Drouth Losses Reduce Cotton Crop Estimate 846,000 Bales

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Agriculture Department estimated Texas drouth-burned cotton crop Monday at 3,500,000 bales—700,000 bales less than a month ago.

For the first time this year, the department estimated production would be less than the 4,061,000 bales produced in 1951. Last month's estimate of 4,200,000 bales had been just above the 1952 figure.

The condition of the crop as of September 1 was reported at 59 per cent of normal. On August 1 it had been 72 per cent normal. The average yield per acre was estimated at 166 pounds—18 pounds lower than the estimate a month ago.

The Agriculture Department estimated the current crop for the nation as a whole at 13,889,000 bales. This is a decrease of 846,000 bales from the department's forecast of 14,735,000 bales a month ago. It compares with a government production goal of 16,000,000 bales and with forecasts of total needs of between 13,300,000 and 14,600,000 bales.

Severe dry weather during July and early August damaged the crop in some Southeastern areas to reduce production prospects.

The condition of the crop as of September 1 was reported at 69 per cent of normal compared with 75 per cent a month and 74 per cent a year ago.

The average yield of cotton to the acre was reported at 270 pounds compared with 277.4 indicated a month ago and 271.9 for the 1951 crop.

Abandonment Increase

The department estimated that 5.3 per cent of the acreage in cultivation on July 1 will be abandoned, compared with 3.3 per cent indicated a year ago.

This would leave 34,693,000 acres for harvest compared with 36,008,000 last year.

The production of American-Egyptian type-cotton was estimated at 82,000 bales compared with 47,500 last year and 26,400 for the ten-year average.

Production of American-Egyptian by states includes: Texas, 29,000 bales compared with 18,700 last year; New Mexico, 12,000 and 8,500; Arizona, 40,000 and 19,700.

The department said that during August, losses in prospective production in Texas, Oklahoma and the Southeast more than offset increases in Central and Far Western producing areas.

In Oklahoma and Texas, continued drouth accompanied by prolonged high temperatures in August, caused a marked drop in prospects.

Losses were said to have been severe in the low rolling plains and west central areas of Texas and southwestern Oklahoma, with failure to near-failure fairly general.

High Seas Hamper Mid-Ocean Rescue

NORFOLK, VA.—(P)—Nineteen survivors of the hurricane-smashed tanker Foundation Star were stalled on a rescue ship in rough seas Monday while search went on for 10 of their shipmates missing in the Atlantic off Charleston, S. C.

The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee early Monday reached the side of the Norwegian vessel Emu, which rescued the 19 men after the Foundation Star broke in two Saturday.

Coast Guard area headquarters in New York City said the Cherokee radioed that sea conditions were unfavorable for attempting to transfer the survivors to the cutter "at this time." Some of the survivors were reported to be in need of medical attention.

The master of the Emu radioed that he would take the survivors to New York "if necessary."

Plans had been for the Emu or the Cherokee to land the survivors Monday at Norfolk, Va.

One seaman — the ship's cook — is known to have died in the wreck off Charleston.

The 5,500-ton Foundation Star was carrying a load of molasses to New Jersey when she foundered. The Coast Guard said 30 men were aboard the stricken tanker, whose broken sections still are held together by deck plates.

Ten men, including the Foundation Star's captain, put out from the ship on a life raft after the wreck. They have not been found despite an intensive hunt by Coast Guard planes, destroyers and merchant ships and hope for their safety dimmed with the hours.

State Patrolmen Start Watch For Stickerless Cars

Midland policemen are going to look the other way but State Highway Patrolmen promised Monday they will keep a sharp lookout for automobiles without inspection stickers.

"We have orders to enforce the inspection law," said Patrolman Cecil Resnow, "and we'll stop every car we see which does not have the inspection sticker on the windshield."

The deadline for having automobiles inspected was reached last Saturday and violators are subject to fines ranging from $1 to $300.

For the present, however, members of the Midland police force will keep hands off the situation.

"The highway patrolmen will enforce the new law," said Police Chief Harold Wallace, "but for the time being we do not plan on stopping motorists who have not acquired stickers."

Larger Than Usual Dollar Day Crowds Turn Out Monday

Midland's "Back-to-School" Dollar Day really had them out Monday—larger than usual crowds of Dollar Day shoppers from Midland and other Permian Basin Empire cities.

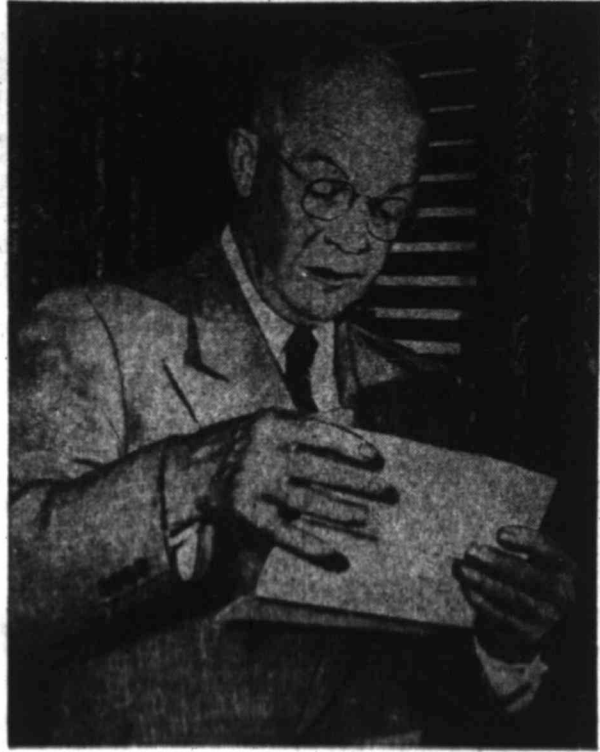

It was one of the "biggest and best" Dollar Day events of the year in Midland as men, women and children shoppers thronged the downtown section during the morning. Many of them were on hand before stores opened for business.

Street, sidewalk and store traffic was exceptionally heavy and parking space was at a premium.

Store managers were too busy to check sales receipts, but some merchants indicated sales volumes would reach near record highs by the end of the day.

"It is one of the best," one store executive declared.

ROK Troops Slug It Out With Reds

SEOUL, KOREA—(P)—Chinese and South Korean infantrymen battled fiercely Monday night for control of Capitol Hill amid bursting shells from tremendous UN and Communist artillery barrages.

An American combat officer reported the fighting was largely hand-to-hand because there's not anything to shoot at in the dark.

He said no one controlled the crest of the central front height because of the heavy artillery barrages from both sides.

The U. S. Eighth Army earlier had reported that the South Koreans—who in three days have attacked five times in the face of 48,000 rounds of artillery fire — had reached the top only to be driven off an hour later.

The American said UN artillery ruined two Red battalions. One was caught in a ravine behind Capitol Hill and the other was moving down a draw when Allied artillery opened in on them.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots knocked five MIG's out of the air Monday and damaged five others in battles near the Manchurian border.

The air victories raised the September bag of Russian-built MIG's to 22 destroyed, one probably destroyed and 15 damaged. This pace is well ahead of the record 44 MIG's destroyed in April.

Troops of the South Korean Capital Division had knifed and slugged to the crest of Capitol Hill at 9:45 a.m.

The Chinese counterattacked an hour later under a tremendous artillery and mortar barrage, and retook the heights. The Eighth Army said 12,000 rounds fell in five hours.

