Truman Budget Totals 85 Billions

Plea For Tax Boosts, Fair Deal Subdued

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Monday sent Congress an $85,444,000,000 spending budget, an unprecedented figure except in all-out war. He said it was "a heavy burden . . . the price of peace."

To lawmakers talking loudly of economy in this election year, the President outlined an $11,000,000,000 expansion in armed forces spending to more than $51,000,000,000, including a start on building the Air Force from 90 wings to 143.

How Budget Dollars Are To Be Spent

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here's how President Truman plans to divide each dollar of the $85,444,000,000 spending budget he proposes for the 12 months beginning next July 1:

	Cents
Military services	60
International affairs (including foreign aid)	13
Veterans benefits, pensions, etc.	5
Social Security-health-welfare	3
Natural resources, including atomic energy	4
Interest on federal debt	7
Other	8
Total	$1.00

President Proposes Billion-Dollar Slash In Veterans' Cash

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman proposed to Congress Monday a war veterans' budget trimmed by almost a billion dollars.

The cost: an estimated $4,197,000,000 compared with $5,166,000,000 estimated for the current year.

At the same time he cautioned that "further large declines in veterans' outlays are unlikely."

The sharpest slash was in readjustment benefits—education and training programs, unemployment and self-employment allowances and the like—and in insurance outlays.

There was a $75,000,000 provision, however, for a new and better GI bill program for veterans "since Korea."

General Tightening
In tightening up on general services to veterans, the President said:

"The chief responsibility of the government is to give medical care to veterans who have been injured in the service, to assist them to assume their place in society as productive and self-reliant citizens, and to give necessary aid to the families of veterans deceased or injured from service causes."

"The needs of veterans and their families not resulting directly from military service can be best met through the welfare programs serving the whole population."

"These programs have been expanded and improved in recent years. Only the special and unique needs of servicemen and their dependents arising directly from military service should be provided for in special veterans' programs."

Howard Rent Controls Are Effective Monday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rent controls become effective Monday in Howard County, Texas.

The Office of Rent Stabilization, announcing this Monday, said the action was taken because of increased demand for housing by military personnel.

Maximum rents in Howard County will be those charged on Dec. 1, 1951.

Egyptians Say British Killed Nun

By TOM STONE
ISMAILIA, EGYPT—(AP)

The U. S. consul from Cairo arrived here Monday for an on-the-spot investigation of the slaying of an American nun, the first American casualty in the bloody Suez fighting.

British officials said Egyptian "thugs" were responsible for the slaying of Sister Anthony, 32, born Brigitte Ann Timbers at Peekskill, N. Y. But Egyptian officials asserted British rifle fire killed her as she stepped from her convent door Saturday with other nuns to welcome a British tank detachment.

As British troops virtually completed their task of clearing out the Agha quarter of this Suez Canal Zone center, a private requiem mass was held for Sister Anthony. U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery in Cairo said her death is a matter of "grave concern" to the United States.

Conflicting Versions
Caffery sent Lamar Mulliner, the U. S. consul in Cairo, to investigate. Mulliner had these conflicting versions before him:

The British Army issued an announcement saying one of a group of Egyptian "thugs" was responsible for putting a bullet through the nun's heart. They said the Egyptians invaded the convent garden to throw bombs at the British. The British claimed to have eyewitnesses.

But the Egyptians declared a British bullet killed the nun. There was evidence British rifle fire was directed at the convent.

This correspondent saw at least 12 bullet marks on the front wall of the convent behind which Sister Anthony was standing when she was shot, although Sunday night's British communiqué said there were no bullet marks.

Nuns said both British and Egyptian bullets had come into the convent compound before the mother superior appealed to the British to come to their aid.

Allies Accuse Reds Of Violating Rules For Truce Convoys

MUNSA, KOREA—(AP)—The UN Command Monday said Allied jets, without meaning to, may have attacked a Communist truce convoy on the Kaesong-Pyongyang highway Friday.

At the same time, the Allies accused the Reds of violating the agreement guaranteeing freedom from attack to one northbound and one southbound convoy daily.

These developments came as subcommittees working on a Korean armistice again reported no progress.

The UN acknowledged that four planes bombed and strafed a bridge and anti-aircraft positions near where the Reds said a plainly marked convoy of two trucks and a jeep was hit.

No Vehicles Sighted
Pilots who took part in the attack said they sighted no vehicles in the area, reported Marine Col. James C. Murray, UN staff officer who investigated.

Murray added that if the convoy were stopped or parked in shadows it might have escaped observation.

He declared that if a Red truce convoy were in violation of the agreement permitting a limited number of vehicles to travel between the North Korean capital, Pyongyang, and Communist truce headquarters at Kaesong.

A properly marked southbound convoy of one jeep and one truck was sighted in the area three hours before the attack began, Murray said.

Bissell said only a limited number of tickets are available and they will be sold on a first come-first served basis. They are priced at $2.50 each.

D. A. Hukly of Dallas, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the annual event.

Pete Madison Dean Caswell, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Caswell, 311 West New York Street, died unexpectedly Saturday night.

The body has been forwarded to San Angelo where funeral rites were to be held Monday.

Governor Shivers Attends Neff Rites

The governor's office was to be closed at 3:30 p. m. in honor of Neff's memory, Shivers announced.

TOO MUCH 'FAT ON THE HOG'—The Chicago regional Office of Price Stabilization charges that a score of Midwestern meat packers have been violating the law by selling millions of dollars worth of excess fat on their pork. Chicago OPS Director Michael Howlett, above, measures the fat on a pork loin to see if it violates regulations specifying no more than one-half inch of fat. Close-up at right shows what OPS calls a properly trimmed pork loin, left, and one with too much fat.

Baptists Get Green Light On Building

The First Baptist Church of Midland has received NPA approval to proceed with its new $1,000,000 church building program. Ernest T. W. Neill, chairman of the steering committee of the church's building committee, announced Monday.

The official National Production Authority statement announcing approval of the church's application for 321 tons of structural and reinforcement steel and other critical materials was received late Sunday from Washington.

Neill said plans for the new church plant are nearing completion and that construction is expected to be underway by April 1. Some contracts will be ready for letting within the next week or 10 days, he predicted.

Four Quarterly Allotments
The steel allotments are issued for the first, second, third and fourth quarters of 1952, Neill stated.

The new church will be erected on property acquired by the church last year at the corner of Louisiana and Garfield Streets, immediately west of the Sam Houston Elementary School.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor, said the huge building will be of Mediterranean-style architecture. Mark Lemmon of Dallas is the architect.

The property now occupied by the church at the corner of Main and Illinois Streets in downtown Midland was purchased last year by Federated Department Stores, Inc. (Continued On Page Seven)

Three Negroes Face Charges After Raid On Greenwood Club

Around and around she goes. And where she stops, nobody . . . Well, nobody had a chance to find out because the Texas Ranger arrived about that time.

Without wasting any time, tall Texas Ranger John Wood walked right in to the Greenwood Colored Country Club, seized an assortment of gambling equipment and arrested three negroes.

Two negroes were charged with gambling Monday and the third charged with violation of state liquor laws.

The raid took place Saturday at the club just outside the eastern city limit of Midland.

Free-Wheeling Clock
The main attraction at the place was a brightly lighted clock which operated every 45 seconds. The hand would spin rapidly 13 seconds and then come to rest on one of the numerals of the clock face.

The player with the money on that number was the lucky one. "But," explained Wood, "he was a sucker, too. They were paying off only eight-to-one and the chances, of course, were 12 to 1 against the hand pointing to any number."

Accompanied by an agent of the Liquor Control Board, Wood said a quantity of whisky also was found in the place.

The ranger said the charter to the club was held by two white men.

Five Men Survive Mercy Plane Crash

PORT ANGELES, WASH.—(AP)—Five crewmen of a 3-17 mercy plane Sunday survived the crash of their ship on an Olympic Peninsula peak and a 1,300-foot plunge down the snow-covered slope.

Three other men, presumably thrown from the plane during its plunge, were listed as missing. A para-medical team of four pressed a search for them.

The four-engined search and rescue plane was returning from the scene of a British Columbia plane crash Saturday night when it clipped the top of 6,339-foot Tyler Peak in a blinding snowstorm.

The ship bounded over the peak and skidded through heavy snow down to the 5,000-foot level. Search planes located the wreckage Sunday.

Only two of the survivors required hospitalization and they had only cuts and bruises. They were the pilot, Capt. Casimir F. Hybki, 31, of Tacoma, Wash., and the crew chief, Sgt. Carl E. Scargall, 22, Tillamook, Wash.

Captain Hybki said the crash came just five minutes after the crew had obtained the last "fix" on their position.

"The air was turbulent" said the pilot, "losing the plane up 700 to 800 feet at times. A blinding snowstorm prevented seeing the mountain." (Continued On Page Seven)

Dimes Contributions Growing, But Still Far Short Of Goal

Contributions are picking up some, but Midland County still is far from its $18,500 goal, James L. Daugherty, campaign chairman, said Monday as the drive entered its final two weeks stretch.

"So far," Daugherty said, "we are making fairly good progress, but we cannot afford to become complacent about a drive in which so much money is needed, until it definitely tops all previous results."

"This is a crucial year. The March of Dimes faces its greatest task in its 13-year history. A tremendous patient load has drained funds of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for four successive years."

"Every dollar, every dollar given to the 1952 March of Dimes is needed to back up our pledge that no infantile paralysis patient need go without the best available care for lack of funds."

He said letters and coin folders have been mailed to thousands of Midland citizens.

"The success of the campaign now is up to the residents of this prosperous and progressive city," he declared.

"Mail your contributions to March of Dimes, P. O. Box 3000, Midland, Texas, today, please."

The shipment included 11,140 passenger car license plate sets and 8,000 for commercial vehicles.

Midland Marine Returns From Korea

Sgt. Harvey Robinson Hardison of the U. S. Marines is on his way home.

Son of Mrs. Harvey Hardison, 3200 Outhurst Street, Sergeant Hardison arrived in San Francisco over the weekend, after 13 months in Korea, and is expected to reach Midland within the next few days.

He has been in the Marine Corps the last seven years, spent 19 months in the South Pacific during World War II and was one of 10 Texas Marines chosen to participate in the Operations Crossroads at Bikini.

$150 Talk Brings Plenty Of 'Savvy'

The bewildered-looking Latin American showed up in Corporation Court Monday to answer a charge of drunkenness.

"Do you speak English?" asked Judge Fred Hartman.

"No savvy," answered the man, shrugging his shoulders.

"Well, I think I'll fine you $150 just for not being able to speak English," said the judge.

"No, judge, that's too much," protested the defendant.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $20.

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff, 80, Texas Educational, Church Leader, Is Dead

WACO—(AP)—Former Gov. Pat Morris Neff, 80, outstanding Texas political, educational, church and fraternal figure for 50 years, is dead.

