Assured Discovery In Central Chaves Has Set Oil String

Five and one-half-inch casing has been cemented in Republic Natural Gas Company and Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, No. 1 White Ronek, assured discovery from the Siluro-Devonian in Central Chaves County, New Mexico. The oil string was cemented at 8,771 feet. Operators will perforate the section from 8,730 to 8,770 feet. First production tests probably will be made Tuesday.

AAPG President To Speak Tuesday WTGS Noon Meet

John Emery Adams, Standard Oil Company of Texas, Midland will be the speaker Tuesday for the noon meeting of the West Texas Geological Society. Adams, president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, will report on that organization's convention held recently in Houston. Adams was installed as president at the convention.

NW Midland Test Sets Intermediate

United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Company No. 1 M. F. (Forrest) King, scheduled Devonian wildcat in Northwest Midland County, four miles northwest of the northwest side of the city of Midland had reached 4,600 feet in lime and shale. It has set and cemented 9 5/8 inch intermediate casing on bottom. The plug is to be drilled and the prospector is to make more hole. There is a possibility that should it fail to find commercial production in the Devonian at around 11,000 feet that it will be carried on down to about 14,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

Stanolind Plugs Howard Duster

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company has abandoned and plugged its No. 1 L. M. Anderson, Central-North Howard County wildcat on a total depth of 7,739 feet in barren Pennsylvanian reef lime. This project topped the reef at 7,706 feet. That is a datum of minus 5,083 feet. The last drillstem test was at 7,709-7,739 feet. The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 132 feet of water cut mud and 600 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas. Was Tested Higher. Previously a test had been taken at 7,698-7,724 feet. The tool was open three hours. Recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud and 810 feet of salt water. This failure was nine and one-half miles west of Vincent and 1,977 feet from south and 1,983 feet from west lines of section 2, block 31, T-2-N, T&P survey.

It was one and three-eighths of a mile southeast of Stanolind's No. 1 Smith, a recently completed reef lime discovery. It was two miles west of the East Vealmore field which produces from the reef lime formation.

Production Gauge Is Reported From Tom Green Wildcat

A 24-hour gauge of 22 barrels of oil through a 3/16-inch choke has been reported from La Gloria Corporation No. 1 Kent, indicated Strawn sand discovery in East-Central Tom Green County. The production was through perforations opposite the pay at 4,265-4,276 feet. Testing continued.

Superior To Plug Back For Tests In Schleicher Project

The Superior Oil Company was preparing to plug back to 5,260 feet for test of the Canyon at No. 1-72 Meador, project in the Butler (C&N) (Continued On Page Seven)

Repatriation Talks Show Progress

UN Command Suggests Rate Of 500 A Day

MUNSAN, KOREA—(P)—United Nations liaison officers Monday proposed a quick exchange of sick and wounded seven days after agreement is reached on procedure, and the Communists offered a plan which might return far more Allied prisoners than expected.

The UN Command at the first meeting of liaison officers at Panmunjom also announced it was ready to return prisoners at the rate of 500 a day.

Living Cost Drop Slashes Railway Pay

WASHINGTON—(P)—Falling retail prices Monday clipped three cents an hour from the pay checks of 1,300,000 rail workers.

The government announced that on February 15 its old-style consumer price index stood at 188.6 per cent of the 1935-39 average, enough of a drop in the cost of living from last November to bring the three-cent hourly wage reduction. Rail wages are adjusted each three months to correspond to rising or falling living costs. Monday's three-cent loss is the biggest since rail wages first were tied to the cost of living. It leaves employees with 10 cents in accumulated cost-of-living pay from previous raises based on rising index figures. The three-cent pay cut means a payroll saving for the nation's carriers estimated at $7,500,000 a month. It all but wipes out a four-cent hike awarded virtually all employees last month by a government referee. That increase was based on higher productivity per man hour. An estimated 50,000 cotton textile workers will also take a pay cut of two cents an hour because of the sharp drop in the old style index between November and February.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

AUSTIN—(P)—A bill providing for local option elections on firemen and policemen pay raises in cities passed on second reading in the Senate Monday but still faces a third and final reading.

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Eisenhower Monday nominated Arthur S. Fleming to be director of defense mobilization. Fleming now is serving as acting director. Eisenhower also sent to the Senate the nomination of James P. Mitchell of West Field, N. J. and John Slezak of Sycamore, Ill., to be assistant secretaries of the Army.

NEW YORK—(P)—Esso Standard Oil Company Monday announced an increase of 10 cents a barrel in the price of No. 6 residual fuel oil at East and Gulf Coast terminals, effective Tuesday.

Pecos Sheriff Can't Identify Slain Gunman

PECOS—Mystery shrouded the identity Monday of at least one of two gunmen slain by a kidnaped sheriff as they sped toward a roadblock near Hot Sulphur Springs, Colo., in the lawman's commandeered car.

Sheriff Chauncey Van Pelt, who shot the two men with a hidden weapon, said they carried papers belonging to Harold Dean Glass, 21, of Perry, Okla., and Roy Willard Kane, 23, of Pecos. Police believed, however, that some of the papers were not their own.

Pecos Sheriff Charley Fitzgerald, Jr., said Monday he was stymied in his identity search. "We just don't know whether it's Kane or not," he said. "Apparently the boy just lived here two or three days and then left," he continued, "because we can't find a soul who knew him or had ever heard of him."

Junk Yard Address "His address was not much help," the sheriff said. "He gave a Pecos junk yard as his address—but though there are a couple or three cabins at the yard, it's impossible to trace him from there," he explained. The cabins are used by transients who work a few days at the junk yard and move along.

The two men, both boasting they were wanted for murder in Oklahoma, died during a running gun battle as a blinding snowstorm raged near Hot Sulphur Springs, Colo. The 44-year-old sheriff who fired the fatal shots told this story: He was investigating a report that an auto driven by the youthful pair had slid into a ditch near Hot Sulphur Springs. The car, he said, was stolen the night before at Medicine Bow, Wyo.

Death Of Farmer Van Pelt was seized and forced into his car as the two men returned to the stalled auto with a wrecker from Granby, 10 miles east of Hot Sulphur Springs. The driver of the wrecker alerted other officers and the wild chase followed. Van Pelt said he was forced into the back seat and as they sped along toward the roadblock ahead he diverted their attention with a shouted warning about the block. Then he grabbed a 32 special automatic from inside his jacket and shot both men in the head. He seized the wheel, climbed into the front seat and braked the speeding car to a stop just short of the roadblock.

Fingerprints of the two were sent to the Oklahoma City crime bureau, where it was found they were linked with the March 23 holdup slaying near Lamont, Okla., of Harold Cruise, 44-year-old farmer. Midlanders Elect Mayor, Three Councilmen Tuesday

Midland voters will go to the polls Tuesday to select a mayor and three City Council members from a field of 10 candidates, believed to be the largest in the city's history.

With interest centering around the three City Council races, City Secretary J. C. Hudman predicted Monday that voting will be heavy, probably exceeding the almost 3,000 votes cast in the city election a year ago.

J. W. McMillen, independent oil operator and former city councilman, is unopposed in his race for the mayoralty job. But the three council posts have attracted a field of nine candidates, who were making an active last-minute appeal to the voters Monday.

The four polling places will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. and all voters were urged by Hudman to present their poll tax receipts at the polling places. The election will be conducted at the following places:

North Suburban Fire Station at Edwards Street and Golf Course Road, with Otis Ligon as election judge.

South Suburban Fire Station at Baird and New Jersey Streets with J. L. Kendrick as election judge.

Girl Scout Little House in the 1100 block of West Washington Street with J. W. Thorne as election judge.

Midland Youth Center at 806 West Illinois Street with Mrs. Allen Tolbert as election judge.

The three members of the City Council, who will succeed three present members not seeking reelection, are elected by the city at large.

Place No. 1, now held by Councilman J. B. McCoy, is being sought by four candidates—Hugh McCullough, R. A. Estes, Jack Petosky and Joe Bill Pierce.

Place No. 2, now held by Councilman R. B. (Bum) Cowden, has attracted three candidates—John Ed Cooper, George Hells and R. C. Maxson.

Place No. 3, now held by Councilman J. W. (Johnny) Starr, is being sought by two candidates—John M. Hills and Clifton Wilderstein.

Mayor Perry Pickett, who is not seeking reelection, Monday urged all Midland voters to take part in Tuesday election.

Easter Rains Pepper Texas, But Midland Gets Only Trace

More welcome showers peppered the Permian Basin Easter Sunday but Midland received only a trace of rain following the Saturday night short-lived downpour of 35 inch.

Big Spring, though, received 7.1 inch Sunday accompanied by a pounding hailstorm, while Northwest Texas felt the fury of tornado winds.

The picture here Monday night and Tuesday should be partly cloudy with a 15-mile-an-hour wind from the Southwest Monday night.

Farmers and water conservationists in most parts of Texas welcomed the Easter rainstorms which added precious inches to the season's rainfall and alleviated drought conditions and fears.

For the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. Monday these official readings were recorded: Sherman 2.97, Muenster 1.75, Denton 1.47, Pilot Point 1.35, Farmersville 1.50, Celina 1.30, Abilene 94, Amarillo .04, Austin 13, Big Spring 71, Dallas 35, Houston 10, Waco 24, Fort Worth 44, Galveston .58, Wichita Falls 1.19, Texarkana 1.72, Lubbock 35, Lufkin 32, Childress 12, Mineral Wells .58, Junction .01, Tyler .76, Dalhart .02, Little Elm 1.04, Mary's Creek .51, Anna 1.14, and a trace at Beaumont, College Station, Palacios and Salt Flat.

Points reporting to the Associated Press Monday forenoon were: Bonham 2.49 inches—the heaviest rainfall since May 18 last year; Corsicana 31, Richland 1.00, Frost 27, hail damage at Dawson; Sherman 2.90, 75 at at Electra and 1.42 at Mt. Pleasant.

A violent wind that looked like a tornado to many flailed Eastland, in Northwest Texas, uprooting large trees and knocking hundreds of telephones out of order.

Heavy hail and almost three inches of rain accompanied the storm that also struck the Eastland suburb of Marton Valley.

Completion of detailed plans for the Big Spring Street underpass project, including the widening of Big Spring Street from Wall to Florida Streets, was announced Monday by S. C. Dougherty, senior resident engineer for the State Highway Department.

"The plans will be forwarded to the district office at Pecos," said Dougherty, "and after any recommended changes, will be sent on to Austin."

The project probably will be included in the June lettings of the State Highway Department with construction estimated to require about eight months.

Completion of the plans was disclosed as Dougherty turned them over to the city for signing by Mayor Perry Pickett.

The plans call for a 900-foot-long excavation, beginning at a point between Kentucky and Indiana Streets on the north and ending at New York Street on the south.

The underpass will have a clearance of 14.5 feet, which will permit ordinary truck travel beneath the Texas and Pacific Railway Company tracks and North and South Front Streets.

The underpass itself will have two 28-foot roadways separated by an

Conkling Named Grand Jury Head

Russell C. Conkling, chief geologist for the Plymouth Oil Company, was named foreman of a new Midland County grand jury sworn in Monday before Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton in 70th District Court.

The grand jury immediately went into executive session with District Attorney Warren Burnett and a 10 County Attorney Reagan Legg.

