NE Eclor Wildcat Shows As Opener From Second Zone

V. A. Brill and Ditzyn Drilling Company No. 1 Mrs. Sallis Ratliff and others, Northeast Eclor County wildcat has found a second pay section.

The latest prospective producing formation is at 10,700-736 feet in a zone thought to be a member of the lower Pennsylvanian.

The section was drilled and tested for four hours and four minutes. There was a strong, surging flow of oil immediately.

Made Clean Oil
Gas surfaced in 30 minutes. Recovery was 360 feet of clean 37.5 gravity oil, 350 feet of heavy oil and gas cut drilling mud and 120 feet of gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 150 pounds to 200 pounds. The project is to core deeper.

Flowed From Wolfcamp

This wildcat had flowed oil in large amounts from the Wolfcamp of the Permian at 9,890-9,714 feet. It has a string of 7.5/8th inch casing cemented at 9,816 feet.

It was originally started to dig to 13,500 feet to explore the Ellenburger. Location is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 11, block 42, T-1-S, T&P survey.

That makes it 10 miles north of Odessa and 20 miles northwest of Midland. It is three miles west of the North Cowden-Grayburg field.

Magnolia Wildcat In E-C Andrews Flows Devonian Oil

Magnolia Petroleum Company has a flowing discovery from the Devonian at its No. 1 University, East-Central Andrews County wildcat, 11 miles east and slightly north of the town of Andrews.

This prospector flowed 107.28 barrels of clean, 42 gravity oil in two hours in a drillstem test in the top of the Devonian at 12,852-872 feet. Made No Water

There was no formation water. The zone was tested for two hours and 41 minutes. No water cushion was used. There was a 3/8th inch bottom hole choke and a one-inch opening on the drill pipe.

Gas surfaced in 15 minutes. The gas volume was estimated to have been at the rate of 240,000 cubic feet per day. Oil started flowing at the top in 20 minutes. It was flowed to pits for 21 minutes and then turned to tanks for two hours.

Flow Increased
During the first four the well made 49.5 barrels of oil. In the second hour the production was 57.75 barrels of oil.

Operator will reverse out the fluid left in the drill pipe when the tester was closed. The project probably will core deeper.

Top of the Devonian is at 12,559 feet. That is on a datum of minus 9,519 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 17, block 8, University survey.

This well is nine and one-half miles west of the Block 7-Devonian field in Northwest Martin County.

Anzac Is To Drill Shallow Wildcat In N-C Kimble

Anzac Oil Corporation of Coleman has staked location for a North-Central Kimble County wildcat.

It is No. 1 H. H. Lawler and will be drilled to 2,500 feet with cable tool.

Location is 400 feet from south and 1,400 feet from west lines of Kimble County School Land survey No. 781. The south line of survey No. 781 is also the north line of section 69, block 15, TW&NG survey while the west line of the survey is also the east line of section 70, block 15, TW&NG survey.

The wildcat will be eight miles north and two miles west of Junction. That makes it three miles northeast of Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Bolt, a 4,171-foot failure plugged in 1948.

No. 1 Lawler is two and three-quarter miles southwest of Delavox Petroleum No. 1 Meard, dry hole at 2,778 feet.

Ellenburger Wildcat Set For NE Fisher

Noranda Oil Corporation, Feder Brothers and L. T. Lohman, trustees, are scheduled to drill a 4,400-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Northeast Fisher County as the No. 1 E. J. Kiker.

Storm Snaps Two Tankers In Half

34 Crewmen Safe; Others Adrift At Sea

CHATHAM, MASS.—(AP)—Rough seas boiled anew Tuesday under freshening winds as the Coast Guard cutter Eastwind moved toward the stern of the severed tanker Fort Mercer which has 33 survivors aboard.

Nine men were believed lost from the tanker Pendleton, which suffered the same fate as the Fort Mercer in a blinding storm Monday. Nine others are unaccounted for. Thirty-two were saved Monday night.

At 7 a.m., the Eastwind reported she was only 10 miles from the drifting wreck of the Mercer which was more than 50 miles off Cape Cod. Three hours later, the Eastwind had not reported again.

At Coast Guard headquarters it was considered probable the Eastwind might throw a line aboard the Mercer and tow her into Boston rather than attempt a rescue in the rough sea.

Meanwhile, the cutter Yakutat took two men from the bow section of the Mercer, bobbing in high waves.

Weather 'Worsening'
Rescued were: Capt. Frederick G. Paetzl, Houston, Texas, and Purser Edward E. Turner, Jr., New York City.

The Yakutat reported the weather was "worsening" and she was unable to remove two other survivors by boat. She said she would try to shoot a line aboard and use a raft to rescue the other two.

The Yakutat said the skipper and purser were taken off the Mercer under extremely hazardous conditions and the sea was running high. Earlier it was believed no one was aboard the bow of the Mercer.

The task of saving those on the Mercer's stern is in the hands of Capt. Oliver Peterson, Winchester, Mass., who was named officer in charge of the tactical operations.

The Coast Guard in Boston said it might be more feasible to tow the stern to port rather than attempt a rescue in the high waves.

The Eastwind replaced the cutter McCulloch, which was ordered back to Boston. The McCulloch reported no sign of life aboard the bow of the Pendleton, which was aground 1,500 yards off the Pollock Rip Lightship.

33 Side Ship's Stern
First word that 33 survivors were aboard the stern half of the Mercer came from the military transport Short Splice just after rescue operations resumed at dawn.

"We have just contacted the stern of the Fort Mercer," the Short Splice messaged Coast Guard Headquarters. "There are 33 survivors aboard. They all seem OK. The stern is riding good."

Among those feared lost in the bow of the Pendleton was her skipper, Capt. John Fitzgerald, 38, of (Continued On Page Nine)

Wilson's Claim To Spraberry Vacancy Valid

A vacancy claim to a 559-acre strip of oil-rich lands in this area had been upheld Tuesday by the Texas Land Office and a decision on another strip in the heart of the Tex-Harvey oil field is expected within the next two weeks.

State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles Monday announced a decision upholding the claim by James C. Wilson, Jr., a Fort Worth attorney, that a vacancy exists in the 40-mile strip stretching through Midland, Martin, Reagan and Glasscock Counties.

Still awaiting a decision is the claim filed by Dr. G. Frank Dillon of Big Spring to a two-mile strip in the Tex-Harvey field of Midland County.

John Campbell of Midland, attorney for Dr. Dillon, said he expected a decision within the next two weeks.

A surveyor appointed to examine the area has testified the vacancy does exist and includes 95.2 acres in Block 37 between Township 2 South and Township 3 South.

Three other vacancies have been claimed in the same area but no survey ever was made on two of them and the surveyor has testified no vacancy exists in the third.

13 Narrow Strips
The State School Land Board Tuesday faced the task of setting a price on the 889 acres in the vacancy strip claim upheld Monday by Giles.

The acreage lies in 13 narrow strips dotted along a 40-mile stretch through the oil-rich Spraberry area of Midland, Martin, Reagan and Glasscock Counties. Width of the tracts ranges from 100 to 150 yards. Thirteen are a mile long. Two are half a mile long.

The vacancy results from a disparity in two survey lines run by the T&P Railway Company 76 years (Continued On Page Nine)

Allies Clear Path For German Entry Into European Plans

LONDON—(AP)—The foreign ministers of the three Western powers and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Western Germany said Tuesday they have removed obstacles to Germany's entrance into the European community.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman listed in a communique seven points which they said assured a successful conclusion of talks now going on in Bonn and Paris.

The three ministers and Adenauer have been engaged in conferences since Saturday in an effort to smooth out German-French relations, open the way for creation of a European Army in which German and French-armed forces would be unified and pave the way for a "peace contract" between Western Germany and the occupation powers.

Earlier Tuesday, the French National Assembly, by a vote of 327 to 287, gave a qualified approval to the European Army plan for rearming Germany.

The foreign ministers conferences here will include a full-dress meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Lisbon, Portugal.

Giant Negro Rescues Trapped Trucker In Quiet Show Of Sampsonian Power

HOUSTON—(AP)—A giant negro saw a man trapped in the cab of his smouldering truck-trailer and ripped the cab apart to save the driver Tuesday.

As the unconscious driver fell free into the arms of waiting, astonished deputy sheriffs, the negro disappeared as quietly as he appeared.

"No one knows his name," said Deputy Don Henry, "but he did a job I couldn't do with six trucks and a wrecker. It was a terrific display of human strength."

The trapped truck driver is Roy Gaby, Jr., 26. He was removed to a hospital and given emergency treatment.

He may have suffered fractures of both legs. He has severe body bruises, probable internal injuries and a deep gash over the left eye.

Gaby was returning from Waco with a heavy load aboard his 14-wheel truck-trailer.

Near Cypress, he ran out of gasoline and telephoned his wife, who drove out in the family car with a can of gasoline.

She preceded her husband on the leg home and was near the village of Fairbanks when an apparently drunken driver forced her off the road on the right side while her husband's behemoth was forced off the left.

The truck trailer crossed a ditch and rammed into a tree. The trailer telescoped the cab, trapping the driver. Mrs. Gaby flagged down a passing motorist. He notified the sheriff's office.

Deputy Don Henry arrived in time to see tongues of flame issuing from beneath the big vehicle and went to work with his fire extinguisher.

Meanwhile, other trucks congregated and a wrecker pulled up. Cables were attached fore and aft

Chicago U Appears In Ships Deal

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The University of Chicago was named Tuesday as one of the three major investors in a richly profitable deal in war surplus ships now under Senate investigation.

A Senate Investigations subcommittee is studying whether the deal—which returned $3,200,000 profit on investments of $101,000 in less than three years—was legal and "whether federal taxes were avoided."

William Leece, staff counsel of the subcommittee, testified the records of the deal show the university invested $15,000, acquiring stock in the two key firms which engineered the complex transaction.

Leece did not say immediately what the books and records showed as to the university's return from its investment.

Casey Tom Investor
Leece named Joseph E. Casey, Washington lawyer and former Congress member, as the largest single investor. He said Casey put in $20,000, receiving 2,000 shares of stock in American Overseas Tanker Corporation, a U. S. firm, and 4,000 shares of stock in Greenwich Marine Corporation, its subsidiary.

American overseas bought eight tankers from the government and chartered them to Greenwich, a Panamanian firm which had the same stockholders as American Overseas.

Casey has named, as among those who shared in the profit, retired Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey of World War II fame; the late Edward R. Steptoe, Jr., a wartime secretary of State, and Julius C. Holmes, minister at the U. S. Embassy in London.

As the hearing resumed, two subcommittee members told reporters staff investigators had produced evidence of "some big fees" they said were paid in one phase of the ship deal to the law firm of Newbold Morris, President Truman's corruption investigator.

Six Airmen Die As Navy Planes Collide

CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—Six Navy airmen—two instructors and four students—were killed Monday in a two-plane, low-altitude collision about five miles west of Rockport, Texas.

The twin-engine Beechcraft planes were attached to the Advanced Training Command at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Taft Confident On Return From West

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Taft of Ohio said Tuesday his political tour of the West has convinced him he has "a substantial majority of popular support among Republicans" there.

Back from a five-state speaking trip in behalf of his bid for the GOP presidential nomination, Taft told reporters he thinks he will get "the predominant majority" of convention delegates from Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, and Colorado.

"This Western trip has confirmed my most optimistic hopes," the Ohio senator said. "The Eisenhower people are putting on a flight everywhere but I feel we are still far in the lead."

Police Break Up Attempted Burglary

Police broke up possible attempt Monday night to burglarize the Kruger Jewelry Store at 104 North Main Street.

Police Officers Joe Curry and Tommy Thomson were on routine patrol when they found a large sawdrier and a small crowbar at the rear door of the store.

Futile attempts apparently had been made to force open the door.

Army To Call Fewer Guardsmen, Reserves

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Army said Tuesday it plans to call no more National Guardsmen or reservists to active duty except for a few small units and individual officers.

An Army spokesman said, however, changes on the international scene could throw its plans into the air.

Since the start of the Korean war, the Army has called about 350,000 Guardsmen and reservists to active duty. Most of them will be released by the end of the year.

Gaps made by the release of reserves are being filled by draftees and volunteers.

The authorized Army strength set by Congress is $27,000. Whether this figure ever has been reached is secret.

Sabres Kayo Three Enemy Jet Fighters

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—U. S. Sabre jet pilots Tuesday shot down three Red jet fighter planes in two roaring air fights over Northwest Korea.

Other Allied jet fliers reported they destroyed four locomotives. Twenty-six Sabres fought elements of a 50-MIG formation Tuesday afternoon in a five-minute running battle. It started near Binanju and ended near the Yalu River, when the Red fighters fled into Manchuria.

Maj. Van E. Chandler of Waco, Texas, was credited with one MIG kill in the afternoon battle. Col. Albert W. Schiffs, Ottawa, Ill., and Capt. Paul R. Henderson, San Rafael, Calif., shared credit for shooting down another in that fight.

The morning fight was between 27 Sabres and parts of a flight of 100 MIG-15's. It raged seven to eight miles above the ground. Lt. John C. Friend, San Antonio, Texas, was credited with knocking down one Red plane in the clash.

U. S. Fifth Air Force said about 300 MIG's were sighted in Northwest Korea Tuesday—100 in the morning and 200 in the afternoon.

F-80 Shooting Star pilots, sweeping down the main Communist supply route from the Yalu River city of Manpojin, reported they destroyed at least four locomotives. They said they probably got another.

San Angelo Stock Show Boosters Due Here Late Tuesday

Publishing the annual San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo, February 28-March 2, a large group of San Angelo boosters was scheduled to arrive in Midland about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday for an overnight stop while on a tour of the Permian Basin Empire.

The goodwill trippers were to be met at the East city limits by city, Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club officials. A police escort was to bring them into downtown Midland.

The 35 San Angeleans, traveling in a charter-bus, left San Angelo Tuesday morning, and were to come here from Big Spring after visiting cities as far east as Abilene. The trip is sponsored by the San Angelo Lions Club, and is headed by Jesse Rhoden, formerly of Midland, as chairman.

The Midland Chamber of Commerce is in charge of local arrangements.

The rodeo-minded boosters have reservations at the Crawford Hotel and Har-Wil Courts. They will leave Midland early Wednesday, continuing their tour through the area to the West of Midland.

El Paso Trainman Will Contest Regan

EL PASO—(AP)—Louis A. Fall, El Paso, will seek election to the congressional seat now held by Rep. Ken Regan of Midland.

The El Paso man, a railroad conductor, made his announcement Monday. He was defeated for the same post in 1942 by R. Ewing Thomson, now a federal judge.

Retailers Feel Christmas Wind Effects In February

Midland's Christmas street decorations felt the effects of the exceptionally high winds last December, and now the Retailers Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is feeling the effects of the wind damage.

The committee members, meeting Monday afternoon, voted to borrow funds to pay off a $1,000 deficit incurred in the 1951 Christmas street lighting program. The retailers were of the opinion it would be easier to borrow the money now than to attempt to raise Christmas funds in February.

Funds to finance the 1952 program and to retire the 1951 indebtedness will be solicited later this year.

Henry Murphey, committee chairman, explained the wind damage was responsible for a large part of the deficit.

Holiday closing also came in for discussion at the Monday meeting. It was suggested that one holiday, possibly Memorial Day, be observed in honor of all American war dead, and that Armistice Day, November 11, not be observed here this year.

The committee agreed to ask the Chamber of Commerce to poll its members as to their preference in the matter before taking final action.

Other holidays to be observed will be determined at a mass meeting of merchants, possibly next month. A resolution was adopted expressing appreciation to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for its cooperation and assistance in the staging of the celebration opening the 1951 Christmas shopping season here.

Misrepresentation Costs Dealer $7,000

DALLAS—(AP)—Alton O. Herrin, 39, was awarded a $7,000 judgment here Monday against an auto dealer from whom he bought a used car.

A jury last week found that Lone Star Cadillac Company misrepresented a sales deal to Herrin, a paralyzed Abilene, Texas, tax accountant.

Herrin sued the firm for damages totaling $7,000 after he was sold a car as having been driven less than 300 miles. The jury found the car had been driven more than 11,000 miles.

Dulles Criticizes U. S. Approach To Russian Problem

NEW YORK—(AP)—John Foster Dulles, appraising America's duel with Russia, says "My estimate would be that time is still running against us."

