Consistent Climate Helps Keep Sinusitis In Control

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D. Written for NEA Service

Every year a number of people write asking for information concerning one of mankind's most miserable afflictions—inflammation of the sinuses.

Mrs. B. says, for example, that her 19-year-old daughter is troubled with sinusitis and asks whether her daughter's skin pimples have anything to do with the sinus trouble, and whether the sinusitis is inherited. "She is a young girl," Mrs. B. says, "who should be enjoying life more than she does."

The sinus trouble does not have anything to do with this girl's pimples. The latter is most likely acne and probably is unrelated to the sinusitis. As for the second question, it can be stated that sinus trouble is not inherited directly.

Swelling of the mucous membrane which lines the sinuses lets pus and mucus secretion gather inside the sinuses and this produces pressure sensations. If the accumulated pus and mucus can be made to flow out by enlarging the opening, or can be washed out, at least temporary relief often is obtained.

The injection of drugs which shrink the mucous membrane often is helpful. This shrinking may open the passageways temporarily and thus enlarge the air space.

When the sinuses are chronically inflamed such simple measures are less likely to help. Sometimes surgery is used to make a permanent passageway for drainage. Even this, however, does not always bring relief and many people continue to complain even when a wide opening is present.

The sulfa drugs and other preparations sometimes are injected or sprayed directly into the sinuses with the purpose of killing the germs there.

In spite of everything which can be done, many people continue to suffer seriously from sinusitis and become so miserable and run-down that they consider change of climate.

Theoretically, the best climate for a person with sinusitis is one in which there is not much change in temperature between night and day. A temperature of 68 to 75 degrees with the air neither too dry nor too moist, but with a little breeze from time to time, would be ideal.

Parts of Florida and Southern California come close. Arizona and New Mexico, although quite different, appear to be good for some sinus sufferers. In most parts of these states, however, there is a great deal of fluctuation between day and night temperature and the air is too dry to be good for some people.

When a sufferer from sinusitis wishes to consider a change of residence it is best to try the new climate for several weeks or months before making a final decision.

Mountains Favorite Subjects For Artist Albert Marshall

A love for the rugged natural formations of the earth, is evident in the paintings of Albert Marshall, California artist, who will have an all-watercolor exhibit opening Friday in the Palette Club Art Center, 604 North Colorado Street.
Many of the paintings to be shown in Midland are of the mountains and mountain scenes that are a chief enthusiasm of the artist.
A native of Vermont, Marshall moved west with his family when he was a child and he grew up among the mountains and deserts of the West. He soon made the acquaintance of the desert country, which he grew to enjoy as he does the mountains. He has traveled and sketched widely in the wider regions of the Southwest.
Paints In Sierras
Much of his mountain painting has been done in the Sierra Nevada of California. As soon as summer comes, he starts out on his sketching trips, and when the Sierras are deep in snow, he turns to the desert.
Marshall's painting is modern in its interest in design and is marked by a free use of color. But he preserves the real forms and captures the spirit of his subjects with a deep feeling for the varieties of mountain and desert structure, resulting in an indifference to per-

Annual Sorority Tea Set For Wednesday

Committees of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Association have completed plans for the sorority's annual settlement school tea to be held from 3 to 6 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Don Oliver, 1509 Country Club Drive.

Mrs. Jack Tillett is in charge of arrangements. Other chairmen are Mrs. Kelly Bell and Mrs. M. T. Stalter, table decorations; Mrs. A. H. Hedden, invitations; Mrs. Robert Hamilton and Mrs. Paxton Howard, guest list; Mrs. Jack Riggs, refreshments; Mrs. Clovis Chapple, Jr., settlement display; Mrs. R. H. Mover, table appointments; Mrs. Jack Montgomery, telephone committee, and Mrs. James D. Martin, publicity.

The tea is held each year to show the work of the Settlement School to the public. The Arrow Craft products made by the school will be on display.

Located in Tennessee near Gatlinburg, Tenn., the school tries to give the community educational advantages which the county is unable to provide and to enrich and improve the community's living conditions.

The county supplies enough teachers to meet the basic educational requirements, but the Pi Beta Phi furnish instructors for arts and crafts, woodworking, physical education, health and music. The school also maintains dormitories, administered on a cooperative basis, for students who live too far back in the mountains to ride the school buses.

The teachers have encouraged the mountain residents in the revival and preservation of their old crafts and customs. The weaving, examples of which will be on display, is done by hand on simple four harness looms. All the items to be shown have been made within a radius of eight miles of Gatlinburg.

The display will include, in addition to the handmade brooms which proved popular last year, ladies handbags, aprons, scarves, stoles, skirts, table linens, place mats, napkins, dollies, bath mats, bed spreads, towels, pot holders, bibs, baby caps, robes, blankets and baskets of all sizes.

