Dulles Rakes 'Soviet Despotism'

Asks Harmony In Interest Of Captive Races

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Dulles urged Congress Thursday to make clear to the world that the U. S. "will never be a party to any international deal" fixing "Soviet despotism" upon peoples in Europe and Asia.

Dulles made the plea in a statement to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The lawmakers are considering an Administration resolution which would denounce Russian "perversion" of World War II agreements.

Dulles advocated avoiding controversy over whether past agreements between the U. S. and Russia should have been made, and instead taking action which would look to the future liberation of captive countries and stir their faith in freedom.

"The first and indispensable step" toward stimulating a spirit of freedom, Dulles said, is to make clear the following points upon the authority of the President and Congress:

"One, the United States does not countenance the violation by which Soviet leadership has perverted past agreements and understandings into chains of bondage. That is a result which the American people never intended and which they will never accept.

"Two, the United States will never be a party to any international deal" or "trade" confirming the rule of Soviet despotism over the alien peoples it dominates in Europe and Asia.

"Three, the United States seeks, as one of its peaceful goals, that these enslaved national groups of Europe and Asia shall recover genuine independence."

Dulles' admonition against controversy obviously was aimed at moves in Congress to rewrite the Administration's resolution and strike at Presidents Roosevelt and Truman for making the agreements with Premier Stalin at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam.

The Administration resolution simply would denounce Russia for twisting the understandings "to bring about the subjugation of free peoples."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters he thought the Senate would put language into the resolution to make it clear that Congress was not ratifying the pacts, even informally, by adopting the resolution.

Dulles told the House committee the Soviet satellite peoples "are oppressed by a great fear that at some future time the United States may agree to a partition of the world whereby we would accept and support Soviet dictatorship of alien peoples in the hope of gaining security for ourselves."

He said this fear creates a feeling of hopelessness among these people and that in turn paralyzes "the striving which could operate peacefully to dissolve the unnatural unity of Soviet despotism and return it to its natural and historic parts."

Wheeler Raps States' Claim On Tidelands

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Former Democratic Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana contended Thursday the Western states have as much right to federally owned lands within their boundaries as coastal states do to offshore oil lands.

Wheeler testified at a Senate Interior Committee in opposition to legislation to declare the submerged oil lands belong to the coastal states. California, Louisiana and Texas principally are affected.

He said public lands in Western reclamation states possess valuable mineral rights and these states are not as well-off financially as those who would benefit from offshore oil.

To say the legislation would give the states only what rightfully belongs to them, Wheeler said, "perfectly ridiculous" because the Supreme Court has ruled the federal government has "paramount rights" to these lands.

Wheeler said he has resented attacks made on the court for this decision. He declared they have been more violent than those made on the court by New Dealers in 1937 when the late President Roosevelt proposed to enlarge the court—an unsuccessful plan which Wheeler helped defeat.

The Latin American was charged in the fatal shooting last August of 65-year-old Juan Canales.

The trial of Benivides, who pleaded self-defense, marked the opening of a criminal term of court.

The term continued Thursday with the selection of a jury to hear the case of Jewell Cornett, 32-year-old negro, charged with murder in the fatal stabbing of 40-year-old Dock Ennice Ransome.

Attorneys Leonard Howell and Bob Jennings are representing Cornett while District Attorney Warren Burnett and County Attorney Reagan Legg are presenting the state's case.

El Paso Soldiers Hear Death Decree

EL PASO—(AP)—Two soldiers convicted of slaying an El Paso taxi driver were sentenced Thursday to die in the electric chair at Huntsville June 2.

The death sentence was read to Pfc. Marvin Lee Austin, 21, Maraduke, Ark., and Pvt. Raymond Leslie Button, 22, Des Moines, Iowa, by Federal District Judge R. E. Thomason.

Both stood silent, then slumped, as the sentence was read. Their attorneys gave notice of appeal.

They were accused of shooting Jesus Alvarez Gonzales to death on a road near nearby Fort Bliss last November 22. Later they set fire to the cab and burned the body. They admitted during the trial they shot after attempting to rob the driver.

COURT PLANS MOVING ALONG

AUSTIN—Midland and Ector Counties came closer to the goal of separate judicial courts Wednesday when the House Judicial Districts Committee unanimously approved House Bill 31.

The proposed legislation provides for permanent courts in each of the two counties. They now are served jointly by the 70th District Court.

It was Senator Grady Hazelwood of the water-short Amarillo district who called for the early election.

A proposed Canadian River water conservation project is being demanded in his area. Unless the state acts quickly to provide another solution, citizens there threaten to go the federal route, surrendering water rights to the federal government in exchange for financing.

"Personally, I'd like to go the state route," Hazelwood declared. "We would like to finance under this amendment. But we want it at the earliest possible date."

Senator Wardlow Lane, Center, raised the question of holding an election on an off-election year when poll tax payments customarily drop as much as one-third or more.

"We've got a proposition here so deadly serious we can't put it off because somebody doesn't do his duty," Hazelwood replied, smiling.

"I'm not worried a bit this early about the people of Texas voting down a water amendment."

The proposed water use fees would not exceed 10 cents per acre per year for irrigation, five mills per acre foot for hydroelectric power and other non-consumptive and non-diversionary uses; and 10 cents per acre foot for all diversionary rights of use other than irrigation.

Percolating ground water would be exempt.

Revenue from the fees would be used to guarantee up to one-third payment of bonds or other obligations by municipal corporations or political subdivisions on water conserving projects.

The proposal has the full endorsement of the governor's 101-member State-Wide Water Committee.

Jesse R. Orth

Midland Lawyer Dies Of Gunshot

Jesse R. Orth, 52-year-old Midland attorney and independent oil operator, was found shot to death in his home here Wednesday afternoon, the victim of self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

Justice of the Peace L. C. Stephenson entered a formal verdict of suicide and said Orth had been in ill health for some time.

His body was found slumped in a chair around 4 p.m. by Mrs. Orth, when she returned home from her job as a teacher in the Midland public schools.

Services will be conducted at 3 p.m. Friday in the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel with Rev. G. C. Becker, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. Luther Kirk, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

A former county attorney of Andrews County and of Ector County, Orth came to Midland 10 years ago and was associated several years with the law firm of Stubbeman, McRae and Sealy.

Native Of Illinois
In 1948, he left the law firm and devoted his time to oil interests.

A native of Illinois, he was graduated from the Michigan University school of law after receiving his BA degree from Eureka College in Illinois.

He was a Mason and a member of the Lutheran Church. He resided at 1411 West Wall Street.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Dorothy Orth; a brother, Theodore Orth of Fairbury, Ill., and a cousin, Don Orth of Midland.

Pallbearers will be Tom Sealy, Hamilton McRae, Frank Stubbeman, C. W. Van Alstyne, Henry Fegues and Frank Monroe, all of Midland, Jim Irwin of Andrews, Luther Wood of Littlefield, and W. S. Johnston of Crane.

House Vote Sends Optometry Measure To Senate Calendar

AUSTIN—(AP)—The House Thursday quickly passed the optometry bill that had kept representatives in an uproar the first two days of this week.

It would tighten the laws regulating optometry and increase the powers of the examining board.

Final vote that sent it over to the Senate was 96-41.

"We've had enough of House Bill 5," said its author, Rep. Staffey Banks, Jr., San Antonio. "I'm not going to say any more."

Then Rep. Douglas Bergman, Dallas, who had led almost a one-man verbal fight against the bill, got up and said: "All I'm going to say is that some of you later are going to come with your consciences and find out you've passed an awful bad bill."

Opponents said the bill would create a monopoly of existing optometric chain stores and stifle competition.

Jelke's Lawyers Rest Case Without Mickey As Witness

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mickey Jelke's lawyers rested their case in his trial on vice charges at 10:40 a.m. Thursday.

The defense rested without calling the 23-year-old eventual heir to an oleomargarine fortune to the witness stand.

The prosecution took two weeks to present its case before Judge Francis L. Valente and an all-male jury. The judge barred press and public because he said the testimony was too lurid for public consumption. The defense began its case Tuesday.

Jelke, 23, eventual heir to an oleomargarine fortune, is accused of inducing three young women to become prostitutes and living off the earnings of one.

Wednesday, Jelke's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark Teal, admitted under cross-examination that she found herself being hostess to Robert Merritt, a confessed procurer; Ray R. Davion, an accused procurer; call girl Pat Ward; and Diane Harris, the so-called "Golden Girl" of cafe society.

Mrs. Jelke said the 19-year-old Miss Ward was a guest in her Park Avenue apartment two or three times and once visited her at her Danbury, Conn., home.

The state accuses Jelke of inducing Miss Ward to become a prostitute at $50 to $100 a night and then taking most of her $10,000 to $15,000 earnings.

HENDERSON—(AP)—Two masked men, armed with three guns, entered the Rusk County Jail Thursday and freed two prisoners, including one who has served five prison sentences.

The four men are being sought in the Houston area, where the former convict, William C. Massey, formerly operated a chicken farm.

The second man released was identified as Regan Morris, 22, Henderson, being held under a criminal assault charge.

Five charges of swindling have been lodged against Massey in Shelby County. He was arrested November 13 in Dallas by Harris County Sheriff Bill Isbell after a year-long hunt. The charges involved alleged purchases of approximately $40,000 in chickens from Shelby County farmers.

The jail break clicked off in professional style.

Jailer Marion Propes, 55, said he answered a knock at the door of the three-story building. He said a man about 22 years old, a handkerchief over his face, pushed a gun into his ribs.

"This is a stickup," he quoted the man as saying. "Get your keys. We're going to get Massey and Morris."

Propes said a second man, also masked and armed with two guns, appeared. He said they made him lead them through two locked doors to the third floor.

Jailer Looked Up
After freeing Massey and Morris, Propes was pushed into a cell and the door locked.

The jailer freed himself in about 10 minutes.

Massey has an artificial leg. Houston police said he lost the leg in a previous jail break attempt in either Mississippi or Alabama.

At Houston, deputies were keeping watch at Municipal Airport for fear Massey might try to flee to Mexico. They said he spent almost a year there while a fugitive from a Harris County cattle theft indictment.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.—Ephesians 3:13.

Stout-hearted Christians have made this nation great. They have refused to allow the mental thieves of hate and fear to rob them of their sleep and wreck their nerves. They have expelled the dead hand of yesterday and have kept it from writing on the clean white pages of today. But there are still a lot of people who live in constant dread, who have never learned what it means to trust.

Here is the story of the man who has a "Worry Table" in his home. He sits down before it and reviews his troubles. He makes a startling discovery. Forty per cent of his worries never happened; 30 per cent of his troubles concerned past events; 12 per cent was over ill health which never came; 10 per cent was over his children, who did not need his help. Only eight per cent were real worries, and he could solve them himself.

When someone asked John Wesley what he would do if he knew he would die the next day, he replied: "Keep on doing what I've planned for today." This is living life to the full in an ever-widening circle of influence and power until it reaches its consummation in the "Father's House."

Today's Prayer

O God, let the hour-glass of Thy spirit measure our characters in terms of purity of heart, deeds of loving kindness, devotion to high and holy tasks, and depth of love to all true goodness and beauty. Through Him who was the perfect embodiment of all these qualities. Amen. From "The Spiritual Diary," published by Austin-Phelps, Inc. Copyright, 1951, by Bernice Caroline Hall, Editor. Europe's Defense Crisis Eased, But Not Finally Ended

ROME —(AP)—The crisis over plans for a single-uniformed two-million man European defense force was eased but not ended Thursday. France still was trying strings to participation of her troops at Wednesday night's close of a two-day meeting of the foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

French Foreign Minister George Bidault did show willingness to compromise, however, after he had ran head-on into the combined opposition of the five other allies and the expressed desire of President Eisenhower's Administration for speedy creation of a European army. It remained to be seen whether the French Parliament would back him up.