"The question is what are we going to lose each year, rather than what are we going to gain," says the Republican advisor to the State Department and architect of the Japanese treaty.

Speaking on a CBS television program Monday night, Dulles said he does not think the United States is in a stronger position today as regards Russia than it was a year ago.

Dulles said this nation's difficulties today stem from an "entirely negative" approach.

Man Dies In Fall From Stunting Plane

LEMA, OHIO—(AP)—George Gary, about 55, was killed Monday when he fell out of the open cockpit of a stunting private plane near the Lima Airport.

Bruce Overmeyer, a Lima steepjack, was flying the two-seater Fairchild, which he owned.

Witnesses saw something fall out of the plane at about 1,500 or 2,000 feet. A searching party found Gary's body several miles from the airport. Gary's son, Lima Police Officer William Gary, was among the searching party.

One witness, Clinton Morra, said the plane took off without any warning. He said he saw it start two loops, stalling on both of them.

Overmeyer landed a few minutes later at the airport, looked in the back seat of the plane, then ran to a pickup truck and drove away, police said.

State Highway Patrolman A. T. Garlock, who found Overmeyer at his home in a trailer camp, quoted the pilot as saying:

"I know it—he wasn't there. What do you suppose they'll do to me for this?"

Assistant Prosecutor Walter White said he would file manslaughter charges Tuesday against Overmeyer.

IN HOLLYWOOD
Mickey Rooney Joins Stars Playing Before TV Cameras

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Move over, Red Skelton, Milton Berle and Sid Caesar—here comes Mickey Rooney with a half-hour show of his own for the folks who gather around the parlor screen.

The Mick dipped his toes into the channels first when he appeared recently on TV, with Jimmy Durante. Then he'll next get ankle-deep with two straight dramatic shows from New York on Feb 27 and March 17.

Soon he'll be in the swim completely with a weekly program that will be, according to Mickey:

"All comedy, because I'm a comedian, not a leading man. There won't be any dancing and singing to speak of, and there won't be anybody to hold me down."

"People started saying I was a midget. But what's wrong with that? Look at Jerry Lewis. Comedy is comedy. You have to play it."

It's not being boasted about in Hollywood, but there are now a million more television sets than movie seats in the U. S.

Latest count of video receivers: 15,700,000.

Movie theater seats: 14,685,150.

Put an average of three persons in front of those TV sets and there's a mighty video audience of 47 million!

Forty seven million bags of popcorn! No wonder theater owners are screaming about the sale of movies to TV and about "producers who are playing both ends against the middle."

Televisions: Marie Wilson better do something quick about the video version of "My Friend Irma" or it will be retitled, "My Friend Cathy Lewis." . . . When will TV announcers stop reading aloud those commercial titles? Really, people CAN read!

Latest big-time movies sold to TV: "Open City," "Falsan," and "The Quiet One."

Mere TV Shows On Film
Channel Chatter: Robert Stack will star in a filmed series, "The Phantom Pirate." . . . George Burns and Gracie Allen, with an eye to residual profits in the years to come, will film their show for CBS-TV beginning in March . . . CBS's "Big Town" is also switching to film for better quality. It's the first time one of the top-10 shows has been transferred to celluloid . . . Five Hollywood-originated shows, by the way, are now in the top-10—Red Skelton, I Love Lucy, Comedy Hour, Groucho Marx and Fireside theater.

It's a second chance in Hollywood for Richard Crane as the star of the "Rocky Jones—Space Ranger" TV films. He was under contract for three years to Fox. (Thanks to movie tricks, Rocky's space ship will really "fly" to other planets.)

You'd be surprised at the number of Hollywood producers dangling offers before Marie Eiva, Mariene Dietrich's daughter. But Marie can't accept movies. She's exclusively tied to CBS-TV.

Britain now produces about 40 per cent of all the food she consumes.

Percy Grainger To Give Concert

Percy Grainger, pianist-composer, will be presented in two concerts March 31 in the Midland High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

A students concert is scheduled at 4:30 p.m. and an evening program at 8:15 p.m.

Grainger is the composer of "Country Gardens," a piece which has broken sales records for many years. It was written, he said, during World War I while he was serving as a bandman in the 15th Band, C. A. C., at Fort Hamilton, South Brooklyn.

The band played for a number of Liberty Loan drives, he explained, and usually during the course of the concert someone would request a solo by the pianist. Grainger tried to think of a tune which would please all classes of listeners and his best-known melody was the result. In addition to the American edition of the number, there are British, German, Scandinavian and Australian editions.

Mrs. Leonard Thomas is the concert chairman and Mrs. Earl Johnson is chairman of ticket sales. Other chairmen are Mrs. Joe Birdwell, publicity; Mrs. C. S. Britt, radio publicity, and Mrs. Perry Pickett, poster publicity.

Service League Charity Ball Has Circus Theme

The Midland Service League held its second annual charity ball Monday night in the Midland Country Club, with approximately 200 couples attending.

Sidmay Ennis and his orchestra furnished the music. A circus theme was used in the decorations. Couples danced under a giant circus tent fashioned of pink and white crepe paper. The walls were lined with a menagerie of wild animal cages and the porches were decorated with cotton candy and gay circus flags.

Guests registered at a circus ticket booth near the entrance. Waiters in clown costumes served breakfast at 1 a.m. Table decorations featured a miniature merry-go-round and a circus wagon drawn by six little horses.

Others attending were Mrs. C. E. Cardwell, Mrs. Crain, Mrs. Dell Taylor, Mrs. Guy Willis, Mrs. Gillett, Mrs. Stout, Mrs. Monsingo and Mrs. C. E. Griffin.

The next meeting will be held March 2 in the home of Mrs. Seawright, 703 North Marientfield Street.

Anglo-American Relations

Perhaps in the interim caused by the death of King George VI Britain's left-wing Laborites, led by Aneurin Bevan, will indulge in some sober second thoughts about Anglo-American relations.

Bevan's first thoughts, voiced in the first phase of the debate in Parliament on Prime Minister Churchill's visit to the United States, were strongly anti-American.

As usual, he talked as if this nation were the one to be feared and the Russian bear were as meek as a kitten.

His apparent terror at the possibility Churchill might have committed Britain to a stern course of cooperative action with the U. S. in the Orient in event the truce talks fail is a demonstration which reflects either gross ignorance or lack of responsibility.

How many times does it have to be said that the United States is as interested as any nation in a satisfactory Korean settlement?

After all, which country is it that has suffered 100,000 casualties in Korea? Certainly not Britain.

One might be tempted to suggest that Bevan visit this side of the Atlantic to learn a few raw facts. But there's no proof that would help.

A man with his mind made up does not look for facts that run counter to his conclusions.

Clement Attlee, former Labor prime minister, came over here once to talk things over with President Truman.

He had a chance to see and hear Americans, to discover what they really think.

But today, long months after his return home, even he believes there is a "war party" in this country which would like to broaden the conflict in Asia and "have it out" with the Communists.

Fortunately, Attlee's moderate spirit still controls the Labor Party. But Bevan, who appears bent on elevating fantasy and irrationality into the realm of science, is getting stronger.

Soon he may be powerful enough to seize the party's reins.

From the standpoint of the solidarity of the free nations, it would be almost as much a calamity to have a Bevan-controlled Labor Party come back to power in Britain as to have a DeGaulle government in France.

Neither man seems to have any grasp of world realities.

Churchill, on the other hand, understands the value of a strong Anglo-American bond as a force for peace and order. His reaffirmation of that link is, according to the best information, the only real commitment he made while in Washington.

That he must play this down and instead stress repeatedly that he made no specific pledges to join the U. S. in a possibly enlarged Korean war is a measure of Bevan's low stature as a statesman.

If you would believe Bevan, a promise to stand firm with your friends against aggression is virtually a crime against the state.

He seeks to humiliate and convict Churchill for advocating a policy that is the very cornerstone of free men's security.

The great wonder is that fools like Bevan last so long and command so much attention on the political scene. Possibly they would not if the confusion and chaos abroad in the world did not create fears for them to play on.

All we can do is hope that men of this kind do not prevail in the seats of power.

Future Of Sudan

Reports are growing that the new Egyptian government, unlike its predecessor, is in a mood to discuss the West's proposal for a Middle East Command to protect the Suez and other vital points.

If the accounts are accurate, however, the Egyptian terms are something less than ideal. They are said to want the British garrison removed from Suez and King Farouk recognized as king of the Anglo-Egyptian-Sudan.

If British evacuation could be made contingent upon immediate replacement by a combined Middle East Command force, the requirements of adequate defense would seem to have been served.

The Sudan issue is something else. That territory has been jointly governed by Britain and Egypt. Last Fall the Egyptians summarily terminated the existing agreement and announced they were taking over full control.

The Sudanese themselves have indicated no desire for life under the Egyptians. It was the British aim to move them steadily toward self-government, and they had been making good progress.

In all fairness, the future of Sudan would appear to be a question for the United Nations—not Egypt—to settle.

The mounted policeman in the east who declined a promotion to the detective squad, just didn't want to come down off his high horse.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Mariner Eccles toying with idea of running for Senate as Utah Republican; Nation might well heed Mormon Church's inner debate on economy; Report on Nicolae Malaxa erroneous.

ODEN, UTAH — So strong is the drift toward Republicanism in this part of the West that one of the early pillars of the New Deal, Mariner S. Eccles, is toying with the idea of running for the Senate from Utah as a Republican.

Eccles helped organize the six companies which built Boulder Dam, comes from an old-line pioneer Mormon family which owns about half the banks and hotels in Utah, but arrived in Washington in the early days of the New Deal to become FDR's right-hand fiscal adviser.

Eccles was close to Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell and other economists who helped devalue the dollar, and subsequently he was appointed chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Came the Truman Administration and Eccles eventually tangled with the secretary of the Treasury over the basic policy of government bonds and its inflationary effect on the national economy. Last year with seven more years of his term to run, Eccles quit in disgust.

Back in Utah with a new and beautiful wife, Eccles is being urged to run for the Senate. If he does believe it or not—it will be as a Republican.

Reactionary Apostle The Mormon Church, by all odds the most dominant influence in Utah both spiritually and economically, is witnessing a significant inner debate over an issue also of interest to the rest of the nation—economy.

New president of the Mormon Church is kindly, elder statesman David O. McKay, now 78 years old, who used to ride 14 miles on horseback to his job as head of Weber College here. President McKay has strong sympathies for better education, better-paid teachers, more school buildings.

Opposing him is J. Reuben Clark, former corporation counsel, former undersecretary of State, former ambassador to Mexico, and until recently No. 1 counselor on the quorum of the 12 apostles of the Mormon Church.

When in the State Department, Clark was considered something of a radical. He pioneered a new study of the Monroe Doctrine which virtually meant that he surrender that century-and-a-half-old policy for the Western Hemisphere. He took what was considered a supergenerous stand in demanding that a large percentage of water from Boulder Dam and the Colorado River go to Mexico. And he took a firm stand against sending U. S. troops to the Mexican border during the 1928 Mexican skirmishes.

Today, at the age of 80, however, Reuben Clark is the most reactionary apostle in the Mormon Church—so reactionary that, when McKay became president, he promptly demoted him from his previous place as No. 1 counselor. Now he sits farther down the line.

Clark, however, has remained sympathetic to the drastic budget pruning of GOP Gov. Bracken Lee, especially when it came to cracking down on pride of Utah's education system.

It's embarrassing for a newspaperman who tries hard to be right to find out sometimes how wrong he can be—especially when it involves an injustice.

Such an injustice was committed by the report regarding Rumanian industrialist Nicolae Malaxa when I published part of a Central Intelligence report to the FBI found in Judy Coplon's purse at the time she was arrested. The report, which became a court record, stated that Malaxa had been hand in glove with Hermann Goering's brother, and had cooperated with the Communists in order to get payments for his property out of Rumania. Since then I have received a letter from the former prime minister of Rumania, N. Radescu, now a refugee in the U. S. A., explaining how his own cabinet, not the Communists, made the payments to Malaxa for his steel mills.

Further study of the voluminous records in the Malaxa case shows that instead of being friendly with the Iron Guard, as reported by the FBI, two Iron Guardists were convicted of breaking into Malaxa's home. The record also shows that he fought both the Nazis and the Communists.

Unfortunately, Malaxa has been the victim of a feud among Rumanian refugees in the country, some of whom now are trying to put across a congressional investigation of his immigration status. However, I should like to go on record that, from my study of the case, there is no reason why Malaxa should not become an American citizen.

I should also eat a little crow regarding Maj. Gen. Wallace Graham of the White House staff who gave a character reference for Malaxa. In this case General Graham was right and I was wrong.

Fussling Incongruity Old neighbors of GOP Senator Arthur V. Watkins constantly are puzzled over the incongruity of the senator's life in Utah and his record in Washington. The two are about as dissimilar as the economic policies of Franklin Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover.

In Utah, Watkins was head of a Mormon "stake" or region, at Orem, where he organized a strawberry cooperative and a cold-storage plant pretty much on New Deal lines.

Watkins even raised money for and built a community theater which has become the pride of all the farmers in that area. Finally, Watkins put across a system of socialized medicine for the teeth of school children which made dentists tear their hair and sent a shiver of fear down the spines of Utah doctors.

In Washington, however, Watkins consistently has voted against exactly the type of projects that he sponsored in Utah, has become one of the most reactionary of all senators.

But most ironic of all, Watkins pitched in to help defeat Democratic Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah on the ground that Thomas favored socialized medicine. Yet Thomas had only talked about a public-health bill. Watkins actually had put such a program across.

Q—What is the purpose of The Cooper Union? A—Since its founding by Peter Cooper in 1859 the Cooper Union has offered to young men and women free college-level education in the arts or sciences.

Q—In German legend who was Lohengrin? A—Lohengrin was the son of Parsifal, Knight of the Holy Grail.

Q—What was the historical significance of the Zimmerman Letter? A—While trouble was going on in Mexico in 1918, this letter was unearthed by British Intelligence and handed over to the U. S. State Department. In brief, it was a note from the German government to the Mexican government urging Mexico to declare war on the United States, promising German aid, and suggesting California and Texas as a reward. At the time Berlin denied the letter but admitted it after the war.

Q—How early was whiskey taxed in the United States? A—Taxing began with the passing of the Alexander Hamilton Excise Law in 1791. This led to the whiskey Rebellion in 1794.

In the discussion of the prisoner of war question, the Communists seem unable to separate the word voluntary from the word bayonet.

—Navy Lt. Walter Ellis, at truce talks.

The sentiment of nationalism is usually good, but this same sentiment can also find expression in an unbridled frenzy, which is none the less formidable to deal with because it is so often a cloak for domestic failure.

—This is conspicuously true of the Middle East.

—Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

Jacoby On Bridge

When the Vanderbilt Cup Tournament begins in New York this Thursday some hands will surely be bid and played in a startling manner. It isn't likely, however, that anything more startling will happen than the hand shown today.

Last nobody think that I approve the bidding or play of this hand. The South player happens to be far behind when his hand came along in the 1946 Vanderbilt Tournament. His bidding was an attempt to get an unusually good result so as to get back into the running. This attempt was spectacularly unsuccessful.

Bridge hand diagram showing North (D) 10, West, East, South, and various cards like A84, 1093, KQ763, etc.

Samuel Stayman, holding the West cards, opened the king of clubs. When his partner, Howard Schenken, dropped the queen, Stayman continued with the ace of clubs. East discarded the deuce of hearts, and Stayman then shifted to the deuce of spades.

Declarer won his first trick with dummy's ace of spades and returned the ten of diamonds. Schenken covered with the king of diamonds, and declarer won his second trick with the ace of diamonds.

South next led a heart to dummy's ace, thus winning his third trick. He returned the nine of diamonds from dummy. Schenken covered with the jack, and South won his fourth trick with the queen of diamonds.

At this moment Schenken quietly showed the rest of his cards to South and mildly observed: "I think the rest are mine."

Declarer looked at Schenken's hand, glanced apologetically at his partner, and folded up his hand, conceding down seven. The loss of 2,000 points on this hand did not improve South's chance to avoid elimination from the tournament.

The unusual part about this big set is that a defender found himself in position to claim the last seven tricks, in the course of which he could draw the rest of declarer's trumps.

