TWO SW Martin Wildcats Swabbing To Test Spraberry

Two Southwest Martin County wildcats are swabbing to test and try to complete from the Spraberry. So far neither has developed any possibilities of commercial production.

Blaind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Cowden, 10 miles northwest of Midland is testing on perforations at 8,500-9,000 feet and at 9,040-9,120 feet.

This prospector has drilled to a bottom of 13,308 feet in barren Etzinger. It plugged back and set 5 1/2-inch casing at 9,122 feet for the testing of the Spraberry.

Swabbing was still in progress at last report.

Location is 600 feet from south and 2,032 feet from west lines of section 30, block 40, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-C Schar, (Scharbauer), 15 miles southwest of Lenora, and 1,320 feet from south and 6,383 feet from east lines of league 324, LaSalle County School Land survey was testing on perforations at 8,010-120 feet and is swabbing to test.

It had drilled to a bottom of 9,006 feet and had plugged back to 8,190 feet and had set casing at that point for the Spraberry testing.

The zone being swabbed had some slight shows of oil when it was drilled through.

Tide Water To Dig Two Stepouts To Aldwell (Spraberry)

Tide Water Associated Oil Company has staked location for two wells from production in the well (Spraberry) field in Northeast Reagan County.

Tide Water No. 13-A J. F. Nunn, will be 600 feet from south and 1,600 feet from east lines of section 4, block B, L&SV survey.

Tide Water No. 14-A Nunn will be 600 feet from south and 1,800 feet from east lines of section 8, block B, L&SV survey.

Both are due to drill to 7,000 feet to test through the lower Spraberry.

Conoco Completes Ellenburger Oiler

Continental Oil Company has completed its No. 23-A J. M. Shannon as a new producer on the east side of the Elkhorn (Ellenburger) field in Northeast Crockett County.

The well reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,980 barrels of 28 gravity oil. The flow was through a 35/64th inch tubing choke.

There was no water and the gas-oil ratio was 487-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 650 pounds. There was a packer on the casing.

The production was from perforations at 7,144-7,245 feet in the 5 1/2-inch pipe which had been cemented at 7,415 feet.

The perforated zone had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

Location is 600 feet from north and 805 feet from east lines of section 22, block UV, GC&SF survey.

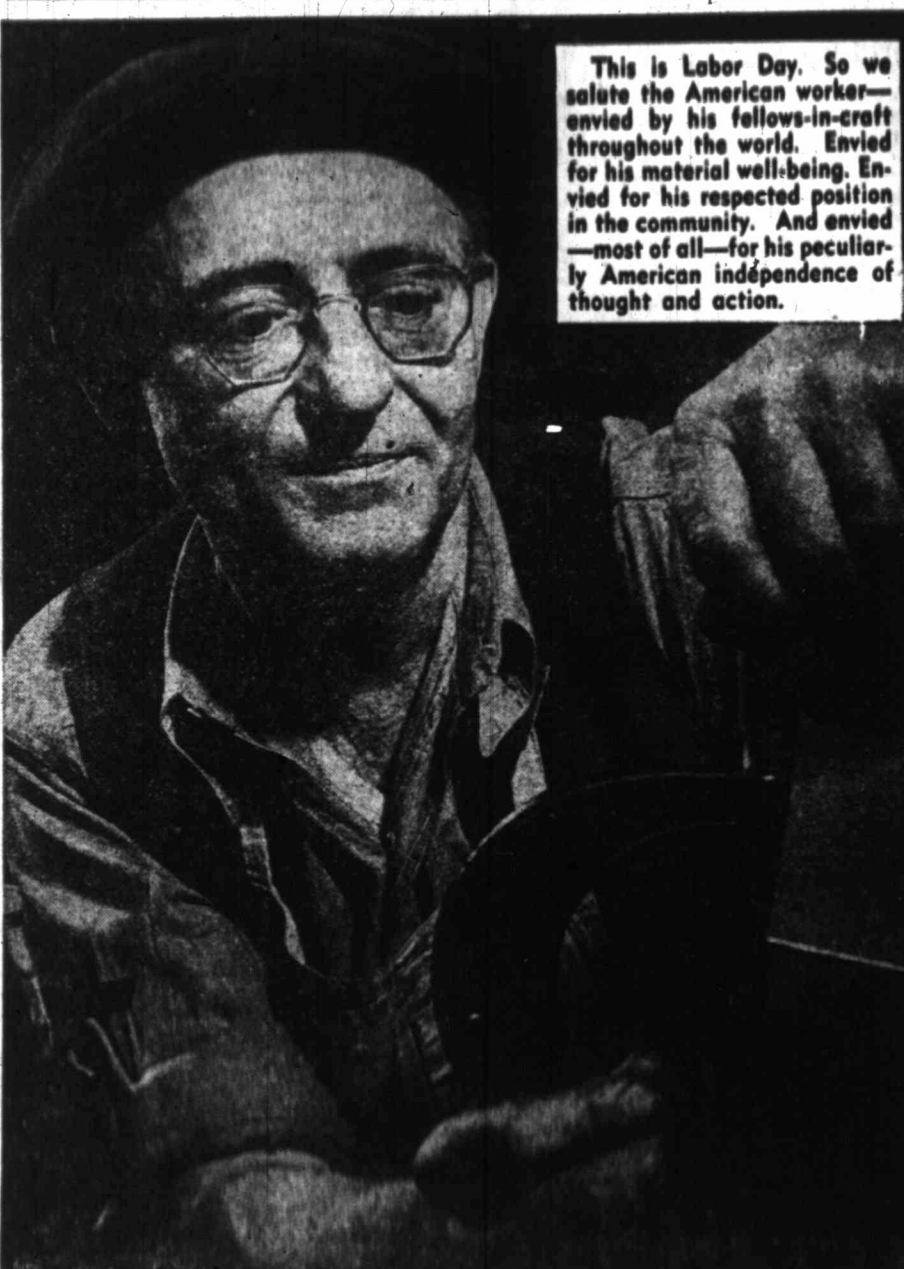

B&N Add New Oil Well To Spraberry Area In NW Reagan

The Blackwood & Nichols Company has completed its No. 1-B Malone as a flowing producer from the Spraberry on the southeast side of the Pembroke, North (Spraberry) field in Northwest Reagan County.

The well potential for a 24-hour oil yield of 473.04 barrels of 28 gravity oil, and no water, flowing through a one-half inch tubing choke.

The production came from open hole at 6,335-97 feet. The pay zone had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

Flowing tubing pressure was 130 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 797-1.

This is Labor Day. So we salute the American worker—envied by his fellows-in-craft throughout the world. Envied for his material well-being. Envied for his respected position in the community. And envied—most of all—for his peculiarly American independence of thought and action.

Politics Is Dominant Theme As Labor Celebrates Holiday

By The Associated Press

Top union leaders devoted their Labor Day talks Monday to exhorting the workers to take on a decisive role at the ballot boxes this November 4.

For millions of Americans it was a last fling at Summer fun—fishing, motoring, bathing, golfing, picnicking or just staying at home, in the hammock with a tall, cool drink, and listening to the political speeches.

For labor union chiefs it was an occasion to speak out on complicated world problems, soaring living costs and other troubles besetting workers on their traditional holiday.

But the main theme was the coming elections and the chance that worker voters have to elect a new President and new members of Congress as well as state, city and county officials.

"On this Labor Day," said AFL President William Green in his annual message, "I summon the eight million members of the American Federation of Labor to political action."

"America now is in the midst of a crucial political campaign, the outcome of which will affect our national security and the well-being of all of our citizens. The men and women of our labor movement cannot afford to be neutral in the face of this great challenge."

The AFL has steered clear of choosing between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate.

Speakers from the CIO, which already has endorsed Stevenson, generally called on workers to support the Democrats.

"American labor, on its annual holiday," said CIO President Philip Murray, "recognizes both the challenge of the future and the menace of the present. We pledge ourselves to build democracy's strength against the menace of military aggression, while constantly waging economic war on poverty."

In 1952, as free Americans, we shall go to the polls to determine the future course of our government policies.

U. S. Border Thrown Open To Mexican Cattle Imports

WASHINGTON—(P)—The United States Monday reopened its borders to Mexican cattle and other livestock and to fresh, frozen and chilled meats. They had been closed since December, 1946, because of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said Mexico now has been found free of the dread animal disease, thus making it safe again to import Mexican livestock without endangering this nation's multi-billion dollar meat and dairy industry.

Officials said they expect "a few hundred thousand" head of Mexican cattle to be imported during the coming 12 months. But most of them are likely to go to ranges and pastures for further feeding and fattening before they are slaughtered.

By comparison, this country is expected to slaughter upwards of 36 million head of its own cattle this year.

Lung Uplift Battle

Lifting of the embargo comes after a long, uphill battle to eradicate the disease—a battle in which the United States joined with the Mexican government. The cost to this country has been estimated at about 25 million dollars.

The U. S. still bars the importation of livestock or fresh, frozen or chilled meats from Canada. The Canadian border was closed early this year after the foot-and-mouth disease was discovered in a few herds there. The Canadian government has said, however, that the disease has been eradicated.

The Canadian embargo may be lifted by the end of the year, providing there is no new outbreak in the meantime.

'NORTHER' DUE TO COOL CITY

A cool front was due to hit Midland Monday afternoon, with a possibility of thundershowers and showers.

The mercury had tumbled to 67 degrees at Amarillo and 74 at Lubbock, as the first cool weather of the season moved south.

The cooler weather was expected to be accompanied by winds up to 25 miles an hour, Civil Aeronautics Administration observers reported here.

At 10:30 a.m. Monday, Midland Labor Day holiday were baking in 95 degree temperatures.

Midlanders Spend Quiet Labor Day

Midland is observing Labor Day quietly with two sports events heading a limited program.

Businesses joined government offices in closing Monday to file into Indian Park Monday afternoon for Play Day sponsored by the JayCees. The Indian-San Angelo baseball game is set at 9 p.m.

Eisenhower Aide Charges Job Pressure

NEW YORK—(P)—Senator Frank Carlson (R-Kan) accused a Kansas Democratic leader Monday of soliciting $100 campaign contributions from mail carriers with "a vicious threat" of loss of their jobs under a Republican administration.

The Kansas senator, one of Republican Presidential Nominee Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's political advisers, said Kenneth T. Anderson, Democratic national committeeman for Kansas, sent out a letter August 25 seeking donations from rural and other letter carriers in the state.

Carlson leveled the charge as a prelude to an Eisenhower speech at the annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

The general's Labor Day speaking date was the first of nine for a week that marks a critical point in the campaign of the Republican presidential nominee.

The speeches will tip off the direction the campaign goes from here, whether in the same direction it has been heading all along or off on some new turn.

Some Eisenhower rosters have been complaining that so far the general has not put enough wallop into the campaign. Eisenhower's staff says he will start swinging political haymakers any day now.

After a final round of conferences and Monday's Labor Day speech, Eisenhower takes off Tuesday on a fast, two-day aerial sortie into the South.

There will be speeches Tuesday at Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami, at Tampa, Birmingham and Little Rock on Wednesday.

In Philadelphia Thursday, the general gives a peace and foreign policy address which his headquarters calls the formal curtain raiser for the campaign. The GOP has bought national radio and TV time for the Philadelphia speech.

Former Secretary Of State Cordell Hull Is Critically Ill

WASHINGTON—(P)—Cordell Hull, suffering from cerebral thrombosis, was reported slightly improved Monday at the Navy Hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md. But he still was on the critical list.

A hospital bulletin at 10 a.m. said: "Cordell Hull's condition is slightly improved this morning, but he is still considered to be in critical condition."

The 61-year-old former secretary of State entered the hospital Friday night.

The aging statesman served as secretary of State in three Roosevelt Administrations and was conferring with Japanese peace envoys at the time Pearl Harbor was bombed. He resigned in November, 1944, but served as a delegate to the United Nations Conference at San Francisco in 1945 and was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in that year.

Midland Responds Quickly With New Home For Poncho

"Poncho," a year-old black and white dog, had a home Monday. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wallis, 2806 Roosevelt Drive, adopted the good-natured dog Sunday from the Midland Humane Society, for their two young boys.

"Poncho" was to have been shipped to L. (Little Man) Bryant, six-year-old Samson, Ala., child, but the youngster, asthmatic, since birth, died before this could be done. "Little Man's" greatest desire was to possess a "real Texas Dog."

Frank H. Rose, general manager of the Midland Humane Society, said a "wonderful response" was received after The Reporter-Telegram published a story Sunday about "Poncho" and "Little Man."

"The telephone started ringing at 7 a.m., with about 150 calls received and some 300 persons visiting the city pound. A number of other dogs were adopted by the visitors, and "Poncho" was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Wallis, who promised to give him a good home," Rose said.

Truman Kicks Off Whistle Stop Tour

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN ENROUTE TO MILWAUKEE—(P)—President Truman, in top whistle stop form, kicked off his first campaign tour Monday by accusing the Republicans of trying to win the election by "abuse" of Democrats and "mud-slinging."

He predicted victory for Adlai Stevenson as well as a party victory in Pennsylvania.

Truman told a Pittsburgh crowd the Republicans "can't find anything on which to stand," and that "their only issue is to throw mud."

Truman spoke from the rear platform of the special train carrying him to Milwaukee for a major address Monday night in behalf of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee.

Police Supt. James W. Bluser estimated the cheering Pennsylvania station gathering at 5,000. The President was greeted by blaring band music "We're Just Wild About Harry," and some shouts of "Give 'em hell, Harry."

