NE Andrews Is Site For Deep Test

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and J. C. Barnes will re-enter a San Andres failure in Northeast Andrews County and will deepen to 13,500 feet for tests of the Ellenburger.

The deepening will be from 3,886 feet where Anderson-Prichard plugged and abandoned the project in 1949. It is to test the Ellenburger as No. 1-E University.

Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 7, block 7, Unity Lands survey.

It will be drilled on a spread of leases including the north half of section 37, block 5; the north half of the southeast quarter of section 37, block 5; west half of section 49, block 6; northwest quarter of section six, block 7; west half of section 7, block 7; southeast quarter and the south half of the northeast quarter of section 1, block 8.

Anderson-Prichard and J. C. Barnes will share 50-50 in the drilling of the deep wildcat.

Continental Oil Company and Anderson-Prichard hold lease on the remainder of the drilling block. Conoco previously held half interest in the after-dark Communist infantry assault.

Continental No. 1-B University is an Ellenburger failure at total depth of 3,848 feet, one and three-quarters miles south of the deepening project.

Haynes & V-T Report Potential For Howard Test

Haynes & V-T Drilling Company No. 1 Chester L. Jones, wildcat in the Coronet 2000-foot area of Northeast Howard County, has been completed for a daily pumping potential of 118 barrels of 22-gravity oil.

It was completed from open hole pay at 2,860-2,879 feet after a 2,500-gallon acid treatment. No water was made with the oil.

Location is 2,310 feet from west 330 feet from north lines of section 15, block 26, H&VTC survey.

It previously was reported, in error, that this project was plugged as a failure.

It is one and one-eighth miles south and three-eighths mile east of the discovery well of the field.

The same concern staked site for No. 2 Jones 990 feet, from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 15, block 26, H&VTC survey. It will go to 3,000 feet.

Superior Tester In Borden Gets Free Oil On DST

The Superior Oil Company No. 2-517 E. H. Lemons, south offset to a recently completed one-half-mile extension to the Fluvanna (Mississippi) field of Northeast Borden County, found oil on a drillstem test in the Mississippi.

The test was taken in the interval from 8,175 to 8,202 feet. Tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in 37 minutes. Recovery was 325 feet of fluid. It was 66 feet of free oil, 10 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud, 210 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 45 feet of heavily oil-cut mud. Mud pressure was 435 pounds and 30 minute shut-in pressure was 2,875 pounds.

Operator was running logs.

Location is 990 feet from north and west lines of section 517, block 97, H&VTC survey.

Ibex, Windfohr Will Re-Enter Mitchell Project

The Ibe Company and R. F. Windfohr of Breckinridge No. 1 S. E. Elliott is to be deepened to 4,400 feet with cable tools for tests of Clear Fork.

The project was originally drilled by Hickox & Reynolds, and completed from a sand plugged back depth of 2,800 feet for a daily pumping potential of 73 barrels of oil.

It is located 330 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 25, block 26, T-1-N, T&P survey and in West-Central Mitchell County and in the Westbrook field area.

Operations are to start at once.

Five MIG's Fall As New Ace Emerges

SEOUL—(AP)—U. S. Sabre jets Monday shot down at least five Communist MIG-15's over Northwest Korea, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported. The series of air battles produced the 21st American jet ace of the Korean War.

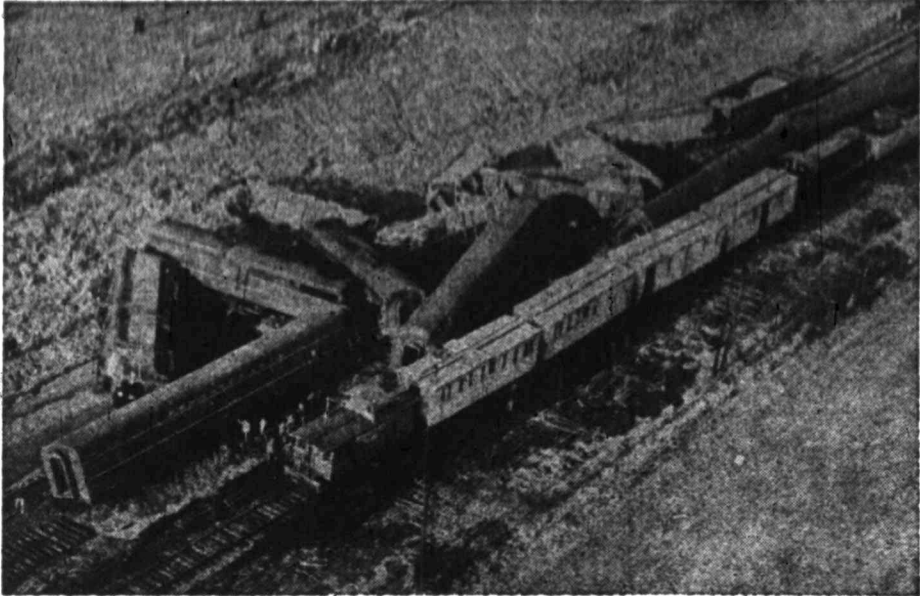

A sixth destruction claim is pending confirmation. In addition one MIG was listed as probably destroyed and one damaged. Allied losses, if any, were not announced.

The new ace is Col. Royal Baker of McKinney, Texas. He got one MIG Monday to raise his total to five MIG's and one LA-9 propeller-driven fighter destroyed.

Along the ground, Red Chinese artillery threw a thunderous hour-long barrage at blood-soaked Pinpoint Hill and Rocky Mount. It may have been a prelude to an after-dark Communist infantry assault.

Latest reports said Southern Korean defenders were withstanding the barrage.

The terrific artillery fire broke a short-lived lull all along the bleak, shell-pocked 155-mile battlefield, hit Monday by freezing cold and snow.

LOOKS WORSE THAN IT WAS—The twin-diesel locomotive and five cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad's crack Manhattan Limited sprawl along the right-of-way near Loudonville, Ohio, after a freak accident in which three passengers and two crewmen were injured seriously, and 96 passengers shaken up. A freight train plowed into a derailed car of the New York to Chicago passenger train, derailing 11 of its 12 cars.

Young Sex Exhibitionist To Get Psychiatrist's Aid

A bewildered 22-year-old Midland man looked forward hopefully Monday to a visit to a psychiatrist.

"I know there's something wrong," he explained as city and county authorities studied his case, "but I can't explain what it is."

"Maybe this psychiatrist can help. I am hoping he can straighten everything out for me."

The handsome, dark-haired youth was arrested by city police Saturday afternoon and readily admitted that he had exposed himself to young women on at least three occasions during the last two weeks.

"I don't know why I did it," he explained. "A strange sensation just came over me. My face broke out in perspiration and everything went blurry in front of my eyes. Sorry it happened."

"After it was over I was sorry it happened—real sorry. One time I went back and told the girl I was sorry it happened and would do anything to make it right with her."

"She just looked at me like I was crazy, though, and hurried away."

Police Chief Harold Wallace said a charge of indecent exposure would be filed against him in Corporation Court and his parents had agreed to pay a $100 fine.

"I have talked to all the parties concerned," said County Attorney Reagan Legg, "and they all agree that the best thing to do is have him receive psychiatric treatment."

"His parents have promised they will take him immediately to a psychiatrist and that is agreeable to the parents of the young ladies involved."

The youth, who has been employed in Midland several weeks as a draftsman, said he had been married two and one-half years and "was very happy together."

He had been sought two weeks since a 19-year-old Midland High School girl reported that a strange man had driven up in an automobile and exposed himself to her.

Stabilization Boss Hears Plea For Full Coal Wage Increase

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A spokesman for the soft coal industry, urging government approval for a $1.90 a day pay raise for coal miners, said Monday he doubted it would encourage higher wages in other industries.

Harry M. Moses, the industry spokesman, was the first witness at an informal public hearing called by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam of the miners' pay case.

The industry agreed to a $1.90 increase but the WSB ruled that only $1.50 could be allowed under the government's inflation control rules. Moses and Union Leader John L. Lewis appealed the WSB ruling to Putnam.

The case may involve the whole future of the wage control program. Putnam faced a real dilemma. The WSB's industry members have warned that approving the full $1.90 raise would make a mockery of wage controls. But the WSB's labor members argued that the miners should be allowed more money in wage increases because other workers enjoy better vacation and other privileges than do the miners.

It was widely expected the miners would quit the pits again if Putnam went along with the WSB and didn't allow the full pay increase.

Christmas Lights To Glow On City At 6 P.M. Monday

Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing will push a button promptly at 6 p.m. Monday to light up the downtown section of this headquarters city of the Permian Basin Empire.

At the same time, Christmas-decorated display windows will be unveiled by most of the city's retail merchandise stores.

The turning on of the lights and the unveiling of the store windows will mark the official opening of the 1952 Christmas shopping season in Midland.

All stores are ready for the anticipated Christmas-buying spree, which will continue through Christmas Eve. The business establishments are well stocked with quality merchandise of all kinds, and shoppers will have no difficulty in finding just what they want in Midland stores.

Santa Claus will arrive in Midland Thursday afternoon, December 4, for his annual pre-Christmas Eve visit with the youngsters of Midland and vicinity.

A gigantic parade is being arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in honor of the distinguished visitor. The parade is scheduled to move through the streets at 5 p.m. that day.

