Oil In Third DST
In Ector Wildcat

Oil flowed on a third drillstem test of the Wolfcamp at V. A. Brill and Associates of Houston No. 1 David and Inez Fasken, wildcat in Northeast Ector County.

The seven-hour test was taken from 9,531 feet to 9,661 feet. Gas appeared at the surface in three minutes and oil in five.

It was tested to tanks for six and three-quarters hours through chokes ranging from one-quarter inch to 14/64-inch in size. The well flowed from 20 to 25 barrels of oil hourly. Fluid in the drillpipe was then reversed out.

Operator deepened and then took a drillstem test from 9,682 to 9,691 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 90 feet of oil and gas cut mud. Coring continued below 9,696 feet in lime.

Earlier, the well flowed oil from upper Wolfcamp on drillstem at 8,543-8,567 feet and at 8,730-8,746 feet.

Brill No. 1 Fasken is about 11 miles northeast of Odessa and 21 miles northwest of Midland. It is 467 feet from south and 2,179 feet from west lines of section 17, block 42, T-1-N, G&MMB&A survey.

It is No. 1-A E. H. Jones and is 600 feet from west and 661 feet from north lines of the northeast quarter of section 10, block A-7, pd survey. That makes it between the Jones Ranch and North Russell (Devonian) pools.

Drillsite is two miles southeast and separated from the Jones Ranch (Devonian) field by two deep failures. It is two and one-half miles northwest of the North Russell (Devonian) area.

NW Dawson Field

El Tee Oil Company No. 1-95 Classen has been completed as a good producer in the Mungerville (Pennsylvanian) area of Northwest Dawson County.

It was finished for a daily flowing potential of 697.5 barrels of 40.3-gravity oil through a 2 1/2-inch choke and perforations at 8,620-30 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 750-1 and tubing pressure was 225 pounds. The completion was natural.

Location is 600 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 95, block M, EL&RR survey.

Moore Outpost In NW Lea Assured
As Oiler On DST

The Texas Company has been assured a commercial producer and three-quarters mile northeast extension to Devonian production in the Moore area of Northwest Lea County, at its No. 1-BC State.

A drillstem test was taken in the interval from 10,390 to 10,462 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 7,000 feet of clean, 43.3-gravity oil and no water.

Operator was to drill ahead and take another drillstem test. Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 24-11a-32e.

Midland's City Tax Rate Boosted

15-Cent Hike
Restores Half
Of Last Slash

A 15-cent increase in the city's tax rate for 1952-53—to meet expanding needs for municipal services as well as to provide a safe operating reserve—was ordered Monday afternoon by the City Council.

The increase was ordered as the council formally set the new tax rate at $1.60 per $100 valuation, restoring half of a 30-cent slice taken in the tax rate a year ago.

"Even with this increase," City Manager W. H. Oswalt told the council, "Midland still has one of the lowest city tax rates in the state."

"Our citizens expect a certain standard of municipal service and the city must be in a position to maintain this standard, even in the face of unforeseen developments."

Members of the council expressed the belief that the city's reserve fund, which has been lowered from slightly more than $100,000 to about $47,000 during the last year, should be maintained at a $100,000 level.

The 15-cent raise will represent an additional $28,000 in revenue for the city and will bring the operating reserves to approximately that figure by the end of the 1952-53 fiscal year.

The new budget, calling for expenditures of $1,288,385, represents a 15 per cent rise over the current budget and a 75 per cent increase over its operating budget two years ago.

"In two years," explained the city manager, "our population has increased between 60 and 70 per cent and we've had a 70 per cent increase in the number of water and sewer connections."

"Naturally, this has called for a rapid and large expansion of city services."

"Our garbage collection, for instance, cost $27,000 two years ago. Since that time, we have increased the frequency of the collections as well as expanding the whole sanitation force."

"Next year that one service will (Continued on Page 10)

Coal Walkout
Threat Again
Stalks Nation

WASHINGTON—(P)—The specter of another industry-throttling strike before the steel mills have had a chance to get back to full blast production arose Tuesday as John L. Lewis served notice that his United Mine Workers' contracts are ending next month.

Lewis, president of the mine workers union, wrote Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, that his present contract will expire September 30.

That's 60 days from the date on Lewis' letter. Terms of the existing contract provide termination upon 60 days' notice by either side.

The notice to Moody, following by 10 days similar word to the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, is certain to mean a shut-down of all but a small portion of soft coal mining the end of next month unless Lewis, Moody and Harry M. Moses agree on new contract terms. Moses heads the bituminous association, representing an estimated 240 million tons of annual production, much of it owned by the steel industry. The Moody group produces around 100 million tons a year.

Lewis, it also was learned, has served contract termination notice on the anthracite, or hard coal industry, which employs 100,000 miners. The bituminous diggers number 450,000.

Still not a party to the series of recent Lewis letters are operators in Indiana and the far West, with an estimated 40 to 50 million tons a year and a scattering of soft coal producers in a dozen other states.

A soft coal industry official said there is little likelihood of any full-scale bargaining talks for several weeks.

14th Polio Case Reported In Midland For This Year

Midland's fourteenth polio case for 1952 was reported Tuesday to the Midland City-County Health Unit.

Dr. C. A. Pigford, director of the unit, said the illness of seven-year-old Garry Wallace had been identified as polio.

The boy's condition is not regarded as serious, however, and he is being kept at his home at 319 South Montgomery Street.

Dr. Pigford said the family had moved to Midland only last week from Wichita Falls.

Meanwhile, the campaign against polio, believed to be one source of polio, continued unabated.

Additional equipment was placed in operation on the construction of a south side interceptor sewer line designed to prevent further overflowing of a sewer line on North Terrell Street.

Henry Nunn, city sewage and water engineer, said the line had overflowed a small amount Monday afternoon but that generally the situation had improved.

Spraying and fogging crews continued to attack potential fly-breeding areas.

One fogging crew scared more than flies, however, Tuesday morning.

City Manager W. H. Oswalt reported one resident complained that the heavy fog had drifted into her house, giving it the appearance of being on fire and causing her momentary alarm.

Police Quiz Yukon Suspects; Mystery Woman Enters Scene

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—Oklahoma and Texas officers quizzed suspects at a furious pace Tuesday in the butcher slaying of a 21-year-old Dallas waitress as a mystery woman companion entered the picture.

With 60 persons already questioned—10 here and 50 in Dallas—the situation to officers looked both bright and gloomy.

"We haven't a single hot suspect," said O. K. Bivins, Oklahoma's Crime Bureau chief.

"We have a pretty good chance of breaking it," said Capt. Will Frits of the Dallas Police Department.

Immediate attention was focused on the mystery woman—said to be with Miss Betty Jack Stevens three days before her nude, decapitated, handless torso was found near Yukon, Okla.—and the unknown person with whom she left Dallas.

Bivins said he had information from a confidential source that Miss Stevens stayed the night of Sunday, July 27, in an Oklahoma City hotel with a younger woman.

"We have not been able to find that woman," the Crime Bureau chief added. "The waitress' head and hands, along with some clothing, were found

DEATH IN THE NIGHT—Firemen and rescue workers probe the wreckage of two Greyhound buses which crashed head-on at the crest of a hill seven miles south of Waco. At least 28 passengers died in the flames when the gas tanks exploded, turning the twisted and broken metal into a raging inferno. Five others are missing in the crash.

Grim Task Of Identifying Bus Crash Dead Continues

WACO—(P)—Authorities worked Tuesday to determine just how many persons died in the flaming crash of two Greyhound buses near here Monday. Meanwhile, civilians working for the military barred newsmen and others from the morgue where the bodies are held.

Shortly thereafter, the executive editor of the Waco Times-Herald, angered at what he called "censorship," telephoned Washington authorities and got the ban against reporters and others entering the morgue lifted.

At least 28 bodies have been recovered from the collision and flame-wrecked buses, but a pile of charred flesh and bone remained for classification and identification. Only seven of the dead had been identified positively by mid-morning, 30 hours after the wreck occurred.

Twenty-five persons were listed as injured. Tuesday, all were declared no longer in critical danger.

Executive Editor Sam Wood of the Waco Times-Herald said one of his reporters, Mary Ann Jennings, was barred from the Compton Funeral Home morgue by a Waco policeman. The policeman said he was acting under orders to bar persons from entering the morgue. The order came, Wood reported, from two civilians, an identification team from Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio. They were R. L. Trask and R. W. Ralston.

James Lablond, head of the McClennan County civilian defense agency and himself a sportscaster, said he was barred from the morgue.

Wood said he believed the morgue was closed so that no identification of military personnel would be made until military authorities released the names.

"This is no longer a matter of military courtesy," Wood said. "Too many civilians are involved. We'll play ball with them on their military posts but not in this situation."

Second Lt. William W. Cook of Merkel, Texas, and Ronald W. Martin of Fort Jarvis, N. Y., shared one of the kills.

The Air Force said the Red fighters ventured farther south than they had in recent months.

The program of heralding air raids is designed to spare civilian life, and it also has the effect of flaunting the Allied air superiority over the Communist North Korean and Chinese commands, the Air Force said.

"Mr. McMillen was one of the leaders in the search for a new water supply for Midland, and he worked long and faithfully toward its acquisition," the mayor said.

The area, to which the city has acquired perpetual water rights, is located northwest of the city and is expected to be developed in sufficient time to supply the city with additional water by next summer.

Meanwhile, one more victim was identified through dental work, fingerprints, scraps of paper in his billfold and his wedding band. He was Charles W. Wright, stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth. He was enroute to the base after celebrating his wedding anniversary at San Antonio.

Investigation of the crash continued. An Interstate Commerce Commission official was among the investigators.

One of the victims was identified as Mrs. W. H. Sigle of Freer, Texas. Later Tuesday, another victim was identified from military identification tags and dental work. He was Airman J. C. Asall L. Taylor, Jr., 21, of the 3567 Training Squadron, Connally Air Force Base, Waco. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Taylor of Mina Piro, Charchas, Saltillo, Mexico.

Heat from the flames was so intense that molten metal and glass poured in little streams across the cracked highway. Officers believed some bodies were cremated completely.

Meanwhile, officials of the Greyhound Lines, police and the Texas Department of Public Safety tried to find out what happened, and why. The two speeding vehicles rammed together and burst into flames about 4 a.m. Two young drivers—Milton Berry Herring, 24, and B. E. (Billy) Malone, 23—were piloting their big vehicles through the pre-dawn blackness of Central Texas. Herring was completing his fifth day as a driver; Malone had been driving about four months. Both are among the dead.

The first fatalities identified by the State Highway Patrol were: Mrs. Marie C. Munes, 67, of Waco; Mrs. Eula V. Tucker, 30, of Georgetown.

Charles Roland Tucker, seven, of Georgetown. Sharon Eileen Tucker, five, of Georgetown.

Nelda Christine Tucker, 20 months, of Georgetown.

Mrs. L. H. Moncrief, 605 West Storey Street, was busy answering telephone congratulations of friends and neighbors Tuesday, but thankful that the life of her hero son, Pfc. C. R. Moncrief, 21, was spared in the fatal Greyhound bus crash early Monday near Waco. Private Moncrief, a former Midland High School Bulldog football star, who suffered only a minor injury in the crash, has been credited with saving the life of Matilda Zamudio, 11, of Waco, when he threw her through a window.

Moncrief called his mother at 7 a.m. Monday to assure her of his safety. He suffered a bruised hip in the accident and was released from the hospital after treatment.

The modest youth told his mother he lost both of his eyes in the crash, but failed to mention saving the life of the little girl. His mother first learned of his heroic action when his picture and news story appeared in a Tuesday edition of a Fort Worth newspaper.

Mrs. Moncrief said her son had been to Dallas to spend the weekend with a former Bulldog teammate, Ed Pritchard, a Midland law student at Southern Methodist University. Pritchard had driven Moncrief by automobile to Waco to catch a bus for Fort Hood, where he is stationed with the 61st Reconnaissance Battalion in the personnel section. He entered the Army in April last year, while in his third year as a student at SMU. He was graduated from Midland High School in 1948, after playing three years as first string center with the Bulldogs.

His father is employed in a supervisory capacity with Shell Oil Company.

Dallas Worker Dies
When Ditch Caves In

DALLAS—(P)—A construction worker was killed and two other men injured Tuesday when they were trapped by a cave-in while working in a 17-foot ditch.

Killed, apparently by suffocation, was Allen Sanders, about 50, Dallas. Injured were Douglas Yerber, 21, who recently moved to Dallas from Vernon, and Roosevelt Byrd, 43, Dallas.

Heat from the flames was so intense that molten metal and glass poured in little streams across the cracked highway. Officers believed some bodies were cremated completely.

Meanwhile, officials of the Greyhound Lines, police and the Texas Department of Public Safety tried to find out what happened, and why. Water Development
Tract Designated
As McMillen Field

A 3,040-acre tract scheduled for development within the next few months as Midland's newest source of water was designated officially Monday afternoon as McMillen Field.

At the suggestion of Mayor Perry Pickett, the water field was named in honor of J. W. McMillen, former member of the City Council.

