$2,000,000-Plus School Expansion Program Proposed

With Midland public school buildings bursting at the seams with students and additional enrollments expected during the next two years, the Board of Trustees Monday discussed proposed expansion programs in an afternoon meeting.

Supt. Frank Monroe outlined building needs expected for the next two years, based on anticipated enrollments. Members of the board agreed on the acute need for more school buildings.

The superintendent recommended an estimated $440,000 building program for 1953-54. The program with tentative figures includes a new South Elementary School, 30 rooms, $350,000; four-room addition to DeSavala Elementary School, $40,000; new Carter Elementary School, 14 rooms, $250,000, and 18-room addition to the high school building, $300,000.

Monroe said building needs, with estimated costs, for 1954-55 would include a new elementary school, $350,000, and a new junior high school building, $500,000. Following a discussion period, the superintendent was authorized to obtain information on the financial condition of the school system, including taxable valuations and indebtedness.

Slow, Soaking Rains Wet Bone-Dry Ranching Areas

Slow, soaking rain continued over Midland County Tuesday to assure further benefits to both farming and ranching. Autumn had extended its traditional spell two days, arriving Monday with falling leaves, showers, cloudy skies, drizzling rain and cooler temperatures. The time-worn scenario in the seasonal change extended over much of West Texas. Precipitation was reported in all directions from Midland, indicating widespread relief to drought-ridden lands. The City of Midland gauge at its municipal shop read 1.58 inches late Tuesday morning. The OAA station at Midland Air Terminal measured 1.11 inches up to noon. County Agent Charles Green reported that the southern farming section of the county received 1.50 inches of rain. It will permit farmers to plant cover crops to prevent soil erosion this winter and next spring. Young cotton planted in July will be benefited greatly, Green assured. The September moisture will also assure young feed, reducing winter feed bills. Many still needed. Farmers can't make another drought year, Green said. More rain is needed to build up an adequate sub-soil moisture for the next season.

Ben Osborn, SCS conservationist in Midland, advised ranchmen against returning livestock too soon to grazing pastures. The rain offers an opportunity to permit restoration of grasses and bring protection against soil erosion. Moisture fell on most of the Midland ranch country although the fall appeared heavier north of the city.

AFL Gives Official Nod To Stevenson

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Federation of Labor Convention Tuesday endorsed Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President. The action was unanimous by the 800 delegates, who acted on a committee recommendation.

It was the first endorsement by convention action since the AFL was founded in 1881. In 1924 a special AFL committee endorsed the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin who was running for the presidency on the Progressive ticket.

The announcement by AFL President William Green of the outcome of the standing vote by delegates at the Hotel Commodore was greeted with thunderous shouts. Cheers of torn paper were hurled into the air.

The CIO already had endorsed Stevenson, thus putting the two big branches of labor firmly behind the Democratic candidate. All the 800 delegates appeared to be standing on the vote as they applauded, whistled and cheered half a minute.

After calling for "nay" votes to be registered in the same way, Green carefully scanned the convention hall. There appeared to be no one standing among the delegates. Green then announced, "It appears there is no opposition," and declared the report "officially adopted." Prolonged cheers rang out again.

IKE WILL GET BELATED 'DUCK'

ROME (AP)—Alfonso Felici, an unemployed Italian who served in the American Army during World War II, said Tuesday he is sending his "gold duck" discharge ticket to General Eisenhower "because I just learned they didn't give him one."

Political Foes Said Ready Knockout Blow

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said Tuesday the Administration is "studying the application of a criminal statute that might be used against Senator Nixon" and the contributors to his $18,335 expense fund.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said it was learned Monday night that Attorney General James P. McGranery is awaiting Senator Richard M. Nixon's further explanation of the fund "with more than casual interest."

The Justice Department in Washington had no comment on the Times story. The story, by Anthony Leviero, said "the political furor" over the Republican vice presidential nominee's private expense fund as a senator "may take a grave turn."

"Thus far," Leviero wrote, "the Democrats generally have given the appearance of letting the Republicans settle the campaign crisis themselves. But behind the scenes the Administration for a few months has been bringing up ammunition to use against Senator Nixon."

The story also said: "While news of the fund broke explosively and suddenly, the Administration, including White House sources, was long aware of it. Leading Democrats were aware of it at least soon after, if not before, Senator Nixon's nomination, but they deliberately held their fire until the campaign was well under way."

Law Being Studied
In addition to Nixon, the story said, the criminal law possibly might be used also against "the 79 Southern California businessmen who contributed $18,335 to pay for some of the expenses of his activities since he became a senator in 1950."

The story quoted from the law it said was being studied by Administration officials and lawyers: "Whoever, being a government official or employ, receives any salary in connection with his service as such an official or employ from any source other than the government of the United States, except as may be contributed out of the treasury of any state, county or municipality; or

"Whoever, whether a person, association, or corporation makes any contribution to, or in any way supplements the salary of, any government official or employ for the services performed by him for the government of the United States—

"Shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both."

State Police Asked To Help Quell Riots
CHESTER, ILL. (AP)—An all-night demonstration by inmates of the Menard State Prison continued sporadically Tuesday and Warden Jerome Mumie called for state police to aid in quelling the disturbance.

Mumie said he regarded the situation as "very serious." Six prison guards were seized by 100 to 150 convicts in the prison's east cell early Tuesday and confined for a short time in an air fan tunnel. The guards were released unharmed, however, when Mumie assembled about 100 other guards, some heavily armed, and threatened to storm the cell house.

Ike Levels Guns At Truman, Ignores Nixon Fund Rhubarb
The Republican nominee announced he will speak on inflation in a major address in Cleveland Tuesday night.

Eisenhower made no mention of the political squabble over his running mate, Senator Richard M. Nixon of California. The time of the general's speech in Cleveland, scheduled at the same hour Nixon goes on television and radio in California, may be changed to avoid a conflict, his aides indicated.

Describing himself as having "a passion for peace," Eisenhower told a cheering crowd of 5,000 persons in Cincinnati Music Hall Monday night that Stevenson's foreign policy views show a "faintness of heart" reflecting the Truman Administration's "surrender of initiative" to the Communists.

Earlier, he headed a parade which

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, campaigning in the home state of Senator Robert A. Taft, declared Tuesday the Truman Administration is "totally incompetent to straighten out the problems that face this nation."

The Republican presidential nominee, introduced by Charles Taft, Republican candidate for governor, told a crowd estimated at 2,500 persons at Middletown, Ohio, that the Administration has taken as a slogan, "Inflation is the best policy." He declared, "The Republicans want honesty in the dollar."

Eisenhower said the GOP wants "big men" in office in Washington, "not men who are too little for their jobs and too big for their breeches."

Earlier, he headed a parade which

Howard Hughes Sells Movie Interests To Texans, Others

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Millionaire industrialist Howard Hughes announced Tuesday the outright sale of his controlling interest in RKO Pictures Corporation, producers and distributors of motion pictures, for $7,000,000.

Purchasers are a group of California, Texas and Midwest businessmen, headed by Ralph Stolkin, 34-year-old Chicago mail order millionaire.

The sum covers the purchase of 1,013,400 shares of stock at $7 per share. This amounts to about a 30 per cent interest in the studio.

Recent reports said Edward Burk and Robert Hayes of San Antonio, Texas, and Ray Ryan of Evansville, Ind., would be associated with Stolkin in the deal.

Hughes, who owns an aircraft plant, an oil tool business and a big interest in Transworld Airlines, is-used this statement on the transaction: "The buyers have assured me that they will pursue a program of top grade production of motion pictures for exhibition and motion pictures."

