Permian Discovery Reported Potentialized In C-S Upton Area

It has been learned from unofficial sources that Trebel Oil Company and E. O. Rodman of Odessa have completed their No. 1 Bradford Grocery as a discovery from the Permian in Central-South Upton County.

It was reported that the wildcat flowed 550.75 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a choke of unreported potential.

Production is coming from open hole section at 1,706 feet, where seven-inch casing was cemented, and total depth 1,755 feet.

The pay, possibly upper Grayburg, was topped at 1,744 feet, elevation 2,387 feet.

The new field discovery is two miles northwest of the Crockett field. It is 11 miles southwest of the town of Rankin and the same distance southeast of the town of McCamey.

It is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 1, GC&SF survey.

San Andres Oiler Indicated At C-S Goes Wildcat

The Texas Company No. 1 Tobe Foster, wildcat in Central-South Gaines County, has indicated as a producer from the San Andres.

Operator tested the section from 5,360 to 5,420 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 1,040 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, estimated to be 15 per cent oil. Open bottom-hole pressure was from 330 to 390 pounds. Shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 1210 pounds.

Another drillstem test was underway in the interval from 5,420 to 5,485 feet.

The San Andres was topped at 5,174 feet, minus datum of 1,933 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from northwest and 3,300 feet from southwest lines of league 305, Dawson County School Land survey.

It is slated for a bottom of 9,300 feet.

Turners, Durham Find Discovery In Terry Sector

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr., and Lynn D. Durham of Midland No. 1 Rankin has been completed as a Pennsylvania reef lime discovery in Southeast Terry County.

The new well was finished for a calculated daily flow potential of 321.84 barrels of 42.7-gravity oil through a 12/64-inch choke.

The daily flow was based on an actual nine-hour flow of 120.75 barrels of oil.

Flowing tubing pressure was 50 pounds and gas-oil ratio 740-1.

Production is from perforations at 10,094-10,084 feet.

Pay section had been treated with acid.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 146, block T, D&W survey and seven miles south of the town of Brownfield.

Argo To Hunt Oil In Delaware Sand At Ward Wildcat

Argo Oil Corporation is to start operations by February 1 at its No. 1 John Olson, which is slated to be a 5,100-foot Delaware sand wildcat in Central-West Ward County.

It will be seven miles northeast of Barstow, seven miles southeast of the Monroe field and six miles west of the Lion field.

Both of the nearest oil fields produce from the Delaware sand.

Location of Argo No. 1 Olson is 467 feet from southwest and southeast lines of the north quarter of section 191, block 34, H&Q survey. Rotary tools will be used to dig the prospector.

Wink Operators Set Eight Shallow Tests In Brewster Sector

C. D. Hubbard and H. H. Sasser of Wink filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to drill eight shallow wildcats in the town of Marathon, Brewster County.

Oil Allowable For February Hiked Slightly

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Railroad Commission Friday granted an increase of 10,396 barrels a day in the Texas oil allowable for February, setting the permissive flow at 3,238,937 barrels a day.

The total number of general state-wide producing days will be cut from 22 to 20 and the East Texas field will have only 17 days' flow instead of the 19 it enjoys this month. The increase in average daily allowable will result from the fact that February has only 28 days compared with January's 31.

Announcement of the allowable followed a 13-minute state-wide production hearing, one of the shortest in commission history.

There was no debate on whether production should be raised or lowered, although a majority of the witnesses recommended a higher allowable than the commission granted.

Sun, Magnolia and Shell entered pleas for 21 state-wide days and 18 in East Texas, Gulf, Texaco and Cities Service favored 20 and 18.

Sinclair asked just what the commission approved, 20 and 17, while Humble sought 19 state-wide days, 17 for East Texas, which would have meant reduced production.

Goldsmith Plant Fields
Fields other than East Texas on less than the state-wide schedule will be Pantex 18, Hewitt Ranch 10, and Pickton nine, all the same as for January, and Hawkins, 18, down two.

The 14 West Texas fields connected to Phillips Petroleum Company's Goldsmith Gasoline Plant will be allowed 17 days, two less than at present. A spokesman said 17 days would be all the plant could handle in the 28-day month without wasting gas.

Fort Chadbourne field will remain shut in.

The next state-wide production hearing will be held February 18, when national heads of major importing companies have been asked to testify on their anticipated crude requirements and their import schedules for 1953.

Chad Gravelle, 66, Laundry Co-Owner, Dies At Residence

Chad Gravelle, 66, co-owner of the Midland Steam Laundry, died Friday morning at the residence, 2601 West Golf Course Road, after an extended illness.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Clyde Lindsey, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Gravelle and Bill Davis bought the steam laundry in 1944. Gravelle came here in 1928 from Arkansas City, Kan. He was born in May 2, 1886, at Lordnord, Kan.

Gravelle was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Fraternal Order of Eagle.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. R. R. Sanders, San Gabriel, Calif.; a brother, Ben Gravelle, Guthrie, Okla., and a stepson, T. O. Robinson, Breckenridge.

Panel Clears Durkin; Taft Skips Protest

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Labor Committee Friday recommended Senate confirmation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of Labor without a word of protest from Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who had termed the selection "incredible."

Taft raised no objection of any kind at a half-hour public hearing, held informally by the committee to clear the decks for Durkin's inauguration-day installation. Taft himself smilingly gave reporters the word of the unanimous approval.

Three-Minute Session
This approval came at a three-minute closed door meeting of the committee, called immediately after the public session.

Taft had denounced Durkin's appointment as incredible when the selection was announced by President-elect Eisenhower.

However, the Ohioan said later he would not oppose confirmation. At the public hearing, Taft said he had little to say, then remarked that he understood the secretary-designate has stated that "you will regard yourself as a representative of the public and not a representative of a particular organization."

Taft said he understood Durkin already has left the presidency of the AFL National Plumbers Union. Durkin confirmed this and said his successor already had been elected.

Teenage Pair Held For Cafe Burglary

Two 19-year-old Latin American youths were being held by sheriff's deputies Friday in connection with the burglary Wednesday night of El Charro Cafe.

The sheriff's office said the two had admitted robbing the cafe of $25 in cash as well as some beer and cigarettes.

No charges have been filed.

REDS AVOID ACE JABARA

AN ADVANCE SABRE JET BASE, KOREA—(AP)— Maj. James Jabara, history's first jet ace, returned to combat in North Korea skies Thursday and Friday but got no new kills.

"The Communists didn't come to meet me," he complained Thursday night.

"I wish I'd seen more MIG's," he shrugged after completing the second combat mission Friday.

Truman Makes Tideland Snatch For Navy Official

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman Friday set aside submerged offshore lands as a Navy oil reserve, in the teeth of bitter congressional protests.

In a statement aimed at those seeking passage of legislation to vest ownership in the coastal states of California, Texas and Louisiana, the President declared:

"It has been, and still is, my firm conviction that it would be the height of folly for the United States to give away the vast quantities of oil contained in the continental shelf and then buy back this same oil at stiff prices for use by the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force in the defense of the nation."

The President had announced Thursday he was going to issue the order. In reply, his congressional critics raised cries of "outrageous," "an illegal power grab," and "personal spite."

First 1953 Auto Tags Reach County

The new 1953 automobile license tags—scheduled to go on sale February 1—began arriving Friday in Midland.

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed said the shipment included 12,000 passenger car tags as well as those for trucks and other vehicles.

The new tags give Midland County a BW prefix with numbers running from 6490 through 9999 and a BX prefix with numbers beginning at 10 and running through 9049.

The numbers will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis and no numbers will be reserved for any particular purchasers.

Truman's action came within five days of the inauguration of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower as President. Eisenhower has favored giving the states control of the lands in question.

Truman declared his order is "an important step in the interests of the national defense." He declared production of petroleum in this country during 1952 "fell far short" of consumption and added that the deficit is expected "to grow larger year by year."

He said it was important that these oil deposits, "which are assets of all the people of the United States," be conserved and utilized for the national security.

Truman's backers on the issue have evidenced little hope the order will stand very long.

Forty senators already have introduced a bill to give to the states control of the lands under the marginal seas, containing billions of dollars worth of oil. President-elect Eisenhower has said he favors doing so. His stand may have helped him carry Texas, which is one of the states primarily affected. The others are Louisiana and California.

Coffey will be the general superintendent of the show and sale.

