Reds Promise To Return More Disabled Prisoners

PANMUNJOM —(P)—The Communists said Thursday they would free more disabled Allied prisoners—a startling reversal of their earlier insistence on releasing only 605. They did not say how many more, nor their nationalities. But they did pledge to return all sick and wounded Allied troops in North Korea stockpiles as well as those captured recently.

The unexpected move apparently stalled off a possible UN protest that the Reds were holding back some disabled captives.

Allied prisoners exchanged in four days have said many more seriously sick and wounded were left behind in North Korea.

Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, said he was gratified that the Communists, "in response to repeated requests from the UN Command, have agreed to return . . . all UNC personnel in this category."

Some of the recently wounded prisoners came back Thursday, pale and unrecognizable. The day's total was 14 Americans, five Australians, six Colombians and 73 South Koreans.

Forty more Americans are due Friday. So are four British, four Turks, one Hollander, one Canadian and 50 South Koreans.

As Thursday's group returned, some were fresh and still unhealed—Martins from the battle of the Panmunjom outposts earlier this month and Colombians caught in the Red onslaught over Old Baldy a few days previously.

General Assembly Okays Investigation Of Germ War Charge

UNITED NATIONS —(P)—The UN General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Thursday for an impartial investigation of Communist charges that American troops waged germ warfare in Korea.

The vote, 81-5, came after the U. S. accused Russia with "utterly and completely iniquitous" behavior for spreading the charges and called Soviet opposition to the investigation "reprehensible in the extreme."

U. S. Delegate Frank Gross made the gloves-off attack on Russia.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky immediately took the floor and counter-charged that U. S. denials of germ war were "reckless denials of fact" and said the kind of investigation the U. S. wanted was based on "hypocrisy and falsehood."

The Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee already has approved the inquiry and the UN budget group has appropriated $65,000 to finance it.

Regan Feels Reds 'Sincere' In Peace Bid

A Midland congressman is placing his bets on "sincerity" in the Communist decision to release sick and wounded UN prisoners. "I think the Reds are sincerely interested in winding up the Korean war," Ken Regan, visiting briefly in Midland, said Thursday.

"The Communist, I think are convinced they can't push their aggression through the Far East, and this business of releasing prisoners is proof to me that they want to calm down a while," he pointed out.

When asked about the atrocity reports coming from Freedom Village, Korea and Tokyo, Regan said, "I think every report of atrocities should be thoroughly checked and, if the reports stand up and persist, the UN should be urged to act under Geneva Convention rules to stop this sort of thing. I won't predict what kind of action would be taken, but this issue could bring on serious consideration of another war."

"But," he said, "though the atrocity reports are sickening, it's not too surprising. We're fighting a war against barbarians. What else could you expect from a barbarian?"

"My greatest hope is that these reports have been over-emphasized, that they are not as bad as they sound."

Regan touched briefly on the Tideland filibuster. He thinks the bid to give state ownership ultimately will pass. "But," he said, "we'll have to wait for the filibuster to end. Senator Clint Anderson of New Mexico is using his office as a clearing house for filibuster speakers. I can't understand that. Anderson, a strong states rights, just seems to be mad at Texas for some reason."

Congressman Regan will return to his Washington duties Saturday.

House Takes Up Teachers Pay Hike Bill

AUSTIN —(P)—With cries of "This is it!" the House voted 100-32 Thursday to take up the teacher pay raise issue immediately.

At 11:20 a.m. Speaker Reuben Senterfitt laid out the bill that has raised the biggest furor in the Legislature.

The Senate already has approved a $600 pay increase across the board for teachers.

A House committee has recommended a $300 increase.

Some members stood up at their desks and yelled "Let's go!"

Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who moved to take the issue up, declared: "Let's get it over with—this is it, gentlemen."

Rep. Lamar Zivley of Temple, champion of the $600 raise, said, "Many of you are committed to some sort of increase; here's your chance to say what you'll vote for."

Rep. Joe Burgett of Kerrville was the only man who spoke out against the motion.

"The proposition is started off all wrong," he said. "I'm opposed to this Legislature telling the school board you can't hire anybody unless you pay them what we tell you."

"The people up there in my county cry in the forks of their necks better than anybody in this Legislature."

Burgett wrote a bill to repeal the mainstays of the Gilmer-Alkin public school laws—a hot potato dumped into the hands of the House Wednesday night.

Giving the teachers $600 more pay would cost the state an estimated $3 million dollars more a year.

"Where's the money going to get the money?" Rep. Scott Sayers of Fort Worth asked Zivley right away.

"It will mean a new tax bill," Zivley answered, "but I don't think the people would object to paying it for something like this."

House members jumped up to talk to others; a long line stacked up behind the microphone for asking questions; members yelled at each other over the microphones and the gallery began to fill up as news of hot debate spread.

The Senate passed some local and minor House bills and quit at noon for the weekend, over a storm of protest.

Eight Midlanders Attend Police Event

Eight Midland police officers attended the annual meeting Thursday of the South Plains Peace Officers Association in Odessa.

City Police at the convention were Lt. Bill Patterson, Sgt. Wayne Taylor, Chief Harold Wallace, Captain Jack Tramm, Lt. Dewey Hockett, Bill Keel, Jack Fillyaw and Jack Austin.

From the sheriff's office, Sheriff Ed Darnell, Deputy F. S. Buckalew and Constable Jack Merritt attended.

TAIL-WAGGER, NOT POLICE DOG

CHICAGO —(P)—Boys Court Judge Cecil Corbett Smith met four prospective customers Wednesday night and is hoping for another meeting under different circumstances.

Smith was walking his dog when four boys about 15 years old stopped him, pressed a gun-like object against his ribs, and relieved him of $5.

The pooch? He's a toy bulldog who loves to be petted and that's just what one of the four was doing.

ANYTHING, ANYWHERE—

Ike Ready To Aid Moves For Peace

WASHINGTON —(P)—President Eisenhower said Thursday he is ready to do anything and confer anywhere to bring about peace in Korea.

The President told a news conference, however, that like everyone else, he simply is waiting now to see how developments go in Korea.

His statements were in response to a question as to whether he felt the chances are good for a prompt truce in Korea.

The President said he has had no reaction from the Kremlin to the world peace and disarmament plan he set forth a week ago.

He said the government is studying and analyzing the prisoner exchange situation, and that obviously, from news stories of atrocities, something is wrong.

He added that he as yet has no full and complete report on the matter and so can't determine what the actual facts are.

On other matters, the President said he is confident defense spending will be cut for the fiscal year starting July 1, but that he is not ready to estimate how much the saving will be.

Said he and other Administration officials are studying plans for reorganization of both the State and Defense Departments. The plan will be sent to Congress soon.

Declared emphatically that plans for defense of Europe against possible Communist aggression cannot be based either on the idea that an attack might be imminent, or that it might come several years from now. Defense plans, he added, must be flexible enough to meet all emergencies.

Quips About Tideland

Anyone who tells you he can predict the day or hour of an attack is crazy, the President said.

In comment on the Tideland legislation pending in the Senate, he said his position has been stated many times. He added with a smile that after four weeks of Senate debate he believes that even those who oppose him on the issue must be pretty well educated regarding it.

Said there has been no diplomatic correspondence which has come to his attention regarding the possibility of a four power conference of the world situation.

Airliner With Crew Of Four Disappears

SEATTLE —(P)—A C-46 airliner with a crew of four aboard vanished over the Cascade Mountains early Thursday on the last leg of a flight here from the East.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, reporting the two-engine plane missing, said it made its last report about 3 a.m. (CST) over Eastern, Wash., in the Cascades about 80 miles southeast of Seattle.

The plane, a non-scheduled airliner from Miami, was due at 3:45 a.m., the CAA said.

Rain and heavy clouds were over the Cascade Mountains at the time of the last report.

Left-Wing Groups Notified To Register As Commie 'Fronts'

WASHINGTON —(P)—Twelve organizations frequently in the news as left-wingers Thursday got notice that Attorney General Brownell wants them to register as "other-name fronts" for communism in the U. S.

The attorney general was reported to have in preparation additional petitions covering possibly as many as 13 other alleged front organizations.

Slow, Soaking Fall Benefits Whole County

The West Texas farmer and ranchman dug the heel of his dusty footwear into deep mud Thursday and figured as how the agricultural outlook appeared much brighter after Wednesday night's widespread rains.

Midland County was included among the major beneficiaries. The City Shop on North Fort Worth Street gauged 1.35 inches and an inch or more covered the county. Lowest figure was .72 recorded at Midland Air Terminal.

Although the precipitation looked directed to the East, points in other directions from Midland listed appreciable rainfall. In many places, including Midland County, the slow, soaking moisture was called the best rain of the year.

The rain choked a sandstorm that boiled into Midland from the northwest, spanned by a weak cool front. Velocity of the wind reached to gusts of 35 miles an hour in Midland and held a level of 25 miles from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

High Winds Make Crane

The high winds brought considerable damage at Crane, Imperial and other localities to the West but it was agreed the benefits from the rain far offset any loss.

Trees were uprooted at the Gulf camp one-half mile south of Crane. Some toppled onto roofs and car tops. The roof was lifted from a large warehouse two miles east of the camp.

Imperial, 15 miles west of Crane, reported extensive damage to both business and residential structures. No one was reported injured at Imperial or Crane.

A booming thunderstorm with 50-mile-an-hour winds poured out an inch of rain at Big Spring. Gale-like blows caused minor losses in other West Texas areas.

Both the ranching and farming districts of Midland County received the penetrating rain. As much as two inches fell on the Fasken Ranch southeast of Midland. Roy Parks Ranch, 15 miles west of here, totaled from three-fourths to one inch and the Marion Flynn spread 28 miles north of Midland had one-half inch. Just Right For Farmlands

In the farmlands, I. J. Howard of Valley View, six miles southeast of Midland reported 1.10 inches. The Cotton Flat Road farm of W. N. Locklear, six miles south of the city, received an inch.

"The rain came just right to plant our County Agent Charles Grgen declared here Farmlands were beginning to blow, he pointed out. (Continued On Page 12)

Phillips Defends Flaring Policy In Spraberry Area

Court. It is aimed at preventing wasteful flaring of gas in the West Texas field.

George Bunn, manager of Phillips natural gasoline department, told the court:

"If we had had that limitation (the possibility of field-wide shutdown) we would seriously have limited our facilities in that field."

Bunn told of numerous difficulties that surround the development of processing plants to handle casinghead gas—the gas produced incidental to the flow of oil.

He said it would be virtually impossible to determine early in the development of an oil field how much gas was going to be available for processing and marketing.

Phillips presented its case in the second day of oral testimony in the trial of five suits involving more than three dozen oil or gas companies.

Phillips is an intervenor in the trial. While agreeing with the main plaintiffs that the commission shutdown order is invalid, Phillips has a contrary interest to that of the principal parties.

Phillips' Position

Phillips takes the position that if any part of the order is upheld, then the entire order should be upheld and all wells in the Spraberry should be shutdown, regardless of whether they are flaring gas.

The major plaintiffs are Rowan Drilling Company, Arthur Harvey, Plymouth Oil Company, Republic Natural Gas Company, and Blackwood and Nichols Company. They contended Wednesday that operators not flaring gas should be exempt from shutdown.

Bunn testified he considered only 663 of the 2,300 or so wells in the Spraberry capable of being operated economically without flaring.

"Do you know of anything that could reasonably have been done that was not done to dispose of (Continued On Page 12)

Movie Slated By P-TA Unit

The motion picture, "Passion for Life," is to be shown in Midland Tuesday. It is the story of an inspired teacher, dedicated to the responsibility of educating young people, who improves the life of an entire community.

Based on a true story which happened in France after World War I, the film was produced in France with only seven professional actors. Villagers of Saleses and 25 children of Provence play the other roles.

It was written and produced by Jean-Paul Le Chanois in 1949 as "L'Ecole Buissonniere" ("H o o k y School"), under the supervision of the French Ministry of Education.

Commenting on the film, Earl J. McGrath, as commissioner with the U. S. Office of Education, said, "I congratulate the French Ministry of Education on the production of this film, and I hope that millions of Americans may have the opportunity to see it."

Two showings of the movie are scheduled in Midland—at 7 and 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Midland High School Auditorium. The film is being sponsored here by the High School Parent-Teacher Association.

Kermit Choirs Set Concert On Friday

KERMIT—The Spring concert of the Kermit High School Choirs will be held Friday night in the Kermit High School Auditorium.

There will be numbers by the mixed choir, girls' choir, in addition to ensembles and solos, all under the direction of Robert Fleming.

Assisting the high school choir will be the Junior High School mixed choir, under the direction of Floyd Morris, and the Kermit High School choir, under the supervision of the direction of Sidney Holden.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

If you've been asked to introduce a speaker, it is better to make the introduction in a few sentences you can remember than to have to refer to notes. It makes a speaker feel mighty letdown and unimportant to be introduced by someone who has to glance at a card to be sure of his name and the subject of his talk.