"They further assure me their plans encompass a strong policy of distribution in this country and throughout the world, utilizing the full facilities of the world-wide RKO distributing organization."

RKO Pictures Corporation is one of two firms stemming from Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation. Hughes still owns 228,000 of 3,114,813 shares outstanding—or 24 per cent—in RKO theaters Corporation. This corporation is the other firm growing out of Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

Stolkin is no newcomer to Hollywood. He headed screen associates, which produced the Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis film "At War With The Army."

Friends say Stolkin is something of a financial wizard. He is said to have parlayed a $15,000 loan into Empire Industries, which netted him millions in mail order business. Much of this he put into Texas oil, where a lot of Hughes' money comes from.

The real name of George Sand, the writer, was Mme. Dudevant.

Stamford To Have New City Manager

One Killed, 32 Hurt When Bus Plunges Down Embankment

BIRMINGHAM—(P)—A Greyhound bus careened down a 60-foot embankment after a tire blew out Monday, killing a 22-year-old woman and injuring 32 other passengers. Mrs. O. C. Martin of Nashville, Tenn., died in a Birmingham hospital about four and a half hours after the wreck.

There was no explanation as to what caused the front tire to blow out. H. D. McGough, chief inspector for the Alabama Public Service Commission, said the bus driver, Gordon Haralson, 38, Nashville, told him the tire had been driven only 3,500 miles and was "practically new."

A witness said the big vehicle rolled over about three times and landed on its top. The accident occurred 22 miles north of Birmingham.

Members of the state police, highway patrol groups and the Canadian Royal Mounted Police are included in the section.

USDA Paints Very Cloudy Picture On Pink Bollworm

WASHINGTON—(P)—An Agriculture Department press statement about the pink bollworm painted a pretty cloudy picture.

It said Monday that the cotton crop insect pest had been found in 10 Texas counties not previously infested.

The report added: "Cotton insects specialists of the department's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine estimated that damage by the pink bollworm to the 1952 cotton crop in this country will be more than its total damage in the last 35 years."

After that information reached the nation's cotton markets, prices shot up and closed from $1.25 to $2.50 a bale higher.

Pressed for clarification of the statement, embarrassed officials reported:

"They could not give any figures—either in dollars or in bales or in pounds on the 'total damage' the insect caused in the last 35 years."

"They couldn't give an estimate in dollars, pounds or bales of the extent of damage this year. Comparison of the damage this year with the past was based upon observations of specialists in the field."

SAYS SAUCERS HEAT LIGHTNING

ROME—(P)—Prof. Giuseppe Armellini, director of the Rome Astronomical Observatory, caught what was reported to be a "flying saucer" in his telescope Monday night and says "it's all a lot of nonsense."

He happened to observe something which set scores of Rome residents to calling their newspapers. "They are simply balls of heat lightning," he announced.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Today's hand is a sort of curiosity. South went out of his way to ask about his partner's aces, discovered that North had no ace, and then bid a grand slam anyway!

For the benefit of those who have just come in I should explain that South's bid of four no-trump was part of the Blackwood Convention. North is supposed to respond five clubs to show no aces, five hearts to show two aces, and so on.

South made his slam with no particular trouble. Dummy's king of spades won the opening lead, and declarer next cashed the top dia-

Now, for the first time, he led a trump, winning in his hand. This left one trump in dummy, which took care of South's remaining spade. South then ruffed a club, drew two more rounds of trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks.

Champ Tribe Scatters From Reservation To Winter On Other Prairies

By JIM LINDEY
Ghosts roamed Indian Park Monday night. They came to replay the 1952 Longhorn League season, left the records by Midland's Warriors who were departing in all directions for other reservations. The ghosts frolicked in the outfield, danced along the base paths and otherwise imitated those rollicking Indians of championship fame.

A majority of the Indians feasted on fried chicken early Monday evening at the Ranch House as guests of J. B. McCoy, Midland drugist and city official. Catcher Gordon Tanner was among the missing. He had shovelled off for his Canadian home, the first of the Indians to leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Nicolls and son, with Woody Pennington, headed east after the McCoy dinner. Pennington will resume work in the coal mines of Arkansas Wednesday. The Nicolls family is to visit in Memphis, Tenn.

Few of the Indians will be around Tuesday night. Carl Barbour caught a plane for Los Angeles Tuesday morning. He'll visit in LA before entering service as a Naval officer. Eddie Jacobs and family plan a week's visit in Tucson before returning to Midland. Ed Menapace, Earl Bosenberry and others headed for college campuses.

Ed Santa expects a call for military service soon. He may have time to play some semi-pro basketball with a Pennsylvania manufacturing firm where he is employed. Scooter Hughes will go to Oklahoma City to "rest for four months."

Manager Jay Haney will spend some time in Lamesa before returning to Midland with his family to make their home this winter. The Haney family is looking for a two-bedroom residence here. He will be in the city to work closely with the Indian management in moulding the 1953 organization. The search is on already for players to assure Midland another real contender next year.

Manny Tames, Julie de la Torre and Israel Ten look forward to a return to their homelands of Cuba and Puerto Rico by plane. They'll visit friends in other parts of West Texas before leaving, probably the first of next week.

Mrs. Glenn Selbo is here with her husband. They want to remain in Midland. With a degree in mathematics, Selbo has applied for a teaching position in the Midland public schools. Selbo hopes to coach, too.

Bill Brown may resume milk deliveries in his Pennsylvania home city. He operated a milk truck last winter. Cahlen Dinkle, expecting greetings from Uncle Sam soon, left Monday for Marshall, his home.

Souvenir hunters had a field day at the Indian barracks Sunday night. They grabbed things right and left in the frenzied excitement which followed the championship-clinching victory over Odessa.

General Manager Horace Busby has asked for the return of four or five expensive uniforms. He'll exchange autographed baseballs or get anything within reason to get them back.

The hysterical fans defaced the clubhouse and otherwise raised Old Billy. The management didn't complain. But Monday the uniforms were found to be missing and officials begged for their return.

Review of Eddie Jacobs' superb performance in the Longhorn League title series, three against Big Spring and two in the Odessa bracket.

Statistics are digging into Longhorn League records to see if Jacobs' feat has been equalled or surpassed in the circuit's records.

Selbo, regular right gardner, and Ten received credit for the other two games won by Midland in the Odessa section of the Longhorns. Selbo was being held in reserve to start the seventh and final game if the series had been extended to the limit.

Longhorn League President Hal Sayles filed a telegraphic congratulatory message to the Indians Monday. He referred to the club's contribution in a banner season for the loop.

The Midland management planned to send a telegram of congratulations to the Odessians if they had won the Longhorn pennant. It had been discussed on more than one occasion.

Odessa, defending league champion, had not congratulated its successor Tuesday morning.

Denver of the Class A Western Association put in its bid Monday for Keith Nicolls, the ace right-hander of the Indians. Denver wrote in the interest of a trade or outright purchase.

The Atlanta Crackers continue their interest in Nicolls, who'll likely prove a valuable asset for trading purposes or a cash sale by the Indians.

Manny Tames, the Little Cuban of sweet revenge fame, has been recalled by Borger in the WT-NM league. Manny doesn't care to return to Borger and Indian authorities hope to work out a deal where by he'll stick with the Tribe.

Midland fans may see Tames performing in right field next season. Manager Haney is expected to take over the keystone position.

Tames has played a lot of outfield. With his speed, he can cover ground.