The school was begun approximately 40 years ago with only 14 students. Today it has an enrollment of more than 500. One of the features of its program is a Summer workshop held under the joint sponsorship of Pi Beta Phi and the University of Tennessee to teach skill in craft work to people from all over the country.

Club officers stressed that, although invitations were issued to the tea, anyone who is interested in seeing the Settlement School work is invited to attend.

Britain's Ruling Tory Party Faces 'No-Confidence' Vote

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's ruling Conservatives mustered their parliamentary strength to fight off a determined opposition drive Tuesday aimed at ousting the government because of its economic policies.

The battle challenge—strongest the Conservatives have faced since they took office a year ago—was sounded Monday by the Labor party's No. 2 leader, former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Charging Churchill Administration policies—which include repeal of Labor's steel nationalization—threatened a return of the mass unemployment that plagued Britain during the period between the two world wars, Morrison claimed no British government could be certain U. S. aid would be continued.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard Butler and Harry Crookshank, Tory leader of the House, took up the battle Tuesday for the Conservatives. Further Labor arguments were set by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and ex-Chancellor Hugh Gaitskell.

Under British government tradition, if Parliament approved the opposition "no confidence" motion, Churchill and his Cabinet would have to resign.

There was little likelihood of that because the Tories have an overall majority of 16 in the House of Commons and have ordered a full turnout of members for the vote Tuesday night.

It was the first time since its election in October, 1951, that a Conservative government faced an opposition "no confidence" motion. On two occasions earlier this year, however, Churchill supporters won votes of confidence initiated by themselves.

Baylor Optimistic In Drive For Funds

WACO—(AP)—Baylor University is trying to raise 50 million dollars and President W. R. White says public reaction to the campaign has been "enthusiastic and optimistic."

The money would go for new buildings and endowments. It is to be shared by Baylor campuses at Dallas and Houston as well as the main university plant here.

Dr. White's statement followed a recent meeting of about 70 leading bankers, lawyers, businessmen and theologians.

White said the goal "is ambitious without a doubt." But he said Baylor alumni and others have pledged enthusiastic support.

Baylor University, 107 years old, is operated by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The university has a medical school in Houston. The Dallas campus includes a dental college, nurses training school and hospital.

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.—(AP)—Eleanor Roosevelt is here to attend the third marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, to Dr. James A. Hales at his Malibu Ranch Tuesday night.

This is a picture — but not the full story!

UNTIL YOU READ these words you might not guess that this is a school corridor during a recent air-raid drill.

Until you read further you might not realize that this is only one brief moment of a much bigger story.

A whole city was involved in the drill! What else happened? What were the headaches? The satisfactions? What did the people say and do?

A picture, a headline, a brief announcement can whet your appetite for news, but cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

It takes many words to bring you all you want to know. Words bring meaning, words bring news. Newspapers bring news.

Only the newspaper brings you full stories day after day—pictures and sufficient words.

Only the newspaper can bring you the full story as soon as your appetite is aroused. Fast, without delay.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or the brief headline here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocket or pocketbook.

Like the news, the ads themselves have the same important local quality. No other medium can match this quality.

Add to all this the fact that newspapers reach everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most powerful advertising medium.

The newspaper is always first with the most!

Union Labor Chiefs Attend Murray Rites, Study Plans

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—Top CIO officials began arriving Tuesday to pay final tribute to their revered president, Philip Murray — and probably to try to decide on his successor.

Murray, who also headed the CIO United Steelworkers, died Sunday in San Francisco. He was making preparations for the annual CIO convention scheduled to open November 17 in Los Angeles.

Whether to postpone the convention is one of the first pieces of business officials will take up. The union's nine vice presidents will meet Wednesday to make that decision.

On Friday, the 46-member Executive Board meets to consider a possible choice to take Murray's place as head of the six-million-member CIO. The steelworkers will decide on a new leader separately.

The Top Contenders

Walter P. Reuther, 45-year-old president of the CIO United Auto Workers, and James B. Carey, 41, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, are considered top contenders.

Several others are being mentioned for the job, including Allan Haywood, vice president of the CIO in charge of organization and now acting interim president.

Selection of a new president will be made at the convention, but an Executive Board recommendation would carry weight. If the convention is postponed the board can name an acting president.

David McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the steelworkers and a long-time friend of Murray, is mentioned prominently for the USW presidency.

Guard Of Honor

Many of the union dignitaries and Pittsburgh city officials, including Mayor David L. Lawrence, formed a guard of honor as Murray's body arrived at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station early Tuesday.

The honor guard accompanied the body to a funeral home near Murray's residence in suburban Brookline. There will be a public viewing at the funeral establishment beginning late today.

A solemn Mass of requiem will be sung Thursday morning in Pittsburgh's Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. Paul. Murray will be interred in the cemetery of the Church of the Resurrection.

President Truman has designated Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin to represent him at the funeral service.

