Take Fewer Baths, Council Urges

Resolution Aimed At Relieving City's Acute Sewer Crisis

The City Council formally called on Midland residents Thursday afternoon to take fewer baths in an effort to ease the overloaded condition of the city's sewer lines.

The plea came in a resolution adopted by the council as new lines of attack were planned in the campaign against overflowing sewage and increasing swarms of flies.

Two other actions also were being given consideration Friday.

1. Hiring an additional contractor to help push to completion a south-side interceptor sewer line, which will prevent the overloading of the present line.

2. Construction of levees to contain in a small area the overflowing sewage which has been flowing over a six-block area along North Terrell Street.

The campaign for fewer baths was launched after a group of women from the Midland League of Women Voters, accompanied by two engineers, appeared before the council.

Engineer Bill Studdert, accompanied by D. H. Jenkins, told councilmen he had inspected the Terrell Street area and found there was little to be done to correct the situation until the south side line is completed.

Health Unit Approval
"My only suggestion," he said, "is that we ask the people to assist by using their bathing facilities as little as possible."

"I believe the city officials have done all they can, short of cutting down on the amount of water going into the sewer lines."

Dr. C. A. Pigford, director of the City-County Health Unit, backed the idea of fewer baths as a means of decreasing the amount of water going into the overloaded sewer lines.

"And I have an 11-year-old son," he added, "who certainly would be willing to cooperate in such a program."

Dr. Pigford said that the personnel of his organization "has dropped everything else to work on this city problem."

"We are trying to eliminate all fly-breeding places and every citizen should take it on himself to do his part."

Diarrhea Warning
Dr. R. L. Penn, Jr., Midland pediatrician, told the council doctors are concerned about the increasing number of diarrhea cases, and urged temporary measures be taken to eliminate flies "before this condition really gets rough."

Mayor Perry Pickett told the delegation "We have mobilized our entire resources."

"It's unfortunate that this situation came up. Perhaps we haven't been as aggressive in the past as we could have been but now we're doing all we can."

Meanwhile, crews of workers were busy spraying potential fly-breeding spots and fogging machines continued operating throughout the city's alleys.

City Manager W. H. Oswald said the city has spent almost $10,000 within the last few days in its battle against flies.

Invitations were being sent out by the Jaycees to other civic clubs to send representatives to a meeting Tuesday to make plans for an all-out clean-up drive in Midland.

The meeting will begin at 4 p.m. in the Midland County Courthouse.

Trio Of Suspects Held In Midland Rape Case Freed

Three Midland men, held for questioning in connection with the rape last Sunday of a nine-year-old girl, were released late Thursday after undergoing lie-detector tests.

Ranger John Wood, who with Detective Lt. Dick Hemingway, took the three to Austin said tests indicated none of them had anything to do with the attack.

Release of the trio left police without any suspects.

The girl, meanwhile, continued to show improvement at a Midland hospital.

Masonic Temple Ground-Breaking Slated Saturday

A ground-breaking ceremony for the new Masonic Temple will be held at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the site of the new two-story structure at 1600 West Wall Street. All Masons in the Midland area are invited and urged to attend.

Midland Lodge No. 628, AP&AM, will be in charge of the ceremony, with Charles L. Klapproth of Midland, grand orator of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Texas, scheduled to make the principal address.

J. B. McReynolds will give the invocation, and George F. Vannaman, worshipful master of the Midland lodge, will participate in the actual ground-breaking.

Construction work will begin Monday on the $190,473 project, with completion scheduled in February of 1953. Houston Hill of Midland is the general contractor.

R. B. Cowden is chairman of the lodge's building committee, which has been working more than three years on the project. Hank Avery is the committee secretary and project architect.

Woman Identifies Decapitated Body Found In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—An Oklahoma City woman Friday identified the "young girl" whose headless body was found near Yukon Wednesday as her 20-year-old daughter.

But police were openly skeptical. Still, Mrs. Mabel Pennington, 52, insisted the victim of what officers termed an apparent revenge slaying was her daughter, Tille Mae Pennington, who disappeared from her home Monday.

The dismembered body, with the head and hands cut off and the letters "R-A-T" carved on the stomach, was found in a creek bed near Yukon, 11 miles west of here.

The mother said leg scars made the identification positive.

Crime Bureau Chief O. K. Bivins was almost as certain she was wrong, pointing out a physician said the girl definitely was 13 or 14 years old.

"The description of Mrs. Pennington's daughter does not tally with that of the body," he said. "However, we will know more about it after a pathologist completes an examination."

The examination will determine whether the victim ever bore a child. Mrs. Pennington said her daughter has a two-year-old son.

Mrs. Pennington admitted there were some marks on the body she did not recognize, but said these could have been placed there by the slayer.

She said her daughter had left home before, but always returned in a few days.

Meanwhile, state, city and county officers continued to check missing persons files and examine meager evidence found near the body.

A blood-stained brassiere and red belt, believed to have been worn by the girl, were the sole clues in the slaying.

Bivins said the crime was committed by a maniac or someone merely bent on revenge. Perhaps the slayer was used to strangle the girl before she was mutilated, he added.

More Wind, Showers In Area Likely

Summer entered its final phases in Midland and Texas Friday afternoon with promises of scattered thunder-showers and blowing sand for the vicinity.

CAA observers at Midland Air Terminal at noon Friday said their records indicated light rain and south winds up to 20 miles an hour with strong gusts for Friday afternoon. Winds were expected to lay by 3 p.m. under clearing skies.

Midlanders "cooled" in 73 to 88-degree temperatures Thursday while a majority of Texas points listed 100-degree highs. The mercury rose to 103 degrees at Presidio in the fabled Big Bend country.

Showers fell Thursday at Victoria, College Station, Del Rio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Austin, Texas, Kansas, and the San Angelo area.

A part of hot, dry weather in Texas, grass fires kept firemen running. Motorists were again being warned to be careful where they threw cigarette stubs. Dry timberlands and dry pastures were sitting ducks for careless smokers and campers.

Water-use records were broken at heat continued. At Dallas, 190,000,000 gallons were used Wednesday, almost a million gallons ahead of the previous record set only last week.

A small flash flood in Grape Creek near San Angelo poured some badly needed water into the North Concho River dam's reservoir. The level was raised to 1.13 feet.

Relentless March Of Polio Continues Unabated In Texas

By The Associated Press

Paced by hard-hit Harris County, Texas led the nation Friday in 1952 polio cases, far ahead of second-place Ohio.

Sorrow, tragedy, heartbreak and death followed in the wide path the crippling disease cut across the state.

Dallas and Waco reported deaths Thursday. At Dallas it was little three-year-old Martin Rowland of Pleasant Grove. In Waco it was David Davis, 16, of McGregor.

Three new polio cases, two of them in the city, were reported Friday by the Houston Health Department.

The new cases raised the city total for the year to 312 cases and 11 deaths and the county total to 198 cases and seven deaths. There have been 140 out-of-county cases brought in for treatment and eight deaths.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported that Texas led the states in number of victims last week with 259 new cases, compared with only 91 during a similar period a year ago.

Young Mother Stricken
Nearest to Texas was Ohio with 179 cases.

The 19-year-old mother of three children, Mrs. Evelyn Lankston, was the fifth case of polio in Wichita Falls this week. She was admitted to the isolation ward at Wichita General Hospital Thursday.

The Rowland child was the eighth Dallas County death from the disease during July. Three other persons from outside Dallas County died of polio in Dallas during the month.

Thursday's admission of three girls and one boy to Parkland Hospital's polio ward at Dallas pushed the Dallas County case total for July to 103, far ahead of any previous month in history. The girls were from Farmersville and the East Dallas and Oak Cliff sections of the city. The boy was from Dallas' Oak Lawn section.

No deaths from polio have been reported this year in Wichita Falls. About 29 cases have been treated this summer at Wichita General Hospital, where officials said Thursday they were not overcrowded.

Chest X-Ray Check To Start Saturday

Beginning Saturday and continuing through Tuesday, Aug. 12, a county-wide chest X-ray survey will be held in Midland County, Hulon Brown, county chairman, pointed out again Friday.

A mobile unit of the State Health Department will be located on the first floor of the Midland County Courthouse from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. during the 10-day period to make the X-rays.

Brown emphasized that the X-rays are free, take only one minute, and no disrobing is required. Confidential reports on the findings will be made directly to the persons examined.

The fourth annual survey to be conducted in Midland County, officials are anticipating approximately 600 persons will have X-rays made daily. The unit technicians are equipped, however, to handle as many as 1,500 daily.

With the endorsement and approval of the Midland County Medical Society, the survey is being sponsored jointly by the Midland County Tuberculosis Association and the Midland City-County Health Unit. Dr. Lex B. Smith is president of the tuberculosis group, and Dr. C. A. Pigford is director of the health unit.

Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson, executive secretary of the tuberculosis association, is directing some of the necessary arrangements.

Brown said health officials in Texas have found that one out of every 100 persons screened has tuberculosis.

In addition to tuberculosis, which is more easily controlled if discovered in its early stages, the X-ray films also often reveal other unsuspected chest abnormalities in which early diagnosis may mean the difference between health and long, expensive illness.

One of the leading causes of death in America, tuberculosis is contagious, Brown said. He added that the disease is curable if discovered in time.

Last year, 4,600 persons had X-rays made in Midland County, with 99 showing evidence of some chest disorder.

Several of the city's women's organizations will have some of their members assisting with registration. Co-chairmen of the committee in charge of arranging for these volunteer workers are Mrs. T. J. Melton and Mrs. John Hill.

Members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will be present Saturday to record names and addresses of persons having X-rays made.

Volunteers from the Lions Club will assist in unloading the State Health Department equipment and installing it.

Brown said the free X-rays are available to everybody in Midland County, 15 years of age or older.

Demos, Republicans Push County Convention Plans

Midland County Democrats and Republicans alike will meet Saturday in county conventions to perfect their organizations for the next two years.

The Democrats will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the District Courtroom in the Midland County Courthouse.

The Republicans will meet at 11 a.m. in the Commissioners Courtroom of the courthouse.

Both organizations will elect permanent chairmen and secretaries and name delegates to the state conventions. The state Republican convention will be held in San Antonio while Texas Democrats will meet in Amarillo.

In addition, both groups will have problems to settle in connection with candidates for county and precinct offices.

Richard Hughston, county GOP chairman, said earlier this week that his party will nominate at Saturday's convention a slate of candidates for county offices and possibly for county commissioner from Precinct 1.

A three-man committee has been preparing such a slate to present to the convention and, in some cases, will contain the names of Democratic candidates nominated in last Saturday's primary election.

Some such Democratic nominees have been apprehensive, however, about having their names appear on the ballot under the Republican banner—as well as the Democratic—in the November general election.

The Democrats probably will discuss this situation in Saturday's meeting.

Criminal Career Of Fightin', Stealin' Teenage Negro Ends In Midland's Jail

The amazing criminal career of a teenage negro from Abilene came to an end here Thursday afternoon.

For four years he and two other boys looted dozens of homes in Abilene and Brokenridge.

They held up strangers at gunpoint and took their money.

