Gauges Reported From Outpost In C-N Crockett

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-B Shannon Estate, one-half mile west outpost to production in the Elkhorn (Ellenburger) field of Central-North Crockett County, was flowing by heads to test.

After drilling out to 7,499 feet, operator perforated five and one-half inch casing from 7,478 to 7,493 feet. After swabbing out drilling load in 18 hours, the well was swabbed for 11 hours. Recovery was 236 barrels of new oil.

Operator then circulated oil through perforations. The well kicked off and flowed one hour and died. No gauge was made. It then was swabbed for four hours. Recovery was 70 barrels of new oil. After being shut in 10 hours, the project flowed 17 1/2 barrels of new oil during the first hour after it was opened up. Flowing tubing pressure was from 50 to 75 pounds.

The above testing was natural. Location is 600 feet from north and east line of section 38, block UV, GC&SP survey.

Red Jets Kill Two Fliers On Navy Mariner

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Navy reported Monday that one of its patrol planes fought off two Russian built MIG jet fighters over the Yellow Sea Thursday and returned to its base in Korea. Two of its crew were killed and two were wounded in the fight.

The Navy said the plane, a Martin Mariner, was on routine patrol over the sea area west of Korea when it was attacked by two "Chinese Communist MIG-15" fighters.

In a running fight, the American plane, a 500-mile-an-hour flying boat, was damaged but was able to limp to down off the Siberian coast Saturday by a Soviet fighter.

The Navy said the two crewmen killed were: Aviation Machinist Mate H. O. Goodroad, Jamestown, N. D. Aviation Electronics Man Claude Plyforth, Cincinnati, Ohio. Two Texans Wounded

The two wounded: Aviation Ordnance Man Third Class R. H. Smith, Abilene, Texas. Airman Apprentice H. T. Atkins, League City, Texas.

The Navy's announcement was issued here some hours after reports had circulated widely in Tokyo that a U. S. Navy plane had been shot down off the Siberian coast Saturday by a Soviet fighter.

Navy men said the incident reported in the official announcement was one which gave rise to the Tokyo reports.

The brief Navy announcement did not locate the scene of this air battle beyond stating that it was over the Yellow Sea. This is to the west of the Korean peninsula.

The U. S. Patrol plane was piloted by Lt. E. E. Bartlett of George West, Texas.

During the first year of the Korean War an enemy patrol plane was shot down over the Yellow Sea by American fighters in the same general area believed to have been the scene of the latest clash.

In that first brush between Allied and Communist planes over these waters, the identity of the armen flying the downed plane never was positively ascertained.

The Chinese Air Force is known to have patrol and fighter plane bases near the tip of the Shantung peninsula and near the Dairen-Port Arthur area of Southern Manchuria.

Both of these Communist bases are within jet fighter range of all of the northern part of the Yellow Sea. The distance between the Shantung promontory and the westernmost bulge of Korea is about 175 miles.

Tool Thieves Nabbed Here As Officers Follow Hunch

A hunch paid off Saturday night for Sheriff Ed Darnell and Texas Ranger John Wood.

Two times during the past month thieves had broken into the yard of the Hughes Tool Company on West South Front Street.

The officers converged on the area and two of the men were arrested. A third was found a short time later hiding in the yard.

Fifty bits were recovered and the men were being held Monday, pending filing of theft charges.

Democrats Adopted By GOP Wait 'To See What Happens'

Eight Democratic nominees for county and precinct offices, ordered Saturday to remove their names from a Republican Party ticket, refrained Monday morning from taking any immediate action.

County Chairman Richard Hughton of the Republican organization said at noon Monday none of the candidates, nominated to run on the GOP ticket, had filed a request with him to have their names withdrawn.

"The cross-filing idea," he said, "originated in the Democratic Party and was enacted into law by an overwhelmingly Democratic legislature at the request of our Democratic governor."

"Its purpose was to enable the conservative voters of Texas to unite behind a single ticket to be composed of the Republican candidates for President and vice president and Democratic candidates for local and state offices."

The eight Democrats nominated on the county ticket by the Republicans are Sheriff Ed Darnell, County Clerk Roselle Cherry, District Clerk Lucille Johnson, County Treasurer Minnie Doster, County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed, Constable Jack Merritt, Max Schumann for County Surveyor and Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson.

A majority of these candidates declined to make a statement concerning their course of action, explaining they had until 90 days before the general election to seek their names be withdrawn.

In case of withdrawal, the county Republican Executive Committee can name other candidates to replace them on the GOP ticket.

The Republican ticket also includes the names of four "simon pure" party members, Robert F. Jennings for county judge, Bill Price for county attorney, Hugh McClure for commissioner from Precinct 1 and Mahlon Keel for commissioner from Precinct 4.

"The Republicans of Midland County, by limiting their local activities to those races where there are real local matters to be determined," said Hughton, "have demonstrated the two-party system at its best."

"They used the cross-filing law in Midland County in the way and for the purpose for which it was intended."

"The action of the Democratic county convention in requesting that the candidates listed on both tickets ask that their names be removed from the Republican ticket appears to have been a move designed more to protect a particular group than to serve the conservative voters or the cause of good government."

"We consider the resolution passed at Saturday's convention to be a mandate to the Democratic nominees in the November election," he said.

The resolution, which "requested" the Democratic nominees to withdraw from the Republican ticket, was passed by a close vote after the

There was little reason to hope Monday that the spread of polio in Texas may be waning.

At least 13 new cases and two deaths were reported Monday, and there was a probability that some cases were not announced.

But it was the third consecutive day that no new polio cases were reported in Austin or Travis County.

Houston—where the disease has struck a devastating blow this summer—looked at the Monday papers and saw six new cases and one death reported.

Mrs. Helen Sheets, 31, died of the disease in Dallas. Three new cases were reported there.

Four cases reported were in Fort Worth, bringing that city's polio patients for the year to 151. Four possible cases were awaiting diagnosis in Fort Worth.

Dallas' new cases brought the total there to more than 200, while 21 patients at Brackensridge Hospital in Austin were reported "doing fine."

Bulbar polio snuffed out the life of a seven-year-old Houston boy Monday only 23 hours after he entered a hospital.

The victim, the twelfth in the city for the year, was Bruce Cronquist, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cronquist. He died at 3:30 a.m. in an iron lung.

The new cases and the youngster's death hiked the Houston total for the year to 217 and 13

24 Hurt, Five Missing; Both Vehicles Burn

WACO—(AP)—Two Greyhound buses collided head-on Monday, erupted in flames, and became funeral pyres for at least 28 persons. The toll may go to 33.

The big vehicles smashed together seven miles south of here just before dawn.

A death count was difficult because many bodies were burned so badly they fell to pieces. Funeral homes which had reported 34 bodies at 8 a.m. revised the total down to 28 two hours later.

Many service men returning to their bases from weekend leaves were among the dead and injured. Twenty-four passengers were brought to Waco hospitals, many hurt critically. Five of the 57 passengers were missing.

The buses themselves burned almost to rubbish. Burned shoes, parts of purses and their scorched contents, luggage tags and other clues to identity of the victims were sifted from the blackened wreckage.

Survivors told of the gray-dawn horror when the buses met about 4 1/2 a.m. on Highway 81, heavily-traveled route between Dallas and Austin.

Authorities were at a loss to explain the accident, which may have been the worst traffic crash in Texas history. It occurred on a straight stretch of highway.

