angelo; bantamweight: John Skidmore, Midland, vs. Lloyd Baker, San Angelo; lightweight: Charles (Chill) Reeves, Midland, vs. Daniel Robles, San Angelo; featherweight: Eldon Kinikin vs. Arney Gutierrez, San Angelo; featherweight: Luther Mooney, Midland, vs. Connie Fisher, San Angelo; lightweight: Troy Allen, Midland, vs. Al Cardenas, San Angelo; welterweight: Edward Johnson, Midland, vs. Robert Langford, Brownwood.

Middleweight: Charles Crites, Midland, vs. Thomas McClain, San Angelo; light heavyweight: Bill Leonard, Midland, vs. Jim Brown, Brownwood; lightweight: Russell Cox, Midland, vs. Paul Romero, San Angelo; heavyweight: Rudy Venator, Midland, vs. Curtis Talley, Brownwood.

Middleweights Freddy Bilbo, Ray Williams and Loren Roberts have not been matched, but will be matched in time for bouts Friday. Several other boys also expect to draw their foes Friday after arriving in San Angelo.

McKean also announced a new coach has joined the team. He is Jim McCarley, ex-heavyweight professional from California who once fought an exhibition with Joe Louis when the Brown Bomber was in his prime. McCarley will accompany the team to San Angelo.

Members of the Optimist Club—sponsor of the Midland team—will furnish transportation to the Angelo tri-city meet.

McKean said any new boys who want to fight in the Odessa meet may report to the National Guard recreation room at Midland Airport, week nights from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Other leading comebacks (on a 3-2-1 point vote for the first three places): 3—Bobby Feller, baseball, 52 points; 4—Stanford, football, 47; 5—Ben Hogan, golf, 46; 6—Chicago White Sox, baseball, 33; 7—Ray Robinson, boxing, 32; 8—Auburn, football, 17; 9—Joe Dimaggio, baseball (in World Series), 12; 10—Detroit Lions, football 11.

Other leading comebacks (on a 3-2-1 point vote for the first three places): 3—Bobby Feller, baseball, 52 points; 4—Stanford, football, 47; 5—Ben Hogan, golf, 46; 6—Chicago White Sox, baseball, 33; 7—Ray Robinson, boxing, 32; 8—Auburn, football, 17; 9—Joe Dimaggio, baseball (in World Series), 12; 10—Detroit Lions, football 11.

Suketorth Out As Coach For Dodgers

BROOKLYN—(AP)—Clyde Suketorth was out of a job as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday, and Billy Herman was appointed in his place, but Suketorth said there was nothing to reports there were strained relations between him and Manager Charlie Dressen.

Suketorth, in the Dodger organization 19 years as a catcher, coach and even manager for several days on occasion, resigned suddenly Wednesday, the Brooklyn management announced.

Suketorth was in charge of the Dodger bullpen last Fall when Dressen called for a relief pitcher in the ninth inning to throw to Bobby Thomson of the New York Giants in the memorable final playoff game for the National League pennant.

He told Dressen Ralph Branca was "ready," and Thomson hit his game-winning homer on Branca's second pitch.

At Waldoboro, Maine, Suketorth admitted he told Dressen that Branca was ready to pitch.

However, said Suketorth, this incident "absolutely did not" cause any tension between Dressen and himself.

Suketorth wouldn't say why he was leaving the Dodgers, but offered: "I have several irons in the fire and hope to get another job."

Indians In Sinkiang Are Selling Out

SRINAGAR, KASHMIR.—(AP)—Indian traders in Communist-held Chinese Sinkiang are selling out and returning home, according to reports brought here by in-bound correspondents.

Regulations under the new Communist government force Indians, and the few other foreign traders in Sinkiang, to buy goods for export through government-controlled chambers of commerce, and sell their imports through the same agencies. As a result, the traders complain, they pay more than a market price for export goods and receive less than the market rates for their imports.

Many Indian traders have lived and worked in Sinkiang for decades, supplying the local market with goods from South Asia and buying local production for export to India and Burma.

The Yale basketball roster lists 30 men representing 11 different states in the country.

Marines Beckon To Ted Williams

BOSTON—(AP)—Ted Williams, baseball's top salaried slugger, has been recalled by the U. S. Marines and, if physically fit, probably will be lost to the Boston Red Sox until he reaches the comparative old age of 35.

The $100,000-plus performer is one of several hundred former Marine fliers being called back as replacements for Korean veterans due active service releases.

Reports from Marine headquarters in Washington were that Williams, now 33, will report at nearby Quantico for a physical examination on April 2. If found fit, he will go on active duty on May 2 for at least 17 months. That would take him through most of the coming American League season and for all of 1953.

"If Uncle Sam wants me, I'm ready. I'm not any different than the next fellow," Williams phoned General Manager Joe Cronin from his Florida Everglades fishing retreat, Wednesday.

"But I'll go through all of the Spring training and I'll stay with the club and await further orders," Williams added.

But Williams' chances of passing the Marines' strict physical tests for its fliers are considered dubious in that service's local circles.

Ted fractured the head of the radius bone in his left elbow during the 1950 all-star game and the resulting surgery has hampered that arm's extension and mobility ever since. He still requires the attention of therapists.

Hereabouts, many recalled reservists, especially fliers, have been rejected for similar handicaps.

Williams missed three seasons, from 1943 through 1945, because of World War II service. He qualified, as a Marine flyer at Chapel Hill, N. C. and Pensacola, Fla., and served as an instructor at Pearl Harbor.

Washington reported that Williams was being recalled as a captain, a rank that would entitle him to about $600 a month compensation, including allowances for dependents and previous service. He is married and the father of a small daughter. Recently he purchased a new home in Miami.

Since he joined the Red Sox in 1939 Williams, the majors' last 400-hitter—406 in 1941—is reputed to have received more than $600,000 from owner Tom Yawkey in 10 seasons. His top salary was $125,000 in 1950, when, due to his accident, he dropped 26 points to his 317 batting low. He was only a point higher last season.

Unsigned For '53
Williams is unsigned for 1952 and, most likely, has not done any dickering over next season's terms. Cronin, following the club's policy, declined to discuss any prospective financial negotiations with Williams. But it can be taken for granted that Williams will be under another six-figure contract, flexible undoubtedly, when he reports at Sarasota for training on March 1.

Twice winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award and its four-time batting champion, Williams has played 1,421 games for the Red Sox in 10 seasons. He has totaled 1,753 hits, including 323 homers, scored 1,273 runs and driven in 1,241 runners.

Other leading comebacks (on a 3-2-1 point vote for the first three places): 3—Bobby Feller, baseball, 52 points; 4—Stanford, football, 47; 5—Ben Hogan, golf, 46; 6—Chicago White Sox, baseball, 33; 7—Ray Robinson, boxing, 32; 8—Auburn, football, 17; 9—Joe Dimaggio, baseball (in World Series), 12; 10—Detroit Lions, football 11.

Cesar Brion Beats Young Wes Bascom

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Veteran Cesar Brion of Argentina shattered young Wesbury Bascom's victory string Wednesday night with a unanimous 10-round decision in a heavyweight feature bout at the arena.

Except for the first two rounds, it was the South American's fight all the way. Since turning professional, Bascom had won 13 consecutive fights.

Referee Benny Kessler gave the bout to Brion 55-45. Judge Fred Connell had it 53-47 and Judge Howard Hess scored it 52-45.

Appeals Denied For Stay Of Execution
KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA.—(AP)— Appeals for a stay of execution for three doomed Chinese terrorist sympathizers have been rejected by the Federation Court of Appeals.

One of the men was convicted of being in possession of six rounds of ammunition when arrested; another was convicted of abetting the murder of five police constables and the third, of supplying terrorists with food and other supplies.

BOYS GET SCHOLARSHIPS
SINGAPORE.—(AP)— The government has announced a new scheme whereby 50 Malayan boys under 11 each year will be awarded scholarships in English schools. Requirements for the scholarships are that the boys must have been born in the colony, be physically fit and have successfully completed the fourth year in a vernacular school. Value of the scholarships is $2 a month in addition to complete exemption from school fees.