The colorful, white-haired Neff died Sunday after suffering a heart seizure.

"He is the last of a group of giants who blessed this state in so many ways," said Dr. W. R. White, who succeeded Neff as Baylor University president in 1948.

Mrs. Neff said the former governor complained of a pain in his shoulder Saturday night. At 8:30 a. m. Sunday she found him in his room suffering a heart seizure.

When a doctor arrived 30 minutes later, the man who was governor from 1921 to 1925 was dead.

Funeral services were scheduled at 3:30 p. m. Monday in the First Baptist Church of Waco, presided over by Dr. White and the pastor, Dr. Forrest C. Peacor. Interment was to be by the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas in a Waco cemetery.

Neff's giant political stature was recognized throughout the South-west. An ardent worker for anything he felt would benefit Texas, he was also a devout Baptist and a strong prohibitionist.

Pat Morris Neff
In Austin, Gov. Allan Shivers said:

"Texas has lost not only a revered elder statesman, but also a notable symbol of integrity in the conduct of public affairs."

He loved people . . . Kids who helped around the State Capitol, college students and his colleagues in politics and school and church. His memory for faces and names was amazing.

One boy he knew as a doorkeeper in the State Senate in 1920, he called "senator" when he found him working as a filling station attendant years later.

Even after his retirement Neff refused to put aside public contacts. They were legion. Once he explained that his downtown office "is to keep them from arresting me for vagrancy."

Imposing in appearance, he "looked like a governor." His shock of iron gray hair, his white wing collar, wide black hat and black string bow ties added to his distinguished appearance.

As large in physical stature as in public esteem, Neff liked to boast that he never had touched alcohol, tobacco, coffee or tea.

Senator Connally, an old friend and Baylor classmate of Neff, liked to say, "Pat never drank anything stronger than Brazos River water."

Born in the Central Texas Blacklands near McGregor, Nov. 26, 1871, he was the son of Noah and Isabelle. (Continued On Page Five)

Recovery was 630 feet of slightly mud cut salt water and 5,400 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Top of Pay Picked
Electric logs surveys picked the top of the reef to be at 10,247 feet. Elevation is 3,205 feet. That gives the project a datum of minus 6,942 feet on the top of the reef.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 148, block T, D&W survey. It is three miles northeast of the Whitman-Wolfcamp field and six miles west and slightly south of the Brownfield, South-Canyon field.

Light Rains Tease Texas Farmers, Fail To Relieve Drouth

By The Associated Press

Light rains fell over the eastern half of Texas early Monday and tantalized farmers—but brought little relief from the drouth.

The rains were produced from warm, moist gulf air rolling inland over the top of colder surface air.

The rainfall deficiency over most of the state during the last 15 months has left soil without enough ground moisture for planting, while pasture lands are parched.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said rainfall in the Dallas area since Oct. 1, 1950, has been 15.23 inches below normal.

Monday's biggest rain was 45 inch at Texasana. Other totals include 22 at Dallas, Palestine, 23, College Station, 16, Fort Worth, 20, Mineral Wells, 20, San Antonio, 27, Wichita Falls and Houston, 22, and Palacios, 11.

West Texas Showers
Traces of rain fell at Waco, Beaumont, Del Rio, Lufkin, Alice and Tyler.

Minimum temperatures early Monday ranged from a low of 33 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart to a 71 at Victoria.

West Texas showers Sunday included .03 inch at Abilene, .01 at Big Spring, .02 at El Paso and Presidio, and .16 at Marfa. Traces of rain fell at Midland and other points.

Sunday temperatures, especially in South Texas, again were record breaking. San Antonio's new mark was 81 degrees, but was cool compared to Laredo's hot 88.

Seven Airlift Survivors Describe Battle For Life In North Pacific Waters

MCCORD AIR FORCE BASE, WASH.—(AP)—Seven survivors told Sunday of praying in unison as they watched 26 passengers of a crash-landed Korean airlift plane swept one by one to their deaths in icy North Pacific seas.

One soldier told of baptizing a youth just before he slipped beneath the battering waves.

Thirty-three of the 43 persons aboard got out of the plane safely after it hit the water off the British Columbia coast. But only seven remained huddled on the half-submerged wreckage when fishermen arrived with a skiff.

The seven survivors, flown here Saturday night from Sandspit Airport in the Queen Charlotte Islands, told of a 90-minute struggle for survival in the icy seas. They described how, numb with cold, they clung to a slippery wing until the rescue boat arrived.

The four-engined plane, inbound from Japan with troops enroute home on emergency leave, crash-landed a mile off Sandspit Airport early Saturday after it developed engine trouble.

10 Die In Crash
The survivors said 10 were killed in the crash. The others managed to reach the wing.

Lt. Donald E. Baker, 36, of Glendale, Calif., said the plane was "tying well on three engines" when it touched the runway at Sandspit in an attempted emergency landing.

"We ran part way down the runway," Baker said. "After he (the pilot) touched down, evidently, he decided he couldn't make it. He hit the throttle. There was a good deal of vibration in the nose. The plane would not climb. When it hit the water, the left wing hit first—but the plane landed pretty flat on the water."

Baker said he tried to distribute life jackets, but apparently nobody used them, and also helped the pilot and co-pilot in a futile attempt to get a life raft out of the plane's nose.

He said the co-pilot, Kenneth Kuhn, 32, Seattle, apparently was lost while trying to reach the wing after the fuselage sank.

"He may have made it x x x I don't know. Swimming from the fuselage out to the wing almost paralyzed me."

"While I was on the wing, two or three men slipped off near me. We pulled them back. One man lost his head and couldn't help himself. He wouldn't stand up x x x I don't know when he went. We did everything in our power to save him."

Pray In Unison
"Every man who survived is a real man. There may have been fear—but we didn't panic. The seven of us, and many more joined together in praying x x x."

Baker said survivors on the wing "slowly fell away. About three minutes before the boat came, there were 10. We were numb with cold and they kept slipping away from us."

"God was there, all right. I don't think I could have lasted much longer."

Pfc. Demetris G. (Jimmy) Apostol, 23, Hinton, W. Va., said those on the wing held hands in a chain to stay there.

"I baptized one boy," he recalled. "He said he believed in God, but hadn't been baptized. He slipped off and drowned a few minutes later."

Two men in the fishing skiff reached the wreckage and took the seven survivors to shore 90 minutes after the plane came down.

Other survivors were Sgt. Charles H. and Richard P. Fields, brothers, Temple City, Calif.; Pfc. William A. Price, Chicago; Sgt. Gregory Calkins, Van Nuys, Calif.; and Sgt. H. D. Maynard, Spruce Pine, Ala.

GI Warblers Put Effective Gag On Communist Thrush

WITH U.S. 7TH DIVISION KOREA—(AP)—A Communist soldier in a frontline bunker barely 20 yards from American positions hurled insults at his foes, but was hushed effectively.

Infantrymen of Company F, 32nd Buccaneer Regiment, were engaging in barber shop harmony—more volume than quality. The Red interrupted. "You guys can't sing."

Cpl. Felix Frato of Salt Lake City hollered back, "You couldn't do any better."

Cpl. Earl Humphrey of Denver and Cpl. James Rutherford of Ivanhoe, Calif., agreed.

The Red then did a near professional job with "Tennessee Waltz." But the company commander, Lt. Walter Kandelin of Fitchburg, Mass., and executive officer, Lt. William Glenn of Portland, Ore., made a suggestion.

Soon the American troops were singing "God Bless America."

That silenced the Communist.

allergy. At first eczema is likely to appear as a simple redness of the skin but if the irritation has been severe, blisters may form or even small pus pockets.

After a while the redness and other signs of inflammation may give way to chronic symptoms difficult to recognize.

Eczema shows up on those parts of the body which have come in contact with the irritating substance. For this reason the hands, face, and legs are common locations for the appearance of this skin condition.

The skin has a burning or itching sensation which often appears before it even shows any redness. The itching may be so severe as to cause a great deal for scratching and this injures the skin still further.

The list of substances which can cause eczema is almost unlimited. "Eczema" from poison ivy is a typical example. Hair dyes, face powders, shampoos, tincture of iodine, weeds, the dye in clothing are other common causes.

More rarely, some printing inks, match boxes, and almost every substance known to be used in industry have been at one time or another uncovered as the cause of eczema.

Four Aims Of Treatment
There are four aims of treatment: to identify the substance which is causing the difficulty, to take steps to avoid further contact, to avoid putting things on the skin which might make the condition worse, and finally to use certain ointments and lotions which are mild and soothing, to help relieve the inflammation and restore the skin to normal.

Finding the cause is often quite a job. Sometimes it has required real detective ability on the part of the doctor.

Another difficulty in many cases of eczema is that the patient may have tried to treat himself with tincture of iodine or some other irritating substance which has caused a new type of irritation and conceals the nature of the original one.

Many skin specialists feel that self-treatment makes their job much harder than it should be.

There were questions, however, whether the parade will be a simple motorcycle or take on the aspect of a ticker-tape affair, and whether Churchill's remarks will be "important" or not.

An announcement from the mayor's office said Churchill would "address the nation on matters of importance" during the noon-time ceremony on the City Hall steps.

But the prime minister's host, Bernard Baruch, later said he understood Churchill "will have no more than a few brief remarks to make" when he meets the mayor.

In Washington, British officials also said they did not expect any major developments in Churchill's talk.

Upon his arrival here Saturday from Washington, Churchill said he planned no public appearance. A short time later, Whalen's committee announced the City Hall ceremony.

After the City Hall ceremony, Churchill will return to the Baruch residence until time to board the liner Queen Mary, scheduled to sail at midnight.

Patricia Makes Bull Ring Debut, Heads For Movies

EL PASO—(AP)—Blonde bullfighter Patricia McCormick came through her professional debut unscathed and with the cheers of a Mexican crowd ringing sweetly in her ears.

Patricia's skill and courage in killing a fast-charging black and white bull brought the "victor" resounding out of Juarez' Plaza de Toros Sunday.

Working on rain-drenched, slippery sand, the blonde torera passed the charging bull so closely her trousers were smeared with the animal's blood.

It was with the muleta, the heart-shaped red cape, that the girl displayed her skill. She performed a variety of passes and brought the bull past her closely. Not one time did she flinch visibly. Her closest brush with danger came when a horn ripped her skirt.

She is scheduled to go to Los Angeles this week to make a sports short movie.

HOLLYWOOD—Exclusively Yours: Robert Mitchum is warning pals it's hush-hush, but he's confiding he'll quit the movie business and retire to a farm when his RKO contract ends two years from now.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft have set the wedding date for April 8. . . The late Maria Montez' husband, Jean Pierre Aumont, is due in Hollywood soon. There's talk of a role for him in the next Bette Davis film.