Behind the cautiously worded communique issued at the meeting's close, here is what informed sources say was decided at the conference: 1. All six ministers will go home and press for speedy ratification of the European Defense Community (EDC) Treaty. Although the pact was signed last May, none of the six nations yet have ratified it.

2. The ministers sympathize with France's feeling that self-survival necessitates the right to withdraw troops from the European Army if she needs them in such stormy parts of her overseas territory as Indochina or her North African protectorates.

3. French protocols to the EDC Treaty requesting this and other

Greece, Yugoslavia, Turkey Set To Sign Three-Nation Treaty

ANKARA, TURKEY —(AP)—The foreign ministers of Greece and Yugoslavia were due here Thursday for the formal signing with Turkey of a three-nation friendship and collaboration treaty calling for joint defense measures.

The pact, initiated in Athens Wednesday by Greek Yugoslav and Turkish deputy foreign ministers, will be signed and its text made public Friday.

The Greek Foreign Minister released a general outline of the 10-clause treaty Wednesday night, disclosing: The three nations agreed to consult each other on all international questions of common interest, particularly "common problems relating to security in their region."

Their general staffs will get together for joint defense studies, and the treaty partners will take joint defense measures in case any one of them is attacked.

These provisions, Athens observers noted, made the treaty stronger than the usual friendship and nonaggression pact.

Other cooperation will be in the economic, technical and cultural field.

MIDLAND VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mueller visited in the city Wednesday from Carlsbad, N. M.

Do CRAMPS give you that monthly look?

Why let bad-tide cramps, "twinges" show in your eyes? Does your mirror show an older-looking, worn-out, nervous face during your "bad days"? Why let men see that you are suffering from monthly cramps? Try a little Cardui each day as thousands of women do. Let it help build strength and resistance so you have less and less misery each month. Some go through without feeling any discomfort at all. Also helps relax jittery nerves—sleep better. Look, feel, act younger, more normal all month. Ask for Cardui. (See "card-pow-er").

FROM BACH TO GERSHWIN—Symphony Affords Pleasant Listening

Victor Alessandro and his San Antonio Symphony Orchestra provided an evening of pleasant listening Wednesday for a smaller-than-average crowd in the Midland High School Auditorium.

The program, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Midland Memorial Hospital, ranged all the way from Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F Minor to the foot-tapping melodies of Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody." The latter, a symphonic version of many well-known Irish songs, included "Endearing Young Charms," "Wearing of the Green" and "Irish Reel."

Most popular selection on the program was the second encore, a novelty percussion number called "Rat Race," during the course of which performers demonstrated their skill on some 18 instruments.

The title actually had its basis in fact since musicians changed places and instruments with astonishing rapidity. Featured was pianist, Leonard Stern, a graduate of the Juillard School of Music in New York where he also studied with Saul Goodman, pianist of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

In addition to Symphony No. 4, the orchestra rounded out the first half of the program with two short Bach numbers, "Sleepers Awake!" and Adagio from the Organ Toccata in C.

Following intermission the group turned to the strictly American music of Aaron Copland for a performance of excerpts from the ballet, "Billy the Kid." Based on the life of the notorious outlaw, the score incorporates a number of well-known cowboy tunes. It began with the quiet, lonesome music of "Prairie Night" and worked up to "Celebration Dance," a brassy climax representing the drunken celebration following the killer's capture.

The second half of the program also included the ever-popular "Emperor" waltzes by Johann Strauss. Encores, besides "Rat Race," were Morton Gould's "American Salute," a spirited patriotic number based on "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again" and a medley from Gershwin's musical, "Of Thee I Sing," featuring "Wintergreen for President."

Alessandro, often called San Antonio's first citizen of music, has done much to build up his orchestra's national reputation during the two short seasons he has been here. He founded and conducted the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra and has been guest conductor for the Chicago Symphony, Minneapolis Symphony and Italian Broadcasting Symphony, among others.

Ushers for the Wednesday concert were Linda Davis, Carol Ann Wilkinson, Jean Corbell, Yvonne Shain, Mary Jane Miller, Joan Fitzgerald, Claudine Hamner and Sue Michener.—P.A.

Texans Remember Mrs. Brownell As Individualist

GALVESTON (AP)—Galveston remembers Mrs. Herbert Brownell as a rugged individualist who was suspended from Texas State College for Women at Denton for smoking a cigarette.

They also remember that she won readmission to TSCW, became president of her senior class—and walked out on the graduation exercises.

All this happened, of course, before the former Texas girl met and married the young lawyer who is serving as U. S. Attorney General under the Eisenhower Administration.

Mrs. Julius Herman, one of her school chums here, described Doris Brownell as "a rugged individualist, who would never sacrifice principle for popular opinion or would be swayed by pressure."

She had freckles, bangs, big expressive eyes and a slightly upturned nose when she attended Ball High School in Galveston. Her individualistic ways did not always please her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCarter, then Galveston residents.

It was a while home for the holidays from TSCW that Doris decided she would have a try at the new fad—smoking a cigarette. It was a daring and bold step. And someone saw her. She was suspended from TSCW.

Friends persuaded school authorities to let her come back.

During her senior year in 1926, a new school president was named, and there was much turmoil in the school. As senior class president, Doris approached the new school head and suggested he refrain from mentioning the school's troubles in his commencement address. He promised.

But he did not keep his word and instead spoke at length of the school's troubles. Doris rose from her seat—the candidates for degrees sat in the front rows—and walked out. Her classmates followed.

The degrees were distributed later.

'53 Maid Of Cotton Begins World Tour

The all-cotton wardrobe assembled for Alice Carr, the 1953 Maid of Cotton, demonstrates graphically the versatility of cotton. She wears (left) Korday's striped denim in the rich, colorings of deep red, green, blue, brown and gold. Dress is straight up-and-down sheath, belted in at waist and worn with shawl fringed in black. Fastel plaid gingham (left center) by Jerry Farnis has small bodice sprinkled with rhinestones. There's great elegance in this tucked pink cotton chiffon (right center) by Adele Simpson. Skirt has architectural fullness. Coordinated denim is used (right) by Claire McCardell for tapering, boxy jacket in sand color over slim skirt and pleated halter. Skirt is plain charcoal, halter is striped and jacket is lined with the same stripe.

NEA Woman's Editor

South America. This year's Maid is pretty Alice Carr of Alabama. For the first time, the Maid actually will have two wardrobes. The first will be suitable for both northern and resort wear until Easter. The second will be for wear after Easter. Her wardrobe includes dresses, coats, suits, separates, accessories, raincoats, cotton luggage, shoes and jewelry.

The coats that Miss Carr wears now in New York, the unofficial starting point for her tour, are velveteen. Entirely suited to winter weather, these coats are shown in black with a quilted lining in small print and in hollow-cut gray velveteen. For evening wear, there's a high-luster white poplin coat.

Miss Carr won her title over 21 other finalists at Memphis. A Maid of Cotton is chosen each year to act as goodwill ambassador and fashion representative for the American cotton industry.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Constant apologizing ruins your charm. Guests who drop in on you unexpectedly don't have to have an apology for the way you look or the way your house looks. Let them take you as you are. If you'll just do that they'll feel far more welcome than if you keep apologizing for the clutter in the living room or for the fact that you are caught with your pin curls up.

Depend on your graciousness rather than on apologies to put everyone, including yourself, at ease.

EGG-BEATER TO THE RESCUE—

Navy's 'Last Chance Taxi' Grabs Pilots Out Of Drink

ABOARD USS VALLEY FORGE, SOMEWHERE OFF KOREA—(AP)—It was a scowling day. A flight of Douglas attack bombers catapulted off the deck of this carrier and headed for the snow-whitened hills of Korea.

Suddenly, one faltered, turned and headed back. The motor sputtered into the sea on its back.

The man manning the flight deck bull horn sounded the alarm with the one word "Splash." The Valley Forge's loudspeaker flashed it over the ship: "Plane in the water off the port quarter."

Only the tall fin of the bomber bobbed in the water as the Valley Forge pulled away. After what seemed an eternity a head bobbed up from the sea. It was 40 seconds by stop watch since the bomber hit the water.

Seemingly out of nowhere a helicopter swooped down and hovered over the spot as the Valley Forge plowed on.

Painted on the side of the chopper was one of the most welcome signs known to Navy pilots downed in the Sea of Japan off Korea's east coast: "Last Chance Taxi."

What appeared to be a horse collar tumbled out of the 'copter cabin and landed near the man's head.

The man in the water slipped his arms inside the horse collar and was hoisted out of the water. The rotary blades of the egg beater whirled. The dangling dripping man was rushed to the carrier and let down gently on the flight deck.

It was two minutes by the stop watch since the crash.

The crash survivor was Ensign Dennis B. Poulson of Ontario, Calif. It was his twenty-third birthday. He was blue with cold and bleeding from a slight cut on his forehead. "It was sure dark down there under the water," he mumbled. Medics stripped the horse collar from him and rushed him to a hot shower. A man freezes fast in these waters. After the shower, Poulson got a shot of medicinal brandy. Then they tucked him under an electric blanket and he slept off the shock.

Near 300th Rescue Ensign Poulson was somewhere near the 600th Navy man saved from the sea or behind Communist lines by the Navy's Helicopter Rescue Squadron No. 1 since the start of the Korean War.

Pilots and Navy men aboard the carriers Valley Forge, Oriskany, Kearsarge, Philippine Sea and Bataan are high in their praise of the rescue whirlbirds and the men and officers who man them.

In fact, Navy Lt. Willard Frankie, operating exclusively in besieged Wonsan harbor, has picked up so many Naval aviators in his chopper that the survivors are thinking of forming an "I Love Frankie Club."

Alabama's Rivers Near Flood Stage

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—(AP)—Four major Alabama rivers rose near or above flood levels Thursday, but clearing skies averted any serious damage.

The Coosa, Warrior, Tombigbee and Alabama rivers poured muddy torrents across lowlands in the wake of six days of steady rains. Tuscaloosa reported 8.19 inches for the period, and other North Alabama cities received two and one-half inches or more.

The Coosa was expected to reach a 38-foot crest at Wetumpka, 4.1 feet above flood stage. Livestock were herded out of bottom lands as the water spread beyond its banks.

School Observance Program For Midland Due In March

Plans are complete for the Midland observance of the third annual Texas Public Schools Week, March 1-7, and committee chairmen are ready to go into action with their respective programs Sunday.

Heads of the various committees are: Wesley Martin, schools; Mayor Perry D. Pickett, radio; Delbert Downing, publicity; Mrs. Raymond Leggett, Parent-Teacher Association; and Copper Daugherty, churches. Members of the Statistics Committee are O. J. Hubbard, John Allen Sewell, George Vannaman and Earl Chapman.

During the special week, sponsors said, every effort will be made to get as many patrons as possible to visit their respective schools.

"All citizens are urged to take an active interest in the public schools throughout the year, and this week in particular," they stated.

Dr. J. W. Edgar of Austin, commissioner of education, Texas Education Agency, commented on Public Schools Week, as follows:

"Texas Public Schools are administered according to the idea that the best results can be obtained only through strong interest and participation in school affairs on the part of local citizens, and close cooperation between those citizens and their public school officials.

