

Eighth Member Of Family Of 11 Dies Of Burns

MIDDLETON, N. Y. — An eighth member of a family of 11 died late Wednesday of burns suffered in a fire which destroyed their home at Walker Valley, N. Y.

Harry Polhamus, 43-year-old lumberjack, died at Middleton Sanitarium.

His wife, Evelyn, 39, and six of their children, ranging in age from two to 12, died in the flames early Wednesday.

Two other children were in the hospital Thursday. Henry, five, was reported in critical condition and Rose, 16, in fair condition.

Only one of the nine Polhamus children—Louis, 15 — escaped unscathed. His father dropped him from a window after a kerosene store exploded and set the frame house ablaze while the family was asleep.

Hugh (Woo Woo) Herbert, Playwright-Comedian, Dies

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — Hugh Herbert, 66, actor, playwright and comedian famed for his giddy "woo-woo" and flirty hands, died Wednesday night at his home of a heart ailment.

He complained of feeling ill and succumbed shortly after his physician and personal friend, Dr. Victor Kovner, arrived.

After appearing in vaudeville, revues and on the New York stage, he came to Hollywood in 1927 and had been a featured comedian in scores of films. He had worked recently at a studio where he was under contract for a series of short subjects.

Some of his better known films were "The Great Waltz," "Kismet," in which he collaborated on the script, "A Miracle Can Happen" and "Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Bend."

Born in Binghamton, N. Y., and educated at Cornell University, Herbert was a tailor's boy, newsboy, messenger, usher and theater prop man before getting his first acting job. That consisted of standing behind a silent movie screen and speaking the actors' parts.

Later the rubber-faced comic played bit parts and dialect roles and once played seven straight weeks at the old Hammerstein's in New York. He wrote much of his own material as well as sketches for others.

He was co-author of one of the first talking films, "Lights of New York," and collaborated on the scripts of many Hollywood films.

Herbert was divorced in 1947 by his wife of 27 years, Mrs. Rose Herbert. They had no children. Funeral arrangements await her arrival from Fort-Worth, Texas.

Mario, Deanna May Combine For Film In London Or Paris

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: From her villa in the south of France, Deanna Durbin, 30, slim and wise, is hotly denying the rumors that she will divorce new hubby Charles David. What's more, Deanna is saying that she hasn't had a written offer from MGM to co-star with Mario Lanza in "The Vagabond King"—just unofficial talk with Joe Pasternak.

Far more tangible is Mario's proposal to Deanna to sing with him in a movie to be made in London or Paris.

The Durbin plans: A Summer reunion in London with her British-born parents, a trip to Hollywood in September and a search for a movie vehicle that will give her the chance to play an adult character.

Italian actress Sylvia Pampalini, who made headlines by stating that some of Hollywood's top-notch actors are too old to make love on the screen, echoed the same yells of U. S. theater exhibitors who recently convened in Los Angeles.

The studios quietly agreed with the exhibitors, and that's the reason for the epidemic of new young faces in the movie heart beat league. Film-lovers are too old, Hollywood knows it, and is doing something about it.

Mariette is Paris-Bound

Mariette Dietrich will trek to Paris for another French film, "Adorable Creatures." . . . Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh have been offered the leads in the London company of "Anna and the King of Siam." It turns out that they both can sing like nightingales and have been looking for a musical.

Brain Operation May Rouse Child From Long Coma

PASADENA, CALIF. — The entire left side of a seven-year-old girl's brain was exposed for surgery aimed at rousing her from a coma that has made the last three years of her life a blank.

After an attack of measles, Carol Ann Pugh was stricken in December, 1948, with what doctors diagnosed as encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. She has awakened only occasionally to recognize her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark I. Pugh of nearby Bellflower.

Wednesday's operation was to remove a membrane covering the left side of her brain. It took three hours and afterward the surgeon, who insisted on anonymity, declined to say when its success could be determined.

Paratroops Plan Rehearsal Jump

SAN SABA — Some 2,600 paratroopers will make a rehearsal jump about 8 a.m. Saturday in the San Saba-Lometa area, Maj. Gen. D. W. Canham said Thursday.

Commanding general of the famed 82nd Airborne Division, Canham expects thousands of visitors to see the mass jumps just north of U. S. Highway 19.

General Canham cautioned visitors that unfavorable weather conditions, such as high winds or rain, would delay or force cancellation of the drop.

Equipment, rations and weapons will be dropped singly and with the paratroopers.

Military Police will be stationed at key points leading to the drop zone and will assist visitors in reaching the spectator areas.

March Winds Whip Rain, Snow, Dust Across Wide Areas

By The Associated Press

March winds whipped a variety of rough weather over wide areas of the country Thursday from the plains to the Appalachians.

The Midwest got the worst of the weather, with strong winds, snow and rain. The snow fell over most of the Northern Great Plains. Temperatures ranged from 20 to 30 degrees.

Rain pelted areas from Iowa eastward and southward as far as the Appalachian Mountains. Colder weather and snow headed for the north central region.

The Weather Bureau reported considerable dust in the air over the Central Mississippi Valley as a result of the high winds in the Southern Great Plains in the last 24 hours. A tornado hit in Southwestern Iowa Wednesday, damaging farm buildings in Ringgold County. Dust storms were reported in Kansas.

Light snow and rain fell in parts of Nevada, Washington and Oregon but it was mostly cloudy in other parts of the western third of the nation. Mostly fair skies with temperatures near normal prevailed along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Argentina Unveils Home-Made Flivver

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA — The government unveiled the first Argentine-made automobile Wednesday night—a flivver car with a two-cylinder engine developing 23 horsepower and an outside appearance much like the American-made Henry J.