"Mr. McMillen was one of the leaders in the search for a new water supply for Midland, and he worked long and faithfully toward its acquisition," the mayor said.

The area, to which the city has acquired perpetual water rights, is located northwest of the city and is expected to be developed in sufficient time to supply the city with additional water by next summer.

Steel, Union Men Iron Out Contract

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Representatives of U. S. Steel Corporation and officials of the CIO United Steelworkers met Tuesday to work out final details of a full-dress contract embodying terms which ended the 85-day strike against the nation's six biggest steel firms July 28.

The settlement called for an average 16 1/2 cents hourly pay hike, a modified union shop and improved fringe benefits. Inland Steel Company of Chicago is the only one of the big six which has signed a formal contract.

Details of the agreement, called "almost a complete contract" by a union spokesman, were not disclosed. The firm employs about 15,000 in 11 West Virginia and Ohio plants. Officials said full production can be expected Wednesday.

Judge's Sons Move To Defend Binion, Facing Extradition

CARSON CITY, NEV.—(AP)—Two sons of the judge before whom a hearing on transferring Benny Binion's income tax evasion case normally would be held will represent the gambler.

The Las Vegas firm of Foley and Foley Monday filed formal notice it would represent Binion in his fight to avoid return to Texas for trial. The two members of the firm, Thomas and Joseph Foley, are sons of Federal District Judge Robert T. Foley, before whom Binion's case normally would be held.

Judge Foley, however, is out of the state and is not expected to take part in the proceedings.

U. S. Attorney Miles Pike of Reno asked Chief Justice William Denman of the U. S. Ninth Circuit Court at San Francisco to assign another judge.

No date has been set for the hearing. Pike said, however, he hoped it could be held here before August 11.

Binion and his wife are under indictment in Texas on charges they underpaid their 1949 income tax by about $14,829.

Binion, now a Las Vegas resident, indicated he would not fight the income tax charge if the case were tried in federal court in Nevada. The case was transferred here on agreement between the Fort Worth and Nevada federal districts. But Attorney General James P. McGranery intervened to order Binion returned to Texas for trial. Binion, who can be arrested on gaming indictments if returned to Texas, has successfully avoided extradition on the gambling charges.

MOVIES ARE HOTTER THAN EVER, NO. 2— Picture In Birthday Suit Boosts Marilyn To Fame

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood took 14 years, three score screen tests and a couple of million dollars to find a successor to Jean Harlow, who melted celluloid from 1927 to 1933.

Several movie dolls claimed the late platinum blonde's Hollywood "Sex Queen" title from time to time. But moviegoers, and Hollywood itself, were not so sure.

Then sippy, blonde Marilyn Monroe came along to the lifted eyebrows and the wolf whistles. The verdict came fast and the vote was unanimous. Hollywood's 14-year search was over.

Like Jean Harlow, Marilyn is blonde, young (24), and saucy. When asked what she thought about sex she flipped. "I've never given it a second thought." She's also buxom, curvaceous and a show stopper in blue denim trousers, a gunny sack or a low cut evening gown.

Nude Calendar Pose

Even Jane Russell came out second best to Marilyn at a Hollywood party for the editor of a national magazine. "All the studios brought their top glamour girls," a press

"What's the matter—don't you like red?"

Jean Harlow never was accused of being a great actress and neither has Marilyn. It took bit roles in five films—and that nude calendar—before she became a star. But Hollywood had the right idea about her from the very beginning. She was wolf whistle bait. In one film she played a burlesque queen and in another, "Love Happy," she was chased for, exactly one minute by Groucho Marx.

Film acting was Marilyn's third method of supporting herself after her teenage marriage hit the rocks. Marilyn was 15 when she said, "I do," with a sailor named Tom Dougherty. Within seven months they were divorced.

Marilyn lived with foster parents as a child following the death of her father in an auto accident and the hospitalization of her mother, a film studio cutter named Gladys Baker, from a nervous breakdown.

A reunion with her mother after graduation from a Los Angeles high school didn't work out and Marilyn went to work as a parachute inspector in a Los Angeles war plant just before the end of World War II.

Then she switched to modeling—and posed for that now famous nude calendar. Her fee was $50 but it's been worth $1,000,000 to her in publicity. Asked just the other day if she had anything on for the calendar photographer, Marilyn quipped:

"Sure, I had the radio on."

When Groucho Marx chased Marilyn in "Love Happy," he chased her to stardom without knowing it. She went on tour to help ballyhoo the picture, met the press, did TV and radio shows and lavished enough publicity to interest Fox studio in casting her as a dancing girl in "Ticket to Tomahawk."

But it was Marilyn's role of a sultry doll interested in an older man in "Asphalt Jungle" that melted the candy bars in theater lobbies. Later, in "Niagara," Joseph Cotton described Marilyn to a friend: "She wears gowns cut so low you can almost see her kneecaps."

Marilyn, born and raised in California, the land of the sun tan, has skin as white as snow. Asked why she doesn't like to tan, Marilyn explained:

"I like to feel blonde all over."

Hollywood's next "Sex Queen" may not say all the Mae Westish things movie press agents claim she says. But intimate comments from her, like the reason she does not tan and "What do I wear when I go to bed? I wear Chanel No. 5," have helped to make her the most talked about girl in Hollywood.

For Marilyn's figure, bathing suits—but no sun tan.

Swedish Movie Lot Suffers Fire Losses

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN—(AP)—Twenty fire crews battled a spectacular blaze raging through part of the Sandrew Bauman Movie Studios here and brought it under control Tuesday after a four-hour fight.

The flames destroyed the studio wardrobe building and several other structures. More than 1,000 wigs and costumes designed for the movie "Barabbas" were burned, probably forcing a halt in its production.

Like Jean Harlow, Marilyn is hot newspaper and fan magazine copy and is the most talked about personality since Mary Astor burned her diary and Ingrid Bergman went to Stromboli.

In the spy reading department so far this year were:

Her confessions that she posed in the nude for a calendar when she needed money.

Her "I Don't Remember Mama" story about being an orphan—deunked when I revealed that her mother is alive and living in Hollywood.

Her indignant role in a Los Angeles courtroom as the state's star witness against two men charged

And her romance with Joe DiMaggio.

The linking of Marilyn and Joe crashed the headlines via the frayed temper of Joe's ex-wife, Dorothy Arnold, in a child custody action. Dorothy wailed that little Joe, Junior, referred to Marilyn in her presence with Joe Senior's pet name for the star—"The Doll."

Also like Jean Harlow, Marilyn is happiest when she's wearing as few clothes as the law will allow—a sort of "best undressed" star complex. The story is told that one day Marilyn walked into the 20th Century-Fox studio cafe wearing only a skirt and a red sweater—and that's all.

A studio official took a good look and admonished her about the brevity of her attire. Marilyn cooed:

The MATURE PARENT

Give Child Back His Virtue After He's Been Punished

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
She worked on the late shift in a factory town diner. Regularly, two nights a week, after four hours of sleep, she would go out into the empty morning streets to take a train. She would ride on it for two hours, then catch another—this time, an easy-going, casual local in which she would sit, rigid and erect until it stopped at the pretty suburban station where the waiting bus drivers all knew her.

One of them would let her out, her parcels under her arm, at her corner and she would begin to climb the winding hill to where the familiar gray building waited under its shade trees. There, in the reformatory's deliberately cheerful waiting room, she would sit while her boy was called.

When he came, he never kissed her. He never thanked her for the candy or clothing bought with hours of foot-weary service. Later, you would see them, as I once did, walking across the green lawns, never abreast, but the mother always to the rear of the child as though she knew there was no hope for ever reaching him.

Or as though she didn't really want to reach him.

No, I didn't want to believe that any more than you do. I didn't want to believe that she liked being publicly humiliated by her son because his arrogance and ingratitude contrasted so well with her meekness and generosity.

I didn't want to believe that what she was doing when she followed him so humbly across the green lawns was to proclaim to the world, "See how good, how understanding I am? You cannot hold anyone so good and undemanding responsible for anyone as bad and demanding as he is."

I had so believe it, though. For one day, after a visit by the parent who could spare anything to her child but some of her sense of personal virtue, her son went temporarily out of his head with panic at his own badness. And they had to send him away to a place where sterner controls could be put upon his terrified behavior.

When I heard this, I thought to myself, "Let me always remember to restore his sense of personal virtue to a child who has been punished."

We can do this most effectively by making opportunities for the child who has been punished to give to us. When we call him to supper after sending him from the table for disobedience, we should ask his help in getting his milk, setting out his silverware. We should spare him reproaches, requests for apologies and all other attentions which dramatize our capacity for forgiveness—and force him to receive from us instead of giving to us.

If it is chilly at night, we do not rush into our child's bedroom and snatch his covers for our own beds. When wrongdoing and punishment have chilled his sense of personal virtue, it is not the time to baby him by delivering sermons or parading our superiority in any way. It is the time for Jim or Ann to demonstrate their goodness by being given chances to be helpful and generous to us.

If we find such chances for them, the constraint that lingers between us and them after punishment will quickly disappear. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Carnahan, chairman of Yarborough's finance committee, disclosed the debts. He said they were part of "the great sacrifices required of a man of modest means like Judge Yarborough in seeking public office."

He said Yarborough had neither sought nor accepted contributions from outside the state.

More Than Meets The Eye

Aldai Stevenson, a pretty deft phrasemaker, was himself the target of a well-wrought verbal shaft the other day.

Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, who managed General Eisenhower's campaign through the Republican convention, allowed as how, if the Democrats remained in power, the next four years would find "the same fat cats around the White House at night no matter how it would look in the daytime."

The senator was striking an early note in what certainly will mount to a full chorus of Republican attacks on that subject.

Reporters assumed he meant the hangers-on and the party wheels who have caused the Truman administration so much embarrassment in recent years, and whom the President himself has been anything but firm and decisive in dealing with.

The issue is one which will get a sympathetic ear from all Republicans and many Democrats. Some of the latter, in fact, are known to believe that only a change of Administration can rid the party in power of its 20-year accumulation of political barnacles.

Fortunately for the Democrats, however, they couldn't have chosen a better man than Stevenson to handle such charges.

On his record as governor of Illinois, Stevenson is an arch foe of the entrenched politico and all he connotes in the way of inefficiency, graft and corruption.

In four years as governor of Illinois, he dragged that corruption-ridden state up to a position where in many respects it now ranks with the best. He fired people, he shook up and reorganized, and he got results.

Furthermore, if Stevenson is elected in November he will go into office singularly unencumbered by deals and promises to the party bigwigs.

He didn't seek the nomination until possibly the very last. It was thrust upon him. And being in that fortunate position, it is unlikely indeed that he also would allow to be hung around his neck a millstone of political commitments.

Thus he would be freer than many Presidents taking office to effect a general Washington overhaul and cleanup.

Stevenson said in his welcoming speech at the Democratic convention that his party should admit its mistakes, and certainly some of the "fatcat" aspects of the Truman administration would be among them.

But it's one thing to admit a mistake, and another to do something about it. An entrenched political party is a big and unwieldy thing. If elected, and with all the best intentions, Stevenson still would have his work cut out for him in any political slum-clearance project along the banks of the Potomac.

A lot of running down always results when a bunch of gossips start building up rumors.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson (Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Kremlin strategy influenced by U. S. elections; Russian H-bomb could swing Europe's balance; American economy threatens unity abroad.

WASHINGTON—It probably is no accident that the planners in the Kremlin have chosen the most hectic of all American election Summers to do some of their ugliest no-thumping.

Election years in the U. S. A. always are watched most carefully by those in Europe who have something ominous to put across.

It was no accident, for instance, that Mussolini, Hitler, and Japan ganged up in the Fall of 1938—an election year—to start unofficial submarine warfare in the Mediterranean while Japan was pushing father into China.

And had it not been for Roosevelt's courage in bucking the tide in Congress and sending arms to England, a Nazi government might have ruled the British Isles.

Likewise, it probably is no accident that the Kremlin is making some of its most telltale moves this Summer—at a time when the American public is thinking about the heat.

Summer vacations, and who will be the next President of the United States. Here are some of the moves spurred on by Moscow at this time:

1. Reported test of the first Russian hydrogen bomb. If this is true, then the Soviet is ahead of us in developing the H-bomb.

2. Possibility that Iran will go Communist. Iranian riots and the demand that the American arms mission pack up and leave is no accident.

3. Frenzied Soviet rearming of East Germany. This was spurred on partly by our pushing of a West European army. It also is why thousands of German refugees are fleeing into West Germany.

4. The economic illness of Great Britain. This goes hand-in-hand with the split in the Labor Party and the increasing strength of the cut-loose-from-America group.

5. What's happened in England is exactly what's been happening in the United States. England now has an isolationist party. It's somewhat comparable to the isolationists led by Senator Taft and Colonel McCormick.

6. The wobbling situation in France. What most people don't realize is that American subsidies, both under the Marshall Plan and later under the North Atlantic Pact, long have kept middle-of-the-road leaders of France in power.

