Fanatical Reds Assault UN Lines

Chinese Pile Across Heaps Of Own Dead

SEOUL—(AP)—A big push by 15,000 Chinese Communists, which overran seven Allied hill positions in the first onset, early Wednesday reached defenses of one of two heights guarding the road to Seoul.

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—Fanatical Chinese Reds Tuesday night charged across a battlefield littered with their own dead in a renewed assault against two vital heights on Korea's western front.

The peaks—White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge—were the main targets of the biggest Red attack in a year. Valiant Allied infantrymen stood their ground against 15,000 screaming Chinese Tuesday.

AP Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that a roaring artillery barrage powered Tuesday's assault. The Reds pumped 1,200 rounds an hour at each of the heights before the infantry took charge.

The first Red onslaught Monday night gained the Reds some ground at isolated points.

Allies Stand Ground
Fighting was brutal. The Reds threw men, tanks and artillery into the battle, spread over two-thirds of the 155-mile battlefield.

But the Allies had known three days of the attack and were ready for the assault.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the massive Red assault captured seven hill positions. But the Allied defenders stood their ground at most places. The Army added that many hundreds of Reds were killed.

Allied warplanes roared over the front Tuesday, hitting the Red lines. Pilots said they destroyed two Red tanks and about 20 bunkers.

One Allied outfit fought and died to the last man in defending a vital

96-House Block Of Permits Shoots Building Skyward

Building in Ever-Growing Midland took giant strides forward Monday with the issuance of permits for 96 three-bedroom houses, totaling $858,200 to Raymond Thomason, Sr.

The houses, with permits for $8,850 each, are to be constructed in Permian Estates, located in West Midland.

Permits for 200 other houses had recently been obtained by Thomason for construction in Permian Estates, making a total of approximately two and a half million dollars.

Breakfast Sets Off Employe Gift Drive

Calling upon the salaried employees of Midland business firms to join hands in putting this city's Community Chest campaign over the top in quick order, John Perkins, chairman of the campaign's Employe Gifts Division, Tuesday morning urged his volunteer workers to give every employe the opportunity of contributing to the Red Feather fund.

Perkins addressed more than 150 persons attending the "kick-off" breakfast of the Employe Gifts Division in the high school cafeteria. Joe T. Dickerson, general campaign chairman, also addressed the meeting, listing the eight Chest agencies and explaining their needs for increased operating funds.

Dickerson said more citizens than ever before must be solicited and the level of giving increased if the campaign's $68,250 quota is achieved. He termed the Employe Gifts drive the most important in the overall campaign.

The volunteer workers received final instructions, campaign literature and pledge cards before launching their drive which will reach into every business firm of Midland.

"Let's do it now," Perkins urged in his inspirational message to his campaign workers. "Let's wind up this part of the overall campaign this week."

"The Community Chest belongs to you as an individual, and you must support the Community Chest to help make it a success. Eight worthwhile youth and welfare organizations are dependent upon what you and you and you contribute to the Community Chest in this

35 Midland Homes Hit By Blackout

Thirty-five homes in the area around Main and Kansas Streets were without electric service for several hours Tuesday morning when a secondary connection burned out.

The trouble was reported at 2:45 a.m. but at 5 a.m. repairs had been made by emergency crews of the Texas Electric Service Company.

Texas Feels Fall Season's First Freeze

By The Associated Press

Freezing temperatures covered the Panhandle and part of the South Plains early Tuesday.

Heavy clouds that came with the fall's first norther were disappearing. They brought one good South Texas rain—1.78 inches at Brownsville—and a number of feeble showers in North Texas. These ranged from Texarkana's .21 inch downward and didn't amount to enough to water many lawns, much less dent the state's long drought.

Dalhart, Amarillo Coldest
Light scattered rains were occurring in South Central Texas early Tuesday as the clouds broke up.

The coldest overnight reading apparently was 30 degrees at both Amarillo and Dalhart. Lubbock had a 32-degree reading.

Below the South Plains, readings included 36 degrees at Marfa and 38 at Salt Flat and Wink. In North and East Texas, Mineral Wells had 39 degrees, Lufkin and Texarkana 46. It was 49 at College Station and Beaumont, 54 at San Antonio and 50 at Brownsville.

High temperatures Monday included 89 at Laredo, 86 at Brownsville, 77 at Houston, 74 at San Antonio, 70 at Austin, 68 at Lufkin, 57 at Fort Worth, 55 at Tyler and Texarkana and 50 at Amarillo.

Texas' Minimum Draft Physical Age Reduced One Month

AUSTIN—(AP)—The minimum age for draft physical examinations in Texas was lowered Tuesday by one month.

State Selective Service Headquarters authorized local boards to order examinations for men 19 years and 11 months old. The former minimum was 20 years.

"We are lowering the minimum age level just as a safety measure," Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state director, said.

"The manpower situation is getting tight enough that we are afraid some local boards might not have enough men if we held to the 20-year minimum."

Local boards are required to send all those 21 and over first, then dip into the 20-year-old group, then below 20 if necessary.

The order will be effective with the November physical examination call. Examination of 7,655 Texas men has been ordered for that month. The November induction quota is 2,802.

Early Hay Delivery Promised Stockmen

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Early relief for drought-stricken Texas counties which have not received aid already was forecast Tuesday by Representative Teague (D-Texas).

Teague told a reporter that Raymond Foley, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency and director of the emergency relief program, informed him he has asked President Truman to make more money available to get hay delivered to livestock growers.

A GOOD WAY TO DIE YOUNG—Mrs. Sam Van Hoozer demonstrates some of the dangerous mistakes unwitting housewives commit every day. She is using a highly inflammable fluid, naphtha, for cleaning a garment, and smoking a cigarette while one of the stove burners behind her is lighted. A tiny spark in this situation could set off a conflagration that would be fatal. This is Fire Prevention Week, and Americans are reminded that half of all fires in America start in homes, largely through carelessness.

Yankees Win Final Series Game, 4 To 2

BROOKLYN—(AP)—The New York Yankees won their fourth straight World Series Tuesday by defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-2, in a thrill-packed seventh game.

A mighty home run by Mickey Mantle and the combined efforts of three relief pitchers enabled the Yanks to take the series finale.

Mantle's blow came in the sixth inning to break a 2-2 tie and placed the loss on the record against Brooklyn Starter Joe Black.

The same Mickey's bat added an insurance run in the seventh, when a screaming single over shortstop brought Gil McDougald in from second.

Both clubs had scored single runs each in the fourth and fifth innings, the Yanks' fifth-frame counter coming by way of a circuit clout over the right field screen by Gene Woodling.

The victory was credited to reliever Alie Reynolds, his second win of the series.

The score:

New York (AL) 000 111 100—4 10 4
Brooklyn (NL) 000 110 000—2 8 1

WHAT'S IN A NAME? PLENTY

BIG SPRING—(AP)—People couldn't pronounce or write his name correctly, said John Joseph Schenk.

He petitioned 118th District Court to change his name to John Joseph Long. Judge Charles Sullivan took one good look and granted the petition. Long is six feet, five inches long.

Midland Residence Damaged By Blaze; Matches Blamed

Matches were blamed Tuesday for starting a fire which damaged badly the interior of the Richard W. Smith home at 401 East Estes Street.

Fire Chief Melvin Little said Mrs. Smith told him the fire apparently started while her three-year-old son was playing with some matches he had found.

She said she was in the kitchen when her son came running to her that the bedroom closet was on fire.

She dashed into the room to get a smaller child and carried them both to safety.

Firemen extinguished the blaze which damaged the bedroom and the closet. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

Ex-Convict Denies Holdup Connection

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Orville Lindsey Chambliss, charged with the $248,000 robbery of two Cuban exiles described as counter-revolutionaries, promised to have witnesses to prove his innocence at his preliminary hearing Tuesday.

The 35-year-old ex-convict, who admits discussing a "proposition" with the Cubans, says he was sick in Oklahoma City when they were held up by a scar-faced tommy gunner in Fort Worth Friday.

Another principal in the case, ex-convict Gene Paul Norris of Duncan, Okla., was arraigned on a charge of interstate transportation of stolen money and waived extradition to Fort Worth. He was returned Tuesday.

Sam Brown Cresap, Fort Worth car salesman, also is being held on a stolen property charge. Bond for each suspect is $50,000.

The robbery victims were Candido de la Torre and Manuel Fernandez Madrigal. Madrigal admitted at Morris' arraignment at Chickasha, Okla., Monday the pair, exiled in Mexico, came to this country to buy arms for a counter-revolution against Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

Madrigal and De la Torre identified all three as the robbery conspirators.

The FBI still isn't saying whether it has found the $248,000—which Chambliss declares doesn't exist. At Cresap's preliminary bond

Adlai Says 'War Prosperity' Talk Gives Comfort To Reds

SAGINAW, MICH.—(AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois Tuesday accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of giving "comfort" to Soviet Russia by labeling American prosperity as war-born.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address prepared for the opening of a five-day campaign tour here that "there is no greater disservice the Republican candidate could do America in its world role than to suggest that our economic strength at home is a war prosperity."

"When the general speaks of our prosperity as being war-born, who can gain comfort except the Soviets, who shout to the world that we have undertaken our defense program, not to insure peace, but to prevent a depression at home by waging war abroad?" the Illinois governor demanded. He added:

"We expect this kind of talk from irresponsibles and isolationists, but not from a man who was formerly looked upon as an understanding leader in world affairs."

Stevenson, arrived here by air at noon from Springfield, Ill., prepared to take the offensive against his opponent, busily campaigning in the Pacific Northwest.

Eisenhower's statement on which Stevenson teed off was made in several speeches. At Philadelphia on September 4, the general declared that "today our initiative, imagination and productive system are once more tied and shackled to war and the prospect of war," adding:

"Our economy is a war economy. Our prosperity is a war prosperity." Not so, said Stevenson. Instead, he contended that "our high standard of living has been maintained since the Korean outbreak, not because of the defense program but in spite of it."

"It has been maintained for the simple reason that our great productive power has increased total national output by more than the defense burden has increased," the Democratic nominee said.

Stevenson's prepared Saginaw speech was only a preliminary to a major address he has scheduled Tuesday night in Detroit on all phases of the Communist threat—internal and external.

Arthur Green, about 47, well-known Midland jeweler who moved to Fort Worth recently, died suddenly about 8 a.m. Tuesday in Fort Worth of a heart seizure.

Friends here were advised he became ill while arranging stock in a Fort Worth jewelry store of which he was manager. He was rushed to a hospital by ambulance but was dead upon arrival there.

Green was associated with the Kruger Jewelry Company here six years before moving to Fort Worth about two months ago to assume the management of the Louis Dalches Jewelry Company. He had resided in Corpus Christi before moving to Midland.

Funeral arrangements were pending at noon Tuesday.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Patsy and Carol, all of Fort Worth; the mother of New York City, and two brothers of Philadelphia.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Defense Department announced Tuesday it will draft 460 physicians and 204 dentists in December.

Phillips Wildcat In NE Andrews To Be Sinaled As Opener

Phillips Petroleum Company is preparing to take potential test and complete a flowing Ellenburger discovery at its No. 1-CC University, Northeast Andrews County wildcat.

This new field opener flowed oil at the rate of 40 barrels per hour, naturally, on a drillstem test at 13,918-946 feet in the top of the Ellenburger. It did not show any formation water.

The tool was open three hours and 52 minutes for the drillstem test. The water blanket started flowing out in 42 minutes; mud and gas appeared at the surface in 68 minutes and oil came to the top in 75 minutes.

Good Flow
It was flowed to pits for 75 minutes to clean and then turned to tanks for another 75 minutes. The 40 barrels per hour flow came in that period.

A five-eighths inch bottom hole choke and a one inch top opening was used. Shakedown from the oil was 25 per cent drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

Final recovery was 90 feet of oil and gas cut mud and 120 feet of drilling mud. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 5,525 pounds down to 5,075 pounds.

Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 6,425 pounds. Gravity of the oil is 43.2 degrees. Ellenburger Top

The wildcat will be completed as it is. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 13,918 feet. Top of the Ellenburger is at 13,855 feet. Elevation is 3,624 feet.

The wildcat is 11 miles northeast of the town of Andrews and two and one-half miles north and one-quarter of a mile west of the discovery well of the Magutux (Ellenburger) field.

Phillips No. 1-CC University has also flowed oil from the Devonian in commercial amounts. It found free oil in the Wolfcamp-Permian. Both those pays are cased off.

Location is 660 feet from south and 2,925 feet from east lines of section 42, block 5, University survey.

Discovery In Ector Give South Offset; To Start At Once

One location south of Herman Brown and Associates No. 1 David and Inez Faskan, recently completed Wolfcamp discovery in Northeast Ector County, Phillips Petroleum Company spotted location for No. 1 Ratliff.

It will be drilled 668 feet from north and 2,900 feet from west lines of section 3, block 42, T-1-S, T&P survey.

It is slated for an 11,000-foot bottom. Site is 11 miles north of Odessa and 21 miles northeast of Midland.

Foster Schedules 4,600-Foot Test In NW Andrews

Tobe Foster of Lubbock No. 1-A University is to be drilled as a 4,600-foot rotary wildcat in Northwest Andrews County.

Operator staked location 2,204 feet from south and west lines of section 17, block 14, University Lands survey. It is 10 miles northwest of Andrews and on a 160-acre lease.

Elevation at drillsite is 3,176 feet. Operations are to start at once.

Four More Tests Plugged, Abandoned In West Texas Areas

Four more explorations in West Texas have been quit as failures. In Northwest-Central Crockett County, Lion Oil Company was preparing to plug and abandon No. 1 George Bean, stepout to production in the Wyatt (Ellenburger) field.

It was drilled to total depth of 7,499 feet in the Ellenburger where it failed to find oil.

Location is 1,999 feet from north and 2,004 feet from west lines of section 35, block UV, GC&SP survey, and 14 miles northwest of zona.