It is expected to do 60 miles an hour and carry four passengers in a two-door sedan body. A government announcement said it will have a plastic clutch, strengthened with copper.

The first production model is expected to be out May 1 and 5,000 are scheduled for production in the first year.

No price was announced, but the government said both the cost of buying it and maintaining it will be low. Import of foreign automobiles is restricted sharply and prices range around $6,000 for medium price cars like Chevrolets.

Its name is a political tribute to President Juan D. Peron's government. It is the "Justicialista"—adapted from the "social justice" slogan of Peron's party.

Fort Worth Pastor Resigns To Accept Orphan Home Post

FORT WORTH — Rev. Ellis L. Carnet, resigned Wednesday night as pastor of the Travis Avenue Baptist Church here to become president and general manager of Buckner Orphan Home at Dallas.

Paula Dagna, board chairman of the Buckner Home, said Carnet was selected "after a careful, thorough investigation."

The home has been without a permanent head since the death of Hal F. Buckner, son of the founder, in January, 1951.

In his new position, Mr. Carnet also will be concerned with Buckner benevolences, under which a home for unwed mothers and another for underprivileged boys are operated.

Norway's Wartime Prime Minister Dies

OSLO, NORWAY — Johan Nygaardsvold, 73, Norway's wartime prime minister in exile, died early Thursday in a hospital at Trondheim after four weeks illness.

When the Nazis invaded Norway in 1940, Nygaardsvold, then prime minister, fled to form a free government abroad. He returned at the war's end in 1945.

An active Labor Party politician, he had headed the government from 1935 until 1945.

Latest Figures Of UN Aircraft Losses In Korea Are Reported

By PETER EDSON. NEA Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON — Total United Nations aircraft losses in Korean combat now number 818. This covers the period from the start of the war, June 30, 1950, through Feb. 29, 1952—20 months.

There are no figures released on casualties in actual flying operations. The best estimate that can be made on this point is by deduction from total Air Force and Navy casualties, which are roughly comparable.

New Troubles Brew On Capitol Hill For Cleanup Director Newbold Morris

WASHINGTON—(AP)—New troubles brewed Thursday on Capitol Hill for government cleanup man Newbold Morris. There was talk of citing him for contempt of Congress in the wake of his blast at what he termed the "diseased minds" of senators investigating him. Also, he faced a call to a new and possibly wider investigation. Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), the main target of Morris' denunciation of what he called "character destruction" in congressional probes, said he would press for a full scale Senate inquiry into accusations voiced in the House by Representative Potter (R-Mich) last month that Morris has a "sordid background" of activities in Communist front organizations. Morris has denied the charges publicly and vigorously. Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, told a reporter he believes Potter's statement should be explored further. McCarran announced a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which he also heads again would delay action on a White House request for subpoena powers for Morris on his cleanup job "until it is determined whether this man will be cited for contempt."

Last Trucks Leave For Long Horn Games

FORT JACKSON, S. C.—(AP)—The final group of trucks of the 31st "Dixie" Infantry Division left here for Texas Thursday to engage in "Exercise Long Horn." The joint Army-Air Force maneuvers are set for Fort Hood, Texas. Overnight stops for the convoys include one at Palestine, Texas. Later this month, about 8,500 Dixie Division soldiers will be flown from here to the maneuver area in the Temple, Texas, vicinity.

Germans Ask Help For 'War Children'

BONN, GERMANY—(AP)—Occupation soldiers in West Germany—mainly Americans, Britons and Frenchmen—have fathered at least 94,000 illegitimate children and the German Parliament wants the Allies to help pay their keep. The Parliament instructed the government Wednesday night to start negotiations with the Allies High Commission for help.

McCarran said his group plans to question Morris "at some length" when it gets around to it. There was a different story on the other side of the Capitol. Representative Celler (D-NY) declared he was convinced of Morris' honesty and integrity and said his House Judiciary Committee would act "pronto" on a bill to give him full subpoena powers. Called "Smart Aleck" "The Senate committee's examination to date reveals no wrongdoing on his part," Celler said. But back in the Senate, Senator Nixon (R-Calif) publicly called on President Truman to fire Morris from the cleanup job as a "smart aleck" who showed a lack of mature judgment and emotional stability. The Special Investigations subcommittee, before which Morris denied any wrongdoing in surplus tanker deals or trade with Communist China, resumed its hearings Thursday to determine whether Morris had any help from the White House in the ship deals. Morris wound up his testimony before that group Wednesday with an attack which several members call "contemptuous." The corruption probe declared: "Down here in Washington in the last three years you have created an atmosphere so vile that people have lost confidence in their government."

BIG BUSINESS IN SMALL WAY

NEW YORK—(AP)—A veteran bank employe has been accused of pocketing $800 in quarters over an eight-year period. Fred Edward Reidel, 57, employe for 30 years at the Hanover Bank, was arrested Wednesday and charged with embezzlement in violation of the Federal Reserve Act. An FBI spokesman said Reidel, assistant head of the bank's coin department, had been assigned to count quarters arriving for deposit. When seized, the spokesman said, Reidel has $35.25 in quarters in his pockets. Held in $1,000 bail by federal commissioner, Reidel faces a possible five-year prison term and a $5,000 fine or both, if convicted.

Senator Mundt (R-SD), contending in a statement that Morris had "courageously" included him in the blast, announced he would study the recorded testimony "with the thought that his words and attitude may make it necessary to have him cited for contempt." McCarran said he did not favor such a move because he believed Morris was so "emotionally upset" he was not responsible for what he was saying.