Tames knocked out 25 home runs for Borger before coming to Midland. His batting average was .340.

The Shaughnessy Players' share placed $117 each in the pockets of Manager Jay Haney and his club. The Big Spring attendance was disappointing. Weather was a factor but the turnout proved interest lagged in the Howard County city. Otherwise, the shares might have exceeded $200.

The champion Indians also divided a pennant fund of $2,000 from grateful fans in the Permian Basin capital. It meant more than $100 each.

There was a small sum from the league admission "kitty," too. One cent on each admission during regular play went into the special fund. It was distributed on a sliding scale to the first division clubs.

Pecos Stages City Golfing Tournament

PECOS—Qualifying continues this week in the City Championship Golf Tournament at the Pecos municipal course. First qualifying scores were posted Saturday with play to continue through next Sunday.

All Pecos golfers have been invited to participate in the tournament, which is offering four prizes in each flight. Number of flights will be determined by the number of participants.

Medalist honors will be determined over 18 holes, while other flights will involve only nine holes.

Interest in the tourney appears to be unusually high. Pecos has a flock of strong golfers, and several expert players have moved here in recent months. Present city champ is Fred Schluter.

All golfers and enthusiasts are invited to a barbecue here at 7:30 p.m. October 4. It is being staged by the golf team of Jerry Jenkins, defeated recently by a team headed by Schluter.

Committees named to promote an city tournament include: Tournament—Jim Goodman, chairman, Bill Turpin, Jack Le-Croy and Bob Hays. Prizes—Glenn Hunt, chairman, Melvin Cooksey, Pete Lowrance, Allan Cunningham and E. V. Cole. Rules—Glenn Hunt, chairman, Guy Walker and Allan Cunningham. Entertainment and Calcutta pool—J. V. Davis, Frank Bounds, Dub Card and Jerry Jenkins.

GLOWERING SKIES WATCHED—Rain May Bring Delay In Heavy Title Fight

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Champion Jersey Joe Walcott and dynamic Rocky Marciano anxiously peered at the gloowering skies Tuesday as they marked off the long hours for their heralded heavyweight title clash at 8:30 p.m. (CST) in Municipal Stadium.

A light drizzle dampened the Friendly City Monday night and early Tuesday and the forecast was for rain through most of the day.

If it rains late Tuesday and a postponement is necessary, the 18-round bout will be put on Wednesday, with Thursday an additional standby day.

The possibility of rain brought to mind the heavyweight title scrap between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey in this same huge bowl just 26 years ago. Gentleman Gene lifted the Manassas Mauler's crown in a battle fought in a heavy down-pour that drenched both the pugilists and the 120,747 fans. The customers shelled out $1,895,733—a record then—to witness the titanic.

There won't be anything close to those figures Tuesday night—if the bout goes on—but it will be the richest heavyweight promotion since the Joe Louis-Walcott return on June 25, 1948.

Co-promoters Jim Norris and Herman Taylor look for a crowd of 80,000 and a gate of between $550,000 and $600,000. Walcott will col-

Sports Move Within One Game Of Crown

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Shreveport pulled within a game of the Texas League championship Monday night after squeaking to a narrow 2-1 playoff win over the Oklahoma City Indians who muffed too many chances.

The highly-keyed Sports are leading the series three games to one. Lefty Fred Bacewski struck out five and yielded but two walks in deciding Ernie Orth.

The clinching run was brought home by Jim Ackerst in the fourth on a high-hopping grounder just out of Shortstop Tommy Lind's reach.

Pecos Tries Wink In AA Headliner

By The Associated Press
Favorites are pushing forward in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football and several of them have the opportunity to show how they deserve it this week.

One of them is Pecos which tries Wink, the Class A power, in the feature game. Wink just loves to knock over teams in the upper classes. The Wildcats beat Kermit of AA last week, 13-12. Pecos was running over McCamey, 47-6.

Other teams that appear of state championship caliber in the few games played thus far are Phillips, Arlington, Terrell and Pleasant Grove.

Arlington, the defending champion, opened the campaign with a 25-0 conquest of Garland last week. Phillips gets a grand test this

Fluke Homer Wins Pennant For Tyler

AUSTIN—(AP)—A fluke, inside-the-park home run with a man on base enabled Tyler to subdue Austin's Pioneers, 2-1, and win the Big State League playoff championship Monday night.

Tyler won the final playoffs in four straight games after finishing the season a game out of first place, then erasing Texasarkana 4-3 in the opening playoff round.

Johnny Stone clubbed the playoff blow Monday night, slamming a high fly to left center field. As the ball dropped near the fence, Austin Center Fielder Ken Mapes crashed into the wall and was stunned momentarily, unable to retrieve the ball.

5-A Highlight Wink Victory Over Kermit

Wink's 13-12 margin over Kermit highlighted action last weekend in which only three teams in District 5-A came out on the long end of the score.

Also winning was Iran, which scored a 23-12 decision over Odessa, and Fort Stockton, which romped to a 33-6 victory over Eldorado.

Dropping their tilts were Marfa, Alpine, McCamey, Crane and Big Lake. Marfa dropped a 20-17 decision to Sanderson in something of an upset. Sonora topped Big Lake, 19-6 also in an upset. McCamey lost to Pecos, 47-6, while Crane was stopped cold by Seminola, 49-0 and Alpine was edged by Monahans, 13-7.

The rambling Wink Wildcats again head this week's schedule. The Wildcats move off their home ground and take on Pecos.

Crane gets back into its own class by meeting Odessa, Fort Stockton plays host to Sanderson, Marfa entertains Fabens, McCamey meets Monahans, Iran journeys to Del Rio, and Alpine plays host to Solorio.

Native Dancer May Sew Up Two-Year-Old Title Saturday

NEW YORK—(AP)—Native Dancer can just about sew up the 1952 two-year-old championship Saturday in the rich Futurity Stakes, but the main business at hand is the $25,000-added Lawrence Realization Wednesday at Belmont Park.

The Lawrence is expected to help settle the three-year-old title chase between the two leading contenders of the moment, Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count.

While Native Dancer was thumping seven juvenile rivals in the $5,000 Anticipation purse Monday, Calumet's trainer, Plain Ben Jones, won a protest over Belmont's stewards.

Jones claimed Mark-Ye-Well was entitled to an eight-pound allowance under conditions of the Lawrence. The stewards said not. The conditions state non-winners of a three-year-old weight for age race valued at $25,000 get eight pounds off the top weight of 126 pounds.

Mark-Ye-Well had won two $100,000 jobs in Chicago during the Summer, the Arlington Classic and American Derby, and stewards ruled he had to pack 126. Jones appealed to the State Racing Commission and was upheld for the two Chicago races were not weight for age.

One Count, winner of the $100,000 Belmont and the Travers Stakes, will have to carry 126, if he starts. The Belmont is weight for age, 126 pounds.

The Lawrence Realization, being run for the sixtieth time, is at a mile and five-eighths.

Native Dancer, unbeaten now in seven straight races, took charge in the final three-sixteenths of a mile of the six-furlong Anticipation Purse. The grey son of Polymesian, from the stable of Alfred Owynne Vanderbilt and ridden by Eric Queen, beat Ben Whitaker's Tahitian King by a length and a quarter. Hal Price Headley's Reprimand was third.

The Vanderbilt colt was the $2.80 for $3 favorite.

APPEAL FOR FARM VOTES—Newschart above illustrates arguments both political parties will use in order to get the farm vote. The Democrats will tell the farmer "You never had it so good" and point to the farmers' high net income. The Republicans will argue that inflation has wiped out all gains and that farm machinery, which is much more expensive than it used to be.