ARMY'S NEW GUNS SPEAK—Two of the Army's 280-mm guns "sound off" at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, in Maryland, during a demonstration of the huge weapons. The guns will become the world's first "atomic artillery battery" when they are eventually tested with shells carrying a nuclear fission charge.

Naming New Boss To Pose Major Crisis In CIO Ranks

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The CIO faces a major crisis Tuesday in trying to settle on a successor to Philip Murray as its head man.

Murray's death Sunday touched off latent rivalries among a number of the CIO's top men. It remains to be seen whether they can select a new leader without splitting ranks and breaking up America's junior labor federation.

Murray had been a steady influence on a score of ambitious leaders trying to forge ahead in the CIO's 40 or so unions. He pacified many potential breaks within CIO ranks before they could splash into public attention.

The labor organization's effectiveness in the coming years depends on a good deal on whom CIO leaders choose among themselves as their next president. The decision may be made at meetings this week in Pittsburgh following Murray's funeral, or at the CIO convention scheduled to begin Monday in Los Angeles.

No Merger Seen

A published suggestion that the time was ripe for the CIO to merge with the AFL was received with little enthusiasm in both AFL and CIO quarters.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, may spur renewal of the merger idea now that CIO leadership is up for decision and AFL President William Green is expected to step down before long.

But every sign pointed to continued competition between the AFL and CIO.

The coming CIO decision on Murray's successor probably will have a lot to do with the degree of militancy of organized labor in the next few years. Weak CIO leadership could result in the AFL gobbling up the CIO.

Aleman Pleaded With Falcon Dam Across Rio Grande

NUEVO LAREDO, MEXICO —(AP)—The President of Mexico, Miguel Aleman, is well pleased with the Falcon Dam across the Rio Grande.

He said so Monday after touring the Mexican side of the international dam upstream from here with other high officials.

Then they went downstream to Reynosa to dedicate the new 130-million-peso ($15,000,000) canal system which will distribute irrigation water stored at Falcon.

"I am sure the next national administration will give the same sympathetic consideration to Northern Mexico's needs," President Aleman said. He will be succeeded by Adolfo Ruiz Cortinez, December 1.

Aleman found work on schedule. A five-mile embankment is completed except for a 2,000-foot gap. Water will be diverted through the Mexican power plant late this month.

The President spent two hours at the plant.

It has been estimated that 3,000,000 bats fly out of the Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico, each night during the summer.

Repeal Of U. S. Child Labor Law Urged To Ease Texas Cotton Picker Shortage

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau has been urged to work for repeal of the federal Child Labor Law to ease the cotton picker shortage.

Sam Allen of the Dawson County Farm Bureau Monday made the proposal at a special labor conference during the bureau's convention.

"The law is depriving us of 60 per cent of our native labor in the South Plains," he said. He also complained that labor crew leaders are refusing to haul families with children under 16 from the Rio Grande Valley to the South Plains to pick cotton because of the Child Labor Law.

Favors State Control

Allen said states instead of the federal government should decide the eligibility of children under 16 to work in seasonal crops.

He advocated amendment of existing school laws, saying parents should be permitted to keep their children out of school to work in the fall harvest season. Lost time could be made up in summer schools, he added.

Allen also attacked the prevailing wage set by the U. S. Department of Labor for alien workers contracted from Mexico. He quoted the secretary of Labor as saying that the government wants to make alien labor "just as expensive and unpopular as possible."

"Let's get justice even if we have to go to court," he urged.

The manager of the Rio Grande Valley Farm Bureau, C. B. Ray of Mercedes, said the "white card" plan which becomes legal December 24 will solve labor contracting problems.

H-Bomb Plant Pickets Quit To Permit Full-Scale Work

AUGUSTA, GA. —(AP)—Full-scale construction resumed Tuesday at the vast Savannah River H-bomb plant after striking technicians withdrew their pickets.

About 200 highly skilled technical workers, members of the AFL American Federation of Technical Engineers, struck Monday in a dispute with the Miller Electrical Company of Jacksonville, Fla., a subcontractor.

Joseph Garvin of Philadelphia, union official, said picket lines and road blockades shut down all work.

About 37,000 workers are building the sprawling installation in Alcona County, S. C., 14 miles east of Augusta.

A statement by the Atomic Energy Commission, however, said picket lines delayed only "hundreds of workers" in getting to their jobs. Garvin said about half the day but left the plant when they learned the cause of the walkout.

Six Men Fired

The union official said the dispute began when the Miller company fired six highly skilled technical workers for union activity. The company had no comment, but the AEC statement said that "as of Monday" no union representative had communicated with the firm.

The decision to withdraw the pickets came Monday night at a meeting of the Augusta-Aiken Building Trades Council, a union association.

Garvin said he would meet with Miller representatives Tuesday. He said the walkout came after the company refused a request for grievance session.

Texas Gain Boosts Nation's Crude Flow To New High Mark

TULSA —(AP)—A record Texas output boosted the nation's daily average crude oil and condensate production to another all-time high during the week ended November 8, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

The No. 1 producing state's 92,525-barrel gain accounted for almost all the week's total increase — 99,075 barrels daily to 6,640,375 barrels.