Six Men Nabbed With Marijuana

BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—Rio Grande Valley customs agent was busy Wednesday with marijuana handlers. Four men were arrested near Oltimo after two agents forced their car off the highway and found two ounces of the weed in a sack. Two others were arrested at McAllen and one and one-half pounds of marijuana confiscated. U. S. Commissioner J. C. Looney of Edinburg set bond for Salbeto Flores, 32, at $750 and for Homero Luciano Agias at $500. Commissioner Otto Reichert set bond of $750 each for three men who gave their names and ages as Raymond Gates, 22; Frank Smith, 22; Tom Holden, 25; and $1,500 for John Mathers, 37. W. E. Gladstone was Prime Minister of Britain four times.

Life Is Just Bowl Of Pabulum For Dayton's Siamese Twins, Donald and Ronald Gaylon

DAYTON, OHIO—(AP)—You might envy the twinkling Gaylon twins who've got five months apiece to look back on now. They're star boarders at St. Elizabeth's Nursery, for one thing. Any number of meals a day, baths, clean clothes, and no income tax due in two days. For another, Donald and Ronald were born into a very exclusive club. Its founders were two Chinese tots named Chang and Eng. And like all good clubs, it goes back a long time—to Siam, in 1811. Here's a progress report on the first Siamese twins ever to survive in Dayton: Donald is stronger. Ronald is alert and ready to play. Both are as cute and as active as any five-month-old babies you'd beam at anywhere. The blue-eyed, fair-haired twins were born last October 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gaylon. "At birth," said Mrs. Dolores Armstrong, head nurse of the pediatrics ward, "the twins weighed 11 pounds, 11 1/2 ounces. They weigh more than 21 pounds now, and at the end of six months, they probably will have doubled their weight, which is normal." Donald and Ronald are joined by flesh, not bone, at a point below the navel. There's been no decision yet whether an attempt will be made to separate them. Meanwhile, life is just a bowl of pabulum for the two. Except for a few minor incidents, they haven't been sick a day in five months, the hospital reports. There's no confusion about sleeping; both lads drop off about the same time. Sometimes one wakes up before the other. Both eat like well, like you did when you didn't have to pay for it. Sometimes Ronald gets his hand in Donald's mouth, and nurses have to untangle the two. And, the hospital scribes report, Donald has mastered the art of sitting up, but twin brother Ronnie hasn't as yet. Nurses think he's just too contented to try.

COUNTER-BLOW—If you think Mrs. Jane Counter, Minneapolis, Wis., tomato packer, looks sadly pensive, you're right. She lost her diamond ring while packing tomatoes and figures it's in one of the 20,000 packages of them showing up in retail stores. Since the news got out, there was a boom in tomato sales.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Here it's Thursday again and here we are. Sand's still a blowing, too. Lovely weather we are having in Midland, isn't it?

The statement we made last week about report card time made a few of the members unhappy. Now, we don't know why exactly, but we have a very good idea. Does that mean you might not want to take your cards home????

Tuesday night the Thespians presented their annual play in the high school auditorium. The name of it was "January 16." That is rather an unusual name for a play, but it was very good and the Thespians did a very fine job.

Wednesday, in assembly, the Speech Department presented the play called "So This Is Texas." It is rehearsal time again for the Midland High School Band, as it enters its last round for contest. The band has been working very hard this year and should get very good ratings in the contests at Kermit.

Scouts From TCU

While speaking of the band, there is something else. We had visitors from TCU Wednesday, scouting the band.

Please pardon us, Lanette Early. Last week, while telling you about majorettes of the MHS Half-Timers, we forgot to mention Lanette's name. We are real glad that someone called our attention to it. We are sorry, Lanette, and hope you aren't mad. We happen to know that she isn't.

The ping-pong tournaments have been underway a few days and most of the ping-pong tables are occupied by contestants. We have a request for those of you who are in the Youth Center at the time these tournaments are going on. Please don't disturb the players!

The pool tournament will get underway as soon as the ping-pong tournaments are over. Be sure and sign up now if you plan to enter.

The picture show Saturday night was the best yet. By the best yet, we mean the crowd was larger. BUT there still is room for more of you, and so why not come down this Saturday night? The show this week is "Strangers in the Dark." See you at the Youth Center Saturday night.

Roy Kinsey, just what kind of a book were you reading last Thursday night???? It must have been very interesting because one couldn't even get his nose out of it.

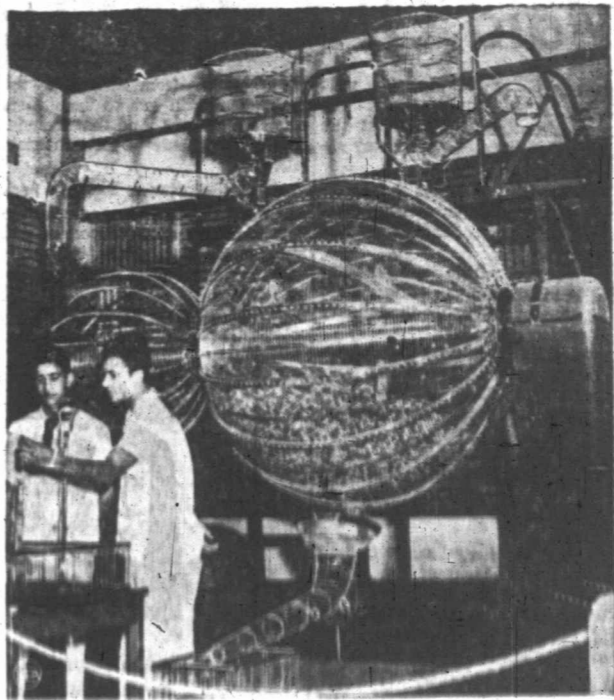

Dana Roper, Ellis Long, Mary Jane Miller, Mary Ann McRae and Shirley Paugh all went up to the high school Monday night to practice for the Interscholastic League Contest literary events which will be held in Lubbock.