Ike-Truman Talks May Show World U. S. Unity For Peace

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congressional leaders expect President-elect Eisenhower and President Truman to agree at their conference here Tuesday on a statement telling the world America is united in its quest for peace.

The first meeting in months of Truman and the man who will succeed him brings together two historic figures who once worked as a team on foreign problems but who used harsh words to describe each other's views during the presidential campaign.

For this reason, some leaders in Congress who didn't want to be quoted said they believe a joint statement clearly is needed to reassure the free world there is no deep-seated division over U. S. foreign policies.

Eisenhower promised during the campaign to make Democrats "real partners" in working out basic foreign policies and Tuesday's meeting—designed to aid an orderly transition from the Democratic to the Republican regime—will be regarded by some as the first test of his intentions.

The President-elect already has said he will not share in nor assume responsibility for any Administration decisions before he is formally inaugurated January 20.

For this reason, few expect him to do more than listen to a briefing on the international and domestic situation.

Officials familiar with plans for the meetings said Truman's primary purpose in suggesting them was to make certain Eisenhower is informed of major world problems, and how the present Administration intends to deal with them.

These officials believe the sessions will cover several other points of importance:

1. Eisenhower probably will be given a fill-in on hydrogen bomb progress.

2. Truman may urge Eisenhower to name top cabinet members dealing with foreign and security problems—State, Defense and Treasury—within two weeks and get them to work with present officials to "learn the ropes."

3. The Administration is expected to tell Eisenhower and his advisers that a statement by him on the Korean situation, endorsing the present policy of insisting on voluntary repatriation of prisoners of war in any armistice agreement, would greatly strengthen current dealings at the UN General Assembly.

4. Eisenhower will be given a chance to express his views on foreign policy and asked for comments on Administration intentions as they are explained to him. Highly placed officials said Truman will take Eisenhower's views into consideration in making decisions between now and January 20.

Cold Front Brings Only Feeble Rains

By The Associated Press
Feeble showers fell in widely separated parts of Texas early Monday. Rain has been predicted for most of the state.

Sprinkles fell in Dallas and College Station. "You could have been out in it and all you'd have gotten was a few drops on your glasses," a weatherman said.

Shortly after midnight, light rains fell at Austin and Childress.

The showers came in from Oklahoma and Kansas with a gray cloud blanket blown south by the cold front.

Fire Danger Remains
The blasting winds that preceded the cold front may have been indirectly responsible for a plane crash that killed five near Dalhart Sunday night. Twice the plane, with only a small amount of gas left, attempted to land at the Dalhart Airport but dust and wind gusts up to 60 miles an hour forced it away each time. Then the plane disappeared and the wreckage was found shortly afterwards.

As the deer hunting season opened Sunday, hunters in the Kerrville area found many ranches had not opened for hunting because of the dry weather and consequent danger of fire.

In Canadian, 40 landowners petitioned Gov. Allan Shivers for a ban on hunting in the Panhandle until the season ends or until general rains fall.

FIRST VENISON REACHES CITY

Fresh venison was on the menu in several Midland homes Monday as hunters returned with their bag of deer. The season opened Sunday in Texas and Midland hunters were out in force.

The C. J. M. Packing Company received the first deer for processing early Monday from Paul J. James, 3121 Thomas Street. But the animal was brought down in northwest Colorado, not Texas.

More than one dozen deer had been brought in by hunters for storage at the packing house by noon Monday, forerunners of others expected in Midland as the hunters return with their kill.

Shrine-For-Ike Plan Draws Little Backing

DALLAS—(AP)—A movement to make a national shrine to President-elect Eisenhower in Denison, sparked by a Dallas man and boomed by the Denison Herald, was slogging along at a slow pace Monday.

"Everybody thinks it is beautiful idea—and that's all," said Claud Easterly, editor of the Denison Herald.

He said the paper has received little response to its editorial plea for funds.

Starving Ko-Red Civilians Would Like UN Offensive

TOKYO—(AP)—An Allied Intelligence survey says civilian morale in North Korea has dropped to "catastrophic depths" and "the majority of the population... would welcome a UN offensive to terminate the war."

The survey, compiled by Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command, says an all-out Red offensive is extremely remote and almost impossible from a supply standpoint.

The report makes these main points:

North Korea probably would collapse immediately without Russian and Chinese Communist backing.

Troop morale at the Red front is good. But the soldiers are being fed at the cost of near-starvation among civilians.

Near-famine conditions exist in many areas. Much of the civilian population is migratory, looking for food.

About 75 per cent of North Korea's food production is confiscated for the armies. Communist leaders maintain control only through inflated police state methods.

Civilians have all but abandoned the cities. The Red capital, Pyongyang has only one-tenth its prewar population of 500,000.

North Korean workers receive the equivalent of 50 cents a day. An ordinary aspirin tablet costs a day's wages.

The North Korean economy is virtually non-existent. Near area industry is on a shoe-string basis.

North Korea can produce only arm and light equipment—and that in limited amounts. Heavy equipment such as tanks, aircraft, artillery pieces and big shells must come from Russia or Red China.

Electric Plants Wrecked

The report was compiled to determine some of the broad effects of air power as employed in Korea.

The report said Allied bombing raids have all but wrecked North Korea's hydro-electric plants.

"A great percentage of the population of Korea is now of the opinion that the increased bombing effort is a prelude to a United Nations offensive," the report said. "More important is the attitude of the majority of the population which now would welcome a United Nations offensive to terminate the war."

Army Strong Man Pledges Stable Nation

ATHENS—(AP)—The caretaker Greek government resigned Monday and King Paul immediately appointed Marshal Alexander Papagos, overwhelming victor in Sunday's parliamentary elections, prime minister. The new cabinet will be sworn in Wednesday noon.

Official figures from the Interior Ministry gave Papagos' right wing Greek Rally Party 241 seats in the new 300-member Parliament to only 59 for the leftist-center coalition headed by Gen. Nicholas Plastiras. Papagos' party won the most seats in 1951 elections, too, but King Paul entrusted the government then to Plastiras' coalition.

India Offers Plan To End Korean War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—India has introduced in the UN Assembly a four-page resolution intended to be a compromise plan for ending the Korean conflict, an informed source said Monday. The text is to be made public later.

A key point of the resolution was reported to be a proposal that all prisoners be sent to a demilitarized zone immediately after a cease-fire has taken effect in Korea. A four-power Commission would screen the prisoners and determine whether they want to return home or go to other countries.

V. K. Krishna Menon, deputy leader of the Indian delegation, has been consulting various delegations on the resolution several days. It was reported to have been sent to the UN Secretariat for processing Monday.

This became known as the UN's 60-nation Political Committee prepared to resume debate on the Korean question Monday afternoon.

Assailed by his opponents as a would-be dictator, military hero Papagos had promised a vigorous housecleaning of the heretofore-shaky Greek government.

Soldier Since Youth
A soldier since his youth, Papagos first gained fame as commander-in-chief of the Greek Army which repulsed Mussolini's vaunted forces in early World War II and drove them back to the heart of Albania.

After the Germans occupied Greece, he was taken hostage in 1943 and kept in concentration camps. The victorious American Fifth Army freed him in May, 1945.

In January, 1948, he took command of Greek forces locked in a stalemate with Communist rebels in the Northern mountains. Aided by American advisers and military supplies, the marshal in slightly more than seven months whipped his army into shape and won a crushing victory over the guerrillas.

Papagos resigned his command in May, 1951.

Exclusively Yours: Wipe the fog off your horn-rimmed glasses, men—Hollywood designer Jean Louis has come up with a few inches of underwear that a movie queen can wear without getting slapped down by the censors.

Johnnie Ray is groaning over the singing-acting screen test he made for Fox. "I didn't like it," the Weeper told me. "I guess I'm too critical of myself." Johnnie admits to a hankering to star in remakes of some of Henry Fonda's old flickers.

Eight Children Orphaned As Auto Kills Both Parents

SEATTLE—(AP)—Eight Seattle children were left orphans Monday by the traffic death of their father and mother. A 16-year-old girl left as nominal head of the family was trying to make plans to keep the family under one roof.

The parents, Halldor A. Byron, 38, a longshoreman, and his wife Josephine, 35, were killed Sunday by an automobile as they walked along a Seattle road.

The surviving children are Beverly, 16, and Robert, 17, who left home Friday night for San Diego to receive boot camp training in the Navy, and three younger children: Harry, 14; Darrell, 13; Flora, 12; Keith, 11; Jonny, six, and Vickie, five.

Coroner John P. Brill, Jr., said a chaplain at San Diego said he would aid in getting a leave or discharge for Robert.

Meanwhile, assured of aid by relatives, Beverly said she hopes to keep the family together. How she will go about it, she didn't know.

Choice Of The People

General Eisenhower is the freest man to win the White House in a very long time.

The meaning of this for the future is great, if the President-elect seizes the opportunity which is his.

The 32,000,000 voters who chose Eisenhower are a vast, unorganized majority.

Stunning as was their action on November 4, they did not by that fact create a lasting Republican majority in this nation.

But the point of immediate importance is not that the old blocs still exist.

Ironically, this was the thing that was said about Eisenhower when his name first was mentioned for the presidency.

But then, when the Spring primaries came on, the picture seemed altered.