Space, Teacher Shortages Pose Pecos School Problem

PECOS—With enrollment in the Pecos public school system standing at 2,508 students, an all-time high, Supt. Ray Whitley said Tuesday classrooms are overflowing, particularly at the elementary school.

Salary Problem Serious

Whitley began the school year this month with 100 teachers and two substitutes. Three have resigned since then. Reason given for the resignations was the claim that they could not live on salaries offered here.

Midland-Pegasus To Get Two New Projects

Locations have been staked for two new explorations on the north side of the Pegasus multipay area of Southwest Midland County.

One of them is slated to go to the Ellenburger and the other is a Pennsylvanian development.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 5-A John Windham is to be the Ellenburger test. It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 20, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey. That puts it approximately 25 miles southwest of the city of Midland.

To Test Ellenburger

Drilling to 13,300 feet or a test of the Ellenburger at a lesser depth is to start at once.

C. W. Murchison No. 4 Canon is the new exploration to 11,000 feet to test the Pennsylvanian in the Pegasus area of Southwest Midland County.

It will be 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of the south half of section 13, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Operations are to begin by October 1.

Blanco, Buchanan To Dig Directional Hole In NW Dawson

Blanco Oil Company and A. A. Buchanan filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting to re-enter a Pennsylvanian failure in the Mungerville pool of Northwest Dawson County and drill to bottom of surface casing and start a directional hole.

Surface location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 96, block M, EL&RR survey. Bottom-hole location is slated to be 100 feet from north and east lines of the section. Contract depth is 8,700 feet.

Location is 12 miles northwest of Lamesa.

Standard Finals SE Borden Well

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 6-B-15 T. L. Griffin has been completed as a Canyon reef oiler in the Nobo field of Southeast Borden County.

It was finished for a daily flowing potential of 317 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil through a 16 1/4-inch choke and from open hole at 7,120-7,130 feet. Pay had been treated with 300 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 1,258-1 and tubing pressure was 625 pounds.

Location is 1,228 feet from east and 467 feet from north lines of the lease.

Sutton Venture Gets Gas, Water On Strawn DST

W. M. Lyle of Midland found gas and salt water in a drillstem test in the Strawn line of the Pennsylvanian at his No. 1 G. C. Allison, Northeast Sutton County wildcat.

That test was at 5,064-95 feet. The tool was open one and one-half hours.

There was a strong blow of gas at the surface after eight minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

Recovery was 450 feet of gas cut salt water and 180 feet of mud cut salt water.

No Shows Of Oil

There were no shows of oil in that fluid.

The prospector now is making hole below 5,200 feet in lime.

It previously had shown gas estimated at 1,000,000 cubic feet per day, and recovered 285 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud in a drillstem test at 5,013-80 feet.

Length of that test was not reported. Tentative top of the Strawn lime has been picked at 5,010 feet. That is on an elevation of 3,207 feet.

The wildcat is 15 miles northeast of Sonora. It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 90, block 9, TW&NG survey.

C-E Runnels Slated For 4,000-Foot Test

A. J. Renn, trustee, No. 1 John Armstrong is to be a 4,000-foot rotary exploration in Central-East Runnels County.

It is four miles south of Crews and one-half of a mile west of production in the Crews, South (Lower Fry) field.

Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, A. Losoya survey No. 515. Drilling with rotary tools is to start soon.

Culberson Venture To Be Plugged Back To Delaware Sand

El Paso Natural Gas Company is plugging back to 3,700 feet for tests of the Delaware sand at its No. 1-L Grisham-Hunter Corporation-State, wildcat in East-Central Culberson County.

The project was drilled to 10,577 feet in the Devonian where it failed to make commercial production.

Operator took a 90-minute drillstem test of that formation from 10,529 to 10,577 feet. Recovery was 630 feet of drilling mud, 3,000 feet of mud cut sulphur water and clean sulphur water and 7,040 feet of brackish water.

Location of No. 1 Grisham-Hunter-State is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 31, block 54, psal survey and 21 miles north of Kent.

That puts its seven miles southeast of a shut-in Devonian gas discovery.

Second Producer Completed In New Kent County Pool

Chapman & McParlin Producing Company No. 2 D. M. Cogdell, Jr. project in Central-South Kent County, has been completed as the second producer in the Cogdell East (Cogdell Sand) field.

It was finished for a daily pumping potential of 89.82 barrels of 41.3-gravity oil from pay at 4,528-4,584 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 945-1. Gravity of the oil is 41.3 degrees.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure was from 680 to 915 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 4,120 pounds.

Flows Oil

The wildcat flowed oil, estimated 20 barrels hourly, on a drillstem test from 9,830 to 9,886 feet. Tool was open two and one-half hours. Gas surfaced in 30 minutes. Water blanket came to the top in 90 minutes and oil in 95. It flowed an estimated 20 barrels hourly during the remainder of the test. Recovery was reversed out. Only heavily oil and gas-cut mud was recovered below the circulating sub.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure was from 658 to 1,797 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 2,805 pounds.

Fresh Food For Midlanders Enters City From Far, Near

The average Midlander, sitting down to his evening meal, might be surprised to know just where some of the fruits and vegetables on his plate come from. For example, he might see a delicious salad composed of tomatoes from California and lettuce from the mountain regions of Colorado, set before him.

If he has steak, it may be garnished with onions brought in from Lubbock. And if it is Wintertime, he could have cabbage from the Rio Grande Valley in Texas, and perhaps some broccoli brought in from Florida. If he has black-eyed peas, they may have been grown in Odessa. For dessert, Mr. Midland may dine on cantaloupe from Pecos. Or he may select a peach from California, a Washington apple, or a Frisco banana shipped in from Guatemala in Central America. Perhaps he may even prefer one of the New Mexico apples to finish his meal.

There is a good chance that these items have been furnished to Mr. Midland by the Webb-Davis Fruit Company, located at the Midland Air Terminal. This produce house, the only one of its kind in the Midland-Odessa area, is a partnership owned and managed by M. L. Webb and H. J. Davis.

FOR THE SALAD PLATES—Warehousemen unload a carload of lettuce at the Webb-Davis rail siding. Note crushed ice in the car which kept the lettuce fresh in transit to Midland.

Police Close Rome Church Of Christ For Second Time

ROME—(AP)—The police enforced a government ban against services in Catholic Rome's Protestant Church of Christ for the second time Sunday, but U. S. Evangelist Cline R. Paden of Brownfield, Texas, led most of his small congregation to a church outside the city.

Paden rounded up four taxis and two private automobiles to transport 30 of his flock to San Cesario, 30 miles southeast of Rome, after police barred entrances to the city church. The Italian police closed Paden's Rome church last Sunday on grounds he did not have necessary government permits to operate.

Role Of The Non-Skeds

When the non-scheduled airlines became embroiled in a series of accidents last Winter, cries went up that they should be put out of business. The Civil Aeronautics Board wisely resisted this emotional clamor. Now, however, it is engaged in a sober review of non-sked operations to determine what place they should occupy in the airline picture.

The regular, or so-called certificated airlines, make many arguments against the non-scheduled companies. They say competition from them is unfair, since they do not have to stand the expense of serving intermediate points but just tap the lucrative traffic between big cities.

And they add that, although these lines are not supposed to offer regularly scheduled service, in combination with each other they virtually do offer such service. On top of this, their investment in equipment and facilities is small. The non-skeds do not own big fleets of aircraft. For the most part they lease planes from the U. S. Air Force.

