Sixth Polio Case Is Reported Here

EGYPT'S STRONG MAN—Sitting confidently behind a heavily-armed guard, Egypt's self-appointed strong man, Gen. Mohammed Naguib, tours the streets of Cairo after seizing the country. King Farouk abdicated his throne in favor of his infant son as a result of the military coup.

Farouk Tells Agent To Get Ready For Trip To America

NAPLES, P.—Exiled King Farouk of Egypt told his travel agent he probably would go to the United States soon.

The travel agent said the playboy ex-monarch's immediate plans called for him spending the next three days on the Isle of Capri.

Farouk arrived here shortly after noon Tuesday aboard Egypt's royal yacht Mahrousa. He was accompanied by Queen Narriman and their baby son, King Faud, II.

Port officials made preparations to receive the ousted monarch's four-million-dollar yacht Mahrousa at the city's central dock, close alongside the berth of U. S. Adm. Robert B. Carney's flagship, Adirondack.

Martin Dies Moves Slowly Toward 'No-Runoff' Margin

By The Associated Press

A smattering of votes still uncounted from Saturday's record-breaking Democratic primary may decide if Martin Dies returns to Congress without a runoff.

Several other races could be affected by the estimated 40,000 to 50,000 votes still out in sparsely settled and rural areas. Some races may not be decided finally until the official canvass of the primary August 11.

The latest count by the Texas Election Bureau showed former Congressman Dies with 548,176 votes—49.72 per cent of the votes cast for the seven candidates for congressman-at-large. He needs more than 50 per cent to keep from facing former Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith in the August 23 runoff. Smith's last count was 190,970.

Bob Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, said Tuesday there was a chance of Dies getting the tiny, no-runoff margin.

A total of 1,227,297 votes had been counted by the bureau. That figure topped the previous primary record of 1,265,271 in 1948.

The last count included reports some of them still incomplete, from 252 of the 254 counties.

Narrow Victory

In the close 17th Congressional District race, Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson apparently won reelection, but only by 893 votes. Complete returns from the 12-county district

Demo Vote Canvass Starts In County

An official canvass of the votes cast in Saturday's Democratic primary was started Tuesday morning by the Midland County Democratic Executive Committee.

Chairman Frank Beeson said the canvass will not be completed until Tuesday afternoon.

Molly Mosher, Nine, Hears From General Ike, Himself

Molly Mosher likes Ike. And Tuesday she had proof that Ike likes Molly.

The nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mosher of 117 East Cowden Street really was rooting for the former general of the Army during the Republican convention. She wanted Eisenhower to win so much that she sat down and wrote a letter to him in care of GOP Headquarters at Chicago.

She told him that she wanted him to win (and she still does). Well, Ike did win the nomination, and he remembered Molly's encouragement. From his headquarters in Denver, Colo., he wrote:

"Dear Molly,

"Your nice note was most interesting, and I thank you for taking the time to write.

"It is my great hope that we can make the world better and more peaceful for the youngsters of the world like you.

"Sincerely,

"DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER."

Sewage Crisis Brings Swarms Of Filthy Flies

Germ-bearing flies buzzed throughout Midland in increasingly-heavy numbers Tuesday as the City-County Health Unit reported the city's sixth polio case of the month and a sharp increase in the number of diarrheal cases.

The swarms of flies in the Cole Park area east of the city became so thick the annual week-long Day Camp of the Girl Scouts was called off midway of its second day.

And within five blocks of the business district, raw sewage was standing in pools over a six-block-long area as the city's overburdened sewer lines backed up through manhole covers in at least four different places.

City officials could offer little relief—other than precautionary use of chemicals on possible fly-breeding areas—until the new sewage disposal plant and a south side interceptor sewer line is completed, possibly within the next few days.

"The sewage plant is scheduled to be tested for the first time today," said City Manager W. H. Oswald, "and when the interceptor line is placed in operation, the critical situation will be alleviated, as far as the sewer system is concerned."

Oswald said two daylight crews are working 12-hour shifts to rush the completion of the south side interceptor line, which is expected to be placed in use within 10 or 12 days.

Polio Hits Child

Meanwhile, Dr. C. A. Pigford, director of the City-County Health Unit, said the illness of two-year-old Sharon K. Eads, stricken last Saturday at her trailer home at 1619 South Big Spring Street, had been diagnosed as polio.

She is in an Abilene hospital with partial paralysis of both legs.

Dr. Pigford also reported that 147 diarrheal cases had been reported in Midland County in the last week, compared to a normal seven to 10 cases weekly.

"These cases," he said, "are believed to be caused by a virus infection, which can be transmitted by flies and other insects."

He added, however, that the number of such cases had not reached epidemic proportions.

Although last week, Pigford reported the fly population in the city was normal, he said Monday afternoon "there definitely has been a great increase in the number of flies."

"There has been no actual count made," he added, "since our men have been too busy, trekking down breeding places and killing flies."

Open Toilets Blamed

Many of the flies, he said, can be blamed on 400 or 500 open toilets which still exist in Midland. Since the first of the year, 300 or 400 of such toilets have been eliminated and efforts still are being made to have them make sanitary sewer connections.

"However," he added, "in about one-half the cases there are no sewer or water lines available. And

Iranian Parliament Echoes With Anti-American Taunts

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—Bitter attacks on the United States highlighted a debate Tuesday in which the Iranian Parliament overwhelmingly approved Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's program for economic and social reforms to head off national bankruptcy.

The seriousness of the anti-American demonstration was underscored when Deputy Shams Ghanat-Abadi demanded the ouster of all Americans from the country. Ghanat-Abadi is the right-hand man of Ayatollah Seyyed Khashani, Iran's leading religious figure and a close supporter of Mossadegh.

Anti-U. S. feeling has been rife here since the July 21 riots which ousted ex-Premier Ahmed Qavam, but this was the first such outburst in Parliament.

The demonstration began when a deputy interrupting his speech on the new government program, shouted:

"We don't need the American military missions. They only bring us headaches. I demand that they be kicked out starting tomorrow."

"They must go," shouted another deputy. "They must go."

Then Ghanat-Abadi leaped to his feet, screaming: "Not only them but every American in every office must go."

Contracts for the American Military Missions expire in October, and it is an open secret that American officials are worried that they will not be extended if the current wave of anti-American feeling retains its strength.

This feeling is based on the belief—denied by U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson—that Americans supported Qavam against Mossadegh. The belief arose principally from a visit paid Qavam by Henderson on July 19, two days after the former had become premier.

Henderson later explained to

New Earth Shocks Rattle Southern California Area

BAKERSFIELD, CALIF. (AP)—Two sharp earthquake jolts hit Bakersfield early Tuesday, starting two fires and sending frightened residents into the streets as windows broke and bricks fell from previously damaged buildings.

The new tremors at 12:05 a.m. and 1:02 a.m., were felt throughout Southern California, including the Los Angeles area, but were strongest in Bakersfield.

A number of patients were evacuated from the county hospital here. One six-room house was damaged badly when a gas line to a water heater was broken by the tremor, the County Fire Department reported. A portion of the roof of a machine shop collapsed.

Sheriff's Sgt. Carl L. Weber said he believed the shock was as intense but didn't last as long as the July 21st earthquake that left a toll of 13 dead, 12 of them in Kern County.

Shortly after the first tremor residents reported they heard a loud explosion. However, sheriff's officers said they believed the noise probably was from the earthquake rather than an explosion.

In downtown Bakersfield, some windows were broken and bricks from previously damaged walls fell.

Tuesday's quakes were not as widespread as the original tremor. Although felt in the Los Angeles area, there were no reports of tremors in the San Francisco area to the north or San Diego at the southern end of the state. The July 21 tremor was felt from San Francisco to the Mexican border.

Other Kern County townswere shaken by the quakes Tuesday. However, at Tehachapi, which bore the brunt of the original one, sheriff's Deputy Charles Scott said there was no evidence of additional damage.

Another Assault Attempt Reported To Midland Police

Midland police, still investigating the rape of a nine-year-old girl Sunday afternoon, reported early Tuesday the attempted assault of a 25-year-old woman by a man posing as a policeman.

The woman, her clothing almost torn from her body, came into police headquarters shortly after 2 a.m. Tuesday.

She said while at a night club here she had met a man, carrying a .45 caliber automatic pistol, who identified himself as a policeman.

After they danced several times, she said he offered to take her home. Instead he drove several miles into the country and began tearing off her clothes. She escaped and reported the matter to the police.

Meanwhile the nine-year-old girl, seriously injured Sunday when a man beat her and then carried her into a nearby trailer and raped her, was reported slightly improved.

For three hours after the attack, the girl told her parents she was injured while swinging but finally told her story, explaining she was afraid the man might return and beat her again.

Police said no arrests had been made.

O'Dwyer Furiously Denies He'll Become Citizen Of Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Ambassador William O'Dwyer Tuesday furiously denied reports he was considering becoming a Mexican citizen.

The ambassador's violent reaction was provoked by a news story which speculated on the possibility of O'Dwyer retiring from public life after the November elections in the U. S. and becoming a citizen of Mexico.

O'Dwyer learned by telephone Tuesday morning of publication of the story and immediately summoned U. S. correspondents to the Embassy residence.

One of the correspondents present was Robert Prescott, United Press bureau chief, author of the story.

O'Dwyer greeted the newsmen in a towering rage and addressed himself to Prescott in language more sulphurous than ambassadorial.

Two Die As Freight Train Crashes Car

DALLAS (AP)—Two persons were killed Tuesday when a freight train struck a parked or stalled automobile at Hutchins, Dallas County.

The victims were identified tentatively as Rosita Zavala, 22, Rice, Texas, and Adan Martinez, 23, Dallas.

