Workers Set For Final Push As Red Feather Pledges Lag

Officials, division chairmen and team captains of Midland's 1952 Community Chest finance campaign rallied their forces this weekend for an all-out effort to subscribe the $68,250 quota by Thursday night, scheduled date for completion of the campaign. Progress report meetings for all divisions are set Tuesday noon and Thursday noon. Meanwhile, the weekend report from campaign headquarters revealed that only 63 per cent of the overall goal has been attained. Cash and pledges received at the headquarters offices total $42,997.73, leaving a total of $25,252.27 to be subscribed the first four days of this week. Reports by divisions disclose the following totals: Advance $20,275; Special $9,745.50; Employee $8,642.12; Commercial $1,800.35; General, $3,304.76. It was pointed out that cash and pledges obtained by women and youth workers are included in the General Division. 'Give-Give Enough' Campaign leaders issued a special appeal to volunteer workers to complete their assignments and to make final reports as promptly as possible. At the same time they appealed to every Midlander to "Give-Give Enough" when contacted by the Red Feather solicitors. Eight youth and welfare organizations are dependent upon the successful outcome of the campaign to finance their operations in 1953. The Community Chest agencies are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Latin American Youth Center, Salvation Army, Goodfellows, USO and Colored Day Nursery. Donors are urged to remember they are giving to eight organizations and not just to a single agency when determining the amounts of their gifts. The fact that pledges are being accepted this year for the first time again was stressed as plans were mapped to complete the record Red Feather drive on schedule. Leaders said they are more interested in pledges than in cash, and that contributors to Community Chest may pay their pledges over a 12-month period—at times and in amounts to suit their personal convenience. Determination was the keynote at a report meeting held Friday noon, although a wave of disappointment swept the assembly as the report figures were announced. Joe T. Dickerson, general chairman, praised the volunteer workers for their efforts as he placed the real facts of the campaign on the line for the consideration of Midland citizens. He pointed out that the drive still had not reached the two-thirds mark and with only four working days left in which to reach the $68,250 goal, which he termed a comparatively small amount in prosperous and progressive Midland. "We are awfully close to the reality of having this drive fail," Dickerson said, with a tone of disappointment registering in his voice. He pointed out that many Midland citizens, (Continued on Page Eight)

Truman Charges Gutter Campaign

NEW YORK —(P)— President Truman charged Saturday the Republicans are running Dwight D. Eisenhower with the same sort of "man on horseback" propaganda that has led to the setting up of Communist and Fascist dictatorships abroad. Truman said that at the instigation of a "Juniac fringe," Eisenhower and other GOP leaders are waging "one of the lowest street-gutter campaigns that I have ever seen." In a major address to a Brooklyn audience, the President went on to say: "I don't for a moment suggest that the Republican candidate wants to be a dictator—or that the Republican Party is planning to set up a dictatorship. "But the public relations experts and the advertising agencies who are masterminding the Republican campaign have introduced these foreign techniques to sell their political products. And what I am saying is that these foreign techniques have no place in American political life. "We do not want a man on horseback. When a man gets into politics he has to get off his high horse. Charges Cruelty, Deceit Truman slashed at Eisenhower in this vein after a day of New England barnstorming in which he said Eisenhower is being "cruel and deceitful" in leading American parents to think he could bring their sons home quickly from Korea. "That was a contemptible thing to do," Truman told a warmly responsive crowd at Providence, R. I. Truman left his special train and motored through the industrial heart of New England, blasting at the Republican presidential nominee all the way, before ending his third whistle stop swing of the presidential campaign in Brooklyn. He sounded one new note at Providence. He referred to the Democratic candidate as "President Stevenson."

Jewish Churchman Refutes Truman Charge Against Ike

NEW YORK —(P)— A leader of the Jewish church said Saturday he was shocked by President Truman's "irresponsible statement" identifying Gen. Dwight Eisenhower with anti-Semitism and anti-Catholicism in the United States. Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland talked with Eisenhower 45 minutes at the general's Columbus University residence Saturday. As he was leaving, reporters asked him whether the discussion had touched Truman's message Friday to the National Jewish Welfare Board. In that message, Truman said of Eisenhower: "Today, he is willing to accept the very practices that identify the so-called 'master race'." The rabbi replied: "We discussed it. I expressed my feelings of shock that an irresponsible statement of that character could be made. Much is permitted in a campaign but the attempt, by implication, to identify a man like General Eisenhower—whose humanity and broad tolerance are known all over the world—with anti-Semitism and anti-Catholicism is just not permissible, even in the heat of a campaign. LATE NEWS FLASHES

NASHVILLE, TENN. —(P)— Five bandits, wearing polka dot masks and armed with machine guns, held up and robbed 50 party guests at the home of Nashville Architect Francis Warfield of from $100,000 to $150,000 in money and jewels Saturday night. FORT WORTH —(P)— The Fort Worth Star-Telegram in a front page editorial published Sunday, reiterated its pre-campaign endorsement of General Eisenhower as the man best fitted to be President of the United States. ODESSA —(P)— Officials reported 32,000 persons visited the Permian Basin Oil Show Saturday and said that was the biggest crowd to see any Oil Progress Week exhibition in the nation during a single day.

Strike Due Monday As WSB Cuts Coal Miners' Pay Boost

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Wage Stabilization Board Saturday cut 21 per cent from the wage increase won last month by John L. Lewis' 350,000 soft coal miners, raising the specter of an immediate industry-wide coal strike just two weeks before election. Board Chairman Archibald Cox, a 40-year-old Harvard law professor, appealed to the "sound common sense of the coal miners and wisdom of their leaders" to abide by the decision. He said "a Congress elected by the people made wage stabilization the law of the land" and added: "For both the miners and their leaders must know that freedom cannot long survive when the supremacy of law is challenged by naked power."

Road Bond Issue In Martin County Approved, 4 To 1

STANTON—Martin County voted four to one Saturday to issue $250,000 in bonds to finance a county-wide road improvement program. The bonds were approved by a vote of 349 to 80. The funds will be used principally for acquiring and fencing right-of-way for highways to be built by the State Highway Department. Acquiring of right-of-way for the widening of U. S. 80 Highway into a four-lane highway across the county is the major project in the bond issue program. Mr. Workman, work and be loyal to the Democratic Party. Let's go forward with Stevenson. Pol. ADLAI STEVENSON ... Talks of Carpet Baggers

Houston Rally Ends Two-Day Tour Of Texas

HOUSTON —(P)— Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared Saturday it would be a "national tragedy" if Texas cast its lot with GOP Nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower in the November 4 presidential election. Winding up a two-day campaign in the Lone Star State, the Democratic candidate for the White House told a cheering crowd at an outdoor rally in the Civic Center: "I don't think the people of Texas will be fooled by the promises of carpet baggers and fair weather friends. Texans know them for what they are—the faint of heart, the friends of reaction, the men of little vision. . . ." Calling for repudiation of Gov. Allan Shivers and other Texas Democrats who are backing Eisenhower, Stevenson declared: "It would be a national tragedy if Texas—the very citadel of the idea of freedom of the seas, freedom of trade, freedom for America to walk her way in the world, not alone but with others—now cast her vote for contraction, timidity, indecision and isolationism. Reception Delights Followers The reception the Illinois governor got in Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and here in Houston delighted his followers. Party regulars like House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas predicted the state will remain in the Democratic fold at next month's election. Police Lt. J. E. Abernathy estimated Stevenson's crowd at the Houston Civic Center at 12,000 persons. Mayor Oscar Holcombe, however, estimated the crowd at 15,000 to 18,000. Eisenhower campaigned in Houston last Tuesday. He spoke at the Civic Center, too, and drew a crowd which newsmen estimated at about 15,000 persons, although Police Inspector W. P. Haley figured the turnout at 65,000. Stevenson was introduced by Senator Tom Connally of Texas, who told the crowd he had "the honor to present a great American and a great Democrat." And the senator declared the Democrats of Texas "will not tolerate the principles of disloyalty"—an obvious dig at the state's party rebels. "You don't want a change that will bring misery and hardship," Connally declared. The crowd roared a welcome and the band blared "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" as Stevenson walked to the rostrum. Stevenson also got a friendly, rousing greeting from a large crowd (police said about 30,000) in a parade through the downtown area. Crowd Howls, Yells "The crowd howled and yelled 'Four it on, Adlai!' when the governor, in his speech, said Eisenhower had handed 'a bottom-top' promotion 'to that old ruster, Bob Taft,' the GOP senator from Ohio. Stevenson contends Taft has taken over Eisenhower's campaign. Before coming to Houston, Stevenson told a wildly cheering crowd at the hallowed Alamo shrine in San Antonio that he has nothing but contempt for "whining politicians" who call the Korean War unnecessary. He spoke there after being praised by 83-year-old John Nance Garner, former vice president, as a man as "well-qualified and equipped to go to the White House as anyone nominated by either party in the last 50 years." Stevenson aides weighed Garner's (Continued on Page Eight)

STEVENSON'S TEXT FOR ALAMO ADDRESS

SAN ANTONIO —(P)—Following is the text of the address prepared for delivery at the Alamo in San Antonio Saturday by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson: Like many who have made this pilgrimage before me, I stand before these battle-scarred walls with a profound sense of reverence and awe. For this is a hallowed place. It has been hallowed, to the extent that mere human beings can sanctify any place, by the unflinching sacrifice of life itself in a noble and unselfish cause. The men who died here accepted that fate by a deliberate and clear-eyed decision. They were under no compulsion of military discipline. Each man had to make the choice for himself, supported only by God and his own conscience. When William Barrett Travis drew a line with the point of his sword on the dirt floor and invited all who wished to die with him to step across it, every hero in that immortal company knew exactly what he was doing—and why. They knew that the road to escape stretched clear before them; and they refused to take it. Even Jim Bowie, crippled and ill, asked his comrades to lift his cot across that line of death. Immortal Literature This story will never be forgotten so long as any American gathers his children about him to read them their immortal literature and tell them of the spirit which has made this country great. In the truest sense, the men of the Alamo will never die. They will live forever in the memory of freemen, for they fought themselves into immortality with a courage of no ordinary sort. This kind of martyrdom—this sacrifice by deliberate choice—is possible only when men are caught up by a truly magnificent ideal. Men do not die that way for selfish interest. The Texans who stood together inside these walls were not fighting for mere property, or self-advancement, or personal glory. Their cause was not simply a struggle between two nations, as many people wrongly believe. On the contrary, many men of Spanish blood—such as Enrique Esparazo, Juan Seguin, and Lorenzo de Zavala—stood shoulder to shoulder with Travis, Houston, and Austin in the crusade which found its climax on this spot. Fighting For Freedom They understood that they were fighting for something more precious than the fertile lands of Texas, even more precious than nationhood. They were fighting for (Continued on Page Eight)

Russian Yields No Ground On Question Of Truce Pact

UNITED NATIONS —(P)— Andrei Y. Vishinsky Saturday dimmed Western hopes for a break in Korea by warmly supporting a Polish peace plan containing proposals already rejected by the United Nations Command. In one of the most restrained speeches he has yet made during the opening policy debates in the UN General Assembly, the Soviet foreign minister said the Polish plan "is the road to a settlement of the Korean question." He urged the delegates to take that course and astounded them by refraining from offering, with the usual fanfare, a program direct from Moscow. The plan proposed Friday by Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzyszewski of Soviet-dominated Poland contained a provision for the forced repatriation of prisoners of war. That has been the chief stumbling block in the armistice talks in Panmunjom, with the UN adamantly refusing to accept it. The remainder of his speech was filled with the usual Russian blasts at the United States, germ warfare, capitalism, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a host of other subjects.

Cactus Jack Garner Forecasts Victory For Democrats At Breakfast In Uvalde

Stevenson's speech was chatty and informal. He bragged on the breakfast of pheasant, ham, bacon, gravy, eggs and rice that he had just eaten with Garner in Uvalde. He called it "Ovalde," not "Uvalde" as most Texans do. "Then he said: 'I'd be too fat to leave if I stayed much longer.' And a ripple of laughter flowed through the crowd of 200 to 300 gathered under the huge live oak trees. Stevenson had warm words for Connally, Johnson and Rayburn, referring to the speaker as "the President's boss." Rayburn predicted the Democrats would win in Texas if the people will go to the polls and vote "because the people know how to vote." "We don't want to go back to Hoover because in this dry country rabbits are pretty poor," Rayburn said. Among the breakfast guests was Mrs. H. H. Wehnert Seguin, national Democratic committeewoman from Texas, who is supporting Stevenson. The national committeeman, Wright Morrow, Houston, has resigned because he could not back the national party's nominee. Home-made welcome signs were hoisted when the Stevenson special rolled into Uvalde from Dallas. Delegations were here from many South Texas towns. Garner, 83, was spry as usual, dressed nattily in a grey suit with a lustrous red, tan and white tie. Stevenson doubled back to San Antonio, where he made two speeches. Swiss Girl Enrolls In University Plan

NASHVILLE, TENN. (AP)—Two years ago Claire Schlatter of Switzerland was a high school girl here, one of 22 carefully selected European youths who came to Nashville as guests of Youth Incorporated to help further international understanding.

Now 19, Claire flew back here from Switzerland recently to enter Vanderbilt University as a freshman. She was met at the plane by many of the friends she made two years ago. "Coming to Vanderbilt has been my greatest ambition," she beamed.

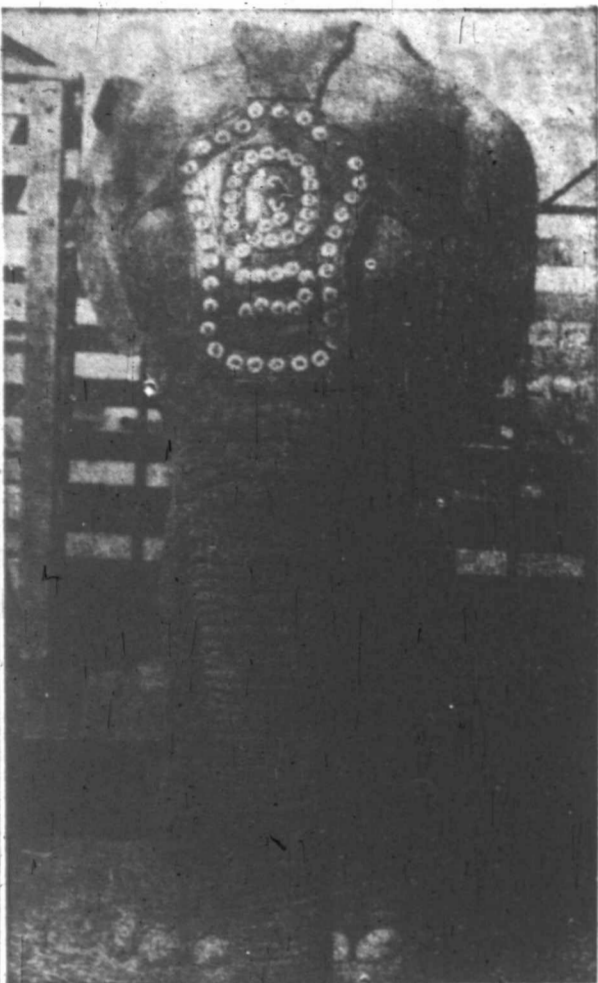

Last year Vanderbilt offered scholarships to all 22 of the Europeans. Claire was the first to take up the offer.

Curtis Wants The Impossible: End Of Movie-Plugging Tour

By ERKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Exclusively Yours: It's a trick even Houdini couldn't do, but Tony Curtis, who's playing the famed magician in "Houdini," would like to make the big movie-plugging tour disappear forever.

Tony is "agin" the personal-appearance policy when it's just a device for dragging moviegoers into theaters, and makes this fuller explanation: "It's all getting too commercial. The public is beginning to resent it. I say it's fine to send stars out to help raise money for cancer research, to urge people to vote, to talk to the kids who are in trouble, or something. I want to do more than just plug my pictures and I think most actors feel the same way."

Lana Turner and Fernando Lamas are humming "It Was Just One of Those Things" about their busted romance. But now pals are recalling neither ever admitted discussing marriage during the romantic phase.

Maybe MOM and Mario Lanza should get together on their stories. Lanza is telling friends that he's made his peace with the studio and will definitely star in "The Student Prince" after the first of the year.

Film writer Oliver Crawford, in answer to a query about a certain movie queen's age, flipped, "She's somewhere in her middle thirties."

Rita Hayworth's losing Aly Khan, but not Glenn Ford as her leading man. There will be more pictures co-starring Rita and Glenn. The actor, who's been accused of quarreling with Rita, slipped me the word on the set of "The Man From the Alamo" at U-I, and added: "The stories that Rita and I did not get along when we were making 'Affair in Trinidad' are a lot of hokey. So are the stories that we feuded afterwards. We're good friends."

A wealthy New York businessman is the reason for the sparkle in Denise Darcel's eyes. Tom Neal is telling Londoners that he will be Hedy Lamar's co-star in the "Great Loves" telefilm series to be made in Italy. Ann Sheridan, 18 pounds lighter, will dance for the first time in years in U-I's "Vermilion O'Bole".

The extent of Hollywood's head-chopping of stars in favor of new faces is more than eyebrow-lifting at Paramount. Of 48 big names under contract in 1947, only four are left—Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Liz Scott and Bill Holden.

Hoover Describes New Deal As American Red Incubator

NEW YORK—(AP)—Herbert Hoover came out of brief political retirement Saturday night to describe the Democratic New Deal as an incubator of the Communist Party in America.

He charged that in the first 10 years after New Deal recognition of Russia the Communist Party in this country grew six times its previous size—from 13,000 members to 80,000.

Hoover's prepared nationwide television and radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting System interrupted what he called his "final retirement from political activities."

"I have done so at General Eisenhower's request," he declared. "I have done so because I believe General Eisenhower and the Republican ticket should be elected."

He came back, he added, "to refute the myriad of falsehoods and misrepresentations in this campaign."

For example, Hoover said, Republican administrations have been branded corrupt on the strength of the Harding Administration. Replied Hoover:

"There were nine men involved in the Harding episode. The other members of the Administration were aghast. They determined to pursue these men implacably."