An introduction should be a build-up—in every way.

Glad Tears Welcome POW News

VIP VISITOR—Marine Pfc. Louis A. Pumphrey of Cottdale, Ala., one of the American POW's exchanged this week, is visited in a Tokyo hospital by Mrs. Mark W. Clark, wife of the UN commander.

Three Texas Homes Find Prayers Heard

By The Associated Press
A young wife jumped up and down with joy and then cried tears of pure happiness.
A mother of eight sons—seven of them Marines—arose from her hospital bed and told fellow patients the glad news.
A teacher, feeling as if she "could not make it through the day," took on new life.
Their soldiers were free again—back in the hands of United Nations comrades. Hope had become reality.

Three Texans Freed
Three more Texas fighting men had been exchanged by the Communists Thursday: Pfc. Samuel Armstrong, son of Mrs. Ida Barnes, San Antonio; Cpl. Jimmie Lacy, husband of Mrs. J. E. Lacy, Texarkana; and Navy hospital corpsman Thomas Waddill, son of Mrs. T. E. Waddill, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Waddill almost had lost hope her son was alive. A chaplain in Korea had written that there appeared to be no survivors of a Red attack in March from which her son was missing.

"I told my husband that after that it was just no use," she said. "He wasn't willing to give up though and kept hoping."

Missing Two Months
Like Waddill, the other two men had been in Communist hands a relatively short time. Jimmie Lacy had been reported missing March 26 after only two months in Korea.

His red-blond bride, Sue, 17, "just jumped up and down" and then settled down for a good cry when she learned her dark-haired husband was free.

Lacy's father, Otto, said Sue was visiting him and Mrs. Lacy when they first learned the news.

"Sue just jumped up and down and all around the place," Lacy said. "Then she started crying. And we began crying, too, we were so happy."

Lacy said his son lied about his age to get in the Marines. Jimmie is just 17, he said.

Leaves Hospital Bed
At San Antonio, Mrs. Ida Barnes jumped out of her hospital bed when told her son was safe. She has had seven sons in the Marines at one time or another. Recently three returned as Korean War casualties and two were discharged. Her other son plans to enlist in the corps in June.

Mrs. Barnes, wife of a retired soldier, is at Brooke Army Hospital recovering from radium burns received under care of a physician.

T. E. Waddill at Fort Worth said his wife had been "sick as a horse, but she's all right now."

Broadcast Cure
"I'm a teacher and had gone to school today and when I came home, I felt like I couldn't make it through the rest of the day. Then I heard this broadcast," Mrs. Waddill said.

She fell from a divan when her son's name was flashed on a television screen, her husband said.

Before Wednesday, three other Texans had been freed.

They were Sgt. Gerald Neighbors of Hereford, Cpl. Theodore Jackson of Palestine and Pfc. Eddie Vidal of San Antonio.

South Korean Sergeant Tells Grisly Story Of Red Torture

FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA—(AP)—A South Korean sergeant who lost all 10 fingers told a shocking story Thursday of torture in Korean Communist prison camps.

M/Sgt. Kim Ka Sung, 28, was among the sick and wounded Allied prisoners exchanged this week at Panmunjom. He was captured by the North Koreans in 1950 while serving with the Republic of Korea Capital Division.

He said he was taken by three Reds to a lonely village, handed a shovel and ordered to dig his own grave. But he said he clubbed his captors while they were lighting cigarettes, seized a burp gun and killed them.

He was recaptured while wandering on a mountain because . . .

South Korean WAC Released By Reds
FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA—(AP)—A South Korean WAC was among the 50 South Korean sick and wounded prisoners freed Thursday by the Communists—the first woman reported involved in the POW exchange.

She said she was captured in 1951 while serving with the Republic of Korea 8th Infantry Division. She added that two other members of the ROK Women's Army Corps were captured at the same time and still are in prison camps.

"I was very tired and fell asleep," Kim said he was taken to the Communist prison at Hoengyung in December, 1950, and tortured two weeks.

He said the Communists forced him to drink water in excessive amounts and poured powdered hot pepper into his nose and mouth.

He was suspended from the prison ceiling with his hands and legs tied behind him, he said.

The Reds also beat him with wire rope and other things, he said.

He refused to give his captors his rank and unit.

"I was the only prisoner to be tortured among the 58 South Korean prisoners held in the camp at Hoengyung," he said.

He said that after his arms had been bound for a long time, the circulation was bad and doctors told him his fingers would have to be amputated.

"I doubted that," he said, "but there wasn't much else I could do."

He said the fingers on his right hand were amputated by a saw. He was not given anything to dull the pain.

Three days later, they cut off the fingers of his left hand with a knife. He was given no treatment, he said, and the only cure was putting his butchered hands out of the window so the sun would heal them.

Others Dead Happy
In Swampscott, Mass., a neighbor shouted to Papa Denoto d'Andreo: "Your boy is saved. Your boy is a prisoner released."
Said D'Andreo: "Course I'm happy. As soon as I hear it I start to cry. But I don't want my wife to see me cry so I ran upstairs and said 'Mary, thank God, our boy is safe.' Then my wife started crying and she told me she is only crying for joy."
D'Andreo's boy is Vincent d'Andreo, 22, who was taken prisoner last March 5. The elder D'Andreo, a park department employee, said he had no plans for a party now, "but wait until my boy arrives back up the house. There'll be a real party."
"Daddy Coming Home"
Mrs. Ruth Kelley of Ashland, Ohio, kept faith that her husband, Sgt. Ned M. Kelley, 23, would return.
"I just never had that feeling he wouldn't come home," she said. "He wrote me on last March 21, the day he came up missing."
They have been married six years. Mrs. Kelley said their four-year-old child Jackie was "real excited."
"Is my daddy all right? Will he be home tonight?" the boy asked.
Neighbors crowded into the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hart of Waukegan, N. Y., to join in a family celebration. The Hart's son, Marine Pfc. George F. Hart, was captured only last March 26 and freed Wednesday.
Prayers Are Answered
Mrs. D. T. Akers of Bluefield, W. Va., said it was "prayers by the whole family" that brought back her son, Pfc. Charles Wesley Akers had been reported missing in action a month and a half ago.
At Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Mona Steinke, whose son had been reported missing, said "we didn't even know he was a prisoner. All we knew was that he was missing." Pfc. Fred C. Steinke, 21, had been reported missing in action since March 5.
The first prisoner of war from Arizona to be released was Pfc. Ben McGhee of Phoenix. He is one of eight children in the family. Beamed Mrs. Constance McGhee: "This is the best news we've ever had."

Dennis Benson, 61, Found Dead After Tractor Mishap

FORT DAVIS—Dennis Franklin Benson, 61, of Toyah, was found dead near here Monday, apparently killed by the tractor he was operating.

Benson, an employe of the KC Ranch in Jeff Davis County, had been working alone cleaning a dry earthen tank. He was found dead at the base of the high dam, his neck broken.

The tractor was a hundred yards away against a boulder and marks in the soft, dry earth showed the tractor had rolled from the top of the high embankment, turning over two or three times before it came to rest on its wheel with the motor still running.

Tire prints on the floor of the tank showed that the tractor had run back and forth across the tank and around the sides, sometimes passing close to Benson's body.

Two ranch workers, sent to look for Benson when he failed to return to the ranch for supper, found the body. An inquest was held by Barry Soobee, justice of the peace and corner of Jeff Davis County, using headlights and flashlights to light the tank.

Funeral services for Benson were held Wednesday afternoon at the Toyah Methodist Church, with the Rev. William Turner of Pecos officiating. Interment was in the Toyah Cemetery.

Benson is survived by two sisters, Mrs. B. S. Poppel of Toyah, and Mrs. Waddell of Anthem.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

Scientists Discover Easy Way to Kill Crawling Insects

ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has recently discovered a colorless, brush-on insecticide that not only kills, but controls crawling pests. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH.

Developed after years of research, NO-ROACH is an invisible, odorless, stainless liquid, so powerful that one application remains effective for months. Best of all, NO-ROACH may be brushed on, without having to move your pots and pans. It is not a contaminating spray or messy powder.

Midlanders Cite Reasons Why Spraberry Wells Should Flow

By JAMES N. ALLISON
Reporter-Telegram Publisher

AUSTIN — A Midlander was called to the witness stand in district court here late Wednesday to challenge the State of Texas' ruling that all Spraberry oil and gas comes from the same reservoir. Plymouth Oil Company challenged the order and called its chief geologist, Russell Conkling, a veteran in his profession in the Permian Basin area, to testify, and then took steps to prevent any flaring of gas in the old Benedum Spraberry field.

Previously Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, had declared the Spraberry Trend area all one reservoir and asserted the commission has selected this area to open its "new assault or frontal attack" on waste.

Threatened Losses Told
Wealthy men then told of the threatened loss of income by the commission's order, effective April 1, to halt the flaring of gas.

Scores of attorneys were in the courtroom to hear the oral testimony in the suit contesting the validity of the state commission's order shutting down the field to stop the wasting of natural gas. District Judge Charles O. Betts recently granted a temporary injunction against enforcement of the shut-down directive to protect operators who are not flaring casinghead gas. This injunction applies only to operators who have brought suit on the ground they are not flaring gas at any point in their operations in the 500,000-acre Spraberry Trend area near Midland.

The commission charges 220 million cubic feet of gas was being flared wastefully each day in the area which has some 2,500 wells. More than 30 oil companies and operators are involved in the court action. The court is hearing testimony of plaintiffs and intervenors as if it were a single trial, but he will enter separate judgments based on each case. Final judgments will follow the trial now underway in Betts' court.

Two Producing Zones
Among attorneys representing plaintiffs in the case is Clint Small of Austin who, as a legislator from the Panhandle 20 years ago, authored the state conservation law. Thompson explained to the court that this law requires the commission to prevent waste and to protect correlative rights.

Challenging the ruling on the Spraberry Trend area, which it once accepted, Plymouth Oil called Conkling to the stand. He presented maps of the area once known as the Benedum Spraberry field, discussed his theories of oil migration, told of the two producing zones, upper and lower, in the Spraberry and asserted the "Benedum field is absolutely a separate reservoir and structure from the other Spraberry Trend area." The Midlander was questioned closely by Ireland Graves of Austin, attorney for Plymouth, and other attorneys in the courtroom.

Teed, 54, shot the fox, loaded the carcass into his car and drove about 114 miles from his home to the State Health Department's laboratory here. Tests showed the animal was rabid.

Gruenther Warns Of West's Inability To Fight Long War

WASHINGTON — P. — Congress was told Thursday that Western military forces in Europe "probably could cope with any surprise Russian attack but lack the reserves to meet long-range requirements."

This testimony came from Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway at Supreme Allied Headquarters in Europe. Given at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee April 1, it was made public Thursday coincident with Secretary of State Dulles' attendance at the North Atlantic Council meeting in Paris considering future plans for the building up of NATO's defense force.

Gruenther asserted NATO's situation was "vastly improved" over what it was at the start two years ago when its leaders worried "we might wake up some morning and find the whole Soviet and satellite force just pouring through, with warning that was no more than a matter of minutes."

He cautioned against cutting foreign aid so drastically that the French and other Allies might fear "we are getting ready to pull out of European defense."

German Air Safety Talks Will Continue

BERLIN — P. — Soviet representatives met with those of the U. S., Britain and France Wednesday night for the third time to discuss proposals for air safety over East Germany but failed to reach any agreement.

It was decided to resume the talks by the occupation powers at a date to be fixed later.

OKLAHOMANS VISIT HERE
Mr. and Mrs. George D. Antier, of Oklahoma City, Okla., are spending this week in Midland.

Conkling said some two miles separates the Benedum Spraberry field from the other Spraberry Trend area and discussed "tight" formations and water situations reported in the area between the two producing areas. He said three or four other producing zones are found below the Benedum Spraberry area and they are not encountered in the other Spraberry Trend area.

Little Benedum Gas Flared
The next witness was William L. Parker of Sinton, Plymouth's chief petroleum engineer, who discussed the Plymouth Phillips Petroleum-owned gasoline plant in the Benedum field and also mentioned the activities of the Texas Gas Products Corporation plant in the Benedum field. He said all except about 20 wells in the Benedum area are connected with casinghead plants and are not flaring residue gas.

Another witness, John T. Oxley of Tulsa, president of Texas Gas Corporation, discussed the activities of his Benedum plant. On questioning by Graves, it developed that the two plants possibly could arrange to handle approximately all the flared gas in Benedum. Parker also discussed drainage in the field.

Demand Exceeds Developments
"The demand for gas now far exceeds the developments," Gay told the court.

Rowan said his company's net income from 20 Spraberry wells in March exceeded $60,000.

Plans of the El Paso Natural Gas Company were outlined by Kayser, its president. He discussed the millions of dollars his company has spent to gather and transport gas to the West Coast and said that if the shut-down continues, two million California consumers and 500,000 in Arizona will have both domestic and industrial gas curtailed next fall.