C. D. Lewis, engineer of the freight, told officers the car either had been parked or was stalled on the track. Investigators said they saw no evidence that the victims attempted to flee the approaching train.

RUTHERFORD HEADS WEST

J. T. Rutherford, 36 pounds lighter after a furious campaign which won him the state senatorial nomination, is off for a vacation.

Visiting in Midland Tuesday, he said he is leaving for California to visit a brother, Captain S. A. Rutherford, who has just returned from Korea, and attend the national convention in Los Angeles of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Odessa sojourn is expected to return in 10 days or two weeks.

More 'Saucer' Alarms Bring Experts To Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radar showed the air over the nation's capital was full of flying objects early Tuesday, but an airliner directed to one of the radar sightings could not find a thing.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration radar at Washington National Airport, which reported scores of sightings from 1:30 to 5 a.m., refrained from transmitting its findings to the Air Force at nearby Andrews Field because "no visual sightings were made."

The Air Force said its Andrews Field radar showed nothing, and its 24-hour jet-interceptor patrol remained on the ground because it was not notified of the National Airport sightings.

Meanwhile, the Air Force announced it had brought some of its "flying saucer" experts from Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio, for a news conference at 3 p.m.

It indicated they had nothing new to report but would answer questions.

At the same time, the Air Research and Development Command is continuing its upper air research studies with a new type camera used in determining the source of light

THEY'RE REAL, SAYS SCIENTIST

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A meteor expert said Monday night "flying saucers" definitely are not mirages and should not be confused with distant planets.

Dr. Lincoln La Paz, director of the Institute of Meteoritics at the University of New Mexico, observed that the yellow discs seen over Washington, D. C., closely resembled like phenomena in the Southwest.

"These discs are not mirages," he said, "as was suggested a few weeks ago in a national (Look) magazine. Radar proves that."

"Furthermore, any suggestion that these come from the depths of space is fantastic. Their origin is earth. The question is where on earth."

A CAA spokesman said the latest sightings showed as many as 12 unidentified objects on the radar screen at one time.

They appeared to be traveling from 90 to 120 miles an hour in a 15-mile-long area between Andrews Field and Herndon, Va.

They were moving from the northwest to the southeast, roughly at an angle of 60 degrees from the prevailing wind.

About 3 a.m., an Eastern Airlines southbound flight was directed into the area but its crew saw nothing in the sky.

The altitude of the sightings was not determined because the radar screen at National does not give an altitude indication.

The radar sightings made Tuesday were the third within two weeks. The previous sightings, including some visual observations, were on the two previous Saturday nights.

The Air Defense Command has had its jet planes on 24-hour alert for several years. The command service's duty is to intercept unidentified aircraft and—in the event of the outbreak of war—to shoot down enemy invaders.

Hamon Completes Pumping Discovery At Terry Project

Jack L. Hamon of Dallas and associates (formerly Corcoran Drilling Company) No. 1 Atlas Life Insurance Company, Inc., Central-West Terry County has been completed as a discovery from the Clear Fork-Permian lime.

The project reported a 24-hour potential of 307 barrels of oil, pumped. That petroleum yield was from perforated section at 8,304-36 feet in the 5 1/2-inch casing which is cemented at 12,745 feet.

Acid Was Used

The pay zone had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and treated with 5,000 and 10,000 gallons of regular acid.

No water was reported with the oil which was produced on the completion test.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 93, block D-11, C&M survey. It is 12 miles west of Brownfield.

Bottomed In Granite

The project drilled to a bottom of 13,245 feet in granite.

It plugged back to 12,745 feet and set the casing and tested through perforations from that point up to the zone from which it was completed. None of the tests below 8,336 feet developed any shows of commercial production.

Some of the lower zone had some shows of oil, but none of them were able to produce on a sustained basis.

American Trading Potentials Test In C-E Scurry Pool

American Trading & Production Corporation, No. 1-A Howell has been completed as a producer in the Hermleigh (Ellenburger) field of Central-East Scurry County.

On potential test, it pumped, and flowed 241 barrels of oil in 24 hours from perforated section at 7,397-7,409 feet. That section had been treated with acid.

Total depth is 7,351 feet. Pipe was set near the bottom and cement was drilled to 7,460 feet.

This project showed for a possible discovery in at least two sections in the Pennsylvania. Those zones are now cased off.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 62, block 2, H&TC survey and 10 miles east of Snyder.

Tex-Harvey Reports Flowing Gauge From Wildcat In Sterling

Tex-Harvey Employees Incorporated, No. 1 Chappell, and others, indicated multiple discovery in Northeast Sterling County, flowed seven hours after being shuttin four hours, and made a calculated daily flow of 130 barrels of oil. This is the best gauge taken on the indicated discovery.

The above flow was at the rate of 844 barrels of oil hourly, and was gauged through a 24 1/4-inch tubing choke.

Operator was still flowing the well to test.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 43, block 18, SP survey and 18 miles north and slightly east of Sterling City.

The above production was through perforations, opposite the Mississippian detrital, at 7,874-7,884 feet.

Atlantic Will Dig South Outpost To Reagan Discovery

The Atlantic Refining Company spotted location for a one-half mile south outpost to the No. 1-C-48 University, discovery well of the Barnhart, South (Ellenburger) field of Southeast Reagan County.

New test is No. 1-B-48 University. It is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 22, block 48, University Lands survey. It is 660 feet north of the north line of Crockett County.

It is slated to drill to 10,000 feet.

Gulf Completes Discovery Offset In S-C Andrews

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-MMM Texas has been completed as a one location west extended to the Triple N (Ellenburger) field in Central-South Andrews County.

It was completed for a daily flowing potential of 1,268 barrels of 46.9-gravity oil through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke from perforations

Taylor Takes Over Kirby Concern In Multi-Million Deal

DALLAS—(AP)—The Kirby Petroleum Company of Houston will be absorbed by the Taylor Oil & Gas Company of McAllen under a multi-million dollar deal announced Tuesday.

The purchase was made from the Allegheny Corporation of New York, headed by Robert Young, and the C. W. Murchison family of Dallas.

A representative of Taylor Oil & Gas said his firm had entered an agreement for purchasing approximately 140,000 shares each of Kirby common and preferred stock. Kirby common is quoted at $28 a share.

Taylor operates refineries at Corpus Christi and Port Isabel, and produces gas near McAllen.

Driver Dies In Leap From Runaway Truck

DENVER—(AP)—Charles Chapman, 51, Dallas, truck driver, was killed Monday night when he attempted to jump from his runaway truck about 40 miles west of here.

State patrolmen said Chapman was traveling eastward down an incline on U. S. Highway 40 when his brakes apparently failed. The report said Chapman headed the vehicle into the side of the mountain and jumped.

Chlorine Gas Fells 28 Houston Workers In Industry Mishap

HOUSTON—(AP)—Doctors of two hospitals closely watched the condition Tuesday of 28 persons felled when deadly chlorine gas swept over the Diamond Alkali Company plant Monday.

None was believed critically injured but all were placed under oxygen treatment and kept overnight in two Pasadena hospitals.

Another 300 persons were affected less seriously when the poisonous vapors were carried over the 265-acre plant by a brisk east wind. Near panic resulted among the approximately 800 persons employed by the company and by the Brown & Root Construction firm.

Ambulances took four and five victims at a time to hospitals. Funeral homes and fire departments rushed all available oxygen to the area.

A spokesman for the company said the gas was released when a switch engine bumped a tank car being filled with the chemical. The joint ruptured a rubber and metal hose attached to the filling port of the tank car.

Fraser Widens Lead For Court Position

EL PASO—Tabulation of absentee votes in El Paso County widened the lead of District Judge Alan Fraser of Alpine over Attorney Henry Russell of Pecos, in the race for Associate Justice of the Eighth Court of Civil Appeals.

Judge Fraser tallied 404 votes as compared to 195 for Russell in the county absentee vote count to push his lead to 888 in the appellate court district race.

The injured included three employees and five passengers. Board of Transportation Chairman Sidney R. Bingham termed the accident "a case of man failure."

Yvonne de Carlo Proves She Can Emote As Well As Sizzle

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively yours: It's going to break the hearts of a lot of males who rushed to see her in those flimsy draperies and clanking bracelets, but Yvonne de Carlo has decided to give up the exotic roles.

Yvonne played her last oriental charmer in "The Desert Hawk" she's saying, and to prove it she's admitting she turned down the chance to costar with Alan Ladd in "The Desert Legion."

"It was the part of a silly princess who falls through doors or something," gorgeous Yvonne told me. "I can't afford to do parts like that anymore. I want to prove that I'm a good actress. Most of my films in the past haven't called for great acting. Certain producers who have seen me play Scherezade over and over again are afraid to take a chance on me in a real acting part. I have to overcome the ideas about me."

Yvonne switched from the sultry to the spiritual type in MGM's "Sombbrero," and now she's out to prove that she has more than a dash of Olivia de Havilland in her emoting tricks.

The wages are saying that the wife of an MGM executive is giving him a shooting gallery for his birthday—with hundreds of little Lillian Ross (the New Yorker scribe) figures replacing the ducks.

This And That in Films

Ann Sheridan is about to announce that she will star in a television series after she completes "Vermillion O'Toole" at U. S. ... Agnes Moorehead's tresses are now the exact flaming shade of her steady escort, Robert Clat! ... Jack Pepper, Ginger Rogers' first hubby, has a bit role at Warner in "Stop, You're Killing Me" ... Sheldon Leonard will costar with Judy Canova in "The Hot Heiress" ... Judy's first picture to be made in London.

It's comic Erwin Core's line: "Men make bee-lips for girls with V-lines."