"Public Schools Week is one of the ways we have for bringing about cooperation and understanding between patrons and educators, and for stimulating local citizens interest in school affairs.

"We are requesting that, during 1953 Public Schools Week, teachers and administrators do all they can to promote school visitation and to interpret their schools to their communities."

HE'LL WRITE AND TRAVEL—At his first scheduled news conference since leaving the White House, former President Truman, above, told reporters gathered in his Kansas City office he would publish his memoirs "in one or two volumes" in two years, and that the memoirs first would appear in a national magazine. He also disclosed that the Truman family will embark on a Pacific cruise on March 22.

U. S. Canadian Authorities Probe Baby Adoption Racket

TORONTO —(AP)— Canadian and American authorities Thursday investigated an alleged baby adoption racket that police said may have arranged the smuggling of hundreds of infants into the United States in the last year.

Announcing the probe into a baby farm reported operating here for would-be parents unwilling to wait out the long process of legal adoption, police said Wednesday night at least 20 babies have been smuggled across the U. S. border from Toronto in the last three months.

The investigation was touched off with the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shindern, both 29, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The couple, carrying a five-day-old boy who police said was not their own, was taken off a New York-bound plane Wednesday at Toronto's Malton Airport.

They were held under $5,000 bail on charges of obtaining a birth certificate by fraud.

Police said the baby with them was born last Friday in St. Mary's Hospital. Its mother left the hospital without her child but the baby was taken out Tuesday and registered the same day at City Hall by a man and woman.

Authorities said they had evidence that a Toronto doctor and four or five other persons were involved in the suspected baby farm. They added that they believed headquarters of the ring were in the U. S.

Detectives said forged birth certificates were furnished the pseudo-parents. Findings so far indicate the ring's price was $250 a baby, male or female, authorities said.

Midland Board Now Awaiting New Order To Trim Draft Age

Texas' new age-lowering draft order hasn't reached the Midland Draft Board so Mrs. Nell Roberts can't say definitely how many Midland boys will be affected.

The age drop for April brings draft eligibility down to 19 years and six months instead of 19 years and nine months as it was for the March call.

The April order calls for 2,876 men. State Selective Service Director Paul Wakefield said quotas for the April induction will go to local boards the first week in March and it was assumed that the age drop would be included in that order.

Legislative Showdown Looms On Future Of Cross-Filing Bill

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN—(P)—A State Bar committee report has paved the way for a head-on collision of legislators on whether to repeal or retain the cross filing law.

The committee recommended to Governor Shivers that political parties be left the decision of whether they want cross filing.

A bill to repeal cross filing provisions of the Texas Election Code was introduced early this session by Rep. A. D. Downer, Center. It won committee approval but the House voted, 83-53, three weeks ago to toss it back to the committee until it heard from the Bar Committee.

This was one of many changes suggested by the committee in its 131-page report, which dealt with some 90 sections of the mammoth code.

Shivers asked the State Bar last Fall to name a committee to recommend clarification of obscure parts of the code. He said the section on cross filing needed attention.

Social Security Sets Midland Visits By Area Representative

A representative of the Odessa office of the Social Security Administration will be in the Midland County Courthouse, every Thursday from 9 a.m. until 10:30 p.m. to assist local residents in filing their applications for retirement and family insurance payments.

No Policy Changes However, the 16-member committee agreed not to deal with what it considered major changes in policy. It concerned itself only with eliminating conflicts and errors and clarifying the wording.

Regular trips are made through the 18-county area of West Texas which is served by the Odessa office.

It is the opinion of the committee that the code should be completely rewritten," Looney said, "and that this should be done by a committee of citizens from all walks of life."

Applications for Social Security account number cards can be secured from the Midland post office or the Texas Employment Commission office. These applications, as well as requests for information about the family insurance, should be sent to the Social Security Administration, Odessa. Replies will be made by mail or arrangements will be made to meet inquires the next time the representative is in Midland.

Recommendations of the bar committee for immediate improvement of the code included:

1. Revision to make it clear that persons who are waiting to vote at the time set for closing the polls (7 p.m.) are entitled to cast their ballots after that time, whether inside or outside the polling place.

2. Adoption of a single method of marking the ballot, either by check method or by scratching.

3. Provision for counting ballots in all races where the intention of the voter is ascertainable, even though other parts of the ballot may have been marked improperly.

4. Provision for more efficient, speedy and orderly trials and appeals of election contests.

5. Solution of the problem of which party should use voting machines in the 1954 nominating primaries. The primaries are required under present law to be held the same day, but there are not enough voting machines in counties using them to allow two separate primaries the same day.

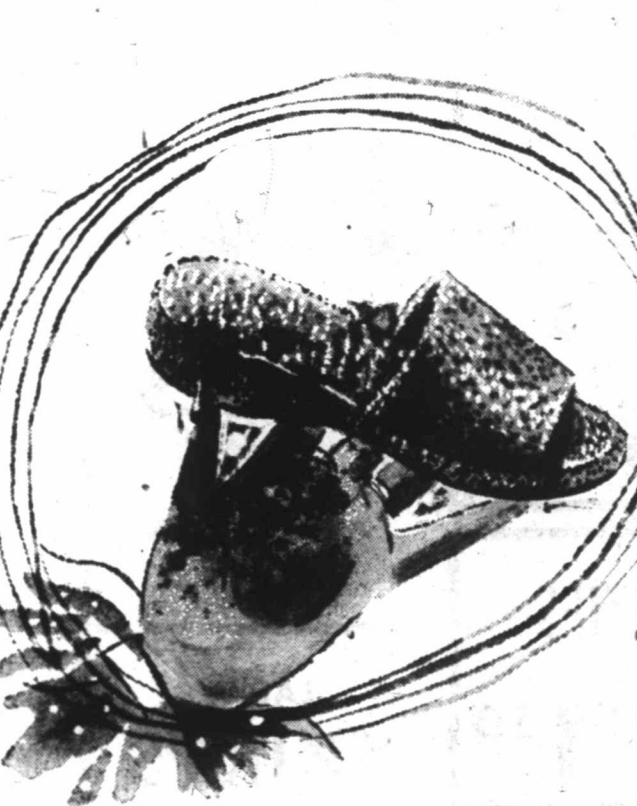

6. Fixing of the filing fee for a candidate for lieutenant governor at $250. The law now calls for a fee of five per cent of one year's salary for the office sought, but there is no fixed yearly salary for the lieutenant governor.

7. That a candidate shall not be required to report a loan made to him as a regular business loan and not as a direct or indirect contribution.

West Texas PGA Sets Date Here

Ranchland's Tourney Due In October

Midland members and West Texas Professional Golf Association officials Wednesday night set October 15-18 as the dates for the annual Texas PGA tournament and announced "here's no reason why this one shouldn't be the best."

This year's state tourney will be played at Ranchland Hill Country Club. It's first time there, where about 20 PGA members began planning the meet Wednesday night.

The group named Roy Minear, who was a sparkplug behind Midland's last PGA meet, as head of the tournament committee, to general chairman.

In setting the dates, PGA President Warren Cantrell of Lubbock said that October provided the tourney with the best possible Midland weather and the fifteenth-eighteenth days of the month conflicted with no major events, such as the attractive Oklahoma-Texas football game in Dallas (October 10) and the Ryder Cup matches earlier in October.

"These players from Texas who will play in the cup matches will have time to get back to the states and the Texas tournament," Cantrell said. That would mean that the field here will include, more than likely, such name stars as Jackie Burke, Tommy Bolt and numerous others.

"Burke told me he would be here," Cantrell said. "His father won it four or five times and Jackie has never entered before."

A long list of big time pros who are on the necessary list made up by the PGA are Byron Nelson, a perennial favorite; Jimmy Demaret, whom Cantrell said would definitely be here; Elroy Mart of Houston, Jack Harden of El Paso, Ray Gaffard of Dallas, Harry Todd of Dallas and numerous others.

The prize money will total $5,000 for the pros and about $2,000 in merchandise and trophies for the amateurs," Cantrell said.

As for the Ranchland Hill layout, which Pro Abe Beckman said was being prepared now for the tourney, visiting PGA official Dode Forester of Hobbs Country Club said "it looks like it's in the best shape of any course I've seen in all the years I've been playing the PGA."

The sight, the pros said, was in a good location to attract a larger field than the record of 73 pros and about 50 amateurs in the tourney at Galveston last year. Harden won that event.

Midland was last host to a PGA tourney in 1950 when amateur Morris Williams, Jr., later a Midland Country Club pro, won over a field including Lord Byron Nelson.

Chairman Minear said that he would announce local working committees for the tournament in the near future.

THREE SCHOOLS LEFT OUT—Owls, Steers Hog SWC Cage Honors

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Only four of the seven schools landed players on the All-Southwest Conference basketball team and two of those—Rice and Texas—placed two men apiece.

Rice had the only unanimous choices in Gene Schwinger, that polished and high-scoring center and Don Lance, smooth forward.

George Sealing, gifted Texas guard, lacked only one vote of being unanimous.

The team was selected by the seven coaches for The Associated Press.

Two players — Billy Powell of Texas and John Starkey of Baylor — tied for one forward position, thus there are three forwards on the team. The other is Henry Ohlen, Texas Christian's ace.

Lance got votes for his forward and guard but he received the vote of all the coaches for one or the other.

Nobody was close to any of those six men.

The second team has Gil Ford of Texas and Art Barnes of Southern Methodist at forwards, Walter Kearns of Arkansas at center and Leon Black of Texas and John Swaim of Texas Christian at guards.

Chuck Davey Put Ninth In Ratings

NEW YORK—(AP)—Chuck Davey has tumbled from fourth to ninth in Ring Magazine's monthly boxing ratings as the result of his shelling by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan February 11.

Gavilan was chosen fighter of the month.

There were a number of changes as a result of recent bouts.

Roland La Starza's victory over Rex Layne sent the New Yorker to third and dropped Rex to fourth among the heavies. Germany's Heinz Neuhaus advanced from ninth to seventh on the strength of his kayo over Britain's Johnny Williams. Williams, ninth last month, dropped out of the first 10.

Pierre Langlois' triumph over Rocky Castellani vaulted him from tenth to fourth. Castellani's old berth, in the middleweight ranks, Castellani slumped to fifth. Ernie Durando, inactive since October 27, fell from fifth to seventh.

In the lightweight division George Araujo, Henry Davis, Johnny Gonsalves and Paddy de Marco were listed 1-2-3-4 in that order. This shakeup followed Gonsalves' loss to Davis and Araujo's win over De Marco. Gonsalves and Araujo were 1-2 last month while Davis was unranked.

Philadelphia's Percy Bassett moved to the No. 1 spot among the featherweight contenders by stopping France's Ray Fameshon, who fell from first to fourth. Tommy Collins and Willie Pep now rate above Fameshon.

South Cagers Win As Grade Schoolers Near Season Finish

Two more city elementary case teams completed their season Wednesday—South whipping Lamar, 30-10—and Thursday afternoon four more prepared to wind up the season.

The final two games match Sam Houston at West and North at De Zavala, completing an ideal race; the league championship depends on them.

South showed its best scoring punch of the season in lashing Lamar. After Don Boyce, who missed the early part of campaign because of a foot injury, put his team up front at the start with his southpaw shooting, South never trailed.

Boyce won individual honors with 12 points and teammates. In Curtis added nine and Jim Thomas six. Fred Drury was the standout both offensively and defensively for Lamar. He scored five points.