Kent Wildcat
The Ohio Oil Company has plugged No. 1 J. E. Gaskill as a wildcat failure in Northwest Kent County. It was quit in the Pennsylvania reef line on total depth of 6,204 feet showing water.

Location was seven and one-quarter miles northwest of the Salt

Celebrities, Adlai Team Up For Radio, Film Campaign

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(P)—The 1952 campaign is drawing the most Democratic activity here in eight years. The number of celebrities working for Stevenson still doesn't match the large groups who followed the magic drawing power of FDR in previous campaigns. But the current race is a far cry from 1948, when only Lucille Ball, Ronald Reagan, Robert Ryan, Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall spoke for Truman.

Of that group, Ryan now is working for Stevenson, but Miss Ball is on the Ike bandwagon. Reagan, retiring proxy of the Screen Actors Guild, came out for Ike before the conventions, but now is leaning toward Adlai. The Bogarts, who attended the Madison Square Garden rally for Ike last Spring, are back in the Democratic column. They will appear with Stevenson at a San Francisco rally October 15.

Regie For Adlai
 "I worked hard to get Ike nominated," Bogart told me, "so obviously I wasn't for Taft and his group. When the Taft bunch landed on him like a blanket, I discovered I didn't like the bedfellows I found myself with. I also read some books about Stevenson and heard his speech. I'm for him."

The Hollywood effort for Stevenson is being directed from a former market building in the heart of Beverly Hills. There I found Alvin Rivkin, screen writer and one of the leaders of the drive.

"We are organizing a mass media campaign that would cost any commercial advertiser a million dollars," he declared. "But all of the services involved are donated, and the other costs are absorbed by our Hollywood contributors."

Radio, TV Spots
 Unlike the GOP group, which is concentrating on star appearances at rallies, the Democrats are mainly concerned with radio transcriptions and TV films. On his trip here last month, Stevenson spent an hour and a half before the movie cameras. The Hollywood volunteers are producing four 15-minute films and transcriptions and 25 one-minute shorts. Stevenson appears on three-fourths of them.

This campaign material is sent out on a mail-order basis by the Volunteers for Stevenson Committee in Chicago and the Democratic headquarters in Washington. The Hollywood group also has provided skits and songs, such as "Sing a Song for Stevenson" and "Ballots and Votes." The latter is a parody on "Buttons and Bows" by its authors, Ray Evans and Jay Livingston.

Unless For Truman
 The Hollywood for Stevenson-Sparkman Club books some stars to rallies. For instance, Richard Widmark, Mercedes McCambridge and Paul Douglas recently appeared in Santa Monica.

But the emphasis is on radio and TV. The group is providing Bette Davis, George Jessel and others to introduce such Democrats as Harry Truman on a radio series sponsored by the AFL.

Other players who publicly have supported Stevenson: Dana Andrews (another switchover from Ike), Ethel Barrymore, Eddie Cantor, Ava Gardner, Tony Curtis, Marlene Dietrich, Jane Greer, Janet Leigh, Harpo Marx, Ann Miller, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Don Taylor and Shelley Winters.

Frankie, Ava Have Career Problems, But Not Serious

ST. LOUIS—(P)—A career problem has upset the Frank Sinatra-Ava Gardner marriage, but it isn't serious, the crooner reported Monday night.

"We have a career problem," Sinatra declared. "But I think everything will work out all right. I'm going to see my wife in about 10 days in Hollywood."

Sinatra said his wife's plan to make a movie in Africa hadn't brought on a disagreement, adding: "She can go to Korea if she wants. I never interfere with her career."

But said they had had some disagreements but nothing serious. Sinatra is singing at a night club here.

Wrather Contends Ex-Wife Squanders Support Payments

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—(P)—Jack D. Wrather, Jr., Texas oil man and film producer, has filed a counter-affidavit to his former wife's suit for increased support for their two children.

His ex-wife is Molly O'Daniel Moffatt, daughter of former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas.

In his affidavit filed Monday Wrather stated he believes Mrs. Moffatt is not spending on the children the $400 monthly he already is paying, and that her demands for $1,000 a month is an effort to get more money for herself.

He said he had paid her more than $70,000 since their 1946 divorce in Texas, in addition to the $400 a month, and items for the children which he has voluntarily paid.

Mrs. Moffatt married stockbroker Harold Moffatt in 1948 and they were divorced this year. Wrather in 1947 married actress Bonita Granville and they have two children.

General's Daughter Charged In Murder

TOKYO—(P)—Mrs. Dorothy Smith, daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, has been charged with murder in the fatal stabbing Saturday of her husband, Col. Aubrey D. Smith, Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters announced Monday.

The attractive woman, mother of two children, is held under observation in a Tokyo Army hospital.

A spokesman in Clark's headquarters said, "This case will be handled in accordance with normal procedure. The charge now is being investigated as required by statute—namely Article 32 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. Should the investigation establish that trial is warranted, the charge would be referred to an appropriate military court for trial."

The spokesman said, "A charge of murder has been preferred."

It was reported unofficially that under Army regulations, should Mrs. Smith be brought to trial it would be held in Tokyo.

Demo Chief Says His Party In Poverty, Asks $5 Gifts

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Democrats' biggest problem, their national chairman said Tuesday, is money.

"The Republicans seem to have all they can find ways to spend," added Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell. "We don't."

Mitchell addressed the National Press Club on the eve of the beginning of an intensive eight-day Democratic drive for $5 contributions, to be carried out by thousands of party volunteers throughout the country.

In his prepared speech, Mitchell said: "The Republicans seem to have most of the big contributors on their side. There are some people, you know, who want to help the Republican party try to persuade this country that the Democrats have throttled private enterprise, and made it impossible for a businessman to make any profit."

"Strange as it seems, these are the people who always seem to have $5,000 burning a hole in their pockets . . . ."

"The unfair balance of money in political campaigns is nothing new. The Democratic party narrowly missed having broadcasts canceled in 1948—and it was unable to order as many as it needed. It is so closely guarded secret that we have come within an eyelash of having to cancel some of Governor Stevenson's telecasts and broadcasts in this campaign."

Buying Election
 Mitchell continued: "Whether such a situation should be called one party's buying an election or another party's forfeiting an election because of poverty, I do not presume to decide."

"The news coverage given to presidential candidates by the press is the greatest safeguard we have against this sort of monopoly. But I do not think I am belittling the power of the press when I say that it does not take the place of television in making a candidate known to the people."

Asserting, "We just don't attract the big contributors," Mitchell added: "But there is a danger in big contributions, a danger that applies equally to either party."

"That danger is the influence of contributors upon the political party to which they contribute."

Carpenter Slays Mother Of Three, Commits Suicide

TEXARKANA—(P)—Police said a 45-year-old Texarkana carpenter fatally shot a mother of three, then committed suicide near here Monday. Justice of the Peace Wade Turner returned a verdict of murder and suicide in the double slaying.

He identified the victims as T. E. Maasey and Mrs. Edna Braddock Thompson, 31.

Detectives Homer Goff said the shootings were witnessed by Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. Mae Gregory, 80, who gave this version of the tragedy:

Maasey, who had been dating Mrs. Thompson, came to their apartment Monday and, after having coffee, he and Mrs. Thompson went into another room to talk. She said she heard three shots from the bedroom at 10:30 a.m. and her daughter staggered into the kitchen, saying, "Mama, he shot me." She died almost instantly.

Mrs. Gregory said she looked in the bedroom and saw Maasey shoot himself as he lay across the bed. The .38 caliber bullet lodged in his head.

Goff said no motive for the double slaying has been established.

Police said Mrs. Thompson had been divorced from her second husband several months. Her first husband, Telford Braddock, was shot to death in 1948 by his brother-in-law, Frank McDaniel, who received a five-year suspended sentence for the slaying.

General's Daughter Charged In Murder

The investigation establish that trial is warranted, the charge would be referred to an appropriate military court for trial."

The spokesman said, "A charge of murder has been preferred."

It was reported unofficially that under Army regulations, should Mrs. Smith be brought to trial it would be held in Tokyo.

In Good Condition
 The Army previously reported: A maid found Smith, 45, of San Antonio, Texas, on his bed vainly trying to stem the flow of blood from a wound in his right side. His dazed wife sat on an adjoining bed clutching a knife.

Mrs. Smith was taken to an Army hospital for observation. She has not been permitted to see any outsiders, including members of her family.

The hospital commander reported Tuesday that she is in good condition. A previous report said she was becoming "more lucid."

Nebraska has a water supply of more than 1,000,000,000 acre-feet annually.

Johnson Says U. S. Might Grow Slowly

EL PASO—(P)—Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) estimates it will be 1955 at the earliest before the United States can consider itself well armed.

He said the Soviet Union now could command 300 divisions compared to less than 24 U. S. divisions; and that the Russians could command 20,000 to 30,000 first-line fighting planes, far more than the United States.

"Apparently we are still ahead in the field of atomic energy," he said. "x x x We are building toward the point considered by our Joint Chiefs of Staff to be the minimum levels that will guarantee our security. But it is clear that we will not reach that point until 1955 at the earliest."

Temple Groups Fight Move Of TB Wards To McCloskey

TEMPLE —(AP)— Resolutions opposing a proposal by Gov. Allan Shivers to move tuberculosis patients into McCloskey Veterans Hospital have been passed by Temple veterans organizations and the chamber of commerce.

Veteran leaders here say they fear curtailment and deterioration of veterans medical care if such a move is made.

Shivers urged last week the help of Texas Members of Congress to open McCloskey to state TB patients. The hospital is operated by the Veterans Administration. During the war, it was the Army's largest amputation center.

Shivers wanted unused space at the hospital for 900 patients now at Weaver H. Baker Hospital near Mission. The Mission institution must be vacated early next year because the Air Force is reopening Moore Field, the present hospital site.

Temple Telegram Publisher Frank W. Mayborn, leader in the fight against the Shivers proposal, said: "He (the governor) has referred to McCloskey as a 4,500-bed hospital, which it never was, and would have the public believe there is ample room for TB patients."

"McCloskey was built as a 3,000-bed Army hospital. At the peak of the war 4,500 patients were carried on the rolls but many were not bedded there. As it was beds were jammed into every conceivable nook and cranny."

"The VA has now consolidated the hospital and utilized its bulk for efficient operation. There is little room left. Putting 1,000 TB patients into McCloskey would disrupt its present purpose—service to veterans."

Housewife, Teenaged Lover Think It Over Behind Bars

NEW BRAUNFELS —(AP)— The cure may not work but Lover Boy has gone to reform school and Thelma is in jail for 60 days in an effort by authorities—to break up their torrid romance.

Thelma is 27-year-old Mrs. Horace Henderson, mother of three, and Lover Boy is a teenaged Casanova whom authorities do not name.

U. S. Crude Output Again Sets Record

TULSA —(AP)— Domestic crude oil and condensate production increased 1,700 barrels during the week ended October 4 to set another daily average record, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

The week's total of 6,510,175 barrels a day rivaled 1952 output to 1,700,436,225 barrels compared with 1,698,556,700 barrels a year ago.

The net gain was attributable largely to high October allowances in Texas, which jumped 16,875 barrels to 2,990,625.

New Mexico gained 4,175 barrels to 169,025 and Indiana increased 1,200 to 35,200.

Advances also included Louisiana, up to 900 to 670,025.

The largest decline was in Kansas, which dropped 10,800 barrels to 336,400.

Other sizeable losses were in Colorado, down 3,100 to 85,500; and Oklahoma, 2,000 to 533,100.

Arkansas slumped 450 to 75,400.

SURGICAL PATIENT
Betsy Bond, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bond, 1102 Camp Street, is a surgical patient at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Said Thelma of Lover Boy's fate mother: "I hope she's satisfied now she's got me in jail."

The mother didn't like it when her boy stayed out two or three nights in a row with the petite, blue-eyed blonde, and it was she who made the complaint that got Thelma behind bars... and sent Lover Boy to the Gatesville State School for Boys.

"I don't see where I did anything wrong," Thelma said. "I always brought him home to his mother."

Horace, the husband, didn't like it either. He's sued for divorce and custody of the three children—Berthie, six; Betty, two; and a ten-month-old son. Family friends are looking after them while mama is in jail.

The Wrong Answer
Thelma's stiff sentence, plus $27 for court costs, was dealt out by Judge J. T. Fuchs after pretty little Thelma and her Lover Boy repeated, by disobeying his warnings to keep away from each other and finally broke a court order not to be seen with each other in public.

Thelma's father, John T. Gibson, 72, of Harrah, Okla., tried to spring his loving daughter but failed. He put it this way:

"This Lover Boy stuff is a lot of nonsense. I'm not trying to blame Horace, but it's his fault she started going out with the boy. She says he gets mad at her all the time and locks her out of the house. What's she going to do then?"

Lover Boy, the court maintained, was the wrong answer.

But Thelma, asked if she still loved husband Horace or preferred her teenaged Lothario, answered: "Well, I've got 60 days to think it over."

Notre Dame Goes Split T In Magic

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In an unanticipated move to fuse his delegates into a cohesive machine Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's dean of mayhem, abandoned the straight T for the split T against Pennsylvania.

Even the barber-shop strategists overlooked this switch in Irish magic.

But single wing, straight or split T, it didn't much baffle the Quakers who showed 75,000 witnesses what The Master meant when he said this is the weakest line edition he has had in years.

Penn's A-1 performance gave rise to a logical query. What does Spring practice mean? You'll recall the Ivy Leaguers stopped the practice while Notre Dame employed a business-as-usual policy.

To Red Blaik goes the palm for another fine coaching achievement. Squeezing a smooth, slick offense out of a corps which dropped seven games last trip, the colonel whopped the bejebees out of a supposedly superior South Carolina team.

And the Black Knights did it without three-quarters of their backfield, all nursing injuries.

Red Blaik has enjoyed tremendous personal triumphs via Gil Reich and Gene Filippaki, too. They were the ex-cadets matriculating at Kansas and Villanova, respectively.