7. We long have benefited from a loose alliance between the Catholic leaders of the middle, the non-Communist leaders of labor, and small businessmen of the middle. The chief factor keeping them together are their fears of communism.

8. Today Congress has cut drastically this margin, and France may be torn between the Communist left and the Fascist right of anti-American General De Gaulle.

9. The Kremlin is pushing its propaganda harder than ever and when we appear to be within gunshot of attaining the great goal of a European army.

10. All these things also come at a time when the American public is bored stiff with world problems and when it was difficult to squeeze a line of European news into the papers during the Chicago conventions, even with a crowbar.

11. Nevertheless, this undoubtedly is why the Kremlin has stiffened its truce talks in Korea, why its inflammatory posters have been tacked up in Moscow showing American planes shot down by the Reds, and why the Moscow radio has stepped up its hate-America program to a new pitch.

12. In brief, we are pretty sure to face more trouble abroad this Summer and Fall—regardless of politics, the heat, and our own desire to be let alone.

13. The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-J-10-9-8, Hearts K-Q-7-4, Diamonds A-5-2, Club 8. What do you do?

14. Bid two spades. You can reasonably hope for a slam opening bid, and your strong heart support guarantees a comfortable "spit" whether or not you reach the slam. This is a borderline hand, but most experts would make the immediate jump bid.

15. The first-class rubber bridge player has a completely different philosophy about slams. He is willing to bid slams with a certain amount of gaiety and abandon when he knows that the partnership hands include a very safe trump suit and a large number of playing tricks.

16. The kind of slam that depends on favorable distribution, or perhaps a favorable opening lead, is difficult to reach by "scientific" methods. The first-class player, doesn't disdain science, but he knows its limitations.

17. When North makes a take-out double of one heart, and subsequently jumps raises to five clubs, it's dollars to doughnuts that he has a singleton heart. Of all the possible hands that North can hold to justify this bid, probably three-quarters include a singleton heart.

18. South is merely following percentage, therefore, when he bids the slam in this situation.

19. The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, North, hold: Spades A-J-10-9-8, Hearts K-Q-7-4, Diamonds A-5-2, Club 8. What do you do? Answer Wednesday

Voting Americans Should Hope Neither Sparkman Nor Nixon Take The Helm

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Regardless of which party wins the November presidential election, voters may be called upon to pray devoutly for the life and continued good health of the President during the next four years.

There has been general admission that both parties chose excellent men to head their tickets. Both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson have broad administrative experience which fit each to be U. S. Chief Executive.

As far as the vice presidential candidates are concerned, however, there are considerable misgivings. Both are clean-cut men of good character. There is nothing against either one of them personally.

Both men are lawyers. Both have risen to their present prominence as members of Congress. Neither has ever held an administrative position in government.

So They Say

Now everybody has to jump in and work. We have a long, hard campaign ahead of us.

—Republican presidential nominee Dwight Eisenhower.

Our banners are tattered and we have been duped by those who led us into the (Korean) conflict.

—Donald E. Wilson, National Commander of the American Legion.

The Dean (Dr. Hewlett Johnson), the "Red" Dean of Canterbury, is a public nuisance to the church and state.

—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury.

We will never appease nor apologize for our leadership in the great events of this critical century from Woodrow Wilson to Harry Truman.

—Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

He ought to sit down in the cool of the evening and have a heart-to-heart talk with Harry.

—Senator Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.)

If I can live honestly, with no lying, stealing and cheating, then there may be hope for other men like me.

Summer Dream

By Irene Erhardt

STEVE, Laurie and her father had gone fishing. Louis French had left his daughter and Steve to fish up the river beside an old log.

Steve sat with his hat tilted over his face and his head resting against the enormous trunk of an old sycamore tree.

"You know, Steve," Laurie said thoughtfully, "there's more to you than any man I've ever known. You're—so different somehow."

"I'll miss you, Laurie," Steve said. "You'll be leaving before long now I suppose."

"She looked at him, reclining against the tree trunk, probably half asleep under that old hat and neither knowing or caring what turn the conversation took. "You won't miss me," she said tonelessly.

"Yes I will, Laurie," he insisted. "There's more to you than I ever dreamed. This summer has been wonderful. It's going to be downright boring with you around."

"You didn't mean those things you said that night, did you?"

"What things?"

"About my being a spoiled brat, and that I should go 'jack to my own kind'?"

"Oh, I don't know, Laurie. I've thought about that night a lot of times since, and I'm sorry I talked to you that way. If it's not too late, I apologize. He tilted his hat back and grinned at her.

"Do you remember the way you kissed me?"

"Steve's grin faded. He got up suddenly and went over and began to reel in the line of his fishing pole. "Yes," he said after a moment. "I remember that too."

"Oh, Steve!" she cried. He turned around to look at her. She had picked up a stick and was marking in the soft moist sand.

He stared at the three words. "LAURIE LOVES STEVE"

"What's impossible about it? Steve, I know now that you're the reason I came here this summer. I just had to come and couldn't marry Fletcher. I was crazy about you that summer—that other summer—"

"You were sweet then, too, Laurie. And I want you to know that this summer has meant a lot to me, except that I've realized that I was beginning to think too much of you. That's why I went on that canoe trip—to get myself squared away."

"Steve I don't understand what you're trying to say."

"Just this, Laurie. My voice turned grim suddenly. "It would be wrong for us to care too much about each other. It would never work. I'm older than you for one thing—10 years, and that's too much. Besides, your world and mine are two different places."

"Take me into your world," she whispered. She felt frightened at Steve's earnestness.

"My world wouldn't be enough for you, Laurie. I couldn't give you any of the things you're used to, like milk cows, and servants, and trips to Europe."

"I don't need those things, Steve."

"Maybe you think you don't, but

What's Right?

You have never gotten used to calling on a new next-door neighbor.

WRONG: Since you haven't met her, don't speak when the two of you see each other in the yard.

RIGHT: Speak when you see her and the first chance you get at least walk over to her yard and introduce yourself.

Texas Allowable Increase Boosts Nation's Oil Flow

TULSA—(AP)—A change in Texas allowable was credited Tuesday by the Oil and Gas Journal with lifting the nation's daily average crude oil and condensate production by 50,128 barrels to 4,128,250 barrels during the week ended August 2.

The Journal reported the boost put the year's production at 1,310,253,900 barrels compared with 1,305,159,300 at this time a year ago.

Texas more than accounted for the total net gain, jumping 55,575 barrels to 2,648,250 barrels.

The only other major gainers were Oklahoma, up 6,100 barrels to 526,800 barrels, and the Eastern fields, up 1,100 barrels to 59,100.

Alabama and North Dakota each increased 200 barrels, the former to 2,800 barrels and the latter to 4,000.

California gained 700 barrels to 90,200, Indiana added 400, to 32,700, Kentucky increased 100 to 33,600 and Michigan advanced 500 to 38,000.

Kansas was the biggest loser, falling 3,400 barrels to 517,700.

Other declines were in Wyoming, down 2,000 barrels to 184,000; Arkansas, off 1,300 to 79,400; Colorado, 100 to 82,600; Montana and Nebraska, 200 each to 27,000 and 6,900, respectively; New Mexico, 1,425 to 184,950; and Utah, 100 to 4,300.

Staff Men Dicker Over Truce Words As Seniors Recess

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—United Nations and Communist staff officers Tuesday agreed on the wording of a proposed Korean armistice document.

Still blocking a truce, however, is the deadlock on the number of war prisoners to be exchanged when the document becomes effective.

The staff officers finished their work on the text wording in a 44-minute session at Panmunjom and went into indefinite recess.

Interpreters will work over the text in the next few days to insure that Korean, Chinese and English versions coincide.

The main armistice negotiations are in recess until Monday.

FRONT BURNER FOR THIS HAM

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Leonard Ross, seven-year-old mental marvel who dropped into FCC offices here July 23 and won his novice radio operator's license, visited the FCC again Monday.

This time he passed the more intricate third-class commercial radio operator's test.

Bernard Linden, local FCC chief, personally congratulated the lad.

Leonard accepted it all calmly and said he'd be back soon—to try for second and first class commercial licenses.

Gangland Slaying Rubs Out Gambling Kingpin in Chicago

CHICAGO—(AP)—Theodore Roe, wealthy negro gambling boss, was killed from ambush Monday night by assassins who blasted him with shotgun slugs when he stepped from his South Side apartment.

Roe, 53, a reputed millionaire and last of the old guard to resist syndicate control over the lucrative South Side policy wheel racket, was hit from fairly close range twice in the chest and once in the neck.

He died soon after arrival at a hospital.

Police found four spent shotgun shell cases on the ground behind a signboard south of Roe's apartment building, Joseph Turner, 46, an attendant at a nearby filling station, said he saw three white men in a car parked behind the signboard about 20 minutes before the shots were fired.

Kidnappings and threats were enough to drive other leaders from the multi-million dollar policy racket when the syndicate started moving in, but Roe stayed out.

On June 18, 1951, Roe shot and killed Leonard (Pat Louie) Calfano, a West Side hoodlum. A murder charge against him was dropped when he contended he shot in self defense when Calfano and three companions tried to kidnap him.

The two scientists are Robert Henry Smith of Medford, Ore., and Everett L. Sutton of Aberdeen, S. D. Smith said only a few specimens of this four-foot waterfowl remain on the North American continent.

Grandpa Turns Into Youthful Glamor Boy

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Grandpa is going to be a glamor boy, now that television has convinced him it's no sin to look young.

The men's beauty business is booming, says Albert of Fifth Avenue, whose men's grooming salon is booked solid for nine to five daily with big businessmen and taxi drivers, cops and clergymen, TV stars and Wall Street brokers, all of whom have discovered it's good business to look your best.

Albert, veteran New York beau-utician and style director of the Hair Fashion Council of America, branched out into the men's field last year, and now reports that his business has tripled. He says:

"For many years I have seen men working themselves to death earning enough money to keep their wives looking young, with the result that the wives start looking around for younger men."

"Now it's time men realized that it's important for them to look young, in business or in romance. When a man starts out to look for a new job or a new wife, heaven help him if he looks 50 when he's only 40. A little professional grooming could make him look 35."

Gets The Works
The gentleman who visits Albert's salon gets the works. One young lady works on his head, another on his feet and a third manicures his hands. If he's the tycoon-type executive who feels he can't take time away from his business, he can dictate while he's being beautified, and the record is sent to his secretary—or if he hasn't a secretary, Albert has a transcription made for him. While he's getting the works his suit is sent out to be pressed and returned fresh and unrumpled by the time he's ready to walk out, a new and handsome man.

Albert has what he says probably is the only complete grooming salon for men in the country—at least one of the few. In it he offers to gentlemen all the beauty services available to women, including hair styling, permanent waves and hair dyeing.

The most popular service is the hair-dye job on men, says Albert, who explains:

"Badness and gray hair are the two things that make a man a grandpa. And men in all walks of life are discovering that it pays to look as young as you can."

No Danger Of Detection
"If a man has thinning hair, we can give treatment which will stop the hair from falling out. If he's completely bald, there's no remedy except a toupee—but today's toupees are exactly matched to both the natural color and texture of the hair and are applied so skillfully that not even a wife or sweetheart could detect them. A man can go swimming or stand on his head without dislodging it."

