Wilshire-Lone Star To Dig Deep Wildcat In Central Upton

The Wilshire Oil Company and Lone Star Production Company No. 1 Gantt is to be a 12,500-foot wildcat to test the Ellenburger in Central Upton County, 15 miles north of Rankin.

It is to be drilled as the result of a deal worked up by W. L. (Bill) Simmons and Ellis Conner, Midland independent oil operators and traders.

Operations at the project are to start at once. Contract to drill it with rotary tools has been let to Donnell Drilling Company.

Location Listed
Location is to be at the center of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 41, block C, CCSD&RGNG survey.

That puts the deep wildcat seven miles east of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and Greenbrier Oil Company No. 1 Windham, discovery from the Wolfcamp, which is now testing to complete.

The Anderson-Prichard and Greenbrier No. 1 Windham drilled into the Ellenburger. It made only water in that formation. Then it plugged back to the Wolfcamp where it had flowed oil in drillstem tests and it is due to be finished from that zone in the near future.

Secured Farmouts
Simmons and Conner secured farmouts of 300 acres from The Pure Oil Company, 160 acres from The Atlantic Refining Company and 160 acres from The Ohio Oil Company for the drilling of a deep wildcat in that region.

They also secured dry hole letters from Sutrav Oil Corporation and Holston Oil Company for the same purpose.

Retained Override
They then turned the deal to Wilshire and Lone Star. They received an unreported cash consideration and retained an override on the acreage turned to Wilshire and Lone Star.

The region surrounding the site for the new project is known as the Upland area of Upton County.

Shell To Go Deep At Prospector In Central Lynn

Shell Oil Company is to start drilling at once at its No. 1 Southland Royalty Company and others, scheduled 11,000-foot wildcat in Central Lynn County. It is due to go into the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 1, block 2, L&SV survey. That puts it four miles west of Tahoka.

The prospector is on a block of 4,190 acres of leases which holds in that region.

Magnolia To Try To Extend Parks Area's Pennsylvania Pay

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 9 Roy Parks is to be a new exploration to 10,700 feet in Central-West Midland County to try for production in the Pennsylvania line.

It is three quarters of a mile south of the nearest well on the southwest side of the Parks-Pennsylvania field.

Drillsite is 800 feet from south and 1,000 feet from east lines of section 10, M. Daugherty survey, A-885.

Drilling is to start soon. It is 12 miles southwest of the city of Midland.

Phillips Finds Water In Ellenburger Zone At Andrews Opener

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-EE Texas University, flowing discovery from the Ellenburger in Southwest Andrews County from the section between 10,658 feet and 10,785 feet, has found the water in that formation.

It likely will run casing and complete from the pay above the water. Some Oil And Gas

The water, and some oil and gas, was found in a drillstem test of the zone at 10,785-820 feet. The tool was open three and one-half hours. A 2,076-foot water blanket was used.

Gas surfaced in one hour and 54 minutes. No fluid came to the surface while the tool was open.

However, when operator started pulling the drill pipe some of the fluid it had collected from the formation unloaded.

Made Salt Water
Recovery was 2,070 feet of heavily oil and gas cut water blanket, 300 feet of free oil, 100 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud and 900 feet of gas cut salt water.

Location is 1,800 feet from south and 665 feet from east lines of the (Continued On Page Eight)

Telegraphers Walk Out All Across Nation

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An almost 100 per cent strike of Western Union Telegraph workers hit the nation's telegraph system Thursday but federal mediators managed to stall telephone strikes in three states.

There is no connection between the two disputes. Both involve union demands for higher wages and new work contracts.

The Western Union walk-out came promptly on time at one minute after midnight (EST). Except for San Antonio, Texas, where the union postponed its walkout 24 hours, there was no report that any of Western Union's 3,000 larger offices failed to heed the strike call of Adolph Brunus, union president. The union is the AFL's Commercial Telegraphers Union.

Of the company's 42,000 employees, about 31,000 are involved directly in the walkout. The others are supervisory workers and most of the company's New York City employees. The latter belong to another union, "Cut To Dribble".

Brunus said telegram service was "cut to a dribble" by the strike. In some cities, supervisors attempted to keep offices open and telegrams moving. They concentrated their efforts in 15 key relay points, technically called reperforator centers, where long-distance telegrams are received from nearby points and then relayed straight through to the relay center nearest destination.

The company said in a statement the strike would stop operations "for a temporary period" in all but "private wire and telemeter service." The statement said its cables between New York and Europe would not be affected.

The telephone situation eased early Thursday with a postponement until Monday of walkouts by 40,000 CIO Communications Workers (CWA) in Michigan, Ohio and Northern California.

Union officials said they postponed the strike to give federal mediators more time to work out settlements. (Continued On Page 12)

Texans Hint Walkout May Be Brief One

Texas operations of Western Union virtually stopped Thursday morning by the strike of telegraphers but company officials said they hoped to restore limited service later in the day.

Almost 2,500 employees in the state are affected by the strike, called by the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union at 11:01 p.m. Wednesday.

With the exception of San Antonio, where the strike deadline was delayed 24 hours, only a small percentage of workers showed up for work at Western Union offices over the state.

Most of the smaller offices were closed while the larger ones were manned by supervisory personnel.

W. W. Semingers, Western Union's acting general manager of the Southwestern Division, said skeleton staffs were busy cleaning up the accumulation of overnight traffic and at the present time no public message traffic was being accepted.

He said the company hoped to be in position to handle public message traffic of a limited and emergency scale by late afternoon.

C. M. Richards, the union's vice president for the Southwest region made up of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri, said the union is holding a reserve force in readiness in case of emergency or disaster.

"We can put most offices into full operation in 15 minutes if necessary," he said.

Senate Approves State Title To Oil-Rich Submerged Lands

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Wednesday approved, 50 to 35, the controversial Tidelands bill giving states, instead of the federal government, clear title to oil-rich lands in their coastal areas.

The House has passed a somewhat similar bill, but the measure still is far from becoming law. First, differences between the Senate and House bills must be ironed out. Lawmakers do not believe this will be difficult.

The finally approved bill then goes to President Truman, who vetoed a similar measure in 1946 and may veto the new one. Senators expressed conflicting opinions whether the legislation could be passed by the required two-thirds majority over the anticipated veto.

The Senate measure gives the states outright ownership of the lands beneath the marginal seas for a distance of three miles out from their shores, except in the cases of Texas and Florida, where the distance is 10 1/2 miles because of conditions under which they were admitted as states.

The House bill not only gives the states title to the marginal belt, but provides also that the states should receive 37 1/2 per cent of all revenues from oil and gas developments in the continental shelf out beyond the state seaward boundaries.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government has paramount rights to submerged coastal areas. However, if Congress passes a law saying the states own such areas, the court ruling would not apply.

Representative Walker (D-Pa.), author of the House bill, said after Wednesday's Senate vote he would agree to the Senate changes.

U. S. Jury Says Crime Hiding Profits In Oil, Gas Business

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A special grand jury reported to Judge T. Whitfield Davidson Thursday it had found no connection between local criminals and an organized syndicate in the 100-county Northern District of Texas.

The jury reported it had found some dishonest practices on the part of a few law enforcing officers and an unusual number of tax evasion cases.

The group recommended summons of a special grand jury annually to look into crime conditions.

Particular attention was given by the jury as to whether there was an affiliation in the district between criminals and an organized or affiliated syndicate located elsewhere on a national basis.

Jurors did find evidence of recent Dallas infiltrations from Chicago, Kansas City and other points. Those elements have established legitimate businesses in Dallas such as beer taverns and lounges "with the evident intention of using such places of business as a front for criminal activities," it was declared.

Confidence was expressed that the Dallas police, rated by the jury as

Straw Vote For President Set Saturday

Midland voters will have a chance Saturday to express their own preference in the presidential campaign.

A presidential preferential ballot will be available at the City-County Auditorium and voting will be held at the same time as the trustee election of the Midland Independent School District.

A spokesman for the League of Women Voters of Midland, which is sponsoring the balloting, said the names of all Democratic and Republican candidates will be listed and any other names may be written in.

Vice President Of Argentina Dies

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA—(AP)—Argentina's vice president, J. Hortensio Quijano, 67, died Thursday after a long illness.

Quijano, an attorney and landowner, rode to reelection with President Juan D. Peron in the elections last November 11. His second term of office was to have begun June 4.

Rear Adm. Alberto Eliaze will become vice president to serve until April 30.

Big Spring Rail Worker Jailed For Importing Aliens

EL PASO—(AP)—The first arrest has been made under the new bracer law signed March 20 by President Truman.

Adolfo Aguilar, 20, Chihuahua, Mexico, a track laborer for the Texas & Pacific Railroad at Big Spring, Texas, was arrested Wednesday and accused of bringing two other aliens into the U. S.

Joseph Minton, district director for the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said he believed the prosecution is the first on either border under the new law. It makes transportation of illegal immigrant workers across the border a felony punishable by a fine up to $2,000 and five years imprisonment.

Morris Given Air In Snappy Public Letter

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath Thursday fired Newbold Morris as the Administration's corruption sleuth.

The attorney general made public a curt letter to the New York Republican, notifying him of the immediate termination of his services.

McGrath personally handed copies of the letter to reporters at the Justice Department, but declined to answer any questions as to whether President Truman had approved the action.

The firing followed a series of McGrath-Truman talks Wednesday—including an apparently heated argument at National Airport here while the two were waiting to greet Queen Juliana of The Netherlands.

There had been some speculation that McGrath himself might be let out in the row over a financial questionnaire Morris posed for government officials.

McGrath himself on February 1 appointed the 50-year-old Morris, former president of the New York City Council, to ferret out corruption in the government.

Last Monday, however, McGrath told a House investigating committee he did not know whether he would fill out his own questionnaire, and had not ordered any one else in his department to do so.

He also said that if he had the appointment to make again he would not pick Morris.

Morris' office said he received the news from his secretary, who had learned it from a news ticker. In protocol-conscious Washington, it is considered the epitome of brusqueness to release such a letter before the addressee gets it.

McGrath had no immediate comment but sent out word he would see reporters and photographers shortly.

When McGrath called reporters in to announce the dismissal, he was surrounded by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, Assistant Attorney Gen-

Sabres Tag 40 Reds In Three Days

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—American Sabre pilots destroyed or damaged eight Communist jets Thursday, running their box score to 40 for the first three days of April.

Thursday's toll was taken in three battles over Northwest Korea, including history's longest jet fight. It lasted 45 minutes. Eighteen F-86 Sabre jets tangled with 60 Russian-type jets in that battle, fought as the sun was setting.

The April mark already is more than a third of the total for the full month of March. Here is the score as reported by Far East Air Forces:

Destroyed 2 15 37
Probables 1 4 5
Damaged 5 21 26
Total 8 40 103

A new jet ace, America's ninth, came out of Thursday's actions. He is Capt. Robert H. Moore of Houston, Texas. He shot down his fifth MIG-15 on his ninety-sixth flight over Korea. He is scheduled to go home after four more combat missions.

Moore is the second Sabre pilot to become an ace this week. Col. Francis S. Gabreak of Oil City, Pa., joined the limited ranks of jet aces on Tuesday.

Ether-Fed Flames Sweep Laboratory Of Medical School

DALLAS—(AP)—Fire by highly-inflammable ether and alcohol early Thursday swept through the Laboratory Office Building of Southwestern Medical School. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000, mainly in technical medical equipment and books.

One end of the converted Army-type barracks housing the office was burned into a charred hulk and other sections were damaged heavily by smoke and water.

The school is part of the University of Texas system. The $100,000 loss estimate was made by the school's business manager, Edwin A. Gell.

Daniel Ernest Dyer Dies In Hospital

Daniel Ernest Dyer, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Irby Dyer, 1200 Bedford Drive, died about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday in a Midland hospital.

The child was born July 25, 1950, in Midland.

Funeral services were to be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Newell W. Ellis Chapel, with Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was to follow in Fairview Cemetery.

Survivors in addition to the parents include a sister, Deborah Frances, and a brother, Irby Dyer, III.

Fast-Moving Object With Flaming Tail Excites Texans By Flight Across Skies

A fiery, fast-moving object with a flaming tail was reported seen flashing across the Texas sky Wednesday night.

Citizens from Houston to Wichita Falls, and in many cities between reported seeing the object, which may start another flurry of "flying saucer" reports.

Fort Worth, Dallas, Olney and Graham residents also reported sighting the celestial object.

The noiseless object was seen by Fort Worth residents about 8:40 p.m. traveling south to north on what appeared to be a flat trajectory.

An amateur astronomer at Graham, E. B. Street, saw it and said he didn't think it was a meteor. But Fort Worth astronomer Oscar Mon-ings—who didn't see it—said, "I can't help but think it was a meteor."

At Olney, Bill Easley saw the object flash from southwest to northeast and described it as a "reddish streak." An unidentified Wichita Falls man reported the object as "trailing a bluish light."

If it were the same object Houston residents saw, the "thing" was traveling at almost unbelievable speed, or a tremendous altitude. Houstonians also saw it about 8:40 p.m.

Some persons at Houston thought it was a jet plane, others thought it was a meteor, and still others thought they saw the object fall to earth.

Dallas Weather Bureau employees said two reports of objects in the sky came to them, but they would make no speculation on the reports.

John Allen of radio station KFRD, Longview, said 18 persons telephoned in before 7 p.m. to report seeing a red, round object shooting across the skies at a tremendous speed. It was moving eastward, they said. It trailed vapor, but no sound was heard.

It was sighted about sundown.

Len Johnson of radio station KWEC, Abilene, said a Pioneer Air Lines pilot reported seeing the object about 8:45 p.m., moving at an estimated 800 miles an hour. The pilot, on a flight from Lubbock to Abilene and whose name wasn't learned, said he didn't believe it was a meteor or a jet plane, but "some type of rocket."

Morris-To-McGrath-To Truman Double Play Leaves Put-Out Up To President

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON —(AP)— The old Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance routine was like a softball game compared with the Morris-to-McGrath-to-Truman double play in which the President has to make the put-out.

Newbold Morris and J. Howard McGrath — the President's two top investigators whose own conduct has been investigated by Congress — haven't much in common except years in politics and an ability to get into jams.

Although Attorney General McGrath's Justice Department ordinarily would be the chief investigator of government corruption, the Truman Administration seemed to think it necessary to bring in an outsider.

After several better-known men had turned down the job, McGrath suggested Morris and President Truman appointed him special assistant to McGrath. At once Morris announced he'd start off investigating McGrath's department.

This in itself was interesting but not any more so than Morris' performance when he went before a Senate committee which wanted to quiz him about his law firm's connection with a ship deal.

Lead-Pipe Slugging

While Morris is a New York City boy of 50 who batted well in the political league there, he got off to a country boy's start shortly after landing here, where the political sluggers use lead pipes.

Morris insulted the senators, hardly the social thing to do because anyone could have told him when any insulting is done at a Senate hearing it's usually done by the senators.

You could almost hear them count to 10 to keep their tempers. What they said about him — something about over-emotional — was mild compared with what they did to him. They refused to let him have the subpoena power President Truman asked for him.

This was the same as telling a man to hunt to the outfield, for his investigation never could be more than half an investigation if he lacked the power to compel witnesses to testify.

Still, he tried to operate. He called a big news conference and announced he was sending a long questionnaire to McGrath and the key men in the Justice Department, demanding intimate information about their financial affairs.

This week McGrath went before a House Judiciary subcommittee which itself is eager to check on the Justice Department and wants to look at McGrath's income tax returns.

While McGrath and the congressmen are battling the ball around he said he (1) not only hadn't filled out Morris' questionnaire but didn't know whether he would; (2) hadn't distributed it to the other Justice Department people; and (3) wouldn't have recommended Morris as investigator if he had it to do over again.

Here was a double play the like of which the President hasn't been mixed up in since he's been in the White House. After all, Morris was given his job with presidential blessing and here was McGrath talking at Morris' investigation.

Could he uphold McGrath and let Morris go? And if he did, how would that look in this political year when Truman knows corruption in government will be a campaign issue?

McGrath saw the President at the White House Wednesday and reportedly came away grim-faced and later in the day newsmen who saw the two men at the airport awaiting the arrival of Queen Juliana said they had hot words.

This was the second hot spot for McGrath within a few months. When the income tax scandals broke President Truman stepped in over McGrath's head and fired his assistant, T. Lamar Caudle.

When a House committee asked him about Caudle and other affairs in his department, McGrath revealed that he didn't know much of what was happening in his own department. At that time the President was reported, on good authority, to be ready to sack McGrath but changed his mind.

Hundreds Made Homeless By West, Midwest Floods

By The Associated Press
Hundreds of persons in river communities in six Midwest and Western states were made homeless Thursday by spring floods.

The most serious flood appeared in Havre, Mont., where the Milk River spilled over its banks and forced some 1,300 persons in the city of 8,000 population to leave their homes. Martial law was declared in the northern part of the city to protect homes and business houses from looting. Damage already estimated at more than $300,000. Rapidly melting snow in the nearby Bearpaw Mountains sent the Milk River to overflowing.