The Republicans fell back down the hill about 90 yards, where they were battling the Chinese at close range at last reports.

Except for the Capitol Hill sector, the fighting dropped off sharply Sunday night.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? PLENTY!

Night Police Dispatcher Art Stanton is about ready either to change his name or get another job.

The Police Headquarters' phone rings at night and the dispatcher answers:

"Police headquarters, Stanton."

There's always a long pause and, invariably, the voice on the other end of the line replies:

"I didn't want the Stanton Police Department. I'm trying to get the Midland Police Department."

Running to retrieve the wheel, Shirley Jean saw a man lying in the weeds.

"Come a little closer," he told her. Shirley Jean started to run. But in a flash the man had grabbed her around the waist and began running with her.

Shirley Jean screamed and bit the man in the face with all her might. She scratched at his eyes and kicked him as hard as she could.

Her playmates, hearing the screams, threw rocks at the fleeing form.

Apparently frightened by the violent resistance, the man dropped Shirley Jean and disappeared.

Because it was dark, Shirley Jean and her playmates were unable to offer any description of the man other than her description of his eyes.

Third Party Talk Mounts At Amarillo

AMARILLO—(P)—States' Rights Democrats Monday kept alive hope they can win control of Tuesday's Texas convention and persuade it to repudiate Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson.

One plan was to try to get the convention to relinquish its Democratic label and certify a slate of electors pledged to vote for Dwight Eisenhower.

Cool Nights Set Pattern For Football

By The Associated Press

Cool nights and comfortable days were giving heat-weary Texans a chance to catch up on sleep and rest as September's first week neared a close.

School kids and collegians thrilled at the sound of heavy shoes against a football. It was just about time for those first games of the season.

And the weather—especially at night—was perfect . . . for early season football, anyway.

Night-time temperatures were in the 55-75-degree range, just right for sitting in the stands without shivering. And it was dry . . .

Breath Taking

The great Texas drouth hung on . . . and caused little worry for the quarterbacks, tackles and other team members.

Daytime temperatures still were warm, but low humidity over most of the state kept them comfortable, especially so when compared with the 100-degree-plus temperatures of a fortnight ago.

Sunday's maximum was 98 at Del Rio. But many of the maximums for the day were in the 80's.

Tuesday's weather was expected to be about the same. You could reach for a sheet or blanket early in the morning. Low temperature Monday ranged from 48 in Salt Flat in West Texas to 75 at Galveston.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery. Other arrangements were pending Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Lee was born in McMullan County Nov. 2, 1880. She and her husband came to Midland soon after their marriage. He entered the cattle business and his operations eventually spread over West Texas and into New Mexico.

Other than the daughter and husband, survivors include a brother, Louis Beyer, and a nephew, Edgar Beyer.

Mrs. Young Lee, 68, Area Pioneer, Dies

Mrs. Young Lee, 68, member of a pioneer ranching family in West Texas and New Mexico, died shortly after noon Monday, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. E. T. Westerman, 711 West Kansas Street. She had been in ill health for sometime.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery. Other arrangements were pending Monday afternoon.

District Court Jury Panel Call Postponed

Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton Monday postponed one day a scheduled date with 90 members of a 70th District Court jury panel.

Judge Hamilton said the jurors, scheduled a report at 10 a.m. Tuesday, will not have to report until Wednesday morning.

The postponement was ordered because of the State Democratic Convention Tuesday at Amarillo.

Tim doesn't want to stay at home.

"What do you mean by that? What have I done?"

"You haven't done anything. That's just the trouble."

Timothy settled back to listen to the lecture he knew was coming. Little Tim leaned against the doorway and watched his mother.

"Back when we were children," Matilda continued. "Life was a lot simpler than it is now. Midland was just a small place then. If a gang of kids wanted to play ball, they'd just go out on the edge of town a few blocks away and lay out a ball diamond.

"You didn't have to walk more than a few blocks to find some birds to hunt. And there always was a horse to ride across the country looking for the little adventures boys always look for."

"All that is gone now. Midland is a city. The dusty streets have been paved, the open country is miles away and about the only time you see a horse anymore is at rodeo time."

Timothy nodded his head in agreement.

"Caught up in a dizzy growth, Midland has been too busy building new buildings and new houses and paving streets and building water lines to worry too much about the youngsters," Matilda continued.

"Today there's just so little recreation available for our children. Or for our grown-ups, for that matter."

"Until this Summer, the boys had to search the neighborhoods to find a vacant lot for playing ball, and when they went on a picnic—well, you remember what happened when we went to Cole Park this Summer, Flee everywhere."

"There's Pagoda Park isn't there?"

Matilda Taxpayer Gives Papa Timothy Lowdown On Midland's City Park Plans

By COFF ROUGH

"Pop," said little Timothy Taxpayer, Jr., "can I have the car next Saturday morning?"

Timothy threw down the afternoon newspaper and jerked the worn old pipe from his mouth.

"What in heaven's name," he asked, "do you want with the car? Ever since we got that driver's license for you, all you think about is getting in the car and going somewhere."

"Well, pop," came the answer, "there's a gang of us going down to the mountains next Saturday to go swimming and have a picnic."

"Can't you ever stay at home?"

"Sure, pop, but what is there at home?"

Timothy shifted in his chair and waved a paternal finger at his son.

"Seems to me when I was a youngster," he started in, "we managed to find plenty to do. We took maybe one vacation a year into the mountains and the rest of the time we stayed at home."

"Got along pretty good, too."

Matilda Taxpayer, her hair greyed by years of patient tolerance with her explosive little husband, slipped into the room and listened a few minutes.

Times, Ideas Change

"Papa," she said, "if you remember, we got along pretty good with a horse and buggy in the old days."

"But I bet you wouldn't be caught driving a buggy through the streets of Midland today. Times change, papa, and sometimes we have to change our ideas, too."

Timothy turned and glared at this new adversary.

"What does that have to do with him being staying at home?" he demanded.

"Well, papa," she answered, "you know it could be your fault that

The Brutal Truth

From the political rostrums a good deal is being heard these days about liberating the captive lands of Eastern Europe from the crushing Soviet grip.

There surely is nothing wrong with stating that we can never, as a matter of principle, accept the permanent subjugation of the Eastern satellites to Russian tyranny.

It is well that we tell these peoples and the whole world again and again that we stand for freedom in Eastern Europe, as we do everywhere else.

But it is something else to talk as if we were going to embark on liberating adventures the day after tomorrow. We should make clear in all our assertions of support for the oppressed of Eastern Europe that we are not inciting them to early revolt.

To say anything to them in a way they may interpret as encouragement to rebellion is to play with their very lives. We never can forget the Warsaw massacre of World War II, when eager Poles rose up prematurely to strike at their Nazi conquerors.

Obviously we cannot mean at this time to stir even guerrilla warfare on any systematic, sustained scale. Struggle of this sort inevitably must fail if it is not finally assisted by other measures, perhaps including invasion by friends of the oppressed. There is not the slightest sign that any such decisive measures are in the making.

Much as we want to help these nations, we have to face the brutal truth that there is not a lot we can do concretely to aid them now. Naturally we must aid the refugees who courageously break across the Soviet-patrolled borders of Iron Curtain country.

To a Pole or a Czech who wants freedom in his lifetime, however, that may not be altogether satisfactory. Some of them, understandably, actually may hope for a general war, believing that out of it will come quicker liberation. Yet the realists behind the Curtain must doubt that liberty bought at the price of the ruin spread by another great war is well purchased.