The big spurt put the Journal's figures on cumulative production for the year at 1,938,956,459 barrels, compared with 1,921,736,350 at this time in 1951.

The next best gains were in California, up 7,350 barrels to 987,550; Louisiana, 5,925 to 676,700; North Dakota, 3,500 to 10,000; and Michigan, 1,600 to 38,000.

Other increases included New Mexico, 579 barrels to 173,225; and Oklahoma, 700 to 535,300.

A decrease was reported for Arkansas, down 250 barrels to 75,800.

Marge Louise Black and Jack Gilliam, who lived near the Black residence, were shot and killed after Black allegedly drove his wife to Gilliam's home. He surrendered to officers in Winnboro.

Visiting Judge Fred Erisman of Longview ordered Black transferred to Longview Monday after the state attorneys had spent part of the day discussing the case.

Black agreed to go to trial December 1 in Longview after the prosecution agreed to the charge in trial sites.

Midland WAF Captain Visits Every Capital City In Europe

By GRACE HALSELL
Special Reporter-Telegram
Correspondent

WIESBADEN, GERMANY — In less than a year overseas, WAF Captain Gertrude Waters of Midland, Texas, has seen every capital in Europe.

She likes Paris least of all. "It always comes as a surprise to people at home to hear servicemen and women don't like Paris," Captain Waters told this correspondent, as we lunched in the Palais Hotel in this resort city, famous for its mineral baths since the days when Marcus Aurelius used to come here.

"Paris is unfriendly and expensive. They see you coming, and sharpen up their knives," the captain, veteran of World War II duty in the Pacific and widow of the late Dr. Bill Waters of Midland said.

Her favorite city of Europe? "Berlin," she answers.

"Close to ruination, the people are happy-go-lucky. In every face, you can see appreciation for what the Americans have done," she believes.

"And," she continued, "here you can see the contrast between the Soviet way and the American way of life."

Born on a ranch near San Angelo, the former Gertrude Griffin attended Texas schools and during World War II served as a WAC with headquarters, 20th Air Force, in Washington, D. C., and on Guam.

In 1945, she was married to Dr. Waters, well-known Midland surgeon, who was killed in an automobile accident June 28, 1950, as he drove from Midland to San Angelo, where he had a scheduled operation.

After his death, Mrs. Waters was walking down the street in Midland when a woman stopped her and I looked across the dining room and saw Naomi Lancaster of Midland." Mrs. Lancaster makes an annual trip to Europe, Captain Waters said. "We had a nice long visit together."

Last weekend, she planned a trip to Vienna. She hopes to get to the Middle East before long.

"Wiesbaden is so centrally located that almost any place you want to see is only a few hours away by air," she says.

In all of her travels, however, she reports "I tire of all the old castles, the old buildings. I get to wishing I could see something new for a change."

Travel would not be expensive for her "if I didn't have to buy everything I see." Already, she has mailed 20 boxes of "souvenirs" back to Texas.

Prized possessions in her Palais Hotel room include an antique music box, made in Berlin, which she purchased in Berlin. The records, also made in 1820, sounded better to me than most modern tunes, especially those by Johnny Ray or Lefty Frizzell.

She has Venetian glass from Venice, Danish beer mugs from Denmark, a German rug. The Scandinavian people, she thinks, "are like Americans, the Netherlands have a wonderful sense of humor, and are the cleanest people," and Brussels, Belgium "you can have, it is more expensive than Paris."

Back To Texas Soon
Captain Waters plans to remain in the Women's Air Force "as long as it furnishes me as much excitement as it has in the past."

She does plan to return to Texas, however, within two months. She has asked for a transfer for duty in Texas.

And won't life in Texas seem a little slow-paced for a woman who takes off every weekend for Vienna, Berlin or Rome?

"At odd moments it might be strange to be back living with people who think it sheer ecstasy just to go to a rodeo," she admitted.

Still, she's ready to make the change.

SOFTEST WOOD
Softest American wood, in terms of density, is corkbark fir, which has a specific gravity of 0.38 and is found in parts of Arizona and New Mexico.

Italy has two other leaning towers besides the one at Pisa, the 163-foot Garisenda and the 320-foot Asinelli at Bologna.

On a recent flight from Florence to Venice, she sat side by side with Roberta Regan, wife of Congressman Ken Regan, of Midland.

"Neither one of us had noticed the other for a long time. We were both surprised to find two West Texans, sitting side by side and not even knowing it."

On another occasion, Captain Waters recalled "I was eating lunch in the Excelsior Hotel in Rome when asked her what she intended doing. "I guess I'll go back in the service," she answered.

"At the time I didn't think I meant it, it was just an answer for a curious-minded person, but the more I thought about it, the more it seemed the thing to do."