The southbound bus carrying 37 persons had left Dallas at 12:01 a.m. enroute to Brownsville. The northbound bus was about to reach Waco.

Both drivers were killed—M. B. Herring of Waco, who had been driving about a year, at the wheel of the southbound vehicle; Billy Malone of Waco in charge of the southbound bus.

Police Chief Jesse Gunterman said Herring had just topped the crest of a slight hill.

It was on the same highway in early 1928 that 10 members of the Baylor University basketball team of Waco were killed in a bus-train collision.

With many of the injured in critical condition, it appeared the accident may be recorded as Texas' worst. The record number killed in a traffic accident in the state is 39—all Latin American citrus workers who died in a truck-train collision in March, 1949, near Alamo in South Texas.

Survivor Pictures Gray-Dawn Horror Of Waco Bus Disaster

WACO—(AP)—"It was horrible, people were screaming and knocking each other down trying to get out. They couldn't find the exit door."

"It sounded like thunder. It would blow up, and then blow up again, one after another."

A pretty, 17-year-old Waco girl, Mrs. Dora Daniels, described the gray-dawn horror on the Temple highway from a bed in the emergency room of Providence Hospital. The "blunder" probably was exploding fuel tanks.

The sickening scent of burning fish skin was heavy in the air. Mrs. Daniels, who had been home for the weekend, was returning to Corpus Christi, where she worked at a drive-in. She said she owed her life to a negro man who was thrown to safety "but was brave enough to come back and pull me out."

Mrs. Daniels' injuries were not serious. The negro man was unidentified except that he was believed to be a soldier at Fort Hood.

"I got on the bus at 3:10 a.m. exactly," Mrs. Daniels said. "The bus was late and was going pretty fast to catch up. I was seated in the rear. Somebody screamed 'look out.' Then the buses hit. The negro man saved me and a little girl who was seated next to me."

Brave Enough To Come Back "He was thrown out of the bus but was brave enough to come back and get us out. A little Mexican girl was sitting by me. Her mother and father were standing near her. They were killed. I know they were. The little girl kept saying 'I want my mama.' I didn't know what to do so I just kept her with me."

"There was a little baby. It was lying in the middle of the pavement, burning. Nobody could help."

"There was a boy walking along with us. We were all stumbling around in a daze. He kept looking back and saying, 'Those poor people.'"

I suppose he was one of the boys who kicked out the windows to let us out. We couldn't find the exit door."

Matilda Zamoudis, the little Mexican girl taken from the bus by Mrs. Daniels, was given breakfast in bed at Providence Hospital unaware her father and mother were dead. The family was enroute to Mexico.

"I was asleep," the brown-eyed, 11-year-old said. "The bus stopped so fast my feet fell on me and everything caught fire. Mother screamed when something fell on her. I was choking. So much smoke and fire. A girl by me opened the window and she pushed me through it. I couldn't walk. A man picked me up and brought me and the girl here in a truck."

Her parents had left Waco, where the father was a cafe cook, for San Antonio. There they were to take a train for Mexico. Their names were unavailable.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Monday's head-on crash between two Greyhound buses near Waco was the worst bus accident in National Safety Council records.

The council's records showed the three previous worst bus mishaps as follows:

March 20, 1944—At Passaic, N. J., a bus traveling in a snow and sleet storm went off a bridge into a river, killing 59—the driver, a pedestrian and 18 passengers.

Nov. 26, 1945—At Chelan, Wash., a school bus hit a rock and went off the road into Lake Chelan, killing 16—the driver and 15 school children.

April 23, 1951—At Weirton, W. Va., the driver lost control of a bus on a hill and crashed into a wall, killing 15—the driver and 14 passengers.

The MATURE PARENT

If Child's Hatred Shocks You, Remember Your Childhood

A mother writes me that she has failed as a parent.

"This afternoon, says her letter, 'my only child—a daughter, 10 years old—called me an ugly old hag' and said she wished I was dead. How can I go on, knowing that she feels like this about me? My mother tells me that I have spoiled her and that what she needs is a good sound thrashing. But somehow I cannot believe that this is the answer. . . ."

My reader is right. Thrashing is not the answer. She is wrong, too. She has not failed with her child. We cannot be said to have failed as parents when our youngsters, despite our shock and alarm, still trust us enough to tell us that they hate us.

My reader's problem is not her little girl's hate of her, but her own reactions to it. Why the shock and alarm?

What kind of little girl was my reader? Did she always think of her mother as gentle and beautiful? Really? Always? What was her secret wish when she was thrashed without being given time to explain herself? What was the word she scribbled on the wall beside her bed when she was bundled off to her room? Why did she erase it quickly at the sound of a step on the stairs? Why did she say "I'm sorry" for doing wrong? Was she really sorry, or was the "I'm sorry" a trade she had to make to be loved again?

Probably.

It is because our own childish hate was shocking and alarming to us that we are now shocked and alarmed when we see the same thing in our children.

What should my reader do? She should reconstruct her own childhood and remember her own moments of normal, growing-up-type hatred.

After she has thought back, no ugly name, no evil wish flung at her will be able to disturb her. She will be able to say words that resemble what psychiatrists say to children struggling with hate.

In sincerest love and understanding, she will say, "Go on, I know there are other mean names you want to call me. Get them all out. Take that piece of paper and write them all down. The very worst names you can think of. Get them all out, my darling. I used to write them down, too."

Hate is an undigestible emotion and children are wise to spew it out. It is our pompous and romantic training that makes contact with it terrifying. It isn't terrifying when we realize that love is waiting to flow in the moment the hate is gone.

Research Promises Better Polio Care, Foundation Reports

NEW YORK—(AP)—New test-tube victories, says the president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, "promise the coming of a direct and specific attack upon paralytic polio in man himself."

In this way, foundation president Basil O'Connor Sunday cited the trial of a possible polio-prevention serum in a message accompanying the organization's annual report.

The report mentioned the first mass injection of the new serum at Provo, Utah, last Fall. Similar tests are being carried on this year in Houston, Texas, and Sioux City, Iowa.

Also noted in the report was other research advances and a total of 28,668 polio cases in 1951. The U. S. Public Health Service was reported as terming the year the third worst for the disease in this country.

Armed Forces Cut PIO Billets After Budget Is Slashed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The armed forces' public information services have been sharply reduced by appropriations cuts.

The Defense Department's Public Information Office, an official said Sunday, has let out 120 workers, cutting the staff from 279 to 159, because of a 44 per cent slash in its funds.

These three services have been discontinued entirely:

1. The Industrial Service Branch, which furnished information to manufacturers on what the government was buying.
2. The News Analysis Branch, which kept the department informed on what was being printed.
3. A newspaper matrix service, which furnished feature stories and illustrations requested by about 1,500 small newspapers.

"Winter in the Catskills"
By Frank Gervasi

Frank Gervasi was born in Italy and came to the United States as a young boy. His talents soon were apparent, and with the help and encouragement of his teachers, first in high school and later at the New York School of Industrial Design, the young artist quickly showed great promise in his chosen mediums—oil and water color.

Then, during World War I, while serving overseas with a U. S. Infantry unit, he was wounded in the Battle of the Somme, and as a result of the wound, he lost his right arm.

For most men that would have been the end of a painting career, but to Frank Gervasi it was a challenge. By the time he was released from veterans hospitals, he could use his left arm as well as he had been able to use his right one. He could paint again! Then came years of study and travel at home and abroad.