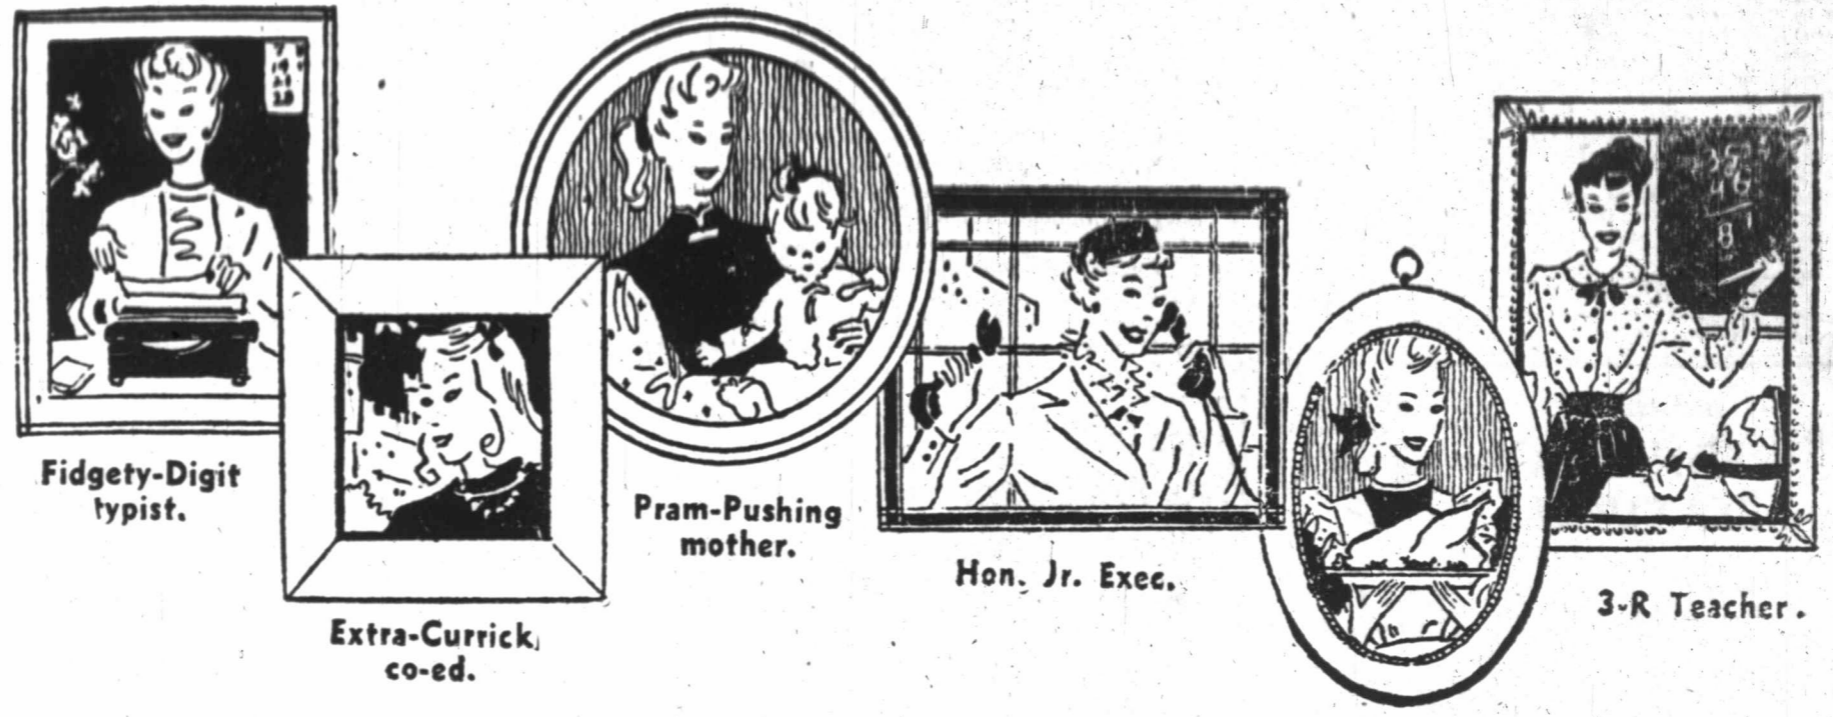

As to hair dye, Albert is firmly in favor of it, as are many of his customers. He says:

"Gray hair can make a man look 20 years older—and this is an age of youth. A vigorous, young-looking man has a better chance to make good in any field than one who looks as if he were ready for retirement."

Federal Men Act To Jail Costello

NEW YORK—(P)—Federal attorneys have moved to put Gambler Frank Costello in jail Friday. Costello, 61, is under sentence of 18 months in jail and $2,000 fine for contempt of the U. S. Senate. Defense Counsel George Wolf was reported to be seeking an order from a U. S. Supreme Court justice to stay commitment of Costello pending further appeal. U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane sent a letter to Wolf and another defense attorney, Kenneth M. Spence, calling for Costello's surrender to the federal marshal Friday morning. On Thursday, Lane will seek a court order for the surrender. Costello was convicted last April 4 for refusing to answer a number of questions before the Senate Crime Committee and for walking out on the committee twice. Even if the Supreme Court agrees to review the conviction, Costello might not be allowed bail pending a decision.

Aly Khan To Talk Things Over With Rita During Visit

NEW YORK—(P)—Prince Aly Khan says he plans to see his estranged wife, film star Rita Hayworth, and their daughter, Yasmin, some time during his three-week visit in this country. But the Moslem prince, who arrived Monday on the liner Queen Elizabeth, declined to say whether he hopes to effect a reconciliation with his wife. Aly said the matter was "a personal question." He told newsmen that he and Miss Hayworth have had frequent talks by trans-Atlantic telephone. The prince said there was no truth in reports he had made a cash settlement with Miss Hayworth, who has filed a divorce suit in Nevada. Aly said he would go to Saratoga, N. Y., for the sale on August 13 of 20 yearling horses owned by his father, the Aga Khan.

If Saucers Are Space Ships, Someone's Wife Is Lonesome

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter
WASHINGTON—(P)—If those alleged "flying saucers" were ships from outer space, they'd have to be manned by chaps with tolerant wives.

Roundtrip travel to the earth from Mars and Venus—the only two planets in our solar system given an outside chance of supporting life—would involve almost three years for the Martians, just over two years for the Venutians. And they'd have to spend that much time away from the wife and kids even though they had spacecraft capable of traveling at a 25,000-mile-an-hour clip!

Just suppose, for a minute, that Mars and Venus were populated by some kind of intelligent beings capable of launching a spacecraft—saucer-shaped or what-have-you—and that they wanted to do some fancy spying on the earth.

Terrific Problems
Here's what they'd be up against: While Venus is "only" 25,000,000 miles from the earth at its closest approach to our planet—just a breeze, you might say, for a spacecraft traveling 25,000 miles an hour—there would be much more to the problem than that.

Venus makes such a "close" approach only once in every 470 days; meanwhile, in its orbit around the sun, it gets as far away as 160,000,000 miles from the earth. Moreover, while Venus and the earth travel in the same direction around the sun, Venus hurries along at a 22-mile-a-second clip, while the earth moves at 18 1/2 miles a second.

This means that any takeoff from

Venus—and the return takeoff from the earth—must be made several weeks in advance of the time the two planets would be closest to each other.

Reckless With Venus
That is, the Venutian spaceman wouldn't aim right for the earth; he'd direct his spacecraft at a point in space where it would eventually "rendezvous" with the earth.

Estimates have been made that, for minimum fuel consumption, a roundtrip between Venus and the earth would require 146 days for the actual trip, a 470-day wait at the destination point until the two planets were "close" again, and then another 146 days for the flight home or a total of 762 days.

As for the Mars-to-earth-return junket, the figures go like this:

Closest approach of the two planets: 35,000,000 miles.

Two hundred fifty-eight cruising days on the outgoing voyage, a wait of 483 days at destination point, and another 258 days going "home." Total, 971 days.

Place For Hiding
That would mean that interplanetary visitors would have to find some place to hide during the stop-over.

Of course, a spacecraft with a limitless supply of fuel wouldn't have to undergo the so-called "waiting period." It could take off even when the objective planet was at its maximum distance—160,000,000 miles between earth and Venus.

and 348,000,000 between earth and Mars. But, of course, that would mean a longer time in flight.

Coming back again to the alleged "flying saucers"—and the big "IF" on whether they are something manned by interplanetary spacemen—here's another thought:

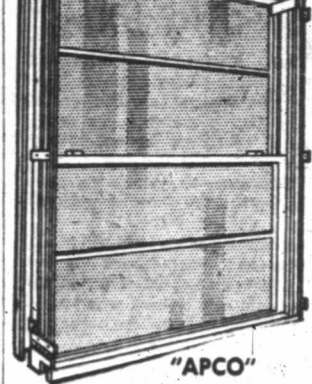

They've certainly licked the interplanetary fuel consumption problem if they can afford to do all the nocturnal cruising around the earth that has been credited to them.

Five Die As Car, Freight Train Hit

PEMBROKE, ONTARIO—(P)—Five members of a family were killed Monday when a freight train crashed into their automobile at a level crossing 10 miles north of here. One child survived but was seriously injured. The dead were Percy Toussant, 30-year-old laborer of Pembroke; his wife, Evelyn, 25, and their three sons. Their daughter was hurt. Witnesses said Toussant swung out to pass another car that had stopped for the train, which was approaching the crossing.

It is believed that the first libraries of the world were located in temples.

Three Texas Firms Face NPA Charges

DALLAS—(P)—Three Texas firms have been charged with noncompliance of NPA regulations and actions have been filed against them. The National Production Authority said Monday it was the first time such charges had been made in Texas. Use of scarce materials in excess of allotments was charged. Named in the complaints were H. B. Jack, Jr., president of Dayton Irrigation Systems of Dallas; M. E. Snoddy, president, and G. W. Keires, purchasing agent, of Texas Lawn Sprinkler Company of Dallas, Inc.; and W. O. Beardon of Lubbock and R. L. Doyal, Amarillo, partners doing business as Tascosa Drive-In Theater in Amarillo. Cartoonist Frank Henry Temple Below, in 1852, drew the first picture of "Uncle Sam," whose original was Samuel Wilson, a U. S. Army inspector of provisions.

Baruch Says Next President To Need Wisdom, Fortitude

NEW YORK—(P)—Financier Bernard Baruch wants to see which presidential candidate "has the greater wisdom and fortitude to beat inflation" before he decides whom to back. But the adviser to Presidents in two world wars adds that the ability to halt inflation is possessed by both Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson. "Words alone won't do it," Baruch says. "It will take fortitude." Baruch spoke with newsmen upon his arrival here aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth. He returned from a two-month visit in Europe. Long an advocate of tight economic controls, Baruch said inflation, if not beaten, "will destroy any economic or foreign policy we make." Montana has 5,000 miles of railroads, Wyoming 1,800.

General Lambastes 'Idealist' Attitude In Korean Policies

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—Washington "idealist and do-gooders" were accused by a former 48th Division commander Monday of sapping America's strength with the stalemated war in Korea. "Every day the stalemate continues, the weaker becomes our position and the stronger becomes that of the Russians," declared Maj. Gen. James C. Styron, who returned from Korea two months ago to his cotton brokerage business at Hobart, Okla. Addressing the Oklahoma American Legion convention, Styron said we're not only losing face in Korea, but all over the world. "The reason we are in this mess," he added, "is that there are too many idealists and do-gooders in policy-making in the government." The former combat commander of the National Guard division said policy planners are more concerned with setting up smoothly operating Democracies in the Far East than in looking after America's welfare. "It's all right to have your head in the clouds if your feet are on the ground," he asserted, "but too many Washington planners are all up in the air." He urged more vigorous prosecution of the war without extending fighting to the Chinese mainland or using Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. "We should give General Van Fleet (Eighth Army commander) more troops or get out," he said. Styron paid tribute to General Van Fleet and his men, but added: "His orders come from Washington and that is what I find fault with."

Aggies Are Fined In Hotel Robbery

LOUISVILLE, KY.—(P)—Fines of $20 each were assessed four Texas A&M College students here Monday. The quartet were accused of robbing two rooms of a Louisville hotel last month. The cadets were John Schafer, 30, of Houston; Irvin Keller, 30, San Antonio; Gordon Euber, 31, Abilene, and Clifford Smith, 22, El Paso. They are Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. Jail sentences of one year each were suspended. The students had been charged with burglary but the charge was changed to common law conspiracy, a misdemeanor.

Gabreski Rewarded Medal For Heroism

BOSTON—(P)—Air Force Col. Francis S. Gabreski, one of the nation's jet aces who said "we're knocking down eight MIG's for every Sabre jet we lose in Korea," was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal Monday prior to the annual Disabled Veterans' Exhibition Baseball game. The Oil City, Pa., flyer, credited with 33 1/2 German planes in World War II plus six and one-half more enemy craft in Korea, received the award before the Boston Red Sox met the New York Giants in a charity clash for the benefit of hospitalized veterans. The Red Sox won, 1-0. About two-thirds of Haiti is rugged mountain, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Jet-Patrol Plane Incident Set Down As Hazard Of War

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Navy has accepted the Communist jet fighter attack on one of its patrol planes over the Yellow Sea as an operational hazard of the Korean War which is unlikely to prompt any diplomatic protests, from the U. S. at least.
Naval officials in expressing this view Tuesday pointed out that American patrol planes and a squadron of British Navy flying boats have flown about 12,000 sorties over the approaches to Korea and the not distant shores of China since the outbreak of hostilities in Northeast Asia.
The patrol planes are charged with the specific task of keeping watch over the air and sea approaches to Korea. The most practicable of these lead through or over the Yellow Sea which separates the Korean Peninsula from the mainland of China.
The Navy early recognized that the business of patrolling the Yellow Sea works both ways. Ten days before Allied warships began the Ilichon landing bombardment, a United Nations Naval formation. After the Red-Star marked plane refused to be warned off and actually opened fire it was shot down by U. S. Naval aircraft. One of its occupants was picked up out of the Yellow Sea dead and identified by name and serial number as a lieutenant in the Russian Air Force.
Moscow protested that the plane was unarmed, and was on a routine training mission.
The Russian plane was shot down nearly two years ago within a few miles of where the U. S. flying boat fought it out with two Chinese jet fighters last Thursday. First reports from United Nations sources in Tokyo were that the attack was made by a Soviet fighter plane.
All of the patrol planes that maintain daily observations over the approaches to Korea are armed. Earlier in the war their principal job was to spot and destroy mines with depth charges. Now their chores include weather observations and spotting of any enemy attempts to move troops from the Chinese mainland across the narrow Yellow Sea to North Korea.

