Low Finds More Oil And Water In Andrews Project

Ralph Lowe of Midland No. 1-K Faeken, Southeast Andrews County deep wildcat in the shallow Midland Farms field found oil and salt water in a test of an unidentified zone in the upper Pennsylvanian lime.

The zone at 9,725-80 feet was drilled and tested for three and one-half hours.

Mud-Oil-Water
Recovery was 200 feet of drilling mud, 1,100 feet of oil and 1,300 feet of salt water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 300 pounds to 1,000 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure was 1,500 pounds. Length of the shut-in was not reported.

The prospector is now making hole below 9,814 feet in lime and shale.

Had Another Show
This wildcat had developed free in the section at 9,860-90 feet. Sulphur water was found at 9,822-9,800 feet.

The prospector is contracted to 14,000 feet to try for production in the Ellenburger.

Location is 2,160 feet from south and 500 feet from west lines of section 43, block 41, T-1-N, O&MM&A survey.

It is 16 miles southeast of the town of Andrews and it is a twin to a producer from the Grayburg-Permian lime above 5,000 feet.

Pure Gets Oil, Gas, Water In Schleicher Ellenburger Section

The Pure Oil Company ran a second drillstem test on the full Ellenburger section in its No. 1 R. S. Williams, Northwest Schleicher County wildcat, 14 miles northwest Eldorado.

The test covered the zone at 1,925-1,905 feet. The tool was open five hours and 20 minutes.

Had A Fluid Flow
Gas surfaced in four minutes and mud started flowing out at the top in 33 minutes. Oil and gas cut salt water began to flow at the surface in one hour and three minutes.

The fluid was run to pits for four hours and 17 minutes. The flow was at the rate of 15 barrels of salt water per hour. There was a squirt of oil in the water.

The gas volume during the test averaged 410,000 cubic feet per day. Operator was pulling the testing tool at last report.

May Plug Back
The hole probably will be plugged back to try to eliminate the water and then the section in the Ellenburger which is left open will be tested to try to make some sort of an oil and gas producer.

Top of the Ellenburger is at 4,470 feet. Elevation is 2,440 feet. None of the upper sections had any shows of possible production.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 32, block T-1, TCRH survey.

SW Ector Wildcat Unloads Oil, Mud On Devonian DST

J. D. Wrathe, Jr., of Dallas No. 1 G. T. Hall and others, Southwest Ector County wildcat, unloaded oil and heavily oil cut mud on a drillstem test of the Devonian from 8,204 to 8,239 feet.

Tool was open one and one-half hours. Gas came to the surface in 27 minutes. Recovery was 500 feet of water blanketed and 600 feet of oil and drilling mud from the upper part of drillpipe.

The project then unloaded an estimated 350 feet of oil and 300 feet of heavily oil cut mud while the remainder of the drillpipe was being laid down.

Good Pressure
Flowing pressure ranged from 210 to 225 pounds and shut-in pressure was 2,775 pounds.

Operator is deepening below 8,290 feet in Devonian. Top of the Devonian is at 8,900 feet.

Location is 600 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block N-15, psi survey and four miles north of Judkins.

CSOC Is To Drill Deep Prospector In SE Terry Area

Cities Production Corporation (Cities Service Oil Company), No. 1-D Starnes is to be a 12,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Terry County to hunt for and test the Ellenburger.

Location is 1,980 feet from west and 600 feet from south lines of section 2, block M, TTRH survey.

Strikes Idle Many Armour Meat Plants

CHICAGO (P)—New walkouts by CIO United Packinghouse Workers raised the number of idle at Armour & Company plants to about 7,500 Tuesday.

The meat packing company said Tuesday's walkouts included most of the 2,000 workers at its Sioux City, Iowa, plant; 1,100 of the 2,300 at Kansas City, Kan., and 700 of the 2,000 workers at Fort Worth.

UPW employees numbering 250 at Atlanta, Ga.; 1,500 at St. Joseph, Mo.; 2,000 at St. Paul, Minn., and part of the 400 at Tifton, Ga., left those Armour plants Monday.

Some 700 union employees at the Cudahy Packing Plant in Wichita, Kan., also walked out.

Workers left their jobs after the CIO union's contract with Armour ended Sunday. Contracts with the other three of the "big four" packers—Swift, Cudahy and Wilson, expired Monday.

Union officials said they did not authorize the walkouts but they could not guarantee action by union locals.

College Head Among Three Aboard Plane

BROWNSVILLE (P)—A plane carrying three Texas Baptist workers, overdue on a trip to Mexico City, was reported safe at a small town near Guadalajara, Mexico, Tuesday.

The plane was piloted by Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview. With him were Jack Robinson, Fort Worth, a Baptist youth worker, and Sam Choy, Plainview, director of religious activities at Wayland.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration reported that a plane landed Monday night at Atotonilco, Mexico, because of bad weather. The Plainview Airport confirmed that the plane was the one piloted by Dr. Marshall. Atotonilco is east and south of Guadalajara.

An aerial search had begun Tuesday of the rugged terrain between Brownsville and Mexico City after nothing had been heard from the plane since it left here Monday, shortly after noon.

The Baptist leaders were on an aerial tour making preliminary plans for a tour by Wayland students and faculty to the Baptist World Youth Conference in Rio de Janeiro in July, 1953. They planned to go as far as Bogota, Colombia, on this trip.

Robinson was a star on the Baylor University basketball team in 1945, 1946 and 1947. He was a member of the U. S. Olympic basketball team in 1948.

They left the Hale County Airport at Plainview after church services Sunday night.

They were in a Beechcraft Bonanza.

They left Brownsville at 1:40 p.m. Monday. Their first check point from here was to be Tampico, Mexico.

The college president is a competent flier and has flown more than 400,000 miles in his own plane. Miss Civil Air Patrol pilot, piloted by Rio Grande Valley flier, and two Army search planes took off from here Monday.

Records at International Airport show Dr. Marshall left shortly after noon for Mexico City, estimating a four-hour trip. When unreported Tuesday morning, the Civil Aeronautics Administration here ordered a search. The Rio Grande Valley CAP answered the call.

Extension Of Safety Check Limit Urged

AUSTIN (P)—Two Democratic nominees for the Texas Legislature visited Governor Shivers Tuesday to urge postponement of the car safety inspection deadline.

The men are Tom Joseph and Sam Sellers, a former House member, who made a comeback this year by campaigning against the car inspection law. Both are from Waco.

They said the inspection deadline should be delayed from September 6 until the Legislature meets in January and has an opportunity to decide whether the law should be repealed or modified.

Prior to conferring with the two men, Shivers told reporters he would have to study the situation before deciding whether further postponement is necessary. The original deadline was March 31 but delay was ordered when it became apparent not all vehicles could be inspected by that time.

Metropolis Reports 132 Murders In '52

NEW YORK (P)—New York City had 132 homicides and 22,008 burglaries in the first six months of 1952, the police department reports.

The figures compare with 118 homicides and 14,861 burglaries in the comparable period of 1951.

Panhandler Willie Hits City Plagued By Added Troubles

Willie the Panhandler was in Midland at noon Tuesday, broke and with his 1952 Lincoln sedan out of commission.

Released from the El Paso city jail after being picked up at his regular trade of mooching nickels and dimes, Willie was enroute to his Dallas home when the transmission "burned out" on his Lincoln about 20 miles west of Odessa.

Willie—full name Willie Cobins—had the big automobile towed to a Midland garage and contacted the office of a finance company which has a mortgage on the car.

The Midland dealer does not have the necessary parts to repair Willie's car.

Willie, accompanied by his 35-year-old chauffeur, Billy Hill, 18, told a reporter for The Midland Reporter-Telegram he doesn't know what he is going to do.

The Dallas negro, who pushes his withered body along on a wooden cart by hand when not riding in his Lincoln, said he was broke and was hoping for "greener pastures" when he returns to his home.

Referring to his arrest in El Paso, Willie called the officials a "bunch of silly people."

"All they can think about is picking me up," he said bitterly. "Why don't they join the Federal Bureau of Investigation, if they want to arrest a big criminal?"

Recently, since leaving Dallas, Willie has been changing "business addresses" frequently at the request of officers.

Chief of Police Harold Wallace said "if Willie starts panhandling here in Midland, we will tell him to move on."

Willie indicated he was anxious to get back to Dallas, where he hoped his luck would change.

Southern Ohio Reported As Site Of New Atom Plant

WASHINGTON (P)—The Atomic Energy Commission will build a new $1,200,000,000 plant in Southern Ohio, Representative Eiston (R-Ohio) said Tuesday. The plant will produce uranium-235, a key atomic substance.

An aide to Eiston told a reporter the new gaseous diffusion plant will be located on a 6,500-acre tract in a sparsely-settled area of Pike County, about 18 or 20 miles north of Portsmouth. It had been said previously that a new plant would be located somewhere in the Ohio Valley.

Some 50 families will be relocated.

The new plant is considered important in the AEC's big expansion program.

Cooling Rain Brings Midland Sector Temporary Heat Relief

Heat-killing rain measured more than an unofficial inch in some parts of Midland Monday night and its refreshing hangover prevailed Thursday morning.

But by noon, Midlanders knew the relief from heat was only temporary. The mercury was climbing and another 100-degree reading was in prospect. Temperatures dipped to a "cold" 68 degrees at midnight Monday after soaring to 103 degrees during the day.

CAA gauges totaled 1.07 inches at Terminal but the city shop near the downtown business district, recorded only one-half inch. Rain was especially heavy in northwest Midland where estimates went as high as 1.50 inches.

The Midland vicinity appeared the heavy beneficiary from the thundershowers. Wink received an inch; Stanton reported .75 inch; Odessa has as much as .51 inch, and Seminole .18 inch. Monahans, Big Spring, Colorado City and other scattered points had showers.

Garden City was missed but the northwest portion of Glascock listed "good showers."

A weak cold front was responsible for the West Texas rain. Elsewhere in the state, temperatures stayed at high levels.

In Dallas, heat claimed its third victim in three days when Parker Thompson, 60, collapsed. He was in a critical condition Monday night. The heat was blamed for five deaths across the state in a week's time.

Early Tuesday, the cool front had touched Wichita Falls in North Texas.

Specialist Engaged To Check Midland Sewage Situation

A State Health Department specialist will arrive in Midland Wednesday to investigate the critical fly and sewage situation.

Dr. F. J. Von Zuben, Jr., a vector control expert, will inspect the city with Dr. C. A. Figford of the City-County Health Unit, then will speak at a citizens meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Cowden Junior High School Auditorium.

All Midland citizens are invited to attend the Thursday meeting. Dr. Von Zuben will discuss what Midland citizens can do to improve the situation. A 30-minute movie on sanitation and polio also will be shown.

Dr. Von Zuben is associated with the health department's communicable disease center and recently finished a survey of Houston.

The Citizens Clean-Up Committee has just about reached its goal of 60 trucks and 40 laborers for Midland Cleanup Day Monday. The committee has received pledges for 54 trucks and 33 laborers.