Other members of the grand jury include John F. Younger, John B. Mills, Weslee, Martin, Paul McHargue, John Dublin, Jr., C. J. Kelly, F. E. Swenson, P. J. Lea, E. A. Wahlstrom, O. W. Stice and O. H. Jones.

Auto Crash Kills Midland Farmer

L. Munoz, 52, identified as a Midland farmer, died in Big Spring early Monday from injuries suffered when his automobile overturned three times near the Howard County city.

Funeral arrangements were pending at noon. The accident occurred on U. S. Highway 87 at the Garden City road turnout. One of two men riding with Munoz received minor injuries.

Survivors include the widow of Coahoma and a son, of Midland.

Completion of detailed plans for the Big Spring Street underpass project, including the widening of Big Spring Street from Wall to Florida Streets, was announced Monday by S. C. Dougherty, senior resident engineer for the State Highway Department.

The underpass itself will have two 28-foot roadways separated by an eight-foot-wide island. Five-foot sidewalks for pedestrian traffic will be built on each side.

The underpass will be illuminated, and lighting plans are now being designed by the Texas Electric Service Company.

Also included in the plans is an interchange system to permit the flow of traffic off North Front Street to Big Spring Street.

This interchange includes the widening to 65 feet of Marfield Street from North Front to Indiana Street and Indiana Street from Marfield to Colorado Street.

County Judge Clifford C. Keith reported last week that the acquisition of the necessary right-of-way had been completed with the filing of condemnation proceedings against the lone remaining piece of property.

Texarkana Blaze Razes Feed Store

TEXARKANA.—(AP)—Fire broke out in a feed store early Monday and threatened the east end of Texarkana's main business section before being brought under control. The blaze was confined to the Evergreen Feed Store, a half-block-long building, despite a series of explosions in the structure which threatened to spread the flames. The feed store was destroyed. William R. Teel, one of the owners, estimated the loss at $75,000. The fire started in the east end of the building and was first discovered by taxicab drivers. Shortly after the fire was reported an explosion, presumably caused by accumulated gas, blew out the back wall of the building. Several other lesser explosions followed. There were no reports of injuries.

54 Educators Duck Queries On Communist Party Ties

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Congressional investigators searching for Reds in schools and colleges have found 54 educators or former educators who refused to answer questions about possible Communist links. More than half of them, 29, have been fired or suspended. In addition, two Harvard University students likewise have declined to answer inquiries about possible Red ties.

SHE'S REALLY "KIDDING"—The goats on the C. H. Davis farm don't fool around, but they're great kidders. Goats usually have one or two kids at a time, but "Betsy," shown above with her new family, had quadruplets. The week before, "Nanny," another goat on the Davis farm, had triplets.

The educators have been connected with public and private schools, a teachers union, and some 17 colleges and universities concentrated in the East—particularly in New York City. But the investigators say Communist infiltration of schools has been on a nation-wide scale and that evidence of that will pile up as they go along. The figures given a reporter Monday cover only persons questioned in open sessions of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and the House Un-American Activities Committee.

They embrace men and women who have been on the faculties of Harvard, Boston, Columbia, Rutgers, New York, Temple, Ohio State, Howard, and Oklahoma Universities; Brooklyn, Queens, City and Hunter Colleges. The figures also cover persons who have been associated with public schools in Los Angeles, in Boston, Springfield and Somerville, Mass., and with public and private schools in New York City. Make Fifth Amendment All who have refused to acknowledge or deny Communist Party membership or ties have invoked the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which says nobody can be required to testify against himself. Although members of the two committees concede it is no admission of guilt for anyone to seek the protection of the Fifth Amendment, they obviously look with suspicion on an individual who uses it. Numerous schools, moreover, are dismissing or suspending faculty members who refuse to answer questions about communism. Firing is automatic in New York City under a provision of the City Charter. The 29 firings or suspensions counted so far by the staffs of the two committees omit several persons who retired or resigned at about the time they were to be summoned as witnesses.

VISITED IN ABILENE Johnnie Lamona was a weekend visitor in Abilene with her mother, Mrs. Clare Lamona.

Evelyn Keyes Will Boss Films And Star Herself In Europe

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Exclusively Yours: Ida Lupino proved it could be done and now here comes Evelyn Keyes with plans to pop out as a lady producer of films. Evelyn, back in Hollywood to co-star with John Payne in "Cross-town" after an absence of almost two years, is setting up the Evelyn Keyes Company for production of a telefilm series and feature pictures to star herself in Europe. Here's Evelyn's explanation for taking a run-out powder on Hollywood and gadding about Europe: "I just found out there was another place besides Hollywood. I didn't know this before. I got a complete new perspective on life. I found out how to live, discovered peace and relaxation."

Orson Welles wants back into the U. S. and he has a Hollywood attorney paying the way. The gimmick: An hour-long television show with the deal calling for the network and the sponsors to pay Orson's back income taxes. Spiciest new film of 1953 will be "Change Partners," a force about two bored wives who get divorced and swap husbands. The film will be produced by Jerry Thomas' next after completing "Combat." One of the dolls is a French war bride and Jerry is paying Corinne Calvet and husband John Bromfield for the picture.

Talking to San Goldwyn about a contract zippy Peggy Mahey asked him what picture he had in mind for her. Goldwyn mentioned, "The Great American Pastime." "But you'll never be able to make a picture out of that," flipped Peggy. "Oh you don't understand," blushed Sam. "It's about baseball."

Ida Lupino's in the middle of a real-life suspense story of her own with threatening calls she's been receiving since a pre-release showing of her new film, "The Hitchhiker." She's notified police of post-midnight telephone threats from one man who informed her that she would be sorry she ever made the picture.

Robert Donat, in retirement because of chronic asthma for several years, will return to the footlights at the Old Vic in London as co-star with Richard Burton and Claire Bloom in "Hamlet."

The local grapevine at MGM is gyrating with the message that the studio will attempt to borrow Betty Grable from Fox to star in "The Ruth Etting Story." La Grable is very willing.

Lana Turner — and maybe Lex Barker — will light down in Portugal or Spain for a dose of the quiet life before she begins her MGM flicker, "The Flesh and the Flame." It's 18 months abroad for Lana, who needs the money.

John Archer and Marjorie Lord will ask the judge to cancel their interlocutory divorce decree. Their kiddies dress them together again. Joan Crawford's singing voice will be unveiled for the first time in years when Dinah Shore's new radio show hits the air. Terry Moore and Nicky Hilton had a fight at a party tossed by Terry and Nicky stormed out vowing that he was thorough.

Decca's "Call Me Madam" album will use voices from the sound track of the film, but Vera-Ellen's name will be absent from the billing. Her songs were dubbed by Carole Richards and it's Carole who will get the vocalizing credit on the records.

Ricardo Montalban won't be leaving MGM for at least eight months. That's when his option is due. Ernest Hemingway is insisting on being hired as the screenplay writer or being given script approval say so in the event that his "The Old Man and the Sea" is sold to Hollywood. Leland Hayward is bidding on the slim book as a Spencer Tracy starer and Fox is making counter bids.

George Montgomery, after completing a 3-D film, wailed: "Who needs actors? No one pays any attention to 'em any more. Only thing Hollywood is worried about is what's going to leave the screen and come out into the audience."

Aside to the ladies: Marilyn Monroe's now wearing a girdle to offset those nothing-underneath stories.

MRS. JOHN LEWIS VAN ZANDT

Shirley Ham, John Van Zandt Are Wed In Andrews Church

ANDREWS — In a double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. Friday in the Means Memorial Methodist Church, Shirley Nell Ham became the bride of John Lewis Van Zandt. The Rev. Raymond Van Zandt, father of the bridegroom and pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ham of Andrews. Now enrolled in a commercial school in Odessa, she was graduated from Andrews High School and attended McMurry College. The bridegroom, who has been residing with his parents in Andrews, is a senior student in Andrews High School.

The couple exchanged vows before a background arrangement of greenery, which was flanked with tall baskets of white snapdragons and spiraea. A similar bouquet was used on the organ and yellow and white snapdragons decorated the registration table.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Pat McNeil, organist, and Mrs. W. H. Griffin, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a powder-blue tulle and more wool suit with white accessories. She carried a yellow-throated white orchid to a white Bible. Betty Elmore, maid of honor, was wearing a suit of pink tulle with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Rehearsals Open For MCT Play On Joan Of Arc

The Midland Community Theater has opened rehearsals on its production of "Joan of Lorraine," Maxwell Anderson's novel and unusual play about the famous French heroine and saint.

Scheduled for six performances, the Midland production will open April 30 in the City-County Auditorium.

First produced in New York with Ingrid Bergman in the title role, "Joan of Lorraine" was praised unanimously by critics and audiences and ran for 200 performances.

Called "a rare theater event" by the New York Morning Telegram, "Joan of Lorraine" is the most recent drama based on the life of the Maid of Orleans, a life which has provided the theater with as many as 30 different plays, written by such masters of the drama as Shakespeare, Shaw, Voltaire, Schiller and Anatole France.

In the Anderson interpretation, "Joan of Lorraine" becomes more than a play about the French heroine. Through the medium of a play-within-a-play, it also is a sharp and incisive comment on present-day civilization, the state of mankind and the aspirations of people in modern times.

Well-known as a thoughtful author, Anderson's plays that probe deeply into various aspects of human behavior, "Joan of Lorraine" takes up such diverse subjects as the state of the theater, the condition of democracy and the nature of man's hopes and desires—ingeniously relating these problems to those of Joan of Arc.

'What's Cooking Week' Opened By Midland's Electric Dealers

This is "What's Cookin' Week" in Midland. Starting Monday and continuing through Friday, electric range dealers and the Texas Electric Service Company will co-operate in telling the benefits of cooking electrically. As its part in the week's observance, Texas Electric Service Company will present continuous demonstrations of electric cooking in its office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the five days. Electric range dealers also have planned special attractions.

At the electric company's office Anne Upham, home economist, will demonstrate cooking in electric ovens, on surface units and in deep well cookers. Present users of electric ranges and others who are interested in cooking electrically are invited.

"These demonstrations are designed to answer the questions of women who are not familiar with all the cooking possibilities of an electric range, and to point out the many advantages of modern electric cooking," Miss Upham said.

Demonstration Schedule
Monday's demonstration included preparation of an angel food cake, oat meal cookies, smoked picnic ham, lima beans and rice. Tuesday she will cook spice doughnuts, hot rolls and a white cake with a broiled frosting.

Wednesday's demonstration will show the preparation of hot biscuit, barbecued ground beef and an angel food cake. Thursday's cooking schedule includes doughnuts, coconut cream pie and a shrimp luncheon dish. The demonstrations will close Friday with the preparation of cheese pinwheels, biscuit, coffee cake and oatmeal cookies.

Special Glasses Worn By Muni For Movie Role

Always the perfectionist, Paul Muni had three pairs of glasses specially ground by an oculist for his role of the old music teacher in "A Song to Remember," based on the life of Chopin.

The Columbia Pictures' Technicolor movie will be shown at the Yucca Theater Wednesday and Thursday under the sponsorship of the Midland Music Club. Playing the lead roles are Cornel Wilde and Merle Oberon.

The glasses worn by Muni, smaller than those worn today, were encased in steel rims of the type used in 1830. The actor at first had plain glass fitted into the frames, but found that this hindered his normal vision.