Oilers Sweep Double Bill With Braves

SWEETWATER —(P)—Eveilo Ortega achieved his eighteenth victory with a five-hit, 3-0 shutout to enable the Odessa Oilers to sweep both ends of a doubleheader with the Sweetwater Braves here Monday night.

The Oilers won the first game, 14-8, as Fred Parker staggered to his fifth victory.

It was Sweetwater's ninth and tenth straight defeats.

Odessa jumped on three Brave pitchers for 13 hits and scored in all but one inning to take the first game.

The Oilers scored five times in the first inning before Sweetwater Starter Dean Higgins could retire a batter.

Bill Cearley and Leo Eastham paced the Oilers with perfect nights at bat in the opener. Cearley hit four for four and Eastham battered three for three. Each drove in four runs.

Roberto Fabian, also batted in four runs, connecting for a three-run homer in the sixth. Eastham homered behind Lefty Loyko's triple in the fourth.

John Miller hit a bases-empty homer for Sweetwater in the seventh.

The Braves outlived the Oilers, 16-13 in the first game.

Ortega was in complete control of the nightcap, checking the Braves on five hits and striking out seven while failing to give up a single run.

Odessa scored one in the first inning on a double by Pepper Martin and Loyko's triple. The second Oiler, Italy was scored in the fourth when Cearley led off with a double and came home on Felix Castro's single.

Singles by Charlie Weber and Fabian and a Sweetwater error gave the Oilers their third run in the sixth.

SAN ANGELO —(P)—Elwood Grantham of Roswell hurled a two-hitter at the San Angelo Colts here Monday night for a 7-1 triumph.

The lanky right-hander, who is a regular outfielder, had a no-hit game going until the seventh, when San Angelo Shortstop Tony Guerrero lined one to left-center. Glen Burns got the other, a single.

The Colts used four pitchers in trying to stop the Roswell hitting parade. The Rockets pounded out 15 hits off the four San Angelo hurlers.

Grantham pitched all but three balls for Roswell. Manager Al Monchak relieved him in the sixth to pitch three balls and intentionally walk Burns.

The win gave the Rockets a sweep of the two-game series here.

Gil Guerra Hurls Broncs To Twin Win Over Vernon

VERNON —(P)—It was Gil Guerra night in Vernon's Memorial Stadium Monday night when the Rig Spring Broncs took both ends of a doubleheader from the Vernon Dusters. The Broncs captured the first game, 12-2, and the afterpiece, 6-3.

All Guerra did was go the distance in both ends of the twins bill on the mound for the winners and collect four hits in six official trips to the plate.

Guerra spaced out six hits in taking the first game and limited the eighth-place Dusters to seven hits in the nightcap.

Steve Lagomarsino, first of two pitchers for Vernon, was the loser in the first battle. Al Richardson went the distance to absorb the loss in the second.

Buddy Grimes provided enough lead for Guerra in the first frame of the initial game with a circuit smash over the right center field fence. Witty Quintana and Manager Pat Stacey were on the sacks when Guerra along with singles by Bunge and Quintana mixed with Gholson's error, brought in four big runs.

Quintana hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning to get in a little more batting practice.

In the afterpiece, Guerra began to weaken in the latter stages and was in frequent trouble. A quick double play ended the game with the bases loaded against the giant Cuban.

A triple by Gonzales and singles by Alvarez and Buddy Grimes brought in two runs for Big Spring in the first stanza.

Ed Bucynski doubled home Poppey Carreras with Vernon's first run in the first inning.

Safe on an error, Quintana scored on a fly ball off the bat of Grimes in the Bronc third. Two more runs, both unearned, crossed the platter in the fourth and one more in the sixth.

Vernon's final two runs came in the fifth on a triple by Bucynski and singles by Jim Hayes and Richardson.

Play Broncs Single Game On Tuesday

Things were looking up for the Midland Indians Tuesday as they prepared to take off for Big Spring for a single encounter with the Broncs Tuesday night.

For Monday the Tribe swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Artesia Drillers and took over third place in the Longhorn League standings with a decided one and one-half game bulge.

A veteran and a rookie pitcher turned the trick for the home team. In the opener, veteran Eddie Jacome, flashing signs of the old form which made him the winning pitcher in the loop last year, stopped the visitors on six hits for a 3-1 decision to register his fourteenth win against 11 setbacks.

And in the nightcap, lean Right-hander Herb Dwire, a rookie with a sweeping curve ball, set the Drillers back on their heels with a two-hitter as the Tribe took a 3-0 win.

For five and two-thirds innings, Dwire set the Drillers down without a hit. However with two away in the sixth inning, Catcher Rudy Briner slapped a clean single to left field to spoil his no-hit bid.

Pete Pichan got the only other hit off him, a single in the seventh inning.

In the first game, the Drillers took a 1-0 margin in the second inning on Joe Bauman's leadoff home run over the left field wall, his thirty-fourth of the season. The Tribe matched the run in the fourth when Bill Brown singled, stole second and was doubled home by Pat O'Keefe.

The visitors again took the lead in the fifth on successive hits by Jim Ackers, Pete Pichan and Len Ruyle, which were converted into a lone run.

But in the bottom of the fifth, Midland came back to tie the score when Earl Bossenberry led off with a single, stole second, went to third on a balk and scored on Pat Waters' single.

The Tribe cinched the contest in the eighth inning when Pat Waters led off with a walk, stole second and came home on a hard hit single off the bat of Bill Brown, his third safety of the game.

In the final game, the Tribe broke a scoreless deadlock in the fifth inning on successive singles by Manuel Temes, Bill Brown and Julio de la Torre and a scratch single by Pitcher Herb Dwire. The hurler is charged Artesia starting Upriser Armin started.

Maryland's Tatum Still Bowl-Minded

FORT WORTH—(P)—Jim Tatum, who coached Maryland to an undefeated season then beat the nation's No. 1 team, Tennessee, in the Sugar Bowl, said Tuesday he would have another good team and indicated that if he got a bowl bid he would take it although "they'll probably suspend us again."

Referring to action of the Southern Conference in prohibiting Maryland from playing any conference games this year because it defied a bowl ban, Tatum declared that he still thought bowl games were justified.

The big fellow, here to lecture in the Texas coaching school, said he believed college football teams should play in bowl games because it was a reward for football attainment. "The colleges participate in the NCAA basketball, track and baseball tournaments while football has no such event, Tatum added.

The Maryland coach said he would have a team faster in the backfield and as strong defensively as the 1951 team but that he wouldn't be as strong offensively. But he admitted Maryland probably "would start out" rated No. 1 in the nation and that he felt he would have a good team.

The visitors again took the lead in the fifth on successive hits by Jim Ackers, Pete Pichan and Len Ruyle, which were converted into a lone run.

But in the bottom of the fifth, Midland came back to tie the score when Earl Bossenberry led off with a single, stole second, went to third on a balk and scored on Pat Waters' single.

Referring to action of the Southern Conference in prohibiting Maryland from playing any conference games this year because it defied a bowl ban, Tatum declared that he still thought bowl games were justified.

The big fellow, here to lecture in the Texas coaching school, said he believed college football teams should play in bowl games because it was a reward for football attainment. "The colleges participate in the NCAA basketball, track and baseball tournaments while football has no such event, Tatum added.

The Maryland coach said he would have a team faster in the backfield and as strong defensively as the 1951 team but that he wouldn't be as strong offensively. But he admitted Maryland probably "would start out" rated No. 1 in the nation and that he felt he would have a good team.

The visitors again took the lead in the fifth on successive hits by Jim Ackers, Pete Pichan and Len Ruyle, which were converted into a lone run.

But in the bottom of the fifth, Midland came back to tie the score when Earl Bossenberry led off with a single, stole second, went to third on a balk and scored on Pat Waters' single.

The Tribe cinched the contest in the eighth inning when Pat Waters led off with a walk, stole second and came home on a hard hit single off the bat of Bill Brown, his third safety of the game.

In the final game, the Tribe broke a scoreless deadlock in the fifth inning on successive singles by Manuel Temes, Bill Brown and Julio de la Torre and a scratch single by Pitcher Herb Dwire. The hurler is charged Artesia starting Upriser Armin started.

Upriser Armin started and George Payte the windup on an eight-hitter.

Raschi, Reynolds Threaten To Hurl Yanks To Pennant

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Remember when Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout combined their talents to hurl the Detroit Tigers to the 1946 American League pennant? At the time, baseball fans didn't think their great two-fold performance would be matched for some time to come.

But then Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn came along with the 1948 Boston Braves and delivered a one-two pitching punch that landed the N. L. Flag. Okay, so baseball history repeats itself.

Don't look now, but Vic Raschi and Alie Reynolds, a pair of New York Yankee moundsmen, are threatening to do it all over again.

Raschi tossed his eleventh straight win Monday night, a 1-0 blanking of the Washington Senators that brought his season slate to 13-2. Tuesday night, Reynolds faces the same Senators in the nation's capital and will be shooting for his thirteenth in 20 decisions. That means the two Yank right-handers, with 25 wins between them, have accounted for better than 40 per cent of their team's 62 triumphs.

Six Hits Scattered
Raschi's stint against the Senators was one of his top shows of the season. He scattered six hits and fanned eight while walking only one.

The Yanks won it in the sixth inning when ex-New Yorker Bob Porterfield walked Gil McDougald with the bases loaded to force over Hank Bauer with the game's only tally. Bauer reached base when with one out Mickey Grasso fumbled his tap in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then moved him to third with a bouncing double over First Baseman Mickey Vernon's head, after Yogi Berra filed to Gil Coan. Porterfield then passed Gene Woodling intentionally to load the sacks.

So the Yanks are now three and one-half games in front of second-place Cleveland and another full game ahead of third-place Boston, both of which were idle last night along with the rest of the American League and all of the National.

Call It Miraculous
But New York scribes are calling it a miracle that the Yanks continue to set the pace, especially after their recent Western trip in which they won only seven of 16. Perhaps, the New Yorkers front-running position should be attributed to a couple of "miraclemen."

It looks like Raschi and Reynolds are going to have to continue carrying the load through the league leaders' last 49 games, 26 of which are on the road. To make it worse the Yanks play 18 games away from the Stadium after Labor Day and only three at home.

And furthermore, they have to face Boston's Red Sox seven times at Fenway Park and five at the Stadium. The Red Sox are the only club to show a profit against the Yanks this season, holding a 6-4 edge.

Spread Formation Gaining Popularity Over Nation
FORT WORTH, TEXAS—(P)—The Meyer Spread, a football formation that scatters players all over the premises at times, appears destined to be seen in many parts of the country this fall.

Since last season, Coach L. B. (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian University, who invented the "scatter stuff," has received letters, wires and telephone calls from more than 100 coaches asking for particulars.

Some coaches, notably Oklahoma A&M, Nebraska and other schools, tried the spread a bit last season with some success. Dozens of high school coaches have indicated they will use the formation this fall.

To meet the many requests Meyer has completed a 60,000-word book with diagrams. It will be published early in August (Prentice-Hall of New York).

The spread, as used by Texas Christian, takes two forms. One, the TCU "normal" formation, has a balanced line with guards and tackles split out slightly. But the ends are stationed out nine yards from the tackles. The halfbacks are then located halfway between tackle and end and a yard back. The fullback also is moved out, either right or left, even with the halfback and three yards from that player on the inside.

The TCU "normal" formation simply moves the fullback in toward the center of the formation behind either the right or left guard. There he can take the snapback from center for a series of plays. On the "regular" formation, only the fullback can get the snap from the center.

In Meyer's theory, the spread has several advantages: it scatters the defense; it creates natural holes which need be only kept open for a good gain; it permits angle blocking for almost every player; it is a terrific passing formation as the passer always has a clear view of his field. The receivers, stationed wide, can cut and break into a wide number of "patterns."

Listed as disadvantages have been the fact that great pressure is put on the tailback who handles the ball on almost every play and the scattered positions of the players do not permit much "power stuff" up the middle. After three years, however, Meyer is convinced that the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages.

ROSWELL

LOUISIANA Lassie Named VFW Queen
LOS ANGELES—(P)—Jenna Fae Whitley, 19, Winnfield, La., is Miss VFW of 1952.

She was chosen at a beauty contest Monday night as part of the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment here.

Runnerup was Marthella Mott, 18, Boulder City, Nev. Third place went to Betty Jane Barton, 22, Long Beach, Calif.

This season. The Tigers won, 1-0. Boston's Mickey McDermott, Bob's mound opponent on May 29, came up with a brilliant one-hitter. Sox 10 scattered safeties and only one run—but it was enough to lose.

The 28-year-old Belleville, N. J. hurler was at his worst on June 29. He worked only four innings as the Nats lost, again via the shutout rout, 5-0.

Another wrong-way blanking came on July 10, when lefty Billy Pierce defeated Washington, 2-0. Porterfield was reached for only five safeties that time.

Porterfield's next mound assignment probably will be against the Philadelphia A's next week end. Bobby Shantz is scheduled to pitch around that time and if he draws the brilliant southpaw as his opponent, Bob had better bring his own whitewash brush along. He'll need it!

