36 Die In Military Plane Disaster

Four Babies' Bodies Found Among Debris

TACOMA, WASH.—(AP)—A four-engined military plane from Alaska crashed in flames in a field south of here shortly after midnight and 36 of the 39 aboard were believed dead.

While scattered fires Friday still marked the scene of the post-holiday tragedy, Deputy Pierce County Coroner Larry Amundsen said 36 were dead or missing.

The plane carried service men and dependents. The bodies of four babies were among those found scattered at the scene of the disaster.

At least two witnesses to the tragedy said the plane was afire as it "whooshed" down to a tree-flanked field about a mile from its destination at McChord Air Force Base.

Capt. Jack Easley, public information officer at McChord, said the early reports to the base indicated the plane struck a tree while coming in through the heavy fog for a ground-control approach landing.

Bodies Scattered

All but a section of the tail was destroyed in the resulting fire and explosion. Bodies were scattered 200 feet from the wreckage.

The crash added to the toll of 4 disastrous weeks for military transport aviation around the North Pacific rim.

If the death toll stands at 36 in Friday's crash, it makes a total of 198 dead or presumed dead along the arc from Korea to Alaska to McChord and Montana. The total includes 91 on three big transports in Alaska, 55 in two Korea crashes, eight in Montana and eight in a Canadian crash on Vancouver Island.

First witnesses at the scene said they could hear the heart-rending cries of a baby in the burning wreckage. They were helpless to do anything about it.

Many of the passengers were returning to the states for the year-end holiday. The C-54 left Fairbanks Thursday morning, stopped at Elmendorf Base at Anchorage, then flew the 1,400 miles to McChord.

Almost At Destination

Ironically, only the fog kept the plane's occupants from seeing the lights and safety of the big McChord Field before the crash.

The crash scene was strewn with personal belongings. There were many packages indicating the passengers had been shopping, possibly for Christmas, before they started the ill-fated flight.

Hats and clothes were thrown about the field in disarray. Some were partially burned.

Most of the fire was in the forward part of the plane. The tail section and about half the fuselage remained almost intact after being ripped apart by the death-dealing blast.

The plane landed about a block away from a transplanted housing project—one that had been moved to the McChord area and set up as 35 four-family units. Most of them are occupied.

James H. Murrell Dies At Plainview

PLAINVIEW.—(AP)—James H. Murrell, 35, furniture store chain owner, died in his sleep Friday.

In seven years he built a chain of furniture stores bearing his name in Plainview, Pampa and Lubbock. His 1953 softball team won the Texas softball championship.

Youth Tells Of Watching Fiery Plane

TACOMA, WASH.—(AP)—"The plane flew right over my head. It looked like a ball of fire. I thought I could feel the heat from it. I thought it was a meteor."

Art Getchman, 18, of South Tacoma, gave that graphic description of the after-midnight crash of a military transport plane near McChord Air Force Base.

Getchman said he was driving home in a heavy fog when the plane, afire, flashed overhead and crashed in a barren field.

"The engine on the left side was afire before the crash," he said. "I couldn't hear the motors; it was just a big whoosh."

"When I got to the spot there were dead people lying around. I saw three men alive. All were military. One was hardly breathing."

"I could hear a baby crying but I didn't see it."

"All the victims were wearing Alaska-type clothing. Some had fur-lined shoes."

Getchman said that, in the heavy fog, he did not see the outline of the plane itself; "the fire seemed to be underneath it."

"I rushed to the crash. I didn't hear any explosion."

"Wreckage was scattered everywhere. There were little spots of fire all over the field."

CIO Moguls Start Picking New Leader

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Delegates to the fourteenth CIO convention gathered here Friday for a showdown on the selection of a new president.

The task of picking a new chief to fill the post left vacant by the death of Philip Murray might lead to an open and public fight. Since early this week, top CIO leaders have been meeting in New York and Washington in an attempt to make a choice.

So far, they reportedly have remained deadlocked. The only avowed contenders for the organization's top spot are Walter P. Reuther, president of the auto workers, and Allan S. Haywood, who has the support of the steel workers union.

Convention Set Monday

High CIO officials met in executive session Friday afternoon to continue their earlier talks. Among them were nine vice presidents and Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey.

The actual convention—which lasts a week—doesn't get under way until Monday morning.

The selection of the new president will overshadow all other convention proceedings. Reports have circulated that Reuther would be willing to carry his fight for the post to the convention floor only if he was fairly certain of victory.

Haywood's major strength, the more-than-a-million-strong steel workers union, also gave no indication of weakening. A number of small unions are reported supporting Haywood.

A rollcall vote—a precedent at CIO conventions—will decide the question if a floor fight comes up.

OTHERS ONLY THINK OF IT

OAKLAND, CALIF.—(AP)—Edward Sandner, 15, became quite angry when his 1935 hotrod broke down in the Oakland Hills Thursday.

He grabbed a .22 rifle, pumped five shots into the air... bashed in the windows... tore out the upholstery... and touched a match to the remains.

UN Pushes To Final Ballot On India's Armistice Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)—The United Nations pushed toward a vote Friday on India's Communist-pledged plan for ending the Korean War.

With U. S. support, the plan's adoption in the face of bitter Soviet bloc opposition was expected by an overwhelming majority.

Despite the rejection by Peiping, Moscow and Pyongyang, the Indian compromise prisoner-of-war resolution was being shoved through by the non-Communist nations to place responsibility for throwing down a Korean peace squarely on the shoulders of the Reds.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon, who drafted and introduced the resolution, was to give his final arguments apparently in another attempt to overcome the Communist objections—before the General Assembly's Political Committee Friday afternoon.

Committee Chairman Jose Carlos Muniz of Brazil told the delegates Thursday he was eager to have a vote on the Indian resolution during Friday's session as soon as Menon speaks.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson let it be known through a spokesman Thursday that the U. S. delegation has accepted the changes Menon has made in his resolution spelling out in more detail the final destination of prisoners who resist repatriation to their Red-ruled homelands.

The Americans had demanded these changes before supporting the Indian plan. As amended, it calls for a repatriation commission to take charge of all prisoners, and for the UN to take over the resettling of all POW's not repatriated within five months after an armistice.

RED RED TAPE GROWS REDDER

MOSCOW.—(AP)—Steel workers in the Kuznetsk basin of central Siberia protested in Ivestia Friday about red tape. They said their factory received from the Khar'kov Institute of Fire Bricks, a questionnaire containing 1,487, 400 questions to be answered.

They estimated it would take 50 persons working full time six months to fill in all the blanks. They said they sent it back to Khar'kov and invited the institute to send some men in person. None of these bureaucrats, said the steel workers, has shown up yet.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—A group of top-ranking officials of the CIO conferred Friday with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower on the "welfare of labor" in his forthcoming Administration.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, told reporters as the group entered the General's Hotel Commodore headquarters that "we have some recommendations to make" concerning "the welfare of labor."

Asked if the group would recommend a secretary of Labor—one of the two cabinet posts still unfilled in the incoming Administration—Curran replied: "We have no recommendations on that."

The group, besides Curran, included Allen S. Haywood, executive vice president of the CIO; James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer; Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel; Jacob S. Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers; David J. McDonald, acting president of the United Steel Workers; and Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile, Aircraft, Agricultural Implement Workers of America.

Earlier, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, head of the Indian delegation to the United General Assembly, conferred briefly with Eisenhower.

Thursday, Eisenhower designated James C. Hagerty as press secretary and retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons as special assistant.

Selection of the two executive aides was announced by Eisenhower's headquarters while he rested at his home preparing for what promises to be a heavy weekend schedule.

The 43-year-old Hagerty was at his home in Albany, N. Y., with his wife and two sons when informed of his appointment.

Hagerty served as press secretary to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey until becoming Eisenhower's press aide after the general's nomination.

Hagerty said Eisenhower plans to meet visitors both Saturday and Sunday, a departure from his previous custom of keeping those days clear for rest. The press secretary-designate also said more appointments to office will be made over the weekend.

Thursday's other appointee, Persons, 56, served on the general's NATO staff in Europe and recently acted as assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Persons, a native and resident of Montgomery, Ala., is a brother of Democratic Gov. Gordon Persons of Alabama who strongly supported Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the election campaign.

Taking the Thanksgiving holiday off, Eisenhower did not leave the Columbia University home. He spent the day with his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elvira Doud of Denver; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Eisenhower; and his three grandchildren. The general's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, is in Korea.

Eisenhower, described as a "Thanksgiving turkey carver with 'lots of practice'" by his wife, Mamie, posed with the family group for photographers.

Nine Persons Die In Texas Crashes

By The Associated Press

Traffic pushed the violent death toll upward Friday and after the long Thanksgiving Day weekend had started calmly.

The traffic count early Friday stood at nine dead and several critically injured and near death. Two persons died from burns.

Thousands of automobiles on the highways for football games and holiday visiting were expected to push the traffic death toll higher.