Howard; Fat Lamb Division—David Workman, James Windham and Warren Skaggs; Publicity—Delbert Downing, chairman, Bill Collins, Wally Jackson and Jack Cecil; Grounds—Norman Drake; Display Pens—Sledge, Perry Collins and Gordon Holcomb.

Midland Area Records Light Snow Flurries

Winter was back in Midland Friday with renewed gusto.

The mercury plummeted to 24 degrees, lowest reading for the new year, and had fluctuated little as light snow and rain spotted this West Texas sector during the morning.

The Weather Bureau expected the limited precipitation to continue over the weekend. The snow flurries were melting almost as fast they fell.

Texas Roads Open Despite Iced Bridges

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Highway Department Friday reported all highways open but driving slow and very hazardous over almost two-thirds of Texas.

The danger area extended as far south as San Antonio, as far east as Navasota, Tyler and Paris, across the north through Decatur, west to Abilene and San Angelo and back to San Antonio through Junction.

Freezing rain and sleet were reported on highways within the area of those boundaries.

Most bridges were iced over and a spotty covering of ice slicked the highways, the department reported.

The department said it expected worse conditions through Friday and Friday night with no relief in sight until possibly Saturday.

Farley Pays Final Tribute To Truman

WASHINGTON —(AP)— James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman, said Friday President Truman will live in history as one of this country's "greatest presidents."

Farley paid a goodbye call on the President and said on leaving that Truman was looking "remarkably well" after his almost eight years of terrific strain and responsibility.

Armless Moonshiner Shows Cops He Handles Arms Well

SOMERSET, KY.—(AP)— Officers were amazed when they found an armless man operating a moonshine liquor still Thursday.

But Fred T. Strunk, 23, who was born without arms, assured them that was nothing.

His specialty, he solemnly told officers, is loading and firing a .22-caliber rifle.

"I've seldom missed the target," said Strunk, who travels with a carnival in season.

He wasn't bluffing. He borrowed a pistol and knocked over a bucket at 50 feet.

Unable to fingerprint him, officers settled for his name, written on a card with a pencil held between his toes. He was charged with possessing a still.

Daughter Of Texas Fugitive Ochoa Found Shot To Death

LAREDO —(AP)— A young daughter of scar-faced George Ochoa, who dodged trial on two murder charges by running to Mexico in 1949, was found shot to death Thursday night.

Margarita Ochoa, 14, was shot in the stomach with a .300 caliber rifle. The body was found by her sister, Ana Maria, 16.

Margarita apparently was alone in the Ochoa home at the time of the shooting, officers said. An inquest verdict was withheld pending examination of the bullet by ballistics experts.

Her father had maintained a fine arsenal of sporting arms in the days when he lived here and was known as a gay caballero, sportsman and barroom brawler.

Ochoa was charged in this Texas border city with killing two men on July 31, 1949, in separate rooms of a hotel. Both men knew Ochoa's beautiful wife, Rosa.

Weapon To End Wars?

One of the weird facts of 1952 was the slight public excitement which attended the late Fall announcement that the United States had exploded an H-bomb at Eniwetok in the Pacific.

In his final State-of-the-Union message, President Truman took steps to rivet greater attention upon this horrifying new phenomenon.

In the interval since the original announcement, some reporters have come forth with the declaration that the Eniwetok explosion was a resounding success.

Truman appeared to confirm, rather than to challenge, this information when he offered dire warnings to Premier Stalin of the ruinous nature of any future general war.

"The war of the future would be one in which man could extinguish millions of lives at one blow, demolish the great cities of the world, wipe out the cultural achievements of the past—and destroy the very structure of a civilization that has been slowly and painfully built up through hundreds of generations.

Truman said he did not know how long it would take Stalin and his associates in the Kremlin to understand what the H-bomb and the lesser A-bomb would do to his regime and to Russia's great cities.

For, whatever disposition the Russian Communists may have shown to commit aggression, to impose their rule on millions of free men, they have shown very little liking for national suicide.

And, with their own highly developed seismographic and other technical equipment, they do not need to take President Truman's word that we now are in the hydrogen age.

Beyond any doubt the Russians are racing to fashion an H-bomb to match ours. Eventually they surely will succeed.

Nevertheless, developing an H-bomb will not relieve the Reds of the threat posed by the American version. It merely will give Moscow the means to retaliate in kind.

Inevitably, in these first months of life with this dread device tucked away in our arsenals, we cannot see clearly the whole meaning.

The H-bomb, promising holocausts of fire and blast and tumbling stone, could be the weapon that will end the great wars. Men undertake war only when they believe they can prosecute it at less than ruinous cost to themselves.

If that is true, the only question, then, is whether all men across the globe may be brought to realize it in time.

Some People Have More Sense

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted his party last Fall to campaign for Governor Stevenson, brought a collapsible chair to the Senate the day the new Congress convened.

Morse may not have intended it so, but his little display actually was quite symbolic of his political behavior. His views sometimes are about as collapsible as the chair.

In 1949 Morse called in a reporter he knew well and gave him a written statement of views on Republican liberalism in the Senate of that year.

From the first he always has taken himself with desperate seriousness in the Senate. His long, legalistic arguments on a wide variety of topics have consumed untold man-hours in the upper chamber.

Morse's grave view of his own significance reflected itself in his 1952 bolt. Politicians have bolted before and that is their privilege. But few have gone so far as to assume their attitudes still were of commanding interest after the election has been decided in accord with contrary notions.

Morse clings to the idea that the November 4 result proves General Eisenhower "fooled 34,000,000 people" who voted for him. It is just possible the 34,000,000 have more sense about their leaders than has this man who sees himself in such exaggerated perspective.

It's the people who really have little cause to be cheerful that keep us from not having any cheerful people.

Probably The First Thing On The Agenda

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Churchill talks should prove future help to Eisenhower; Prime minister favors big three confab; Frowns on using Chiang troops in Korea; Acheson begs Churchill to assume leadership.

WASHINGTON—It now is possible to report the chief highlights of the Churchill-Eisenhower and the Churchill-Washington conversations; also some of the amusing side-light—for no conversation with the British prime minister is without its whimsical moments.

During the New York talks when Churchill was urging Anglo-American cooperation of atomic energy, Eisenhower remarked that one of his problems was to keep the committees of Congress advised.

"Yes," granted Churchill, "I've had considerable experience in advising your committees. My friend Mr. Roosevelt had trouble advising the committees of Congress. And my friend Mr. Truman had the same trouble. And when I have come over here I have had to advise them myself."

During the dinner at the British Embassy in Washington, the top statesmen of the Anglo-American world also spent some little time discussing such weighty matters as American and British slang, how certain colloquialisms got started, and seemed especially intrigued over the origin of one of Truman's pet phrases referring to a pain in a certain portion of the anatomy.

President Truman told Churchill not to be surprised if he showed up in London soon, and after the President played a couple of his favorite pieces on the Embassy's grand piano, the prime minister quipped: "I wonder if General Eisenhower can do as well?"

Meet With Stalin
The Churchill-Eisenhower talks in New York were inconclusive but extremely helpful for future guidance. Here is a summary of their main points:

Big Three Meeting—Churchill virtually paraphrased Governor Stevenson's advice that the solution to the Korean war was in Moscow and deftly suggested that Ike not take his eye off Moscow. He urged that Eisenhower think seriously about accepting Stalin's idea of a joint meeting, emphasizing that he would want to be present at such a meeting, said that even if nothing came of it, the meeting at least would show we are not warmongers.

So They Say

The real struggle in the Senate will be to keep a liberal party alive. The mistake of the 1920 to 1928 period when the Democratic Party became just an echo of the Republicans must be averted.

—Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.)
The (Chinese) people are waiting for us to come back. They are waiting for liberation.
—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

I have every confidence that our successors will continue to do the work we did in the effort relating to this great organization (NATO).
—Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It happens that the Mutual Security Agency is in a position to help the Philippines, yet its assistance is lagging.
—Eugenio Peres, Speaker of the Philippines House of Representatives.

There's a better chance for the Senate and the administration to get along on that basis (with Senator Robert Taft as majority leader) than on any other.
—Senator Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.).

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
All expert bridge players know that in order to execute a throw-in play it is necessary to put an opponent in the lead at a time when he has no safe cards to get out with. In order to bring about this condition, it is usually necessary for declarer to draw trumps and to do some other spade work.

