Gulf Gets Oil, Water In Devonian Opener In C-W Upton Area

Oil flowed on a fourth drillstem test of the Devonian at Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 McElroy Ranch Company - State - deep discovery three-quarters of a mile east of the shallow McElroy field in Central-West Upton County.

Open four hours and 38 minutes on a test from 10,584 to 10,644 feet and using a five-eighths-inch bottom hole choke, the well showed gas at the surface in four minutes and mud in 30 minutes.

Flowed To Tanks

Cleaned to pits five minutes, the discovery then was flowed to tanks amounting to 113.3 barrels of oil and 2.3 barrels of basic sediment and water. Daily rate was 981 barrels of oil. Gas-oil ratio was 3,010-1.

Hourly gauges showed 37.14 barrels of fluid the first hour, 24.94 barrels the second hour, 29.84 barrels the third hour and 24.13 barrels the fourth hour.

The well unloaded 5.2 barrels of fluid while 30-minute bottom hole pressure surveys were underway.

Recovered Oil

Final recovery was 1,270 feet of 49.3-gravity oil, 440 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud, estimated to be 50 per cent oil and 90 feet of black salt water.

Operator is preparing to deepen on an Ellenburger contract of 13,000 feet.

The discovery also flowed oil from the Devonian at 10,250-10,379 feet, 10,500-10,544 feet and 10,540-10,594 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 182, block 3, C&S&R&O&G survey.

Flow Gauged From Indicated Opener In Andrews Sector

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-24 Fasken, Southeast Andrews County Ellenburger discovery flowed 140.53 barrels of 49.3 gravity oil and no water in seven hours of flowing through a 24,044 inch tubing choke.

The well was still flowing to clean out, test and complete as the opener of a new Ellenburger oil field.

The production is coming from perforations in the casing at 12,673-702 feet and is natural. Gas-oil ratio was 630-1.

NW Of Midland

This prospect is 13 miles southeast of the town of Andrews, 23 miles northwest of Midland and 800 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 24, block 42, T-1-N, G&M&B&A survey.

It is a twin to a producer from the Grayburg-Permian lime in the shallow Midland Farms field.

It had drilled to a total depth of 12,778 feet. The lower section of the hole made oil and water.

The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented on bottom. Operator has left the some between 12,702 feet and 12,775 feet plugged off with cement to keep the bottom water out of the pay section.

Top of the Ellenburger is at 12,645 feet. Elevation is 3,057 feet.

Wilshire Enters Ellenburger In NW Upton Test

The Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., No. 1-12 Mrs. W. R. Timmins, Northwest Upton County wildcat, one and one-quarter miles southwest of the nearest production in the multipay Pegasus field from the Ellenburger has entered that formation.

Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 13,178 feet. That is on a datum of minus 10,210 feet.

It penetrated to 13,194 feet and took a drillstem test at 13,170-194 feet. The tool was open for one and one-half hours.

No Fluid To Top

No fluid came to the surface while the tester was open. Operator was pulling the tool at last report.

Location is 600 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Wilshire No. 1-12 Timmins had a fluid filling of 45 barrels of oil hourly during a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp-Permian at 9,913-90 feet. Most of that fluid unloaded while the tool was being pulled.

Showers Add To Midland's Rainfall Total

Crop and range-making rain kept up its happy tune in Midland and surrounding counties Wednesday morning. It was not a heavy fall but intermittent showers added greatly to two and three-inch precipitation recorded Monday and Tuesday.

The municipal shop in the 700 block on North Fort Worth Street had gauged 1.92 inches at noon Wednesday. This compared with 1.94 inches measured by the CAA observers at the Midland Air Terminal.

Additional reports from over the county indicated Wednesday that more than two inches had fallen in a majority of places. The F. A. Byrd Ranch, about 30 miles north, received 2.2 inches.

Latest tabulations from this segment of West Texas listed 1.70 inches at Garden City with two inches over Glasscock County. Wink recorded 1.75 inches; Odessa two inches; Crane 75; Fort Stockton 40; Andrews 2.25; McCamey 35, and Martin County two inches.

Clearing Skies Predicted

The CAA staff at Terminal expects skies to clear late Wednesday with temperatures to climb Thursday. The mercury loitered around 60 at noon Wednesday.

Chilly nights with early morning weather that sent West Texans for blankets told old-timers Fall really had arrived. But the drought stayed around. Few places had enough rain to effect dwindling reservoirs and stock tanks. And underground water levels were helped but little.

Temperatures over the state ranged Tuesday at maximum readings—from 57 at Midland to 90 at Presidio and Laredo.

Tuesday temperatures included: Amarillo 71, Lubbock 64, Salt Flat 69, El Paso 75, San Antonio 82, Austin 84, Dallas 84, Brownsville 85, Houston 84, and Tyler and Texas 84.

Wednesday's temperatures would be about the same, the Weather Bureau said, with scattered showers forecast in South Central Texas and West Texas.

Wholesale Food Prices Drop Again

NEW YORK (AP)— Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, declined this week for the third week in a row—to the lowest level in three months.

At 64.45, the index compared with 66.49 last week and was 4.9 per cent below the year-ago level of 68.78.

McGrath Tale Could 'Blow White House' High In Sky

WASHINGTON (AP)— T. Lamar Caudle testified Wednesday that former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath once told him, "I know enough about the White House to blow it so high the force of gravity would never bring it back to earth."

Caudle also said McGrath, his old boss in the Justice Department, reported Caudle lost his job because of a "White House clique."

Stevenson Refuses To Identify Illinois Fund Contributors

BALTIMORE (AP)— Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday he will not reveal the names of those who contributed to or received money from a special cash fund he set up to supplement the pay of some Illinois state officials.

"There is no point in revealing any names," the Democratic presidential nominee said. "It would be publicity they do not deserve and a breach of good faith on my part, too."

Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice presidential nominee, and several other Republicans have demanded Stevenson reveal details of the fund. Nixon talked about it in his report Tuesday night on his own $18,000 fund for political expenses.

RETAILERS LOOK TO CHRISTMAS

Christmas shopping season plans will be perfected at a mass meeting of Midland merchants scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the KCRS studio, Henry Murphy, chairman of the Retailers Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, announced Wednesday.

He termed the meeting one of the most important of the year and urged all retail business firms of the city to be represented. Street decorations and special events will be considered at the session.

Fletcher Named As Chief Deputy

Guy Fletcher, veteran Texas peace officer, has been appointed chief deputy by Sheriff Ed Darnell. He succeeds Ed Edwards, who resigned two months ago.

Fletcher joined Darnell's staff Jan. 1, 1951, as regular deputy. He served 14 years as a city officer and deputy sheriff at Paris before entering the auto business there in 1949. Fletcher is 43 years old.

Investigating the Justice Department. He did not elaborate on McGrath's statement about the White House.

He told the committee Tuesday he looks upon his dismissal by President Truman as "a grave injustice."

And he testified Tuesday he has been told that this view is shared by the man who fired him—President Truman. Not so, rejoined the White House.

Caudle, who reached the climax of the story of his dismissal with tears in his eyes, said he still does not understand why the President acted as he did.

The Chief Executive, he went on, never gave him a hearing beforehand. And he said he has been unable to get anything from him directly since.

Caudle told of cordial relations between him and his "chief" during the months and weeks prior to the blow-up.

Caudle said he had no indication whatever that the President was displeased with his services. And he called "a terrible indictment" the comment the President made afterward to the effect that he had had his eye on Caudle for a long time.

"I have no bitterness," said Caudle. "I can get mad but I can't stay mad."

Nixon Praise Floods GOP Headquarters

By The Associated Press

Republican national campaign headquarters in Washington was hip-deep Wednesday in still uncounted thousands of telegrams from every corner of America.

A spokesman said the communications overwhelmingly vindicated Senator Richard Nixon.

The GOP vice presidential nominee's nation-wide radio-TV appeal that people let party headquarters know how they felt about his explanation of an $18,000 political fund drew what some called an unprecedented response.

An official report from party headquarters was scheduled later.

Almost Unanimous

GOP national committeemen who were almost unanimously in favor of retaining Nixon on the ticket.

There was no immediate comment from either the White House or the Democratic National Committee.

Shortly after Nixon told a multi-million radio-TV audience Tuesday night that he was innocent of wrongdoing and felt he should stay on the ticket as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's running mate, Western Union offices were swamped. Many were forced to call in emergency crews.

Newspapers over the country were deluged with request for the address of the GOP national headquarters—something Nixon forgot to mention.

Many people telephoned Washington rather than send telegrams, saying Western Union was too swamped to take their messages. Others wired Nixon or Eisenhower direct.

Women Weep, Telephone

Many wanted to contribute money to a "Nixon fund." Some women were crying as they called for the GOP address. Others said Nixon ought to be running for President.

The public reaction was spontaneous in every nook and corner of the country.

Kansas City reported that some women were crying as they telephoned newspapers and radio stations for information about how to address wires to Nixon.

Minnesota Western Union spokesmen said the reaction was the "biggest thing we've ever seen with the Minneapolis office alone handling 5,000 calls per hour."

In his final major speech of the Eastern jaunt he declared the Republicans—and particularly Senator Robert A. Taft—are responsible for inflation and the high cost of living.

Stevenson did not refer to Nixon in his address.

He called Taft "the leader of the inflationary shock troops in Congress."

Stevenson offered a four-point program for combating inflation:

1. A tighter rein on government spending.
2. A pay-as-we-go tax pattern, adding: "I don't like taxes. I shall do everything I can to reduce them, but I will make no promises I cannot keep."
3. Federal curbs on "excessive private borrowing."
4. A tightening of wage and price controls until Congress has time to re-examine the present set-up.

"This will mean, if it has to come, tighter wage controls as well as price controls."

Midland's Western Union office was lambasted with a flood of telegrams Tuesday night and early Wednesday in response to Senator Richard Nixon's plea for the people to say what they wanted him to do.

R. O. Smith, manager, said the avalanche of telegrams started at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and continued through the office's regular 10 p.m. closing hour. "We could have used more help, if we had anticipated the rush," he said. The telegrams were continuing in a steady stream Wednesday, the Western Union manager reported.

While Smith was unable to make an estimate of the number of wires sent by Midland residents, he said the volume was "quite heavy." He pointed out that it was not unusual for Midlanders to respond with telegraphic messages regarding political problems. "The response was even greater when President Truman fired General MacArthur," he said.

The Western Union manager said some of the messages were as brief as three words, while others were "quite long." He said Western Union regulations did not permit him to reveal the nature of the messages, but indicated they were favorable to Senator Nixon's position in the explosive expense fund matter.

Outside, the audience had just given a ringing cheer for Senator Robert A. Taft's appeal for a GOP victory in November.

Then the voice suddenly came from the loudspeaker. A hush fell over the crowd. They hunched forward in their chairs, tense and expectant.

"My fellow Americans," the voice said, "I come before you tonight as a candidate for the vice presidency and as a man whose honesty and integrity has been questioned . . ."

There was only the sound of the voice. There was no television screen carrying the image of the senator. Only the voice.

Ike, Senator Slate Parley To End Doubt

CLEVELAND (AP)— GOP National Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said Wednesday, "I am certain that Senator Richard Nixon will remain the Republican candidate for vice president."

Summerfield made this statement in reply to a reporter's question.

He said he had talked with both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the presidential candidate, and Nixon by telephone Wednesday morning.

'Stay There, Fight,' Texas Tells Senator

By The Associated Press

Texas' Democratic and Republican state chairmen both said Wednesday that GOP vice presidential nominee Richard Nixon proved his integrity in answering critics of an $18,000 expense fund.

Hundreds of Texans responded to Nixon's plea for public support Tuesday night with telegrams urging him to "stay in there and fight."

Wallace Savage, Dallas chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, said, "I think anyone who had an open mind and who listened to him would become convinced of Nixon's integrity. Because he drove home a good point while he was in the spotlight, I don't see how it can do anything but help him."

Says Will Beaming

Savage, like many other rebellious Texas Democrats, is openly supporting the Republican nominees for President and vice president.

Alvin Lane, State Republican Executive Committee chairman and Savage's law partner, said he thinks "the whole thing is a tremendous boomerang on the Democrats. Certainly after hearing him speak so frankly, I don't see how anyone could question the man's integrity. I think he is typical of the best of America."

The Dallas GOP headquarters reported 700 calls in an hour. Western Union Manager P. A. Hoag of San Antonio said about 800 early messages sent all favored Nixon.

Chiles presided at the meeting, which was addressed by Joe Dickerson, general chairman of the Chest's 1952 finance campaign. Prospect lists and campaign literature were distributed.

The community-wide finance drive will get underway early next month, with scores of volunteer workers participating. The Chest goal this year is $68,250.

Those attending the Wednesday breakfast were Chiles, Dickerson, Marion Flynnt, Phil Yeckel, E. W. Anguish, W. E. Black, Murray Fackel, Charles C. Green, Jr., Butler Hurley, Wilson LaForce, Hollis Tyson, Joe O'Neil, D. E. O'Rhaughnessy and John Reid. Other members of the committee are Maper Graham, C. E. Marsh, Pat Buckman, Ray Rhodes, Robert Payne and George T. Abell.

Agencies participating in Community Chest funds are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Latin American Youth Center, Goodfellow, Salvation Army, USO and Colored Day Nursery.

Tidelands Group Sets Goal Of $20,000 As City's Quota

Midlanders will be asked to contribute $20,000 as part of a state-wide fund proposed by the Keep the Tidelands Association for its use in educational and other projects concerning Texas' claims to offshore oil and mineral properties.

The association explained its work at a public meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Midland County Courthouse. The group says it is non-partisan and non-political.

Jim McHargue, president of the organization, revealed the amount at the meeting. It is part of a quota of more than $195,000 asked for the state-wide group. Copies of the budget estimate were distributed at the meeting. A large part of the sum will be devoted to preparation of a brochure for mailing, McHargue said.

McHargue said the purpose of the association is to regain the Tidelands for state ownership, and he stated that it would continue to function until the necessary legislation to accomplish that aim had been enacted. He told the assembled group it is not too late to continue the fight against federal seizure of the Tidelands.

"Socialism is an evil and sinister thing," said McHargue. He warned his audience that if the federal government succeeded in taking over the Tidelands, they would not stop here in its attempts to take over private property. He held that the federal doctrine of "paramount rights" might be expanded to enable further government seizures.

Attacks Rayburn

McHargue said that the Tidelands Association would support any candidate that favors return of the Tidelands to state control, and they would fight those against it.