Senators' Bob Porterfield Captains Hard-Luck Detail

WASHINGTON—(P)—Call 'em shutouts, whitewash jobs, blankings... whatever your choice, but Bob Porterfield, Washington's hard-luck right-hander, manages to get mixed up in 'em.

Monday night, for the eighth time this season, unlucky Bob was involved in a shutout game and for the sixth time, he was on the short end of the verdict. Porterfield pitched his usually commendable game, allowing only five hits in eight innings. However, a sixth inning unearned run gave the New York Yankees a 1-0 victory.

Those Cards Are Coming And So Are Replacements

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK — The Cardinals have come from five below .500 to 15 above since Decoration Day. The blazes in the red blazers have been farther back than they are now at this time and won. And the old pros—Schoendienst, Mustard and Slaughter—make a habit of closing with a rush. There was a decline in the St. Louis Nationals' steady flow of material after Branch Rickey departed, but under Fred Saigh the organization seems to have regained the knack of acquiring new stock. It can hardly be said that Owner Saigh has been miserly with bonuses. Charley Keller, the 19-year-old first baseman out of Jonesboro, Ark., is reported to have been paid $75,000. He stepped right in with the Houston club of the Texas League. When Larry Jackson was landed on the speed-ball righthand pitcher's 20th birthday, a dozen other major league clubs sought his services. Jackson already has established a new strikeout record for the Class C California League with 264, had won 30 the last time anybody looked.

There are 15 clubs, and 500 players in the Red Birds' chain. More Behind Clark St. Louis is long on pitching, which happens to be the most important commodity. The Cardinals brought up Mike Clark, a sideman righthander, from Houston to go with the other remarkable young pitchers on the parent club—Milei, Preko and Boyer. Eddie Yuhas is no more than 28, Gerry Staley 28. Willard Schmidt, who looked so good in the Spring, turned in a four-hitter for Rochester the other night.

Joe Mathes, the director of the farm, rattled off the names of other pitching prospects in the chain — Floyd Woodruff, Billy Berntsen, Walter Montgomery, Harold Atkinson and Walter Bauman. Woodruff of Houston has one of the lowest earned-run averages in the Texas League. Berntsen, 19-year-old recruit teammate of Jackson with the leading Fresno club, has won 11 and lost four. Montgomery, 22-year-old, left-hander, has struck out 230 for St. Joseph of the Western Association. Atkinson, a bonus baby out of the University of Missouri, has won seven and dropped one for St. Joseph since reporting in June. Bauman, a 19-year-old freshman, pitched a no-hitter, for Hazelhurst of the Georgia State League on July 4, has won 17 and lost three.

Best Since Slaughter Prospective replacements aren't confined to pitchers. Ben Downa, a six-foot two-inch, 207-pounder, left-hand hitting outfielder, has already broken Tommy Giaviano's California League record for home runs with 24. Leading the league with 358, he has walked 57 times and batted in 101 runs. Gil Daley is called the Sally League's best since Country Slaughter. A left-hand batter, he is hitting .381, and 13 triples, high for the circuit, is a tip-off on his speed. Eldon Repulski, a right-hand swinger, is awaiting a long ball batting around 300 for Rochester.

Ray Jablonksi, now at second base, has played every infield position for the Red Wings, and is batting above .300. Earl Weaver, the Eddie Stanky type, walks and all, is batting around 290 playing second base for Omaha of the Western League.

Wally Lammers is a 22-year-old, sticky-gloved shortstop for Columbus of the American Association, and is batting around .370. Walter Shannon, left-handed all the way and an 18-year-old rookie, is second in batting in the Georgia-Florida League with 340, and making all the plays all the way.

The Cardinals are coming and so are their replacements. Standard of Texas, Western Plastic Win Softball Playoffs

Standard of Texas and Western Plastic, teams which placed first and second in the standings respectively in the JayCee Softball League during regular season play, each won victories in the opening rounds of the playoffs for the City Softball Championship here Monday night at Wadley Park. But both teams had to do it the hard way. In the first game, Standard of Texas trailed Rendezvous by a lone run, 3-2, going into the seventh inning. However they were equal to the occasion when they tallied twice on two singles, two Rendezvous errors and a hit batsman in the bottom half of the seventh for the margin of win.

Milt Montgomery maintained his perfect record for the Standard nine as he notched his twelfth mound win against no setbacks, though he had to receive help from Hurier Charlie Campbell in the third inning. In the nightcap, Western Plastic blasted its way out of a two-run deficit in the seventh inning with a five-run spurge to take a 7 to 4 decision over Humble. Plastics had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning on three singles and a triple but they saw the edge fade in the second frame when Humble tallied twice on just two hits. Humble went out in front in the third stanza by scoring one run on a Western Plastic error and a triple. Humble's other marker came in the sixth inning. However in the big seventh, Plastic unloaded its heavy guns to win going away. The same four teams will meet in a doubleheader at Wadley Park Wednesday, starting at 7:45 p.m.

All-Star Grid Tilt Promises To Be Wild, Offensive Battle

FORT WORTH —(AP)—A wild offensive struggle with the air filled with passes is indicated when All-Star schoolboy football coaches clash in the annual Texas Coaching School game Friday night.

Both the North and the South, coached by Jim Tatum of Maryland and L. R. (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, respectively, have been throwing the ball all over the premises in practice sessions.

There's talented passing on both sides along with more than average speed. So there could be considerable running, particularly from Meyer's spread formation, while Tatum's split T is noted for down-the-middle pushes. But passing appears destined to predominate.

Joe Weekender Qualifying In National Amateur Quest

NEW YORK —(AP)—The hope that springs eternal from the weekend golfer—a spot in the National Amateur Championship—will come true for 172 lucky ones scattered around the country Tuesday.

The tournament gets under way in Seattle August 18 and there will be about 800 unsuccessful aspirants to the throne home watching. That gives the unknown about one chance in eight of qualifying.

And even if he does make it, Joe Weekender won't have any cinch. There is an exempt list of 25 which would make anyone think twice before teeing off.

Shantz Goes After Twentieth Victory Of Season Tuesday

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Little Bobby Shantz climbs up on the mound at Shibe Park Tuesday night against the Boston Red Sox in search of his twentieth win of the current American League season.

If the Philadelphia Athletics' condensed curveball comes through and he's failed only three times this year—he'll be the first major league hurler to reach the magic 20-game circle in the 1952 campaign.

Bobby has been the talk—small talk, that is—of the baseball world since his record began to reach impressive proportions fairly early in the season. His sweeping curve ball and recently acquired knuckler have become the bane of American League batters—some of whom insist that facing Shantz is like having a cannon fired at you from a hole in the ground.

Dallas Eagles Head South With Slender Half-Game Margin

Dallas' Texas League-leading Eagles, who take a trip through the Dixie field of the loop like a whistler in a graveyard, pace the North clubs into their final invasion of the South Tuesday.

Fort Worth, most of all, welcomed the change, for Dallas flicked over its ninth victim Monday night in 12 games and doesn't fare so well on the road. The Eagles' 4-1 triumph over Oklahoma City still left them a half-game lead with Fort Worth crowding.

Dallas had only a 5-9 record during the last trip south. And the Cats, 2-1 winners over Tulsa in 11 innings, last time came out of the second division with a 9-4 standard over southern clubs.

District Playoffs Start Wednesday In Little League

Two Midland Little League teams will swing into action this week in District Three competition to determine who will represent the district in the Little League regional playoffs in Midland, starting August 13.

The Midland North Little League will start things off by playing an Odessa American League team in Odessa at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Then at 10 a.m. Thursday, the Midland South Little League will play a McCamey nine here at the park situated at the corner of Johnson and Carter Streets.

16 Hurt in New Mexico Bus Accident

LORDSBURG, N. M.—(AP)—Sixteen persons were injured when a Greyhound bus skidded off the highway, plunged down a 75-foot embankment and overturned three miles east of here Monday night.

The injured were taken to Tucson, Ariz., hospitals and all but two were released. Their condition was reported good.

Marciano Not A Dempsey, But All His Punches Hurt

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Rocky Marciano now has had 42 professional matches, and still no one knows for sure whether he can fight.

Harry Matthews turned out to be little more than the myth so many suspected he might be. Before the roof caved in at Yankee Stadium, the totally unmarked Matthews said he never had been hit save for the time he suffered a broken nose in 1943.

And when Marciano landed the second left hook in the second round, the athlete acted just like a bloke who never had been hit. It made you wonder who he fought in 105 bouts. The answer comes pretty close to being "no one of consequence."

Marciano remains pretty crude, but as Jack Kearns best describes The Rock, he is a hurting fighter. "He rates with Jack Dempsey as a hitter," says Doc Kearns, "may hit even a little harder and, again like Dempsey, he hurts the other guy with every punch."

Marciano also has demonstrated that he can take it more than somewhat. He did this against Roland Rocky Marciano LaStara. Joe Louis shook him up with a couple of punches. Matthews, who knocked out 62 opponents, twice belted him solidly in the first heat. When a heavyweight with the sock of Marciano absorbs punishment and crowds the other fellow, he is on the move, and the Brockton Block Buster most certainly is—right in the direction of Jersey Joe Walcott.

Flodding Louis Caught Walcott. How Marciano will fare against the moving target that is the amazing Walcott now is the question. Marciano no doubt also will have to shake off the most devastating blow that ever has been parked on his chin, for the Great Father of Camden has demonstrated clearly that he packs a pistol in both fists.

But a plodding Louis finally caught Walcott, and there is little reason to doubt that the much younger and thoroughly aggressive Marciano won't do the same.

There is a tendency now to compare Marciano with Dempsey. They must mean the 21-year-old Dempsey, who first came to New York to box Wild Bert Kenney and John Lester Johnson 10 rounds each at the old Commonwealth Club in Harlem in the Summer of 1916. No one but John the Barber Reiter, who had him at the moment, paid any attention to the young man from the far west who always looked like he needed a shave. He got little or no more money and disappeared.

Dempsey did not bump into Kearns until February of 1917, and he decisively outboxed the highly skillful Bob McAllister in four rounds there was a vast difference in him by late September of that year, when in Oakland.

Works On Build-Up Kearns was working on the big build-up now and knockouts, but young Dempsey made a grand impression going 10 rounds with clever Billy Miske in St. Paul in May of 1918. He was hardly sharp when he required 12 rounds to flatten Bill Brennan in New York in December of 1920, although the Irishman was considerably more formidable than a lot of people believe.

If there was any question about Dempsey's boxing ability, it was dispelled when he and Tommy Gibbons stepped 15 rounds like featherweights in Shelby in 1923. Dempsey was 31 when he boxed Gene Tunney the first time, and his legs were beginning to go, yet the Manly Marine will tell you he did not once hit him squarely in 20 stanzas.

If Rocky Marciano, who has come a long way in four years, acquires Jack Dempsey's poise and polish, it won't even be close with anybody around today.

Lodge Member Once More, Rajah Knew He'd Return

NEW YORK —(NEA)—Rogers Hornsby said his break with Bill Veeck wouldn't hurt him with baseball people, and The Rajah was right.

Having been returned to the major leagues after 14 years, Hornsby obviously once more is a member of the lodge of managers.

Hornsby taking over the Reds marks the sixty-first big league managerial change in seven years, but pilots in good standing keep bouncing back like a bad check. There always seems to be a job for O'Neill, Grinn and Harris. Lou Bourdreau and Marty Marion joined the order this year. Stengel is serving his third term, Durocher, Dykes and Drexler their second.

Frank Frisch, a charter member, is due back any day now. Eddie Sawyer has his ear cocked.

Hornsby's appointment could have been an economy move, among other things. The Browns are paying the greatest of all right-hand hitters for three years, so the Redlegs only have to share his salary. That's a break for the Cincinnati club, which hasn't been drawing and with Gabe Paul talking of cutting down all the way along the line.

The Reds required a name to bolster business, and Hornsby gives them that and then some.

What have the Reds to lose, especially if Hornsby produces, and he has turned in excellent jobs wherever he has been given a free hand.

Can Stand Drive General Manager Paul is the type of baseball man who will give Hornsby his head, as long as he uses it properly.

Hornsby, immediately let Paul know that he would stand no more interference from the front office than he has in his stormy past.

"I started telling him about the team on the telephone," explained Paul, "but he cut me short. 'Never mind, I'll wait and see for myself,' he said."

Hornsby hasn't too much to see, although he has a grand defensive shortstop in Roy McMillan.

From what we have seen of the Rhinelanders, and judging by their seventh place in the standings, they can stand considerable of the Hornsby drive.

Yet any baseball man will tell you that Luke Sewell did the best.

SPORTS NOTES

BENCH JOCKEY
By BOB ADAMS

The second major league baseball scout to visit Midland this year sat in the press box Monday night when the Indians dented the Artesia Drillers in both ends of a doubleheader.

He was Hap Morse, a scout for the Philadelphia Phillies who makes his home in Dallas.

Hap was impressed with the performance of rookie Hurier Herb Dwire and Outfielder Bill Brown.