Bob Hope isn't worried about British government yells that he's liable for income tax on the $30,000 he earned, then turned over to a London boys' club, last Summer.

"I'm in the clear," he told me. "The contract for my services was with the club. I didn't even see the money."

Pre-censorship movie love-making of Gilbert and Garbo, is having a revival. Clifton Webb and Ginger Rogers are the clinch artists in the silent movies starring Webb which pop up on television in Fox's "Dream Boat."

Maybe They Know It All
Don't know what it signifies, but "Motion Picture Acting," a textbook by Lillian Albertson, has been reduced from $2.50 to 49 cents at a Hollywood Boulevard book mart.

Jane Nigh flew in from Korea—and Dan Dailey was there to meet her at the airport. . . The Robert Taylor-Ludmilla Tcherina romance is a Fourth of July sparkler. She's one of the ballet stars in "Tales of Hoffman."

Linda Christian's red-faced. A sizzling cheese cake shot that she posed for years ago has popped up in a girly-girly magazine that compares the "high appeal" of some accomplished "September Morn" models.

The grapevine is twisting with the report that Joan Bennett, after the Wagner trial, will skip to New York to manage a chain of beauty parlors.

UI has launched an Oscar drum-beating campaign for Arthur Kennedy, who won the New York Film Critics' nod for the best male performance of the year in "Bright Victory."

The new trend to episodic movies—which many people predict will be out to fit TV time slots after their theater runs—is gaining prestige. Fox's big epic of the year, Ernest Hemingway's "The Snows of Kilimanjaro," will be filmed as four separate, 26-minute stories.

Too Close A Friend May Be No Friend At All

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

There is such a thing as a woman having too close a friend. She is too close a friend if: You feel you can't ever entertain without including her. She feels free to tell you the unkind and uncomplimentary things that someone else says about you. You tell her all of your personal troubles, including the shortcomings of your husband. She is always critical of anything you buy if she wasn't around to help you select it. She is forever offering advice. She feels perfectly free to drop in any time. She feels she knows you so well she can be "perfectly frank" in everything she says. This is just an excuse for not bothering to show you the courtesy and respect she shows others. She is always trying to improve you, instead of letting you be yourself. She knows just how you should dress, just how you should decorate your living room, just how you should bring up your children. She wants a full accounting of any party you attend to which she was not invited. She feels free to ask any kind of personal question, from how much you paid for your new dress to how you are getting along with your in-laws. She is jealous of your other friends. She monopolizes your time. Close friends are wonderful assets. But a too close friend will in time always become a nuisance.

Gail Borden, Texas Patriot, Honored In Shivers' Memo

AUSTIN—In recognition of one of Texas' foremost pioneers, Gov. Allan Shivers has issued an official memorandum honoring Gail Borden for his service as a Texas leader, a frontier American and businessman of world renown.

Governor Shivers presented the document of recognition to Bryan Bialock, Borden Company official.

As a pioneer Texan, Gail Borden joined Stephen F. Austin colony in 1828. He helped rally in the fight for independence from Mexico, by establishing Texas' first newspaper, "The Telegraph and Texas Register" in San Felipe on Oct. 10, 1833.

Facing the advance of Santa Anna's army, the newspaper was moved to Harrisburg. Then on April 14, the Mexicans stormed into Harrisburg, set fire to the print shop and threw the presses into Buffalo Bayou. Borden and government officials barely escaped to Galveston. But "The Telegraph and Texas Register" was on its way to settlers by stage and pony express.

After the battle of San Jacinto, "The Telegraph and Texas Register" was re-established at Columbia where the first Congress of the Republic of Texas assembled. The paper was published there until April, 1837, when it was moved to Houston, temporary capital of Texas.

Gail Borden assisted in the writing of the Constitution of Texas and was one of its signers.

With the return of peace and Texas' entry into the Union, Borden had an opportunity to apply his inventive mind. He was appointed first collector of customs at the Port of Galveston. Later he made the original surveys for the present cities of Houston and Galveston.

Gambling Clean-Up Puts Alabama City On Financial Rocks

PHENIX CITY, ALA. — How's your going to pay the bills when your chief source of income is shut off?

City officials in this once "wide-open community" just across the border from Columbus, Ga., are trying to figure that one out, now that gambling operations have been shut down and may stay that way.

For gambling and the night life that goes with it used to produce much of the revenue for this city of 23,000 persons which has no other big source of income.

The lid was clamped down, but good, recently following a cleanup campaign by Gov. Gordon Persons and anti-vice crusader Hugh Bentley, whose home was dynamited earlier this month.

With gambling gone in "Las Vegas, Ala.," here's what the city treasury is up against:

Of the city's total revenue of $495,000 for 1950, $94,000 came from police court fines. Last month, that figure was off $3,000 from the average.

Stiff business licenses for night clubs and "honky-tonks" produced $112,000 that year. But with dice tables, slot machines and an estimated $7,500,000 - a year lottery racket on the spot, many night clubs are closing.

Property taxes contributed only $61,000 two years ago.

The north magnetic pole of the earth is that region where the magnetic force is downward.

Don't Shield Youngsters From Remorse At Errors

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

It was just after Robbie's sixth birthday that he told his mother his first deliberate lie.

She faced him with it—but when Robbie began to cry, she kissed him and said, "Just tell mommy you're sorry, dear, so that we can forget the horrid old lie."

This suggestion opened up fascinating vistas to Robbie. Growing older, adventuring into them with increasing confidence, he became convinced he could do pretty much as he pleased just so long as he said "I'm sorry" afterwards.

When he was 13 years old, he was expelled from school for stealing from another boy's locker. To his mother and father the principal said: "Your boy feels no real remorse for his dishonesty. His apologies are as deceitful as his behavior. Robert uses apology to trick others into believing that he feels an emotion which he does not feel."

Psychiatrists and social workers now are treating Robbie for this condition of emotional deformity.

Why did Robbie's mother insist on shielding him from remorse for wrongdoing? Because she had so little experience in remorse herself.

A discontented woman, she expressed her irritation at her many disappointments through a quick, sharp tongue that gradually alienated her husband and almost all her friends.

This gave her more cause to feel herself a victim of others' injustice and avoid the exertion of self-correction. To feel remorse for the hurts she had dealt to others would have threatened her whole structure of unwholesome self-sympathy.

Therefore, she had no personal experience of the joy and confidence that results from using remorse to correct mistakes. Instead of regarding regret for misbehavior as a beneficent and invigorating emotion, Robbie's mother saw it as a threatening one. So she was afraid to expose her child to it.

Liberating Experience

Since suffering for wrongdoing stimulates interest in doing right, we never should deny such suffering to children.

Writes Dr. Frederick H. Allen, director of the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic: "In our efforts to smooth the way so as to rid living of conflict, we may take out of life one of its most potent developmental forces."

A Better Understanding

World peace based on world understanding is a happy state of affairs long sought but never achieved. Such understanding must, of course, derive from knowledge.

IPI's announced aim is to determine whether individual countries are getting an accurate picture of other countries through their newspapers, and if they are not to try to remedy the situation.

A main part of their job will be to check and report on threats to press freedom within their individual countries.

Fortunately for its future, IPI got off to a sound financial start with a $270,000 grant from the Ford and Rockefeller foundations for expenses the first three years.

The U. S. State Department, with its world-wide information service to newspapers of other countries, is telling America's story throughout the world, but as a government agency with a definite ax to grind, it has its limitations.

By policing and strengthening themselves, the world's established press and news services can offer their readers a quality product that can't be matched.

IPI can go a long way toward establishing this quality.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson says: Truman was fatherly to Senator Kefauver; HST told Kefauver he would 'understand' his candidacy; Tennessee senator will file official in Ohio just before February 6.

WASHINGTON—Only two people knew exactly what happened during the 30 minutes when President Truman and the man who may take over the leadership of the Democratic Party—Kefauver of Tennessee—met together at the White House.

What Senator Kefauver did not know was that congressional friends of Speaker Sam Rayburn, who not only want Sam to run for President but are jealous of their old Tennessee colleague in the House of Representatives, carefully had arranged to plant some anti-Kefauver poison with Truman.

They had Congressman Mike Kirwan, of Youngstown, Ohio, one of the most astute Democrats on Capitol Hill, call on the President just a few minutes before the Kefauver appointment for the purpose of prejudging the President.

Regardless of what Kirwan may have told Truman, it had no outward effect. For when the tall senator from Tennessee entered, the President was most cordial.

Kefauver was just as modest as Truman was genial. Probably he did not know about the strategy to prejudice the President, but if he had known his strategy could not have been better.

In his usual slow Tennessee drawl, Kefauver recalled he had always supported the Truman program, had gone down the line on a lot of controversial problems, even going further than any other Southern senator on civil rights.

The President acknowledged that Kefauver's record was good, although they had disagreed on a few issues. The Tennessee senator then came to the point—he was being urged to run for the Democratic nomination and, in justice to his friends, he would have to make a public statement fairly soon.

Therefore, he said, he would like to have the President's advice. From this point on, Truman did most of the talking. He said the Democratic party needed new blood and he welcomed 'young Democrats' into national politics. His attitude was friendly, almost fatherly.

He thanked Kefauver for his candor. The senator explained during their conversation that he faced the deadline of February 6 in Ohio, where his supporters wanted to enter his name in the Democratic primary.

Personal letters from Kefauver authorizing primary delegates to support him now are in the hands of Timothy H. Hogan, Cincinnati Democratic leader, but Hogan has been instructed by Kefauver not to say anything.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Written for NEA Service. One of the neatest safety plays I have seen in a long time was executed in a rubber bridge game the other day by Gen. Robert J. Gill, of Baltimore.

West opened the queen of clubs, and General Gill won the trick at once with dummy's king. A quick count showed that he needed four diamond tricks to assure the contract. How could he make sure of those four tricks?

After some thought, he entered his hand with the king of hearts to begin the diamonds by leading a low card from his own hand towards dummy.

West played a low diamond, and dummy won with the queen. East's discard revealed the situation, so General Gill led a second diamond to his ace and then continued by leading a low diamond towards dummy.

This attempted finesse would lose to West's king, of course. Unfortunately, West would still have a second winner in diamonds, and declarer would win only three tricks in that suit.

All Our Foreign Aid Programs Need Not Skyrocket in Cost

By PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Not every U. S. foreign aid program has to cost hundreds of millions or billions of dollars. A lot of good can be done for a lot less.

This is proved by the record of the nine-year-old Institute of Inter-American Affairs. The IIAA is a little-known government corporation recently given responsibility for all "Point Four" technical assistance to Latin America.

It now operates in the State Department, but under W. Averell Harriman's new Mutual Security Agency set-up.

The entire MSA program this year is costing more than $6,000,000,000. The economic assistance share of this is a billion and a half dollars.