Re-enlisting, she was sent to Wiesbaden. She arrived here Dec. 18, 1951.

Her present title is chief of personnel movements branch. She has charge of moving dependents (wives and children) for the 12th Air Force from the United States to Europe, and all service-connected personnel back to the states.

Her job requires travel through Europe—a "requirement" she enjoys.

On a recent flight from Florence to Venice, she sat side by side with Roberta Regan, wife of Congressman Ken Regan, of Midland.

"Neither one of us had noticed the other for a long time. We were both surprised to find two West Texans, sitting side by side and not even knowing it."

On another occasion, Captain Waters recalled "I was eating lunch in the Excelsior Hotel in Rome when

GROUCHO says:

"If they gave Oscars for automobiles, the new DeSoto would win them all!"

Driver Education Course Doesn't Forget About 'Guy Behind Wheel'

"Be easy on your gas," cautioned Audrey Gill, and "Don't watch your feet." He was instructing one of his advanced classes in driver education at the senior high school in Midland.

Using an informal method of teaching, he sat in the front seat of the 1952 Ford sedan used for the course, and advised his student at the wheel as she moved through the streets of Midland in actual driving practice. The course offers one-fourth of a high school credit, and it lasts six weeks—one week of classroom instruction and five weeks on the road.

Annetta Hatch watched the streets carefully as she drove the car. Told to go ahead at a stop sign, she protested "There comes a car." Gill looked up the street and replied, "Wait 'til he gets by."

Except for one occasion when the brake was applied too quickly, and a tendency to race the motor slightly, Annetta Hatch returned the car skillfully to the high school under the watchful eye of Gill.

Last year more than 250 students went through the classes in driver education. Gill has taught the course four years. He has had specialized training for it at Abilene Christian College.

Quered about the value of the training, he assured, "Actual experience in driving is worth more than any class work I could give to the students."

Classes Smaller

This year his classes are smaller due to the change in the school system whereby the lowest grade in the high school has been transferred to the two junior high schools in Midland. At present, Gill is teaching 30 students to drive, and surprisingly enough, girls taking the course outnumber the boys about three to one.

Gill attributed this ratio to the fact that boys are permitted to use the family car more often than their sisters and get more practice in driving.

Driving classes are held twice each day, five days a week, at 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. The car used is furnished by Murray Young Motors, who takes care of the upkeep. The high school has to buy only the gas and oil used. Each year a new automobile is provided, and only the conventional shift is used in the instruction cars.

One of the biggest troubles of the instructor is that parents in many cases have taught their children the hydromatic shift, and the students coming out for instruction are unfamiliar with the standard shift. But Gill said learning the use of the clutch in driving is the most difficult task for the young drivers.

The students are taught how to start and stop, correct turns, hand signals, backing and handling the car, angle and parallel parking, and the proper position of the automobile on the street while in motion.

Right Start Given

The course is not intended to turn out finished drivers, but rather to familiarize youngsters with driving. Gill explained, "We can start them out right, but we do not prepare them completely for a license test."

The week of classroom work covers study of the Driver's Handbook provided by the Texas Highway Department. It includes the rules and regulations of driving plus valuable supplementary information.

Gill believes the driving course is a practical, necessary factor in high schools, and he says the students demand it, showing serious interest in their driving problems. Asked how long it takes to turn out a skilled driver, Gill replied that the time required varies from two hours to two years, depending on the coordination and aptitude of the student.

He had some pertinent facts to offer on highway safety. The three "E's" of driving—engineering, enforcement, and education, are emphasized in his course. Gill maintains that perhaps the most vital element of safety education—has been largely neglected until recent years in efforts to cut down the tragic loss of lives and property on our highways.

He summarized the whole situation by commenting on the three "E's." "They haven't forgot about that guy behind the wheel!"

Toul Air Base's Chaplains All From Lone Star State

By GRACE HALSELL
Correspondent

TOUL, FRANCE — Spiritually speaking, the boys at Toul Air Base should be in good hands.

All three chaplains—the Protestant, Catholic and Protestant's assistant are from Texas.

The senior chaplain is Capt. Sam E. Brian, Hardin-Simmons graduate and former assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, Brownfield. His assistant is Sgt. Wyman T. Pentecost, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pentecost of Gouldsburg.

The Catholic chaplain is Father James A. Nelson, a San Antonio native, son of Mrs. Dave Nelson of Orange. He is a Texas A&M graduate, class of 1937, and a former teacher in the seminary at LaPorte, Texas. Father Nelson holds masses every day, twice on Sundays, in the base theater.

Chaplain Brian, previous to his

Air Force assignment, served in both the Army and Navy. He has three sisters and three brothers, well known over Texas. They are Dr. A. A. Brian, vice president, Howard-Payne College, Brownwood; the Rev. W. L. Brian, pastor, Melwood Baptist Church, Brownwood; the Rev. W. P. Brian, now pastor of a church in Don Palos, Calif.; Mrs. W. F. Greenhaw, Eastland; Mrs. A. A. Howard, Silverton, and Mrs. J. F. Brisco, Morton.