Red Press Tosses Brickbats At Luce

ROME — P. — Clara Boothie Luce received straight-forward greetings from most of Rome's morning newspapers Thursday but the Communist L'Unita—as expected—was something less than chivalrous.

Commenting on the arrival Wednesday of the new U. S. ambassador, L'Unita called her an "elderly lady" and said she spoke with a "Brooklyn accent."

and the difficulty in getting wells into production, once they are shut-down in the area. He said some of the wells shut down by a strike several months ago never have returned to their former production levels.

Heavy Investments Cited
After information showed that the two plants in possibly two weeks could arrange to process all gas in the Benedum, court recessed for the day and it was not learned whether the divorce proceedings would be pressed further at this time.

John A. Barnett of Rowell, N. M.; Major Arthur (Tex) Harvey of Midland, Oxley, Joe Wright of Tulsa, W. D. Gay of Kansas City, Arch Rowan of Fort Worth and Paul Kayser of Houston testified concerning the millions of dollars which has been invested in developing and to serve the Spraberry Trend area.

Barnett, a pioneer in the field, told of the costs of drilling many wells in the area and freely discussed his financial situation. Oxley discussed the plants which his company has installed in the Spraberry and said its gross profit before the shut-down amounted to more than $50,000 a month. He estimated the shut-down would cost the company $2,500,000 in the Spraberry area and that 165 wells are connected with its plant. He discussed the costs of shutting down its operations and said the company's income would halt.

Wright, president of the Anchor Gasoline Corporation, said it has invested about $2,300,000 in the Spraberry area and that 165 wells are connected with its plant. He discussed the costs of shutting down its operations and said the company's income would halt.

Gay, president of the Permian Basin Pipe Line Company which is arranging to take Spraberry gas to the Panhandle for delivery to existing lines up there, said his concern is preparing to spend $42,500,000 to construct a pipe line from the Spraberry to Wasmom and then lease a line from there to the Panhandle. The line will be prepared to handle 200 million cubic feet of gas daily the first year and 300 million cubic feet daily the second year.

Injured in the smash-up were Mrs. W. D. Harvey, 26, of 310 Lancaster Street, Big Spring, and her two daughters, ages four and three months. Senate Agrees To Postpone Probe Of Ko-Reds Atrocities

WASHINGTON — P. — A proposal to inquire into Red atrocities against prisoners of war in Korea has been put temporarily on a Senate shelf. After being assured that the Army and State Department will step up collection of evidence with a view later war crimes prosecutions of the Communists for any atrocities against United Nations prisoners, the Senate Appropriations Committee dropped plans to investigate.

Some members of the committee, like Senators Ellender (D-La.) and Magnuson (D-Wash.), said they regarded Wednesday's two-hour inquiry, ordered by Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.), as "premature."

Marvin Nichols Due Administration Bill As Reclamation Chief

WASHINGTON — P. — Marvin Nichols, selected as the new U. S. reclamation commissioner, is an important post in the Eisenhower Administration.

The Fort Worth municipal water expert, long recognized in water reclamation and flood protection, would succeed Michael Straus.

Nichols said at Amarillo Wednesday, "I doubt that I could see my way clear to refuse the appointment" but declared "I have not been an applicant for the position."

Nichols, a former Amarillo resident, is consulting engineer for the Panhandle city and has been there two days conferring with officials on water problems. He was assistant city engineer of Amarillo from 1922 to 1927.

He was chairman of the Texas Planning Board in 1933-34. Nichols attended school at Denton and Austin.

TEXAN EDITOR NAMED
AUSTIN — P. — Bob Kenny of Stephenville was elected editor Wednesday of the Daily Texan, student newspaper at the University of Texas.

Representative Judd (R-Minn.) said, meanwhile, that the Communists are using the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners to divert American attention from "the main campaign"—a thrust toward rich Southeast Asia. The drive started just after Peking announced acceptance of UN proposals to exchange sick and wounded prisoners.

Representative Zablocki (R-Wis.) said the Laos campaign is "very serious" and agreed with Judd that the attack should be turned over to the United Nations. Laos has petitioned for UN help but no action has been taken.

Southeast Asia Red Target
The two congressmen are members of a four-man Foreign Affairs subcommittee which returned recently from a swing through the Far East.

Judd said Southeast Asia "always has been the main target" of the Communists and that Indochina, its gateway, must be held.

Zablocki voiced the opinion that the U. S. "cannot continue aiding the French in Indochina until the French bring us assurance of honorable intentions" to give the Viet Nam natives more freedom.

"I feel it is futile and dangerous on our part to assist the French if we are going to be listed as collaborators to colonialism," Zablocki said.

The Senate committee's decision not to hold hearings on the atrocities reported in Korea was announced by Bridges. He said Wednesday.

ter Bedell Smith, undersecretary of State, and other officials told the committee in a closed session they were concerned over the publicity already given released sick and wounded Americans in Korea.

To Collect Evidence
Bridges said the officials urged, and the committee agreed, that:

1. It would be "very unfortunate" to stir up new publicity while the exchange of prisoners is going on.

2. Publicity attending a congressional hearing might complicate negotiations for exchange of other prisoners.

3. Publication of facts now known to the military might bring reprisals against UN prisoners still held by the Red Chinese and North Koreans.

Bridges said the officials agreed to step up collection of evidence of atrocities "so that when and if the time comes we are in a position to take some affirmative action the evidence will not have to be collected, but be on hand."

He said he was satisfied all possible efforts are being made to obtain release of any sick and wounded Communists may still be holding.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

This is only a "situation" bit of information but you can use it, follow their performances and judge for yourself whether Midland or Odessa got beat in the Floyd Martin for Ben Quintana Winter trade.

The subject always promotes conversation when you mention it among the railbirds of both cities. In the first place, Quintana came to the Indians in exchange for the second sacker of the 1952 Midland champions—no cash involved. Was it even?

Last week Odessa tak-taked about how they "took" the Midlanders and one, Oiler President Bill Hale, watched his club slam the Cuban for six straight hits in a game before making this comment, "I know who got beat in that deal."

"Who," it seemed, was obvious since five Oiler runs went on the scoreboard. Quintana, a 212-pounder, can take care of his own though, despite, as the Odessa claim, "those bad pitching lapses of his."

Any club with the power Odessans boast is apt to fly off on such hit binges. And it's to Quintana's credit that he survived that five-run spree to pick up a victory. The Oilers completed only two safe connections the rest of the game. Know how one went to waste? Quintana got Little Pepper to bounce to Julio de la Torre, who tagged Leo Eastham, on by a double, at the start of a pair of outs—but then, as has been said, it was a situation, plain everyday baseball, and you hardly can judge a man's merits on a single play.

Going further, then, Floyd hit only once in 12 trips against the Indians, bolstering his mark as a good field, no hit ballplayer. In those at bats, plus a time to walk and a time hit by pitch, he drove in one lonely run even with 21 base-runners aboard.

He, too, apparently has his "lapses." The situation for him, though, will improve with time. It must be remembered that the younger Martin boy, brother of Pepper the Oiler pilot, is getting his first chance as a regular after two years. He took part in only 52 games last year with San Angelo and Midland.

Whoever started this business that "time will tell" didn't know beans about Merv Connors and when the old pro homered in his Longhorn League debut Tuesday there was proof enough.

Connors, because he admitted 34 years old in 1951, would be about 32 or 33 now according to the rule that applies to the ages of baseball players and women. And he's not about to be hanging up his spikes.

The Carlsbad first baseman, who led homer hitting in the West Texas-New Mexico League last year, won't let up, won't retire, won't take a manager's job and won't tell his age. You just have to rely on the story of Hal Epps, a longtime fly-chaser for Houston in the Texas League.

Epps who quit this Spring told this in 1951: "I was breaking into my first pro game (in North Carolina) as a 17-year-old pitcher when I pitched the bases loaded and Merv came up to bat."

"The home run he hit hasn't stopped going yet." And that's a long lick, for Epps quit after 18 seasons and Connors, when he blasted Hal's pitching hopes, already was established in the game.

Roughnecks Give Up 16 Hits, Seven Errors In 18-2 Loss

ABILENE —(P)— Instead of letting down after their 22-1 pasting of Lubbock Tuesday night, Abilene kept up the pace Wednesday night to bury Midland's Roughnecks, 18-2.

It was a free-hitting contest. Abilene batters collected 16 hits to the Midland semi-pros' 12, but the Roughnecks committed seven errors which hurt them considerably.

The Blue Sox went into the fray swinging and before starting Pitcher Leon (Hook) Hayes was pulled out after five innings they had 10 hits and 11 runs.

Ralph Easterwood and John Howard finished the game for Midland, giving up six more hits and seven runs.

Midland scored its only two marks in the eighth as Third Baseman Frank McAlexander doubled, Left Fielder Cassell Nipp doubled and Howard singled to center field.

Among Abilene's hits were two homers, one by Shortstop Bill Plante and the other by Chuck Steele, third baseman.

Abilene and Midland split the doubles, each getting three. Nipp got two for the Roughnecks.

Catcher Les Cobb was the unfortunate one for Midland. He hit into three of Abilene's four double-plays.

Hal Burrows Faces Bill Talbot Thursday

HOUSTON —(P)— Hal Burrows, a steady traveler along the tennis tournament trail, faced Billy Talbot, the nation's sixth-ranked player, Thursday and hoped to add another name to his victims.

Burrows, ranked nineteenth, got his quarter-finals chance against the New Yorker by eliminating fourth-ranked Dick Savitt in Wednesday's fourth round of the nineteenth annual River Oaks Invitational.

Two weeks ago, Burrows knocked Tony Vincent and Vic Seixas out of the City of Miami Tournament before bowing to Gardner Mulloy in the finals.

Indians, Oilers Try Opening Again

Pickett Subs For McMillen On First Toss

Whether good weather — a n d rain in West Texas is that—really is reflected in baseball attendance should be proved with emphasis Thursday night when the Midland Indians make a second attempt to play their first Longhorn League game at Indian Park.

Odessa, the Indians' foe Thursday, and Midland were rained out here Wednesday when the home season first was scheduled to begin.

As it is, the same previously planned starting pitchers, Ralph Blair for Midland and Wes Ortiz for Odessa, will get the call from Manager Jay Haney and Pepper Martin for the team's second Longhorn game.

Midland, on the tall of two exhibition victories over Odessa, beat the Oilers, 5-3, Tuesday in an Odessa home opener.

For Thursday's game, a simple ceremony introducing baseball once again to Midland will be held before the game starts. The ceremonies open at 8 p.m., the game immediately afterward.

Mayor Perry D. Pickett heads the program and will throw in the first ball. Mayor S. W. McMillen, who was scheduled to throw the first pitch Wednesday, was tied up with other activities Thursday and will be unable to perform the duty.

Wednesday's rains, of course, brought optimism to drought-ridden West Texas but anyone extra who has decided to celebrate at the game will hardly be noticeable, since it was pre-figured as a near sell-out on the strength of the Midland-Odessa rivalry.

About 3,100 will have to attend the game in order for Midland to outstrip Odessa's first night gate of Tuesday.

General Manager Horace Busby, who kept the park box office open late Wednesday, sold a number of tickets in advance and, when he reopened the box office during Thursday, he anticipated another fair rush.

The Chamber of Commerce, annual sponsors of an opening day ticket drive, left tickets around the city for Thursday sales. Picnics in windows point out the 15 business houses participating in the campaign.

The ticket drive is a chamber effort to help the Indians attract the largest first home game crowd, the Longhorn League winner of the local Attendance Trophy, an annual award.

A gate of 3,7 last year earned the Indians their first such award in six years.

As for the program, Delbert Downing of the Chamber of Commerce, announced the pitcher for the ceremonial throw-in and said that an introduction of the 1953 Indians also would be made.

Manager Jay Haney, who skippered the Indians to the 1952 championship, will lead this group onto the field. Returnees Scooter Hughes, Julio de la Torre, Bill Brown, Hayden White and Eddie Jacobs. Other-year Tribesmen Jim Prince back from 1951, Tex Stephenson, Blair, Quentin Basco and Lou Dawson from 1950, and newcomers Milton Wallendorf, Romario Soto, Bud Sisk, Ben Quintana, Art Bowland and Roger Dalla Betta.

Blair, a 17-game winner in 1950, goes into the game with a 1-2 Spring record after losing two five-hitters. Ortiz collected a 16-12 mark with Odessa in 1952.

Subs Make Lip Look Good; Familiar Spot: Yanks First

By BEN PHELAGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Leo Durocher is fast becoming a firm believer in the theory that every cloud has a silver lining. And Bobby Hofman is one of the reasons. The New York Giants' manager was forced to dig deep into his infield reserves when Dave Williams, his preferred choice for second base, re-injured his lame back Tuesday night. First-string Catcher Wes Westrum also was hurt and the club was in last place.