They stole a half-dozen automobiles and admitted a variety of other crimes, ranging from vandalism to shoplifting.

The cash alone amounted to more than $4,000, plus several thousand dollars more they obtained by selling stolen goods.

"But I ain't got a cent left," said the youth who told Midland police he is 18 years old.

"I spent it all on women and gambling."

"I came here to Midland to try to start over and go straight. Now, I guess I'll just wind up in prison."

He made his mistake, police said, by coming to Midland in a stolen automobile.

Abilene officers notified Midland police to look for him and he was arrested Thursday afternoon by Police Lt. James J. Joyce, Detective Sgt. Billy Adair and Officer Dewey Hockett.

The automobile was recovered but the trio of officers decided to talk to him and see if they could find out anything else.

With little hesitation, the youth started telling his story of crime.

"We used to steal whisky from one of those Abilene bootleggers," he said, "and then sell it to another one."

Maybe you've never put down two bucks on a horse, but you've heard the phrase, "photo finish" (two horses pounding neck and neck down the stretch, with the winner picked off by viewing the finish-line picture) . . . We're not placing or taking any bets, but we want you to know that our "Photo Finish" is a horse of an entirely different color. We could give more than they do a valuable thoroughbred. We don't brush 'em—in fact, we make certain that no scratches or abrasions ever get on your face. Truth is, we give more careful attention to your pictures than Man-O-War ever got in his heyday. Our film "beats" are so controlled that even the temperatures are scientifically checked—so say nothing of the extreme care in mixing chemicals and giving just the right amount of "agitation," etc. There's no question about the winner when it comes to our Photo Finishing. Alger Hiss Renews Third Trial Pleas

NEW YORK—(AP)—Convicted perjurer Alger Hiss, in prison for a five-year term, still insists he's entitled to a third trial. The former State Department official, convicted of lying to a grand jury about his services to a pre-war Soviet spy ring after a jury disagreement in his first trial, took his plea Thursday to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He previously had sought a new trial with the claim that he had discovered new evidence. But this appeal was turned down July 23 by Federal District Judge Henry W. Goddard who ruled there was not sufficient new evidence to influence another jury. In his latest plea, Hiss said through his lawyer that Judge Goddard "overlooked or disregarded new evidence and his ruling was improper and an abuse of his discretion."

BARECHESTED CRY GOES UP

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Arthur Willis stopped a speeding car two weeks ago and found four women naked from the waist up. They whipped on brassieres and observed that men rode bare-chested. It touched off a flood of mail defending women's rights. Willis picked out an typical anonymous letter from Austin, Minn.: ". . . I hope and pray that the women can go naked from the waist up any time they want to, for it is not wrong."

Indemnity Talked For Hogs Destroyed In Curbing Disease

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government may pay farmers for hogs slaughtered in the campaign to wipe out the disease vesicular exanthema. This disease is similar to foot and mouth disease but does not spread to cattle, sheep or humans. Its spread has resulted in a quarantine being clamped on all of California and parts of 15 other states. An Agriculture Department spokesman said late Thursday the matter of indemnities was under consideration but a decision may be a long way off. The spokesman said such a program would have to be carried out in cooperation with the states affected. Department experts said there is no known treatment or cure for the virus. Underway now is a program to halt spread of the disease. Next on schedule is a research program to discover the cause, cure and control.

Southwest Business Booms Toward New Goal In Month

DALLAS—(AP)—One of the most optimistic and brightest monthly reports of the 11th Federal Reserve District has just been released. The five-state area, the report says, enjoyed its best department store sales in history during June, the third consecutive month to establish such a record. Sales in the first three weeks of July were 12 per cent over year-ago figures, the bank said. Total sales in the first six months of 1952 were five per cent higher than for the same period last year. The review also noted that average daily oil production was lower than in any of the previous 17 months except May. But it added: "A substantial increase in Texas allowances for August, however, forebodes a rise in production."

Mexico-U. S. Panel Reports 'No Hitch' In Hoof-Mouth Talk

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A joint Mexican-United States commission meeting on hoof-and-mouth disease apparently went off without incident Thursday. The session was to discuss preliminary details for declaring Mexico free of the disease. Dr. B. T. Simms, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Husbandry, told a reporter that "nothing had turned up." He added that progress reports were satisfactory. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has said that unless there should be a new outbreak in the meantime Mexico will be declared free of hoof-and-mouth malady September 1. According to Simms there have been only two isolated outbreaks of the costly cattle disease in Mexico in the last two years. The most recent outbreak occurred in August, 1951, Simms said. He described Thursday's meeting as "routine" and said it would be the last get-together of the joint commission until after the time set for lifting the five-year embargo on Mexican cattle.

'No Truth in Divorce Rumor,' Shrieks Patrice Wymore Flynn

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: Patrice Wymore is shrieking "It ain't true!" to the rumor that she's about to divorce Errol Flynn. Back in Hollywood for a role in Warner's "Back to Broadway" after a long absence in Jamaica, long-stemmed Mrs. Flynn confided: "It's just unfortunate that Errol and I have to be separated so much. As long as we both stay in this business, we'll face long separations. I'm not ready to give up show business. I get tired of it sometimes, but I can't stay away from Hollywood more than four months at a time. I get itchy feet."

The only reason Pat's not in London playing leading lady to Errol in "The Master of Ballantrae," she wants it known, is that British quota laws prevented her from taking on an acting stint that an English actress could fill.

Joan Rice, the British beauty who clicked in Disney's "Robin Hood" and who will be Burt Lancaster's leading lady in "His Majesty O'Keefe," is flashing an engagement ring at the Hollywood volives. Lucky groom-to-be is Martin Royle, who manufactures art compressors.

The battles between Ava Gardner and Frank Sinatra are getting louder and longer. But at the same time Ava's dreaming of tearing up her MGM contract so she can join Frankie in an "I Love Lucy" type of TV show: Her MGM pact prohibits TV appearances.

Paul Winchell, the TV ventriloquist, is being flooded with movie offers. To date he's mixed them all "because they wanted me just as a ventriloquist. Sure, I'll work with Jerry Mahoney in a movie, but I want to play a character in the same film."

Spike Jones is a new comic book star. For his appeal, one series will take him to Mars, another out west. . . Hollywoodites are gawping over the lavish rooms in the Flamingo Hotel's new wing at Las Vegas—more resplendent than a Joan Crawford movie set. . . Sue Carol, Alan Ladd's wife, is back building his career the way she did in the old days when he was a struggling actor and she was a big-time talent agent. . . Dick Contino and his accordion have come to a parting of the ways. He's playing the organ for Mass at the post chapel at Ford Ord.

Ida Lupino on her future program of independent films with co-producer Collier Young, her ex-husband: "This time out we're not trying to make certain types of pictures. The idea is to get people away from TV and back into the theaters. We'll make a picture about a stalk of celery, if it turns the trick."

When Broadwayite Redd White arrived in town, a producer friend offered to show him the sights. "Thanks, but I've already seen them," White replied. "I sat next to Marilyn Monroe at Cleo's last night."

Southwest Business Booms Toward New Goal In Month

DALLAS—(AP)—One of the most optimistic and brightest monthly reports of the 11th Federal Reserve District has just been released. The five-state area, the report says, enjoyed its best department store sales in history during June, the third consecutive month to establish such a record. Sales in the first three weeks of July were 12 per cent over year-ago figures, the bank said. Total sales in the first six months of 1952 were five per cent higher than for the same period last year. The review also noted that average daily oil production was lower than in any of the previous 17 months except May. But it added: "A substantial increase in Texas allowances for August, however, forebodes a rise in production."

Wanda Sharrock, Billy Ingram Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

CRANE—Wanda Sharrock became the bride of Billy Don Ingram recently at a double ring ceremony in the Tabernacle Baptist Church. The Rev. Ray Tatum of San Angelo officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Sharrock of Crane. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ingram.

The wedding took place before an archway entwined with garlands of plumosa, interlaced with pastel-colored king asters.

Sunburst arrangements of pastel gladioli, asters and cypripediums, mounted on low white column pedestals, flanked the arch and formed an altar. Bows of pastel ribbon completed the archway's decorations.

Jackie Rivers Is Soloist
Jackie Rivers of Pleasanton sang "Because" and Mrs. Joel Williams played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue nylon tulle dress over a fitted bodice and a full, ballerina length skirt. She wore a hat of white lace with rhinestone trim and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with ribbon showers, centered with a detachable corsage.

Sister Is Attendant
Mary Ted Sharrock was her sister's only attendant. She wore a shaded pink nylon tulle over pink taffeta. Her accessories were white and her shoulder corsage was of white carnations.

G. V. Ingram, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Mrs. D. L. Kinsey and Mrs. B. D. Mackey presided at the reception and Dorothy Crittenden played piano selections.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a floral arrangement of asters and cypripediums in a crystal bowl. Peggy McCasland served the two-tiered wedding cake and Lila Kinsey served punch.

Following their wedding trip the couple will be temporarily at home in Midland. In the Fall they plan to enter Baylor University where Ingram will be a ministerial student.

Midlanders attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shubart.

The MATURE PARENT

It's Wrong To Hide Parental Differences From Children

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Before Mr. Stanley graduated from the law school, he was engaged to a girl named Norma. She broke the engagement to marry another man.

When her marriage collapsed, she asked Mr. Stanley to handle her divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Stanley did not share her husband's sympathy for Norma's suffering. In the light of the fact Norma had emerged from court with a $50,000 settlement, Mr. Stanley's references to her as "that poor kid" irritated his wife. When one morning he insisted that the "poor kid" be invited to spend a month in the mountains with his family, Mrs. Stanley blew up. Her husband would not finish his breakfast and went off to his office without kissing her goodby.

Hearing the front door slam, Mrs. Stanley put down her coffee cup and began to cry.

Her six-year-old son was greatly distressed. He ran to get her a box of tissues. As he shoved one into her hand, he said with much anxiety, "Don't cry, mom—please don't cry."

His mother blew her nose. "Why shouldn't I cry?" she demanded. "I'm good and mad, I'm very cross."

with daddy. He wants me to like a lady that I do not like."

Tension went out of her child like air from a pricked balloon. He eyed his mother, pushed the box of tissue closer to her and said, "Ok, cry then. Can I stay at Bill's house for lunch today if his mother asks me?"

I strongly approve of Mrs. Stanley. She is an honest woman. When she cannot present a truthful picture of marital sweetness and light to her child, she doesn't try to. She tells the truth to him.

Dr. Dorothy W. Baruch is a trustworthy psychologist. In her book "New Ways in Discipline," she writes, "Over and over again parents claim that their children never witness any difference between them. Over and over again the children give evidence that they do. The best of us have quarrels. The important point is to admit our differences. Children must come to understand that no vital companionship is insipid milk toast and honey—that differences can be taken openly in stride and be worked out."

When we are angry with anyone, our time and energy should not be diverted to hiding our anger, but working out the conflict which has aroused it.

We like to think that our pose of loving kindness toward a wife or husband, who has offered us "loyalty" to him. As we cannot hide anger, our dishonesty beguiles us into subversive hints that frighten children with their implications that there is something shameful about our normal human feeling.