In the finals, set for 2:15 p.m., unbeaten Sam Houston can win the title by beating West. If Houston falls, West and possibly De Zavala, both of whom have lost one, can climb into a first place tie.

Schools To Ballot On Patoon System

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas high schools will decide by a vote whether they want to play football next fall under 1952 liberal substitution rule—the two-platoon system—or use the NCAA's restricted substitution rule adopted this year.

The executive committee of the league voted Wednesday to submit the choice to a referendum of member schools rather than make the decision itself. More than 1,200 schools will ballot on the question next month.

The NCAA changed its rule to outlaw the so-called platoon system of substitution in college football but it gave preparatory and high schools permission "by mutual agreement" to adopt more liberal substitution regulations.

Davis Gains Split Verdict Over Riley

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Teddy (Red Top) Davis, having shown Charley Riley why he is ranked No. 8 among the featherweights, now wants to get at Percy Bassett or Sandy Saddler.

Davis, who won a split decision over Riley in his 10-round national televised bout at the St. Louis Arena Wednesday night, figures he's ready for a crack at the title. And he'd prefer a crack at the "interim" crown won by Bassett first.

Saddler, the official featherweight champion now in the Army, can come later, says Davis.

The Hartford, Conn., scrapper didn't have too much trouble with Riley, a St. Louisian.

Long Swats Favored On Damp Fairways Of Houston Tourney

HOUSTON—(AP)—Long hitters were favorites Thursday as the $20,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament got off to a soggy start over the water-logged Memorial Park course.

One of the finest collections of professional golfers assembled since last year's National Open was among the field of 150 competitors.

Except for the 33 lesser-knowns who qualified Tuesday, few had had an opportunity to get as much as nine holes of practice on the 7,150-yard, par-72 municipal course. Rain kept the sprawling layout closed Monday and most of Wednesday.

Midland Adds New Pitcher

A righthanded pitcher, about 20 years old, who can "win in this league" has been added to the 1953 Midland Indian baseball roster, General Manager Horace Busby announced Wednesday.

The new hurler is Romarico Soto, acquired from Havana of the Class B Florida-International League on the recommendation of Washington Senator Scout Joe Cambria.

Cambria told Midland officials that the Cuban pitcher had a 2.29 earned run average while working in 16 games during 1952. Cambria said Soto could win in the Longhorn League. The player is classified as limited service.

Meanwhile, the Midland official said that one other player was making his contract to the club.

A letter from his father, a fight manager, to Midland officials said that Quentin Basco was home with a discharge from the armed services and signing his contract to be mailed here.

Basco, a second baseman who played here in 1950, will be groomed as a third baseman to compete with Julio de la Torre of last year's team for this year's starting assignment.

Basco was called into service in 1950 and has been a playing manager for an overseas team.

Midland Track Team Opens Season In Triangular Meet

Midland High School track men, their ranks thinned by football Spring training, initiate their 1953 season Thursday when 13 of them tangle with Odessa and Andrews in a triangular meet at Odessa.

Coach Edwin Nixon of the Bulldogs said that for this opener two of the team's sparkplugs, Roy Kinsey and Bob Keisling, would see only limited action. They have but a week's practice behind them after completing the basketball season on the Bulldog team.

Kinsey is a returning district champion in the quarter-mile while Keisling hurled his way into the state meet last year.

Nixon said the first traveling squad would include Kinsey, Keisling, Roddy Braun, Jimmy Hicks,

Tribes Boss Hanev 'Up' After Siege

Midland Indian Manager Jay Hanev was "finally up and about the house" Thursday after a virus siege that has kept him in three weeks.

Hanev said he was under doctors' orders to remain in bed and that it may be from two to four weeks before he can get outside and back to baseball matters.

The young Indian skipper first was confined at home three weeks ago with an apparent case of influenza. The virus, however, brought on swelling in the face and he was ordered to bed, where he remained until Wednesday.

"The doctor said it may be from two to four weeks before I can get out," Hanev said.

Hanev was unable to receive visitors for most of his illness.

He said that he was anxious to get back to work, for all he was learning of baseball at home was what Horace Busby, the team's general manager, came by and told him.

Hanev's next assignment is getting the Indians off to their Fredrickburg training camp March 23.

Holdouts Get Full Attention

By The Associated Press

Smooth-talking Roy Hamey goes to bat for the second time Thursday in his efforts to break the log jam of New York Yankee holdouts.

Hamey connected on four for five in his first attempt Tuesday when he got agreements from Alie Reynolds, Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins.

His only failure was Eddie Lopat and Lopat is first on his list Thursday.

Hamey made a side trip from the Yankees' St. Petersburg base to their farm camp at Lake Wales, Fla., Wednesday for a session with his boss, General Manager George Weiss.

The Yankees want Lopat to sign a provisional contract calling for a maximum 25 per cent cut in his 1952 figure of $28,000. If he can show that he has regained his old form they'll pay him $28,000 again. Lopat wants a pact without the ifs and ands.

Hamey also plans to try his luck with Vic Raschi, who pulled down $40,000 last season, and outfielder Gene Woodling.

Others still on the Yankees' unsigned list are Phil Rizzuto, who like Raschi drew $40,000 last season; Pitcher Whitey Ford; First Baseman Johnny Mize; second Baseman Billy Martin; and infielder Kal Segrist.

Engineers Nip Tiremen Five By 61-59 Tab

The Rotary Engineers, who fouled more by two, emerged the best team at the charity line Wednesday night to win their eighteenth victory of the year, this one coming over Phillips Tire Company of Big Spring, 61-59, in Cowden Gym.

The teams set a torrid pace and came out even, with 21 field goals each, while Rotary made up the difference by netting a 19-17 margin at the free throw line.

Despite the closeness of the game, Rotary led at the end of each preliminary period by only a single point, 17-16, 32-31 and 44-43, yet yielded the lead only one time, that in the third quarter.

Glen Whittis, Rotary player from Monahans, set the way for his club with 18 points. He teamed with Leland Huffman who made 12 to boost the Engineers to a six-point margin just before the end of the game. That was Rotary's longest lead.

Baffi and Essenwein both counted 13 points for the Tiremen.

Superior Schedules North Offset Test

To Pecos Discovery

The Superior Oil Company has staked location for a one-location north offset to G. D. Putman & Company No. 1 Hart, Clear Fork discovery completed in North Pecos County five miles southeast of Givvin.

The new test is No. 1-30 R. G. Hollingsworth, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 36, block 11, H&O&N survey and on a 560-acre lease.

It is slated for a 5,000-foot bottom.

Unofficial Reports Credit McCulloch Test With Oil Flow

According to unofficial and unverified reports, L. B. Thomas and others No. 1 R. & H. Hoepfl, wildcat in McCulloch County one-half mile northeast of Salt Gap, logged flowing oil in a pay, possibly Swastika sand.

Reports say the project was flowing between 150 and 200 barrels of oil daily, with some water, from a sand section at 1,735-40 feet.

Potential test was slated to be taken later this week.

Location is in Allison Ogden survey No. 14.

Unofficial Reports Say Big Gas Flow Found In Schleicher

Carter & Carter No. 2 J. F. Webster, wildcat in Central-East Schleicher County, according to unofficial and unverified reports, had flowed as high as 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day from the Ellenburger.

The flow was said to have come from perforations at 4,618-44 feet after a 1,000-gallon mud-acid and 5,000 gallons of regular acid.

The well was making acid water and load oil with the gas.

According to the reports, the project was still flowing gas at last report.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of survey No. 1, block A-1 and 25 miles east of Eldorado.

Wolfcamp Oil Flows At NW Lea Project

Gulf Oil Corporation and McElroy Ranch Company No. 1-BT State, five-eighths of one mile northeast of the Mesalero (Wolfcamp) field of Northwest Lea County, New Mexico, flowed oil on a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp from 8,172 to 8,222 feet.

Tool was open one and one-half hours. Gas was at the surface in five minutes, mud in 32 and oil in 45. It flowed an estimated 10 barrels of 44-gravity oil hourly into pits for 45 minutes.

Oil and drilling mud were unloaded while drill pipe was being laid down.

Another drillstem test was taken from 8,231 to 8,281 feet. Tool was open 30 minutes. Recovery was 20 feet of gas and slightly oil-cut mud.

More hole was being made below 8,288 feet.

Location is 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 22-108-32e.

Girl Addict Sparks Dope Traffic Drive

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Narcotics enforcement officers, fortified with revelations of a girl former addict who became an undercover operative, kept a stepped up drive against the dope traffic in high gear Thursday.

In the last 24 hours there have been nine arrests of suspected narcotics users. Among them was a 16-year-old Compton girl turned over to officers by her father. She told police she had been smoking marijuana the last four months. The heroin heroine of the current campaign is Patricia Williams, 19, of Pasadena, who gave herself up to police to rid herself of the habit.

District Attorney Ernest Roll said she then worked undercover to break up a million dollar international auto theft ring which paid drivers of stolen cars with heroin in Mexico. Roll said she told the grand jury about how she rode to Mexicali, Mexico, in a stolen car with three men, under surveillance of officers, and saw the car delivered and paid for with a half-ounce of heroin, worth about $200.

Roll said the heroin would be smuggled back to this country where a half ounce could be diluted and resold for $2,000. He said a stolen car a day had been taken to Mexico for 11 months by the ring.

Five men against whom indictments will be sought next week are held here and four more at Mexicali, the prosecutor said. Miss Williams, who pleaded guilty to a narcotics charge, awaits a probation hearing.

Senators Say Cut In Military Budget Will Balance Books

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) predicted Thursday Congress will cut deeply into military spending in an effort to balance the budget—a task President Eisenhower has described as terrifically difficult.

The Ohioan, the Senate's Republican leader, told reporters he doesn't believe the military can claim exemption. Senators Byrd (D-Va.), Ferguson (R-Mich) and Dirksen (R-Ill) agreed on that score.

Wilson Testifies
House members who heard Secretary of Defense Wilson testify Tuesday in a closed session said they got the impression he believes few substantial reductions can be made in the $46,000,000,000 military program outlined in former President Truman's $78,000,000,000 budget. Told about this, Taft reported: "I think the military budget will be cut."

Pressed for figures, the Ohioan indicated he believes the reduction will be substantial, but he wouldn't estimate how much.

Jibe At Truman
Taft agreed with Eisenhower's news conference statement Wednesday that it will be "a terrifically difficult thing" to bring revenues and spending in balance.

Ferguson took issue with Eisenhower's assertion that, if it hadn't been so difficult a job, the budget would have been balanced long ago. "Harry Truman never wanted a balanced budget—he wanted the country to spend more than it could collect," he argued.

Byrd said he is convinced the new Administration's fiscal officers, including Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Joseph Dodge, have lost none of their determination to slash spending.

10 Per Cent Cut
Byrd said he understands they are aiming for an over-all reduction of about 10 per cent in Truman's estimates and in the backlog of appropriations already made by Congress.

Ferguson told reporters he thinks substantial savings can be made in military funds "if the armed services will cooperate."

Dirksen said he thinks economies can be made by field investigations of the material the armed services have on hand and by a stretchout in the production of less essential items.

SENATE SLOWS WORD PROGRESS

The Georgia House of Representatives voted to make "and/or" legal substitute for "and" but the Senate turned thumbs down on the suggestion Wednesday.

Fine For Speeding Iirks Self-Styled Religious Leader

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Negro religious leader Father Divine, self-styled god and director of a network of "heavens," has ordered his followers to boycott the New Jersey Turnpike.