Filippaki scored large touchdown runs to help mash Kentucky and Clemson, while Reich's passing and running wizardry bowled over Texas Christian and Santa Clara.

Reich is one of those rare specimens who goes both ways. On the attack, the super-duper quarterback runs, passes and kicks. He's a schizophrenic on defense, puts himself in the other quarterback's position.

"A quarterback who runs the offense can also help his team on defense," explains Reich. "He thinks right along with the opposing quarterback in a spot to judge fairly what his rival will call."

Don Heinrich, alias The Arm, has Washington smelling roses again after the way he blew Idaho and Minnesota apart with his razzle-dazzle. The magnificent Husky quarterback completed 26 out of 42 heaves his first two starts.

Heinrich's forte is the bootleg pass, a technique of hiding the ball off his hip after faking a handoff or pitchout. The Arm, absent last Fall with a shoulder separation, has mastered it so cleverly that an Idaho lineman actually pushed Heinrich aside as he charged through to level the "ball carrier."

Talk about intellectuals. The Princetonians are the Phi Beta Kappas on the grid map. There's no water skiing, baby sitting or football majors in Tlaxtlan. Glancing over the football varsity's individual study programs, it isn't difficult to see why the school on the Jersey meadows turned down 3200 freshmen applicants this Fall.

Not a Physical Ed in the crowd.

Sixth Game Taken, 3-2, By Bombers

BROOKLYN—(AP)—Two beautifully matched, equally gifted ball clubs came down to the wire in the seventh game of the World Series at Ebbets Field Tuesday.

For six games the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees fought on even terms. The Yankees, who were almost prohibitive favorites to win their fourth straight world championship within five or six games, finally found their match in Manager Charlie Dressen's comeback kids.

If there were any clues as to the probable winner, it possibly lay in the fact that the Dodgers had won the odd game all the way. They had led 1-0, 2-1 and 3-2 before succumbing for the second time to smokeballer Vic Raschi by 3 to 2 in Monday's thriller. Tuesday the odd game came up again.

Also, there was the pleasant circumstance for the embattled National League that their great Negro rookie, Joe Black, was ready and anxious to get at the Yanks again after two days of rest. The Bombers could not say quite the same for their ace, Allie Reynolds, who came in to fire 22 pitches and save Tuesday's tussle for Vic Raschi.

Takes It Easy

Except for a brief warmup late in Sunday's fifth game, when it looked as though his stablemate, Carl Erskine, might require some help, Black had not thrown a ball since his losing duel with Reynolds on Saturday, when the Chief choked the Dodgers with a four-hitter.

Monday, Black sat in the dugout while Duke Snider took on the Yankees single-handed, blasting two homers. The first came at the top of the sixth in the tense turkey shoot between Billy Loes and Raschi.

That put the Brooks ahead 1-0. Going into the seventh, they needed to retire only nine more Yankee batters to win the first world title in their noble history.

Observers expected to see Black vault from the dugout. During the regular season, the ace reliever had virtually proved that no ball club could score on him in three innings.

But Loes, the 22-year-old who on numerous occasions during the regular season had shown himself allergic to pressure, continued to pitch.

It Did Happen

It had to happen, and it did. Dressen, whom scribes humbly hesitate to second-guess, said later that you couldn't take out a brilliant kid such as Loes under the circumstances. For six innings he had held the Yanks to two singles,

Beaumont Offers Loan To Russell For Club Purchase

BEAUMONT—(AP)—Beaumont citizens have agreed to arrange a $50,000 loan to Allen H. Russell of Houston to help him buy the Beaumont Texas League baseball club for a reported $150,000.

Russell, president of the Houston Texas League club, has a five-day option to purchase the franchise and physical properties of the club which expires at midnight Tuesday.

Russell has said he would sever his connections with the Houston club if he obtains the Beaumont outfit.

YOGI SAFE—His injured fingers high in the air, Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra slides into second base in the fourth inning of the sixth game of the World Series played at Ebbets Field. Yogi was safe but Pee Wee Reese's throw to first on an attempted double play went into the dirt for an error.

Good Ball Clubs Run In Cycles, But Yanks Are Having Long Run

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Joe Millett, the beverage man of San Francisco, made his New York hotel reservation in August. "See you at the World Series," he telegraphed.

This is how sure one fan from all the way across the continent, was that there would be a subway Series for the fourth time in six years.

Good ball clubs are supposed to run in cycles, but the Yankees are having a mighty long run.

Seeing the World Champions in the Series is like coming in at the end of an old show.

It's like reading the last page of a detective story first, and knowing how it is going to come out. Even Bill Dickey and Frank Crosetti are still around, out there for all to see in the coach's boxes.

While he doesn't say what they are going to use for pitchers, Harry Simmons of the International League staff predicts that the Dodgers will run the works in the National League for the next 10 years. In other words, Branch Rickey created a Frankenstein monster in Brooklyn that even he and all John W. Galbreath's money can't control. The Dodgers should have won the past three campaigns, somehow managed to lose to the Phillies on the final day of 1950 and were knocked out by Bobby Thomson's little miracle home run in the play-off with the Giants last trip.

Simmons says the Brooks had enough talent with the Montreal branch alone to keep them going in high gear. He rattles off the names—Shortstop Jim Pendleton, Third Baseman Don Hoak and some more.

"Pendleton can fly," cuts in Red Ruffing, the Indians' troubleshooter, "but Hoak beats him going to first base. I never saw anybody go to first base as fast."

"But he can't play third base for Brooklyn, not with Billy Cox around. Did you see those three big plays Cox made in the first game of the Series?"

Rufus the Red suffered a relapse when he saw them. He was sick all season watching balls slip through the Cleveland infield.

Bill Veck says the Brooks are five deep in extraordinary infielders.

"With six major-league clubs desperate for an infielder, they had two

Wide Scores Surprise In Circuit 5-A

The opening guns in District 5-A spoke Friday night and there were some surprising results. The game winners were not the surprises, but rather the scores that decided the pigskin tilt.

Perhaps the biggest amazement was registered at Fort Stockton when the Fanthers plowed under Marfa, 38-12. Fort Stockton was figured to win, but not by such an oversized score.

The Iran-Big Lake fracas, led some eyes Friday night, Coach Max Jones and his Iranj eleven were tabbed to grab that one. They did, 32-20, but a high-scoring affair wasn't supposed to be in the cards.

Alpine has been picked as a strong 5-A team this year but they were not figured to be as powerful as their 32-13 triumph over McCamey seems to indicate. The McCamey Badgers have a competent grid squad, but the results of their struggle with Alpine should point up the coming Fort Stockton-Alpine battle as a major indicator of the 5-A possibilities of both teams.

The Wink Wildcats of Coach Glenn Frazier read their press clippings and went on to take Crane 27-6 last week end. Some experts had expected Wink to pile up a higher margin. Could be the Wildcats have not as yet reached their peak performance, or the Golden Cranes may be a sleeper with a surprise knockout punch ready for some of the 5-A hopefuls.

With the Fort Stockton-Alpine tilt ranking as the game of the week, other contests are Wink at Marfa, which should tell more about the Wildcats; Iran and McCamey in a traditional grudge battle, and Big Lake meeting Crane on the Golden Cranes' home ground, in what may show up as a struggle for the cellar spot.

TGA Seniors Start Swinging For Keeps

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The 16th annual senior golf championship of the Texas Golf Association got under way here Tuesday with tee-offs extending from 7:15 a.m. until 3:10 p.m.

Earl Rowe, San Antonio, gained medal honors Monday with a 74 over the rugged San Antonio Country Club course.

"I noticed that the same caliber of kids was not fed into the Yankees' bloodstream this year," he insists. "A good scout is more important than a shortstop, for he's likely to come up with two or three shortstops as well as other stickouts."

"Joe Devine had the San Francisco Bay area locked up.

"Other clubs have now moved in. The Red Sox alone had $400,000 worth of ball players with the Class C San Jose club the past season."

Maybe there's some hope after all for the rest.

one of them a scratch by Irv Noren which had bounced off Billie Cox's glove at third base.

Additionally, there was the fact that Charlie wanted very much to save Black for Tuesday's big decision in the event it proved necessary. Well, it happened.

Yogi Berra tied it up with a homer over the same inviting right-field barrier to open the seventh. Then it was too late to bring in Black. Within a matter of minutes after that, Loes had surrendered a single to Gene Woodling, he had committed a balk, and Raschi had bounced a single off his leg to put the Yanks out in front, 2-1.

Mickey Mantle made it 3-1 with his tremendous blow into the centerfield seats to begin the eighth, and by the time crafty Preacher Roe came in to pitch to Mantle with one out and two Yankees on base in the top of the ninth, it was too late for the Dodgers to retrieve the victory.

In the meantime, the indomitable Snider had knocked his second homer a mile to pull the National Leaguers up to 3-2 in the eighth and put some heart into the sparse Brooklyn crowd of only 30,037. With two down, George Shuba then lined a double down the leftfield line, and that was when Casey Stengel decided Raschi should retire and make room for Reynolds.

Reynolds faced five men and struck out two of them. The stocky Indian did what Black might well have done for the Dodgers if Manager Dressen had gambled and brought him forward in the seventh. Casey Stengel, the old form player, gambled. Dressen, the gambler, played it cozy.

BAYLOR BACKS LOOK LIKE TRACKMEN—

Speed Plus Joneses, Smiths, Robinsons Put Bears On Top

WACO—(P)—George Sauer was accused of coaching track instead of football when he talked about how much speed he would have on his team. But everybody now realizes why Sauer stressed the speed angle.

His dashing sophomores who run like the wind have made Baylor the only undefeated team in the Southwest Conference. It has been surprising to everybody except Sauer.

He told the sports writers a month ago they were rating his team too low when they relegated Baylor to sixth place in the seven-member conference.

"Speed has been one of the vital factors in our team winning both of its games," said Sauer as he prepared the young Bears for a tough conference test at Little Rock Saturday night against Arkansas.

"Speed and the steady influence of such veteran players as Center Jack Sisco and Johnny Davis and Pete Eriben at guard. Sisco is the best offensive center in the conference, a great blocker."

Sophomore Backs L. G. Dupre and Allen Jones have been the one-two punch of a Bear backfield that strikes like lightning, but at times there's almost a full team of second year men on the field, including Billy Hooper at quarterback.

If Baylor doesn't run out of Joneses and Smiths and Robinsons and Davises it may just keep right on winning. There are four Jones boys on the squad—Allen, Glenn, Charley and Buddy. All backs, Buddy hasn't played any this year because of a leg injury but Sauer says he'll be right in there when he comes around. Then there are two Smiths—Charley, a halfback, and James Ray, a tackle. And two Robinsons—Bob and Joe, both tackles. And two Davises—Johnny and Starkey, guard and fullback respectively. Strangely none of these fellows are related.

Bruised Southwest Outfits Lick Sores

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Southwest Conference football teams prepared for another round of games Tuesday after a disastrous weekend in which they lost five of six inter-sectional contests.

Coaches stressed mistakes of last week as Texas, victims of Notre Dame, prepared for Oklahoma's Sooners, and Texas A&M, victims of Kentucky, prepared for Michigan State. Coach Jess Neely of Rice figured the Owls' loss to LSU might act as a tonic, while Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist mentor, worried over injuries left by the loss of Georgia Tech's Rambling Wreck.

Coach Ray George put his Texas Aggies through light drills at College Station in 60-degree weather. There were no injuries after the Cadets' 10-7 loss to Kentucky and little remorse. The Aggies felt like they played a good team in a good game and just face a better team, Michigan State's great outfit, this weekend at East Lansing, Texas, Va. Oklahoma.

Ed Price's Texas Longhorns, 4-3 losers to Notre Dame last week, looked toward Oklahoma and their game in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday. The Longhorns skipped workouts Monday and looked at movies of their loss to the Fighting Irish. Full-scale workouts were on tap Tuesday.

Rice also had a full-scale scrimmage on the schedule Tuesday and Wednesday after taking it easy Monday. Concentration will be on blocking, woefully lacking against LSU.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, losers to Defending Champion Texas Christian in the conference opener last week, stressed defensive blocking. Coach Otis Douglas switched Lewis Carpenter from fullback to right end for the Hogs' new deep split-T formation. Quarterback Lamar McLean will move into fullback while Bob St. Pierre plays quarter.

The Razorbacks play Baylor, 31-7 victors over Washington State, in the second conference game of the season Saturday. Baylor's Coach George Sauer prepped his Bears for the Little Rock tussle Monday with a detailed scout report on the Hogs.

Tuesday the Bears get in contact work.

TCU's Frogs, with a breather scheduled against Trinity University, heard Coach Dutch Meyer say they made more mistakes against Arkansas than "I've ever seen a team make in a game." The Froggies were due some hard work Tuesday.

Southern Methodist's young Mustangs, completely bewildered by Georgia Tech last week, got a good schooling in their mistakes Monday from Coach Russell plus a 45-minute scrimmage. More hard work was set Tuesday as the Ponies looked toward their game with Missouri at Columbia Saturday afternoon.

Seminole, Kermit Head Pack In District 8-AA Scramble

Seminole and Kermit came to the top of the pack in District 8-AA games Friday night with some contests running true to form and others developing unexpected endings.

The mighty Seminole Indians rambled through Levelland 44-13 for their fourth straight win Friday night in what experts had figured as a close one. The triumph ranked the Indians with Pecos as an 8-AA favorite.

The smooth-running Seminole backfield quartet of Jackie Sparks, Jon Wilson, Paul Sublett, and Charlie Hargrove is terrorizing other elevens in the circuit. The coming game with Brownfield this Friday night should tell more about Indian and upsetting Monahans last Friday.

The Kermit Yellow Jackets, coached by Neil Dillman, have begun to march, and other aggregations have started to sit up and take notice. Kermit had a holiday against El Paso High School Friday night, winning handily 33-0. The Yellow Jackets spent most of the game in El Paso territory during the romp. The rugged blocking and tackling of the Kermit eleven in the contest has set the fans to buzzing.