It leads us into making sly bids for their sympathy, mysterious reference to our sad lot as the spouse of a difficult person. We sigh, "Oh, poor mummy is just unhappy, darling. I don't know what she'd do without her dear little boy."

"This, if you please, is disloyalty. We can't fool children when we are annoyed with their other parent, any more than our parents fooled us. We always knew when they were mad at each other, didn't we? Of course we did. If we think back, we will see that it was not that disagreement over throwing out the old Morris chair that made us so uneasy but their attitude toward their disagreement.

It was the "Sis-sh, the children will overhear" that made us feel that there was something queer and awful about two human beings having two points of view on the Morris chair.

"United fronts" are fine for parents to present. They don't come by them, however, by pretending that they exist when they don't. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Paris Designer Uses Grasshopper Design

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS—(AP)—Elsa Schiaparelli pepped up the Paris fashion scene Thursday night with a gay "grasshopper" collection full of the first real fashion news this season.

Taking the grasshopper as a "design of near perfection," she borrowed the wings and put them on suit lapels, coat tails, under the arms and on the shoulders. Her motif, pinned on or embroidered, hopped about from the arm to the middle of the back, to just anywhere.

The grasshopper silhouette featured a "smoothly round, sleek and slender body, swelling back, bouffant skirt and just-out wings." Some short jackets had a pointed and split tail. There was a hornet sting hat and hornet coat tail with a jutting point.

Other fanciful headgear imitated crickets—feathered or embroidered singing and courting. Then there was a stocking cap effect made by pulling the end of a tubular stole collar on the head. This versatile trapping had still another use—a hand warmer. There also was a morning glory hat in blue satin and a burst of blue feathers which looked like New Year's fun.

Schiaparelli had a dramatic setting for her new creations. She showed for the first time in the gardens of her Paris home just off the Champs Elysee.

Carven, in her collection shown in the afternoon took inspiration from the depths of the sea and came up with a sea siren line. She described it as "following the body without corseting, with effects floating towards the back to finish in a fish tail, scaly surfaces, fluid waists and flowing hips."

Evening clothes, in the designer's words, "fit like a second skin." Sleeves are loose below the elbow for the fin effect and one dress had gill-like flutes on the hip. Backs were bare right down to the waist.

Big Gamble In Iran

For a time it looked as if explosive Iran might be on the way to settling her many and serious problems in a manner which the West might look upon with favor.

The new premier, Ahmad Ghavam es-Sultaneh, was believed to be pro-Western and had set as his principal goal the settlement of Iran's oil dispute with Britain.

The United States had just launched a $22,000,000 Point Four program for Iran this year. The money was to be used to bolster almost non-existent programs of health, rural education, and agricultural extension in the impoverished country.

Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlavi was forced to bring the aging Mossadegh back as premier.

What doesn't look so good for Western interests is the fact that the forces which ejected Ghavam and brought Mossadegh back are a combination ranging from the extremely nationalist Moslem Combatants to the Tudeh Communist Party.

The latter joined the forces for Mossadegh with the idea of forming a united front against "British and American imperialism." The disturbing thing here is that the extreme Moslem nationalists had been considered one of the strongest barriers against communism in Iran.

Most Iranians have no great love for the West, but at the same time they have even less for the Communists. So what is Mossadegh's position to be now in regard to the Communists, who helped bring him back into power?

In general, Mossadegh is backed by the extreme nationalists and religious fanatics who don't want anybody interfering in Iranian affairs—Westerners, Communists or anyone else. These forces violently are against any deal which would enable the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to get another foothold in Iran.

Against the Mossadegh forces are those represented by the Shah and Ghavam. They include the army and wealthy landholders.

They, too, don't like the West particularly but they hate and fear communism more. They had tried to work out some deal whereby Iran's great, idle oil industry could be put back into operation as a paying proposition to stave off the imminent threat of national bankruptcy.

Dispatches from Iran reported that most Iranians believed the United States had been instrumental in Mossadegh's leaving the government and in getting Ghavam in. But our ambassador there said this country had no concern in the matter.

But meantime there was agitation at a Communist-sponsored rally to kick out of Iran American military advisers and Point Four officials.

Which brings up this entirely pertinent point: what now happens to that $22,000,000 Point Four program the United States was trying to rush through in Iran this year? It was an important gamble which could have resulted in some friendship for America at a world trouble point where it is badly needed. What happens to it now seems just about entirely up to Mossadegh.

It takes only a small compliment to swell the same kind of a head.

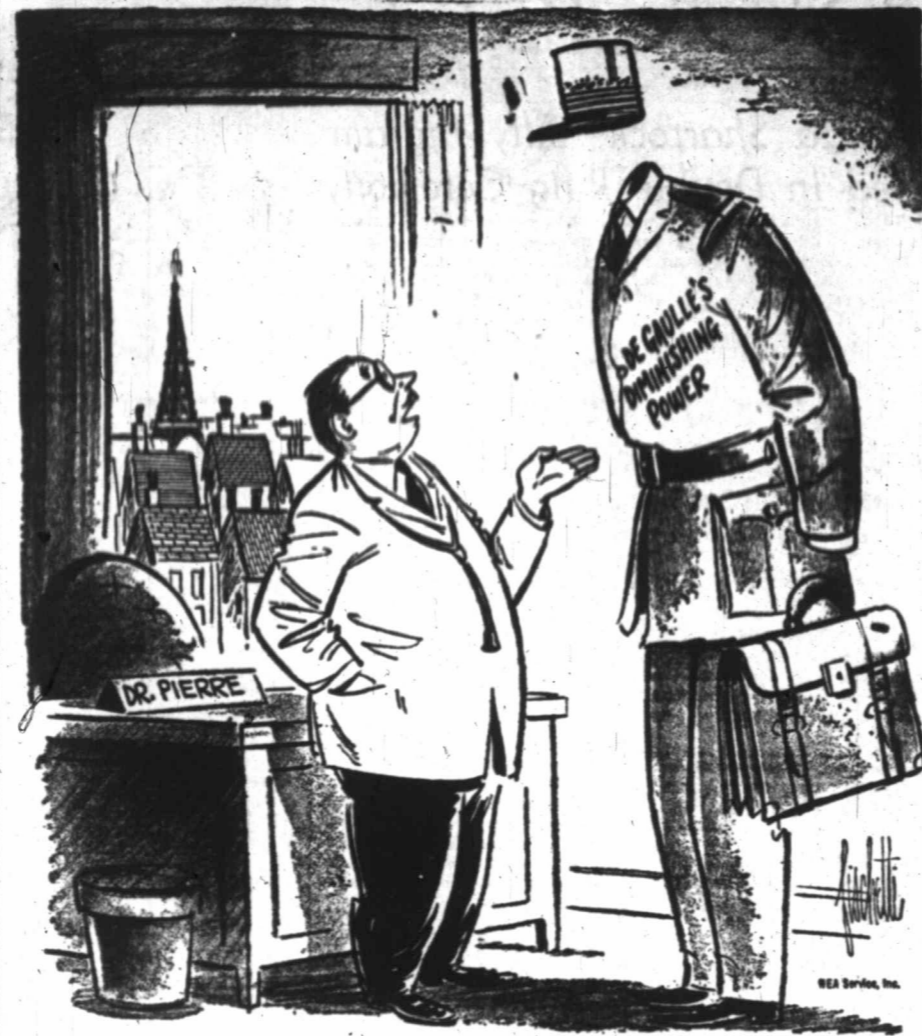

Any man can prove he has very good judgment by saying you have.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"I wish people would stop telling the wife what a wonderful garden she has—there goes another peck of cornmeal."

'Not Unusual, General... It Happens To Old Soldiers'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson
(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Alice Longworth mellowed toward Taft-beaters; Arthur Summerfield, who switched from Taft to Ike, due for big reward; Governor Stevenson's sons wanted him to run; Army's guard on prisoners now hurts truck talks.

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Alice Longworth, daughter of Teddy and one of the rulers of Washington society, either is getting benign or else has fallen for the Eisenhower charm.

After Willie was nominated, Alice remarked, "He sprang from the grass-roots of the country clubs of America."

After Dewey was nominated, she cracked: "How can you vote for a man who looks like a bridegroom on a wedding cake?"

Both men had defeated Mrs. Longworth's close friend, Bob Taft. But of the man who defeated Taft, for the third time, Alice is more tolerant.

"Naturally, I am sorry that Bob didn't make it," she tells friends. "But that's the way it was and I am willing to accept it."

She admitted that she watched the Eisenhower demonstration. "But," she added, "conventions aren't what they used to be. Television is spoiling them."

Why Summerfield Switched
Although the Democrats probably got more publicity focused on their hectic backstage wire-pulling than the Republicans, some of the latter's deals are just coming to the surface.

One of them, sure to be denied, sheds light on why Arthur Summerfield of Michigan, long a vigorous Taft supporter, switched over to Eisenhower. Summerfield, a Chevrolet dealer, was under heavy pressure from General Motors to switch. But there was more to it than that—according to the story told by Summerfield's close friend, Congressman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan.

Wolcott says that during the GOP discussion over seating the Southern delegates, he got a frantic telephone call from Summerfield to come to Chicago immediately.

Arriving in Chicago, Summerfield told him he was being pressured by Tom Coleman, GOP leader in Wisconsin and Taft's floor manager, to back Taft. He also was under pressure from Senator Ferguson and Congressman Schafer of Michigan, likewise vigorous Taft boosters.

On the other hand, General Motors, for whom he operated a dealership, demanded that he support Eisenhower.

Therefore, he asked Wolcott to act as a buffer—a sort of mediator in deciding the seating of the Southern delegates.

So They Say
We have all watched with attention, mitigated by occasional fatigue, the twirls, twitches and convulsions which are taking place (within the British Labor Party).

There are two separate problems to be dealt with... One is the need of our allies in the front line... Those needs must be met or there will be no front line.

I would not reduce my age by one hour to become President of the United States.

It's a pleasure to have him (Bishop Fulton Sheen) opposite me. After all, we were both using old material.

friends, arrived, all wearing Stevenson buttons. This time, Johnson took them to the back stairway of the hotel and walked them most of the way to the ground floor, for fear they would be seen by the press.

"Can't we even come into the hotel?" asked one of the boys. "Only if you go to Hartman or Russell headquarters," replied Johnson. "And only if you take off those buttons."

He knew that if the newspapers showed the Stevenson boys as part of the draft movement, either the public would think it was a phony draft, or the governor would get mad and call the whole thing off.

The inside of the bogged-down Korean truck talks is that we have been impaled on our own figures—that we issued boastfully at the time we were capturing Communists and trying to impress the enemy.

We announced to the world last December, for instance, that we held 20,000 Chinese. But now we have told the true negotiators that all we can turn back is 6,400. This is chiefly because the balance of the Chinese don't want to go back.

With North Korean prisoners, however, some of our army people padded the figures by including some South Korean refugees with the North Korean prisoners. Now, having announced them, they are stuck with those figures. The Reds won't believe anything else.