Three New Voting Precincts Formed

Three new voting precincts for Midland County were created Monday afternoon by Commissioners Court.

But there was doubt as to whether they can be used in the November 4 general election.

"Under the new election code," said County Judge Clifford C. Keith, "poll tax lists of voters in each precinct must be furnished the judges in each precinct on election day."

"This would not be practical at this time since the lists already have been made up but we are still studying the situation to determine whether we can use the three additional precincts in the November election."

The three new precincts were created by splitting Precinct 7 into three precincts and Precinct 1 into two. Other county voting precincts were left unchanged.

Under the new designation, the precincts are designated as follows:
Precinct 1—Bounded on the south by Wall Street, on the west by Big Spring Street, on the north by Maiden Lane and on the east by the Fair Grounds Road.
Precincts 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6—Unchanged.
Precinct 7—Bounded on the south by Wall Street, on the west by An-

Dallas Bid Appears Midland Paving Low

The Texas Bitulithic Company of Dallas was the apparent low bidder Monday afternoon for the job of paving 230 blocks of Midland Streets.

The Dallas firm submitted a bid of $438,348, the lowest of the three opened at City Hall.

Other bidders included Brown and Root, Inc., Houston, $1,280,943, and Collins Construction Company, $1,141,742.

UN Concedes Jets Might Have Flown Over Truce Tents

MUNSAN, KOREA (P)—The UN Command said Tuesday the two or three jet planes which flew over the Panmunjom truce talks site Sunday in violation of its neutrality probably were United Nations planes.

The statement was in a note from Col. Charles W. McCarthy, senior UN Command liaison officer, to Col. Chang Chun-san, top Red liaison officer, delivered at Panmunjom in response to a Red protest.

The note said witnesses were unable to observe identifying marks on the planes but "we have concluded in all probability the aircraft in question were those of the United Nations."

Weekend Lull In Polio Gives Way To Surge Of New Cases

By The Associated Press

Polio incidence continued high in Texas Tuesday after a weekend lull brought hopes that the disease was waning in the state.

Four new cases—one of the deadly bulbar type—were admitted to Parkland Hospital in Dallas Monday following a 36-hour period with no admissions.

In Houston one new city polio case and two out of county cases, one the son of the American press attache at Mexico City, were reported by the health department Tuesday.

Barry Bishop, Jr., 26, was admitted to Hodgecroft Clinic Monday from Fort Lavaca, where he was visiting an uncle. Young Bishop is the son of Barry Bishop, Sr., who now is this country's press attache at Mexico City.

Only two new victims of the malady were reported to the Houston City Health Department during the weekend, one from the city and one from Harris County.

Dallas physicians and nurses—after their 36-hour relief—treated a 30-year-old Dallas man, a two-year-old Grand Prairie boy, six-year-old Dallas boy and a three-year-old Dallas girl.

The Denison child, Janet Buchanan, was reported to have bulbar polio which affects the base of the brain. She followed her nine-year-old sister, Judy, to the hospital. Judy was admitted August 8 with polio.

The Buchanan girls' brother, Jimmy, nine, was treated by Denison doctors with gamma globulin. Bill Buchanan, pipe line foreman for an Oklahoma oil firm, is the father of the children.

Besides the Houston and Dallas cases reported, five children from East Texas—two from Tyler—were admitted to the Mother Frances Hospital in Tyler.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

NEW DELHI, INDIA (P)—With the echo of a Communist threat to "shoot landlords and capitalists" if it came to power ringing through the hall, the Indian-Parliament's upper house Tuesday passed a preventive detention bill aimed at curbing the Reds.

WASHINGTON (P)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson arrived here by air shortly before noon Tuesday for a big political pow-wow with President Truman and his cabinet on issues and strategy in the presidential campaign.

TOKYO (P)—A Japanese Parliament committee Tuesday said it has confirmed that a large quantity of Japanese national treasure is missing and receipts by occupation officials for some of it are "extremely unclear and figures do not jibe."

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (P)—U. S. Secretary of the Army Frank Pace went by air Sunday to Belgrade to witness Yugoslav troop maneuvers and to study the results of American arms aid to Yugoslavia.

Lack Of Funds May Force Abandonment Of Big Spring Street Underpass Plans

Midland County Commissioners were reported Monday afternoon to be considering the temporary abandonment of a project to construct the Big Spring Street underpass at the Texas and Pacific railroad tracks.

The construction of the underpass was planned as the final unit of an improvement program which included the construction of a storm sewer and the widening and paving of North Front Street as an alternate highway truck route.

The storm sewer has been completed and the highway paving project now is underway.

But there doesn't appear to be enough money left in the county's purse to purchase the necessary right-of-way and still put up the county's share—estimated at $400,000—of the cost of the underpass construction.

If the project is shelved, it will be postponed in favor of widening of U. S. Highway east to the Martin County line to provide a continuous highway from Odessa east to Martin County.

"It doesn't look like there's enough money left for both projects," said County Judge Clifford C. Keith at the regular meeting of Commissioners Court.

"In fact, it looks like there won't even be enough money for the underpass."

When the most recent county road bond issue was voted last spring, it was understood it would provide sufficient funds for both the underpass and the Highway 80 widening.

Costs Exceed Estimates
But right-of-way costs have far exceeded the earlier estimates.

And the first proposal on the Labor Day is Play Day. See page 14.—(Adv.)

underpass right-of-way offered little encouragement Monday afternoon.

It was submitted by W. W. Studdert, who owns some property in the 300 block of South Big Spring Street.

After a conversation with Judge Keith, he submitted his estimate of damages if his property is taken for right-of-way.

His bill was $42,000, including $15,000 for 1,500 square feet of land and $27,000 for replacing an office building now on the property.

"At that rate," said Judge Keith, "the right-of-way alone for both the underpass would cost us some $300,000 and we just don't have that kind of money."

After projects now underway are completed, Judge Keith said the county would have an estimated $225,000 of bond funds on hand—far less than the necessary $400,000 construction cost plus the estimated $300,000 for the right-of-way.

Studdert is one of nine property owners involved in the right-of-way which must be acquired before the underpass can be constructed.

The underpass already is on the drawing boards of the State Highway Department, which will bear a portion of the cost of construction.

The highway department, too, will finance the construction of the Highway 80 widening—after the county acquires the necessary right-of-way.

Commissioners felt that the $225,000 remaining bond funds will be ample for purchasing the highway right-of-way.

An additional 150 feet of right-of-way for the 11.18 miles to the Martin County line will be needed before the construction can get underway.

The commissioners said they will study the situation further before reaching any decision.

All bridge players are divided into two classes—those who can be shut out and those who can't. Many years ago, I remember, I was the kind of player who would always bid when an opponent tried to shut me out. I may not be any wiser today, but I'm at least more cautious.

My son Jim, who played as my partner in the Men's Pair event of the recent national championships, has probably inherited my unwillingness to be shut out. Fortunately or unfortunately, I'm not sure which, he has not yet acquired my caution. As a result, Jim was able to star on the hand shown today.

What should South do when East opens the bidding with four hearts? To pass may allow the opponents to get away with murder.

Jennifer Jones Takes Over Role Intended For Ingrid

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

Celluloid Flash: Jennifer Jones' to-be-made-in-Italy movie, "Magdalena," is one and the same as "The Scarlet Lily," which David O. Selznick bought for Ingrid Bergman once upon a time. . . . Joyce Selznick, who sued her one-time flame, Tony Curtis, on the grounds that she discovered him in a New York drugstore and was squeezed out as his agent, took an out-of-court settlement. . . . Daria Massey, the gorgeous teenager in "The Iron Mistress," and Steve Rowland, Director Roy Rowland's son, are a youngster set blast.

The felix no longer under contract, but about 15 fan letters a day arrive at Paramount for Rhubarb, the cat. The fan mail department sends back photos stamped with Rhubarb's paw print. . . . Alan Ladd hasn't even left Hollywood for his starring role in "Red Beret," but the sniping at him for taking the role of a British paratrooper has already started.

Wayne Morris gave up his Hollywood manse and moved to his ranch near San Diego, the better to supervise his avocado grove. No retirement from flickers, though. . . . A hunk of Eleanor Parker's own savings is sunk into "Panic Stricken," the movie that her husband, Bert Friedrich, produced. Merely Confidential?

Erich von Stroheim's novel of a decade ago, "Paprika," now is a paper-bound book and the main characters turn out to be a girl named Zsa Zsa and a man named Gabori. . . . Katharine Hepburn's going into independent film production in England. Her first: "Froster John," a thriller from John Buchan's novel of the same title. He's the author of "39 Steps."

None of the movie executives who have ever talked contract with Charlton Heston are surprised that he's landed the role of Andrew Jackson opposite Susan Hayward in Fox's "The President's Wife."

Heston's been Old Hickory about his TV rights ever since he landed in Hollywood "because TV gives me the chance to play parts that I can't get in any other medium. A man's lucky if he can become a god actor by the time he reaches the age of 35. I'm 28 now and I want to take advantage of every opportunity I can get to develop as an actor."

The movie ads, which proclaim him as the biggest hunk of man to come along since Burt Lancaster, don't bother serious, big-chested Charlton, who told me on the "Rudy Gentry" set: "If they think they can sell me in movies by saying that I have two heads, it's all right with me. They know better than I what will sell pictures."

Jack Hawkins, Claudette Colbert's costar in "Planter's Wife," will have the leading role in the British-made version of the best-seller, "The Cruel Sea."

Railroad Business Feels Woman's Touch

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

A woman's touch is transforming some aspects of the railroad business.

She is Ann Elgar Stevenson, assistant to the vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, who spends about half of her time these days riding the various trains of the system, keeping a weather eye out for possible improvements in comfort, cleanliness and service.

Mrs. Stevenson believes her fragile, feminine appearance, her big blue eyes can spot a speck of dust at 10 paces, and dining room stewards snap to attention at her approach. She describes her job thus: "I'm kind of a nagging wife to the operating department. Much of my work seems to be minding other people's business. Whenever I see something amiss in any department of the system, my job is to try to correct it. This requires a great amount of diplomacy. It sounds like an unpopular sort of a job, but really it's fun. And I think I've made more friends than enemies."

Mrs. Stevenson is one of a growing group of women holding executive jobs with the nation's railroads, and their influence is to be seen on many of the country's trains. If you find chintz drapes in the club car, flowers on the table, pretty upholstery in the coaches, new colors in your room, you can be pretty sure that these are the results of a woman executive's touch.

Much of Mrs. Stevenson's job entails housekeeping know-how. One of the first things she did was to institute improvements in car cleaning systems, suggest new and more efficient methods, try out new cleaning materials, and show stewards how to keep dining cars neater.

Waitresses on one of the line's divisions now wear smart yellow uniforms with white pique puritan collars and coronet caps. And experiments are under way to snap up the waiters' uniforms with a touch of color and better fit.