Only One Escapes

"Before we had finished with them, two of them had committed suicide, one died while awaiting trial, four landed in prison, and one escaped by a twice-hung jury."

"Can the perpetrators of the present mess in Washington point to any such vigorous house-cleaning?"

"In the past 20 years of Democratic Administration, there have been over 300 cases of congressional or administrative condemnation or public exposure of every variety of transgression of national honor."

"It appears that except for cases forced by congressional committees, so far less than 25 persons have landed in jail."

"Washington nowadays seems a neither aghast or implacable."

Besides communism and corruption, Hoover also detailed point-by-point replies to three criticisms of the Republican Party which he belied "false misrepresentations and falsehoods."

Replies To Criticisms

Hoover listed these criticisms and his replies as follows:

1. "That the Republican Party is the party of privilege and the tool of Wall Street or 'big business.'"

Hoover recited legislation under Republican administrations such as the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, interstate commerce regulation, pure food and drug controls and many others.

"I may sum up that of the 18 major acts regulating business, by erecting standards of conduct, 12 were of Republican origin and four originated under Cleveland and Wilson."

"Does the Republican record look like the tool of 'big business' or privilege?"

The Great Depression

2. "Misrepresentation that the Republicans created the great depression and then did nothing about it."

Hoover replied that the depression started elsewhere in the world and "its major violence came from the inevitable bankruptcy of Europe as the aftermath of the first World War . . ."

"Most outstanding economists are agreed that Republican measures brought beginnings of the recovery in July, 1932. But our recovery then in motion was reversed by a wholly unnecessary panic of bank depositors."

"That was created by refusal of the incoming New Deal to cooperate with us in foreign and domestic remedial measures for four months after the election."

3. That the Republican Party is "reactionary and opposed to change."

Hoover cited Republican legislation in the field of labor, child labor, farm, housing, veterans, civil service and prison legislation, asking after each point:

"Was this reactionary?"

Serious Drouths Cause Mounting Loss In Nation's Top Food Producing Areas

KANSAS CITY —(AP)—A large part of the bread and meat basket of the nation is in the grip of a drouth and even good rains now can't bring full relief.

Most of Texas, plagued by a lack of moisture for two years has been declared a disaster relief area.

"Worst since 1936 and steadily worsening," is the report from Oklahoma, also a disaster area.

The six-month period ending with September was the driest half-year on record in Kansas, which only a year ago was heavily damaged by floods.

In Missouri and parts of Nebraska and Iowa the situation is less serious, but there, too, cattle are being placed on winter feed earlier than usual and a 'rain' is needed for the fall planting of wheat and grass crops.

That is the general outlook in the section that supplies a big share of the bread and meat for the nation's dinner tables.

statistician for the federal and Kansas Departments of Agriculture describes the outlook for the 1952 wheat crop as the poorest since 1939.

Second, losses by cattlemen and farmers forced by lack of feed and water to send their stock to market. The October run of cattle, normally high, has been higher than usual at Midwest and Southwest livestock trade centers.

Third, inconvenience to rural as well as city dwellers. Many farmers in Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Kansas are being forced to haul water for their stock as well as home use. Texas' two largest cities, Houston and Dallas, have been forced to take emergency steps in fighting the drouth-provoked water shortages.

Baptists Plan Trip To State Convention

A number of Midland Baptists will be in Fort Worth four days, beginning Monday, to attend state Baptist sessions.

Included in the group will be the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Rev. and Mrs. Leon Woods, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church; and Rev. J. H. Goin, pastor of the Bellview Baptist Church.

The Texas Baptist Brotherhood Convention and the Women's Missionary Union will convene Monday. Tuesday, the three-day Baptist General Convention of Texas will open.

The Brotherhood convention will be highlighted by speeches of outstanding Baptist laymen and pastors. This will be the first year both laymen and pastors appear as principal speakers.

Another "first" at the Brotherhood meet will be a president's conference preceding the convention. This conference, to which each of the 1,500 Baptist brotherhood presidents in the state has been invited, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday.

Cattle shipments have broken records at the Oklahoma markets. Up to three or four weeks ago, sale cattle was of poorer quality, but now it is of higher quality, the type that normally would be kept on ranches for fattening. Like Texas, the state has been declared a disaster area. Some 1,800 carloads of hay have been ordered shipped to the western part of the state.

drouth, too, has resulted in damage to alfalfa seedings, adding another woe to stockmen already short of feed. Collins described the general situation as "serious," but pointed out the state was much drier during the "dust bowl" years of the 30's.

Missouri—In the southwestern part of the state there has been some early marketing of cattle due to lack of pasture. The summer drouth burned up the pastures and recent dry weather destroyed what little grass growth that developed after the summer dry spell.

Nebraska—The state had plentiful rains through July and August, but dry weather since then will leave the state without winter wheat pasture. Other pasture lands are dry. Here cattle are going on feed earlier than usual, but a big corn crop makes this logical.

Educators Win Oath Fight, Leave Posts

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—Seventeen educators who left the University of California because of a loyalty oath controversy have won their fight against taking the oath but whether they will return to their jobs there is problematical.

A spokesman for the group, Dr. Edwin C. Tolman, said Saturday they now are scattered so widely that it would be impossible to determine immediately what their plans are. Dr. Tolman, a psychologist of note, has been teaching at Yale. All 17 individuals have taken jobs elsewhere.

The group won its victory when the State Supreme Court unanimously held unconstitutional a special loyalty oath ordered into effect two years ago by regents.

Amid the boiling controversy, the regents junked their special oath but not until after it had been challenged in court.

The court decision formally outlaws special oaths by agencies of state, county and local government and holds that the Legislature has the sole power to impose such requirements.

At the same time the court upheld the Levering Act, which requires all employees of state, county and local government to take an oath of allegiance to the Constitution, to swear that they are not members of any organization advocating violent overthrow of government and to list any such organizations to which they may have belonged in the five years prior to the oath taking.

This oath the 17 must take if they return to university jobs, the high court ruled. The regents are required to reinstate them if they comply with the Levering Act.

Several Being Held In Robbery Slayings Of Grocer, Children

CHESTER, CALIF. —(AP)—Pumas County District Attorney Bern James Saturday said "several people" are being held for investigation into the slayings of a man and three children last week near here. James declined to say exactly how many were in custody.

The district attorney said "there are less than six" being investigated.

Only one has been identified. James said he is Martin Russell Ryan, Crescent Mills service station owner, held in Quincy, Pumas County seat.

James said he had contacted Jack Streeter, Reno, Nev., district attorney, in an attempt to have Louis Edmond Blair, who has been held in custody there several days, submit to a lie detector test Saturday night.

WTCC CONVENTION SPEAKERS—Three prominent West Texans will address the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its annual convention in Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday. They are J. B. Evetts Haley, director of the Institute of Americanism at Texas Tech and a former Midland resident, and State Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

Cowboy History Presented In Authentic Photographs

An authentic photographic history of the Texas cowboy as he lived and worked half a century ago has been put into an unusual new book, "Life on the Texas Range," published by the University of Texas Press.

Included in the book which has an October 19 publication date, are 80 photographs taken about 50 years ago by the late Erwin E. Smith. The prints from which the pictures in the book were reproduced were made in 1936 by Smith for the Texas Centennial celebration and are now a part of the permanent display of Smith's range photography in the Texas Memorial Museum in Austin.

Text accompanying the photographs is by J. Evetts Haley, Texas cowman and author, and a personal friend of Smith.

Born in the Red River country of Texas in 1886, Smith learned to love the range life as a boy and determined to preserve it through sculpture and photography. Using a simple box camera, he lived for a decade or so on the great ranches of Texas—the Matador, the Spurs, the Blocks, the JA, the LS and others — photographing the many elements which made up life on the range.

Cowboy Is Worker
Main objective of his work was to portray the cowboy as he really was—a working hand—and the range life as he saw it—simple, direct and honest as hard work can make it, and yet at times as colorfully dramatic as zestful living, danger and death can provide.

After Smith's death in 1947, about 2,000 of his photographic plates were given to the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

The collection in "Life on the Texas Range" includes shots of the cowboys on the trail drive, working the cutting horses, eating around the chuck wagon and at branding time.

Also portrayed are some of the dramatic moments of the West—the coming of the nesters and the stringing of the barbed wire fences. One of the most unusual pictures is a night campfire. Having no modern flash equipment, Smith threw gunpowder on the campfire to produce sufficient light.

To capture the detail and beauty of the pictures, they have been reproduced in gravure on specially-made paper.

Haley, who is known for his Western books, is the author of "Charles S. Goodnight," "Jeff Milton: A Good Man With a Gun," and "The XIT Ranch of Texas."

Water Shortage At Dallas May Be Worse Than In 1911

By The Associated Press
Worried Dallas citizens began reporting water wasting neighbors to the police Saturday.
They were frightened by an engineer's opinion that the city's water shortage might become worse than in the 1911 drought—when the precious liquid had to be rationed by the bucket.
Fifty miles east of Dallas, the little City of Wills Point discovered it had only a 44-day supply left and banned all use of water except for household purposes.
Army engineers took a look at sprawling Lake Texoma and said it had hit an all-time low but still wasn't in bad shape, with probably even enough water to help Dallas if the situation there got really desperate.
Dallas and Houston, Texas' two biggest cities with a combined population of well over a million, had taken emergency measures Saturday to conserve dwindling water supplies.
Their actions gave hearty emphasis to a situation that already had developed through months of drought in many smaller Texas cities.
Dallas passed an emergency ordinance providing fines of $50 to $100 for first offenders caught using water for such things as car washing and lawn sprinkling. Second offenders can have their water cut off.
Police said they received more than a hundred complaints Saturday. Their first step was to warn offenders. Next they'll start making arrests.

Houston's water shortage was industrial. It didn't affect the city's supply for homes, which comes from wells. Utility Director Frank N. Baldwin got the San Jacinto River Authority to reduce its take of water from shrinking Sheldon Reservoir, the industrial source, by about six million gallons a day until the shortage eases.

John Winder, chief engineer of the Dallas Water Department, said the present shortage might become worse than the one in 1911.
The Dallas of 41 years ago had 90,000 residents. Now it has at least 450,000 people using city-owned water. Army engineers say there's only a four-month supply left in Lake Dallas, the city's main source.
In 1911, horse-drawn wagons went through the streets, stopping in front of homes while drivers dipped water into waiting buckets.

ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME

DENISON —(P)— A Denison housewife called police and wanted some help in identifying it.
Officers were reasonably certain of the animal's identity as they approached the house and certain of it once they got inside.
"But it's doesn't have a white stripe down its back," said the perplexed housewife.
"It's a civet cat, not a skunk," the officers said. "It may be spotted instead of striped, but it still smells."

Six Killed, 12 Hurt In African Race Riots

DURBAN, SOUTH AFRICA —(P)— The worst race rioting in South Africa since 1949 broke out Saturday in Port Elizabeth, killing six persons or more and injuring a dozen, at the suburban New Brighton Railway Station.
Considerable property was burned or smashed.

Young Big Spring Girl Sells Champion Steer For $2,959

DALLAS —(P)— The Adolphus Hotel paid $2,959 Saturday for a 985-pound grand champion steer at the State Fair of Texas' junior livestock auction.
The highest cattle price offered, it amounted to $3 a pound, and went to Ann White, 14, of Big Spring.

There were 645 head of swine, sheep, and cattle up for auction from one of the biggest junior stock shows ever held at the fair.
Kenny McEarchern, Plainview, received $5.25 a pound for his 217-pound grand champion Poland China barrow from Southland Life Insurance Co. B&B Cafe paid $5.50 a pound for a grand champion Southdown lamb weighing 74 pounds and owned by Thomas Pape, Fredericksburg. Raphael Brown, Cuero, sold a 184-pound grand champion barrow from the junior negro pig show to Swift & Company for $4.25 a pound.

The alligator, a four-footer, was stolen Friday night from his pen at the rear of an Orange residence.

Truck Hits Marching Squad, Kills Airman

AMARILLO —(P)— An Air Force truck that plowed into a column of marching men killed one and injured 16 others Friday night at Amarillo Air Force Base.
Airman Harold Breitenstein, 20, Farmington, Iowa, was killed when the pickup truck, driven by Sgt. Billy Robertson, hit the rear of a column of about 40 jet mechanic school students.

Airman Darrell Meadows, 19, remained in a critical condition today. John Toland, 22, Philadelphia; Tommy Watta, 21, Princeton, W. Va.; and John Wiley, 20, Lynn, Mass., were in serious conditions.
Oran Castro, 21, Pickens, W. Va., and S. D. Treaster, 19, Milroy, Pa., were hospitalized but attendants said their condition was not serious. Ten other airmen were released after emergency treatment.
Robertson was treated for shock. He told base officials he was traveling about 25 miles an hour when his truck struck the marchers.

West Texas Rain Gauges Are Filled, But It's All Dust

By The Associated Press
Rain gauges which the Weather Bureau has spotted all over Texas are fast becoming as obsolete as touring car side curtains.
Saturday another day passed with the gauges gathering nothing but dust. It climaxed another dry week for parched and water-short Texas.
The forecast for Sunday is continued fair without a rain cloud in sight.
Temperatures Sunday are due to be a bit warmer in the Panhandle and South Plains than they were Saturday but it probably will be a bit cooler over the rest of the state. Afternoon temperatures Saturday ranged from 68 at Big Spring to 87 at Presidio, Laredo and Alice. Most cities had high 70's or low 80's.

'Best For Country' If He Leaves White House, Truman Says

NEW HAVEN, CONN. —(P)— President Truman Saturday told why he decided not to try for another four years in the White House.
The President, until now has said only that he didn't run this time only because he wanted to retire and enjoy himself.
Saturday he went further and said he thought it would be best for the country and the Democratic Party if he stepped aside in favor of someone else.

Stevenson's Text—

an idea—the idea of human freedom.

This struggle is never entirely won, and it can never be entirely lost so long as the spirit of Travis and Bowie survives anywhere in the world. It is the same battle we have fought over and over again. It is the same cause we are defending today on the shell-ton hills of Korea.

I think our young men who hold the line of freedom in Korea—and none among them are more gallant than your Texans—understand this just as clearly as the men of the Alamo understood it 116 years ago. They know that the new autocracy of the Kremlin is an evil and a dangerous thing. They know that tyranny must be halted, at whatever cost whenever it marches or creeps or crawls against the liberties of free men. They know that if the beatitudes of military communism had not been stopped in Korea, we soon would have met them in another place, and another, and, at the end, perhaps on our own soil.

America's Mightiest Weapon

This understanding, this willingness to defend the simple idea of liberty which is so dramatically symbolized by the Alamo, is the mightiest weapon America can ever possess. If we ever lose it, all our planes and tanks and atom bombs can avail us nothing.

In the end, the only true defense we have is the willingness of free men—knowing full well what their choice may mean—to step across a little line, drawn by a sword-point on hallowed ground.

For this reason I have nothing but contempt for those whining politicians who try to tell us that the American people don't know what they are fighting for and have been fighting for more than 150 years. When they tell us the struggle in Korea is unnecessary and meaningless, then they ask us to deny the very meaning of America itself. Their craven words mock the men of the Alamo and our sons in Korea who are defending the same ancient ideal.

No Spears Of Straw

It would be easy, and perhaps it would be politically smart, for me to hint obscurely that there is some quick and simple way to end this struggle. It would be pleasant if I could tell you that we can safely withdraw and leave all the fighting to the Asians or the Europeans. But I will leave such deceptive suggestions to someone else. I do not come here to Texas to fight for voters with spears of straw and swords of ice.
That is why I tell you bluntly that there is a no easy escape from all our troubles, there is no cheap and painless shortcut to peace. We are engaged in a conflict with forces of darkness which have engulfed seven hundred million human souls. We confront an enemy who is crafty, implacable, and far stronger than any foe America has ever known.

Like Santa Anna, he is an enemy who offers no quarter. He cannot be appeased; he can never be bought off by the surrender of territory or by the betrayal of some trusting ally, even if we were capable of such treachery. For his aim is total conquest—not merely of the earth, but of the human mind. He seeks to destroy the very idea of freedom, the concept of God himself.

Beware Soft Promises

Such an enemy cannot be defeated by name calling, by character assassination, by the sowing of distrust among our own people. He cannot be shooed away with the Republican brand of political DDT, guaranteed to contain no taxes, no anxiety, and no effort.

If any man promises you a soft path to the future—if he invites you to vote for him, and then relax in a tax-free paradise—then beware. In times of crisis our leaders have not promised beguiling comforts. Like William Travis, they have led you, invited you, across that line which is the mark of greatness—and you have always emerged victorious.

This invitation does not come to every generation. And it is our rare privilege to be born in an age of testing and decision.

We are living in one of the great watershed periods of history, which may well fix the pattern of civilization for many generations to come. God has set for us an awesome mission: nothing less than the leadership of the free world.

Coke Stevenson Will Vote For Ike

AUSTIN —(P)— Coke R. Stevenson, former governor, has decided to vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower, State Headquarters for Texas Democrats for Eisenhower said Saturday.

The headquarters issued a press release quoting Stevenson as saying, "There is no question that Texas' Ike is best qualified to lead in the dangerous, momentous years ahead."

Stevenson, now living on his ranch near Telegraph, ran for the Senate against Lyndon B. Johnson in 1948. After losing to Johnson by 87 votes in the second primary, Stevenson supported Johnson's Republican opponent, Jack Porter, in the general election. Porter lost.

Adlia Says Ike Win Would Be Tragedy

kind words as a big boost for their man. The veteran Texan politician and the Democratic nominee had breakfast together at Garner's home in Uvalde.

Stevenson traveled by train from Uvalde to San Antonio, where he got a terrific reception, then flew on to Houston. He returned by plane to his campaign base in Springfield Saturday night.

Here in Houston, Stevenson rapped hard again at GOP Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who the governor contends has taken over Eisenhower's campaign.
"You remember the shouting and the shouting last July when the general came in person to Dallas in order to chastise the Texas friends of Senator Taft," Stevenson told his audience.
"He said that any businessman who used the Taft tactics would be sent to prison; and he called the Taft people a group of rustlers trying to steal the Texas birthright.

"Before the convention the general talked about a 'top-to-bottom' cleanup of the Republican Party. But what he has actually done is hand bottom-to-top promotion to that old rustler, Bob Taft."