Hedy Lamarr and her almost-ex Ted Stuyffer, are bickering over their property settlement agreement. There's a hitch in the terms that's stopping Hedy from collecting a percentage of Stuyffer's night club grosses in Mexico.

Bob Stack and Claudette Thornton, who admit that they have marriage plans, had a verbal battle at a Hollywood party that gave on-lookers something to talk about.

Sally Forrest and MGM part company in October. The pretty star will join the Blackburn twins in their night club and theater act for a year.

Reason for Marjorie Lanza's walk-out on recording sessions for "The Student Prince" is a hot quarrel with his long time manager, Sam Wetler, who once staked him to vocal lessons.

Shelley Winters' pals are predicting that she will spike the rumor of discord with Vittorio Gassman by springing a stork announcement.

As Good As Gold

John Boles, back in the movie swim in "Babes in Bagdad," keeps getting richer. Just struck two new tungen veins near Bishop, Calif., in his mining enterprise.

Double feature marquee eye-popper: "Breakdown"—"All Because of Sally."

Deborah Kerr and hubby Tony Bartley will apply for American citizenship ... "Port of Entry" is the title of the television series that will be filmed by the Helen Ainsworth Corporation. She's the successful Hollywood talent agent.

Gloria Swanson and her lawyer, James Kendall (he sued her for unpaid legal fees a few weeks back), won't take their battle before the judge. They're working on an out-of-court settlement.

Claire Trevor, business whiz. That's her big office building that's rising at the corner of Sunset Boulevard and Doheney Drive in Hollywood.

Turn out now that it's Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who bought the American distribution rights to the German-made "The Sinner," in which Hildegard Neff shows off ever yinch of her magnificent flesh. U. S. Film censors aren't touching Hilde's nude scenes—only the sizzling love sequences.

Rites Pending For Airplane Crash Victim

Funeral services are pending at Hobbs, N. M., for James Frank Davis, 49, stepfather of Miss Bobbie Rogers of Midland, who was injured Monday in an airplane crash.

The Green Chapel of Hobbs, which is handling arrangements, said services were pending word from some of the survivors.

Davis, who was piloting a crop-dusting plane for the Frank Hines Flying Service of Hobbs, struck a power line while making a landing. The plane burst into flames and fell 75 feet to the ground.

A resident of Jasper, Texas, Davis served as a coastal patrol pilot in World War II.

Survivors include the widow and a son, James Lamar Davis, of Houston; a stepson, Douglas Rogers of Lamesa; the stepdaughter, two sisters, and five brothers, including Bob Davis of Odessa, employed by Tri-State Drilling Company of Midland.

Eight Persons Hurt In Subway Collision

NEW YORK—(AP)—Eight persons were injured Tuesday when two subway trains collided while attempting to couple at the 241st Street terminal at the Interborough Rapid Transit Line.

CAMERA CALL

Today's "column" may be a bit unusual. Instead of trying to combine interesting subjects and a bit of sales propaganda, we're going to talk about how much we like our work.

Last week a man asked us if we'd rather be in some other kind of business. We said, "Gosh, no, cause we like this business..." and then we got to thinking why we answered so fast.

We're lucky to be in this photographic business. True, we work pretty hard, and we think sometimes we have more than our share of a store-keeper's headaches. But we actually enjoy our work because it brings pleasure to people.

Every time we sell a camera of a roll of film we know that somebody's going to enjoy using it. Actually, we're selling pleasure. Isn't that wonderful, when you think it over? We make our three meals a day by making people happy!

No wonder we like our work...

Service Guild Holds Picnic

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church held a picnic Monday night on the lawn of Mrs. Eleanor Luto's home.

Mrs. J. H. Frasier had charge of the program on the topic, "The Earth is So Full." She was introduced by Mrs. Luto.

The Guild voted to join the Woman's Society of Christian Service in giving a joint picnic next summer. Theresa Klapproth presided and gave the opening prayer.

Hostesses in addition to Mrs. Luto were Theresa Klapproth, Anna May Klapproth, Lois Robison and Gustava Esley. Guests were Miss Stewart, Mrs. Dick Looby and Frances Crockett.

CLUB POSTPONES MEETING

The meeting of the Midland Oil Scouts Wives Association, originally scheduled for Thursday, August 1, was postponed until sometime in August, it was announced Tuesday.

Wake Up To More Comfort

Without nagging backache... nagging backache, just one of many headaches and ailments may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or spring diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's gives happy relief from these ailments—helps the millions of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Mary Nell Patterson Circle Leads Royal Service Program

The Mary Nell Patterson Circle was in charge of the Royal Service program at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Bellview Baptist Church Monday.

The topic was "Liberty and Justice for All." Mrs. W. H. Spalding gave the opening prayer and Mrs. R. O. Walker gave the devotional. A quartet composed of Sherry and Bren Mote, Oina Webb and Phyllis Hipps sang "America."

Speakers and their individual topics were Mrs. Cecil Odell, "Liberty and Justice for All"; Mrs. Ada Morgan, "Can These Be Southern Baptists?"; Mrs. Vernon Pickering, "Liberty, Not a Racial Matter"; Mrs. L. O. Justice, "The Meaning of Democracy"; and "Prejudice in Action"; Mrs. Harold Hipps, "Who Is Prejudiced and What Not to Do About It"; Mrs. L. L. Webb, "What to Do and Common Ground for Beginning";

The pledge of allegiance was led by Phyllis Hipps and the Christian pledge by Bren Mote. Mrs. Pickering gave the closing prayer.

Preceding the program a business session was held with Mrs. J. H. Goins presiding.

Others present were Joyce Henry, Mrs. R. O. Walker, Violet West, Mrs. Riley E. Williams, Miss Ward, Mrs. J. N. Castele, Mrs. W. H. Spalding.

TEEN TALK
By VIVIAN BROWN
of Newsfeatures

How're you gonna act down on the farm—or for that matter at that seashore or lakeside resort?

Vacation time brings new problems. We must adjust to new friends and their routine or we'll not have any fun.

Before going to any vacation resort you should read resort literature carefully. From that you can get an idea how to dress: whether evening dresses are worn every night at dinner or just on Saturday nights; what kind of sports clothes to bring; whether the atmosphere is casual or formal.

Pack your traveling bag neatly so that you do not make a bad impression at first glance. Shoulder straps and belts shouldn't be trailing from your bag. And don't carry surplus clothing over your arms. A coat or jacket which you've been wearing on a chilly train, plane or bus can of course be carried.

If parents are not vacationing with you, consult them as to tipping before you go away. Fifteen percent is about usual, and as always the etiquette is a minimum of 25 cents which should be left whenever you are served at a table. At resorts most people prefer to tip at the end of their stay. You usually will get the same table each day and the same waitress to tip her at your convenience.

Chambermaids are tipped by most people, particularly if they've performed extra little tasks such as mending a dress or sewing a hem. But don't demand favors. Most maids are busy and your extra tasks must be done in their spare time.

Try to avoid being the extra girl on a party. If a group asks you along to an evening of dancing or fun away from your hotel, don't thrust yourself upon them on future evenings. Most people have a vacation budget, and although they would like to invite you along, the exchequer doesn't always permit it.

You should know the difference between a chicken and a duck before you set out for the country. If the nearest you've been to a pig is a pork chop, you'd better get help to farm animals. But that's not nearly so important as making up your mind to fall in with the farm routine.

Marty or Grandma might produce a heavenly peach pie or a juicy batch of biscuits, but there is work in peeling and pitting peaches and mixing up a batter. A farm is fun, but there are endless chores, and you'd better be prepared to help.

If you're visiting a farm family, you'll know better than to bring a lot of fancy dresses. Jeans and blouses or shirts with a couple of Sunday dresses will see you through your visit. Don't go to a farm with the idea that you'll show the country girls how to dress. They know. It's just that they haven't time, and they are not interested in impressing anyone, except on special occasions.

As soon as you arrive, find out what time the household gets up in the morning and what time they tell you to sleep late, you should be on hand when breakfast is served. No cook—man or lady of the house—enjoys cooking breakfast all morning.

Ask them to give you a set chore to do unless you want to pitch in each day on a new task. If they give you a choice, pick a task you can do early in the morning such as milking the cow, feeding the chicks or cooking the breakfast. Then you'll have the rest of the day to loaf unless there are eggs to be candied or chickens to be plucked.

If you haven't been invited to a farm vacation this year, try to plan one for next summer. You'll love the early-to-bed, routine, delicious food and the wholesome atmosphere of the outdoors. If you can't arrange a vacation any other way, put an ad in a farm journal or newspaper in the area you'd like to visit, suggesting your services as a farm hand. You won't get much pay, but you'll have a barrel of apples.

An important development in the fertilizer industry is the use of liquid nitrogen fertilizer for direct application on crops.

OOPS! SOMEONE WAS PEAKING-

SOUTH SALEM, N. Y. — Sheriff's deputies, armed with binoculars and walkie-talkies, say they were concerned about over-exposures when they broke up a "class" in woodland photography. It wasn't film exposures that bothered them, the Westchester County officials said here Monday, but the four pretty models who graced the scene like woodland nymphs for 23 male camera "students."

The 23 men and four women, arrested in a raid on a farm near here Sunday, were fined $5 each for disorderly conduct and released.

But four other men were ordered to trial on charges of arranging the event and "procuring women for purposes of indecent exposure."

Pork Products Get Increase In Prices Up To Eight Cents

WASHINGTON — Hams, chops and other lean pork cuts popular during Summer months are going up from one to eight cents a pound.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) announced Monday that ceiling prices on lean cuts—those accounting for about 40 to 45 per cent of pork sales—are being increased through October. Then they may be reduced.

These are the authorized increases, effective immediately: pork shoulders, one cent a pound; hams, bellies, Boston butts and neckbones, three cents; pork chops, loins and spare ribs, eight cents.