A traffic mishap at Carthage Thursday night pinned two negroes, Coy Pellum, 14, and Leonard Osborne, 28, in the cab of a truck and they were burned fatally in the fire that followed the crash.

Both were from Long Branch, near Carthage. The pulpwood truck struck an embankment and overturned. The driver, Burner Pellum, father of Coy, escaped.

Earl A. Bowman, about 30, Odessa, was killed when his car ramed into another car stopped at a stop sign at an intersection in Kermit late Thursday. His wife suffered a broken nose.

Also late Thursday, seven-month-old Thomas Springer was killed in a collision on the outskirts of Texarkana. His mother, Mrs. Kathleen Springer, 21, of Texarkana, Ark., was injured seriously.

Robert Joe Scott, 39, of Bellmeade, near Waco, was killed late Thursday night in a head-on collision 10 miles north of Temple.

Scott and his daughter, Shirley Ann, 14, were returning from the Killen-Lavega football game in Temple. Shirley Ann was injured critically.

Nation's Holiday Death Toll Drops To Six-Year Low

By The Associated Press

The nation's accidental death toll over the Thanksgiving holiday, it appeared Friday, was the lowest since 1946.

Chicago shivered in the coldest day of the season, 14 above, with 15 to 20 mile-an-hour west winds.

A snowfall measuring eight inches hit the Buffalo, N. Y., area Thursday night, snarling traffic.

This year's traffic toll compared with 102 last year; 94 in 1950; 123 in 1949; 86 in 1948; 107 in 1947 and 69 in 1946.

Cold weather and snow-packed and icy highways kept thousands of motorists off the highways and the cut in travel was partially credited with reducing the traffic toll.

Coaches Pat Pattison of Lubbock and Ted Harris of Austin met here Thursday night to set the date and site.

EL PASO GETS PLAYOFF GAME

LUBBOCK.—(AP)—Lubbock and Austin of El Paso will meet at 2 p.m. Friday in El Paso in their bi-district football game.

Coaches Pat Pattison of Lubbock and Ted Harris of Austin met here Thursday night to set the date and site.

South Koreans Expect Ike To Boot Reds From Country

SEOUL.—(AP)—Millions of South Koreans seem to think U. S. President-elect Eisenhower is going to drive the Chinese Communists back into Manchuria.

Clarence Rye, official government spokesman, put it this way: "General Eisenhower represents the last great hope of our 22,000,000 people. Ask any man on the street and he will tell you he believes Eisenhower will drive the Chinese Reds completely out of Korea. So the sentiment of welcome here is a strong and stirring thing."

For a fourth straight day, Seoul bubbled with anticipation. More banners than ever were splashed across buildings and the gutted skeletons of buildings. Closely spaced national and metropolitan police guarded main thoroughfares.

"Won't the Korean people get a little tired of parading and practicing every day for Ike's welcome?" "Not a bit," Rye said. "They like it. This is a big, spontaneous thing and the fine feeling of welcome is growing all the time. The people are working themselves up to a great climax."

War-weary Koreans, generally shabby and destitute, have prepared a remarkably convincing greeting.

From the 38th Parallel to Pusan, this country blossoms with signs and banners.

"Every city is decorated," Rye assured.

He added, soberly: "Our people are sick and tired of waiting for this war to end. They are sick of armistice negotiations that are not getting anything settled."

"Koreans want the division of their country ended. They want a united Korea. They want their country saved and they think General Eisenhower will save it. And they are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to tell him so."

Sullen Skies Drip Freezing Rain On State

Winter's finger was icy and wet in Midland Friday. Light rains fell over this West Texas sector as the mercury ascended from a 30-degree minimum early Friday. The moisture extended the benefits of inch-plus rains received over the county earlier in the week.

Temperatures were expected to sink back to the freezing point early Saturday with additional light precipitation promised over the weekend.

Sullen skies dripped light rain over most of the state Friday, from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande. The Associated Press reported. And in some places the rain was mixed with snow or sleet.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the rain would continue through Friday night. But a forecaster added: "It doesn't look as if we'll get anything like those two-to-six-inch rains we had last weekend."

Below Normal Temperatures

A five-day forecast said temperatures over the state would average four to six degrees below normal minimums of 40 to 46 in East and Central Texas and 28 to 42 degrees in West Texas.

The forecast predicted spotty moderate to heavy rains in the eastern half of the state through Monday and rain in the south part of West Texas through Saturday. Rain or snow was expected again Monday in West Texas.

Freezing drizzle also was reported Friday at Lubbock, Big Spring, Wink, and Plainview, all in or just below the South Plains. In the Panhandle, snow flurries fell at Childress and Dalhart. Sleet fell with a gray drizzle at Dallas but melted as it hit the sidewalk.

Other points reporting light rains included Brownsville, Laredo, Del Rio, Houston, Palacios, Victoria, College Station, Corpus Christi, (Continued On Page Seven)

ON MICKEY MOUSE'S BIRTHDAY— Disney Studio Plans Novel Film Series Through 1956

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—It's hard to believe, but the mighty Mickey Mouse will reach his quarter-century mark next year.

Back in 1928, the show world attended the opening of a miniature epic called "Steamboat Willie." The star was an eager little fellow named Mickey Mouse. Few realized that this mouse would labor and bring forth a multimillion-dollar industry.

Then as now, Mickey's guide, friend and voice was Walt Disney. The film wizard has a myriad of projects to help celebrate his brainchild's twenty-fifth anniversary. One of these is titled "Mickey's Birthday Party." It will be a 45-minute film in which the celebrated rodent will review some of his past hits.

"We were just feeling our way along at first," he admitted. "But now we've hit our stride and we know how to film them and put them together. I plan to put some of them out at feature length. The first will be 'The Living Desert,' a picture about the great American desert.

"There are no limits to the subjects we can find in nature, as long as we do not limit our imagination in dealing with them."

On The Stage

The Disney program shapes up tentatively like this:

1953—"Peter Pan," all-cartoon feature; "Bear Country," a true life short feature; "Mickey's Birthday Party"; "The Living Desert"; "Ben and Me," the longest (30 minutes) short cartoon Disney has made—a $300,000 gamble; "The Sword and the Rose," live film made in England.

1954—"The Prairie Story," a feature-length study of the American prairie; "The Lady and the Tramp," cartoon feature; "Rob Roy," another English-made live actioner.

1955—"Sleeping Beauty," cartoon feature; "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," the Jules Verne adventure yarn.

1956—"Hiawatha," cartoon feature.

There are many other impressive items on the Disney agenda. Walt himself seemed a little overwhelmed by them as we chatted over lunch.

"We're working on pictures that won't be released until 1956," he remarked. "It amazes even me sometimes. Right now I'd just like to take a long vacation. But I can't do it. I've got 700 or 800 people working for me. I can't ever shut down."

Despite his protests about the work, he showed his obvious delight in his projects as he talked about them. One of his favorite subjects is the true life adventure series, which has depicted the lives of the seals, beavers, elk and other wild life.

★ JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD ★

Great Singers' Stories Bloom; McCormack Biography Next

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Heirs of John McCormack, the famous Irish-American tenor who died in 1948, are negotiating with a major studio on the film rights to his life story. The "great singers" cycle, started by the Caruso biography, is in full blossom in Hollywood, with the Marjorie Lawrence and Grace Moore films due for immediate filming.

Gorgeous Susan Ball's big heart-throb is Broadway actor Paul Savage (no kin to the Bob Savage who went dashing to Europe after Rita Hayworth) and she's saying that she'd like to get him a movie contract. "Every other actress is doing it," Susan winked. "Why can't I?"

Olivia de Havilland's movie fans now will be able to decide for themselves whether the New York stage critics were right. Never-give-up Olivia will play Juliet in a special sequence in Lester Cowan's "From Main Street to Broadway."

I've been yelling it and now a movie fashion designer, French-born Jean Louis, is in on the chorus. Says Louis:

"Ees a mistake for stars to dress like ze girl next door. People want to see glamor. Ze great stars like Marlene Dietrich nevaire dress common—always like a beeg star. And women eavrywhere rush to see 'er clothes."

"Oollywood go to nawtheeng een fashion for many years because ze director or producer always say, 'But my wife would not wear thees.' Now watch 'Oollywood. Stars will dress like stars on ze screen."

No Parting Sorrow

The parting of Patrice Wymore and Warner Bros. was far from friendly. Producer Edward Small asked to borrow her as John Payne's leading lady in "Swords Against the Mast." The studio gave Small a big "No," then dropped her from its star list. Pat, by the way, rehearsed with a group of male dancers for a night club act before she left for Jamaica and hubby E. Flynn.

"The Eva Tanguay Story" is being discussed again—this time for Irene Hilda, the French Betty Hutton, now in New York. Further evidence that Diana Lynn has graduated to the glamor ranks: her role in "Plunder in the Sun" originally was slated for Marilyn Monroe. Sultury skylark Lorry Raine is up for a film bid at Warners.