Stevenson touched again on the controversial issue of federal versus states' rights to the potentially oil rich submerged coastal lands.

Stevenson's refusal to back the claims of Texas and other states to the Tidelands was a principle factor in Shivers' decision to support Eisenhower.

"We are bound to disagree on some things like some of us do on this submerged land issue," said Stevenson. "But most of us are smart enough not to throw in a hand that holds four aces just because we don't like the fifth card. Oil Not Big Stake

"And those of us who are real Democrats know that it isn't salt water oil that is the big stake in this election. It is whether the leadership of America is going to stay in the hands of a party which believes that one thing more important than everything else—old included—is people, American men, women and children."

Stevenson's welcome in San Antonio was a rousing one.

At the Alamo the shout was "Viva Palmer" estimated a crowd of from 9,000 to 10,000 was massed before the historic Texas shrine. He figured about 2,000 were on hand to greet Stevenson at the rail station, and that about 25,000 others banked the streets on the downtown area.

Before arriving at the Alamo, Stevenson spoke briefly at Milam Square in San Antonio's Spanish-speaking Mexican quarter, where Palmer estimated the crowd at 8,000.

At Milam Square, the Democratic nominee was greeted with lusty "Viva Adlia!" cries. And he delighted his audience by greeting them, in return, in Spanish.

At the Alamo she shout was "Viva Stevenson," and the crowd thundered a welcome when he was introduced by Rep. Paul Kilday of Texas.

It was a warm, clear day with the temperature in the high 80's. The crowd applauded when the governor said that if this country had not moved against the Communists in Korea, "we would have had to meet them in another place, perhaps on our own soil."

Stevenson said the Communist enemy at home and abroad "cannot be shooed away by the Republican brand of DDT, guaranteed to contain no taxes, no anxiety and no effort." He added:

"If any man promises you a soft path to the future—if he invites you to vote for him, and then relax in a tax-free paradise—then beware."

Stevenson got his longest round of cheers at San Antonio when he declared, "I personally have never suffered from the Shivers." The reference was to Governor Shivers.

The crowd roared, laughed and gave a sustained cheer.

When Stevenson was given a broad-brimmed Texas hat, he put it on and quipped: "After I've worn this a bit, I expect I'll leave Texas walking bowlegged."

Bouncing back from their crushing, 48-6 defeat by Michigan State to fight furiously every minute, the Aggies came from behind on the flying feet of Connie Magourik, who led the Cadet payoff charge in the lengthening shadows.

Mississippi State Buries Kentuckians

STATE COLLEGE, MISS.—(AP)—Jackrabbit Jack Parker, Mississippi State quarterback, pranced for two touchdowns and three story-book passes for two more to crush Kentucky, 27-14, Saturday before a homecoming day football crowd of 18,000 fans.

Twice the spry Parker, calling his fourth game of major college football, weaved and toe-danced behind the line of scrimmage dogged by Kentucky tacklers before pulling the trigger on touchdown passes.

One was a 50-yard spiral that gained 39 yards for the first Mississippi State score and the other was a 19-yard heave that bounced from one Mississippi State receiver to another who made it a second State touchdown.

Twice more Parker's throwing arm set up scores carried over by other State backs.

Kentucky was plagued by fumbles—six of them—and untimely penalties that clogged its offensive machine. The one bright moment in Kentucky's dark afternoon was the magnificent running of sophomore Allen Feitch, a fullback.

Fast action poured out in the big second period when State scored three of its TD's and Kentucky crossed the goal line once.

WEST VIRGINIA WINS

CUMBERLAND, MD.—(AP)—A 95-yard downfield march and a spectacular punt blocked by sophomore guard John Ziek provided West Virginia with the spark to roll over Washington and Lee Saturday by a 31-13 margin in a Southern Conference game.

SIDE SADDLE—Warren Lehr of the Browns hitch-hiked on Ray Poole to such an extent that the New York Giants' end dropped a pass from Charlie Conerly in the third quarter of the professional football game played before 51,858 partisan fans at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. (NEA)

Bears Come Back To Dump Raiders After Early Score

LUBBOCK—(AP)—Thrice-beaten Texas Tech threw a scare into Baylor Saturday night, taking a 10-0 lead at the half, but the Bears came back with a strong fourth quarter finish to take a 21-10 victory.

Shifty Halfback L. G. Dupre broke the game wide open with two quarter touchdowns. His first came on a twisting, hip-shifting 60-yard run and Baylor held its first lead, 14-10.

But for over 30 minutes, it was a Red Raider show and the 20,000 fans lapped it up eagerly. Tech tried a field goal from the 34 early in the first period, but it was far short.

Cavazos Scores
Tech held on the ensuing series of drives and started a touchdown drive that carried 74 yards, with Halfback Bobby Cavazos sprinting the final 17 yards.

The passing of Jerry Johnson, the receiving of Cavazos and Vic Spooner and the running of Jim Turner and Cavazos sparked the drive.

Baylor threatened on a 65-yard drive, 47 yards of it coming on a pass from Billy Hooper to Dupre, but John Thompson of Tech broke up the drive with an interception on the Raider 15.

The Raiders went 74 yards to the Baylor seven, where Russ Barnett recovered Cavazos' fumble to break up the drive. Moments later a fourth down pass fell incomplete and Baylor was penalized to the 14 for having an ineligible receiver downfield.

Halfback Skeeter Lewis picked up four and Tackle Jimmy Williams came in to attempt a field goal, kicking from the 17. His boot spliced the uprights and the Raiders held a 10-0 lead with three seconds left before the half.

The second half was all Baylor, with Tech getting as far as the Baylor 30 only as time ran out in the game.

Coody Sparkles
After a punting duel between Tech's Turner and Baylor's Davidson, the Bears opened a drive that was sparked by Jerry Coody's 28-yard punt return to the Raider 38.

Allen Jones, Dupre and Don Carpenter carried to the 22 and Jones raced 21 yards to the one to set up the first score. Davidson plunged across.

Baylor opened the fourth quarter on its own 38 following Turner's fine punt. After a play, Dupre broke over right guard, reversed his field, picked up fine blocking and sprinted 60 yards for the leading tally.

With two-thirds of the quarter gone, Baylor scored again, going 59 yards on nine plays, aided by an offside penalty. Dick Parma ripped off a 15-yard gain, Davidson hit Charley Bristow for a nine yard pass for a first down on the 35. Davidson, Coody and Allen Jones took turns with the carrying on this drive. Dupre got the final 18 yards for the clinching tally.

Sooners Blast Kansas, 42-20

LAWRENCE, KAN.—(AP)—Oklahoma's magnificent Sooners, with football magician Eddie Crowder faking and passing in superb form, moved a notch nearer their fifth successive Big Seven Conference championship Saturday by blasting the Kansas Jayhawks, 42-20.

A capacity crowd of about 40,000 saw Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahomans win their third victory of the year against one tie over a Kansas outfit that suffered its first loss in five games. The victory left Oklahoma with a conference record of a tie with Colorado and one triumph. Kansas now has two league successes and one loss.

The Sooners spotted Kansas a seven point lead early in the game by bobbing the ball deep in their own territory. But after catching up at 7-7, they barreled ahead for a 14-7 quarter, and a 21-13 half-time lead. They were never caught by the eager Kansans.

Crowder didn't show in the scoring summary but his ball handling tricks and spot passing always had Oklahoma on the move. Billy Vessels and Merrill Green, both halfbacks, each scored twice for the Sooners.

Buddy Leake, the nation's leading scorer with 46 points through last week, got a touchdown and two conversions before leaving the game with a chipped ankle bone in the second quarter. End Max Boydston on a 59-yard pass play from Crowder for the other touchdown.

It was Oklahoma's thirty-first Big Seven contest without a loss. The Sooners were last beaten by Kansas, 16-13, in 1946. The worst the Sooners have done since then were ties with Kansas in 1947, and with Colorado this year.

Kansas wasn't as bad as the score indicated Saturday in a rough hard offensive struggle. Key men from both teams left the field with injuries.

The Jayhawks, with Charley Hoag, Jerry Robertson and Bob Brandeberry all scoring touchdowns, trimmed their handicap to a single point, 21-20, early in the third quarter and hung on gamely until the finish.

Cowden Bullpups Log 23-6 Victory Over San Jacinto

The Cowden Junior High Bullpups, mixing a ground attack with a wide open passing game good for long yardage, bewildered the San Jacinto Junior High Mustangs at Memorial Stadium Saturday night in a fast-moving game that ended 23-6. The versatile Bullpups were never headed, although the Mustangs came back strong in the second half.

Early in the initial quarter, hard luck hit the Mustangs: Backed up on their own five-yard stripe, one of their backs was trapped in the end zone by Bill Marshall of the Bullpups for a safety. Except for the 2-0 lead picked up there by Cowden, the first stanza was a see-saw affair, with both elevens marching up and down the field.

In the second period, Cowden punted to San Jacinto, and the receiver fumbled the ball on the 22. The Bullpups recovered, and seconds later Melvin Curtis ran it across for Cowden. Larry Sapp converted, and Cowden led 9-0. Another Cowden threat on the San Jacinto 15-yard stripe was broken up when a Mustang pounced on a Bullpup fumble.

But the Bullpups were not through. In the same period, a Larry Sapp aerial to Jim Owens was good for 30 yards and another Cowden tally. Wahoo McDaniel converted, and the Bullpups were ahead 16-0. Minutes later in the final part of the second stanza, another Sapp to Owens pass clicked for 35 yards and the final Bullpup score. McDaniel converted.

The first half ended with Cowden enjoying a 23-0 lead over a San Jacinto eleven that could not get its passing attack in working shape.

An aroused San Jacinto squad came back on the field in the second half to fight Cowden on equal terms. Starting from their own 33 in the third quarter the Mustangs marched to the Cowden 13, mainly on runs by Frank Midkiff and Ray Phillips. Larry Cooper scored from there for San Jacinto, but the extra point was missed.

The fourth period featured long gains, but neither team could hit paydirt. Cowden scored once on a run by Harris that was called back.

Bill Marshall starred for Cowden on defense, blocking two kicks besides his safety. Larry Sapp, Bill Harris and Jim Owen were ground gainers for the Bullpups.

For San Jacinto, there were Stu Chancellor, Frank Midkiff, and Ray Phillips shining on offensive play. Buddy Whitley, Jerry Wilton, and Dickie Mills were outstanding on defense. Whitley also ran well.

Penn Knocks Down Inspired Columbia

NEW YORK—(AP)—Powerful Pennsylvania, passed dizzy for three quarters by Columbia's Mitch Price, roused itself for two sledge-hammer blows in the final period Saturday to smash down the inspired Lions, 27-17, in an Ivy League football game.

Glenn Adams, a triple threat quarterback, and Donald Zimmer, a bull-like line-wrecker, rallied the staggering Penn forces in the final minutes to stave off an impending defeat.

Seven Of Brooklyn Hurlers Are Rookies

BROOKLYN—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers fought down the National League pennant stretch with 12 pitchers. Seven of them were first year men, otherwise known as rookies.

Only pitchers with a full year's previous experience in the majors were Preacher Roe, Ralph Branca, Carl Erskine and Clyde King. Clem Labine could be classified as a veteran although he wasn't brought up until late in 1951.

Kermit Rolls To Celebrate Homecoming

By COPE ROUTH
Reporter-Telegram Staff

KERMIT—The Kermit High School Yellow Jackets celebrated their homecoming here Saturday night by overpowering the Andrews Mustangs, 35 to 0, in the opening game of District 8-AA gridiron campaign.

Pretty Imogene Bolf sat on her throne on the sidelines and reigned as the homecoming queen while the touchdown parade was unfolded before her and 5,000 fans.

Ever her husband, Center James Bolf, joined in the spirit of the occasion by intercepting a pass in the third quarter and returning it 25 yards for Kermit's fourth touchdown.

The Mustangs were outclassed from the opening minute of the ball game. They never pushed beyond the Kermit 35 yard line except for one fumble recovery in the third period.

Barnett Goes Over
The Yellow Jackets scored in the first three minutes of play when Jackie Barnett, a Kermit end, took in one of Bobby Almond's passes and went 24 yards for the touchdown.

In the second quarter, Almond climaxed a 73-yard drive by sneaking through the middle of the line for two yards and paydirt. In the third period Benny Carr, former Kermit fullback who switched to guard broke through and blocked Sonny Earle's punt on the Andrews 15 yards stripe and three plays later, Almond passed to Barnett in the end zone.

A few minutes later, Bolf waited for one of Earle's jump passes, grabbed it and ran for his touchdown. In the closing minutes of the ball game, Milton Mills, second string back, raced around the left end for 16 yards to climax a 66-yard touchdown drive.

The Yellow Jackets who had scored only three extra points out of 13 attempts previously made good on all five with Almond booting four of them and catching a pass for the fifth.

The Andrews attack, led by Carl Hollowell, ran up 115 yards compared to Kermit's 194 by rushing, and seven first downs to 11 for Kermit.

H-SU Takes North Texas

DENTON—(AP)—The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys came from behind Saturday night to beat North Texas State, 26-13.

A crowd of 7,500 watched the Eagles absorb their third straight loss.

North Texas scored in the first period when Gene Verkerk dropped a punt on the Hardin-Simmons 34 and eight plays later Ken Bahnen smashed over from the one-yard line.

In the second period, Mitchell Malouf climaxed a Hardin-Simmons drive by going over from the one-yard line. Arthur Cunningham intercepted a pass on the Hardin-Simmons 30 and ran to the North Texas 43 to set up another Cowboy score soon after. Rodney Williams made it in a 10-yard run.

In the fourth period Ogden Compton passed 19 yards to D. C. Andrews for the third Hardin-Simmons touchdown. North Texas State roared back with Bobby Hughes passing to Ken Hall for 41 yards and a touchdown. Hardin-Simmons got its final touchdown in the last 13 seconds with Joel Combs going 26 yards with a hand-off.

Bulldogs Overtake Berger For Second District Victory

Midland Comes Into Own With 20 To 7 Comeback

By COPE ROUTH
BORGER—The Bulldogs of Midland High School came into their own here Friday night as a well-rounded football team.

There have been easier games—like that 53-0 rout of Yaleta. And there have been closer games—like that frightening 24-13 victory over San Angelo.

But Friday night they spotted the Berger High School Bulldogs seven points in the opening minutes of the game and settled down to some serious work.

They puzzled through the first quarter over the versatile Berger defense and then turned loose a spectacular mixture of wide open football and tight, close-to-the-chest gridiron power.

And when the final gun sounded, the Bulldogs of Coach Tubgot Jones had marked up a solid 20-7 margin to keep their season's record clean and score their second consecutive District 1-AAA victory.

Big Larry Friday, the Bulldogs' power-packed quarterback, who has spent most of the season on the sidelines played most of the game Friday night and set the pace for the brilliant interference squadron.

Once that interference began tearing up, there was no stopping the fleet feet of Jesse Hatfield and Roy Kimsay and the crunching drives of Richard Spencer into the middle of the line.

It was the spectacular 51-yard end sweep by Kimsay which brought Midland back into the game in the second quarter, while Hatfield, ever dangerous on a deceptive reverse play, was the night's leading ground gainer with 83 yards in 14 carries.

The small band of Midland fans found more than a cold north wind to chill them in the opening minutes of play.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Berger eleven, sticking to the ground with off-tackle spurts and end sweeps, drove 67 yards to score.

With little Bubba Hillman working under the T, Eddie Ward and Raymond White gobbled up yardage at a fast pace and finally big J. D. Whisenunt plunged over from the one-yard line and Ward booted the extra point.

The game was less than three minutes old, and for the remainder of the quarter, Midland just couldn't come back.

Midland Nails
 Berger would throw a two-man line at the Bulldogs and then shift to a seven-man line and it was not until well in the second period that Midland began rolling.

It started with a 17-yard punt return by Russell Rutledge, who was finally down on the Midland 37.

Spencer, who carried the ball 17 times during the night and pounded out 43 yards, hit the line for a couple of drives which netted a first down and brought the Berger defenses in close.

Then the ball went back to Hatfield who handed it off to Kimsay on a reverse play which sent him around his own left end and down to the goal line 51-yards away.

Friday calmly booted the extra point to tie up the score.

As soon as Midland got its hands on the ball in the third period, another six points went up on the scoreboard.

With Friday as the field general, the Bulldogs drove 60 yards to score and they used everything they had. Hatfield would throw a pass to Kimsay or Robert Kealing and then Spencer would pound away at the line. Or, instead of passing, Hatfield would scoot around the end or cut back through tackle.

And this moved them down to the 13-yard line.

Spencer took over completely then. In six punches at the line, he had pounded his way the remaining distance, finally shoving himself through the middle from the one-yard line for the touchdown.

Friday Connects
 Again Friday connected with the placement and Midland led, 14-7.

The Berger drive was completely stalled now as the Midland defenders, with Paul Davis, Kenneth Schrum, Jerry Robby Cast, Bill Leonard, Bill Mims and Melton Jones as stubbers as mules, solved the riddle to the Berger ground game and air attack.

Again the Bulldogs drove back after Leonard, snatching the ball on the Berger 46-yard line, accounted for his first of two fumble recoveries of the night.

Hatfield started it off with a 12-yard pass to Mims and Kimsay duplicated the feat. Spivey crashed the middle for five and Hatfield raced around left end for 10 yards to put the ball on the one.

This time the ball went to Spivey and the big back just lumbered through a tiny slot in the middle of the line to score, two minutes after the fourth quarter opened.

Late in the final period, Berger tried to begin clicking again and they picked up two first downs in two plays. But Leonard smashed the effort on the next play by recovering Whisenunt's fumble on his own 16-yard line.

Gib Dawson Regains Form In Stinging Texas Triumph

AUSTIN—(AP)—Slippery Gib Dawson regained his 1951 running form Saturday to lead Texas to a devastating 44-7 victory over Arkansas.

The contest of Arkansas got the Longhorns off to a good start, while the Southwest Conference title, which many have picked Texas to win.

Apparently uncertain of which of its many offensive patterns to use, Arkansas gave up almost any hope for the championship by dropping its second league contest in three starts.