Slaughterers and wholesalers may add $1.20 a hundred pounds on sales of pork products to restaurants, hotels and others selling meals.

Ceiling on cuts usually used in making sausage were not boosted. OPS said increases were necessary because the Agriculture Department raises the parity price for hogs above 100 per cent from July through October. And a new economic control law provides that processors must be given higher ceilings to make up for higher prices paid to farmers.

Parity is a price designed to give the farmer a fair return for what he sells in relation to what he has to buy.

South Still Uncertain About Supporting Adlai Stevenson

ATLANTA — Southern Democrats who refused to pledge loyalty to the party at the Chicago convention, claimed Tuesday there still was considerable uncertainty in the South about Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee.

South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana delegations declined to sign the loyalty pledge.

"South Carolina Democrats will decide next month whether they will go along with the party in the November election. The Democratic state convention will be reconvened August 6 at the urging of Gov. James F. Byrnes."

Parents Sentenced To Life After Son Dies Of Beatings

TAMPA, FLA. — Three days of punishment which brought death to four-year-old Wayne Dolham have brought life imprisonment to his parents, John and Alice Cliffe.

Circuit Judge Henry C. Tillman pronounced sentence Monday on the Cliffes. It was the maximum sentence under the conviction of second degree murder returned by a jury last week.

The Cliffes admitted beating, starving and hanging the child but insisted they were punishing him for disobedience and had no idea he would die.

He died during the third night of being hung by the neck so his feet barely touched the floor.

Dying Child Wants Pretty Post Cards

MADISONVILLE, KY. — Odell Hall, 10, who has selected his burial clothes because he knows he is dying, wants some mail.

Odell's only desire is for letters and post cards, especially the "pretty kind," his mother said in an appeal for mail.

Mrs. C. R. Hall said her son has been sick nine years with a heart condition. She and her husband have taken the boy to doctors over the nation. All said there is no hope for Odell. His arteries are hardening, a result of a series of diseases. He has lived longer than was expected.

For a time Odell was blind and speechless, but he has recovered his sight and voice.

COTTON

NEW YORK — Tuesday noon cotton prices were 45 cents to $1.10 a bale higher than the previous close. October 37.77, December 37.57 and March 37.45.

BACK FROM DALLAS
Mrs. W. G. Keeler and daughters, Donna and Linda Kay, returned late Monday from Dallas, where they visited relatives.

Byrnes has declined comment on the national convention's presidential ticket. He said it still is his opinion that it is up to the convention to decide whether South Carolina Democrats should support the nominee. He said he would have voted against the platform if given the chance. South Carolina delegates were not seated until after the platform was adopted.

Byrnes will make his views known in detail at the convention. In Virginia, Gov. John Battle refused to comment until the State Central Committee meets. He said he had very definite opinions on the question but would not make them known at this time.

Virginia Not Pledged
William M. Tuck, Virginia Democratic chairman, took the position the Virginia delegation's refusal to sign the loyalty pledge at Chicago, released the state convention from any commitment to support either platform or ticket. The Virginia convention of July 17 can be reconvened by the state committee, if leaders so desire.

Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana said the Democratic State Central Committee would decide whether the Louisiana party would support the national ticket.

"The decision should be by the party as a whole," said Kennon, who led the fight of the Louisiana delegation against the loyalty pledges. "The people will make their wishes known to the 100 member Central Committee. I feel it is a matter for the committee to decide."

Talk Of Eisenhower
The committee has the power to name the nominee the Louisiana party will back, Kennon would not comment on the possibility the name of Dwight Eisenhower, Republican nominee, might be placed before the committee. The committee chairman, M. B. Carstarphen of Shreveport, will set the date for the Central Committee meeting.

In Mississippi, there was a move among some Democrats to try to get Eisenhower's name before the state convention.

Former Lt. Gov. Sam Lumpkin of Tupelo, announced Eisenhower's name would be placed before the convention when it reconvenes next month. However, State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman T. J. Tubb of West Point, said Tuesday he would recommend support of Stevenson. But with this qualification: that a majority of other Southern states do likewise.

"I will ask the convention to support Stevenson unless the other

Mob Jeers Gromyko As Red Ambassador Arrives In London

LONDON — A crowd of demonstrators shouting "go home" met Russia's new ambassador, Andrei A. Gromyko, when he arrived in London Monday night to take up his post.

Police had to clear a path through the crowd which milled along the platform in Victoria railway station.

One man pressed into the envoy's hand a pamphlet which said "we don't want communism here, Gromyko."

There were many scuffles between police and demonstrators. At least one man was arrested.

Gromyko, who succeeds Georgi N. Zarubin, appeared unruffled. He told reporters it was to Britain's national interest to be on friendly terms with Russia.

Atomic Airplane Tests Scheduled

WASHINGTON — The Atomic Energy Commission Tuesday authorized a $3 million dollar testing station for the development of atomic powered aircraft.

Construction will begin this Summer at the commission's national reactor testing station in Idaho.

The commission announcement said 1,000 workers will be employed during the peak of construction and 200 operating employees will be required.

Chiang Bids Goodbye To American Soldiers

TAIPEH, FORMOSA — Chiang Kai-shek Tuesday bade farewell to 25 American soldiers who came here in May, 1951, with the first U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group to Nationalist China.

The soldiers are leaving soon for the United States on rotation. The 15-minute farewell ceremony was held in Chiang's offices.

Mate's Call From Germany Marks Wedding Anniversary

Monday was a Red Letter Day for Mrs. Richard Patton, Snowden Lease, Midland.

It was her first wedding anniversary and was highlighted by a long distance telephone call from her husband, Richard Patton, with the U. S. Army occupation force in Germany.

The phone call gave the Pattons an opportunity to exchange greetings on the special day, and for Patton to get a firsthand account regarding his baby daughter, Margaret Lucille, whom he never has seen.

Mrs. Patton, the former Margaret Wilson, received the call at 6 p.m. at the home of her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Patton.

The seven-minute conversation cost $21, but the private visited by phone with his wife, parents, grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Patton, and a brother, J. S. Patton.

Members of the family reported that reception was "very good" and "it was like having him in the living room talking with us."

A former Midland High School football player, Patton has been overseas since February. His daughter was born in May.

Insurance Board To Shuck Old Buggy, Gaslight Rules

AUSTIN—(P)—Texas fire insurance schedules are going modern. Time was—and still is—when the state-prescribed general basis schedules suggested that night watchmen carry lighted oil-burning lanterns. Some fire department hook-and-ladder trucks were required to be "horse-drawn."

Flour mills using water power were given special discount rates. Regulations were set forth for gaslights in electric power plants and rates were set for buggy repositories.

Tuesday the Fire Insurance Commission conceded times have changed. Wednesday it will hold a public hearing to present for adoption a complete revision of the 30-year-old schedules. The oil-burning lanterns, horse-drawn hook-and-ladders, gaslight regulations and buggy repositories will be missing, Commissioner Paul H. Brown said.

The effect: It will streamline the insurance business and make it a little easier for agents to figure rates.

Reds On Old Baldy Attack; UN Troops Toss Them Back

SEOUL, KOREA—(P)—Allied troops clinging to the southeast slope of Old Baldy hurled back a Chinese Communist attack Tuesday in torrential rains that drenched the muddy Korean battlefield for the fourth straight day.

A reinforced Communist platoon hit the UN line in an apparent effort to win complete control of the strategic western front hill.

The attack was beaten off in a bloody two-hour battle during which 25 Reds were killed and 30 wounded, the Eighth Army said.

It was the first clash of any size since heavy rains closed in on the 155-mile battlefield Saturday. Already six and one-half inches of rain have fallen on the western front, Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farnett reported.

He said some soggy bunkers caved in and roads generally were in bad shape.

Fighting for Old Baldy began July 17. The Chinese gained the crest of the hill a week ago after it had changed hands several times.

In another action Monday night and Tuesday morning a small Chinese unit probed Allied positions near T-Bone Hill, east of Old Baldy. The Chinese were driven off after four hours and 45 minutes of sporadic fighting, the Army said.

Elsewhere on the front, only scattered patrol clashes were reported.

B-26 light bombers of the Fifth Air Force flew through rain Monday night to attack rail bridges in Northwest Korea.

The "form has kept Allied planes on the ground.

A headquarters spokesman said Allied forces killed or wounded 1,200 Communists from July 15 to 21, almost one-fourth of them in the fighting for Old Baldy. Communist casualties reported by Eighth Army for the preceding week were 2,983.

CAR DELAYED, BUT NOT STORK

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(P)—Patrolman John Burke, Jr., stopped a speeding automobile and discovered he was holding up the stork.

Lavera Bradt of Baldwinsville was driving his wife to Crouse-Ingling Hospital here Sunday night when Burke motioned him to pull over. When Bradt explained the situation, Burke provided a police escort, but a five-pound, seven-ounce girl was born before they reached the hospital.

Chennault Regains Title To 40 Planes Held In Hong Kong

LONDON—(P)—The Far East Airline, headed by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault of Flying Tiger fame, has won $2,800,000 worth of airplanes from the Chinese Communists.

Britain's Privy Council, the empire's highest court, ruled Monday that the 40 planes belonged to Chennault's Civil Air Transport, Inc. The decision reversed a Hong Kong court which had named the Chinese Communist regime the rightful owner.

The council gave no reason for reversing the earlier decision but said it would explain later.

The planes—formerly owned by the Chinese Nationalist government—were impounded in Hong Kong following the Communist victory in the Chinese civil war. The Reds claimed they had "inherited" them when the Chiang Kai-shek government fled to Formosa. Chennault asserted he had bought them from the Nationalists.