Rosalind Russell and Marie Wilson play WAC's in "Never Wave at a WAC" and in a drill scene Marie says to Roz: "Now throw your shoulders back and stand just like me." Roz looks over Marie's well-filled uniform and says: "Honey, you've got something I'll never have."

John Hodiak will star in "Mission Over Korea" at Columbia—about an American living with his family at Itazuki in Japan when South Korea is attacked.

Hands Off

Jeff Chandler roared "nothing doing" when U-I's publicity boys asked him to pose with teenagers who are spraying their hair with silver dust for that Chandler look. Jeff wants no part of the trend.

Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas are dreaming of a co-starring film—a re-make of "Love Affair"—now that they're having one. Brenda Marshall is spiking the movie comeback talk again with: "I'm happy at home. If there's a chance of co-starring in a film with Bill (hubby Bill Holden) I'll consider it."

Betty Hutton and Alan Ladd no longer are at Paramount, but the studio's menu still lists a Betty Hutton salad and eggs a la Ladd.

John Barrymore, Jr. is happily telling it that his doctors have almost licked his serious skin ailment.

Steve Cochran and Warner Bros. tangled again, with Steve winning the decision. He's out of the cast of "Don't Cry, Baby" as per his demand. The Mari Blanchard-Greg Butzer romance is in the sizzle stage.

Electricians failed to put a space between title words at a Hollywood theater and the marquee blazed:

"KIRK DOUGLAS—THE BISKYK."

All U-I press agents recently were asked to think up a new title for "Sioux Uprising." The memo stated: "We want to convey the great scope of the picture with a new title."

At the bottom of the memo was this P. S. "Please do not submit the title of 'The Great Sioux Uprising.'"

Vegetarians, Too, Fete Thanksgiving

NEW YORK —(P)— What do vegetarians eat for Thanksgiving dinner?

Well, 350 members of the Vegetarian Society of New York stuffed themselves at their 22nd annual dinner Thursday on this menu:

Boiled roast, fruit salad; celery and olives, combination salad; baked potatoes and yams; vegetable soup; whole wheat pumpkin pie and apple pie; mint tea; vegetable coffee and buttermilk.

Said Dr. Robert Anderson in his Thanksgiving address: "Man is a culture; man is a slayer. Let us on this day be thankful that we individually are supporting life instead of death."

Vegetarians go to nawtheeng een fashion for many years because ze director or producer always say, 'But my wife would not wear thees.' Now watch 'Oollywood. Stars will dress like stars on ze screen.'

Electricians failed to put a space between title words at a Hollywood theater and the marquee blazed: "KIRK DOUGLAS—THE BISKYK."

All U-I press agents recently were asked to think up a new title for "Sioux Uprising." The memo stated: "We want to convey the great scope of the picture with a new title."

At the bottom of the memo was this P. S. "Please do not submit the title of 'The Great Sioux Uprising.'"

GI To Get DSC For Hurling Back Chinese Mass Assault

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY, KOREA—(P)—An American soldier who kept firing his machine gun despite an almost useless right arm... who used a pistol and hand grenades when his ammunition was exhausted... and who personally accounted for more than 100 Red casualties has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

The soldier is Pfc. James V. Cline of Res. Pa., machine gunner in Company M, 17th Regiment, U. S. 45th Infantry Division.

The Communists launched a mortar and artillery bombardment last June 15 against a hill near Karhyon which was defended by Company M. An exploding artillery round overturned Cline's weapon and buried the crew.

Hurriedly digging his way out and cleaning his gun, Cline fired at the advancing Red infantry until he stopped their assault.

He turned back a second wave of attackers by destroying their machine gun with direct fire from his own.

They Keep Coming

Cline next wrecked a pack howitzer being operated in support of a third wave of enemy. The howitzer had fired only one round when he found its range and killed the entire crew.

He was wounded shortly thereafter by an exploding grenade. Although both his legs were riddled with shell fragments and his right arm was all but useless, Cline swung his gun around and fired continuously into the still advancing enemy troops, successfully hurting them back.

When his ammunition was exhausted, he used a pistol and hand grenades to help drive the Reds from the UN position.

Another grenade wound, this one in the face, finally forced his evacuation for medical treatment.

DALLAS —(P)—The wife of a socially prominent doctor was wounded critically and near death Friday after a negro slashed her repeatedly with an eight-inch butcher knife.

The 33-year-old woman, Mrs. Margaret Nesbit, wife of widely-known pediatrician Dr. Harold T. Nesbit, was stabbed and slashed about the body, arms and legs at her country home near Carrollton about 8 p.m. Thursday.

She had gone to the back door to speak to the negro servant, who lived in quarters behind the house.

The negro was identified by Sheriff Bill Decker as Ernest McNeil, 31, whom Decker said was an ex-convict, once convicted in Lubbock for theft of more than $50.

After the slashing, the negro jumped into the doctor's station wagon and fled. Sheriff's deputies found him a few hours later at the home of a relative. The negro surrendered quietly.

ITHACA, N. Y. —(P)— Twelve-year-old Philip Quick was back home Friday, none the worse for his bump on the outside of a speeding Lehigh Valley Railroad train.

A chef on the train heard a pounding on the side of his dining car Thursday night, shortly after the train had left here for Geneva, 35 miles north of this city in Central New York.

He pulled young Quick to safety from the lad's perch on a ladder on the side of the car. The railroad returned the boy home on the next train—on the inside.

Barbara Woodriff was a Thanksgiving Day guest in the home of her mother at Midkiff.

For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.—John 3:20, 21.

Which Shall It Be?

Although the Atomic Energy Commission's report deliberately was vague, it seems clear the United States has developed something well on the way to a hydrogen bomb, if not the full-scale bomb itself.

The portent of this announcement is tremendous. It means that we soon shall possess the most destructive of all weapons, a thing of such colossal explosive force that it must be reckoned as a 16-inch naval gun to an ordinary army rifle when compared with the present A-bomb.

Fully developed, the hydrogen bomb perhaps may be capable of destroying several hundred square miles at a single blast. Its potentialities in death and devastation stagger the human mind.

We are building the hydrogen bomb because our scientists told us it was possible, and we rightly concluded that if anyone was to have it, we should.

Yet the theories which spurred the scientists on are equally well known to the Russians, and we must assume they are toiling ceaselessly to produce the same result—and will, in due course, succeed.

When that moment arrives, we then must face the fact that our greatest potential enemy holds a weapon which in her hands can prove of infinitely greater menace to us than can the same device used by America against the Soviet Union.

The reason is that our tightly packed industrial centers, like New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Detroit, represent a far more inviting set of targets than do Russian cities. In Russia, industry is much more widely dispersed.

With the successful development of the hydrogen bomb—or its early counterpart—the world contains within itself the great seed of universal destruction.

At the same time, the very magnitude of its menace stirs the hope that men on all sides may fear ever to employ it, and that therefore the outlook for avoiding total war may brighten rather than grow dimmer.

Which shall it be? Men of every political faith the world over are challenged to decide whether to move toward the Earth's suicide or toward the still misty goals of lasting peace.

Role Of The Joint Chiefs

Dr. Vannevar Bush, the eminent scientist, rarely speaks without provoking thought on the issue before him. Recently he dwelt upon the facts of life in the Pentagon, and his arguments command attention. He declares that Pentagon operations are dangerously confused.

The chief trouble, he says, is that the joint chiefs of staff play a double role—they serve as the nation's top military command and also as the principal military planning agency. Bush believes no single organization can do both jobs well.

For one thing, planning tends to become too conventional, too unimaginative when it is done by the same men who must execute the plans. Military officers who are aware of the practical difficulties that stem from new ways of doing are slow to yield to revolutionary devices or tactics.

In a world where another great war might be decided by the matter of who gets there first with the newest, it is a serious handicap to depend on a planning agency fettered by the restraints of old methods.

Furthermore, as now constituted, the joint chiefs can arrive at informal agreements while sitting as a planning group and then execute them as a high command—without ever submitting the arrangements to check by civilian secretaries. In Bush's view, this clearly departs from the intent of the military unification law that the armed forces be securely under civilian control.