Now, if any of you are getting Spring Fever it just isn't time for it yet, so hold it back a few weeks. There is just a pleasant reminder it is eleven more weeks before school is out, so just save Spring Fever back for a while.

Late this month the students who are trying out for cheer-leader will show the MHS'ers just what they have to offer in cheer leading abilities. The cheer-leader for next year will be Sadie Nugent. She was chosen last year.

Stan Coker really made a good judge the other night at the Thespians play. He should become a judge, don't you think?

Not too much more news to report, so we will just say "adios" for this week, and we will see you next week.

CHANCE IS FOOLPROOF—Puerto Rico's "foolproof" lottery machine spins in San Juan as students make the weekly drawing of numbers. The government-operated lottery last year returned nearly 70 per cent of its $28,000,000 take to the public, distributing the rest to charities, needy municipalities, and to lottery ticket sellers as commissions. No one touches the numbered balls until they pop out of the outlandish-looking device.

The MATURE PARENT

Adoption Is Just, As Babies Need Fathers

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

A reader of this column believes that America is "backward" and "fascistic" to encourage the adoption of illegitimate children by married foster parents.

"The child's natural mother is robbed and cheated by the United States' notion that motherhood means little unless it is accompanied by money and a marriage license," she writes, adding that it is our Puritanical prejudice against illegitimacy that makes it hard for an unwed mother to keep her baby.

Nonsense. What makes it hard for the unmarried mother to keep her baby is not the absence of money, a marriage license or our approval—but the absence of love and responsibility in the young man she chose to father her baby. No "United States notions" rob her of her child, but some notion that she herself has entertained about some untrustworthy young man.

What my reader is implying is that all a new mother wants out of life is her baby. This is inaccurate. She wants the baby's father around occasionally. Actually, the average new mother lives for the hour when the new father comes beaming in to her room in the maternity ward. Later, when he lays his child in the crib for the first time, the new mother would not trade the sight of the look on his face for all the gold in Fort Knox.

You could give her a marriage license, embossed with cupid and signed by every Justice on the Supreme Court, and though she might say, "Thank you, it's quite pretty," she would put it down the incinerator if you asked her to choose between it and the dear and comfortable presence of the man who has made her a mother. As to our approval, a new mother is too pleased with her husband's approval to care much how we feel about her.

How unjust, how wrong to talk as though money, marriage licenses and social approval were anything but the most incidental concerns of the young creature whose emotions are totally engaged with her loveless and unprotected state. For her, the maternity ward's visiting hour comes and goes as empty and bleak as the road that lies ahead of her.

Money Cannot Make Home

Without a man's love, providing for babies is extremely difficult. Money cannot make the home good if love is not there. All the marriage licenses, all the social approval gathered for the season's most fashionable wedding can't make a baby's home happy if its father doesn't want to be there.

So it is not "backward" or America to disapprove of illegitimacy. It is not "fascistic" of her to ask that babies to be born into welcome instead of into the recriminations of a broken love affair.

In anthropologist Margaret Mead's book, "Male and Female," she says: "When we survey all known human societies, we find everywhere some form of the family by which males assist females in caring for the young. In every known society in the world, the young male is taught that to win full membership in his community he will one day have to provide food for some female and her children."

A father who begets children and then walks out on the work of helping to provide for them is a maladjusted person, whether he lives in New Jersey, Bechuanaland or in a wind-swept village in the Andes.

The harrowing emotions through which the unwed mother is put by her disillusion, her homeless and unprotected state does not make her a particularly serene and happy person for her baby to be around. America encourages adoption because it knows how important serene and happy people are to babies. By permitting adoption, we try to correct the disadvantages implicit in the birth of unwanted children.

Communists Cite Textbook 'Errors'

MOSCOW —(AP)—The Ministry of Higher Education has been singled out for not taking effective measures to correct some "serious errors" in the important textbook, "History of the Soviet State and Law."

Calling for an improvement of higher education in law, Izvestia said in a leading editorial "The Ministry of Higher Education does not delve deeply into the content of the academic, educational and scientific work of the higher law institutes." Izvestia warned that quite a long time has elapsed since these errors were revealed.

Scotch Barley Broth For Men

SCOTCH BARLEY BROTH with lamb in it makes a savory one-dish appetizer for lunch or supper.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Market Editor

Scotch Barley Broth
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

A small-size bowl of steaming Scotch barley broth, with meaty pieces of lamb in it, makes a meal in itself. Serve toasted crackers, Melba toast or salted bread sticks with it, plus raw carrot sticks and celery.

In making, simmer the broth (they cook quickly) to develop full flavor. Serve in large soup bowls.

One pound lamb neck or shank, cut in pieces, 5 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 bay leaf, 1 1/2 cups pearly barley, 2 1/2 cups chopped celery, 2 cups sliced carrots, 1 cup peas (fresh or canned).

Trim fat from meat and melt in frying pan. Cut meat from bones; brown meat and bones in hot fat. Put in deep kettle; add water, salt and bay leaf; cover and cook slowly one and one-half hours. Add barley, celery and carrots and continue cooking one hour longer. Add peas and cook 15 minutes longer or until meat and barley are tender. Zestful economy, nutritious good eating—that's what this recipe for liver pie provides.