The noted artist now spends most of his time in his studios in New York City and Cornwallville, in the Upper Catskills.

In This Corner...

General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson, the major party presidential nominees, both are essentially men of decent character and high motive. May we therefore look forward to a campaign free of mud slinging and wild charges?

Perhaps we could if the campaign were to be left wholly to the nominees themselves. Although even here there could be no flat assurance. Competing for the Senate in New York three years ago, John Foster Dulles and Senator Lehman, two high-minded men, fought like waterfront roustabouts.

But of course, the candidates will not be alone on the hustings. Each will have a host of free-swinging helpers who will feel no particular compulsion to observe the political niceties. The slugging may be severe.

Many will say that the nominees are handicapped not alone by their gentlemanly tendencies but by their closeness on many issues—especially in foreign affairs. Both are moderate middle-of-the-road men. If you scan their public utterances carefully, you find amazing similarity at many points.

Despite these basic parallels, however, a marked difference in emphasis is inevitable in the coming campaign. Stevenson performs will have to defend the Democratic record and extol its program.

Eisenhower will be free to assail those things.

Right here is the critical area for the Republicans. Many non-party members feel 20 years is more than long enough for one party to hold power. Many are disturbed over one phase or another of Democratic rule—conduct of the Korean war, corruption in Washington, failure to halt inflation, and so on.

These people want to hear the Democrats criticized. But they want more. They want to know what positive, constructive ideas the Republicans have for doing the job better. Mere denunciation is not enough to attract legions of wavering voters.

Denunciation unmatched by constructive, hopeful plans is the specialty of the extremist. And the great lesson of the two conventions in Chicago was the shoving of the extremists into the background. The moderates won, because they believe people are fed up with extremism and seek a middle course.

This outcome—Eisenhower vs. Stevenson—may not make for a sharp cleavage on issues and men as some observers feel we should have. However that may be, the largest part of the voting populace, as it is read by politicians whose business it is to judge accurately, wants the kind of result Chicago produced.

Stevenson, of course, begins with the advantage of a great basic Democratic strength among the electorate. His task will be to convince the big, shifting mass of unsettled voters in the middle range that they have nothing to gain by drifting into the Republican zone. He is unlikely to accomplish this if he suggests the Democratic administration has been unmarred by corruption and error.

Eisenhower's task, aside from legitimate criticism of Democratic failings, will be to devise a positive array of policies that will take his party out of the realm of strident denunciation, where it has dwelt so long.

In the final test, it will be the kind of program Eisenhower comes up with that will mark out the real differences between himself and Stevenson in this election year.

We all understand that the Democrats are running on their record, with the evident promise to continue the same, with appropriate modification suiting Stevenson's own great conservatism.

What the nation now awaits is Eisenhower's version of American life in the years from 1953 to 1957, and perhaps beyond.

If the general fashions the program he seems to understand is needed, then his 1952 campaign, whatever its occasional harsh undertones, may turn out to be the most sensible and sincere and instructive the American people have seen for more than three decades.

A campaign against needless accidents was held in a Southern town. What is a needed accident?

"You Haven't Been The Same Since The Convention"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Adjustment sees congressmen off an air junkets; Utah liquor business goes "socialist"; FCC hands TV licenses to administration friends.

WASHINGTON—A new rash of congressmen wangling free airplane transportation to various parts of the world has started now that Congress has adjourned.

In fact, some of it started even before Congress left for home. Several flights are justified, but others have the appearance of junkets, especially when wives and children are taken along.

One trip with all the earmarks of the latter was arranged by Congressman Harold Cooley of North Carolina, who sent his sister, Mabel Downey, to Europe with free air transportation to study hoof-and-mouth disease for the House Agriculture Committee, of which Cooley is chairman and his sister is clerk.

The hoof-and-mouth disease in which the United States is chiefly interested is in Argentina and Mexico, and while it exists in Europe, there is no meat imported from Europe to the United States. Why it was necessary for Cooley's sister to go to Europe remains something of a mystery.

Congressman Cooley also has requested the Air Force to supply a special plane to take a large group of congressmen and senators to the Inter-Parliamentary Union at Bern, Switzerland, on August 28.

This trip appears to be justified since the Inter-Parliamentary Union is an important gathering for world cooperation. Cooley insisted, however, that the Air Force supply a Constellation which costs $88 an hour for gas and oil alone, not including the salaries of the crew or the wear and tear on the plane.

Those listed for this trip in addition to Cooley are: Senator A. Willis Robertson, Va., his wife and two sons; Rep. Albert Gore, Tenn., his wife, son, and daughter; Senator Homer Ferguson, Mich., and wife; Senator Willis Smith, N. C., and wife; Senator Tom Connally, Texas, and wife; Senator Tom Underwood, Ky., and wife; Senator Paul Douglas, Ill., and wife; Senator Alex Wiley, Wis., and wife; and Senator Theodore Green, R. I.

Other congressional junketers are: Senator Homer Caphart of Indiana and his assistant, William Kreig, both accompanied by their wives, who flew to Europe in an Air Force plane July 11.

Also Congressman John Wood of Georgia, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, flew to Europe with his wife in an Air Force plane on April 19, returning May 4.

Senator Alexander Wiley and wife flew to Europe on their honeymoon in an Air Force plane, leaving May 16, returning June 1, while Congressman Walter Nordblad and wife left for Europe July 5.

Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah, one of the nation's most vigorous critics of "creeping socialism" is letting his GOP associates get away with some creeping "shake-downism."

Some of his supporters have worked out a new wrinkle for raising money—by putting the bite on liquor companies which do business with the State of Utah.

In Utah, liquor is purchased and sold through the State Liquor Commission, and one firm doing business with Utah, the Continental Distilling Corporation of Philadelphia, got a letter from the Utah Statesman, demanding in rather peremptory terms that it advertise.

The Utah Statesman, a weekly paper, is a Republican mouthpiece, and in the letter demanding liquor advertising, its publisher significantly states: "We adhere very closely to the philosophy of the state administration. We, at least, have our unofficial blessing."

The letter to the Continental Distilling Corporation, signed by editor and publisher Rue L. Clegg, also stated: "We are enclosing herewith our last week's issue of the Utah Statesman, together with a copy of a letter from J. McGowan, chairman of the Liquor Commission, having reference to the article on Page 5 in which we praise the commissioners for their efficient and economical operation of that department."

"We shall be most grateful to obtain your advertising and receive it direct (that is, after clearance with the liquor commission) rather than taking it through one of the advertising agencies."

TV License Plums
Some choice television licenses have been handed out by the Federal Communications Commission lately, and at least three have gone to good friends of the administration.

In another case, Governor Stevenson is among those applying for license in Springfield, Ill. If politics is involved in this one, however, it is inter-party politics, for another top Illinois Democrat, Edward J. Barrett, the secretary of state, is opposing Stevenson and his group. Barrett, who may replace Stevenson as governor, has applied for a competing TV license.

Other friends of the administration who have been favored with the extremely hard-to-get TV licenses are: 1. Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the senator from Texas, who got a TV station at Austin. 2. Ed Crane and Bing Crosby, who got a TV station in Spokane, Wash. Crane is close to Senator

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
Sometimes a bridge player has to guess, but it's often just a brain-storm. At any rate, that's what happened to East in the hand shown today.