About 10 residential blocks were flooded in Pierre, S. D., as the Missouri River climbed a half-foot above flood stage. Small sections of nearby Fort Pierre also were flooded by the Missouri and its tributary, Bad River.

The Missouri also was overflowing in parts of North Dakota, including portions of the Buford-Trenton irrigation project near Williston.

Floods also have hit parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, but no serious damage was reported.

Cooler weather was reported over most of the flooded area, with below freezing in most of the Northern Plains states. It also was cooler in parts of New England, the Middle and South Atlantic states and the Ohio Valley. Mild weather continued along the Gulf Coast and in Texas and Oklahoma, westward to the Pacific Coast.

Snow flurries fell over most of the Great Lakes region and in the upper Mississippi Valley early Thursday. Rain and snow flurries were reported in the northeastern States with snow in parts of Maine. Showers and thunderstorms hit the Central Plains states and showers were reported in Montana.

Four Persons Die As Flames Destroy Apartment Building

CHICAGO —(AP)— Four persons, including a baby-sitting grandmother and her grandson, died in a fast-spreading fire which destroyed a 12-flat, four-story apartment building Wednesday night.

Eight other persons, including six firemen, were injured. About 30 persons fled or were carried by firemen from the structure.

Fire officials said the blaze, of undetermined origin, apparently started in the basement. It spread upward and to the rear porches on which were oil storage tanks. The intense heat exploded the tanks, which contained fuel oil for oil burners used to heat the 12 flats.

Fire officials estimated damage at $50,000.

All of the victims were trapped by the flames which engulfed the rear apartments of the building. They included Mrs. Mary Loucks, 54, her grandson, Gerwin Kelly Nichols, nine months; Monnie Laake, 35, and Leonard Presley, 50, Kevin's brother, Casey, three, was hospitalized.

The project will cost $80,000. Last year, rain-makers produced enough moisture to give farmers in the area their best maize and grass crops in years.

Actor Errol Flynn Wins Lawsuit, Buys Hotel In Jamaica

KINGSTON, JAMAICA —(AP)— Now it's Errol Flynn, boniface.

The Hollywood actor, who won a face-slapping damage suit in British Nassau last week, bought the Titchfield Hotel at Port Antonio Wednesday. The inn is one of this British-owned Caribbean Island's oldest. Flynn won $14,000 in damages in the Nassau trial from Canadian millionaire Duncan McMartin. The price paid for the hotel was not announced.

In the damage suit, the actor said McMartin slapped him in a Nassau barroom and caused an old back injury to recur.

Four tons is the average weight of an elephant.

Thank You . . .

In unprecedented numbers the citizens of Midland voiced their decision in Tuesday's election.

Although I was unopposed at the polls, the strength of their voices can not help but impress upon me personally the responsibility attached to the job of serving on the City Council.

Facing the problems and the decisions which inevitably lie ahead, I can only renew my pledge that I will work faithfully for a good government and an economical government so necessary to a bigger and better Midland.

Gaps In The Record

Pity the poor historian who must try to find the truth about the era we now are living in. There are more diaries, letters, memoirs and other documents being accumulated than ever before.

For one thing, some of the most crucial decisions made by men in high public office are never spelled out in documents at all. They often are the result of verbal agreements, and the only documentary evidence may be a note reading: "This is to confirm our conversation of yesterday."

Because so much history these days is being threshed out in verbal conference among men of high position, we are compelled to fall back upon the various versions offered later by the individual conferees.

Take, for example, the question of our changing attitude toward Russia right after World War II. From President Truman's highly-publicized new book we get one version. From former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes we get another.

Where does the truth lie? You can run down a long list of events of recent memory about which the same dilemma exists.

Actually, it isn't just the historian who suffers from the confusion. The baffled citizen, trying to decide whether the policies of his leaders are wise or not, hardly knows where to turn.

The answer to this does not likely lie in wiring all our conference rooms with dictaphones or taking tape recordings of everything that passes between top officials.

Yet there should be no endorsement of "secret" government, of a process by which decisions are taken behind locked doors and sprung on the public completely cold.

This procedure, of course, does not solve the problem of the historian and the citizen who eventually would like to know—accurately—who said what in the original high-level discussions.

Maybe we should insist, by law, that formal memorandums be drafted to embody all policy decisions, so there will be no big gaps in the written record.

These materials need not necessarily be published soon after the event, unless this could be done without injury to the country or to honorable public servants.

In Whose Corner?

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, may not get the Republican nomination for 1952, but he could set a record of a sort. Few applicants for the White House ever have espoused more various causes or offered themselves as rallying point for more varied political sentiment.

Somewhere under all this barrage of appeals there may be some principles, but they are difficult to discern.

We have laid in a stock of atom bombs and are patiently awaiting the first man who says, "Is it cold enough for you?"

You can always pin your faith on a fat man, says a writer. Because he can't stoop to anything low?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Defense Mobilizer Wilson's resignation proves Truman's policies will not change; Ellis Arnall accused Wilson of wrecking inflation; Pegler enters hospital as Truman moves to White House.

WASHINGTON—Politicians are wondering whether President Truman's determination not to run again will change any of his policies. The answer best is illustrated by Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's resignation—namely, "It won't."

Truman knew when he had his final argument with Wilson that he had no further need to seek labor votes or kick big business in the teeth. Nevertheless, he battled for the steelworkers' wage increase just as he had during seven previous years in the White House.

The storm over steel already was brewing when Charles Wilson attended the Cabinet meeting last Friday. Anyone who looked carefully could see it in his ruddy face. The big defense mobilizer who worked his way up from a 63-a-week electrical worker to $175,000-a-year head of General Electric, sat and sulked. Everyone else at the Cabinet meeting was welcoming the President, telling him how well he looked, chatting about the Jackson-Jefferson dinner, but not Wilson.

He sat back and glowered. In some ways you couldn't blame Wilson for saying nothing. The Cabinet meeting was short, sweet and social, with no important problems discussed and the President dropping not a word about his political plans.

After the meeting, the defense mobilizer went to the President and talked privately. It was obvious from the look on Charles's face that the two men were near the breaking point.

That same afternoon, however, they held one final session at the White House, this time with Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam and Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall present. Technically, under Wilson, Putnam and Arnall differed vigorously with him over increasing steel prices, and the final White House session was to let President Truman make the last decision.

The issue was quite simple and the conferees got down to it quickly. Putnam, a New England manufacturer, and Arnall, former govern-

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

The end play is a weapon that you expect to see used by the expert declarer. He times his plays carefully and eventually turns the lead over to one of the defenders, whose return is bound to sacrifice a trick.

In today's hand we see Harry Fishbein, of New York's Mayfair Club, execute an end play as a defender. This shouldn't surprise anybody, since the Fox of Fifty-Seventh Street has a way of turning all the rules upside down and still landing on his feet.

Fishbein opened the three of hearts from the West hand. East played the queen and South won with the ace. It was now clear to West that South had the jack of hearts, since East would have played the jack rather than the queen of hearts if he had been able to do so.

South attacked the diamonds next, and Fishbein took the second round with his ace. He shifted to the jack of clubs, which was allowed to hold the trick. When South dropped the ten of clubs, Fishbein could read the distribution of declarer's hand.

He already knew that South had only a four-card diamond suit. He now knew that South had a singleton club. This left him eight cards in the major suits—yet he had preferred not to bid either of them.

Clearly he didn't have a five-card major suit, so he must have four cards in each major.

New Fishbein could count declarer's tricks. South could obviously make four spades and three diamonds. He had already won a trick with the ace of hearts. It would obviously be fatal for the defenders to lead hearts, for that would surely let declarer make his ninth trick with the jack of hearts.

After working this all out, Fishbein got out safely with his last diamond. Declarer could take his spades and his last diamond, but he would then have to lead clubs from the dummy or hearts from his own hand.

If declarer won the fourth diamond in dummy, East would discard a heart on the last diamond, saving two clubs and a heart to win the last three tricks. If declarer won the fourth diamond in his own hand, East would discard a club on the last diamond, saving two hearts and one club to win the last three tricks. Either way, declarer was end played.

What he meant was that as the official representative of the U. S. government dealing with such problems, he could not agree in advance that all wage increases would be covered by an Office of Price Stabilization-authorized increase in steel prices.

In other words, if the steel companies granted any substantial wage increases, the money to pay for them would have to come largely out of steel company earnings.

Putnam's authority for this position goes back to his predecessor in the stabilization job, Eric Johnston. Last April, Johnston issued what he called "the 85 per cent earnings standard for future increases in price ceilings." It was intended to cover situations such as now have arisen in the steel wage case.

What the Johnston formula was intended to do was define what constituted a "generally fair and equitable price," as required by the Defense Stabilization Act.

It attempted to set a standard for permitting industry-wide increases in ceiling prices where costs had risen so much that the ceiling no longer was fair and equitable.

It was a yardstick for determining the extent to which whole industries—although not individual firms in the industry—could be expected to absorb future cost increases out of profits. By this device it was hoped to avoid granting of a price increase every time there was an increase in costs.

A "Simple Complexity" It is a tremendously complex thing. But in the simplest possible language the Johnston formula declares that if the average return before taxes on the net worth of any industry is below 85 per cent of the average profit for that industry for the three best years in the pre-Korea, 1946-49 four-year period, then price ceilings would have to be increased to bring the average return up to 85 per cent. On the other hand, if the profit average after cost increases is shown to be above 85 per cent of net worth, then no increase in ceiling would be permitted.

When the Johnston formula first was announced, it variously was construed as a freeze on profits control, or as a disguised means for rolling back profits. Actually it is none of these things.

It is a standard to apply on an industry-wide basis, and not on a company-by-company basis. So far, the Johnston formula has been applied in only a few instances.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Johnston Formula Limits Steel Industry On Price, Wage Raises

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In one of the early conferences on the steel industry wage increase bargaining, Economic Stabilization Director Roger L. Putnam told the steel company executives, "You are now gambling with your own money."

What he meant was that as the official representative of the U. S. government dealing with such problems, he could not agree in advance that all wage increases would be covered by an Office of Price Stabilization-authorized increase in steel prices.

In other words, if the steel companies granted any substantial wage increases, the money to pay for them would have to come largely out of steel company earnings.

Johnston Formula Limits Steel Industry On Price, Wage Raises

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In one of the early conferences on the steel industry wage increase bargaining, Economic Stabilization Director Roger L. Putnam told the steel company executives, "You are now gambling with your own money."

What he meant was that as the official representative of the U. S. government dealing with such problems, he could not agree in advance that all wage increases would be covered by an Office of Price Stabilization-authorized increase in steel prices.

In other words, if the steel companies granted any substantial wage increases, the money to pay for them would have to come largely out of steel company earnings.

Putnam's authority for this position goes back to his predecessor in the stabilization job, Eric Johnston. Last April, Johnston issued what he called "the 85 per cent earnings standard for future increases in price ceilings." It was intended to cover situations such as now have arisen in the steel wage case.

What the Johnston formula was intended to do was define what constituted a "generally fair and equitable price," as required by the Defense Stabilization Act.

It attempted to set a standard for permitting industry-wide increases in ceiling prices where costs had risen so much that the ceiling no longer was fair and equitable.

It was a yardstick for determining the extent to which whole industries—although not individual firms in the industry—could be expected to absorb future cost increases out of profits. By this device it was hoped to avoid granting of a price increase every time there was an increase in costs.

A "Simple Complexity" It is a tremendously complex thing. But in the simplest possible language the Johnston formula declares that if the average return before taxes on the net worth of any industry is below 85 per cent of the average profit for that industry for the three best years in the pre-Korea, 1946-49 four-year period, then price ceilings would have to be increased to bring the average return up to 85 per cent. On the other hand, if the profit average after cost increases is shown to be above 85 per cent of net worth, then no increase in ceiling would be permitted.

When the Johnston formula first was announced, it variously was construed as a freeze on profits control, or as a disguised means for rolling back profits. Actually it is none of these things.

It is a standard to apply on an industry-wide basis, and not on a company-by-company basis. So far, the Johnston formula has been applied in only a few instances.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE We were talking yesterday about Milton Daniel, Breckenridge banker. He used to coach Texas Christian University a good many years ago.

A few seasons back, he was attending a TCU game. The Horned Frogs tried a play, which failed. Daniel exclaimed, "That's not the right play." A fan demanded, "What do you know about it?" Daniel replied, "I used to be the coach of TCU." The other said, "Well, maybe that's the reason you aren't the coach any more."

What's RIGHT?

You start coughing in church and can't stop. WRONG: Decide there is nothing you can do about it. RIGHT: Leave the church quietly and go outside until your coughing spell is over.

Midland Civic Music Association To Present Blanche Thebom

The Midland Civic Music Association will present Blanche Thebom, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, in a concert at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

Miss Thebom, recently seen in the movie, "The Great Caruso," is on her tenth anniversary tour of the United States. She began her radio, television and recording. Her repertoire of recordings includes arias from Mozart, Wagnerian and French and Italian operas, German lieder, religious music, contemporary art songs and familiar ballads. Unlike most operatic stars, Miss Thebom prefers to sing her songs in English if translations are available.

She is reputed to be the first singer in the history of the Met who needs no wig. Her hair, which has not been cut in 12 years, now has reached a length of five feet, five inches.

Of her singing, Louis Blumof of the New York World-Telegram said, "The first thing to remember about Blanche Thebom is that she has one of the truest and freshest mezzo-soprano voices of our times; second, that she knows what to do with it."

Two Die, 12 Escape B-29 Bomber Crash
VERMILION, Kan. — (AP) — Two Air Force men lost their lives in the crash of a B-29 early Thursday, but 12 other members of the crew parachuted to safety.

The body of an Air Force colonel was found near the wreckage 11 miles from this Northeast Kansas town. Later searchers found the body of a corporal whose parachute had failed to open about four miles south of here.

Reports here were that the plane was based at Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kan.

Modern Study Club Has Panel Discussion On American Youth

The Modern Study Club held a panel discussion Wednesday on "American Youth."

Mrs. John Daly was the hostess. Those participating in the panel were Mrs. C. H. Shepard, Mrs. R. E. Morgan and Mrs. K. C. Slough.

"Personality development is as vital as calories," Mrs. Shepard said in her report on national, state and county youth.

She discussed the first White House Youth Conference in 1910, explaining it was particularly concerned with the young people's physical well-being. The next year, she said, the conference turned its attention to personality.

Mrs. Shepard closed her talk with a discussion of the Texas Youth Development Council.

Mrs. Morgan spoke on "Youth in the Community," stressing the junior high school level.

This age, she said, is a turning point in a child's life, both educationally and socially. She explained the school's long-range citizenship program and discussed the different departments.

Mrs. Slough's talk on the local picture revolved around the Youth Center. She traced its development from its beginning in the First Presbyterian Church. She also discussed the center's activities such as square dancing, hiking and movies.

A question and answer period was held following her talk.

Mrs. Bryan Denson announced the club will sponsor the showing of the J. Arthur Rank technicolor movie, "Caesar and Cleopatra," May 7 and 8. She also gave a report on the recent Eighth District Convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in El Paso.

Mrs. Denson served as the Modern Study Club's delegate to the convention. Announcements also were made of a rummage sale to be held in the Fall and a bake sale slated later this month.

Guests were Mrs. C. J. Zabcik, Mrs. Robert Franklin and Mrs. E. H. Bingle.

Members present, in addition to those mentioned previously, were Mrs. Douglas F. Edman, Mrs. Earl A. Johnson, Mrs. Lee B. Park, Mrs. Brandon Rice, Mrs. Ed Shakely, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. Carl Westlund, Mrs. H. O. Stewart, Mrs. C. L. Sherwood, Mrs. J. T. Gist and Mrs. Harry Denton.

Mrs. Charles Steineger Is Yucca Club Guest Speaker

Mrs. Charles F. Steineger of Dallas, widely-known lecturer and instructor, was the guest speaker at the Yucca Garden Club meeting held Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Ralph Lowe.

Mrs. Steineger has been engaged in lecturing in the South and Southwest. She has lectured in Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. She teaches any of the subjects required by the National Council of Flower Show Schools and recently has developed a new method of presentation in her table-setting clinic.

She is giving a series of lectures in Dallas on period arrangements.

Mrs. Steineger spoke on "Table and Flower Arranging." She gave the six principles of flower arranging, and the basic forms—cube, vertical and horizontal. She stressed color and harmony, giving orange and blue as complimentary colors. She defined design as "bringing together of unrelated parts and putting together in a pattern."

She said setting a table was harder than flower arranging. Contradictory to popular belief she said candles could be used for luncheon or breakfast tables.

To illustrate her talk she brought several table arrangements. One included a place mat from Japan, black elephant figurine from China, Chinese vase, Japanese plates and pewter mugs.

For a picnic table for boys she suggested using cowboys, guns, rocks and nails. She said a formal dinner table is a woman's masterpiece. She suggested using a white damask cloth and china and crystal with a circular design.

Mrs. Lowe's entire house was decorated with an Easter theme. An arrangement was on the lawn and an arrangement of pansies was on the table at the entrance. In the den an arrangement was made of grapes, bananas and lilies balanced on a scale.

The sun porch was decorated with several arrangements and in the dining room the table was covered with a yellow linen cloth. Crystal appointments were used and the centerpiece was an arrangement of iris and lilies in a container from Persia.