Leo switched Daryl Spencer, a shortstop by trade, from third base, where he had been performing, to second, and settled for Hofman, a utility man used so infrequently that his name doesn't appear in many baseball books, at third. Sal Yvars did the catching.

Hofman, battling leadoff against the Pirates at Pittsburgh Wednesday night, made Durocher look good in the first inning. He opened with a double and scored. In the third inning he hit a home run for the Giants' second tally. He singled in the fifth and then completed a perfect night with his second home run, this time with Pitcher Jim Hearn on base, for the last two New York runs in the eighth as New York whipped the Pirates, 4-2.

Hofman has been in the Giants' organization 10 years since he played American Legion baseball in St. Louis on the same team as Yogi Berra. He was action last year in only 32 games and his total home run production was exactly equal to his total of Wednesday night—two.

The victory jumped the Giants from last to fifth place, enough to make Durocher happy even though he was tossed out of the game for arguing in the ninth inning. Bill Stewart, working at second base, drew the honor of being the first umpire this year to kick Leo out of a game.

First place in the National League also changed hands as the Philadelphia Phillies made it two in a row over Brooklyn, this time by a 5-4 margin, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati, 8-3, in two other night games. The Phils and Cardinals now share the lead with Brooklyn half a game behind Milwaukee swamped Chicago, 15-4, in the only National League day game.

BILLY LOES
Can't fool 'em.

The New York Yankees took over sole possession of first place in the American League by whipping Boston, 6-2, while the St. Louis Browns were idle. A five-run ninth-inning rally fell short for Detroit as the Tigers bowed to Chicago, 9-7, and Philadelphia beat Washington, 7-4, in a night affair. Cleveland, along with the Browns, wasn't scheduled.

Billy Loes, who pitched 39 innings—38 of them scoreless—for Brooklyn against Philadelphia last year, couldn't fool the Phillies Wednesday night. They got to him for all of their five runs before he departed in the fourth. Karl Drews struck out seven in winning his first game.

The Cardinals battered Cincinnati pitching for 12 hits, half of them for extra bases, to put down the Redlegs at St. Louis. Vinegar Bend Mizell walked six and committed two errors, but he struck out seven and lasted until two were out in the ninth before needing help from Al Brazle.

Rain Should Help City Golf Tourney

Wednesday night's rain made the Ranchland Hill Country Club golf course glimmer anew Thursday, and officials of the City Championship Tournament predicted a big increase in entries Thursday afternoon.

Eight new names were added to the entry list Wednesday, swelling the figure to 80. Only one player turned in a qualifying score, however. He was Bob Bright, who shot a 92.

Among the eight new entries are top-ranking contenders Roy Lockett, runner-up in the recent Get-Acquainted Tourney at Midland Country Club, and veteran Vann Ligon. Other entries are Bright, Ed Grimes, A. C. McCall, Bob Dulaney, B. E. Duckworth and Joe Salman.

The rains came at an opportune time, officials said. They added that another rain three days before the tournament opening May 1 will put the course in perfect condition.

The Greens, of course, benefited most from Wednesday's downpour, but the fairways also will be helped tremendously. The moisture, coming right after recent fertilizing, will help the grass roots grow deeper underneath the soil, which in turn makes for a softer topsoil.

To the golfers, it means being able to pick up a good divot instead of a hard clod of sun-baked clay. This factor should trim scores considerably, veteran golfers assert.

At the same time three players declined invitations. They included Sam Sneed, who was quoted by Gene Gregston, golf writer of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, as saying he wasn't coming because the fans didn't like him here. Others declining bids were Henry Ransom and Amateur Willie Turmea.

The tournament, scheduled May 21-24, has these entries to date: Skip Alexander, Jerry Barber, Al Besselink, Tommy Belt, Jack Burke, Jimmy Clark, Jimmy Densart, Dave Douglas, Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Marty Furgol, Raymond Gafford, Fred Haas, Bob Hamilton, Jack Harden, Chandler Harper, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Fred Hawkins, Clayton Heafner, Ben Hogan, Joe Kirkwood, Jr., Ted Kroll, Lloyd Maxgum, Dick Mayer, Shelly Mayfield, Dick Metz, Cary Middlecott, Bill Nary, Byron Nelson, Ed Oliver, John Palmer, Skeet Riegel, Jack Shields, Earl Stewart, Harry Todd, Bob Toeki, Art Wall and Bo Winger, professionals; Don Cherry, Charles Coe, Billy Erfurth and Joe Conrad, amateurs.

Kirkwood isn't a regular tournament player and is devoting most of his time to motion picture and television activities. He is the Joe Palooka of films.

Cherry is the Wichita Falls man who went to New York to become a singer and maker of high-selling recordings. He was a semi-finalist in the National Amateur last year.

Conrad is from San Antonio and is one of the members of the North Texas State College golf team whose amateur standings were removed by the USGA recently on grounds that they were teaching golf at the college. Conrad is a former Texas amateur champion. Erfurth is the present champion.

PINEHURST, N. C.—(P)—Frank Strafaci, the Woodhaven, N. Y. veteran, came up with a gimmick Wednesday in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament enroute to his one-up third-round victory over Frank Stranahan, defending champion.

Meanwhile, Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., met Dick Chapman of Pinehurst and Maurice McCarthy, Muskegon, Mich., took on William Hyndman, Abingdon, Pa. Strafaci, an 8 and 7 final victim of Stranahan last year, probably never has recorded a more satisfying victory than that of Wednesday.

Stranahan missed a putt of less than four feet on the eighteenth hole cost him a par four to match Strafaci's and force an extra hole match.

Galletta advanced, putting out Frank Edens, Lumberton, N. C. 3 and 2, after Edens had ousted Spec Goldman, co-medalist from Dallas, 2-up. Coleman Jimmy Ferree of North Carolina was Galletta's 2 and 1 morning victim.

Hogan Demand Stirs Ill Will At Las Vegas

Asks $5,000 Appearance Fee To Play

LAS VEGAS, NEV.—(P)—Taking aim at the top target of $10,000 in a $35,000 purse, 20 of the nation's leading golfers teed off Thursday in the first round of the first annual Tournament of Champions.

Leading threats to capture the big prize are Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff.

The scene is the new Desert Inn Country Club, which stretches out 7,102 yards over what used to be desert wasteland and now is a green, par 36-67-72 course.

Ben Hogan came in for bitter criticism Wednesday from his fellow professionals.

Priction has been simmering for days over reports that Hogan had demanded and been refused $5,000 to reappear in the tournament.

An official source with the tournament, asking that his name be withheld, said Hogan had asked for the $5,000 through a third party.

When the sponsors declined, Hogan sent a telegram saying he would be unable to play here. This came after Hogan won the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga., 10 days ago, the source said.

The trouble bubbled to the surface Wednesday when another top flight star, Lloyd Mangrum, said he would not compete in the $18,000 Pan-American Tournament at Mexico City next week.

Mangrum said he has been informed Hogan had received a $5,000 guarantee to play in the Pan-American.

"If that is so, and some of the others of us are to get nothing, I want no part of the tournament," he added.

MHS Tennis Rated Among Region's Best

Coach Frank Ford's building program for Midland High School tennis isn't wait-till-next-year completely, for the top winner of the club, even as a junior, figures among the best bets in Friday and Saturday's regional matches in Lubbock.

Ellen DeChicchi, who has another year of playing left, represents Ford's club in girls singles Saturday after suffering only five set-backs through a season of about 25 matches.

She probably will be considered among the favorites at Lubbock but yields the first-place seeding to Amarillo's Sharon Stubbs.

Miss Stubbs won over West Texas' biggest field in capturing the Abilene Invitational tourney title recently. In that meet, Miss DeChicchi lost a quarter-final bout, while at Odessa's Invitational the Midland player reached the semi-finals before bowing.

At Amarillo, Miss Stubbs won a home invitational singles title and Miss DeChicchi reached the quarter-finals.

The Midland schoolgirl won out over a large Central and West Texas list earlier in the Spring to take first in San Angelo's annual tourney.

She is one of about 18 MHS undergraduates Ford sent into competition during this season.

Ag Trackmen Host In Triangular Meet

COLLEGE STATION—(P)—Texas A&M, undefeated as a team in six meets this season and unofficial victor in both the Texas and Kansas Relays, plays host Saturday to Rice and Southern Methodist in a triangular meet.

The Aggies will go after another victory without Darrow Hooper, their star weight man, who will be tossing the shot and discus at the Drake Relays in Des Moines.

CITY OFFICIALS SIDESTEP FIRE, POLICE 'FIGHT'

City officials Thursday were scratching their heads trying to decide which of their service departments to back—police or fire.

The two departments are having a squabble Friday night, and officials don't know whether to step in or let them fight it out amongst themselves. It appears they will let the fight proceed.

The "fight" is a Police vs. Fireman's baseball game scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday in Indian Park. Admission is 25 cents, and the proceeds will be split between the two departments' associations.

Grapple War Goes South Next Week

DALLAS—(P)—The wrestling war that started in Dallas last January spreads next week to San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Ed McLemore, Dallas promoter, said Thursday he was opening at San Antonio Monday and Corpus Christi Tuesday in direct competition with Morris Siegel, Frank Burke and Karl Sarpolis, operators of the Texas Wrestling Agency, a booking operation in Houston.

It is retaliation against Siegel and associates for opening up a wrestling show in Dallas in competition with McLemore January 6. Until then Sarpolis was associated with McLemore in the Dallas promotion as McLemore's matchmaker.

Fort Worth, which had been under the TWA banner, joined forces with McLemore March 2.

The McLemore alignment now is Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Tyler, San Antonio and Corpus Christi, and McLemore said he was going into Waco and Houston soon.

The TWA group, which is in the National Wrestling Alliance, which McLemore now shows, has had wrestling at Dallas, Austin, Corpus Christi, Waco, Galveston, Beaumont, Houston, San Antonio, Raymondville and McAllen and is reportedly opening at Port Arthur Monday.

Midland Receives Rain—

The rain will revive the ranches again," he said, "and give them another start." Weeds and grass, booted by March rains, had begun to fade from raking pastures.

Some stock water had accumulated, mostly in ponds. There was, however, surface tank replenishing where the rain appeared heaviest.

Very Little Rainfall
Conservation Service staffers found little evidence of runoff in checking several points over Midland County Thursday morning.

The ground had been penetrated from eight to 10 inches, depending on the texture of the soil.

City officials expected the night-long rain to bring better municipal water supplies for the near future.

Watering of lawns and gardens will not be necessary at least for the remainder of the week, greatly reducing the daily consumption which has been rising more than a month.

Up to two inches of rain "washed down" parts of Martin County as the low cloud blanket moved east from Midland.

Several sources in Stanton measured 1.5 inches while other sectors of the county listed as much as two inches.

County-wide moisture seemed to average more than an inch.

In adjoining Glasscock County, the rain gods were almost as kind. The Wrage Ranch, near the Midland-Glasscock line, had 1.15 inches, and the Lomax Community in the northwest corner of the county reported 1.45 inches.

St. Lawrence, in the southern part of the county near the Reagan County boundary, had almost an inch. Garden City received only .70 inch.

From all directions out of Midland came glowing reports. Andrews County had up to .50 inch in the eastern section and .25 inch was gauged at the Phillips Gasoline Plant, northwest of the City of Andrews. Only .20 inch fell in Andrews itself.

Monahans' fall was registered as .25 inch with "good rains" coming down over much of Ward County.

Continuing westward, Pecos had .21 inch with an average of one-half inch over Reeves County. Toyah, 12 miles west of Pecos, was buffeted by high winds and blowing sand.

Other Midland area readings included: Odessa .55 inch, McCamey .25, Crane .41, Lamesa .47, Wink .22, Colorado City .71.

Rigorous Cutback In 'Voice' Proposed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A $10,000,000 cutback in the nation's cold war propaganda program has been proposed by a State Department official.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, new boss of the International Information Administration which runs the program for the State Department, announced the economy move Wednesday and said it would involve:

1. Firing 830 present employees and abolishing 167 other jobs now vacant.

2. A sharp reduction in Voice of America broadcasts, except to Iron Curtain areas and a few others deemed "critical."

Herd Asks Early Return Of E-B Day Reservation Cards

J. Harvey Herd, chairman of the Education Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Thursday urged C. C. members and others to return their reservation cards for the Education-Business Day observance, April 30.

The blank cards were mailed last week. Herd said the schools need to know the number of business representatives who will visit them on E-B Day so that necessary arrangements may be completed.

Last Fall, faculty members visited in Midland business firms on Business-Education Day, and the E-B Day observance is the reverse procedure.

Citizens also are invited to attend the Teacher Award Banquet scheduled the night of April 30 in the high school gymnasium.

Argentine Police Release Texans To House Detention

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—The U. S. embassy said Thursday five U. S. citizens connected with Texas cotton firms are being held under house arrest by Argentine authorities in Resistencia in Northern Argentina.