He attacked Speaker Rayburn of the United States House of Representatives for his effort to belittle the value of the Tidelands. McHargue said that one estimate valued the Tidelands alone at three and a half billion dollars for the public school fund. He said that Texas has already received more than eight million dollars before the controversy.

George Abell was introduced to the assembly as the second speaker. Abell, who is one of the prominent supporters of the association, said that the Tidelands is the greatest undeveloped reserve in the U. S.

Abell said, "As voters, we are trustees of the Tidelands." He emphasized the magnitude of the issue from the standpoint of the value of the Tidelands for Texas school children. He told the group that the students in this state will lose heavily if the federal government takes the Tidelands revenue away from them.

Brochure For Schools

The speaker went on to outline some of the plans for publicity of the association's battle for state ownership of the Tidelands. He said they were trying to print a brochure for distribution to the students in Texas schools. It would be illustrated with a map of Texas showing the Tidelands, and be titled the "ABC of Tidelands."

Abell urged that all civic groups join in the fight by indicating their support of state ownership of the Tidelands. He told them not to be complacent about the issue.

He concluded his plea for support by telling the group to "put your shoulder to the wheel."

Among those present at the meeting were John Butler, president of the First National Bank in Midland; Representative Ken Reagan; Walter Beardsley, a vice president of the Tidelands Association; Frank Monroe, superintendent of schools in Midland; and the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

President Jackson called the first national political convention in 1832.

ODESSA FIXES $2 TAX RATE

ODESSA—With a rate of 20 cents, the City Council has fixed Odessa's city tax to $2 per $100 valuation.

The city tax, which was cut last year to $1.50, was raised in line with general increases for wages and materials, officials said.

The 1952-53 budget will be about $2,267,000 as compared to about two millions for this year.

An additional sum of almost $195,000 will be netted by the tax rate.

NATO Navies End Operation Mainbrace

ABOARD USS MIDWAY—(AP)—NATO naval chiefs rang the curtain down on "Operation Mainbrace" Wednesday after the American cruiser Quincy "blasted" a make-believe enemy raider out of the North Sea.

The raider—disguised as a merchant ship—was the British mine-layer Apollo. It had raced out of the Kattegat Straits between Denmark and Sweden, presumably impersonating a Russian surface vessel breaking out of the Baltic Sea.

Shore-based aircraft shadowed the speeding ship until the Quincy brought it under the "fire" of her guns about 140 miles east of Britain's Orkney Islands.

The last major operation of the 200-ship fleet under the command of U. S. Vice Adm. Felix B. Stump was to refuel Wednesday off the sheltering coast of Norway near the entrance to Oslo Fjord.

After refueling was completed, the fleet was to break up.

Church Committee Takes Off For Rome

DALLAS—(AP)—A fact-finding committee was to leave here Wednesday by plane to investigate the controversy between the Church of Christ and the Italian government.

Orville McDonald, Dallas advertising man who headed the group, said it would make an investigation of the whole situation and report back to church authorities.

Others to make the trip are Don Hinga, Houston newspaperman, and James Nichols, a radio speaker.

Police blocked all entrances Sunday to the American Church of Christ building in Rome. Police said the churches had not complied with Italian law requiring recognition and permission to operate.

Dr. Roberto Peppi of the Italian police said there was no issue of religious liberty.

Mexico To Build Port Near Texas For Export Trade

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Navy Ministry sources Tuesday reported that Mexico plans to build an $8,000,000 port near Brownsville, Texas, to give an outlet for Matamoros cotton and oil.

They said the new port would be 28 miles southeast of Brownsville and would have a 300-foot wharf. Two breakwaters will protect its entrance from the sea. The protected harbor will cover about 250 acres, but the sources did not give the depth of water.

The proposed port would permit cotton from Matamoros, Mexico's largest cotton area, and oil from around Reynosa to be shipped from a Mexican port. At present Mexico supplies more than half the tonnage shipped out of Brownsville on the Rio Grande.

Denison Approves School Bond Issue

DENISON—(AP)—A 4-to-1 majority of voters in the Denison School District approved a $1,150,000 bond issue Tuesday. The vote was 1,791 for the issue, 413 against.

A junior high school and addition on elementary schools were the proposed projects of the issue.

THEY'RE TOPS IN THE TAX PARADE—In the fiscal 1952, which ended June 30, Uncle Sam's Treasury collected a record-breaking $94,870,000,000 in taxes but still ran $4,000,000,000 deeper in the red because of mounting expenses. Newschart above shows the major tax sources, with poor old John Q. Citizen leading the parade. His income and employment taxes in fiscal 1952 were almost $7,000,000,000 higher than the $28,500,000,000 collected the year before.

Sheean Says U. S. Needs Clean-Cut Mid-East Policy

A clear and firm directive outlining United States' policy in the Middle East would aid materially in regaining for this nation the affection and esteem of the peoples of the Middle East, Vincent Sheean, noted correspondent, author and lecturer, told Midland's Knife & Fork Club Tuesday night.

He addressed the dinner-meeting opening the club's 1952-53 season. A near capacity crowd attended the event in the high school cafeteria.

President Thornton Hardie, Jr., presented a past president's pin to Carroll L. Thomas, who headed the club last year.

Sheean, introduced by Henry Wilkinson, said the establishment of a definite frontier for the State of Israel would build prestige for the United States in the Middle East.

Problems of the Middle East and the reasons for increasing concern on the part of the United States toward those problems were discussed by the speaker in his address, "Jigsaw in the Middle East."

He listed three general reasons why the United States has become concerned in recent years over Middle East problems, (1) the decline of the British Empire, which no longer can maintain a semblance of order in the troubled area; (2) creation of the State of Israel, which the Arabs feel is favored by the U. S., and (3) the discovery of oil on an almost unprecedented scale in the Middle East.

Sportsmanship Club Of Crane Organized

They are Roy Barnett, Reagan Hinnart and J. G. Pomeroy.

The committee will make recommendations at a meeting of the club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the courthouse.

With a large group attending, plans were discussed for constructing a sheet shooting range and a golf course.

Films of Southwest Conference football games will be screened at club sessions.

Staff Cut As Rent Control Law Nears Deadline On Curbs

DALLAS—(AP)—Anticipation of a September 30 deadline on rent control in non-critical cities has resulted in a staff cut in regional headquarters of the Office of Rent Stabilization here.

Russell S. Stephens, regional director, said Tuesday that six persons were dropped from the staff of 23. By September 30, Stephens said, cities that now have voluntary rent control must decide if they want to keep it.

Stephens said the agency's work would continue heavy because rents in 28 "critical" cities would continue under controls until April 30, 1953, at least. Most of the work has been in these cities in the past he said.

Critical cities that will continue under rent controls include: Texas—Belton, Gatesville, Kilbuck, Rockdale, Big Spring, Borger, Preppert, Kingsville, Robinson, Laredo, Mineral Wells, Westwood, Mount Pleasant, Jefferson, Daingerfield, Port Lavaca, San Marcos, Honda, Lockhart, New Braunfels, Seguin and Wichita Falls.

Veronica Lake stepped out of her limousine at the spotlighted movie premiere, tripped and fell flat on her face.

The handsome Air Force lieutenant who was her escort for the evening as a publicity stunt for the movie, "I wanted Wings," just stood there and laughed—and there was the dickens to pay at headquarters next day.

That was years ago but an Air Force colonel remembered the incident when A-1/C. William H. Walleck of the Norton Air Base was voted "The Most Typical Bachelor in the U. S. Air Force." Leaving the base to escort gorgeous Coleen Gray to the Lake Arrowhead premiere of "Just For You," Walleck was stopped by the colonel, who said:

"Now remember—if the lady falls down, don't just stand there and laugh. Help her to her feet pronto."

"Yes, sir," snapped Walleck. "But not until he reads this will Airman Walleck know that the colonel was the lieutenant of years ago who just stood there and laughed when Veronica Lake fell flat on her face."

Stephens said the agency's work would continue heavy because rents in 28 "critical" cities would continue under controls until April 30, 1953, at least. Most of the work has been in these cities in the past he said.

Critical cities that will continue under rent controls include: Texas—Belton, Gatesville, Kilbuck, Rockdale, Big Spring, Borger, Preppert, Kingsville, Robinson, Laredo, Mineral Wells, Westwood, Mount Pleasant, Jefferson, Daingerfield, Port Lavaca, San Marcos, Honda, Lockhart, New Braunfels, Seguin and Wichita Falls.

One Gift Nixon Will Keep; That Little Dog From Texas

LOS ANGELES —(P)— Senator Richard Nixon got one gift from Texas—a dog for his children—that he isn't going to return.

He told about it in his radio and television address Tuesday night: "A man down in Texas heard Pat (Mrs. Nixon) on the radio mention the fact that our two youngsters would like to have a dog, and believe it or not the day before we left on this campaign trip we got a message from Union Station in Baltimore, saying they had a package for us. We went down to get it.

"It was a little rooster spaniel dog, in a crate that he had sent all the way from Texas, black and white, spotted, and our little girl, Triela, the six-year-old, named it Checks.

"And, you know, the kids, like all kids, loved the dog, and I just want to say this right now, that regardless of what they say about it, we are going to keep it."

The MATURE PARENT

Flattering Child's Talents Places Cruel Burden On Him

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Once there was a little boy named Peter whose sense of humor was no more remarkable than that of many other little boys of his age.

However, his grandfather had been a famous actor, noted for his wit. Peter's mother was prouder of being his daughter than of anything else in the world.

Soon after Peter's fifth birthday, she told him that he was about to become a brother. He seemed to take this news quite calmly and so she had no idea how fascinated he had been by her information until several nights later when he was brought into the living room to say goodnight to some guests.

To a woman who had just kissed him, the voice of Peter was heard saying loudly with gusto, "My mother is all puffed up because she is going to have a baby."

Everyone was enchanted. Peter's mother rushed at him in delight crying, "Isn't he wonderful! I really believe he's inherited his grandfather's wit!"

Now Peter had not intended his remark to be amusing. But as it had made everyone beam at him in such pleasant approval, he thought to himself without realizing what he was thinking, "If only I can say more funny things like this, people will always be as nice to me as this."

In his junior year at college, he had a breakdown. His doctor finally persuaded him to confess that maintaining a reputation for sparkling wit had become anguish and terror. With his head in his hands, Peter said to his doctor, "When I arrive at parties, my shirts are always wet with sweat for fear I won't be able

Release Of Panel Report Bares Actress' Admission Of Being 'Used' By Red Fronts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Stage and screen star Judy Holliday told Senate investigators that in getting mixed up with various Communist fronts she was irresponsible, and more than slightly stupid.

When she had her eyes opened to what was going on, she said, she herself hired people to investigate her.

"I wanted to know what I had done," said the actress who won the Motion Picture Academy Award in 1951 for her portrayal of a dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday."

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee disclosed Wednesday that at closed-door sessions last Spring, it had questioned Miss Holliday, comedian Sam Levenson, actor Philip Loeb and singer Burl Ives.

The testimony of all four was made public. It showed they all were asked about Communist front organizations or activities with which their names have been linked. They swore they never had taken part knowingly in any Communist movement.

Levenson and Ives appeared before the subcommittee at their own request.

Still More To Come

The Senate group has been probing for any subversive infiltration of the radio, television and entertainment industries.

Wednesday's second volume of testimony, with still more to come, was released by the subcommittee without comment.

In an accompanying statement, however, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said that "communism fastens itself like a leech" on the careers of prominent figures in the entertainment world.

He remarked on what he called "the striking number of Communist-controlled organizations and Communist-sponsored activities in which some of the witnesses have involved themselves."

"We do not want to accuse anyone of 'guilt by association,'" McCarran said, "but it is a dangerous type of thinking that leads people into such involvement."

"It is not the sort of thinking that should be permitted to express itself freely in such important media as radio, television and other types of entertainment directed at the minds of our people."

Knows Better Now

Miss Holliday was questioned two hours and 40 minutes at a secret hearing here last March 26. She said she had let her name be used by Communist-front organizations without knowing what they were.

"I have been awakened to a realization that I have been irresponsible and slightly—more than slightly—stupid," she said. "When I was solicited I always simply said, 'Oh, isn't that too bad. Sure, use my name.'"

When asked if she now watches organizations to which she contributes money, Miss Holliday exclaimed: "Oh, do I watch it now."

A few minutes later she said "I don't say 'yes' to anything now except cancer, polio, and cerebral palsy, and things like that."

No New Law Needed To Stop 'Errors,' Senators Declare

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two senators said Wednesday that mistakes in the government's vast farm price support programs—estimated to have cost the taxpayers millions of dollars—can be corrected without legislation.

Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of Agriculture, told a reporter "there is plenty of authority now to correct errors and deficiencies."

"All that is needed is more and lighter supervision at the top," he said.

Senator Young (D-ND) agreed in a separate interview.

"All this could be straightened out by administrative action in the Department of Agriculture," Young said. "If officials there don't correct it, Congress may have to step in."

A highly critical, 48-page report on the situation was approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee Tuesday.

Survey Planned For County To Set Up Farm Practices

Plans were made to begin a survey October 1 of Midland County's 285 farmers and ranchers to determine farm practices they desire to use in 1953 at a meeting of the Production Marketing Association committee Tuesday afternoon at the Midland County Courthouse.

Deadline for completion of the survey is December 1, Charles H. Champion, PMA secretary, announced.

Champion urged farmers and ranchers to come to his office in the second floor of the courthouse to sign up for 1953 farm practices, or to contact a member of the PMA committee.

After the survey has been completed, the applications will be reviewed and adjusted to fit the county's allocation of $26,000, Champion said.

W. E. Pigg, chairman, presided for the session in which a tentative agreement was made by the PMA to transfer $70 to the Soil Conservation Service as payment for technical assistance on permanent type farm practices.

Champion announced cards would be mailed within a week to Midland farmers for cotton acreage reports. He said it was very important that the cards be completed and returned to his office to facilitate a "good cotton allotment" for Midland County next year.

TEMPTATION LOSES 'GAME'

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Miss Georgia Theodore, a bookkeeper, had an eventful lunch hour Tuesday because of her sharp eyes.

First she found a $5.00 check on the street. It was made out to an investment firm and she returned it to an official who frantically was searching his pockets.

Just as she stepped out of the building, she spotted a wallet lying beside a parked car and restored it to its owner who was getting out of the machine. She did not wait to learn his name.

Two blocks away, Miss Theodore said, she noticed a woman's purse on a newstand, apparently forgotten by its owner.

"That was too much for me," she said. "I just walked past it."

Bentoscope Leaks Delay Barton Dive

ABOARD YACHT MONSOON—(AP)—A dive to 3,500 feet, providing further tests are successful, was planned Wednesday by Otis Barton, undersea explorer.