All technical assistance programs for Latin America this year get $18,000,000. But for every dollar of American money spent, it is estimated the Latin American countries will spend at least $4 of their own—more as time goes on.

What is there to show for all this? Take the health program alone, which will cost $6,000,000. Dr. Henry Vign Zile Hyde, medical director of U. S. Public Health Service who now is on loan to the Institute of Inter-American Affairs as director of its health, welfare and housing activities, has just returned to Washington from a swing around South America.

Here are some of the specific examples he cites on what Point Four aid has done. In Santiago, Chile, the United States supervised installation of a sewage system in one part of the city.

Seeing how it worked, the poor people in another part of the city collected all the money they could, took it to the city government and said in effect, "We want one, too." They're getting it.

In Venezuela, a program is under way to provide every town with more than 1,000 inhabitants with a pure drinking water supply. It was started with $200,000 U. S. money, backed up by a million dollars appropriated by the Venezuelan government.

By comparison, outside of Paris and a few other places where the water is checked by U. S. military or other medical officers, it is unsafe to drink a glass of tap water any place in Europe.

In Columbia, 215 health centers have been established throughout the country. The U. S. now operates only one of them, started seven years ago in the capital of Bogota to train the health workers for all the others.

In the five northern states of Colombia, inhabited by more than 2,000,000 people, an organized fight against malaria and yellow fever is being made.

It involves spraying more than 300,000 houses. Spray guns mounted on jeeps and in outboard canoes reach even the most remote habitations.

Along the Pacific Coast provinces of Colombia and Ecuador, a similar attack is being made on yaws. People of this area now are being treated with penicillin for the third time. "Penicillin and DDT are their own best salesmen," says Dr. Hyde. "When the people have seen what can be done by the first treatment the rest is easy." To the Colombian health centers now come 70 to 90 per cent of the pregnant women for pre-natal training. The babies still are delivered by mid-wives. But after birth, back to the clinics they come for nutrition and health training.

Before this service was available, one out of every three women died in child birth and half the children died before they reached the age of five. Today workmen know they will have both a wife and a child alive after the work arrives.

In Brazil, the national governments put up $2,000,000 and local governments put up $3,000,000, to "match" U. S. contributions of $225,000 for health services.

Today the Institute of Public Health in Sao Paulo is said to offer as good training as can be obtained in the U. S.

And so the story goes, in 17 out of the 20 Latin American republics. Only Argentina, Cuba and the Dominican Republic do not take part in IIAA health activities. Nicaragua, Panama and Costa Rica dropped out during the war for lack of money, but they're back in now.

Against the $3,000,000 contributed by the U. S. last year, the 17 Latin American governments contributed $13,000,000.

What is the pay-off? "It teaches them to do things for themselves," says Dr. Hyde.

"It creates in them a desire for a better life, and it shows them how to live. Wherever you start a health project, you find a new atmosphere. The streets get paved. They put in lighting systems. And the people get a new sense of hope and security."

Incidentally, of course, it creates a demand for American exports and it supplies a healthier, more dependable labor force for new supplies of oil, iron ore and other products the U. S. imports.

What's RIGHT? You have been dating a young man for some time and would like to give him your photograph, even though he has never asked for a picture of you.

WRONG: Have a photograph taken and ask him if he would like one.

RIGHT: Wait until he asks for a photograph of you.

LITTLE LIZ The trouble with a lot of people is that they seem to know more about their rights than about their responsibilities.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

THE STORY: Jennet Logan, young wife of the old and failing Dr. Gus Logan, finds her usually well-adjusted life upset after meeting the charming young biophysicist Peter Sullivan. She finds herself suddenly attracted to this young man, who is the subject of the controversy at Angli's hospital, Maxwell Cole, head of the hospital, dislikes Peter principally because Peter is interested in stem cell research.

At the bank, to the bottom of a safety deposit box was the tiny manila envelope she sought. She unclasped it and slid the pendant to her palm. The fine-linked chain curled limply around the beveled edge inside of which the emeralds were muddy and chipped. The diamond was clear and many-faceted but smaller than the one pictured it, and somehow sad, a businesslike piece bought perhaps more as an investment or a testament of improved position than to enhance the throat of the beloved.

OF her great-aunt Mary, its original owner, she had only the dimmest recollection. A little old lady who wore black dresses and always looked as though she needed a good dusting.

The jewel winked up at her with no more appeal than a piece of rock-candy, cutting short her reminiscence. She slipped the necklace back into its envelope, shoved it into her purse, dumped the papers pell-mell into the box, waved the curtain aside, and made bold sounds with her heels.

In Beverly Hills, she parked in front of the stationery store which she regularly patronized, and walked the two blocks to Chagianta, the jeweler.

The store front of Chagianta's was a faded slab of black marble, two little oblongs of window displayed a few wares hung on archaic knickies of driftwood.

After the sunlight, the interior was at first totally dark except for small illuminated oblong showcases along the left wall in which Jennet found herself absently looking for tropical fish.

Well, she would get rid of him. He had asked for money. She would give money and that would be the end of the matter. She would give money and forget the whole experience. But five or ten dollars was nothing, Gus said. It would have to be a dramatic amount, a beau geste so that there should be explanation in the giving and dazzled gratitude in the receiving. But she would never be able to explain this need to Gus. How could she, when she was not even able to explain it to herself?

If only she had some money of her own, a savings account, or a lump sum cashed away. She thought of the possessions which she could turn into cash. Her mink stole — but Gus had given her that as a birthday present last year. Her jewelry—pins, earrings, watch, necklace, rings—all were his presents and she wore them frequently; he took pride in her wearing them and would notice if one were missing. She thought of selling the star sapphire pin he had given her, which she supposed was her most valuable single piece. She could say that she had lost it. But then Gus would report the loss to the insurance company and she could never stand up under the grilling of investigators.

AND then she remembered that she did have something of her own. A diamond locket that had belonged to a great-aunt on her father's side. Her parents had presented it to her with embarrassing pomp on her 21st birthday. It was out of fashion and she had kept it in the vault, thinking that one day she would have the jewels reset. That was something Gus would never miss, if he remembered that she had it at all, and if he should ever question her about it, she would feel justified in admitting that she had sold it for reasons of her own, since it was not something he had given her nor even a thing she had acquired during her marriage. The pendant was on a platinum chain, as she recalled, and the center diamond was large and pear-shaped, though the tiny emeralds around it were mere chips. She wondered how much it would bring.

Fortunately, Gus had left the car for her because he had expected her to shop for his shorts. This she considered a stroke of luck; more than that, an omen auguring the success of her scheme. In fact, the motif of the day had changed from frustrating accident to purposeful integration.

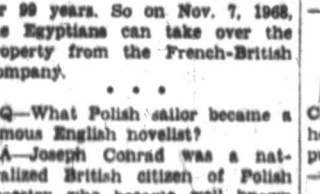

Have a Laugh

Oliver Goldsmith probably obtained the idea for his poem, "The Deserted Village," from seeing the main street of a town in Scotland on a tag day.

A Highlander walked into a tavern and in a loud voice said, "When McGregor drinks, everybody drinks. All crowded up to the bar and quaffed a dram. Then the Highlander put a shilling on the bar and said, "When McGregor pays, everybody pays."

Pat Neff—

(Continued From Page One) Shepherd Neff. He got his first glimpse of Baylor from a wagonload of cotton he drove 17 miles from McGregor to Waco. The income from that bale of cotton, which he raised, started him in school. He graduated from Baylor with a B. A. degree in 1894 and received a law degree from the University of Texas in 1897. A year later he took a master's degree from Baylor.

Neff ran second to Joseph Weldon Bailey in the primary but beat Bailey decisively in the runoff. He defeated Fred S. Rogers by a top-heavy vote for a second term.

He sent Rangers and National Guardsmen to Denison when a strike of railroad shopmen there erupted into violence. Denison's City Park became an Army camp. Rangers patrolled the streets. And machine guns bristled on a viaduct crossing the MK&T shops. But violence ended.

Similarly, he declared martial law in Limestone and Freestone counties when lawlessness spread through the booming oil fields around Mexia.

He originated the state park movement and appointed the first State Park Board. His mother donated land for the first state park. Texas Tech at Lubbock and the College of Industrial Arts and Industries at Kerrville were established during his administration.

He was president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas from 1927 through 1929 and president of the Southern Baptist Convention. For many years he was moderator of the Waco Baptist Association.

A long-time member of the Masonic order, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1946. Neff once was a vice president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Texas, a Shriner and a member of the Waco Rotary Club.

Neff married Myrtle Mainer, a college classmate at Lovelady, May 31, 1899. The couple had two children, Mrs. Frank Wilcox of Waco and Pat Neff, Jr., of Houston. A sister, Mrs. Sallie Calvert, Dallas, also survives.

Eight Of 10 Texas Violence Victims Die In Traffic Mishaps

By The Associated Press Texas' relentless traffic—the state's number one killer—claimed eight of 10 violent deaths reported over the weekend.

Another man died in a street fight. One death was called a suicide. Two persons were killed 10 miles south of Waxahachie in a two-car crash which also injured three, two seriously. Killed were Oscar Herschal Taylor, 38, Dallas, and his five-year-old stepson, William Mauplin.

The wife of one of the injured victims of the Waxahachie accident was injured slightly when her plane crashed at the Waxahachie airport. She had flown from Austin to be with her husband, James Wright Smith, 59. Smith was unconscious late Sunday and in a critical condition.

A Longview carpenter, Charles C. Mitchell, 60, drowned Sunday when his car ran off a culvert and overturned in a creek.

Walter W. Dunlap, 37, was injured fatally Sunday when his car was struck from behind and overturned by another vehicle. Murder with malice charges were filed against Olen Karl Schwede, who police said was driver of the other car. Assistant District Attorney David Copeland of McLennan County said Dunlap's former wife, Martha Chenault, was a passenger in Schwede's car when the crash occurred.

Fort Worth recorded its first 1952 traffic fatality when Mrs. Grace Rebecca Mills, 51, was struck by a car as she walked across a street. Mrs. Mills became Tarrant County's fifth traffic victim of the year.

Minor K. Linsey, 60, Houston construction worker, was killed Saturday when a car struck him on a Houston street.

Two more men died in a head-on crash late Saturday near Plainview. They were Love Yowell, 70, Edmond, Texas, and Ellis Spraggins, 22, Running Water, Texas.

The body of Andrew W. Stroud, 57, was found Saturday in the garage of his Dallas home. A 16-gauge shotgun was beside the body, and a suicide verdict was returned.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Shivers In Frosty Chill As Mercury Dips To 60 Degrees Below Zero

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA—(AP)—The temperature skidded to 60 degrees below zero Sunday and Fairbanks' 20,000 residents, their regular air communication virtually cut off by the bitter cold, shivered in a frosty world of their own.