South could have defeated the opponents at four hearts, but he thought it was far safer to go to five clubs. He expected to be set one or two tricks, but his honors were sure to reduce the penalty considerably. It was too risky to let the opponents have a chance at game and rubber with their contract of four hearts.

Against South's intended sacrifice of five clubs, West opened the king of diamonds. East played the discouraging three, and West hastly shifted to the queen of hearts. East overtook with the king of hearts and then wavered.

Bridge score table showing North, West, East, and South hands with card counts and opening lead.

As East explained later, he knew that South had one more red card, but he couldn't tell whether it was a diamond or a heart. He was afraid to lead the wrong suit for fear that South would ruff and then run the rest of the tricks. As it happened, he "guessed" wrong, by laying down the ace of diamonds.

South ruffed with the ten of clubs, drew three rounds of trumps ending in dummy, and led the ten of diamonds through East. This play was fortunate enough to pick up West's nine and therefore established two diamond tricks in dummy.

South ruffed out the queen of diamonds and returned the jack of spades. Dummy won with the queen and dummy won with the king. Now South could discard the losing heart and the low spade on dummy's good diamonds, after which it was a cinch to roll in 11 tricks.

East's "guess" was, of course, nothing of the sort. It was perfectly safe for East to lead a high heart. If South ruffed the heart, he could do nothing to dispose of any diamond loser he might hold.

It was true that East couldn't tell which suit to lead to win an immediate trick, but this was not important. The diamond trick could not run away, but if a heart trick could be won, it had to be taken at once.

But the probe got nowhere. Principal reason was that the king objected to the investigation as disruptive of army morale. So in April, 1951, Haidar Pasha was back in command of the army. Kerim Tabet, another of the court fa-

Summer Dream

By Irene Erhardt

Laurie overheard her father the next day telling Mrs. Jenner that she had better save the table scraps to feed to Steve's hunting dog Cass.

"Has Steve gone?" Laurie asked. Her father smiled as he went back to his troweling before he answered. "Decided all of a sudden he'd take a canoe trip down the river to Cairo. Been threatening to do it for three or four summers now, but I don't know what came over him to make him jump into it so sudden like."

"How long will he be gone?" It was silly to feel so desolate at the thought of Steve's being gone. "A week, maybe longer."

She walked the length of the garden, staring with unseeing eyes at the rose hedges. The turf was like velvet and the smell of the roses like nectar. She came back to where her father was. "Steve was furious with me last night," she admitted, "but it wasn't my fault."

"Of course it wasn't your fault that you fell asleep, Steve knew that. But the thing was thinking of Laurie, was that if Mrs. Jenner or someone had happened to see you leaving his house at that hour of the morning, it wouldn't have looked very good. He was thinking of you. And himself. He's well liked, and respected here in Ridgeville, and you know how small towns are. Well, I don't suppose you do."

"My dear child," her father said, "he stood up, brushing the dirt from his hands and looking at her keenly. "You sound like a jealous woman."

"I'm not jealous."

"Considering the fact that you're engaged you seem singularly interested in Steve's relationship with Evelyn Crane."

"I'm not. But he had no right to say that."

Comic Opera Plots Flourished Backstage In Farouk's Ouster

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Behind the ouster of Egypt's fat King Farouk were a couple of comic opera plots worthy of the best traditions in an old-time Latin American banana republic revolution.

The first had to do with whether or not one of the king's favorites, Gen. Haidar Pasha, could be continued in office as president of the Cairo Officers' Club.

The second had to do with charges of graft in the procurement of defective arms and ammunition for Egypt's disastrous war against Israel at the end of 1948.

An investigation into this graft was whitewashed, more or less with the king's blessing if not on his direct orders. Much of the graft was believed to have gone to high officers in the royal palace. Some of it may have gone directly to the king himself.

That was what burned the young line officers who fought the war against Israel with bad guns and shells.

After this Arab-Israeli war was over in the Spring of '49, the Egyptian troops marched home to Cairo, where they were hailed as conquering heroes. Actually, they had taken a terrible beating.

Mostly it was a war of skirmishes. But in the final battle for the Negeb desert, the Egyptian troops were driven back on their own soil with some 2,500 casualties, and Israeli troops invaded Egypt.

It wasn't all the Egyptians' fault. Shortly after the war began the United Nations slapped an arms embargo on Egypt. That prevented the British from supplying the Egyptian army.

In the scramble for military supplies, the Egyptians had to buy surplus Italian army goods, left over from Italy's African campaigns. Ammunition was defective. Grenades exploded in the Egyptians' hands before they could be thrown. Rifles and artillery weapons exploded in their faces.

What made it worse, was that these supplies had been bought at inflated prices. And this inflation included a healthy piece of graft for the king's corrupt war ministry officials. When the troops came home they talked, and they demanded a house cleaning.

Gen. Haidar Pasha, commander in chief of the Egyptian army, was suspect. He prevented any investigation until November, 1950, when he finally was forced to retire so the charges could be brought to trial.

But the probe got nowhere. Principal reason was that the king objected to the investigation as disruptive of army morale. So in April, 1951, Haidar Pasha was back in command of the army. Kerim Tabet, another of the court fasoned bids. In this case it is reasonable enough since you have two probable stoppers in each suit but clubs. If North bids one of the red suits at his next turn, you will pass; otherwise you are content to play the hand at no-trump.

Answer Tuesday

After a church service you stop to speak to your pastor, and you have with you a friend who belongs to another church.

WRONG: Feel there is no need to introduce the person since he belongs to some other church.

RIGHT: Introduce the person with you.

Icebergs of glacial origin frequently carry rocks and earth for considerable distance across the sea as they float with ocean current and winds.

New York: It was another world, Fletcher! Someone she had known since ago. She had actually run away from him. She was only now beginning to realize it. And one ran away from things one didn't want to face. Had Steve run away from her?

Steve returned at the end of the week, more bronzed than ever, as she seemed glad to see Laurie as she was to see him. He came up for dinner the first night he was home and told all about the trip. Later he and Laurie sat on the front porch as though they had never spoken angry words to each other. He told her about the book he was writing.

"Evelyn's typing each chapter as I get it finished. She thinks it sounds good. Of course, she doesn't know a great deal about the Civil War. She teaches home economics, you know."

THE next day Laurie rummaged in her father's library for books about the Civil War. It became important all at once that she know something about it. Steve was interested in fly-tying too, and she found a book on that subject and tried to understand it.

She was falling in love with Steve Wyrson. It should have been obvious to her from the beginning, but it hadn't been. It was so different from any other time she had thought herself in love. It wasn't kisses and moonlight and words. It was just a confused, terrifying, and longing every time she thought of Steve or was with him. This time it was real and sure and forever. And part of her confusion and pain lay in the fact that Steve behaved only friendly. Nothing more.

The week went by swiftly. Too swiftly. Laurie's father she was some of his roses in a flower show at Capitol City and brought home some blue ribbons. Steve's bird dog Cass had puppies. Evelyn Crane and Johnny came out to Steve's and Laurie's and her father went down to join them for a swim and a wiener roast on the big sandbar by the swimming hole.

And then one day something happened that changed everything.

10 Texans Die As Weekend Records Price Of Violence

By The Associated Press
Traffic deaths had fallen below weekend par in Texas by midnight Sunday. At least 10 persons died in Texas violence.

Four persons were shot to death, two died in a plane crash, two died in a traffic mishap, one was stabbed to death and a nine-year-old boy was burned fatally.