Far from rolling ahead without opposition, Ike met terrific force and had to battle like a tiger right down to the convention deadline at Chicago before winning.

It appeared many who had told him the country would be his at a stroke—men like Governor Dewey, Paul Hoffman and Senators Lodge and Duff—had given him false intelligence.

Into the forefront, if not the ascendancy, moved men who had been impressed by all the signs of opposition.

Now we know that these men vastly underrated his strength with the people.

On past performance and on faith.

As Dewey, Lodge and Duff were right in their fundamental estimate. They were wrong only in misjudging the vigor and vocal force of the entrenched elements of the Republican Party who stood in opposition to the general.

Eisenhower has the "clear call to duty" he said he wanted to hear.

Give Controls Their Due

It is not incorrect to declare that inflation is a reality in the American life of today.

Nevertheless, it would be erroneous to suggest that there has been a great inflationary upsurge in the last year and a half.

Since March, 1951, the overall upward movement of prices has been relatively small.

No need here to dwell on those changes, except to say they allow the Federal Reserve Board to adopt a tougher attitude on the purchase price of government bonds issued by the Treasury.

The lesson here is that, while all the furor over inflation surrounds the issue of controls, it has proved a tighter lid on government financial operations that really has slowed the upward spiral of prices.

Which Ike Will He Receive?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Ike plans Formosa trip to inspect Chiang Kai-Shek's troops; Air Force sergeants try to sell military secrets; McCarthy probes harasses Senate Elections Committee.

WASHINGTON—While the time of arrival, etc., should not be revealed, General Eisenhower has decided that it would be foolish for him to go to the Far East without stopping at one of the most controversial spots in that area—Formosa.

Although Senators Welker of Idaho and Gillette of Iowa have been induced to resign from the committee, another Republican, Sen. a. r. Bob Hendrickson, despite considerable pressure, has stuck to his guns.

Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, a Democratic committee member, left for Europe without even telling colleagues.

Yet McCarthy consistently dodged giving the committee any explanation of his strange transactions.

Many senators, including Republicans, feel that for the honor of the Senate these matters should be cleared up one way or the other.

These suspended, inconclusive investigations, plus the Nixon expense fund, have given the public the impression most senators are subsidized, which is not the case.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

For the next few weeks Monday will be bridge lesson day, and I'll discuss bidding according to the point-count method so that beginners and average players can learn how the experts bid.

Just in case you're not familiar with the point-count, here it is: Count four points for each ace in your hand; three for each king; two for each queen; one for each jack.

There are 10 points in each suit, and 40 points in the entire deck. You and your partner usually need 26 points to make a game; 33 points for a small slam; 37 for a grand slam.

In today's hand South must open the bidding since he has a count of 14 points. Some experts would open the bidding with one club even though this is a three-card suit. Other experts would prefer the more natural opening bid of one heart.

In either case, North responds with one spade, and South must make the rebid of one no-trump. This rebid shows balanced distribution and no more than 16 points.

If South had more than 16 points, he would find some other bid even if he had to "invent" one.

North has a count of 12 points and therefore knows that there should be a reasonable play for game if South has about 14 points.

His jump to game is mildly optimistic, but not unreasonable. Declarer must win the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades and immediately return a low heart.

South finesses the ten of hearts at the second trick, partly in the hope that the finesse will succeed as it will if East has both the queen and jack's and partly in the hope that the suit will break favorably.

West wins the second trick with the queen of hearts and can defeat the contract only if he makes the inspired switch to the king of diamonds. If West fails to find the diamond shift, declarer will win the return and make his contract with three aces, three hearts, and three clubs.

As may be seen, the contract is a trifle on the risky side, but every experienced player can remember far riskier hands that he has played and won.

CARD Sense

The bidding has been: North 1 Heart, East Pass, South 2 Hearts, West Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q, 3-2, Hearts K-9-7, Diamonds 9-2, Clubs K-J-5-4. What do you do?

Answer: Bid one spade. You have enough points for a double raise, but cannot afford to do so with only three cards in partner's suit. The double raise always shows strong

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Basic Housing Policy Decision Is The New President's Stake

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Federal government housing policies are silhouetted sharply on the political horizon as the dawn of a new administration breaks over Washington.

While there is considerable feeling in the building industry that the government ought to get out of housing and let private business do the job, the new President won't find it easy to abolish all government housing programs. In fact, he would find it impossible to do so.

The government is in too many housing activities now to get out. And if the government did withdraw from all housing programs, including mortgage guarantees, the real estate and building industries probably would be the first to scream the loudest.

What's at stake for the new President, therefore, is a basic policy determination on whether to have a positive housing program enlarging present activities, or whether to carry on passively at present or reduced levels. There are some six different fields in which this must be decided.

Most controversial program, perhaps, is public housing. Will the new President want to continue the present ceilings on new project starts?

The 1949 housing act authorized starts on 135,000 units a year. President Truman reduced this to 75,000 units shortly after the Korean war began. Congress cut it back further by 25,000 units. The National Association of Public Housing officials met in Washington recently and advocated that the program go forward at the 135,000 annual rate.

FHA Insurance Dispute In the private building field, there is some dispute over whether to continue Federal Housing Administration insurance on improvement loans granted without mortgages.

Congress set this up on a $1,250,000,000 revolving fund basis. There has been a tremendous amount of business in this field.

The fund now is so largely committed that FHA can handle only a small part of the applications for insurance guarantees that it receives. A large part of the building industry favors continuing and enlarging the program. But there is some small feeling that the insurance demand now has been largely taken care of.

FHA's building mortgage insurance program authorization will be exhausted June 30. The question for the new President is how much it should be expanded. The total FHA mortgage insurance authorized is $11,800,000,000. Of this amount, approximately $8,200,000,000 is outstanding and $1,700,000,000 more is committed. The remaining $1,900,000,000 uncommitted will last only until June.

About one-third of the total U. S. mortgage business now is FHA insured. When this mortgage insurance four-card trump support. Hence, you bid your own suit first and await development.

TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding has been: South 1 Heart, West Pass, North 2 Spades, East Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades 4-2, Hearts A-J-10-8, Diamonds K-Q-7-2, Clubs K-6-4. What do you do? Answer Tuesday

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shellit

"Go get him," Torchy growled. "Go get him, jerk." said a disgusted voice, and there was an indignant mutter low down, and footsteps tramped away.

"The door went in—Torchy gasped and staggered backward—a pink-wrapped swift of fury charged out into us.

"Midge, it's Morrison, take it easy," I buzzed at her, jamming my shoulder against her, my bruised skull twinging.

"You certainly took your time getting here," "Thanks. Get this rope off me." She tugged at the knot. "Who tied this?" she panted.

"Let it alone—we've got to move. Torchy, down the same way we came up. Midge, you follow right behind me. If anything happens, run out the front door into the woods—they'll never find you."

"Cooks stood at the sink, wiping a big aluminum pot. My entrance seemed to do something to him. He gave a hoarse like a kicked dog reeked around and plunked out the back door, hugging the pot against his chest.

"Run!" I jabbed Torchy. Torchy spluttered, but Midge grabbed up a bread knife pinked Torchy in the rear, and made good time out the door.

"Let it alone—we've got to move. Torchy, down the same way we came up. Midge, you follow right behind me. If anything happens, run out the front door into the woods—they'll never find you."

"You heard him," Midge waved the big knife at his nose. Torchy dodged. "That's a knife you got there."

"I crunched up Torchy's wrists exactly the way he'd accented me. 'Where'd you learn the fancy knife-work, Midge?' I said admiringly. 'My parents always taught me the proper way to use the silver-ware,' she said stiffly.

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

A touch of ridicule once averted a physical encounter in the Missouri legislature. Two members were advancing toward each other when the presiding officer called out, "If you two don't quiet down, I'll order the chaplain to take both of you in custody." There was a general laugh and the two returned to their seats.

Good advice to after-luncheon speakers: "If you haven't hit it in 20 minutes, stop boring."

Monday's Laundry, Shaggy Lawns Greet Queen's Duke

HARLOW NEW TOWN, ENGLAND.—(AP)—A Monday washing crisis that developed with Monday's visit here of the Duke of Edinburgh has been cleaned up.

Somebody told someone else who immediately informed her neighbor that the Queen's husband would not like to see Monday wash strung on the line in this Essex town.

The same informants passed on the information that the duke wanted lawns neatly cut when he arrived.

Ike Faces Crucial Round Of Parleys

AUGUSTA, GA.—(AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower probably will decide this week — after conferences with President Truman and GOP congressional leaders — whether to make a pre-inauguration statement on repatriation of Korean war prisoners.

Eisenhower, spending his last day of vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club, flies to Washington Tuesday for a history-making session with Truman at the White House.

On Wednesday he will meet in New York with a quartet of Republicans who will have key roles in the GOP-controlled 83rd Congress, convening January 3.

In Manhattan, the general will confer first with Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, slated to be speaker of the House. They will discuss plans for a legislative program.

The general also has conferences scheduled Wednesday with Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who may serve as Senate majority leader, and Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. Wiley, in line to head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly now meeting in New York.

All four GOP leaders probably will get a report from Eisenhower on his conference Tuesday with Truman.

Eisenhower will also hold separate conferences at his New York headquarters Wednesday with Jackman from Texas, and Louis K. Gough, national commander of the American Legion.