If South led the king of hearts, for example, Schenken could ruff with the five of diamonds, draw trumps with the seven and six of diamonds, and then take the rest of the tricks with high spades.

Q—The bidding has been: East South West North Pass Pass Pass 1 Spade Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades 6-3-2, Hearts J-7-5-4, Diamonds Q-8-5, Clubs 9-6-4. What do you do?

A—Pass. The chances are that your partner has a fine hand, since otherwise at least one of the opponents would have been able to bid. Nevertheless, your partner has not opened with a forcing bid, so your hand should not be enough to produce a game. There is no advantage in overbidding your own hand: just because you know that your partner has strength.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-6-3-2, Hearts J-7-5-4, Diamonds Q-8-5, Clubs 9-6. What do you do?

Contino Seeks Job As Doughfoot

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Dick Contino, who made as much as $4,000 a week as an accordionist before his conviction as a draft dodger, is trying to enter the armed forces.

The handsome, husky 22-year-old took his pre-induction physical examination Monday and said afterward, "I hope I passed." He said if he passes the physical he'll probably choose the Army.

Drafted last April, Contino fled from Fort Ord, Calif., induction center and turned himself in here a few days later. At his trial he said he was suffering from "panic claustrophobia." He was fined $10,000 and sentenced to six months in McNeill Island Penitentiary. He got time off for good behavior and was released last December 23.

Application of the Cities Production Corporation for adoption of field rules for the West Semoline field, Gaines County.

The Peacock Path

By Edwin Rutt

THE STORY. Jim Orth had been invited to the home of the wealthy stockbroker, socialite and sportsman Marston Cravath (Marney) Cravath in the pose of a playboy Cravath's niece Sally met in Bermuda. Orth meets the guests, Jack Dunton, Cravath's partner, and his wife Dolly Dunton, Mrs. Eve Wheeler, a wealthy widow, Anne Warburton, also a partner, and Dave Steden, Cravath's secretary.

II

WHEN it came time to dress for dinner, the mckenyah! Manila took me in tow. We got my bags from the convertible and I followed him upstairs to a large airy room overlooking the lawn we'd just vacated. Aside from the hallway door there were several others. Two of these concealed closets and one, ajar, showed a bathroom with light-blue tile. Still another led, I imagined, into a connecting room.

Manila hadn't been gone two minutes before a light tap sounded on this latter door. It opened and Marston Cravath stood there, beckoning me.

I found myself in a cozy little den, obviously Cravath's private sanctum. It was paneled and crowded with book shelves. There was a wicker fireplace, a sofa, and a couple of deep leather-covered easy chairs.

From bookcase tops and table's cups, statuettes and medals other trophies threw bright silvery gleams. The walls were hung with plaques and pictures. I saw Marston Cravath at the tiller of a clean-lined swift-looking sloop; pictures of Cravath on a polo pony, at golf, tennis, skiing. A little silver figurine mounted on a dark-wood base represented a bowler. Over the fireplace was a huge picture of a former Yale football team, with Cravath in the center of the group holding a ball.

He followed my gaze and smiled. "We're among my souvenirs, Orth. Just as well that the room next door happened to be vacant. Makes it easy for us to talk privately when we want to. The smile faded. "Let's get to business. First off, you did very well out there. I don't see how anyone could suspect that you're anything except a young idler Sally met in Bermuda."

My part called for a character with the appearance of a wastrel and the brains of a woodchuck.

"Well," Cravath said, "as I told you yesterday in your office, Sally and I talked this over. It made sense for us to find an investigator who could pass off as a guest here. Conrad Dillon recommended you. When you said you were familiar with Bermuda, this dodge suggested itself. Sally was down there last summer."

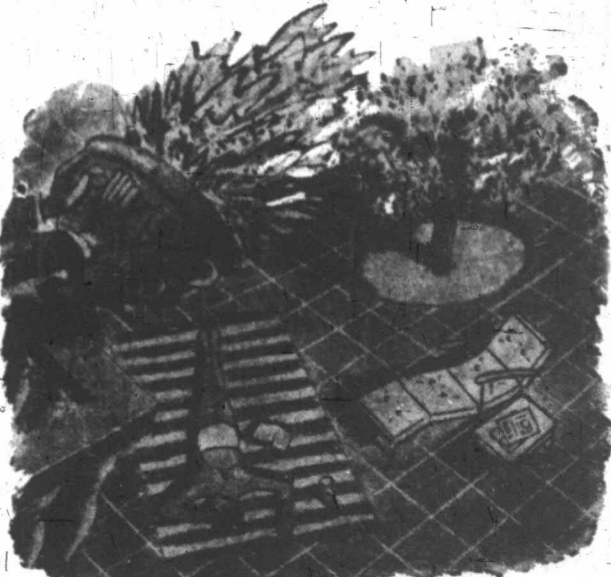

"Didn't Dillon ask why you needed a private detective?" I inquired. Conrad Dillon was assistant district attorney of New York City, and he and Cravath had a club in common.

"I intimated that it was a private matter, nothing for the police. That satisfied him."

"Good," I said. "Now have we time to review this business?" "Plenty of time." He sat in one leather chair, motioned me toward the other. "These women take hours to dress. Well, as I told you, it began last Tuesday. I was sunning on the back terrace. I was almost asleep when the pot came crashing down. It had geraniums in it, one of two jardiniere that stood on the railing of a balcony over the terrace."

"How big are the jardiniere?" I asked.

CRAVATH grimaced, mouth tight. "Easily three feet high

I was almost asleep when the pot came crashing down . . . one of two jardiniere that stood on the railing of a balcony.

and a foot and a half in diameter. And remember, the thing was packed with dirt. My guess is that I just missed having my skull cracked like an eggshell."

"Who has the room off the balcony?"

"Nobody," he said promptly. "It's the least attractive we've got and we never offer it to guests, unless there's a houseful. And since the room isn't used much, the balcony isn't either."

"So somebody could easily have tipped one off?"

"Absolutely. Of course, though, such a thing didn't enter my head at first. I merely concluded that the thing had toppled off by itself somehow. But the more I thought of it, the less sense that made. Those pots are heavy. And some pretty high winds we've had didn't budge them."

"You were sunning how?" I asked. "In a deck chair? Lying on the ground?"

"Flat on my back on a beach-roll. The pot landed about a foot from my head. Scared the heart out of me and"—his strong jaw jutted—"I don't scare very often."

"You cleaned up the mess yourself?"

"Yes. The jardiniere was smashed into a thousand pieces. I threw the whole works, geraniums, big hunks of dirt and all, into some shrubbery."

I LIT a cigarette. "I think you were wise to keep quiet."

Cravath looked grim. "That's my own hunch. Well then, on Thursday night, I went to James town to see a friend of mine. Drove over alone in the station wagon."

He had given me a sketchy account of Thursday night's episode in my office, but now I asked him to repeat it.

He did so, explaining that the Windover garage was in a kind of hollow at some distance from the house. It was a four-car garage with no living quarters above it. His chauffeur, a married man, had a cottage elsewhere on the premises.

A cement runway led down what he described as a rather sharp incline to the garage itself. Cravath had returned shortly after midnight and reached the top of this incline before he noticed that the door to the station wagon's berth was closed. In fact, so were the three other doors. He'd stopped short and jerked on the emergency brake.

Then he'd climbed out of the car, thinking that someone around the place had been careless and unobservant to shut the door when a glance inside would have disclosed that the station wagon was out.

So he had walked down the incline and started fumbling with the door. And something—he was not clear as to precisely what—caused him to go suddenly rigid.

In my view, Marney Cravath owed his life to the fact that he had been a great athlete and still had, doubtless, an athlete's lightning reactions.

In any case, he'd just managed to hurl himself out of the path of hundreds of pounds of metal, wood, plastic, rubber and whatever else goes into a big heavy station wagon. The station wagon had come roaring down the incline like the car of Juggernaut, smashed halfway through the garage door, torn off one fender completely, crumpled the other like paper and generally wrecked its whole front end.

And Marney Cravath believed, implicitly, that the plan had been for him to be found a mangled, bloody and dead pulp somewhere under the wreckage. Which was the reason why I, James Russell Orth, was a kind of spurious guest at Windover.

WELL, it could have happened. The entire household knew Cravath had gone alone. He had not returned until, ostensibly, everybody had retired. Simple enough for someone to sneak out, close the garage door and lurk in the shadows, almost as simple, too, to glide to the car as Cravath walked-down the incline, reach in, release the brake. That might have been enough. But if not, with the car in the precarious position he described, a heave on the rear bumper would have done it. Anyone, man or woman, had strength enough for that.

"How did you explain the wrecked car the next day?"

He looked at me sharply. "I didn't. I decided to let whoever was behind this monkey business discover things for himself. I did route out Williamson, the chauffeur. I told him that I'd forgotten to put the brake on and asked him to keep his mouth shut, because I didn't want anyone to know what a careless fool I'd been."

A man never realizes how well he looks in a hot until he begins to get bold.

P-TA City Council Gives Tea In Memory Of Mrs. Byerley

A tea, in memory of the late Mrs. L. G. Byerley, was given by the P-TA City Council Saturday in the Midland High School Cafeteria. The tea also commemorated Founder's Day.

Mrs. J. J. Black was in charge of the program. Thumb-nail sketches of Mrs. Byerley's activities were given as follows: Mrs. Andrew Faiken, her work with the Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church and the Council of Church Women; Mrs. Howard Hodge, her activities with the Woman's Club; ice in starting the Midland Youth Center; Mrs. W. A. Kay, her work in the state board of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. Holland Holt, Mrs. Byerley's activities in the district P-TA, and Mrs. Ernest Sidwell and Charles Matthews, her work with the Midland P-TA and the public schools.

Each talk stressed her unmitigated energy in being of service to others, her high standards, deep interest in the welfare of children and youth and her love of people.

The invocation was given by Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The seventh grade choral group, accompanied by Billy John Whitehead, sang "Break Forth Oh Heavenly Light," and "Beautiful Savior."

Mrs. Joe Mims played background music during the tea hour.

The table was covered with an embroidered cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow daffodils and acacia. A color scheme of yellow and green was carried out.

Mrs. Irby Dyer and Mrs. J. J. Black poured. Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. M. B. Arick and Mrs. H. C. Rowland registered the guests.

The hospitality committee included Mrs. Elliott Barron, Mrs. James Marberry, Mrs. H. L. Hensley, Mrs. Stanley Erskine, Mrs. Tom Bobo, Mrs. Foy Proctor and Mrs. Waldo Leggett.

Approximately 75 guests attended. Out-of-city guests were Mrs. W. A. Kay of Fort Stockton, Mrs. Holland Holt of Abilene, Mrs. Irby Dyer of Bartow and Mrs. Joseph Best of Wink.

Safety Hint For All Pedestrians: Don't Run Into Gromyko's Auto

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A perfect example of how rude he can be was given by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the United Nations session which just ended in Paris.

The big, black, "12" automobile that was carrying Minister Gromyko from his official residence to the Palais Rose for a UN session struck a woman who was walking across the Champs Elysees.

She was taken to a hospital, where she was identified as a White Russian refugee. Fortunately, her injuries were not serious.

When the woman was told who had been riding in the car that struck her she said calmly, "That doesn't surprise me."

That much of the story was printed generally as a minor news item of the day. The sequel was uncovered by a writer for the Paris picture magazine, "Match."

Instead of doing anything for the woman his car struck, after the accident Gromyko went to the French Foreign Office. There he lodged a diplomatic protest complaining of the crowded traffic lanes.

As a result, the police added a special car with two inspectors to Gromyko's regular three-motorcycle escort.

Mine Field Goes To Dogs

Walter J. Donnelly, U. S. ambassador and high commissioner in Austria, has told a dramatic story of how one family succeeded in outwitting the Communist guard around the Iron Curtain, and escaped to freedom.

The border in this case was guarded by two rows of land mines. In one row the mines were close together, in the other farther apart. At regular intervals along the border were guard houses for the patrols and their police dogs.

As this refugee family attempted to sneak across the border at night, the dogs picked up their scent and gave chase. Just before the dogs reached them, the refugees reached under their coats and pulled out cats.

As the cats ran, the dogs gave chase. As the cats crossed the minefields, they exploded. The refugees then made their way with safety across the mine craters and so escaped.

German Rearmament

German rearmament, if approved at the NATO conference, may appear as a real threat to Soviet Russia. Rearmament in the United States probably is expected, but is too far away to offer much concern to the Russian people. The same is true of a possible rearmament in Japan.

But when the Germans start rearming, that's something that directly concerns the people of Western Russia, who remember all too well what happened when the Germans invaded their land in World War II. German rearmament therefore is something that Communist propagandists are learning to use in whipping up the martial spirit of their own people.

Congress Is Behaving

Congress, although eager to wind up its business before the political nominating conventions in July, didn't pass a single law in the first month of its new session.

The Senate did manage to complete action on 77 measures and the House 11. But only three of them were on the same subject and those three had to be sent into conference to iron out differences.

A total of 863 new bills were tossed into the legislative hopper in the first month, however—283 in the Senate and 580 in the House. Few of them have any chance of passage in this crowded session.

There's a backlog of more than 3,000 bills introduced in the first session of the 82nd Congress and still pending.

Cool Place For Hot Session

Present plans are to hold three meetings of the full North Atlantic Treaty council in a year. One of these meetings would be held in the United States, two in Europe. After the conference at Lisbon, Portugal in February, the next session would be in June or July.

Since last November's meeting was held in Rome, the U. S. normally would be expected to be host at the next session.

But Washington in June and July isn't too comfortable and the political temperature here will be even higher. So the mid-Summer meeting probably will be held in some place like Norway.

Communist Lie

One of the recent propaganda tricks of the Communists has been an attempt to plant a big lie in the displaced persons and refugee camps of Western Europe.

The lie has been that the United States was shipping displaced persons to Korea to fight in the war against the Communists.

In one instance, this propaganda trick had tragic consequences. A boatload of refugees had just sailed from a European port for America. A few miles at sea, the captain of the ship ordered a fire drill.

As the lifeboats were lowered to test the davits, some of the passengers became alarmed that they were going to debark the refugees, for transfer to a vessel going to Korea. One of the passengers cut his throat and committed suicide.

That was why the story got out. Counter-measures now have been taken, to assure DP's they are not being shipped to Korea and they will be safely transported to America.

Hammering Down Nails

A nail is a nail. That is, everybody thought so until Louisiana Rep. Eddie Hebert's subcommittee on the Armed Services got to investigating Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps buying of nails.

John Courtney and Paul Monahan, chief counsel and special investigator for the committee, didn't know anything about nails when they began. They started with Chicago mail order house catalogues. There were listed nine different types of nails for general industry. Then they went to the catalogues of two big nail manufacturers, Republic and Bethlehem Steel Companies. They were able to list all the types of nails that the firms could manufacture on pocket-sized booklets of 48 and 30 pages respectively.

When the investigators got to Armed Service mail buying, however, they found more than 300 different types of nails on order and in stock. Each type had a different card in the Munitions Board master catalogue.

The services now are being advised to simplify their specifications and use more standard catalogue nails to keep their houses from falling apart.

Mother Charged In Infant's Death

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—The estranged wife of a Richwood, Ohio, doctor, charged with murder in the death of her infant daughter, was reported in a fair condition Tuesday.

Mrs. Diane Lilly, 27, was found in the bathroom of her sister's home here Monday, lying in a pool of blood. Her throat and wrists had been slashed. The infant, 10-month-old Emily Lilly, was found dead in its crib in Mrs. Lilly's bedroom.

A charge of murder was filed against the mother in Justice of the Peace Buck Jones' court by homicide Sergeant Lewis Yates.

Justice Jones said Monday night an autopsy showed the child died of "violent strangulation." He said he would return a coroner's verdict Tuesday.

Mrs. Lilly, wife of Dr. Jack Lilly of Richwood, was visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. W. V. Owen. Owen, who said the Lillys were estranged, told police he heard a noise in the bathroom about 7 a. m. "as if someone were falling." He rushed in and found Mrs. Lilly.

Lilly, who operates a Richwood medical clinic, was reported enroute to San Antonio Monday night. Owen, of Columbus, Ohio, is stationed at Randolph Air Force Base here.