Andrews has been victimized by injuries, with six regulars off the field with serious aches and pains. The Ponies dropped their fourth game to Colorado City Friday night, 7-0, as against one loose victory.

The Pecos Eagles also have had the injury jinx, with several boys off duty. The Eagles had a rough time against El Paso Bowie Friday night, finally squeaking through with a 27-26 narrow margin.

Besides the Seminole-Brownfield tilt this weekend, Pecos meets an ineffectual Ozona eleven, Monahans tackles Levelland at Monahans, and Andrews has an open date.

Bulldog Boosters Growing In Number As Team Rolls

The Midland Bulldog football team is rolling along, bowing over the opposition, with three straight victories. And the Bulldog Booster Club in Midland is rolling along right behind them, now boasting approximately 215 members, with 50 more expected to join Tuesday night, Secretary-Treasurer Paul Laverly reported Tuesday.

Starting with a core of 50 football fans, the Booster Club is shooting at a goal of 500 members. And the club has plenty to offer at its Tuesday night sessions. This week, for example, the featured speaker will be Tugboat Jones himself, coach of the Bulldogs. A film on last week's Yaleta-Midland game will be on tap, plus a scouting report on San Angelo, Midland's next rival. Coffee and doughnuts are served at each meeting. Where else could Midlanders find a bargain like this for only $2.50 in season dues?

The Booster Club meetings are held at the High School Cafeteria at 8 p.m. sharp each Tuesday. Members and prospective joiners are urged to come early, as a large crowd is always expected.

Harlan Howell is the president of the Boosters and Dell Taylor serves as vice president.

Mexico University Gridders Roll Over Austin College, 21-7

DALLAS — (P)—University of Mexico had speed, passing and fight here Monday night in beating Austin College, 21-7, in the Cotton Bowl.

The visitors from south of the border rolled to all their points in the first half, scoring twice on passes and once on a plunge.

Austin College racked up its touchdown in the third period after getting the ball on the Mexico 29 as the result of a weak punt by Juan Romero. It required only four plays with John Duke rambling across from the seven-yard line. Pat Egan kicked the extra point.

A crowd of only 3,000 turned out. It was a rough battle with two players from each team being ejected.

Telephone Company Wins Safety Award

NEW YORK — (P)—The National Safety Council saluted the safety record of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company Monday.

The council presented its award of honor to W. L. Prehn of Dallas, Texas general manager of Southwestern Bell, during ceremonies at the American Telephone and Telegraph Company headquarters here.

The award is the safety council's highest honor. It went to Southwestern Bell in recognition of the 1950 and 1951 safety records in which the firm's telephone workers had less lost-time accidents than those in any other area of the nation.

Badgers Take Over Top Spot In AP Ratings

NEW YORK—(P)—The power-laden Badgers of the University of Wisconsin took over first place in the weekly Associated Press football poll Tuesday by the simple expedient of beating the favorite in the Big Ten Conference.

The favorite in this case was the University of Illinois, which won the Big Ten championship last year and whipped Stanford in the Rose Bowl. The Illini were rated the choice to go on to another title this time around. But the Badgers' 20-6 triumph over the Illini last Saturday made the 138 sports writers and sportscasters, who voted, in the second poll, sit up and take notice.

They gave Wisconsin 27 first-place ballots and 1,128 points. The Badgers now are big favorites to win the Big Ten championship and make the trip to the Rose Bowl this year.

Illinois, Texas Skid

The first-week leader, Michigan State, was ranked second with 980 points and 24 firsts. California was third with 961 points and 23 firsts. Maryland polled 834 points with 22 firsts and Georgia Tech rounded out the top five with 734 points and 12 firsts.

Its defeat caused Illinois to be bounced right out of the top 10. The Illini ranked No. 2 a week ago. The same fate befell Texas, fifth last week, only in this case it was worse. The Longhorns, beaten by Notre Dame, 14-3, couldn't even make the first 20.

The remainder of the top 10 included Duke (6), Southern California (7), Notre Dame (8), Kansas (9) and Princeton (10).

Georgia Tech, California and Duke all improved on their position from last week, while the two newcomers, who replaced Illinois and Texas, were Notre Dame and Princeton.

The leaders (points based on 10 for first, nine for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses):

LITTLEFIELD, DUMAS, MEXIA AND HUNTSVILLE Undeclared, Untied Teams To Play In Class A Games

By The Associated Press

Dumas meets Littlefield and Mexia clashes with Huntsville in the headline games of Class AA schoolboy football this week.

They match undefeated, untied teams and mean the list will be cut to 30 at the most.

Conference jousts dot the 92-game schedule in this division in which Pecos continues to be the top favorite for the championship. Pecos is undefeated and untied and has an impressive record including a 27-26 victory over a Class AAAA team—Bowie of El Paso.

Pecos plays Ozona this week. Ozona is a Class A team that hasn't been doing any good this season.

Championship warfare flames in six of the 32 districts but none of these games is of immediate importance.

Another feature sees Floydada stepping down to play Lockney of Class A. Lockney is undefeated and untied for the season.

Teams with perfect records in Class AA as the campaign pushes into its second month are:

Dumas, Phillips, Floydada, Burkburnette, Quanah, Anson, Stamford, Littlefield, Seminole, Pecos, Comanche, Arlington, Diamond Hill (Fort Worth), Jacksboro, Nocona, Mesquite, Terrell, Mt. Pleasant, Paul Pettit, Center, Cleveland, Mexia, Humble, Killiam, Huntsville, Gonzales, Bellville, Caldwell, Alvin, Uvalde, Refugio and Donna.

The week's scheduled by districts includes:

1—Friday: Hereford at Dalhart, Littlefield at Dumas, Perryton at Guymon, Okla., Wellington at Phillips.

2—Friday: Lockney at Floydada, Tulsa at Denver City, Canyon at Olton.

3—Friday: Hamlin at Paducah, Clarendon at Memphis.

4—Friday: Anson at Electric, Burkburnett at Temple, Okla., Childress at Quanah.

5—Friday: Winters at Colorado City, Lakeview at Merkel, Seymour at Stamford, Post at Rotan.

6—Friday: Slaton at Morton, O'Donnell at Tahoka.

7—Friday: Sunray at Muleshoe.

8—Friday: Levelland at Monahans, Brownfield at Seminole, Ozona at Pecos, Saturday: Coleman at Kermit.

Even Einstein Can Be Wrong, Ratiocination Hoople Claims

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Pigskin Prophet

Egad, friends! Here I am again, and there you are, and here we go and—that is to say, er, well, where were we?

Anyway to get to the heart of the matter in the usual incisive Hoople fashion, we have a delightful bill of fare on the gridirons this week, with several rousing inter-sectional games and numerous robust league contests. An unusual array of knotty problems confronts me, but am I dismayed? No.

My friends often ask me to what I owe my great success as a football prognosticator (pigskin picker, I believe it is vulgarly called) and the answer is simple: just plain ratiocination. After all, there is no substitute for brains.

I am forecasting several interesting upsets, the first one being Missouri to humble Southern Methodist by the narrow margin of 21 to 20. I figure too much will have been taken out of Illinois in its Tri-State struggle with Wisconsin last Saturday, and the Illini will drop their inter-sectional game with underdog Washington, 17 to 14. I also look for Princeton to squeeze by favored Pennsylvania, 27 to 21.

I was the recipient a few days ago of an elderly mildewed cabbage, the gift of a rabid partisan who resented my predicting a defeat for his alma mater. There were a few remarks accompanying the unpleasant vegetable, but let them go. In fact, I let the cabbage go, too. It is true I made a slight error in my prediction, which caused him to gloat a bit, but even Einstein can be wrong.

All ready? Very well, then—let's take the plunge!

'Truth' Purveyors On Political Issues Can't Quite Agree

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, a member of the Republican "Truth Squad," said Tuesday of the Democrats' new "Truth Sayer" Bulletin, "Truth is catching up with them and it hurts."

Hickenlooper said the Democratic National Committee's "Truth Sayer" Bulletin issued in Washington Monday "dealt in generalities—the same way they are conducting their campaign."

The bulletin commented on the voting records on public power of Hickenlooper and three other GOP senators who comprise the "Truth Squad."

The GOP squad planned a news conference late Tuesday to challenge statements made by President Truman in his whistle stop tour of Utah Monday.

On his arrival here Monday night, Ferguson told reporters, "I agree with the President that the Administration has provided jobs for our young people—in the Army."

Earlier, in Sacramento, Calif., the three accused the administration of a "soft attitude of patient" toward communism.

They said that attitude caused the loss of China to the Communists, the outbreak of the Korean War and the giving of atomic secrets to Russia by British scientist Klaus Fuchs.

Commenting on a speech by Truman Monday at Provo, Utah, they attacked his assertion that GOP talk of "government by proxy" is "sheer poppycock."

Ferguson cited as examples of cronies in government the president's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, and John Maragon, the ex-boatblack accused as a Washington influence peddler.

Nixon Hurls 'Dirty Politics' Accusation At President Truman

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—(AP)—Senator Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, Monday night wound up a fast-moving whistle stop tour of three New England states with a charge that President Truman is "playing cheap, dirty politics."

The one-day round trip from New York took the California senator through Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, highlighted by a precedent-making visit to solid Democratic South Boston.

In a series of speeches, Nixon continued to blast the Democratic Administration, particularly the President. He told a police-estimated crowd of 10,000 on Boston Common that Truman is engaging in a "mud-slinging, egg-throwing" campaign.

"Early this year," Nixon declared, "Mr. Truman said he didn't see why Eisenhower wanted to expose himself to the mud, rotten eggs and rotten tomatoes which were going to be thrown at him."

"It is now clear that was not a prediction—it was a threat."

TEXAS POLITICAL TEMPO QUICKENS—Wright Patman Takes Stump For Stevenson And Sparkman

By The Associated Press
Veteran Texas Congressman Wright Patman, Texasiana, joined the drive to carry Texas for the Democratic Party's ticket Tuesday. At the same time, both Republicans and Democrats started preparations for campaign swings through Texas of both the nominees—Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

Patman opened his stump with a blast at General Eisenhower's foreign policy and branded the Tide-lands question a "fake issue."

"Eisenhower wants to extend the Korean War into China," Patman said. "Everyone knows that China and Russia have a mutual assistance pact and if we bomb China it means we'll try to end the Korean War with World War III."

"Even if Eisenhower follows the isolationist viewpoint of Ohio Senator Robert Taft . . . he will still be inviting World War III because isolationism will invite attacks."

Then the lawmaker added: "I don't say that everyone who is for Eisenhower wants a depression, but I do say that all the people who want a depression are for Eisenhower. Some persons probably are honest in their views that the country should go through the wringer and that unemployment and depression is a good thing."

"Trying to disturb teachers, school children and their parents is strictly a fake issue. . . ."

There were these other developments:

1. Senator William Fulbright (D-Ark) predicted Stevenson would carry the South but said there is "trouble" in Texas and Florida.

And he said there was "violent feeling" in Texas. He told reports of windshield breakers in Dallas. But he said he thought Texas would stay in the fold.

Rayburn Speaks
2. Speaker Sam Rayburn, sparkplug of Texas' Stevenson forces, repeated in Brownwood Monday night previous assertions that Eisenhower was no more qualified to be president than Rayburn was fit to lead an Army.

Rayburn plans to speak Friday at Center and Saturday in Big Spring.

3. State GOP Chairman Alvin Lane said Eisenhower will spend an hour and 20 minutes in Dallas October 15 after a 30-minute speech at Fort Worth.

Lane said he has received confirmation that Eisenhower will arrive in Dallas at 9:25 a.m. October 15, speak at the circus grounds next to Union Terminal, then go by automobile to Love Field and take off at 10:45 a.m. for Shreveport, La.

Eisenhower will fly into Texas October 14, traveling by air to Houston, Waco, Lubbock and San Antonio in that order. The next day he will continue to Fort Worth, then go by train to Dallas. His Fort Worth speech is scheduled from 8:10 a.m. to 8:40 a.m. Lane said. Eisenhower is scheduled to arrive in Shreveport at 11:45 a.m. October 15.

Parade Cancelled
A parade for Eisenhower was cancelled in Houston because of the tight schedule but the general was to speak as scheduled October 14 in the Bayou City.

4. Stevenson, who will follow the GOP candidate into Texas, also had his itinerary announced by backers.

He is scheduled to fly into Fort Worth from San Diego, Calif., October 17 and speak at 4:30 p.m. in Will Rogers Coliseum. At 8 p.m. Stevenson will talk near the Hall of State at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas.

After an overnight stay in Dallas, the Democratic candidate will fly to San Antonio and speak at noon in front of the Alamo. Following an afternoon appearance at Houston, Stevenson will continue back to Springfield, Ill.

Both vice presidential candidates also will be in the state in October. Democratic candidate John Sparkman will speak October 24 at the Four-State Democratic Rally in Texarkana. Sparkman plans to stay overnight in Texarkana and fly to Arizona the next morning.

The GOP vice presidential nominee, Senator Richard M. Nixon, is scheduled to speak in Longview October 28.

Oil 'Cartel' Probe Delayed While Court Reviews Background

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An investigation of an alleged international oil monopoly has been delayed until a higher court reviews a U. S. district court judge's refusal to call off a District of Columbia grand jury probe into the case.

District Judge James R. Kirland ruled Monday that attorneys for five large oil companies were premature in questioning the jurisdiction of a District of Columbia grand jury to act in the case, and in seeking its transfer to the Southern New York District.

All company attorneys went immediately to the Court of Appeals and obtained a stay of further proceedings until the higher court holds hearings October 15 on Judge Kirland's decision.

Red Workers Top Output Quota, But Somebody Cheated
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The bottom appears to have fallen out of a Communist manager's claim that his Russian barrel shop overfilled its production quota.

The publication Soviet Moldavia, a copy of which has reached the State Department, recalled that the manager of the consumers goods shop of the Brichanak Timber Enterprise recently claimed all its quotas were filled up to 150 per cent.