His steel diving bell, called the bentoscope, developed minor leaks when it was lowered only 100 feet Tuesday near Santa Catalina island off the Southern California Coast.

Barton said it would be lowered Wednesday, empty, and if the leaks have been fixed, he will then descend in it to 3,500 feet. Later in the week he hopes to set a new record of one mile.

Panel Member Says Liquor Traffic 'Not So Extensive'

AUSTIN—(AP)—The House Crime Committee Wednesday studied stacks of records and testimony to determine whether to delve further into alleged West Texas bootlegging. The evidence was gleaned from the committee's two-day closed hearing that ended Tuesday night. Committee spokesman Waggoner Carr, Lubbock, said testimony turned up evidence of bootlegging in West Texas but not to the extent indicated by a Potter County grand jury. He said no new cases of bribery or attempted bribery were uncovered.

Suspended Sentence Given Midland Man For Air Force Jibes

PHOTOS — A one-year suspended sentence was given F. R. White, 45, Midland oil machinery dealer, here Monday by Judge R. E. Thomason in U. S. District Court. White pleaded guilty to three counts of an indictment charging him with sending "obscene, lewd and lascivious" letters through the mails to Air Force officers.

The sentence was suspended for two years and White was placed on probation. Attorney Hill Hudson, member of the State Senate, represented White. Since arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Bob Dean in May, White had been free on $1,000 bond. After a "staydown strike" by Air Force flyers, one of the letters was alleged to have been mailed April 28 to Col. J. Y. Parker, "Biggs Air Force Base," El Paso.

A libel suit has been filed by Colonel Parker, Biggs AFB commander, against White, asking $75,000 damages. Barbara, 13, died Tuesday night. Ten days ago, the Linnemansons parents took a drive in the country with the seven of their eight children who lived at home. They were looking forward to the time when their oldest, John, 20, a Marine, could rejoin them. The next day, Sunday, 18-year-old Paul was hospitalized with bulbar polio. He died on Monday, the day his sister Lorraine, four, became ill. Lorraine died Tuesday. Mary Ann was stricken on Thursday, the day of Paul and Lorraine's double funeral.

ered but the hearing had not progressed to such a point that likely would disclose such law violations. The committee heard 11 witnesses Tuesday. Among them were Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., who spent more than two hours before the committee, and Odessa liquor retailer Tom Roden, who was before the committee more than four hours. Sales Estimate Lowered

"On the basis of testimony received Tuesday, operations of the Roden enterprises—Finkle's Liquor Stores—do not appear to be as extensive as the Amarillo grand jury report would indicate," Carr said. He said evidence reflected multi-million dollar gross sales and that some sales had been made to bootleggers. He said the part of the sales involving liquor that was later recouped would not approach the million-dollar figure. He also noted that such sales were not necessarily illegal.

The committee withheld a decision on whether to proceed further until it has time to study its testimony and records so far.

The hearing was called following a report by the Amarillo grand jury that bribery and corruption in administration of the state's Liquor Control Act were keeping a multi-million dollar West Texas bootleg syndicate in business. All of the testimony was kept secret.

During much of Roden's testimony, even committee assistants were sent from the room. That included a Texas Ranger, State Auditor C. H. Carness, House Sergeant-at-Arms Bob Murphy, an assistant attorney general and others. Carr said the action was to preclude possibility of information getting back to any source the committee might want to investigate later.

Polio Lands Fourth Fatal Blow In Nine Days On One Family

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—(AP)—Polio has struck the Leo B. Linnemansons family its fourth fatal blow in nine days.

Barbara, 13, died Tuesday night. Ten days ago, the Linnemansons parents took a drive in the country with the seven of their eight children who lived at home. They were looking forward to the time when their oldest, John, 20, a Marine, could rejoin them.

The next day, Sunday, 18-year-old Paul was hospitalized with bulbar polio. He died on Monday, the day his sister Lorraine, four, became ill. Lorraine died Tuesday. Mary Ann was stricken on Thursday, the day of Paul and Lorraine's double funeral.

After Mary Ann died Saturday night, the grieving father said, "A person has to be afraid to wake up in the morning."

Sunday morning Barbara, 12, awakened with the headache and stiff neck which had announced bulbar polio three times before. She died 13 hours after Mary Ann's funeral Tuesday morning.

Mayor's Bribery Trial Transferred

CORPUS CHRISTI —(AP)—The trial of Mayor Leslie Wasserman of Corpus Christi, on charges of bribery, has been transferred to 24th District Court at Cuero.

Judge H. D. Barrow of 105th District Court ordered the change of venue Tuesday on the court's own motion.

Judge Barrow earlier overruled defense motions to quash two counts of the indictment against Wasserman in which he was charged with accepting bribes in granting oil and gas leases on city land near Lake Corpus Christi.

Eisenhower Named Defense Witness In Murder Trial

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Attorneys for George Edward Grammer, accused of killing his wife and trying to make it look like an accident, have summoned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to appear as a character witness in the murder trial beginning October 4.

Anthony S. Federico, counsel for the 36-year-old New Yorker, said the Republican presidential candidate was among 26 witnesses called because Grammer once served in an Army counter-intelligence unit which threw him into contact with Eisenhower.

Eisenhower reportedly once gave Grammer a recommendation for employment. Federico said he expected a deputy sheriff to serve the summons on the general late Thursday when Eisenhower speaks here at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

Courthouse attaches said Eisenhower probably would be excused from attending the trial because of the campaign and that a letter from him would be acceptable.

Dorothy May Grammer, 33, was found dead in her car after it careened down a hilly road in North Baltimore. It still appeared she died from injuries sustained in the crash of her car at the bottom of the hill, but medical examination later showed she had been injured fatally before the crash.

Young Wayfarers Turn Back From 'False Alarm' Journey

DALLAS—(AP)—Two little boys from New Mexico were mightily disappointed Wednesday morning when told that they weren't going to New Orleans to see their grandparents, after all.

Mrs. Helena Simon, Lovington, N. M., put her young sons—Charles, eight, and James, five—on a Continental Trailways Bus at Hobbs, N. M., Tuesday afternoon for a trip to New Orleans to see their grandparents.

But when Mrs. Simon got back to Lovington a special delivery letter from the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Eimer, said not to send the boys, that the grandparents would be away from home for a time.

The mix-up in family signals started a cross-country attempt to intercept the boys after Mrs. Simon, in a public appeal said, "Please somebody, ship the kids back home."

Rocky Flattens Walcott In 13th

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Rocky Marciano, the guy Jersey Joe Walcott and many others said "can't fight," is the new world heavyweight champion.

"They'll probably say still he can't fight," said Trainer Charley Goldmann shortly after the dynamic, 35-year-old flattened Walcott in 43 seconds of the thirteenth round with one perfect right and sent him into retirement.

"But who's going to beat him? Marciano's manager, Al Weill, discussing the future of his fighter, said Wednesday Rocky's next opponent might be Rex Layne, Roland La Starza or Ezzard Charles.

"Maybe it will be Walcott again," added the portly manager. "Who knows? Maybe he'll change his mind and not quit. All I know is that I signed a contract to meet Walcott again in 90 days and if he wants that fight he can have it. Only it's got to be where I say—maybe Miami and maybe Chicago. Fighting Champion

"If Walcott is really through, then we'll see about the others. He's gonna be a fighting champion, ain'tcha Rocky?"

"Sure," said Rocky as he held a wet towel to a mouse under his left eye while blood trickled from a cut on his scalp and from a gash between his eyes. It took eight stitches to sew up an ugly laceration and a quarter gash on his head and six to patch up the cut on his forehead.

"But first my wife and I are going to have a wonderful time," said Rocky. "We're going to go to New York and see every show in town. We're going to have a wonderful time."

All the time Rocky was in training for the climactic fight of his career, his wife, Barbara, was barred from camp. Although she expects a child in November, Barbara watched the thrilling slugfest along with 40,379 paying fans in

Dressen's Dandies Clinch Flag; Yanks Shove Foot In Door

By RALPH BODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The prospect of New York's tenth "subway" World Series since 1921 was extremely bright Wednesday with the Brooklyn Dodgers already "in" and the New York Yankees pounding on the door.

Brooklyn provided the long suffering fans of Flatbush their first restful sleep in three years Tuesday night as they clinched the 1952 National League pennant, their ninth since 1890.

True, the Brooks won the bunting only three years ago but many a member of the faithful experienced countless nightmares the last two seasons. In 1950 the Brooks missed tying Philadelphia for the pennant by bowing to the Phils on the last day of the season. Last year the Dodgers blew a 13 1/2-game lead and were beaten out for the blue ribbon by the New York Giants in a three-game playoff.

The Brooks called it up as Johnny Rutherford pitched Dressen's Dandies to a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia in the first game of a two-night doubleheader. The Phils won the anti-climatic game, 1-0, in 13 innings.

Rutherford's seven-hit triumph gave Brooklyn 85 victories and made it impossible for the second-place New York Giants to pull another miracle. The Giants have 88 victories and only six games remaining.

Six Ambush Indians
The Yanks, meanwhile, moved one and one-half games ahead of Cleveland in the waning American League struggle without flexing their muscles. While the Bombers loafed in Boston, the Indians were ambushed 10-1, by the Chicago White Sox. The Yanks' game with the Red Sox was rained out.

New York can assure itself of no worse than a tie for the flag by winning only three of its remaining six games. Both the Yanks and Indians have each won 90 games but the erstwhile Indians have lost three more.

Joe Dobson, a member of the Indians many moons ago, choked off his former associates on his hit while the White Sox played Mike Garcia and three firemen for 14 assorted blows.

The A's nipped the Senators, 4-3, with old Bobo Newsom gaining credit for the victory. Bobby Shantz was struck by one of Walt Maaterson's pitches in the second inning and suffered a broken left wrist.

Brooklyn was forced to come from behind to beat the Phils before 24,408 screaming fans who showed up at Ebbets Field for the kill. Gran Hamner rocked Rutherford for a grand-slam homer in the third to give the invaders a 4-1 lead.

The Dodgers got one back in the fourth on a four-bagger by George Shuba and locked it up against Karl Drews with three in the fifth.

Pinch-hitter Johnny Wyrostek doubled home Ed Walcutt with the winning run in the marathon night-cap.

The jubilant Dodgers hoisted Manager Charley Dressen on their shoulders during a gala celebration in their clubhouse.

Dressen praised rookie relief ace Joe Black and reserve Outfielder Shuba. "We'd never won the pennant without them," Chuck said.

The happy Dodger skipper said he may start Black in the first World Series game and added, "We'll give them a battle, no matter who it is."

In other games, the St. Louis Browns defeated Detroit, 3-1, behind Bobby Cain, and the St. Louis Cardinals nipped Cincinnati, 4-3, in 10 innings. A doubleheader between the Giants and Boston Braves was rained out. Pittsburgh and Chicago were tied.

This year girls basketball will be offered in three conferences — Class AA, A and B. Schools with more than 500 enrollment will be in AA. But Class AA and A will be merged into one championship race at the regional level.

The state girls basketball tournament will be held March 12, 13 and 14 in Austin.

Playing Softball In Mexico Brings Eligibility Loss
EL PASO — Playing in a softball game in Mexico resulted in loss of athletic eligibility for two El Paso High School boys. It came under the "100-mile" rule of the Texas Interscholastic League which forbids a boy participating in an athletic contest more than 100 miles from the Texas border without permission of the league.

The two boys, Manny Morales, Bowie High School halfback, and Roy Lewis, El Paso High School quarterback, were declared ineligible for a year because they played in a softball game at Chihuahua City, Mexico, without permission of the league.

Harrington Takes Final Series Lead
PORT ARTHUR — (AP) — The Gulf Coast League, where Texas baseball of 1952 will make its last stand, opened its championship playoff series here Tuesday night and Harrington kept on winning.

Harrington put down Port Arthur, the regular season champion, 5-7, in the best-of-seven series opener, the Captain's fifth straight victory.

Miracle Man Haney Gets New Contract

By JIM LINDSEY
The miracle master will be back as manager of the Midland Indians next year.

Shrewd Jay Haney, who made Longhorn League history in less than two months, has received a new contract at the salary of $500 a month.

Retention of Haney was announced at noon Tuesday. Indian President Marion Flynt made the disclosure at a Petroleum Club luncheon honoring Haney and seven of his players still in the city. Cade Downs, Midland oil broker, was host.

General Manager Horace Busby of the Longhorn Champions and 15 businessmen had places on the guest list, too.

Haney and his personable wife, Jane, will see the World Series Flynt also announced at the Downs event that highly grateful fans contributed funds to send the skipper and the Mrs. to the big baseball carnival, all expenses paid.

Haney deserved the recognition.

The Indians finished just one game out of second. It was the closest win/loss in the six-year Longhorn League history.

There were signs of alarm, signs of uncertainty and even outright predictions of defeat when Haney entered the Shaughnessy playoffs with his ace pitcher out because of injuries. Haney must have known from the start that Keith Nicolis never would start another game.

Misfortune struck again when Second Baseman Manny Temes was shelved in the opening game with Odessa.

It was a discouraging predicament. Yet Haney offered no alibis, asked no quarter. What he did in taking the Longhorn League pennant astonished his critics, who were as scarce as Methodists at a Baptist encampment.

The baseball world today refers to self-controlled Haney as a tycoon at his trade. He proved by demonstration that his election as Indian manager more than fulfilled all requirements.

President Flynt has passed on to the Indians additional pennant fund collections. The figures previously soared above $2,000.

Flynt spoke a word of praise for the team, club directors, stockholders and fans in reviewing the banner 1952 season at the Petroleum Club luncheon. He said that it may be possible to provide a new park for next year.

Details of Flynt's plans for obtaining project funds are not ready for presentation at this time.

All of the Midland players hope to return for another campaign. Splendid treatment on the part of the citizens and the club management was given as the principal reason.

Time must answer the question of how many from the title club will be back. Baseball is an uncertain business.

Amarillo Gold Sox Move Nearer Crown

AMARILLO — (AP) — Two homers by Merv Connors and a pay-off triple by Bob Byrnes Tuesday night put one foot of the Amarillo Gold Sox in the title room of the West Texas-New Mexico League.

The two homers led Amarillo to a 9-7 victory over Borger in the third game of the championship play-off. Borger hasn't won any of the three games. And Amarillo could take the best-of-seven series — also the title — Wednesday night when the two meet here again.

THE MAJOR MISSES EIGHT— Nuclear Fission, Fusion Spell Upsets For Hoople

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Big Upset Man
Egad! Mark the date well, Saturday, September 27, as a letter day de luxe on the Hoople calendar of football prognostications.