The cold spell, the second in 10 days, held most of the far North in its grip. It was 78 below zero at Snag, on the Alaska-Canada border, and many interior Alaska points reported readings of 70 below or colder.

A dense ice fog, which always forms when the mercury drops below minus 45, forced scheduled airlines to cancel flights to and from Fairbanks. The occasional plane that did arrive took off again before its engines got cold.

Visibility at night was reduced to about 30 feet. Taxis were doing a rushing business as the cold stalled private automobiles. However, the taxidrivers' expenses were running high. Because of the difficulty of starting cold engines, drivers were keeping their motors running 24 hours a day.

Some residents who had to use their cars to get to and from work were parking them with their engines running all night, or getting up every three hours to start them and warm them up.

The hardy who ventured outdoors were bundled in fur-lined parkas with wool mufflers tied over their faces to keep noses and cheeks from freezing in as little as 10 minutes of exposure.

Clearing Skies Ease Los Angeles Area Flood Picture

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—It looked like the weather man was giving Southern California a chance to dry out Monday.

There were a few showers Sunday night, only traces in some places, but the latest forecast was a cheerful one for this area, which had 7.37 inches of rain in three days last week and the worst flood in 14 years.

The forecasters say it will be partly cloudy through Tuesday with a few scattered showers near the mountains. And for the Los Angeles area itself, partly cloudy but mostly sunny, with no rain expected.

Almost all the families evacuated have returned to their homes. Meanwhile, the cleanup job continued. It included inoculating residents of the Los Alamos area against typhoid fever, clearing debris from streets, and removing silt from homes hard hit by the flood.

The Navy warned everybody in the district to boil all drinking water, because its source is shallow wells which may have received sewage from ruptured cesspools.

The flood damage, running into millions of dollars, still was very much in evidence. Some roads were still blocked by landslides, and broad expanses of muddy water covered much of the low country.

Mink Coats, Calico Mingle As Taxicab Driver Makes Professional Singing Debut

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mink and calico rubbed shoulders Sunday night at the professional singing debut of taxicab driver Barkev Vartanyan at Carnegie Recital Hall.

The Armenian-American brought down the house as he sang selections from Mozart, Massenet, Moussorgsky and Tchaikovsky.

True, it was a small house. The recital hall seats only 299 compared with the Carnegie Auditorium next door, which seats about 3,000.

But the handsome, 30-year-old baritone's solo debut had much of the excitement of a big-time Manhattan first night.

He arrived an hour before the concert carrying a brief case full of tickets and programs.

He financed the debut himself. While photographers made pictures of him climbing in and out of a taxicab, a crowd gathered on 57th Street—the street of highbrow music, art and fashion.

"Who's that? Who's that?" people murmured as they saw the young man in full evening dress.

"Vartanyan," said a bystander. "Vartanyan, the singer."

In the lobby, Vartanyan ran into a bustling crowd of ticket buyers.

A richly dressed woman barged up to him with, "You don't know who I am, but—"

"Good Looker, Too" A minute later the cab driver brushed against a woman in a mink coat.

"Kiss him, Mrs. H." yelled a photographer.

The woman was wealthy Mrs. Betty Henderson, who a few years ago won attention by placing a leg on a table during an opening night of the Metropolitan Opera.

They kissed. "Oh—he's a good looker, too!" said Mrs. Henderson as she snuggled up to the singer.

"Wow, I never thought it would be anything like this," gasped the cab driver.

He appeared on stage a self-possessed artist and sang arias from operas, artistic songs, and some old stand-bys like the "Volga Boatman."

"That's one that went over big," someone said as he finished the song, singing in Russian.

Among the audience were 61 cab drivers and mechanics.

Vartanyan drew a roar of applause with Moussorgsky's bit of Russian comedy, "The Song of the Flea."

Just before the last number, Mrs. Henderson boomed from the rear, "A lullaby—by request!"

"After the next number, he said. He sang Massenet's "Vestition Fugitive," then obliged the socialite with Rachmaninoff's "Slumber Song."

Other encores followed. After the recital, Vartanyan, who was reared in Providence, R. I., told newsmen he was scheduled for television and newsreel appearances.

"Some day I hope to sing in opera—at the Met," he said. "But I'll need more training for that."

Cab driving? "I'll be back at the garage tomorrow night," he said.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Metamorphosis

The name of the story is "Metamorphosis." If—and I said "if"—if you like a story with a great big name. If you don't like a great big name, then the name of the story is not "Metamorphosis" at all. Oh no! Then the name of the story is "Kiss Your Elbow."

Anyway, Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was sitting on a log by the Whispering River. Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was sitting there with him, and so was the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf.

Said Mugwump: "Why don't we play a game, or do something, or something?"

Daddy Ringtail smiled. Said he: "Well, why don't you play the game of try to kiss your elbow?"

"Huh?" said the Huffen. But Mugwump said: "Daddy Ringtail, whoever heard of a game of try to kiss your elbow. Daddy Ringtail laughed, because Mugwump had heard about the game just then. Daddy Ringtail explained what it was. He said that if a someone would kiss his very own elbow, then the someone would turn into a girl right then and there. Oh, but if the someone was already a girl, then the someone right away would turn into a boy.

"Rumph!" said Mugwump. Said the Huffen: "I wonder, I do, if it would really happen."

Daddy Ringtail smiled to hear the words, but he didn't answer. Mugwump also didn't answer. He was busy wondering himself. Would someone change to a girl, if the someone kissed his elbow? Oh, Mugwump was wanting to know, all right, but Mugwump wasn't going to try to find out. Oh no! He wasn't used to wearing dresses, and so he wasn't about to try to kiss his elbow and maybe change into a girl. No-sir, and the Huffen said he had been a boy too long to take any chance of being a girl, and so he wouldn't try to kiss his elbow either. And so they sat there. They fumed and fretted and wondered, until—at last—the Huffen could stand it no longer. He had to find out. Quickly he tried to kiss his elbow, but he couldn't. No sir, he couldn't. And he was sick the rest of the day with worry about it, the silly rascal. Happy day!

Glasscock Officials Voted Salary Hikes

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County officials have been voted raises by the Commissioners' Court. Members of the court boosted their own pay from $900 to $1,800 yearly, representing a 200 per cent gain. It was the largest hike, both in dollars and percentage. Paying by fee basis was abolished. Fees and fines paid in under the new arrangement will go into the officers' salary fund. The sheriff and county clerk, each of whom were getting around $3,000 annually, now draw $4,000. The county judge had his yearly remuneration upped from $1,800 to $3,600. Both the sheriff and clerk will be allowed one deputy, each drawing $2,250. The treasurer's salary was raised from $1,200 to $1,800. Both the justice of the peace and custodian have been receiving $900. Each will get $1,200 now. The county agent is to draw $2,400 annually from the county as compared to $1,620 formerly. The county home demonstration agent is to get $1,200 from the county instead of $600.

Five Men—

(Continued From Page One) tain. "There was a blinding flash—we may have hit some trees first—as the plane crashed." Captain Hytko and Scargill were thrown out together as the plane made its wild plunge. Three men "rode the wreckage all the way down." They were Sgt. Charles Hartke, radio operator from Chicago; the co-pilot, Capt. Kenneth Senter of Tacoma and Sgt. Edgar Farmer, radar observer from Waynesboro, Ga. Farmer, who was in the waist of the ship, said he was "bounced all over the place." The plane caught fire after the wreckage came to a stop. But the men had time to roll out sleeping bags and emergency equipment. In the morning they lit flares and smoke bombs to attract rescuers. They also traced out in the snow the word, "Land," followed by a large "P." Their meaning was, "Land a para-med team."

Men Who Rescued Ailing Woman Now Marooned In Snow

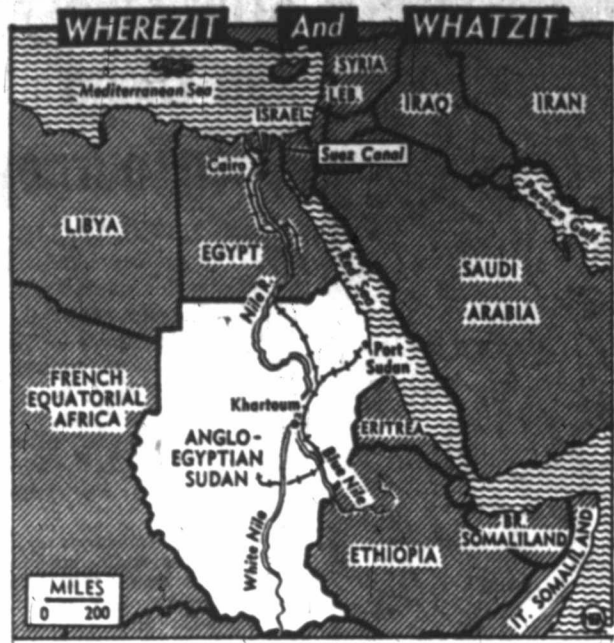

MOUNTAIN HOME, IDAHO —(AP) —Four men who struggled through deep snow to a remote mine last week to rescue an ailing woman and her small son now are marooned in the area. Mrs. Gene Jack and her son were safe and sound in Boise Monday after spending a week snowbound in a gold mining camp in the Sawtooth Mountains, two miles from Rocky Bar. Mrs. Jack was ill. An Air Force unit from McChord field, near Tacoma, Wash., directed the rescue. Mrs. Jack's husband and three other men, including two para-medics, pulled Mrs. Jack and the boy to Rocky Bar on a toboggan. There a helicopter picked them up for the flight to Boise. Sunday, the Air Force flew its two C-52's and the helicopter back to McChord field to join the search for a missing B-17, leaving the four men stranded in snowbound Rocky Bar. Air Force officials said attempts would be made to have the State Aeronautical Department or the Civil Air Patrol take over the task of getting the men out. A C-54 flew over the area Sunday, dropping supplies to the men. Another foot of snow has fallen in the area and the danger of slides made walking out a hazardous undertaking. The men were reported well and have about a week's supplies on hand.

"There was a tremendous down-draft at the scene," he said, "which made the helicopter landing operation hazardous." The survivors had no idea what happened to the three missing men. But they said they could have been thrown out alive and be wandering on the other side of the mountain. Farmer said, "I didn't see much of anything or anybody while the plane was sliding down the hill. I was thrown around quite a bit and didn't have time to look for anybody."

He added, "It's pretty rough about those other guys, though." The missing men are Capt. Stanley Lankiewicz, Jr., the navigator, of Tacoma, T. Sgt. Alan S. Ball, the engineer, of Tacoma, and Sgt. John A. De Rath, radio operator, from Stavanger, Norway. The B-17 was returning from the crash of a Korean aircraft plane Saturday at Sandspit, B. C. Only seven of 43 aboard that plane were saved.