Runaway Gas Well Again Catches Fire

RENOVO, Pa.—(P)—A Texas fire-fighting expert made ready again Tuesday to put out a 150-foot flame which broke out for the third time in a newly brought-in gas well near here.

Paul Adair, who flew here from Dallas, Texas over the weekend, prepared to blast 100 quarts of solid nitroglycerine—50 on each side of the well—in an attempt to blow out the flame.

The fire first was touched off during a capping operation Friday. Gas tapped at a depth of about 7,000 feet blew a heavy cap hundreds of feet into the air.

The fire died out for a short time the same day, then broke out again. Sunday, while blasting preparations were being made, the flame disappeared.

It burst out again Monday when a spark from a scooping machine removing earth from the top of the shaft ignited gas hanging in the air.

Levelland Field Flare Gas Hearing Slated

AUSTIN—(P)—A method of eliminating flare gas waste in part of the Levelland field will be sought by the Railroad Commission in a hearing here March 4.

The commission ordered a further study of the flare gas problem applying to the Veal and Dean-Wright areas of the field.

The commission said it would give operators of unconnected wells in the area opportunity to show cause why a "reasonable cooperative" plan for conserving the gas now being flared should not be worked out.

The Levelland field is in Cochran and Hockley Counties.

Louisiana Chooses Governor Tuesday

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Louisiana was choosing a governor for the next four years Tuesday and testing the strength of Gov. Earl Long and his opposition of major Democratic political factions.

Former District Judge Carlos Spahit of Baton Rouge was the standard bearer for the Administration. He was picked for the race by Governor Long, who is barred constitutionally from succeeding himself.

Spahit was opposed by Appeal Judge Robert Kennon of Minden. Spahit was first and Kennon was runner-up in a field of nine candidates in the January 15 Democratic primary. The seven eliminated candidates have thrown their support to Kennon.

The winner of Tuesday's primary will be chosen formally as governor in the April general election when he runs against Harrison Bagwell, the Republican candidate. There are only about 1,300 registered Republicans in Louisiana.

Interest in the campaign and predictions of ideal voting weather brought expectations of a record turnout at the polls. The weather was tempered over the state with a few scattered showers in northern and western Louisiana.

Approximately 780,000 persons voted in the January Democratic primary out of 981,000 who were qualified. After the registration books were reopened, the list of voters reached 1,014,877.

The polls opened at 6 a.m. in all parishes and will close at 7 p.m. except in four larger parishes, where they will close at 9 p.m.

Voters also will choose four other state officials and 63 state legislators.

Tom West's Father Dies In Philadelphia

Dr. Thomas Marshall West died in a Philadelphia, Pa., hospital Monday after suffering a heart ailment 10 days ago.

He was the father of Tom West, 1807 West Michigan Street, Midland, who went to Philadelphia early last week to be at his father's bedside. Tom West is a geologist with the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Dr. West was a surgeon in Williamsport, Pa., many years before his retirement in 1949. Since then he had lived in Toms River, N. J.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon in Philadelphia, with interment to be in Baltimore, Md., Dr. West's birthplace.

Survivors include the widow, two sons, two daughters and four grandchildren, among whom are Tom and Stephen West of Midland.

Big Spring Youth's Steer Is Champion At San Antonio Show

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Hereford breeders watched BR Proud Mixer 7th crowned champion Hereford bull of the 1952 San Antonio Livestock Exposition Monday.

The champion is owned by the Arledge Ranch of Roy and Henry Arledge, Seymour, Texas.

The reserve award went to Dudley Brothers' DB Larry Domino 34th.

Earl Götter of the Hardy Orisom Ranch won a double honor when his BO Royal Lady 35th was named champion Hereford female.

Guitar earlier had won the championship of the boys' show with a steer he bred, shown by Leo Holloway.

Turner Ranch, Sulphur, Okla., took the reserve champion female title with TR Lady Larry.

Other judging Monday included Angus bulls, the ABBA Brahman breeding classes, open classes of steers and selections of champions of each breed.

A top honor of the day went to James Shortes, 17, Big Spring, when his entry was chosen champion Hereford in the open class and later was selected breed champion of the show.

Shortes' steer previously had won championship honors at the American Royal in Kansas City and the 1952 Houston Fat Stock Show.

Leo Holloway, Abilene, exhibited "Hardy" as the reserve champion Hereford, after winning the championship of the boys show Saturday.

GRATEFUL FOR PROMPT ACTION

DALLAS—(AP)—Leon Cunningham, convicted narcotics peddler, probably is glad Tuesday the jury didn't deliberate any longer.

For every minute the federal court jury deliberated Monday, Cunningham, 35, drew a year in prison, 18 altogether. He was charged with selling a total of 4,895 grains of marijuana to a special employe of the Narcotics Bureau.

Doctor, Accused Of Molesting Boys, Commits Suicide

JOPLIN, MO.—(AP)—A 56-year-old doctor, accused of molesting teen-aged boys, fatally wounded himself Monday.

He was arrested last week after officers began investigating reports of immorality among high school youths.

Police Commissioner John Hollis said Dr. Guy L. Meredith killed himself with a pistol while sitting in his locked reception room.

Meredith, who had practiced here a quarter of a century, was under bond on eight charges of molesting minors.

Prosecuting Attorney Gene Frost said the doctor denied the accusations. Meredith said the boys were members of a "dirty club" at high school and had consulted him about their own immoral practices. Frost added.

The prosecutor said questioning of high school students disclosed "shocking conditions" in the morality of about 40 boys.

Willie Sutton, World's No. 1 Criminal, Seized In Brooklyn

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fugitive Willie (The Actor) Sutton emerged Tuesday from the role of an obscure miser with a $6-a-week room, and was called before a judge as the nation's most-sought bank robber.

Two alert young policemen recognized Sutton on a Brooklyn street Monday to end a vast, five-year manhunt launched when he made the second prison break of his career.

Police were taking special precautions Tuesday as Sutton, 51, was to plead before Queens County Judge William E. Groat on an indictment accusing him of a $64,000 bank hold-up here in March, 1950.

Sutton, whose exploits and disguises have become criminal legend, also has been mentioned by police in many other recent big jobs—including the $1,500,000 robbery of Brink's, Inc., Boston armored car service, in 1950.

Asked about the Brink's job Monday, Sutton affected a toothy, theatrical smile and told newsmen: "Hell, I don't know anything about it. I'll probably be blamed for anything unsolved in the books."

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan called Sutton "the Babe Ruth of bank robbers" and "the world's number one criminal."

Greatest Manhunt Sutton was spotted by the FBI as one of the nation's 10 most-wanted men. But he went along with police meekly Monday, although he was armed.

Monaghan said the arrest "ends the greatest manhunt in history." Then he gave immediate promotions to the two young patrolmen who made the arrest, Joseph J. McClellan, 28, and Donald Shea, 26. He also promoted Detective Louis Weiner, who aided them.

Sutton was spotted tinkering with his automobile battery because he did not want to pay a garage mechanic $1.50 to do the job for him. But police found $7,000 in cash in his pocket and another $2,000 in his $6-a-week room.

The room, just a few blocks from Brooklyn Police Headquarters, was small and with a minimum of furnishings. Sutton lived there as "John Mahoney" and was described as "quiet and clean" by his 70-year-old landlady, Mrs. Inez Marzan.

Asked how he eluded capture during the 18 months he lived in Brooklyn, Sutton told newsmen he kept away from uniformed police, never ate twice in the same restaurant, avoided old friends and "ducked women" who "can also get you in trouble."

He said he worked on Staten Island here several years after his escape, then went to Brooklyn because he was born there and knows it "better than any part of the country."

Sutton earned his name of "The Actor"—as well as "Slick Willie"—from the disguises he used in his bank jobs. He has pulled robberies dressed as a Western Union messenger, mail carrier, private chauffeur and even as a policeman.

His police record goes back 31 years. But his first big job did not come off until October, 1930, when he and his confederate pulled a $130,000 jewel robbery here.

A month later he was caught and sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for 30 years, but in late 1932 he sawed his way out of a supposedly escape-proof cell.

In 1935 Sutton was captured in Philadelphia and sentenced to Holmsburg, Pa., prison for 25 to 50 years. But on a robbery conviction, he escaped by overpowering a guard Feb. 10, 1947, and had been a fugitive since.

He was booked here Monday on charges of burglary, grand larceny and assault stemming from an indictment involving the 1950 holdup of the Manufacturers Trust Company in Long Island City, Queens.

Gossett To Speak At Joint Meeting Of Lions, Optimists

Ed Gossett of Dallas, a former member of Congress from the Wichita Falls district, will address a joint meeting of the Lions and Optimists Clubs at noon Wednesday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Ed Gossett

Gossett, who last year resigned his seat in Congress to become general attorney for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, is said to be one of the state's outstanding speakers. He is expected to discuss the free enterprise system and the dangers facing it today.

The former congressman has played a leading role in his home state in the Tideland controversy, and is a sponsor of a constitutional amendment to modernize the method of electing the President of the United States.

A capacity attendance of members of the two service clubs and their guests is expected at the meeting.

Department Board Clears Vincent Of Disloyalty Charges

WASHINGTON—(P)—Career Diplomat John Carter Vincent was reported Tuesday to have been given a clean bill of health by the State Department's Loyalty and Security Board. He will return shortly to his assignment as U. S. diplomatic agent at Tangier.

Vincent returned here late last year, demanding a public hearing on a long series of accusations made against him by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.). Last month he testified before a Senate subcommittee and denied he is a Communist or has been a Communist or has Communist leanings.

In his attacks, McCarthy has made much of the fact Vincent was chief of the State Department's Far Eastern Division during the time when U. S. policy called for a merger of the Chinese Communists and Nationalists into a coalition government.

Vacancy—

1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 South, in the four counties.

More than 20 oil companies, including many majors, and 30 individual land holders contested Wilson's claim as a public hearing last July 13. Some are expected to appeal Giles' ruling to the courts.

Wilson's discovery and Giles' decision place ownership of the disputed lands with the state public school fund. The lands may be sold by the public school board to good-faith claimants—those who now hold the land—or after 90 days they may be leased or sold to Wilson under land vacancy laws.

The state retains royalty rights on all sales and leases. Wilson gets one-sixteenth royalty on any sold or leased to anyone besides himself. May Be Leased

Unless good-faith claimants purchase the land, that which is within five miles of oil production may be leased only. This included 417 acres at the time of Wilson's original application and likely includes more now because of recent rapid development of the area.

The State Land Office has had Wilson's claim under study many months. A licensed state land surveyor, Byron L. Simpson of San Angelo, was employed to run a survey for the state on the disputed areas. He reported at last Summer's hearing he was convinced by his survey that the T&P Railway Company had used a survey line in April, 1876, and abandoned a survey line it had run in January of the same year.

Wilson claimed the vacancies were created when subsequent surveys and patents were based on the January survey line.

Holders of property involved in the disputed area appeared at the public hearing to protest Wilson's theory, claiming they had bought and paid for the land and didn't think they should buy it again from the state to keep from losing it.

Oil companies also protested the Wilson claim. They would have to pay substantially higher royalties to secure leases on the lands under state school ownership than they now have to pay the present land holders.

Psychiatrist Visits Oil Man's Daughter Charged In Slaying

EL PASO—(P)—A writ of habeas corpus was expected to be filed Tuesday in an effort to free Mrs. Richard O. Parsons, charged with murder in the death of her Army lieutenant husband.

Attorney W. H. Fryer said he would file the writ if bond was not set Tuesday for the pretty blonde, 22, daughter of an oil-rich Tulsa, Okla., family.

Parsons was shot to death about 11:30 a.m. Saturday. Mrs. Parsons surrendered to police about 7:30 p.m., accompanied by two attorneys hired by her father after long distance telephone conversations. The father is oil man A. B. Fieger.

Second Marriage
The marriage to Parsons in a Tulsa society event was her second. She was wed to Bill L. Tucker Nov. 23, 1949, while both were students at the University of Tulsa. They were divorced Feb. 2, 1951, on grounds of "extreme cruelty."

A psychiatrist hired by Fryer visited the slender, blue-eyed woman in her cell Monday night and said he found her showing very little emotion. "Or if she did," he said, "it was impaired emotion."

Dr. Arlin Cooper said the young woman gave "short simple answers to all my questions." Cooper said he would have no comment about Mrs. Parsons' mental condition until he had studied his findings and interviewed her again. He talked with her about one and one-half hours.

Meanwhile, no examining trial had been held and none was expected before Friday. District Attorney William Clayton said he would ask Justice of the Peace Charles Wimberg to hold Mrs. Parsons without bond.

VOICE GOES TO SEA—The "Voice of America" will be relayed to listeners behind the Iron Curtain from the "Courier," a floating radio-relay station. Just commissioned in the Coast Guard, the Courier is shown at her Hoboken, N. J., dock. Her 150,000-watt transmitter is the most powerful radio transmitting equipment ever to put to sea. The ship will relay "Voice" broadcasts and, by steaming to new locations, outwit Communists' efforts to "jam" the "Voice" broadcasts.

Suit Attacks Right Of Party To Demand Membership Pledge

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—Charles W. Dickson, San Antonio, candidate for congressman at large, Tuesday brought suit attempting to force the Republican Party to allow Democrats to participate in the Precinct 50 Republican Convention May 3.

In his plea for a mandamus and injunction against Harry Hutchkin, Bexar County Republican Party chairman, and Mrs. Mallette Taylor, Precinct 50 Republican chairman, Dickson charges their state executive committee is unlawfully denying the plaintiff the right to participate.

The suit, filed in 37th District Court, charges the committee February 16 adopted a resolution which instructed the defendant to deny the plaintiff the right to vote in the Precinct 50 Convention without first declaring himself a Republican.

This, Dickson adds, he cannot do conscientiously since he also intends voting in the Democratic primaries.

Crane News

CRANE—Margaret Barnsley of New York is visiting in the home of Mrs. Adelle Bell.

Scoutmaster Harold Pettit accompanied three boys to Camp Louis Parr at Merizon last Sunday to attend a business meeting. Scouts attending included Allen Hollis, Deward Lowery and George Thompson.

The Student Council of the Elementary School has organized for the second semester under the direction of Mrs. Joe Meyer as sponsor. The council, in regular meetings, discusses problems of the students and plans for school activities.

Delegates Chosen
Delegates from the high school student council have been selected for the state meeting in Corpus Christi March 28 and 29. They are Dwan Warren, senior; Charlene Ellison, junior; Charles Lively, sophomore; Rosanna Yickers, Freshman, and Billy Gregory, eighth grade.

Charlene Ellison has been appointed social chairman, by the council to prepare a program for the annual Western Day which will be held soon. The day calls for full Western regalia, with appropriate programs and stunts.

Citizens Panel To Back Six Reforms

WASHINGTON—(P)—Urged by former President Herbert Hoover to help wipe out the "humiliation" of government scandals, the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report Tuesday launched a lobbying effort in behalf of six major federal reform proposals.

Heading the list of projects it will push is a Senate-approved bill to remove many jobs from political patronage, provide for advancing able workers in government careers, and facilitate the removal of incompetents.

Hoover Monday night told the national reorganization conference the "loosening conduct" of some officials recently exposed is an indictment of the government's method of choosing and managing its 2,500,000 employees.

"No one can ignore the flood of exposures of less than sacred honor or real patriotism by employees in many agencies of the government during these recent years," the ex-President told 800 civic and business leaders and government officials.

Texas Convict Seeks Help Toward Release On Parole

Some employer in the Midland area can help a prisoner now serving a four-year stretch on a Texas prison farm at Otey get out on parole.

The prisoner wrote a letter to the Texas Employment Commission office at 200 East Wall Street recently in quest of a job.

His letter follows:
"I am writing in regard to a job. I am confined in the Texas Prison System at Otey—on the Ramsey farm.

"I have been approved for parole if I can secure a job. I have no people who can help me get one so I would more than be thankful for any assistance you might give me.

"I have roughnecked for about five years with a drilling company out of Tulsa, Okla., but have been out of contact with people too long to know anyone who might give me a chance. Also I am a pretty good carpenter's helper.

"I have to have my prospective employer write the Board of Pardons and Parole that he is willing to give me a job.

"I am serving four years and I have now done almost two of it and I have a perfectly clear record here and this is my first time in the pen.