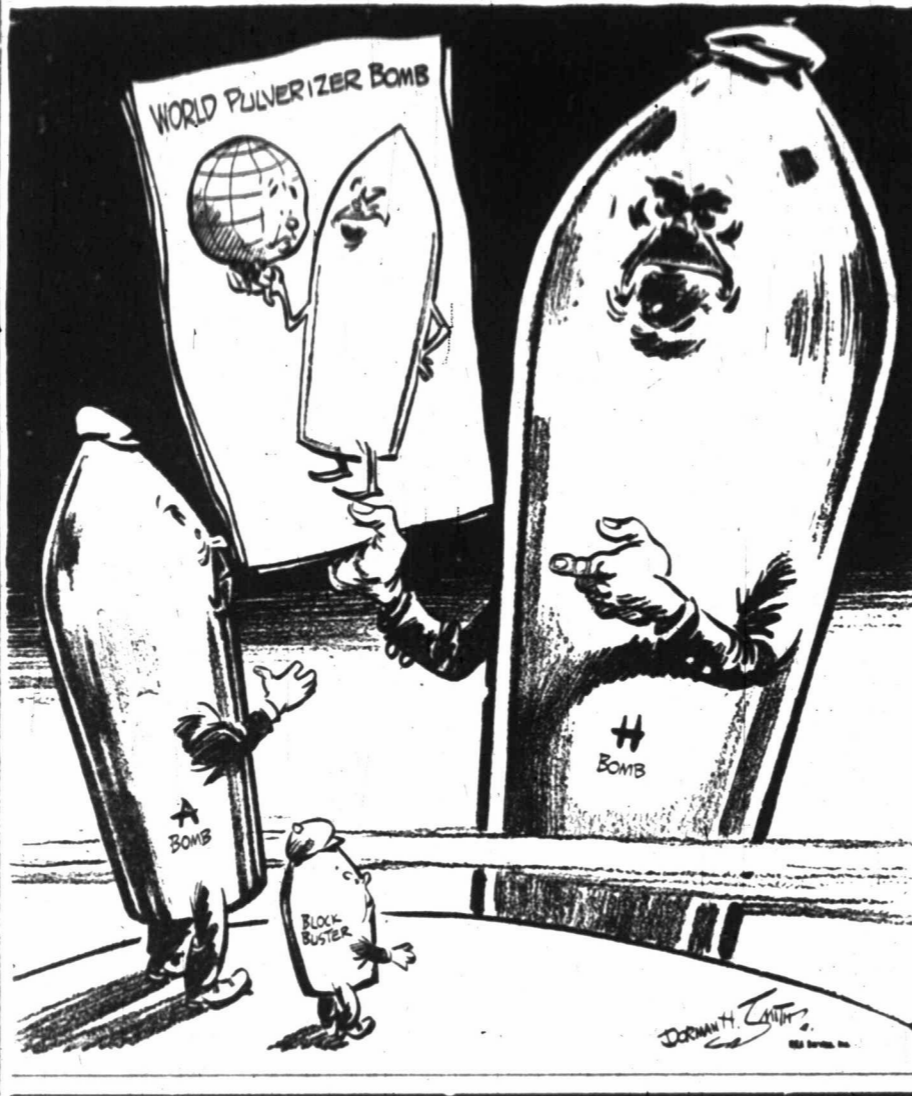

And, fundamentally, to ask the members of the joint chiefs to wear two hats is to impose too heavy a burden upon them. When they must be both planners and executors, they can do neither task as effectively as if their function was a single one.

What Bush is talking about is not mere dry organizational set-up. The questions the joint chiefs must determine include this: How much of our money and effort should be put into offensive preparations, like the build-up of strategic bombing and the tactical use of A-bombs, and how much into defense against enemy air attack?

Obviously we need some kind of balance, and the decision as to where that balance lies is critical to our survival. The man who takes office as President next January 20 ought to give high priority on his agenda of action to the issue of getting effective, imaginative, clear planning effort from the Pentagon. There is a reasonable doubt that we are getting it now in the area of our most crucial military decisions.

A loose tongue easily can be the sign of tightness.

"There's Just One More Step, Boys; The W-P Bomb"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: General Clay is Ike's kingmaker; Clay critics continued high defense spending; Oral questions may be barred at Ike's press conferences.

WASHINGTON—Some of the commentators covering Ike may not realize it, but they have been watching the wrong kingmaker around the President-elect for the man who had the biggest voice in selecting Ike's Cabinet was not Governor Dewey nor Senator Taft, but the former American commander of Berlin—Gen. Lucius Clay.

While Ike is puzzling over his future cabinet at Augusta, Ga., Clay was attending a meeting of big industrialists not far away at Sea Island, Ga. Throughout the conference, Clay shuttled back and forth between Augusta and Sea Island, huddling with Eisenhower, then putting his head together with the industrialists, then slipping back to see Eisenhower again.

It was at Sea Island that Clay first approached General Motors' big boss, Charlie Wilson, and asked him how he would like to be secretary of Defense. Clay who picked the new secretary of the Treasury, steel mogul George Humphrey, who hails from Ohio but was not recommended by Taft. The man Taft suggested to Eisenhower for the Treasury post was Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Even Ike's new secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, although hailed as Dewey's choice, actually was recommended by Clay. Inside story is that the ex-military boss of Berlin has turned into a conservative big businessman since he doffed his Army uniform and settled down in Wall Street as board chairman of Continental Can.

When Clay recommended Dulles as secretary of State, however, even Senator Taft, the champion of the conservatives, was privately delighted. One of Taft's ex-campaign managers told this column: "Dulles is now much closer to Taft than Dewey."

Clay's Prediction. At the Sea Island meeting of industrialists, General Clay spoke little officially mingled much with business leaders. Taking the room for one off-the-record, eight-minute talk, Clay cautiously predicted: "I cannot speak for General Eisenhower, but I believe it is the general's understanding that defense spending will continue at the present high rate for at least another year."

He explained that the money already was committed, could not be cut down. However, he promised that the new appropriations would be "lessened," permitting "some tax cuts not too far away."

He warned that the years ahead would be serious, but better years than business. Truman Cools. Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, once the favorite of President Truman, is favorite no more. A year ago he was invited to sit in the President's box at the Army-Navy game. But not today.

Reason for the coolness is Clark's opinion against the government in the White House seizure of the steel industry during the steel strike. Clark, who had been lifted from relative obscurity to be Truman's attorney general and later Supreme Court justice, held that Truman's action against the steel industry was illegal.

Since then the President has remarked that Clark's opinion "appealed to Stalin more than it did to me." "He is the sourdest lemon," says the President, "that Bob Hannegan dropped in my lap."

Ike's Press Conferences. The question of whether Eisenhower will continue the present system of press conferences came up inadvertently at Mamie's recent birthday party at which several newsmen were present.

Merriman Smith, who has covered the White House for years, inquired of the general: "May I ask an unofficial question?" Eisenhower nodded assent. "Are you going to hold regular press conferences?"

"I have thought over a lot of problems," Eisenhower replied, "but I just haven't got around to that one yet."

At this point Ed Follard, veteran White House correspondent for the Washington Post, which is pro-Eisenhower, asked: "Haven't you held press conferences?"

Eisenhower nodded assent. "Are you going to hold regular press conferences?"

"I have thought over a lot of problems," Eisenhower replied, "but I just haven't got around to that one yet."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service. A very interesting bridge book, "More Bridge Quizzes," has just been sent to me by its English author, Ewart Kempton. In the 200 bridge hands of the book you see only your own hand and the dummy.

You may be told how the first two or three tricks went, and then you are asked to plan the rest of the hand.

For today's hand I have selected one of the most interesting problems in Kempton's collection and have filled in the defending hands. The question is how to play the hand in such a way as to give yourself the best chance for your slam contract.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, West, East, and South hands with card suits and values.

There is no problem at all if you sneak a look at the East-West cards. You simply lead a spade from dummy and finesse the jack from your own hand. Bridge is an easy game when you can see all the cards.

In actual play, however, this would be a poor way to plan the campaign. You would be staking the slam on your ability to guess the jack from your own hand.

Correct play is to run four rounds of trumps at once, discarding a low spade from dummy. The purpose of the extra trumps is to put pressure on one opponent, give a careless defender a chance to make a mistake, or perhaps give the defenders a chance to signal, in which case you may profit by the information.

As it happens, East does feel the pinch. His only safe discards are two low spades.

Declarer next cashes the top diamonds and ruffs a diamond in the hope of setting up dummy's ten. When this maneuver fails, declarer runs three rounds of clubs, ending in dummy, hoping for a 3-3 break. If East had discarded a diamond or a club, dummy's ten of diamonds or last club would become established for the twelfth trick.

Only after all else has failed does declarer lead a spade from dummy. And now there is no guess, since East has only the singleton queen of spades left. When East plays his queen of spades, South can cover with the king and thus assure the slam.

Q—The bidding has been: South West North East 1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass

You, South, hold: Spades 8-2, Hearts A-Q-J-3, Diamonds A-Q-5, Clubs K-Q-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two no-trump. You have 18 points in high cards, and a strong heart suit. The question is whether to bid three hearts or two no-trump, and the no-trump bid is a better description of your balanced distribution and strength in the unbid suits.

TODAY'S QUESTION. The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 8-2, Hearts A-Q-J-3, Diamonds 4, Clubs A-Q-J-3. What do you do?

Answer Sunday.

Now That Brass Has H-Bomb, Problem Is What To Do With It

By DOUGLAS LARREN, NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Some of the high Pentagon brass now are admitting just how stunned they are by the full implication of the recent Eniwetok test which proved that a hydrogen bomb could be exploded.

They are not as concerned as the scientists are about the sheer terrible nature of such a weapon and how inhuman it is. Their worry is over just how the thing ever will be fitted into the total U. S. weapons scheme and long-range strategic planning.

The problem, they say, is that the H-bomb is just as new and evolutionary a weapon as the A-bomb was compared to ordinary TNT.