Dawson, a 175-pound senior who led the conference in scoring last year, had not crossed the goal line in four games this season.

He started making up for lost time in a hurry, rocketing through the line and around end for the first three Texas touchdowns. He also banged his toe into the ball for six straight extra points to finish the day with 24 points.

With a field goal and four conversions in previous games, Dawson now has rung up 31 points in five games, exactly half his record for last year.

Ochoa Pounds Over
 Big Dick Ochoa, Texas fullback, also hit pay dirt for the first time this season, pounding over from the one in the second period to give Texas a 28-0 halftime lead.

Arkansas pushed 69 yards in the third period, Murray Elton scoring on a six-yard dash around right end.

Texas Quarterback T. Jones and Substitute Halfback Larry Graham each hit for one yard and touchdowns as Texas ground down Arkansas in relentless fashion.

Guard Harley Sewell, rampaging from sideline to sideline on defense, added to Texas score when he chased Arkansas Quarterback Bob St. Pierre back from his 13 into the end zone in the fourth period for a safety.

So crushing was the Texas offense and so weak the Arkansas defense, Texas did not have to punt a single time.

The Longhorns ripped the Arkansas line at almost any spot it desired for good gains, piling up 388 yards rushing and taking to the air for 125 yards.

Scampers 25 Yards
 Texas held Arkansas to a net of 110 yards rushing and passing.

Dawson's niftiest scamper was his second touchdown run, 25 yards around right end.

He took off with the ball 20 times to rack up 121 yards for his day's work. Teammate Ochoa was close behind with 98 yards on 20 tries.

Texas 14 14 7 9-44
 Arkansas 0 0 7 0-7

Texas scoring: Touchdowns: Dawson 3, Ochoa, Jones, Graham. Conversions: Dawson 6, Safety, St. Pierre (tackled by Sewell).

Marfa Edges By Big Lake

BIG LAKE—By a narrow margin of 14 to 13, Marfa squeaked by Reagan County Friday night in a 6-A District encounter.

Drawing first blood in the initial quarter Charles Martin passed to Edward Compton for a total of 60 yards for a Reagan touchdown. Holmes' try for extra point was no good.

Jimmes of Marfa, in the second quarter, was rushed while trying to pass and scooted 20 yards to a touchdown. Pippen's try for extra point was true and the score was 7-0.

After a scoreless third quarter, Jerry Thompson took a pickout in the fourth and ran around end for the second Reagan County score. Jackie Holmes' kick was good to make the score 13-7.

Minutes later, Compton took another of Martin's bullet-like passes and raced 60 yards to score, but the play was called back on a penalty.

In a thrilling finish with only 15 seconds to go, Narvaratee took a 25-yard pass from Jimmes in the end zone for the winning Marfa score. Jimmes went around end for the extra point and the winning margin.

Cowden's Seventh Graders Defeated By Odessa's Bowie

The Cowden Junior High School seventh grade football team was edged 25 to 13 by Bowie of Odessa in a battle at Odessa Saturday morning.

Bowie unleashed a ground and aerial attack that rolled up a touchdown in the initial quarter, another in the second, and two others in the third quarter.

Cowden scored in the initial quarter with Lupe Hernandez and Gary Sanford working the ball down to scoring position from the 50. Sanford hit paydirt with an off-tackle dash to the right side from the five. Hernandez bucked the line for the point. The score was 19 to 7 at the half in Bowie's favor.

T-Bar intercepted a Bowie pass in the third quarter to pave the way for Cowden's second TD. Hernandez lugged the pigskin over the double stripes.

Garland Smith, linebacker and Larry Shepard, tackle played heads-up defensive play for Cowden.

Cowden will tangle with Crockett of Odessa at Broncho Stadium at 10 a.m. Saturday.

McCamey Badgers Scamper Over Injured Cranes, 38-13

MCCAMEY—Romping over an injury ridden Crane team, the McCamey Badgers won 38 to 13 here Friday night in a District 5-A conference game.

Halfback Charles Dixon put on a one man show, accounting for three of the six Badger scores.

Striking first in the initial quarter, McCamey scored with Jackie Bryant going through the middle for six yards. He missed the extra point try.

Pulling grand larceny in the second quarter, Lowell Wallace snatched the ball from Crane's Bryon Dennis as Crane threatened on McCamey's 10-yard line and went 90 yards for the second Badger touchdown. Bryant's try for the point was wide.

Taking advantage of a fumbled punt by the Badgers in the end zone, Ted Fields covered the ball for one of Crane's touchdowns. Charles Lively missed the point attempt.

Dixie's Thunder Over
 Not to be denied, McCamey thundered back before the half with Dixon going over from the six-inch line. Bryant missed his third point attempt.

In the third quarter, Dixon went six yards and Bryant finally split the uprights for the point. Dixon duplicated, going over again from the six and Bryant's kick was blocked.

Second touchdown of the night was scored by Bryant in the fourth quarter as he plunged over from the five. He added the point.

Barrelling over from the one-yard line, Lively scored for Crane. He kicked the point.

Already severely hurt by the absence of six starters with injuries, Crane suffered another blow as Tackle Bernard Mobbs was hospitalized with a neck injury.

Maryland Pours It On, Relaxes To Smother Navy

COLLEGE PARK, MD.—Maryland poured on all its might for three quarters Saturday and then relaxed for an easy seventeenth straight victory, 38-7, over a Navy team hitherto this season undefeated.

The packed house of 44,716 saw Quarterback Jack Scarbath and his fellow offensive dynamites blow Maryland ahead, 31-0, by the middle of the third quarter and then retire for the game.

The Maryland second string offensive added another touchdown in the third quarter and Navy didn't score until early in the last period.

Surprising Yale Downs Cornell, 13-0

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—(AP)—Yale's surprising football team won its third straight Ivy League victory Saturday by defeating Cornell, 13-0, with an offense built on Ed Molloy's sharp passes.

Yale scored its two touchdowns in less than two minutes in the second period. The first came at the end of a 65-yard march with Molloy carrying over on a one-yard sneak. The second resulted from a Cornell fumble a few moments later with Jim Armstrong scoring from the four-yard line.

BAYLOR FROSH WIN
AUSTIN—(AP)—Baylor's freshmen came from behind Friday to beat the Texas freshmen, 35-20. In arrears, 20-14, at half time, the Cubs scored three touchdowns in the last two quarters for victory.

Pampa Nips Foe, 13-7, Through Air

ABILENE—Edging a fired up Abilene Eagle eleven, the Pampa Harvesters roared through the air 71 yards in the last four minutes before a crowd of 5,000 fans at Fair Park Stadium Friday night to win, 13-7.

With the scoreboard clock showing only 15 seconds remaining in the game, the playoff pitch was a jump pass over the middle of the line for the final four yards that kept the Harvesters' record intact through five games.

After scoring in the fourth quarter to take a 7-6 lead which looked as though it would be enough, the loss was a heartbreaker for the Warbirds.

Pampa completed half of its 16 pass attempts for 133 yards and both touchdowns. In the second quarter, the first tally was of the fluke variety.

Bobby Jack Oliver played a tremendous game for the Eagles defensively.

The Harvesters will play host to the Midland Bulldogs this Friday night in a conference affair.

Carver Hornets Tounce Angelo For 2-AA Crown

Championship in District 2-AA was sewed up by the hustling Hornets Friday night when the Carver High School griders of Midland splintered the Blackshear Leopards of San Angelo, here, 13-7.

Albert Busby opened the door for Midland by blocking a San Angelo punt on the Leopard's eight, and alerted George Holland, a tackle, snatched the ball in mid-air to carry it across the double stripe. The play highlighted the second quarter.

Again in the third quarter, Coach

Gibbins added an extra point on a running play.

Most of the long gains made by the Midland club were attributed to aggressive line play by such players as James English, John Bell, F. L. Jones, Ted Carruthers, Charles Williams, Willard Moring, Cleo Miller, R. B. Webster and Center Alec Hudson.

Quarterback James Griffin called the plays for the winning team.

Next Friday night, again in Memorial Stadium, the Hornets will encounter the visiting Wichita Falls team. Midland goes into that game with a 3-1 won-lost record.

Pecos Eagles Soar To Sixth Victory; Down Denver City

PECOS—Racking up their sixth win of the season, the Pecos Eagles soared to a 26 to 13 victory over the Denver City team here Friday night.

While Denver City had a lead 13 to 7, the Eagles clawed their way to a win in the final quarter.

Drawing first blood in the initial quarter, the Eagles scored with Halfback Johnnie Cook going over from the 11, making his fourteenth touchdown point of the season. Fullback Thomas (Son) Langham added the extra point.

Snapping back, Denver City racked up a TD with Halfback Phillip Shook scoring with a 24-yard end run. The conversion attempt failed.

Continuing their scoring in the second quarter, Charles Leannamond plunged over from the one. The book was good and the score was 13 to 7. Pecos made a valiant try and got down to the Denver City three-yard line—and fumbled.

The third quarter was marred by Eagle fumbles with neither team able to cross the pay stripe.

Brothers At Work
Setting down to work in the fourth quarter, the Gutierrez brothers set up touchdowns for each other. Rubin intercepted a pass on the nine and then brother Orlando, quarterback, scored on a 33-yard bootleg play. Langham's kick was good.

Midland High Tennis Players Start Annual 'Ladder' Climb

Climbing up the tennis "ladder" will be the popular pastime for the net and racket students at Midland High School this season since practice has started.

Coach Frank Ford has started to place his team prospects in positions based on their previous records this week. From there, it will be up to the players to prove just how good they are.

In case Midland sports fans are unfamiliar with the terminology of tennis, the "ladder" referred to is not the wooden variety you use to go up and down on at home. It is a term peculiar to the tennis world. Coach Ford assigns each team candidate a number in sequence based on his or her ability from his estimate of the situation.

Then the scramble for the coveted top three positions begins. Each player on the "ladder" may challenge any other one to a match. The winner takes over the number of the loser, and if the loser was ranked higher on the roster, the challenger advances. Numbers 1, 2 and 3 make up Midland's team for competition in district play.

One of the upper three players represents Midland in singles play, and the other two make up the doubles team in the district tennis title.

Coach Ford said Saturday that it was too early to predict the possibilities of his players. But he believes James Wolf from the boys and Ellen DeChicchis of the girls are two of his best candidates this year for team berths. But he emphasized that they would have to earn their right to the favored positions by competing on the "ladder" system.

Coach Ford has 10 youngsters trying out for the boys team. They are Jimmy Garvin, John McGulgan, Berry Culbertson, Johnny Godwin, James Wolf, Kenneth Hughes, Clayton Tatom, Harry Hinkle, Kenneth Burns and Bill Vanderventer. They are all at present practicing on three courts at the Cowden Junior High School.

Candidates for the girls team include Dorothy Faye Black, Faye Henshaw, Janna Murray, Jocelyn Newberry, Carolyn Paris, Ellen DeChicchis, Ann Kenemer and Wanda Murray. The eight girls meet for practice sessions on two courts at the Midland High School. A team for district competition will be formed from their ranks in the same manner as the boys squad.

Last year the Midland tennis players ranked second only to Odessa in district play, and Coach Ford said that he has hopes this year of improving on that record.

ANSON—After taking a 19 to 0 lead in the first half, the Anson Tigers held on to win 19-13 over Colorado City Friday.

Kenneth Helms, Tiger quarterback, engineered the first touchdown for Anson in the first three minutes of play.

The play after the half time intermission was all in the Wolves favor.

GARDEN CITY LOSES! CHRISTOVAL—Jack Pardee ragged all over the gridiron here Friday night, scoring 33 points personally to lead the Christoval Cougars to a 40-19 triumph over Garden City in a six-man football contest.

Cen-Texas Aglow With Temple Win

By BRUCE HENDERSON Associated Press Staff Writer

Don't let that glow in the sky over Central Texas worry you. It's not a strange object—Just Temple exulting over its historic stomp of mighty Baytown in the high school football campaign.

The Wildcats' 20-13 victory over Baytown Friday night earned Temple undisputed No. 1 Place in the state.

The win cost Baytown its place in the undefeated ranks.

But Baytown wasn't the only power that had its feathers plucked in a wild and woolly night of football. Two defending state champions—Arlington of AA and Giddings of Class A—got whipped. It was Giddings' first loss in 23 straight games.

This Temple-Baytown contest was worthy of the most diabolical Hollywood script writer.

The teams met in the spotlighted game of the night—Temple, Kingpin of Class AAA, and Baytown, rated highest in the "big boy" division, Class AAAA.

Both undefeated. Both untied. But Temple with a grudge, because it lost the contest with Baytown last year, 6-0, in a controversial game the Wildcats contended they should have won.

With a half minute to play the game was tied, 13-13.

Then the hero—in the form of Doyle Traylor, Temple passing ace—saved the day for his side. With 46 seconds left, Traylor rifled a four-yard pass to Roy Chapman in the end zone and that was it.

But that didn't eliminate Baytown from championship contention in Class AAAA. Especially since another power in that division, Ray of Corpus Christi, got tied for the first time Friday night, 6-6, by underdog Lamar of Houston. Ray remains undefeated, though.

Lubbock Bips Angelo
Defending AAAA champion Lubbock performed as was expected, whipping hapless San Angelo, 31-0, in a conference game.

Another AAA power, Wichita Falls, showed its strength by crushing Poly of Fort Worth, 34-7. Beaumont was pushed from the undefeated AAAA ranks, 21-6, by Port Neches.

The headlines AAA conference class saw McAllen blank Alice, 20-0, in District 8. That was another battle of the undefeated and untied. Somebody had to go. Meanwhile, Terrell sounded a loud warning to other teams of class AA by beating Arlington, defending champion of that Class 34-6. In another top AA game—matching unbeaten and untied teams—Burkburnett smashed Nocona, 40-14.

A Champ Loses
It was a sad night for Giddings, reigning Class A champ. Giddings tumbled from the unbeaten ranks, 15-0, before Columbus in a district conference game.

Two teams in the state remain not only unbeaten but unscored on. They are Uvalde in Class AA and Itasca in A.

South Beats North, 14-0

The powerful South Elementary Wildcats team scored two touchdowns and a safety in the second half to take the game from a fighting North team, 14-0, Friday at the High School practice field.

North had the ball in their possession most of the first half, allowing South to run only four plays from scrimmage.

The first score came in the third quarter when South recovered a North fumble on the first play after the kick-off and drove slowly against a stubborn North eleven to score. It was Don Boyce who fought his way over from the three-yard line to score for the Wildcats.

Doyle Hardin caught one of the North lads behind the double stripe on the kick-off and added two more points for the South.

It was an interception by Henry Ardaway which set up the final TD. Johnny Boyce scored the final tally from the eight yard line.

That was South's fourth victory with no defeats. So far no team has crossed her double stripe.

Next Friday South takes on powerful Crockett at the South Field.

Blue Jays Thunder By De Zavala Team With 24-0 Victory

The undefeated Sam Houston Blue Jays continued their victorious habits Friday afternoon, dumping a scrappy DeZavala Elementary eleven in a touchdown barrage, 24-0.

Poteet Leads West In Win

Ramrodded by the capable field generalship of Quarterback Jimmy Poteet, a fast West Elementary eleven corralled the Lamar Longhorns Friday afternoon, 18-6.

Poteet scored first for Lamar on a 40-yard ramble to paydirt in the first period. Halfback Douglas Cooper increased the West lead in the second stanza with a dash through the middle good for 30 yards and a TD. The final West score came in the third quarter on a flashy 60-yard scamper down the field by Poteet.

Lamar managed to hit the scoreboard in the dying minutes of the final quarter when Quarterback Lannie Smith swept around right end for 50 good yards and a tally.

Carl Pefera, hard blocking West lineman, starred in the game. Johnny Baldwin and Fred Hallman, anchoring the end spots for the Longhorns, were potent on offense and defense.

In girls' kickball, West added to their triumph by beating the Lamar team, 14-11.

SMU Fish Extend Win String To 11

HOUSTON—P—Southern Methodist's freshman football team had stretched its unbeaten string to 11 games Saturday.

The Colts beat the Rice Freshmen, 7-0, Friday night with Don McIlhenny of Nashville, Tenn., the big gun. He engineered a 55-yard drive in the second period, plunging over from the two. Fred Lucas kicked the extra point.

SMU freshmen haven't lost a football game since 1949.

Southwest Staters Score 20-10 Win

SAN MARCOS—P—Southwest Texas State overcame five costly fumbles and beat Stephen F. Austin, 20-10, Saturday.

The first Southwest Texas score came in the first quarter when Padon Sanders intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for a touchdown.

Odessa Drops Sandies, 14-0

ODESSA—Featuring a grinding ground assault, with their passing attack under wraps, the Odessa Bronchos were Friday night to win 14-0.

An Amarillo fumble in the first quarter set up the initial Bronco tally. Dale Sherron raced 10 yards for the TD, and Robert Baker kicked the extra point.

Action slowed down until the third stanza, when the Sandies again fumbled. Three plays later Swain Adams skirted left tackle for five yards and the second Bronco tally. Baker made the point after.

Amarillo's only serious scoring threat came in the last minute of play. The Sandies worked their way down to the Odessa one-yard stripe, only to be thrown for a 14-yard loss when Richard Alexander tried the end.

Wink Pushes Fort Stockton

FORT STOCKTON—A flawless ground attack and a rock-bound defense combined here Friday night as the Wink Wildcats pushed the Fort Stockton Panthers all over the gridiron, 47-7.

It was the third conference win for Wink, while the Panthers recorded it as their second District 5-A loss, against one lone circuit victory.

Halfback Dan Villareal tallied for Wink in the first stanza on a five-yard jaunt that topped a 64-yard rally down the field.

In the second period, Jimmy White added two TD's for the Wildcats on a one-yard plunge and a 38-yard scamper. Dale Dodd made both conversions, to give Wink a 20-0 halftime lead.

Villareal continued the Wildcat assault in the third quarter with a five-yard TD effort through the Panther line.

Fort Stockton's solitary tally came when Quarterback Darwin Parr went nine yards for a score, capping a 73-yard march. Parr also converted.

Three District Players Back For Midland High Golf Team

Prospects for the Midland High School golf team are excellent this year, believes Coach Audrey Gill.