Although an impression got out through the press that we were only 9,000 prisoners apart in reaching an agreement, this is not exactly true. At the start of the talks, we estimated that about 101,000 prisoners could be returned. After careful screening however, we said only 72,000 could go back.

Meanwhile, the Communists demanded the return of 118,000. Later we pushed our figure up to 85,000, while they brought their figure down to 110,000. That's as close as we have ever come.

While the Reds' offer of 110,000 was only 9,000 more than our original estimate of 101,000 it still is 27,000 more than we are willing to return.

That's exactly where the true talks are today. Another full-dress session is scheduled for Sunday, August 3.

'Chap' Sees Synthetic Fuel Outlook Promising In U. S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Chapman said Friday the outlook for profitable production of synthetic liquid fuels is so promising private industry should be building experimental plants.

He also emphasized the importance of synthetic fuels for national defense, and said their production should be developed as soon as possible.

Chapman, in a report to Congress, repeated a previous recommendation that private industry with government assistance, construct pioneer commercial plants to produce synthetic liquid fuels from both oil shale and coal.

He said, for example, that the Bureau of Mines figured gasoline could be made from coal at a cost of from 11 to 17 cents a gallon. The National Petroleum Council, however, earlier this week estimated the cost at 41.6 cents a gallon.

Chapman, in his report, said that a wise man said, "A man should have two aims in life: first, get what he wants; and, after that, enjoy it."

A man is writing a letter of application for a job. WRONG: He signs the letter: "Mr. John Smith." RIGHT: He signs the letter: "John Smith."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the advantages of playing against experts in a national tournament is that you know what to expect in the way of defense.

You can't afford to base your campaign on the hope that the opponents will blunder if you can find any more reasonable line of play.

In the hand shown today, played by Samuel M. Stayman in last year's championship, the winning line of play is very hard to find.

West opened the jack of spades, and Stayman played low from the dummy. East won with the king of spades and returned the suit in order to knock out the entry to dummy's long diamonds.

Declarer led a low diamond from the dummy and played the king from his own hand, hoping, but not expecting, that the opponents would take the ace at once.

When East played low and West carefully played the deuce of diamonds, Stayman realized that the suit could not be brought in.

West's play of the deuce of diamonds indicated that he held exactly three cards in the suit. (With two, or four, diamonds West would play high-low instead of following suit with his lowest diamond.)

Against ordinary players declarer might lead another diamond in the hope that the player with the ace would hold off once more. Since this could not be expected of experts, Stayman looked for a better plan.

After some thought he found a way to make his contract. Just for the fun of it, look the hand over carefully and see if you can find the right line of play.

Stayman led a low heart from his hand. East won with the nine of hearts, chased the ace of diamonds, and led jack spade. South won with the queen. Now Stayman hopefully chased the top hearts and clubs and put East in with the last club.

East's last card was a low diamond, and he had to give dummy the precious ninth trick.

Today's Question
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spade 7, Hearts J-10-8-2.

West North East South
1 Spade 2 Clubs Double
You, South, hold: Spades 7-3, Hearts J-10-8-2, Diamonds Q-J-8-7-6, Club 5. What do you do?

Answer: Double. You have a good hand in probably good for five tricks at diamonds, but may be quite worthless at clubs. You can profit by your partner's high cards, but he cannot profit by yours.

What's more, your diamonds are probably stronger than his clubs.

THE STORY: Laurie's French cousin is spending the summer with her father in Indiana. She enjoys the company of a young school teacher named Steve Wyzans, who is taking her to a Saturday night dance.

AS the dance music started and Steve took her into his arms to dance she heard someone at the end of the group whisper, "Just because she's a society girl from New York she probably thinks she could get any man here!"

Laurie flushed and she saw that Steve could scarcely keep his laughter hidden. She wished all at once that she hadn't worn the tulle dress, and she felt a sort of gullit kept following her as they danced.

Laurie had a wonderful time, but all the same, felt a certain sense of relief when the dance was over and she and Steve were in the car driving home.

"You were certainly the belle of the ball," Steve said, as he lit his pipe and turned the car into the river road. There was a suggestion of mockery in the words.

Was he, too, feeling guilty about Evelyn, Laurie wondered. "Well, there's nothing wrong with being the belle of the ball, is there?" Steve laughed. "No. Only if it struck me during the evening that it wasn't quite fair the way you bowled the men over. You've had so much more time for playing and flirting and making yourself attractive to men. You haven't had to earn a living or do without things or—"

"You talk as though I were some sort of a courtesan."

"You are in a way, I suppose."

"They had driven up the lane to her father's house and Steve stopped the car and they sat there a moment without moving. Then he reached for her hand and held it, rubbing the back of it with his thumb thoughtfully.

His words tangled in her mind, and she was starting to pro-

Republican Platform Doesn't Echo GOP Legislators' Acts

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Comparison of the new Republican platform with the actual voting record of Republicans in the last Congress reveals some strange inconsistencies. The only conclusions that can be drawn from this comparison are either that the GOP under General Eisenhower has turned over a completely new leaf, with the "New Crusade" running as a rival to the "New Deal," or else that the platform does not speak at all for the true sentiments of the Republican Old Guard in Congress.

Take the farm planks. The GOP platform comes out in favor of commodity loans. But more than half the House Republicans and almost all the Senate Republicans voted against a $2,000,000,000 increase in Commodity Credit Corporation borrowing authority in 1951.

The platform also offers support for crop insurance. Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, however, in both 1951 and 1952 introduced amendments to cut funds for crop insurance administration. And these amendments were supported by majorities of the Republican senators.

The record is the same on an expanded soil conservation program, which the platform calls for. Four out of five of the Republican senators voted to cut soil conservation funds from $28,000,000 to $18,000,000 this year.

Planks On Small Business
Take the planks on small business, which no politician would dare say openly he was against. The Republican platform pledges "equal enforcement of the anti-monopoly and unfair competition statutes." In the 80th Congress, it is called, 90 per cent of the Senate Republicans killed a $1,000,000 appropriation for the Federal Trade Commission to enforce monopoly regulation. And the same Congress voted overwhelmingly in favor of the Bullwinkle bill which exempted the railroads from anti-trust law regulation.

Take inflation. The 1952 Republican platform favors combatting inflation by "encouraging the full production of goods" but it says later, "We shall remove... injurious price and wage controls." The record here shows that majorities of the Republicans in both Houses of Congress voted last month to kill or weaken the Defense Production Act. This is the act granting authority aimed at increasing production and controlling inflated prices.

Take Social Security. The new platform favors expanding coverage for old age and survivors insurance. This is a complete change from the record of the 80th Congress, which took 800,000 people off the Social Security rolls.

On housing, the 1952 Republican platform says flatly, "We will oppose federal rent control." Since rent control is about the only one of the anti-inflationary measures which has remained effective since it was first introduced during the war, this new stand puts the Republicans out on a limb in opposition to keeping down living costs. But this stand is in complete accord with the vote last month in favor of ending rent controls September 30.

Q—Did the Indians attach any significance to the color of wampum beads? A—Yes, the Indians believed that white stood for health, peace, and riches. Purple and black meant sorrow or sympathy with another's sorrow. The dark beads were often more valuable than the white.

Q—How many words does the average educated adult know? A—Most educated adults know fewer and 10,000 words.

Q—For how long does a kangaroo carry her young in her pouch? A—The baby kangaroo may remain in the pouch for weeks, or sometimes months.

Summer Dream

"I'd rather be a courtesan than a frustrated—small-town—"

"Frustrated what?" Steve asked, and when she didn't answer, he said, "Most of us are frustrated to a certain extent, aren't we? Some of us can't have what we want, some of us grab at something in a great hurry and then find out later we didn't want it at all."

Laurie was still feeling irritated. "I know exactly what I want!" she said defiantly.

She was aware of Steve's hand tightening on hers. "I don't believe you do know," he said, "or you wouldn't be here now."

"What do you mean?"

"If you were sure you wanted to marry that—Fletcher Sturdevant, you'd be in New York and married by now, instead of fooling away the summer here while he waits."

"I just don't want to make a mistake," Laurie said lamely. "My mother did, you know. It isn't that I'm not sure Fletcher and I would be happy, except—"

Steve chuckled. "First dump all that water out and start over again. Measure six cups of water and then add six tablespoons of coffee. That's all there is to it. And don't be mad. You're such fun to tease!"

He showed her how to light the small oilstove, admitting that it was a tricky contrivance. He showed her how it had to be adjusted so that it wouldn't smoke. She set the table as he went about putting on the skillet, filling it with neat slices of bacon and breaking eggs into another pan. It wasn't until breakfast was ready and they were seated at the table that he mentioned the night before. "I'm sorry, Laurie, about last night." He poured coffee into her cup. "Sorry?" "I shouldn't have talked to you the way I did, about your engagement. And—I shouldn't have kissed you."

STEVE had already run his lines and was starting to pro-

Haley Project In SW Ector Drilling After Drillstem Test

Hanley Company and associates No. 1 C. V. Headley, Northwest Ector County wildcat entered the Pennsylvanian formation at 10,660 feet, according to the pick of some geologists.
Elevation of the prospector is 2,900 feet. No shows of oil or gas production in commercial amounts have been encountered since it entered the Pennsylvanian.
A drillstem test was run at 10,641-741 feet. The tool was open 25 minutes. There was a slight blow of air for eight minutes and it then died.
Recovery was 17 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud. There were no shows of oil or gas formation water.
Drilling Ahead
The project is now making hole below 10,770 feet in lime and shale. It will continue digging until it determines the petroleum producing ability of the full Pennsylvanian section.
This wildcat has already flowed at the estimated rate of from 3 to 25 barrels of oil per hour from the Wolfcamp lime of the lower Permian at 10,085-143 feet.

Another Potential Reported For Pool Discovery In Floyd

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Mrs. Minnie Adams, discovery in Central-South Floyd County, eight miles southeast of Floydada, had been re-completed as a flowing producer from 7,800 to 7,784 feet for a daily potential of 188 barrels of 28.8-gravity oil, it was pumped on second potential for 162 barrels of oil through the same perforations.
Pay section had been treated with 7,000 gallons.
Location is 1,980 feet from west and 700 feet from north lines of section 32, P. D. Adams survey.

Three Victims Of Theater Accident Stay In Hospital

AUSTIN—(AP)—Three persons, all in satisfactory condition, remained in the hospital Friday, recovering from injuries inflicted by the collapse of a ceiling section in a downtown theater Thursday.
Several tons of metal lath and plaster fell approximately 50 feet from the ceiling to the floor about 12:06 p.m., covering about 20 rows of seats.
Fourteen children and one man were injured.
Most seriously hurt was Jimmy Wallace, 14, whose skull was fractured. W. D. Luedcke, 26, suffered a shoulder fracture, and Donnie Ray Bokor, nine, had cuts on the nose.
An audience of 92 children and 38 adults rushed from the theater in panic when the strip of plaster, approximately 30 by 40 feet, thundered down in front of the orchestra pit.
The spectators were largely young people who had been attracted by the thriller, "Tarzan's Savage Fury." The feature had not yet started, and a musical short had been on the screen about six minutes when the plaster showered down.