Scheduled to come in together for another meeting with the general that day are Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who was Eisenhower's political chief of staff during the campaign, and Herbert Brownell, Jr., an Eisenhower adviser and former chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Additional important conferences are being arranged for Thursday and Friday in New York.

Some of those sessions may deal with the general's forthcoming trip to Korea—and possibly may bring a decision on when he will depart for the war zone.

The exchange of students has been operating in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine and social work education. Under a system of contracts, 1,000 students (700 white and 300 negro) are crossing state lines for training not available at home.

The board's executive committee, headed by Browning, approved the proposal Sunday.

The foundation would be financed by gifts and grants and, said Browning, "industries in the South will want to make contributions."

The purpose of the proposed foundation is to further education, research and service in professional, technological, scientific, literary and other fields.

Southern governors created the board in February, 1948, and by legislative appropriations a dual program has been undertaken. The program includes (1) an exchange of students among the states to give the student a wider choice of an institution specializing in his subject, with the states compensating each other for the expense of out-of-state students, and (2) supervision of cooperative planning in

Cadillac

It May Be Starting a Million Miles!

Happy, happy man! His time has come to own the "car of cars" . . . and there he goes for the first thrilling ride at the wheel.

But what an additional thrill he would have if he could look down the long, long road that car will travel before it comes to its final stop!

For then he would know, beyond any doubt, that he has just taken possession of one of the mechanical masterpieces of all time!

Accurate records of Cadillac mileage are seldom kept throughout the car's whole span of life. For the average Cadillac has a succession of owners—and its accumulative mileage is thus difficult to compute.

But reliable statistics kept by a great tire manufacturer show that certain Cadillacs in its testing fleet have actually approached a million miles.

Naturally, when you take possession of a new Cadillac, you are not thinking of driving it for such a spectacular distance.

But consider, if you will, what this phenomenal endurance foretells for your own period of ownership.

It is your finest possible guarantee that the thrill and the satisfaction of your first mile at the wheel will go on and on and on—until, with reluctance, you pass the car along to another proud and happy owner.

And it means, of course, that the value of your Cadillac will endure. Even its second, and third, and fourth owners will find—as they pass the car along—that its relative value is amazing. There is almost always a demand for a Cadillac, regardless of its age.

Of course, the great thrill of owning a Cadillac comes from the car's marvelous performance and its wonderful prestige.

But it is so nice to reflect that your pride is practical—and that your satisfaction is coming from a sound investment.

Is it time for you to think about a Cadillac? If so, we would be happy to see you any time.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail Just An Acquaintance

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was down on the ground by the Elephant Path, there beneath the very tall tree, right in the middle of the Great Forest. He was sitting on a log, Mugwump Monkey.

By Wesley Davis
"Humph!" said Mugwump. "He wasn't a very friendly fellow, was he, Daddy Ringtail?"
"Mercy me, and no," Daddy Ringtail said. "He wasn't friendly at all. I think we'd better see about this."
Daddy Ringtail and Mugwump hurried away to follow after the little old man whose head was still nodding up and down — up and down.
"Please, Mister Man" Daddy Ringtail said, "won't you please tell us why you walk along, and walk along—and why you never say a happy day to anyone, and why your head nods up and down, up and down?"
The little man stopped. I mean his feet stopped walking, but his head still nodded up and down, up and down. And what did the little man say why he did it? Oh, it was all very simple, really, when the little man had explained it.
He said he was a Nodding Acquaintance, and a Nodding Acquaintance never, never says happy day or hello to anyone. All he does is nod his head—up and down—up and down—and nodding acquaintances do just that to this very day.
Happy day!

Harry Yields To Ike In Wide Contrast To Bitter Squabbles Of Former Regimes

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MONDAY, NOV. 17, 1952-7

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — Herbert Hoover sat gravely on a long red divan, Franklin D. Roosevelt in a chair beside him; they smoked nervously, drank orange juice and talked for hours.
 From a later afternoon Winter sun, shone dimly through heavy draperies on the portraits of past Presidents in the red room of the White House.
 The air was filled with tension, an overpowering strain, a mental tug of war—and some distrust and hostility.
 That was the setting the last time an outgoing President faced his successor, the triumphant leader of an opposing political party, to try to smooth some of the bumps in the transfer of power.
 Things didn't go well that long afternoon of Nov. 22, 1932, nor in the weeks that followed. While the nation sank into a pit of bank panic and general despair, Roosevelt and Hoover could not agree on their roles in the crisis; each pointed to the other with the finger of blame.

That Time Again
 Almost 20 years to the day later, President Harry S. Truman and President-elect Eisenhower meet

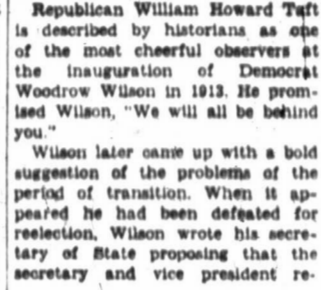

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
 ... Tough job ahead Tuesday against a backdrop that in some ways is similar.
 Again, tremendous problems press down on them—war in Korea, threats of a bigger war, a persistent crisis in Iran, inflation at home.
 Again, the outgoing President apparently feels urgently that decisions of long-range significance, on matters that demand attention now, must reflect the views of the man who has no office but will assume power soon.
 The exact nature and extent of their cooperation remains to be worked out, probably at the White House meeting.
 But unlike the tragic era 20 years ago, prospects for closer ties seem bright. Already, in the naming of Eisenhower liaison representatives to key agencies, an unprecedented step has been taken.

Four Were Unhappy
 And a look at the past reveals that, despite the troubled relations between Hoover and Roosevelt, there's been more cooperation than bitterness between the political foes involved in shifts of power in the White House.
 Of the 14 such transitions in the U. S. history, only four have been shrouded in unpleasantness ranging from coolness to downright scorn and bitterness. Some changes have been causes for celebration even by outgoing Presidents.
 The most tragic transition period of all was between James Buchanan and Abraham Lincoln in 1860-61. After Lincoln's election Buchanan felt powerless; Lincoln was a silent

HARRY S. TRUMAN
 ... Eager to assist spectator, scrupulously avoiding any statement of policy, while the Union was dissolved and America headed into civil war.
Shorter Interval
 Until this year, the problem has been complicated by a longer period between the election of a President and his installation. Presidents formerly took over in March after their election in November, four months back. Now they take office January 20, a little over two months after the election.
 "You have turned me out; you have turned me out!" was the bitter greeting John Adams, Federalist, gave Thomas Jefferson, his Republican successor in 1801. That was the first transition period between opposing political powers.
 Adams and Jefferson set the precedent of face-to-face meetings to try to iron out difficulties. But Adams failed in an effort to get commitments from Jefferson on the size of the Navy or the national debt. Adams responded with a series of "midnight" appointments to office in the last minutes of his Administration—an act that stirred up a storm. The appointments were repudiated by Jefferson.
Full Of Bitterness
 Twenty-eight years later, the Republicans under John Quincy Adams surrendered the White House to Democrat Andrew Jackson, and the air was so full of controversy and bitterness that Jackson vowed never to go near the retiring Pres-

The debonair Van Buren invited Harrison to his exclusive Saturday night social hours and even offered to vacate the White House ahead of time.
The Friendly Pair
 The transition period was relatively quiet in 1849 and 1853. After the troubled Buchanan-Lincoln period, the energetic Democrat, Grover Cleveland, wrested the White House from the Republicans and Chester Alan Arthur in 1885. Cleveland was involved in four transitions and each of them was noted for pleasantness.
 Cleveland welcomed Republican Benjamin Harrison in 1889, attended inauguration ceremonies and praised Harrison's speech. Their wives especially expressed admiration for each other. Harrison was equally gracious when Cleveland in turn ousted him in 1893.
 Republican William Howard Taft is described by historians as one of the most cheerful observers at the inauguration of Democrat Woodrow Wilson in 1913. He promised Wilson, "We will all be behind you."
 Wilson later came up with a bold suggestion of the problems of the period of transition. When it appeared he had been defeated for reelection, Wilson wrote his secretary and vice president re-

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
 ... A "private citizen" sign. Wilson planned to appoint Charles Evans Hughes, his Republican opponent, as secretary of State. Then Wilson would resign and under the law then, Hughes would have taken over the presidency without waiting until March. But Wilson won a surprise victory at the polls and the plan quickly was discarded.
 The period between the election of FDR and his assumption of office was stirred by storms.
 Repeatedly, in telegrams and letters (one written by Hoover in longhand), in three face-to-face meetings, in a telephone call in the middle of the night before Roosevelt's March 4 inauguration, Hoover argued that he alone was powerless to meet crises at home and abroad and pleaded desperately for Roosevelt's cooperation.

HERBERT HOOVER
 ... Asked cooperation ident. Jackson refused to make the customary courtesy call at the executive mansion and Adams told friends he would refuse to attend the inauguration ball even if invited.
 The next change in power, from Democrat Martin Van Buren to Whig William Henry Harrison in 1841, set the pattern of amiability,

"The Democratic controlled Congress would take no action without his (Roosevelt's) approval." Hoover wrote in his memoirs. "On the foreign front, my positive influence was ended as no foreign government would come to an agreement with me unless they knew that Mr. Roosevelt approved it."
 "With all the fanning of fear, the country was off in a full cry of a general panic of bank depositors. . . Yet there was little that an outgoing Administration could do while handicuffed by a hostile Congress and an uncooperative President-elect. . . A statement from Roosevelt even at this date could probably have stopped the panic. In any event, I could have stopped it if I had had his support. . . But Roosevelt declined all our suggestions."