On that day, millions of gentle readers, your correspondent selects for you no fewer than eight of what we call in gridiron jargon "juicy upsets!"

Yes, eight, count them, and here they are: Michigan to beat Michigan State, Minnesota to beat Washington, Yale over Navy, North Carolina over Texas, Kentucky over Mississippi, Tulane and Georgia to tie, Alabama to beat LSU and Washington State to defeat Stanford!

In selecting these amazing results, I have had recourse to two scientific systems, that of nuclear fission and that of nuclear fusion. In one, the nucleus is split—in the other two nuclei are fused. I fear you laymen will not understand this, so I am not going to enlarge upon it.

I am divulging my method only to indicate to my loyal fans (and to a few disgruntled, crabby, poor-sport critics) that I am thoroughly "hep" to the new trends. Also to demonstrate that this is not luck, but science.

Now go ahead with the forecast, and if you think it wrong, try to beat it!

ROCKY MARCIANO
... He'll be fighting champion.

Marciano Writes One-Blow History

By GAYLE TALBOT
PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — This was one that will go down in the history of great heavyweight fights. There hasn't been a greater one in the last 21 years to our certain knowledge.

Going into the thirteenth round Tuesday night at Philadelphia Stadium, we didn't think Rocky Marciano had an earthly chance of winning the title from Jersey Joe Walcott. The boy from Brockton was behind, seven rounds to five, on our scorecard, and he appeared to be fading.

Then the Rock shot his right, and it landed flush on Walcott's jaw—almost the first punch of the round. It carried behind it every ounce in the sturdy frame of the shoemaker's son, and from the instant of its sickening impact there was never a doubt of what had happened.

Jersey Joe, an admirable old fighter in his final defense, went down as though he had been poleaxed. A left hook caught him as he fell, but it meant nothing. He was insensible as his head struck the floor, and there was never a chance he would get up again.

Walcott Wins Respect
But as long as he was in there throwing those six-ounce gloves, the "Pappy" Guy from Camden gave the roaring throng as great a thrill as it is ever likely to get at a sports event. Marciano won the championship; Walcott a respect he had never known before. He fought his powerful young opponent with a heart and a fury which were at times astonishing.

Several times, even toward the end, Walcott ripped into Marciano with lethal left hooks to the body and head which almost sent the new champion down. Only a wonderful constitution kept Rocky on his feet. That is, of course, one of the requisites of a champion.

Shreveport Sports Win Fourth In Row To Take Loop Title

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The Shreveport Sports, a club that never won the Texas League regular season pennant, now owns the 1952 playoff crown and its right to compete in the Dixie Series.

A brash, young club that hasn't succeeded in affiliating with the major leagues, Shreveport finished off its playoff triumph Tuesday night, winning 7-3 over Oklahoma City in the fifth series game.

Oddly enough, Shreveport spent half this time on the cellar floor and suffered the fewest playoff setbacks in Texas League Shaughnessy playoff history. Only a 14-inning, 8-4 loss to Oklahoma City marred the Sports' nine-game playoff mark. They moved down Fort Worth in four games to reach the finals.

Jim Willis, Joe Seebely and Grant Dunlap teamed up to give the Sports Tuesday night's win, their third championship and first since 1949.

Willis held the Indians at bay on his six-hit hurling. Seebely and Dunlap thumped homers and drove in all seven runs in the 11-hit Shreveport attack.

Heavy Title Returns To Caucasian Hands After 15-Year Span

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Rocky Marciano is the first member of the Caucasian race to hold the world heavyweight boxing title since June 22, 1937. Joe Louis ascended the throne then by knocking out James J. Braddock in the eighth round of their bout in Chicago.

Louis held the title until 1949 when he announced his retirement and Ezzard Charles took over. Charles was champion until knocked out by Jersey Joe Walcott July 18, 1951. Walcott, in turn, was knocked out by Marciano Tuesday night.

Jo-Jo White Quits As Mission Manager

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — San Antonio of the Texas League apparently will have a new manager next season no matter who owns the club.

Jo-Jo White said he had asked for and been given his outright release. "This time, he added, it will be "for good."

IN FRIDAY GAME WITH PARROTS— Jones Sees Improved Bulldog Play

The Midland Bulldogs will play improved football against the Polytechnic Parrots here Friday night.

That's the assurance Tugboat Jones gave the Booster Club at its weekly meeting Tuesday night in the high school band hall.

"We were not tested against Lamesa," slow-talking Jones told a big turnout. He used motion pictures of the Tornado-Bulldog game to spot weaknesses in his team.

"We're concentrating on those weaknesses this week," he said. "The Bulldog squad is in its best condition since the season opened. Rain has hampered workouts."

"But we had to get in some work," Jones said, "even though some of our boys may come up with colds."

The Bulldogs studied films of last year's 13-15 tie game with the Parrots before spending an hour on the practice field Tuesday afternoon.

Jones repeatedly referred to weak pass defenses. The need for improvement was underlined by the scouting report of Dub Orr, who watched the Parrots beat a stout Adamson of Dallas team last weekend.

Orr called attention to the Parrot line, averaging 185 pounds, and a backfield averaging 160. He spoke of Harry Taylor, Jr., with respect. Taylor connects with the long passes. Three touchdowns resulted from his hands in the Parrot-Adamson encounter.

Jones believes Poly will bring a better team to Midland this year. The Parrots operate most of the time from the normal T; occasionally they utilize the T with a flanker.

"Last year," Jones recalled, "scouting reports showed a spread. We set our boys for it. But they used a T formation against us. We don't know what will happen this week."

There were several encouraging aspects of Bulldog play against Lamesa.

"The boys were going down on the kickoff wanting to get hold of somebody," Jones noted.

Robert Ketting's all-the-way scamper was the first time in Jones' four years at Midland High School that a kickoff had been returned for a touchdown.

With his speedy back and improving punting attack, Jones thinks the Bulldogs may score at any time.

"We figure we have in average four touchdowns a game," he said. "And we are able to do it."

Larry Fritzer, front-line quarterback, will be available for full service against the Parrots. He has been sidelined except for kicking duties because of an early season knee injury. M. A. Rose, sitting back, and Terry Fuglar, guard hit by illness, are in top form.

Junior College Play To Open This Week

By The Associated Press
Two teams of the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference this week turn from a non-conference grind that has treated members rather unkindly and engage in the first league battle.

The opening conference battles finds Southwest Texas Junior College enlisting Cisco Junior College at Uvalde Saturday.

In early season games, only Henderson County of Adams, Texas, has weathered an outside schedule for a victory. The Cardinals tripped Paris, 27-7.

But, already this week, Henderson County has lost to Polytechnic of Mexico, 19-14.

Title Fight Just Tea Party Compared To Theater Brawl

RUTHERFORD, N. J. — (AP) — The Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott slugfest Tuesday night was a tea and crumpets walk compared to goings on at a drive-in movie showing the fight.

A rampaging mob estimated between 20,000 and 30,000 descended on the Route 5-3 Drive-In like a swarm of locusts and, police said: "Double and triple parked on and off Routes 5-3 and 17, two main highways, and surrounding streets tied up traffic for hours for miles around; people braved against themselves; built bonfires to keep warm; swigged beer and played poker and practically wrecked the place.

The theater charged a flat rate of $10 per car with no limit on the number of persons to a car.

Hours before the fight hit the screen via a television hookup from Philadelphia, thousands of cars were lined up for admission. A midget auto strained under the weight of a dozen people. Three men crowded into the trunk of another car, already bulging at the seams.

Seymour Wjga, theater manager, estimated 20,000 persons were inside the lot alone. A good house usually, he said, numbered 2,500.

Taylor 'New Star' For Poly Parrots

FORT WORTH — Only one game has been played, but the Poly coaches believe a "star has been born," one to follow in the footsteps of ex-Parrots Ben Tompkins, former University of Texas star, and Dan Drake, now throwing passes for Rice.

The newcomer is Harry Taylor, Jr., who has been tutored by his father, a former great football player for TCU in the late 20's and now a prominent Southwest Conference official.

Invasion By Hawks Stir Shotgun Spree In East Texas City

KOUNTZE—(AP)—This Southeast Texas City of 2,000 reverberated with shotgun blasts Wednesday as citizens fired away at thousands of chicken hawks.

The migration of hawks swooped down on this heavily wooded section Tuesday night and settled into trees. Old timers said a similar mass migration occurred 35 years ago.

It was like one big sheet shot as Kountze nimrods, joined by scores of hunters with "chicken hawk fever" from nearby counties took part in the mass assault on the birds.

Kit Roberts stood in one place for an hour Wednesday morning and shot enough hawks to fill his pickup truck bed, the Kountze News reported.

Farmers stood guard over their chicken yards but the migrating hawks showed no inclination to raid domestic poultry.

PULLING IN THE VOTES—New chart above shows the popular vote for the two major political parties since 1920. The Democrats were second best until Franklin Roosevelt was elected in 1932. During the 1936 election, the Democrats established an all-time record in vote-getting with more than 27 million votes. The maximum vote for the Republican candidate to date is 22 million votes for Wendell Willkie in 1940. In the past two elections the GOP has narrowed the gap, but not enough to oust the Democrats from the White House.

Talkathon Becomes New Ogre Politicians, Public Must Face

By WADE JONES
Special Correspondent

The radio-TV talkathon — sort of a political third-degree with microphones — seems well on its way to becoming a campaign fixture.

Some believe it eventually may edge out baby-kissing, sweet nothing spoken from a train platform and the formal ghost-written orations promising everybody everything.

The talkathon puts a candidate on the air with a TV-radio hook-up for several hours running, answering all questions about all things from the audience both in the hall and listening at home.

The questions get pretty acid sometimes, but if the candidate can hold onto his senses and his temper, he stands to come out well-providing he knows the answers.

The idea of the political talkathon is not new. In fact, it's two years old. Governor Dewey of New York is believed to have been the first to use it, in his race for the governorship in 1950.

Italian Protestant To Ask U. S. Action In Church Closures

ROME — (AP) — Giacomo Rosapepe, an Italian attorney, left by plane Wednesday for Washington to appeal to State Secretary Acheson on behalf of three Protestant groups against what they charge is religious persecution in Italy.

Rosapepe said he will urge the State Department to use its influence to see that Protestant denunciations are allowed freedom of opinion promised in Italy's peace treaty.

Advertising is the Spark Plug of Business, And Good Business is What Makes Good, Steady Work!

WHEN you read the advertising in this issue—wherever you read or hear advertising—remember this: Advertising's job is to sell goods. Poor sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear and worry all through the family. Good sales mean steady work, pay increases, promotions, peace of mind for all.

For when advertising sells goods, there's just naturally more work to be done. In the factory that makes the goods. In the mines and on the farms that produce the raw materials. In the transportation lines, stores and businesses that handle the goods. Yes, and in the banks, insurance companies, machinery houses, real estate firms, builders, etc., that service that factory. It's a never-ending chain.

So be grateful for advertising for bringing you fine products at good values. But most of all—thank advertising for making your job more secure.

MADE MUCH LARGER just to accommodate your larger family. For ONLY $2,500 down, with pride you may step into this attractive 2-bedroom and huge den home. Permian Basin Oil And Gas Loas-

Ranch Unit, wildcat exploration in Southwest Lea County, N. M. No. 1 injuries have been reported. Professional oil well fire fighters have been called in from Houston to try to put out the flames. The fire started at 10 a.m. Tuesday after operator had attempted to take a drillstem test in the lower Pennsylvanian sand from 12,141 to 12,170 feet.

After 67 stands of pipe had been run for the drillstem test, the project started flowing out gas, distillate, oil and salt water. Operator estimated the gas volume to be between 12,000,000 and 60,000,000 cubic feet per day.

More than 6,000 sacks of drilling mud were pumped into the hole in an effort to kill the well, but the blow continued at intervals.

Shortly before the gas caught fire, the well started to crater, tilting the derrick and breaking a guy wire. The derrick was being reeamed when the fire broke out. It was destroyed within 22 minutes. Location is in section 11-14s-22e.

Sandor To Re-enter And Deepen Shutin Gasser In Crockett

Sandor Petroleum Company of Abilene has filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas asking permission to re-enter and deepen a shutin gas well in the Noelke field of Northwest Crockett County.

It is Sandor's No. 1 Bouscaren Heirs. Location is 2,490 feet from north and west lines of HE&WT survey No. 29 and six miles east of Iraan. It is on a 360-acre lease.

Originally drilled as M. & M. Production Company No. 1 Bouscaren Heirs, the well was completed in 1940 for a daily gas of 40 million cubic feet of gas.

Completion was from the White Horse sand at approximately 1,500 feet, according to Sandor's representative. The project will be deepened to 4,800 feet, with drilling expected to begin at once.

Refrigeration Aid To Heart Surgery

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—University of Minnesota surgeons have used refrigeration successfully in slowing the bodily processes of a five-year-old girl for a heart operation.

After an anesthetic was administered, the little girl's temperature was dropped from the normal 98.6 degrees to 81. This slowing of circulation enabled halting the flow of blood through the heart for five and one-half minutes, or almost twice the safety limit under ordinary anesthesia.

The temperature reduction was accomplished by wrapping the small patient in a rubberized blanket with sections of rubber tubing between its two layers. An alcohol mixture, cooled mechanically to near the freezing point of water, was then pumped through the tubing about two hours.

In addition to the 17.6-degree temperature drop, the child's pulse rate fell from 130 to 70 and oxygen needs of her body went down 50 per cent.

The heart continued to beat even though veins entering it were closed. At one time during the hour-long operation the child's temperature dropped to 79.

Dr. F. John Lewis, associate professor of surgery at the university, was assisted by Dr. Richard L. Varco, head heart surgeon at the hospital, and Dr. Mansur Taufic, a surgery fellow.

Child Recovers Rapidly

If necessary, Dr. Lewis estimated, in this case it would have been possible to cut off blood circulation as long as eight minutes. Normally circulation cannot be halted for more than three minutes without serious brain cell injuries.

The child had been born with a small hole between her two heart sections. The normal blood flow was upset with the result one section overworked and enlarged. The condition, known as an interatrial septal defect, may bring heart failure and death.

After the heart had been cut open and the defect remedied, the small patient was placed in a tub of water heated to 114 degrees. Normal temperature was restored in 40 minutes, and 11 days later the girl left the hospital. The operation was performed September 2.

Chinese Puzzle; Courteous Kowtows Imperil Modesty

SINGAPORE—(AP)—A Chinese language newspaper said Tuesday Chinese women could not be expected to curtsy or bow low to the Duchess of Kent on her forthcoming visit—the act might split their tight fitting gowns.