In today's mixed play in the recent National Mixed Pair Championship, conducted in Florida by the American Contract Bridge League, declarer had to execute her throw-in play at a time when one of the defenders still had a trump. This unusual play was carefully planned and executed by Mrs. R. A. Dunphy, of Pass-A-Grille Beach, Fla.

West opened a low spade, and East won with the ace. East returned a low diamond, South played low.

Table with columns NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH (D), and a list of cards and suits.

and West's eight forced out dummy's ace. Since entries to dummy were scarce Mrs. Dunphy promptly led the queen of clubs from dummy and let it ride for a finesse.

West won with the king of clubs and returned a diamond, East's jack forcing out declarer's king.

It was now clear to Mrs. Dunphy that West had both of the missing honors in hearts for the take-out double of one club. How could she avoid the loss of two heart tricks?

After some thought, Mrs. Dunphy cashed the king of spades, ruffed her last spade in dummy, took a second round of trumps with the ace, and then exited with the ten of diamonds.

West was forced to win this trick with the queen of diamonds, and that had no safe return lead. If West returned a spade or a diamond, dummy could ruff with its last trump, while South discarded a losing heart. If West tried to return a heart, or course, South could lose one trick in that suit.

If South had drawn East's last trump, she would have been obliged to draw the last trump from dummy at the same time. Then West could have gotten out safely with either his last spade or his last diamond. South would wind up losing two heart tricks, for a one-trick set instead of making her contract.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West 2 Hearts Pass ?

Y, South, hold: Spades A-J-6-3-2, Hearts K-4, Diamonds K-5-3-2, Clubs 6-4. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. You have 11 points in high cards, one point for the doubleton, and one extra point for the king of hearts. This is a very fine hand, and you should expect to reach a slam. You can afford to bid spades at this moment and and chewed on the stem. "Our idea was to help displaced persons after they got into the country. A lot of groups have been working on various phases of the problem, such as finding them medical care, advancing money for passage and food, but nothing we didn't much about getting them established here. That's where we come in."

I nodded encouragement as he paused for a breath. "As a matter of fact," he went on, "it was Future Americans that got me interested in working at the store. Most of the people who came in had to learn English and they needed refresher courses in their professions. At the same time they had to make some money. So we worked out a plan of small jobs down at the store, stockroom clerks, janitors, that sort of thing. Our people work about four hours a day at the store and go to classes the rest of the time. The courses last anywhere from two to six months, depending on their work. See?"

"Yes," I said. "And where do I come in?"

HEAVY jaw muscles worked in to lumpy knots and he scowled down at the table. "It's a little silly, maybe," he said with a strange hesitancy. "You see, some of our records are missing."

I waited, trying to look intelligent while he stumbled for words. "We fill in a card for each person, in addition to our other files. Most of our people are the sort who wouldn't take help unless we kept a record of money spent. Well, these cards are kept in a file case in our office—we use a gethuse on my old man's property—and, as I said, a stack of those cards has been removed."

"What do you care?" I asked. "I take it you aren't concerned about getting your money back?"

"No," he said, "no, it isn't that... it's... well, Wilde, I simply can't tell you," he said in a swift rush of words. "I want you to find out who took those cards and get them back if you can. Without knowing anything more about it."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Truman Slyly Got In His Licks And Budget Suggestions To Like

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman tried to make a great point in his budget message about how he wasn't making any recommendations to the new Congress. He said it was up to incoming-President Eisenhower to make his own proposals to Congress on new legislation and what it would cost.

What you are asked to believe is that this new budget, calling for expenditures of almost $78,000,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, is a bare-bones, economy-size package for frugal government housekeeping. The inference is that if Truman really had wanted to go to town he could have recommended another $85,000,000 job as easily as he did last year.

As a matter of fact, the various government departments and agencies did ask for a total of $85,000,000,000 for fiscal 1954. President Truman and the budget bureau whitened these requests down by about $8,000,000,000. That much fat was trimmed off, at least.

The Department of Defense, which gets 59 per cent of the budget, had asked for $42,500,000,000 in new contract authority next year. Truman & Company cut it to $41,300,000,000, the lowest it has been since 1950.

Assistant Secretary of Defense W. J. McNeil says the fact this figure was not higher is in itself something of an achievement.

There was more cooperation among the Army, Navy and Air Force than ever before, McNeil declares. And for the first time there was some serious thinking about the fear of spending too much. That's what the man says, anyway.

Cuts Would Leave No Slack
If President Truman had sent to Congress an $85,000,000,000 budget this year, it would have been a lot easier for the Republicans to economize on it. They still may think it easy to cut a $78,000,000,000 budget by $10,000,000,000. That's approximately a 12 1/2 per cent cut.

The embarrassing part of it is that if the Republicans do cut spending by that much, on top of planned tax cuts and total tax collections of $69,000,000,000, it will leave them no room to start any new programs of their own.

Balancing the budget at the $69,000,000,000 level would mean no step-up in the Korean war to get it over with. President Truman's budget message left no allowance for that. In fact, the challenge which the departing President has put up to his successor is that if Eisenhower starts any new programs of his own, he will have to raise taxes instead of cutting them to carry out promises to balance the budget.

But when President Truman declared that he was making no recommendations for new programs in this last budget message of his, he was slightly kidding. All the way through this message he has stuck in sly little suggestions on what he thinks ought to be done.

He got in another plug for closing tax loopholes. Congress could bid vigorously later.

"THE STORE?" Corney Wilde, private detective, who is trying to solve a mystery, is asked by Jack Jones, son of the store owner, to work another case. While waiting at the Coronet club for Jack, Corney sees Miss Boone, head of the service department at the store. In company with Mr. Boone, she is the coronet, Mr. Teaswell.

I FOLLOWED Jones into a dark paneled room that had the solemn hush of a good man's club. This was the Library.

Jones hid behind the first table and eased into an armchair against the wall. I took the one beside him. Before I was actually in my seat, an elderly waiter with a plump rosy face bent silently toward Jones. He nodded when we ordered.

Everything in that place was silent, efficient. "It reminds me of Wall Street on Sunday morning," I said.

He leaned far back in his chair and beamed. "I think it's the Calverly touch," he said, grinning. "Or maybe it comes from Hollywood by way of Minsky's. But whatever, it's wonderfully impressive." The waiter brought our drinks.

"Don't let me inhibit you, Wilde," Jones said. "I picked up his milky glass. "I drink milk punch and I'm permitted only two a day. My British friends ruined my stomach for me."

"I didn't realize things got that bad in England," I said, just to be saying something.

Jones snorted. "It wasn't in England," he said. "I spent eight months in a prison in Palestine." I looked over his head at the panel of wall behind him. "I suppose you were in the Palestine war?"

He nodded briefly. "Six years with the British Army, two years against them."

"It's the ailment of our times," I said. "You never know who

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y. —(AP)—This could be a "paper loss."

Officials explained that the payroll sheets used in the city's book-keeping machines were too narrow to list the cents.

Outnumbered Sabre Jets Blast Another Red MIG To Earth

SEOUL —(AP)—U. S. Sabre jets—outnumbered four to one—sent one Communist MIG-15 spinning to earth and damaged another Friday while Allied fighter-bombers continued blasting Red supply arteries.

The Fifth Air Force reported six Sabres took on 24 MIGs in furious dogfights high over Northwest Korea. Lt. Peter J. Frederick of Colledge Point, N. Y., was credited with the kill—the eleventh in three days.

Republic of Korea raiders again forced the icy Nam River in swift hit-and-run attacks against entrenched Communists on the far eastern front. East of "Luke the Cook's Castle," the ROK soldiers reported killing nine Reds in a short but fierce hand grenade and automatic weapons fight.

Eighth Army briefing officers reported a three-hour daylight raid killed 37 and wounded 17 Chinese Reds on the western front near Panmujom Thursday.

India Missionary Conducts Revival For Faith Tabernacle.

The Rev. Hudson H. McKee, evangelist and missionary to India, is conducting a series of revival services which will end with the evening service Sunday in the Faith Tabernacle, 611 South Terrell Street.

Mr. McKee returned last January from India where he worked directly with mission stations. He has been traveling in the interest of the mission work which is directed by India Christian Mission, an interdenominational organization, which he serves as president. Its headquarters are in Pasadena, Calif.

With the aid of an interpreter, he frequently speaks in India to members of business organizations who are very interested in America. Education increases.