Corn Liver Meal Pie

(6 servings)

Liver Filling: One pound beef liver, 1/4 cup shortening, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups tomato juice, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon chili powder, 1 cup sliced onions, 1 cup green beans, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Cut liver in one-inch strips; flour lightly. Melt shortening; brown liver in hot shortening slowly on all sides. Sprinkle the 2 tablespoons flour over liver and stir to combine; then add tomato juice, salt, pepper, chili powder and onion.

But until ingredients are well mixed; cover and cook slowly 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add beans and Worcestershire sauce just before putting filling in pie shell.

Pastry: Two-thirds cup enriched corn meal, 1 1/3 cups enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups shortening, 5 to 6 tablespoons water.

Sift together corn meal, flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse bread crumbs. Add water, a little at a time until mixture will hold together. Roll out 1 1/2 of pastry to fit an 8 or 9-inch pie pan; put liver filling in pan.

Roll out remaining pastry to make top crust; seal edges well; prick surface to release steam. Brush top with milk or cream, if desired. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until brown. Cut in wedges and serve.

Special Aroma Added To Odorless Fuel

NEW YORK — You can call them "stinkers" and they won't mind.

They're the men whose job it is to add a special aroma to odorless natural fuel. This is done for safety in home and industry, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

One pint of the odorant, a sulphur derivative, will smell up a million cubic feet of natural gas. The gas absorbs the odor as it passes over a vat of the liquid or the odorant is injected directly into the gas transmission line.

Chemical Banishes Snow, Ice On Roads

HAMBURG, GERMANY — A German highway engineer claims he has discovered a chemical combination to keep highways free of snow and ice.

Wilhelm Rademacher, 65, calls his solution "Electrowa Chloratrinat 999-A." He maintains a short road test-strip near here. Not far off is a main highway. It has been coated with ice and snow, while Rademacher's strip has been bare and dry. A handful or two of snow, when thrown on it, melts in an hour.

Rademacher claims his chemical combination will mix with any road ingredient. His chemicals in liquid form cost about 20 cents a quart. He says a little more than a quart is enough for a square yard of road material.

Material thus treated will remain snow and ice-free for eight to 10 years and will not cause deterioration in the highway surface, Rademacher says.

Big Bear In Zoo May Be World's Largest

MILWAUKEE — Five-year-old Otis is already 8 feet 10 and officials of the Washington Park Zoo think he may easily wind up as the world's biggest bear.

George Speidel and Charles Stanke zoo officials, measured him in his cage by getting Otis to stand up full length to swipe at an apple. Otis, who has about three more years to grow, weighs about 1,000 pounds now, they figure.

When Otis was 6 months old, he weighed 100 pounds and could turn around in a 31-inch-long crate. Now he can't even get his head in the 17-inch-square door.

Overall height of the Statue of Liberty is 305 feet.

Daddy Ringtail

By Wesley Davis

Daddy Ringtail And Flying Arrow

What a long and cold Winter there had been in the Great Forest. Ice and snow had covered the Whispering River so that it could not even whisper. Why, ice skaters skated at the very spot where, in the warmer days of Summer, swimmers swam. Ice and snow had lain upon the Elephant Path, covering the trees and bushes and rocks, and even the roofs of the houses where the animal-people lived inside, waiting for the Spring.

The cold north wind had shrieked and howled through the barren ing snow. "Was the Winter really going at last? Oh, the Winter sometimes plays tricks, you know, to make people think that Winter is gone when it isn't. Yes, but just then—flying northward through the sky—looking for all the world like the head of a flying arrow—there came a great flock of wild geese. The wild geese know when Winter is over, as everyone knows. And the wild geese fly north to chase the northwind. Behind the geese comes the Spring with its warm days and gentle breezes.

And if you want to know if Spring is really here, just you watch for the flying arrow of wild geese in the sky. Happy day!

woods, pushing at the doors, rattling the windows. It seemed to howl louder when fireplace fires leaped higher.

"Oh, would the north wind ever be still at last? When would the ice and snow be melted away? When would the fires die out and the windows be opened to the warm breath of a friendly sun?"

All the animal-people were tired of the long, cold winter. They were asking themselves just when the Winter would be gone. The Huffle Puffen asked it, and Daddy Ringtail did too, and everyone did, I guess.

And then one day it happened. When morning came, the cold north wind mysteriously had disappeared. The ice had melted, and the Whispering River was whispering once more. Water dripped down from the melting snow on the roof, and once a great blanket of snow slid down from the roof with a noise kerplut to the ground. Daddy Ringtail smiled to see it. And here and there were patches of good brown earth, showing up through the melt-

Kraut and Wieners Team Up

SAUERKRAUT PIE WITH FRANKFURTERS is a restful dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here are three good recipes, all using sauerkraut, one of the tastiest ways cabbage comes to the table. These dishes are economical, nourishing, and delicious.

1. Sauerkraut pie with frankfurters.
2. Krautfurter roll-up.
3. Individual krautfurter casseroles.

Sauerkraut Pie and Franks
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One No. 2-1/2 can sauerkraut drained; 1 cup chopped red-skinned apple unpeeled; 1 tablespoon brown sugar; 4-6 slices apple to garnish; 1 1/4 cups fine bread crumbs; 1/2 cup melted butter; 8-10 frankfurters marked.

In a saucepan combine sauerkraut, chopped apple and brown sugar; stir to mix evenly; cover and heat thoroughly. In a second bowl, mix together bread crumbs and butter or margarine; press into bottom and sides of 9-inch deep pie plate.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Add sauerkraut mixture and return to oven for 20 minutes.