The arguments for the non-skeds are that they act as a competitive spur to the regulars and provide a means for bringing new blood into civil air commerce. The lines are seen as comparable to small business in some other field.

There seems little doubt the non-skeds were a large factor in pushing the regulars into the now expanding air coach service, and they may have had something to do with the growth of air freight operations among the certificated airlines.

It always has been contended, too, that the overwhelming bulk of the non-skeds were small, veteran-operated outfits. The government, it was said, had a duty to encourage outlets for the talents of thousands of wartime pilots and navigators. But evidence indicates this is less true today. Many non-skeds are fairly big companies which make substantial profits.

The CAB now must decide exactly what it does want to allow in this field. The law governing commercial air operations makes no provision for non-sked operations at all.

The CAB improvised in permitting them to function in the first place. If it now believes, after thorough study, that they have a proper place in the aviation scheme, that role should be defined carefully in recommendations and spelled out in amendments to existing law.

Such a course would bring the non-skeds within the purview of the law and thereby give them the same kind of responsibility the regular airlines are expected to exhibit. With that advance, the nation could look confidently upon them as a normal part of commercial air traffic upon which it could depend for safe and efficient service.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Nixon "expense" gift hits Eisenhower train like bombshell; Ike grim on receiving news but supports running mate; Coattail riders increase as general hits out.

Ed Follard of the Washington Post, also an Eisenhower paper, backed him up, as did others.

"I'm not going to get a statement for all you Democratic papers," globed Hagerty, half joking. "But I happen to represent a paper which strongly supports your candidate—at least momentarily," shot back Johnson.

Hagerty couldn't help himself. He knew that the general was in the rear of the train at that moment with Senators Carlson of Kansas and Seaton of Nebraska, two of his closest advisers, trying to decide what to do.

Next morning Hagerty came forth with the general's statement which many construed as strong support of Nixon although Ike also said he would talk to his vice presidential running mate.

A moment later, the train stopped for a usual whistle-stop appearance. Ike was grim as he stepped out on the rear platform. But he went through with his corruption routine.

"We have to get rid of people who regard public office as an opportunity to get rich and aggrandize themselves," he said. "I believe the cure has to come from top to bottom. I sincerely believe I can do the job with the men I gather round me in Washington."

General Eisenhower looked stern, indeed as the train pulled on to the next whistle-stop on the Midwest prairie.

A sure sign that a candidate is riding the bell's when his coattail riders increase. Local Republicans have been flocking aboard the train in such numbers to ride with Ike across their state that he's kept busy shaking hands between stops. A total of 180 rode with him across Iowa.

This would be all right if so many didn't want to make speeches or take a bow alongside Ike. You can understand this on the part of Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana, who faces a tough election fight, or Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa who was caught doing some strange things with his income tax.

But when Senator Bourke Hickendoper of Iowa, who was reelected as recently as 1950, speaks for almost as long as Eisenhower in introducing him, it illustrates how enticing indeed are the coattails of the general.

Ike, Like Dewey In 1948, Meets 'Engineer' Trouble
ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is having his trouble with railroad engineers just as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had in 1948.

Four years ago Dewey created a political incident when he called the engineer who backed his special train into a crowd at a whistle stop a "funatic."

At Henderson, Ky., Eisenhower apologized to the crowd because he said the engineer on his special had not pulled the train far enough forward to clear all of the listeners. Then the GOP nominee complained because the noise of escaping steam was drowning out his voice.

This train's engineer was Cecil A. Tindie of Evansville, Ind., brother of Lee Tindie, the engineer Dewey had dubbed a "funatic."

WSB's Cox Hints At New Regulations To Unravel Tangle In Fringe Benefits

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — New Wage Stabilization Board regulations to govern "fringe" pay increases may be forthcoming. This was hinted by WSB Chairman Archibald Cox in his talk before the American Bar Association at San Francisco.

At the present time WSB will approve fringe benefits—for lunch time, paid holidays, pension plans, vacations, etc.—provided they do not exceed prevailing practices in any industry area. This takes up a lot of WSB time to decide such trivial questions as whether time off to vote or attend grandmother's funeral are "prevailing practices."

One suggestion has been to de-control all fringe benefits. But if that were done it would cause unions to demand fringe benefits in place of straight wage increases. Another suggestion has been to de-control minor fringe raises but keep the big ones under control.

The inflationary effect of fringe benefits may be as great as straight wage increases, Chairman Cox admits. "This is backed up by the recent U. S. Chamber of Commerce survey of more than 300 employers. They reported that fringe pay cost an average of about $12.80 per employee per week. This included Social Security and unemployment compensation payments."

Backward Relations
President Benjamin F. Fairless of U. S. Steel Corporation, in accepting the John Fritz Engineering Award for 1952, pointed up sharply how more progress was being made in scientific and technical fields than in human relations.

Since the end of World War II, the U. S. steel industry has increased its capacity by an average of two-and-a-half million tons a year. In this same period, the amount of steel production lost through strikes has averaged 7,000,000 tons a year.

Ringside Tub
The U. S. soap industry now is marketing-test new detergents to take the place of the old hand-and-bath soaps. The new detergents will be in cake form, as well as powders for special dispensers in public wash rooms.

One of the big advantages of the detergents is said to be that they are better cleansers with hard water. But the biggest advantage is that they don't leave a ring around the tub.

False Colors
Galina Zybina, the huge woman athlete who won the Olympic Games shot-up in the women's division, has been recognized and identified by name and by news pictures in various Latvian communities of the U. S.

They say she isn't a Russian, at all although she won her Olympic event under the Russian colors. She's a native of Latvia. Hungry Fuel Rates
It will be 1955 before the United States has jet aircraft transporta operating in commercial aviation, according to C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines. An outlay of $25,000,000 or more will be required for development in this six-year period.

The last jet airliners will cost from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 apiece, as compared with about $1,500,000 for a modern transport plane today.

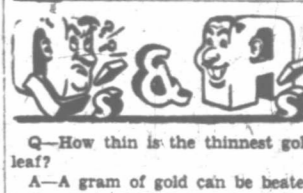

Big drawback to jet transport development is that jets can't be operated profitably. Fuel consumption on a big transport powered by conventional reciprocating engines is a little under nine pounds of fuel per mile. For a jet of the same size it would be more than 20 pounds per mile.

Because jets operate best at high altitudes, their future use probably will be on long hops—across the continent in five hours or less.

Construction on this $200,000,000 job was begun two years ago. In this time there have been 87 strikes, accounting for 2,847,000 man-hours of work lost. This is a little more than five per cent of the total time put in by the construction force which now numbers more than 22,000.

The last strike at Paducah, recently settled, involved 18,000 workmen. Eight of the strikes were jurisdictional disputes between rival AFL unions. They accounted for almost a fifth of the time lost. Other strikes were over wages, working conditions and supervisory personnel.

Bill looked up. "You got anything on her, Governor?"
"On Miss Hattie?" The Governor smiled. "Of course not."
"Let me tell you something up," Bill said. "There must be some dirt somewhere."

"The Governor shook his head. "You're not busting a law suit now, Bill. We're dealing with a fine old lady."

"All right," Bill said. "But we've got to get to her somehow. We've got to, Governor."

"One thing I recall about Miss Hattie," the Governor said. "She's a very determined woman. If she makes up her mind, there's nothing much we can do."

"There must be some way to get to her," Bill said, and looked at the floor. "How about this?"
"Tell me," Bill said. "She's got a grandniece she's pretty fond of. That's the only avenue I see."