"Although illiteracy is 30 per cent in some parts of India and two per cent elsewhere, educational courses are on the increase," he said. "There are a number of young persons with degrees, but few industries."

Priestly, military, business, agriculture and outcasts are the classes of people who make up the 400 million Indian population.

Missions stations connected with the outcast division have been his main work during his last term of service in India and also teaching native workers.

Housing No Problem

Mr. McKee also explained that the housing situation isn't much of a problem; the wealthy live similarly to Americans. Others are housed in mud huts with grass-roofs with little or no furniture. A man's occupation depends solely on the class he is born in. Occasionally, Mr. McKee dresses in the type clothing worn by the people of India—a dhoti ensemble, consisting of a full length skirt, no hat and no shoes. The women in India wear a sari. Their dresses require 16 yards of material which make up the skirt, bodice and headpiece.

The 67-year-old missionary was born in Lisburn, Ireland, and moved to Hamilton Ontario, Canada, and then to Rochester, N. Y., where he became an American citizen in 1945. In addition to his work in India, he has traveled extensively in France, Germany, China, Japan, Egypt and the British Empire.

Upon completion of his speaking engagements, he plans to return to India in December.

Regional Girl Scout Director Addresses Midland Association

Mrs. John F. Camp of San Antonio, regional Girl Scout director and a member of the National Girl Scout organization, addressed the Midland Girl Scout Association Tuesday at its annual meeting in the Little House.

She told of her experiences last Summer during a two-week trip to Japan where she talked with many Japanese leaders in the fields of politics, education and the arts. The need they most often mentioned, she said, was for educational and religious missionaries.

Japan is at an important crossroads, she continued, and this year well may show whether the help and interest of democratic countries will be sufficient to prevent the spread of communism.

Mrs. Camp also described her visit to one of the two established Girl Scout camps on the island where she found standards and principles much the same as in this country.

There are 14,000 Girl Scouts on the island, she said, who follow an active program as outlined by the World Association of Girl Scouts and Guides.

During the business session presided over by Mrs. Carl Covington, president, printed reports of the committee chairmen were distributed. The election and installation of officers, which had been originally scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until February 2 because of the illness of a number of the association's members.

'NOT ESPECIALLY SICK, JUST TIRED'— Texas Pair Wed 80 Years Note Anniversary Quietly

WHITNEY—(AP)—Aunt Easter, "not especially sick—just tired," celebrated her eightieth wedding anniversary Friday with her husband, Uncle Tom, standing around her bed.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Rose, aged almost 100 and 97, respectively.

They are just a couple of kids, 80 years ago Friday, when they got married back in Tennessee, their native state. Gradually as 11 children came and grandchildren and great-grandchildren appeared on the scene, they became affectionately known as Uncle Tom and Aunt Easter.

On their seventy-fifth anniversary, they repledged their marriage vows in a hall above a drugstore in this little Central Texas town, site of big Whitney Dam and reservoir. Friends brought gifts and President Truman sent a telegram.

Aunt Easter is in bed now, where she's stayed most of the time during the last two years. And Uncle Tom isn't so spry any more.

But friends, old and new, will drop by to wish them well—and many more happy anniversaries at the little old farm house where they live.

Aunt Easter, a friend said Wednesday, is "not especially sick—just tired." And Uncle Tom?

"I feel well except for my eyes," he told a newspaperman. "I can't see to read, so I never watch television. I just listen to the radio."

Mrs. Earl Connolly, the couple's daughter, says Uncle Tom goes to town every Saturday. Says he wants to get a shave. But his daughter says he really goes to town so he can "mix and mingle" with folks he knows.

And Uncle Tom's brother, a youngster of 80 Winters, Will Rose of Whitney, says, "Tom has walked a million miles. Up to three years ago he could out walk you and me. He has never smoked, drank or gambled. He always lived an outdoor life."

But Uncle Tom says none of those virtues is the reason he's lived so long or why he and Aunt Easter have had so many happy years of married life.

Asked what he thought was the chief reason for it all, he answered, "being born on Sunday."

He was born in Wayne County, Tenn., July 25, 1852. Aunt Easter was born in Hardin County, same state, Dec. 16, 1854. They traveled from Oct. 17, 1877, to December 3 that year to reach Texas in a covered wagon.

Many Descendants

Uncle Tom paid $6 an acre for his land and built a home. With 123 direct descendants—37 grandchildren, 87 great grandchildren, and 20 great great grandchildren—the home grew.

Their nine children still living are, besides Mrs. Connolly: Mrs. J. W. Jackson, Post, Texas; H. E. Rose and Tom Rose, Jr., Whitney; Mrs. T. A. Hendrix, Wichita Falls; H. M. Rose, Morgan, Texas; Mrs. Ralph Farrar, Guthrie, Okla.; C. F. Rose, Roscoe, Texas, and D. B. Rose, Purcell, Okla.

Crane Cracks Down On Reckless Drivers

CRANE—Three men were fined for drunkenness and one for disturbing the peace during the month of December, Chief of Police J. D. McDonald said Friday.

Reckless driving led the list of fines and other violations were overhauled trucks, failure to stop at stop signs, and defective lights.

The fines ranged from $10 to $50, and a total of $332 was collected with several payments due.

Several teenage boys were among those booked for various driving violations. "The laws of safe driving must be enforced for the safety of Crane citizens," McDonald declared. "I have practiced fair warnings to many, and the assessment of fines were unanimously approved by the Council."

Downing Accents Value Of Football

Members of the Midland B football squad received awards for 1952 and heard Deibert Downing underline the value of football to the individual player at the annual banquet in the high school cafeteria Thursday evening.

"Football will be worth a lot more to you than you'll ever be worth to it," the Midland Chamber of Commerce manager declared.

Downing cited Sammy Baugh and Billy Berry, former Texas Christian University football greats as examples of "great guys first and great football players second."

Downing pointed out that Baugh's first big money from playing pro went to establish a business for his father. He told of the small Downing County boy who corresponded for years with Berry. The former high school player under Coach Tugboat Jones at Wichita Falls numbered more than 30 boys with whom he corresponded regularly.

"Doak Walker prayed before each game," Downing said. "He was not ashamed of God. He did not necessarily pray for victory but that the players would escape injury and conduct themselves properly."

Jim Lindsey of The Midland Reporter-Telegram editorial staff acted as master of ceremonies and introduced Downing.

The B griders shared the role as guests with The Half-Timers, high school girls who form a colorful organization for entertaining at athletic contests. Mrs. Eugenea Wilson, the director, introduced the Half-Timers.

Jack Maaburn introduced special guests who included school officials and their wives. Lee Woods gave the invocation and Billy John Whitehead played piano music during the meal.

Ohlenbusch Murder Case Goes To Jury

ABILENE—The case of Fred C. Ohlenbusch, 48, Sweetwater, charged with murdering his wife, was due to go to the jury Friday.

A recess was called Thursday night when a juror became ill as final arguments were being delivered.

Ohlenbusch's wife, Martha, and James C. Hendley, Abilene grain salesman, were shot to death as they sat in a parked car near the airport at 7:15 last November 18.

Ohlenbusch is charged with murder in both deaths but was tried first in the death of his wife.

A recording of a telephone conversation was introduced Thursday as evidence. Ohlenbusch said the recording was a conversation between Mrs. Ohlenbusch and Hendley November 14.

Brother-in-Law Testifies

"Do you love me?" a woman's voice said.

"Yes," a man's voice answered. The man added he couldn't talk.

"More than anything in the world?" the woman asked.

"I sure do," the man said.

Ohlenbusch testified he shot at Hendley because Hendley "jumped" on his car and "wouldn't hold still." He said he had called to his wife to get out of Hendley's car and into his.

Earlier, Ohlenbusch's brother-in-law, Clarence C. Etheridge, testified he tried to take a shotgun away from the defendant but it went off and the charge struck Mrs. Ohlenbusch.

"If they had left me alone, Martha wouldn't have got hurt," Ohlenbusch wept on the witness stand.

After Ohlenbusch testified in his defense, the state called Mrs. Hendley, a small, gray-haired woman. She sobbed convulsively as she entered the courtroom.

When she took the stand she cried, "Please don't make me look at that man!"

Mrs. Hendley testified that last August 20 she accompanied her husband to Sweetwater and was with him the entire day. Previously Mrs. Minnie G. Cannon, a Fort Worth detective, testified that on that same date she saw Hendley meet Mrs. Ohlenbusch in Sweetwater.