How do you deliver a hydrogen bomb? What targets are worthy of it? Is there any tactical use for it? Can the Navy use it?

Answering those questions as soon as possible is absolutely necessary if the fantastic cost of the development of the H-bomb is going to buy a better deterrent to Communist aggression, or give a significant jump in the American arms race with Russia. At least some of these questions have to be answered almost immediately if the bomb is to mean anything.

Before U. S. H-bomb is worth a military dime, even as a threat, the first task is to find some way to deliver it to the enemy. Although very little has been revealed about the nature and size of an H-bomb by the Atomic Energy Commission, enough is known about it to frame the prime problem of delivery.

Bomb Must Be Refrigerated. It is known that the heart of the bomb, tritium, has to be kept at an extremely low temperature up until the instant that it is detonated by the explosion of an A-bomb—which somehow is wrapped around the tritium. This obviously involves elaborate refrigerating equipment.

Thus, getting this bulky, frost-heated package down to a small enough size to fit into an airplane obviously is problem No. 1 right now. The best information from AEC sources is that it is not likely, but that it is not considered innumerable.

The actual Eniwetok test undoubtedly was made from a high platform on an island. The size of the new bomb was not a problem for mere test purposes.

After the complex packaging problem is solved the Air Force has to figure out a bombing technique. Conservative estimates say that the effective damage range of the H-bomb will be more than 20 miles. No bomb or known today can fly above that altitude or anywhere near it.

The bomb could be parachuted down while the bomber speeds out of blast range but that is a very erratic technique which isn't considered practical.

The best device the Air Force has revealed it... to fit this bill is a sort of glide bomb which first was used by the Germans in World War II. This bombing technique has a better description of your balanced distribution and strength in the unbid suits.

Q—Where did the word barcarole originate?

A—This is a musical term for the song originally sung by gondoliers in Venice. The word comes from the Italian, and means boat or barge.

Q—When did the United States enact a budget law?

A—The country had no budget until the administration of President Harding when the government expenses resulting from World War I forced the issue. A budget law was enacted in 1921.

Q—Was Christopher Columbus married?

A—About 1479 he married a Portuguese lady, Felipa Perestrello. They lived in the Madeiras, where Felipa died shortly after their only child, Diego, was born.

Q—What did James Joyce attempt to portray in such books as Ulysses and Finnegans Wake?

A—The idea was to show the exact thoughts that move through one man's mind. Ulysses was the record of one day, and Finnegans Wake the record of one night.

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOLSE

Edmund Burke, the great British orator, was annoyed one day by a listener who kept exclaiming the British expression of approval, "Hear! Hear!" Burke denounced the prime minister and then asked, "Where in all the world can we find a greater donkey?" The listener shouted, "Hear! Hear!" Burke turned and bowed; the audience roared—and there was no further annoyance.

Chiang Puts Halt To Statue Building

TAIPEI, FORMOSA—President Chiang Kai-shek wants money subscribed for building statues of himself turned to welfare purposes on Formosa.

Chiang made his views known through his secretary-general after a statue of him was unveiled on his sixty-sixth birthday recently. Plans had been made to erect more statues elsewhere on Formosa and other islands held by the Nationalists.

"I placed a person-to-person call to Bart Jamison in New York. I waited.

"Ready with New York," the operator said. "I'll start with—blow-out for you. I have a raft of celebrities lined up to come—have to pay some of them, of course, but the shindig will make most of the columns. Then a week touring the night spots. Then we've got you out to the coast."

"Hello," I said, "this is Eddie Fields."

Bart Jamison's voice was big, expansive, exhilarated. "Glad to hear from you, Fields! Glad to hear from you! I said, slurring my words, keeping the pitch high. "What's the situation?" "Situation? Didn't you get my letter?" "Haven't seen any letter yet."

"What've you got out there—any excitement?" "Well, tell me—what's in it?"

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shallit

I EXPLAINED to Midge: "You can picture Al's reaction, catching Eddie at the safe. He'd blow his top for sure at a ratty trick like that. It isn't hard to see Al grabbing the first thing that came to hand and bopping him. Eddie, very wisely, must have managed to snatch the ax out of his hands, and when Al charged him again, Eddie swung. In desperation, Eddie's no lion. He must have been spalled when he saw what he'd done. And starting to collapse from the blow he'd gotten. Consciousness doesn't get you all at once. Eddie could have been down on the floor by now, but still conscious enough to do what was needed to make it look like robbery. He crawled to Al, emptied his pockets and his own, swiped the ax handle clean, then started to crawl to the door to holler for help. But unconsciousness hit him at the door—the way I found him."

"Then—then if that's the case, the stuff from their pockets had to be hidden here—it must still be here."

"Hey—you've got an idea! That would prove it, one way or the other."

I placed a person-to-person call to Bart Jamison in New York. I waited.

"Ready with New York," the operator said. "I'll start with—blow-out for you. I have a raft of celebrities lined up to come—have to pay some of them, of course, but the shindig will make most of the columns. Then a week touring the night spots. Then we've got you out to the coast."

"What've you got out there—any excitement?" "Well, tell me—what's in it?"

Midge was down on her knees now, pretty dress and all, examining the floorboards.

"It's got the whole plan, fella," Jamison said. "And a receipt for the fifteen hundred. When do I get the balance?"

"Balance...? Suppose I—suppose we wait a couple of weeks."

"For cripes sake, Fields, what's the matter with you? Didn't I tell you I don't want to make a move till I get the other sixty-five hundred? Can't you understand? You've got to do this in one big splash if you want to make any kind of impression. Spending it in dribbles is pure waste."

MIDGE suddenly squealed. She came running from the closet with an old raincoat, leaned over my shoulder and emptied the pockets on the window sill. Two wallets, some keys, a lighter, and a crumpled mass of greenbacks—they tumbled all over the window sill.

She poked me ecstatically. "What're you planning to do?" I jabbered into the phone.

"Well, we'll start with—blow-out for you. I have a raft of celebrities lined up to come—have to pay some of them, of course, but the shindig will make most of the columns. Then a week touring the night spots. Then we've got you out to the coast."

collapsing. "Eddie, pal, h-w are you?" I babbled.

He hooked a chair with his foot and dragged it against the door. He looked pale and shaky. He nosed down into the chair. "You been trying to fix me ever since this got started. Now you think you did it, don't you?"

"You think I'm a killer," Eddie said dully. "I'm no killer—you ought to know that, Morrison. He hit me first with that ax. I was only trying to protect myself."

"Why didn't you tell that to the cops?"

"What good would it have done?" He shook his head weakly. "Nobody would believe Al would slug me with an ax just out of meanness. I would've had to come out with why he hit me—what I was doing in the office—and then they'd have me with a first-degree case, all wrapped up."

"How did you ever let yourself get into such a mess?"

He said it slowly for a while. Then his eyes slowly narrowed, glinting. "Watched his hands." He waited for me to take that in. "Watched him open it one night 3- from outside the window. Binoculars. Shade was almost down—

"Eddie's eyes were just talking to me. That's all I asked Al for—in that note—not a nickle more than I needed. It was small change to him."

Trunk Murderess Winnie Ruth Judd Again Breaks Free

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—The out-gang-in-again trunk murderess, Winnie Ruth Judd, led searchers a baffling chase Friday after her sixth escape from the State Hospital for the Insane.

Red-haired Winnie squirmed out through a sawed window screen Thursday night.

With her customary craftiness, she left nothing to show just how she circumvented the many precautions taken to keep her in.

It was her second escape this year from the hospital where she has been confined since 1933. In 1931 she killed two girl friends and shipped their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles as baggage.

She was sentenced to be hanged but was found insane just 72 hours before she was scheduled to go to the gallows.

Aided By Accomplice
Her latest flight set off a frantic search, not only for 48-year-old Winnie but for an unknown accomplice or accomplices.

"She had help some way or other to make the escape," said Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital superintendent.

Sheriff Lt. Frank Mitchell agreed. "She definitely had help," he said.

This Dr. Conway said, is how Winnie got out.

About 7:30 p.m. she complained of a headache and said she was going to take a bath. She went into the bathroom, carrying a robe over her arm. Fifteen minutes later an attendant looked in and she was gone.

A hole 15 inches square gaped in the heavy mesh window screen. The glass window had been cranked outward.

The window was almost six feet from the ground.

Expert Sawing Job
The sawing was an expert job," Dr. Conway said. "It wasn't something she did tonight."

Mitchell said, "Someone must have helped her to the ground as she came out the window. The hole in the screen was so small she would have had to wiggle out."

Mrs. Judd left strands of her auburn hair and threads from her green sweater on the severed ends of the one-eighth inch wires of the screen.

After Mrs. Judd escaped last February she was allowed to tell her story of the old killings to the county grand jury. The jury recommended that her death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Gov. Howard Pyle approved the commutation.

The killings of Agnes Ann Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson, attractive girls in their late 20s, occurred here Oct. 16, 1931. Mrs. Judd said she shot them in self-defense during a fight, but the state charged she deliberately murdered them in jealousy over a mutual man friend.