In Hong Kong, police ousted Chinese Communists who have been watching the 40 planes since the original court decision in 1950. The Red Chinese guards were sent back to China by truck.

Sleeping Car Rate Increase Postponed For Further Study

WASHINGTON—(P)—For the next two months, anyway, you can sleep on trains for the same old price.

Increases authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and which were to become effective Monday, were ordered postponed until September 22 to permit time for a new study of the situation.

Military authorities protested the new minimum charges, saying it would boost the cost of moving personnel. Plea for reconsideration of the increases was filed by the secretary of the Air Force.

The original ICC authorized increases called for a hike in the cost of a lower-berth accommodation in a standard Pullman car from $4.05 to a flat $5, with proportionate hikes in all other types of sleeping-car accommodations.

Negro Airmen Given Cold Shoulder At Reno

RENO—(P)—Stead Air Force Base plans to bus its 90 negro airmen 140 miles for entertainment because they have been refused service in some clubs and restaurants in this normally wide open little city.

Col. William C. Kingsbury, commander at Stead AFB, said he has arranged free weekend bus service to Sacramento, Calif., for the negroes.

GOLD CARGO SEIZED

SINGAPORE—(P)—Customs officials Tuesday seized gold bars valued at $92,000 aboard the vessel Sangola on its arrival from Hong Kong. It was the biggest haul of illegal gold to be made in Singapore, officials said.

Scramble For Steel To Hurt Many Industries For Months

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(P)—The scramble for steel is on despite government plans to parcel it out among users.

Fears that allocation may force further plant shutdowns in the next few months were widespread. Layoffs won't end with the strike.

Defense plants are to have top priority on steel. Then comes the scramble among the many defense-supporting industries.

The steel industry has a plan, approved by the government to allocate the metal but many users are bound to be pinched more or less seriously.

In the next six weeks all tinplate made is to be of the type canners use, so that the vegetable and fruit crops won't be lost.

Auto makers are seeking steel ingots they can have mills convert into sheets for them. Detroit fears that in an attempt to keep all industries going at least in part production, the government may funnel too much of the first steel production into the steel warehouses—the source of steel for more of the small users. If so, Detroit may have more layoffs from time to time.

Oil Hard Hit

Shipbuilders are without priority for steel for any but naval vessels. They fear that a steel shortage in the weeks ahead will keep them from meeting the scheduled increase in the oil tanker fleet on time for the peak of the winter fuel oil hauling season.

The oil industry says that a shortage of steel pipe and casing means that 5,000 wells planned for this year won't be drilled.

The chemical industry, in the midst of a $6,500,000,000 expansion program, says steel shortages already are crippling it. Some construction will have to be stopped for lack of steel, industry spokesmen say.

The electric power industry says steel shortages and allocations will scuttle its expansion program for this year, and may hinder its reaching its goal for 1953. The industry was trying to add more capacity to meet the growing defense and industrial demands for power.

Railroads Worried

The railroads also worry about delivery of the locomotives and cars they have on order.

Ironically enough, they are faced with a new demand for cars brought on by the steel strike. The steel mills will be calling on the railroads to haul more iron ore this Fall and Winter and the roads fear they can't find the necessary cars.

Rail shipment of ore will be shipped for eight weeks on the Great Lakes because of the strike, and the Winter stockpiles of ore at the steel mills can't be built up before ice closes the lakes.

But these large users of steel are all tied in, directly or indirectly, with the defense program and can hope for some priority aid.

The hapless factory will be the one turning out purely civilian goods. If its steel inventories have been exhausted in the last eight weeks, such a plant will have to scramble hard to find the necessary steel to prevent slowdowns or layoffs.

Steel makers say it may take them to the end of the year just to catch up on the orders on their books for steel allotments previously granted for delivery during July, August and September.

For many steel users, allocations they had hoped to see filled in October and November may just be a deferred hope.

Widow Challenges Handling Of Estate Willed By Oil Man

DALLAS—(P)—Arguments over the administration of the estate of oil man Thomas W. Dowell were scheduled here Tuesday in probate court.

His widow, Mrs. Rebecca Dowell, received a life sentence on a charge of murder filed in the fatal shooting of the wealthy oil man. She is in jail here awaiting outcome of her appeal.

Mrs. Dowell has charged her late husband's brother, Houston J. Dowell, with mismanagement of the estate, and has asked the court to force him to post a bond as executor.

According to the oil man's will, his brother received the bulk of the estate and Mrs. Dowell got $100.

Accord In Aluminum, Steel Industries Assist Economy

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Settlement of a threatened aluminum strike and speed-up of steel production put the nation's economy on firm footing Tuesday for the first time in two months.

A walkout of 15,000 CIO steelworkers at nine plants of the giant Aluminum Company of America was averted Monday night by an

Italians Announce Explosion Designed To Trigger H-Bomb

ROME—(AP)—The Italian Defense Ministry announced Monday night an explosion designed to transform hydrogen into helium—the reaction which could power a hydrogen bomb—had been touched off in this country.

The announcement made it clear, however, that the experiment involved only a "very small amount of hydrogen."

Atomic scientists in New York said the Italian explosion obviously was aimed at achieving the dread H-bomb but the value of the experiment apparently is not known yet, even in Italy.

Defense Minister Randofo Pacciardi said results of the experiment could not be determined until a scientific examination had been made.

First reports of the explosion, appearing in the influential newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia, said an Italian scientist actually had exploded an H-bomb.

Pacciardi denied this, saying such reports were "completely without foundation." The experiment, the minister said, was "regarding the possibility of transforming a very small amount of hydrogen into helium."

Red Chariot Needs Wheels, Not Rosebuds, Officer Says

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The United Nations Command Tuesday accused the Reds of stalling in the staff officer talks on a proposed Korean armistice agreement.

The charge came from the UN Command spokesman, Lt. Col. Joseph J. Borchert, after UN and Communist staff officers met one hour and 44 minutes at Panmunjom on wording of the truce agreement draft.

HIGH PRESSURE METHODS FAIL

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—(AP)—This Southern New York city's 24,000 residents were on short water rations Tuesday as workmen rushed repair of a pipe line break that cut off the flow to 90 per cent of Binghamton's 24,000 homes and slowed business and industry.

The water main broke Monday when pressure was raised 20 pounds in an effort to improve service.

Search Continues For Blast Victims Of Fishing Vessel

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—(AP)—Boats and planes kept up the search Tuesday for bits of wreckage that might support any survivor of the exploded fishing vessel, Spare Time.

Three of the 12 men aboard the boat were rescued Monday and part of a body was recovered. It was tentatively identified as that of Martin R. Volner of Los Angeles. A piece of leather belt, found at another spot, was identified by his wife as belonging to the skipper and owner, Wes Wiggins, 29.

Funeral Rites Set In Stanton Church For Polio Victim

STANTON—Funeral services for Donald Ray Winslow, 16, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist Church of Stanton. The Rev. J. H. Goin of Midland will officiate.

Interment will be in the Big Spring Cemetery under direction of Arrington Funeral Home of Stanton.

Winslow died at 4:44 a.m. Monday in an Abilene hospital of a severe case of polio.

An outstanding football player and active in other sports, Winslow would have been a junior in Stanton High School this fall.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winslow; three brothers, Robert and Ed of Stanton and Yule, serving in the Army, and one sister, Mrs. Chelan Atchison of Midland.

Bracero Smugglers Arrested In Mexico

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Seven men arrested near Brownsville for attempting to smuggle migrant laborers into the U. S. have been turned over to the Matamoros district attorney.

The Defense Ministry said Monday night the men were arrested by military patrols as they were leading a group of Mexicans to the Rio Grande.

Commuters Take Walk Underground

NEW YORK—(AP)—About 700 commuters groped their way to safety through an underground tunnel Tuesday after three cars of a New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad train were derailed near Grand Central Terminal.

No one was injured.

The commuter train, inbound from Port Chester, N. Y., and an empty car sideswiped about 10 blocks from Grand Central. Third rail power in the area was cut off to enable the passengers to walk to the station.

Teenagers Confess Slaying Of Rabbi

NEW YORK—(AP)—Two teen-age boys pleaded innocent to first degree murder charges in the slaying of a young rabbinical student.

Donald Ferrick, 17, allegedly shot and killed Rabbi Samuel Bernard London in a Brooklyn park to prove to his companion, Edward Baldwin, 16, that he had the nerve to kill a man.

Glass May Conquer Air's Heat Barrier

HAWTHORNE, CALIF.—(AP)—Glass airplanes may hurdle the "heat barrier" that now blocks speeds of more than twice that of sound.

An aircraft engineer Tuesday said glass appears able to withstand the searing "skin" friction temperatures generated in ultra high speed flight much better than most metals.

Eva Peron Continues To Lie In State; Services Delayed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—(AP)—The flooding grief of the Argentine people has postponed funeral services for Eva Peron, the nation's first lady, at least until Wednesday.

President Juan D. Peron announced Monday night that the body of his wife would continue to lie in state in an improvised chapel in the Labor Ministry until waiting throngs could pay their last sorrowing respects.

Peron said after the mourning ranks thinned, the body would lie in state for a full day in the National Congress Building. Then it will be moved for interment in the hall of the General Labor Confederation, whose six million members were Mrs. Peron's most devoted supporters.

No official announcement was made of the new funeral date, but the rites apparently will not be held until Wednesday and possibly not until later.

A ceaseless line of mourners flowed past the flower-strewn casket despite thunderstorms which punctuated the night. Some persons waited as long as 18 hours in the sporadic rains for a chance to view the body.

The procession moved quietly, in contrast to the initial crush Sunday night and Monday morning in which four persons were known to have died and four others were reported killed.