Queen Elizabeth's widowed aunt will arrive in a week's time, making the first royal visit to Singapore since 1929. The event has society fluttering and the English newspaper Straits Times said Asian women might kowtow to her.

The Chinese Sin Pao explained the kowtow means getting on the knees and bowing forward until the forehead touches the ground. It added: "Good heavens! Is this not giving Chinese women greater inconvenience?" It said such action would stretch the Chinese sheathlike gown to the bursting point.

Industry Sure Of Capacity To Meet Increased Demands

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Expanded demand for the nation's natural resources are predicted now with industry much more sure it can meet the demands than are government officials.

New horizons of supply and demand are set up for lead, zinc, steel, oil, natural gas, sulphur—and atomic energy.

When it's a government man speaking, the goals frequently are considered as putting a strain on our natural resources.

When it's an industry man speaking, the emphasis usually is on expanding facilities and industry's record of finding new reserves and making the best use of them.

The dispute is pepped up just now by the Paley report. William S. Paley, chairman of the Columbia Broadcasting System, headed the President's Material Policy Commission. Its report on possible future shortages in the U. S. has been questioned by many industrial leaders.

Stockpile Plan Hit

In the case of lead, Andrew Fletcher, president of St. Joseph Lead Company, told the American Mining Congress that the Paley forecast of a 900,000-ton deficit a year by 1975 was a full 700,000 tons too high.

Zinc officials have made similar objections to the report's forecast.

A copper man, Simon D. Strauss, vice president of the American Smelting and Refining Company, also challenged the report before the Mining Congress. His objection was to the plan to set up international "buffer stocks" of metals to stabilize markets. Strauss says such stocks hanging over the market merely would unsettle it.

Howard I. Young, president of American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Company, spoke to the congress in his role as deputy administrator of the Defense Procurement Agency. He predicted that by 1955 new government and industry projects will be adding $1,000,000,000 worth of metal and mineral production to the nation's present output.

Allies Must Have Atom Information, Declares Bradley

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said Tuesday that sooner or later the U. S. must give atomic warfare secrets to Allied military commanders in Europe.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff set no time limit for turn-over atomic information, but he let it be known he believes eventually the U. S. is going to have to give some inside dope on atomic warfare to the military commanders.

Among reasons Bradley listed at a news conference was that some Allied nations have gained the false impression that mere U. S. possession of atomic weapons made it unnecessary for them to build up their own defenses.

Said Bradley: "Atomic weapons will play a great part in the defense of Europe, but they will not replace strong ground and air forces."

Red Crop Reports Are Contradictory

HONG KONG—(AP)—The Chinese Communists claim Spring rice and wheat crops in Southern China in 1952 exceeded those of the previous year by five to 20 per cent. No tonnage figures were given.

The report was carried by the New China News Agency. A few days earlier the Reds complained in a Peiping dispatch that some areas were making erroneous and exaggerated crop reports.

YOUNG DEMOS GET TOGETHER

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(AP)—A grandson of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gordon Stevenson, 25, son of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, are roommates at Harvard.

Young Stevenson and William Demmer Roosevelt, 25-year-old son of Elliott Roosevelt, originally had picked other roommates for their sophomore years but those boys left school last Spring.

Banks Decrease In Numbers, But Deposits Multiply

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The number of banks in Texas decreased from 1,286 in 1914 to 914 as of Dec. 31, 1951, but the volume of deposits multiplied 25 fold, according to a House Judiciary sub-committee staff report.

Deposits at the beginning of this year totaled $8,029,000 as compared with only 309 million as of June 30, 1914.

During the 1914-1952 period, the number of banks throughout the nation decreased from 26,150 to 14,618, while deposits soared from $21,256,000,000 to $185,736,000,000.

The subcommittee said the trend toward consolidations results in "undue concentration of financial power" by large banking institutions.

No Texas bank was listed among the 25 largest named in the report.

A change in time and place of the regular JayCee meetings has been announced by officials of the organization.

Beginning this week, the JayCees will meet at 5:45 p.m. each Thursday in the Cowden Junior High School Cafeteria. Meetings formerly were held Friday noon.

A film, "The New Translation of the Bible," will be shown by the Rev. Fynn V. Long, Jr., pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, at the Thursday night session.

Rate Of Homicide Slackens In Italy

ROME—(AP)—The murder rate in Italy is dropping. The National Central Institute of Statistics says that since the end of World War II, murders have decreased 67 per cent.

In 1948 there were 2,354 slayings as compared to 707 killings for 1950, the last year for which official figures are available. The institute says 1,378 homicides were reported in 1947, 1,064 for 1948 and 807 for 1949.

Bookie Says Job Rough On Nerves

NEW YORK—(AP)—A former bookie, testifying at a departmental trial of 34 suspended policemen, said it was time to quit gambling "when your nerves started to go on you and you got the shakes."

The witness said two convictions made him nervous and led him to find a legitimate job.

A Matter Of Concern

News that the Navy has used guided missiles in the Korean war brings up another new question in that strange and little-understood conflict.

Will use of the powerful, pilotless weapons mean the beginning of a new and increasingly deadly phase of the war? It's not known generally how far the Russians have developed this type of weapon, but if they have it there is no reason to think they won't now use it.

And once the bars are down, where do things go from there? Our first guided missile was a clumsy affair compared to the potential of this type of weapon, compared even to the type used by the Germans in World War II.

Certainly, in an all-out war, it's to be expected that all of the best and latest in military equipment will be used. But Korea is not an all-out war. It is very definitely and deliberately a limited war.

How then does the use of guided missiles fit in with this confined conflict? If it means an intensification, or even possibly an enlargement, of the war, that is a matter of concern to the American people.

It's Your Heartache

How many people in your family, four? Then two of you are going to be injured in traffic accidents before you die. Shocking, isn't it, when you look at it that way? And yet statistically it is a fair assumption.

The National Safety Council asserts that unless an effective way is found to curb traffic accidents, which killed 37,300 persons and injured another 1,300,000 last year, one out of every two persons living today will be injured in traffic before he dies.

Who will it be in your family, Sister, Junior, Mother or Dad? And don't just ask yourself that grim question. What can you do to prevent it?

Safety engineers say that miracles could be accomplished in reducing the traffic toll if drivers would obey a few simple rules:

1. Drive courteously—show concern for the other fellow instead of competing with him for speed, space and hospital room.

2. Drive "defensively"—that means that you always look ahead for road problems and traffic signals and watch what other drivers are doing instead of bulling ahead on your own.

3. Drive legally—obey the limitations which competent highway engineers have tried to put on your driving to save your life and the lives of other drivers.

You can't reform ALL drivers overnight in accordance with these suggestions. But you CAN start with yourself—if you don't relish the picture of your dear ones or yourself maimed in traffic.

Laugh and grow fat would be a fine idea if it weren't for the cost of reducing.

have government contracts as follows: K. T. Norris, president of the Norris Stamping Company, has a contract with the Defense Department for making shells and cartridges estimate at around $25,000,000.

Earl Adams, an attorney for Guy Atkinson, a builder with large government contracts. In somewhat different category is Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Mirror, who also is the largest stockholder in the Title Insurance and Trust Company, which has underwritten all titles of the oil companies operating in the Tidelands oil area.

Senator Nixon, of course, voted consistently and vigorously for Tidelands oil. Undoubtedly he would have done so whether Chandler had contributed to his expense fund or not, because California sentiment predominantly is that way. However, no senator can afford to be in the position of having his vote under suspicion—especially when he's running for vice president.

It is quite possible furthermore that Senator Nixon might make representations at the Defense Department regarding the K. T. Norris Stamping Company, a 0.1 knowing that K. T. Norris had contributed to his expense fund. If so, then he would be in violation of the Criminal Code, Title 18, Sec. 861.

This is one reason why the Corrupt Practices Act makes it a criminal offense for a member of Congress to hide contributions. He must register the names of his contributors with the clerk of the House of Representatives so that the public may know, when he votes, whether he was influenced by those who contributed to his campaign.

Senator Nixon's gift-givers, of course, contributed after he was elected, and their names were not made public. There was no way that the voters of California could judge what might influence Nixon's vote—until, by diligence of the press, the facts came to light.

Dick Nixon got his start in politics immediately after the war when a wealthy group of businessmen in the Pasadena area, called the "San Marino Group," decided to beat Congressman Jerry Voorhis, Democrat. The San Marino Group was that K. T. Norris's gift-givers who helped Nixon out since he was elected senator.

It consists of a country club set in a residential area where even during the depression the minimum restriction on a house was $15,000. The San Marino Group was looking around for a candidate to run against Voorhis even before they spotted Nixon, in fact even placing an ad in local newspapers. From this start, a "committee of 100" was organized, headed by Roy Day, a local newspaper publisher, although the San Marino Group continued to be the real nucleus of the Nixon movement.

"No," Bill said. "Positively no. You'd be recognized on the plane. It would start a raft of rumors." "I'll take that chance," the Governor said. "I have to." He looked at his watch. "It's about time to call on the Governor of Mississippi. Bill, you work out the details. Get the plane tickets. Roy, you'll come with me."

"You'll be needed on the train," "But, Governor, how about your Birmingham speech? You haven't prepared your Birmingham speech."

Good resolutions and babies crying in church should be carried out immediately.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

Today's hand may serve both as a lesson and as a horrible example. South's bidding is the lesson, and West's is the horrible example. And when I say horrible, I'm not just whistling Dixie!

South had no trouble in making six clubs, of course. He ruffed the opening heart lead, drew the only missing trump, and led his singleton spade towards dummy.

West took the ace of spades (and a good thing, too, since otherwise South would have made an over-trick) and desperately switched to diamonds, but the jig was up. South easily won the rest of the tricks.

South's bidding was very clever. His first shrewd move was to bid only two clubs. There was no need to jump or make a take-out double. Since South had only one card in both major suits combined, there was bound to be further bidding.

Bridge hand diagram showing North and South hands with cards and suits.

West made a rather weird jump to four hearts. Two hearts would have been a reasonable bid with his hand. But the actual jump to four hearts gave South a chance to bid five clubs as though he were being pushed to it. Actually, South was happy to be pushed.

It was all right for West to suspect that South had stretched too far in bidding five clubs, but you need more than suspicion to double the opponents. West should have passed in the hope that his partner could take care of it. As it happened, however, East ran out of the double, since he knew that his hand was defensively worthless.

Now South had to pass. For all he could tell, North might be "busted" in which case a bid of six clubs might go for a bad ride. But South changed his mind when North decided to double five hearts. North couldn't have any high clubs and was most unlikely to have a heart trick in view of the way the bidding had gone. The double was therefore based on strength in spades and diamonds, in which case the combined hands were probably good for slam at clubs.

South's reasoning was very sound, but West continued along his disastrous path by doubling again. This double was really an insult to East. Since West had already doubled five clubs he had made it plain that he hoped to set six clubs.

The double therefore shrieked aloud: "Don't run out of this double, partner. I'm going to massacre this contract!"

If West had passed, East might have seen the light by taking a sacrifice at six hearts. With normal good play on both sides, East would be set only two tricks, for a loss of only 300 points.

Dulles, Acheson Policies Are Closer Than Either Admits

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — John Foster Dulles' radio press conference over the Mutual network the other night did more to clear up his proposed new Republican foreign policy than any speech either General Eisenhower or Dulles has made. Dulles made it even clearer than any article or book he has written on the subject previously.

There was one answer to a question which blew away much of the smog of confusion that has surrounded the political campaign foreign policy debate thus far. It came when Dulles was commenting on Secretary of State Dean Acheson's speech in which he said the use of force to liberate Communist satellite countries would be an "invitation to disaster."

Dulles replied: "I think that if it involves the use of force in a war of liberation, it means disaster. Of course I'll agree with that."

Now this is important. Because it shows for the first time that Dulles and Secretary of State Dean Acheson really aren't as far apart as they have let on in arguing the respective merits of the Acheson policy of "Containment" versus the Dulles policy of "Liberation."

These probably are the two most misunderstood catch words of the campaign. In the great American effort to over-simplify and boil down complete doctrines of foreign policy into a single word, both Republicans and Democrats have been confused pretty badly.

General Eisenhower's and Governor Stevenson's foreign policy speeches have been misunderstood as a result. And President Truman's comments blasting General Eisenhower's speech didn't help materially to clear the air.

Secretary Acheson, in his speech before the Machinists' Union convention at Kansas City, said frankly that he did not consider the word "Containment" a good "short-hand description of what we have been doing and propose that we continue."

On the other hand, Dulles says that his theory of "Liberation" has been misunderstood and grossly misinterpreted. That is a familiar out for all politicians.

No one can question Dulles' sincerity in this statement, but it is permissible to draw the conclusion that if he has been misunderstood, it is only because he didn't make himself clear in the first place.

He cut this job so he could be free to help draft the Republican platform planks on foreign policy. And as some of his less ardent admirers add, "to run for secretary of State."

Anyway, the John Foster Dulles who then started making speeches around the country and writing articles for the magazines was not the same Ambassador Dulles who in countless State Department conferences was known for his shrewdness, his extreme caution and his willingness to back up whenever diplomatic discretion became the better part of military valor.

In simpler language, he never has been one to stick his neck out if there was any danger of getting his head cut off.

When the full history of the Korean war is written, it probably will be recorded that Dulles—who was in Japan when the war started—did as much as any one to get the United States into it.

He spoiled General MacArthur's Sunday afternoon nap to make him realize that this was war. And Dulles made sure that President Truman was tossed the right torch, so that he would pick it up and toss it on to the United Nations, which he did.

Because these facts are well known in diplomatic circles, there naturally was some concern when Dulles as chief architect of the new Republican foreign policy, started talking and writing about the need for a more aggressive foreign policy towards Russia.

"Containment" was not enough. The satellites would not be liberated. Hence the tag-line for the new Dulles policy of "Liberation."

The prospect of starting more Korean wars all over the place naturally came to many minds—including those of Truman, Acheson and Governor Stevenson.

Yet there was in Dulles' record plenty of evidence that if the full responsibility were his, he wouldn't do any such thing. And now, at last, he confirms this himself.

He has no thought of trying to "drop arms" into Poland or Czechoslovakia or any other area he would like to see liberated, to stir up revolutions. He does not think these countries can be freed by the Republicans in a hurry. It will take something less than the 25 years it took the Communists to win control of China.