Abdullah's Dancer
Makes Like Texan
On Arrival In Dallas

By MARTHA COLE

DALLAS —(AP)—Samia Gamal, the Egyptian dancer of copper tresses, cocked her hands like six-shooters and made like a Texan when she landed in her husband's homeland Thursday.

"First thing I do is go shopping for some—what do you call them?" she asked.

"Cowboy clothes?" a reporter helped.

"Yes. And boots—cowboy boots."

Samia and her bridegroom—playboy Sheppard King III, a Texas oil heir who met her in Paris and wooed her under an Egyptian moon—arrived at the Dallas Airport at 4:45 a.m.

They got a Texas welcome—a la Sheppard King, the playboy—even at 4:45 a.m.: an accordion player and three couples wailing highball glasses.

The accordion player—name of Gus Dewey—played an Egyptian hoochie-koochie dance when Samia tossed back her copper hair, hugged her new $10,000 mink coat (gift of her husband) around her and strode down the gangplank of the airliner.

"Just who are these people?" a reporter asked the players.

"I'm just the entertainer at the Chicago Club, and those people were there and hired me to come along."

Big Champagne 'Blowout'

King is throwing a big champagne "blowout" at the club Thursday night.

The accordion player swung into "The Eyes of Texas" and Samia donned a cowboy hat as photographers had grabbed from the lobby newspaper.

"Here's my ugly man," she declared, and grabbed King for the picture.

She caught on quickly about cocking her hands like six-shooters and pointing her forefingers at her husband. Then she grinned and patted his cheek after the flashbulb went off.

One of the self-appointed reception committee—Dallas friends of King—thrust a highball glass in her hand.

"He has told me much about Texas. About how wonderful the people are," she said. "And I think he's right—oh, I don't know how to say it."

King wasn't doing much talking. "Well just rest and party," he said. "Samia has to be in Miami by the fifteenth for a night club engagement opening on the eighteenth, and we'll be in Texas just four days."

WHAT WILL CONGRESS DO?—Congress is expected to move cautiously if at all, through the legislative woods after reconvening this month. President Truman will probably get little that he seeks, except continued high military spending. Foreign aid is expected to find tough sledding, as will the President's expected request for higher taxes and his whole "Fair Deal" program. The Newschart above lists some of the major items before Congress. As in 1951, the legislative body is likely to continue to be most noteworthy for its inaction.

North, South High School Youngsters Will 'Swap' Lives

MANITOWOC, Wis.—(AP)—Thirty high school youngsters from this Lake Michigan city and 30 from Macon, Ga., are going to trade lives for several weeks.

Supt. Angus B. Rolfwell of Manitowoc public schools Wednesday announced a plan by which North and South pupils will swap high schools and homes. Full details have yet to be worked out between Rolfwell and Dr. Mark Smith, superintendent of schools in Macon.

The only cost to the students will be transportation. Housing and food will be provided at each end by the family adopting a "new" son or daughter.

Churchill Rests At Baruch Home

NEW YORK —(AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill put aside his official duties Thursday and relaxed as a house guest of his 81-year-old friend, financier Bernard M. Baruch.

The 71-year-old British leader, apparently tired from his 18 hours of meetings with President Truman, arrived here from Washington Wednesday night by train. Aides said he planned only to read the newspapers, nap, smoke his long cigars—and take an occasional sip of his favorite brandy.

Baruch told a reporter "no high-powered visitors" are scheduled to call. To give Churchill a chance to rest, Baruch said he planned to go out to tend to his business as usual during the day.

The British prime minister is to leave by Royal Canadian Air Force plane Friday for a four-day round of conferences with Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and other top Canadian officials.

Air Force Sergeant Charged With Assault

AUSTIN —(AP)—Sgt. Charles Meigher was in Travis County Jail Thursday under $20,000 bond to await examining trial on charges of assault with intent to rape an Air Force pilot's wife.

The bond was set Wednesday before U. S. Commissioner Robert Sneed, Jr., after Meigher was turned over to civil authorities by the Air Force.

The alleged assault occurred Christmas Day at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

Examining trial was scheduled January 19.

Meigher, whose home is Waynesburg, Pa., had been stationed at San Marcos Air Force Base since last August.

Final Rites Held For Dr. Bennett

STILLWATER, OKLA.—(AP)—National and state leaders gathered Thursday to pay final tribute to Dr. Henry O. Bennett, Point Four administrator, and his wife, killed December 22 in an Iranian plane crash.

President Truman has designated Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as his personal representative at the rites at Oklahoma A&M College, which Bennett headed 22 years.

A host of other leaders in government, education and religion assembled for the funeral scheduled at 2 p.m.

Pennsylvania Says Ike Will Carry Texas

ATLANTA —(AP)—A Pennsylvania congressman says Texas will be one of several Southern states supporting Eisenhower if the general gets the Republican presidential nomination.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) Wednesday said Virginia, Florida, Texas and Louisiana would abandon the Democratic ranks if the general's name is on the ballot.

Scott added that General Eisenhower's name would be the wedge for the two-party system entering the South.

Scott is a leader in the national Eisenhower-for-president drive.

EMERGENCY TREATMENT
David Barker, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barker, 1100 West Taylor Street, received emergency medical treatment Thursday at Western Clinic-Hospital.

SUFFERS HAND INJURY
M. K. Carroll, 806 East Indiana Street, a mechanic, suffered a hand injury Wednesday. He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

EMERGENCY PATIENT
Roger Burkhalter, 302 West Hart Street, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital Wednesday for a hand and an emergency patient.

Man Named Robert Kendell Winds Calm Down Is Best Friend Of Cats

Happily dreaming cat like this is happy dream of Robert L. Kendell, American Feline Society president. For the sort of cat that makes him unhealthily excited, see the photo below.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Robert Lothar Kendell, the best friend any cat ever had, is a man who believes in letting nature take its course.

As president of the American Feline Society, he directs the bustling cat-adoption service the organization sponsors. Farmers and ranchers sometimes write in with the idea of getting 40 or 50 cats at once. But Kendell opposes such mass adoptions.

"I tell them," he says, "to take a couple. Just two. Cats will have four or five litters a year. There's a man in New Jersey, adopted a pair in 1939. He's gotten 209 descendants. He's very happy."

The adoption service is only one phase of the Society's work, but it is one that is very close to Kendell's heart. He's a short, stocky man with a plug of tobacco in his mouth and a sad expression in his eyes when he talks about the nation's homeless cats.

"People think it's funny when they see pictures or hear jokes about a cat in a garbage pail," he says, emotionally. "But the cat is just plain hungry. I'd like to see any human without any food for awhile, and see who thinks that's funny."

"The cats I get excited about are the ones I hear howling at night. Many of the night I've gotten up at 2 a.m., and gotten something out of the icebox and thrown it overboard. The poor creatures."

"I've seen some of these so-called humane societies take care of homeless cats. At night, rendering truck comes in and picks up the cats they have gassed that day. They shove the poor dead things into the truck. By the shovel full. It's pitiful."

So Kendell makes a big effort to put across the Society's slogan, "Adopt a Cat." Every day's mail brings offers of kittens, and other requests for a cat or kitten. He tries to match them up.

Most people who want a cat are trying to replace one that died, and often will accept nothing but an exact duplicate. Kendell has spent months trying to locate odd requests, like a pair of chocolate tigers or a cat with six toes. He's found them, too.

Filed Carefully

He never sees the cats he finds homes for. It's all done through his file system, which he keeps religiously. Every letter and call—whether it's regarding adoption, or asking a cat question, or making a contribution—is carefully filed somewhere in his cluttered one-room office.

"If someone offers cats for adoption, Kendell carefully finds out all the facts—description, sex, age, housebroken or not, and health. He says there are two simple tests to determine if a cat is healthy."