The one best hope for the enchained Eastern Europeans probably lies in confronting the Soviet Union with such a mass of Western strength that the Russians cannot move aggressively anywhere. From then on, Russian power would seem destined inescapably to diminish.

This may not sound like much to offer the millions who live for the day of liberation. But any greater promise at this time would be delusion, if not outright deception.

What a man smears on himself when he's painting his own home would be enough for a second coat.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Senators regretfully postpone McCarthy probe; Truman to tour Europe next year; Republican rift splits Eisenhower Camp.

WASHINGTON — There were some unhappy moments during the closed-door session of the Senate Elections Committee when it met recently to consider its probe of Senator Joe McCarthy. The unhappiness even extended to elder statesman Carl Hayden of Arizona, chairman of the rules committee, who actually talked to other senators about firing Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa as elections committee chairman because of his pussy-footing.

It now has been eleven months since serious charges against McCarthy, plus a resolution that he be expelled from the Senate, were placed before Gillette's Election Committee. But Gillette has frittered away months of time, has issued no final report.

Meanwhile Senator Hayden, who as chairman of the rules committee which appoints Gillette's subcommittee, has the power to remove him. And last week Hayden showed other senators some interesting evidence on McCarthy which Hayden felt should have been probed thoroughly long ago. It consisted of a tabulation of McCarthy's bank deposits, showing that during a four-year period McCarthy had bank deposits and brokerage transactions totaling around $149,000.

Since a senator's salary is only $12,500 a year or $50,000 for a four-year period, these bank deposits and brokerage transactions indicated that McCarthy may have had revenue in excess of his salary by almost $100,000. This revenue, according to Senate committee investigators, was not fully recorded on McCarthy's income tax.

Twiddling in Cherokee There is not Senator Hayden's desire, nor that of any other committee member to prejudice McCarthy regarding this revenue. In fairness to him, it was suggested that these deposits might have come from loans or other nontaxable income, and that he should be given a chance to explain them.

However, what made Senator Hayden sore was that his subcommittee chairman, Guy Gillette, had pussyfooted for months, got out in Cherokee, Iowa, twiddling his fingers, letting the McCarthy probe drag on without confronting McCarthy with this evidence.

As a result, Hayden personally summoned Gillette to Washington and told him to get busy. Even then, Gillette arrived 24 hours late, kept other members waiting a full day.

Gillette's excuse for inaction has been that the two Republican members of the elections committee are absent. Hendrickson of New Jersey is in Europe, while Welker of Idaho, a close friend of McCarthy's, has sent word that he is up in a mountain camp, and wouldn't come down even if they reached him with a message.

As a result, three Democrats, Senators Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, and Tom Hennings of Missouri, in addition to Gillette, attended the recent elections committee session, but finally adjourned.

They decided that it would be considered unfair to question McCarthy regarding his deposits of $148,000 on the eve of the primary in Wisconsin. So the probe, once again, was postponed.

Tourist Truman There's been a lot of speculation as to what President Truman will do when he returns from the White House. Last week, however, he definitely spelled out part of his plans to Congressman Sam Yorty of California—namely a leisurely trip around the world.

Early next year, the President said, he planned to take Mrs. Truman to Europe, then tour through part of Africa, especially Ethiopia, in order to study the Point 4 program of aid to backward nations.

The tentative itinerary calls for visits in England and Holland, where he will return the calls of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Juliana; also to France, where he would return the visit of President Auriol; and in Italy he will pay his respects to Premier De Gasperi, who has also called at the White House.

The President appeared especially anxious to visit Greece where the Truman doctrine is credited by many diplomats with stopping the march of communism.

Truman has not been in Europe since he attended the Potsdam Conference shortly after assuming office in 1945. He first went to Europe as a captain in the Missouri National Guard in 1917.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Majority Of Editors Favor National Presidential Primary

By PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — A national presidential primary election in 1956 is favored three to one by U. S. newspaper editors in every state polled on the question by this column.

A much slimmer majority—54 per cent to 36 per cent—favors a change in Senate Rule No. 22 to limit debate and prevent filibusters. Ten per cent of the editors polled expressed no opinion. It is the overwhelming vote of Northern editors that accounts for this result.

Southwestern editors favor no change in the present rule, 56 per cent to 34 per cent. Southeastern editors stick with the present rule five to one—77 per cent to 15.

On the Taft-Hartley labor relations act, 35 per cent of the editors say no repeal and no change. The other 65 per cent think the law should be amended in varying degrees to remove inequities—and even to strengthen its restrictions.

These are the highlights of this poll on what probably are the three most controversial issues facing the new Congress which convenes in Washington in January, 1953.

On the political make-up of this new 83rd Congress, most editors feel that it will have Republican majorities in both houses. But the number of editors predicting a Republican Senate is much smaller than that predicting a Republican House of Representatives.

In the last Senate, there were 80 Democrats to 46 Republicans. Senators whose seats are to be filled in the 1952 elections number 35—18 Democrats and 17 Republicans. The Republicans therefore must win at least 23 of the 35 contests to obtain a 49-47 majority.

Close Senate Race On the outcome of this Senate race, 43 per cent of the editors think the Republicans will win control, while 41 per cent think the Democrats will retain their small majority. Sixteen per cent of the editors were unwilling to make a prediction. Fifty-four per cent of the Southern editors think the Democrats will retain control; 52 per cent of the Northern and Western editors think the Republicans will gain control.

In the last House of Representatives there were 235 Democrats, 200 Republicans. The Republicans must win at least 218 seats in November for majority control of one vote.

Fifty-three per cent of the editors think the GOP can turn this trick, while only 38 per cent think the Democrats will retain their majority control of the House next year. Twelve per cent of the editors would not hazard a guess on this.

Only in the Southwest was this sentiment reversed, 53 per cent of the editors in that area believing that the Democrats would carry the lower house as well as the Senate.

It is notable, however, that 10 per cent of the editors predicting a Republican Congress next year qualified by saying, "Only if Ike wins," or "Only if there is a Republican landslide."

As a corollary to this question of whether Republicans or Democrats would control the next Congress, editors were asked their opinions on what kind of a President General Eisenhower would make if elected. Would he be a "liberal" leader or a "conservative"?

The division was remarkably close among the 96 per cent who answered. Thirty-eight per cent think Ike will follow a liberal course while 57 per cent think he will be conservative. "Middle-Reader" What this would seem to indicate is either that the general has not made his own position clear, or else that he really is a "middle-of-the-roader," which he himself says he is. But only 17 per cent of the editors so ticked Eisenhower.

Comments of editors on this question were revealing. "Afraid he'll follow the Dewey line, unfortunately," said the Huntington (Ind.) Herald-Press.

"He'll be liberal," commented the Seminole (Okla.) Producer, "but not socialist."

The Manhattan (Kan.) Mercury-Chronicle, Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel, San Luis Obispo (Calif.) Tribune-Telegraph and others think Eisenhower will be liberal on foreign policy, conservative on domestic.

The Buffalo (N. Y.) News thinks he'll be a liberal, "preaching enlightened conservatism."

Many editors also had sharp comments on the prospects for changing the Taft-Hartley law, amending the Senate filibuster rule and installing a national presidential primary in 1956.

On this last-mentioned issue, the Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal opposed the proposition with the observation, "Think what a Huey Long could do with it!"

"Strengthen the primary system in the states," recommends the Ponca City (Okla.) News and several other newspapers.