Whenever she rides as a passenger on one of the C&O trains, Mrs. Stevenson suggests diplomatically if the steward met each passenger entering the dining car, giving off with courtesy and friendliness in the best headwaiter manner.

Details such as piles of loose silver left on the tables, clogged salt shakers or slovenliness in the appearance of waiters all come under her eagle eye. It's the same kind of job done by every good housewife every day—and nobody but a woman could do it. Says Mrs. Stevenson:

"You have to go slowly, so as not to offend anyone. But little by little we're getting things done. Little things such as providing free reading material in coaches and seeing that all headrests in a coach are the same color can make a lot of difference in a passenger's impressions."

"We try to stress friendliness among the employes of the line, and this is one effort that is reflected in comments of passengers. They appreciate and remember any little added courtesy of a porter or a steward."

Among projects Mrs. Stevenson has in mind are: removing the bars from ticket windows in stations, smartening up the dresses of ticket salesmen and getting additional coat hangers, with skirt and trouser clips, in sleeper bedrooms.

New University President May Be Named Wednesday

AUSTIN (AP)—A new president for the University of Texas likely will be decided Wednesday.

A special meeting of the regents has been called to consider recommendations of Chancellor James P. Hart.

President T. S. Painter has resigned, effective August 31, to return to teaching and research. The university's new fiscal year begins September 1, requiring early appointment either of a permanent or a temporary successor.

Hart said his recommendations will be based on results of investigations and interviews which have been under way since soon after Dr. Painter announced his resignation last Spring.

Midlander, Child Received Injuries In Traffic Crash

Mrs. J. D. Rogers and son, Jerry, five, 400 South Pecos Street, were treated at Western Clinic-Hospital for minor injuries suffered in an automobile accident at 8:18 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Rogers suffered a back injury, and the child suffered an injury to his neck.

City police said Mrs. Rogers, driving a 1949 Mercury, had stopped for a signal light at the intersection of Rankin Highway and Marienfeld Street, and was struck from behind by a pickup driven by an Odessan.

Officers said the Odessan was taking a man injured in an oil field accident to the hospital and was unable to stop quickly enough without striking the Rogers automobile.

Each vehicle received about $200 damage, officers said.

Mrs. Turpin Returns From South America

By JOHN BOWER

Mrs. Robert M. Turpin, Andrews Highway, has returned to Midland after a trip of approximately two months covering many points of interest in Latin America. Mrs. Turpin was accompanied on the extensive journey by her daughter, Jessica.

Leaving Midland on June 17, the two women traveled by plane to such well-known places as Mexico City, Guatemala City, Panama City, Lima, Peru, Cuzco, Peru, and then on to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil—stopping a few days or longer in each locale.

Mrs. Turpin reported that one of the most fascinating aspects of the excursion was the visit at Cuzco. There they saw the vast ruins of the ancient Inca empire of the early Indians who inhabited Peru. Many of the primitive cities virtually had been destroyed by the Spanish conquistadors, but one large town still stood near the modern city of Cuzco. It had walls 10 or 12 feet high, of an incredible thickness of five feet or more.

These massive stone structures were put together without the use of mortar, a feat which would tax the resources of even modern engineering science in building skills. Some of the walls were so sturdy that they withstood the recent violent earthquake in Peru, while many twentieth century buildings collapsed.

Visit Buenos Aires

Of even greater interest in this present day world were the experiences of Mrs. Turpin in Buenos Aires, Argentina. In that dictator country, the shadow of Juan Peron hung like a pall over the entire country. She reported that the people of Argentina knew virtually nothing of what was going on in their own country, and most of them were even afraid to talk politics. Scarcely any newspapers from the United States were available to the public, and the only Argentine paper to be secured was the official government propaganda organ.

The people of Argentina were found to be friendly, in spite of the government prejudice against Americans. The city of Buenos Aires was well-kept and beautiful. But apparently, the unhappy rule of Dictator Peron was due for a future disturbance in many respects. Workers on the wheat farms had been pulled into the city factories, with the result that Argentina was importing wheat for its own consumption, probably for the first time in its turbulent history. Even the tremendous cattle ranches were rumored to be in trouble.

A Hazardous Business

In at least one state automobile drivers now are being issued lifetime operator's permits which don't even need renewing.

This sort of thing could encourage a person so incapacitated by age, infirmity, or alcohol that he hardly can walk on his own two legs to simply get in his car and drive where he's going.

Also, of the 48 states and the District of Columbia, only 17 have compulsory motor vehicle inspection.

Twenty-six have no compulsory inspection at all, five leave the matter up to the individual towns and cities, and one authorizes spot inspection by police.

Partly as the result of such hit-or-miss regulations, deaths caused by motor vehicle accidents last year hit an all-time high of 37,300. And the toll of injured rose to 1,300,000.

In a grimly fascinating booklet entitled Accident Facts, the National Safety Council goes into some of the causes and circumstances of these accidents, which last year killed twice as many Americans as have lost their lives in more than two years of Korean war fighting.

For instance, regarding the faulty mechanical condition of vehicles, which could be improved by periodic compulsory inspection, reports from 25 states indicate that about six per cent of the vehicles involved in fatal accidents had one or more unsafe conditions.

Speeding was the most important driver violation in fatal accidents. Approximately 28 per cent of the fatal-accident drivers were going too fast for safety under the prevailing condition—traffic, weather, type of road.

In cities, right-of-way violations were second in importance. In the country, it was failure to keep to the right of the center line.

Others were being under the influence of alcohol, improper passing, and ignoring the signals of a policeman or traffic control device, such as a stop sign or red light.

A special study carried out by the states of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Nebraska and Wisconsin showed that young people are by far the most dangerous drivers.

More traffic deaths occur in October than in any other month, with September, November and December also bad. This is despite the fact the peak motor vehicle traffic load occurs in August. The fewest traffic deaths occur in February.

Reports from 21 states indicated that 80 per cent of the fatal accidents occurred on straight roads, 13 per cent on sharp turns and seven per cent on curves.

On the basis of motor vehicle deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles, Rhode Island was safest last year with 3.0, Massachusetts and Connecticut each has 3.9 and South Dakota 4.5.

At the bottom of the safety list were Arizona and New Mexico with 12.9 each and Nevada and South Carolina with 12.0.

If further proof is needed that driving is a hazardous business, witness rising auto insurance rates. Both hazards and rates could be reduced, however, by stiffer and more uniform state regulations governing the condition of both the driver and his car.

Sometimes the real reason a fellow stops going with a girl is a parent.

An untruth travels mighty fast when you consider that it hasn't a leg to stand on.

Metamorphosis

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Communists conceive new propaganda medium; Wilson Wyatt worries White House; late Josephus Daniels influences Stevenson welcoming speech.

WASHINGTON—Soviet satellites in Washington have a new dodge for luring propaganda. The State Department has now forbidden communist embassies to publish news letters, so here is the latest medium for telling about the glories of life behind the Iron Curtain.

It's an invitation by the Roumanian embassy to attend a reception in honor of the day that country came under the hall of the Red army, August 23. Here is how the invitation reads:

"On the occasion of the 5th anniversary of the liberation of the Roumanian people and of the overthrow of the fascist dictatorship by the people's patriotic forces, the Charge d'Affaires ad interim of the Roumanian people's republic requests the pleasure of your company at a reception on Saturday the 23rd of August from 7 to 9 o'clock."

Note: The reception is to be held in the Roumanian embassy on Sheridan Circle, facing the Turkish embassy, one of the swank parts of town. This is the same embassy used by Queen Marie during her famed visit here in the Hoover administration. A lot of water has passed down the Potomac since then, and it will be interesting to see who attends on August 23.

Truman vs. Stevenson Having got his man the Democratic nomination, President Truman, despite yesterday's luncheon with Adlai Stevenson, finds himself more and more on the outside looking in. While he hasn't said anything about this, the palace guard have done a lot of squawking—privately.

They not only heard the report that Governor Stevenson was reluctant to come to the White House luncheon, but they know for a fact how much friction there was between Truman and Stevenson's right-hand man, Wilson Wyatt. They also know that Stephen Mitchell, the new Adlai-picked Democratic national chairman, didn't pull many punches about embarrassing the Justice Department when he served on the chief investigating committee.

The palace guard have particular reason to remember the battles with Wilson Wyatt, because they were largely responsible for them. Inside fact is that Wyatt's forced exit from the Truman administration was about the biggest letdown a top official ever had. When he took over the job of housing expediter to build homes for veterans, Truman gave him a letter which instructed Wyatt to use "the same daring determination and hard-hitting teamwork with which we tackled the emergency job of building the world's most powerful war machine."

But, after six months of trying to carry out this instruction, Wyatt found himself blocked at every turn by Truman's own staff. Truman's RFC director, George Allen, held back on loaning him housing money. Harry Vaughn, the President's military aide, used to sit in a corner of the President's office holding his nose and pulling an imaginary chain when Wyatt outlined plans for veterans' housing; while Secretary of Treasury John Snyder warned Truman that Wyatt would get him into trouble with the real-estate people.

Finally, John Steelman, another White House assistant, tried to persuade Wyatt to remain on with drastically limited powers. This Wyatt refused to do and resigned.

Even here the palace guard stepped in. When the customary press release was drafted to announce Wyatt's resignation, it stated that he had asked to be relieved because he had "finished" the veterans' housing job.

"But I haven't finished my job," protested Wyatt, "and I'll stay on if I'm permitted to operate an all-out emergency program."

This did not please the palace guard at all, and for one hour Clark Clifford, then a member of the Truman personal staff, argued with Wyatt over the phrasing of his resignation. Clifford's idea was not to protect homeless veterans but to protect the man who had failed to help them.

That was the friction between the White House and the man who is now No. 1 political adviser to the new candidate of the Democratic party. No wonder some of the boys around the White House aren't happy.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Senator Long's Caustic Words To Foe Are Sample Of Coming Political Debate

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Louisiana Senator Russell B. Long's number one political enemy in his home state, Leander Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines parish, Perez rules there as boss, but he also is spokesman for many of Louisiana's oil and sulphur millionaires, the Dixiecrats and the illy-whites.

In a broadcast to his state before leaving for Europe the other day, Senator Long paid his respects to Perez in these choice words, which are a fair sample of the kind of debate not to be heard all across this broad land from now to November:

"I have always wondered how I could carry Plaquemines parish 10 to one in a close race and lose that same parish 10 to one at a time when I was achieving the greatest majority that any candidate ever accumulated in the history of Louisiana."

"Perhaps there is no irregularity to it. Perhaps Mr. Perez works miracles in Plaquemines parish. . . I have no intention of leading a crusade into Plaquemines parish. However, I expect to do what I can to prevent the police-state methods of that area from being extended throughout Louisiana."

Neither of the vice presidential candidates, John Sparkman of Alabama nor Richard Nixon of California, will resign his Senate seat to campaign in the national elections. Sparkman's term in the Senate runs to January, 1955, Nixon's to 1957, so the one who loses in November still will be around afterward.