The men were seized by 15 to 20 police Monday night. They were held in prison 24 hours and then permitted to return to their homes and hotel but under house detention.

They are being investigated for presumed violation of Argentine national security, the embassy added, but Argentine authorities declined to say what illegal acts they are suspected of carrying out.

The five are Jesse Root, Argentine manager for the Anderson Clayton and Company of Houston, E. R. Connally and G. E. Turville, both of the company's Houston office; James Griffin, in charge of a mining operation for the company in Northern Argentina; and Walter Stindt, also in the cotton business at Houston.

Police said at first they received a tip five cotton men were holding a public meeting without police authority as is required by Argentine law. Later, the accusation was changed to presumed violation of the law governing the security of the state. The prisoners were questioned repeatedly during the 24 hours they were held in jail, but they were unable to learn what was back of their detention.

Phillips—

"No, I think it has been handled with the greatest dispatch," replied Bunn.

Sohio Engineer Testifies
Lincoln Elkins of Oklahoma City, special projects engineer for Sohio Petroleum Company, followed Bunn to the stand to give technical information supporting Sohio's objections to special exceptions to the shutdown order.

Elkins told the court he estimated the total oil and gas drainage from underneath shut-in leases and undeveloped leases during the next 240 days—the estimated period of operation of the shutdown order—would be more than $3,500,000 and might run as high as $6,200,000.

This, he explained, would be the loss to shut-in operators and royalty holders by drainage from leases not permitted to produce, if non-flaring wells are permitted to continue flowing during the shutdown period.

HOW ADVERTISING AFFECTS YOUR JOB

Raises, Cuts, Promotions, Layoffs Often Depend on How Much the Firm Sells

MECHANIC—I like advertising. It sells goods. And when sales go up, our shop is plenty busy. My wife and I can then have real peace of mind.

WAITRESS—Advertising in my boss does more tips in my pocket. Advertising other firms do means more business, steadier jobs for my customers and bigger tips in my pocket. So I'm all for plenty of advertising.

BOOKKEEPER—I know what a difference advertising made in my firm... made our volume four times as big in five years. Now instead of just being a clerk, I have seven people working for me.

NEXT time you hear or read advertising, just stop and analyze how it affects you.

Its purpose is to sell goods or services. More sales mean more work to be done. That means more jobs in the firm that advertises... and more jobs in the hundred and one firms with which it does business. It's a never-ending chain.

Now when more jobs open up, that means more security for everyone. It means promotion to many, with wage increases. It means opportunity—particularly for friends and sons and daughters of present employees.

Whether or not you work for a firm that advertises, remember that this modern method of mass personal selling affects your company's business and its future. Hence it affects your job and your future.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts businesses humming, makes them bigger. That's how advertising affects your job. For tomorrow, it creates opportunity... for today, it makes your job more secure.

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

Advertising... BY SELLING MORE GOODS TO MORE PEOPLE
Makes your job more secure

House Panel Asks End Of Gilmer-Aikin Laws

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN — It's a hot potato—the bill repealing the Gilmer-Aikin public school laws dumped into the House's hands. The House Appropriations Committee did it Wednesday by approving a bill cutting out the very heart of the public school program the Legislature passed four years ago. School teachers fought for that program then just as hard as they're fighting this year for a $600 pay raise. Nobody had paid much attention to the bill by Rep. Joe Burkett, Kerrville, to repeal the Gilmer-

Aikin laws. The committee took it up; Burkett spoke for it; School Superintendent Fred Kaderli of San Marcos spoke against it; and the committee voted it out. It was a voice vote, and three members asked to be recorded as voting "No."

Socialism, Says Solon

"The Gilmer-Aikin program, the foundation fund, is socialism from the beginning," Burkett declared. Under the program the state guarantees the same education to a Texas child, whether he lives in a rich school district or a poor one. To do that, the state has to supply minimum foundation funds to help out the poorer district.

What Burkett wants to do is reverse that whole principle. He would have the state spend 171 million dollars a year on public school education—then let the local district make up whatever else they want to give the kids.

"Let the local trustees decide how much they want to pay a teacher, instead of the state," he said. The state now guarantees a minimum salary.

His figuring would give the schools about $145 a student each year from the state. He figured that was about the same they're getting now.

Under Burkett's bill, the money would go to all districts, rich or poor, and the state wouldn't supplement poorer districts.

"That would bring back the old rural aid program—a political football for years," Kaderli objected. "It would make the richer districts richer and the poorer ones poorer."

"It will practically destroy all the small schools," he said of Burkett's bill.

Federal Tax-Cut Bill Marked For Clearing In House May 20

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders were reported Thursday to have set May 20 as a likely date for clearing to the House floor a bill to cut individual income tax rates 10 per cent starting July 1.

Meanwhile, a petition to force earlier action picked up support from two key Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax legislation.

Representative Cooper of Tennessee, senior committee Democrat, and Representative Mills (D-Ark.) third-ranking Democrat, signed the petition to bring the total to 49, an increase of 12 in one day.

But 218 signatures are required to pop the bill out of a rules committee bottleneck. That group has held up the bill since the ways and means committee approved it in mid-February. The measure would advance by six months an income tax cut now due January 1.

Speed-Up Move

Leaders who have been close to the hemming and hawing over timing of tax cut action said they expected other Democrats would follow Cooper and Mills and bolster support for the petition. But many sponsors of the petition predicted House leaders would agree to bring the bill to the floor before the petition would win the required 218 signatures.

Included in the 12 new signers with Cooper and Mills are Representatives St. George of New York, Broyles of Virginia, Buckley of New York, Bow of Ohio, Kearney of New York, Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, Smith of Wisconsin and Vursell of Illinois, all Republicans, Green of Pennsylvania and Friedel of Maryland, both Democrats.

Superior Completes Mississippi Well In NE Borden Area

The Superior Oil Company has completed No. 9-580 Jones as a Mississippi producer in the Fluvanna field of Northeast Borden County.

The well was finished for a daily flowing potential of 155 barrels of 40-gravity oil through an 18 64-inch choke and from open hole at 8,185-8,221 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 435-1 and tubing pressure 60 pounds.

Location is 2,980 feet from south and 600 feet from east lines of section 580, block 97, H&TC survey and three and one-half miles northwest of the town of Fluvanna.

The dinner held here was one of 32 currently being held throughout the country honoring more than 7,000 active and retired employees of The Texas Company and subsidiaries.

Schleicher Wildcat Flows Oil, Gas On Test Of Strawn Zone

Lone Star Producing Company No. 1 Joe Tisdale, wildcat one and one-half miles southwest of production in the Huldale (Pennsylvanian) field of North-Central Schleicher County, was shut-in while tank battery was being installed.

Operator tested the Strawn through perforations at 5,684-5,710 feet. The set was washed with 500 gallons of mud acid. After acid load was swabbed out, the project was swabbed for two barrels of new oil hourly for an unreported length of time.

Operator then acidized the formation with 3,000 gallons of regular acid. The project kicked off and started flowing oil, gas and acid water to pits. No gauge or estimate was made on the recovery. As soon as tanks are erected testing will continue.

Location is 467 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 74, block LL, TC survey.

Cabot Carbon Sets Production Stepout In Andrews Sector

Cabot Carbon Company of Midland spotted location for a stepout to production in the Nolley (Wolf-camp) field of Central-North Andrews County.

The project will be drilled as No. 1 S. E. Nolley, 690 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 8, league 314, Gaines County Section Land survey and 15 miles northeast of the town of Andrews.

It is scheduled for a 9,500-foot bottom.

Tom Green Gets Shallow Venture

John Odstreil of San Angelo has staked location for a shallow wildcat in Southwest Tom Green County as his No. 2 E. D. Jones.

Location is 2,410 feet from the north (Spring Creek) and 330 feet from the east lines of section 757, C. Schobel survey. That makes it one and three-quarters miles south of Tankersly.

Cable tools will be used to drill to 400 feet, beginning immediately.

Devonian DST In C-W Upton Fails To Develop Shows

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-N McElroy Ranch Company, wildcat in Central-West Upton County, was making hole below 11,019 feet in the Devonian after a drillstem test failed to find shows of oil or gas.

Interval tested was 10,962-11,019 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 60 feet of drilling mud.

The Devonian was topped at 10,907 feet, minus datum point of 8,098 feet. Location is three and one-half miles southeast of the shallow McElroy field.

Site is 1,980 feet from north and 680 feet from west lines of section 72, block Y, TC survey.

Western Drilling Plugs Hockley Test

Western Drilling Company, Inc., No. 1 Nellie S. DeLoach, wildcat in Northwest Hockley County, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 5,002 feet in lime.

Location was one and seven-eighths miles north of the Levelland field and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 4, league 81, Shackelford County School Land survey.

Drillstem test from 4,805 to 5,002 feet developed 2,980 feet of salt water.

Scurry Has Answer To Road Fund Needs

AUSTIN — The Highway Department is considering new requests for road improvements with an eye on its dwindling funds.

"With higher construction and maintenance costs, and no more money from this session of the Legislature, we may have to curtail our construction program for the new two years," said chairman E. H. Thornton, Jr., Wednesday.

Scurry County officials had one answer. They offered $250,000 left over from their last farm-to-market funds to help finance six more F-M roads. The project would total 28 miles and cost $436,000.

Chinese 'Putting On Dog,' Say Returned Leathernecks

FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA — Marine Pfc. Richard L. Owen, of Buffalo, N. Y., said Thursday the Chinese had decorated the roadside from Kaesong to Panmunjom with signs bidding returning Allied prisoners "Farewell, Quick Recovery" and "Bon Voyage."

He said the Communists also had placed signs around the Kaesong camp urging Allied repatriates to tell the people back home that the Chinese want peace.

Another Marine, Pfc. Joseph Britt, Jr., Long Beach, Calif., said that for the last couple of days at Kaesong the Chinese "had really put on a show."

"Oh, they put on the dog, man!" he explained.

Britt said the Chinese gave him a fountain pen and two cartons of Chinese cigarettes. Then he emptied his pockets on the table before him displaying pen, cigarettes, a mirror and other trinkets and said, "Look at some of the trash they gave us."

Request For Cats Puts High School Senior In Squeeze

KANSAS CITY — A Memphis woman's bequest of $300 to care for stray cats left a Kansas City youth in a dilemma Thursday.

He's strictly out of the cat business.

When Miss Ella C. Branum lived here she noticed Robert E. Brice's interest in animals. He worked in a pet shop and often gave Miss Branum advice on how to care for hers.

When Miss Branum died in Memphis recently she left bequests to humane organizations and $300 to Brice, now a high school senior.

Bobby's dilemma, in his own words:

"My hobby is collecting birds. Right now I have about 100 parakeets. I don't think I could have cats around my home."

However, Bobby said he'd use the money to care for stray cats "somehow."

Wee Prince Charles Enters Own Blooded Cattle In Contests

LONDON — Prince Charles, four, now becomes a blooded cattle showman.

The Bath and West Cattle Society said Thursday the young prince has entered three animals in classes from Devon cattle at the show opening June 2. Devons are a small breed suitable for a small prince.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman was a little uncertain as to how the prince got into the cattle business.

"Probably animals from one of the royal herds which a manager entered in his name," he said.

casing was set and the total depth of 3,682 feet. Tubing pressure was 60 pounds.

Readers Criticize Choice Of Words

During the week of March 22 this column referred to TURF SPECIAL fertilizer as "gorgeous." Several of our readers, (and we do have some, it seems), made some pointed remarks in our hearing about "ignorance," "unlettered," "nescient," to which we agree, but not about gorgeous Turf Special.

We went down and bought a dictionary, two of them, in fact—nothing like being well-armed. The American College Dictionary defines the word, "sumptuous: magnificent, splendid in appearance or coloring." The synonyms are "rich, superb, grand, brilliant, resplendent." Webster's adds one more word, "sublime." Now, how about you going back and reading that last paragraph again, and take a good think about those words? Alright, alright, so we were wrong! The Turf Special fertilizer is gorgeous. It's only your own lawn that will be gorgeous. You try Turf Special this season and see for yourself how those words will "sumptuous, magnificent, rich, superb, grand, etc."

Illiterate are we, Joe? We'll show you!

Automatic Deferments Help Draftees In Entering Army

Young men of draft age who ask for and get deferments under certain conditions automatically extend the time during which they can be drafted by nine years.

1. Members of the ROTC and other officer training programs.
2. Students deferred to go to high school or college under requirements of law; college students deferred under authority of the local board.
3. Men left at home for civilian employment.
4. Men deferred to farm.
5. Married men deferred because of their children or because of extreme hardship and privation to dependents.
6. Men classified as mentally, physically or morally deficient or defective.

"The regulations spell this out," General Wakefield says. "So when a man gets the privilege of a deferment he is taking on a corresponding responsibility. The man who never receives a deferment like these cannot be drafted after he reaches his twenty-sixth birthday."