"Amend the Taft-Hartley law to curb the power of the labor bosses," recommends the Livingston (Mont.) Enterprise.

"Just use it," is the substance of advice from the Baton Rouge (La.) State-Times.

Summing up Southern opinion on Senate rule changes, the Rock Hill (S. C.) Herald says, "The present rule protected liberal minorities in the past. It now protects conservative minorities. It should be kept as a protection for all future minorities."

SECOND MAN on the Ticket

By Edwin Lanham

Copyright by Edwin Lanham. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE expression on Governor Willis G. Warburton's full, relaxed face was familiar. I had seen it the night he tried to conceal his pride and satisfaction as he read aloud a telegram from his opponent in the gubernatorial contest, conceding his election, and again the afternoon a three-year-old bearing the Warburton colors nosed out the favorite to win the President's Handicap, $50,000 added, back in the days when the Governor owned a small racing stable. This time I thought I knew what it meant; it meant that the Governor had a full house, at least. My hand was a nine-high straight.

Even though I was sure I would take a beating this time, I did not mind. It was good to see the Governor enjoying himself; it was good to see the lines of strain in his face relax. Campaigning is hard on the most durable candidate, even for the second man on the ticket, and Governor Warburton had campaigned with an indefatigable sense of responsibility to his country and his party. I was aboard his special train because I wanted to see him in Washington, Vice President of the United States. It was there to help all I could, even when it involved bucking a full house with a nine-high straight.

Bill Evers, the Governor's press secretary, had dropped out when the Governor opened, and the other three players, all newspapermen assigned to cover the Warburton campaign, had failed to improve their hands on the draw. I was left there with a pat straight, facing the Governor's pat hand and looking into his pleased, amused blue eyes.

"Roy," he said, "this is going to cost you."

He said it like a man with a bluegum, and a casual observer would never have guessed there was a 10-cent limit. At worst: the hand could cost me hardly more than half a dollar, but the Governor had drawn his heavy eyebrows down over his blue eyes, he had set his square jaw, and looked as hard and overbearing as he could. Of course I knew Willis Warburton. I had known him for ten years, from the time I broke in as a reporter covering the Statehouse, when he was highway commissioner. So I was sure that if I were so rash as to continue the betting he would simply grin and show his hand, if he knew he had me beat.

"I'm raising you one dime, Roy," the Governor said.

I looked again at my nine-high straight, squirmed again. "Oh, heck!" I said, "I fold."

The Governor's bushy eyebrows went up and he pursed his lips. "Why, Roy," he said, with fatherly rebuke. "You shouldn't have done that. I have nothing." He faced his cards, showing two pairs. The other players laughed and the Governor said, "First time I ever bluffed anybody with a 10-cent bet." He grinned at me.

"Next time I'll call with this," I said, and took my Win With Warburton campaign button from my lapel and dropped it on the table. "You think his chances are worth a dime, Governor?"

"No comment," the Governor said. "Whose deal?"

Bill Evers reached for the cards, but his shuffle was interrupted by Lucy Strawn, the Governor's personal secretary, who came in from her office in the car ahead and laid a telegram on the table at Bill's elbow. Lucy had warm brown hair and warm gray eyes and she walked with a quick, mincing step that caught the eye and held it usually a little longer than good manners allowed.

"This came at that tank-town stop we just made, Bill," she said.

BILL picked up the telegram and read it with a worried expression. He usually looked worried. The duties of a press secretary are varied and unremitting, and I doubt if Bill had slept a night through since he took over the job when Warburton first ran for governor. He was a serious, nervous young man who stuttered a little when he was excited. Anything unexpected had a way of throwing him off balance, with the result he walked a daily tightrope as press secretary to a candidate for the vice presidency, but somehow at the same time he always managed to keep his center of gravity low enough to stabilize his head.

"Follows," Bill said, with an unhappy frown. "I guess we'd better postpone proceedings here. Something important has come up."

"Yes, sure," the reporters said. They all stood up, nodded to the Governor, grinned at Lucy Strawn and fled out.

"Bill," the Governor began, leaning back in his chair and smiling patiently. "What's exercising you now?"

"Listen to this," Bill said, and read the telegram aloud: "Boarding train Marksville stop please arrange accommodations."

"Yes!" the Governor said. "Bill said with emphasis, 'It's signed Clyde McDonald!'"

"McDonald?" the Governor said. "Clyde McDonald? Oh, you mean that fellow from Washington?"

"Hatchel-man McDonald," Bill said. "What does he want?"

"No doubt we'll find out," said Governor Warburton, and sighed wearily. "Did you break up the game just for that?"

"I did," Bill said firmly. "And there won't be any more poker games."

The Governor laughed tolerantly. "Bill, you're always issuing these secretarial commands, with a snap of your ink-stained fingers. May I ask why?"

BILL stuttered a little, it was the gauge of his excitement. "Governor, don't you know who Clyde McDonald is?"

"A newspaperman," the Governor said. "Just another columnist." "With a big syndicate," Bill said. "With another million readers. With a weekly radio broadcast and a few million ears snapping when he talks. You can't have him writing and talking about poker games with the press aboard your special train. For undisclosed stakes he'd have it."

"He'd do that, would he?"

"That's his technique," Bill said, "in newspaper language a fellow who performs when the boss blows the whistle is called a trained seal. But he's a performing wassail!"

The Governor sighed, "All right, Bill. No more poker games, if you say so."

State Liquor Dispute Tops Inter-Party Issue In Maine

PORTLAND, ME.—(P)—Maine voters Monday elect a U. S. senator, governor and three U. S. representatives in the nation's first test of Republican-Democratic strength this year.

At least one hotly debated local issue and clear, cool weather was expected to bring out a fairly heavy vote. Polls generally opened at 8 a. m., with most of them closing at 7 p. m.

Republicans expected to win all major offices, as they have done regularly since 1934.

Boistering their optimism was an informal survey, compiled by The Associated Press from opinions gathered by newspapers and radio stations. It indicated victory for the GOP, but with smaller majorities than in recent elections.

An investigation of the state monopoly liquor operation overshadowed all other issues.

In Washington, the Democratic National Committee demanded that General Eisenhower refuse to accept campaign support from Maine's Gov. Frederick G. Payne, Republican senatorial candidate.

The statement, issued by George W. Ball of Chicago, executive director of the Volunteers for Stevenson, said silence by the general will mean he condones the "mess in Maine."

Indictment Returned

Payne declined comment.

Ball referred to the indictment Friday of Bernard T. Eahn, former friend and associate of Payne, and Frederick W. Papsinos of Boston, on charges of conspiracy with a wine bottle to commit bribery by raising the price of wine sold by the Maine Liquor Commission, with Eahn to get the increase.

Eahn resigned last March as Liquor Commission chairman.

Payne's Senate opponents are Roger P. Dube, Democrat, and Independent—Democrat Earl S. Grant, whom Dube defeated in the primary.

There is a four-way contest for governor. The Republican is State Senate President Burton M. Cross. The Democrat is James C. Oliver, a former Republican U. S. representative. The others are Neil S. Bishop, Republican—Independent, and Republican State Sen. Henry W. Boyker, listed as independent.

Communists Endorse Progressive Ticket

NEW YORK.—(P)—The Communist party's National Committee has endorsed the Progressive party's candidates for President and vice president.

In a weekend announcement, a Communist Party spokesman said it would back Vincent Hallinan, San Francisco lawyer, for president and Mrs. Charlotta Bass, New York negro and former newspaper publisher, for vice president.