Garnish with fresh apple slices. Serve with cooked frankfurters.

Krautfurter Roll Ups
(Makes 10 roll ups)

One No. 2 can sauerkraut; 1 1/2 cup grated American cheese; 1 1/2 cup grated onion; 1/4 cup chili sauce; 1/8 teaspoon pepper; 10 frankfurters; 10 strips bacon.

Drain sauerkraut (reserve liquid for vegetable juice cocktails). Combine sauerkraut with cheese, onion, chili sauce and pepper. Split frankfurters lengthwise and fill with sauerkraut mixture.

Wrap a strip of bacon around each

Vision Standard Held Inadequate

PITTSBURGH.—(AP)—The ability to read letters on a chart across a room is not an adequate test of vision, says the American Optometric Association.

"The 20/20 standard of vision is a fallacy which should be exploded," says Dr. J. Otis White, association president. "It does not mean average vision nor does it mean normal vision. It is just an arbitrary standard set before we knew any better."

Among requirements for adequate vision listed by Dr. White were ability to see clearly at about 15 inches; ability to make the two eyes work together; ability to judge distance and the ability to see over a large area while focusing on a point straight ahead.

Only Garretts Sign Reelection Petition

MT. CARMEL, ILL.—(AP)—A petition for Republican W. V. Brown's reelection to the Illinois House of Representatives came back completed—but there was only one family name on it.

Twenty-six citizens named Garrett signed the petition when it was passed on the White County community of Mills Shoals. It was certified by a precinct committeeman—who, of course, was named Garrett.

An estimated 15 persons were at work in the building when the fire was discovered but all made it to safety.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Young moderns have their own little ambassadors.

She's 20-year-old Paulette Sap-Socci of Woonsocket, R. I. who just had returned from a good-will trip to France.

True, Paulette was without portfolio, but she managed to accomplish plenty. Says she:

"When I got the idea a year ago to create better relations between youths of America and France, I went to Boston's French consul and discussed it with him. He was in favor of it, but France couldn't afford to pay my way. Next I discussed the problem with the head of a French perfume house—and they agreed to pay my expenses."

Paulette, a former student of La Presentation de Marie in Hudson, N. J., daughter of French-Canadian parents, took courses in French civilization, literature, art and geography in Paris, so that she could find out if France really "deserved its reputation of high culture and advanced civilization." They have both, she says.

She did more than eat bouillabaisse and attend school during her six-months stay. She visited about 20 schools discussing the American way of life with students from 17 to 21 years of age. They learned about our schools, sports, games, movies, theatres, and how teenagers play. Says Paulette:

"French youths like America and are interested in how American teenagers date. In France there is not much dating because kids can't afford it. The average French boy gets about 25 francs a week allowance. Even if he'd like to invite a girl for a walk, he must pay 20 francs to telephone her. This leaves him 5 francs."

There is no such thing in France as the goodnight kiss for teenagers, and many girls are accompanied on dates by chaperones. At parties when games are played, kissing is a peck on each cheek. It is not until girls are "almost married," according to Paulette, that they kiss their loved ones on the lips.

French boys are good looking, and seldom flirtatious, as American girls might imagine, she says, and explains:

"A date with a French boy is an experience. He is well-informed about American life and knows more about our candidates for political office than we do."

Young Frenchmen are very mature for their ages, Paulette says. One boy at 18 had his doctorate of laws. She points out, however, that school hours are longer—mornings from 8:30 to 12:30, afternoons from 1:30 to 6:30, school on Saturdays instead of Thursdays.

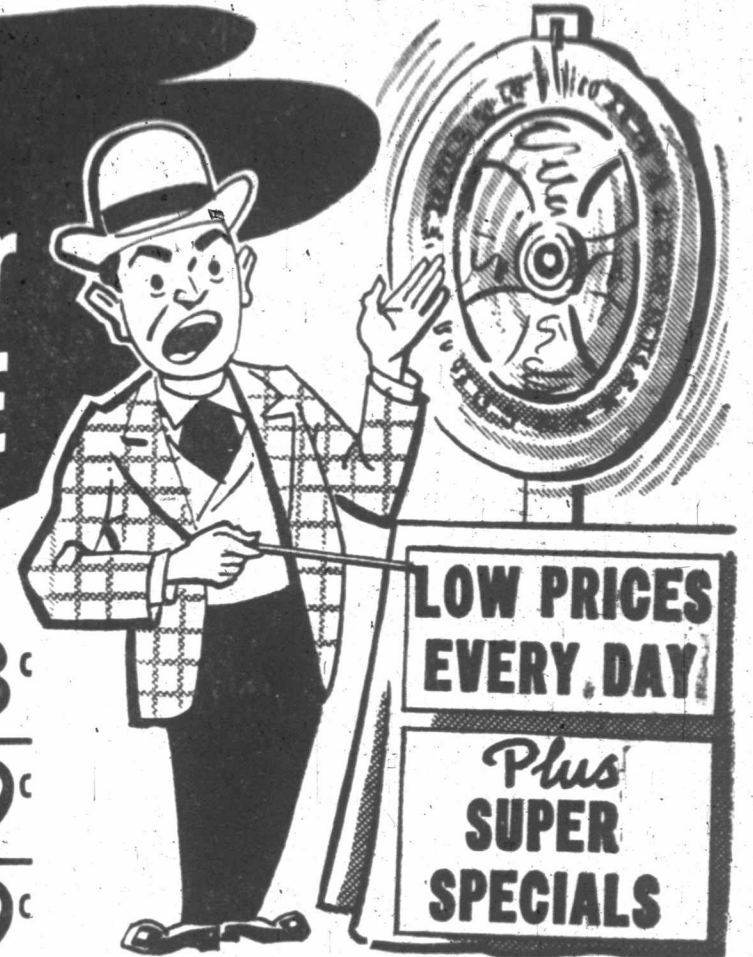

French boys never carry cigarettes. These are doled out—one at a time—by their fathers. French girls are dressed poorly; the average cheap dress costs about 15,000 francs (about $40). Stockings are worn on Sundays only, and shoes are a poor equivalent of our loafers. No decent young girl, she says, would ever wear anything but flat shoes—girls who wear high heels and earrings are considered "bad."