Rather than take a chance that some action using the glass window panes would look awkward, the actor had an oculist fit him with glasses he could never use after the picture was completed.

Dollar-To-Cents Breakdown Given By Cancer Fund Head

Just how is the dollar you give to the Texas Cancer Crusade spent? Edwin Stitt, Midland director of the fund and education drive, answered that question with the following dollar-to-cents breakdown:

"First comes cancer education," he pointed out. "The education plan gets the biggest part, 37 cents. It's aim is to save lives by spreading knowledge about the disease through films, booklets, exhibits and other aids giving the true facts about cancer. It also keeps Texas doctors informed of improvements in the detection and treatment of the dread disease," Stitt said.

Then there's cancer research which gets 25 cents of every dollar. "This is Texas' share of a nation-wide search for the cause, means of control and all possible cures for cancer," Stitt explained.

Cancer patients need service and aid—and the 16 cents which goes to this cause paves the way for financial help to 12 cancer clinics in Texas. (The Midland Cancer Clinic is one of these.) Volunteer workers prepare bandages and furnish items to ease the burden of cancer patients.

Twelve cents of each dollar goes to enable the American Cancer Society to conduct its annual educational and membership Texas Cancer Crusade.

And the last nine cents is used to supervise and administer the work of the American Cancer Society, both in Texas and nationally.

Mrs. Paton Howard of Midland, cancer society lay director for District 2, urged Midlanders to explore the cancer program and aid in its work. More details of the cancer control program may be obtained from the Crusade Mass Distribution Leaflet, pamphlets describing the American Cancer Society, or directly from the state office.

Midlanders may contact Mrs. William Pennebacker, county educational chairman, for information about the cancer program and speakers who will tell of the society's work and aims.

Search Continues For Three Missing In Boat Blast, Fire

BEAUMONT—(AP)—A patrol searched the Lower Neches River Monday for three men missing since their shattered, burned boat hull was found south of here Saturday.

The missing are Dr. Royce Leroy, about 45, and Dr. T. N. Halton, 55, both chemists at Texas A&M College. With them was Elmo Daumie, 32, employee of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. here. Daumie was operating the rented cruiser while the scientists made tests of Neches River water for a new sulphur recovery plant.

An air and ground search on both banks of the marshy lands near the Gulf Sunday failed to reveal any sign of the three. Both banks were searched carefully for any indication the men had reached shore.

The chemists' car still was in the parking lot at the sulphur company.

Officers said they believed any survivors of the fire and apparent explosion on the boat would have made their way out of the river bottoms by late Sunday night.

A helicopter, several planes, 11 boats and searchers on foot discovered nothing.

The boat was only a hulk when found stranded on an island in the river. At that point the river is about 600 feet wide and 40 feet deep with marshes on either side.

Damage Suits From Texas City Tragedy Reach Arguments In U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Supreme Court was to hear arguments Monday on the question whether the United States must pay damage claims totaling some 200 million dollars as a result of the Texas City disaster of 1947.

More than 500 persons were killed, about 3,000 were injured, and some 50 million dollars property damage was caused when a freighter loaded with fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate exploded in the Texas City harbor.

The fertilizer was to have been used in a government program of aid to areas devastated during World War II.

The disaster led to the filing of approximately 300 legal actions against the U. S. by about 8,500 claimants.

U. S. Lost First Ruling

They charged the U. S. was negligent in the handling of the chemical and sought damages under terms of the federal tort claims act. That act imposes liability on the U. S. for "the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the government while acting within the scope of his office or employment."

In the first decision of the case, U. S. District Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston ruled the claimants were entitled to judgment. He blamed the federal government for "blunders, mistakes and acts of negligence."

The U. S. Circuit Court in New Orleans later overruled Judge Kennerly. It said the suits could not be filed under the tort claims act.

The appeal to the highest tribunal contends the circuit court should not have taken into consideration Texas law dealing with negligence and then should have ruled that the U. S. was liable.

Negligence Charged

The appeal referred to the explosion of "an ultra-hazardous material" as being caused by "negligent and wrongful acts and omissions" by federal employees.

The Justice Department in a preliminary reply brief asked that the circuit's decision be upheld. The brief asserted Judge Kennerly's "sweeping" findings against the government were "defective on their face and stemmed from prejudicial error."

"The evidence," said the department's brief, "not only fails to establish negligence on the part of employees of the United States, but proves the negligence of others which readily accounts for the configuration that set in motion the unknown forces resulting in the explosion."

The Justice Department said the record showed longshoremen and members of the crew of the nitrate-laden vessel were smoking near the cargo when the fire was first discovered.

The Supreme Court granted a total of six hours to hear arguments.

Teachers To Invade Austin As State Budget Shapes Up

AUSTIN—(AP)—A joint legislative committee Monday again took up the delicate task of balancing state spending against income as pressure for teachers pay boosts mounted.

Hundreds of teachers are expected to invade the Capitol Tuesday when the House Appropriations Committee considers three separate pay boost bills at 2:30 p.m.

The House-Senate conference committee on appropriations, weary after several day and night sessions behind closed doors, took a short Easter recess, then got back on the job Monday.

The House remained in recess until Tuesday for the Easter vacation, but the Senate tackled its calendar again in solo session.

No Quick Action Seen

A spokesman for the conference committee on money was not optimistic about when it could finish its work.

Senator Otis Lock of Lufkin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, would only say he hoped the job could be finished this week. He could not say when.

With his statement, chances for immediate consideration of the "must" big money bill faded. The conference committee report—after all the arguments are over—must be processed by clerks, then be in the hands of House members for 48 hours, Senators 24 hours, before it can be debated.

Outlook for a showdown on it was considered dim under the circumstances.

Six Million Difference

The committee is trying to adjust differences between the House's $60.2 million dollar general spending bill and the Senate's $66.2 million dollar measure. The committee hopes to report a bill well within revenue sighted for the next two years.

The House and Senate may either accept or reject the conference report. If it is rejected, then a new committee must be named to start from scratch.

Fireworks this week should be touched off in the House committee hearing on the teacher pay boosts.

It has before it one measure to boost salaries $600 a year, another $504 a year, another for $240.

Kilgore's Bill Favored

The latter, by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen, is regarded as the one favored by Governor Shivers. It also includes revision of the public school fiscal set-up to shift more burden on local communities. That is expected to be the focal point of argument.

A $600 pay raise bill by Senator A. M. Alkin, Jr., of Paris, has been approved by Senate committee. It is on the calendar, waiting for clearance of the general appropriation bill.

Because of the expected delay in the appropriation bill report, a floor showdown on the teachers pay measure is not expected until next week.

AFL-CIO Merger Prospects Look Dim

WASHINGTON—(AP)—New talks to explore the idea of merging the AFL and the CIO open here Tuesday, but prospects for early success don't appear to be bright.

Informed officials of both of the big organizations of labor unions say that conflicting views which led to the breakup of previous similar unity efforts have not been resolved.

The talks are the first to be held on the subject under the leadership of AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther.

Byers Goes Thirsty Again As Donated Well Runs Dry

BYERS—(AP)—This was Blue Monday for Mayor J. Milton Dunn whose high hopes for an emergency water supply were fading with a drying spring.

This little Northwest Texas town had water Sunday after volunteers contributed and laid a two-mile pipe line from the spring of a neighboring farmer.

But the severe water shortage appeared relieved only temporarily.

"Now, it looks like the spring won't hold up," Dunn sadly told

The Associated Press. "If it runs dry, we're right back where we started."

The water problems of Byers reached a crisis Friday when mains for 542 residents were shut down completely. The reservoir was dry. Only a small amount of water was held for fire fighting. Water for cooking and drinking had to be hauled.

Then nearby cities and towns heard of Byers' plight. Volunteers furnished pipe, a pump and labor to bring water from a spring on the stock farm of Joe Payne. Enough water was pumped into the reservoir to give at least a trickle from most faucets late Saturday night.

But the mayor said, "It isn't going to be enough." He added that the spring appeared to be drying up.

Dunn said he could see only one other chance for a water supply. He said the town might clean up an old spring on his father's ranch. That would mean tearing up and moving 11,000 feet of pipe from the Payne Springs.

"Maybe we can get enough from it to last until it rains," Dunn said. "But then sometimes it looks like a good rain just skips this part of the country."

BLACKS WRONG EYE—Dallasite Learns About 'Hick Cop'

A 20-year-old Dallas man learned something Saturday night about Midland's "hick cops."

A Midland youth complained to police Saturday night that three men had been following him and had threatened "to kill me."

Lt. Billy Patterson of the detective division accompanied the youth and finally found the trio in the 200 block of North O Street.

"What's going on here?" asked Lieutenant Patterson.

"None of your damned business," answered one of the men.

"Now, just a minute," answered the detective, "I'm a police officer." "I don't care," answered the man, "I'm from Dallas and no hick cop from West Texas is going to take me in."

With that he took a wild swing at Lieutenant Patterson, connecting with the bridge of his nose and leaving him with a beautiful shiner.

That's where he made his mistake.

Lieutenant Patterson is a former professional boxer and there was nothing to do but retaliate with a condensed lesson in the fine art of self defense.

The Dallas man apologized as he was booked at police headquarters on a charge of drunkenness and assaulting an officer.

NEW KREMLIN PURGE ALREADY UNDERWAY?

Russians Blame Obscure Deputy In Doctors' Plot

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW—Pravda Monday put the finger on an obscure deputy minister of state security as the culprit who faked the murder case against 15 Soviet doctors. It also blasted the Security Ministry's chief for being taken in by the false evidence.

The Communist Party organ said the culprit—identified as one Ryumin—was under arrest. It charged his superior, former Minister of State Security S. Ignatiev, with "political blindness and gullibility" and denounced a commission of medical experts in the case for making "incorrect conclusions."

The prominent doctors, accused last January of plotting against Soviet leaders and having caused the deaths of two, were ordered freed Saturday in a surprise move by the new Internal Affairs Ministry headed by L. P. Beria, first deputy premier in the Soviet government.

This was the first word the West had that Ignatiev had been security minister early this year. He was not further identified by Pravda, but it is possible he is Seymour Ignatiev, recently elevated to one of the highest positions in the Soviet hierarchy—a seat on the firmament Secretariat of the Communist Party's powerful Central Committee. If such a ranking leader is under attack, a purge already may be stirring up within the Kremlin itself.

'Fell Down On Job'

The Pravda article, a lead editorial, declared that "leaders of the former Ministry of State Security fell down on the job." It explained: "Former Minister of State Security S. Ignatiev manifested political blindness and gullibility and turned out to be led around by such criminal adventurers as former Deputy Minister Ryumin, who was chief of the investigatory section which was immediately in charge of the investigation and acted as a secret enemy of our state and our people and who is now arrested."

When the doctors were arrested, it was charged they had prescribed faulty medical treatment and caused the deaths of two prominent leaders—Andrei A. Zhdanov, a leading Politburo member, who died in 1948 at the age of 52, and Alexander Shcherbakov, who died in 1945 at 44.

It was announced upon the doctors' release that they had been accused falsely and that persons responsible for "incorrect conduct of the investigations" had been arrested and brought to justice.

Pravda said, "Ryumin and certain other workers of the Ministry of State Security, for their criminal purposes, went so far as to commit crude violations of Soviet legality up to direct falsification of materials of accusation."