THE CRIBBING SCANDAL, NO. 5— Ex-Cadets Get Wanderlust After West Point Careers

(Editor's note: This is the fifth of seven Reporter-Telegram dispatches from NEA Staff Correspondent Murray Olderman on what has happened to 30 West Point cadets since their ignominious dismissal a year ago in the cribbing scandal.)

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

The wanderlust has seized several of the dismissed West Point football cribbers. Five have flitted from one school to another since leaving the academy.

Civilian life has its pitfalls, too, they've found out.

A case in point is Ray Malavasi, who typified the football fever that pervaded West Point. He was an all-New York metropolitan area guard at Clifton, N. J., High School and was set to attend Virginia when a visit by Army Assistant Johnny Green detoured him to the citadel on the Hudson.

The squat 190-pounder was called the best line prospect to enter West Point during the Blaik regime and in his one season proved it. He also picked up a bad knee.

With his buddy, Gerry Hart, a tackle from Brooklyn, Ray emigrated to Kansas State after the cribbing blowup. His first semester in civil engineering he made three C's and a D. He also reinjured the knee.

Reinjured For Game

"Just horsing around," explained Ray. "Now, I'm ruined for football."

He and sidekick Hart left school last March when studies weren't going so good and, says Ray frankly, "to keep from going to military Summer camp with my ROTC unit."

They worked in construction for a while.

Then, at the invitation of former Army Coach Murray Warmath, they trekked down to Mississippi State for a spell of Summer school. Next

"Now I'm ruined for football!"—RAY MALAVASI, EX-WEST POINT, EX-KANSAS STATE, EX-MISSISSIPPI STATE

Ray thought of going to Newark, N. J., College of Engineering. But Coach Bill Meek of Kansas State offered him a chance to continue his studies there if he'd coach the guards and tackles. So back to K-State he and Hart will go.

Kansas Gets Seven

Kansas State was an original focal point for seven cadets. As Malavasi noted, "Bill Meek called all of us with these offers when almost everybody else had turned us down."

Five enrolled—Malavasi, Hart, and John McShulskis of Kearny, N. J., guard Bob Voloninno of Passaic, N. J., and guard Ed Stahura of Indiana, Pa. Gene Filipaki gave it serious thought before choosing Vilanova, Halfback Herb Johnson of Sandy, Ore., backed down to get married, then was in a serious auto accident which ended his football career.

Now only McShulskis and Stahura will play. The latter first enrolled at Illinois with a big fanfare of publicity but switched to K-State when he found out he would be ineligible for two years at the Big Ten school.

In Fall Swing

The merry-go-round was in full swing when Voloninno pulled out of K-State after one week. He got homesick and went to Villanova.

Still another switch was made by Al Conway of Avondale, Mo., a top-notch offensive end at West Point. He first enrolled at Missouri but left after one semester because, according to Big Seven Conference rules, his two seasons at Army ruled him out for football. Conway turned up at small William Jewell College as a "math" major, and it was six months before newspapers ever got wise to the switch.

Conway is 4-F in the draft because of a bad knee. But had knee and all, he'll close out his collegiate football career with William Jewell this fall.

RED DECLARES SAUCERS 'BUNK'

ROME.—(P)—A leading Soviet astronomer says flying saucers are an "optical illusion growing out of sheer war psychosis."

The statement was made by Prof. Boris Kukarkin—Russian delegate attending the eighth World Astronomical Congress here in an interview published in the Red newspaper L'Unita.

Kukarkin declared the psychosis "is encouraged by those interested in war."

No flying saucers ever have been seen over Russia, he added.

AP Finds Tidelands To Be Major Issue Among Texas Voters

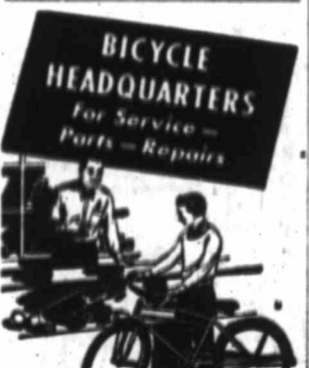

By The Associated Press

Do the voters of Texas care enough about the Tidelands fight for it to be considered a major issue in the presidential campaign of 1952? President Truman thinks not. Few Texans own oil wells, he says. And adds that Texas gave him a majority of its votes in 1948—after he had vetoed legislation to return the Tidelands to the states.

An Associated Press survey of Texas' political thinking indicates the average voted looks on the Tidelands issue somewhat differently today. Whether it finally will determine the way he will vote on November 4 is not yet clear.

Some voters are aware that Tidelands revenue will help Texas schools. The Texas Land Office says revenue from Tidelands, leases, royalties, bonuses, etc., was $2,389,578 up to June 5, 1950, the date of the decision in the Texas-Louisiana case. Little oil has been produced. Gov. Allan Shivers estimates the potential loss of the Tidelands to Texans in billions.

But for many the word "Tidelands" is becoming symbolic of something being taken away unjustly. In Texas' War of Independence, Americans rushed in to help and "fight for their rights." How far modern-day Texans will go remains to be seen.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have heard people complain about being too rich, but I must admit I have never suffered from this complaint. I have seen other sufferers, however—that is, at the bridge table. South suffered from this rare complaint in the hand shown today.

West opened the jack of hearts, East put up the queen, and South won with the ace. South could see lots of pleasant finesse in take in the black suits, so he entered dummy with the king of diamonds to try the spade finesse.

West won with the king of spades and promptly returned a diamond since his partners had dropped the queen of diamonds on dummy's king. This forced out dummy's ace of diamonds, and left the contract dependent on the club finesse. When this failed the opponents took a trick in each suit, setting the contract.

South's trouble was that he was too rich for his own good. Take the two black aces out of the South hand, and give them to West in exchange for the two black kings. With this change, South is poorer, but he will never dream of losing his contract.

South's natural play after winning the ace of hearts is to lead a low trump in order to force out West's ace (assuming West has both black aces). West can cash a heart and switch to diamonds, but dummy wins with the king of diamonds, draws trumps, and knocks out the ace of clubs. Dummy's ace of diamonds remains as an entry would establish clubs.

A really fine dealer would not be bothered by having aces instead of kings. The correct play in the

New Miss America Starts Victory Tour

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(P)—19-year-old Neva Jane Langley, launched a whirlwind personal appearance tour Monday as the 1952 Miss America.

For the next year, the 19-year-old green-eyed brunette will be on a busy schedule that may net her considerably more than the $2,000 scholarship prize that went with the beauty crown she won Saturday night.

Neva made her first official appearance as Miss America at the Reading, Pa., State Fair Monday. Meanwhile, in Irvington, about 100 miles north of here, a 50-year-old housewife wears the Mrs. America of 1952 crown. Mrs. Evelyn Joyce Schenk, wife of a Newark tire salesman, promptly fainted after the judges selected her Sunday night at Ashbury Park.

Daddy Ringtail Mother Hubbard's Dog

Daddy, Ringtail, your monkey friend, and the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, were on their way to see about Old Mother Hubbard and her dog, Daddy Ringtail, and the Huffen with him, were hurrying along through the Great Forest. Said the Huffen: "We may find trouble at Old Mother Hubbard's House, we may."

"Why, Huffen," said Daddy Ringtail, "why do you think we may find trouble at Old Mother Hubbard's house?"