Approximately 75 persons attended the meeting.

Others attending were Mrs. G. C. Rankin, Mrs. Lester Short, Mrs. J. R. Day, Mrs. J. P. Wilkinson, Mrs. Jack Walcher, Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. Lionel Craver, Mrs. Ed Smith, Mrs. Gay Creighton, Mrs. Cloris Chapple, Mrs. J. C. Blackwood, Mrs. Roy McKee and Mrs. Joe C. Smith.

Varying Duties Should Govern Woman's 'Type' At The Time

When NEA Hollywood correspondent Erskine Johnson asked film actress Joan Fontaine if she was going to follow the new movie trend and "change her type," she answered: "Change my type? Heavens, no. I don't even know what type I am yet."

In that, she is in the same boat with the average woman—who probably rarely even stops to wonder what type she is.

Life makes so many demands on a woman today that if she tries to meet even part of them she couldn't possibly be the type.

Take Mrs. Brown for example. In her dating days you might have called her the "glamor type." But now you couldn't possibly say what type she is.

She is one type when she is with her children and being all mother. She is another when she is acting as the family purchasing agent and trying to get the most out of each dollar she spends.

She is another when she is entertaining in her own home. And still another type when she has her sleeves rolled up and is one-hundred per cent housekeeper.

She is still another type when she stands up before her club or takes a job in the P-T.A.

And she is yet another type when she is giving all of her attention to being a good companion to the man she married.

So while a girl may be a "type" for a few years, the minute she accepts the responsibilities of marriage, she becomes impossible to type.

She has to be a lot of different women every day. That makes being one type and sticking to it sound pretty simple. But also pretty dull for the woman who can switch from harried housewife or patient mom to charming hostess or gay companion in half an hour.

Elated Backers Claim Taft, Kefauver Nomination Bound

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Elated friends of Senators Taft and Kefauver talked of them Thursday as victory-bound candidates in the presidential nomination races, but opposition camps sounded counter-claims.

Backers of Taft of Ohio for top place on the Republican ticket and supporters of Kefauver of Tennessee for the Democratic nomination based their optimism on the outcome of Tuesday's primary in Nebraska and Wisconsin.

"Taft's success in both contests represents a definite upsurge of strength and puts him, I believe, on the way to victory," said Senator Schoepfel (R-Kan.).

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said Nebraska and Wisconsin amounted to "gains for Taft," but added he has "no doubt" the GOP nomination will go to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Representative Priest (D-Tenn.) called Kefauver's victories in the two primaries "proof that the rank and file of the Democrats are going to insist that he be nominated."

On the other hand, Senator Maybank (D-SC) contended Senator Russell of Georgia "has the edge at this point" for the nod on the Democratic ticket. Maybank said Russell has "the Solid South sewed up and he is going to have enough Northern delegates to make it a race."

Russell himself said President Truman's decision not to seek reelection means he had as good a chance as any other candidate for the nomination. Russell told radio-television interviewers (ABC "Crossfire") Wednesday night he would accept the vice presidential nomination only under "very unusual circumstances."

In the Wisconsin primary, Taft won 24 of the 30 Republican delegates. Gov. Earl Warren of California got the other six, with Harold E. Stassen blanked out. Eisenhower was not on the ballot and write-in votes were not allowed.

Kefauver was a Wisconsin shoo-in, polling about 85 per cent of the popular vote on the Democratic

Child Shoots Women Here Accidentally

Jim Wilkerson, who investigated lots of shootings during his days as a Midland police captain, ran into another one Wednesday night.

Wilkerson, who now operates a cafe on the Garden City Highway, had gone to the home of Eufrasia Rodriguez at 606 North Lee Street to talk to her about working at his place.

As he left, the 31-year-old woman's husband came running after him.

"Don't leave," he shouted. "Take my wife to the hospital, please. She has been shot."

Police said later the woman was shot when a neighbor's child accidentally fired a gun in the house.

The woman, being treated at Midland Memorial Hospital for a gunshot wound in the abdomen, was not believed in a critical condition.

Legal Torpedo Scuttles Old Cruising-For-Boozing Habit

LONDON—(AP)—The old British custom of cruising for a boozing reeled from a legal torpedo Thursday.

A judge in Liverpool has held that drinking aboard must conform with those of saloons ashore. He says this applies to all craft in coastal or inland waters.

This a top on a yacht, a sherry on a ferry, or a stout in port now outlawed, except for a piddling three and a half hours in midday and five hours at night.

For fifteen and a half hours daily it will be a misdemeanor to hold a brass on a yacht or even sniff a quinine on the Severn.

A spokesman for the state-owned railways said the ruling might even cover the bars on trains. These now serve liquor as long as they are in motion.

The decision which roughened the waters was handed down Wednesday by Magistrate A. J. McFarland. He fined two stewards on a cruise vessel 40 pounds ($112) for serving drinks in the harbor outside pub opening hours. The ship owners said they would take an appeal—a quick one.

A theater bar opens and closes at the same time as saloons in the district—usually 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.

A river cruise in the morning or late afternoon has been the standard refuge of British drinkers who consider such restrictions uncivilized.

Easter Seal Sale Holds Future For Crippled Children

The Easter Seal literally holds the future of thousands of crippled children everywhere, Mrs. T. S. Jones, president of the Children's Service League, said Thursday as the nineteenth annual Easter Seal campaign went into its last days.

"The Easter Seal is a symbol of help and hope to thousands upon thousands of crippled children through the clinics, treatments, medical care, schools and other services it makes possible," Mrs. Jones said.

Mrs. Jones urged residents of the community to participate in the 1952 campaign.

The 1952 Easter Seal, which pictures an adult hand holding two crippled children and guiding their futures, symbolizes the work of the local society and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, of which it is a member.

Approximately 9,000 Easter Seal letters have been mailed in Midland County. During a 13-month period last year, four Midland children were fitted with braces and 23 children traveled for treatment.

Aggies Name New Leaders

The Midland Club of Texas A&M College ex-students Wednesday night elected Pat Stanford its new president. He succeeds Russell Hayes.

Other officers named at the meeting in the cafeteria of the Sam Houston Elementary School include: Dick Overly, vice president; Tom Calhoun, secretary, and Al Carpenter, treasurer.

Frank Thompson and Charley Slack were outgoing vice presidents. James Mims is the former secretary and J. R. Cuffman had served as treasurer.

Head Football Coach Ray George showed colored films of the University of Texas-A&M game in College Station last season. He also talked Aggie prospects for next season expecting the College Station team to finish near the bottom of the Southwest Conference.

Almost 75 former aggies from Midland and surrounding territory attended the meeting. The annual area muster will be held April 21 in Odessa.

Paul McMurtrey, Aggie line coach, accompanied George here.

City Manager Oswalt Returns From Meek

City Manager W. H. Oswalt returned Wednesday from Fort Worth, where he appeared on the program at the annual convention of the American Association of Airport Executives.

Oswalt appeared on a special panel discussing "What a City Official Expects from an Airport Executive."

He was accompanied to the convention by Clyde Sharrer, city aviation director.

There was no announcement as to why Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, top Allied commander Gen James A. Van Fleet, U.S. Army commander, and other generals flew here for conferences with the UN armistice delegation.

An official spokesman said it was not "a foregone conclusion" that an important development was imminent.

He did not deny, however, that there was such a possibility.

Observers said it might be significant that the list of top level officers included Van Fleet and Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd, commander of the Koje Island Prison Camp, scene of two bloody riots in the last two months.

The Eighth Army would handle the actual exchange of prisoners.

The joint subcommittee of top level negotiators met for the first time in two months Thursday for its first attempt to break the deadlock over whether Russia qualifies as a neutral nation to help inspect a Korean truce.

"We had a meeting in which nothing new happened," said Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison.

Postponement of the secret prisoner exchange talks stirred immediate speculation that a new move to end the deadlock may be in the offing. Similar recesses in the past often have preceded important developments.

Angelo Hotel Man Held Without Bond In Wife's Slaying

SAN ANGELO — A San Angelo hotel operator, Charlie Clark, 42, was held in the Tom Green County jail here Thursday on a charge of murder in the March 26 shooting of Mrs. Charles Davis, his ex-wife.

Clark was ordered held without bond.

An assault to murder charge was also lodged against Clark in the shooting of his step-daughter, Joann Potts, 14. The girl testified Wednesday at a preliminary hearing, part of which was held in her hospital room where she is confined with paralysis from the waist down.

Justice of the Peace Glenn Jenkins, who conducted the hearing, said Clark's case would come before the next session of the grand jury.

Airman Charged In Fatal Stabbing

SAN MARCOS — One airman was charged with murder Thursday in the stabbing death of another.

Pvt. Robert L. Wilson, Atlanta, Ga., stationed at San Marcos Air Force Base, was found stabbed to death Wednesday outside a tavern and dance hall here.

Pvt. Joseph David Anderson, Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, was charged with murder after his arrest in San Antonio. Sheriff Jack Gary said Anderson admitted being AWOL from his home base 15 days.

Gary said Anderson signed a statement in connection with the fatal knifing. No examining trial has been scheduled.

14,000 Auto License Tags Sold In City By Deadline

More than 14,000 motor vehicle license tags were sold in Midland County before the deadline Tuesday night.

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed, after checking over his figures, reported Wednesday afternoon that the total had reached 14,305.

This represents a sharp increase over the approximately 9,000 which had been sold by the deadline in 1951.

Speed said the figure did not include farm vehicle tags, dealers tags nor motorcycle tags.

Scores were still purchasing the 1952 tags Wednesday, paying the 20 per cent penalty.

Justice Graham Smedley Seeks Second Term On Supreme Court Bench Of Texas

AUSTIN — Associate Justice Graham B. Smedley filed application Thursday as candidate for a second term on the Supreme Court of Texas.

A recognized authority on land, water, oil and gas law, Justice Smedley

Graham B. Smedley

resided in Midland in the early days and once lived in a small cottage where the Petroleum Building now stands.

He moved to Midland in 1907 to practice law with S. J. Isaacks, Midland's first mayor and now a member of the State Legislature from El Paso. The associate justice later practiced law with Judge Charles Gibbs.

He was elected Midland County attorney in 1908, serving one term in that office. He moved to Austin in 1913 as an assistant attorney general.

He visited with many of his old friends here while on a visit to Midland last October.

He wrote all of the opinions concerning public land laws, newly-enacted irrigation laws and oil and gas prospecting laws.

Former Midlander

Smedley served in the attorney general's office five years and then returned to private law practice until his appointment to the appellate commission. He practiced law in Austin, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth and prior to 1913 was county attorney of Midland County.

He is author of a digest of oil and gas laws and for the last 15 years has been a member of the editorial board of the Texas Law Review. He also is an elected member of the American Law Institute.

Garner Gives Home To City Of Uvalde

UVALDE — John Nance Garner has donated his Uvalde estate to the city in memory of his wife, Etie, who died in 1948.

The Uvalde City Commission Wednesday night accepted the two-story brick home and the oak tree grove surrounding it.

The former vice president gave the place to be used "as a library or museum or any way the city wants."

Garner and his only son, Tully, invited the city officials to the place for a special meeting.

"I'm not a manana man and I want to do something now," Garner told them.

The property, covering an area about the size of six city blocks, is noted for its beautiful oak tree grove in an area that is famous for big oak and pecan trees.

Garner will move to another home he owns near the donated tract.

Colorful Sheriff Buckshot Lane Asks Congressional Seat

WHARTON — Sheriff T. W. (Buckshot) Lane of Wharton County is in the race for congressman from the Ninth Texas Congressional District.

The colorful Lane, in his announcement Wednesday, said he could be bought, "but only by the people."

Sheriff Lane will oppose Rep. Clark W. Thompson of Galveston and State Representative Jimmy Pattison of Pattison. Thompson has held the seat since the death of Rep. Joseph J. Mansfield in 1947. Lane, 46, has been Wharton County sheriff 13 years.

Former Top-Limb Tax Officials Refuse To Answer Queries On Personal Finances

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Former assistant Internal Revenue Commissioner Daniel A. Bolich, called on to explain how he could spend more money than he made as a federal tax official, Thursday refused to tell House tax scandal investigators about his activities.

Bolich, a heavily built man whose personal finances have come under scrutiny in connection with his former official duties, took the witness chair before the vigorous project of his attorney, Robert L. Callahan of Brooklyn.

Callahan told Chairman King (D-Calif.) of a House Ways and Means subcommittee Bolich's health made it "dangerous and unsafe for him to be here to testify."

money Wednesday indicating that from 1946 through 1950 Bolich lived on a $118,217 scale while his earnings totaled $53,000.

The testimony was spiced by references to an as yet unidentified "Mr. X" who contributed generously to Bolich's style of living, Donald Schapiro, assistant committee counsel, said "Mr. X" might be named Thursday.

Bolich became chief of the New York Intelligence Unit in 1946. He was promoted to assistant commissioner Sept. 1, 1948, and resigned last November while under investigation by the House committee and the Revenue Bureau.

ington mystery man whose lawyer says he is too ill to be questioned. Bolich was disclosed to have halted two tax investigations started against Gruenwald, whose tax accountant testified that Gruenwald's 1949 and 1950 income included $233,000 from unexplained sources—attributed variously to "fees" and gambling winnings.

After becoming assistant revenue commissioner in 1948, Bolich lived a year and a half in a $20-a-day Washington hotel suite for which Gruenwald footed the bill.

Special agent George H. Lemay told the committee Wednesday "Mister X" furnished Bolich with a Chrysler automobile and in 1949 bought $3,504 of carpeting for Bolich's seashore house in Spring Lake, N. J. Bolich also has a home in the bay ridge section of Brooklyn.

Crime In Louisiana Faces Triple Probe

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Gambling and organized crime in Louisiana faced investigation on three fronts Thursday.

A U. S. grand jury here was investigating the situation in Eastern Louisiana.

In Monroe, Acting U. S. Attorney W. J. Fienken announced a U. S. grand jury would begin a similar investigation of Western Louisiana there within two weeks.

And in New Orleans, the Orleans Parish grand jury was scheduled to question 36 persons who held federal gambling, tax stamps.

Motorist Attitude Check Is Planned

SANTA FE, N. M.—(AP)—Does a safe driver at sea level become a highway menace when he reaches the high plains of New Mexico?

State traffic officials would like to find out. Plans are to set up testing stations in California. Volunteer motorists will be checked for blood pressure, reflexes and alertness. They'll be tested again when they reach the continental divide in New Mexico.

Experts Urge Home Care For Insane

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.—(AP)—Patton State Hospital here and other California institutions for the care of the mentally ill believe most patients regain their sanity more quickly outside the hospitals.

They try to place patients in homes of relatives or even in homes of other families who have been carefully checked by institution officials.

Family care, in many cases, helps patients resume full responsibility in their communities, according to Dr. Otto L. Gercke, superintendent at Patton. He said the number of dangerous patients is relatively small.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE, Fishing Editor
The other day I took our neighbor's nine-year-old son out fishing. Teddy has been hot on my trail for the past few months—and frankly, I dreaded the day when the two of us would be confined to a rowboat. Things didn't turn out badly, though; in fact, he caught a juvenile pickerel among lesser fishes, and I only had to retrieve Teddy four times. All of which brought to mind how possible fishing has become for anybody, regardless of their age.

In the old days, learning to cast was a slow process. You could count on at least one year of fundamentals before getting around to actual fish catching. Fly casting and bait casting are difficult arts.

When a child is at the "curiosity" stage, he wants to catch fish—not get fouled up in a subject which most adults don't understand. Spin-casting has made the catching possible—having art as a later development.

A good many people who never even had a nodding acquaintance with the business end of a reel until a few days ago are now casting like experts, and taking a fair share of fish. As a matter of record, young, old, blind and feeble are tossing baits all over the landscape with startling ease and deadly results—thanks to the spinning reel.

This reel is designed so that the spool doesn't turn. The line simply peels off the spool, just the way thread peels off a spool when you hold it by one end. In terms of fishing, this means no more foul-ups. No matter how clumsy and

HOW ADVERTISING AFFECTS YOUR JOB

Raises, Cuts, Promotions, Layoffs Often Depend on How Much the Firm Sells

NEXT time you hear or read advertising, just stop and analyze how it affects you.

Its purpose is to sell goods or services. More sales mean more work to be done. That means more jobs in the firm that advertises... and more jobs in the hundred and one firms with which it does business. It's a never-ending chain.

Now when more jobs open up, that means more security for everyone. It means promotion to many, with wage increases. It means opportunity—particularly for friends and sons and daughters of present employees.

Whether or not you work for a firm that advertises, remember that this modern method of mass personal selling affects your company's business and its future. Hence it affects your job and your future.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts businesses humming, makes them bigger. That's how advertising affects your job. For tomorrow, it creates opportunity... for today, it makes your job more secure.

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

1,200,000 New Men Must Don Uniforms In Next Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Manpower officials say an increase of 110,000 men in the armed forces during the fiscal year starting July 1 means about 1,200,000 new men must don uniforms.

Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, defense manpower boss, told the House Appropriations Committee in testimony made public Wednesday the large majority of new recruits merely will replace those relieved from active duty.