Now, said Soviet Moldavia, members of the collective farm Nayava Zhim—New Life—report this "unpardonable mistake."

"Last Fall we bought five sleighs which were made by the shop. Every one of them was no good. These Kolkhoz bought eight oak barrels. On the way to the Kolkhoz, the bottoms fell out of three barrels. The other barrels are leaking."

He was born chairman of Gerber Products Company.

That was the beginning of Gerber Baby Foods.

American Bomber Reported Down In Soviet Waters

TOKYO — (AP)—The newspaper Asahi Tuesday night quoted Japanese police as saying a four-engine plane, believed to be American, crashed in Russian territorial waters off the Soviet-held Kuriles.

The U. S. Far East Air Forces said a B-29 based in Japan was missing on a routine training flight over Northern Hokkaido. It did not say the missing plane was the one reported down.

Asahi said police saw the plane, spurring black smoke, crashed into the sea about 2:20 p.m. Tuesday.

LONDON—(AP)—Red China now employs 2,928,000 "propagandists" in its mass political indoctrination program for the Chinese working people, says the current issue of the Cominform Journal.

Aides Say Truman To Fight Harder For Colorado Votes

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN — President Truman was told that the Democrats face an uphill battle in Colorado as he intensified his campaigning Tuesday for that state's six electoral votes.

Key Democratic officials told reporters they are counting on the President's "give-em-hell" presentation of the issues to trainiside crowds not only to stir up interest among the voters but to lay down the issues for candidates within the states.

Moving into Colorado Monday night, Truman told a crowd at Rifle that his present tour is "only the beginning" and that a lot more of the Republicans "will be worried before I finish reading the terrible Republican record to the American people from one end of the country to the other."

Party officials who climbed aboard the presidential campaign train at Grand Junction, Colo., informed reporters they told the President his presence is needed to stir up the party organization and chart the issues on which to fight out the campaign here.

The presidential special stopped for the night Monday at Glenwood Springs, Colo., where the President, declared the proposed Colorado River storage project will bring electric power and new and bigger industries to this area.

Before the project ultimately is approved, he warned, it has to have the White House okay and Adlai Stevenson's decision "won't be dictated by the private power lobby."

And in another fling at Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower, he declared: "And that's a lot more than I can say for the Republican candidate."

"If you want that upper Colorado storage project you had better vote Democratic," he added.

all-important, community-wide effort.

"This drive presents a challenge to the salaried people of Midland and I am confident they will meet it in typical Midland fashion," he declared.

Throughout the breakfast-meeting, the theme "Give at least a day's pay—it's the American way" was stressed.

Youth Welfare Agencies
It was explained that 80 per cent of the Chest budget is designated for four youth welfare agencies of Midland.

Dickerson told the assembly the Midland Community Chest this year is experiencing its best year of organization. He said the response to date has been most encouraging, but that everyone must work hard from "here on out" in order to assure the success of the campaign.

He estimated the number of employees in Midland at 10,000 and said it is most important that every one of them be solicited for a Chest contribution. He stressed the fact that pledges payable over a 12-month period are being solicited this year for the first time.

P. R. Hargrove, Community Chest president, was introduced, as were James L. Daugherty and E. N. Gideon, division section chairmen, and Team Captains Charles Knorr, F. W. Barnett, Danna Gouchie, Bob Watson, W. J. Nutto, J. W. Baldwin, D. L. McKibbin and W. N. Wolcott.

Fanatical Reds Assault—

If the Reds had taken them, an Allied front-line officer said, they would have controlled the town of Chorwon and the road network in the valley.

He said this would have let the Reds push south and isolate the Seoul area.

Lansford related: "About 3 p.m. five Chinese tanks came out and started shelling our bunkers. They drew artillery fire and we never saw them again."

"Between 6 and 7 p.m. the Chinese really started pouring artillery in at us. They were even shelling the town of Chorwon."

Human Sea Tactics
"Between 5,000 and 6,000 rounds came in during that one hour. At 7 p.m. the enemy infantry began to attack."

"They were using human sea tactics. They threw themselves at us repeatedly—running, shooting and screaming. They were thrown back."

Shortly before 10 p.m., the Reds rallied and attacked from three sides in an enveloping movement.

"They were yelling and shouting," Lansford said. "We laid down a tremendous barrage and moved them down."

Pagan Patsy Wreaks Havoc; Frustrated Officers Give Up

DALLAS—(AP)—A fugitive monkey named Patsy put on her own show Monday just outside the State Fair of Texas grounds.

It all began when the Rev. R. F. Eby, who lives near the fair grounds, looked outside to see a brownish gray animal (1) slay his Japanese black-tailed bantam hen, (2) put his 100 homing pigeons to flight and (3) shinny up a tall tree with the feathered victim in its arms.

The good reverend called officers and firemen.

Officers arrived to see Patsy, a giant rhesus monkey heave the hen on a garage top and swing off through trees and across rooftops. She made a pass at C. V. Guynes' white leghorn chickens. Guynes' cocker spaniel interfered and Patsy scampered up a pecan tree.

By that time the firemen had arrived. But they admitted defeat. "Every time we'd get close to her the monkey would jump into a taller tree," explained Lt. Jack Kent.

About that time someone recognized Patsy and told officers she belonged to J. D. Riddle.

The frustrated gendarmes "herded" Patsy into trees in her own back yard and left for other police duties, hoping Patsy would stay around until her owner returned home.

She did. Riddle found her pacing the front lawn impatiently.

Governor Warren Makes First Talk On Behalf Of Ike

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. — (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren said Monday night the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would "inspire confidence in all the people of the free world, with whom he must work if peace and good will are to be restored to this earth."

It was the 1948 GOP vice presidential nominee's first speech on behalf of the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. Speaking to a radio audience, he said of Eisenhower:

"No American active in public life today has the world-wide prestige that he enjoys. . . ."

"Our people . . . will follow him in a revitalized foreign policy that will enable the United States to fulfill the world leadership for collective security against Communist aggression."

"It is a change of administration that the nation needs, and that change can only come through the election of our great Republican candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower," Warren said.

Veteran Returns Medals, Declines To Talk Red Issue

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A witness tossed two military medals on a table at a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing and said "give them back to President Truman."

"I was proud of these, but I'm not any more," Edwin Miller Max, 43, told the committee Monday.

He dropped a Good Conduct Medal and a Bronze Star on the table after a heated exchange with committee members, who are investigating Communist influences in the professions.

Representative Doyle (D-Calif) accused Max of "trying to make a monkey out of the committee," adding, "my son died to save me like you and I'm ashamed of you."

Asked by committee counsel Frank S. Tavenner if earlier witnesses were correct in naming him a Communist, Max declined to answer on constitutional grounds.

He told reporters he had served in the Air Force in the European Theater.

Ike Takes Truman To Task, Ignores Stevenson Campaign

The crowd of some 5,000 that jammed the Civic Ice Arena cheered lustily. Eisenhower beamed. An additional 5,000 persons were seated in a high school football stadium nearby, listening to the speech through loud speakers.

The crowd cheered again when Eisenhower said of Truman's attacks against him and the Republicans:

STOP BEATING YOUR WIFE. After all, maybe she hasn't heard of KEY, WILSON & MAXSON. Besides, she might not like it. But here's a home that can't be beat. Located in the N.W. section, it's got the 3 bedrooms that you've been beef'n about, 1 1/2 baths, 32 feet of den-kitchen combination, and attached garage. Distributed heating, central air-conditioning, some carpeting. Rustic kitchen cabinets and hardware, and the den portion is paneled and has a picture window. Large corner lot with paved street. It's only a year old, and priced at $17,500.
I'M NOT PARTICULARLY ELOQUENT when it comes to ad writing, so I call this home the SMORGASBORD house—because it has a little bit of everything good in it. Neatly constructed of JOHNS-MANSVILLE asbestos (lowers the insurance rate). It has two nice-sized bedrooms, lovely large living room, charming bath. The kitchen is wainscoted in pearl MASONITE, and is about 18 feet in length. Beautiful oak floors, mahogany doors, and natural-finish woodwork throughout. It ain't even had one birthday yet. Even the price is a little bit: $6,550. Can be handled for $1,750 down.

IS YOUR HOME A MODEL? "T" Houses, unlike wine, do not improve with age. Let's swap yours in on one which has nothing old about it except the builder's long experience. Constructed of rustic Grandbury stone (imported from that foreign town called Ft. Worth), it has 3 lovely bedrooms, large living room and dining room arrangement, delightfully designed tile bath, and attached garage. The kitchen is a dream in Technicolor, with tile wainscoting, natural finish cabinets, pantry, rustic hardware, and is offset by a breakfast area. Large trellised rear patio overlooking deep lot. It's on Michigan. $17,500.
DID YOU LOSE BY BETTING ON the World Series? Well, here's where you can save enough to lose for the next 50 years. Located on a lot big enough for a baseball diamond (or putting green), this exquisitely attractive pink brick home has two huge bedrooms (one is 15 feet and the other is 15x17), a 13x25 delightful living room with simulated fireplace, full dining room, and a DREAM kitchen (with picture window in the breakfast area). Pastel-colored bath fixtures, diversified heating, washer connection, and Vent-A-Hood. Copious water well, fenced yard, crescent driveway to front door. The luxurious carpeting humbly bends to your every step. You will feel proud of this purchase at $17,500.
POT POURRI (1) 2 bedroom Haydick brick in Town North. Only $11,966 down on a full price of $8,730.
(2) Magnificent 3 bedroom and 2 tile bath priced at $28,500 and can be purchased for $7,500 and assume 4 1/2% loan.
(3) Lovely 3-bedroom on E. Estes with beautiful lawns and 50 trees, priced at exceedingly low $10,900.
(4) Attractive 2-bedroom asbestos home with rental unit in rear yard which rents out for $50 per month, priced bargain-basement at $10,500.
(5) A 2-bedroom beauty on Oak with Youngstown features, attached garage, all in excellent condition, priced at $10,500. Many others for your BEST deal. It takes but one phone call to locate the best in Midland.

This aerial view shows the dam and the reservoir behind it. When filled the reservoir will extend 34 miles up the south fork of the Flathead River. It will be approximately 500 feet deep at the dam, up to three and a half miles wide and will store about 3,500,000 acre-feet of water.

M. T. Yarbrough Rites Held Here

Funeral services for Marion Traflet Yarbrough, 72, of Mineral Wells and formerly of Midland, were held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Newell W. Ellis Chapel. The Rev. Clyde Lindsey of the First Christian Church officiated. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Yarbrough had the first garage in Midland in 1907. At one time, he operated mail cars between Midland and Seminole. He opened the first Ford dealership in Midland with R. D. Heatley in 1917. He moved to Barstow in 1926, and later lived in Monahans and Fort Worth before moving to Mineral Wells five years ago. He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Survivors include the widow; two sons; a sister; and six grandchildren.

bullets fired into her body, relating her story from a stretcher, concluded by saying, "I don't want the boy to be electrocuted."

The jury, told before its selection that the state and defense attorney had agreed to a guilty plea from Belcher and a life sentence with Mrs. Gay's consent, took 40 minutes to return its verdict.

While the jury considered the rape plea, Belcher pleaded guilty before Judge Henry King and drew a life sentence in the robbery case and a maximum 15-year term in the assault-to-murder case.

Mrs. Gay, mother of a 20-month-old baby, said Belcher entered her car about 6 p.m. May 8 and told her he wanted to go to Fort Worth from Carswell Air Force Base.

Soon after, she told the jury he pulled a pistol and told her he wanted to go to Dallas.

Once in Dallas, the woman testified tearfully, Belcher told her to drive down a little-used road and back into a lane off the road. Then he ordered her into the back seat.

"I thought he was going to kill me then," Mrs. Gay testified. But he raped her at gunpoint.

Then after he had been "walking up and down," Mrs. Gay said, "I looked up and he had the pistol in my face."

"This isn't going to be easy," she quoted the airman second class as saying.

"He fired twice," she related, "and everything went black. Later I heard him drive off."

The next persons she saw were deputy sheriffs who found her in the weeds along the river bottoms the next morning, Mrs. Gay said.

Unique Operation For Strangling Tot Almost Saves Life

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The heart of a two-year-old boy stopped beating for at least 10 minutes, then started up again, doctors at St. Luke's Hospital said Tuesday.

The five physicians who were trying to save him from strangling on a piece of orange said his heart stopped as they performed two operations on him Monday.

The boy, Demetrius L. Morgan, was put to bed in fair condition Monday night. However, he died early Tuesday.

Demetrius was unconscious when his father, Lonnie, brought him to the hospital.

First, the physicians made an incision in his windpipe and then a doctor breathed down a tube into the opening to provide air.

The piece of orange was lifted out through the incision. Another operation opened the child's chest, and a doctor reached in and massaged the baby's still heart.

Then four or five minutes later, the little orange began beating again. A nurse estimated the entire operation took only 10 or 12 minutes.

Town Clock Strikes Time With Nautical Tradition Of Bells

WELLFLEET, MASS.—(AP)—When the bell in the town clock strikes Cod town know it's either noon, 4 o'clock, 8 or midnight.

The ship's bell idea was approved by the annual town meeting as in keeping with the town's seagoing tradition. The bell was adjusted during the past week.

So far, the only persons mystified by the new bell system are visiting landlubbers who know nothing about the salty system of time keeping.

Aboard ship, bells divide the day into four-hour segments. Twelve o'clock is eight bells; 12:30 is marked by one bell; 1 o'clock by two bells and so on until eight bells at 4 o'clock and against at 8 o'clock.

DOGGONE HOT UNDER THERE

ROSSVILLE, GA.—(AP)—Butch, a five-year-old hound chained under a burning house Monday, howled helplessly as rescue efforts were blocked by flames.

A passerby, J. B. Durham of Chickamauga, Ga., seized a shotgun and fired at the dog's head, hoping to halt the hound's suffering.

The pellets only clipped the dog's collar, however, and Butch dashed off to a cooling brook.