"I have nine more months to go before I receive a discharge but I had rather have a parole now because I believe it would help me more than anything to go straight.

"I do feel that I am fully rehabilitated and thank you for any help you would give."

John D. Bechtel, office manager of the Texas Employment Commission office said Monday he has contacted several employers in Midland.

"They expressed interest in the man and promised to let me know their decision," he said.

Tankers—

Boston.
Thirty-two seamen were rescued from the stern by the light of flares in a daring split-second operation carried out in the face of a screaming northwest storm off perilous Chatham Bar.

A moment after the rescue, that section of the split tanker was smashed against the bar by breakers 25 or 30 feet high.

The two tankers—the Pendleton and the Fort Mercer—apparently broke up at almost the same time Monday in the Winter's worst storm off this little fishing port.

Five Leap Into Sea
Five, and possibly six men, died early Tuesday when they leaped from the tossing bow of the Fort Mercer and missed the bouncing life rafts put out by the Coast Guard cutter Yukon.

One man was lost while heroic Coast Guards were taking the 32 seamen from the stern of the Pendleton.

Still another, although clad in a lifejacket, was swallowed up by the angry seas when he leaped from the Pendleton's bow in an attempt to reach a nearby Coast Guard motor lifeboat.

Positive identification of the lost men could not be determined immediately.

Some 38 men were believed aboard the two sections of the Fort Mercer but their fate was not definite. Like Roar of Thunder

One of the survivors of the Pendleton, Douglas B. Poits, 31, of Pasadena, Texas, said the ship "broke in half—all of a sudden—about 3:50 a.m."

"I looked out and saw the bow of the boat floating to port," he said. Ray Sybert of Norfolk, Va., the Pendleton's chief engineer, said the noise of the vessel breaking up sounded "like the roar of thunder."

"The seas were breaking in every direction," he said. "The tanker cracked right through No. 8 hold, just forward of midship. Right up to that time we had no warning anything was wrong."

Sybert had great praise for the Coast Guard rescue crew.

"Their work was nothing short of miraculous," he said. "Here were four young men of the Coast Guard lifeboat crew working in the dark against terrific odds. We will be indebted forever to the Coast Guard."

Rotary Wins City Cage Crown Trims Phillips 66 By 54 To 47 Score

Play came to an abrupt end in the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League Monday night, Rotary Engineering Company sacking up its fourth straight city title with a 54-47 win over weakened Phillips and Borden's again downing four-man Western Plastic, 56 to 36.

Both teams wrapped up their titles in par for the course, taking two straight in the best two-of-three play-off.

Phillips—playing without regulars Gerald Tucker, Kenny Jastrow and Don Jones—gave Rotary a much better battle than was anticipated. The Engineers were without Dennis Rutherford, but did have Leland Huffman, J. B. Collins, Paul Haskins and other mainstays.

But the underdog Phillips team led most of the first half before a 13-point spree by the Engineers put them ahead to stay. Even so, Phillips rallied several times in the last half, almost closing the gap before the Engineers salvaged the contest with point-matching spurts.

Huffman led Rotary with 17 points, Collins scoring 13. Don Grove scored 13 points for the losers and Kuesner hit 13 tallies, all on long set shots.

Mims' tricky ball-handling stars, Phillips started out to play a steady, deliberate type of offense and led 10-8 at the quarter. Midway in the second quarter, the deadly-shooting Phillips team had a 22 to 14 lead.

But here Huffman got hot for three straight buckets and the Engineers held the Phillips team scoreless while ringing up 13 straight points.

Rotary had a 10-point lead at the end of three frames, 45-35, but Phillips cut it to four points, 48-44, with three minutes to go. The Engineers, however, found the range for three more hurried buckets to sack up the contest.

Borden's easily waltzed by four-man team Western Plastic, as the Plastics again fell one short and played abhorred.

Parsons High Man

The Borden team tallied 20 points in the first frame to 10 for the Plastics and lead 30-18 at halftime. It was 41-26 at the end of three quarters and 56-36 at the windup.

Joe Parsons hit the bucket for 16 points for Borden's, Sam Erb getting 13 points. Marshall Patton and Jim Patton scored 12 and 10 points, respectively, for the losers.

El Paso Wins Golden Glove Team Trophy

FORT WORTH—(P)—El Paso won the team title at the annual Golden Gloves, but the Border City battlers couldn't take a single individual championship.

The 16 points El Paso built through the semi-finals brought Chuck Whillock's entry the big trophy Monday night.

But the titles went to: Flyweight, Pat McCarthy, 113, Amarillo. Bantamweight, Henry Miramontes, 118, Dallas. Featherweight, Raymond Riojas, 126, Fort Worth. Lightweight, Pete Perez, 134, Amarillo. Welterweight, Johnny O'Glee, 138, Dallas. Middleweight, Roy Harris, 160, Bryanwood. Light-heavyweight, Alphonso Melrin, 168, Wichita Falls. Heavyweight, Campbell Woodman, 179, Wichita Falls.

Just one of the champions won a key—and that was an automatic technical recorded by Harris when he opened a cut over the eyes of Billy Haynes, 158, at 48 seconds of the third round.

Harris, who came to the tournament three years ago from Cut and Shoot, in deep East Texas, scored the biggest upset of the meet in the semi-finals, when he stopped defending Champion Eugene Cooper, 151, Amarillo, after 55 seconds of the first round by opening a cut over the eye.

Riojas is the only champion to repeat this year, but McCarthy and O'Glee are former champions. McCarthy, who won the flyweight title here in 1950 and the California bantamweight champion last year while in the Marines, beat Pedro Melendez, 113, El Paso.

O'Glee won the maximum three titles in the lightweight division, then stepped up to the welterweight class this year and stopped Frank Dunnagan, 147, Fort Worth in the finals.

Miramontes dethroned Raymond Garcia, 119, Wichita Falls; Perez beat J. C. Crowley, 136, Fort Worth; Riojas defeated Manuel Villalobos, 136, El Paso; Merino defeated Roy Johns, 174, Tyler, and Woodman dethroned James Hoff, 190, Dallas. Amarillo finished second to El Paso with 14 points. Fort Worth had 13, Dallas, 12; Wichita Falls and San Antonio, 11; Austin, 7; Tyler and Brownwood, 6; Commerce and Beaumont, 5; Abilene and Odessa, 3; Waco and Houston, 2; McAllen, 1.

Bruce Smith, 192-pound heavyweight from Pecos, representing Odessa, lost a decision to Champion Campbell Woodman in a semi-final battle.

Smith, trying for a knockout, threw leather the entire first two rounds and then wore himself down. Woodman took advantage of this and subjected the Pecos mite to a one-sided pounding in the final round.

Joseph Burnett of the Yale swim squad hails from Honolulu, Hawaii.

Before Manager Zeke Bonura left town for his New Orleans home Tuesday, we had a hurried conversation with the Midland manager over a couple of cups of java.

And anyone familiar with The Zeeker knows the big man can get in a lot of conversation over two steaming cups, no matter how great the hurry is.

First and foremost in Zeke's mind is the success of the 1952 Midland Indians baseball team, and although we don't want to sound like a personal press agent instead of a sports writer, it's hard to be around Bonura without some of his enthusiasm rubbing off on the listeners.

Bonura started by speaking of the state of the club when he took over here last year.

"No reflection on the fellows who had the players before me," Zeke said, "but the club was in bad shape when I got here. The kids had no morale, they were losing, and they just didn't know baseball."

"I'm no great shakes as a teacher, but I tried to instill some basic ball knowledge into the boys, and I think we did a little good along the line."

Zeke put it rather mildly. He took a near cellar-dweller and drove it to 31 wins in its last 41 outings. That speaks for itself.

"Now we have a full year to operate, get to know our boys and I think we'll do all right," the big fellow said between coffee gulps.

Bonura said he wouldn't be an active player-manager this season.

"Why use up a veteran status when I can't play every day?" he asked. Zeke probably will pinch-hit now and then and put himself on the roster in case of injuries or other emergencies, but mainly he intends to whoop it up from the dugout and coach's box.

His first-base problems seem to be filled, what with Earl Bossenberry and Richard Wertz, a lefty-all-the-way former Double A ball player.

Bossenberry for awhile said he would go to school instead of reporting, but changed his tune Tuesday after a 30-minute telephone conversation with the Midland manager.

While he was talking, Bonura praised Horace Busby. "It sure helped us when Buzz came in as general manager," he said. "Buzz is a wonderful fellow, knows baseball and we work well together. With him and Marion Plynt at the helm, we should have no worries in the front office."

A word of praise also was said for John Redfern, Jr., for his work with Little League boys here.

"Those boys are the future baseball players of our country, and Redfern is giving them a wonderful start," the ex-major leaguer sported.

Before leaving in a swirl of coat-tails and brief-cases, Bonura talked of another thing he wants to do: visit the area West Texas cities. "When I get back again and have time, I want to go to Stanton and other places and speak to the service clubs. We'd like to get interest up in these little towns, and we'd like for them, to come to our games."

With that, he departed for New Orleans to make plans for the coming Midland workouts in Litcher, La.

It starts March 10—and Zeke, he says, is ready.

92 Bulldogs Report; Fidel Ramirez Found Ineligible

A large squad of 92 boys reported to Midland High School coaches for Spring grid drills Monday, but Coach Tugboat Jones was strangely unhappy.

For Jones learned just before the workouts that Fidel Ramirez, 190-poundman end who was counted on for a lot of action in the 1952 campaign, is ineligible. Ramirez's birthday is so placed as to make him slightly over the legal age-limit for varsity participation. Jones said Ramirez will remain with the team as manager.

The other bad news was the fact that Hill Leonard, regular tackle, will be slowed down by a broken nose. The 160-pound Leonard discovered his break had been broken in Golden Gloves boxing at Fort Worth's state meet. He went through the drills, though, wearing a protective mask.

Kentucky Named As Top Outfit Again

NEW YORK—(P)—Kentucky's high-gear basketball team Tuesday ranked as the best collegiate outfit in the nation for the fifth straight week.

Baron Adolph Rupp's Southeastern Conference powerhouse drew 36 first-place votes and 885 points in the weekly Associated Press poll to remain ahead of Kansas State.

Kentucky, already crowned SEC champion, is riding the crest of a 16-game winning streak and boasts an overall record of 22-2.

Kansas State drew 16 first-place votes and 754 points from the 104 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the coast-to-coast canvass.

Top ten (first place votes in parentheses):

- 1. Kentucky (36) 22-2 885
- 2. Kansas State (16) 16-3 754
- 3. Dequesne (4) 18-0 604
- 4. Iowa (7) 17-1 532
- 5. Illinois (1) 16-2 479
- 6. Washington (9) 21-3 384
- 7. Kansas (1) 17-2 310
- 8. St. John's (1) 18-2 297
- 9. St. Louis (1) 18-5 249
- 10. St. Bonaventure (4) 17-2 193

Second 19: 11. Dayton (7), 178; 12. West Virginia (7), 177; 13. Penn State (1) 91; 14. Seton Hall, 85; 15. Louisville, 74; 16. Seattle, 73; 17. Holy Cross (4), 58; 18. Siena (1), 55; 19. Wyoming (5), 20; LaSalle (1), 45.

The also rans: Western Kentucky (3) Oklahoma City, DePaul, South-west Texas (2), Indiana, Duke, Texas Christian, Minnesota, UCLA, Notre Dame, Whitworth, West Virginia Tech, East Illinois State, Southern California, North Carolina State, Villanova, Clemson, Bradley and Miami of Ohio.

Martin Stands Up For Baseball Before Stanton Lions Club

STANTON—"Baseball should be stressed in small towns and communities, to insure the continued interest in our national game," Pepper Martin, manager of the Odessa Oilers, told members of the Stanton Lions here Monday night.

"Some high schools in the area have dropped baseball, and that's a big mistake," he said.

Martin told the Stanton fans he hoped a "Stanton Night" would be held in Midland during the baseball season when the Indians and the Oilers play.

He said his team would train near Laredo, beginning March 15, and play exhibition games with Texas League teams.

Martin worked here in a gin during the winter off-season.

10 Teams To Enter TAAF District Play In Tournament Here

Ten teams—among them six out-of-city outfits—start play in the West Texas District TAAF Basketball Tournament here Friday night.

Survivors of the four-night affair will be eligible to enter the state TAAF meet, to be played later at Odessa.

Teams entered here are Dibrell's Sporting Goods of Big Spring; Odessa Junior College (unofficial team); New Era Firestone Station of Big Lake; Rotary Engineers, Phillips Petroleum, Borden's and Western Plastic of Midland; Holder Grocery of Odessa; Cook-Houston Feed Store of Garden City and McCamey News Publishing Company.

The luck of the draw matches two of the top teams in the opening game of the tournament. Rotary Engineering Company—Midland's city champion—will have as its opponent the Phillips Petroleum team, runner-up in city play here.

Rotary will be minus two stars—Glenn Whitus and Bud Hopkins—and Phillips will have regulars Gerald Tucker and Kenny Jastrow back. This makes this game a toss-up.

Probably the top-rated outfit is the McCamey News Publishing Company team, which will have Whitus and Hopkins, plus ACC's Bugs Morris and several other outstanding players.

Three games each will be played Friday and Saturday nights, with the semi-finals set Monday and the finals the following Wednesday (February 27).

The three games on top Friday night are: Rotary (Midland) vs. Phillips (Midland), 6:45 p.m.; Dibrell's (Big Spring) vs. Odessa Junior College, 8 p.m. and Cook-Houston Feed Store of Garden City vs. McCamey News Publishing Company, 9:15 p.m.

Saturday, Borden's of Midland goes against Holder Grocery of Odessa at 6:45 p.m.; New Era Firestone Station of Big Lake gets the Big Spring-Odessa winner of the night before at 8 p.m. while Western Plastic, Midland, tangles with the McCamey-Garden City winner at 9:15 p.m.

Semi-finals will be played Monday, with third place and championship finals unrec'd Wednesday, starting time for these two nights is 7:30 p.m.

McCamey, Phillips and Rotary definitely rate as the top teams, although some of the unknowns could surprise.

At least one Midland team—Borden's—expects to be stronger for the tournament with the addition of new players. Ware and Fanning of the Midland Shell team have joined the Borden's outfit for the tournament.

Snead, Mackinnon Favored In Tourney

ORLANDO, FLA.—(P)—S a m Snead and Betty Mackinnon are the favored pair in the 11th annual International Mixed Two-Ball Golf Tournament opening Tuesday.

More than 100 teams will play 18 holes over the 6,544-yard Dubs-dread Country Club in the qualifying round. After Tuesday, teams will be paired in match play. Teammates take alternate shots at the same ball in two-ball competition.

Better Courses, Equipment Make For Improved Golfing

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK—(P)—Jack Burke, Jr., the muscular son of a golfing father, won the Texas Open Golf championship the other day with a 72-hole total of 280 strokes, representing four incredible rounds of 67-65-64-64.

Want to know what that indicates? It indicates that in one generation—from club-making father to exhibitionist-entertainer son—the art of golf has improved approximately seven strokes to the round. That is, better clubs, better balls and incessant play have transformed the son into a scoring machine the likes of which his pappy could not have dreamed.

This is a case where the figures may be halved down. Exactly 29 years ago, over the same Brackenridge Park course at San Antonio, Crusty McDonald Smith won the fifth annual Texas Open with an aggregate score of 288. And playing with him in perhaps the most harrowing, hilarious finish of all golfing history were Jack Burke, Sr.

and little Bobby Cruickshank. That was the memorable day Wild Bill Melhorn climbed his tree overlooking the seventy-second green and shouted well-meant encouragement to Cruickshank—something like "Sink it, Bobby!" Wee Bobby, who a moment before had first money as good as banked, jumped and got the trembles and took four blows from the edge of the green to finish an exceedingly angry second.

The only point in recalling the oft-told tale is to hand in the fact that Burke, the elder, was among those present and to emphasize that he was at that time one of the country's best golfers. Six years before he had finished in a four-way tie for second place in the U. S. Open, one stroke behind the leader.

Jack, Sr., was a cool, gifted player, and for 11 holes of the final round he stayed dead even with Smith and Cruickshank. But on the twelfth, a dogleg, he gambled on cutting across some trees with his drive, dropped a couple of shots and never got back in contention. He must have finished with about a 290. At any rate, that will be close enough for our purpose.