"We are in effect running a revolving door," she said. "This is expensive and takes a great deal more manpower."

Of the 1,200,000 new men, all but 110,000 will replace 850,000 inducted and enlisted men whose terms are about to expire, and 230,000 reservists and National Guard personnel soon to be released.

The increase of 110,000 will build up the military forces to 3,700,000, Mrs. Rosenberg said in testimony supporting the 1953 defense budget.

Five Billions Set As Quarterly Cost Of Korea Fighting

WASHINGTON—(AP)—War in Korea, the Defense Department figures, will cost this country a bit over five billion dollars during the next three months.

That's assuming the fighting continues at its current pace. The department gave the House Appropriations Committee studying the new budget—this breakdown on its estimated spending in Korea between March 28 and June 30: Army $4,376,697,000; Navy $375,000,000; Air Force $300,000,000.

Photos Published In Peiping Newspaper Prove Falsity Of Germ Warfare Charges

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Times Thursday published what it called conclusive evidence of the falsity of Communist photo charges that the United States is waging germ warfare in North Korea and China.

The evidence consisted of statements by American experts on pictures which the Chinese Reds originally printed in the Peiping People's Daily March 16 as proof of the charges against the U. S.

These American experts said the pictures, identified in the Chinese captions as those of deadly bugs dropped by U. S. invaders, actually were photos of harmless insects incapable of carrying disease, the Times said.

The U. S. Army, furthermore, identified a bomb which the Chinese claimed was a germ carrier as an M-181 used for spreading psychological warfare leaflets, the Times said.

The newspaper devoted a column on Page One plus six more inside to the story, including reproduction of nine pictures from the Peiping paper.

The experts consulted about the pictures were Dr. C. H. Curran, chief curator of insects and spiders at the American Museum of Natural History; Dr. Rene Dubos, bacteriologist of the Rockefeller Institute; and Army spokesmen.

Strongest U. S. Weapon Observers said the expose of the Chinese Communist pictures might prove the strongest weapon the U. S. has yet found for refuting the charges. These sources pointed out that instead of merely denying the charges, the U. S. now could point to the Reds' own pictures as proof of Communist lying.

The Chinese labeled one picture "Poisonous insects which could fly, crawl and swim dropped on Chinese territory by U. S. invaders." Dr. Curran said the picture actually shows several stone flies in a petri shell, a glass commonly used in laboratories.

"These perfectly harmless creatures are often found in large numbers within varying distances from water, in which the larvae live. Their flight is slow and because they are poor fliers they would be extremely poor at disseminating disease, even if they could be inoculated."

Dr. Curran added that it would take "millions of people to inoculate sufficient insects to carry out a germ war even if a germ war of this type should be possible. There is no proof that it is and the evidence points to the fact that it is not."

Dr. Dubos called the pictures an almost amateurish attempt at scientific fakery. He said none of the bacteria were what the Chinese said they were. None of the bacteria they were alleged to be could be carried by insects, he added.

TCU To Construct Three New Buildings

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Texas Christian University Wednesday authorized construction of three new buildings for the undergraduate school of religion buildings on its campus.

The buildings will be the Robert Carr Chapel, which will be built by the San Angelo oil man for whom it will be named; the Britte College of the Bible Building for graduate work in TCU's seminary, and a building for the undergraduate department of religion.

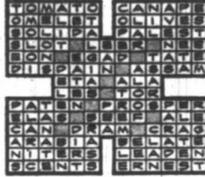

The TCU Building Committee was instructed to award contracts and start construction immediately. One of the three buildings was estimated at approximately $600,000.

Automobile Liability Rate Change Doesn't Slow Policy Renewals

The new schedule of liability insurance rates on most Texas automobiles has not slowed the renewal of policies here, or the writing of new ones, Midland insurance men said Thursday.

The new rates are effective May 1. They were posted by the State Board of Insurance Commissioners but amendments to the insurance manuals have not been received yet. The new schedule means an eight per cent boost generally on comprehensive insurance and four per cent on deductible collision.

"As a service to customers of local agencies to prevent coverage from not being in force when the new schedule goes into effect, policies are being written under the old rate and revisions will be made later," a prominent Midland insurance man said.

Widowed Queen Mother To Remain In Royal Palace

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth won't have to live out her widowhood alone. The kids are going to let her stay on at Buckingham Palace when they move in after Easter.

Young Queen Elizabeth II upset another royal custom Thursday with her decision. Widowed queens always before have moved into other quarters after the new sovereign took the throne and the palace.

The young queen is keeping the family circle intact. She will take over the sovereign's living quarters, now occupied by her mother. The Mother Elizabeth will move into the palace apartment Elizabeth had as a princess. And sprightly Princess Margaret will keep her present rooms, near the ones assigned her mother.

Elizabeth and her husband won't be crowded, though—the palace has 690 rooms.

Freak Wind Launches Land-Cruising Iceberg On Destructive Path

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.—(AP)—A freakish southwest wind Wednesday launched by land an "iceberg" which caused havoc across the east arm of Grand Traverse Bay.

The "iceberg" was a phenomenon of the Spring breakup. It clipped down trees like giant mower, ground docks to pieces and destroyed boats and other objects in its path.

A sudden shift of the wind saved the home of Edward Larkin. When the mass of ice stopped, piles of ice were window high.

Afterwards, the ice moved out into the bay and the danger appeared over.

Indians Beat Lafayette, 6-3

By LARRY KING
Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor

LUTCHER, LA.—Held completely in check for three innings, Zeke Bonura's Midland Indians broke away to defeat the Lafayette, La., Bulls, 6 to 3, here Wednesday afternoon.

Lafayette—with the aid of a two-run homer off Keith Nicolls in the fourth—led, 2 to 0, before Midland scored in the same frame on a hit by Rudy Escobar, a walk to Stan Wilcox, and a single by Julio de la Torre, scoring Escobar.

The Bulls added a run in the top of the fifth but Midland tied it up with a pair of tallies on a pinch-hit double by Bobby Gordon, scoring Woody Pennington and Bill Crumley.

Pennington led off the seventh frame with a single, coming home as Crumley rapped a triple to right field. Pitcher Eddie Jacome then scored Crumley with a long fly to centerfield.

Adds Insurance Run
Julio de la Torre added an insurance run in the eighth with a ponderous, line drive solo home over the leftfield wall.

Jacome, who allowed but two hits and no runs in four innings, was the winner.

Bonura nominated rookie Mike de la Torre as his starting pitcher against the same team here Thursday.

Baylor Squad Nips Aggies By 12 To 9

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Baylor's Bears used a 16-hit attack on three Texas A&M moundmen Wednesday to take a 12-9 Southwest Conference baseball victory.

Ten of the Bear runs came in the first five innings as starter Lou Little lost his first game of the season for the Farmers.

Mickey Sullivan and Jerry Coody led the Baylor batsmen with four and three hits respectively, in six times at the plate.

There were seven double plays in the game, three by Baylor and four by the Aggies.

STEAK BINGE PROVES FATAL

SPokane—(AP)—A man who used his last $10 to buy a steak dinner choked to death on a piece of the meat, Undersheriff Carl Fawcett reported Wednesday night.

He identified the man as Milton M. Tuck, 45, a waitress in the restaurant said Tuck ordered steak for himself and a friend, commenting as he paid $5 for the dinner, that he was using his last $10 bill.

Tuck apparently became ill while eating and went outside, Fawcett said. Deputy sheriff's who answered a call for help were unable to revive him.

An autopsy showed he had choked on a piece of meat.

Smith Takes Close Scrap From Flanagan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gene Smith, a hard-hitting Washington featherweight, Thursday looked toward a possible crack at a title bout and the pot of gold that goes with it.

The 20-year-old negro Wednesday night racked up his thirtieth straight win in pro boxing with a headline decision over Glen Flanagan, rated fourth in the division by the National Boxing Association.

Smith weighed 128, Flanagan 129. It was a tough one for Smith all the way in the furious 10-round bout witnessed by 4,000 fans at Uline Arena. It was so close one of the judges called the bout a draw. Another judge and the referee cast the votes that gave Smith the nod.

TWO PUPPIES LOST IN FIRE

Two fatalities were reported Wednesday afternoon when a house in the 1200 block of South McKenzie was destroyed by fire. The house was a tiny playhouse in the rear yard, according to City Fire Marshall Bill Klatt.

The fatalities were two small puppies trapped in the burning house.

Round Two Set For Fem Golf Tourney

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—Competition in the Trans-Mississippi Women's Amateur Golf Tournament swung into the second round of match play Thursday at the Arizona Country Club.

Eight duels were on the bill and at least three of them pitted players against each other who are considered good enough to go all the way to the title in this twenty-second edition of the tournament.

The three:
Defending champion Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore against Mrs. Lyle Bowman of Richmond, Calif., former Oregon State champion.

Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., runner-up for the Trans-Miss championship in 1950, against Barbara (Bobby) Dawson of Piedmont, Calif.

Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., newly crowned north-south amateur champ, against Mrs. John Holt of Longview, Wash.

Miss Anderson dueted off Mrs. Robert Sanders, Phoenix, 6 and 5, and Miss Downey applied the same score to Janice Voight, Denver.

Slender Mrs. Bowman defeated Joan Nelson, comely blonde from the University of Arizona, 6 and 4. Miss De Moss eliminated Mrs. Tanya McLaughlin, Phoenix, 4 and 3; Miss Dawson won from Mrs. Harry Winters, Inglewood, Calif., 5 and 4, and Pat Garner, Midland, Texas, defeated Mrs. Joseph Ped-cora, Phoenix, 6 and 5. Miss Garner plays Mrs. Eldon Edes, Hollywood, Calif., Thursday.

Eighteen amateurs were among the 72 taking their trip Thursday across the 6,990-yard layout. Willie Turnesa, 1948 National and 1949 British Amateur Champion, is the notable absentee.

The amateur field shows marked improvement over the immediate post war years. Best among them are Frank Stranahan, Charlie Coe, Billy Maxwell, Arnold Blum, San Urzetta and Dick Chapman.

Probably the top foreign entry is beknickered Bobby Locke, from South Africa.

Then, of course, there is the troupe of touring professionals. All Masters winners are back except Herman Keiser and Ralph Guldahl.

Johnny's four-year contract with the Bears, reportedly calling for $80,000, expired after the 1951 season.

The 27-year-old former Heisman Trophy winner and Athlete of the Year in 1947 said he was too busy with his insurance business to meet the demand of time required by pro football.

He said he planned to meet with Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame regarding the backfield coaching job.

LUTCHER, LA.—Wednesday dawned, as they say in the books, bright and clear. Thus Midland's rain-soaked, flu-ridden Indians managed to take to the practice field for an early morning workout and then meet Lafayette, La., here Wednesday afternoon in a Spring exhibition game.

Signs of the influenza epidemic are about gone, and even King's Row feels as if he will live now.

The Indian moguls finally heard from pitcher Emric Gonzales, who last year posted an 18-2 record. Gonzales was tied up by the Cuban revolution for a while, during which time Midland found he was a veteran pitcher and not limited service—the condition on which he was purchased.

Wednesday, the club was notified he is ready to report. However, since he is a veteran—and the club already is well-stocked with these boys—the officials here say they will notify his previous club that the deal is off. Three vet pitchers already are on the squad; Gabby Blumenthal, Israel Ten and Eddie Jacome. With vet outfielders Stan Wilcox and Roxie Humberston, along with third baseman Julio de la Torre—there just isn't room for an added vet hurler.

Several Indian pitchers haven't seen any action yet. Thus far, Emil Ogden, Chuck Tanner and Alfonso Ramirez haven't hurled any, excluding the Wednesday game.

This is being written just before the contest and Mike de la Torre has hurled only two innings.

Bonura, however, expects to put them all in a couple of exhibition games before the team comes home to see who to get.

"I don't want to stick them in before they are ready," he said, "so they may pitch the last few games down here."

So don't be surprised if the Tribe loses a few games. Bonura has to pick at least one rookie pitched to play with the team and he wants a good look at Ogden, a limited service man. He is, therefore, going to go all out with his experiments.

We aren't the manager, and this tabulation is strictly unofficial, but here are the boys we would say will be on the Midland team when the season starts:

Pitchers: Jacome, Blumenthal, Ten, Nicolls, Mike de la Torre (rookie) and either Dave McKenzie or Emil Ogden.
Catcher: Still a fight. Perhaps Bill Brown holds the edge.

First base: Gordon Tanner, who also will split catching duties.
Second base: Bill Crumley looks a cinch bet.

Shortstop: Julio de la Torre.
Third base: Woody Pennington.
Utility infielder: Bobby Gordon.

Outfielders: Roxie Humberston and Hayden White, with Rudy Escobar and Dick Cassidy fighting for the other slot.

A very popular infielder—we can't mention his name yet—might return to the Midland team. If this fellow does, then the club will be pretty well set.

Thieves Get $67,000 In Jewel Burglary
NEW YORK—(AP)—Police say they have no clue to the theft of $67,000 in jewelry, taken from Saks Fifth Avenue Department Store without a trace.

Police disclosed Wednesday night that a number of trays holding watches, brooches, pins and other jewelry were jimmied out of a showcase Tuesday a few feet from one of the store entrances.

PUSAN, KOREA—(AP)—A contingent of 1,000 Australian troops arrived here Thursday morning.

The First Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment will join the Third Battalion, which already is serving with the British First Commonwealth Division.

The new unit makes two battalions of Australian troops in Korea.

Monte Irvin's Broken Ankle Jolts Giants' Pennant Hopes

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1952 World Series opponents may have been determined, on April 2—two weeks before the official opening of the season.

Three teams, the New York Giants, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees, received severe jolts in their pennant ambitions Wednesday while the hopes of a fourth, the Philadelphia Phillies, were boosted.

Here's what happened:

1. Monte Irvin, left fielder of the champion Giants and National League runs-batted-in king of 1951, broke his right ankle in an exhibition game against Cleveland at Denver, Colo. Irvin will miss at least half of the campaign and possibly the entire season.
2. Ted Williams, star slugger and outfielder of the Red Sox passed his physical examination at Jacksonville, Fla., will report for active duty with the Marine Air Corps May 2.
3. Jerry Coleman, infielder of the Yanks, also passed his physical examination at Jacksonville, Fla., and will return to duty with the Marine Air Corps also on May 2.
4. Curt Simmons, crack left-handed pitcher of the Phillies, will be discharged as a sergeant of the 28th Infantry Division. He will return to the United States from Germany within 10 days.

The recall of Williams and Coleman to the colors was expected but the loss of Irvin came as a shock and cast gloom over the Giant camp.

Irvin Injured

Irvin was injured in the second inning in a game Cleveland won, 5-9. He walked to lead off the frame and slipped around second as Army-bound Willie Mays singled to right field.

Cleveland shortstop Ray Boone cut off the throw from the outfield and hung Mays up between first and second but Irvin slid into third anyway. He suffered a compound fracture of his right ankle.

The broken bones were set at a hospital and his leg was placed in a cast.

Irvin batted .312 last year and led the league in runs batted in with 121. He also starred in the World Series against the Yanks, batting .458.

Irvin's loss probably means that Bob Thomson will spruce third base for his first love, the outfield. Hank Thompson, a disappointment last year, figures to return to third. The situation is further complicated by the expected induction of Mays.

The injury was the fourth serious one of the spring. Previously infielder Billy Martin of the Yanks and third baseman Vern Benson of the St. Louis Cardinals broke their legs. Bob Slapbaugh, a rookie Card pitcher, faced the loss of an eye. Slapbaugh was struck in the face by a batted ball in batting practice.

Williams, highest salaried player in the game, and Coleman, will also miss the 1952 season. They are in for 17 months.

Alternate Left Field

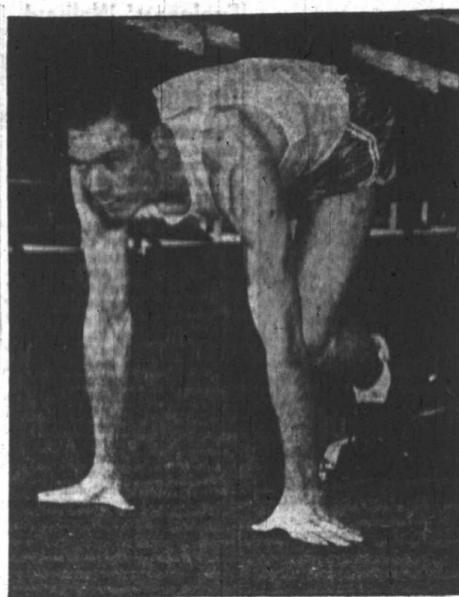

Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau indicated in Houston, Texas, that Don Lenhardt and Clyde Volmer probably would alternate the left field job. Another candidate is rookie Gene Stephens.

Gil McDougald probably will take over second base for the Yanks. Rookie Andy Carey apparently will man third.

The return of Simmons greatly enhances the stock of the Phils. Simmons is in shape and should be ready to pitch shortly after the bell rings. In Simmons and Robin Roberts the Phils have two potential 20-game winners.

In exhibition games Wednesday the Cincinnati Reds nosed out the Washington Senators, 4-3; Brooklyn trounced the Yanks, 11-1; the Red Sox smothered Houston of the Texas League 13-2; the Phils defeated the Boston Braves, 3-1; the Chicago Cubs beat the Brooke Medical Center, 3-1, and the Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the St. Louis Browns, 5-2.