Emiliano Condero, 38, and Richard Aguilar, seven, were killed and eight other persons injured four miles south of Pecos when a truck sideswiped a pickup loaded with cotton pickers Sunday.

Ten persons were in the pickup returning from Pecos to a cotton farm where they worked. Highway patrolmen said the truck driver failed to stop.

Crash Kills Two
Burnace Gene Blair, 40, and Mrs. Helen Ruth Pitts, 22, both of Dallas, were killed Sunday when a light plane crashed and burned near the airport at Graham. Witnesses said the plane took off from the airport, circled the field and crashed when it started to land.

A brief but deadly gun battle in front of the county jail at Jourdan Saturday night resulted in two deaths. Frank Landrum of San Antonio and Deputy Sheriff A. B. Coward of Atascosa County were killed by bullets from each other's guns. Another deputy was slightly injured.

According to the sheriff's office, two deputies had driven up to the front of the jail with a prisoner. Landrum pulled up behind them in another car, and the sheriff's report said he fired the first shot with a rifle, hitting Coward. Coward shot a second later, hitting Landrum, who fired again and struck the other deputy in the hand. Coward and Landrum died in the street.

At Comroe, Norman Doyle Gates, nine, was burned fatally and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Gates, received serious burns Sunday when fire trapped the family in their second-floor apartment.

The parents jumped from a window and told Norman to follow and jump into the father's arms. He hesitated and was engulfed in flames. He was burned badly before he finally leaped into his father's arms.

A gravel dealer, John Franklin Jones, 55, was shot to death in Fort Worth. Police held a 64-year-old man in the Saturday shooting.

In Houston, Mrs. Lucy Quillan, 22, shot and killed herself at her home Saturday. A suicide verdict was returned.

Two small children watched their great-grandfather kill their grandfather, police in Llano reported Saturday night. Dead was Sam Hoben, 65. His father-in-law, Andy Broome, 63, was charged with murder.

Winter Scene By Gervasi Displayed At First National

A beautiful New England Winter scene went on display Monday in The First National Bank as its "Picture of the Month."

The painting, "Winter in the Catskills," by Frank Gervasi, noted artist, who learned to paint with his left hand after losing his right arm in combat as a U. S. Infantryman during World War I.

Gervasi was born in Italy and came to this country as a young boy. He had wanted to study wood carving, but his high school art teacher inspired him to turn his talents to the fine arts. The young artist quickly showed great promise in his chosen medium—oil and water color.

Wounded In Action
Then came World War I, and Gervasi joined the New York National Guard. He served overseas with the 108th U. S. Infantry and was wounded in the Battle of the Somme. After being released from veterans hospitals and after he had learned to paint with his left hand, Gervasi studied several years at home before spending three years traveling abroad. He now spends most of his time in his studios in New York City and Cornwallville, in the Upper Catskills.

Until recently he was noted chiefly for his New England Winter scenes, but now his Southwestern paintings also are attracting considerable acclaim.

You Can Whisper - and Be Heard!

We should like, very much, to have you come in for a ride in a Golden Anniversary Cadillac. And when you do, we hope you will just sit back and relax . . . and listen!

And what will you hear?

Well, you'll hear the soft sound of the wind as it slips past the streamlined body . . . and, possibly, the quiet ticking of the electric clock.

But aside from these—you'll hear almost nothing. In fact, you'll find you can whisper—and be heard by your fellow-passengers!

We want you to experience this because nothing speaks more eloquently of motor car quality than—silence!

It tells you, first of all, that here is automotive engineering at its superlative best. For such silence of operation can only come when every phase of the car's performance is in perfect harmony.

It speaks of precision—for only the greatest accuracy in design and construction can result in such remarkable freedom from vibration.

It is a testimonial to fine craftsmanship—so quality materials—and to scientific styling.

And, of course, this marvelous quiet foretells many of the pleasures and satisfactions you would enjoy as the car's owner. It promises rest, for instance—and relaxation—and peace of mind . . . and a minimum of upkeep expense.

So why not take our suggestion—and come in and drive this beautiful Golden Anniversary creation? Let it tell you its own wonderful story through the things you cannot hear!

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Snick-Snack-Snick!

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was out on the porch of his monkey house, high in the top of the very tall tree, there in the middle of the Great Forest. He put his hand to his ear to listen. He listened carefully.

Yes! He heard the noise he thought he heard. The noise was the noise of the Featherman music of the kind that a Featherman makes when he is up to Featherman mischief. Yes, sir, and what is Featherman mischief?

Why, Featherman mischief is mischief of grabbing away a feather that one of the chickens is using. That's what Featherman mischief is, and now the Featherman was coming to try to grab a feather away from one of the chickens of Daddy Ringtail.

Oh, it was the Featherman, right enough. Daddy Ringtail could see him now as the old fellow tiptoed closer through the trees. Long white whiskers, long green coat, and a tall hat with a feather in it—oh, it was the Featherman really and true. He lives in a nest instead of a house, and all he thinks about is feathers, feathers, and more feathers. Tiptoe, tiptoe, closer and closer he came with the noise of Feather-man music where he walked. He was all ready for the Featherman fingers to grab away a feather. Would or wouldn't the chickens get away?

Daddy Ringtail watched to see what would happen, and then of a sudden it happened fast. "Gooch!" shouted the Featherman, and out he jumped from behind a bush to try to grab away a feather.

"Squawk!" said the chicken who had almost had a feather grabbed away. The feather would have been grabbed away, all right, but just as Featherman did the grabbing-up-jumped the chicken straight up in the air, and the Featherman's feather-grabbing fingers grabbed together at the place where the chicken had just jumped up from.

"Squawk!" squawked the chicken again, and in she ran to the chicken house with the other chickens. And they slammed and locked the door. "Bam!" was the noise of the slam. "Snick-snack-snick!" was the noise of the door locking.

And so did the Featherman grab away a feather that fine day? No, sir, he didn't. I am happy to say. Nobody ever grabs a feather, if he grabs where the chicken has just been. But ah! Don't tell Featherman. He might get into Featherman mischief. Happy day!

Tribe Blasts Drillers; Bargain Bill Monday

The Midland Indians will look toward Righthanders Eddie Jacome (13-10) and Herb Dwire (3-4) to stretch their third-place position in the Longhorn League standings here Monday night when they entertain the Artesia Drillers in a 7 p.m. ball, starting at 7 p.m.

And Artesia Manager Earl Perry, just as determined that the Drillers shall recapture third place, has named lefty Irvin Armin (8-3) and Len Ruyie (9-0) to start for his nine.

In the game here Sunday afternoon, the Indians tore a page out of the book of the Drillers, blasting out 18 hits for a 13-2 victory, to judge the visitors out of their third-place berth. The Tribe now holds down third place by a slim four percentage points.

Behind the heavy hitting, masterful little Righthander Israel Ten choked off the big Artesia bats with a smooth eight-hitter to rack up his fourteenth win against eight setbacks.

Ten was in trouble only twice. In the fifth frame, the visitors cracked out three successive singles but could turn them into only one run. And again in the ninth, in a last ditch effort, Driller Leadoff Batters Joe Baughan led the frame off by slicing a hard-hit single to right field. Rudy Briner flim out but Jim Haley and Jim Ackers cracked out successive singles to load the bases.