He said Dwire "has the best arm I've seen in this league so far." The Phillie scout made that remark near the start of the second game and, as if by some sort of mental telepathy, Dwire responded by throwing a neat two-hitter.

Along with a good many other baseball people, Hap had heard of the exploits of Midland's ace right-hander, Keith Nicolls. With those of us in the press box throwing in a good word for Keith, though not that he needed it necessarily, Hap became somewhat enthused at the prospect of seeing him pitch.

However he said he probably would have to rearrange his schedule in order to go to Big Spring to see Keith work Tuesday night.

Then, just before he left from the press box, Hap let us in on a bit of information. "Frankly gents, said Hap, the Phillie organization will not sign anybody under five feet, 11 inches tall."

That of course let Nicolls out because Nick is only five feet, nine. And, as if he owed us some sort of an apology, Hap said, "I can't help it. That's one of the rules laid down by the Phillie organization and we have to abide by it."

And that policy comes from a city which sports one of the greatest little lefties of all time, Wes Bobby Shantz.

An old-time baseball player, Hap was recalling some of the tricks they used in the old days to outsmart the other teams.

One instance in particular which he chuckled over was when the manager of one of the teams he formerly played with froze the balls solid for three days before they were to play a hard-hitting club.

"We were not a long-ball hitting club but merely relied on speed and getting that one run around," said Hap.

So when the heavy hitting club came to town, our manager pulled the baseballs out of the deep freeze, unbeknown to the rival club, of course, and threw them into play.

The result was that the sluggers could not hit the pellets for any distance. "They couldn't figure out why our fielders were playing in so close," said Hap.

And the Phillie scout said the trick, though illegal, worked and his team won three victories by slim, one-run margins.

And, as an afterthought, he said, "I wonder if they pull any such tricks in baseball today."

Random pencil scratches... A note from The Associated Press says the Longhorn League is the only circuit in Texas which does not have at least one negro ball player in it.

All of the others have added at least one negro and the response at the gate has been something terrific.

Bennie Rutherford, popular basketball player who played with Rotary Engineers here last winter, will be head basketball coach at Sweetwater High School this winter.

Pecos Building For Year Hits Estimated $992,501

PECOS — Construction work on four projects of a seven-point public schools expansion program was launched recently to hike the year's total building activities to an estimated $992,501.

Work is underway on repairs and addition to the athletic fieldhouse, the negro school at Twelfth and Locust Streets, addition of four rooms to Pecos High School and repairs to the Junior High School.

Building permits were issued in the amount of $128,421 for the first three projects, while the Junior High school, contracted by J. B. and E. G. Wicker, is being done on a cost-plus basis.

This construction is part of the $525,000 expansion plan okayed by voters April 19.

Plans for a new Junior High School in East Pecos are expected to be ready this week, after which bids will be let around September 1, according to Ray Whitley, school superintendent.

Other projects included in the school bond issue include purchase of one and one-half blocks of land in North Pecos as site for a future school, construction of a new shop building.

Total building permits issued in the month of July amounted to $269,771, which far exceeded the

Four Persons Die In Airplane Crash

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Four persons, including two teenage boys were killed Monday night when a troubled C-46 twin-engine airplane dived 200 feet to earth at the Miami International Airport.

All aboard were killed. They were the pilot, Capt. Robert E. Smith, 29; Miami; John Norman Goodman, 26, co-pilot, formerly of Vincennes, Ind.; Thomas Slaughter, 15, and his brother, Glenn, 13, of Orlando, Fla.

Smith and Goodman are pilots for Resort Air Lines, Inc., of Miami. The boys were the sons of another Resort Air Lines pilot, Capt. Dixie Walker.

Goodman's brother, Benny Goodman, is personnel director for the charter airline. The coincidence of names at first caused an erroneous report that Goodman was the brother of the Orchestra Leader Benny Goodman.

Woman Charges Medal Of Honor Winner With Faking Rescue Act 'For Publicity'

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A young mother who was reported bent on making a suicide leap from a sixth floor ledge last Thursday now says the whole thing was a hoax to get publicity for the Medal of Honor winner credited with saving her.

Mrs. Ernestine Lucile Whombie, 21, mother of two children, said Monday she was offered $500 to fake the jump attempt because Maynard H. (Snuffy) Smith, hero of World War II, wanted publicity in his campaign for governor of Virginia.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark King promptly charged Smith with making a false report to police and firemen. A similar charge was filed against Roland Bennett, described as interested in furthering Smith's political fortunes.

Smith, 41, and Bennett, 27, are fellow employees in a radio shop.

Smith could not be reached for comment, Bennett said. "There is not a grain of truth in what this young lady has said."

Smith's wife said it was "ridiculous to say Snuffy is planning to run for governor" and said she doubted there had been a hoax. But she added:

"Snuffy is a daring type of fellow who might be talked into something like that."

Smith, who won the nation's highest military award for single-handedly bringing in a burning Flying Fortress and its wounded crew members safely across the English Channel, has been involved with the law before.

In 1948 he pleaded guilty to a charge of violating food and drug laws by misbranding a "rejuvenation cream" which he sold to an elderly Virginia man.

King said Smith and Bennett considered Mrs. Whombie a "natural" for the faked suicide attempt because her five-month-old daughter had died a few days before.

According to Mrs. Whombie's signed report, Bennett made the first suggestion that she fake a suicide. She said she told her husband, a taxi driver, about it and he tried to dissuade her.

But she said she went ahead anyway because she feared Bennett. She said she wanted to back out at the last minute but Bennett had told her he would be on the street below the YWCA building "to see that I did it" while Smith would be on the sixth floor "to see that I went through with it."

She climbed out on the narrow ledge, and Smith followed her apparently being pinned by Smith on the ledge.

"What's really happening is that I'm trying to get back inside the building by walking past him and he's trying to block me. I was scared to death," she said.

At the time, Smith gave newspapers a long account of his appeals to the woman to give up thought of suicide. He said he urged her to think of her two children still living.

Reds Take New Propaganda Fuel From General's Diary

MOSCOW —(AP)—The Russians Tuesday drew fresh ammunition for their war-mongering charges against the United States from the case of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow and his diary.

This time the blast, in the Literary Gazette, was touched off by a U. S. Army court martial conviction of Grow for improperly recording military secrets in his personal diary and failing to safeguard classified data.

That, said the authoritative semi-weekly, shows publicly that the American Army high command "fully subscribes to the war-mongering views Grow expressed... is in full agreement with his cannibalistic views."

The Pentagon, the Gazette continued, "did not even attempt to refute Grow's views favoring war with the U. S. S. R. ... In other words, the Pentagon said, 'conduct your espionage and subversive work... have war-mongering views... but God save you if you put them down on paper!'"

Grow was U. S. military attaché in Moscow last year when Soviet agents stole his diary. Subsequently, the Russians gave wide publication to alleged excerpts purporting to advocate that the U. S. should immediately launch an attack on the Soviet Union.

After Grow's court martial conviction, the U. S. Army asserted that some of the alleged contents were completely falsified and the others were twisted. Reviewing the latter—"the time is ripe for a blow this year" was one cited—the Army said the diary made clear that these were actually Grow's estimates that the Soviets were planning to wage war soon, not that he thought the Americans should take such action.

Leonard Zalutsky Added To FBI's '10 Most Wanted' List

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A 37-year-old desperado who escaped four times from Florida state prisons Tuesday was added to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

He is Leonard Joseph Zalutsky, of Allentown, Pa., with many aliases and a record dating back to when he was 12 years old.

He is described as being "of above-average intelligence, cold-blooded, vicious and believed to be armed." He is reported to have said he does not intend to be taken alive.

Zalutsky is medium-sized and dark-haired. His most distinguishing characteristic is an artificial left eye. He has a number of bullet scars on legs and body.

He was serving life at Ralston, Fla. State Prison for the murder of a Miami police officer when he made his latest escape in September, 1951 by hurling "Molotov cocktails"—lighted gasoline bombs—at a tower guard and starting a major fire in the institution. Zalutsky fled in the confusion, temporarily kidnapping the wife of the prison dentist in her automobile.

The Miami officer was killed in a gun battle when Zalutsky resisted arrest for a 1933 payroll robbery at Allentown. He had previously served time in several Pennsylvania institutions for juvenile delinquents.

Zalutsky completed high school and business college educations, through correspondence courses, during his periods behind bars.

Princess Denies Flight From Iran's Political Maelstrom

PARIS —(AP)—Princess Ashraf of Iran says she left Tehran to bring her son to a Swiss hospital for treatment and will return to the Iranian capital in the Fall.

The princess, who arrived here Monday night, said reports that her twin brother, Sha Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, had sent her away because of the tense political situation in Iran were "certainly not true."

The semi-official press in Tehran reported Sunday that the Sha was sending his family away to "remove misunderstanding," a reference to charges by Frey Mohammed Mossadegh's supporters that some members of the royal family had opposed the Nationalist leader.

The princess said she hoped to go later to the United States for a visit with her two sisters in Los Angeles.

Hiccups Worsens During Four Years

LOS ANGELES —(AP)—Jack O'Leary, who doctors say has hiccups longer than anyone in history, has taken a turn for the worse.

The 28-year-old former market manager began to hiccup more than four years ago—on June 13, 1948—after his appendix ruptured. Since then the spasms have jolted him at the rate of once per second and he has dropped in weight from 135 to 78 pounds.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, said the hiccups now have increased to 70 per minute.

Jack is on a highly restricted diet and is able to retain food only 20 minutes.

Radio-Telephones Installed By Public Service Company

PECOS—Community Public Service Company is installing modern, two-way radio-telephone system in its service pick-up trucks and in its offices here, at Fort Stockton and Kermit, Emmett Beauchamp, division manager, announces.

Giving the three offices constant contact with their service units, the new system was described by Beauchamp as "another step in rendering more rapid service to CPS customers."

The communication set-up should be particularly helpful during electrical storms, when power lines frequently suffer damage.

For example, D. H. (Doc) Rhodes, Pecos manager, made his on-the-job units in trouble spots immediately after they were reported. The units will be able to keep the power service in operation in less time at a minimum loss of manpower.

All CPS employees here have been approved as operators. In addition to units installed in the offices of Rhodes and Beauchamp, radio telephones are being placed in three pick-up trucks, including those of Joe Cureton, engineer, and Hollis Bell, line foreman.

The new equipment is expected to be in operation around August 15.

WIFE SOLVES DISC MYSTERY

ALBUQUERQUE —(AP)—University of New Mexico scientists got out their Geiger counters, their laboratory equipment and their microscopes.

For days they studied the mass of black, porous material sent to them as the possible remains of one of the mysterious green fireballs. It was sent to them by a Masson, Ga., school teacher who said it apparently landed on her sidewalk in liquid form.

Finally, desperate, Dr. Lincoln La Paz, head of the university's Institute of Meteoritics, showed the stuff to his wife.

Mrs. La Paz looked and sniffed and then proved:

You can puzzle a scientist but you can't fool a housewife when it comes to burned toast.

Mississippi Demos Meet To Determine Who They'll Support

JACKSON, MISS.—(AP)—Mississippi's "Dissatisfied Democrats" met Tuesday afternoon to decide what to do rather than support the party's Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

Former Lt. Gov. Sam Lumpkin of Tupelo, a States' Rights Democrat, who headed the group, conferred briefly in Denver, Colo., with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower during the week-end.

Lumpkin has said he would present Eisenhower's name for endorsement when the State Democratic Convention meets again on August 18 to make an official decision on whether to support the party nominees. The convention recessed before the national convention in Chicago.

Led by Gov. Hugh White, practically all of the state officials have endorsed Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama.

Double Shooting Climaxes Old Feud

OLIVER SPRINGS, TENN.—(AP)—Although mortally wounded by a rifle bullet, Jabe Hughes climbed down from the roof of his house and wounded John Dunn with a shotgun.

The shooting was the climax of an old feud between neighbors, Sheriff Marvin Stinecpher said. Stinecpher said Dunn gave this account of the shooting:

Hughes, 65, was repairing his roof Monday when Dunn, 36, came along carrying a 22 caliber rifle.

Hughes shouted at him: "You had better get another gun. I'm going to kill you any day."

Dunn fired his single-shot rifle, hitting two arteries in Hughes' neck. Hughes dodged a second shot as he climbed down from the roof. He went into the house, grabbed a 410 gauge shotgun and fired at Dunn, hitting him in the leg and shoulder.

Then Hughes collapsed and died from loss of blood.

Stinecpher said Dunn would be jailed on a murder charge.

Leaking Gasoline Blamed In Bomber Fire At Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH —(AP)—An Air Force investigating team said Tuesday leaking gasoline, ignited by a spark, caused the explosions and fire which destroyed a B-36 bomber and injured 13 men.

The big battle plane was being readied for a takeoff and local flight Monday when it exploded during a thunderstorm. At first it was believed lightning struck the big plane.

The first blast ripped through it at 3:45 p.m. and witnesses said a second explosion occurred shortly after. Officers said it was a complete loss.