In night games the Chicago White Sox downed Austin of the Big State League, 5-0; the White Sox "B" squad defeated Dallas of the Texas League, 4-2, and the Philadelphia Athletics nipped their Savannah Sally League Farm Hands, 7-6.

Marine Corps Call May End Williams' Baseball Career

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams, one of baseball's greatest sluggers, indicated Thursday his colorful diamond career will come to an end May 2 when he returns to active duty as a captain in the Marine Corps.

The slender Boston star virtually swapped his Red Sox uniform for a green suit of khaki Wednesday when, after a two-hour physical examination, he was found fit for duty together with Gerry Coleman, who played with the New York Yankees.

Williams is baseball's highest salaried player at $100,000.

A Marine captain's salary is $5,000 a year.

Williams and Coleman, both veteran fliers of World War II, will start a 17-month tour of duty next month. Ted will be 34 years old next October. He is certain to miss the 1952 and 1953 seasons, and it will be his thirty-sixth year when the 1954 season starts.

Coleman, 27, is a veteran of 57 dive-bomber missions in the Pacific Theater.

NCAA Boxing Meet Opens In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The largest field in history, 72 of the nation's top collegiate fighters, was ready to mount the ring steps Thursday for the opening of the 15th annual NCAA Boxing Tournament.

Thirty-two bouts, 16 Thursday afternoon and 16 Thursday night, were slated to cut the field for Friday night's semi-finals. Championship bouts will be fought in all 10 weight classes Saturday night, the winners qualifying automatically for Olympic boxing team trials this summer at Kansas City.

Baseball Accident Is Fatal To Youth

COMANCHE, OKLA. (AP)—A group of Comanche High School baseball players were limbering up, throwing the ball around the infield. Suddenly a ball thrown at 16-year-old Gary Eldon Moore struck him in the chest, just above the heart. No one thought much of it until Gary slumped to the ground. He died soon after, despite efforts of a doctor and pulmonologist to revive him.

Gary was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Moore, Route 2, Dimeon.

TU Relays Draw Galaxy Of Stars

AUSTIN (AP)—The greatest galaxy of dash stars ever assembled in Texas Relays history is slated to be on hand this weekend when the Silver Anniversary of the huge track carnival gets underway.

A collection of sprint acts without precedent will try to wipe out relay records in the 440-yard relay, 880-yard relay, and 100-yard dash, but they will have their work cut out for them in doing it.

Oddly two of the relays dash records were set by the men to whom the twenty-fifth relays are being dedicated. They set the half-mile relay record of 1:25.6, then their anchor man, Harvey (Chink) Wallender, raced the 100 in 9.4 to become co-holder of that mark.

The other members of the team were Charley Grunsten of Dallas, Beverly Rockhold, Baytown High School coach whose team will compete this year, and H. V. Reeves, Jr., of Pharr. Jeff Austin of Frankton was a fifth member of the team and one of the top Longhorn quarter-milers.

Big Trucks Tougher On Pocketbook Than On Temper; Road Test Shows They Can Do Big Damage To Highway

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Those giant trucks which either rear past you at 65 miles an hour, or slow you to a crawl on the hills, are even harder on your pocketbook than on your disposition.

That conclusion can be drawn from the most thorough and scientific highway use test of its kind ever conducted in this country, though its final results have not yet been made public.

The tests were completed last year over a measured mile of Maryland road under direction of the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences Cooperating with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and highway departments of 11 states and the District of Columbia.

A principal question was: Do big trucks cause big damage? The answer was yes—an appalling amount. For instance, on a truck with a single rear axle, a 22,400-pound load causes six times as much pavement cracking as does an 18,000-pound load.

On trucks with tandem axles (two rear axles and at least four rear wheels), a 44,800-pound load causes more than 12 times as much cracking as does a 32,000-pound load.

What does this mean in terms of the road-building dollars which come out of your pocket as a taxpayer?

An answer comes from the American Road Builders' Association. It reports that last year highway construction costs in the eight states permitting axle loads of 22,000 pounds or more averaged $197,000 per mile.

That figure compares with only $25,400 per mile in the 40 states with lower axle limits.

A comparable cost ratio is found for road maintenance and repair. A joint committee of Congress reveals that cost of correcting highway deficiencies last year averaged $122,675 per mile in the eight higher limit states.

These figures show only a $33,300 per mile average for correcting deficiencies in the 40 states with lower limits.

The Pennsylvania Highway Commission says maintenance costs on a section of U. S. Route 11 which is used by heavy trucks are 16 times more than maintenance costs on another section of the same highway stretch used primarily by passenger cars.

All of this has led to some pretty sharp comment by official agencies, investigating the cost of big truck operation to the taxpayer. The New Jersey Commission on State Tax Policy broke down the state's 1949 highway payments of $59,468,000 to see how much each type of vehicle paid on the basis of ton miles traveled.

The Commission found that each passenger car overpaid $6.29, while each 12-ton truck underpaid $263.79.

The Council of State Governments, reporting on highway legislation in 1951, was a little milder but considerably more comprehensive.

"In many states," the Council reported, "the share of highway costs borne by heavy vehicles has not been in proportion to their use of the highways."

Of paramount importance in the whole subject of truck damage to highways is the matter of overloading. Weights heavier than the state's maximum.

Independent truckers staged a brief and futile strike in mid-March against Pennsylvania's 45,000-pound gross weight limit for trucks. They wanted the limit raised to 60,000 pounds.

What kind of highway damage will the truck do that was stopped by Pennsylvania police two years ago? It weighed 130,000 pounds—almost 86,000 pounds more than the Pennsylvania limit.

Pennsylvania state police stopped more than 800 trucks in 1950 which weighed from 75,000 to 10,000 pounds.

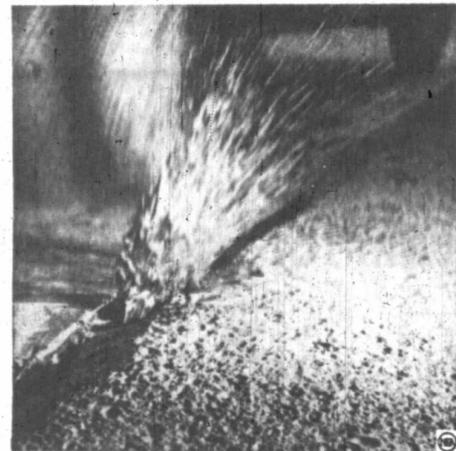

In Pennsylvania in 1949 more than 12 per cent of all trucks weighed at police check points were overloaded. Oregon caught 14,754 overloads that year, and Illinois a whopping 32,315.

Last October, a Maryland judge fined a trucker $1,866 for hauling a 51,000-pound load over a bridge whose posted limit was 20,000 pounds.

Another Maryland judge, at about the same time, fined a trucking company $1,001 because one of its drivers refused to permit his truck to be weighed.

Of interest in the matter of top loads is this report from the six-month Maryland test: Testing of the 44,800-pound tandems was discontinued after less than four months because the pavement of the test section "had been damaged to such an extent that further operation of test traffic was considered to be hazardous."

Truckers said the test road was not in good condition to start with. But test proponents replied is rep-

"Pumping" made this big splash on Maryland test highway, where water and sputter spurt as rear wheels of truck pass over spot. For damage pumping causes, see photos below.

Cracks like this along shoulder of highway are result of pumping, which causes a hollow condition under pavement.

Crack in concrete slab also is result of pumping. This slab was broken off cracks when the Maryland road test started.

Cooperation Vital In Law Enforcement, Says Rotary Speaker

Full cooperation among city, county, state and federal law enforcement agencies is essential for the success of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said a speaker at the meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday afternoon.

"Such cooperation is excellent in Texas and particularly in Midland," the FBI agent stated.

He was the principal speaker at the club's meeting, speaking on the subject, "The Work of the FBI." The former Notre Dame football player and president of the Notre Dame Ex-Students Association, was introduced by Hank Avery.

Members of Midland law enforcement agencies were special guests at the meeting.

The responsibilities, duties, divisions and departments of the FBI were discussed by the speaker, who said the agency has 52 field offices scattered throughout the nation. The identification department, he said, has 122,000,000 sets of fingerprints on file in its civilian and criminal sections.

The qualifications, selection and training of FBI personnel were explained in detail.

Gold Mines Are His Job

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—Hold it, young man, before you head west seeking your fortune. There's a fellow out here who is making it his business to tell you what the job situation is.

When Ben Tarnutzer, a man of many contacts, left his last position as a publicity director in 1948, he thought finding another job would be a cinch. Two years of public relations and advertising work showed him it wasn't. Sometimes you had to invent them.

Out of this was born his magazine, "Jobs in California," a publication that unearths for its readers types of work and professions that most never dreamed existed.

Tarnutzer put out his first issue in June, 1949, with such encouragement as, "You'll never make a go of it, Ben," or, "You'll run out of material in six months."

By October, 1951, Ben proved them all wrong. He had the approval of the State Department of Education. His subscribers included colleges, high schools and public libraries.

Four hundred school libraries in California alone use his periodical as reference. The magazine informs its readers how to get jobs, where to go and when to apply. "Jobs in California" also tells of scholarships and training for different professions. Tarnutzer receives job inquiries from every state in the union. He even has subscribers in France and on Okinawa.

A leader in Honolulu asks for information on schools that specialize in his type of work. From Hamilton, Ontario, a reader who wants to live

Ben Tarnutzer: Sometimes you have to invent a job.

In Los Angeles asks for information on secretarial work, wages and cost of living. An executive in Los Angeles, tired of being retired, pens a plea for help in seeking work for a man past 65.

Tarnutzer and his assistant, Barbara Baxter, answer all these letters personally. For their unique venture, they now hold the first citation of merit ever awarded any publication by the National Guidance Council.

Engineers' Walkout Halts Construction On Industrial Plants

BEAUMONT—(AP)—Millions of dollars worth of construction jobs in Jefferson and Orange Counties—center of a booming industrial area—were shut down Thursday by a strike.

Some 400 members of the Operating Engineers Union Local 480 (AFL) called the strike and posted picket lines which also kept about 4,000 AFL craftsmen, who honored picket lines, off the job.

First picket line to go up was at a Loomis Company job at the Magnolia Refinery here. Other major projects reported stopped included the Stone & Webster Company project at the Gulf States Utilities Company power station between Beaumont and Port Neches, construction of a Highway 90 bridge over the Neches River, and DuPont's big construction job at Orange.

The union, which voted Wednesday night to strike after rejecting a wage offer from contractors, also was expected to put up a picket line at a nurses home under construction at the Southwest Texas Baptist Hospital here.

Union officials said pickets also would be stationed at the U. S. Rubber plant in Port Neches, Gulf Refinery in Port Arthur, and at the Sabine Steel Company in Port Arthur.

Negro Shot As Knife Fight Investigated

DALLAS—(AP)—Deputy sheriffs Lon Flippen and W. R. Pike were called to a South Dallas tavern early Thursday to investigate a knife fight between two women.

Having quieted the women, they heard a gun shot as they were leaving. They turned around and a 32-year-old woman surrendered a pistol to Pike. Dead on the floor was Rogers Turner, 30, a two-time convict. The woman said Turner had threatened her. His body was taken to Lott's Funeral Home for negroes.

McGrath—

eral James M. McInerney, and Joseph C. Duggan, McGrath's assistant in the field of executive orders. McInerney heads the department's criminal division.

McGrath's letter started off with no salutation except the word "Sir." Morris's name was at the end.

The text: "Sir:

"Please be informed that your appointment as a special assistant to the attorney general is hereby terminated and your services as an employee of the Department of Justice shall cease at the close of business today.

"You are hereby requested to deliver all files, records and documents in your offices to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"Very truly yours,
"J. Howard McGrath,
"Attorney General.

"Honorable Newbold Morris,
"Special assistant to the attorney general.

"Old Washington Post Building,
"Washington, D. C."

The order that Morris deliver his records to the FBI led to immediate speculation that FBI Director Hoover may be given the clean-up job.

However, McGrath sternly refused to add anything to the letter's content.

"Not a thing—not a thing," he said repeatedly. "I have nothing to add to the letter."

He shook his head in negation when reporters urged him to outline "Where do we go from here."

Dutch Queen Warns Congress Against Iron Curtain Ways

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Queen Juliana of The Netherlands Thursday urged Congress not to imitate Iron Curtain countries which place so much emphasis on defense that economic, social and cultural well-being suffer.

She also said in a speech before a joint session of Congress less than 24 hours after her arrival Wednesday:

1. The United States can count upon Netherlands support in the present divided world.

2. Her own country, with the help of America, is able to "stand once more on our own feet" economically. She expressed thanks for the aid given.

3. The said European unity is growing and that "political integration" may come "perhaps eventually."

4. The world is split into two parts, the positive (democracy) and negative (slavery), and the negative pole will "have to yield" in time.

Major emphasis of the Queen's address, which she delivered in English, was on technical assistance. She said her country was helping to the best of its ability by exporting skills and experts to less developed countries.

"It is my earnest hope that one memorable day the enormous increase of production now demanded by rearmament will be converted to meet the needs of these enormous development projects."

"The crisis of countries around the North Atlantic Ocean should avoid imitating the example set by the countries behind the Iron Curtain, which have focused their minds so much on their defense that they forget to focus as much attention on their economic, social and cultural well-being. . . .

"If they do neglect these aspects, some day they might find themselves isolated around their oceans before, for instance, technical assistance could get underway properly, and link them with the world at large."

She ended by saying: "Mankind in its distress has to trust largely to your good judgment for its deliverance."

"The speech was part of a fast-paced program that includes shaking thousands of hands at three receptions and donning a diamond tiara Thursday night for a formal dinner party.

The queen and her husband, Prince Bernhard, are the first guests in the newly rebuilt White House.

tlement terms between the union and three Bell telephone companies. Another 16,000 telephone workers—installation and sales department employees of Western Electric, part of the Bell System—also have scheduled a walkout Monday, which would have nationwide repercussions.

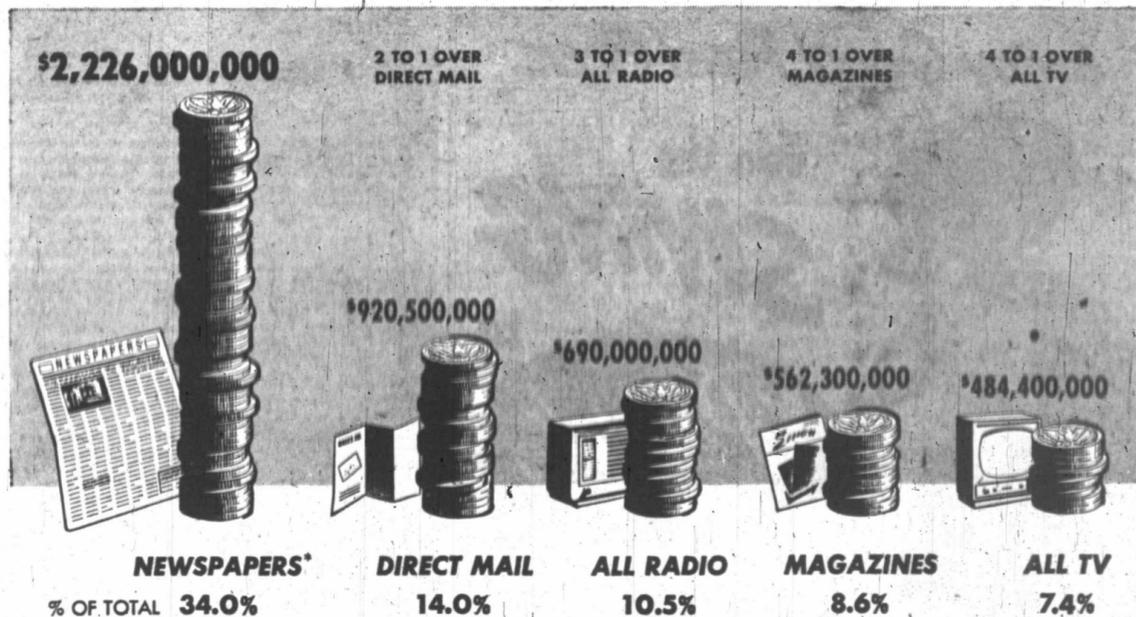

An estimated 300,000 additional CWA phone workers are in the middle of new contract talks. Contracts are expiring for all these workers between now and August.

The telegraphers union is demanding benefits which would cost an estimated 50 cents an hour for each worker. The company has made no offer.

Wage demands of the telephone workers are reported to approximate $16 a week. Company offers of $9 to $5 reportedly were rejected by the union.

Advertisers Choose Newspapers 2 to 1

OVER ANY OTHER MEDIUM!

It takes a lot of confidence and all kinds of people to spend two and a quarter billion dollars' worth of advertising.

It takes everybody from big VP's with heavy ad budgets to housewives with rooms to rent. It takes chain-store executives and neighborhood merchants.

It takes local business people—those who spend only their own money for ads, and those who also spend big money contributed by manufacturers.