Fake Evidence
The paper said a commission of medical experts "let itself be influenced" by the fake evidence and "supported slanderous accusations against a number of outstanding leaders of medicine."

It noted that the investigators had "concealed from experts certain essential sides of curative procedures which proved the correctness of the healing used." The paper concluded, however, that the commission, by giving an incorrect conclusion, "fell down on its job."

Pravda pointed out that the government boldly had revealed faults in the state machinery, was uprooting these faults, and in doing so was reporting directly to the people.

"This," concluded the paper, "demonstrates the great strength of the Soviet structure."

Secret Servicemen, Postal Officers Seek 'Poison Pen' Scribe

HARRISBURG, PA.—Secret Servicemen and postal inspectors still were looking Monday for a known writer of threatening letters in connection with threats against the lives of President Eisenhower and Leo A. Werner, Harrisburg postmaster.

The handwriting on a page and a half letter received about two weeks ago by Werner led officials to search for Albert J. Drevney, about 35, a former Washington State Hospital patient.

The letter was mailed from Lancaster, where Drevney was seen about three weeks ago.

Drevney "has a long history of writing threatening letters which never really amount to anything," said Fred Gruber, Secret Service agent in charge at Philadelphia. Gruber is conducting the investigation in the case.

However, a Secret Service circular circulated to postal authorities described Drevney as an escapee from Washington State Hospital who is "considered dangerous."

Frank Creedon, Harrisburg post office inspector, said the handwriting on the letter received by Werner matched Drevney's. Drevney is a former resident of Vancouver, Wash., San Francisco and Denver.

Gruber guessed Drevney may still be in Eastern Pennsylvania "but there is no way of knowing."

Crippled Superfort Makes Safe Landing

HONOLULU—Hundreds of witnesses held their breath Sunday as Air Force Capt. Robert B. Mandib crash-landed a U. S. B-29 Superfort at Hickam Air Force Base after circling the field for four hours with a locked landing gear.

None of the 11 crewmen was injured.

The big bomber landed on its left landing wheel and nose wheel, pancaked and veered off the runway. It did not catch fire.

The Superfort, attached to the 307th Bomb Wing of the Strategic Air Command, was enroute to the Far East from Travis Air Force Base, northeast of San Francisco.

Senators Resume Tidelands Debate

WASHINGTON—The Senate, after a three-day Easter weekend, resumed debate Monday on a bill to establish state title to submerged lands off the coastal states.

The land, rich in oil, has been in dispute since the Supreme Court ruled in three cases that the federal government holds paramount rights to it. The states primarily involved are California, Texas and Louisiana.

The House has passed a somewhat similar bill, and President Eisenhower has indicated he will sign it. A Senate vote is not expected before next week.

Senators got only Good Friday off, in addition to the usual recess on Saturday and Sunday. The House adjourned last Thursday until next Monday.

Additional "friendly" gestures included easing of traffic controls between Berlin and West Germany; a speed-up of trade permits for West Berlin goods shipped through Soviet zone to West Germany; and Russian pressure on North Korea, resulting in freeing of 21 French and British civilians. He is wanted in a series of some 40 burglaries that have alarmed ranchers here for almost a week. Some of the men moved their wives and families to town rather than leave them in lonely ranch houses. Kerrville radio stations warned citizens to stay in their homes at night and lock their cars.

Seven new bloodhounds were flown in from the Huntsville penitentiary and led the posse of more than 80 men into the canyon. Automobiles, horses and airplanes have been used in the search.

155-pound youth has roamed up and down the Guadalupe River within the city limits. Before coming here he lived in Summer homes in the Medina Lake area, taking clothing and valuables and leaving notes. He is wanted in Texas, Kerr and Benders Counties on charges of burglary and stealing horses and cars.

He ran from a house where he had been sitting at a table eating a sandwich. He had just taken a bath. Shots rang out as he fled, and three of the dogs dropped.

On two earlier occasions bloodhounds refused to trail him. Officers believe he had pepper in his shoes.

Easter Holiday Violence Kills At Least 22 Persons In Texas

By The Associated Press
Easter weekend violence killed at least 22 persons in Texas with 15 of them dead in traffic accidents.

Four died in an East Texas lake when a motorboat overturned, spilling a Dallas man and seven children.

Another boating mishap on the Neches River below Beaumont Saturday may have cost three lives. An intensive search of the marshy river banks failed to turn up any trace of survivors after a rented cruiser burned to the waterline. They were not included in the total dead.

Three young children and a Dallas man drowned in a lake near Colfax in East Texas Saturday when a speeding motorboat overturned. John Ryan Allen, 34, had taken his daughter, Pamela, four and six other youngsters for a ride on Loves Lake, 50 miles west of Tyler. The boat flipped over in a turn. Allen and his daughter drowned while trying to swim 200 yards to shore. Alice Graham, six, Allen's niece, of Colfax, and Louis Williams, four, of Colfax, also drowned.

The missing men in the Neches River accident were Dr. Royce LeRoy, about 45, and T. H. Halton, 55, both chemists at Texas A&M College, and Elmo Daunie, 32, employee of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company, Beaumont.

Others killed included: A car-truck crash Sunday on U. S. Highway 80 near Marshall during a rainstorm killed Wallace Henry Beyen, about 18, of Cottonport, La.

Government Active In Effort To Stem Cattle Price Decline

WASHINGTON—P—An Agriculture Department official has written Representative Wickersham (D-Okla.) that the agency "has acted without delay" in connection with the cattle price decline.

Wickersham had forwarded to the department a letter from a constituent concerning the recent slump in cattle trade.

Acting Secretary True D. Morse told Wickersham the department had been working in close cooperation with agricultural committees of Congress and had taken the lead in recommending the lifting of price controls on livestock and meat.

"The military services are cooperating in the effect in the advance purchase of beef," Morse wrote. "We also are working with retailers and other distributors in efforts to increase the consumption of meat."

"Representatives from all segments of cattle and beef industry have participated with us in working out additional means that may be most helpful to producers in dealing with cattle price, marketing and credit programs."

Morse said the decline in prices of cattle and a number of other farm commodities originated several months ago. Prices of farm products generally have been dropping about two years, he added.

Multitude Of Tots Chases Easter Eggs On White House Lawn

WASHINGTON—P—Easter eggs, followed by small children and adult chaperones, coursed down the White House lawn Monday for the first time in 12 years.

The multitude—it was more than 50,000 last time—had free reign from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the traditional "egg roll" frolic.

The custom, apparently peculiar to Washington, dates to somewhere back in the 19th Century. There are no rules: Roll them through things, around things, under things or just roll them.

The Eisenhower grandchildren—David, five, Anne, four, and Susie, one—got a hand from Grandma Saturday in dyeing their eggs for the big event.

Sunday their mother, Mrs. John Eisenhower, accompanied President and Mrs. Eisenhower and the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, to Easter services at the National Presbyterian Church.

David and Anne went along, too, to attend Sunday school.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2-TX1 has been completed as a new producer in the Tex-Harvey sector of the Spraberry Trend Area in Southeast Midland County.

The new oil well is about 25 miles southeast of the city of Midland and 990 feet from north and east lines of section 41, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.

On potential test it flowed 24 hours through a 24 64th inch tubing choke and made 146.26 barrels of 39.2 gravity oil, plus 20 per cent water.

Washed With Acid
Gas-oil ratio was 503-1. The pay section had been washed with 1,000 gallons of mud acid.

The project drilled to a bottom of 8,078 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 8,058 feet. That pipe was perforated at 7,080-7,195 feet and at 7,922-8,000 feet. Each of the perforated intervals had been fractured with 3,000 gallons.

Sharples Project In Andrews Drills Deeper Into Bend

Sharples Oil Corporation and associates No. 1-A Sharples-Means, East-Central Andrews County wildcat several miles east of the town of Andrews failed to find any possibilities of commercial production in the top of the Bend (Permian) time, despite the fact that it is high geologically on that formation.

The prospector topped the Bend at 11,264 feet, on a datum of minus 8.165 feet. That is 137 feet high to the top of the same formation in the center of the Maguire-Elienburg field, four miles to the east.

The Sharples wildcat ran a one and one-half hour drillstem test in the bend at 11,261-320 feet. Recovery was 172 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud. There were no signs of oil or of formation water.

One flowing bottom hole pressure was between 60 pounds and 290 pounds.

No shut-in bottom hole pressure was reported. The project is making hole below 11,416 feet in Bend time. It is projected to 14,500 feet to explore the Elienburg.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 16, block 3, psi survey.

Pennsylvanian DST Fails In NW Howard

B. L. McFarland Drilling Company, Inc., and Texas Crude Company were drilling below 8,410 feet in shale after failing to develop shows of oil in the Pennsylvanian reef at No. 1-25 Jones wildcat in Northwest Howard County.

Drillite test was taken from 8,308 to 8,353 feet. Tool was open one hour. Recovery was 80 feet of drilling mud.

The project is scheduled for an 8,500-foot bottom.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 35, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey.

Some Oil Shows Are Logged In Crockett

D. D. Thomas of San Angelo No. 1 Mrs. Alfred E. Luckett, wildcat in Northeast Crockett County, logged shows of possible production in the Toborg sand.

The shows were in drilling samples.

Operator was preparing to set casing and try to complete as a producer and new field opener.

Total depth is 1,218 feet. After pipe is run, it will be perforated opposite the section at 740-760 feet. Top of the Toborg was picked at 740 feet, elevation 2,510 feet.

Drillite is 330 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 62, block GH.

Kewanee Plugs Dry Wildcat In Chaves

Twelve miles southeast of Roswell and in Central Chaves County, Kewanee Oil Company has abandoned No. 1 DeKalb-Federal.

The project, which was drilled to total depth of 6,278 feet in the Eldenburg, had gas shows in the section from 6,068-6,078 in the Devonian.

Location was 735 feet from south and 680 feet from west lines of section 25-11a-26e.

Location was 735 feet from south and 680 feet from west lines of section 25-11a-26e.

STILL HUNTING EASTER EGGS

BETHESDA, MD. —P— The parents of four-year-old Scott Rigby, Jr., found him missing when they checked his bedroom about 3 a.m. Monday.

They searched the house and then with the help of friends scoured the neighborhood. Finally, Papa Rigby, a lawyer, called police.

The police went to work and found the boy—peacefully sleeping under his father's bed.

Mrs. Rigby's comment: The Easter excitement must have upset him.

Repatriation—

was made and the Communists were "very objective."

The UN also asked the Reds for the number of Allied prisoners they are willing to return. The Reds said they would supply the number but they took no action immediately on the UN nine-point plan.

Rear Adm John C. Daniel, chief UN liaison officer, said of Monday's meeting:

"The attitude of the Communists was very objective. I'd say distinct progress was made in that we met and exchanged views. I feel that we have made progress."

"Good Faith" Attitude
While Daniel said distinct progress was made, he would not say the talks were off to a good start.

"Our attitude," he said, "is to take the Communists in good faith, and this liaison group will continue to do that until we have reason to the contrary, and so far no reason has arisen."