There's no precedent to cause a congressman to resign his seat just because he's running for another office. John Garner of Texas was elected both congressman and vice president in 1928.

Senator McNary of Oregon didn't resign his Senate seat when he campaigned for the vice presidency under Willkie in 1940. Alben Barkley didn't resign from the Senate to run for vice president in 1948.

There was a new green carpet tacked down in the hall leading to the State Department auditorium where Secretary of State Dean Acheson holds his press conferences.

Opening a conference shortly after he returned from his European and South American tour, the secretary remarked that "rolling out the green carpet" was a new form of welcome.

On his tour, it had been the traditional "red carpet" that figuratively had been rolled out.

Later the secretary was asked if the green carpet would be rolled out in the case of King Farouk wanted to come to the U. S.

"I don't think that's a proper question," he said, and ducked.

The story of how the B-52 all-jet, swept-back-wing super-bomber "was born" on a Dayton hotel room dresser top has just been released by Boeing Airplane Company, its maker.

Back in 1944 a Boeing engineering design team brought to Air Materiel Command plans for what it considered a hot new bomber on which the company had been working two years. But the Air Force wasn't interested. The plane was obsolete even before an experimental model could be built.

Somewhat chagrined, the experts retired to their hotel suite to think it over. That was on Thursday night. On Friday morning they called up the Air Materiel Command headquarters and said they'd be back on Monday morning with a new design.

Over the weekend, Engineering Vice President Ed Wells, Project Engineer Art Carlson, Design Chief Maynard Fennell, Power Plant Engineer H. W. Withington and Aerodynamicist Vaughn Blumenthal drew up their plan for what now is the B-52.

George Schaller, now chief of Boeing's technical staff, laid out the lines for the swept-back wing, then hand-carved a model of the plane from balsam wood. This model, plus a 33-page report, was submitted on Monday morning as promised.

Today, less than four years later, the plane is being test flown in Seattle.

Agents—Willkie, Wallace? Two of the best espionage jobs done for the United States in World War II were turned in by—of all people—the late Wendell Willkie and former Vice President Henry A. Wallace. The story is told for the first time in "Pegasus," house organ for the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation.

Willkie, it will be recalled, made his famous "One World" flight, circumnavigating the globe with the blessing of all the Allied powers. To guide him on his flight across Russia to China, the Soviet government furnished him with a set of maps.

Realizing their value, Willkie was sharp enough to talk his pilots into letting him have 17 maps at the end of the flight, and he turned the maps over to military intelligence.

Later, on his flight from West to East in which he visited Russia and China, Vice President Wallace got away with the same gag.

Fredding From Moscow? While the Russian Communists, their agents and agitators have a finger in almost every political disturbance that occurs anywhere in the world, an exception has to be made in the case of the recent Egyptian revolt that threw King Farouk out of his job.

Communism hasn't made much headway in any of the Moslem countries, with the possible exception of Iran, where the Tudeh party causes plenty of trouble.

In Egypt, Communist propaganda is being handed out, though the poverty of the great mass of the people should provide a natural breeding ground for discontent. But no one has questioned the loyalty of the Egyptian army leaders who decided to kick out their king. They thought it up and carried it out without any urging from Moscow.

One of the facts of life and nature that upset weather scientists in trying to account for the occurrence of droughts and wet spells that they will hit one area and miss another.

In 1934, for instance, in the worst year of the great plains dust bowl, West Virginia had a 12 per cent deficiency in rainfall, while Virginia was 10 per cent over average. And for the whole 1930-36 period, Washington, New Mexico, Florida and New England—at the four corners of the U. S.—had excess rainfall while the rest of the U. S. was deficient.

To believers in the theory that sunspots cause droughts, the question is asked, "How could a sunspot, 94,000,000 miles away, pick out any one of these areas for special treatment?"

What's Right? You have friends who live in a large city.

Wrong: Whenever acquaintances from your home town go to the city on vacation, give them the name and address of your friends and ask them to be sure to look them up.

Right: Realize that it can be a great imposition to expect friends to entertain anybody you know who happens to be in their city for a visit.

Have a Laugh

My uncle who was in the Spanish-American War was where the bullets were thickest—under the ammunition wagon!

Underneath the Bough

She laid the set aside and drew out another.

"I'm sorry I put so much yellow into this set. It's the finest one I have. I didn't know when I embroidered it that yellow doesn't wash so well. I thought it looked bright and cheerful. Perhaps if I wash all these myself, the yellow won't run."

ONE after another she drew out her dollies, some embroidered, others edged deep with lace.

"How did I ever find time to do so much," she wondered. "But, my goodness, I suppose it's 10 years since I began to work for my hope chest."

She looked back almost wistfully to the little girl of 12 who had put away her dollies and started so innocently to prepare for the duties of her womanhood.

Underneath the table lines was her fine muslin underwear. This had all been made by hand. Patiently and lovingly she had made the French seams and sewed on the lace—a row of insertion, a row of heading, and a row of edging. Through the heading she had run white satin ribbons. She had used white for each dainty set. Some girls were using pink or blue ribbon that showed through their fine white batiste blouses, but Louise did not like—calling attention to their underwear. It offended her modesty.

Slowly she began to lay the things back in the chest. She was conscious of a feeling of depression and hurried to put them away, trying not to think any more about the future. At last the chest was full and she snapped the lock with a smile that ended strangely in a sob. She threw her arms across the chest and tenderly kissed the polished wood.

"I won't open you again," she whispered, "until I'm—a wife!"

In the sunny parlor of her new house, after she became a wife, Louise was entertaining friends at tea. She was at home on Thursday. She sat primly on a stiffly upholstered chair near the window and exchanged commonplace with two other brides.

THEY were all very dignified, feeling keenly the importance and responsibility of their position as young matrons. After they had gossiped for a while, Louise invited them into the back parlor for refreshments. Over the delicious tea and cake their still exuberant girlhood could no longer bear the restraints of company manners, and the three brides began to exchange confidences about their house-keeping problems.

"You know, Cecile has a maid," said Josie Brown, "and she doesn't get up in the morning. She has a tray in bed. I don't think that's right. I wouldn't think it was fair to my husband to be so lazy, even if I had a maid."

"Well, Cecile's mother is French," Louise said. "They do that sort of thing over there, of course."

"I don't suppose you'll have time for your art work now, Louise, will you?" Sadie Gibson's question was mildly spiteful.

She had always thought Louise was very stuck-up about that old art school of hers. How any nice girl could want to mess around with a lot of horrid, smelly, sticky paints she didn't see. She had run in to see Louise one day before her marriage and had found her in a big apron all covered with daubs of paint. She was putting more daubs of paint on a canvas and making the swiftest, most meaningless mess out of it all. And Louise was so wrapped up in it she had hardly paid any attention to Sadie and had showed in just the rudest way that she wished Sadie would go away and leave her to her painting.

"Yes, your housework will take up all your time, I guess, won't it, Louise?" This was from Josie.

Josie was quite unaware of the malicious pleasure Sadie was taking from the situation, but Louise sensed it instantly.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Human Giantism Best treated By Directing X-Rays At Gland

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

In practically all respects it must be considered a great misfortune to be a human giant. One such person who was studied carefully medically was over eight feet, three inches tall, with weight in proportion.

Many others have been studied who were almost eight feet tall, and I have before me a newspaper which reports a "giant" nine feet, one inch high, weighing 391 pounds.

Apparently most of those people who reach enormous size suffer from a disease known as acromegaly. This condition stems from over-secretion of a tumor in a tiny gland known as the pituitary body, lying in the brain.

This gland exerts an enormous influence on the human body by means of the hormones it produces, and this is the more surprising because the gland itself is so small.

Acromegaly does not always lead to gigantism in the sense that everyone who has it grows to seven feet tall or higher. Probably more often it develops during mature life in an exceedingly gradual manner.

So that for years, even an expert cannot tell definitely whether or not the condition is present.

When the disease is well advanced, however, there is thickening and coarsening of the features, especially the lips and nose, with increased prominence of the lower jaw and brows. The hands and feet enlarge, the chest increases in size, and the back becomes stooped. A considerable number of victims of acromegaly also develop diabetes.

It seems that in the true giant the pituitary gland starts to over-secrete while the youngster is still growing, and that the other symptoms of acromegaly develop later. Whereas in the fully grown individual, there is little growth in the long bones leading to excessive height, although in both cases the cause lies in the pituitary gland.

Definite Diagnosis Needed. What can be done for acromegaly? Once a definite diagnosis has been made, the best treatment appears to be to direct X-rays at the pituitary body in the brain.

Other types of treatment are being tried on an experimental basis. Actually, research on the pituitary body, the hormones which it produces, and the factors which influence growth, is badly needed, and it is encouraging to report that there is much work going on in these directions.

Theresa Klapproth Gives Study Report

Theresa Klapproth gave a report on her recent study of Caddo Canyon Monday at a meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church.

Angelo Halts Oiler Hurler

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—Looking like a club ready to roll, the San Angelo Colts dropped the league-leading Odessa Oilers here Monday night, 6-4, in the first of a three-game series.

With a 2,100 "Ladies Night" crowd looking on, the Colts spoiled the undefeated seven-game win streak of Dan Quintana, slapping the Oiler hurler for 10 hits.

Mario Saldana, winning his sixth victory of the year, was near perfect for eight innings. The Oilers got to the little right-hander for a walk, two doubles and a single in the ninth inning before Clarence Tinkler came on to get Bill Cearley on a pop to second to end the game.

It was "Ronnie McClain" night at Quinn Field. The young son of Jack McClain, Colt right fielder, is to undergo a heart operation at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore October 24 and generous Colt fans contributed a total of $827.94 to the cause. More is expected through the mails.

Bob Martin, Oiler manager, gave $5 and the Odessa club donated $15. Colts Score One.

The Colts tallied a single counter of Quintana in the first on John Margarin's double and Ken Kowalk's single. Odessa tied it in the second on successive singles by Leo Eastham and Cearley with Eastham scoring when Charley Weber hit into a double play.

The Colts came back in the third on four runs on three hits, a walk and an Oiler error. The Colts made it 6-1 in the eighth on a walk, stolen base and Odessa error and Ken Kowalk's single.

Saldana got Felix Castro for the first out in the Oiler ninth but then walked Evilio Ortega, batting for Quintana. Raul Diappa doubled him to third and both scored on Bob Martin's single. Martin Tredaway ran for Martin and, after Lefty Loyko flew out for the second out, scored on Leo Eastham's double. This brought on Tinkler and he got Cearley on a pop.

The score: R H E
Odessa 6 10 000 03-4 8 2
San Angelo 104 000 01-8 10 0
Quintana and Castro; Saldana, Tinkler and Dacko.

INDIANS' GAME IS RAINED OUT

BIG SPRING—Members of the Midland Indians and Big Spring Browns baseball teams were given the night off here Monday when rain washed out their scheduled game.