But most of all it takes an advertising medium that can do the job—a complete job: NEWSPAPERS.

Only newspapers can give you full value for your advertising dollar because only newspapers reach everybody who can possibly buy.

If you're a retailer or wholesaler, demand newspaper advertising before you place an order.

If you're a salesman or district manager, ask your management for newspaper advertising to move out the products you sell.

And if you're a manufacturer, remember this: IN 1951 ONE-THIRD OF ALL THE ADVERTISING DOLLARS IN THE NATION WERE ENTRUSTED TO NEWSPAPERS.

Miscellaneous media: 25.5% brings total to new high—$4 billion dollars. Figures include production costs. *Dailies only (weekday and Sundays). Source: Preliminary estimates for 1951 published by Printers' Ink, Jan. 11, 1952.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"My husband and I play two-hand canasta a lot," relates an Iowa correspondent. "He manages to go out concealed in nearly every hand. How does he manage to do this so often? Is there some trick to it? Is there any defense against it?"

There are various ways of playing two-hand canasta, but I will assume that my correspondent plays the most popular form. In this variant, you draw two cards from the stock pile instead of only one (just as in the game of samba). Since you discard only one card at each turn, your hand tends to grow bigger all the time.

In any game of two-hand canasta you have no partner to help or inform. Therefore you don't gain very much when you put a meld down on the table instead of keeping it in your hand where your opponent cannot see it.

That is, you don't gain very much as long as the hand continues. When the hand ends, of course, you are better off if your melds are on the table instead of in your hand.

A large part of the skill in two-hand canasta consists in keeping melds in your hand as long as possible. If you put them down too quickly, your opponent knows too much about your hand. If you don't put your melds down quickly enough, your opponent may meld-out and beat you.

If your opponent is not good at melding-out quickly, you can keep your melds in your hand until you are yourself ready to meld out, you have all the advantage of concealing your melds and none of the risk that your opponent may meld out before you do.

I suspect that this is exactly what is happening in a certain Iowa home. The lady doesn't concentrate on melding-out quickly, and the gentleman can safely keep his melds concealed until he is ready to meld out.

The best defense is to work hard towards melding-out quickly. Don't keep odd cards in your hand. Build up melds. You cannot afford to discard a "safety." If you do, your hand will never get into top position. Just catch your opponent with a full hand a few times and he will begin to meld instead of keeping everything in his hand.

LOST DAY OF DEMOCRACY— Make-Believe War Comes Vividly Alive As Aggressors Take City Of Lampasas

LAMPASAS—(AP)—A make-believe war came vividly alive here shortly after dawn Thursday.

With fixed bayonets, big green-dyed aggressor troops captured this little Central Texas ranching city of 5,000 persons and a military government took it over.

To test military government as a part of a military maneuver and to find just what it means to lose your everyday liberties is the reason Lampasas—for Thursday at least—is a U. S. city in the hands of a totalitarian enemy.

With a hearty okeh from city officials, civic leaders and the plain residents, Major Alton Shipstead of Winona, Minn., set a coldly realistic problem.

Shipstead, military government officer for the 82nd Airborne Division—the aggressors—was solely responsible for actions here Thursday. He and Lt. Col. Robert H. Slover, military government director for Exercise Long Horn being staged over 1,800 square miles of Central Texas, said the necessary purists of the city would not be interfered with in any way.

Concentration camps, property confiscation, quick, one-sided trials are part of the "lost day of democracy" here.

"Thought control" for the schools, closed churches, propaganda broadcasts all are a part.

H. C. Ballew, superintendent of the schools, said his pupils were enthusiastic about the part they play.

Slover said the same spirit has been shown by all the people.

The Lions Club's membership drew the role of the "prisoners" in the concentration camp.

23 Hour Work Day
Ward Lowe, publisher of the weekly Lampasas Dispatch, swung into the tenor of the play with a sign on his door.

"The noble aggressor has graciously permitted us to shorten our working day to 22 hours a day."

Ballew said he considered the maneuver play tremendously important to the student.

Teen-Agers Again Demand Money Of Houston Cat-Lover

HOUSTON—(AP)—A detective Thursday watched the home of an elderly woman who received threats to kill her eight cats and burn her home down.

Last July, police rounded up 11 teen-agers who had mugged Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, of more than $1,500.

Her maid, Mrs. Blanche Pollard, said Wednesday a husky young man demanded $150 and made the threat. He was told Mrs. Edmonds would pay him April 4, when she receives money from a trust fund.

The teen-agers got amounts from $5 to $80 to treat cats they said were ill of polio and pneumonia.

DISCOVERY ALLOWABLE

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Railroad Commission has approved the application of the Delaware Oil Company of Delaware for discovery allowable rights and new field designation of Veslmoor (Clisco Lime) for the producing reservoir of its East well No. 1, Veslmoor field area, Howard County.

"I think it would take us about six months to teach out of textbooks the things they will learn about the loss of democracy today," he said.

Armed guards for every classroom was how "thought control" is practiced at the high school.

Huge printed proclamations announcing the "liberation" of Lampasas were plastered over the town. So were "laws" to govern the citizens and the announcement that all political parties were abolished; that the "Centralist" Party was now the only one.

The Dispatch printed a special edition, put out by the "aggressors." It noted that "107 years enslavement ends . . . Texas a nation again."

It also carried the curfew hours; notice that all private vehicles were confiscated and that banks, churches, and theaters would be closed, the latter until "uplifting Centralist" entertainment films arrived.

The lost day of democracy here has stolen the spotlight from the main part of the maneuver, the attack by the 82nd against the 47th and 31st Infantry Divisions spread along Cowhouse Creek.

Write-Ins Ruled Legal In Maryland

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Unless the highest court in the state says no, Maryland voters will be permitted a "write-in" ballot in the May 5 primary election.

Circuit Judge Emory H. Niles Wednesday granted an order compelling election supervisors to provide space for voters to write in names on the ballots.

Niles agreed with three petitioners—a congressional candidate, a taxpayer and a voter—that although the Court of Appeals in 1937 held that voters are not guaranteed write-in privileges at primary elections by the State Constitution, election laws since guarantee that right.

The blood in our bodies travels at an average speed of seven miles an hour.

Survey Picks Taft As Illinois Winner

CHICAGO—(AP)—Senator Taft will win the Illinois Republican presidential preference primary in the collective opinion of Illinois newspapers and correspondents surveyed by The Associated Press.

General Eisenhower, in their composite opinion, will draw a sizable write-in vote. His name is not on the ballot.

The downstate correspondents and political writers on Chicago newspapers submitted estimates on the vote each believed will be cast for the candidates in his district next Tuesday.

Texas Has Record 2,337,618 Citizens Qualified To Vote

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas boasts a record 2,337,618 citizens armed with the right to vote in this year's political battles.

That's 357,093 more voters than the estimated previous record of 1,979,925 in the presidential election year of 1948, Comptroller Robert B. Calvert reported Wednesday.

The total, first in Texas history to exceed the two million mark, includes 2,081,084 paid poll taxes and 256,534 exemptions.

Calvert said the 1948 total was an estimate because election laws then in effect made it impossible to determine the exact number of exempt voters.

More than 40 per cent of the qualified voters reside in seven of the state's 254 counties. Harris County, encompassing Houston, has the greatest number, 317,256. Dallas County is second with 215,583, followed by Bexar (San Antonio), 132,575; Tarrant (Fort Worth), 123,812; Jefferson (Beaumont-Port Arthur), 64,162; Travis (Austin), 50,728; and Nueces (Corpus Christi), 48,453.

New Bill Would Cut Political Patronage

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A bill to take all postmasters, customs collectors and U. S. attorneys and marshalls out of political patronage was introduced by Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.), Monroney (D-Okla.) and Moody (D-Mich.).

The bill would put the appointments under Civil Service laws.

OLD PILOT, NEW THRILL—James W. Montee, 89, of Los Angeles, Calif., the nation's oldest licensed airplane pilot, will get the thrill of his life when he is taken up for his first ride in a jet fighter plane. Montee, who first soloed at the age of 60, has flown 41 types of aircraft, including an ancient Jenny. He wrote to the commanding general of El Toro Marine Air Station at Santa Ana, Calif., requesting the ride, and Defense Department officials gave him the o.k.

New York Slates Air Raid Practice

NEW YORK—(AP)—New York City's second city-wide air raid drill since the end of World War II will start at 7:45 p.m. Thursday.

People on the street will not have to take shelter.

The approach of "enemy bombers" will be warbled by 879 sirens. At the sound of the three-minute "red" alert, civil defense workers will report for duty.

At 8 p.m., 12 minutes after the "red" signal is discontinued, the sirens will sound the "white" all-clear.

Test activities will center at two scenes of mock atomic bomb explosions at 7:55 p.m.

W. R. Upham's Mother Dies At Carlton, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Upham and son, James, 510 North Big Spring Street, were called to Carlton, Hamilton County, early Thursday by the death of Upham's mother Mrs. D. W. Upham, 71.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed at the time of the Upham's departure, but services will be held in Carlton, probably Friday.

Ike, Driscoll And Man Named Forbes Change New Jersey Primary Picture

TRENTON—(NEA)—The outlook for presidential hopefuls in New Jersey looks a lot different today than it did four months ago. Last December 6, the doors were flung open on the not very fancy offices of the New Jersey Republicans for Eisenhower. A big celebration had been planned with all the state's top GOP figures invited. But one lonely congressman was the only notable who showed. The party was a dud.

Host on this sad occasion was 33-year-old Malcolm Forbes, son of a business magazine publisher. A month earlier, he'd won a seat in the State Senate after ringing 38,000 doorbells in his county. Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll called him the most refreshing candidate he'd seen in a long time and said, "I can't wait for him to get to Trenton."

Forbes couldn't wait, either. Two weeks after his election, he jumped for Ike and announced his plan to open a Trenton headquarters. New Jersey's presidential primary was not until this April 15, but that didn't disturb Freshman Forbes. Nor was he upset much by the flop on opening day at 40 West State Street—the Eisenhower oasis. A professional, eyeing the youngster's political doings, told him, "Boy, you're going to be either a boom or a bust." Forbes set out to make it a boom—for Ike.

After sundown, if any politicians of standing visited the headquarters in the next few weeks, they must have come long after sundown. Forbes was shunned.

Then, on January 7, General Eisenhower's candidacy for the GOP nomination became a reality. A handful of the more adventurous professionals began dropping in on Forbes, using the front door, in daylight.

But the campaign still wasn't made of solid stuff. Forbes went around pushing petitions, even lining up signers on his commuter train. Driscoll maintained his silence, though, and organization men stood around waiting.

In mid-February, with a new law on the books calling for a popularity test in April, rivals began to stir. Senator Taft named Paul Williams, veteran campaigner and aide to GOP Senator Hendrickson, to run his Jersey affairs. Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, got in. Gathes speed.

The Taft drive gathered speed quickly. Many elected officials favored him and a good share of the state's 21 county chairmen showed the same leanings. Taft partisans were heartened by reports that man was plying Eisenhower hard in New Hampshire's crucial battle.

Forbes recalls: "March 4, a week before the New Hampshire primary, we had our bleakest day. The professionals were pouring across the bridges into Taft territory."

The night of that primary, Forbes was busy debating a Taft supporter. The latter rose and declared: "Ladies and gentlemen, we are here tonight to pronounce the benediction on General Eisenhower's candidacy." Later he smiled comfortably as first returns indicated a Taft lead.

Next morning, however, the atmosphere had changed. Ike had won New Hampshire decisively. The professionals suddenly found it fashionable to be caught loitering in the vicinity of 40 West State. The amateurs exulted.

Driscoll dubbed the results "encouraging" but still held off declaring himself. A few days afterward, he hinted a statement was in the wind.

March 17 was the turning point. In a three-hour session with party stalwarts, the governor explored the situation. He emerged to announce "my personal preference is Eisenhower." Up until then, only one county leader had spoken for Ike. Now 14 went along with Driscoll, the other seven keeping silent or straddling. The move was on.

The Taft response was a shock. The senator, angrily blasting Driscoll for "breaking his word" to remain neutral, pulled out of the New Jersey race. Yet a combination of complexities kept his name on the ballot.

As the contest now shapes up, the experts hand the state to Eisenhower in a big way. But they don't foresee that he will necessarily win all the 38 GOP convention delegates (10 at large). The major state engaged in the separate delegate fight is organization-picked and unpledged. It is assumed most on the list will be for Ike, but some favor Taft.

Besides, in one district a competing Eisenhower state may split the vote and elect two candidates openly pledged to Taft. Altogether Taft may find six or eight New Jersey delegates voting for him at Chicago in July.

And, despite the senator's dramatic withdrawal, he could pull a sizable vote in the popularity test.

Mecca Pilgrimages Banned By Commies
SPRINGFIELD, KASHMIR.—(AP)—Communist authorities in West China's predominantly Moslem province of Sinkiang have banned pilgrimages of the faithful to Mecca.

Reports reaching Chinese Turkistan circles here said that no Sinkiang Moslem has left on the sacred Hajj pilgrimage since the Communist occupation of Sinkiang in September, 1949.

More than 200,000 Communist troops now are stationed in Sinkiang, the ports added. Officials have imported "purely Chinese people" trusted by Beijing for settlement throughout Sinkiang.

Ample Taft sentiment exists in New Jersey. With his name on the ballot, no observer assumes the senator will draw a blank.

Campaigning will be done for him, though not on the earlier coordinated scale. It's hard to measure what effect a somewhat disjointed drive will have. It might work wonders, or fall utterly.

Stassen is the only candidate with a large block of delegate candidates officially pledged—20 in all. The consensus is, however, that Stassen will win no pledged delegates and will not show more than feebly in the popularity affair.

Over in the Democratic arena, things are quiet. Senator Kefauver of Tennessee is running unopposed.

Defendant Says He Can't Help Stealing

SINGAPORE—(AP)—A 38-year-old rag and bone man had such conjugal troubles he had to break into 15 homes at night and take large quantities of silverware.

In court he said: "I can't help stealing. I have two wives and six children to support."

NO SALARY

TURTLE HAS DUCKY IDEA—Using "Bert the Turtle" as a symbol for self-protection in the event of an atomic-bomb attack, the teacher in New York City's Public School 132 explains to her pupils how to "duck and cover." The Civilian Defense training film of the same name will be seen by 4,000,000 school children in the next few months.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGER

Now, Muggins, you stay off the typewriter while I am trying to get this started. Well, she finally left and at last I have peace. Just in case you are wondering just who Muggins is, well she is our "tarter shell cat" and she always is into something.

Now we shall put the talk about the cat aside and start this week's news right away.

It seems as though Texas Western students all came home — Bill Medart, Jack Burris, W. H. Black, Jerry Culp and Frank Hatfield. It has dawned on us they are home because of the West Texas Relays held in Odessa Friday and Saturday. We got third place in the meet and are very proud of that. The mile relay team composed of Bill Mims, Robert Kelsing, Johnny Kennedy and Roy Kinsey won first place. Robert Kelsing got third in the 120-yard high hurdles, and he also placed third in the 180-yard high hurdles. We are very proud of all of you boys and let's hope that you can do even better at the district track meet.

Cowboy Hats

Have any of you noticed a boy who wears a cowboy hat constantly? Saturday night he had on a blue-green one (we guess that is the color it was). This certain boy was none other than Don Roderick. Those are real pretty hats, Don, where did you get so many?

Last week it was Freddy Bilbo who wanted his name in the newspaper so badly. Well, this week there are others. Here are their names: JOHN CROWLEY, JIM HAMMETT, ELLIS LONG, JACKIE MATHEWS, and PHILIP McFADDEN. How is that, boys?

Nina Brown and Stanley Krist had an original idea last Saturday night. They sat up in the balcony so they could see over the heads that were bobbing up and down all during the show. Wonder if they get to sit up there next week or will someone else beat them to it.

CONGRATULATIONS TO ORIANNA GADDBERRY, FIFI PRYOR, BILL MAYFIELD, JIM TEN EYCK and CHARLES WORTHEN for being elected student cheerleaders for next year. SADIE HUNT will be the head cheerleader for next year, and Bill Mayfield will be in two years. We bet all of you will make real good cheerleaders for us.

Successful Sock-Hop

The Sock-Hop Saturday night, after the picture, really was a big success. All of you who didn't go, really missed something that was worth while. Four prizes were awarded. They went to Tommy Johnson for having the dirtiest socks (he got a little red pen and a miniature scrub board). Emily had the ugliest socks—so said "Myrt"—and for these she got a little plastic stocking full of candy. Jay Schlichting had next to the loudest socks and for that he got a stocking full of candy. But the best prize went to Fella Patten for having the loudest socks of all. They were red with green and orange stripes or something like that. His prize was a little purse. Now that really was touching to see Fella and his real red face get such a dainty purse like that. It was plastic, also, the purse, that is.

While speaking of that sock-hop, we have just one more thing to tell you, but most of you noticed that anyway. That was Bill Eskine, and he had on his shoes. Now we don't know just exactly what the reason was for him to wear his shoes, but he did. Next time, BILL, let's not wear our shoes. How about it?