Sergeant Pentecost and his five brothers and sisters have planned a big surprise for their parents—he is flying home for Christmas will get to stay 30 days in Texas.

The senior chaplain gave these church attendance figures. Out of more than 2,000 men stationed at the base, about 150 attend church on Sunday mornings.

About 35 attend on Sunday nights, he said.

Bonn Defies Arab Threat Of Boycott

BONN, GERMANY—(AP)—West Germany has defied an Arab threat of economic boycott and said she will stick by her agreement to pay Israel 719 million dollars in reparations.

The German-Israeli Pact, to repay part of the Jewish losses from Nazi persecution, brought a stern warning last week from Egyptian Premier Mohamed Naguib that the seven-nation Arab League would consider the payment aid to an enemy and would take drastic countermeasures. The Arab states technically still are at war with Israel.

But if any man hate his neighbor, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him mortally that he die, and fleeth into one of these cities.—Deut. 19:11.

It's A Big Question

Unmistakably the American people are out of sympathy with the present trend of the Korean war. Polls show they favor extending the fighting even at risk of World War III, or if that is not practicable, pulling our troops off the peninsula.

There can be no question that the presidential campaign just concluded sharply intensified the emotions of the ordinary American on the Korean issue.

In any event, it would not be fair to ascribe this situation to the extremes of campaign oratory. Nor is it fair to say that Korea as an issue had no place in the campaign.

When the United States is committed to a war, whether it be big or small, that war must be fought with the support of all the people. The lives of Americans cannot be put in jeopardy by half-hearted backing from home.

But that does not mean we may not honestly inquire into the question how we got into such a war, or whether that war is being wisely and effectively conducted.

War is not a course of action we take for granted; it is a last resort. And it can be an acknowledgment of the failure of other means short of war. We have a right to ask why a last resort was necessary. Were mistakes made? If so, who was responsible?

To say that these questions cannot be asked, to keep silent in the name of a unified or bipartisan foreign policy, is to throw out the window the whole idea of political accountability.

In gauging whether they have done well or blundered, we must not make the grave error ourselves of blaming them for matters beyond their control. The whole of world history is not made in the White House. It also is made in the Kremlin, in Downing Street, and many another capital.

But Korea was a perfectly legitimate topic for campaign discussion. The big question now is what President-elect Eisenhower will do about the people's unsettled mood.

An office is a place where some men go to rave because something went wrong at home.

The average man feels that if everybody in this country except himself could be regulated we'd get along fine.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Drew Pearson says: News blackout urged for Eisenhower's Korea trip; New GOP Administration faces many changes since 1932; Ike shunned isolationists toward campaign end.

WASHINGTON — I would like to urge fellow newsmen, radio commentators and the American public generally to undertake a voluntary news blackout on General Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea.

When Roosevelt took similar trips to Casablanca, Teheran and Yalta, the time of departure, arrival, and even the fact that he planned such trips were military secrets. No word was published in the press.

While General Eisenhower is longer than November to March. But the economy now is gigantic, dynamic, and delicate. The indication, crossed-up cooperation, or even such a thing as a small increase in the interest rate on government bonds, could throw our economies off balance.

Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma took a run-out powder on his McCarthy investigating committee by sailing to Europe without even telling fellow members that he was leaving.

Twenty years ago, when Herbert Hoover handed things over to Franklin Roosevelt, there was no atomic energy, no Korean war, no military draft, no threat of Russia, no foreign-aid program, no radar ranging defending the U. S. A.

About 15 to 20 years ago I played in several tournaments with George Reith, one of the great experts of the early days of contract bridge.

East returned a spade, hoping to stop a cross-ruff, and declare soon in his own hand with the ten of spades.
Not a bit daunted by the bad trump break, Reith led a diamond to the ace and returned the ten of hearts.

WASHINGTON—The new President of the United States may well bump his head on some tough new tax and fiscal problems weeks before he ever gets to warm his britches on his new White House chair.
For instance, how is he going to balance the budget, covering the $7,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 deficit which he will inherit from the Truman Administration in the first six months of 1953?

New X-Ray Unit Probes Into Clay Soil Problems

COLLEGE STATION.—(AP)—X-ray examination as an aid in diagnosing ailments of sick soils is now a reality at Texas A&M College.

The soil physics section of the Department of Agronomy recently placed in operation an X-ray diffraction unit which peers into the crystalline structure of soil and clay particles, then makes a graph showing their atomic structure.

Suppose, for example, that Farm-Johnson has a field of clay-type plants grown on the field show a need for potash, yet additions of potash to the soil show no effect. Why?

Through use of the X-ray unit, soil scientists now know that certain types of clay, suspended in layers similar to blankets on a bed, have a tendency to collapse when potash is added, trapping it and preventing it from becoming readily available.