However, Pat O'Keefe pulled down Pete Pichan's fly to right and threw on a line to home plate to hold the runners. Then Pinch-hitter Walley Hanna hit a weak bloopier fly to Scooter Hughes at short to end the ball game.

Breaking a scoreless deadlock in the bottom of the fourth, the Indians launched a four-hit assault against Starter and Loser Mike Rodriguez to chase him to an early shower.

The uprising was climaxed by a bases-clearing double by Scooter Hughes. Bob Pressley came on in relief but the Indians hardly noticed that the Drillers had changed pitchers as they continued their hitting onslaught by poking out 11 more safeties, good for five additional runs.

Every man in the Midland lineup hit safely at least once except First Baseman Earl Bossenberry. Julio de la Torre led the hit parade, collecting four safeties in five trips to drive in two runs and score three times himself. Manuel Temes and Pat Waters each collected three hits in five and four times at bat respectively.

Seven of the Midland hits were for extra bases.

The Phils moved to within three and one-half games of third-place St. Louis Sunday as Lefty Curt Simmons blanked the Cards, 6-0, on four hits.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers lunged to a lead of six and one-half games over the Giants by sweeping a doubleheader from Chicago, 3-2 and 9-1, while the Giants dropped a pair to last place Pittsburgh, 7-0 and 10-8. Cincinnati and Boston divided a bargain bill, the Braves winning the opener, 7-4, and the Reds the night-cap, 4-0.

The Yanks, with an assist from the Athletics, moved to the three-game lead over Cleveland in the American League chase. The Yanks pitched St. Louis, 6-1 and 6-4, while the Athletics split with Cleveland, winning the second game, 9-2, after losing the first, 4-1. The Red Sox fell four games behind and the Senators five and one-half. Art Houtteman of Detroit shut out the Red Sox, 4-0, while Washington and Chicago battled to an eight-inning 0-0 tie in the first game of a doubleheader. The game was called on account of rain in the ninth and the second game was postponed.

Simmons had little difficulty in hanging up his tenth victory and fifth shutout. Gran Hammer staked the crowd southpaw to a 3-0 lead in the fourth with a three-run homer off Joe Pressley.

Right-handers Carl Erskine and Johnny Rutherford pitched the Dodgers to victory over the sinking Cubs. Erskine granted six safeties in the first game. Roy Campanella singled with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to break a 2-2 tie and fetch Erskine his eleventh victory.

Rutherford, making his second start, coasted home in the second game on a 10-1 Dodger hit.

Murry Dickson, beaten by the Giants Saturday turned in a brilliant relief job to win the opener at the Polo Grounds. Dickson blanked the Giants on three hits after taking over in the fourth.

The Pirates piled up a 10-1 lead in the second game but the Giants charged back with seven runs in the sixth to make it close. The game was called after the New York uprising because of darkness.

Lefty Warren spahn hung up his ninth victory in the opener against Cincinnati while Ewell Blackwell suffered his twelfth loss. George Crowe doubled home the deciding runs in the third. Bubba Church shut out the Braves on six singles in the second game.

Johnny Sain, allowing his hits, turned in his ninth victory for the Yanks in the first of two at St. Louis. The Yanks enjoyed a 6-0 lead entering the ninth of the night-cap when former Bronnie Jim McDonald suddenly lost his stuff. The Browns scored four runs and had the bases loaded before Joe Ostrowski put out the flame.

Bob Feller checked his four-game losing streak in beating the A's in the first game. Scheidt held the Indians to three hits in the aftermath, which the Athletics won with a seven-run rally in the seventh inning.

The Bears Monday came up with seven gridgers and three cagers in a poll of the squads.

Texas and Southern Methodist each earned nine of the schoolboys. In football, Southern Methodist led with eight. Here is the tabulation in football:

Greatest Modern Olympics Now History

HELSINKI.—(P)—The 1952 Olympic games became history Monday and the historians are going to need a whole new book to take care of this gigantic sports carnival.

The games which ended in the Finnish twilight Sunday were bigger and better in every way than any of those of the previous 14 modern Olympics.

More people took part. More countries entered. They lasted longer. More went on. Performances were amazing. There was a minimum of incidents.

Soviet Russia competed for the first time. Germany and Japan were back for the first time since World War II.

Seventy nations sent 5,780 athletes to this clean, attractive city—more than 1,700 above any previous entry.

Forty-nine of the 70 countries broke into the unofficial scoring column which recorded the first six places. Their totals varied from 614 for the United States down to one made by Singapore for a sixth in featherweight weightlifting.

Russia presented an extremely well balanced team and scored 553 1/2 points, second to the United States.

The United States won 41 gold medals to 23 for Russia.

Avery Brundage, Chicago hotel executive who was elected president of the International Olympic Committee just before the games opened, decried a trend toward nationalism on the part of competing countries and urged that all systems of figuring points be discarded.

The Olympic officials do not recognize any points system, but by custom a gold medal usually is considered worth 10 points with the other five places going for 6-4-3-2-1.

Despite the Brundage plea there was tremendous interest in the point totals in these games. The Russians took the lead on the first day with their expected grand slam in the women's discus, were overhauled briefly by the United States during the second and third days of track and field, then took a long lead when the results poured in from men's and women's gymnastics. The Russians are experts at the gymnastic art.

This event, the only one on Sunday's program, brought France its sixth gold medal of the games, in the individual section, and Great Britain its first, in the team division.

Competition was so strong that merely breaking an Olympic record wasn't enough at times.

All but three of the men's track and field records were equalled or broken.

In swimming, every record was broken. In boxing the United States won five titles, the most any country ever has taken, and the first time the U. S. has captured a championship since 1932.

For awhile even the experts doubted the ability of the United States to score heavily enough in such specialties as swimming to overtake the Soviets.

The big push came Saturday, the final full day of competition. The Americans started off the morning trailing by 24 1/2 points. At the end of the day they led by 88 1/3 points.

The United States added four more points Sunday in the team section of the Prix Des Nations, the show jumping climax of the equestrian competition.

So far, the only one on Sunday's program, brought France its sixth gold medal of the games, in the individual section, and Great Britain its first, in the team division.

Competition was so strong that merely breaking an Olympic record wasn't enough at times.

All but three of the men's track and field records were equalled or broken.

In swimming, every record was broken. In boxing the United States won five titles, the most any country ever has taken, and the first time the U. S. has captured a championship since 1932.

Yankees, Dodgers Increase Margins

Philadelphia's vastly improved Phillies and Athletics don't figure to clash in the 1952 World Series but the men of Steve O'Neil and Jimmy Dykes will have a lot to say about who does.

Both Philadelphia nines, below the .500 mark a little more than a month ago, have been playing at a pennant clip of late and the majority of their remaining games are against the upper crust teams in the flag chases.

Philadelphia's rise in the baseball sun coincides with the appointment of O'Neil as boss of the Phils on June 28th. Since then the Phils have won 28 and lost 12 for a .684 pace and the A's have captured 24 and dropped 18 for a .569 gait.

The Phils moved to within three and one-half games of third-place St. Louis Sunday as Lefty Curt Simmons blanked the Cards, 6-0, on four hits.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers lunged to a lead of six and one-half games over the Giants by sweeping a doubleheader from Chicago, 3-2 and 9-1, while the Giants dropped a pair to last place Pittsburgh, 7-0 and 10-8.

Cincinnati and Boston divided a bargain bill, the Braves winning the opener, 7-4, and the Reds the night-cap, 4-0.