A picture on narcotics was shown Saturday, and it was a very good example of just what happens to people who use the stuff. We surely hope everyone took that picture to heart. You are the very ones who can prevent it getting started, so how about it????

After the picture, there was a very short meeting. It concerned the Youth Center and how all of us treat the furniture and equipment.

So, from now on let's be sure and treat the furniture right, and not rough. And let's all try to keep the place cleaner, so we will be proud of it no matter who would walk in. Speaking of who would walk in, well Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra came over to the Youth Center Wednesday night.

Spring Sport Dance

There will be a Spring Sport Dance, or in other words, a semi-formal dance, April 11. There will be an orchestra to furnish the music. Be sure and come to it for it will be the Easter Dance at the Youth Center.

There will be a square dance this Friday night. Last week we told you there would be one, but there wasn't, and we want to apologize for that. But there will be one this week and Jay Johnson will do the calling.

Next Saturday, the Midland High School Band will be in Kermit for the Interscholastic Contest between the bands of this region. We know all of you will miss us Saturday night at the picture show. By the way, we are going to bring back Sweepstakes Honors.

We heard the Student Council really had a good time at the state convention in Corpus Christi. We also are very proud for we are the vice president of the State of Texas. That is a very large responsibility, but we are sure good old MHS can do the job well.

TUNISIA'S NEW PREMIER—Salah Eddine Bacouche, 67, serves as premier of Tunisia for the second time. Pro-French, Bacouche first served as premier after the liberation of Tunisia in 1943. He now succeeds Mohammed Chenik, who was arrested by the French authorities for being in sympathy with extreme nationalist forces in Tunisia.

The Youth Center needs repairing very much, so we are calling all willing workers to come down and give your name to "Myrt" or "Fern" so you can be in on the fun. (That will be ours when it is being fixed). Mostly there is painting to do.

The pool tournaments now are waiting on the trophies, so those of you who want to show your skill be sure and sign up for them. We will let you know just exactly when they are to be. Sorry we can't tell you now.

Have you noticed that if you are looking up someone in the "A's" in the telephone book, you can actually get their number. Well, that is due to the fact that we have two new directories. Now, please keep these books nice so that we won't have to bother Information.

There is to be a very important meeting of all Youth Center members Saturday night. YOU are going to elect a Junior Council. There will be no campaigning. You can vote in your own grade and not in any other. There will be two delegates from each grade in high school and then there will be two from junior high. All of you please vote for qualified members.

Saturday night after the picture show, there will be an unusual dance held in the Youth Center. The name of this was made up by two very unusual members of the Youth Center. The name of this dance is the "Paul Jones Nocturne No. 3, Opus 76." Now, just in case you don't know what this is you will just have to come and see for yourself. So we will see you at the dance Saturday night. No, we won't be all bandsters will be in Kermit. Membership Drive.

The Youth Center is having a membership drive and we want all present members to bring in another member, so be sure and get to work on those who haven't paid their dues or those who aren't even members.

Several paragraphs back, we mentioned the name "Fern." Well, she is the new assistant director of the Youth Center. She is a very likeable person and is interested in all of the members of the Youth Center, so please go up and introduce yourself to her. If you are that bashful (we don't think there is anyone in the Youth Center like that though) have someone introduce you to her. Her name is Fern Green, and we welcome her into the Youth Center.

Not much more to say except "see you next week."

Ironing materials from which soap has not been well rinsed may cause a stain much like iron rust. A soap and water washing usually removes it. Be sure to rinse well. Bleaching in the sun afterwards is sometimes helpful.

Stormy Texas Political Era Told In New Book

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Jerry Hall, native of Stanton and a member of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal news staff, has reviewed a new book on Texas politics. The book by History Professor S. S. McKay of Texas Tech is especially timely in this election year.)

By Jerry Hall

A new book on Texas politics recently went into the bookshelves of Gov. Allan Shivers—a volume which he describes in a letter to its author as "one of the best and most thorough analysis of the political scene in our state that I have ever encountered."

The book is "Texas Politics—1906-1944," and it was authored by Dr. S. S. McKay, longtime member of the history department at Texas Tech.

It's no novelty for Dr. McKay to receive praise from high places for his works. The latest—published by the Texas Tech Press—makes the fifth text on Lone Star state politics which he has written.

In his files are letters from a group of persons a list of whose names sound like a "Who's Who," both in front of and behind the Texas political picture.

The new book covers the era of string ties, frock coats and flour salesmen in the biggest three-ring circus in the biggest state—the action of which at times during the turbulent period threatened to outdo even Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey's extravaganzas.

James and Miriam—Pa and Ma to the voters—Ferguson, Colquitt, Sen. Joe Bailey, Pat Neff, Dan Moody, youthful Jimmy Allred, Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, the biscuit man, "Long Tom" Connally, West Texas' own Thomas L. Blanton and hundreds of others who have at one time or another held the coveted center stage spotlight are among those whose careers are traced.

Explains State Politics

Dr. McKay is the ideal man to write such a book. He is a native Texan. He was born in Bell County, near Temple, near the center of some of the most bitter battles in the state's political wars.

His background has been enhanced by a tireless and intensive study of the topics he writes about. Dr. McKay's third book, which traces the rapid and astonishing rise to power of W. Lee O'Daniel, won plaudits from readers the state and nation over.

And the latest should do even better.

To the younger generation it will give a clear picture of the issues which affected elections from the turn of the century and after the institution of the primary in the state. To the oldsters who were on the scene it will clarify and make for better understanding of what happened and why.

And what better locale could the professor have picked to make a study? Certainly there can be no doubt that the bitter struggles and rise and fall of such political giants—regardless of the reader's own personal feelings on some of the persons, their place in history has been settled—such as the Ferguson, and Pat Neff, Or Moody and Bailey and Allred and the rest.

Some of the political shennigans of those not-so-long-ago days would make even today's headlines look like a child's play. Such as the Ferguson, for instance, is fully discussed. One of the most serious charges facing Ferguson in the only impeachment trial of a governor in Texas history was that he had "made personal use of certain state funds; that he had violated banking laws in depositing state funds in the Temple Bank of which he was president!"

Campaign tactics in this section of the world have long since ceased to amaze the experts.

Although hilly music from a political platform—the kind speeches are made from—was not unknown before the early 1930's, certainly O'Daniel and his boys were responsible for its sudden rise to accepted means of vote getting.

And what about mud slinging. If you think it is bad now, just read what McKay had to say about some of the trades which opponents—often good friends outside the arena—had to say about one another.

One candidate called another "lowdown, stinking, contemptible, pusillanimous, gambling little upstart hypocrite," to start the fireworks in a governor election.

Riot Broke Up Rally

Later in the same campaign a Houston rally was broken up by what was reported in newspapers to be an "apparently preconceived demonstration." The riots lasted for sometime and several persons were injured. Both sides blamed Ku Klux Klan which, by the way, entered into several campaigns to help turn the tide of elections in the earlier days.

Once when Bailey—one of the real colorful bulwarks of old time politicians—was campaigning for senator he burst into some of the "bid songs" he loved so dearly. He charged the "foxtrot" and "bunny mug" were rapidly becoming the ruin of young womanhood in Texas and that "modern dances" killed a young person's modesty.

But the most serious side of the book points out that through the years prohibition has probably been one of the greatest factors in deciding Texas elections.

McKay—through his own admission—set out to trace politics in the 10 predominantly German counties in Central Texas near Austin. But the project—fortunately for the reader interested in Texas political history—soon got out of hand and from it evolved the volume.

It is a big task—the entire coverage of any political era. But it is a story about something that has vital effect on every citizen despite the regretted indifference often shown.

Midland School Officials On Hearing Panel To Consider Opinions On School Standards

School teachers and administrators of Midland and the surrounding area will have a chance on April 19 to voice their opinions on proposed new certification standards for Texas school personnel.

An all-day hearing panel on the teacher standards will be held at the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High School in Lubbock at 9 a.m. on April 19 under direction of W. L. Reed of Levelland Public Schools and Ishmael Hill of Lubbock Public Schools.

In order that teachers throughout the state will have a chance to present their ideas on the proposed new certification standards, similar panels will be held during April in Houston, Denton, San Antonio, McAllen, Lubbock, El Paso, Abilene, Amarillo, Tyler and Brownwood. The panel discussions are open to the public. Elementary and secondary teachers and administrators, college officials, and others interested in public education are especially invited to attend.

The state-wide study on teacher education and certification, now in its second year and nearing completion is under joint sponsorship of the Texas Council of Teacher Education, Texas Vocational Association, Texas Education Agency, and the Texas State Teachers Association.

Midland Supt. Frank Monroe and Charles Mathews, director of special services, are members of the hearing panel to convene at Lubbock.

Easter Cake Has Tangy Frosting

"HAPPY EASTER CAKE" with fresh tart lemon-butter frosting is wonderful dessert for Easter dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This is an extra special recipe for a beautiful Easter cake. It's dainty, white, tender, with a velvety cream. The lemon-butter frosting is fresh and tart in tangy contrast to the delicate layers. There are tinted frosting flowers on the side and across the top in frosting is "Happy Easter."

Happy Easter Cake

Two and two-thirds cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 5 egg whites, 13 1/4 cups sugar, 2 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Beat egg whites until foamy, add 1/2 cup of the sugar gradually, and continue beating only until meringue will hold up in soft peaks. Cream shortening, add remaining 11 3/4 cups sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy.

Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring; blend. Then add meringue and beat thoroughly into batter. Turn batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottom with paper.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Cool. Spread lemon-cream frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Smooth frosting flap on top and sides for decorating.

Prepare an ornamental frosting by combining sifted confectioners' sugar with a little water. Tint some of this green and some lavender. With the green frosting write "Happy Easter" across top of cake. Outline hyacinths around sides of cake, using lavender frosting for the flowers and green for the leaves.

Lemon-Butter Frosting
(Makes 2 1/2 cups or enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers, two 8 1/2-inch layers, or two 8-inch layers generally.)
One-half cup butter, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 1/2 cups (1 pound) sifted con-fectioners' sugar, 2 egg yolks, unbeaten, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons top milk (about).

Cream butter, add salt and part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Then add egg yolks and grated lemon rind, blend well. Add remaining sugar alternately with milk, until of right consistency to spread, beating after each addition until smooth.

Women In Russia Hold Big Positions

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Central Committee of the Communist Party believes women should be boldly advanced to executive work in all phases of national life.

Women are found in all kinds of jobs in the Soviet Union from captains on ocean-going ships to high posts in the Communist party.

Government statistics showed 830,000 women specialists graduated from higher educational institutions, over one million studying in higher and secondary educational institutions and 207,000 women doctors. Forty per cent of the agronomists are women.

Australia Postpones Plans For Television

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA—(AP)—Australia has postponed indefinitely plans to set up an experimental television station near Sydney.

The decision was made by the Cabinet because of the need to cut imports, according to an announcement by Postmaster General Hubert L. Anthony.

UNIVERSITY SITE BOUGHT

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA—(AP)—The Malayan government has bought 815 acres of land in Johore state from the Sultan for $1,600,000 for building a University of Malaya. The director of education, L. D. Whitfield, however, said construction would not be started for some time.

Seven Ask Crane Trustee Positions

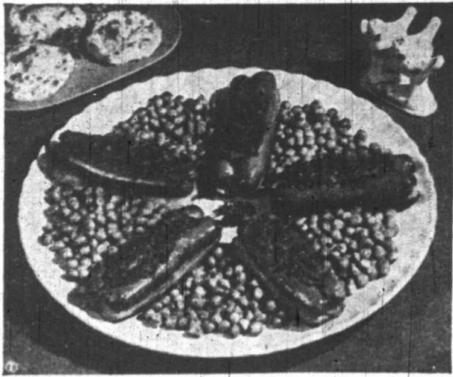

CRANE—Saturday will be school board election day in Crane. Seven candidates have filed for the three positions to be filled.

The present board is headed by Tom Coffield as president, and W. B. Gunn as secretary.

Other members are K. P. Looney, C. E. Scott, F. D. Husted, T. N. White, and W. M. Morton. The first three seek re-election. Joe Boyd has filed, and W. R. Edwards, Steve Thomas and Loftin Bragg were listed by petition.

Paul Patterson will be presiding judge at the court house for Crane citizens with Mrs. John H. Clark and Mrs. W. S. Johnson as clerks.

Sand Hills residents will hold their election at the Community Hall, with K. J. Harrold as presiding judge, and Mrs. Harrold and Mrs. C. H. Evans as clerks.

BAKED STUFFED FRANKFURTERS—An economical dinner dish which the family will thoroughly enjoy is baked stuffed frankfurters. Put a layer of bread dressing, sauerkraut or mashed potatoes between split franks, top with barbecue sauce and bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 30 minutes. For a novel and unusually tasty variation of this dish, stuff the franks with crushed pineapple. The recipe calls for one pound frankfurters, one No. 2 can crushed pineapple (two cups), one-half cup finely chopped onion, two tablespoons butter or margarine, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, two teaspoons prepared mustard, three-fourths teaspoon sugar and one-fourth cup chili sauce. Split frankfurters not quite through. Spread out half the franks, cut side up, in a greased baking dish. Spread with partially drained pineapple. Top with remaining split frankfurters. Cook onion in fat until tender (about 10 minutes). Stir frequently so as not to burn. Add remaining ingredients and cook for five minutes. Spoon sauce on franks. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 30 minutes. Makes four to five servings.

Midland Students Invited To Attend Spring Production

Special invitations have been extended to high school students in Midland to attend an April 19 machine performance of "The Lady's Not For Burning" at the College Players' spring production at North Texas State College, Denton.

According to Dr. R. V. Holland, chairman of the speech department at NTSC, a "trams-day" has been planned for high school students. In addition to the play students may watch make-up procedures, attend a lecture-demonstration on the design and construction of the set used for the production, meet the director and ask any questions.

Invitations to attend the special production have been sent to some 75 high schools, Dr. Holland said.

New Ceiling Price Regulations Effective Monday For Eating, Drinking Businesses

Some 2400 restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments in the Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization were reminded Thursday that the new ceiling price regulation covering their operation becomes effective next Monday.

District price officials pointed out that the new regulation (CPR 134) freezes restaurant prices at the level shown on menus or charged during the week of February 3 to 9, 1952. It also requires operators of eating and drinking establishments to post dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for their principal meals, food items and beverages.

These frozen prices, with permissible adjustments by operators who have been charging lower than permitted under the present restaurant regulation (CPR 11) will be on the dollars-and-cents ceilings which restaurants will post.

The posted prices may be changed in the future only by the direction of the Office of Price Stabilization. The regulation provides that future adjustments may be made if the OPS determines that food and other costs have changed significantly, either upward or downward.

A series of trade meetings will be held throughout the district by price officials in the next few weeks to acquaint operators of restaurants and other drinking and eating establishments of the detailed provisions of the new regulation.

Daddy Ringtail And Mischief Maker

A mischief maker magician once came to visit in the Great Forest. He was resting from his mischief-making in the land where he lived.

Oh, he was a very mischief-y fellow. I can tell you, and I do tell you. He was a very mischief-y fellow indeed. That's what the mischief maker magician was.

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, stopped him and said: "Master, are you looking for somebody?"

"Heh-heh-heh-heh!" was the mischief laugh of the mischief maker

"Heh-heh-heh!" the mischief maker magician laughed again. "My boy," he said, "if I give you another banana, do you promise to eat it all right here and now?"

Mugwump promised, and so the mischief maker magician said his mischief maker words. Bananahush, and there was a big banana as big as a telephone pole.

magician for an answer. "My boy," said he, "I am about to play a trick of mischief making on you."

"Really?" asked Mugwump: He was busy with eating a banana.

The mischief maker magician sat down on a rock to wait for Mugwump to finish eating. Tricks of mischief wouldn't work too well on Mugwump if Mugwump still were hungry. A hungry boy ought to finish his eating first before he does anything else. Girls, too. But at last the banana was gone.

Said the mischief maker magician: "My boy, get ready for the trick of mischief."

Mugwump patted his stomach to show how happy he was with a very fine dinner and a banana for dessert. He only wished he had another

Make This Easter Centerpiece

BRIGHT, FLAVORED GELATIN EGGS in a nest of shredded coconut form an Easter table centerpiece that is good enough to eat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A variety of Easter eggs in six bright colors of fruit-flavored gelatin in a fluffy nest of shredded coconut—how does that sound for the centerpiece for Easter Sunday dinner table? Certainly good enough to eat.

They're easy to do, although made in unique fashion. When the gelatin has set, let everyone use his imagination and decorate them to suit his fancy. Either whipped cream or softened cream cheese may be used to inscribe names and designs on them.

Jellied Easter Eggs

(Makes 8 Easter Eggs)
One package fruit-flavored gelatin (any flavor), 1 cup hot water, 3/4 cup cold water, 8 egg shells (to remove yolks and whites, crack small end of each egg slightly. Pick away enough shell so that the yolk and white will drop out. Rinse inside of shell with cold water.)

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Pour in egg shells, using funnel or small pitcher. Set eggs on end-in egg container. Chill until gelatin is firm. Before serving, carefully crack and peel off shells. Serve in nests of shredded coconut. Using pastry tube, decorate with whipped cream or cream cheese (softened and flavored, if desired), making various designs or spelling out initials and children's names.