Addition of potash to such soils is inefficient until a method is found—by further study—which will make the soil release the trapped potash. Analysis of different types of soils reveals which will release chemicals and which will not.

Microscope Used

The X-ray unit is not necessary on soils which have sand or other coarse minerals as a base. It will be used, in connection with the electron microscope and differential thermal unit, on particles less than 25 one-thousandths of an inch in diameter.

Combination of the X-ray diffraction unit and the electron microscope will give scientists a more complete knowledge of such soils than was possible a few years ago. Prior to the development of the electron microscope, no one had ever seen a clay particle.

Existing equipment indicated that such particles were present, but went no farther. Now the X-ray unit looks inside the particles to reveal their structural arrangement.

X-radiation equivalent to more than eight add one-half-horsepower looks at the tiny particles on a glass slide. Atomic planes of the particles reflect the rays in patterns common to that type of clay.

These reflections are scanned by a Geiger counter which emits electrical impulses to draw a graph-picture of the particles. Another section of the machine operates a special camera which records a different type of picture on film. Comparison of the graph and the film gives the scientist a clear-cut idea of the particle's nature.

The X-ray unit will be used immediately on a number of problem soils, including several selected by the Southern Soil Research Committee, composed of 13 states. These states have agreed to cooperate on soil-fertility problems common to at least three of them.

In addition, it will be used on soil-fertility problems found only in Texas and neighboring states.

Naturally, knowledge of soil structure and peculiarities will be useful in studies other than soil-fertility. For example, construction engineers will find it useful in computing expansion and shrinkage factors as well as heat and water transference.

Research On Water

Water engineers will be interested in findings of the unit in regard to effect of clays on soft-water, and the unit will be used in close cooperation with the vast water resources study recently launched by the A&M College System.

Dr. George W. Kunsz will operate the unit. He is a native of Wanda, near La Grange, and received the BS and MS degrees from A&M College. His doctorate was granted by Penn State for work in factors affecting the availability of potash in soils.

Dr. J. P. Page heads the Soil Physics Section in which a major portion of the analysis work will be done. He also is chairman of the Technical Subcommittee of the Southern Soil Research Committee, and will help to correlate activities of the committee.

Both Dr. Kunsz and Dr. Page are quick to say the X-ray diffraction unit is not a panacea for all clay soil ills. It is only one of many tools used in soil study.

Just as better-known X-ray units are used in a hospital to study the human make-up and help find breaks, fractures or other ailments, so is the X-ray diffraction unit used to study soil make-up for clues to failures and their causes.

HIT BY INFLATION—A prime example of how inflation gives the taxpayers less for their money is symbolized by the SS Old Dominion Mariner, above. It is one of a fleet of "Mariner" ships being built for the government to replace the old Liberty and Victory ships of World War II. In 1950 Congress appropriated $350,000,000 to provide 50 such ships at $7,000,000 apiece. But today—two inflation years later—the average contract price for the first 25 Mariner ships is $8,500,000 and the cost per ship will have risen to nearly $10,000,000 apiece before the last one is completed in 1954. So the U. S. will get only 35 Mariners instead of the desired 50.

The MATURE PARENT Children Who Have Tantrums Want You To Immobilize Them

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Rick was six months past his fourth birthday when he began to develop tantrums.

His mother set herself to reading up on them and learned somewhere that she was to search out their causes.

When Rick appeared about to have a tantrum, she tried to obey. While he lowered his head to butt her better, swung back his leg to kick her harder and flailed his fists to reach her face, she said soothingly, "Tell mummy why you're angry, dear. No, wait—listen to mummy. Just think, Rickie! What has mummy done to hurt you?"

Rickie didn't understand the motives of his tantrum himself. So he didn't want to be asked to analyze them for someone else. What he wanted was one sure hand to immobilize the flailing arms, another to hold aside the kicking leg and a firm voice to say, "I will not let you hurt me. You can WANT to hurt me, but you cannot DO it. So stop trying to..."

his mother. For a little boy so dependent upon us, an evil thing that befalls us befalls him, too. So he doesn't really want one to happen.

When he shouts that he wishes to scratch our face and make us bleed, we say we know he does—and by our lack of concern, relieve him from the terror that his wish may come true. By our unalarmed assurance that we have every intention of preserving an unscratched face and keeping our blood where it belongs.

But—allow Rick to actually hurt us, and we cannot reassure him that we are unaffected by his evil wish. Now he's got the fact of blood on his mother's cheek to cope with. Give that to a four-year-old imagination to work on, add a few shocked reproaches from daddy and grandma—and we must see that we have the makings of a pretty nasty nightmare.

Older Autos Cause Fewer Road Mishaps

DENVER.—(AP)—A Colorado official came up with some rather surprising statistics for those who might think old, worn automobiles are responsible for most fatal highway accidents.