THE STORY OF A $200 Guess

This is the tale of an honest, well-meaning young mechanic with incredibly poor training, who inspected a man's car engine, using little more than a wrench, a screwdriver, and some ill-advised guesswork. The examination indicated the need for a $200 repair job—to which the car owner consented.

But still the car wouldn't run right, because the mechanic had neglected to find the real trouble, which, when corrected, should have cost FIVE DOLLARS!

Our mechanics are thoroughly trained experts in their field, and their inspections are not based on guesswork, but on knowledge. To help them "diagnose" all motor ills quickly and economically, we have installed modern, complete inspection equipment. If your car isn't delivering its maximum in efficiency and performance, let us put it back in "good as new" condition!

WASHINGTON OIL— Industry Continues To Smash Records Despite Many, Varied Handicaps

By JOSEPH HUTTLEGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The American petroleum industry is bursting with vitality and expansion despite the fact that it entered its third year under defense controls this month.

The industry is about to wind up a year of records—records in crude oil production, new wells drilled, refinery output, and refinery, pipe line and other construction.

Although controls over prices, materials and wages are expected to continue well until next year, another year of record oil production and growth is forecast freely by oil and government leaders for 1953.

This is the outlook in Oil Progress Week—an outlook made even more remarkable since the industry is hampered by problems and controls, any one of them major.

Thus, there are price controls, materials shortage and controls, tidalands uncertainty, the oil strike and the government's crackdown on alleged foreign oil cartels which could spread to a crackdown on domestic operations.

While rising demand spurred on part of this greatest expansion in history, the government's "million barrel" program is another reason. This, both industry and government are agreed that the nation should build up a reserve of oil capacity of at least a million barrels daily, about 15 per cent, against the demands of sudden war.

Record Number Of Wells
As a result, oil men are expected to end this year with 46,000 new wells drilled in America, a record which would have been larger but for the steel strike this year. Next year a total of 55,000 new wells, once thought impossible is foreseen, and in 1954, 60,000 wells.

Petroleum pipe lines furnish a spectacular example of expansion. Thus, in the 18-month period ended September 1 of this year, a total of 18,391 miles of crude oil and product pipe lines were authorized by the Petroleum Administration for Defense. The PAD parcels out steel.

Petroleum refining capacity is being added at a rate of 80,000 barrels daily of new capacity each year, a good part of this in super plants to make aviation gasoline. By the end of 1953, a total of almost 1.5 million barrels daily of new capacity will have been added to the seven million barrel daily plant at the start of the Korean war.

The expansion is balanced. As more wells are drilled, pipe lines are laid to carry the oil, and refineries to process it. A typical example lies in West Texas. There, more crude prompted construction of two large diameter lines to the Gulf Coast, and plans for a third to the West Coast.

Political Climate
More than ever, the political climate is having its impact upon petroleum.

The Office of Price Stabilization is refusing to remove price ceilings on crude petroleum or to grant any price increase. This is despite the fact that crude oil is at price levels of five years ago. Further, virtually every major industry has been given a price ceiling increase since the start of the Korean war. Beyond that, the cost of drilling oil wells has gone up, partly due to wage boosts and higher steel costs.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America is warning of supply problems, as it carries the price control fight to the PAD and top mobilization officials. It warns secondary wells are being abandoned, and drilling may slow up without price adjustment. As yet, the government is standing pat.

The supply of materials, particularly of oil country tubular goods, is improving, but not fast enough to meet all demands. Many in government foresee allocations until well into next year. If so, crude oil producers still will need approval from Washington before they can drill well.

The failure to determine who owns the tidalands has left such uncertainty few oil men can or will drill on the offshore lands. This leaves a potential large oil reservoir untapped at a time when the government is urging more exploration.

Legislation to restore control to the states—twice passed by Congress only to be vetoed by President Truman—is bound to be introduced next year and, probably, to be passed by the Congress. What happens next is to be seen.

Warren Warns Government
If General Eisenhower is president, the chances are he will sign such a measure, as he says he's for state title. The measure then would become law. Governor Stevenson has indicated he would veto any measure that does not give the federal government paramount rights over the lands. The guessing of state title advocates is that a veto, if it comes, could be overridden by a two-thirds majority.

No doubt thinking of these and other problems, J. Ed Warren, deputy petroleum administrator, had a warning for government last week. "Government, it seems to me," he said, "has for its part an obligation to the industry—an obligation to assure that it can continue the progress that so far has marked its history. Government must insure the atmosphere of competition in which the industry so far has flourished. It must permit a reasonable return on a reasonable investment of effort and it must, even as it imposes proper regulation, make sure that it never resorts to regulation for the sheer sake of regulating."

Unitization Report Is Published By Compact Commission

The headquarters office of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission announces the publication of a report on "Unitized and Co-operative Projects in the United States, September 1, 1952."

This publication is a survey of unitized and cooperative agreement projects in the United States which was prepared under the supervision of a joint committee from the research and coordinating committee and the secondary recovery advisory committee of the IOCC with Tom M. Winfield, chief engineer of the Louisiana Department of Conservation, as chairman.

This publication contains the data reported to the committee on 173 unitized projects in 13 states and similar data on 23 cooperative agreement projects in seven states. Included in the report are 36 charts relative to reservoir performance or production and 10 maps showing the areas covered by individual projects.

In addition to the data on projects, the bibliography on unit operation of oil pools prepared by the Tulsa Public Library and printed in an earlier publication has been republished together with a supplement containing references between 1948 and 1951.

Copies of this report may be obtained from the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Box 3127, State Capitol, Oklahoma City 5, Okla.

Record Attendance Expected For Show

Late Saturday, all indications pointed to a new record attendance for the Permian Basin Oil Show which will end in Odessa's Ector County Park Sunday night. Oil officials had set the attendance goal at 100,000 visitors. More than 27,000 people attended the opening day of the show Thursday, according to officials.

Tom Brandon, assistant manager of the show, reported the opening day crowd was much greater than the first show two years ago. A large crowd was expected Sunday although the exhibits will not be open until 12 noon. Special entertainment features drew big audiences Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Hundreds of persons were turned away Thursday night from the Dagwood and Blondie show in the county auditorium. The building holds 1,600 and every available seat was taken.

The wildcatting stag banquet in the Lincoln Hotel ballroom, at which Fulton Lewis, Jr., was the speaker, drew a capacity audience of 300.

The Chuck Wagon Gang served barbecue to more than 30,000 people Saturday.

Schoch Continues To Hunt Ways To Cut Waste Of Gas

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN—(AP)—Dr. E. P. Schoch, a research chemical engineer who has condemned what he calls the waste of Texas natural gas for a quarter of a century, took fleeting notice of his eighty-first birthday Thursday.

Still searching for the answers to how the make the best use of natural gas, the tall, blue-eyed man with wavy, white hair was in a philosophical and slightly melancholy mood as he talked.

"I realize my days on this earth won't be many. I may not live to see my findings pay out much, but maybe they will justify my having lived," he mused.

Many Accomplishments
A look at Dr. Schoch's record would make most people feel he has justified his existence long ago. His outstanding achievement has been development of a commercializable method for producing acetylene from natural gas by a low-temperature "glow" electrical discharge.

Aside from his work as a teacher and director of the University of Texas Bureau of Industrial Chemistry, he has designed and supervised the building of eight municipal waterworks systems and has perfected a method of utilizing Texas lignite as an industrial fuel.

The 100-million-dollar Alcoa plant at Rockdale will rely on lignite for its fuel supply.

But these accomplishments have not satisfied Dr. Schoch's scientific curiosity. He wants to find products other than acetylene which can be made from the combination of natural gas and an electrical discharge.

Like Harnessing A Horse
The main problem in this search is now to harness the electrical discharge and make it do what the research engineer wants done.

"When I was a boy on a farm, we used to see a powerful, white horse," he recalled. "We talked about ways to catch that animal so it wouldn't kill or hurt itself before we put it to work. Finally we worked out a plan that was successful."

involved in such secondary issues. "Alcoa (Aluminum Company of America) is going to get its power a lot cheaper from lignite than it would from gas at its new plant at Rockdale. They don't have to tell me, I know."

"The gas industry holds the price of gas just low enough to make it economically unfeasible to bring in lignite in other parts of the country. If we can do something to make the value of gas greater in Texas, supply and demand will take care of the situation without resorting to legislation . . ."

"The solutions for the use of gas for chemicals are many. There are said to be many cheaper than the one I am attempting, but let's not haggle. They wouldn't have found atomic energy if they hadn't set out deliberately to do it."

Research Goes Slow
"You found me this morning rather pensive over the whole thing. It seems to be as long as there's any hope of developing anything, the benefit of the general public makes it worth it for the state to venture money. But it's a complex matter . . ."

"When you try to win people over to spend money on something that may come out negatively, you can't blame them for reserving the right to make decisions. This work goes awfully slow. It might be hastened a little bit, but we go along and are hopeful something will turn up."

"To tell the truth, I shrink from being in the limelight. If you go out and get people all fired up, and things don't come in right away, you can hurt others as well as yourself."

"The most successful thing I did in life was to get married," he said. "Marriage is the nicest thing in the world because that's something you can have without taking away from anyone else. When you're getting ahead at someone else's expense, that's not so good."

critical materials after June 30 when that section of the Defense Production Act expires.

Some provisions of the tax law will expire next year, including the excess profits tax and the 11 per cent increase voted last year on corporation and private incomes.

Brown said expiration of these provisions may offer an opportunity for another effort to reduce the tax depletion allowance now granted oil and gas operators. The Treasury has sought unsuccessfully to have this allowance reduced from 27 1/2 per cent to 15.

Discusses Monopoly
Brown said in the report that he doubted any "useful conclusion" would be reached through present grand jury investigation of monopoly charges against several companies operating in foreign areas. But, he added, "That is not for us to judge."

"One thing seems to be fairly certain," he said. "Whatever unfavorable reaction comes to one important segment of the industry to some extent will react against all of the industry."

That does not mean we should condone wrongs to avoid reactions. "The outcome of present action will not necessarily conclude the necessity for further vigilance. Whatever is necessary to preserve the domestic oil industry must be done."

For the last 11 years church membership in the United States has increased about two per cent a year.

Oil Imports Discussion To Be Highlight Of IPAA Meeting

Opposing viewpoints on the need for oil imports will be heard in a panel discussion which will highlight the annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America in Oklahoma City Wednesday and Thursday.

Three speakers on "The Place for (oil) Imports" will include a spokesman for the U. S. State Department, a vice president of a principal importing company, and a representative of domestic producers.

Merle Becker, past president and program chairman of IPAA, said speakers on the panel in order of their appearance would be:

Robert H. S. Eakens, chief of the petroleum policy staff, U. S. Department of State.

John S. Suman, Houston and New York, vice president of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Maston Nixon, Corpus Christi, chairman of the Imports Policy Committee of IPAA and president of Southern Minerals Corporation.

"The views of these three speakers should provide a comprehensive and interesting discussion of oil imports which we feel involve problems of basic public policy and national security," Becker said.

Here, from the texts of Eisenhower's speech at Houston Tuesday and from Stevenson's address at Dallas Friday night, is what they said:

Eisenhower: "Texans have never been afraid to fight for what they believed in. I learned that as a soldier."

Stevenson: "I have been much puzzled by the attitude which seems to be widespread in Texas about my position on the so-called Tidelands issue."

Foreign Students Learning To Fly At Big Spring Base Under MDAP

BIG SPRING—Most West Texans have heard of the Mutual Defense Alliance Program under which Allied generals have struggled to create a common defense system for the democracies of the world.

But not everyone has heard that right here in West Texas—at Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring—dozens of young cadets from MDAP nations are learning to fly the latest United States Air Force trainer and fighter planes.

These youngsters are members of the Air Forces, and upon graduation from flying school they will return combat-ready to their native lands, thoroughly prepared to defend democracy for aggression.

Major Charles B. Calvin, director of academic training at Webb AFB, explained the close-knit workings and purposes of the training.

"The main emphasis of this whole Allied Student Program is that all the men are to be treated exactly as American students," he said.

"In this way they receive a thorough indoctrination in all our ideas and customs. In turn, the American students learn how their allies feel, think, and act. Such a program will make it possible for all of us to work together as a team," the Major said.

Norwegian Trainees
Hakon W. Krabseth, 21, of Oslo, Norway, is a typical MDAP cadet. Like the others at Webb AFB, Cadet Krabseth came to the United States in January to train as a flying cadet.

Krabseth is now in the basic flying phase, learning to pilot T-28 propeller-driven planes and the T-33 jet, a trainer version of the Shooting Star. He also studies military navigation, law, intelligence and drill.

He came to Big Spring from Hondo Air Force Base near San Antonio.

"I really like Texas," he said. "The climate here is much milder than in Norway, and the land and people in West Texas are exactly what I expected from cowboy movies. Why, I've even seen cowboys herding their cattle while I was flying over the prairie."

Krabseth has but one complaint: He sometimes is lonesome for feminine companionship.

However, this situation was remedied on the weekend of October 12 when the foreign languages club of Odessa Junior College invited twelve of the MDAP cadets—Krabseth included—to a dance in Odessa.

Cadet Knud B. Andersen, 21, of Vidstrup, Denmark, had somewhat better luck making acquaintances.

"The first time I went to town in Big Spring, I met a boy who came from Denmark. He took me home with him, and I met his family and some girls. But all the girls had to go back to college the next weekend," he lamented.

Unlike Krabseth—who, after graduation from flying school and his return to Norway, will become a sergeant—Andersen will receive a second lieutenant's commission in the Danish Air Force.

Andersen is not exactly overwhelmed with America's production efficiency and the high standard of living, because his country too is very modern. "We even have television," he said.

Something else about the United States impresses Andersen. "When I came over here," he said, "I was sure that Denmark's system of government was the best in the world. Now I'm not so sure we can't learn a lot from the United States."

Wanis Ranch Visit
The Danish cadet's father is a farmer. Therefore, he wants very badly to visit a Texas ranch before leaving Webb AFB for advanced flying.

"I am interested in how you utilize the land and raise your cattle," he said. "I want to tell my father about it when I get home."

Folmer Cristoffersen, a countryman of Andersen's, who was a clerk in the Bank of Skanderborg, Denmark, before entering cadet training, shares Andersen's interest in American institutions. He is taken up more with his love for flying fast planes than in anything else at the moment, but he and Andersen both were delighted to find a church of their Lutheran denomination that they could attend in Big Spring.

Sergeant Prosper Van Cauter, 20, a Belgian cadet from Vrijlegemstreet, had a unique problem when he arrived in America. Although he spoke fluent Flemish and French, he could understand no English whatever. Yet his academic classes and his flight instruction were conducted in English.

"I could only say 'yes,' 'no,' and 'sir' when I got here," Van Cauter said.

"But at Spence Air Force Base,

Georgia, where I went to primary training, a French instructor was able to explain the words and terms you use—in French and then in American.

"I couldn't understand all what my flying instructor told me in American, but my American roommate helped me very much.

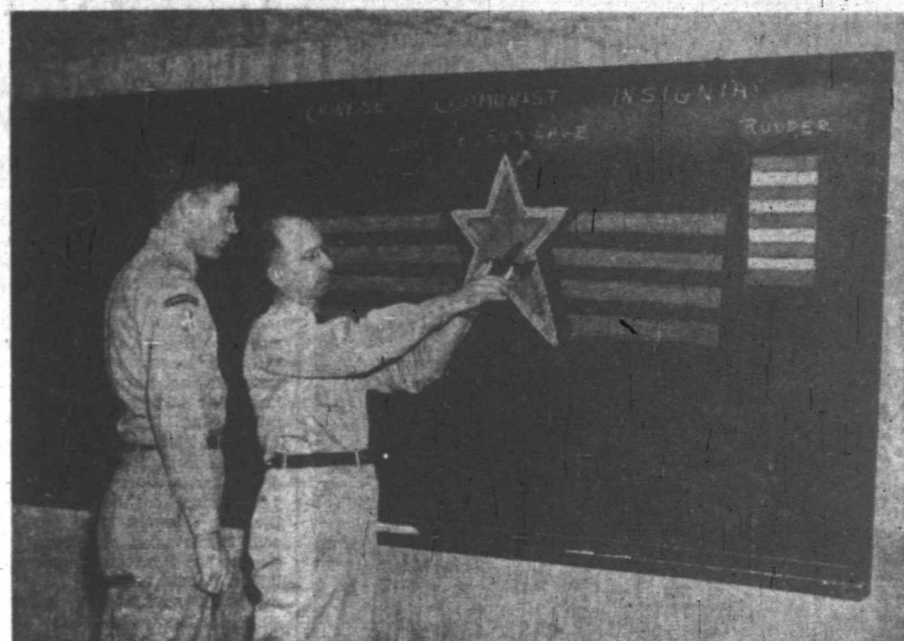

"I can't forget once when we were flying and my instructor told me to 'milk the flaps up'. I almost crashed the airplane—I did not know what he meant at all."

Friendships Form
The M D A P cadets and their American classmates are becoming the best of friends as time goes by. The flight training program under-which all the men are equals—privates, sergeants, cadets, and student officers—does much to surmount the language and cultural difficulties.

As cadets from Western Europe, Nationalist China, Thailand and other far places begin thronging through American flying schools, rubbing shoulders with American cadets, the welding together of a democratic defense system is rapidly nearing reality.

IDENTIFYING RED PLANES—Allied fighter pilots must learn to identify Communist airplanes both by silhouette and insignia. Maj. Charles B. Calvin, right, director of academic training at Webb Air Force Base, shows Danish Cadet Knud B. Andersen where the insignia drawn on the blackboard will be found on the Russian Lavoshkin fighter-bomber.

PREPARES FOR LIGHT—Danish Cadet Folmer Cristoffersen prepares for a flight in the T-33 jet. A student under the Mutual Defense Assistance Program, Cristoffersen will return to the Danish Air Force as a fighter pilot when he completes his flight training with the United States Air Force.

NOT SO OMNIOUS—An Omni-range radio system is not so serious as it sounds after Webb Air Force Base instructor, First Lt. Richard I. Ware, left, explains the finer details of this latest radio aid to navigation. The cadet, who is being trained under the Mutual Defense Assistance Program, is Prosper Van Cauter, of Vrijlegemstreet, Belgium.