The son has just shot the same layout four times in a total of 260 strokes. Perhaps this is not typical even of the wild scoring going on today, but it cannot be termed a freak, either, when one considers that a 60-and-a-61 were shot in successive tournaments at Tucson and San Antonio. Doug Ford, who finished second to Burke, Jr., had rounds of 67-67-66-66.

We asked Joe Dey, Jr., executive secretary of the USGA, what he made of it. Could Burke, the kid, be that much better golfer than his dad was?

"Given the better clubs he's playing with and the vastly improved greens he's putting on, I suppose we have to concede that he is," Joe said after a considerable hesitation. "What the general public probably doesn't realize is that this is a whole new breed of golfers."

"Strictly speaking, these are not golf professionals in the same sense that their fathers were. They are professional entertainers. I doubt that 50 per cent of them could re-shaft a golf club, and the art of teaching is a closed book to most of them."

"They are Paderewakis of the links, artists who are out there day after day keeping their fingers limber and their games tuned to concert pitch. Think what the strain of such incessant competition must be when Lloyd Mangrum finds it necessary to quit the tour and take a rest from 18 holes a day in the lovely sunshine."

and west lines of southwest quarter of section 10, block 2, H&TC survey and five miles southeast of Rotan.
That makes it two and one-half miles west of the R-H-K Drilling Company, Ltd., Noranda and Peeler Brothers No. 1 Willingham, indicated Canyon reef lime gas producer.

SE Garza Region Site For Shallow San Andres Test

Rex M. Alworth and others of Midland No. 1-E. M. Woodard is to be drilled at a 3,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Garza County.
Drill site is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 106, block 3, H&GN survey. That puts it two and one-half miles northeast of the 7,000-foot Dorward-San Andres field.

Armer, Et Al To Plug Back At Pecos Test

L. H. Armer, Houston Oil Company and Forrest Oil Corporation are preparing to plug back from total depth in their No. 1 Jasper County School Land, wildcat in Southeast Pecos area.
The formation at total depth is probably Wolfcamp, however it has not been definitely identified.

Operators have 8 5/8th-inch casing cemented at 3,057 feet.
Plans are to plug back to 3,265 feet and test the open hole section which is San Andres. That formation had some shows of oil. After that testing is done the 8 5/8th-inch casing will be perforated for further tests.
Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of block 104, Jasper County school land and 30 miles southeast of Fort Stockton. The San Andres was topped at 2,992 feet, elevation 3,214 feet.

Short Extender To Cogdell Pool Finaled In Scurry

The Texas Company No. 194 P. L. Fuller has been completed as a one-quarter mile southeast extender to Canyon reef production in the outcrop side of the Cogdell-multiphase field, Central-North Scurry County.
Operator reported a daily pumping potential of 24.35 barrels of 41.4-gravity oil plus 20 per cent water from casing perforations at 6,906-6,916 feet.
Gas-oil ratio was 817-1. The perforations were washed with 4,000 gallons of acid.
Pay was topped at 6,890 feet. Total depth of the well is 6,918 feet. Elevation is 2,422 feet.
Location is 1,988 feet from south and 2,003 feet from west lines of section 562, block 97, H&TC survey.

Texaco Quits Failure In C-W Tom Green

The Texas Company No. 1 P. B. Lee, Central-West Tom Green County wildcat, one-half of a mile east of Tankersley has been abandoned and plugged at total depth of 6,611 feet in Pennsylvanian lime and shale.
The prospector took a two and one-half hour drillstem test at 5-981-6,011 feet. Recovery was 5.100 feet of salty sulphur water. There were no shows of oil or gas.
Location was 330 feet from south and 2,230 feet from west lines of the F. M. Condon survey No. 2.
The failure was one and three-quarter miles southwest of Texaco No. 1 Bubenik, the discovery and success producer in the Bubenik-Pennsylvanian field.

Stepout Scheduled For Fisher Field

General Crude Oil Company No. 1 Clover V. Shora is to be a one-half of a mile northeast stepout to the open of the Claytonville-Canyon reef lime field in Southwest Fisher County.
Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 209, block 3, H&TC survey. It is to dig to 5,000 feet or production in the reef lime at a lesser depth.
Operations are to start in the near future.

Sinclair Gauges Pennsylvanian Oil In Upton Wildcat

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 6 McElroy Ranch, wildcat three miles north of the Wilshire-Ellemburger field of West-Central Upton County was flowing load oil, new oil and acid water from Pennsylvanian perforations after 10,000-gallon acid treatment.
During the last 24 hours of flowing the well made 60 barrels of new oil, 203 barrels of load oil and 57 barrels of acid water. Gas volume was 558,000 cubic feet per day.
The flow is coming from perforations at 9,810-25 and 9,855-75 feet in casing opposite the Pennsylvanian.

Argentina Launches Austerity Program

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA—President Juan D. Peron Monday night unveiled a "program of austerity unaccommodated for Argentina and unusual for the world of economics."
It's a blend of less meat and other goods, frozen prices, more production, more money for the farmers and huge pay raises for the workers.
In a nationwide radio speech, Peron outlined the new program which he said is necessary to stave off a looming economic crisis. The biggest pinch apparently will come in the reduced supply of meat—main item in the Argentine diet. Though Peron said the nation would have to save on other goods as well. But Peron promised to freeze rising prices, pay farmers more for their crops and give a pay increase of 40 to 80 per cent to most of the nation's workers.

Artist, Denied Visa For U. S. Visit, Dies In Suicide Plunge

SANTIAGO, CHILE—An Estonian artist leaped to death from the seventh floor of the U. S. Embassy after throwing two homemade bombs to "blow the whole place up" because he was repeatedly refused a visa to visit his wife in Florida.
The exploding bombs only burned a rug and a sofa. He was alone in an embassy room at the time.
Consular officials said the Estonian, Richard D. Pallas, 43, returned to the embassy Monday afternoon with the bombs after a visa to enter the U. S. again was denied during the morning.
An embassy spokesman said the visa was refused Pallas because consular officials "thought he had been deported from the United States."
His wife, Irene, is a U. S. citizen who lives at Miami, Fla.
U. S. Consul Camden McLain said when Pallas returned in the afternoon he was carrying the two bombs and said, "I want a visa or else."
The bombs were made of 1 1/2-inch pieces of pipe, filled with dynamite and equipped with a trigger detonator.

U. S. Crude Flow Shows Light Drop

TULSA, OKLA.—Daily average crude oil and condensate production fell 21,100 barrels to 6,348,025 barrels during the week ended February 16. The Oil and Gas Journal reported Monday.
The decline was attributable mostly to a Mississippi loss of 13,500 barrels to 92,575 barrels.
Texas production was unchanged at 2,919,725 barrels.

Trapper Charged In Premort Slaying

ALICE—J. C. Knowles, Promont, was charged with murder without malice Monday in the Sunday night shooting of a Promont bartender.
Knowles, a trapper for the Texas Fish and Wildlife Service, waived examining trial and was released on $1,500 bond.
David Walk, 42, was shot to death in a tavern where he worked. Sheriff Halsey Wright said a .22 caliber rifle was used.

Crane To Observe Public Schools Week

CRANE—Plans for the observation of Texas Public Schools Week March 2-7 in Crane have been arranged and committees have been appointed to stage various phases of the special week's observance.
During the week, parents are urged to visit the schools and observe the administration features, and to offer suggestions for "improvements."

FINGERS AMPUTATED

Francis Dyson, Odessa, an employee of C. M. McFarland Drilling Company, underwent amputation of the third and fourth fingers of the left hand Monday at Memorial Hospital after his left hand was caught between a drill line drum.

TO UNDERGO SURGERY

Mrs. Rebecca Carruthers, 207 North Jackson Street, entered Midland Memorial Hospital Monday for surgery.

Power Failure Hits Dallas Severe Blow

DALLAS—Dallas was without electricity Monday for 35 minutes—the longest power-less period since the first "Edisons" flickered back in the Eighties.
The power failure came just at the beginning of the daily afternoon traffic crush and caused chaos among homebound workers. The power failed at 4:15 and was not back on until about 4:50 p.m.
The Dallas Power & Light Company said an oil-switch at its Mountain-Creek plant went out, causing a generator to fail, which in turn knocked out a large steam generator, then other equipment.
The fast-power knockout stopped 154 street cars and 69 trolley buses and clogged further the jammed rush hour traffic. Traffic lights at all intersections went out, further snarling traffic.
Elevators, some jammed with employees leaving for home, stuck where they happened to be when the power failed. Police dispatchers' microphones went dead. Building repair work and industry shut down. Department stores brought out candles.
Two iron lungs at Parkland Hospital were operated manually to keep patients alive. Auxiliary power units were pressed into service at three hospitals to allow surgery to continue.
Wire services, carrying news of the world into Dallas, where it is relayed to other state points, were dead. An ominous quiet fell over the city.
Emergency power kept airways communication radio and teletype equipment operating at Love Field, the Dallas municipal airport.
Television picture transmission failed at stations WFAA-TV and KRLD-TV but the stations stayed on the air with recorded music. Some radio stations continued broadcasting with network programs.

Huge Annual Savings Cited In Support Of Proposed UMT Plan

WASHINGTON—An eventual saving of 13 billion dollars annually to the taxpayers was predicted by the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday if the Universal Military Training Bill is enacted.
"That," said Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), "will mean lower taxes eventually and it won't jeopardize our defense program."
Vinson's committee gave out some figures on potential-savings a week in advance of the start of House debate on the hot UMT issue.
The bill provides for compulsory six-month training under civilian direction, for all youths when they reach 18. Trainees would become part of a reserve force for seven and one-half years.
The 13 billion annual saving, the committee said, would accrue if and when there is "full implementation" of UMT. By that, Vinson said, he means a program under which 800,000 youths would be trained annually. It would take several years to reach that goal.
Once the program is in full swing, Vinson said, the size of the active armed forces could be reduced to two million men, a cut of 1,700,000, while the size of the ready-reserve in drill pay status could be raised from the present one million to two and one-half million.
A major objective of UMT, its proponents have insisted, is to funnel trained youths into a ready reserve force and thereby permit a reduction in the strength of the standing Army, Navy and Air Force.

Turpin In Race For Pecos Mayor

PECOS—First candidate to file for a city office before the March 1 deadline was W. D. (Bill) Turpin, who announced he is seeking the position of mayor of Pecos. The present mayor, Cecil Cothrun, has told friends he will not be a candidate for reelection.
Turpin has served on the City Council since 1948. He has one year remaining on his present tenure as police commissioner. If elected mayor, however, he will resign as commissioner. Turpin served as fire commissioner and mayor pro tem during his first term.

Chamber Dinner Tickets On Sale

PECOS—Tickets for the annual Pecos Chamber of Commerce banquet went on sale this week. Manager Alton Hughes announced.
Scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Friday, the banquet will feature James G. Allen, Texas Tech dean of student life, as principal speaker.
Tentatively slated to appear along with Allen is Charles Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.
Highlight of the banquet will be the announcement of four new Chamber of Commerce directors who recently were elected by the membership.
Following the announcement, a new president will be elected to succeed Joe Henderson, who is completing his term of office.

Midlander Returned To College Board

ABILENE—W. F. Hejl of Midland was re-elected a trustee of Abilene Christian College at a meeting here Monday. Other trustees re-elected included Hollis L. Manly of Abilene, Allen D. Dabney of Eastland and C. A. Wade of Sweetwater.
New trustees are Jim Daniel of Eden, Noel Reynolds of Abilene, Gene Bennett of Denver City and C. H. Kenley of San Angelo.
Don H. Morris was re-elected president of the college for a three-year term.
The trustees announced a campaign will be started immediately to raise $60,000 for construction of a men's dormitory.

Norwegian Smashes To Triple Victory In Winter Olympics

OSLO—Hjalmar Andersen, Norway's speedskating marvel, completed a Winter Olympic triple slam—the first ever on consecutive days—when he shattered his own record-hold world mark by 11.8 seconds in the 10,000-meter race Tuesday.
The Norwegian was clocked in 16 minutes, 45.8 seconds for the grind of approximately six and one-fourth miles to crack his own listed world mark of 16:57.4 set last year. He has even a better time of 6:32.6, made in an international meet at Hamar, Norway, nine days ago, up for recognition. On Sunday, he captured the 5,000-meter crown in Olympic record time and Monday he won the 1,500.
Major bright spot for Uncle Sam's Winter athletes was Olympic and World Champion Dick Button's brilliance in the figure skating, where he topped the field in Tuesday's compulsory, or school, maneuvers. The free skating will be held Thursday. Button, Englewood, N. J., scored 111.1 points virtually to clinch his title again. His forte is in the free skating.
Brooks Dodge, Gorham, N. H., who tied for sixth in the giant slalom on the second day, came out ninth in the slalom, won Tuesday by Othmar Schneider, the Austrian ski master.
Norway picked up another 20 points to boost its leading point total in the team standings to 94. Austria added ten on Schneider's victory to go to 51, while the U. S. remained third at 34 1/2.

Power Failure Hits Dallas Severe Blow

DALLAS—Dallas was without electricity Monday for 35 minutes—the longest power-less period since the first "Edisons" flickered back in the Eighties.
The power failure came just at the beginning of the daily afternoon traffic crush and caused chaos among homebound workers. The power failed at 4:15 and was not back on until about 4:50 p.m.
The Dallas Power & Light Company said an oil-switch at its Mountain-Creek plant went out, causing a generator to fail, which in turn knocked out a large steam generator, then other equipment.
The fast-power knockout stopped 154 street cars and 69 trolley buses and clogged further the jammed rush hour traffic. Traffic lights at all intersections went out, further snarling traffic.
Elevators, some jammed with employees leaving for home, stuck where they happened to be when the power failed. Police dispatchers' microphones went dead. Building repair work and industry shut down. Department stores brought out candles.
Two iron lungs at Parkland Hospital were operated manually to keep patients alive. Auxiliary power units were pressed into service at three hospitals to allow surgery to continue.
Wire services, carrying news of the world into Dallas, where it is relayed to other state points, were dead. An ominous quiet fell over the city.
Emergency power kept airways communication radio and teletype equipment operating at Love Field, the Dallas municipal airport.
Television picture transmission failed at stations WFAA-TV and KRLD-TV but the stations stayed on the air with recorded music. Some radio stations continued broadcasting with network programs.

Huge Annual Savings Cited In Support Of Proposed UMT Plan

WASHINGTON—An eventual saving of 13 billion dollars annually to the taxpayers was predicted by the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday if the Universal Military Training Bill is enacted.
"That," said Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), "will mean lower taxes eventually and it won't jeopardize our defense program."
Vinson's committee gave out some figures on potential-savings a week in advance of the start of House debate on the hot UMT issue.
The bill provides for compulsory six-month training under civilian direction, for all youths when they reach 18. Trainees would become part of a reserve force for seven and one-half years.
The 13 billion annual saving, the committee said, would accrue if and when there is "full implementation" of UMT. By that, Vinson said, he means a program under which 800,000 youths would be trained annually. It would take several years to reach that goal.
Once the program is in full swing, Vinson said, the size of the active armed forces could be reduced to two million men, a cut of 1,700,000, while the size of the ready-reserve in drill pay status could be raised from the present one million to two and one-half million.
A major objective of UMT, its proponents have insisted, is to funnel trained youths into a ready reserve force and thereby permit a reduction in the strength of the standing Army, Navy and Air Force.

Turpin In Race For Pecos Mayor

PECOS—First candidate to file for a city office before the March 1 deadline was W. D. (Bill) Turpin, who announced he is seeking the position of mayor of Pecos. The present mayor, Cecil Cothrun, has told friends he will not be a candidate for reelection.
Turpin has served on the City Council since 1948. He has one year remaining on his present tenure as police commissioner. If elected mayor, however, he will resign as commissioner. Turpin served as fire commissioner and mayor pro tem during his first term.

Chamber Dinner Tickets On Sale

PECOS—Tickets for the annual Pecos Chamber of Commerce banquet went on sale this week. Manager Alton Hughes announced.
Scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Friday, the banquet will feature James G. Allen, Texas Tech dean of student life, as principal speaker.
Tentatively slated to appear along with Allen is Charles Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.
Highlight of the banquet will be the announcement of four new Chamber of Commerce directors who recently were elected by the membership.
Following the announcement, a new president will be elected to succeed Joe Henderson, who is completing his term of office.