In a statement issued by a spokesman at his headquarters here Wednesday night, Divine said his ban resulted from "the rude and discourteous treatment and a complete lack of recognition" by an officer who stopped Divine's chauffeur-driven limousine last Friday.

The state policeman charged Divine's driver with violating the turnpike's 60-mile-an-hour speed limit and the religious leader said he paid "under stern protest" a fine of $15 for each of four cars in his caravan making a trip from Newark, N. J., to Philadelphia.

Finance Firm Opens Office In Midland

As part of an extensive expansion program, the Kennedy Finance System, with home offices in Dallas, has opened a Midland branch. Temporary offices are located at 404 West Illinois, above Pelletier Shoe Company.

According to Alfred A. Antis of Dallas, field representative of the company, permanent location of the Kennedy Finance System of Midland will be at 409 West Illinois. The new permanent offices will be opened in about four weeks.

Meanwhile, Antis said the firm will offer fast, convenient, confidential loans on automobiles, furniture and salaries at the temporary location.

Pete Alford will serve as manager of the new office, coming to Midland from Sherman.

The Kennedy Finance System now has offices in all major cities in Texas, Antis said, as well as in four other states.

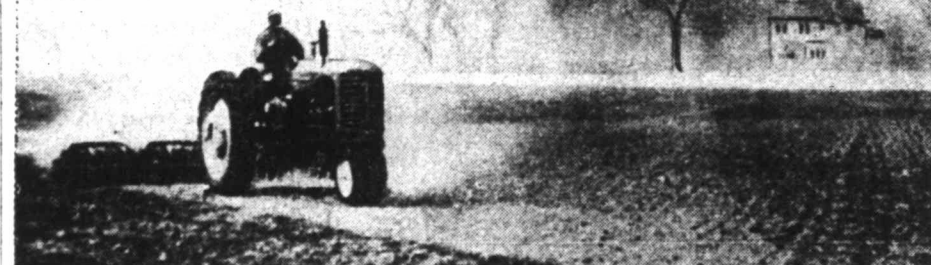

Chinese Reinforce Coastal Areas For Possible Attacks

TAIPEI, FORMOSA—(AP)—Nationalist Chinese officials said Thursday there is no indication Communist troops are being shifted from Korea to protect the Red mainland as a result of the U. S. decision to denationalize Formosa.

These officials, who have access to secret briefings prepared for President Chiang Kai-Shek, said reinforcements on the Southeast China coast have come from the interior.

However, top Nationalist said reliable reports from the mainland indicate the U. S. move has resulted in extensive new defense preparations by the Reds.

The reports, officials said, tell of strengthened Red coastal garrisons and forced movement of substantial numbers of civilians from the coast to the interior to prevent them from supporting a possible attack.

Politicians, Not Farmers, Alarmed At GOP Policies

By DON WHITEHEAD
KANSAS CITY—(AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have a greater reservoir of support in the Midwest for their farm policy than Washington alarms over skidding farm prices might indicate.

"The farmers haven't risen up with pitchforks in hand as some would lead you to believe," one farmer commented dryly in referring to outcries against Benson's recent statement that farmers in the future should depend less on government bounty.

And this seems to be the consensus of farmers, cattlemen, farm editors and others who are close to the agricultural world.

Most of them say the farmers' concern over recent price declines does not reflect any growing political coolness towards the Republican Administration—yet. But they always add the qualifying "yet."

There is uneasiness over the drop in prices. Farmers don't like the loss of income when the things they buy haven't shown a corresponding drop. They want to see prices stabilized. And they want to know more about the GOP program that will replace the present farm program in 1954.

No Runaway Alarms
But there are no runaway alarms ringing through the Midwest to match some of the political furor kicked up in Washington. In fact, there's considerable talk out here that the price decline was inevitable and that government price props aren't the whole answer to farm security.

There are strong pressures in farm groups and in Congress for the Administration to continue price supports beyond 1954 at the 90 per cent level. But the major farm organizations favor a flexible price support program ranging from

Pinching Policewoman Puts Playful Masseuse In Pokey

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rita Meany, an attractive policewoman, got pinched, illegally she says, in a massage parlor—and it hurt.

Later, with the aid of three policemen, she legally pinched the man she said had pinched her.

Mrs. Meany was sent to a South

Side massage parlor Wednesday on an assignment "above and beyond the call of duty" to investigate complaints made by several women customers.

The policewoman said on arrival at the Highland Health Center she was told by the operator, William A. Kritiner, 31, to undress and was given a sheet to wrap around her. She said she asked to be treated for a "pain in the neck."

"He proved to be a pain in the neck," Mrs. Meany commented tartly later. "He seemed to have as many hands as an octopus has feelers. He pinched me, and not on my face either. Then he had the nerve to charge me $3.50 for the 'treatment.'"

Mrs. Meany, 38, whose husband is a policeman, reported her "treatment" to Capt. William Hennessy and two detectives who were waiting outside the parlor. She returned with them to the parlor and arrested Kritiner. He was charged with disorderly conduct, assault to commit a lewd act and two other sex charges.

"I was glad I pinched him," Mrs. Meany said. "One good pinch deserves another."

Police Seek Blonde Who Snatched Baby, Then Abandoned It

BATTLE CREEK, MICH.—(AP)—Police searched Thursday for a mysterious blonde abductress who kidnaped a 10-week-old baby from her crib Wednesday and then abandoned the little girl in a parked car three blocks away.

Rebecca Ann Elliott, daughter of Cpl. Rowland Elliott, 21, a Korean war veteran, and his wife Elizabeth, 21, was found unharmed in a car by a returning shopper, less than two hours after the child had been reported missing.

Two youngsters told of seeing a young, heavy-set blonde enter the Elliott's home Wednesday and emerge minutes later with a bundle wrapped in a pink blanket.

75 to 90 per cent of parity. These people think rigid, high price supports encourage huge surpluses, protect inefficient farmers and create a financial burden on the taxpayers which in time will threaten destruction of the farm program.

The thinking of the major farm groups is pretty much in line with the expressed views of Benson on how the farmers should achieve security with less government help.

The question is: Do these farm organizations in the statements of their leaders actually reflect the majority thinking of the membership?

Oppose Guaranteed Profit

There is no precise yardstick for answering this question. But here is an interesting sidelight in this connection.

Last November the Kansas Farm Bureau adopted a resolution saying in part: "In the legislation of 1948 and 1949, there is ample authority for high government support prices as an incentive to produce added amounts of food and fiber to meet any emergency which may occur."

"However as permanent policy, we oppose government support prices at a level representing a guaranteed profit, and which have the effect of making the federal government a middleman in the marketing of all farm products. We oppose government guarantees at a level which would result in complete government control over the planting of crops, marketing of products, the price at which farm products would sell, and which would result in the farmer receiving payment for his products from the federal treasury instead of in the market place."

"To that end, we believe the government support price program should be sufficiently flexible to prevent interference with the efficient consumption of farm produce..."

Want Flexible Supports
Previously, the bureau had sent out requests to some 70 county farm bureaus asking the members to meet and draft resolutions on farm policy by majority vote. Each of the county meetings drafted resolutions and forwarded them to the state bureau.

The state bureau took the majority views from the county meetings and used them as the basis for its resolutions. Then the state resolutions were submitted to the counties for ratification.

Roderick Turnbull, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star Farmer, said:

"I think the method used in drafting the resolution was as fair a method as you could find to get the true thinking of majority of farmers on price supports."

At any rate, the majority had given approval to flexible price supports rather than the present rigid level of 90 per cent of parity.

American Girls In Germany Seldom Go Out With Natives

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram
Special Correspondent

MUNICH, GERMANY — While thousands of U. S. servicemen date and marry German frauleins, it is seldom if ever that an American girl working in Deutschland goes out with a German boy.

We asked an attractive, brown-eyed nurse from Texas about this. "I don't know—I just never could go out with a German boy, that's all," answered Capt. Onale Grundy of Quittaque.

The five-foot, two diminutive officer—one of the best looking girls I've seen in a uniform—continued: "There's a nice looking German medical worker here who is always asking me to go to the opera with him, but I never go."

She continued, however, with the belief that Bavarian Germans "are mighty good people . . . friendly, good workers, clean . . . and individualistic, like the people in Texas."

Second Tour Of Duty
The Texas girl now is director of personnel for the behemoth 98th General Hospital here, which employs more than 1,100 workers. This is her second tour of duty overseas, and on the first tour, she served as adjutant. Commanding officer at the hospital is Col. James D. Gardner of Dallas.

We asked why a young, attractive girl like Miss Grundy would make the decision to put on an Army uniform, and she said it was because five brothers were in service during World War II when she decided to enlist, too. Henry was in the infantry, Charles with the engineers, Doyle and Roy in the Air Force, and Glenn with the troop carriers. She was sworn in at Dallas in October, 1952, and received initial training in Des Moines, Iowa.

In Germany, Captain Grundy says "I feel better than I do in the states." She thinks the climate and atmosphere is very healthy.

"I never get a cold over here. In fact," she added, "I haven't had a sniffle since I've been here."

Her sports activities include basketball, bowling, square dancing and "Bingo every Wednesday."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Grundy of Quittaque.

Another attractive nurse at 98th General Hospital who doesn't date the German men is Capt. Audrey Atkinson of Jones Prairie, Texas, which is 12 miles east of Cameron.

She is a tall, slender brunet, with dark eyes. She attended schools in Jones Prairie and Galveston, and was graduated in 1945 from St. Mary's School of Nursing in Galveston. She was commissioned a second lieutenant at Fort Sam Houston.

From 1946 until 1948, Miss Atkinson served in Korea, 10 miles from the capital city of Seoul. Conditions there during that time were a bit on the primitive side, she related.

The nurses attitude in not dating German men is typical among the German women I have interviewed throughout Germany.

As a result, German men say they find the American women "cold, distant . . . with a frozen look on their faces." Many German men think American girls don't date them because they don't have (1) a car and (2) money to spend.

Most German men have to plan ahead before they can even take a girl out for a cup of coffee.

That's one good reason why not many American girls are dating German boys.

Other officers and enlisted personnel assigned to the 98th General Hospital who are from Texas include:

Capt. Howard L. Blanford, sanitary engineer, Capt. Helen A. Chavez, nurse, both of San Antonio; 1st Lt. Felix R. Boudria, finance officer, Nacogdoches; 1st Lt. Margaret D. Hickey, nurse, Tyler; WOJG Nobel F. Adams, assistant commanding officer, medical detachment, Houston.

Other Texans Listed
Sgt. Robert N. Burnitt, medical technician, Big Sandy; Sgt. Dorland H. Conger, medical technician, Vernon; Sgt. Elbert M. Hightower, medical technician, Electra; Sgt. Joseph Lee, Jr., orthopedic technician, Beaumont; Sgt. Johnnie S. Motte, social worker, Rhome. Cpl. Joseph M. Rios, military policeman, Eagle Pass; Cpl. Albert L. Synatska, supply records specialist, Taylor; Pfc. George Barrera, medical technician, Laredo; Pfc. Eulalio Lopez, military policeman, Falfurrias; Pvt. Donald L. Midland School Officials See Acres Of Exhibits At Session

Three Midland school officials joined some 18,000 other U. S. school teachers, board members and administrators this month at the 79th annual convention of American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City, N. J.

Attending the sessions February 14 through 19 were Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland schools; Wesley Martin, director of special services at Midland High School; and Holt Jowell, a member of the school board.