 Hoover implies Roosevelt's lack of collaboration was due to a partisan desire to build Roosevelt's own prestige.
 Hoover had urged Roosevelt's approval of immediate negotiations with foreign countries on economic problems, including joint appointment of U. S. spokesmen; a statement by Roosevelt devaluing the currency, and building confidence in banks; Roosevelt approval of an executive order stopping payments to depositors except for necessities; appointment by Roosevelt of personal representatives to key government agencies, such as Eisenhower has done.

 Roosevelt stressed that joint action would be "improper for me and inadvisable for you. . . It would be unwise for me to accept an apparent joint responsibility with you when, as a matter of wholly lacking in any attendant authority."
 The President-elect thought Hoover had power to close banks, or limit withdrawals, without his approval or congressional consent. He disagreed with many of the policies advocated by Hoover for joint action. A note in Roosevelt's private papers sums up his attitude thus:
 "I was a private citizen wholly without authority, express or implied. . . For me to have taken part in the daily relations between the executive and the Congress would have been not only improper, but wholly useless. . . For the president-elect to dabble with superficial remedies would have been to impair or destroy the efficacy of the drastic, far-reaching actions which were put into effect in the 'one hundred days' immediately following March 4. To attack one symptom by weak methods would have impaired the broad attack on a score of fronts which came later. No participation by me as a private citizen would have prevented the crisis; such participation in details would have hampered thoroughgoing action under my own responsibility as President."

Nation's Oldest Confederate Veteran, Now 110, Talks About TV, Not Of Past

By WILBUR MARTIN
EATON, TEXAS—(AP)—Walter W. Williams, the nation's oldest Confederate veteran, started Sunday like he always does: with a big chaw of tobacco.
"But it wasn't like any other day. It was the day his children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great-great grandchildren gathered to celebrate his 110th birthday."
"Are you a grandchild?"
"No, I'm a daughter."
It was a typical question. For some of Williams' grandchildren are older than some of his children.

About 100 of his descendants and friends beat a trail to the weather-beaten little frame farmhouse where Williams, a one-time forage master, in Hood's brigade, has lived 90 years. They turned off the old Spanish Road to Red Dirt Lane leading past the three-shaded center of a 20-acre farm.

Budd, 77, oldest of the 19 Williams children, came. So did six others of the 12 living, including Gene, 29, who lives with his father and mother, Ella Mae.

"Nobody knows just how many are in the family," said Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles of Houston, a daughter. "I tried to count up last year, but had to stop."

Four of the five generations in the family were at the party Sunday. They celebrated two days late because more could attend on a Sunday.

Williams, a spry, frail fellow with deep set blue eyes and a quick alert mind, talked some about the past—about the changing times. But he was more interested in talking about television.

"I never have seen that television," he said. "Seen a lot of other things. But I'd like to see television."
Williams doesn't have any "routine" for living or any formula for long living.

Seta Goal At 120
But he says "I'm going to live to be 120. My granddaddy lived to 119. I'm going to beat that. Don't see why I can't if nothing turns up."

Williams was born in Mississippi, Nov. 14, 1842, and was in Company C, 34th Division of Hood's brigade during the Civil War. He had the task of scrounging the countryside for food.

He came to Texas in 1870 and operated a market at Calvey. His first wife died there, leaving him with seven children. In 1895, he married Ella Mae Holliday of Franklin. They had 12 children.

Mrs. Williams thinks Williams is quite a man.
"He's an easy man to get along with," she said. "Never flussed about the cooking or anything."
The children think he's about the "best man that ever lived" as Mrs. Bowles put it. She said he always was firm with the children.

Williams was a private in the Confederate cavalry, but is an honorary "colonel" on the Texas governor's staff.

Sunday, he enjoyed himself tremendously, like he always does.

Reports Awaited On Everest Climb
KATMANDU, NEPAL—(AP)—Swiss and Nepalese mountain climbers trying to scale the world's highest peak were believed Monday either to have conquered Mt. Everest to have failed in their attempt.

A nine-day report, brought here Sunday by native runner, said the Swiss-led expedition then had established its eighth camp only 150 feet from the top of the more than 29,000-foot-high Everest. That itself, is higher than man has ever climbed and lived to tell it.

Experts said they were certain and the Swiss are on the way down, that by now "the attempt is over whether they have won or lost."

H-Bomb Explosion Hinted; Writers May Face Charges

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission officials have disclosed that hydrogen bomb "research" was included in a test of nuclear weapons at heavily guarded Eniwetok Atoll.

But the commission stoutly Monday on its refusal to admit such a bomb had been exploded.
The commission, after issuing its terse announcement Sunday night, also spoke of possible prosecution for those who have written letters home wherein they described as the world's first H-bomb blast.

Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize-winning scientist who was a key figure in the development of the atom bomb, said in Chicago he believed the AEC announcement meant the United States "has successfully exploded its first H-bomb."

In a formal announcement, AEC Chairman Gordon Dean said only that the 1952 series of atomic weapons development tests had been concluded at Eniwetok Atoll, that the program included "experiments contributing to thermonuclear weapons research," and that the scientists "expressed satisfaction."

But what, reporters asked, about the swelling volume of letters coming back from ship crew members and others attached to the joint AEC-military task force which conducted the 1952 program?

The letters, widely published in the United States, described an explosion on November 1 which, to them, seemed to transcend any previous man-made detonation.

They told of a mile-wide island melting away under the blast and

Williams claims he's had a happy life and if he's ever been really and truly disappointed about anything, nobody knows about it.
He did have one thing to regret though. He didn't get to vote in the general election.

There weren't any county races, he explained. "Usually the sheriff or somebody comes by and gets me if there's county races."
"But it wouldn't have made much difference, I guess. I've voted Democratic for 94 years, and am going to vote that way as long as I live."

SHADES OF BUCK ROGERS
For Proposed Space Island Businessmen Go Overboard

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Some top-ranking businessmen little given to fantasy are so impressed with prospects of man-made islands circling in outer space that many now believe such a project should be financed for defense purposes.

Several members of the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Department, made up of executives of some 100 large corporations, said at the council's closing session at Sea Island, Ga., Sunday that a recent off-the-record report by an Army guided missiles expert had "excited a lot of interest."

Werner Von Braun, the ordnance expert, told the group two months ago a space station of military value could be built within 10 years at a cost of four billion dollars or less.

Von Braun, project director of the Army Ordnance Guided Missiles Center at Redstone Arsenal Huntsville, Ala., went on to say that the nation that controlled outer space could achieve world peace.

"Little Time To Lose"
But, he said, the United States has "mighty little time to lose" because it is known that Soviets "are thinking along the same line."
The off-the-record address aroused so much interest at the time that it was printed and sent to council members, thus gaining somewhat wider circulation.

It was brought out Sunday that many members of the council now think the government might do well to put a few million dollars of military funds into starting a program of study and planning.

Robert T. Stevens, council chairman, told a reporter that although some labeled it "Buck Rogers stuff," others were impressed.
"One executive said: 'If I had four billion dollars I'd give it to him right now.'"
Easier Than Atom Bomb
Von Braun told the business council supporters of the project "are faced with far fewer basic problems than were the men who undertook the atom bomb developed back in 1940."

The technique of getting materials to the stations' site about 1,000 miles from earth is known, he said. It would be an enormous, three-stage rocket, similar to, but larger than one already tested successfully.
The cargo needed for the space island would be left suspended in space while rockets returned for more payloads, landing like any airplane.
Gradually the materials would be assembled in space, creating an artificial satellite in the shape of a wheel.
It would rotate on its axis and circle the earth at 18,000 miles an hour.

Navy Man Charged In $38,000 Spree With Ship's Cash

SANTA ANA, CALIF.—(AP)—A 28-year-old Navy ensign, charged with embezzling $38,000 of his ship's funds, was quoted by FBI agents Sunday as saying he squandered all but about $2,000 on women, liquor, foreign-made autos and travel.

FBI Agent Joseph Santolana, Jr., said George McClelland Snyder, who vanished from a U. S. destroyer at Portsmouth, Va., about October 17, told of traveling to Florida, Louisiana, Texas and the West Coast. He traveled by airlines or in the two foreign-made cars he bought.

Air Crash At Dalhart Sends Texas Weekend Deaths To 38

By The Associated Press
Highway wrecks, plane crashes and shootings led the list of violent death causes that boosted the weekend toll in Texas to an unusual high of 38 persons dead.

Five dead in a plane crash and five killed in one automobile mishap accounted for much of the increase.

Traffic mishaps alone caused 18 fatalities.

Eight persons were shot to death, including two in hunting accidents. Two burned to death.

Four negroes, all members of the same family, and a white man were killed Sunday night when a single motor private plane crashed near Dalhart. The negroes were identified tentatively as Charles W. McDonald, 40; his wife, Lillian McDonald, 35; a son, Charles, Jr., about five, and a daughter, Charlene, about seven. The white man was identified tentatively as Charles Ross.