However, the players will have to make up for it Tuesday night when they square off here in a doubleheader.

Tribe Manager Jay Haney is expected to call on Israel Ten (15-8) and Eddie Jacome (15-11) to serve on the hill while Brown Manager Pat Steady has elected Aramis Aranda and Reggi Corrales to throw for the Steads.

Vernon Goes Down Before Artesia, 14-9

VERNON—(AP)—Mike Rodriguez pitched, batted and stumbled through for his eighteenth victory of the year here Monday night when the Artesia Drillers used the long ball for a 14-9 victory over the Vernon Dusters.

Rodriguez went the distance on the hill for the Drillers. At the plate he collected a home run and single but was touched for 13 hits by the Dusters.

The difference in the game was a pair of home runs hit in the fifth inning. Trailing, 1-1, going into the fifth the Drillers came to life. Bob Hanna was safe on a fielder's choice and scored when Rodriguez hit one over the center field fence. Alonso singled, Paul Halter got a one-base knock and Joe Bauman, who had homered in the fourth frame, walked to jam the sacks.

Briner Homers
Rudy Herrer was the next hitter and all he did was blast a Steve Lagomarsino gopher ball over the center field fence.

Five hits and a base on balls off Reliefer Al Richardson scored four Driller tallies in the eighth.
Singles by Joe Niedson, Bob Brown and Popeye Carerra plus a base on balls to Mart Dooley and a double by Ed Bucynski provided for the four Vernon runs in the fourth.

Rodriguez was in trouble from the start of the game to the finish, but his offensive mates provided more than enough margin in whittling out 15 hits and capitalizing on the pair of Duster miscues.

The score: R H E
Artesia 14 141 14 15 2
Vernon 9 61 49 13 2
Rodriguez and Briner; Lagomarsino, Richardson and Niedson.

Boros Sacks Up $25,000 'World' Cash

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO—(AP)—Golf's Golden August visit by Santa Claus in the person of promoter George S. May could be bigger and better next year than his $120,000 Tam O'Shanter show just closed.

That should be good news to the likes of U. S. Open Champion Julius Boros and the golfing dentist, Gary Middlecoff, who Monday settled for a record $25,000 and $12,500 respectively in a playoff for May's "world championship of golf."

May said he has dates reserved with the PGA next year for his annual Tam O'Shanter carnival and has in mind an even greater jackpot than he paid in the dovelailed $80,000 "World" the last two weeks.

Plans Higher Ante
May plans to increase the $25,000 World first prize and the $12,500 top mpolin in the All-American. He may even arrange regional playoffs to bring a larger field to the combined meets.

There were reports that Boros, who rallied furiously for his two-stroke, four-under-par 68 playoff victory, and the vanquished Middlecoff had an under-the-table deal to split the World $25,000 first and $12,500 second prizes.

That would have given each $12,500 and the word was out that they had arranged to settle the taxes on the entire $37,500 swag.

But the two players and the PGA denied such a maneuver. The PGA's freshest money-winning list had Boros in front with $24,332, based on a $25,000 first "World" prize and Middlecoff second with $27,739, pegged on second "World" money of $13,500.

Boros, performing much like he did in his surprise U. S. Open triumph, came out of sand traps in brilliant style to whip Middlecoff on the last four holes Monday.

Red-Hot Dukes Win But Can Not Gain On Pioneers

By The Associated Press
You'd think Albuquerque had big travel plans the way the Dukes are winning in the West Texas-New Mexico League these days.

They hiked their average considerably Monday night with a 4-1 win over Lamesa, their tenth success in 11 starts, but even the Dukes must wonder where they can go.

As Albuquerque won, so did Clovis, and the Pioneers predicted that 18-game first-place margin. Abilene was the league-leader's victim, 4-1.

Pampa went the farthest in its round of action, beating Amarillo, 5-4 and 6-2, in a twin bill and advancing from last to sixth in the underling standings.

Borger fell to last in the fashion of cellar-dwellers — errors. Two Clovis miscues figured most in Lubbock's 5-4 victory.

Hitting Lags, But Fielding Marks High In Texas League

DALLAS—(AP)—This definitely is not a hitting year in the Texas League.

As the season rolls past the three-quarters mark there is no indication that any kind of offensive record will be set. W. B. Rugles, league statistician, said Tuesday.

But all sorts of defensive marks are likely, with Fort Worth's infield featured.

Houston may set a new mark for fewest hits per club. The Buffs had 894 at three-quarters. The league record is 1,086 for 152 games in 1920 by Galveston. There are 161 games this season.

Houston also has the lowest club batting mark—218. The record low until this year was 226 set by Galveston in 1920.

Plenty of records in fielding are due. Fort Worth had only 113 errors in 125 games, with an average of .976. The record was 973 set by San Antonio in 1924 with 160 errors.

John Gray, Beaumont pitcher might break the record of issuing walks set by Bill Bailey of Beaumont in 1919. Bailey gave up 155 bases on balls. Gray had 103 at the three-quarter period.

Vern Kennedy of Oklahoma City likely to hang up the second best record for finishing games. He had 29 August 8. The record is 47 set by Eddie Marleau of Dallas in 1942 and the next best is 25 made by Ash Hillip of Oklahoma City in 1937. Al Gerhauser of Oklahoma City had been in 43 games at that date and might beat Marleau's record of 67 set in 1942.

Fort Worth's Shortstop Bill Hunter appears on the way to a record for the best fielding average at his position. At three-quarters Hunter had .968. The record is .985 set by Arch Tanner of Waco in 1915. Hunt-

Texas Hurls Diego Marines To Crown

The win gave the depot the All-U. S. Marine Corps baseball championship, after a three-game playoff.

SPORTS NOTES

from the BENCH JOCKEY

By BOB ADAMS

The City of Midland deserves a word of praise for the work which it has performed on the Little League field at the corner of Carter and Johnson Streets in an effort to get it in shape for the Little League sectional playoffs, which start here Wednesday.

The city has been dragging the field, watering it and erecting temporary bleachers on the spot this week.

Since the Little League games always attract a great deal of interest among Midland sports fans, we asked John Redfern, commissioner of Junior Baseball in Midland, why they were not held in Midland Indian Park, where a large group of fans could be accommodated.

And, as usual, John has a ready answer. He says the pitcher's mound, and the infield in general, would not be the same caliber of that on which the boys are accustomed to playing.

By that we certainly don't mean that it does not measure up to the standards to which they have been accustomed. Quite to the contrary. For example, they are not used to playing on infield grass. And with tennis shoes on instead of spikes, playing on the grass would be a little difficult.

Just prior to the opening ceremonies for the start of sectional play in the Little League games here, a trophy will be presented to R. M. Hillin and E. L. Smith, who managed the Midland team which won the sectional playoffs last year.

Belated presentation of the trophy to the Midland team caused John Redfern to quip: "At least Midland is assured of winning one trophy this year."

Stan Coker, an all-state tackle with the Midland Bulldogs last year, hardly had a chance to catch his breath following the recent North-South All-Star game in Fort Worth over the weekend before he left for another bowl game.

Stan has been invited to participate in the Greenbelt Bowl at Childress Friday. So he left Fort Worth, without returning home, for Childress, where he will go through workouts.

And if that isn't enough to make him bowl happy, he is to participate in the Oil Bowl game, featuring high school stars from Texas and Oklahoma, on August 22 in Wichita Falls.

But there's one thing about it. When big Coker opens up football drills with the Baylor Bears this fall, he should be in pretty fair shape.

We've tried and tried to finagle some tickets for fans here to the Philadelphia Eagles-Dallas Texans professional football game August 29 in Odessa.

But so far, no luck. We suggested to Spec Gammon, sports editor of the Odessa American, that they could sell a batch of tickets to the game if they would place some of them on sale here.

Spec agreed and called Shrine Club members in Odessa to see if they would send some over to the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Spec said Shrine members were willing but so far no tickets have been received. Looks to us—if they want a sellout crowd, they would give Midlanders a shot at the tickets.

Softball Playoffs Reach Showdown Stage Tuesday

With their backs to the wall, Standard of Texas and Humble must pull out victories in the Midland JayCee Softball League playoffs Tuesday night in order to stay in the running for the city championship and a third place consolation spot in that order.

In the battle for the City softball title, Standard, winner in the league during regular season play, has won only one game while dropping two in the final playoffs with Western Plastic.

Ditto for Humble, which is battling for the third-place spot or consolation honors in the meet. Humble has fared the same way as Standard, winning only one contest while dropping two to Reddusvous.

However, Standard has an ace in the hole in the person of Right-hander Milt Montgomery who is unbeaten so far this season, marking up 15 wins against no losses. In an effort to close out the series and take the crown, Western Plastic will probably counter with Lefty Martin (8-2).

In the event Martin does not start, Western Plastic probably will call on Jack Dunlap (10-2) to win the title for them.

In the nightcap, Rendevous will attempt to wrap up third place in the meet by sending Jack Smith (6-5) to the mound. Humble will try to even the series by using John O'Donohoe (6-2) on the hill.

If the winners are determined Tuesday night, trophies will be presented to the victors by Mayor Perry Pickett. However, if another game is necessary to determine the winners, the trophies will be presented Wednesday night.

Twenty-seven varsity and 14 freshman awards were given to participants in Spring sports at the University of Wyoming.

Kentucky's Cagers Feel SEC's Wrath

By KYLE VANCE
BIRMINGHAM, ALA. —

(AP)—Kentucky, a temporary outcast from the conference its basketball forces ruled with an iron fist, tackled the project of filling 14 open dates on its cage slate Tuesday.

Monday's one-year suspension from the Southeastern Conference, an unprecedented penalty levied for the school's laxity in administering its sports program, left Kentucky with only 10 games on its hardwood schedule.

In addition, the SEC ruled that two football players were ineligible for future participation and fined Kentucky $500 for each of them.

The basketball suspension was ordered by the SEC Executive Committee. It means Kentucky can play no conference school for the duration of the suspension, but leaves the Wildcats free to play any school outside the conference.

More Stale Brewing
In this connection, however, the SEC dropped a hint that Kentucky might have to rule on the eligibility of one or more basketball players before they would be accepted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It said Kentucky's suspension was for "violation of rules and regulations" of the SEC. Only eligibility rules appear strong enough to stand behind a suspension.

This was taken as an indication Kentucky must remove the players who caused the suspension before it can meet outside teams belonging to the NCAA. Already on its tentative schedule outside the SEC are St. Louis, Minnesota, Notre Dame, DePaul and Xavier.

On the heels of the Executive Committee's announcement, SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore announced he was ruling two football players ineligible for further athletic participation.

They are Gene Donaldson, tagged by Coach Paul Bryant as a "great" prospect and listed prominently for all-American consideration, and Chester Chet Lukawski. Both are guards and both are from East Chicago, Ind.

Moore said Donaldson received aid over and above a Southeastern Conference scholarship. Lukawski, he said, received a cash inducement before entering Kentucky.