"Just about this time of the campaign," said Truman, "the Republicans begin to tell the people how bad the other candidate is so that they can get in power themselves. They don't have any principles of their own. They only want to beat the other fellow."

"They can't find anything on which to stand. Their only issue is to throw mud."

In fine fettle and smiling broadly for the early morning appearance, Truman said "We've got a candidate on the Democratic ticket who can and will win." And, he added, "I can't see how Pennsylvania can do anything but go Democratic."

The President said "This looks to me as if this is going to be a fine day—a great day for the Democrats," continuing, "When people get up this early it goes to show the Democratic Party is the party of the people."

It's Back To School Tuesday For 7,300 Midland Youngsters

Ending a three-month summer vacation, some 7,300 Midland youngsters will begin a back-to-school trek at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday.

The school faculty has been increased by 70 to 811 to accommodate an added enrollment of 1,200 more students than last year, Supt. Frank Monroe announced.

U. S. Fifth Air Force Sabre jet interceptors—in a coordinated effort—roared north through Central Korea and drew Communist MIG-15 jets away from the carrier craft.

Thirty MIG's were engaged, the Air Force said. Results of the fights were not announced.

Associated Press photographer Fred Waters, aboard the Boxer, said production at the two Communist plants was "virtually eliminated."

The carrier planes swarmed over the targets 45 minutes, unloading everything they had on what the Navy called one of the few virgin targets left in Korea.

Soviet border guards in the Russian maritime province could hear the explosions at Aoji and clearly see the twisting black plume of smoke rising miles into the air from the burning refinery.

Stevenson Advocates End Of T-H

DETROIT—(P)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson came out strongly Monday for scrapping the Taft-Hartley Act, and he outlined a new law to replace it.

"We must have a new law," Stevenson said, "and my conclusion is that we can best remedy the defects of the present law by scrapping it and starting over."

The governor of Illinois, Democratic candidate for President, selected Labor Day, as the occasion for his major pronouncement of position on labor-management-government relations, and Detroit, a great nerve-center of industry, as the place.

Legal Barbed Wire

He said he does not consider the Taft-Hartley Act a "slave labor" law nor that everything in it is wrong. But he called it, "a tangled snarl of legal barbed wire filled with ugly snags at labor unions and built around the discredited labor injunction."

And he added: "It was biased and politically inspired, and has not improved labor relations in a single plant."

Stevenson laid down five broad points as the basis of a new labor law.

One of them calls for methods "for settling industrial strikes when they occur during national emergency—as in case of the recent steel strike and the governor warned:

"We cannot tolerate strikes which threaten our national safety, even that of the free world. The right to bargain collectively does not include a right to stop the national economy."

The speech was one of five addresses Stevenson prepared for delivery Monday in Grand Rapids, Detroit, Hamtramck, Pontiac and Flint. The quick, one-day tour threw his presidential campaign into high gear, and he plans to follow up quickly with a trip to the Pacific Coast and back beginning Friday.

The five points he said should be incorporated in a law to replace Taft-Hartley are:

1. "The law must accept labor (Continued On Page 10)

Two Texas Children Drown In Oklahoma

DURANT, OKLA. — (AP) — Two small Amarillo children drowned Sunday in the Blue River near here on a family outing. They were Johnny Woodman, five, and his sister, Sue, seven, who waded into deep water as their stepfather fished nearby. Virgil Lee Fryer of Amarillo, the stepfather, found the children within 10 minutes, but was unable to revive them.

Teal Funeral Rites Conducted In Iran

IRAAN—Funeral services for Mrs. Clyde Teal, Jr., 15, were to be held at 4 p.m. Monday here with the Rev. Al Hand, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was to be in a Menard cemetery. Mrs. Teal, who had been in Oklahoma visiting relatives, died after a short illness. Her husband was accidentally killed three weeks ago. He was found unconscious at 3 a.m. August 13 on Highway 51 about 17 miles northwest of Iran. Investigating officers said they believed he had been struck by some object hanging from a truck while trying to hitch-hike a ride. Mrs. Teal was born Dec. 4, 1936, at Cushing. She lived there until her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ford, moved to Iran in December of 1951. She and Teal were married February 13 this year.

Mexico City dates from 1325 when the Aztecs settled on an island in Lake Texcoco, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Mother Of Midland Oil Man Dies In Denver Hospital

Mrs. Prudence Jennings Donnelly, 75, of Denver, Colo., mother of Alden S. Donnelly, Midland oil man, died unexpectedly Saturday night in a Denver hospital of a heart ailment. Mr. and Mrs. Alden Donnelly had returned only a few hours earlier from Denver, where they had visited in his mother's home, when news of her death was received. He returned to Denver Sunday and Mrs. Donnelly left Monday. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Denver's St. Mark's Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Donnelly had been a member more than 40 years. The Olinger Funeral Home of Denver is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Donnelly was born May 16, 1877, at Red Routh, England, and came to the United States with her parents in 1893. She was married to F. Clifford Donnelly in Denver in 1901, and had resided there since. Mrs. Donnelly had visited in Midland on numerous occasions and had many friends here. Survivors include three sons, Alden S. of Midland and Clifford J. and Lloyd H., both of Denver; four sisters and four grandchildren.

Uncle Sam Adds New Bite To Love Swindlers' Woes

EL PASO — (AP) — Convicted love swindlers Victor E. Perera and Eugene H. Brading are beset by more legal difficulties. Now the government has slapped income tax liens on them. The Bureau of Internal Revenue says the pair owe a total of $144,738.80 in back income taxes. The Austin office of the bureau mailed notice of income tax liens against the two men Saturday to the El Paso County clerk. Perera and Brading are appealing convictions of swindling a wealthy Roswell, N. M., widow, Perera — a wealthy Dallas widow, but the Roswell widow has filed court actions against him attempting to recover money she says she loaned him. The lien against Perera was for $22,364.40 said to cover unpaid taxes of $851.98 for 1950 and $21,512.42 for 1951. The government seeks to collect $122,364.40 from Brading. It says that amount is owed for undeclared income during the years 1938-1951. The pair are under 13-year sentences after being convicted here of swindling Mrs. Gertrude Joyce of Roswell, N. M., of $48,000. Mrs. Joyce is suing Perera. Following the swindling trial, Perera married Mrs. D. A. Little of Dallas August 7 in Cheyenne, Wyo. Her late husband was president of Magnolia Petroleum Company. Two of Mrs. Little's daughters have sued their mother asking the court to account for the estate left by their father.

Shortage Of Meat Looms Despite High World Production

WASHINGTON — (AP) — People throughout the world are getting less meat despite increasing meat production, says the Agriculture Department. And few countries can expect things to get better. The reason: Meat output isn't keeping up with population growth. The department said also that traditional exporting countries have less to ship out and production has fallen off sharply in many European countries. Per capita consumption last year was reported about the same as in 1950 but far below prewar years in most countries. People in several countries eat far more meat than the average American, whose per capita consumption was 130 pounds in 1951. Uruguay led the list with 286 pounds and Greece was lowest with 23.

Broadway Singers Wed In New York

NEW YORK — (AP) — Singers William Warfield and Leonie Price, "Porgy" and "Bea" in the current production of the George Gershwin folk opera, were married here Sunday. It was a love story that began early this summer when the two met while rehearsing the show. And they will honeymoon with the troupe, playing the leading roles in the "Porgy and Bea" opera in a European tour, sponsored by the State Department. They were wed in Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church during a one-day rest between a road trip and the European trip.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

Virginia Mayo Has No Kicks; Fans Get A Kick Out Of Her

By ERKINE JOHNSON
New Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — The Women: Jane Russell and Faith Domergue may scream about their likenesses on the billboards, but Virginia Mayo's hot whimpering one bit about her scantily clad image in the ads for "She's Working Her Way Through College." Her shapely figure is making Virginia as potent a hunk of box-office bait as "King Kong" and she's saying: "I think the ads are very nice. That figure of mine is eye-catching and provocative. It has—er—action in it. It has appeal for women, too. Women like to look at a beautiful figure as much as men do." "With 'Back to Broadway' coming up as her new song-and-dance stint, Virginia is right up there with Doris Day as a musical comedy queen on the Warner lot. "But I had to talk the studio into letting me do what I was trained for," she confesses. "Until last year, I hadn't done anything in the musical comedy line but a bit with Bob Hope and some stogging for Danny Kaye. And stogging for Danny is nothing and nowhere." Curves In Boots "They've shown Jan Sterling's tresses, a la Huckleberry Finn, put her in cavalry britches and boots, and ironed out the Brooklynese that's been her vocal trademark for her role in Nat Holt's "Pony Express" at Paramount. And Jan, whose curves won't stay hidden in men's clothing, is saying that it's the greatest thing that ever happened to her. "My shirt's unbuttoned as far down as Alan Ladd's, but I'm getting away from which part," she crowed. "I'm a sort of ingenue who flings herself at Buffalo Bill. This means that I now have a wider field. I won't be limited to vixens with Brooklyn accents. You have to be versatile if you want to play in all kinds of pictures or even stay in the movie industry today."

There was a time when shy Olivia cringed in public, but now— "The theater gives you some old basis of courage that an actress can't get any other way. I had to make a speech at the testimonial dinner for Judy Garland. I didn't need any help and I wasn't a bit nervous. I never could have done that without stage experience and touring the country in plays. "If I had been asked to make a speech a few years ago I would have died."

McCarthy Releases Boys Caught Trying Senate Office Door

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) is not going to press charges against three college youths he caught tampering with the door to his office. He accepted their explanation that they were just pulling a gag — "Only trying to take my nameplate off the door," McCarthy said. McCarthy added he would have duplicate nameplates made and sent to each of the youths. "I think they've atoned enough for them," he said, referring to hours of questioning the trio underwent at police headquarters after McCarthy surprised them outside his office door Saturday afternoon in the Senate Office Building. All surrendered to him meekly while he summoned police. Washington police identified the three as Arnold Rubin and Donald Aronson, 18-year-old Harvard University students, both of Newton Center, Mass., and Robert I. Hammerman, 24, a Baltimore, Md., student at Dartmouth College. They were released.

West Germans Seek To Slow Down Flood Of Soviet Refugees

BONN, GERMANY — (AP) — The West German government broadcast an appeal to the East Germans Sunday night not to flee their "Bolshevik" zone homes unless they face a real emergency. The appeal, by Minister for All-German Affairs Jakob Kaiser, indicated his government's alarm over acute problems of housing, feeding and employment raised by the thousands of refugees who have flooded in from the East since the Communist government stepped up military preparations. More than 56,000 East Germans have fled to the West in the last two months, and refugee camps are overflowing.

Julia Bailey, J. B. Hartman Marry In Santa Anna Church

The marriage of Julia Ann Bailey of Santa Anna and J. B. Hartman of Fort Worth was performed Sunday, August 24, in the First Christian Church of Santa Anna.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Preston Bailey of Santa Anna, and parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Reba Hartman of Midland and I. P. Hartman of Santa Anna.

The newlyweds will live in Denton. Hartman is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth. He attended Santa Anna High School before entering the Air Force.

Mrs. Hartman is a graduate of Santa Anna High School and is a junior at Texas State College for Women, Denton, where she is majoring in home economics.

The wedding ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. H. Wylie. Mrs. W. V. Fridley, organist, accompanied Marjorie Priddy, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pink linen-lace gown over taffeta with a matching jacket. Her headpiece was a pink lace Juliet cap with a shoulder-length veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and split carnations with white satin streamers.

Maid of honor was Gwen Ramey of Stuttgart, Ark., who wore a blue organdy dress with matching headpiece. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

R. D. Hartman of Midland attended his brother as best man, and Thomas C. Bailey of Santa Anna was usher.

Kathryn Baxter and Mrs. John D. Dams were hostesses for the reception held in the home of Miss Baxter. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Nora Bailey Goe of San Angelo, Mrs. E. E. Polk of El Paso, Mrs. S. A. Mahaffey of Sterling City, Nancy Wylie, Mrs. P. B. Snook of Coleman and Mrs. Norval Wylie.

The refreshment table, laid with a white organdy cloth, was centered with a wedding ring cake accented with a floral arrangement of pink and white asters. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake. When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride wore a brown and beige orlon suit and brown accessories.

Gerrie Moss, G. E. Tibbets Are Married

JACKSBORO—Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Tibbets, who were married at 5 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church of Jacksboro, will establish residence in Midland.

The bride is the former Gerrie Moss, daughter of Mrs. Bessie K. Moss. She attended North Texas State College and is a member of Phi Gamma Kappa.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tibbets of Muleshoe. He is a graduate of NTSC and is a member of Kappa Pi Omega.

Officiating for the marriage ceremony was Rev. C. B. Williams. Music was furnished by Betty Box, vocalist, accompanied by Ruth Whitaker.

Carolyn Jones of Graham was maid of honor and Peggy Bruner of Levelland and Carolyn McConnell were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of topaz nylon net over satin and taffeta, with shirred bodices and fitted sleeves that formed portrait necklines. The waist length skirts were worn over crinolines. Flowers for the bride's attendants were semi-cascade bouquets of Tallman roses.

Oscar McKinney was best man, Fuston McCarty of Denton, and Hal Murphy of Corsicana were groomsmen.

Charles E. King of Jermyn gave his niece in marriage. She wore a Regency gown of imported satin with a waist-length skirt over crinoline, and a fitted basque with Queen Anne collar. Her tiered veil of illusion fell from a lace Juliet cap banded with seed pearls, and she carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

Assisting in the houseparty for the reception in the social room of the church were Tommye Fairies Gaye Harris of Fort Worth and Ann Castles of Fort Worth.