Midlander Returned To College Board

ABILENE—W. F. Hejl of Midland was re-elected a trustee of Abilene Christian College at a meeting here Monday. Other trustees re-elected included Hollis L. Manly of Abilene, Allen D. Dabney of Eastland and C. A. Wade of Sweetwater.
New trustees are Jim Daniel of Eden, Noel Reynolds of Abilene, Gene Bennett of Denver City and C. H. Kenley of San Angelo.
Don H. Morris was re-elected president of the college for a three-year term.
The trustees announced a campaign will be started immediately to raise $60,000 for construction of a men's dormitory.

Mrs. Rebecca Carruthers, 207 North Jackson Street, entered Midland Memorial Hospital Monday for surgery.

Norwegian Smashes To Triple Victory In Winter Olympics

OSLO—Hjalmar Andersen, Norway's speedskating marvel, completed a Winter Olympic triple slam—the first ever on consecutive days—when he shattered his own record-hold world mark by 11.8 seconds in the 10,000-meter race Tuesday.
The Norwegian was clocked in 16 minutes, 45.8 seconds for the grind of approximately six and one-fourth miles to crack his own listed world mark of 16:57.4 set last year. He has even a better time of 6:32.6, made in an international meet at Hamar, Norway, nine days ago, up for recognition. On Sunday, he captured the 5,000-meter crown in Olympic record time and Monday he won the 1,500.

Shelley Winters Is Modern Version Of Old-Style Siren

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—It happened at the annual Hollywood Press Photographer's costume ball. Hollywood stars were invited to come dressed as their suppressed desires. There was an unmissable collection of pirates, army generals and football stars, 17th Century courtesans, a couple of Florence Nightingales and a Little Miss Muffet.

And there was saucy, sassy, sexy Shelley Winters!

Shelley, who has the kind of a shape the world should be in, was clad in black-lace tights and bodice and a purple-trimmed leotard. There was a halo over her head and she was carrying a harp!

"I'm a sexy angel," explained Shelley, who has the title of Hollywood's sexiest siren. "No matter how hard I try to be angelic, the wickedness in me takes over."

Hollywood—in the midst of a campaign to convince the U. S. that movie stars are just like your next door neighbors and folks as apple pie-gasped and blushed.

But next day, when they saw Shelley's "sexy angel" photograph in the newspapers, moviegoers all over America nudged each other and said:

"Hey, there's a MOVIE STAR by heck!"

There's no mistaking hip-flipping Shelley Winters for the girl next door or somebody's secretary. She's in the same temperamental, finger-snapping, tiger-skin rug league made famous by Theda Bara, Mae Murray, Gloria Swanson, Mae West and Jean Harlow.

The fan magazines have dubbed Shelley "the most temperamental star in Hollywood."

She's bombastic and magnetic and natural. She's impulsive and flamboyant, unpredictable and baffling, scatter-brained and witty. She's volatile and wacky, warm-hearted and generous. She's slinky and uninhibited and sincere.

Hollywood Legend

Within two years after her film click as the sexy waitress Ronald Colman strangled in "A Double Life," she was a Hollywood legend.

She admits she's temperamental but defends herself claiming:

"I'm not temperamental about the size of my dressing room or the color of my director's hair. I have arguments only about scenes and my acting. I want to make my pictures and my acting better."

"I didn't set out to be a glamour girl. I wanted to be another Helen Hayes—and I still do. I found the Pot of Gold I wasn't looking for."

Only One Dares
Only one fellow co-star, Joel McCrea, has ever dared trying to explain Shelley Winters. Says Joel:

"Shelley fights the wrong way for the right things. The trouble with her is that she has an inarticulate approach. She smells a mouse and knows something is wrong, but she can't put her finger on it."

"Let's have dinner, too," said Shelley to Italian actor-director Vittorio Gassman when he called her up for cocktails. She also says they'll be married when he's legally free.

About being "articulate" Shelley herself wails:

"I get carried away with the sound of my own mouth. I'm always saying the wrong things. I talk too much. I'm the kind of a girl who walks up to a big movie producer and asks him what he does to earn his pay checks."

As the drab factory girl in Paramount's "A Place in the Sun," she opened the orbs of everyone to the fact that she could act and probably will be nominated for an Oscar.

Shelley Pops Up
Then she popped up as a comedienne in "Behave Yourself."

Now she's surprising Hollywood again with a singing role in "Meet Danny Wilson."

Explaining this versatility, Shelley winks and says:

"I invented myself—and I'm still inventing."

Then she adds a serious note: "Really, people don't realize how hard I've worked and studied."

That first real chance at acting in "A Place in the Sun" convinced Shelley she should have a "dignity" campaign. Press agents at Universal International studio, where she's under contract, were briefed to soft-pedal the glamour publicity. Shelley even went to psychiatrists.

"He promised me dignity or my money back. I got my money back."

The dignity campaign was forgotten even before the film's release and now Shelley wails:

"Dignity? I've tried it. It lasted two days. People started asking me if I was ill."

Is Slacks Girl?
Off the screen, she's "a slacks and evening gown girl. In slacks I distinguish people by being a human being. I guess they expect sex on wheels. But when I dress up to kill—I kill 'em."

But even in her off-screen slacks, sweater and bandana, Shelley is an exciting personality and she knows it. A studio waitress who saw her without makeup one morning said: "Honey, this morning your face is like a sexy bowl of cereal."

Says Shelley: "I'm the type of a girl who makes wives mad. None of the wives will talk to me at the West Side Tennis Club. They have an anti-Shelley Winters club."

Among Men
But there's no anti-Shelley Winters club among the men. She's dated just about every eligible male in Hollywood except Mickey Mouse.

Until recently everyone expected she would marry Farley Granger, with whom she toured Europe this Summer.

But while visiting Italy Shelley met and fell in love with Italian actor-director Vittorio Gassman, who played the gangster in the Italian movie, "Bitter Rice."

"We were introduced at the ballet," says Shelley. "He called me up at my hotel and said, 'How about cocktails?' I said, 'Fine, let's have dinner, too.'"

Vittorio, who is awaiting a divorce, visited Shelley in Hollywood for five days just before Christmas. Shelley is saying they'll be married as soon as he's legally free to wed—"He's the only man I ever met who refuses to fight with me."

Nothing Unusual For A Carlsen

HOQUIAM, WASH.—(AP)—It's not unusual for a sea captain named Carlsen to battle a storm off the English coast trying to get to Falmouth. A Hoquiam stevedore boss, Fred Hedin, 59, was reminded of this recently during the travail of the Flying Enterprise.

Forty-one years ago, Hedin, then an 18-year-old seaman, says he was aboard a barge which was buffeted by a hurricane in the same waters. The barge was the Yemer, a three-master three weeks out of Liverpool enroute to Mobile, Ala.

The hurricane sheared off all her rigging, leaving only the stumps of masts. The upper masts and booms dragged alongside, threatening to pound a hole in the side of the wooden ship. A fire also kept the crew busy. The ship finally was sighted and towed into Falmouth.

The Yemer's captain was named K. R. Carlsen.

Notice is hereby given that City Ordinance provides that no garbage container be larger than 32 gallons in capacity and requires that all garbage containers have a tight fitting lid. Beginning March 1, 1952 non-regulation garbage cans remaining in use will be hauled away. Anyone wishing to retain non-regulation cans are requested to remove them from the point of collection, and discontinue their use as garbage containers.

Each household should provide a sufficient number of containers to take care of the garbage on a basis of two (2) collections weekly. It is suggested that garbage can lids be fastened to a stake or rack in order to prevent their loss.

These requirements and suggestions are one method of combating the sanitary problem in Midland and your full cooperation is earnestly requested.

ANDREWS—Mrs. Lynn Rice has resigned home from the Phillips-Dupree Hospital in Levelland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hurrellson from Wellington, Texas, are new Andrews residents.

C. C. Campbell, county chairman of the March of Dimes, has issued the final report for Andrews County. The $2,700 total exceeds last year's contributions by more than $1,000.

Final tabulation on poll taxes paid in Andrews County show that 1,905 were paid on 84 exemptions issued, making a total of 1,989.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lassater, Mr. and Mrs. David Choate, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Ivy and H. W. Weaver attended the funeral of Charles Diekens of Goldsmith in Odessa Sunday afternoon.

Children in the Fullerton Oil Camp honored Linda Coon on her fourth birthday with a surprise party. Children present were Elizabeth Ragsdale, Phyllis Carter, Sue Nichols and John Woodbury, Jr.

Mrs. Royce Stewart left Friday to join her soldier husband who is stationed at Camp Robert, near Bakersfield, Calif.

Fall Is Good Thing For Paralytic Girl
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—(AP)—Betty Postema, who six years ago thought she never would walk again, is out of her wheelchair.

The pretty, 22-year-old Calvin College secretary had been paralyzed from the waist down from a fall while she was in high school.

Doctors held no hope for her recovery. But Betty completed her education and went to work.

Then, last April, she fell from her wheelchair on the steps of a college building.

She landed on her spine, and Betty said, "Life just seemed to flow into my legs. The more I exercised the stronger they got."

Surgeons said the second tumble apparently freed adhesions.

Now Betty, after months of practicing in secret, is walking again. She says:

"It was something that happened in God's providence."

Congress has passed a deficiency appropriation amounting to only one cent on several occasions.

Fullerton Sunday School Groups Are Feted At Banquet

ANDREWS—A formal Sweetheart Banquet honoring the Young People's and Intermediate Sunday School Classes was given Saturday night at the Fullerton Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lowder, Mrs. Francis Jones and Mrs. Vernon Mosely were in charge of arrangement.

Roy Lowder, teacher in the Young People's division was master of ceremonies.

The banquet tables were laid in white with a central arrangement of red and white carnations and fern upon a reflector. Small white styrofoam hearts tied with red bows interspersed the arrangements, which was flanked on either side by burning red tapers.

Central runners of small red hearts and lighted red tapers extended the full length of the tables.

A special vocal and music program was brought by Winona Blanchard, George Blanton, Joyce and Robert Lindville and Sonny Oswald.

Mrs. Roy Lowder registered the guests—in a beautiful handmade book of red centered with a white heart edged in lace.

CAKE AND ALL—Pioneer Celebrates Fifth Birthday Anniversary Here

Tuesday marks the fifth anniversary of service by Pioneer Air Lines to Midland from Houston via Austin and San Angelo and from Dallas-Fort Worth to Midland, W. W. Beene, district traffic and sales manager for the company, announced.

In commemoration of the occasion, Pioneer's personnel in Midland was presented with a special fifth anniversary cake by Marvin L. Davis, general traffic and sales manager.

Davis, who is based in Dallas, arrived in Midland at 10 a.m. to make the presentation to the operations, reservations and traffic-sales personnel at the field.

When Pioneer first inaugurated its service Aug. 1, 1945, the company's route at that time was from Houston to Austin, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock and Amarillo. After Civil Aeronautics Board authorization, Airlines launched service to Midland via Austin and San Angelo, on path to Lubbock and Amarillo on Feb. 19, 1947. At the same time, service was authorized from Dallas westward to Midland via Fort Worth, Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring.

Eight Flights Daily
At the present time, Pioneer has eight flights daily to Midland providing service to 20 other key Texas and New Mexico cities.

As the nation's oldest local service airline, Pioneer has been serving the Southwest since Aug. 1, 1945. The company's planes have transported about 600,000 passengers on scheduled operations without fatal accident or injury to either passengers or crew members.

Aristo-Shake Siding, Stocked By Shepard, Beautifies Exterior

For sidewall beauty and insulated home comfort, Shepard Roofing Company, 1811 West South Front Street, recommends Ruberoid Aristo-Shake insulated siding. It beautifies as it modernizes as it insulates. Old shabby sidewalls can be magically transformed to new beauty, giving your home a new appearance.

Aristo-Shake's insulating qualities can cut your fuel costs as much as 30 per cent, thereby paying for itself over a period of a few years. The authentic pattern of Aristo-Shake reproduces the texture of genuine shake shingles, in a choice of rich, permanent colors. It raises the value of your home, is weather-proof and fireproof, and reduces maintenance to an absolute minimum.

High Melting Point
 In addition to these factors, Aristo-Shake is right in construction because it is composed of heavy duty asphalt waterproofing, efficient insulating board, high melting point asphalt coating and permanent colored mineral granules. Aristo-Shake insulated siding, combined with superior workmanship, will transform an average house into a thing of beauty. Shepard Roofing Company offers a choice of four modern colors—brown blend, hunter green, silver gray and golden buff.

The management suggests you call Shepard Roofing Company and let one of the representatives explain the many benefits of Ruberoid Aristo-Shake insulated siding.

In addition to modern Aristo-Shake, Shepard Roofing Company can install asbestos sidings, built-up roofs for commercial and residential building and composition roofing. Real roofs and better siding are features by Shepard Roofing Company. The dial number is 4-4841.

Beauchamp's Service Firm Has Latest In Appliances

Are you considering buying any of the following items—a stove, refrigerator, washing machine or home freezer?

If so—why not stop in at Beauchamp's Refrigeration Service at 216 North Main Street and look over their appliances.

Beauchamp's is located in a convenient downtown building where you can stop in and look over the products on your regular shopping trip.

An old and reliable Midland firm, Beauchamp's has been in business here the last 30 years.

And when you stop at Beauchamp's, have one of the clerks show you the new Norge automatic washer which has just been received.

All the housewife needs to do to operate the new Norge washer is put her clothes in, add soap, set the washer on automatic and forget about it.

The Norge will wash, rinse and dry the clothes while the housewife tends to other tasks. But if she prefers, the washer can be started or stopped manually.

Also on display at Beauchamp's is the beautiful new deluxe refrigerator. An outstanding feature of meal enjoyable. "Once a patron, always a patron," might well be the Steak House motto.

The Steak House offers 24-hour service to Midlanders who desire well-prepared meals or short orders. The welcome sign is out at all times at the Steak House.

The Steak House management says it attempts at all times to vary its menus to please the most discriminating patrons.

Starvation led to General Washington's camp. For want of hay, horses died faster than they could be buried. Soon 1300 men had perished and scores of Army wagons, laden with badly needed supplies, had been abandoned on country roads.

Washington despaired. The winter storm of surrounding forms had been depleted; many such were impossible; soldiers were plundering against his orders. When one former complained that each morning a soldier milked his cow dry, he was advised, "Shoot him!" The next morning a rifle shot echoed in the hills.

For days at a time the troops subsisted on dried flour-and-water cakes. When barrels of raw fish trickled into camp, they fell upon the food without eating a crumb. Yet seldom did they complain. With Washington, "Hated and starving as they are, we cannot enough admire the incomparable patience and fidelity of the soldiers."

To ease the situation, Washington ordered markets established at camp where farmers might bring their products. But many, preferring British gold to Continental currency, smuggled their wares to British-held Philadelphia. These caught received 250 lashes.

Barbary Pirates Bled U. S. For More Than Hungary, But Formidable Show Of Naval Strength Ended Showdown

NEW YORK (NEA)—In 1815 U. S. Commodore Stephen Decatur sailed into the Mediterranean with a show of naval strength and put an end to an international showdown which was costing the country billions of dollars.

Now, a century and a half later, this country has just paid Hungary $120,000 ransom for the release of four American flyers. We paid ransom in another form to the same Red country to free Robert A. Vogeler. And, as we learned from the Barbary pirates, the more ransom you pay the more seems to be demanded.

For years the Barbary pirates of North Africa had been exacting tributes from other nations by seizing their ships and crews. As the merchant fleet of our fledgling country grew, the pirates began raiding our vessels.

Algiers alone had confiscated numerous American vessels and enslaved hundreds of our seamen prior to 1800.

To Barbary States

From 1785 to 1802, this country paid out more than $2,000,000 to the Barbary states of Algiers, Morocco, Tunis and Tripoli.

With each concession on our part, the rapacity of the North African governments increased.

Thomas Jefferson was in favor of getting tough about it long before we ever did. Jefferson said a good navy and 150 guns on the Barbary Coast would be cheaper in the long run and do us more good than the money we were handing over to the pirates.