What this all seems to shake down to is that the difference between "Containment" and "Liberation" is about like the difference between Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

Girdle Covers Up Highway Stop Sign

DES MOINES —(AP)—When Joe Mazza, city maintenance man, found a stop sign fitted with a woman's girdle he turned in a written report as follows:

"Two-way stretch girdle removed from sign. Stretch all gone. Size about 38, could have been smaller when new."

Lucy Strawn awakened me. She pushed the door of my drawing room open an inch or so and I heard her urgent whisper, "Snap out of it, Roy. It's late."

"My window curtain was nearly closed, but through the gap at the bottom I could see that it was dusk outside."

I dressed and packed my suitcase, but did not take time to shave. I lugged the suitcase to the Governor's car, and found Lucy waiting with a portable typewriter, a small overnight case and a Gladstone bag belonging to the Governor.

"Come on," said Lucy, and picked up her overnight case. I grunted and reached for the portable and the Governor's bag. She led the way to the station platform and I followed her in silence through the waiting room to a cab. Once inside it I said, "Don't be so conspiratorial. Where's the Governor?"

"We're picking him up," Lucy said. "Just relax, Roy." (To Be Continued)

SECOND MAN on the Ticket

By Edwin Lanham

The Governor hesitated a moment. "I'll take Lucy along," he said. "I'll dictate it to her on the plane."

"Not Lucy," Bill said. "McDonald will wonder what happened to her. She can't go."

"Then I'll speak off the cuff in Birmingham," the Governor said. "I've done it before. Now look here, Bill, get John Mills on the telephone and ask him to meet us at the airport."

Bill scowled, and pressed his lips together, and blew out a hissing breath of protest, but he was on the telephone calling the airport when I left the Governor's suite. I had a good lunch at a cafe on Capitol Street and walked to the train. I was tired, and was on my way to my drawing room when I met Clyde McDonald in the aisle. His eyes opened wide.

"Say," he said, "I thought you were in Hydrotown."

"I just got back," I said wearily, and it was an instant before I realized what his words meant. I looked at him sharply and said, "What gave you the idea I was in Hydrotown?"

A grin spread on Clyde McDonald's fat, malicious face. "Grapvine," he said.

"I frowned. It was not like Lucy Strawn to be indiscreet, and I was chewing the words I would say to her as McDonald pushed on past me. I hesitated a moment, then followed and saw him getting his suitcase out of his drawing room.

"Going somewhere?" I asked. "I'm dropping off here in Jackson," he said.

"We thought you'd be staying with us until we got to Hydrotown," I said. "I don't wait for news to come to me," Clyde said, and gave me a one-sided grin. "I go after my news."

'EVERY WAVE IS A VOTE'—

Military Precision Also Rides Ike's Whistle-Stop Train

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL—(NEA)—The 1953 model campaign special outranks all predecessors for size, equipment and confusion.

Staff work required to keep Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 18-car train-riviera Army planning. It is fantastically efficient. The confusion comes from more than 80 correspondents for press, radio and television trying to serve their public from a rolling press room which speeds from whistle stop to whistle stop with the candidate.

At a typical stop, the big red and silver diesel hauling the 18 cars rolled up to a measured mark on the right-of-way. This enabled technicians to jump off and hook telephones into trunk line extensions beside the track.

Reporters and photographers meanwhile were racing down the track to cover the candidate's speech from the observation platform.

Ike walked out on the platform and waved to the applauding public. His voice boomed through loudspeakers, clearly audible even to a couple of railroadmen sitting in box seats in a switch tower high above the tumult.

As he neared the end, Jim Magarity, the general's press secretary, shepherded the press and broadcasters back aboard the train. He finished his speech and introduced "my Mamie" and then the loudspeaker blared out the new Republican song, "Look Ahead Neighbor," as the special rolled out.

Up in the visiting firemen's lounge car—a kind of activated smoke filled room—a new batch of local politicians was shaking hands and getting settled. Shortly, Mrs. Charles Howard of Massachusetts, a staff member and former secretary of the Republican National Committee, would take the womenfolk back to the general's car to meet him and Mamie. Then Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas, a top aide, would lead Ike up to the lounge for eight or 10 minutes of handshaking and informal talk.

After that, Eisenhower would return to his quarters and start boning up for the next stop. He'd get advice on the town's special characteristics, and run over the main points he intended to emphasize.

Waves To Everybody
On this trip, the general seems to be operating on the theory that every wave is a vote. Often he's on the back platform waving when only a small knot of people have gathered.

Says an aide: "This guy never misses anybody. He waves to the right, then to the left, then he turns around and waves to the rear, and finally he looks up and waves to people in windows or perched on roofs. It is a nose sticking out beyond a post, he waves."

A trip through the train gives clues as to how the general is bearing up.

A Mr. Schneiderbauer, "instructor of cuisine" for the Pullman Company, is making up the general's meals back in the private galley. You ask him, "What's the general getting to eat?" But Schneiderbauer indicates Ike's diet is classified information.

Playing Solitaire
The passenger list discloses a Bob Liphoff, a masseur, residing in the sleeper next to the general. He's got a solitaire game going on his suitcase, but he looks up to say it's his job to give Ike a nightly rub-down.

He has a folding massage table, with suitcase-style handles, and it now stands in one corner of his bedroom. "If you want to do a good job you've got to have working facilities," he explains.

Liphoff says the general was quite tired after his first full day of whistle-stopping. He didn't even set up his folding table, which he thinks will fit only in the paneled dining room. "I didn't have the heart to work him very hard. I stopped after half an hour, but I massaged his vocal chords a little."

Dr. Howard Snyder, Eisenhower's physician and friend, says Ike bounces back quickly from a tough day. He's a little worried about his voice holding out, but that's all. And he takes the lid off the general's diet. A typical day's fare: Breakfast—fruit and coffee; lunch—tomato juice, sweetbreads and liver, lima beans, cole slaw, strawberries and coffee; Dinner—steak, baked potato, peas and coffee.

ministering to his needs. With him as valet is Sgt. John Mooney, the soft-spoken young negro who served as his orderly in World War II. His top security man is big Louis Sweeney, a curly-haired Chicago detective on leave with the general because he liked his gentle but firm way with a crowd.

But what does Ike think about whistle-stopping?
An aide says: "He told me after the first day that it was the toughest day he'd put in since he entered politics. But he's enjoying it. These big crowds are thrilling him."

Ike's car has only a small lounge at the rear. His dining room is bigger, with a built-in sofa, straight-backed blue plush chairs, light wood panels, and a handsome little buffet. His blue-covered dining table is usually topped by a bowl of fresh fruit.

Five-Bedroom Car
The five bedrooms in his care are conventional Pullman types, although he has a little more elbow room than most. Next door he has a stall shower.

Since the rails started the custom in 1948 with President Truman, they don't charge presidential candidates for hauling private cars. But Ike's fare and berth along with that of his wife and all his staff of almost 60, will have to be paid by the GOP National Committee. That body also will foot the bill for the special lounge cars and the power car and other extras.

Newspapermen and broadcasters pay their own way. A campaign train is a tremendously costly enterprise that is free only to the people who assemble around the back platform to view its prize cargo.

Marianas To Get More Inhabitants
GUAM—(AP)—An attempt will be made soon to return human life to four uninhabited islands of the Marianas chain which stretches northward from Guam.

Fifty families on Saipan Island in the southern part of the chain are going to homestead on the tiny northern islands. The Marianas, administered by the United Nations trusteeship, were ruled by the Japanese until ousted by United States forces in World War II.

The Japanese exported copra from the islands, and it is expected that the new settlers will add goats and pigs to the list.

Reclamation Plans Cited By Commies
SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Communist China has launched the peasants of Northeastern Hopeh province on a six-year plan to convert vast wastelands into forests, orchards, pastures and farmland, reports a Peiping radio broadcast.

The project calls for the reforestation of 2,500,000 acres of bare land and the building of 250,000 small earth dams in an area of 9,650 square miles, about the size of New Hampshire.

There probably is more in it than that, however. The domestic demand and excellence of American piston-engine machines—reiter of which Britain could match—were factors leading Britain to seek an entirely new type of plane after World War II. Americans did not

Reds Find 'Jobs' For College Grads

HONG KONG—(AP)—College graduates in Red China this year need give no thought of their future—Communist boss Mao Tse-Tung and his henchmen will take care of that. Under government edict, graduates in science and technology courses can look forward to assignments to specific work. Some of this will be on railroad and road projects in the far off deserts and mountains of Sinkiang and high Tibet.

Medical school graduates can be sure of one thing—they will not go into private practice. They will be needed for "factories, mines, epidemic prevention work and public hospitals for government functionaries," says the edict.

Daddy Ringtail

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Splash The Honey

Once upon a time, Uncle Bunkum was trying to catch some animals to live with him at the Monkey Catcher's zoo.

Early one morning he hitched old Julius to the wagon. He put a gooseberry net in the wagon, and a handful of corn, and an axe, and a bow and arrow. He drove bumpety-bump away through the forest.

At last he stopped by a lake. He spread out the net on top of rushes that grew by the water. He put corn beneath the net to tempt a wild goose if one came near. He hoped to catch the goose in the net, but "Honk! Honk!" there came hundreds of wild geese.

They dived and swooped in under the net and almost tromple Uncle Bunkum before he ran out from under the net. Quickly the geese ate the corn. Away they flew with the net around them.

Uncle Bunkum grabbed hold of the net to hold it down, but he couldn't. Up and up the geese took him. Then Uncle Bunkum's fingers began to get tired. His hand slipped. Down he fell through the air without any parachute on.

Down, down, down Uncle Bunkum fell through the air. He hoped he would fall in a soft place like first. Down he fell in a hollow tree, kerplash! The tree was full of wild honey the bees had left there. Goosy goo, and very sticky.

Uncle Bunkum wasn't hurt at all, but how could he get out of the tree? No hole in the side to climb out. No door or window or place at the bottom. He couldn't reach the top of the tree, and the honey was goosy on the sides so he couldn't climb up.

To make matters worse, outside the tree Uncle Bunkum could hear the scratchy-scratch of someone climbing up. Uncle Bunkum waited. Uh-oh, because the scratchy-scratch outside was a bear. Now he had peeped and sniffed down in the tree from the top to sniff the honey. He didn't see Uncle Bunkum. Too dark down inside the tree.

Then the bear began to climb down backwards inside the tree. He was going to stick his feet in the honey, and then climb out, and lick the honey off to eat it.

"Ouch!" said the bear, because Uncle Bunkum had grabbed him fast by the tail, and u-u-u-up! went the bear in a hurry, and what happened next is the story I'll tell you tomorrow. Happy day!

The MATURE PARENT

It's Time We Changed Our System Of Rating Fathers

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

She came from Ireland to marry a friend of ours. With her, she brought a coronet of red braids on her lovely head and clear skin. Later I discovered she also had brought a clear mind.

Her baby was 10 months old when I met her. After her husband had introduced us, I followed her out to the kitchen where she was preparing dinner. As we talked, she poked her boiling potatoes with a fork while she balanced her sturdy, placid son on her hip bone.

"Haven't I better hold him for you?" I asked.

With Dublin's brogue a delicious flavor in her words, she said politely, "No, thank you kindly. It is for his father to hold him."

"So I stood aside while the Irish girl walked to the living room to where her husband was frowning over a business letter.

Without the slightest hesitation, she put their child in her arms. "Here, my love, take your son," she said, "while I make ready to feed the empty stomachs in your house."

It was an important letter, but he did not say, "Can't you see I'm busy?" Instead, he took his son and his free arm about his beautiful wife. From its circle, she smiled at his friends. "My American Tom and his little papers!" she laughed at us. "But I make him remember that he likes us best!"

He was one of the happiest husbands and fathers I know.

That is because his wife can answer "NO" to the terribly important question posed in a current child-parent magazine: "Do You Feel That You Must Always Keep the Children From 'Bothering Their Fathers'?"

If our answer to that question is "yes," we have a hard job ahead of us. Our noble efforts to protect our scrubs behind ears, cutting up meat and retrieving the strings of pajama pants doesn't necessarily stem from devotion. We are saying in effect, "You make money better than you make a family."

Human relationships are supposed to be women's stuff. It ought to register the fact that American men need release from ideas that have taught them to rate themselves only on their value as bread-winners.

It's time they got a different system rating, and homes where those who love them are waiting, not to credit them with exhaustion, short temper, the need to hush-hush their children's voices, but with the male vigor to follow on the act of creation they shared with us.

Why should we treat the man we live with like an invalid? Why should we look for weariness in him, instead of energy and power? If we love him, we can be dead sure neither he nor ourselves will get mixed up about the relative importance of "little papers." We'll make him remember that he likes us best. BRITISH BREWERS DUE RUDE JOLT—

Russians Invent Everything But Waffles, Electric Chair

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—The British have just announced a breathless discovery—breathless beer.

They treat it with a chlorophyll process and it says here the beer tastes as good as ever—and no matter how much you drink even your mother-in-law can't smell it on you.

But the English chemists who disclosed they had married beer and chlorophyll might as well save their breath if they intend to brag they have something new.

Pravda is sure to find out later that breathless beer actually first was discovered in the year 1286 by a Russian peasant who dropped a handful of clover in a brewery near Pinsk.

A study of scientific claims emanating from Moscow in recent years shows that most of mankind's breath-taking discoveries originated with the area of the Soviet Union, no matter what the reference books say.

Invented About Everything

So far the Kremlin's mimeograph machines, busily rewriting history, haven't taken up Russian priority in the field of chlorophyll and beer. But they will.

Look how long they waited until they pointed out that the great American game of "beibol" was just a murderous corruption of an ancient Russian village sport, lapta. The only inventions the Soviet propagandists admit the free world came up with first are: (1) the popo stick; (2) bubble gum; (3) the waffle iron; and (4) the electric chair.

Woman Pickpocket Caught in Church

ROME—An Italian woman told police she picked the pockets of 35 religious pilgrims in one morning. She is now serving a jail term.

She was arrested in Northern Italy when a policeman saw her put in her provision bag a wallet she had stolen in a sanctuary. They searched her bag and found another 34 wallets.

She confessed she had picked them up during the morning religious ceremonies.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Chickenpox Is Ordinarily Mild; Common Between Two And Six

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Almost everyone gets chickenpox in childhood. This is usually a mild disease, but it cannot be ignored entirely. In delicate children, particularly those who are tuberculous, chickenpox can be rather severe and cause complications. In rare cases, inflammation of the kidneys may develop.

The average time between exposure and the appearance of the first symptoms is from 10 to 15 days. The first signs of the disease are likely to be fever, sometimes accompanied by a slight chilly feeling. The typical blisters may not be present at first, but the skin may appear somewhat reddened.