Th state draft director says that, under this provision of law, it is possible for a deferred man to lose his qualification for deferment at age 34, for example. Under such circumstances, he would again be eligible for draft.

At one time, the strong, springy hooks of the teale plant were used to raise the nap on cloth in weavers' shops. They have been replaced by brass bristles.

Possessive Jealousy Isn't Tribute To Youthful Charm

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
The wife tells me these things: Her husband is furiously jealous of their nine-year-old son. He regards the boy as his "personal property."
He uses him as a valve to blow off his recurring rage.
The child so fears his father that he remains away from home as much as possible.
Then I also am informed the wife is deeply "in love" with the husband who abuses their child. I'm told he loves his wife. "He loves me too much," she writes. "But though I've practically gone to my knees to beg him to give some love to the boy, he won't. The boy is a nervous wreck. Please help me."
I can't. This young woman needs the help of a psychological clinic.

being adored by jealous, abusive people. Our pride, not the jealous abuse, is our problem. It serves us as a frail and unreliable protection. It is the dike we have reared up between us and the pressing realization that we are not loved and do not love.
I'm quoting this letter because its problem is not uncommon among young people. Where life values are gathered from Grade B movies and Tin Pan Alley, it's very easy to grow up believing that possessive jealousy is a tribute to our physical charm. That is a lie. Possessive jealousy is not a tribute to our personal value at all.

It's as callous in its selection of victims as a hungry tiger on the prowl. And if we flatter ourselves that this possessive jealousy is something aroused by our personal charm, we're as foolhardy as a rabbit would be if it felt the gleam in the tiger's eyes was caused merely by the rabbit's pretty, floppy ears.
The gleam is there, of course, because the rabbit is something to fill the void inside the tiger. The gleam of possessive jealousy is the same thing.
Let's teach our young people how to detect the approach of jealous possessiveness so they won't face the torment of the mother whose letter I've just quoted.
Let's teach them the danger of craving admiration so blindly that they trust the "love" of people who, despising themselves, devour the selves of the other people to appease their own emptiness.

French Indochina has about the same area as Texas and contains more than three times as many people as that state.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KILNGLER

Many, many thanks to you who helped raise the $2,000 for the YC Building Fund. The members of the Youth Center raised that amount in less than a week. Mrs. Elias expressed an extra "thank you" to those who worked hard on it Saturday as well as Friday. You are to be congratulated!

Uh-Oh, we forgot to give any greeting so at this time, with your permission of course, "Hi!"
"The Cat God" was presented by the Freshman Class of San Jacinto Junior High School Tuesday night. It was a very good play and well produced. The play was given in the San Jacinto Auditorium.

"Timber" Forrest thinks he got kipped when he was in junior high. The reason—well, the new junior high now have auditoriums, gymnasiums, band halls, lockers, libraries and cafeterias.

Parade Was Swell
The parade last Friday turned out real swell. Those who worked so hard in planning it were very well pleased. Yes, boys we thought you made excellent cowboys! Hanie Ivy, Bob Mickliff, Bud Lea, Doyle Brooks and "Country" White wanted everyone to know they were "real bid time cowboys."

About 200 persons showed up for the dance Saturday night. That meant $200 more to add to the Building Fund. Paul Davis and Dean Carpenter were the king and queen respectively. Dean and Jean flipped a coin to see which one would win the honor and Dean was the lucky one.

Anna Beas Doyle, Grace Boles, Sadie Nugent, Wesley Pittman and Clayton Tatum were rumored to have been working on the senior will last Thursday night. To those of you who don't know what the senior will is, we shall attempt to explain. Each senior is to will something to a lower classman. The will will (need a few more wills) be read during the Class Day program. Some seniors willed some real good (?) ones.

Flash! Did you see the "big fight" out at the root beer stand Monday afternoon! Well, if you didn't we don't guess you missed much for these three are always "fighting." Al Cole, John Mickliff, and Frank Mickliff (looks as if we have gotten all of the Mickliffs in this column, doesn't it?) were scuffling over a dollar bill. We don't know the rightful owner, but Al got it.

Congratulations to the MHS Trackmen for setting two new records at the Abilene Invitational Track Meet last Saturday. The 440 and 880 were the two records broken. The record breakers are Roy Kinsey, Keys Curry, Roddy Brain and Dale Jobe. The other track men made a fine showing for themselves. Those who placed in the district now are working for Regional which will be held in Lubbock.

The Sock-Hop will be held this Saturday night. There is no admission but a demission. To those of you who never heard of a demission

(we haven't either, just made it up) it is where you have to pay in order to be able to leave. The price is five cents for each inch of your shoe. Some of you who have tiny, tiny feet, such as John Petty and Ronny Rona, won't have to pay much. Ha! The dance will start at 8 p.m. and will be over around 11 or 11:30 p.m. A good time is promised.

Cheerleader tryouts will be held Thursday at High School and San Jacinto and Friday at Cowden. Posters and little cards are all over high school, taped on every locker, window and door. Good luck to everyone and may the best ones win!

The Senior Play is scheduled this Thursday and Friday. Admission is 40 cents for students and 60 cents for adults.

It is a three act comedy and starts at 8 p.m. promptly.

On our sick list for the week was Billy Henson. Billy is up and around now, but over the weekend she was very sick. Glad to see you up, Billy.

"Peanuts"—Peanuts!
The peanuts are in, so be sure and come get yours. Sell them as quickly as you can and get more if you think you can sell them. Those parents who would like to sell five cans, we will be more than glad to have you do so. All you have to do is dial the Youth Center, No. 2-1352, and someone will deliver five cans or more out to your house. If you are unable to come get them. They sell for fifty cents a can. There are only 4,200 cans to sell. Gee, more fun?

Here is a happy thought that most of you have been thinking about anyway, but in case you don't know, there are only 26 more school days left this year. Now, we said school days not counting weekends.
"Swing your partner, Docie Do. Up the middle and 'round you go' will be the familiar words heard next Thursday night. Chuck Rodgers, who is a well known square dance caller, is going to call free of charge for Youth Center members. The admission is 75 cents per person or $1.50 per couple. All of you square dance fans be sure and come. If you don't know how, don't let that stop you because he will teach you. It will start at 8:30 p.m. and wind up about midnight. It is a week from today, next Thursday. It will be held in the American Legion Hall.
The money made on the sock-hop, peanuts and square dance will be put in the YC Building Fund. We lack about $13,000 and we are going to get it by doing various things like the above mentioned. The business solicitation and others are in store so don't worry we'll raise the money sooner or later and we hope it will be sooner. Parents are invited to the square dance and sock hop. There were parents present at the dance last Saturday night and they said they enjoyed themselves very much.

The Seniors got their invitations Tuesday. Many seniors already have made out their list.

We heard from our friends up Capitol way. Nancy Warren, Ann Aahy and Margie Hensley said for us to tell everyone "Hi" for them. Nancy will be home May 28, in time for graduation Day. They all are former Midlanders; still are Midlanders, we guess. They attend Mt. Vernon Seminary for Girls in Washington, D. C.

Congratulations are in store for the San Jacinto track team, which won first place in the Lubbock Junior Track Meet last Saturday. We heard that the Mustangs made a good showing for themselves. Cowden also did very well.

The Senior Class had a meeting Tuesday to decide where to go on their Senior Trip, which will be May 15. They will get up and leave early Friday morning and journey to Carlsbad, returning late that night or early the next morning.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held May 22 in the High School Cafeteria. All juniors and seniors are looking forward to this date.

The picture show will be held Friday night this week. It will begin at 8 p.m. The name of the show is "The Frogmen." It is supposed to be a very good show. If you come in late, be sure and be extra quiet. If the show is going on, because sometimes the loud speaker is on the blink and it is hard to hear.

We've written about all we know this week. On no, the P. E. classes of MHS is staging its annual Gym-boree May 1 in the High School Gym. Be sure and see it because all kinds of talent will be displayed, such as tumbling, tap dancing, and the light drill.

Now we know we have reached the end, so "adios" until next week.

Mice Tell Story Of How Beverages, Candy Affects Tots

OTTAWA (AP)—Five white mice in a laboratory here are the health department's answer to children who eat too much candy and soft drinks. Three of them were healthy and full of bounce after a month's diet of cheese, carrots, bread and milk. On this balanced diet, two of them doubled in weight and one became three times as big.

Two others, skinny and lifeless, moped around a corner of their cage. They weighed about the same as they did a month earlier when they started eating bread and jam, candies and cookies.

There was a sixth, but he proved to be an even better example in the nutritional experiment staged by Dr. L. B. Felt, head of the health department's nutrition division. He died after 14 days of the sweet tooth. Diagnosis: Malnutrition.

Kremlin's Power War

When the new Russian regime denounced as a fabrication the alleged plot of 15 Soviet doctors against high Kremlin officials, the mold really was broken.

Until that happened, all the moves Moscow had made either to appease the domestic Soviet population or to convince the world of its peaceful desires had a strongly familiar ring. But this one is different.

In "exposing" the doctors' plot as false, the Kremlin flatly admitted that their confessions had been extorted by illegal means. And in consequence the Soviet leaders acknowledged that a whole strategy of foreign policy had been based on quackery.

For the Russians had charged that these doctors worked with U. S. intelligence, operating through "Zionist" organizations, to undermine the Soviet government. The charges affected Jews not only in Russia and the satellites but outside the orbit, and modified relations with Israel and the Arab nations.

The Kremlin could have dropped the whole affair quietly. The intriguing thing is the fact that the new regime chose instead to treat it openly and aggressively, condemning the former deputy chief of the Ministry of State Security and charging also that his boss was politically blind and gullible.

Why did the leaders do this? They knew it would cast suspicion on all the many "trials and confessions" they have employed regularly in the past to get rid of enemies or make a forceful policy point.

The experts on Russia suggest it may have been done because it could not be prevented. That, in other words, it reflects the internal Kremlin struggles for power, a struggle that may be growing bitter and could well be growing even more bitter.

Premier Malenkov officially is top man. But he gave up his top party post, thus yielding some of his influence. And he has been oddly silent in the last week or two.

Meantime, L. P. Beria, head of the state police, has shown signs of bettering his lot. When Stalin's successors cut the size of the Presidium, ruling body that last fall replaced the old Politburo, an old secret police friend of Beria's was kept on, although other new members were not.

The doctors' plot was widely viewed originally as discrediting Beria. The Soviet press criticized "laxity" in the state security department he led. But now, seemingly, he has had his revenge. The plot itself is discredited, the blame put on others.

Just how far Beria has climbed, just how much all this means, even the wisest experts can merely guess.

We can be sure only that Malenkov is not Stalin, that in fact he has heavy competition which one day may reach the cut-throat stage. If this were not so, Moscow would not today be acknowledging major error.

Russia's rulers do not commonly admit such glaring mistakes. It is not good form for dictators. We must conclude, therefore, that these dictators are not in good form.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: If Progress does patriotic job in translating Ike's speech; Private citizens can help penetrate Iron Curtain; Congress has millions for probes but pennies for peace.

WASHINGTON—Sometimes private citizens can do almost as much about peace as their government, sometimes almost a little more.

A case in point is President Eisenhower's inspiring speech proposing the use of arms money for reconstruction of the world—if Russia will show a real desire for peace.

The most important thing is to get this message across to the people of Europe, not merely behind the Iron Curtain but on the free side of the Iron Curtain. To this end the patriotic Italian-American newspaper, Il Progresso di New York, soon will print the full text of President Eisenhower's speech in the Italian language and in such a form that it can be clipped and mailed back to friends and relatives in Italy.

This important gesture by Il Progresso will have greater effect than might appear on the surface. For the chief slogan of the Communists in Italy and elsewhere is that the United States is the world's chief warmonger, while Soviet Russia is the chief champion of peace. This theme has been hammered home so vigorously that a lot of people really believe it.

Therefore, to have Americans of Italian descent mail copies of Eisenhower's inspiring speech back to Italy is extremely important. Its importance lies in the fact that it will come from one friend or relative to another, not from a government.

People trust friends and relatives. They don't always trust governments.

This column would like to suggest that Polish, Hungarian, Croat and other foreign-language newspapers in the United States also print Eisenhower's speech in their language and urge that it be mailed to every country in Europe.

Congress is spending a record three million dollars on investigations, but hasn't invested a nickel in examining the vital question of peace or war.

This was brought out the other day during closed-door cross-examination of Undersecretary of State Bedell Smith, who was reporting to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the new Russian peace offensive. Smith explained that the Central Intelligence Agency had prepared a detailed analysis of Russian intentions.

How fast can the prong-horn antelope travel? A—it can sprint a short distance at a mile a minute. It can run at 40 miles an hour for about two hours.

Q—What is the cause of most industrial accidents? A—Personal errors.

Q—Why was the island of Iwo Jima so called? A—Iowa Jima means "Sulfur Island" and there is a sulfur pit on the island.