Doris Thorn, Frank Moffett Exchange Vows In California

The Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Thorn of Hutchinson, Kan., announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris, to Frank C. Moffett, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Moffett of Midland.

Mr. Thorn officiated at the recent wedding in the First Baptist Church in San Francisco, Calif.

For her wedding the bride wore a dress of embroidered white nylon over satin. The ballerina length gown was fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice. The neckline was low and scalloped.

Her shoulder length veil of nylon net was attached to a small white hat. She wore embroidered nylon mitts and carried a small white Bible.

The bride is a graduate of Mary Hardin-Baylor College in Belton. Moffett attended the University of Texas. He is in the U. S. Navy stationed in San Francisco.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A conservative political group, styling itself the Constitution Party, has endorsed Gov. Allan Shivers for reelection and Price Daniel for U. S. Senator from Texas in the general election.

The party is attempting to win electoral college votes for Gen. Douglas MacArthur for President and Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, for vice president.

Neither Governor Shivers nor Attorney General Daniel were available for comment on their new backing. Shivers was attending an oil meeting in Banff, Alberta, Canada.

Self-Expression Essential

What, it may be pertinent to ask on this Labor Day, has happened to our quality of workmanship? And since it is so sadly lacking in many fields, what can be done to bring it back?

Where now is the genius of the individual craftsman, who with his own hands forged and fashioned such imperishable marvels as the Kentucky rifle, the Conestoga wagon, the cutlery that cut, the houses which lived as long as the trees around them?

The answer is that a lot of things have happened, among them the industrial revolution. This technical upheaval in the art of making man's goods resulted in change away from the workman producing goods with his own hands in his own home, and toward many men working side by side in factories, fashioning their products with power machinery.

More goods could be produced cheaper the new way, but quality, laboriously worked into each item by a man's hands, suffered.

Something else suffered and suffers still. That is the attitude of the factory worker toward his work. That attitude—good or bad—bears directly upon the quality of the product the workman turns out. And it's here that our mass production system has hurt the attitude and hence the quality.

For instance, it's pretty difficult for a workman to take personal pride in the finished product when all he does is turn a couple of bolts somewhere along the line. That's perhaps an exaggerated statement of the case, but it illustrates the point.

And the point, carried further, is that one of the great motivating forces in a man's life is the personal pride and the recognition of others for a job well done.

Without this basic motivation, his work is going to suffer, and why not? If music were produced by a couple of dozen musicians each writing a bar, what kind of music would we have? And if a couple of dozen painters collaborated on a single picture, who would want it?

Painters and composers and the like—the old hand craftsman was once one of them—demand and get personal recognition for the job they do. They wouldn't work without it, and we wouldn't want them to.

But the country has moved fast since the industrial revolution, and giant industries have sprouted to supply the nation's giant needs, and the industries need and pay well the workers whose hands guide the power tools.

With the tremendous industrial progress has come a material standard of living unequalled in the world, and few would want to go back to anything else.

Still, we have the problem of providing individual recognition and a means of self-expression to the millions of workers who keep these industries going. Many big companies have taken commendable steps to provide hobby shops, recreational programs, and similar means. Others have set up profit-sharing arrangements for their workers. The workers themselves also should recognize their basic need for self-expression, and in off hours and long weekends—themselves a product of our industrial system—tend a garden, go to school, build a house—in short, create.

Employer and worker alike, in fact all of us, should recognize these problems for what they are and lend our every effort to solving them.

If we don't, millions of workers will continue to go to the shop, the mill and the mine only because it means a paycheck at the end of the week. And when that occurs it means that for too many workers the tendency will be to do as little as possible, short of being fired, and so pressure arises against the worker who appears to be doing more or doing a better job than his fellows.

That already has happened too much. Something can be done to alleviate it, but if it is not—we shall continue to suffer from lack of quality in our workmanship. And that is a matter of vital importance, both to the workman and his country.

It's The Silly Season

For a minute there it looked like the Austrians had us. A piece from Vienna said the telephone company there tells people not only what time it is and whether it is raining or not, but also provides detailed menus for the day's meals, telephones bedtime stories for the kiddies at night, and will sound a reliable "A" so you could tune your violin.

Then, just as things were looking darkest for us, along came one of those New York fashion outfits and saved the day. They've got women's gloves that come clear up to your elbow and on the back of the hand of each one is a gadget that holds three cigarettes. It's very handy for cocktail parties, the fashion people said. When you've smoked up the six cigarettes it's high time to leave. Of course, if you think you've really got to have another cigarette just call up Vienna and have them telephone you some smoke from your favorite brand.

"That's Fine—But Don't Misuse It"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being Charles F. Brannan, secretary of Agriculture.)

Secretary Brannan says: Every American benefits by farming developments; Our food and clothing depend on crops; Optimistic outlook for agricultural future.

WASHINGTON — It's at this time of year — with Autumn just ahead — that the minds of city people most likely are to go back to rural origins and to pleasant times associated with the harvest season. It's a good time to think about what agricultural abundance means to each of us.

To the farmer, the harvest is what he has worked all year for — the fruit of a year's labor. But it's just as important to the city dweller, for each of us depends on his very existence upon a share of the produce of the farms and ranches of the nation. In one sense, you live on a farm.

For every reader of this column and for every other man, woman and child in the United States, there is in this country the equivalent of 2-1/4 acres of harvested cropland and about seven acres of grassland, producing the food which he consumes each day and much of his clothing, too.

Now let us for a moment imagine that we could set aside in one tract the cropland and grassland that works full time for one average American. This approximately 10 acres of land is located in various parts of our country, with a great diversity of crops and animals, a wide range of climate and soils, and requires many different cultural methods.

The care and management of this theoretical tract of land is of paramount importance to you, so let's see how your 10 acres are getting along.

First, let's note that you have fewer acres than you had 20 years ago. There are 20,000,000 more Americans than there were then, while our total agricultural land has expanded very little. Therefore the average harvested cropland has shrunk almost two-thirds of an acre, and grassland available per person has decreased proportionately. Twenty years from now there will be less acreage for each of our citizens.

But, at the same time, crop yields per acre have risen more in the last two decades than in any other period of the 80 years for which we have records. Yields are about 45 per cent higher than in 1930, compared with only a five per cent increase in the preceding 20 years. Yields from pasture lands and from poultry and livestock also have risen remarkably. Therefore, your acres — although fewer — are producing substantially more than the larger acreage produced for your father, and you, the average American, are eating not only more food than in 1932, but 11 per cent more food than you ate in the boom year 1929. If you're like the average person today in eating habits, you are consuming more meat, milk, fruit, vegetables, and many other products than you did in 1929, all of which are the equivalent of many pounds of grain and grass.

Better Diet. Increases in the production of meat and the so-called protective foods have given you a better diet. Compared with 1929, you are consuming almost 10 per cent more meat, 12 per cent more fluid milk, almost 30 per cent more eggs, and substantially more green vegetables.

At the same time, gross farm output per man hour has increased 72 per cent since 1922, and less man power is needed to operate your 10 acres. One farm worker now can produce enough food and fiber for himself and 14 other persons. Twenty years ago he could produce only enough for himself and 10 others.

As a result of this efficiency, you buy more and better food with about the same percentage of your income, after taxes, that you spent in 1929 for food—when food prices were near their record low.

But of equal, if not greater, importance to you, 20 years ago your acres were being damaged seriously by erosion and depletion. Today there is still some deterioration, but the chances are that your acres are among the four out of five farms now in soil conservation districts. Your acres are getting 2-1/2 times as much lime and fertilizer as they were getting two decades ago.

Electricity has increased the productivity of your 10 acres. When the Rural Electrification Administration was established in 1935, only one farm in 10 had power-line electricity. Now only one in 10 is without it.

Farm-credit programs have increased the farm operator's ability to produce on your acres and have helped to reverse the long-time trend toward tenancy. Three-fourths of American farms are owner-operated today, compared with about 58 per cent two decades ago. (Remember that when you hear vague charges about "creeping socialism.")

To do these things, we must all make the best use of our resources and continue to improve the productivity of our acres and animals. Suppose that neglect of our land resources or the human resources on the land should raise the price of meat, dairy, and poultry products just one cent a pound. That would cost the consumers more than $1,000,000,000 a year—or about the same as the cost of all federal farm programs.

This is a good reason why all of us have a stake in the programs to keep farmers economically strong and increasing the production on our acres.

Price-support programs enable the farmer to produce abundantly on your 10 acres without the fear that his abundance will produce price collapse. Farmers today have about twice the power to purchase goods made by other people, like you, than they had in 1929. Farmers are better able to educate their children, and buy automobiles, tractors, refrigerators, and thousands of other things that keep city people on the job.

Research has increased the efficiency of your 10 acres. The development of hybrid corn, alone, boosted output about $7 worth per year for every man, woman, and child in this country. We gain about half that much each year from disease-resistant cereals.

Research, price supports, farm credits, extension education, crop insurance, forestry, electrification—these are some of the farm programs that have helped increase the food and fiber produced on your 10 acres.

Cost Little. Yet you have had to pay very little for all these benefits. This year, for all the farm programs, you will have contributed about two cents out of each of your federal tax dollars. That's all you pay in taxes to be sure that 2-1/4 acres of harvested cropland and about seven acres of grasslands are kept efficiently at work for you. The total cost of all farm programs this year will be considerably smaller than the gains we realize every year from hybrid corn and disease-resistant cereals alone.

These benefits also help your grocery bill. Only about 45 cents out of every food dollar goes to the farmer, who spends a large part of that in production costs. The remaining 55 cents goes for marketing—for transportation, storage, wholesale and retail handling.

Yes, your acres are doing very well for you — and they must continue to do well. Our population is growing rapidly, and the chances are that in another quarter century we will have 20,000,000 or 40,000,000 more people. Your 2-1/4 acres then will have shrunk to about 1-3/4 acres and your share of the available grassland also will be decreased.

That is not cause for pessimism, however. Studies by the Department of Agriculture indicate that farm output conceivably could be boosted by a fifth within a few years, in an economy geared to high-level production. A higher-level diet could be provided through greater emphasis on livestock and poultry.

To do these things, we must all make the best use of our resources and continue to improve the productivity of our acres and animals. Suppose that neglect of our land resources or the human resources on the land should raise the price of meat, dairy, and poultry products just one cent a pound. That would cost the consumers more than $1,000,000,000 a year—or about the same as the cost of all federal farm programs.

This is a good reason why all of us have a stake in the programs to keep farmers economically strong and increasing the production on our acres.

My first inkling that my unknown visitor was approaching was a tummy-grumbling or soiled, and a nose-urking odor of

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY. Written for NEA Service. In some hands it's very difficult to figure out where you are going to be when you have done your early work. Will you be in the dummy or in your own hand? How many trumps will you have left? And so on.

South should have asked himself these questions before he went too far with the "obvious" line of play. As it was, he woke up to find that he had dropped the contract out of the window.

West opened the king of hearts and continued the suit when East signaled enthusiastically with the ten of hearts. East won the third heart trick and returned a trump, South winning with the eight.

Without thinking too carefully, South cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy, and ruffed a low diamond to return to his hand. He then ruffed another club in dummy, but had to ruff a diamond with the queen of spades to get back.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East hands with cards and trumps.

When he next ruffed out West's last club with dummy's last trump, South had only two trumps left in his hand. He could get out of dummy only by ruffing a diamond, and this was bound to set up a trump trick for East.

If South had counted on his fingers and he had seen how many trumps he would use up in the process of ruffing clubs in the dummy and diamonds in his own hand, he would have seen that his plan would not work unless the clubs broke 4-3, and the trumps also broke 2-2. The odds were about 3 to 1 against such luck.

A far simpler plan was available to make the contract. South should have won the trump return in dummy at trick four, in order to lead the king of diamonds. If East boldly ducked, South would lead the king of diamonds ride.

There was a 50 per cent chance that East held the ace of diamonds, in which case this play would develop declarer's 10th trick.

Having obtained a diamond trick, South could continue with the cross-ruff, and would easily win the rest of the tricks. To put it another way, he would win five trumps in his own hand, three trumps in the dummy, the ace of clubs, and one diamond trick.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

List Of Civil Servants Limits Clean-Up By Next President

By PETER EDSON. NEA Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—The extent of the housecleaning and general exodus of tired bureaucrats from Washington on the day the new man takes over as President seems to have been exaggerated considerably.

This is true no matter whether it's Eisenhower or Stevenson who moves in. Not nearly as many resignations will have to be submitted and accepted as may be imagined. In the 12 departments and 51 independent agencies, not more than 2,000 jobs may be subject to presidential appointment.

Of the government's roughly 2,500,000 employees in the executive department of government, 95 per cent, or about 2,325,000 are civil service men and women. They can be fired only for cause and not at the whim of some new boss who may happen to have politics different from the boss they've had.

These civil service employees are not, however, completely frozen in their present jobs. They may be transferred from one spot to another within the limits of their grades. There may be considerable shifting around of the help because of this.

The purpose will be to break up past loyalties and bring new faces into the offices of the new administrators. But under the law and civil service regulations, career employees can't be down-graded nor upgraded precipitously.

Merit System Agency-civil service government employees, approximately 150,000 are employed by independent agencies of government that have merit systems of their own. This would include some 14,000 employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, 30,000 employees of the Tennessee Valley Authority, 6,000 in the Atomic Energy Commission, and similar outfits.