Andrews Newsman Asks Legislative Post

Charles Roberts, Sr., Andrews newspaper publisher, said here Monday he has announced as a candidate for state representative of the new 99th district, which includes Andrews, Gaines, Dawson and Lynn Counties. Roberts served three terms as Andrews County Judge and long has been active in civic affairs of that county. He is a director of the West Texas Press Association.

THE SUDAN, object of an old tug-of-war between Egypt and Britain, became a rich jewel in the British Empire when cotton and irrigation were introduced to a 50-mile triangle of rich land at the junction of the White Nile and Blue Nile near Khartoum. The Sudan has long been the cross-roads of Africa for traders. On a continent still primitive in many aspects, the Sudan is crossed by ship, rail and bus routes to Cairo and Red Sea outlets to the world. Khartoum itself is the aerial cross-road of Africa. Nearly 8,000,000 people, most of them Arabs, mixed Arab-Negroes and black-skinned tribesmen, live in the Sudan. The country is supposed to be controlled equally by Britain and Egypt under a treaty dating back to 1899, when Lord Kitchener (with a young officer named Winston Churchill in his ranks) defeated the Mahdist fanatics and claimed the land jointly for the two nations. Since then, Britain has managed to keep the upper hand in the Sudan government, and Egypt's present rantings to "throw the British out" will probably never be backed by military force. Britain plans for the Sudanese eventually to choose their own form of government, but the people are widely divided on what kind of rule they want.

The capacity of the Sunday School will be 2,066 persons, and the auditorium 1,498 persons. Included in the huge plant, in addition to the auditorium, will be 28 departments, 113 classrooms, church offices, library, recreation facilities, chapel (200 capacity), church parlor and modern nursery. A successful building fund finance campaign was staged by the church early last year. A delegation of Midlanders was in Washington last week to confer with NPA officials, Congressman Ken Regan and Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson concerning the church's request for a steel allotment. Included in the group were Neill, Frank Monroe, Mayor Perry Pickett and James N. Allison.

Acheson Urges Prompt Approval Of Far East Pacts

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State Acheson Monday asked the Senate to approve the Japanese peace treaty and three other security pacts. He described them as the basis for a new and "effective system of regional security in the Pacific." The other pacts for which Acheson urged approval in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were the mutual defense security treaty with the Philippines, the security treaty with Australia and New Zealand and the security treaty with Japan. Acheson said ratifying these treaties "will lay a strong foundation for our policy in the Pacific and profoundly strengthen the community of freedom loving nations."

Acheson was the first witness to testify before the committee. President Truman has urged prompt ratification of the pact with Japan as well as with other Far Eastern nations. Senate leaders were confident of ratification. Acheson was to be followed on the witness chair by Gen. Omar N. Bradley chief of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff and John Foster Dulles prominent U. S. diplomat who is the architect of the Japanese peace treaty. The Japanese treaty was signed at San Francisco in September and the other three pacts were concluded about the same time. U. S. ratification of the peace treaty is essential if it is to come into force.

Maceo Syndicate Agrees To Bookie Hearing In Austin

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Maceo Syndicate Monday gave up its effort to obtain trial of a pending bookie injunction but in Galveston, rather than here. It asked the Third Court of Civil Appeals to send the case to 126th District Court at Austin for trial. The Maceos had been fighting for trial in their home county, Galveston. The Maceo Syndicate, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company are under a temporary restraining order halting transmission of horse racing information to the Maceo clubs in Galveston. The case has not been tried in the matter of a permanent injunction. The suit was brought by Attorney General Price Daniel.

Britain Names New Envoy To Tehran

LONDON —(AP)— Britain has named Robert Hankey, a young but tried diplomat, as its new ambassador to Tehran in the hope of ending the long Anglo-Iranian oil deadlock, informed officials said Monday. Hankey 46 will succeed Sir Francis Shepherd whose tenure in Tehran has extended throughout the crisis resulting from nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's vast holdings there. Britain's Conservative leaders often sniped at the former Labor government's handling of the dispute. One of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's first acts after the Tories took over the government late last year was to recall Shepherd and tell him he would be switched to another post.

National Income, Savings Still Climb

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The national income still is climbing though slower than it has been, and Americans are salting away a bigger chunk of it. The Commerce Department reported Sunday that, in the July-September quarter of 1951, national income reached an annual rate of 276 billions. This is three and one-half billions higher than the previous quarter. The Securities and Exchange Commission reported savings rose to $14,800,000,000 during July-September.

Construction Worker Found Hurt In Street

A Midland construction company worker was found injured early Monday on a dirt street here. The man, identified as Apuro Malinar, an employee of the Johnson Construction Company, was brought to police headquarters shortly before 7 a.m. by a cab driver. The cab driver said he had found the man lying along the shoulder of East South Front Street. Police rushed him to Western Clinic-Hospital for treatment of injuries, which apparently were caused by being dragged a considerable distance. Police still are investigating.

Force Can Bring About Armistice, Says Admiral Joy

WASHINGTON — Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN peace negotiator in Korea, Monday said military pressure could bring a stable armistice out of stalled truce talks at Panmunjon. In a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," a weekly news magazine, Turner was asked what he thought would bring "action." "If by action you mean a stable armistice agreement," he replied, "I would say one of two things: Either a sudden voluntary change of heart on the part of the Communists, or the application of sufficient military pressure to induce such a change of heart."

Minize of Vallejo, Calif., show the make-up of their "mercy bomb," a sort of "airborne St. Bernard" that they planned and built at an air base in Korea. The shell is an obsolete napalm tank, painted yellow and red for easier visibility. Contents include heavy clothing, a carbine, water-purifying tablets, a first-aid kit, food for three days, a portable stove, a sleeping bag, radio and various other emergency needs. The tank is designed to be fastened underneath a rescue plane and dropped at very low altitude to downed airmen, stranded or cut-off G.I.'s.

Accused Man Gets Wire Supposedly Signed By 'Victim'

DALLAS —(AP)— Police here were without clues Monday to the identity of the sender of a telegram who signed the name of a supposed murder victim. A telegram addressed to Cecil Rice, 36-year old Dumas, Ark., ice plant owner, was signed "Agnes" Saturday by the sender. Rice is scheduled to go on trial Tuesday for the murder of his wife, Agnes, whom he is charged with throwing into the Mississippi River last December 11. The telegram received in Dumas said: "I don't want to face people after what happened. I am working in Dallas and don't want to return to Dumas." Rice free on $25,000 bond, was in Pine Bluff, Ark., when the telegram arrived. A relative read it to him over the telephone. Body Not Received Homicide Capt. Will Fritz of the Dallas police said the telegram was sent from a suburban pay station and Western Union employees had no way in which to identify the sender. A newspaper proprietor who sells Arkansas newspapers, shown a picture of the beautiful, 32-year old woman, said her face was "familiar."

TO PHILIPPINES — Retired Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, above, has been named by President Truman as new U. S. ambassador to the Philippines. Spruance, wartime fleet commander in the Pacific, retired in 1948 to Monterey, Cal.

Dallas police quoted Arkansas authorities as saying the only identifiable body found in the Mississippi since December 11 was that of a man. Rice told Sheriff Robert S. Moore of Desha County, Ark., last December 12 he believed he had thrown his wife's body into the river. An investigation revealed signs of something being dragged over the soft ground of the river bank, and Rice was ultimately charged with murder.

Rayburn Disclaims Any Inclination To Seek Presidency

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Speaker of the House Rayburn Monday said he wants no part of the presidency. The Texas Democrat's name has figured prominently in speculation about the nomination, but the question was put to him, anyway, by a reporter Monday. "What about this story about you being mentioned for the presidency?" Rayburn was asked. "I don't accept it," the Texan quipped. "The story?" "No. The office." Rayburn talked with reporters after a visit with President Truman. He said the President did not discuss whether he will be a candidate again.

Rotary, Shell Oil, Borden's, WP In JayCee Loop Games

Cage play picks up again in the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League Monday night, with Rotary Engineering Company meeting Shell Oil in a second contest after Western Plastic Company and The Borden Company open action in a 7:30 p.m. battle.

League-leading Phillips Petroleum Company is idle, but its first-place lead can't be changed regardless of Monday night's outcome.

Rotary is expected to defeat Shell Oil, but still would be a game behind, Phillips in the lost column. Shell has lost five straight, and is expected to be firmly settled in the cellar after the clash with Rotary.

Borden's and Western Plastic should have a lulu of an affair. The Plastics, playing the two top teams in their last two outings, have tumbled from a spotless 3-0 won-lost record to a 3-2 slate. Borden's lost its first two, won a couple and then was defeated in its last start by Phillips.

By winning, Borden's could gain a tie with the Plastics in the standings. WP defeated the Borden boys 30-21, early in the season but is expected to have a tough time of it Monday night.

Wednesday night, Rotary takes on Borden's in the first game and Western Plastic will get Shell Oil. Phillips is idle in league action—barring a reshuffling of the schedule—until January 28.

The league standings:

	W	L
Phillips Petroleum	5	0
Rotary Engineers	4	1
Western Plastic	3	2
The Borden Company	2	3
JayCees	1	4
Shell Oil	0	5

Big State Teams Still Undecided

AUSTIN —A meeting of Big State League officials here Sunday failed to clear two main items from their agenda.

Nobody yet knows just what the schedule for the league will look like. And nobody knows—for certain—whether Longview will be the circuit's eighth member.

The club owners disagreed for a third time on a schedule and President Howard Green said he would try again.

Exact status of the Longview club will not be known until Dick Burnett, main figure in the application, returns from Cleveland. Burnett is in Cleveland conferring with Cleveland Indian officials regarding players for his Dallas (Texas League) Eagles and the Class B Longview club.

If Cleveland can help Burnett get Class B players, an associate here indicated, the Longview club appears as the loop's eighth member.

All clubs except Waco and Wichita Falls indicated they would hold Spring training at home. Waco will train in Florida with the parent Pittsburgh Pirates. Wichita Falls will condition at Pleasanton, Texas.

Gerhmann Edges Fred Wilt In Two Weekend Races

BOSTON —Mile King Don Gerhmann rolled merrily along in his pre-olympic campaign over the weekend by twice nipping rival Fred Wilt in a now-familiar pattern.

Both in Saturday night's Knights of Columbus meet and the Philadelphia Inquirer games 24 hours earlier the Milwaukee flash's finishing kick caught Wilt in the home stretch.

The New York FBI agent pushed Gerhmann to a 4:09.3 effort here while losing by a yard in Philadelphia first. Fred chased the ex-Wichitan ace to a meet mark of 4:12.2, again winding up about a yard back.

Gerhmann's rally here earned him the Thomas J. Fitzgerald Memorial 1 T. T. cup as outstanding athlete in the view of writers covering the affair.

DELAWARE CORPORATION GRANTED TEXAS PERMIT

AUSTIN—Kinross Minerals Corporation, a Delaware corporation with home offices at Wilmington, Del., has been granted a permit to do business in Texas with offices in Midland.