Here's another colorful dessert also alive with the spirit of Springtime.

Raspberry Fantasy

(Makes 4 Servings)

Dissolve 1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water. Turn into parfait or deep sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Pour cream or custard sauce on top. (To prepare custard sauce, use 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix plus 3 cups milk.) Insert flat side of knife deeply between glass and gelatin and cut slightly, allowing cream or sauce to trickle down sides and form a design.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"An odd play developed here recently," writes a Wisconsin correspondent. "The first card turned up was a nine. The first player held the following hand:

J 10-10 9-9 7-7 5-5-5 2
"He put down the pair of nines, intending to add the deuce and the turned up nine for his initial meld. Before he could do so, one of the players reminded him that he needed a meld of 90 points.

"Naturally, he stopped and counted over again. No matter how he counted there was no way of melding 90 points. The best he could do was 85 points.

"Our hero explained he had been expecting to meld 50 points and that he couldn't quite manage 90 points. Before paying the appropriate penalty, he decided to complete his play. Up to this time he had merely put two nines down on the table, but he had not yet drawn a card or otherwise continued with his play.

"Hence he drew the top card of the stock pile. That card happened to be a deuce, so he put it down with the pair of nines (which were still on the table) and also put down 10-10-2 and 5-5-5. The total of the meld was 95 points. He then discarded, and the hand continued.

"We have several questions on this situation. First, was it proper for another player to remind him that he needed 90 points instead of only 50? Would it be proper for his own partner to say so, or is it only if an opponent speaks up?

"Second, when the error is discovered, is the offender allowed to draw from the stock pile or does he forfeit his turn to draw a card? Dig we follow the correct procedure.

"Third, did an insufficient meld take place? If so, was the offender required to meld 100 points instead of only 90 (or the actual 95)?"

Navy Men Teach French To Fly
SAIGON —(AP)—Four United States Navy pilots and mechanics are teaching the French how to fly the 12 seaplanes given them to help speed up the war against the Communist-led Vietnamese forces.

The Navy men plan to spend three months here teaching nine French pilots and 100 mechanics. The Vietnamese themselves do not yet have an air force, but pilot aspirants are keeping a keen eye on how the French are taught.

A BOY AT CALVARY

By Jay Heavilin and Walt Scott

Caught up in the stream of pilgrims, the four curious boys were swept through Jerusalem's gates. The current deposited them in a marketplace where vendors of shimmering silks, fragrant spices, sparkling wines and oils, squatted cross-legged.

But where was Barabbas being held? Subron asked a wrinkled wineseller. In the palace prison, whispered the vendor. Down Jerusalem's twisting streets sped the boys.

A full-throated clamor swelled out of a side street. Subron surrendered to his curiosity, shouting, 'Come, let's look.' A procession of soldiers led a white-robed prisoner. 'Jesus of Nazareth!' cried a voice above the din of the rabble.

Check Toxemia In Pregnancy By Frequent Visits To Doctor

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

One of the most important unsolved problems connected with pregnancy is the question of toxemia with which Mrs. M. A. B. and others have had experience, and which they have asked me to discuss.

Although progress in obstetrics has been extensive, the toxemias of pregnancy have remained largely unconquered, and about six out of 10 women who are pregnant will have some trouble of this nature.

Toxemias of pregnancy are responsible for about 1,000 maternal deaths annually in the United States, and approximately 30,000 infants who are still-born.

There are several kinds of pregnancy toxemias, but they are usually divided into the acute, including a preeclampsia and eclampsia, and the chronic, or high blood pressure type.

They are characterized by one or more of the following signs: high blood pressure, fluid or edema of the tissues, excretion of albumen or protein in the urine, and in severe cases, convulsions, or unconsciousness.

As stated previously, the toxemias of pregnancy may carry grave risks for both mother and child. The fact that toxemias do exist is one of the principal reasons why a woman who is pregnant should visit her physician at fairly frequent intervals, especially during the latter portion of the pregnancy.

Those who do this—and all should—are familiar with the fact that the visit to the doctor almost invariably includes having the blood pressure taken, taking the weight of the mother, and sending a sample of urine to the laboratory. A rising blood pressure, a sudden excessive gain in weight, or the presence of albumen in the urine, are warning signs.

Early Detection Needed
Many lives have been saved by catching signs of toxemia of pregnancy early and sometimes by bringing about an earlier than expected delivery. The appearance of signs of toxemia in one pregnancy may carry an additional risk in the subsequent pregnancies, but on this question, each case must be judged on the basis of all the individual circumstances.

The chief point which cannot be too much emphasized is that complete obstetrical care involves more than just the delivery of the infant alone.

The Rev. Jolly of Odessa spoke in the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Crane Sunday night.

Cpl. and Mrs. J. H. Zaratofetis of Fort Smith, Ark., are visiting their parents in Crane. Zaratofetis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Zaratofetis of the Gulf Camp. Mrs. Zaratofetis, the former Geneva Baker, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Baker, also of the Gulf Camp. Following their visit they will go to California where Zaratofetis will be stationed temporarily.

Tuna with Curry Sauce served with fluffy rice is a taste treat welcomed by every discriminating guest.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Tuna is about the most popular of family fish treats. The supply is large now and that means prices are lower.

Tuna With Curry Sauce
(Serves 2)
One can tuna (7-ounce); 2 tablespoons butter; 1 clove garlic; 1 medium onion, cut in rings; 1/2 bay leaf; 1 tablespoon curry powder; 1 tablespoon flour; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3/4 cup water.

Drain tuna. Melt into chunks. Melt butter in a saucepan. Add garlic, onion rings and bay leaf and cook until onion is tender, about 10 minutes. Remove garlic. Stir in curry powder, flour and salt. Add water, stirring until well blended. Cook 10 to 15 minutes. Strain and pour over tuna. Serve with rice and chutney.

Here's an inexpensive tuna newburg using shredded tuna (costs less) and non-fat dry milk (inexpensive). It comes from California, land of good eating.

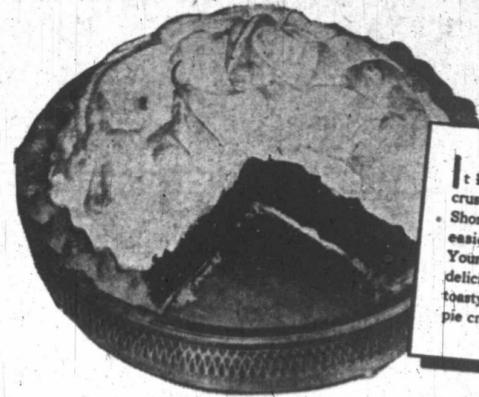

California Tuna Newburg
(Serves 5 or 6)
Four tablespoons butter or fortified margarine; 3 tablespoons flour; 5 tablespoons non-fat dry milk; 1 1/2 cups water; 1/3 cup sherry wine or juice of 1/2 lemon in about 1/3 cup water; 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten; dash of nutmeg, salt and pepper to taste; 2 (7-ounce) cans tuna, drained and flaked.

Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Mix flour and non-fat dry milk; add to butter, stirring until smooth. Add water gradually, blending well. Return to heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens.

Add wine or water and lemon juice. Stir a little of this sauce into the egg yolk; stir this mixture back into the remaining sauce. Add seasonings and tuna. Stir gently over a very low heat for a minute or two. Serve immediately in patty shells or toast cases, or on toast.

FLYING RED HORSE GOES TO ROOST—The 1,400-pound Flying Red Horse is hoisted atop the five-story Magnolia Petroleum Building, 315 West Wall Street, by a long crane. The revolving, illuminated symbol of Magnolia can be seen for miles on a clear night. McMath and Axlerod, sign-makers of Dallas, were unable to place the Red Horse on its arrival in Midland. So Erwin Steel Company of Lubbock, steel erectors, moved in the giant crane to do the job.

High Cost Of Living Bother You? Just Sneeze At It Chum, Snuff's Still Cheap

NEW YORK (NEA)—High cost of living? Nonsense! That's just nasty propaganda spread by old-fashioned persons who like food, clothing and homes. For that type of person perhaps prices are higher. But for the rest of us—the people who sniff snuff and chew gum and spend their time in penny arcades—these are good times. There are a lot of essentials which cost no more, or not much more, than they ever did. The slot in the iron claw machine at the penny arcade still accepts pennies only. Official price statistics reveal a sad story of soaring prices, but they don't include the things that really matter. Chewing gum hasn't gone up, neither has chewing tobacco. You can still keep your jaws going inexpensively. Shoe laces cost about the same as they did in pre-inflation days, too.

That's a mighty important factor in our economy. What would this country be without shoe laces? A nation of shufflers!

Tune Feet Nickel

You still can play the juke box for a nickel. You still can get a package of zinnia seeds for a dime. Aspirin is still cheap—and a good thing!

Actually, there are many things that have resisted inflation. Some have gone down in price; others have gone up so little that, balanced against our increased income, they've remained virtually the same.

Looking down the Bureau of Labor statistics' Indexes of Retail Prices, there are, for example, 18 items of clothing that have shown little upward trend since September, 1947.

Five of these—girls' slips, diapers, nylon hose, women's nightgowns and men's leather jackets—actually show lower prices than they had four and a half years ago.

Others About Same

The others, which have risen, but not much, are: women's suits and rayon blouses; boys' long sleeve shirts, long sleeve polo shirts, mac-linens, knit shorts and jeans; girls' dresses, coats, pants and anklets; and the inclusive categories of boys' and girls' apparel.

In housefurnishings, there are only three items on the bright side. Cotton curtains and dinette sets have jumped very little since the base month of September, 1947. Television sets have declined noticeably since they came on the market. And what more do you need in a home but a TV set, a dinette set and some nice cotton curtains?

Tincture of iodine and milk of magnesia have gone up only a shade. The bureau has a category called "Selected Services and Miscellaneous Goods" which show some steady prices. Razor blades, for one, cost not much more than in 1939, so it doesn't add to the inflationary spiral to slit your throat.

The cost of a chassis lubrication or repairs on the front end suspension of your car are two other items that haven't zoomed. Neither have auto operators' licenses and fees. And, since they came on the market (Continued On Page 12)

WT Counties To Get 80 New Projects

Locations for five wildcat projects were included among a total of 80 new petroleum developments reported to the Midland district office of the Oil & Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas during the last week. The 80 new tests were scattered among 31 West Texas Counties.

The wildcat locations were distributed one each to Andrews, Crane, King, Pecos and Yoakum Counties.

Midland County received 18 new field locations. Ector County reported nine new explorations and Seury County gained eight.

Drill sites were established for seven new projects in Andrews County. Crane reported six new projects. Five new explorations were listed in Pecos County and four new field locations were filed in Gaines County. Yoakum reported three new tests.

Garza, Kent and Winkler Counties each received two new explorations. The remaining new sites were divided one each among Cochran, Dawson, Glasscock, Hockley, Howard, Loving, Mitchell, Terry and Ward Counties.

Smallest Allies Talk Bravest About Scrapping Communists

By RICHARD HOLLANDER

ANKARA—(NEA)—The smallest and most vulnerable allies talk the bravest about the threats of Russian military aggression.

We've put 346 million dollars into Yugoslavia, 12 billion into Greece and 175 million into Turkey, all outright grants, and to hear them talk it has built confidence—if nothing else.

They've bought will to resist. They've bought optimism. That is all.

Our post-war military understanding with Yugoslavia goes little beyond mutual defense. Tito remains a Communist dictator. The entire relationship is cold-eyed and realistic.

The fact that Yugoslavia is on our side now hasn't changed the grim mood of the country.

But this has little to do with the No. 1 problem, defense. There's no questioning that Yugoslavia would fight hard against invasion. The Yugoslav military, sharpened by its guerrilla successes during World War II, boasts it could repel any armed effort by Russian satellites, so long as there wasn't too much real Russian assistance.

"What would happen if Hungary, for instance, invaded?" a young general staff officer was asked. His reply:

"It might take us three weeks to get to Budapest."

No neutral observer shares this optimism.

The American Military Assistance Aid Group has been in Yugoslavia only weeks so it is still too early to determine the exact scope and nature of the advice and equipment the Yugoslav forces will need. One basic problem this group faces is the natural, inbred hesitancy of Yugoslavs—like all people under dictatorship—to speak openly. It will be a long time before there is a free exchange of information on mutual defense problems.

It is estimated that 25 per cent of the total national income is being spent for defense. If so, this is a larger proportion of its resources than any other continental country outside the Iron Curtain in the United States. It is responsible in part for the overriding stench of personal poverty in the land.

Yugoslavia has large mineral deposits and fertile agricultural areas which, once exploited, could mean a bright future. Now, however, every possible effort is being directed to prevent the overrunning of the country, as in World War II. More than a tenth of the population died as a result of that war.

It isn't likely that after centuries of internal strife there won't be more of the same. But, hopefully, not now, with the Russian threat foremost in the minds of Serb and Croat alike.

Greeks like to say that they are like Americans, only more so. They mean that they're volatile, individualistic, warm-hearted and the despair of all other people who consider themselves realistic.

Most of the people of Greece have lived in poverty for so long that it has become normal. Only 20 per cent of the total country is arable and most Greeks are farmers. This would be an impossible situation for any but Greeks.

Modern Greeks are far removed from the ancients of the Golden Age, but all around them are the beautiful, weathered stones of past glories, and somehow, for today's people, the transition from the time when the Parthenon was new is no more than the blink of an eye.

The Greeks have had a shooting war more recently than most Europeans. After World War II they drove the Communist-inspired guerrillas out of the country and they feel pretty good about it.

But they could not possibly defeat a major enemy.

The Greek Army today has an overall strength of about 170,000, which is about 21.6 soldiers per thousand of population. These troops need all kinds of equipment and training. British and American training teams which are going through the ranks do just this, but no one has any hope the Greeks could do more than slow down an invasion from the north.

A tactical air force, composed largely of obsolete Hell Divers and British Spitfires, is also being developed.

The Greek Navy has the mission of patrolling the islands of the ancient Greek seas, hunting submarines and laying mines. For this she uses former U. S. and British destroyers, corvettes, gunboats and mine-layers, plus one cruiser.

Politically Greece is more stable than for a long time. The government of white-mustached old Gen. Papagos, the prime minister, manages to keep a small working majority. But, always a thorn in his side, is the opposition leader, Marshal Papagos, who ran the bandits out of the north. Papagos, sulking like a latter-day Achilles, never ceases his needling, for instance: "That efficiency in government—one cruiser and six admirals..."

From the plateau of Anatolia in Asia Minor, Turkey looks westward, increasingly since Atatürk, the founder of modern Turkey, eliminated the Sultan and made laws against easternism.

Grants of $200,000,000 have helped keep her eyes turned westward since World War II.

Turkey was on the wrong side in World War I, and neutral in World War II. But there are few among our allies who feel more strongly about the Russian threat now.

The Turks are good soldiers and welcome instruction. The Turkish Army numbers 300,000 men, with a potential of a million. She is working on a program involving 16 infantry divisions, three cavalry divisions, six armored brigades and six mobilization brigades which are designed to be expanded to an equal number of divisions. Her air force is divided into three air divisions, utilizing all types of aircraft. She'll be switching to jet fighters soon, with an American school to do the training.

The Turks, whom most Americans customarily imagine as swinging scimitars, are apt pupils in mechanics. Already, under American guidance, a huge military "vehicle rebuild" shop is in operation. One sees young Turks, whose parents were of the ancient tradition, whistling happily as they take apart carburetors and engine cylinders.

American Army training teams also are an integral part of the new Turkish Armored Force School where especially selected Turkish officers are trained from the ground up in armored tactics, from gunnery to radio communications.

A new Navy supply base is to be built on the south coast. With this secure, high strategy in the event of attack by the two dozen Russian divisions known to be in the South Caucasus, would be for the Turks to retreat southward, ripping up the new roads as they go, until they reach the rocky heights of the Taurus Mountains. There, according to military experts, an army could hold out forever, defending the single pass that is but 300 yards wide.

PRAYER FOR NEW BIBLE—Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., offers a prayer that a new version of the Protestant Bible will fulfill its mission, as it goes to press in New York. Publication of the complete Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible, the fifth authorized Protestant version since Coverdale's Great Bible of 1539, culminates 15 years of research by thirty-two scholars.

Foodstuffs Holdouts

Even foods, which as a group have soared to record heights, have some holdouts. There are 11 food items with little or no change. Rice has gone down since 1947, and frozen strawberries, orange juice concentrate and peas have declined since 1950.

Up but a trifle against 1950 prices are layer cake, frankfurters, ice cream, baby foods, cola drinks and grape jelly. The same holds true of canned peas when measured against the 1935-39 base years.

A cautious housewife can make up a delightful, non-inflationary menu from those items: a dinner of frankfurters, canned peas, layer cake with ice cream and a side dish of grape jelly.

Of late, fresh oranges from Florida have flooded the market after a good crop year, dropping the price of that product. Salt is another stable item, together with such odds and ends as candy bars, wrist watches and borscht. Utilities, like electricity and gas, have dropped in price.

One last point. Dog licenses in most communities have gone up, but marriage licenses are generally still the same price. Draw your own conclusion.