"Well," said the Huffen, "last night I heard her dog a-howling, I did. Daddy Ringtail, if there isn't trouble, why was her dog a-howling?"

Daddy Ringtail didn't know. He didn't know why the dog had howled. But he did know that people sometimes decide the wrong thing, if they decide too fast. The Huffen should wait, Daddy Ringtail explained, and not do anything yet, about why the dog had howled.

"Look!" said the Huffen. "Shhh!" whispered Daddy Ring-tail, holding up his hand for the Huffen to "shhh." They peeped through the bushes ahead of them. They were close now to Old Mother Hubbard's house. The back door was open. Shhh! Somebody was tiptoeing out. The someone's back was turned, because the someone tiptoed backwards. The someone had a bonnet on her head. The someone wore a great big floppy dress of the kind that everyone knows is an Old Mother Hubbard dress.

"It is Old Mother Hubbard, it is!" whispered the Huffen.

"Now, now, now, Huffen," whispered Daddy Ringtail. "You don't know that it's Old Mother Hubbard. You are deciding things too fast again."

"But it has to be Old Mother Hubbard, it does," insisted the Huffen, "because she is wearing an old Mother Hubbard dress, and she tiptoed out of Old Mother Hubbard's house." "Shhh!" said Daddy Ringtail. "Look." The Huffen looked again and saw a something very strange. The Old Mother Hubbard dress had sat on the ground like a dog. It was Old Mother Hubbard's dog! It was all dressed up like Old Mother Hubbard, and it was a mystery, and I'll tell you about it tomorrow. Happy day!

Jacome, Ten Pitch Indians To Double Win Over Artesia

ARTESIA — (P) — Some good clutch pitching by Eddie Jacome and Israel Ten gave the Midland Indians a sweep of their doubleheader with the Artesia Drillers here Sunday night.

Jacome survived a late inning rally by the Drillers to cap a 5-6 victory in the opener, while Ten was troubled only by Joe Bauman's fiftieth homer of the year in taking a 5-2 win in the nightcap.

Another twin bill Monday night. In the first game, Scooter Hughes clouted out a three-run double to highlight a four-run outburst in the Midland second. The Indians then engineered single runs in the third and fourth to take a 6-0 lead.

Jacome Weakens

But Jacome weakened in the sixth and allowed two runs on four hits and gave the Drillers three more in the last inning before getting Rudy Briner on a fly to left to end the game.

In the nightcap, Joe Bauman's fiftieth homer of the year, with Vince Sarubbi on ahead of him, gave the Drillers a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning.

But singles by Manny Temes and Gordon Tanner sandwiched around a double by Earl Bossenberry tied it up for the Indians in the second. They went ahead in the fourth with two runs on doubles by Julio de la Torre and Temes and a single by Ten.

They completed the scoring with a single in the seventh when Hughes singled in Ten.

Circuit Officials To Weigh Changes In Fall Gathering

ABILENE — (P) — Elimination of one league and realignment of three others, pending disposition or cancellation of some five club franchises, were ultimate proposals tentatively accepted in a joint session of minor league executives and directors here Sunday.

Most concerned were the West Texas-New Mexico and Longhorn Leagues, so far as realignment plans were figured, but these also dovetailed with reorganization involving the Arizona-Texas and Southwest International leagues.

One of the latter probably would be dissolved by the dropping out of four clubs in those leagues, at least one in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

From some 15 realignment proposals chalked on the blackboard at the joint session of representatives of six leagues came three tentative agreements, pending approval of individual leagues at future meetings:

WEST TEXAS-NEW MEXICO LEAGUE: El Paso, Juarez, Albuquerque, Lubbock, Amarillo, Roswell, Clovis, Borger and Pampa. (Nine clubs are listed, with the possibility that Pampa might give up its franchise or that El Paso and Juarez might combine into one operation.)

LONGHORN LEAGUE: Midland, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene, Odessa, Lamesa, Artesia and Carlsbad. (This omits Sweetwater, whose franchise is held by A. C. Gonzales, who has not announced definite plans for 1959.)

Unnamed league (from the Southwest International and Arizona-Texas Leagues): Mexicali, Phoenix, Yuma, Bixbee-Douglas; either Globe-Miami or Cananea, Mexico, with possible additions making up an eight-club circuit from Chihuahua City, Juarez or El Paso.

The Longhorn League will convene in annual Fall session September 28 to approve or disapprove of changes involving its clubs, Hal Sayles, president, said Sunday.

Ray Winkler, president of the WT-NM circuit, said his league would meet October 18, but that a mail vote might be conducted before that time to determine the league's stand toward realignment.

Classification "C" probably would prevail in each proposed realigned league.

The Class B Big State and Gulf Coast Leagues were not involved in Sunday's realignment plans. Howard Green, president of both leagues, said that so far as is known now, the Big State League will operate in 1959 with the same members who are now concluding the 1958 campaign.

He said "possible changes" involving the Gulf Coast and Evangeline Leagues were being considered. Representatives of the three leagues convened in interim session Sunday and agreed to make no announcement of probable changes "at this time."

At the time Lopat was nursing a sore arm. It was doubtful if he could recover in time to help the Yankees. Since then, Steady Eddie has pitched three games and won them all.

Lopat hurled an eight-hitter Sunday and was credited with his eighth win on the strength of a grand slam home run by Pinch Hitter Johnny Mize. The blow came in the sixth and erased a 1-0 Washington advantage.

Roe's victory proved a gigantic morale booster for the slump-ridden Dodgers.

They had dropped six of their last seven.

Roe needed help, of course. It came from the booming home run bats of Gil Hodges, Pee Wee Reese, George Shuba and Billy Cox.

The Indians received splendid pitching from Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek as they registered their fourth and fifth consecutive triumphs. Garcia blanked the Browns on six hits to post his ninth victory in the opener and his fifth shutout. Cleveland got four hits off Gene Bearden but bunched two of them along with two walks to score three times in the first inning. Luke Easter's triple was the big blow.

Another three-run outburst, this time in the third, won the second game. Wally Westlake's wind-blown fly fell for a double to clear the clogged bases.

The Red Sox continued to plaster the left field wall of Boston's Fenway Park, smashing the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-5. Boston's 12-hit attack included homers by Hoot Evers and Dom DiMaggio and a three-run double by Johnny Ligon.

Ted Gray won his twelfth as the trail-and-Detroit Tigers turned back the Chicago White Sox, 4-2. Out-

BO WININGER, MAXWELL WIN

ODESSA — (P) — Francis (Bo) Winger, former Oklahoma AAM golf star now playing as a professional out of Northfield, N. J., and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, 1951 national amateur champion, fired a 63 Sunday for a 72-hole total of 251 to win the fourth annual $7,000 Odessa pro-amateur tournament.

The winning total was 33 strokes below par.

Winger collected $1,500.

Race For Playoff Berths In WT-NM Still Is Unsettled

By The Associated Press

First and second places have been determined but it's going to require the final three games to decide third and fourth in the hurling WT-NM Texas-New Mexico League race.

This league ends the regular campaign Wednesday night. Borger in third place, is a game ahead of Amarillo in fourth and two games to the good over Lamesa in fifth. Clovis, in first place, is 18 1/2 games ahead of Albuquerque, the runner-up club, which boasts a six-game lead over Borger.

Pampa trailed Amarillo, 11-7, Sunday night while Lamesa was splitting a doubleheader with Clovis to gain a half-game. Borger edged Lubbock, 6-7, in 11 innings, in the first game. Lamesa won the nightcap, 6-6.