FBI Starts Gradual Reduction In Staff

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, with personnel recently at peak levels, has begun a gradual reduction of staff to get its payroll within the limits of current appropriations.

Bureau officials said the cut can be carried out without interference with vital internal security tasks because some of FBI's routine investigations of applicants for government jobs have been shifted to the Civil Service Commission.

A bureau official said in response to inquiries that no firings are in progress, or planned—the FBI is simply depending on the normal number of resignations, without replacement, bringing the payroll into line with available funds inside the next few months.

Churchill Begins Second Year Of Trying To Reinstate Free Enterprise In Britain

LONDON —(AP)— The old Tory Winston Churchill is winding up his first year as peacetime Prime Minister with Britain still a welfare state.

The 71-year-old champion of free enterprise has succeeded in checking the swing to socialism; he hasn't succeeded, at least yet, in reversing it.

"We've found the going slow—and sometimes rocky—in trying to break the Socialist grip clamped on his austere island in six years of post-war Labor party rule.

Basic foods are still rationed. The government is still running the coal mines, steel mills, airlines, railroads, road transport—and the Bank of England.

Controls are plentiful. You've got to get a government permit to build a house, import or export anything, use steel and so on.

Life Still Austere

There are still price controls on hundreds of items, including some clothes and furniture. Rents are frozen. With the country hard-up financially, all parties agree many controls must stay.

Living in Britain is still austere; and you can't take out of the country more than 25 pounds—$42—for a holiday abroad.

The doctory Churchill, who rallied a nation in war by calling for "blood, toil, sweat and tears," is warning that times will be difficult and even dangerous for some time yet, in peace.

"I should be misleading you if I led you to suppose that greater efforts were not needed," he told the country only a few weeks ago. "We have got our head above water. Our future task is to swim up against the stream."

Aid From America

Churchill's "personal type" leadership that worked magic during war has brought grumbling among some of the younger backbenchers in his own Conservative party—but nothing so serious to even suggest a revolt.

"Do not forget that apart from the American contribution to our rearmament effort we are now supporting ourselves," he told party workers.

Specifically, here's the economic progress the Conservatives cite they've made since taking over:

During the last quarter of 1951, Britain's sterling area reserves loss was 934 million dollars. In the first quarter of 1952—under Churchill—the loss was cut to 636 million dollars. In the second quarter, after taking into account American defense aid, the loss was only 15 million dollars.

Churchill has agreed by implication that the Conservatives have not moved as fast as some members want—especially on denationalizing industries. But he blames this in part on political trickery by the old Labor government.

The Conservatives charge the Socialists "ran away from their responsibility" after leading the nation to the brink of bankruptcy.

Paper Dolls Are Profitable When Snipped By Mrs. Egan

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Erica Egan is a little old to be making with paper dolls, so she calls it paper sculpture. But it's still paper dolls only grown-up and refined so it's almost a fine art.

Using ordinary craft paper and an ordinary pair of scissors—plus an extraordinary imagination—she and her husband, Harold, can fashion paper productions that are starting. They can make a 15-foot statue for a store window. Or a 60-foot eagle for a band drive. Or a tiny, appealing Christmas tree ornament.

Mrs. Egan took a sheet of pink and yellow and purple paper, and some little pieces of red and blue. She snipped and curled and scored (which is running a sharp edge over the paper and then folding it). In less than five minutes she had a girl's head—the pink was her face, the yellow her curly hair, the purple her hat, the red her lips, the blue her eyes.

"This is really an old Polish art," said Mrs. Egan, looking arty up a flowing pink smock. "The peasants would paste colored paper to empty egg shells and use them for ornaments on Christmas trees."

She learned the knack while working as an assistant art director in the Polish consulate. It intrigued her, and she practiced at home. "For a year," she says, "my poor father ate scrambled eggs every day, so I could have egg shells to practice on."

Gradually she abandoned the eggs and her design became more intricate. She showed one photograph of a paper figurine to a large New York dress store, and was immediately "commissioned" to do some for the window.

Only she had to lie a little to get the job—she said the picture showed a life-size figure (which it didn't) and that she had made many life-sized figures (which she hadn't) and that she'd make the store life-sized ones (which she did).

All they use are paper, scissors, a scoring instrument (they use a sawed-off injector razor blade, but you can do it with a spoon) and something to fasten the pieces together. The Egan's say glue is messy, so they use a tiny stapler and gummed paper tape.

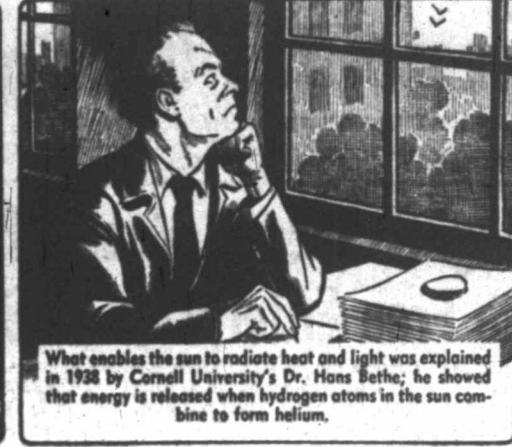

The thing has mushroomed so fast since they first started that it's spilling over into many fields. They've made paper caricatures for a television network, paper wall decorations for modern apartments, paper displays for the Metropolitan Opera—and now they're producing a kit for children to play with at home, and a paper sculpture pattern service.

The Egan's, who make up the name for their creation, maintain a trim studio near New York's Bowery. There, on furniture designed special by Harold Egan, they work with all sorts of tools and all kinds of paper. "But," they whispered, "you can do just as well on the kitchen table with a paper bag, some writing paper and a nail scissors."

THE HELL BOMB—2

When the first H-bomb is exploded, the paths of three men—a covetous, scientist and spy—will cross. It was the covetous who first utilized solar energy. By burning wood, he permitted the sun's stored-up chemical energy to escape in the form of heat and light.

What enables the sun to radiate heat and light was explained in 1928 by Cornell University's Dr. Hans Bethe; he showed that energy is released when hydrogen atoms in the sun combine to form helium.

The development of the A-bomb in 1945 made the hydrogen bomb feasible. But not until the arrest of British physicist Klaus Fuchs in 1950 did President Truman order one to be built. The grave command came three days after Fuchs confessed giving Russia American A-bomb secrets.

Deer Is Seen With Fangs; Tell It To Leathernecks

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Korean reports that Leathernecks had encountered "saber-toothed" or "fanged" deer had Marine Corps Headquarters here worried for a bit.

But Dr. Henry W. Setzer at the U. S. National Museum confirmed that the long-toothed deer were found in Korea as well as in the Yangtze River Valley of China. And Ernest P. Walker, assistant director of the National Zoological Park in Washington, showed live specimens to Marines to prove the stories from the fighting front.

The toothy deer—hydropotes inermis—is known as a water deer or swamp deer. It grows as large as a big sheep dog, and the buck bears tusks curving downward from the upper jaw in lieu of antlers.

Capt. Richard W. Cline of Orange, Calif., reported bagging one of the deer while stalking pheasants in the Po-Hang area of Korea. When the animal sprang out of the underbrush, Cline, an avid hunter, dropped it at 30 feet with a load of number eight shot.

He and other Marine fliers were urged by Korean farmers to kill the deer. The animals are great crop destroyers and the Koreans have a superstition that the deer's bite is fatal.

In any event, the Marines were glad to be forewarned of any deer in Korea that can bare their teeth. So can the Marines.

Hydropotes inermis: Out of the Korean brush, a weird deer.

Properly Fitted Shoes Are Key To Avoiding Painful Bunions

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Judging by letters addressed to this column, a large number of people suffer from bunions. One reader even says that she has had bunions for 30 years, which is indeed a long time to suffer from this painful foot condition.

A bunion surely is one consequence of our civilized society. Bunions practically are unknown among peoples who do not wear shoes.

Those peoples have other troubles, of course, and certainly no one would recommend going barefoot on our city streets, but at least it can be pointed out that bunions, as well as many other foot troubles, would occur less often if more people took better care of their feet, especially in the matter of shoes.

A bunion is a swelling of the lining of the joint at the base of the big toe. The skin also becomes thickened and the whole process pushes the big toe toward the others. Needless to say, the whole area becomes sensitive to pressure and the foot does not look its best. What can be done for a bunion? A bunion which has not existed too long and which is not too bad often gets along pretty well under conservative management. This involves removing the pressure on the inflamed and thickened tissues.

The shoes must fit well and sometimes it even is necessary to cut a hole in the shoe around the bunion so that there is no pressure on it at all. Heat also may relieve the tenderness and reduce the swelling.

If this does the job, well and good, but unfortunately some bunions are so bad that more heroic measures are necessary.

Surgery Often Needed
At times part of the difficulty is the accumulation of fluid which can be removed by a needle or small cut. But often an operation which involves removal of the excess tissue making up the bunion is necessary.

Just the right amount has to be taken out and then the bones of the big toe have to be placed in the proper position and held there (usually by plaster cast), until healing takes place. It is not a quick or particularly comfortable procedure.

Almost all persons who have bunions could have avoided them. The majority come as the result of wearing improperly fitted shoes—those which are too pointed or too short. Bunions are a high price to pay for vanity in the choice of shoes.

Sanitary Conditions Worse, Expert Says

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP)—Some sanitary conditions in the United States are worse now than they were 50 to 100 years ago, says a University of California scientist.

Dr. Maroid B. Gotaas, professor of sanitary engineering, reports there are still some 6,000 American communities without a public water supply and over 9,000 without a sewage system.

"And there is scarcely a city in the United States today in which atmospheric pollution conditions are not worse than they were a century ago," said Dr. Gotaas. Increased sanitary problems are the result of urban and suburban growth, industrialization, increased travel and changing living conditions, he said.

Modernized Asian Forces

The major military development of the war in Korea, according to no less of an authority than commanding Gen. James A. Van Fleet of the 8th Army, has been the emergence of Asiatic armies as hard-hitting, professional fighting forces.

At the outbreak of the war and previously, the outstanding characteristic of an Asiatic army was its almost total reliance on manpower. Battles were won mainly by force of numbers, with the oriental commander often willing to spend 10 lives to kill one United Nations soldier.

But the Korean conflict has brought a striking change-over to more modern tactics based on cunning and improved use of firepower. The American-trained South Korean army now is considered a first-rate fighting force, far superior to the South Korean army that so often proved unreliable in the early stages of the war.

The Communists have learned much by observing and successfully imitating Western war methods. Van Fleet reveals that the Chinese in particular have shown an amazing ability to copy captured weapons, no matter how complicated. And equally important, they've also been able to produce the necessary ammunition to turn our weapons against us.

A striking result in enemy tactics has been great increases in volume and accuracy of mortar and artillery fire. The Reds have caught on quickly to the values of massed firepower. And when massed firepower is complemented by massed and expendable manpower, the threat is serious.

Defensively, the enemy's ingenuity has enabled him to continue his military supply build-up despite the best that United Nations airpower has been able to do in the "Operation Strangle" interdiction program.

Such recuperative powers are possible because of two factors. First, the primitiveness of the Chinese and North Korean economies enables the enemy to scatter his repair yards and small factories in the thatched huts of rural villages, thus avoiding centralized groupings that could be damaged severely in one large bombing attack.

As added insurance against air attacks, as well as atomic warfare, the Communists have turned North Korea into a veritable hive of elaborate trenches and underground tunnels, where guns, ammunition and spare parts easily can be hidden.

In short, the modernization of warfare in the Far East, begun by the Japanese, rapidly is reaching a climax. As yet, we still can outfight the best that the Communists have been able to throw at us.

They now are tough fighting forces and, as they continue to adapt to modern methods in the future, it is clear that we will have to improve our own war tactics constantly if we are to stay one jump ahead.

They're Well Off—The Ground

Pilots have said that flying a plane is a whole lot easier than driving a car. That's not so hard to believe when you think of all the things that can happen to a motorist at an intersection—which is a thing pilots don't even have to worry about.

The motorist protecting himself against crossroads catastrophe not only has to watch for stop lights and stop signs, he has to be sure the other fellow is obeying them too. He not only must make his own left and right turns correctly, he has to be sure the other fellow is doing the same.

The motorist not only has to watch out for other cars at an intersection, but for pedestrians as well. He must remember not to pass at an intersection and he must be on the alert for anyone who does.

All this just for an intersection—a thing pilots don't even have to contend with. No wonder you seldom hear of fliers becoming cab drivers.

The High-Level Campaign

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson (Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Facts on Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe"—Ike received $635,000 on sale of manuscript; Arab demand for investigation of racial segregation in South Africa behind union's threat to pull troops out of Korea.

LOS ANGELES — Here are the inside facts on General Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe," and the much-discussed capital gains tax which the Bureau of Internal Revenue granted him.

The ruling is estimated to have saved Ike in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. Later, Congress adopted an amendment closing the loophole.

After a preliminary talk with Internal Revenue, Eisenhower wrote a letter to Undersecretary of the Treasury Archibald Wiggins on Dec. 20, 1947 outlining the following facts: "Certain publishers have urged me to write a personal memoir of the war years."

"I am not a professional writer in any sense of the word. I am anxious to comply with every requirement of the law."

Eisenhower then asked the question: "Will the Treasury Department regard this transaction as a capital gain or as income?"

On Dec. 22, 1947 — two days later — which was extremely fast for the Treasury, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Schoeneman gave Eisenhower a reply.

The manuscript entitled "Crusade in Europe" completed by you on March 24, 1948, was a capital asset within the meaning of sect. 117 (A) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, and the amount of $635,000 received by you upon the sale of the manuscript constitutes a long-term capital gain."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service The bidding of the hand shown today is almost as interesting as the play.

North's response of three clubs was an artificial bid, asking South to show a four-card major suit if he happened to hold one.

South obediently showed the spades, and North extended a slam invitation by raising to five spades. South probably should have passed, since he could not have opened with two no-trumps with a heartless hand he actually held.