Plane Out Of Gas
All were from Los Angeles. The plane was enroute from Outhrie, Okla., to Los Angeles. It landed out of gas on a farm near Dalhart earlier Sunday afternoon and the white man hitchhiked to town for 10 gallons of gas. Later the plane made two attempts to land at the Dalhart Airport but was forced away by dust and wind gusts up to 60 miles an hour. After it disappeared to the southeast, a search was started by the Civil Air Patrol. The wreckage, scattered over a half-mile area, was found about 7:30 p.m.

Five Odessa persons died Saturday night near Big Spring when a pickup truck and a larger truck collided on a curve. Killed were Glendon Farrell Wallace, 21; Imaeal Stout Donaldson, 29; his wife, Ruby Payne, 28, and their daughters, Wanda Sue, six, and a three-year-old baby. The other truck driver was unharmed.

Woman Beaten To Death
Mrs. Billie Goodnough, 46, Corpus Christi, died in a hospital shortly after being found beaten Sunday in her apartment. An inquest verdict said she was fatally beaten by a person or persons unknown.

Stanley Pappa, 63, died in Dallas Sunday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car.

Abe Buttman, 44, Dallas, was injured fatally Sunday in a fall down an elevator shaft.

A young deer hunter, Eddie English, 17, was killed Sunday near his home at Crystal City when his rifle struck the ground and sent a

Hunting Accident Kills Army Officer

HINESVILLE, GA.—(AP)—A warrant officer reported he accidentally killed Col. Loyd A. Cockran, acting post commander at Camp Stewart, Ga.

The 55-year-old chief of staff of the Army post was wounded fatally by nine pellets from a 12-gauge shotgun Sunday while hunting on the Camp Stewart reservation.

Chief Warrant Officer Charles J. Elder of Melbourne, Fla., signed a statement admitting the shooting. William Allen, Stewart public information officer, said investigators said evidence in the case substantiated Elder's statement that the shooting was accidental. Allen added.

Air Crash Injures Panhandle Farmers

SPEARMAN—(AP)—Two farmers were injured Sunday when their light plane crashed while they were trying to spot coyotes for a hunting party on the ground.

Neither was hurt critically. Woodie Beck, 26, crawled and stumbled several miles to a highway between Berger and Spearman to report the crash. Shortly afterwards a search party found Ed Beck, 45, pilot of the plane. Both were taken to a hospital here for treatment.

More Males Tied To Apron Strings

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Remember when a self-respecting male wouldn't be caught dead in an apron?
Times have changed.

The modern married male not only helps the little woman around the house, but actually thinks he likes pitching in. In fact, a survey by Dean Lela O'Toole, chief home economist at Oklahoma A&M College, revealed 72 per cent of married student husbands regularly help out with the household chores.

Compare this with the 26.2 per cent figure she allots to older married men.

The reason is simple, she says. The marriage theory currently accepted by the younger set is that marriage is a partnership.
A thought like that in Dad's time was heresy.

BULLDOGS DID IT ONCE Upset Recalled As Westerners Return Saturday

Pleasant thoughts of yesteryear warmed the victory-stimulated hearts of Midland football fans Monday. They remembered the Lubbock-Bulldog game of two years ago and rubbed their hands in glee in speculating it could happen again this Saturday afternoon in Memorial Stadium.

A scrapping Bulldog team upset the power-laden Westerners, 38-33, in 1950. The odds were stacked against the Bulldogs who carried the label of underdog into the game at Lubbock. The favored Westerners needed but one victory for the conference championship.

That's the way the situation stands this Saturday. The undefeated Westerners, boasting eight straight victories for the season and 21 consecutive triumphs over a two-year period, can wrap up the 1-AAAA championship and move into the playoffs by corraling the Bulldogs.

District Tie Clinched
Coach Pat Patterson's Hub City riders clinched a tie for the district title by throttling the out-runned Abilene Eagles, 20-2, in Abilene last weekend.

Midland has played Lubbock only twice. The first game in 1949 brought a 28-7 win for the South Plains city. The 1950 upset by the Midlanders is worthy of recalling again.

The state defending champions knocked the Abilene Eagles out of the race with a 20-2 victory last week. Odessa kept its title hopes alive with a 26-12 trouncing of the Pampa Harvesters.

Abilene, Pampa and Midland have a mathematical chance at the 1-AAAA championship. But with two losses apiece, the chance is most remote.

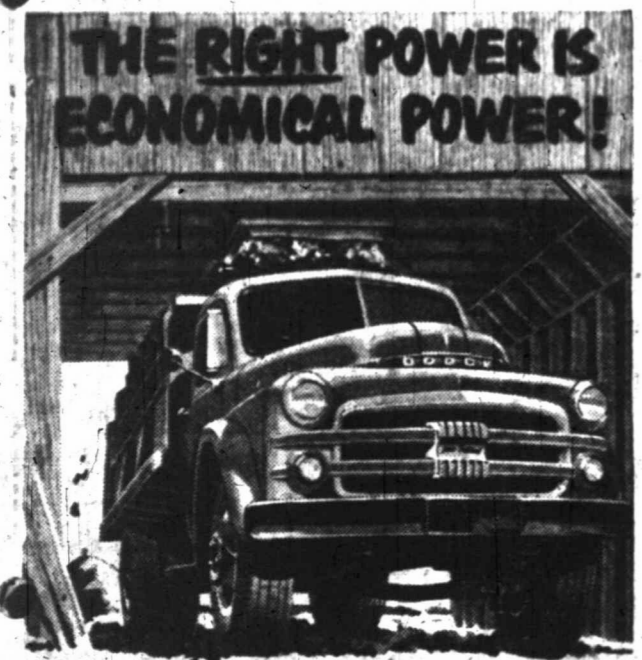

Bulldogs in Tie
Midland pulled up even with Abilene and Pampa by turning back a stubborn Amarillo team. Borer climbed into a sixth place deadlock with Amarillo by running over cellar-bound San Angelo, 53-12.

All 1-AAAA games this week will be played Saturday afternoon. Abilene will invade Odessa, San Angelo goes to Pampa and Amarillo will play in Borer.

Big-time basketball steps out on the stage as the football season draws to a thundering finale in Midland.

This year basketball fans here will have an opportunity to view a top flight cage team in action, as the newly-organized Phillips 66ers swirl onto the court against some of the best college and non-professional basketballers of the nation.

Several of the cagers are former All-Americans, and all but two of them are "kickers," being over six feet tall. Six of the ten players on the Midland 66ers are veterans of the famous championship Phillips 66 basketball team. They are coached by Ray Ebling, Kenan Jastrow, Gerald Tucker, Don Grove, Jim Line and Bill Klein.

The other four team members are Jim Watson, J. E. Collins, Svede Hanson and Leroy Mitchell.

The main Phillips 66 basketball team will be remembered by cage fans as the outfit that bested the University of Kentucky Wildcats in 1948 in the finals of the Olympic basketball playoffs. The Phillips 66 squad went on to capture the world championship at London.

Tucker was one of the players on the Phillips 66 team that represented the United States at that Olympic meet in 1948. He was a two-time collegiate All-American at Oklahoma University, and the all Big Six conference choice for three years. He was also AAU all-American in 1949.

Kleine Tower
Bill Klein, the second tallest player ever to play on Phillips teams at 6 feet, 10 inches in height, will be a valuable addition to the Midland 66ers. A four-year letterman at Missouri Valley College, he was a member of the Phillips 66 outfit that swept to another national championship in 1950.

Jim Line, a three-year letterman at the University of Kentucky, has played on two national championship teams. He was selected as All-Southeastern Conference player in 1950. Line was a member of the 1951 team of Phillips 66ers. He was also a 1948 U. S. Olympic alternate, and played on the Wildcat team that

Port Arthur-Baytown Battle To Name First AAAA Champ
By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
They start crowning district champions in the Class AAAA division of Texas scholastic football this week. At least four of the eight are expected to be determined. One will be for sure.

Baytown plays Port Arthur for the title of District 8 in the feature battle of the state. It is a traditional struggle although not considered quite so important as in other years. Baytown is a heavy favorite to win it.

In District 2, Austin (El Paso) can set up the title by beating El Paso High. Otherwise there will be a three-way tie for the crown between Austin, El Paso and Bowie (El Paso).

SMU Club To See Football Pictures
Two football films will be screened at a meeting of the Southern Methodist University Alumni Club of Midland County at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Elks Club.

Longhorns Set SWC Pace In Just About Everything
DALLAS —(P)— The sensation of the Southwest Conference at this stage of the football season is a talented sophomore, Billy Quinn of Texas. He has scored 11 touchdowns in five in the last two games, to lead the league in point-making. And he has the best ball-carrying average. Every time the 180-pound, hard-running Longhorn halfback takes the ball it means 4.9 yards.

Quinn is one of the brightest sophomore prospects to come along in the conference in a long time. So good is he that he's posing a problem for the All-Southwest Conference pickers. Will the All-Conference backfield have to carry three Texas players?

SWC Championship Chase May Reach End This Week
By The Associated Press
The Southwest Conference championship race could end this week although there still would be more games to play.