His attorney, George Frohlich, announced he had been served with the papers by a representative of the U. S. attorney's office in Brooklyn.

Luchese, a native of Sicily, has been charged with lying about his criminal record when he took out naturalization papers. The service of denaturalization proceedings is the next step in his deportation.

Commons Approves Denationalizing Bill
LONDON.—(AP)—The House of Commons today approved a bill to auction off the nationalized iron and steel industry in an all night session which ended at 9:06 a.m. Friday.

Wary members began straggling back to the House less than two hours later for another day's business.

The bill to restore the nation's iron and steel plants to private ownership received a second reading—approval in principle—by a vote of 306 to 269.

The measure provides for disposal of the properties by auction any time after next Easter. It goes next to what is known as the committee stage where amendments may be offered, and then on to a third and final reading. The latter is usually just a formality.

Abdullah, Dancing Samia Plan Quiet Anniversary Date
SAN ANTONIO.—(AP)—Work, as usual, will be the order of the day for Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard (Abdullah) King when they celebrate their first wedding anniversary in San Antonio Saturday.

Mr. King, the former Samia Gamal of Egypt and the Riviera, said the couple planned no special observance of the historic day. She is booked to do two floor shows at 10 p.m. and 12 midnight Saturday, the final night of a three-night run at Sevenoaks Night Club.

Friday afternoon Samia planned to visit the Alamo, which she said she always had wanted to see because of its historic past, even though it is not nearly as old as the Pyramids of her native Egypt.

The Kings were married in Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 29, 1950, after an eventful courtship which included difficulties over King's previous marriage and a threat by King's mother, now deceased, to disinherit him if he married the Egyptian dancer and film star. At Samia's request, King became a Moslem before the marriage and added "Abdullah" to his baptismal name.

Israel To Tread Softly On Official View Of Red Trial
TEL AVIV, ISRAEL.—(AP)—Moshe Sharett, the Israeli foreign minister, said Friday Israel will not press now for severing diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia, Israel he said, will "wait and see."

He spoke at a meeting of his Mafal Party workers a few hours after the verdict of a mass trial in Prague which dooms several Jews to die by hanging for their " Zionism" and other alleged crimes against the Red state.

Sharett said he hoped the Prague verdict would not lead to deterioration of relations between Israel and the Peoples' Democracies. But he added that nobody can foretell how the situation will develop in the near future.

He said hundreds of mass meetings will be held over Israel Friday, to protest the verdict.

Metric, Big West Preparing To Plug Wildcat In Pecos
Metric Petroleum Corporation and Big West Drilling Company are preparing to plug and abandon No. 1 Monroe, wildcat failure in extreme East Pecos County.

Last driller test was taken in the Ellenburger from 8,576 to 8,646 feet. Tool was open, two and one-half hours. Recovery was 810 feet of drilling mud cut with sulphur water and 480 feet of sulphur water.

The Ellenburger was topped at 8,334 feet, elevation 2,191 feet. That made it high on that marker to the same formation in Tex-Harvey-Oil Company No. 1 Monroe, wildcat failure one-half mile to the south.

The Metric, Big West wildcat showed some free oil in the Ellenburger on a drill stem test from 8,450 to 8,543 feet. The shows did not indicate the project would make a commercial producer.

Location is 660 feet from south and 4,598 feet from west lines of section 41, block 1, I&GN survey.

Seaboard Wildcat In Coke Plugged
Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware has plugged and abandoned No. 1 Marvin Simpson, wildcat in North-Central Coke County.

The failure was drilled to total depth of 6,100 feet in dry Pennsylvanian lime. No shows were reported in any of the formations drilled.

Location is 3,350 feet from the most northerly north line and 520 feet from west lines of block 4, L. B. Harris survey.

Atlantic Schedules Three Trend Tests
The Atlantic Refining Company filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to drill three more projects in the Spraberry Trend, all in the Drifter field.

In the Glascock County side of the field, Atlantic will dig No. 1-32 Calverley and No. 1-45 Lane.

No. 1-32 Calverley is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 32, block 36, T-4-S, T&P survey.

No. 1-45 Lane will be drilled 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 45, block 36, T-4-S, T&P survey.

All three tests are slated to drill to 8,000 feet.

Shell Ector Test Plugged, Abandoned
After unsuccessful attempts to complete its No. 4-F Thomas as a producer from the McKee sand, Shell Oil Company abandoned the project.

The test originally was completed from the Ellenburger in the TXL field of East-Central Ector County. Operator plugged back from total depth of 9,785 to 9,335 feet.

St. Andrews Presbyterian Church Observes Second Anniversary Date

St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, organized in 1950, will celebrate its second anniversary with appropriate services Sunday.

Although the church actually was organized and constituted on Dec. 10, 1950, under the sponsorship of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland, the Session of the church officially was designated November 30 each year for celebration of the anniversary.

The church was organized with 92 charter members, approximately 50 of them coming from the First Presbyterian Church. The membership now stands at 178.

Since the organization the church has built the first of three units. First services were held in the new church building, Terrell and Jay Streets, on the first Sunday of May this year after having conducted worship services and church school in the David Crockett Elementary School for 16 months.

November 30 has been set as the date for commemoration because the date is recognized throughout Christendom as "St. Andrew's Day." In the calendar of the church, St. Andrew's Day is recognized as one of the fixed observances. Actually it closes the church year, since the church year begins with the Sunday in December nearest November 30.

Appropriately, the first season of the church year is Advent, a celebration of the birth of Christ, which runs from Advent Sunday through Christmas Eve.

The celebration of Advent definitely is defined in history as being in practice in Gaul and Spain in the Fifth Century, although as early as 380 A.D. there were intimations of the celebration found in a source known as Sylvia's Pilgrimage.

At this season of the year the works of creation are sung and the season of preparation for the coming of Jesus is ushered in with solemn joy. Then comes the great celebration of the Nativity and the Incarnation, with Christmastide usually occupying two Sundays.

St. Andrew's Day has a special significance for all Scots and all Presbyterians.

Tradition holds that relics of St. Andrew were brought to Rig-Monadh, afterward called St. Andrews, Scotland, in about the year 798. In about the year 1140 the Parish Church of the Holy Trinity was founded in St. Andrews by Bishop Robert.

The church was reerected on its present site in the center of the city in 1411. It was in this church that John Knox, the father of Presbyterianism, preached his first public sermon in 1547, and it was from this same pulpit that he inaugurated the Protestant Reformation in Scotland in 1559.

The present Parish Church is served by two collegiate ministers and has a communicant membership of 2,400.

Each year the Session of this church sends a letter to "Presbyterian Churches fourth of Scotland" which are called by the name of St. Andrew conveying greetings.

Midland Church Responds
St. Andrews Church of Midland has been in correspondence with the Scotland church for a year, exchanging fraternal greetings.

St. Andrew is the familiar Andrew who was one of the original disciples of Jesus. He was one of the first disciples chosen by Jesus, and it was Andrew who brought his better known brother, Simon Peter, to be a follower of Jesus.

He appears repeatedly in the Gospels, particularly in the Gospel according to John, and he is always found bringing others to Jesus.

Tradition Observed
Tradition holds that following the ascension of Jesus Andrew preached in Nicaea, Nicomedia, Byzantium, Thrace, Macedonia and finally in Achaia where his martyrdom takes place under the direction of the pro-consul Aegeas, who had him crucified.

The celebration of the anniversary this year at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church here will gather about the morning worship service.

The pastor, the Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet, will use as his sermon subject "On St. Andrew's Day." Plans have been made, however, for family dinners to be held on this day in the years to come when the date falls on a week day.

18 Jersey Convicts Moved To Hospital After Hunger Strike

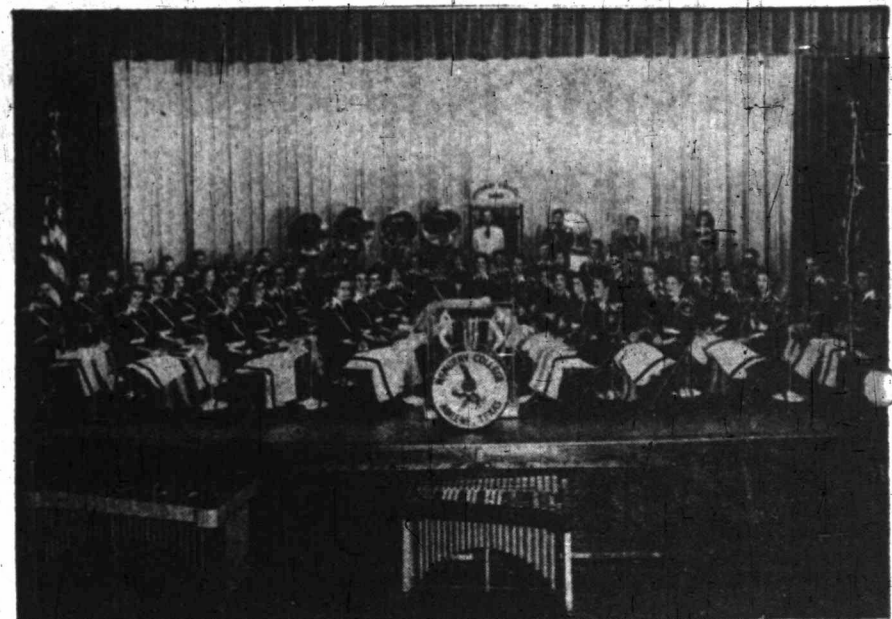

TRENTON, N. J. —(AP)— Eighteen convicts from Trenton State Prison—some of them leaders of last Spring's riots—were in the state hospital Friday as a result of a week-long hunger strike.