Rugby is a popular sport. Museums are free on Sundays, but then they are jammed, she says. Concerts attract young people more than any other form of entertainment. If one is a member of Jeunesse Musicale de France, open to young people who play a musical instrument, and supported by patrons, they can attend concerts free. Paulette joined the organization and loved the whole idea. Says she:

"One of my plans now is to tour America and Canada describing the French students' way of life. I want to tell them also how music is made attractive to the French—before concerts the life of the composer is discussed in a very interesting fashion, not a cut and dried performance."

Paulette hopes to be a journalist some day, and her experience so far has been writing monthly articles for her father's French magazine Le Phare, published in Canada. When she was seventeen she was awarded the medal of L'ordre academique d'honneur, et merite by the Societe du bon parler francais of Montreal. She was the first American so honored, and as a result was rewarded by her father with a trip across America.

West Texan Turns Out History Of WAC

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A five-year task of writing the history of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) is being completed by a Texan—herself an Air Force reserve officer on duty as a civilian with the Defense Department.

She is Miss Patty Treadwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Treadwell of Uvalde. She is listed on AP records as Lt. Col. Mattie Evelyn Treadwell, but her friends call her Patty.

By April 1 she hopes to put the finishing touches on the job she started in 1947, when she went out of uniform and went back to work in the office of the Chief of Military History of the Army. Some 90 separate volumes are being turned out in detail of the activities of units of the army in World War II.

With the title of "Historian" of the WAC, Miss Treadwell has written and compiled the 750-page volume. It is devoted to the creation and

Wives Shouldn't Force Issue Of Husband's First Interest

A Michigan wife was recently granted a divorce on the grounds that her husband preferred his 22 cats to her. On the same day a California wife divorced her husband on the complaint that he preferred a company of his hound dog to that of his ever-loving spouse.

Both women made a serious mistake in their marriages. They forced the issue of whether or not they actually came first in their husbands' interest.

That's always a risk. Whether it is his work or his hobby or an old hound dog that captures a man's interest, his wife should never even suggest that the job or the hobby or the old hound dog is more important in his scheme of things than she is.

For there is always the danger that she may be right at that particular moment.

If she is smart, she makes friends with her competition, instead of forcing the issue.

growth of the organization up through the demobilization period after the close of World War II. The book will contain numerous pictures. Public Document.

Although the job of assembling, writing and compiling the data is about done, Miss Treadwell says it may be a year or more before the Government Printing Office gets around to publishing it. The book is to be put out as a public document and offered to the public at actual cost of publication.

Born in Corpus Christi, Miss Treadwell moved to Uvalde with her parents when five and attended public school there, except for the last two years of high school. She did those two years at Austin, then attended the University of Texas. She got her B.A. degree in 1934, M.S. in 1935.

After teaching a year in the Del Rio public schools and two years at Port Arthur, Miss Treadwell looked toward Washington. Her fellow townsman, John Nance Garner was doing all right here, as vice president.

"I wrote Mrs. Garner asking about a job," she laughingly recalls Miss Treadwell.

"Mrs. Garner wrote back to my mother that Washington wasn't any place for a young girl to come up to from South Texas. That quickened my interest. I guess I soon came up on my own and went to work with the Civil Service Commission.

Mrs. Garner helpful. Mrs. Garner, adds Miss Treadwell, was exceedingly friendly and helpful after she arrived.

"She helped me find a place to live," she recalled. "And they always used to welcome me up to their suite in the Washington Hotel or their offices at the Capitol if I got a little homesick."

After the outbreak of World War II, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, who with her husband, former Governor

W. P. Hobby, runs the Houston Post, helped organize the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. Mrs. Hobby at the time was head of the Women's Interest Division in the old War Department.

Miss Treadwell joined the first WAAC officer training class that assembled in Des Moines, Ia., in 1942, and got a commission as a second lieutenant. After a period of service at Fort Leavenworth, she was ordered to Washington as an assistant to Mrs. Hobby, who had become a colonel and the first head of the WAC. It soon was Capt. Treadwell, then Major Treadwell, with the title of assistant chief of the WAC branch of GI, and director of personnel training.

At World War II peak enrollment, there were about 100,000 WACS, says Miss Treadwell, including 40,000 assigned to the Air Corps.

Jobs Largely Clerical. Their jobs largely were clerical and chauffeuring, but also included such responsibility as operating telephone switchboards in mobile units not far behind the front lines during some fighting in France and Italy.

"There was a good deal of skepticism on the part of some of the old officers when we first went into service," she recalls.

The WAC became the Women's Army Corps, WAC, in 1943. Since 1947 it has been a part of the regular military establishment, parts of the Army, and Air Force, rather than a separate entity.

Telephone Search Unites Father With Texan Son After 30-Year Separation

ARLINGTON, VA. —(AP)— A father who made a town-to-town telephone search for his son, whom he hadn't seen in 30 years, enjoyed a happy reunion here Wednesday.