The Queen Theater, scene of the accident, is one of Austin's oldest movie houses. City Building Inspector John Eckert, said the cause probably was the result of a gradual loosening of nails which held the lath and plaster to the joists.
Theater Owner Louis Nory felt lucky the accident had not happened two hours later.
"By that time the theater would have been crowded, and we could have had someone killed," he said.

Auto Dealers Gain Most Under Relaxed Credit Regulations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The lifting of controls on installment buying last May 7 has pushed credit business to a new high. The biggest time payment boom was in autos.
The Federal Reserve Board announced Thursday that installment buying during June jumped 693 million dollars on top of a 447 million rise in May.
The total debt of installment buyers on June 30 stood at $13,787,000,000, better than the previous record heavy Christmas buying last December.
The big rush for automobiles was attributed to fear that the steel strike would make new cars hard to get for a long time.
The installment buying plus a 50 million dollar rise in non-installment credit brought overall consumer credit to $20,251,000,000. Only last December's record of $20,844,000,000 was higher.

Five miles northwest of Talpa and in Runnels County, Slick-Moorman No. 1 Claude Brookshier has been abandoned at 3,795 feet. It was 330 feet from north and west lines of section 140, Sam Brookshier survey.
Location is 600 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey.
It is five and one-half miles west of the Vealmoor, (Pennsylvanian reef) field.

Garza Prospector Plugged, Abandoned

Alamo Corporation of Lubbock has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Morris Neff, Central Garza County wildcat, at total depth of 3,238 feet in Glorejita lime and shale.
The project made some oil and some water, however there was not enough oil to make a producer.
Location was 530 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 89, block 5, H&CIN survey and four miles northeast of Post.

Upper Permian Test Spotted In Sutton

Ralph C. Hart of Fort Worth has staked location for a three-quarters of a mile northwest outpost to the discovery and lone producer in the Brushy Top field of North-Central Sutton County.
It is No. 1 R. M. Thomson and is located 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 67, block A, HE&WT survey.
Cable tools will be used to drill to 1,000 feet to test the upper Permian. Operations will begin at once.

Schleicher Wildcat Plugged, Abandoned

Earl Pain, Jr., of Dallas No. 1 Mrs. Grace O'Harrow, wildcat in Northeast Schleicher County, has been abandoned after plugging back from 6,402 to 5,836 feet and testing the Pennsylvanian.
Location was 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 84, block I, OH&SA survey and 18 miles northeast of Eldorado.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Blue Bandanna

Uncle Bunkum from the zoo had come again to the Great Forest. He had come for a visit with the folks at the monkey house.

MAKE WORK EASIER!

A help on the job

Don't let hours drag. Chew Wrigley's Spearmint Gum. Gives you a nice little lift. Helps work go smoother, easier.

"Did you bring me a present?" "Now, now, now," said Daddy Ringtail.

"Hi! Hi! Hi!" laughed Uncle Bunkum in his cackly-wacky, Uncle Bunkum voice.

"Sure," said Mugwump, "and Uncle Bunkum, thank you for the present I am sure you brought me, I hope, and I wonder what it is."

"Just your wait," said Uncle Bunkum, and again he laughed his very happy, cackly-wacky, Uncle Bunkum laugh.

The present was in a little box all tied with a string, and Mugwump was so excited to know what it was — he shook with excitement while he tried to open the package.

Mugwump slowly took it out of the box, Mugwump held it up, and said in a sad voice that was trying not to be unhappy "I uh — I guess I have always wanted a big blue handkerchief, because I might have a big, bad cold in my nose some-time."

Oh, but Uncle Bunkum explained that the present was not a big blue handkerchief. Oh no! It only looked like a big blue handkerchief. Really it was a blue bandanna of the kind a cowboy wears around his neck.

Yes sir, a real, big, blue bandanna of the cowboy kind. That's the thing the present was, and Mugwump now was so happy to hear it — all so happy to know what the present really was — he tied the bandanna around his neck and played-like a cowboy all the rest of the happy day.

Beef did not become important in the American diet until after the Civil War, says the National Geographic Society.

as nice as some of the presents I have brought you, but I left the zoo in such a hurry that I didn't have time to —

Shake my boots and saddle!

Shake my boots and saddle!

Shake my boots and saddle!

Shake my boots and saddle!

Mustering-Out Pay Forms Are Asked For Area Veterans

W. G. Abbott, commander of the Midland American Legion Post, said Friday that he had written a letter to the Veterans Administration office at Lubbock, requesting application forms for mustering-out pay to discharged Korean veterans.

Abbott said he should receive the forms within a few days and that they would be available at the American Legion office, 206 South Colorado Street.

Mustering-out payments are $300 for those with at least 90 days service who were on active duty outside the continental limits of the United States or Alaska; $200 for those who were outside the U. S. or Alaska, and $100 for those who spent less than 90 days on active duty.

Korean veterans discharged before the new GI Bill became law also may receive mustering-out pay, provided they apply to their branch of service within two years from July 1, 1952.

Absenteeism Vanishes On Payday, When No American Worker Ever Reports Sick

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—There is always one day when no one on the office staff calls in sick.

That is the day the ghost walks—payday.

It is a touching tribute to the durability of the average worker that, no matter how restless a bed of pain he has lain in all week, he will rise from it on payday and trudge into the office to get his paycheck.

That is one day he simply refuses to let the boss down.

Payday is a great American institution, and eternity is regarded by most citizens as "that vague, endless period of enforced hibernation between paydays."

Leech Makes Tushch
All horses may approach their oats in much the same manner. But the characters in the ordinary office react to their rewards in different ways. You probably will recognize some of the following payday characters in your office:

1. The nervous Nellie—"What happened?" "They should have passed out the checks half an hour ago," he mumbles. "Do you think the firm has failed?"

2. The conveyor belt—the office has been mailing his check home for years. "Pay days don't mean anything to me," he whines. "My wife won't even tell me how much I'm making."

3. The human leech—as each fellow employe comes up from the bank after cashing his check, he borrows from $1 to $5 from each and says, "Don't worry—I'm putting it down in my little black book. I won't forget." When he retires years later, the man who cleans out his desk finds 37 little black books, all full of unpaid debts.

Hides Check In Shoes
4. The coward—instead of cashing his check, he sneaks into the men's room and hides it between his sock and the sole of his foot, so no one can rob him.

5. The conscience-stricken vassal—in 1927 the bookkeeping department added $2 to his check by mistake, and has been making the same error ever since. He suffers the tortures of the damned as he leaves open his pay envelope, fearing they have found their blunder and will make him pay up.

6. The gay blade—he starts writing checks to his books, chuckles the stenographer under her chin and asks her for a date, and comes back from lunch smoking a foot-long cigar and smelling like an empty martini glass.

7. The anarchist—he stares at his paycheck moodily and grumbles, "Another insult. How long are we going to put up with it?"
Boss Is Forgotten

8. The spinster secretary—this romantic old maid blushes dreamily as she wonders what else she can buy for her hope chest, the contents of which now overflow three warehouses.

9. The I-remember-when philosopher—he looks at the figures on his check and breaks out crying. "If I only got this when money was money," he sobs.

10. The lonely boss—he walks out into the office feeling proud he has managed to meet another payroll, and he is a little hurt because no one claps him on the back and says gratefully, "Chief, you've done it again!"

By nightfall the office elation is gone, and as they all depart each one looks at the calendar and starts figuring—how long it is, until the next payday?

They can't wait until the ghost walks again—and they only wish he would break into a run.

How many ticks of the watch are there...in 65 years?

You don't think much about it—until your 65th birthday comes around, as Ohio Oil's does, this Friday.

And why do you think about it then?

Because, somehow, age 65 seems like a good time to look back over the days and hours and minutes (it adds up to 10,249,200,000 watch ticks in 65 years)—and see just how well you've used them.

As you look back with us . . .

You see a company whose oil production has grown from less than 800,000 barrels in its first full year of operation to more than 33,800,000 barrels, last year.

You see a few dozen wells in northwest Ohio grown to more than 7000 operating wells in 15 states and Canada.

You see a few horse-drawn wagons changed to a vast and still growing 4000-mile Ohio Oil pipeline network with modern pumping stations, plus terminals and hundreds of giant transport trucks.

You see early hit-or-miss methods changed to the most advanced techniques of exploration, production and conservation.

You see new laboratories and complex modern refineries doing new magic with molecules to turn out better and better petroleum products. You see sparkling new Marathon service stations and company office buildings.

You see a handful of employees back in 1887 grown to a loyal team of 6000 men and women—plus 2700 progressive dealers and jobbers—all contributing their own special skills to their own important jobs.

You see the ownership of the company expanded from the original group of 14 to more than 33,000 shareholders throughout the United States in 1932.

But we hope you see something more. We hope you see what made this possible.

We hope you see the determination there has always been among the people at Ohio Oil to do better, tomorrow, what they do well, today.

Even more important, we hope you see that what Ohio Oil and the entire progressive oil industry have done is simply a demonstration of how free competition in America works to serve every one . . . better and better.

For that is what lets you—and all of us—look forward confidently to the next 10,249,200,000 ticks of the watch.

Rockets Overtake Colts To Win, 10-9

ROSWELL —(P)— The San Angelo Colts overcame a seven run Roswell lead in the top of the ninth with an eight-run rally, but the Rockets came back for two in their half of the ninth to hand the Colts their fourth straight loss, 10-9, here Thursday night.

Trailing, 8-1, going into the ninth, the Colts sent 12 men to the plate, rapped Rocket hurler Audie Malone and Dick Woodworth for seven hits and eight runs to go ahead, 9-8.

But the Rockets wouldn't be denied. A pair of walks, an error, a single by Frank Calo, a sacrifice and Bobby Lemmel's single off John Tavoyan's glove with two down gave the Rockets the two runs they needed in the last of the ninth for the win.

Malone, Rocket starting hurler, had the Colts on his hip through the first eight innings. He had given up eight hits, but the only damage was by Manager Mark Christman's solo homer in the fifth.

Colts Explode
But then the Colts exploded in the ninth. Led by Christman and Greg Sols, each of whom picked up two hits in the inning, and Glen Burns' three-run double, San Angelo overcame the Roswell lead with an eight-run avalanche and went out in front, 9-8. There were seven hits, two walks and a Rocket error in the inning.

Roswell had bounced along, picking up a single run in the second inning on Elwood Grantham's homer, two in the fourth of Calo's single. Malone drove in two with his single in the sixth and Roswell moved in three in the eighth, one of them on Van Hupperts' solo homer.

Wayne Crawford led off with a walk in the Rocket ninth and was sacrificed to second by Al Monchak. Calo singled him in with the tying run and went to second on a lead throw by McClain. Huppert got an intentional pass and Finch Hitter Andy Alonso fanned. Lemmel then singled sharply off Tavoyan's glove, his fourth single of the night, to drive in Calo with the winning marker.

Woodworth took the credit for the win, his third against eight losses this year, after hurling only one-third of an inning.

Clarence Tinkler, the third of four San Angelo hurlers, took the loss.