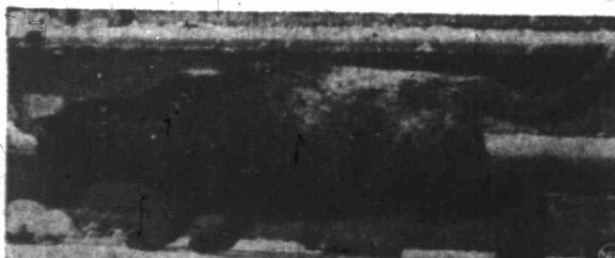

"You look in a cat's eyes and smell its breath. If its eyes are bright and sparkling, and its breath is sweet, the cat is healthy."

One thing annoys Kendell. And that's people who want a cat, but won't take one unless it's marked attractively.

"If a cat has cock-eyed markings—not symmetrical—people just won't take it. But it's just as good a cat, and it will be a good mouster and a fine pet."

Cats, Kendell says, will adjust rapidly to a new environment, especially if they haven't been spayed or neutered. If they have been altered, they sometimes become set in their ways. In new surroundings, they become frightened and hide under furniture. Kendell usually sends along some choice catnip to make these neurotic cats feel at home.

He figures the society places about 800 cats a year, and the number is going up. Running the society and his advertising business at the same time often takes Kendell 16 hours a day, but he loves it.

Homeless cats like this one, sniffing a rubber mouse, make Kendell work overtime to put across "Adopt a Cat" slogan.

45 Crewmen Flee Disabled Freighter In Pacific Storm

SEATTLE (AP)—Forty-five crewmen of the disabled freighter Pennsylvania abandoned the ship Wednesday night, and Thursday ships and airplanes sped to a spot on the storm-rolled waters of the North Pacific where they hope to find the seamen.

The crewmen and their officers left the split-open, water-logged jinx ship at 6:30 p.m. (CST). They apparently preferred fighting mountainous seas and high winds. In their frail life boats remaining on the wallowing, 7,800-ton vessel.

Four terse messages in the space of 25 minutes told of the dwindling hope after 10 hours battling the elements and the hopeless task of regaining control of the ship which was down at the bow and shipping tons of water through a 14-foot crack on its port side.

It was 8 a.m. Wednesday when the ship's master, Capt. George P. Plover of Portland, Ore., radioed the vessel was in trouble. At 2 p.m. he sent an SOS, reporting the crack in the hold and that the ship was taking water.

At 6:05 p.m., the radio reported the steering, which had been out of order, was fixed but useless—the stern was completely out of water.

"It looks like our only hope is for the weather to moderate," the Pennsylvania's radio said and went silent for 17 minutes.

At 6:22 they sent another SOS and said "It looks like we have to abandon ship."

Seven Ships On Way

Five minutes later, "Forty-five persons aboard. Four boats."

And at 6:30 the final dramatic two words: "Leaving now."

Meanwhile, seven ships—the closest some 180 miles distant—began churning toward the spot, 445 miles northwest of the northern tip of Vancouver Island and 600 miles south of Central Alaska's southern coast. It is one of the roughest areas in the Pacific Ocean, mariners say, and the weather Wednesday and Thursday was among the worst in three years.

Four airplanes left during the night from U. S. Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard points. They won't be able to sit down but should reach the isolated spot at daybreak to guide surface vessels and drop such supplies as may be needed, including life rafts and first aid equipment.

The first ship was expected to reach the scene early Thursday afternoon and two more in the next three hours. Whether they would find any or all of the men was only a matter of conjecture. It will take real seamanship to stay afloat in that water, Coast Guard officials said at Seattle.

"We can only surmise that their danger on the ship must have been very great," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "To make them choose the hazardous alternative of going overboard in 45-foot waves."

Piano Instructor Found Dead In Home

WACO (AP)—Lt. Roxy Groves, 62, formerly head of the Baylor School of Music and internationally known piano instructor, was found dead at her home Thursday.

Miss Grove taught piano at Baylor University many years and also in foreign countries.

She was absent from her classes Wednesday, Thursday morning one of her students, John O'Brien, went to her home to see if she was ill and found her body on the bathroom floor.

Officers said she apparently died of natural causes and had been dead 18 to 24 hours. An inquest was ordered.

She was the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Grove of Brownwood. Her father formerly was president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood.

Rotarians Hear Brief Review Of 'Divine Comedy'

Dante's "The Divine Comedy," which he termed one of the great books of all time, was reviewed in a brief but interesting fashion by City Manager W. H. Oswalt at the meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

Oswalt, who was introduced by W. I. Pratt, touched only the high spots in Dante's dream trip through Hell, purgatory and on into Heaven, in his abbreviated review, stressing the fact that Heaven always has been the everlasting hope of man.

"In our spiritual and material life today, we see Heaven as our goal," Oswalt said. "We must realize however that Heaven is not reached in a single bound, but rather that we must build a ladder to Heaven by our good deeds and accomplishments."

Reds Accused Of Scheme To Bolster Forces On Front

MUNSAN, KOREA (AP)—Allied negotiators Thursday accused the Communist of scheming to strengthen their forces in Korea by "forced repatriation" of prisoners of war.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Reds are "scared to death" of giving war prisoners freedom of choice as to whether they want to be repatriated.

He told the Reds that by opposing this principle in the Allied plan they "denounce individual freedom and advocate slavery."

The UN again rejected the Red compromise truce supervision plan because it failed to ban construction and repair of military air fields.

As the armistice talks entered the seventh month, subcommittees on truce supervision and prisoner exchange appeared tightly deadlocked. However, both scheduled meetings at 11 a.m. Friday in Panmunjom.

Newsman—

The wind was quite severe. Our own boat is pitching and heaving in a desperate manner. One of the veteran tugmen aboard the Englishman said, "She looks like a goner to me."

The Enterprise now is taking water into its funnel.

"It can't be long now, since the waters are flooding in," a tugman said.

Men Climb From Water

One man climbed out of the water and up the rope ladder of the tug Turmoil.

In the excitement the tugmen could not say who it was.

Then a second man came out of the water and went up the rope ladder of the Turmoil.

At 3:30 p.m., the Flying Enterprise keeled over on its side.

The vessel made a terrific heave to port and a great mass of debris, which apparently was material from the deck, floated away.

These objects, which seemed to be barrels and other objects, appeared in great profusion.

Some of the accompanying tugs began to sound their sirens.

All ships were close in. The sea was running heavy.

At 3:33 p.m., something else seemed to have broken on the Enterprise. Additional objects were tumbling out and began to float around the ship.

Sinking Stern First

The gallant freighter was going down stern first.

At 3:34 she still was lying on her side.

The men who had been in the water seemed to be wearing life jackets.

Both seemed nimble and able to move freely.

Then the bow began a distinct dip into the sea and the rescue craft moved slowly away from the Enterprise. It seemed only a matter of minutes. That was at 3:38.

From this tug we could hear the wind howling outside.

At 3:40, the last moments of the Enterprise had come. She was lying on her side. The bow was completely under water.

With each wave, it ducked deeper.

The water around the ship seemed fairly to boil up with bits of cargo coming from the open hatches.

Sea Covers Vessel

The sea was washing completely over the vessel.

But it would leave into view again so that between swells perhaps half of its bulk could be seen. Debris already had been scattered to a distance of half a mile around the ship.

As the final moments came The Associated Press tug Englishman hove up as close as it could get.

The Enterprise was going down, stern first. The sea was littered with her cargo.

For a little while she went down more or less evenly, with the bow a few yards out of the water. At the bottom of the swells, both anchors could be seen. Then her stern was well under the water and did not come into view.

About a third of the vessel was visible at seven minutes before 4 p.m.

The one last lifeboat which had been left on the Enterprise drifted off in the sea of litter and cargo.

Just the starboard bow was showing above the heavy seas at 4 p.m.

The Turmoil, with Carlsen and Dancy aboard, hustled off in the direction of Falmouth.

Skipper Almost Wins

The Enterprise, an Isbrandtsen Line vessel, insured for $1,125,000, was enroute from Hamburg, Germany to New York when the Christmas hurricane caught her about 300 miles off England. For days she was adrift with a crack in her hull, and sent an SOS December 28. Then last Saturday, the tug Turmoil began towing her toward shore.