C. F. Fugate, director of the state revenue department, said 192 motor vehicles were adjudged at fault in accidents which caused 221 deaths in Colorado up to September 1. Of these cars, 138 were postwar models and only 20 of them had been manufactured by 1938.

He didn't get this comforting control. Instead, he was allowed to lunge at his mother and draw blood from a scratch down her cheek.

Two nights later, he woke up crying from a nightmare.

Rick's mother is, as they say, his "security." By this they mean she is the well of all nourishment, the certain wall between Rick and Nothingness. When you are four years old, you do not want to draw blood from a person who means that that you, if you hurt such a person, are terribly frightened. You can imagine that you've wrecked your "security" beyond repair.

You have nightmares.

To avoid frightening little children out of their wits in this manner, we should get clear on the difference between encouraging them to express their evil wishes for us in words or other harmless ways—and permitting them to express such wishes in actual physical attack.

We encourage Rick to discuss his evil wishes for us for a loving reason. We know that he is terribly uneasy when wishing evil things for a person as necessary to him as

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail Yellow Socks

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, one day sat down by the Elephant Path, waiting to see what he could see. Ah yes, and ah me, and pretty soon he saw it.

He saw a man come walking along, and walking through the Elephant Path, walking along the snow. The man's feet made a noise of crunch, crunch, crunch as he walked. He was wrapped up tight with an overcoat because the day was cold, cold. Funny thing, the man wore yellow socks upon his ears. One sock was on his ear. Another sock was on the other ear. The toes of the socks were pointing out straight to the side.

"Happy day there, Mr Man-With-Socks-On-Your-Ears," said Daddy Ringtail.

The man stopped. He reached up his hands to feel and be sure that the toes of the socks were pointing out exactly the way he wanted them to. "Nice weather we are having," said the man.

"Nice weather indeed," Daddy Ringtail agreed with a friendly smile.

"Yesir," said the man with the socks on his ears, "this is nice weather we are having, except some people that maybe it will snow again."

"Oh, I don't know," said Daddy Ringtail. "It might snow again, and then again, it might not." The man nodded his head up and down to agree with this. The socks on his ears wiggled and waggled when he nodded. Said the man: "Any questions you want to ask me, Daddy Ringtail?"

"No," said Daddy Ringtail, "no questions at all."

The man stopped shaking his head up and down. He said: "You don't even want to ask me why I walk along with yellow socks on my ears and the toes pointing out to the side?"

"Why," said Daddy Ringtail, "I imagine you walk along with yellow socks on your ears with the toes pointing out to the side because you want to keep your ears warm."

The man jumped up and down with a happy smile when he heard these words. He shook Daddy Ringtail's hand up and down. Yesir and why would anyone walk along with yellow socks on his ears with the toes pointing out to the side if he didn't want to keep his ears warm? He wouldn't, I guess. Happy day!

GOP Administration Brings Hope To Oil Industry On Curb Problems

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Some oil spokesmen here feel that these regulations likely will be renewed. The chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee under GOP control will be Representative Reed (R-NY), who was among those blocking efforts of the Truman Administration to cut the tax depletion allowance of oil operators from 27 1/2 to 15 per cent.

Interesting Changes

Several other congressional changes are of particular interest to the oil industry.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), is in line for chairmanship of the Senate Commerce Committee, which handles legislation concerning pipeline, oil tankers, trucks and railroad tank cars.

The chairman of the House Commerce Committee will be Representative Wolverton (R-NJ), one of the best-informed men in the nation on the oil industry, aside from technical phases. He is the last remaining member of the congressional group which inspected the East Texas oil fields in the early 1930's when "hot" oil was selling for as low as 10 cents a barrel. Out of that situation grew the Connally Hot Oil Act prohibiting interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation laws.

Gone from the congressional scene will be one figure long prominent in oil and gas affairs, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the Senate Interior Committee.

Senator Butler (R-Neb), is in line to succeed him in the committee chairmanship.

Tidelands Bill Coming

The Tidelands controversy undoubtedly will arise early in the new Congress, with prospects that a bill giving the state clear title to these off-shore areas will be enacted into law. President-elect Eisenhower has said he would sign such a measure. President Truman vetoed such a bill this year.

Departure of O'Mahoney from the Senate removes an outspoken proponent of federal control of the offshore oil lands.

The change in administrations is not expected to have any particular effect on the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD). Although the PAD is set up under the Interior Department, which will get a new head to replace Oscar Chapman, the oil agency itself is manned on a strictly non-partisan basis.

Some Increase Seen

"The OPA ceiling was so low that a severe shortage was developing. We're now in a lot better position, relatively speaking. Some increase would result from removal of present controls. This would stimulate drilling and increase production, so that the law of supply and demand would prevent runaway prices."

That sort of rise in prices shouldn't occur again for several reasons," Brown said.

Priorities and allocations of critical materials will expire June 30 unless Congress extends them. With shortages of strategic materials continuing because of the Korean War and the defense program, most petroleum industry