Salvage Crews Wrest Cars Of Train From Crash Scene

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Salvage men and investigators Friday plucked the quiet wreckage of the crack express train which hurtled, wild and brakeless, into Washington's Union Station Thursday.

Incredibly, there were no deaths in the grinding, steaming impact just three blocks from the Capitol. But hospitals reported treating 51 persons, many released shortly, and seven were in serious condition.

The train, the Pennsylvania Railroad's Federal Express from Boston, smashed through steel-and-concrete barriers and into the depot's giant concourse. The engine and one coach plunged through the floor to the basement.

No Explanation

The Pennsylvania Railroad said round-the-clock salvage operations already have put three of the six coaches involved back on the tracks. It said floor braces will be installed Friday so workmen can get at the other cars and the locomotive, which will be dismantled.

The railroad in a statement said it had no explanation for the failure of the 150-ton electric locomotive's air brakes.

Engineer Lauded

But it credited engineer Henry W. Brower, 66, and his crew with quick action that averted a major catastrophe. It said Brower's continued blasting of the engine's horn enabled station officials to clear the concourse of people. The crew, it said, lessened injuries among the train's estimated 400 passengers by warnings to clear the aisles and keep seated.

The time helped, too. The express was due at 8:30 a.m. (EST), when crowds are not as heavy at the depot as later on.

Four hours later, the capital joined by another mishap—an explosion in a burning building that sent about 50 persons to the hospital, some seriously hurt.

Standby Production Program Suggested For War Readiness

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The National Advisory Board on Mobilization Policy Friday recommended construction of a standby plant and tool capacity plus a standby price-wage control law for use if total war breaks out.

The 16-member board sent its final report—with three members dissenting—to President Truman. But its recommendations for strengthening national preparedness were aimed directly at President-elect Eisenhower.

The report backs up an M-day plan, already set forth by Mobilization Director Henry H. Fowler and endorsed the President Truman, who earmarked $700,000,000 for it in his proposed $78,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The plan, in effect, calls for federal technical and financial aid to industry for setting up munitions plants. They would be geared for war, always up to date in design and technique, as an alternative to actually producing munitions that might be obsolete before they were used.

Chinese Reds Call People's Congress

TOKYO—(AP)—The Chinese Communist regime announced Friday it will drop its revolutionary swaddling clothes this year and take on the full garments of a permanent centralized government.

It will adopt a new constitution, ratify a five-year plan and elect a Russian-style central governing body.

Truman Predicts Russian Aggression Plans To Fold

By ED CREACH

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Retiring President Truman predicts Soviet Russia's aggressive schemes will collapse, sooner or later, under the growing weight of the free world's defenses.

And that, he forecast in a farewell message to the nation from the White House Thursday night, will lead to a new world authority, and of peace "as far ahead as man can see."

Truman took over the nation's radio and television networks for a highly personal, sometimes emotional, review of his eight turbulent years in the White House and for a guess at how they may look in the light of history.

He pointed to dangers ahead — of a possible new world war that would dig the grave of Western civilization and of its Communist enemy alike.

"Totally Unthinkable"

He declared for this nation any will to provoke such a conflict by hurling ultimatums or by using terrible new weapons: "Starting an atomic war is totally unthinkable for rational men."

He called for complete public support of his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Finally, putting eight years of controversy behind, the outgoing President ended his valedictory with a gentle:

"Good night—and God bless you all."

As he did so, Mrs. Truman and Margaret appeared on either side of him for the TV cameras.

Truman's last address from the chastely decorated oval office he will vacate Tuesday came only a few hours after he handed a firm piece of advice to his successor:

"Free-for-all news conferences may be tough on you but don't give them up—the people are entitled to them."

It was at just such a come-what-may session with newsmen—his 324th and last—that the President read a formal statement upholding the right of newsmen to ask a chief executive, on behalf of the nation, all sorts of questions in open meeting.

Jersey GI Freed On Napping Charge

FORT MEADE, MD.—(AP)—Pfc. Warren G. McConnell, 21-year-old New Jersey soldier, was freed Thursday on a charge of going to sleep at his post in Korea.

An earlier court martial found him guilty and sentenced him to 10 years at hard labor. However, that verdict was reversed by a military Court of Appeals on a technicality and the Army pressed the case a second time.

The case against McConnell fell through when two buddies with him on duty the night of Nov. 14, 1951, testified time and again they couldn't remember just what happened.

Funeral Rites Set In Grandfalls For Longtime Resident

GRANDFALLS—Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine Barber Eudaly, 80, who lived here the last 40 years, will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Hollis Yielding and the Rev. W. H. Robertson officiating.

Interment is to be in Grandfalls Cemetery under the direction of the Farr Funeral Home, Monahans.

Mrs. Eudaly, who died in El Paso Thursday, was one of the earliest schoolteachers of this community. She taught school here 10 years, and then married here Nov. 3, 1903.

She was a past matron of the Order of Eastern Star and a member of all the women civic clubs of this community. She was a member of the Baptist church.

It's important to a democracy, Truman said, that "every medium of communication between the citizens and their government, particularly the President, be kept open as far as possible."

He went on:

"This kind of news conference where reporters can ask any kind of question they can dream of—directly to the President of the United States—illustrates how strong and how vital our democracy is. There is no other country in the world where the chief of state submits to such unlimited questions."

Truman acknowledged with a grin that some of the questions he's been asked have made him wince. He accepted a reporter's suggestion that he's been known to make blunders at news conferences. Maybe, he said, succeeding presidents can figure out improvements to the existing system but:

"I hope they will never cut the direct line of communication between themselves and the people."

General Says Chinese Air Force Could Make UN Hurt

SEOUL—(AP)—If the Chinese Communists should throw into combat the aerial armada now based just across the Yalu River in Manchuria "we would need help," the Fifth Air Force commander said Friday.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus said Allied warplanes are making the war in Korea both bloody and costly for the Reds but "we have no illusions" about ending the stalemated conflict.

By using masses of human labor, the Communists have been able to maintain a shaky rail and highway system leading to the front, the 49-year-old general said.

To the Air Force, bright spots are the morale of the pilots and the East Germany's Red Purge Engulfs More Top Officials

BERLIN —(AP)— East Germany's spreading purge of Communist officials and their collaborators Friday engulfed the Red regime's figurehead foreign minister, Georg Dertinger. The East Berlin press announced his arrest on charges of high treason as a Western spy.

Soon after the announcement, the Western German radio NWDR reported that Max Keilson, chief of the Soviet department of Dertinger's ministry, and his wife had been arrested.

Dertinger was a founder member of the Soviet zone's Christian Democratic Union, one of the four "non-Communist" parties collaborating in the East regime with the ruling Red Socialist Unity Party.

Keilson is a member of the Socialist Unity Party. He served as editor of Vorwaerts, the party's first postwar newspaper, before joining the Foreign Ministry as press chief. Later he was made director of the bureau dealing with Soviet Union affairs.

Dertinger is the most prominent of the East zone clique to fall since the German Communists and parties allied with them were hit by the purge wave launched by the conviction in Prague of Rudolf Slansky and 13 other once-powerful Reds.

He is the fourth once highly-placed person taken by the secret police in the last few weeks.

Soviet zone officials have acknowledged the arrest of Karl Hamann, former minister of supply; Paul Merker, a former Politburo member, and Kurt Mueller, a Communist deputy in the West German Parliament who was grabbed when he came to the East on a visit.

Propaganda boss Gerhart Eisler lost his job in the widening purge but, still apparently a free man, is slated for an obscure post as a teacher in an East Berlin university.

Think You Got It Tough? You Oughtta Be A Farmer

WASHINGTON—(AP)—American farmers, according to the Moscow radio, are in a terrible plight.

A broadcast by one "Comrade Beglov," recorded Friday by U. S. government monitors, said in part:

"Over four-fifths of American farm families are deprived of most essentials and are in constant need."

"American land workers are in particularly dire straits." Ninety-four per cent of them earn considerably less than the required living minimum. These people, deprived of all rights, work from dawn to dusk and receive a miserable pittance. . . .

"They live either in tents or dugouts. Thousands of agricultural workers, deprived of a roof, sleep in ditches."

Beglov said working farmers are "slaves of the monopolies" which rob them by imposing low prices and which sell milk, milk products and grain at four to six times their cost.