South actually went on to slam, hoping that a kindly providence would come to his help. It did.

but perhaps largely because South took the trouble to help himself. West opened the ten of clubs, and South won with the king. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps, cashed

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Officials Ride Snazzy Seized Sedans; Save Taxpayers' Hard-Earned Money

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing was driven up to the White House the other day in a snazzy blue Cadillac. Press men who saw it commented that this was pretty fancy transportation for someone who wasn't even a cabinet member, but just an administrator.

Ewing explained, however, that the government—and the taxpayers—didn't buy this car for him. It was seized by the Treasury's Bureau of Narcotics agents from some big dope peddler.

Investigation revealed that this is standard government practice, although few people know about it. There's even a law on it.

Whenever an automobile is seized in the arrest of anyone for violation of federal law, the car is held in custody of the U. S. marshal until a court issues an order for its disposition. The seizing agency has the right to requisition the car if it wants it.

Those not wanted are turned over to General Services Administration for parcelling out among other agencies as needed. This saves the taxpayers' money.

In the 1950-51 period, 441 cars were seized in this manner. 441 per cent of the Treasury's fleet, or 388 cars, were seized by its enforcement agencies—Secret Service, Customs, Narcotics, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Coast Guard, Post Office and FBI also use many seized cars.

Anything that has to do with mink just can't stay out of the news. Now it's the Federal Trade Commission which has cracked down on the Mink Traders' Association, Inc.

There is a kind of war on between the mink traders and the mink breeders. The traders have been accused of making "private treaties" to eliminate sales by certain ranchers and auction houses that have been holding out for higher prices.

The new FTC order forbids the traders from intimidating, coercing or boycotting any of the breeders. There's a Catch in It.

It isn't often that a trade association will advocate higher taxes on its own industry, but the American Trucking Association is trying to make it appear that it is doing just that. It proposes an across-the-board increase in gasoline and license taxes for all automotive vehicles.

The catch is that the truckers want toll roads eliminated and all highways made free to all users. This would save the trucking industry money.

John V. Lawrence, Washington lobbyist for the trucking associations, complains that on the Pennsylvania Turnpike trucks are only 21 per cent of the number of vehicles, but they pay 65 per cent of the tolls.

The catch here is that the truckers represent a much higher percentage of the tonnage. And it is the heavy truck, not the passenger car, that does most damage to highways and necessitates the biggest share of road maintenance costs.

Complex And Then Some Here's a new problem on the hazards of high speed flying, posed by aircraft engineers.

Imagine two planes flying toward each other on a collision course, at speeds of 1,200 miles an hour (a Navy research plane has flown faster than this, so it isn't a purely theoretical problem). Their speed with relation to each other would be 2,400 miles an hour. That is 40 miles a minute or two-thirds of a mile a second.

Suppose now that these two planes emerged from clouds, a mile and a half apart, and the pilots thus saw each other for the first time at this distance. They will crash in a little over two seconds.

Human nerves won't react fast enough to enable the pilots to avoid the crash. That's why complicated electronic gear for almost automatic flying has to be built into high-speed jet aircraft. The complexity of this radar in one plane is said to be greater than the combined equipment for a city power system, a radio and TV broadcast station and the fire-control apparatus on a battleship.

Where states run these networks, they'll have to get appropriations from their legislatures. Estimated costs are from $150,000 to $750,000 for original equipment, per station, plus a minimum of $100,000-a-year operating expense.

Navy Medicoes Object A recent statement in this column about the armed services' having had to discontinue annual medical examinations for all personnel because of the doctor shortage has brought a yell from Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

Navy and Marine Corps officers still get annual physical-fitness examinations, and an extra examination before being assigned to duty outside the U. S. enlisted personnel are examined whenever they are transferred from one ship or station to another.

Cancer specialists say, however, that these routine physical-fitness tests often aren't thorough enough to detect cancer in its earliest stages.

SECOND MAN on the Ticket

By Edwin Lashburn Copyright by Edwin Lashburn. Reprinted by NEA Service, Inc.

JOHN led the Governor into the living room and I went into the music room and switched on the radio. I was afraid my own nervousness would show if I stayed in the living room, and would affect the Governor. Melvin Fisher followed me in, and said as I bent to the dial, "What I want to know is what to do with those 250 straw hats."

"Straw hats?" I said. "And sunbonnets," he said. "For the kids. We got all those straw hats and sunbonnets for the kids to wear in the parade."

I shrugged my shoulders. The program had already begun in Birmingham and a United States senator was introducing the Governor's speech.

Through the open door I could see across the hall into the living room, where the Governor sat at a table with the manuscript in front of him. He looked sad and tired. I knew it was an expression that characteristically came on his face when he was waiting to speak and had drained his mind of thought until the signal came, but to the group of newspapermen, who were not familiar with his traits, he must have seemed a worried man.

When he started speaking the Governor's tone was low, and I saw the radio engineer fiddling with his dials, but as he warmed up, his voice gained power. I waited for the time when he would have to lay the manuscript aside and speak from notes. There had been so much on the Governor's mind the past 48 hours that I was afraid he would have trouble speaking extemporaneously, but I should have known the Governor better. He went on speaking from the notes without a pause.

"He had a minutes yet to go when I heard a knock on the front door. It sounded loud in the hushed house, and the roommen turned their heads and frowned. I

Lonesome Monument In Canyon Salutes Bert Loper, Grand Old Man Of Colorado

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Deep in a cragged gorge of the Colorado River stands one of the most picturesque, and isolated, memorials ever erected to an American frontiersman.

The sturdy shaft on the steep river bank honors Bert Loper, the "Grand Old Man of the River," who three years ago—less than three weeks before his eightieth birthday—perished in the turbulent waters over which he had been master for more than half a century.

But the memorial is more than a tribute to the dean of Western rivermen. It is the realization of a dream, the dream of Mrs. Rachel Loper, the woman Utah's legendary boatman left behind. Mrs. Loper's unusual dream was not an easy one to accomplish. After planning for almost three years, she penetrated the river wilderness to construct, with her own hands, the memorial out of native marble.

Her trip of faith ended near the Upper Grand Canyon Rapids, not far from Phantom Ranch, Ariz., where on July 8, 1949, Loper's boat overturned, tumbling him into the white, foaming cataracts.

Thrill Of Ride

The old riverman, a semi-hermit, poet and philosopher, had joined a group of veteran river-riders who planned a trip down the Grand Canyon—just for the thrill of the ride. Loper jumped at the chance to make the eightieth birthday trip he had proposed 10 years before. But soon after the journey began, a large wave capsized the boat. A companion held on. Loper never came up.

It was only the third time in 56 years of battling the Colorado and tributaries that a Loper-manned boat had capsized.

A search party found the boat—its outboard motor still attached—and pulled it ashore. That's where it still stands. And at the prow of the battered craft is the Loper memorial. The site can be reached only by boat, down the same dangerous rapids which claimed Loper's life.

Mrs. Loper organized a party which rode down the churning route this summer to build the monument. It was her second trip into the canyon since her husband's death. In 1951, the boatman's widow, who now lives in Salt Lake City, braved the rapids in an attempt to learn something more about Loper's disappearance.

Dwarfed By Canyon

She went back this year. Using marble from the canyon's walls, Mrs.

Loper patiently constructed a four-foot shaft near the boat. It stands dwarfed by a part of the massive canyon walls which rise to dizzy heights above. And on the memorial, Mrs. Loper attached a bronze plaque which reads:

"Bert Loper, born July 31, 1869, lost July 8, 1949."

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

If you are going through the "I want to be an actress" stage, chances are you do lots of daydreaming. . . .

Sometimes, perhaps, you are Katharine Cornell as Cleopatra keeping Antony cooling his heels. . . .

Then you veer to Hollywood, and Bette Davis or Vivien Leigh are your heroines of the moment. . . .

And just when you think you prefer the cinema, you dream of being a great ice-skating star such as Sonja Henie or Barbara Ann Scott. . . . or a prouetting ballet star like Maria Tallchief.

This sort of reverie is fun and most girls go through the phase at some time—one reason why Summer stock companies staff young men and women who are anxious to try their hand in the theater.

As apprentices these young people receive no pay, but they are delighted to sweep and scrub floors, paint scenery, mow lawns and do all sorts of odd chores around the theater.

At Richard Aldrich's Summer theaters on Cape Cod, young people between the ages of 16 and 26 are trying their luck in waiting for a break which might put them in line for a job as actress, director or manager. Says one hopeful:

"I'd be contented if before my two months are up I got a walk-on part. But if I don't, I'll try again next year."

Some of the young stage-struck group have been graduated from universities, some have won dramatic scholarships. But all of these young people are serious about their theatrical ambitions, reports an on-the-scene scout.

Examples are:

Daphne Mayo, of Washington, a blonde beauty of 18 who is planning to study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic.

Jill McAnney, 20, daughter of a newspaperman, who has had stock experience and has done professional photography. Her ultimate goal is to stage opera—she loves opera music.

Joanna Hutchins, 16, a tall brunette who is interested in acting, writing, painting, and music, hasn't quite made up her mind but, she says, "Daddy suggested I try the Summer theater and find out."

Nancy Pickardt, 18, young, bright-eyed and curly-haired, wants to do musical comedy.

Lisa Patterson, born in England, where her father was American consul, also has her heart set on a theatrical career.

Rosalind Avery, 24, of Chicago, won a scholarship to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts, London, where she studied for two years. She acted professionally in Italy and the Pacific bases with U. S. O. and has travelled on one-night stands. The goal of this talented girl is to manager or co-manager a theater. She explains:

"I learned a great deal in England about technical aspects of the theater such as lighting and organization in general. But there's much more I want to know. That's why I'm here."

One young lady—Lorraine Merritt 24, gave up several jobs in order to spend the summer as an apprentice at the Cape Playhouse. She had two jobs—one with the Art Students' League, and another weekends and evenings as an organist. Her heart is in the theater, though, so she tossed over her job for a whirl at it.

Joan Foggi, 21, of Hoboken, N.J., is writing her graduation thesis on the Summer playhouse and has science, has worked in Winter stock her subject.

Rosa Roffman, 23, of Savannah, Ga., where she teaches political science, has worked in winter stock in Atlanta but now is learning production aspects of the theater.

Janet Fehm, 25, has acted extensively on U. S. and Canadian stages. She wants to learn to be a director and decided to spend the Summer at the Cape theaters to brush up on different phases of the theater. Says she:

"I've been painting, washing, sewing, working in the box office, hammering nails and working part-time as a restaurant hostess to help pay my keep while I'm here."

All these young hopefuls agree that the theater is an invigorating experience, although few are numbers who apply. From hundreds of applicants, Aldrich chooses 26 apprentices, 12 for each theater.

"The Grand Old Man of the Colorado River."

"I belong to the wondrous West and the West belong to me."

Loper, as much as any man, did belong to the West. He had boated on the Colorado for 56 years and on his infrequent visits to nearby communities he would begin to miss the river and hurry back to his Red Canyon cabin.

Perhaps prophetically, Loper was born in Bowling Green, Mo., the same year that Maj. John Wesley Powell first conquered the Mighty Colorado. In 1855, Loper came west to work in Colorado's silver mines. Forced out when the mines closed during the 1863 panic, he began boating into isolated areas to prospect. "I've been at it ever since," he often said.

His travels took him thousands of miles on the Colorado, Green and San Juan Rivers in Utah, the Yampa in Colorado and the Salmon River in Idaho. From 1907 to 1915, he lived as a hermit in the Lower Colorado River region.

Makes Trip Alone

Loper was head boatman on the Colorado for the U. S. government men from 1920 until 1922. But in 1923 he was left at home because he was "too old" to make the government survey trip. Sixteen years later, in 1939 when he was 70,

Loper completed a boat trip alone down a 250-mile stretch of the Upper Colorado which he had never before traversed. With this feat accomplished, he claimed to be the only man to have covered the entire stream, from its headwaters in Colorado and Wyoming to the Gulf of California, 600 rapids and 1,100 miles away.

Many times Mrs. Loper shared his vivid experiences. The year before his death, she was tossed into the Colorado when their boat capsized. Suffering a broken shoulder and bad bruises, Mrs. Loper lay within the Colorado Gorge, 40 miles from the nearest settlement. By a strange quirk of fate, two friends, on another boating expedition, came along. Mrs. Loper was taken by boat, car and truck almost 200 miles to a Fruita, Colo., hospital.

But most of her memories of the wild, primitive country are less painful, even those of the violent Colorado which claimed her husband's life. "Here's where he wanted to be—I wouldn't have wanted it otherwise," she says.

An immigrant girl from Scotland, Mrs. Loper married her riverman husband after, at 47, he had waged a four-month, whirlwind courtship. She lived along the Colorado for more than 30 years and still thinks of its banks as home.

Girl Reporter Is At Home In Jets, Tanks And Subs

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—Esther Clark, ace feature writer for the Phoenix Gazette, feels she's about ready for combat duty after riding in a B-47 stratojet, T-33 jet trainer, submarine, army tank, blimp and helicopter.

In addition, the attractive news-woman has shot a machine gun from the hip and scored a bullseye and four near-perfect hits in a round of fire during rifle target practice at the Arizona National Guard grounds.

Although her beat includes two Air Force bases and a Navy installation here, Esther isn't merely a military reporter. She's church editor of the Gazette and won the Phoenix Elks Lodge 1950 award for community and state service. The award honored her for a series on an Adopt-A-Family Christmas Fund promotion sponsored by the newspaper and Phoenix Community Council.

Her latest military exploit, one of several "firsts" for a newspaper-woman, was the B-47 ride at 600 miles an hour at 32,000 feet altitude out of Wichita Air Force Base in Kansas.

Striking through the stratosphere for two hours and 40 minutes over three states was an unforgettable thrill for Mrs. Clark, who rode in the nose of the six-engine jet bomber.

She sat in the space usually occu-pled by the navigator-bombardier-radar operator of the three-man crew.