The Yanks, with an assist from the Athletics, moved to the three-game lead over Cleveland in the American League chase. The Yanks pitched St. Louis, 6-1 and 6-4, while the Athletics split with Cleveland, winning the second game, 9-2, after losing the first, 4-1.

The Red Sox fell four games behind and the Senators five and one-half. Art Houtteman of Detroit shut out the Red Sox, 4-0, while Washington and Chicago battled to an eight-inning 0-0 tie in the first game of a doubleheader.

The game was called on account of rain in the ninth and the second game was postponed.

Simmons had little difficulty in hanging up his tenth victory and fifth shutout. Gran Hammer staked the crowd southpaw to a 3-0 lead in the fourth with a three-run homer off Joe Pressley.

Right-handers Carl Erskine and Johnny Rutherford pitched the Dodgers to victory over the sinking Cubs. Erskine granted six safeties in the first game. Roy Campanella singled with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to break a 2-2 tie and fetch Erskine his eleventh victory.

Rutherford, making his second start, coasted home in the second game on a 10-1 Dodger hit.

Murry Dickson, beaten by the Giants Saturday turned in a brilliant relief job to win the opener at the Polo Grounds. Dickson blanked the Giants on three hits after taking over in the fourth.

The Pirates piled up a 10-1 lead in the second game but the Giants charged back with seven runs in the sixth to make it close. The game was called after the New York uprising because of darkness.

Lefty Warren spahn hung up his ninth victory in the opener against Cincinnati while Ewell Blackwell suffered his twelfth loss. George Crowe doubled home the deciding runs in the third. Bubba Church shut out the Braves on six singles in the second game.

Johnny Sain, allowing his hits, turned in his ninth victory for the Yanks in the first of two at St. Louis. The Yanks enjoyed a 6-0 lead entering the ninth of the night-cap when former Bronnie Jim McDonald suddenly lost his stuff. The Browns scored four runs and had the bases loaded before Joe Ostrowski put out the flame.

Bob Feller checked his four-game losing streak in beating the A's in the first game. Scheidt held the Indians to three hits in the aftermath, which the Athletics won with a seven-run rally in the seventh inning.

Odessa Hands Braves Eighth Straight Loss

SWEETWATER.—(P)—Odessa's Oilers sent the Sweetwater Braves down to their eighth straight defeat, 9-3, Sunday as Carlos Villarreal checked the losers on 11 well-spared hits.

Oilers grouped four hits for runs in the fifth inning to snap a 2-2 tie, then added three more tallies off four safeties in the sixth for good measure.

Bill Cearley, ex-Roswell outfielder, continued his hitting rampage for Odessa, collecting four for five and driving across three runs.

Sweetwater took a 2-0 lead in the second on an error, a single by Johnny Morris and John Miller's double.

Odessa tied it up in the third when Brave Pitcher Joe Langdon filled the bases with walks and served a two-run single to Cearley.

Manager Bob (Pepper) Martin opened Odessa's fifth frame with a double and after Lefty Lorkin walked, Leo Eastham forced Martin at home. Cearley singled in Lorkin, and the two base runners moved up on Left Fielder Chino Bernal's throw to home.

Charlie Weber plated two runs with a single and Roberto Fabian scored Weber with a double.

Home runs accounted for the Oilers' three runs in the sixth. Martin poked one out after Raul Dieppa had led off with a double and Eastham stroked a solo round-tripper over the right field wall.

Triples by Charlie Buck and Bernal produced Sweetwater's third run in the eighth. It was Villarreal's fourth win against one defeat.

The score: R H E
Odessa 002 043 000—9 13 2
Sweetwater 020 000 010—3 11 0
Villarreal and Castro; Langdon, Rodriguez and Traspasuso.

Rockets Win On Homers

SAN ANGELO.—(P)—Les Palmer and Manager Al Monchak belted homers to make a 5-4 difference here Sunday as the Roswell Rockets defeated the San Angelo Colts.

In a game that started out as a old-fashioned pitcher's duel between San Angelo's Don Gabor and the Rockets' Milton Ralot, Roswell suddenly turned it into a slugfest.

With San Angelo leading, 2-1, Palmer hit the first pitch to tie up the left field fence to tie up Elwood Grantham then walked and Wayne Crawford singled him to second to set it up for Monchak. His three-run homer was in almost the same place as Palmer's.

The eighth inning proved costly for the Colts, although they added another run. First Baseman Cotton Russell and Manager Mark Christman thumbed from the field by Umpire Steve Sadowaki. After Ralot had scored from second on Ronald Dacko's double, he pitched it but which apparently came too close to Sadowaki. He was ordered out of the game, and he and Christman protested so vigorously Sadowaki thumbed them both out.

The score: R H E
Roswell 000 001 040—5 9 3
San Angelo 000 002 011—4 18 1
Ralot, Alonso and Calo; Gabor, Tinkler, Saldana and Decko.

REDS REVISE SCORING SYSTEM TO CLAIM OLYMPICS VICTORY

HELSINKI, FINLAND.—(P)—Russia Monday claimed an overall victory in the Olympic games with 494 points against 496.25 for the United States.

Apparently the Russians decided a first place was worth only seven points instead of the 10 points awarded by the standard scoring method used on all Olympic games since 1920.

A statement issued by N. Romanov, leader of the Soviet Olympic team, said the Russian score would have been better if the judging had been more "objective."

The Russian statement made no explanation of how the Soviets got their point total, but papers in Moscow Monday published a point system giving seven points for first place instead of 10. Scoring for the other placings was the same as the standard system.

Battle Starts For City Softball Title Here Monday Night

The Standard of Texas Softball nine, visitors of the JayCee League during regular season play, will go after the city title Monday night when it meets fourth-place Rendevious in the opening game of the championship playoffs at Wadley Park, starting at 7:45 p.m. Western Paistic will play Humble in the nightcap.

In making its bid for the title, Standard will send its undefeated hurler, Milt Montgomery, to the mound. Montgomery, who tossed his way to 11 wins without a defeat during season play probably will be opposed by Malone (5-4).

Doing the hurling for Western Paistic in the nightcap will be Jack Dunlap. He will be opposed by John O'Donohoe (6-2) for Humble.

As an added attraction Monday night, names of those players who were named to the all-star team will be announced along with the name of the most valuable player. Managers cast ballots on all-star team selections last week.

Ocee's Greason Nips Dallas' Dave Hoskins In Negro Mound Duel

By The Associated Press
The Dallas Eagles, who introduced Dave Hoskins as the first negro in the Texas League, pitted him against Oklahoma City's Jim Greason in the loop's first all-negro pitching duel Sunday night. The result: Dallas' biggest home crowd and a smaller first place margin.

Greason put down Hoskins' bid for a seventeenth win and won his second verdict in two starts, taking the 3-2, seven-inning game for the Indians.

Hal Erickson went forward as the league's winningest pitcher, this one 18, as he got Dallas a split of the twin bill with a six-hit, 6-1 decision in the nine-inning encounter. A crowd of 11,007 saw the bill.

SPORTS NOTES from the BENCH JOCKEY

World competition in the Olympic games has been written into the sports history books once again but the impact which they have had upon the competing nations will be felt for some time to come.

Just at the twilight of the Olympic's final contests, an official warned that the display of intense nationalism exhibited at this year's games stands to hurt the contests in future games.