Baltimore Physicians Try First TV Medical Teaching

BALTIMORE —(AP)— Television and amplified sound joined hands here Thursday in an experiment that could mean a drastic revision in post-graduate medical teaching.

It could mean that doctors in remote areas wouldn't have to leave their patients and travel to the big cities, where medical universities are usually located.

They could band together as county groups before a television screen and see the latest in techniques and new developments brought to them from the universities.

The experiment was conducted at University Hospital here under the sponsorship of the Maryland Academy of General Practice.

It was done in miniature. The demonstrations were telecast from one room to another throughout the entire day.

A Baltimore station supplied the facilities, and doctors from the University of Maryland Medical School conducted demonstrations and performed surgical operations.

In addition to televised teaching to remote areas, another advantage was explored.

It was noted that about 60 medical men at one time could sit in

That's the shipment loaded on the SS Norman Lykes at Port Houston Friday.

Diapers, garden seed, peanut butter and jelly—those were just a few of the gifts collected by volunteers throughout the state for distribution at Pusan, Korea, to hospitals, refugee camps and mission stations.

The shipment, collected under auspices of the Christian Rural Overseas Program, included nine carloads of rice, a carload of wheat, two carloads of flour, 1,200 pounds of soap, 1,400 pounds of powdered milk, 600 pounds of vitamin pills, 420 pounds of peanut butter and jelly, 1,200 pounds of used clothing and 16 1/2 dozen diapers.

Rites Set Saturday For Former Jurist

DALLAS —(AP)—Funeral services for Dexter Hamilton, 73, one-time judge of the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals, are scheduled here Saturday.

Customs Agent Says Cattle Smuggling Case Inquiry Was Hampered In Midland

EL PASO—(AP)—The case of seven West Texas cattlemen charged with taking part in an alleged cattle-smuggling operation headed for a jury's decision Friday.

Opening arguments started at 9:30 a.m. and continued through the morning with both sides limited to two hours. The federal court jury was to begin deliberations after getting the charge from Judge R. Ewing Thomason.

The defense rested Thursday without putting two principal defendants—W. L. (Dixie) Babb and his brother, Wayne—on the stand. The pair operates the family ranch at Indian Hot Springs, below Sierra Blanca on the Rio Grande. The state has charged that the ranch is headquarters for stolen cattle driven from Mexico.

Irving Cone told of a Feb. 28, 1952, conversation with J. Marchant, cattle buyer and co-defendant in the case, in which Marchant insisted cattle sold in the Midland auction ring were bought by Oklahoma buyers.

"You won't find them," Cone said Marchant told him. He also charged that investigation of the case was hampered in Midland.

"I received no cooperation from anybody in Midland," he said, "except the brand inspector for the auction ring—period."

They'd Like O'Dwyer Back

By JOSEPH ALVAREZ
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Right now, New York's former Mayor William O'Dwyer would be a cinch to win the 1953 title of "the man you'd most want to quiz."
 The list of quizmasters who would like to peer into O'Dwyer's mind is impressive. But O'Dwyer has been languishing in Mexico since he resigned as U. S. Ambassador December 6.
 The attorney for O'Dwyer's former campaign manager, who is among those who would be happy to have O'Dwyer come home and talk, says the former mayor is "sulking," and that his presence South of the Border is a "sad spectacle."
 O'Dwyer has denied he plans to stay in Mexico, but he is still there, despite the welcome mat by the door of the New York Grand Jury and the chorus of "wish you were here" being sung by a couple of district attorneys, a U. S. attorney, a pair of state attorney generals, treasury agents, and the New York State Crime Commission.
 Their interest in a heart-to-heart talk with O'Dwyer ranges from $10,000 stuffed in an envelope to the corpse of Peter Panto stuffed in a lime-filled pit.
 At the moment, the hottest chestnut is the $10,000. This is the sum John P. Crane, former president of the Uniformed Firemen's Association, says he gave to O'Dwyer in 1949 as a campaign contribution. O'Dwyer says he didn't.

 The story popped up during the Senate Crime Investigating Committee hearings in 1951. What started out as merely a startling contradiction in the sworn testimony of two highly-placed public officials has now resolved itself into a big lie. The question is: who told the lie, O'Dwyer or Crane? New York County District Attorney Frank S. Hogan would like the answer to that riddle.
 Suddenly, just the other day, the tale exploded anew, sparked by Alfred J. Scott, chief of Hogan's racket bureau.
 Scott asked the court to find Jerry Finkelstein, who managed O'Dwyer's 1949 campaign, in contempt for giving the Grand Jury allegedly "evasive, equivocal, and contemptuous answers" about the money-passing episode. So, now, for the first time, there appears to be a witness to that asserted transaction.
 It was Finkelstein's attorney, Harry B. Steinberg, who described O'Dwyer as "sulking down there in Mexico" and added that the former ambassador "owed" it to the people to come forward and testify.
 The corpse uncovered in a lime-filled pit on the banks of New Jersey's Passaic River stirs questions in the mind of Kings County District Attorney Miles F. McDonald.
 Also gnawing at McDonald's

John Crane Says he did. William O'Dwyer Says he didn't. Frank Hogan Wants the answer.

curiosity is the question of why O'Dwyer dropped his Brooklyn waterfront investigation of the six International Longshoremen's Association locals run by the Camardas. These are the locals which partly spawned the power of "Mr. Assassin" himself, Albert Anastasia.
 The corpse was the garroted body of a clean dockworker named Peter Panto. Tired of kickbacks, wholesale thefts, and mobocracy that denied the rank and file a voice in the affairs of its union, Panto, in 1939, started a drive to bring decency and honesty to the docks.
 Spectators at the New York State Crime Commission hearing relived Panto's last horrible minutes, as, according to a long-hidden statement made by Albert Tannenbaum in 1941, Mendy Weiss admitted that he mugged Panto to death. As the life ebbed, Albert Anastasia was present, the statement read.
 O'Dwyer, when told about the Tannenbaum declaration, said that he could not have prosecuted Anastasia because the crime was committed in New Jersey. "Why don't they prosecute the — now?" O'Dwyer suggested irritably from his Mexican retreat.
 The crime commission's rebuttal was that the Bergen County prosecutor in 1941, when Panto's body was found, had said O'Dwyer assured him Panto was murdered in Brooklyn. O'Dwyer was then Kings County District Attorney.
 In light of this difference, the testimony given to the SCC recently by Marcy Protter, legal adviser to Panto, is significant.
 Protter testified that O'Dwyer, in backing for the political backing of the American Labor Party, told him that "he almost had an unbeatable case" in the Panto slaying. This conversation, said Protter, took place in the Fall of 1941, many months after Edward A. Hefferman, an O'Dwyer aide had typed up Tannenbaum's story.
 U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane also has a vital interest in O'Dwyer which partly parallels Hogan's interest. The possible perjury on the record in the Senate hearing is under his jurisdiction since that was a federal proceeding. A Grand Jury, at his direction, has been digging into the controversy.
 Treasury agents, it is reported, are awaiting the settlement of the Crane-O'Dwyer business. Once disposed of, it's a cinch they will talk to one or the other of the parties.
 And if Crane's story is true, the New York State Attorney General would also move in to see if there was any violation of the election laws.
 If O'Dwyer ever does return, his status so far as a Grand Jury appearance is concerned would be different now. While he was mayor, he was compelled by the city charter to sign a waiver of immunity before such investigative bodies or lose his job. Now an ordinary, but highly intriguing citizen, he would not be forced to sign such a release.
 Under the law, unless a witness signs a waiver, nothing he admits can be held against him. Prosecutors are reluctant to permit key witnesses in an investigation to testify without a waiver.
 O'Dwyer seems reluctant to testify at all.

Park Meter Rises In Cotton Patch

PARAGOULD, ARK.—(AP)—This northeast Arkansas town has what is probably one of the most useless parking meters in the United States. It is located in the middle of a cotton patch. The cotton patch is located in the middle of town.
 Nobody can explain how the meter got into the middle of J. A. (Squire) McDaniel's 280-square-foot plot of ground between the sidewalk and curb on the town's main drag.
 But 84-year-old McDaniel can explain how the cotton got there. He says he just planted a sample package of cottonseed from Texas in his zinnia bed and up came four different varieties of cotton. All the zinnias are gone.