It would include the people working for Central Intelligence Agency, which publishes no information on the number of its employees. It would include the 9,000 foreign service officers of the State Department and the 11,000 foreigners working as chauffeurs, servants and minor clerks in U. S. agencies abroad.

What's left is a gross of 25,000 federal jobs subject to presidential appointment in one way or another. But a new President can by no means accept the resignations of that many job holders when he steps into the White House and replace them with his own buddies.

Many of the appointments made by President Truman and by President Roosevelt before him are for life-time jobs or for a definite period of years. Only a limited number of these jobs may become vacant in 1953, due to death, retirement or resignation.

Donald Dawson, who has handled top personnel placements for President Truman says that on the average, his office has had to find about 200 people a year for presidential jobs, you are not terrified by that contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION. The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 8-6, Hearts 7, Diamonds A-K-J-9-4-2, Clubs Q-3-2. What do you do? Answer Tuesday.

It was sometime along in here that David voluntarily asked me one night to correct his grammar. Until this point I had kept a tight grip on myself, and let his speech alone. His request came in the nick of time, for I was about to break down and ask him at least to leave the S off anywhere and somewhere. Whenever he said "somewhere" I cringed.

So began the gradual, halting struggle toward better English. It was in the fall, I guess it must have been around the first of November, that an astonishing and dramatic thing happened, right at the Art School itself.

Our Saturday classes were always largest, because they attracted people who worked on weekdays. They were working quietly, and so I retired down the hall to the Faculty Lounge room, intending to make out my weekly attendance and grade report.

I was eddy slated at the moment because I had just caught that little Jill Ormond, with the spaniel eyes and the beautiful hands, secretly sketching me instead of the model. Really a rather interesting little girl—that I liked the way her slippery-clean brown hair fell every which way when she was absorbed in her work.

Suddenly Miss Dora Payne, the prim old secretary to the director, minced in the door. "Ah, there you are, Mr. Fielding! I've been looking all over for you, to tell you that you have a—well, there's a woman in the office who wants to speak to you."

"Okay, show her in here, will you? Thanks."

Miss Payne looked at me oddly as she pity-patted the door.

My first inkling that my unknown visitor was approaching was a tummy-grumbling or soiled, and a nose-urking odor of

"Well, he's older now, and he was in the Army a while—maybe picked up a taste for it there."

She went on, "Don't go blaming it on the Army. I tell you, it's getting serious. One of the other drivers who for some time told me Dave's been keeping books in the cab, and reading whenever he ain't driving or loading. I know enough about psychology to know that something's wrong. He hadn't ought to try to escape from reality all the time."

"He's not hurting anyone."

"How do you know?" she asked belligerently. "I'm his wife—I know who he's hurting. I guess. Another thing, he's getting fussy. Why, he rented a steamer and took all the wallpaper off the walls. Says he's gonna paint them light green come his day off. Make the landlady do it. I say, why should we spend our money fixing up that old hole for the next tenant?"

"Lots of men like to do repairs around the house," I said.

"And this photograph kick of his! One night a week he don't get home after midnight, what with setting aroun' in that class down to the YMCA. Do you know that photography course cost $15? Books and equipment on top of that. And us hardly getting by on what he makes."

SHE had come to give me a picture of the wronged wife, the faithful spouse whose husband was running around with books and cameras, leaving her at home mending the dishcloths and reusing old coffee grounds.

"Come to the point," I said impatiently.

She got red in the face and leaned forward, thrusting her face closer to mine. "I'll tell you, she said, 'Just this—lay off! Don't go planning any more uppity ideas in Dave's head. I don't know what your angle is. Maybe you wants 'make like the Great White Foe.' I'm wise to you professors. You get the facts of life outta books, and think you know everything. But you haven't enough guts to find out what life's about by living it, and you loaf down your nose at us poor suckers who do."

Q—At what New Hampshire port was the Stars and Stripes first flown over an American man-of-war?

A—At Portsmouth, on July 4, 1777. The ship was the famous Ranger, which was commanded by John Paul Jones.

Q—Can a baseball pitcher throw a curve or is the whole thing an illusion?

A—For the first time, scientists claim that they have conclusive proof that a thrown ball can be made to describe a measurable arc. Brand-new lighting and photographic techniques went into the test.

Q—How many Nobel Prizes are awarded annually?

A—Five. The average value of the prizes is $40,000 each.

Q—How much milk does the average person in the United States use a day?

A—Nearly a quart.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOLSE

A judge said to a prisoner, "This lady says you tried to speak to her at the railroad station." The man said, "Your Honor, it was this way: I was looking for my sister's friend whom I'd never seen before but she had been described to me as a lovely blonde with classic features, perfect figure, fine complexion, beautifully dressed."

The woman broke in, "I don't wish to prosecute the case; anyone could have made the same mistake."

New Revision Of Bible Due To Modernize Use Of Words

The Egyptian housewife of A.D. 100 wrote down a new bread recipe in simple, everyday Greek words. So did the farmer writing his neighbor a receipt for grain, and the merchant dictating his last will and testament. Their Greek was quite different from that of Plato and Socrates.

It is not surprising that their Greek also was used by Paul and the Gospel writers. For certainly the teachings of Jesus were concerned with the behavior of men and women in the market place, toward their neighbors, in their homes, at their places of worship.

For hundreds of years, however, Bible translators did not recognize the humble character of New Testament Greek. They tried to apply the classical Greek rules of grammar, word order and idiom.

It was not until the dawn of the 20th Century that archeologists digging into tons of ancient papyrus uncovered startling evidence that changed their whole outlook. Research revealed the truth — that the everyday "people's" Greek was the same as that which Paul and the Gospel writers used.

Likewise Biblical research, based largely on archeological findings during the last 50 years, has resulted in clearer and more accurate translation of certain Old Testament passages.

The first revision of the Bible to feel the effect of all this recent research is the forthcoming "Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible," authorized by some 40 Protestant denominations. Its scholars had archeological discoveries and manuscript resources, such as no group ever had before to help them discover age-old shades of meaning in the original Hebrew and Greek.

That was one part of their task. The other was to replace more than 300 English words in the King James version that have changed meaning completely.

The new knowledge of Greek usage that the current revisers possess naturally colors the whole of the Revised Standard Version (RSV) of the New Testament. At many points new insights contrast with those of the King James Version.

300 Changed Words

Striking to the average reader will be the replacement of more than 300 words that have changed meaning since 1611. If there were no other reason for the revision of the King James than that, it would be sufficient.

Consider some of the significant transformations of meaning that come from bringing KJ up-to-date: There's the psalmist chanting in Ps. 119:147 (KJ), "I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word." Such a declaration doesn't make much sense, but many a reader has thought, "It's in the Bible so it must be all right." But in 1611 the word "prevent" meant "go before" or "precede."

Britain Plans New Super-Jet Airliner

LONDON—(P)—A major British airplane manufacturer says it is drawing plans for a 150-seat jet airliner which would make the 2,465-mile London-to-New York Atlantic crossing in less than eight hours.

The aircraft firm, Handley Page, Ltd., said it expected the plane to have a load capacity of 50,000 pounds and to operate at a cost of about 1 1/8 U. C. cents a passenger per mile.

A company announcement said the non-stop crossing from New York to London would take six and one-half hours, while the westward flight, because of prevailing winds, would take an hour longer.

Racing Car Crash Kills Nine, Hurts 30

AACHEN, GERMANY—(P)—A runaway German racing car jumped the track here Sunday and crashed into a crowd of screaming spectators, killing nine and injuring at least 30 others.

The driver, Helmuth Neidermayer, was not hurt.

Neidermayer lost control of the car as it rounded a curve at more than 100 miles an hour and crashed through a fence at Grenzlandring Course near here, one of Europe's trickiest.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In my last article a reader asked if the other players in her game were right in criticizing her. She melded out before the opponents could make their initial meld because they were stuck with all four red threes.

This is usually the correct play, because it catches the opponents with minus 800 for the red threes and minus 200 or so for the cards in their hands. If they are allowed to meld, they get plus 800 for the red threes together with some plus amount for their meld.

It is possible to cook up a situation in which it is a poor play to meld out. I must admit at the start, however, that this kind of situation is very rare.

Suppose your opponents have completed vigorously for a frozen discard pile, throwing their wild cards enthusiastically into the discard pile. If they then lose the pile, they may also lose all hope of ever making 120 points for the initial meld. In that case, of course, you should keep the hand going as long as possible in order to run up a really big score.

If your opponents are reasonable, sensible players, you will not get such an opportunity. With four red threes on the table, they know that they don't need the discard pile to get a good score. All they need is an initial meld. Hence they will not throw their wild cards into the pile.

If you opponents have never discarded a wild card, you can very seldom expect them to make their initial meld. If they have discarded sensibly, they will almost always accumulate enough stuff of some kind to reach a total of 120 points.

Q—I held six tens, three deuces, and some odd cards. Is it permissible to meld the six tens and the three deuces to make a meld of 120 points? Or must I make two melds of three tens each, with one or two deuces per meld?

A—According to the official rules you may meld the six tens and the three deuces. According to those rules, you are not allowed to make two separate melds of tens. Some players prefer to follow "house" rules that provide otherwise; it is possible to change the rules by agreement.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Sing A Song Of Sadness

"Mercy me!" said Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend. He said it to Mother Ringtail. They were sitting there in the monkey house, high in the top of the very tall tree, right in the middle of the Great Forest.

"Mercy me, too!" said Mother Ringtail, because she, too, heard the song of sadness.

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mother Ringtail, "you ought to go see about it."

"I'll do it now," said Daddy Ringtail, and so down he slid to the ground, and away he walked up the Elephant Path, on his way to see about the sad, sad song that wasn't any more at all.

Daddy Ringtail knew where to go first to see about the sad, sad song. Why, the someone who knows about all the sad, sad things there are in the world, is the Sad, Sad Somebody. The Sad, Sad Somebody's name is too much to say, and I can't tell you what his real name is. Yes, and his face is sad (so sad!), and so no one ever sees it. The Sad, Sad Somebody sits in the darkest corner of the hollow tree house where he lives without any windows. He sits there and cries his sad, sad cries until time to go to bed each night.

Oh, but now he wasn't making a sound at all. No sound, not even a light, came out the black, black doorway of the hollow tree house. Was the Sad, Sad Somebody sick? Daddy Ringtail called out loud and said: "Happy day in there! Are you sick?"

"Oh, Daddy Ringtail," said the sad, sad voice from inside of a sudden, "don't say my name! It makes everyone sad who says it."

"I won't say your name Daddy Ringtail promised."

"Don't look at my face!" said the Sad, Sad Somebody. "It makes everyone sad who sees it."

"I won't look," promised Daddy Ringtail. "But Sad, Sad Somebody, is it you who was singing the sad, sad song?"

And the Sad, Sad Somebody answered yes, he was the one who had sung the sad, sad song, because a sad, sad song is better than no song at all. And tomorrow I'll tell you what he sang about. (It's a secret!) Happy day!

TITLES BELIE COMMIE BOOKS

TOKYO —(P)—Kyodo News Agency said Tuesday the Japan Communist party is publishing secret military manuals for its members under such titles as: "How to Grow Flower Bulbs," "Engineering Handbook," "How to Grow Saplings," "Useful Birds and Harmful Birds," and "How to Analyze Nutrition."

The publications carry instructions on concrete methods of struggle under the military policy of the Communist party, the news agency said. The peaceful-sounding titles are meant to confuse the police.

Parisians Ignore Beautiful Gardens

PARIS —(P)—Paris has a parks and gardens system unique among world capitals—and Parisians appreciate it less than anybody.

This is the disillusioned opinion of the man who looks after Paris' 7,400 acres of gardens and parks: Robert Joffet, conservator-in-chief of the city's green spaces, thinks little Parisians should be taught flower and tree appreciation in their schools, and he is ready to supply material for the courses.

Tourists grow lyrical over Paris' chestnut trees, but ask Joffet what the Parisian's favorite tree, and he shrugs: "Frankly, they hardly know one from another. The French haven't a proper love of flowers, and they don't respect their parks and gardens."

Nevertheless, Paris has slightly more than one tree for every 10 Parisians, and the parks people every year put out one new plant for every two Parisians.

Amateur Construction Of Homes Encouraged

ROCHESTER, N. Y. —(P)—About 100 men in Monroe County, which includes Rochester, are building homes for their families, according to Edwin A. Gordon, a high school history teacher and organizer of the Build Your Own Home Club.

The club meets once a month and hears talks by experts in the fields of lot selection, financing, carpentry, masonry, insulation and other subjects. During the school year the club has a three-hour class each Friday in a local trade school.

During the past three years more than 300 Rochester area families have undertaken their own home building, says Gordon, thus saving a substantial percentage of construction costs.

CHIANG HALTS RED MONEY TAIPEN, FORMOSA —(P)—Chiang Kai-shek has ended a steady flow of money from Nationalist China to Communist China. Government sources estimated Chinese on Formosa had been sending about $300,000 a month via Hong Kong to relatives in Red China.

TRUMAN'S GOING-AWAY PRESENT —

Whopping Big Budget Faces Next President, Lawmakers

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman's goodbye gift to Congress will be a government budget of the size of a big city phone book, important sections of which are likely to become waste paper within three days.

It isn't Truman's idea. A 1950 law requires him to give Congress a detailed estimate of federal income and outgo within 15 days after the opening of a regular session.