Carlsen and Dancy caught a heaving line after many desperate tries and made it fast, then fastened a towing line. The Enterprise and her dauntless skipper almost won.

But early Wednesday, the 750-yard towing line snapped under the buffeting of the heavy seas. It was the beginning of the end. Evidently the towline had been scraped thin against a sharp surface.

Matters worsened from that moment. The elements were against the courageous skipper. Once again they brought up a storm to thwart him.

Ken Carlsen would not give up. He still his ship's taking water badly, but he huddled with Dancy behind the funnel of the ship, covering before the wind and spray, and still hoped for the best.

Emergency Matter

Daniel said he would give Garrison's request for an opinion on the deadline extension immediate study. He said he considered the present turmoil an emergency matter.

Daniel said it was his duty to interpret the law as written and that he had no power to change it.

Rep. F. H. Sherman of Dallas, one of the authors of the bill which enacted the law, said he believed the deadline could be extended.

Meanwhile, mounting protests continued to pour into the governor's office, the safety department and the homes and offices of state legislators. Some of the latter said they were getting telephone calls by the hundreds protesting the new measure.

Un Raid Blocked By Red Riflemen

SEOUL, KOREA (AP)—Communist riflemen stopped a UN raiding party which stormed up the slopes of a hill northwest of Yonchon in snow-covered Western Korea before dawn Thursday.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the raiders failed to reach the top of the hill. They pulled back after two and one-half hours under heavy mortar fire.

Only light contacts were reported elsewhere on the 145-mile front as snow and fog blanketed Korea.

With targets shrouded, Allied warplanes were mostly grounded.

Dakota Hunter Bags Unusual Waterfowl

ROLLA, N. D. (AP)—Was it a duck that looked like a goose? Or vice versa?

That's what William Kennedy has been asking since he shot an unusual waterfowl near Rolla. The bird weighed six pounds, indicating it may have been closely related to a goose. But it had some markings of mallard ducks, including a green head. The neck and bill were goose-like.

Fire Damages Two Haskell Buildings

HASKELL (AP)—An early morning fire hit two buildings on the courthouse square of this county seat town Thursday causing estimated damage of more than $85,000 before it was extinguished.

The estimates were made by owners of the buildings, which housed five stores and four offices. All of the buildings are located on the northeast corner of the square.

The fire started about 7 a.m., and firemen had the blaze under control at 10 a.m.

None of the stores was declared a total loss by the owners. The fire damaged the Jones Dry Goods Store, the Ross Shoe Store, the Fashion Shop and the Rane Cotton Brokerage office. Offices above the retail establishments also were hit by the blaze.

Two other stores, the Frazier Record and Radio Shop and the Blohm Photo Studio, were damaged by smoke and water, firemen said.

A desert bonanza in California has made the United States suddenly rich in the scarce industrial minerals called the "rare earths."

Nation Heads Back To Country, Taking Jobs, Industry With It

By ALEXANDER SUMNER
President, Natl. Assn. of Real Estate Boards

TEANOCK, N. J. (NEA)—The human race in the United States is reversing its migration for the second time.

In the beginning our ancestors headed for the open, to stake out and develop farms and homesteads. That went on, by diminishing spells and spurts, up into this present century.

The first reversal was the migration from the farm back to the growing city, for better jobs and easier living. That began far back in the last century; the outgoing and incoming streams passed and crossed along the way.

The second reversal is the new trend to move out of the city back to farming but to live better. The new out-migrants are continuing to work at city-type jobs. And the brand new angle is that now they're taking their jobs along with them. In other words, the industries in which they work are migrating with them.

Before World War II this trend was starting before World War II. The war gave it a strong push, with great defense industries building their plants out in former pastures and cornfields.

The workers went along, and it's an old story that when the war ended and their defense jobs tapered off they hunted ways and means to stay—not only in fabulous California but in other areas of comfortable living all over the nation.

Case histories can be had in probably scores of areas of the United States. Naturally I have seen it most in the metropolitan New York area, which now extends far out on Long Island, up into Connecticut and New York State, and into Northern New Jersey.

Travel any of the highways of North Jersey within say 30 miles of New York City, and amidst the woods and hills you find today and endless succession of new industries. They range from small specialized machining plants to huge factories for manufacturing pharmaceuticals or chemicals or assembling automobiles. They're largely one-story and glass-walled, a modern industrial version of the ranch design; they please the eye.

Contagion Process
It's an accelerating process, a contagion. Talks with heads of industries now in New York City and time and again we hear that when their long-term leases expire they, too, will get out. They rationalize it with such arguments as lower land costs, faster truck and rail shipping away from the congestion, lower taxes.

But frequently it develops that some of the company executives have been living in one of the new elbow-room home areas, or some of the key employees—or both. Thus the labor-relations department comes into the picture with the familiar argument of contented workers.

The executives and the employees, since World War II, have been moving "to the country" at a faster pace than ever before in history.

If the new "country" dwellers could not induce their employers to move the job after them, frequently they tired of commuting and found another job close to home with an industry which had moved out, quite a few employers have taken the hint.

Of course there have been complications. Take any rural township which suddenly finds its population multiplied by new home developments. There are sudden and unforeseen new needs for more schools, more policemen and firemen and other public employees, trunk sewers and other utilities—and new tax burdens.

That in itself has been one of the added encouragements to the outward migration of industry. It's not only a case now of bringing the job close to home; it's a matter of acquiring a corporate neighbor who can shoulder much of that new tax load. Combine this with the new eye-appeal of the modern industrial plant, and one after another the localities are taking second thought about "keeping out factories."

All over the country this seems to be the story. One significant corroboration in my own area seems to be the long decline in commuter traffic into New York City. But perhaps the most striking sidelight is the story I just heard from a man who grew up in Minneapolis-St. Paul, has lived in North Jersey for years, and recently had to make a night flight back home.

His first astonishment was the apparently never-ending mass of street, home and industry lights all the way from Idlewild Airport, well out on Long Island, east, north, south and west until well into the center of New Jersey; the lights portrayed a practically solid metropolitan area a good hundred miles across.

But after that came the good-sized groupings of lights at place after place across Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin. When the plane was approaching Minneapolis he kept particular watch—and, he told me, "the town seems to start a good 40 miles east of its old limits; I couldn't believe it."

That's the story throughout our country. We're moving back to the country and taking our jobs with us.

When the East Indian island of Krakatoa blew up on Aug. 27, 1883, 36,000 persons lost their lives, yet there was not a single large town within 100 miles. The sound waves were recorded 3,000 miles away, and ocean waves were raised on the shores of four continents.

OLD GAME
Dice used in modern crap games are almost exactly like those found in tombs of ancient Egypt, classic Greece, or the Far East. Notorious Roman dice were Mary Anthony, Augustus, and Nero, while Caligula often cheated at dice, and Claudius wrote a book on dicing.

NOT STRICTLY FISH EATERS
Research experiments on a Minnesota otter farm show that otters, contrary to common belief, subsist on a diet made up chiefly of crayfish, caddis-flies, and the like, and not of fish, which form only a small part of their diet.

GLOBULAR ENGRAVINGS
Examples of the first engraving on a globular surface done in America are a terrestrial globe made in 1811 and a celestial globe made the following year. These were handmade by James Wilson, Bradford, Vt., who later established the first globe factory in the United States.

MAN OR IMAGE—Is he alive? That's the big question from persons who see the world-famous "Man or Image," lifelike reproduction of a Japanese artist who pulled his own hair, toenails, teeth and fingerprints to use in creating his own image. This is one of many oddities to be seen Saturday and Sunday in the "Believe It or Not" Museum being brought here by the Midland chapter of Disabled American Veterans.

Texas Gets Off To Good Start In 1952 With More Than Its Share Of Wacky Happenings

By The Associated Press
With presidential election year here and international tensions no lighter, Texas was well into the New Year Wednesday with the state's usual wacky news crowding some important developments on the nation scene.
Texas and Louisiana were feuding again. It's not whooping cranes nor is it pelicans this time. Instead it's something more remunerative... an oil well.
The well is under the bed of the Sabine River on the Louisiana-Texas boundary. Texas says the well's hers because the Texas boundary runs smack into the middle of the Sabine.