New District Soil Supervisor Hopes To Aid Other Farmers

EXAMINES COTTON—J. T. Flower of Valley View Community, district supervisor of the Martin-Howard County Soil Conservation District, examines cotton on his farm. He already has picked almost a bale to the acre from this irrigated field.

One of the most typical farmers in Midland County in the use of modern methods and practices is J. T. Flower of the Valley View community, who recently was elected as district supervisor for the Martin-Howard County Soil Conservation District.

Born in Bell County, Flowers moved to Howard County in 1916 with his parents at the age of three. He first started farming for himself at Ackerly (Dawson County) in 1930.

In 1940, Flowers moved to Stanton and farmed on the Wilmer Jones farm. During the eight-year period that he farmed at Stanton, Flowers first received soil conservation experience—plowing the farm on contour and building some terraces.

Flowers purchased a quarter section of land in the Valley View community in 1948. He drilled an irrigation well the first year he farmed in the Valley View community and became a cooperater with the Soil Conservation District. During the pasting years, he has made several changes to improve his irrigation system as the sandy nature of the soil made even distribution a problem.

While primarily a cotton and feed farmer, Flowers leaves stubble on the grounds and uses other methods to prevent soil erosion. He has planted a small grain crop for coverage this winter.

With his use of modern farming practices, Flowers has become recognized in the Valley view community as a "good farmer."

Flowers is married and the couple has two daughters attending Midland Public Schools.

In accepting the post as district supervisor for the SCDD, Flowers said he was doing so with the idea of trying to be of help to his fellow farmers.

STUDYING CONSERVATION—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Flowers of the Valley View community are shown studying the conservation plan map in their agreement with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District with a view to extending their irrigation system. Flowers is district supervisor of the district. Mrs. Flowers takes a lively interest in the operation of the farm and its conservation program, as well as community affairs. She is vice chairman of the Valley View community center organization.

Austin College Aims For Greater Service In Two State Synods

SHERMAN—Austin College, within the next few weeks, will launch two long-range projects aimed at greatly expanding its services and facilities as the principal educational branch of the Presbyterian Church in this southwestern region.

Both undertakings will seek to broaden the college identity with the entire church membership in the Texas and Oklahoma synods, and enlarge its future as a church college.

The project, both approved during the wee by the board of trustees, are:

1. Establishing at the college a center for Christian vocational guidance, with a full-time staff, for the benefit of both college and high school youth of the region.
2. Inaugurating a long-range survey by a firm of professional consultants to analyze college resources in the region, both as to endowment gifts and students, with this to be followed by an academic survey within the college itself.

PMA Leader Urges Measures To Keep Farmland Topsoils

Holding the topsoil on the farm is an essential first step in keeping our farms in condition to meet present and future needs for food and fiber according to W. E. Pigz, chairman of the Midland County Production Marketing Association committee.

In the topsoil are found the plant food and conditions necessary for healthy and vigorous plant growth. Gullies, generally are accepted as signs of soil trouble, but often more serious are the tons and tons of topsoil skimmed off the farm as sheet erosion. This shows up as "bald" spots in the field and generally is accompanied by sparse and stunted plant growth.

Building up the land where the topsoil has been washed away is a long and expensive process. It is much better to hold the soil in the first place.

Grass Cover Suggested

One of the most effective means of holding the soil on the land is to tie it down with a cover of grass and legumes. This may be in the form of a cover crop or pasture, Pigz said. The mass of roots as well as the leaves and stems protect the soil from both wind and water erosion.

Terraces and contour farming are other practices which hold the topsoil by reducing the amount of runoff as well as slowing down the flow. Erosion control dams also help keep the topsoil on the farm.

Chairman Pigz explains that because consumers as well as farmers have a vital interest in holding the topsoil, a way has been provided through the agricultural conservation program for sharing the cost of certain approved conservation practices which check erosion.

Information on practices approved for Midland and available to farmers in 1953 can be obtained at the county PMA office in the Midland County Court House and from community committees.

Adlai Says Party Eases Drouth Harm

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson said Friday the government is giving drouth-stricken Texas emergency loans and emergency hay shipments on as large a scale as possible.

Stevenson said the Democrats were not bragging about the emergency drouth aid but were bragging about "the 20 years of careful, hard planning-ahead which makes this 1952 drouth only an emergency, whereas the one 17 years ago was an awful disaster."

Egypt Makes Plans To Become Republic

He said plans are being made for the switch-over, but would not specify when it would take place.

DISCUSSING IRRIGATION PROBLEMS—District Supervisor J. T. Flower discusses irrigation problems with Ben Osborn, Soil Conservation Service work unit conservationist. Even distribution of water without wastage is a problem on the sandy loam soil of the Flowers farm, which is typical of much of the land in the Martin-Howard district.

Course In Fly Control Set For Big Spring Next Month

BIG SPRING—A three-day course in fly control is scheduled for Nov. 18, 19, and 20 in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium. Admission is free.

Designed to reduce the number of flies in Big Spring and neighboring communities, Dr. C. A. Pigford, Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit Director, said the instruction will cover pesticides, chemical formulations, spray equipment, sanitation as a means of fly control, evaluating the effectiveness of a fly control program, organization of a fly control program, and biology and habits of flies.

All phases of the instruction will be illustrated with sound motion pictures and color slides. Appropriate study bulletins and note material will be provided, Dr. Pigford said.

The three-day course is being conducted by the Texas State Department of Health, Texas Water and Sanitation Foundation, and the county health unit. A certification of completion will be given those who finish the instruction.

Sponsors said the public is cordially invited. Specifically urged to attend the classes are health officers, sanitarians, mayors, city commissioners, municipal employees, county officials and members of civic organizations.

NEW YORK—In a New York restaurant, a friend of mine was dining with a fellow-alumnus of their alma mater, Princeton University. Their talk mainly was about the current football season and some of the big games they hoped the Nassau gridsters would win. So animated became their boyish conversation that the waitress taking care of the table noticed it. One of the men explained they were talking about Princeton football. The face of the waitress lighted up. "Now that's a subject dear to my heart, too," she said. Her questioner, somewhat surprised, asked her why. "Well you see," she drew herself up proudly, "my son is a star on this year's Princeton team."

Riding up and down on these local skyscraper elevators, I have acquired the habit of looking to see who made them. The plates on the floor sometimes say "Westinghouse" or "ABSee" but usually it says "Otis." Wondering how one company could make so many different types of vertical transportation, I got in touch with them and learned that this is the 100th anniversary of the first elevator to be built. In 1852, a man in Yonkers needed a hoist for his bedstead factory, so he asked his master mechanic, Elisha Otis, to build one. He did. It was the first elevator ever equipped with a safety device. Otis himself didn't think much of the invention, and was about to follow the gold rush to California, when another New York industrialist asked him to build two "safety" elevators. So Otis found himself in the elevator business. However, few people yet trusted the contraption. So in 1853 at the Crystal Palace Exposition in New York, Otis explained his "wagon spring" safety device to skeptical spectators. Then he mounted the elevator platform, had himself hoisted into the air and ordered the rope holding the elevator to be cut. The crowd gasped. But as the rope was cut, the wagon spring spread, the platform stuck, and Otis removing his big hat smiled and said, "All safe, gentlemen, all safe."

Most everyone knows the dubious tradition about folk from the South not wearing shoes, but when Sara Yokley of Mount Airy, North Carolina, started work for the United Press as a feature writer, she did the tradition no good. Her associates thought it was a bit odd when she always asked one of them to carry her copy to the editor's desk. Then the mystery was revealed. She works with her shoes off.

An especially picturesque scene is along the Hudson River piers where the big liners come and go. Here of most any day, one can find the "Queen Elizabeth" or "Mary" or the "United States" resting between ocean voyages, sitting in the water as if impatient to be off again. At night particularly when their big bright lights are turned on, showing fat, red smokestacks against a white background of gay-looking decks, the liners make any would-be traveler long for the open sea and a visit to those foreign lands which now are but a few days away.

Down in the garment district, I almost got run over by two mobile racks of women's dresses, one cart of racoon furs and six female models. A whole block is flanked by show windows with nothing in them except women's hats, tiaras and turbans. I don't see how they can think up so many things and call them hats. An executive explained that as long as styles change, so will women's clothes and men's bank balances.

IT WAS TRICK AND TREAT, TOO

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—An Oklahoma City druggist thought it was a little too early to play "trick or treat" so he turned his back on a customer with a Halloween mask who pointed a gun at him.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Fardner, better use your own judgment about keeping that slicker handy. Sure haven't had much use for it the first half of this month, but things could change, you know.

It seems like all the political speaking going on over the state at least would bring some rain along with the fireworks. The way it has turned out, however, it could be that all the political fireworks has scared off the moisture. Who knows?

The market was a little stronger on most classes of cattle at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Sales were 300 head.

Good to medium grade slaughter calves and yearlings sold for $22 to $26.50, medium to good $17 to $22, common to medium $14 to $17, cull to medium $10 to $14. Coped to choice butcher cows cleared at $12 to $14.50, medium to good $10.50 to $12, canners and cutters $7.50 to $10.50.

Hereford stocker steer calves cashed for $19 to $23 and heifer calves for $18 to $21. Mixed breed and Brahman calves and yearlings went at $12 to $17.50.

Five acres of alfalfa were seeded last week by Jack Allen on his place in "Sandy Acres" south of Midland. He inoculated the seed and applied 150 pounds of 30 per cent superphosphate per acre, using the drill belonging to the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. Allen has signed a conservation agreement with the district and is making plans to build up the productivity of the soil on his acreage.

The winter cover crops planted during the demonstration on the B. E. O'Neal farm September 30 are coming up on all the plots. Interested farmers are invited to visit the farm and compare stands obtained by the different seeding methods. Eleven different combinations of seed, fertilizer, and planting equipment were used in the demonstration sponsored by the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and the Midland Chamber of Commerce. O'Neal has added two other plantings since the field day. He also has applied two kinds of fertilizer, 16-20-0 and 45 per cent superphosphate, to portions of his irrigated pasture.

J. R. (Dee) Long has about 40 acres of mixed small grain up to a good stand on his home place south of Midland. He used 16-20-0 fertilizer, rye, oats and wheat and is watering with a sprinkler irrigation system.

It was "standing room only" at the second performance of the 21st Annual Prison Rodeo last Saturday at 30,000 fans jammed big Prison Stadium to see Texas famed convict cowboys battle the state's wildest livestock. As more thousands of people continued to besiege the gates, the rodeo management ordered the sale of seats to those who came without reservations.

A. C. Turner, rodeo publicity director, said the crowd was second only to the record 32,000 who turned out for the second show of last year's series when several thousand were turned away after all side and standing room had been sold. Performances are scheduled each Sunday in October.

C. W. Post of Midland reportedly has sold 185 head of mixed Hereford calves to a Northern buyer for immediate delivery. The price was said to be 25 cents a pound.

Agriculture-livestock activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the next year will be mapped at a meeting of the organization's Livestock-Agriculture Committee Monday morning in Wichita Falls. The session is scheduled in connection with the annual convention of the WTCC, Sunday through Tuesday.

"Forget your fear of tarantulas. They're not the killers they're cracked up to be."

That's the advice of Dr. Dial F. Martin, professor in the Department of Entomology at Texas A&M College. The popular myth about the power of the tarantula's bite has been found completely without foundation.

This overgrown spider should be treated with respect but not terror, Dr. Martin says.

"The tarantula's bite is about equal to the sting of a bee or red ant," the entomologist said. "The venom probably is compounded of a similar material to that of the ant, which uses formic acid as a base."

Several hundred farmers, including Johnny Williams of Midland, visited the Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Mo., last week, and spent a day touring the mills and research laboratories in St. Louis.

J. Elytta Haley, distinguished Southwest author and a former Midland resident, will be honored in Austin Monday by the University of Texas Press and the Texas Memorial Museum. The occasion will mark the publication date of "Life on the Texas Range," for which Haley wrote the text for Erwin E. Smith's famed photographs.

A record-breaking total of premiums for the 56 year history Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will be offered at the 1953 exposition, January 30 through February 2.

The amount is $172,278 which represents an increase of $9,873 over 1952. This figure includes $26,705 for the horse show as well as the rich cash awards which the winning contestants in the world's greatest indoor rodeo will receive.

For beef breeding cattle, awards amount to $34,800 (not including carload-and-pen bulls), divided as follows: Herefords $13,800; Polled Herefords $3,000; Shorthorns, $6,000; Brahmans $2,000 and Aberdeen-Angus $10,000.

Carload Division

The carload-and-pen division has increased greatly in interest since it was instituted several years ago and has done much to restore Fort Worth to its pre-eminence as a bull market. Awards in this division are: Herefords $2,335; Shorthorns $2,000 and Angus $2,000.

For open steers, $10,745 is offered.

The Junior Show—in which for the first time in many years girls, as well as boys, will compete—$9,508, of which $3,637 is for one steer division; $2,000 dairy calves; $1,128 lambs; $2,098 pigs and $643 negro pig show.

Other allotments: dairy cattle $5,637 (Guernseys and Holstein-Friesian $1,679 each; Jerseys $2,779); sheep and Angora goats $5,598; swine $8,525; poultry, turkeys, rabbits and pigeons (the last named being shown for the first time) $2,800; judging contests $2,000; herdsman prizes $320.

W. N. Lockair was planting rye and vetch this weekend for winter cover crop on 30 acres of his farm south of Midland. He used 16-20-0 fertilizer, and will irrigate with a sprinkler system. He plans to turn the crop under for soil improvement next Spring before planting cotton.

Ten acres of small grain have been planted by H. R. Solomon as a cover crop on his irrigated farm north of Midland.

Alfalfa planted about 10 days ago with the grass drill belonging to the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District on the Jack Allen farm is up to a good stand. He used 20 pounds of seed and 150 pounds of 0-30-0 fertilizer per acre. He also planted barley as a nurse crop.

Emil Teinert reports the planting of six acres of small grain for winter cover on his farm in the Valley View Community.

A new conservation agreement with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District was signed last week by F. F. Elkin, covering 793 acres. This places all his land northeast of Midland in the district program.

Up to 1930, far more males than females immigrated to the United States, but in that year the proportions were reversed and each year since that time there have been more female than male immigrants.

GIANT TOMATO VINE—Berte R. Haigh of University Lands is shown measuring the giant size tomato vine which he has growing in his backyard, 603 West Cowden Street. The vine is more than six-foot tall and measures nine feet in width. Haigh secured the Yellow Pear tomato seedling at El Paso, and planted it in 50 per cent peat moss, 25 per cent fertilizer and 25 per cent Midland soil. Some two months was required before the vine commenced to grow, and then it began to reach giant proportions. The vine has a number of Bell tomatoes.

BLOOD AND WHISKEY ON THE HIGHWAY— Sound Of Crashing Autos Marks Arrival Of Autumn

"Watch out for the October driver," warned Lt. Roy Merket, commander of the Traffic Division of the Midland Police Department Saturday. "He may be keeping warm with alcohol instead of using the car heater."

Merket pointed out that drinking and drowsiness are two major hazards that increase as the winter months commence. Records of the Midland Police Department list 63 accidents for August and 67 in September of this year. In the first 15 days of October Midland had 47 automobile accidents for this month.

With half of October left, the accident rate already indicates that auto crashes here may well be near the 100 mark before the end of the month. Lieutenant Merket explained that many drivers fail to adjust to the changed conditions of winter driving, such as more ice, snow, and water on the roads.

He said many Fall and Winter accidents are caused by drivers cruising the roads with their windows closed. He believes motorists cannot hear the hiss of the wind with the windows up, and the speedometer gradually climbs to an excessive rate of speed without their being aware of it.

Another factor in the dangers of driving in a closed car is that the motorist fails frequently to hear warning devices, such as horns and sirens, in time.

The Midland traffic authority says double parking in front of stores and business places mounts in the colder weather, since people are more reluctant to park their cars and walk an extra block. He said this winter habit often causes many accidents in Midland.

Lieutenant Merket blames excessive speed for 90 per cent of auto accidents. The speed limit in a given area may be 30 miles and hour, but winter driving conditions may call for a speed as low as five miles per hour for safe and sane driving.

Slow Down, Mister
He recommends at least a 15-foot interval between cars for cold weather drivers, with an overall reduced speed of 10 miles per hour.

Lieutenant Merket expects an increase in downtown traffic during the winter months. Many people who ride the bus in the Summer will be riding with their neighbors and friends in the colder weather.

He believes 75 per cent of car accidents are caused by human error, with only 25 per cent due to mechanical deficiencies in automobiles and bad driving conditions. His message to Midlanders for the cold weather driving season is, "Don't let your error of judgment become another tragic statistic on our police blotter."

Square Dance Caller Wins National Titles

A former professional square dance caller, who called his first dance at the age of seven from a chair held by his father, now lives in Midland.

Charles E. (Chuck) Rogers, who has won national titles for his calling and the square dance teams he has coached, is employed as a special delivery clerk at the Station A post office.

Rogers, who still records for Decca, won the award as "National Square Dance Caller" in 1951 against 52 callers from all over the country. The event was sponsored by a group of recording companies. In 1948 and 1949, his "Mixer Set" won the national square dancing contests held at Amarillo under the Grady Wilson Memorial Square Dance Association.

Chuck lives at 1113 East Cowden Street with his wife and six children: four boys and two girls. He came to Midland in April, 1952, when his home burned in Sweetwater, destroying many of his trophies. He had been in Midland before, and decided to give up his professional activities and go to work for the Post Office here.

The largest audience Rogers has called square dances before was at the Houston Coliseum in 1948 with 6,000 people attending. The biggest dance he attended was the Cowboy Reunion in Stanford with 22,900 present.

Has Taught Square Dancing
Chuck has called and taught square dancing professionally before clubs, veterans' organizations and other service groups. He also has entertained crowds at Shrine Clubs, Lion's Clubs, and various business clubs.

In 1949, his "Mixer Set" captured first place at a Gene Autry Rodeo in Dublin, Texas. He has hopes of building another championship square dancing team in Midland.