The Midland agent of the oil corporation is H. T. Hilliard, with offices in the Wilkinson-Foster Building.

Duke University's sophomore punting star, Red Smith, led the Southern Conference in kicking with a 40.7 average on 47 kicks. Only one was blocked.

Bulldogs Get Off To Good 1-AAA Start

Midland, Lamesa and Vernon got off to good starts in the District 1-AAA basketball race last weekend, coping initial conference tilts.

The Bulldogs edged Big Spring, 32-32; Vernon ripped Sweetwater, 45-33, and Lamesa shocked Plainview, 44-33.

More games are on tap this week, with Midland playing in Plainview Tuesday night, Lamesa going to Sweetwater and Big Spring playing at Vernon.

Friday night, Lamesa plays in Midland, Plainview goes to Vernon and Sweetwater plays at Big Spring. Vernon flashed a well-balanced attack in disposing of Sweetwater, 45-33. The Lions led all the way, with a 19-13 halftime bulge. However, Sweetwater played without the services of its high-scoring center, Carl Anderson. The six-foot, six-inch giant has tallied 391 points in 20 games this year. Lester Dye with 12 points, Jerry Thomas with 11 and Ramon Towery with 10 led Vernon. Hal Green topped Sweetwater with 15 Joe Smith got 14.

Plainview was supposed to beat Lamesa, but it didn't work out that way. The torrid Tornados came from behind in the second quarter with a 17-point spree while Plainview was held scoreless. The rattled Bulldogs called five time outs the first half, but couldn't turn the tide. Don Stevens scored 12 for the winners and Jerry Millaps 11. Rex Jordan's 11 topped Plainview. Their leading scorer, Tom Caskey, was held pointless.

Midland now seems capable of creating some disturbance in the league, with the addition of Spec Culppepper, who became eligible recently. Culppepper was the spark against Big Spring, getting nine points and he also led with 14 as Midland took a 29-27 non-conference win from Monahans Saturday night.

Coach Red Rutledge said the Midland-Lamesa tilt here Friday night would be preceded by a B team game at 6:30 p.m.

Season's standings, both conference and non-conference, for the 1-AAA fives:

	W	L	Pct.
Vernon	8	4	.667
Sweetwater	13	9	.591
Lamesa	9	9	.500
Plainview	7	9	.438
Midland	5	8	.385
Big Spring	6	12	.333

The conference standings now are this way:

	W	L	Pct.
Midland	1	0	1.000
Lamesa	1	0	1.000
Vernon	1	0	1.000
Sweetwater	0	1	.000
Big Spring	0	1	.000
Plainview	0	1	.000

Big Lake Continues To Turn Out Top Basketball Teams

BIG LAKE—The Reagan County High School Owls of Big Lake clung to their title of "Little Giants of the Hardwood" Monday after successfully winning their own twenty-first annual Reagan County Basketball Tournament Saturday night by blasting Crane, 64 to 32.

Sometimes hot and sometimes cold this season, the Owls remained hot throughout the tournament to outclass all opposition.

In the win over Crane, Billy Cutbirth led with 20 points and Pat Newbrough poked in 18 tallies. Warren and Clark hit six each for Crane.

Crane seemed tired after coming through with upset wins in advancing to the final game. The Golden Crows previously had thumped Midland B. 34 to 20, and edged Ballinger in a 36-34 upset.

Ballinger licked the San Angelo B team, 51 to 47, for third place in the meet.

Big Lake trounced the Bobcat B boys, 46-34, in a semi-final contest.

Ballinger upset a good Rankin outfit, 33 to 30, to get in the third-place spot in the playoff.

MIDLANDER TO ADDRESS KERMIT SCOUT BANQUET

KERMIT—The Rev. Clyde Lindsey, pastor of the First Christian Church of Midland, will be the principal speaker at the banquet of the Keystone District, Boy Scouts of America, here Monday night.

Officers for 1952, headed by Gerald McGuire as chairman, will be installed at the gathering.

Trainer Ray DeStefano of the Hampton Stable at Hialeah race tracks holds a card as union bricklayer.

The modern record for the most stolen bases by one team in one season was 347. This mark was set by the 1911 New York Giants.

SWC Basketball Race At Standstill Now

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor Southwest Conference basketball players cram for examinations instead of trying to cram the baskets this week and action is strictly limited. There are only three games, none counting in the title standings, and they're played at week's end.

Texas Christian, rolling along at the head of the parade with a minimum of effort, plays Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City Saturday night in the feature game.

TCU not only leads the conference race with four victories against no defeats but the Frogs have by far the best season record. They have won 14 out of 15 games.

Baylor and Rice will fight to see which stays out of the cellar at Waco Friday night. Baylor holds that dubious honor right now but could get out of the wilderness by beating Rice.

Rice showed its best basketball of the season Saturday night in edging Arkansas on its own court, 48-46. It was the Owls' first conference victory.

Texas A&M, tied with Texas for second place, each with a 3-1 record, meets University of Houston of the Missouri Valley Conference at Houston Friday night.

Rankin News

RANKIN—Mr. and Mrs. Boyd R. Cox had as their guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Ross Perner of Flagstaff, Ariz. Perner is Mrs. Cox's brother.

Max Scheeman, Jr., who has been seriously ill in Colorado Springs, Colo. the last three weeks, is reported as being greatly improved. He is expected to return home within the next two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn Lowery spent the weekend in Rockport with Lowery's mother and other relatives.

Mrs. Max Lewis reviewed "Pursuit Gentleman" for the Rankin Study Club at its meeting last Thursday in the Park Building. Mrs. Carl Keys and Mrs. Hamilton Still were hostesses for the meeting. The club voted to pack a box containing dresses, lengths, patterns, threads and needles to be sent to Germany.

Fred Hofmann, former New York Yankee catcher and later a coach with the St. Louis Browns, is now a scout for the Browns.

Ed Norton, a member of Yale's swimming team, hails from Tucker's Town, Bermuda.

COMPENSATION? — Chuck Dressen, right, receives the New York Press Photographers Association's first annual award after being selected the most courteous and cooperative sports figure in 1951. Handing the Brooklyn manager the plaque is Bobby Thomson, the Giant slugger who knocked the Dodgers out of the pennant with that story-book home run, while President Jack Downey of the Association looks on. (NEA)

When the coaches, scribes and football players of District 1-AAA convene in Lamesa Monday night for the annual all-district grid banquet, the Midland High School Bulldogs will occupy the position of very honored guests as the loop's champion.

And therein lies a great rags-to-riches football story. Time was—and not so very long ago—when Midland coaches were indeed lucky to be invited to such a gathering, much less the players. That was when Midland was struggling through eight years of football drought, considering itself lucky to win even one ball game per year.

But then came the "new deal" and a boom for Midland football. The very school which once was trumped by its loop brothers now is feared and respected by all.

In the last two years, Midland has trounced its brothers considerably. For instance, when the Sweetwater coaches look across the banquet table at the Midlanders Monday night, they'll see a group who trounced them, 21-6 and 29-8.

Big Spring came out on the short end of 54-7 and 46-0 scores in the last two years. Plainview has been defeated by Midland three straight times—14-0, 26-7 and 24-6.

Yernon played Midland for the first time last season, losing a 14-13 thriller. Only Lamesa has managed to scratch the last two seasons, winning 13-12 in 1950. But the Tornados paid dearly for that win last season, as Midland took a 34-7 win.

All this is a tribute to Coaches Tubboat Jones, Red Rutledge and Audrey Gill. And, of course, their hard-working players. They've put Midland in the grid iron spotlight, and now they are moving up to District 1-AAAA for 1952.

And nobody—in 1-AAA at least—will be at all sorry to see them go.

It's Ed Price of the University of Texas, not Rusty Russell of SMU, who will speak at the banquet. The Reporter-Telegram Sunday stated it would be Russell.

That's our fault. Last year it was Russell, and we got our time element confused. Consequently, we told pinch-hitter Bob Adams the wrong speaker. Blame it on our cracked ribs, which we suffered last week trying to recapture a bit of lost youth and athletic enthusiasm in a basketball game.

Price, by the way, was scheduled to have been guest of honor at a "smoker" for scribes and coaches at 5 p.m. Monday in Lamesa. The whole deal is sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

Got your 1952 box seats for the baseball season yet? If you haven't, and you had a seat last year, you'd better get a move on. Unclaimed boxes will be sold to waiting list customers Saturday.

Better get 'em—there's gonna be some good baseball at Indian Park this year.

Marines Enter Junk Business

AP Newsfeatures CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF.—United States Marines are in the junk business here—a sideline to their fighting profession.

They also let out land, for farming and grazing.

The combined program, camp headquarters of Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith estimates, has saved the government more than two million dollars in a year.

Everything from worn out typewriters to damaged mess tables goes into the junk pile.

The camp supply depot also salvages grease and renders fat for cooking purposes—161,000 pounds a year at an estimated value of $32,226.

Approximately 5,500 acres of the camp's 125,000 acres are leased to farmers or stock grazers, with a total revenue of $213,856 per year.

The scrap pile has brought a cash total of $133,372. Reclaimed items were valued at $1,699,922.

Kroll Cops San Diego Open Tourney

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(AP)—The golfing band quit California this week, most of them with a sigh of relief.

For the winners of the state's three major tournaments on the 1952 PGA Winter trail—Ted Kroll here, Jimmy Demaret at Bing Crosby's clambake at Pebble Beach, and Tommy Bolt in the Los Angeles Open—memories are doubtless pleasant.

The others can only hope for better luck in play, and no more rain. Monday a chosen few golfers started to neighboring Palm Springs for a two-day $5,000 pro-amateur event.

All will assemble in Arizona for the $10,000 Phoenix Open next week-end.

The newest celebrity in golf—and recipient of a belated invitation to the Thunderbird Club party—is Ted Kroll, a youngish looking man of 32, of Polish descent, from New Hartford, N. Y.

Kroll won the $10,000 San Diego Open Sunday. He led at the start, with a spectacular 65, and he led at the finish, with a stubborn, well deserved 70, with rounds of 69 and 72 in between.

The result gave the ex-caddie a 12 under par 276, $2,000 in cash, and his first major triumph.

Demaret was pressing hard. The two started out four strokes apart. They still were that way at the sixty-third hole, but by the sixty-fifth Jimmy had trimmed the margin down to two and was booming along in fine style.

Kroll refused to crack. When Jimmy finished with a 69, Kroll followed on in with his two under par 70 and the victory by three shots. The win brought Kroll $2,000 and meant $1,400 for Demaret.

Others finished this way: Skee Riegel, Tulsa, 283; Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, 284; Gene Littler, San Diego, 284; Felice Torza, St. Charles, Illinois, 285; Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., 286; Herman Coelho, Honolulu, 293; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., 284; Jackie Burke, Jr., Houston, 287; Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., 288; Earl Stewart, Dallas, 288.