No Appeal Planned
Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Kentucky, said the school would not attempt to defend the Lukawski case, although it was unaware the player was paid to enroll. But in the Donaldson case, he said, the big guard was guilty of no more than accepting spare time employment that netted him less than $200 in 2 1/2 years.

Donovan and Dean A. D. Kirvan, Kentucky faculty adviser in athletics, termed the Executive Committee's punishment excessive but said they will not appeal it to the conference as a whole.

The rulings by the committee and by Moore were based on findings uncovered by an investigation conducted by Moore last May. Kentucky asked to be investigated after New York Judge Saul Street criticized what he termed "highly commercialized and systematized" athletic operations at Kentucky.

ARMY BOUND—Pat Waters, pitcher-outfielder for the Midland Indians, will leave this week for Los Angeles, Calif., where he will be inducted into the Army on August 15. Waters pitched very little for the Tribe but was considered a good pinch hitter.

THE COURSE, THE CHAMPION AND THE CUP—Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., defends the United States Amateur Championship through the evergreen trees and over the rolling Seattle Golf Club course. (NEA)

COE SEEN AS PLAYER TO BEAT— Maxwell To Defend Amateur Golf Championship On Seattle Course

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SEATTLE, WASH.—Given a rich hemispheric flavor by seven-man teams from Canada and Mexico, the 52nd United States Amateur Championship will be decided over the evergreen tree-lined Seattle Golf Club course, August 18-23.

The visitors compete in a pre-tournament, three-way first match for The American Cup, with the American side captained by string-bean Charley Coe.

Coe, the Oklahoma City oil lease man, is considered the one to beat in the Amateur, by the way, drawing favoritism because of his superior control of the ball. He bounced down in front at Rochester's Oak Hill in 1949, won the Trans-Mississippi in Denver last month.

Billy Maxwell, the North Texas State collegian with the compact swing, is the defending champion. A total of 1,012 golfers bid for 175 places in sectional qualifying rounds. An additional 25 were exempt.

Good For Match Play
Seattle's 6,832-yard, par 71 inviting scenic layout would be on the short side for stroke competition, but is fine for the match play of the Amateur. Six 18-hole rounds precede the 36-hole semi-finals and final.

This beautiful course is neither too flat nor too hilly. It is well trapped, with thick, lush fairways and the putting surfaces are excellent.

The first nine measures 3,177 yards, with a par of 36, contains only one par 5 of 616 yards. The second nine is 3,455 yards, with a par of 36, and has two par 5's of 563 and 480.

The player usually finds himself either above or below the ball, playing a downhill or uphill lie. The course, therefore, requires more skill than most. It starts fairly easy, but the last nine is difficult.

The fairways have been narrowed and shaped, additional traps to catch stray shots from the tees added, as well as a considerable number around the greens. Four holes were either changed in length or completely redesigned.

Because of the general layout and its rolling nature, it is possible for large galleries to watch with a minimum of walking.

America's team in The American Cup was selected because it was considered strongest, so the Amateur champion could well come out of the matches. The members are, in addition to Coe and Maxwell, Harvie Ward, Jr., Sam Urechia, Frank Stranahan, Joe Gagliardi and Ken Venturi, California amateur champion, Billy Campbell of last year's Walker Cup team is first alternate.

Ward won this year's British Amateur. Gagliardi was runner-up in the Amateur of a year ago, during which the Larchmont, N. Y., shotmaker repelled the last two previous titleholders, Coe and Urechia.

Two familiar faces will be missing—those of Dick Chapman and Willie Turnesa.

Other stout contenders are Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga.; Wichita's Jim Vicars; National collegiate champion; Los Angeles' McGregor Hunter; and three who know how the course's grass bends—the veterans Harry Givan of the home club and Jack Westland, now playing out of nearby Everett, and Spokane's young Al Mengert.

But it doesn't take a Frank Stranahan to tell you that it's a lot easier for anything to happen at match play.

TIME IS NOW FOR LITTLE MIRACLE OF 1952— Giants Reel In The Wake Of Dodgers

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

The time is now for the little miracle of 1952.

Dawn of this fateful day—August 12—again finds the bewildered New York Giants, rocking and reeling, far in the wake of the front-running Brooklyn.

Once more the pennant is being conceded to the Dodgers' booming home run power. Once more the Giant cause is a forlorn hope and a prayer.

Nine games back—instead of 13 or 13 1/2 as they were last year—the Giants show no signs of an August-September drive such as thrilled the nation in '51.

But there was little hope a year ago, either. No signs that the Giants were about to take off on a 16-game win streak.

Maglie Ailing
Sal Maglie is ailing. Willie Mays is in the Army. Monte Irvin still is below par. Larry Jansen isn't winning. The outlook for another miracle is even darker than last year.

A freak of the schedule—or is it fate?—brings the Giants to Brooklyn Tuesday night for a three-game series. A sweep for the Giants is almost a must. Two out of three by the Brooks would open up a 10-game lead with less than 50 to go.

The Brooks come into the big series with all guns booming. Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson hammered home runs Monday night in a big six-run rally in the sixth inning at Philadelphia to earn an even break for the night.

Robin Roberts pitched the Phils to a 7-3 victory in the first half of a two-night doubleheader for his eighteenth win. The Phils were out front in the second game, too, on Bill Nicholson's three-run pinch homer in the fifth until the Dodger homer barrage started. When it was over, Brooklyn had the second game in the bag, 9-5.

Double disaster was the story for the Giants in Boston, where they followed two shutout defeats with a doubleheader loss to the sixth-place Braves, 11-10 and 4-2.

Shoddy relief pitching lost the first with New York blowing a 10-7 lead while the Braves rallied for four in the eighth.

Lew Burdette held the Giants to five hits in the second game.

St. Louis also lost ground to Brooklyn while absorbing a 10-2 pasting by the Chicago Cubs.

Allie Reynolds' two-hit shutout and 150th major league victory was the big news in the American League as the New York Yankees blanked

Boston, 7-0, opening up a two and one-half-game lead on idle Cleveland. Mickey Mantle hit his seventeenth and eighteenth homers plus a double in the attack on Sid Hudson and two successors.

Cleveland and Detroit were rained out. So were St. Louis and Chicago in the American.

Washington split two with Philadelphia, the Senators taking the first, 6-5, and dropping the other, 2-1.

In the remaining big league game, Cincinnati drove Pittsburgh even deeper in to the National League cellar with a 10-4 romp. Winner Herm Wehmeier and Ted Kluszewski hit home runs for Cincy.

Selections Due August On Top Longhorn Players

ABILENE.—P.—The Longhorn League's most valuable player, rookie of the year and all-star team will be announced August 31, league president Hal Sayles has announced.

Ballots for the selections are in the mail to the circuit's managers, sports writers and spectators.

Several of the clubs are planning an awards night the final week of the season at which time players receiving league recognition will be honored.

Rookie of the year award has been made annually since 1949. Kenny Jones, Midland catcher, was the No. 1 freshman of that season. Al Sokolowski, Odessa pitcher, took the honors in 1950, and Robby West, Rowell outfielder, was the top rookie of 1951.

The most valuable player award is being made for the first time.

Dallas Eagles Regain Loop Lead As Fort Worth Slides

By The Associated Press

San Antonio topped off a doubleheader with a 19-inning victory, a solo homer in the fifteenth won for Dallas. Johnny (Double-Up) Vander Meer tried his second straight shutout, and Fort Worth lost a doubleheader Monday.

Dallas' win put the Eagles up front by a game and a half over Fort Worth.

San Antonio, after dropping a first game to Oklahoma City, 6-2, cast aside its players' hour-scale cards and sent them into the finale of their doubleheader, to win at 2:10 a.m., 5-4, in the longest game of the loop this year.

Just as notable among the marathons was Dallas' 2-1 win over

Shreveport in which Jim Willis of the Sports gave up a run in the ninth on a miffed double play try and stayed around to see his efforts lost by non-support.

Tulsa won easily, 7-0, over Houston as Vander Meer doled up but six hits.

Vander Meer, who shut out Beaumont, 4-0, in his last try, ran his scoreless innings to 29.

Fort Worth's double loss, 1-0 and 5-2, to Beaumont knocked the Cats out of the first place tie with Dallas that had lasted five days.

Four-State Little League Champions Meet In Natchez

NATCHEZ, MISS.—P.—The Texas champion Little League baseball team opens play here tonight with three other state titlists for the Championship of Section 1 of Region 7.

Silber, Texas, meets Little Rock, Arkansas, in a game at 8:30 p.m. In the other game, Natchez plays Alexandria, La.

The championship game will be played at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The champion goes to Longview Texas, next week for the regional tournament.

Texas League Lags In Paid Admissions

DALLAS.—P.—The Texas League lagged in attendance for the three-quarters period, League Secretary Milton Price announced Tuesday. Paid admissions this season have totaled 976,197 which is 13,692 behind the same period last year.

In average attendance, however, there is only four per game difference.

The three-quarters attendance for the two years:

Club	1951	1952
Beaumont	79,408	83,529
Dallas	173,511	192,264
Fort Worth	105,332	133,269
Houston	246,313	162,803
Oklahoma City	80,127	99,299
San Antonio	128,532	81,994
Shreveport	65,376	106,506
Tulsa	11,280	116,894

Eddie Stanky Gives, Takes With Cards

ST. LOUIS.—(NEA)—Cardinal players attribute Eddie Stanky's learning how to manage the way he played—to the hill—as a major reason for their showing.

"He learned how to manage fast, and that has given us a big lift," declared one Red Bird.

"We get along great with him. 'Stanky' gives us the devil, we slap back and nobody feels hurt."

"Solly Hemus let a runner slide back into the base safely after we had him trapped in Brooklyn. In the clubhouse later, Eddie jumped him.

"What were you trying to do, put on a television act? Eddie cried.

"Don't give me the television act stuff," snapped Solly. What were you doing out there on that coaching line? Walking in and out of the box like crazy, yelling at the umpires, and waving your hands. I guess you didn't know those cameras were on you, too."

"So Eddie grins and Solly grins back, and that's the way our club is run."

Sears and Turner In Twelfth Season

HERSHEY, PA.—(NEA)—Vic Spears is stepping around like a recruit at the Eagles' training camp at Hershey.

Sears is starting his 12th season with the Philadelphia professionals. Only one other lineman, the Bear's Bulldog Turner, has had as many campaigns of active work in the National League. They are outranked in point of service by only Sammy Baugh, but where the Redskins' passing quarterback is protected, Sears, a tackle, and Turner, a center, take a beating.

Sears work is all done inside where it counts but is seldom appreciated by the fans.

Tiger Mascot's Eyes Bigger Than Stomach

STOCKTON, CALIF.—(NEA)—Tommy Tiger, a familiar face at College of Pacific, will be seen no more.

The tiger mascot, acquired by Pacific because he was too vicious for a circus to train, died of a convulsion after swallowing a steak whole. He was stabbed by a sharp bone.