"What age?" Bill asked.
"Young," I said. "And pretty."
"Look at him," said Lucy Strawn. "He's blushing!"

THE SECOND MAN on the Ticket

By Edwin Lemmon

THE STORY: Ann Hattie, boy-beat of the "Presidential Candidate Will Warburton, has threatened to tell something about a date the Governor had when he was to his home town for a campaign speech. Clyde McDonald, syndicated news columnist, is on the trail of the story, and attempts to placate Ann Hattie as he goes. The Governor has not yet decided whether to run, and the story is the result of the trouble.

"What's wrong with that? You paid the money back, didn't you?"
"Of course," the Governor said. "I brought the box to Miss Hattie, and she made up the difference, and for a couple of months I stayed after school every day and carried wood and ashes and washed the blackboards and cleaned the erasers and did every other job Miss Hattie could think of. And she had imagination. I worked the money out, and she never said anything about it to anybody. It was just between Miss Hattie and myself."

"But now," I said miserably. "Now she's threatening to tell."

"Roy," the Governor said, "it's not your fault, but you couldn't have chosen worse words to put in that book if you'd been Clyde McDonald himself. In the first place, my marks were poor. In the second place, what she kept me after school for was not, in her view, a minor juvenile misdemeanor, as you called it. In the third place, she never predicted great things for me. She predicted that I'd end up in reform school."

"So she's planning to tell the story when it will hurt the most," Bill said. "How the candidate for Vice President of the United States, the sober budget-balancer, the honest administrator, dipped into funds entrusted to his care and bet it on a horse race?"

"Now, Bill," the Governor broke in. "It wasn't that way, it—"

"It will be that way to Clyde McDonald," Bill Evers said.
"Lucy," Bill Evers said. "Pour me a drink. There's a bottle in the bathroom."
"Since you and Roy worked up that book, you know something about my father," the Governor said. "He was a very strict man, and I didn't have the courage to tell him what had happened. I went up to my room and got out the cigar box. I took out $15 and added it to the $5 cents I had left and gave it to my father, and I thought I could work like the devil and fill that box up again before Halloween. I had 10 days to do it. I saved wood and I did every kind of job a boy is capable of, but I couldn't get enough work. I sold the coat to Neathred Fisher, and he beat me down to $5 for it, but Halloween got closer and closer and I was still short, so I went to Miss Hattie and told her the story."

Lucy Evers brought Bill Evers his drink, and he took two prodigious gulps. Lucy said softly, "Gee, Governor, you were only a kid. You got caught in the middle."

FRESH ONIONS FOR MIDLAND—Davis examines a shipment of onions brought in for West Texas distribution from the Las Cruces area of New Mexico.

Fresh Food Enters Midland From Near—

workers, 10 truck drivers, and 14 warehousemen; in addition to the two partners. A fleet of 10 delivery trucks and five transports are used to haul the fresh fruit and vegetables to retail outlets in a 100 mile radius.

Trips By Truck

The truck drivers often range far afield in their quest for the foods that Midlanders prefer. During the apple season, they travel to Washington, making the round trip in three days and nights with two drivers to a truck. This beats the best railroad time for delivery by at least six days.

Deliveries are made in Odessa, Midland, Stanton, and Big Spring every day except Sunday. The drivers visit retailers in Crane, McCamey, Rankin, Big Lake, Andrews, Seminole, Kermit, Wink, Monahans, Lamesa, and Hobbs, New Mexico every other day. One truck can handle from 10,000 to 12,000 pounds depending on the bulk and weight of the items.

A railroad siding at the Webb-Davis Fruit Company handles approximately 600 cars of produce a year. Two warehouses are equipped to store fruit and vegetables from 15 railroad freight cars. There is space for an eight car spot on the siding. Figured at 35,000 pounds to a car, this 600 cars means more than 20,000,000 pounds of food handled each year.

Colorado at this time of year is an important source for broccoli, cauliflower, bell peppers, turnips, radishes, green onions, parsley, cabbage, and a multitude of other vegetables.

California supplies most of the "soft" fruits used by Midlanders. These include peaches, grapes, apricots, plums, and the distinctive nectarines that are not as well-known as other fruits of their type. Grapes are in prime now, with the Tokay variety and the Thompson seedless ranking as popular types.

Lubbock Produce

Lubbock, which has some irrigated farm land, supplies Fall lettuce and onions, in addition to other produce. Part of the onion supply for Midland originates in the Las Cruces, N. M., area.

are kept in a comparatively warm room when they are unloaded from the freight cars, since they have been shipped in a frozen state.

The bananas imported to Midland may include the Frisco type from Guatemala and also other kinds from South America. Ecuador raises many of the bananas used in Midland.

Most of the merchandise shipped in by freight cars to the Webb-Davis Fruit Company is in mixed lots of staple items such as bananas, apples, oranges, cantaloupes, potatoes, onions, tomatoes, and lettuce. There are 12 cold storage vaults in two warehouses to keep the vegetables and fruits in good condition.

Webb-Davis is a member of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, which has a merchandising program sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A school is operated to train produce men in trimming, washing, and displaying vegetables properly. Each month the association sponsors a food item for sale to cut down surplus.

Any Infected Animals Expose Hunter To Rabbit Fever Germ

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

Every Fall a considerable number of people—usually hunters—come down with a disease known as tularemia, or rabbit fever.

This is a germ disease which is rather widespread in several animals, including squirrels, cats, dogs, woodchucks, muskrats, foxes, coyotes, mink, racoons, meadow mice, rats, pheasants and several other animals and fowl.

The cottontail rabbit is the most important source of infection, but the disease can be contracted from eating or skinning any infected animal.

Tularemia generally begins with a lump under the skin. The lump appears from one to four days after exposure to infected material. Since the places most exposed in skinning infected animals are the hands and arms, the lump is most frequent in these areas.

After about a week the lump becomes an open sore—ulcerated. If it starts on the hand or arm, the lymph glands in the arm pits become enlarged after a short time. The glands are tender and painful and may become filled with pus.

A rapid rise in temperature to 100 or even higher is characteristic. The fever rises and falls and may even become normal for short periods while the infection still is active. Severe fatigue both during the active stage of the infection and even for months or years afterward is common. A form of tularemia pneumonia is not unusual.

Tularemia should be avoided if at all possible. It isn't pleasant at best. Hunters should wear gloves while handling or skinning rabbits or other game.

Until recently tularemia was a long-lasting and disabling disease. In streptomycin a treatment has been found which promptly cures a high percentage of the victims of this disease.

International Show Planned By Israel

JERUSALEM —(AP)— On the site where 2,000 years ago Roman soldiers of the Tenth Legion assembled to conquer Jerusalem, the Israel Government is now preparing an international exhibition on "How to Conquer the Desert."

The hill to the west of the Israel administered section of the Holy City is topped already by what promises to become the biggest building in all Judea: the Zionist Convention and Exposition Hall with a tremendous stage and an adjacent open air amphitheater.

A number of foreign governments and some 20 international missions will present their exhibits when the show opens in Spring next year—among them UN bodies such as the International Food and Agricultural Organization, the World Health Organization and UNESCO.

18 Persons Killed In Guerrilla Raids

Guerrillas tore up the tracks on 116 occasions, caused 81 derailments and fired on trains 86 times. They burned down six railway stations throughout the country, and damaged locomotives 83 times.

Dodge Long Life Records give you proof of Extra Value!

DOUBLE-channel side rails of massive strength add ruggedness and rigidity to the sturdy Dodge chassis. Rubber mountings cushion body from shock. Your Dodge stays new longer.