The blisters on the skin usually begin to appear within 24 hours of the first symptom.

The first they are most common on the back or chest, but may begin on the forehead or face. They generally start as raised, reddish lumps. After about two days the contents of the blisters become pus-like and cloudy instead of clear, as they are at first.

There may be a good deal of uncomfortable itching, especially in grown-ups. In a few days the blisters become covered with a dark brownish crust which falls off and, as a rule, does not leave scarring.

Fresh crops of blisters come on during the first two or three days, so that by the fourth day the pox, or blisters, are in all stages of development. They do not run together, as happens in smallpox.

The cause of chickenpox is a virus rather than a germ. A virus, of course, is a living organism which is too small to see under the ordinary microscope and which can be grown only artificially on living tissue, such as an egg yolk.

The disease is likely to come in epidemics and is most common between the ages of two and six. Grown-ups rarely come down with it.

chickenpox because so many have had it in childhood and have become permanently resistant.

Let's Sooth Itching

Special treatment for chickenpox usually is not necessary. The disease is spread by contact with a sick child. For this reason a child with chickenpox should be kept away from others and also should be kept in bed until the acute stage of the disease is over.

Sometimes soothing lotions or powders are helpful in lessening the itching and scratching. Bandaging the hands or otherwise preventing a small child from touching the pox and possible getting an unnecessary permanent scar may be needed to prevent scratching.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE

Fishing Editor

I've always caught my largest trout, and consistently catch more trout, in the Summer months—contrary to the popular belief that the fish knock off until cooler weather. In fact, early Fall is a snare and a delusion if you're dealing with resident brook, brown, and rainbow trout.

The type of tackle you are planning to use will have a great deal to do with how successful you will be in taking shy, late-season trout. Flies should be delicate and small. Leader tippets should be reduced to minimum in size, and the experienced angler will increase their length by one or two feet. A 9-foot will indicate that a trout has struck. A turn of the wrist, done gently but quickly, will hook such a trout.

When fishing a fast run or riffle, get the trout down to you as quickly as possible and with a minimum of disturbance. If you can keep out of sight and can lead the fish below you, playing it there and netting it, you will often have a chance at another fish that may lie in the same riffle above.

Incidentally, in late season wet-fly fishing, it is advisable to fish a single fly rather than use one or two droppers besides the point fly.

Big trout ordinarily take a fly more slowly than smaller ones. A six-inch may strike with a splash that belies its true size and then spit out the fly so quickly that it takes a lightning-fast strike to hook him. This is particularly true in small, rapid mountain streams.

An 18-inch trout, however, is apt to rise deliberately and take the fly with very little disturbance on the surface, often making scarcely a dimple. A strike as fast as would be required to hook the six-inch would jerk the fly away from the big out. Between the fact that we catch many small trout for each large one and with the attendant excitement when a big one strikes, the natural tendency always is to strike too soon. Use a slight and deliberate movement of the rod tip.

leader is better than one 6 or 7 1/2 feet in length. It should taper down to no heavier than 2X, and where trout do not run exceptionally large, 3X is better.

The most popular dry flies for clear-water fishing are small, bi-visible, spiders, and spent wings tied on sizes 12 and 14 hooks. For wet-fly fishing, such patterns as the Red Ant, Hare's Ear, Black Onat, Queens of the Water, Wickham's Pancy, and Ginger Quill are particularly effective.

The idea is to imitate nature as closely as possible, and under ordinary circumstances large and gaudy patterns are out.

A wet fly can be fished upstream as successfully as a dry fly. If the flies are tied on fairly heavy rooks and are lightly dressed, they will sink even in fast water. Cast upstream and slightly across, retrieving slack as you would in dry fishing.

The fly will tumble down with the current and needs no motion on the part of the angler's rod. Follow the course of the drifting line and walk for the slightest twitch which

Intoxicated Woman Leaves Helper, Soldier In Lurch

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—All because of an intoxicated woman whom police would like very much to find, a helpful motorist wrecked his car and a soldier may lose an eye.

This, say the police, is what happened:

Avon Turner, 31, was driving on South Eresa Street Wednesday when a woman hailed him. She said her car wouldn't start and asked for a push.

Turner obliged and pushed the car at a speed he estimated between 25 and 30 miles an hour.

All was going well until without warning the woman veered toward a utility pole and smashed into it. Turner crashed into the car he was pushing causing damage estimated at $400 to $500.

The woman climbed out of the car and walked away, explaining she was going to call police. Instead, she was seen climbing into a taxicab. And that's the last that was seen of her.

A soldier, passenger in the car being pushed, was cut severely on the face, ear and eye.

The car belonged to a friend of the soldier, so police were unable to trace the woman through the vehicle.

When asked who the woman was

LAKE BOTTOM PRODUCES HAY

DENTON (AP)—Here's a drouth story to end drouth stories.

They were baling hay Wednesday on the bottom of nearby Lake Dallas.

As the lake level receded this year to its lowest ebb in history, grass sprang up in 7,000 acres of land formerly under water.

With ordinary grass hay selling for $30 to $40 a ton, it was like finding a gold mine. Wednesday about 15 rigs were working the crop and truck after truck of precious livestock feed rumbled out of the bottoms.

driving the car, the soldier said: "Woman? I thought a policeman was driving."

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Look at him! Catch it! Run! Oh he got tackled! Those were only a few of the sighs and cries heard at the football game last Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

The Bulldogs won by a score of 35 to 13.

To the Bulldogs: You played a very good game and we want you to do the very same this week against Poly.

Last year we tied Poly and this year we are going on to break the tie and win. The dance after the Lamson game was one of the best yet. There will be dances after each home game at the Youth Center and everyone is invited.

Clifton Hamlin and Russell "Rusty" Rutledge seemed to be doing something different last Tuesday night. They were putting lipstick on each other. The purpose of this, we don't know and we can't figure out, but they did it just the same.

Everyone was wondering why Clifton's face was so red. He said he had been getting the lipstick off. He forgot to say that Russell put it on him. Then he borrowed some lipstick and really got back on Russell.

This is the first time we have ever heard of boys wearing lipstick, but if they want to they should be able to. Which shade did you boys have on?????

We are glad to see Corky Moss up and around. He has improved very much and he is going to Texas Tech this Saturday. We are glad to know that you are better, Corky. You really had us worried.

Jimmy Counts had Charlotte Frasher really worried Tuesday night. Maybe we should have said that Jimmy had Charlotte laughing so hard that she was worried about herself. For further details ask Charlotte. They are very funny, but we are sure she can tell them much better than we could write them.

Round and Round

You certainly can tell that the weather has changed because there are just gobs and gobs of football jackets going around all over the place. Someone just asked what is making them go round. To that certain person we mean there are football players who lettered on the team last year, going around in them.

The Seniors had their Calisto pictures taken for the last time Monday. With so much confusion they didn't realize that until after they were taken. The other two classes also had theirs taken, but they still have one and two more years to go. Lucky?????

"Now all together let's sing Verse 22." Does that sound familiar? If it doesn't then you haven't heard the new record that we have at the Youth Center. The name of the record is "It's in the Book." It is very funny. Either you like it very much or you don't like it at all.

There is to be a Talent Show October 17. We are telling you this early so you can get started and really work up something good. There will be prizes for the best two. Let's have a lot of entries so we can see what kind of talent we have around the Youth Center this year. Those of you who want to enter, turn your names in to "Myrr" or to this column.

The style must have changed in Paris for it certainly has here. The boys are all dressed up in some sort of garb. "Timber" Forrest had on a long top coat and high topped boots with some sort of a weird looking hat hanging on his head. Maybe we should say it was drooping on his head. Then Jerry Ball, not to be outdone, had on a top coat with high topped boots. He also had on a hat. But his hat was different from the others because it didn't have a top on it. Then Jimmy Counts once more stepped into the picture, this time without a topcoat. But he had on his boots and some sort of a hat. We think it was an African hunting hat. Just what that is we don't know, but we just thought that was a good name for it. If you happen to have a new fashion, just come to the Youth Center for it really gets around.

"All Tere Up"

Don Hudson has been telling people he is "all tore up." Now just what this means we suggest that you ask Don. He looked fine to us, and Barbara Whitson didn't know what was the matter with him, so maybe he just said that so we would put it in the column. If that is the reason, then you had your way, Don.

Those of you who have been complaining about the picture shows lately have a reason to, we guess. The last two shows "Myrr" didn't order. He just told them to send him anything. That now has been changed. He also ordered a new serial which everyone will want to see. This week's show is "Thanks a Million." You can guess for yourself what kind of a picture this is.

There will be a Halloween Dance at the Youth Center. The exact date has not been set, but there will be one, so we thought we would tell you so you can make arrangements for it. There also will be a formal Thanksgiving Dance.

"Howdy Week"

It is "Howdy-You-All-Week" in Midland High School. Everyone seems to be enjoying it very much. One day this week the teachers can't give the students homework. We should have this week every day, should we not?????

Barbara Ware couldn't think of any reason for her name to be in the column, but she wanted it there, and we can think of a good reason now. Barbara, you did a very nice job with your Half-Times last week at the game.

More than 100 workers will be needed from the Youth Center to help Midland with its Community Chest. Those of you who want to help, see "Myrr" and he will put you on one of the teams.

That winds things up for this week, so "adieu."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

I have received a number of questions about Cut-Throat Canasta, the three-handed game in which the player who first takes the discard pile becomes a lone wolf against the other two as partners. Many of the letters ask me to give them the secret of winning at the new game.

That's easy, but advice is not enough. This secret of winning at Cut-Throat Canasta is to resist temptation. This seems to be good advice in many other fields also, but people somehow still manage to fail.

In Cut-Throat Canasta you tend to reach for the discard pile too soon. Unless you can meld out immediately, the chances are that the hand will run on until the stock pile is exhausted. By that time your opponents will score about a thousand or fifteen hundred points.

The lesson is clear; Don't pick up the discard pile unless you can see very good reason to expect a profit of at least a thousand points. Don't let yourself be lured on by a mere mixed canasta.

Even two mixed canastas are no bargain, unless there is a good reason to expect other canastas to develop later on. Likewise, one natural canasta is not enough unless there are good prospects of other canastas.

In most games of Cut-Throat Canasta that I have seen, the winner is the player with the greatest self-control. Mind you, that player doesn't always have the most fun—but we're just talking about winning.

Q—I understand that game is 7,500 points in Cut-Throat Canasta, not the usual 5,000 points. Do you ever need more than 120 points for your initial meld?

A—No. From 3,000 to 7,500 the initial meld is only 120 points.

Q—Are you required to ask permission before you can meld out in Cut-Throat Canasta?

A—If you are one of the two partners, you must ask permission at least once during the hand before you can meld out. If permission is denied, you may meld out again. If you are the lone wolf, of course, you need not ask permission to meld out. You are responsible only to yourself.

Q—Do the scores run higher in Cut-Throat than in regular Canasta?

A—Yes. They run about twice as high. People who like to play for something usually cut that something in half when they play Cut-Throat Canasta.

410,000 Accidents Forecast By Bureau

NEW YORK (AP)—About 95 per cent of the state's 4,219,868 registered vehicles are insured, reports the state Motor Vehicle Bureau.

The bureau also estimates that 410,000 street and highway accidents will be reported this year. A minimum of $50 property damage must be proved to put an accident on official lists.

About 89 per cent of accidents are caused by speeding, reckless driving, failure to get right-of-way and ignoring traffic signs and signals, says the bureau.

Jowell, Cowden Hook Hefty Fish But Keep No Trophies

J. Holt Jowell, 706 North Pecos Street, was pushing close to the world's record for broadbill swordfish recently. He landed a 748-pound fighter in Iquique, Chile, on a fishing trip with R. B. Cowden, 1601 Cuthbert Street. The biggest broadbill ever brought in was caught south of there and registered 890 pounds.

It took Jowell three hours and 40 minutes to land the big fellow, and he was the first fish caught after two others had been baited and managed to get away. Jowell pulled in one other broadbill that scaled 508 pounds, and Cowden accounted for two, one at 574 pounds and the other weighing 612 pounds.

The two sportsmen left on August 23 from Houston and returned to Midland September 11. Besides the swordfish, they caught several marlin in Iquique. Jowell hooked one that registered 315 pounds, and Cowden landed another that weighed 284 pounds. The two men also went after sailfish in Panama on their return trip.

Iquique (pronounced "I-key-kay") is a fantastic city, according to Jowell. It was at one time the richest city in Chile. It is desert country with very little rain, and soil for parks and homes has to be brought in from the outside. There was no vegetation except that artificially maintained by the Chileans. Cowden commented that he saw several sand hills as high as 2,000 feet which had been blown up by the winds.

He was surprised by the temperature variations. He said that there was as much as 40 degree difference in the sun and shade areas.

The most surprising feature of the jaunt to the two sportsmen was that they were not allowed to keep the fish they caught. They had to give them to the hotel or crew. They wanted to donate the biggest sailfish landed to an orphan's home, and after considerable discussion with Chilean officials, they finally had to divide the meat among four homes.

Burma Becomes Battleground For Western, Red Propaganda

RANGOON—(P)—This "neutral" capital of Burma is the hottest spot of Communist propaganda in Southeast Asia.

Two out of every three bookstalls splash expensively printed magazines extolling the glories of Stalin and Mao Tse-tung. Queues line up at the downtown King Theater, leased by the Soviet Embassy, to see Russian-made motion pictures.

The Communist "peace dove" decorate the Rangoon University magazines, published by students who recently elected a Red-dominated "Progressive party" slate in university elections.

You can buy—and lots of Burmese are doing so—the special issue of "China Pictorial" featuring "irrefutable evidence concerning the use of bacteriological warfare by the American aggressors."

The United States so far has allocated 31 million dollars for economic aid to Burma in the form of machinery, materials and services of technicians. The United States Information Service library fairly well is attended and USIS technical training films are in demand.

Much of this has been effective, particularly in winning the appreciation of some government officials, but in the streets among the masses, the Communists are far ahead of America in this propaganda battle.

Tons of literature, given away or sold for a few cents, pour into Burma from Red China and the Soviet Union. The propaganda campaign is directed by people who know their business.

The usual tracts on Marxism are outdone by dozens of slick paper magazines with color printing fully as good as America's best. The Soviet-leased theater, which operates like an ordinary movie house, mixes its out-and-out propaganda films with some of Russia's best movies. The Communists have subsidized a Burmese motion picture company to make Red-slanted movies in the local language.

Americans Fight Back

To meet this propaganda challenge in the same arena, a privately financed American organization, the Committee for Free Asia, has set up shop in Rangoon and other Asian areas. It is headed by Alan Valentine as president, with headquarters in San Francisco.