Law Bostick, new head line coach at Tulane University, is a former star griddler for the University of Alabama.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—(P)—Jordan Oliver, who joined the staff only a few months ago, was named Monday as Yale's acting head football coach. He succeeds Herman Hickman.

Hickman, one of the nation's best known coaches, quit for private business.

The naming of Oliver and the resignation of Hickman, who had eight years to go on a 10-year appointment, came as a big surprise.

Hickman took a public relations job with the General Cigar Company of New York. He also promised to help Oliver, when time permits, as a consultant and scout.

Oliver was appointed acting head football coach for the 1953 season only. But, it was believed to be only a technicality, depending on how the squad he inherits from Hickman performs.

Probably not as well known nationally as Hickman, the 37-year-old, six-foot-four Oliver is rated high within the football coaching fraternity. His experience includes six years at Villanova, where he also captained the team as a senior, and three years at Loyola of Los Angeles.

Oliver, whose home is at Inglewood, Calif., was reported heading for New Haven to meet with Hickman and other members of the staff later this week.

Hickman and Bob Hall, Yale's athletic director, are somewhere on Cape Cod, Mass., on a fishing trip. They left Sunday night before the announcements were made public, but not before preparing statements.

"We feel fortunate," said Hall, "that Herman had such a capable assistant as Jordan Oliver. He has been a head coach for more than 10 years and is extremely well-qualified for his new duties."

Said Hickman: "My decision has been reached only after a tremendous amount of deliberation."

Reported Hall about Hickman's resignation: "The University accepted Hickman's resignation with deep regret and great reluctance."

Hickman came to Yale from West Point in 1948. His teams here won 16 games, lost 18 and tied two.

Just to prove that your best deal is with KEY, WILSON & MAXSON, this home is priced at the low $9,990. FHA financing.

Near the high school. Two large bedrooms (one is 15 feet in length and the other is 18), 18x21 living room, newly tiled bath, nice kitchen off the breezeway, and separate breakfast room with bay window. Attached garage, large elevated patio overlooking rear yard, which is completely fenced. Furnace heating, oak floors, and owners are leaving you their BENDIX washer. This home is another KWM SPECIAL. Midland Girl Explains How Courage Helps Defeat Polio

Lahoma Gardner

By ROBERT MOORE

"Polio can be licked," says Miss Lahoma Gardner, 118 East Parker Street, "but you've got to fight to do it."

The attractive 21 year old girl has first hand knowledge on the subject, as she is nearing victory in a two-year battle to give the dreaded malady the knock-out punch.

At first completely paralyzed by the disease, Miss Gardner has progressed by will-power and scientific treatment to the point where she will be able to walk again within a few months.

Miss Gardner admits that she didn't have always her cheerful, courageous outlook toward recovery.

"The first month was the hardest," she says. "I was at the age where boys and good times had a particular appeal and I had always enjoyed the best of health."

Just graduated from high school in Pennsylvania, she was visiting a brother, B. W. Gardner in Johnson City, Tenn., when she was suddenly stricken with the disease.

Sees Hard Fight

"At first, I just couldn't realize what had happened to me," she said. "When I did realize that I was completely paralyzed with exception of my vocal cords, I was downhearted for about a month."

"After about a month, I began to realize that if I was to ever walk again, I would have to fight and fight hard to do it," she said.

It was a slow road back to recovery at first for the young polio victim.

Having enjoyed singing since an early age, she started her miraculous comeback to health by attempting to sing again.

"At first it sounded more like a hen a squawking," she said, "but gradually the muscles of my throat began to loosen and I could sing again," she said.

At Duke University Hospital in Durham, N. C., where she received her initial treatment, Miss Gardner found life pleasant, despite being crippled with polio.

"The young internes would push me around the grounds, and what girl wouldn't enjoy having young men pay her such attention," she said.

After three months of hospitalization, Miss Gardner was permitted to return to her brother's home, where it was a matter of "therapy treatments and more therapy treatments."

To keep her morale high and to occupy the time, Miss Gardner took up a host of other hobbies in addition to her music, such as sewing.

Insurance On Cars Of Servicemen Said Cause Of 'Distress'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The problem of car insurance for young servicemen is causing at least some underwriters "unmitigated distress," says the National Underwriter magazine.

"The current issue says a division of the military risk "would produce a very favorable insurance rate for officers and noncommissioned officers, and an astounding and prohibitive rate for the single serviceman under age 25."

It gives these reasons for the high accident rate among the younger servicemen:

1. Residence away from home and beyond parental restraint.
2. An "almost universal practice especially on the part of buck privates, of renting their cars out so that these automobiles are getting the hardest kind of treatment."
3. Formation in groups which go off on an 800-mile or 900-mile weekend jaunt and try to come back Sunday night.
4. A devil-may-care attitude among some of the men and, often a "free consumption of liquor."

House Of Carpets Seeking Unusual In Floor Coverings

A nation-wide search is being made by the House of Carpets of Midland to bring unusual floor coverings to the West Texas area.
Felix Welnsaker recently returned from a buying trip to the Southern and Northern markets, and Mrs. Winifred Deal is presently in Hawaii on one lap of a search for things which are different, new and better in household furnishings.

As a result, the House of Carpets has new and different carpets and draperies to offer its customers in addition to the regular lines of merchandise.
For instance, the House of Carpets now has the new miracle man-made fibers, such as Du Ponts Fiber E, which will outlive wool and is easier to keep clean. These fibers have a beautiful, lustrous appearance.
Also available are new grass and fiber rugs, which are inexpensive and highly decorative.

The House of Carpets has many types of home spun handloomed carpets and rugs that make beautiful companion pieces for Early American furniture.
Braided rugs also are available. A customer may select his own colors and design, and the rug will be braided to his specifications at no extra charge.

Specialty items to be found at the House of Carpets include bamboo draperies, shades and screens. These items are rapidly increasing in popularity all over the country, and are available in any color to match any wall or trim colors.
Located at 1502 North Lamesa Road, out of the crowded downtown area, parking space is plentiful and you may shop at leisure in air-conditioned comfort at the House of Carpets.

Martin 'Promoted' To FBI List Of 10 Most Wanted Men
WASHINGTON —(AP)—William Merle Martin, 42, of Joplin, Mo., sought for the killing of a Kansas deputy sheriff last June 23, was put on the FBI's list of "ten most wanted men" Monday.
The FBI described Martin as an expert housebreaker and car thief. It said he possibly is heavily armed, and is believed to be traveling with a woman, companion, red-haired like himself.
Martin has an arrest record in Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, and Oklahoma dating back more than 20 years.
Martin, once known as "the pillow case burglar" because he usually took a pillow case from the home he was rifling in which to carry away the loot, is blue-eyed and of medium build. He has bullet scars on the left arm and leg and on his abdomen.
Martin was added to the "most wanted" list as a replacement for Gerhard A. Puff, who shot and killed FBI Agent Joseph Brock in New York City two weeks ago when agents captured him to answer charges of bank robbery in Kansas.

The National Geographic Society claims Napoleon once told his brother Joseph: "If we are forced to flee to America, I should choose a place between Philadelphia and New York and on the Delaware River, in order to get news by packet."

'Call Me Madam' Merman Eyes Permanent Switch To Movies

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—There can be no doubt that Ethel Merman is back at work in the movies after a 12-year absence. Her voice can be heard all over the 20th Century-Fox lot.
That's when she's speaking, of course. When she's singing, it's reported she can be heard in Santa Monica.
I needed no sound device to follow her voice to the stage where she was testing for the screen version of her Broadway hit, "Call Me Madam." When I arrived, it appeared that the studio was taking good care of Ethel. There were about two dozen well-paid workers on the set, ready to make a test of her hairdo. Quite a difference from when she was there last for "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in 1938.
"I didn't come into the picture until it was half over," she recalled. But she was glowing about doing "Call Me Madam."
"I'm certainly happy they saw fit to let me do it," she remarked. "I think it's going to be a lot of fun. The cast (George Sanders, Vera-Elton, Donald O'Connor) is great, and the director, Walter Lang, is my dream boy."
Will this mean more movies for Merman?
"Could be. About seven months ago, I was offered a Broadway show for the spring of 1953. I turned it down because I couldn't see that far into the future. I don't know what I'll be doing next."
Her film producer, Sol Siegel, predicts she'll open a whole new career for herself in the movies.
"When she was in pictures before, she was competing with other movie actresses," he told me. "Now I think she can carve a niche all by herself. She's the great; there's no reason why studios can't find pictures for a mature woman of her immense talent."
The selection of Merman for this role was "something of a novelty," by Hollywood standards. Her long list of hit musicals has always fallen to other stars for the film versions.

Polio Fight—

painting, photography, writing letters and attending shows.

In March, 1951, she moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner, to Midland. With her health recovered enough for her to walk with the aid of crutches, she worked part-time as a book-keeper for the Book Stall.
Completely recovered, with exception of the use of her ankles, Miss Gardner had an operation performed on her right ankle recently and will have another operation on her left ankle, which are expected to enable her to walk again.
Presently confined to a wheel chair with a cast on her right ankle, Miss Gardner remains active. One afternoon this week she visited at the home of the nurse she had while at Midland Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Vester Dowell. Mrs. Dowell, who volunteers her services to assist polio victims, and Miss Gardner spent a pleasant afternoon sewing and "mostly talking."
While determination is the most important thing in a successful bout with polio, Miss Gardner says she couldn't have done it without the help of trained medical personnel and financial assistance from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.
Vitality interested in helping other young polio victims overcome the disease, Miss Gardner urges them not to be ashamed if they have a paralyzed limb.
"If people stare at you, just stare right back at them," she says.
Miss Gardner, however, doesn't have much time to do any staring as she keeps busy with her hobbies and making plans to attend college when she can walk again.

Rawther Cruel Chaps Heah, To Choke The Little Blokes

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Usually cheery British seamen were maintaining a bitter, stony silence Tuesday because the Baltimore Health Department has snuffed out the lives of 11 pet parakeets.
The health officers were acting under terms of a municipal law to protect local citizens from petaloes, or parrot fever.
The choleraform treatment for the colorful birds was hard for the officers and crew of the Manly to take. They'd bought their pets in India four months ago and were told by American pet shops the parakeets would be allowed in ports as long as they remained aboard the ship.
This, they said, proved true in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk. But not in Baltimore.
The law prohibits alien parrots and their cousins, the parakeets, from entering port here. It also calls for destruction of such show-aways and a possible $50 fine, which was not levied against the seamen.