The new 83rd Congress, most of whose membership will be determined in the November elections, convenes next January 3. The budget message must be at the Capitol by January 17. At high noon on January 20 a new President takes his oath and Truman becomes a private citizen.

At the same moment, the odds are heavy that key sections of the Truman budget will start heading for the congressional waste baskets. Regardless of who wins the presidency, it is unlikely he will agree 100 per cent with his predecessor's fiscal plan for the government accounting year which starts next July 1.

Nor is there time between election and inauguration day to do much about it. The President-elect, after recovering some of the energy spent in his campaign, presumably will want to start putting together the inaugural address which will sound the keynote for the beginning of his administration.

The budget, moreover, is no simple document a man can spread out before him and say, 'We'll cut so much here, and add so much to this program. This particular financial estimate has been under preparation by the Budget Bureau since last May. Long before that, each department was instructed by the White House to state its needs for the fiscal 1954, as the next accounting period is known.

The Public Debt
It contains literally hundreds of thousands of items. By no means all of these are likely to be or even could be revised by the new tenant of the White House. A vast number of them represent continuing appropriations for such items as the public debt and statutory programs approved by previous Congresses.

However, it's big appropriations and authorizations for such matters as defense, foreign aid and veterans benefits that add on the top billions and prompt the inkiest headlines. Obviously it is there and in similar fields that the incoming chief executive would find the most fertile ground for revision.

There is nothing—except possible political differences—to prevent the new man from sitting down with Truman and discussing the need for this appropriation or the reason behind that estimate.

Feel Way Slowly
But it seems far more likely that the President-elect will want to feel his way more slowly and discuss the problems with his own advisers.

This appears to point the way to a series of supplemental budget requests later on. That was the way the matter was handled when Franklin D. Roosevelt took over in 1933 from Herbert Hoover. Congress can be asked to consider either upward or downward revisions in the estimates.

While the budget message must and will be sent to Congress, there is considerable doubt that Truman will choose to deliver the usual State of the Union address, although he could if he so desired.

There has been no commitment from the White House on this point. It seems more probable now that the gray-haired Missourian will not attempt to lay down a program for his successor.

Wife Of Burglary Suspect Leads Officers To $75,000

ALBANY, CALIF.—(AP)—A dark-haired woman who denied any part in last week's $250,000 Monolith, Calif. post office robbery willingly showed officers a cache of more than $75,000 worth of money order blanks, U. S. Savings Bonds and stamps Sunday.

Postal inspectors and police seized the cache in a motel room here. They arrested for investigation the woman, Mrs. Ada Belle Watson, 32, Little Rock, Ark., wife of one of two men who admitted the robbery.

The two, John E. Watson, 26, a Texas fugitive, and Jim Darwood Kennedy, 22, of Fairfax, Okla., were placed in Kern County Jail in Bakersfield, Calif., early Monday. They were charged with burglary.

They were arrested Friday night in Reno, where Sheriff George Loftrop said they admitted stealing cash, stamps, bonds and money order blanks with a potential value approaching $250,000.

Mrs. Watson told officers that Kennedy and her husband disappeared from their hotel at Bakersfield—near the scene of the robbery—Tuesday. They returned late at night and drove to a motel at Gilroy.

Mrs. Watson said she noticed "the papers and things" and started asking questions. "Shut up, don't go asking any questions," she quoted her husband. Thursday they drove to Albany. The men left Friday, saying they would return Sunday. They were nabbed in Reno after trying to cash one of the stolen money orders at a gambling hall.

Mrs. Watson said she married Watson two years ago "but I only had about three weeks of real married life because he was in prison most of the time." However, she added, he appeared at her Little Rock home early in August and told her he had been paroled from a Texas prison from a burglary conviction.

Conkling Reported Improving In Dallas

Robert N. Conkling, Midland geologist who was rushed to a hospital here in a critical condition Saturday after inhaling chemical fumes, was reported slightly improved Monday.

Conkling was flown to the Park Lane Hospital in Dallas Sunday night to be placed under the care of a specialist.

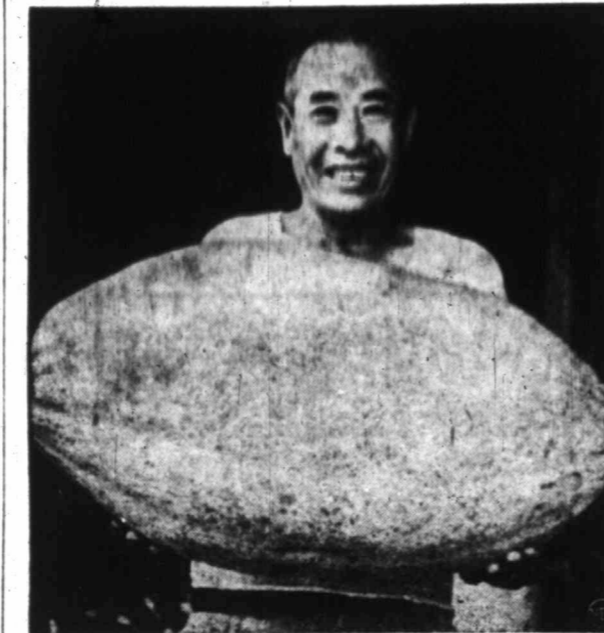

Stricken 10 days ago in Seagraves, he was brought back to his home here last Thursday and was taken to the hospital Saturday afternoon when he suffered a relapse.

Funeral Rites Pend For Shooting Victim

Funeral arrangements still were pending Monday for Juan Canales, 50, who was shot and killed after midnight Sunday during a barroom quarrel in the Latin American section of the city.

No charges have been filed against Martin Benevides, Odessa, who surrendered at police headquarters a short time after Canales was wounded fatally in the El Ranchita Bar at 407 North Lamesa Road.

Canales died enroute to a Midland hospital. He lived at 604 North Lamesa Road.

Elements Combine For Cooler Spell As Hurricane Dies

By The Associated Press
Cooler weather, accompanied by showers, pushed south and eastward Monday as a dying hurricane worked up the Atlantic Coast.

The hurricane has reduced itself to what the Weather Bureau termed "an active low pressure area." However, storm warnings were up between Block Island, R. I., and the Delaware breakwater. Winds were expected to reach 35 miles an hour, with squalls up to 45.

The Carolina Coast towns were mopping up Monday. Property damage was said to be comparatively light, although no official estimates have been made.

The cool front pushing down from the Canadian country brought some temperatures in the high 30's in Montana and North Dakota. Forecasters said that the front is a strong one, and may move into the heated South.

It is expected to push to the Texas Panhandle country, probably Tuesday.

Meteor Whizzes Over New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—A bluish-green "ball of fire" whizzed over New Mexico Sunday night. State police reported the ball, described as a meteor, was sighted by three state policemen.

One of them, Officer Jack Baiter, said he saw the ball of fire as he drove down Tipton Canyon towards Albuquerque. It appeared to him that it landed near the State Fair Grounds, some 20 miles west.

Residents of Cline Corners, 80 miles east of Albuquerque, reported to state police that the ball of fire seemed to have struck about a mile northwest of the community.

NOT ALL JOHNS CLAIM HONESTY

Lost Money Found, Retained For Owner

A Midland woman reported Monday she has found envelopes containing $12 near a downtown drug store. Two of the packets contained $5 each and the other $2.

One envelope was marked with the name of a cafe along with a number and the amount of the money inside. The other two were marked with names of other Midland firms.

The money is being held for its proper owner or owners at 1808 North Main Street and will be returned on proper identification.

Midland's Fire Department Called Best In Permian Area

Big, quiet-spoken Midland Fire Marshal Bill Klatt, who has spent 16 years with the Midland Fire Department and is the oldest member in the point of service, believes the Midland department is one of the best in the Permian Basin area.

Klatt, who has watched the department progress from an antiquated truck with a fire alarm bell located on a band platform at the courthouse lawn to its present fleet, modern system, is unostentatious in his praise of the department.

Alley, or "trash fires" as they are more commonly known, have been the most frequent type of fires during Klatt's 16 years with the department.

Considerable progress has been made in eliminating hazards causing alley fires. This has been made possible with inspections under the fire marshal procedure, paving of alleys, and the current clean-up campaign in the city.

Worst fire disaster from the standpoint of human life since Klatt has been with the department, was a farmhouse fire in which five members of a family perished.

One of the most expensive fires was the Gulf Oil Company warehouse in 1942, Klatt said. Four large gasoline storage tanks near the warehouse were feeding gas to the flames, and the fire could not be brought under control until a fireman went in and shut off valves.

Klatt recalls at least 13 fatalities in the Midland area as result of fires.

Most recent conflagration of major proportions was a blaze that destroyed the Midwest Motor Company, with damage estimated at $80,000.

Arson cases are the most difficult to "crack," Klatt said, due to difficulty in securing evidence.

"There is no certain time of year in which fires occur," Klatt said. "Some months the trucks hardly turn a wheel, and other months they may almost run them off answering alarms."

Klatt came to Midland in 1926 from Trinity County in East Texas. After working two years as a lineman for Southern Ice and Utilities, he was employed five years as a diesel operator for the Texas Electric Service Company. Later, he operated a welding and machine shop which he sold in 1943. During World War II, he served as a machinist at the Midland Army Air Field.

Joining the fire department as a volunteer in 1936, he became a paid member in November 1944. He has held his present fire marshal's position since 1948.

FLOATING "LANDING FIELDS"—Part of the record-breaking job being done in Korea in bringing casualties safely to hospitalization is due to such ingenious devices as the floating platforms seen moored to the hospital ship U.S.S. Haven. Helicopters, carrying wounded from the battlefields, land on these and the casualties are quickly taken into the ship's hospital quarters.

Police Penetrate Disguise In 'Perfect Murder' Scheme

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Maryland police, who stripped the accident masquerade costume off of a brutal killing, are charging a quiet New York office manager with the "perfect murder" of his Sunday school teacher wife.

The plot that police said led to the death of 33-year-old Dorothy May Grammar involved a scheme so engineered that the woman appeared to have died in a traffic accident—actually witnessed by two Baltimore city policemen.

POWER—Ayatollah Kashani, above, who heads the fanatical "Warriors of Israel," is regarded by both the Western powers and Russia as the most influential man in Iran.

G. Edward Grammer and the woman he is accused of beating to death seem strangely out of character in the story unfolded on a Baltimore police docket.

She is described by neighbors in the well-ordered Bronx apartment community where she lived as a "sweet, nice person," a woman "without an enemy in the world."

Grammar, who sometimes served as an usher in the Methodist church they attended, is described as a "quiet man" by his neighbors.

His wife, the mother of three, devoted extensive time to Campfire Girls and Bluebirds, neighbors said. Police See Car

Her body was found in an overturned car early the morning of August 20 near Towson, Md., where the couple had been living since the recent death of her father.

Two policemen had seen the car careening wildly down the hill, the engine roaring at full throttle. The wheels of the car were still spinning when they removed the woman's body.

It appeared to be a routine highway tragedy, brought on by too much speed and poor control. Yet the woman's battered body didn't seem to match up very well with the moderately damaged condition of the car in the view of police.

Blood stains in the car didn't run the way they should, when the tipped positions of the car was considered, and there were too few bruises on the woman's body and too many gashes on her head.

No Broken Windows
Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Russell S. Fisher pointed out that dead bodies do not bruise. And, he said, there was nothing in the car that could have caused the deep cuts and gashes on her forehead. There weren't even any broken windows. Besides, a pebble had been forced under the accelerator to keep it down.

His verdict—murder. State's Attorney Anslem Sodaro Sunday night ordered the charges to be placed Monday.

Sodaro said investigators had the weapon with which Mrs. Grammar was beaten to death.

Police have in their possession an iron pipe, 12 to 15 inches long and about one and one-half inches in diameter.

Grammar was contacted at his New York office the morning of August 20. He told police that his wife had driven him to the railroad station in Baltimore at 11:20 the night before and that he had caught a train for New York.

He came to Towson and remained in bed for a few days at the home of his wife's mother.

San Angelo Colts Explode Late To Smash Tribe, 5-1

Eddie Jacome Is Victim Of Eighth-Frame Splurge

SAN ANGELO—(P)—Completely stifled by Eddie Jacome of the Midland Indians through seven innings, the San Angelo Colts broke open for five hits and the same number of runs in the eighth inning here Sunday to drop the Indians, 5-1.

Mario Saldana, who held the Indians to five hits, was trailing by 1-0 when the Colts exploded. Oscar Williams opened the inning by getting to second on an error by Manuel Tamas, Indian second sacker. Glen Burns hit the first Jacome pitch for a two-run homer to put the Colts out front. John Tapan followed suit to make it 3-1, San Angelo.

COLTS TO FACE ACE MONDAY

Professor Keith Nicolls, the hard-working Indian right-hander will seek his twenty-fifth victory Monday night. He will take the mound as the Tribe inaugurates a two-game series with San Angelo here. Game time has been moved up 15 minutes to 8 p.m. The Indians returned to Midland Sunday night after the three-game set in San Angelo. Tuesday night's game in Midland is the last of the season between the Colts and Indians.

Broncs Hand Oilers Third Loss In Row

ODESSA—(P)—The Big Spring Broncs made it three straight over the Odessa Oilers here Sunday night, 11-1, and now trail the league leaders by only a game and one-half.