Some 2,500 persons were reported injured as throngs of Argentines rushed to pay their last tributes when the hall was first opened to the public.

Ike And Stevenson Selections Unique

WASHINGTON—(P)—The selection of Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson as presidential candidates will go down as one of the most extraordinary events in American political history for more reasons than one.

Both were reluctant candidates. Great support had been built up for both before either man actually said he would accept nomination.

Eisenhower didn't say so until last January although the campaign among his supporters to get him nominated had begun long before that.

Stevenson never publicly said he would accept until Friday before the third and final balloting began.

Stevenson never said one word in behalf of himself through all the months when Sen. Kefauver, Sen. Kerr, Sen. Russell and Averell Harriman were making speeches and looking for votes.

Eisenhower did not campaign at all until the last month before the Republican convention although his chief rival, Sen. Taft, traveled through at least 38 states and probably set an American record for pre-convention speeches and interviews.

Both are newcomers to politics, Eisenhower even more than Stevenson. The general had never been in politics before.

Stevenson had taken no part in politics until 1947 when he agreed, after weeks of hesitation and soul-searching, to be a Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois.

But perhaps more extraordinary than all this is the fact that the country as a whole knew practically nothing at all about the thinking of either man on domestic affairs until shortly before the convention.

Everyone knew Eisenhower's views on international life. He was a firm supporter of the Truman administration's policy of standing united with Europe and helping rearm it.

But, except for some scattered statements he made while he was president of Columbia University—which revealed very little of his knowledge of domestic affairs—the general public knew almost nothing of Eisenhower's thinking on affairs at home.

This didn't seem to bother the people who voted in the state primaries where they picked him, as in New Hampshire, over Sen. Taft who had spent years making his views known.

Opinions Expressed
It wasn't until he came back to this country last June that Eisenhower began to express opinions on domestic problems.

Except for some vague knowledge about Stevenson—that he had been a good governor in Illinois and had some experience in the foreign field while working for the State Department—the general public didn't know much about him.

This was the year the conventions turned their backs on the professional politicians to pick newcomers more on faith than knowledge.

Brown Bear Fails To Heed City Law

PONTANA, CALIF.—(P)—Residents of Pontana were proud when their city was incorporated recently but something happened to dampen their ego.

It seems a 600-pound brown bear hadn't heard about the incorporation order and wandered into town from the mountains nearby. Sheriff's deputies shot it six blocks from the center of the city.

Officer Uses Java To Stop Auto Fire

HURON, S. D.—(P)—Patrolmen Francis Schwarz and Charles Geyer dropped into a Huron cafe recently and ordered coffee. While there they looked out a window and saw flames coming from under the hood of a parked car.

The patrolmen grabbed the coffee pot, ran outside, and poured the coffee on the fire. That quenched the blaze.

23-YEAR-OLD MARINE APPARENTLY HAS NO NERVES

Kandy Bar Kid Shows Great Bravery

By JAMES A. MICHENER

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA—(P)—Every once in a while you meet a man whose extraordinary bravery stuns you. But high on anybody's list would have to be an amazing Marine called the Kandy Bar Kid.

Twenty-three-year old Lyle Lewis of Tacoma, Wash., is phenomenal, even for the Marines. He apparently has no nerves, no fear, and no need of sleep. More than 40 times in the last two months he has penetrated Communist lines to a depth of more than two miles, has scouted their positions for periods of up to 40 consecutive hours, and has wandered back to his own lines to report on what the enemy was up to.

He has been ambushed by the Chinese five times, has engaged them in pointblank night battles eight or nine times, has lived through several artillery barrages of enormous concentration, has been wounded once and went back behind enemy lines three days after the shrapnel was removed from his leg.

Looks The Part
Lewis looks the part. Six-foot, two, slouch-hipped, blue-eyed, he is quite thin and looks like a fast shooting cowboy in a B-movie. He has a shaggy crop of red hair that looks as if mice nested in it and an incredible moustache that wanders all over his face like a lost forest.

He has developed such great skill in penetrating enemy mine fields, cutting barbed wire, probing entrenched positions and lying low among enemy elements that he has revolutionized Marine procedures in his sector.

I saw him the other night as he started a probe which would take him more than two miles into the heart of what his commanding officer termed "unusually heavily fortified positions." Lewis was dressed in dirty fatigues, helmet and bullet-proof vest. His face was smeared with black paint and he carried hand grenades and a sub-machine gun. He was a lethal character, headed for one of the toughest jobs a man could get.

Argentina Reverses Trend To Buy Wheat

NEW YORK—(P)—Argentina, for half a century a leading exporter of wheat, is negotiating in world markets for the purchase of 200,000 tons of wheat.

Grain experts said a poor yield in the last harvest and a decline in wheat acreage are responsible for the shortage. The Argentine wheat crop is harvested in December and January.

Two counties in West Virginia, McDowell and Logan, each produced more than 16 million tons of coal in 1949.

He would penetrate enemy mine fields, climb to the top of a Communist-held hill well inside enemy lines and personally blow up a troublesome machine-gun bunker. He grinned through his camouflage and said, "I feel better about this job since the rain started. You can move quieter." He set out through an Asiatic cloudburst.

'One-Man' Army

His buddies call him the one-man army. Therefore his nickname, the Kandy Bar Kid, comes as a surprise. This deadly fighter has a special trick he uses when it is absolutely vital that he get up-to-date information. He leaves his own lines at dusk, goes deep inside the enemy positions, finds some natural camouflage and hugs the earth as day breaks. There he lies in the blazing sun, all through the daylight hours watching enemy dispositions.

As the second night begins he usually moves forward in an attempt to take a prisoner or wreck mine installation. Thirty-six hours later he struggles back to his own line. On such trips he takes with him one cup of water and three candy bars. A friend says, "Give Lewis three candy bars and a sub-machine gun and he'll invade hell." His commander, Lt. Col. Gerald Russell of Georgiaville, R. I., reports, "The only limit to Lewis' courage is my order that he can't go more than three miles inland. He's incredible."

No Dead-End Killer
Lewis is no dead-end killer. He comes from a good family, is married and has two kids. He speaks softly but enjoys a good bust with the boys. When you get to know him he has a rich Irish humor.

One of the men who goes out with him says, "You've heard of Gung Ho, Marine (for real tough guy). Well, Lewis is both Colonel Gung and Major Ho."

HOT WEATHER TALE—Two London Zoo denizens pull a few monkeyshines during Britain's heat wave. Cool water in a cage pool looked like a nice way to dodge the high temperatures. Trouble is the first monkey did not dodge fast enough and the second and grabbed firmly at the base of the situation. "I just want to be first, that's all," he seems to be explaining. Battle ended with both up to their necks in water.

More Voting Places, Please

Again an urgent appeal is sounded for additional voting precincts in Ever-Growing Midland, following last Saturday's Democratic primary election. And again the cry is justified entirely and fully deserving of prompt action on the part of county authorities.

A few years ago it was necessary to increase the number of voting precincts in the city from two to four, and now the number again at least must be doubled.

Each of the voting precincts in the city limits polled in excess of 1,000 votes, with Precinct 7 recording almost 2,500 votes. It certainly is no wonder that the vote-counting job was not completed until well after sun-up Sunday at the big box.

It hardly is fair, in the first place, for the election judges and clerks to have to work around the clock in completing their assignments, especially when the providing of more voting places would ease the burden for all concerned.

In the second place, more balloting places perhaps would be the greatest "get out the vote" incentive possible. Most persons just will not stand in line or look very long for parking places in order to cast their ballots.

It is understood the matter of providing additional voting precincts already is being considered in official circles, and it is hoped favorable action will be forthcoming shortly.

It's best to laugh at misfortune, says a writer. And it's easy, when you're the one it misses. Work never hurts a man, says a judge. Not unless he keeps away from it.

We'd have something to worry about if all of the little bubble gum tots turned out to be busts themselves.

It wouldn't take dad half as long to change a tire if mom wouldn't insist on helping.

What this country needs is more optimism—another way of saying Americanism!

Y' Know, Pal, It's Fantastic The Way We Always Win!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson. (Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Most dramatic of pre-dawn huddles at Dem's convention was that against big city bosses-Dixiecrat Alliance, aimed at stopping Stevenson; Dever, last Spring, proved a prophet re Truman.

WASHINGTON—Most dramatic of the many post-midnight huddles during the rough-tough, late-lamented Democratic convention took place between 4 a.m. and 6 a.m. at the Congress Hotel Friday in protest against the so-called alliance between the big city bosses and the Dixiecrats.

Held just seven hours before the presidential balloting was to begin, the huddle also was aimed at stopping Adlai Stevenson's nomination.

Neither Senator Kefauver nor Averell Harriman was present but most of their followers were, including Orel Sullivan, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman Carl Holtzfeld of California, Phil Fitzpatrick, Democratic chairman of New York, Rep. Frank J. Roosevelt, Jr., Gov. "Roopy" Williams of Michigan, Senator Blair Moody of Michigan, Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers, and Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois.

As the meeting opened, Reuther growled at Senator Douglas for claiming there was an alliance between Governor Stevenson and the big city bosses.

"You've got yourself in an untenable position," snapped Reuther. "You started out with control of the convention but finally lost it," he added, referring to the fact that Douglas's candidate, Kefauver, had the largest number of convention votes.

Senator Douglas said nothing. He let Reuther talk.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY. Written for NEA Service. In today's and, played in the national championships last year in Washington, the West player hypothesized himself into believing that he had his opponents on the run.

It was all right for West to double three hearts, since he could obviously do well if South stayed in that contract. But West's double of three no-trump was a clear case of delusions of grandeur.

West opened the queen of hearts and continued the suit until Lee Hazen, playing the South hand, won the third round with the ace.