Grille ride control is SEALED IN for the life of the shock absorbers. You get a smoother, safer ride right from the start and on through the miles. Reduces wear, stretches car life.

TWO hydraulic cylinders in each front wheel brake give surer, safer stops over more miles. Cyclebond linings give up to double the lining life! Extra value is built in.

When you invest your money in a new car, you have a right to expect some proof that the value you buy is built in to stay!

You get that proof in a Dodge. Registration records prove that by a substantial margin, Dodge automobiles have longer life than the average car. The great road life record established by millions of Dodge cars over billions of driving miles is your sure-guide to extra value, lasting pleasure.

You'll find proof, too, in such engineering features as the extra-rugged double-channel frame and staunch Safety-Steel body, cushioned against road shock. You'll find it in the solid sound of the doors when you swing them closed, and the sure response of big Safeguard hydraulic brakes to a touch of the pedal.

We'd like you to come in and discover for yourself how much more a Dodge offers in the solid, substantial qualities you're after. It's the best investment you could make.

Daddy Ringtail And All That Goes Up

Once upon a time in the long ago—told by Uncle Bunkum who lives at the zoo in a monkey cage—there were no animals who lived at the zoo in any of the animal cages. There was only Uncle Bunkum who is really a monkey-people. Then of course there was the Monkey Catcher, and an old horse whose name was Julius.

Uncle Bunkum said he would catch some animals to live in the cages at the zoo, all because the Monkey Catcher had given him a pair of speckled suspenders for a present.

Early one morning, Uncle Bunkum hitched Old Julius to the wagon. He put a handful of corn in the wagon, and an axe, and a great big gooseberry net, and a bow and arrow. "Giddup, Julius!" said Uncle Bunkum.

He waved good-bye to the Monkey Catcher, and away he bounced with a bumpety-bump, on his way to catch the animals to live at the zoo. "I may be late coming home for supper!" he called back. The Monkey Catcher stood on the porch to wave good-bye.

Uncle Bunkum rode along bumpety-bump an hour or two with Julius pulling the wagon. At last he said, "Whoa!" near a little lake, and climbed down from the seat. After tying old Julius on a long rope where he could eat the fresh green grass, Uncle Bunkum spread out the gooseberry net on top of some rushes that grew near the water. He threw some of the corn on the ground beneath the net, hoping a goose might walk beneath and be caught in the net.

No sooner had he done so than he heard the honking noise of hundreds of geese in the sky. "Honk! Honk!" They swooped and dived to come under the net to eat the corn. Uncle Bunkum ran for his life to keep from being smothered by them.

Bomber Keeps Busy As 'Filling Station'

SEATTLE, WASH.—(P)—At Boeing Field, there's a B-50 "bottle baby" that gets fed only in midair. This B-50 is refueled in flight to check the refueling equipment. On each flight it takes on between 800 and 600 gallons of fuel. The "bottle baby" returns to the field immediately and never gets a chance to use up the fuel, which is siphoned off to supply other planes. The B-50 has made about 100 such flights since the first of the year.

Robot Planes Mark New Era Of Mayhem Sans Conscience

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK.—(P)—A bleak vista of terror is opened as warfare slowly turns from the guided missile to the guided missile. The further development of these deadly flying mechanical brains that have no heart cannot lessen the scourge of war. It can but increase it in any further widespread conflict. The few missiles tested so far by the U. S. Navy in the Korean laboratory are already old-fashioned and interim weapons. They were old pilotless battle planes—drones—fitted with a television eye and electronic brains. Escorting piloted planes, hovering out of range of ground gunfire, directed the drones visually to their targets. Better Weapons Coming Their big advantage: they merely enabled the escorting fighters to bomb enemy positions more accurately without risking being hit by anti-aircraft fire themselves. This advantage would be nullified, of course, in a real all-out air battle as the escorting planes would be under attack from enemy fighters. America has better weapons—still secret—than those drones, and the drone-bombers in Korea can be regarded only as an experimental expedient designed to test equipment and cut down our pilot losses. Weapons at present are in a transitional stage, a compromise between those used in the last war and those foreseeable in the not-too-distant future. The drone of today probably bears as much of tomorrow as a World War I observation balloon does to a B-36 bomber. 'Ideal Soldier' Put a television eye, an electronic brain, and an atom bomb in a transcontinental rocket and you will have true push-button warfare—and this nightmare goal does not seem impossible to a scientific generation that appears able to invent everything except peace. A "kamikaze robot" such as this has all the soldierly qualities a general most admires—the ability to report back its exact position at any moment, give him a view of the battlefield, obey any order with perfect discipline, and attack without hesitating any target chosen. With armies of these flying robots under their command, a general in a dugout near Memphis and a general in a bunker near Minsk could play rival keyboards of destruction on their enemy cities. Push a button—Moscow crumb's. Push another button—who's in Washington? If this be a dream, it is the dream of grownup children today to be able to do just that. And by quickening step there is a growing ability to make that dream come true. Heroism and responsibility in war threaten to go the way of medieval chivalry. For no man can build a heart into a machine, and the battling robot—if it ever is unleashed—will pick their victims with the same conscience shown by a tornado.

Older Doctors, Dentists Face Draft Call As Armed Forces Worry About Shortages

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Thousands of older doctors and dentists who until recently thought selective service was something only younger practitioners had to worry about are headed for 24 months' military duty. The supply of younger, draft-eligible doctors and dentists is giving out. The armed forces will begin to take older dentists late this year, older doctors early in the spring. The situation is almost as disturbing to the armed forces as it is to many established medical and dental men with heavy family responsibilities. In accordance with usual policy, the doctors and dentists who have been in practice for a long time will be given the ranks of major, lieutenant commander, lieutenant colonel or commander. "We'll have all chiefs and no Indians," said one Army medical officer. The Army will have four or five times as many majors and lieutenant colonels in the Medical Corps as its table of organization calls for. Another Army objection to having too many older medical officers is that for combat duty in Korea a preponderance of young doctors is desirable. They are generally better able to stand the rigors of the field. All these factors are now being considered by top-level planners and civilian advisers in the Defense Department and the selective service system. They hope to agree on recommendations to Congress for revision of the doctor draft law. As the present law will expire next June, a new one will have to be enacted anyway. When the Korean War erupted and the doctor draft bill was passed, all doctors and dentists younger than 60 had to register for selective service. The law, however, provided that the first call go to the 19,377 men who got their medical and dental education partly or wholly at government expense during the war and had served in the armed forces less than 21 months. Some of these men served less than 90 days on active duty and were placed in Priority I in the post-Korea draft. Those who served longer than that but less than 21 months were placed in Priority II. Men in these two priorities have been filling draft calls up to now. Actually only about 17 have had to be inducted. The rest, facing induction, applied for commissions. Now Priority I and II men are almost used up. Many in Priority III already have been examined and classified.

In Priority III are those who got no part of their education at government expense and who never have been in military service. They consist chiefly of men who started to practice before World War II. Postwar Graduates A small proportion are young postwar graduates, but most men graduating now are veterans, and all veterans are in Priority IV. The law provides that all other eligible men be drafted before veterans. The Defense Department estimates that only about 500 postwar Priority III physicians will be found available for duty after screening for physical disqualification and various reasons for deferment, and somewhat fewer young dentists. As there are 47,360 doctors and dentists in Priority III, it is obvious why under present law the draft calls will be going to the older men for a long time to come. The armed forces need an average of 5,000 doctors and 3,200 dentists each year as replacements. On active duty now are 13,360 physicians and 6,303 dentists. It is expected that a large number will be deferred as being essential in their communities and irreplaceable in rural areas and small towns. Many will be rejected for physical reasons. But probably there will be plenty left to fill the draft calls for quite a while. Dependents are no cause for deferment of medical men except in cases of extreme hardship.