Albuquerque edged Abilene, 9-2.

Odessa Clinches Share Of First

ODESSA — (P) — Odessa clinched a share of first place in the Longhorn League Sunday night with an 8-2 victory over Vernon.

The Odessians can drop Monday's final scheduled game with the Drillers and still get no worse than a second and clinch one with five more in the third before running up with single runs in the fourth and fifth.

Odessa picked one run in the second and clinched things with five more in the third before running up with single runs in the fourth and fifth.

Martin's homer, triples by Leo Eastman and Roberto Fabian, singles by Loyko, Castro and Ortiz and a Vernon miscue figured in the big win. The Dusters used two singles and a wild pitch for one in the third and Steve Margomarsino homered in the fifth.

Ortiz didn't strike out nor walk a man.

Broncs Down Dusters, 7-1

BIG SPRING — (P) — The Sweetwater Braves got minimum mileage out of the 13 base hits they garnered off Oscar Reguera as they went down in defeat before the Big Spring Broncs here Sunday afternoon, 7-1.

For all intents and purposes, the Braves sailed away the decision as easily as the first inning when they sent Chief Miller to the showers in the midst of a five-run outburst. John Merritt came on and did a fairly good job of containing the Big Spring power.

Reguera, who left 11 Sweetwater runners stranded, chalked up his ninth victory. He has lost on three occasions.

Miller did not retire a Big Spring batter. Juan Visteur doubled home two runs in the leadoff stanza and that was actually all the resident nines needed.

Baez Sets Pace

Bert Baez paced the Big Spring 13-hit offensive with a double and two singles in three official trips while Ernest Cortes and Chino Bernal each had three blows for the Braves.

Sweetwater got its lone run in the eighth on three successive singles after Reguera had retired the first batter to face him. A one-batter by Bernal drove in Charley Buck. Bernal was out, trying to stretch the blow into a double.

The Braves pulled four twin killings to keep the score down.

Big Spring 501 100 008—7 13 0

San Angelo Colts Move Into Fifth

SAN ANGELO — (P) — The San Angelo Colts moved into undisputed possession of fifth place in the Longhorn League here Sunday with a 6-3 win over the Roswell Rockets.

The defeat dropped the Rockets to sixth.

Three home runs backed the pitching of Lew Lozano and Cotton Russell as the Colts dropped the Rockets in the second to last game of the season.

Ken Kowalik hit the first ball pitched by Bob Weaver. Rocket starting hurler, for a home run as leadoff man in the first.

The Rockets tied it in the third on a walk to Bob West and Wayne Crawford's double.

Russell smashed a homer with Ronald Dacko on base in the fourth to give the Colts a 3-1 lead. The home club made it 5-1 in the fifth when Oscar Williams doubled and scored ahead of Glen Burns on a home run.

The final Colt tally came on a double by Burns, a sacrifice and long fly.

Southpaws Lopat And Roe Hold Key In Pennant Races

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The left arms of Eddie Lopat and Preacher Roe hold the key to the major league pennants.

Each turned in important victories Sunday as the flag fever continued to mount with each game.

Lopat, the 34-year-old southpaw from Arkansas, pitched New York to a 5-1 victory over the Senators in Washington to stave off Cleveland's bid to pick up appreciable ground on the world champions. The Indians, however, did out the Yankees' first-place American League margin to two games with a 4-0 and 3-1 sweep of a doubleheader from the Browns in Cleveland.

Stream Snapped

Roe, also a 34-year-old veteran and an Arkansan, threw a brilliant three-hitter at New York as Brooklyn came through with a 4-1 triumph that snapped the giants' five-game winning streak and increased the Dodgers' first-place National League lead to five games.

It was just 10 days ago that Paul Richards, manager of the Chicago White Sox, said:

"If Lopat can come back and win five games for the Yankees, the rest of us can split on the fire and sell in the dogs."

At the time Lopat was nursing a sore arm. It was doubtful if he could recover in time to help the Yankees. Since then, Steady Eddie has pitched three games and won them all.

LIPPY SAYS IT ISN'T SO— Showed Up Leo, Dressen Chortles

NEW YORK — (P) — Who fooled whom?

"I really showed up that Durocher, didn't I?" chortled Brooklyn Manager Charley Dressen Monday.

"In a pig's eye he did" retorted New York Skipper Leo Durocher. "That little so-and-so fooled nobody."

The Dodgers beat the Giants Sunday, 4-1.

Southpaw Preacher Roe, with a brilliant three-hit performance, stopped the Giants' five-game winning streak and put the Dodgers five games up on their rivals.

Right-hander Sal Maglie was shelled from the mound in the seventh inning and suffered the defeat.

Roe rarely beats the Giants. In fact, he was not supposed to have pitched at all. Maglie rarely loses to the Dodgers. He had been primed for this game for about a week. Now back to the rhubarb.

"I really fooled that guy," Dressen exulted. "He (Durocher) thought all along I was going to pitch Right-hander Joe Landrum and he started three left-handed hitters against us. That's just what I wanted him to do. You should have seen his face when I made that last-minute switch to Roe. He almost had a fit. But he was horn-swoggled. There was nothing he could do."

Dressen said it was this way: "I planned this move several days ago. I got the idea when I noticed Don Mueller, both left-handers, for Right-handers Bob Elliott and Clint Hartung when the Phillies pitched

Tearful, Imprisoned Mother Asks Reunion With Tommie

HUNTSVILLE.—(P)—The mother of crippled Tommie Yates, Mrs. Robert Dale Simpson, wants to be reunited with her child when she gets out of Goree Woman's prison near here.

Tears came to her eyes Sunday when she heard of the Christmas party Vernon gave her injured five-year-old son Saturday night.

"I hope Tommie received all the Christmas gifts left under the tree at our home the night of the accident," she said.

Mrs. Simpson is serving a 10-year prison sentence after conviction of beating little Tommie with a long-handled kitchen fork last Christmas Eve. At her trial she said Tommie kept climbing up on the bed against her orders.

"The newspapers left the impression that I was entirely at fault for the beating of my son," Mrs. Simpson said Sunday. "This is not true. I was only partially to blame. My husband and I were drinking heavily that night and I don't believe either of us realized what we were doing."

"However in court I took full responsibility for the beating as I went to prison," she said.

"I am happy to hear that Tommie is in good hands," she said. "But I will be working and praying the Good Lord will bring us together again."

Prison officials said Mrs. Simpson was a model inmate and was making a valiant effort to rehabilitate herself.

asked Timothy defensively.

"But that's so small, pop," interrupted Tim. "Half the time you go out there to go swimming and it's so crowded you gotta go back home."

More Swimming Pools

"Why don't they build more swimming pools, anyway, pop? Seems like Midland could use some."

Matilda broke in again.

"That's just what they want to do," she said.

"Who does?" asked Timothy, beginning to see the dollar sign wavering before his eyes.

"The city does," she answered. "Saturday, you know, they're having an election to decide whether to issue $5,000,000 worth of bonds, and Saturday we have a chance to correct a long-neglected situation."

"I thought those bonds were for streets and water and stuff like that," interrupted Timothy.

"They are," answered his wife. "But $518,000 is earmarked for parks."

"A half-million dollars," exploded Timothy. "A half-million dollars just for parks?"

"Now, wait a minute before you go puffing off in a tantrum," she replied. "Just wait and see what they want to do with that half-million dollars."