In brief the nine points he proposed govern an exchange:

1. Repatriation of sick and wounded captured personnel of both sides at Panmunjom.

2. The exchange would begin within seven days after the procedure is agreed upon.

3. The UN would deliver 500 captured personnel daily at Panmunjom until the exchange is completed.

4. The captured personnel to be exchanged would be divided into groups of 25 each, registered by nationality, name, rank and serial number.

5. A representative of the receiving side would sign a receipt for each group accepted.

6. Motor and rail convoys would be guaranteed freedom from air attacks while moving toward Panmunjom.

7. Motor convoys would be limited to 10 vehicles each and move in daylight. (b) Each vehicle would be clearly marked. (c) Bivouac areas and stopovers would be reported in advance.

8. Liaison groups would have free access to the Panmunjom neutral area, but would be limited to 300 personnel on each side, including the prisoners being delivered.

9. Officers would be appointed to arrange for administrative procedure.

10. A termination date for the exchange would be set when the head of each liaison group signs the agreement.

If the agreed upon exchange of sick and wounded POW's is completed to the satisfaction of UN Command, Gen. Mark Clark, he has indicated he will agree to a reopening of the full-scale armistice negotiations as suggested March 30 by Red China's Premier, Chou En-Lai.

It was a school holiday here and throughout the Permian Basin Empire and the youngsters could and did accompany their parents on the Dollar Day shopping spree.

Business was good in practically all stores, and in some of them clerks were hard-pressed in taking care of the rush, which started early and continued through the morning.

Spring merchandise of all kinds was featured in the Dollar Day specials.

Seven minutes later, its sound was hit Las Vegas with a resounding crack.

The 77-year-old Adenauer came for a round of important conferences with President Eisenhower and other government officials. The talks may center on the Soviet "peace" drive's impact on European unity.

Expressing gratitude for America's "help and kindness," to Germany, he said: "Very rarely in past history has a victorious people stretched out a helpful hand to the vanquished, as you have done."

Adenauer, who goes to Washington Tuesday, will be in this country 13 days.

He said he plans visits at universities here and in Chicago, and plans to fly to the West Coast "to get some idea of the magnitude of your country."

Chinese Ammo Dump Explosion Kills 43 Persons, Hurts 500

TAIPEH, FORMOSA —P— An ammunition dump five miles south of here exploded with an earthquake-like jolt Monday, killing 43 persons and injuring an estimated 500.

The blast occurred when a 12-man detail attempted to remove TNT from a World War I Japanese aerial bomb. The workers were blown to bits.

Police arrested the foreman of the dump.

The echoing blast knocked down an adjacent explosives factory, damaged nearby farm houses and shattered window panes in a mile-radius. Taipei, the Chinese National capital, shook as though jolted by a sharp quake.

Damage was estimated at more than $400,000.

The dump, a dismantling plant, contained Japanese serial bombs and explosives of World War I vintage, plus ammunition which the Nationalist Chinese brought to Formosa from the mainland. TNT was being removed from the explosives for non-military uses.

Youths Sought In Rape Case Found In Bexar County Jail

HOUSTON —P— FBI agents said Monday two Houston youths, object of a month-long Texas-Mexico police search, have been in a San Antonio jail since mid-March.

George Huntress, chief sheriff's deputy at San Antonio, said Parrish was arrested March 20 under the name Henry Ramirez on charges of burglary and theft. Huntress said Esquibel was arrested March 13 on a charge of theft over $50.

Fugitive warrants charging flight to avoid prosecution were filed here March 16 by the FBI after information indicated Parrish and Esquibel may have fled to Mexico.

LANDS SAKES!
WITHOUT ADVERTISING,
WHERE WOULD WE BE!
Advertising is the Spark Plug of Business,
And Good Business is What Makes Good, Steady Work!
WHEN you read the advertising in this issue—wherever you read or hear advertising—remember this:
Advertising's job is to sell goods. Poor sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear and worry all through the family. Good sales mean steady work, pay increases, promotions, peace of mind for all.
For when advertising sells goods, there's just naturally more work to be done. In the factory that makes the goods. In the mines and on the farms that produce the raw materials. In the transportation lines, stores and businesses that handle the goods. Yes, and in the banks, insurance companies, machinery houses, real estate firms, builders, etc., that service that factory. It's a never-ending chain.
So be grateful for advertising for bringing you fine products at good value. But most of all—thank advertising for making your job more secure.

Crop Of New Injuries Riddle Major League Clubs With Openers Week Off

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Just one week from Monday a man in blue will follow "Play ball" in Cincinnati and Washington and the 1953 major league season will be open.

The Braves, moved from Boston to Milwaukee during the training season, will be the guests of the Cincinnati Reds for the single opening game on the National League schedule. In the American League the defending World Champion New York Yankees visit Washington—where Vice President Nixon will toss out the first ball. The National League should get away first since game time in Cincinnati is 30 minutes earlier than in Washington.

All 16 clubs are due for action a week from Tuesday. In the American League it will be Philadelphia at New York, Washington at Boston, Chicago at Cleveland and Detroit at St. Louis for a night game. In the National League, St. Louis will be at Milwaukee, Cincinnati at Chicago, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

Washington suffered a serious setback Sunday when fleet-footed Gil Coan fractured his right ankle when he tried for a circus catch in an exhibition against Cincinnati at Charlotte, N. C. Coan had been banging the ball at a 375 clip this Spring. Team officials said the outfielder probably would be sidelined two months.

The St. Louis Browns, who need all the players they can get, lost one of their best ones Sunday when Catcher Clint Courtney went after a foul ball and broke the middle finger of his throwing hand. He will be out 10 days to two weeks.

The hospital lists of several of the other clubs also contain the names of men whom the managers would much prefer to have in the lineup.

Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs, the most valuable player in the National League last year, is out with a broken little finger. Roy Smalley, the Cubs' regular shortstop, entered a Chicago hospital Monday for examination of a swollen ankle which has troubled him for two weeks.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are short two first basemen. Regular Gil Hodges has been in a New York hospital with swollen feet and is due to go back for further observation and examination Tuesday.

Barber Wins Azalea, Turns To Masters

WILMINGTON, N. C. — (AP) — What a difference a week makes! Monday little Jerry Barber was worrying about accommodations at Augusta, Ga., where he will compete in the Masters Golf Tournament, opening Thursday, after winning the $10,000 Azalea Open here Sunday for his first major victory.

A week ago the Illinois native who plays out of La Canada, Calif., near Pasadena, was in the dumps. He hadn't been able to break 300 in the Greensboro Open. The little man, five-foot-five, 140 pounds, had opened the Greensboro tournament with a fat 80, then showed his heart with a second round 69.

Haney, however, announced that Midland's ballplayers would be back at work, rain or shine, Monday in order to make the most of the last three days of training here.

History Of War Shows Reds Exploit Prisoner Issue Well

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON—(AP)—More than 145,000 prisoners in the Korean war—3,198 of them Americans—were the pawns Monday in what appeared to be a giant new peace offensive directed from the Kremlin.

It isn't particularly surprising in the light of past events. Early in the Korean war, the Chinese Communists disclosed they placed a high political and propaganda value on their Allied prisoners.

It remains to be seen whether the Reds will try again—at the truce talks which resumed Monday at Panmunjom—to exploit the captives they hold.

The first indication of their attitude came in November, 1950, shortly after the Chinese entered the war to support the North Korean Army shattered by the United Nations forces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The North Koreans had used their prisoners cruelly. Americans who fell into their hands generally were treated brutally. The old rules for humane treatment of prisoners were ignored. Many Americans were massacred.

There was nothing phony about those massacre reports out of Korea. I saw massacre reports myself near the little town of Wunchoon in North Korea. Survivors who crawled out of the hills told us the story of what had happened.

A prisoner-of-war train stopped in a lonely tunnel at dusk... Red guards told the Americans they were to be given food... The prisoners walked into the fields and sat huddled in little groups waiting for their food... And the guards opened fire without warning, killing 68.

Learning Lessons
The Chinese—apparently wanting to reverse the bad propaganda effects of the atrocity stories—did a turnaround.

Late in November, in an obvious propaganda move, they released 27 Americans after trying to indoctrinate the soldiers against "American imperialism."

The Allies would not agree to this. They said to return prisoners against their will might be sending them back to certain death.

Now Red China's Premier Chou En-lai suddenly has offered to negotiate the UN proposal to exchange all prisoners. Conceivably this would give prisoners a choice as to whether they return home or not.

If the offer means what it seems to say—maybe the "pawns" will be free.

tally saying, "Nuts to you." The Reds have said they are holding 3,198 American prisoners of war, 1,000 other nationals, and 9,000 South Koreans. The UN reports holding 122,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners, among them 51,000 who insist they are anti-Communists and don't want to return home.

Riots On Koje
During the first months of the war, the hard-core Communists were penned together in prisoner stockades on Koje Island, off the coast of Korea. The most fanatical were among 6,000 kept in one compound. Here again the Communists exploited prisoners for propaganda by stirring up bloody riots at Koje.

The truce talks broke down over the Red insistence on forced repatriation of all prisoners—regardless of whether they wanted to return home or not.

To Certain Death
The Allies would not agree to this. They said to return prisoners against their will might be sending them back to certain death.

Now Red China's Premier Chou En-lai suddenly has offered to negotiate the UN proposal to exchange all prisoners. Conceivably this would give prisoners a choice as to whether they return home or not.

If the offer means what it seems to say—maybe the "pawns" will be free.

Survey May Shake Up U. S. Tax Structure

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If you want to know about taxes, ask the man who pays them.

On that theory, the Joint Senate-House Committee on Taxation sent out questionnaires to every state in the Union. Result, with more still coming in: 13,000 suggestions from 5,000 individuals.

Such bountiful help will boost the congressmen toward their goal of a composite new tax law, to replace what one of them called the present "crazy quilt" structure.

The new legislation, the first general overhaul of tax laws since 1875, should be ready for action early next year.

The questionnaires were in general agreement on one thing: Taxes are too high.

Utility Reports Give Proof Of Pecos Population Jump

PECOS—Figures released by utility companies and Pecos water department tend to serve as proof of the newly erected signs on highway entrances into Pecos showing the city with a population of 12,426.

The figures show increases in services of each company between Dec. 31, 1950 and Dec. 31, 1952.

Largest increase in service has been made by the telephone company with 631 new services installed. Company services jumped from 1,605 in 1950 to 2,236 in 1952.

Gas company services showed the second largest increase with 563 new services over the period. These increased from 2,203 in 1950 to 2,766 in 1952.

Water services came next with an increase of 515. They gained from 2,189 to 2,704.

Increase in electric services reached 490 over the period, climbing from 2,025 in 1950 to 2,515 in 1952.

John Olesby, Pecos water superintendent, also released figures on sewer connections. He pointed out that complete records had not been kept before 1950, but since then, the city has made 1,876 sewer connections.

Disarmed Officers Recover, Shoot Down Drug Store Bandit

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—A drug store bandit disarmed and threatened to kill two detectives but lost his own life when the officers made a swift recovery Sunday night.

Detectives Charles Klug and Robert Walker, answering a holdup call, split up when they saw a man entering an alley near the store.

The man hid briefly, however, then stepped out, showing a pistol against Klug and taking the corporal's gun. With Klug as a shield, the man forced Walker to give up his weapon.

He ordered both officers to the ground, saying, "I'm going to kill both you lousy..." But the sound of a police car siren apparently changed his mind.