Thirteen men were taken from the blast scene to the base hospital, but only seven were hospitalized.

The B-36, widely known as America's atom bomb carrier, costs about $3,800,000.

New Attendance Record Set At Boy Scout Ranch

A new record in attendance was set for the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch this year as the sixth and final week ended August 2. The record reveals that 729 Scouts and Explorers of the 17-county council area took part in the program and activities provided at the ranch.

A total of 56 Troops and Explorer Units were registered during the season, and the 1952 figure shows an increase of 100 campers over any previous year of operation.

The ranch, which is available to all registered Scouts and Explorers, is located high in the Davis Mountains 24 miles southwest of Balmore.

heated. It includes 6,000 acres of rugged terrain which abounds in a wide variety of plant and animal life.

Central facilities are provided for the health and comfort of the campers during their stay. Balanced meals are served three times daily in the central dining hall, a resident physician is in attendance at times, and a trained staff of members ensures every boy a well rounded program of activities.

Don Galbreath, Assistant Scout Executive, of Midland served as camp director during the Summer, with S. G. Painter of Odessa and Robert Eastus of Snyder assisting during the first half of the season, and Jimmie Hale of Big Spring and Henry Norris of Sweetwater during the last half.

Midland was represented by 121 Scouts and Explorers during the season, which is 37 per cent of the Scout and Explorer membership. This is second only to the Arrowhead district of Ward County which had 46 per cent of their membership in attendance at the ranch.

Junior staff members from Midland included Sonley Roush, Jimmy Claiborne, Allan Hollis and Johnny LaGrange.

Canadian Miners Scramble To Stake Out Uranium Claims

PRINCE ALBERT, SASKATCHEWAN —(AP)—One of Northern Canada's biggest rushes for mining claims was in full swing Tuesday, with uranium instead of the traditional gold as the lure.

Hundreds of prospectors scattered about Saskatchewan's northwest corner, staking claims to explore hundreds of square miles for the prime raw material of the atomic age.

More than 900 claims, each 1,500 feet by 1,500 feet, were expected to be marked off during the first two days. The staking started officially at 8 a.m. Monday, but officials figured that some prospectors in remote corners of the bush probably got a head start.

The newly-opened area covers a major part of the Beaver Lodge field on the north shore of Lake Athabasca, reportedly one of the richest uranium-bearing finds on the continent.

The territory had been let on three-year concessions to some 30 large mining syndicates. Upon expiration of the concessions recently, the companies were allowed to stake claims to 10 per cent of their original tracts and the rest was opened to the public.

Stogie Price Lids Junked In Entirety

WASHINGTON —(AP)—"What this country needs," said Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall, "is a good five-cent cigar."

The Office of Price Stabilization Monday suspended price ceilings on all cigars (but not cigarettes), effective at once.

Reasons: Increased costs of labor and leaf tobacco, and below-level industry earnings.

Vice President Marshall's five-cent cigar observation was a casual remark addressed to Chief Senate Clerk John Crockett back in the days of the Woodrow Wilson Administration. Marshall died in 1925, but his views on the nickel cigar have been preserved in reference books.

Politicians Look Ahead: May Even Streamline Conventions

BY JOHN MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—It must have been the free criticism from practically everybody that upset the politicians, momentarily. They're talking of making the 1956 conventions better.
But with four years to regain control of themselves they should be able to keep improvements to a minimum. There's a reason for not rushing, as anyone who looks 500 years ahead can see.
The critics have been particularly harsh about the mass demonstrations that followed the brief, 30-minute "man-who" nominating speeches.
They have labeled these riots on the floor as phony as a boat with rubber ears when the delegates waited so calmly for the signal to become hysterical and some wore several candidates' buttons.
But in 2,492 A. D. an anthropologist might feel this spectacle was an invaluable link between the early American tribal dances and the mating call of the albatross.
It's the economists and sociologists of that time who might run into difficulty determining the pre-significance of the buttons of two candidates on the lapel of one delegate.

To the economist it would be pretty good proof that Americans of today had a fervent faith in personal insurance while the sociologist might consider those two buttons as evidence of the will to win, no matter who wins.
The delegates who repeatedly interrupted the proceedings with demands that their delegations be given time or just wanting to be seen on TV.
But in 500 years a few hours or days lost in 1952 or 1956 conventions won't seem important. So the polling of delegations is not a problem for those politicians who worry about how we'll look to our descendants.
This doesn't mean vigorous steps shouldn't be taken to provide more TV time for those delegates who ask for polling only because they like to be in focus.
The broadcasting companies, which hardly ever seem to mention money in connection with TV time, could help out in this problem at no expense to the delegates. If they set up private rooms with TV cameras, one for each delegate, each could be seen individually by the folks back home as often as he pleased.

And it would be short-sighted indeed to tamper with the convention oratory which the critics so sourly regarded as bombast and contempt for the intelligence of the listening public.
These orators wonderfully simplify problems which might otherwise seem hopelessly complex to a public puzzled to know whom to blame and whom to praise for what happened in the past four years.
They do this by dividing the political world into saints and sinners. And if one orator sounds exactly like all the others it's probably only because he wishes to bring those people up to date who turned in late, and not because he couldn't think of anything better.

Italy Announces World War Losses

ROME (AP)—Italy lost 288,274 men in World War II, an official government publication disclosed Monday.
Of these, the announcement said, 39,762 died or were unaccounted for in operations against the Germans after September, 1943, armistice.
Italy also lost about 50,000 civilian internees who disappeared or died in Germany, Yugoslavia, Greece, and other European countries.

French, Vietminh Exchanging POW's

HANOI, INDOCHINA (AP)—Prisoners of war are being exchanged by the French Union forces and the Communist-led Vietminh in Indochina although there never has been any negotiation or agreement between them for releasing captives.
From time to time—with no hint of regularity—the Vietminh set free numbers of French Union soldiers and officers who straggle back into the French-held Red River Delta.
The French, too, liberate many Vietminh, often as a special order in connection with state ceremonies or events. They usually free more in one batch than the Vietminh.
For instance, on France's independence Day—July 14—High Commissioner Jean Letourneau ordered 700 enemy prisoners of war liberated. A few days earlier, 150 French Union prisoners of the Vietminh reached Hanoi.
The Vietminh prisoners of the French, well-treated and well-fed, are turned back to their own territory in good health.
On the other side of the picture, French Union soldiers freed by the Vietminh report generally that while they were not inhumanely or badly treated by their Vietminh captors, they suffered much because in insufficient food and medicines. The Vietminh long have been reported extremely short on both.

French planes, flying over Northern Indochina close to the Chinese frontier where most of the Vietminh prisoner of war camps seem to be located, several times have dropped tons of food and medicines for French Union captives.
It seems to be a long trek to freedom for these prisoners even when they are liberated by the Vietminh. The freed captives must walk anywhere from 100 to 150 miles before their escorts disappear and they continue on into Hanoi.
The Vietminh were reported to have freed 340 men in early July, but only 150 reached Hanoi. Apparently, the others died on the way.

the majority of these are believed fighting units.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Feather Sandwich

The Featherman (the rascal!) was up to Featherman mischief again. He was trying to grab away a feather from one of Daddy Ringtail's chickens but the chickens now had run into the chicken house and slammed and locked the door.

"Oh, feathers, feathers, feathers," said Featherman in a very weak Featherman voice. "Oh, feathers, feathers, feathers, and I'm so hungry for feathers!"

And then, Featherman pulled off his long green coat and laid it carefully on the ground all ready for him to fall on. He did fall on it, because now he was much too weak to stand up longer with hunger for a feather to eat. He fell down flat on his back, and his heels kicked up straight in the air, and his long white whiskers pointed up too, for a minute.

"Oh, poor, poor, Featherman," said the Featherman in a hungry voice. "Oh, so hungry for a feather to eat."

Well, the chickens were more determined than ever not to open the door when they heard those words.

They stayed there safe inside their chicken house, but Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, heard the Featherman's sad, sad words of how he was oh! so hungry for a feather sandwich.

Daddy Ringtail felt sorry for the Featherman. Daddy Ringtail did not say a word of how the Featherman ought to be ashamed of himself for trying to grab away a feather sandwich.

"Do you have any ketchup?" asked the Featherman, and so Daddy Ringtail knew at last that Featherman wasn't really as hungry as he had pretended. Yes, and Featherman had only pretended to be weak from hunger so Daddy Ringtail would not give him a talking-to for getting into feather-grabbing mischief, but Daddy Ringtail gave him the talking-to anyway, because the Featherman needed it. Happy day.

Top Stars Scramble For Kiddie Record Melon

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Children's records aren't child's play any more. There's big money in what Variety, the show business trade paper, calls "kiddie." Such big money—$15,000,000 last year—that the top entertainers are all clamoring for a slice of the moppet melon.

To sell a children's record, a big name isn't essential. It helps in influencing some inexperienced adults. Capitol's famous "Bozo at the Circus" has sold 700,000 copies without benefit of star. Nevertheless, more and more children's records are featuring big-name artists.

There's a tremendous variety of stars offered to kids nowadays. They can hear James Stewart doing "Winnie-the-Pooh," listen to Charles Laughton or Basil Rathbone or Ronald Coleman tell "A Christmas Carol," sing along with Perry Como, Dick Haymes, Bing Crosby, Rosemary Clooney, Ginger Rogers, Judy Garland, Dinah Shore; laugh with Arthur Godfrey and Danny Kaye and Ray Bolger and Fibber McGee and Molly.

There are cold business reasons why name artists enter the junior record field. While the sales are never comparable to a popular record hit—a smash kiddie record may sell 100,000; a popular hit begins at around 350,000—they still make plenty of money.

And the life expectancy of a good children's record is fabulously long. RCA Victor confidently believes the Jimmy Stewart album of "Winnie-the-Pooh" will keep selling for 25 years.

Even more vital to a star, however, is the urge to "reach the kids." They know today's children are to Bozo the clown: A big name isn't always the big thing.

But there's a more sympathetic reason for some stars appearing on children's records. Many have children of their own, and they like the idea of recording numbers for their offspring. Perry Como is one who begged RCA Victor for years to let him make a children's record. They finally did, and Como turned out "The First Christmas," an album which tells that tale in song and story.

But it takes more than a talented artist to make a children's record sell. Children have pretty emphatic opinions about what they like and don't like.

"Kids can spot phonies," says the head of Columbia's children's record department, Hecky Krasno. "They don't like people talking down to them."

So children's records have to be planned psychologically. To be successful, it takes, as RCA's Steve Carlin says, "a combination of the right artist with the right material." Some performers just don't fit certain types of numbers, and the record companies have had that made painfully clear.

A few big names—including Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Mary Martin, Groucho Marx—have flopped on children's records, because they don't fit their material. And, conversely, records featuring ever-popular fairy tales, or famous cartoon characters—like Capitol's Bugs Bunny series—always sell well, despite the lack of big name.

The children's record business is not old. And its growth, in the last few years, has been phenomenal due to two main factors. First was the invention, several years ago, of the unbreakable record. And more recently, record companies have taken greater pains with production.

Similarly, songs and arrangements and performances have improved. Only a few years ago a children's record consisted of a pianist and a man telling a story. Lately, some songs have been so good that they have leaped out of their class, from children's music to the popular field. The classic example is "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

But there's much more than songs on children's records. There are records of just sounds—the sounds of a railroad train or a ship, for example. There are records of people telling stories. There are recorded games. There are records on patriotic and religious themes. And there are records of instruction.

An ambitious example of that last is Columbia's new baseball series. They already have 16 major leaguers on record with tips on how to play ball; eventually, they hope to have more than 300. A youngster can hear Phil Rizzuto tell how to bunt, or Bob Feller describe pitching moves, or Richie Ashburn explain how to steal bases.

These, of course, would be unsaleable without names. But, on the song and story records, the names are used to sell adults, not children. As one record official puts it, "Kids know from nothing about names, but Aunt Agatha buys somebody she's heard of."

Rescuer ties a sling around chest of Zenna, who is hip-deep in mud.

A steady pull by the wrecking car winch does the job.

SENNA FINDS MUD PACK COOLING BUT POOR BEAUTY TREATMENT

Plagued by the heat that roasted the Hobart Adams farm near Munice, Ind., Zenna, a Holstein cow, sought relief by wandering into a 10-foot-deep muddy ditch. Maybe Zenna, a nursing mother of three, also felt that if other women find mud packs cooling and beautifying, she would too. She dragged herself 120 yards down the icky-sticky goo until her legs couldn't tug any more with the weight of the mud on her feet. So she lay down to rest. The longer she lay, the deeper she sank in the soft mud. Soon it was up to her hips, Zenna became just an old stick-in-the-mud. Next morning Farmer Adams missed her from the herd. After a long search he found her, still in her mud pack. With neighbors, he borrowed a wrecking truck to free her. The men put wooden planks under Zenna to keep her from sinking further. Then a rope-and-belt sling was tied around her and a rope tied around her horns. The signal was given and the wrecking winch hoisted Zenna to freedom.

Safe on firm ground, she's a mud-sucking sensation.