"That money will provide five community parks, scattered throughout the city. There'll be a big park on the West Side, another at Wadley, north of the city, and one in the south part of the city."

"In addition, there will be large parks for the negro section and another for the Latin Americans in their neighborhood."

More Than Grass, Trees

Timothy considered that for a minute.

"All you have to do to make a park is just plant some grass and a few trees," he said. "That shouldn't cost any half-million dollars."

"That's where you're wrong. A park is much more than land and grass and trees."

"On the West Side Park, for instance, they're going to build a swimming pool, tennis courts, ball fields, picnic areas with barbecue pits, an open air theater and other improvements."

"You mean we can go out there and have a barbecue?" asked Timothy.

"Why, certainly," she answered. "The Wadley Park and the one on the south side will be equipped the same way, although a swimming pool for the latter is not planned permanent chairman and keynoter. The Texans were torn by new cross currents of dissension and threats of another party split on the eve of the state convention.

While the group opposing certification of Stevenson as the Democratic nominee held a series of meetings Sunday night, Shivers announced that Attorney General Price Daniel had rejected an invitation to be the convention's keynote speaker.

Asked why, Shivers said the attorney general told him he didn't have time to write a speech.

Shivers had no additional comment on this incident, but it started speculation that the Democratic nominees for two of the state's top posts, governor and U. S. senator, may have had a falling out.

Daniel was the first to urge that the state convention try to find a way to make Dwight Eisenhower the state party's presidential nominee, rather than Stevenson. Shivers announced Saturday he had concluded there was no legal way to do this, and would recommend that the convention certify Stevenson as the presidential nominee.

At a news conference late Sunday night, Shivers said he has not finally shut the door on the possibility he might give his personal vote to Eisenhower. He would not expand on the statement, except to say that it was his "present intention" not to vote the Republican ticket, and to scratch Stevenson on the Democratic ticket.

National Magazine Lays 1952 Nash Car

Malcolm J. Breneman, manager of Breneman-Nash Company here, Monday called attention to an article concerning the 1952 Nash Ambassador appearing in the September issue of Mechanix Illustrated.

The article is by Tom McCahill, veteran writer and test driver, who lauds the Nash as "finest shock-proof ride in the world today" and "performance among the very best."

Breneman said McCahill recently tested the Ambassador over the "roughest, gouged-out testing road" in a nation-wide Nash promotional program based on this report of road tests.

Songwriter McKinney Called 'Great Spirit' For Baptists

Dr. B. B. McKinney, widely-known Baptist songwriter who has participated in numerous revival campaigns in the Midland area, died Sunday in Bryson, N. C., of injuries received two days previously in an automobile accident.

For 17 years he had been secretary of the music department of the Baptist Sunday School Board at Nashville, Tenn., and formerly was a professor at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

He was injured fatally as he was returning from a music conference at the Baptist Assembly in Ridgecrest, N. C.

Composed some of the Baptist church's best-known songs, he had directed the music in numerous revival meetings at the First Baptist Church in Midland.

"He has been a great spirit among Baptists of the South," said the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, "and was a great contributor to the Baptist life and influence around the world."

"His death is a distinct loss to Baptists."

He "Send a Great Revival" is the theme song of Evangelist Billy Graham and other songs include "The Nail-Scarred Hand," "Satisfied with Jesus," "He Lives on High," and "Have Faith in God."

Services for Dr. McKinney will be held Tuesday afternoon in Nashville.

Survivors include a nephew, Gope Routh, a member of The Midland Reporter-Telegram staff.

Man Indicted Here Held in Oklahoma

Stanley Fletcher, sought by Midland County authorities on a charge of forgery on an oil company pay check, has been arrested in Bayre, Oklahoma, Sheriff Ed Darnell said Monday.

The sheriff said Fletcher, charged in a complaint filed with Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson has refused to waive extradition and has been released by Oklahoma authorities on a $2,000 fugitive bond.

An extradition hearing will be held in 30 days.

Darnell said Fletcher was charged after passing a $168 check, purportedly a drilling company pay check. No such drilling company existed, however, he said.

Fletcher, also wanted by Ector County officers, is on parole from a forgery conviction in Lubbock, the sheriff said.

DEMOCRATS GET TO FRATERNIZING—

'Talk Of Party Bolt Mingles With Steaks At Amarillo Fry

By MARTHA COLE

PALO DURO CANYON — (AP)—
Along about evening when the sun was a-setting over the pale pink palisades of Palo Duro Canyon,
Texas Democrats got to fraternizing.
The clouds got to singing in the cottonwood trees, and the Democrats got to talking underneath.
"Hello, amigo, when do we bolt?"
"I never have bolted," declared Arch Rowan of Fort Worth. "I've been ejected forcibly. But I never have bolted."
Arch Rowan is an arch-Conservative among the Democrats of Texas.
But there are archier conservatives.
They didn't go the steak fry out underneath the cottonwood trees of Palo Duro Canyon 30 miles from Amarillo Sunday. Smoke-filled hotel rooms it was for them back at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo, headquarters for the State Democratic Convention to be held here Tuesday.

Conservative Quandary
They had to decide what to do since Gov. Allan Shivers said Saturday he thought Texas should have only two main columns on the November 4 general election ballot—one for the Republicans with Eisenhower at the top and one for the Democrats with Stevenson at the top.
What the arch Conservatives were talking about was a third ballot—one for the Texas Democratic Party with the GOP Presidential nominee, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, at the top. They'd have to splinter off from the state convention to do that if the regular convention followed Shivers' recommendation.

as the governor's. For it is now that the Democrats select the platform for their candidates for state office and name the party organization of which the governor is the titular head.
Shivers In Central
And few dispute it that Shivers has control of this convention.
The governor, himself, arrived late at the canyon, after almost everybody else had eaten.
He had to eat quickly and rush back to Amarillo for a press conference at 9:30 p.m.
Some 30 newsmen and photographers gathered in the governor's hotel suite, sat cross-legged on the floor when the chairs all were filled.
They fired the questions and the governor stuck to his ground: He couldn't vote for Adlai Stevenson because of the Democratic Presidential candidate's stand for federal ownership of the Tidelands.
What would he pass to his followers to do?
"Well, in the first place, the word "followers" is presumptuous.
But I believe every Texan ought to have the legal and moral right to vote as his conscience dictates."

Raw Milk Blamed For Polio Infection Of Pehl Children

FREDERICKSBURG — (AP)— Polio virus in raw milk caused six children in the Pehl family to be stricken with the disease, State
Health Officer George W. Cox said
Sunday.
Dr. Cox and other health officials made a day-long inspection of the Pehl family near here to find out why this great number of persons in one family had been infected with polio.
"The polio infection was undoubtedly carried in raw milk," Dr. Cox said. "The polio virus entered the milk during the milk process."
Six of the Pehl children are in a San Antonio Hospital with the disease. The only child not afflicted is a 13-year-old daughter.
Dr. Cox said one of the Pehl boys apparently got the virus from a close friend who was stricken with polio before the Pehls. He said the Pehls milked their own cows and the chore passed from one child to the other.
Evidently the Pehl boy passed the virus to others in his family when, in milking the cows, he contaminated the raw milk.
Had the milk been pasteurized,
Dr. Cox said, the family probably wouldn't have been stricken.
The health officer said the Pehl inspection does not throw any additional light on how polio is transmitted.
Sympathetic citizens of Gillespie County have contributed $3,200 to aid the stricken family.

ferent species of insects on the earth