Cemeteries, Benevolences Get Gray Estate Bequests

MONAHANS—The Midland Fairview Cemetery will benefit from the estate of Mrs. Rebecca Estes Gray, prominent Ward County resident who died last week.

The Midland cemetery will share with the Monahans Memorial Cemetery in a $10,000 trust fund provided for the equal upkeep of the two places.

Mrs. Gray was the last immediate member of the pioneer Tant Estes family. She and her late brother, Jim Estes, owned extensive oil and ranching interests.

The bulk of the income from the estate will come from four sections of land that have approximately 180 producing oil wells in the South Ward Estes Field.

Her will, filed for probate, lists several bequests, but provides for division of the greater portion of the estate equally among McMurry and Texas Wesleyan Colleges, the Methodist Orphans Home in Waco, and the C. C. Young Memorial Home for Elderly Ladies in Dallas.

The First National Bank of Midland has been named trustee. Other grants include Payment of the indebtedness of the Methodist Church in Monahans.

Gift of a 15-acre tract of Limey-stone County land to the orphanage home.

Tax Bureau Quizzed On Job Assignments Sans Examinations

WASHINGTON—House investigators said Monday they are asking the Internal Revenue Bureau to explain why most of the top jobs in a big organization are being filled without competitive civil service examinations.

The bureau has called for competitive tests — open to anyone who wants to apply — on only 26 of the 175 new positions to be filled in the shakeup approved by Congress after a rash of scandals in the bureau.

More than 80 per cent of the posts, paying from $9,000 to $13,000 a year, are being filled from within the service itself by direct appointment by Secretary of Treasury Snyder and Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap.

LAW IS THE CHALLENGE—World's Greatest Figure Skater Seeks More From Life Than Fame, Fortune

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram Writer
NEW YORK, N. Y.—Are fame and fortune enough to ask from life?

"No," answers Dick Button, world's greatest figure skater and perhaps the finest artist in sports today.

Fame (he's the only man ever to win all amateur figure skating titles) and fortune (he's drawing a cool $180,000 now for his first professional appearance with Ice Capades in Madison Square Garden) hold little value for the superlatively gifted New Jersey champion.

"Very unreliable," he terms the glamour and attention which surround him.

And what does he consider sound, reliable? We asked the highly articulate young man.

"Law," Button answered. "To me, it is a great challenge. He said he wanted an 'adult profession which would call upon him to use 'my brains, my intellect.' Then the Harvard cum laude graduate, who enters law school this week, waved a hand around the dressing room, a star's dressing room, and said: "A year of sitting in these dressing rooms, waiting to go on, a year of just 'show business' and I would be driven crazy."

He's a Perfectionist. A perfectionist, Button said he is not happy about his skating "unless I am skating at my very best."

He said he knew he could not study law and maintain the standards on "school figures" needed to win amateur championships.

Button practiced "nine to 10 hours a day" to win the Olympics title. He does not smoke or drink.

With no more words to conquer in the amateur field (he was the world's best with persistent consistency, in 1948, '49, '50, '51 and '52), Button turned his eyes toward the professional field.

CLEAN-UP EQUIPMENT—Symbolical mops and pails appear in front of the "Texans for Eisenhower and Nixon" headquarters in Midland. Mrs. Earle Craig, left, and Mrs. William Liedtke of Midland, volunteer workers at the headquarters, 204 West Texas, look over the "clean-up equipment."

"Though I did not turn" for the money alone," Button insists, he admits: "There is a great satisfaction in being able to pay your own way."

After he enters law school, 22-year-old Button will commute, one way by rail and return by plane, between classroom and Madison Square Garden until the conclusion of the Ice Capades' New York engagement.

Then he will appear with the show only on holidays and during vacation.

Button's contract is one of the most unusual in show business, as the young man reportedly "wrote his own ticket."

Before the dazzled capacity crowds in New York's famed Garden emporium, Button demonstrates the axles, the jumps, the loops which won him world-wide plaudits, and which cause other skaters to appear strangely earth-bound in comparison.

Many of his numbers are his alone—no other skater can execute. In the beginning, it was a far different story.

Teacher Gives Up
The first teacher Dick Button went to for a lesson on ice told him he could never learn to skate.

"I was 13 years old, and very fat—I must have weighed 180 pounds," Dick recalled.

The incident was fresh on his mind, as the same instructor, whom he had not seen since he was 12, visited him backstage just minutes before I did. Dick still had her on his mind as he mused:

"I wondered if she thought about that time she told me I could never learn to skate—I know I couldn't help but think of it," he said.

Luckily, Dick didn't give up skating. Just gave up that instructor for another, Gus Lussl, who had more faith in the "round as a button" boy.

It wasn't long before the "fat boy" trimmed down and was showing Lussl—and the world—some tricks that never had been done on ice.

He earned the title world's best, and convinced many he is the greatest figure skater of all time.

But at no time did Dick Button ever look upon skating as a future business career. At no time did he seek to capitalize on his press clippings.

Now surrounded by flattery and spotlights and a star's trappings, he attempts to treat fame lightly, as a great impostor. When a TV man buttered the boy up with glowing words of praise, Button turned to me with a wink, which indicated: "See, it means nothing to me."

At another point when a stranger came in (people were coming in and out of his dressing room during the course of the hour's interview) and seeing me taking notes, asked if I were Mr. Button's secretary, Dick laughed:

"Yes, Me! He says: 'I have no secretary, no agent, no publicity man—nothing. I'm me!' (I think it should have been: 'I am I' but who am I to argue with a Harvard cum laude graduate?)

There is much to win your approval about the young man. He obviously is pleased with his great success, but is trying hard to remain natural. In his New York debut, he took a little tumble, which I personally thought was staged to win audience sympathy.

Obviously he had not gone into his $180,000 Ice Capades check to buy new clothes, as yet. He was wearing a slightly disheveled cotton-cord suit, a white shirt with frayed collar, and lipstick stains on the right shoulder of his coat.

He wore collegiate loafers and thick wool socks which he constantly tugged at during the interview.

Forgot His Lipstick
When a young lady acquaintance of his, who bobbed in and out of the dressing room at will, asked Button if he had brought his lipstick with him, he admitted he had forgotten it.

"That's one thing I don't like about this show—you have to put on make-up!" he grimaced. "Some of the boys," he added, "get here early to do that."

Another telegram arrived, which Button happily added to the two dozen he already had attached to his dressing table. Someone brought by a favorable newspaper review, which Dick stopped everything to read. And wouldn't the Ivy-clung law school seem a little tame for a young man who has drunk so deep of the cup of fame and fortune?

"Not at all," answered Button. "You don't know how exciting law can be."

Texas On Ice
A tall Texas blonde, Helen Davidson, stars in the opening number of the new John H. Harris production of Ice Capades in Madison Square Garden.

In one of the most elaborate of the 22 production numbers, Miss Davidson, a Hamilton, Texas, native, appears as a princess in the Temple of Buddha.

The 24-year-old blonde attended Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas, and learned to skate at the Dallas ice arena. Other Texans in the show are Janis Adams, Palestine native; Eloise Neely, Fort Worth; and Edward Rick, former Tulane University student, of Dallas.