The entire group was transferred from a segregation wing Thursday night on the advice of physicians who said the prisoners should be under 24-hour medical supervision. Acting Warden Lloyd McCorkle said the 18 convicts probably found it difficult to damage anything in the prison's segregation wing so they "apparently decided to damage themselves."

The hunger strikers gave no reason for the action, voiced no complaints and made no demands during their seven days without food, said F. Lovell Bixby, deputy commissioner of Institutions and agencies.

They were offered food every day, Bixby said, but turned it down. There was no disturbance anywhere in the prison, he added, even from those convicts transferred to the hospital.

Minnie Jackson, a teacher in the North Elementary School, left Friday for McCamey for the remainder of the week.

New Delaware Governor Seeks To Halt Expensive Turnover In State Employees

WILMINGTON, DEL. —(AP)— As Delaware's lone congressman in Washington, Republican J. Caleb Boggs saw the costly turnover in government employees who left their posts for more remunerative positions in private industry.

He introduced a resolution in the House for a comprehensive study of public employees—their pay, job rating and benefits—as compared with men and women in private industry.

Now, preparing to take over as governor of Delaware January 20, Boggs still is a strong advocate of bringing government pay in line with scales of private business. He says this "would go a long way toward bringing about respect for government and the type of government people have a right to expect."

Boggs, 43, son of a Delaware farmer, has a down-to-earth quality which has brought his popularity in his home state of 320,000 persons. He first was elected to Congress in 1946. Running for reelection in 1948, he was the only major GOP candidate to win in the state. He again was reelected in 1950.

Boggs set out to be a lawyer, graduating from the University of Delaware in 1936 and earning his law degree from Georgetown University Law School at Washington, D. C.

Outclassed Bulldogs Go Down Stubbornly To Odessa

Midland Rises To Brilliance At Times In 26-0 Setback

By COPE ROUTH
Reporter-Telegram Staff Writer
ODESSA — The Bulldogs of Midland High School came to an unhappy end Thursday afternoon as their 1952 gridiron campaign.

Their football fortunes had glided brightly earlier in the season as they romped to five sparkling victories in a row.

Then they became mired in the viciousness of their first season of competition in the tough 11-AAAA district.

HATFIELD FIRES—Little Jesse Hatfield cocks his arm for a jump pass against the Odessa Bronchos in the Thanksgiving Day classic. The Red Hosas broke up the aerial play, moving in to keep the ball from reaching the arms of the intended receiver, End Bill Mims. Notice the herd of Bronchos moving toward Hatfield.

Steers Crush Aggies, 32-12

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas posted its second clean sweep of Southwest Conference football in three years Friday and looked toward Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns rampaged to a 32-12 victory over their arch rivals, Texas A&M, Thursday to make it six victories in six conference outings—a repeat of 1950.

The fearsome foursome of Gib Dawson, T Jones, Billy Quinn and Dick Ochoa massacred the Aggie line for 464 yards and the Cadets couldn't stand up to it for three quarters. Then Don Ellis went in and piloted the Aggies to two touchdowns.

Dawson dashed 134 yards, scored one touchdown, kicked a 17-yard field goal and planted three points after touchdown between the up-rights while Glamor Boy Quinn romped for 127 yards and tallied two touchdowns to become the all-time sophomore scorer of conference history. He ran his total to 13 touchdowns, one more than Bob Hillard of Texas made 20 years ago.

Ochoa, who ran for 97 yards, got the fourth Texas touchdown. The other two points came on a safety when Don Kachik of the Aggies fumbled behind his goal line. Connie Magourik and Ray Haas scored the Aggie touchdowns on line plunges.

Quinn Score First
Quinn made the first Texas touchdown on a 14-yard run around left end with a pitchout. The Aggies came back to drive to the Texas nine but lost their chance at a touchdown when Magourik fumbled on the four.

Jones then steered a 96-yard Texas drive for another touchdown which Dawson made with the seven-yard run around right end. In the third period, Quinn got his second touchdown with a three-yard blast over right tackle.

The final Texas touchdown came in the fourth period and was set up by an Aggie fumble that gave the Longhorns the ball on the A&M 32. A penalty against the Aggies moved the pigskin to the 13. Jones, Quinn and Ochoa alternated in ramming to the two, from where Ochoa banged over.

A&M took the kickoff and rolled 78 yards to its first touchdown. Passes from Ellis to Magourik and Hooper showed the drive along. A recovered Texas fumble set up the second Aggie counter. Magourik and Charlie Hall did most of the gaining in the 41-yard march.

Breck Blasts Brownwood; Playoff Pairings Complete

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The fight for state championships of Texas schoolboy football starts next week with Lubbock and Breckenridge, defending titlists in Classes AAAA and AAA, again in the field.

Breckenridge clinched a return to the playoffs Thursday by hammering previously unbeaten Brownwood, 34-6, and the awesome power of the Buckaroos shoved them back to Schrum Recoverers.

On the next play, Crain, slipped through left tackle and went the distance to the goal line. Robert Baker's placement attempt was wide and Odessa led by a 6-0 score.

Indians Beat Brownfield

BROWNFIELD—Playing in 34-degree weather, the Seminole Indians broke the end zone "ice" tag for a 12-0 victory Thursday over Brownfield in a bi-district battle before 5,000 fans.

The Indians scored in the first and third quarters, and pounced two fumbles to freeze Brownfield drives.

Frank Hargrove and Jackie Sparks, the Indian scoring ends, accounted for Seminole's touchdowns. Hargrove struck paydirt in the initial quarter with a sparkling 59-yard run, and Sparks bucked the line from the one-yard stripe.

While Brownfield threatened two times, driving to Seminole's nine-yard line twice, possession of the ball was lost by fumbles.

Denver City Rolls Over Abernathy By 40 To 14 Triumph

DENVER CITY—A Denver City juggernaut rolled over an Abernathy squad here Thursday to gather in a 40-14 win which gave them control of bi-district honors for 3-A and 4-A elevens.

Denver City's triumph takes them to the task of battling Olton of 2-A for the regional championship. Approximately 2,200 fans watched Charles Ward lead the touchdown parade for Denver City. He personally tallied three times and matched the effort with three conversions for a total of 21 points.

66ers To Oppose Travellers Friday

Big-time basketball ushers in the new sports season Friday night for Midland.

The Phillips 66ers will open a prospective 20-game season against the widely recognized Arstia Travellers from New Mexico. A large crowd is in prospect for the fast-moving contest to start at 8 p.m. in the Midland High School auditorium.

Special entertainment is planned for the intermission period.

The Travellers will be remembered as the hustling outfit which pressed the famed Phillips 66 team from Bartlesville, Okla., in a game at the high school gymnasium here last winter. Former big names from Southwestern Conference game circles will be back with the New Mexicans Friday night.

Don Heathington, who helped bring three basketball championships to Baylor, continues with the Travellers. He has paced the REA outfit for two seasons in scoring.

Dee Nutt, all-Texas Conference choice while playing at Abilene Christian College, give Heathington and other Travellers plenty of help in both the scoring and defensive departments.

Bill Johnson, another Baylor basketball great, keeps his reputation as an outstanding cager in a Traveller uniform.

The Phillips 66ers present a lineup including former collegiate and AAU stars. This makes it a mixture of All-American calibre players in high school gym Friday night.

The 66ers boast a roster which presents, among others, Bill Kleime, all conference with Missouri Valley College; Kenny Jastrow, all-conference at Denver University; Jim Line, three-year letterman at the University of Kentucky where he was a member of two national championship teams; and Ray Edling, selected on the collegiate All-American team of the Associated Press; AAU All-American and Phillips 66 players from 1950 to 1949.

Two Executions Slated In State Prison Next Week

HUNTSVILLE—P—Lester Stevens, convicted of murder in the 13-cent robbery and fatal beating of a Panhandle reclus, is scheduled to die in the electric chair Sunday night.

On the following night—shortly after midnight Monday—another execution is scheduled. The doomed man the second night is Alton Paris, negro father of 13 children. He killed a wildlife biologist who caught him shooting ducks on an East Texas game preserve.

Stevens, 51, Amarillo, smelter worker, had been scheduled for execution the night of October 31, but seven hours before he was to walk his last mile, Gov. Allan Shivers signed a 30-day stay. This was to allow a new appeal for clemency, which failed.