Bert Baes pitched a masterful two-hitter for the Broncs in handing the Oilers the loss. Baes never was in trouble and had it not been for a home run pitch delivered to Lefty Lyoko in the first inning it would have been a shutout. First for the Oilers, Fred Parker started but had to have relief from Carlos Perez in the third inning. Perez pitched through the eighth frame, with Nelson Camper coming on to finish the ninth. Parker was the loser, giving up five runs on five hits, while Perez was tagged for six runs on seven bingles.

Big Spring hit the Oilers with five runs in the first three frames, then in the eighth they plated six more to ice the contest.

In the eighth, Witty Quintana and Juan Visteur hit for the circuit. Quintana's blow came with two on the sacks, while Visteur had one more aboard.

The two teams move into Big Spring Monday night with Carlos Villarreal slated to pitch for the Oilers and Bert Estrada for Big Spring.

The score: N H E Big Spring, 11 2 0 0-0-11 13 0 Odessa, 1 0 0 0-0-1 3 4 Baes and Valdez; Parker, Perez, Camper and Castro.

Odessa Netter Gains Tri-State Meet Finals

AMARILLO—(P)—First-seeded James Dye of Tucson, Ariz., tangled with Joe Adams of Odessa Monday in the Tri-State Tennis Tournament's men's singles title match.

Adams pulled the day's surprise Sunday when he knocked out Lamesa's Jake Broyles, third-seeded, in the quarter finals, 6-4, 6-4, then chopped last year's runnerup and second-rated player, Glyndon Riley, Culver City, Calif., 7-5, 6-2.

FRUSTRATED SIXTH TIME— Magic '20' Eludes Dallas Mound Ace

By The Associated Press Hal Erickson must feel as frustrated as the fellow left waiting at the church. Everybody else on the Dallas pitching staff wins but he can't get a victory for love or money. And this one would be the most important in the books—it would make him a 20-game winner.

He tried it for the sixth time Sunday night but Tulsa clobbered the ball for six hits and four runs in four innings and beat Dallas, 7-2. Dallas lost a game in the Texas League race but still is five ahead of second-place Fort Worth, which snapped out of its losing streak that had reached four games to edge Oklahoma City, 8-7.

Only Eight To Play With only eight left to play it appears Dallas is a cinch to wind up in first place but the other first division spots are in considerable doubt. From second through sixth there are only five games difference.

Erickson's troubles have become the major news of the league race. The first two or three times he went after his twentieth win he was thwarted because his mates fumbled the ball or failed to get him any runs. But the last several tries have found Erickson getting his ears pinned back. He never may reach the 20 mark—he won't have but one more chance.

Fort Worth showed four runs across in the first inning and coasted in. Oklahoma City staged a three-run rally in the ninth. Russ Burns kept the Indians in the ball game with two homers.

Shreveport eased into third place by downing San Antonio, 7-6, on Grant Dunlap's bases-loaded single in the eleventh inning. The Sports had to come from far behind to gain the victory. Oklahoma City fell down to fourth, three percentage points behind Shreveport.

Beaumont edged Houston, 7-6, as Ford Garrison singled—his fourth hit of the game—to drive in Tommy Upton with the winning run in the ninth. Beaumont pounded 17 hits.

After winning two races in April at Jamaica, including one stake, Native Dancer bucked his shins and did not start again until the Saratoga meeting, which closed last Saturday.

Few In Number As a prelude to the Hopeful, the son of Polydoran accounted for the Flash Stakes, Saratoga Special and Grand Union Hotel Stakes. The horses are few in number which have won four of Saratoga's two-year-old stakes.

The $51,480 he picked up in the Hopeful ran his total earnings to $105,975. The time of 1:11.8 was not sensational for the six and one-half furlongs but the track was a trifle dull and the Dancer won without being challenged seriously, once he found racing room.

Jones Points To Tough Season As Bulldogs Start Grid Drills

The Midland High School Bulldogs romped into their opening practice session under the watchful eyes of Coach Thurmon (Tugboat) Jones Monday morning with their first gridiron test looming less than three weeks away. "We have a tough season ahead," Jones told the more than 60 candidates in a brief clubroom session. "There will be 40 teams in the state battling it out in our division. Two of them will reach the finals and one of them will win the state championship. "Right now we have as good a chance as any of them." The morning session was devoted to light workouts and calisthenics with contact work scheduled for an afternoon session, the last before the football players join thousands of other students in settling down to class work Tuesday morning. Forty-four of the football hopefuls will be tapped for the varsity squad with the remainder due to work out under Coach's Keith Bobo and Bernard (Pat) Patterson on the "B" Squad. Heading the list of candidates were an impressive number of letterman backs, including 170-pound Larry Friday, 175-pound Roy Kimsey, 145-pound Jesse Hatfield and 150-pound M. A. Rose. The experts, too, will be watching Darrall Spivey, the piano-legged guard who was shifted to full-back in the Spring drills. The team is assured top end play, with Bill Mims, a 168-pound letter, and all-district Robert Keeling, a 170-pounder, on hand. In the line are Letterman Bill Howard, 178 pounds, and Red East, 180, both tackle. The drills Monday morning sent the Bulldogs on the way toward their competition in District 1-AAAA, slated to meet such teams as defending State Champions Lubbock, Odessa, San Angelo, Big Spring, Amarillo, Pampa and Abilene. The season will be opened here September 19 when the Bulldogs meet Lamesa. Games with Fort Worth Polytechnic and Yalata follow. Helping Jones with the drills were Assistant Coaches Audrey Gill, Red Rutledge and Jimmy Williams.

THREE-HITTER BOOSTS YANKEE CAMP SPIRIT— 'Junk Man' Lopat Returns To Beat Senators, 6 To 1

By RALPH RODEN AP Sports Writer Eddie Lopat, the "joke man," is back in business today. And his myriad stock of pitches will may spell a fourth straight American League pennant for the New York Yankees.

Lopat, hindered all season by shoulder miseries, turned in his most impressive performance of the season Sunday in pitching the pace-setting Yankees to a 6-1, three-hit triumph over the Washington Senators. The morale-boosting victory enabled the Yankees to protect their two-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, 6-3 conquerors of the Chicago White Sox. The cranny left-hander, a 21-game winner last year, permitted only five hits to be hit to the outfield. He owned a two-hit shutout entering the ninth when Eddie Yost finally solved his tantalizing slow stuff by binging his eleventh homer into the left field stands. This conquest was Lopat's seventh and his longest straight nine-inning job.

Lopat also took a hand on the offense, driving in two runs on a fly ball and squeeze bunt. The Yankees nicked their former mate, Bob Porterfield, for two runs in the second inning and backed the decision away with four more in the sixth. Porterfield fell heavily on his right elbow in the sixth diving for Lopat's bunt and was forced to retire.

Garcia Limits Sox Husky Mike Garcia turned the White Sox back on seven hits to hang up his seventeenth victory for Cleveland. Al Rosen, with three runs batted in on two singles and a double, and Larry Doby with a two-run homer, his twenty-eighth, led the Cleveland assault against Billy Pierce.

Boston's third-place Red Sox and Philadelphia's fourth-place Athletics divided a doubleheader, the Sox winning the opener, 11-1, and the A's the nightcap, 2-0. St. Louis trimmed Detroit, 7-4, in the circuit's other game.

Brooklyn took a big step towards a World Series meeting by mauling the runner-up New York Giants, 9-1, to hike its National League lead to nine games. In other games, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis, 4-3, Philadelphia and Boston split a doubleheader, the Braves winning the first game, 1-0, and the Phils the second, 4-0, while Chicago and Cincinnati also halved a bargain bill, the Cubs taking the first one, 4-2, and the Reds the second, 6-4.

The Red Sox lowered the boom on Bobby Shantz, the A's 22-game winner, in the first game at Philadelphia. Shantz was staggered for 10 hits and seven runs in seven innings with Clyde Volmer's three-run homer the big blow. Bob Hooper took over but he was no relief as the Sox whaled him for four runs, two on a homer by Dick Gernert, in the final two innings. Mickey McDermott went the distance for his eighth victory. Harry Byrd whitewashed the Sox on seven safeties in the second game for his thirteenth triumph. Gus Zernial's twenty-seventh homer in the second inning goff Willard Nixon was the deciding blow. Joe Demastri's three-run homer, his first of the season, and a bases-empty blast by Gordon Goldsberry cooked the Tigers' goose. Steve Souchock and Walt Drogo homered off Brownie starter and winner Bob Cain. Brooklyn's biggest winner, Billy Loes, set the Giants down on five hits in hanging up his thirteenth victory. Loes lost his shutout in the ninth when Bob Thomson and Hank Thompson doubled with one out. Gil Hodges was the ringleader in the Dodgers' 12-hit attack against Jim Hearn and three relief pitchers. Hodges drove in five runs, four on his twenty-eighth homer. It seemed like old times at Pittsburgh as Ralph Kiner went on a batting spree, driving in all four of his team's runs on his thirtieth homer and a single to doom Cardinal rookie sensation Stu Miller to his second loss. Murry Dickson, an 18-game loser, went all the way for his thirteenth victory. Jester Proves Best Greenhorn Virgil Jester bested Phil Rooker Steve Riddick in the opener at Boston, winning his own game with a two-out bases-loaded single in the ninth. Jester allowed only three hits, the same number Jim Konstanty, making his first start since June 6, 1951, granted the Braves in the second game. The Phils tallied all four of their runs in the ninth, Konstanty driving in the initial two with a two-bagger.

Pinch hitter Gene Hermanski's two-run single in the seventh inning enabled the Cubs to win the first game at Cincinnati while pinch hitter Hank Edwards' two-run homer in the eighth gave the Reds the nod in the windup.

Borger's Gassers Climb Into-Midst Of Playoff Scrap By The Associated Press Borger climbed into the thick of the fight for a first-division berth in the West Texas-New Mexico League over the weekend. Two things helped—an earlier loss to Amarillo was thrown out by the league presy, and Borger licked Albuquerque, 8-5, Sunday night while Amarillo was losing to Clovis.

Monday Borger is tied with Amarillo for fourth place, both being just one game back of third-place Lamesa. Albuquerque in second place is fairly secure with a five-game bridge. The club that has nothing whatsoever to worry about is Clovis, which rides atop the circuit with an 18 1/2-game margin over Albuquerque.

Sunday, Clovis licked Amarillo, 20-10, slashing across six runs in the second inning and seven in the seventh. Amarillo banged six home runs.

TEXAN ON WINNING TEAM FORT BENNING, GA.—(P)—B. B. Bevers of Refugio, Texas, was a member of Marine Corps team from Paris Island, S. C., which won the enlisted men's trophy Sunday in the National Highpower Rifle Championships.

Stevenson—

 unions . . . as the responsible representatives of their members' interests.

2. "Labor unions must conform to the standards of fair conduct and equal protection in the exercise of their stewardship." He called this the reverse side of his first point.

3. "A new federal law must outlaw unfair bargaining practices by companies or unions . . . I think it is only common sense that we must forbid such practices as jurisdictional strikes, and strikes or boycotts attempting to force an employer to deal with one union when another has been certified as the representative of his employees."

4. "The labor injunction must be rejected. That tyrannical power to have men and women ordered back to work in silence has no place in today's labor law."

5. "New methods must be found for settling national emergency disputes."

Expanding the fifth point, Stevenson said he has no "miracle-drug solution" for this problem. He said the Taft-Hartley Law tried to meet it by the injunction, that this method was tried nine times, and that "fair-minded critics" agree it was effective only twice.

He listed government seizure as one of several alternatives for settling labor disputes in a time of national emergency.

"The Congress should give to the President a choice of procedure when a voluntary agreement becomes impossible," Stevenson said. "Seizure provisions geared to the circumstances; or arbitration; or a detailed hearing and recommendation of settlement terms; or a return of the dispute to the parties."

297 Americans Dead In Weekend Mishaps

By The Associated Press
 The Labor Day weekend's traffic death toll hovered near the 300 mark, well short of the figure predicted by the National Safety Council, but there was still the going home rush to be reckoned with.

The Associated Press count on the death toll on the Nation's highways stood at 297 early Monday. The count was begun at 5 p.m. Friday.

It was certain to climb steeply Monday when millions of motorists begin their homeward trek from the Summer's last holiday outing.

The safety council, which estimated that 40 million automobiles would be on the highways this weekend, predicted 480 persons would die in traffic accidents between 5 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday night.

Violent death in other forms added to the holiday toll. There were 26 drownings and 43 deaths from a variety of accidents.

EIGHTH POLIO CASE

CORNICANA—(AP)—Johnny Price Smith, 10, Navarro County's eighth polio patient of the year, was transferred to a Waco hospital for treatment Sunday night. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Smith of Corsicana.

BLARNEY STONE DOES ITS DUTY

CORB, IRELAND—(AP)—The woman owner of the famous Blarney stone—said in confer the gift of eloquence on those who kiss it—has been talked into marriage by a man who did.

This was disclosed Monday by Mrs. Penelope Hamilton, who inherited Blarney Castle and the legendary stone early this year. Her successful suitor is a childhood friend, Major Jack Hillyard.

"I proposed just a few moments after Mrs. Hamilton and I had kissed the Blarney stone," Hillyard told a reporter. "I believe in the legend."

Antihistamines Often Relieve Itching Of Hard-To-Cure Hives

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
 Written for NEA Service
 Many correspondents have written to this column asking about the uncomfortable allergic disease known as urticaria or hives. This is one of those conditions which is brought about by sensitivity to some substance to which most people can come in contact without causing difficulty.

Hives usually arises suddenly with the appearance of large red spots on the skin. These bumps may appear almost anywhere on the body, but are quite likely to involve a good portion of the skin covering.