Texas Pelicans Uphold Tradition Of Lone Star State

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Those four pelicans presented St. James Park, London, by Texas' pelican ambassador from Galveston have perked up and are beginning to uphold the rootin'-footin' tradition of the Lone Star State.
The word has come from J. J. Yealand, London, curator of the birds, to Dr. Hubertus Strughold at the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base.
The birds were reported sluggish and dispirited after Jim Carter, news editor of the Galveston News, left them there several months ago. It was all a matter of time zones, Yealand wrote. The birds just couldn't get used to the five hours difference between Central Standard and Greenwich Time. For a week or two, the pelicans would feel like sleeping late in the morning—while it still was night in Texas—and would want to kick up their heels in the evening when London slept.
They've adjusted now.

Louisiana says 'aint so because Louisiana's boundary runs to the west bank, Texas side, of the river. To top it all, the well has not been drilled yet. The Ohio Oil Company plans to start drilling soon on the west bank and angle its drill stem to a point beneath the river.
So far there has been no bloodshed.

In Fort Worth, Charles Batchelor told police he feels worse than ever after a sort of impromptu treatment of his aching chest. Charley was fixing his backyard fence when a man and woman drove up.
He mentioned his aching chest and the woman said she had remarkable healing powers. She massaged his chest and left.

That's when Charley felt so much worse. He told police a wallet inside his shirt containing $300 left, too.
Another Fort Worth man, Cecil Hood, had an experience slightly similar. Hood collected a $60 check for the first month's rent on an apartment. Next day, his renter was gone. So was an electric refrigerator, two rugs and two tables. And the check bounced.
Ever-Growing Houston

In Houston, the City Council finally conceded Houston hadn't grown so much as the Chamber of Commerce may have you believe.
Lt. Col. Charles Francis, stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J., whose wife comes from Houston, wrote that Mrs. Francis had—by mistake—paid a $5 fine on a traffic ticket last October for an offense allegedly committed while she was driving her mother's car.
That was in August, 1950, the colonel said. And he wrote: "A checkup shows that at the time, the car was in my possession in San Antonio. Either there was one gosh awful mistake or Houston has annexed a helluva lot of territory."
The council voted to remit the five bucks.
And all over the state folks were concerned about getting their cars checked for safety requirements now needed before they can register their autos.

Youth Center Chatter

By GAIL BAKER
Well, back again—but only long enough to say "goodbye" to you all. Yep, I'm leaving again—to go to school at Highland Park Senior High in Dallas. I surely am going to miss all of you; it has been loads of fun writing the Youth Center Chatter for all you MHRers the last year or so.
Nancy Lou Klingler is going to take over again the rest of this year and next, and I am sure she will do a swell job. Many thanks to her for doing so well while I was away over the holidays.
Tuesday afternoon, the seniors held a class meeting at which they decided to have white caps and gowns at their graduation; their class colors were chosen as purple and white.
Orders for graduation invitations for the Class of '52 must be placed by Friday. The invitations and thank you notes for this year surely are pretty.
Oh, dear—exam week is coming up. It doesn't seem like a full semester is almost over, does it? Assembly Program
Friday, the more talented students of Midland High are presenting a paid-assembly for the student body. It promises to be good.
Tuesday in the Center, Agatha Tabor and Barbara McMillan were practicing their Charleston step for the assembly—they're pretty good at it, too!
Tuesday evening "Myri" Baker, our director, Jimmy Adams, Pete English and Stan Coker journeyed to Lubbock to see the Texas Tech Red Raiders play the New Mexico A&M quintet.
The other day we noticed Billy Grissett flying through the halls of MHR. What he was doing here, we do not know—we couldn't stop him long enough!
The annual football banquet for the "A" squad boys and their dates has been set for January 25. Many teenagers—mostly girls—are looking forward to it.
Mr. Baker and Mrs. Bridges tell us they are planning a formal dance—with an orchestra—for Valentine's. It probably will be held February 15.
The Midland "five" will participate in a basketball tournament at Pecos Friday. They are going there to whip the Yalata Indians!
New Curtains Installed
Mrs. Bridges, with the help of some of the girls of the Youth Center, bought some very attractive curtains for the girls' powder room in the Center the other day.
The time again has rolled around for all of us to pay our one dollar Youth Center membership dues. The deadline is February 1. Many members perhaps think dues extend from September to September, but actually the membership year is from January 1 through December 31.
Rings were issued Monday to those seniors who failed to order theirs last Spring.
We didn't say much in the YCC this time, but being that we haven't arrived home Sunday, we only seen or heard a lot of the goings-ons. Hope we didn't leave out too much.
As I said at the beginning of the column, I really am going to miss all you readers. I don't know what it will be like not to have the YCC to be gathering news for. See ya around! Bye, 'bye!

TIDELANDS—Guy C. Jackson, Jr., of Anahuac, has been named chairman of the State-wide Tidelands Committee, and February has been designated as "Tidelands Defense Month" in Texas. During the month the attention of Texans will be called to the Tidelands issue by newspaper advertisements and stories and by other means.

+ Crane News +
CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wetzel have returned from San Angelo where they were called because of the illness of Mrs. Wetzel's mother. They said her condition was improved.
Roy Bush is in Jacksboro because of the illness of his mother. A baby girl, Reyes, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raul Figueroa Sunday while the mother was enroute to Crane Memorial Hospital in the car of Dr. Boyd Nibbin of McCaskey. Both mother and daughter were reported doing fine.
E. H. Brooks of Rankin Saturday had a narrow escape when he was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of his car. Brooks was found by fellow employees who gave him artificial respiration.
To Teach Math
Darrell Warren has accepted a job as mathematics teacher in Crane High School. He will occupy the position which was vacated by Joe Holt recently.
Elementary school students were given square dance instructions recently in the Community Hall. Mrs. Horace Hendricks acted as caller and instructor.
Mrs. Mary Dickerson of Goldthwaite is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. B. F. Ware and family in Crane.
Mrs. Evelyn Weisner and niece, Lantle Tobin, visited in Midland Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Conner.
Lorene Davis of Enid, Okla., will replace Franklin Rainey in the High School English Department at the beginning of the second semester. Rainey offered his resignation several weeks ago to accept a position in San Angelo.
Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stull visited in Midland Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Langford.
Charlie Pausur of Crane visited in San Angelo last weekend.
Mrs. Helen Tobin was hostess recently to the Crane Business and Professional Women's Club in her home. Mrs. Evelyn Weisner, president, presided at the regular business meeting.
Joyce Bright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover J. Bright, has returned to Southern Methodist University after spending the holidays with her parents in Crane.
Lacy Pittman was chosen as a delegate in the band try-outs staged in Midland recently. He will play a french horn in the All-State Band at the Texas Music Educational Association Convention at Mineral Wells in April. Alternates selected were Bobby Robinson tenor saxophone, and Phil Pearce, coronet. Robert Dickason, band director, will accompany Pittman.
Dip your kitchen scissors in water when you are cutting foods such as dates and marshmallows with it. A kitchen scissors is also useful with which to cut parsley fine.

Dancing Fingers All You See Of Troupe

PARIS—(NEA)—The Paris stage, which is famous for its undraped ladies and handsome men, is about to export an act that features nothing but hands. Les Marionettes Joly is the name of the troupe, and all American audiences will see of them are eight hands and an extensive collection of gloves.

Yves Joly, 43-year-old leader of the act, and his three assistants are booked in a New York night club for 10 weeks at $2,400 a week.

"We are all slightly bewildered," says Joly, looking slightly bewildered. "That we shall be making more than three-quarters of a million francs a week seems hardly possible. It is many times we ordinarily expect to make in a year."

The fabulous salary is a tribute to their unusual performance. The audience sees only their hands, decked out in gloves. Sometimes, as in "The Bathers," they peel the gloves off in a sophisticated finger-by-finger striptease. Other numbers are clever hand-ballets, with the eight hands arranging themselves into weird patterns.