Monroe termed the convention "an opportunity to exchange ideas with school personnel from all over America and to get new ideas from them." Exhibits, general sessions and group discussions combined to make the convention the biggest educational meet in the world.

The convention could be compared with a "trade show," Monroe said, in that every phase of school life was displayed and discussed. For example, he explained there were seven acres of exhibits showing models and drawings of school buildings in the United States. It (Continued On Page Two)

Dogwood To Put On The Dog First Time In Three Years

PALESTINE—(AP)—The dogwood will put on the dog for thousands of visitors come Spring for the first time since knuckling under the bad weather in 1950.

"The Dogwood Trails are back in business to stay," said K. S. Anderson, Palestine civic leader and president of the Texas Dogwood Trails Association.

He watched closely while trucks hauled the last of three years' litter out of Davey Dogwood Park.

The reopening of the trails, he hopes, will mark the end of a series of blows which prevented park's free wild flower show for three years in a row. Two years of drought and an ice storm were to blame.

Forest fires swept close to the dogwood trails last fall, but fire fighters managed to turn them back.

An estimated 100,000 visitors toured the trails in 1949.

Then drought set in. In 1951, an ice storm splintered and felled hundreds of old trees.

The trails are expected to open this year about April 1. The wild flower event was originated in 1938 by the dogwood association.

Anderson owns a paint contracting business which does maintenance work at oil tank farms throughout the country. He is district governor of Rotary International, a bank director, operator of a registered Hereford cattle ranch and a leader in practically every civic venture in this area.

But he left these pursuits almost to manage themselves for several weeks while he bossed the job of cleaning up Davey Dogwood Park.

Amid the confusion of dozens of laborers, several trucks and a mowing machine, Anderson laid out plans for expansion of the show into an all-Anderson County event.

He said that besides the six-mile paved route through Davey Dogwood Park, the trails this year will add other drives—including one through Palestine's 900-acre lake-dotted community forest and several side trips to rustic showplaces in Anderson County.

These include Historic Pilgrim Church, where Daniel Parker organized the first Protestant congregation in Texas; the Lakeview Assembly of the Methodist Church, a camp area owned by the Texas Methodist Conference, Crystal Lake, the National Guard Armory, where refreshments will be served, and Meadowbrook Country Club.

"There will be enough attractions to keep visitors entertained all day," Anderson said.

A coronation ceremony for the first Queen of the Dogwood will be staged during the Trails in a natural amphitheater in Davey Park.

Neither Baron de Kalb nor Baron von Steuben, foreigners who served with distinction in the Revolutionary War, was a real baron. Both had assumed titles to further their professional careers.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

"The tests are over. Oh, Happy Day, Thank goodness they are, Oh, Happy Day." That is the familiar song everyone is singing because six week tests are over. There are only 12 long or short (according to the way you want to take it) weeks left in this school year. Since tests are over that means there will be something extra on hand to take home next week—report cards!

We have a question to ask Wayne Cooper! Where was the "little red jet" Tuesday afternoon and night? The reason we ask is that, something that happened by the gym that was very unusual and we just wondered if the "little red jet" had anything to do with it.

Have you noticed a former member back? Yes, Agatha Sue Taber Oulpepper has visited us several times in the last week or so.

They Enjoyed It

The Blue Barron Show and Orchestra attracted many teen-agers last Thursday. We saw very many there, including Sylvia Smith, Ronnie Rose, Carol Garrison, Charlie Crites, Timber Forrest, John Petty, Betty Bolton, Neil Curran, Walt Chambers, Wayne Cooper, Othanna Gledberry and Shirley Green. They all seemed to enjoy it very much.

Pertaining to the above, Othanna and Shirley saw something that attracted their attention and they laughed so loud for a while it attracted everyone's attention?

Have you told Myrt or Fern what kind of picture shows you want to see this Spring? If you haven't, be sure and do so soon because they will start in two weeks. We don't know the name of the first show yet, but next week we should know and will tell you. Now, those of you who used to fuss about the shows we had please don't fuss this time because members are the ones ordering them.

A Masquerade Ball is scheduled at the Youth Center March 5. This will be about the first one we have had. It is always a lot more fun when you participate in something and dress right for the occasion. It will start at 8 p.m. and the end time we do not know as of yet.

Summer Camps Fill Play Needs Of Handicapped Youngsters

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The youngster who is handicapped physically or crippled by a disease or injury is much better off today than in the past.

First, and most important, it often is possible to do more for him in a medical or surgical way so that the handicap is reduced. It also is true that there is an increased interest in and awareness of the problems which handicapped youngsters face and greater efforts are being made to help them to lead as nearly normal lives as possible.

All work and no play is just as bad for a handicapped youngster as it is for one who is not. This important fact has been recognized by a number of voluntary organizations in many different ways.

One example of this is the increased emphasis on the provision of Summer camping experience. Camping in the Summer has been one of the great delights of many children for years. Now the camping experience (adjusted to the particular needs of the youngster) can be provided for more and more handicapped children.

These camps are not exclusively the privilege of the wealthy. Through the generosity of many public-spirited citizens it often is possible to send children who need it to some of these camps under scholarships or partial scholarships.

For example, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (11 South LaSalle Street, Chicago), in cooperation with the American Camping Association (343 South Dearborn Street, Chicago), serves as a clearing house for the supply of information on camps for crippled addition there were displays of every type book, lighting facility, and the like used in American schools. More than 350 firms and organizations made possible the largest educational trade show with its 600 exhibits booths.

Highlights of the exhibits were new school building plans and plans for use of educational television.

Everything "new" in school building design was displayed and discussed at the convention. School building specialists were on hand to offer aid in building plans and to answer the thousands of questions that arise in planning construction.

Superintendent Monroe was one of a school panel who discussed and answered questions dealing with the problems of school building construction. Included on the panel was N. L. Engelhardt, Sr., educational consultant from New York considered one of the top experts on school building construction in America.

Monroe said the panel covered every phase of building and the problems met in each phase. It would be impossible, he said, to list the subjects presented by members of the panel as well as by members of the audience.

Educational television, a young and growing project in America, drew special attention. A model studio with standard equipment in use was provided. There visitors could see the "hows and why's" of television and its position in education. Association members could also confer with television program experts, lawyers, engineers and administrators.

The American Association of School Administrators is headed by Virgil M. Rogers, superintendent of schools at Battle Creek, Mich. In addition to its other officers and executive committee, it is aided by an advisory council made up of school administrators from every state. Texas is represented on that council by Monroe and E. N. Denard, superintendent of Waco schools.

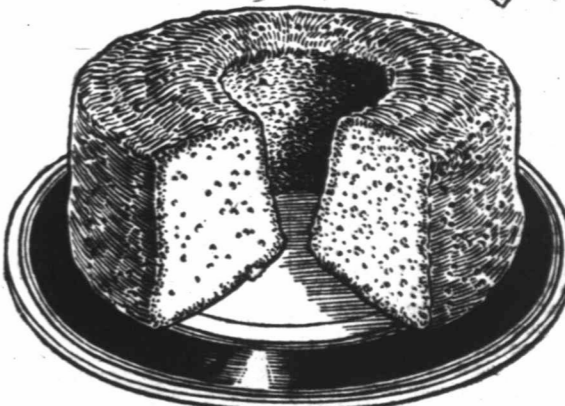

When asked if he could list any "specific gains" made at the convention, Monroe said the convention was not so much a place to gain definite products as a place to gain "inspiration" for concrete advancements in individual communities. There were more than 18,000 persons there, he continued, and each person gained new and better-developed ideas for his particular school and locale.

A Wild Hunch, Indeed

Former President Truman apparently was going almost entirely on his personal hunch when he recently voiced doubt that Russia has an atomic bomb.

In his current statement Truman appeared to be suggesting that the Russians had from time to time unleashed some sort of experimental "nuclear explosion" which was short of a real atomic bomb.

That's not what his technical advisers told him at the time he made the initial announcement of Soviet atomic developments. They said, in unmistakable language, that if the Russians had not exploded an atomic bomb, then they could not imagine what it could be.

They were saying, in other words, that after exhaustive analysis of all the scientific evidence available to them, they had concluded that the facts fit no other sensible pattern.

What kind of evidence did they rely upon? For one thing, seismographic checks like those which measure earthquake shocks anywhere on the globe.

Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, former Republican chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, says if the Russians can release any atomic explosion when they want to, then they can make bombs, because there is little difference in the technical skill required for the two processes.

Truman is entitled to his private doubts. But despite his retirement from the presidency, he is inescapably a public citizen and his words command attention.

Not only does the evidence run counter to Truman's hunch. Our atomic scientists said in 1946 the Russians would have the bomb in five years. That they got it in three we generally attribute to the help given them by Klaus Fuchs and other spies.

We cannot gird the free world against the Russian menace if we underestimate the Kremlin's military potential. All our most reliable calculations indicate we must include a substantial stockpile of atomic bombs in that potential.

Daddy Ringtail

Believing Things

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, couldn't answer the question, and so Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, ran out of the hollow tree house where the Huffen lived. He ran on up the Elephant Path until he came to the very tall tree, the one with Daddy Ringtail's monkey house in the top. Daddy Ringtail was sitting out on the soft, green grass.

around on the other side of the very tall tree. But Mugwump said again: "Daddy Ringtail, how do you know what is where you aren't? You know. Like the flowers. They are around on the other side of the tree where we aren't. We can't see them, and

"Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "how do you know what is where you aren't?" "What a question! How do you know what is where you aren't? That was the question that the Huffen couldn't answer, and Mugwump thought maybe Daddy Ringtail could tell him. Oh, but Daddy Ringtail didn't understand at first. He said he didn't understand, but he sniffed and sniffed at the sweet smell of flowers that were growing so how do we know they're there?" Daddy Ringtail sniffed and sniffed again. "I know there are flowers there," he said, "because I can smell them." But then the wind stopped blowing from around the tree, and Daddy

"This is our second day and no sign of landing a husband—maybe I shouldn't have passed up that job in the haberdashery!"

Ringtail didn't smell the flowers any more. "Aha!" said Mugwump. "You can't see them. You can't smell them. You can't touch them—because they are where we aren't, if they're there at all—and how do we know they are where we aren't?"

Daddy Ringtail smiled and told him that we can't know for sure about anything that is where we aren't. We just have to believe—like you can believe that you will find your things in your room when you go there—if you aren't there already—and like we believe that our eyes aren't fooling us when we do see something.

And it works very well for us to believe in things—that things are where they are even when we aren't there to see them. Because when Mugwump walked around the tree, there were the flowers sure enough. They were pretty to look at. Sweet to smell. Soft to touch. And besides, I like to believe in things, don't you? Happy day!

TEXANS TESTIFY BEFORE INTERIOR COMMITTEE—Offering what they emphasized were sound reasons for state rather than federal ownership of submerged lands, these three Texans appeared before the Senate Interior Committee. They are, left to right, Senator Price Daniel, Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepherd, and Texas Land Commissioner Bascom Giles. Behind them is a map exhibited in the committee room. Witnesses said the committee was impressed with evidence offered to refute arguments by proponents of federal control, as well as by freshman Senator Daniel's masterly presentation.

Daniel Makes Masterful Tidelands Presentation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Price Daniel of Texas did a top-notch job selling the Senate Interior Committee on the special claims of his state in regard to the submerged lands issue.

That, in itself, was not surprising. He knew the subject, since it was his stepping stone to Congress. And most of the committee members long since have been persuaded to Texas' side because the case has been aired out time and again over the years.