Dusters Nip Oilers In Ninth, 8-7

ODESSA —(P)— Jim Hayes homered on the first pitch in the top of the ninth inning here Thursday night to break a 7-7 deadlock and give Vernon an 8-7 win over Odessa.

The blow, which sailed over the left field wall, climaxed an uphill surge the Dusters had staged during the final three innings. It also gave the win to Steve Lagomarinio, last of four Vernon pitchers. Lagomarinio, loser in the series opener Wednesday night, came on in the eighth and blanked the league-leaders the final two frames.

Evelio Ortega, ace of the Odessa hurling corps, went all the way in absorbing his sixth loss. He has won 17.

Trailing, 7-4, at the end of seven, the Dusters rallied for three runs to tie it at 7-7 in the eighth. George Hayes doubled to start the inning. Joe Niedson walked and Art Neal dropped a single just inside the right field foul line. Hayes scored and Niedson raced on home when right fielder Marion Tredaway's throw hit a light pole behind first base. Goldie Ohlson singled and Popeye Carreras singled, scoring Neal with the tying run.

Vernon picked up its first three runs in the fourth on Jim Hayes' double, singles by Niedson and Neal and a double by Ohlson. The one in the seventh came on a triple by Ed Bucynski and a single by John Reimold.

Bill Cearley, who joined the Oilers after having been released by Roswell, continued his hitting spree with three for three and two walks. He got two for four Wednesday.

A crowd of 1,104 was on hand for the eighth finale.

Broncs Take Bargain Bill

BIG SPRING —(P)— The Big Spring Broncos won their sixth straight victory by sweeping a doubleheader from the Sweetwater Braves here Thursday night, 6-3 and 4-0.

Oil Guerra fashioned his seveneenth mound decision of the season in the opener, giving up seven hits. He had rough sailing in the first inning when the guests got to him for three hits and two runs but the Broncos went ahead to stay in the fourth, ignited by a two-run triple off the bat of Bertie Bees.

In the nightcap, Oscar Reguera spaced five hits to notch his fourth win of the year. The Braves never threatened in that one.

Reguera was posted to a four-run lead in the first two innings and coasted in.

Al Weill To Take Over September 1 As Rock's Manager

NEW YORK —(P)— Al Weill steps down September 1 as International Boxing Club matchmaker to become full-time manager of heavyweight contender Rocky Marciano.

With Marciano, unbeaten Brooklyn, Mass., slugger, ready to challenge Jersey Joe Walcott for the title in September, Weill decided to resume management of the fighter.

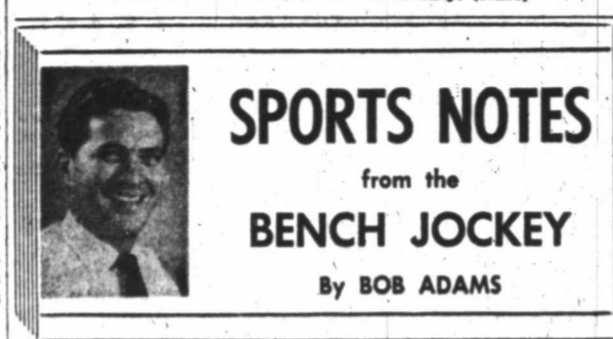

The announcement was made by Jim Norris, IBC president, following a meeting with Weill and Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Weill told Christenberry he wanted to give Marciano the benefit of his many years of experience as a manager and realized he could not do so under state laws while serving as matchmaker.

Marty Weill, Al's stepson has managed the fighter since 1949.

THIS WAY—Capt. Ted Williams illustrates for Capt. Bob Kennedy maneuvers which jet fighter planes the Red Sox slugger pilots are capable of performing. Instead of meeting in front of the dugout, Williams and Kennedy of the Indians now get together on the flight line at the Cherry Point, N.C., Marine Corps Air Station. The outfielders were recalled to active duty. (NEA)

SPORTS NOTES from the BENCH JOCKEY

By BOB ADAMS

How the Midland Indians fare in the next 16 days may tell the tale of whether they will make the playoffs.

Because when they complete the two-game Roswell series Friday and Saturday, they will take on the top three teams in the league in 14 straight games.

During that stretch, August 2-17, they will play the Artesia Drillers a pair of games, the league-leading Odessa Oilers six games and the Big Spring Broncos six contests.

Throughout the season the Indians have managed to knock off the lower division clubs with relative ease. But when they came up against the big boys, they usually got their ears pinned back.

When they head down the home stretch, the most important part of the season, we hope they catch fire and blaze their way right into the playoffs.

Just recently, a speedball pitcher by the name of Julie Kujawa hurled what is believed to be some type of world's softball record in Houston.

Kujawa hurled his third straight perfect softball game, not allowing a single player to reach first base.

In three city playoff games, he has struck out 45 in gaining three no-hitters. Kujawa twice has been an Amateur Softball Association All-American softball pitching selection.

So far this season the Houston softball chucker has hurled eight no-hitters and four perfect games.

A Crane man has come up with an idea for making it Ladies Night every night at Indians Park for some feminine baseball fan.

In a classified ad in Thursday's Reporter Telegram, L. Foster who lists his address as General Delivery, Crane, made the following offering: "Part time secretary wanted after August 6. Hours 7 to 12 p.m. on nights Midland Indians are playing at home. Principal duties will be keeping scorecard and assisting mildly vociferous engineer in instructing the umpires how the games should be called.

"Compensation limited to tickets, cushions, cokes, etc. Preference given to lovely brunette that knows the difference between a strike and second base."

The Odessa Oilers have added a new hurler, right-hander Don Byerley from El Campo, to their squad. The five-foot, 11-inch, 170-pounder graduated from Southwestern University this Spring and joined the Apaches late in the season.

With the signing of Byerley, the Oilers released Johnny Crocker via option to Borger of the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Bill Cearley, who played with Odessa two years ago but who has been wearing a Roswell Rocket uniform this year, also has joined the Oilers.

With the end of the Longhorn season less than a month and a half away, all of the clubs in the upper part of the league will be adding players in an effort to make the playoffs.

Also, it usually is the general practice for the clubs mired deeply in the second division to peddle their better players, after they see that they can't make the playoffs so they can get better prices for them. Look for a good many player deals in the next few weeks.

Littlefield's Illness Said Very Serious

HELSINKI —(P)— Clyde Littlefield, assistant United States Olympic track coach, was described as "a very sick man" Friday by doctors treating him for a stomach ulcer.

The University of Texas coach was found near collapse in the American village restaurant Thursday by two trainers and was taken to the military hospital in Helsinki.

Dr. Harry McPhee, the official physician of the U. S. Olympic team, said blood transfusions were given Littlefield Thursday night and again Friday.

"But he has not reacted well to the transfusions," the doctor said. "We must build him up before an operation would be possible. Right now the bleeding has not been stopped and he is a very sick man."

McPhee said Littlefield's ulcer apparently had been bleeding several days before he was taken to the hospital but the coach had not let anybody know of it.

The doctor said Littlefield, who had been scheduled to make an European tour with a group of American track and field men, may be required to remain in Helsinki several days before he can be moved back to the United States.

J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the United States Olympic committee, said the best specialist in Helsinki had been obtained to treat the ailing coach.

Berri Long, Riley Clash In Western Semi-Final Feature

LOS ANGELES —(P)— Fifteen-year-old Berri Long of West Virginia, rallying from behind for the second straight day, defeated Gloria Fecht of Palm Springs, Calif., 1-0 on the nineteenth hole, in the quarter-finals of the women's Western Golf Tournament Thursday.

Folly Riley of Fort Worth defeated Mrs. Jack Damerel, Glendale, Calif., 2 and 1. Miss Riley and Miss Long met in the semi-finals Friday.

In the lower bracket, Mary Ann played the best golf of the day in defeating Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., 3 and 2.

Miss Downey Friday met Pat Lester of Seattle, 19-year-old Pacific Northwest champion, who defeated Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., 1-up on the eighteenth.

Prior to signing with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Dick Groat was a star in the College World Series at Omaha. He played errorless ball for Duke University in this classic and batted .332.

Former Army Tank Jockey Sets All-American Pattern

CHICAGO —(P)— Dick Mayer, former Army tank sergeant who is seeking his first major golf title, Friday led a par-crunching array of pros into the second round of the $30,000 All-American tourney.

Mayer, 28-year-old St. Petersburg, Fla., pro of three seasons, shot a seven-under-par opening 65, to take a one-stroke lead over national PGA Champion Jim Turnesa.

Turnesa in turn, had four 67 shooters on his heels after Thursday's opening drive over Tam O'Shanter's gay acres which produced 45 scores under par 72.

You could take your pick among solid performers and dark horses as to who might be winging ahead when the 72-hole chase for top prize of $3,420 ends Sunday.

Knotted at 67, two strokes behind Mayer, who whipped in eight birdies Thursday, were Ted Rhodes, hunting the first top-drawer win by a negro; Bob Gads, another lesser light; and two well-tried hands, the incomparable Sammy Sneed and Johnny Palmer, recent Canadian Open winner.

There were four 68 gunners, including Defending Champion Cary Middlecoff, 1952's leading money winner; Ed Furgol, the crook-armed fairways Trojan; Henry Williams, 1950 national PGA runner-up; and Jack Isaacs, in his first Tam try.

Ten players were bunched at 69, among them the year's second top money-winner Jack Burke, and say "ade Jimmy Demaret. A whopping group of 20 players were under 70, and anyone of them could walk off with the big money.

In the concurrent All-American amateur, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who almost has a monopoly on the title, was a two-stroke leader with two-under par 70.

Still a third phase of the All-American merry-go-round, the Women's Open, was paced by Betty Jameson, charming San Antonio pro. Betty's three-under-par 73 gave her a two-stroke lead over National Open Champion Louise Suggs and Betty Bush, also pros.

Shantz Elbows No. 19; Brooks Sack Twin Bill

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Little Bobby Shantz, leading candidate for the American League's most valuable player award, looks like baseball's "Man of the Year."

With a dazzling 19-3 record, the little lefty is a sure thing to become the majors' first 20-game winner in '52. Barring a slump he should become the first to win 25 for the Philadelphia A's since Lefty Grove in 1932.

Even the 30-win mark, a target nobody has reached since Dizzy Dean's great performance in 1934, is within reach for the A's still have 50 games to play.

Shantz' nineteenth was a four-hitter against Detroit, 2-1, in the first game of a doubleheader. He struck out seven and walked only two in outpitching young Billy Hoert. The A's also took the second game, 3-2, with three runs in the ninth off Virgil Trucks. Hoerners by Trucks and Walt Droco provided the only Tiger runs off winner Alex Kellner.

The twin Philadelphia wins helped lighten the American race a bit. Even the fifth-place A's, eight games back, remain in the race.

Raschi Notches Twelfth
Vic Raschi, regaining his old as New York Yankee ace, went tenth straight and twelfth of the season by a 6-2 score over Chicago to keep the Yanks three games ahead of the Indians.

Cleveland staged a six-run rally in the eighth to make it two out of three over Boston, 8-2. Joe Tip-ton's tie-breaking homer off Maurice McDermott started the spree that also included a two-run triple by Larry Doby and a double by Al Rosen. Bob Lemon earned his twelfth victory with a seven-hitter, including a two-run homer by Del Wilber, his first of the year.