The Joly repertoire consists of about 10 sketches and ballets which last from 15 to 30 minutes each. One sketch—"The Circus"—takes more than an hour to perform. The four actors must do their stuff standing up, with their arms upstretched over their heads.

"It requires as much stamina and endurance," says Joly, "as a fast football game."

The Jolys are the modern equivalent of the strolling players of medieval days. Joly and his wife, Andree, were for many years members of a theatrical organization known as the Comedians Routiers (Comedians of the Road).

The Joly family lives in a converted garage, lacking modern conveniences, in the suburb of Neuilly. Here they work, eat, play and sleep in a state of artistic confusion. Joly is his own choreographer as well as carpenter, electric-light specialist and scene decorator.

Up to now they have toured in a wheezy 1920 sedan. There is a trailer for their props which includes a portable stage, lighting equipment, turn-table and scores of records.

The U. S. Army recently engaged the Joly troupe for a one-night stand at Chateauroux. The American GIs proved to be the most enthusiastic audience the Jolys ever entertained.

"We never imagined it would be such a success," Joly says. "We were just a little startled when the boys started whistling and stamping their approval (whistling is the French equivalent of getting the raspberry). It was all very thrilling and exciting."

The only member of the troupe who understands English is Dominique Gimet, the prima ballerina. She will replace Joly's wife, who will stay home with the six Joly children.

Yves Joly and his wife have not even begun to think what they are going to do with their new riches. "First, we will have to wait and see what is left after we have paid for our travel, living and other expenses," Joly points out. "I understand that the cost of living is very high over there."

What you see when Les Marionettes Joly perform an eight-handed ballet are white-gloved dancing fingers like those above. What you don't see are the outstretched arms of the performers, below, working behind and beneath the stage.

Try Spaghetti With Clam Sauce

A LUSCIOUS combination of spaghetti and tomato shrimp sauce is a different way to serve a favorite dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking for a really wonderful spaghetti dish that is different? Then try a favorite Italian way—with clam sauce.

Spaghetti With Clam Sauce
(Makes 4 Servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti, 1/4 cup butter, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1/2 cup clam juice, 1 dozen clams, minced (about 2/3 cup minced clams), 1/2 cup chopped parsley, salt and freshly ground pepper.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a saucepan, melt butter over low heat. Add garlic and cook until golden brown. Add clam juice; cook over low heat 5 minutes. Add clams and parsley; cook 2-3 minutes. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper to taste. Serve over cooked spaghetti.

Here's another seafood variation on the spaghetti theme. Remember, both shrimp and clams are good sources of protein.

Spaghetti With Tomato-Shrimp Sauce
(Makes 6 Servings)

One pound raw shrimp, 1 1/4 cup olive oil, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 6-ounce can tomato paste, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, dash hot sauce, 2 tablespoons salt, 4-6 quarts boiling water, 1 pound spaghetti.

Shell raw shrimp, remove the black vein and set the shrimp aside. In a saucepan, heat olive oil. Add garlic and saute until garlic becomes lightly colored.

Add tomatoes, tomato paste, 2 teaspoons salt, oregano and Tabasco; stir well. Cook over low heat 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in shrimp; continue cooking 3 minutes. Serve sauce over cooked spaghetti.

To cook spaghetti, add 2 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

CHEAP RECRUITING AT U OF TEXAS

AUSTIN—(AP)—The University of Texas points with pride in these days of recruiting to the fact that one of its star football players cost a penny post card.

He is Harley Sewell, termed by line coach J. T. King as "the best defensive lineman ever to play in the Southwest." Sewell is a 220-pounder from St. Jo, Texas. He's a junior.

Former Coach Blair Cherry sent Sewell a post card, offering him a scholarship.

If ice trays stick in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator, coat the bottom with olive oil.

ARCTIC BUTTERFLIES

There are butterflies in the Arctic and, because of the short Summers there, they spend two Summers and a Winter as caterpillars, and another Winter in the pupal stage.

HINT TO DOG LOVERS

Small pups do not require a lot of drinking water as much of their regular food has liquids in it. Too much water causes digestive trouble. Offer a pup water not more than three or four times a day.

Big Benefits Shown By Cancer Clinic

KINGSTON, N. Y. — One reason so many die of cancer is that so many have no place for treatment.

This fact is one of the first lessons from the new Ulster County Tumor Clinic, established here two years ago, in a small, new building equipped for cancer.

This is the first small community in the United States to set up its own complete cancer service. Kingston is within three, easy hours travel of the great New York city cancer clinics. Presumably anyone that close can get whatever is needed for cancer.

But in the first 22 months of the Ulster clinic, the number of cancer cases in the county increased 44 per cent. That did not mean a real increase. It meant simply that many persons, who feared they had cancer, could not, or would not go to New York because it was too far or too expensive.

In the 22 months 249 persons visited the clinic. Only six per cent were from outside the county. Of the total 227 had cancer. Included were 20 child visitors and two of them had cancer.

In the clinic's second year, the number of visitors who feared cancer almost doubled over the first year's rate. What benefit did the cancer patients get?

"I firmly believe," says the director, Dr. Milton M. Grover, Jr., who trained in New York's Memorial Hospital cancer center, "that by far the greater majority of the cancer cases have been helped either in relief or alleviation of symptoms, or improvement in general well being. It is impossible to determine how many lives have been saved. Five years is the minimum survival period for a cancer case to be considered arrested. However, I am certain that many lives have been prolonged."

Two-thirds of those who had no cancer had other troubles which were treated with the clinic's X-rays.

The clinic cost $750,000. Of this $300,000 was contributed by Ulster taxpayers. The rest was from the federal Hill-Burton Act for hospital aid. The upkeep comes from gifts and fees.

When this clinic was built the county authorities had the choice between the clinic and a new county building which was badly needed.

The personnel of the clinic are the radiologist-director, a surgical consultant from New York who spends one day a week at the clinic, and three registered nurses. And a number of Kingston physicians who take part. The hospitals here take cancer cases as the physicians and patients wish. And New York is available for those who desire and have the money or other means of going there.

Broiled Sweetbreads Make Delicious Party Dish

BROILED SWEETBREADS on broiled pineapple slices and ham makes a delicious combination, and a wonderful party dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Broiled sweetbreads make a wonderful party dish. They can be prepared ahead of time and rushed under the broiler at the last moment.

Broiled Sweetbreads on Ham (4 servings)

One pair of calf sweetbreads, about 1 pound, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash nutmeg, 4 thin slices cooked ham, about 1/2 pound; 4 slices canned pineapple, 8-ounce can.

Cook sweetbreads as soon as possible after purchase, defrosting partially before cooking, if necessary. Drop sweetbreads into enough boiling water to float them freely. Bring to boil again and simmer gently for 15 minutes. Drain immediately and plunge into ice water to cool.

Remove membranes with a sharp knife, or slip off with fingers under water. Cut out any dark veins. Drain, well. Keep in refrigerator until ready to use.

Blend together the fat and kitchen bouquet, then stir in the lemon juice, salt and nutmeg. Arrange slices of ham on greased, pre-heated broiling pan. The slices should be about 4 inches square. Divide sweetbreads into four equal portions and place one piece in center of each slice of ham.

Drain the pineapple and halve each slice. Place a half slice of pineapple on either side of the sweetbread, on each slice of ham. Brush kitchen bouquet mixture over tops of sweetbreads and pineapple.

Place in pre-heated broiling compartment and broil 4 inches from moderate heat until thoroughly hot and lightly browned (about 10 minutes). Remove from broiler and serve immediately in shallow heated ramekins.

Home furnishing specialists recommend washing a wall at the bottom and then proceeding upward. This prevents streaking which occurs when water runs down over a soiled surface.

Coffee stains are quickly cleaned from the inside of pots and glass coffee makers by thoroughly washing them in a baking soda solution. Use one tablespoon to a cup of water.

Capital Off To A Low-Proof Winter As The Word Goes Out For Quiet Season

Faifty time in Washington: Soviet Embassy celebration of the 1917 revolution started off the capital's Winter social whirl with a party for 800 guests. Here they mingle under Stalin's picture. Outlook is that rest of season, however, will be a very staid affair by comparison.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— This town's big Winter social season now getting under way is expected to be strictly staid and low-proof if the Democrats have their way.