He told the detectives to start walking, then fired once at Walker, who slipped, escaping the bullet.

Klug promptly swung at the man's face, grabbed a gun and fired six times. Walker jumped forward, took the other gun the man held and fired twice.

Police identified the slain bandit Charles L. Bay, 25, a former convict. They said he had $200 taken from the store cash register on him.

Texan Runs Army Resort Hotel Chain In Germany

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram
Special Correspondent
BERTCHESGARDEN, GERMANY
—A Texan is running a chain of resort hotels here for the Army that almost rivals the Hilton chain. He is Maj. Robert Locke.

Instead of schooling to prepare him for the operation of swank inns and ski lodges, however, the slow-talking Texan was brought here from the fighting front to Korea.

Contrasting the cold and mud of Korea with the luxurious comfort of his villas here, the major admitted:

"There's a lot of difference." The tecturn Texan probably was giving the understatement of the week.

No hotels for American uniformed men in Europe can surpass the ones which "Major Locke manages. In recreational, dining and entertainment facilities, his Bavarian hotels and ski lodges only are topped by the majestic surroundings.

The 10 hotels and three ski lodges he manages have a total capacity of 947 persons.

199,900 "Guests"
Last year, 199,900 "guests" stayed in the major's hotels.

Rates range from 75 cents to $1.50 a day for enlisted men and officers.

The major has a record any inn keeper can envy. His hotels always run from 80 to 85 per cent capacity.

While the prices are nominal—anyone would pay $15 to $50 a day for the same kind of room in Colorado, for instance—Major Locke manages to "pay our own way, because of the big volume."

Two of his hotels are requisitioned, and rent is paid to the owners for these. The others belonged to former Nazis and were confiscated.

Major Locke has civilians as managers of the hotels.

It was pointed out that a lieutenant might get a little nervous when a general checked in the hotel, but that a civilian could treat him with impunity.

Many generals, in fact, do come to Berchtesgarden Recreational Area. It is never the top brass, however, who give any trouble.

"Sometimes their wives are unhappy about the service, or the room or the food," the Texan explained.

Although he never has had hotel training, the Major seems to have a Texan's sense of chivalry.

"Usually when a woman gets mad it's not about anything real serious but something small," he explains. His policy—"agree with them."

For instance, he related about one officer's wife who had a cosmetic case with a broken mirror.

"After she got away from Berchtesgarden, she discovered the mirror on the inside of the case was broken. She claimed the man who carried her luggage must have dropped the case and broken the mirror," he related.

"I wrote her a nice letter, told her to have it repaired and send me the bill. I never did hear anymore from her," he said.

Another case was an English woman who found a hole in a cashmere sweater.

No Word From Her Either
She claimed the Berchtesgarden Hof "had moths."

Locke wrote her to have the sweater "properly inspected" and if moths caused the hole, the hotel would reimburse her for another sweater. He never heard any more from that woman, either.

Major Locke was born near Lufkin, in Manning, which formerly was a logging camp operated by the Kirby Lumber Company. He attended Lufkin High School and entered service in 1935. On July 10 of this year, he will have been in the Army 18 years.

A sports-minded man, Major Locke was island champion in javelin when he was stationed in Hawaii, and he has won a number of trophies for boxing.

In 1943, he took the district Golden Gloves teams from Beaumont to the state meet in Fort Worth. One of his men, Gene Pollett, won the state heavy weight championship.

The major's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Locke of Beaumont. He is married to the former Doris Jenson of Long Pine, Calif., and they have two children, Clifford, 11, and Deborah, 2. His family is with him in Berchtesgarden.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole extended the invitations Saturday in letters suggesting that members might be aided in "evaluating the national defense problems."

Cole, new chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, listed four dates, and said Congress members could select one of the four for a two-day trip to Nevada.

Blaze Kills Mother And Four Children

UNIONTOWN, PA.—(AP) A 35-year-old mother and four of her nine children died Sunday when an oil stove exploded in their duplex dwelling in nearby Edinboro. The father rescued the other five children with the help of a neighbor. All those saved suffered burns.

? ? WHY ? ?

- Should our Summertime water rates be so high that many Midlanders cannot afford to have lawns for their children?
- Should we have leave-outs in the paving of our down-town district?
- Should we wait until mid-Summer to begin our fly control program?
- Should our children be exposed to the dangers of typhoid and polio from open drainage ditches and improper drainage within our city limits?
- Should we furnish new annexations with water and sewer facilities before furnishing same to residents and businesses that have been paying taxes for years?
- With a population of 35,000, should it be necessary to import supervisory personnel for our various city departments?
- Should our business district be restricted to 30 minute parking?
- Is it necessary that we pay our city manager a salary equal to that of the Governor of Texas?

Casualties in Korea

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Department of Defense Monday identified the following Texas casualties in the Korean area:

Killed in action, Army: Second Lt. Cornelius C. Duff, Galveston; Pvt. Frank O. Jamerson, Dallas; Cpl. Charles L. Lundquist, Austin; Second Lt. Stanley E. Neffendorf, El Paso; Cpl. Larry E. Slaughter, Perrytown.

Wounded, Army: Pfc. James A. Boag, Alba; Pfc. Bobbie R. Cole, Austin; Pfc. Alonzo Henderson, Harwood; Pfc. William O. Merriman, Devine; Sgt. Alton F. Odom, Beaumont; Cpl. Lorenzo F. Ortiz, Victoria; Pfc. Jesse L. Rice, Madisonville; Pvt. Jesse R. Ruffin, Port Arthur.

Missing in action Marine Corps: Capt. Dee E. Ezell, Fort Worth.

BEJEWELED TEETH

Ancient Mexicans occasionally drilled holes in the teeth, into which precious stones were driven to serve as an ornament, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

GUAR ADVANTAGE SHOWN—Hiram E. Olson, left, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the California Creek Soil Conservation District near Stamford, discusses the soil-building effects of guar with Albert T. Jordan, soil conservationist. The 1952 cotton where the men are standing is on land where guar was grown in 1951. That in the background was planted following cotton, and was a complete failure.

GUAR ROOT PENETRATES SOIL—Clois Sharp, farmer in the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District, examines a guar root on a plant from his field. The long tap root penetrates the hard-pan in depleted soils.

A GUAR PLANT—A producer of an abundance of seed, the guar plant is valuable for livestock feed. Note seeds growing from ground almost to tip of plant.

Martin-Howard Soil Area Due To Try Guar Plantings

Seeking a summer-growing legume adapted to West Texas dryland condition, cooperators in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District are being encouraged to make trial plantings of guar as a part of their conservation programs this spring. Limited trials of the crop last year indicated the possibility of growing the crop successfully under low rainfall conditions.

The new legume is looked on with favor by soil conservationists because of its strong deep taproot which will penetrate the hard pan in depleted soils. Being a legume, it has the ability to fix nitrogen from the air and improve soil fertility.

Guar is a heavy producer. The beans are valuable for livestock feed, containing from 28 to 30 percent protein. The foliage is also good for grazing, but the plant does not recover readily after being cropped by livestock.

The Soil Conservation Service is assisting interested farmers in locating seed and inoculant and in making the plantings.

HINT TO MOTORISTS

Most motorists use friction tape when repairing a leaky radiator hose, but heat and water soon dissolve the adhesive if tape alone is used. A better plan is to wrap a long strip of rubber cut from an old inner tube around the hose and apply a layer of tape to hold it securely in place.

Spell petrochemical the easy way...

P-R-O-G-R-E-S-S

Progress in finding and producing oil is an old story to the oil country. Nearly everybody has heard about the oil industry's day-to-day miracles in exploration and production.

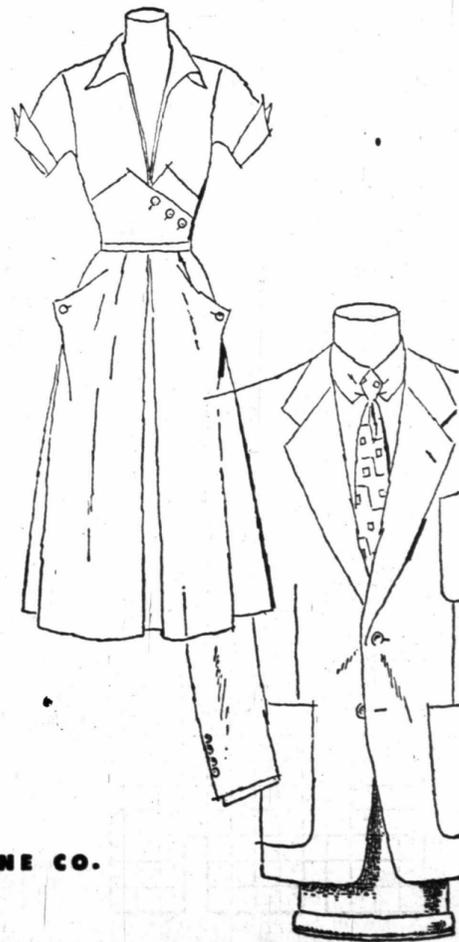

Now we all have a new series of miracles to wonder at—the transformation of petroleum hydrocarbons into chemical products of astonishing variety. These chemicals from petroleum have even added a new word to the American vocabulary—petrochemical.

Progress in the field has been amazing. The capital investment in new industries based on the petrochemicals has mounted to hundreds of millions. The new plants have created thousands of new jobs. And petrochemicals, as an industry, have provided a wider, a more complete, use of the country's oil resources.

Butadiene and butyl for synthetic rubber, toluene for TNT, solvents, aldehydes, and many other petrochemicals—even alcohols—are now produced in oil refineries. For example, the Humble Company, at its Baytown, Texas, refinery, is building facilities to manufacture paraxylene, the raw material for the new fabric called dacron.

The day may come, and very quickly, when you can be clothed from tip to toe in synthetic fabrics derived from petroleum; when petrochemicals provide the rubber for your tires, the plastics for your car's interior fittings, the fabric for the seat covers, the vehicle for body paint and polish.

The petrochemicals spell progress . . . progress to which the oil industry contributes research, capital, manufacturing facilities and, most importantly, an enterprising spirit.

Stomach Cancer Can Be Cured By Surgery In Most Instances

Editor's Note: The following story on cancer is written for The Associated Press by Dr. Owen E. Wagenstein, chief of the department of surgery of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

By OWEN WAGENSTEIN, MD.
Cancer of the stomach takes more lives than cancer of any other organ—almost 25,000 each year.

This tragic toll, however, does not have to go on. Many of the lives would be saved if only the cancer were detected in time. Why isn't it? Because it is difficult to detect—and because people neglect warning signs.

Successful Surgery
While the cause of stomach cancer is unknown, much is known about its symptoms and its treatment. Surgery offers the only prospect of cure. The entire stomach, or a large portion of it, can be taken out by skilled surgeons with little risk of life. The prospects of successful surgery is greatest when the cancer is detected at an early stage.

The cure rate is as high as 80 per cent when the cancer has not spread to the glands adjoining the stomach. When these glands are involved the cure falls to 10 per cent. It is indeed tragic that so often when a cancer of the stomach is detected, it has progressed so far that a curative operation cannot be undertaken.

Folly To Ignore
The problem, then, is early recognition.

What are the symptoms of stomach cancer that any person can recognize? They can be summed up in the term "indigestion." Indigestion means many things to many people—ranging from heart burn, dyspepsia or loss of appetite to nausea, pain and vomiting.