One CFA project in Rangoon is a "Free World" bookstore selling anti-Communist books and magazines at or below cost. Its aim is to out-propagandize the Reds at their own game.

CFA is meeting the movie challenge by assisting in the production of anti-Communist Burmese films. It will aid independent student movements in the university fighting the well-organized Communists. Books will be translated into Burmese and printed on CFA presses.

MOUTH, NOT CUPFUL—What he lacks in size, this tiny Chihuahua pup makes up for in the way of a jawbreaking name. "Nebuchadnezzar," who was raised by Mr. and Mrs. C. Worth Brown, of Atlanta, weighs in at three-quarters pound, and is only two months old.

When you water house plants, place them in a galvanized-steel wash tub. The tub will catch excess water as the plants are sprinkled, keeping it from seeping floors or table tops.

A watermelon of good quality will have a symmetrical shape with a yellowish underside. Its general color should be fresh looking and will vary from deep solid green to gray, depending on its variety.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Children With Cerebral Palsy Need Physical, Mental Care

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Many children are born each year with an unfortunate condition known as cerebral palsy (formerly mistakenly called "spastic").

It is said that there are in the neighborhood of 125 youngsters under 21 years of age with cerebral palsy for every 100,000 in the population as a whole. Of this number, about two-thirds are mentally normal, but approximately half of these are disabled enough in other respects to require special treatment.

An injury to the brain occurring during or right after birth produces cerebral palsy. The diagnosis can be made as a rule within the first six months of life and almost always by a year. It is important to make this diagnosis early because the results of treatment are better if started promptly.

Children handicapped by cerebral palsy need both physical and mental care. On the physical side there should be a long-range plan set up by the medical advisers with the cooperation of the home and the school. Special muscle training should be started at the earliest possible moment in order to decrease the difficulty with movement.

Certain games are particularly adaptable for these handicapped youngsters. Exercises using music or verses and songs may be useful. Regular eating, sleeping, resting, bathing, dressing and play habits should accompany the exercises prescribed by the physician.

The educational and psychological assistance which can be given is most important. A calm, harmonious home life is desirable. The education should be given at the speed which the youngster can take easily and should be carried as far as it is reasonable to go. A child afflicted in this way usually progresses at a slower rate than others of the same age.

Encouragement is important. The youngster with cerebral palsy should have some play with normal children. The speech can be encouraged. Although these youngsters need sympathy and affection, they ought not to be pampered or spoiled.

Need Special Schools

There now are large numbers of nurses, psychologists and teachers who understand the special problems involved. Sometimes the youngsters have superior intellects but have difficulty in developing them satisfactorily in regular schools. Special schools and special attention have proved of enormous value.

To all this work the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (11 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 3, Ill.) has contributed enormous support.

U. S. President Jefferson never exercised his veto power.

Arch Nearbrite was given a five-year-old menu in a restaurant by mistake. He got so hungry reading the former prices on things he likes to eat he had to go out and buy a bottle of appetite-killing diet tablets before he dared to order his dinner at present prices. © NEA

Daddy Ringtail

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail As Luck Would Have It

Uncle Bunkum from the zoo had fallen feet first down into a hollow tree. The tree was half full of honey. Chueh! kerplash! when he fell in. Then he was standing up to his chin in honey. He couldn't climb out.

The tree didn't have a hole in the side. No door or window in the side or bottom. The sides were too honey-slippery for Uncle Bunkum to climb up.

Suddenly he heard a scratchy-scratch on the outside of the tree. Scratchy-scratch, scratchy-scratch. Somebody was climbing the tree. Uh-oh, because the somebody was a bear.

The bear was peeping down inside the hollow tree. He couldn't see Uncle Bunkum. Too dark down there inside. But the bear could smell the honey. Bears like honey to eat. The bear began to crawl down backwards into the tree. He was going to wet his feet with honey, and then climb out and lick the honey off.

"Ouch!" said the bear.

Uncle Bunkum had grabbed him by the tail. U-u-u-up! climbed the bear as fast as he could, pulling Uncle Bunkum with him.

Well sir, Uncle Bunkum was mighty happy to be out of the hollow tree, but now Uncle Bunkum was thinking of here was a chance to get a bear to live at the Monkey Catcher's zoo. "After all," said Uncle Bunkum to himself, "that's why I came here to the woods—to get some animal-people to live at the zoo."

Well, the bear was much too frightened by the tail-grabbing to stop and think about it. He was hurrying to run away, but just as he climbed out and lick the honey off.

Uncle Bunkum had grabbed him by the tail. U-u-u-up! climbed the himself senseless. He lay flat on his back with his feet stuck straight up in the air.

Quickly Uncle Bunkum slid down the tree. He could slide in a hurry because of the slippery honey all over him. And then, as luck would have it—very fortunately, in fact—Uncle Bunkum discovered that the bear was wearing a bear-suit with a zipper on it.

Uncle Bunkum zipped the suit off just as the bear came to his senses.

He said he would go live at the zoo sure enough, if Uncle Bunkum would give him back his bear-suit. Uncle Bunkum did, and the bear went with him to the zoo, but the bear threw away the zipper so no one ever again could zip off his bear-suit, and that is why a bear doesn't wear one any more. Happy day!

GOLD STARS FOR LOST REPORTERS—

Newsmen On Ike's Special Keep Telegraph Keys Busy

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL—(NEA)—Charlie Brown was nervous as he fingered the flat green canvas envelope with the zipper, which read: "UNSENT TELEGRAMS. Please Rush to Western Union."

This was urgent press copy from General Eisenhower's special train. Brown was a Western Union veteran of these expeditions, but he knew you never could be sure where that envelope would land when the train thundered past a station without stopping.

He opened the top half of the car door and peered down the track. The wind whipped dust into his face.

"There's my man," he said. Brown let fly, looked back for a few seconds, and then said, with relief: "Landed at his feet."

The ordinary whistle-stop routine in the press car isn't so spectacular, but it is hectic. Newsmen traveling a presidential campaign train usually fall into one of three categories, according to Page At A Time.

The first type stays in the press car, listens to the candidate spout over the public address system, pounds out his copy moments after the words are uttered, and throws his output at Brown a page at a time.

The second leaps off the train at each stop, dashes back to the rear and either stands close to the back platform or mingles with the crowd, observing and taking notes. This one writes his copy for the next stop — or maybe later.

The third species waits for the official text of the speech.

Sometimes a reporter misses the train's warning, too, and gets left behind. Then Brown, who charts the train's course on a big U. S. wall map, affixes a gold star at the point where a comrade vanished.

Working on the railroad can be a tough job for the reporters and others assigned to a campaign train.

Early on the Eisenhower tour, there was a long service halt at a Midwestern town. Two newsreel men, enjoying coffee in the station restaurant, suddenly looked up and saw a train moving.

No General Aboard

They raced out and tried to clamber aboard. The doors were closed already and they pounded frantically. Trainmen stopped the train. That gave the cameramen time to discover that its wasn't painted gray, had no general aboard, and was going to New Mexico.

Sides of the working lounge are lined with long tables covered with dark green cloth.

Three top priority news photographers occupy the sleeping compartments in this car, presumably on the theory that cameramen can sleep through anything.

The lounge space in the adjoining car is the playground of the press, except for one corner where the overworked staff mimeograph machine stands. It's the key to what goes on in the rest of that car, for here are headquarters of Jim Hagerly, Ike's press secretary, his chief aide, Stewart Newlin "house mother" to the cameramen, and the rest of the press staff.

The moment the general winds up a speech, stenotypers hurry to a cubbyhole in Hagerly's ball-wick, the text is transcribed, a stencil cut and the words memorialized in mimeo. In a day and a half, while Brown was accepting 150,000 words of copy, Hagerly's little band was turning out 18 speech texts.

The Egg And The

In another compartment crouches a slim radio engineer, surrounded by tape-recorders and a current converter, and bowed down by an opened upper berth where mimeo supplies are resting.

In the next, two bulky teletypewriters share space. In a third, a young man stands guard over a ponderous teleprompter typewriter, which prints inch-high letters on 17-inch-wide sheets.

There are no live TV facilities aboard the special. For that, the networks must fall back on mobile units brought to key stopping points. Radio and TV men on the train write news copy, make tape recordings, and shoot film for video use. Their bulky equipment is stuffed in odd corners all over the train.

At night, with the whistle-stops ended, the bedlam ceases and all the news-gatherers relax. Here again there are categories: the sleep-lovers (held in contempt), the serious conversationalists, and the self-styled comedians.

The day's post-mortems don't overlook the way the general's been stressing the 100 hidden taxes on the egg you buy. "The egg and Ike," someone mutters.

Austex Will Furnish Free Chili, Tamales For Church Dinners

Church groups that would like to serve a non-profit chili dinner to their own membership can obtain free chili and tamales by writing Walker's Austex Chili Company, Austin, Texas.

Walker's Austex has announced this plan of complimentary chili dinners so that more people in Midland may get acquainted with the distinctive flavor of Austex Chili and Austex Tamales. To qualify for the free chili and tamales dinner, an authorized representative of the church organization serving the dinner should write Austex at least three weeks in advance of the date of the meal, giving the place and the time of the dinner and the number of people to be served. Austex, in turn, will send enough chili and tamales to serve the dinner with instructions for serving, attractive place mats and napkins, and recipe folders.

The offer is limited to church groups serving their own membership.

IF YOU LIKE TO USE BOTTLED STARCH

You can make your own for
1¢ a quart
(save about 25¢ a quart)

A RECIPE FOR BOTTLED STARCH

- Put 1 quart of water in a 2-quart pan over a rolling boil.
- Mix 1/2 cup (4 tablespoons) Faultless Starch with 1/2 cup of cool water, until the thickness of light cream.
- Slowly pour this mixture into the boiling water while stirring. Boil for 1 minute. This is important—it keeps the starch from separating.
- Add 1 quart of hot faucet water and stir well. This keeps a foam from forming.
- Pour into jars that can be tightly closed. Cover coming jars are stout.
- Allow to cool to room temperature, then place in the refrigerator. Will keep sweet and fresh for at least 10 days. Shake well before using.

Patient Training Needed For Hounds

NEWARK, N. J. — While bloodhounds have natural tracking ability, it takes a couple of years of patient training before a bloodhound learns the fine points.

So says patrolman Bill Taylor who makes a hobby of training the dogs. His prize pup is a 100-pound purebred American Red who has proved his "nose" on several occasions. The dog's most spectacular feat was tracking a boy vandal two miles over mountains right to his front door.

Taylor says he first taught the dog to distinguish between scents of persons. Next Taylor had the dog follow an open trail of 100 feet, gradually lengthening it to more than two miles.

Voodoo Hoodoo Often Works, But Dolls Are Unpredictable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—In all the world there was nothing that Craig Bleak really liked. He was so mean that even the cat in his own home arched her back and spat whenever he came near.

"Craig doesn't really mean the things he says," his wife, Mary, loyally defended him. "It's his poor health."

But if anything made Craig ill it was his spiteful nature. And in time he alienated everyone except Mary and Henry Holesome, who worked in the bank with him. Craig hated them both—Mary, because she stood by him; Henry, because he kept rising in rank while Craig remained in his same old post in a teller's cage.

"I know why Henry keeps hanging around here—the fool's in love with you," Craig taunted his wife. "If I dropped dead, he'd want to marry you the next day."

One True Saying
And Mayola, their maid, who overheard the remark, thought to herself that it probably was the only true thing Craig ever had said. Mayola came from Haiti, and believed in black magic.

The day Henry finally was elevated to a vice presidency, Craig Bleak came home in a vile temper. "You ought to be glad he was promoted," said Mary, and it was then Craig slapped her. He went out in the kitchen and saw Mayola. She held a small object in her hand and was muttering over it.

"What is that?" demanded Craig. "Nothing," said Mayola, hiding the object behind her.

"Let's see it," insisted Craig sternly.

Reluctantly, Mayola held out the object—a tiny man-shaped doll. Fixed to its toe by a pin was a piece of paper that said "Sam."

"He's my boy friend, and he's been cheating on me," explained Mayola. "I'm gettin' even by puttin' the voodoo hoodoo on him. Ever place I sticks a pin in it with his name on it—that's where it hurts him."

Shoulder Trouble
"It works where I come from," said Mayola. "Anything you believe in hard enough comes true. Misty Bleak."

"I'll give you $5 for that doll," said Craig. He took it, and as Mayola happily held out her hand he said, "Don't worry, I'll pay you later—maybe."

The next morning at breakfast he put a scrap of paper say "Henry Holesome" on the doll's shoulder and stuck a thumb tack into it.

"I'll fix your lover boy," he told Mary.

"You must be losing your mind," she said.

Craig came home that night in a fine mood.

"Henry moaned all day about having arthritis in his shoulder," he exulted. "How do you like that?"

Mary paled in fear. "Well, I think we'll start giving your lover boy an ulcer now," Craig said the following morning and pushed four thumbtacks into the doll's abdomen.

Nail This Time
"And just to be sure, Mary dear, that you don't interfere—" he went over and locked the doll in a desk.

When Mayola arrived, a weeping Mary told her what had happened. Mary searched until she found a key, opened the desk and pulled the thumbtacks out of the doll.

"I know it is all a lot of nonsense, Mayola," she said. "But take this horrible thing out and throw it down the incinerator."

She went into her bedroom and fell asleep. The telephone awoke her.

"I have terrible news for you, Mary," said Henry's voice. "Craig suddenly keeled over a few minutes ago. Before we could even get a doctor he—"

Mary screamed. She dropped the telephone.

"Mayola! Mayola!" she cried. She ran into the kitchen. It was empty. On the drainboard lay stretched the tiny doll.

"A nail protruded from its left chest and to the nail hung a scrap of paper. Mary snatched up the doll and read:

"Goodbye Misty Bleak."

Moral: Never tell your wife where you keep your dolls.

DUBLIN, IRELAND—(AP)—A collie named Futs moved into the Dublin Zoo Wednesday with her four puppies and, took on an emergency job of wet nursing a tiger cub.

Business Fortunes Keep Man At Work

WAUKON, I.A.—(AP)—John C. Opler, a druggist for 22 years, has been trying to retire for eight years and hasn't been able to yet.

Opler, still active, at 75, sold his business in 1944 to Francis Sullivan, who had been a clerk in Opler's drug store for 22 years. But because of a shortage of pharmacists during the war, Opler stayed on—as an employee of Sullivan.

Now Sullivan has a graduate pharmacist working in the store. But state law requires that he spend a year's internship under a registered pharmacist, so Opler is still at work.