Stevens and Thomas Livesay, 30, Amarillo, were convicted of murder in the robbery and fatal beating of Joshua Blocher. The 85-year-old eccentric was beaten to death in his cabin in the small community of Progress, which he founded in Bailey County. Livesay was given a life sentence.

Both Stevens and Livesay admitted they robbed Blocher after hearing recurrent rumors that the bearded old man had a large amount of money hidden in his shack. Blocher did, but it was law enforcement officers who found it later, in jars buried three inches beneath the dirt floor of his cabin.

Stevens and Livesay accused each other of clubbing the old man to death.

Paris, 60-year-old Palestine negro, admitted in a statement to Sheriff Roy Herrington that he shot and killed State Game Biologist Gus Engeling, 33, last December 12. Paris said Engeling caught him shooting ducks on the state's 2,000-acre game refuge, 20 miles north of Palestine.

LOWEST-WIDEST SPORTSTER—Johnny Campbell, 39, above, points with understandable pride to his co-creation, the "Cado" car. Named for Campbell and his partner, Elbert Dooley, the machine is only 36 1/2 inches high, and is six feet wide, the lowest, widest sport car ever built, according to its inventors. The hand-made machine is powered by a 160-horsepower Olds engine, and is expected to have a top speed of about 140 miles per hour.

Jury Indicts Four In Oil Pipe Thefts

COLEMAN—P—Four men, including a Dallas oil man and an unidentified person, have been indicted by the Coleman County Grand Jury on theft charges.

Stolen, the indictment Wednesday said, was a large amount of oil well casing or pipe.

Indicted were W. E. Fletcher, the Dallas oil man; G. T. Morgan, an Abilene truck driver; Alvin D. Choate, 26, Brownwood, and the unidentified man. Fletcher had not been taken into custody late Thursday night.

Choate, Sheriff H. F. Fenton, Jr., said, was in jail here on charges of passing worthless checks at Midland and Littlefield.

Bond for Morgan and Fletcher was set at $5,000 each.

Sheriff Fenton said a Dallas lawyer had come to Coleman to post bond for Fletcher when and if he was arrested.

The four are accused of taking 21,000 feet of oil field pipe from a lease in North Coleman County last October 18. Fenton said, adding that it belonged to the Westates Petroleum Corporation of Texas.

The sheriff said witnesses saw the pipe carried away in four large trucks and that their description helped authorities recover part of the pipe in Mexico, part of it in Dallas, and part of it in West Texas.

A fifth man originally charged in the theft was not indicted by the grand jury.

Dr. Lowry has been president of Wooster since 1944, and has been associated with the college more than 30 years. He is a graduate of the college and was a professor there before becoming president.

An outstanding author, Dr. Lowry's most recent book, "The Mind's Adventure" was a Religious Book of the Month selection for July, 1950.

The public is invited to hear the distinguished college president here Sunday.

JAILBIRDS GIVE BIRDS THE BIRD

HOUSTON—P—City prisoners whose time was up on Thanksgiving Day were given a choice: they could leave early Thursday or eat turkey at the farm.

Thirty-six out of 40 snubbed the turkey for their freedom.

The same pattern prevailed at the city jail. Prisoners were told they could leave or stay and eat the jail-cooked turkey.

They, too, gave the bird to the bird and chose the crisp winter air of free men.

'Twas THE DAY AFTER THANKSGIVING—

Ailing Wilbur Peeble Needs More Than Bicarb Can Offer

By HAL BOYLE
HOMETOWN, U. S. A.—P—'Twas the day after Thanksgiving and all through the house not a creature was stirring—not even the mouse named Wilbur Peeble.

Well, just barely stirring. America's most average citizen was in a bad way. Wilbur had celebrated feeling grateful about so many things the day before that this morning he felt ungrateful about everything.

A sharp pang seared through his stomach. He grimaced, then opened his eyes cautiously.

"You never get anything for nothing in this world," he said aloud. "Yesterday I never felt better, and today I never felt worse. And all I had in between was a little fun."

His wife, Trellis Mae, sat up in her twin bed and looked over at him with hollow, accusing eyes.

"Well, my fine-feathered philosopher," she said. "You kept me awake all night. And now you want to keep me awake all morning."

"How did I keep you awake all night?" demanded Wilbur.

"With your snoring. At first I thought it must be the radiator knocking. I simply couldn't believe sounds like that could come out of a human nose."

"People don't snore through their noses," objected Wilbur. "They snore through their mouths."

"Maybe ordinary mortals do. But you were snoring through your nose, your ears and wherever that secret hole in your head is. You didn't stop until I pushed you out of bed."

"I wondered how I woke up on the floor in the middle of the night," complained Wilbur. "You shouldn't have done that. I could have caught cold. I guess I ate too much turkey."

"Were you only eating?" murmured Trellis Mae. "I thought I saw you yawning once or twice."

Speaking Of Brothers

"That must have been your two-headed brother."

"I beg your pardon."

"Well, he must have two heads," said Wilbur. "Let's be reasonable about it. No man could eat two turkey drumsticks at one time with only one mouth, and that's what he did. And when he finished, he kept both mouths open bragging, 'I distinctly remember that. If he made all the money he claimed he did this year, why doesn't he buy himself a square meal sometime?'"

"Shall we discuss your brother now?" inquired Trellis Mae. "The one that borrowed carfare home from me the day of our wedding?"

Cheaper To Die

"I give up," said Wilbur. "I'm a sick man. How do you like that? The boss gives me the day off, and I'm too sick to enjoy it. That's life for you. Why do I have to get sick on my own time?"

"Perhaps a little breakfast will help you. What would you like—a little clear turkey broth to start with?"

"Please don't mention that fowl word," groaned Wilbur. "Just soak me a couple of aspirin tablets in some sodium bicarb. Maybe I can burp my way back to health."

She fixed him this brew, and after drinking it Wilbur sat up and said:

"I think I'll live."

Then he noticed Trellis Mae was staring intently at a newspaper.

"What's news?" he asked.

"Well, the paper is full of fur coat ads—and it's only 28 days until Christmas," replied Trellis Mae. "I've changed my mind." cried Wilbur, falling back on the bed. "It's cheaper to die."

Navigator Injured In Parachute Jump From Air Transport

COLORADO SPRINGS—P—The navigator of a C-47 Air Force plane was injured Thursday after he and two other crewmen parachuted in five below zero weather from the stricken craft 28 miles east of here. The pilot later successfully crash-landed the plane in an open field.

Col. William E. Persons, director of public information for the Air Defense Command, said the plane took off from nearby Peterson Field shortly after midnight, lost power and was crash-landed by the pilot, Lt. J. Z. Booser, about half an hour later. Booser was not injured.

Persons said the navigator, Capt. D. L. Marshall, suffered a broken shoulder in the parachute landing. He was taken to the Camp Carson Hospital.

The co-pilot, Second Lt. W. B. Schmidt, and the radio operator, Al C. P. Rossi, escaped injury in landing with their parachutes. Hometowns were not available.

Stevenson Declines To Go On Air Until Deficits Are Paid

SPRINGFIELD—P—Gov. Adlai Stevenson says he plans to spend no money for future radio or television addresses until "substantial" campaign deficits are paid off.

The defeated Democratic presidential candidate said Thursday he has received 70,000 letters and telegrams since the November 4 election. He said in a statement:

"Many have urged that I make future radio and television addresses. Some have sent contributions to pay for such appearances, and I understand several local groups have already been organized to purchase radio and television time.

"I am gratified by these expressions of continued interest in what I have to say, but I cannot make precise plans for the future at this time. Further, the Stevenson campaign headquarters in Springfield and the Democratic National Committee both have substantial deficits which I feel should be paid off before funds are raised for any future activities by me. This is my first concern."

Pre-Game Extra At Lefors Tells Everything But Score

OLTON—P—The Olton Enterprise, a weekly, has put out an extra for the first time in its 26-year history.

If you knew Olton you wouldn't ask why. The town—all 1,197 citizens—is football mad. And on Thanksgiving Day the Olton High School Mustangs defeated Lefors, 13-7, in schoolboy football.

The extra was on sale in the football stands as soon as the game was over.

"Only thing we didn't have was the score," admitted Troy Martin, Olton and his partner, Royce Vernon, put out the paper.

"We figured our boys were gonna win," Martin explained.

So the two went down to the shop early Thursday and set it all up. They dropped the masthead of the paper's name down about three inches and ran a big "EXTRA" at the top.

Below the masthead was "Mustangs win! Then came five or six paragraphs about the victory which, said the Mustangs, "kicked the daylights out of Lefors" pictures of the coach and, line coach, Joe Turner and Glenn Lewis, and the high school football queen Jo-Ann Blachshear, were featured.

Some 400 copies were run off before noon. They were carried out to the game and given to the band director. When the game was over, the band members jumped into the stands selling extras.

They made $25, and they got to keep it all. That was part of the bargain.