Here he calls for the Single Saddle Square Dance Club, a group of approximately 50 single men and women. Anyone who is interested in square dancing is welcome to join. The only requirement is that members must be single. The group already has held one dance this year and is planning another for Monday in the City-County Auditorium.

Rogers is trying to build up interest in the dances held by the Single Saddle Club. He says it is the only square dance group that has only single members. He plans to draw upon talent within the club for the competing square dance team he will organize next year.

The group uses Western recordings for their square dancing sessions, and come to the events in any type of clothing, although Western type outfits are preferred by Rogers.

Commenting on the possibilities for organized square dancing in Midland, Chuck said the older people show more interest than the youngsters. He said that the young people moving every day into Midland are aiding a revival of enthusiasm for square dancing. He uses informal methods at his dances, and he "wants everyone to have a good time."

Rogers still writes the lyrics for Western swing music in his spare time. One of his recent efforts in that line is "Five Little Girls," with music by Zeke Williams. The selection is a folk dance.

SWING YOUR PARTNER

—Chuck Rogers, who has called for square dancing sessions since the age of seven, calls another at a recent meeting of the Single Saddle Square Dance Club in Midland. He has retired from professional calling, and his ambition is to form another championship square dancing team from Midlanders interested in folk dancing.

Texoma Water Level Hits Lowest Mark In History Of Lake

DENISON—AP—Lake Texoma hit an all-time low this week, and as a result is down to its last million acres of water before it reaches a point where it no longer can generate power.

But even after it reaches the 500-foot mark, it still will have 1,163,000 acre feet of water—enough to keep thirsty Denisonians drinking for a long time to come.

The accent on water hit the headlines this week when the extended drought had big city fathers worrying about where their next rainfall was coming from.

As a result, it appears reasonably certain that Dallas city dads make the request, in view of the emergency, the Army Engineer Corps very likely would give permission for Dallas to tap Texoma for its needs.

Dallas would tap the upper regions of Texoma, pumping the water two or three miles and then letting gravity flow it into the Elm Ford and on to Dallas.

'Disillusioned' Morse Breaks From GOP To Support Adlai

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Wayne L. Morse, Oregon Republican, said Saturday he will vote for Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President.

Morse, who often has been at odds with others in his party, said "never have I been so completely disillusioned about any man as I am about Eisenhower."

He had first announced he would back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, but later announced he would not campaign actively for him. Then Saturday he made the break complete.

Morse said he was the first Republican senator to declare publicly for Stevenson, and said his decision "to repudiate Eisenhower has not been an easy one to make."

Morse also said:

"The demagogic, double-talk and dangerous desertion by Eisenhower in this campaign of his once professed political principles leaves me with no honorable course of action but disassociate myself completely from his candidacy.

"The Eisenhower I supported for the nomination is not the Eisenhower who is dandling and dancing from campaign platforms at the end of political puppet strings being jerked by some of the most evil and reactionary forces in American politics."

Morse's coolness toward Eisenhower became especially apparent after the nominee and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio met in New York and Taft announced general agreement on major issues.

Color Harmony Required For Today's Happy Home

You and your family will feel happiest in your home when you're surrounded with colors that suit you best. Everyone thinks of green as a fresh, peaceful, well-balanced color; yellow as cheerful, sunny; red as warm, energetic, exciting; blue as cool, reserved. In a way, you can be said to resemble the colors you like best, says Colorizer paint consultant, Faber Birren.

If you're active, like to get out and around, like to have lively parties at your house, want your home to make a vivid impression on others, like unusual furnishings, then red and the colors in the red family probably will be your true favorite, most accurately reflecting your personality.

Red Dynamic

In this case, the keynote of your home decoration should be variety. A room can be made dynamic with well-chosen red accessories. Or, as a background color, watermelon red wall paint will give a room an active, lively atmosphere. A lively exterior might begin with horizontal siding painted red, set off by white painted shutters, posts and railings.

If you value a cheerful home atmosphere with comfort uppermost in home furnishings; like colors that are not too strong; entertain quietly, green is probably your favorite color. A medium green, neither garish nor too subdued, will be a happy choice as a color to paint your house exterior. It will give friendly yet quiet charm to your home. Neutral white trim will create a soft blend rather than a sharp color contrast. Used on interior walls, green provides a hospitable background for brilliant color accents in furnishings and accessories.

Conservative Blue

If you want your home to be dignified and impressive; like antiques and traditional furniture; choose your guests carefully and entertain your friends quietly; are more or less conservative, blue is probably the color that you feel most at home with. A cool, conservative blue with white shutters is an excellent color plan for painting the exterior of the more formal, conservative house which you probably favor if blue is your color. An interesting note of contrast can be added by painting the front door red. Blue makes an effective background color for traditional room furnishings. Enhance this pleasing room scheme by confining fabric to a single pattern and accents to a single contrasting color.

Packers Shed Tears Over Declining Market But Food Expert Sees Happy Meat Picture

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food & Market Editor
CHICAGO—While large Chicago meat packers are shedding tears over a declining market, OPS controls, and inflationary costs of doing business, it looks like "Happy Days Are Here Again" for consumers.

Here is today's family menu: 15 to 20 per cent more beef than a year ago, five per cent less pork, a record year for turkey production and a very high level of broiler production. These protein foods all compete with each other. In fact, poultry has grown to be half as important as beef in pounds consumed per capita.

Despite the leaders of the packing industry, in my book this all spells still lower prices.

Whether or not this situation is good for our national economy remains to be seen. How long it will last depends on future crops, our national income, prices producers get for their animals and poultry, and whether war stays cold or gets hot.

There hasn't been a time in recent history when the northern corn belt showed so much optimism about bumper crops. That includes Iowa, Minnesota, Northern Illinois and Northern Indiana. Even a frost tomorrow would not cause much loss.

So reports Wesley Hardenburg, president, American Meat Institute. "That's a powerful stimulation to even greater meat production," he told me. "The result will be lower wholesale prices. That may sound like wonderful news to the consumer. But this declining market will put pressure on the packing industry," he warned.

The American Meat Institute is composed of 500 packers and sausage manufacturers, and 100 associate members who supply equipment for the meat industry. Every state in the Union is represented and the membership distributes approximately 78 per cent of the meat eaten in the United States.

We now have the largest cattle population in our history and all the experts I talked with in Chicago, including Hardenburg, predicted continuing increase in production for at least the next two years.

Wholesale meat prices in Chicago last week were not well below OPS ceilings but had begun sliding. Good grade beef was selling at seven and one-half cents a pound less than a year ago, choice beef at two and one-half cents and in some cases utility beef as much as 16 cents a pound less than a year ago.

Hardenburg explained that retail prices rarely can follow the drop in wholesale prices cent for cent. "The packer's wholesale price has already discounted the rise in labor costs, supplies, expense of OPS compliance and many other costs that go into the production of meat."

"But the price the retailer pays for his meat, even though lower than he has been paying, has to have added to it his increase in rent, labor and other necessary services and equipment, and he must carry the loss he knows he must take on certain slow moving cuts of meat which he must pay for when he buys the whole carcass," he said.

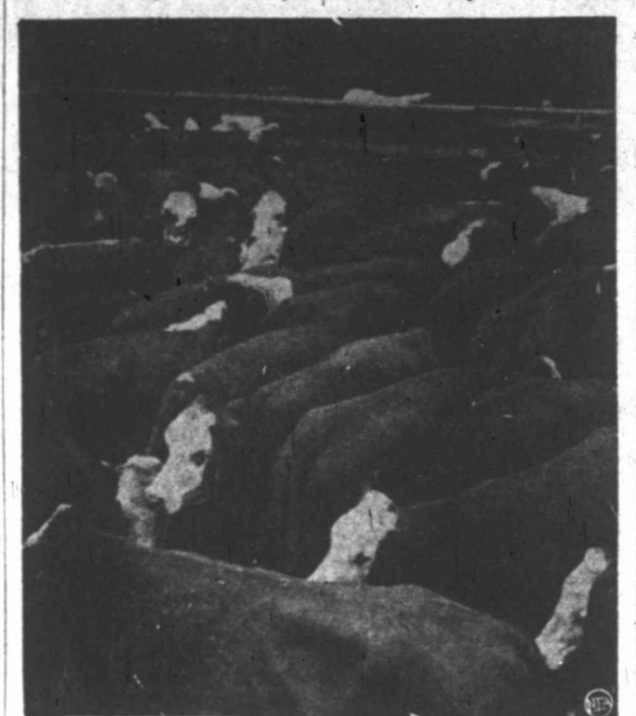

"Often, however, the consumer expects the price at the butcher's to drop in harmony with the drop of wholesale prices. Things can't work out that way, especially in our present state of inflation."

Specht looked at me critically as though I represented all the consumers in the country.

"The American public will always growl about three things, the price of bread and the cost of transportation," he said, adding quickly, "yet they don't protest about the rising prices for automobiles and cosmetics."

"But about meat, a nutritional necessity and a safeguard to their health and our national fighting strength, they are always clamoring for lower prices," he continued. "No wonder packers' profits are low. We render a basic service on the lowest margin of profit."

He called my attention to a recent report on the relative earnings of 100 major American industries. "At the bottom of the list were the four largest American meat packers—Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy. Yet we are giving a service the country cannot do without," he protested.

Stockyard rush hour: Today's stockyard pens in Chicago made NEA Food Editor Gaynor Maddox think of the subway rush.

More pessimistic about the future of the packing industry was Frederick W. Specht, president of Armour & Co., second largest packers.

I stood with Armour's president looking down at the pens so packed with animals that they reminded me of the New York subway at rush hour. But to my question about further retail price drops, Specht showed controlled resentment.

"No," he protested, "we're not looking for a further drop in meat prices. We've had our drop. But there are always seasonal ups and downs."

(The same day, John Holmes, president of Swift & Co., had told me, "I don't see that meat prices in the near future should go down much further, except seasonally.")

Edward Everett talked for one hour and 57 minutes before Lincoln made his brief and famous Gettysburg Address at the dedication of a Civil War cemetery.

Texas Pioneers Recall Cattle Days of 1890

By JOHN BOWERS
A long-planned pilgrimage to Midland by two women who lived here in the Wild West days of the 1890's became a reality Friday.

Mrs. Charles W. Dawson and her sister, Catha Wells, who now live in Oakland, Calif., had not seen Midland for 36 years. They are daughters of C. W. Wells who founded the famous Five Wells Land and Cattle Company here in 1886.

The Five Wells ranch, a corporation managed by their late father, was located about 50 miles north of Midland. It covered 310,000 acres, all of it under fence. Both of the women were born in Chillicothe, Mo., which was used by their father as a headquarters. The name referred to the five members of the family, not the five water wells on the ranch.

The cattle empire later was sold long before the days of oil discoveries in the West Texas area. Mrs. Dawson and Miss Wells spent most of their childhood at boarding schools in St. Louis, but saw much of early Texas during the summers and on vacations, which they spent at the ranch.

They remember the period in Midland when "everybody carried a gun." Miss Wells recalled church services here when a Baptist minister led the prayers with a cocked rifle leaning across his saddle, while he kept a weather eye peeled for Indian attacks. This occurred during one of the early cattle drives north to the great beef markets.

Mrs. Dawson said she has seen buffalo crossing the West Texas plains near Midland, and she stated that cougars at one time were a common sight here. She and her sister were accomplished hunters, and both of them learned to ride and rope and brand cattle at the age of eight. They rode side saddle in those days of rugged men and gentle women.

They have heard shooting in Midland on numerous occasions, but they never witnessed any of the famed gun duels in West Texas. Men in that time were always polite and considerate, and Miss Wells said they quieted down and stood up with their hats removed when she and her sister came to Midland and walked down the streets.

Ranch life is rugged.

Ranch life was a serious business. When they were on the ranch, they got up at the crack of dawn. Two of the ranch houses were built of rock, and there was a tool house. Cowboys slept in the open.

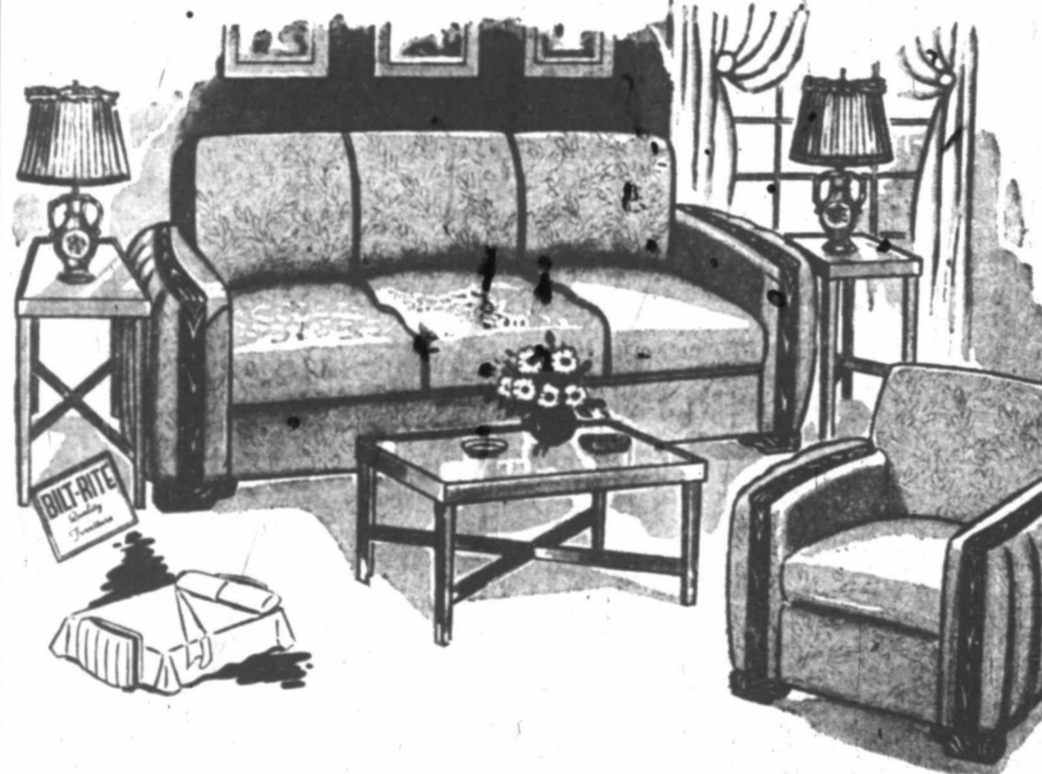

They characterized their father as a small, fiery man with reddish-brown hair, and a set of sideburns and a mustache. He brought mules here from Missouri, and he drove cattle from as far south as Mexico to the Northern markets. At one time he contracted to build a bridge across the Rio Grande River at Nuevo Laredo.

Their mother was a schoolteacher, and their father proposed to her in church one day by writing the question in a Bible. She accepted his proposal by writing "when?" and they were married the same day. Miss Wells said her father, a highly eligible bachelor in those days, had a rosewood piano that he moved about in courting the girls.

Both of the women remembered the old Llano Hotel stood on the site of what is now the Crawford Hotel. They can look back on the time when a four-mile stretch of sand north of Midland required two hours of struggling by a team of horses and a carriage to get through to town. Trips to Midland were made once a month from the ranch to buy supplies.

The two women hardly had settled down in their room at the Hotel Scharbauer before they started their search for other Midland pioneers that lived here in cattle-raising days. They hoped to renew old friendships, and included in their plans a tour of the vast stretch of land north of Midland that was once the Five Wells Land and Cattle Company.

In a double-ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church, Bobbie Wood became the bride of Charles Franklin Scott.

When they return from a two-week wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and other places along the Southern Coast, the couple will live in Midland. Both are employed with Atlantic Refining Company.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Wood, 105 West Cowden Street. She attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Scott of Landonia. He was graduated from the University of Texas, Austin.

Officiating for the wedding ceremony was Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, First Presbyterian pastor.

Use White Decorations
Vows were repeated at the church altar, which was flanked with baskets of white gladiolus and cathedral tapers in four branched candelabra. An arrangement of white gladiolus also was used before the cross in the background. Family pews were marked with white cones.

Mrs. Frank Miller, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and "Arioso" (Bach), "O Perfect Love" (Barnby), "Three Chorales" (Purvis) and "Autumn Song" (Elmore). She also accompanied Lillian Christopher, who sang "Until" (Sanderson).

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a dress of Alonscon lace. The fitted bodice had long sleeves ending in petal points over the hands, and a sweetheart neckline, which was outlined with seed pearls and sequins. Twin panels of accordion-pleated nylon accented the front of the full skirt, which swept into a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil of bride's ivory illusion was caught to a bonnet of matching satin outlined with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Sister Is Attendant
Mrs. William B. Simpson, Jr. of Houston, who was her sister's matron of honor, wore a dress of pastel blue taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her bouquet styled similarly to that of the bride, was of pink carnations.

Bobbie Sue Simpson of Houston, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a dress of pink taffeta, with headband of pink flowers, and carried a basket of rose petals.

Midland Kappa Kappa Gammas Praised By National Officer

Pride of the national fraternity in the growth of the Midland Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma was emphasized Saturday by Mrs. Joseph Campbell, national director of membership, in her talk at a luncheon given in her honor in the Midland Country Club.

Membership in the alumnae group here has increased more than 700 per cent in six years.

Nine Charter Members

"Very few, if any groups, can equal or even approach the accomplishment in growth of the Midland Alumnae," Mrs. Campbell said. "Nine of you from almost as many universities were granted a charter in 1946. Today there are 58 alumnae and six actives listed on your rolls. In six short years your group has become a challenge to other alumnae groups in the fraternity. As I checked over the figures of growth shown on your yearly reports I could hardly believe them. Truly, it gives me great pleasure to be here to congratulate you."

Mrs. Campbell was introduced to the Midland alumnae by Mrs. Jack E. Bliss, Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Harvey Herd, Mrs. E. A. Culbertson, Mrs. Clark Steinberger and Mrs. William Thams are the only members of the founding group still living in Midland.

The luncheon table for the 40 alumnae present was arranged in a U shape. Seated at the head of the table besides Mrs. Campbell were Mrs. Steinberger, Mrs. Culbertson, Mrs. Herd, Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Turner Wynn, president of the alumnae group.