Parrot Has Word For Cafe Patrons

EL DORADO, ARK.—(AP)—People who patronize a small homey cafe on the south side of this Arkansas oil capital usually get something for their nickel besides a cup of coffee.
 Pedro, the parrot pet of the cafe, often gives the customer a conversation. Depending on his mood of the moment, Pedro greets patrons with a clear, unmistakable wolf whistle, a friendly "Hello," maybe a hospitable "Come in" or just blank scrutiny.
 In parting, Pedro may tell them "Come back," "Goodbye" or "Bye Bye." The bird once told a newcomer pettishly, "Shut the door, country boy! It's cold."
 His owners, Mr. and Mrs. Blondie Wells, have taught him such tricks as imitating an airplane motor when one of the pilots approaches, imitating a fire siren, and mocking the bark of a dog.

The Kaaba, a sacred stone in Mecca, is regarded by Moslems as the center of the universe.

NOWADAYS GROWN-UPS ENVY HIM—

Teenager Of Today Called History's Most Confident

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—The average grownup today is rather envious of the teenager.
 If I weren't already looking forward to the thrills of second childhood, I believe I'd like to go back and be a teenager again. For this is the golden age of those in their 'teen years.
 No wonder he tends to view the teenager with some distaste. Fear is always shamed by self-reliance. And certainly the teenager of the mid-Twentieth Century is the most self-confident kid in history.
 There are reasons for this. He has been raised in good times. He has been given more freedom and opportunity. Some critics think he has been given entirely too much rain and therefore is headstrong and refuses to accept responsibility.
 I don't feel that way. I think boys and girls now are more honest, less self-doubting and know more what they want out of life than their fathers and mothers did.

at their age.
 This is the first teenage American generation to know in advance it must face service in the armed forces in a period of half-peace, half-war. The boys are facing this duty far more calmly and with less hysteria than their parents.
Parents As Equals
 The teenager may dress like a fugitive from Tobacco Road on most days, but he knows how to spruce up for a dance. Both girls and boys have more social presence than the gawky, self-conscious teenagers of my own day.

 (Editor's note: Boyle was a teenager himself sometime between the McKinley and Hoover administrations.)
 I take it as a tribute rather than a criticism that the average teenager now is willing to accept his parents as his equals. That is better than to have him regard them as thoughtless tyrants. Boys and girls have more of a voice now in family decisions, and that has made the American family better and more democratic.

Montana Town Due To Fade In 1953

EDWARDS, MONT.—(AP)—The little town that isn't there—Edwards, Mont.—will be gone in 1953.
 Tourists driving across Central Montana look at their maps and decide Edwards might be a good place to gas up, eat and maybe stay overnight.
 But when they get to Edwards, it isn't there. Only a ranch house stands where the map shows a town called Edwards. The State Highway Department has promised to remove the "town" from 1953 maps.

DOUBLE BURDEN OF GRIEF—Grief at the death of a relative has been intensified for persons living in the New York area. A gravedigger's strike has made it necessary for members of a bereaved family to dig the grave, if immediate interment is desired. Above, Jacob Abolsky stands by the headstone of Sarah Abolsky, his mother, as cousins Douglas and Barney Fleischer prepare the grave. Other members of the family, in background, prepare to refill the grave when funeral services are completed.

★ Daddy Ringtail ★ Daddy Ringtail And The Lonely Somebody

The Sad, Sad Somebody, you remember, is a very sad fellow who lives in the Great Forest. He is so very sad that it makes everyone who sees his face sad, too. Even to say his name makes people sad. Said the Sad, Sad Somebody: "I'm so sad—so very, very sad. No one wants me to be near them any more."

Daddy Ringtail felt very sorry for the Sad, Sad Somebody. He knew that it was true, that no one wanted to be with anyone who cries all the time. "Can't you ever be anything except sad?" asked Daddy Ringtail. "Oh, no," said the Sad, Sad Somebody. "Someone has to be sad. I don't know anyone in the whole Great Forest except me who is even a little bit sad, and I don't know what would become of us if I weren't sad for everyone. Oh, boo-hoo-hoo!"

The Sad, Sad Somebody was so serious about being sad for everyone that Daddy Ringtail just couldn't tell him that people didn't need to be sad, ever, and that the Great Forest would get along as well without the Sad, Sad Somebody's being sad for everyone. "Well," said Daddy Ringtail, "if you really can't ever be anything but sad, I don't know how you will ever find anyone who wants to be with you. You see, when you laugh, everyone laughs with you. But when you cry, you have to cry alone."

"Oh, boo-hoo-hoo! Daddy Ringtail, can't you tell me any way that I can have someone to talk to me all the time?"

Daddy Ringtail thought and thought and then he said: "Well, I've heard that misery loves company. Maybe if you could find someone as sad as you are, he would want to be near you all the time."

"Oh, thank you, Daddy Ringtail, I'll look and I'll look until I find someone who is as sad as I am."

And the Sad, Sad Somebody, who was the Lonely Somebody, too, went on down the Elephant Path, crying and looking for someone as sad as he

But I don't think he'll ever find anyone in the Great Forest who is that sad, because the Great Forest is a happy place. Everyone in every place ought to be happy. It's a happy thing to do. Happy day!

Night-flying migrating birds offer a major problem to airplane pilots because they are larger and fly at about the same altitude as commercial airliners. Windshields have been developed, however, to withstand impacts from the flying fowl.

Reaching for Eternity

This man is reaching for eternity! Look, as he stretches his arms heavenward. He is searching for the secret of the Divine which can give his life direction and meaning on earth and fulfillment in eternity.

So it has always been. Man has searched for the Divine. He has made crude images of wood and stone. He has fashioned from his mind philosophies of life. He has worshipped his own reason and creations. But in all his reachings he has never found eternity.

Man reaches rather than receives. That is his mistake. In his pride, he has looked to his own mind and resources to carry him to eternity. He has tried to climb to heaven rather than accept the salvation offered by his Christ who comes to him. Like the children in Grimm's fairy tale who deserted their home and looked the world over for a treasure that was in their own backyard, man continues to seek that which God has already given.

We have only to receive the Cross. There is God reaching for man. There is God stretching his arms earthward offering man life and eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream
By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor
"But I just don't see what they're good for," Jim insisted. "It seems a lot of expense and trouble and very little return."
Jim was talking about field trials and I can certainly envy a fellow in his shoes. He has been able for years, because of the nature of his business and his financial position, to travel, to whatever section of the country happens to have open season and plenty of birds. Then too, if Jim has a couple of good dogs, he is interested in shooting over them and not in breeding and training good dogs for others to shoot over. "Not everyone is in your shoes," I said. "Some of us have to keep our noses to the grindstone and our seasons are therefore limited—so is our game. Then, too, there are those who are interested in breeding and training better dogs and they find in field trials a way to check their progress and test the accomplishments of their products against the dogs bred and trained by others."
They're pretty artificial, though, aren't they?" Jim asked. "I haven't seen many trials, but they don't seem to be anything like the real thing."
"Granted, they aren't too close to the real thing," I replied "but it is the aim of every field trial official, including the judges, to make each trial as near like natural conditions in hunting as possible and to judge the dogs in accordance with how they would be evaluated under natural conditions."
"Many good dogs are developed in field trials. There was a day when we had enough birds and long enough seasons to take a pup or two along. Before the second season was over we had another good gunning prospect. Now there are a goodly number of dogs that are yard broken and then introduced to birds at off-season puppy stakes. After this, the derby and non-winner stakes give them further opportunities and if the dogs prove themselves good enough they go into open competition. "Only by the combined efforts of small groups throughout the country in making arrangements with state and local authorities, raising the necessary birds and working their dogs under supervision on an area prepared for the purpose can all this practical dog activity take place. "Game is raised and made available, owners and handlers are given an objective to work for and the dogs get training and a chance to work game that would not otherwise be available to them. "In addition there has been a rapid increase in the number of gunner-handler trials in which the handler (usually an owner-handler) does his own shooting of the game located by his dog. The shooting and handling is scored along with the dog's performance and the best job of good teamwork comes out on top. "That's for me," piped up Jim. "Sure sounds like a good deal. When's the next gunner-handler trial in this neck of the woods?" (Distributed by NEA Service)

GENERALS WHO BECAME PRESIDENT—5

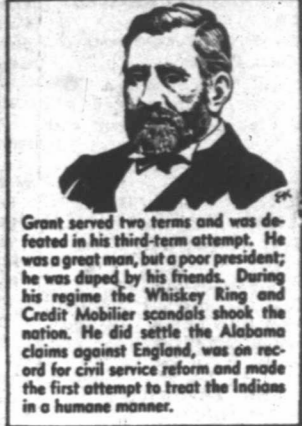

U.S. Grant was the first graduate of West Point ever to become president of the U. S. He was commissioned in 1842 and had an undistinguished record in the Mexican War. Grant, in 1854, resigned from the service following warnings from his superiors on his drinking habits.