So, the most noteworthy thing about Daniel's appearance before the committee was the unintentional job he did of selling himself.

A freshman member of the Senate and a newcomer to the Interior Committee itself, Daniel as an individual was as much a matter of interest as his subject when he sat in the witness chair to speak in support of states ownership of tidelands legislation.

He was on a spot, called on to disclose his capabilities. Arrayed around him were the long committee members in front of him were colleagues with many years experience. And, in this instance, they weren't all sympathetic.

Senator Clinton Anderson (D-NM) teamed up with Texas on most issues, but on this he is an advocate of federal ownership, and he's a sharp man at interrogation. He continually dug into documents to shoot a tough question at Daniel. He invariably got a swift reply, almost always a documented explanation of a situation.

Decision Remembered

Naturally, Anderson referred to the Supreme Court 4 to 3 decision holding that the federal government has "paramount rights" over the submerged lands of the Texas coast.

Daniel was ready for that one. He cited the Texas annexation agreement, promulgated because the U. S. Senate back in 1845 didn't want to confirm a treaty providing for U. S. acquisition of Texas public lands at the expense of assuming the Texas Republic's 13 million dollar debt. Then, he cited numerous subsequent official U. S. actions, such as the 1848 U. S.-Mexican treaty acquiring California territory, in which Texas three-league seaward boundaries specifically were recognized.

Daniel told them that because of the technicalities in procedure he was never given an opportunity to present to the Supreme Court the evidence he had just recited. As Texas attorney general Daniel had fought the U. S. suit.

Texas' present Attorney General John Ben Shepherd and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles followed Daniel on the witness chair in support of states ownership legislation.

They urged that Congress dispose of the continental shelf jurisdiction issue along with that involving the submerged lands within the states seaward boundaries.

Both supported provisions of a measure introduced by Daniel to give the states 37 1/2 per cent of oil and gas revenues from developments in the continental shelf.

A lining insures longer life and allows drapery to hang more gracefully. Hem the lining separately and keep it one or two inches shorter to avoid sagging. Sew it to the hemmed drapery fabric, turning the edges for smoothness.

WIRY LANDSCAPE—The bleak landscape, above, was executed by a destructive artist named "Corrosion." The "trees" and "shrubs" are corroded spots, magnified 100 times, which appear on the surface of a cross-section of wire no larger than the diameter of a pencil lead. Photograph was taken in the testing laboratory of General Electric's locomotive plant at Erie, Pa., where wire is inspected for corrosion which could cause it to snap in service.

Martin To Seek Crane Mayoralty

CRANE—L. L. Martin, Crane insurance man and retired school superintendent, will seek the mayor's post here in a city election April 7. Martin, who has said he "did not wish to seek the office," entered the race after he was petitioned by Crane citizens.

W. W. Allman, present mayor, has said he would not seek reelection.

J. R. Todd, Crane resident for many years, has filed as candidate for city councilman. Two council members whose terms are to expire are Alton Evans and Roy Ward. Neither has commented on plans to seek reelection.

IGNORED PATENT

People considered the idea such a joke and impossibility that they ignored for 10 years the first patent granted for a tin can "to preserve animal, vegetable, and perishable foods." The patent was granted in 1828.

Super-Sonic Shout May Put Future Fires Out, Auck Says

By LEONARD RUFFERT
NEA Staff Correspondent

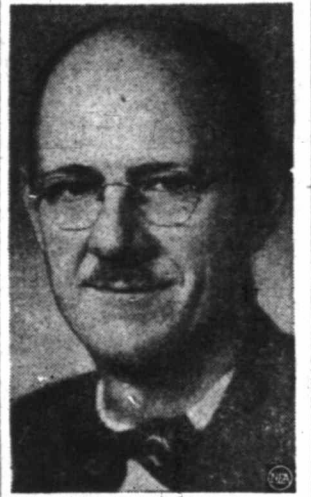

CHICAGO—The fireman of the future won't have to worry about falling off a ladder or tripping over his hose. He won't have to freeze in the winter. Instead, he'll be able to do his work much better than it's done now—and stay in the firehouse, besides.

So says Dale K. Auck, fire prevention expert for the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies and a recognized authority on fire-fighting methods.

Water Old Fashioned
Auck believes the fireman of tomorrow will put out fires by beaming high frequency sound waves at them. The use of water and other present methods will be discarded. "In a laboratory," he says, "you can bend or diminish the flame of a Bunsen burner by bouncing sound waves against it. There's no reason the same thing couldn't be done with bigger blazes as our knowledge of sound increases."

Auck's fire department of the future would consist of a large self-powered generator. This would have a dish-shaped antenna, similar to a radar search screen. When fire broke out, the fireman would aim the antenna at it, the generator would send out super-sonic frequencies and—poof—that would be that. Besides the large-scale, or "fire department" models, smaller sound generators might also be developed. These would be installed in buildings just like present-day sprinkler systems.

FIREMAN AUCK: "It's time we looked for a better agent."

"We're still using the same old fire extinguishing agent—water—that we've been using for ages," Auck says. "All we've done is to improve its application technique. It's time that we looked for a better agent, and sound waves may be the answer."

Auck, an electrical engineer, does not let his forecast of the future end with sound waves. He also predicts such wonders as solar heating and the wireless transmission of power.

Solar Headaches
If it does come, solar heating will provide new headaches for the safety experts. It will have to be extra-well insulated. But it will also eliminate many present hazards, by doing away with heating units that use combustible materials.

As for power transmission, Auck points out small amounts of electricity already can be transmitted from one point to another without wires in the laboratory. He foresees the day when power for homes will be received in much the same manner as we now get radio programs.

Bigger Worries
Auck concedes his predictions may seem fantastic.

"But it must be noted," he says, "that the rate of technical change is increasing rapidly. Advances that might have taken 100 years to achieve some time ago may now be realities within 25 to 50 years."

FUTURE FIREMAN: The better agent may be sound waves.

The insurance expert says one of the biggest worries in the fire protection field is the large number of new homes being sold in a semi-finished condition. This leaves their completion to the whims of the owner, a dangerous prospect when it comes to the installing of electricity.

Certified Wiring Job
"When amateurs install even the best electrical equipment," he explains, "installation standards are ignored, and the home may become unsafe from the fire viewpoint. Insurance companies may just have to get tougher and demand a certified wiring job."

Another problem is the movement of large factories to the suburbs. There is danger, Auck says, that the factories' use of water may diminish the pressure of rural water systems so that the fire-fighting is impaired over an entire suburb. Besides, fire apparatus adequate for a small community may not be enough to handle a large process fire.

Auck feels that the way to teach fire prevention is to concentrate on children.

"It's only in youth that permanent conceptions of safety can be instilled," he says, "and the fire-safe child of today will be the fire-safe adult of tomorrow."

Refugees Swamp Western Berlin

The thousands of East Germans fleeing to West Berlin seriously threaten that city's critical housing and food supply. Those who do manage to escape from Communist tyranny are housed mostly in 75 camps, 45 of which were opened by the Red Cross. Abandoned factories, bombed-out buildings and barracks are used to shelter the bewildered East Germans during the screening, which usually takes from four to six weeks. Overcrowding is acute and growing worse daily. In January alone, 25,000 people fled from the Red sector.

Refugees crowd this bombed-out factory, are given straw sacks and blankets for bedding. Freedom makes primitive conditions endurable.

Refugee child and mother spread their wash on useless steam pipes of the shattered factory that shelters them.

Long, weary trek is hard on the feet. A mother anxiously watches as a Red Cross worker gives first aid to her son.

Six-Foot West Texan Spreads Gospel In 'Herald Of Truth'

ABILENE—(AP)—Jim Nichols is no arm-waving, shouting evangelist. He is a six-foot three-inch West Texan who speaks softly of God. His light brown hair is curly, his teeth white and straight, his eyes clear. It could be that he is too handsome; if so, that is an obstacle he has overcome.

His church is the Church of Christ. It has no central organization, no national leader, no national treasury. Each church chooses its own preacher and goes its own way. That, too, is a problem he has overcome.

A year ago Nichols launched a national radio program over the American Broadcasting Company from the Highland Church of Christ here. Elders of the church were in charge. But it was Nichols who wrote 60,000 letters, drove 21,000 miles through the Southwest, and raised the necessary $250,000.

The quarter million dollars was not handed over by a few millionaires. The largest donation was $2,900. The smallest was $2.50. "We are just a small congregation," said a letter from Tennessee, "just 10 of us, but we sure want to do all we can. We will try and help five dollars a month." Thus it went—mostly the widow's mite multiplied a thousandfold.

Since then, every Sunday, Nichols and James D. Willeford, like Nichols a graduate of Abilene Christian College here, have preached more than 108 ABC outlets.

This month in Abilene, the evangelistic program grew. A contract was signed which boosts the number of stations to 241, including three in Canada and three in Alaska. Forty-six states are represented. The new contract was effective Sunday, February 15.

The 30-minute program is called "The Herald of Truth" and is the first nation-wide radio program ever produced by the Churches of Christ. It is heard in Texas (and throughout the Central Standard Time zone) from 1 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Nichols began preaching at the age of 15 in a small Brownwood church. His father, member of the Abilene Christian College faculty, had died three years earlier. His mother became a school teacher and Jim was the mah of the house while attending high school. He was graduated with honors at 15, and became the youngest freshman at ACC.

He was little more than a boy when he went to the University of Iowa for graduate work in speech. There he met Willeford, who was preaching over a Madison, Wis., radio station. Nichols and Willeford formed a friendship. They began preaching together and in 1951 were being heard over six stations. The dream of a national Church of Christ radio program came into his mind.

Nichols met many discouragements. How could a church without a national organization put on such a radio program? The many small congregations had little money to offer. Nichols impressed those he talked to and business men wanted to hire him. He said no.

"I feel that I am doing what my father would have wanted me to do," he told them.

Ruth Millett - Quiet, Undemanding Wife Is Usually Unappreciated

If I receive a letter from an unhappy wife I usually can make a safe bet with myself that somewhere in it the wife will tell me how "understanding" she has been and "how much" she has "put up with."

Why is that almost always the universal complaint of unhappy, neglected wives? Are they telling the truth or just kidding themselves?

I think they are telling the truth yet not seeing the whole truth. They list all of the ways in which they have been self-sacrificing, which they can see clearly, but make the mistake of thinking that since they have been undemanding, their husbands should appreciate them. But asking too little of their husbands has actually given the men the idea that wives can be treated "just any old way."

The wife who asks little usually gets little. And it is rare indeed that she gets appreciation.

There Is A Way
But the wife who gently but firmly lets her husband know she is willing to do her share just as long as he is willing to do his, that she expects to get as well as give appreciation, and that she has no intention of always putting her own interests and wishes at the bottom of the family list, gets just about what she demands.

So there is no reason for her to be unhappy or frustrated or to feel like a martyr.

She knows what she wants and expects from her marriage and she lets her husband know and that's that.

It is the timid wife, always trying to please and yet never demanding to be pleased herself, who ends up by being unappreciated and therefore unhappy.

Any wife who feels unappreciated should ask herself this important question: "Have I been too undemanding?" (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Thousands Risk Life Itself To Break From Iron Curtain

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Thousands of men, women and children behind the Iron Curtain—estimated as high as 250,000 each—were trying to shake the grip of Communist-ruled countries from their feet.

Though some are undoubtedly agents aiming to infiltrate the West, the overwhelming majority, according to U. S. and Western intelligence, are genuine anti-Communists. They run grave risks and dangers in their desperate bid for freedom from Red "paradise."