We had one indecisive scrap with Tripoli but it didn't help matters much. Then in 1815 Decatur went in and talked tough. He forced Algiers to abandon all claims to tribute from us, and got indemnities from Tunis and Tripoli for illegal seizures. To all intents and purposes that washed up the Barbary pirates.

Looking back at the Barbary pirates episode, historian James Truslow Adams says some of our actions then seem "disgraceful." But he does commend this country for finally leading all other nations in opposing what he terms "international subsidizing of piracy."

Can Look Back

If more guidance is needed on the handling of such a situation, Americans can look back on the famous "XYZ Affair" of 1797, when France tried to put the bite on us.

France was sore at this country over some treaty negotiations. Three unofficial agents of French Foreign Minister Talleyrand suggested to this country that we make a $250,000 gift to Talleyrand, loan a sizable amount to the French government, and pay France an indemnity for criticizing her.

Impossible as all this sounds, an official American delegation in France was prepared to give in on most of the requests when the American people learned about the whole shady business and got good and sore.

In short order, Congress cancelled certain French treaties, suspended commercial relations with France, authorized seizure of her armed vessels, and strengthened our military.

Talleyrand Upset

Talleyrand was so upset when his bluff was called that he battled desperately to head off what he thought might become war between the two countries. The matter was finally settled by the convention of Sept. 30, 1800. Tough policy had halted another shakedown.

As late as 1904, Moorish bandits kidnaped an American national, a Mr. Perdicaris, from his home near Tangier, in North Africa. A ransom of $70,000 had to be paid for the release of him and his stepson, a British subject. To strengthen our stand in the negotiations this country sent the warship Brooklyn to Tangier.

In centuries past, the ransom was a fixture of war. In the 100 Years War, King Edward III, of England, improved his administration's shaky financial condition by getting ransom payments of $60,000 pounds for King John, of France, and 100,000 marks for David Bruce, of Scotland.

Probably no one knows how many Americans paid ransom to their Mexican kidnapers in the early part of this century when bandits in our neighboring country to the south were abducting about everything that moved.

Some people were kidnaped as many as three times. Finally we got tough about it. The Pershing Expedition helped put an end to the era of Mexican kidnaping.

Few Americans need or want to be reminded of the wave of kidnappings for ransom which swept over this country in the 30's. The Lindbergh baby, George Weyerhaeuser, Charles Maitson, Peter Levine. There were six major ones in 1933 alone. The city of Chicago had 200 in one two-year period—mostly gangsters.

But the tactics were pretty much the same in all cases, whether they took place in Chicago, on the Barbary shore—or in Budapest, Hungary.

Fullerton Club Honors Members

ANDREWS—The Fullerton Home Demonstration Club entertained Friday evening at the Phillips Recreation Hall with a chili supper and canasta party honoring five club members and their families who are moving in the near future.

Honor guests were the H. B. Graves, Kelly Stewarts, H. C. Taylors, B. F. Blantons, and W. I. Scarbrough. These families work for the Service Pipe Line in the Fullerton area and this station is being shut down. The Stewarts are moving to Lovington, N. M.; Graves and Scarbroughs to Mexico; and the two other families have not received their transfers.

The club presented each member with crystal.

Other club members and their families present were the A. L. Grants, E. G. Stephansons, Percy Morrisons, J. F. Stephansons, I. L. Sharties, Elmo McDougals, and a guest, Mrs. John Vaughn.

Showing Of Film Draws Protest

SINGAPORE (AP)—Moslem leaders in this British Colony—scene of a bitter religious riot in December, 1950—have formally protested the showing here of the film "David and Bathsheba."

"It has pained the Moslem leaders to find at a time when we are celebrating the birthdays of Jesus and of Mohamed that the authorities have allowed to be shown, in this city a picture vilifying the memory of our prophet, David," a member-elect of the legislative council said.

"To portray this noble messenger of God as done in the picture is an insult to his memory and we Moslems hope that the leaders of other religions will aid in getting the picture banned," he said.

Australian Film Studio Is Closed

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA (AP)—Australia's only major film production center, Pagewood Studios, is to close down. Trade circles say the closing will be a severe setback for the Australian film industry.

Kaling's of London, which operates the studios, has decided to close them because it has been refused permission by Capital Issues Control to raise $420,000 to finance the making of a full-length film—"Robbery Under Arms."

Ken G. Hall, of Cinesound, Ltd., said the permission to raise the capital had been refused because film production was not an essential industry in Australia. The picture was to have had a world-wide release under the J. Arthur Rank banner.

Daddy Ringtail

By Wesley Davis

Daddy Ringtail And Peripatetic

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, one day decided how healthful it is to walk and walk for exercise. "Careful there, Huffen," said Doctor Shoobug. "If you walk and walk around like that, Huffen Puffen, you will become a peripatetic."

Having said these words, Doctor Shoobug laughed a friendly laugh, and away he ran down the Elephant Path, on his way to see about the sick folks.

"Hah!" said the Huffen to himself. "If I keep walking and walking around, I will become a peripatetic. Imagine! But Doctor Shoobug said it was true, he did."

And the Huffen hurried away to tell Daddy Ringtail about it. He would become a peripatetic, he would, if he didn't stop his walking around.

"Imagine!" said Daddy Ringtail. "Doctor Shoobug said it, he did!" said the Huffen, and away he walked to tell the Featherman. He would become a peripatetic, he would, if he didn't stop his walking around.

"Imagine!" said Daddy Ringtail. "Doctor Shoobug said it, he did!" said the Huffen, and away he walked to tell the Featherman. He would become a peripatetic, he would, if he didn't stop his walking around.

"You don't say!" said the Featherman. "Doctor Shoobug said it, he did," said the Huffen, and away he walked to tell the news to Old MacDonald who has a farm, and to Minny Moe who digs in the ground for gold, and to tell everybody. At last, at the close of the long, long day, the Huffen was very tired, he might even be sick, he thought, from all the walking around.

"Huffen," said Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, "maybe you have become a peripatetic already."

"Oh my yes, and the Huffen now was worried for fear that he had become a peripatetic indeed. "Help!" shouted the Huffen. "Call the doctor!"

Well, it so happened that Doctor Shoobug came running by on his way to see a sick somebody, but the doctor stopped long enough to tell the Huffen that he wasn't sick. Oh no! A peripatetic is someone who walks around and around, and so he isn't sick. The Huffen was just plain tired. I am happy to say, and he slept a happy sleep to rest. He was a healthy and happy somebody, he was, from all of his peripatetic walking. Happy day!

Giant New Plant Is Constructed To Ease United States' Acute Aluminum Shortage

NEW ORLEANS, La. (NEA)—Building a gigantic new plant is the hard way to break a material bottleneck.

But it's the permanent way. And it's an integral part of the way Uncle Sam is trying to gird itself for a possible all-out war without wrecking the country's economy.

With the opening of the huge Kaiser Chalmette aluminum plant in New Orleans a major blow is struck at one of the most serious bottlenecks in aircraft production. At the same time it is a major contribution to one of the most promising peacetime industries.

At present the delivery of some sizes and shapes of aluminum is lagging from eight months to a year behind orders. According to a spokesman from production boss Charles E. Wilson's office, aluminum from the Chalmette plant will be showing up in new aircraft during the first month of this year.

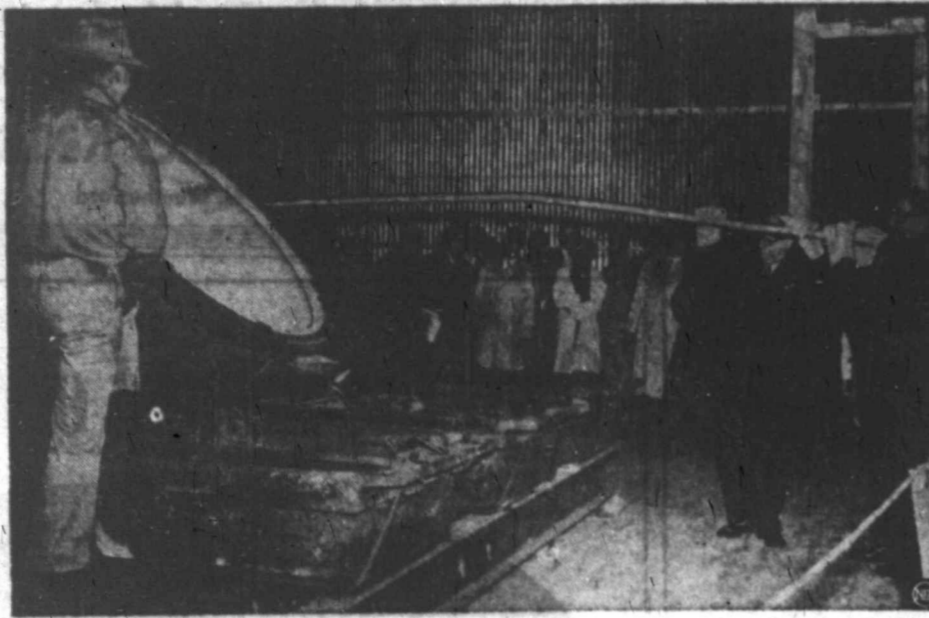

As it reaches its capacity of 440 million pounds per year—more than the nation's entire annual pre-war production—it will be the biggest single factor in bringing lagging aluminum deliveries up to date with orders.

Under construction
If the other new aluminum producing facilities now being constructed are completed as successfully as the Chalmette plant, government production experts predict that by the end of this year total U. S. production should exceed two billion pounds, 300 million pounds more than the World War II peak.

The $150 million Chalmette plant is the first major Korean-inspired new production facility of a basic war material to get into operation. It gives production wizard Henry Kaiser back his World War II role as the country's No. 1 war production bottleneck breaker.

Construction was started on the plant in February, 1951. Its progress was so fast that, in November, before the first aluminum was poured, Uncle Sam asked Kaiser to double the size of the plant.

The plant is privately financed by Kaiser, but with an accelerated tax amortization provision which permits writing off the cost of the plant quickly for tax purposes, and with an agreement whereby the government will buy certain high-cost production for stockpiling. Start of operations of this largest aluminum reduction plant in the U. S., according to Charles E. Wilson, represents the highest type of American industrial ingenuity on which he is counting to put America in a position to successfully defend itself against possible Communist aggression.

Kaiser's engineers had to lick many complicated problems. Some of the toughest were caused by the fact that the plant site has a water table only a few inches under the ground. They came up with a unique method of sinking piling, an ingenious way of putting a foundation on top of the piling and satisfactory solutions to difficult drainage problems.

The project involves 78 different buildings covering a total of 280 acres—the historic site of the Battle of New Orleans in 1815 when Gen. Andrew Jackson and his small band of American irregulars routed thousands of picked British troops led by Gen. Edward Pakenham. Its power facilities, fueled by natural gas, will generate 478,200 kilowatts, about half the power capacity of the huge Hoover Dam. That's also equivalent to the total electrical power needs of a city of one million persons.

To supply the needs of this tremendous plant there will be required $30,000 tons of alumina, carbon and other raw materials, 80 billion cubic feet of natural gas and 80 billion gallons of water per year. It is expected that more than 2,000 persons will be employed when the plant is operating at full capacity.

Other facilities
With the other aluminum facilities of Kaiser's enterprises, the Chalmette plant will give him about 28 per cent of the all U. S. production in 1953.

For the first quarter of 1952 direct military requirements are 48 per cent higher than the previous quarter. They will absorb about 40 per cent of the total estimated supply of aluminum.

Total expansion under way in the aluminum industry, primarily aimed at licking this bottleneck, will increase the industry's primary smelting capacity about 85 per cent. Other companies now creating new facilities in cooperation with the government include Reynolds Metals, Anaconda Copper and the Aluminum Company of America.

When this is all completed, plus the expansion of already existing facilities, it is estimated that the U. S. will have a permanent aluminum production capacity twice as great as that which existed at the end of World War II and that 95 per cent of those facilities will be capable of economical operation.

Lead Poisoning Yielding To Education, Prevention

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

"I fear" writes A. G. A., "that my brother, who is sick, is troubled with paint poisoning. Would you describe the effects?"

Paint, of course, is made up of a number of chemicals, but probably this correspondent means lead poisoning, which at least in the past was the most common and important type of poisoning resulting from paint.

Before discussing lead poisoning, however, it should be pointed out that paint manufacturers and other industries using lead have developed many precautionary methods, so that lead poisoning is now almost a vanishing industrial disease.

Lead can be absorbed through the lungs, skin, or the digestive organs.

Although the body takes lead into the system easily, it does not get rid of it so well.

If lead poisoning begins suddenly, a large amount of lead must have been absorbed rapidly, usually through the stomach.

Pain in the abdomen, vomiting, and collapse are symptoms of this acute form. Severe colicky pains and rapidly developing anemia with a typical white waxy color of the skin is frequent.

Examination of the blood in such cases shows a peculiar appearance to the red cells when they are stained in a particular manner and examined under the microscope.

A blue line around the gums is also an important symptom in many cases of lead poisoning, but it is not always present.

The most important symptoms of the slow or chronic poisoning are paralysis, usually of the arms, colicky pains in the bowels, and disturbances of the brain. Headache is common and patients are frequently emotionally excited or depressed.

Lead poisoning has gradually become less serious because of the measures which have been taken in industry to protect those who work with lead, and because of the increased understanding of those who work with this metal of the dangers involved.

Lead poisoning of either the acute or chronic varieties is most unpleasant, and hard to treat.

Consequently, great care in prevention, including careful cleaning of the hands and fingernails, particularly before eating should be insisted upon for all those who are exposed to absorbable forms of lead.

Little Girl Evangelist Also Wants Poodle Cut

HOUSTON—(NEA)—Renee Martz has two ambitions, one new and one old. The 11-year-old evangelist's long-standing wish is to win more people to Christ. Her new ambition is to talk her Daddy into letting her get a poodle hair-cut.

Renee is the daughter of a Baptist minister, Rev. Jack Martz, who turned traveling evangelist. When Renee was four, she came to the conclusion that she should follow in his footsteps.

Since that momentous decision, she's circled the globe twice, converted 40,000 persons and "packed houses" everywhere she's gone. But, except for the maturity that comes over her when she speaks, she's still a normal child.

Makes Pals Easily — She likes to climb trees and eat double-dip hot fudge sundaes. She makes friends easily, and can outfight the best of them. Her admirers say she looks like a brunette Shirley Temple, sings like Judy Garland and preaches "like nobody's business."

But when she opens her mouth, she's no longer a child. She speaks easily on such topics as politics (she's a MacArthur booster) and fashions (she favors charm bracelets and has "jillions" of charms) and entertainment (she's seen only one movie and never expects to see another).

She still likes dolls, however, and sometimes practices her sermons on one of her dolls. "I'm of 100. When she was younger, she considered becoming a waitress, beautiful or salesgirl. Now that she's grown-up, she thinks she'll continue with her evangelism. Although she says she's never seen a man "as handsome as my daddy," she admits to thinking young Arthur MacArthur is "cute."

Solidarity Among Arabs Is Urged

BEIRUT, LEBANON —(AP)— Reduction of passport and customs barriers among Arab states were among the recommendations made at the concluding meeting of a Congress of Arab Chambers of Commerce held in Beirut and Tripoli.

The congress recommended outright abolition of passports among member states of the Arab League. Reduction of customs barriers was advised, with a view to abolishing them completely as soon as this is practicable.

Delegates advocated strong action to curb foreign economic infiltration in the Arab world. The congress urged member governments to encourage national industries, to develop them, and to protect them against foreign competition.

TRAFFIC MEETING SET

MILAN —(AP)— Europe's mounting traffic problems — and the methods and machinery which can help to solve them — will be highlighted in Milan's second international traffic and safety exhibition.

The show, sponsored by the Automobile Club of Milan, will be held in June. Sixteen countries took part in the first exhibition last Spring.

Missing Train Lucky Break For Jap Girl

NEW HAVEN, CONN. —(AP)— Miss Fumiye Miho, Honolulu-born Japanese who was studying in Japan when World War II broke out, probably wouldn't be alive and a student at the Yale Divinity School today if she hadn't missed a train seven years ago.

The train was one on which she commuted 15 miles daily to Hiroshima, and the day she missed it was Aug. 6, 1945. The atom bomb fell that day.

The first broadcast of a political convention was the Republican meeting in Cleveland in June, 1924.