Louise Suggs Wins Tampa Golf Open

TAMPA, FLA.—(AP)—Steady little Louise Suggs won her first Tampa Women's Open golf championship in six starts Sunday, with a closing round par 74 that put her five strokes ahead of second-place Babe Zaharias.

Miss Suggs was only one over par for one round of the 72-hole tests.

Mrs. Zaharias also posted a par 74 Sunday for a total of 298. The long-hitting defending champion was hurt by a second round of 77.

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, who had been second, slipped to third with a final-round 77 after shooting par 74 on every other round. Her total was 299.

The win gave Miss Suggs $1,000 prize money and $750 to Mrs. Zaharias, while Miss Jameson got $500.

Other results included: Peggy Kirk, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., 304; Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., 309; Betty MacKinnon, Dallas, Marlene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., and Betsy Rawls, Austin, 310; Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and Betty Bush, Hammond, Ind., 311; Betty Dodd, San Antonio, 312.

Russians Settle In Kurile Islands

MOSCOW —(AP)—Dispatches being received from the Kurile Islands—that lie between the sea of Okhotsk and the Pacific—tell of the arrival and settlement of Soviet citizens there.

The Soviet state is reported to be giving the new settlers generous help in establishing themselves. They are said to receive loans in money, manufactured goods and timber.

In the last few months 32 fishermen's families have started up a new settlement on the island of Iturup.

Dallas Gets Pro Football Franchise Bought

DALLAS—(AP)—Giles Miller, youthful textile tycoon had professional football in Texas Monday but was busy denying fabulous offers he was reported to have made for Doak Walker and other stars.

The 31-year-old president and general manager of the Texas Textile Mills, which has international trade, planned to go to New York to wind up the negotiations under which he acquired the New York Yankees franchise in the National Football League. But it was merely a formality. The deal has been made and pro football will come to Dallas' Cotton Bowl next fall.

Miller heads a syndicate which includes his brother, Connell, and a group of unnamed, as yet, persons, who paid $300,000 for the franchise. He said "This is like a jig-saw puzzle. We have all the pieces; now all we need to do is put them into place."

No sooner had the news of the sale come than rumors of an offer of $250,000 for Walker, the former Southern Methodist University All-American now with Detroit, and bids for other Southwestern gridders, including Sam Baugh of Washington, started flying.

Miller, who said nothing had been done as yet toward club policy, method of operation, etc., declared with a chuckle: "Walker might be worth $250,000 but I don't recall sending any telegrams or trying to buy anybody. There are no deals of any kind cooking."

"Grand Deal" The handsome, black-haired young man, who professes to be one of the most rabid football fans extant, did say he thought pro football would click in Dallas from the start—that there was a potential of more than 1,000,000 fans in this area and that he wanted all the Southwesterners he could get on his club. "I don't see how it can miss," he declared. "It's a grand deal for the boys on the Yankee squad and for all others, too. I feel it is a service to football and the Southwest to bring this club to Texas."

Miller said the potential in Dallas was better than most cities in the NFL and pointed out the Yanks last season drew only 221,000—just 31,000 of those in four home games. He figures it will take a 25,000 average to break even. He thinks Dallas will far exceed that.

The man who's destined to be president of the Dallas club, to be known as the Rangers, said he had been trying for almost a year to buy a franchise. The sale was announced prematurely, he added, because there were matters yet to be worked out. But he admitted, nothing stood in the way of his obtaining the Yanks.

Dallas will be in the western division of the NFL with Green Bay, Chicago (Bears), Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Who will manage and coach the Dallas club is something that hasn't been given much consideration as yet, Miller said. He said he wouldn't have to take the present general manager, Fred Fitzgerald, and coach, Jimmy Phelan, under the terms of the purchase but would, of course, have all the players. Miller did say he wanted a man as general manager who was familiar with the league. Fitzgerald is the son-in-law of Ted Collins, who sold the Yanks.

The question of negroes playing on the Dallas team—and there are three on the Yanks roster now—was sidestepped by Miller who said that would have to be settled when organization is complete. He anticipates the full roster of stockholders will get together about Wednesday. He indicated negroes would be used by pointing out that negroes already had played in the Cotton Bowl here. Buddy Young, George Taliaferro and Sherman Howard are the negroes.

Miller said he already had given Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, a list of preferred dates for home games. He hopes to include one or more during the state fair and probably will schedule his home games for the weeks when Southern Methodist University is playing away from Dallas.

In 1951, three harness horses won four events in excess of $10,000. They were the pacers Gander and Scottish Pence, and the trotter Demon Hanover.

With more than one-third of the conference schedule already played, early predictions that it would be a topsy-turvy race from start to finish are coming true.

The University of New Hampshire has added St. Lawrence U of Canton, N. Y. to its 1952 football schedule.

HOW TO GET ULCERS—Despite the fact that Michigan State's basketball team is off to an excellent start, Pete Newell still believes the coach has to apply body English. With the Spartans' mentor, it's not a crying, but a chewing towel. He gasps at a shot by the opposition. The shot went in. (NEA) oil and no water. It showed a gas-oil ratio of 342-1, but the gas was not steady enough to flow the well regularly.

Top of the pay in the Spraberry was at 7,885 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented at 7,851 feet. Total depth is at 7,957 feet.
The open hole had been shot with 174 quarts of nitro glycerin.

Discovery Outpost In NW Reagan Is Reported Complete

Fred Shield No. 1-B Robey, three-quarters of one mile southeast of Paul Bargarth No. 1-13 Paterson, recent lower Spraberry discovery in Northeast Reagan County, has been completed for a daily flowing potential of 429.6 barrels of 11.7-gravity oil.

Production was through a 24 04-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 7,448-7,550 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 880-1.

Operator used 4,000 gallons of fracture fluid. This well is 17 feet high on top of the lower Spraberry pay to the same section in No. 1-13 Paterson.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 19, block B. L&SV survey.

Brown & Thorp Set Another Explorer In NE Pecos Pool

Brown & Thorp Drilling Company of McCamey spotted site for another test in the Brown & Thorp-Clear Fork field of Northeast Pecos County.

It is to be drilled as No. 1-A White and Baker, 2,287 feet from west and 1,994 feet from most southerly north line of section 49, block 11, H&GN survey. That puts it one location west of an active test at the southeast side of the field.

Devonian Tests Scheduled For Midland Wildcat

The Blackwood & Nichols Company is preparing to acidize the lower Devonian through perforations in casing at its No. 1 Most wildcat in Central-North Midland County.

The section to be washed with the acid is from 11,923 to 11,950 feet.

This wildcat was tested in the Ellenburger and Fusselman without developing commercial production.

If the section now to be tested in the Devonian fails to produce, the above perforations will be squeezed off and a section higher in the Devonian will be tested.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block X, H. P. Hilliard survey.

Tunisian Crisis May Topple Faure's New French Cabinet

PARIS — (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure's new French cabinet, less than 24 hours old, headed into trouble Monday over recent bloody clashes between Nationalists and French police in Tunisia.

The cabinet of 46 moderate and right wing ministers and secretaries of state faces the National Assembly for the first time Tuesday, when the 43-year-old premier is expected to ask for a vote of confidence. He also will face a number of questions, many of them about Tunisia.

The most dangerous questions will come from the Socialist Party. The Socialists voted to confirm Faure in office, but they are threatening to desert him now because they dislike what happened in Tunisia.

A vote against the cabinet by the Socialist bloc, coupled with the inevitable opposition of the Communists and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's followers, would topple Faure at once.

Cattle Marooned In Colorado Storm

GUNNISON, COLO.—(AP)—Continued snow on Colorado's western slope Monday threatened to halt any attempt to reach 1,500 starving cattle marooned by giant snow-drifts in the mountain country near here.

Drifts were reported 18 feet deep. More snow was forecast.

Gov. Dan Thornton has termed the situation "critical."

Ranchers appealed to Thornton for aid. They said the area practically is inaccessible. Haystacks are buried. It is feared the animals would not be able to struggle through the drifts to reach feed dropped from planes.

The Eisenhower Boom: How It Started And How It Grew

WAR HERO
Victory parade, New York, 1945. Ike had won tremendous public esteem, was political "natural."

OFFERED TRUMAN'S JOB TWICE?
Meeting with the President. The general reported in his book that Truman "definitely and specifically" offered to help make him president in 1948. Was a second offer made last November?

BOOM FOLLOWS BOOM
In January, 1948, Eisenhower wrote a New Hampshire publisher: "I could not accept the nomination (if) it were tendered to me." Despite 1 1/2 "I-Like-Ike" booms flourished in both parties.

CIVILIAN
As president of Columbia University, 1948-50, he often spoke out for free enterprise.

DENIAL FOLLOWS DENIAL
Ike tells a Cincinnati reporter in 1949 he "isn't in politics, hasn't been, isn't going to be." Despite such repeated disavowals, top GOP leaders like Dewey, Lodge and Duff insisted he was their man.

SELLING NATO
Back in uniform, 1950, Ike began second "crusade." His job: to defend Europe; no politics.

"IKE SAYS 'GO AHEAD'"
... but Senators Lodge and Duff (inset) went ahead with plans to "Draft Ike." When the general came home in November to report on NATO, most speculation concerned his political future. Ike played coy, but left door open for "my friends" who "know how I would react." Now, it's open wider.

Humble Wildcat In Alabama Gets Oil

BREWTON, ALA.—(AP)—This South Alabama and Northwest Florida section will "get a play" from oil interests similar to that in Coastal Louisiana and Texas because of new oil well brought in near here. That was the prediction yesterday of State Geologist Walter B. Jones and Walter E. Hamilton, consulting geologist for Humble Oil & Refining Company.

The small farm of Allen Moyer, 39, where the well was brought in, Saturday, was visited by more than 5,000 curious persons Sunday.

Moyer appeared calmer than many of the spectators. He will get a one-eighth royalty of the expected 1,000-barrel a day producer of high gravity oil under his lease agreement with Humble.

Hamilton, consulting geologist for Humble, said about 27 feet of oil pay had been found, and the oil tested 29 gravity. Oil in Alabama's two other fields, the Gilbertown and Carlton, ranges from about 13 to 18 gravity.

The test struck oil pay in the upper Tuscaloosa formation at about 5,945 feet.

Man Hurt In Fall Removed To Abilene

Robert G. Buckley, 25, injured in an oil derrick accident Friday, was removed Sunday from Midland to the Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, his home.

Buckley's condition was termed critical Monday. He suffered multiple bone fractures in the fall of 96 feet from the derrick. Buckley fell to the ground, missing the derrick platform when he lost his footing.

Buckley received treatment in a Midland hospital before removal to Abilene.

France recently completed a man-made port at Abidjan, capital of Africa's Ivory Coast.