He had reference of course primarily to the rivalry which existed between the United States athletes and those of Soviet Russia.

He is afraid if the trend continues that, instead of creating good will, as is its purpose, that it will bring on ill will and jealousy among nations.

And he has a point. But such intense nationalism was not generated at the Olympic games. They merely have served as an outlet for the long flashes of nationalism which have been simmering on the political front.

Enough of the Olympics for now. In Midland, the draft board has served notice on Indian Pitcher-Outfielder Pat Water who has been filling in for Gahien Dinkel. Dinkel hurt one of his knees while on the recent road trip but the injury is not believed to be serious.

An effort will be made to get a deferment for Waters until the season is over. As things now stand, he is scheduled to report August 15.

The Artesia Drillers have added two new pitchers to bolster their hurling staff. They are Laverne Herman, who had an 8-6 record with Abilene so far this year, and Len Ruyie, who had been pitching semi-pro ball with Paduach in the Red River Valley League.

Horace Busby, business manager of Midland Indians, Inc., said Sunday he has received a call from Gordon Tanner, Tribe catcher who was injured earlier in the season, and that Tanner will join the club Wednesday.

Tanner has been at his home in Canada since suffering a broken bone in the joint of one of his fingers earlier.

A large majority of the area's sports writers will go to Fort Worth this week to attend the Texas High School Coaching School which opens Monday and lasts through Friday.

Bench Jockey will make the trip Wednesday in time for the final two days. We will see the football contest between the North and South squads Friday night.

Playing with the North will be big Stan Coker of Midland, an all-state tackle while playing with the Bulldogs last year. A teammate of Stan's on the North squad will be guard Walter Cooley of Odessa.

Both Cooley and Coker have indicated that they will cast their lots with the Baylor Bears this Fall.

Still another area standout, Tackle Kenneth Ives of Kermit, is a casualty of the draft. He will not be able to play in the all-star game since he already has entered the Army.

Here's How To Get Tangled Up In Your Own Family Tree

TAZEWELL, VA.—(P)—Son-in-law of his own son-in-law, you say? Well, they got married here about a week ago: J. H. Hall, of Mercer County, W. Va., who is 33, and Roxie Bailey Rutherford of Bristol, Va., who is 63.

Roxie is the step-daughter of J. H. Hall's daughter Annie, who married Roxie's father, John W. Bailey. If you keep that straight, it's simple.

Hall is a son-in-law of his own daughter, and also a son-in-law of his own son-in-law.

He is Bailey's father-in-law, which makes Bailey a father-in-law of his own father-in-law.

Further, the new Mrs. Hall is now mother-in-law to her own father, and Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Bailey are each other's stepmother. Hall and Bailey are step-sons to one another, and the two wives are step-daughters to each other.

Texas Kin Identify Victim Of Grisly Oklahoma Murder

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—A sobbing sister and grief-stricken brother Monday morning identified a mutilated, headless murder victim as Betty Jack Stevens, 21-year-old Dallas waitress.

The girl's nude, tortured torso, with the word "rat" carved into the abdomen, was discovered in a dry creek bed near Yukon, Okla.

Identification was made Sunday from the victim's fingerprints. O. L. Bivins, chief of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau, said Miss Stevens had a criminal record in both Texas and Oklahoma.

Police believe she may have been a victim of gangland revenge. The girl's sister, Helen Stevens, 26, of Texarkana, Texas, broke down completely when she viewed the body. A brother, Eddie Stevens, 24, of Dallas, identified it by scars and birthmarks.

Helen said she hadn't seen her sister for several months. Eddie told police he saw her a month ago and at the time she was "well and happy."

Both, however, claimed they had been out of touch with her for some time and could give no clues to the motive for the brutal slaying.

The girl's father, O. S. Stevens, is a farmer at Grapeland, Texas. Her mother is dead.

Eddie Stevens said Betty was married at 16, but the marriage was annulled later.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said "every single problem in the Pacific" will come under discussion at the closed sessions.

Acheson, the Australian minister of external affairs, Richard O. Casey and New Zealand's foreign minister, T. Clifton Webb, made brief public addresses.

Two newspapers in Taipei, Formosa—the official Chinese Nationalist Central Daily News and the independent Kung Lun Pao—editorially attacked the United States-Australia-New Zealand pact as too regional.

In the Philippines, Senator Jose P. Laurel, leader in the Nationalist Party, criticized the conference as "a modern version of pre-war colonialism."

He said mutual security decisions in the Pacific should not be made by Western powers alone.

The U. S. has separate security agreements with the Philippines and with Japan.

AUTO STUDENT FLUNKS EXAM

NEWTON, Mass.—(P)—Thomas Mullen of Watertown was teaching his wife to drive Sunday.

Here's what happened. The car tore through a fence, dived into nine feet of water in Horseshoe Pond.

Mullen and his wife swam 20 feet to shore.

Then Mullen realized their pet collie was still in the car. He swam back to the car just as the dog's head appeared on the surface.

None suffered any ill effects. Mullen told police his wife's foot apparently "froze" on the accelerator.

Mississippi Demos Visit Ike: 'No Deal'

DENVER—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters and a group of Mississippi Democrats say they have entered into no deal to win support for the Republican presidential nominee.

And both sides were emphatic about it.

It all started when former Lt. Gov. Sam Lumpkin of Mississippi arrived at the general's headquarters over the weekend with a delegation of fellow Democrats.

Lumpkin said the group and a "sizeable number" of other Mississippi Democrats were mighty dissatisfied with the party platform and its ticket—Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for President and Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama as his running mate.

Jack Porter, GOP national committeeman from Texas, said Sunday plans were underway for Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, to make a three-day, speech-making swing through Texas.

If the plans work out, Porter said in Dallas, it would be another triumphal return to Texas for Eisenhower in late September or early October.

Meanwhile, Republicans and Democrats alike counted up the score on Saturday's county conventions.

The tone of the conventions showed Eisenhower Republicans and anti-administration Democrats tall in the saddle. Except in a few counties, forces of Gov. Allan Shivers controlled the Democratic gatherings and pro-Eisenhower forces controlled the GOP meetings.

Various Tickets Backed
There was widespread sentiment against the national Stevenson-Sparkman ticket in the Democratic ranks Saturday, chiefly on civil rights and Tidelands issues.

Some Democrats expressed a willingness to vote for the Republican nominee. Others wanted Eisenhower and Nixon put on a separate "Texas Democratic Party" ticket alongside the national Democratic nominees.

Although the Republican meetings reflected until—at least skin deep—the Democratic conventions betrayed some of the old intra-party bitterness. Fist fights flared at Houston and San Antonio meetings but nobody was reported seriously injured.

Cross-File Talked
Republicans in some counties decided they wanted to cross-file the names of Shivers and Attorney General Price Daniel, on the GOP ticket.

Shivers and Daniel are the Democratic nominees for governor and U. S. senator, respectively.

Other counties, however, decided against this procedure.

Taft supporters quietly stepped aside in most Republican gatherings to make way for the supporters of Eisenhower. Widespread support of Alvin Lane, Dallas Eisenhower leader, for county chairman.

Cost Guardsmen who boarded the vessel to investigate its grounding found the three-man crew badly cut up and bruised. Two Poles, aged 28 and 30, said they had attacked the skipper when he refused to take them to Sweden. After a long fierce battle, the pair overpowered him and sailed away from their Communist homeland to this Swedish naval base.
