Day Of Reckoning

The French people may only dimly perceive it, but in the eyes of other Western nations they have arrived at a crucial crossroads in their history.

By any strict measure, France is not a great industrial nation nor a first-rank military power. Yet the French desperately are fighting to maintain the posture of a great Almost petulantly, they are demanding of other free countries that France be accorded the influence of a great nation, although they are not demonstrating it has the substance.

This dream world cannot endure. Either the French must develop the substance of greatness, or they must expect to see their world influence drop off until it more nearly matches their present moderate power.

Many students of modern France concur in this: The French never really embraced the industrial revolution.

In many ways, French industry and agriculture are antiquated. The French economy is saddled with incredible number of middlemen who add to the price of goods without performing much useful service. Labor unions block technical progress.

The French evidently were happiest as an artisan people. Their Golden Age was the nineteenth century, before the harsh intrusion of the machine interrupted the sunny felicity of French living. They appear to resent all treated by their Communist captors. that has happened since. They dwell longingly upon the past; their faces are turned toward it.

Yet the circumstances of history cast the French in a powerful role on the world stage, until World War I devastated their lands and sapped their manpower. Somehow, though, the illusion of strength remained. Only when Nations war. But, fundamentally, the problem has not changed in 80 years. The French still are not acting to make themselves a truly modern industrial power. They go on savor- vantage is that of mobilizing world ing the past, striving for the simple life of pleasure in a world apart from clanking machines and grimy soot.

The reckoning for France cannot be put aside forever.

What Would They Gain

The Russian proposal to grant amnesty to considerable numbers of citizens now imprisoned is another of forms they still would not be U. S. those Kremlin gestures eminently designed to put the citizens. Therefore, the Reds might Malenkov team on a firmer footing.

But it's worth noting that the promise and the reality U. S. A. often are wide apart in Russia, and they may never get

Even if this one should be carried out as advertised, it's not too much to get exercised about. The individuals embraced by the proposed decrees are people who were tucked away for a variety of minor offenses, like showing up late for work consistently, or not contributing enough to the joint effort on collective farms, or falling below

The real political prisoners, the enemies of the Communist regime, haven't a chance in the world of sniffing the outside air.

And even if they could, in Russia, would they gain so much? For ever every square mile of sprawling vastness hangs the stale odor of the jail.

Fasting to live often is the result of living too fast.

MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN FLASH!

FORD BEATS ALL N ECONOMY!

Score a blazing victory for Ford's dollar-saving gas economy! Ford's high-compression Mileage Maker "6" with Overdrive beat every car entered in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, regardless of size or weight, to sweep the sweepstakes! Ford's winning average was 56.70 ton-miles per gallon.* And Ford's high-compression 110-h.p. Strato-Star V-8 with Overdrive was right up there in economy, too, with a record of 48.55 ton-miles per gallon!

The winning Ford was a regular production car, just like thousands of other '53 Fords you see on the road today. This 1,206-mile trip from Los Angeles to Sun Valley covered all types of driving conditions. The route threaded through city traffic, where stop-and-go driving tests an engine's fuel economy under the toughest conditions . . . and out along the highways of four western states.

The Ford Mileage Maker "6" took all this in stride, maintaining a speed above the required 44.25 m.p.h. minimum, to finish 1st in the sweepstakes! What better proof is there that Ford is the thriftiest car of all? What better way to show why Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!

FORD 101-h.p. Mileage Maker "6"

56.70 TON-MILES PER GALLON*

Ford is the first car in its weight class . . . in the history of the Economy Run . . . to win top honors in ton-miles per gallon over all other cars regardless of size or weight.

The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

THIS WAS THE FIRST TELEPHONE. Since Alexander Graham Bell built it in 1875, there have been more than 18,000 inventions and improvements in your telephone service about 230 a year. Some were designed to improve your service, like today's convenient handset. Some were developed to hold down the cost of your service, like a recent mechanical device that ties knots in the cotton thread insulation on telephone wires.

EVERY YEAR BRINGS MORE PROGRESS IN the complicated business of bringing you more and better service. For example, this versatile new construction truck is helping to push more telephone lines out into rural areas. It can dig a hole, pick up a 20-foot pole and set it in position faster than a farmer can set a fence post. Like many improvements you seldom see, it helps hold down the cost of your service - and expand its value.