Q—Why was a certain period in history called the Dark Ages? A—Because of belief that European civilization made almost no advancement between the fifth and twelfth centuries.

Q—Can a submarine operate its radio while submerged? A—Yes.

Korean Hero Army officials are considering awarding the nation's highest decoration, the Medal of Honor, to Private Courtney L. Stanley, the 19-year-old Mansfield, La., negro, whose extraordinary heroism on Korea's "Little Gibraltar" saved the life of his wounded commanding officer, Lt. Col. Harry Clark of Columbus, Ga.

Clark termed Private Stanley's one-man stand against the Reds as "the most courageous action I've ever seen." Maj. Gen. James Fry, commander of the famous Second Division, awarded Stanley a Silver Star on the spot. Now, however, General Fry has recommended to the higher-ups that the Distinguished Service Cross and possibly even the Medal of Honor be awarded the young hero.

Both Republican and Democratic House leaders are holding back on the Reed bill to cut income taxes—but for different reasons. The Republicans want to push it through at the last minute, so the cuts will take effect before the Internal Revenue Bureau can reduce withholding rates. This means the same amount will be withheld from salaries at first, so the tax reduction will have to be paid back in the form of refund checks. The Democrats figure these refund checks will start coming back in 1954. Thus the taxpayers will get a dramatic reminder, just before election, that the Republicans cut taxes. On the other hand, the Democratic strategy is to delay cutting income taxes until the GOP takes a public stand on the excess-profits tax. If the Republicans let the excess-profits tax expire, the Democrats will set up a clamor to reduce income taxes for lower brackets also.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

The bidding in today's hand may seem a little peculiar, but I report it exactly as it took place in the recent Atlantic City Tournament. East opened with three clubs despite the fact that his hand was probably good for only five tricks. Ell Jaye, who won the Open Pair event with Norman Kay, came in with a vulnerable overcall of three diamonds despite the fact that his hand was probably worth only five or six playing tricks.

Norman Kay, holding the North cards, had no way of realizing that his partner had made so aggressive a bid. He thought that his partner had a better hand, and he expected the combined cards to produce a slam. He therefore made two slam tries and then went on to slam even though South made minimum response both times.

West opened the seven of clubs, and Jaye decided immediately that this was a singleton. East could not have opened the bidding with a three bid on less than a six-card suit. The slam could be made if declarer could discard one of his losing clubs on one of dummy's hearts and the other on one of dummy's spades.

Dummy won the first trick in dummy with the ace of clubs, drew three rounds of trumps, and led the jack of hearts towards dummy. West covered with the queen, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer next led a low heart from dummy, playing the nine from his own hand to force out West's king.

West promptly returned the deuce of hearts, and declarer had to make a decision at once. It was apparent that East had started the hand with six clubs and three trumps. It seemed reasonable to expect that East's eight of hearts on the second round of that suit had been an "honest" card. Jaye therefore finessed dummy's six of hearts.

The finesse held, and declarer could therefore discard one losing club on the ten of hearts and the other on dummy's extra spade.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Clawson Raises Issue To Put GOP Firing Policy On Record

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A test case to put the Republican Administration on record about its policy in firing high-ranking Civil Service employees, to replace them with political patronage appointees, has just been raised by Marion Clawson. For the last five years Clawson has been director of the Bureau of Land Management in Department of Interior, at $13,200 a year.

The new secretary of Interior, Douglas McKay, wants Clawson to step aside and take a job as economic adviser at $11,800 a year. By so doing Secretary McKay will be able to appoint as director a man of his own choice, Edward Woolley of Boise, Idaho.

Woolley is a Republican. Two years ago he made an unsuccessful race for Congress, so he now is given a patronage job. For the last six years Woolley has been Idaho Land Commissioner, so he is not completely unfamiliar with what his new responsibilities will be. He does not have the experience of Clawson in public land management, however, and that is assumed to be the reason Secretary McKay would like to keep Clawson on, though at a lower job.

Clawson knows in advance he can't win his protest fight against this down-grading. He can appeal his demotion to the Civil Service Commission. But there is no way in which the commission can force Secretary McKay to keep Clawson in his present job as director.

Furthermore, Clawson admits that even if he could win, there could be no harmony in an administration where he knew he wasn't wanted. Clawson is a Democrat. He won his appointment as head of the Bureau of Land Management over the violent objections of former Senator Sheridan Downey of California, also a Democrat.

Fights Spoils System In his five years in Washington, where he has won a national and international reputation in public lands administration, Clawson has tried to depoliticize his job.

As a matter of principle, he does not believe that a Civil Service administrative job, set up under a congressionally-approved reorganization plan to remove it from political pressure, should again be made subject to the spoils system and the political pressures of the old General Land Office days, with all their scandals.

Secretary McKay says Clawson had agreed to step aside. Clawson says he did not agree to take any other job in the department that would make them fire him, and tell him just to clear the political atmosphere.

The Clawson case is only the most recent in which Republican leaders have given notice that Democratic brains are not wanted in top positions by the new administration. The cleanout is to be complete.

Perhaps the most obvious example occurred in the case of Democratic ex-Congressman Maurice Burnside of West Virginia. It has attracted little attention outside that state. But it is prime evidence of what political pressure can do.

Dr. Burnside was defeated for reelection last November, after he had served two terms in Congress. He then took Civil Service examinations and qualified for a top administrative position in the extremely selective National Security Agency in the Pentagon. Dr. Burnside holds degrees in political science and international law from University of Texas and Duke.

Reason For Firing Cited When West Virginia Republicans heard about his appointment to the Pentagon job, they raised such a terrific fuss that Dr. Burnside was fired. The reason given for the dismissal was that this was an economy move, and as one of the most recently hired, he would have to be one of the first fired.

The political pressure from West Virginia, however, was all to the effect that since Dr. Burnside had been repudiated at the polls in November, he was not entitled to a government job.

This same political reasoning was not applied in the case of former Senator Harry P. Cain of Washington. Senator Cain, a Republican, also was repudiated at the polls in the last election, when he was defeated by the present Senator Henry M. Jackson. But this did not prevent Senator Cain's appointment to a job on the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Senator Cain is not a lawyer, and he did not have to pass any Civil Service competitive examination—as did Burnside and Clawson—to get his job.

Minnesota Senator Edward J. Thye's Small Business subcommittee investigation into the firing of Dr. Allen V. Astin as director of the Bureau of Standards offers one chance to clear up the Eisenhower Administration personnel policy.

Dr. Astin's resignation was requested because it was charged by Assistant Secretary of Commerce Craig R. Sheffer that the bureau had not been sufficiently sympathetic to business in refusing to approve the storage battery additive AD-X2.

But the Astin firing has been criticized by many of the top scientific organizations of the country. Among civil servants it has raised the charge that their acceptable standard of conduct for the future must be "Never Let Duty Interfere With Politics."

The knitting machine was invented by a man who became angry at his sweetheart because she paid more attention to her knitting than to him.

Marchants sold it years ago. It's in the market, I thought. "My friend Mr. Kenley has only recently acquired it," declared Halsted.

"And now I must go." He laughed gently, bowed low over Lady Bream's hand and nodded to Mannerling and, as Miral opened the door, went out. Mannerling looked out the window.

Soon he saw the curly haired footman passing—and there was no apparent reason why the footman should be on the terrace at that time of the day. Mannerling saw Dr. Halsted glance at the man, who nodded slightly.

So there was collusion. MARY-SCOTT was happy; and she showed it clearly. And this did much to create in Detective-Sergeant Edward Longley a content which, to do him justice, was not deep rooted. Mary had looked attractive with her cheeks smudged with dust and wearing a drab smock; in the open two seater, a gleaming green car in which Longley took great pride. Whenever he could, Longley stole a glance at her. She was usually looking toward the horizon, or at the hedges and the fields, but now and again she caught his eye. The wind had brought color to her cheeks and gave an added sparkle to her eyes.

"Coffee?" asked Longley abruptly. Mary didn't notice the abruptness. "I'd love some."

Longley plied up near a rustic wood gate, and they climbed out. Mary stretched her arms above her head and ran her fingers through her curly hair. Longley watched, wondering why she should make his heart pound heavily although he had known her only for a few hours. She wore a pale yellow linen dress, with a short, green coat, which she took off as he opened the gate.

He knew that he oughtn't to stop here. True, he hadn't been told that there must be no pause for refreshments, but Bristow had told him that Mannerling might need him urgently.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And Harmonica Bird

By WESLEY DAVIS

One night the circus train was traveling through the country to another town for another circus show. The moon was bright in the sky. The moonlit trees and hills were pretty things to see, except that everyone was asleep. Then the train stopped way out in the country, a long way off from everything except the water tower where train engines sometimes stop for water.

And so the engine was getting its water, way on up at the head of the train, while everyone else on the train was asleep. Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was asleep. So was Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, there beside him.

Then, from somewhere near in a tree outside the window, Daddy Ringtail heard a noise like music from a harmonica. At first, Daddy Ringtail thought maybe Mugwump might be out there, but when Daddy Ringtail sat up to look out the window, Mugwump beside him sat up too. And so there they see together, sitting up in bed, looking out the window of the circus train at the beautiful sight of moonlight.

Again they heard the harmonica music. Then they saw the little bird who was whistling out his happy harmonica music song of a fine Spring night.

Daddy Ringtail remembered of a sudden a once upon a time of the long ago when he had heard such a bird who sang, or whistled, a song or whistle like harmonica music.

"It was many years ago," Daddy Ringtail whispered and explained to Mugwump, for it had happened when Daddy Ringtail was only a monkey boy like Mugwump. "Yes," said Daddy Ringtail, "that little bird makes a sound of harmonica music, and his name is Harmonica Bird."

Mugwump of course wanted to know whether this was the bird's real name. Daddy Ringtail wasn't sure. He said maybe when Mugwump grew up big, he could be someone whose business it was to know about birds and their real names.

There are such people, and they have an important name to call themselves. They are ornithologists, and anyone can be one if he wants to be one enough.

Then the train whistled, because it had all the water it wanted, and away went the circus train through the night. Our friends soon were asleep again. I am happy to say. Happy day!

Knit Suits Of Synthetic Fibers Make Laundering, Packing Easy

Pastel knitted suit (right) has accordion-pleated skirt and dolman sleeves. Girl can wash it without worry because it is nylon-and-orlon blend. After washing, she blots it in towel, hangs skirt from clip-hanger and smooths out pleats which remain permanently in place. She fingerpresses around jewelwork.

Slender girls always have been fond of knit suits and dresses for the sleek, yet easy, way in which they hug the figure. They have loved them for their comfort and easy packability as well.

Now, thanks to Orlon-and-nylon blends and all-orlon knits, these slender girls can have the luxurious look without the work that made these knits impractical unless one had money for frequent cleaning bills or lots of time and ability to do them up at home.

You can have these synthetic-fiber knits in pastels that go into the washing machine as often as soiled and come out softer than ever. Pleats in the skirts will not wash out. Protect the dress, if you machine-wash it, in a mesh laundry bag or a pillow slip. Have the suede lukewarm to be on the safe side.

When washing by hand squeeze the dress through luke-warm suds. How these dresses look after laundering depends a great deal on careful drying. There's no need to worry about shrinkage or stretching or jagged hemlines. But the little details, such as a pleat sticking out or a lumpy look around the neckline, which can mar perfection, are easily avoided. Here's what to do:

First, blot the dress or suit in a thick towel. Then, arrange it evenly over a line or a padded hanger. Fingerpress around jewelwork. Hang skirt from a skirt hanger and smooth and pleats into place.

A new photo processing method promises completely to eliminate the necessity for washing films and prints, thus solving a major combat photography problem of securing fresh water in combat areas.

UNIVERSALLY SATISFACTORY—On a background of travel posters, Jeri Miller models the official Miss Universe bathing suit for 1953 at Long Beach, Calif. The two-way stretch boucle-knit suit will be available in colors to suit the entrant's complexion.

Queen To Receive Her Crown From Canterbury's Archbishop

LONDON —(AP)— It is comforting for Queen Elizabeth II to know the man from whom she will receive her crown June 2 approves of her thoroughly.

The crown will be placed on her head at Westminster Abbey by Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of all England.

For him, as for her, it will be a moment of utmost solemnity, but it will be more than a formal ceremony enacted impersonally by high churchman and sovereign. At the coronation chair, archbishop and Queen will be a couple of old friends.

Highest Authority

The archbishop of Canterbury performed her marriage service in the ancient abbey. He baptized her first child, Prince Charles. He officiated at the funeral of her father, George VI. Since she became queen and defender of the faith, they have conferred often on problems of church and state.

The 65-year-old Archbishop of Canterbury is one of the most interesting of contemporary Englishmen, not only because he is the land's highest ecclesiastical authority, but because he is a man of erudition and lively wit. He has a habit of making challenging remarks, sometimes with his tongue in his cheek.