They look reddish and swollen and almost always are associated with severe itching, which brings with it an irresistible desire to scratch.

Many substances can produce hives, but strawberries and certain fish foods like crabmeat have been incriminated particularly often in this respect.

However, urticaria can develop from almost any food, drug and from such other things as insect bites, furs, infections or even just heat or cold. The urticaria can last for a few hours only or for days, weeks or even months at a time.

The proper line of attack on hives is to try to determine the cause. Unfortunately, the skin of many people with hives does not react to testing with the substance which causes the disease. This is perhaps because they are sensitive to the offending substance when swallowed, but not when applied to the skin.

Trial diets and other means of determining the cause may have to be tried, therefore. If the cause can be discovered, the proper treatment is to remove it by cutting it out of the diet or by eliminating whatever is responsible.

The one bright spot in treatment which has been developed in recent years is the use of certain drugs going under the name of "antihistamines." Several of these substances are on the market under various names.

Each of them has certain advantages and certain disadvantages and should not be taken except under competent medical advice. They do not cure the underlying condition, but frequently bring relief from the itching and improvement in the appearance of the skin sometimes for hours at a time.

Cause Must Be Found
 Until the cause of all cases can be discovered and removed, these antihistamine agents will prove extremely useful in bringing relief to those who cannot be helped by other measures.

When the cause cannot be discovered, however, which is all too often, the treatment is difficult indeed. There is nothing which can be put on the surface of the skin which will make the urticaria disappear. Even the itching can be relieved only partially while the urticaria is present.

Victim Of Robbery Reports $150 Taken In Highway Beating

Two hundred fifty hours of hard work had vanished Monday for Pete Corea.

The Latin American struggled into police headquarters early Monday and told his sad story.

For months he had been working hard at 60 cents an hour, carefully saving his money until he had accumulated $150.

Sunday night, he was sitting in the El Ranchito tavern in the Latin American section of the city when four men offered to take him to Seminole.

Corea got in the automobile with them.

About three miles out of Midland, they stopped the automobile, beat him up, robbed him of all his money and left him stranded, he said.

Texas Holiday Toll Reaches 24 Victims

By The Associated Press
 The long Labor Day weekend rolled toward a close Monday with multiple-death highway crashes boosting the violent death toll to grim levels.

At least 24 persons had been killed—18 of them on Texas' crowded streets and highways—since the death count started at 6 p.m. Friday.

DIES IN CEMETERY

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—Emil R. Elder, 60, a retired salesman, died, apparently from a heart seizure, while putting flowers on his wife's grave Sunday. Mrs. Elder died two years ago.

IMBIBER, 107, KING FOR DAY

MAINZ, GERMANY—(AP)—White-bearded Karl Glockner, 107, was honored wine drinker at the annual Mainz wine market.

He is a veteran of the A-tro-Prussian War of 1864.

Miners To Resume Work After 10-Day Memorial Vacation

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Most of the nation's coal operators prepared Monday to resume production shortly after midnight—the time set to end a 10-day memorial holiday called by United Mine Workers boss John L. Lewis.

A spokesman for the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association, whose mines employ about 45,000 men, said some mines will call men out for the midnight shift while others are set to reopen at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

The spokesman said there is no reason to believe the men will not report.

Lewis ordered his 475,000 coal miners on a memorial holiday that started August 23. He said the period, called to honor victims of mine disasters, was also to give officials an opportunity to check safety regulations in the mines.

The holiday came in the midst of union negotiations with the hard (anthracite) and soft coal industries for new contracts. Lewis has informed both industries contracts will expire September 30.

The coal miners have long observed a tradition of "no contract, no work."

The UMW chief also has informed the federal government of the contract termination—thus setting up the possibility of a nation-wide coal strike at the end of the month.

Montague Reported In Good Condition

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Joe Montague of Fort Worth, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, was reported in good condition Monday at a Temple hospital after undergoing major surgery there Saturday.

His physician said Montague will remain at the hospital for the remainder of the week.

Scrap Iron Pirates Loot Sunken Ships

MANILA—(AP)—Scrap iron pirates are looting the naval graveyards of ships sunk off the Philippines in World War II. Senator Carlos P. Garcia wants the army to investigate. He says the government is losing money it hoped to realize from the sale of the hulls.

The pirates are reported particularly active off the coasts of the East Central Islands of Samar and Leyte, where some of the bitterest naval engagements of the war were fought.

An estimated 500 Japanese ships lie at various depths in Philippine waters. It is believed that from 500,000 to 700,000 tons of scrap can be salvaged from the sunken ships.

ITALIANS IN MINES

BRUSSELS—(AP)—Fifty-one thousand out of the 160,000 coalminers working in Belgium's pits are Italians, according to the Belgian minister of labor. The total figure for foreign labor in Belgium's coal mines is 72,081. Next in order are the 8,267 Poles, 3,026 Dutch, 5,092 Germans, 1,356 French, 1,320 Ukrainians and 1,092 North Africans.

Bomb Found Planted On Theater Marquee

BEAUMONT—(AP)—Five sticks of dynamite with the fuse burned to within five feet of the caps were found on the marquee of the Tivoli Theater here Monday.

Pat Hayes, head of the identification bureau for the local police department, said the dynamite, if it had exploded, probably would have wrecked the theater.

He said it also probably would have killed two negro maids, the only persons at the movie house when the explosives were discovered.

Hayes said no motive behind the "attempted bombing" could be learned. The theater manager, Todd Haney, wasn't available immediately for comment.

STOCKING UP FOR CHRISTMAS

Santa's helpers get no summer vacation as Mrs. Alton S. Parker, Baltimore Red Cross volunteer above, will tell you. She is filling gift socks which are "not to be opened until Christmas." The gift-filled socks will go to wounded and ill service personnel in military hospitals overseas and able-bodied servicemen in isolated outposts.

I AM AN AD!

Here's how I work for you to MAKE YOUR JOB MORE SECURE

Perhaps you think you have no interest in me. I beg to differ. . . . The fact is, you have an actual INVESTMENT in me. I work for you. I make your job more secure. . . . You see, I am an "ad."

You can watch me working for you right on this page. At this precise moment, people are reading the other ads you see here. They are listening to other advertising on the radio, seeing it in magazines, on posters. Soon they will be buying the goods advertised.

Then, what a wonderful "chain-reaction" will start!

As a result, storekeepers will do a better business. Far-off factories will make more things. Farmers will sell their crops. Ships will ply the ocean. Trains will cross and re-cross the nation.

This means more people will be working more—earning more. Paychecks will be bigger—homes happier—jobs more secure—all because of the business that begins when people start reading ads!

You hear people say that America has more advertising than any other nation. That is true, and thank Heaven for it!

Because Advertising—the greatest salesman in the world—has done so much to make America the most prosperous nation in the world.

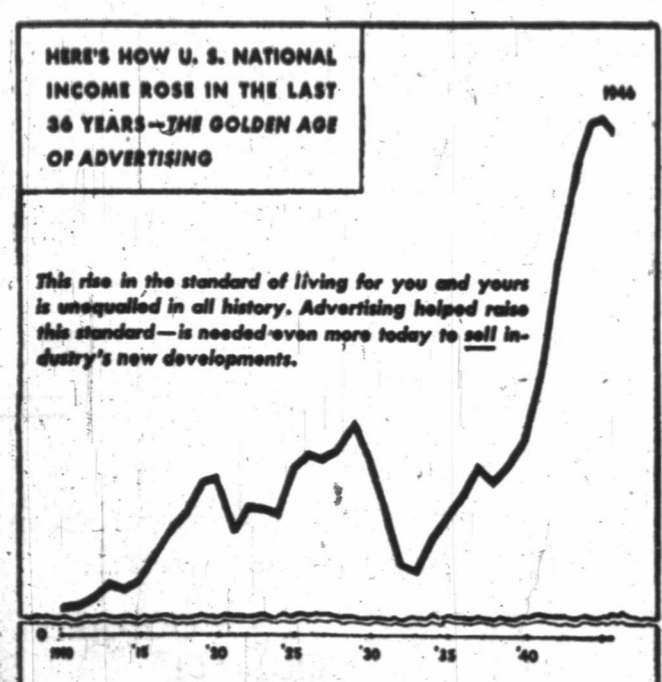

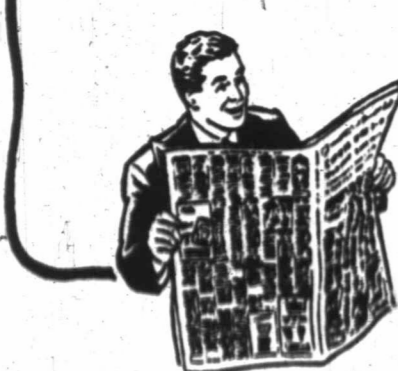

So next time you see me, say "hello" and wish me well. Whether I'm selling sink-stoppers or seal coats, I'm really working for you.

I'm making your job and your home more secure.

LET'S HAVE IT IN MY HOME is what you'll be saying to your friends when you become the proud owner of this one. Cocktails in the lovely living room, and dinner in the dining room—and in summer, out on the patio and rear lawn. The high tile fence gives you the privacy that you seek. The men will gather in the long kitchen for their long stories. You'll show them the three bedrooms, and the curious ones will find the two tile baths. Central heating and air-conditioning for everyone's year-round comfort. Two-car tandem garage, permanent water-softener, and all this on newly paved Storey Street. $24,500. Please, by appointment only.

TRADING IN YOUR HOME is simple if you have been keeping in close touch with us. Would you like to see your new home on which you could trade yours? Drive out to 2412 West Storey Street. Like it from the outside? Now call us to see the breathing interior. Three bedrooms, tile kitchen with Van-A-Head, and pantry, 2 tile baths, 10 closets, 2-car attached garage with huge storage room. Central heating and air-conditioning, warm and luxurious carpeting throughout, and the energetic youths do not have to track through the living room in order to get to their room or the cookie jar. You'll love the exterior, but wait until you get inside. Priced at $23,500.

SKY-LINE HEIGHTS is synonymous with spacious homes, and this home is one of the outstanding ones. It is approximately 80 feet across the front. Three large bedrooms, paneled den, 1 1/2 tile baths (one has a separate shower stall and tub), and 2-car attached garage. Rustic shakle-shingle roof, TOUCH-PLATE electrical switches, with a master control which turns on or off all the lights in the house separately, plug-in telephone system, and a world of other modern conveniences. Generous water-well and brick pump house, high tile fence surrounding the huge lot. Of course, central systems for heating and cooling, drapery, sand-toned carpeting. I'm certain that you'll like this home. $28,500. Please, strictly by appointment.

WAREHOUSE LOT AND HOUSE just one block south of the RR tracks. The lot is 60x140, exclusive of the alley. When the paving is completed on Front Street, you won't be able to buy at anywhere near this price—$5,750.

DRIVE BY 939 NORTH DALLAS STREET. It's got 2 bedrooms (and they are really nice and large), colorful kitchen, and bigger living room. Why not put us to the task of working out a good financial program on this home. The children will have to walk only two paved blocks to school. It has proved its good construction—it's 4 years old. Total price is $6,800.

MIDLAND IS EXCEPTIONALLY PROUD of its school teachers, and KEY, WILSON & MAXSON acknowledges to them a debt of gratitude for all Midlanders. To all of the new teachers we warmly welcome you. REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

WHAT APPEALS TO YOU in your search for a home in Midland? Superior construction? Attractive finish? All-sides elevation? Price? Down-payment? Here are two homes which feature all of these—and more. Two nice bedrooms, tile bath, living room and dining room combination, and attached garage. Central heating, ducted for air-conditioning, and natural-finish woodwork throughout. These homes are new, and are FHA financed. Only $2,000 down will handle, and your TOTAL monthly payments are a low $58. Full price, $9,450. We consider these two homes a special presentation—and your blessing.

THERE'S A RUMOR GOING 'ROUND that Key, Wilson & Maxson has a beautiful Austin Stone home located on Michigan Street which has just got to be seen. Well, let me say this: The rumor is absolutely true. And this home has three wonderful bedrooms, tile kitchen and tile bath, adaptable living room with a dining area, and an attached garage which can easily be converted into a huge den. It is neatly finished and painted. You'll love the many added features that will assist in making your home-living more pleasant. This home was built with a reason—not as a mere excuse for a house. $14,500.

SEPTEMBER WILL ARRIVE on time this year. But will your children be prepared for the coming school days? Does your present home have enough room, and will you have to taxi them to the school every day? Why not consider this 3 bedrooms, spacious living room and dining combination, wonderfully large kitchen with breakfast area, and YOUNGSTOWN metal cabinets (even a Lazy Susan), and attached carport with utility room. Central heating, oak floors, steel windows, and ceramic tile bath. It's on a paved street and located only one block from the grade school. Excellent FHA financing. Priced at ONLY $12,625.

DOCTOR'S CLINIC near the Memorial Hospital, available for immediate occupancy. Over 2,000 sq. ft., and being enlarged. It's fully equipped. By appointment only, please.

OWNING YOUR HOME in Midland is being financially wise. But having a home with extra revenue is still better. We have a lovely JOHNS-MANSVILLE asbestos siding home with two bedrooms, clean bath, living room, kitchen with breakfast area. Attached to the garage is a large bedroom and full bath which is rented. This apartment being sold completely furnished, immediate possession. One year old, and located close to Crockett grade school. Full price $10,500.