Washington remained five and one-half games back of the Yanks by scoring five in the first inning before anybody was out to Rip St. Louis, 10-4. Sandy Consuegra, relieving Randy Gumpert in the fourth, won his fifth in a row.

Brooklyn widened its National League lead to six games over New York by knocking off Pittsburgh in two games, 7-4 in 11 innings and 4-1. A walk by Relfer Paul LaPalme with the bases loaded gave the Dodgers the first game. Joe Landrum, just advanced from the Fort Worth farm where he won 15, copped his first big league start in the second game with an eight-hitter.

Cubs Edge Giants
Chicago went wild to score nine in the seventh and trim the Giants, 11-8. Despite an 11-1 lead, the Cubs had to battle to stave off a late Giant rally. Three in the seventh and four in the eighth on Jim Rhodes' grand slam homer made it close.

The St. Louis Cards ripped into Vern Bickford for six in the fifth inning to thump the Boston Braves, 5-3. Billy Johnson had two singles in the big inning, when 10 batters went to the plate.

Philadelphia is next port of call for the crumpling Cardinals, who now are only four games behind the Giants. The Phillies, also red-hot, and Cincinnati were idle.

'Big Three' Earn Last-Gap Verdicts In WT-NM Games

By The Associated Press
The big three in the West Texas-New Mexico League kept "dirt" in the ninth inning when it's do-or-die.

First-place Cleve did Ablene in, 13-8, by racing across six runs in the first of the ninth.

Albuquerque raced in reliever Jesse Priest to turn the trick on Pampa when the Oilers staged a rally in the ninth but Priest came on to save Frank Decarolis' win, 5-4, for the Dukes.

Lubbock maintained a tie in second with Albuquerque by edging home three runs in the ninth for a 4-3 verdict over Amarillo.

In the other game, Lamesa took undisputed hold on fourth place with a 12-7 margin over Borger.

SYMBOL OF SAFETY

You never mistake the meaning of a Church spire.

Even to those who are cold to the ideals for which the Church stands, that finger of faith always points to something that is comforting, reassuring, safe.

The very presence of a Church, whether in a crowded city street or on a quiet country road, is a benediction to all, including those who are not conscious of worship.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support—your membership—because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Navy Plans Atomic Engines For High Speed Men O' War

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States, reporting progress on atomic-powered submarines and aircraft, Friday launched a new project: development of giant atomic-powered warships.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced it had asked the Westinghouse Electric Company to develop an atomic engine capable of propelling "large vessels such as aircraft carriers."

This immediately revived speculation that atom-powered battleships and giant commercial liners like the Queen Mary and the USS United States easily could make 100,000 mile cruises at top speed—and without refueling.

Such estimates are based on the fact that a pound of fissionable uranium or its titanite twin, plutonium, could generate as much power as 1,500 tons of coal or 200,000 gallons of fuel oil.

The AEC's announcement came only a few hours after release of its twelfth semi-annual report to Congress in which the commission reported progress on the development of nuclear-powered aircraft and on two different types of atomic engines for submarines.

The fact that AEC awarded the contract for the large vessel atomic engine project to Westinghouse indicates it believes that at least one submarine engine project is definitely assured of success.

This appears likely because Westinghouse is building an atomic submarine engine at the AEC's landlocked site in Arco, Idaho, which is scheduled to be installed in the Navy's projected atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus.

Evidently the Navy, too, had no doubts that the engine will work, because the service has already laid the keel of the Nautilus.

Interment Of Eva Peron's Body May Be Postponed Year

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—President Juan D. Peron's office indicated Friday the body of his wife, Eva, may be embalmed that it can be placed on permanent public view.

In a similar manner the body of V. I. Lenin—father of the Bolshevik revolution—is on permanent exhibit in Moscow and former Bulgarian Premier Georgi Dimitroff's remains are on exhibit in Sofia.

The announcement said permanent interment of Mrs. Peron might be delayed for more than a year and that the body then would be placed in a monument in the heart of Buenos Aires. The phrasing indicated her remains would be placed in a glass case.

Negro Gunman Slips By Roadblock After Attempt At Robbery

CORRIGANA—(AP)—Search continued Friday for a slightly-built, long-winded negro who attempted to rob the First National Bank of Richmond early Thursday.

The negro was frightened away from about $3,000 in loot when a woman customer of the bank ran from the building screaming loudly.

The negro was later seen at Streetman but late Thursday night had eluded efforts to catch him.

State police and officers of Navarro, Freestone and Limestone counties threw up road blocks to no avail.

The woman who screamed frantically the would-be robber, may get a dividend from the bank.

Mattie Jones, also a negro, ran screaming from the bank while the bandit was forcing Cashier Jim Richards at pistol point to fill a paper sack with money. The negro fled, leaving behind his loot, between $2,500 and $3,000.

"I'm going to recommend to the insurance company that Mattie Jones be given a check," Richards said. "She kept the bank from being robbed."

Slight Loss Results In Residential Fire

Mild damage was reported by Midland firemen in a fire at the residence of W. H. Batis, 1200 Southeast Front Street, at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Firemen said the blaze originated when gasoline being used by a painter became ignited.

The painter was reported to have suffered burns about the legs, but hospitals had no record of his being treated.

Hoxsey Cancer 'Cure' Gets Curb On Out-Of-State Sale

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The Hoxsey Cancer Clinic of Dallas is expected to carry to the U. S. Supreme Court its fight against an injunction granted Thursday by the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals here.

The appeals court, overruling a decision by Federal Judge William H. Atwell in Dallas Dec. 21, 1950, granted the government an injunction to stop the clinic from shipping two medicines in interstate commerce.

The appeals court ruling described the medicines involved as "bottles of brownish-black, and pink colored liquids intended for use in the treatment and cure of cancer in man."

A fight to the highest court was promised by Hoxsey's lawyer, Herbert K. Hyde of Oklahoma City.

Judge Atwell, who had denied the government the injunction in his court, declined to comment on the New Orleans court ruling.

The appeals court referred to the government contention that the drugs were "misbranded, because their labeling, specifically a booklet accompanying them, contained general and specific statements which represent and suggest that said drugs are efficacious in the treatment, mitigation and cure of cancer in man . . . are false and misleading since the drugs are not efficacious in the treatment, mitigation and cure of cancer in man."

The ruling also cited the defense stand that the booklets "expressly state that the medicines will cure all cases, but only that they cure some, do not cure some and relieve somewhat."

The appeals court said Judge Atwell's court committed "an abuse of discretion" in not issuing the injunction. The ruling also cited testimony before the Dallas jurist that there was enough potassium iodide in the clinic's black medicine to "cause damage to some people" if taken as recommended.

Nixon Calls Adlai Stevenson Tool Of CIO, Bosses, Truman

COLUMBUS, OHIO—(AP)—Republican Senator Richard M. Nixon of California opened his vice-presidential campaign Thursday night with a call for prosperity based on peace and honest government.

The running mate of Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower delivered a fighting speech to a cheering state Republican convention. And he told an overflow audience in the 2,845-seat

Palace Theater that "Ike" will be a fighting candidate for president "right down to election day."

The was more determined than ever about that, Nixon said, "after he heard what the Democrats in the Chicago convention were saying about him."

It was the 39-year-old Nixon's first political speech since his nomination July 11. He flew here from Dallas, and left for Denver conferences with Eisenhower Friday and Saturday.

Grand Jurors Free Hospital Attendant In Patient's Death

KAUFMAN—(AP)—The Kaufman County Grand Jury refused Thursday to indict a young attendant at Terrell State Hospital who had been charged with murder in the death of an inmate.

The no-bill action cleared Bobby Gene Autry, 20, of blame for the death of Dennis Oscar McCain, 17, of Paris, Texas, who died on an operating table at the institution July 22.

Kaufman County Attorney Robert K. Ramsey said McCain died while surgeons were making an exploratory operation to determine the cause of his illness. Ramsey said the inmate evidently died of hemorrhaging from the rupture of a small intestine and that the youth had been "kneed" in the stomach.

On the same day the murder charge against Autry was filed, Dr. George Jackson said in Austin that Autry apparently mistook as an attack a playful attempt by McCain to take away the attendant's ward keys. Dr. Jackson is medical director of the state hospital system.

Black Indians Lose JayCees Game, 6-5

In a hard-fought conflict, the Midland JayCee semi-pro baseball team edged the Midland Black Indians, 6 to 5, Thursday night at Indian Park.

The score was deadlocked three different times. In the ninth, Hayden White poled one out of the park to win the battle for the JayCees.

Leon Hays was on the mound for the JayCees, and Carpenter Hall hurried for the Black Indians.

White paced the JayCee hitting with three for five, while T. A. Hall was the big gun for the Indians with three for four.

Kefauver Backer Asks Party To Refund His Contribution

PORT WORTH—(AP)—E. O. Gilliam, state campaign manager for Senator Estes Kefauver, contributed $100 to the Democratic National Committee B. C. (before Chicago).

Friday, he said he wanted the money back.

It was obtained through "misrepresentation and error," the Fort Worth soap manufacturer declared in a pithy demand on National Chairman Frank McKinney for a refund.

It's not the money, Gilliam said. He once headed the Roosevelt Thousand Dollar Club and has given about $1,500 annually to the national committee. He also spent about $5,000 in the Kefauver-nomination campaign.

He says he is unhappy about the national convention. A broken promise by President Truman "not to interfere" and the presidential word that an "open" convention would be held are cited as reasons for discontent. "Dishonest procedure" and a "phony draft," are other allegations.

Gilliam referred to nominee Adlai Stevenson as having "reneged piety" and as "an unwilling self-admitted incapable man who insists he does not want the job."

Gilliam says he will support the Democratic ticket through the governor's level but not for Eisenhower. "You cannot frighten me into believing that if the Democrats are not returned to power this country will collapse," he wrote McKinney. "You have been too long in office. We need a change."

Three MIG's Drop To Earth As Sabres Swarm Over Korea

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said United Nations pilots shot down three Communist jets and damaged two over North Korea Friday as clearing weather brought renewed intensity to the war.

The U. S. Eighth Army said bayonet-wielding Allied infantrymen recaptured the crest of Old Baldy hill in a bloody eight-hour fight on the Western Front.

The Russian-made MIG-15 jets were shot down in the first all-jet battle since July 23. Planes from a flight of 32 U. S. Sabre jets battled elements of more than 60 MIG's for more than 10 minutes near the Korea-Manchuria border. Allied losses, if any, were not reported.

Credit for shooting down one of the MIG's in the swirling air battle near the Yalu River went to Lt. Alfred Miller of Wichita Falls, Texas.

In Tokyo, Gen. O. P. Weyland, commanding general of the U. S. Far East Air Forces, announced the addition of about 75 sleek F-84 Thunderjet fighter-bombers to UN air strength for action over Korea.

A monthly Air Force summary reported that the Communists lost 32 planes in July, the United Nations, 19.