It is folly for persons experiencing such symptoms for any period of time to treat themselves for indigestion. Expert diagnosis is called for. While pills may stop the signs for a while, the cancer—if one is present—is given time to grow.

Persons Over 40
More important, however, than recognition of these symptoms or signs is a periodic X-ray examination by specialists of all people past 40—the age after which stomach cancer most often strikes.

By the time a stomach cancer is diagnosed on the basis of symptoms, it probably has been present for two years. This long silent interval and the frequent occurrence of stomach cancer definitely suggests that the most effective way of early detection is by periodic X-ray examination.

People without symptoms who are found by X-ray to be harboring a silent cancer show a far higher cure rate after operations than those where the cancer has been detected because of symptoms.

In a generation, stomach cancer—once regarded as almost hopeless—has become amenable to surgical treatment. It is now curable. The problem is to detect its presence in time. The major dread—as in all cancer—should be the fear of neglect.

New Methods And Materials Build Better 1953 Homes

This is an excellent year to buy a home; builders are providing higher quality homes at lower cost than in recent years, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Labor costs add up to 50 per cent to the final price of the average home. Improved building methods and materials enable builders today to speed construction, provide greater beauty, comfort and convenience, yet cut labor costs. Substantial savings effected are passed on to the buyer in the form of better houses.

Double savings in labor and material costs accrue to the homebuyer from the builder's method of planning the house on the basic four inches module. This plan makes it easy to install four feet by eight feet wall panels that fit precisely to studding set 16 inches apart, because these measurements are exact multiples of the four inches module. By using this plan, a builder can save several hundred dollars in labor and materials on a $10,000 home.

Another labor and material-saving idea is the use of pre-cut framing material instead of fitting each structural member as work progresses. Pre-assembly of this ready-made material not only saves money but also improves the framing structure.

Spring Is Time For Home Hazard Hunt

AUSTIN—Spring is the time for a home hazard hunt, according to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. Accidents in the home are the second leading cause of accidental death in Texas. Each year about 1,000 persons die as the result of accidents in the home.

Spring house cleaning time is a good time to remove the common hazards that cause so many home accidents. Attics, garages and closets accumulate piles of junk. Piles of papers, magazines, broken furniture and other combustible material are dangerous fire hazards. In addition, rats, mice, cockroaches and other pests thrive in trash heaps.

Exterior Walls Tilted Up
Labor is saved by the method of tilting up exterior walls after sheathing is nailed to the studs in a horizontal position. This is easier and faster than nailing the sheathing to vertical studs.

Popular with builders to save time and improve appearance at low cost is natural-grain plywood wall paneling. This Wedgewood paneling is installed quickly by nailing the four-foot by eight-foot panels directly to studs. The natural grain and texture of the wood blends with any style of interior.

Another big saving can be effected if, before partitions are in place, the entire floor is laid. The bigger the area to floor, the greater the saving. Workmen can operate more efficiently when they do not have to worm their way through a maze of studs. The floor can be started from any point and laid across the entire area, protecting it by laminated building paper where material of any kind may have to be stocked. The only cutting and fitting to do is around the perimeter.

Lightweight Trusses
Use of lightweight roof trusses, assembled on the job site from pre-cut lumber, is less expensive than rafter and joist construction. It cuts labor and speeds building by eliminating complicated bracing and scaffolding. Trusses hold the roof load easily and produce a more level ceiling usually associated with costlier types of construction.

The average family wants a home that admits as much daylight as possible. At less cost than with smaller windows, and with improved appearance, builders are bringing the tops of windows nearer to the top of the wall directly under the plate. This admits more light to distant corners of the room and also simplifies framing.

College Degree Due After 46-Year Wait

MEADVILLE, PA.—George E. Hamilton, president of the Keystone View Company, is to receive a master's degree from Oxford University in England this July—46 years late.

This year Hamilton and his wife are going to attend the college reunion—and pick up the sheepskin.

Dinette sets (above) are equally in good taste in living room, dining room, or game room. Basic structure is metal tubing in black, bronze or golden sand tones. Surfaces, in stain-, heat-, warp-, and scratch-resistant plastic, come in choice of eight colors and two patterns. Foam-rubber padded upholstery comes in choice of 18 colors and four patterns. Buffet and separate china-cabinet unit are in honey-color wood with a sliding door in the same tough, hard plastic featured in surfaces. Service cart, part of set, is very useful when entertaining.

Dining Sets In Metal And Plastic Won't Chip; New Finishes Are Resistant To Stains, Burns

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Come out of the kitchen! You can apply to the furniture as well as to the housewife when speaking of dining sets you can now have in decorator colors and patterns. But they retain the practical qualities Americans have become accustomed to in this type of metal-and-plastic furniture, once confined to breakfast nooks.

This kind of unbreakable, mar-proof furniture is very much wanted in lived-in homes where children make crayon marks, dogs and cats jump around, teen-agers put their feet up, and friends and neighbors make traffic in the house nearly every day.

In other words, in the kind of home where people are more important than furniture and yet in which the housewife and her husband want good design and tasteful color coordination.

Metal tubing in black, bronze or golden sand tones is the basic structure of the tables, chairs and service carts in this group. The hard plastic surfaces resist stains, scratches, heat and warping.

You can have the table in a round or a curved-oblong style, and the chairs are barrel-backed or provincial-type straight. They look, in general, as if their styling were influenced by New England Colonial furniture, modified by the sleek ideas of the modern designers.

Chair seats are foam-rubber padded and upholstered in washable plastic. Backs of chairs are plastic slip-covered in the straight type or wired in the barrel type.

The color on the tubing won't chip, crack or peel, say the makers as it is bonded to the structure by a unique process. No less than eight colors in two abstract patterns are available for the surfaces, and 18 colors in four abstract patterns for the chair fabrics.

You can see that this wide color and pattern choice as well as the design makes the furniture desirable for living rooms, dining rooms and game rooms.

There's a buffet and separate, open-type china cabinet with short legs for standing it on the buffet in a raised position, which allows full use of the buffet surface. These pieces are in natural honey-color wood but the sliding doors of the buffet and the rear wall of the cabinet are in the very practical plastic. The cabinet features two shelves with grooves for standing the china and the buffet has a silver drawer.

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, had read a book. Now reading a book is usually a happy thing to do, but this book had given Mugwump a thought for mischief.

Away Mugwump hurried to find the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf. The Huffen was sitting on a log. He was wishing for something unhappy to do, all for the fun of thinking of the happy things he would like to do, if he hadn't to do the something unhappy.

"Never mind," said Mugwump. "Huffen Puffen, how would you like to be a lion tamer?"

"Huh?" asked the Huffen.

Mugwump said it again. He said how would the Huffen like to be a lion tamer? Why, the lion tamer is like the man at the circus who pops his whip and makes the lions sit up on a box. And he pops the whip again, and the lions jump down and maybe do tricks like jumping over the box, all because of the lion tamer's noise of whip popping.

"Huffen Puffen," said Mugwump, "would you like to be a lion tamer with a lion to do some tricks when you pop your whip?"

"That I would, I would," said the Huffen, "but I don't have a lion, I don't, and I don't have a whip."

"Never you mind, said Mugwump, and he explained how the Huffen did not need the whip at all. All the Huffen should do in his lion taming business was to look the lion in the eye and let the lion know who was boss.

"Really?" asked the Huffen.

"Sure," said Mugwump. And so away they hurried out through the forest until they came BATTLE LINES DRAWN FOR TIDELAND OIL FIGHT—Congress is attempting to come up with an answer as to whether the states or Uncle Sam owns the billions of dollars in potential offshore oil. Early history saw the federal government holding that title to offshore lands within the three-mile limit lay with the states. But that was before geologists reported billions of dollars of oil under the surface of offshore waters. When that happened, the federal government made its claims and the fight started. Above Newsmap shows the states involved in the controversy, the offshore rights they are demanding, and how much money in oil is potentially involved.

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. —(P)—Inclement weather barred parachute jumping but that didn't stop the 82nd Airborne Division's war games. In two simulated jumps, megal of the division's 325th Regimental Combat Team established a perimeter and began skirmishing with the 278th Regimental Combat Team. Places of the 1,500 jumpers were taken by "proxies," man-sized bundles jettisoned from Air Force planes. Troops in the drop went into action carrying out organizational problems as soon as their proxies landed.

It isn't that security officials are asleep to the danger. Speaking before a recent American Legion meeting in the state, a high naval intelligence officer said: "There probably are more enemy agents in New Mexico, per capita, than in any other state in the union. . . ."

Waging World War III
The most important: The Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, where the atomic and hydrogen bombs were born; Sandia Base which includes a nuclear weapons school and nuclear weapon "hardware" center, the Air Force Special Weapons Center at Kirtland Air Force Base, and the Atomic Energy Commission office, which conducts the nuclear weapons tests.

The U. S. could be losing World War III right here. (Next: Holes in the mountain.)

WITHIN HUNDRED-MILE RADIUS of Albuquerque (white circle on newsmap) is a heavy concentration of atomic projects; Sandia and Kirtland bases are on outskirts of Albuquerque; scientific laboratory is at Los Alamos, near Santa Fe, which is a hang-out for atomic workers. Significance of Taos within 100-mile circle is explained in a later dispatch.

Killeen Offers Gray Train To Prove Senator In Error

KILLEEN —(P)—How'd you like to live six months in a modern apartment without paying a cent for rent, food, furniture, laundry, taxi service and wash-grease jobs on the car? Six families will get to do that—compliment of Killeen. It's a civic stunt to advertise this Central Texas town. The idea started after folks heard Senator Lyndon Johnson had intimidated Killeen was a shanty town. The city is surrounded by several military bases, including Fort Hood and Gray Air Force Base. Tricked citizens set out to show how their town has progressed. Chamber of Commerce President R. G. Adams got together with several persons. Someone suggested six months' free rent in one of sev-

Greek Women Seek Extended Suffrage

ATHENS —(P)—Greek women headed by Lena Tsaldaris, widow of the late Panaghis Tsaldaris, former prime minister, think it's time they got equal rights with men. Women want to be allowed to hold judicial posts, serve on juries and have a voice in lawmaking. The first woman in history to be elected to Parliament, Mrs. Helen Skouras of Salonika, took her seat last month.

Muscular Dystrophy Clinic To Be Opened

WASHINGTON —(P)—Georgetown University Hospital will open the world's third clinic devoted to treatment of muscular dystrophy. Muscular dystrophy is a non-contagious disease that wastes away the voluntary muscles and, eventually, the entire muscular system. It always is fatal. Dr. Francis M. Foster, Georgetown's head neurologist, said a feature of the clinic will be physical therapy for victims of the disease. The treatment is not a cure, he said, but helps in prolonging life and maintaining physical condition of the patients.

Field And Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Plug casting always hasn't been a particularly good method of taking bonefish and most people chalk that up to the superstitious senses of the world's smartest fish. Personally, I never did find bonefish especially hard to catch with a fly when they are "mudding" on the flats, but with a plug it's another matter.

Even when the plug is cast some distance ahead of them, tell-tale waves spread out and Mr. Bonefish takes off like a bat. Funny thing is, if we forget all the rules about crafty presentation and toss our plugs right smack on him, the bone apparently thinks the splash-plug is something he kicked off the bottom, because he'll hit fast. This is probably the most fantastic exception to angling lore, but it can be explained in the way bonefish feed.