"The calls I made from here were station-to-station so it wasn't as expensive as it sounds," explained Frank Sobolewski, 61. "There was no charge for most of the calls."

Little Frankie was only two when his father last saw him in Pensacola, Fla., April 1, 1922, and sent him off to Texas. He was a strapping man of 32 when he arrived by plane from Portland, Texas, where he is a welder.

The son had taken the name of Frank Crawford, for the foster parent, Frank Hodge, who reared him, in Hochheim, Texas.

Lack of money and illness, Sobolewski said, kept him from seeking his son before now. For six years a clarinetist with the Army Band, he has been disabled since 1934.

Sobolewski said he sent the boy and his wife to Luling, Texas, in 1922 to await his discharge from the Army in Lubbock. Before he arrived in Texas the boy had been sent to his wife's grandparents in Luling and Sobolewski's wife joined him in setting up a music shop in Lubbock.

Re-Enlists In Army. Sobolewski went broke and decided to make his way to Washington, D. C. He hitchhiked across the country and re-enlisted in the Army late in 1922. After hitchhikes with the 3rd Cavalry Band and a tour at the Army Music School, Sobolewski joined the Army Band.

Meanwhile, young Frank's great-grandmother died and he was placed with the Crawfords. Sobolewski paid $10 a month to help support the lad until 1927. They he lost track of the boy.

Sobolewski finally thought of making the telephone search. When he located the son last week, he sent him money to fly here from Portland.

Sobolewski has a comfortable income from four apartments and six rooms in two houses he built during his Army days. He now is commander of the Regular Veterans Association here.

Young Frank still unmarried, hasn't decided whether to stay here with his father or return to Portland, Sobolewski said.

Auto Buyer Brings Along Dividends

BRECKENRIDGE, MINN. —(AP)— When Hugh Wing, used car dealer here, offered to deduct $10 for each child of a car buyer, he did it without knowledge of Mike Leinen's family.

A farmer near Fairmount, N. D., Leinen read Wing's newspaper ad. It also stipulated that the buyer must bring the child along when he picked out the car.

Leinen drove in with his children—Gale 13; Gerald, 12; Virginia, 10; Ronald, nine; James, eight; Mitche II, seven; Cletus, six; Carrol Ann, five; Paul, three, and Mary, one.

Leinen picked out a 1936 car priced at $9. With license and title transfer, the deal came to $103. Leinen gave Wing $3 and the family drove home—in two cars.

OPIUM OVERBOARD

SINGAPORE —(AP)— The fish in Singapore harbor came close to experiencing an involuntary opium jag recently. A customs patrol launch approached a Chinese sampan. The crew tossed several bundles over the side. A customs man dived after them. The bundles were found to contain 30 pounds of opium worth $5,000. The crew was arrested.

WHEREZIT And WHATZIT

THE SAAR, one of Europe's hotspots, became an issue again during the NATO conference as the French-German dispute over it became the worst barrier to European unification. This rich coal-mining area of 900 square miles lies across a natural pathway between France and Germany. Trade flows across the Saar in times of peace—just as armies march across it during times of war. Romans and Gauls fought Germanic tribes in the territory. French forces under Louis XIV and Napoleon battled the Germans during the Franco-Prussian wars. Allied forces marched into the area during both World Wars. Severed from Germany after World War I, the Saar was made a separate entity and governed until 1934 by the League of Nations. In 1935, with Hitler and German nationalism on the rise, a plebiscite was held and the Saar was returned to Germany. Under terms of the Versailles treaty Germany bought back the Saar mines and paid France for damage she did to coal mines in northern France. After World War II, the Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly for an economic union with France. During 1950, agreements were signed between France and the Saar giving the territory a larger measure of autonomy, while France got a 50-year lease on the coal mines pending a final German peace treaty. The West German government protested the lease, claiming their constitution provides that its government take over all the property of the Third Reich—and the Saar was part of that state. France wants the land because of economic necessity as well as fear of German aggression. The U. S., in its attempt to make NATO an effective weapon against Soviet imperialism, found itself caught between France's desire for the Saar, and Germany's threat to refuse NATO partnership if the Saar isn't returned to her.

Several Treatments Help Cure Effects Of Hodgkin's Disease

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Hodgkin's disease is a peculiar and fortunately, not too common disorder, but one which is of extraordinary interest to a person who acquires it and to his or her family and friends.

The disease is more common in young people than in older ones and more frequent in men than in women. It has been reported from every part of the world. There is no danger of catching it from a patient.

The first sign is usually (but not always) enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck. The swollen glands are not painful. After a while, perhaps months or years later, glands in other parts of the body may become enlarged.

It does not interfere with general well-being for a long time, but gradually anemia tends to develop. A small amount of fever may be present and the patient slowly becomes thin.

The lymph glands and the spleen which are affected in Hodgkin's disease are part of a chain or group of tissues, called the reticuloendothelial system. The fact that this system is attacked has raised the question of some infection being at fault. So far, however, no germ or virus has ever been proved as the cause.

The patient with Hodgkin's disease usually goes through periods of remarkable improvement. The enlarged lymph glands may disappear almost completely and the general condition may improve for a long time.

The favorite form of treatment has been X-rays. This often causes improvement lasting for months at a time. Treatment with drugs has not been particularly successful.

Recently there have been several favorable reports on the treatment of patients with preparations called "nitrogen mustards." These substances seem to be quite helpful for some patients who have become resistant to X-rays.

Many competent investigators are working hard to solve the problems connected with this disease and consequently other developments in treatment may be expected.