Top Lady Leatherneck Figures Females Fit Fine In Uniforms

By BELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK—(AP)—Katherine Towle is one of those women who make you look twice, even when the bride is hanging on your arm.
She is tall, slim, grey-haired and handsome. Her eyes are a cool blue, cool and appraising. Being feminine to her finger tips, she seldom mentions her several university degrees, nor what she has been doing the past seven or eight years.
In large part, this has been to act as a walking advertisement for the Marines.
She is a colonel in the corps, director of the women Marines. They announced the other day that she will retire next year to become the dean of women at the University of California. That's her alma mater. She comes from Towle, Calif., a town founded by her grandfather.
"Kay," as they call her out there, was up to her eyebrows in literature 10 years ago when our share of the war was getting under way.
The Marines needed women, and she went in.
Five years later, they put eagles on her shoulders. The new colonel was feeling pretty good about those chicken wings until a certain day in an elevator. A dear little old lady peered at the emblems and said:
"No Bird-Watcher
"I suppose that means you're a member of one of the bird-watchers societies. How nice! I just love birds, myself."
Well, the colonel doesn't take herself very seriously, but even though she is returning to her own chosen field, she is still sold on the armed services as a career for women.
There are 2,500 women Marines now. Their equivalent of "boot camp" lasts six weeks and then they go on to greener fields. They have some latitude of choice.
It's amazing what those six weeks do for a girl.
Their day starts at 6 a.m. and brother, for the next 14 hours, they

Airmail Anniversary Shows Boost In Midland Volume

Within the last two years, the volume of both incoming and outgoing airmail has shown a tremendous increase at the Midland Post Office.
In June, 1950, only 1,400 pouches—amounting to 1,377 pounds—were dispatched from the Midland Post Office as compared with 1,813 pouches, for a total of 5,826 pounds, in July of this year.
Incoming airmail has shown a 50 to 60 per cent increase within the last two years, post office officials said.
The jump in airmail volume was attributed by post office officials to increased oil industry activity.
The thirty-fourth anniversary of the official establishment of airmail under the Post Office Department was being observed Tuesday.

Korean Truce Talks Seem Dying Slow, Certain Death

By SAM SUMMERLIN
MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The Korean truce talks may be on their deathbed.
They seem paralyzed. They show symptoms of dying a slow, distressing death—on the doorstep of success.
After one year of negotiating, war prisoner exchange is the only issue blocking the path to peace. But there seems no solution to this question which can satisfy both belligerents.
The UN and Communist delegates have met only twice in two weeks. They have talked exactly one hour and twenty-four minutes in the last 17 days.
The negotiators have called another week-long recess. For seven more days, the truce teams will bide their time at Munsan and Kaesong as the war flames on.
Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, top UN delegate, Monday tersely told the Communists: "There seems nothing to discuss."
"There is no way," Harrison explained, "in which we can change our position." And, he added, the Allied stand "cannot be reconciled" with the Communist demands.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, demands the allies return 118,000 prisoners in UN stockades. He says this number must include all 20,000 Chinese soldiers in captivity.
But Harrison says "no" and he adds "never."
The UN Command offers to return 28,000 men, including 4,000 Chinese. The rest have renounced Communism, and the Allies staunchly refuse to force them back at bayonet-point.

Oil Bowl Invites Scribes To Reunion

They will be invited to attend a meeting August 21 and the Oil Bowl Football Game the next night.
It was here in August of 1944, during the Texas Coaching School, the association was formed. It was perfected later with Weldon Hart as president and Harold V. Ratliff secretary. Pate Powell, Hal Sayles, Mack Turner and several others attended the first meeting.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Broken Sword

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, was digging in the sand by the Whispering River when what should he find but a broken sword. The sword still had a cross-piece for a handle, and the sword was broken only half-way down the blade.

Mugwump stood his shovel in the sand to take good care of it, because it was really Daddy Ringtail's shovel. Then Mugwump sat down on the sand to think about the sword he had found. He really had been digging for pirate treasure, play-like, but finding the sword was just as good.

Why, Mugwump guessed, that maybe the sword had once belonged to a pirate. It could have! Play-like it could have, anyway. And play-like once the pirate ship with great black sails came sailing up the river. And pirates were on the pirate ship, and a great chest of pirate treasure.

The pirates were coming to bury their treasure in the sand, except the pirates were fussing among themselves about where they ought to bury it. And they fussed and squabbled, and squabbled and fussed, until they quite forgot their reason for coming. All they remembered now was their fussing and squabbling.

Oh, some of the pirates were very good fussers; all right, and some were very good squabblers. And the fussers fussed with the squabblers, and the squabblers squabbled with the fussers, until the noise of the fussing and squabbling filled all the air for miles around.

At last the squabblers and fussers came out from their ship to the sand by the river where the chief of the squabblers was going to fight with the chief of the fussers. They did fight, and what a fight it was!

They fought with swords and a clatter-bang of swords clashing until one of the swords was broken right in the middle of the blade. That was the end of the fight, of course, because now it was time for supper.

And so the pirates left the broken sword right there in the sand for Mugwump to find it, but he would have to be going now because time for his own supper had come.

What fun to have thought of all the play-like things that might have happened with the broken sword. Oh, the sword was really only made of wood because Mugwump once had made it, he knew, but he didn't care, and I hope that that you don't either. Happy day!

OPENING POLITICAL MANEUVERS INDICATE— This Appears Year Of Pro Vs. Amateur

By DON WHITEHEAD
SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—This is the year of the amateur versus the pro in American politics.
This fact has been sharply defined in the opening maneuvers of the two presidential candidates—Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson.
In the Republican camp, Eisenhower—the amateur—has surrounded himself with professional politicians wise in the ways of running a national campaign.
In the Democratic camp, Stevenson—the professional—is gathering around him amateurs whose names are almost unknown on the national political scene.
Contrasts Sharp
This development is only one of a number of sharp contrasts in the manner in which Eisenhower and Stevenson have approached their widely different problems.
These contrasts point up the difference in personality, background, training and temperament of these their parties into the November election fight.

Let's take a look at Eisenhower's first days as a political campaigner: The retired general, early in June, shed his uniform and went back home to Abilene, Kan., to make his first major speech. The Abilene show, it is well known, was a disappointment to most of Eisenhower's supporters.
Eisenhower was disappointed too. So a few days later in Detroit he threw away his prepared speech and talked in the way he wanted to talk. Then he went on to Denver to open his headquarters at the Brown Palace Hotel.
There was an amateurish air around that early headquarters. There was no doubt among those watching that Eisenhower was feeling his way in a strange new world.
Eisenhower made it clear he was leaving the political maneuvering and strategy to men who had years of experience in this world to which he was a newcomer. He made it clear, too, that he was going to work through the regular Republican party organization.

Charm Exerts Self
To reporters, Eisenhower appeared to be at his best in small groups. Then the Eisenhower charm exerted itself.
On the other side, Stevenson has demonstrated he knows his way through the political forest. He has moved adroitly and with the precision of a smooth professional in familiar surroundings.
Stevenson's first speech accepting the Democratic nomination was hailed by his supporters as a literary gem. They thought it was so good that re-prints and rebroadcasts have been made.
The first move of importance Stevenson made was to shift control of his campaign from the Democratic National Committee. He named his own campaign manager—Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky.—and thus drew away from the old-line party leaders rather than moving toward them.

Then he succeeded in getting another "amateur"—Chicago lawyer Stephen Mitchell—approved as the new Democratic National Committee chairman. Again he took a firmer grasp on his own campaign maneuvers and strategy.
Education Needed
Unlike Eisenhower, Stevenson has the political adroitness to say "I don't know" in several ways. For example, when a reporter recently asked him a question on a technical point in the reciprocal trade program, his reply was not "I don't know"—but "I'll have to be educated on that."
It's a small point but it does reveal the difference in the political foot-work of the two at this early stage.
There is some doubt being voiced that the "amateurs" around Stevenson have enough experience for a national campaign. But Stevenson shows no sign of being worried about this.

Marauding Eagles Threaten Antelope Herds In Rockies

DEER LODGE, MONT. — (AP)—Golden eagles have been haunting a herd of antelope in Deer Lodge Valley, high in the Rockies.
"One entire herd of 135 antelope is spooked," says Deputy Game Warden Les Barton. "The animals are afraid of their own shadows."
One doe was seen steering her two fawns out of a grassy meadow and up a mountain side, where pine trees hide them from the beady-eyed "king of the air."
But now and then man helps the harassed antelope.
Marvin Pearce of Deer Lodge was out in the valley with his rifle recently when he saw an eagle circling in the sky.
Suddenly, the bird folded its wings and plunged to earth in one swift swoop. A few feet from the ground the eagle threw out its wings, breaking the dive, and stabbed its sharp talons into the back of an antelope fawn.
Pearce ran to his jeep and bounded away to the scene of the attack. He said he was 450 yards from the eagle when the bird took off. Despite the extreme range, Pearce took sight and fired.
With a flutter of feathers, the eagle fell.

Pearce brought both eagle and antelope home to show his friends.
Game Warden Barton says a study of the Deer Lodge antelope herd indicates eagles have been killing an average of one fawn a day since June 1.
Searchers are looking for the eagle's nest. Meanwhile an armed watch has been set up to protect the antelope from attack.

Survey Shows Negro Voters May Stay In Demos' Column

ATLANTA—(AP)—The Democratic Party can count on the continued loyalty of negro voters in the South in the November election despite some gains forecast for Republicans in Dixie.
Negro registration in 12 Southern states is estimated at 1,180,000 and a survey by The Associated Press indicates that negro leaders in those states look for a majority of the members of their race to vote for the Democratic ticket.
Since 1932 negroes in growing strength have voted Democratic and no great movement to the Republican party is expected this year even though some dissatisfaction has been expressed for the Democrats' civil rights plank and for Senator John J. Sparkman, their vice presidential candidate.
The personal popularity of General Eisenhower, the Republican standard bearer, in all likelihood will regain a segment of the southern negro vote for the GOP.
The Associated Press survey, however, showed that the Democrats could count on the negro vote in the South just as they have in the balloting that elected President Roosevelt and President Truman.
The Southern negro vote has never been a major factor at the polls and only in the case of an extremely close race could negroes decide the presidential vote in any Southern state in November. If such a close race should present itself, negro leaders—and white political observers, too—feel certain the decision would favor Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sparkman.
Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., New York congressman, and Executive Secretary Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have joined in declaring the Democrats stand to lose negro votes because of Sparkman and the party's stand on civil rights.

Powell, a Democrat, has accused "Uncle Toms" of selling out negroes at both Democratic and Republican conventions and has threatened to boycott the November election unless Stevenson and Sparkman take a forthright stand on civil rights.
On the other hand, A. T. Walden of Atlanta, negro attorney often described by Georgia politicians as controlling the state's negro vote, has urged members of his race to rally to the Democrats.
DENVER—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower chuckled heartily Sunday night when an attractive stewardess aboard his plane returning from New Mexico picked up enough courage to tell him her name.
She is Miss Dorothy Stevenson—last name the same as that of Eisenhower's Democratic opponent for the presidency, but no relation.
"I was going to put up my name plate when we started," Miss Stevenson told a reporter.
"But then I thought maybe I had better not."
Later, she chatted with the general and told him all about it.
"He got a big kick out of it," she grinned, "and I am going to vote for him."