Table decorations featured the colors and motifs of the fraternity. A 36-inch replica of a golden key, emblem of the fraternity, formed the centerpiece. Floral arrangements were of dark and light blue stock and asters. Favors were monogrammed matches.

Mrs. Campbell, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Bliss, leaves Midland Sunday for Lubbock, where she will visit petitioning groups on the Texas Technological College campus. National fraternities for women are to be established on this campus in the near future. Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Clyde Parrish will accompany Mrs. Campbell to Lubbock.

The home, she said, is under the direction of its founder, Amelia Anthony, who does all her work from donations. She explained that the school houses 46 girls from the ages of eight weeks to 16 years, but has a waiting list of 900. Following the talk Mrs. Rudy Rubin showed a film, "A Visit to Girlstown, U. S. A." and an offering was taken to be sent to the school.

Autumn Is Here!

With its own special kind of zest, sparkle and color . . . to greet this time of year, we have a harvest of rich, colorful blooms to enhance your home.

Thousands of Texas families saw WUNDA WEVE for the first time at the House of Carpets and marvelled at the beauty of its color and texture. Here are the answers to the questions most frequently asked about this fabulous new carpeting.

HOW DOES IT WEAR?

Wunda Weve is guaranteed to wear as well as conventional broadloom selling at twice the price!

CAN YOU VACUUM WUNDA WEVE?

The more thoroughly any good carpet is vacuumed, the longer it will wear. Wunda Weve is particularly easy to vacuum because its deep pile encourages the flow of air into the vacuum cleaner.

DOES IT SHOW FOOTPRINTS?

Wunda Weve never packs down. When it is vacuumed the pile all lifts up and an individual footprint will show, but the more it is walked on, the better it looks. The secret of Wunda Weve texture is the variation of light and shade created by heavy traffic.

HOW DO YOU CLEAN IT?

Wunda Weve is very resistant to soiling, but like any carpet will eventually need cleaning. Since there is no rubber on the back, since it is guaranteed colorfast and fresh, your scatter rugs or room-size rugs can be soap washed any number of times. Wall-to-wall carpeting can be washed on the floor or taken up and sent to a laundry. Spot cleaning is particularly successful as Wunda Weve, unlike conventional carpet, can be scrubbed with mild detergent without disturbing the beauty of the pile. Scatter rugs can be washed at home in any washing machine.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

Wunda Weve costs about the same as cheap wool broadloom, but it will wear as well as the best broadloom. Figuring the cost on a yearly basis, it is about half the price of wool. And equally important—there is no carpet at any price that has the same style, beauty and texture as Wunda Weve.

HOW DOES WUNDA WEVE DIFFER FROM OTHER COTTON CARPETING?

There is absolutely no other carpeting that combines the features of Wunda Weve. Wunda Weve is woven on a carpet loom—not punched through a cotton backing. Wunda Weve will not shrink—the size you buy is the size you keep. It is colorfast in all fifteen colors, will not fade or streak in washing. Finally, there is no carpet that looks like Wunda Weve on your floor.

WHAT SIZES ARE AVAILABLE IN WUNDA WEVE?

You can have any size in any color from scatter rugs to wall-to-wall carpeting throughout your home.

WUNDA WEVE IS SOLD ONLY BY THE HOUSE OF CARPETS AND CARRIES OUR UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE!

Midland Beta Sigma Phi Council Makes Movie On Girlstown

As part of their contribution to the state-wide project of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority to aid Girlstown, Midland Beta Sigs have made a colored motion picture on Girlstown that is being shown throughout the state.

Entitled "A Visit to Girlstown, USA," the film portrays the equipment and activities at Girlstown, the "home for homeless girl" located at Whiteface and directed by its founder, Amelia Anthony.

Sponsored by the Midland Beta Sigma Phi Council, the original film is in Midland and will be shown to any organization in the city upon request and by appointment.

Appointments may be arranged by contacting Flo Lampp, telephone 4-5452 (home) or 4-6669 (office). Members of Beta Sigma Phi also are available to lecture on Girlstown and to answer questions about the girls home, it has been announced by Elizabeth Knox, council chairman.

There are now three copies of the movie on Girlstown. One has been sent to the International Beta Sigma Phi Library in Kansas City, Mo.; one was presented to Miss Anthony to be used with her lectures on Girlstown, and the third is being sent to the University of Texas library in Austin for use by organizations throughout the state.

Recognition Given

Work of Midland Beta Sigma Phi members in behalf of Girlstown has been recognized in a two-page spread of story and pictures in the current issue of the Torch, international magazine of the sorority.

Entitled "A Present to the Future," the story features a report by Mrs. A. R. Ayles, immediate past president of the Midland council to Estelle Smith of Houston, who was Texas state projects chairman for the sorority last year.

In addition to the movie, Midland members of the sorority sent Girlstown a check for $1,000 and a number of smaller donations throughout last year.

The Midland council represents five Beta Sigma Phi chapters and approximately 150 members of the sorority.

There are now 64 girls, including one from Midland, living in Girlstown, which was opened by Miss Anthony March 13, 1949.

MEN'S CLUB TO MEET

The Men's Dinner Club of the St. Mark's Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the cafeteria of the David Crockett Elementary School.

Turn knitted underwear, wrong side out for washing. Cup your hands as you force the suds through soiled parts. Rinse well and hang double over line or rod. No ironing is necessary.

DON'T STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off vaginally weight and help bring back slurring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any drugstore, four ounces of liquid Barcostratin. Pour into pint bottle and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without health-breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help reach slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 20 POUNDS

"I have lost 20 pounds taking Barcostratin," writes Lonnie Campbell, Route 1, Grandview, Texas. "I feel so much better and am looking right along. No more bloating and puffed up feeling, since taking Barcostratin." And Vera Deisher, Route 2, Box 141, Davis, Texas, writes to say: "I am well pleased with Barcostratin. It not only took off 18 pounds around my hips and abdomen, but it has made me feel so much better."

It's NEW! It's so SMART! You'll be amazed at its versatility and economy! It all adds up to the most exciting thing that's happened in the furniture world for YEARS! How did it happen? HERE'S THE STORY! The MENGEL Company—one of the most far-seeing of manufacturers in the world realized that today's small new homes and apartments created a need for a more space-making multi-purpose kind of furniture. MENGEL called in RAYMOND LOEWY—industrial designer—consulted with him on these problems—were impressed with his genius—engaged him to design these two new groups of functional furniture.

Stewart's in Midland is bursting with pride at the chance to bring you this new line of furniture exclusively in Midland.

Come in, see it on display—you will certainly not want to miss this chance to judge for yourself if it is not the most exciting new furniture you could ever want to see and own.

Who is Raymond Loewy?

Designer of the new Studebaker, Frigidaire, Trains, Airplanes, etc.

The Loewy genius is everywhere. Probably no one industrial design organization is as responsible for so many of the efficiencies of life as Raymond Loewy Associates, headed by Raymond Loewy, one of the pioneers of industrial design in this country.

And now... another feather for the Loewy cap... a completely new type of furniture built by... the Mengel Company.

The Raymond Loewy genius really went to work in this new furniture. It's multi-purpose-PLUS! A dresser will serve as a dining room server. A chest becomes a living room desk; a combination bench and night-stand doubles for a telephone table, and a day-bed turns into a living room lounge. Pieces that allow a woman to change the functional purpose of her furniture as the occasion requires! As the need arises! Or just as she changes her mind.

A Double Dresser Base that also stands ready for bar or buffet service in dining room—or as console piece in living room.

Chest. Flips its front to become a living room desk. Conveniently compartmented with big sliding tray.

PROPOSED BUILDING FOR MIDLAND WOMENS CLUB
WALTER L. NOARIS - ARCHITECT - MIDLAND, TEXAS

PROPOSED CLUB BUILDING—An architect's sketch of the proposed club building for the Midland Woman's Club, Inc., is shown above. The building is to be located on a three-acre plot across from the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Woman's Club Opens Membership Drive

Paralleling the completion of plans for a new club building, the Midland Woman's Club, Inc., has opened its annual membership drive. The new building will be located on a three-acre plot across from the Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Mrs. C. S. Britt is chairman of the building committee, and Mrs. George Kidd and Mrs. C. H. Shepherd are chairmen and co-chairmen, respectively, of the associate membership drive. Mrs. Britt and the members of her committee will be in charge of the other types of membership.

Rules have been drawn up by Mrs. H. E. Bahr and her house and rules committee to govern Woman's Club membership and the use of the building. Mrs. Bahr was assisted by Mrs. Leonard Thomas and Mrs. Ernest Sidwell.

Membership is open to any organized woman's club or any individual woman of Midland County.

The 11 clubs now affiliated with the Woman's Club are Tejas Garden, Modern Study, American Association of University Women, Twentieth Century, Progressive Study, Yucca Garden, Business and Professional Women, Midland Garden, Woman's Wednesday, Fine Arts and Pyraantha Garden Clubs.

The Woman's Club was organized in 1930 to bring the woman's clubs of Midland County into a closer and more effective unit for the furtherance of their common interests in local, state and national affairs.

The club is non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-profit. Actively engaged in social and civic affairs, the club has been instrumental in bringing a number of outstanding cultural programs to Midland. In 1932 a scholarship loan fund was set up through which several girls have been assisted with their education.

Among the outstanding projects with which the club has been associated were raising funds for the Midland Memorial Hospital, the sale of a Midland memorial plate, the Mothers March on Polio, obtaining street lights and markers for the streets, safety campaigns and clean-up drives.

Past presidents of the club are the late Mrs. John Haley, Mrs. F. H. Schouten, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Mrs. Hal C. Peck, Mrs. Louis F. Cadwell, Mrs. Russell Howard, Mrs. Ergram was discussed by a JayCee advisory committee with the current chairman, E. S. (Bud) White. Members of the advisory committee are: J. P. (Marc) Marchionni, president; Rocky Ford, national director; Goodrich Hejl, second vice president, and Doyle DeArman, treasurer and past Christmas activities chairman.

The scheduled program will open as the Christmas lights go on the evening of November 17. Two weeks following, a gala Christmas parade will welcome Santa to Midland. Hundreds of pounds of candy will be distributed to the children attending the parade. A Miss Christmas Spirit contest is planned, and community sings will be held. Speakers are being contacted for the all-civic luncheon to be held during the week of December 15. The home decorations Christmas lighting contest will close Sunday, December 21, at midnight to allow the judges and officers time to select the winners. The annual children's Christmas party is planned for December 22 at one of the Midland theaters.

Other committees in action during the entire Christmas program will be the finance committee, raising funds through the sale of advertising in the Christmas book through which prizes will be awarded; a publicity committee will handle newspaper, radio and other publicity; a safety committee will sponsor a safety program; a go-to-church committee will stress the importance of church attendance in honor of the birth of Christ.

Other activities will include the usual distribution of food baskets and shut-in visitations.

All citizens are urged to attend the community sings planned. Christmas trees will be available from JayCees at one of their strategically located lots in Midland.

Modern Study Club Discusses Midland

"What Makes Midland Tick?" was the program topic Wednesday at the meeting of the Modern Study Club in the home of Mrs. Brandon E. Rea.

Mrs. W. B. Ahders, program chairman, introduced the speakers, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. K. C. Slough and Mrs. R. E. Morgan. Members answered roll call by giving a local news item.

In observance of American Art Week November 5, it was announced members are to bring either an art object or an antique to the next meeting.

Others attending were Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mrs. John Casselman, Mrs. John Daly, Mrs. Bryan Denson, Mrs. Harry W. Denton, Mrs. C. Richard Harrell, Mrs. C. C. Keith, Mrs. Lee B. Park, Mrs. Ed Shakely, Mrs. Charles L. Sherwood and Mrs. T. J. Smith.

The amount of energy fixed annually in the sugar manufactured by plants is equivalent to 300 billion tons of coal.

The total available energy in coal and oil is many times greater than that in the unstable atoms of uranium and thorium, according to scientist Robert E. Millikan.

CALLING

All Members of the Church of Christ
Evangelist Roy Loney who is in a meeting at Terminal; will speak in the Junior High School Auditorium
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 19, at 2:30 p.m. on this subject:
"DOES CHRIST'S CHURCH NEED HUMAN CRUTCHES?"

Was the church as it came from the hand of its divine Builder, a perfect institution, or does it need sponsoring institutions to aid it in this modern age? This subject is of vital importance to all who love the cause of Christ, and all members of the church are urged to come and hear this lesson.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail and Eena Meena Ona Stray

The Rainmaker looked up at the sky. He hid out his hand to see if the rain was raining down. It wasn't. Oh no! The sun was shining. The day was hot. The ground was dry and dusty. The grass and leaves of the trees and bushes in the Great Forest were thirsty for water.

"Rainmaker," said Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, "what a fine day it is for Rainmaker business of making the rain fall down from the sky."

"Yes sir, and yes indeed," said the Rainmaker.

"We need some rain, we do," said the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf.

But the Rainmaker said: "Abracadabra, double-do! I'll make it rain, and I'll show you."

Said the Huffen: "Hah! If you make it rain, double-do, I have a present to give to you."

And so the Rainmaker climbed on top of a big rock. He took off his Rainmaker hat and held it in one of his hands. He pointed with the other hand up to the sky.

He said: "Eeen ten, leather feather drip!" Yes, and the lightning flashed, and the thunder boomed in the sky. "Eeen ten, leather feather drip!" Lightning flash and thunder boomed again. Rainmaker had said the magic words to make the rain fall up—up where you can't see it.

But now the Rainmaker was ready for serious business. Oh yes he was! And the Huffen held a present behind his back, all ready to give to the Rainmaker, when once the Rainmaker made the rain fall down where people could see it.

Again the Rainmaker raised his hand to point to the sky. He said: "Eena meena, eena stray, let it rain, or I will cry!"

Midland Building Permits Approach $20,000,000

Building permits edged a little closer last week toward the $20,000,000 mark.

Early this year, R. S. Higgins, city superintendent of inspections, set $20,000,000 as the goal for the city which last year had only $14,000,000 worth of building permits.

And records in his office show that, through Friday, the permits totaled $19,538,242.

The week's business, however, slumped with only $86,500 worth being issued.

Building permits issued during the week included:

David Marmalejo, one family residence, 1009 North Lamesa Road, $1,500. Beauchamp Refrigeration Service, commercial building, 700 South Fort Worth Street, $6,000. Ernest Sidwell, carport with storage space, 1907 West Indiana Street, $1,500. Glenn L. Stewart, storage house and wash house, 2306 College Street, $2,000.

A. R. Young, one family residence, 2315 Country Club Drive, $18,000. Yellow Pine Lumber Company, one family residence, 1300 New Jersey Street, $7,000. E. C. Trice, one family residence, 1300 East Illinois Street, $1,500. Hays Construction Company, one family dwelling, 1212 East Jax Street, $8,200. Hays Construction Company, one family residence, 1219 East Parker Street, $9,000.

Key-Martin and Associates, one family residence, 2805 West Louisiana Street, $12,000. B. A. Barron, one car garage, laundry and storage, 1608 South Weatherford, $1,000. R. J. Stewart, one family residence, 107 East New York Street, $11,000. J. L. Barber, one family residence, 1801 North Edwards Street, $12,000. Sam King, dwelling, 506 North Tyler Street, $3,500. J. E. Sanders, garage, 315 East Golf Course Road, $800. Manuel Lara one family residence, 811 North Terrell Street, $1,500.

Woman's Club Has United Nations Meet

"Education for Peace," was the topic for the day when the Midland Woman's Club, Inc., held its United Nations program Thursday afternoon.

Members of the Twentieth Century Club were hostesses for the meeting, held in the home of Mrs. C. M. Dunagan, 1808 West Missouri Street.

Stressing the importance of the international program of exchange students, the program featured a symposium led by Sam Choy, director of overseas students at Wayland College, Plainview. He was assisted by Plainview students representing Hawaii, Japan and Palestine.

Choy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Choy of Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii. He is of Korean ancestry and served as interpreter with the United States Army in Korea during World War II. He attended the University of Hawaii one year before enrolling in Wayland College, where he was graduated in 1950. He did graduate work in the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, before becoming Wayland's director of overseas students.

Stressing the need for Christian education and international understanding as the basis for real peace, Choy pointed out that there are about 30,000 foreign exchange students now in America.

Bill Nakahira, native of Hawaii, discussed the Hawaiian educational system, stressing that there is no distinction made between the races in Hawaiian schools. He also urged members to support the movement to give Hawaii statehood.

Customs of Japanese women were discussed by Sue Arashiro, native of Hawaii, whose parents are Japanese. She also told how World War II changed the status of Japanese women and the educational system in Japan.

Third student speaker was George W. Sahhar, native of Bethlehem, Palestine, whose ancestry is Syrian. Sahhar was one of the persons displaced when the state of Israel was organized.

Stressing the need to return to the basic principles of Americanism was Mrs. J. B. Bain, Twentieth Century Club president, who welcomed Woman's Club members and guests. She also introduced Mrs. Duke Jimerson, program chairman of the hostess club.

Mrs. W. Harry Rhodes, Woman's Club president, presided for the meeting.

The United Nations theme was repeated in decorations and refreshments for the afternoon. Emphasizing the United Nations colors.

In charge of arrangements for the day was the hospitality committee of the Twentieth Century Club, headed by Mrs. Charles L. Snure. Assisting Mrs. Snure were Mrs. R. L. Merrill, Mrs. J. R. Story and Mrs. Ray Howard.

Approximately 65 members and guests of the two clubs attended.

Progressive Study Club Starts Project

Members of the Progressive Study Club now are preparing for their second year in the fruit cake business.

They first started taking orders for the cakes in the Fall of 1951, when the club found itself several hundred dollars short in its quota for the building planned by the Midland Woman's Club, Inc.

The project was so successful that this year the Progressive Study voted to continue it, but with another objective in mind. In addition to aiding the Woman's Club building program, the Progressive Study Club will donate a part of the proceeds from cake sales to a Midland charity. A committee has been appointed to make recommendations to the club on a charity to be adopted as a club project.

Cakes may be ordered from any member of the study club and the sales are being stressed for the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. Attractively packaged in tin boxes, ready for mailing, cakes will be sent, postpaid, anywhere in the United States or to Armed Services personnel overseas.