Jews Flee Terror

The number on anti-Communist refugees has been swollen in past weeks by East European and German Jews fleeing the anti-Semitic terror raging in Russia and the Kremlin-dominated countries.

For the second time in a generation Jewish survivors of Hitler's gas chambers face wholesale extermination—this time at the hands of the Reds working closely with the dogs of Nazism.

Thousands Die

"Since 1945, nothing has been more like this panic flight from Soviet domination," says Ernst Reuter, mayor of West Berlin. The number of East Germans seeking refuge in West Berlin has reached "catastrophic proportions."

Not all who attempt escape from behind the Iron Curtain reach safety in the free world. Many are caught on the satellite borders or shot while escaping. Such casualties are reported by refugees to run into the thousands.

Disastrous Measures

Red-ruled Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Poland, the Soviet-occupied Baltic states and now Eastern Germany have adopted drastic measures to check the flow.

Forty-year-old Jan Chmurek, Poland's former export-import chief, just escaped from his country by swimming the treacherous river Neisse. He told me every "farmer" within 15 miles of the Polish-German border is a secret Soviet spy agent. Not a single Polish or German civilian remains in the entire area.

Risks Are Greater

Escapes from behind the Iron Curtain nevertheless continue and are mounting daily despite the grave risks and unimaginable dangers involved. Why?

"I could no longer endure the terror regime imposed by Moscow on Poland," said Chmurek.

Sub-standard living conditions and, above all, dread of the midnight knock by the secret police were the reasons why three Lithuanian fishermen risked their lives in their break for freedom.

Under hail of bullets, Czech fugitive swims ashore to the sanctuary of Austria while shipmates he left pursue him.

Mutiny At Sea

They seized the Russian officers of their fishing boat below deck and steered the ship to Sweden, where they asked for political asylum.

Last year, 12 Polish seamen stormed the bridge of their tiny minesweeper, locked up their officers and brought their ship into the Swedish port of Ystad where they applied for political asylum.

They told port officials that their mutiny was inspired by United States broadcasts to seek freedom in Sweden from communism.

Daring Escapes

"We were tired of the terror regime in Poland, sick of political officers on board and disgusted with the living conditions in our country," the Polish seamen said.

Next day, four Poles set down a bullet-marked home-built plane at a Swedish airfield. They, too, asked asylum because they could "no longer bear living conditions in Poland."

Last May, the Czech tug Bratislava was steaming up the Danube. Suddenly a man dived from the tug and started swimming towards the Austrian bank.

Three armed Czechs set out after the fugitive in a dinghy, and followed him ashore, firing as they ran, and eventually overtook him bleeding badly from a bullet wound. At that moment an Austrian customs officer, attracted by the firing, appeared. The Czech Communists, aware that they had violated brazenly Austria's frontier, released their victim and made off.

The incident was hushed up by the Austrian authorities—obviously to avoid new international complications in their already troubled country.

'Collecting Guilt'

Only few of the daring escapes are reported in the Western press. This is mostly due to the fear of the refugees themselves. Having been subjected to the Red terror they remain in the grip of fear even after they reach a Western haven.

No refugee from behind the Iron Curtain likes to reveal his real name. He must protect relatives he left behind in "paradise."

The Communists, like the Nazi, subscribe to the theory of "collective guilt." Even children who failed to spy and report on their parents are guilty of the "crimes" committed by their elders.

Next: Even a "true proletarian" takes flight.

DYEING BANNED

By law, kippers may be cured only by the use of salt and smoke on the Isle of Man, which bans the use of dyeing practiced in England for years.

It is estimated that average disposable personal income for each person in the United States was $782 in 1951, measured in dollars of the 1935-39 value, compare with $855 in 1929 and $389 in 1933.

OWNERSHIP PROOF

In Wyoming, livestock brands are registered with the state livestock and sanitary board in order to avoid duplication and to prove property rights. Courts there accept the brand as prima facie evidence of ownership.

U. S. Presidents Rutherford Hayes and Andrew Jackson were born after the death of their fathers.

POLAR WATER

Polar explorers are able to obtain fresh water by melting ice that has been formed of salty seawater. This has been an important factor in saving lives of numerous explorers stranded on ice floes.

Over the greater part of the deserts of Sahara and Egypt, the rainfall is believed to be less than an inch a year.

'Solid Dollar' Idea Sticks To Humphrey

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey is keeping on his desk a silver dollar, three decades old, put there by a visitor who advised him to look at it often.

The visitor's idea was that in recent decades the dollar had lost almost half its buying power, and that it should be a major objective of the new Republican Administration to prevent further depreciation.

The visitor's viewpoint has some powerful support. President Eisenhower, Secretary Humphrey, Under Secretary Marion Folsom, Deputy Secretary W. Randolph Burgess and William McChesney Martin, Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, are all "hard money" men.

Eisenhower and his fiscal advisers agree emphatically that a sound dollar is the rock on which they should build a "freer economy."

"Checking the menace of inflation" was one of the six immediate tasks Eisenhower set the Administration in his State of the Union message. "A balanced budget is an essential first measure in checking further depreciation of the dollar," he added.

Behind this lies the conviction of the new Administration that crisis has come to stay, and that the job at hand is to reconvert from inflationary debt refinancing, high and extraordinary taxes and direct controls, all legacies of the limited emergencies of World War I, the depression and World War II. In definite emergency, the new economic leaders say, must be met with taxes, debt policies and economic controls which can be borne indefinitely without killing incentives to production and which do not eat away the dollar's value.

MILK JUNKET TOO LENGTHY

CHICAGO—(AP)—Eli Weston, 60, told Judge John F. Haas that four days after he was married his bride left home for a bottle of milk and never returned. He was tired of waiting and wanted a divorce, he told the court Tuesday. Judge Haas agreed with Weston that "she'll probably never return" and granted him a divorce. Weston said his wife's trip to the store for the bottle of milk was on July 8, 1912.

LOST 50 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Here is a sensible way to help take off unguilty weight, that is not based on the rigid diet and "vitamin" plan. You eat all you want, but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you eating more than the body requires for the energy you spend. At the same time it dehydrates and stimulates. Just get a four-ounce bottle of Barentrate at your drugstore. Pour contents into a pint bottle or jar and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. In the improved Barentrate carton, in addition to the liquid, you will find a supply of appetite curb tablets which help lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Dissolve tablets on tongue as per directions on labels. If the very first bottle of Barentrate doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off unguilty weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Sardine Dishes Are Tempting

NORWAY SARDINE PUDDING is a rich and wholesome meatless main dish combining layers of fish with onions and potatoes.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
At our house, we're enthusiastic about Norway sardines. Combined with potatoes, onions, cheese sauce and other more or less everyday ingredients, these particularly rich and tender sardines produce different and appetite-pleasing main dishes.

Norway Sardine Pudding (4 to 6 servings)

Two (3 3/4-ounce) tins Norway sardines, drained, 3 medium-sized potatoes, 2 medium-sized onions, 3 eggs, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 pound butter melted, salt, pepper.
Grease casserole lightly with butter and cover bottom with a layer of thinly sliced potatoes which have been brushed with melted butter. Place layer of thinly sliced onions on top of the potatoes. Arrange a third layer of Norway sardines and season to taste.

Repeat the procedure but change the order so that the fourth layer will be onions; the fifth, sardines, and the sixth, potatoes.

Beat 3 eggs vigorously with a cup and a half of milk. After adding balance of melted butter, salt and pepper, pour mixture over pudding, filling casserole to the brim. Decorate top of pudding with Norway sardines.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 to 50 minutes or until pudding turns a golden brown.

Sardine Rabbit Viking (4 servings)

One (3 3/4-ounce) can Norway sardines, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 1/2 cups diced cheddar cheese, 4 slices of bread, toasted.

Drain Norway sardines; save oil. Heat one tablespoon sardine oil and butter in saucepan. Add flour. Slowly stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add salt, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, and cheese. Continue to stir until cheese has melted. Arrange Norway sardines on four slices of buttered toast and cover with rabbit. Decorate with fresh parsley sprigs and serve piping hot.

Window areas of kitchens should be equal to about 15 to 20 per cent of total floor space, to allow sufficient natural light.

UP-AND-DOWN ISLAND—

Sea Thought Victor In Fight For Isle

LA JOLLA, CALIF.—(AP)—Scientists reported the Pacific Ocean apparently was winning a battle with a volcano over the existence of a phantom South Sea Island.

The scientists, returning here with a University of California expedition from the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, told of diving to examine the now submerged bit of land.

It is part of the island kingdom of Tonga, about 2,000 miles southwest of Hawaii. It is called Falcon Island, or in Tonga language, Fonua Fo'u—"The New Land."

Since 1865, when it was sighted as a sea-lashed reef from the British warship Falcon, it has had its ups and downs.

In 1894, with the volcano spouting lava and rocks, the island rose 90 feet above the sea and was three miles long and one and one-half miles wide.

It was reduced, by pounding of the waves and currents, to a shoal by 1898. In 1928, when it was claimed a second time in the name of Queen Salote of Tonga, it was 600 feet high and in volcanic eruption.

By 1938, after other ups and downs, it had shrunk to an elevation of 30 feet. Now it is gone from sight.

The Scripps scientists, Dr. Walter Munk, Philip Jackson and Willard Bascom, and Dr. Robert Livingston of the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine, reported they had to go down 50 to 75 feet to find the island.

The report said that part of the island now was 300 feet below the surface and that heavy discoloration of the water from eroded volcanic particles indicated further disintegration.

They estimated that several million yards of Falcon was being torn away each year and that, unless the volcano revives, it will disappear for good.

The electrolytic way to clean silver requires an aluminum pan cover or piece of aluminum foil, salt and washing soda. Use one tablespoon each of the latter per quart of hot water in a large dishpan with the aluminum pan cover in the bottom. Put on fire and keep water just under the boiling point.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"One point puzzles our group about asking permission to go out," writes a Chicago correspondent. "To put it briefly, are you allowed to ask permission to meld out when your side does not have a completed canasta on the table?"

"We understand that you don't ever need to ask permission to meld out; and that you can meld out by making a canasta and then disposing of other cards (if any) on the same turn."

"We understand, also, that there is no objection to asking for permission to meld out when your side previously has melded a canasta. The problem arises only when your side has melded a complete canasta."

"If you ask for permission to meld out in this situation, you are announcing that you expect to meld a canasta if given permission. This often indicates very clearly what you expect to meld—and the rule states that you are not allowed to indicate a meld before asking permission to go out."

"Some of our players say that in this situation you must complete the canasta and then ask for permission to meld out on the same turn. This seems wrong, because the printed rules say that you can't ask for permission to go out if you have made any meld at that turn. "What is the official rule on this point?"

The official rule is that you are allowed to ask for permission to go out even if your side has not yet melded a canasta. In some cases your partner will guess or may even know with absolute certainty what you plan to meld—but that doesn't bar you from asking the question.

Q—Are you allowed to discard a wild card when going out?
A—Yes. You are allowed to discard a wild card at any time at all. Some players follow a local rule that limits the number of wild cards that may be discarded, but this is a very poor rule.

Q—In a game of Samba our side had six queens on the table. My partner added two deuces to this meld, and the opponents objected. They said one deuce completed the canasta and that no other deuce could be added. He said both deuces were added at the same time. Who is right?
A—The opponents are right. One deuce completes the canasta, and in Samba no further deuce may be added.