Southern Methodist, the only team left with a chance of even sharing the title with undefeated Texas, plays Baylor at Dallas Saturday in the week's feature. Defeat or tie for SMU would hand the championship undisputed to Texas, regardless of how the Longhorns come out with Texas A&M in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game. Texas is idle this week.

TCU Defeated
Southern Methodist clung to the outside chance of splitting the glory with Texas by beating Arkansas 27-17 last Saturday. The Methodists have a 3-1 record with Baylor and Texas Christian to play.

Texas came within one game of an unprecedented conference as-

Cotton Bowl 'Homecoming' Features Vols, Longhorns

DALLAS —(P)— Ever hear of a homecoming football game for both teams? The Cotton Bowl game January 1 is going to be pretty close to it.

Tennessee and Texas played in the 1951 Cotton Bowl game. Tennessee and Texas will play in the 1953 Cotton Bowl game. Fifteen of the men on the two squads in 1951 will return. Eight are from Tennessee.

Tennessee has Andy Kenar, its great fullback who as a sophomore put on such a show in 1951 in leading the Volunteers to a 29-14 victory over Texas that he was named outstanding player of the day.

Kenar was injured last week in the game with Florida and isn't expected to play any more with Tennessee this season but is due to be back by the time of the Cotton Bowl game.

Chip Off Block Sparks Ponies

DALLAS —(P)— Southern Methodist University football followers who saw the Methodist teams of the early twenties got quite a charge out of the great showing of Sam Stollenwerk at quarterback for SMU against Arkansas Saturday.

SMU won its first Southwest Conference championship in 1923 when a little fellow named Logan Stollenwerk was the quarterback. He also piloted the 1924 SMU team that was undefeated but was tied four times, thus couldn't win the championship.

But Logan Stollenwerk was more than just a fine quarterback who put SMU on the road to big-time football glory. He was the original passing man of this circuit that has become famed for throwing the ball around and its wide opening football. Stollenwerk was the first of the passers daring enough to pass from behind his own goal line.

So Saturday, as blond little Sam Stollenwerk, a five-foot-nine, 160-pounder, strode on the gridiron at Fayetteville to pass SMU to a thrilling 27-17 victory, there was a lot of reminiscing going on among the old-time fans. Because Sam Stollenwerk is the youngest son of the immortal Logan.

Coach H. N. Russell of SMU paid Sam a glowing tribute Monday. He talked of the fellow who had to work harder and accomplish more than the others because of his small stature. Russell said last year when Sam was on the SMU varsity for the first time that if Stollenwerk was just three inches taller he would be the greatest passer in the country.

But Sam worked hard. He was content to sit on the bench and go in only when it came time for a point after touchdown.

Last week Sam looked particularly good in practice. Russell decided the time had come to give the boy his chance. When the Methodists sputtered and faded against Arkansas—when they were 17 points behind and getting nowhere—Russell sent little Sam into the game.

Stollenwerk did just what Russell thought he would do—the quarterbacked the team in big-league style, he passed for 209 yards and three touchdowns. He dragged Southern Methodist from the brink of defeat.

There'll be more passing days for little Sam Stollenwerk in Southwest Conference football.

Schlitz Continues To Pace Women's Bowling Circuit

The Schlitz team continues to pace the Women's Bowling League with 20 victories and 10 defeats.

Kruger Jewelry Company is running a close second with 19 wins and 11 losses.

Troy Cleaners and Neely Agency are tied for third with 17 wins and 13 losses. Miller's High Life is in fourth place with 15 wins and 15 losses. House of Beauty and I. W. Hynd Company are tied for fifth with 14 wins and 14 losses.

Midland Office Machine Company rates sixth with 12 wins and 11 losses. Terminal Airway Cash Grocery and West Texas Office Supply are tied for seventh with 11 wins and 19 losses.

In games last week all of the winning teams took two of three games. Kruger won over Miller's High Life. Schlitz over House of Beauty. Neely Agency over Troy Cleaners. Airway Cash Grocery over West Texas Office Supply and Midland Office Machines Company over I. W. Hynd Company.

D. Lawson had high game with 204 and high series with 518. Kruger Jewelry had high team game with 598, and Neely Agency had high team series with 1,686.

Boy, Looking For Whisky, Finds $15,000 Cash Cache

FREDERICKTOWN, MO.—(AP)—A 15-year-old boy, interrupted in a planned journey around the country, Sunday told how he found a whisky bottle led him to more than $15,000 cash.

Gerald Mercel Collier of Jonesville, Ill., and a companion, John Chupp, 17, of Lasalle, Ill., were taken from a Memphis-bound bus Saturday by Missouri Highway Patrolman R. C. Caldwell.

The boys had $14,132 with them, Caldwell said, and told of another $1,000 hidden in a sewer near their home. Part of the latter amount has been recovered by Lasalle authorities who came for the boys Monday.

Caldwell said young Collier told the story.

He went to an abandoned house near Jonesville early this month to find a hidden bottle of whisky. While there he saw a hole leading to the attic, so he climbed up. He found a metal box with the money inside.

Joseph Plano, owner of the house, said Sunday he had no ill feeling toward young Collier.

"It was lucky for me that he did go into the house," Plano said, and added he didn't know the money was there.

Caldwell said Collier told him he later gave some money to neighbor youths, then took off last Thursday with Chupp for Memphis. They said they planned to buy a car there and go to California, and later Canada.

Jeweler Calls Officers

A jewelry store operator in near-by Farmington, Mo., from whom they bought watches, noticed the large amount of money they had and called authorities, who traced the boys.

They have been held without charge.

Caldwell said the money, much of it still in bank wrappers, will remain in a Fredericktown bank until a thorough investigation has determined the rightful owner.

Plano, in Jonesville, said he and his wife, lived in the now derelict house until her death about five years ago. He said he often would cash a check for $1,000 or $2,000, getting the cash wrapped in bank wrappers, about half of the money going to his wife for household expenses.

"I had no idea that she had saved any," he said. "She never said anything about it and after she died I just closed the house and moved in with my brother Tony."

HIGHBALL!—Charles Fleischer, 2, is having the time of his young life being chief engineer of the model railroad system on display in a Washington, D. C., department store. Toy department officials, wise in the ways of boys of all ages, have designed the display so that visitors can operate all the trains.

Plenty Of Fat Deer Greet Hunters; Quick Record Set

By The Associated Press

The Texas deer hunting season went into its second day after one of the most successful opening days in years.

Figures reported to The Associated Press show that kills Sunday topped first day totals of last year in many sections.

Hunters said the deer were fat and plentiful but turkeys were hard to find.

Fred Maly, outdoor editor of the San Antonio Express-News, put the opening day kill at around 8,000.

Dave Coslett of the San Angelo Standard-Times said his figures showed these deer on storage: Mason 231, Llano 170, San Saba 40, Kerrville 81, Uvalde 61, Rocksprings 30 and Brady 24.

Kenneth Poore, Dallas News outdoor editor, reported from Kerrville that the day's kill was almost double that of the first day last year.

Foree said that although the area was parched by the drought, the animals mostly were fat. It is believed a timely rain that made an acorn crop put the lard on the deer.

Some highlights of the first day: Game Warden Jack Gregory, Kerrville, saw to it that three men paid $158 for using a spotlight to kill a 10-pointer on the eve of the season.

R. H. Webb, Dallas, bagged a buck in Palo Pinto County at 7:20 a.m. "Just good daylight."

Limit First Morning

Mrs. Tom Harrington, Clarksville, bagged a 190-pound, 10-pointer on the Stiles Ranch near Anoda in the Red River Valley. Ed Green, Clarksville, got a 190-pounder on the same ranch.

In Gillespie County, R. H. Fowler, Austin, and W. R. Cox, Glade-water, killed two bucks each to complete their season's bag limits the first morning.

Victor Keller, Mason, won the first deer award in Mason County.

In Edwards County, O. J. Kubish, Pleasanton, made the first kill. Almost 80,000 acres in the county were reported still open to leasing for hunters.

One Has 19 Points

Arthur Boening, Converse, killed a 106-pound buck with 19-point antlers.

What may be a near world record white tail deer horn spread was carried by a 13-point, 146-pound buck killed by A. W. Anderson, Sinton, in McMullen County. The spread measured 31 inches, or six-eighths inch shy of the recognized record.

Kerr County reported an opening day as good as last year. The county had a record of 3,600 bucks and 400 turkeys killed last year by 9,000 hunters.

Midland Auto Firm Given Safety Award

Presentation of a Highway Safety Award for contributing to traffic safety has been made to Murray-Young Motors of Midland by the Texas Automotive Dealers Association, the state organization of new car dealers.

The award is in recognition of the dealer's lending an automobile for Midland High School driver training during the 1951-52 school year.

C. B. Smith, Austin, state safety chairman for the dealer association, described this contribution of safe driving by Murray-Young as a significant service to the community, the state and the nation.

The safety award is signed jointly by officers of the Automotive Industry National Safety Committee, and state and national new car dealer associations.

Housewives Favor Mechanized Lash

SUTTON COLDFIELD, ENGLAND.—(AP)—The good housewives of this Midlands town want to bring back flogging—but with tender thoughts for the whip-wielders. They suggested Monday that electric punishers handle the task.

A housewives' league told the district's member of Parliament that corporal punishment for criminals is necessary to end the recent wave of blackjack crimes.