If declarer had been able to see the cards held by the opponents, he would have had no trouble making his contract, for it would have been a cinch to take successful finesse in diamonds and clubs.

Not being able to see through the backs of the cards, Hazen tried the club finesse, and then cashed the ace and king of spades. West's discard of a low diamond on the second spade was a disappointment.

Hazen, next led a low club to dummy's ace, hoping that the king would drop. This time East had to discard a diamond, since a spade discard would clearly help the dummy.

Declarer now knew that West had started the hand with five hearts, four clubs, and only one spade. This left room in the West hand for only three diamonds, of which one already had been discarded.

It was therefore not necessary to risk the diamond finesse in order to make the doubled contract of three no-trump. Declarer cashed the king and ace of diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. When that hope failed to materialize, a third diamond put East in-with the queen.

At this point East and the dummy each held three spades. East returned the jack of spades and was allowed to hold this trick. He then had to lead from the ten-eight to dummy's queen-nine, thus furnishing dummy with the eighth and ninth tricks.

PETER EDSON'S CONVENTION NOTEBOOK

Does Kefauver-Nixon Romance Bloom? Just Ask Six-Year-Old David Kefauver

CHICAGO—(NEA)—A possible Republican-Democratic romance flowered behind the scenes of the two presidential nominating conventions. It involves the Kefauver and Nixon families.

In Washington, they live not far from each other in the northwestern suburb of Spring Valley. The Kefauvers have lived there several years, but the Nixons just recently bought and moved into a brand new house.

The Kefauvers have four children, three girls and a boy, and the Nixons have two daughters. Son David Kefauver and daughter Patricia Nixon both are six, and they're in the same room at school.

When Mrs. Kefauver was asked if the two children were that way about each other, she replied, "Oh! I'll have to let David speak for himself." David was vacationing with his grandparents in Tennessee while his parents were in Chicago.

Senator Green's Hat Trick. Senator Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, who also is vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, came up unofficially with at least his party's balloted-out convention straightened out.

This was in the pre-convention week, when there were 15 candidates in the field running around Chicago in circles and nobody knew anything.

"Put the names of all 15 candidates on slips of paper," suggested Senator Green. "Put all the names in a hat. Then let President Truman or National Chairman Frank McKinney or somebody draw out two names. Any two names," the senator specified.

Spanks 'Em With Planks. Senator Green probably had as much fun at Chicago as anybody. He was on the platform committee, and sat through all its long hearings. He took a particular delight in asking embarrassing questions of witnesses who were sure they had all the answers.

ring to Stevenson's speech at Roosevelt College last Spring urging Harriman to run for President. "And who was it who kept Harriman in the race right up until the last minute? If Adlai wants to make his position clear," concluded Roosevelt, "Then all he has to do is step outside to the newsmen who are waiting outside his house."

At one point, however, Senator Humphrey got off this whimsical comment about the big city bosses: "Nobody loves the bosses more than we do," he said. "Except when they disagree with us."

Distaff Switch. One of Averell Harriman's key campaign managers at Chicago was Jim Rowe, former assistant to Attorney General Biddle.

Earlier in the campaign Rowe decided to stay out of politics, possibly leaning a bit toward Kefauver. But his wife became a precinct worker for Averell Harriman, worked night and day to carry the District of Columbia primaries for Harriman, and finally to keep peace in the family. Rowe threw in his lot with his wife and hopped on the Harriman bandwagon.

Being an able organizer, he gradually was taken in to the top of the Harriman entourage. While at Chicago, losing sleep, getting no meals, and spending his money to put Harriman across, Rowe called up his wife in Washington to see how she thought their candidate was doing.

"Oh," replied Mrs. Rowe. "I forgot to tell you that ever since I heard Governor Stevenson make that wonderful speech I've been for him." Prophetic Statement. After Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts had one of his conferences with President Truman last Spring to arrange plans for the Chicago convention, Dever was asked whether Truman would run the convention.

"Nobody will ever see his hand," the governor replied. That statement was prophetic.

In room 1108 of the Blackstone Hotel a private telephone connected the White House with the suite of Bill Boyle, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Truman's close friend.

On the second floor of the convention hall, furthermore, was a small office with another private telephone connecting to the White House. There, Presidential Secretary Clayton Fritchey, ex-Attorney General Howard McGrath, Chairman McKinney, White House Secretary Donald Dawson and Sgt. Lucas, the ex-senator from Illinois who claims that Kefauver's crime probe defeated him for reelection, conferred.

It was this group, on instructions from the White House, which wanted to ram the Thursday-night session through until dawn if necessary, and it was only the fact that the fire marshal came up to this room to warn that there might be danger of a major fire that finally broke up the session.

Note—When Truman was nominated vice president in 1944, working Chicago, his party managers used reverse but equally tough tactics. About 9 p.m., Henry Wallace's managers, expecting balloting to begin, had lined up a big demonstration. But the chairman, gavelled the meeting to an adjournment on the instruction of Bob Hannagan. Last week, Truman forces gavelled for a continued session.

When Allan B. Kline, head of the American Farm Bureau, was presenting his all-inclusive farm program before the Democrats, he let it be known he also had presented this plan to the GOP.

Green wanted to know how much of it the Republicans had taken. Kline said it was a silly question. Green then forced the farm leader to admit that the Republicans hadn't adopted any of it.

Convention Bugs. During the Republican convention, the Blackstones also was the headquarters for the GOP Old Guard, who took such a beating from the Eisenhower forces.

As one crass newspaperman was rude enough to say, "I have a theory that all these people crawl into the Blackstone woodwork after every Chicago convention, and emerge only when the next one comes to town." Old-Home Week. The Blackstone Hotel, where President Truman had his reservation for the final jamboree of the Democratic convention in Chicago, was a good bit of an old politician's home.

Barclay's short-lived presidential boom was going at the fullest blast it ever got to, bookmakers were scouting around for a young Democrat to run with him in second place on the ticket.

A youthful vice presidential candidate was needed, it was felt, to offset Barclay's 74 years. Somebody suggested Senator Green, who is a mere 84, and just as vigorous as Barclay, or more so.

Being a bachelor, it was felt that Senator Green would have a tremendous appeal for the bobby-sox vote.

Senator Green took the suggestion in his stride. "After all," he said, "I've been on every radio and television program there is—except Quiz-Kids."

Watch for Republican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower to make one speech or a series of speeches during his campaign which will give his own ideas of what the Republican Party platform should be.

More Republican leaders look at the actual platform their convention produced in Chicago without debate, the more they realize its shortcomings. It is particularly vulnerable on the indefiniteness of its farm, labor and civil rights planks—the three main domestic issues.

Out of Control. Congressmen who came to Chicago for the two big party conventions got a quick demonstration of the ineffectiveness of the so-called anti-inflationary controls they had put in the Defense Production Act passed just before adjournment.

Chicago barbers announced the price of haircuts soon would go up to $1.50. And tens of thousands of Chicago tenants were advised that rents would be hiked in September.

Next Summary. As the last of the convention delegates began checking out of Chicago hotels, after the hot, month-long jam for Republican and Democratic quadrennial shows, a tired hotel floor clerk summed it all up neatly.

"It wasn't so bad," she said. "There were really all pretty nice people. There weren't many drunks or other hard cases to handle. They weren't all like the furniture dealers and the jewelers' conventions we have every year."

As she opened her eyes the dawn was just beginning to send pink streamers of light into the sky. A soft cool May breeze plucked at the sprigged chintz drapes and bore a flowery fragrance into the room, mingled with the dank wet smell of the river.

She began to think about Steve Wynson as she lay there. She had felt an odd stir of excitement when she had seen him yesterday, and she felt it again now.

Presently she threw back the covers and got out of the warm bed and padded in her bare feet to the window. The sun would soon be up. She could catch the river smell more strongly now and hear the rush of water over the riffle. Another sound floated up the hill, echoing faintly, the sound of metal-striking wood and the clanking of a chain.

That would be Steve getting his boat out to go up the river and run his lines before the mist rose from the river.

Summer Dream

By Irene Ernhart. THE STORY: Laurie French, who was married in Ridgeville, despite the fact that she and her father and Bruno had talked until the wee small hours before Bruno started for Capitol City.

As she opened her eyes the dawn was just beginning to send pink streamers of light into the sky. A soft cool May breeze plucked at the sprigged chintz drapes and bore a flowery fragrance into the room, mingled with the dank wet smell of the river.

She began to think about Steve Wynson as she lay there. She had felt an odd stir of excitement when she had seen him yesterday, and she felt it again now.

Presently she threw back the covers and got out of the warm bed and padded in her bare feet to the window. The sun would soon be up. She could catch the river smell more strongly now and hear the rush of water over the riffle. Another sound floated up the hill, echoing faintly, the sound of metal-striking wood and the clanking of a chain.

That would be Steve getting his boat out to go up the river and run his lines before the mist rose from the river.

On sudden impulse Laurie opened one of her suitcases and rummaged in it, bringing out a pair of pale blue shorts, a white shirt monogrammed in blue and some blue rope sandals. Her hands only yesterday. He tipped up his battered old brown hat with the flies on it, and picked up the oars again and pulled the boat out into the stream.

"They smell like they're all dead," Laurie replied. Laurie was aware of a quick warm feeling of sheer pleasure. She loved the river, the smell and the feel and the sound of it. It must be something she had inherited from her father, she thought.

"Is that the same hat you wore the last time I was here?" she asked Steve, for want of something to say.

"Nope. Lost that one in the big pool by the rock cliffs where we always fish for channel catfish. Remember the place?" "Ind blew it off one day and it sank before I could get to it. I'll probably hook into it and think I've got a good fat channel cat on my line sometime!" He stopped rowing and let the boat drift with the current for a second or two while he lit his pipe.