As a rule you'll find sharks and rays feeding with the bonefish. Actually, our silver shoveler is the invited guest, because the great wings of the ray and the leathery bodies of grabbing sharks are disturbing the sand, turning up crabs, shrimps and all those little tidbits that Mr. Bonefish relishes. Instead of being a timid soul, our Casey chow hdum is filching pies off the back porch.

Being fast on his find, the bonefish watches for sudden disturbances nearby—like the splashy entry of your plug 10 or 20 feet away. But drop the lure right on him when he's feeding and he'll think it's something that popped out of the sand.

The sportiest contest in the entire fishing world will be staged on Panama Bay from July 4 to August 4 of this year. This international bill-fish derby is based on a high and unique standard: angling achievement.

Competing anglers are going to tangle with black and striped marlin as well as Pacific sailfish in a big-game free-for-all that promises to be the liveliest tournament in the history of fishing. Anything from a nine-foot sailfish to a 15-foot black marlin can come to bait in these waters.

Long known as a highly productive big game arena, Panama Bay only recently was developed for large scale tourist angling. A fleet of American type fishing craft will be readied to close with the bill-fish.

Anglers from every corner of the globe are being invited to attend, and judging from past records, all hands will have an equal chance at the major tournament trophies. Every bill-fish is eligible for entry, and the name "Panama" means abundance of fish. This year's talent might well see a record fall—the 1,000-pound black marlin caught by Louis Schmidt, Jr., in 1949 after a 15 1/2-hour battle.

BOOKS FOR THE BARON

INSIDE the house, all had been quiet until that scream. Now its echo followed the woman as she fled from the study where she had found the Thing, into the great hall where the portraits of dead Lithons looked down on her, as if contemptuous of her fear. She fled up the wide, circular staircase, still screaming, into the gloom of the first floor. There the bust of her father glowed, as if the night had given life to its marble.

It couldn't have been a dream... It was the body of a stranger and he had been murdered.

She ran along a wide passage, lit dimly by a tiny lamp at the far end, passing tall, dark, closed doors. She reached a door which stood ajar, and stopped running. She fought for breath now; her face was drained of color, her eyes were feverishly bright. She pressed one hand against her breast, where her dressing-gown gaped.

Two doors opened. From one came a tall man, wearing dark-blue pajamas; he was behind the girl. At the other, a short woman whose gray hair was twisted in old-fashioned metal curlers, faced the girl. The woman's face was shiny with night-cream, her eyes looked angry and alarmed.

The man switched on the lights in his room. The old woman clutched her dressing gown, and said harshly: "Gloria! What on earth are you doing?"

The girl tried to speak, but could only mutter incoherently. The man approached and rested a hand lightly on her shoulder. Although the June night was warm, he could feel the tremors shaking her cold flesh.

"Gloria!" cried the old woman. "Control yourself! Have you had another nightmare? This can't go on, the steady." interrupted the man mildly. "She'll be all right."

He led Gloria into her room, the one with the door ajar, and switched on the light.

THE room was large, with a high ceiling, exquisite plaster-work, light oak paneling, a two-poster bed against one wall, the bedclothes rumbled and flung back, and the girl's clothes folded neatly over a chair. A huge walnut wardrobe stood opposite the bed, there was a bow-shaped dressing table and a carpet with a thick, warm pile. Under the great mantelpiece was an electric fire. The man pushed a winged armchair closer to the fire, then bent down and switched it on.

"Sit down, and I'll get you a drink," he said. "There's nothing to worry about. The man pushed a winged armchair closer to the fire, then bent down and switched it on.

"Nothing to worry about indeed!" snorted the woman. "She'll drive us all mad before she's finished! It's bad enough by day, but if she's going to start at night, then—"

"Don't be absurd!" said the man. The woman tossed back her head and glared, but turned and went up, her heel-less slippers sliding up and down over rosy heels.

The girl Gloria was leaning back with her eyes closed. Her breath still came uneasily and her hands were tight on the arms of her chair, the knuckles white. Her dark hair fell in rippling waves to her shoulders, there were dark rings under her eyes, traces of lipstick on her lips and of rouge on her cheeks. The man moved, to face her. "Another dream?" Her eyes flashed open.

"It wasn't a dream! It couldn't have been a dream!" She sat forward, stretching out a hand and clutching his; her fingers were icy cold. "John, it couldn't have been a dream, it was too horrible. I saw it."

"What did you see?" "A—dead body."

"WHERE?" asked the man, as if dead bodies might be found lying about at any odd corner.

"In—the study," Gloria said hoarsely. "I'd been sleep-walking again, I suppose. Why can't they cure me? It's horrible, John. Nobody seems to be able to do anything about it." Her voice rose. "That's what it is, they want me to go mad! I hate them, hate every one of them, especially her. They don't think I'm fit to own Lithom Hall, they don't think—"

The man moved, taking both of her hands in his, and asked quietly: "Was it your father, Gloria?" "No!" she screamed, and snatched her hands away. "You're as bad as they are, you don't believe me, you think I'm mad! But it was my father, it was a stranger, he was murdered too! His throat was cut—"

She began to sob. The older woman came in, carrying a tray on which were two cups and saucers, a tooth glass, a teapot and a jug of milk. "Gloria, how many more times must I tell you that your father wasn't murdered? It was an accident. It's monstrous to keep saying he was murdered."

"But he was!" cried Gloria. "I know he was!" Milk spilled over the side of the jug as the woman banged the tray down.

"I'm going to have a look around downstairs," the man said. "John Mannerling, you're as big a fool as the child!" declared the woman vigorously. "You half believe her."

MANNERLING walked along the passage towards the head of the stairs. He paused by the side of the marble bust of an elderly man, rather like Gloria; this was the bust of her father. It was cruel to keep it there, reminding her a dozen times a day both of the past and of her obsession. He felt sure that it was an obsession; she had been sleep-walking and dreaming at the same time, and had awakened to see something which wasn't there.

Mannerling hurried down the stairs. He crossed the hall towards the study—and stopped short. The light wasn't on. A glow came from the landing and a paler gleam through the windows on either side of the great front door, but the study was in darkness; the door was closed. Mannerling went forward more cautiously, groping in his pocket for a handkerchief. He spread it over his palm, then gripped the handle lightly and turned it. The door opened easily. He took the handkerchief away and stood on the threshold, his head raised; he was sniffing as well as frowning.

Using the handkerchief again, he switched on the light. As it flooded the room, he heard a book, but saw nothing move. Books stood behind glass shelves which rose from floor to ceiling—books in leather, tooled in gold, brown, red, yellow, black, tall books and thin, many of them old and rubbed, some looking as new when they had first been bound and placed with the others on these shelves.

This was the smaller of two libraries, used in Lithom's day as a study. The big library was upstairs.

There was no body on the floor. He crossed the room and pushed at the window, but it was latched. He went to the desk, bent down on one knee and studied the thick pile of the fawn-colored carpet, then he moved and looked at it from a different angle.

He moved his head to and fro, to try to catch the gleam again. There it was! Yes—and it glistened red.

Keeping his eye on the spot, he bent his head nearer. The mark was very small, just a spot, and was half-way down a tuft of the thick pile.

It was wet. It might be blood.

MANNERLING stood up and went to the desk, which was unlocked, and opened one of the drawers. He rummaged about until he found a small piece of chalk in a box containing paper clips, pen nibs and other odds and ends. With the chalk in his hand, he searched for and found the spot again. He drew a ring around it, about two inches in diameter, pressing hard to get the chalk to show.

Next—he went to the corner where he fancied he had heard a sound, and peered closely at the polished mahogany of the shelves and uprights. One or two smears on the high polish might have been caused by someone who had taken out a book. He didn't touch the wood or the glass, and was about to turn when he heard a sound behind him.

He seemed lost in contemplation of the bookshelves, but actually peered in the glass. His own shadow turned it into a mirror, and he could see a reflection of the doorway.

A man was there. (To Be Continued)

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★ Addison's Disease In Infant Is Rare And Puzzling Case

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
This column opens with a discussion of a rather rare disorder known as Addison's disease and closes with a difficult question which has been submitted.

Addison's disease, named after the famous English physician, Thomas Addison, who described it in 1855, results from disease of two small glands called adrenal or suprarenal glands that lie on either side of the kidneys.

These glands have a rather complicated structure. They belong to the glands of internal secretion. They contain several kinds of cells that form hormones which flow into the blood. A chemically prepared substance called epinephrine or adrenalin has the actions of part of the adrenal gland.

Addison described the characteristic symptoms as anemia, languor, or general weakness, feeble beat of the heart, irritability of the stomach, and a peculiar brownish change in the color of the skin.

General weakness is particularly characteristic and the deep yellowish-brown color of the skin which is due to deposits of pigment also is usual. Most patients lose weight.

Patients with Addison's disease have a low blood pressure and examination of the blood by chemical tests will reveal changes which clinch the diagnosis.

The treatment of this disease, which was formerly almost invariably fatal, has been improved greatly. Of course, complete rest in bed and protection from chilling and muscular exertion is necessary.

Those who have mild cases do well when they are given an excessive amount of ordinary salt—sodium chloride—at the same time that potassium, another chemical, is kept low.

Those who do not respond well to this form of treatment are given another chemical related to the secretion of the adrenal gland. This has the lengthy name of desoxy-corticosterone.

Theoretically, extracts from the gland itself should be still more helpful but because the preparation of such substances is difficult and terribly expensive, they have not been used much, but treatment still is being improved.

Now, to the question. Mrs. K. says that her two-and-a-half-year-old son has been diagnosed as having Addison's disease, and that when she has a spell, runs high fevers, has convulsions, he loses consciousness completely for two or three days.

According to her letter, the child has been given the usual treatment for Addison's disease and the doctors remark upon the rarity of this illness in so small a child.

This certainly seems like a complicated and unusual problem, since the symptoms as described are not typical of Addison's disease, and it is unusual in such a young child. In fact, this makes it difficult if not impossible to make the comment which Mrs. K. requests, other than to say that if this is truly a case of Addison's disease, it would seem to have enough unusual features to be reported to the medical profession in one of the medical journals.

When Organization Begins, Pals Drop In Formalities

Let three women decide it would be fun to do their darning and mending together and before half-a-dozen socks are darned, one of them has been elected president, another vice president, and the third secretary-treasurer.

That is hardly an exaggeration. In our neighborhood, for instance, several women thought it would be fun if we learned gardening together.

We agreed to pass the word around the neighborhood and get together once a month to bone up on geraniums, roses, etc. It was just going to be an informal neighborhood get-together but we were going to talk about flower-growing instead of about each other.

That was less than six months ago. We are now affiliated with a lot of other garden clubs. We are paying dues, and conducting a business meeting each time we get together before we can talk about gardening.

And in today's mail came a mimeographed copy of our "Rules." They are all very formal, listing Article I, Article II—etc.

It's Article III, though, that finally finishes off any resemblance between the informal get-togethers we started out to have and the formal, boring garden club that has developed.

Article III says in part: "A member shall be dropped from the roll immediately following three consecutive unexcused absences. Only absences due to illness or being out of the city shall be considerable as excusable."