"I'm not mechanically minded," said League Chairman Dorothy Woodland, "but surely scientists can devise something. If they can invent an electric chair, I am sure they could invent an electric flogger."

'RED TIDE' EBBS

TAMPA, FLA.—(AP)—Fishing guides in Gulf of Mexico waters off the Southwest Florida coast report traces of the feared "red tide" which has killed a lot of fish are disappearing.

An eighth military plane mishap involved a light SNB NV training plane which made a forced landing Sunday night when it ran out of fuel in a fog while about 20 miles from Logan Airport, in Boston, Mass. The two Navy reserve officers aboard escaped injury as the plane came in a swamp.

The other two civilian crashes each brought death to two persons: at Larned, Kan., Saturday, and at Rehoboth, Del., Sunday night.

Rigid Control Beters Chance Of Diabetic For Motherhood

By Edwin F. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Sometimes the condition can be controlled merely by adjusting the diet so that the body does not have too much sugar to handle. In other cases where the diabetes is bad, dieting may not be enough and it is necessary to inject some of the secretion which we call insulin (obtained from animal pancreas) to help use up the excess sugar.

Insulin Effects Prolonged

In the early days insulin had to be given before each meal in order to keep sugar from passing into the urine. More recently preparations of insulin have been developed which are slow acting and produce effects which last for a long time. In many cases of diabetes, therefore, it now is possible to give only one or two injections a day.

Every patient with diabetes should be studied carefully to see how much sugar is being lost through the urine, how much sugar is present in the blood, and how both the blood and urine respond to tests with sugar-containing foods.

After such studies the doctor can tell just how strict the diet should be, how much insulin is needed and when it should be given. But this is of no value unless the patient follows directions.

Since there are said to be some 3,000,000 persons with diabetes in the United States alone, this disease raises many interesting questions, only a few of which can be discussed in a single column.

One correspondent recently asked if it was advisable for women who have had diabetes for many years to have children.

Until recently pregnancy for women with diabetes carried considerably greater risks for the mother and the death rate in children of diabetic mothers ranged as high as six out of 10. Now, however, with rigid diet, restriction of salt, and other medical and surgical means, the outlook for the mother has been much improved—and for the child as well.

In one series of patients who were given the most expert type of care during pregnancy, the mortality of the mothers was only one in 200, and 84 of 100 children survived.

In giving these figures, however, it must be remembered that the comparatively favorable results apply only to those mothers who are most cooperative, as well as those receiving extremely skilled medical attention.

All this attention to medical care is important also for victims of diabetes who are not pregnant. Until the discovery of insulin about 30 years ago, people with diabetes almost always died of the disease eventually. Even today people die of diabetes, but often this is their own fault because they have been careless about their diet or their insulin.

88 Persons Dead Or Missing In 11 Weekend Plane Crashes

By The Associated Press

After one of its grimmest aviation weekends, the nation Monday counted 88 persons dead or missing in the disappearance or scattered crashes of eight American military planes and three civilian aircraft.

Some 31 passengers and crewmen aboard two U. S. Air Force transports are missing; 48 are known dead in the crashes of a military transport, a fighter plane and three Navy craft; and nine are dead in the civilian crashes.

Nine Air Force planes searched in vain Sunday for a huge C-119 Flying Boxcar which disappeared in Alaska Saturday with 30 men aboard. The Air Force fears the big transport crashed.

Meanwhile, helicopters and Navy small boats scoured the Sea of Japan for 11 men missing after a C-46 transport dived into the water off the east coast of Korea Saturday night. Seven others were rescued.

As the search for the missing continued, a helicopter was flying over the mangled bodies of 44 passengers and crewmen killed Friday in the mountainside crash of another C-119 Flying Boxcar 18 miles east of Seoul, Korea.

Five persons died Sunday night in the worst of the weekend civilian crashes. Their single-engine private plane met disaster near Delhart, Texas, on a flight from Guthrie, Okla., to Los Angeles, home of the 190. Among the dead were a mother and father and their two small children.

Three Navy Pilots Die

In the other weekend military crashes, an Air Force reserve pilot was killed Sunday near Hanna City, Ill., and three Navy pilots died in separate crashes in California and Arizona.

The Air Force reserve was in an F-51 fighter plane of the 169th Fighter Interceptor Squadron based at Peoria. Two of the Navy pilots were flying in the same formation in California and crashed at about the same time 25 miles apart—one in a canyon near San Jose, the other into a residential section near Woodside.

In Northern Arizona, the third Navy pilot died in a wintry storm as his plane crashed and exploded in Skull Valley. The pilot was en route from Denver, Colo., to Las Vegas, Nev.

An eighth military plane mishap involved a light SNB NV training plane which made a forced landing Sunday night when it ran out of fuel in a fog while about 20 miles from Logan Airport, in Boston, Mass. The two Navy reserve officers aboard escaped injury as the plane came in a swamp.

The other two civilian crashes each brought death to two persons: at Larned, Kan., Saturday, and at Rehoboth, Del., Sunday night.

Vacationing Nixon Suffers Foot Injury

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.—(AP)—Vice President-elect Richard Nixon, his wife and a group of friends spent Sunday on an all day fishing trip.

Nixon, vacationing here with his family, gashed his right foot on a barbed wire fence Saturday. Seven or eight stitches were required.

Taxation, Water, Highways, Teachers' Pay Top Problems Of Next Legislature

AUSTIN.—(AP)—A new tax fight, water conservation, highway financing and a pay raise for teachers are the prime problems facing the 53rd Texas Legislature in January, say the lawmakers who will serve there.

Senators and representatives gave priority to these four issues in response to a survey by The Associated Press.

Taxation drew far more first-place votes than any other legislative problem.

Four of 15 senators and 36 of 66 representatives said avoiding more taxes or determining when to raise new money is the most urgent task they will have. Many others not rating it at the top still listed it high.

The need for water conservation has been emphasized by devastating effects of a three-year drought. Concern over this problem was reflected particularly in the comments of West and South Texas legislators but also was indicated by senators and representatives in all regions.

Placed on the same level of importance as water conservation was the financing of highway construction and repair.

Higher teacher salaries were rated the fourth most significant matter, well ahead of any other topic on which the legislators voted an opinion.

Auto Inspection Law

Other issues which lawmakers ranked in descending order of importance were the Auto Inspection Law, which most said should be modified or repealed; establishment of a presidential preference primary; revision of the new Election Code; the Drivers Financial Responsibility Law; a constitutional amendment to remove the 35-million-dollar annual ceiling on public health appropriation and truck load limits.

Mail questionnaires were sent to all 31 senators and 150 representatives. Some were interviewed personally. Those who took time to answer included 10 veteran legislators and five newcomers in the Senate and 33 old-timers and 33 freshmen in the House.

Teachers First In House

Results of the survey of the House:

Taxation was named the No. 1 issue by 36. It was ranked second by four; third by one; fourth by one; fifth by four; sixth by one; and seventh, its lowest rating, by one.

Water conservation loomed first in importance to eight. It received four No. 2 votes, five votes each for No. 3 and No. 4, seven No. 5, and other votes through No. 10.

Highway financing received only three first-place votes, but 17 listed it No. 2, nine No. 3 and No. 4 each, with additional votes for as low as eighth place.

Teachers salaries drew top billing from two members. Six placed this issue No. 2, eleven No. 3, nine No. 4, six No. 5. Its lowest ranking was No. 9.

A House fight over merits of the auto inspection law is indicated. Six representatives picked it as the No. 1 issue, one of the six advocating repeal, one calling for modification and two not indicating their attitude toward the present law.

Among members who rated auto inspection in lower spots from second through eleventh, seven called for repeal, 18 for modification, three for modification or repeal, one for modification or no change, three for no change and three did not indicate their attitude.

Presidential Primary

Establishment of a presidential preference primary was boomed as the No. 1 problem by one House member. Four placed it No. 2, one No. 3, four No. 4, eight No. 5, and it drew scattered votes all the way to the bottom of the 12-place list.

Revision of the Election Code, changes in the Glimmer-Aikin School Laws, and removal of the 35-million-dollar welfare ceiling were the only other issues that drew single first-place votes among House members.

Possible controversy over the Drivers Financial Responsibility Law is reflected in the fact two members urged repeal, one sought modification or repeal, 15 suggested modification, two recommended modification or no change, 10 voted for no change, and six did not indicate their attitude. The issue drew three votes for second place.

A majority of the House votes on the importance of a higher public health appropriation placed it no higher than ninth although two ranked it as high as third.

Senate Puts Water First

Survey results in the Senate: Only one senator omitted taxation from his list. Four rated it top

93 Cars Assemble For Pan-Am Race

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—Stock autos and racers assembled at Tuxtla Gutierrez, near the Guatemala border, Monday for the start of the third Pan-American Road Race Wednesday.

The entries were undergoing a thorough mechanical inspection during the day to see that safety and modification rules have been observed.

The race-committee said 93 cars will compete, 65 in the stock category, and 28 in the sports class for racers, specials, and hot rods.

The 2,000 mile race up the Pan-American highway to the U. S. border opposite El Paso is for prizes totaling $64,500.

The course is divided into eight legs, to be run over a five day period. The opening leg is the 330-kilometer (205-mile) run from Tuxtla to Oaxaca City.