Last Fall Esther, a native of Denver, where she began her newspaper career on the Catholic Register, spent a day at sea on a shakedown cruise of the recommissioned submarine, USS Aspro.

She's one of the few women ever to have a full day's cruise, including diving operations, on a sub.

Why does she fly in the speedy planes and ride in submarines? She explains:

"There's a thrill in giving the public a first hand account of how the nation's first line defenders train and work."

The Gazette reporter, who's been on the staff seven years, is termed "top notch" by her managing editor, R. W. Barry. He says:

"What Esther has done proves there's a place in the city room for women who can go out on any assignment and make good on it."

The versatile newspaperwoman began her flight exploits in a helicopter on a telephone linebreak testing mission from Phoenix over the White Tank Mountains. Her most vivid memory of this ride was her outside position with no canopy or side bars and only a narrow safety belt for protection in steep banks over the telephone wires.

The domestic hen eats stones to aid her digestion.

Firm Makes Money Being Destructive

NEW YORK—(AP)—A firm which makes a good living by demolishing everything it can get its hands on is the U. S. Testing Company Laboratories.

Some 30,000 American manufacturers of everything from detergents to basketballs pay it to take their products apart to see if they are as good as the claims on the label. Many companies pay to have their competitors' merchandise tested regularly.

A lady recently asked the laboratory to find out if the stains on her husband's necktie were lipstick. The company refused the job when she said she wanted to know what particular brand.

Says Wonderful Things About You!

The instant your beautiful Cadillac points its golden crest into view, it begins to say wonderful things about you.

It says, almost as plainly as if the words were written out, that you are a person of achievement in your own world of affairs.

It talks of your good judgment and your splendid taste—and indicates your sense of responsibility for those who ride with you as passengers, or drive beside you in the traffic lanes.

It speaks of your family and your home and your friends and your way of life—and, in general, paves the way for the respect of those you encounter as you sit at its wheel.

This is true because those who own Cadillacs form a virtual "Who's Who" of America's highways. In almost every community in the country, Cadillac is the favored car of the leading people.

The reason for this, of course, is found in the history of the car itself.

For fifty years, it has been the unwavering purpose to make Cadillac as fine a car as it is practical to produce. Goodness has always been the watchword—craftsmanship has always been the creed.

As a result, Cadillac has long been known and accepted as—"The Standard of the World." And, inevitably, people who want and seek the finest have turned to Cadillac.

That's why the man who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac is an accepted and respected member of the most distinguished motoring family to be found anywhere.

If you are ready for membership in this incomparable group, better come in and see us soon. We'd be happy to welcome you at any time. How about making it today?

Daddy Ringtail And Hotball

Some strange monkeys were playing ball. They were down on the sand by the Whispering River. They were great big fellows.

The biggest monkey of all was pitcher in the ball game. He threw the ball so hard it looked like a streak of light. "Zoop!" The batter tried to hit it but he couldn't. The catcher caught it, but the ball pushed him back six feet. That's how hard the ball was thrown.

Mugwump Monkey saw it happen. So did the amazing Mr. Stick, who was Mugwump's friend. Mr. Stick looked like an ordinary broomstick. Nobody but Mugwump knew that the stick was a live somebody who could talk and hop even faster than Mugwump could run.

"Zoop!" went the ball real fast again from the pitcher's hand. "Swing!" and again the batter had swung at the ball and missed it. "Skidded!" went the catcher back. "Hah!" said Mr. Stick to Mugwump. "You can hit it."

"Certainly," answered the stick. "If you promise to do exactly as I tell you," said so Mugwump promised, and he did. Mugwump held Mr. Stick in his hands as though Mr. Stick were really a baseball bat. Mugwump jumped from behind where they were standing, and he shouted to the pitcher: "Yoo-hoo! Throw the ball to me!"

The pitcher threw the ball for Mugwump to try to hit it. Every-one was sure that Mugwump couldn't hit it, but Mugwump did. I mean that Mr. Stick hit it. Mr. Stick swung himself real hard like a baseball bat in Mugwump's hands, and "Bam!"

The ball was hit and back it went to the pitcher like a cannon ball. "Ooof!" said the pitcher when he caught it, because it spun him around like a windmill.

New Wonder Drugs Help Animals, Too

NEW YORK —(NKA)—If Fido has any sense at all, he begs for antibiotics these days. And well-informed shaggy dogs are specifying aureomycin.

Antibiotics in general, and aureomycin in particular, are making a dog's life an existence to be envied. The wonder drugs have proven equally wondrous on canines and humans—and, in some ways, they're even more effective on dogs than people.

They make dogs grow faster. They make their coats thicker and more lustrous. They make them healthier. They help cure some dog diseases that were formerly fatal, and work cures faster on others that used a drag out.

The use of the drugs in treating dog disease—like the secondary diseases stemming from distemper—was to be expected. After all, the same general type of bug causes pneumonia in men and mongrels.

But the stimulating of dog growth—and the growth of other animals—by adding an antibiotic to the diet was surprising. And it still is surprising, because nobody really knows how or why it happens. But it does happen, and farmers and dog fanciers are very happy about the whole thing.

Science first discovered that a dash of an antibiotic, such as terramycin, penicillin, streptomycin or aureomycin, was just the thing for a piglet. Farmers this year are saving vast sums of money because of this discovery. Adding aureomycin to the diet brings a pig to marketable maturity days before it could be done formerly; the farmers are saving the cost of those added days of feed and care.

Runt-Gain Weight

Dog fanciers, like John J. Dugan, a New Haven Conn., pharmacist, figured that the same thing might happen to dogs. He experimented, and it does. He used a feed with added streptomycin and sold it to his dog-breeding customers. Within a year, the reports came in and were phenomenal.

Puppies were becoming dogs sooner. The runt in the litter grew up to be just as big as his normal brothers and sisters. Costs were healthier, dogs livelier, owners happier. For show dog purposes, the added antibiotic resulted in stronger hind quarters, a factor which dog show judges somehow deem important.

There are several theories about why this happens. One is that there are parasites in the intestines, and these unwelcome beasts prevent dogs from getting the full benefit out of food. Antibiotics, this theory has it, suppress these parasites, enabling the dog to use every last vitamin and mineral in his dog biscuit.

Another theory, more widely held, is that Vitamin B-12, which is associated with antibiotics, does the trick. But whatever the reason, something is making bigger, healthier dogs quicker when they eat antibiotics. Some dog food companies are now adding antibiotics to their products.

In the field of therapeutics, antibiotics give promise of further lengthening the life expectancy of dogs. New discoveries over the past decade—such as dog blood plasma and better splints for broken bones—have already stretched the life span of most dogs from about seven to about 11 years.

The leading dog killer is, of course, getting hit by automobiles. Antibiotics can do nothing about that. But they can cure such formerly fatal diseases as pneumonia, cocci-diosis, and leptospirosis. All of these, and others, are deadly outgrowths of distemper.

Distemper was long considered the second biggest cause of dog deaths. It has been found to be like the common cold in humans; it doesn't kill people itself, but it can lead to a fatal secondary infection. Antibiotics are ineffective against distemper, but nowadays that's not too important.

When a dog is brought into a veterinarian these days, the vet has a weapon. In all cases of this so-called "distemper complex"—an undiagnosed infection resulting from distemper, or possibly two or more such infections—the vet shoots the animal with aureomycin.

He chooses aureomycin because it is a "broad-spectrum" antibiotic; it is effective against many diseases, not just one. So no matter what the disease that's troubling the dog, aureomycin can generally knock it out.

The same drug also is used during dog surgery, making that branch of veterinary practice much safer. Antibiotic ointments can control infections of the skin, eyes and ears. Research is going on to determine the effectiveness of antibiotics on various types of worms.

Canine metabolism taken by dog food researcher to test result of an aureomycinized diet. This dog has had metabolism taken so often he becomes more durable than most children.

BECAUSE TRELIS MAE TAGGED ALONG—

Wilbur Was On An Errand When Mize Hit Big Homer

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Wilbur Peeble, America's average citizen, thought it was the break of a lifetime when an old friend gave him two tickets to the World Series.

He wasn't so sure, however, when his wife said she wouldn't let him go to the big city without her.

"I'll take you on one condition—that you don't bother me with a single question during the entire game," he said.

"They oughtn't to allow women—"

fumed Wilbur, as they sat down in the upper stand near the right field foul line.

Trellis Mae turned her back on him and confided to a beefy, red-nosed Dodger fan next to her: "My husband won't let me talk to him. Will you tell me what is the real object of this game?"

Why Don't They Run?

"Well, it's—it's to get the most runs," said the fan.

"What are they standing there for then? Why don't they all start running?"

"As the fan's jaw dropped, Trellis Mae said, "When do they take their naps?"

"Naps?"

"Isn't that what those cute little white pillows are for?" she asked, pointing at the base bags.

The red nose of her neighbor turned a mottled blue.

Bored, Trellis Mae started watching the metal foul pole as it swayed back and forth in the wind. Soon she felt nauseated.

"Wilbur, I'm seasick," she said. "But nobody ever got seasick at a baseball game—it's impossible."

"Well, I am. It must be because I didn't eat. You'd better go get me a hot dog or you'll be awfully sorry."

Surprised, her husband took the bat, then reverently read the inscription: "To Wilbur, one to remember, (signed) Johnny Mize."

As Wilbur gratefully bent to kiss her, Trellis Mae murmured: "I tried to get you one of those little white pillows for a souvenir, too, but some darned fool had tied them all down."

Heartbroken Wilbur

Wilbur went. A great roar rose from the crowd a moment later. When Wilbur scrambled back, the red-nosed man said: "Johnny Mize just poled one into the stands—a good one."

"You mean," said Wilbur brokenly, "I missed the only chance of my life to see Mize knock a home run?"

"I missed it myself. Your wife was bending my ear."

"It went right in front of us," said Trellis Mae. "You could almost count the stitches."

The Dodger fan leaned over and whispered something to Trellis Mae. She looked surprised, then nodded her head.

Mules on the run stir up Missouri dust as they're driven from the Owen-Good ranch to waiting boxcars for shipment to Spain. It's the last exercise they get until they reach Madrid.

SOME ARE STUBBORN IN SPANISH, TOO—
Modern Machinery Has Foe In Mule; He's Here To Stay

By MARY C. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent
BELTON, MO.—A mule train almost a mile long, bound for Spain, bears out a loyal trader's conviction that the "mule is here to stay" despite modern machinery.

True to its reputation for stubbornness, the "vanishing" mule apparently refuses to be driven to extinction. Although rapidly disappearing from the American landscape, popularity on the foreign market persists.

Just as stubborn when it comes to championing the mule is Ferd Owen, known as the "Mule King of the World." He's determined to keep that faith—even if it means being a "good sport," as he puts it, by losing $100,000 in one season waiting out sale of the animals.

Currently, 415 three- and four-year-old mules from the 2,063-acre Owen-Good ranch near Belton are on the high seas enroute to Madrid.

Then 400 More

When the Spanish ship unloads the mules in Spain, it will return to America for 400 additional mules. More than 800 mules were delivered to the Spanish buyer in previous consignments in recent months.

While at sea, the mules will consume about 100 tons of hay, which is being put aboard with them. According to Owen, the shipping expense is about $250 per mule—more than the cost of one of the animals.

Almost 100 mules from the ranch are on the way to Israel.

All the mules will be used for farm work in the foreign countries. They are preferred because they can do work in terrain where machinery can't and for people to whom machinery either is unavailable or a financial impossibility.

Little 'Uns Eat Less

Owen recently sent a large number of small mules to Greece. The purchaser requested "plint-sized" but fully grown mules because they require less feed. Farmers who will receive the animals barely can raise enough food for themselves.

Office work connected with the vast enterprises of Owen and his young partners, Wendell and Leon Keen, whom he raised from childhood, is managed by Owen's wife Bertie, and daughter, Mrs. Leila Owen Good. The women and their office assistants have turned their interests principally to a new livestock sale venture inaugurated at the ranch last year.

As for Owen, his first love still is mules.

"I guess I'll always be just a mule trader at heart," he said as he adjusted his Western hat and ground the tip of his stockman's cane in the dirt.

Then he added: "The women folks are good mule dealers, too, but I suppose their interest in the mule has diminished with the mule's popularity—yep, the women are mighty business-like on that score."

Pride And Joy

Owen, who has been "dealing with mules" since he was 12 years old, when he worked for a "mule man" for $10 a month, intends to coach his eight-year-old grandson, Owen Good, in the art of mule trading. He described his other two grandsons, Ferdie, 14, and Gibby, 10, as "cattle men."

The "apple" of the mule trader's eye is his six-year-old granddaughter, Bertie Leila, for whom he recently purchased three pet dwarf calves. The children, with their mother, live on the ranch.

Bertie Leila, like her brothers, undoubtedly will be schooled in her doting grandfather's pride—the mule.

"They say the mule is gone, but we will see the day when a lot of people will wish they had a good pair of mules," he predicted.

Wary-eyed mule is inspected by trader Ferd Owen, right, and Tim Marcellan, Spanish buyer's agent, before being shipped.

1,100 Placed By TEC Staff In September

With a large number of out-of-town workers seeking employment in the fast-growing Midland area, 1,100 persons were placed on jobs during the month of September at the Texas Employment Commission office, J. D. Bechtol, manager, reported Tuesday.

Bechtol said the job placements represented an increase of 37 per cent over the same month in 1951, and were slightly higher than placements for August of this year.

The job placements were well-distributed between the commercial and professional classes, Bechtol said.

More than 100 jobs are still unfilled with a big demand for rousetabouts and seismograph workers, he said. The rapid building growth also is accounting for a large number of openings for carpenters and construction workers. While openings for office workers have declined, the employment commission can still assist stenographers, clerk typists and accountants.

The office opens at 7 a.m. to assist contractors who need workers at that hour. Available workers should be present each morning.

Telephone and telegraph messages may be sent eight at a time to towns and cities off the main line of radio beam communications with a new system developed by engineers.