Politics, the President moving back into the White House, and the foreign diplomatic set breaking down under the torrid post-war party pace, are given as the reasons for the expected new order of things.

Administration big shots, it is said, have become worried over what effect reports of the drinking and partying that goes on among government officials has had on voters around the country. Thus the word is out to the wives of the officials who do most of the party throwing to put a plug in the likker barrel.

Worried About Effect

A presidential election year is coming up and the party strategists don't want the electorate to get the idea that the government is being run from cocktail parties or the night club which is built into Gwynn Fairbanks' home. They're worried enough about what effect the recent exposures of corruption and influence peddling has had on the voter.

According to the social experts, the completion of the renovation of the White House provides the perfect chance for bringing more dignity and sobriety to Washington's social life. Traditional protocol rules that the White House should set the pace and party mood of the city.

However, Mrs. Truman's past unwillingness to do much entertaining, and abandonment of even the established White House functions since the mansion has been closed for repairs, has opened the door for one and all to try to set the pace. And a terrific pace has been set in the ensuing race for hostess honors.

To Be Changed

When the First Family moves back into the renovated mansion soon after the first of the year, all that is expected to be changed, Mrs. Truman will have to renew the old schedule of dinners, receptions and teas. And the conservative type affairs which she will probably throw will then set the pattern for the rest of the hostesses, the experts claim.

If it works out that way it will come as a great relief to many members of the diplomatic corps who have been unhappy about the

A-BOMB CARRIER—This photograph of the Air Force's eight-jet, heavy bomber, the Boeing XB-55 "Stratofortress," has just been released in Washington. The long-range experimental bomber is equipped with eight Pratt and Whitney turbo-jet engines. Air Force Secretary Thomas Finletter says this photo shows the least possible information that could be of value to the enemy. He asked news photographers and the public to refrain from taking other pictures of the atomic-bomb carrier.

Sheets and pillowcases will keep from turning gray or yellow if an occasional treatment with a good household bleach is used.

Each time you wash your shower curtain, drop the plastic or metal curtain hooks right into the soap-suds, too. Rinse and wipe them dry.

Small grease fires may be extinguished by pouring baking soda over the burning area. Never use water. It will only spread the fire.

Store sheets and pillowcases in a dust-free closet or chest, away from medicines, polishes and disinfectants.

If you prize a valuable fragile lace party cloth, haste it to a sheet before washing to minimize the strain on delicate threads.

Sukiyaki Is Tasty Budget Dish

SUKIYAKI HAWAIIAN STYLE made easily at home in a chafing dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When your food budget is strained and there's a company for dinner, turn to Far Eastern cookery, for a taste treat, and also food for conversation. This Japanese Sukiyaki is as thrifty as it is delicious. If you have a chafing dish, you can prepare it right at table, the way you see it done in the better Oriental restaurants in this country.

Sukiyaki Hawaiian Style
(4 servings)

Three tablespoons cooking oil, 1 2 pound lean pork thinly sliced, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 medium onion, sliced, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms, 1 cup diagonally sliced celery, 1 1/2 cups thinly sliced white radishes or small turnips, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon ginger.

Place oil in frying pan. Add pork which has been thinly sliced across the grain of the meat. Let cook until nearly done and lightly browned (about 6-8 minutes). Add minced garlic and onion which has been halved then cut in slivers lengthwise. Continue cooking for about 5 minutes.

Stir in kitchen bouquet, then add contents of can of mushrooms, celery, radishes, salt and ginger. Cover and let cook for 10 minutes. Serve with fluffy cooked rice.

Serve a simple fruit ambrosia for dessert following your sukiyaki. Pass crisp plain sugar cookies or Oriental almond cookies if you can get them in your neighborhood.

Oriental Ambrosia
(4 servings)

Two tangerines, 2 bananas, coarsely diced, 2 slices canned pineapple, diced, 1 2 cup sliced preserved kumquats, 2 tablespoons sliced preserved ginger (optional), 1 2 cup moist shredded coconut, 1 4 cup pineapple juice.

Peel and section tangerines. Halve sections, removing any seeds. Place in a bowl and add the remaining ingredients. Toss lightly together with fork to mix thoroughly. Cover and chill well until ready to serve.

violently informal and racy atmosphere of the city since about the start of World War II.

One important embassy official put it this way:

"If you were to try to go to all of the parties to which you are invited you and all the members of your staff would end up alcoholics. As it is you don't have time for business because of the entertaining. And it wouldn't be so bad but most of the affairs you have to go to are what you Americans call rat races."

Reveals Changes

A survey of some of the town's hostesses and embassy social secretaries reveals several changes they would like to see made in the current pattern of party giving and going in Washington under the new order of the day.

Invitations to most cocktail parties read "from 5:30 to 7:30." However, if they are to be considered successful, the last guest usually staggers out about three in the morning. There is an almost unanimous urge among hostesses to have cocktail parties break up at least before midnight.

One of the most annoying habits among invited guests is to go to a party and bring along two or three uninvited friends. It is hoped that guests will limit themselves to bringing only one friend henceforth.

Other hoped-for changes include the desire to have guests show up reasonably on time and sober, the necessity for hostesses to at least have met persons once or twice before they invite them to their homes, and an abandonment of the practice of getting blotto before going home.

Russian Menu Leaves GI's Stomach Flat

AP Newsfeatures

HONOLULU — "This stuff," said one GI as he dipped black bread into a plate of borscht, "is for Russians and officers—not for us walking soldiers."

He was facing a standard Russian Army meal, his second of the day, with a third to come.

It was all part of the Army's plan to acquaint training soldiers at Schofield Barracks with the food the Russian soldier eats all the time.

One day during each training period the GI's get a Russian breakfast, Russian lunch and Russian dinner. The post exchanges are closed to keep them from slipping out and augmenting the simple fare.

Here's A Day's Menu

For breakfast, Army cooks dish up pea soup with meat, rice porridge with boiled peas, black bread and tea.

Lunch was borscht with boiled potatoes, sour cream and more black bread.

Dinner brought vegetable-macaroni soup, fish stew, with boiled cabbage, tea and black bread.

The reactions were mixed. Some of the soldiers actually enjoyed this stuff. Pvt. Robert Bennett of Kittanning, Pa., came back for seconds. Others did too.

"The bread is pretty tasty although it could use some butter," Bennett said. "And the borscht is not bad. But I think it would get pretty monotonous eating it all the time."

Not Like Mom's Cooking

Pvt. Kenneth W. Flynn, Mt. Olive, Miss., said "it beats nothing."

But Pvt. William Bennett of Superior, Wis., puddled around in his food and gave it up.

Sgt. Robert Kahuna of Laie, Oahu, who supervised the cooking of the meals, said he had to throw most of the breakfast away.

"They came in, looked, and went out," he said.

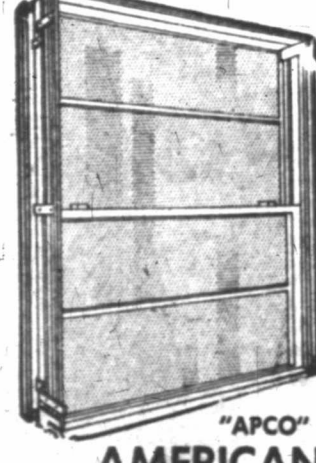

"But by dinner the boys had worked up an appetite and put it away pretty good."

Kahuna said the regular menu for the day had called for cream-chipped beef on toast for breakfast, roast chicken for lunch and curried veal for dinner.

The Russian meal idea started at Schofield several months ago when Secretary of the Army Frank Pace looked at the wide variety of foods ordinarily served American soldiers and wondered out loud how they would take to standard Russian fare.

Intelligence produced the menus and the cooks got to work.

Total Of 43 Explorations Scheduled In 20 Counties

The 43 new locations for oil and gas explorations reported last week to the Midland office of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas were divided among 20 counties in district 8. There were seven wildcats included in the list.