"A family only truly begins with three children," he said. "One child is no family, but something of a misfortune. Two children are no family, but a failure half way."

Family Philosophy

He approves of the Queen, he has often said, because she presents an excellent example for British young women. He likes her especially because she had children so early in her marriage. The archbishop, who has six sons, likes children.

He explained at a meeting of a mother's union recently how he feels about children.

Continental Sets Schedule Changes, Effective Sunday

Continental Air Lines Sunday will change the departures of three of its flights to conform with Summer flying times and to improve connections with other airlines, Jim Carlson, Midland station manager of the airline, announced.

Under the new schedules, Flight 26 will leave Midland at 9:33 a.m. for Hobbs, Carlsbad, El Paso, Albuquerque and Denver. Direct connections at Hobbs are available to Roswell and Albuquerque. This new departure time also makes for a convenient connection at El Paso with American Airlines for Los Angeles and San Francisco, Carlson said.

Flight 28 will leave Midland one hour and 30 minutes later, at 4:35 p.m. to Hobbs, Roswell, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver.

Flight 45 will leave Midland 45 minutes earlier at 9:21 a.m. for Wichita Falls, Lawton-Fort Sill, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Bartlesville.

Superspeed Centrifuges Tell More About Blood

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

Superspeed "merry-go-rounds" that whirl 900 times a second are being used in a new attack on heart disease.

University of Virginia scientists say these small instruments, called "ultracentrifuges," may provide the basis for a relatively simple blood test that will detect unknown victims threatened with one of the worst forms of heart disease—hardening of the blood vessels of the heart itself.

The idea is to place a sample of a person's blood in a little tube, attach the tube to the merry-go-round and give it a ride. Centrifugal force—about 90,000 times the force of gravity—separates the constituents of the blood. The heaviest constituents collect at the outer end of the tube, the lightest towards the inner end.

Globules Of Fat

The Virginia scientists principally are interested in the lightest constituents. These are tiny globules of fat which the researchers say may play an important role in causing hardening of blood vessels of the heart if present in large quantities.

The globules come from fats that people eat. They are present to a certain extent in everyone's blood—but it has been found that victims of heart disease show abnormal amounts.

The Virginia scientists are working

Leasing Activities Flurry In Alaskan Exploration Boom

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA—(AP)—An oil lease filing flurry is on in Alaska. Filing were made on 350,000 acres in a single day. Then six Los Angeles residents filed on 90,000 acres.

C. F. Shield and his associates in the Alaska Oil and Gas Development Company reported drilling was starting this week along the Glenn Highway in the interior.

The Shell Oil Company has opened a Seattle exploration division office because of its interest in the Alaska prospects. Four mapping parties will go into the field in mid-May.

The interest in Alaska oil prospects has developed since the Department of Interior signed with the Phillips Oil Company for test drilling this summer in the Katalina region along Alaska's southern coast, east of here.

The filings since then have covered widely scattered areas of the territory.

MALLEABLE METAL

on a theory that an apparently normal person who shows a tendency to retain such globules in his blood for lengthy periods after eating may be a candidate for hardening of the coronary vessels.

Heart Disease

If their researches lead to a definite means of linking these fat globules with actual development of the heart ailment it may be possible to prevent the onset of the disorder by dietary or other means. The fat globules are the first elements of the blood to separate out when a blood sample is whirled. They are readily measurable.

The researchers point out that ultracentrifuging methods have been used for a number of years in separating various fractions of blood. Some of these fractions, called lipoproteins, also are being studied in connection with possible roles in heart disease.

The University of Virginia scientists said that if the fat globule test works out a single laboratory technician could test 25 blood samples or more in a day.

Medical phases of the work are in charge of Dr. William Parson, professor of internal medicine, working with Dr. Donald Rathburn. The ultracentrifuge operations are directed by Dr. Jesse W. Beams, head of the physics department, a pioneer in the development of high-speed centrifuges.

Desert Provides Testing Grounds For Nation's Supersecret Aircraft

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. —(AP)—Right next door to Nevada's Yucca Flats—as the jet bombers fly in this atomic age—is the supersecret, supersecret laboratory of the U. S. Air Force.

While the atom scientist in Nevada test the A-bomb again and again, it is at this sprawling base here in the heart of Southern California's barren Mohave Desert that other scientists and military men are testing and retesting a companion weapon, the hush-hush flying laboratories that some day may make possible plane speeds of 20,000 miles per hour or better.

Operations at this, the Air Force's most secret base, necessarily are cloaked under the strictest security. This is the home of the Air Force Flight Test Center (AFFTC). Its mission is to insure that America's planes and equipment not only equal but exceed the effectiveness of any enemy in this time of jets and atoms. Prototype models of every Air Force plane now in operation have been proved here before being mass-produced.

Each morning in the clear still hours before sunrise plane after plane soars up from the seven smooth miles of sunbaked clay which makes Rogers Dry Lake the world's longest natural runway. Soon the sky is criss-crossed with chalky vapor trails as the craft, many so high they are invisible, are put through their paces.

Although testing aircraft is the main business, Edwards conducts nearly a score of collateral test projects. It takes some 5,000 persons — half military personnel, half civilian — to make the big base hum. Since the war it has become a city, with housing projects, a postoffice, shops, a bank, theaters and gymnasiums.

Reclaimed Land
A dozen years ago this place was wasteland. The only installation was a small Army Air Corps camp on the edge of Rogers Dry Lake, sometimes called Muroc Dry Lake. The site, used occasionally as a bombing range, came to life on week ends when hot rod enthusiasts made the 100-mile trek from Los Angeles to conduct speed trials on the matchless Lake Bed.

In 1942, when the need for a testing place for the hot planes needed to fight World War II became apparent, the area was chosen as the most suitable.

Prime considerations were: weather, 96 per cent of the days flyable, best of any U. S. airbase; remoteness, for security reasons; access to transportation (Santa Fe Railway tracks, soon to be rerouted, across the lake); nearness to Los Angeles area aircraft plants; and suitability of terrain. The last is by far the most important.

'God-Given Thing'
Col. Fred J. Ascani, deputy for operations at the base, describes the 13 by five miles lake bed as a "God-given thing that would take man many years and at least, a billion dollars to duplicate."

It is not only the world's longest runway, he says, but its impervious clay surface is absolutely smooth and capable of bearing aircraft of any gross weight. And that's only half of it. Nature resurfaces Rogers annually for free-by means of a migrating mud puddle.

There have been 369 emergency landings on the strip in the last five years. Ascani himself has made three of them. He says several lives and 200 million dollars worth of aircraft have been saved in emergency landings which, attempted on a lesser field, might have ended in tragedy.

There have been fatal crashes, however. The base is named for Capt. Glen W. Edwards of Lincoln, Calif., who was injured fatally in the 1948 crash of a YB49 flying wing.

HOME ECONOMICS BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN—This photo from a Communist source purports to show two Czechoslovakian girls taking rifle practice. The Red caption accompanying the picture said full-scale military education has been introduced in all Czechoslovakian colleges "in order to train our youth to defend the fatherland from enemies."

Spring's New Leaves May Prove Hazards To Traffic

Spring is bringing new leaves to Midland trees and shrubs—but with the new leaves come traffic hazards.

Midlanders were urged Thursday to keep a watch on trees and shrubs that may cover traffic signs. Jack Keese, city traffic engineer, warned that blocked signs double the dangers to city drivers.

But, Keese continued, the city cannot allow signs and warnings to be covered. He asked property owners to notify the city if signs are blocked and either request that city crew do the trimming job or do it themselves.

"Isn't there some other way of getting even with the man upstairs who drops his shoes so noisily?"

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Growth Can't Be Regulated By Any Special Treatments

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
 Written for NEA Service

A common worry to parents is raised in a letter by Mrs. F. who writes:

"I have two young boys, aged nine and 11, who are quite small for their ages. They are healthy and active, but the older one is getting to feel sensitive about being so short. Are there any special exercises or injections that would help growth?"

This concern about small size—usually in boys—is certainly frequent. What should be understood is that the rate of growth varies from one youngster to another, and a boy who seems small up to his teens may suddenly shoot up and end considerably taller than those who were bigger than he at an earlier age.

For practical purposes it also should be said there is no special injection, exercise, or food which has much effect. The diet almost certainly has something to do with height, but a well-balanced diet with enough to eat is probably all that is necessary. There is a possibility that vitamin B-12 will be useful in this respect and time will tell.

These questions, however, do bring up some interesting matters about growth in general. The human body grows most rapidly before birth. Increase in size continues to be rather fast for a year afterwards—on the average a baby's birth-weight is tripled in the first year. Height and weight keep increasing until maturity, though more slowly and irregularly.

There is a more or less normal pattern of growth for each child. One of the most ingenious ways of measuring this pattern is by means of the Wetzel grid, which if followed for long enough seems to show whether a particular child is growing as he or she should.

If the child is not growing satisfactorily the grid will help to show whether some changes should be made in the diet, or whether some tests or other measures should be taken for underlying illness.

Size Runs in Families

There are many things which influence growth. To some extent size runs in families; if the parents are unusually tall, the children are likely to be above average in this respect also.

Climate may have something to do with the picture also. Sex is a factor; boys on the average when fully grown are taller and heavier than girls, though at 11 or 12 years old, girls often are bigger than boys of the same age.

Studies of college students have shown that for at least three generations the sons have averaged greater height and weight than their fathers. This is interesting but what exactly causes it is rather obscure.

Long Distance Dial Telephone Services Set Up For Kermit

KERMIT—Kermit long distance telephone operators now can connect Kermitans to some 10,000,000 phones in 1,600 U.-S. cities simply by dialing the number.

Kermit now is equipped with the new long distance system which enables the operator to dial a number in another city without handling the call through an operator in the other city.

A code number set for each city is dialed by the local operator and "analyzed" by special dial switching machines which select the proper route for the long distance call. If all circuits are busy along the regular route, the dial switching machine automatically will try alternate routes to the called city.

Persons placing a long distance call must, however, know the numbers they are calling in another city.

Professional Marines Agree Korea War Beats Guadalcanal

EDITOR'S NOTE: Which was tougher—Guadalcanal or Korea? The author of the following story went to Guadalcanal on Sept. 28, 1942, and finished his assignment there May 5, 1943, after the U. S. Marines had completed the campaign that marked the turning point in the Pacific war.

By OLEN CLEMENTS WITH FIRST MARINE DIVISION, KOREA—Professional U. S. Marines who fought at Guadalcanal think it was tougher than Korea.

But the casualty figures, for a much longer period of fighting have been much harder on the Marines in Korea.

Guadalcanal, which is the First Marine Division's base, was invaded Aug. 7, 1942, and left in February, 1943, cost the Marines 1,388 men killed in action, died of wounds, missing and presumed dead. The Japanese are estimated by the Marines to have lost 28,880 men in the same period.

Kill Or Be Killed

In Korea, where the Marines landed Aug. 7, 1950, the Marine Corps reported its losses at 3,284 dead, killed in action or died of wounds. A pure guess in Washington is that the North Korean and Chinese Communists have lost 772,255 men, with no breakdown on how many fell before the Marines, Army and Allied troops.

But where Guadalcanal was a war of kill or be killed with pos-sion of the island the objective, here the fighting has been mostly night patrols and trench warfare.

Those who got hit were hurt just as bad as those who were hit at Guadalcanal, but Marines back at division headquarters here lead comparatively normal lives.

They live in heated tents, walk down streets that have names past white picket fences and a spruced-up area.

'Pantywaist War'

There are movies, recreation facilities and good chow.

"In fact," said Sgt. Richard J. Maney of Asheville, N. C., "this is a pantywaist war compared to Guadalcanal."

"Guadalcanal," said the sergeant, who landed there with the 2nd Marine Division contingent Oct. 12, 1942, "was an aggressive war. This is a defensive one. Everybody seems to want to stay where they are. At Guadalcanal the Japanese were trying to drive us off the island and we drove them off or killed them."

M Sgt. James A. Vasilakos of Brooklyn, N. Y., another Guadalcanal veteran, whose wife lives in Cleveland, agreed with Maney.

And Malaria, Too

"At Guadalcanal," said Sgt. Vasilakos, "all we had to eat was C rations. Over here the rations are much better, the equipment is better and we have never and better weapons."

"In the island fight we struggled and sweated for every inch of ground. It was hot, muggy, everybody got malaria and every step through the jungle was painful. If you got hit, it took hours to get you back to a hospital. Here the helicopters rush the wounded back to the doctors in a matter of minutes. It's tough in Korea, but Guadalcanal was tougher."

They 'Owned' Canal

Lt. William B. Doe of Laguna Beach, Calif., who was with Guadalcanal's famed Second Raiders, said poking into Guadalcanal's jungles blindly was tougher than sitting in Korea and taking it.

"Men here in Korea," he said, "storm up a hill and take it. Then they retire to their lines and maybe take the same hill again in a week. At Guadalcanal if you took something you had the feeling of possession."