AIN'T GOT MUCH DOUGH? Arrangements can be easily made for you to purchase a cute two bedroom home in TOWN NORTH for as little as ONLY $1,475 down. You see, it can be done—with the right agency. Owner is now painting exterior for your convenience. Rudimentary lawn, paved street, and nice neighbors. We'll be rushed on this one, so call early.

My name is A. Henry Sara-nec... and I am the salesman who writes up our ads. In the limited space made available to me, it is impossible to cover all of our best listings. If there is nothing that measures up to what you have in mind, why not call us, and let us know what you do need. Five minutes on the telephone may make a lot of difference in your life—and we sincerely seek to make it a more pleasant one. Why wait until later—call us now.

IT'S DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT from any home that you've seen. Let's take only the entrance hall as illustrative. The heavy front door swings open, and one side of the entry-way is paneled and finished in chocolate and burnished in gold. The other wall is frosted plate-glass which is corrugated for strength and beauty. The floor is exquisitely patterned in pink Arizona flagstone, and there is an elevated stone planter-box with tropical flowers and large leaves. And this is only one small fraction of this magnificent home. It has 2 bedrooms, paneled den, 2 ceramic tile baths, bathroom-sized family room separated from the main house by a two-car paneled garage. McCamey News

McCAMEY—Mathes of the West Texas Division of the Humble Pipeline Company Golf Tournament were to open this morning, with golfers expected from Odessa, Andrews, Midland, Hobbs, and other surrounding towns.

P. L. (Rattleback) Brown of El Paso, formerly of McCamey, visited friends here last week.

Most of the retail business firms, service establishments, oil company offices, and city and county offices are closed today in observance of Labor Day.

A Dutch buffet supper in the dining room of the Park Building climaxed the membership drive of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Loma Northcutt, president, led the group in games.

Employees of the National Supply Company and their families attended a barbecue supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. "Red" Poe. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brister and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Rymer and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Pharris, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Walters, Jr., and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pease and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Winal, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Guffey and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gore and son, Mr. and Mrs. Poe and daughter, Dale Brakebill, Daphne Gober, Wayne Nelson, and Frank Weber.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Holt of Ratkin are the parents of a son born Wednesday in the McCamey hospital and weighing seven and one-half pounds.

W. H. Carroll, who was injured in an oil field accident April 12, is still unconscious in a Dallas hospital, where he is receiving treatment, according to his wife, who is with him in Dallas.

F. A. Nickens, who was seriously ill and received treatment in the Crane Hospital, has been returned to his home and is reported to be somewhat improved.

F. D. "Shorty" Belsler, McCamey chief of police, who has been ill for several months in a San Angelo hospital, has been returned to his home in McCamey, but is still under a doctor's care.

Cleatus Brooks, owner of the Badger Grocery, was treated in the local hospital for a cut hand. He received the injury when a large butcher knife he was sharpening slipped.

Mrs. H. W. Driskill is opening a music studio in the home of Mrs. N. C. House. During the Summer, Mrs. Driskill studied with Dr. S. E. Meyer at Sul Ross State College.

Mrs. J. A. Fuller has returned home after a month's vacation in California. She visited her son, Pvt. John W. Fuller, who is stationed at Camp San Luis Obispo, and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Torbet of Fresno. Mrs. Fuller was accompanied home by a niece, Patricia LaNell Torbett, who will attend school here this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stephens and sons have moved to McCamey from Royston and have leased the Braley Hotel. Mrs. Paul W. Paulson, former manager of the hotel left last week for a vacation trip through Michigan, Arizona, Texas, and California. When she returns, she will manage a motel she has recently purchased in Monahans.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher and son, Wilson, of Miles visited Fletcher's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Fletcher, last week. Bob Fletcher returned home with the visitors.

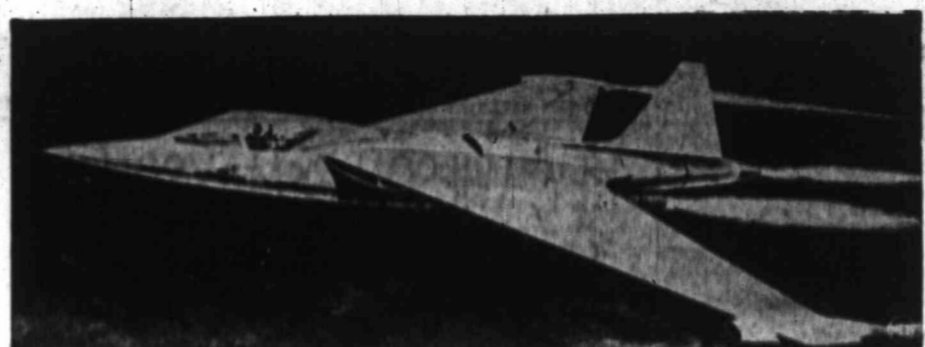

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Williams and children have returned from a week's vacation in Rockport and Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Duncan and daughter, Carolyn, and Sherd Marshall of Stanton have been guests in the H. H. Qualls home.

VISIT WARM SPRINGS

Mrs. Frank Whitley, Buddy and Ray Whitley of Midland recently visited the Little White House at Warm Springs, Ga., where President Franklin D. Roosevelt lived part time and where he died in 1945. Now a national shrine, the Little White House is kept just as he left it and is open to the public the year around.

SOME GLASS TO THIS—Prime problem of designers of supersonic-speed jet planes is to find a metal that will not melt under the searing friction developed by ultra-high-speed flight. Thomas E. Piper, process engineering director for Northrop Aircraft, has suggested that "conceivably the airplane of the future could have glass wings, ailerons, stabilizer and fuselage." Above is an artist's conception of such a plane, which would employ a type of glass fiber laminate for friction-sensitive parts.

'Bull Of Koje' Leaves Korea For Texas Stomping Grounds

TOKYO—(P)—The man who took the bang out of explosive Koje Island war prisoner compounds left by plane Monday for his old stomping grounds—Texas.

Maj. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, wearing three new medals, said he hoped to return to "the life of an ordinary soldier."

Boatner, who directed the June crackdown on the seething prisoner of war island, grumbled:

"They call me the 'Bull' and all that, but I'm just an ordinary professional soldier."

The husky, salty-tongued, 51-year-old Boatner will become deputy commanding general of the Fourth Army in San Antonio.

He left Tokyo in a Military Air Transport plane, bound for San Francisco via Honolulu.

Before departing, Boatner received an Oak Leaf cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal for taming captured Red prisoners. He also was awarded two French decorations—the Croix de Guerre and Legion of Honor—for previous service as deputy commander of the Second U. S. Infantry Division during the furious battles for Bloody Ridge and Heartbreak Ridge.

In an interview, the general said Allied POW camps are under excellent control but occasional minor flareups should be expected.

"When you have 150,000 people in cages," he said, "some are going to want to get out—every day."

"Our policy in handling the prisoners is absolutely fair but firm. . . . The whole world knows this, including the Communists, despite all the Red propaganda to the contrary."

Before Boatner took over on Koje, the island had erupted for months with rioting, bloodshed and disorder, precipitated continually by die-hard, fanatical Communists.

Boatner recalled with a chuckle that he pulled a tremendous bluff during the June crackdown—and saved the lives of 21 prisoners.

He learned that 21 anti-Communists, marked for death by the Reds were held in Compound 85. The general could have rescued the men by emptying the compound, but he had no new enclosures ready.

Big Bluff Works

Boatner had 25 leaders of Compound 85 brought before him. He told them:

"I'm going to send you back to your compound now. If those men you are holding aren't sent out to us by 5 p. m., we are going to come in there and hang all 25 of you."

The leaders released the 21.

Boatner said he was certain that Communist prisoner leaders maintained liaison with Reds in North Korea before the crackdown. He said some North Korean prisoners were Moscow-trained.

The colorful general said he was glad to be returning to Texas where he was formerly personnel officer of the Fourth Army.

The general's wife lives in Alamo Heights, San Antonio. A daughter, Helene, is a student at the University of Texas.

Two Copper Firms Agree With Labor On Wage Increases

DENVER—(P)—An agreement providing for a large increase and other benefits was signed late Sunday by officials of the independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and representatives of two more of the copper industry's "Big Four" companies.

Union President John Clark announced at his Denver headquarters that settlements had been reached with the Anaconda Copper Mining Company and the American Smelting and Refining Company.

Clark said the Anaconda agreement calls for a wage increase of eight cents across the board, retroactive to July 1, plus three weeks vacation after 11 years and a company contribution of 90 cents monthly toward a hospital and medical plan.

The contract was extended another year with a reopening clause on all economic features July 1, 1953, Clark said.

The American Smelting settlement, which runs for one year, provides for a wage increase of eight cents an hour and an additional reclassification of one-half cent an hour in each wage bracket up to a top 10 cents, Clark said. It also calls for a number of fringe benefits, details of which were not divulged.

Union employees of the two firms are expected to ratify the settlement this week, the union president said.

Negro Votes Hold White House Key, Lawmaker Asserts

WASHINGTON—(P)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., Negro Democratic congressman from New York said Monday the civil rights issue would be decisive in the November 4 election in New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

He said it also might be a decisive issue in New Jersey and California.

In a copyrighted interview in U. S. News and World Report, a weekly news magazine, Powell was asked: "You think there is a balance of power in the negro vote?"

"Absolutely," he answered.

"How did Truman make out in this?"

"Truman wouldn't be President today if he had not campaigned the way he did and won the negro votes," Powell replied.

Second Delphid Stated In Verona

VERONA, ITALY—(P)—In the second Delphid, university students from eight nations will present classic dramas at the famed Roman theater here.

The Delphid—a drama olympics—aims to unite university students and bring them in contact with the great poetical theatrical trends. The first Delphid was held in Mainz in 1950. It will be held every two years. The activities of the international Delphid Institute are under the sponsorship of the UN Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization and the governments of the countries concerned.

Woman, 32, Held In 'Mercy Killing,' Attempted Suicide

NORWALK, CONN.—(P)—A 32-year-old woman is held in connection with the gas death of her 72-year-old father, who was critically ill with cancer.

Detective Capt. George Risi said he ordered a 24-hour police guard at the Norwalk Hospital bedside of Lois Curtis, overcome by gas fumes which police said killed her father Saturday.

Coroner Edward E. Krentzman said he ordered the woman held after what police described as a suicide note disclosed Miss Curtis may have killed her father by turning on all the gas jets on a kitchen range, then remaining in the house in an attempt to take her own life.

Risi said Miss Curtis is technically under arrest now on an open charge.

Delegates Return From THDA Meet

Midland County Home Demonstration Club members attending the state meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association at Kingsville returned home Friday night.

Delegates from Midland County were Mrs. J. E. Cassidy, Mrs. C. H. Pearson, and Mrs. B. L. Mason. Other HD members from the county who attended were Mrs. J. D. Bartlett, Mrs. T. O. Midkiff, and Mrs. I. J. Howard.

A highlight of the convention, delegates reported, was the election of officers, when Mrs. J. F. Stephenson of Andrews was named vice president of District Six.

Other features of the convention were a tour of the King Ranch, a barbecue was held and a visit to Reynosa, Mex., where dinner was served at Chaco's Inn.

For the visit to the King Ranch, the ranch home was opened for the fourth time since 1944.

Carolynians Count Three Dead, Heavy Property Damage In Wake Of Hurricane

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(P)—Labor Day was just that for hundreds of Carolinians Monday as they dug out from under the litter left in the wake of the week-end hurricane.

Hurricane Able, a small Atlantic storm as such storms go, swept in on the South Carolina Coast Saturday night. At its center, as it roared through Charleston and down the coast to Beaufort, winds shrieked up to 100-miles-an-hour, leaving torn and twisted power and communication lines, devastated trees and signboards, and roofless houses.

The rain-soaked highways, in some places inches deep in water, claimed two victims near Hardeeville, south of Beaufort. One death was reported at Beaufort itself by the Civil Air Patrol.

Residents of the coastal area, forewarned and expecting the season's first hurricane, remained calm through the emergency and batted the hatches in anticipation of the blow. As a result, property damage was comparatively light, although no official estimate of the amount has yet been made.

The path of minor destruction ranged in a wide arc inland during the early hours of Sunday, whistling up from the coast toward Orangeburg and Columbia in South Carolina. Then, veering in a northwesterly direction, the diminishing winds and violent rains hit at Greensboro, N. C., and passed through the Tar Heel Piedmont into the Danville, Va., area.

By that time, however, the hurricane has simmered down to what the weather Bureau calls an "active low pressure area," with wind velocity of about 25 miles an hour.

Power Restored

But that was small consolation to the residents of this 300-year-old port city as highway employees, telephone and telegraph linemen and volunteers labored Monday to get roads and communications back in order. Late Sunday night, one of the few remaining spots still isolated by power failure was Walterboro, S. C., about 40 miles inland from Beaufort.

Citizens of Beaufort, Walterboro, Charleston and other wind-racked communities came out Monday to view uprooted trees, shattered windows and store fronts, overturned billboards, and, in some cases, unroofed homes.

Pre-storm precautions taken at the huge, sprawling Parris Island Marine Corps Recruit Depot protected the base from any serious damage, although it was isolated briefly when a swing-bridge blew open.

A Turkish freighter, the Mardin, was swept aground on a sandbar Sunday in Charleston harbor, but later in the day it was pulled free by a tug.

Large numbers of Labor Day weekend vacationers, who withdrew inland from the beaches as the storm approached, returned to the coastal resorts as the danger passed.