Midland and Pecos Counties lead the list of field locations with seven new projects each. Scurry County followed with four new locations. Drilling was established for two new locations in each of Andrews, Fails, Glasscock and Howard counties.

The remaining new projects were distributed one each to Cochran, Dalson, Ector, Gaines, Garza, Kent, Mitchell, Nolan and Terry counties. Andrews, Borden, Crockett, Culberson, Kent, Pecos and Scurry counties each reported a new wildcat location.

New 1952 Model Studebaker Goes On Display In Midland

The new 1952 model Studebaker, featuring numerous style changes and innovations, went on display Thursday at the Broadway Motors, 125 West Missouri Street, here.

The "Starliner," a five-passenger, hardtop convertible, is the pace car for the 1952 models.

This newest body style by Studebaker is offered in both the Champion and Commander lines, and is available in eleven different two-tone color combinations and two upholstery options. The "Starliner" typifies, both outside and inside, the striking design and appointments of Studebaker's entire series of new models.

Externally, the '52 Studebakers reveal entirely new front-end treatment and substantial re-styling in the rear. Hoods are longer and lower with new emblems and ornaments. Grilles embody wrap-around styling and stand out as the most distinctive front-end features of the new models. The massive wrap-around bumpers are equipped with four vertical guards.

The most significant changes in the rear are found in the tail lights and trunk lid handles. The tail lights, which appear to be integral parts of the rear fenders rather than "added-on" assemblies, give effect of extending the sweep of the fenders and thus a corresponding increase in body length.

Surer Brake Action
Surer, yet softer and easier brake action has been achieved by changes in the brake pedal linkage, the adoption of floating rear shoes in all brakes, and brake linings with greater resistance to "fading."

Other innovations include instrument panel push button starting on all models equipped with automatic drive, a new type of starter for the Commander which is held in positive engagement until the engine is fully operating, moisture-proof ignition systems, and a boost in the generator output to 45 amperes on both the Champion and Commander.

Eleven solid color choices are available in addition to the eleven two-tone combinations offered for the "Starliner." These include four new hues: Cuban red, nocturns blue, Tahoe green, and Piedmont gray.

Such well-established Studebaker features and options as automatic transmission, overdrive, hill-holder, one-piece windshield, Climatizer and others are continued.

THE NEW STUDEBAKER—Principal exterior changes of Studebaker's new 1952 models include entirely new front-end treatment, redesigned trunk lid handles and tail light. Numerous other innovations are noted in the striking design and appointments of the new models. The 1952 Studebaker Land Cruiser is pictured.

Baste Squash With Molasses

ACORN SQUASH stuffed with seasoned buttered bread cubes is a tempting dish to serve company.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Winter squash is a popular cold season vegetable. A Hubbard squash, weighs about 5 pounds or more and a butternut squash between 2 and 3 pounds.

Those little round squash, deep green on the outside and golden inside are perfect for the small family. A small acorn squash serves one but a large one serves two.

To cook acorn squash, cut in half, scoop out fibres and seeds, sprinkle with salt and brush with melted butter or fortified margarine. Bake, cut side down, in moderately hot oven until soft, from 35 to 45 minutes. Turn cut side up, put small pat of butter or margarine in, grease rims and bake until nicely browned.

Baked Stuffed Squash
Two large acorn squash, 2 tablespoons fortified margarine or butter, 1 small onion, minced, 3 cups soft bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 teaspoon paprika.

Wash squash and cut in half. Scoop out seeds and stringy fibre. Turn squash upside down in greased baking pan. Bake at 375 degree F. (moderate oven) 15 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan. Add onion and cook until onion is soft. Stir in bread crumbs. Season with salt and pepper. Remove squash from oven, turn right side up and fill with stuffing. Sprinkle with paprika. Return to oven and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer or until squash is tender. Another stuffing is stewed tomatoes, onions and green peppers or creamed ham.

Baked Winter Squash
(Serves 4)
One medium size squash, 1 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons New Orleans type molasses, 1 1/2 teaspoons hot water, 4 tablespoons butter.

Wash squash; quarter; remove seeds. Cook in boiling salted water several minutes. Peel. Place squash in baking dish; mix salt, sugar, molasses and hot water; pour over squash. Dot with butter. Bake at 350 degree F. (moderate oven) 55 minutes, or until tender. Baste often.

Francene Pearce Featured Soloist

GRANE—Francene Pearce, whose mother is a teacher in the Crane elementary school, will be a featured soloist with the North Texas State College School of Music when it presents a program in the high school auditorium here at 2:45 p.m. January 16.

Known throughout the South and Midwest, the musical organization has presented programs, not only in Texas, but in the neighboring states of Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

The program is sponsored by the senior class.

Fortunately, when orange, grapefruit, and tomato juice are canned, almost all of their vitamin C is protected. We need to have adequate amounts of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) daily since our bodies do not store it.

Korean Casualties Show 345 Increase

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties in Korea reached 104,084 Wednesday, an increase of 345 since last week.

The Defense Department's weekly summary, based on notifications to families through last Friday, reports 71 killed in action, 284 wounded and 29 missing.

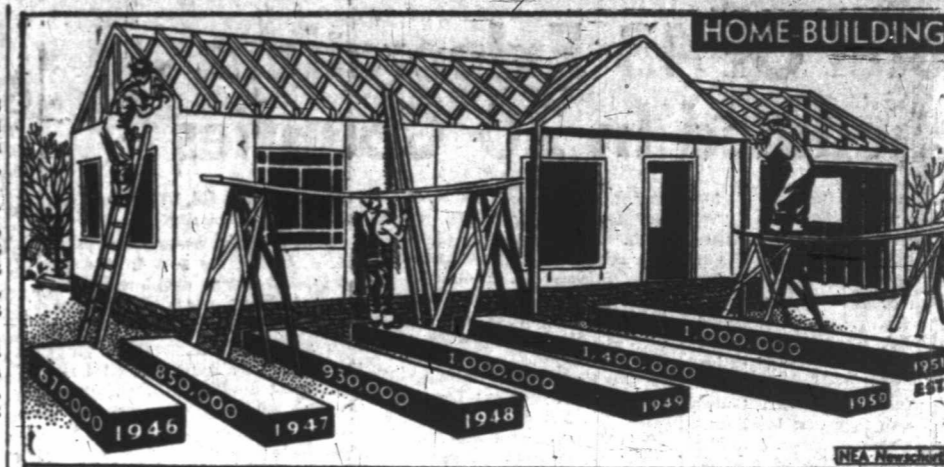

Following is a breakdown of the new casualties by services: Army 319; Air Force, two and Marine Corps, 24.

WHOLESALE FOOD PRICE INDEX DECLINES AGAIN
NEW YORK—(AP)—Wholesale food prices dipped this week to the lowest level since mid-November, 1950, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index.

At $8.81, the index compared with $8.84 last week and was 5.8 per cent below the year-ago week's $7.82.

The home building boom continued through 1951, with production of slightly over 1,000,000 housing units. The Newschart above shows new-housing total for each post-war year. When all data are in, 1951 is expected to go down as the second biggest year in U. S. home-building history, in spite of the sharp cutback from 1950's record 1,400,000 units. Builders hope 1952 will boom, too, with at least 850,000 new homes and apartments expected to go up in the next twelve months.

Baked Peach Custards
Broadcast: January 19, 1952

1 cup drained, sliced peaches
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1/2 cup Pe Mill butter
1 1/2 tablespoons vanilla
1/4 cup peach juice
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
1/4 cup sugar

Grease 4 large custard cups holding about 1/2 cup each. Put equal parts of peaches in bottom of cups. Put butter and vanilla into bowl. Mix in, about 2 tablespoons at a time, a mixture of sugar, flour and salt. Beat until smooth after each addition. Then add egg yolks one at a time and beat hard. Stir in gradually a mixture of milk and peach juice. Fold in egg whites. Pour mixture over peaches in cups. Set in pan holding about 1/2 inch of hot water. Bake in a slow oven (325°-35 minutes, or until firm. Cool. Makes 4 servings.