JayCees Voice Need Of More Tilt Fans

Need for better attendance at games was stressed by Ralph Easterwood, co-manager of the Midland JayCees Semi-Pro baseball club, at the JayCees Friday noon luncheon at the Midland Country Club.

Easterwood pointed out the club is star-studded with ex-pros and is giving top-notch performances, but that attendance has been very poor at games.

The speaker urged the JayCees to "get behind the club and sell the public on the idea that it has a team worth watching."

Les Cobb, co-manager, also spoke.

Dixie Publishers Beat Drum For Ike

ATLANTA—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will have the editorial support of more newspapers than ever before backed a Republican presidential nominee in the traditionally Democratic South.

An Associated Press survey of almost 100 papers in 11 Southern states showed Friday that 41 have endorsed the general or will do so and past performance indicates several in the "undecided" list will go to him.

Paradoxically, however, this does not mean editors of the area are much more opposed to the 1952 Democratic candidate, Adlai Stevenson, than they were to President Truman when he ran in 1948. Four years ago the anti-New Deal-anti-Fair Deal sentiment was divided between Thomas Dewey, the GOP nominee, and Strom Thurmond, choice of the States' Righters, and these two men drew more editorial page endorsements than Truman.

That year, 24 of the papers surveyed were for Dewey, 23 for Thurmond.

At this early stage in the campaign, only 22 papers have come out for Stevenson and Senator John Sparkman, the Democrats' vice presidential nominee from Alabama. In 1948, 25 of those questioned this year were lined up for Truman. Presumably, Stevenson's total will approach that.

This tally includes only papers in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, Virginia and the Carolinas which endorsed a ticket in 1948 or have done so this year. It covered most of the leading papers in all the 11 states.

WHEN URGENCY BARS CAUTION

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—This sign may soon startle truck drivers barreling along near this city in upstate New York.

"Please drive slow—children crossing to bathroom."

The idea for the sign struck James Murphy after state surveyors told him a proposed truck route would pass either through his barn or his house.

Murphy is waiting for more information before he erects his sign.

Texas Air Crewman Commended As Jets Set Flight Record

WICHITA, KAN.—(AP)—Airman 1/c Floyd D. Trimble of Point Raina, Texas, was among ground crewmen singled out for praise Thursday for helping make a jet plane endurance experiment successful.

Crew Chief Trimble was a ground crewman for two T-33 jet training planes that set a new world record for the airborne in 30 days. The planes were flown in relays by some 60 pilots from Wichita Air Force Base.

They had piled up 285 and 355 hours, respectively, since the test began a month ago.

Col. H. R. Spicer, air base and training wing commander, gave full credit for the feat to the enlisted ground crewmen who kept the jets in the air.

Air base officials said the previous world mark for fighter-type craft was believed held by an F-80C Shooting Star, which logged 307 hours in the air in one month in Korea.

Newsman's Junket To Front Reveals 'Fantastic Warfare' North Of Seoul

By JAMES A. MICHENER

WITH THE U. S. MARINES, EORREKA—(AP)—For the Marines it was just another day. For me it was a strange introduction to the fantastic war they are fighting north of Seoul. I wish all Americans could have experienced it. Then they would understand something of the Korean War.

I started early with a helicopter trip to the front. I rode at 100 feet in a copter whose side had been ripped away so I could hang over the edge and look straight down at the strange, sweet beauty of Korea. Red hills, green plains, handsome rivers, ancient graveyards and up ahead the battle line.

Our troops are dug into bunkers and deep trenches, but even so, each day incoming enemy shells kill some of our men. Today more than 900 enemy shells hit our positions. Overpowering Heat

The temperature rises to 114 degrees. I've never known such heat, not even on the equator but probably that's because down there I never worked so hard as I shall this day. For we climb to several different hill positions and from the moment I start I shall not be dry. It is a stinking, steaming, dangerous war. Mid-morning I visit one of the most incredible positions ever occupied by American troops. It is an isolated hill four miles within enemy lines, completely surrounded by Chinese Communist territory and looking down upon the fateful armistice negotiation tents at Panmunjom.

As I stand in this strange outpost, I see through the glasses 18 Communist soldiers filtering down a hill they mistakenly think to be in the neutral zone. They are going to set up a gun with which to harass our side calls down an artillery mission, which lands smack on the enemy and inflates heavy casualties. The young lieutenant shows no sign of triumph.

Less than a week ago 17 of his buddies were killed by the Communists near that very spot.

In Sight Of Panmunjom

The unbelievable aspect of this artillery shelling is that while I followed the flight of our shells, the shadow of our hill fell almost across the front of Panmunjom. I turned less than 40 degrees away from the dead enemy, and I could watch our negotiators enter the meeting at Panmunjom. Tonight, when the negotiations have ended, Communists will try to penetrate this lonely outpost and if they succeed, they will destroy our men. The war never ceases.

In the afternoon I climb to another advanced position to study the effectiveness of close Marine air support against a hill which our ground troops cannot reach. Four Marine pilots roar down through intense flak and blast a hill with tons of fire. They accomplish wonders but as the last plane pulls away it starts to spray oil. I know it will have to crash. Silently, prayerfully, we wait for the explosion. But none comes.

This is the lucky day for pilot Marcus McNally of Houston. He belly lands within a thousand yards of the press train at Munsan—and walks away unhurt, he is being interviewed. Say his friends, "A cheap bid for publicity."

In the late afternoon Col. Fred Henderson of Gary, Ind., tells me I must see this amazing wild man who works the rockets. Capt. Joe Travers, Buffalo, N. Y., is this year's version of the 1864 Confederate cavalry. He says, "You can watch us fire this mission if you want to. But be ready to scam like a bat out of hell. Don't turn your jeep off."

Ripple Of Rockets

A ripple of rockets is something never to forget. The roar and the flame and the swoosh and the exploded movement of the crew are ghostly, but the tell-tale flash and the great pillar of dust thrown up by the back-blast betray your position immediately.

Colonel Henderson ripped our jeep right out of there at frightening speed. Thirty seconds after we hauled tail a salvo of Communist shells landed right where we had been. They were 105's and they chewed the place up pretty bad. Ironically both the shells and the gun which fired them were handed to the Chinese by America in 1945.

I join Gen. John Selden's briefing at Marine headquarters and there I hear the rumorless adding machine of war: "First Marines, three dead... enemy assault... the F4U pilot never got out of his plane when it crashed... send a case of beer to the Korean Marines who captured the prisoners... tonight four more probing attacks by How Company..."

It's war. It all happened within a few miles of Panmunjom and it will go on happening, for men here fear that there will be no end.

Senators Plan Trip To Study Overseas Air Base Expenses

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Long (D-La) and Senator Morse (Ore) plan to leave next Tuesday on a 25,000-mile tour of U. S. overseas airbases. Their goal is to find ways of saving the taxpayers millions of dollars on costs of foreign bases.

"I'm convinced from testimony taken by congressional committees that we are spending too much on some of these bases," Long told a reporter.

Long and Morse are members of a Senate preparedness subcommittee which criticized wastes and extravagance in the construction of multi-million dollar airbases in North Africa and Greenland during the recent session of Congress. Long was chairman of a Senate subcommittee which handled the defense construction bill and got the Senate to cut almost 700 million dollars from a three billion dollar defense projects appropriation.

The two senators, with a small staff of experts, planned to be gone a month to six weeks with stops at Greenland, North Africa, Iceland, European bases and other locations still listed as top secret. Long said most of the trip would be made in military airplanes.

The services will be held August 20 in Midland's First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the church and board member, extended the invitation to the trustees to attend.

Dr. Lackey died June 28, in Fort Worth, where he had lived since retirement in 1941.

CAA Inspection Group Looks Over Airport Facilities

A group of Civil Aeronautics Administration and state airport officials was to arrive at Midland Air Terminal at 2 p.m. Friday to inspect facilities and to confer with city and Chamber of Commerce officials concerning future needs of airport facilities here.

Heading the group of officials will be Ed Travis of Fort Worth, regional chief airport engineer for the CAA; J. D. Church, district airport engineer, CAA, Abilene, and Cliff Green, director of aeronautics for the State of Texas.

Clyde Sharrer, director of aviation for the City of Midland, said the visitors will be met by Mayor Perry D. Fickett and other city and Chamber of Commerce officials.

A conference is scheduled in Sharrer's office in the airport terminal.

Defense Contracts Due Small Business

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Small Defense Plants Administration has worked out an agreement with the armed forces to increase defense contracts going to small manufacturers.

Following the lead of the Navy and Air Force, the Army Department Thursday agreed to cooperate with SDPA specialists in earmarking certain military orders exclusively for small companies.

The act Thursday which will result in the company's 14,000 employees returning to their jobs immediately.

The agreement is similar to the strike-ending pact which the union and the nation's six largest steel companies agreed upon last week. It provides an average 21-cent an hour pay boost for men now getting almost $2 an hour.

Crucible's contract continues to provide a union shop whereby all new employees must join and remain members of the union. The steelworkers' contract with the "Big Six" provides a modified union shop which permits new employees to withdraw from the union between the 15th and 30th day of employment.

Although the steelworkers' union reached a strike-ending agreement with the "Big Six" companies it now is negotiating a complete contract. Negotiating sessions are underway with U. S. Steel and other firms. Such things as management rights, seniority and incentive pay rate procedure are being worked out. There was no report of progress from Thursday's first meeting with U. S. Steel and it was indicated the sessions may be lengthy. Meanwhile, the union is negotiating contracts with some firms which thus far have not gone along with the agreement which ended the 55-day strike against the big producers. Among them is Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation.

In addition to some 10,000 Allegheny Ludlum employees who are idle, about 15,000 employed by Wheeling (W. Va.) remain on strike. Talks between the union and Wheeling were recessed indefinitely Thursday.

As the big steel industry roared toward full production the auto industry's big three producers—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—announced plans for stepping up lagging production.

Chrysler says it will reopen its foundries next week and hopes to have 55,000 employees—most of its personnel—back in the factories the following week.

Ford plans to resume five-day operations next week at its 15 division assembly plants across the nation, affecting 22,000 employees.

'Pauper' Farouk Eats Fill In Elite Capri Night Spot

ISLE OF CAPRI, ITALY—(AP)—Noly-poly ex-king Farouk of Egypt, who claims he is "no longer a rich man," dined richly with his family Thursday night at one of this pleasure island's most exclusive night clubs.

The unemployed monarch, who said at a news conference that he would "live simply" now that he has lost his throne, was a guest of British Musical Star Gracie Fields at her sumptuous "Cassone del Mare" restaurant.

Gracie, an old friend of the deposed ruler, invited Farouk and his family to her villa for cocktails. Later, the party—which included ex-Queen Nourmahad and Farouk's three daughters by his previous marriage—joined regular customers at the restaurant.

It was learned that Nourmahad brought only four pieces of luggage with her when she followed her husband into exile.

The young ex-Queen revealed this when she asked the wife of the owner of the hotel where Farouk and his family are staying to have her white suit cleaned "as soon as possible."

"I couldn't salvage much," she confided.

Previously it had been reported that the royal family brought 204 trunks with them on their voyage from Egypt into exile here.