A drift of sweet smelling tobacco smoke floated on the morning air.

Laurie studied the strong lean lines of Steve's face. He was much more handsome than she had remembered. His face was thin, almost angular, but the bone structure was fine. He had a strong mouth with a hint of gentleness about it and there were laughter wrinkles at the corners of his eyes.

She was struck all at once by the incongruity of her being here, with a man who was practically a stranger, sitting in a damp, smelly old row boat on a river in the mist at 5 o'clock in the morning, when only yesterday she had been in New York.

This seemed like a different world. It was a different world! One that her friends in New York, her mother and Mark and Fletcher did not dream existed, and would not have appreciated even if they had known it. Fletcher and Mark went fishing sometimes, but they flew down to Florida and fished from Mark's big cabin cruiser.

What's Right?

A man and his wife have a woman dinner guest and there is no other man present. WRONG: The man doesn't bother to seat either woman. RIGHT: The man seats both the guest and his wife.

Hubby Not Only Brings Home Bacon But He Cooks It, Too

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK—(P)—A husband's job used to be to bring home the bacon.

In more and more households today, however, the husband not only brings home the bacon—he cooks it, too. A man's place is in the kitchen.

This quiet revolution in domestic duties began about a quarter of a century ago in that period of culinary history known as "the era of the outdoor grill."

Father got the idea he was a real heroic figure as he stood, eyes streaming from the smoke, turning over a row of hot dogs or steaks burning to death over a fire in a stone barbecue oven in the backyard.

"M-m-m-m-m, simply delicious," murmured Mama later, munching a sandwich that tasted like garlic and old rust.

This feminine flattery went to father's head.

"If I can do this well outdoors," he told himself, "what couldn't I do in a real kitchen?"

Write Of The Party

So he moved indoors, bought himself a cookbook, and began experimenting like a small boy with a new chemistry set. Every week end he figured out a new dish to try on his friends, and from the lift of the party he became the wife of the party—the guy in the sky-blue apron.

Mamma gallantly shuddered her way through his trial-and-error efforts, and told guests fondly in his presence:

"My husband is getting to be a wonderful cook, but he does leave the kitchen in such a mess."

This praise touched father's conscience.

"Why should I have all the fun of cooking, and leave my wife all the dirty work?" he said, "I guess I'd better tidy up the kitchen, too."

That is what I object to about the whole theory of male cookery. The husband has been artfully convinced his wife is doing him a favor to let him into the kitchen. But what is the real truth? She has been freed of her most onerous chores through the centuries—cooking dinner, then doing the dishes.

Men Guests Help

I am an old-fashioned man, and it is the other way in my home.

The other evening I went into the kitchen. My wife, Frances, turned around and saw me and jumped.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"You startled me," she said. It's been years since I saw you in the kitchen."

But when we go out to have dinner with friends, the host meets me at the door and says:

"Don't go into the living room with the girls. All they'll talk about is baseball and politics. Stay here in the kitchen, and help me baste the mutton. I'm trying a new recipe—very exciting. You wrap it in Burlap and muddock leaves and cook it over a slow fire."

Later, after the meal is over, he hands me a dish towel and says, "You know how wives are—they

Gadgeteer Talks In Supersonic Monologues

By SAUL PETT
 NEW YORK—(P)—Now just a minute, friend, just a minute, it's obvious you're too intelligent to jump to conclusions so just because a man talks real fast is no reason to think a cop is chasing him, no reason at all.

You made a bad mistake, neighbor, a bad mistake, if you thought that about Don L. Davis, a chap who bills himself "Gadgets" and talks too quick for periods, but the fact is Don is no pitchman, although he makes you wonder when he breathes because he talks practically supersonic, so fast, the point is.

Davis is short and chesty and quick on the draw and if he hadn't said he used to be an old newspaperman himself you'd have thought he was an ex-wrangler with a carnival, which shows you first impressions don't rate a "linker best" cause Don is president of the National Association of Gadget Manufacturers and head of the Gadget of the Month Club.

A Lot Of Cabbage

Davis is no inventor himself but he said anybody can be and make a lot of cabbage forthwith, and he cited the case of Gunnar Petersen, a cement finisher out of Portland, Ore.

Petersen, to hear Davis tell it, got tired of hacking up his face after 20 years of shaving so he sat down and asked himself why and discovered that every time the blade went up his cheek it vibrated like a miniature guillotine.

So he bent the blade, which eliminated the tension, which eliminated the vibration, and he put the gismo in a curved razor which fits the contour of the face better. He moved the razor handle over to one side for better shaving visibility and magnetized the end of the handle for picking up used blades without bloodshed, and before you could say National Association of Gadget Manufacturers, Petersen had himself $32,000 in advance royalties, Davis said.

Pocket Ash Tray

Without dropping a stitch in his conversation, Davis suddenly put his lighted cigarette in his shirt pocket without taking fire because it turned out he had a small ash tray shaped like a bullet clipped onto his pocket. This was invented by J. A. Lebert of San Francisco. Davis said there is a big demand for such because when you're suddenly caught with a hot butt in a room without ash trays it's embarrassing.

Before you could say what do you know, Davis pulled out a whole parade of gadgets as for instance a bottle top lock which can only be opened by combination, so the maid can't swipe your booze; a woman's hair comb with double teeth which operate on a spring which locks in the blade so the peas don't roll off.

You'd be surprised, Davis said, because the association gets about 40,000 gadget ideas a year but would you believe it, only one-thousandth of one per cent turn out to be screws.

Gold Controversy Back In News

NEW YORK—(P)—Gold—and the long controversy over its role as money—is back in the news again on two counts:

1. Republican and Democratic platform discussion of the monetary and fiscal policies of our government.
2. The gold-coinage bonds by which the Paris government lured 24 tons of gold from the hidden stores of France—they still have at least 2,000 tons of it squirreled away.

Gold convertibility went out the window with the great depression. Convertibility means that before 1934 you could take a $5 paper bill to the treasury and get a $5 gold piece for it.

Congress can restore convertibility anytime with a law ordering the treasury to both buy and sell gold at a fixed price on demand. This would mean coinage of gold. U. S. gold stocks are so high that this is entirely feasible, many argue.

Under the present law the treasury buys at the fixed price of $35 an ounce. But it doesn't redeem bills in gold, nor sell gold to American citizens except for commercial use—to fill teeth or make jewelry.

This year the Republican platform pledges the party "to restore a domestic economy and use our influence for a world recovery of such stability as will permit the realization of our aim of a dollar on a fully convertible gold basis."

That would seem to mean: "We can't go back on the gold standard the way things are here and abroad, but we should as soon as we can."

Demos Ignore Gold

The Democratic platform doesn't mention gold. "Instead, in general terms, it pledges 'the preservation of the financial strength of the government' and a fiscal policy that will 'contribute in a positive way to economic growth of the maintenance of high-level employment.'"

Advocates of immediate return to the gold standard aren't pleased with the Democrats and far from entirely happy with the Republicans, although their platform is the first to mention the gold standard in many years.

Dr. Walter E. Spahr, executive vice president of the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy, says, "The way to resume is to resume." He says the Republican pledge should have read:

"We commit ourselves to provide promptly for the redemption of our currency in gold at the statutory rate of $35 per fine ounce."

Obstacles Seen

Others, however, argue that a return to the gold standard isn't feasible until the budget is balanced and the Federal Reserve System made entirely free of pressure from the treasury. They say it would also require sweeping away of exchange controls now so wide-spread in the world, and the end of import and export quotas.

Before the depression the gold standard was the great international trade regulator. It meant cooperation among the world's treasuries and banking systems. This broke down completely in the early 30s. Since then economic warfare among the nations has tended to be bitter. And many contend that gold has little place in a modern economy.

France Gets Gold

But many people still regard gold as the only safe money. The French loan featuring a gold clause tying the redemption value of the bonds to the free market price of gold is evidence of that.

The French were hoarding gold, have perhaps two billion dollars worth of it hidden. The value of their paper money has been cheapened several times since the war and the French people fear further devaluation.

The French loan brought out 42 million dollars' worth of gold. The majority still apparently prefer their hidden cache of gold.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Elephant And Mouse

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, and Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, were sitting down by the Elephant Path, there in the middle of the Great Forest. They were talking of this and that when Pinky Elephant, an elephant-people boy, came running by with a great fear.

"Mersey me!" said Daddy Ringtail. Hardly had he said it when another someone came running by to chase little Pinky Elephant. The someone was really a small mouse with a match in her hand for a club. "Mersey me from me too," said Mugwump, because anyone could see that the mouse was chasing the elephant, and how on how could such a thing be? Why, the elephant-people was a hundred times bigger than the mouse, and why should Pinky Elephant-people be afraid?

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "do you know why?"

Daddy Ringtail smiled to hear the question, and then he said: "Well, some folks say that once in the long ago there was a little elephant boy of pink all over, and this little fellow did not have a long trunk like an elephant. Instead he had only a little button of a nose.

"Yes," Daddy Ringtail said, "but one fine day this little fellow was trying to sniff away some cheese that was in a mousetrap. Snap!"

"And ever since that," said Daddy Ringtail, "all the elephant trunks have looked like elephant trunks, but the mouse was angry for the cheese to be gone from the mousetrap, and so to this very day, because elephants know it is wrong to eat cheese that belongs to someone else—an elephant's conscience makes him run every time he sees a mouse. Happy day!"

"Uh-oh," said Mugwump to hear about it.

The little fellow did not know what to do," Daddy Ringtail continued, "but he did it anyway. He pulled and pulled, and backed away, and pulled some more, until his nose came loose with a pop! like bubble gum. Ah me, because now his nose had stretched real