He was down and out when the Civil War started. After brilliant victories at Shiloh and Vicksburg he became the most heroic figure in America. On April 9, 1865, Grant climaxed his military career when General Lee surrendered at Appomattox, ending the conflict that had threatened to dissolve the nation.

The people in 1868 were sick of the ordinary politician and the crooked methods that had dominated the country during the Johnson administration. Grant, the young military hero, appealed to their imagination and was elected impressively over the Democratic nominee Horatio Seymour.

Grant served two terms and was defeated in his third-term attempt. He was a great man, but a poor president; he was duped by his friends. During his regime the Whiskey Ring and Credit Mobilier scandals shook the nation. He did settle the Alabama claims against England, was on record for civil service reform and made the first attempt to treat the Indians in a humane manner.

Teacher Hunting Scattered Pupils

PITTSBURGH—(P)—Ten years ago the pupils in the seventh and eighth grades at Rosslyn Farms Elementary School presented their teacher, Miss Nellie Oliver, with a $25 savings bond.
Miss Oliver accepted the present and told the class: "I won't cash it until it matures, then we'll have a party." Now the bond has matured and Miss Oliver, who retired recently after 37 years of school work, is trying to get the 21 former pupils together.
"It's more difficult than I expected," she says. "I try to mail invitations and find such addresses as Army Post Office, Korea or Germany. I just didn't stop to think of all the things that could happen in 10 years."
The party is going to be a reality, though, Miss Oliver declares. "I'll get all of them I can to come," she says. "The rest I'll certainly write and tell how much they were missed."

CALL REVEALS HIDEOUT

HERKIMER, N. Y.—(P)—An anonymous telephone call led to recovery of $890 stolen from the railway express office in the railroad station here. The money was found less than 40 feet from the office in a public locker in the station waiting room.

game located by his dog. The shooting and handling is scored along with the dog's performance and the best job of good teamwork comes out on top. "That's for me," piped up Jim. MALE 'NURSES' RESENT LABEL

ALOR STAR, KEDAH STATE, MALAYA—(P)—Male nurses may be all right for European countries but male hospital assistants in Malaya have protested against the designation and threatened to boycott the profession.
"This is most humiliating and will lower the dignity of hospital assistants," says P. N. Pillay, president of the Kedah Non-Government Medical Health Assistants Association. "The term 'nurse' is commonly applied to women and to call hospital assistants male nurses would be most inappropriate."

Two Ministers Have Family Aid

DENVER—(P)—Two ministers have had family help in getting started in pastorates here recently.
When the Rev. Daniel W. Nicely was installed as pastor of the First Plymouth Congregational Church, his father, the Rev. George W. Nicely of Johnstown, Pa., was the chief speaker and his mother was the organist.
At Montview Boulevard Presbyterian Church, the Rev. C. Mason Harvey, a Navy veteran, was ordained as an assistant pastor and became the third son of the Rev. Earle R. Harvey, Merced, Calif., to enter the ministry.
The elder Rev. Mr. Harvey was on hand to give the charge to his son. The services were opened with baptism of Steven Lynn Harvey, infant son of the new minister. And Mrs. Earle Harvey played the organ.
The term "turk" was originally a linguistic term, referring to peoples who spoke turkic languages but was later applied to the nation.

Clock Will Run 100 Years Without Single Rewinding

CHICAGO—(NEA)—A clock that never will have to be wound, does not run by electricity, and is expected to keep time accurately for the next hundred years, has been built at the Museum of Science and Industry here.
This highly unorthodox time-piece was created to be interred in a cornerstone laid at the Centennial of Engineering celebration at the Museum. But despite its amazing qualities, the clock is not expected to revolutionize the watchmaking industry. It measures only years—not seconds.
The mass of the sun is about 332,000 times that of the earth.

Century Clock: ticks off years instead of seconds.

World's newest V8

with a million miles behind it

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production American automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "T" type intake manifold to replace the "Y" type conventionally used in V8s.

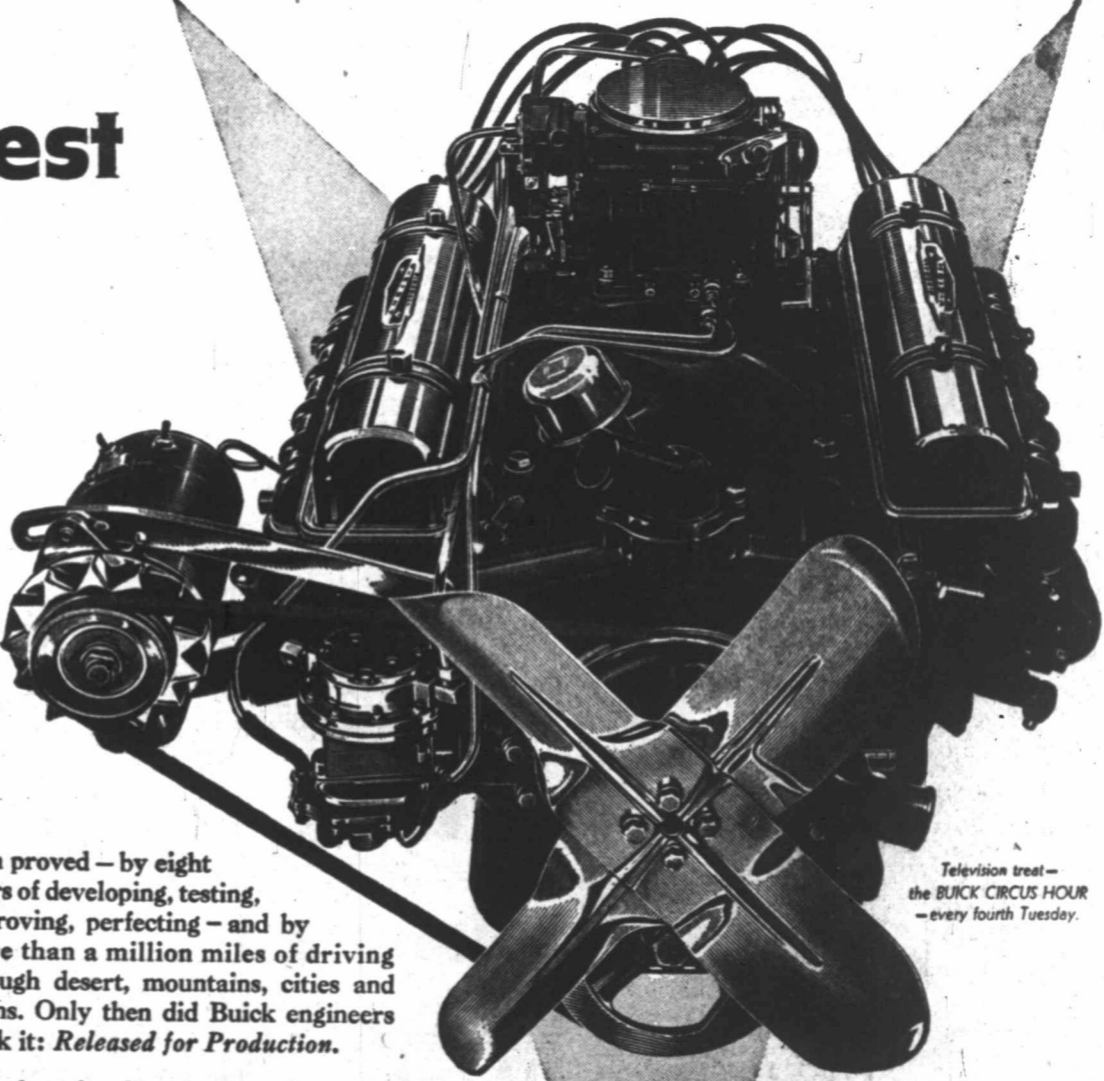

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick ROADMASTER with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick SUPER with up to 170. Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and by more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for Production.

But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.

They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.

Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

Television treat—the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR—every fourth Tuesday.
